Cross is burned as vandals hit church

By Mary Klemic staff writer

Divine Savior Catholic Church is nestled in a peaceful, wooded area between Hix and Haggerty roads in Westland. But the tranquil setting was shattered somewhat over the weekend.

In a break-in that is under investiga- said. tion by Westland police, a variety of electrical and musical equipment was taken, and a hard oak cross, handmade by one of the parishioners, was pried off from the front of the church and partially burned.

"It's such a neat, neat place, and the people are nice, and then this has to happen," a church secretary said. "We feel like we've been violated.

"Maybe if someone does hear something (about the break-in) they can call the police or the church."

AMONG THE items taken in the break-in were 10 microphones, cymbals, a bass guitar, music stands, cord and a music mixer, according to police.

"The only things they didn't take was what they couldn't get through the hole in the ceiling," the secretary said.

Police said the thieves entered the church, located at 39375 Joy, through the roof between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and fire extinguisher. Lawn mowers were filled with sand and rolled into the woods.

The amount of damage resulting from the burglary was unknown earlier this week. But the burning of the cross is the most costly part of the break-in for church members, the secretary

THE CROSS, measuring between eight and 10 feet, reportedly was taken to the back of the church, where it was set on fire. The fire was still smoldering when the break-in was discovered by a custodian Monday morning.

"It's a shock that anybody would do that," the secretary said. "The cross is a symbol of our faith."

Police said that "Lucifer," "Death" and "666" were found written in sand at the church. The figure "666" has been associated with the devil.

Divine Savior was dedicated in 1977. Many of the 560 families in the parish come from Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Livonia.

The incident was not the first breakin at Divine Savior. Burglars took $2,000 in collection money from the church in January 1982. That burglary is still being investigated by police.

Arena contract returns to MSB

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

The battle over control of Westland's multipurpose arena goes on.

Mayor Charles Pickering indicated this week that he is not ready to concede to council's decision to hire a private company to run the arena.

City employees will continue to prepare the arena for fall activities, he said.

Pickering's position is in direct contradiction to council's Monday night action.

In a special meeting, council voted 5-2 to override Pickering's veto of the council's previous decision to hire a private company to run the arena. Councilman Ben DeHart and Councilwoman Nancy Neal voted aginst the override.

. On Aug. 18 the council awarded a three-year management contract to a firm known as Municipal Service Bureau (MSB) which has former parks and recreation director Ralph Tack as its chairman, Tack was fired from his city job by Pickering.

PICKERING SAID he was not satisfied that MSB could do an adequate job and thought that allowing the firm to run the arena would lead to labor problems with city unions. "I'm not prepared at this time to enter into a contract with MSB," he said. Tim not ready until I take a look at how it will affect operation and labor. I'm not going to enter into an agree-ment with MSB or any other managementy operation until I'm convinced that we're safe legally to do so." Pickering indicated he would check the legal ramifications.

Council could try to force the mayor to go ahead with taking the private firm by some court action, one source said.

The union representing city employees working at the arena, Local 1602, has reportedly threatened to take its own action if a private company is hired to run the arena.

Pickering said the local could get a court order that would stop all operations at the arena. City attorney Jeffrey Jahr advised Pickering that the local would have a strong case for unfair labor practice if the city signed a contract with a private firm.

THE MAYOR said city employees will continue to work at the arena while he reviews the issue and learns what the city workers' union, Local 1602, decides about the matter.

During the special session Monday night, the council authorized two assistant city attorneys for labor relations, Angelo Plakas and C. Charles Bokos, to pursue discussions and/or negotiations with the local regarding the arena. Neal was the lone dissenter on that motion.

Debate over the arena's operation began earlier this year. It costs the city about $50,000 a year to operate the arena. The idea of leasing it to a private company was considered as a way to save money. An outside private firm with an incentive to make a profit could operate the arena more effectively, proponents said.

Local businesses may get tax breaks

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

Tax exemptions in Westland are in the works for Plastipak Packaging Inc. and Jedtco Corp. Between them, the two companies are planning to hire 36 workers.

Under State Act 198, local governments can grant up to 12 years of tax relief to industrial manufacturing facilities that are building plants or adding on to exsisting facilities. Companies that qualify can receive as much as 50 percent relief on real and personal property tax, with what is known as an Industrial Facilities Exemption Certificate.

The Westland City Council must declare the site on which the company is located an Industrial Development District before the application for the exemption is accepted. Plastipak received that approval in 1978. Jedtco was approved as an industrial development district at the last council meeting. Final approval for the application must come from the State Tax Commission.

THE TAX ABATEMENTS granted under the state act, which was enacted in 1974, were designed to encourage industrial growth in Michigan.

"It is being used more and more each year," said Robert Matzo, director of the Department of Assessment and Economic Development.

"We gain tremendously with theseabatements. They increase employment opportunities and the industrial tax base in our community."

Jedtco Corp., which rents a building in Livonia, employs 45 workers and manufactures rubber parts primarily for Aerospace Aircraft. Jedtco is contructing a new building with a 2,100--square-foot office area and a 17,500square-foot work area in the Ford-Hix industrial park in Westland.

Jedtco intends to hire 16 additional employees when it moves into its new facilities in early November, a company spokesman said.

"THE TAX EXEMPTION is the main reason we decided to move to Westland," said Evelyn Hanninen, secretary-treasurer of Jedtco. The price of the property and the general locationwere other reasons, she added.

Plastipak Packaging Inc., on Hir, employs 50 people and manufactures several types of plastic containers. The company plans to add a 42,000-squarefoot metal building with six bay truck docks for manufacturing and storing plastic containers. The expansion will be twice the size of the current building and will employee 20 new employees.

Westland has developed four industrial parks in the last two to three years but for a while, like much of the rest of the state, didn't have much new development, Matzo said.

"The industrial parks are ready for new industry, and with the economy turning around, we are seeing some activity," he said.

Callanan Sr.; his son, attorney Evan Callanan Jr.; UAW Local 1776 President. Richard Debs and Dearborn Heights businessman Sam Qaoud were charged with case-fixing, conspiracy and mail fraud.

The jury began deliberations Monday, Aug. 22. Final arguments in the case were heard Sunday and Monday, Aug. 18 and 19. The trial lasted almost Jury deliberations were still under eight weeks before U.S. District Judge Horace Gilmore.

> The government charged that Judge Callanan accepted money in return for lenient treatment for defendants he believed were charged with drunk driving, selling liquor to minors, third-degree criminal sexual conduct, larceny and felonious assault. It alleged that Callanan Jr. hid the fact that he was representing clients before his father by having an attorney from his law firm make formal court appearances for him, and that he lied before a grand jury.

5 explain their views

Ten candidates have filed for the Westland City Council, resulting in a primary election on Sept. 13. In preparation for that election, the Westland Observer asked all of the candidates to submit a brief biography and resumeand to respond to six questions.

The responses of some of those candidates will be published in this issue. Responses of the remaining candidates will be published in the Monday, Sept. 5 Issue.

The six questions sent to every candldate are:

1. Why have you decided to run for city council?

2. What skills do you have that would make you an effective candidate?

3. What should be the roles of the city council and the mayor in running the government of the city?

4. What do you think should be done. about library funding and services?

5. What do you think should be done about Department on Aging funding and services?

Government witness claims police harassment

By Mary Klemic staff writer

A key witness for the government in the case-fixing trial of 18th District Judge Evan Callanan Sr. and three other men says Westland police are harassing him.

The witness, Hanna Judeh, said this week he received a ticket from Westland police through the mail. The ticket cited Judeh for having a "for sale" sign on a car parked at his Westland service station, he said. Judeh said he didn't have such a sign on the car.

"They said I was offering a car for that were played in court. sale in a prohibited zone in the area," Judeh said. "But one time I did have a car for sale, parked against the wall, that belonged to somebody else, and that one they didn't ticket."

JUDEH WORKED as an FBI informant in the case against Callanan and the three men, including the judge's son, Evan Callanan Jr. A major part of the prosecution's evidence during the eight-week trial of the four men consisted of recordings of conversations between Judeh and the defendants, made with concealed devices,

In other evidence presented in court, Judeh introduced undercover FBI agents to the defendants and was videotaped with Callanan Sr. as the two counted out money that allegedly was paid to the judge to fix a case.

Judeh pleaded no contest to a charge of attempted third-degree criminal sexual conduct in 1981 and was sentenced by Callanan Sr. to three years probation. The government charged that the judge accepted money in return for lepient treatment for Judeh and other defendants.

Judeh said this week the police officer who issued the ticket was the same officer who reportedly told him "We don't like you here" when Judeh went to the Westland police station less than three weeks ago concerning a report.

"WE'RE CHECKING on it, that's all I can say," Westland Police Inspector Fred Dansby said Tuesday. "It may be a misinterpretation or misunderstanding on both parts."

Judeh told police that in the early morning of Aug. 12, Judge Callanan's

Elementary and secondary students in the Wayne-Westland School District will pay the same prices for school lunches in the 1983-84 year as they did last year.

The district has awarded the school lunch contract to the Canterbury Food Service this year, the low bidder. It had awarded the contract to the Livonia Public Schools last year.

Costs for the lunches this year will be $1 per elementary student and $1.25 per student in the junior and senior. high schools, according to Dr. Marjorie Harrington, director of food services for the district. Students may purchase milk only, at 20 cents each.

"ELEMENTARY schools aren't a closed campus," Harrington said. "The students have a choice to eat at school or at home. They can bring a lunch and buy their milk only, or eat the full lunch. Junior and senior high students have a closed campus."

Adult prices will be $1.50 per lunch in the elementary schools and $1.65 per lunch in the secondary schools.

The meals follow U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) requirements to contain two ounces of protein, 3/4-cup fruit and vegetables, one serving of bread and 4-pint milk. Dessert, not required by the USDA, is included. Approximately 40 percent of the entire school body participates in the full lunch program, Harrington said. She said that five years ago, an estimated 28 percent of the students took part in the program.

SOME 5,000 students purchase full lunches daily, with another estimated 3,000 secondary students buying a la carte, Harrington said. The a la carte program includes milkshakes, ice cream and salads.

"A reason for the increase is, I think, we have gone to a student-oriented menu," she said. "We look on the cafeteria as a restaurant, where you please your customers. We used to have the best-fed dumpsters in the world because the kids weren't eating."

The school menus were reached through trial-and-error and student committees, Harrington said.

The mayor's role ought to be one of recommending to the council long-term solutions to problems and do long-term planning. This would cost the average homeowner in Westland about $10 a year. Since the council's survey of actual Westland residents revealed only lukewarm support of the city's library system, I felt it was best to let the taxpayers decide what support our library system should have, not some councilman. We gave $20 a year back to the citizens, now it's up to them. I trust their wisdom.

Also serving as treasurer of Local 1279 for five years I have been able to watch and absorb the workings of the people running our city.

3. I feel that the administration (mayor) and legislation (council) are two distinct and separate functions, and they can and should work hand-inhand with less conflict for the betterment of the taxpayers of this community.

4. Library funding and services should be maintained as it was done in the past. This is necessary to provide the resources necessary for the education of our residents.

4. I feel we should restore full library services. To resolve the immediate problem of funding, the city has a number of vacant pieces of property that can be sold and the revenue used for restoring services. Revenue from the cable TV franchise should be used to fund the library services.

5. Services of the Department of Aging should not be reduced from their present level. One of the most important things for seniors is the stability of the program. Proposals to close the Friendship Center and drastically alter programs and meeting places does not represent fair treatment to the seniors. I voted for the expenditure of Community Development funds to enlarge the Friendship Center. Continued use of Community Development funds for the . seniors is an acceptable practice. Additional revenues could be extracted from increased industrial commercial tax base and franchise fees from the cable TV system.

6. I would like to see the fire department increased in staff by two additional firefighters. This year, during budget sessions, I attempted to amend the budget to include an additional firefighter and avoid the problem of the temporary closing of a fire station. I strongly oppose the closing of any of our four fire stations. Response time is the key to saving lives and property. The closing of any one of our four stations would, due to geographics of our city, place that area in a situation where the fire department could not respond in acceptable time limits. I am opposed to a property tax increase and feel that we must shift the burden away from residential property owners. As with Questions 4 and 5, funding could be obtained in those previously mentioned ways. As the state of Michigan comes out of the recession and provides more money to the city, more money, at least half, should be funded out of the city's general fund instead of the Community Development Block Grant. Although I do not believe services should be expanded with tax dollars, I see no reason less money and services should be provided to seniors. Remember, this is a department that two years ago was cut in half. Any improvements, such as a senior bus, etc., should be manned by senior volunteers helping other seniors.

6. Of course, we would all like to see more firefighters and police officers funded to always assure a rapid respond time to our needs. After all the cuts have been made in all the various departments there no longer remains a realistic way to find extra funds to pay for extra police and fire personnel. For example, three firefighters of three years seniority cost more than the entire Department of Aging budget. If someone can illustrate the need to the point of getting to taxpayers to add to their tax burden, then let them do it.

5. The Department on Aging concerns a much smaller, but no less important, group of people. Westland has the greatest seniors in the world, whose enthusiasm is hard to beat, from those who are a part of the organized group to my 90-year-old neighbor who is finding it a "little" difficult to get out in the cold weather to vote. As with other segments of the community, not all problems the seniors have are the same. Some want and need the closeness of the group, while others are homebound. I agree with those seniors who say that the Bailey Center was not designed with their special problems in mind, but I cannot agree with the expansion of the Friendship Center at this time. Here again possibly other options are available, such as using one of the closed schools, which could be adapted to senior's special needs, and perhaps more accessible to some. I think a long hard look must be taken, so that the Department on Aging can give the maximum benefits to all our seniors, while at the same time making the department cost efficient. Of most importance to me is obtaining transportation for those seniors who are presently without a way to get to senior centers, doctors, or to do some shopping. I would like to see a concentrated effort. put into this transportation problem, and I would like to see a great expansion of the hot meal delivery program.

fare areas of police and fire protection, with both departments being maintained at the highest possible level. Westland is presently locked into a minimum level of 15 per shift staffing for the fire department by union contract. It would appear to be more cost effective to have a minimum of 18. Funding for this purpose would have to be studied as to the best course of action.

MSB gets arena contract

The mayor at one time supported the idea but now feels strongly that the city should continue to operate it.

"I'm convinced the city can operate the arena as a cost-effective business,' Pickering said.

BUT CONFUSION surrounding the bidding process and the mayor's changing stance has led council members to charge that Pickering was never really interested in taking bids.

He had decided long ago to continue running the arena with city employees, they said. Council members said the mayor extended the deadline on taking bids, which goes against "long-established procedure," according to council president Thomas Artley.

Pickering contends that "the administration had the alternative and the authority to seek proposals after the deadline.

"The council approved an alternative proposal after the deadline," he said. "I just question why MSB is so important to the council.

"I'm really concerned about that," he said. "I really think the only reason MSB was chosen over the other bidders was because the chairman is Ralph Tack, whom I terminated," Pickering said.

Henry has been notified of the decision, through a letter from Superintendent Timothy Dyer. Bill Taylor, assistant superintendent of employee relations, has met with Henry to discuss his teaching assignment at Stevenson Junior High for the upcoming year.

Sheridan helps build up city

With the apparent slowdown in the current recession, many experts use the construction industry as a barometer of the future.

If you look to Sheridan Construction Co. of Garden City as an example, the future looks very bright.

In the past three years, Sheridan has built and located its own business office in Garden City, invested and built the offices and studios of the city's cable television company (Maclean Hunter Cable TV) and is seriously considering construction of a new building in the industrial park.

"I do have some capital available," said Bob Sheridan, owner and president of Sheridan Construction, "and I want to give Garden City the first shot at it.

"The city council and the administration have been extremely fair to me and have encouraged industrial and commercial development."

Sheridan moved his business to Garden City two years ago. Prior to localing in the city, the company was based in Brownstown Township, Redford Township and Dearborn Heights.

BEFORE establishing his company in 1975, Sheridan worked with Wayne County and Ford Motor Co.

Sheridan's extremely pleased he began his own business.

"It's the only way to go. I should have done it a long time ago," said Sheridan, who earned a construction engineering degree from John Brown University in Arkansas.

Since moving his business to Garden City, Sheridan has become more active in community affairs.

He is a member of the Garden City

Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Garden City Industrial Association which organized to improve the city's climate for industrial development.

In addition to the industrial park, Sheridan sees another base for Garden City's economic future in the Garden Plaza area. He believes that continued improvement of the appearance of the businesses in this area are vital to Garden City's economic health.

"That strip is well exposed because of its location on Ford Road and the large amount of traffic which passes by," he said.

SHERIDAN SEES another development opportunity in vacant schools. With more schools vacated each year in the area. Sheridan believes some action must be taken to use these build-

"I'd like to see the creative development of these schools, not only in Garden City but in the entire area. As vacant buildings, they become a drain on the resources of the school system and entire community," Sheridan said.

He believes that the community center approach to converting vacant schools has reached a saturation point and that alternative housing for senior citizens could be a productive use of a vacant school building.

"I'm sure that with the attitude the city has, which is very positive, somebody's going to come up with something that might be unique and very usable.

"I would enjoy being a part of improving Garden City," Sheridan added.

Restaurants, service groups plan weekend benefits

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

A 10-speed bike is one of numerous prizes to be awarded during a muscular dystrophy benefit planned by the Biscult Company restaurant Sunday and Monday at 6071 Middlebelt, north of Ford. There will be a trip to Las Vegas and a color TV set given away. Restaurant employees Linda Wild shows off a bike to be given away, while Martha Venaska shows off a promotional poster for the Labor Day telethon on network TV.

What do three Garden City restaurants and two service groups have in common?

They will be raising funds in different ways this weekend to help the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The restaurants are the Biscuit Company, Middlebelt at Block, opposite city hall, with support from the Silver Saloon two blocks away, and Omar Khayyam on Ford at Harrison.

The service groups are the Garden City Jaycees, which is co-sponsoring the MDA event with the Silver Saloon and Biscuit Company, and the Garden City Moose Lodge.

The fund-raisers are planned to coincide with the national Jerry Lewis telethon which in recent years has raised an estimated $30 million a year for research and treatment. The telethon begins Sunday and runs through msot of Monday.

The Biscuit Company will hold its fourth annual "workathon" in which employees donate their wages and tips to the MDA, said owner Kenneth Bucci.

He will be trying to get food donated for that weekend to keep down the costs of the project and make more money avaiable for the association.

Bucci said 30 employees plus friends will be working that weekend to raise funds.

THE RESTAURANT will open its benefit at noon Sunday and continue through 6:30 p.m. Monday, or 30¹/₄ hours.

There will be 10 bands playing a variety of music; four kiddie rides, a drawing with first prize being a free trip for two to Las Vegas, appearances by TV and sports figures, a dunk tank, auction and sale of MDA T-shirts.

Other prizes are two 10-speed bikes, color TV and tickets to a United States Football League Panthers game next spring.

The restaurant raised $14,000 in two of its best years.

Jaycees' public relations chairman Tony Graham said the 10 bands will perform from noon Sunday through 11 p.m.

The bands, in the order they will appear, are Lazarous, Tom Rengyel, Shooters, Pledge That Tune, The Insiders, Benny and the Jets, Paul Tucker Band, Cross Country and the Relatives.

THE OMAR Khayyam restaurant will hold its first "bellyathon" from noon Sunday to 2 a.m. Monday morning with live music, belly dancers, drinks, food, prizes and celebrities.

Among the prizes are a trip for two to Atlantic City, N.J., aracade games and 14-karate jewelry.

The Moose Lodge will sponsor its third annual charity weekend for MDA, planning bands, dancers and entertainment Friday night, most of Saturday and Sunday, and Monday afternoon in the lodge on Ford just east of Middlebelt.

In its first charity, the lodge raised $5,700, split between MDA, Veterans for the Retarded, and the Mayor's Committee for Underprivileged Children.

The lodge raised $3,900 last year, splitting the funds among the three groups.

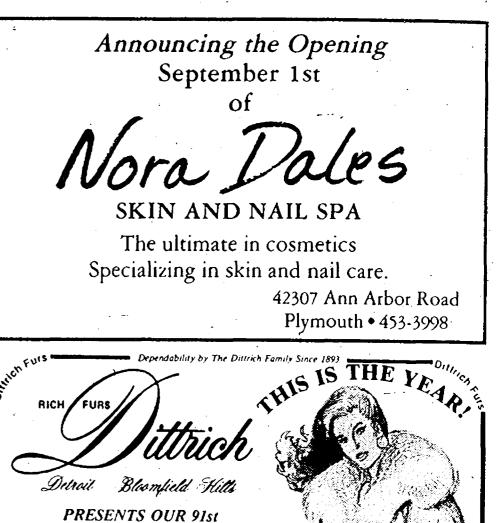

The weekend will begin at 7 p.m. Friday with Disco Danny, followed by a floor show featuring Scorpio and Linda at 9:30 p.m.

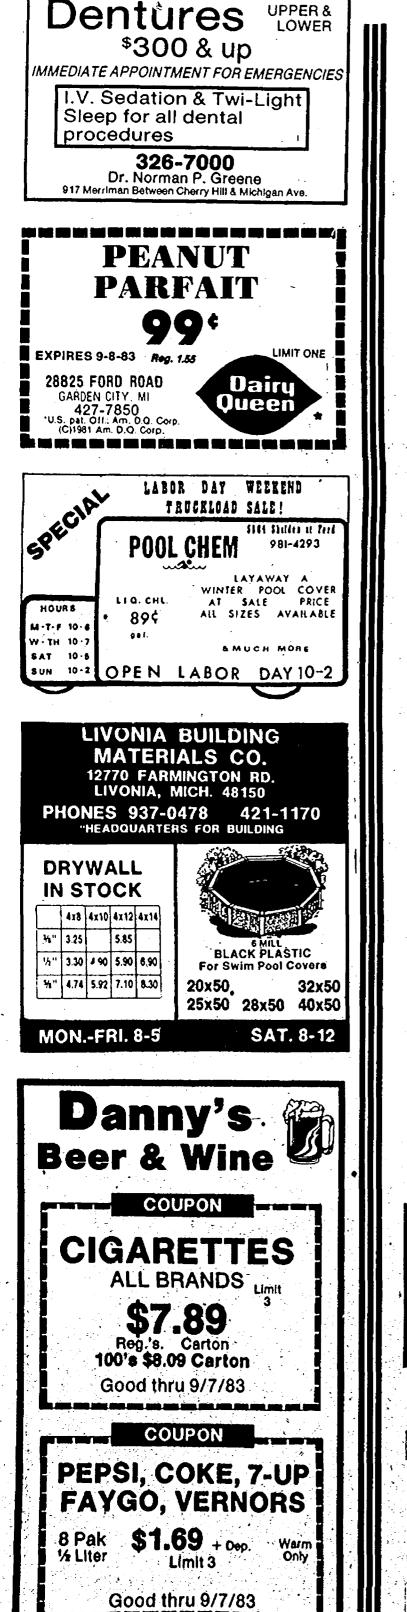

Disco Danny will start at noon, Sat- p.m.

urday, followed by Robert Lee Dance Studio at 2 p.m.; Son Dance at 3 p.m.; Isshinryo Karate at 4 p.m.; the Banks Band at 5 p.m., and First Class at 9:30 p.m. and continuing to 1:30 a.m.

The fun will resume Sunday with Union Street performing at 1 p.m., First Class at 5 p.m., Motor City Players with Lil Rueben at 9:30 p.m. and a floor show featuring Frankle Rapp at 11 p.m.

No strike predicted

Schoolcraft negotiates; classes start

By Kathy Parrish staff writer

Fall semester got underway as planned at Schoolcraft College despite unsettled contracts with four bargaining units.

Students started classes Aug. 25 at the Livonia-based community college, which also serves Canton Township, Clarenceville, Garden City, Northville, part of Novi, Plymouth and part of Westland.

Agreements with food service, office-clerical and physical plant employees expired June 30, but were mutually extended. Administrative-supervisory nersonnel extended their contract through Sept.16.

But Schoolcraft officials do not expect a strike to halt the semester. which looks like a record term for enrollment.

"We've had a number of strikes and work stoppages, but they were mainly by faculty," explained David L. Heinzman, director of college relations.

"These groups are important, but couldn't have that kind of impact."

The Faculty Forum, an MEA-NEA affiliate with 160 members, is in the last half of a two-year contract.

Negotiations continued this week with the four other organized groups with a total of 116 members.

The unions involved are food service, represented by Local 547 of the Operating Engineers Union; physical plant, represented by Schoolcraft College Support Personnel Assocation; Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel; and Schoolcraft College Association of Administrative and Professional Personnel.

Michael Petrack, Schoolcraft's chief dents until Sept. 15.

Administrative-supervisory employees are working on salary, benefits, individual employment contracts, staff reduction language and accretion of other employees to the bargaining unit. If necessary, he expects all the agreement deadlines will be extended to Sept. 16. necessry.

WHILE FINAL FIGURES aren't in yet. Heinzman estimates this fall's enrollment will be larger than last fall's record 10,780.

"We should match or go beyond that," he said, explaining that community education and continuing education courses don't finish registering stu-

C of C wants more defense spending

A major campaign to capture more federal defense dollars for southeast Michigan is being launched by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce.

For a year, a special chamber committee investigated reasons for the decline in federal defense procurement business in metropolitan Detroit over the past three decades. That committee's recommendations on how to overcome the decline have now been adopted by the chamber board of directors.

"Defense contracting is sought after and maintained by small and large businesses nationally," explained Philip I. Levin, who chaired the Ad Hoc Committee to Increase Southeast Michigan Federal Defense-Related Contracts.

"Many companies have learned to manage federal contract work successfully," added Levin, a partner in charge of Management Consulting Services for Coopers & Lybrand.

"Detroit industry can support growing defense production needs, and the chamber intends to make certain that the federal government and area businesses alike realize the advantages of awarding more federal defense contracts to southeast Michigan companies."

COMMITTEE MEMBERS analyzed Michigan's current level of defense procurement, visited major defense contractors in the area, toured Air Force Logistic Command facilities in three locations across the country, analyzed defense-budget reports, and met with top government and business officials.

expenditures in fiscal year 1983, compared with $272 per capita in Ohio, $285 in Illinois, $289 in Pennsylvania, $814 in California and as high as $2,264 in Virginia.

In the fiscal 1983 budget, Michigan received only $1.1 billion in defense expenditures, while Ohio received $2.9 billion, Illinois got $3.2 billion and California got $19.26 billion.

The chamber found only three states receive lower per capita defense expenditures than Michigan: Iowa at $112, West Virginia at $84, and Wisconsin at $76.

THE CHAMBER COMMITTEE said military prime contracts in Michigan fell off from nearly $2.5 billion in 1951 (8.3 percent of the total) to $1.7 billion (2 percent) in 1981.

As reasons for the decline, they cited:

• Because of the tremendous growth of the auto industry between 1950 and 1973, area businesses had their hands full building autos and did not seek defense contracts.

• Local suppliers were reluctant to pursue federal contracts because of such perceived barriers as federal contracts being not-profitable and shortterm, filled with red tape, requiring major retooling and requiring small production runs.

• Most local suppliers have uncompetitive production expenses due to traditionally higher labor costs and standard fringe-benefit packages (such as na dina manina ana ana high workers' comp rates) in Michigan.

To reverse the decline, the chamber plans to offer a course on federal procurement procedures to southeast Michigan companies; establish contact with prime defense contractors and key Defense Department facilities to market the area; publish a directory of federal procurement assistance in southeast Michigan; and encourage the Michigan congressional delegation to advocate for increased competition in defense work.

It will also urge the state to: fund a market feasibility study for increasing federal military procurement; develop a lobbying strategy to encourage more federal military contracting; appoint a task force to review the set-aside of federal contracts for minority firms; and continue funding for the established network of outreach centers set up by local communities to assist the state in obtaining federal military procurement contracts.

School responsibility goes beyond pocketbook

AYBE WE OUGHT to ban all private schools in the country from opening their doors in September.

While this suggestion is facetious, it is something to think about while you're buying your kids new clothes and school supplies.

Our suggestion is made in response to those who argue that subsidizing private schools with tuition tax credits will improve the quality of public schools.

"Hey, heh. That's the way to put a scare in 'em," they claim.

One could turn that kind of logic around and argue that if all private schools closed, the sudden influx of money going to public schools would be bound to bring about an improvement.

ACTUALLY, THERE'S some truth behind the absurdity. Money is a real indication of support. Out of that support grows the kind of concern that makes taxpayers keep a watchful eye on their schools.

No one argues that there is a crisis in the state of education nationally.

But responsibility for a "Nation at Risk" lies with the people who, instead of getting involved in the educational process, opt to ship their kids to a private school. Sure it costs, but some find it easier to shell out money than their own time.

Tuition tax credits would make it all the easier to do just that.

Now, if all the private schools were to close, the parents of all those kids would probably start paying closer attention to what goes on at the school down the street. We're betting out of the attention would come more than a little action.

FORTUNATELY, IN the Wayne-Westland district, public school students didn't have to wait for a commission to report that education is having a seizure or for private schools to close their doors.

Westland parents have always been supportive of a good education for their kids. Sometimes that's meant opening the pocketbook. Othertimes it's been reflected in the involvement of parents in special committees and parent-teacher groups.

Like an actress interacting with her audience, Wayne-Westland's staff responded long ago to concern about educational standards in the district. Textbooks were purchased, and test scores were reviewed.

About five years ago, a task force on elementary education was formed. From teachers to department heads, the staff decided what students should know and how they should learn it.

That experience proved so successful, a task force on secondary education was formed in 1981.

NOT CONTENT to rest on their past accomplishments, the staff issued its own analysis of the "Nation at Risk" report. Their findings: The district still needs to address high school requirements, the foreign language program, time for studies in the expressive arts, electives and increased requirements in the five basics.

Somehow it must be comforting for parents to know that they share a common goal with their neighbors. What makes them different from the rest of the country?

Perhaps Dr. Clarice Stafford, assistant superintendent for curriculum, explained it when she talked about how the district planned the changes it made.

"Start with a dream, what you think should be done and set goals. It takes a long time," she said. "It's important that all are geared toward working toward the same thing."

State Youth Job Corps: They did something right

IT'S EASY to find things to cuss in government taxes, bureaucracy, the law's delay, the insolence of office, taxes, business regulation, taxes.

Yet every so often government does something right. And in occasional moments, several units of government do something right.

And when the younger generation has something to do with it, well, it's really time to sit up and take notice.

And so it is with the Michigan Youth Job Corps.

Our own impressions are that the 18-21-yearolds applied themselves diligently to even menial roadside work. The impressions we hear from local officials are that the young folks performed yeoman service trails and new trees and shrubs. At the top of the Keewenaw Peninsula, a crew restored buildings at historic Fort Wilkins State Park.

AT FIRST, there were some negative thoughts.

Gov. James J. Blanchard's name was used too prominently on some Youth Job Corps materials to suit some people. But the governor himself left no doubt about who made the program a success when he told corps members:

"You've made us all look good . . . Thank you for making the Michigan Youth Job Corps a success."

There were some doubts that this particular generation of young people was willing to do hard work. Of course, there have been such doubts about young people since the days of the ancient Greeks. The truth of the matter is that young people will respond when they are asked and given a challenge, and the summer of 1983 was no exception.

THE YOUTH Job Corps was a combination of efforts at all levels of government.

The federal government kicked in $3 million. The state contributed the bulk, $36 million, and used 2,000 of the 25,000 persons who were finally hired.

Local governments and non-profit agencies submitted proposals on how they would use Youth Job Corps workers. Despite some misgivings by director Doug Ross about the capability of local units to come up with meaningful projects, the local units responded well and imaginatively.

Although some corpsmen and women worked at inside jobs, the bulk of it was done outdoors.

Nine tons of junk, including four cars, were hauled out of the muddy Middle Rouge River in western Wayne County. Campuses of Oakland Community College haven't looked so good in a long time.

King plus 20: Integration is only a dream

More than 250,000 people marched in Washington, D.C. last weekend to honor the famous "I Have a Dream" speech given by Martin Luther King 20 years ago.

This weekend hundreds of people with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (N.A.A.C.P.) will arrive in Detroit after walking from southern Ohio in a voters' registration drive.

All of this activity makes one wonder: What is the status of blacks in the suburbs in 1983?

Stan Connelly, a white civil rights activist who lives in Birmingham, is taking part in the N.A.A.C.P. march.

"It's all right for football players to live in the suburbs, but that's about it," Connelly said earlier this week. "Integration of the suburbs is something you just don't hear much about anymore."

Integration has been quietly going on in several suburbs north of Detroit, such as Southfield and Oak Park. In the 1980 census Southfield reported a 9 percent black population. It is believed that population has continued to grow since the census.

Redford, a community immediately west of Detroit, still has few black families.

Connelly said the slow rate of suburban integration is due to several factors.

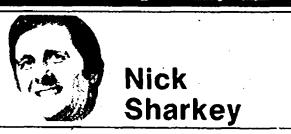

"With the poor economy, few blacks can afford to buy suburban houses," he said. "At the same time, Detroit is improving. Fewer blacks want to get out to move to the suburbs."

THE EXCEPTION to the quiet on the integration front is Birmingham. On May 2, 1982 federal Judge Robert DeMascio dropped a bombshell on that city. He found Birmingham guilty of racism "in part because of its desire to exclude black people from the city." BY LAW, the Youth Job Corps Program expires Sept. 30, the end of the current fiscal year. That is as it should be. Such programs should be re-evaluated before they are automatically continued and encrusted in the bureaucracy.

If the Youth Job Corps is continued — as it probably will be and undoubtedly should be — those planning for 1984 must be sure they concoct meaningful jobs and not just make-work. The young workers should be assigned jobs where, in some future year, they can bring their children and grandchildren to the site, point with pride and say, "Look, I did that:"

As we approach Labor Day, that is a good thought for all of us. The spirit of pride in meaningful work well done is alive and vibrant in Michigan.

The success of the Youth Job Corps is another manifestation of that old-fashioned pride in work.

mingham's appeal is pending before the U.S. Sixth Distict Court in Cincinnati.

Most suburbanites are sophisticated in dealing with blacks. Loud threats are not uttered. No houses are firebombed. Obscenities are seldom used.

Only the most uneducated suburbanite would use the term "nigger." They are now "undesirables."

Thus it is almost impossible to pin down racism. Take, for example, the attempt of the Word of Faith to find a school in Southfield. Word of Faith is a fundamentalist black church.

For three years the church has been frustrated by the Southfield Board of Education and neighborhood associations in attempts to buy two closed schools.

The Rev. Keith Butler of Word of Faith has given up. "We've had racial slurs thrown at us by people in the community," he said. "It isn't worth all the anguish."

Neighbors counter that they were worried about non-educational uses of the building. The head of the neighborhood association which opposed the church school, Cliff Worthy, is black.

Word of Faith has now leased classroom space in the vacant Franklin Elementary School in Franklin.

Was racism a factor in denying Word of Faith the Southfield school building? It's impossible for an outsider to know.

SUBURBANITES CAN BE such slick racists that they are difficult to pin down.

Stan Connelly remains optimistic. He is volunteer director of development for Focus: Hope, a Detroitbased civil rights group which promotes better relations between blacks and whites.

Connelly reports that Focus: Hope recently received an unsolicited gift of $250 per month from a Grosse Pointe woman. In addition, 107 employees of the Wayne County Road Commission began taking payroll deductions to raise money for the civil rights group.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC PAGEDS

The sports pages of the nation's newspapers are filled these days with stories dealing with the high salaries and long-term contracts being tendered to baseball players and the behemoths of pro football, along with the bonuses being handed out just for signing the documents.

And each day, as the stories appear, the question often is asked, "Who started it all?"

Well, it may be surprising to learn that the payment of bonuses started right here in Detroit by a millionaire who was considered one of the best baseball fans of the time. He was the late Walter O. Briggs, who came into ownership of the Tigers when Frank Navin died following the 1935 World Series.

Briggs proved to be a great owner and he handled the ball club just as he did the automobile body building firm that bore his name.

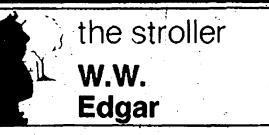

Shortly after the glamour of winning the 1935 world series wore off, the Tigers went into a slump and the cry went up for some new faces on the playing field.

THE FANS voiced their plea for some changes and often accused Briggs of not wanting to pay the price for the new faces.

At the time a young fellow named Dick Wakefield was going great guns at the University of Michigan. He was rated one of the best outfielders in college baseball.

Finally, Briggs could take the protests of his failure to acquire talent no longer. He sent word down that Wakefield was to be signed regardless of the field was given a bonus of $52,000 just for signing. The deal caused all sorts of comments in the nation's press. But it was the start that today would be considered "chicken feed" in dealing with the players.

Wakefield, a happy-go-lucky sort of fellow, never took baseball seriously. He had the largest hands of any player on the team. But baseball to him was just another way of having a good time. He didn't last too long but he had a lot of fun while it lasted.

THE BIG bonus had a bad effect on some players. For instance there was an afternoon when Wakefield dropped a fly ball that cost Hal Newhouser, the great left hander, the game. When it ended Newhouser stalked in to the dressing room, tossed his glove high in the air and shouted "that's your $52,000 beauty." Wakefield just laughed.

Finally came the day when Wakefield had enough of baseball and he entered politics. He ran for sheriff of Wayne County — and lost. But to him it was just another lark.

What made the scene in the Tiger dressing room all the more interesting was the fact that Newhouser had agreed to terms without a bonus.

"Wish" Eagan, the greatest of all Tiger scouts, sold him on the idea of what an honor it would be to play for his hometown team. And being young and just beginning a career, he listened to "Wish" and was glad to don a Tiger uniform.

That fact didn't become part of baseball lore, but Wakefield's $52,000 bonus for signing left its mark on baseball for it was the beginning of the multim-

From Troy to Ann Arbor State has its own silicon center

California has its Silicon Valley. Boston has Route 128, and North Carolina the Research Triangle.

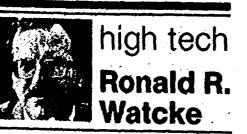

Not to be left out, Michigan has what some have come to call the Silicon Ridge.

Silicon Ridge runs from Troy in the east, through Farmington Hills and west to Ann Arbor. Similar to other locales where high technology industries have clustered, the Silicon Ridge previously was farmland.

ORCHARDS AND vineyards once traversed the Silicon Valley. Potato and vegetable farms were located along Route 128, and rich tobacco fields were found in the metropolitan areas around Raleigh and Durham, North Carolina.

But it took more than the availability of rich farmland to cultivate high technology industries. All major concentrations of high technology industries have similar and important characteristics which aided their growth and expansion as well as their attraction to other high tech industries.

Each of the three developed around two or three major research universities. The Silicon Valley had the University of California at Berkeley, and Stanford University at Palo Alto.

Route 128 had Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology had Duke, University of Nor: Carolina at Chapel Hill, and North Carolina State at Raleigh.

ALONG WITH this education-research environment came a highly sophisticated and well-trained work force of Ph.D.s, engineers and research scientists. The quality of life in these areas also aided in drawing in new blood to add to the already highly skilled work force.

Each high tech cluster is located in close proximity to a major urban population center. This allowed for greater congressional representation, thus increasing the potential for more and larger government contracts.

Coupled with large endowments from the private sector, the universities were able to attract some of the most sought after scholars and scientists in the country and from abroad. Looking at a map of the United States, one can readily see the Silicon Valley represents high technology in the West. Route 128 around Boston depicts the East, and the Research Triangle portrays high tech in the South. Missing from the map is a high tech center geographically located in the Midwest. The two obvious metropolitan areas are Chicago and greater Detroit.

I believe Detroit has the clear-cut advantage based upon its international reputation as the leading tool manufacturing and metal machining center. Metropolitan Detroit also scores high on the list of factors which made the other high tech centers successful.

THE DETROIT METROPOLITAN area has several major research universities. There is Wayne State, the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, and Oakland University in Rochester. In addition, Michigan State University

The quality of life in southeastern Michigan is excellent with numerous cultural and recreational opportunities. All four major universities are well-respected and have a track record of receiving significant federal contracts as well and private gifts and grants.

Another factor in metro Detroit's favor is substantial amounts of venture capital available for investment. Also, state government is committed verbally and financially to attract new and expand extant high technology industries.

It is not premature to refer to the area as Michigan's Silicon Ridge. Estimates indicate between 100 and 125 high technology industries located on and around the Silicon Ridge.

Approximately 30 companies are in Troy alone, with an additional 20 in the Ann Arbor-Plymouth area. The remaining high tech industries are in Farmington Hills, Rochester, Southfield, Redford and Livonia.

SEMCOG looking for alternatives to landfills

By Kathy Parrish staff writer

People count on them for advice on getting rid of the 15,000 tons of garbage thrown out daily in southeastern Michigan.

Sometimes, though, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) officials weren't quite sure what their own policies were - because they didn't have any.

So SEMCOG brought 40 solid waste experts together June 28 for a daylong brainstorming session. Just two months later, their guidelines were accepted by SEMCOG's executive committee - and are on their way to general assembly action Oct. 26.

If adopted, the policies would help SEMCOG and local governments make decisions on important solid waste management issues like whether to use landfills. It would also give the regional agency "effective, coordinated input" into the process of amending Public Act 641, Michigan's Solid Waste Management Act.

"We are asked to speak with the voice of the re-gion on these issues," explained Patrick Brunett, SEMCOG's manager of land use and environmental programs.

'But we really had never adopted our own policies on them. We knew most of the issues, so it was just a matter of clarifying them."

The 22 policies address water quality and environmental protection elements of solid waste disposal, with special attention to siting of landfills and management of landfill sites.

SEMCOG URGES FINDING alternatives to landfills, calling them the "least desirable method of dealing with solid waste." Reasons given were that landfills take up land, increase truck traffic and produce noise, litter and odor.

But a landfill moratorium was vetoed during the original planning session, which brought together more than 40 technicians and citizens interested in solid waste management issues.

"We need landfills for part of our disposal system. There's no way to get around them," said Brunett, explaining that even when trash is incinerated ash still remains.

"But we must be sure local governments are involved in the process and that it's the most environmentally sound."

Backing local control, the proposals recommend that each county handle its own disposal needs within its boundaries or negotiate with counties it exports waste to.

YOU HAVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 16 TO STOP PAYING DOCTOR BILLS.

GM employees can change from old fashioned health insurance coverage to Health Alliance Plan. But only between September 1st - 16th.

That means if you wait, you won't be covered the way you should be. By the leading health care plan of its kind in Michigan.

When you join HAP you're covered — completely. In the doctor's office and in the hospital. Even for regular check-ups, minor illnesses and allergy tests.

And you're covered for emergency care wherever you are: when you're away on a business trip or a vacation or when your kids go away to college, you're covered as completely as you are at home.

Communities would participate in making decisions about solid waste management, with sites conforming to local land use planning and zoning requirements.

Local governments could inspect operating standards and there would be mitigation measures such as landscaping and truck routes to make facilities more acceptable.

SEMCOG's recommendations also urge that funds be available to host communities to defray costs for activities related to landfills and other disposal facilities. And communities which dispose of their neighbors' waste would get monetary or other compensation.

"THERE ARE some excellent landfill opera-tors, who are very good neighbors," said Brunett. "But in some cases there are problems. What we think needs to be done is provide a system that assures cooperation."

While emphasizing local control, the policies also request that Michigan "strive to bring an improved approach to solid waste management" through adequate, competent staff for planning, permitting and enforcing the programs.

SEMCOG in turn would put together a common data resource by examining the seven Southeast Michigan county solid waste management plans and those of adjoining counties. It would also help set up pilot source separation programs, helping homeowners separate out their recyclable trash.

Brunett, who is hopeful that the policies will be adopted by the 134-member general assembly, is pleased to get the guidelines on paper.

"Anything we do for the environment is major," said the SEMCOG employee, estimating that such a proposal usually takes 12 to 18 months to complete. "I'm very pleased with the process; that we were able to get together, pick each other's brains and deal quickly with this very important issue."

Conference set for parents of gifted kids

Seminars and workshops of interest to parents of gifted children will be presented during the fifth annual Conference on Gifted Education. Sponsored by Roeper Review and The Academy of the Gifted, the conference will be Saturday, Oct. 29, in Roeper City and Country School's Birmingham campus.

The conference will begin with a dinner and key-note speech Friday, Oct. 28, in Somerset Inn, Troy. Nick Colangelo, assistant professor of education at the University of Iowa, will talk on "Giftedness, Moral Development and Social Responsibility."

Other topics will include "Parenting for Gifted Children," "Who's Afraid of a Gifted Kid?," "Spe-cial Concerns of Black Parents of Gifted," and "The Gifted Child in the Nuclear Age,"

The Somerset Inn event begins at 5:30 p.m. and costs $25. Saturday's programs will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. and cost $20. The package price for both days is $40.

Roeper School is an independent school for gifted pre-school through high school students. The Academy of the Gifted is a consortium of school districts, schools, universities, associations and individuals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston Countles.

And when you belong to HAP, you choose your own HAP doctor. You can go to a brand new health center opening in Plymouth just in time for you to join. Or you can choose one of our 9 other health centers all over town.

In short, with Health Alliance Plan, you get all the professional, personal care without all the aggravation of claim forms and doctor bills.

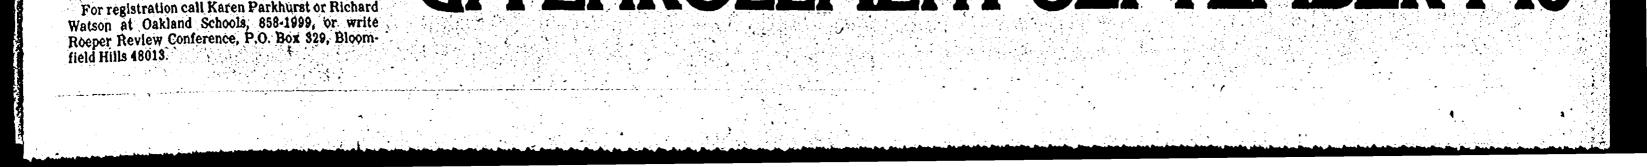

(And if you don't work for GM, ask your employer when you'll have a chance to change to HAP.)

School lunches...

cuisine a la fast food

By Sherry Kahan staff writer

is R

HE NUTRITIONAL requirements of the federal government now are being packaged in ways that will make the food more enticing to the taste buds of students in area schools. As students sit down to the first meal of the 1983-84 year, they will be eating cuisine a la fast food.

Students already have taken in food and drink at Livonia and Clarenceville schools, with the first food day being yesterday, Aug. 31. Garden City students will be given their first meal Monday, Sept 12; Wayne-Westland, Friday, Sept. 9; South Redford, Thursday, Sept. 8, and Redford Union, Sept. 8, for elementary and Hilbert Junior High School students, and Friday, Sept. 9, for those attending high school.

Packaging items in the modern style is the way schools are encouraging students to ingest daily 2 ounces of protein, three-fourths cup of fruit or vegetables, bread and 8 ounces of milk. This is what the federal Type A meal requires.

"We have to cater to our customers,""said Dr. Marjorie Harrington, director of food service for the Wayne-Westland school district. "Our food follows the social trend of fast change. The U.S. Department of Agriculture is asking for verification of the applications for these meals. After applicants have applied and been accepted into the program, 3 percent of them will be asked to verify the information provided through W-2 forms or pay stubs.

Catering is still a part of the food picture. In addition to feeding its own students, the Livonia school district manages the food program in Garden City and sends food to two other communities. South Redford students eat food provided by a catering firm.

Commodites provided by the Department of Agriculture resume their role in giving an important financial boost to school districts. This is surplus food acquired through the department's price support program.

In addition, school districts are now having a modest amount of input from students and parents regarding the food served in school cafeteria.

A READING of several school menus reveals names of lunch items that seem familiar. Chicken turns up in Clarenceville schools as McChicken and as chicken nuggets in Wayne-Westland schools, which also features fiestada, a Mexican pizza.

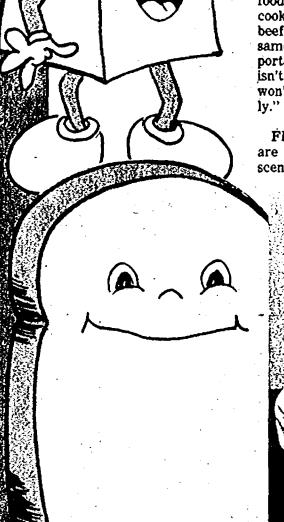

Quarter-pounders are being munched, along with french fries, sloppy joes, and tater tots. Up from cooking. But if you take a piece of beef, grind it and serve it, it has the same nutrition as roast beef. The important thing is that if the student isn't willing to eat what we serve, it won't do anything for him nutritional-

FREE OR REDUCED fee lunches are a continuing part of the school scene. But this year there will be a the Mexican border have come nachos, tacos and burritos.

But wait, Redford Union, now in its 38th year of school lunch preparation, has a salad bar. According to food service director Mary La Croix, it is becoming increasingly popular.

"A student can make up a Type A lunch at the salad bar," she said.

IN THE PAST eligibility for free or. reduced price school lunches was decided on the basis of information provided by parents. They are asked for such facts as income, and whether they are on public assistance, receive child support and have a pension.

"We are going to have to verify the income of 3 percent of our total applications for free or reduced lunches," Wayne-Westland's Harrington said. "We never had to verify before. It has to be a random sample."

The federal government subsidizes the total U.S. school lunch program to the tune of 11% cents toward regular school lunches eaten by everyone, according to Harrington. It comes up with 68% cents of the cost of a reduced price lunch and $1.08% for a free lunch.

Both the federal and state governments contribute money to school food programs through reimbursements. For this reason and because of income generated from student lunch fees, the food budget is usuallay kept Staff separate from the regular school photos by budget.

The only time the school gets involved in lunch costs is when the program loses money.

SMALL DISTRICTS throughout the country have found it to their financial advantage to join with others in ordering food. Bulk prices are cheaper. That is why both Livonia and Garden City have found it to their advantage to work together.

When school is in session it gets a lot of action processing and wrapping food for 8,500 students a day in the Livonia district (which also includes northern part of Westland).

The Livonia district also cooks for about 2,000 Garden City youngsters as well as for students in North Dearborn Heights and the Bendel school district near Flint.

Pre-packaged food is brought to elementary pupils in Garden City and Livonia elementary schools and then heated in convection ovens. Food is made on the site at junior and senior high schools of both communities. The Livonia district, whose food supervisor is Gary Derrigan, oversees the work of Garden City employees at Garden City school cafeterias.

Because of savings through cheaper bulk food purchases and careful utilization of the Wilson facility, the Livonia district wound up in the black last year with a budget that is about $2 million. Last year Garden City was within $185 of its goal to break even.

The cost of a lunch in both districts is $1 at the elementary level, and $1.15 at the secondary level.

Warehouse keeps food costs down

"Few school districts have a warehouse this size," remarked Dr. Marjorie Harrington, food service director of the Wayne-Westland school district. She was referring to a facility at Ford Vocational Technical building that has storage space and equipment for feeding students in the district's 24 schools. From 7,500-8,000 people buy lunches each day.

Prepackaged food for elementary students is shipped in from New York call it) in on site ovens. Food for secondary students is prepared at their school.

The warehouse she was discussing appeared to be spanking new, but Harrington said that it was three years old.

It contains an elevator (which Harrington called a power leveler) that can take a Hi-Lo down to the tailgate of a truck at the dock. The vehicle can then be driven inside the back of the truck to City and heated (rethermalized, they pick up supplies. Once loaded the Hi Lo can ride up on the power leveler to the warehouse floor.

The facility also features two huge freezers and a back-up oven that can be called upon when cooking equipment at a school malfunctions.

We used the oven two times last year for pre-pack lunches when the school ovens failed, Harrington said. "I was glad we had it. You can't tell students that you'll feed them tomorrow."

The size of the warehouse is proving to be a financial boon when food commodifies arrive from the federal government in need of plenty of storage space. Some schools have to pay for storage space.

Last year's food budget was $1,502,000, and 90 percent of it was returned in revenue and government reimbursements. Cost of a meal this year will be $1 for elementary pupils and $1.25 for junior and senior high.

Botsford General Hospital is conducting four community health programs that will begin in early September.

One is a stop smoking clinic being conducted in conjunction with the American Health Foundation. Free introductory meetings will be held 7:30-8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 12-13, in Classroom C of the hospital's administration and education center, 28050 Grand River, Farmington Hills. Charge for the classes is $125, payable at the first session.

The hospital also will offer prenatal and postnatal exercise classes beginning the week of Tuesday, Sept. 6. Day and evening classes will be offered. The classes run twice a week for six weeks at a cost of $24.

Two other offerings are:

• A SERIES OF FOUR high blood pressure classes will be given on Tuesday evenings beginning Sept. 6, 6:30-9 p.m. Those attending at least three of the four meetings will be eligiable for a free follow-up program.

The classes will be held in Classroom 'A, 28050 Grand River, Farmington Hills.

• EIGHT WEEKS OF aerobic classes will begin the week of Sept. 6 with classes offered 5-6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday and 4-5 p.m. Tuesday-Thursday. Prices are $36 for two classes; $46 for three classes; and $56 for four classes.

All classes are held in the Botsford General Hospital Administration and Education Building Community Room, 28050 Grand River.

• IN CONJUNCTION WITH Weight Watchers, Botsford General Hospital will offer weight reduction classes beginning Tuesday, Sept. 6, 4:30-5:30 p.m. in Classroom A/B of the hospital's administration and education center.

RP NETWORK

A nationwide telephone network has been established by the young Adult Program of the National Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation. The purpose of the network is to provide an outlet for newly diagnosed patients to discuss their fears and frustrations, resulting from coping with retinitis pigmentosa (RP).

The network provides the new patient (or any patient) the opportunity to talk with another young adult with RP who is also coping with similar issues. It is hoped that the network will help alleivate the isolation often resulting from coping with RP.

RP is a group of inherited disorders which affect the retina of the eye and result in a progressive loss of vision. The early symptoms of RP are difficulty seeing at night followed by reduction in peripheral (side) vision, leaving only a small central portion of vision (sometimes called tunnel vision).

For further information about the network, the foundation and RP, contact the National Retinitis Pigmentosa Foundation, 8331 Mindale Circle, Baltimore 21207.

Wayne board puts off hospital veto

Wayne County Commissioners have again postponed considering trying to override county executive William Lucas' veto of a bill designed to keep . the Wayne County General Hospital under county control.

The commissioners voted 7-6 last week to put postpone the matter - for a second time - in order to give commissioners an opportunity to discuss the bill with Lucas.

"The postponement gives us more time to talk among ourselves and with the other side," said Commission Chairman William G. Suzore. "Maybe we can still work something out and still devise an ordinance that everybody can live with comfortably.'

The ordinance, proposed by commissioner Kay Bead, D-Inkster, would ensure that the hospital remain under a board of institutions. It passed by a 11-2 vote of the board.

Lucas vetoed the ordinance, saying it violates the charter and subverts executive appointive power.

He and the commission disagree on provisions affecting overall disposition of the hospital as well as appointments to the board which would oversee 'day-to-day affairs.

Kay Beard, chairman of the Human Resources Committee which drafted the ordinance, said, "There are still some on the commission who want to keep their options open. After all, negotiations are still underway on this."

Beard said there could be new arrangements with the University of Michigan which is the hospital's teaching affiliate; discussions on possible state take-over; and ongoing budget deliberations for the new fiscal year.

"It is the opinion of enough commissioners that the potential here is sufficient for more study," Beard said.

At its Aug. 25 meeting, the county board of commissioners:

• Authorized transfer of $3.4 million from the county delinquent tax revolving fund to the county general fund.

The delinquent fund is an alternative method of delinquent tax payments to municipalities and school districts allowing them 100 percent of their tax revenue without cost to the county.

Before the fund was set up, some communities were forced to wait as long as three years before receiving their full share of revenue.

• Approved three grant applications to the state Department of Natural Resources for projects funded by the Michigan Youth Corps for next summer. The grants would:

Provide $576,450 for 360 youth to clean and collect debris from the middle branch of the Rouge River and Hines Park.

Make available $37,638 for 19 youth to help the Environmental Health Division of the County Health Department prepare reports on water contamination sites; determine exposure of birds to viruses with potential to spread encephalitis; and determine incidence of rat densities along with development of public information on rat control measures.

Use $118,130 for nature trail development in William P. Holliday Wildlife Preserve and Hines Park beautification.

Firemen's visit sparks an interest

Monica (Sissy) Hallaway, 4, gets a chance to use the hose.

OUNGSTERS learned about the dangers of fire in an exciting way recently at the vacation Bible school sponsored by the Nativity United Church of Christ, 9435 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

Livonia firefighters arrived at the church with an attention getting fire engine to teach children some practical ideas about safety. The firefighters mingled with the children and explained the simpler side of fire fighting.

World class thrills for the kids included holding onto a hose as water shot out and trying on a fireman's suit and hat.

And probably from now on when a fire siren wails at midnight, they will know their firefighter friends are on the job protecting them.

However, the real issue is much larger than deprived or damaged children. Rather, it has to do with using religion, whatever its label, to justify intrusion into and violence toward the life of another.

Those who beat their children "because God told me to punish them." or who deprive little ones of ordinary medical care "because God does not approve of doctors," are really not acting any differently than what has in many quarters come to be acceptable

Such happenings are simply a case of people being convinced that the horror for which they are responsible is justified because of some higher good.

Adjusting to bifocals takes time, practice

Dear Jo:

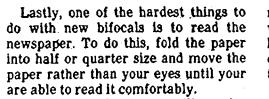

I have been fitted with my first pair of bifocals and am having a problem adjusting to them. When I walk and look down at my feet I get off balance and am afraid of a fall. Could you give me some suggestions as to how I can adapt to them? Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.:

Most of the many millions of people who wear bifocals have had to make some sort of an adjustment to them in the beginning, so you are not alone.

First of all, make sure that your frames have been properly adjusted so that the lenses are in the correct position. Do not hesitate to return to the professional who fitted you with them for an adjustment.

It is important that you wear your bifocals continuously for the first week to two, even though you may feel you don't have to wear them for certain activities. When walking, avoid looking down at your feet. You're right, this can cause you to lose your balance, and I'm sure you don't usually look down at your feet when walking anyway.

In a few weeks time, you'll wonder how you ever "coped" before you had your bifocals. Good luck.

Dear Jo:

I had a thorough physical exam, including several tests, by my doctor four months ago. I haven't heard anything back from him or his office. Should I just presume that I am fine and all that tests were normal? Concerned

Dear Concerned:

Presume nothing. Call the office and make an appointment for a followup visit. You are responsible for our own health and you should know the result of your physical examination and the tests.

Dear Jo:

My mother, age 74, has had some mental problems over the years, but has always been able to manage pretty well on her own. She says she is fine, but we (the family) all see changes in her appearance and lifestyle. Should we be worried about her? How can one tell if a person is mentally ill or not? Miss R

Dear Miss R.:

Your letter does not give me enough information about your mother's physical and mental health for me to know whether you should be worried about her or not. Since you and your family have noted some changes, perhaps some straight talk with your mother about how she feels and how she is managing is necessary. A professional physical or mental evaluation may be needed.

To answer your question as to how you can tell if a person is mentally ill or not according to the psychiatrist, Eric Pfeiffer, mental illness is present when a person is unable to meet his or her physical, mental and/or social needs, or can do so only with pain, suffering, and considerable personal discomfort. Although some older people are mentally ill, mental illness is not a part of growing older. Should any of these apply to your mother, you should assist her in getting help.

Red Cross: blood need 'critical'

American Red Cross Blood Services, Southeastern Michigan Region, is experiencing its second serious blood shortage of the season.

Late August is usually a difficult time for blood collections due to warm weather diversions for donors. This year's collections have failen dangerously, resulting in what is termed a "critical" shortage by the Red Cross.

Hospitals are being requested to postpone elective surgery so that emergency blood needs may be met. All blood types are needed, especially tupes Q and A. Blood can be donated by anyone ages 17-65 who is in general good health and weighs at least 110 pounds. Donors are being encouraged to bring a friend or relative along to donate with them.

Donations are accepted from in the Livonia Donor Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 W. Six Mile, Suite 100 C, Livonia. Hours are 2-8 pm. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. For an appointment, call 422-2820.

HAT D'YA MEAN, University of MICHIGAN? It probably should be the University of Florida-Michigan extension. Or University of Illinois, Ann Arbor branch.

Or even - hold tight to those maize and blue hats, you Meechigan rooters — Michigan's own Ohio State University.

A glance at the Wolverine football roster explains all. One-hundred sixteen players. Twentythree hail from Ohio, another 10 from Florida and 11 others from Illinois.

Know how many Michigan natives are on the team? Forty-one. Just over one-third of the total. Not many. And don't believe for a minute it's because Michigan State out-recruited U-M. They didn't.

The reason is that Bo Schembechler didn't recruit heavily in the home state. He said he wasn't going to.

He said he wasn't going to because the talent just wasn't there.

THAT ISN'T exactly correct. A decline in population has no doubt robbed the state of some talent. But there's still a lot remaining.

What isn't around is the talent to teach the talented.

Coaching is on the decline — in all sports, not just football. Reasons vary, but the bottom line is traceable to that decline in population.

A wage-earner leaves the state to look for work elsewhere. He takes his kids with him. Schools close, school teachers are laid off. And with the teachers go the coaches.

After all, 10 years ago teachers did all the coaching. Bob Atkins can testify to that. Atkins guit coaching football at Redford Union in 1976 and his replacement, Harvey Heitman, was the first coach ever hired who was not teaching at RU.

There are 35 coaching postions at RU. Of that

Jamie's grabs Massey crown

Jamles, Class A men's softball champions from Wayne, fought off a valiant surge by Livonia's Studio Lounge to win the annual Massey Tournament of Champions Softball Classic last weekend in Plymouth.

Jamies, after losing 7-5 to Studio Lounge in the semifinals, rebounded in the championship game, 11-10. Jamies was 5-1 for the tourney.

The Plymouth and Canton teams, Don Massey Cadillac, Dooney's, Stans Market and Canton Sports, were all knocked out of the tournament early. Yet, thanks to Bobby Smith, the host city had something to be proud of.

SMITH, A PLYMOUTH native playing for Jamies, won the home run derby sponsored by Budweiser. Smith banged five out of 10 pitches over the fence to win the derby.

Smith was also a key man in Jamies' 11-10 championship game victory collecting two hits in three at-bats.

It looked as though Jamies might sweep through the tourney undefeated. They jumped ahead of Studio Lounge 5-0 in the first inning of the semi-final game. Studio had already lost once and was facing elimination.

The Livonians, however, blanked Jamies the rest of the way and rallied to win 7-5. Ron Griffin was the big gun for Studio, going two for three with a two-run home run. Tim Kelley had two hits also.

softball

Smith and tournament Most Valuable Player Mark Morgan, staked Jamies to an 11-8 lead going into the final inning of the championship game. Morgan, who batted .500 in the tourney, hit seven homers and knocked in 18 runs, went two-for-three and blasted a long home run in the championship contest.

STUDIO WAS FAR from finished. Trailing by three in the seventh, Griffin quickly reduced the margin to one with a two-run homer. Studio put its next two runners aboard, but a line drive through the box was caught and turned into a rally-killing double play. Ironically, the runner doubled off had just entered the game as a pinch runner.

Griffin and Terry Johnson each had three hits and a home run for the losers.

Romaines Party Store of Livonia finished third in the 12-team tourney played at Massey Field in Plymouth.

For about 90 minutes a day, four days a week, Rich Kromm plays a rugged, ex- Junior Hockey League amateur championhausting game of four-on-four hockey at Redford's Ice Arena.

The other three days of the week he lifts weights. He constantly conditions his body, fervently believing that a sound body will lead to a clear mind.

WHICH IS KROMM'S position. A former Detroit Country Day School star, Kromm played for the Portland Winterhawks last season and helped them to the Canadian 'ship.

"We really took over that tournament," Kromm said. The Winterhawks hosted the playoffs, with sellout crowds of 10,000 fans jammed into the ice arena for Portland playoff games. Games between other tournament teams attracted 8,000 or more.

Calgary's lack of left wings and the possibility of losing Kromm - if he remained unsigned for two years Calgary would surrender its rights to sign him - helped in negotiations, conducted by family friend Ron Roberts.

Kromm's 103 points no doubt played a role in Calgary's decision. Still, signing a / pro contract provides no automatic bye into the NHL, Kromm knows it. But last year's number, only six are filled by RU teachers. Turnovers make any basketball or football coach cringe. And although the context changes, the turnover effect is the same on high school athletic directors.

"OUR AVERAGE turnover rate is usually about five or six a year," Atkins said. However, this year he had to search for 12 new coaches - nearly onethird of his staff.

In Rochester, teachers filling 22 coaching positions were pink-slipped. "Some have been called back," said a relieved Bill Seltz, athletic director for both Rochester and Adams high schools.

Layoffs are only part of the problem. The reason for a decline in quality coaching certainly stems from falling enrollment and limited finances, but the effects are just now surfacing, like weeds corner," said new Farmington school district athletic director Ron Holland. "There's just no training ground for coaches any longer."

Kromm, a 19-year-old Livonian, was selected by the Calgary Flames in the second round of the 1982 draft. He signed with the Flames in June and on Sunday will depart for the team's training camp, which opens Sept. 11.

"This is something I'm keyed up for," Kromm said. "I wouldn't be going up there if I didn't think I had a chance. Calgary doesn't have many left wingers."

Kromm, 5-11 and 187 pounds, blistered the opposition for $6 goals and 67 assists, a total of 103 points during the season. The Winterhawks won three of four games in the double-elimination tourney, beating Oshaway twice, the second time in the championship game. The Portland squad also knocked off Olympic star Pat LaFontaine's Verdun team.

ALL OF WHICH increased Kromm's value to Calgary. Although unsigned, Kromm spent two weeks in the Calgary camp last year and said he "learned a lot just in the time I was there, like never give the puck

"I felt comfortable there," he said. "It's. not as big a step as people think. It's just the little things that the pros do that separate them."

Dan Gilmartin (left) hopes to pick up where he left off from last season. The senior quarterback led Stevenson to wins in each of its final five games.

Percentages in Spartans' favor

By Brad Emons staff writer

What school owns one of the top wonlost football percentages (.794) in Metro Detroit during the past seven years? Livonia Stevenson ranks No. 8 with a 50-13-0 record.

Incidentally, Marysville is No. 1 with a 57-6 record followed closely by Dearborn Fordson at 55-6.

The coach during those seven years and for 19 total at Stevenson is Jack Reardon.

After a slow start, Stevenson rebounded for 6-3 mark last season, including five straight victories.

The Spartans lost 13 starters, but Reardon embarks on a new season in the same situation like all the others.

"We will lack varsity game experience," he said. "We'll have seniors playing positions they haven't played before.

"During the first week this team picked things up quickly. We will not lack in enthusiasm. They have a good attitude."

STEVENSON, however, can be optimistic about the return of quarterback Dan Gilmartin.

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound senior started the final five games of 1982, which Stevenson won, passing for 689 yards. "Dan is our only back with any game experience," said Reardon.

Brad McLive started at tackle last year, but has been moved to center.

The only other Spartans with offensive experience are senior split end Rick Rozman and junior tailback Steve Bixby.

"Rick played a lot, but did not start," Reardon explained. "Steve was moved up after the fourth game from the junior varsity and played about 21/2 quarters."

Contesting at the end positions are juniors Tony Beaune and Chris Lucukowski and senior Brian Porter.

SENIORS Brad Oppot and John Carney are working at tackle along with juniors Scott Boot and Brian Hassell. Mike Vaughn and Chris Dobiesz, both seniors, have the inside track at guard, along with Toney Angelosanto.

"We like a 60-40 percent pass game," Reardon said. "We think Dan Gilmartin and Chuck Donaldson can pass the ball, but we're not going to come out and just throw the football. We cannot win that way. We'll have to establish a run game."

The Stevenson defense does have some experienced with the return of Rozman, a safety, Tom Brzezinski and football

John O'Connor, linebackers; and Bob Brown, end.

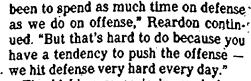

"We are looking for outstanding play from Brad McLive who has moved from tackle to linebacker," said the Stevenson coach. "And Scott Underwood is going to help us a great deal as a down lineman."

Reardon added that Tom York and Jay McMillan, both seniors, should strengthen the defensive end slots.

ANDY TALIAFERRO, a senior, moves in at linebacker. Other players vying for defensive time include Bill Ulle, Dave MacIntyre, Dave Green and Bixby.

Promising newcomers include tackles Pat Conway and Vic Nettie, both juniors. Paul Ureste, Brian Trainor, Paul Truax look good in the defensive secondary, according to Reardon, while Rob Kuphal, Steve Kemppanen and Scott Trainor should help on the line.

"Our practice schedule always has

The kicking game is in good shape with the return of Rozman (punter) and York (placekicking). Pete Huddy, a junior, and Bob Brown, a senior, are also competing for those spots.

THE SPARTANS open Friday, Sept. 9. at Redford Union and follow with Livonia Franklin before diving into the Western Lakes schedule.

"Farmington Harrison will be very good again and I think Farmington will be right in there," Reardon said. "And Plymouth Salem, Walled Lake Central and Canton will all be good ball games in the Lakes Division."

But RU has a wealth of running backs with good speed. The Panther running game, coupled with a big and strong offensive line, should give its opponents a few lumps.

Seniors Bob Macek (6-foot, 181 pounds) and Keith Manus (5-10, 180) are back for their third year on the varsity. Macek was an All-Northwest Suburban League halfback choice two years ago, while Manus, a fullback, made the grade last season.

They are joined by junior halfback Don Angel (6-0, 184), who came of age late in the season. 👒

RICK HOLMES gained valuable experience late last season and should be ready at quarterback. One of his main targets is tight end Ken Atwood (6-3, Wilson and Tim DeGraellas.

Promising newcomers on offense include Mike Randazzo (6-1, 216) and Bill Taylor (6-1, 190). Jim Rood, meanwhile, should help defensively, according to Heitman.

HEITMAN said his team will run out of an I- or pro-formation. Defensively, the Panthers will give a 5-2 look.

RU opens the season Friday, Sept. 9, at home against Livonia Stevenson. The Panthers will then take on Redford Bishop Borgess before embarking on the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) schedule.

Heitman predicts North Farmington and Westland John Glenn are the teams to beat in the NSL.

Churchill strives for grid turnabout

"We'll be much improved," promised Livonia Churchill football coach Ken Kaestner, "but we can't get hurt or we're going be in trouble."

Kaestner, now in his 16th season, is carrying 29 players. The Chargers are coming off a 1-8 season.

Twenty starters and 26 letter winners are gone, but Kaestner likes this team's attitude.

The quarterback situation is in good shape as senior John Fraser (6-foot-2, 175 pounds) and junior John Stoitsiadis (5-9, 162) both return.

"Both quarterbacks are good players," said the Churchill coach.

Senior co-captains Bob Foust (5-9, 175), a tailback, and Rob Tracy (5-8, 158), a fullback, lead a host of backfield candidates.

Kaestner, however, gets excited when you mention junior Dave Mize, a tackle on offense and a defensive end. Mize has been a regular since his freshman year.

"He's 6-1, 246 without an ounce of faton him," said Kaestner. "He benches 300 pounds.

"Both Foust and Tracy are good athletes and Mize has great potential."

OTHER OFFENSIVE returnees include Steve Brooks, a junior center; Rich Jolly (6-1, 221), senior tackle; and Chris Phifer, junior split end.

Kaestner also believes his defense is better with the linebacking corps of Tracy, Dave Scott (6-1, 197) and Erwin Anderson-Smith.

Dan Foster (6-0, 195) and Mize are set at the tackles. John Oltman, meanwhile, looks good in the secondary, according to Kaestner.

"Our defense has good speed," said the Churchill coach. "It must be improved if we our improved. We have to prevent the big play - eliminate the long pass."

Kaestner also believes his kicking game is solid as Fraser and Stoitsladis handle the punting chores with Matt Wiljanen and Tracy handling kickoffs and placekicking.

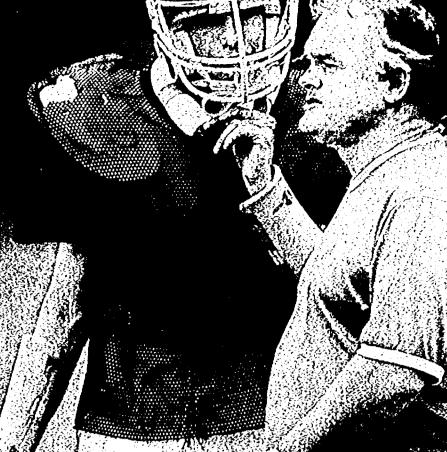

The Chargers, a member of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA), open with a non-league game Friday, Sept. 10 at Livonia Franklin.

Labor Day exhibition benefits Jerry's Kids

A challenge such as this cannot be avoided.

In fact, the local boxers fighting Monday look forward to their bouts, knowing full-well that the fight will be a long and difficult one. Indeed, it has lasted for decades already and still the battle rages on.

If ever there was a team boxing event, this is it. Among the local fighters who will appear at the parking lot of the Charisma Beauty Salon on Five Mile and Newburgh are Craig Payne, the No. 2 rated super-heavyweight in the nation, featherweight Mike Dardini and middleweight Steve Darnell, all of the Livonia Boxing Club.

Joining them will be members of the Westland/Garden City Boxing Club, the Eighth Street Gym, the Crowell Boxing Club and the Detroit Street Services Club.

The opponent for each fighter is a common one: Muscular Dystrophy.

THE BOXING EVENT will provide more than funds for the fight against MD. For Payne, the exhibition will serve as a valuable tune-up for the North American Boxing Championships Sept. 15-17 in Houston. Payne will face the top fighters from the U.S., Canada, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Mexico, as well as other Caribbean nations.

Dardini and Darnell will use the bouts to prepare for the upcoming Michigan Amateur Boxing Federation Championships in Lansing. Dardini is returning from the Ohio State Fair Boxing Championships, where he won his first bout, then had to withdraw because of a badly cut lip. Darnell will be trying to come back from knee surgery. performed earlier this summer.

THE FUND-RAISING EXHIBITION will run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Boxing is only one of the scheduled events. Twenty-five of metro Detroit's top hairstyling salons will have representatives at the benefit cutting hair for $5 and $10. Entertainment will be provided by live bands, dancing girls, clowns and magicians.

It will be an event worth attending. And all proceeds go toward knocking out MD.

For more information, contact Richard Asztalos at the Charisma Beauty. Salon (464-8686); Paul Soucy (525-1387); or the Livonia Boxing Club (477-6959).

Western Lakes has new basketball look

By by Chris McCosky and Brad Emona staff writers

MARCHER is gone. So are Sue Ferguson and Alice Short. Jacque Merrifield is gone and so is her coach Bob Blohm. Things will be a little different on the Western Lakes girls basketball scene this season. Walled Lake Western, spurred by the emergence of 6-foot-3 junior center Val Hall seem ready to take their place atop the Lakes Western Division, while Farmington Harrison, stung by the losses of Short and Ferguson, may find themselves rebuilding this year.

Not everything will change in 1983. The Lakes Division title will again be contested by Plymouth Salem, despite the loss of Merrifield, and Bentley, minus Archer.

Other teams apparently on the upswing are Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central.

Though the Western Lakes Conference lost some of its top talent last year, players like Hall, Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Laurie Day, are ready to step into the limelight in 1983.

PLYMOUTH SALEM

Bob Blohm, who won more than 100 games in five seasons as Salem's girls basketball coach, has left his job in the very capable hands of Fred Thomann, who has been the head coach of the Rocks' boys hoop program for 12 seasons.

With a trio of returning starters the caliber of Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Fran Whittaker, Thomann has a sound base to build his team.

McBride, a 5-foot-8 guard, is an excellent ball handler and perimeter player. The All-Observer pick shoots well and plays aggressive defense.

Johnson, who will swing between guard and forward, will be counted on heavily for both scoring and rebounding.

"Dawn is just a super athlete," Thomann said. "Her vertical jump is as good as any girl I've seen. And she is a true jump shot shooter.'

Whitaker, used mainly in a supporting role last year, will play forward-guard and be a key rebounder.

Senior Kelly Bemis, who is currently injured, and Mary Beth Weast, a junior, are fighting for the offguard spot.

Three seniors, Michelle Dawson, Cathy Schinker and Terri Lesniak, are doing battle for the other forward spot,

"We have three fine players to build the team around," said Thomann. "We have good quickness and this team will be a good defensive team. They are getting better daily and they are going to continue to get better."

The only possible weakness, Thomann said, will be rebounding. "We don't really have the one dominant rebounder," he said.

Rhonda Lancaster, a junior guard, is probably the most talented player on the team. Joining her at guard will be Julie Dunn. Kris Rogers, currently injured, will also see some time at guard. Laura Ramberg and Alyse Fortune, a transfer student from Massachusetts, will start at forward and Jill Waterman will play center.

"We have a lot of kids back, but we still are very inexperienced. We are far behind in the mental aspects of the game. They just haven't played enough," Brown said.

Farmington got beat by as many as 70 points in games last year. That won't happen this year. The team should be more competitive, but still a ways away from being a contender.

LIVONIA BENTLEY

"Laurie Day will be the key to our season," said coach Tom Lang. "As captain, we have to look to her for leadership. She has an awful lot on her shoulders."

Day, a 5-8 senior, was an All-Observer pick last season. She is one of three starters back and is moving from guard to forward.

Juniors Lonnie Payne, who will be the point guard, and Sheri Wolfe, a forward, are back for their second varsity seasons.

Replacing All-American Archer, bound for Michigan State, is the biggest headache for Lang.

"It's nice to have three back, but nothing will ease Kim's loss," admitted Lang. "We won't be able to dominate the boards. We're short, but you just don't know according to the other teams. I know that we won't have any easy games."

Theresa Aragona, a 5-10 senior, moves into the center slot after playing back-up last year. Bridget Nicole, a 5-6 senior, will probably be the fifth starter.

"Theresa is good defensively - excellent in the man-to-man," Lang said. "And Bridget is good on defense and is an outside shooter."

Lang can also expect help from sophomores Kelly Kowalski and Amy Weber (slowed of late by an ankle injury).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

The Chargers return four starters under new coach Roger Springsteen. Churchill is coming off a 5-16 season.

Guards Amy Brow and Patty Schmidt return along with forward Gail Mundie and 5-10 center LaDonna Sevakis.

Springsteen, who spent five years at Churchill as an assistant, said, "We'll be more of a transition (running) team instead of a pattern team."

Newcomers expected to help include last year's leading scorer on the JV, sophomore Sherri MacIntyre, 5-10 sohomore Jacki Wozniak, and freshman Tracy Greenwald,

"Tracy was very impressive this summer," said Springsteen. "She's very aggressive and will fit right in with the kind of basketball we want to play. "We have a good mix of players and we have some talent to be a decent basketball team. I think we can be competitive in the Western Division."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

First-year coach Wayne Henry probably has the youngest team in the WLAA, but he's not fretting. "I don't want to say it's a rebuilding year," said

Henry, who was the JV coach last season. "We hope to come on as the season goes along and maybe do something in the Western Lakes playoffs. "We have only two back from last year's team, but I'm not writing this season off." The returnees are both forwards - Sandy Waln.

a senior, and Amy Rozman, a junior. Up from last year's 15-5 JV squad are 6-0 Lisa Bokovoy, 5-9 Mary Kay Hussey, point-guard Cindy Schmidt, Chris Schemanske, Julie Niemiec, Pam Griffin and Shannon Snyder. Junior forward-center Joan Frysinger, a transfer from Oscoda, and senior guard Liz Gargaro round out the 11-member unit.

"We don't have a big center, but we have nice size with our forwards," said Henry. "I think we'll have a strong bench. Anybody will be able to come off and contribute. We have some athletes and we'll have a good attitude."

Laurie Day carries the burden of team leader as Bentley embarks on a new season Tuesday at Redford Union.

girls' basketball season at 7:30 tonight against Dearborn St. Alphonsus in its home opener.

The Blazers are coming off a 22-1 season under coach Ed Kavanaugh. Ladywood reached the Class B quarterfinals last season before being ousted by St. Joseph's.

Other area teams will swing into action Tuesday night.

FARMINGTON HARRISON

"What a difference'a year makes."

The saying is much more than a tired cliche for Harrison coach Gary Sine. It's a harsh reality. After losing two All-Stars from last year's 18-5, Western Division championship team, the aforementioned Ferguson and Short, as well as two other starters, Sine enters 1983 hoping at best for a .500 season.

"We will have to slow down the offense this year and be more patient. Last year, we could do any thing we wanted to. We will have to play good defense," Sine said.

On the bright side, Karen Sklar, who was a starter last year until she got hurt, is healthy and looking sharp. She is a 5-foot-9, senior forward with a good outside shot and good quickness.

Junior Darla Payne, at 5-foot-9, will be the center. At the guard spots will be sophomores Michelle Wise and Jennifer Hughes.

But, the key to the team could be the develop-ment of freshman forward Jenine Whittimore. "She is a very strong player who can go to her right and to her left. She is going to be a good one," Sine said. Junior guard Jodi Bennett and sophomore forward Dapa Dinkins will see a good deal of playing time this year also.

"We have some quickness and more depth than we had last year. We will be able to press more. But, we are very young. If we play .500 ball, I'll be very happy," Sine said.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

Canjon coach Phyllis Cunningham-Mulroy is trying to mold her small, young players into an ag-gressive/scrappy team. It's the only way her team cceed in the unrelenting Western Lakes Conferen

"We have been working really hard. We will be playing at a height disadvantage most of the time. I have to become a more scrappy, hard-We v fighting team," said Mulroy.

The team will also have to rely heavily on the outside shot for their offense. Luckily, senior Lou Ann Hamblin, junior Lisa Russell, and sophomore Knickerbocker all possess deadly outside Diana shots.

Mulroy has five seniors coming back from last eason, but they saw only limited playing time. season homores, will also see action. Three so Nancy Gray is likly to share time at the guard spot with Hamblin, Marie Krashovetz and sopho-more Beth Frigge. Knickerbocker, Tammy Bud-long, Kathy Ross and Lisa Russell will play at for-ward. Senior Sue Opatrny, at 5-foot-10, will play at center.

"We don't really have a post player. We will be hurting on the boards. The key for us will be defense. We have really focused on playing a tough man-to-man defense." Mulroy said.

FARMINGTON

Bruce Brown may not have the best basketball team in the gague, but he certainly has the most worldly.

Farmington, coming off a dismal 1-20 showing last year, has picked up transfer students from In-donesia (Jill Taylor) and Finland (Tulja Pirttila) this season. The transfer students may add to the team's culture, but it's not likely that they will improve their win-loss record.

Festival celebrates fruit of the vine

Niagara blosssoms as a wine- producing region

When you think of wine, do you think about the Canadian side of the Niagara River? If not, you may be surprised to know that wine is being taken very seriously here in the Niagara area.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival will take place Friday, Sept. 23, to Sunday, Oct. 2, in and around St. Catherines, a city on Lake Ontario within 10 minutes drive of both Niagara-on-the-Lake and Niagara Falls.

If you haven't seen the Falls lately, or if you are still planning your first visit to the Shaw Festival in Niagaraon-the-Lake, you might want to combine these well-known attractions with a winery tour and some grape-stomping festival activities.

Fruit farms have flourished on the Niagara Peninsula ever since the United Empire Loyalists crossed the Niagara River to stay with the British crown after the American Revolution. Wine has been made here for many years, but it was considered undrinkable by continental or world standards until recent years.

The native labrusca grapes make excellent table grapes and grape juice but have never suited the tastes of wine lovers accustomed to the vinifera grapes of California and Europe. This was also true of the grapes grown in the northern United States: Grapes that would survive the winter were considered to have a "foxy" taste.

ALL OF these areas have blossomed in the last 10 years because they have grafted European vines onto local roots, creating a hybrid wine grape that is closer to that popular vinifera taste. During the last few years, they have also grown "pure vinifera" grapes like Riesling and Chardonnay, defying the old wisdom that said "they'll never survive the winter."

They don't survive winter easily, so Niagara wines with familiar vinifera vineyard and wine-tasting experience available in the Niagara area greatly enriches the travel experience there. The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival features 200 events, including a Grande Parade, grape-stomping contests, lots of wine-garden experiences and wine-tasting tours.

Saturday, Sept. 10, launches almost two weeks of warm-up before the festival officially begins: wine history displays at St. Catherines Historical Museum, a variety of wine-and-cheese parties, dances, sports events, and open-air wine gardens.

On Friday, Sept. 23, they'll crown the Grape King, the grape grower chosen by a panel of experts as operator of the finest vineyard in Canada. The Grande Parade is at the other end of the calendar, on Saturday, Oct. 1. Winery tours are available throughout the two-week festival. Your $3.50 ticket will take you on a driving tour through the area, on a tour of both a vineyard and a winery, and includes sample tastings of local wines.

DURING THE Festival you can tour wineries such as Chateau des Charmes, Barnes, Bright's, Andres, Inniskillin, Jordan and Ste-Michelle, Montravin Cellars and Hillebrand Wineries, all in the St. Catherines-Niagara Falls area. Inniskillin has the reputation for making the finest wines. I was served 1978.

Filmmaker completing his newest project

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

HE EDITING PROCESS is the part of filmmaking he enjoys most, said Will Lawson, head of film production at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

Since the beginning of August, Lawson has been editing a 15-minute orientation film that will be shown to museum visitors beginning in October. The village's first orientation film was shot earlier this summer with character actor Pat Hingle as host-narrator.

Lawson, who selects cast and crew for the village's film projects, said of Hingle, "I had him in the back of my mind all along."

Hingle has worked for General Electric, doing TV spots as Tom Edison. He also did a one-man show as Edison. The veteran performer seemed a natural to interpret Greenfield Village to the public.

"WE HAD ONLY two days to work. He had 10 minutes of screen time. It was quite a bit of work. He really did a superb job," Lawson said.

Lawson, a Birmingham resident, has been with Greenfield Village since 1975. Although he has worked on many films in his career, he is proudest of "La Grande Vitesse," which he wrote and produced back in 1972.

"I think it's the best thing I've done," he said of the 16-minute film story about Alexander Calder's stabile sculpture at Vandenberg Plaza in Grand Rapids.

Lawson received the opportunity to do the motion picture when he was working as in-house filmmaker for the college's public relations office.

He compared the Calder film which was done "for people to experience the making of the sculpture" - to the orientation film shot at Greenfield Village. In both, he tried "to create a little bit of mystery. We don't want to lay things out for people."

village is used as a stage and buildings as artifacts to tell the story. The film is trying to clarify something about Henry Ford as a person growing up in this age of transformation.

Visitors will see the film in a new theater being built at the museum. A permanent part of the setting will be a Ford personal-history museum, an exhibit area dedicated to Henry Ford.

Lawson said that during shooting of the orientation film with actor Hingle. "We really put him to the test and worked long hours. I found him to be the most professional person I've ever worked with."

The only time Hingle became impatient was with unnecessary delays. "He's really a stage actor at heart. When he's ready, he expects us to be ready."

HINGLE IS a familiar face to TV viewers and has appeared on such shows as "M*A*S*H" and "St. Elsewhere." He also makes about a halfdozen movies a year. Recent stage roles include Big Daddy in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at the Los Angeles Civic Theater.

Other noted actors who have worked at Greenfield Village include E.G. Marshall, James Whitmore and Burgess Meredith.

Lawson is executive director of the museum's orientation film. He hired the writer, photographer and crew of 18 people.

"My love in filmmaking is in postproduction," he said. "When I'm editing, I forget about lunch hour."

Lawson has been a resident of Birmingham since 1954. He went to Birmingham schools, graduating from Groves High School. He attended Grand Valley Stage College in Allendale for five years, studying psychology and fine art.

Lawson said the orientation film takes a philosophical approach, creating a frame of reference for the museum's collection.

THE 240-ACRE museum covers 150 years of industrial history. Emphasizing the Industrial Revolution, it shows the change from farm to industrial culture.

The orientation film begins with someone growing up in the 1930s, then goes back to preindustrial times. The

He did industrial films for the automotive market and worked for the tourist council. He was a production assistant and editing assistant. "I spent a lot of years at Ross Roy," he said.

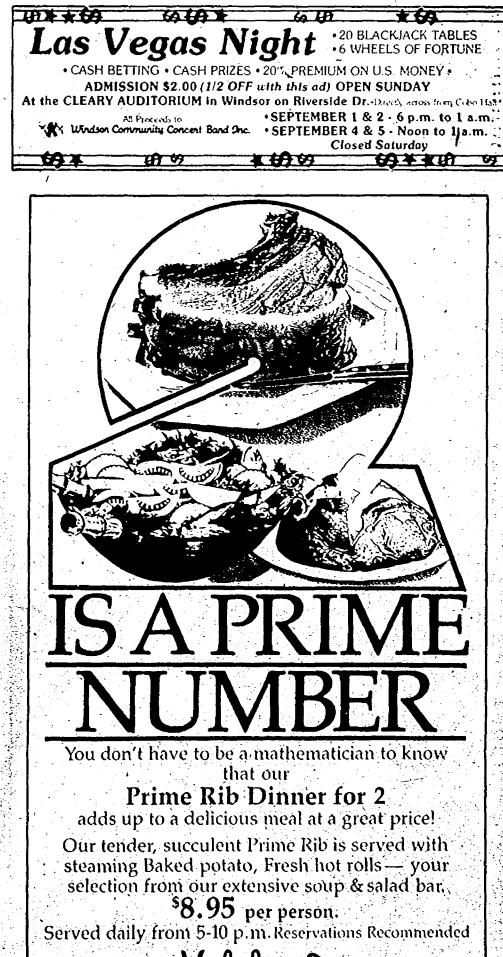

At Greenfield Village, he does color photography for publications and has a routine production schedule for TV news clips including public service spots.

A ONE-MAN department, Lawson hires the people necessary to make each film. Usually, he will be the cam-

Jazz stars to perform

There's something for everyone at the Montreux-Detroit Kool Jazz Festival, which runs through Monday. For fans who like to tap their toes to the big-band sound, or get out on the dance floor while the music plays, the J.C. Heard Orchestra is featured from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday at the Book Cadillac Hotel. The orchestra will appear with special guests Jukka Linkola Octet with Opus 5. The J.C. Heard Trio, along with Clark Terry, will perform at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday at the Detroit Institute of Arts Recital Hall. The Montreux Festival, which opened Wednesday, offers a Tribute to Count Basie with the Count Basie Orchestra at 9 tonight at Ford Auditorium. Special guests are Jay McShann and Clark Terry.

J.C. Heard plays the drums, during a recent concert on the summer jazz series at the Bloomfield Township Public Library.

State fair wine judge faces many temptations at tasting

"When some gustatory duty's to be done, To be done, A judge's lot is not a happy one, Happy one."

With due respect to the noble adversaries of the "Pirates of Penzance," it is indeed tough to be an evaluator of others' efforts, whether in the form of piracy or winemaking. Consider:

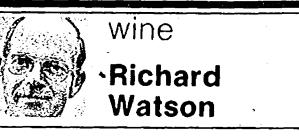

• A wine judge must begin at 9 a.m., with the prospect of continuous drinking over six-eight hours.

when the wine is bad. That's considered bad form, a sign of moral weakness. • Above all, a judge should not get smashed. The temptation is there as the day drags on for some, but again, good form must hold.

ARMED WITH all these admonitions and anticipations, I recently (Aug. 23) again joined a group of 19 others at the Michigan State Fair to assault the 107 entries that Michigan winemakers considered worthy of peer competition.

The group included national dignitar-awarding of 10 gold medals, up considerably from the two issued in 1982. This was, in all likelihood, attributable to a more benevolent mood by the judgremarkable preference for sweet wines.)

Individual Gold Award winning wineries were L. Mawby (Vignoles), Good Harbor (Vignoles), Bronte (Baco Noir) and St. Julian (May wine). May Wine!

Well, it was quite a day. At least, there were no garlic or onion wines submitted this year, but the panel that tasted the peppermint wine (Pfefferminz Dreh from Frontenac) was a long time regaining their palates.

My favorite wine? It only got a silver, due wholly to the stubborn position of a couple of tasteless fellow judges, but it was a grand one that deserved gold.

It was the St. Julian Frankenmuth Champagne, the first tasted during the day, long before palate burn-out set in. A remarkable entry, wine fermented in "this" bottle.

Maybe a judge's lot is not so bad after all.

The best film about World War II, not surprisingly, was made four years after the war. Most war films made during the good fight were consumed with overtly patriotic themes and overly romanticized plots and characters. Pictures like "Destination Tokyo" and "God Is My Co-Pilot" were no truer to life than most TV sitcoms are today. That's not to say "Sands of Iwo Jima" isn't packed with stock characters the tough sergeant, the G.I. with a chip on his shoulder, a dogface for every ethnic group - but "Sands" is simply better made than all those other films, and its use of genuine war footage is unparalleled. like most schlock-horror pictures of the day did. Instead, the director, in effect, filmed a stage play. Unfortunately, when seen on the two-dimensional TV, the film comes across rather dull and one-dimensional. Still, it's a pleasure just to look at the beautiful Grace Kelly and a joy to watch John Williams unravet the murder scheme of miscreant Ray Milland, even if the plot is too complicated for its own good. Robert Cummnings also stars.

"Charade" (1963), noon Wednes-day on Ch. 9. Originally 114 minutes. Talk about complicated plots, "Charade" offers a terribly implausible script and plot twists. Once again, though, it's gratifying to view the performances of Cary Grant, who, at 59, appears most dignified; Audrey Hepburn, who, at 34, was never more graceful, and the fine supporting work of Walter Matthau, George Kennedy, James Coburn and Ned Glass.

This etching is an example of the unusual work of Brian Watkins. The artist chooses scenes from different photographs and combines them in one etching.

Images combine in unusual etchings Artist has worked 3 years on process

Chances are that you would never recognize the scenes depicted in Brian Watkins' zinc-plate etchings. The often surreal images exist only in his mind's eye - until he combines scenes from different photographs to produce a tantalizing new picture.

Watkins, a Plymouth native, combines elements of scenes as diverse as VFW members planting flags in a local cemetery to street scenes in Amsterdam's red-light district.

IN THE print "Dating is for the Birds" he utilizes an archway photographed in Sweden, a house photographed in Detroit, an embracing couple from Hamburg, West Germany, and bats from Plymouth to produce one haunting and memorable scene.

Watkins' etchings are produced differently from the more traditional styles of etching.

He works with a 35mm camera and high-speed black and white film and produces grainy negatives.

These are enlarged to the size of the finished etching on a high-contrast graphic arts film. Traditionally an artist would use a halftone screen to produce the intermediate tones in the final print.

> Because of the coarse grain of the original negatives and their high degree of enlargement, Watkins is able to bypass this screen and hold much more detail in the final print.

Watkins cuts apart the enlarged graphic arts film and assembles the pieces to form a new image. Using this technique he is able to create any scene that his considerable imagination can invent.

The final assembly is rephotographed. The large film positive transparency that results is placed in firm contact with a zinc plate that has been coated with a light-sensitive emulsion. The film and zinc plate package is then exposed to ultraviolet light.

THE LIGHT hardens portions of the plate in relation to how much passes through the film. Watkins places the zinc plate in an acid bath that etches away the unhardened portions of the plate.

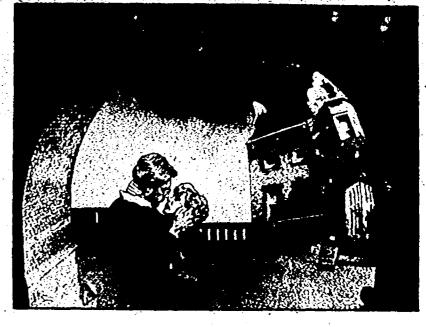

the plate is deposited in proportion to the depth of the etched image.

Thus, shadow areas will hold more ink and print darker, while midtones and highlights will hold less, printing lighter.

The inked plate is placed on damp etching paper, then placed on the bed of the etching press. Watkins spins the large spoked wheel and the plate and paper pass between the heavy rollers of the press.

Carefully separating the paper from the inked plate, Watkins inspects a proof of "Dating is for the Birds." That work, which combines several elements, is shown above. The press which Watkins uses for his work is in Schoolcraft College's art department.

The etching paper is then carefully removed from the plate. After the etching dries Watkins signs and numbers each finished print.

BECAUSE the plate wears each time a print is pulled, Watkins limits each edition. He is careful to retire and destroy worn plates.

Watkins' work has grown in complexity in the three years he has worked with this process. He began with single image etchings then learned to add and combine imag-

Good portfolio is key to an artist's job

By David P. Messing staff writer

With my hair greased back and my best (only) suit on I snapped my portfolio together and marched straight from a college campus to my first job interview.

My degree in fine arts is one half advertising design and one half sculpture. That means I can wear a suit and look like a commercial artist, or wear a flannel shirt and bluejeans and look like a sculptor.

But this interview was for an illustrator so I suited up for the occasion.

With a shiny face and a head full of confi-dence, I sat before the man who was to interview me. Even though he was a thin little fellow, who nervously bit his nails, he completely disarmed me with his first question. He asked: "What do you have in the way of product illustration?"

The room got hot and my tie seemed awfully tight. I had nothing in my portfolio that could be considered product illustration. So I figured I would dazzle him with the quantity of "A" marks I received. I rapidly pulled pieces of artwork out of my portfolio and began laying them all over this poor fellow's desk, lap and office.

SAVING the best for last, I slowly pulled out my detailed drawing of the human body, everything in proportion, every bone muscle, cartilage and tendon properly labeled. I even forgot to erase the big red "A" on the cover sheet.

Then with a stole monotone voice he asked, "But can you draw a toaster?" . . . So there we were he was thinking "I don't care what you got an 'A' on. Can you do commercial art?" and I was thinking "Hey man, what planet are you from! If I can do all these lessons and get good grades of course I can draw toasters?"

We were both right. He was right in wanting to see something showing my ability to fill his specific need. I was right in knowing that I could do that type of artwork. But I presented a very weak portfolio and sadly enough was totally unaware of it's deficiencies.

A degree is certainly important, but your portfolio is what will get you the job! Looking back at many freelance interviews I had, I do not recall anyone ever asking if I had a degree in art. But I certainly remember at most interviews, the statement, "Let's see what your portfolio looks like."

A WELL-ROUNDED portfolio is your life's blood if you are a free-lance artist or hoping. to land a job with a prospective employer. A degree is proof that you have fulfilled the requirements to receive a certificate in a specific area of learning. Your portfolio is proof that you have the ability to do artwork worthy of payment.

A good portfolio is one of quality and not quantity. I always say (starting today), "Pick out the best and leave out the rest.'

You never want to qualify or make excuses for any thing in your portfolio. For ex-ample: "Here's an ad I did for my school paper. I know the eyes on the girl are a little off and I misspelled 'sale,' but I was in a hurry." Or, "Here's a portrait of President Ford when he was in office, but I haven't found time to finish"

Only the best you can do should be in your portfolio.

"A picture is worth a thousand words." This saying seems to fit so well in regards to a portfolio. When you are showing your portfolio, regardless of whether you are chattering a blue streak or saying very little, your impression or lack of it; is 99 percent by the looks of your work.

Portfolio is the key to a job

JUST THINK, perhaps one of your pieces might be the one that sways a decision for you, or against you. Firghtening? Not really. Imagine what an actor or an actress must endure at an audition. They, regardless of how talented thay may be, are only considered for moments at a time.

Their total ability could not rightfully be presented in the stress of a live audition. But as an artist you can pour hours of drawing, and redrawing if necessary, to make your portfolio the very best representation of your ability in art.

So what is a good portfolio? In the field of commercial art. I feel you must have a small representation of some of the basic media. That is to say, your best pencil drawing, pen and ink watercolor and or oil painting, etc. But most certainly you must have commercial looking pieces of artwork.

For example camera-ready artwork, like pen and ink drawing of some product. One nice way to do this is to decide hair dryer etc. and render it in pencil, pen and ink with half-tone screens, machinery to architectural drawing. black pencil on coquille board, gray " Here show your ability to be technical wash, watercolor and airbrush.

OF COURSE, drawing six pictures of dad's electric drill won't go down as your life's most exciting moments, but there is just a chance that this insert into your portfolio may be the one to earn you a job. You should also have one logo and letterhead design, a fashion design, one technical illustration, one automotive drawing and a good cartoon.

Then insert whatever fails in line with the job you are applying for. For example: medical illustrations for an application to be a medical illustrator.

A logo and letterhead design shows your ability to express a feeling with type and your ability to line up this type on a letterhead in a visually attractive manner. Fashion design shows your ability to render textiles and how you position the human body to empahsize the fashion and not the body.

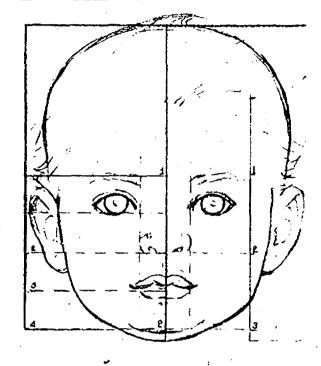

Fashion design is also a good place to produce a convincing logo. Technical on a product, like an electric drill or illustration can be anything from an exploded drawing of a tool or piece of and precise yet artistic enough to make an attractive presentation.

> IN AN automotive drawing strive to show accuracy and cleaness of line without sacrificing artistic style and looseness. Don't forget a good cartoon, This shows your full range of ability, and cartoons are a very good moneymaker, especially if your cartoons have a particular style.

Style in cartooning is a visual expression of your own particular man. ner of lines and shapes. Though it is good to be influenced by the style of other cartoonists, it is a definite "nono" to copy the style of another artist ARTFUL HINT: Often something as unexpected as your own fingernail can mar a mat in your portfolio. To fix this, you lightly mist some water onto a folded piece of paper towel. Then scrub the entire mat. This will rework the tooth of the mat and when dry, restore uniform color to the mat.

Q. I am having fits trying to draw my baby grandchild. How do you draw babies?

divide the bottom half into fourths. The bottom of the eyelid touches the one- fourth line. The bottom of the nose touches the half-line. The lips are just up from the three-quarter line and the chin is at the bottom. Don't forget the usual double chin. Be sure to make the lips and the nose about the same width and remember to keep the eyes wide apart.

Items for the exhibitions listing should arrive a week before the. publication date. Please include brief information about the art event, time, place, opening and closing dates and hours. Send to Exhibitions, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Box 503, Birmingham 48012.

Following Labor Day, the public is invited to visit the world-renowned gardens 1-5 p.m. every day throughout September and 1-5 p.m. weekends during October.

Featured are trees, shrubs and late blooming flowers - giant mums, marigolds, salvia and zinnias among others - at their peak of early fall color. In addition, visitors will enjoy Euro-Cranbrook's 40 acres of gardens are part of the estate of Cranbrook founders, the late George and Ellen Scripps Booth. They are maintained by Cranbrook House and Garden Auxiliary members.

Admission to the gardens is $2 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens. Entrance is at 380 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. For information, call 645-3149.

A. Babies are very difficult to draw especially if you try to draw them in lines only. Always draw them in shades rather than lines. As far as proportions go the eyebrows are at the half way line of the head.

The bottom half is the hard part because all those cute little features are located there. So Drawings are from "Walter Foster Book # 197," "Drawing the Head" by Andrew Loomis.
