The hearing was peppered with impassioned pleas from some 20 parents and a handful of students who urged against closing the district's oldest senior high school.

Target of the appeals was the sevenmember board of education. The schooltrustees could act later this month on Superintendent George Garver's recommendation to trim district operations by shutting one of four high schools.

Given that timetable, the stage was set for a desperate last-ditch effort by parents to urge other solutions to the persistent problem of declining enrollments.

CONCERN also was expressed about the impact of a vacant school building on the surrounding heighborhood. Dorothy Bruce, president of the Madison Civic Association, located north of the school building, expressed disappointment with the lack of a plan for the building's use.

"It could create a future blight in the center of our city," she said. She advised school administrators to consider closing another building, such as Churchill, whict she said could "more easily be converted" for other uses.

"It's very unfair to us as property owners to consider shutting down a building of this size in these troubled times," she said.

District boundary change avoids $1.2 million loss

By Maurie Walker staff writer

The Wayne-Westland School Board Monday saved about $1.2 million in lost property tax revenues in approving a district boundary change.

A resolution transferring a small part of the southwestern portion of the district to the Van Buren school system was approved 6-0 by the board. Trustee Kathleen Chorbagian was absent due to illness.

Transfer of the property is one way Wayne-Westland school officials can avoid a potential tax loss due to a recent state Supreme Court ruling that prohibits school districts from collecting different tax rates from communities within their borders.

A small portion of Van Buren Township lies within the Wayne-Westland boundaries. The section is located south of Van Born, between Cogswell and - this loss of revenue," he said. Canton Center.

Those property owners pay $7.65 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation through the county tax allocation to the school system, $1 less than the rest of the district.

The one mill difference in Van Buren goes to the township.

In presenting the resolution to the school board at Monday's meeting, Thomas Blacklock, deputy superintendent for operations, said the first step was for the board to adopt a resolution that the Van Buren township properties be annexed to the Van Buren Public Schools

"To avoid losing $1.2 million to bring us into compliance with the Supreme Court ruling, we are of the opinion that action is necessary prior to our appearing before the County Allocation Board in April to extricate the district from

SUPT. TIMOTHY DYER said he will now request a meeting with Van Buren Public School officials to act on the request to change the school district boundaries. Pending their board approval, the Intermediate School District must act on the request within 60 days. Dyer said the irregular school boundaries are the result of tradition. "The school boundaries were formed according to where farmers went to church.

"In another area of the district, one house lies in Wayne-Westland while its neighbor is in the Plymouth district," Dyer said.

He added that years ago talks to negotlate boundary changes were halted by the threat of cross-district busing.

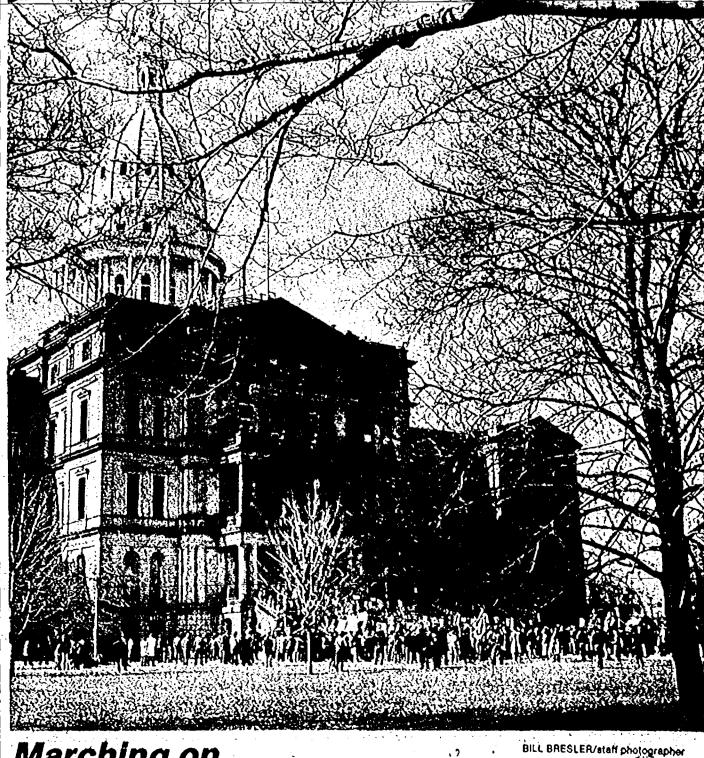

Blacklock said the superintendent's office has been in contact with both the intermediate school district and Van Buren public schools regarding deliberation in the matter.

"Our student relations department has been in contact with the parents involved regarding the pending action. To date, we have not received any negative reaction to our request," he add-•ed.--

Involved are six students, three of them from John Glenn High School, who live in the Van Buren Township portion of the district.

PROPERTY OWNERS would continue to pay a debt retirement levy to Wayne-Westland, but for other purposes would become part of the Van Buren portion of the district.

Those students currently attending Wayne-Westland schools would be allowed to continue to do so. Any preschoolers in the area would go to Van Buren schools upon reaching school age.

To help keep the music coming, the third event will involved Glenn students canvassing neighborhoods on April 23 and 30 to collect donations for the support of the band and the orchestra. Donations may be made in cash or returnable bottles and cans.

For details on any band activities, call the high school office at 595-2300.

Imagine a garage sale where you can buy everything from an electric typewriter to a bus that isn't a bus.

In honor of Redford Township's Sesquicentennial, the 150th birthday committee is sponsoring an industrial garage sale to be held March 19-20. While there will be the usual assortment of office goods ranging from adding machines to drafting tables, probably the oddest item for sale will be an aluminum bus with no engine.

"IT'S LIKE a Greyhound. It has seats and luggage racks," sale chairman Ken Coch said. "But it doesn't have an engine, and it can never be licensed for the highway."

Donated by General Motors Corp. the bus was built experimentally and operated as a test vehicle. It will be towed to the site of the garage sale, Advance World Headquarters at 26400 W. Eight Mile, Southfield, from GM's Romulus plant.

Garage sale has a little of everything

"(The bus) could be used as an office, a camp site, or the world's biggest doghouse," said Coch, a Livonia resident and employee of GM's Detroit Deisel plant in Redford.

THE BUS will be sold in a silent auction, with sealed bids accepted both Saturday and Sunday. The lucky winner with the highest bid will be responsible . is film stored on 4-by-6 sheets quite like for towing the engine-less bus home, Coch warned Hours for the auction will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday. Most of the smaller items will have sales tags.

The Advance Co., formerly of Redford Township, moved to larger facili-ties in Southfield last year and is donating half of its 20,000-square-foot warehouse for the auction site.

"There is a small baby boom coming," said one women. "At the Livonia Y, bables are coming out of the pool, out of the gym. They are there. Belleve me.'

Frustration was also evident, particularly among longtime residents whose families have experienced numerous school boundary-line shuffles in past years.

Waving tea bags as a symbol of his anti-tax increase stance, Paul Rojeck of Redford Township joined others in the Lansing tax protest rally. Also joining the group was Julie Kopriva, Redford Township coordinator of a group calling itself Tired of Taxes.

Legislators hear protest from suburban tax foes

By Tim Richard staff writer

"First time I've ever done anything like this," said one suburban tax protestor after another among the 350 on the steps of the State Capitol Building.

They spent Tuesday's lunch hour protesting Gov. James Blanchard's plan to raise the state personal income tax to 6.35 percent.Blanchard is asking increases of 1.5 percent for operations and .25 percent to retire an accumulated deficit.

The House passed a modified version of the proposal by 59-51 vote Wednesday. The bill will go to the Senate for further discussion.

JIM GEOFFREY, a Ford Motor Co. engineer from Livonia, got a lot of amused attention with his sign that advocated "Don Knotts for Governor" with a dozen teabags suspended from it. To this first-time demonstrator, Knotts symbolized the stumbling, ineffectual comedian. The teabags recalled the anti-tax fervor of the pre-Revolution Boston Tea Party.

"Blanchard is giving us a red herring with this Economic Alliance," said Geoffrey. "Those business and industry leaders are in bed with him. 'Those business and industry leaders are . . . part of the problem.' —Jim Geoffrey Livonia

Proclaiming comedian Don Knotts as his candidate for president, Livonia resident Jim Geoffrey drew attention as he joined the protest on the steps of the state capitol in Lansing. They're part of the problem. There were 'mixed feelings on whether a sales tax increase from 4 percent to 5 would be more acceptable. "If we had to have a tax, I would prefer a sales tax because you can avoid it," said Winky. But Geoffrey said,"A sales tax would be no less onerous. We just assume a tax increase is needed. We can't tax our way to prosperity."

ED MARVILLE and son Dennis of Canton Town-

Dennis Marville of Canton Township traveled to Lansing with his father to protest the proposed hike in state income taxes. Marville carried a yellow Revolutionary War era flag.

State Rep. Jack Kirksey of Livonia joined other Republican legislators in bemoaning the loss of Republicans in the state. Using a quotation from Abraham Lincoln on her sign was Stephanie Banners of Mt. Clemens.

keep my house when I retire," said Ed. "The donothings get grants to go to college. I have one daughter in college — at Schoolcraft. She pays her own way."

The speeches were cheers rather than orations: "Tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, with you guys it never ends." "Hear our cry, pay attention, we're the ones who pay your pension."

THE EVENT was a field day for Republican legislators, whose caucuses are working to come up with figures showing the state is overspending on such matters as colleges and welfare, and that no permanent (18 months or longer) tax hike is needed. Republican Reps. Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Jack Kirksey of Livonia, Frederick Dillingham of Fowlerville and Sen. Ed Fredericks of Holland all denounced the tax plan.

"The governor and the Democrats are now on a fast track. They're going to run it through beginning Wednesday," said Dunaskiss.

"There are fewer and fewer productive people left in Michigan because we are driving them away," said Kirksey.

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, did not attend the rally but afterwards told a group of anti-tax Redfordites meeting in his mezzanine office, "People should have worked harder to put (Republican gubernatorial nominee Richard) Headlee in in the first place."

In his ground floor office, Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford, promised to vote "no on a permanent increase. Maybe yes on a temporary. Maybe."

Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, observed the raily standing next to the statue of Civil War Gov. Austin Blair. The freshman lawmaker was frustrated that he had to make a yes or no decision on a tax increase while no visible effort was being made to work out a long-term financial plan.

"You come up here, and it's assumed — you have a deficit, so you raise taxes," Law said. He said he opposed a permanent tax hike, then gritted his teeth as he philosophized that temporary measures have a way of becoming permanent.

DAVID LITTMAN, vice president and senior. economist at Manufacturers National Corp., urged lawmakers to put Michigan's house in order before even considering a tax hike.

Littman, a member of the Bloomfield Hills school board, gave a detailed analysis, with chart, contending "Michigan has consistently outspent its peer group of states (the 13 most populous) . . . in many of the key budget areas."

Litiman's examples included spending on education, welfare and libraries. He said that if spending was reduced to the 13-state average in either education or welfare, the state's budget could be balanced.

"All economic forecasts have been revised upward," Littman said, adding that existing taxes would produce $500 million more than projected as the economy improves.

- JIM MORBERG, director of the House-Fiscal Agency, called Medicaid "the worst fiscal problem in this state. Medicaid costs are going up 12 to 15 percent a year, and it doesn't care whether we're in a recession or not."

Hospital costs, rising relentlessly, are helping to push up Medicaid costs. Asked about the state's cost-containment efforts on hospitals, Morberg said "very little progress" has been made. Many cases have been taken to court, and the state has lost most, he said.

Asked about staff estimates of the budget deficit that have been lower than Bianchard's, Morberg said the House and Senate Fiscal Agencies have revised their earlier estimates, as low as $614 million, upwards to the $700-plus million mark. He said Bianchard's $900-million deficit estimate was "reasonable."

"WE MUST SELL $150,000 WORTH OF FURNITURE." It's all on sale. Everything in our giant inventory is at least 30% off. 30% off dining rooms. 30% off living rooms. 30% off everything. But it's only through Monday. Come and save now.

Nystrom is a target, but Lucas still likes him

By Carol Azizian staff writer

Dennis Nystrom may not be a driving force behind Wayne County Executive William Lucas' administration much longer.

Whether that decision is his own choice or the result of pressure from outsiders who see him as a political liability is a matter for debate.

The Oakland County lawyer, who heads up Lucas' transition team and is the county executive's top political advisor, has been offered a permanent position as chief of staff. He has been working for lawyer's fees under a contract.

Although Nystrom hasn't officially declined the appointment, he did tell a group of businessmen Monday that he wants out.

Speaking before the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, Nystrom said, "It's my intention to help Bill Lucas for as long as he needs me and then to go back to practicing law."

NYSTROM LATER said he could be on Lucas' staff for at least another year or two, but doesn't want to be a "permanent county employee."

Admitting he had "no patience for though he focused on some county problems, he spent considerable time airing his own personal conflicts and taking verbal swipes at the county commission.

"I have difficulty with people who run around with their fingers up in the air trying to find out which way the wind is blowing," he said.

ty's financial woes on the county comboard which includes many members who led us into the financial morass we face," he said.

"Lucas never claimed to be a financial expert. I never claimed to be one. We have none in Wayne County."

That's why, Nystrom said, county officials can't detail costs of the reorganization plan. Auditors hired by the exeuctive are currently working on the budget and will have it ready sometime in May, Nystrom said. The county board's deadline for approving the reorganization plan is April 1 - 90 days after Lucas submitted it.

"We told the board we're not going to give them phony budgets," he said. Earlier, Nystrom had called the commissioners' requests "asinine."

NYSTROM TOOK a shot at some commissioners who are "bent on the old ways" and fail to realize they must impose a new county charter. The board is not Nystrom's only target. He also has been heard taking pot shots at former corporation counsel George Cross. "The previous former corporation counsel couldn't find his way out of a paper bag with both hands free and both eyes open," one commissoner quoted Nystrom as saying.

Nystrom later said he didn't recall making that remark.

Nevertheless, many commissioners and administration outsiders agree untarily left the campaign. that Nystrom hasn't exactly made friends and influenced people.

Commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford, himself an attorney, said Nystrom acts as if he's in courtroom adversary proceedings, not before a legislative body. Nystrom tries to make commissioners look bad rather than attempting to reach a compromise on issues, Manning said.

TALKING ABOUT NYSTROM IS a sore spot for other commissioners.

Some object to the county's picking up the tab for Nystrom's legal work on a suit by then-Sheriff Lucas and the deputies union to restore the Road Patrol.

A suburban commissioner friendly to Lucas is angry at the way he considers Nystrom insulted Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster. "I disagree with Kay, but when he insults her, he insults me," said the commissioner.

A high-ranking Oakland County official said Nystrom was fired from Daniel T. Murphy's 1976 campaign because he insulted and irritated too many people.

Nystrom denied it, claiming he vol-

He added that it was up to Lucas, not administration outsiders, to judge whether he was a political liability.

"I think he (Lucas) would disagree with those people."

"I'm a Republican in a Democratic administration. But I see my role as helping Bill Lucas because he's one of the finest men I've observed in political office in some time," Nystrom said. Administration officials contend Nystrom is an asset, not a liability.

"There is sentiment outside the administration that Nystrom is a political liability," admitted Bill Johnson, Lucas' press secretary.

"But there's no question he has a role to play, and he plays it well."

PCHA board sticks

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority is still satisfied with its board leadership.

The board, which includes members from Garden City and Westland, unanimously re-elected its top four officers recently.

At its annual election, the board agreed to continue with Donald Pizzimenti as chairman; Patrick Norton as vice-chairman; Roger Remer as treasurer, and Hiram McNeeley as secretary.

The authority represents 26 communities in western Wayne County and eastern Washtenaw County and owns and operates five public hospitals, including Annapolis in Wayne.

Pizzimenti has been PCHA chairman since 1966, while the other three officers have longtime service in leadership posts.

Aide: House will pass state tax hike

Gov. James Blanchard's chief of staff said he was optimistic the House of Representatives would "reach a solution" this week on a temporary 38percent increase in the state income tax.

Tom Lewand, in an address before the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce Monday, said he was confident representatives from both parties would pledge their support for a proposal tying the proposed state income increase to the state's unemployment rate.

Calling an increase in the income tax "the easiest of all alternatives," Lewand said he didn't think it would seriously hurt Michigan's ability to restore its economic base.

The governor, however, supports an increase in the sales tax to replace at least part of the income tax increase, Lewand said.

The administration has "no objection to raising the sales tax down the road," he said.

You've seen "Kade" several times you say, so why go see it again? Well, if you've never seen the film on the big screen, you've never really seen it at all. And if you've never heard the film on a good sound system, you've never really heard it at all.

Remember, Orson Welles' background was in radio, and "Citizer Kane" is a very aural film. You easilycan tell what's happening on the screer by listening to the film, which brings, us to the question of who wrote the thing Orson Welles or Herman J. Manklewicz?

The pair are listed as coscreenwriters but Mankiewicz is considered the driving force behind the film by "revisionist" critics seeking to dispell the "boy wonder" moniker earlier attributed to Welles. But Mankiewicz's background was in pictures, so it's more likely that the sound-oriented Welles scripted the film. In fact, it's more likely that cameraman Gregg Toland had a greater impact on the picture than did Mankiewicz, because Welles had never worked behind the camera before.

At any rate, "Citizen Kane" is one of the best films of the last 50 years; we can only hope that the Canton library is equipped to display the film as it deserves to be displayed.

Mahler's symphonic trip still unequaled

By Avigdor Zaromp special writer

Whenever a reference is made to one of Mahler's symphonies, there is a temptation to refer to it as a "monumental Mahler symphony" - or something to that effect.

The term is a glaring redundancy.

"A Mahler Symphny," in itself, already has the term "monumental" implicitly implied. His third symphony, in addition to its monumental structure, which is axiomatic in view of the foregoing observation, also happens to be one of the longest. For that reason, it

Thursday night.

Guest singer was French-born opera star Jocelyn Taillon, mezzo-soprano. In addition, there were the Women of the Kenneth Jewell Chorale and the Chirst Church Choir of Boys and Girls.

These choirs, with their directors Eric Freudigman and Frederic DeHaven, respectively, deserve high credit for their contribution to this magnificent performance.

Maestro Gary Bertini is known for his affinity to Mahler, whose second and fifth symphonies he conducted here on previous occasions. His profound, demonstrated ability will cause him to be even more sorely missed following other percussions, displaying refined his expected departure at the end of this season.

With all the extensive orchestration and monumental structure (here we go again), there is nothing redundant or obsolete in this composition. Each group of instrumentspas well as many solo ones, play crucial roles.

If you have the impression that the task of a percussionist boils down to pounding away at the drums, such a simplistic notion would be quickly dispelled after listening to the various shades of drum-rolls, combined with

Dems back Blanchard but worry U-M regents

By Tim Richard staff writer

Michigan Democrats gave Gov. James J. Blanchard a blank check to solve the state's fiscal crisis but gave direct orders to the University of Michigan Board of Regents to sell its stock in companies doing business with South Africa.

'They're giving Blanchard the same latitude I wish they'd give me," said U-M Regent Thomas Roach, who lost in his state convention effort to argue down the South Africa resolution.

Otherwise, last weekend's convention was tranquil. In the words of Detroit Mayor Coleman Young - "Nobody got punched out, not much bad names and bad language."

The climax came at 2 p.m. Sunday in Detroit's Cobo Arena when the 2,000 delegates by acclamation elected Rick Wiener, 35, state chairman to succeed Libby-Maynard. Wiener's nominating speech was given by Blanchard himself.

DELEGATES approved a resolution urging "all Democratic legisators . . . to support the governor in his efforts to resolve this (financial) crisis." No one mentioned either a permanent income tax increase (Blanchard's proposal), a temporary income tax increase (some legislators' proposal), a graduated rate income tax (a perenniel Democratic favorite) or a sales tax (proposed by the business-labor Economic Alliance). But in one of the few split votes of the day, the convention shouled its approval of a resolution asking all public college boards to sell their stock in companies doing business in South Africa "so that business as usual cannot go on."

It was a victory for state Rep. W. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, author of a law requiring divestiture. Bullard also argued in favor of the resolution from the convention floor, noting such policies had been adopted by religious groups, labor and even the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Bullard's act takes effect April 1. "White South Africa must learn they must begin to change and grant the fundamentals of human dignity to all citizens," Bullard said.

"THAT RESOLUTION gives me a problem two ways," said Roach, an Ann Arbor attorney who was re-elected to the U-M governing board last November.

"First, it follows an unconstitutional law. The state constitution, since 1850, gives the regents power over the expenditure of funds. It's an important constitutional isue. For 15 years, the Legislature had run the university.

"Governor Milliken, when he signed the law on his last day in office, suggested it might be unconstitutional. It's probably the unanimous feeling on the board that it's unconstitutional and that we should attack it.

"Second, it's not an apprpriate response to South Africa's apartheid. Everyone agrees apartheid's immoral, unconscionable. That's a given.

"But how do we best end it? We own stock in many Michigan companies -Ford, GM, Chrysler, Burroughs, Kellogg - which have divisions or subsidiaries in South Africa.

"Divestment is a symbolic act which, when done, accomplishes nothing. If we sell our stock, who will buy it? Someone with a more responsible position?"

In 1978, the U-M board in 1978 adopted a policy requiring companies Cunningham) Drug Stores. in which it held stock to report progress in such areas as desegregation of the work place, equal pay for equal work, training and promoting blacks to supervisory and management positions and providing equal medical benefits, Roach said.

"Ford Motor Co. is one of the best achievers," said Roach, citing promotions, housing and health care, wages and dealings with black unionists.

"These things are resulting in change in South Africa - too slowly, but change. They are more effective than to sell our stock."

Two consulting firms monitor such corporate practices for a fee, he said. When Black & Decker, the tool making firm, refused to comply, U-M sold its stock. Stock in a second firm, which he did not name, might also be sold, he said.

IN OTHER business, the convention resolved to oppose President Ronald Reagan's proposed arms buildup, advocated a local content bill for auto parts, asked corporations to exercise "a social responsibility" on plant closings and urged a boycott of Apex (formerly

On education matters, the Democrats accused Reagan of undermining separation of church and state with a tuition tax credits proposal, asked Michigan congressmen to make education a priority of the federal government, advocated training in the schools in computer programming and electronics, asked improvement in the quality of vocational education, and asked colleges to work to eradicate racism and prejudice on college campuses.

MEETING IN congressional district caucuses, Democrats elected local officers and representatives to the Democratic State Central Committee, governing body of the party between conventions.

Blanchard's tax proposal needs major revisions

HAVING AN old governor with tired, worn-out ideas was a hard enough pill for Michigan taxpayers to take. But having a spanking new chief executive peddling the same old tax elixir is much more than the hard-working people of this state can be expected to swallow.

But that is what the young, new Gov. James Blanchard, in collusion with like-minded legislators, is attempting to force down our throats — an increased income tax, from 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent, mixed with educational budget cuts which would prove harmful to the state's recovery.

Frankly, we expected better.

SINCE TIME immemorial, the income tax, especially the flat rate genre, has been known for its unfairness. As Plato once told us, "When there is an income tax, the just man will pay more and the unjust less on the same amount of income."

Ray Gribbs' alumni group makes good

AT THE time, one national publication sniffed at him as a "pistol-packing sheriff." Another wrote him off as "a competent, complacent bureaucrat." And it's true he stayed around only one term as mayor of Detroit.

But Roman S. Gribbs deserves a better shake from history than that, and only recently is one of Gribbs' major contributions coming to light. As mayor from 1969-73, Ray Gribbs gave some of the best-known names in public administration their first major jobs.

He was careful in his selection of administrators, so it's probably no accident that some have attained further fame.

Gribbs himself prefers the law to administration. He jumped from Wayne County sheriff to mayor, then left the post to become a circuit judge. Last November, the voters elevated him to the state Court of Appeals. Blanchard's tax plan not only is innately unfair, it is an unimaginative prescription for a state which cries for bold new ideas. We strongly urge the governor and his legislative cronies to return to the drawing board.

Blanchard should take a closer look at combining a temporary sales tax with a temporary income tax. Although far from perfect, the sales tax does lift some of the burden from state taxpayers to the many persons taking vacations in this state.

The sales tax's regressive featues happily have been modified by the 1976 exemption of food and drugs.

Besides, the division between the haves and the have nots has increased considerably during the recession. We believe those who have the ability to enjoy economic buying power should pay more in taxes.

Although the Economic Alliance for Michigan, a group of the state's business and labor movers and shakers, has endorsed Blanchard's plan, it also has recommended a sales tax plan.

BLANCHARD has leaned toward high-handedness in dealing with sales tax advocates. A sales tax increase would require a vote of the people to amend the state constitution. Because of the economic conditions, Blanchard says there isn't enough time to put it in place.

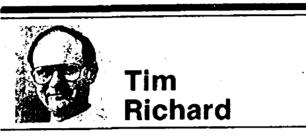

Michigan taxpayers have made it emphatic they want more of a say. We've survived the economic mess this long. We can survive until taxpayers express their wishes.

Those who advocate passing the income tax increase now and asking the people about a sales tax later are dabbling in political sophistry. Implementing an increased income tax now would certainly kill any chance a sales tax proposal would have in the future. WE ALSO QUESTION Blanchard's priorities in the $225 million of cuts he has proposed. His proposed educational cuts are distasteful and counterproductive to Michigan's economic recovery.

For this state to become economically viable once again, we need to retrain our present work force. We need to train the next generation for the next technologies in which this state must be proficient.

We need to develop research facilities and programs such as the Metropolitan High Technology Center at Wayne State University. This was established to attract research-oriented high technology firms in the state. The concept already is providing badly needed jobs and revenue.

Axing $60 million from the state's educational budget will abort such progressive attempts at economic recovery.

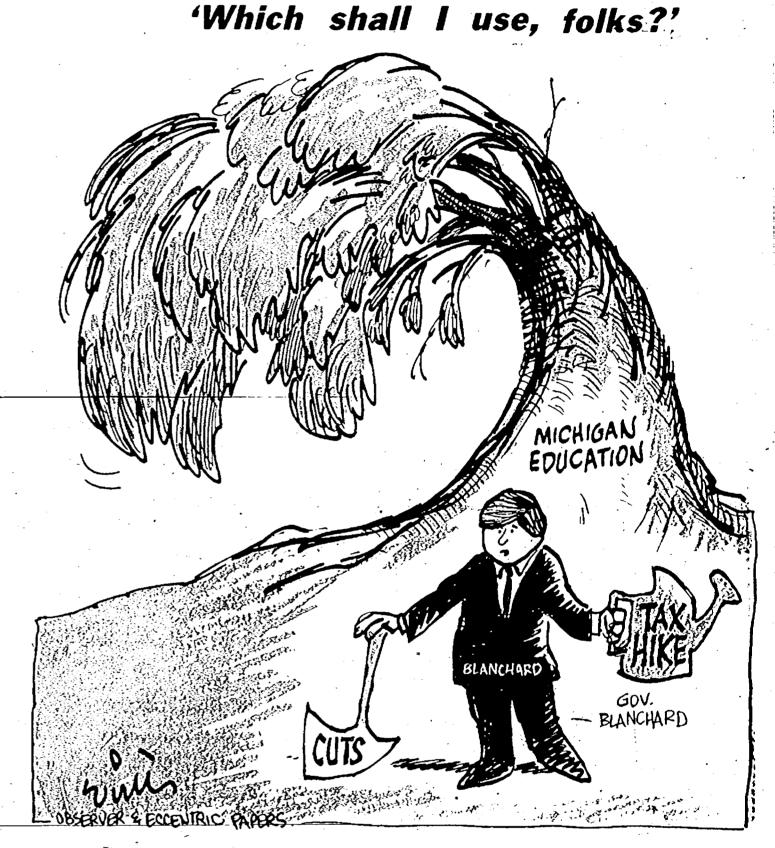

Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. He administered the Detroit House of Correction for Gribbs.

• William Lucas, Wayne County executive. As sheriff, Gribbs brought in Lucas from the Detroit FBI office, and Lucas succeeded him as sheriff when Gribbs became mayor. While Lucas has yet to prove himself as a leader and administrator, there is no doubt the public thinks well of him.

• Michael Glusac, vice president for public affairs of Chrysler Corp., former executive director of SEMCOG. He was Gribbs' corporation counsel (city attorney).

SO WHAT were Gribbs' guiding principles? I cornered him at a semi-social gathering recently. Of another mayor, Gribbs said, "With him, it's

THERE ARE some of the Gribbs Alumni Association:

• Phillip Jourdan, director of management and budget in Gov. Blanchard's administration, former chief of staff to Congressman William Brodhead. "He was my press secretary. I needed someone 24 hours a day, and there he was going to law school," Gribbs said with a laugh.

• Ron Thayer, director of personnel in Blanchard's office. Under Gribbs, he was secretary to the Health Commission, secretary to the Department of Transportation and a fund-raiser.

• Walt Stecher, budget director of the city of Detroit.

• John Amberger, executive director of the ministrative ability third.

"I put administrative ability first. I relied on friends for advice, but I also went out to 'head hunters.'

"I gave them (appointees) full authority to run their departments and just had them keep me advised of what they were doing."

Added Mike Glusac: "He didn't try to control every appointment of every inspector and lieutenant."

That Gribbs was less than 100 percent a partisan Democrat is attested to in his appointment of Louis Klei, a known Republican, to head a department. Coleman Young has kept Klei on board.

Glusac told how, in 1969, Mayor-elect Gribbs recruited him. "He called me and invited me to lunch ... I told him I had given $25 to Dick Austin, his opponent. "He said, 'I know.' "

Nystrom's fees, tactics are target

DENNIS NYSTROM, who is Wayne County Executive William Lucas' acting chief of staff, is well on his way to becoming the county's most controversial political figure.

In a government dominated by Democrats and labor, Nystrom stands out like an investment banker at a UAW rally.

Nystrom is a successful attorney with a law firm in Southfield, a Bloomfield Township resident and a staunch Republican who was active in the political campaigns of such Republicans as former U.S. Senafor Robert Griffin and, for a time, gubernatorial candidate Richard Headlee.

Then what is he doing holding the second-most powerful job, if not the first, in county government? That's what a host of county politicos would like to know.

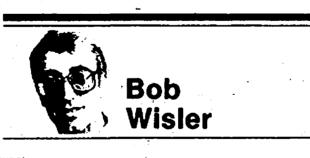

Various Democrats in high standing have put pressure on Lucas to dump Nystrom, but Lucas, who admires Nystrom's abilities as an idea man, program developer and administrator, has resisted steadfastly. Nystrom, who ran Lucas' campaign for seconty executive, says he admires Lucas and is willing to slight his law practice to help Lucas reform Wayne County government.

BUT NYSTROM has managed in the two months since Lucas took office to alienate a host of county political figures, and his standing with the County Commission is about as high as that of Herve Villechaize.

Lucas, who handily won six Wayne County elections as a Democrat (four as county sheriff), attended the Democratic state convention last weekend and was politely snubbed by major party figures.

A big reason: Nystrom's political status is anathema to Democratic party regulars.

Union chiefs, especially, are unhappy with the idea of a budget-cutting Republican commander marching their troops out of jobs.

There are also complaints that Nystrom is abrasive and uses tactics better suited for courtroom jousting than political negotiating.

A MAJOR SORE point is Nystrom's renumeration as Lucas' chief of staff. Nystrom is working on a contractural basis rather than for an employee's salary and terms of the arrangement have so far been kept secret.

A number of estimators think this means he is working on an hourly attorney's-fee basis which equates to $100,000 a year or better. Nystrom came to the Lucas camp after representing the Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies Association, and then the association and Lucas, in court battles with the county board over the size of the sheriff's road patrol.

Lucas, the deputies and Nystrom lost last year. Nystrom's $256,000 fee has not been paid. Lucas has asked county commissioners to pay the bill out of county funds, but commissioners have so far stalled. Nystrom has been talking about salary concesssions and layoffs, but the unions are already pointing to Nystrom's financial arrangment and saying there is no equal sacrifice in the executive's inner circle.

When the figure for the current contractural arrangment finally becomes public, it is liable to be up there in the same attorney-fee strata, which will create a new clamor.

The odds are that shooting at Nystrom has just begun. Whether Nystrom will want to remain in the circle of wagons remains to be seen. He may decide to return full-time to his law practice before the controversy over his job becomes noisier and more public.

TV's gift: uneducated millionaires

WHAT A WONDERFUL thing it has been to sit back on your favorite chair and watch the top football games of the country or have the Detroit Tigers play right in your own home.

And how wonderful it has been to start the New Year right by watching the famous Rose Parade strut across your living room and the biggest college game of the year being waged within arm's length.

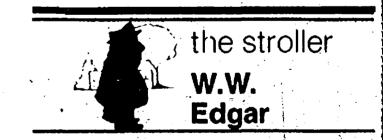

Sure, these things have been wonderful, and little thought has been given through the years that the same television that is providing so much free entertainment is also starting to create a lot of harm.

This has come to light in the past several weeks as the United States Football League - a loop that hasn't played a game - wages a war of dollars to sign players.

THE REAL THREAT came the other day when it was learned that the Jersey City team in the new league has signed — and guaranteed — $16.5 million over five years to Herschel Walker, the Helsman Trophy winner from the University of Georgia. Walker has another year to go to earn his degree from the University of Georgia. To top it off, Walker was paid, so it was stated, $1.5 million for agreeing to leave school and sign the contract.

That means he will be paid more than $3 million a year for carrying a football, compared to the $200,000 that is paid the president of the United States for carrying the burden of our government.

To make matters worse, Walker couldn't have attained his high ranking if there had not been linemen in front of him to open holes through which he could race with the football.

WHERE IS ALL the money coming from to pay these high salaries to athletes? Surely not from paid admissions. Sellout crowds in every stadium could not come close to paying the bill.

The answer is that television is taking over sports spectaculars.

Several years ago, the TV folks startled the sports world by paying each team in the National Football League $1 million each season. That figure has grown, so it is said, to $15 million a season.

And mind you, that is with "free" television.

Now that cable television serves many more homes, the time has come when these stations will take over the bonanza paid each team. And where will most of that money come from? It will come from the customers of cable companies who will be asked to pay a monthly rate for the privilege of watching the sports events — and other entertainment — at home.

THAT MAY NOT be too bad. But where the harm is being done is taking these young fellows out of college before their graduations'. Sure, they are making millionaires out of the stars, but without an education.

What's more, they are removing the athletes from such world events as the Olympic Games and giving them the riches that seemingly are unearned.

Another thing to ponder: How do these bloated salaries affect the ranks of the unemployed and those who stand in line to pick up a package of cheese or a few loaves of bread at the welfare center?

It is bringing some unrest in the country, and the television we thought was so great is to blame for it. Is it worth it?

Surprise! New energy chief is friend of solar

By Penny Wright special writer

A new boss at the top always sends stress signals through the system. So it is with Donald Hodel, the new secretary of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), who jokingly refers to himself as the "last male appointee to Reagan's Cabinet."

Since assuming the post last December, Hodel has given few public indications of what his leadership of the Department of Energy will mean.

Hodel was in Detroit recently to give the keynote address at the Michigan Republican Convention. In an exclusive interview, Hodel gave a look at the course he is setting.

The surprise is that in an administration known as a friend of oil, Hodel is a strong advocate of conservation and renewable energy technologies.

Unlike his predecessor, dentist James Edwards, Hodel is no stranger to energy issues. The attorney from Oregon has held key positions in the energy sector for 15 years, including a fiveyear stint as administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration in Oregon. Before assuming the DOE job, revised national consensus on energy policy, Excerpts:

Q. The DOE budget seems to be tilted in favor of the nuclear industry, with little or no funding for conservation and renewable energies. Do you agree?

A. That's not correct. When I came on board, I found a 1984 budget that was 95 percent out of the station. I realized that we needed to do more in conservation and renewables than we had been proposing.

So we increased by 41/3 times our proposal for 1984 over what we had proposed in 1983. We went from $22 million to $102 million in conservation. In solar and renewables we went from $74 million to $102 million. The preception is that we are hostile to these energy options. I am trying hard to turn it.

Q. How are you planning to do this?

A. I've asked the director of SERI (Solar Energy Research Institute) to give me a back-of-an-envelope analysis - I don't want a fancy analysis yet -of what it would take in terms of capital and operating expenses to turn SERI into a real national solar lab, so that in five to 10 years we could expect to be in the forefront of solar technolo-RY.

I have, in the same spirit, asked the conservation and renewables assistant secretary to give me a list of options what we can do to highlight the importance of conservation and renewable activity.

Also I have met with a lot of environmental groups and asked them for options.

Q. What about the nuclear side of the budget picture?

A. Our budget, with $848 million for nuclear this year, is a 1-percent increase over last year's request. Twobundred-seventy million dollars is for the Clinch River Breeder reactor.

In March, I have to go back to Congress with a proposal as to how we are going to get that off the federal funding role. If I'm successful, we will see a significant drop in the amount of funding we spend on nuclear.

Q. Does this indicate a change in policy for the DOE?

A. I think this is an important trend, a shift in the role of the department -more toward a scientific and technological orientation. I think that's the role it ought to play.

I was out at the Fermi Lab - fascinating experience. They are working on technology transfer, how to move the technology into industry so that jobs and economic activity is created. These are the areas I think the department can move into most effectively.

Q. It sounds like federal involvement in determining energy policy will diminish.

A. I do not believe it is possible, and I don't believe it is proper, for a federal department to try to tell the American people what to pay, when to pay, or how much to buy of any particular energy source.

That market out there is so much more complex than you would believe, and when we have tried to control it, we have screwed up enormously. We must let the market work.

Q. How "free" do you propose the market should be?

A. The free market extends to all energy forms, which means letting even nuclear stand on its own feet.

One of the things we have in our budget is Clinch River as a demonstration project. Now I say we can't afford to buy demonstration projects anymore.

Q. Our domestic energy industries fear that the technical leadership they currently enjoy will be eroded without federal support.

A. There may be a risk of that. I get that argument from the nuclear people, breeder people, and the coal and fusion industry. It would take an enormous volume of money to try to do all those things.

I think what is important is that we continue the tax incentives and keep reminding ourselves that the iniative and flexibility that has come out of this country in the technical areas is astonisbing. The $80 billion that is sent on research each year in the United States offsets the combined total spent by the rest of the free world.

Q. Has Washington given any thought to the plight of a state like Michigan, which is currently importing 87 percent of its energy?

(P.C.R-15A,W,G-13A)*17A

A. In a broad context, yes. We are trying to see to it that you have a wider array of options, including conservation and renewables. We are not inclined to meddle in the market.

The reality is that Michigan has been a tremendous industrial producer, and the income from exporting products to other states has in the past more than compensated for the import of energy.

I come from an energy-deficient state. The state of Oregon is a net importer of energy. When the building industry went on the skids in the late 1970s, the state had trouble paying its ... energy bills. The fact is the market was not working well.

In the long ran Oregon was better having flexibility than having the iron hand of government coming into the situation.

FUNNY THING happened to Rudy Fedus on the way to Peru 27 years ago. He got hooked on the place

- cannibals, chiggers, monkey meat and all.

A Livonia resident, Fedus is probably best remembered for his work at Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills and Greenmead, Livonia's historical site.

He was once referred to in an Observer newspaper story as "a man for all soils" because of his horticultural accomplishments that include the restoration of the Cranbrook rock gardens _ spot of dry land along the Amazon Rivafter a decade of neglect.

But few people know about of his adventures in the wilds of Peru where some of his favorite friends are cannibals and where he works with the Seventh Day Church missionaries in trying to make life a little better for the Peruvian Indians in general.

In the 27 years he's been making the trek - on his own - Fedus has observed that life for the villagers who eke out a living wherever there is a er has changed very little. They still work very hard for yery little, scratching at land with ancient tools, existing mainly on a diet of fish and ravaged by disease due to the lack of medical facilities.

SO WHAT'S A nice, gentle guy like

Rudy Fedus doing in a wild place like that? Helping people, that's what.

Every January, Fedus tries to work a little special magic - sometimes by sleight of hand in magic tricks he does to bring smiles to their solemn, weatherbeaten faces or in the form of good works he performs with the Seventh Day Adventist missionaries who operate from a small settlement in Pucallpa on the Ucayall River, about an hour by plane from Lima or 24 hours by bus. Fedus is not a member of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination. He fell in with them by chance in the third of his annual "vacations." He said he was drawn to them by the humanitarian acts they perform "without any ballyhoo or fanfare." "They are sincere people who don't like frills," he said. And they steer clear of politics. All this fits Fedus to a tee.

The result has been a strong friendship and admiration on both sides.

The missionaries look forward to Fedus' arrival, and the "special" projects begin. Usually it starts with Fedus overhauling the mechanical equipment on the air base. Then he moves on to whatever else needs to be done.

THIS YEAR, ONE of the requests was for 28 chairs for the school the missionary group hopes to establish.

"There were 10 pieces to each chair," Fedus smiled in between puffs on an ever-present pipe. "For awhile there, it looked like an American production line." He did all the work himself except for an occasional hand from some native boys.

The missionaries aren't the only ones who are glad to see Fedus come. The Indians - who have nicknamed him "Dolpho" are just as glad.

In fact, it doesn't take very long after the word comes down the river that the "giant in the red bandana" has arrived before plans for a celebration be-medical team Fedus helps while in Peru.

It probably should be noted here that one of Fedus' personal trademarks is the black wool beret he wears at all times - regardless of the occasion. For his trips to Peru, he wears it as far as Lima where he then stashes it and switches to a red bandana. He usually gives the bandana away before he leaves.

FEDUS OFTEN uses the celebration to pass out trinkets and gifts he collects in between visits and to perform feats of magic - like bending a set of iron bars. It's a ritual the natives have come to expect.

Children's and St. John's Hospital. Upon his arrival in the U.S. last Thursday, Maged underwent treatment for an infection before he was released to

But Tuesday, he was ready for his first fitting at a Highland Park-firm which is donating the artificial limb to Maged. Meanwhile, he uses crutches to get around.

The Ramlawis volunteered last July to take one of four students who came to Detroit after hearing an eyewitness account of what happened in Beirut at a meeting sponsored by the Islamic Center of Detroit at the mosque they attend.

A six-bedroom, two-story colonial can easily accommodate the family plus their guest, who has his own bedroom during his stay in the U.S.

With a big family, Aisha Ramlawi is used to commotion. But she's also busy in a couple of other areas. For one thing, she's an Avon group sales leader. With four of her daughters in Girl Scouts, she's also neighborhood service unit director and knee-deep in plans for a multi-troop "fly-up" ceremony in May at the City Hall.

Her husband is an 18-year employee of Kroger Co. where he is a meat cutter.

The tempo has slowed a bit for the slim, curly-haired Maged who speaks IN DETROIT those facilities were fluent French in addition to his native Arabic. A Boy Scout, Maged, ironically, is qualified to teach first aid but was unable to do very much for himself at the time of the accident.

IN THE SHORT time he's been with the family, he and the Ramlawis' 17year-old son Mike have become fast friends.

The problem now is that there isn't much for Maged to do while Mike is in school or later when he goes off to his job. The family hopes to set up some side trips for the youth while he's with them. They're open to offers to visit such places as the Hygrade plant in Livonia. They would particularly like to wangle an invite for him to view the Awrey Bakeries operation because the youth's father owned several bakeries in Beirut before they were destroyed in the bombings:

But while it is quiet when the Ramlawls are in school - four of them at Kennedy elementary, one in junior high and two at Churchill High School things do pick up the minute they hit the front door at school's end.

Maged smiles at the chattering youngsters. It's just like home, he said in Arabic. There are nine children in his family.

And like most typical teenagers, he tunes them out by listening to his favorite rock group. His happens to be Fleetwood Mac.

You have to see Aisha Ramlawi with her seven kids to understand why she and her husband Ribhi were so quick in volunteering to take a teenage survivor of the war in Lebanon into their Livonia home while he awaits an artificial limb.

Their interactions show there's plenty of love and happiness to spare in this bubbly Arabic family - and certainly more than enough to share with "one of their own."

It is in this setting of warmth and love that 17-year-old Maged Khrayes has temporarily settled while he waits to be fitted with an artificial leg.

It was Maged's misfortune to lose his left leg when he stepped on a land mine while walking in the woods near his Beirut home on Sept. 9 during the Israeli bombing. Trips become good will mission

"They laugh," Fedus said. "And that's something you seldom see. But then, they don't have much to laugh about. It's is a hard, lonely life."

The celebration this year had special significance for Fedus. It gave the opportunity for a reunion with a old-time friend - a cannibal chief whose son's life Fedus had a part in saving several years ago.

The youth was dying of a jungle malady, and Fedus arranged to have him flown to a nearby hospital. That incident has endeared him to many of the Indians who have heard the story and now regard him a good friend.

Medical emergencies make a big part of his adventures, Fedus said. While the missionaries do most of the actual work, once in awhile he is called upon to help. One of those times came when the missionary team was operating a floating medical clinic, visiting the tiny riverfront villages. Their main purpose this trip was extracting teeth.

ON THE EXPEDITIONS, Fedus usually piloted the craft. But one of the trips he was pressed into service unexpectedly when the doctor was unable to continue with the extractions because of a severe arthritic attack.

"His wife told me I better watch her because I was going to have to take over," he recalled.

,"I wound up pulling 15 teeth," he said.

What brought him to Peru in the first place, he said, was an account in Holiday magazine back in 1956 that told of American Henry Meiggs' struggle with the construction of the TransAndean railroad in which 1,000 lives were lost. The sheer thought of a trip that begins at sea level and goes to 16,000 feet above in the space 85 miles was intriguing.

"I decided to go to see it," said Fedus. And two decades "it's still the most fascinating trip I know" because of its ruggedness and beauty, not to mention the dangers. The trip by bus is also considerably

Fedus will discuss this year's trip to Peru at two garden club meetings. The first will be at a "men's night" meeting of the Livonia Branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Club 8 p.m. Tuesday, March 15, at the Fire Station Senior Citizens Center, Farmington and Plymouth roads in Livonia. The meeting is open to the public. He will also be quest speaker at the Livonia Home Gardeners meeting March 9 at Bentley High School.

shorter, he noted. Where it once took 21/2 days to cover the 500 miles, it now takes 24 hours.

Fedus travels light in the clothing department for his month's stay in the warm, humid villages that dot the Amazon and where chiggers can make life unbearable. He prefers to use his air space allotment for tools and costume jewelry (this trip it was 50 pounds). Before teaming up with the missionaries, he used to bring over-the-counter medicine donated by a doctor/friend. He quit because the medical teams have a good source of their own.

This trip the missionaries used his special expertise in gardening and asked him to create a garden area for them.

THE REQUEST came from Dale and Pat Derkson, who operate a small medical clinic about 180 miles from Pucallpa.

The 74-year-old Fedus managed to clear a path in the dense forest and established two raised garden areas 30 by 4 feet where. the Derksons will attempt to raise some vegetables in an ongoing effort to be selfsufficient. That's if the river cooperates and doesn't flood too much. This year, for instance, Fedus said the river raised six feet in one night.

The weather is bad enough but now politics, he said, are worse for the Peruvians and the people trying to help them.

"No one knows from one day to the next what's going to happen," he said. "Now the president is in and the military junta is out. It's played havoc with such institutions as the Amazonas Hospital that once was the South American Albert Schweitzer Hospital. It now is under the control of the government, and the result is that there are no government doctors in the jungle while 4,000 of them sit idle in Lima."

"Apparently they feel it is too lonely and there's no reward or no money," he continued.

The gap is being filled by the various missionary groups who are in the country.

EATING THE FOOD offered by the various tribal chleftains was a bit troublesome in the beginning, Fedus said.

"We were told to eat whatever was offered because they were offering us their finest," he said.

Sometimes that was smoked monkey (pretty good) or wild boar (delicious). His favorite fish was the paiche, a "bottom feeder."

The worse time he had was trying to get down the live grubs that were offered to him by a cannibal chief.

He managed somehow but passed when seconds were offered. He does have some Alka Seltzer in his travel bag.

Conversation needed to keep wisdom alive

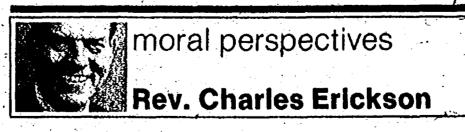

During an intense experience someone will say, "I could write a book." Despite electronic communication we still want printed words to convey what we feel is important. We respect experience which reveals enough wisdom to merit printing.

In any waiting room most people are reading. It is the popular leisure activity. We regard someone as an expert if their writing is published.

Our president declares this a "Year of the Bible" in a pluralistic nation with yast numbers of citizens who do not regard it as a holy book.

Those who do revere the Bible are splintered by differing interpretations. Most divisiveness in religion is rooted In clashes over Holy Word.

WHAT IS going on? Why do we hold writing in such high regard and yet have our most vigorous disagreements about the meaning of books? I offer two hunches with consequences in each. Hasty repartee cheapens life. Oral communication in face-to-face relationships is essential to be fully human.

But most of our conversations are merely exchanging quick retorts.

We retreat from disturbing interchanges into the safety of being alone with a book. Evading essential communication points to a need to change hab-

It is morally imperative to exchange ideas with each other. Ideas from books are needed. We must develop listening skills. Printed words are merely aids to grow beyond confusing smart remarks with truth. Wisdom is the property of people who keep it alive in high-quality conversation.

A second hunch is that we confuse information with wisdom. We give too much reverence to printed words. Something is not automatically true just because it is printed.

WISDOM HAS an ingredient of personal spirit. It is understanding reached in serious discussion of great ideas and real problems. Meaning is developed as personal tones and nonverbal nuances bring ideas to life.

Truth is simply common sense. Great literature was created with more oral communication and interpersonal experience than we will ever know. Thinkers share ideas to distill wisdom from the experiences of the day.

We are stimulated and guided by people who probe for practicality and consequences as they discuss questions. Ordinary and common concerns of people are the topic of conversations mon sense.

which produce moral conclusions and great literature. The essence of wisdom is relating eternal truth to daily decisions.

Society changes because of where we focus respect. Improvements come from respecting people. Respect for life is participating in active discussion in the quest for living truth. A few changes over many centuries make the point.

INFANTICIDE is virtually wiped out, not by laws, but by respecting the dignity of each life. Disrespect for women isn't legal, but women's rights advance as people in polite company no longer sneer about an inferior sex.

Violence and the criminal fustice system are increasingly examined with some humanitarian impulses. We have the sense to at least blush if someone talks about proverty and disease by blaming victims. We have the grace to be ashamed in the presence of cruelty.

Humanity has increased in wisdom in these examples, and we have more growing to do. Progress hinges on com-

Spartan balance beats Churchill; WLAA final set

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What's been anticipated and expected for the past four weeks became reality Tuesday night.

Livonia Stevenson pressured Livonia Churchill into enough mistakes to build a 15-point bulge and eventually wear out the Chargers, 53-43, in a Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) tournament semifinal at Churchill.

The win set up a showdown between the two powerhouses of the WLAA, Stevenson and Salem, in the tourney finals. Salem advanced by virtue of a 63-47 victory over Northville at Salem Tuesday.

The "Final Conflict" starts at 2:45 p.m. Saturday at Salem. Both teams boast identical league and overall records (12-1 and 17-2). Their only league losses came against each other - Stevenson beat Salem at Salem, 49-48, Jan. 7, and Salem topped the Spartans at Stevenson, 55-50, Feb. 3.

"(BOB) BLOHM HAS been in our gym more than his own," said Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner after the Churchill contest. Blohm scouts opponents for Salem coach Fred Thomann.

After the game at Stevenson Jan. 7, Thomann predicted the two teams would meet in the WLAA finals. Van Wagoner, too, is looking forward to playing the final game in what has become a best-of-three series.

"We'll do some things differently," the Stevenson coach promised. "We're going to show up and try hard to do it."

Against Churchill Tuesday, the Sparans did it with ease, holding the lead from the first quarter on. Craig Hunter pulled the Chargers to within a point (13-12) with a pair of free throws early in the second quarter.

After that the Spartans took control. A 10-0 scoring spree, triggered by Gary Mexicotte's five points and Bob Sluka's four, sent Stevenson in front by 11 with 3:41 left in the half.

CHURCHILL NARROWED it to nine (27-18) at the intermission and got to within six (35-29) on Dave Riley's bucket with 1:51 to go in the third quarter.

But, once again, Stevenson supplied the answer to the Charger challenge as Pete Rose hit the final basket of the third quarter and Curt Ullstrom scored the first four points of the fourth to refurnish the Spartans with a 12-point margin, 41-29.

"We capitalized on their mistakes somewhat," said Van Wagoner. "We forced them to play from end-to-end.

"That's what you got to do with them – play a full-court game."

Stevenson's full-court pressure forced the Chargers to commit 15 turnovers in the final three quarters. Stevenson was guilty of 13 miscues in that span.

Mexicotte finished with 13 points to lead a trio of Spartans in double figures. Ullstrom ended with 11 and Tom Domako and Rose had 10 apiece.

John Merner's 13 markers topped Churchill, now 11-8 overall. Hunter 110

Victories there would propel the two into the Detroit-area finals Saturday, March 12, at Oakland Community College - one step away from the Nationals March 19-20 in Albuquerque.

The LBC sent two boxers to the national tournament last year - highly rated super-heavyweight Craig Payne and light-heavyweight Rick Londberg.

DARDINI, a 19-year-old from Farmington, has been impressive in just three years of competitive boxing.

In the 119-pound class, Dardini won the Novice Gloves title last year and was runner-up the year before. His opponent Saturday is Antoine Bell of Martin's Boxing Club.

"First I'd like to make it to Albuquerque and then I'd like to go to . "He has a good chance," he said. and they tell you only once."

after I fought at the Ohio State Fair. "They think I have the potential to go the Nationals."

Swift's road to Albuquerque is going to be treacherous. He faces John Baker in his first-round test and may wind up facing Kronk's Frank Tate, a finalist last December in the U.S. Amateur Boxing Championships.

"TATE'S RANKED No. 5 in the U.S., and he should be higher," Swift said of his potential opponent. "He's very good, and he's had over 100 fights.

Soucy, however, likes Swift's chances.

"He really trains," the LBC coach said. "He takes it seriously.

"Matt hits so hard that he's been injury-prone. He hurt his hand, but it's healed and ready to go." * pace by doing extra wind-sprints

"It helps me because I'm shorter. I like cut off the ring because if I don't, I'll eat a lot of jabs."

Dardini, who wrestled and played baseball as a youngster, said he got into boxing "probably because I wanted to get into shape.

"I got a lot of jokes about it (boxing) at first," he said. "My parents don't go much for it, but as long as I win, they don't say much."

The Farmington High School grad is thankful he stumbled upon the LBC at the Jackson Community Center.

"I HAD a hard time finding a club," Dardini said. "But I heard that Paul and Dick were good coaches, so I went over to Livonia.

Garden City tried on off-speed attack, but the powerful Spartans were up to the task.

"Johna Gambotto, Julie Burton and Mary Wood all played nice offensive games," said Borgess coach Jerry Abraham. "And Megan McCarthy set up many of their points.

"And defensively, Carol Evans and Colleen McDonald did a fine job."

In the second game Borgess trailed 4-1, but that's when junior Nancy Rzepka served up a string of 14 consecutive points to win the match.

On Saturday, Borgess won the Operation-Friendship championship against host Detroit Northwestern, the Public School League champion, 15-4, 15-7.

LIVONIA BENTLEY, meanwhile, closed out its Western Lakes season with a 15-12, 15-8 triumph Monday at Farmington.

The Bulldogs finished league play at 8-5.

It took Bentley eight tries to get game-point in the opening game. Beth Mailley came up with the winning serve.

In the second game, Farmington led 7-4, but Bentley rallied behind the serving of Patty Wang, who scored 11 points to close out the match."

"I'd like to recognize Sue Pozan," said Bentley coach Dana Hardwidge; "She's our only returning letter winner and she was a stable force on the court.

"Also, Sheri Wolfe (a sophomore) came up with six aces at the net."

Wrestling with new ethics

UCH A SIMPLE question, Eric. Why wouldn't you answer it?

Eric is Eric Kopsch, the wrestling coach at Southfield-Lathrup High School. He has an outstanding athlete in senior Chris Parent, a 138-pounder who'll be shooting for a state championship this weekend at the Class A finals at Lansing Eastern High School.

Parent, who has lost only three of his 52 matches this season, won a regional title and finished second in the district despite being hobbled by a severe ankle sprain suffered in an earlier tournament.

Parent wore a special bandage during the regional competition last weekend. His coach doesn't think he'll need it in the finals, however.

Just an idle question: Which ankle is hurting, coach?

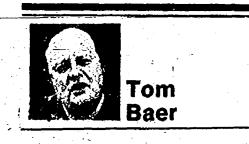

" But the coach wasn't saying, although he had plenty to say about why he wasn't saying.

"You don't reveal which ankle," said Kopsch, a disgusted tone creeping into his volce. "People (future opponents and their coaches) may read the article and shoot on that ankle. Some people out there still might not know which one is injured," Kopsch's concern stems from an incident he says happened at the district tournament two Saturdays ago at Troy High.

"Chris reinjured that ankle last week (in the district) because an (opponent's) coach had fire in his eyes and yelled, 'Grab it and hurt hlm!"

REMEMBERING THAT incident really got Kopsch going on ethics - or, more properly, the lack of ethics - in sports today.

"All these years in football, the rule in any league I've ever been in seems to be: Get the guy where he hurts. In hockey, it's the same thing: Hurt a guy.

"Where's he bandaged? Hurt him there. Put the quarterback out of the game and we'll win.

"Hey, we've lived on that philosophy for how many years now? It's gross. It's indecent. But it's what they're doing.

"I watched matches all day yesterday (last Saturday at the Hazel Park Regional). I watched people I've known for a long time. Their sons were wrestling. If there was a bandage on (an opponant's) arm, sometimes the father'd yell, 'Pull on his arm! Pull on his arm!'

"I just don't know what's happened to people."

Well, Eric, you could always plead insanity - theirs, not yours.

MAYBE IT WAS the words "girls basketball" which woke me from my 5 a.m. stupor Monday.

The old Sóny Digamatic had just clicked on and some woman was talking about her daughter's elementary school girls' basketball team.

The program was called "Point of View." It was the station's attempt to give John/-Jane Q. a chance to air his/her views over 50,000 watts, sort of an electronic letter to the editor.

The woman became concerned while witnessing the basketball game because most of the little girls, her daughter included, seemed to be exhausted after just one trip down the court.

An assistant principal had the answer: Because of money problems; all the physical education teachers had been fired. No phys-ed teachers, no phys-ed classes.

That's when the woman became upset. Fortunately, "Point of View" was rebroadcast at a more reasonable hour, and I. was able to copy her words.

"But we still have teachers," she said, presumably to the assistant principal. "Since all elementary teachers are required to have physical education as part of their training, I thought they should be teaching

"We are aware that fitness of the body has a great deal to do with learning and life. success in general.

"Schools which cannot afford a specialist still should have a planned physical education program, taught by teachers and principals - yes, even assistant principals, if necessary."

This statment was delivered in a tone of voice which said very clearly, "Don't give me any of your guff, you paper-pushing bureaucrat."

Well said, woman! That's my point of vlew, too.

Hope your words look as good in print as they sounded to me at 5 o'clock the other morning.

Bulldogs advance; Morse paces CC

By Paul King special writer

Paul Maderosian and John La-Duke each scored goals in the third period to break open a close game as Livonia Bentley advanced in the Class A regional hockey tournament with a 8-3 win over Livonia Franklin Tuesday night at Wyandotte's Yack Arena.

The Bulldogs now sport a 12-9-2 record. Franklin finished at 4-17-2. the worst in the school's history.

Maderosian, Dave Lentz, Mark Hennessy and Scott Smith accounted for the other Bentley goals.

Scott Williams tallied two Franklin goals, both coming in the second period as the Patriots pulled within one, 4-3. Jim Barnes added a firstperiod goal in a losing cause.

TRENTON 8

LIVONIA CHURCHILL 1 The Trojans ousted Churchill from the state tourney Monday night at Yack with a pair of second-

fending regional champ, is 13-7-3. CATHOLIC CENTRAL 0

WYANDOTTE ROOSEVELT 0 After a scoreless first period, CC got rolling behind two power-play goals from Dave Morse and the Shamrocks never looked back in a regional game played Tuesday at Yack.

Morse's goals came at 8:14 and 13:25 of the middle period to give CC a 2-1 advantage.

The Shamrocks then took control in the final period as Jeff Steffes, Joe Hamway, Scott Summers and Dan Michaels finished off the scoring.

Craig Sawicki scored one goal and added two assists for Roosevelt, which bowed out with a 10-10-2 overall record. CC, which outshot the hosts 53-18, upped its overall a goal and two assists.

3 Shamrocks, Forchione newly crowned

By C.J. Risak staff writer

A week ago, Plymouth Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger predicted that "the team that wins our regional will win the state."

Krueger based his assessment on the talent of the teams competing in the Trenton regional last weekend. And, if the Rock wrestling coach is accurate, the state Class A title tilt this weekend will be a hard-fought battle - just like the regional tournament.

The Class A tourney will be at Lansing Eastern High School. Six area mat teams will be represented in the Class A finals. Preliminaries begin at 10:45 a.m. Friday, with semifinals (10:45 a.m.) and finals (5 p.m.) slated for Saturday.

Prior to the regionals, Detroit Catholic Central, winner of the tough Temperance-Bedford district, seemed to have the inside track to the state title. That changed in the tight struggle at the Trenton regional tourney last weekend.

NO TEAM DOMINATED, but Temperance-Bedford, a long-time wrestling power, survived to capture team honors with 99% points. Wayne Memorial was close behind with 941/2. followed by CC with 80, Plymouth Salem with 601/2 and Westland John Glenn with 48.

Other local teams that will be represented at the state finals are Plymouth Canton, which finished 10th (27%), Livonia Bentley, which was 16th (1814), and Garden City, which tied for 17th (16).

CC and Salem will both send four wrestlers to the finals. John Glenn and Canton qualified three each, Bentley has two and Garden City one.

THE SHAMROCKS and Wayne, Memorial each crowned three regional champions. Temperance-Bedford had just one weight class winner, but placed eight wrestlers in the final four. The top four finishers in each weight division qualify for the state finals.

Mike Palajac got CC's first title, capturing the 112-pound class by outscoring Mike Budziak of Trenton, 10-4, in the finals. Enroute to the crown, Palajac sidelined a pair of local wrestlers, Canton's Todd Bartlett (5-0) and Bentley's Anwar Yaffal (7-0).

Bartlett finished fourth, losing in the consolation finals to Walled Lake Central's John Andrews, 7-1.

MIKE DIMANNO (145) pounded out a 16-3 decision over Glenn's Rob Raciocco in the finals for a second CC title. Canton's Marty Heaton, who lost to DiManno, 9-4, in the semifinals, took third with a 9-3 victory over Adam Siedlecki of Temperance-Bedford.

CC's Matt Readle rounded out the Shamrocks' trio of champions by claiming the 185 title with a 3-1 triumph over Jerry Curby of Ann Arbor Pioneer.

For Salem, John Beaudoin continued to prove that moving up a weight class would not hinder his quest for a secondstraight state championship. The defending 132 champ won two straight matches on pins, then rolled over North Farmington's Eric Collier, 21-4, in the 138 finals.

JOHN GLENN'S DON Forchione also claimed a title, romping over Ken Lucas of Dearborn Edsel Ford, 7-1, in the 155 finals. Forchione's biggest challenge enroute to the crown came in the semifinals against CC's Jeff Alcala. The Rocket wrestler earned a narrow 5-3 decision.

Alcala placed third when he pinned John Woochuk of Salem in the consolation finals.

Garden City's Kevin Richardson reached the heavyweight finals after besting Chris Sobbe of Milford, 8-4, and Bob Petties of Ann Arbor Pioneer, 10-3. In the finals, Richardson dropped a 4-1 decision to Doug Johnson of Ypsilanti.

BENTLEY'S PAUL DOULETTE and Glenn's Tom Gibson vied in the conso-. lation finals at 105. Gibson had beaten Doulette earlier in the tournament, 7-4. The Glenn matman was then sent to the consolation bracket by Doug Harper of Temperance-Bedford, 14-7. Gibson won the rematch with Doulette as well, 7-1.

Canton's Tim Collins was a 6-2 firstround loser to Temperance-Bedford's Roger Witaszek in the 126 class. Collins regrouped to place third, however, with a' 3-1 win over Dave Millitello of Walled Lake Western in the consolation finals SALEM'S TOM WALKLEY (198) also made it to the consolation finals and came out a winner, shutting out Doug Shepherd of Wayne Memorial, 7-0. Walkley dropped a 1-0 heartbreaker in the semifinals to Greg Milczuk of Edsel Ford.

The Rocks' Rick Vershave also made it to the state finals by placing fourth. Vershave lost in the 98 consolation finals to Dave Davis of Wayne Memorial, 10-2.

Bentley's Ab Yaffai also placed fourth, dropping a 4-2 decision to Cliff Perez of Adrian in the 119 consolation finals.

Gregory nets 25, but Borgess falters

Redford Bishop Borgess couldn't hold on to a four-point lead in the final minute Tuesday as Detroit De-Porres charged back for a 73-71 basketball victory.

The loss drops Borgess to 10-9 overall. DePorres, a Catholic League playoff qualifier, increased its record to 14-5.

"We were down 19 points twice and went ahead," said Borgess coach Mike Fusco. "Then we made some mental errors that really cost us the game."

The Spartans made three crucial turnovers and DePorres scored unanswered points in the decisive final minute.

Sophomore Joe Gregory continued to play well despite the loss. He tossed in 22 points. Gary Dziekan and Lewis Scott added 15 and 14, respectively.

Ben Morton, a 6-foot-7 junior, paced DePorres with 22.

On Saturday, Borgess whipped Pontiac Catholic 74-59 behind Scott's 22 points. Dziekan and Gregory chipped in with 14 apiece.

U-D HIGH 66

REDFORD ST. AGATHA 53 "We were very lax," said St. Agatha coach Joe Charnley. "We didn't play good defense and we didn't come ready to play."

That added up to a comfortable win Saturday for the Cubs, who coasted home after building a 40-19 halftime advantage.

basketball

Senior guard Marvin Evans scored 30 points and Adam Alexander contributed 16 for the winners.

Doug Haran paced Agatha with 15. Forward Joe White added 14 as the Aggies slipped to 7-11 overall.

TEMPLE CHRISTIAN 73 TAYLOR BAPTIST PK. 67

The Crusaders advanced to the semifinals of the Michigan Athletic Association of Christian-Schools (MAACS) tournament behind Don Simerly's 27 points.

The 6-7 junior center also had help Tuesday night from teammates Ed Stewert, 15 points; Tony Wardlaw, 14, and Gary Aldridge, 12. (The game was played at Allen Park Inter-City Christian).

Darrin Gaynier notched 16 to lead Taylor Baptist Park.

Temple, now 18-5 overall, will play Friday at Flint Faith Davison against an opponent yet to be determined. The finals are scheduled for Saturday in Flint.

In the quarterfinal game at Taylor, Temple routed Calvary Roseville, 73-37, using a 23-6 scoring outburst in the second quarter to put the game away.

Aldridge netted 17 points.

Grazulis towers in Glenn victory

An intense Westland John Glenn basketball team finished its Northwest Suburban League (NSL) season in style Tuesday, pulling away from North Farmington for a 74-56 triumph at North.

Five players reached double figures in the scoring column for the Rockets, whose record is now 13-6 overall including a finl mark of 6-4 in the NSL.

Paul Grazulis, a 6-8 senior center, poured in 21 to lead Glenn - but he had lots of help. Greg Gill added 13, Jeff Hawley had 12, Jack Walker tallied 11 and Mike Baydarian notched 10.

Mike Black's 17 was high for North, which fell to 8-11 overall and finished at 2-8 in the NSL.

Glenn was up by three after one quarter and six at the half (33-27). The Rockets' lead grew to nine after three periods (51-42).

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 71 SOUTH LYON 54

Livonia Franklin put away a pesky South Lyon squad with a 19-6 scoring surge in the third quarter Tuesday at Franklin.

All 12 players scored for the Patriots, who raised their record to 11-9 overall with their sixth straight victory. But it was Tim Carravallab's seven way it began and the way it played third-quarter points that ignited the win.

Carravallah ended with 13 to lead Franklin. Mike Johnson and John Mimnaugh contributed 10 apiece and Bob Stebbins pitched in eight. Mike Logan' led South Lyon (3-16) with 20 markers.

TRENTON 62 REDFORD UNION 44

RU finished the season Tuesday the throughout: on a losing note.

Jerry Whaley and Rod Scharboneau hit for 21 points apiece to spark Trenton (14-6). Rich Williams' 14 points topped RU. Pat Lowney and Keith Ruloff added eight aplece as the Panthers fell to 0-20.

. It was also the final regular season game for Bill Foley as RU coach.

Patriot swimmers host foes

Pat Garvey and Dennis Keller were instrumental in sweeping the freestyle events last week, as Livonia Franklin dunked Redford Thurston in a Northwest Suburban League (NSL) swim meet, 70-57.

The Patriots concluded their NSL dual season with a 3-2 league record (4-8 overall). North Farmington was first at 5-0 followed by Westland John Glenn (4-1), Franklin, Thurston (2-3), Garden City (1-4) and Redford Union (0-5).

The NSL meet will be held at 4 p.m. today at Franklin, leading off with diving followed by the finals at approximately 6:30.

Against Thurston, Garvey was victorious in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events with times of 1:57.9 and 5:15.7. Keller won the 50 and 100 freestyles in 23.4 and 51.5, respectively.

The Patriots standouts then teamed up with Brent Madigan and Jim Wasko to win the 400 freestyle relay in 3:40.0.

Other Franklin individual winners included Glynn Scanlon in the 100 butterfly (1:03.4) and Randy Lotero in the 100 backstroke (1:05.4).

Thurston collected four first-place finishes: 200

From casual to elegant Every cruise ship offers an ambiance all its own

CRUISE SHIP is a sensory experience. The taste of food. The rattle of slot machines. The feel of the hot Caribbean sun against your skin as you bake beside the pool. The sight of seagulls circling against island shores.

That's what we're all doing here, at sea aboard the cruise ship Mardi Gras, enjoying the sights and smells of another world, but something else creeps up on you as the week goes by. People.

There's Manuel from Honduras, and Louis from Haiti, who serve us 10 courses at breakfast, lunch and dinner every day, pamper us with special orders and even dance around the dining room holding flaming desserts aloft when the theme of the day requires it.

Both Manuel and Louis have wives and families at home. They sail these ships, pampering a new set of tourists every week, because they can earn more money afloat than at home.

There's Cruise Director Gary-Hunter and his cast of characters: Kiki, Buford, Doug, Andy, Dale, who organize silly games during the day, a bingo party every evening, and a different show twice every night in the Grand Ballroom. You'll find one of them performing after midnight every night in the Point After Club and later winding down in the disco.

Your table mates are the same at every meal, so after a while you have a family growing around the soup and the pate, the fish and seafood, the meats and pies and flaming desserts.

Whether or not you play together during the day, you take your table mates home with you in the pictures you paste in your album, and you write to them every Christmas until you can't remember which one was which.

TRAVELERS PICK a cruise ship for its ambiance and its ports of call. The Mardi Gras is the oldest of the Carnival Lines, known as the "fun ships" because they cater to a casual crowd. This is the old Canadian Pacific Steamship Lines cruiser the Empress of Canada, renovated 10 years ago.

It has the larger cabins, polished wood and brass of an older ship; of course it also lacks the luster of a new ship. The newest ship on the Carnival line, the Tropicale, has all that new luster and none of the old glow, so you take your pick.

The Mardi Gras sails out of Miami every Sunday afternoon at 4; there are three days at sea and three days in port. The ports are Cozumel, on the gulf coast of Mexico; Georgetown on Grand Cayman Island; and Ocho Rios, Jamaica.

Cruising veterans know that every cruise ship has its own ambiance and caters to its own crowd. The Mardi Gras is for the traveler who doesn't want to dress up for dinner. Those who like tuxedos and glamor choose other ships. It's casual, although some people find life aboard a little more structured than they want it to be.

Industry experts will tell you, however, that only 3 percent of Americans have ever taken a cruise. Most of us are exploring an entirely new way of spending a vacation. Here is a typical day;

The daily newsletter is under your door when you wake up. If you hung your card on the doorknob the night before, your cabin steward will bring you breakfast. Otherwise you must choose between all those fattening courses in the Flamingo Dining Room, or eat with your feet up from the Seaview Snack Bar on deck.

What time you go to breakfast depends on whether you chose the early or late sitting when you came aboard. That is certainly the most important decision of the week, because a 7:45 a.m. breakfast, a noon lunch and a 6 p.m. dinner give your day a different rhythm than meals eaten at 9 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 8 p.m.

After all this heavy early-morning decision making - "should I have eggs, pancakes, crepes, omelets, or all four?" - most people spread their bikini'd and lotioned bodies on deck chairs around the small pool forward, the deck bar that overlooks the pool or the sundeck that overlooks both.

During days at sea, some people don't leave the lounge chairs until dinnertime. You can eat hamburgers on deck any day you like instead of shrimp, quiche, pate, steak and all that fattening stuff in the dining room.

During shore days, the launches leave early for optional tours or late for those who want to wander on their own. Most people return for dinner, and a rattle-and-spin through the gambling rooms before settling down to floor shows and late-night activities

If its the last day aboard, on any cruise ship, its tipping time: usually $2 per person per day for the waiter, $1 for the bus boy, $2 for the cabin steward, plus anything you are inclined to give to the maitre d's or the wine steward. Figure $50 each per week, tops. Tips, drinks, gambling, optional tours and shopping are your only expenses. Everything else aboard a cruise ship is free.

Off-season cruise rates start soon

Off-season runs from April to December in the cruise business. Spring and fall offer good weather at savings off-season rates on the four Carnival Line ships range from $860 for an inside cabin with upper-lower bunks to $1,205 for an outside cabin with twin beds on an upper deck to $1,595 for a verandah suite.

Mazatlan and Cabo San Lucas.

Fielding's Worldwide Guide to Cruises. The Sagafjord was voted cruise ship.of the year by the World Ocean and Cruise Liner Society.

The brand-new Nieuw Amsterdam from Holland America will make its maiden voyage from Le Havre, France, to New York City, May 15-23, rates $2,085 to $3,385 per person, inhagen to New York. You also can cruise to Russia.

The most important financial information for your consideration: It's a buyer's market, because the lines have introduced large new ships into a recession period. Check your travel agent for fly-cruise or other money-saving ways to sail.

Finally, watch for Ethel Blum's new book, "The Total Traveler by Ship," available after April 25 from bookstores, Hipporcrene Books Inc., New York, or by mail from Travel Publications Inc. One Lincoln Road No. 214, Miami Florida 33139 ($12.95 plus $1 postage).
