Defense to begin testimony in trial of district judge

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

Eighteenth District Judge Evan Callanan Sr. told FBI agents in May 1982 that no one had asked his help on any case or attempted to bribe him, nor was he aware of any corrupt practices in the district court, an agent testified Tuesday in U.S. District Court.

The judge, the judge's son, Evan Callanan Jr., Richard Debs, president of UAW Local 1778, and Sam Qaoud, a Dearborn Heights businessman, are charged with case-fixing in the 18th District Court.

Their trial is now in its fifth week of testimony before Judge Horace Gilmore. Attorneys for the defense are expected to begin their presentations when the trial resumes Thursday.

FBI special agent Hugh Ruesaegeger told the court he and another FBI agent interviewed Callanan Sr. in the judge's chambers May 7, 1982, about a case involving James Sires. Sires was charged with felonious assault and larceny from a building.

THE JUDGE said Sires was alone when Sires appeared before him April 30, 1982, Ruesaegeger testified. The judge said he released Sires on personal recognizance bond because he appeared in court voluntarily, and scheduled another appearance for May 10, Ruesaegeger said.

Callanan Sr. said he called Westland police Sgt. Robert Barthold to see if Sires' larceny charge was really a shoplifting charge, the agent testified.

The government charges that Callanan Sr. said he would recall Sires' warrant, put him on personal bond and try to change the charge to a misdemeanor after the judge allegedly was paid $1,500.

FBI special agent Jerome Cox posed as Sires and appeared in Callanan's court.

Also in the May 7 interview, the judge mentioned an instance in which court and police files of a case were missing and had to be reconstructed, and said he launched an investigation into the matter, Ruesaegeger testified.

Also this week, attorneys for the prosecution presented court logs and recordings of Callanan Sr. and 18th District Judge Thomas Smith from October 1980 that contained no reference of the case of Hussein Makki, charged with selling alcohol to a minor.

The government contends that Makki's case was one of those allegedly fixed by the defendants.

FBI AGENTS testified that Westland police provided a drunk driving case for the government's investigation. The case, involving a man named Karel Golob, is another of the alleged fixed cases. An FBI special agent posed as Golob's brother-in-law and paid Qaoud $500 to fix the case, the government charges.

The Golob case was used by the FBI because it was more than two or three years old, lessening the risk of the actual suspect going into court, and didn't endanger anyone's safety, FBI special agent Gene Ward told the court.

Carl Ranno, Qaoud's defense attorney, countered in cross examination Tuesday that cases such as Golob's and Makki's were usually dismissed in the 18th District Court. Golob's case was seven years old and Makki's was a first-time liquor violation, Ranno said.

Cox testified Monday that government witness Hanna Judeh accompanied him when he posed as Sires in Callanan Sr.'s court. Judeh allegedly paid the judge $1,500 for Sires' case.

Judeh told Cox to wait in the lobby while he entered a door marked Judge Callanan, Cox testified. Judeh came out approximately 10 minutes later and told Cox to plead guilty, Cox told the court.

COX AND JUDEH were the only persons in the courtroom, except for Judge Callanan and a court officer and reporter, Cox testified. Cox said the judge asked him who he was and if he had a job, read the charges against him and asked if he understood them and how he pleaded.

Cox said he pleaded guilty. Callanan Sr. entered a plea of not guilty, set an appearance date and released him on a $1,000 personal recognizance bond, the FBI special agent told the court. He said that after the bond was set, the judge directed the court officer to recall the warrant.

Nick Smith, Callanan Sr.'s attorney, said in cross examination that questions about a defendant's job and address are usual concerns of a judge when he is setting bond.

Council grants Lundquist a raise

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

By a 3-2 vote, City Council has approved a 25 percent salary increase for public service director Henry Lundquist.

The increase — from $31,180 to $37,573, effective July 1 — was requested by Mayor Charles Pickering. Lundquist has been public service director since January 1982.

Council members Ben DeHart, Nancy Neal and Robert Wagner voted for the hike while Thomas Artley and Kenneth Mehl opposed. Councilmen Charles Griffin and Kent Herbert were absent from the regular Monday night council meeting.

Councilmen warned against other raises, however.

"I think Mr. Lundquist has done a very good job but please don't come with any more (salary requests)," Wagner said to mayor Pickering.

"If this goes through, I hope this isn't the start of your coming to the council to raise the salaries," Mehl said.

THE COUNCIL also:

- Extended the last day for paying summer taxes without penalty from Aug. 15 through Aug. 31.

In asking for the extension, Finance Director Stephen Smaka said city residents will be receiving tax notices two weeks later than usual due to a delay in receiving the tax bills from the county.

A two-week extension will give Westland residents approximately the same time period between mailing of the bill and the penalty date as is provided for the winter tax collection, Smaka said.

- Approved the appointment of Joseph Hawrylak to the Westland Planning Commission by a unanimous vote.

Hawrylak served as administrative assistant to the mayor and personnel director for the past year, until he resigned three months ago.

Hawrylak's term on the commission went into effect Aug. 1 and will expire in August 1986.

- Awarded a bid of $120,897 to Larcia Construction, Inc., for a sidewalk program at the Ford Road Electric Railroad and Van Born Farms Subdivisions.

A total $145,000 is available for the project in federal community development block grant programs. The funding includes construction, engineering, inspection and administration.

- Denied a special assessment of $100,000 over five years for water and sanitary sewers in Stremich Development. Councilmen Artley and Griffin were in favor.

Livonia principals given new assignments

When classes resume this fall at Livonia Public Schools, students will find new principals in three elementary school buildings.

On Monday, the Livonia Board of Education approved the assignments of Kent H. Gage as principal of Grant Elementary School and Gloria D. Parrello as principal of Washington Elementary School. Also approved was the routine transfer of principal Gordon Draper from Grant to Coolidge Elementary School.

Gage and Parrello were promoted to the positions to replace retiring principals Dr. Venna Johnson and Gar Borden. Draper was transferred because of a school policy which requires that principals be moved periodically to new posts.

Both retiring teachers had been with the district for 27 years, according to Roland Montambeau, assistant superintendent for personnel.

MONTAMBEAU said that Johnson had begun her career as a teacher at Taft Elementary School and had gone on to serve as a principal at Hayes, Buchanan and Coolidge schools.

He noted that Johnson had been a leader in the school district in developing a program for emotionally impaired students.

Borden began his career as a teacher at Pearson Elementary School and had gone on to become principal at Nankin Mills, Cleveland and Washington schools.

Borden's first assignment as a principal was supervising classes in the basements of two churches, which were used during the "baby boom" of the 1950s while new schools were being built, Montambeau said.

Newcomers Gage and Parrello each have been with Livonia schools for more than 10 years.

Gage, 38, has served as a special education program specialist for the past two years in the district. He previously worked in other special education positions and assisted in the design and implementation of the district's SHIELDS program for seriously handicapped adolescents.

HE BEGAN his career with the district in 1972 as a teacher at Buchanan Elementary School. Prior to that he was a teacher and counselor in the Clawson and Grand Rapids public schools.

Gage holds a bachelor's degree in elementary education and a master's in education and sociology from Michigan State University. He is also a doctoral candidate in administration and special education at the University of Michigan.

Despite his academic success, Gage said that he was only a "marginally good student" when he was a youngster.

"As a young graduate fellow I discovered some insight about education as a professional discipline," he said. "I was hooked. I really wanted to be a good teacher."

Gage's wife, Peg Haskins, is a teacher at Cleveland School. The couple live in Detroit.

PARRELLO, 42, arrives at her assignment as Washington's principal from a position as a teacher at Garfield School.

She came to the Livonia district in 1987 after teaching for three years in Detroit Public Schools. Her first post was at Stark School, where she helped organize a child study committee and worked with a university consultant team to improve student learning.

In 1973 she transferred to Garfield School, where she taught grades one through three and six.

Parrello holds both a bachelor's degree and a master's in elementary education from Wayne State University.

She said that throughout her career she has tried to develop new skills as an educator.

"I don't ever remember a time when I didn't want to be an educator," she said. "I spent many hours teaching my younger brothers, friends, pets, anyone and anything I could persuade to 'play school' with me."

Parrello is single and a resident of Garden City.

Police nab suspects in Wendy's robbery

Two young Inkster men face a preliminary examination Monday for the early morning holdup of a Wendy's Restaurant over the weekend.

The two men, Garnett Fields, 19, and Lyndon Daryle-James Jones, 22, were captured by Westland police soon after the robbery at 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

At their outcounty arraignment Sunday, both were charged with armed robbery. Jones was also charged with possession of a firearm during the commission of a felony. Both pleaded innocent. Bond was set at $2,500 each.

Two employees at the restaurant, 7956 S. Wayne Road, told police they closed the business at 2:30 a.m. After making a night deposit at a bank, they parked in a corner of a lot at the restaurant.

POLICE SAID one of the employees was repairing a flat tire on his vehicle when a thin black man wearing a black leather jacket, jeans and a dark stocking cap walked over from a construction site located just north of the business.

The man was further described as 5'-10", with a thin beard and mustache. A black, two-door 1983 Dodge also was parked in the lot, its motor running and its headlights shining at the employee's car, police said.

The robber held what appeared to be a .45-caliber automatic gun in his right hand, keeping it close to his side, police said. He told the workers not to turn around and ordered one of them to turn her car lights off, open the trunk and get inside.

Police said the man locked the employee in her trunk and walked the other worker around the rear of the building to a side entrance. He ordered the worker to unlock the door and lock it behind them.

Suspect faces robbery charge

The robber took the employee to an office and demanded that he open the safe, according to police. Once the safe was open, he ordered the worker to "get under the desk." The gunman then took an estimated $500 from the safe, ripped the cord from an office wall phone, ransacked the office and handcuffed the employee to a seven-foot metal storage bin, police said.

AFTER THE robber left through a rear door, the worker dragged the bin to another phone and called police. Police said they released one employee from the car trunk and smashed the handcuffs to free the other.

Westland police officers Billy Hickerson and Richard Ringer were driving south on Wayne Road, heading toward the scene of the hold-up, when they saw a car matching the description of the Dodge stopped at a red light at Joy and northbound Wayne Road.

Police said the officers pulled behind the car for a closer look at its occupants and saw that the passenger, later identified as Jones, was wearing a dark blue knit ski cap.

There were two black men in the car. Police said the driver was identified as Fields.

HICKERSON AND Ringer pulled the Dodge over and ordered the men to get out of the car. Police reportedly found a large green bag full of money on the floorboard in front of the passenger's seat; a large BB pistol, a .25-caliber chrome-plated gun in a brown leather holster and a pair of black driving gloves in a pull-out tray under the passenger's seat; and a bunched-up, blue windbreaker on the rear floorboard.

Health services continue despite budget cuts

Dr. Cecilia Thomas checks the teeth of 3-year-old Rachel Christiansen under the watchful eyes of her mom, Karen, at the dental clinic operated by the county health department.

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

"It'll be a lot quieter in here on Friday," said Dennis Dillworth, director of the Wayne County Health Department, as he toured a crowded well-baby clinic at the department's Westland facility.

Operations of the Wayne County Health Department are among those facing a four-day work week as the county battles a continuing budget crisis. A vote on a union contract, which could avert the short work week, was expected to take place Wednesday.

"The biggest problem we have is county resources," said Glenn Brown, director of the environmental division of the department. "We've had reductions in staff over several years, and we're doing the same or more work than we were five to seven years ago."

Dillworth noted that the state will take over the air pollution control division of his department within 30 to 60 days as part of the reduction in services. He said the federal government pays for the "better part" of the program.

But Dillworth, who was named director of the department last July after having acted in that capacity since 1979, believes County Executive William Lucas is on the right track with his proposal.

BEFORE LUCAS came into office, he was talking about laying off another 10 percent of the workforce. Dillworth said that Lucas changed his mind after reviewing the situation.

"He realized we don't have enough people right now," Dillworth continued. "Rather than laying them off the payroll and never getting them back, he decided to put them on part time."

"I think it's a wise decision." Dillworth understands about staff layoffs. The health department used to operate with 600 employees. Now it has 400 employees.

"He (Lucas) wants to stop that," Dillworth added. With a $20 million budget, more than half of which is funded with state and federal money, the county health department "in large measure carries out mandated programs," Dillworth said.

"We're really creations of the state. There is very little mandated county stuff."

BESIDES ITS general environmental division, the county health department also operates units concerned with public health enforcement, communicable diseases and family health services.

Family health services generally deal with preventive medicine, said Dillworth. Specific services are offered, ranging from venereal disease clinics for teens to hypertension screening for those aged 50 and older.

Clinics are scattered in locations throughout the county, but outside of Detroit, which has its own health department. Screenings for such things as diabetes and glaucoma are largely done by nurses, Dillworth said. Results are sent to private physicians or physicians are obtained for patients.

Family planning clinics offer women an examination and the choice of birth control device they prefer. A physician is available if needed.

A mother and infant care program funded under federal and state grants provide full prenatal care and, later, child health and dental care up to age 18. The department is trying to expand the program to add two more clinics in the out-county area.

"This is largely for an indigent population with eligibility near the poverty level," said Dillworth, who served as director of an MIC program in 1971.

Dillworth said there is an out-reach effort made to mothers-at-risk to prevent health problems before they occur. Those include mothers ages 14-15 or younger, those with their first pregnancy, drug users and those with previous pregnancy complications.

Dennis Dillworth, who was officially named director of the county health department in July, believes the county must avoid laying off more staff.

Medicaid recipients are covered by a program geared toward early prevention, screening, diagnosis and treatment of medical conditions.

"If we get them in early and problems are identified, then later they won't have to be hospitalized," he said.

A FEDERAL grant also is funding a supplemental food program for women, infants and children up to age two.

"We're trying to measure or show that women who have this program have healthier infants," he said. "We've got a big, crash effort to expand. We're trying to add a couple thousand cases in a month."

The county's communicable disease control program is under the direction of Dr. Jane Polkowski. Free immunizations are given to those who need them. Dillworth noted that the county has been active in a "big, catch-up program" because several years ago immunization levels had dropped to the 60 percent range. Now more than 90 percent of the students have been immunized.

While watching for outbreaks of such animal diseases as encephalitis, the health department acts as a liaison with the state to get serums to local doctors.

Dr. Polkowski said this is a quiet time of year for her department, but is a time when venereal disease seems to increase. Dillworth said that pelvic inflammatory disease has been on the rise, but AIDS has not been a problem in the area.

A SPECIAL clinic for adolescents and teens tries to teach them "common sense" about sexuality, Dillworth said. Counseling, family planning and medical care are offered.

"We try to get them to think of the implications," he added. "Parents just do not discuss sex with kids."

"The caseload of tuberculosis patients makes the respiratory disease control division of the department a necessity."

"It's an urban disease. The kind of person who gets it is the drug addict, the people on skid row. It's clustered in urban areas because that's where the support system is for these people," Dillworth said.

"We provide screening and treatment."

County monitors environment for potential health problems

Being on call is something the environmental division of the Wayne County Health Department takes seriously. Take last Saturday, for instance.

Glenn Brown, division director, got a call from the division's answering service about 7 p.m. It seems that a disgruntled food service employee had called to say the restaurant where he worked had a roof which was leaking water into the food preparation area of the kitchen.

Brown sent a field person out to check out the complaint.

"Turns out what they were doing wasn't sufficient, so we required them to make temporary repairs," said Brown. "Part of the problem is the big storms we've been having."

"It wasn't a real emergency, but we were uncertain."

It was a real emergency, however, when some 240 people came down with salmonellosis last June during a brunch at the Ren-Cen. Under a joint operating agreement with other health departments, the Wayne County environmental division joined with Oakland County and Detroit in trying to trace the cause of the outbreak.

Still searching, Oakland health officials say the source of the problem may never be found.

MOST WORK In the division isn't that dramatic, says Brown, but the "bulk of time and effort" goes into what he calls food sanitation. That means inspecting the 3,500 food service establishments in the county, outside of Detroit, to make sure they meet state requirements.

Everything from fast food eateries to bars are inspected twice a year, Brown said. In addition, the division also checks temporary food services. Last year there were 800 fairs, ethnic festivals and carnivals serving food, Brown noted.

And all plans for new and remodeled food services must be approved by the division. He said the "critical concerns" are in knowing the source of the food, how it's prepared and the way it's maintained prior to being served.

There are the equivalent of about 15 supervisors and sanitarians who cover three districts in the county. But their jobs aren't limited to checking out restaurants.

The division also trains managers, who must be certified, of all established food

'Landfills aren't popular with the neighbors. People don't like the blowing litter, noise, trucks or odor.'

— Glenn Brown, director environmental division services in the county. That means providing classes for 600-700 people a year.

"We're still playing catch-up since this requirement began several years ago," Brown said.

OTHER AREAS which the environmental division monitors includes water, land, shelter and wastes. Another division monitors air pollution control, but this responsibility is now in the process of being transferred to the state, according to Dennis Dillworth, director of the Wayne County Health Department.

"As part of the reduction of services in Wayne County, (Chief Executive) William Lucas has said that the state will take it over in 30-60 days," said Dillworth.

He added that air pollution control devices are very costly and complicated, requiring monitors' close watch.

Brown said that the environmental division checks water quality in everything from private wells to beaches.

Permits must be obtained before wells are dug, but Brown says that generally the water quality in the county is "very acceptable with two exceptions."

Brown said that in some areas, if wells are dug too deep, people get a lot of sulphur in their water. Also, well water is contaminated by the construction process itself. So his department maintains surveillance to make sure the wells are chlorinated to kill off bacteria.

Existing wells aren't checked because there's no staff to do it. People with problems are advised to collect a water sample and told where to send it, he said.

Cross connection control involves inspecting new construction or remodeling to make sure that the water supply has not been contaminated by being connected with some waste source.

The county also has contracts with 20 communities to monitor their water utilities, Brown said.

"WE SAMPLE the water regularly at beaches along Lake St. Clair, Belleville Lake and the Highland Lakes Estates in the Northville area," Brown continued. "On rare occasions we have closed beaches because the water quality isn't suitable."

The same process occurs at the 450 or so pools in the county, which are sampled every two weeks. Severe problems cause about 60-70 to be closed, and less severe problems cause "several times that number" to be closed for brief periods, Brown said.

Land use is monitored to make sure water and sewage facilities are adequate for construction, and all construction projects which include "earth changes" of an acre or more must receive a permit from his department.

While new construction doesn't receive "as much attention as it should," Brown said that solid waste management has an active regulatory program with 15 to 17 landfills in the county and 115 transfer stations.

"Landfills aren't popular with the neighbors," Brown said. "People don't like the blowing litter, noise, trucks or odor."

His department reviews proposed landfills and makes recommendations to the state Department of Natural Resources.

"We're making a significant effort to come up with a 20-year plan for solid waste disposal," Brown added.

He explained that county regulations would supplement state law, which he said represents a compromise between groups in various parts of the state.

EVERYTHING FROM mobile homes to rat control is another area of responsibility for his department. Schools, child and adult day care centers and mobile homes are inspected for water, drainage and other potential trouble areas.

The county also conducts an active lead poison prevention program that targets Highland Park and Hamtramck, and maintains an early warning system for encephalitis by drawing blood samples from birds which may have been bitten by infected mosquitoes.

And despite concerns about rats in the Westland area, Brown said that the biggest problems are found in Ecorse, Hamtramck and Highland Park.

Keeping track of the activities of his department is all in a day's work for Brown who has been with the environmental division for 25 years.

Judy Butler extends a pole into the water at Highland Lakes in Northville to collect samples as part of her job in monitoring water quality.

S'craft goals: outreach, involvement — and politics

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Schoolcraft College will re-evaluate several academic programs, involve both students and faculty in improving the community college, offer more business programs, do a better job of marketing in all corners of the district and set up a political action committee to support friendly legislators.

"The college is healthy, and it's going to get even better," President Richard McDowell told the board of trustees last week as he outlined a detailed series of eight goals and annual objectives. "Very comprehensive," commented trustee Rosina Raymond.

But trustee Laura Toy was bothered by the recommendation to set up a political action committee (PAC). "I can see where it can open up a can of worms," she said.

Otherwise, there was little comment on the three-page, single-spaced plan.

ASKED WHETHER the administration had considered the indictment of education in "A Nation at Risk," the federal government's highly critical report, McDowell said yes.

"We've reviewed it. We think we've addressed it in basic skills," said McDowell, pointing to this section of goal No. 1 involving academic programs:

"The Learning Assistance Center will increase the number of students it serves by 30 percent during the 1983-84 academic year. Space, equipment and staff will also expand during 1983-84."

McDowell said the effort will help students not entirely prepared for college to "get up to speed. We're concerned at what level people come to us."

In other instructional areas, Schoolcraft will conduct at least five "needs assessments" on areas for academic expansion and review at least four existing programs to see if they should be continued.

Conway Jeffress, vice president for instruction, said the review areas hadn't been decided yet.

Later in the meeting, the board took a step toward another objective — upgrading data processing — by leasing five word processing machines ($8,948 from Cap-Co. Leasing) and buying four more ($22,071, A.B. Dick Products).

THE WORD "involve" popped up in goals 2 and 3, concerning students and faculty.

Students are to be involved "in the evaluation of current services and in future program planning activities." Students will also be involved more in the cultural and public affairs program.

'I can see where it can open up a can of worms,' said trustee Laura Toy about the recommendation to set up a political action committee (PAC).

An office of special services will be established to aid returning adult students, a major group at Schoolcraft where the median student age is about 30. "More personal recreational activities" will be offered through the physical education department.

Faculty and staff will find more "formal and informal mechanisms" to offer suggestions on improving the college.

Faculty will be upgraded through more workshops, seminars and "released-time" programs. For example, McDowell reported two faculty members are studying robots used by Ford Motor Co., in an arrangement aided by trustee Harry Greenleaf.

McDOWELL'S SPECIALTY is "outreach" programs to business and industry, and it was covered in goal No. 4.

Five new programs for business are the target for the next year. A dozen already have been established, notably to train employees for the Holidome and Chi Chi's restaurant in Livonia.

Schoolcraft's program will be extended to a center in every corner of the district. Currently, the college occupies a building in Garden City and offers courses in Plymouth-Canton school buildings.

The community service program has a goal of increasing enrollment in non-credit courses by 10 percent. Specialized training for parents of handicapped children will be offered.

SEEKING FINANCIAL stability (goal No. 5), Schoolcraft will continue to develop friendships among legislators, in part through its PAC, and assist the Schoolcraft College Foundation to generate $40,000 in new funds next year. The foundation raised $27,000 in the year just ended, McDowell said.

The marketing program (goal No. 6) will include continuing a marketing committee, which will review publications and set a college copyright policy.

To improve physical facilities, the college will continue its major preventive maintenance program, also looking to a 10 percent reduction in energy consumption.

Trustees noted with satisfaction that the convention of the Michigan Community Colleges Association in Traverse City a week earlier was attended by Gov. James J. Blanchard and Job Corps director Doug Ross.

When I'm fishing sole I head for Joe Muer's
Captain Matt Stomell "The Challenge" Boston, Massachusetts
Georges Banks, one of the world's most perfect grounds. The water is not too deep so plenty of sunlight gets in — the feeding is good and the fish are big and healthy. Joe needs his sole to be at least 2" thick, 'cause it's perfect for stuffing.
We catch to Joe's specifications because he knows what works for him. His father's recipes have stood the test of time.
It gets down to quality, whether it's catching the fish or preparing 'em. The haddock I catch — it's prime, so when it's smoked for Finnan Haddie, it's right for Muers.
Some smoke fish filets two to three hours and then add color. For Joe Muers, fish is first soaked in brine; hung to dry for twelve hours and then the whole fish, with the bones, is hickory smoked for at least eight, nine or ten hours. No color is added. Muer gets it perfect, then steams it to perfection.

Stop loss works sometime

I have been using stop loss orders, especially in stocks which have high price earnings ratios. I bought Hospital Corporation, and as the price advanced, I raised the stop loss figure from time to time. I did this for about two years, and then one day the stock was sold. I had a nice profit, but the stock has continued to go up, and I would have made a lot more money if I had held it.

I have tried stop loss orders with all of my stocks, and I was doing fine until recently, when all of my stocks were sold.

Do you think it is a good idea to use stop loss orders, or should I change my plan of operation?

You don't explain your reason for setting the price for your stop loss order, and it sounds to me like you are proceeding mechanically without a great deal of understanding. Any routine procedure in the stock market will have times when it works and when it does not.

People place stop loss orders usually because they recognize that the stock is selling in an area where speculation may be excessive, and any type of bad news could cause the price to drop sharply. Your use of this procedure on stocks that are selling at high price today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investment Clubs earnings ratio is one good guide to use, since such stocks can drop sharply on any bad news. Investors hope that placing a stop loss order, which means placing an order to sell the stock at a certain price below the market if its price drops, will protect them from a big loss if the price drops quickly.

It is important to know that entering a stop loss order does not guarantee that the price you have set will be the one you get. A large volume of sell orders could result in your getting a lower price than you have specified.

In watching the experience of individuals using stop loss orders in investment clubs over the past 30 years, I would not be inclined to use them for good quality companies in a market like the present, which seems to be in a long-term upward trend. In this kind of market, there will be many times of weakness when a temporary drop in prices will take place, and a stop loss order will result, as it has for you, in your stocks being sold, and your being without a holding as the market resumes its upward move.

I believe it is important to make a study of each stock you own on something like NAIC's "Stock Selection Guide," which will give you a good idea of how high each stock will sell. Then when you see your stock selling near what you have determined is a point of great speculation, the placing of a stop loss order is reasonable. At such a point, there is really no reason why you would not place an immediate sell order. But, if you felt speculation could produce a few more points of profit for you, and at the same time, you wanted the stock sold if it started to move down, a stop loss order would make sense.

'Sun belt' turns sandy for ex-Michiganians

THE MAN on the other end of the phone told me, "It's hot in cowboy country, and I want to come home."

He works in Oklahoma and wants to return to Michigan. He was looking for a job.

A day later it was an old friend who had fled Michigan eight years ago and now lives in Utah. She is the mother of three children and wants to raise her family near her parents and sister.

"I know the economy has improved in Michigan during the past year or two," she said. "Not too many businesses are expanding, but at least people are being replaced when they leave. Can you help?"

Later in the week I heard from former Michigan residents living in Denver and Houston and hoping to find work.

IT'S NOT unusual for newspaper editors to be contacted by persons seeking work. Journalism is oversaturated with eager applicants.

But this was unusual. Usually, the applicants live in the state and do not want to relocate.

Only once in the past two years had I received an inquiry about a job from a Michigan native living in a sun belt state — until last week.

I'm not sure what, if anything, my unscientific survey means. It would be a mistake to read too much into it.

During the past few years, I have heard too many false promises about Michigan being on the road to recovery. The "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign is more hype than real. I've heard economic pep talks by incumbent elected officials trying to hold onto their jobs. I've listened to the chamber of commerce speakers urging positive statements about Michigan.

Frankly, it's empty Michigan, especially this region, has been in serious trouble. The joke was: "Will the last one out of the state turn off the lights?" Unfortunately, it was too true.

BUT IN THE past few weeks, there has been a change.

Last week the three major auto companies announced near-record profits. People are being recalled to work. Some are being hired.

If you look about, you can see those changes. People are making plans for taking vacations. They are shopping in suburban malls and downtown areas.

There's a slight sense of relief in the air.

Yet, lest we forget, some serious problems remain for the state. State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, talked to the Rotary Clubs in Plymouth and Canton last week about those problems.

Michigan's 6.35 percent state personal income tax is the highest in the nation. Unemployment and workers' comp laws need reform. Our state's approximately 15 percent unemployment rate is still this nation's highest.

It was reported in one newspaper this week that about 268,000 persons filing their Michigan income tax forms claimed Houston as their place of residence.

Despite three years of recession (depression?), the feeling persists that Michigan has yet to solve its fundamental problems. It's too early to declare this state has been rescued.

YET MY CALLERS from the sun belt states told me that area has some difficulties, also.

It's hot, and sometimes the weather is miserable in what former Gov. William Milliken dubbed "the sand belt." Jobs are hard to find. They miss families and friends.

It reminded me of a few days I spent in northern Michigan last month. As I enjoyed a secluded lake and woods, I thought, "Can there be any better place to live than Michigan?"

At least a few transplanted Michigan natives are asking themselves the same question.

Business beats sweet, fat contracts

WHAT DO a candy company, a meat packer and a county hospital have in common?

Very expensive union contracts and managements willing to take extreme steps so that the institutions may survive.

Consider:

● Fred Sanders Co., the longtime metropolitan Detroit candy, baked goods and ice cream manufacturer, is about to emerge from bankruptcy. When its plant workers refused to ratify a new contract, the company last week fired all 200. A new corporation called Michigan Confections is buying the Sanders company's assets. The new firm will rehire many Sanders workers — but not at the old wage and benefits package, you may rest assured. Tough luck, United Distributive Workers.

● Wilson Foods Corp., a major midwestern pork packer, has filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy law. Kenneth Griggy, board chairman and CEO, says Wilson Foods' hourly labor costs of $17 per hour were as much as 80 percent higher than many competitors. Threatened with survival, Griggy's firm looked to a section of the bankruptcy code under which a company can be relieved of "onerous and burdensome" contracts and established a new wage-benefit package "in line with the industry," with Griggy himself taking a 40 percent cut. Tough luck, United Food and Commercial Workers.

BY NOW it should be clear what the whole Wayne County General Hospital controversy is about. It certainly isn't about keeping a hospital open for poor folks.

It has to do with the fact that the economic package of Council 25 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees is as much as 50 percent higher than comparable hospitals, according to County Executive William Lucas.

One time Lucas talks about negotiating concessions.

Another time he talks about selling the facility.

Then he talks about turning it over to the state and the University of Michigan.

Or he talks about leasing it to a private operator. . . anything to get out from under those labor costs.

No one talks seriously about closing it down entirely, any more than Sanders or Wilson Foods will be closed down entirely.

Apparently bankruptcy laws don't give county hospitals the same kinds of advantages they give candy makers and hog packers. Otherwise, Wayne County General Hospital, whose costs run 20 percent more than its revenues, could go the Chapter 11 route, and it would be bye-bye, AFSCME.

BUT THERE IS a critical difference between a manufacturing corporation and a government. Only stockholders can throw out a company's management, but political forces can threaten elected county commissioners.

AFSCME shows real power when it can persuade the County Commission to pass an ordinance seeking to strip the executive of his powers to control the management, oversee the budget and dispose of the assets of the hospital.

AFSCME makes political contributions to county candidates, fields votes and has political power ties to other unions. To many commissioners, these facts are more important than the fact that the hospital ordinance is a reeking, blatant attack on the home-rule county charter which 82 percent of us approved in 1981.

Too bad government can't be run like a business. Tough luck, voters.

A Sunday dinner, chat with Grampy

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

MANY CUSTOMS have been left along the way since the increasing pace of modern living. Among them is the family Sunday dinner.

Not too long ago, it was the custom to gather at the home of the grandparents and enjoy a dinner and later a visit as the older folks told of their upbringing.

These living room chats with all the children gathered around "Grampy" were his method of telling us what a hard time he had had as a youngster. He used it as a warning that not all would be peaches and ice cream for us as we faced the world's challenges.

These family dinners were high points of living in the days before the automobile, radio, television and such things as tennis and golf for those athletically inclined.

ON THESE occasions, our family always gathered with the grandparents on The Stroller's father's side. They were immigrants from Northern Ireland and, for a time, seemed confused living with the Pennsylvania Dutch. But they set a style of their own and made possible many fine memories.

Grandmother Edgar was a rather short woman, but she made up for that by some of the things she did to draw attention in the neighborhood. She raised chickens in the rear yard of their home.

She had methods in her madness because she always had a chicken dinner on Sundays. She never had to purchase one from the market or the farmer who visited our town every week.

She was an expert, too, in her chicken raising. For instance, when the hens went into an egg-laying slump, she would put out a china egg in the basket. More often than not, the living hen would match it and get out of her slump.

ONE OF HER practices caused a lot of eyebrow lifting in our little town. She was asked one day what she did to keep the hens laying, and she countered, "Ofttimes when I have trouble with the hens, I change the rooster."

She had another trait. She never had more than one chicken for the family dinner. How she made it do for so many mouths, The Stroller never knew and still wonders.

But he does recall that we children didn't sit at the table with the older folks. We had to take the "leavin's." So we'd stand at the dining room door and plead, "Don't eat it all — save some for us."

BUT WHETHER we had our fill of dinner or not, we enjoyed sitting on the floor in front of Grampy Edgar as he regaled us with stories.

He was not a tradesman but earned his living stacking "pig iron" on the wharf alongside the furnace. It was hard work, and he had an odd habit.

Each day when work was finished, he'd walk up to the town's saloon and have a whiskey and a beer (price: 15 cents) and then walk the remainder of the distance home.

And he enjoyed nothing more than sitting with the grandchildren on a Sunday afternoon when the women cleared away the dinner tables and washed the dishes.

Yes, the Sunday family dinner was a high note in living in those days. Nothing ever knit families any closer than those dinners. They should be revived, even if we couldn't raise chickens in our back yards.

Faust's recall outrages readers

To the editor:
I am filled with outrage that Phyllis Runion should try to recall Sen. William Faust and Justine Barnes.

Over the years, I have admired Sen. Faust for his tenacity and integrity. His belief in honest government has done much to improve the conditions in Lansing. I wish he would run for federal government.

Justine Barnes has also proved her worth. Even though I am not a true Democrat, I have consistently voted for both Sen. Faust and Justine Barnes. It makes my blood boil when people like Runion start recalls.

Our state has faced hard times due to the recession. If increased taxes are the only way to restore us as a vigorous industrial state, let's pay them if we can, and stop complaining.

Beryl E. Brown

People cry out to deaf ears

To the editor:
You protest too much and too often about the recalls. Recalls are, after all, perfectly legitimate and the only legal manner given to voters to rectify poor government. This is not a one-issue "shotgun" as portrayed in your narrow view of the protest.

This is a vote of no confidence in our politicians in Lansing.

The people are crying out for a change of direction in Lansing, not more of what we've had the last 20 years. Blanchard is still overspending and will leave the same deficit (or worse) that Soapy Williams, John Swainson (remember payless paydays!) and William Milliken did in the best of economic times.

Why doesn't your editorial mention the independent audit refused by the Legislature?

Why not mention the posh pensions — tax free — we provide the politicians with?

Why not mention pay increases, in this time of crisis, the highest-paid state Legislature will receive?

Why not mention the deaf ears to those letters of protest, march to Lansing and telephone calls to Lansing? If they responded to the people, it was with "thank you for your interest and support" letters, which they were not.

The recallers will be heard, if not now, with recalls, then later on when these same politicians make a bid for re-election. The recallers have learned to take an active interest in government and that is what frightens the fiscally irresponsible in Lansing.

Dems oppose secret aid to Nicaragua

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 21-28.

HOUSE

COVERT AID — By a vote of 213 for and 214 against, the House rejected an amendment making it difficult for the Reagan administration to continue supplying covert military aid to rebels fighting the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

The Democratic proposal sought to soften a Republican move to keep the aid flowing unless the Sandinistas stopped providing covert aid to leftist rebels elsewhere in Latin America.

It expressed the sense of Congress but did not mandate that the Sandinistas stop their aid. It was offered to HR 2760, which was headed for final passage.

Sponsor Michael Barnes, D-Md., said "the policy of trying to overthrow the Nicaraguan government is legal, ineffective, escalatory, counterproductive and unnecessary."

Opponent Don Ritter, R-Pa., called it "immoral to pull the rug out from under those who are fighting for democracy and their rightful heritage as part of the original Sandinista revolution."

Members voting yes wanted to stop or curtail secret U.S. aid to the Nicaraguan rebels. Voting yes: Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit; William Ford, D-Taylor; and Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth; William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

LIMIT — The House rejected, 170 for and 246 against, an amendment to limit the number of U.S. military advisers in El Salvador to the present complement of 55. It would have thwarted the administration plan to send 70 more advisers to the Central American nation.

roll call report

The amendment was offered to the $200-billion fiscal 1984 defense authorization bill (HR 2989) that later was sent to conference with the Senate.

Sponsor James Shannon, D-Mass., termed it "an absurd idea that our advisers can travel into the field with Salvadoran troops and not become involved in combat themselves."

Opponent Dan Burton, R-Ind., said President Reagan "is the commander-in-chief, and we should give him the support that is necessary to deal with a very, very difficult problem right now."

Members voting yes were opposed to additional U.S. military advisers in El Salvador. Voting yes were Hertel and Ford.

Voting no: Pursell, Levin and Broomfield.

SENATE

MX — The Senate gave President Reagan a victory by rejecting, 41 for and 58 against, an amendment to delete funding for the MX missile.

The vote kept $2.5 billion for buying the first 27 MX missiles in the fiscal 1984 defense authorization bill (S 675), a $200-billion measure later sent to conference with the House.

Both houses now tentatively have approved the MX to replace the Minuteman as the next-generation land-based missile, despite Pentagon uncertainty over whether it can ever be safely based. Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., who voted to delete, said the basing problem undercuts the nuclear deterrence doctrine because "the only way to safeguard it is to launch it on warning, the so-called use-them-or-lose-them doctrine."

MX supporter Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said the missile will adequately deter the Soviets and enable the United States to conduct "vigorous diplomacy (for) global stability, human rights and arms control."

Both Michigan Democratic senators, Carl Levin and Donald Riegle, voted yes.

SILOS — By a vote of 42 for and 57 against, the Senate rejected an amendment allowing the Pentagon to buy the MX but blocking the missile's deployment in existing Minuteman missile silos.

Foes of the MX supported this as a fallback position after they lost their bid to block its acquisition (above).

Sponsor Daniel Moynihan, D-N.Y., said the MX in Minuteman silos could be destroyed by silo-busting Soviet SS-9s. This vulnerability would encourage the U.S. to fire the MX on the basis of only sketchy, and possibly incorrect, evidence that the Soviets had launched an attack.

Opponent James McClure, R-Idaho, said basing the new missile in Minuteman ICBM silos "is the absolute minimum U.S. response to the relentless Soviet Strategic buildup of the 1970s."

Both Michigan senators, Levin and Riegle, voted yes, opposing deploying the MX in Minuteman silos.

VOLCKER — The Senate confirmed, 84 for and 16 against, the nomination of Paul A. Volcker to continue as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

GORMAN'S
SALE

And that's really a sale! Because Gorman's not only brings you savings from 15 to 50% — but also quality like Drexel Passages, a totally new look for bedrooms.
 New Drexel Passages features an eclectic style that will fit right in with a lot of different looks from contemporary to traditional: Pecan solids with Northern Knotty Pine Veneers — in a hand-rubbed oak grain pattern and highlighted with genuine caning. And the flush brass hardware gives it its own distinctive look.
 The Passages collection includes a bed, one nightstand, dresser, mirror and a 5-drawer chest — all now specially priced at only $1795 for all five pieces — and that's just one more reason to come to Gorman's Summer Sale.
 So come see it and save on Passages and on names like Heritage, Thayer Coggin, Preview and D.I.A. And while you're here, meet the famous Gorman's designers who are ready to help you make your home a unique expression of your tastes and lifestyle.

'Whistle blower' helps stymie hike in heating aid

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Art Suchodolski isn't a lawmaker, but the West Bloomfield auditor is one reason the Michigan Legislature adjourned for the summer without solving part of the welfare budget problem.

"It seems to me someone needs to do some homework," said Suchodolski, who has done years of homework on the home heating aid portion of the Department of Social Services budget.

He thinks it's worse than a waste, and he had quite an impact when he said so to the state Senate Appropriations Committee in June.

Art Suchodolski
"do some homework"

THE UPSHOT: The legislature in its closing days was split in three camps and deadlocked on what to do with $43 million of the $2.1 billion DSS budget.

Gov. James J. Blanchard wanted to raise the welfare benefits level 5 percent; the camp of state Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, wanted to plunk it into home heating aid; and Republicans wanted to use it on job training for welfare recipients.

No point of view had a majority, and lawmakers were itching to get out for the summer.

"The $43 million was put in a special line which may be appropriated," explained Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a member of the appropriations unit. "But it was not appropriated. It has been left to be resolved in September."

"There was a general feeling a lot of the heating money was wasted," said Geake — but that's Art Suchodolski's story.

SUCHODOLSKI, 49, today is comptroller of Hack Shoe Co., a retail firm, but from 1972-78 he was a senior internal auditor with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit, where one of his responsibilities was the credit division.

When he began blowing the whistle about irregularities in DSS approval of gas bill payments for welfare accounts, he found himself shifted to other duties and finally fired by MichCon.

"I pointed out that the welfare recipients were pocketing the money," Suchodolski said. They had no worries because the state paid off the heating bills with a second appropriation — in other words, it paid the same heating bill twice.

In fact, the situation was even worse than it seemed at first glance because basic heating aid was 50 percent state and 50 percent federal funds, but the supplemental aid was 100 percent state money.

MichCon was collecting its money either way and had no incentive to go after the errant customer.

The welfare recipient got a double benefit; extra benefits and no worries about turning down the thermostat.

FOR YEARS Suchodolski has been writing letters to state and gas company officials.

Wayne Circuit Court dismissed his suit against MichCon, and the state Supreme Court turned him down on appeal in 1982. But his story became a chapter in a book by Alan F. Westlin called "Whistle-Blowing: Loyalty and Dissent in the Corporation."

When he read in the newspapers this spring that welfare payments were an issue in the legislature, Suchodolski called Sen. James DeSana, D-Wyandotte, appropriations chairman, and was invited to speak to the committee.

"I said, 'You're proposing to increase the payment? The abuse in that program is substantial.' They kinda went back and said, 'Maybe we should take a look at it,'" Suchodolski said after the hearing.

There's no chance the state can pay the aid directly to the utility. A 1978 letter from then-DSS Director John Dempsey to Suchodolski says that federal regulations provide that "payments must be made to the grantee or his legal representative, with no restrictions imposed by the state agency on the use of funds by the individual."

HOLLISTER, known as the legislature's leading advocate of social services, proposed that heating aid be boosted from $1,300 to $1,700 a year.

The Lansing lawmaker's goal is to avert all utility shutoffs to the poor.

Blanchard's proposed 5 percent general benefit increase was beaten down 10-9 when four Democrats joined all six Republicans to oppose.

The House panel then adopted Hollister's heating aid plan on a 12-5 part line vote.

Welfare recipients marched on Lansing to demonstrate their needs, but back-room negotiations between leaders of both parties in both houses failed to reach agreement.

What happens if lawmakers fail to agree in September on what to do with the $43 million? Answered one: "It won't be spent."

Youth Corps wades in to unjam Rouge

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

TO MANY, THE Rouge River winding along Hines Drive is an object of beauty and affection.

But to others, it is a garbage dump. More than 250 members of the Michigan Youth Corps have been finding this out the wet way during their recent cleanup of the river from one end of Hines Drive to the other. Among other things, they have discovered three Volkswagens, one truck and one Jeep beneath the water.

They also have come upon a broken down shanty or outhouse, plus TV sets, pieces of a burned out taxi, bicycles, logs, numerous auto tires and 50 railroad ties.

"The river has never been cleaned on this scale," said Lee Fidge, a Plymouth Township trustee who is the mover and shaker behind the event. As executive secretary of the Rouge River Watershed Council, she conceived the idea for the cleanup, and then wrote a proposal for the work.

It was accepted by William Lucas, Wayne County executive, who now administers the grant. Then it won approval of the Lansing-based Michigan Youth Corps, started by Gov. James Blanchard to ease teenage unemployment in Michigan.

The grant was later broadened to include other communities such as Redford, where work on the Rouge started last Tuesday. It is an area troubled by flooding, plus unsightly trash in the river.

Assistance on the grant also came from the office of U.S. Rep. Sander Levin, D-Detroit.

"It is a long needed project," said Charles Silver, who is in charge of community liaison at Levin's Detroit office. "Cleaning up the river will help prevent flooding in nearby cities. We worked as an advocate of the project with the county and the state. This is an example of good government cooperation."

GOOD ON-THE-JOB cooperation also in evidence along the Rouge where the work has been hard and hot, drenching and messy.

'Cleaning it up stops flooding caused by logjams. Also, if a river doesn't flow, it doesn't do what it should be doing. The cleaning process doesn't take place. Without the flow it has less oxygen for plant life and fish. It is one of the most positive natural resources we've got, and we shouldn't abuse it.'

— Lee Fidge,
director

Rouge River
Watershed Council

"A lot of those logs out there are big and hard to move," reported Corps member John Hewitt of Westland. "It took five or six people to carry one. We pitched in and worked together. That's what made it work."

The young people from 18-21 return from the riverside, often soaked to the skin, and dirty all over. They have had more than their share of mosquitoes, bees and poison ivy. (One worker went into shock after a bee sting, and help had to be summoned.)

Equipped only with gloves, plastic bags and muscle, they have wrestled from the water refuse left by both mankind and by nature. The first 10 days they pulled out nine tons of garbage. Because the young people did such a "spectacular" job, the county ordered more tools for them, according to Kathy Kanable, assistant to Lucas and project coordinator for the grant. They now have shovels and ropes, and loading hooks have been ordered.

AT A LOGJAM between Newburgh and Wayne roads in an area reached only by a narrow path through the woods, three young women and six men pulled five picnic tables from the river one day last week.

Throwing picnic tables in the river apparently is a popular outdoor sport along Hines Drive. The tossers probably never guess that the tables can catch on a fallen log or two, and form a simple dam.

Then the bustling Rouge puts on its brakes, and struggles the best it can to creep around and under the debris blocking its flow. No longer able to cleanse itself by running through wetlands and over rocks, it begins to stagnate. Sometimes the backup turns into a flood.

Cost of clearing two recent logjams have been $7,600 and $60,000, the latter being a monumental collection of logs and trees in Dearborn Heights several years ago. The cost of the Youth Corps river cleanup is $576,000. Kanable said that if high-salaried employees and sophisticated equipment were used for the same work, it would cost many millions.

GETTING the river moving again is the job of the corps members, who work for $3.35 an hour. Their supervisors are paid $5.46 an hour.

A thick lattice work of huge logs and smaller branches prevented the river from going with the flow at Merriman Road. Crew supervisor Mary Ann Angelini of East Detroit learned how deep the water was when she went in over her head. So corpspersons walked out on a tree Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to drink. Former Livonian Randy Davidson quenches his thirst from the clean water of a thermos rather than from the river.

Mary Ann Angelini carries one more load of junk out of the Rouge.

Corps conquers logjams, trash

Angelini has been thinking about water since she came on the job. "As we work I talk about the importance of keeping water clean so we can have enough to drink," she said. "If we keep on the way we are going, there won't be any water that is safe to drink."

"This job should have been done a long time ago," commented Youth Corpsman John Loechner of Westland. "It was needed bad."

"Yeah, this is useful work," put it Darrell Hall of Canton. "It will look better, and won't be a dumpsite any more." A man with team spirit, John Hewitt announced that Angelini's crew is "about best."

"The river is a mess," observed Corbin Bates of Redford. He was working near the Western Golf and Country Club in Redford. "We're getting rid of some of the junk people throw in."

To bear him out, about 10 minutes later Corpers pulled out a shopping cart from beneath the mud.

"If they could find the people who put this in, we wouldn't have to clean up the river so much," noted Jim Martin, another Redford resident. "We found an aluminum swimming pool and a swing set."

INTEREST IN water and in the Rouge is appreciated by Lee-Fidge, who as overseer of the Hines project, makes her way each week day from logjam to refuse pile keeping on eye on things.

"Here's a logjam that will knock your eye out," she said as she approached the river at Merriman Road. She pays close attention to her work force. One day she latched her way on a log across the river to discover a crew having a rendezvous with booze. They were all fired.

Her management technique is to talk over a job with crew members, accepting or rejecting their ideas about the best methods for doing the work of the day. Occasionally she thumbs down ideas for reasons of safety.

"Sometimes they are over-motivated, and do more than they should," she said.

Fidge was on a bridge near Northville when the refuse removed from the river became a pile about 20 feet long, 12 feet wide and five feet high.

It is hard to tell at this point what corps workers are learning through the experience. But one thing is certain. None of these members of the Michigan Youth Corps will ever throw any garbage in a river.

"The level of the water dropped four to six inches under the bridge afterward," she stated, revealing the philosophy behind the cleanup. The water beneath the Newburgh Road bridge dropped several inches after corps workers finished their task there.

"Cleaning it up stops flooding caused by logjams," she explained. "Also if a river doesn't flow, it doesn't do what it should be doing. The cleaning process doesn't take place. Without the flow it has less oxygen for plant life and fish. It is one of the most positive natural resources we've got, and we shouldn't abuse it."

The young people 18-21 eligible for the Corps return from the riverside, often soaked to the skin and dirty all over. They have had more than their share of mosquitoes, bees and poison ivy.

Volunteers needed hospice care

Hospice Support Services Inc. is interviewing prospective volunteers for the fall training program which will begin on Sept. 6.

Hospice Support Services is a community-based program of volunteers — professional and companion — who believe that life can be lived to capacity as long as an atmosphere of warmth, friendship and competent care prevail. It is an in-home care service provided free of charge to those served.

Anyone interested should call the hospice office at 522-4244 for additional information regarding the program. Applications for the fall class will be accepted through Aug. 28.

Goffs mark 50 years

Thomas and Bernice Goff of Garden City recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a surprise party thrown in their honor at Fair Haven Baptist Church in Westland. About 100 relatives and friends attended.

The Goffs, who were married in 1933 in Parkersburg, W.V., have lived in Garden City for 23 years. Thomas Goff worked for General Motors Hydromatic for 30 years before retiring in 1976. Both are members of Fair Haven church.

The Goffs have two children, Thomas Jr. of Livonia and John of Lincoln Park, six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Pair surprised on anniversary

William and Rose Harrison of Livonia recently celebrated their 40th anniversary at a surprise party at St. Andrew's Church hall. About 100 relatives and friends attended.

The couple was married in 1943 in Tuscon, Ariz., while William Harrison was in the Air Force. He had to fly out on duty just a few hours after they were married. They have lived in Livonia for 38 years.

The Harrisons have two children, William II of Fowlerville and Penny Plourde of Highland, and two grandchildren.

engagements

Gomolak-Gabler

An Aug. 26 wedding at Sts. Simon and Jude Church, Westland, will unite in marriage Helen Ann Gomolak and Thomas Wayne Gabler.

The couple's engagement was announced recently by her parents, Norman and Helen Couture of Westland. He is the son of Robert and Arlene Gabler of Dearborn Heights.

A 1979 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School, the bride also completed Schoolcraft College's marketing and applied management curriculum. She is employed by Honeywell Inc. in Farmington Hills.

Her fiancé is a 1975 graduate of Crestwood High School and Schoolcraft College, where he studied heating and cooling. Recently he was promoted as computer analyst in Honeywell's Atlanta office. They will make their home in Atlanta after the wedding.

Freivogel-Asselin

Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Freivogel of Levan Road, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter Jill Christine to Kevin Marc Asselin of Sterling Heights, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Regis Asselin.

The wedding will take place in September in St. Paul Lutheran Church in Farmington Hills.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Stevenson High School and Ferris State College and works at the Chevrolet Motor Division. Her fiancé is a graduate of Harper Woods High School and Macomb County Community College. He is employed by Dolan Optical Co.

Tell your happy news

The Observer Suburban Life section will be pleased to announce the news of your engagement, wedding or anniversary.

Forms are available for weddings and engagements and may be picked up at the Livonia office, 36251 Schoolcraft. All information submitted must include a telephone number so that it can be checked during business hours if necessary. Pictures submitted with announcements must be clear so that good reproduction is possible. They may be of bride or bride-elect or the bridal couple.

Anniversary information forms also are available at the Livonia office. Pictures will be accepted only for couples married 50 years or more.

In all engagement, wedding and anniversary announcements, at least one of the parties involved must be a resident or former resident of Livonia, Westland, Garden City or Redford Township.

Pictures will returned if an addressed and stamped envelope is included with the information submitted. All announcements will be printed as soon as possible, but we can't guarantee publication date or date.

Kaye-Parker

St. Colette Catholic Church in Livonia will be the scene of the Saturday, Sept. 10, wedding of Gail Anne Kaye of Livonia and Daniel James Parker of Springfield, Va. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Kwiatkowski of Surrey Street, Livonia. His parents are James Parker of Levan Road, Livonia, and Jacquelin Parker of Deering Street of Garden City.

A 1979 graduate of Ladywood High School, the bride-to-be attends Schoolcraft College majoring in mechanical design. She is employed as a design engineer at Posa-Cut Corp. Her fiancé is a 1978 graduate of Garden City East High School and works for the FBI in Washington, D.C.

McDonald-Lantto

Kenneth and Marie McDonald of Ronite Lane, Livonia, announce the impending marriage of their daughter Merri Jo to James Robert Lantto of Grand Rapids. He is the son of Dunstan and Madeline Lantto of Gillman Street, Livonia.

The bride-to-be graduated from Schoolcraft College with an associate degree in applied science. She works as a receptionist in the Farmington Nursing Home.

The wedding will take place Saturday, Aug. 20, in St. Robert Bellarmine Church in Redford Township.

Doty-Carmack

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Doty of Melrose Street, Livonia, announce the upcoming marriage of their daughter Valerie Lynn to Phillip Steven Carmack, son of Elmer Carmack of Taylor. The wedding will take place Aug. 13 in Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church in Dearborn.

The bride-to-be attends Schoolcraft College, and is employed at the Middlebelt office of the Kroger Co. Her fiancé is an engineer who graduated from the University of Michigan, and works as an electrical engineer at Control Data in St. Paul, Minn.

Open house held to honor Rowes

An open house Aug. 13 will honor Henry and Doris Rowe on their 50th wedding anniversary.

The event will be held from 2-6 p.m. at the Rowe residence, 1985 Al Smith Ave., Canton Township. It is being given by the couple's three children, Lee Rowe of Wayne, Jean Linna of Mesick, Mich., and Judy Keller of California.

The couple are members of the pioneer Rowe family who farmed on land on Ford Road that is now a commercial area dotted with apartments and other housing developments. One of the original buildings is used by Westland as its historical museum.

Retired now, Henry Charles Rowe was employed by the Ford Motor Co. His wife, Doris Ione Martin Rowe, is a retired Edison and Cady elementary schools teacher.

60 and counting for Corcorans

Thomas and Martha Corcoran of Redford recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary with a Mass and reception at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church.

The Corcorans were married in 1923 in Hamilton, Ontario, and have lived in Redford for 60 years. Thomas Corcoran is retired from Ford Motor Co. Both are affiliated with St. Cecelia and Immaculate Heart of Mary churches.

They have a daughter, Marianne Senkowski of Redford, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Redford YW adds new activities

Registration is open for additional August programs at Northwest Branch YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford.

Youth and adult tennis classes are already under way and will be held twice a week for four weeks.

Two subjects have been added to the YWCA summer youth program starting Aug. 9. Drawing and painting for 8- to 8-year-olds will be held Tuesday and Thursday from 11 a.m. until noon for five sessions during a three-week period.

Inflatable sculptures for 11-year-olds and up will also be offered on Tuesday and Thursday from 11 until 2:30 p.m. for the same period of time.

A four-week swim term of eight lessons will begin Aug. 8 for youth from 2½ years up. Daytime classes will meet twice a week on Monday and Wednesday. The five-day-a-week summer adventure will continue with weekly registration.

The drop-in Friday specials in the pool as well as the Fun Factory on Tuesday afternoon will continue throughout the summer.

For more details, call the Y at 837-8500.

Zoo Fun

No zoo visit is complete without photographs of the animals and the people, so naturally at the 1983 Carrier Night at the Zoo on June 24th, there were some really nice photos taken.

Special features this year were Elsie's Borden Train and Elsie herself. Rounding out the extra special features were the Moslem Clowns Shriners Unit of Detroit as well as the Moslem Highlanders Shriners Unit of Detroit who serenaded with their bagpipes.

A lovely, enjoyable evening and part of the fringe benefits of being an Observer & Eccentric carrier.

Thomas E. Traak, Pastor

Ahh-struck

Vacation Bible School at Trinity Church of the Brethren, Inkster and W. Chicago, ended in a colorful fashion that had plenty of strings attached. With the help of teachers, youngsters staged a balloon liftoff they hope will bring them some penpals. Staped to the string of the helium-filled balloons was the name and address of the child releasing the balloon. Some of the youngsters were more affected by the excitement than others. One of them was Daniel Salo (left) of Dearborn Heights who looks like the sight of all those bright balloons was almost too much for him to handle.

WARRENWOODS WESLEYAN

New pastor the Rev. William F. Kinnan and his wife Donna, will be welcomed Sunday to Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church, 6615 Venoy, Westland.

Regarding it as a new chapter in the life of the church, congregation members have planned an installation and celebration that will begin at 9:45 a.m. with a film showing of C.S. Lewis' "Narnian Chronicles." It will continue at 11 a.m. with service at which Kinnan will speak on new beginnings.

Kinnan obtained a master of ministry degree from the Anderson School of Theology in Anderson, Ind., and a bachelor of arts in theology degree from Marion College in Marion, Ind.

He was ordained in 1976. His pastoral experiences began with a three-year term as an associate pastor in New Jersey and as assistant pastor and youth director for two years in Marion. He also pioneered a Wesleyan Church in Houston, Texas.

His most recent assignment was as an admissions officer and instructor at the United Wesleyan College in Allentown, Pa.

Donna Kinnan grew up in Maryland, and graduated from Marion College. Both she and her husband, as college students, were included in "Who's Who in American Students."

UNITY OF LIVONIA

Doug Bortorff, minister at Tri-City Unity Temple in Bay City, Mich., will be the guest speaker at Sunday services in Unity of Livonia Church, 28860 Five Mile. He was ordained in 1981, and served two years as assistant at Christ

Rev and Mrs. William Kinnan

Church Unity in Kansas City before going to Bay City. He is a singer and guitar player.

The title of his Sunday message is "Changing Circumstantial Evidence."

DETROIT LAESTADIAN

Sampo Kaariniemi of Finland will be the guest speaker at special summer services Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 6 and 7, at Detroit Laestadian Congregation, 290 Fairground at Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. He will address the congregation at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and at 6 p.m. Sunday.

SACRED HEART BYZANTINE CATHOLIC

Blessing of the fruit will be celebrated Friday through Sunday in Sacred Heart Byzantine Catholic Church, 29125 Six Mile Livonia. It will commemorate the transfiguration of Jesus Christ. Each church family is encouraged to bring a small basket or bowl of fruit to church for a blessing, and then take it home to be eaten as gifts from God.

The fruit will be blessed during the Holy Day Liturgies and during the 6 p.m. Saturday Vigil Liturgy and the Sunday 10 a.m. Divine Liturgy.

UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD

The film, "People of Refuge," will be shown during the 6:30 p.m. service at United Assembly of God, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. The movie deals with the kind of compassion that recognizes when people are lonely and need comfort.

SS. SIMON AND JUDE CATHOLIC

Table space is still available for those wishing to sell arts and crafts at the Silver Jubilee festival Aug. 11-14 at SS. Simon and Jude Catholic Church, 32500 Palmer, Westland. Those interested may contact Nora Pawlus at 722-8397 or Frank Pekala at 522-5322.

Festival hours are 6-10 p.m. Thursday, 6-midnight Friday, noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

Christ-Savior Lutheran plans new addition

Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Sunday for a new addition to Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church of Livonia.

The new addition will include the renovation of the present parish hall into two classrooms, the addition of three more classrooms, offices for five church workers, a library, parish hall/gymnasium, kitchen, restrooms and storage areas.

The building committee, chaired by William Kalitta, has been working since February with architect Gordon Merritt of Merritt and Callum, Architects of Farmington. The Adair-Chaldecott Co. will be constructing the building.

Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church was chartered in 1977 and has expanded rapidly since that time. The 825-member congregation dedicated its first building in January 1979. Rev. Ralph G. Schmidt has served as pastor from the first year. The church is located at 14175 Farmington Road.

Bells to signal call to prayer

In observance of the 38th anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima, area Presbyterians will pause briefly in prayer at noon Saturday.

The call to pray for peace follows the adoption recently of a resolution by all churches of the Detroit Presbytery that recalls the fact that Saturday is the 38th anniversary of the detonation of the first nuclear device in warfare and is part of the church organization's anti-nuclear efforts.

Taking part in the observance that calls for the ringing of church bells 38 times are St. Paul Presbyterian and Rosedale Presbyterian churches of Livonia and Plymouth Presbyterian Church. All are affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Bloodmobile sets area stops

A Red Cross bloodmobile will visit Livonia on Sunday, Aug. 7, and Redford on Tuesday, Aug. 23.

The Livonia visit will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman. For an appointment, call Serge Guillot at 261-2094.

Redford Community Hospital, 25210 Grand River, Redford, will be the location of a visit from noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 23. For an appointment, call Anna Staltman at 531-6200, ext. 32.

Donations are accepted every weekday and Saturdays at the Livonia Donor Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 Six Mile, Livonia. Hours are from 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday. Saturday hours are from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For an appointment, call the center at 422-2820.

ELF: power, greed and a frightening giant

By Rev. Robert Schaden
special writer

Despite the innocent and almost fairy tale sound of its name, ELF is no little thing. For those not familiar with Project ELF, the three letters stand for extreme-low-frequency. They refer to the radio waves of a communication system designed to provide a "first strike trigger" for our Trident submarine force.

The project serves as a prime example of how easily we can move from talking about defense to planning for war with most people oblivious to the deadly difference. One day we are talking about defending ourselves against the terrible Russians — most of whom are as frightened as we are — and the next day we are referring to a first strike weapon by such an innocent handle as ELF.

The designers and the backers of ELF may insist upon the national security aspect of ELF (a much disputed assumption) and speak of the project with pride. It's called national pride, making all as wholesome as apple pie. However, I do not personally find the ability to begin a nuclear war anything deserving of pride.

OUR NAVY, TO whom Project ELF

moral perspectives

belongs, admits that ELF has no retaliatory role and could be easily sabotaged. Thus its only purpose can be to provide us the first strike capability that a marriage of ELF and Trident would offer.

A most elementary understanding of human psychology would tell us that the development of offensive nuclear capability undermines whatever security we might have. If any nation believes that we have the ability to destroy them in a secret attack, then that nation's only defense would be to strike us first. This frightening fact alone would seem to undercut any moral justification for ELF on grounds of national defense.

However, aside from such nonsensical "defense talk," the whole trail of events in the history of ELF is scattered with dishonesty, a dangerous lust for power and economic greed.

Justification is offered on such flimsy grounds as the fact that it will offer jobs in Michigan. That happens to be true. The projected number of jobs is about 200, a very small number when one considers the ELF price tag to the taxpayers of some half a million dollars.

Even if that were a much lower figure, one must ask whether a handful of jobs or lots of jobs justify the building of a first strike nuclear weapon.

AS TO THE dishonesty, the Navy put the first ELF test facility into operation in 1969 with the now broken promise to remove it when the test was completed. Instead they are pushing for expansion. Even the now talked about ELF is considered a foot in the door for a much more extensive project which will eventually plant some 3400 miles of ELF cable in upper Michigan and Wisconsin.

Obviously, there is money to be made and that item, as is so often the case in the human condition, has a way of blurring whatever objectivity might be brought to the debate. It is no secret that much of the lobbying for the project has been done by corporations that will profit from the project.

GTE Sylvania is the prime contractor and the local utilities are not at all disappointed in the projected one-million-dollar-a-year electrical bill.

As if the money, the "red-baiting" talk of patriotism and the ultimate danger to the preservation of peace were not enough to sully the efforts of ELF, the process of pushing it on the people of our Upper Peninsula is hardly worthy of the democratic process.

Although two out of three people have voted it down in referendums, the Michigan Natural Resources Commission voted 5-0 to grant an easement to the Navy for ELF, implying as they did that the use of land was not their responsibility.

Not only is ELF no little thing, it becomes a frightening giant in the hands of money-makers who will have it no other way.

Wherever you vacation in Michigan this August, chances are there will be a county fair or festival nearby. Some of the festivals run for a week, some just for a weekend, and some run midweek, so you can pick and choose to accommodate your vacation schedule.

State offers festivals, fairs for every taste this summer

SUMMER IS A festive time of the year in Michigan, and this week we'd like to update you on some of the many festivals occurring statewide this month.

DEARBORN'S THREE-DAY FESTIVAL, called Dearborn Homecoming is Friday through Sunday at Ford Field, a huge green spread given to the city long ago by Clara Bryant Ford, wife of the first Henry. There will be carnival rides, a juried art fair, a Polish festival tent, an Italian Bocci festival and lots of other goodies.

Friday includes an elderfest, battle of the bands; Saturday, reunion picnics for graduates of all Dearborn high schools, whatever the year, dance competition, highland games, Scottish festival-heritage-tattoo; Sunday, picnics, pioneer tent, fife and drum corps, summer jazz, festival of games, historical pageant etc.

It's quite a splash. Call 943-2320 for homecoming information. Ford Field is in West Dearborn. It borders Cherry Hill to the north or can be reached by walking two blocks north of Michigan Avenue.

THIS WEEKEND ALSO you'll find lots of events in southeast Michigan: the Monroe County Fair ends Saturday; it's Scandinavian Festival and Festival of India at Hart Plaza, German Day at Macomb County Park. Sunday is an old-fashioned ice cream festival at Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society in Pontiac.

Saturday is the final day of the county fairs in Caro, Lincoln, Bay City, Monroe, Harrison, Alma, Mason and Lowell, as well as of the Milltown Festival in Grayling. The Ionia Free Fair and the U.S. Coast Guard Festival (Grand Haven) end Sunday.

And: Nautical City Festival, Rogers City; Heritage Festival, Vassar; Polish Festival, Boyne Falls; Country in the City Celebration, University of Michigan campus, Ann Arbor; Chocolate Summer Festival Marquette; Lake Gogebic Summerfest, Bergland; Baraga County Fair, Pelkie. All this weekend, Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday only, all of the above or an Indian Pow-Wow, at Cross Village, a classic car show at Meadowbrook Hall in Rochester or an old-time threshing bee at the nature center of the Delano Homestead in Kalamazoo.

TAKING NEXT WEEK OFF? There are county fairs all week in Jackson, Mt. Pleasant, Coldwater, Bad Axe Corunna and starting Monday in Belleville, Goodells, Cassopolis, Gaylord. Tuesday through Saturday, Aug. 13; in Manchester; Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 10-13, in Atlanta and Mio.

Abbott's Magic Get-Together is on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 10-13, in the high school gym in Colon. That is a famous, fun event. If you or your kids like magic, don't miss it.

Well, we got through one week. Too bad there's nothing much to do on a summer's

1-of-a-kind traveler

From a magic fair in Colon to a kite festival in Saugatuck, Michigan offers a wide variety of summer events this month.

Renaissance Festival, Clarkston. That exciting event is on at the Colombers Center, every weekend starting Saturday, Aug. 20, and lasting through Sunday, Sept. 25.

DID YOU THINK we ran out of country fairs? Never. You'll find them Sunday through Saturday, Aug. 21-27, in Alpena and Petoskey, Monday through Saturday, Aug. 22-27, in Hudsonville, Kalamazoo and Ludington; Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 24-27, in Kalkaska; Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 25-28, in Chatham; Friday through Sunday, Aug. 26-28, in Houghton and Moran.

You'll also find Yesteryear Heritage Festival at Depot Town in Ypsilanti, and the Blues Festival at Hart Plaza, both Friday through Sunday, Aug. 26-28.

You can celebrate Carry Nation Day Sunday, Aug. 28, by joining the 75th Anniversary Dinner at the Holly Hotel in Holly.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR at the state fairgrounds in Detroit Friday through Wednesday, Aug. 26-31. And if you can stay with me to the end: Schoolcraft County Fair in Manistiquette Friday through Monday, Aug. 26-29; Old Au Sable Days at White Pine Village in Ludington Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 27-28; Northwestern Michigan Fair in Traverse City as well as Eastern Michigan Fair in Imlay City, both Monday through Wednesday, Aug. 29-31; and finally, folks, the Manistee County Fair in Onekama and the Chippewa County Fair in Kinross Wednesday, Aug. 31.

There's more. Oh yes, there's more. But you'll have to wait for our September page, or contact the Michigan travel bureaus toll-free at 1-800-292-5404; by writing P.O. Box 30226, Lansing, 48909; or by stopping at the travel information centers scattered throughout the state. For southeast Michigan events call the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association at 585-8220.

Road Commission is overcharging, says Lucas staff

A Wayne County board committee is investigating complaints that the county's autonomous road commission is overcharging its parks division for use of equipment.

"It would be in our best interest to go to an outside source for rental or purchase of equipment," said a report from Martha Sorensen, a member of County Executive William Lucas' staff. She indicated the Wayne County Road Commission charges were three to 20 times normal.

But the report was termed ridiculous by parks superintendent Edwin E. Mika and David L. Jackson, assistant director of administration.

The road commission builds and maintains county roads from state gasoline and weight taxes. But its parks division is funded to the tune of $980,000 by county general government.

LUCAS ASKED the county board's ways and means committee to deny an appropriation of an additional $500,000 to keep county parks open beyond Aug. 15.

Mike said the parks would not be closed as of Aug. 15 but that all maintenance and supervisory personnel would be withdrawn if the funding weren't approved.

The CEO staff report, released Monday by ways and means Chairman Clarence R. Young, D-Detroit, compared rates from the state, Oakland County and private industry in concluding the road commission was overcharging the general fund for parks equipment.

EXAMPLES:

- The parks division is charged $1,946 per week for a pickup truck. The cost of leasing a Ford F-150 for a month would have been $255.

- The parks division was charged $3,028 a week for a dump truck. It could have been leased privately for $830 a month.

- A garbage packer cost parks $4,307 a week. Kent County and Oakland County parks pay $20,000 a year, not including labor.

The researcher said she was unable to get exact specifications for each piece of equipment, but noted that "machinery used in other park systems were compared."

Who cares for the kids?

JUST SUPPOSE: All high school sports for the coming year were canceled. Lots of folks around these parts wouldn't like that, I'll wager. Somebody's bound to ask sensible questions like, "Why? Millage failures?"

The answer: Nope, that's not the reason. "Teacher strikes?"

Wrong again, quiz kid. Keep trying.

"The kids just aren't interested in sports anymore — is that it?"

Strike three. Sports are as popular with kids as ever.

GIVE UP? Well, here's a hint. The canceled sports events wouldn't be without replacement. An exciting new melodrama would take their place on these sports pages.

A good title for it would be, "Battle of Bureaucracies"

I know what you're thinking — this Risak guy has gone off the deep end again. What the heck is he talking about?

I admit it sounds like a ludicrous scenario. Unfortunately, it also happens to be entirely possible.

WHAT I'M talking about is something that happened last week. The group that reigns over the state's sports programs, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA), filed suit against the U.S. Department of Education and the Office of Civil Rights, charging that Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 does not apply to athletics or programs not directly receiving federal funds.

What does all that mean? First off, Title IX has been hailed as the great sports equalizer. Because of Title IX, sports programs for girls have expanded tenfold.

So why would the MHSAA do such a dastardly thing? Are they opposed to girls competing in sports?

NOT AT ALL, says Vern Norris, MHSAA director.

"We're not against Title IX, nor are we opposed to the Office of Civil Rights," Norris said in a telephone conversation Monday. Norris repeated that statement several times.

"That is a misnomer as to why we filed the suit," he continued. "The reason we filed suit was because the Office of Civil Rights told us in June that we had to change sports seasons by Sept. 7."

The OCR? What do they have to do with this? I'll tell you what. The OCR made their ruling in answer to a complaint filed in 1982 by the Coalition for Non-Sexist Education against the MHSAA, five school districts and the Michigan Department of Education.

The complaint alleged that the MHSAA discriminates in the scheduling of girls' sports seasons, in representation of women and minorities on its decision-making committee, and in various other practices.

THE OCR decided the Coalition was right. They told the MHSAA that girls' sports seasons would have to be played during the time of year that was traditional for that sport.

Which meant girls' basketball would be played in winter, instead of the fall, because basketball traditionally is a winter sport. Other sports must follow suit (swimming in the winter instead of fall, etc.).

"They gave us no leeway of any kind," Norris protested. "There was no way to negotiate on anything."

Such a ruling, Norris pointed out, would throw the upcoming high school sports seasons into total confusion.

"The thing they don't know is that all sorts of contracts are signed with officials for playing dates," Norris said. "Schedules and sites are already set. It's kind of unrealistic to try and change all that now."

THAT'S TRUE. But the MHSAA is not entirely innocent in this matter.

What aggravates members of the Coalition that filed suit is the kind of "Catch-22" attitude adopted by school systems and MHSAA officials.

Norris said that in a 1981 referendum, "88 percent of the schools said they were satisfied with the split seasons as they were." He added that the MHSAA "administers programs at the wish of the schools."

Which means the MHSAA does what the schools tell them to, right? But Coalition members say that when they ask school administrators why the seasons can't be changed, they're told the MHSAA dictated when the sport will be played.

The MHSAA's decision-making committee is much more powerful than Norris suggests. There is no other group to check its power. If a certain school's administrators disagree with an MHSAA ruling, for instance, there isn't a lot of room for appeal. The only leverage they have would be to quit the MHSAA. That would prove very little.

IN A NUTSHELL, the Coalition wants more representation for women and minorities on the MHSAA decision-making committee (currently, three of 19 members are women) and girls' sports played in the season they were meant to be played.

The MHSAA, according to Norris, believes the school systems should be able to decide what sports will be played when, and only they should have power over such decisions. He also believes

State gridders strut stuff

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The rivalry hasn't yet reached University of Michigan-Ohio State, or U-M-MSU proportions, but it's getting there.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, 80 of last year's top high school senior football players — 40 from the east side of the state, 40 from the west — will square off at Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium in the third annual Michigan High School All-Star football game.

The game, initiated by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association to showcase the state's finest high school football talent and to raise money for various charity organizations, has gone beyond being just a friendly little game of tackle. The players are out to win and win big.

"They (the West squad) are cocky. I think some animosity is starting to build up between the teams," said Bob Stebbins, a tight end from Livonia Franklin, one of 10 players on the East team from the Observer & Eccentric service area.

AS EVIDENCE OF his statement, Stebbins relayed this story: Both teams eat their meals in the same dining commons, though they are staying in separate dormitories on the MSU campus. To decide which team gets served first, the teams have a cheering contest — the team with the loudest cheer eats first. At dinner last week, the West shouted a rather obscene chant maligning the East's masculinity. While the West enjoyed the laugh at the dinner table, Stebbins said the East players resolved to get the last laugh come Saturday afternoon.

"We want to win. That is our main goal," said Farmington Harrison's Ken Kish, who along with Livonia Franklin's Richard Popp, will share the quarterbacking duties for the East.

Adray clubs MNB

It's like a runaway freight train — who wants to step on the track and try to stop it?

Livonia Adray, the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League regular season champ, is the runaway that has whistled non-stop through 16 straight opponents.

The most recent victim was Michigan National Bank (MNB). Adray had little trouble disposing of MNB in the first round of the Livonia Collegiate playoffs, steaming to a 10-3 victory Sunday at Ford Field.

The victory raised Livonia Adray's record to 25-5-1 and vaulted the team into the winner's bracket against Wendy's of Ann Arbor in a game played last night. Wendy's qualified in the winner's bracket by upsetting regular season runner-up Redford-Westland Adray, 4-0, Sunday at Ford.

MNB AND REDFORD-WESTLAND met in the loser's bracket contest last night. The winner of that game will play the loser of the Livonia Adray-MNB contest Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Ford.

The championship will be at stake in Friday's 8 p.m. contest at Ford. If necessary, a final league playoff game will be played Saturday at 5 p.m.

At stake is an AAABA regional berth in the four-

baseball

name to be held at Ford Field starting Wednesday, Aug. 10. The Livonia Collegiate champion will challenge the Dayton winner at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 10. Pittsburg and Cleveland play in the tourney's opening game at 4 p.m. Aug. 10.

LIVONIA ADRAY got strong pitching from Mike MacDonald, who hurled the first seven innings against MNB and allowed two runs, walking three and striking out four.

John Recker relieved MacDonald in the eighth and surrendered one run while striking out two and issuing two walks.

Hitting heroes for Livonia Adray included John Judge, who smacked a pair of doubles to drive in three runs. John DePillo added a solo homer in the fourth and a run-scoring sacrifice fly, while Don Dombey collected two hits in four trips.

Pat Martin was the first of five MNB pitchers, lasting four innings and surrendering six runs.

Healthy Warren 5-0

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

So, THAT'S what a healthy Bob Warren can do.

Fully recovered from last spring's debilitating bout with mononucleosis, the former Clarenceville star has been blowing the ball by the batters in the tough Detroit Division of the Adray Baseball League.

Blowing often is an overblown word to describe pitchers, but in this case it fully applies. He's been throwing heat to set 'em up, and nasty curves to sit 'em down, finishing the regular season with a 5-0 mark and leading the league with 43 strikeouts in 43 innings. To show his win-loss record was no fluke, his earned-run average was a fine 3.56, sixth best in the league, annually one of the toughest in the nation.

In fact, Warren's team, Adray Photo, is basically the Eastern Michigan varsity, which finished second in its division on the Mid-American Conference. Photo (20-8) finished second in Detroit Division, too, to Adray Sound, which was 25-1. The record becomes understandable when you consider that Sound is more or less the University of Michigan team, which finished third in the nation in the recent college World Series.

people in sports

SPRING MAY be recent, but forgive Warren if it seems like a distant memory to him. It was a tough freshman year, depended on for big things, he contracted mono in mid-season, spent more than a month fighting it off, then never regained his early form. For a team that ran up a record of 39-26 overall, he managed but two wins and three losses, with an earned-run average of 4.93 and 37 walks in just 38 1/3 innings.

Warren wasted no time in the Adray League proving that he was recovered. He's been sharp from the beginning of the year.

"It was hard to come back from that," said Warren. "Still, I learned a lot in one year, more than in four years of high school. Though in high school I used to have really good control. I don't know what happened, don't know what it is, but my control's been off just a bit."

O'Connor, Angels bounced in Mack playoffs

Livonia O'Connor Co. gave it a good run in the Connie Mack regional playoffs at Lincoln Park over the weekend, succumbing in the finals to an outstanding Lincoln Park Adray team, 5-1.

The finals were supposed to be on Sunday, but rain pushed them back to Monday afternoon. Brian Porter started on the mound for O'Connor, and it was his crucial error that gave Adray a 4-0 lead. He fielded a bunt cleanly, then threw the ball into center field to let two runs score.

O'Connor, which had just four hits, scored its run when Jim Lasota's single to left knocked in John Bebb.

"It was a good year," said O'Connor coach Ron Rozman, whose charges closed out their season at 16-4. "We had a chance. We had good pitching, good defense, but not much offense."

"But, hey, Adray was loaded. They play in an open league there and they draw from all over. They're loaded. It's pretty much a hand-picked team."

O'Connor faced Adray in the opener of the regionals Thursday night, as well, falling by a tough 5-3 score when an outfielder dropped a fly ball with two out for two unearned runs.

O'Connor led by 3-0 going into the fourth and it was 3-3 in the fifth when the crucial error occurred.

baseball

Luckily for O'Connor, it was a double-elimination tournament. Friday night, the boys from Livonia won on a 7-0 forfeit when Warren, apparently thinking the contest was rained out, failed to show.

Saturday, O'Connor won it on the field, breezing behind the four-hit pitching of Rick Rozman to a 10-2 win that was halted after five innings on a mercy rule.

Left fielder Joe Urso was the big gun, with three hits and two runs batted in, while right fielder Bill Ullie had two hits and two RBI and third baseman Joe Lack had two hits and one RBI.

That set up Monday's final game against powerful Adray.

MEANWHILE, in Allen Park, the Livonia Angels saw a fine season end on a sour note, as well as a quick double loss. The Angels were bombed by Canton Thursday night, 11-0, then fell to Garden City in an 8-1 whipping Saturday.

"The tournament was disappointing," said fallen coach Doug White, whose team ended at 14-5-1. "We can definitely play a lot better than that. It's unbelievable. . . We lost our fourth hitter, Rich Popp, who had to go to Lansing for the All-Star football game, and some of my starters had to work."

The game Thursday was close for four innings, but the Angels were routed in the fifth when Canton closed out the scoring with eight runs.

Bob Copciac who gave up a pair of three-run home runs to Jeff Olson and Bryan Capnerhurst, took the loss. Jaimie Chilcoff got the win.

Saturday, catcher Mike Johnson, who batted over .400 all year, had a triple and a single and scored a run, but it hardly offset the offense of Garden City.

Bill Haynes took the loss. Copciac had the lone RBI on a sacrifice fly.

Hail, Garden

Winter Garden Bar came from behind Monday night to beat Sneaky Pete's, 6-2, and lock up first place in Division I of the Livonia Modified Softball League.

Pete's scored two runs in the second inning and would have had three, but for a perfect relay from Steve Karas to Dave Brubaker that nailed pitcher Curtis Richards at the plate.

Garden stormed back in the bottom of the second, with Pete Lamono's single through the middle scoring two runs to tie it up.

The game proceeded without incident until Winter Garden broke through in the sixth, on a game-winning RBI single by Mark Crawford. Karas' RBI single, a bases-loaded walk to Ernie Comini and a sacrifice fly by Jim Bowman.

THE GARDEN CITY police won a 4-2 thriller Tuesday morning at Jaycee Park in a playoff game with Michigan Dairy to determine the champion of the Wayne-Westland-Garden City Class B Softball League.

The teams had tied with a 14-3 mark during the regular season.

The police broke open a 2-2 game in the sixth inning on an RBI ground out by Craig Sylvester and a run-producing single by Mike Carr.

The police, made up entirely of Garden City's finest, are co-sponsored by Red Holman Pontiac.

East takes on West in grid star game

The East and West have split the two preceding games, the East winning in 1981, 6-3, and the West last year, 25-22.

This year's contest will pit the high-powered passing attack of the East against the patient, powerful ground attack of the West. Both teams are loaded with strong defensive players.

BESIDES STEBBINS, who will attend Central Michigan this fall, Kish who will go to Albion, and Popp who will attend Wayne State, other O&E area players on the East squad are: David Blackmer (University of Wisconsin) from Harrison; Brian Munson (Bowling Green) and Bob Martz (Notre Dame) from Bloomfield Hills; LaSner, Jeff Gatt (Hillsdale) from Redford Catholic Central; Mark Nichols, (MSU) from Birmingham Brother Rice; Jack Walker (U-M) from Westland John Glenn; and David Houle (MSU) from Plymouth Salem.

Two Livonia Franklin coaches will help Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes head coach Mike Boyd run the East squad. Armand Vigna will be the offensive coordinator and Gerry Cullin will be an assistant coach.

The team has been living and working out in East Lansing since July 28, and the consensus is that the teams are ready to go.

"We have had to install an offense and a defense in the short time we've been here," said Vigna. "But, with six coaches, we can do both simultaneously. The defense, at this point, is way ahead of the offense. But, we're going to have a real healthy passing attack."

"THOSE WHO COME out are going to see an exciting, wide-open football game," Vigna added. "The game is going to showcase the things these players do best. No one is going to come out and play conservatively in a game like this. I know we're going to come out smoking."

Officials from the coaches association are expecting a crowd of more than 10,000 for the game. The game will be televised for the first time, on WDIV Channel 4.

Tickets are $3 in advance and $4 at the gate. Proceeds from the game will go to the coaches association Scholarship Fund, the Shriners' burn center for children and to the Ronald McDonald House.

The game is for everyone. For the fans, the game showcases the top high school football players and offers a preview of the future college stars from the state. For the coaches and local charities, it's a chance to raise some much-needed money.

But, the game is really for the players. It's a chance to meet and play against the best players in the state. It's a chance to get in shape for college ball. And for those who haven't been signed by a college, it's a chance to display their skills.

Jeff Gatt summed it up best: "For me, it's an honor to play in this game."

World title next for Finlan?

Finlan Agency of Livonia, the 1983 Michigan Women's Major Fastpitch Association champion, took another step to a possible world title by finishing second in a regional qualifier July 23 and 24 in Madison, Wis.

Though Finlan was defeated in the title game, 1-0, by C&S Products of Buchanan, Mich., a team it beat out during the regular season, there was still rejoicing. The top two teams in the tournament, the Great Lakes regional, advanced to the American Softball Association's upcoming world tourney in Salt Lake City.

Finlan's drew a strong first opponent

softball

In the Wisconsin tourney, the Greater Milwaukee Bankettes, the Wisconsin state champions in the Major Division and a team that had made the world tournament 15 years running. No problem: Finlan's shut 'em out, 3-0.

Finlan's lost the next game to the Flint W.K.s, 2-0, then won two in a row, 2-1 over Nakoma, the Wisconsin Class A champions, and 3-0 over The Farm.

That set up the title game, which was decided on a rare error by Finlan's in the first inning.

Finlan may have finished second, but star Laura Houle, a Central Michigan standout during the college season, finished first in the Most Valuable Player voting.

Houle's fielding was sharp throughout, as was her hitting, particularly a game-winning home run in the bottom of the ninth in the 2-1 win over Nakoma.

FINLAN'S, PLAYING as Oasis Golf Center this past weekend in the Livonia League, continued its winning ways with back-to-back shutouts that kept the team in a tie for first place with the Birmingham Eagles.

Jan Boyd four-hit Motor City Prescription in a 5-0 whitewashing, fanning 14 players for her strikeout high of the season. Jody Humphries supplied all the power that was needed with a lead-off home run in the second inning.

Shelly Larned then scattered three hits in a 4-0 win over the Dreamers, which gave her four shutouts and four victories on the season.

Oasis and Birmingham tangled Wednesday night for the league title. The game story will be in Monday's editions.

LIVONIA OPEN TENNIS

The annual Livonia Open Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Parks and Recreation Department, is Aug. 12-14 at Shelden and Rotary parks.

Divisions of play include 14-and-under boys and girls singles, 17-and-under boys and girls singles, 18-34 and 35 and over men's and women's singles.

Also included are men's, women's and mixed doubles.

The cost is $2 for 17-and-under events and $4 per adult event. No player may enter more than one singles and one doubles event. The draw is limited to 32 players per event.

For more information, call Barry Wallace at 326-7571 or Ernie Kelm at 595-3145.

AREA NOTABLES

Joe Krusinski of Livonia, a Bentley High School graduate, bounced back from an injury to take first place in the American/Canadian Powerlifting Contest on July 17 in East Lansing.

Competing in the 275-pound weight class, the 24-year-old Krusinski won the event with a lift of 640 pounds.

Russ Theus of Garden City drove his GT3 Toyota Corolla to a first place finish last weekend at the Grand Prix Nationals at Indianapolis Raceway Park in Clermont, Ind.

Healthy Warren's tough

His wildness has been a problem at times — he led the Adray League in walks (35) as well as strikeouts — but, then again, no one's going to be digging in up there against him.

"He's got a good fastball, good curve ball, good velocity," said his Adray coach, Roger Coryell, who doubles as assistant coach at Eastern. "His one weakness is his tendency to overthrow. Hurrying himself versus slowing down. All he needs to do is learn to relax a bit more. He could be a good one for us."

"We were really counting on him in school, but that mono in midseason hurt him and it hurt us."

It hurt worse when Warren, thinking he was cured, stopped taking his penicillin tablets. He suffered a relapse and was out again for a couple of weeks.

CORYELL SEES sees Warren, who goes 6-foot-2, 200 pounds, as a definite pro prospect. "He's gotta keep improving," said Coryell. "He made a big improvement since high school. If he keeps improving, he should be a pretty good draft pick in two years."

That would be fine with Warren, who admits if he were drafted high, it would be hard to pass up the pros for his senior year of college eligibility.

"I'd love to play in the pros some day," said Warren. "Everybody would. That's why we're playing college ball. I talked to some scouts in high school, and got a couple of Christmas cards. I talked to the Phillies and Tigers, but I wasn't drafted."

Though the regular Adray season has been completed, Warren still has a chance to add to his 5-0 record. The Adray playoffs begin this afternoon at the University of Detroit, with Sound playing at 2 p.m. and Photo taking on Hutchens Chiropractic at 5 p.m. Coryell was undecided at press time on his starting pitcher, though Warren was eager for the assignment.

Kids are ignored

In the democratic process in selecting committee members.

Caught in the middle, of course, are the kids and the sports. Many coaches believe girls' basketball is fine right where it is. Good coaches can double up and coach both, and there's no conflict in use of gyms for practice. Media attention would also be greater in the fall than in winter, when girls' basketball would compete directly with boys.

WHO WILL WIN? The only decision issued at a hearing scheduled last week in Ann Arbor was a change of venue to the west side of the state, date to be determined.

Both sides insist they are in the right. If the courts uphold the Coalition's complaint and the OCR's ruling, it could throw the entire upcoming sports season, for both boys and girls, into chaos.

Which makes me wonder: Has either side asked, or considered, what the athletes think?

Benefit runners reach bridge

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

It wasn't easy, not by any means. But the enthusiasm of the supporters of the Detroit to Mackinac Olympic Relay was more than enough to keep the Schoolcraft College-sponsored team pounding the pavement.

The relay started last Thursday at Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit. By the time it concluded Sunday, the runners were jogging up to the Mack-running

nac Bridge — a distance of 301.4 miles.

The Schoolcraft team consisted of 12 members, together with a few others who joined in along the way. Several times during the race, more than one member of the team was running, so that Schoolcraft piled up 506.2 total miles.

"Five people ran the entire last leg," said Schoolcraft athletic director Marv Gans, who drove the team's motor home during the run. The final leg covered eight miles.

"We were the only group that went all the way," Gans said. "So you can see what kind of interest there was."

INTEREST INDEED. So much interest that Tom Allen recruited his 12-year-old brother, Mike, to run a pair of three-mile legs.

Another team member, Jeff Mongrain, ran on Thursday and Friday, drove back to Detroit to play in a band Friday night, then rejoined the team Sunday in Cheboygan to finish the run.

"Some of our runners did exceptionally well," Gans said, remarking that "the heat was tremendous. Especially Friday, and that was an 80-mile day."

The team stopped in Birch Run the first night and in West Branch the second. On the third night, 10 miles from Gaylord, they did suffer a breakdown — but it wasn't any of the runners. This breakdown was in the motorhome.

"Someone got out of bed and fixed (our transmission) for us between one and five in the morning," Gans said.

That wasn't uncommon, according to Gans. Support was everywhere, especially from the Action Distributing of Livonia, sponsors who were responsible for aid stations that supplied water every two to three miles of the run "all the way to Mackinac," Gans said.

"THEY REALLY deserve a lot of credit," Gans said of Action's support. "They were instrumental in all of this."

Once the runners reached Mackinac, the Miller Distributors (including Action) presented a $50,000 check to benefit the Olympic Training Center.

Top runners for the Schoolcraft team included Tobin Jones and George Hudock, who ran over 73 miles each. Jeff Bristow totaled 65, Tom Allen had more than 51 and Greg Young and Margo Kazlak hit 50 apiece. Russ Gans, the Schoolcraft athletic director's son, ran 47.5 miles. Others on the team included Sonny Gavoor, Ellen Henry, Joe Queen, Mike O'Toole and Mongrain.

By the time they reached Mackinac, all 12 team members had one thing in common:

"They were very tired — exhausted," Gans said. "Most of them slept all the way back to Detroit."

It was a well-deserved, and much-needed, rest.

"Good Old Days" return

One of the most unusual sports promotions of the year will take place in the bowling establishments in greater Detroit over the weekend when they celebrate the "Good Old Days."

This is the weekend when they turn back the pages and sell bowling for 25 cents a line and serve hot dogs for another quarter. That's the same price it cost for a line, or a dog, 25 years ago.

It is estimated that more than five tons of the wainers will be served over the three-day period, starting on Friday.

One of the the largest orders for the hot dogs came from Woodland Lanes in Livonia, where more than 2,000 of the frankfurters and buns will be eaten while the pins are being knocked down.

This is the 10th anniversary of the "Good Old Days" promotion.

WITH THE interest shown in the Ladies Pros tournament at Satellite Bowl, there is a possibility that the women will give the Detroit area a permanent spot on the schedule to roll what they have chosen to call the Detroit Open.

No decision is expected before the end of the year.

AS USUAL, the Gavie Sweepstakes, which annually usher in the new bowling season, will be held on the Friday prior to Labor Day.

The sweepstakes were inaugurated 40 years ago and are one of the most popular one-night events on the bowling calendar.

Local kids sparkle at huge fitness meet

Six youngsters from the Eccentric-Observer readership area picked up first places last week to pace the 144 winners at the 26th annual Detroit Metropolitan Youth Fitness Meet at Metro Beach near Mt. Clemens.

More than 2,000 boys and girls, ages 9-11, competed in nine events. They represented 48 communities in the metro area as well as four districts from the city of Detroit.

Both boys and girls competed in dashes of 50, 60 and 75 yards; the softball throw; standing long jump; running long jump; running triple jump; shuttle relay; distance run; and chinning. There were three age classes, A (13-14), B (11-12) and C (9-10).

Local winners were Scott Harvel of Garden City, in the Class A softball throw (232 feet); Bob Rals, Livonia, Class C standing long jump (6-foot-1); Cirris Manauls of Southfield in the girls Class A softball throw (175-4); Julie Lawless of West Bloomfield in the recreation news

Class B softball throw (151-3); Chris Adams of Southfield in Class C boys chinning (18); and Amy Kallnowski of Livonia in Class C chinning (13).

Second places were recorded by Todd Stackowicz of West Bloomfield in the Class C distance run (1:20.85); Susan Ferko of Canton in the Class C softball throw (88-4); Lori Godlewski of Livonia in the Class C distance run (1:24.91); Chris Morasky of Livonia in Class A boys chinning (16); and Dan Armitage of West Bloomfield in Class B chinning (12).

Thirds were garnered by Jennifer Teller of Canton in the Class B standing long jump (7-1¼); and Melissa Carl of Rochester in Class A chinning (6).

The Preservation Hall Jazz Band brings Dixieland jazz to the Meadow Brook Music Festival on Saturday.

upcoming things to do

● OPEN AUDITIONS
The Garden City Civic Theatre will hold open auditions for the musical "Once Upon a Mattress," 7-10 p.m. Monday-Tuesday at the Maplewood Community Center, 31735 Maplewood, one-half block north of Ford Road, one block west of Merriman Road, in Garden City. Anyone interested in backstage work (set construction, makeup, costumes or props) also may come to the auditions, or contact Diane Kremser, executive producer, after 5 p.m. at 427-0064.

● BLUEGRASS FESTIVAL
The seventh annual Folk and Bluegrass Festival, a benefit to fight Huntington's Disease, will be from 1:30 p.m. until dark Saturday-Sunday at Ford Field, on Dunlap just south of Main Street downtown, in Northville. Among featured performers will be Josh White Jr., whose father played music with the late Woody Guthrie, who was struck down by Huntington's Disease. More talent in the show includes Footloose, Rich and Maureen Del Grosso, Dean Rutledge, Peter "Madcat" Ruth, Bobby Lewis and Neil Woodward. Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for children under age 12 or senior citizens. Infants in arms are free.

● OUTDOOR CONCERTS
Two outdoor concerts will be presented by the Henry Ford Community College Summer Jazz Studies Program at 7 p.m. Tuesday-Wednesday in the courtyard on campus at 5105 Evergreen Road in Dearborn. An improvisation recital featuring six student improvisation groups, playing well-known jazz tunes as well as original compositions, will be presented Tuesday. The HFCC Summer Jazz Ensemble and Outstanding Jazz Combo will provide big-band selections, and there will be a guest appearance by HFCC Summer Jazz Studies Program alumni. Both programs are free.

● TV TAPING
The public will have a chance to be in the audience for a new television show when WDIV-TV, Channel 4, tapes "Saturday Night Music Machine" tonight. Two shows were taped last night, and two shows will be taped tonight at La Nottes, 34224 Grosbeck in Fraser. The audience must arrive by 7:30 p.m. for the first show and 10 p.m. for the second.

● FILM THEATRE
"The Draughtsman's Contract," spotlighted at the 1982 New York Film Festival, will open the new 20-weekend Detroit Film Theatre season at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 4 and 7 p.m. Sunday in the museum auditorium at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Tickets for "The Draughtsman's Contract" and the Friday through Sunday, Aug. 12-14, showings of "Angelo My Love" will be $3.50 or one DFT discount coupon.

● PRISM PRODUCTIONS
Peter Tosh, whose "Johnny B. Goode" is now featured on MTV, will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Michigan Theatre, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Tickets are $10. All seats are reserved. Musician succeeds as financial planner

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

FOR 20 YEARS, Don Haas was a musician with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, but early on he realized that career was not going to earn him the kind of living he desired financially.

So while he continued to play in the orchestra's trumpet section, he also began to study the life-insurance business. That led him to a second career, which he expanded until today it encompasses the entire field of financial planning.

Although his clients are from all walks of life and professions, many of them represent areas of the entertainment business, especially the world of music.

He has handled life and hospital group insurance and a tax-sheltered annuities program for the Detroit Symphony and for orchestra members on an individual basis. Many DSO members and other performers today are his clients for insurance, investments or his full financial-planning services.

HE IS FINANCIAL advisor to the internationally renowned orchestra conductor Sixten Ehrling, who formerly conducted the Detroit Symphony. Other clients include Nathan Gordon, DSO principal violist, and his wife, Marjorie, a professional singer and organizer of the Piccolo Opera Company.

Haas has handled investments for Julius Ilku, who used to play string bass with the DSO, and his wife, Elizabeth, the orchestra's harpist. Just recently Haas began to work with the Ilkus on their entire financial planning.

Haas had stayed with the orchestra until, 10 years ago, when he found himself wondering, while playing, "What am I doing here?" His insurance and investments business had grown to the point where he needed more time than he had available away from orchestra rehearsals and performances.

A Birmingham resident, Haas is a registered investment advisor with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Recently he joined the firm of Brode, Landsberg, Meisel & Haas, handling financial planning for the other partners' clients as well as his own.

His offices are in a high-rise building at 3000 Towne Center in Southfield, looking out on a busy traffic network and the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

THE DECOR IS tasteful, and one wall is filled with framed diplomas and other professional designations. On a pedestal is a small statue of "The Thinker." Haas himself is trim and dresses in conservative suits at the office. His hair and mustache are attractive and neat.

Not all of his music-world clients represent the classical scene. One is a drummer who plays in a dance combo. Haas asked him what he thought was the role of financial planner, and quoted him: "Entertainers — no matter whether they are big or small time, usually end up broke. Your job is to prevent that."

Another client is a Dixieland trumpet player, who once led the Queen City Jazz Band. The man is a psychologist by profession and an Air Force major. Being transferred to Germany for two years, the major hopes to continue with his avocation as a Dixieland musician in a band there.

Haas said it's important, when someone makes a move, to "put things in order" financially and to "revamp their plans based on a new economy and the inflation rate."

Because traveling is so much a part of their lives, many entertainers find it difficult to keep up on their own with financial matters. "Traveling on the road, doing one-nighters, it's hard to know what's happening to the stock market," Haas said.

HE DOES encourage his clients to keep up on financial activities by reading the newspaper business section and watching the Dow-Jones industrials.

He smiled as he recalled an experience with a local cocktail-lounge pianist who was a client. "All his life he avoided everything to do with money, except getting it and living," Haas said.

The client wasn't quite ready, mentally, to make any investments in the stock market, even though Haas expected the market to go down, which would have meant some profits.

"I had to explain what to look for," Haas said. When the client discovered he could have made some money if he'd invested, he started watching "Wall Street Week" and reading other sources of stock-market information.

"Not liking it, but doing it," was how Haas explained the man's reaction to paying attention to financial news.

Back in 1989, Haas and several other DSO musicians formed a rock group called the Symphonic Metamorphosis (later, the Metamorphosis). The group toured and made two albums with London Records before deciding it wasn't going to become really big and disbanding in 1972.

THIS BACKGROUND, however, helped Haas conduct a class on the financial management of a rock group. The class was held during a two-week rock seminar on the Oakland Universi-

MINDY SAUNDERS/staff photographer

Don Haas gave up a career as trumpet player with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra to go into insurance, investments and financial planning. His clients include many personalities in the entertainment field. Haas' skyscraper offices with Brode, Landsberg, Meisel & Haas are in Southfield's Towne Center.

ty campus near Rochester, as part of a School of Music summer program.

Haas' clients don't include any bands. Musicians change groups frequently, and he is likely to represent them as individuals.

Kirk, one of Haas' three children, is a young talent with the Actors Alliance Theatre Company in Southfield. Does Dad manage his finances? "There's not too much finances to manage with him yet," Haas said. He added that Kirk is not only a performer with the acting company but also manages its office procedures and ticket sales.

The guys in the ever-popular Four Freshmen vocal group have been personal friends of Haas for 25 years. Bob Flannagan, sole original member of the group, "is not a client, but as a personal friend he has bounced ideas off me," Haas said.

When the Freshmen once jokingly asked Haas if he was going to go on the road again, he decided to join them for a tour in the South. "I became their roadie and sold records for them."

and there were more expenses, he went back to Wayne State University for a master of education degree.

Then he read a book on life insurance and began to study in that field, taking off from there into other financial areas. "I left the music business at age 43," he said.

Conductor Sixten Ehrling has been a client for a dozen years and Haas also worked with him as a musician with the DSO, but Ehrling has always been formal. "It was always Mr. Ehrling and Mr. Haas." Only until a year ago did Ehrling suggest they get on a first-name basis.

Old favorite stays the same

By James Windell
special writer

This has been a summer of catching up on old favorites. Last Saturday night, it was at the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

I remember Andy Williams from the early days of Pine Knob when the outdoor music theater was gaining a reputation and it brought in — during the early days of the 1970s — Johnny Mathis, Chicago and Andy Williams. Back then, old smoothie Andy Williams, on both his TV show and on the concert stage, was velvet of voice and low of key. He sang wonderfully romantic pop tunes with Henry Mancini's becoming his trademark.

The TV show has been gone for a few years now and he hasn't made an album in ages. He's even cut back on his Las Vegas appearances. So what's he up to these days and what are his concerts like?

YOU MAY BE relieved to hear that very little changes with some people. Certainly not with Andy Williams. The eyes are still blue, the voice is still smooth, the songs are still romantic — only the hair is whiter on the 54-year-old crooner.

review

Performing with the Detroit Symphony Pops and his own combo, Williams produced a remarkably relaxed hour show. The Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) strings blend well with the romantic approach of Williams, who now sings more medleys than solitary songs.

"New York, New York" was paired with "The More I See You," and his biggest-selling record (no, it wasn't "Moon River") "Theme from Love Story," came in a bunch with "It Never Entered My Mind," "Don't Take Your Love From Me" and "I Can't Stop Loving You."

Although Williams has made old standards his territory, he sang a new song from the Broadway hit show "Cats," "Memory" seemed tailor-made for his dusky voice.

Part of the fun of catching up on old favorites is to be reminded how well they do certain things. Williams not only sings the romantic ballads well, his voice sounds controlled and warm, no matter what note he's singing.

HIS CHEERFULNESS and charm still win an audience over — although this one at Meadow Brook was won over before he sang his first note. He can make holding hands with a middle-aged lady from Brownstown, while he croons "The Hawaiian Wedding Song," touching, rather than trite.

If the whole evening is a bit syrupy and lacking in musical excitement, the trademark Mancini songs, such as "Moon River" and "Days of Wine and Roses," are still sung. And for a lot of people who braved the blazing temperatures for this concert, that was pretty high on the agenda anyway.

Williams' show was a bit short, at least the warmup act was entertaining. Young Los Angeles comedian Jerry Seinfeld did a half-hour stand-up routine that was very funny and perfectly tuned to the kind of audience that would be impatient for Williams.

Seinfeld, a fresh, clean-cut young comic, found the funnybones of the audience with clever bits about flying on commercial airlines, lunch meats and Florida.

"My parents are in their 60s," he said, "and they're moving to Florida."

"They don't want to, but they have to. It's the law. If you're in your 60s, you have to move to Florida."

Meadow Brook Music Festival concerts are presented at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

Andy Williams is still an old smoothie who delights the Meadow Brook crowd.

Kirby stars

Stand-up comic/impressionist George Kirby is appearing through Saturday at Gino's Surf Supper Club, 37400 Jefferson, Mount Clemens. Entertainment fee is $8 Sunday and tonight, $10 Friday-Saturday. Kirby's repertoire of impersonations includes James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart, Marlon Brando, Pearl Bailey, Joe Williams, Edith Bunker and Gregory Peck. Kirby's career has spanned four decades from Chicago's South Side to the Las Vegas strip.

Cultures share ethnic event

The Scandinavian Ethnic Festival and the Festival of India will be presented Friday-Sunday at Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit.

Opening ceremonies are around 6 p.m. Friday, with activities continuing until midnight. Hours are noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

The flag ceremony will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, with Scandinavian Festival Queen Terri Jarvi on hand. Jarvi was a representative at the "Festivals Around the World" contest.

After opening ceremonies, the Riverview Windwood Quintet will play traditional and Scandinavian music. The Scandinavian Symphony Winds and DiBlasi Brass group will perform throughout the weekend.

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"Boy on a Dolphin" (1957), 9:30 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 111 minutes.

Sophia Loren makes her American film debut a memorable one and is 20 years ahead of her time in the wet T-shirt department. The film itself is not so memorable, but the scenery — the Greek Isles included — is fabulous. Alan Ladd and Clifton Webb co-star. Rating: $2.38.

Excellent	$4

"Captain Newman, M.D." (1963), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 126 minutes.

Stalwart Gregory Peck holds together this taut drama about mentally unbalanced war veterans, while Eddie Albert and singer Bobby Darin give the offbeat performances of their careers. Tony Curtis and Larry Storch provide some comic relief; Angie Dickinson the love interest. Somewhat predictable but very well executed. Rating: $2.90.

"Night of the Iguana" (1964), 12:30 Monday night on Ch. 7. Originally 118 minutes.

How can anyone consider Richard Burton a poor actor? He's marvelous in John Huston's "Night of the Iguana" as the sodden, sexually frustrated tour bus operator caught among the clutches of provocative Ava Gardner, prim Deborah Kerr and teen-vixen Sue Lyon. The interplay between Burton and Lyon — one-third of this movie — is better than anything James Mason and Lyon managed in all of "Lolita" two years earlier. Rating: $3.45.

"The Candidate" (1972), 12:30 p.m. Tuesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 109 minutes.

Here's the film every presidential contender should see. Robert Redford, Peter Boyle, Melvyn Douglas, Don Porter and Allen Garfield star in the Michael Ritchie film that demonstrates how politics can corrupt the most idealistic of candidates. Rating: $3.

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

(1966), 12:30 Wednesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 129 minutes.

Burton's back and better than ever in this Mike Nichols film from the Edward Albee play. Elizabeth Taylor co-stars, along with George Segal and Sandy Dennis, in a picture that's a bit hard to take but a must-see for devotees of the conversation film. Rating: $2.90.

"Play It Again, Sam" (1972), 2 Wednesday night on Ch. 4. Originally 87 minutes. Herbert Ross directs this film written by, and starring, Woody Allen in an adaptation of Allen's Broadway play. Many of the jokes are pure Allen, but you'll note a more slapstick approach to the boy-girl jokes than we've come to expect from the mature Allen in his more subtle, distinguished, later works. Still a very funny picture. Diane Keaton, Tony Roberts, Jerry Lacy, Viva and, no foolin', Joy Bang co-star. Rating: $3.05

Exhibit features black folk art

Performances of rural blues and traditional gospel music, lectures, gallery talks and demonstrations of Afro-American arts are among the free August events at the Detroit Institute of Arts to complement the museum's exhibition "Black Folk Art in America 1930-1980." Three Sundays of music from 3:30-4:30 p.m. will feature Jim Brewer, blues guitarist, Aug. 14; Herbert Pickard and the New Light Celestial Choir, Aug. 21; and Blind Jim Davis, 80-year-old blues pianist, Aug. 28. All music events are free and co-sponsored by the Founders Junior Council and the museum's Performing Arts Department.

It started with Raggedy Ann and Andy and a cowboy boot.

The figures were among the first carved by Roy Sipes of Westland.

"I saw a carving show about 10 years ago and said, 'That's what I want to do,'" he recalled.

Now a member of the Livonia Woodcarvers club, Sipes teaches others about the craft, which he says is popular these days.

"It's you against the wood," he said. "You're trying to release an image from a block of wood."

CARVERS HAVE different methods and approaches to the work, according to Sipes.

"Some will attack the wood, and others love the wood," he said. "Some are very violent and very aggressive. They leave whittle marks that show in the wood. Others smooth it over and over."

"Somebody might work 10 hours on a little piece, while somebody else might work 50 hours."

Hard woods, such as walnut, oak and mahogany are used in woodcarving, along with such soft woods as bass wood and pine. The selection of the wood is important, according to Sipes.

"I like whittling, and I use pine or bass wood for whittling," he said. "Once I got a piece of pine that was too hard. I couldn't carve anything. It takes experience."

THE CARVINGS can be finished with oil or acrylic paint, shellac, varnish, stains or oil that bring out the wood grain.

Tools used in the process include whittling knives, gouges and chisels. Sipes often uses a band saw as well.

"The sharpening of the tools is a lost art," Sipes said. "There are people who can't sharpen their kitchen knives."

Tools are sharpened on flat stones that are treated with honing oil. The tools must be sharpened "every 10 hours or so," Sipes said.

"You have to hold the tool just very carefully, in the right position," he said.

Novice woodcarvers often carve a dog, duck or cowboy boot, Sipes said. "Once they get that worked out, they try something else," he said.

Sipes now prepares patterns of Raggedy Ann and Andy for his woodcarving class, and gives them to students for an early assignment.

From humble beginnings, wood carver Roy Sipes has gradually become more skilled with his carvings. He now makes these lifelike figures spending hundreds of hours producing the desired effects. Sipes' work, along with the carvings of many other carvers, will be on display this weekend in Livonia's Eddie Edgar Sports Arena.

The Livonia Woodcarvers Club will present its ninth annual woodcarving show this Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 6 and 7, at the Eddie Edgar Sports Arena, 33841 Lyndon in Livonia. The show will run from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. The juried show will feature 100 carvers from the Midwest and Canada.

"I tell my students, 'We use an awful lot of woodchips and Band-Aids,'" Sipes laughed.

ONE OF HIS works that he is proudest of is a Western saloon scene, complete with cowboy figures, wooden floor, rickety piano and cards. Sipes spent all winter carving the 12-figure piece. Each figure was made from a $4 block of wood.

"It's a labor of love, and it's fun," he said.

The Livonia Woodcarvers' organization is one of the largest of its kind in the world, according to Sipes. It has 300 members from 40 area communities. "There's a real good mix — retirees, women and children," Sipes said. "We help each other. It's a self-help group. We're out to promote the art as a craft."

Anyone who is interested in woodcarving or would like to learn more about it is welcome to join the Livonia Woodcarvers, Sipes said. Club members exchange information on wood, equipment and techniques. The club meets at 7:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of every month at the Senior Citizen Center, Five Mile and Farmington roads.

Sheets make great canvasses

This lake scene was done by Karen Meneghin of New York City.

More than 50 artists turned ordinary white bed sheets, donated by K mart Corporation, into works of art full of vitality, color and imagination to benefit Meadow Brook Art Gallery on the campus of Oakland University.

The sheets will be auctioned off at an Aug. 13 picnic on the Meadow Brook Hall lawn, complete with a picnic supper and tickets for the Detroit Symphony Pops concert following.

Last year's event, also with hand painted and decorated sheets, was so successful that this year's co-chairmen, Rosanne Schlüssel and Kathleen Phillippl, decided to continue with a good thing, adding a few variations of their own, especially the name, "Sheets and Champagne."

The sheets are on display in Meadow Brook Gallery Aug. 10-12 and visitors may place silent bids on any or all of the beauties. Tickets for the picnic are $60 per person. Marion Handelman is president of Meadow Brook Gallery Associates.

Mary Beard-Detroit, a contemporary artist from West Bloomfield, switched from her usual contemporary approach to do this group of ladies for her contribution to the Meadow Brook Art Gallery benefit.

Set personal goals

Commitment is necessary for success in art

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messing
staff writer

Who are you? Are you a youngster dreaming of a career in art? A college student working towards a degree in art? A middle-age person wondering about your ability to start or improve in your artwork? Are you a retiree and considering art as a hobby?

Your art, whoever you are, is totally up to you. There are many choices you can make. But commitment is what is necessary for success in your art.

Commitment means that there are no other alternatives, your mind is set and your success is certain. But what is success? It has nothing to do with money. It is merely the result of what you hoped for. So "what is hoped for," is again very personal and individual.

One artist hopes just to be allowed to show his or her work, while another hopes to win a blue ribbon. How good it is that in the same show both can become successful, neither looking to the other in arrogance nor envy.

LET ME quickly interject a thought about art shows. Don't be too proud or too depressed about the outcome of an art show. Usually if you place well or win a ribbon you think, "Boy, that judge knows good artwork when he sees it." And if you win nothing you think "that jerk couldn't judge a turtle race." Since art can hardly be defined, then "good" art "better" art and "best" art, is three times as hard to define. So the judge must define "good," "better," and "best" according to his own definitions based on his own experience.

Your art is a very personal expression. It reflects your feelings and attitudes, the way you see and the way you render. A spoken word is soon forgotten, a recorded word is not often read, but a work of art is an expression always visible.

Many times your work can even express much more than you intended. For this reason I do not often title my works because titles limit the feelings of the viewers. For example: I did a "mall show" once, where I showed a large painting of a lion lying in the grass. Some people said how fierce and strong the lion looked while others said how cute and peaceful he seemed to be. Humble soul that I am, I took credit for both interpretations.

So if success is the result of what you hope for, then hope for the best that you can do in each media. If you fall in one or two, go on to another. Also hope and commit yourself to the idea that you can draw anything. No one wants to be a "horse artist" or a "shack and barn and sometimes flower artist."

ANYONE WHO can draw any single thing in nature can draw any other thing in nature. There are many more individual shapes in a basket of fruit than in a horse's head or even a human head. But the increase in the critical placement, don't be afraid of it; merely find out how to learn about it.

There are learn to draw books on just about everything. Also seek out artists you admire and ask them about the subject you wish to draw. Once your mind understands it than quickly your mind can draw it.

Do you know you might be able to draw realistically. You might even have the ability to draw photographically. Quite a few of my students have that ability and many never even knew it. All they needed to know was perhaps how to rough in a drawing and how to use all the hardnesses of pencil.

Because pencil is about the easiest media to achieve photographic results. Then through technical training they can learn to achieve realism in most any media. Even though realism is most often admired by other artists, and especially by non-artists, it is not something to be sought for by the advanced artist.

THE ADVANCED artist is somewhat accustomed to the "ooos" and "ahhs" of viewers and somewhere in his or her mind the compliment of photographic realism doesn't quite sound as good.

Expression is more the goal and what must be done to reach it. Here the artist abstracts, or selects what he or she will render rather than draw every detail. In college my friend Chuck and I played badminton all the time. As friends, we would laugh and enjoy each other's company until there was a badminton net between us. Then we were gladiators, and war, pestilence and famine floated back and forth as we played.

Art requires commitment

Even in this heated battle of racquet and birdie, we usually behaved like gentlemen. Except when we really needed a point. We had a "dirty" point. On the serve, you simply look to your left and lightly tap the birdie to the right just over the net. It usually worked.

TO THE advanced artist, photographic realism is like that "dirty point." It is always available and it usually works. But why not express something, or exaggerate some feature or color to achieve a mood.

Now I am not talking about the strange non-objective paintings which are collectively known as abstract art. Even though I do have an appreciation for them I feel an abstract artist must first be able to achieve realism as his credentials. In other words if you can't draw it photographically you are not qualified to abstract it.

Much of the sale of this type of work is based on the ignorance of the buyer. How dramatic, on the other hand, can be the abstract work of a qualified artist who knows just what shapes and colors he needs to express his feelings.

Hope and commit yourself to the idea that you can draw anything . . . Anyone who can draw any single thing in nature can draw any other thing in nature.

I RECENTLY painted a watercolor of a coyote. I wanted to show that he was very much a predator, but also very much hunted for bounty. I lengthened his legs to make him long and lean. Ruffed up his mane as if he was to attack or act in defense. I painted his eyes in a yellowish stare as if he were looking to kill or about to be killed.

His shadow below him, rather than being a cool gray, is all washed in red as if from a recent kill. His head and front parts are merely a wash. Now all of this is abstracted and selected from a photo, but not so much that it lost its appearance or familiarity to viewers.

I know I could have painted every hair, whisker, tree and cloud, but why bother showing technical skill when I hoped to express my feelings about the subject even more than the photograph did. Remember, seek to be able to draw realistically than you will be qualified to abstract.

ARTFUL: If you have trouble with white ink and other opaque ink colors separating in the reservoir of your technical ink pen, put a "B B" in the reservoir, this will keep the ink mixed. This hint came from John Frost, Livonia. Thanks. If anyone has any helpful hints for our readers, mail to David Messing, 18774 Middlebelt Road, Livonia 48152.

Q. I want to send some of my cartoons to a magazine. What is the most accepted means of drawing them?

A. The two most common ways of doing cartoons for a magazine would be pen and ink wash and pen and ink with texture screens. Cartoon A was done in ink. For the gray wash I used a brush and diluted my ink with water. Cartoon B was a scene where a little boy added grass clippings to his father's paint. The black outlines were again done in a quill pen but the grays were done in texture screens.

The father's pants were 80 percent of black and the gray of the wall was 20 percent. Texture screens come in hundreds of textures and many percentages of black. There is also a selection of large and small dot patterns. If your artwork will be reduced greatly it is best to use a middle to large dot pattern. For cartoons it is usually best to use illustration board or at least a good grade of bristol paper.

Pre-Columbian exhibit impresses

The new show of pre-Columbian art at Donna Jacobs Gallery of Birmingham reinforces the cliché about patience being rewarded.

Jacobs said she has been waiting for a long time to do a full show of this kind of art in her gallery which specializes in antiquities. Finally, she said, a large group of first-rate pieces became available and she went for it.

Instead of the available pre-Columbian broken or fragmented pieces, she opted to wait until she could show a much rarer collection of intact figures, bowls and artifacts.

The gallery is on the second floor, 574 N. Woodward, Birmingham. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Visitors will marvel at the condition of many of the works in the show, all but one of which are ceramic. Most were burial pieces which accounts for the good condition.

In simplest terms, pre-Columbian means anything in the Americas before Columbus — Mexico, South America and Central America.

Because animals were so much a part of the life and culture of the pre-Columbian civilizations, as expected, a great deal of care was lavished on depicting them. In fact, the animals seem more artfully done than the people. The bodies of dogs, pumas and parrots, for instance, are rounded, well proportioned and easily recognizable.

The earliest pieces are two figures, male and female, from the Machallia culture of Ecuador, 2700-1600 B.C. These illustrate the use of scarification as body decoration.

The latest piece in the show is a silver flask — Chiclayo, North Coast, Peru, 1200-1400 A.D.

Most of all, this splendid exhibit bridges a wide time gap. The ancients suddenly become human and understandable and our knowledge of history grows richer and more enduring.

The jaguar-spouted vessel above is from the Ica Valley, Peru, 700-800 A.D. It is one of several excellent pre-Columbian pieces.
