School board appointees draw challenge

By Sandra Armbruster editor

One of the four appointments made to the Wayne-Westland board of education is being challenged by other efected board members.

Last Thursday Gov. William Milliken appointed four temporary board members to fill vacancles created after a successful recall election. Three appointees from Westland are are Andrew J. Spisak, 33434 Fernwood; Dortha "dottie" LeSuer, 34890 Oakwood Lane; and John R. Ryan, 35755 Oakwood Lane. The fourth appointment. Donald E. Bedard, 38440 Laurenwood, is a Wayne resident.

They will serve until a special election is held on Dec. 7.

Bedard's appointment is being challenged by Fred Warmbier, who has acted as board chairman since the recall election. Warmbier said there is a possible conflict of interest involved. Bedard, 61, served as a principal in the district for 33 years and retired in June 1981. "Bedard is still on the school district's payroll. He'll be getting a retirement check for the next five to six years (under an early retirement program)," Warmbier said.

Warmbier said he would meet with Faust on Wednesday (yesterday) to ask for an attorney general's opinion on whether Bedard's appointment presented a potential conflict of interest

BÉDARD SAID his retirement pay wasn't an issue.

"Actually there's nothing I can do to help raise my pay. If an issue comes up that would create a conflict, I would abstain and not vote," he said.

Steve Fetter, a member of the governor's executive legal staff, said they were unaware of the situation when the appointment was made.

As a courtesy, we've agreed to look at it again," said Fetter.

He explained that under Michigan law, a conflict of interest could exist in two possible situations: First, an incompatibility would exist if one person held two or more public positions. Second, if a vote came up in which someone had a personal interest, he would be required to disclose his interest and abstain from voting. Fetter added that the vote then could proceed, passing with a two-third's majority. Fetter stressed that these were "general terms" under Michigan law and not specific statements about Bedard.

WARMBIER WAS critical of the other appointments as well. He said he "suspected politics" was the reason why four people recommended by the three remaining elected board members weren't appointed by the gover-

Andrew Spisak

The three board members originally had recommended that Harry L. Smith, a General Motors public relations man, be appointed by the governor. Then with a four-member majority, the board itself could appoint the remaining three members.

Warmbier said that when they learned several weeks ago that four Fetter said that 10 to 15 people submitted names to the governor's office. The staff then went to its "contacts in the community and provided the governor with several names to choose

The appointments were made to fill vacancies created by a successful recall election. They will serve until a special election is held on Dec. 7.

Ryan said he expects to find a "whole new ballgame" in serving on the board

"THE OPEN meetings act, to be blunt, is a serious problem. The four of us can't have a session with Superintendent Timothy Dyer to be brought up to date without making it public," he said, adding that collective bargaining also has changed in the last 20 years.

"The district had changed. Back then we were expanding, and our big concern was could we build enough schools fast enough and have teachers that would staff them for the entire term,"

Ryan said one problem was the "90day wonder" who would teach for that times one class would go through two to three teachers in one years

"Looking a the pupil population then, we believed we would have steady geometric growth," he continued. "State aid was increasing, and we had two teacher unions instead of one. One thing certain in life is that there will be change."

Now the district is faced with declining enrollment and state aid. Ryan said he didn't expect any problems in working with the other six board members.

"I don't agree with Fred Warmbier (board member) on the time of day, but we do agree on concern and interest in schools," he said.

Referring to criticism over an extension of the teachers' contract last year, Spisak said, "If you say you pay too much for education, well, you pay too much for hamburger." He added that if the district has superfluous programs, that has to be taken care of but noted that some extra programs, like music, shouldn't be considered a problem unless they interfere with basics like math and English.

Spisak said he hopes that whoever is elected in December provides "some kind of harmony" on the board.

This Pac Mac figure, alias Bob Carlini of Garden City, isn't really about to take a bit out of the car heading down Ford Road in Westland. Carlini, 25, who works at V Fix it on Ford, was merely. trying out a costume for a Halloween party. He said it took him about two hours to concoct the cardboard and posterboard idea that he modified from one he had seen on television. Turns out that Pac Man is only one of many costumes Carlini is rigging up. He plans to attend the private party as "the man of 1,000 faces," changing his costume every half hour. Carlini hopes to win a prize for his efforts.

Council allocates rat control funds

By Maurie Walker staff writer

The rat problem in certain areas of Westland is officially going to be met head on.

After a public hearing Monday, the Council approved the reallocation of $75,000 in federal community development money to combat the city's rat problem.

The money will go to hire two code enforcement officers and for the purchase of traps, poisons and to print and distribute educational material.

Eugene Hudson, director of community development programs, said the city is expected to hire two persons next week and that the rat control program would be getting into full swing

The City Council, concurring with the city administration, earlier this month had passed a resolution to use the $75,000 for the project. The administration's recommendation was to attack the rat problem through stepped-up code enforcement and education. Part of the $75,000 will be used to pay the salaries and fringe benefits of

THE PROBLEM areas were determined by a week-long random surveyof about 1,300 yards on 49 blocks selected by state and county health department officials.

Pickering said the survey was conducted to determine how serious the problem was. He said he was concerned about using the funds in response to telephone complaints about rats without knowing if the city was hitting the major problem areas.

He said that the city needed to have enforcement which includes a strong education program.

"An advantage of the city handling The one-year plan to battle the rat the rat problem itself rather than conprogram had been outlined by Mayor tracting it out, is that ultimately two persons on layoff will be brought back to the Job.

"This will enable the one code enforcement officer currently working, to concentrate on sections of the city where rats aren't a serious problem," Pickering added. He had explained that the council was involved in the rat problem because it had to approve any expenditure of public funds. ACCORDING TO Fritz, the city will supply poisons for the bait boxes, but it will be up to residents of the area to monitor the situation on a daily basis. "If there's a sign of rats, the city will set a box and balt it along with code enforcement," he said. According to the survey, rats are a serious problem (an infestation rate of at least 6 percent) in areas bounded by: Wayne, Newburgh, Ford and War-has placed several residents in jobs in $16,000 grant in federal community development funds. Beverly Stanton, chamber first vice president, who represents the group on the city's blockgrant advisory committee, suggested the project after becoming familiar with funding regulations.

> "I felt the chamber had an opportunity to possibly do something for the community when there was a real need for it." she said.

The grant, which began in September and extends until Aug. 31, has helped the chamber out at a time when financial problems had forced it to reduce its staff to part-time status.

The chamber is using the money to pay for part of the salaries and fringe when they have a job opening. Applibenefits of its staff, posters, brochures, cants are then matched with the job postage, printing and other office expenses used in the program.

While open to all Westland residents, the chamber is targeting its job-matching efforts in three areas: Norwayne. the extreme southeastern section of the city, south of Annapolis bordered by Inkster, and Middlebelt, and a third area bounded by Marquette, Newburgh, Wayne and Elmwood.

Stanton said the program works by taking applications from unemployed residents. The residents are screened according to ability and kind of job they are seeking. She said the chamber has asked its members to let it know Newburgh.

opening and sent for interviews.

This prevents our members from getting 9,900 applications, and it keeps jobs in the community," said Stanton. "Business isn't the greatest, but one way to improve it is to keep jobs in the community."

Now that the chamber has a list of job applicants, Stanton said that the chamber needs to learn of more job openings. To list a job opening with the chamber, call the office at 326-7222.

Warmbier probes appointments

He added that the delay since the Sept. 14 recall election in making the appointments was because they "just wanted to become familiar with the situation in the community."

"WE FOUND there were people on different factions, pro and anti-recall. We wanted to appoint people that wouldn't be partisan but be interested in the best education for citizens," Fetter said. "I think we achieved that." Warmbier disagrees, noting that LeSuer and Ryan both had some contact with the anti-recall faction. Warmbier and board members Dewey Combs and David Moranty generally were considered voting opponents of the four who were re-

"I can't find a lot of enthusiasm for the appointees. It's nothing personal. They're probably all good people, but we were proud of the selection we submitted," Warmbier continued. "I'm trying to find out where the appointments came from. I think it smells all the way from the administration building to Lansing."

Warmbier said there is a question whether the newly appointed board members need to be sworn in or are automatically on the board. Also of concern, he said, is the election of new board officers. "Do they serve until the Dec. 7 special election or until next June?" Warmbier asked. "It appears we are back to a 4-3 vote. I don't know how that will set with the community. We're right back where we were."

Strike up the band! Music making marches on at high school

What group has more members than any athletic team but doesn't get nearly the publicity?

Come on, you know.

Think music. Think band.

Norman A. Logan, director of instrumental music at John Glenn High School, and James Cheyne, director of bands at Garden City High School, appreciate the efforts of their musicians and marchers.

"I would say the typical band member is an above-average student, someone pretty involved in other activities in addition to music," Logan said.

"We have a lot of class officers active in the band," he added. "Usually, he or she is someone who is pretty spirited, outgoing, has a good outlook on school and what it has to offer."

Cheyne also said he notices his band members tend to be better-than-average students. "I think they probably realize the discipline of practice goes along with the discipline of studies," he

THIS YEAR, the marching Cougars from Garden City consist of 76 musicians, a 28-person color guard, 16 pompon girls, four majorettes and drum majors Tracy Plumb and Debbie Dee.

The entire band - musicians and marchers - meets every day in school during band class to work on their particular specialties.

Everything comes together 6-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays prior to home football games when the band takes to the field for practice.

"We will do maybe three shows in five games for the interest of students and interest of the fans," Cheyne said. "I like to change things around once in a while."

The marching Rockets of Glenn -100 musicians, a 22-person color guard and drum major Kurt Kula — also spend plenty of time perfecting their routines.

"We're on the same type schedule the football team is," Logan said. "We also have our "games" where we go to competitions and festivals."

Band practice at Glenn is regularly scheduled 7-9:30 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Glenn basically presents one Broadway-type halftime show per season, Logan said, but "keeps adding numbers and parts of routines" for freshness. The Rockets will also participate in as many as a half-dozen outside band competitions this fall. ACTUALLY, not many people realize the coordination needed to combine equipment. Booster clubs help, but it's common to find the musicians on the front lines of fundraising efforts.

Suburban reps split on coastal states aid bill

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major rollcall votes in the days before the current Election Day recess.

OIL AND GAS MONEY - The House passed, 260 to 134, a bill to earmark up to $300 million annually in offshore oil and gas revenues to coastal states bordering the oceans and the Great Lakes.

The funding would come from the estimated $10 billion to $15 billion the Treasury is expected to gain annually under the Reagan Administration's program to lease offshore lands to energy prospectors.

According to supporters, one rationale of the bill is that coastal states deserve the special payments to offset the impact of offshore drilling on their marine resources.

Although all coastal states would get some of the $300 million, the amount would depend on factors such as population, shoreline mileage, and the volume of offshore drilling near the state. States would have to spend their block grant on marine-related programs such as those they administer under the Coastal Zone Management Act or on other programs to enhance their natural resources. The bill (HR 5543) was sent to the Sentae.

Supporter Walter Jones, D-N.C., said that at a time when the administration is cutting programs to preserve coastal resources, "it is critically important" to give states money for marine preservation projects.

Opponent Gene Snyder, R-Ky:, said he wonders "about the priorities of any Congress that would take up to $3 billion (the 10-year cost of the bill) from the U.S. Treasury to put these turkeys ahead of other important programs, such as Social Security, to name one."

Members voting "yea" wanted to divert a portion of revenue from offshore oil and gas leases to the coastal states.

Reps. David Bonior, D-Mt. Clemens, William Ford, D-Taylor, William Brodhead, D-Detroit and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham voted "yea."

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth voted

Rep. James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge did not vote.

FUTURE MARKET — By a vote of 170 for and 216 against, the House rejected an amendment to assess a "user's fee" on transactions in the futures market.

The Reagan Administration backed the amendment, saying it would pay most or all of the $23 million annual budget of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission — shifting the cost from the Treasury to the private

Most transactions were to be cost of the federal regulatory commischarged six to 12 cents each, although the fee for options and leverage deals was to be $3. The amendment was proposed to a bill (HR 5447) funding the commission and strengthening its powers. The bill also delegates regulatory powers to the National Futures Association, a trade association.

Sponsor Barber Conable, R-N.Y., asked,""Why in the world should the taxpayer pay the cost of this particular regulation?'

Opponent Ed Jones, D-Tenn., said it was unfair to expect traders to pay the sion at a time when they will be paying $27 million annually to fund the selfpolicing activities of the National Futures Association.

Members voting "yea" wanted to assess a "user's fee" on those who trade in the future market. Pursell, Brodhead and Broomfield voted "yea."

Bonior and Blanchard voted "nay." Ford did not vote.

for and 37 against, the Senate tabled and thus killed an amendment to prevent labor unions from using compulsory union dues for any political purpose.

Under present law, unions cannot use dues for direct contributions to candidates. But they can use dues to finance "voter education" projects and other forms of in-kind support of candiates and political causes.

The amendment was offered to HJ Res 599, an appropriations bill later passed and signed into law by the president. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who sponsored the amendment, said unions "take money from American workers against their will and use it to support poltical causes and candidates the workers often oppose."

No senators spoke in favor of killing the amendment.

Senators voting "nay" favored limiting political spending by unions.

Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted "yea."

FitzPatrick: EndUAW domination

By Tim Richard staff writer

Wiping out the Wayne County Road Commission won't eliminate the controversial union confract protecting 73 top managers, says county executive candidate Robert FitzPatrick.

"We have to continue in court if we're going to dissolve that management 'unton,'" FitzPatrick told the Redford Township Chamber of Commerce last week. On that point the Republican nominee differed sharply with Sheriff William Lucas, the Democratic nominee.

Lucas, who did not show up for the scheduled debate, had said earlier the contract would be dissolved once voters approve a charter amendment bringing the nearly autonomous under the jurisdiction of the county executive's office. Lucas has declined to join FitzPatrick in a court suit challenging the contract.

SAID FITZPATRICK: "The legislation (allowing the charter amendment) does not address itself to the contracts because they're binding contracts that were negotiated with the then Road Commission."

(Told after the meeting that Lucas' staff said he wasn't making his schedule known because of threats on his life, FitzPatrick said, "Isn't that hokey? He has 800 deputies to protect him. He probably figures he's ahead and can take it easy.")

Until the charter is amended, however, the county executive will be able to appoint and remove the three boardmembers of the Road Commission. On this point FitzPatrick promised: "I certainly will not appoint three members of the UAW as has been done in the past — Bard Young's secretary (Grace Hampton), the fellow who came out of Region I (Clarence Dukes) and, of course, Mike Berry, who makes his living on workmen's comp case from (UAW) Local 600.

sented, but I don't think it (county government) should be a dumping ground for former union members any longer," he said. FitzPatrick, 48, served three terms as a county commissioner crat, jumping into the GOP primary for county executive so he could "have a shot at the finals."

came under political and courtroom heat for allegedly locking the 73 managers into their jobs and frustrating reorganization by the county executive who is to be elected Nov. 2. Detroit newspapers long have criticized nepotism and UAW domination of Road Commission hiring policies.

Both Lucas and FitzPatrick supported state laws enabling voters to amend the county charter to eliminate the Road Commission.

FITZPATRICK WAS asked about the UAW-Road Commission political connection, given the UAW's reputation as a social-conscious union.

"There is a difference between Solidarity House (the union's international headquarters) and Wayne County," said FitzPatrick. "Having been raised in a union family. I know a little about it.

"The problems that transcend the local political entities are taken care of in Solidarity House. When it comes to politics in Wayne County, the two regions (I-B and I-E) are told 'you will do vour own endorsing.'

> EARLIER IN the week, Lucas announced appointment of a commission to advise him on county reorganization after the election. FitzPatrick laughed:

> "My God, we've had all kinds of commissions to study county government, and in December, after he's elected, then he'll tell us how he'd reform county government. He believes he's automatically going to take that job."

> Admitting he's an underdog, FitzPatrick said the issue is reform versus old-style politics, "not a black man and a white man or the city of Detroit and the suburbs or a Republican and a Democrat.

Tell me about your high gas heating bills and I'll tell you how you can save up to 20%* with Ameri-Therm.

For years I've talked with people who are tired of wasting fuel and money. Gas rates keep going up, so they come to me for advice

Every day, for homeowners like you. I correct the money-wasting problem of gas energy loss with Ameri-Therm & Vent Dampers.

The problem is very common: When a furnace, boiler or water heater shuts off, warm air is quickly lost up the chimney. Energy escapes, but you still end up paying for it.

People want to save as much as they can, so I tell them to keep heat inside with an Ameri-Therm Vent Damper.

Ameri-Therm is the thermally actuated vent damper that's:

- Proven in millions of locations.
- · Saves up to 20%* on fuel bills. Popular choice of American homeowners.
- Five year limited warranty. · Thermally actuated to operate efficiently with no wires,
- electricity, or other power source. Eligible for 15% tax credit. Available for gas furnaces, boilers and water heaters.

The less government, the better

By Ariene Funke staff writer

The least government is best, according to Steve Furr of Canton.

The 33-year-old Furr, a product-design engineer with Ford Motor Co., is candidate for Michigan lieutenant governor on the Libertarian ticket.

Furr is running mate to gubernatorial candidate Dick Jacobs, 43, a Grand Blanc manufacturers' representative.

"Basically we (Libertarians) believe in individual liberty with responsibility." Furr said. "The Democratic and Republican parties offer 'status quo' politics."

Furr and Jacobs are two of 100 candidates state-wide running for office on this minority-party ticket.

The Libertarian Party, formed in 1972, calls for strict observance of indi--vidual civil liberties, a free marketeconomy and an end to interference in the internal affairs of foreign coun-

The party's campaign literature calls for a renewal of government as intended and envisioned by such early American leaders as George Washington and Thomas Jefferson.

Steve Furr

"The founders of our country authored a document called a constitution, which was intended to put shackles on government," Furr said.

ACCORDING TO Furr, the government is improperly interfering in the economy through controls, regulations and taxes. He blasts huge military expenditures and the state's single-business and income taxes.

"In Michigan, over the last 30 years, we've had tax hikes under both the Democrats and Republicans," Furr said. "We should be able to spend-our money in the manner that we see fit."

The poor economy in Michigan is the "culmination" of businesses leaving the state because of high taxes and excessive regulation, Furr said.

Furr added that he supports equal rights for all, but that he has misgivings about an Equal Rights Amendment containing language that gives Congress power to draft legislation implementing new rules.

The candidate opposes tax credits to businesses because they favor one business over another. Military spending should be for defensive measures, and not used to interfere in the internal affairs of foreign countries, Furr added.

FURR IS a 1971 graduate of the University of Michigan, with a bachelor of science degree in aerospace engineering. An eight-year Canton resident, he is married and the father of two daughters and a son.

He has been disenchanted with the Democratic and Republican parties for several years, and voted Libertarian for the first time in 1976, he said.

Furr subsequently read Robert Ringer's book, "Restoring the American Dream," about the Libertarian philoso-

"I have come to the conclusion that there isn't much difference between the two (major partles)," Furr said.

In 1980, Furr organized a group of volunteers in western Wayne County to distribute pamphlets supporting Libertarian presidential candidate Ed Clark. Furr later became involved in the Libertarian party at the state and local Minority-party candidates are bucking certain obstacles, Furr said. State election laws make it difficult for lessknown parties to appear on the ballot, and the media largely ignore minorityparty candidates, he added.

The Democratic and Republican candidates receive campaign funds from tax dollars, which gives them more flexibility (Libertarians do not approve of such use of tax dollars).

Despite the obstacles. Furr believes a Libertarian lieutenant governor could have a major impact. For example, the lieutenant governor is empowered to cast a ballot when a vote is deadlocked in the state senate. "I would vote for less taxes and less regulation," Furr said.

Who should provide state jobs

By Suzie Rollins Singer staff writer

Both major gubernatorial candidates agree that jobs for Michigan residents are the governor's top priority, but the disagreement occurs over who should provide the employment opportunities.

Before a record 2,600-person crowd Monday at the Economic Club of Detroit luncheon in Cobo Hall, Republican Richard Headlee and Democrat James Blanchard made their pitches for gov-

"We have to provide jobs in the private sector. I believe in private-sector solutions," said Headlee, the Farmington Hills insurance executive.

FOUR-TERM Congressman Blanchard, of Pleasant Ridge, countered with his ideas for governmental programs to help rescue the state's econo-

"We need government to create the climate for the private sector to employ people," Blanchard said. "I will establish a strategic investment bank to target job training programs. I'll begin a department of public works program to repair our roads and sewers. We're going to have to improve them someday. Why not now, and put people back to work?" he add-

"I will also institute a defense procurement office so small companies can bid on government jobs, and I'll get a forest program going that could create 140,000 new jobs," Blanchard added, saying that a tax increase would be unnecessry to support these programs.

Blanchard reminded voters that Michigan could not rely on the federal government for financial help. He cited his work on the Chrysler guaranteedloan program, which saved 100,000 jobs, as evidence that he has experience building coalitions.

HEADLEE AGREED that Blanchard had experience in government but called it "the wrong kind."

"The last place I would go to for help is the Democratic majority of the House of Representatives for accounting methods," Headlee said.

Headlee presented his 10-point plan calling for no new taxes, revising the single-business tax, improving unemployment insurance and workers' compensation, conducting an operations audit of each state department, developing a strategic plan for agriculture and forestry, freezing state hiring, restoring funding for quality education, eliminating waste and duplication in government, establishing a part-time legislature and replacing welfare with

"We won't need a tax increase for any of this. We have to tighten our belts and bring government into competitive parity with other states," he added.

HEADLEE, WHO has lost support from several GOP leaders of the National Organization for Women recently, said he's a member of the "party for

"I'm concerned about what women are saying about me - that I don't suport them. Forty percent of my managerial staff (at Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance) are women.

"There are two Republican senators," and the only woman Supreme Court justice is a Republican. The Republican Party is the party for women,' Headlee said.

ANOTHER MAJOR difference between the candidates, Headlee noted, is their ideas about how to get unemployed persons back to work.

Blanchard aims at the person to be retrained, while Headlee targets the

"Eighty percent of the minorities in this state can't get on the first rung of the economic ladder. I'm proposing $1,000 tax credit to go to each employer for each person he hires, to simulate jobs," Headlee said.

But Blanchard called his opponent's plan more Reaganomies, with benefits for the wealthy.

"Voters have a clear choice between an active economic program or more Reaganomics. You have a choice between a candidate who makes government work or one with no experience in government. I think using the human resource is the only way we can work together," Blanchard said.

Child welfare agencies set conference, honors

Some 200 representatives of public and private child welfare agencies and advocacy groups are expected to attend the fourth annual legislative forum of the Michigan Asociation of Children's Allliances on Monday.

Theme for the all-day conference at Mercy Center, 28600 Eleven Mile Road, Farmington Hills, is "A Balanced Budget at Whose Cost?"

Ellen Hoffman, director of governmental affairs for the Children's Defense Fund in Washington, D.C., will give the keynote address at 10:15 a.m. She will discuss the impact of the Reagan administration cuts on children and their families.

Legislator of the year awards will be presented to U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, and state Rep. H. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, at the noon

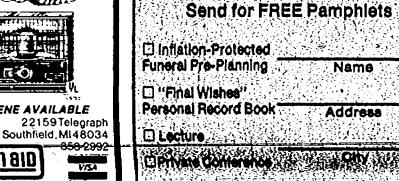

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. The $22 fee includes six concurrent workshops, the luncheon and a "Meet the Candidates" reception.

Workshop speakers include state Rep. David C. Hollister, D-Lansing, and Republican State Chairman Melvin Larsen, who will speak on "Is the Verdict Still Out? The Human Impact of the Reagan Budget."

Others leading the workshops include: Shirley Tate, executive director of the Office of Children and Youth Services, Michigan Department of Social Services, state Rep. Joseph F. Young Jr., D-Detroit, and Gerald Hicks, executive director of the Michigan Federation of Private Child and Family Agen-

Costumes and pumpkins are part of today's celebration of Halloween. But history tells a far more scary story of Halloween, one that includes human sacrifice, the birth of witchcraft and satanic cults.

N AMERICA today, Halloween is trick or treat. More than 2,000 years ago, in what is now Franceand the British Isles, it was a matter of life and death. For the Celtic people of Gaul and Britian, the night of Oct. 31 was one of thanksgiving and, at the same time, one of terror.

Firsthand descriptions of the Celts come from Julius Caesar, who wrote an especially vivid account of the Druids of Gaul - the Celtic priests who were the guardians of worship and the arbiters of human sacrifice. Celtic worship centered around the chief Druid god, Baal, whose visible emblem was the sun. The festival of Samhain (Saveen) or "summer's end," which fell on Nov. 1, the Celtic New Year's Day, rejoiced in Baal's harvest gifts but also mourned the sun's fading powers. Soon the san would be weakened by his enemies, and the powers of darkness would prevail in their season.

Omens sometimes took gruesome shapes. On Oct. 31, the last night of the old year, it is said, Saman, the lord of death, gathered the souls of all those who had died the past year and decreed what form they would take in the coming year. Bonfires, which were literally bonefires, lighted the hills. Animals and human beings — usually criminals and prisoners of war - were burned alive as sacrifices to Baal and the now ascendant evil spirits. From their appearance in death, the priests saw omens foretelling the future.

Did their omens foretell the Druid demise? Caesar conquered Gaul and Britain and made it part of the Roman Empire, and subsequent Roman rulers butlawed human sacrifice and cut down the Druids' sacred oak groves. They forbade the practice of the Druid religion as well and banished or killed many of the priests. Roman festivals, like the November harvest festival honoring' Pomona, goddess of fruit, blended with Samhain. Apples and nuts, not human beings, were offered to Pomona. Nevertheless, many Druid customs lived on for hundreds of years until Chrisitianity became a force in that corner of the world —\and eyen be-

Christianity gave Halloween its name, if not its customs. In 835, Pope tival; honors all of the Christian saints and martyrs, known and unknown. Oct. 31 is Allhallows Even (Eve), shortened to Halloween.

It was likely no accident that the very day chosen to honor Christian saints was the Druid Samhain. Old gods and beliefs are not willingly surrendered. The Christian church adopted the policy of incorporating what is considered harmless pagan folkways in an effort to win over the folk." New branches thus were grafted onto the old Druid oak.

In the Middle Ages, however, church opposition to non-Christian practices stiffened. In response, witchcraft and satanic cults spread throughout Europe in defiance of the church. On Halloween, especially, the witches and warlocks gathered in eerie rites at sabbaths to mock the festival of All Saints.

THE PURITANS rejected church holidays such as Allhallows and would have branded the boisterous antics of the folk holiday and the work of the devil. But the English colonists kept the old world Halloween customs like apple ducking and telling ghost stories. Halloween became a nationally observed holiday in America after the great Irish and Scottish immigration in mid-19th century.

These newcomers brought their Hal-Gregory IV established the first day of loween celebration as a bonus - a Hal-November in the Christian calendar as loween treat. Americans learned to All Saints' Day, or Allhallows. The fes- play games of divination with the apples and nuts of Pomona's festival. Halloween party-goers bobbed for apples to find out if love were true, tossed apple peelings over their shoulders to read in their shapes the initials of future husbands and placed seeds on their palsm to tell fortunes. Couples carefully watched blazing nuts in the fire; if a pair of nuts burned to ashes together, a couple could expect a happy life, but if they crackled or flew apart, quarrels and separation were in the offing. After 2,000 years, people were still looking for omens in the fire.

The Irish and Scottish brought a bag-ful of Halloween tricks as well - some of them the shadowy survivals of Druid rites. In the late 1800s, Halloween pranks reached new highs - goblins and evil spirits were blamed for buggies on roofs, front gates in the treetops and overturned outhouses - and new lows as teachers found snakes instead of apples in their desk drawers. At the turn of the century, young people built bonfires, rang doorbells repeatedly, threw unmentionable objects in front halls and flour in people's faces.

INEVITABLY, CIVIC conscience reared its righteous head. Communities all over started to organize Halloween. By the 1930s, Halloween had become a regular safe and sane epidemic. Los Angeles offered dramatic events at its playgrounds. Chicago's municipal playground regulations required directors to provide games, costumes and a big bonfire. With barely an autumn leaf in sight, Miami Beach presented its annual Halloween Frolic.

During World War II, the Army warned Halloween celebrants off city streets. Jack-o-lanterns violated the dim-outs. Revelers might be taken for saboteurs.

For children and adults alike, Halloween today is just for fun in spite of its frightening beginnings. Certainly, no one beleives in witches, goblins, ghosts or other supernatural creatures anymore. Well, perhaps only in fairy tales. Et tu, E.T.?

Singing praises of the great pumpkin

♥ ONSIDER THE PUMPKINS of the field, how they grow . and grow . . . and grow. But unlike the biblical lilies, they also toil. Pumpkins work harder to be useful to people than just about any other fruit. But one matter should be settled immediately. The pumpkin is a fruit, not a vegetable. Smithsonian Institution botanists fell us there's an easy way to tell a fruit from a vegetable. If it has seeds, it's fruit. And that includes cucumbers and squash.

In fact, botanically speaking, pumpkins and squash are varieties of the same fruit. Both belong to the Cucurbitaceae (gourd) family. Getting down to species, Cucurbita pepo includes both pumpkins and summer squash. But you can't miss the pumpkin; it's the big, round orange one.

THE PUMPKIN wasn't born yesterday. Pumpkins were grown in the Mexican highlands at least 9,000 years ago. In North America, nearly all the Indian tribes planted them, from the Zunis of the Southeast to the Wampanaogs who befriended the Pilgrims at Plymouth. The colonists might have starved if the Indians hadn't taught them how to plant pumpkins, how to bake, boll and fry pumpkin pulp, how to stew pumpkins with beans, peas and corn, flow to make a coarse bread from pump. kins and how, to dry them for the winter in order to make pumpkin soup. Is it any wonder that an anonymous Pilgrim penned these lines around 1630? "We have pumpkins at morning and pumpkins at noon. If it, were not for pumpkins we should be

THE COLONISTS, however, thought up two ways to devour the delectable pumpkin all by themselves. One was pumpkin beer - made from mashed pumpkin, maple sugar and persimmons which were allowed to ferment. The flavor, it was reported, wasn't the same as beer, but the effect was. The other was, of course, pumpkin ple. No one knows who served the first pumpkin pie. Pumpkin was, most likely, served at the first Thanksgiving, but not as pie. By 1796, when Amelia Simmons published the first recipe for pumpkin pie, the dessert had already become a tradiiton at Thanksgiving celebrations.

> '. . . it is generally conceded that the pumpkin as a shade tree is a failure.' - Mark Twain

Sarah Hale, editor of "Godey's Lady's Book," a popular Victorian magazine, lobbled to establish Thanksgiving as a national feast day and called pumpkin pie "an indispensable part of a good and true Thanksgiving." President Lincoln decreed the last Thursday in November as an official day of Thanksgiving in 1863 — making the pumpkin pie official, too.

PUMPKINS WERE food for thought as well. A notorious loner, Henry David Thoreau, told the world, "I would rather sit on a pumpkin and have it all to myself than be crowded on a velvet cushion." Mark Twain, a notorious cynic, remarked, ". . . it is generally conceded that the pumpkin as a shade tree

Mark Twain may have pounced upon the pumpkin's only inadequacy. In the past, pumpkins have been used as containers for everything from soup to feathers, as half-shelled guides for round Pilgrim haircuts, as weather predictors when the frost was on them, as a house for Peter Eater's wife and as a coach for you-know-whoa

Soon these giants of the fruit world will enter yet another arena. They will be engaged in a battle of the bulge for the "Grand International Pumpkinship Title," the heavyweight title of the pumpkin world. Held each fall in Half Moon Bay, Callf... the pumpkin capital of California, the contest is expected to draw thousands of partisans.

TOP-SEED CONTENDERS from the United States will be pitted against world class comers from Nova Scotla, Canada. Last year's winner from Nova Scotia weighed 391 pounds. Move over, Mr. Thoreau, these pumpkins are big enough for two or

And you thought pumpkins were only good for jack-o-lanterns or to be processed and put into tin cans for pumpkin pies. Just remember, that in addition to all of its other attributes, the pumpkin is a symbol of eternal hope.

Why else would Linus wait in his pumpkin patch year after year . . . suffering the slings and arrows of scorn and skepticism from the famous scorner, Lucy, and that ever-famous skeptic, Snoopy? Great Pumpkins!

$4.4 million

tax-hike hearing

Scene will be the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building, 2 Woodward, Deroit.

The proposed increase is 0.2383 mill or 24 cents per $1,000 of assessed property valuation. It was recommended in the Board of Auditors' annual budget

THE COUNTY'S property tax rate was scheduled to be rolled downward that amount under the so-called Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment. According to state statute, a public hearing is required before the commissioners can decide whether to waive the rollback and levy its full authorized tax millage rate.

Commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford, asked persons unable to attend the hearing to write to local commissioners, "even if it's only three lines on a post card." Address is Wayne County Board of Commissioners, 721 City-County Building, Detroit 48226. He placed the cost to the typical suburban homeowner at $6 to $7 a year. The auditors' report is also the plan to be submitted to the State Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) for approval to borrow $10 million on anticipated tax revenue.

IF LEVIED, the increase would generate about $4.4 million to help eliminate a $22.3 million deficit. The MFC, state watchdog over local government borrowing, says the deficit must be retired by Nov. 30, 1983.

The original hearing was set for this Friday. In publishing the legal advertisement, however, The Detroit Free Press used type too small and ran the ad with other legal ads instead of more prominently as a display ad, Manning said.

County lawyers determined the ad was insufficient legal notice and the hearing must be re-scheduled and readvertised.

Smuggling is the leading industry in the United States, ahead of both the auto and oll industries, lawyer F. Lee Bailey told a Schoolcraft College audience of 700 last week.

Creativity seminar features Disney 'dean'

One of the key persons in the development of Disneyland and Walt Disney World will conduct a one-day creativity seminar Nov. 9 in Livonia.

He is Mike Vance, billed as "dean of the University of Disneyland."

Entitled "Adventures in Creative Leadership Seminar," the Vance workshop will be held in the new Livonia Holiday Inn West, Six Mile west of I-

Vance specializes in development of ideas and people for the purposes of improving thinking, planning, organization, marketing and management. His seminar is designed for business people, managers and community leaders and is open to the general public.

Cost, which covers refreshments and lunch, is $75 for those who register by

Nov. 1. After that date, and for any registering at the door if space is available, the fee will be $90.

The Vance seminar is being co-sponsored by Manufacturers Bank of Livonia and Schoolcraft College. The college is handling registrations. For registration materials or further information, call the college at 591-6400 ext.

Vance's presentations are aimed at effective management and the motivation of people. He said they can result in savings of time and effort, increased productivity and profit.

-Important concepts which will be covered will be "the creative thinking system," "the creative leadership system," "management by values," and "creating productivity."

da, he said, a convicted killer can serve as few as seven years but may serve 60 years without parole for drug crimes.

THE REMEDY for smuggling, he sald, is not harsh punishment but to stop the flow of cash. "We will cripple the criminal society if we pull the cash Mike Vance teaches creativity from society. We just don't need it," he

"Cash is a dirty word. People only use it to cover a bad transaction. Would the Abscam people have taken certified checks?"

The violent criminal, he went on is not a single type of individual but two major classes: the "intra-family violent person" who might shoot his wife over a divorce case or the common "crazy" who is a paranoid with distracted views, like Charles Manson or the Boston Strangler.

Unfortunately, he said, criminal law can act only after the criminal has acted. "We must get them when they start to go crazy, not after they've aready gone crazy. Housing in some sort of humane institution is a probable solution," Bailey said.

BAILEY HAD his own first brush with the law this year when he was arrested for drunk driving.

The charges were dropped, but Bailey said he was infurlated by the procedure and offered his own solution: a breathilizer built into one's car. When the breathilizer was set off, the car couldn't be started.

After his arrest, in California, he wrote a book called "How to Protect Yourself against Cops in California and Other Strange Places."

BUY A GE HEAT PUMP AND GET A FURNACE, AND UP TO A 400 FACTORY REBATE.

Beat-the-high-cost-of-winter fuelbills by adding a General Electric energy saving Weathertron* neat pump to your forced-air furnace. Do it now and take your choice of three spectacular GE Jamboree bonus offers.

B JAMBOREE BONUS #1

Get a GE high-efficiency gas furnace, plus your choice of a GE 19-inch color TV (PC 3704W), or a GE microwave oven (JET 88), or a $300 factory rebate direct from General Electric when you buy a GE Weathertron WR Plus-One heat pump for your existing home.

Furnace must be installed by a participating GE dealer. Customer pays installation charges on the furnace.

Add any GE Weathertron heat pump to your existing gas, oil, propane or electric forced-air furnace and take your pick of a GE 19-inch TV (PC 3704W), a GE microwave oven (JET 88), or a $300 factory rebate. With a GE Weathertron heat pump you not only save on heating bills, you also get economical central air conditioning. Your house stays comfortable all year.

3 JAMBOREE BONUS #3

Add a GE "Thinking" Thermostat to your new GE Weathertron heat pump and get an additional $100 factory rebate. This heat pump system can cut your fuel bills from 20 percent to 54 percent (depending on locality and energy use, based on a single 8-hour, 10-degree set back).

A GE HEAT PUMP SAVES YOU ENERGY AND MONEY

YEAR ROUND. A GE Weathertron heat pump cuts your heating bills because it moves natural radiant heat inside to heat your home. Your forced air furnace doesn't have to go to work until the outdoor temperature is about 32° F or below. In summer, the Weathertron heat pump moves heat out of your home for energyefficient central air conditioning.

Hurry! To qualify for Bonus Offers, furnace installation must be in a customer's residence by October 16, 1982 (Bonus #1). Heat pump installation by October 31, 1982 (Bonus #2, #3).

Norwayne residents teach neighborly lesson

EMEMBER THE way neighborhoods used to be? There was something about those old homesteads that said, "We live here, and we're proud of it."

Those were the days when porches were built for watching sunsets or the old folks taking a stroll, and fences were built as something to lean on while chatting with a neighbor about the garden patch, the weather or the kids.

Neighbors knew when a child was late getting home from school or if there was a strange car in a nearby driveway.

Somehow, with our modern-day mobility and wide-ranging interests, we've lost the old warmth, comfort and security that the old neighborhoods provided.

Some people are fond of saying that there's no turning back, and few of us would want to lose our wheels or be limited to the confines of the old neighborhoods.

But maybe we can still preserve some of that neighborliness that made our homestead a pretty good place to be.

THAT'S APPARENTLY what the residents of Norwayne have in mind as they begin a Neighborhood Watch/Operation Identification program. Nearly 450 from that area signed up to indicate their interest in the program, and about half showed up for a meeting last week to get it started.

The program, which has proved successful in other areas of Detroit, is being coordinated by Daniel Sabatini with the help of Youth Energy Services officer Craig Bowlby.

Sabatini said there had been interest in starting the program for years. When Sabatini brought it up at a recent meeting of the Norwayne Task Force, he somehow became the driving force behind the movement.

Obviously the immediate objective of the program is to reduce erime. Bowlby is helping by teaching residents what to look for, how to report crimes and, most importantly, to feel comfortable in knowing that Westland police really do want to know what's going on in their neighborhood.

As part of the program, residents will be taught how and where to inscribe their valuables with a driver's license number so that stolen merchandise can be traced and returned.

Sabatini said that there are now six out of 85 courts in Norwayne with full participation in the program. Block captains are being organized to help people with "the little things they can do on their own," Sabatini said.

NOW THE program needs engravers as well as signs and window stickers to put criminals on notice that they're being watched. Sabatini hopes the money for those items will come for city hall.

The $50 cost of neighborhood sign posts is also an ideal project for community groups to begin funding.

While the target is crime, Sabatini knows what the real objective is:

"We're going to stand up for ourselves. We want senior citizens to be able to take evening strolls and kids to play in the parks again," he said.

Now that's progress — and a lesson we can all learn.

D, G and H can't solve world energy problems

Nick Sharkey managing editor

G AND H ARE three state ballot proposals through which various political groups are venting their frustrations at rising gas and electric bills. We share those frustrations because we pay bills, too.

But venting frustrations, though it makes you feel good, can't solve energy problems. And beating up on utility companies isn't going to make gas and electricity more plentiful.

We find Proposals D, G and H all to be unwise. We urge a no vote on them Nov. 2.

PROPOSAL D has had the heavy-handed opposition of the power companies. Sure, their "D is Dumb" campaign has been an insult to our intelligence, particularly the condescending way in which it portrays blue-collar workers.

Poor advertising, however, shouldn't blind us to the fact that Proposal D would saddle an important industry with even more regulation and delay — a luxury Michigan can no longer afford.

Proposal D, pushed by the Michigan Citizens Lobby, would take away the utilities' ability to pass along changes in what they pay for fuel. Fuel adjustments would become the subject of state Public Service Commission hearings.

Sound good? Unfortunately, there is little the PSC can really do because the utilities buy their fuel in interstate, and even international, markets. The notion that a state agency can repeal global laws of supply and demand by a 2-1 vote is charming, artless — and wrong.

Nor is there any need to make the utilities "bargain mean and lean," in the bravado of the Citizens Lobby. Michigan utilities compete with other states to bring industry here. They have a very real market incentive to keep their costs low.

While it is a fun sport to hassle the utilities, there is no economic need to drag them through more Public Service Commission hearings.

PROPOSAL D has another evil twist to it — the packaging of all rate cases for a single utility into a single case.

Michigan has a bad reputation as one of the pokiest states in the United States at processing utility rate cases. The power companies complain that, under D, their cases will take 14, 16 or 18 months to process — and the other side doesn't deny it.

Meanwhile, while these rate cases languish, the utilities would have to borrow working capital at high interest rates to pay their fuel bills. We consumers would wind up having to pay those interest charges in our bills.

The results: higher fuel bills, and utilities competing for capital that would be better used for home mortgages and industrial plants.

Proposal H has some of the disadvantages of D in requiring state PSC hearings on fuel adjustments.

But H has two features which give it some merit:

It wouldn't roll all rate cases for a utility into a

It wouldn't roll all rate cases for a utility into a single, long-delayed ball of wax, and it would prohibit legislators from going to work for a utility until two years after leaving office.

On balance, however, we urge voter rejection of both Proposal H as well as D.

PROPOSAL G proceeds from the populist notion that politics can solve the international energy problem. It would require the election of the Public Service Commission.

Bear in mind that Michigan already elects 43 state officials. Bear in mind that most voters can't name who's running in the current election, let alone those already in office. Bear in mind that even judicial campaigns are "name" contests.

There is little reason to expand our bedsheet ballot to include any more offices, and even less reason to elect the Public Service Commission.

Regulating utility rates is highly technical work demanding knowledge and intelligence. It's all right if arm-waving politicos want to promise "no new taxes," but it would be maniacal to throw utility rate-making into the laps of demagogic political wolves.

Yet such politicizing of utility rates is precisely what the supporters of Proposal G have in mind.

Michigan already has an excellent check-andbalance system for picking PSC members. The governor's office does extensive checks on the knowledge, ability and character of all candidates for the PSC, and the governor's nominations are subject to confirmation by the state Senate.

obey the same laws as the rest of us.

C punishes savers, lenders

IS A proposal to legislate low interest rates for home mortgages. All home buyers like the idea of low mortgage rates.

But Americans should have learned by now that price controls don't work and haven't since Roman times. Indeed, price controls are self-defeating because they discourage producers — in this case, savers. So we must oppose Proposal C.

If adopted Nov. 2, Proposal C would inhibit lenders' use of the so-called "due on sale" clause. The clause, found in most conventional mortgages written after 1976, makes the loan balance due and payable when the house changes hands — that is, whenever the owner sells it.

Buyers can be prevented from "assuming" the seller's mortgage. When old mortgages carry an 8 percent interest rate and new mortgages a 16 percent rate, that can be tough on the buyer.

Federally-chartered savings and loan associations are exempt from state restrictions preventing the use of "due on sale" clauses. So Proposal C attempts to get around it by giving the seller four years to settle up with the original lender. Indiana allows three months.

Supporters of C innocently assume nothing will happen if they legislate low interest rates.

But put yourself in the place of a mortgage lender, remembering that Michigan gets one-third of its mortgage funds from out of state. Would you be eager to have a buyer assume a mortgage at 8 percent when it costs you 15 percent to lure deposits? Would you want to be forced to wait four years to collect after the borrower sold the house?

Michigan's business climate already has an abysmal reputation because of thoughtless, heavy-handed rules like this. If we continue to beat capital over the head, it will go away.

We would hamstring our own economic recovery by passing Proposal C.

No to B's self-interest

Yes on A to correct abuses

IS AN EXAMPLE of what seems to be a disturbing trend. If a special interest group is unsuccessful in making a legislative change, the approach today seems to be, "Let's change the constitution." Imagine how long (and meaningless) a constitution would be if these groups were successful.

That's why Proposal B deserves a no vote. It is the creation of the Michigan State Police Troopers Association. The proposed constitutional amendment would guarantee jobs for 2,257 troopers. This amendment would restore state police staffing to the April 1980 level, or add 114 positions. These positions were lost from attrition.

If state policemen are guaranteed jobs, what about teachers, welfare workers and highway repairmen? What workers in other areas must be laid off for the state to pay the estimated $3-$4 million per year to restore the 114 jobs? How can our legislators deal with Michigan's financial crisis when they are required to maintain 2,257 jobs for the state police?

The absurdity of this proposal is so apparent that it has gathered almost no support beyond the state troopers association. It is opposed by major law enforcement groups, including the Michigan Chiefs of Police, Michigan Sheriffs Association and Fraternal Order of Police.

Don't permit a special interest group to clutter the constitution. Vote no on Proposal B.

E is message, not a bomb

WILL NOT stop the nuclear arms race. If approved by voters next month, Proposal E will require that the Michigan Legislature send a petition to federal officials urging a freeze on construction of nuclear weapons.

At the same time that Michigan votes on this issue, voters in eight other states and the District of Columbia will be considering ballot proposals calling for a nuclear freeze. If all 10 of these areas overwhelmingly support a nuclear freeze, a strong message will be sent to Washington.

Reasonable people live in fear of a nuclear war. In a nuclear battle, there are no "winners." At best a country may survive. Who knows what kind of a life will remain for those who find themselves in a land contaminated by atomic bombs?

Yet we as individuals can do little. Proposal E offers an alternative.

If a nuclear freeze were to become reality, it would be applied uniformly in both the Soviet Union and the United States. The development of new nuclear weapons would end. Only the present level of weapons would be maintained. Satellites and seismic monitors would verify whether both sides were living up to the terms of a freeze agreenfent.

The military arms race has significant economics consequences for the United States. Every year a larger percentage of the national budget is spent on military expenses. The percentage for such human services as education, welfare and Social Security is growing smaller. A nuclear freeze would redirect some of our nation's resources to human programs.

It's seldom that local voters can express their views on an important international issue such as the nuclear arms race. Don't pass up this chance. Add your voice to those of voters in eight other states and speak out against the nuclear race. Vote yes on Proposal E.

Different exposure meters perform different photo jobs

Electronic exposure meters are a relatively recent development in photographic history.

Prior to their invention, various methods of calculating exposure were used, but none could attain the degree of accuracy found in today's meters. Some early photographers used no meter at all relying solely on the sensitivity of their eyer

Others used large and inefficient meers that used offcuts of film, making, in effect, a trial exposure. Other early meters worked by a visual comparison of the light falling on the subject with an artificial light source such as a small electric bulb.

Times have changed. Modern meters are compact, accurate and reliable.

Most of today's meters are of the cadmium sulfide (CdS) photo resistor design. Don't let this snow you. Briefly, current generated by a small battery feeds the CdS cell, which, in proportion to its resistance to light, activates a needle which indicates exposure.

THERE ARE TWO types of light meters — incident and reflective.

Incident meters measure light coming from the source regardless of the subject. Readings involve aiming the meter, with an incident light adapter attached, toward the light source from the subject's position. Many professionals in a studio environment will use incident-light readings.

The more common reflective light meters measure light reflected by the subject. This takes into account the color and reflectivity of the subject as well as the brightness of the illuminating source.

Most scenes have an average amount which in turn "tells" the camera to graph will be altered. shoot at a small lens opening. The result is that Aunt Tilly will be too dark in the final picture.

Solution: Move in close, take an exposure_reading_off-Aunt_Tilly_and_use this setting when you take the shot.

E THERE ARE two basic designs of light meters.

First is the popular through-the-lens meter where the metering system is an integral part of your camera. These may be programmed to read all the light coming into the viewfinder (average weighted) or a concentration of the light in the middle of the viewfinder (center weighted).

Second are the hand-held meters. Some read light from an entire scene. Others are sophisticated, one-degree spot meters used by black and white photographers who employ zone system practices.

HERE ARE some tips to help you in the use of your meter:

• Through-the-lens meters on your

35mm camera will automatically adjust for filters you place on the lens.

 Once your meter indicates a certain aperture/shutter speed combination, any other corresponding combination will give you correct exposure. The light sky will "tell" the meter. Only the appearance of the final photo-

> • Change the battery once a year, whether you have a hand-held meter or one built into your camera.

• But, alas, you forgot to change the battery and your meter-is-dead.-Is all lost? Not at all. Simply remember this handy rule: On sunny days, set your aperture at F-16 and your shutter speed dial to the speed closest to the ASA of the film (1/400th for ASA 400 film). A perfect exposure will be yours. Then, for bright overcast, open up one stop. Normal overcast, open up two. Heavy overcast or shade, open up three.

Now that you've been exposed to exposure for three weeks, it's time to get out your camera and expose yourself to the many exciting photographic opportunities that await you. $1982, Monte Nagler

Columnist Monte Nagler will teach a four-week basic photography course at Henry Ford Community College beginning Nov. 8. Phone the college at 271-2854 for registration information.

Monte Nagler used his one-degree spot meter to determine exposure in this shot of a farm near Leland. A wide range of tones and textures was obtained by using this method.

Three types of light meters are (from left) a through-the-lens meter built into a 35mm Canon camera, a hand-held Luna Pro meter with an angle of coverage of about 30 degrees, and a one-degree Soligor spot meter used for zone system black and white photography.

Yule charity in the cards

HEY ARRIVE in the mail box each December, those holiday greetings with pictures of winter scenes, loveable children or Santa Claus himself.

Some just serve to catch us up on the doings of distant friends. Others, like those shown here, help support a worthy organization.

The United Nations Children's Emergency Relief (UNICEF) organization launched the idea of selling Yule cards in a big way many years ago. But the concept was too good not to be scooped up by other groups, both national, state and local.

A large number of the organizations that sell Christmas cards each fall are in the forefront of battles against disease, and a large portion of the funds raised go right into these fights.

The Michigan Cancer Society, for instance, put about 70 percent of the money it took in from cards last year into its extensive medical research projects in Detroit. It also used some funds to furnish cancer pads, rehabilitation and support groups for patients with the disease.

Other Christmas cards are from groups supporting mentally retarded or physically handicapped persons, those who are mentally ill and givers of human services.

Most of the cards were created by professional artists. But some were

Designs by mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed and mentally ill artists give extra impact to cards sold by organizations seeking to help people with these problems.

Many of the organizations selling cards offer to imprint on them — at extra cost — the name of the sender.

When calling for information be sure to ask about this service, if interested.

Examples of all the cards shown here, plus others offered by these organizations, can be viewed in two offices of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. One is at 36351 Schoolcraft, Livonia, and the other at 1225 Bowers, Birmingham. However, no cards can be purchased at these locations.

Cards received by this newspaper but not printed in today's edition will be printed as soon as space permits.

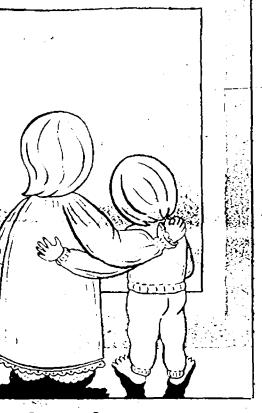

Christ Child Society

Sandro Botticelli painted this Madonna and child in the 15th century. One of the two card choices this year of the Detroit Chapter of the Christ Child Society, it costs $7.50 in a box of 25. To order, call Mrs. W.R. O'Neill at 642-1863.

Lung Association

Cardinals, blue jays and bluebirds get their own Christmas stockings on a card offered by the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan. The cost is $9.50 per box, and the organization has six other cards available. Place an order by calling the association at 961-1697.

Children's Leukemia

This card in bright blue and yellow is one of six presented at varying prices this year by the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan. Cost is $8 per box. To order call the foundation at 353-8222.

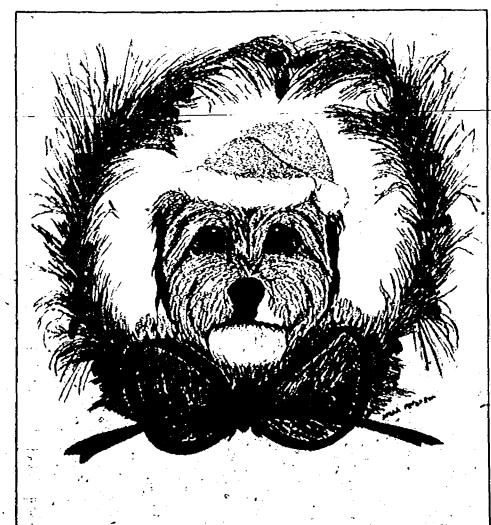

New Horizons

Those who buy this traveling scene as their Christmas card choice will aid the Women's Auxiliary of New Horizons of Oakland County, which offers vocational training and sheltered employment to the handicapped. The cost of a box of 25 is $8.50. For ordering information contact Kathleen Mooney, 642-5140.

Reye's Syndrome

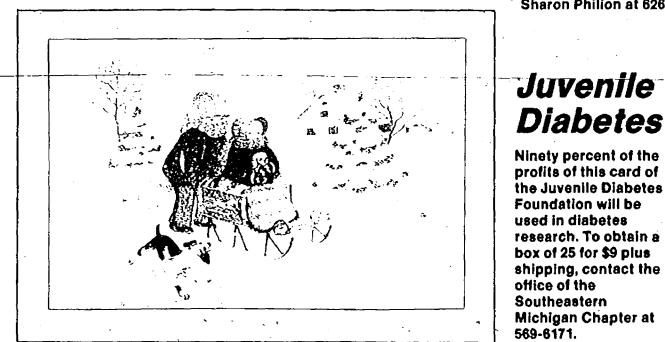

The purchase of this card will aid the Reye's Syndrome Association. In brown and tan, it costs $5 per box of 25. To order, call Sharon Philion at 626-4335 or Don Cassidy at 338-1942.

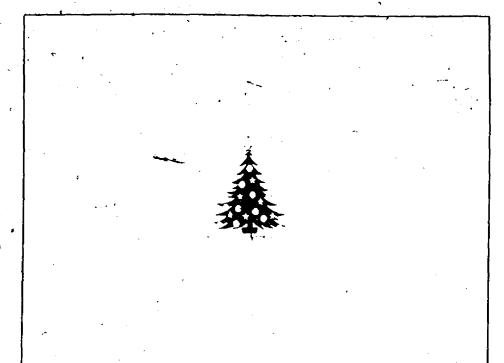

Season's Streetings

Retarded Citizens

A dog plays Santa with a red hat and red bow in this card offered by the Association for Retarded Citizens/NorthwestCommunities. The cost is $5.50 for 25, and six designs available include one with a Hanukkah theme. Call Sandra Brown, 531-6192.

Kidney Foundation

A tiny green tree stands out against a white background in this card from the National Kidney Foundation of Michigan, which has six offerings this year. The tree design costs $6.25 per box of 25. Contact the foundation at 971-2800.

Spina Bifida

Children with Christmas secrets appear on the card distributed by Spina Bifida Association of Metropolitan Detroit. To obtain this card at $6.50 a box, call Vincetta Nicosia at 689-9858.

More cards are printed on Page 2B

Michigan Cancer Society

A nativity scene, a wreath, a Santa a sprig of holly and a winter scene all are available from the Michigan Cancer Society this year. Prices range from $6 to $9 for boxes of 27 cards. Information on ordering is available from regional offices, 332-5820 in Pontiac and 453-3010 in Plymouth.

National Asthma Center

Children from many lands line up to carry the greetings of the National Asthma Center. Twenty-live cards cost $10.25. Ordering information is available from Lucia Robiner, 535-5247.

American Cancer Society

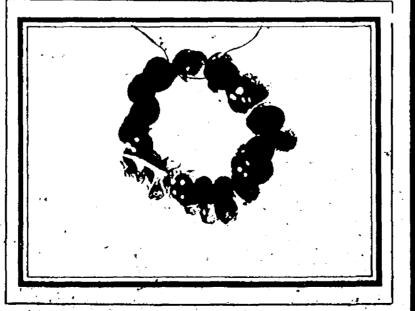

Six holiday cards, a four-seasons calendar and a Michigan appointment calendar will raise funds this year for the American Cancer Society. The cards range in price from $5 to $11. For brochures and order forms, call the the ACS office, 557-5353.

Cystic Fibrosis

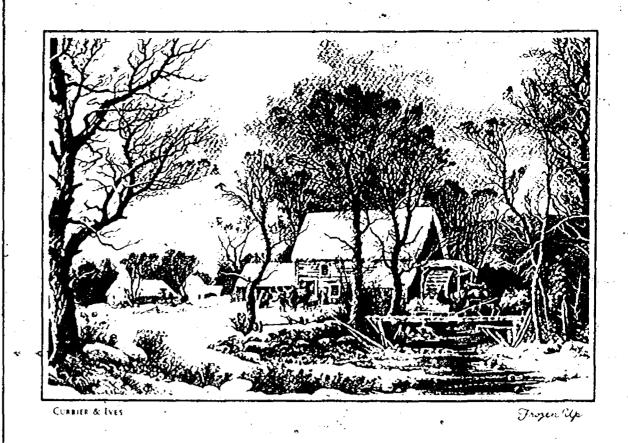

Pick from among 11 cards to benefit the work of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. This card is $8.50 for a box of 25; others range up to $14.50. Order through the Metropolitan Detroit chapter, 24655 Southfield, Suite 210, Southfield 48075.

Wing Lake

A student at the Wing Lake Development Center, a Birmingham day school for the profoundly and severely retarded, designed the wreath on this card. Sales will benefit the school and its workshop program. The price is $3 for 12, and orders are being taken by Judith Matton, 648-1259.

More charity greeting cards will be published in future issues of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Michigan Heart Association

A Currier & Ives winter scene in pastels on beige is one of the cards the Michigan Heart Association is selling to boost heart research. This one costs $6 for 25; the selection also includes a post card assortment with five cards in each of five designs for $4. Get information in this area by calling the association office in Southfield, 557-9500.

Children's Hospital

A color photo of children tobogganing and greetings in the single word "Joy!" are featured on the card that is sold by the Children's Hospital Auxiliary to benefit young patients. To order the cards, at $8.50 for 20 cards, call June Allen, 421-1625.

How about group homes? candidates asked

By Sherry Kahan staff writer

Why did John Bennett say he was undecided about community placement for retarded citizens?

The question came up regarding a questionnaire the Democratic state Senator filled out for the Michigan Association of Retarded Citizens. Sylvia Kloc, former president of the ARC/ Northwest Communities, asked him about it during a candidates night her organization sponsored last week.

"I'll answer with a question." said. Bennett. "Would you support putting in homes regardless of community laws?" Kloc also had an answer and ques-

"When we tried to work with local communities, the laws would not allow community placement," she said. "So a state law was passed to permit six-people homes." Then she asked Bennett: "Will you meet with us so we can try to help you make up your mind?"

THE QUESTION drew general applause from the group, including many ARC parents, which had gathered at Cambridge Club in Garden City for the candidates night.

The audience also expressed approval when Kloc told the state Senator there is no "saturation" of Redford by group homes.

"We have four group homes in Redford, making a total of 24 retarded people in a community of about 70,000,"

Bennett, who had indicated in other questionnaire answers that he is generally supportive of ARC aims, then told the group he would be willing to set up a meeting.

"If you can change my mind, you are welcome to try," he said.

GROUP HOME opinions and attitudes were what the audience of about 60 were listening for during discussion among the candidates who responded

These included the Republican candidate for county executive, Robert FitzPatrick, and state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who came on his own behalf and also as spokesman for Richard Headlee, Republican candidate for governor.

Representing James Blanchard, Democratic candidate for governor, was Tom Roach, himself a candidate for the board of regents of the University of Michigan.

Also present was former Michigan Supreme Court chief justice Thomas Brennan, Republican candidate for_ lieutenant governor, and U.S. Congress hopeful George Sallade, a Democrat running against Rep. Carl Pursell in the 2nd Congressional District. This district includes Plymouth, part of Livonia and stretches to Hillsdale.

Noel Cuthbert, Democrat, was on hand. He is running against Geake in the Sixth District. State representatives Jack Kirsey, R-Livonia, running unopposed, was there along with Rep. Sylvia Skrel, Republican candidate for the 38th District; William Joyner, running as a Democrat for state Representative in the 36th District, and Mike Palonus, Libertarian Party candidate in the 33rd District.

cate." He added that he felt the money could be found by cutting down on governmental waste.

Geake noted that he spoke to the group as an old friend and ARC member. Before his political career, he was director of the psychology department at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, residence of many area retarded persons.

He said the state Department of Mental Health, which oversees retarded persons, has already laid off onethird of its staff. In his opinion, the best way to improve the mental health climate in the state would be to "improve the Michigan business climate. There will be more money for special education when more people are working."

As one who helped write the state law that permitted group homes of six persons to be established in communities. Geake felt confident enough of his relationship with ARC to introduce suggestions for improvement in the group home situation.

sive," he said. He added that the purchase of land for state-funded group homes is "more expensive than it needs to be. There is no sense in guaranteeing to provide a profit of 14-28 percent. The state is not in the business of guaranteeing a profit."

He added that the state ARC should be in the forefront of the demand for economies, "to get more group homes for the money."

to the heart of members of his audience, many who have raised their retarded children at home rather than placing them in a state institution.

"The state gives high priority," in (placing in group homes) residents of institutions," he told them. "It doesn'to make sense that we penalize families 30 who have kept them at home for 30% many years.

Theater group overextends with 'My Fair Lady'

Performances of the Garden City Civic Theatre production of "My Fair Lady' continue at 8 p.m. tonight through Saturday at the O'Leary auditorium, Middlebelt near Ford Road. Tickets are available at the door.

By Tom Panzenhagen staff writer

The Garden City Civic Theatre encloses a questionnaire with its , regram guide for "My Fair Lady," the Leaguer and Loewe musical that continues this weekend at the theater.

One of the questions asks theatergoers what sort of production they hope to see in the future on the O'Leary Auditorium stage. Chances are that few in attendance at Saturday's performance responded by saying they hoped to see more productions like "My Fair Lady."

It's not just that most of the wellintended Garden City troupers had review trouple keeping up with Lerner's difficult lyrics, which they did, or that the youthful orchestra had trouble keeping pace with the troupers and Loewe's spirited music, which they did.

NO, INDIVIDUAL performances didn't bring "My Fair Lady" down. Rather, one senses that this undertaking was doomed from the onset because of such tangibles as the enormous popularity of the original Broadway production and subsequent Warner Bros. film, as well as the poor acoustics of O'Leary Auditorium and, to a small degree, only they limited talents of many members of the cast.

A play can work even when its cast is blessed with minimal aptitude, but "My Fair Lady" rarely makes the most of its few blessings.

Ronald Mack, who plays Eliza Doolittle's father, Affie, is a good example of this. When attempting "With a Little Bit of Luck" early in the play, Mack utterly fails to establish his character as one of the world's most original moralizers as Professor Henry Higgins refers to him. He seems instead more like a doddering Skid Row derelict than a vibrant celebrant of Cockney resourcefulness; and Mack's go at the Cockney accent is more indescribable than English.

Complicating matters is that fact that Mack is given center stage throughout much of this number, and that's a space he can't possibly fill.

Yet, later in the play, Mack is an integral part of this production's most successful number, "Get Me to the Church on Time." Most of the ensemble is turned out for this lusty song and dance, which comes closest to matching the spirit of the original play by its faithful recreation of the English music hall style. To be sure, there were many missteps, missed cues, slurred lyrics and sluggish musical accompaniment.

BUT THE ASSORTED flower girls and Cockney vendors in the number demonstrated a genuine glee and vitality sadly missing from the rest of the

It's difficult to understand why director Michael Burden chose to spotlight the borderline musical talents of Mack in "With a Little Bit of Luck" while wisely blending him into the festive 'Get Me to the Church on Time." The result in each case was a showstopper, one bad and one good.

Otherwise, Burden manages too few innovations, "Ascot Gavotte," wherein the gentry at the Ascot races sing

"What a Frenzied Moment that Was" with splendid, upper-crust composure, was one of the evening's hits.

A miss, however, soon followed when Eliza - in vivid contrast to the mannerisms of the gentry — shouts rather vulgar instructions to one of the nags in the race. The line hardly grates the gentry before Burden cuts to black; accordingly, the line's impact is lost in the dark and amidst the shuffle of scene-clearing feet.

None of the performers adequately filled the O'Leary's large, unaccommodating stage, but Burden, to his credit, keeps the cast on the move and, for the most part, uses the massive stage to best advantage.

But why Burden placed Professor Higgins and Eliza on one extreme side. of the stage for their most touching, character-revealing conversation late in the play is unclear. And, certainly, more intimate sets and/or lighting by Eynsford-Hill.

light designer John Quinn would have benefited all concerned.

BARBARA SCANLON as Eliza and Michael Rothaar as Professor Higgins are by far the best performers in the cast, yet it's sometimes painful to watch them perform. When not overshadowing the other members of the cast to such a degree as to be distracting, Scanlon and Rothaar may be observed waiting for the orchestra to catch up with their lyrics - even greater distraction.

Musical director Carole Mihalo warrants a bit of the blame for the latter. perhaps it's beyond anyone's capability to get this young orchestra to play better, but at least they could play faster.

The cast also includes Stephen Sell as Colonel Pickering, Mari Vamplew as Mrs. Higgins, Diane Kremser as Mrs. Pierce and Marc Gawronski as Freddy

Steven de Groote excels playing 'Emperor' concerto

By Mary Jane Doerr special writer

Pianist Steven de Groote, Grand Prize Winner of the Fifth Van Cliburn Quadrennial Piano Competition in -1977, opened the 37th season of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra on Sunday afternoon at Plymouth Salem High - School Auditorium with a technically superb rendition of Ludwig von Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 5 in E Flat

It was that same display of the technical accuracy that made him not only the winner of the Cliburn contest but also of the Young Concert Artists International Auditions in New York city and a finalist in the 1976 Levintritt Competition.

De Groote has a fluidity in his hands and the ability to sensitively shade his delivery so that each note is clearly heard. It is a precision that makes each note distinct.

The E-flat Piano Concerto is better known as the "Emperor" Concerto. The name is a misnomer, but it aptly dereview scribes the majestic work with its regal qualities. The work is a virtuoso concerto for its technical demands, but it requires more than a virtuoso to play it in the emotion and spirit that it dethe work is exciting with an intensity that persists to the end.

FROM THE opening grand chords,

The Allegro movement was disjoined, but by the Adagio un poco mosso Conductor Johan van der Merwe and de Groote seemed to be united in their purposé and direction.

Here the performance took on the qualities that we associate with the work. In that second movement, the two countrymen from South Africa achieved a melodic blend of orchestra and soloist, which carried into the third movement, Rondo Allegro, though it wasn't that strong.

dolf Serkin at Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, is now associated with the piano department of Arizona State University. He has released two records with Deutsche Grammophon.

Other numbers on the afternoon concert were Overture to the Opera "Ii Barbiere di Siviglia" by Rossini, "The Firebird Suite" by Stravinsky and "Enigma Variations" by Elgar.

THE ORCHESTRA'S most impressive and inspired performance was in the final number by Elgar. Perhaps van der Merwe's background serves De Groote, a former student of Ru- him well in providing an interesting interpretation of the English music so often considered to be dull. Under van der Merwe's baton, the music was alive and powerful.

"The Firebird Suite No. 2" is music that is very familiar to Detroiters now. with the Detroit Symphony's many performances of its complete version and coming recording. Van der Merwe wisely chose the shortened version. In the absence of the visuals (the ballet), this version is dramatic and keeps the audience attention.

Next concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orhestra will be on Nov. 21. featuring Donald Sinfa, saxophone.

U.S. cash buys more south of the border

Many of you have postponed trips to Mexico because of the confusing financial crisis south of the border. I crossed the border early this month and can report that the currency exchange situation for travelers is now stable.

You can exchange as few or as many dollars as you like when you are in Mexico, and exchange up to $250 worth of pesos back into dollars when you cross the border back into the United States.

The new rate of 70 pesos to a dollar is good news for dollar-toting travelers. For American retirees living in Mexico, it is either good news or bad news. depending on the source of their in-

The current problem started with the last of several official devaluations Sept. 1. The peso, which was worth about 4 cents in American money a year ago, was devalued to about 1.4 cents in September.

Mexico-lovers were getting used to that, because it had happened several times before. What they did not expect was the nationalization of Mexican banks by the Mexican government a few days later.

All dollar accounts were frozen. Americans who had deposited dollars in Mexican banks could only withdraw pesos, albeit at an attractive new rate of 70 pesos to the dollar. Conflicting rules were applied to the border, to prevent dollars from being taken out of the country.

That is where the confusion and concern began for American travelers to Mexico. For several days after the crisis began, tourists were asked to convert all the dollars in their possession into pesos when they crossed into Mexico. Some complaint that they were not permitted to convert the pesos back into dollars when they left the country.

A government tourist official confirmed to me that this did occasionally happen, but blamed it on the confusion that naturally follows such a dramatic government decision.

BY THE TIME I landed in Guadalahjara Sept. 19, this phase had passed. Travelers were not even asked to report their currency, let alone convert it. Before I left in early October, new government regulations had been printed and were being enforced at airports and borders.

Tourists must declare the amount of foreign currency they are bringing into Mexico, but they do not have to convert any of it if they don't want to. Dollars, in the form of cash or traveler's checks, can be converted into pesos, at the official rate of 70 pesos to a dollar, at banks, hotels and travel agencies. Credit cards can be used.

If you know an American retiree living in Mexico, he or she will be delighted to convert your dollars into pesos, because that will put treasured dollars in their hands. Nobody in Mexico could tell me whether this is legal or not, but Americans were doing it openly in the airport when I was there.

You are not legally supposed to spend dollars, even for tips, but travelers are doing it, and bell boys love it. There was a lot of talk about the black market in early September, but I didn't see any of it in Western Mexico. I'm sure it still thrives in border towns, but I recommend you take the official rate . . . don't be greedy.

There is one other alternative, which some of my fellow travelers explored. One man got 80 pesos to the dollar in 60611 or phone (312) 649-0090.

The outside was restored and the inside gutted and rebuilt, reducing 800 rooms to 437 "room suites" averaging 500 square feet, each with custommade Chippendale and Queen Anne style furnishings.

More than 200 aftiques grace the lobby and hallways, including two huge Brussels tapestries from a set of six; the other four are in the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

The French Room, showcase of both the old and new Adolphus, has been restored to the original, which was, in turn, copied from 18th-century European palace and chateau styles. The first item on the menu is caviar, $50 a serving, it is eaten under vaulted muraled ceilings.

The name changes because ground was broken recently for the church's first home on a site on Meadowbrook Road in Northville. The congregation, now numbering 108 members, was organized here in 1965 and has held worship services in school buildings and then two Livonia churches.

It expects to be in its new home by Christmas, the pastor

"We're still meeting in Mt. Hope Congregational Church, and we have had a really fine relationship with that congregation and its leaders," said Denney.

But we are really looking forward to having our own building for the first time. We're probably the only congregation around that has been going for 17 years and is building for the first time.

"It has been quite an adventure."

THE CHURCH is part of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), a mainline Protestant denomination with headquarters in Indianapolis.

When organized, it had the customary short time of renting school space in Livonia. Then its members accepted the

WESTLAND FREE METHOD-

The Rev. Frank Mitchell, Free Methodist preacher from England, will lead a mission at Westland Free Methodist Church, 1421 Venoy, Monday through Wednesday, Oct. 25-27.

The clergyman will make a return visit to the local church as he leads worship beginning at 7 p.m. each of the three dates. A native of Middlesborough, he served in the intelligence unit of the British army during World War II and was a minister in the Methodist Church of England for 19 years before moving to the Free Methodist denomination. He has postored a church at Morcambe for 11 years. The public is invited to hear him.

Creation of just 1 man shows the worth of all

In the story of Genesis, the Bible describes how the great work of creation brought into being a world teeming with life. The climax of creallon is reached with the fashloning of a frail, troublesome and vexing creature called man.

The sages of old asked a curious question. Why was one man createdrather than a multitude?

First, they say, he who preserves one human life, it is accounted to him as if he preserved the whole world. He who destroys one human life, it is charged to him as if he destroyed the whole world.

Man is equated with the value of the universe, with the meaning of all that God has brought into being. Every human being is unique and irreplaceable.

IN A WORLD in which we have become aware of so much poverty, hunger, and human need, it is easy to develop "compassion fatigue." We just can't embrace humanity. We can't which cries out to us. We are likely to do nothing at all, to grow weary of caring, to shut the world out and to focus upon me and mine. Biblical religion argues otherwise.

Because you cannot help everyone is not an excuse for helping no one. He who saves one life has sustained the whole universe. One life is sacred and we must never forget that truth.

A couple of years ago there was a hurricane of enormous force that paid a violent visit to Miami. A newscaster was reporting the destruction left in its wake. "Damage to property," he said, "is estimated in the millions but there was only one life lost."

The world "only" is troublesome. If that one victim were the broadcasters's child, would he have said "only"? A whole universe perished with that solitary individual.

THERE IS A second implication in the creation story. Every person should recognize his own value and should be able to say, "For my sake was the world created."

By focusing upon the creation of one man, the Bible affirms not only our sanctity, but also our power. You and I have extraordinary capacities and wonderous creative abilities. Each of us has the power to transform our lives. We can make a decisive difference in the world.

Spartans stay unbeaten; Key tourney games next

By Paul King special writer

Eric Pence and Gary Mexicotte each scored twice Monday to lead host Livonia Stevenson to a 5-1 predistrict boys' soccer victory over Northville.

The Spartans, a 4-1 victor Tuesday over Livonia Bentley, ran their seasonrecord to 140. They will travel Friday to meet Bloomfield Hills Lahser (13-1) in a crucial second-round state tournament game. Stevenson beat Lahser last year in the quarterfinals, 3-2, a match which was decided in a shootout. Game time is 3:30 p.m. tomorrow at Lahser. Mexicotte tallied his 34th and 35th goals of the season. He also had two assists. Pence added an assist.

Brush with death WMU gridder survives

Les Garrett a lucky Bronco

A cold, October breeze swirled around him, a frigid reminder of the severe Kalamazoo winter ahead. The fans crowded into Waldo Stadium were garbed in down ski jackets, leather gloves and cowboy hats, with blankets wrapped around them.

The scene was all too familiar to him. He didn't notice the cold. He had spent many Saturdays in Waldo, just like this one. Only his place was not in the stands, gulping down peppermint schnapps from wineskins. He roamed across the green carpet, dressed in the brown-and-gold uniform of a Western Michigan University football player.

His mind swam, losing track of time. What's that poster doing over there - "Welcome home Les, from Dew and the Gang," it spelled out in giant letters. Les - that's me, his confused mind discerned, although it failed to analyze the message's meaning.

NOW HE WAS being summoned to the middle of the field. His eyes swelled, his throat tightened. He met the men in the striped shirts and a row of opposing football players, from Miami of Ohio. University. Big game - always was, when Western and Miami tangled.

Still lost in time, dwelling in Saturdays now in the past, he looked down at himself, expecting to see the bright gold No. 48 stretched across his broad chest.

been for Les Garrett last Saturday. He had known the facts for a long time, but that didn't make them any easier to swallow: He would never play football again.

AUGUST 6, 1982: Les Garrett was at the top of his world. In a week he would return for his fifth and final year at Western, Injured in 1979, he had been redshirted, giving him one last year of competition, one last chance to play Mid-American Conference

An All-Academic selection, he could have graduated already. But the Southfield native and Birmingham Groves grad opted to play this final season. He was in great shape, Western had a new coach in Jack Harbaugh, and he was alming to lead the Broncos in tackles for a third straight season from his starting linebacker position.

His dreams were shattered with the swiftness of a moving vehicle striking an immoyable wall.

Garrett was in St. Clair Shores to be best man in a friend's wedding. The night before, Garrett was asleep in the passenger's seat when another friend drove into a wall at the end of a dead-end street.

When Garrett awoke, he was in a hospital bed, unable to move. His pelvis was dislocated, his hip fractured in four places; his right ankle, left foot and left cheekbone were all broken. It was six weeks before he was out of traction, his superb athletic body shrunken from 211 pounds to 150.

"I'M JUST lucky to be alive," Garrett says now. His friend who drove the car broke his neck and died instantly.

The linebacker is not only thankful to be alive, but grateful for so much more. Like being elected captain, even though his teammates knew he would never play and might not even attend school fall semester (he was forced to drop out and now plans on finishing winter semester).

"They elected him mainly because of the respect they have for him," Harbaugh said of Captain Garrett. "When he came back, it was something I'd never experienced before. He went out onto the field, and no one said anything for two or three minutes. Then they all went over and embraced him.

"He's very much a part of this team - as much as anyone else. It is something to be grateful for, or as Garrett put it, "It tells you how they feel about you. All the cards and good wishes you never forget those kind of people." Still, other emotions crowd Garrett's thoughts - over 200 tackies in the past two seasons, but the remorse at his inability to

Shamrock golfers seek Class A crown

The Shamrocks of Catholic Central hope to find a few friendly clovers waiting Saturday in the Class A boys' golf tournament at East Lansing.

The Shamrocks qualified for the fourth straight year by finishing third last week in the 20-team regional tournament at Burroughs Farms in Brigh-

Ann Arbor Pioneer won the championship with a four-player total of 317. Other state qualifiers included Farmington (320), CC (322) and host Brighton (323). Livonia Stevenson was sixth at 328.

Farmington's Evan DeWulf was medalist in the meet with an 18-hole total of 73. DeWulf was one stroke better than CC's Rob Medonis. DeWulf used a dramatic shot to win the individual crown. He sank a 150yard chip-shot-for-an eagle on the final-well at the meet. Ken Johnston shot at 78 followed by Mark Holowicki (83) and Dan Sullivan (87). Sophomore Don St. Pierre also competed, but did not figure in the team scoring.

STATE MEET play begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Michigan State University' course. CC coach Orin Tibbitts said Lansing Sexton, ranked No. 1 by a statewide coaches poll, is the team to

"I think they're a pretty good team," added Tibbitts, whose team was fifth in Class A a year ago. "Our kids have played the course before. I think we can do pretty well there. "This year we had a good start, slow middle and fast finish. I think we're peaking at the right time."

CC posted a 12-3 dual meet record during the regular season. The Shamrocks also won the 36-team Midwest Invitational in Plymouth, 12 shots ahead of Sexton.

But one sore spot lingers with Tibbitts and his team - the Catholic League playoffs.

CC was excluded from a shot at the title after losing a tie-breaker against Birmingham Brother Rice, the eventual parochial school champ.

THE TOP two teams from each of the Catholic League's three divisions -Central, Double-A and C - qualify for the year-end tournament. Notre Dame was first in the Central at 9-1. CC and Rice were tied for second at 7-3.

"We-were suppossed to have a playoff with Rice," explained Tibbitts. "But Rice didn't hold open a date on their schedule. The high-school athletic association allows only so many dates."

Both CC and Rice, however, were allowed to compete with the five other league qualifiers on Oct. 11 for the Catholic League crown, but there was one hitch. CC had to beat Rice on the front nine holes to continue, according to a ruling by Catholic League director Walt Bazylewicz.

It didn't happen. Rice shot a 144 to CC's 150, eliminating the Shamrocks from a shot at the title.

The Shamrocks went on to post the low score for 18 holes at 298, but Rice carded a 304 and went away with the CC hopes to gain a measure of revenge this weekend. Rice is the defending Class A champ.

"We feel we got shafted on the deal," said Tibbitts. "We held a date open for a playoff and we're the ones penal-

GC, Rockets slam door on NSL foes

Garden City stayed even with North Farmington in the Northwest Suburban League girls' basketball race with a fourth quarter rally to beat Livonia Franklin Tuesday

The Cougars raised their season mark to 9-1 overall and 4-1 in league play. Franklin slipped to 5-6 overall and 2-3 in the NSL.

North, a 56-41 winner Tuesday over Redford Thurston, is also 4-1 in league action.

Franklin couldn't hold onto a onepoint third quarter advantage as the Cougars stormed back with a 16-6

"They hit the key free throws and they got the second and third shots," said Franklin coach Tim Newman of the Garden City surge. "They were very aggressive on defense more so than we were."

Karen Tankersley led the winners with 12 points. Tammy Narramore and Linda Webb added nine each.

in seasons that weren't so full of promise for Western. The win over Miami boosted the Broncos to within a half-game of the league lead and a trip to the California Bowl in December.

It's a trip Garrett is looking forward to and fully expects to make. As he says about Western's chances: "I don't think there's any stopping them now." And that makes him feel better. Because, despite the guilt and regret that sometimes invade his thoughts, he is, as he put it:

"Just lucky."

Blazers pressed, but win anyway

The second half of the season may not be quite as easy as the first half was for Livonia Ladywood's cagers.

Coach Ed Kavanaugh admitted "teams are gunning for us now" after Royal Oak Shrine battled back to within a basket in the last quarter before succumbing, 52-46, Tuesday at Ladywood.

The Blazers, still perfect after 11 games, opened up a big first half advantage by outscoring Shrine 17-8 in the first quarter and 11-8 in the second to lead by a dozen at the half.

But Lavetta Willis, Ladywood's top player, sprained an ankle in the third quarter and Shrine "started hitting shots from everywhere," according to Kavanaugh, to pull within three after three quarters (37-34).

Leading the Shrine comeback was Michelle Tecker, who poured in 20 second-half points to finish with 25 for the contest...

The Blazers went into a semi-stall in the final quarter to hold off Shrine, and Ann Lukens made it work by canning four of five free throws in the period to insure the victory.

Char Govan's 14 points led Ladywood. Emily Wagner contributed 13 and Ann Lukens added eight. The Blazers are 9-0 in the Catholic League, while Shrine is 4-5.

Redford St. Agatha broke it open with a big fourth quarter, outscoring Detroit Benedictine by 11 points in the period to claim the victory Tuesday at Illness plagued a pair of Aggie stars, center Mona Clor and forward Mary Kellow. Clor, battling the flu, sat out the first quarter, but when St. Agatha managed to lead by just four points (6-2), Clor went into the game.

She netted 10 points and hauled in 11. rebounds before leaving early in the fourth quarter. Kellow, also suffering from the flu, pumped in 16 points to top all scorers. Beth Reicha added eight points and 11 rebounds.

Charon Dennis fired in 10 points for Benedictine.

The victory kept the Aggies unblemished after 12 games overall. They're 10-0 in the Catholic C-D League.

Playoff possibilities?

Livonia Franklin, Farmington Harrison and Plymouth Salem all remain in the hunt for post-season prep footballplayoff berths.

Franklin, a 19-7 winner Saturday over previously unbeaten Westland John Glenn, jumped up to first place in the Class A Region Four ratings (91.6).

Harrison, meanwhile, is second in Region Three at 92.0 behind Bloomfield Hills Lahser. And Salem (90.7) is third in Region Two behind Dearborn Edsel Ford (98.7) and Monroe (96.9).

The top two teams in each region make the playoffs.

Churchill, CC continue torrid pace

Both the boys and girls' cross country teams from Livonia Churchill scored easy victories last week over Farmington Harrison.

The unbeaten Charger girls made it five straigth with a 16-44 triumph. Churchill swept the first four spots - Julie Recla (19:52), Kathy Curtiss (20:13), Andrea Bowman (20:45) and Dorene Dudek (21:02). Harrison's Lauri Runk was fifth in 21:31. Churchill's Jill Caimotto gained sixth in 22:08. The Charger boys won their fifth meet in six tries and remained unbeaten in three Western Lakes

Brian Boston of Churchill was the overall winner in 17:20. Right behind were teammates Doug Plachta, second, 17;23; Al Clemens, third, 17:25: Paul Schwartz, fourth, 17:28, and Jim Gendjar, fifth, 17:53.

Mike Esker was Harrison's top finisher at 18:03.

Churchill will meet Walled Lake Western today at Cass.

DETROIT CATHOLIC CEN-TRAL, the state's No. 1 ranked team, sewed up its fourth invitational title in five tries Saturday at the 13-team Kiwanis meet in Sturgis.

CC, led by Steve Shaver's course record-setting performance, scored 33 points. Kalamazoo Loy Norrix was second with 89. East Lansing was third with 119.

Shaver's overhauled Lansing Sexton's Jan Hernandez in the final 200 yards to win the title. His time for five kilometers was 15:34.

Other CC runners contributing to the win were Paul Buchanan, third, 15:42; Marty Hegarty, fourth, 15:43; Tom Zakrzewski, 11th, 16:12, and Bob Shaver, 14th, 16:19.

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS

finished second in a girls' triangular meet Tuesday at Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Cindi Noiff led Edsel to the title with a first place finish in 19:51 (over five kilometers). The Dearborn school had 24 points followed by Borgess (44) and Fordson (52).

Louis Shaheen was Borgess' top finisher. She gained third in 20:32. Teammate Kris Whise was five overall (21:10).

Both the boys' and girls' Catholic League championships will be held Saturday at Marshbank Park in West Bloomfield.

Gregory's effort wasted

There were some positive signs amidst another frustrating loss for the Redford Bishop Borgess

Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher used a 26-yard field goal with 18 seconds to go to pull out a 20-17 win over the Spartans Saturday at South Lake High School. It was Borgess' fifth loss in six starts.

"We fumbled twice inside the Gallagher 10," said Borgess coach Gary Cook, "but we moved the ball.

"I'm happy with the running backs and the job they are doing. Gregory has done a fine job for being thrown in there.'

Gregory scored Borgess' first TD with 45 seconds left in the first quarter on an eight-yard scamper. Joe Burns' extra point made it 7-0.

With 11:13 to go in the half, Burns connected on a ್ರ⊶ 35-yard field goal.

Six minutes later, Owens scored on a 60-yard run, and Burns kicked the extra point, upping Borgess' lead to 17-0. Gallagher, however, scored a TD near the end of the half to cut the margin to 10, 17-7. In the second half, Gallagher evened the count on

By Brad Emons and C.J. Risak staff writers

Six weeks and six games gone. The season-long objective is coming into focus for a pair of local football teams. It's just barely readable, like the tiny row of letters on the optometrist's chart, third row from the bottom.

Take a step closer, and those letters become clear as they spell out:

league championship

For Plymouth Salem, that goal has been reached, thanks to a 20-12 win Friday over Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) foe Livonia Bent-

For Livonia Franklin, the goal is half-accomplished. Franklin's 19-7 win over Westland John Glenn clinched at least a tie for the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) title.

Ah, but you know what that crazy eye_doctor is going to say once you read that line. He's going to tell you to recite the letters on the line second from the bottom.

Squint and strain, but you can't be sure. It looks like:

state playoffs

That's a possibility for both Franklin and Salem. But there's major obstacles remaining for both.

Franklin must win its NSL finale at Garden City Friday. While the Cougars may not stop the Patriot express, Dearborn Fordson is certainly capable. That's who Franklin plays in week No. 8, before finishing the season against a respectable Bentley team.

Salem's road is just as treacherous. First, Walled Lake Central Friday at home. If the Rocks win, its onto the WLAA championship game, probably against undefeated Farmington Harrison. Salem ends the regular season at Redford Union.

Making the playoffs is certainly a treasured goal. But to do it, a Class A team has to be undefeated. Salem and Franklin are the only two in Observerland to boast a perfect record.

If they make the playoffs, they'll have a shot at winning what's written on the eye chart's bottom row — and you know what that is.

Last week Emons faltered, picking just five of-11 to drop behind Risak for the first time since week No. 2. Risak overtook Emons with an 8-3 performance, bringing his season total to 46-18 (71.8 percent correct). Emons is a game back at 45-19 (70.2 percent). Here's this week's picks.

WALLED LAKE CENTRAL at PLYMOUTH SALEM, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Salem can't be caught looking past this game for its almost certain clash with Harrison for the WLAA title a week from Saturday (at Harrison). A loss would ruin any state playoff hopes.

The Rocks do have a problem at quarterback, but it's one most coaches would love to have. Mark Tindall, a third-stringer at the beginning of the year, has blossomed and is too good to be left sitting on the bench. So Rock Coach Tom Moshimer is experimenting with his other two QBs.

Dave Haut, last week's starter, may play halfback this week. Pete Steyaert, who shared the signal-calling chores with Haut the first five games but didn't play at all against Bentley, will split time with Tindall (who did get in against Bentley) this week.

Central is now 3-3 and stumbling. Salem should have no problems moving to 7-0, says Risak: Salem by 10. Emons goes with Salem by 15.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN at GARDEN CITY, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Franklin quarterback Rich Popp put on a dazzling passing display in toppling John Glenn from the ranks of the unbeaten. Popp was 14 of 20 for 187 yards and three touchdowns.

Popp's arm and a big, suffocating defense remain the key elements in the Patriot team. Garden City was blasted by North Farmington last week, 29-6, dropping the Cougars to 2-4 overall and 1-3 in the NSL.

Franklin should roll, but remember: it was Garden City East (which merged with West this school year) that beat the Pats last year, denying them a share of the NSL crown.

Risak likes Franklin by 18. Emons chooses Franklin, too, but by 13.

PLYMOUTH CANTON at LIVONIA STEVENSON, 7:30 p.m. Friday — This could be the best game of the weekend in these parts. If Franklin's Popp isn't the best quarterback in the area, Canton's Pat Murphy is. The Chief signalcaller threw three touchdown passes in a 27-0 win Friday over Walled Lake

Two of those went to end Bob Wasczenski, the top offensive end in Observerland. He caught six for 109 yards. The win upped Canton's record to 3-3 overall and 2-2 in the WLAA. Stevenson, rated as a favorite in the WLAA before injuries to key offensive personnel, matches Canton's record. The Spartans' strength is in its defense, led by Brian Youngberg, Roger Beaune, John O'Connor, Tom Brzezinski, Mike Arakelian, Mike Hauser and Bob Brown. All were strong in Friday's 7-0 win over Farmington.

Mark Mueting turned in a good performance on both sides of the scrimmage line: Defensively, he intercepted a pass and offensively, he rushed for 130

It'll be offense vs. defense, and Risak goes with the defense: Stevenson by six. Emons picks the surging Chiefs by six.

predictions

CATHOLIC CENTRAL at HARPER WOODS NOTRE DAME, 7:30 p.m. Friday at Livonia Clarenceville - This is another very important game in a battle for league supremacy. CC needs a win to make the Catholic A-B League playoffs.

The Shamrocks looked bad in a 7-6 defeat to Warren DeLaSalle, due in part to quarterback Mark Malone's bad shoulder. CC's defense played admirably, but the offense, which has been inconsistent, stalled with Matt Wilczewski subbing.

Still, CC should romp past 1-5 Notre Dame, Risak predicts, by 12. Emons figures CC to take it by 10.

DETROIT SERVITE V8. REDFORD ST. AGATHA, 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Howard Kraft Field - The Aggies missed a big chance to go to the Catholic C-D League playoffs by losing Saturday to Pontiac Catholic, 21-6.

The Aggies still have a shot, but it's slim. It's possible Pontiac Catholic, Orchard Lake St. Mary and St. Agatha will all finish 4-1 in the C-Bracket.

This game won't cause the Aggies any problems. Servite is 0-6, about to become 0-7, according to Risak, by 17. Emons envisions St. Agatha the winner

WILLOW RUN at LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE, 7:30 p.m. Friday - These two teams have had some classic battles in the past, but this year won't be one of them. Clarenceville improved its record to 4-2 with a 33-8 triumph over Oak Park, thanks to Randy Bame's 123 rushing yards and two TDs. Willow Run is 3-3 after beating River Rouge Friday, 22-14, on Troy Willis' game-breaking-run in the final minutes. This time, Willow Run will break down, says Risak, as Clarenceville wins by seven. Emons goes with Willow Run by eight.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN at RED-FORD UNION, 7:30 p.m. Friday - RU is young and struggling, escaping with a win over winless Redford Thurston Friday. Glenn is among the best in the area, with Todd Jennings and Don Forchione the team's backbone.

Glenn is too tough as RU fails by 10, Risak thinks. Emons estimates the Glenn winning margin at 12.

FARMINGTON HARRISON at LIVONIA CHURCHILL, 7:30 p.m. Friday - These two used to fight it out for the Western Six League crown. Now, Harrison is battling for the WLAA title while Churchill is aiming for respecta-

The Chargers won their first game of the season with a 10-point, fourth-quarter rally against Northville Friday. The winning touchdown came on a fourthdown-and-10, 35-yard pass from John Stoitsiadis to Larry Blais. No such miracles will save Churchill against Harrison, Risak reveals, as the Hawks win by 20. Emons like Harrison by 17.

LIVONIA BENTLEY at FARMING-TON, 2 p.m. Saturday — Bentley may be down, but the Bulldogs have been outstanding most of the year, battling for the WLAA championship down to the last weekend. Defense is their main weapon, as they proved against Salem and everyone else this season.

And defense will carry them past winless Farmington, too. It will help if top running back Keith Percin is ready. Nonetheless, Bentley will prevail by 10, says Risak. Emons agrees: the Bulldogs

NORTH FARMINGTON at RED-FORD THURSTON, 2 p.m. Saturday -It's been an upsetting season for Redford Thurston's gridders. They turned in their best performance of a 0-6 season in Friday's 13-6 loss to RU. It was the first touchdown of the season for the Eagles, as Rich Ochmanski bulled over from the 1-yard line. They'll have a harder time against North. Risak predicts a 20-point victory for North. Emons is in agreement, picking the Raiders by 17.

Brian Keith looks forward to new role

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

CTOR BRIAN KEITH pulled open the cupboard doors behind the desk of Father Tim Farley, the character he portrays in the play "Mass Appeal." As he looked into the cupboard, he explained to the audience the vestments he would find there, and change into, during the

Then he moved about the stage at the Birmingham Theatre, poking into still more hiding places where other surprises would be found.

The burly star settled into a chair behind a table, continuing to talk about the show in which he will play a wise, older priest whose patience is tried by an idealistic young seminarian.

A comedy hit still playing on Broadway, "Mass Appeal" co-stars Bill C. Davis, who also wrote the play and will direct the Birmingham Theatre production. (Coincidentally, Bill Davis is the name of the character Keith played on the successful TV-comedy series "Family Affair.")

BIRMINGHAM THEATRE previews begin Friday-Sunday with regular performances the following week. Playdates continue through Nov. 21.

"We're quick-change artists, actors, monologists, stagehands and prop men," Keith said, explaining how the two cast members would be busy not only performing their roles but changing costumes and rearranging stage props during blackouts.

Keith rehearsed the show with Davis in New York before coming to Birmingham a week ago. For this Friday morning interview, the actor showed up at the theater dressed with country casualness.

He wore a camel-colored cap, a soft wool sports coat with a contrasting orange stripe and Calvin Klein brown cords. His bright blue eyes accented his rugged features and the grey sideburns that pecked from under his cap. He was a charming blend of pleasantness and politeness; talkative in an easy way, recalling past events with a grin and a positive manner.

HIS CAREER has spanned the stage (he was born in a trunk, he said, the child of theatrical parents who starred

'We're quick-change artists, actors, monologists, stagehands and prop

> - Actor Brian Keith starring in 'Mass Appeal'

on Broadway), movies, radio and television making Keith's name and face familiar to a variety of audiences.

Keith recalled acting on stage as a child. "I did a little and I didn't like it," he said with a smile.

Paramount Studios was in New York then, and he got his first movie role in "The Pied Piper of Maione."

Movie acting didn't appeal to him then, either. "I just hated it," he said. The intensity of the bright kleig lights was one of the things that drove him to distraction.

After high school he went into the Marine Corps. "After five years of that, World War II was over, and I was faced with making a living."

"I was very lucky, I fell over that first job," he said about a summer tour of a play called "Junior Miss." Keith then toured in "The Male Animal," playing Wally, the young football play-

"I WAS IN A LOT of flops. I worked in movies that happened to be shot in the New York area," he said. "There was no TV yet." He worked as an extra and did stunts. He mentioned the old Jam Handy Organization in Detroit, remembering some industrial films he appeared in.

He did recordings of children's stories and played on radio for "Theater Guild of the Air." "You could play two or three parts and get paid for each one." Keith said.

The first stage hit he appeared in was "Mr. Roberts" in 1947 in New York. It played Detroit's Cass Theatre in 1948. "I stayed with it three years,"

After seven years of theater, he went to the West Coast to do movies and then live television. With his experience as a stage actor, live television was a snap. As for his film career, "the movies just kept coming." Keith didn't do theater again until 1979, he said, when he was offered the road company of "Da." He turned that down because he didn't want to tour but later played the starring role for six months in New York. "I had a great time," he said.

"Then, I did a whole bunch more movies," he said. Of his film roles, Keith said the one he enjoyed most was "The Wind and the Lion," in which he played Teddy Roosevelt and Sean Connery played an Arab sheik.

"PLAYING TEDDY Roosevelt was wonderful. He was such a character. Oddly, with just glasses and a wig - I grew a mustache - I didn't have to do anything more to look just like pictures of him.'

Keith propped his boot on the desk as he philosophized about his movie roles. "Making a living, you still come out with a lot of crap.

He said that both Montgomery Clift and Marlon Brando, big stars whom he admired, made some bad films along with only a few good ones. "It's 90 percent pick and shovel."

Even the bad stuff can be fun though. "I've done a lot of outdoor westerns junk - and had a good time doing it," he said.

From 1966-70, Keith starred on the TV-sitcom "Family Affair." He was coproducer of the show which is still being seen in reruns. "Thank God, I own part of it," he said.

In 1972-73, the actor did a TV series in Hawaii, with his real-life family, called "The Little People." He played a pediatrician and his wife Victoria played a nurse. "It was a good show but things were changing," he said.

Shows like "Maude" and "Archie Bunker" took over. Comedy got to be "a bunch of insults."

After living in Hawaii for 11 years, the Keiths have moved to Los Angeles. They have a 12- and a 14-year-old still living at home. A daughter, 21, is a professional dancer working with the Philadelphia Ballet. -

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographs

Brian Keith, at the Birmingham Theatre, said of the play "Mass Appeal," "It's not necessarily religious. It's about truth, love. We could be in the military . . . It's handled with a lot of fun. It's really a comedy about something serious."

WORTH LEAVING HOME FOR.

Winery survives challenging years

In 1883, the Concannon family founded a winery in the Livermore area of California. It has been in continuous operation, and today boasts the record for production continuity in the state. The winery has never missed a crush.

To do this, the Concannons survived the two great disasters of the industry. They endured the 13 years of Prohibition by making sacramental wine. They held out through the louse invasion called phylloxera through the application of rigorous vinicultural methods and a great deal of endurance.

Through all of this, the Concannons have distinguished themselves as producers of dependable, honest, fairly priced generic and varietal wines.

Hardly innovators, they nonetheless were the first winery to see petite sirah as a varietal (in 1964) and introduced the rkatsitelli grape strain from Russia into the state as a varietal (in 1976). But it is as refiners of the art that they are best known.

THE PRESENT family leader, James, was honored in 1981 by the eminent chronicler of American wines, Nathan Chroman, as the "California Winemaker of the Year," an honor previously bestowed on Robert Mondavi and Andre Tschelischeff, Good compa-

All this is by way of introduction to some of this winery's newest releases. I recently had an opportunity to taste several of them, and it is a pleasure to report the quality they are attaining. Their recent success is in no small part due to winemaker Sergio Treverso, recently of Sterling Vineyards.

Most interesting of all the new reteases are a pair of 1981 sauvignon blancs, a wine Concannon will be featuring more and more. Both owner and winemaker are dedicated to this grape, and these two efforts reflect this clearly.

The first is a California appellation, most of the grapes coming from San Luis Obispo. This wine has seen no oak wine

and is lacking in the grassy taste that can be associated with it.

. Rather, it is clean, crisp, almost asture and very straightforward. The second issue, an estate-bottled issue, is much more complex. It is a combination of sauvignon blanc and semillon (60-40) and has received oak aging.

IT HAS THAT wonderful cigar-butt quality that good sauvignon can and is, very full and wholesome in the mouth. Its greater intensity is no doubt due in part to the very low yield of the grapes used in the estate-bottled issue, two and one-half tons per acre, vs. the six tons per acre in the California issue.

The 1977 cabernet sauvignon is, to my mind, the best Concannon has ever made and is a truly excellent wine. A marvelous combintion of muscle and grace, full of deep rich flavors, some tannin and is very drinkable now. This must be marked as one of the best of this none-too-exceptional year for cabernet in the state.

Concannon's petite sirahs are usually on the lean side. At least they have been in the past. Judging from the 1978 and the barrel sample 1980 tried, Concannon may be moving its style toward the heavier and deeper, as much of its competition does.

The 1978, currentlyy available, is full, ripe and shows a hint of oak aging. Good varietal character on this.

In the everyday wine line, the 1981 chablis is also very nice. Simple and dry, it is an excellent aperitif wine with its nice balance of acidity and fruit.

"The Ipcress File" (1965), noon today on Ch. 50. Originally 108 minutes.

This first film from the Len Deighton series of spy thrillers is the best. Michael Caine's Harry Palmer is a nofrills secret agent who still manages his share of thrills and spills, but the story and action are far more believ. able than the James Bond and "Our Man Flint" flicks that were popular at the same time. Its plot is also simpler than in the followup "Funeral in Berlin," and the pace of the film much faster. Sue Lloyd and Gordon Jackson also star.

WHAT'S IT WORTH?

Any similarity bewteen "Godspell" and "Jesus Christ Superstar" on a storyline level is purely intentional. Any similarity between the two in terms of effectiveness and success is purely coincidental. While "Superstar" rocks an audience both musically and stylistically, "Godspell" lulls viewers to sleep with ponderous performances and direction.

"The Missiles of October" (1974), midnight Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 100 minutes.

Maybe the best thing that can be said for "Missiles" is that it maintains a high level of suspense from start to finish even though we all know how it's going to end. Based on the 1962 Cuban missile crisis, "Missiles of October" is a spellbinding drama starring William DeVane as President Kennedy, Martin Sheen as Attorney General Bobby Kennedy and Howard DaSilva as Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The characterizations are vivid and the dialogue riveting.

Rating: $3.30.

"Going My Way" (1944), in two parts at 1 p.m. Monday and Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 130 minutes.

Too-ra-Loo-ra. Believe it or not, film critic Otis Ferguson saw "Going My Way" and wrote that it was incongruous to cast crooner Bing Crosby as a priest. It's almost hard to picture him without the vestal garments now. Barry Fitzgerlad, on the other hand, has always personified everyone's image of a padre, and here he teams with Bing for a convincing performance and touching film. The plot - with Bing reforming a youth gang, rescuing the parrish and preserving the dignity of the aging, outgoing priest may sound like a bit much, but Leo McCarey's direction is spirited and never lingers on the sentimental. Gene Lockhart and Frank McHugh also star. Rating: $3.50.
