RESIDENTS who spent three hours at last Monday's City Council meeting talking about the proposed street lighting assessment may be interested to know that Thomas Edison's bright idea became a reality 103 years ago on Oct. 21, 1879 when he invented the device.

ALTHOUGH ALL new voter registrations were yet to be processed, Westland City Clerk Diane Rohraff has reported that the registration deadline for the Nov. 2 election passed without a significant increase in the 46,000 voters in the city

Residents in the Wayne-Westland School District who missed that deadline still have until Nov. 8 to register for a special school election scheduled for Dec. 7.

WHILE YOU'RE waiting for the arrival of the Great Pumpkin, head on over to the Wayne-Westland YMCA, $27 Wayne Road at Bayview. The Faraily Y is sponsoring a Haunted House from 6-11 p.m. Oct. 22-30. Admission is $1 for children and $2 for adults. Refreshments will be available. Proceeds will be shared by the Y and the Indian Guides, a youth group.

YOUNG AUTHORS interested in seeing how they stack up against their counterparts are invited to participate in Lawrence Institute of Technology's High School Writing Contest.

Entry deadline is Nov. 19. Winners will be notified by Jan. 14, Submissions may be in the form of poetry, short stories or essays and first, second and third-place prizes of $50, $20 and $10 will be awarded in each category.

All entries must include a statement by a member of the contestant's high-school English faculty confirming the originality of the student's work.

City may hike lighting assessments

By Doug Funke staff writer

Westland homeowners will pay more for street-lighting services in their neighborhoods through a higher, special-assessment tax.

That much is certain.

What isn't finalized is exactly how much the increase will be.

'Catch' yields a surprise

Randy Wright, a Westland resident and fishing enthusiast, has caught many a fine speciman in his time.

Nothing, though, compared with what he reeled in last week while fishing from shore at Nankin Lake, Ann Arbor Trail and Hines Drive.

He caught a hand grendade. Fortunately, it was a dummy and in no danger of exploding. However, neither Wright nor his companion, Steve Patterson, knew that at the time.

"I was just casting lures out and felt I had something," said Wright, 17. "I thought something hit it. I saw a wick. I reeled in and thought it was a grenade."

It was.

Wright then started yelling in excitement, not because he was scared, he said, but because the catch was so unusual. "I couldn't believe it," Wright said.

Neither could Patterson.
"He thought I had a big snag," Wright

After calming down, Wright said he took the grenade off the hook, put it in his knapsack and went home.

Westland police were called from there and a squad car was dispatched to pick up the grenade.

Sgt. William Hochstein, who's dealt with explosives in both the military and police work, said he immediately recognized the grenade was a dud.

"It was bored out in the bottom and had no firing pin," Hochstein said. He speculated that whoever tossed it in the lake just wanted to get rid of it.

Wright said he continues to fish Nankin Lake, where he's caught bass, bluegill and pike — in addition to the grenade. The special-assessment rolls recommended by the city administration would generate a total of $3,388,000 over the next five years, an increase of 31 percent over the $2,583,000 produced the past five years.

Robert Matzo, Westland's city assessor, provided the figures.

Special-assessment rolls to fund all residential street-lighting costs in Westland are adopted for five-year periods. Lighting costs for major roads in the city are paid from the general fund. For the last five years, the special lighting assessment has ranged from $9.40 to $77.76 per home annually. The new range will be from $10.05 to $102.50 if City Council concurs with the administration's recommendation.

Council didn't take action on the proposed assessments after a public hearing last-week. Too many questions remained unanswered, according to Council President Thomas Artley.

"COUNCIL HAS a little problem with some of the administration's figures on this stuff," Artley said.

Artley said he's troubled that the projected increases in all the assessment districts aren't equal.

Increases in the 88 lighting districts range from nothing to 48 percent.

For instance, 45 properties in a district which were assessed $67.74 each of the last five years for street lighting will be assessed $67.72 annually for the next five years, as recommended by the administration.

In that specific case, Matzo said, a church was added to the roll, reducing the assessments for all other properties in that district.

On the other end of the spectrum, 118 properties in a district which were assessed $25.48 each of the last five years will be assessed at $37.80 annually for the next five years, according to the recommendation.

A likely reason for the large hike in that case, Matzo said, is the estimate the previous five years in the district was too low and is now being adjusted

Building study recommends closing 2 schools

By Sandra Armbruster editor

It may be January or February before the Wayne-Westland board of education discusses a committee report recommending the closure of Tinkham and Washington elementary schools.

However, the committee's work, which extended from December 1980 until last March, is already having an effect on the district's operation.

Based on concern of the parents on the committee, the school district has closed most portable classrooms and moved students into regular classrooms.

"There was a perception of isolation from the regular school building," said Dr. Georgina Cseresznye, an executive assistant to the superintendent who worked with the committee.

She said other parent concerns about the placement of severely mentally inpaired students in Norris School prompted administrators to place them instead in a wing of Kettering Elementary.

"We would have done it anyway, but parents' remarks caused us to move that up on our priority list," she said. Csereszyne noted that Kettering has the advantage of being more efficient and allows for more effective teaching.

ALTHOUGH THE committee's report was completed last March, the board didn't receive copies of the recommendations until August after statistics had been checked by John Baracy, assistant superintendent for business. Cseresznye said the successful recall of four school board members and coming election on Dec. 7 to fill those vacancies will probably delay the board's review of the report until early 1983.

Before deciding whether to agree with the committee's recommendations to close Tinkham and Washington, the board will hold special public hearings throughout the district. The schools will not be closed until June 1984.

Cseresznye described the committee report as "very comprehensive." Every building in the school district, which includes part of Canton Township, was studied, she said.

The closings are being considered because of declining enrollments. The district was down 642 students this year from last year. The officials count was taken on the fourth Friday of school year.

According to the building utilization committee report, the district could save $290,000 a year in staff salaries, utilities and busing costs.

The committee thinks Tinkham, one of the newer buildings in the district at 450 Venoy, is highly saleable. The committee also found that space was available at nearby schools for Tinkham students, that bussing could be eliminated, that the neighborhood could be returned to the original boundaries before Tinkham was built and that the neighborhood school concept could be maintained.

The report called for placing Tinkham area students in Kettering, Hamilton and P.D. Graham elementary schools.

The committee listed the following drawbacks to closing Tinkham: $910,000 is still owed on the building, there are no sidewalks on Schuman or on the north side of Palmer going to P.D. Graham School.

IF WASHINGTON School is closed, the committee recommends that Wayne Road be used as a dividing line with 140 students west of Wayne transferred to Schweitzer and about the same number of students east of

The committee estimated that the district could save about $184,000 a year by closing Washington. It said other reasons for closing Washington are: It is an old building constructed in 1929; it has a low debt and good location, making it more saleable; no additional bussing would be needed in transferring students to other schoolsl; there is adequate space at Lincoln and Schweitzer to take new students...

Disadvantages, according to the committee, include: The building received recent improvements funded by a bond issue; its two-story structure isn't suited for many other uses; the school has a nice kitchen, gymn and stage facilities, it has low utility costs; and many students would have to walk a mile to their new schools.

The committee said other general recommendations should receive further study. One of these is closing one of the district's four junior high schools when enrollment declines sufficiently.

'Last year we thought we would have to look at closing a high school in five years and a junior high in two years, but with enrollment declines slowing the last two years, it will probably be 10 years before a high school is closed. And junior high enrollments . have held," Cseresznye said.

THE COMMITTEE also has recommended that the district restructure all elementary school boundaries, taking into account the neighborhood school concept and eliminating special attendance areas created as a reaction to declining enrollment.

"There have always been some special cases (in school attendance boundaries)," Cseresznye said. "It may be time to equally distribute populations, making boundaries more consistent."

She said that while the administration would work on the proposal this year, it could be until sometime during the next school year before new boundaries can be established. She added that while the district's computer could provide demographic data, all decisions would be made by the board.

The committee also has recommended that kindergarten through 12th grade classes be given space priorities and that in-service programs be held for parents and students of schools to be closed.

"The committee wasn't opposed to adult and community education program. They encouraged them, but they wanted K-12 to have first priority," Cseresznye said, adding that this recommendation was made before the community college concept was tabled by the board.

Although in-service programs were held when the district closed five elementary schools years ago, "time-lines were tight and we didn't do as good a job as we could have," Cseresznye explained.

She said that she is keeping records of all parents who ask to be notified of public hearings. Building principals will notifiy parents in their respective attendance areas.

Administrative and union representatives served on the committee only to make information available to parent members of the committee, according to Cseresznye. The committee was chaired by parents George Noonan and Mike Miller.

Other parents and the elemetary schools they represented were: Kathy Thompson, Edison; Jack Underwood, Elliott; Mike Comer, Graham; Pace, Hamilton; Miller, Hoover, Dan Richmond, Jefferson; Judith Bailey, Kettering, Glenda Knapp, Lincoln; Noonan, Madison, Lynn Hinderleider, McKee; Julia West, Monroe; Raymond Six, Patchin; Harper Brock, Roosevelt/ McGrath; Nancy Kettler, Schweitzer; Sharon Andrews, Stottlemyer.

Also on the committee were Harriet Buck from Taft/Galloway, Kathy Killingbeck, Tinkham, Sandra White, Vandenberg; Kenneth Barnhill, Walker; Patt Hartford, Washington; Robert Belville, Wildwood; Mary Blades and Karen Certain.

higher to balance for fairness sake. Why the difference in assessments in the first place?

"It (the assessment) is based on the type of light used, the type of pole used and the number of people benefitting from a particular light," said Mayor Charles Pickering. "Seven variances are used."

"WE TRY TO make a good estimate based on past experience and past experience has shown about 7 percent increases annually (authorized by the Public Services Commission)," Matzo

"They (Edison), are just not sure what's going to happen," he added. "At first they said they would ask for a 10-15 percent increase the first year, then go with cost of living increases the next four years.

"Now they tell us it may be 15-20 percent for each of the next five years," Matzo said.

Teacher delivers TLC for 'starving' students

By Marie McGee staff-writer

Mary Ellen Alexander admits she likes a challenge.

For her it's meant the "best of two worlds" on two fronts.

One involves a campus food delivery business she operates from her home and the other is being held up as an example of a successful businesswoman in a book with the title "The Best of Both Worlds.'

Somewhere in between, Alexander, a Farmington resident, holds down a fulltime job with the Livonia Public Schools. Most of the time she is a counselor, but this year she got an additional assignment that calls for teaching a cooking class to eighth-graders at Frost Middle School.

"That's challenging," smiled Alexander, who is a 17-veteran of the school

BUT NOT NEARLY as challenging as the campus food delivery business she initiated five years ago at Michigan State University that brought her a lengthy mention in a book by Joan Wester Anderson that suggests homebased careers as an option for women who do not want to work outside the Ironically, Anderson is customer of Alexander's. They met when Anderson's son was attending MSU and she ordered one of Alexander's "care" packages for him.

Alexander started the business out of a need her eldest son experienced when he left home to attend college in Colo-

Alexander said she received a flyer from the Mom's Club on his campus which provided food packages for "lonely, starving" students. "We ordered one for him. Not only was it lessexpensive than mailing the items ourselves, but when our son told us how much he'd enjoyed the package and how many other students were receiving them. I decided to try the same thing at Michigan State University, my alma mater," and where her sister and daughter were students.

HER SISTER, Johanna Durand, plays an important role in the operation. She's in charge of the "special deliveries" - birthday cakes that are personally delivered on the "big day."

Alexander once had run a neighborhood food co-op in the Farmington apartment complex in which her husband and two sons, Kevin, 19, and Craig, 17, live so she knew what suppliers to use and how to figure prices accurately to earn a profit.

She got the list of prospective customers by poring over the student directory "with a magnifying glass for all the out-of-state students." She then spent days addressing envelopes and mailing flyers to the parents.

The service, which Alexander called Campus Tender Loving Care, offers chocolate or white birthday cakes to be delivered on the birthday, fruit packages (fresh and in season), exam and snack packs and also include cider and doughnuts in the fall.

With the exception of the birthday cakes, all deliveries are made once a month - usually the last weekend of the month.

THE VENTURE was an immediate

As orders came in, Alexander handled them in two ways.

"Birthday cakes have be ordered on a certain day, so these are purchased at a Lansing bakery and delivered by my sister who lives on camous.'

As for the other deliveries, Alexander goes to the Detroit Eastern Market early on the designated Saturday and makes her purchases. She then comes home and assembles the packages. When that is completed, she organizes the delivery route. On Sunday - sometimes with her two sons in tow - she drives to East Lansing and makes the deliveries.

She usually can count on some help from her husband.

"He hates it — but he helps," she smiled. "What he doesn't like is the mess it makes in the apartment. But it's only for one weekend."

The biggest hassle is in the winter, she said. It's so much slower making

AS ANDERSON'S article points out, the key to Alexander's success is knowing the campus and community and having reliable help.

She doesn't think she will expand although she once considered taking on the Ann Arbor campus.

"One of the things you have be careful of is competition. Many service clubs, booster clubs, sororities and fraternities offer the same service," she

One of the fringe benefits of the job has been the response from the students receiving the gift.

The looks of delight on the faces of the students when they discover their parents have sent them something has made the whole idea "very rewarding,"

Campus TLC also helped renew a friendship with an old MSU chum.

"I got this order from a mother in Falls Church, Va. The name looked familiar so I wrote back and asked her if she had attended MSU. It turned out she was was an old classmate of mine."

Financially, she said there hasn't been a lot of profit "but it's been fun, challenging and a great tax deduction."

Barbara Jupp focuses her camera for some nature photographs. Photography is just one of many hobbies enjoyed by Jupp, who suffers from a crippling disease that causes her pain and fatigue.

One of her hobbies has been to assemble an assortment of canes which she uses when she leaves her Redford home on Salem Street. One of her canes is an authentic Irish shillelagh.

When she leaves home, chances are she's headed for Madonna College in Livonia. In the fall of 1980, she enrolled in Chuck Derry's Photography I class at Madonna. To Jupp, that was the beginning of "all this madness."

Madonna is a familiar place to her. She started attending classes there in 1958, long before the present campus at Schoolcraft and Levan had been built. An art major, she graduated in 1982 and there were only 25 or 30 in her class. She watched the present campus go up, brick by brick.

Later she received a master's degree in art history from Wayne State University and then taught art at Madonna and Lawrence Institute of Technology in Southfield.

PHOTOGRAPHY has provided a more recent challenge. Jupp entered the classroom each week with her books in one hand, a cahe in the other. Nothing could dull her enthusiasm.

Her photographs steadily improved as she spent hours in her darkroom to perfect her work. She enrolled in Photography II at Madonna. After completion of that class, she participated in workshops with Howard Bond, Monte Nagler and Allen Lowy. Air brushing is the next skill she.

With her husband, Robert, she traveled to Hawaii and to the copper country in Michigan's upper peninsula, bringing back hundreds of photos and slides. . One of her new goals is to do gallery work. She recently took first place in the beginners division of a Motor City Camera Club competition for a print called "Pictured Rocks." The club is submitting four of her prints to the Greater Detroit Camera Club Council for competition.

JUPP IS cultivating other new interests, too. She-recently purchased a home computer. Not only is she becoming an expert at video games, but she is taking computer classes and is exploring the use of computers in the darkroom.

Murder trial begins Dec. 2 in drug store stabbing case

The long-delayed murder trial of Kenneth W. Simonds, a 1978 Livonia Franklin High School graduate, is scheduled to begin Dec. 2 before a jury in Wayne County Circuit

Simonds, 22, a former Westland resident. is charged with first-degree murder and assault with intent to commit murder in connection with a March 17 knife attack that resulted in the death of one woman and serious injury to another.

The apparently unprovoked attack occurred around the 9 p.m. closing time of the Revco Discount Drug Center in the shopping compex at W. Chicago and Telegraph roads in Redford Township, where Simonds and the two women were employed.

Court procedings in the Simonds case have been delayed so he could be given additional psychiatric evaluations at the request of his attorney, Neil Fink.

THE TESTING at the Center for Forensic Psychiatry in Ypsilanti has been completed, and both parties are ready to proceed with the trial, said assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Murray Siomovitz.

The second session has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Oct. 26 at city hall, 36601 Ford Road (also between Wayne and Newburgh). The forums, sponsored by Westland's Department on Aging, arè free. Senior citizens are especially invited to attend.

Slomovitz said the prosecution is ready to try Simonds on the charges, whether or not he's found to be criminally responsible.

Simonds' third trial date was scheduled Thursday by Judge Theodore Bohn at a Circuit Court pre-trial hearing. Attorneys for both sides meet with the judge to hear any possible plea-bargain proposals which could be accepted in lieu of a trial.

Slomovitz said there were no pleas entered at the pre-trial, however, and the jury trial date was scheduled by Bohn, who will preside over the trial.

KILLED IN the brutal knife attack was Elise Rouhier, 25, of Ypsilanti, a Revco pharmacist who was four months pergnant with her first child at the time of her death.

A second Revco employee, Ann Marie Ceane, 19, a sales clerk who lives with her parents in Wayne, survived the ordeal by fighting off her attacker until help came and he fled. She will be the prosecution's kev witness.

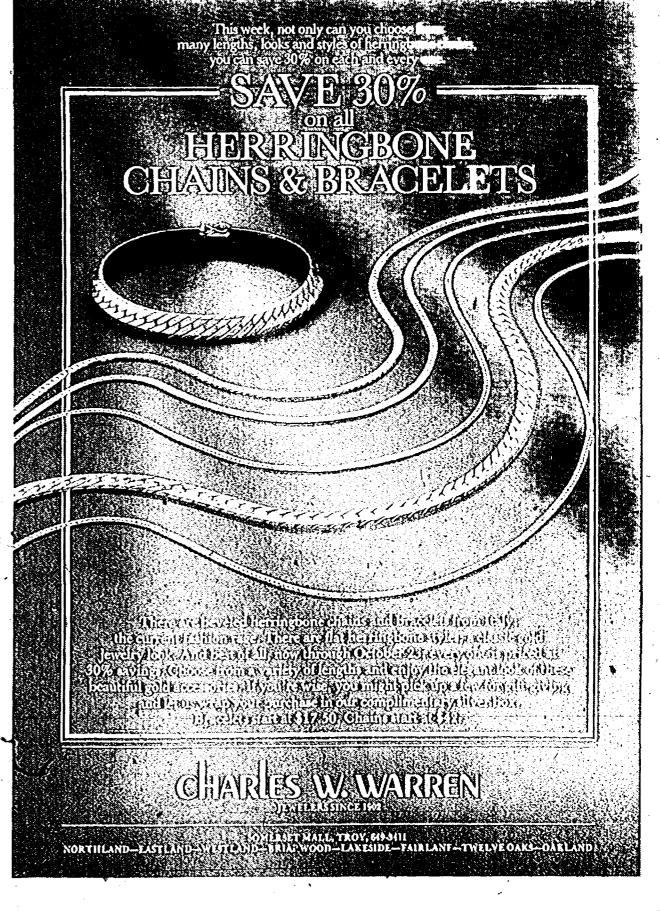

She suffered a single stab wound to her chest, a broken nose and jaw, and cuts on Ceane said she and Rouhler were in the process of closing the drug store when they let in Simonds, then assigned to several area Revco stores as a security guard and theft investigator.

She said Simonds launched an unprovoked attack on both women, using a knife and a safety razor. ROUHIER DIED following emergency surgery at Garden City Osteopathic Hospi-Simonds was arrested by Redford police at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland shortly after the attack.

Polls: beginning of the end campaigns are concerned, the days are dwindling down to a precious few. A sure sign that the end is near is when the candidates start bickering over political polls.

They have attacked each other's ađvertisements, records, tactics, parties, platforms, proposals, programs and personalities. Now they are on Bob to the polls.

Three major polls have shown Republican gubneratorial candidate Richard Headlee running far behind Democratic candidate James Blanchard. Headlee, as one might expect, questions the validity of the polls.

His own pollster, Headlee says, shows that he and Blanchard are runming neck and neck.

REPUBLICAN U.S. Senate candidate Philip Ruppe says the polls show him closing on the U.S. Senator Don Riegle. Riegle apparently isn't happy with the polls either. His aides indicate that one poll has been con-all fired up, working night and day on behalf of their candidates, secure in the belief that their Herculean efforts will carry the day for their deserved candidate. Then comes some wisenheimer poll which shows their candidate twenty points behind the

You can almost see the optimism and dedication seeping out of the doors and windows of the good guy's campaign headquarters.

IF THE POLL shows the good guy ahead by any margin, the campaign workers light up their cigars, lean back in their swivel chairs and smile at each other. Somehow it doesn't seem as imperative to get 400 volunteers together to distribute flyers from Port Huron to Zug Island.

only good polls are those which show the candidates nip-and-tuck, throughout the campaign.

ACTUALLY the candidates, despite the fact that they pay huge sums for the polls, never believe them. They think that the polls show last month's sentiment, not how things are currently. It's something Pity the political workers who are like Ronald Reagan's claim that the unemployment figures don't show actual unemployment, they show how many people used to be unemployed. In a sense, that is true.

The polls, however, have been uncannily accurate in recent elections. and the majority of them are giving every indication that Blanchard and Riegle will be elected by wide margins Nov. 2.

In this state, however, you almost don't bave to be a weatherman to see which way the wind is blowing. Reagan may still retain a good deal of the personal popularity he started his presidency with, but his programs are going to do very little to help the Republican candidates. The perception that his administration is at lest partially responsible for the terrible economic problems beseiging us and The candidate is cursed if he's a desire for change will ensure Demahead, and cursed if he's behind. A school district faces issue of student smoking

THE ROCHESTER school board recently bit the bullet. Its members snuffed out cigarette smoking by students on school grounds starting next fall. Those who light up will be suspended for three days for the first offense, five days for the second.

Smoking by students in Rochester schools began in 1976. Like most school districts which in the '70s began to permit smoking on the premises, the school district took the action so students would foul the air of a designated area rather than school restrooms.

The move was taken despite the United States Surgeon General's report on smoking in 1964. That report warned about dangers inherent in use of tobacco. Later there were warnings by scientists that smoking was even more dangerous than the earlier studies indicated.

A recent report by the American Cancer Society, for example, says that smoking is reponsible for "83 percent of lung cancer cases among men and 43 percent among women." Smoking "accounts for about 20 percent of all cancers," the

But even with those reports out in the open, the matter of health wasn't the reason given for changing poli-

Instead, the Rochester board of education found fault with the messiness of the smoking area, although students who used it had promised to keep it tidy.

Non-smoking students in the '70s were happy to find clean air in the restrooms. But in 1974 a student I interviewed told me: "If I hadn't been allowed to smoke at school, I would have given it up long ago."

THE ISSUE HERE is the kind of example the schools are setting. Several Michigan legislators, who feel the schools should set a strong example about smoking, more than a year ago introduced a bill to outlaw all smoking in the public schools by both students and staff. The bill is expected to be taken up next year, according to state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, one of those who introduced it.

He said the Michigan Education Association opposes the bill because some of its members want to continue their lounge smoking privileges.

The Michigan Department of Education gave schools permission in the '70s to bypass a law requiring that an individual be 18 to smoke in a public place. The department gave permission for schools to set aside an area where students 18 years of age could smoke. However, younger students also took advantage of the area.

In providing designated smoking areas the department and the schools seemed to be saying, "Sure we have a state law against minors smoking. And sure we know it is unhealthy. But go ahead. We'll find you a

Rochester has given itself a year to educate the students on the problem. It might have been assumed that they already knew that tobacco can cause many illnesses. But it can't be assumed. In a recent survey the Federal Trade Commission found that 24 percent of heavy smokers don't know that smoking is danger-

IN TRYING to turn smokers around, the administration would do well to copy the work of Livonia Franklin High School principal Albert Zack, who calls the move by the Rochester board "bold, courageous and appropriate action." As a principal, he interested students in launching student anti-smoking groups.

These committees try to take the coolness out of Kools and other brands. They make an effort to recruit the in-kids as role models. They not only educate their own student body, but they visit elementary schools to cut off interest in smoking before it starts.

During the year before the ban takes effect, the Rochester beard, no doubt, will be forced to deal with claims that smoking is a right.

But it seems ridiculous to equate with free speech and freedom of religion something that the surgeon general described in 1979 as the single most important environmental factor contributing to premature deaths in the United States.

I hope no student will try it.

Until recently smoking was never allowed in schools. Nor were liquor, guns, drugs, knives and other things that hurt people.

THAT BRINGS US to the matter of penalties for smokers. I'm not sure that three- or five-day suspensions will do the trick for an age group that revels in sleeping late. While Bishop Borgess High School permits smoking in designated areas, the school is tough on violators. The penalty is a five-day suspension the first time, expulsion the second.

Another way to catch attention might be to require school attendance those three or five days. Miscreants could be assigned to a room where they have to do some kind of schoolwork other than their regular as-

I think hassling is a deterrent. I would suggest the first day be spent producing a resource paper on smoking. Let the school keep on hand as a reference a report by the American Cancer Society called 1982 Cancer Facts and Figures.

It contains material that would bring credit to any school smoking study. Material like "Smoking-related disorders are estimated to cause some 325,000 premature deaths each year, and cost the nation about $27 billion in medical care."

Or try this on. "Besides tar and nicotine, cigarette smoke contains poisonous gases - hydrogen cyanide, volatile aromatic hydrocarbons and especially carbon monoxide, which the Surgeon General cites as a possible critical factor in coronary heart disease and fetal growth retardation, among other things."

Yet another no-show excuse

WILLIAM LUCAS, candidate for Wayne County executive, has come up with a new excuse for avoiding debates with the knowledgeable and articulate underdog, Bob FitzPatrick.

During the Democratic' primary, the alibis for missing two debates were that he hadn't received the written invltations, which were sent to his listed residence. That raises an interesting question about why he isn't receiving mail sent to his home, but let's not get into that.

Lucas' staff last week told the Redford Township Chamber of Commerce it was no longer publishing his schedule, giving chamber folks the impression there have been threats on his life. A sheriff with 500 pistol-packin' deputies at his beck and call, afraid to go to a suburban restaurant and talk to some of the tamest folks in Christendom? Ho, ho, ho.

'Resource recovery' key to county trash removal

Two of the five Wayne County landfills are nearly exhausted. Solid waste is piling up at the rate of 35,000 cubic yards per day enough to pack Tiger Stadium every two

The 43 communities in Wayne County may find themselves scampering to find places to hide their rubbish. Suburban residents, confused over Public Acts 641 and 64. unite to resist development or enlargement of present landfills unless they are certain their areas will not be tainted by poisonous "Creating safe landfills is not nearly as exciting as finding pollutants," said County Commissioner Clarence R. Young, chairman of the county's Solid Waste Management Committee.

"But the day the rubbish collector fails to make his weekly rounds of Wyandotte, Ecorse, Dearborn, the Pointes and the other county communities will be the day when safe landfills become a headline issue.'

THE 13-MEMBER Wayne County Solid... Wast Management Committee must come up with a master plan by July 1983.

"The ultimate key to the problem," said Maurice Roach, director of the county's planning commission, "is resource recovery - the ability to convert the refuse into useable energy or by-products. So far, 25 cities and townships have developed parts of such plans," he added.

Wayne County's master management five- and 20-year plan includes a number of goals and objectives calculated to protect the health, safety and welfare of its citizens in insuring that all environmental laws rules and regulations are adhered to and enforced.

The plan will preserve and enhance the county's land, air and water by abating and eliminating pollution of all types associated with waste disposal; conserve, recover and minimize the depletion of resources through recycling and utilization of solid waste as an energy source; and improve the enconomic and social development potential.

OAKLAND COUNTY's' Waste Management Plan is nearly completed and is expected to be submitted to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) by year's end

George Schutte, Oakland's supervisor of solid waste, has had to face the wrath of angry residents and local government officials, as have members of Wayne County's Solid Waste Management Committee.

"The five- and 20-year plan is designed to lead Wayne County toward the objective of relying less on sanitary landfills and more on resource recovery," Roach said.

Landfill sites in Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter Townships and the city of Riverview are the main recipients of county refuse with some refuse being sent to Salem Township in Washtenaw County and to Macomb County.

Resource recovery is not new and received only scant consideration until gas shortages and high prices in the mid '70s resulted in crash programs to develop other sources of energy.

Now, with the availability of gasoline and oil, the search by large corporations and the federal goverment to create alternate fuels from coal and exotic gases has given way to programs to convert our solld waste materials into cheap energy and reuseable prod-

Recyling centers for used oil have been opened in 154 county locations.

An estimated four million gallons are dumped annually in Wayne County. Until now, most of it has been poured down drains, in vacant lots and along river banks and swamps. Nearly every community in ... Wayne County has from one to 41 such recycling stations and residents have been urged through newspaper ads and mail to make use of these centers. This is a minor example of resource recovery, but it is a start.

FIVE COMMUNITIES composing the Central Wayne County Saniation Authority - Inkster, Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights are preparing plans to eliminate air pollution at thier incinerator plant and add on generator and turbine units to provide electric power for Edison and steam that can be sold to nearby indus-

Detroit, by burning its rubbish, hopes to produce electrical power and steam heating for downtown and New Center areas.

Wyandotte and DCC (Downriver Community Conference) have plans on the drawing board to produce steam heat from its waste. Canton Recycling Inc., Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority and Grosse Pointe are already recycling metal for reprocessing and all landfill developers are pursuing plans to extract methane gas for use as fuel.

Riverview has a proposal, now, to remove methane from its mountain of trash to heat local offices.

"RESOURCE RECOVERY," said Roach, "comes in many packages . . .from waste reduction, source separation, volume reduction, composting, energy recovery, modular combustion, refuse-derived fuel, pyrolysis (chemical conversion to useable products), and biological conversion to landfill gas re-

"In every case," Roach explained, "the ultimate goal is to reduce the high cost of waste disposal and eliminate the need for additional landfill acreage, by converting such materials into useful by-products."

Production evolution is seminar topic

Citing an overwhelming amount of interest, the Economic Development Corporation of Wayne County is hosting a second all-day briefing Nov. 18 on the evolution in auto production techniques.

"We were swamped with requests for reservations (for the Oct. 7 seminar). And because many, many more firms want to find out what is happening and what is going on, the workshop will be repeated. We already have 200 reservations in," said Robert FitzPatrick, executive director of EDC-Wayne.

To register call the EDC office at 336-

The briefing will investigate the adoption of techniques and processes developed by the Japanese in the last 20 years in managment and the workforce.

PUMPKIN "COUNTRY CLASSICS"

When the days turn, cooler, and golden pumpkins dot the fields, desserts with a real homespun taste will nudge nostalgia. Perhaps you'll remember such back-home favorites as fragrant pumpkin pies, fresh warm doughnuts and lewel-toned fruitcakes, deliciously signaling the approach of the holiday season.

Capture the flavors of these old time treats, and create a few surprises, with a beautiful bevy of new pumpkin recipes they're bound to win praises as long as a country mile.

Pumpkin's natural rich endowment of Vitamin A. plus iron and other nutrients, has long been appreciated. But extra good-for-you ingredients have been added to this fine pumpkin fare. Milk, ricotta cheese, yogurt, bran, fruit and nuts enhance the flavor of these new pumpkin specialties and bring your family a nutritional boost.

Start your creation of back-home treats with smooth and flavorful canned solid pack pumpkin from your grocer's shelf. You'll find the 16 oz. size perfect for a 9 inch pie and other delectable pumpkin-eating pleasures. For two pumpkin pies choose the 29 oz. can size. "Easy as pie," another convenient pumpkin product is canned pumpkin pie mix, already sweetened and spiced.

Pumpkin and pastry, like horse and carriage, make a natural pair. Our updated version of oldfashioned pampkin pie is lightly sweet and extra creamy with the addition of ricotta cheese and brown sugar in the gently spiced filling. New as tomorrow; Pumpkin Ricotta Pie flaunts a flowershaped garnish of vanilla yogurt and crisp pumpkin seeds.

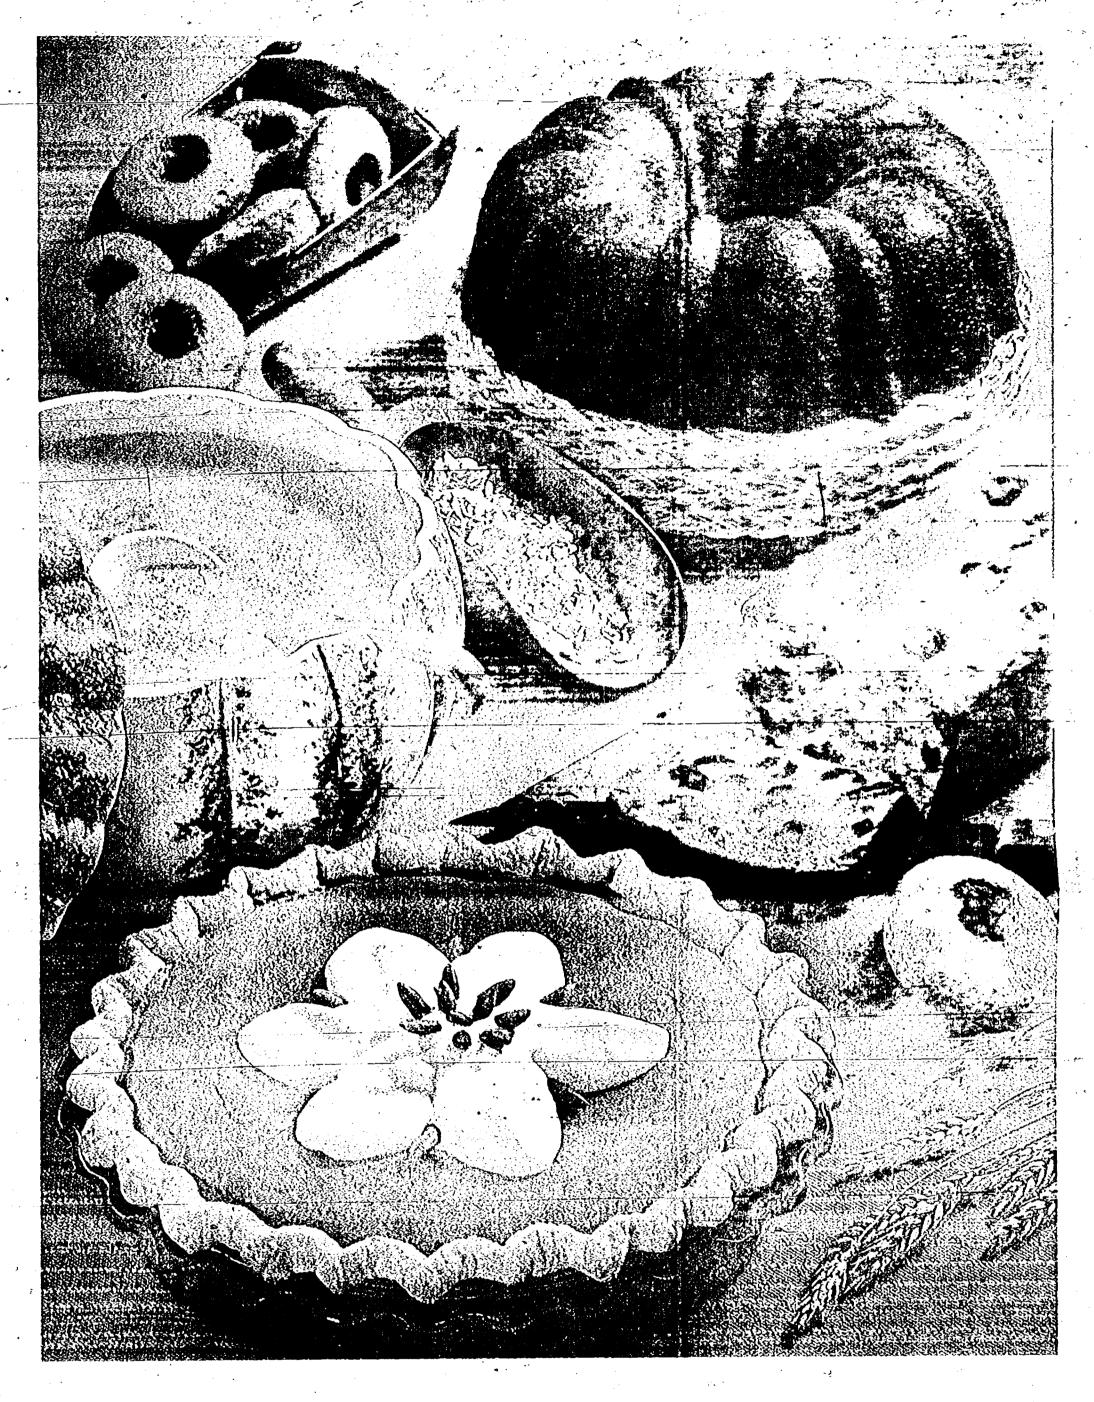

Pumpkin-Eater Doughnuts are a welcome snack for the keen-edged appetites cool weather brings: Pumpkin and bran make these savory nut-brown doughnuts superb in flavor and extra hearty. Served warm and unadorned, with a mug of milk, or sparkled with cinnamon-sugar and tucked in a lunch box, they're a sure-fire success.

As the holidays near, a deliciously home-style, ortable dessert fills many a need. Savor a richly fruited Health-Nut Cake and plan a few extras as thoughtful gifts: Amber gold pumpkin adds to its hearty, wholesome texture and flavor. Honey, whole wheat flour, oats, walnuts and fruits, embellished with a hint of orange and cardamom, make this a healthy loaf that could well become a "specialty of your house."

Though the gingerbread man in the old nursery rhyme wanted a cake "baked fast as you can" we think you'll agree our Pumpkin Gingerbread is well worth a bit of extra time. Again you will find a nutritional bonus in the recipe made with wheat germ, honey, yogurt and a nicely balanced blending of pumpkin 'n spices. Simple but elegant, this moist fluted cake is easily glazed, adding a sweet flavor finish that absorbs as it cools.

Pumpkin Nog is a cool festive beverage to give your home-for-the-holidays hospitality a delicious new twist. Flavorful pumpkin pie mix, conveniently pre-sweetened and spiced, makes for easy mixing with the dairy fresh flavors of ice cream and milk. To serve a group including children divide the recipe in half and consider a spirited addition of light rum to the adult portion of this smooth and delightful nutmeg-sprinkled nog.

Brimming with honest-to-goodness flavor, you'll find pumpkin's just perfect for desserts that delight and bring a robust bonanza of good nutrition to your table.

- 6 eggs 1 can (16 oz.) solid pack
- pumpkin 1 1/2 cups honey
- 2/3 cup melted butter or
- margarine 1/2 cup plain yogurt 1 cup wheat germ
- 3 cups sifted flour 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves Yogurt Glaze (recipe below)

Preheat oven to 350°. Beat eggs well in a large bowl. Stir in pumpkin, honey, butter, vogurt and wheat-germe-Silt-flour, baking-soda salt and spices together; stir into pumpkin mixture, half at a time, until well mixed. Pour batter into a greased 12-cup tube pan or angel food cake pan. Bake at 350° for 50 to 60 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on rack for 10 minutes; remove from pan and cool while making glaze. Place cake on deep plate; spoon hot Yogurt Glaze slowly over cake, letting it soak in. Spoon any glaze that drips onto plate back over cake; continue until all glaze is absorbed.

Note: For a smaller cake, this recipe may be divided in half. Bak in a 13 x 9-inch pan for about forty minutes.

Yogurt Glaze

We're in the middle of the Michigan apple season

Apple harvest is in full swing throughout the state and nation. The U.S. harvest is forecast at 204 million bushels - almost as large as the 1980 record crop and 11 percent above last year's crop.

Five major apple-producing states (Washington, New York, Michigan, Virginia and West Virginia) are expected to exceed their 1980 crops this year.

The Michigan applie crop will be the largest since the turn of the century, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. Production is forecast at 22.6 million bushels, a 44-percent increase over the 1981 crop.

Growing conditions for Michigan applies and other fruits have been ideal this year. Generous rainfall means applies will be larger than normal for most varieties. Quality will also be superior, as is usually the case when the crop is large.

THE COOL nights and sunny days bring on the red color so highly prized by shoppers. Of course, an apple doesn't have to be red all over to be ripe and good.

Patches of green are likely to be found on the side of the apple turned away from the sun. Often, a closer look reveals the green area is the shape of a leaf, proof that it grew in the leaf's shadow. This is how Mother nature grows apples in America's heartland.

So that apples can be picked at just the right stage of maturity, university horticulturists issue harvest dates for each apple variety in each locale.

APPLE GROWERS must be doing something right, because apple popularity is increasing. A recent study conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows 1981 per capita consumption of fresh apples at 20.8

pounds. That's up nearly 3 pounds over the 1980 per capita consumption of 17.9 pounds. (Overall, fresh fruit consumption gained 5 pounds per capita during the same period.)

Apples have many ploses that are contributing to their popularity. A good source of dietary fiber, potassium and pectin, apples are low in sodium. Eaten at the end of a meal or as a snack, apples are also excellent teeth cleaners. Michigan offers a wide selection of apple varieties. This is desirable because some varieties are best for eating fresh, while others are superior for ples, salads or other uses. When choosing apples at the supermarket, buy the variety best suited to the use you have in mind.

MCINTOSH, JONATHAN and idared are considered all-purpose applies. All-purpose means that a given variety is good for eating out of hand whatever. Another variety may be better for one thing, such as ples, but allpurpose varieties are acceptable for all uses.

McIntosh apples are generally sweeter than Johnathans. Idareds are harvested after Macs and Jonathans. A and for pies, salads, sauce, baking or relatively new variety and an excellent keeper, Idareds are the apple for those who want to put a few apples away for winter in their own basement storage.

The Spy variety, considered the premium apple for pies, is still produced in Michigan, though in smaller quantities than in past years.

Women who are achievers

tinguished Woman certificate to Diane Kremser at the fall dinner meeting of BPW

Dr. Diane Bert was picked as Distinguished Woman by the Redford Township

BPW awards honor distinguished careers

Education as a business and profession came to the forefront as three local Business and Professional Women's Clubs picked their distinguished women this fall.

Honored by BPW District IX at its fall meeting last week were Dr. Diane Bert, director of the Parent Readiness Education Project in the Redford Union District, Diane Kremser, secretary in the building and grounds department of the Garden City district, and Patricia Feight, who owns Yamaha Keyboard World, a piano and organ store in Wayne.

The program seeks to recognize women who are outstanding in their business or professional fields, and names of 10 such women were presented by 10 BPW clubs at the dinner

Bert was honored by the Redford Township BPW, Kremser by the Garden City club, and Feight by the Wayne group.

Also participating were BPW groups from Farmington, Canton, Plymouth, Northville, Novi and Detroit.

BERT, AS director of PREP, heads one a program recognized as outstanding nationwide. Focusing on helping parents help their youngsters, the program is state-funded and serves as a developer and demonstrator project for the U.S. department of education, training teachers in techniques of early identification, intervention and parent education.

Bert also developed her district's preschool enrichment and parent 'n tot programs which chairwoman of the RU academically talented planning committee.

She is 1982 recipient of the Michigan Department of Education certificate of appreciation for outstanding service to education and in recognition of significant personal efforts to increase the education opportunities for youth and adults in the state.

In June of this year she represented 150 developer demonstrator project directors in testifying in Washington before the U.S. House of Respresentatives elementary and secondary education subcommittee.

She is author of "Parent: Realities and Responsibilities," a curriculum for high school

She has received many recognitions and awards and is a member of several educational and psychological organizations.

KREMSER INTERESTS and activities extend far beyond her job in the school offices.

She has been an active member of Parent-Teacher organizations on school, community and state levels, a worker on assorted school projects, a pusher of millage proposals and a charter member and leader of the Garden City Civic Theater. She also took part in organizing Garden City flower festivals and the community bicentennial effort.

After serving in capacities from room mother to president of the Farmington elementary school PTA, Kemser helped restructure the Parent Teacher Student Association at Radcliff Junior High and was its president for two years. She also was on the city's PTA council for five years, serving as president in 1976, and was delegate to state and national PTSA conventions.

With the theater group, she has been performer, assistant director and stage manager, props chairman, costume chairman, producer, president and corresponding secretary.

Currently she is recording secretary and costume co-chairman for the upcoming production of "My Fair Lady."

Kremser, mother of John, 21, and Kathleen, 20, also likes crocheting and baking, and her secret ambition has been to be a Woman of

THE MUSIC BUSINESS has been Feight's interest for 20 years. After working in stores that sell instruments and music as well as offering lessons, she became owner of the Yamaha store at 35164 Michigan, Wayne, six years ago. Three years ago she added a store at 20434 Farmington Road, Livonia.

Feight has worked with the retail merchants association in Wayne and is current president of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Wayne Soroptim-

She and her husband, Bill, are residents of Tecumseh. They have three married children and six grandchildren.

Honors from the Wayne BPW went to Patricia Feight.

Caucus leader reports

Number of women candidates growing

By Sherry Kahan staff writer

"Real power is elected power," believes Kathy Wilson.

The chairwoman of the National Women's Political Caucus, visiting this area recently for a caucus steering committee meeting, Wilson was feeling bullish about the possibility of women winning a share of that real power.

"When the caucus started in 1971, only 4 percent of the country's state legislators were women," she said. "Now 12.1 percent are women. This year, 437 women filed in state legislative elections.

Specifically, there are 68 women filing for these posts in Michigan, 17 in South Dakota, 81 in Florida and 75 in the state of Washington, Wilson said.

"We are talking of an unprecedented number of women filing," she said. "Our organization has helped show women they don't have to be passive recipients in a male-dominated world. It is possible to take political decisions into their own-hands.

"We are hopeful that women have seen the last wringing of their hands in the observer's gallery. over every roll-call vote. We want to stop trying to change the hearts and minds of legislators and change their faces instead.

WILSON BECAME involved in the women's' movement for the same reason thousands of others have — sex discrimination.

"For 11 years I was in sales," she said, "I was a leading sales person and was asked to train two young men. I found they were making $100 more a month than I was.

"It was a devastating experience. I'd always been sympathetic to the women's movement. But personal familiarity with discrimination in pay catapulted me into it."

Having long felt that political action could mean change, she directed her efforts in that direction.

"The caucus is an important training ground for public office," said Wilson, who is married and has a 2-year-old daughter. "A woman learns to deal with politics from within. She can learn parliamentary procedure, organizational skills, negotiation and how to deal with people's feelings.

"After a while this woman can say, 'I have community credentials. I have political credentials. I can help elect my neighbor.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

"After that," Wilson said, "she might test her abilitles by undertaking a fund-raiser for a local

"That requires a lot of skills," she said. "She has to deal with caterers, business people and candidates; and be a communicator, a cheerleader and someone able to negotiate prices. She would call in chits. She baked a cake for someone, they can bake one for her. That's the way it works on a local level. "This way she becomes known to the candidate, and might be asked to work in a responsible position in the campaign."

THE WOMEN'S POLITICAL Caucus "has done a lot to change the image of female campaigners and to help women realize their potential," Wilson said.

"We're organizing an old girls' network."

She noted that the caucus has grown from a membership of 271 in 1971 to a national membership today of about 80,000 in 300 local caucuses. To join, an individual must be a feminist and prochoice on the abortion issue.

'We are hopeful that women have seen the last wringing of their hands in the observer's gallery over every roll-call vote. We want to stop trying to change the hearts and minds of legislators and change their faces instead.'

> -Kathy Wilson NWPC chairwoman

One of its efforts is to raise money for women campaigners.

"To women candidates, attracting money is a big problem," Wilson said. "Men have already-established ties to business people. During an election they can call in their chits. Women aren't used to giving big money. They think $5 is a reasonable donation. They don't appreciate the financial sacrifice necessary to put a person into office."

In her opinion "men out there are ready to help. You just have to ask them. Lots of men feel women are woefully under-represented in political life."

5 generations

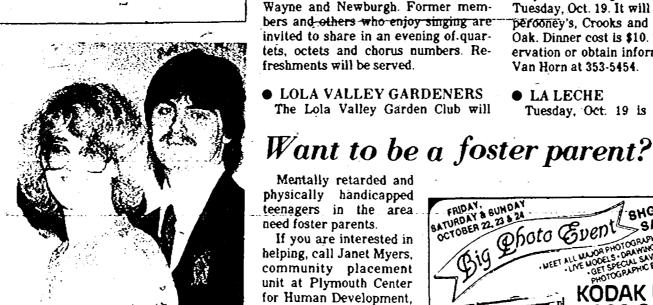

The occasion of James Paul Shilander's first birthday recently was reason enough for his family to gather five generations together. James is sitting between his great-great-grandfather, James White Sr. 89, of Westland and his grandmother Janet Graham, 53, of Redford. At the left is his great-grandmother, Mary Duffus, 71, of Detroit, and at the top is his mother, Paula Shilander, 30, of Ypsilanti.

Louise Snider

A violent society backdrops crime

Louise Snider is on vacation. The following review is by guest critic Tom Panzenhagen.

Maybe films have gone too far.

Movies today don't stop with the mere murder of children. In "Amityville Horror II," for instance, audiences are treated to the execution-style slaying of a little girl. She's blown away by a shotgun blast. Fair enough.

But the terror doesn't begin or end there. Before the shooting, we're provided with menacing closeups of the killer's maniacal demeanor, which reveals that he thrives on his actions. Add the fear-struck face of a younger sister who's about to witness the sororicide, not to mention the soon-to-be shattered innocence personified by the trusting visage of the young victim. That's horror, you say. But wait, it doesn't stop there.

Put yourself in the place of the little girl. Her back is turned to the murderer, but the time-honored conventions of Hollywood allow to us to see what she cannot. When big brother levels that shotgun, we turn and find the murder weapon pointed squarely at us. Kaboom - right between the ears! That's style, you say. That's suspense. That's entertainment?

IN "RAPE OF LOVE," four buddies get a little boozed up. They joke and crack wise, strut their male egos and massage same, as boozed-up buddies are wont to do. Then they chase a skirt, in the vernacular of the breed. After all, boys will be boys. But it doesn't stop there, either.

The sport of the chase turns into the humiliation of a human being. The skirt is chased, caught, abducted, beaten and raped. And all the while the buddies hoot and whistle, sing, carry on and have as much fun as they would at a screening of "Amityville Horror II." For the men, this is entertainment.

When brought to trial, they manage no more regret for their actions than to mutter that perhaps they went too far. It was all in the name of fun. Rather than express remorse, they're unable to understand the fuss. After all, they reason, no one got hurt.

That's their opinion, and it shouldn't suggest that director Yannick Bellon, a woman, excuses the men's barbaric actions. To be sure, their deeds are roundly condemned. But, on the other hand, neither does Bellon stand back and scream chauvinist pig. "Rape of Love" is a superior film because it doesn't actively take sides. It dosn't have to. The pain and degradation endured by the rape victim, meticulously portrayed by Nathalie Nell, leaves an indelible impression on viewers' minds.

BELLON AVOIDS the obvious and focuses instead on the atmosphere in which the rape was perpetrated, then examines the reactions of those affected by the crime.

The director takes us into elementary school classrooms and presents the handlwork of children who were asked to paint pictures of their parents. Each picture recreates a world dominated by males, who work for a living, while Mom stays home and vacuums or does the dishes. Little boys are told to take their vaccination shots like men, which means they should be brave and stoic — traits not associated with, or stressed for, little girls.

It's against this backdrop that the rape occurs — not in terms of a causeand-effect relationship but as an outgrowth of the environment; a next illogical step, as it were.

Bellon makes you realize that the rapists were reared in this same environment and instilled with this same small regard for women. No, such lack of consideration did not lead inexorably to rape but it did desensitize the men to the ongoing dehumanization of women, just as films such as "Amityville Horror II" desensitize filmgoers to violence.

What's a little violence, we figure; and what's a little sodomy, these men

AFTER THE RAPE, the feelings of victim, victim's mother, boyfriend and other friends and relatives of the victim and rapists are deftly examined. Most would have the victim, Nicole, forget the incident lest the pursuance of criminal charges cause even more humiliation. Nicole at first feels compromised, cheapened - even somehow culpable - but it's her own inner rage which ultimately leads her to prosecute the wrongdoers.

"Rape of Love" is a thoughtful film that raises more questions than it answers about a society which condones rape by its very ignorance of the matter and its reluctance to find adequate measures for controlling it. And that's fine. The subject has been sensationalized enough. Here's a film that makes the viewer think and assess the situation for himself or herself.

"Rape of Love," which runs through Thursday, is the last of six foreign films presented by the Bloomfield Theatre in Birmingham. It's not rated but should be considered R material.

Hospital guild to

mark 25th year

Local volunteers, many of whom have donated hundreds of hours to Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, will mark a special anniversary this month.

The hospital will hold a dinner Oct. 20 to honor the 25th anniversary of the hospital's volunteer guild. The guild includes numerous residents of western Wayne County.

The dinner is open only to guild members and past presidents.

About 100 persons have served in the group since its organization. The guild has 53 members:

CHARTER MEMBERS of the group are Toni Pallazola of Garden City and 'Marge Goodall of Dearborn Heights.

In 26 years, the guild has raised money for numerous health-care improvements such as one-day surgery equipment and furnishings; pedatric department redecoration, redecoration of the bar, two isolettes for the nursery, hospital chapel, and contributions to annual health careers events.

The guild's latest project is buying sophlisticated cardiac monitoring units for the intensive care and cardiac care units for $100,000.

Money for the improvements is raised through the guild's strawberry festival, held every June, and a cardparty in the spring.

THE GROUP also runs the hospital's gift shop, patients' mail delivery, "Happy Wagon" and new surgical waiting room.

Officers of the guild are Ruth Dalton of Redford Township, president; Ruth Chappell of Redford, vice president; Bernice Kroeger of Canton Township, secretary, Vera Bancroft of Garden City, treasurer, and Edith King of Garden City, historian.

Guest speaker at the anniversary cafeteria and installation of a salad dinner will be Allan Breakie, the hospital's executive director.

Teacher to be missed by pupils

With all the teacher layoffs and school cutbacks, one teacher has survived it all.

Mrs. (Patricia) Zoch has been a teacher for more than 15 years of second graders at Douglas Elementary School in Garden City.

Through the many years of her teaching, she has given of herself to a maximum.

To her students, she gives warmth, understanding, respect, and above all, self-esteem. She is very helpful to her students and to the parents of her students in every way. The learning experiences in her classes are remembered for years to come.

As a former student, I would like to acknowledge a teacher of such caliber. A flower to Mrs. Zoch.

SWEET TOOTH - NO TOOTH

If you have a "sweet tooth," you'll probably have to pay a penalty for your pleasure. This is especially true for youngsters and that penalty will be found in the form of Increased dental decay. Too much sugar or sugarsweetened foods taken too often bring on the plaque brigade in full force. When the bacteria in plaque (an invisible film on your teeth) combines with sugar, it forms an sold which eats away at teeth causing decay and a host of other problems. Plaque has a sweet tooth of its own. Don't feed it. To prove the point, a dental team in Connecticut asked the mothers of almost a thousand children to keep complete records of what their children are for one complete week. The children's teeth were then examined and the results were matched with the diet diaries. The findings showed that children who liked more between-the-meal sweet snacks had more cavities than those who are less. They also found that children who ate more fruit and vegetable treats had fewer cavities

Trenton mighty mite baffles Bentley girls, 46-39

By Brad Emons staff writer

Sizing up Trenton's 46-39 girls' basketball victory over Livonia Bentley is Just point to the smallest player on the floor - Debbie Gibaratz - a 5foot-2 sophomore guard. She drove Bentley insane with her slick ball handling, free-throw shooting and heads-up play.

Bentley, ranked No. 3 in Class A by a statewide coaches poll, suffered its first loss of the season Thursday night. 11 straight wins without a loss.

"Gibaratz was just super," said an elated Trenton coach, John Biedenbach. "We've got to get her the ball because she breaks the press for us."

Trenton, playing a delay game for the final five minutes, used some clutch free-throw shooting by the little guard to pull out the upset win. Gibaratz hit . six of eight free throws in the final quarter and finished with 16 points.

Teammate Emily Miller fired in 17 points, connecting on nine of 12 from the line. The Trojans' two top scorers.

Trenton, No. 5 in the ratings, made it 6-0 center Sandy Clark and forward Amy Welch, accounted for just 10

"WE DIDN'T hit our shots and we were outrebounded in the first half," said Bentley coach Tom Lang. "It was Kim Archer against Trenton on the forced the Bulldogs to shoot more from the perimeter. The strategy seemed to pay off.

"We got good shots, but we just weren't hitting," Lang continued. "You do what you normally do best. They've always gone zone against us. It was nothing different than what we saw last year."

For the Trojans, a state tournament semifinalist in Class A a year ago, it was their first win over Bentley in six years.

The two teams played evenly in the rolling in the second quarter. Miller's three-point play with 2:22 left spurred the Trojans to their biggest lead of the night, 25-18.

BENTLEY trimmed that advantage to 25-21 on Archer's long-range basket at the buzzer. The Bulldogs were also helped by a two-shot foul and a subsequent bench technical against Biedenbach with 1:01 to play.

With 2:32 left in the third quarter, Lonnie Payne's basket put Bentley ahead briefly, 31-29, but Gibaratz an-Westland John Glenn's Rockets got off the launching pad for one half, but Livonia Franklin sent its homecoming crowd into orbit with a come-from-behind 19-7 victory in a crucial Northwest Suburban League football game you." Saturday afternoon.

The unbeaten Patriots (6-0) are one victory away from winning the title outright. They travel Friday to meet Garden City. It was Glenn's first loss.

An overflow crowd of 4,000 watched the Rockets pull ahead 7-6 at intermission on Don Forchione's two-yard touchdown run and Todd Jennings' extra point.

The second half was a different story, however, as Patriot quarterback Rich Popp drilled two TD passes, one a perfect 36-yard sideline strike to Rich, made a substitution error in the second Wood with 5:03 to play, putting the quarter," said Vigna. "We gave them a game away.

Popp completed 13 of 22 passes for 193 yards. He opened the scoring with a 10-yard TD pass to tight end Bob Stebbins with 55 seconds to play in the first in the third quarter when Popp drilled a pass to a diving Chris Lewis just inside the goal line. The five-yard scoring play came with 1:44 left to go in the third quarter as Franklin went ahead,

Earlier in the period, Glenn appeared to be driving for a second score, but the Franklin defense bottled up Jennings, the team's workhorse, on a fourth down and two play.

"We made some penalty errors and I second drive and they're tough to stop with their running game. "They had control of the second quarter and that had us worried, and then we stopped them on fourth-andone. That was a big play."

FRANKLIN made several other big plays. Lewis picked off two Jeff Hawley passes in the first half. Wood, Gary Staub and Herb Minard stopped Glenn drives with interceptions in the final

And Tom Lucas' shoestring grab of a Popp pass and subsequent 11-yard run for a first down led to Franklin's final touchdown in the fourth quarter.

The Patriots did not play conservatively with the lead even though Popp fumbled on a rollout play at the Glenn 49 with 9:06 left in the game.

"Our attitude this year is that we're throwing the ball and we can't worry about turnovers," Vigna added. "We gave 'Woody' the green light on the 'horn' and that put it away."

Franklin had 100 yards on the ground to Glenn's 131. Jennings, a senior tailback, carried 26 fimes for 81

Popp now has 13 touchdown passes this season, a school record. He also equaled Paul Downs' 1974 mark of 13 completions in one game.

Rock gridders withstand Bulldog 2nd-half surge

A large banner behind the Plymouth Salem bench Friday night at Livonia Bentley proclaimed 'The Rocks Are

Salem proved they were for real by downing the Bulldogs, 20-12, but before the contest was over, the Rocks discovered Bentley is a pretty good football

Both squads came into the game with 3-0 records in the Lakes division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, with Bentley having won its last three games after losing the first two. The win was Salem's sixth this season without a loss.

"This game was for the championship (of the Lakes division) and it was a Tom Moshimer said.

"Bentley is much better than they have been given credit for. They played with us tonight - hard, intense football. You have got to give them (Bentley) a lot of credit for the way they played," Moshimer said.

The Rocks started rolling in the first quarter, scoring on their first possesion. But it wasn't easy.

The Salem defense stopped Bentley on their first possesion, forcing the Bulldogs to punt.

A MEAGER 15-yard punt put Salem on the Bentley 39-yard line. Six plays later, Salem found themselves with a first-down-and-goal-to-go situation from the five-yard line.

The Bentley defense played tough, good, physical ball game," Salem coach stopping the Rocks three times before junior Scott Jurek went in from the one. Mark Dixon kicked the extra point.

Salem quarterback Dave Haut tallied the next Rock touchdown as he ran 81 yards on an option play with just :18 seconds remaining in the first quarter. Dixon added the extra point to put Salem ahead, 14-0.

Neither team scored in the second quarter, but Bentley came out fired up in the second half and gave the Rocks all they wanted.

On the opening series of plays in the third quarter, Salem's Haut faked a handoff to the fullback, and the ball was stripped away by Bentley's Steve _Sapienza.

An opportunistic Mike Pomaranski picked up the loose ball and scampered 23 yards for a touchdown. The kick was once again stripped of the ball, and this time Saplenza fell on it for Bentley. The Bulldogs, aided by a pass interference call in the end zone, had four chances from the six-yard line to score, but the Salem defense held. SALEM SCORED its final touchdown with just over two minutes remaining in the third period as Mark Tindall, in at quarterback, hit Dave Houle in the end zone for a 12-yard super effort tonight. This is a good touchdown pass. The extra-point kick was blocked.

Bentley wasn't dead yet as with just quarterback Steve Gregor threw to Mary Rons for a 17-yard touchdown pass. The run for two points was stopped to give the Rocks the final margin, 20-12.

Bentley was without the services of its number-one running back, Keith Percin, who injured an ankle in last week's Northville game.

"This is a good football team at Bentiey High School," Bulldog coach Steve Naumcheff sald.

"This was a close game, and the big plays went to Salem. Our kids played like champions, and they gave just a group of kids. "You have to give a lot of credit to the Rocks and coach Moshimer. But I over four minutes left in the game, am very proud of our kids," Naumcheff. said.

BENTLEY WAS able to gain only 52 yards on the ground against the stingy Rock defense. Quarterback Gregor was seven-for-23 passing for 125 yards, threw for one touchdown and he threw one interception.

Haut led the Rock rushing with 98 yards on 10 carries, scoring one touchdown. He was one-for-three passing for 16 yards and one interception.

Workhorse Jurek had 65 yards on 16 carries and one touchdown.

Tindall, who played only in the second half, was four-for-five passing for 59 yards and one touchdown pass.

Double-victor trio powers Thurston

Sheri Morse, Karen Helwig and Paige Edwards each won two events Thursday, carrying Redford Thurston to a 74-49 Northwest Suburban League 'girls' swim triumph over Livonia Franklin.

Thurston is 4-5 overall and 1-0 in league dual meets.

Morse captured first place in both the 200-vard individual medley (2:38.4) and 100 butterfly (1:10.7). Edwards, meanwhile, swept the 50 and 100 freestyle events with times of 27.8 and 1:01.7, respectively. Helwig grabbed first in both the 200 freestyle (2:16.6) and 500 freestyle (6:06.1).

Other Thurston individual winners Included Karen Krzwada, diving, 135.8 points; Danielle Miller, 100 backstroke, 1:14.6, and Debbie Ross. 100 breaststroke, 1:24.3.

The team of Miller, Ross, Dawn Rickenback and Karen Ruggiero touched the wall first in the 200 medley relay (2:16.5). Edwards, Morse, Miller and Helwig combined to win the 400 freestyle relay in 4:13.8.

PLYMOUTH SALEM dunked Livonia Churchill Thursday night, 91-36. The Rocks captured eight firsts and were one-two in both relay events.

GARDEN CITY'S dual record fell to 4-4 on the season as North Farmington easily handled the Cougars on Thursday, 77-46.

The only bright spot for Garden City was double-winner Kim Dorsey.
