cerned are too far down the road to even discuss at this point."

"The system has the capability of two-way services," Pickering said. "But as of right now, nothing is planned."

THE AGREEMENT calls for Continental to hire city residents and use city-based firms for purchases and construction subcontracts "to the maximum extent possible." The company is to "conduct an aggressive training program to train local residents" for employment in the cable industry, particularly the unskilled and semi-skilled, the contract states.

Under the agreement, initially the second price tier will carry Detroit area television stations over 11 channels, one Chicago and one Atlanta station and local and community video programming services and usage, among other programs. It provides for grants totaling $1.25 million, including a $1.50 annual scholarship, for public usage.

A cable coordinator and seven-member cable commission will be named, Pickering said. He said that city planner Dale Farland will look into what the city would expect of the coordinator.

The coordinator will be a full-time position, according to Pickering. He said the commission, which he called the "watchdog" of the system, will be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the council after both bodies submit the names of possible appointees.

"The criteria has to be determined by the council," Mehl said. "(The coordinator) will be experienced in cable TV. The cable commission isn't going to be an easy commission. They're going to have a tremendous amount of work to do."

WESTLAND'S CABLE TV contract was worked out by negotiating committees from the city and Continental. The city made changes on the first draft of the agreement and submitted it to Continental for the company's response.

Mehl estimated that changes were made on three-fourths of the proposal. These included changes in the language of the contract to clear up the city's concerns, he said. Also, Continental changed the design of the system to save the company $200,000, according to Mehl.

"It means very little to us," he said. "We can still receive in the home all that's incorporated into the system. We didn't lose anything as far as we're concerned."

The mayor and council members praised those involved in ironing out the contract, particularly Farland.

Serving on the city's negotiating committee were Farland, Mehl, Neal, City Attorney Jeffrey Jahr, Councilman Charles "Trav" Griffin and Carl Pilonick, cable TV consultant for Westland of Telecommunications Management Corp. Continental's panel consisted of Stern, Kay'elen Perry, Richard S. Weigand and Michael Ritter, Continental vice president and general manager.

A Nightingale resident chooses between a plant box and a tissue box cover, while a Churchill student explains each of the items.

Residents of Nightingale celebrate early Christmas

A GROUP OF young and enthusiastic Santas arrived via truck and more than a week before Christmas, much to the delight of residents at the Nightingale Nursing Home in Westland.

The young Santas were Churchill High School students in the adaptive woodworking class taught by Bob Armstrong and Mary Lynn Giovan. They came bearing handmade wooden gifts, which they presented to the 240 residents in the center. The gifts consisted of tissue box covers, trays and decorative plant holders.

"There were a lot of smiling and appreciative faces," said Armstrong, who has taught woodworking at Churchill for the last 15 years. "It was a real positive experience for the students. Everyone who was involved came away feeling good," he added.

This isn't the first time Armstrong's classes have used their wood working talents to spread a little holiday cheer. For the last eight years, classes had made toys, which they gave to needy children. This year, however, Armstrong and Giovan decided to try something different.

"We called the home and found out what the residents needed. We wanted to make sure we made something they would use. We asked the students if they wanted to participate and..."

The adaptive woodworking class completed the majority of the project with volunteer assistance from Armstrong's woodworking classes and Giovan's craft class. The items were antiqued and then stenciled with multicolored designs.

Eight weeks and a lot of hard work later, the students loaded 250 wooden gifts into Armstrong's truck for delivery to the Westland nursing home — which is down the street from Churchill.

Armstrong and Giovan plan to pick another nursing home next year.

"If the community likes it and the school district thinks it's worthwhile, we'll do it every year," Armstrong said.

"There were some who were doing it as a joke, and I took it as a joke," said Santa at Livonia Mall. "Then I told them that as long as they are healthy and have good food to eat... That shrunk them right down to my size. They're going to believe in Santa until they're 60."

"ONE PERSON gave his list, then said, 'Santa, do you deliver in Ohio?'"

"There are some who don't want to believe in Santa and don't want others to believe either," Collicott said. He says that Santa answers these by saying, "I'm not human, I'm a spirit. That's how I can be in all the different stores at once."

How does Santa get down the chimney? And what if you don't have a chimney?

"I make myself small," Santa said at Wonderland. "I can't do that here, because it scares the big people. I did it once and all the big people ran away."

"Everybody has some kind of chimney," he continued. "Everybody has a little one, the bathroom vent."

AND THEN there are those, including the poor and the handicapped, who tug on the heartstrings. Handicapped children usually are more concerned about what their family members will be getting for Christmas than what they want themselves, Collicott says.

"There are kids who ask for a coloring book or a box of crayons, and that's all," he said. "They have been programmed not to ask for more. They get to me."

Collicott still gets tears in his eyes when he remembers a youngster who came to see Santa last year, the first year Collicott helped at the mall.

"He was paralyzed from the waist down," he said softly. "He asked for a couple of the usual things. And then he said the only thing he wanted special was for (Santa) to come and see his tree. They had put the tree in his room so he could see it."

SUCH YOUNGSTERS are among Santa's favorites, Collicott says. But he loves all children.

"They need it more," said Santa at Wonderland. "I tell them Santa loves them. The best part is when you get kids like that and you get through to them."

"Sometimes they'll hug (Santa), and it makes you feel better when they do that," Malek said. "That's when it's fun."

"I really enjoy it — the excitement and the kids and the whole idea of Christmas," said Spillare, a Michigan State University graduate.

"I love it," said Konrad, a Livonia resident who retired after 35 years as a letter carrier. "It restores my faith in young people. Some of the most beautiful kids in the world have come here."

Program offers low cost way to improve house

Aid for handicapped available

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

If rain drops keep fallin' on your head, you may want to contact someone at the Dorsey Community Center in Westland. Gene Hudson, director of a home rehabilitation program funded with federal community development block grant money, said the waiting list for financing repairs is "way down."

"Our waiting list is down to about five people. We could start paperwork on new people almost immediately," Hudson said.

The program has done rehabilitation work on 100 houses in Westland, and, since a program was set up to handle emergencies about 1 1/2 years ago, another 60 homes have been repaired.

Hudson doubts that means the program has reached a saturation point.

"Not in a community this large," he said. "There are definitely people out there who aren't aware of the program. We want to make sure that if they choose not to have the work done, it's not because they haven't heard of the program."

INCOME GUIDELINES from the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development are used to determine eligibility for the program, Hudson explained. Under those guidelines, a family of four with an income of less than $15,400 could receive a loan, which may not have to be repaid, to do the repairs.

Hudson said that such a family wouldn't be required to pay anything initially, and unless the family's income changed in the next several years or the home were sold, the family "wouldn't be responsible for any payments at all." If the home is sold, however, a percentage would be deducted from the sale to cover the loan.

"The program is to help low-income families in homes they've helped develop themselves, not to promote resale," he said.

Families with incomes of up to $24,850 may be eligible for a 3 percent loan.

"That's virtually free money," said Hudson. "They can take 10 to 15 years to repay it. There are payments as low as $10 a month."

"Once a determination has been made that a family is eligible, we make it pretty easy so they don't have to pay back or pay very little."

TO PROVE eligibility, homeowners are expected to show bank statements, income tax forms or other forms of income to show their ability to pay for the work.

People who are turned down for the program because they are outside the income guidelines are given a list of contractors that the city works with so that they can get their own competitive prices.

For those in the program, what is to be renovated is planned with the family, but houses rehabilitated must be brought up to code.

"We emphasize homeowner participation," Hudson said. "If the interior or exterior needs to be painted, we supply the paint and they do the manpower."

Generally, those program participants have lived in their homes a minimum of one year, according to Hudson.

"We don't want to encourage people to buy homes just to get the work done or meet city certification inspection.

There must be a history of homeownership," he explained.

While the work to be done varies from house to house, one new part of the program is barrier-free renovation for handicapped people who wouldn't be able to continue to live in their homes without having them modified.

Hudson said that such repair work could include making bathrooms accessible to wheelchairs, lowering kitchen cabinets, widening doors, eliminating bumps over doorways and building ramps.

"Most times the handicapped don't live by themselves, but when they do, their homes need to be modified," he said.

54-year-old home sports a facelift

By Sandra Armbruster
editor

A "fairly dramatic" change in living conditions for a Westland senior citizen in her late 60s is making for a warmer, more comfortable winter for the woman.

"The home was falling down around her," said Gene Hudson, director of the city's home rehabilitation program through which the woman's home was repaired. The program is funded through federal community development block grant funds.

"It wasn't until a city inspector found out about the home through word of mouth, that we were aware of the problem," Hudson continued. "We helped her and, in turn, helped the neighborhood because we did work on the outside that hopefully will encourage others to do as well."

EXTENSIVE WORK was done throughout the house. Cost of the renovation project was $16,217, and Jane Romej thinks it was worth every penny.

"It's like a different home," said Romej, who has lived in her home on Farragut since 1929.

"It's a big improvement. I'm surprised it turned out so well," she added.

Over the years, nine children called it home. After they left, one bedroom wall was removed to enlarge the front room. That left Romej with a living room, kitchen, utility, bathroom, spare room for grandchildren to play and her bedroom, all in need of repair.

In the bathroom, the toilet and tub were replaced. The wall behind the toilet, which had deteriorated due to a water leak, was repaired. The utility room floor was replaced, a new laundry tub and furnace installed. Ceilings were replastered, and insulation was added.

Floor boards and cabinet doors in the kitchen were replaced, and the home's 40 amp service was upgraded to 100 amp.

Old, wood windows, which Hudson said had "huge" drafts, were replaced with insulated windows. The roof was reshingled.

Exterior maintenance work Romej had done included tearing down an old shed, to improve the appearance of the property.

OF ALL THE work done, Romej said she likes her new kitchen the best.

"They put in new windows, and the one above the sink has a wide sill. I never had that before," she said.

Romej said the people who run the program are "real considerate."

"They don't rough-ride over you," she said. "If you've got an idea, they'll listen."

"I really appreciated that. Some people talk down to you just because you're poor, but being poor doesn't mean you don't have brains."

The utility room of the house (above) shows wear after 54 years of use. Rehabilitation of the room (below) included a new laundry tub, furnace, ceiling repairs and insulation.

The Romej home has seen 54 years and nine children during its lifetime. The worn-out house (above) received a total facelift with city help, including paint, new windows, reshingled roof and other outside maintenance.

Rep. Barns sponsors jail relief bill

Sheriff Robert A. Ficano has a potentially in his effort to win state approval for double-bunking in some cells of the new Wayne County Jail that is under construction.

State Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, will sponsor House Bill 5197 to allow two prisoners to occupy 384 of the new jail's 576 cells. The state Corrections Commission earlier turned down Ficano's request.

"Double-bunking is feasible in the new jail, though not the whole jail," Ficano said this week. "The U.S. Supreme Court has said it is permissible to double bunk in a cell if one looked at the overall conditions."

BARNs, THOUGH a freshman lawmaker, last week won a major victory over a senior House committee chairman on a corrections bill.

Her bill to strip the corrections commission of power to regulate local lockups was passed by the House, 96-6. Among the handful of opponents was corrections committee chairman Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyandotte.

All local lawmakers supported Barns' bill, which advances to the state Senate.

Barns' new bill will allow housing of two inmates in any newly constructed cell that opens onto a day area which allows inmates to remain out of their cells except to sleep.

Barns is vice-chairperson of the Corrections Committee.

FICANO SAID double bunking is necessary because Detroit is about to win court approval to close down its House of Correction in Plymouth Township, thus dumping 650 more prisoners on the county.

"The inmate population keeps going up because judges are giving out heavier sentences," the sheriff added.

Current capacity is 1,693 — including 650 in Dehoco and 1,043 in the existing county jails.

With Dehoco gone, Ficano said, Wayne County's jails will have a capacity of only 1,543 — including 576 in the new jail (with one prisoner to a cell), 753 in the old jail and 214 in the Westland annex.

Double bunking in 384 of the new jail's 576 cells will raise capacity to 1,927, he said.

The new jail, originally to be opened in late fall, is now scheduled for opening in spring. It is named the Andrew Baird Detention Center for the county sheriff of the 1930s to '50s.

Police plan network to help track killers

Michigan police agencies are lauding a new computerized tool for tracking murder cases.

Named HITS, for Homicide Investigative Tracking System, the system "will serve as a useful tool to substantiate repeat offenders and identify any similar characteristics in homicide patterns," said Wayne County Sheriff Robert A. Ficano.

"In the future, this process will tie in to a national system that is in the planning stages called VI-CAP — Violent Criminal Apprehension Program."

THE PROGRAM was designed through coordinated efforts of the Michigan State Police, the Michigan Sheriffs Association and the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

Purpose is to track non-domestic homicides on a statewide basis, helping law enforcement authorities to seize suspects in serial murders.

"Law enforcement has been keenly aware of the problems in identifying and apprehending the mass murderers who travel our state and the country in killing sprees," said Col. Gerald L. Hough, director of the State Police Department.

IT'S A FACT! OPEN SUNDAY!

When Europeans watch television... they watch Grundig.

GRUNDIG

Europeans take their television seriously. They demand high performance, fine finish, and great longevity. And, when discerning Europeans watch television, they watch Grundig.

It's easy to see - and hear - why. Monitor-quality Grundig televisions combine extraordinary picture and sound with edge-of-the-art convenience and reliability.

The Grundig Model 7682 (shown here) delivers a breathtakingly lifelike, 21-inch diagonal picture with a full 330 lines of resolution. And it's got a 20 watt per channel stereo amp and a pair of wide-range, 2-way speakers for "you are there" audio.

Of course, the Grundig 7682 is cable-ready, with random-access electronic tuning. It's got direct audio/video inputs for the best possible performance from your VCR or videodisc player. And the full-function, wireless remote control even lets you adjust color and tint from your favorite chair!

Other Grundig televisions are available in 19-, 21- and 25-inch diagonal screen sizes. All operate on 110 or 220V, and are quickly and economically adaptable to PAL or SECAM standards, for use anywhere in the world. And they're backed by a 1-year parts and labor limited guarantee (2 years on picture tube), with in-home service.

Grundig is television you can enjoy into the next century. And it's available now at the Tech HiFi stores listed below.

People still fear technology

Technophobia has become a common phenomenon in the last decade.

"Technophobics" — persons who fear all that deals with industrial arts, applied science and engineering — make up a significant proportion of the population.

An extreme case of technophobia can lead to Luddite's syndrome, an abnormality associated with Ned Ludd, an 18th century 'Leicestershire' worker who originated the idea of destroying industrial machinery in the belief that its use diminished employment.

MODERN EXAMPLES of this behavior have taken a variety of forms.

Office workers putting staples in key punch cards, pouring coffee in word processors and dropping paper clips in copying machines are a few examples of this type of sabotage.

But Luddite's syndrome isn't the only psycho-social problem associated with high technology. Disk drive envy, parent-child computer guilt, silicon chip depression, personal computer inferiority complex, peripheral paranoia and software overload are just a few of the lesser-known disorders.

DISK DRIVE envy is most common among new purchasers of personal computers. The affliction originates at the time of purchase when the consumer is torn between buying an inexpensive data cassette tape recorder or a costly disk drive.

Even if the choice is to select a disk drive, it is usually a single disk drive. Envy sets in once the purchase decision is compared with a friend or colleague who has dual disk drives.

high tech

Parent-child computer guilt is most commonly experienced in middle class families in the suburbs. Tremendous pressure is exerted on parents by external forces, even in subtle ways, to buy a computer for their children. Commercially constantly show home computers used by children in middle class families with amazing results in learning and future career development.

Neighbors and friends who have bought home computers for their children subconsciously encourage the old "keeping-up-with-the-Jones" adage. But this time it is not by a swimming pool or new car.

LESS COMMON, but potentially more serious, is silicon chip depression.

This neurosis occurs when the owner of a personal computer must take the machine in for routine service or repair. If the length of stay is more than a week, a form of separation anxiety may set in to further complicate the situation.

Personal computer inferiority complex is probably the most widespread psychological disorder. Inferiority complexes are not new, but now there is a new twist. If you bought a Timex Sinclair home computer for $29.95, you probably won't even tell someone who owns a Commodore 64.

The same is true if you bought a Texas Instrument 99/4A for $49.95, and your next door neighbor has an Apple IIe. Usually, a personal computer inferiority complex is greatly reduced when the two competing parties have an Apple IIe and an IBM PC.

Peripheral paranoia is more widely known among the more serious personal computer users. This phenomenon usually occurs when a user has several peripheral pieces of equipment hooked up to his or her machines, including a printer, disk drive, monitor, modem and joy sticks.

The user in this case imagines some type of equipment failure, and fears having to locate the source of the problem. Carried to its extreme, a rare form of keyboard paralysis may occur.

SOFTWARE OVERLOAD usually attacks the unsuspecting computer neophyte. Having already purchased a machine, the less experienced computer user will carelessly buy numerous software programs for a variety of applications.

Faced with an armload of diskettes the user comes to the realization that all the software programs have user manuals which must first be thoroughly read and understood.

Neighbors and friends who have bought home computers for their children subconsciously encourage the old "keeping-up-with-the-Jones" adage.

In addition to the psycho-social abnormalities described above, three physical conditions may also be common among heavy users. They are CRT eye strain, keyboard finger and data entry low backpain.

Eye strain is caused by long uninterrupted periods of viewing the CRT. Keyboard finger is caused when the user exclusively uses the index fingers on each hand in a traditional "hunt and peck" fashion. In a short period of time, a callous forms on both index fingers.

Low back pain is common among most office clerical workers. Desk top computer users are especially vulnerable since they usually sit in uncomfortable chairs when entering data over an extended period of time.

Regardless of the potential problems it may cause, if you, or a member of your family, receive or purchased a home computer as a Christmas gift, I am sure it will get a lot of use, even if it may be hazardous to your health.

This year your IRA will be a tax saver. Someday it could be a life saver.

When you open your IRA at Manufacturers Bank, you'll get a hefty tax break for 1983. Someone who makes $30,000 a year, for instance, would save an estimated $650 in taxes on a $2,000 IRA contribution. In a few years, your IRA could give you an even bigger break. It could help you live the kind of retirement you always dreamed of. And when you look at it that way your IRA will really be a lifesaver.

At Manufacturers Bank, we offer high-yield 48 month and 72 month IRA's. We offer something else, too: a way to help you finance your IRA through our revolving lines of credit.

Even after you consider the interest you'll pay, you'll still come out ahead with your tax break.

Rick Phillips received $1,000 under a AAA program designed to cut losses due to car thefts. Phillips earned the reward by spotting his friend's stolen van.

Observant man earns reward.

An observant 20-year-old Westland man has earned a $1,000 reward through the Automobile Club of Michigan's new ACTION (Arrest Car Thieves in Our Neighborhoods) program.

Last October Rick Phillips was looking for a parking space at a shopping mall when he saw what appeared to be his friend's stolen van. Even though the exterior of the vehicle had been changed slightly, the interior wasn't.

"I helped my friend customize his van, so the minute I saw the interior, I knew it was his," said Phillips. He contacted the mall's security force, which in turn called Dearborn police. The police waited until a person entered and drove off in the van before an arrest was made and a warrant was issued for receiving and concealing stolen property.

The $1,000 check will come in handy during this holiday season because Phillips is unemployed. THE AUTO CLUB believes that the new program will help stem a growing, statewide car theft problem.

"Persons like Rick who spot a stolen vehicle or evidence of a theft are encouraged to call in information to our toll-free hotline number: 1-800-AAA-LOSS (222-5677)," said Henry Morelli, Auto Club's Wayne-Westland manager.

Auto Club theft claims have doubled in the last two years from $27.2 million in 1980 to $54.4 million in 1982. Statewide car theft last year cost Michigan motorists $520 million.

The ACTION program was launched by the Auto Club last July 1. The program includes rewards of up to $1,000 for the arrest and prosecution of individual car thieves, and up to $10,000 for the breakup and conviction of organized theft rings and chop shops. Since the program's inception, the Auto Club has paid out $16,000 to 15 informants.

Those who know a car thief's identity or chop shop location are asked to call the police, then phone the hotline or mail complete information to ACTION, Automobile Club of Michigan, P.O. Box 6006, Dearborn 48121.

Unless anonymity is requested, persons should include a name, address and telephone number. Those who want anonymity should include a code number.

Have a heart - eat chips

A three-week campaign to collect potato chip bags is to raise $2,000 for the cardiac unit at Children's Hospital of Michigan in Detroit.

Bags from any flavor of Frito-Lay potato chips are being collected by the Ticker Club, a non-profit organization which supports the cardiology services of Children's Hospital. The chip bags must be from eight-ounce packages or larger. No other Frito-Lay products are included in the drive.

The Ticker Club hopes to collect 5,000 bags before Jan. 7. In turn, Frito-Lay will donate $2,000 to the hospital.

Mail bags by Jan. 2 to Ticker Club Inc., c/o Jack M. Moulik, 3702 Sandburg Drive, Troy 48064.

Those who collect 200 or more bags can call 689-7735 to arrange for a pick-up.

PTA sponsors newsletter contest

The Livonia PTA Council is accepting entries in its second annual PTA newsletter contest.

Each PTA newsletter editor may submit two publications for judging that have been produced between February 1983 and February 1984. The purpose of the contest is to promote improved Livonia school publications.

Judging will be based on design and layout, writing, headlines and content. Deadline for entries is Friday, Feb.

3. Entries should be sent to Pattie Coughlan at Riley Middle School, 15555 Henry Ruff, Livonia 48154.

First-place winner will receive a plaque. Second- and third-place winners will receive a certificate of merit. A new category in this year's contest is "most-improved newsletter."

Winners will be announced at the Founder's Day Banquet Wednesday, Feb. 22.

Mary Wade of Livonia talks about her pride and joy, the house behind her, to students of Temple Christian School in Redford. Her husband is the Rev. Joseph Wade, associate pastor of Temple Baptist Church, which sponsors the school.

Children at Temple Christian School pay close attention as Mary Wade of Livonia talks to them about the meaning of Christmas.

Kids 'home in' on Christmas, miniatures

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

WHAT A TREAT for the Christmas season!

A dollhouse full of miniature toys, furniture, microscopic silverware, a crib with a canopy on top and Christmas trees. All through the house not a creature was stirring, not even the mouse, a tiny one about the size of a thumbnail.

About 40 students from Temple Christian School in Redford marched down into the basement of the Livonia home of Mary and Joseph Wade to see the 16-room house (plus one closet).

The purpose of the visit was to hear Mrs. Wade talk about the birth of Christ and the meaning of the coming holiday. She led into the religious theme by first presenting a little personal history.

"I was born on Christmas day," she told the children who were sitting in neat rows on a carpet. "My name is Mary. I grew up and married Joseph. His father was a carpenter. My father was a wise man."

BECOMING MORE SERIOUS she said: "The real meaning of Christmas is the Lord's birthday. Why do we give gifts? Loving is giving. What do you think the Lord wants you to give him?"

"Gold," suggested a child. "Love," said another. "Right," Mrs. Wade responded to the second child. "What Christ also wants you to do is obey your parents and be good children."

She asked the children why God let Jesus be born in a stable.

"Because there was no room in the inn," put in a youngster.

"Because there wasn't any beautiful houses like this," observed another, pointing to the large dollhouse before her.

Mrs. Wade told them it was because God wanted a simple setting to convey the idea that no one would be excluded from following Jesus because of lack of riches.

She added: "God is a spirit. We worship Him as a spirit. No one has ever seen Him. That's why we have to have faith."

THE STUDENTS then had a chance to look into the wonderful house. They would have liked to pick up every chair, examine the sterling silver brush and comb set and the rocking horse, touch the ice skates and try out the piano. But it was not a hands-on deal. The objects could be broken too easily, Mrs. Wade told them.

To encourage them to look carefully, she told them there was a small mouse with a long tail in one of the rooms. After that, the children called out as they found it. On their second trip around, to keep them looking sharply, the mouse was whisked to another room.

The children probably had little idea of the care that Mrs. Wade's uncle, Kenneth Linquist, lavished on building the house before his death. Who can estimate the patience it took to fashion 1,500 hand-cut shingles, one inch by one inch, for the roof?

Linquist was determined to finish his project despite a massive heart attack that caused his doctor to predict he would never be able to complete it.

Mrs. Wade noted that although he had large hands, her uncle made the small built-in wall cupboards.

"He made the fireplace and outside chimney, carving in the wood every line for the bricks," she said. "He also made the window frames, and everything was made from his own measurements, not prefab. He made the curved oak open stairway going into a room above as it would in a real house."

IT WAS MRS WADE'S pleasant task to wallpaper and paint the inside of house. Then she scouted out such items as sideboards, couches, tables, three Bibles, a brass victrola and a Victorian chair for her Victorian house. She placed a miniature picture of her mother in one room, and in the library she hung miniature oil paintings of herself and her husband.

Going further afield she found a set of brass cups in Bethlehem, Israel, and a wicker baby carriage in Switzerland. One of her favorite finds was an antique miniature lamp from Cape Cod.

She has been inviting youngsters, younger children as well as eighth graders, into her home for about four years.

"Senior citizens also love it," she said. "It would be a useless investment if you couldn't share it."

The back of the Victorian-period house opens so kindergarteners and their teacher, Linda Parker, can get a close-up view of the miniature marvels inside.

SEMTA bus schedules will change for holidays

SEMTA buses will operate under modified schedules during the Christmas and New Year holidays in anticipation of shorter workdays for many passengers, according to General Manager Gary Krause.

On two Fridays, Dec. 23 and 30, SEMTA will move selected afternoon outbound trips to noon hours.

In Wayne County, Routes 810, 820, 830 and 835 trips will leave downtown at 12:30 p.m. on both days. The following late afternoon trips on these routes will not operate: Route 810 — 4:45 p.m.; Route 820 — 4:58 p.m.; Route 830 — 4:42 p.m.; and Route 835 — 4:36 p.m.

Buses on Route 200 run every 15 minutes during the afternoon; and on Route 125, early afternoon buses leave downtown at 12:20 p.m. and 1:10 p.m.

Eye, New Year's Day and Jan. 2.

Small buses will operate on Dec. 23 and Dec. 30. Community Connector service will be classes on the following weekdays: Nankin Transit, Dec. 26-30, and Redford Township Dec. 23, 26, 30 and Jan. 2.

Holiday service changes for specific routes will be posted on SEMTA buses. For additional information about holiday bus service or for fare and route information, call SEMTA's Customer Information Center at 962-5516.

The center is open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. On Dec. 23 and Dec. 30, operators will be on duty from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. The center will be closed Dec. 24-26 and Jan. 1-2.

SEMTA's special weekend fare for large bus service is in effect this holiday season and will continue during 1984.

Weekend trips cost 75 cents each way for full-fare passengers and 50 cents each way for seniors, handicapped persons and youths ages 6-18. Passengers can take advantage of the bargain fare for travel to and from area malls, shopping centers and when visiting such attractions as Greenfield Village, the Cultural Center area, Pontiac Silverdome, Greektown and Eastern Market on weekends.

ON DEC. 24, Christmas Eve, regular Saturday service will be offered.

Sunday service will be available on Christmas Day and on Monday, Dec. 26.

Buses will operate on Saturday schedules on New Year's Eve and on Sunday schedules on New Year's Day. On Mon. Jan. 2, buses will operate on Sunday schedules.

Ceccato conducts Ravel, Debussy

By Avigdor Zaromp
special writer

How many ways are there to divide four by two? Most would be inclined to assume that there is just one way to do it. Four divided by two equals two, and that's it.

This is true enough, except that there is more than one way to split four items into two sets of two. In fact, there are three ways to do so, if the order is to be disregarded.

While this is not meant to be a lecture on the theory of permutations and combinations, the situation presented itself in last week's program of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The program featured four works — two by Debussy and two by Ravel. This is one way of splitting the program, which was the original way listed.

Then came the realization that two of these compositions are Spanish-oriented — "Iberia," from the set "Images pour Orchestre" by Debussy, and "Rapsodie Espagnole" by Ravel. This gave rise to a second way to split the program which was the way actually chosen.

The "non-Spanish" second portion consisted of the "Prelude a l'apres-midi d'un Faune" by Debussy and "La Valse" by Ravel.

Guest conductor was Aldo Ceccato, who served as the music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra from 1973 to 1977.

review

IT IS no secret that Ceccato was a controversial figure during his tenure here as music director, and many musicians have mixed feelings about him.

Without attempting to take sides in this controversy, this latest performance of his had several rewarding moments. One of the exceptions was in the opening "Iberia."

While the individual musicians certainly knew their parts and played their notes dutifully and with rhythmic coordination, there seemed to be an absence of view of the total score. There was a general feeling of aimlessness with the individual parts failing to blend into the whole.

But things improved considerably in the performance of the other pieces. Ravel's "Rapsodie Espagnole" brought forth the Spanish character of the work. It could be said that it was occasionally too controlled, but there was a good unity of sound and a much higher sense of integration than evidenced in the "Iberia."

In the second portion of the program, Debussy's short "Prelude a l'apres midi" sounded stylistically authentic. In particular, principal flutist Ervin Monroe should be commended for his excellent performance.

THE CLOSING work, Ravel's "La Valse," has been performed by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on numerous occasions, the latest one being in 1981.

More on wills

Last week we discussed some aspects of developing a valid will. Here are additional considerations that must be taken into account in finalizing a will.

• Marital deduction. You can leave your spouse a specific dollar amount or a stated fraction of your estate. Most estate planners generally favor a clause that leaves a flat dollar amount. The reason is that your assets will probably increase in value, and so would a marital fraction. Since marital deduction property will be taxed in the estate of the surviving spouse, you will lower the family estate tax bill by passing as much property as possible to your children through a nonmarital trust, rather than to a steadily growing marital fraction.

• Joint property with right of survivorship. Married couples often own property jointly with right of survivorship. Since one-half of the value of jointly owned property is included in the estate of the first spouse to die, that half will receive a step-up basis. But it will not be exposed to estate taxes, since it automatically passes to the surviving spouse under the marital deduction.

• Generation-skipping trusts. You can reduce your estate taxes by giving part of your property to your grandchildren, while giving your children lifetime use. Transfer property into trusts for your grandchildren, with the income payable to our children.

Amounts of over $250,000 per child will be estate-taxed when they pass to the grandchildren at the child's death.

• Choice of guardian. Your guardian should be someone you know well, trust, and have a good personal rapport with. If possible, select a close relative, or at least someone with a similar background as yours, who can impart to your children some appreciation of their heritage.

Sid Mittra is president of Coordinated Financial Planning Inc. in Troy and a professor of management at Oakland University in Rochester.

• EXPANDING
Michigan Dynamics of Garden City is expanding from its position as a long-established supplier of filtration media to a full-line filter company. By completing a major reorganization of its production facilities, including the purchase of advanced pleating and welding and auxiliary equipment, Michigan Dynamics is trying to position itself to handle the production requirements for its anticipated market.

• CPAs COMBINE
R.J. Dickshot & Co. of Livonia and Earl W. Taylor & Co. of Ann Arbor have combined their practices under the name of Taylor & Dickshot P.C. Offices will be maintained in both cities. The continuing firm employs six certified public accountants and 13 other people.

• SMALL BUSINESS
The Michigan Small Business Development Council is being formed to stimulate employment and small business expansion within the state. The council is being organized to help small business owners cut through red tape in obtaining money and to provide representation in Lansing. Membership costs $25 annually. Temporary offices are in Detroit.

Brad Emons

Looking back on what was

This is Brad Cosell. Speaking of sports — 1983.

Plymouth Salem baseball just won't be the same without Brian Gilles.
Will Fred Crissey be back at Canton?
Why do athletic directors continue to hire the basketball/football officiating duo of Doug Curry and Art Anselm?
Why was Amy Austin of North Farmington left off the girls' All-State basketball teams?
Red-shirting high school athletes is wrong. (I could have used another year.)
I still can't believe Ken Kaestner retired.
I was happy to learn from Tim Richard that Marv Gans can "whip up" sports writers.
Speaking of Gans, why doesn't the Schoolcraft administration whip into shape and listen to him?
I can't believe Bob Dropp got a technical the other night.
You got to believe Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson are the cream of the crop in boys' basketball nearing the end of 1983.
WHEN IS FARMINGTON Mercy going to schedule Stevenson in swimming?
Let's revive the Harrison-North Farmington football rivalry.
Stevenson's Rick Rozman is one area's most underrated all-around athletes.
I wasn't impressed with the way Westland John Glenn's administration handled things this year. How about some 1984 resolutions?
Gordie Davis is doing a whale of a job with Glenn's basketball team.
What a job Ralph Weddle did with Clarenceville's football team this year. And how about John Switchenko at Thurston?
Will Mike Adray return to Livonia? I sure hope so.
Why do they hold the state football playoffs in the mud?
Bring back the state girls' basketball tournament to Callhan Hall.
Keith Percin had a big year at Wayne State. The freshman gained over 500 yards rushing and is even more impressive in the classroom, according to coach Dave Farris.
I GOT A GLOWING report from another writer on Al Iaffra's play during the recent USA-USSR hockey series.
It's a shame what happened to Bentley's hockey team this year — all those injuries.
Aren't we taking the finesse out of basketball?
Good guy (and girl) awards: Chuck Olson, for doing the girls' swim stats; Greg Grodzicki, for doing the basketball stats; Manse Tian and Doug Buckler, for volunteering to do the boys' swim stats; Mrs. Gary Fralick, for volunteering to do the boys' track stats; Steve Dolloway, for doing the girls' track stats; Dan Chrenko, for doing the wrestling stats.
Thanks, CC, for sending us those bottles of CC.
I can't compare Mike Fusco to Jim Valvano anymore. Mike is much calmer these days on the bench, almost like CC's Bernie Holowicki.
Talk about guys fired up for volleyball — Jerry Abraham, Borgess; Lee Cagle, Stevenson; and John Miltz, Franklin.
I wish Rocky Watkins would recruit this area harder for Schoolcraft basketball.
What a job Ed Kavanaugh did recruiting this area for the Schoolcraft women's basketball team.
I'd like to see a foot race between Lonnie and Craig Payne.
A LOT OF FOUR-YEAR schools are missing the boat on Schoolcraft's Carlos Briggs. He's leading the nation in scoring with 39.2 average (through eight games).
Congratulations to Schoolcraft's Jim King for making second-team All-American in soccer by the NJCAA.
Worst school spirit: 1. Plymouth Salem, 2. Livonia Stevenson (except soccer), 3. Plymouth Canton.
Best school spirit (top 10): 1. Catholic Central, 2. Farmington Mercy, 3. Westland John Glenn, 4. Garden City, 5. Farmington Harrison, 6. Bishop Borgess, 7. Redford Union, 8. Livonia-Franklin, 9. North Farmington, 10. Livonia Bentley.
Most memorable basketball shot of the season: Brett Emery's 60-footer to give Garden City the win over Glenn.
Wasn't Bentley's Kim Archer "A women among girls" when she played? Good luck at 'State', Kim.
We couldn't have run that All-Star Girls' Soccer Classic without Noreen Divens. Looking forward to next year's game.
I have one thing in common with Salem coach Fred Thomann: I never get sick of basketball.
THANKS FOR THE free-lance time put in by Paul King and Scott Soucy.
Be sure to sign up for the junior bowling tournament. It's something to do over the holidays.
Nicest coaches to deal with (win or lose): basketball, George Sommerman; Jack Reardon and Armand Vigna (tie), football.
Who is going to the Sugar Bowl?
I can't believe it's the last game for Rich Hewlett and Jeff Cohen. Will Dave Hall get the call next season?
Best football game I saw all year: Salem 30, Churchill 29.
Best basketball game I saw all year: Southwestern 53, CC 52.
Some bizarre thing I witnessed this year: 1. Mike Maleske shattering the backboard at CC.
Friendliest organization around: Detroit Tigers (just kidding).

GC's Scott McCloskey, a 6-foot-4 1/4-inch senior, works inside for two points during first round action Tuesday night.

Edsel stalls as GC takes title

By Brad Emons staff writer

Scott McCloskey turned in a holiday special last night as he powered host Garden City to a 68-58 basketball victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford.
The 6-foot-5 senior forward poured in 27 points and grabbed a dozen rebounds en route to MVP honors as the Cougars won their own tourney title.
But the victory was not easy for Garden City.
Edsel, coached by John Kreger, scrapped all the way and led by as many as four points near the close of the third period.
GC, however, was better and more consistent down the stretch as guards Steve Klein (13 points), Paul Krol (11) and Steve Freler (eight) out-played the Thunderbird backcourt.
Leading by only five with two minutes to play, GC got a big tip-in by Dave Haydon to put Edsel in the shop. McCloskey then capped off a big night by slamming home a basket with eight seconds to go.
"THAT McCLOSKEY kid was awesome," Kreger said. "He was tough — what could I say?"
Garden City coach Bob Dropp, meanwhile, wasn't quite as dramatic, but was still pleased with the victory resulting in a 5-2 record at the holiday break.
"Scott has to work to get his points," Dropp said. "He's not the dominating type of kid because he's light. He gets beat around in there — especially going like that two nights in a row."
Edsel led 32-30 at halftime, fell behind early in the third quarter, led again, and then found itself trailing 48-42 at the end of the period after two McCloskey free throws.
"We got a little more active in our zone in the second half," Dropp said. "We were kind of standing around in the first half."
"Then our guards started to get a hand in and they started digging. They were able to make some steals."

EDSEL (1-5), which missed five one-and-one free throw attempts down the stretch, got 20 points from 6-6 junior center Eric Towe and 19 from Steve Hunt.
The 6-5 Hunt, also a junior, never played organized basketball before this year.
Both were named to the All-Tournament team along with McCloskey, Krol, Clarenceville's Tim Spencer and Dearborn Heights Annapolis' Bill Smith.
Annapolis (3-2) defeated Clarenceville in the consolation game 75-54 as Smith and Steve Whitcomb each had 20 points.
Spencer, in early foul trouble, finished with 11, while Marsh Juncaj scored 13 off the bench for the 1-5 Trojans.

RU brings back ex-cage stars

Redford Union's basketball team is filling its 20th date in a unique way.
The varsity will take on a team of Redford alums on Friday, Jan. 6. The game starts at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for elementary school youngsters.
"We have an alumni association of over 7,000 that we call to," said RU athletic director Bob Atkins. "A lot of the ex-players have called me."
"They're very excited about playing."
Atkins said that all of RU's ex-coaches will be in attendance, including the school's first coach, Howard Kraft. He will be joined by ex-RU mentors Van Kostegian, Milo Karhu, Carl Andrews and Bill Foley.
Atkins said he also has commitments from some of the players off the 1972 District championship team — Jerry Petsch, Scott Bjerke and Glenn Richmond.

Late rally falls shy; Wayne tops Glenn

By Chris McCosky staff writer

It doesn't much matter what the sport is. When Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial go at it, it's a war.
Last night's encounter was no exception. The two squads met at Cherry Hill High School in the first round of the Spartan's Holiday Tournament. Wayne won this war, 49-40.
"We didn't handle their pressure very well," said Glenn coach Gordon Davis, who has returned to the coaching ranks after a brief retirement. "Wayne played a good defense and I just didn't have them prepared for that kind of pressure."
Davis took over the Glenn helm when Dan Henry was dismissed by the Glenn administration. Henry's brother Chuck is the head coach at Wayne. Dan Henry was in attendance last night.
EXTRA MOTIVATION for Wayne? How about for Glenn?
"Hey, when Wayne and Glenn go at it, be it in baseball, basketball or tiddly winks, it's a battle. No extra incentive is needed. It's a city rivalry," said Chuck Henry.
"It's a situation that kids didn't even talk about. It was not brought up at all. No factor whatsoever," said Davis.
What was a factor throughout the game was Wayne's pressure defense. Glenn had trouble getting the ball inside to its 6-foot-6 center Mario Grazulis and were forced to gun from the outside.

"They put so much pressure on our ballhandlers, we couldn't see the inside people. They took us out of what we had been doing," Davis said.
Glenn hit just seven of 17 shots in the first half, and trailed 27-19.
Glenn made the first of its two major comeback bids at the start of the second half. Senior guard Jeff Hawley, who finished with 10 points, made a sensational driving layup, was fouled and converted the three-point play. Glenn trailed by five.
THE TWO teams traded baskets, then Glenn went cold. The Rockets went scoreless in eight of their next nine possessions and Wayne lead by 11 after three quarters.
Howley and Craig Thornton led the second Glenn comeback in the fourth quarter. Six points by Thornton and four by Howley, closed the Wayne lead to four, 42-38, with 3:17 left.
"That was as close as it would get. Wayne out-scored the Rockets 7-1 in the final three minutes."
"We played hard and fought back, but we were just a little impatient down the stretch. That's part of our inexperience," said Davis.
Wayne (4-1) was led by Howard Flowers who scored 11 points off the bench, and 6-6 junior Pollis Robertson who scored 10 points despite a tender ankle that kept on the perimeter most of the night.
Grazulis led the Rockets (4-2) with 11. Thornton added eight.
Wayne will play the winner of the Cherry Hill-Howell game tonight for the tournament title. Glenn will play the loser in the consolation match.

Plymouth Salem sounds early warning in WLAA

For the second year in a row Plymouth Salem has won the Western Lakes Swim Relays. The Relays, sponsored annually by the Plymouth-Canton Rotary Clubs, takes place at the Salem pool.
Last Saturday, the Rocks amassed 85 points, 11 more than second place Livonia Stevenson to win the event. Livonia Churchill placed third with 59 points. Northville was a close fourth with 55 and Farmington was fifth with 43.
Livonia Bentley finished sixth in the 10-team field with 38 points. (Complete statistics can be found on page 4C).
Salem coach Chuck Olson, though happy with the victory, said it did not automatically ensure a league championship.
"TO A CERTAIN extent, it is a good indicator of how the league meet might go," Olson said. "But not entirely. I mean, we are real pleased to win the relays. But, I don't think any of the other teams are going give up now and say they can't beat us. If anything, they might have more confidence now."
Olson was concerned that his team won by only a 11-point margin despite being the only team not to have a swimmer disqualified.
The Rocks' swift freestylers spurred the victory, winning two events. The Rocks' 400-yard freestyle team of Erik Kleinsmith, Bob Bowling, Greg Wolff, and Scott Anderson won with a time of 3:25.3, some six seconds faster than the team from Stevenson.

The same four swimmers came back to win the Crescendo relay for Salem in 4:35.4.
Stevenson snatched three firsts in the meet. Kevin Everhart, Kevin Murphy, Kurt Hein and Lewis Ministrelli combined for a 3:59.9 to win the 400-medley.
Everhart, Murphy, Ministrelli and Greg Deska swam a 1:48.4 to capture the 200-medley. Hein, Steve Taormina, Pete Ravenna and Paul McAree did 1:47.4 to win the 200-butterfly.
CHURCHILL WON three events as well. The Chargers' 200-breaststroke team of Eric Baird, Drew Baird, Eric Hutchinson, and Jim Papierski won in 2:00.2.
In the 400-individual medley, Hutchinson, both Bairds and Chris Morasky combined for a winning 4:03.3.
Charger divers Brian Coleman and Vic Valente amassed 390.95 to place first.
Livonia Bentley won the 200-freestyle in 1:35.8.

Dancing It never goes out of style

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

DISCO MAY BE FADING from the scene but dancing isn't. Record-spinning deejays still pull in the crowds at some spots. Other places alternate disc jockey entertainment with video dancing — where dancers move to the sights and sounds of videos displayed on big-screen television and monitors.

All is not lost for those who like live bands. There's a resurgence in dancing of all kinds, including the old-fashioned touch dancing. Bands may offer not only Top 40 tunes and rock but other kinds of slow, danceable music. Even jazz is played for dancers.

Couples who want to get out on the dance floor for a romantic evening have the option of dinner and dancing spots. Here the music is generally more ballad-oriented for dreamy spins around the floor.

Fans of big band music are not ignored. A few of the groups specialize in the big band sound, which gives young and old dancers alike the chance to get in on that '40s beat.

Many restaurants and lounges that don't regularly have dancing will have bands to listen and dance to on New Year's Eve. The listing below, however, presents only those places that have dancing all the time. Area hotels have lounges featuring dancing but these haven't been included in order to give other spots an opportunity to be noticed.

Because of the holiday season, there will be some change in the days given. For example, Saturday is Christmas Eve so the big Saturday night out dancing won't take place due to closing laws. Some Christmas celebrations are scheduled Friday night instead.

On New Year's Eve, Saturday, Dec. 31, hours have been extended for dancing and partying. Many places will have revelry until 4 a.m.

Before planning a night out, call to make sure the spot will be open the night you want to go. Also, check if reservations are required and whether there's a cover charge.

• NICKY'S, 755 W. Big Beaver, main level of Top of Troy Building, Troy. Phone 362-1262. Sophisticated restaurant with high-tech decor opened this fall and has been having crowds line up every night since for dining, drinking, plus dancing for some 50 couples at a time on the big parquet dance floor. Marlene Hill and the Loving Cup plays Top 40 for dancing by couples in 20s to mid-50s and up. Entertainment from 9 p.m. to 1:45 a.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays. No cover charge. New Year's Eve, two seatings for five-course dinner: 6-8 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., with party till 3:30 a.m. Entertainment by the Loving Cup. $45 per person.

• NITRO, 14060 Telegraph, Redford. Phone 538-8200. Video dancing to Top 40 songs from 8:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; 8 p.m. to 2 a.m. Fridays-Saturdays; and on Teen Night, for ages 13-18, from 8:30-10:30 p.m. Sundays. This club claims to have originated video dancing hereabouts some 2 1/2 years ago. Large dance floor with big-screen television, five monitors. No cover charge for women; men, $2. Christmas party from 8:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 22. Two-for-one drink special Tuesdays and Thursdays. Closed Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and New Year's Eve. Teen Night Christmas Party, 6:30-10:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 26.

• DOUG'S BODY SHOP, 22061 Woodward, Ferndale. Phone 399-1040 or 399-1041. Vocalists Orithela Barnes and Mildred Scott and the Pzazz Band, with Top 40 and jazz music for dancing, from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Wednesdays-Saturdays in newly remodeled upstairs showroom. Cover charge varies. New Year's Eve package at 9 p.m. in showroom includes dinner and show, at $30 per person.

• JAMIE'S ON 7, 29703 Seven Mile, Livonia. Phone 477-9077. Dancing and entertainment from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. seven nights a week. Johnny Trudell and his orchestra play big band sounds Monday nights. Two floors of dancing and entertainment Tuesdays-Sundays, with Smokin' playing Top 40 and rock music upstairs and Jamie Coe and Projections playing Top 40 and popular ballads downstairs. New Year's Eve party featuring Smokin' and Jamie Coe and Projections, from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m.

SAVING BABIES...

Recording star Evelyn King:

"There is no greater joy than to have a healthy, beautiful baby. But not all babies are so fortunate — 250,000 infants are born with physical or mental birth defects each year. The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation works to save babies."

More than 100 black and white and color photographs are on display in "Recent Acquisitions: Contemporary Photographs" at Detroit Institute of Arts through Feb. 5.

This is the second exhibition in the museum's recently opened Peggy and Albert de Salle Gallery of Photography and is comprised of work done since 1960.

Photography by Diane Arbus, Howard Bond, Harry Callahan, Elliott Erwitt, Ralph Gibson, Mischa Gordin, Helen Levitt, Joel Meyerowitz, Nick

Nizon, Bill Rauhauser, Aason Siskind, Carl Toth and Brett Weston are among the works acquired by gift and purchase for the permanent collection.

The nucleus of the exhibit is contemporary work acquired through a 1981 National Endowment for the Arts grant of $5,000 for the purchase of photographs of living artists. This amount was matched in 1962 by the Drawing and Print Club of the Founders Society of Detroit Institute of Arts.

With the funding, 23 photographs by other artists were bought for the permanent collection of the department of graphic arts.

Now in the collection are works by Bruce Barnbaum, Marsha Burns, Paul Caponigro, William Clift, Jed Devine, Rita Dilibert, Rick Dingus, Roland L. Freeman, Timothy Greenfield-Sanders and Jan Groover.

Others represented are John Gruen, Steven W. Lewis, Ray Metzker, Denny Moers, Olivia Parker, Robert J. Steinberg, Joel Sternfeld and Jane Tuckerman.

All of these works are displayed for the first time in the current show. Among the Michigan photographers in the show are Monte Nagler, Jim Raymo, John Ganis, Carla Anderson, Douglas J. Aikenhead, Michael Sarnacki, Hugh Grannum, Jerry Sadowski, Richard Shirk and Otis Spraw as well as Bond, Gordin, Rauhauser and Toth.

The exhibition is open without charge during regular museum hours, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Sunday. Closed Mondays and holidays, Dec. 24, 25, 31 and Jan. 1.

second runs

Tom Panzenhagen

"The Big Country" (1958), 1 Saturday night on Ch. 2. Originally 168 minutes. TV time slot: 175 minutes. "The Big Country," a beautifully filmed picture, is set in a land as big as all outdoors, or as big as the seven seas — and that juxtaposition is at the heart of this laconic western. Sea captain Gergory Peck pits his instincts against the manners and mores of rival ranchers Charles Bickford and Burl Ives. Charlton Heston, Jean Simmons and Chuck Connors co-star in the William Wyler film with a lyrical Jerome Moross score. Rating: $2.95.

"Saturn 3" (1980), 9 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 88 minutes. TV time slot: 120 minutes. Stanley Donen's "Saturn 3" looks like a cut-rate space film, but it's filled with wonderful sci-fi concepts, plot twists and ironies. Kirk Douglas and Farrah Fawcett star as a sort of futuristic Adam and Eve, with Harvey Keitel — and his robot, Hector — as the serpent. In the long run, though, there are no good guys and bad guys, and Douglas' realization of this at film's end is one of the finer moments in recent sci-fi flicks. Rating: $3.15.

"The Art of Love" (1965), 12:30 p.m. Tuesday on Ch. 50. Originally 89 minutes. TV time slot: 141 minutes.

"The Art of Love," directed by Norman Jewison, is a lightheaded farce made more interesting by a fine cast that includes James Garner, Dick Van Dyke, Elke Sommer, Angie Dickinson, Carl Reiner and Ethel Merman. The tenor of the film is uncomfortably bubbly, but good intentions put it over the top. Rating: $2.80.

Rating: $2.80.

"Singin' in the Rain" (1952), 5, 7 and 9 p.m. Sunday, at the Puncy & Judy Theatre, 21 Kercheval, Grosse Pointe Farms, phone 882-7363, $2.50. Running time 103 minutes.

Looking for a diversion on Christmas Day? "Singin' in the Rain" may be your best bet, and Grosse Pointe is lovely this time of year. Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds, Donald O'Connor and Cyd Charisse star in the musical spoof of the transition from silent to talking films. Kelly and Stanley Donen (again) share the directing credit. Rating: $3.30.

'Guys and Dolls' has verve

Nancy Gurwin plays Adelaide, who laments her long-term romance with Nathan Detroit, in "Guys and Dolls" at the Botsford Inn Dinner Theatre.

Performances by Nancy Gurwin Productions of the musical "Guys and Dolls" continue Thursdays and Sundays through February at the Botsford Inn Dinner Theatre in Farmington Hills. Cocktails are at 6 p.m., dinner at 6:30, followed by the show. Tickets are $18.50 per person. For reservations, call 474-4800.

By Barbara Michals special writer

With at least eight bouncy hit tunes and lovable, unforgettable characters, "Guys and Dolls" is a perpetual audience-pleaser. The current Nancy Gurwin dinner theater production of the Frank Loesser musical boasts a superb cast and never disappoints.

The familiar fable of Broadway's saints and sinners, based on a story by Damon Runyon, hinges on the eternal battle of the sexes and the notion that a doll can really mess up a guy's life.

Entrepreneur Nathan Detroit (Edgar A. Guest III) has temporarily closed "the oldest established permanent floating crap game in New York," partly to satisfy the demands of his long-time fiancée Miss Adelaide (Nancy Gurwin). While Adelaide is pressuring Nathan for marriage, the heat's on from the cops and a big gambler in town demanding some action.

Fellow gambler Sky Masterson (Joe Lannen) has wagered Nathan that he can bend to his will any doll Nathan names. When Nathan names Sister Sarah (Leah Myers) of the Save-a-Soul-Mission, Sky must work at melting her icy reserve. He gets more than he bargained for.

BELEAGUED THOUGH he is, Guest's Nathan retains an appealing boyishness and indefatigable ingenuity and buoyancy. Guest gets ample opportunity to mug affably, and he really turns on the charm when he's down on his knees begging Adelaide's forgiveness in the very funny number "Sue Me."

review

Gurwin is a perfect Adelaide, complete with nasal twang and very convincing sneezes. Having been "the well-known fiancée" engaged to Nathan for 14 years, she now suspects that her habitual cold is psychosomatic. Anyone ever frustrated in love can appreciate Adelaide's hilarious lament, "for want of a band of gold, a person can develop a cold." Like Guest, Gurwin has a natural exuberance that works beautifully throughout the show.

As the lead singer at the Hot Box Cafe, Adelaide stars in the amusing chorus numbers "A Bushel and a Peck" and "Take Back Your Mink." Some clever costuming splices up the songs and helps compensate for the very tiny stage on which the girls must dance. Choreographer Deborah DeCeco does a fine job of using the available space.

Lannen is a capable Sky Masterson, smooth, charming and displaying a pleasant singing voice in "Luck Be a Lady" and "I've Never Been in Love Before." His "My Time of Day" sounds a bit scratchy, though.

As Sister Sarah, Myers is convincingly shy and vulnerable, and she makes a wonderful drunk in the Havana episode. She does a fine rendition of "If I Were a Bell" and sounds good paired with Gurwin in "Marry the Man Today," but her other numbers are shaky in all the upper ranges.

THE HAVANA sequence, when Sky flies Sarah down for dinner and plies her with drinks, is often the play's one slow spot. Thanks to some judicious cutting by able director Nancy Brasert, the scene flows smoothly and has more pizzazz than any version I've seen before.

Creating in glass

Johnson always showed creativity, even in his earliest classes. While other junior high students made their names out of stained glass, he made an orange tree. Not having any stained glass to make, a Mother's Day present, he improvised by painting clear glass.

The artist's first works after the junior high class were purchased by his mother for gifts.

"I had to have some customers, and she was the main one," Johnson said.

BEFORE HE took his pieces to Wild Wings for the first time in summer 1982, Johnson sold his objects at Everything Animals and Bavarian Village stores.

Johnson has found that his name is known and that people often have a mistaken idea of his experience in the field. Eleanor Johnson recalls the time a woman overheard her and Johnson talking while they were picking strawberries in Belleville. The woman told them she had seen Steve Johnson's art at Wild Wings.

"She said, 'He can't be THAT Steve Johnson, he's too young,'" Mrs. Johnson said. "I thought he'd be in his 50s."

A rose made of stained glass.

Laney, Sharlene Beck, Tamara Esner and Shirley Gower. Show continues through Jan. 10. Regular hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Sunday, 903 N. Main, Royal Oak.

● TROY ART GALLERY

Holiday gifts are highlighted through Jan. 14. Included are original ceramics, stained-glass decorations, hand-designed totes, inlaid wooden pieces along with paintings, art posters and Japanese woodblock prints. Regular hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., 755 W. Big Beaver, Suite 131, Troy.

● SCHWEYER-GALDO GALLERIES

"Floating Pictures," a one-woman exhibition by Francoise Gilot, will continue through Jan. 12.

Gilot, an internationally known artist, is possibly best known for her popular book, "Life With Picasso." Regular hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 330 Hamilton Row, Birmingham.

● GALERIE DE BOICOURT

"Folk Art of Christmas" is the last major show for this gallery, which is changing focus but not location. After this, in smaller quarters in the same building, owner Eve Boicourt, specialist in folk art, textiles and books, will be doing more consulting work and more specialized shows. December hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday and by appointment, 250 Martin, Birmingham.

● GALLERY BIRMINGHAM

Art Nouveau and Art Deco selections along with Erte jewelry and works by R.J. Laney, David Ellis Garrett, Barb Grundeman and mixed media by Susan Thomas of Birmingham are part of a wide variety of items along with graphics, scarves and posters. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 251 E. Merrill, Birmingham.

● WOODWARD GALLERY

"Prints from around the World" features works by Noyer, Zox, Bearden, Agam, Appel and Briggs along with a selection of art posters for the Olympics. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Friday, until 5 p.m. Saturday, 4338 N. Woodward (four blocks south of 14 Mile), Royal Oak.

● I. IRVING FELDMAN GALLERIES

New works by Charles Hinman include shaped canvases and cast paper pieces in Lucite boxes. Continues through Jan. 7. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday, Thursday until 8 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The gallery has a new address, 6917 Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield.

● DETROIT FOCUS

Clay/10 presents the first invitational group show of the season. Open to the public free of charge. The artists all teach at area universities or centers for ceramics. Continues through the year. Regular hours are noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday, 743 Beaubien, Detroit.

● MEADOW BROOK ART GALLERY

Gary Bandy, originally from Ortonville, and Tom Hale, a local artist known for landscapes and watercolors of automobiles, are the guests at this third part of Meadow Brook II Invitational. Continues through Dec. 23. Hours are 1-5 p.m. Tuesday-Friday, 2-6:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and evenings when there is a Meadow Brook Theatre performance, Oakland University campus, Rochester.

● GALLERY ART CENTER

Contemporary works by Mac Jamison, Dali, Appel, Calder, Chagall, Miro, Maxwell, Yamagata, Agam, Dus and Moss are on display. Hours are 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 18831 12 Mile, Lathrup Village.

● PEWABIC POTTERY

Annual Invitational Christmas show and sale continues through Jan. 10. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily, Thursdays until 9 p.m. and Sundays noon to 5 p.m., 10125 E. Jefferson, Detroit.

● DETROIT ARTISTS MARKET

Annual holiday show continues through Dec. 27. Included are fashion accessories for both men and women, Christmas ornaments, leaded and etched boxes and panels and many other gift ideas. There's a show by Douglas Semivan, professor at Wayne State University and well-known printmaker, in the Upper Gallery.

Tips about media

some of our students work with colored pencils. So try whatever media sounds interesting. The only thing that can stop you from trying something new is your own fear of failing. I've often talked about that before and you know how I feel.

Well, who could have guessed this series would become a regular column. I am flattered that people clip them out of the paper and save them. Just this week a man said, "Boy I read your column every week. I have saved all three of 'em." I said to him "thank you, sir, but I have done the column for 27 weeks now." Then one lady said, "I was out of town the third Thursday of the second month of your column," with a blank stare I said, "ummm . . . I'll try and get you a copy."

Well we have just published a booklet of the first ten Artifact's articles. The pages consist of the same copy that appeared in the weekly articles. If you would like a booklet of the first ten Articles you may pick them up at the Art Store and More, 18744 Middlebelt in the Middlebelt Plaza, Livonia for $3.95.
