Wagner, Grajeck lead in council primary vote

By Mary Klemic staff writer

A retired fire battalion chief and a current member of the Westland Planning Commission are among those who will challenge four incumbent members of the Westland City Council for their council seats in the general election in November.

Richard Grajek, who retired from the Westland fire department last month, and Planning Commissioner Harry Conner placed second and fifth respectively in a field of 10 candidates in the primary election Tuesday. Other new faces who will be on the ballot in November are office manager Marjorie Daniels, who landed sixth in Tuesday's voting, and Henry Johnson, fiveyear commissioner on the Westland Civil Service Commission, who finished a close seventh. All four challengers, are in their first city council race.

The challengers will face current council members Robert Wagner, Thomas Artley, Ben DeHart and A. Kent Herbert in the November race.

FINAL TALLIES Tuesday night showed 1;786 votes for Grajek, 1,502 for Conner, 1,443 for Daniels and 1,439 for Johnson.

Three of the four incumbents landed 'in the top four spots in the primary Tuesday. Wagner finished first, with 1,879 votes. Artley placed third, with 1,718 ballots, 68 less than Grajek. Artley was followed by DeHart, who garnered 1,546 votes, 44 ahead of Conner.

Herbert placed eighth, with 1,415 votes, 24 ballots behind Johnson but some 280 ahead of the candidate who finished ninth.

All of the results will be unofficial, until they are certified by the Board of Canvassers this week, according to City Clerk Diane Rohraff.

Grajek who landed 93 ballots behind the first-place finisher, Councilman Robert Wagner, was unavailable for comment. Johnson said the primary results show "there is a significant amount of peole who want a change,"

Supporters, such as these at Edison Elementary School, were out In force for a variety of council candidates in the primary election Tuesday, even if the voters weren't. With a voter turnout of less than 9 percent, the 10-candidate field was narrowed to eight, including all four incumbents and four candidates running their first council campaigns. The eight will face off in a general election in November.

and said he would campaign harder for the general election.

"I'm very pleased with the results, but it tells us that our job between the primary and the general election is cut out for us," he said. Johnson added that he was "proud" of receiving Mayor Charles Pickering's endorsement.

WAGNER, WHO said he was "very happy to be in first place," pledged to wage an aggressive campaign with the other three incumbents! "The citizens are going to see a lot more of the four of us," he said. "We're going to be talking about the issues and we're going to be telling the people the truth. We have not told them any lies.

We're going to send letters to the people and tell them exactly what's going on," Wagner continued. "The legislature is a check-and-balance. The mayor has never acknowledged that. We intend to make sure we are the check-and-balance."

The remaining candidates, Dorothy Smith and Daniel Sabatini, finished out of the top eight spots Tuesday. Smith, vice-president of the Southeast Westland Homeowners' Association, received 1,138 votes to place ninth, some 700 votes ahead of Sabatini, who had 422 ballots.

"I GAVE it a try," said Sabatini, a member of the Norwayne Task Force and president of the Norwayne Residence Association. "I've got a right to complain. I always thought you don't have a right to complain if you don't try."

Asked if he would get involved in the upcoming campaign, Sabatini said he had made "no decision as of yet."

The top three vote-getters in November's general election will fill four-year terms. The candidate who finishes fourth will receive a two-year term.

Voting turnout for the primary was light. A total 3,991 ballots were cast out of the 46,433 registered Westland voters, according to the city clerk's office, or 8.6 percent. Rohraff said there were no reports that recall petitions for state Rep. Justine Barns and state Sen. William Faust, both Westland Democrats; were available at polling places, as had been rumored.

SPEAKING FROM the American Legion Hall on Wayne Road where Johnson and Daniels waited for election returns, Pickering said he was "excited" about the results and said he would "definitely" get involved in the campaign.

"The fact that Rick Grajek came in a strong second says people are looking for a change," Pickering said.

"There are four good candidates, not hand-picked by me, but good people who are interested in the welfare of the community," the mayor said. "They are four individuals, and I'm looking forward to working with them. There are no strings attached - just good government."

Artley, current council president who once mentioned he wouldn't run for re-election, said Tuesday night that "a lot of people talked me into running.

"I didn't really get out to the people (before the primary)," he said. "I'll be doing some banging on doors and finding out their concerns."

City, police stall on county drunk driver patrols

By Mary Kiemic staff writer

Westland's plans to participate in a countywide alcohol enforcement grant that would pay for overtime police patrols have hit a road block, at least temporarily.

The Westland City Council authorized the police department to take part in the grant at its Sept. 6 meeting. But the department hasn't been able to

Arts group celebrates Rowe House renovation

The Wayne-Westland Arts Associa-tion is sponsoring a "Fall Kick-Off" to mark the beginning of the interior renovation of the Rowe House, a former residence in the Greek Revival architectural style.

The open house is from 1-4 p.m. Sunday at the house, 37025 Marquette between Wayne and Newburgh roads. Festivities will include a discussion by Wayne-Westland school personnel of what is being planned, a presentation to the family of the late Diana Brooks, who initiated the project, and a review by the Rowe House committee.

"We are pleased to have this opportunity to celebrate this next step in making the Rowe House a focal point for the arts with our community, schools and city," said Sue Pickering and Catherine Krueger, co-chairwomen of the event.

Plans call for restoring the house to reflect the 1800s and using it as a cultural center for the Wayne-Westland area.

Money for the restoration project is being provided by the city of Westland through its federal community development block grant. Labor for the project is being contributed by the building trades classes at the William D. Ford Vocational Education Center.

Students will receive on-site building experience with this project and class credit.

work out just which police officers will participate in the program, and consequently receive the overtime pay.

Some want to assign the work to officers in the traffic bureau. However, the city's police union says the terms of the contract should be abided by, or a lottery-type system should be used to decide which officers would be assigned to the program, according to Westland Police Chief William Rechlin.

"WE'RE AT an impasse," Rechlin said last week. "We're not sure we're going to get involved in it.

"We say we want to assign the people to work it. But the union balked at that. They're still mulling it over. We're not going to participate in it if we can't assign the people we feel will do the best. job."

"There is specific contract language that all overtime will be equalized throughout the patrol division," said Westland Police Officer Jamie Hayes, president of the Westland Police Officers Association. "We have offered to compromise. We have made some offers, apparently not satisfactory to him (Rechlin). We haven't had any response from him. We have all hopes that it can be resolved.

"I wouldn't want to go into specifics at this point," Hayes said Tuesday.

THE GRANT will distribute $300,000 to $500,000 for personal services of overtime payment around Wayne County, All overtime payment will be reimbursed by the Office of Highway Safety Planning (OHSP).

With the 12-month grant, Westland police officers would work with neighboring communities on a task force. Target areas, determined by high alcohol related accidents, would be patroled by police officers, deputized to give them jurisdictional authority. The location of incidents would determine which court will handle violations.

"One Friday, we may work Ford Road all the way through Garden City and Westland," Rechlin explained.

"The state police have a large computer system that identifies places, days of the week and times that alcohol related accidents occur, so we can pretty well pinpoint and direct where we're going to spend the patrol time," said Garden City Police Chief Charles Wilmoth.

WILMOTH WAS appointed project director by the Wayne County Chiefs of Police Association and spent six months coordinating the project. He anticipated that the program will get underway Oct. 1.

"I think it's one of the best ideas to ever come down the pike in Wayne County," Wilmoth said. "I think it's something we need. People tend to put traffic matters in the background. When there's one homicide, there's a hue and cry from the community. But when a drunk driver kills five people, you don't hear about it as much."

The patrols would occupy 10 hours a week, Wilmoth estimated.

Under the grant, Wayne County will be broken into several districts and approximately 43 police agencies in the county will be involved. Westland, Garden City, Wayne and Inkster would be included in one section in the western district. 💪

THE AMOUNT of money awarded to a district depends on the number of police agencies it has, according to Wilmoth.

"It's still going to happen," Wilmoth said. "If Westland doesn't participate, that means more money for the othercities to do alcohol enforcement."

Wilmoth said he has heard "nothing: but favorable responses" to the program. The Dearborn police department is the only one that has indicated it! won't participate, because of its policy. of not working in other cities, he said.

Property tax relief provided by the state for the 1981 tax year returned more than $7 million to the 17,581 people from Westland who applied for it, according to state Senate Majority Leader William Faust.

The Westland Democrat added that more than 40,000 people in the 12th State Senate District received a total of more than $15.7 million.

"Michigan leads the nation in the amount of property tax relief that the state annually provides its citizens." said Faust. "For the 1981 tax year, the state provided more than $576 million in property tax rebates, and that figure is expected to top $652 million for the 1982 tax year.

"Even though all property tax revenue is collected and used exclusively by local governments - state government receives none of it - the state has provided billions of dollars of property tax relief to taxpayers since 1973 when the 'circuit breaker' program was first implemented."

THE STATE'S property tax relief program has been dubbed the "circuit breaker" because it prevents a property tax overload simillar to the way a circuit breaker prevents an electrical overload. It's official name is the Homestead Property Tax Credit.

Under the program, a property owner with a household income of $65,000 or less receives a 60 percent rebate on any property tax paid which exceeds 3.5 percent of the owner's income. Senior citizens and handicapped persons receive a 100 percent rebate.

The credit is applied for when one files an income tax return. The maximum rebate possible under the program is $1,200.

"It is important to note that this progressive form of property tax relief would be impossible to continue had not the governor and the legislature acted this spring to stabilize the state's financial situation through budget cuts and the temporary income tax increase," Faust said.

Ford raps president in Labor Day reply

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford called for a "coherent industrial policy" and increased aid to education in a rebuttal on NBC-TV following President Reagan's address over the Labor Day weekend.

Chosen by the House and Senate Democratic leadership to give the speech, Ford blasted Reagan's economic policies.

"President Reagan is taking credit for reducing the nation's unemployment rate. What could be more ironic? In effect, he is saying he is reducing the suffering he caused in the first place."

According to the Taylor Democrat whose district includes Westland, there are still 10.5-million Americans who can't find jobs, 1.5 million are "so discouraged they have stopped looking" and 6.8 million who exhausted their unemployment benefits in the last year.

Ford accused Reagan of favoring the rich while cutting back on social programs. He added that the following cuts are posing a threat to the country's future:

• Spending on employment and training for 1982-85 has been cut 60 percent. Job training cut 35 percent.

• Educational program funding has been cut by nearly $4 billion in the last three years, despite studies showing that the U.S. is falling behind in education.

• Child nutrition programs have been dropped by 28 percent.

"America urgently needs a coherent industrial policy, a program of aid to education, encouragement of basic science and applied research, financial ald to essential industries, trade restrictions and tax policies that stimulate innovation and production instead of mergers and plant closings," said Ford.

"Worst of all, Mr. Reagan has ignored the needs of workers hurt by his policies," he said.

"Mr. Reagan's record is one of broken promises for America's working men and women. And his policies pose a threat to their future."

Truck lands in creek, killing Westlander

Services will be Friday for a 19-year-old Westland man who died early Tuesday after his truck swerved and landed in a creek in Canton Township. Robert Wayne Dawson of Surrey Heights, a sales representative for a retail food company, died in Oakwood Hospital Canton Center after his 1983 Ford pickup truck went out of control "for some undetermined reason," said Canton police Lt. Larry Stewart.

Funeral services will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at Memorial Funeral Home, Newburgh Road between Ford and Cherry Hill.

Dawson died of a broken neck, according to the Wayne County medical examiner's office. Drowning was listed as a contributing factor.

The accident occurred on Ford Road west of Canton Center about 3:15 a.m. Tuesday. There were no witnesses to the mishap, Canton's 11th fatality for 1983.

Dawson's vehicle, eastbound on Ford, swerved across the roadway from one shoulder to the other. Stewart said.

THERE WERE no signs of vehicle defect, Stewart said. The speed limit in the area is 55 mph,

The truck hit the bank of a creek that runs north of Ford, Stewart said. Dawson was thrown from the vehicle and into the 18-inch-deep creek. The truck also rolled into the creek.

Dawson is survived by his parents, Dennis and Billie Dawson of Westland; a sister, Tracey; grandbarents Wayne and Emily Dawson and William and Elsie Swartz, both of South Bend, Ind.

New conductor leads area youth symphony

Thursday, September 15, 1983 O&E

"A charismatic conductor with a theatrical flair and daring ideas."

That's how a west coast newspaper described Yakov Kreizberg, the Livonia youth symphony's new conductor and music director.

Recently returned from the Los Angles Philharmonic Institute summer program, he replaces Donald Lewsader who resigned this summer.

Krelzberg, 23, is currently completing his doctoral program at the University of Michigan. He is a younger brother-of Semyon Bychkov, music director of the Grand Rapids Symphony and principal guest conductor of the Buffalo Philharmonic.

The Livonia Youth Symphony Society attracts nearly 300 student-age musicians from 40 communities through the southeast Michigan to three orchestras.

The new music director began his musical studies at age 5 in the Soviet Union. At 15 he was studying privately with Maestro IIya Musin of the Leningrad Conservatory.

He continued his studies in New York graduating with honors and receiving bachelors and masters degrees in orchestra conducting from Mannes College of Music. While at Mannes, Kreizberg founded and conducted the Mannes Chamber Orchestra, and served as assistant conductor of the Mannes Symphony Orchestra.

He received the Eugene Ormandy Schoolarship Award for Outstanding Musicianship and was named a Leonard Bernstein conducting fellow at Tanglewood in Massachusetts, where he worked with Seijl Ozawa and Erich Leindsdorf.

As a fellow in the intensive seven-week Los Angeles Philharmonic Institute, Kreizberg studied with Leonard Bernstein and Herbert Blomstedt among others and conducted a series of performances at the Hollywood Bowl.

Kreizberg is the first person accepted into the doctoral program in orchestra and opera conducting at the University of Michigan, where he pres-

The Livonia Youth Symphony Society launched its 26th season last week holding auditions for new members in the three orchestras.

Working with Kreizberg this season are Harvey Felder of Ypsilanti who returns for his second sea-. son as conductor of the Livonia Youth Concert Orchestra and Janita Hauk of Plymouth who is back for her second season as head of the Livonia Youth String Orchestra.

The orchestras will present their first concert of the new season in late November in Churchill High School.

Auditions for the three orchestra continue 5-9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. For more information about auditions and concert schedules or the society, call 937-2658 or 427-4069.

Ask Jim Rafferty what he likes to do, and been able to do any of that for about a used. month now.

"I wanted to go salmon fishing, but I don't think my reel would let me go that far from here," he said, cracking another joke about his condition.

"Here" is Wayne County General Hospital's cardiac care unit, where Rafferty, 22, estimates he has spent about six months out of the past three years.

It was three years ago that Dr. Richard Sorkin, chief of cardiology at the Westland hospital, discovered that Rafferty had congestive heart failure. The technical name is cardiomyopathy. Dr. Sorkin believes Rafferty's problem started with a viral infection of the heart muscle, which led to healthy tissue being replaced by scar tissue.

Now, Dr. Sorkin said, instead of Rafferty's heart being "small and forceful," it is "large and weak in its ability to contract." So Rafferty suffers from shortness of breath, coughing and fatigue. Even modest activity is impaired.

Rafferty, a Taylor resident who was raised in Dearborn Heights, knows that his plans to go "back to school or something like that will have to wait for awhile." Keeping'Rafferty alive is a pump which pushes a strong cardiac drug called dobutamine. The drug passes through a catheter or tube through the chest wall into his heart.

It increases the force with which the. heart beats and allows Rafferty to walk around, but the pump is only a short-term solution, said Dr. Sorkin.

THE ONLY long-term solution to Rafferty's condition, said Dr. Sorkin, is a heart transplant, a procedure that isn't nearly as difficult as it was years ago. A communication network among physicians and introduction of the drug cyclosporine have made the difference.

The big problem now is finding the mon-ey to pay the $70,000 to $100,000 cost of the procedure.

Take the case of LaSalle Rogers, another done would have been to treat a patient cardiac patient from Wayne County General. Rogers became ill in August 1982. By last February, he was near death, Dr. Sor-

Neither the cardiologist nor the cardiac surgeon charged for their services. Dr. Sorkin said the cost came from the lengthy hospital stay in a cardiac unit, numerous tests, he'll say go fishing. But Rafferty hasn't heart biopsies to detect rejection and drugs

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Jim Rafferty uses a solution of heparin, a blood-thinner, and saline to prevent the catheter leading into his heart from clogging. "I'm not a junky," he quipped.

WHEN A DONOR became available, a heart transplant team from Minneapolis (there are none in Michigan) flew to Illinois, removed the heart from a patient who had been declared brain dead and returned to Minneapolls where Rogers was waiting.

Five years ago the best I could have rejection of the new heart. Dr. Sorkin said heart transplant patients now have survival rates of 70-80 percent for at least a year and a rate of more than 50 percent for five years. Results used to be "crummy," he added.

Rafferty said he's thought about it for a long time and admits he's scared.

"It's hard to comprehend what's happening," he said. "There's so much to think about, it's hard to explain.

"I've just got to keep kicking and hope for the best."

The problem remaining is still the cost. Rafferty lives on the $286 a month he receives from Social Security since he is disabled. He soon expects to receive another $60 a month under the SSI program.

So Bob Updyke, a social worker at the hospital, is reactivating the committee of hospital employees who raised money for Rogers' operation. While a 10-kilometer fund-raising run is being planned for early November, a special fund has been estab-lished for Rafferty.

Donations can be mailed to the James Rafferty Heart Transplant Fund, care of Wayne County General Hospital, 2345 Merriman, Westland 49185.

Rafferty said it's gratifying to know that people he has never even met are trying to help him.

THERE MAY BE A lot of Raffertys and Rogers looking for help in the future. Last year there were more than 100 heart transplants done. Dr. Sorkin said he expects that figure to double from year to year because physicians now have better information networks, better preservation of the heart and increased understanding of handling infection, all of which "warrant a big renewal" of interest in heart transplants.

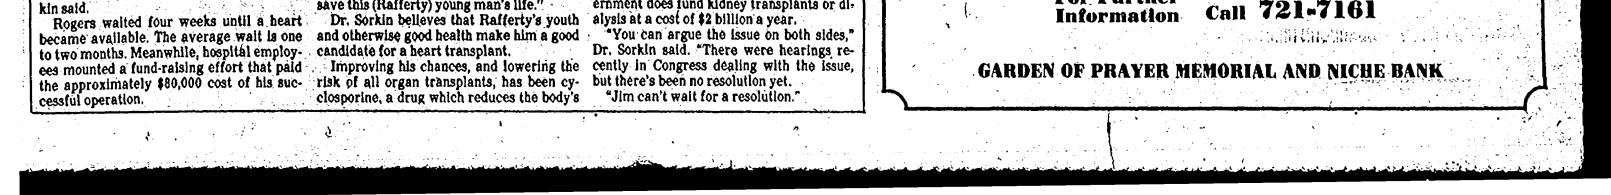

"We're at the frontler of it now," he said. But unless the federal government and third-party insurers change their policies, heart transplants could become reserved for the wealthy.

"The obstacle is the extra cost and the inability or unwillingness of the federal government to fund transplants," said Dr. Sorkin. "So we have to appeal to the community for funds."

No third party payers such as private inwith conventional drugs and preside over surance, Medicare nor Medicaid fund the the eventual demise of the patient," Dr. Sor- operation, which they still consider to be exkin said, "Now we have an opportunity to perimental. Dr. Sorkin said the federal gov-

Legislators on warpath over proposed prison site

By Tim Richard staff writer

Three western Wayne County legislators said they will fight a Blanchard Administration proposal to shift a proposed state prison site in Northville Township one mile eastward — even if the change appears to save the state $25 million.

"From my standpoint it's worse," sald state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, "because it moves the location to the center of the township and nearer a proposed senior citizen housing development — almost across the street."

"We went through the planning process once," said state Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth. "This was public hearinged to death five years ago. For the state to renege on its promise and proposal — it's unbelievably bad public relations."

"What bothers me," added state Rep. Jack Kirksey, R-Livonia, who represented Northville until last year's reapportionment, "is that this plan puts the prison in a more socially sensitive place."

TWO BLANCHARD Administration officials Tuesday said they will ask the Legislature to authorize the change in the site, recommending a $10 million remodeling project at the Plymouth Center for Human Development instead of $35 million in new construction.

Douglas Roberts, acting budget director, and Perry Johnson, director of the state Corrections Department, unveiled the plan to lawmakers an hour before mailing out a news release, Law said.

The plan for, new construction worked out with local officials five years ago by the Milliken Administration — would have been at Five Mile and Beck roads. It would have been the first "regional" state facility, a prototype with maximum, medium and minimum security facilities and would have housed 500 prisoners.

The location was to be between the present Detroit House of Correction and the Phoenix facility, a women's prison. (Kirksey said placing three correctional facilities in close proximity amounted to "informal prison zoning.")

Law said $1 million already had been invested in site work and that $16.6 million has been appropriated for the first two phases of construction.

THE NEW proposal calls for renovating the Plymouth Center for Human Development (PCHD), a mental health facility for the retarded which is scheduled to be closed under federal court order.

Roberts said it would become a 500 to 600 bed medium-security facility. He added remodeling could start in spring. It would take a year less to complete compared to constructing a new facility.

The PCHD site is located at Five Mile and Sheldon roads, across the street and a short distance south of the former Wayne County Child Development Center. County economic development Director Robert FitzPatrick is pushing a senior citizens village for the site. He, too, denounced the plan.

The PCHD site has about 170 acres and four housing units, a recreation building, a maintenance building, food service facility and power plant. Roberts said a new fence would be built, but no new buildings are planned.

"I WANT to see an architect's study showing it's going to be $20 million cheaper to renovate," Law said.

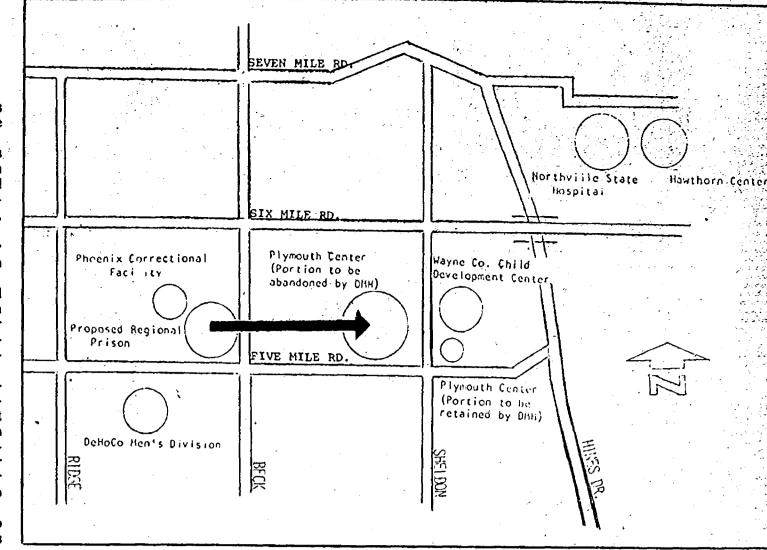

The first-term legislator wondered aloud if the renovation plan was "a stop-gap solution to alleviate a need for space" and if the Corrections Department might not ask for more costly renovations or construction later.

Geake, who dealt with the construction question in the Senate Appropriations Committee, said, "Many of us felt the first regional prison should be in Detroit since that's where most prisoners come from. It would be easier for relatives to visit them, and easier for prisoners to make contacts for job placement.

"Detroit objected, claiming it had no room, which I thought was ridiculous and said so at the time," Geake added.

KIRKSEY SAID, "What bothers me is the state's insistence on saturating that area (Northville Township) with institutions — state police headquarters, Hawthorn Center, Northville State Hospital.

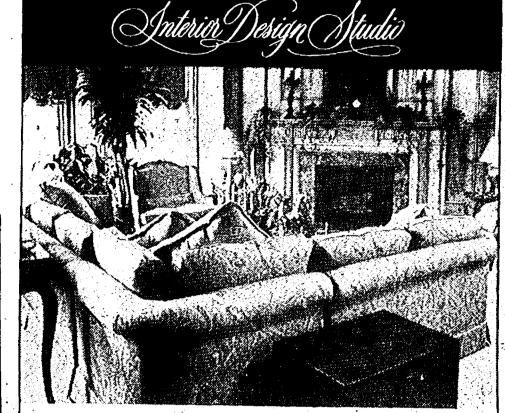

"The state hospital has the largest patient load in Michigan and the highest percentage of acute mentally ill — 80 percent are acute. It has three walkaways a day. People find them in their cars and houses. They've had one terrible murder out there (in Northville Township)"

Who authorized overrun?

Jail costs exceed budget - Dumas

The audit committee of the Wayne County Commission has ordered a full investigation into some $12 million in unauthorized overrun construction charges that threaten the startup of the ---- The investigation has been turned new county jail.

The Andrew C. Baird Detention Center in downtown Detrolt, capable of housing 576 prisioners, is scheduled for completion Oct. 1.

Commissioner Richard E. Manning, D-Redford, said his committee had been requested by the chairman of the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee, Mary E. Dumas, R-Livonia, to determine who authroized the multimillion dollar overrun that exceeds a $37 million limitation contract signed by the county commission in July 1980.

over to Lester Robinson, county auditor general.

ACCORDING TO both Dumas and Manning, the five-year, half-mill tax that expired two years ago, together with interest revenues, generated $53.6 million. It was to be used to build, staff, equip and operate the jail.

has all been spent for construction, and that a $1 million deficit exists, jeopardizing the facility's opening.

In an effort to control construction costs. Wayne County commissioners contracted with the Barton-Malow Co. in July 1980 to "bring in" the structure at $37 million.

At the time, the County Board of Auditors estimated it would save the county $1.7 million by hiring the company as construction managers as opposed to hiring a general contractor.

CONSTRUCTION costs from December 1976 through November 1979 amounted to $3 million and was delayed time after by site problems. court sults and accidents.

To guarantee that the facility would be completed on time and within the estimated revenue generated by the tax and interest, the commissioners, on the recommendation of the board of auditors, signed the contract with Barton-Mealow eight months later.

"It is now learned," Dumas said, "that within nine months of our signing" this contract, $9 million more in construction charges were added to the $37 million cutoff figure without the commission's authority."

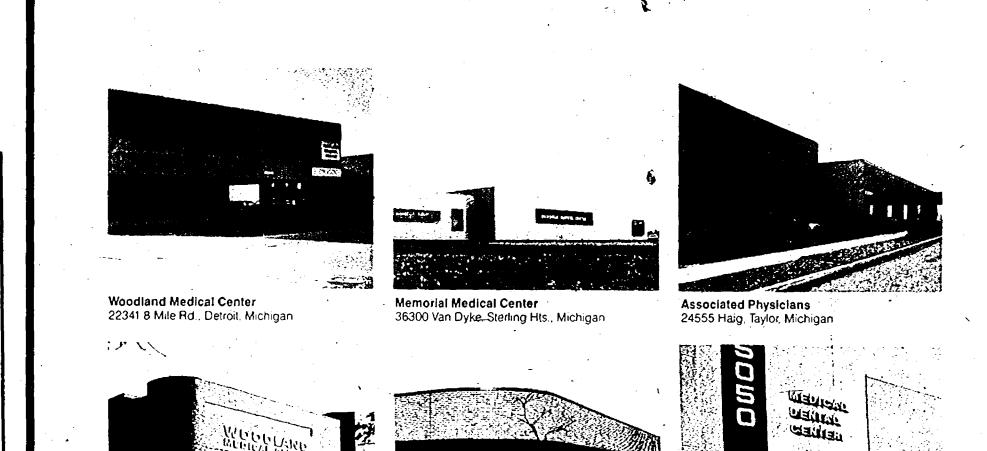

Dumas and Manning said "the probe will determine who approved these overrun expenditures, why they were approved, and what happened to the rest of the money to be used to equip and staff the new jail."

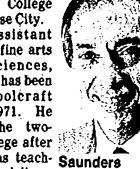

MEANWHILE, RUMORS that the Detroit House of Correction, located near Northville, would be closed upon completion of the new jail were called false by Commissioner Manning.

"There is an injunction preventing Detroit from closing the Detroit House of Correction pending a ruling by the Court of Appeals," Manning said.

According to Pete Wilson, county jail administrator, "if Detroit prevails, the obligation to house convicted misdemeanants would revert to Wayne County. Present jail facilities are designed exclusively for pre-trail and non-sentenced prisoners with Dehoco serving exclusively as the prison."

Independence Health Plan introduces two new medical centers to serve you better.

Now, with nine conveniently located health care centers and twelve affiliated hospitals, the time was never better to switch your insurance coverage to Independence Health Plan.

Independence covers your medical expenses in time of illness and in health, including such benefits as office calls, periodic check ups, inoculations and other precautionary measures at no added expense. In fact, with no deductibles or insurance co-payments, you may never pay a medical bill again.

Each of our health care centers is fully equipped with the most advanced medical equipment and staffed with a broad range of physicians and other specialists. Most of our centers have X-ray, laboratories, pharmacies and other medical services right on the premises. But if more extensive medical care is required, Independence Health Plan is affiliated with the most well known hospitals in the community and will provide complete, in-depth medical coverage not exceeded by any other plan.

Ask your personnel director about Independence Health Plan or call us direct for our free brochure. Remember, if you have to get sick before you can use your current medical insurance, check us out. We've got two new reasons to say ... Bye, Bye Blues.

Throw open a window on those negotiations rears ago a bright, shiny red apple was the token offered to favorably impress teachers. Now, instead of being passive instruments in-the system of education, teachers take an active role in determining not only their own future, but also that of our youth as well.

While teachers go to school to learn better ways to practice their profession, union leaders lobby with legislators for legislation protecting ground rules for future negotiations.

Also taking a more active role in the education of children are some of their parents who are no longer content to allow administrators or board members unquestioned sway over what goes on in the classroom. Parents join PTA groups, take a critical look at issues and aren't afraid to speak up about problems.

BOTH WAYNE-WESTLAND teachers and board members are determined to begin immediately negotiations on a new contract. Teachers don't want to wait until the start of school in 1984 to reach a new agreement. Bill Reese, president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, correctly calls that past practice "absurd."

On the other hand, parents, board members and administrators have been fidgeting all summer.

They wonder whether the teachers' union will be willing to give up a 6 percent cost of living allowance due to be paid in July or face the layoff of more than 100 teachers. Both sides know that a lavoff will cause severe cuts in programs, but the board insists there is no money available.

Teachers are taking an equally hard line, saying they reject that view. Besides, Reese adds, the subject of wages ought to come up at the bargaining table. He's warned the membership to standy ready for the "toughest times we've faced in many a year."

WE AGREE that it's absurd to wait until September to reach agreement on a new pact. Livonia came to a new three-year agreement last June.

That pact is remarkable in that teachers remained sensitive to the economic condition of the community and accepted a one-year wage freeze. Future increases range from 4 to 7 percent, depending on the state equalized valuation. In turn, the board actually kept teachers on the payroll rather than lay them off.

Besides starting early, negotiations in the Wayne-Westland district ought to take on a new aura of openness. Negotiations traditionally are conducted behind closed doors, and negotiators claim there would be too much manipulation of the public to have open sessions.

That's nonsense. If negotiators are the experienced professionals that Reese suggests they are, then a new, realistic process can reap more rewards than old-fashioned political rhetoric.

The board isn't the only group that needs to be kept informed about negotiations. Had the board and the community been kept well informed in the past, the district may have averted the disastrous recall that removed four board members from office last year.

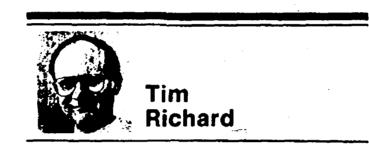

The free, open exchange of needs and wishes isn't apple polishing. It can only improve the education of our children. After all, isn't that what this is all about?

'Cockeyed archer' hits bankers where it hurts

IN POLITICS there's a technique known as the "cockeyed archer." The activist appears to be aiming at one target while actually shooting at another. Jeanne Paluzzi, Livonia businesswoman, demonstrated the technique marvelously when testifying to a state Senate committee in favor of Gov. James J. Blanchard's proposal for a "Michigan Strategic Fund" to aid fledgling firms. Actually, Paluzzi, speaking for the Michigan chapter of the National Association of Women Business Owners, was shooting at the banking industry. She drew blood.

HER TESTIMONY contained five war stories, all gleaned from the women business operators' network:

that all the good loans are being made, and anything they turn down can't be very good.

It reminded me of the 19th century Oriental potentate who was visited by an American trading ship. The Oriental potentate told them to go away, saying, "We already have every product useful to mankind, and anything you have can't be very use-

• "We can't include your inventory in figuring out the loan package. Cosmetics are perishables," a banker told one applicant.

• "I got a loan for a 'vacation.' The bank wouldn't loan anything for purchasing the house for investment.'

• "The commercial loan officer just put my expensively and CPA-prepared package in a drawer and said he wouldn't look at it until I brought in my husband. He didn't even ask if I were married."

 "My accountant was asked all the questions, as if I weren't there. My accountant would turn to me, ask the question, and I would answer looking at the bank manager. The 'interpretation' services continued until I terminated the interview - and the entire relationship.'

• "Continuous remarks that were either snide or sexually provocative made me pull my personal and business accounts. My husband pulled his, too."

THERE WERE spokesmen for the Michigan Association of Bankers and a couple of the big bank holding companies at the hearing. I waited for them to react.

Nothing. Not a word. Their competence to manage our money had been publicly challenged, and they didn't have a word of response.

The gist of the banking industry's testimony was ful.'

The bankers' attitude is kind of a financial version of the doctrine of papal infallibility, and a faithful believer will stay in her place.

WHAT CAUSES such an attitude? Let me tell you the story of the time I sought a response from a major bank to one of the attorney general's fulminations against branch banking. Referred to the appropriate vice president, I set up an interview and drove out to Bloomfield Hills to talk to him.

Asked the question, the VP stared blankly and intoned, "We will give the matter full consideration.'

What did that mean? "We will study all the options," he said with another blank stare.

What are the options? What are the major three or four options? Who are "we"? How long will it take? Is a court case possible?

The bank VP stared and intoned again, "We will give the matter full consideration."

--- And then it dawned on me: These chaps are neither genservative, sexist nor archaic in their views. They are just plain stupid. They don't respond simply because they don't know what to say.

Faced with challenges and opportunities, they stare dully ahead and wait for the husband to come in.

Why Tigers passed up Babe Ruth

NOW THAT the Tigers' baseball pennant hopes just about have been buried for at least another season, you'll soon be hearing the hue and cry of the fans that front office management is to blame. They'll shout to high heaven that the owner and his lieutenants should bring in the talent that could do the job of putting Detroit in the World Series tagain.

This is not a new cry. It has been going on for years. In fact, it is now 15 years since they were in what often has been called the Fall Classic.

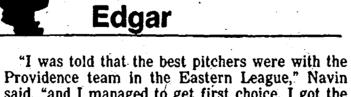

But in the midst of this shouting criticism, it may come as a surprise to learn that the Tigers once passed up Babe Ruth, the immortal home run king.

This shunning of the big, jovial fellow who was to become a legend in the national pastime was one of the favorite stories told by the late Frank Navin, who then was owner of the club. It happened before Ruth was signed by the New York Yankees - in fact, before Ruth became known as a slugger and outfielder. 1. i 1

"I picked Rube Oldham, a veteran with what appeared to be a few good years still ahead of him. And who do you think I shunned? Babe Ruth."

No doubt The Stroller was surprised, and Navin noticed it.

"DON'T FORGET Ruth was a rookie pitcher in those days, and we had enough young hurlers. It was the veteran I wanted."

The Tiger boss then explained it was a good break for Ruth, too. For Tiger manager Hughie Jennings may not have switched him to the outfield.

"And if that happened, there would be no legend today," Navin said.

"Boston finally took him and made an outfielder out of him, and baseball was the winner. The Babe became just what the doctor ordered after the White Sox scandal of 1919, And Oldham did the Tigers a lot of good, too."

ON ANOTHER occasion, Navin came within a phone call of landing Ruth in later years.

At that time, Ruth was at the end of his playing career, but was still an idol of the fans. The Tigers needed a manager and offered the job to The Babe.

Bad judge proves to be an exception

THE CONVICTIONS of District Judge Evan Callanan of Westland and his attorney son for fixing court cases and defrauding by mail was one of those cases which helps reinforce the suspicion in some people's minds that the legal system is rife with charlatans, schemers, profiteers and crooks.

I think that the case, because it is such an exception, demonstrates how well off the system of justice is in our particular corner of the globe.

Except for a few memorable failures - a federal bankruptcy judge who awarded excessive fees to a lawyer friend, another District Judge in Madison Heights and former high court judge (and former governor) John Swainson — it is difficult to recall an instance of proven impropriety or profiteering involving a state judge.

Ever since the state eliminated justices of the peace and converted the lower courts into district courts under the aegis of the state, our district courts have served the public exceedingly well.

AND CIRCUIT courts in Oakland and Wayne County have operated well under the strain of an ever-increasing workload prompted by an explosion of lawyers, lawsuits and record judgments. While critics may contend that there have been JUDGES now make in the neighborhood of $60,000, which is a reasonable sum but not in the same stratum of many attorneys.

It was suggested to me after Callanan's conviction that he was not guilty of some of the things he was convicted of - including giving a light sentences in return for bribes - but may have been guilty of taking advantage of his judgeship to pick up some sorely needed pocket money. His $60,000 salary was indadequate to maintain a judge in proper style, a man about town alleged to me.

"A judge has to have a certain standard of living, he has to spend the kind of money that is expected." the man explained.

His theory has it that Callanan meted out the same sentences he would have had he not received any money but took the cash under the presumption that the defendants didn't really need it.

IN THE END, it is the public which is most responsible for seeing to it that only the most quali-fied candidates seek and are elected to judicial office. The public's interest may well determine whether marginal candidates need apply.

Too often, voters shows little concern about judicial candidates and tend to vote for the "name" can lidate - often a name that is familiar sounding, even if the candidate's credentials and reputation

Michael Eisbrenner of Livonia shows his wife, Kay, and his daughter Katle a bumper sticker that will be sold for funds to aid victims of child abuse.

By Sherry Kahan staff writer

New steps to help abused children are being taken by Michael and Kay Eisbrenner of Livonia, founders of the Rosalyn Bryant Memorial Fund.

In one, the victims of abuse will receive emergency food and medical help. In the other, an effort will be made to start an advocate group to ald these youngsters. It will take place during a meeting at 8 p.m. Wednesday, in Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 30650 Five Mile, Livonia. The Eisbrenners hope members of the public will attend.

Eisbrenner recently met with Ralph C. Patterson, director of the children and youth services office of the Michigan Department of Social Services in Wayne County.

The result of that encounter was the setting up of a prescription account of $100 from the Bryant fund, which totals $9,000 in an account in First Federal of Michigan in Livonia.

An emergency food fund has also been established with the same amount of money.

EISBRENNER explained that battered children brought to the DSS are sometimes in need of an immediate prescription for medicine. Going through channels to pay for it may waste valuable time.

Similarly many of them also require emergency food, which they will now be able to have quickly thanks to the fund.

"They get in children who are starying," said Eisbrenner, who determined to set up a fund of this kind when he read of the death by abuse of 4-year-old Rosalyn Bryant. He hopes soon to establish funds for emergency clothing, as well as for beds and blankets for temporary sleeping arrangments. Toys also will soon be provided.

"We're pleased that someone in the community is interested in helping us supplement services to these youngsters," said Patterson. "It is a very worthwhile project. All these children are emotionally damaged. They have lots of needs. Some of them have only the clothing on their backs.

"We have a mechanism to get what they need, but it takes time. With this fund we can go immediately for medicine or food.

At Wednesday's meeting, Kay Eisbrenner hopes to establish an organization called Mad About Child Abuse (MACA), to serve as an advocate for battered youngsters.

"It can help in fund raising and attempting to improve laws dealing with the court system as it affects child abuse," she said. "While there are a number of organizations trying to prevent child abuse, there is no one to deal with the children already abused."

THE TWO EISBRENNERS are trying to add to the Rosalyn Bryant, fund by selling bumper stickers reading "Child abuse . . . No excuse." Be cause they recently won the support . of Livonia's Mayor Edward H. McNamara, these stickers will be sold through the LOVE office on the fourth floor of City Hall.

Also on sale is a small $2 cookbook. titled "Company's Coming," which includes recipes for canapes and hors d'oeuvres. Printed on four-by-five cards fastened together, the book was prepared by Emma Emsley of Redford, an employee of the American Automobile Association (AAA).

"Every year she has a charity. drive," said Eisbrenner. "This year she picked the Rosalyn Bryant Memorial Fund. Triple A had the cookbook printed at cost."

A Christmas card is also being considered.

WENTY YEARS of waitressing at the Nugget restaurant in Livonia have meant 20 years of walking about six miles a day to Lucille Gregg, a Redford resident. (One of the waitresses used a pedometer to prove this.)

Her employers and fellow workers were so impressed with this feat of stamina and longevity that they recent-ly sent a limousine to her Redford home to pick her up and take her out to dinner with them.

"They gave me a card with $200 in it," she said. "It was from the owners, co-workers and some of the customers."

That phrase, "some of the customers," tells a lot about why Gregg has remained at the Nugget so long.

"The people who come in are so nice," she said with a smile at the recollection. "I've had the same customers for years. Some came in with babies, and now the babies are coming in. I've made nice friends."

Only very rarely has she been troubled by fresh customers.

"If a customer said something the waitresses didn't like, we'd say some-

Waitressing is also the occupation of Gregg's daughter, Diane McGowan, a Garden City resident, who works as a waitress at Silverman's in Livonia, "She started here at 15," said her mother with pride, "I broke her in." Gregg is married to Gene Gregg, who has been in a nursing home for seven years. She has lived for 38 years in a Redford home, which she now shares with her mother, Edna Heiman, and her son Duane. Their son David also lives in Redford and son Dennis makes his home in Goodrich, Mich.

These two youngsters stopped at the face-painting booth and had a makeover - for better or worse.

It was hard to resist these two convassers who made the rounds helping to boost the amount to be raised to aid in the search for a cure to muscular dystrophy.

Richard Asztolas (right) interviews Eric Smith of Livonia during the benefit cutathon. Eric has muscular dystrophy. His dad is in the background.

$9,000 makes MD cutathon a shear delight

The sixth benefit cutathon for muscular dystrophy was a shear delight for sponsor Richard and Sally Asztalos, owners of Charisma Hair Salon of Livonia.

With the help of 10 other salons and a corps of friends, the Livonia couple were able to raise $9,000 to help put the Detroit area over the top in the Labor Day nationwide telethon hosted by comedian Jerry Lewis.

While Asztalos will take credit for initiating the local project, he is quick to point out that the event, held on the parking lot of the shopping center at Newburgh and Five Mile, is a community effort.

"There are a lot of people who pitch in to make this a success," said Asztalos. "Many work behind the scenes and work very hard."

OVER THE YEARS, the event has grown larger as more people join the effort, he said. Hair cutting is now just a part of the overall fun that takes place. This year, for instance, there were bands, clowns, jugglers, a magician and dancers. A dunk tank also provided a lot of laughs. An auction and boxing matches by the Livonia Boxing Club were new additions.

Another highlight is the food. It ran the gamut, Asztalos said, with Italian specialities from Fonte D'Amore and specialities from Raphael's in the Sheraton Oaks, plus traditional favorites from McDonald's and Hardees. Salons who participated were Hairporium, Guys and Dolls, Joseph's, Charisma-Ann Arbor, Hair Conspiracy, Douglas Hair Designs, Bartolos, Main Street Barbers, J. C. Penney's Noví and Emile Salon.

The idea for the benefit came from his wife Sally, Asztolas said. At the time, he was traveling the country from time to time helping with benefits being sponsored by Redken hair products.

"MY WIFE SAID to me one day,

'You're doing these all over the country, why not here?" he recalled.

He chose muscular dystrophy, he said, because he was "so impressed with the courage these people show." Several people stick out in his mind. One was 19-year-old Tim Tomasik of Livonia who died of the disease about three years ago.

"But right up to the end, he was optimistic. He talked of the future about going on to college, getting a car and an apartment. They're all like that." Asztolas said.

way I can pay them back for the lesson courage I've learned

-Richard Asztalos benefit organizer

"I feel this is one way I can pay them back for the lesson in courage I've learned from them," he said.

Looking ahead, Asztolas said he's already been approached to move the benefit to perhaps the Sheraton Oaks in Novi area . But he doesn't think he will. "It started here in Livonia and I feel it should stay here." But the Holidome at Six Mile and Newburgh is a possibility, he said with a smile.

2nd Jeanette Rankin Day set for Sept. 22

More than 700 women holding appointed positions in western Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties will be special guests at the second Jeannette Rankin Day celebration Thursday, Sept. 22, at the Livonia Holidome.

Co-sponsors of the event are the Michigan Women's Politcal Caucus, second district; the Livonia League of Women Voters; and the Livonia chapter of the American Assocation of University Women.

Held for the first time last year, the event serves two purposes. One is to honor Jeannette Rankin, the first U.S. congresswoman to be elected - even before women won the right to vote. The second is to recognize the voluntary efforts of women today in public life. Certificates of recognition will be awarded. Theme of the meeting is "Women Do Make a Difference."

Guest speakers will be Michigan Supreme Court Justice Patricia Boyle and Patricia Widmayer, director of policy, office of the governor.

Tickets are $7 and will available at the door. To make a reservation, call 352-2318 before 5 p.m. The Holidome is located on Six Mile Road at I-275.

He has been called "the man who started America running" and the "father of aerobics." He believes feryently that exercise can delay the effects of poor health habits and in 12 years has treated more than 30,000 patients at his Dallas clinic.

1 He is Dr. Kenneth Cooper, who will be the featured speaker at an American Heart Association of Michigan program "Getting the Most Out of an Exercise Program," on Saturday, Sept. 24, at the Hyatt Regency, Dearborn.

"We're in the midst of a wellness craze in this country," says Cooper, "and to some extent that's being propagated by industry. Physical fitness is good business.'

Plenty of people believe Cooper is right. His program is used by the U.S. Air Force, U.S. Navy, more than 500 schools and many professional athletic teams.

He is internationally known, too. In Brazil, for instance, running is called "doing one's Cooper." He's even working with the Japanese to develop a 750acre aerobics center outside Tokyo.

Although you'd never believe it to look at him (at 52, he's slim, trim and very relaxed), Cooper has had his own weight problem and was in poor physical condition. It was after a bad incident while trying to water ski that he became interested in the relationship between exercise and heart disease.

He obtained a master's degree in public health from Harvard and did research on oxygen consumption during exercise. It was this that led to his development of aerobics in 1968.

At the Sept. 24 program, Cooper will discuss what kind of exercise program is best for you, how various types of exercises can be compared, and how much exercise is necessary.

Also included in the program will be discussion of weight control, what kind and how to exercise, exhibits, stretching exercises, lunch and time for Cooper to autograph books and answer questions.

Cost of the program is $12 in advance or $15 at the door, including lunch and the free booklet, "Are You Ready to Exercise.'

More information is available from the American Heart Association of Michigan, 16310 W. 12 Mile Road, P.O. Box 160, Lathrup Village 48076. The phone number is 557-9500.

• ASTHMA PROGRAM

If you're asthmatic and you're concerned with the programs that face you at school, plan to attend the next meeting of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan's (ALASEM) family asthma program.

Dr. James Bommarito will present "Back to School with Asthma" at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 15, in doctors' dining rooms C and D of Oakwood Hospital, 18101 Oakwood Boulevard, Dearborn.

Bommarito will speak to asthmatics and their families about overcoming problems and pressures that the asthmatic child faces when dealing with school personnel and environment, peer groups and parents' attitudes toward school. The goal of this presentation will be to increase understanding of others' perspectives and to get "back to school" relationships off to a good start.

Family asthma program is a free community service and meets at Oakwood the third Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. Call the lung association at 961-16197 for more information.

BREAST CANCER

A support group for women with breast cancer is forming at the University of Michigan Hospitals.

Beginning Sept. 14, women can meet and discuss common concerns with other breast cancer patients. The group will meet on Wednesdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon at the U-M Hospitals outpatient oncology clinic. Issues will focus on the adjustment to, understanding of and coping with breast cancer.

"Having breast cancer can be a very

Gardening's last hurrah is about to be sounded

The days are getting shorter and summer's winding down toward fall, but there's no lack of lawn and garden tasks. Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest the following activities are timely in September: • Order spring-flowering bulbs to plant outdoors in late fall or to force indoors in midwinter. Begin preparing beds now.

• Plant spring- and summer-flowering perennials, including iris, peonies, daylilles and phlox.

• When strawflower blossoms are about half-open, harvest them to dry for arranging this winter. To dry flowers, hang them upside-down in a dry, well ventilated area out of direct sun.

• After frost has killed the tops, dig tuberous begonias, gladioli, dahlias and cannas and remove the foliage, leaving a short stub. Let the corms and tubers dry for several days and then store them in dry sand or peat moss in a cool, dry storage place. Check them occasionally through the winter and discard any showing signs of mold or decay.

• Save fuschia, coleus, geranium, impatiens and fibrous-rooted begonia plants from frost and enjoy them all winter. Before frost, dig plants out of the garden, cut the tops back by half and pot in a well drained potting mix. Check and treat for insect problems and diseases before taking plants in018.

• House plants that spent the summer outdoors should be coming inside when night temperatures start dipping into the 50-degree range. Inspect plants for insect and disease problems and treat or discard them as needed. If you bring insects indoors, the warm temperatures and lack of natural enemies could set off a pest population explosion.

• Summer annuals will continue to bloom until they're killed by frost if you keep watering them and picking off faded flowers and seedheads.

• Induce poinsettias to flower by giving them total darkness from 5 p.m. to 8 a.m. daily from about Sept. 20 to Dec. 1.

• Dig chives, parsley and other garden herbs and plant them in containers for a winter windowsill herb garden. Harvest remaining herbs and dry them where they won't be exposed to heat or direct sunlight.

• Seal leftover flower and vegetable seeds in tightly covered jars and store them in the refrigerator or in a cool, dark storage area.

• Save tomatoes, summer squash, peppers, eggplant and other tender crops from the first killing frost to extend the summer harvest. When frost threatens, cover plants with blankets, newspapers, plastic or some other material that will trap heat given off by the soil. The cole crops - including broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage and Brussels sprouts - carrots, parsnips, lettuce and spinach will tolerate some frost.

• Continue to weed and water the garden and protect it from late season insect problems. Every weed that you prevent from going to seed now means a few less weed seedlings to deal with next year. Insects that move in now may over winter in the garden or nearby areas and be ready to attack plants as soon as they appear in the spring.

• Harvest winter squash and pumpkins before frost and after the fruits have matured and formed a hard rind. Exposure to low temperatures will damage their skins and shorten their life in storage.

• Remove the raspberry canes that frulted this year, and thin weak or broken canes and prune out diseased ones.

• Clean up fallen fruits, leaves and twigs around fruit trees and flowering crabapples. This will reduce the carryover of this year's insect and disease problems.

• Continue to spray roses to protect them against insects and diseases.

• Prune dead, diseased or damaged limbs from trees.

• Plant trees and shrubs and ground covers. Before planting, be sure to remove wire and plastic cord from trunks and stems and remove plastic burlap and other nonblodegradable materials from the soil balls. After planting, water thoroughly and mulch. If necessary, guy tall trees to keep them from being uprooted or damaged by the wind.

• If the weather is dry, water trees and shrubs weekly, especially newly planted ones. Do not fertilize woody ornamentals now. This could promote a flush of new growth that would probably be killed or injured by cold weather. You can fertilize after plants are fully dormant but before the soil freezes. Nutrients applied then will be available to plants as soon as they begin to grow again in the spring.

Ward's Bible class is offered

Bible classes taught by Margaret Hess begin this week at Ward Presbyterian Church, Six Mile and Farmington roads in Livonia.

This will be her 25th year of teaching the Community Bible Class at Ward, but the new season marks her 40th year of teaching Bible classes.

The wife of Ward pastor, Dr. Bartlett Hess, she is also the author of several books and is a world traveler, including visits this year to China, the Far East, France and Alaska. She has also visited the Holy Land seven times.

As a wife, mother of four and grandmother of eight, she applies the scriptures to the home and family in the class that meets from 9:30-11 a.m. Tuesday mornings. She also teaches the same class at Christ Church, Cranbrook, in Bloomfield Hills on Thursday mornings.

THE WARD CLASS is made up of men and women from 23 denominations, including Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Roman Catholic, Greek Orthodox, Pentecostal and independent Bible churches.

Twenty-five small groups in various rooms of the church discuss study questions from 9:30-9:55 a.m. They then gather in the sanctuary of the church for the lesson by Hess from 10-11 a.m. Nancy Adrean of West Bloomfield serves as coordinator.

The course of study, written by Hess, goes through the entire Bible in eight years. This year's study is Old Testament kings and prophets. New mem---bers are invited to start at any point. Study material is available before or after the class for $1.

Freedom is helping others to be free

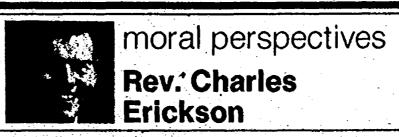

The fifth worst air tragedy in history in the destruction of a Korean airliner invites extended reflection. Sorrow over the lost of lives creates fear in renewed awareness that innocence doesn't give safety.

People have always been vulnerable to uncivilized behavior. Advanced technology exposes more of us to betterequipped beastiality. Of course we are afraid.

We are horrified that 269 people can become simply a target. Soviets are explained as going by the book - protection, defense and security becoming an excuse for destroying any intruder. The inhumanity of a government focused on violent power is exposed.

Fear and horror come from something much more profound than capitalism in conflict with communism. Economic systems are merely economic systems.

BOTH HAVE been distorted for the gains of a few, and both have failed to meet the needs of masses of citizens. Either system can be a tool of military power. We have seen capitalism at its humane, between dictatorship and freedom, between totalitarianism and democracy. The enemy of humanity is heirarchical or pyramid structures.

Organizations are typically structured with power spreading down from a narrow tip in widening lines of authority. A pyramid of decreasing power means decreasing responsibility.

It is an efficient system saving time. by unthinking obedience. It is an essential structure when the enemy is viewed as another pyramid. When violent power settles things we need to build strength.

It is easy to assume this is the way things have to be in government, daily work and even in family life. Child abuse is one symptom of the disease have offered an alternative. Justice makes democracy more into an image of a circle than a pyramid. Top values are personal responsibility and freedom instead of violence and efficiency. Power is in beauty rather than precislon. Truth displaces party line propaganda. Dignity displaces obedience.

The best known literature describing the circle is Psalm 8. Humans are proclaimed partners and co-creators who like God are crowned with glory and honòr.

We share God-like universal and eternal views to work for peace overcoming strife, beauty overcoming ugil-Dess.

The Psalm says we are like God in having dominion, so defining dominion give of shared power. Violence can be tifies exploiting people and all creation for our own gain.

NEW AWARENESS of the fragilé character of the environment and delicate balances in nature force us to new visions of dominion. Ecological thinking reveals interdependence everywhere.

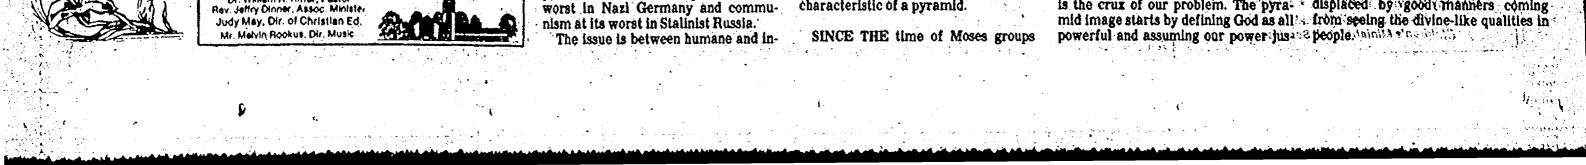

Dominion means special human responsibility for the good of everything. The pyramid collapses into a circle where each human bears responsibility for personal decisions.

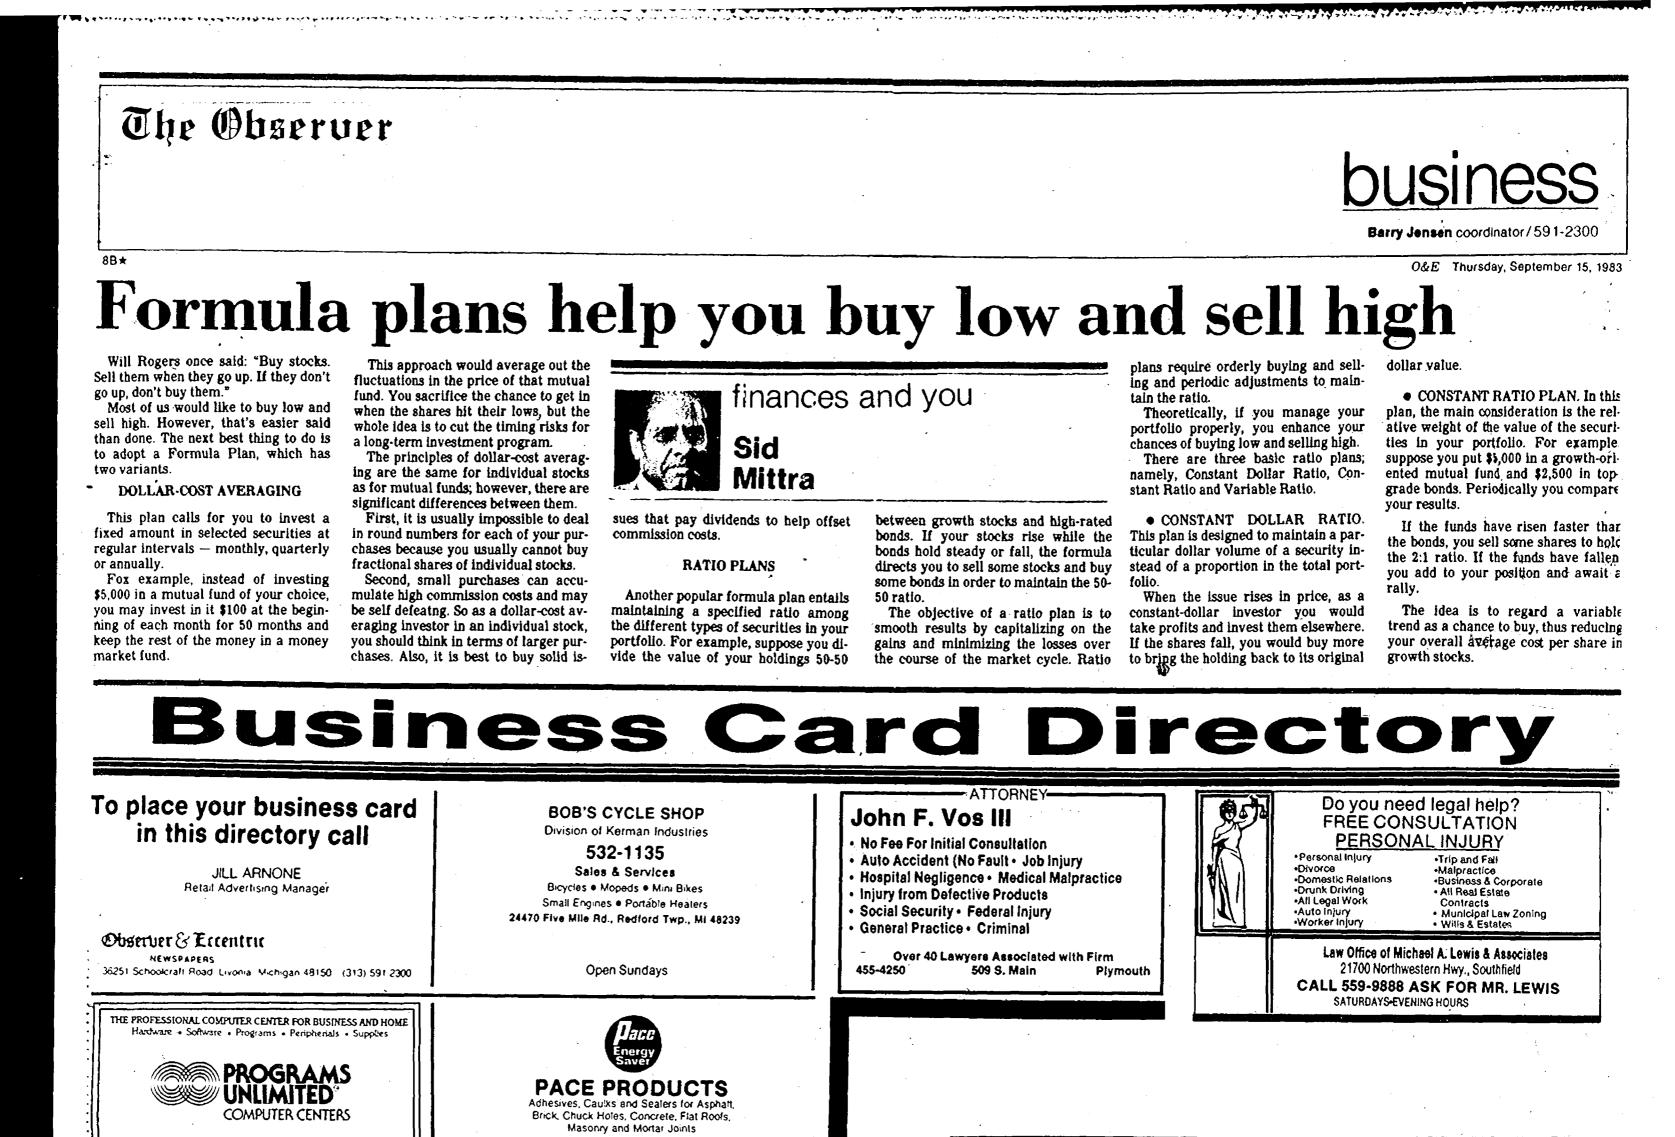

Our challenge is to stop being bossy and stop bossiness in others by no longer deferring as if another is responsible for my actions. The power of persuasion is the only finally humane power.

We have dignity when we give dignity. We are noble when we assume others are noble. We are free only when we help others to be free. We have power when we respect others by sharing Dower.

Fear and horror are motives to develop stronger pyramids. Glory and honor inspire us to seek power in a cir-

Look to Huron for coho

By Lem Mesee outdoors writer

Most improved coho salmon fishing spot this year is Lake Huron along the Thumb, which is good news for fuel-conscious southeastern Michigan anglers.

The first mature schools of the large chinook salmon are returning to Port Sanilac and Port Austin for fall spawning runs, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

And there's good news for the future. This year's planting of 200,000 steelhead and brown trout, more than a million lake trout and 100,000 coho salmon will mean excellent fishing action in two or three years.

Generally, 1983 could rank as one of the two best Great Lakes salmon fishing seasons during the next two months as two million coho and chinook salmon school for spawning runs up 44 rivers, bays and lakes, says the Auto club. Nearly 300,000 anglers will be out in boats, on piers, along shorelines or in streams in this, the 16th season of salmon fishing.

Jerry L. Lee of Livonia won $150 in the Reel People Salmon Derby with a salmon just an ounce under 29 pounds. Top fish of the week was a 32pounder, according to the Ludington Chamber of Commerce.

Salmon fishing started as a fall activity but has become a spring-to-fall sport as anglers take to large boats and deep-water trolling methods during spring and summer.

Salmon are born in streams, migrate to the Great Lakes to grow to maturity, return to the stream to spawn once, age almost overnight, and then die. They're better tasting and take bait more readily in the open water,² but they are more accessible to shore fishermen and those with small boats when they're on the spawning run.

Chinooks spend three to six years in the lakes, growing to 35 pounds. Coho stay in the lakes 1/4 years and can grow to 15 pounds.

Over Lake Michigan way, a better-than-normal salmon run is expected on the St. Joseph River up to Berrien Springs and on the Grand River up to Grand Rapids.

Among the more popular lures are Northport Nailers, Huron Herrings, J-Plugs, Canadian plugs, Squids, Sparkle Flies, dodgers, Flutter Churcks and Zippers.

Warning: Although contaminants in the Great Lakes are declining, the state Public Health Department continues to advise eating no more than one-half pound of Lakes Huron and Michigan salmon per week. Children and women who are pregnant or nursing should not eat those salmon at all.

FAIR TO GCOD fishing is being reported on inland waters of Oakland County after the heat of summer drove fish into deep water. The Detroit River and Lake Erie are producing little at the moment.

On Union Lake, try using a lantern at night off the side of the boat and balting with corn to lure trout. Some anglers are taking limit catches of trout from Maceday Lake in the northwest part of the county.

INTRODUCING

THE UNBEATABLE 6-MONTH Rising Rate Certificate

Good bass fishing is reported at Sylvan, Lakeville and Big Seven lakes.

Kent Lake is producing good crapple supplies. The small lakes in Bald Mountain Recreation Area are yielding panfish to anglers using grasshoppers. Nighttime anglers on Pontiac Lake are using crawlers to take good catches of catfish.

"EDIBLE WILD Plants, Plus" is a short workshop being offered four Wednesdays, starting Sept. 21, from 7-9 p.m. at Schoolcraft College.

Instructor Ellen Weatherbee said, "We'll probe nearby fields, disturbed areas, stream banks, swamp borders and mature woods for interesting and useful plants, including many delicious wild edibles, polsonous and medicinal plants. We'll undoubtedly add something to your hiking lunch after the field trip — and to your life."

Get registration information from the college's community services office at 591-6400 ext. 409.

SOME 20,000 waterfowl enthusiasts are expected at this weekend's 36th annual Michigan Duck Hunters Tournament and North American Wildfowl Carving Championship. It's at the Pointe Mouillee State Game Area at the mouth of the Huron River on Lake Erie.

Hunting skills will be demonstrated at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, according to Larry Malski (388-6382), secretary of the Wayne Waterfowl Chapter of the Michigan Duck Hunters Association. Dog trials are scheduled for Sunday.

To the victors go the spoils

T'S ALWAYS the same. A scene forever described but never really changing; only the characters are different.

Their looks aren't. Disappointed, angry, shellshocked faces in a locker room as quiet as a library. The only discernable conversation comes from players quietly asking a trainer for a towel as they emerge from steamy showers. The losers.

ACROSS THE TUNNEL a different scene unfolds. The coach explains his game plan, his views on several players' performances, the key part of the contest to a flock of reporters crammed into a small, stuffily hot equipment room transformed into an interview area.

While the coach describes his images of the just completed gridiron battle, a TV crew hustles the star quarterback into a corner for a quick word on his performance, key parts of the game, etc., etc.

The quarterback grins broadly while recounting the plays, both the ones that worked and the ones that failed.

The winners.

GARY HUMPHREY had finished his shower and redressed in sportcoat and tie. Sweat still dripped from his face as he stood in the uncomfortably muggy locker room.

He didn't look happy. The losers never are. The team he coached, Colorado, just lost to Michigan State, 23-17, in temperatures ranging in the upper 80s.

"It was a fough game," the former Garden City football coach said after stepping out of Colorado's quarters into the breezy tunnel. "I thought we looked pretty good."

They did \rightarrow for awhile. A 35-yard field goal in the third quarter put the Buffaloes ahead of the home team, 10-6. It was a lead they couldn't hold through the fourth quarter.

Panthers lose, but scare Rocks

Is there such thing as a moral victory?

Maybe not, but Redford Union girls' basketball coach Terri Anthony was encouraged by her team's play despite a 42-36 loss to perennial area power Plymouth Salem Tuesday night.

"This was very encouraging," Anthony said. "This was a 100 percent improvment over the Bentley game."

RU trailed by nine points at the half (28-17), but refused to give up as unbeaten Rocks were forced to play keepaway in the final four minutes.

Pam McBride led the winners with 12 points and Dawn Johnson added nine.

RU center Julie Marchand scored 11 points and grabbed 16 rebounds. Teammato Brenda Peer added 10 points.

"We played much better defense," said the RU coach, whose team is now 0-2. "We never quit and stayed with them right to the end."

WSLD. JOHN GLENN 42 ANN ARBOR HURON 34

Despite an off-night at the foul line, the Rockets won their third straight game without a loss Tuesday at home. The win broke a two-game losing streak against the River Rats.

"Our foul shooting was really bad," said Glenn coach George Sommerman. "We made 14 of 37."

But Sommerman was pleased with his defense as Michele McCullen, Julie Pucci, Sophie Castonguay and Cheryl Dozler combined for 33 steals. McCullen had 14 alone.

Castonguay led the winners in scoring with 11 points. Pucci and McCullen tailled nine each, while Cheryl Dozler chipped in with eight points and 13 rebounds.

INKSTER 39 GARDEN CITY 31

The Cougars dropped their second straight game Tuesday at home as visiting Inkster won the second and fourth quarters by decisive margins.

"We tried to put on a press and it didn't work,* said GC coach Jan Moore. "We didn't set it up right. We pressed early and created some turnovers, but we just didn't take advantage of them. "And we made only 11 of 27 free throws. That hurt." Tammy Narramore provided much of the GC offense, scoring 13 points.

Michelle Motley had 14 for Inkster.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN 41 WAYNE MEMORIAL 33

The Patriots remained unbeaten (3-0) following a physical game thanks to 18 rebounds from Sue Johnson and another 16 by Alicia Lectka.

Both Johnson and Lectka scored nine points. Teammate Carolyn Smith led Franklin with 11.

Franklin coach Tim Newman also saluted the floor play of senior point guard Mary Pollard, who led the press defense and dished out five assists.

"Wayne was big and they really tried to get it inside," said Newman. "Both teams really mixed it up under the boards."

That was why Humphrey, the team's running backs coach, didn't look happy.

GEORGE PERLES didn't look happy, either, standing in front of the blaring TV lights, wiping his brow with a towel. The heat played no favorites, plaguing the winners and losers alike. But for Perles and his team, the discomfort was easier to take.

"We could have come apart at the seams there, but we held together," Perles said of a stretch during the third quarter when it seemed the Spartans were destined for doom.

Quarterback Dave Yarema's bobble of a snap at the Colorado two could have cost MSU. After the mistake, neither coach nor quarterback panicked.

"Man, that hurt, that really hurt," Perles said. "That's one thing about Dave. A lot of times, a player might blame it on someone else. He just said, 'Don't worry coach, we'll get it back.'"

YAREMA COULDN'T hear what his coach was saying about him. But he mimmlcked him closely when asked what Perles said after the fumble.

"He really didn't say anything," the Birmingham Brother Rice graduate said. "I just told him we'd get it back. Stuff like that, you can't let it get you down. You got to forget it. I just try to keep a smile on my face."

He earned high marks for smile execution. It never left his face, that boyish victory grin. If he felt pressure as a sophomore starting at quarterback for a major college football team, he never showed it, on or off the field. A 15-for-23 passing performance on the field, and the way he handled questions off of it, confirmed that.

It wasn't an easy day, by any means. "Man, I was running for my life out there," he admitted, as Colorado's blitzing defense pressured. "You've got to be mentally prepared for everything.

"When they're after you, you got to make something happen."

Which he did, quite successfully.

WHAT HAPPENED in that final quarter didn't please Humphrey. It was no way for him to start his collegiate coaching career, however long its duration.

Humphrey was recruited to coach Colorado's running backs by head coach Bill McCartney after Sam Sample resigned. McCartney, the former Michigan assistant, knew Humphrey from his coaching days at Dearborn Divine Child.

"It's a faster track," Humphrey said, comparing collegiate and prep coaching. "The kids are basically the same, just bigger and faster.

"It's really interesting - a lot of fun and a lot of hard work."

Humphrey took a one-year sabbatical after 23 years of teaching in Garden City because he "wanted a change. I was getting a lot of heat at Garden City.

"I just needed a change."

The switch was prompted by the combining of Garden City's East and West high schools a year ago. Trying to blend two formerly rival teams into one proved a difficult task. That is why Humphrey. headed west.

He'll be back, he says. "It would be hard to afford to stay," he admitted. His wife and family are still in Michigan.

THE CHALLENGE for this year remains intact for Humphrey: help mold the Buffaloes, now 1-1 for the season, into a winner. No easy job, considering it will last just one season. But that's the task, nonetheless.

Jandasek 'digs' Schoolcraft spikers

By C.J. Risak staff writer

New season, new players, new challenges. Can anyone expect the same old results from the Schoolcraft College girls' volleyball team?

New coach Joe Jandasek hopes not. Last year's team, comprised mostly of second-year players, a rarity at the community college level, surged all the way to the National Junior College

Patriot comeback

saves opening day

Athletic Association finals before dropping from the tournament.

All but two of those players are gone. So is coach Mike O'Toole, who retired. That leaves Jandasek in the same situation most junior college coaches find themselves in every season - rebuilding, from scratch.

"THERE ISN'T A LOT of playing experience on this team," the first-year coach said. "We're very green, with a lot of young people who need time to develop.

"We're still working on fundamentals. We're barely able to put anything resembling a team on the court. We're just not at that point yet."

Nor is Jandasek ready to make a season's prediction for the Ocelot spikers.

"We have this standing joke around the coach's table," he said. "At the start of the season, a coach says he has no weak links on his team. But when the team doesn't come through, it's evident where the weak link was."

JANDASEK IS NO weak link. Volleyball is a family affair for him. He previously coached at Livonia Stevenson for seven years, starting their program. After that he moved on to Livonia Franklin for a year.

WATERFORD OUR LADY 12 LIV. CLARENCEVILLE 7

The Trojans blew three scoring chances in the second half as Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, a Class D state playoff qualifier last season, escaped Saturday with the home field win.

Clarenceville was standing on the Lakes' 15-yard line as time expired. A holding penalty cost the Trojans a score earlier in the half after a 19-yard gainer which put the ball on the onefoot line.

Senior quarterback Matt Pyle, under heavy pressure all afternoon, completed just five of 18 passes, but according to coach Ralph Weddle, "three or four were dropped," including one in the end zone.

"Our inexperience showed," said the Clarenceville coach. "They're a pretty good football team. We were out-hit the first half, but we really came alive and started 'sticking' in the second half. We had a chance to win, but we just made some stupid mistakes."

CLARENCEVILLE'S only points came on a 27-yard interception return by junior Tim McCamant on the first play of the game. Jeff Vakratsis then added the extra point to make it 7-0: Waterford, however, scored a pair of 2C(L,R,W,G)

Bo should shoulder U-M passing woes

Report card on the first weekend of college football.

No sooner had I gotten in my car Saturday, driving from Ann Arbor to the Silverdome, then I hear this on the radio: "Michigan really missed the. guidance of senior Steve Smith at quarterback as Dave Hall struggled to move the Wolverine offense." Balderdash!

The real story Saturday in Michigan's 20-17 escape of Washington State was the "back to the basics" offense orchestrated by coach Bo Schembechler.

Since Anthony Carter's departure, it appears the Wolverines are only allowed to throw screen and sideline passes.

Hall, the 6-foot-5 senior from Livonia Stevenson, had little freedom to perform what he does best - throw the football.

The Michigan game plan was to ram it down the Cougars' throat three yards and an invisible cloud of tartan turf.

WASHINGTON STATE, bowever, got wise to Bo's ways after intermission and could have won or tied the game had it not been for a great run by Rick Rogers and a missed field goal.

I always thought that Anthony Carter made Schembechler look like a genius, but now it's time to take the wraps off and use a passing offense, Bo.

And like all uninformed football followers, the press box at Ann Arbor couldn't believe the score: Cincinnati 14, Penn State 3.

But that was no surprise to me. I was told by a friend of mine last spring, a high school coach in Georgia, that Cincy's new coach was going to a "Run and Shoot" offensive attack. The next morning I look in the paper and see that Cincy's quarterback hit 25 of 36 passes for over 250 yards.

If you know how to throw the foot-his team can't slug it on the line of scrimmage with the Irish, who average 6-feet-5, 270 pounds per man.

I WONDER WHAT Bo's game plan would be if he were playing the Irish Saturday? But he has enough to worry about against the Washington Huskles, Saturday in Seattle. Steve Smith to the rescue?

Prep football impressions after week No. 1.

The Kick-off Classic at the Silverdome convinced me of one thing -Traverse City is a team to watch when the state playoffs get underway. Redford Catholic Central, picked by some to win it all, ran into a buzzsaw. The Trojans were smaller. but quick and strong. They could run and they could pass.

Believe it or not, CC could still make the playoffs with one loss. Livonia Stevenson, which lost its opener to Redford Union, did it when Hall was quarterbacking back in 1978.

Traverse City is going to win a lot of games, so that won't hurt the Shamrocks. But what CC sorely needs is to get healthy. Going into the season without your starting running backs and an All-League tight end is suicidal.

Meanwhile, Birmingham Brother Rice got by Chicago Mt. Carmel, 14-7, thanks to the running of Mel Farr Jr., the Superstar Dealer's son.

Farr, who displays shifty moves, almost immediately established himself as one of the top backs in the state.

And Mt. Carmel certainly boasts one of the top wide receivers in Illinois in Rod Harris, a name to remember in the collegiate ranks. Another Caravan player to watch is 6-3, 250pound junior tackle Frank Cornish Jr., son of a former Chicago Bear tackle Frank Cornish.

THERE WERE several suprises around the area last weekend. I picked Redford Union to beat Livonia Stevenson cooled off upstart Farmington Tuesday in a Western Lakes soccer match, 7-0.

The defending state Class A champs notched their 25th straight victory and third this season thanks to John Gelmisi's three goals and the ball control efforts of defenders Dan Divens and Chris Gembis.

The Spartans, who enjoyed a 5-0 halftime lead, also got two goals from Eric Pence, and one each from Chris Wiegel and Tom Strach.

Goalie Terry Harshfield turned in the shutout.

Farmington (2-1-1) played minus two starters: Mario Said sat out with an illness, while John Gregory was benched after receiving a red card for fighting in a previous game.

The Bulldogs (2-0-1) rolled to their, second win Tuesday as Bill Rowan scored a pair of goals.

Other Bentley goal scorers included Brian Schonfeld, Tony Pulice, Pete Lomas, Dennis Patchett, Torin Gnlewak and Jim Radeback.

Goalle Jeff Wilkinson made only three saves in 63 minutes of play. Richle Gregory finished up.

On Saturday, Bentley blanked visiting Toledo St. Francis, 6-0, behind Patchett's two goals. Radeback, Brad Mahalak, Eugene Pulice and Anwar Yaffai also scored for the Bulldogs.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL 8 BISHOP GALLAGHER 1

Junior Andy Rama and senior Tom Cornille combined for four first-half goals as the Shamrocks romped to an easy win Tuesday at Redford's Bell Creek Park.

CC, now 3-0 overall, also got two goals from John Rehm and one each by Brian Raftery and Mark Helinski. C.J. Wendt added two assists.

Churchill rules Livonia: CC harriers 2nd

Livonia Churchill's depth proved to be too much Saturday in the Livonia Public Schools' cross country meet.

The Chargers boys won their fourth consecutive title and sixth in the past nine years with 30 points, placing five of the top 12 runners.

Stevenson, led by senior Ken Dubois' first place finish, finished second with 44 points. Franklin was third with 57 and Bentley fourth with 101.

On a hot day at Cass Benton Park, Dubois covered the 5-kilometer course in 16:03. Churchill's Don Miller and Paul Schwartz were second and third, respectively, in 17:21 and 17:30.

Julie Recla, meanwhile, helped Churchill to its third straight city girls' crown. The Chargers had 25 points followed by Stevenson (37) and Franklin (69). Bentley did not figure in the team

Other area teams scoring included Westland John Glenn in 14th with 403 points and Garden City in 22nd with 587.

CC's top runner was Chris Rito, who finished 11th in 17:04. Trailing were teammates Pat Isom, 14th, 17:12; Jim Cauzillo, 17th, 17:14; Mark Anderson, 26th, 17:30; and Jeff Moore, 18:16. Rochester's Bob Thompson was the Bishop Borgess, 15-50. The Shamrocks swept the first five places as Bill Gavin, Rito, Cauzillo, Ison and Anderson all crossed together in 17:41.

Chris Snabes was 10th for Borgess in 18:20.

BORGESS' GIRLS lost Tuesday to Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy, 20-35, in a meet at Cass.

The Spartans, however, had an individual winner in Kris Whise, who crossed the line in 21:37. Mercy, however, garnered the next five places.

Other Borgess finishers included Carole Shaheen, seventh, 23:46; Eileen Foley, eighth, 24:01; Sheri Crank, ninth, 24:02; and Sue Panek, 10th, 24:10.

Borgess is 1-1 in dual meets. The Spartans, behind Sherry Williams' first-place finish, defeated South Lyon on Aug. 31 by a score of 18-41.

Ocelots garner tie in rough MSU tilt

By C.J. Risak staff writer

It really was supposed to be nothing more than an exhibition game, a glorified scrimmage.

It didn't turn out that way.

"It might have been an exhibition game, but it certainly wasn't played like an exhibition game," said Schoolcraft College soccer coach Larry. Christoff. "We were playing to win and so were they."

What ensued was a rough-and-tumble contest that ended with the Schoolcraft varsity tying its Michigan State University counterparts, 1-1, Saturday in East Lansing.

The Schoolcraft JV team was no match for the deeper MSU squad, losing 5-1.

THE TWO VARSITIES played hard throughout their game, with MSU scoring first out of a scramble in front of the Schoolcraft net. As Jim King, a sophomore from Livonia Franklin, tried to clear the ball an MSU player kicked at it, deflecting it off King and into the goal.

In the second half, Doug Marshall, a freshman from Northville who Christoff called "a standout throughout the game," put the ball into the net for the Ocelots to forge the 1-1 tie. Overall, the game pleased Christoff. "I think we did (play well)," the veteran coach said. "I was surprised by some of the things we did. We did better than we thought we could, but at the same time we realized we have a lot of work to do."

THE ROUGH STYLE of play did cost the Ocelots. Keith Soucy, a promising freshman halfback, broke his shoulder blade and will be lost for three to four weeks.

"He's a real gutty kid." Christoff said. "He came back to practice wearing a brace today. The way he was hustling, he could have started after a few games."

Christoff added that Greg Veit, Rick Ajluni and Henry Klimes "all played well" for Schoolcraft.

Still, what the Ocelots lack is "experience," Christoff said. There are only two sophomores on the team. "That's why we're scheduling a lot of early exhibition games, to pick that up.'

Govan's 31 keeps Ladywood blazing

Junior forward Char Govan scored 24 first-half points and finished with 31, two shy of the school record, in leading Livonia Ladywood to a 78-54 girls' basketball win Tuesday night at Burton-Atherton.

Govan racked up her total in just three quarters of play. Leslie Nadeau, now at Auburn University, holds the school record with 33 points.

Ladywood's other outstanding junior, guard Emily Wagner, added 24 points. Colleen Colles led Burton-Atherton with 27.

Ladywood broke away from a 10point halftime lead with a 22-6 outburst in the third period using a half-court trap.

The Blazers also shot well from the free throw line, hitting 16 of 20 shots.

The Spartans (0-3) rallied in the final quarter, but came up just short in a game played Monday night.

Carol Klotz made a three-point play with four seconds left to cut the margin to one, but the Spartans were unable to get the ball back.

Klotz scored 15 in a losing cause.

Teammates Rene Ponto and Beth Bor-

ALLEN PK. CABRINI 53 REDFORD ST. AGATHA 35

The Aggies dropped their third straight game Tuesday night, committing 43 turnovers. Cabrini jumped out to a 30-9 halftime lead and never looked back.

Three players scored in double figures for Cabrini - Sue Sugo (12), Karen Aleva (11) and Gail Bernes (12) Tia Littlejohn had 12 for Agatha.

Besides the turnovers, Agatha shot miserably from the free throw line (nine of 23). Cabrini had 16 field goals and made 21 of 37 foul shots.

Quarterback regains lost favor

By Chris McCosky staff writer

T WAS A glorious moment for friends and fans of Plymouth football.

Less than two minutes left in the game, down 15-12. Fourth down and seven at the 9-yard line. No timeouts left.

The quarterback drops back to pass, looks into the end zone and everyone is covered. He rolls right. Still nobody open and the defense closes in. The Quarterback tucks the ball and turns up field. A crushing block by an interior lineman opens up a lane and the quarterback sprints into the end zone for the game-winning touchdown.

The crowd roars with delight.

THE QUARTERBACK, Plymouth Canton grad Rusty Mandle, is mobbed in the end zone. He slaps a high-five with the lineman who sprung him free, Plymouth Salem grad, Marty Piper. Another Salem grad, Darrel Bartkowiak, a starting linebacker, joins the end zone celebration.

A proud moment indeed for Plymouth football. And a proud moment in the annals of Saginaw Valley State College football. The Cardinals had beaten the NAIA's (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics) 17th ranked team, Liberty Baptist.

Afterwards, everyone was praising Rusty Mandle. People Mandle never knew, or even saw before, were coming up, patting him on the back and telling him how great he was. People he knew, were now treating him like their next of kin.

After one game - after gaining 93 yards rushing, completing seven of 19 passes for 100 yards and a touchdown, after engineering a 75-yard scoring drive in the final minutes of the game, capping it off with a 9-yard game-winning TD, and after being named the NAIA's District 23 Player of the week - Rusty Mandle was a hero.

IF YOU DON'T see the irony there, you don't know about Rusty Mandle.

Mandle is probably the most gifted all-around athlete ever to come out of the Plymouth-Canton School District a statement that will justifiably raise arguments from friends and fans of Rich Hewlett and others. Go ahead and argue.

Mandle starred in football, basketball and baseball at Canton. As a walkon to the SVSC campus, he made the varsity basketball team, but later quit. He also became the starting catcher on the Cardinals' baseball team as a freshman. In his sophomore year, he walked onto the football team and became the starting quarterback. In two years he became the second leading passer in the school's history, throwing for more than 2,000 yards.

Mandle's athletic abilities are phenomenal. Unfortunately, his feuds with coaches and his mannerisms on the field have managed to overshadow and cloud his accomplishments.

In high school. Mandle gained over 1,000 yards his senior year. He was an electrifying runner. When he got into the secondary, he was like a magician,

BUT, THE SCOUTS shied away from him. He was not humble. He wore a bandanna and yelled and screamed and taunted opponents. They called him a hot dog, a showboater. He wouldn't fit into their program, they said.

Mandle was no different than numerous other gifted high school athletes. Because he had the physique and talent of a -25-year-old, people forgot, or wouldn't excuse, that he was an immature 17-year-old. Had he been 25 years old, he would have been described as colorful or flamboyant, not as a hot dog.

Mandle will be the first to admit that he made some mistakes.

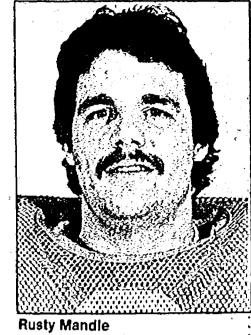

For example, he was offered a fullride scholarship to the University of Toledo, an institution he badly wanted to attend. He told them that he had agreed to visit Central Michigan's campus the next week, but was interested in U-T and would be back. When he came back he was told that his scholarship was given to someone else.

"I screwed up. I waited one week too long," Mandle said. "After that, I never wanted to play football again. I was sick of it all."

MANDLE THEN WALKED onto SVSC's baseball team. The coach there at the time had made promises of scholarship money to several players, but never delivered. Again, Mandle was out of luck.

"I needed money to go to school, so I played football. I got my money," he said.

Misfortune continued to stalk Man

1980, the Cardinals were 5-6. In 1981, 3+ 7. Mandle couldn't stand it.

The bottom fell out on a cool Halloween day, Oct. 31, 1981, in a game against Ferris State. Trailing by 22 points late in the game, Saginaw Valley coach Jim Larkin called a series of quarterback sneaks. Finally, on fourth and one, with less than a minute to play, Mandle disregarded the play, + another quarterback sneak - that Lar kin sent in. Mandle called for a pass play. It was the last time Mandle played quarterback for a Larkincoached team.

"He suspended me for the last two games and then he wouldn't let me play offense the next year. I think I was used as the scapegoat for the team. He' made it look like I had a bad attitude, but when you lose, everybody has a bad attitude," Mandle said.

BUT JANDASEK IS quick to point out that practice and game situations at Schoolcraft. are entirely different.

"I teach a volleyball class at Schoolcraft and, one day, I was talking to (Schoolcraft athletic director) Marv Gans and he happened to mention it," said Jandasek. "I had been thinking about getting back into it. I kind of missed it."

Fearless forecasts

Battles between city rivals fill this week's high school gridiron schedule

By Brad Emons and Chris McCosky staff writers

Excuse the alliteration, but your peerless prognosticators were pathetic last week.

The veteran Emons, who should know better after six years on the job and more than 28 in the area, posted a prediction record of 8-5.

We'll have to excuse the rookie McCosky, who dipped below .500 at 6-7. The two obviously have learned their lessons — we hope. So when you're No. 2, you try harder.

Here are this week's assessments:

WARREN TOWER at LIVONIA BENTLEY (7:30 p.m. Friday). The Bulldogs beat Canton in their season opener, 21-7, while Tower opened with a 21-0 win over lowly Roseville.

Bentley's defense may be the key before a home crowd. Picks — Emons and McCosky like Bentley by seven and three, respectively.

ANN ARBOR HURON AT LIVONIA CHURCHILL (7:30 p.m. Friday). The River Rats have a new coach in Tom Wilson, but it wasn't enough last week as Lansing Sexton prevailed against the Ann Arborites, 20-0.

Churchill, meanwhile, is coming off a mistake-filled 15-12 loss to Franklin. Picks — The coin please, both prognosticators like the home field advantage — Churchill by three.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN at LIVONIA STEVENSON (7:30 p.m. Friday). The air should be filled with footballs in this one.

Stevenson QB Dan Gilmartin looked sharp in a 12-7 win over Redford Union, while passing preserved Franklin's victory over Churchill. The Spartan defense is stronger, however. Picks — Emons and McCosky take Stevenson by 10 and four points, respectively.

BISHOP BORGESS at REDFORD UNION (7:30 p.m. Friday at Kraft Field). Borgess showed a balanced attack in beating Riverview 24-0 last week. Quarterback/receiver Chuck Gregory accounted for 94 yards total offense. RU, meanwhile, showed it could run the ball against Stevenson, but not pass. Both teams match up well on the lines, but Borgess won this tight duel a year ago. Picks — Emons goes with Borgess by eight. McCosky likes Borgess by 10.

in the neekst

CATHOLIC CENTRAL at YPSILAN-TI (7:30 p.m. Friday). The injury-riddled Shamrocks, upset last week by Traverse City, must now contend with one of the top running backs in the state, Eric Ball, who rushed for 290 yards in 24 carries in a 33-27 Ypsi win over Lincoln Park.

CC quarterback Matt Wilczewski proved he can throw, but the CC running game must get into gear. Picks — CC rises to the challenge, both pick the Shamrocks by a touchdown.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN at NORTHVILLE (7:30 p.m. Friday). Both teams are coming off shutout victories. Northville, the home team, hasn't faired well in previous match-ups. The Rockets' quarterback Bob Hawley threw well against Belleville last week.

Picks — Glenn still has the edge. Emons goes with Glenn by six and McCosky likes Glenn by three.

PLYMOUTH CANTON vs. PLYM-OUTH SALEM (7:30 p.m. Friday at CEP). Canton is coming off a lackluster performance against Bentley and has a lot to prove. The Chiefs are looking to shake their weak-sister image.

Salem, meanwhile, is coming off an impressive 12-7 win at North Farmington thanks to the play of a small, but aggressive offensive line, affectionately called the "Smurfs" by coach Tom Moshimer.

This is only the second meeting between the two neighbors, who share the same field at Joy and Canton Center roads. Picks — McCosky likes Salem in a hard-fought game by three. Emons goes with Salem by 12.

FARMINGTON HARRISON at FARMINGTON (3 p.m. Friday). The Falcons won their biggest game in years, blanking Southfield last Saturday, 17-0.

Coach Don Kuick cautioned that their performance was not a true test. Well this week they get one with the Hawks, working on a 25-game winning streak. Say no more. Picks — McCosky goes with Harrison by 17. Emons likes Harrison by 13.

NORTH FARMINGTON at WALLED LAKE CENTRAL (7:30 p.m. Friday). An untimely injury to halfback Ken Goss caused North to dramatically alter its game plan against the Rocks last week. The status of Goss's injury is still uncertain.

Central looked impressive in its opener last week, knocking off Milford, 21-6. Central may be one of the more improved teams in the area. Picks — McCosky isn't giving up on the Raiders, takes them by three. Emons likes Central by seven.

LUTHERAN NORTH at CLARENCEVILLE (7:30 p.m. Friday). Clarenceville lost a tough opener to Class D power Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, 12-7, while Lutheran North opened with a victory.

This is the Metro Conference opener for both teams. Clarenceville must show more offense to win. Picks — McCosky goes with LN by a TD, while Emons says it's a happy C'ville home opener in overtime.

GARDEN CITY at DEARBORN FORDSON (1:30 p.m. Saturday). Fordson, a perennial Class A power, was surprised by Midland in its opener.

 GC, meanwhile, looked horrible in a $3-0 loss to Wayne Memorial.

Both teams are hungry for a win, but Fordson may be starving. Picks — McCosky and Emons like Fordson by three and 13, respectively.

WALLED LAKE WESTERN at REDFORD THURSTON (1 p.m. Saturday). Thurston trailed 13-0 at the half against Northville and then lost the game 47-0.

Western was beaten by Brighton, 12- Emons c

7, in its opener. No coins please for this non-league game. Picks — McCosky likes WLW by 10 and Emons agrees, but by 20.

(#-4C)(F)5(

REDFORD ST. AGATHA vs. DE-TROIT REDFORD ST. MARY'S (7:30 p.m. Saturday at Kraft Field). The young Aggles held off Dearborn St. Alphonsus, 14-8, while St. Mary's was idle last week.

Agatha always seems to have the upper hand in this affair. Picks — McCosky goes with Agatha by 14. Emons concurs, but by only eight.

by W.W. Edgar

Although the bowling season is only two weeks old, the assault on the pins already is proving greater than at any other time and some of the all time records may be jeopardy before many moons pass. The Stroh team in the All-star Classic used this great prediction last week when it rolled a 3542 series in the Tuesday section at Thunderbowl. Already there have been a dozen 700 series and several of the classic teams have bettered 3300 both on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

"This is the highest scoring opening month we ever have had," the officials said, and from the looks of things some of the records were due to fall. The 3542 series posted by Stroh was outstanding in that low man Ralph Pesty had a 644. The pace setter was Bob Chamberlain with a 276 in 770 and Harry Campbell had a 290 in 763. The others were Rocky Garaziana with 693 and Bob Jawor with 672.

WOODLAND LANES. Tom Nippa joined the ranks of sharpshooters in the Granddale Men's league when he posted a 737. He opened with a 270 and followed with games of 244 and 223. It was the first 700 of the season in the house.

BEL-AIRE. Tom Leonard had no trouble reaching the goal of membership in the 700 club, he used a 279 middle game for a 707 series. Gladys Siekas topped the women with 248 in 650.

MERRI-BOWL. Tom Pritchard won the year's first hard luck honors when he missed a perfect game after running up 11 strikes in a row. With a 300 in his vision he left up two pins in the final frame and his dream was ended.

In the men's doubles Jeff Colliab showed the way with 642 and Bettie Brusseault had a 264 as high game for the women. Her nearest rival was Sandy Paot with a 244.

WESTLAND BOWL. In the newly organized men's Monday night legue Bob Novak was high with 665 that included a 236 middle game. Bill Irwin was next in line with 626 and Mack Kotztowny was third with 624, in the Mond 6.30 league Pete Chantogne was tops with 642.

GARDEN LANES. Otis Lackey needed only a 601 to pace the Vinco league. This was three pins more than Ed Magalski who lost out in the final frame, SUPER BOWL. In the junior trio league, Cheryl Newton had a 211 in 556 to lead the way. In the Cantonettes loop, Linda Uherek had 209 for high game one pin more than Jo Anne Zschinke.

For this one Saturday, anyway, Yarema had the easy end of it. He had won. Even the prospect of facing Notre Dame in the Spartans' next game didn't shake his confidence. "Go get 'em, man," he said of the upcoming tussle.

It's bound to be a season full of disappointment and heartache, as well as joyous celebration, for both Humphrey and Yarema. That is the essence of sport.

'Barbary Coast' Actress nurtures her 'new baby' at Fisher

staff writer

You might know Susan Elizabeth Scott from the TV commercial for Thomas' English Muffins in which she plays a mom.

But you wouldn't recongnize her in her role as Rita at the Fisher Theatre in the new musical "Barbary Coast."

Scott described her character as a "bumpsy-grindsy" dance hall girl. In costume a couple of hours before the opening night performance of preview week Tuesday, Scott said of her appearance, "This is not your Proctor and Gamble image.

"If they saw me like this, they wouldn't cast me as a mom."

Scott is certain, though, that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schubering of Birmingham, will approve of her role. Her mother, she said, ordered 50 tickets for opening night.

SCOTT SAID her parents have been very supportive of her career from the very beginning, and that goes back to when Scott was 8 years old and auditioning for a role opposite film great Pat O'Brien in a production in Traverse City.

"My parents gave me a lot of lessons," Scott said. "I had singing lessons and dance lessons; I took lessons in ballet, baton twirling, tennis, water skiing, ice skating and horseback riding.

"I guess they wanted to be sure that whatever I do, I be prepared to do it right."

Scott said she was pretty sure at 8 that she wanted to stay in show business

"I knew then that I liked it. I went to college and acted like a normal person. belonging to a sorority and all. I got a teaching credential to fall back on, but when I graduated I found it easier to get a job acting than teaching."

That was the early 1970s, Scott said, adding she was being "only a bit flippant" in that, on the average, 95 percent of actors are unemployed. "But they weren't looking for teachers either." Scott said.

Scott, whose parents lived in Akron, Ohio, at the time, attended the University of Denver.

"Why did I go there? Not because of its theater credentials or academics, but because it was 3,000 miles from home, and it sounded exciting," Scott said.

SHE MET HER husband, Stephen Scott, at school, and the first year they were married they played summer stock together back in Traverse City. The couple then moved to New York City, where they've lived and frequently worked ever since.

"We've been real fortunate," Scott said. "I've never had to use my teaching degree, never waited on tables or anything like that.

"It's just been great to feel like you're doing what you should be doing."

Incidentally, Scott's husband goes by the professional name Stephen McNaughton. When Scott's sister, Rebecca Schubering, married John McNaughton of Birmingham, Stephen liked the name and decided to use it as his own.

"Now I've got a husband, a brotherin-law and a sister all with the same name," Susan Elizabeth Schubering Scott said.

Another funny thing, Scott said, is that her sister once sold advertising for the Fisher Theatre program, and she now works as a saleswoman for Sports Illustrated and has an office in the Fisher Building. "That's really nice not that we've even had time to have lunch together," Scott said.

THE LIFE OF an actress is a hectic one.

Scott said that after more than a month of rehearsals in Birmingham, Ala., and Los Angeles, cast and crew flew to Detroit last week. Since then they've been rehearsing extensively. But with the preview-week opening Tuesday, the cast began a routine that includes daily rehearsals and an evening show, plus rehearsals even on days when matinees are scheduled.

On Tuesday, for instance, Scott put in a 12-hour day that included rehearsals, the opening night show and an interview that left her little time for a salad for dinner.

But it's worth it, a tireless Scott said. "New projects are exciting, they're wonderful.

"Here I have an opportunity to create a role that will go down in theater history as my role. Of course others will perform it, but they'll do it differently. This will be my character, my person."

Scott said she is a bit wary of critics. "who have the power to annihilate a show.

"I LOVE A critic who genuinely wants a show to succeed, who gives criticism that, if we take it, can make a show better. But some critics only come down on a project," she said.

"You have to understand that a show

Eddie Bracken and Kave Ballard star in "Barbary Coast," a new musical that opened preview-week performances Tuesday at the Fisher Theatre. Preview week continues through Sunday, and all tickets are $15.

Starting Tuesday ticket prices will range from $17.50 to $25 for shows Tuesday through Saturday nights through Oct. 2. Show time is 8 p.m.

Matinees will be at 1 p.m. Wednesdays and 2 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

"Barbary Coast," set in San Francisco at the turn of the century, is based on the life of "Gentleman Jim" Corbett, the world's first heavyweight boxing champion.

is like having a new baby.

"Everyday when you look at it, it's different, it's growing, maturing. It might be funny looking at first, but it can become a beautiful baby."

Scott said that "Barbary Coast" will make changes throughout its preview week, which concludes Sunday. Tuesday, in effect, is another opening night, although the show may continue to make changes thereafter and in every city it plays along the road to Broadway.

"Our band will do some Latin-American music when we play for dancing that night," Lozano said. "We also will do the music of the '40s, '50s and '60s." Besides the entertainment, there will be authentic Mexican cuisine prepared by the college's culinary arts department. For reservations or further information call 591-6400, ext. 213.

Members of Panchito's orchestra have been together for 25 years. For three years the band appeared on the locally produced "Arthur Murray

Lozano said his group has been called "the critic's dance band because it plays music for both professional and amateur dancers - the Fred Astaire ballroom type, because we play everything." 1. 电人用的 2.2

The band has played for the Don Derenosky International Ball at Detroit's Cobo Hall for nearly 20 years. "It's the Olympics of dancers," Lozano said. "Seven thousand people come from all over the world to compete."

Thursday, September 15, 1983 O&E

AS PANCHITO, Lozano leads the band and plays trumpet. Others in the 13-member band include ex-members of name bands, such as those of Stan Kenton and Harry James. "We can go right down the list. They're not on the road anymore and all settled in Detroit," he said.

A Mexican-American born in Chicago, Lozano has lived in Detroit since the age of 3. Like the other band members, he started out as a musician, and he didn't go into teaching until later, 25 years ago.

Today Lozano is principal of the Webster School, "in the heart of the Latin community," he said. He is a speclalist in bilingual education.

Lozano said he formed the band when he got out of service. He had been with the Air Force Band's Glenn Miller Unit in Reno. After service he played with Tex Beneke, Isham Jones, Lang Thompson, Russ Carlyle and Xavier Cugat, "I had my share of the big bands," he said.

"I wanted to go into teaching and left the road," he said. It was difficult to save money, and the kids were growing up. "You wear yourself out on the road."

LOZANO SAID there's not much difference between the instrumentation of the local dance bands but that the bands are all very competitive. "The difference is the Latin music," he said of his band. "We carry the rhythm instruments to give it that authentic sound - bongos, conga, timbals."

All band members sing, and sometimes the band has a vocalist.

Lozano is updating Latin numbers to a Latin rock beat called "salsa," which means "sauce." "I got the idea from Perez Prado," he said. "We're changing the rhythms and sounds to the salsa beat, getting more sauce into it. It swings differently."

The Flesta Mexicana Dancers, appearing on the same program at Schoolcraft, are a group of young people from 14-19. "They rehease regional dances of Mexico and belong to the Knights of Columbus in Detroit," he said. "They will do the show in full costume of the different regions of Mexico."

Artist's early etching propelled her to new career

By Mary Klemic staff writer

Jeanne Poulet is a women who decided early that she wanted to experience everything that she could in the field of art, and she has just about done it.

She has had her successes in such forms as ceramics, painting and photoengraving but her favorite is an etching process she developed herself. "I consider myself self-trained, in that I've always learned new skills all my life," she said.

"I don't compete with God or the camera," Poulet said. "My work is innovative and out of my own head. It's an image that hasn't been contrived, but is both an emotional and intellectual response to what I see."

Now working from her Livonia studio/home, she said, "I like engraving and etching the best," Poulet said. "Sometimes I want to be chained to the bed and the desk, and have someone bring me my meals and just let me do nothing but etching. Maybe once in a while, let me go out in the woods."

SHE DESCRIBES her etching process as a series of "dots and scratches," compared to other artists' etchings which are more linear.

"It's dots and soratches that then become a composite," Poulet said.

In this process, such tools as an engraver and stylus are used to imprint markings onto a metal etching plate that is treated with ashphalt and resistant to acid.

After the marks are made, the plate is given a bath in nitric acid. The acid bites into the markings, and when the plate is inked, the ink stays in the grooves. A hand press is used to help pull the ink out of the grooves onto the paper.

Poulet said her method, using the hand press, is similar to a method used by Rembrandt centuries ago. She calls it "a la main," meaning "by hand." When color is added, using fingers or cotton swabs, she calls the technique "a la poupee."

WALKING through Poulet's home is like walking through an art gallery. In every room, her works line the shelves and fill the walls. A downstairs room is where sales are transacted. A room on another floor features a large desk, at which much of her artwork is done.

Poulet was born and reared in Montreal. Her background was filled with the arts, as her mother was a pianist and her father was an opera singer and a photographer.

"They were very much into literature and the arts as a lifestyle," Poulet recalled. "For example, we always had music. I remember my mother playing for me eight hours a day."

One of This Poulet work is entitled "Lost Souls." The artist said her method consists of "dots and scratches that then become a composite." She begins her work by using an engraver and stylus to imprint markings onto a Air Canada. She left that job when she married, and began working at her art.

"I DID portraits, but they didn't give me enough," Poulet said. Poulet started taking classes in ceramics, sculpture and welding at Schoolcraft College 12 years ago, and went on to study printmaking. The curator at the Detroit Institute of Arts chose one of her early etchings - the fifth one she attempted - for a group showing of the Michigan Association of Printmakers. The work was later sold out of the London Arts Gallery in the > area painter and colorist; Richard. Saunders, formerly of the music department at the college; and Bob Dufort, who taught her printmaking there.

Fisher Building. "I had no idea I was ever going to metal etching plate that is treated with ashphait and resistant to acid. The complete process, which uses a hand press, is similar to a method used by Rembrandt centuries ago, she sald.

"BOB Dufort was my mentor," Poulet said. "He allowed me to run, he never inhibited me. He allowed me to grow in a unique way. He saw my individuality, and I will be eternally grateful to him."

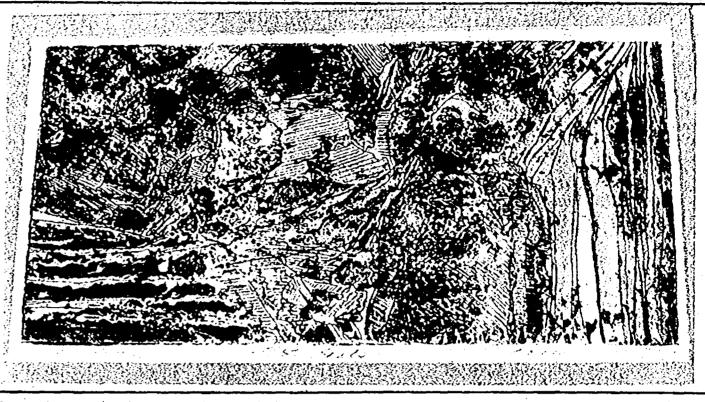

Poulet says she will retire at the age of 96. Her future plans include developing a book on children's rights that would feature photographic and etching essays.

"I admire illustrators, but I don't want to be one," she said. "An illusthen I would go over those lines in charcoal pencil. One day I saw a felt tip pen.

I wanted that pen as much as I wanted a mousketeer hat. It was then I learned that if a child really wants something, he simply has to pray for it - aloud at the table when he is asked to say grace. Parents can't resist.

Within minutes after getting my felt tip pen I discovered they write on anything. I wrote my name on almost everything I owned. After vandalizing everything in the house I decided it was time to do some serious cartooning. So I drew Don Martin cartoons till the sun set.

BACK THEN felt top pens came in an assortment of one width and one color - black. But I didn't care. I cherished my felt tip pen. I placed it in the most hallowed place in my room, which was also the only clean place in my room - a small spot on top of my dresser in the middle of all the debris. That was the place for my duncan yoyo and my felt tip pen. The one gloomy day the ink started running out. My beautiful black lines were turning into shades of gray. I felt like I did when my dog was sick. Then it finally happened, the ink was gone. But the future looked bright because the talk was that felt tip pens were coming out with an assortment of four colors - red, yellow, blue and black...

Of course everyone at the dinner table knew how badly I wanted those felt tip pens.

Well now I am over 30 and I still cherish felt tip pens. Who could have guessed that they would be available in hundreds of colors. I have used most every brand name available and my favorite is the "Design" line of pens, By Eberhard Faber.

They come in an assortment of regular, fine and extra fine nibs. The color selection is more than adequate with 96 colors to choose from. There might be manufacturers that offer more colors but this in not necessary. All felt tip pens issue tranparent ink which allows you to overlay color upon color. De-" sign's best feature aside from the color assortment is the way it is packaged.

A SET of 12 markers, comes with a black plastic cube terraced to show the color and number of the markers, Each set costs around $20, which is not bad when you consider the cost of a couple tickets to an amusement park. These pens will entertain you long after your roller coaster stomach has settled.

My favorite sets are first the beginning assortment of 12 basic colors, then the pastel assortment. There are also a wood tone assortment and a grays assortment. With these four sets you can produce just about any color you desire.

How much can you improve on a felt tip pen? Every once in a while a salesman will come in with the lastest ino-

Debuts as soloist Local violinist gets standing ovation in Vienna

Alyze Drelling hopes to return to Eu-

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Violinist Alyze Dreiling wouldn't trade Knoxville, Tenn. for New York City for anything.

A 1977 graduate of Livonia Churchill High School, now concertmaster of the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra, she just returned from making her European debut in Vienna, Austria as soloist with the Philharmonia Hungarica where she received a standing ovation from a crowd of 4,000.

Dreiling's talent was recognized early in the metropolitan Detroit area. She studied with Mischa Mischakoff and performed with many local orchestras such as the Oakway Symphony as well as the Detrolt Symphony. She performed with the latter under conductor Paul Freeman when she was 15.

At Indiana University where she received her bachelor's in music, she studied with Josef Gingold.

She auditioned and won a chair with the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra under conductor Zoltan Rozsnyal after her graduation.

The opportunity for the two-week tour of Europe came when planist Kurt Rapf of Vien-harmonia Hungarica at the Wien Rathaus.

THE CONCERTS she did there, playing the Mozart Second Violin Concerto, were a part of the Austrian Summer Festival which was broadcast live throughout Europe.

Dreiling, young, attractive and talented, said the members of the orchestra, composed of Hungarian refugee musicians, welcomed her graciously.

"There is no age barrier among musicians," she said.

With the approach of the fall concert season she will be appearing as soloist with the Knoxville Symphony Orchestra (Jan. 19-20) playing the Scottish Fantasy by Max Bruch, with the Knoxville Chamber Orchestra playing the Beethoven Triple Concerto and the Florida Chamber Orchestra playing the Beethoven Vi-olin Concerto, There are also other recitals on her fall/winter schedule.

According to Dr.Robert Eliason, curator of musical instruments for Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, "This is the first time we've loaned a violin since Henry Ford's time, he used to loan them. It is planned to be a part of our outreach to the public."

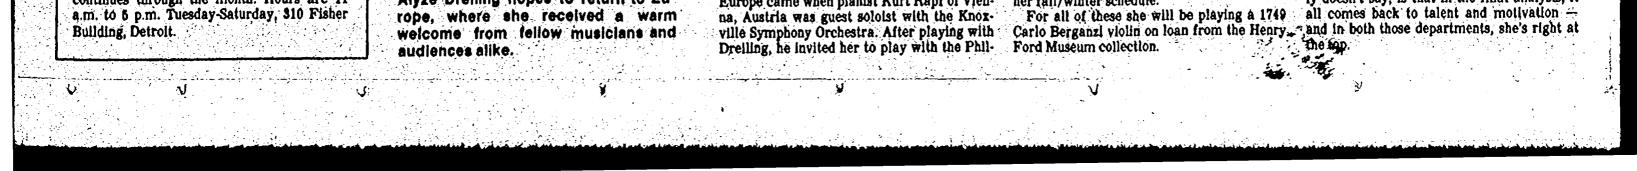

HE ADDED that a sensitive artist can help those who care for the instruments by being aware of areas that may be deteriorating and need attention.

"A lot of people feel that a violin needs to be played," he said noting that this idea is still. controversial.

Dreiling said she feels certain that living, studying and performing in the Midwest, rather than New York City, has helped move her career along so rapidly.

She has never had to wait in line for an audition or travel long distances to and from classes in less than ideal conditions, And most importantly, the opportunities to perform and be heard have been almost non-stop — a rare occurence in other locations.

But, what this young artist, daughter of Clem and Marcy Dreiling of Livonia, modestly doesn't say, is that in the final analysis, it vation. He will say, "Dave, this pen is laser corrected, it is color coded and has a comfort fitted design. It has a triple seal cap with a multifaceted tip design made of, not felt, nor nylon, but a new blend of space age fibers which will never become soft nor break down."

And I just say to myself "Design, just stay the same."

WHEN I drew my first cartoons with my first felt tip pen the only paper I had was my spiral notebook paper. I soon learned that the ink bleeds through paper quite easily. Now, virtually every paper company makes paper for felt tip pens. These papers are light weight and do not allow the ink to bleed through.

The softer papers with less or no rag content allow bleeding which is not always bad. These papers absorb so much ink that it gives a velvety look to the color. This is the look I often prefer for my cartoons.

The permanent ink pens bleed on paper but the water base fine line markers do not. So I like to fine line water color marker my cartoon, then I erase any pencil lines and flood in rich colors with felt tip pens.

The permanent ink (which bleeds) has no effect on the fine line water color ink. Many people are turned off to markers because they bought water color markers and since they do not bleed they show every stroke. So when you try to fill an area with color it looks like your drawing is made up of multicolor pieces of corduroys.

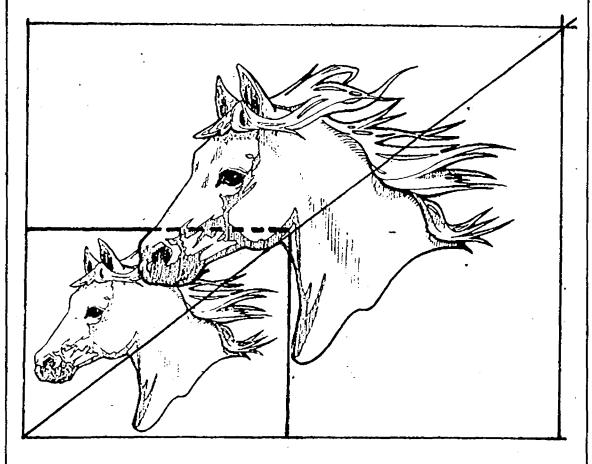

If you would like to achieve realism, even photographic color drawings, here is what to do:

DRAW IN pencil carefully from your model. Erase your pencil lines so there is merely a ghost image. Remember this ink is transparent. If you leave wandering pencil lines they will actually become more noticable when you add your colors.

Many times I have my students ink in a fine felt tip pen (water base) right on their main pencil lines, then after the ink is dry erase all the pencil off the page.

Select the main colors for your subject. I call these main colors the base colors. For example: a green parakeet is many shades of green but pick only one shade, preferably light green.

When you have all your basic colors in your picture, it should look very washed out and two dimensional. Now, comes the colored pencils. With the base colors in marker you have, in effect, dyed the paper to the appropriate color. Then your color pencils do not appear grainy. Without base colors anytime you lighten the pressure on your color pencil you see the grain or tooth of the paper.

Q. Lately I have been asked to do commercial art jobs that are very specific as to size. I have trouble blowing up the artwork large enough to draw and still be the right proportion.

A. Most of the time you can just double or triple the size of the art desired. For example: If the customer needs it to fit a three-inch by five-inch space than double it and work on an area that is six by ten or even triple that. If there is still a problem, then measure the finished size on the lower left hand corner of your illustration board. Draw a diagonial line thru the lower left and the upper right hand corner. Now you can simply choose any point on the diagonal and draw a line perpendicular to the horizontal and vertical line.

Should you invest in remodeling?

Is remodeling a home a good investment?

Sometimes. If you and your family want it badly enough, it's usually worth doing because you're investing in your family's comfort, convenience and enjoyment.

But remember that when it comes to sell your home, you may not recoup the cost of the investment. Not all alterations increase a home's market value; some may actually make the home more difficult to sell. Deciding to remodel should be a matter of carefully weighing the pros and the cons, according to Andersen Corp. consultants:

On the pro side is the fact that remodeling is often an attractive alternative to moving. That's because remodeling is usually cheaper than relocating and less disruptive to the family. An extra bath, another bedroom or an updated kitchen can transform an ordinary house into something special and raise its market value at the same time.

BUT SOME projects are more likeiy to attract prospective buyers than others. Specialized alterations may appeal only to a narrow group of prospective buyers. A swimming pool or a tennis court, for example, may be a selling point only to those who swim or play tennis.

Other improvements such as saunas and high-tech video rooms may be less desirable to the average buyer than a modernized kitchen or an extra bath.

Energy-saving improvements are always a sound investment. That's because you and the next owner will reap the financial benefits of reduced energy costs. Other remodeling suggestions by Andersen are:

• Before building an addition, consider putting unused space to work. Converting an attic, basement or porch into an extra room is usually less costly than building a new room.

• Try to tailor your project to complement the neighborhood's profile. If three-bedroom houses and moderate price tags are the norm, a four-bedroom house or one with costly improvements may be out of place and difficult to sell.

• Avoid spending too much to make a showcase out of a house in a deteriorating neighborhood. Despite your improvements, an area's decline is likely to cause a decline in your home's selling price. If the community seems ripe for revival, then renovating could be profitable.

Although you may not recoup the cost of home improvements when you sell your house, remodeling is an economic alternative to moving. And making your home more functional and more pleasant to be in can justify the cost of remodeling.

Question remodeling needs

If you find yourself wondering traffic cutting across your kitchen what to do with "this old house," the best thing to do is interview yourself to determine what improvements need to be done.

Here are some questions to ask yourself in checking the adequacy of the old design.

so, it will ease the strain on bedrooms, den, kitchen and bath. This may mean having the space to convert old rooms for new functions.

 Has there been any addition in the number of family members?

• Has there been a change In work habits, such as more or fewer family members in the workforce? This may call for changes in living patterns.

• Has there been a change in affluence? More money usually means more entertaining, putting new demands on kitchen, bathroom and living quarters.

 Has there been a change in family living, such as new interest In gourmet cooking or in his-andher sharing of kitchen activities, or a new awareness of health and fitness?

 Are there things 'about the house that really bother you such or have the work done, you can work triangle? Lack of lighting in areas where you do close work? Always bumping your elbows in your bathroom?

All of these problems call for some type of remodeling. You can try to do it yourself or you can go • Have the children grown? If to a professional remodeling contrator who has a showroom that shows you both products and Ideas.

> If you do this, you can opt either for design, purchase and instaliation or for design only or for design and purchase only.

> Professional design help for a kitchen or bathroom usually will cost anywhere from $150 up to 5 percent of the estimated total cost of the job, and it could run much more for other rooms.

If you want to do it yourself, be realistic. Knowing how to do something doesn't mean your fingers can follow orders. Even ordinary carpentry requires skill and the right tools. Plumbing calls for care and precision at every step. Electrical work can be dangerous if not done correctly.

But whether you do it yourself as a dishwasher door that cramps look torward to a house that is you at the sink when it is open? Or what you want it to be.

IIII

The bottom line

A survey of of 2,500 contractors showed 9 $\mathbf{\nabla}$ the following remodeling costs:

 Kitchen remodeling — $7,299. The range is usually $6,000-$16,000, including new cabinets, countertops, appliances and sink.

 Bathroom remodeling — $1,853. This figure is too low to include much bathroom cabinetry beyond a vanity cabinet.

• Bathroom addition — $5,330. Again, this did not include much cabinetry.

Room addition — $15,105. For 400. square feet, the price will range from $18,000-$24,000.

- Finishing an attic $6,450.
- Adding a second story $20,150.
- Enclosing a porch $3,897. Adding a garage — $5,467.
- Roofing $3,945.

 Siding — $3,231. To get $1,500 square feet of aluminum siding with quarter-inch insulating board, the range is $3,350-$4,300.

Insulation — $804.

Cook up a kitchen that has versatility

A remodeled kitchen should be personal --- a functional oasis in which it is pleasafit to live and work. It should have esthetic appeal, and that is something that reflects your taste.

It must function well, and that relates directly to your family, the personal habits of each person, your socializing and entertainment practices, your cooking needs and desires, family size and ages of family members.

Its space must be planned, and this is as important in a large kitchen as in a small one.

In a large space the tendency is to sprawl, to waste space, and this results in miles of extra walking throughout the year.

in any kitchen of any size, the work triangle --- the aggregate distances from the center of the sink to the center of the range to the center of the refrigerator - should be no more than 22 feet and no less than 12 feet, and no single leg of that triangle should be more than seven feet or less than 31/2 feet.

These are not arbitrary figures. They have been developed by professional space planners.

THE KITCHEN must be pleasant place to work. This is also a personal matter, and it involves more than the esthetics and efficiency of the room.

Here are some of the trends that kitchen decorators are seeing.

There is more greenery in the modern kitchen, helped largely by increasing use of grow lights, greenhouse windows and interest in decorative plants.

There is increasing interest in hobby activity in the kitchen, where the hobby is adaptable to it.

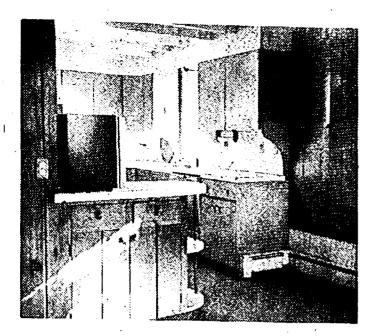

A "home headquarters" or office area, is becoming more important and often the best placea for It is in the kitchen or adjacent to it.

This should include a desk, drawers and filing space. It also should be planned for the home computer which is in our future.

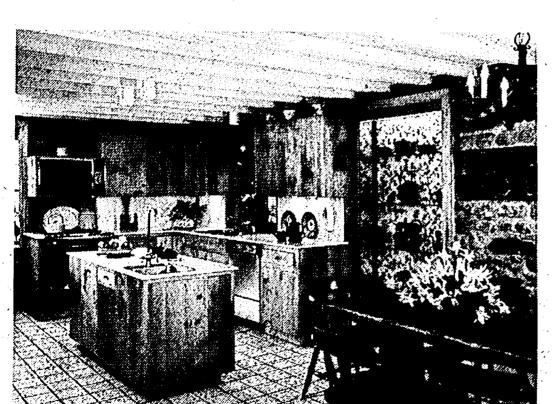

If you have harbored prejudices against plastic laminate surfaces on your cabinets, it may be time to reassess them.

LAMINATES are now styled in new patterns and textures, no longer trying to imitate other materials, although laminate woodgrains are more woodlike than ever.

The "before" shot of this kitchen shows old-fashioned cabinets, lighting fixtures and an old, worn floor. Peninsula counter divided kitchen from dining area. The remodeled kitchen opens completely to the dining area for a smooth, flowing transition from one to the other. Custom pine cabinets, ceramic tile floor, island counter, drop lights and exposed stone walls create a kitchen/dining area that is modern and but country in flavor.

Framed

Use of mats makes for a professional look

Many people think that custom framing is too expensive so they just slap a print or photo in a storebought, ready-made frame.

But do-it-yourselfers can have the custom look without the custom cost by using mats when framing. A mat provides visual air for the art, setting it off from the surrounding wall.

HERE ARE some pointers on selecting a mat:

• Try both a dark and light mat next to the artwork before choosing. How a mat looks by itself is no indication of how it will appear next to the art or with a combination of mats. Be sure to check the visual effect at all four corners of the art.

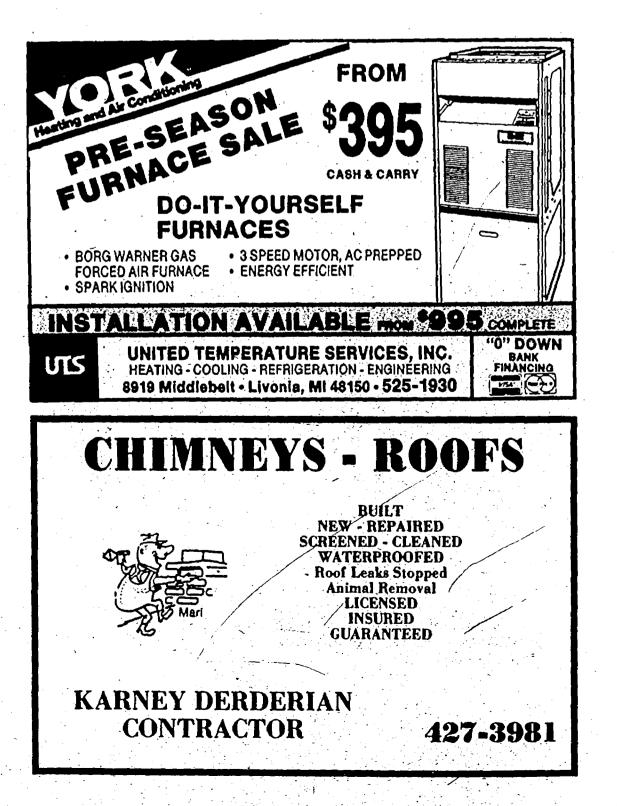

• Avoid making the mat and frame the same size. The similarity in width creates a distracting rhythm that will call attention to itself rather than the picture. The mat should be twice the width of the frame.

• Brightly colored mats usually should be smaller than more neutral colored mats. Use a combination of mats if you want both a wide mat and a bright color accent. A bright mat, covered by a wider neutral mat, acts as a highlight or perspective line in the picture.

• A mild contrast between the colors of the art and the color(s) of the mat(s) can often make a picture stand out.

• A mat is usually cut to the same width on top and sides with an added half-inch to inch on the bottom for visual balance. To accentuate a vertical feeling in the picture, make the side margins narrower and the top and bottom margins wider. Do the opposite for a horizontal effect.

• In framing a small plece that will hang on a busy wall, try a wider mat to separate and call attention to the art.

Address those bathroom blahs

The bathroom. It's one of the most highly utilized rooms in the house and often one of the most poorly designed and least attractive.

If you're thinking about remodeling a bathroom, start out by making a bathroom scrapbook. In it put notes of all deficiencies of your present bathroom. Here's some things to consider:

• Note if lighting is adequate or in the wrong places.

 Note if you tend to bump knees or elbows and in what area. Note if you would like some plants for decoration or a magazine rack for reading.

Note if the tub is too slippery and if it needs a shower or space for soaps, lotions, etc.

 Make a list of what each family member wants in the bathroom. Write everything down. Don't worry initially if there isn't enough space in the bathroom.

• Visit bathroom showrooms. This does not mean boutiques where they specialize in towels and other soft goods.

These showrooms usually will be those of the kitchen and bath professional remodelers who show several kitchen and bathroom displays. They are the only ones who really know the products available.

• Look for the space that isn't there. If there is a closet adjacent to the bathroom, is it available for conversion to bathroom space?

Closets often are unused or can be replaced with cabinetry elsewhere in the other room. Or if there is a bedroom adjacent, can you borrow space from it? Even one or two feet can make a world of difference.

• Draw a picture of your present bathroom, to scale, with 44-inch on your paper representing one foot of actual floor space.

INCLUDE THE doors, windows and radiators. Mark light locations and mark the location of the toilet drain. Other plumbing can be removed without big expense, but the toilet always will be expensive to remove.

• Draw a picture of your "expanded" bathroom, including any space you can borrow.

• Then call a family meeting and go through the scrapbook. What does everyone really want? Talk it over and keep an open mind while being reasonable about costs.

In your showroom visit you found out what many of these things cost to buy, and you know installation will double any price if you have it done by a contractor.

• What can you do yourself? A basic bedroom remodeling job with new fixtures will cost $6,000 to buy and install, on the average, but many run from $8,000 to $10,000.

Among the things you possibly can do will be tearing out old tile work, floor and walls, light plumbing and maybe the electrical. All of this can cut your costs by up to 60 percent.

• Visit a kitchen/bath professional in your area, one with a showroom displaying complete baths and discuss . your plans.

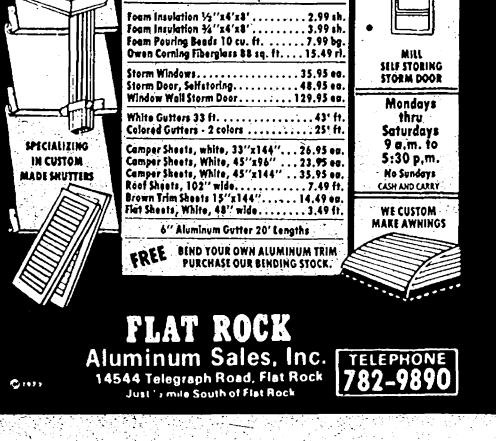

You may not want to use his or her services, but you may want to hire a pro to go over your plan to be sure it will work. You may need the pro's help for professinal drawings for the plumber and electrician.

Thursday, September 15, 1983 Fall Home Improvement

There will be seven million bathrooms remodeled this year; will yours be one of them? Some tips from Yorktowne on saving space include installing a pair of tall accessory cabinets with adjustable shelves instead of a closet where shelves are fixed. Drawers or a hamper can be added to the cabinets to supplement the storage provided by a triple-drawer and double-door vanity bases and wall cabinets with adjustable shelves and brass gallery rail.

Little things add up to big energy savings

It's common knowledge that turning the thermostat down in the winter and up in the summer is an effective way to save energy. But did you know something as simple as covering foods and liquids in your refrigerator can also save energy dollars?

Uncovered items give off moisture vapors, which makes your refrigerator's compressor work harder to obtain the same degree of cooling.

Wall outlets leak more air than closed exterior windows. Up to 20 percent of air leakage can come from wall outlets. Insulating those outlets will aid in cutting heating bills in winter and cooling bills in summer.

People give off heat. If you plan on entertaining a large group during the heating season, lower the thermostat a degree or two before the guests arrive.

Do you heat or cool your home more? Whichever is greater, you might consider changing the color or your roof shingles. A light-colored roof reflects more of the sun's heat than a dark one. If you need more heat, use dark shingles; less heat requires lighter colored shingles.

IF YOU own a dishwasher, you can reduce the amount of energy it consumes from 30-50 percent. Simply set it to turn off after the final rinse and let the dishes air dry.

Using a shower head that restricts the amount of water can help save hot water and reduce costs. Studies indicate that bathing accounts for 40 percent of the hot water used in a household.

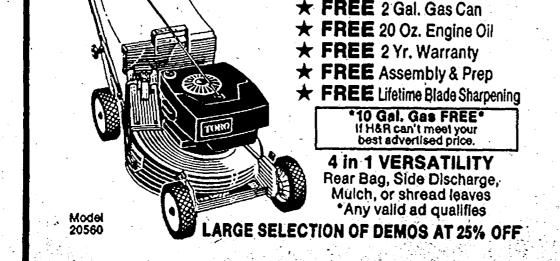

A quick and easy way to cut light costs: Remove one out of every four light bulbs in your house. You'll probably not notice any change in illumination, but you might see a difference in you next electirc bill.

It is not true that a light bulb uses more energy in the first seconds after you turn it on. To save energy, turn lights off when you leave a room, even if you intend to return in a few minutes.

Did you know that an instant-on television is "on" all the time? It eats up electricity all the time. Unplugging it when not in use will save you money. You can also buy an inexpensive on-off switch that can save you about $1 per month in electric costs.

You can save lighting costs by painting your rooms a light color. Homes with white or pastel walls, ceilings and floors reflect light better and need less wattage.

Attic insulation can substantially reduce the amount of energy needed to heat and air condition the home.

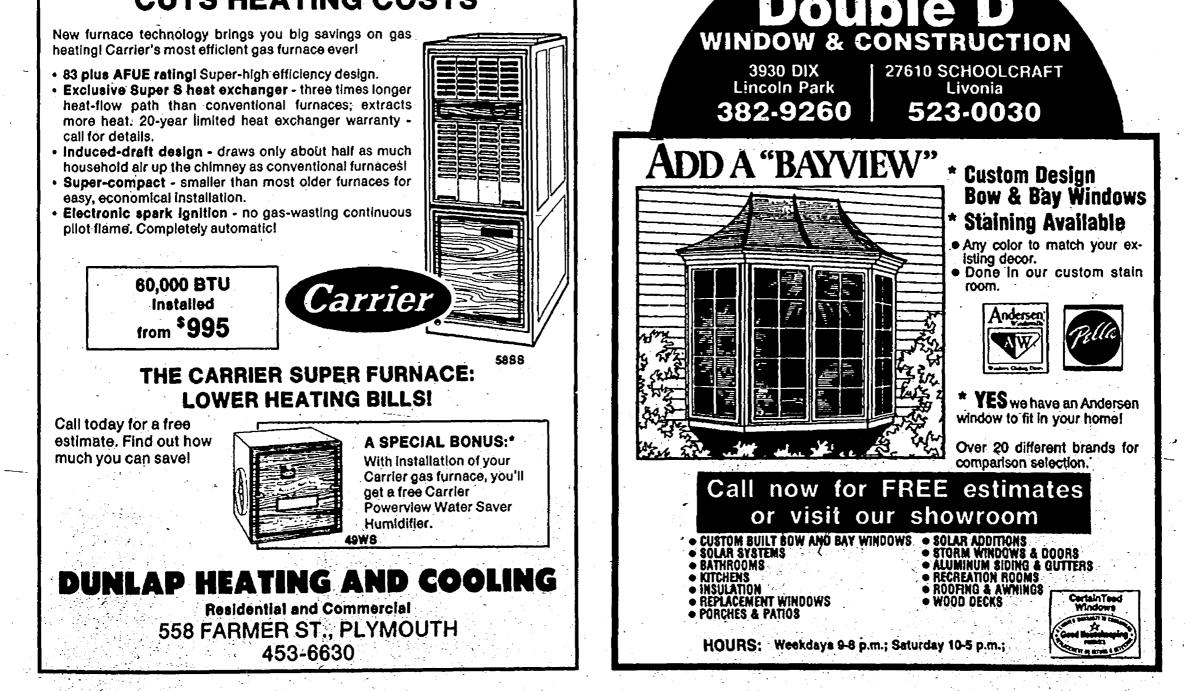

Solar sunroom

Primitive Encore ceramic tile by American Olean catches the sun's rays and transmits the heat to a rock bed below which serves as the thermal mass in this passive solar design. The tile's ability to conduct heat moves the warmth to the rock bed so it never feels hot to the touch. The accumulated heat is then released back through the tile to warm the room as sunlight diminishes.

Picture a window that brings outdoors inside

Think big — a big picture or bay, window — if you're planning to reblace drafty old windows.

You can have one if there's now a rouping of two or three small wintows along the wall of the room that is a remodeling candidate. These, along with the supports between hem, can be removed to accommodate a single large picture-type wintow.

Such a window will bring the outdoors inside, give you more light and mprove the looks of the room and the exterior of the house.

Properly installed, with a thermalzed frame and insulated glass, the new window will also help to conserve energy, and it will be virtually maintenance free.

If yours is a colonial-style house, you may want to duplicate the appearance of the original smaller panes of glass. You can do this by ordering a large window with grids set between the panes of double glass. They'll match the new frame, and despite their visual authenticity, will leave you with only one glass surface to clean.

styles of windows differ, if you're considering new ones.

A picture window is stationary and framed so that is usually, but not always, longer horizontally that vertically, in order to provide a panoramic view. It can also have one or two movable panes of glass that either slide open sideways or open from the top or bottom.

Generally, a bay or bow window is also stationary, but it extends out from the sill at an angle. The angle of the bay window may range from 30 to 45 degrees, while the bow window has a less extreme angle of about 10 degrees.

Within these limits, you may design a new-style window from a grouping of old ones, or if you already have a picture or bay/bow window that needs replacing, increase, decrease or change the angle from its original proportions.

But care must be taken in framing it and building sufficient support beneath it. The greater the angle, the more support the window needs, and the further the bay extends out from the house, the more its weight increases.

New supports under the window are usually wood, covered to match or blend with the surface of the house.

If your budget restricts the number of windows you replace, consider replacing all the windows in one or two of the most frequently used rooms, especially the ones where you can plan a picture-type window.

Enhancing the exterior appearance of this house, the bay window brings more light inside and conserves enregy. All four sections of

Let the sun in through the roof

If the windows in your home don't provide enough daylight, skylights may be the most efficient way to brighten the rooms and create a feeling of drama and excitement. They not only provide natural daylight from the celling area but visually enlarge small spaces.

Skylights have become increasingly popular just about everywhere in a house — hallways, dens, kitchens, bathrooms and even bedrooms. They are also being installed in addltions to older houses where structural problems limit light from windows.

The most efficient skylights have double or triple glazing and thermalized frames. This means the frame has a built-in insulating barrier between the inside and outside surfaces. The break in the frame prevents the cold outside air from being conducted inside the house through the frame.

Most skylights are prefabricated in a wide variety of sizes and shapes, but some are custom-formed. Flat tops seems to be preferred over domed units because they are unobtrusive and blend more easily into the roof.

ΞĊ

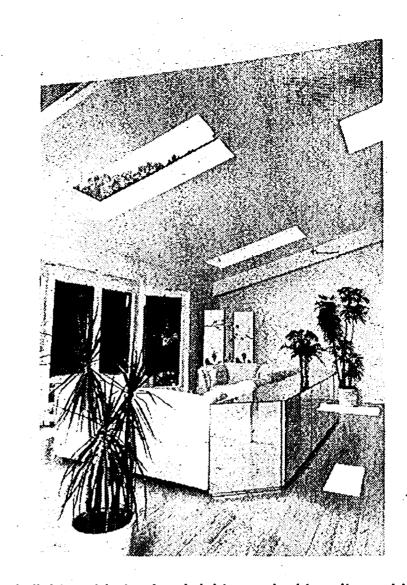

THESE SKYLIGHTS incorporate tempered glass or plastic set into a rigid frame which has a self-flashing perimeter and permanent weather sealing. Interior frames have either aluminum or wood finishes.

Clear or tinted panels are available. Tinted or reflective glass or plastic allows for greater sun control without changing colors inside or outside the room.

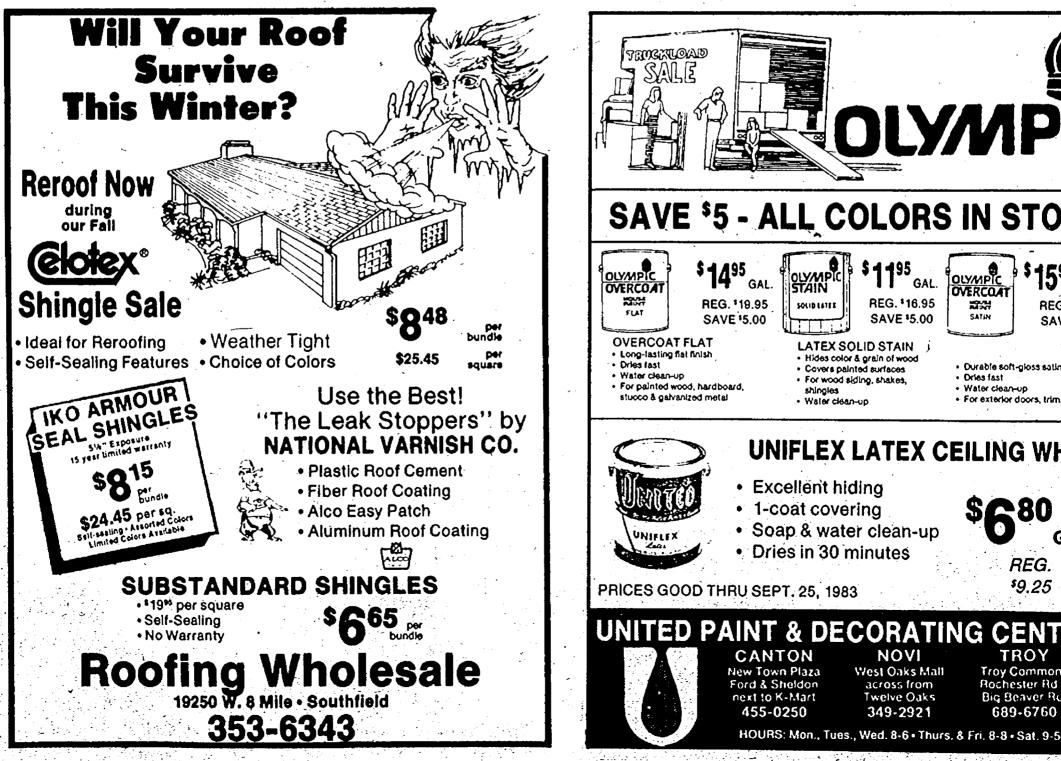

In winter, well-Insulated skylights reduce some of the need for electric lighting and admit solar hear to keep the room warm. Although most skylights are permanently sealed into the roof, some have vents and screens. These are particularly effective for removing smoke and cooking odors.

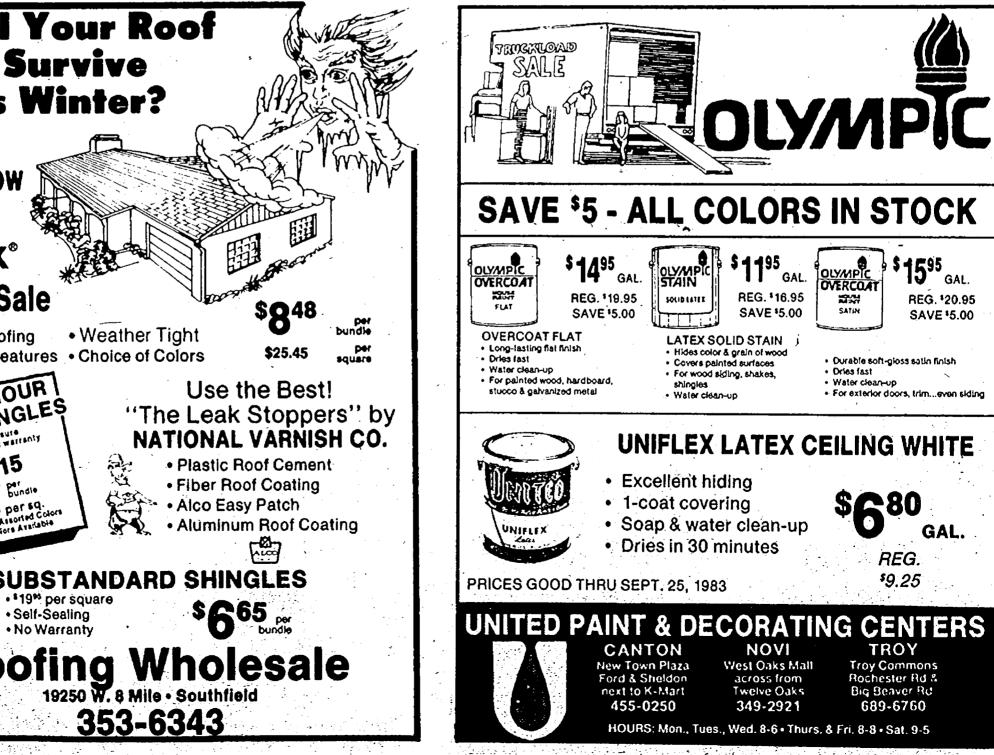

WHENEVER POSSIBLE. skylight should be installed flush with the roof of a building. Where the roof is pitched or there is an attic above the room, a skylight can be tunneled from the ceiling to the roof.

Such "vaulted" skylights were installed in a recent kitchen addition where there was a structural problem.

Two skylights set in tandem brighten and add excitement to this living room. Each skylight contains one-inch thick double pane glass installed in a lighweight aluminum frame, the interior of which is finished with California redwood.

The great coverup

Papers' dress up decors

Wallcoverings can create a mood more effectively and at less cost than almost any other decorating tool. To--day's wallcoverings run the gamut in decorating styles - from country and colonial to traditional to contemporary to juvenile.

Recent collections to the country look are collections featuring needlework patterns and the motifs from patchwork gulits and Americana folk art.

Reflecting a trend toward romance and elegance are the watercolor look, the new wallcoverings with just a hint of glitter showing through, and the light-reflective molre, satin, damask and pearlescent looks.

in contemporary, the grids and small-scale geometrics and florals still are popular, giving an upbeat, airy look.

TEXTURES, both natural and vinyl, are being used to bring warmth and subtle interest to both traditional and contemporary furnishings. Included in the category are the look of grasscloth, basket weaves and corduroy, and handsome herringbone patterns, checks and stripes.

The luxurious look is found in the new textile wallcovering where thin or thick yarn is laminated to a paper backing.

Commercial builders have long known that painted walls can't compare with the tough vinyl wallcoverings when it comes to durability.

An Important consideration in selecting a wall covering which will reguire little maintenance is to choose one with an overall pattern or texture. A pattern with large white areas will show more solling.

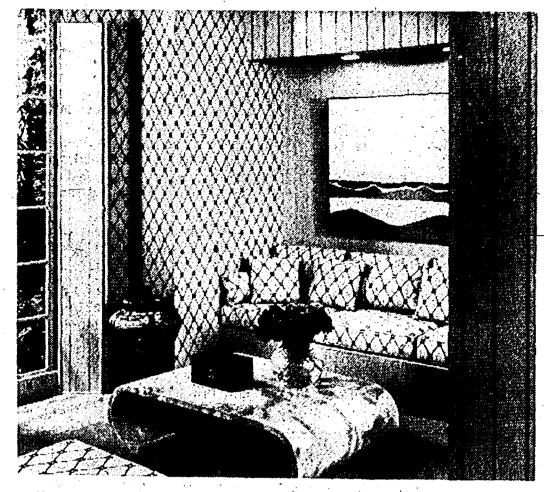

Here's some tips for selecting wallparer from the Wallcovering Information Bureau.

 You'll probably be happlest living with the colors you like to wear, so choose the colors for your decorating scheme which will make you look good.

• Tell the retailer what style you are looking for, what your price range is and if you are going to hang it yourself so you can be guided accordingly.

Don't be too fussy in making your preliminary selections. After you have a half-dozen or so, go over them again to narrow the choices down.

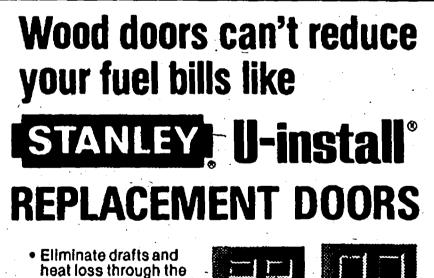

For a copy of "The Wallcovering How-To Handbook," which gives tips on how to decorate with wallcoverings and instruction on how to hang them, send your request with 50 cents to the Wallcovering Information Bureau, Dept. F83, 66 Morris Ave., Springfield, N.J. 07081.

Warmth, dimension and style are achieved by using three handsome textile wallcoverings and a coordinated fabric in this small space. From the Threads Collection by Wallco, a geometric called "Herald Square" in wallcovering and fabric covers one wall and cushions, while a subtle strip called "Madison Avenue" defines the alcove and repeats on screen. A plain texture covers the back wall and base of banquette.

Time to tune up air conditioner

With rising oil and gas prices, a lot of attention has been focused on the value of regularly servicing the home heating unit.

But don't overlook air conditioning maintenance jobs, because the cost of cooling a house can sometimes be more expensive than the cost of heating one.

Tuning up an air conditioner is an easy do-it-yourself job that pays dividends, according to AI Ubell, author of an energy-saving guide. Now that the weather has cooled down a bit and the air conditioner is not in constant use, it's a good time to servie your unit.

"The first thing to remember about air conditioners is that even the most efficient are relatively expensive to operate," Ubell said.

"All air conditioners should be serviced once a year. And that means motors should be lubricated, colls cleaned and filters changed.

"AIR CONDITIONERS operate as heat and humidity extractors. They draw warm, moist air out of a room or house, remove the heat and the moisture and dissipate them outside the structure. Dirt will hinder the flow of hot air and make the unit work longer, thus increasing the energy bill."

Air conditioner coils are heat exchangers. Interior coils absorb heat and exterior coils expel it.

"Dirt buildup on the coils hinders both functions," Ubell explained. "You can clean the external coils with a damp rag or a soft brush and then vacuum. You can hose down the external coils while watering your lawn or washing your car."

Before anything is done with filters, Ubell cautioned it is important that the unit be turned off and unplugged. Running fan blades are dangerous. The filters in window units should be cleaned or replaced once a month during the cooling season. Foam filters should be washed in shampoo or in liquid detergent. The washed filter may be replaced while it's still damp.

During the summer, filters in central air conditioners should be changed every month. Most units have a pair of filters that sell for about $1 each.

HERE ARE more money-saving hints on air conditioning.

• Try to place the individual window unit on the north side of the home or in the shade. If that's impossible, place an awning over the unit. Less heat outside the house makes it easler for the unit to dissipate heat from the inside. • Take a look to see that no bugs or rodents have taken up residence.

• Keep furniture, drapes and shrubbery away from the unit and vents to assure proper air circulation.

• Keep your home at 78 degrees. Not only will you help save energy, you'll save on your electric bill. For every degree you raise the temperature in an air conditioned room, you'll save 2 or 3 percent of your cooling costs.

• On very hot days, the air conditioner will perform most efficiently with the fan set on high. But in very humid weather, the opposite is true. A low fan speed allows more moisture to be removed.

• If your air conditioner is more than eight years old, you might consider buying a new high efficiency model. You could save as much as 30 percent in operating costs.

Be a fan of fans

In an era when technological advances seem to be announced nearly every day, it's interesting to note that an invention that has been around for nearly a century is gaining increasing popularity today.

The invention is the fan, and hough it's by no means a recent innovation, its ability to economically and efficiently provide cooling comfort makes it more valuable than ever today.

Manufacturers of fans, or powered ventilating equipment, offer a variety of products to serve a number of purposes within the home. Foremost among the energy-saving powered ventilators is the whole-house fan. Situated near the center of the home, the fan can be used in summer months to draw in cooler evening air through open windows, lowering the temperature inside the house. The fan also creates cooling breezes which can make the temperature seem two to eight degrees cooler than it actually is.

IN BOTH summer and winter, powered attic space ventilators can offer important advantages to the homeowner.

In the summer, excessive heat can build up in the attic. This heat can penetrate to the house below, causing discomfort as it increases the temperature. And the heat can cause structural damage as it deteriorates building materials in the attic and roof.

By installing a powered attic space ventilator in the attic and equipping it with a thermostatic control, the homeowner can expel the excessive heat before it spreads or causes damage. The fan automatically turns on when the termperature exceeds safe levels and shuts off once most of the moisture has been expelled.

The bathroom poses a threat to a home's energy efficiency because of the large amont of moisture it generates. Unchecked, this moisture can lead to costly damage in and around the bathroom as well as in other portions of the house.

Shower operation poses the greates danger in terms of the amount of airborne moisture it creates. An exhaust fan installed in the wall or ceiling can quickly and efficiently expel that moisture before it can cause problems. The exhaust fan gets rid of excessive heat, odors and aerosol pollutants before they can harm the indoor environment.

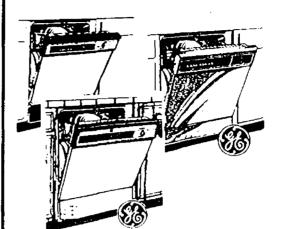

WHEN IT COMES to indoor pollution, the kitchen is unmatched by any other room in the house. It is estimated that the average kitchen produces nearly 200 pounds of airborne grease each year. Along with the grease, kitchens produce heat, smoke, moisture and odors, all of which can be rid of by installing a range hood over the stove.

The beauty of today's celling fans has made them an integral part of decorating schemes, but they are more than decorations. Celling fans are useful in increasing a home's energy efficiency throughout the year. During the warm summer months, the fans can be operated to create breezes which cool the occupants of the room below. In winter, the fan forces warm air which has risen to the celling back down to warm occupants, taking some of the burden off the hearing system.

The Home Ventilating Institute, a voluntary organization of manufacturers, offers simple formulas for use in determining the capacity of the fan needed to ventilate rooms. For information, contact the Home Ventilating Institute, 4300-L Lincoln Avenue, Rolling Meadows, III. 60068.
