Teacher union calls for early try at new pact

By Sandra Armbruster editor

The president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association (WWEA) has issued a "challenge" to the board of education to open negotiations nearly a year early to reach agreement on a new pact by February.

"Simply stated, we're challenging the Wayne-Westland Board of Education to open negotiations immediately on a new agreement," said Bill Reese, union president.

Reese said that the board's position that there is no money for teacher raises would be an issue in the negotiations.

His remarks came during a Tuesday morning speech before teachers who had gathered earlier to hear the annual state of the schools message from Superintendent Timothy Dyer.

Bill Taylor, assistant superintendent for employee relations, said later that the district is "prepared to sit down and negotiate whenever they're ready."

The last agreement reached on a complete contract was in September 1979 on a three-year pact. A two-year extension of the contract was approved in the fall of 1981, and teachers granted the district contract concessions last year. The current agreement expires Sept. 3, 1984.

NOW MEMBERS of the teachers' union "face the worst challenge or the toughest times we've faced in many a year," said Reese, union president.

Exhorting the board to come to the negotiating table "without" pre-existing" conditions, Reese was referring to plans calling for the layoff of more than 100 teachers if the union insists on receiving a 6-percent cost-of-living allowance guaranteed by the contract.

The deferred payment is to be made by July 15, 1984, but the layoffs would come Feb. 1 — at the beginning of the second semester of the school year. Taylor said the COLA payment would amount to about $300,000 for the 925 members of the union.

Discussion of what Dyer said was the union's promise not to "emasculate" the school system by opting for COLA payments, despite the threat of layoffs, has come up during board deliberations in recent months.

"THEY CLAIM there is no money for any raises," Reese said. "They're giving us the choice of giving up our COLA to be paid in July or face layoffs."

The board's attempt "to isolate a single issue" would place negotiations in a

"lose-lose" situation, Reese said.

He met with teachers' applause when he added, "I reject this position."

Reese said the board's analysis of its financial position was a premature and counterproductive over-reaction. While he rejects the position that there is no money available, Reese said that if financial problems could be demonstrated by the administration, they could "only be addressed in the arena of total, open negotiations."

He added that the "association has legitimate contract concerns."

"ABSURD" IS the way Reese characterized "traditional time lines" that end in agreements in the early hours of the first day of school.

"If an equitable agreement can be reached at the 11th hour, there's no reason it can't be reached six months earlier." he said.

Earlier negotiations are possible this year, according to Reese, because "bargaining teams are no longer novices." He added that both sides also know the issues won't change between February and August.

Taylor agreed negotiations would have to begin immediately if a contract was to be reached by Feb. 1. As part of the contract concessions granted last year, the district now may lay off teachers in mid-year with only 30 days notice.

He said that requirement, plus the winter holidays and the "tremendous logistics" of the bumping process, means the district may have to issue layoff notices as early as sometime in November. He said that wasn't being pessimistic, but pragmatic.

The loss of staff would result in program reductions as well. Taylor said that the secondary school day would be reduced to six 45-minute periods, and, in elementary schools, programs eliminated would include art, music and physical education.

Council hopefuls discuss issues

Ten candidates have filed for the Westland City Council, resulting in a primary election on Tuesday, Sept. 18. In preparation for that election, the Westland Observer asked all of the candidates to submit a brief biography and to respond to six questions.

The responses of two of the candidates will be published in this issue. Replies of five of the candidates were printed last Thursday. The responses of the remaining candidates will appear in the Thursday, Sept. 8, issue.

The six questions sent to every candidate are:

1. Why have you decided to run for city council?

2. What skills do you have that would make you an effective candidate?

3. What should be the roles of the city council and the mayor in running the government of the city?

A. What do you think should be done

4. What do you think should be done about library funding and services?

5. What do you think should be done about Department on Aging funding and services?

6. What level should the fire department be staffed at and how would you pay for it?

1. I feel that citizens are not being fairly represented within our city government and that there is an inconsistent approach towards economic growth, I feel the need for a more cooperative attitude among council members and the need for individuals on the city council who are able to disagree with each other but yet still respect each other. There has to be a consistent approach to researching issues completely and then a sincere effort by council members to understand citizens' viewpoints and concerns and to act in a sensitive manner.

2. For the last several years, I have been directly involved in working with management, government, labor and the general public. I have managed to work well with all these various groups. In my employment as an architectural planner, I have been involved; in building a project from its idea, its development and finally to its conclusion. Most recently, as a Westland planning commissioner, I have been able to use my experience in building, developing, designing and zoning to research issues before me. In my many years in labor, college and business, I have developed a sensitive feeling that there. are always many sides to each issue, each of which should be considered.

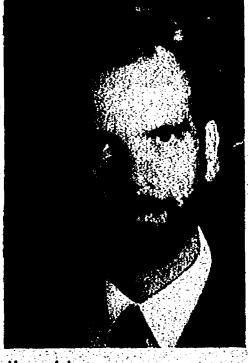

3. I believe the function of the city council is to serve the city as a check and balance between the other branches of government. It should be a separate and independent branch of govern-

Henry "Hank" Johnson, 32, is manager of Chrysler's contract compliance department. He was elected to a threeyear term on the Westland Civil Service Commission by city works Local 1602 and to the Westland Supervisory Association in 1977. Johnson was vice chairman of the Norwayne Task Force for three years, chairman of the Westland Civic Service Commission of one year and a commissioner on that body for five years. He was president of St. Simon and Judge Parish Council for five years and a parish council representative for 11 years and is a member of the University of Michigan Alumni Association, the Political Science Internship Alumni Association and the Management Club of the Chrysler Corp. 1. and 2. I am a council candidate this year because I believe there has to be a more cooperative effort among council members, the city administration, private businesses, and community organizations if Westland is expected to grow and prosper.

I believe that I am able to bring to the Westland City Council the corpera-the Westland City Council the cooperative skills necessary to move this city forward and to improve the quality of all of our lives.

As the manager of the contract compliance department of the Chrysler Corp., I have developed and built a positive partnership among Chrysler management, the employee bargaining units, local community colleges, corporate vendors and Chrysler Institute to address the problems of dislocated workers, whose prospects for recall to their previous jobs were minimal since their skills were no longer contemporary with current market needs, or since they were low skilled and had few prospects in today's heavily skill-oriented labor market.

The result of this partnership was to plan and implement a program which eventually provided retraining for approximately 4,800 employees and the return of 4,200 skilled and unskilled laborers to productive employment with the Chrysler Corp.

I PROMISE the energy and talent to address the problems within our community in the same cooperative and professional manner. I am further pledged that my effort will be provided to all residents of our community.

I am convinced that I will be able to stop the fighting which so badly divides our community and prevents it from providing quality services for its citizens.

The city charter is explicit regarding the role of the mayor and the city council in the conduct of government within, our community.

The mayor is charged under the provision of the charter to be the chief administrative and exective head of this city. He is further charged with the protection of its citizens, the appointment and removal over all directors, commissions and boards which are in charge of the appropriate departments.

THE COUNCIL is the legislative branch of government. It is imperative that both function independent of each. other to ensure a proper check and balance, which is an important principle in a democracy. However, if both are not committed to another major principle - the expedient action for the successful operation of the city - then all of us suffer. This is what we have witnessed in the last two years.

The fighting must stop. A partnership must be developed to again move our city in progressive action. I do not believe that the current council majority wants to work in concert with the administration to ensure the proper operation of the community.

Change must occur not in a document but within the hearts and motives of the current council and administration.

Of all the issues that will surface in this campaign, library services and funding will affect all the residents of our community, from the young preschooler to the elderly. It is inconceivable that there is a real threat of losing the use of existing library services because of funding cuts that resulted in the development of the city budget.

As an elected official I would take immediate steps to protect the existing partnership with surrounding communities and to provide emergency provisions to support that relationship.

More ideally, I would support the creation of Westland's own library system. And since libraries are critical in the educational development of our students, I would encourage the appropriate school district(s) participation in the development of the library system.

I WOULD RECOMMEND the estab-

After this initial assessment I would support a citizen petition drive requesting the necessary millage to support the Westland library system, and the establishment of an independent elected library board. This board would be isolated from city and school district politics.

Throughout the campaign I have had an opportunity to speak to a great number of senior citizens. The seniors provided much useful dialogue regarding their concerns about senior citizen programs and services within our community. Opinions vary on response to Soviets

Dennis Papazian, a Soviet affairs expert and Russian history professor at the Dearborn campus of the University of Michigan, feels the Korean airline tragedy could lead to a shake-up in leadership in the Soviet Union. He terms the implications "scary."

Sanctions are 'realistic'

By Sharon Dargay staff writer

A Southfield expert on the Soviet Union says its recent missile attack on a passenger jet may reflect power skirmishes between political factions and a potential shake-up in key Russian leadership positions.

President Reagan's moderate yet "realistic" response to the downing of Korean Air Lines Flight 007 last week, also may help indirectly to keep the "hard line" political faction from gaining an upper hand, according to Dennis Papazian. The Southfield resident is a Russian history professor and Soviet affairs expert at the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus.

"The response is appropriate to the situation. What the Soviets have done was barbaric and immoral, but not necessarily illegal. There's a limit to what Reagan can do," Papazian said.

In a televised speech earlier this week, the president urged the Soviet Union to take responsibility for the attack, which killed 269 passengers and crew, including a U.S. congressman and 60 other Americans. Several Michigan residents were aboard the doomed flight which was shot down after straying into Soviet airspace.

President Reagan also called for an apology and monetary reparations to the victims' families. He also suspended plans for an American consulate in Kiev and canceled a cooperative agreement for joint research projects in the transportation field.

MEANWHILE, HE reaffirmed plans to continue nuclear arms limitation talks, and refused to impose trade restrictions against the Soviet Union.

"I think Reagan is being realistic by not proposing economic sanctions," Papazian said. "Economic sanctions hurt 'The response is appropriate to the situation. What the Soviets have done was barbaric and immoral, but not necessarily illegal. There's a limit to what Reagan can do.'

us as much as it does them."

He said that a grain embargo imposed by the Carter administration in response to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan irked farmers and consumers at home, while the "Russians simply waited it out," until the restraints were lifted. Russian consumers, living in a "closed society," are less likely to openly protest food shortages or high prices, than are their American counterparts, he said.

"Most Americans are indignant over the killings and say that we should take action to punish them."

He said that a strong U.S. economy and military will put the Soviets on guard without "pushing them" too far. "There are two elements in the Soviet psyche. They do respect strength. There's no question about that," Papazian said. "If they see that we are weak, they will perceive that it is a conscious decision on our part.

"And they have a paranoid feeling. If we're too strong and push them too hard, it will solidify their will to resist. They become very nationalistic."

He cited a possible suspension of joint nuclear arms talks as an example.

"THAT WOULD PUSH too hard. The (Soviet) hard-liners would say, 'see, you can't even deal with them'."

Whether talks continue may depend indirectly on the outcome of the political manuevers by the Soviet military industrial complex, the Communist Party, secret police and government leaders.

Papazian suggests that the recent airline disaster may be an attempt by the military to embarrass Soviet Premier Yuri Andropov, and eventually topple his regime.

Andropov, a "hard-liner on politics"; but moderate on economics, has begun to make modest economic reforms with an eye toward reducing the Soviet armament production, Papazian said. That may have alienated those with a vested interest in the Soviet military-industrial complex, triggering the air-line incident.

"He is new in office and (likely) has not solidified his position," he said.

"If we were to play the hypothesis out, there are two alternatives. The current administration reaffirms its power, Andropov stays and we'll see a veiled apology and continued arms talks

"Or the hard-liners will put Andropov out of office — within about a year — and we won't see any movement on

"It's scary. The implications go beyond the airliner."

Action falls short due to 'politics'

By Carol Azizian staff writer

President Reagan should invoke trade sanctions against the Soviet Union to demonstrate America's outrage over the missile attack that downed a Korean jetliner.

That's the opinion of the Rev. Tukyul Andrew Kim, pastor of the Korean Community Church in Southfield, who knew six of the 269 people aboard the Korean Air Lines 747.

Denouncing Reagan's relatively restrained steps against the Soviet Union, Kim said, "he seems more concerned with politics than human rights.

"His condemnation (against the Soviets) was very

"His condemnation (against the Soviets) was very strong," Kim said. "But he didn't follow strongly with actions."

Reagan, in a nationally televised television and radio broadcast Monday, assailed the Kremlin's barbarism and demanded that it respond to the "cries of humanity for justice." He called for just compensation for the families of those who were killed

The president also said he was cancelling an agreement for joint research projects on transportation issues and suspending negotiations with the Soviet Union on new consulates and establishment of future cultural exchanges. He reaffirmed the U.S. ban on Soviet planes landing at U.S. airports. But he made no mention of the multibillion-dollar agreement to sell grain to the Soviets.

"I THINK HE didn't (impose) the grain embargo because he fears complaints by American farmers," Kim said.

"We ought to go by principle rather than calculate the economic or political benefit."

Kim believes that, even under the Carter administration, the United States didn't "act boldly enough" to protect human rights. Carter did suspend U.S. grain shipments to the Soviet Union after crises developed over Afghanistan and Poland.

The recent Soviet attack has even stronger ramifications for the Korean community because many Koreans already have suffered persecution at the hands of the Russians, Kim stressed.

"It's even more saddening because we've been victimized so frequently," Kim said. "We experienced the brutality of the Russians after World War II.

North Korea after the war. They were supposed to disarm the Japanese troops and leave. But they didn't leave until they formed a Communist government in North Korea.

"Most of my congregation is originally from the north. We fled to the south because of persecution by the Russians."

That same attitude of a "disregard for human life" is reflected in Soviet actions today, Kim said. The Soviets not only have refused to accept responsibility for the recent missile attack, they also have prevented Americans and Japanese from entering their territorial waters to search for the remains of passengers killed in the attack, he said.

EXPRESSING THEIR OUTRAGE over the attack, 350 Detroit-area Koreans — many of them members of the Korean Community Church — held a rally last weekend in a Warren playfield. The demonstration took place in view of the Warren Manor Apartments, the last home of Lt. Col. Whee Ryung Lee.

Lee, a Korean army officer, studied blology for two years at the University of Detroit. Lee, his wife, Kyung Ae, and two children were among the passengers aboard Flight 007 when it was shot down over the Sea of Japan.

In what has been called an "important victory" for the Wayne-Westland School District, the Michigan Court of Appeals has reversed a decision of the Teacher Tenure Commission that awarded eight years of back pay, including interest, to a discharged teach-

The district would have had to pay $165,000 if the teacher, Matthew Rumph, had prevailed in the case, according to Dr. Timothy Dyer, Wayne-Westland superintendent. He added that it was unusual for the court to reverse the Tenure Commission.

"This is a very, very important victory, not only for Wayne-Westland but for the profession," Dyer said. "We are very, very pleased with the decision."

peal process followed, after which in 1975 the district was ordered to reinstate him. The case was remanded to the Teacher Tenure Commission to determine the amount of the back pay award.

with the school district in 1966. An ap-

The commission awarded Rumph full back pay for the years 1966 to 1974, less $19,000 that he earned between 1969 and 1971. Five percent interest was also awarded. The decision was appealed by the district and affirmed by the Circuit Court.

In its decision, released three weeks ago, the Court of Appeals agreed with the district that Rumph didn't try to find employment although there were teaching jobs available. One judge dissented:

"The school district met its burden of proof by showing that there were available teaching positions for which Rumph would have been eligible," the court said in its opinion. "To counter this proof, Rumph had to show that he made a reasonably diligent effort to apply for these positions. Rumph failed to show that he made even a minimal effort to mitigate damages."

RUMPH HAD testified that he knew of nine school districts within 15 miles of his home, the same distance he commuted as a Wayne-Westland employee. and substitute positions with all nine every year, Kelly said.

districts, submitting written applications to four of them and applying verbally to the other five.

"However, he could not recall when he applied, how often he applied or whether he contacted the district after applying," the court said. "Further evidence submitted by the school district revealed that all four districts where Rumph filed a written application had staff openings and would have considered Rumph a viable candidate. Two personnel directors from school districts where Rumph had applied testified that they did not remember receiving Rumph's application.

"We agree with the dissenting members of the Tenure Commission that a discharged teacher acting with reasonable diligence should file written applications with at least a majority of those school districts within the locality, seeking a 'like nature' teaching position each year that the teacher is unemployed."

Also, there was no evidence that Rumph had been offered a job or that he had rejected a job offer, the court

In his dissenting opinion, Judge Michael J. Kelly said that if Rumph had turned down a job offer, that fact would have weighed against a finding that he had used "due diligence" in looking for work. The teacher made inquiries about work in nine districts, applied for full-time, part-time and sub-He said he sought full-time, part-time stitute positions and applied for jobs

Legislature faces mound of brushed-aside work

OST STATE legislatures in America meet three or four months, then go home for the rest of the year. Not the Michigan Legislature.

In six months of sweating and straining, the Michigan Legislature produced an incomplete budget and a personal income tax increase with no provision for property tax relief.

The legislature next week will start its second session of the year. It's supposed to face all the problems it pushed aside from January to early July as it dealt with the fiscal crisis.

Far be it from us to criticize what seems to be a bipartisan position. We only hope that this fall the jobs get done.

THE JOBS, as we see them, are these:

• Medical costs. Forty percent of the state budget is social services, and half of that is Medicaid. Medical costs have been leaping up 10 or 15 percent a year, in good years and bad, whether people are working in the factories or standing in the unemployment line. Two committees had planned to address the problem this summer. There has been little sign of activity. Knowledgeable people say Michigan's rate of hospitalization per illness or injury is far higher than comparable states. If we are to avoid starved colleges and another tax increase in four or five years, the state needs to get a handle on Medicaid and medical costs and quickly.

• That $43 million. In spring lawmakers were split three ways over what to do with that amount in the social services budget, and they never resolved the question. The options: raise welfare benefits, raise home heating allowances or train welfare recipients for jobs. (We expect it may be asking the impossible to suggest it not be spent at all.)

• Colleges and universities. The recession hurt them badly with revenue losses, program cuts and tuition increases. In many, maintenance has been neglected. There's a difference of opinion whether a gubernatorial commission, the state Board of Education or the schools themselves should coordinate programs and see who will discontinue which redundant programs. Nevertheless, the buck will ultimately stop on the legislators' desks.

• Economic development. Step 1 in recovery was the state government's own fiscal crisis. Step 2 was the summer jobs program. Now Gov. Blanchard's proposal for a Michigan Strategic Fund deserves to be addressed. Can a state bureaucracy really be a source of venture capital to infant industries? Should it? Or will the money be spent politically? Stay tuned.

• Transportation. Here the legislature's record is dismal. Essentially, what needs to be done is that Lansing must give regional transit authorities leeway to go to their own constituents and ask for operating money. So fearful are many lawmakers for their jobs that they won't even allow local option proposals to go to the voters. Meanwhile, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, for one, is foundering.

• Surrogate parenting. Should married couples be allowed to hire fertile women to bear children for them? For what price? Under what regulations? The growing practice shouldn't be ignored.

"THIS IS A free country," the old saying goes. But freedom doesn't mean officials who have taken an oath of office have the option of walking away from their duties, no more than a parent can walk away from the responsibility of caring for a child he/she helped bring into the world.

Our 148 legislators should be happy they have jobs. And they should get on with the jobs that they brushed aside when they adjourned early in July.

Here's how to develop better local boards

SUBURBAN newspapering is tougher than big city newspapering in one important way. Suburbia has a glut of civic organizations to keep tabs on. What's more, the organizations don't simply complain to City Hall to solve their problems, though that's sometimes necessary. Rather, our civic groups solve the problems themselves.

Whatever we can do to help them, we try to do. Today's helpful advice is to look at a program Schoolcraft College is offering called Building Better Boards. It's a series of seven workshops on what a board of directors does and some of the better ways of doing it.

The fee is $15 per workshop. You can sign up for one, two or all. Get your own brochure and registration form by calling Schoolcraft's continuing education office at 591-6400 Ext. 409.

I've served on a few boards and committees well, I hope. But I can attest that fellow members and I would have been better off with some of the Building Better Boards workshops because they don't teach most of this stuff in college, even in the master of business administration program.

BUT LET'S let the brochure speak for itself, and you make up your own mind.

"A. Board Membership. Saturday, Sept. 17, 9-

11:30 a.m. Who should sit on a board and why. How do you approach new members, get them involved and keep them involved . . . Richard J. Hayward, president, R.J. Hayward Co.

"B. Legal considerations. Thursday, Sept. 29, 7-9 p.m. . . . The legal aspects of the formation and organization of a non-profit, tax-exempt corporation will be presented . . . Robert R. Thompson, attorney at law. (They tell me this has been the most popular session in the past.)

"C. Public Relations. Thursday, Oct. 6, 6:45-9:45 p.m. You will examine what a 'public' is and whatyour most important publics are . . . develop a practical plan for helping your organization relate ... Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations, Plymouth-Canton Schools. "D. Goal Setting/Problem Solving for Non-Profits. Wednesday, Oct. 19, 7-9:45 p.m. Define the values of your organization, its priorities and shortterm goals within your basic mission . . . Cam Caldwell, city manager, Garden City.

"E. Parliamentary Procedure. Saturday, Oct. 29, 9-12 noon. Can you organize and chair meetings effectively? Do you know how to make a motion? Make recommendations? . . . Specific problems . . . Louise Saks, registered parliamentarian.

"F. Board Roles and Administrative Roles. Thursday, Nov. 3, 7-10 p.m. Where does one begin and the other end? . . . How can the board and staff best work together? Paul Y. Kadish, Schoolcraft board of trustees; Allan Breakie, executive director, Garden City Hospital.

"G. Group Communication. Saturday, Nov. 12, 9-12 noon. How to promote small group interaction and insure that all members assume a role in the decision-making process. Trust building. . . James House, Wayne County Intermediate School Dis-

IF I HAD been organizing these workshops, I would have had one on board evaluation of an ad-

Annual employee valuations are a big thing these days. It's tough enough to do them one-on-one. It's even tougher for a board to conduct an evaluation.

But I can't have my way all the time. This list of workshops is dandy as it is. And if you devote a lot of time to civic work, it won't hurt to invest three hours making yourself a better board member and your civic work more beneficial.

Bill Bonds' brow plays big part in government

IF YOU can believe one of Michigan's assistant attorneys general, Bill Bonds' habit of furrowing his brow while delivering the news is costing the state's taxpayers millions of dollars.

I didn't make this up, I read it in the morning paper. Assistant attorney general Tom Schimpf was explaining how the state of Michigan lost $2.8 million in federal dollars in its handling of the cleanup of the Berlin & Farro dump site near Flint.

Schimpf said that because of media attention on the dump site there was a public clamor for an immediate cleanup. The state could have halted action for as few as 90 days to get federal approval for a superfund grant of up to $2.8 million, he said. But there was the specter of Bill Bonds' brow looming over such consideration.

"With Bill Bonds furrowing his brow every night on TV as he talked about the worst toxic waste dump in Michigan, there weren't too many cool heads about this thing," Schimpf said.

PERSONALLY, I think Bonds' brow is being wasted on such matters.

I want him to get furrowed up about cutting the crime rate, easing the tax load and decreasing unemployment. Why isn't he browbeating some people about excessive medical and hospital costs in an effort to keep hospitals operating and medical insurance fees within the range of a working person's

At least Schimpf's assertion gives me insight into the workings of government and TV stations.

Now I know why Chris Craft and other washedup-at-40 TV anchorwomen complain that TV stations want mature middle-aged men as anchors and younger, fresh-faced women as helper anchors.

Younger male anchors can't furrow as well. They don't have the advantage of age which allows for looser skin and an abililty to produce furrows readily. And older anchorwomen with furrowed brows just don't seem to have the proper authoritative; look. Perhaps it is because we all yearn for a father figure to dominate, disseminate, provide, approve or disapprove.

ONLY A middle-aged male brow can produce the kind of furrow that attracts viewers. I have to admit that around here, Bonds has the best furrow going. Mort Crim and George Sells try hard, but they just don't have the same baleful grimace to the brow. Bonds' furrow rises on one side as if his brow was sneering. When he furrows his brow on a subject, the viewer can almost feel the disdain that he has for the subjects being furrowed at.

This may explain, at least partially, why Bonds is the highest paid anchor around. A middle-aged anchor with the fastest, deepest and most disdainful furrow in the Midwest probably should be paid. more than his counterparts.

But a question remains: Should state officials tremble their chins over Bonds' brow?

NO ONE suggests that government leaders shouldn't take into consideration the public's attitude toward issues. But the idea of deciding publicpolicy based on how the policy might look to newscasters seems to be a shirking of responsibility.

Policy should be decided on what is right in the long run, not on the expectation of how things will appear in the media in the following few days.

What we need are government executives who are willing to stare back at the television set eyeball to eyeball and not blink. We need people who can stand the sight of grimacing, brow-furrowing newscasters in order to save state taxpayers mon-

We need leaders who can say to themselves, "Damn Bonds' brow, full speed ahead."

In list of great women athletes, Henie's name is at the top

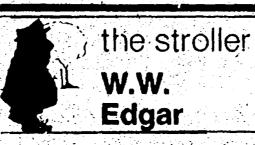

WHEN THE great women athletes of the world are listed, a place near the top should be reserved for Sonja Henie, the little blond Norwegian who captivated the American public like no woman before or since.

She was the epitome of grace on ice skates. Who ever could forget her after seeing her glide down the ice in the now defunct Olympia Stadium at the close of one of her ice shows.

She always will be remembered for her extravaganzas on the blades, with thousands roaring their appreciation. Lest we forget, she also was one of the all-time greats in the fancy skating arenas of the world and several times won the Olympic figure skating championships in the late 20's and early

Along with her grace on the blades, she was also a great businesswoman: She, more than any other female athlete, made the world pay to see her and earned several fortunes before deciding to leave the arena to someone else.

THE MANNER in which she came to her fortune is one of the great stories of the sports and entertainment world. Sure, she was just as stubborn as she was beautiful on ice. But it was this little blonde who made the movie moguls of Hollywood and later the great promoters of the world's arenas come to

It was after one of her Olympic victories that she decided there were no higher honors for her in the amateur ranks. So she decided to turn pro - but not in figure-skating contests.

She made her way to Hollywood in the hope of selling herself and her troupe to the movie moguls. She had pictured herself in a top-rated movie and dreamed of the time when her act would be seen on movie screens around the world. Her dream was given a setback when the moguls turned their backs on her. They couldn't see figure skating as an attraction in the movies.

That didn't stop Sonja Henie. Stubborn as she was, she rented an arena in Hollywood. What's more, she invited all the movie bigwigs as her guests, putting on a special show for them.

THEY LIKED what they saw. Then they approached her. But it wasn't easy. She as much as told them that if they wanted her and her show they would have to pay and pay dearly.

For a time they hesitated. Then Arthur Wirtz, who was the righthand man to James Norris, the Chicago wheat king who owned the Detroit Olympia and the Red Wings, envisioned her filling the Olympla and other arenas controlled by the Norris family. These included majority ownership of New York's Madison Square Garden, half interest in the Boston and Pittsburg Gardens and the Chicago Sta-

IT'S HISTORY now that this combination "stole the show" as far as entertainment is concerned. She packed each arena on her annual visits and soon became the world's "darling on ice".

Through it all, she never lost her grace on the blades or that cute smile that captivated her audience as she glided down the ice in the closing moments of shows that made "The Ice Follies" a by-word across the land.

On one of her visits to Detroit, The Stroller tried to get her to put on a Saturday afternoon matinee for the poor people of the city. At the time he was sports editor of the Free Press, and was interested

She was courteous but stubborn in her refusal. She made it very plain that she never skated for charity. She said she put her heart and soul into shows for which people paid good money to see and she didn't want to spend her energy and possibly lower the standard of her performance, Seeing that the Stroller was a bit disappointed and feeling that she wanted to do something for the poor kids, she excused herself a moment or two. When she returned, she had a good-sized check as her contribution to the poor.

Yes, there was only one Sonja Henie and a place near the top should be reserved for her.

OU's continuing education goes a long way in 25 years

By Kathy Parrish staff writer

Lowell Eklund never expected to spend 25 years in one job.

It's too long for anyone to be in one place," who just started his 26th year as Oakland University's director of continuing education.

For Eklund, though, staying put sure didn't mean standing still. In 2 1/2 decades. he has seen both the university and his division change completely.

Today, 10,000 people pass each year through OU's continuing education courses or conferences. The offerings range from plastics engineering and legal assistance to creative writing and sewing.

As well as on campus, the credit and noncredit courses meet in 10-12 satellite locations in area high schools. They also are offered in historic Meadow Brook Hall, which has become a passion with Eklund since he took over its management in 1970. But when Eklund first arrived on July 1, 1958, Oakland was just a fledgling extension of Michigan State University Eklund's MSU boss Durward Varner who became OU's first head - sent him to the outpost to "get some activities going."

"I was sent there to launch a program," said Eklund, who had been in charge of MSU's Detroit extensions and then ran the school's conference programs out of Kellogg Center.

Working out of converted chicken coops on Meadow Brook Estate, Eklund and fellow MSU employee Roy Alexander opened up an extension offering some non-credit courses. One of the first was efficient reading, which attracted OU founder Matilda R.

"She came and sat through the classes in her little old chicken coops. The press got quite a kick out," recalled Eklund, adding that the chicken coops had ceramic tile up the wall and a reinforced concrete floor.

A MINNESOTA NATIVE whose father worked in the lumber business, Eklund grew up in the Upper Peninsula.

He attended Michigan State University "on a prayer, never thinking I would fin-

During 15 years with the Army, Eklund served in the Pacific during World War II and in staff jobs in the Pentagon - includa year as aide to the chief of staff.

He also earned both master's and doctorate degrees in political science at Syracuse University.

Lowell Eklund, in his 26th year of running Oakland University's continuing education programs, is in front of the building which he also oversees, Meadow Brook Hall.

On the way to a job at Chrysler Corp., Eklund stopped off in East Lansing to visit MSU's John Hannah. The university president suggested Eklund talk to another administrator and within two weeks he signed on at MSU instead.

"I never had reason to regret that decision," said Eklund, who admits the opportunity was "strictly happenstance and a little providence."

For Eklund, who doesn't like to teach. the job in continuing education was a chance to do the kind of thing he's interested in in education.

"I enjoy administration and the mission objective of continuing education to motivate adults to go back to school," said

"As the first land grant school, MSU had the philosophy of extending university sources to community people. MSU did it 100 years before other schools, but primarily for farmers when this was an agrarian Eklund said the continuing education idea didn't really take hold until after World War II, with the need for more technical and professional education.

"It became obvious that what we learned in high school and college just wasn't enough," Eklund sald. "Universities began offering technical and professional courses and cultural education so people could become better citizens and parents,"

Original offerings were classes like efficient reading, management, personnel relations or in the areas like engineering and business education.

As well as a bachelor's of general studies degree for non-traditional students who usually attend part time, the division offers credit and non-credit areas in a wide range of areas. Some of the newest are legal assistance, computers, accounting assistance and quality assurance.

Eklund's expertise in the field got him appointed by former president Jimmy Carter to the National Advisory Council on Continuing Education

WHILE OVERSEEING continuing education programs, Eklund in 1970 took on another area which has become a prime interest. He became executive director of Meadow Brook Hall, the stately mansion which Matilda Wilson bequeathed to OU. Since it was his idea to make the Tudor showplace a conference center, Eklund personally received the dubious privilege of being responsible for the hall."

"It was a little foolhardy," he acknowledges now. "The board of trustees was very reluctant to take it over without an endowment, but I felt with a lot of hard energy. and effort we could make it go."

The administrator's task was to figure out how to make it self-supporting. The successful solution was to run conferences during the academic year (now 60 to 80), an annual Christmas Walk which provides 20 percent of the hall's income, and mansion tours which attract 80-90,000 people year-

But the key was community volunteers, who have continued to give their time for

"That was the early panacea that got us off the ground," said Eklund, who finds it "inspirational" that so many area people are willing to donate their time.

At 65, he said his goal is to find an endowment for Meadow Brook so it will always have a stable financial base.

Meadow Brook Hall must stand there for 200 years or we have not lived up to our stewardship obligation. It is a national treasure," Eklund said.

Biotechnology is in infancy

Horror struck Ann Arbor three years ago when the public learned the biology department at the University of Michigan was creating new forms of Predictably, the media grabbed hold of the story. Before long, conferences and symposia were held to discuss the moral, ethical and even religious implications surrounding this controversial research.

Soon afterwards, concern also was raised regarding security precautions to guarantee that these newly created life forms would not "escape" from the laboratory.

IN MICHIGAN this marked the stormy beginning of recombinant DNA research — better known as genetic engineering.

Recombinant DNA is one technology under the biotechnology umbrella. Other technologies include industrial microbiology, tissue culture, enzymatic processes, and plant breeding.

Current and potential applications of these technologies are in the medical/diagnostic, chemical, food/feed, and agricultural industries.

The biotechnology industry is in its infancy. The survival of many biotechnology companies is being seriously questioned, and the commercialization of significant products from current research has yet

In October 1982, biotechnology stocks on Wall Street got a much needed shot in the arm. Genetech, a leader in DNA research, began selling Humulin, a form of insulin produced by genetic engineering.

SIMPLY DEFINED, genetic engineering is the creation of new organisms by taking apart life's basic building material — DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid).

The chemical DNA that makes up genes is then recombined in different patterns. This laboratory process has been booming since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1980 that new forms of life can be patented.

By using this process, scientists can get simple cells to act like little "factories" and make large amounts of molecules, such as insulin and growth hormones, that can be used for treating diseases.

Embryologists, geneticists, and microbiologists have labored for years to understand and replicate living organisms.

It wasn't until 1974, however, that a major breakthrough was achieved. A single cell bacterium known as E. coli, commonly found in the human intestine, was mated with a piece of DNA tissue from a toad.

Since that time, this gene splicing process has yielded a large number of important cloned products. These include human insulin, growth hormones, and interferon, a human protein that enables cells to ward off viral diseases such as cancer.

THE POSSIBILITIES for this new technology are limitless, from curing cancer and slowing down the aging process to creating a super race of plants, animals and even humans.

animals and even humans.

In addition, gene-splicers are engineering bacteria that could eat oil spills, and even bacteria that could mine minerals.

Analysts estimate that perhaps 200 to 300 companies around the world either are doing or are contemplating getting into the broad field of biotechnology. Of course, some of these have not been incorporated formally yet. But others are well established giants, such as the big pharmaceutical and chemical manufacturers.

Besides Genetech, other biotechnology companies include Molecular Genetics, Genex, Centocor, Genetic Systems, and Monoclonal Antibodies Inc. to name just a few.

In Michigan, Neogene was formed in 1981 with the objectives of recruiting and retaining outstanding professors and conducting high quality biotechnological research.

THE AGE OF biotechnology is dawning. For now and the immediate future, biotechnology seems to be a very promising industry with high growth potential.

Some observers believe, within three to eight years, genetic engineering may be as commonplace as computer chips are now.

Community Wind Ensemble

Schoolcraft strikes up band for season

By Mary Klemic

staff writer

At first glance, they don't seem to have anything in common.

They are students and professionals, teenaged and retired. They work at a variety of jobs and live in different communities. But as they go about their individual lives, they carry what may be the best-sounding "secret" around - they are all members of Schoolcraft College's Community Wind Ensemble, which will be warming up this month for its fifth season.

The ensemble is a concert band of between 44 and 55 woodwind, brass and percussion instrumentalists that has delighted audiences, as well as its own members, since 1979. Since it was first organized by Dr. Richard Saunders of Schoolcraft College in the fall of that year, it has performed in concerts around the area, including at the University of Windsor.

"I was asked if I would form a band that would play the top caliber of band music available," said Saunders, who conducted the concert band. "We wanted to do something in an ensemble in which the players were extremely competent, and didn't have an opportunity to play anymore."

THE ENSEMBLE follows a principle that was started several years ago at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. It allows the wind section to play without string accompaniment, giving every player a chance to be heard, according to Saunders.

Forming the ensemble was easier than Saunders anticipated. He first made a list of the instrumentation he wanted, then contacted the musicians he knew. The response was more than enthusiastic.

"Every single person I called accepted the invitation," Saunders said.

Some of the players work with music. There are college music students and band and orchestra directors from Livonia, Wayne-Westland and Allen Park in the ensemble, for example. But also in the roster are an attorney, a dentist, a pathologist and engineers. They range in age from 15 years to a 70-year-old retiree who performs in the trumpet section.

"It's a chance for them to keep their instruments out of the clothes closet," Saunders said.

MEMBERSHIP IN the concert band is open to anyone who can pass the audition requirements, according to Saunders. He said there aren't enough spaces to accommodate all those who audition.

"We expect a player to be highly competent and a very good sight reader," Saunders said. "We ask that they bring a piece of music to the audition that best demonstrates their efficiency, then we listen as they sit with the ensemble to see how well they read (music). We ask persons in the band to give their evaluation."

The requisites may be tough, but playing in the ensemble is as enjoyable as possible, according to Saunders.

"I think every rehearsal should be enjoyable for the musicians," he said. "It's important thateach one is a good one.

"We gear our rehearsals accordingly, so they're fast-paced," Saunders went on. "We don't spend a lot of time poring over one or two measures of music. That should be done at home and not at the rehearsals. Every rehearsal has been a concert for them."

REHEARSALS ARE scheduled for two-tothree hours on Wednesday nights. Concerts are scheduled for Wednesday nights when possible, usually from September through June. This past year the concert band performed through early July. Its 14 concerts in the past year included a series of "music under the stars" performances in Livonia.

"We've expanded the repertoire tremendously," Saunders said. "We play modern band music, from (John Philip) Sousa to Broadway, symphonic literature and a lot of American composers, those who have written since 1950. "We build a repertoire of 30 pieces and rotate it all year long," he continued. "We keep in mind who our audience will be. If we're in a shopping mail, for example, we'll keep the music fairly short and simple, so people can stop for a minute and go on, whistling the tune. If we're giving a concert where people pay money to come and listen, the music will be more involved so you're going to have to interact Saunders recently left Schoolcraft for a university post at Traverse City. He said the ensemble should continue through the "forseeable future.

"As long as there are people who are interested and who make it interesting," Saunders said. "The popularity with the audience seems to be increasing."

By David P. Messingstaff writer

In the last Artifacts column, I listed some of the qualities and contents of a good portfolio. When I speak of a portfolio, I am primarly thinking of commercial art. Of course, there are different types of portfolios. A water colorist may have a much different portfolio than an architectural designer. Your portfolio is merely a selection of art work you have done in the past.

something technical or cartoon a job safety manual (whether you were paid for it or not) these are things that are valuable in your portfolio. If someone else thought you were capable to do these illustrations, then the next person might feel easier about commissioning

I a reminded of Wayne, a friend who trims and cuts down trees. When he is on a job he is usually approached by people in the neighborhood who ask him to do work for them too, Because their neighbor trusted him and felt he was capable, they are more likely to give him a job. If your portfolio consist of pastel puppies and watercolor barns then you should seriously think of building a commercial portfolio. One reason is m-o-n-e-y! In commercial work, a fee is expected.

LET'S SAY a man opens up a sporting goods store. Let us also say that he hires your neighbor as a stockboy. Now one day he mentions his need for an artist to design a logo and a symbol for his new business. So your neighbor says, "I have an artist neighbor who could do Artifacts

So now what do you do? Show the man who needs a logo your pastel puppies or watercolor barns? Of course not. This is one case where you'leave your portfolio home. Simply meet the man and ask pertinent questions about his business and what the name signifies. "Logo" simply means name. So ask him if he wants to look like he has been in business for years, or if he wants something clean and modern looking. Ask about his ideas.

If he wants a symbol, what are the feelings he wants to convey? Then go home and sketch out five or six "roughs" and meet with him again to gain some feedback. Assure him also that this is the point to be outspoken. If he doesn't like any of your roughs, he should say so. Roughs are just samples of possibilities and they are disposable. If he likes one or two, then you can proceed with job.

How much do you charge? This question should be dealt with before any finished work is begun . . . n Which leads me back to my statement about money.

SINCE I also own a store, I know that the cost involved for operating a business is sometimes staggering. As a matter of fact when a customer asks if I own the Art Store, I usually say, "No. I owe on the Art Store. The bank owns it."

I know a cheap cash register is about $600, store fixtures are one or two thousand dollars and an outdoor sign is anywhere from $500 to $3,000. So what business owner is going to drop .over when you tell him you want one or two hundred for a design that is going to represent his business for years to come? That's not a lot when you consider how important a logo is to a business.

LET ME help you start something commercial looking in your portfolio. Contests are fun and this one is good incentive to try your hand at commercial art. What we will do is have a first prize of a $25 gift certificate (big deal huh?) at the Art Store and More. We will print your design in the Artifacts column.

20th annual Marshall historic home tour arrives

Five private homes and a church will be first-time attractions of the 20th annual Historic Home Tour sponsored by the Marshall (Mich.) Historical Society Saturday and Sun-

The theme for this year's tour is "The Midwest's Grand Old Tour." Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $7. They may be purchased at interstate approaches to Marshall during the days of the tour. Children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

This year's new attractions include Queen

Anne homes built in 1886, 1896 and 1902; an 1852 Gothic Revival, an 1872 Romanesque Revival Church and a turn-of-the-century vernacular which has been adapted for modern living.

These six buildings bring the number of newly restored structures on the Annual Historic Home Tour to 17 in the last three years. According to the Historical Society, the showplace of the tour will be the lovely Ital-Gothic Revival, Hillside, with terraced landscaping straight out of Andrew Jackson Downing's first book on Gothic Revival architecture.

Two Italianate commercial buildings can be seen in the downtown business district. One built in 1868 now houses Dr. Haley's dentist office and the Goodwill Store, and the other, built in 1873, houses Sherman Associates, Realtors. Next door to Dr. Haley's office is the recently restored Studio C Cast Iron facade.

In addition to the private buildings, featured are two historical society landmarks, the 1860 Italianate Honolulu House museum and the completely restored 1902 GAR Hall archival center.

The home tour attempts to recreate the ambience and spirit of the 19th century with band concerts, parades, antique shows, Civil War battles, strolling musicians, church luncheons and bake sales, and arts and crafts fairs including the juried "Occasion for the Arts" show at the middle school.

MOST OF the houses on tour will also feature special craft demonstrations and musical entertainment.

The Marshall downtown merchants are holding open house Saturday evening. Free refreshments will be served.

Free shuttle bus service will be available. Buses pick up tour goers at the free off-street parking lots and deliver them within walking distance of all the houses and structures on

Included in the tour are the following:

• Doris Stagg Home (circa 1852) - A classic Gothic Revival, this house has board and batten siding. The Staggs bought this house 42 years ago and have filled it with family heirlooms and collectibles including Mrs. Stagg's antique doll and clock collection.

owned by John and Fae Berry.

Local history says that this house served as a hiding place for run-away slaves.

• Oakhill (1858-59) - Said to be Marshall's most beautiful home, this Italian villa sits on a hill at the north end of Eagle Street overlooking the city. Originally built by Chauncey M. Brewer, an early Marshall merchant, the home features many original Brewer furnishings. The home has been restored by a succession of owners.

• Jim and Sandy Mason Home (1886) -This beautiful Queen Anne was designed by architects Spier and Rohn from Detroit, specialists in railroad stations like Ann Arbor's home for 10 years during which time they have undertaken a room-by-room restora- teacher.

Since commercial art most often has restrictions, here are ours: The artwork must be on a 9x12-inch illustration board. The art is to be camera ready, black ink with grays done in ink wash, halftone screens, or ink line shading.

Design a stylish logo and symbol for a ficticious designer jeans company. Let's say the jeans are called "Crickets."

Be sure to show the design of stitching which is so popular on the back pockets. This should resemble an ad, that you might see in the paper. I will judge this by how you design and position the logo, smybol and pocket design within the 9x12 inch area.

Creativity and cleaness of presentation are very important. All entrees must be submitted by October 29th to the Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt Road, Livonia 48152. .

Remember the logo means the name and how you write or print it. The symbol is what you choose to represent the name. Now I don't want to give any ideas but a good symbol for this contest might be a little black bug that goes. . . chirp. . . chirp.

When you are drawing and painting whatever you like, the chances of selling enough pieces of art to earn a living are slim. But when you paint or draw at the request of customers you can make a relatively good income.

I once had a very successful show at a local mall. To top off a great week I was asked to represent Michigan in the "World's Artist Guild" show coming to Michigan for the first time. I was so excited I couldn't even over-eat! (which

Ooh la la says it all for French club reception

Marinette Maley (left) holds an American flag with co-members of the French Women's Beney olent Club Denise Michels and Ida Szymanski. Both Michels and Szymanski are French women who married Americans. Michels met her hus-

The reception starts at 3 p.m. at the Ferndale Community Center, 400 E. Nine Mile Road.

The guest list will include Consul General of France and Madame Royet, state Sen. Jack Faxon, Frederick Adams Jr., and Mary Ball, respectively president of the board and executive director of the International Institute as well as Donat Gauther, former consular agent, and presidents of the other, French and Francophiles organizanewly married to her American doughboy sweetheart when she started the club with another French war bride. The suggestion for the club, she recalls, came from a government official at the time of the signing of papers making her a citizen of the United States.

Slowly, the club's membership grew as word of its presence spread. Meeting first in private homes, the club later switched to the International Institute when its membership grew larger.

THE "BRIDES" IN the original title was changed several years ago to "benevolent" when it was decided to widen scope of the membership to include all women of French descent.

Since its founding, it has helped its members to retain their French culture and identity which is quite fitting with the historical and cultural significance of the Franco-American presence in a city founded by a Frenchman: Antoine de la Motte Cadillac.

Maley, 79 and widowed, was 14 when she first met her husband-to-be when he was stationed near her Paris home. Three years later she left her parents' home to wed her fiance in Quebec.

Meanwhile, the couple were married by a priest " but we had no money to pay him," she said. Because of the Depression, it took a couple of years before they could take care of the financial obligation, and by this time the couple had a daughter.

"WE SENT HIM the money, and he sent it back and told us to buy something for the baby," she said with a smile. That priest later became the bishop of Quebec."

Maley picked up the English language very quickly on her own and eventually got a job with the first Cunningham Drug Store on Woodward Avenue in Detroit, selling perfume and cosmetics. In those days, you made $20 a week, she sald, and $22.50 "if you did good" at selling. She recalls personally being told by Cunningham's founder Andrew Cunningham "to never lose her

Garden Club members to set a pretty table

It's fun to give tea parties — and this one by Nita Diebel uses a children's tea service circa 1935. In all, there will be 20 exhibits in the creative table displays this weekend at Greenmead.

HE HISTORIC charm of Livonia's Hill House Museum at Greenmead and the deft talents of area gardeners will come full circle Saturday and Sunday at a creative table setting dis-

The display will take place both inside and out of the 1841-vintage Greek Revival style farmhouse.

It's the final project in a series of the special summer events planned by the Livonia Historical Commission aimed at drawing more segments of the community to the historical site at the corner of Newburgh and Eight Mile roads.

Participating in the exhibit are members of three Livonia garden clubs.

Hours of the show are noon to 5 p.m. each day. Admission is $1, and proceeds from the display will be used for the continued restoration of the Hill House gardens.

USING FRESH FLOWERS — some they've grown, some they've purchased — garden club members will use a floral design or arrangement as the highlight of each table setting. There are 20 exhibits in all.

In the sunroom will be a buffet table display by Marilyn Irwin and a round tea table display by Carol Russo. The library will have a tea cart by Jan Marshall and a table display by Dorothy Rutyna. Oliene Kirk will do a bathroom floral arrangement.

Mrs. Hill's bedroom will show a breakfast tray by Linda Dotzenroth and a display table by Georgia Larson.

IN THE KITCHEN will be arrangements by Joan Peterson and Eileen Reddington. The parlor arrangements will be done by Else Schweppe and Winifred Boni. Oliene Kirk also will do a special "table for two" arrangement in the parlor.

In addition to the table setting displays, the museum will have old china and Depression glass on exhibit.

The grand finale, of course, is a walk through the Greenmead gardens—currently at their colorful peak—or a stroll through the historical village, where several restored buildings will be open.

Carol Russo puts the finishing touches on her silver setting for a round table that will be a feature in the Hill House Museum sun-

Model achieves girlhood dream

Starting Sept. 18 she will be part of a three-city tour to Dallas, Houston and Los Angeles modeling Halston's latest creations.

HALSTON TAUGHT her something about acting as well as modeling.

She would show the clothes, and he'd say to her, "You have to feel it. That's a very grand outfit. You have to feel it is your outfit, that you are a wealthy, distinguished woman. You have to feel the mood of the outfit."

A glance at the pictures accompanying this article will reveal that Janice Carlton learned her lesson. The contrast between shots of a young woman moving casually around her house and the photographs taken of her as a professional model is remarkable.

CARLTON'S VALUE to Halston lies in the fact that she is a perfect size 8. She knows she has to have the same figure on Thursday that she had on Monday.

As a result she watches her weight like a hawk. She eats one portion of meat a day and red meat once a week. One cup of dairy food is also on the

and from the subway.

"I like New York, it keeps you active," she said. "You walk a lot which keeps you in shape. It is an easy city if you are strong willed and determined."

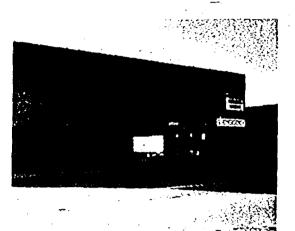

But tike most other models, she knows that modeling is not a lifetime career, even though runway models like her have a longer professional life than a photographic model. "Age shows in pictures," she said.

"Most people know that when in your 30s, you may still be able to be in the modeling business, but you pick another route like designing or operating a modeling business.

Belleek artist makes appearance

Shella Denning, master Belleek china painter, will make an appearance in Livonia Saturday at Yankee Peddler gift shop at 31160 Five Mile Road.

She will give free demonstrations of the skill required to create the enchanted porcelain of Ireland, commercially known as Belleek Parian China.

Since 1875, the artisans at Belleek have passed down their technique from generation to generation. Each Belleek piece is skillfully fashioned by hand. So meticulous are the craftsmen that no matter how small or unnoticeable the flaw or imperfections, the piece is smashed on the spot if one is found and the craftsman starts all over again.

While at the Yankee Peddler, Denning will personally sign any Belleek purchased as a special remembrance of the visit.

The Irish artisan will be at the Livonia store, in the Merri-5 shopping plaza, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. On Sunday, she will make a similar guest appearance at the Yankee Peddler on the lower level of Lakeside Mall, Sterling Heights.

Fall Festival starts

Livonians to show crafts in Plymouth

If you are the kind who has devoted eyes and hands to the making of crafts, . you may just want to make your way this weekend to the 1983 Plymouth Fall Festival Artists and Craftsmen Show.

And if you are the kind who thinks ahead, you may imagine the smug satisfaction you will feel in December when you recall that you bought many of your Christmas presents at the show in September. The event will take place Saturday and Sunday at the Central Middle School on Church Street in downtown Plymouth. The work of more than 80 artisans will be exhibited and sold.

Hours are from noon to 9 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and senior citizens. Children under 12 are admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

On the same days 24 people will be demonstratng old crafts at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main. Crafts on display will be quilling, tinsmithing, wheat weaving, corn husk dolls, herbs, fly tying, wood carving, silhouettes, folk toys and needlework. Hours for this exhibit will be from noon to 7 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Church as sanctuary concept needs revival

Churches as sanctuaries, protected havens for those threatened, is a timehonored tradition that needs to be re-

People are fleeing oppression and violence in Central America and coming to the United States asking for political asylum. We have denied them that temporary asylum.

We have classified them as "illegals" and are forcing them to return to their homes where most, if not all, have experienced persecution, and some, execution. Some have sought help - sanctuary - from the church.

A sanctuary has always been a place set aside from the ordinary world. The first use of "sanctuary" was a holy place evoking awe - God's presence creating worship and fear. It was a special place, and it received the protection of the community because of what it offered to the community.

TRANSGRESSORS OF ITS protocol and purpose could be banished or even killed. The continual Roman harassment of Judaism's temple in Jerusalem was the key factor in Judaism's resistance to the Roman occupation, which ended with the fall of Jerusalem and the destruction of the Temple in A.D.

The concept of sanctuary was expanded in early Judaeo-Christian history with the development of "sanctuary cities," where those convicted of crimes against community were banished to live. There they received protection against avengers and reprisals (see the biblical books of Exodus and Numbers).

During the Middle Ages, English cathedrals provided sanctuary for up to 40 days for those accused of crimes. There, in the safety of the church, the accused could make his choice - stand trail or leave in exile, and use the time to complete family/personal arrange-

THE DOOR-KNOCKER USED to awaken the custodian of the church for sanctuary at the Durham Cathedral, Durham, England, is the pattern for many a door-knocker used in subdivision housing in my community.

Providing sanctuary to Central American refugees will probably never include waking church guardians in the middle of the night, nor even having anyone stay in the church. Providing food and shelter in a church sanctuary would dramatize the need, but the issue goes beyond protection from the elements and nourishment for the body.

There is a basic flaw in some of our policies carried out by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, and we need to protect those accused out of that flaw, and we need to correct it.

CENTRAL AMERICAN REFU-GEES are not criminals. They are victims of violence and turmoil in their country, not wholly of their own design or deed.

In a recent TV interview, former President Gerald Ford expressed his disgust with those who challenge the Reagan Administration's efforts to aid in the resolution of Central America's internal struggles. It is important to us, he stressed, because they are so close Geographical proximity is an important point to consider. Giving "sanctuary" to Central American refugees expressing compassion and a moral commitment to the cause of justice and freedom - would be a clear sign to those farther away what we are all

Ward offers electives

The fall semester of Ward Presbyterian Church's school of Christian education will offer seven adult electives. Classes are offered 7-8:30 p.m. Wednes-

Dr. Bartlett Hess, Ward's senior pastor, will teach a 16-week class on the book of Hebrews.

"Death and Dying: A Christian Perspective" will be taught by Dr. Robert O. Woodburn, executive pastor.

Two eight-week courses are: "How to Avoid Problems in Marriage," taught by Timm Jackson, minister to single adults. Jackson is the instructor for Ward's divorce recovery workshops.

THE REV. ALFRED Gould will teach on the subject of "Prayer, God's Pattern for Christian Living." Gould, a veteran missionary, is Ward's minister of visitation.

An eight-week membership/information class will also be offered. The Rev. W. Wallace Hostetter, minister of evangelism, is the instructor.

Those interested in Ward's telephone counseling ministry may take the TLC (Telephone Listening Center) training. The 16-week class is instructed by Jan VanderBok, TLC director, along with several guest lecturers.

Three eight-week elections will begin Nov. 2. These are: "The Holy Spirit and the Church," "The Lord's Prayer," and 'Christians in the Marketplace."

The classes are open to the community, free of charge. For more information, or to enroll, call 422-1150.

 FIRST CHURCH OF THE NA-ZARENE

Richard Parrott, a minister with an established record in church growth, will deliver his first address Sunday as senior pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene on Haggerty north of Eight Mile in Farmington Hills.

He will speak on "God Has a Plan" at 11 a.m. services, and on "Take Care of Your Heart" at 6:30 p.m. services.

Parrott arrives from Corvallis, Ore., where under his direction the Church of the Nazarene of that city grew from a membership of 70 to 275 in six years, with worship attendance increasing from 80 to 400. During his tenure, the amount of giving tripled, 10 acres were purchased for a new church and a parsonage was built (both debt free). Double worship services were instituted.

Previously, Parrott had served as pastor in the small rural community of Iatan, Mo. In less that three years, the membership of that church grew from 20 to 75 in a town of only 65 people.

A magna cum laude graduate in 1974 from Eastern Nazarene College with a degree in psychology and a religion minor, Parrott earned a master's degree in psychology from the University of Missouri. He also acquired a master of divinity degree from Nazarene Theological Seminary in 1979, and this year completed a Ph.D. degree in education from Oregon State University, also magna cum laude.

His wife, Carol has served in many capacities in his ministries and is a registered nurse. They have a son, An-

Don't overlook rental property as an investment

Despite frequent references to the possibility of mortgage rate increases, the real estate market appears to be quite strong, making rental property an attractive tax-sheltered investment.

There are two major reasons for this. First, the prices of rental properties are attractive. Second, the government has devised a more generous depreciation schedule for these properties.

Landlords, like investors in real estate limited partnerships, can deduct not only their taxes, mortgage interest and operating costs but also a fraction of the value of their property each year. Under the new tax law, that fraction has been increased.

Some investors also will benefit from the new tax credit for rehabilitating a landmark house.

BUYING A RENTAL house is only a little different from buying a house to live in. Make sure that the neighborhood is economically stable.

Look for solid construction and sturdy appliances before you worry about attraction and looks. Most tenants will not treat a house carefully because they are not the ones who will have to pay for the repairs.

If you have older parents who would like to move to one of these retirement apartments, there is an excellent way for you to enjoy the tax benefits of being a landlord.

The IRS used to outlaw most tax deductions when you rented your property to a close relative, but Congress eliminated that restriction starting in 1981. The IRS insists only that you charge your relative a fair market

BEFORE YOU make up your mind about using rental property as a taxshelterd investment, however, consider the two major drawbacks of rental housing.

First, an investment house or apart-

Sid

finances and you

ment can create a lot of management trouble. If you turn over your property to a professional manager, his services may cost you as much as 15-20 percent.

If you are not going to manage your rental property, you probably would do better to buy shares in a real estate limited partnership instead.

SECOND, A RENTAL house or condominium is a fairly risky proposition. If your tenant walks out, you may be stuck with an empty house for months, but you will still have to make mortgage payments.

Should you wish to sell your property, its value will depend not just on the neighborhood but also on the local economy and the availability of mortgage money. Even under the best of circumstances, finding a buyer can take months.

Moreover, before you can begin to profit from the sale of your property, it must appreciate more than 6 percent - the usual commission that most real estate brokers charge.

So the bottom line is this: Rental housing offers a unique opportunity to invest in tax-sheltered investment. However, it has major drawbacks that must be analyzed carefully before making a decision in this regard.

Charts just make a point

A dull statistical question can have an important answer.

"I am a statistician, and I just saw two of your reports which, from my point of view, seem more designed to mislead than inform. In one case, you have compared one item on a semi-log graph with another on what looks like'a stylized grid. That's not good. Then I see you putting charts together to sell Syntex Corp. stock that are all the same size, but one is in hundreds of millions, one is in tens of millions and one is in just dollars. My statistician's mind makes me very suspicious."

In investing, it often is more important to look at the point that is trying to be made rather than the way it is being presented. We have a lot of people write who ask the question whether one is really better off over a period of time putting their money in stocks or leaving it in cash items.

To help answer that question, we prepared one graph that shows how from a 1940 value of $1, the purchasing power of the dollar dropped to about 14 cents at the beginning of 1983. That, we figure, gives you a pretty good idea of what happens if you keep your money in cash items.

To show what happened to stock prices in the same peirod of time, we checked the Dow-Jones Industrials. They went from roughly 150 in 1940 to 1,050 plus at the start of 1983.

today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investment Clubs.

The graphs we showed were used to dramatize those facts and get your attention. These figures suggest very strongly that the individual who had his assets in dollar items from 1940 has lost a lot of purchasing power.

The individual who had his money invested in the Dow-Jones Industrials would have seen them rise enough in dollar price to more than equal the dollars lost in purchasing power. Of course, some stocks did less well that these averages, and others did better.

A study of the records of investment clubs for the past 23 years shows that in most years, this large group of investors did better than the averages.

In the case of the Syntex Corp., we were showing in the graphs how three important figures have grown in the last four years.

Sales are up 113 percent, they come in hundreds of millions. Dollar earnings are up 149 percent, they come in millions. Earnings per share are up 155 percent, they just come in dollars.

Those are important figures in judging the value of an investment, and to us, suggest Snytex is well worth buying as long as the price is right.

Columnist advises

74-year-old cut-up is both foolhardy and spunky

What do you think of a 74-year-old man, who has "one too many" at the family reunion picnic and then proceeds to jump off the change house roof into the deep end of the swimming pool? This performance was given by my grandfather at last year's reunion. and since he reads your column, I think he could use some good advice.

Dear Unsigned:

Frankly, as a nurse and a health educator and a believer in the prevention of accidents, I think his actions were somewhat foolhardy, and he should be advised to play a more conservative role at future family reunion picnics. But as a gerontologist and a woman, I have to admire his spunk. Dear Jo:

smoking have an affect on hearing?

Dear Mrs. B:

Apparently as part of the normal aging process hearing can begin to decline as early as age 40. As to whether cigarette smoking has an affect on hearing - according to the Detroit At what age does one begin to have a Area Support for the Hard of Hearing decline in hearing - and can cigarette Newsletter, Oct./Nov. 1982, cigarette smoking increases the incidence and severity of hearing loss more than that of normal aging.

Dear Jo:

What are the early warning signs of cancer of the prostate?

Unfortunately, cancer of the prostate in its earliest stages is a silent disease. There are no early symptoms and no simple test to detect it other than the annual rectal exam.

Although cancer of the prostate ranks as the second most common malignancy in men - 90 percent of all the disorders are benign and treatable. The problem with the disease is that it is all too often diagnosed too late when it has already spread to other parts of the body.

For early diagnosis and treatment, men over the age of 65 should have a yearly physical exam which includes a rectal exam.

Dear Jo: When I was visiting my relatives in Toronto last fall, they introduced my husband and I to a game called Trivial Pursuit. It is a game played with a board, dice and cue cards that forces one to call upon so many things that we had thought we had forgotten. Do you recommend this game for older adults - (I surely do) - and do you know where I can purchase one?

Mrs. W.P. (age 71)

Dear Mrs. P.:

Trivial Pursuit is an excellent game for adults of all ages. It forces the players to constantly use both their shortand long-term memories. Older people seem to excel at it — so yes, I do recommend it.

What is the life expectancy of the North American Indian?

Dear V.T.:

Unfortunately, the life expectancy of the North American Indian is very low - 40 to 50 years, which is more than 20 years shorter than that of persons in the general population. Only 5 percent of their population are 65 years of age or more - which is less than half the percentage for the rest of the popula-

A new season full of sports drama, thrills

HE COMING ATTRACTIONS of sports, appearing soon at a field of competition near you. What will happen:

- Farmington Harrison will keep its football winning streak alive until it plays arch-rival North Farmington again.
- That won't happen until the state playoffs. • Detroit Catholic Central will win the state football championship.
- Less than 10 minutes after claiming the state title, CC coach Tom Mach will be besieged by questions regarding recruiting — a topic revived because a parochial school has triumphed.
- Fred Thomann will keep the Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team on its winning track, but a long run in the state playoffs will hurt his boys' team.
- A Livonia-based team will win the Class A boys' soccer championship - again.
- Birmingham Brother Rice and Catholic Central will meet for the Catholic League football championship - again.
- Salem and Harrison will meet in the Western Lakes Activities Association grid playoff title game — again.
- Troy Athens, behind the defense of transfer Allana Cummings, will make it to the girls basketball state semifinals.
- Rochester will surprise everyone and tie Royal Oak Dondero for the Metro Suburban Activities Association football title.
- Farmington Our Lady of Mercy will finally do something it has failed to do in the past few years - win a Catholic League girls' basketball championship. • Elimination bouts for first football
- weekend: North Farmington will edge Salem, Harrison will outlast West Bloomfield, and Rice will fall to Chicago Mt. Carmel.
- Six former Observer & Eccentric players will start the season at quarterback for Michigan colleges: Frank Wedesky (Redford Bishop Borgess) at Northwood, Mike Gatt (Catholic Central) at Hillsdale; Ken Kish (Harrison) at Albion; Rusty Mandle (Plymouth Canton) at Saginaw Valley, Dave Yarema (Brother Rice) at Michigan State; and Dave Hall (Livonia Stevenson) at Michigan.
- Al Iafrate of Livonia Bentley will earn a berth on the U.S. Olympic hockey team.
- A pair of Mercy players will earn a berth on the O&E girls' All-Area basketball team.
- Farmington school district athletic director Ron Holland will renew the North Farmington-Farmington Harrison football rivalry.

THAT WON'T HAPPEN:

- The Rhino Avondale football coach Rick Brewer - will not hang up his horn. Despite his weight loss, he'll continue snorting on all fours along the sideline - only at a faster pace.
- Mercy will not win the state girls' basketball chaampionship with an 18-point lastquarter rally, like last year.
- Livonia Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh will not provide his opponent in the state Class B tournament with added incentive again by saying they really aren't that good a team (I hope).
- Farmington's football team will not go
- Neither will Redford Thurston's. • And neither Farmington nor Thurston will win league championships.
- Birmingham Groves and Redford Union's football fortunes will not be as impressive as the size of their players (as reported by their
- Livonia super heavyweight boxer Craig Payne will not lose to top-rated Tyrell Biggs
- Payne will not fight Biggs again. • Southfield grad Vinnie Bean will catch 40 passes, but will not be able to make Michigan fans forget Anthony Carter.
- · Gary Woldyla of Plymouth will not gain public acclaim, despite a world title in rowing. • Al Fracassa will not quit his football
- position at Brother Rice to become an assistant under Gerry Faust at Notre Dame.
- Fracassa won't go to MSU, either again. • The Michigan High School Athletic Association will not win its lawsuit against the Office of Civil Rights and U.S. Department of

Lonnie a big Payne to RU

When it comes to defense, Lonnie Payne gets a big "thank you" from Livonia Bentley coach Tom Lang.

The junior point guard scored 12 points and had five steals Tuesday in leading the Bulldogs to a 47-25 triumph over host Redford Union.

"She was the defensive player of the game," said Bentley coach Tom Lang. "It was one of the finest defensive efforts we've ever had here at Bentley."

Laurie Day, a senior forward, led the winners with 13 points. Junior Sheri Wolfe chipped in with nine and center Theresa Aragona pulled down 12 re-

Sophomore center Julie Marchand paced RU with 14 points. Point guard Kellie Szabo added eight points, seven steals and eight assists.

"We had the first-game jitters," said RU coach Terri Anthony. "We didn't get into our game. We let them control the tempo."

WSLD. JOHN GLENN 47 FARMINGTON 25

The visiting Rockets led 23-13 at the half and cruised to a season-opening win over the Falcons.

Forward Michele McCullen paced the winners with 11 points and 12 rebounds, Sophomore Diana Sommerman added 10 points and 14 boards.

Glenn, expected to make a run at the Northwest Suburban League crown, also got fine floor play from guards Sophie Castonguay (six points) and Julie Pucci (five assists).

"Michele played a real good game and Julie led us defensively," said Glenn coach George Sommerman.

Farmington's Alyse Fortune scored 16 points to lead all scorers.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 47 LIVONIA CHURCHILL 37

The host Patriots outscored visiting Churchill in each of the first three Alicia Lectka, a 5-foot-7 senior forward, scored nine points, pulled down 16 rebounds and chipped in with nine assists to pace the winners.

Junior Carolyn Smith tallied 15 and Sue Johnson added 11 to head the Franklin scoring department. Churchill's Amy Brow pumped in 12 points as new coach Roger Springsteen lost in his debut. "They (Churchill) did a good job on the boards and did a nice job going inside on us," said Franklin's second-year coach Tim Newman. Churchill, however, shot poorly from the free throw (3 of 15), while Franklin made 9 of 18.

LIVONIA STEVENSON 55 REDFORD THURSTON 24

The young Spartans treated coach Wayne Henry to his first win behind 18 points, 12 rebounds and five steals from 6-foot junior Lisa Bokovoy.

"I've got to feel great," said the new Stevenson coach. "I thought we did a lot of things well. We had super defense and we were super on the boards.

"We have eight juniors so we can't help but get better." According to Stevenson statistics;

Thurston was out-rebounded 46-26. Chris Schemanske and Amy Rozman hauled down 11 and eight rebounds, respectively. Rozman also added five steals. Junior forward Joan Frysinger contributed 14 points and senior Sandy Waln added seven for Stevenson.

Thurston, which did not field a JV squad for the opener, got 12 points from Julie Engle.

Daly captures 'B' state fast-pitch title

Daly's Restaurant, a women's fastpitch softball team from Livonia, captured the Class B state championship last weekend in Coldwater. Lisa Bokovoy, a junior at Stevenson High School, proved to be a valuable tournament acquisition by Daly as she hurled the Livonians two of three wins in the six-team, double-elimination tournament.

The tall right-hander blanked the Scottville Scotties, 6-0, on a five-hitter. Scottville's Patty Lundberg led off the game with a single to center field, but Bokovoy's prep teammate, catcher Linda Loeffler, threw out the runner trying to steal second base as Lisa Parsons made the tag.

The winners executed a much-talked about double-play as Kathy Siemiesz snared a line drive to right field and whipped a throw to shortstop Linda Webb of Garden City, who leaped to nail the runner at second base with a bare-hand grab.

Daly, meanwhile, scored twice in the first and added a pair each in the second and fifth innings to put the game. out of reach.

Centerfielder Bonnie Hudick led the Daly hitting attack with a 3-for-4 perand four RBI.

In the second round, Daly used the no-hit pitching of Garden City's Kim Lackey to beat the Scottles, last year's Class CC champions, 2-0.

Lackey faced only 24 batters three reaching base late in the game on walks. One runner, however, was erased on a double play, while another was gunned down trying to steal second by Daly catcher Sheryl Horvath.

Siemiesz led the way with two hits and one RBI. Lackey drove in the other Daly run.

THE CLASS B champions finished the season with a 30-10 overall record, while recording a third place finish in the Livonia Women's Fast-pitch League at 8-2.

Bishop Borgess aims for balance as season nears

By Brad Emons staff writer

What's the line on Redford Bishop Borgess football for 1983?

Improved line play — that's what. Fourth-year coach Gary Cook is convinced his 69-member Spartan unit is for real and can't be overlooked anymore in the Catholic League's tough Central Division. "Line play was a serious problem last year," Cook said. "This year we have better overall size, strength and quickness.

Borgess, which plays tomorrow night at Riverview, was 4-5 last season. The team lost only eight lettermen to graduation.

Leading candidates for offensive line spots include senior Parrish Smith (6foot-5, 230 pounds) and sophomore Ed Dresslinski (6-0, 230) at the tackles; junior Ron Costello (5-10, 170), center, seniors Tim Quilliam (5-11, 175) and Jim Holdsclaw (5-11, 175), guards.

THAT IMPROVED line play should make Borgess' offensive backfield even more productive in 1983.

Senior speedster Chuck Gregory, who started the final five games last season, returns at quarterback. He doubles as a defensive back where he reaped All-Catholic and All-Observer

Junior Steve Staron, who started the first three games before being injured, also returns at quarterback. The offensive backfield is the team's strength with the return of Tim Walton (6-1, 200) and junior Fred Owens (5-9, football

Owens started the final five games at tailback and rushed for 600 yards on only 11 carries per game. Others figuring to carry the pigskin include Mike Stewart, Eric Rogers, Tim Hanks and Marlon Montgomery.

They are joined by wide receivers Gordie Pacheco, a junior, and Fred

BECAUSE of the emergence last year of Gregory, Borgess went to an option attack.

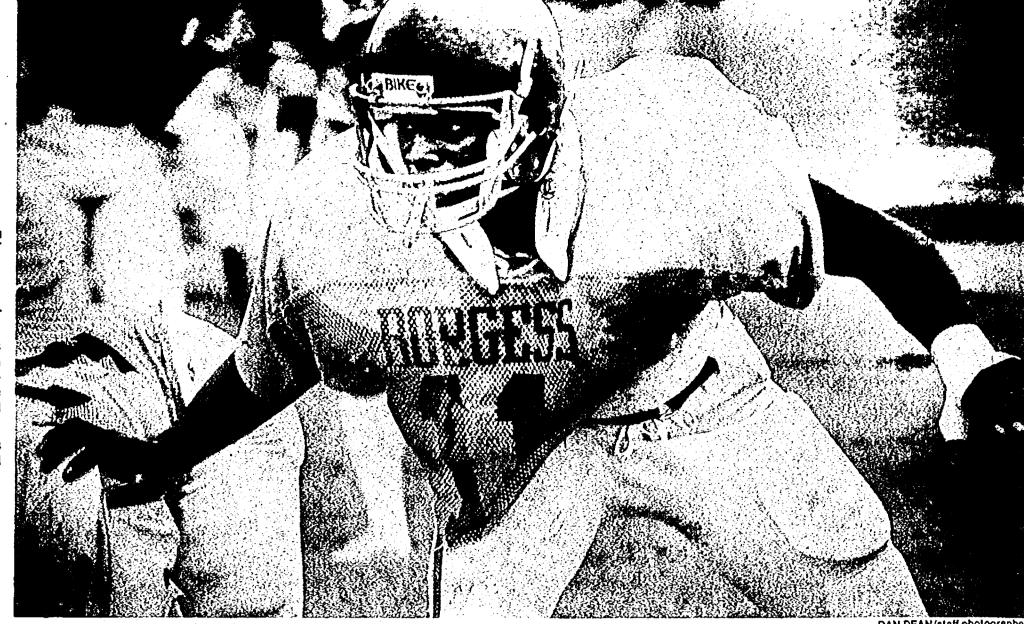

"We hope to throw the ball much more than we did at the end of last season with Gregory at quarterback." Cook said. "Gregory has improved as a passer, and Staron is a good passer. We'll be an option team, but we hope to throw 15-20 times a game."

tral Division linebacker, along with Gregory, lead a veteran defensive unit which also includes Dave Murphy (5-9, 260), tackle; Bob Gomoll (6-0, 210), nose guard; Pacheco, Hanks, and Ken Cobb,

Two-year starter Walton, an All-Cen-

Other players who should help include Stewart (6-2, 190), Ken Driver (6-4, 220), John Ketchum (6-0, 240), Dresslinski, Ron Costello, Tom Hardy and Montgomery.

"The secondary returns five players

Borgess should be in good hands with the return of veteran linebacker Tim Walton. The Spartans hope to be a contender this fall in the Catholic League's highly competitive Central Division.

who started or played a great deal in 1982," said the Borgess coach. "The biggest question mark going into the season was at outside linebacker, where we lost a three-year starter and two-year starter."

COOK SAID that senior John Ward and Holdsclaw have the inside track at linebacker over juniors Dave Vasquez and Tony Scarlin. "Defensively we'll show multiple front looks out of a 5-2 (alignment), with multiple coverages mixed in our secondary play."

The team's overall experience, though, should help a great deal, according to Cook.

"Our league and our schedule is very demanding," said the Borgess coach, "We have some potentially outstanding players.

"However, we must get lucky with injuries and survive an extremely tough schedule in order to realize the potential we have."

Cook reminds fans that "We lost three close ballgames last season." But he knows that All-Observer choice Joe Burns, who kicked five field goals from 30 or more yards out, could be the deciding factor this season.

"His leg is stronger now, and we feel that we have a good shot to score at least three (points) whenever we get the ball inside the 30," he said.

Westland girls spark softball run

Westlanders Brenda Coots, Chris Hoffman and Stephanie Sierakowski were instrumental in helping the Tri-City Travelers to a 15-6 record and a berth in the USSSA Softball championships last month in Pearl, Miss.

Thirty-five teams from 15 states competed in the tournament.

The team of 12-year-olds finished ninth nationally by defeating Oak Forest, Miss., 13-3; Richmond, Va., 11-6; Scottsville, Ky., 17-2; and Laurel, Miss., 28-0.

Joining the squad late in the season, the Westland trio solved the team's defensive outfield problems with their

The three also added some offensive punch. Hoffman led with a .581 batting average followed by Sierakowski and Coots at .500 and .471, respectively.

The trademark of this year's squad was come-from-behind victories.

TRI-CITY rallied from a seven-run deficit in the final inning, scoring nine times to beat Sterling Heights in a state qualifying tournament game.

After capturing the qualifier, the Travelers were runner-ups in the state tournament at Walled Lake.

Against Florence, the South Carolina state champs, Tri-City scored twice to Building program new task for Dudek

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Soccer is a transition game.

Not just on the field. For Ed Dudek. the new Schoolcraft College girls' soccer coach, it stretches beyond the chalk boundaries.

"This is a lot different than high school," Dudek said, comparing his new post to the one he holds in the spring at Livonia Churchill, "We had 40 girls come out at Churchill."

At Schoolcraft, Dudek is trying to build a new program. And he's doing it started just last month.

"WELL, WE'RE trying to put one together," Dudek said of his efforts so far. "We've got 13 players out right. now. It's really an informal program, put in at the last minute. Kids might have come to Schoolcraft had they known there would be a program.

"We've got enough for a team, but they all have other things to do. Some of them aren't going to be able to make schedule isn't until Sept. 24. all the games. They already told me that. They have jobs and things.

"They're nice kids, and they're really good. But that's a lot to ask of 13 kids, to play a full schedule."

So what Dudek needs, first, is more players. The team is playing at the club level, which means it doesn't get the financial benefits a varsity squad does.

LACK OF NOTORIETY is also a problem. People aren't aware that Schoolcraft will field a girls' team.

"Even our schedule isn't set for the year," Dudek said. The reason is that most college teams set up their fall schedules in June. With such a late season. start, Schoolcraft is struggling to find

But soccer is a numbers game, and needs 11 players, and the new Lady Ocelots are dangerously close to that minimum.

"If we have any injuries or illnesses, our whole season could be wiped out," a concerned Dudek said. The limited number of players also hurts practice

BUT THERE ARE pluses. The biggest, according to Dudek, is "the girls really interested in soccer?

And those that are out for the team form a fairly solid nucleus. Current team members include Livonia Stevenson graduates Cindy Gabel, Jill Sorenson and Sue Firestone; Dawn and Heather Brda and Judy Snyder of Livo-

At present, the Ocelots practice or scrimmage a Bonanza League team on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Dudek figures defense to be the team's current strong point, since they lack a top flight

"We'll have to work for every goal we get," the new coach said. "No team will blow us out, but we won't blow any one out, either."

WHAT BOTHERS Dudek is the knowledge that there are players who might have attended Schoolcraft had they known about the team. He's hoping to attract that type of player next

A recruiting tool for Dudek might be a trip to the national tournament in Baltimore. Schoolcraft has already not just on the scoreboard. A team qualified - it's the only junior college with girls' soccer in region 12.

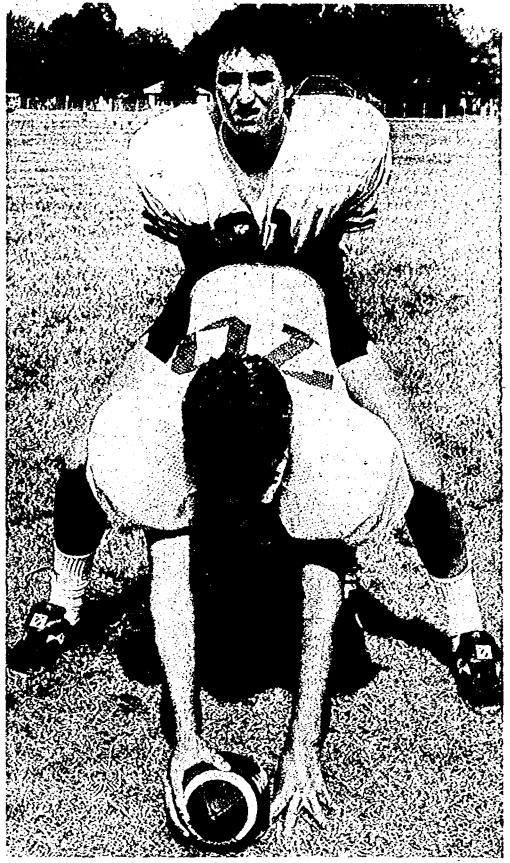

> "We'll wait and see how we're doing before deciding if we will go or not," Dudek said of the possible trip.

> Money for uniforms and some travel will be provided to the team through a special Schoolcraft fund. However, Du-dek said if a trip to Baltimore is planned there will have to be a fund-

"It's not the ideal set-up," Dudek said the first community college girls' soccer program in the state. Only Kalamazoo College offers girls' soccer at the varsity level.

"But it's a start. And the girls want to play soccer."

Thurston will line up Saturday with junior Raffi Kostegian (top) at quarterback and Brian Wojkowski at center.

key to Thurston gridiron outlook

Opening games

John Switchenko has the most difficult coaching job in the area.

He's taken on the challenge of reversing Redford Thurston's football fortunes.

The Eagles will try to snap a ninegame losing streak Saturday when they host Northville in their season opener.

"The league (Northwest Suburban) and schedule is very tough," said Switchenko, a Connecticut native. "We must make things happen in our first two contests with Northville and Walled Lake."

Under Switchenko, Thurston will run out of a wing-T offensive formation. The Eagles' strong point is offense with seven returning performers.

Thurston should have a solid backfield with the return of captain Gerald Dunn, a fullback; David Kress, halfback; and junior Raffi Kostegian, quarterback. Other backs who should contribute, according to Switchenko, include Brian McGrath and Tim Burnett. Scott Taft, meanwhile, is a plus at split end.

THEY ARE joined by wide receiver Mark Rayha and 6-foot-7 tight end Dan Starinsky, both seniors. The line returnees are honorable mention All-League guard Rob Rankin and Jeff Felich, a tackle.

"We have a pretty solid offensive backfield," Switchenko said, "but there are many question marks on the line. Rankin is really the only experienced lineman to return.

"We'll attempt to move the ball with a combination of run and pass." Switchenko calls the defense "very inexperienced."

football

The linebacking situation, however, is solid with veterans Doran, Rankin and Jeff Rochna. Kourtney Henneman, a junior, is another strong linebacker candidate. The Thurston coach added that McGrath, a cornerback, and Tony Borardo, a senior, should also contribute defensively. "They had to learn a new defensive. system," said Switchenko. "Our defensive philosophy is to be as tough as we can - don't give up the long gains make them earn everything."

SWITCHENKO also talked about the team's attitude.

"We have a positive outlook," he said. "We're looking to break that losing streak."

The event's proceeds went toward Special Olym-

Opp, a member of the Glenn women's cross country team, completed the course in 1:14:06, approximately one minute ahead of all girls in the 14-15 age category. She set an average mile pace of just under 7:10.

"I'm very pleased with her performance at the Bobby Crim," said Glenn cross country coach Ed Phillips. "Karen really picked up her time from her last race and showed a lot of desire — her last five miles in the race were much faster than her first

Prognosticators limber up

By Brad Emons and Chris McCosky staff writers

The first week is always the toughest for expert grid prognostica-

Most coaches are optimistic, while others "play down" their chances purposely. Others, meanwhile, are flat out realistic.

New faces will determine the course of the 1983 football season for the most part. That is what makes it difficult, but here goes anyway:

LIVONIA BENTLEY at PLYM-OUTH CANTON (7:30 p.m. Friday). This game is traditionally close and low scoring with Canton gaining the edge last year.

Word is that Canton and Rodney Williams looked good in a pre-season scrimmage last week.

Bentley, meanwhile, can rely on field goal kicker Chad Darke. Picks - McCosky goes with Canton by seven. Emons goes with Canton in over-

LIVONIA STEVENSON at RED-FORD UNION (7:30 p.m. Friday). The home team has prevailed in this encounter for the past four seasons.

RU has a speedy backfield, and Stevenson counters with quarterback Dan Gilmartin. This is a key game for both teams. Picks - McCosky likes Stevenson by a field goal. Emons sticks with the home team by six.

BISHOP BORGESS at RIVER-VIEW (7:30 p.m. Friday). Borgess should be one of the most improved teams in the Catholic League, while Class B Riverview is coming off an 8-1 season.

The Spartans have experience at the skill positions. Picks - McCosky and Emons like Borgess by 10.

BELLEVILLE at WESTLAND JOHN GLENN (7:30 p.m. Friday). Word is that Belleville has some speedy running backs, but nobody compared to Keith Gates (now at Glenn is inexperienced, but has quarterback Jeff Hawley and coach Chuck Gordon going for them. A tough opener for Glenn. Picks -McCosky says Belleville by three, while Emons takes Glenn by 13.

grid predictions

GARDEN CITY V8. WAYNE ME-MORIAL (7:30 p.m. at West). The Cougars have a new coach (Dean Shipman) and a JV team that went 9-0 last season.

Wayne, however, could have a team comparable to the one Rick Rogers played on a few years back. Garden City will be tested early. Picks — McCosky predicts a close game with Wayne winning by one. Emons goes with Wayne by a touch-

WEST BLOOMFIELD at FARM-INGTON HARRISON (2 p.m. Saturday). The Lakers were dealt a severe blow losing tailback Todd Krumm, who is out indefinitely with an injury.

Adding punch to the Harrison lineup are transfers Bob Wasczenski, an All-Observer end from Canton, and cornerback Geof Bissell from Ohio.

They join tailback John Miller, who rushed for more than 1,000 yards as a sophomore in Harrison's Class A title run. Picks — McCosky takes Harrison by 14. Emons agrees, but by 17.

PLYMOUTH SALEM at NORTH FARMINGTON (2 p.m. Saturday). The Rocks are coming off an 8-1 season, but lost 25 seniors.

Big-time player Scott Jurek, however, returns at fullback/linebacker. It won't be enough offset North's experience and speed, led by Ken Goss and Scott Draper. Picks — McCosky and Emons go with North by 10 and 13, respectively.

FARMINGTON at SOUTHFIELD (2 p.m. Saturday). This is a battle of first-year coaches. Cal Fletcher takes over at Southfield, while Don Kuick enters at Farmington.

Southfield should have more weapons, while Farmington is "building." Picks — McCosky goes with Southfield by a touchdown. Emons goes with an upset, Farmington in overtime by six.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL at LIVO-NIA FRANKLIN (2 p.m. Saturday). The Patriots lost a bundle of talent from last season's 8-1 squad.

Churchill coach Ken Kaestner, meanwhile, vows it's improved from a 1-8 campaign in 1982. Franklin will go to the air under a revamped offense by Armand Vigna. Picks -McCosky likes Franklin by a point. Emons goes with the Patriots in over-

NORTHVILLE at REDFORD THURSTON (1 p.m. Saturday). The Eagles went winless in 1982, but new coach John Switchenko is out to break that losing skid.

Northville has dominated this series, but lost a great deal from a year ago. Nobody knows what to expect. Picks — McCosky and Emons stand by Northville by seven and 14 points, respectively.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA at DEARBORN ST. ALPHONSUS (2:30 p.m. Saturday at Dearborn Fordson). The Aggies will be hard-pressed to repeat a 7-2 season. They won this game last year, but Alphonsus will be looking for revenge.

Enough said. Picks - McCosky and Emons like St. Al's by 10 and 13, respectively.

CLARENCEVILLE at WATER-FORD OUR LADY OF THE LAKES (2 p.m. Saturday). This game recently was added to both teams' schedules.

Class B Clarenceville is coming off a 6-3 season, while Lakes earned a trip to the Catholic League's C-D and Class D state tournaments last season. Picks - McCosky smells an upset, Clarenceville by 3. Emons takes Lakes by eight.

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. TRAVERSE CITY (? p.m. Saturday at the Pontlac Silverdome). A battle between ex-Class A state champions.

CC roughed up the Trojans in its opener last year at the "Dome." The Shamrocks appear to be the team to beat in the tough Catholic League Central Division, and one prep prognosticator says they'll win it all. Why does Traverse City keep scheduling this game? Picks - McCosky and Emons like CC by a touchdown and 15 points, respectively.

CLASSICS The all stars both on Tuesday and Thursday beat the gun in the season opener and there were a few surprises in store.

First, the Stroh team, bowling on Tuesday, rolled a 3241 to sound a warning of the scores that can be expected over the rest of the way.

The big gun in this opening firing was Ralph Petty with a 696 series that included a 256 finisher.

The Tuesday classis will have a new twist this year in that Ed Lubanski, former Strob captain 20 years ago, is back in action, as possibly the oldest all star stll active. On the other end of the age scale, Dave Hamilton, the Farmingtion youth, will be on hand to oppose Ed several time this season.

Farmington rules triangular meet; Hawks win dual Farmington's depth proved to be too much Tuesday in a triangular boys cross country meet held Tuesday at Redford's Lola Valley Park.

Coach Jerry Young's team won the meet with 26 points followed by host Redford Union at 40 and Livonia Clarenceville with 63.

RU's David Adkins took individual honors with a time of 16:25 over the three-mile course. Farmington, however, placed six of the top 10 finishers including junior Bruce Kerr, second, 17:18; Dave Dunneback, fourth, 17:39; Bryan Lawton, fifth, 17:58; Chris Inch, sixth, 17:59; Tim Bourgeois, ninth, 19:13; Brad Tobin, 10th, 19:50.

RU's Ed Buchanan finished third in 17:33. Clarenceville's top two places went to Nick Lulgjuraj, seventh, 18:16, and Rick Williams, eighth, 19:11.

Victorious Farmington resumes action Tuesday at Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

FARMINGTON HARRISON'S boys couldn't offset the one-two showing of Livonia Stevenson's Ken Dubois and Mark Rorick, 23-36, in a meet

Dubois, a senior standout, covered the three-mile course in 16:20. Rorick was next at 17:27. The visiting Spartans also got a fifth place finish from Mike Newton (18:06). Harrison's top three finishers were: Don Lacey, third, 17:38; Mike Esker, fourth, 17:53; Tom Bisson,

Harrison's girls, however, behind Lauri Runk's top clocking of 19:39, prevailed against Stevenson,

Runk was followed by teammates Paige Cummins, third, 20:59, and Jenny Anderson, fourth, Sue Tatigian and Michele Economou grabbed second and fifth for Stevenson with times of 19:59 and 21:50, respectively.

liamsburg, Va., plunges riders 130 feet to two interlocking loops at 70 miles-an-hour. It is one of the fastest in the world.

much to you. Coastermaniacs are ac-board a roller coaster again. I avoided the Texas Cyclone, the Gemini, the Colossus, the American Eagle and all the giant dippers of this world until that moment in the summer of 1983 when a crowd of "friends" gathered around me, like a scene out of a spy movie, and moved me en masse through the gate. There was no getting away short of calling the cops. If you, too, are a coward, you may not know the statistics of the Loch Ness Monster, which has been scaring people out of their wits for five years at Busch Gardens. It drags you slowly, slowly, screaming the while, to the top of a hill, drops you straight down 130 feet, corkscrews you at the speed of light designed just for little children.

This summer I rode the Loch Ness through two 360-degree interlocking loops and sends you screaming home. That's a 13-story climb above the treetops of the wooded theme park. That's customed to being scared out of their a force of three-and-a-half times the wits on roller coasters. Cowards have pull of gravity.

must be dragged screaming onto a roller coaster. A million and a half of you ride that monster every year.

There are dozens of them around the country, of course, each claiming to outscare the other. Many of them are on wooden frames, because metal frames were so "secure" that they didn't scare people enough.

A roller coaster guru called Robert Cartmell puts out a ten-best list every year, and any coastermaniac worth his salt has been on all of them.

If you still long for a little Saturday afternoon fright, if dropping thirteen stories turns you on, don't despair, summer isn't quite over.

Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio, is open for another two weekends, through Sept. 18. It is closing the season with two fun fest weekends that are centered around the Hofbrau Beer Garden, which is much more my speed.

There will be lots of music and dancing. Sunday, Oct. 18, will wind up the summer with the Cedar Point 10K run, with runners following a certified course through the 364 acre resort. That starts at 10:30 a.m., if you are a runner. That is another sport I manage to avoid.

Standup comics keep metro audiences in good humor

So, what's so funny these days?

IF YOU MAKE reservations at the Comedy Castle or get there early enough on a weekend, you can find out. Two warmup comics and a nationally known headliner provide the jokes at the club in the basement of John Laffrey's restaurant at 4616 N. Woodward, Royal Oak.

The jokes are on almost anything and everything. Ronald Reagan, missiles, marriage, family and anything else that comes into the slightly warped minds of comedians like Marty McCal-

1,000 folks before the weekend is over. Clearly enjoying the resurgence of comedy, Ridley has worked hard to make this happen. Five years ago he laid the groundwork for the present comedy revival by providing a club for aspiring comedians. At Laffrey's for two years, Ridley credits the restaurant with some of his success.

"YOU JUST CAN'T make it in a 99seat room," Ridley said about previous comedy club attempts at the Meating Place, Friday's and Stafford's - all in West Bloomfield. Now he's in a comfortable 160-seat room which has the advantage of a good restaurant upstairs which draws people for the food and atmosphere.

The bottom line for Ridley, though, is that the Comedy Castle is making it because its name - which Ridley has retained despite several moves - is synonymous in the area with reliable and funny comedy.

When he had a corner of Friday's on Orchard Lake Road in 1979, Ridley had an open mike policy and would be comedians got 10 minutes a week to present their routines before a live audience.

In addition to the Comedy Corner, other places that feature comedy are Traxx, on Gratiot in Detroit, where there's a Comedy Showcase every Wednesday night; Comedy Kitchen in Detroit, which brings in comedians five nights a week; and the Premier Center in Sterling Heights, which has recently been successful with a First Detroit Comedy Jam (featuring well-known comedians David Coulier, Mike Binder and Howie Mandell), as well as with regular appearances by the big-name

OTHER NIGHT SPOTS, such as Frisco's (which just closed) in West Bloomfield's Orchard Mall, have tried comedy without finding an audience. Frisco's for a time featured the Comedy Trolley, with emcee Lowell Sanders.

"We had a comedy feature night at the beginning of the summer," said comic Sanders, a Comedy Castle graduate. "We were featuring the best local talent around but it really didn't take off like we hoped it would."

However, Sanders is still very optimistic about comedy in the area. "Any place where you have a lot of people patronizing a restaurant or a club, comedy will work out. With the Come-

Vineyards radiate from city's center

It seems each year warrants a new column reviewing the spectacular growth, both in quality and quantity, that occurs annually in Mendocino County of Northern California. Here is another, reporting wine findings from a recent trip that Will soon make their impact on our market.

The focal point of the county is the city of Ukiah, an hour and a half north of San Francisco on highway 101. Vineyards surround the area and constitute the northernmost wine-growing region in the state.

Twenty miles north of Ukiah viticulture ceases in California. But radiating out from its center are mile after mile of lush vineyards, made vigorous by the relative warmth of the area.

There are no cooling breezes here from San Francisco Bay, and the mountains to the west block most Pacific breezes. This is warm country, good for cabernet, zinfandel, sauvignon blanc, petite sirah and others. Occasional cooler regional microclimates support chardonnary and pinot blanc.

MOST EXCITING finds this year were Tijsseling Winery south of the city and Braren Pauli in Potter Valley, well to the north and east. The former is tied in with smaller Tyland Vineyards and shows promise of being yet another producer of fine, sparkling

The first issues are scheduled for release soon, and distribution into Michigan is being worked out. Still table wines are made as well, but greatest hopes are for a 25,000-case-per-year production of the sparkler.

Braren Pauli Vineyards, named after its co-founders, is in an isolated area, almost the northernmost winery on the North Coast. Its first issues reached California shelves less than a year ago, and it, too, is being picked up soon by a local distributor.

Look for an excellent sauvignon blanc and chardonnay as well as a 1980 zinfandel from the Ricetti Vineyards that is huge and tannic and will demand maturation time. If its prices here are as favorable as they are in California this may be a Best Value set of releases when we get them.

A third new winery, the Paul Dolan Vineyards, is easily the smallest in the area, making only modest amounts of chardonnay and cabernet of excellent quality. Amazingly, this wine is available locally, at least the complex and sophisticated chardonnay is.

And there are others. Whaler Vineyards makes light, inexpensive and pleasant zinfandels only, both a red and a white, but they probably will not get to our area. Frey Vineyards is a family complex in the far north and seems not yet to have identified a style or focus of its own. Hidden Cellars has achieved some favorable initial press. And so it

Add these three winners and the several others to the aggregate that also includes such quality names as Parducci, Fetzer, Scharffenberger, Milano, Mountain House and, of course, the great McDowell operation, and it is apparent that the region boasts not only a strong present but a rich past as well.

Mendocino is rapidly gaining good reviews as a region among the best in California in the only way a region can, by consistently producing excellent wines. These have the added benefit of not carrying a Napa appellation, a term that causes the price of each bottle to increase some $1-3 just because of the name.

Mendocino wines in general are fairly priced and are safely recommended to beginner and veteran wine drinker
