Plaza renovation may boost area

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

A $500,000 renovation of the Ace Hardware plaza may be the catalyst for a business resurgence along the south Wayne Road corridor, the plaza owner and city officials hope.

A four-day grand opening for the remodeled plaza, Wayne Road north of Palmer, ended Sunday. But Conrad Skalski, who owns the Ace Hardware store and is landlord to three other plaza tenants, said last week he would like to see other area merchants have similar events soon.

"I hope what this does is spark a new beginning for improvements in the area," Skalski said. "Maybe other business owners will pick up where I left off, and we can leapfrog to all the new development on Wayne Road to the north."

The plaza renovation already appears to be paying off in that respect, according to city officials. The vacant building adjacent to the plaza, which used to house a Woody's Tire store, will be razed by its owner, said Joseph Benyo, Westland's Economic Development Advisory Commission chairman.

SOME older homes on Wayne Road will come down as well, giving the commercial corridor a more-unified look.

"Everybody will look at Ace as an example," said Tim Schroeder, Westland economic development director. "If only four or five other business put in some improvements, it could make a real impact."

The Ace renovation included a large amount of exterior work and a complete redesign of the hardware store's interior, according to Skalski. Two buildings on the property were razed, and the remodeled plaza has space for an additional seven or eight tenants.

Skalski will be reimbursed for a portion of the renovation with up to $15,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant funds.

Hardware store patrons are now greeted by a slick, modern-looking store with a bright interior and wide aisles. "We actually reduced the size of the interior, but redesigned it to make everything more accessible," Skalski said.

THE INTERIOR redesign was coordinated by Skalski's wife, Joyce. Their son, Craig, manages the store.

Skalski, 61, has been in the hardware business since the 1940s. He took over the Wayne Road store in 1970 when its previous owner ran into financial problems.

"You can keep the basic concept of hardware," Skalski said, "but you really have to learn how to change with the times in order to run a successful operation."

IT'S ONLY October, but some people (unfortunately) have to think ahead while the rest of us wait for Indian Summer.

The Westland City Council last week approved the purchase of 3,000 tons of road salt for use on the city's streets this winter.

The salt will be provided by International Salt Co. of Clark Summit, Pa., which turned in a low bid of $95,100. Although that price is within the $70,000 amount budgeted for the current fiscal year, it represents a 27-percent increase over the price for the same amount of salt in fiscal 1988.

Maybe the salt miners had a tough time of it during the drought.

OOOH, THIS IS scary. But then again, a good haunted house ought to be, right? The Wayne-Westland YMCA will once again offer tours through its haunted house during the Halloween season.

The house, on Wayne Road south of Cherry Hill, will open Friday and guests are welcome right on through Halloween night, Monday, Oct. 31. Operating hours are from 9-10 p.m. Sunday.

Proceeds from the haunted house tours will be used to further the Y's programming for families, children and disabled people.

LAKE FRIENDSHIP II

The Westland City Council gave its official blessing to the new name for the pond in Central City Park last week.

The five-acre pond had gone nameless since it was added to the park in the early 1960s. The name was chosen by three local residents in a city-sponsored contest last August.

THE WAYNE-Westland Teen Development Committee (formerly the Teen Health Assessment Committee) will hold a meeting 9 a.m. Thursday at the offices of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority, Wayne.

The meeting is free and open to Wayne-Westland Community Schools district parents and residents.

For more information, call the district, 938-8138.

THERE'S A new maple tree in front of Parkside Elementary School and you can thank the members of Westland Oak Street Park 107 for the added scenery.

The park dedicated the tree in recognition of the school's 100th anniversary. Funding the job was a joint effort project done in cooperation with VFW Post 1048.

Exam delayed in murder case

A preliminary exam for a Detroit man charged with two Westland slayings was adjourned by 18th District Court Judge Thomas G. Smith Friday when the defense attorney failed to appear in court because of a scheduling conflict.

The exam for Walter Edward Collie, 36, was rescheduled for 9 a.m. Monday, Oct. 17.

Collie is charged with two counts of first-degree murder for the May 13 slayings of Westland's Patricia Casey, 40, and her son, Louis, 25. Collie will remain in Wayne County Jail, where he has been held without bond since his arraignment Sept. 29.

Collie pleaded not guilty to the charges.

"Because the charges are serious, the judge decided the defendant had a right to be represented by the chosen attorney," said Frank Bernacki, the assistant county prosecutor assigned to the case.

DEFENSE ATTORNEY Marshall Hill, who was assigned to represent Collie out of the public defender's office, couldn't be reached for comment Friday afternoon. Hill apparently was tied up on another case Friday morning, preventing his appearance at the preliminary exam.

Collie was arrested in Detroit last month by a task force of state police and FBI agents. Law enforcement officials had been tracking him in Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago for more than two months and Collie was added to the list of the state's 10 most wanted fugitives in July.

Police allege Collie stabbed both victims during an altercation in a field on the 29000 block of Richard. The Caseys had intervened in a fight between Collie and another man, police said.

Patricia Casey died two hours after the May 13 incident while undergoing treatment at Westland Medical Center for a stab wound to the upper back.

Louis Casey, who was stabbed in the chest, died June 14 at Westland Medical Center while undergoing surgery as a result of the wound.

Scott emphasizes WCCC marketing

By Leonard Poger
editor

Ted Scott wants the Wayne County Community College to be more aggressive in marketing its programs. Saying enrollment is low at the college, particularly at its western Wayne County campus in Belleville, Scott talked about his goals if elected from District 9 of the county district Nov. 8.

"I would want to encourage the college to be more aggressive in the marketplace in delivering its products," said Scott, a charter member of the Nankin Township fire department who later was promoted to fire chief.

ONE WAY to boost enrollments for the 20-year-old college, Scott said, is to take the educational programs to employees in their work places.

Another way to raise enrollments, he said, is to have the college have a closer relationship with suburban vocational/technical centers run by K-12 districts so that those graduates would be directed to WCCC.

The college's enrollment dropped from 24,500 in 1979 to 11,230 this year.

While there is some competition among voc/tech centers and community colleges, the centers don't issue degrees while the colleges do, Scott said.

But Scott didn't see the competition as a big issue as both the centers and college can fulfill different needs.

Adult culinary arts students at the Ford Voc/Tech Center in Westland are prepared to serve up a series of ethnic and specialty dinners this month and next.

The dinners, open to the public, are held 5-6:45 p.m. every Thursday through Nov. 17 in the center's Marquette Room.

The food program is housed in the center on Marquette near Carlson, between the Wayne-Westland school board office and John Glenn High School.

The fall series opened Thursday with a Mexican-Oriental menu.

This will be followed this Thursday, Oct. 13, with an Octoberfest. Oct. 20 is scheduled as prime rib night, Oct. 27 as Oriental night, Nov. 3 as American-Southern style night, Nov. 10 as Italian night, and Nov. 17 as turkey night.

All-you-can-eat prices for the Oct. 20 and 27 dinners are $9 for adults, $5 for retirees and $4.50 for children between 7 and 15. Children 6 and under are served free.

Dinners scheduled for Oct. 13 and Nov. 3, 10 and 17 are priced at all you can eat for $7 (for adults), $4.25 (for retirees) and $3.50 (for children between 7 and 15).

First Citizen nominations still needed

Nominations are being accepted for the First Citizen of Westland community service award.

A winner will be announced in early November by a panel of judges, named last week.

Entries are being accepted by the award's co-sponsors, the Westland Observer and the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

The winner will be publicly honored at the chamber's Nov. 15 membership luncheon in Leright's banquet hall, 326 S. Wayne Road.

IN THE past two years, the First Citizen was cited by local city and chamber officials as well as state and county representatives.

Eligible are people who have donated time and effort to improve the quality of life for the general community or a segment of it, such as education, recreation, senior citizens or business.

Residency isn't a requirement.

The previous two winners were Joseph Benyo, former fire prevention education director for the city, and Tom Brown, the city's first mayor, currently a councilman and historical commission chairman.

Brown, by being last year's winner, will automatically serve on this fall's judging committee. He will be joined by Bruce Priestley, chamber second vice-president; Nora Hardin, manager of Willow Creek Apartments/Townhouses and a chamber board member; and Sylvia Kozorosky-Wlasek, executive director of the Westland department on aging and a Wayne-Westland school board member.

Scott emphasizes marketing

Vincent Pettipren, Scott insisted that the Belleville campus, near the interchange of I-94 and I-275 freeways, be kept open.

While Scott said he wouldn't have put the western Wayne campus in that location, the complex of buildings is now there and the college should work hard to sell the college and its services.

The candidate, seeking his first political office, said he is stressing his administrative record as a former city department head and his community service background with the Wayne-Westland Family Y and other organizations as his strengths in the college election.

That background includes leadership roles in the Southeast Michigan Fire Chiefs Association, Westland Goodfellows and the Westland firefighters associations.

Scott retired as Westland fire chief three years ago to become Wayne County safety director to supervise job safety activities for county employees.

INTERVIEWED BY the Observer last week, Scott said that besides low enrollments, the college had its problems with a succession of presidents.

But those problems have been dealt with, he said.

Scott said he has been endorsed for the board seat by Charles Stockwell, the current trustee whose term expires Dec. 31, county Commission Milton Mack, Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies Local 502, area Democratic clubs and the 16th District Democratic Party.

While a firefighter and chief, Scott was named the Westland Jaycees' fireman of the year in 1978, served as Henry Ford Community College fire curriculum adviser and was named to numerous fire safety positions.

Pettipren: move the campus

was organized nearly 20 years ago, the location for an area campus was proposed for Van Born and Merriam, which he said is much closer to the center of population.

The Belleville campus, which cost $2.3 million, is east of I-275 and south of I-94.

The candidate, 61, is seeking the District 9 Wayne County Community College board trustee post on the Nov. 8 ballot. He has a doctorate in higher education administration.

He said the college's enrollment at the Belleville campus is down to 500, or 197 full-time students.

The college, which serves most of Wayne County, had its total enrollment drop from 24,500 in 1979 to 11,230 this spring.

He stressed that the college has an open enrollment policy, admitting students without a high school diploma.

"The courses are excellent, with the college offering opportunities for those who missed out earlier," Pettipren said.

Besides moving a campus closer to the center of the area's population base, Pettipren also recommended that the college have a closer relationship with suburban high school counselors who would hopefully direct seniors to WCCC.

ANOTHER COLLEGE problem, Pettipren said, is that the board was having problems with previous presidents who failed to follow the board's directions.

While the administrative problems have calmed down in recent years, the college has gone through several years of highly publicized squabbles with the board and presidents in the early 1980s.

Pettipren is campaigning on his experience as a former state representative, who served 1984-70, and as chairman of the House College and Universities Committee.

In that post, the candidate said, he oversaw the budgets of all state colleges and universities.

Other jobs he has had that would make him a competent board trustee, he said, are Eastern Michigan University education instructor, high school teacher and department head, Wayne State University associate vice president for federal and state regulations, Wayne-Westland school board member, Taylor School District superintendent, and president of the teachers' union when he was a Wayne-Westland high school teacher.

PETITPREN stressed that he is running as an independent and is doing the traditional campaign activities using flyers and poll workers.

His political endorsements are from the 15th District Democratic Party, of which he is a former chairman, Council 25 of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, and the unions representing the college's teachers, administrators and custodians.

Living history

It's official: Cooper now historic site

Cooper Elementary School was officially granted its place in Michigan history last week. More than 200 students, faculty, staff members and public officials attended ceremonies Tuesday night as the historical marker for the 147-year-old school was dedicated outside the current school building.

Brandon Leinen, a Cooper School first grader, scans one of several history scrapbooks in the school's new museum room, which has murals on the wall in the background.

on Ann Arbor Trail, east of Middlebelt.

The Michigan State Historical Commission designated Cooper as a state historic site last July after a four-woman research committee spent five months charting the Westland school's history.

Ruth Duncan Dale, Kathy Kalousek, Delphine Goodwin and Simone White found out the school, in one building or another, had been in existence since 1841. And while there isn't conclusive proof, the women believe the school may date back a few years further.

GILBERT COOPER, an early settler in Wayne County, bought 167 acres of land in 1836. The land became the eventual site of the first Cooper School building.

A second school was built by Cooper's son, Loren J. Cooper. That one-room school house, built in 1865, was in use through 1938.

At that point, with the help of a $2,000 loan from Wayne County, a new, three-room school was built at Ann Arbor Trail and Middlebelt, across the street from the current school.

Enrollment increased and by 1941 a five-room addition was built. By 1951, there were 17 rooms for kindergarten-eighth-grade students.

THE SCHOOL district was annexed by Livonia Public Schools in 1957, and the current building was added to handle still growing enrollments in the 1960s.

The old building, dubbed the Cooper School annex, was still used for first-grade classes until the late 1970s.

Cooper School joins several other state historical sites within a five-mile radius, including the Nankin Mill, the Chief Tonquish burial site and the Newburgh Cemetery.

A 100-page book, "Tracing Our Roots: Cooper School Past and Present," put together by the women is available at the school.

After the ceremony, visitors toured the school's new museum room, where old school photos and records are on display.

Wayne Memorial High School will celebrate its 35th annual homecoming next weekend.

Homecoming celebration will begin Friday evening with the annual parade at 6 p.m. at Ash and Fourth Street.

The parade route will proceed on Wayne Road to Glenwood, north on Wayne Road to Glenwood, and east on Glenwood to the Wayne Memorial High School football stadium. The football opponents Friday night will be the Trenton Trojans.

Wayne Memorial will have over 20 units in the parade. Floats have been entered by each class and a number of school clubs.

The parade will be led by the Zebra marching band by Michael Van Tassel. Also in the parade will be the 1988 Homecoming Court as elected by the senior class of WMHS.

Both the varsity and the Junior varsity cheerleaders and the Honor Society will ride in the parade as well as a large number of alumni cheerleaders who will lead cheers during the football game.

The Wayne Memorial Alumni Band, composed of distinguished graduates of Wayne's music program, will also march.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place in the class division and first and second place in the ch division.

Half the features the crowning of homecoming queen. The results of the student body election held during the day will be announced and one of five senior girls from the homecoming court crowned queen.

The homecoming celebration will continue Saturday when the Student Senate presents the 1988 Fall Frolic 7:30-10 p.m. in the Student Commons.

Tickets are $3.50 each and are available in the general office. Tickets are available at the door for $4.

On the road

Test cars motor through area

About those cars motoring along major streets and freeways in western Wayne County with light bars on the roof...

They're owned by Ethyl Petroleum Additives Inc. and involved in a study which a company spokesman declined to discuss in detail.

"We're a developer of fuel and lubricant additives," said John Sunne, a technical liaison in Ethyl's Birmingham office. "We research what additives will do. We use the data when talking sales to oil companies."

A route change several weeks ago brought the cars into Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Westland.

The circuit includes I-275, I-696, Orchard Lake Road, Plymouth Road, Ann Arbor Trail and Ford Road.

Oakland County roads had been used as a "testing ground."

Farmington and Detroit, previously on the route, still are.

Each of 32 cars is driven along a prescribed route of about 50 miles at prescribed speeds, Sunne said. Cars are pulled off the road every 5,000 miles for special testing including emissions evaluation at ECS Labs of Livonia.

Twenty-six vehicles are on the road, six in the lab at any time, Sunne said. Cars from all Big Three automakers are included in the study. They put on about 400 miles per day.

Cars are usually driven in groups in case problems develop.

Drivers supplied by employment agencies are trained, then periodically checked by spotters along the route. Test vehicles are used only for testing.

Why light bars on the roof? "It draws attention to cars," Sunne said. "Our biggest problem is accidents that keeps cars from getting hit — made."

The present study probably will continue till February, he said.

A WESTLAND man was apparently tricked Wednesday night into having his wallet stolen by an unidentified pair of con men, police said.

The victim told police he lost the wallet containing $17 cash in the scam.

The victim said he and his wife were buying plants from a roadside stand on Michigan Avenue, west of Henry Ruff, at 7:30 p.m. when two men approached them wearing dark blue pants and similar shirts.

One of the men identified himself as a security guard and asked the victim for identification. When the victim took out his wallet, the phony guard grabbed it and the pair ran off. The victim described the "guard" as a black man, 20 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds with short, dark hair. His accomplice was a black man, 18 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds, with short, curly hair, the victim said.

A 17-YEAR-OLD Bryar street resident told police he was assaulted by his stepfather Sunday night during an argument on their front lawn.

The youth received minor injuries in the altercation, police said.

The youth told police he arrived home at 10:30 p.m. and had word with his stepfather. When the stepfather kicked him out of the house, the argument continued on the front lawn, where his father struck him in the face with a closed fist, the youth told police.

A RESIDENT of the River Bend Apartments, 30580 Warren Road, reported that someone broke into her apartment Wednesday and stole a purse containing miscellaneous identification and personal papers.

The thief entered the apartment through the doorwall at 6:31 p.m., grabbed the purse from a table and left, a witness told police.

Good news: Car thefts are down in '88

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

If you park a car today in Redford Township, chances are good it won't be stolen. At least, odds are better this year than last.

In the first eight months of 1988, auto thefts in Redford Township are down a whopping 37 percent, from 352 in 1987 to 224 this year. Thieves are also enjoying less success. Between January and August, they tried but failed 52 times to steal a car, according to officer Don Moore of the Redford Township police.

Incidents of stolen vehicles are also down "significantly" in most other suburban communities in western Wayne County, based on figures maintained by law enforcement authorities.

Livonia enjoyed a 19 percent reduction the first six months of 1988, according to figures released last week by the FBI for communities of 100,000 population or more. Between January and June, 409 vehicles were stolen, compared to 506 in the same period last year. Moreover, all major crime in Livonia is down 14 percent.

"If the trend continues, there will be a significant drop this year in auto thefts. I'm not certain what you attribute it to. It's strange how (the incidence of) crime goes. They're just stealing fewer cars," said Livonia Police Chief William Crayk.

AUTO THEFTS have also declined in Westland. By the end of June, 313 cars had been stolen, compared to a total of 709 in 1987. In Plymouth, 12 had been stolen in the first eight months of this year, compared to 19 in the same period last year.

"I don't know why for sure. Maybe we're just doing a better job of catching the buggers," said Lt. Robert Commire of the Plymouth police.

Both Westland and Plymouth are volunteer members of the Western Wayne Auto Theft Elimination Effort headed up by Livonian Chris Hogan who is a lieutenant in the Michigan State Police.

"Auto theft is a mobile crime. They come from one town to steal in another, and drive to a third. We go where we have to," Hogan said of the multi-jurisdiction enjoyed by task force officers.

Most auto thefts in Canton, for example, occur at apartment buildings along Haggerty Road because of an easy get-away on I-275, according to officer David Boljesic of the Canton police, who said most stolen vehicles "are recovered in Detroit."

Canton, also a member of Hogan's task force, has seen a 20 percent drop in auto thefts this year, from 176 in the first eight months of 1987, to 141 in the same period this year. Concentrating efforts on criminals

"who are doing this for a living" and not on "kids out for a joy ride," is one reason why, according to Hogan.

SINCE THE task force was founded in 1987, officers have made 60 arrests. They have also recovered some $1.5 million in stolen vehicles, including two Corvettes that were recovered in Canton.

Last June, task force officers raided a chop shop near Canton's Mettetal Airport and arrested three men from Detroit. Eight stolen vehicles were returned to owners living in four neighboring communities, including the Corvettes which had been stolen earlier in Plymouth Township.

"Statewide, auto theft is down 5 percent and in the 12 communities we do work for, it's down 8.5 percent," Hogan said. In addition to Westland, Plymouth and Canton, the dozen communities also include Garden City and Plymouth Township.

Every insured motorist in Michigan helps fund the task force. One dollar from each premium paid in insurance coverage is collected by the Auto Theft Prevention Authority. In turn, the Authority finances statewide efforts in combating auto theft.

"There is a great thrust at this time because it's an expensive problem. More than $250 million is paid out annually on stolen cars," said Sue Allen of the Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility in Livonia. The organization operates HELP (Help Eliminate Auto Theft); a tip line founded in late 1985 that rewards successful leads.

Bad news: Car thefts still a hassle

By Janice Brunson

Jack Kirksey of Livonia was unlucky.

While attending an early evening social hosted by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce Aug. 11, Kirksey's car was stolen from the parking lot of the Holiday Inn on Plymouth Road, Livonia.

The car, a 1983 Buick Riviera convertible, was in mint condition. The evening of the Chamber social was the first time it had been out of the garage in a week.

"I intended to keep it forever as a collector's item," said Kirksey, who is director of community education for Livonia schools.

Initially disbelieving his car had been stolen, Kirksey has since had time to summarize his feelings.

"There are more serious crimes. But this was done personally to me. It emotionally impacted more than I thought it could. I worked very, very hard to keep that car nice. Secondly, it is a considerable inconvenience. Finally, there's a whole segment of our community that makes a living doing this. On my block alone, five out of 10 neighbors have had their cars taken. It's a stolen-auto industry. I'm more sensitive now to how common the problem is," he said.

Kirksey also has learned considerably more from his experience.

"WHEN THEY told me to come in and report it, I was at a loss. I'd just had my car stolen. How was I supposed to get there?" Kirksey said, relating a telephone conversation

MUSCLE PROBLEMS IN ARTHRITIS
Polymyositis is a condition characterized by weakness in the arms and legs. If you have this condition, you find it difficult to pull a sweater over your head or walk up a flight of stairs.

Treatment includes taking large doses of steroids on a daily or every other day basis. The probability of unwanted side effects with this program is great, and obesity, diabetes, high cholesterol, and fragile bones, are almost an inevitable accompaniment of therapy. Thus, before recommending such a program with its attendant risks, the doctor must be sure of the diagnosis.

However, most of us have incurred episodes of muscle fatigue and pain because of physical or mental strain, viruses, or as an after-effect of nerve damage. Because of the possibility of these alternative causes, it may take your physician weeks to months to ferret out the presence of polymyositis.

This condition illustrates a general truth in dealing with arthritic conditions: the need for patience on your part and for perseverance by your doctor.

Scouts seek volunteers

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council needs volunteers. "More than 1,000 Westland girls will grow into self-confident young women thanks to adults in the community who volunteer their time and talents to Girl Scouts," said council spokeswoman Deborah Furman.

"And, as the number of girls involved in scouting increases every year, so does the need for adult volunteers."

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is looking for volunteers to "take the Lead" in the Girl Scout tradition, Furman said.

Parents, as well as adults without children, professionals and senior citizens are needed as program consultants, committee members, event directors, media representatives and troop leaders.

Those interested may call 483-2370 or write the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, P.O. Box 539, Ypsilanti 48197.

Commitment of time may be a few days a year or several days a month, but the rewards can last a lifetime, Furman said.

Mary Sarkis Kitchin, the manager of the Holiday Inn on Plymouth Road in Livonia, is about to become the first woman inducted in Livonia Rotary.

By Tom Henderson staff writer

A western Wayne County Rotary club will make history Monday afternoon when it inducts Mary Sarkis Kitchin, the general manager of the Holiday Inn on Plymouth Road near Middlebelt as the Livonia chapter's first woman member.

"I'm looking forward to it," said Sarkis Kitchin, who expects to soon move into her new Westland apartment.

"I wanted to be in a grass-roots service organization, and I was excited about Rotary's third-world polo program. Rotary seemed to fit my needs."

"And I like that Rotary is very serious about an active membership. You can't just sign up and pay your dues. You have to be very active."

Garden City and Westland clubs have yet to induct women members.

Sarkis Kitchin's induction will be at 12:40 p.m. at the weekly meeting spot of the Rotary, Bobby's Country House at Idlewild Golf Course.

"It was my goal to bring women in," said Rotary president Richard McDowell, the president of Schoolcraft College. "She's the first, but she won't be the only. I would have liked to have seen it done years ago."

Rotary, an international service organization, had been an all-male bastion until a U.S. Supreme Court ruling last year opened up membership to women in the United States.

"We're looking for people in management positions," said McDowell about typical Rotary recruits. "Since so many women are getting into management, we're looking for women."

Sarkis Kitchin, a native of Detroit who grew up in Traverse City, is in her second tour of duty with Holiday Inn. She was director of sales and marketing at the Holiday Inn-Crowne Plaza in Seattle for two years, then left to become general manager of sales and marketing at the Ponchartrain in downtown Detroit. She returned to Holiday Inn when she became general manager of the Plymouth Road hotel in August.

While meeting with a client, Charles Chandler, a Livonia patent attorney who was planning a dinner at the hotel, the topic of Rotary came up. When Sarkis Kitchin said she'd be interested in joining, Chandler brought her out to meet fellow members and she was asked to join.

with Livonia police the evening of the theft. He had called to report the crime. He finally hitched a ride with a friend to the police station.

Because incidents of auto theft are rampant, "there's not a great deal of compassion; it's sort of like, now it's your turn," Kirksey said.

The ride to the police station was just the beginning of a transportation problem.

Unless an auto insurance policy contains a rental clause, victims of auto theft "foot the bill" for replacement transportation until insurance pays theft claims. Rates for short-term rentals are "inordinate," and most rental agencies are either reluctant or will not rent for short periods.

Under state insurance regulations, settlement must be offered within 30 days. Payment is rarely based upon bluebook value, agents said. Average replacement cost, based upon dealer prices for new and used cars and outside appraisal is more commonly used.

Some agents tell car theft victims to check weekend car prices in newspaper ads.

Kirksey's car was worth considerably more than the bluebook value. Fortunately, he had a recent appraisal verifying the fact and a previous agreement with his insurance carrier that the car was worth more. He received $2,000 over bluebook. Otherwise, the loss would have been his.

erwise, the loss would have been his.

POSSESSIONS IN the car are not covered by auto insurance. They are covered by homeowner or renter insurance. For compensation, losses must be substantiated and value must exceed deductible amounts.

Kirksey had a camera and a pair of prescription sunglasses in the car. Their combined value was less than the $500 deductible on his homeowners insurance. Michigan state law also "works against" victims. Homeowner insurance is cancelled by some agencies after three claims totalling $1,000. Others place victims in higher-risk categories.

When Kirksey's car was stolen it contained correspondence with his address and a second set of house keys. He assumed the cost of changing the locks on his home.

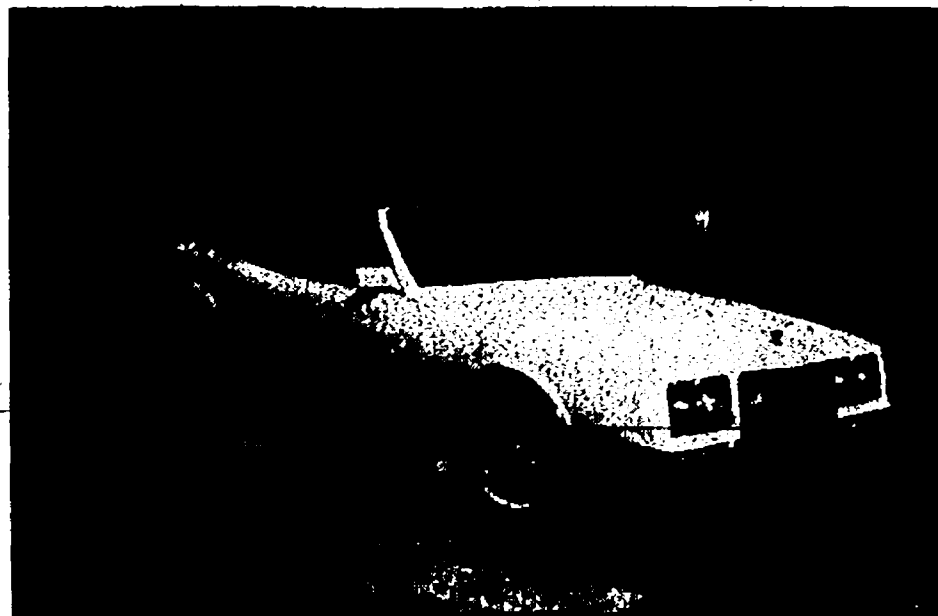

Kirksey's car, "or what's left of it," was recovered last month in Detroit.

"I nearly shed a tear when I saw it. It looks like a train hit it. I recognized it only by the plates," he said. The sunglasses, however, were unnoted and overlooked by the thieves.

Kirksey has bought a new car. He has also installed an anti-theft lock.

"From what I've learned, locks don't really deter thieves. They just move on to the next car that doesn't have them," Kirksey said.

Based on statistics, new victims are certain.

This is the way Jack Kirksey's beloved 1983 Buick convertible (above) looked before it was stolen. Below is the car as it was when it was recovered by Detroit police. Thieves turned the white, mint-condition automobile into spare parts. Even though car thefts are on the way down in area communities, they are still traumatic for victims. Depending upon the size and frequency of claims, some victims can be dropped from insurance or placed in a higher-risk category.

Car thefts down around the area

to the recovery of 451 automobiles "from probably every community in the state" and to the arrest of 297 suspects, according to Allen who said, "We are seeing more recoveries now than ever before."

Dorothy Bennick of the Anti Car Theft Committee agrees. The committee is a coalition of representatives from industries most directly affected by auto theft, like insurance carriers, bankers, auto recyclers and car rental agencies.

"Theft rates are definitely going down, in direct proportion to increasing public awareness and involvement. Everybody knows somebody who has had a car stolen. We're all more careful about where we park, locking doors, things like that," Bennick said.

The best protection, is a hidden kill switch, according to Don Moore of the Redford Township police. "Alarms. Locks. They can get through them. All we have working for us is time. Of course, when they use a tow truck, there's not much anyone can do," he said.

While Moore applauds increased efforts and declining theft rates, he is still appalled by the situation.

"We say it's down but it's still terrible what's going on. At least one car a day is being stolen and that's terrible," he said.

RE: LOAN OFFICER EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES AT FIREMAN'S FUND

As the nation's third largest mortgage banker, we are embarking on an imaginative campaign to recruit and train Loan Officer candidates.

Mortgage banking offers a long-term career opportunity for hard working individuals with superior skills and motivation. On one hand it offers unlimited commission income based on personal achievement. On the other, Loan Officers are true "employees" of the corporation for tax purposes and participate fully in our industry-leading employee benefit package.

On Saturday morning, October 15, we'll begin conducting a 3 week "LOAN OFFICER CAREER COURSE"...to be held on Saturday mornings at 8:30 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. and Wednesday evenings at 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at our Farmington Hills headquarters. Our goal is to provide you with 18 hours of quality training and to acquaint you with the challenges and rewards of a Loan Officer career with FIREMAN'S FUND.

To reserve your space, please telephone 553-0772 no later than Thursday, October 13.

Fireman's Fund is an equal opportunity employer...M/F/H.

Emigrating is still a struggle for Soviet Jews

An immigrant is one who comes into a new place. Although it happens every day, this act of immigrating isn't always a breeze to accomplish.

Back in the 1920s, it took time and travail for Jewish people to get the necessary paper work done, to be granted a visa and to come to the United States, a new and free place.

More than half a century later, visas are still prized by Jews in the Soviet Union who want to leave, not out of starvation, but for lack of freedom to live as they want with rights to practice their religion.

"REFUSENIKS," as they are called, have gained a lot of attention since the birth of the state of Israel. Many yearned to live in that Jewish land. But for tens of thousands, the precious visa has been withheld at the mere whim of Soviet bureaucrats.

Svetlana Braun, a new immigrant, went through several years of government refusals before, with the help of Congress, the administration, the media and her tireless attorney husband Keith, she finally saw Southfield.

Despite the softening of "Glasnost," other refuseniks continue to get only promises.

When Martin Weston of Southfield and his daughter, a former resident, learned back in 1945 that the refusenik Ari Volvosky was their cousin, they too made a promise. Congregation Beth Shalom joined them in the resolve to free Ari, his wife, Ludmilla, and their daughter, Kira.

A LONG, BLEAK struggle it was. Volvosky was imprisoned in a frigid camp in Siberia and compelled to manufacture mattresses with his painfully arthritic hands and haul 50-pound bags of cement.

In August 1985 word came that

Shirlee Iden

Ludmilla had been picked up and detained by Soviet authorities and threatened with charges of anti-Soviet propaganda.

Eventually Ludmilla was released, and later Ari sent out of his prison. The Soviets allowed young Kira to leave for Israel, and finally, her parents left, too. It had been 14 years since they applied for visas, only to be branded "refuseniks" and lose their jobs and home.

Today Cindy Franklin wrote that the Volvoskys will arrive Oct. 9 or 10 at Metro Airport. It will be the first meeting between Weston, Franklin and their cousins. Weston had searched for more than 40 years to find relatives in Russia.

Beth Shalom, the Oak Park congregation that "adopted" the family in 1980 will honor them at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 12, at a reception. Anyone who likes a good cry and some uplifting is welcome to attend.

MANY WILL think about other immigrants who came to a new place and changed their lives.

My father, Jacob Rose, later a land developer in Southfield, was just 18 years old when the prized visa came for him, his mother and several sisters, all older than he.

It was 1923 and the tough years of World War I were not forgotten. I grew up hearing the story of my father almost being taken captive, not for his young self, but for the horse and wagon he drove, which the family used on the small dairy farm they leased near Kosow, Poland.

WITH A SKILL natural to one practically born on a horse, my father outran his would-be captors. For my grandmother, this was one more reason my grandfather must provide the visa for the "goldeneh medinah (golden land)."

There were others. Like living with persecution and anti-Semitism. Like eking out a meager living that often left them hungry. Like Jewishness meaning they could own no land, nor get the education they chose. Like living in one room with no running water or toilet facilities. And like existing with the feeling of fear always in the pit of their stomachs.

Desire for a visa was desire for freedom from fear and want, and freedom to live their lives as they chose.

MY GRANDMOTHER, her daughters and son got their visa, and in the autumn of 1923 crossed the ocean to the land that promised so much. For my father, this meant leaving my mother with whom he had an understanding. Only 18, he made his pledge and six years later, a citizen, he went back for Blanche Paluba.

On Nov. 1, it will be 65 years since Dad entered this country. Exhausted, hungry and broke, he came to America. But America kept her promise to him. As long as he worked hard, he had been told, success was in reach and he could expect to feed his family, educate his children, and provide a home. He did all of that and more.

Sometimes, there's a happy ending and new beginnings such as the Volvoskys, Westons and Franklin look forward to now. And sometimes, when you look at the six-plus decades between 1923 and 1988, you find nothing much has changed.

Handicapped parking

Scofflaw crackdown is warranted

HOW ANGRY do you get when a perfectly able person parks in a "handicapped parking" space, jumps from the car and dashes into a store for that last-minute purchase?

It makes me damned mad. Folks in parts of Florida, Nevada and Virginia, and even here in Flint, Mich., have decided they're made as hell and aren't going to take it anymore. They're taking a personal approach, with the support of their local police.

They include people with handicaps who are tired of pulling into a lot, only to find parking spots labeled "handicapped" are full. They are people without handicaps, tired of watching people with selfish motivations park where they should not.

They are also law enforcement officers who are deputizing and training teams of these residents in an effort to ticket offenders, some of whom pay fines of up to $100.

AND DON'T forget state Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, who has introduced legislation to up fines statewide, put points on that person's driver's license, and allow offending cars to be towed away at the owner's expense. Fraudulent use of handicap permits or plates would carry a minimum fine of $100, and eligibility requirements for obtaining a permit would be tightened.

Cruce also advocates deputizing residents to ticket and fine offenders. I agree. Hit 'em where it hurts — in their pocketbooks.

Cruce said he saw a good thing and wanted to encourage law enforcement agencies statewide to take action.

He cited a 1986 poll done in Cleveland, which asked: "What would you do if you saw someone illegally parked in a handicapped parking space?" Forty-three percent said they would park there too. The second most popular response was "do nothing."

"It's just like any other law — if nobody's going to enforce it, nobody's going to comply with it," said Lt. Sid Baker of the Flint Police Department, who helped structure that city's deputy program, which went into effect Aug. 8 after 1 1/2 years of planning.

THE FIRST month, volunteers logged 513 hours and issued 116 tickets; the second month, they worked 622 hours and issued 195 citations.

Those figures are nearly double what tickets were being issued before the program started, and Baker said it's working well.

The city has 50 volunteers ages 21-78 who went through 18 hours of training, and work in teams of two, sweeping the city in search of these illegal parkers. They work on city streets and in shopping center parking lots. They wear special blazers with patches identifying them, and their cars are marked.

Baker said the community response has been "positive, with the exception of those who got the $100 tickets." A county coalition of handicapped people got the fine increased to $100 in Flint in 1987 and pushed for the current program.

Awww, "so what" you say. Big deal. Who cares whether somebody saves themselves an extra 10 or 20 feet of walking by parking in one of those spots? Most of the time, those spaces are empty anyway.

Wait until you, or a member of your family, develop a handicap and must struggle to go that extra 10 feet. Tell me then, you don't care.

'60s issues find place in local classrooms

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Astronaut Neil Armstrong qualifies as history these days. So does the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

But sorry John, Paul, George and Ringo — you don't quite make it.

A survey of area school districts found events of the turbulent 1960s a standard part of the high school history curriculum.

The space race, civil rights movement and Vietnam War are common discussion topics at area high schools.

"They're all discussed thoroughly," Livonia Schools social studies coordinator Marlene Bihlmeyer said.

But the Beatles, Woodstock and the counter culture crop up less often.

"Something like the Beatles might come up in general classroom discussion, but it's not part of the curriculum," said Redford Thurston principal Stewart Schauder.

How much area students learn about the earth-shaking decade depends upon their individual teachers. Most districts give history teachers a good deal of discretion in determining how thoroughly '60s issues are covered.

"We have one teacher who discussed the Vietnam era very, very thoroughly, others skip through things a little faster," said John Hird who oversees the history curriculum at Garden City High School.

The crush of "new" history means teachers are often pressed for time.

"One of the problems is that there's so much history and so little time to cover it," Plymouth-Salem history teacher Scott Beamon said.

The controversial decade presents other challenges, educators said. Many of its controversies are still unresolved, many wounds still unhealed.

"Certainly, the Vietnam War is a much more difficult topic than the Civil War," Beamon said.

School officials said classes generally take a middle ground when approaching still-sensitive subjects.

"IT'S HANDLED very factually," said Wayne-Westland director of secondary education Ron Somers.

"We present information that there was a protest at Kent State and students were killed but we don't try to take sides."

But the freshness of '60s memories can also be an advantage.

"There's a lot of material that's available. There are plenty of videotapes and movies," Hird said. "Obviously, you can't see films of Lincoln's assassination. But you can see man landing on the moon."

Even at that, educators admit, it's difficult to keep current.

Toward that end, Beamon said, the Plymouth-Canton school district will revise its history curriculum "within the next two or three years."

Livonia has already revised its history classes with 10th and 11th grade reserved for the modern era.

"OUR APPROACH is based upon discussing key questions," Bihlmeyer said. "And among them are questions about civil rights, Vietnam and Watergate."

One of the ironies in presenting material about the 1960s, educators said, is that the material still seems fresh to them.

"It's hard to believe more than 20 years has passed," Redford Thurston's Schauder said.

Student reaction is more mixed. For some students the 1960s is the most fascinating of eras. "I think they're interest picks up when they get to the '60s," Beamon said of his advanced students.

But there are signs that, for other students, the 1960s are as ancient as the 1860s.

"Believe it or not, unless the students had parents who were involved they're no more interested in the 1960s than in other periods," said Wayne-Westland's Somers. "The interest is on the part of parents and teachers, especially teachers who were campus leaders themselves."

Kelley to seek rehearing on campaign finance law

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

State Attorney General Frank Kelley and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce are squaring off in a dispute over chamber contributions to political candidates.

But the outcome would have limited effect on local chambers. Several area chambers don't contribute to any candidates. Others contribute only in a limited number of races.

The attorney general's dispute with the Michigan chamber involves the chamber's political action committee. Kelley seeks review of a federal appeals court decision that allowed the Michigan Chamber of Commerce PAC to make direct political contributions.

The Plymouth and Redford chambers, however, don't have PACs and don't contribute to political candidates.

"IT'S IN our by-laws that we're non-partisan," Plymouth chamber executive director Mary Roehr said. "So we don't contribute to political candidates."

Redford tried to start a local PAC a few years ago, chamber president George Grafe said, but met with only lukewarm interest.

"It just never got going," Grafe said. "In a small community like this, most of the support for political candidates is on an individual basis. There's really not much call for PACs."

Westland's chamber PAC is inactive, according to chamber manager Joyce Wheeler. "I'd say it's been dormant for about five years, but we just haven't gone through the paperwork of disbanding it," Wheeler said.

The Westland chamber, however, does issue endorsements in a limited number of state races.

"For a smaller chamber, an endorsement can be just as important as a political contribution," she said.

The Livonia Chamber of Commerce is larger and more active politically than its neighbors. The Livonia chamber PAC contributes to state House and Senate races and is an active contributor to the larger state PAC, executive director John White said.

THE LIVONIA chamber PAC draws the line on city races. "We don't get involved in city races," White said. "That would really be a no-win situation."

Livonia chamber contributions are given to other candidates, some outside the area, through the Michigan Chamber PAC, White said.

That kind of contribution would cease if Kelley had his way.

The state attorney general recently said he would ask all 16 judges of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to rehear the 1985 lawsuit that allowed the state chamber PAC to make direct contributions.

Michigan corporations cannot make direct political contributions under state campaign financing law.

But that law would be easily circumvented if the chamber PAC could make contributions, the attorney general said.

"If the decision is not reversed, it will potentially permit vast amounts of corporate money to be funneled through the Michigan Chamber of Commerce which can act as a conduit and make massive expenditures," Kelley said.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

The Lifetime Convertible ARM

Sometimes the dream of owning a home seems so far away. But, at Standard Federal, we look for ways to make that dream a reality. Like our Lifetime Convertible Adjustable-Rate Mortgage. The lower initial interest rate and monthly payment may be just what you need.

What's more, if there comes a time when you'd like to convert to a fixed-rate mortgage, you can.

And, unlike other lenders, we put no time limit on your privilege to convert.

As with all of our other mortgage loan programs, you can use our ExpressLoan™ service to process and close your loan within 15 days.

The Lifetime Convertible ARM and ExpressLoan™ service. Two more things we do to make you feel right at home.

15-Year ARM

7.50% Annual Interest
10.60% Annual Percentage Rate*

30-Year ARM

7.75% Annual Interest
10.94% Annual Percentage Rate*

* All annual percentage rates are calculated based on a 2% loan discount fee, a loan amount of $50,000, a 20% down payment, and monthly principal and interest payments of $463.51 for the 15-year loan and $358.21 for the 30-year loan. The estimated Annual Percentage Rate is subject to increase or decrease on an annual basis after the loan is closed based on the formula set forth in the loan contract. The initial interest rate will be in effect for the first year of the loan and does not correspond to the formula. There is a 2% annual and 6% lifetime interest rate cap on all adjustable-rate mortgage loans. Conversion is subject to certain conditions provided in the loan contract.

Environment problems worries public — poll

Business should get ready for tougher environmental regulations, says a Southfield public relations man.

Jack Casey, president of Casey Communications Management Inc., said a national survey shows that Americans regard environmental problems as serious health risks and want the federal government — and the next president — to get tough. Casey sponsored the survey.

"Regardless of who the next president is, the people overwhelmingly (94 percent) believe environmental problems are serious and want the federal government to be more strict in enforcement (88 percent)," said Casey.

"With public sentiment running this high, there is no question that government will respond. The message to business is: Get ready now for tougher regulations ahead.

"ENVIRONMENTAL concerns rank with drug and alcohol abuse as the public's top threat to the nation's health in the 1990s, according to survey results, ranking ahead of illnesses such as cancer and AIDS, nuclear war and crime," he said last week in remarks before a workshop on effective risk communications sponsored by the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

"We were surprised by the intensity of the public's mood," Casey said.

More than nine out of 10 American adults believe the nation faces serious environmental problems such as air and water pollution and waste disposal and want stricter enforcement of environmental regulations, he said.

"Sentiment is overwhelmingly for the federal government to spend more of its overall budget on environmental cleanup, and half of those responding to the survey would be willing to pay increased taxes, if necessary.

"We have found that straightforward approach to be very effective in getting companies and citizens working together on these problems, not simply confronting or blaming one another."

THE SURVEY was conducted for Casey Communications by Lawrence Research of Santa Ana, Calif.

Disposal of hazardous or toxic waste materials ranked highest on almost everyone's (95 percent) list.

Other environmental problems — including disposal of residential and industrial garbage, landfills and groundwater contamination, water pollution and air pollution — also were rated overwhelmingly as serious concerns.

Breaking down of the ozone layer and acid rain, while of slightly lesser concern, still were regarded as serious problems by three of four people surveyed.

"The presidential candidates' statements on environmental issues are being closely scrutinized, according to the survey," said Casey.

"The presidential candidates are reading the voters correctly on the environmental issue when they express their concerns. The people want action in Washington to get faster action on a situation that worries them," said Casey.

County offices recycle paper

It won't balance the budget, but Wayne County has begun recycling paper.

Offices in the Wayne County Building have recently begun recycling under the direction of county executive Edward McNamara.

Recycling is a major part of the county's solid waste disposal plan though the plan hasn't been adopted county residents may be asked to begin their own recycling programs within the next two or three years.

Recycling programs have already begun at the county's Neudeck Building and Wyandotte Treatment Plant.

Workers at both buildings were asked to recycle old memos, newspapers and other office paperwork.

Results give a clue as to how much paperwork the county generates.

The county recycled more than one ton of paper during the first month at the Neudeck site alone. Its net financial benefit — $90.54.

Too much pizza is a rarity

Yours truly was a last-minute fill-in judge for the "Pizza Pizzazz" contest recently at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

More than 55 of the state's best pizza parlors heated up their ovens, vying for the title at the Great Lakes Food Service Show, sponsored by the Michigan Restaurant Association.

After sampling more than 40 different pizza creations, I can now appreciate and understand the true meaning of "stuffed." I've had my fill of pizza for a long, long time (at least till after next week's bowling game).

So how does one get to be a judge at a pizza contest? Talk about being at the wrong place at the wrong time. I started out to check the food show and to do a feature mentioning my editor, Ethel Simmons, one of the judges of this year's contest.

I HAD JUST had a late breakfast and downed a Big Gulp in the car on the way down to Cobo. Upon entering the show, I was grabbed by Michele MacWilliams, who handles public relations for the Michigan Restaurant Association, and offered the chance to judge along with Ethel, Reid Ashton and son Chris (from the Golden Mushroom), along with Al Allen from WJBK-TV, Kathy Jackson from Crain's Detroit Business magazine, Lisa Broncato from WNIC and John McMurray, WJR's staff meteorologist.

Just imagine tasting pizza with bacon, lettuce and tomato; pizza with pesto and Alfredo sauce; pizza with apples, maraschino cherries and whipped cream; pizza with graham cracker crusts, with wheat crusts, with sesame crusts — the combinations were endless, and some outrageous.

But thanks to a never-ending supply of cold beer (who eats pizza without a beer?) and an occasional well-hidden belch, the task of choosing a winner really wasn't that difficult.

It was evident most of the entrants had not read the contest rules. All entries were to be judged "pizza as art," showcasing the talent of creating not just the best-tasting pizza in the state but also the most beautiful. The judges first strolled the floor, looking for the "best-dressed pizza," prior to the cooking process. Ingredients were checked and the participants asked questions such as "What cheese blend do you use?" or "Were the ingredients natural or canned?" Was the sauce spread to the edges uniformly? Were the toppings applied with care or were they just heaped on, trying to impress more with weight than artistic creation?

And the results?

AFTER THE FINAL samplings were finished (and the judges opted for popping Roldos from complimentary rolls), the results were tabulated: winner of a weekend at Shuss or Shanty Creek was Shields' pizza on Telegraph Road just north of Ten Mile Road in Southfield.

Anyone who remembers the original Shields' on Davison in Detroit can appreciate why the judges ruled Shields the best pizza in Michigan. A deep, thick crust and just the right amount of cheese, topped with

Singular meal

Bachelor cooks tasty dinners for one

By Geri Rinechler
special writer

WHEN LEE CACCIAGLIA was growing up in Michigan he was surrounded by women who loved to cook — his mom and his four sisters.

As the youngest of seven children, there was very little room left in his mother's kitchen for him to experiment. But today, he is a master in his Lathrup Village kitchen.

After retiring from the Ford Motor Credit Co. six years ago, his interest in cooking was renewed and became one of his favorite pastimes.

"I don't like eating out at fast food places," he said. "Too many restaurants serve burgers and fries or foods high in cholesterol."

Cacciaglia attributes his taste for fine, healthy eating not only to his mother's Italian specialties but also to their family garden filled with fresh vegetables. But cooking for one can be challenging, especially after watching his mother prepare dinners for a family of nine.

"I WATCHED my mom do all this stuff, making minestrone, pasta al pesto and other Northern Italian dishes," he said. "My mother and my older sister taught me to make many of these dishes, and at first there were a few disasters."

"Then I had the opportunity to meet cooking teacher Nell Benedict and became one of her students at the Birmingham Community House. The techniques she taught me have been incredible."

Most of her classes feature French, Italian and Chinese dishes, and Cacciaglia loves cooking all of them. "Nell is a fabulous cook. She's my cooking idol," he said.

Too often singles, widows and widowers don't take enough time to prepare a healthy meal. It's so much easier to grab a snack that needs little or no preparation at dinner time. But, in order to plan for a healthy meal that needs little preparation, more thought must be put into grocery shopping.

A little planning before going to the store can help. As a single, Cacciaglia has found changing the typical style of grocery shopping makes a difference and eases the pain of eating healthy.

SHOPPING AT fresh meat and fish markets not only provides him with fresh ingredients but allows him the opportunity to purchase one veal chop or one fillet of fish. The other important part of this concept is to plan a specific day just for food shopping, making sure you're stocking up on all the best of the four food groups: grains, dairy, fruits and vegetables, and meat and fish. Also, scheduling an extra 15 to 30 minutes a week into your food shopping allows you to spend more time carefully reading the labels and list of ingredients.

When it comes to food preparation, Cacciaglia doesn't have a lot of gadgets.

"It's a waste of money to invest in a lot of kitchen gadgets when all you need is a good set of knives for dicing and chopping."

Cacciaglia does own a microwave but uses it basically for some initial food preparation, such as melting butter, steaming, and as an extra warming oven for party entertaining.

Much of his baking and broiling is done in a toaster oven. Obviously, a toaster oven uses less energy but consider its other assets: It preheats faster and is easier to clean. Cacciaglia likes to spray the broiler rack with a non-stick spray. His other advice for efficient meal planning and execution is to prepare in advance as much of the meal as you can in the morning.

"Lots of the peeling and chopping can be done hours before you're ready to serve as long as the Lee Cacciaglia of Lathrup Village sits down to a Herb-Baked Chicken Breast with Oven-Browned Potatoes is just one of his fast and easy specialties.

'My mother and my older sister taught me to make many of these dishes, and at first there were a few disasters.'

food is covered and refrigerated."

HIS FAVORITE dishes for entertaining are those that can be made totally in advance. Among them are cannelloni, gnocchi, and corned beef and cabbage. He uses crepes as the base for his cannelloni and often makes them a day in advance, preparing the filling the morning of the party.

Cacciaglia also loves entertaining. Among favorite theme parties he had recently were a soup tasting and an evening with oysters and champagne. His style of entertaining is focused around "keeping the party simple, unstuffy, so my guests feel comfortable and relaxed."

Parties such as the soup tasting allows his guests to serve themselves. Cacciaglia generally selects three different soups served as the main course, accompanied by good crusty French or Italian bread, salad, and dessert such as Lemon Creme Crepes.

Here are a few of Cacciaglia's recipes he prepares for himself as well as when he entertains.

HERB-BAKED CHICKEN BREAST WITH OVEN-BROWNED POTATOES

- 1 split chicken breast with or without skin
- 2 tablespoons herbed bread crumbs
- 1 large potato, peeled and quartered
- paprika

Marinade:

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon dried thyme
- ¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- salt and pepper to taste

Preheat toaster oven or conventional oven to 425 degrees. Toss chicken breasts in marinade and set aside 15 minutes. Brush some of the marinade on the potato. Place potato in a baking dish large enough to hold potato and chicken and bake for 15 minutes. Remove dish and add chicken, bone side

Chinese cuisine comes naturally from garden plot

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

After nearly 40 years of labor, Shee Fon Ong and wife, Sim, sold their laundry and dry cleaning business in Detroit last year and retired into a new home in West Bloomfield.

The home, a small condominium, has a postage-stamp-sized yard that is dominated by an enormous pumpkin vine loaded with young fruit ripening for a Halloween harvest.

The pumpkins are for Jonathan, 3, and Jennifer, 5, the Ongs' bilingual grandchildren, life-sized porcelain dolls who are clearly the center of their grandparents' universe.

While the pumpkin vine is meant to please the youngest members of the family, other gardening pursuits by the senior Ongs are of a more serious nature.

Their garden in the West Bloomfield Community Garden on Maple Road supplies the family year-round with staple fruits and vegetables that enable the Ongs and daughter-in-law Betty Ong to prepare traditional family cuisine.

Without the garden, essential items like winter and bitter melons, Chinese long beans and unusual varieties of mustard greens and spinach would simply not be available, according to the Ongs, who say even specialty grocers hardly ever carry the produce.

"ALL CHINESE, every people who cook it, know," said Sim Ong, 65, of the unique vegetables that remain a mystery to most Western chefs.

Sim learned of their scarcity in the U.S. shortly after settling in the modern city of Detroit in 1949. She was a young bride, recently arrived community garden. Fruits and vegetables they grow are used in the family's year-round cooking of traditional Chinese food.

from a rural village near Canton (now Guangzhou) in southern China. Detroit's Chinatown at Cass and Peterboro streets was considerably larger then, perhaps twice as large a community as the estimated 15,000 Chinese who are now scattered throughout the metropolitan area.

Today, Chinatown is near Third and Michigan avenues, primarily populated by people originally from Hong Kong and Taiwan.

"Now small. Before, lots bigger," Shee Fon said, in describing the size of Detroit's Chinatown when he arrived here in 1936 as a youth of 19 years, determined to make his way in the United States. He returned to China briefly in 1948 to marry Sim. Chinese grocers in Detroit catered to the old community, selling produce upon which Chinese housewives

Dishes are Cantonese

China, a vast country with wide variations in climate and agricultural tradition, also sports distinct regional cuisines.

Shee Fon Ong and wife, Sim, originally hail from a small village in Guangdong province in southern China. Because of heavy emigration from the area at the turn of the century, it is best known in the West.

Westerners know the region as Canton, birthplace of sumptuous Cantonese cuisine that features parboiled food that is steamed or stir-fried and subtly spiced with oyster and soy sauces, garlic or ginger root.

Noted as the rice bowl of China, Canton Province is also known for dim sum, delicious snacks that are served as a light lunch or afternoon tea.

Treasured recipes of the Ong family are difficult to put into measurements because the Ongs have never before thought to do so. The entrees are prepared by touch and taste.

rely for authentic soups and stir fry. Still, selection was often scarce. Sim determined a solution early on. She would cultivate her own fruits and vegetables. She planted her first garden shortly after arriving in the U.S. and has replanted every spring thereafter.

NOW THAT Shee Fon no longer toils daily in the laundry, he assists Sim, carefully tending their small plot in the community garden. Next year, they intend to expand it to two plots.

The garden contains bitter and winter melons for tasty soups, soy beans, Chinese long beans that typically grow to four feet in length, and Chinese mustard greens that feature a broad leaf.

Each year, Sim carefully preserves seeds for planting the following year. A small plastic bag of tiny, jet-black seeds ensures a new crop of hang choi, a red spinach that is essential in Cantonese cooking for red broth seasoned with minced garlic. Seeds scooped from bitter melon for planting next spring resemble brown beans. The staple soy bean used in planting is also suitable for cooking. Several years ago one of Sim's seeds produced an amazing 35-pound winter melon. Normally, winter melons weigh 20 pounds each.

To ensure supplies of produce year-round, Sim has learned to blanch and freeze the tart bitter melon. Although the process renders the melon meat spongy, the Ongs agree it is better than going without. Winter melons are picked late in the fall, after they have grown a protective layer of white fuzz. They are stored in the cool basement where they remain usable for months. Sim dries bok choy, a chard-like vegetable, grown for centuries in China and now available in the produce section of most U.S. groceries and supermarkets.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW Betty Ong, a high school teacher in Royal Oak, also relies on the garden for produce. She is married to the Ongs' son, Fred, now 37 and an engineer for Ford Motor Co.

The couple lives nearby with youngsters Jennifer and Jonathan. The senior Ongs care for the children when Betty and Fred are at work.

Fred clearly remembers the first time he tasted American-style food. He was perhaps 6 years old and had started school in Detroit where he was learning to speak English for the first time. He was invited to dinner at the home of a classmate. The meal included potatoes and steak. "I think that was the first time I ate a lot," he said in recall. Today, he prefers traditional Chinese food.

Fred also fondly remembers dim sum, the tasty treats served during leisurely Chinese brunches at restaurants like Wah Court, Ruby's Eatery and Wong's in Windsor, Canada.

His favorite dim sum treats are steamed buns stuffed with savory meats or sweet bean paste.

Betty cooks Chinese style unless "I'm in a hurry. Then I cook American food because it's faster." Chinese cuisine primarily calls for fresh ingredients that require lots of chopping.

With only weeks remaining in this year's harvest, the Ong family is busy gathering fruits and vegetables, preparing them for winter storage to ensure a supply throughout the months ahead.

passed down by word of mouth for unknown centuries.

Both Shee Fon's and Sim's mothers followed children and settled in the United States where each died at the age of 95, after overseeing countless meals in the Ong household.

Sim Ong has passed on culinary tradition to daughter-in-law Betty who is also of Cantonese ancestry. Like husband Fred, Betty is also the first American born in her family.

Ong recipes combine unique fruits and vegetables with spicy Chinese pork sausage and unusual pickled spices. The scarcity of fresh produce make preparation a challenge to the typical American cook.

RED PEPPER AND GREEN BEAN SIDE DISH

1 large red pepper, quartered, seeded, stem removed
1/2 to 1 cup fresh green beans
1 small onion, sliced and separated into rings
1/2 teaspoon oregano
3 tablespoons olive oil

BROILED FISH LINO
1/2 pound to 1/4 pound skinless pickered fillets or other fresh fillets
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
salt and pepper to taste
dash paprika

CLASSIC SALAD
Lee's Simple Vinaigrette for One
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 crushed garlic clove

Mix olive oil, vinegar and garlic together. Season to taste. Set aside until ready to serve salad.

CHICKEN VEGETABLE SOUP
2 cups chicken broth
1 cup frozen peas and carrots
1 small onion, diced
1 small potato, diced, peeled
1 small tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped
Parmesan cheese

Add broth to saucepan and bring to boil. Add peas and carrots, dice potato, onion and simmer for 15 minutes. Add chopped tomato and simmer 5 more minutes. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese. Season to taste.

a light sauce and the best-flavored tomatoes I have ever eaten. Lee Moraitis, president of Shield's pizza, seemed surprised with the first-place medal but declared, "We always finish in the top when judged against the competition."

Second place, receiving a cash award, went to "the Pizza Gourmet" himself, Carl Oshinski of Plymouth, with his Greek-styled pizza. Rumor has it that Oshinski will soon be popping up with a trendy new pizza format in the Detroit metropolitan area. Third place went to Dan Bleke, representing Carmen's Pizza on E. Eight Mile Road in Warren.

All the participants — some of whom came from Grand Rapids, Frankenmuth and Oscoda — received aprons and a certificate of recognition.

If you're looking for the best pizza in Observerland, check out those listed above. You won't be disappointed, especially if you tell them you want the same thing they created at the Great Lakes Food Show. And by the way, the brewskis and Roloids are available at your local party store.

While chicken is baking, clean and quarter peppers. Trim stems from green beans and boil in saucepan for 5 minutes. Heat olive oil in a skillet. When hot add pepper slices. Lower heat to medium and stir often, cook for 15 minutes. Drain beans, pat dry and add to skillet. Cook for 5 minutes more. Add onion slices, cooking

Mix together lemon juice, salt, pepper into melted butter or margarine. Spread evenly on both sides of fillet. Place fish on broiler pan in a toaster oven. Sift flour on top of fish to coat evenly. Add a dash of paprika. Broil for 12 to 15 minutes. Fish is done when it flakes easily with a fork and is golden. Serve with pan-fried potatoes and buttered peas.

All aboard! Rail trip highlights state's fall color

Fall color is on the agenda when the Bluewater Michigan chapter of the National Railway Historical Society sponsors a trip to the Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad near Flint Saturday, Oct. 15. The train departs from the CSX terminal in Livonia, on Levan south of the Jeffries Freeway.

Experience fall color from a railroad car Saturday when the Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society sponsors a trip to Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Flint.

This excursion is known as the fall harvest jubilee special in honor of Crossroads Village's fall jubilee when the village reopens for the weekend of Oct. 15-16.

The train departs from the CSX Transportation Co. headquarters in Livonia near the Jeffries Freeway on Levan and travels north through Northville, Millford and Holly to Flint where passengers may disembark for connecting buses to Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Mt. Morris.

The harvest jubilee weekend at Crossroads Village includes hayrides, cider and doughnuts, harvesting activities, apple bobbing and pumpkin carving and a 10 mile fall color ride aboard the Huckleberry Railroad in antique cars behind a restored Baldwin narrow gauge steam locomotive.

Entertainment includes music by the Novi Jug Band, horsedrawn wagon rides, a kite flying contest, and a fiddler and dulcimer exhibition.

The fall harvest jubilee special Livonia to Flint train fare includes admission to Crossroads Village and one ride aboard the Huckleberry Railroad. Some activities, like a carousel and hay wagon ride, have an additional fee.

The fall harvest jubilee special excursion train will be powered by diesel locomotives provided by the CSX. The train will consist of air-conditioned and open window coaches, first class lounge cars and a snack and souvenir car serving refreshments. Souvenirs — including railroad memorabilia and gifts — will be on sale in the snack car.

A limited number of first class seats will be available. First class service includes breakfast, hors d'oeuvres, coffee, soft drinks and snacks and a full evening meal — all served seatside. The train departs Livonia at 8:30 a.m. and arrives in Flint at 10:30 a.m. and Crossroads Village at 11 a.m. It will return to Livonia at 8 p.m.

First class fare is $99. Roundtrip coach seating is $49 for adults, and $29 for children ages 5 to 16.

Tickets can be purchased at Plymouth Yard Hobbies, 904 Starkweather at the CSX tracks in Plymouth or the Bluewater Michigan chapter office at 300 East 4th Street, Royal Oak. Tickets can be purchased by telephone using VISA or MasterCard. Call 264-4418 or 455-4455 between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The Bluewater Michigan chapter has arranged chartered bus service to the Livonia departure site. A bus will leave Birmingham from Norman's Eaton Street Station restaurant on Eton Rd. at Maple at 6:45 a.m.

Seating is assigned by car and is limited. People wishing to ride together should order tickets together.

SC foundation hosts a night at the races

Tickets are available for "A Night at the Races," a Schoolcraft College Foundation fund-raiser to be held Monday, Nov. 21, at Northville Downs.

The event includes a buffet dinner, program and admission to the race track and clubhouse. The $25 per person contribution will be used to support student scholarships and other projects.

Tickets are available at the college Institutional Advancement Office in the Grote Administration Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Tickets can also be reserved by calling 591-6400, Ext. 218.

Foster homes needed here

There is a critical shortage of foster homes throughout Wayne County, social service officials said.

To overcome the shortage, the Wayne County Department of Social Services and private placement agencies have embarked upon a joint recruiting program, "Children Need Loving Homes."

Persons interested in becoming foster parents are invited to attend an information session Wednesday at Children and Youth Services, 801 W. Baltimore, Detroit.

Information on additional meeting dates is available by calling 876-5437.

Golf outing raised $4,700 for schools

The first annual Wayne County Intermediate School District Foundation golf outing raised $4,717.

The event was held Sept. 29 at Green Oaks Golf Course, Ypsilanti. Proceeds will be used to buy talking computers and teacher grants.

The foundation was established earlier this year to provide county students with innovative educational programs that cannot be financed through current operating budgets or tax revenue.

The golf outing was the foundation's first fund-raising event.

Shamrocks rule Boys Bowl, 21-7

CC defense bottles up Rice as Krueger spearheads win

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Coratti's kids proved to be the difference again Sunday, as Redford Catholic Central continued its mastery over Boys Bowl rival Birmingham Brother Rice, 21-7, in a battle of state-ranked football teams before nearly 9,000 fans at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

It was CC's sixth straight victory without a loss and the fifth straight triumph over the Warriors dating back to 1985.

Head coach Tom Mach of CC was quick to give the credit to his defensive coordinator Rick Coratti, who designed a gimmick defense to stop Rice's potent passing attack.

"We've always taken great pride in our defense," said Mach, who is an amazing 9-6 against Rice head coach Al Fracassa. "And Rick has been with me every step of the way. We both started together 13 years ago, and I don't know what I'd do without him."

CC wasn't bad offensively, either, as quarterback Scott Hauncher completed seven of 14 passes for 139 yards. Fullback Lee Krueger slammed in for three touchdowns, including a pair in the decisive fourth quarter.

KRUEGER, HOWEVER, was the catalyst defensively, playing four different positions to confuse Rice's offensive scheme. The 6-foot-2, 205-pounder, primarily a middle guard, also put in stints at linebacker, strong tackle and strong-side end.

football

"We thought the most important thing was to put pressure on the quarterback (Rice's Bob Utter), and we didn't want to give him room because he's a good scrambler," Krueger said. "It was coach Coratti's idea to switch me around. I kind of loved it. I was able to blitz a lot."

The strategy was born out of an NFL video called "Crunch Time," which Coratti and Mach watched three weeks ago.

"It had Howie Long in it (the All-Pro nose guard of the LA Raiders)," said Mach. "It was Rick's idea all the way."

Utter was intercepted three times in the first half — one each by Mike Mathis, Steve Szerlag and Greg Paler.

IT WAS PALER'S pickoff with 2:34 left in the first half which led to CC's first touchdown. Hauncher directed an 81-yard drive in eight plays, capped by Krueger's 1-yard TD plunge with 13 seconds left. Pete Elezovic added the extra point to make it 7-0.

Utter, who was only five of 16 for 37 yards in the first half, began to connect in the third quarter, hitting nine of 12 passes.

Rice scored its only TD with 2:05 left in the period on a 3-yard run by John Burtraw. Bob Fekete's extra point knotted the count at 7-11.

"It wasn't anything our quarterback was doing wrong, but we wanted to come out and throw shorter in the second half to settle us down," said Fracassa, the Rice coach. "But remember, they're a good defense."

Rice held CC on its next two possessions, but the Shamrocks got a big play with 5:21 remaining in the game when Hauncher hooked up with Chris Johnston out of the backfield for a 46-yard pass, setting up what proved to be the game-winning TD, a 2-yard plunge by Krueger with 3:47 left.

"We knew he (Hauncher) was a good passer, but a couple of big passes hurt us," said Fracassa, the Rice coach. "That long pass to No. 22 (Johnston) was the key to the game."

HAUNCHER who is maturing into a solid quarterback, is using a variety of targets.

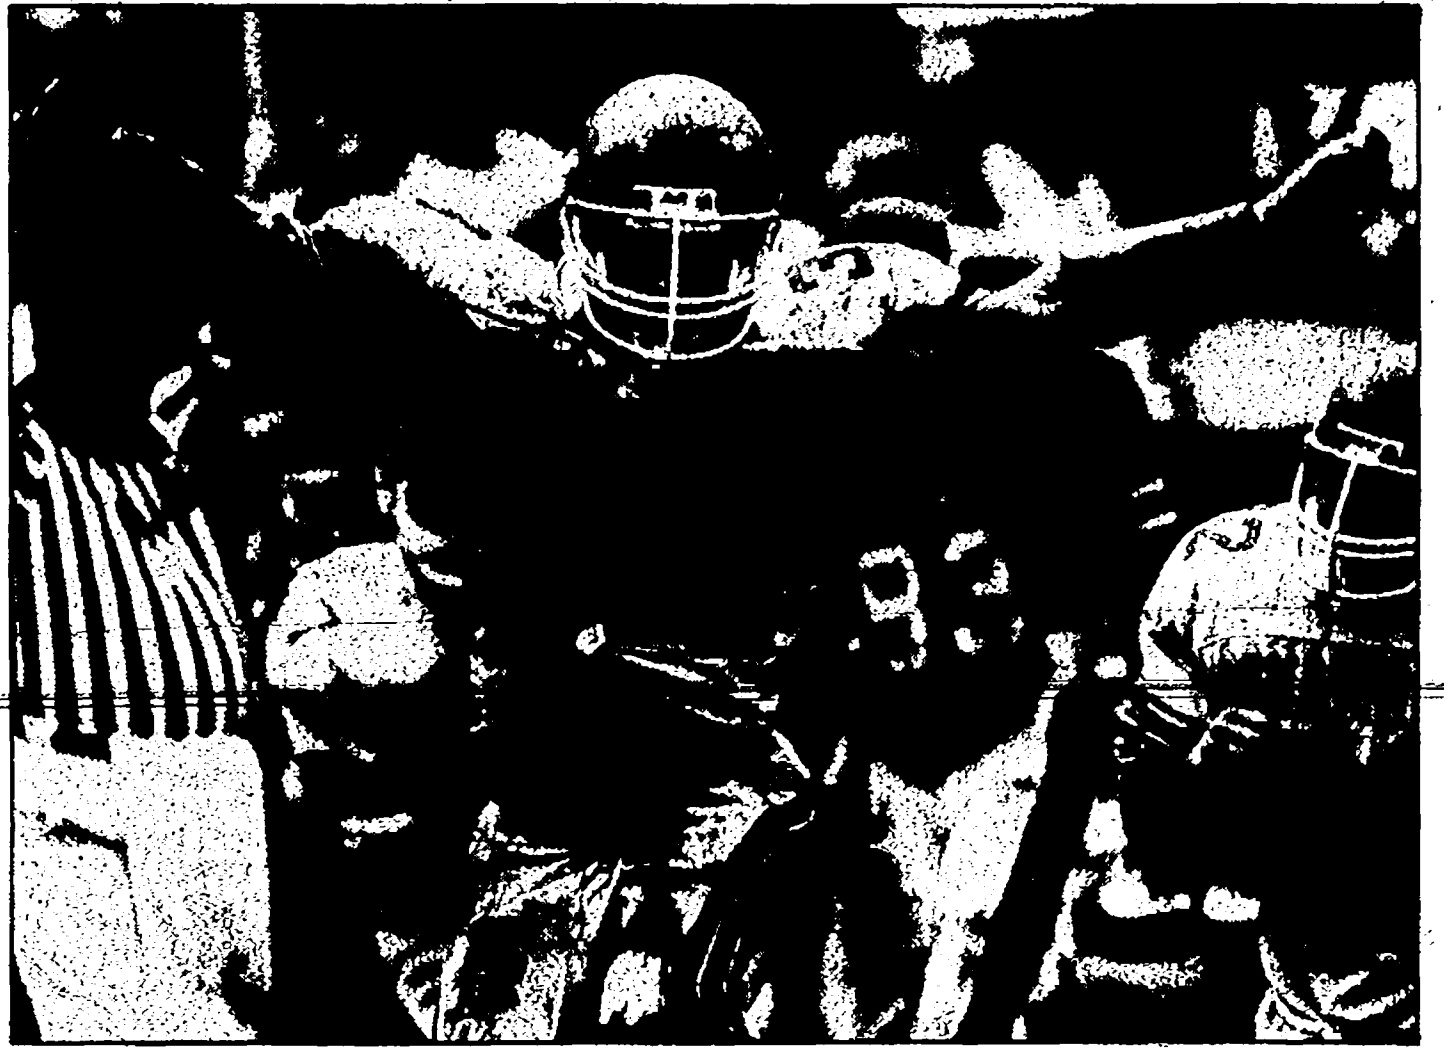

"We have a bunch of good receivers, but Chris (Johnston) is my favorite," he said. "Chris ran a post and he was the main receiver all the way (on the 46-yarder). He found a big seam and ran it through."

Trailing 14-7, Rice's chance for victory was all but nixed with 3:17 remaining.

Hemmed in at their own 13 and faced with a fourth-and-10 situation, the Warriors lined up in punt formation and tried a desperation move.

Tony Paesano took the snap and ran for daylight, but CC's defense smelled it out, stopping him well short of the first down marker.

"The fake punt was supposed to be an option play," Fracassa said. "The ball wasn't pitched, but he tried to run it instead. At that point you've got to go for it. You've got to take chances."

Taking no chances, CC made it a 14-point cushion on a 5-yard TD run by Krueger with 1:10 to play. The score was set up when Rice jumped offside, giving the Shamrocks a first down as Elezovic was lining up for a 29-yard field goal attempt.

"WHEN WE GET the ball down there we're going to give it to Krueger because he can get it in there," said Mach.

But it was Krueger and his defensive mates who made life more miserable for Utter, who finished 16 of 35 for 174 yards (48 of those yards came as a result of a "Hall Mary" pass on the final play of the game).

"Krueger is one of the best nose guards around and we wanted more pressure on the quarterback so Rick Coratti came up with the idea of moving him around to different positions so their blockers couldn't double-team him," Mach explained. "It was the first time we tried it and it brought out the best in our secondary."

And what did Coratti have to say about the new defensive strategy? "It wasn't that big a deal," the assistant coach said, smiling like a kid.

John Glenn gridders smash Rocks

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Eric Stover (left) of Westland John Glenn fires a pass before Plymouth Salem's Ryan Johnson can make the sack. Glenn rolled to a 32-6 win.

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Westland John Glenn laid to rest one issue regarding its football team and raised another Friday night.

The unbeaten Rockets squelched all talk about their real ability when they thumped host Plymouth Salem 32-6 in a key Lakes Division game.

Glenn, rated No. 7 in Class A, walloped its first five opponents but, through no fault of its own, had played a majority of teams with losing records.

But there can be no doubt the Rockets are for real now, not after their latest victory. Glenn tailback Bryant Satterlee carried that message — quite literally — home to the Rocks.

The 210-pound junior rushed for 184 yards and all five touchdowns as the Rockets ruined Salem's homecoming and hopes for a share of the Lakes Division title.

"WE'RE NOT GOING to apologize for who we play," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "We try to play as hard as we can every week and let other people worry about that."

"I don't know if we're for real or not. We're just having a lot of fun and trying to keep it rolling."

The next issue the Rockets must deal with is the showdown for the Lakes title Friday when they play host to unbeaten North Farmington. Both are 4-0 in the division and 6-0 overall.

Salem was eliminated from the title picture with its second straight loss, falling to 2-2 in the Lakes and 4-2 overall.

"They're as good a football team as we've played," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said. "John Glenn just lines up and comes at you. They do what they have to do and just overpower you."

Moshimer was mighty impressed by Satterlee, who scored first-half TDs on runs of 29 and 2 yards, plus a 17-yard fumble return. After the Rocks scored off the second-half kickoff, Glenn put the game away as Satterlee added TD runs of 2 and 6 yards.

"WE JUST TIRED them out," Satterlee said. "The front line kept driving at them, driving at them and knocking them back. And finally we tired them out."

Salem stopped Glenn's inside attack early in the game, but the Rockets started going off tackle and around the corners with success as the game wore on.

"We started hitting on some things," Gordon said. "We had some better play selection, but their defense took some things away."

Glenn, in fact, got on the scoreboard initially when Satterlee turned what looked to be a failed play into a 29-yard scoring run. He was stopped at the line of scrimmage but bounced outside and reached the end zone while being dragged down from behind.

"You see the goal line and you don't want to stop," Satterlee said. "The front line did a great job. If not for the front line, we don't have any touchdowns. I had help all the way around."

The Rockets took a 19-0 halftime lead after Salem's offense left the defense with its back to the wall too often.

"I GUESS WE did; that's the understatement of the year," Moshimer said. "You can't turn the ball over to a team like that."

The Rocks held twice after giving Glenn the ball deep in their own end, once after a low snap from center forced punter Donovan Nichols to run and again on a fumble.

But, after intercepting an Eric Stover pass following the fumble, the Rocks gave it right back with another at their 10. It took Glenn three plays to make it 13-0.

Then, late in the half, another bad punt snap resulted in the Rockets leading 19-0 at the intermission.

Nichols had trouble getting a handle on the low delivery and kicked the ball as he fell to the ground. Satterlee was in the right place this time, too, scooping up the loose ball and returning it for six points.

"That's all it was," Satterlee said. "He kicked it right to me. It could have been anybody. We came out to block the punt, and we did what we wanted."

SALEM MADE AN effort to get back in the game, going 73 yards and cutting the margin to 19-6 to start the third quarter. Ryan Johnson, who had 92 of Salem's 173 rushing yards, did most of the work and dived over the top on a 1-yard keeper for the TD.

"I told the kids the first few minutes of the second half would be crucial," Gordon said. "Then they went right down and scored. We were fortunate enough to drive on our next possession."

"That swung the momentum, and it's hard to overcome those (Salem) mistakes. They jammed some things on the inside, and we tried to sweep them and get outside."

The Rockets got a big return from Tom Luxton on the kickoff and, with Satterlee doing most of the work to finish with 33 carries, scored the next two times it had the ball, driving 45 and 74 yards in seven and 14 plays, respectively.

Gordon anticipated having to throw more — Stover was 2-of-6 for 17 yards — but effective ball control and 200 yards rushing made that unnecessary.

"Later on it's a momentum thing," said Moshimer of Glenn's second-half domination on the ground. "When we're down 25-6 and they end up scoring, it was strictly momentum. Then we let down and didn't play with the same intensity."

John Brannan added 49 yards rushing for Salem, and Rob Kowalski, who started at quarterback but gave way to Johnson later, was 1-of-3 passing for 6 yards.

Chargers halt Northville Mustangs, 4-0

Four different players scored Wednesday as state-ranked Livonia Churchill pounded Northville in a Western Lake Activities Association boys soccer match at old Bentley High School, 4-0.

Churchill (7-1-1) led 3-0 at the half on goals by Khaled Zeldan (from Matt Klucavsek), Phil Todino (from John Gentile) and Mike Gentile (from Zeldan).

In the second half, Darin Bodin added an insurance goal from Todino to close out the Chargers' scoring.

Goalie Yovann Trapovski recorded the shut-out.

"We played pretty well and dominated territorially," said Churchill coach John Neff. "We played strong the whole game and it was a good tuneup going into the end of the year. The whole team played real good defense. Everyone was up-and-down the field."

REDFORD CC 6, NOTRE DAME 0: Brian Thiel returned to the lineup, contributing a pair of assists, as Redford Catholic Central breezed to a Central Division triumph over Harper Woods Notre Dame in a game played Friday at Bell Creek Park.

CC is 7-4-1 overall and 3-3-1 in the division. The Irish slipped to 4-7-1 and 1-8-1.

Thiel, who injured his foot during the second week of the season, returned to his midfield position, joining forces with teammates Jason Ries, Dominic Scieluna and Jim Hartline.

"This is the first time we've had all our midfielders together and we saw the difference today," said CC coach Paul Scieluna.

Jim Bernthal led the Shamrocks with a pair of first-half goals. Steve McCaul and Scieluna also scored during the opening period to give CC a commanding 4-0 lead.

Bill Tarnacki and Mike Derhake added second-half goals.

Tony Martines and J.P. Angell, who shared duties in goal, combined for the shutout.

REDFORD UNION 3, EDESEL FORD 2: Todd Morris scored twice Wednesday, including the game-winner from Erik Coulter and Mark Payment to give the host Panthers an upset Northwest Suburban League win over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

RU is now 4-8-1 overall and 3-3 in the NSL.

The Panthers opened the scoring on Coulter's header off a corner kick from Brian MacDonald.

But later in the first half, Edsel's Scott Weiger tied it on a penalty kick.

Morris then made it 2-1 at intermission on an assist from Ray Palombi and added another to give the Panthers a two-goal cushion before the Thunderbirds closed it to 3-3 on a shot by Steve Weiger late in the second half.

NOVI 3, GARDEN CITY 0: Garden City is still looking for that elusive win.

On Thursday, the Cougars fell to 0-10 overall against host Novi, despite some sparkling saves by Gregg Dalin and sterling defensive play from sophomore right fullback Chad Jishi.

On Wednesday, GC dropped its fifth straight in the NSL to visiting Woodhaven, 7-1.

"We were very unfortunate (against Woodhaven) because we could have scored four or five goals," said GC coach George Vella.

Spartans, Garden City end seasons in triumph

Livonia Stevenson wrapped up a 12-2 dual meet season Wednesday with a 301-229 boys golf victory over city rival Franklin in match at Idyl Wyld.

The Spartans' Brian Overby and Tim Beatty shared medalist honors with 38 each. Mark Sawicki added a 49, Brian Ransom, a 43, and John Fenech, a 43.

Greg Kerr paced Franklin with a 42.

GARDEN CITY finished its dual meet campaign at 10-4 with a pair of victories last week.

In a match played Thursday at Fellows Creek, the Cougars defeated Westland John Glenn, 219-229, as Mark Dowd led the winners with a 28.

Other GC scorers included Mark Contreras and Rick Morton, 44 each; Rick Walters, 48; Brian Hawkins and Bob Stubbs, 48 each.

On Wednesday, Garden City edged Dearborn in a match at Westland Municipal Golf Course, 211-214, as Stubbs was medalist with a 28. He was followed by Walters (42), Contreras (43), Morton (44) and Dowd (44).

GC finished 6-2 in Northwest Suburban League dual match play.

Trojans gain satisfying Metro victory

Coch Ralph Weddle called it "a special game for us." On Friday, Livonia Clarenceville held off visiting Bloomfield Hills' Cranbrook, 8-8, in a hard-fought Metro Conference football encounter. Both teams are 4-2 overall and 3-2 in the Metro.

"It was a tough one, a hard-hitting game all the way," said the Clarenceville coach. "Our ball-control in the second half was the key because it kept their offense off the field."

All the scoring took place in the final quarter. Clarenceville senior fullback Scott Pyle struck first on a 4-yard touchdown run. Tailback Andy Weighill, who led the Trojans with 143 yards in 26 carries, ran for the two-pointer to make it 8-0 Trojans.

"He (Weighill) did one heck of a job," Weddle said. "He was tough to bring down." Cranbrook scored with four minutes to go on a 1-yard run by John Edman, but the Cranes' quarterback was stuffed at the 2 by Jay Larson (eight tackles in the game) and Paul Phillips (seven tackles) on the two-point try.

Clarenceville then ran out the clock, driving for a couple of key first downs. "Half the team was sick and I was out for three days," Weddle said. "There was some kind of flu going around. We had terrible practices and I thought we were weak coming in, but we didn't fold."

STEVENSON 21, FARMINGTON 3: Livonia Stevenson (2-4) broke a four-game losing streak Friday with a homecoming victory over the winless Falcons. Stevenson is now 1-3 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, while Farmington dipped to 0-4. Farmington's Eric Meyer opened the scoring with a 31-yard field goal in the first quarter, but Stevenson answered with a pair of TDs, the first on a 2-yard run by Dan Piergentili and the second on a 2-yard blast by Rob Chanko. Dan Pascoe added both extra points. Stevenson increased its lead in the third quarter on a 1-yard run by Chanko. Chanko rushed for 84 yards in 16 carries, while the Piergentili brothers, Brian and Dan, combined for 67 more on 15 carries. Stevenson outgained the Falcons in total yardage, 231-117.

The Spartans recorded 39 yards in sacks. Jay Moris and Ron Nichols were each in on nine tackles. Mark Gibbon, Dino Lembeis and Chanko added seven apiece.

Farmington's lone bright spot was fullback-linebacker Norm Cellinake, who rushed for 46 yards in nine carries, added five catches for 50 yards and returned a kickoff 44 yards. He was also in on 17 tackles.

"We played our best first quarter of the year, but we're still not consistent," said Farmington coach Rick Milhizer. "We could not pass protect or stop their run."

W.L. WESTERN 17, CHURCHILL 10: In a W.L.A.A. Western Division game Friday at Central High, host Walled Lake Western rallied for 10 unanswered points to gain the victory. Churchill is now 2-4 overall and 1-3 in the division, while Western upped its mark to 2-4 and 2-2.

Mike Spaccarotella returned the opening kickoff 90 yards for a TD to give the Chargers a 7-0 lead. (Jason Belaire added the PAT.) Western tied it in the second quarter on a 4-yard run by John Engott, but Churchill regained the lead in the third quarter on a 24-yard field goal by Belaire.

Western pulled within one, 10-9, when Spaccarotella was tackled in the end zone for a safety while trying a quick kick. The Warriors took the lead for good with four minutes remaining in the game on a 1-yard run by Engott. He also ran for the two-pointer.

"The difference was that they hit some big passes, some play-action passes," said Churchill coach Herb Osterland.

Western QB Schoane Scannell completed seven of 15 passes for 193 yards. The Warriors added 124 on the ground for a total of 318 yards.

Churchill had only 139 yards total offense with running back Trent Naumcheff gaining 74 yards in 13 carries. The Chargers attempted 20 passes, completing only three. They were intercepted four times.

CRESTWOOD 17, THURSTON 0: On Friday, a 27-yard field goal by Bill Stoyanovich in the first quarter was all host Dearborn Heights Crestwood (5-1) needed to rack up its fourth Tri-River League win in five starts against winless Redford Thurston (0-6).

Crestwood added two more scores, one in the second period on a 73-yard pass and the other coming after a Thurston turnover deep in Eagle territory in the third quarter.

"I'm not dissatisfied with the defense," said Thurston coach Bob Snell, whose team was outgained in total offense, 185-122. "We put good pressure on them. We were physical, but we struggled offensively. We don't have enough weapons to break the big plays."

Stoyanovich's winning kick came as a result of an interception coupled with 20 yards in penalties. Defensive standouts for Thurston included linebackers Tim Wojcik, Steve Koss and Brian Heldtman.

Wojcik was Thurston's leading ground gainer with 54 yards in 13 carries. He also caught one pass for 22 yards.

WAYNE 22, BELLEVILLE 14: On Friday, the visiting Zebras broke a 14-all fourth-quarter deadlock to post the Wolverine A League win. Wayne is 3-3 overall and 2-3 in the league, while the Tigers slipped to 2-4 and 1-3.

In the fourth quarter, Wayne broke a 14-all tie after recovering a fumble at the Tigers' 22. Two plays later, Dureyah Tatum raced 17 yards for the score. Greg Walker ran for the two-pointer.

In the third quarter, Pierre Hixon scored Wayne's first TD on a 2-yard run and Richard Howard added another on a 33-yard return when teammate Laron Price blocked a Belleville punt.

Both teams went scoreless in the opening half.

Patriots zip by city, league foe

Grabbing five of the first six places, Livonia Franklin rolled to a 19-42 girls' cross country victory Thursday over city rival Churchill in a meet at Cass Benton Park.

Franklin is now 3-2 overall and 3-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Churchill is 3-2 and 1-2.

Kelly Gustafson paced the Patriots with a first-place time of 21:36, 15 seconds ahead of Churchill's Charlotte Garry in the 5,000-meter race.

Franklin then took the next four places: Dawn Harrison (22:05), Becky Kloc (22:37), Tina Koons (22:37) and Keri McKay (23:07).

Churchill's Maia de la Merced and Pam Campbell finished seventh and 10th, respectively, with times of 23:22 and 23:46.

The Franklin boys sprinted past Churchill, 23-38, as Charlie Olshanski ran away from the field with a first-place time of 16:46.

Churchill's Scott Westover and Don Kulka finished second and third, respectively, with times of 17:51 and 17:57. Jeff Grossman added a 10th place.

The Patriots captured places four through seven: John Shea (18:02), Will Dawson (18:05), Jeff Horne (18:14) and Mark Donehue (18:41).

Franklin's boys are 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the Western Division, while Churchill slipped to 1-4 and 0-3.

LIVONIA STEVENSON also swept its meet Thursday against Westland John Glenn in a double-dual meet at Central City Park.

The Spartan boys, coached by John Gores, won 25-34, as junior Scott Freeborn finished first in 17:17. Other Stevenson finishers included Keith Klassa, third, 17:37; Dan Lambert, sixth, 17:51; Dave Horan, seventh, 17:52; Rod Westlake, eighth, 17:55; Nick Boone, ninth, 18:12; and Eric Oswald, 10th, 18:17.

Matt Maybourn took second for Glenn in 17:32, followed by teammates Carl Lowe and Jim Zurawski, fourth and fifth respectively, in 17:45 and 17:50.

Cross country

Stevenson is 2-1 overall, while Glenn slipped to 3-3.

Meanwhile, Tracey Clark's first-place finish (20:38) carried the Stevenson girls (3-0) to a 21-35 victory over the Rockets. Other Spartans in the top 10 included Karen Kuphal, third, 20:59; Suzanne Moore, fourth, 22:18; Carrie Creehan, fifth, 22:19; Gall Grewe, eighth, 23:11; and Heather Gores, 10th, 23:39.

Glenn's top finisher was Yvonne Waddell, who took second in 20:47. Other Rockets in the top 10 included Darlene Rousseau, sixth, 22:54; Vickie Bikes, 23:00; and Dallas Amburgey, ninth, 23:27.

Glenn drops to 1-5 overall.

GARDEN CITY suffered a 20-19 loss Thursday to Dearborn Edsel Ford in a boys meet at Hines Park. The Cougars are 1-1 in the Northwest Suburban League and 3-5 overall.

GC barriers earning places in the top 10 include John Rae, third, 17:50; Mike DeBerry, sixth, 18:13; Dave Smith, seventh, 18:22; Todd Jacobs, ninth, 18:38; and Tony Gentilla, 10th, 19:02.

Edsel's Chris Priestaf was first overall in 16:59.

The GC girls could not field a complete team but had the individual winner in Jenny Beer (21:57) against the Thunderbirds.

Other GC girls in the top 10 included Trina Sberlitz, sixth, 22:10; Linda Brake, seventh, 24:06; Michelle Clark, 10th, 26:50.

REDFORD THURSTON defeated Dearborn Heights Crestwood in a boys meet at Cass Benton Park, 20-39. The Eagles have now won seven straight.

Tom Biskner and Jed Kramer led the Eagles with a one-two finish, recording times of 16:50 and 17:26, respectively.

Other Thurston top-10 finishers included Clint Sanford, fourth, 17:57; Steve Smith, fifth, 18:04; Jake Didoszak, eighth, 18:08; and Steve Berry, ninth, 18:12.

Prep sports latest topic in great area debate

I'VE BEEN PRODDED and pushed long enough. One area coach told me last week that I've gotten too soft and too laid-back.

"Where's your competitive fire?" he asked.

OK, it's time to get a few things off my chest and don't construe this as thoughts while shaving.

And don't take these as cheap shots. You know, the kind Bentzen slings around in vice-presidential debates.

Let's face it, Quayle is no Jack Kennedy and I'm no Joe Falls.

But what's bugging me? The status of Churchill's football field for one. It's been resodded, but it's not quite ready yet. Too much water in one end, I'm told.

What's taking so long? Covering games over at old Bentley High brought back good memories, but those lights shine down right on the track and not on the field. It's bright in the bleachers, but dark in the middle.

BENTLEY'S FIELD should be used exclusively for soccer. Widen it, relevel it and reseed it. Make it the city soccer field for the Livonia Public Schools. The idea makes too much sense, though.

Varsity fields in Farmington, Plymouth and Livonia take a year-long pounding with additional sports such as JV and freshman soccer and football. A city soccer field with adequate seating (like Bentley's) might make it a mecca for the sport.

And speaking of facilities, since the millage passed in Redford Union, isn't the poor high school entitled to a modern, all-weather track?

A track is sorely needed at RU. It's got to be just as costly replacing the cinders. The football bleachers need revamping, as well.

The superintendent should make it a high priority item.

But RU couldn't get any better news with the election of Jim Gibbons as athletic director.

Gibbons is the type of AD that will make anyone feel real comfortable. He has a good idea on how a class program should be run.

THE ONLY DRAWBACK with him getting the job is that it might have to step away from his football and track duties.

But if anyone can pull it off, it's Gibbons. He has the district's best interests at heart and has started to build a winner in those two sports.

I'm also concerned about girls basketball in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

It's becoming the "Big Two (Canton and Salem) and the Little 10 (the rest)."

The games aren't fun to cover because the outcomes are all too familiar. It's not like the old days when Salem battled Bentley, Glenn took on Canton, and Franklin battled Farmington. If Farmington Harrison can have a good football, why not a competitive girls basketball team?

And because of the lack of competition, Canton coach Rob Neu has saw fit to run his team through practice drills during the half-time break of games.

Some opposing teams feel this is adding insult to injury.

What I'm more worried about is that Neu carrying only seven players on his varsity roster. Hopefully nobody else will get hurt because the Chiefs have a chance to make a run in the state tournament.

THE ONLY WAY girls basketball will become more competitive in the WLAA is that school districts, such as Livonia, make a commitment to middle school sports. Without a feeder system program, you'll continue to see more scores like 50-15 and 69-21 on the varsity level.

Of course, I've never talked about middle school sports in Livonia before. Right?

But it's good to see teams like Wayne Memorial, under the direction of coaches Gary Schwan and Jack Furlong, battling for the Wolverine A League crown against perennial powers Trenton and Dearborn Fordson.

And the emergence of Redford Bishop Borgess (under coach Mike Resmer) in the Catholic League's Central Division is a breath of fresh air.

No longer will you see the Spartans getting beat 99-5 as they did a few years back against Livonia Ladywood.

It was good to hear Farmington Mercy coach Larry Baker on the phone the other night expressing concern about playing Borgess on Tuesday.

Good competition makes the games more enjoyable to cover.

AND THERE'S one more subject I'd like to broach.

Why are all these high school wide receivers wearing gloves now? Can somebody explain this phenomenon? It's can't be because of the weather, but maybe because they're imitating the pros.

The pros may use them to prevent burns and scrapes on artificial surfaces.

My deduction is that it's just a fad. It looks good, but does it make you catch the ball any better?

When I was in high school the fad was sweatbands and wristbands. They were worn then because it was the "in thing" to do.

Wonder what they will think of next? Could be leather helmets be back in style?

CREATIVE LIVING REAL ESTATE GUIDE

OF THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

THIS PAGE IS WORTH A RIP (or snip)

The names and numbers listed here will help you understand our newspapers and locate people and departments in

THE
NEWSPAPERS

So feel free to clip, snip or rip this page for future reference.

CIRCULATION

Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are delivered twice each week by carrier and mail. Our current audited circulation is 160,959 (September 30, 1987). To begin receiving your Observer or Eccentric call

591-0500 in Wayne
644-1100 in Oakland
651-7575 in Rochester / Rochester Hills

These also are the numbers to call if you experience a problem with delivery. Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. To become a carrier, call 591-0500 or 644-1100.

Fred Wright is our Circulation Director; 591-2300 ext. 500

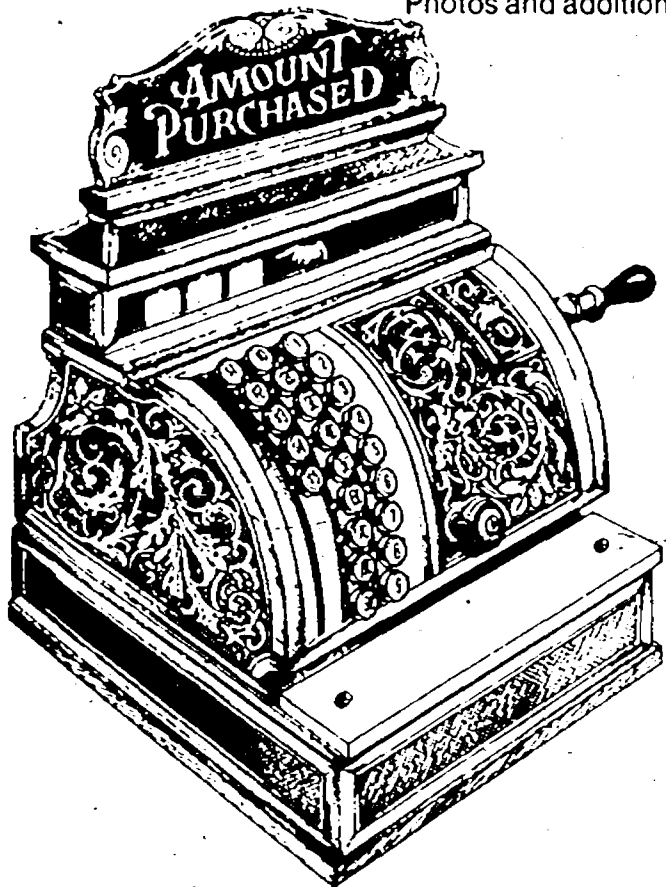

ADVERTISING

There are two basic types of advertisements in The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers:

DISPLAY

These ads are found in the main sections of the paper and are billed at a column-inch rate. We will provide layout, typesetting, and copywriting if you need it, at no additional charge.

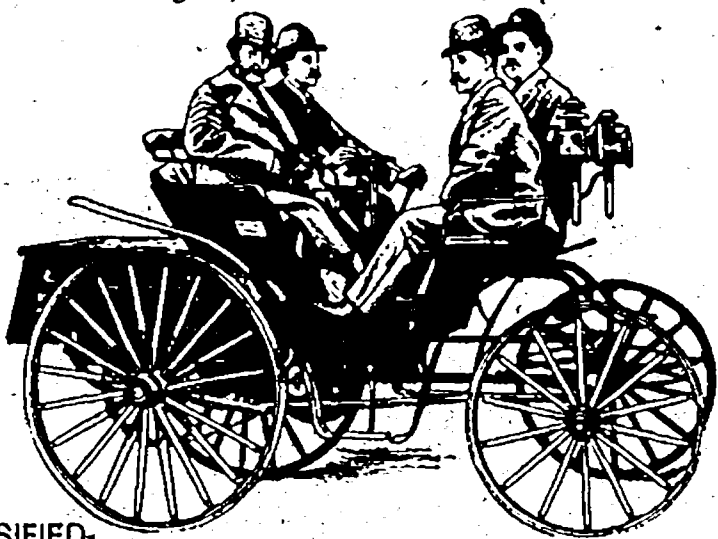

Photos and additional artwork are available for a fee.

Our representatives will be happy to visit your place of business and discuss a marketing strategy with you, along with information pertaining to deadlines, contract rates, research data, and upcoming special supplements. Our display telephones are:

644-1100 in Oakland
591-2300 in Wayne

Monica DiCola heads our Retail Advertising department in Oakland (644-1100 ext. 348) and Mark Lewis is our Wayne County Retail Manager (591-2300 ext. 469).

CLASSIFIED

These ads are found in the Classified sections of the papers and are placed in columns under the appropriate classification for the item that is to be bought or sold. They are billed at a line rate. Our Classified telephone lines are open daily from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Friday. Call:

644-1070 in Oakland
591-0900 in Wayne
852-3222 in Rochester / Rochester Hills

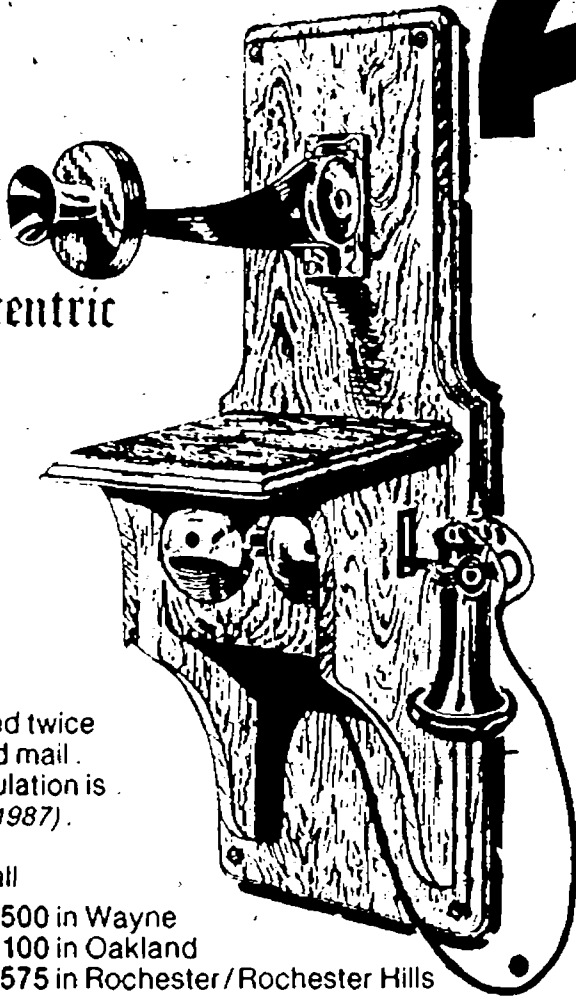

Our computerized classified phone system will route your call to one of our ad takers. We suggest that you jot down what you would like to say before calling and have your Visa or MasterCard ready if you plan to use one of them.

Classified ads are also available in display format for Real Estate and Automotive clients and are billed at an inch rate. To arrange for a classified display ad call:

644-1100 in Oakland
591-2300 in Wayne

Jack Padley manages our Classified department (591-2300 ext. 487).

Dick Brady directs all advertising and promotion for The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers; 591-2300 ext. 400

EDITORIAL

Ever wonder who to call when you have a question or comment about what you've read in your hometown newspaper? Perhaps you've wondered how to let us know about news or photo tips? All news tips should be called to the community editor at the telephone number listed below. If you receive no answer, call The Observer, 591-2305 or The Eccentric, 644-1101.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editorials are published every Thursday. The lead editorial is written by the community editor. Editorials printed below the lead are written by a member of the editorial department. To reach the community editor, call the number listed. To reach the county editorial staff, call the appropriate number. All letters to the editor must be legibly written and signed. Please restrict letters to 300 words. We reserve the right to condense any letter and may refuse publication.

CLUB AND FASHION SHOW NOTICES

Notices of club activities appear in the Thursday Suburban Life section. All notices must be written legibly and received by 5 p.m. Monday to be included in Thursday's paper. If you have questions, please call the appropriate Suburban Life editor.

STREET SCENE

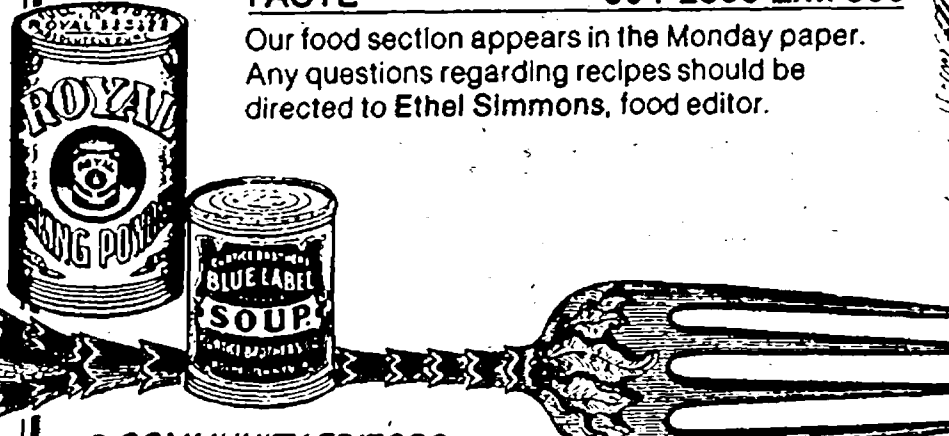

591-2300 Ext 302

This section, which is written for readers in the 18-35 age range, appears in our Monday paper. It focuses on activities and events throughout Detroit as well as in our 12-community circulation area. For further information, call Sue Mason, 591-2300 Ext 302.

TASTE

591-2300 Ext. 305

Our food section appears in the Monday paper. Any questions regarding recipes should be directed to Ethel Simmons, food editor.

BUSINESS NEWS

591-2300 Ext. 325

The business section is published Thursdays. In addition to the story coverage and columns, the section contains several calendars: BUSINESS PEOPLE covers promotions, internal awards and retirements for anyone living or working in our circulation area. We will print photographs if space permits. DATEBOOK covers upcoming meetings and courses of interest to business people.

MARKETPLACE briefly covers new businesses, new products and other business-related items. Submit items for these in writing by 5:00 p.m. Monday. For these calendars, call Barry Jensen (ext. 325) For all other items, call Marilyn Fitchett, 591-2300, Ext. 331.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS, ANNIVERSARIES

We publish photographs and announcements of weddings, engagements and major anniversaries of local residents or former local residents. These appear as soon as possible, depending upon available space. Forms for announcing these events are available from any of our local offices, or you may model your announcement on an example you've read in the newspaper. The best reproduction can be made from a 5"x 7" black and white photo, but others will do. Please avoid regular or color Polaroid pictures.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Reprints of photographs that appear in the paper are not available. However, if a photograph is used and not needed for our files, it will be made available to the first person calling in. Such photographs will be held in any of our offices for two months, awaiting pickup. To inquire about a photograph, please call the editor who ran the picture, i.e.: Sports, Suburban Life, Entertainment, Creative Living, News.

RELIGION

Religious news is published Thursdays. The religion calendar is published on these pages. Calendar deadline is Monday noon. All material must be in writing. For more information, call your local suburban life editor

OBITUARIES

We publish obituaries of local residents and former local residents. Most obituary information is received from area funeral homes. If a local funeral home is not involved, please call the community editor at the appropriate telephone number. All obituaries appear at the discretion of the community editor. Obituaries are printed without charge.

CREATIVE LIVING

News of the arts appears every Thursday. Deadline for notices of gallery shows (which must be legibly written) is 5:00 p.m. Monday. For more information, call the appropriate Creative Living editor.

ENTERTAINMENT

591-2300 Ext. 305

Entertainment pages appear Thursday and include feature stories, theater and other entertainment reviews, TABLE TALK restaurant news column, and the UPCOMING calendar, which deadlines each Thursday (for items to appear the following Thursday). Submit all information to Ethel Simmons, entertainment editor.

MOVIE REVIEWS

591-2300 Ext. 302

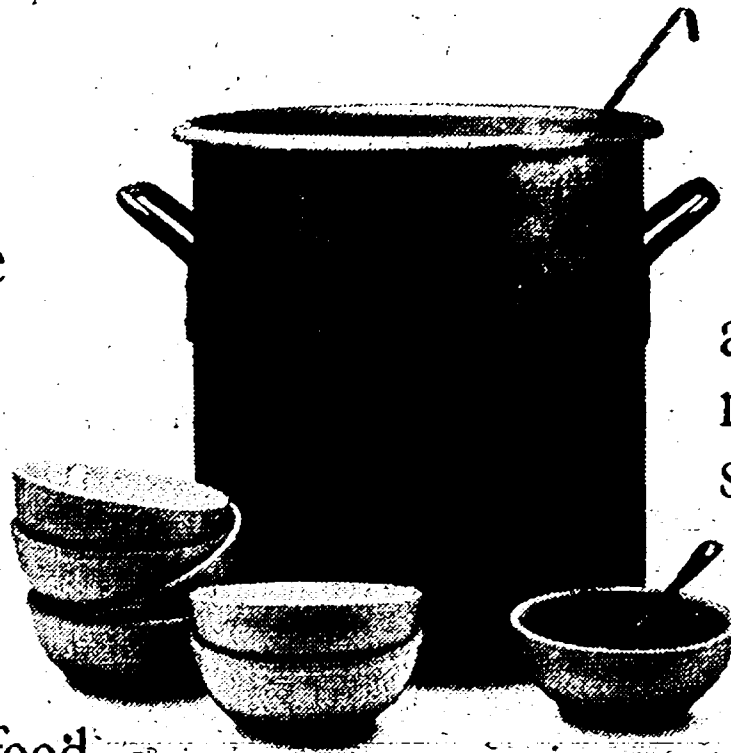

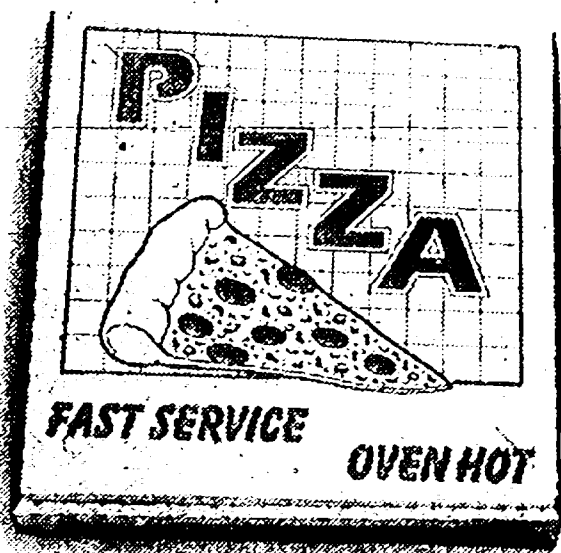

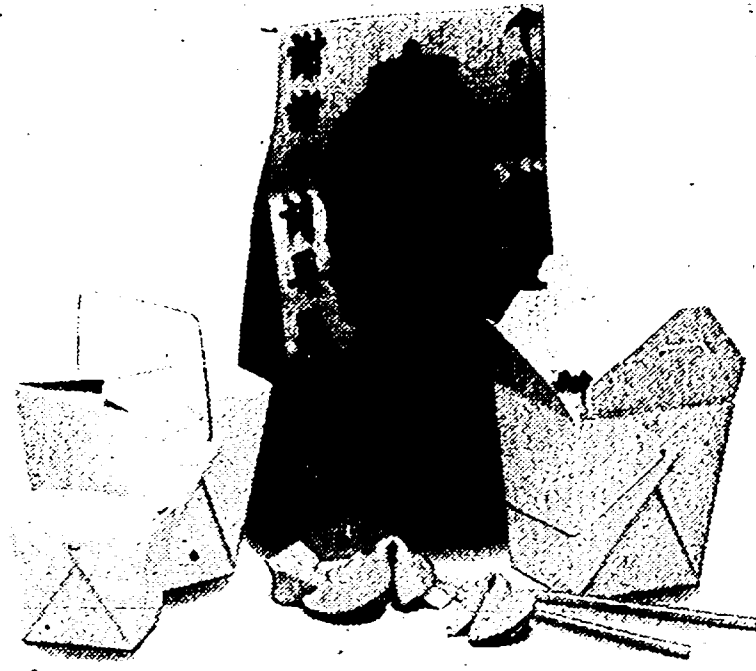

All questions about movie reviews, which appear every Monday in our STREET SCENE section, should be directed to Sue Mason.

Steve Barnaby is Managing Editor of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers; 591-2300 ext 300

Which of these meals does your heart the most good?

We're more concerned than ever about what we're eating these days. But a lot of people in metro Detroit don't have that problem. They're just trying to figure out where their next meal is coming from. Which is one reason the United Foundation supports 154 different agencies, including local food assistance programs such as the Salvation Army and the Gleaners Food Bank. And programs that help counsel troubled families, assist the unemployed, fight infant mortality and just give some people a new start in life. So, give generously to the Torch Drive campaign and fill out your pledge card now. It could be somebody's meal ticket.

Canada geese flying south is a rite of fall, just like 100,000 people converging on Ann Arbor for an afternoon of football. But what's the best way to get there? M-14? U.S. 23? Plymouth Road? Street Scene asked a few die-hard fans and you can hear what they think on Page 6D.

GROCERIES A'GOGO

Today, tomorrow and 'super' stores

By Diane Gale
staff writer

It used to be you went to the corner grocery to pick up a loaf of bread. Now, you can go to pick up a date.

You can still find that loaf of bread in today's "future" and "super" stores, that is, if you aren't distracted by neon lights, nutrition centers, bakeries, service centers and floral shops.

A lot has happened from 20 years ago when grocery stores just sold food and the only side benefit was hearing the latest neighborhood gossip.

"Food stores have changed over the last 20 years as dramatically as the car," said Ray Reed, Kroger Michigan advertising manager. "I wouldn't just call them a grocery store. Those days are gone."

There was a time when grocery shoppers put on their best clothes to do the week's food shopping.

"Supermarkets used to be a social center," said Ryan Mathews, senior associate editor of Grocery Marketing, a monthly industry publication circulated nationally. "They went to be seen, to gossip, to chit-chat."

"Life has sped up and taken away that kind of gentility. Now when you have that, you have to structure it for them like the singles' night."

GROCERY STORES compete

among themselves and with restaurants for the food dollar, said Bobby McKennon, Michigan Grocers Association director of communications.

It does pay to scan

If you thought double coupons were a good deal, you might be interested in a state law that could put up to $5 in shoppers' pockets.

If a computer scanner makes a mistake and you find it later, the difference plus a penalty charge is the reward for being an observant shopper.

The Item Pricing Law of 1985

ensures most merchandise have a price affixed to them. And if an electronic scanner records a price overcharge, the business must pay a penalty fee, said Christine Bailey, Michigan Consumer Council information specialist.

IF THE consumer brings it to

This competition gave birth to consumer surveys, color coordinated produce, gourmet food sections, service centers, bags delivered to your car, salad bars, video centers, bakeries, dolls, floral departments and wheelchairs for handicapped shoppers — more than anyone could have imagined in yesteryear's corner store.

"Grocery stores are forever trying to get people to like them," Mathews said. "And the fact is that people don't like them."

GETTING PEOPLE to like them better in the early 1980s was essential for the people at A & P, because they faced "big financial trouble," said Tom Montgomery, A & P general manager.

The solution, they thought, was the creation of upscale A & P Future Stores and the good buys at A & P Sav-A-Centers.

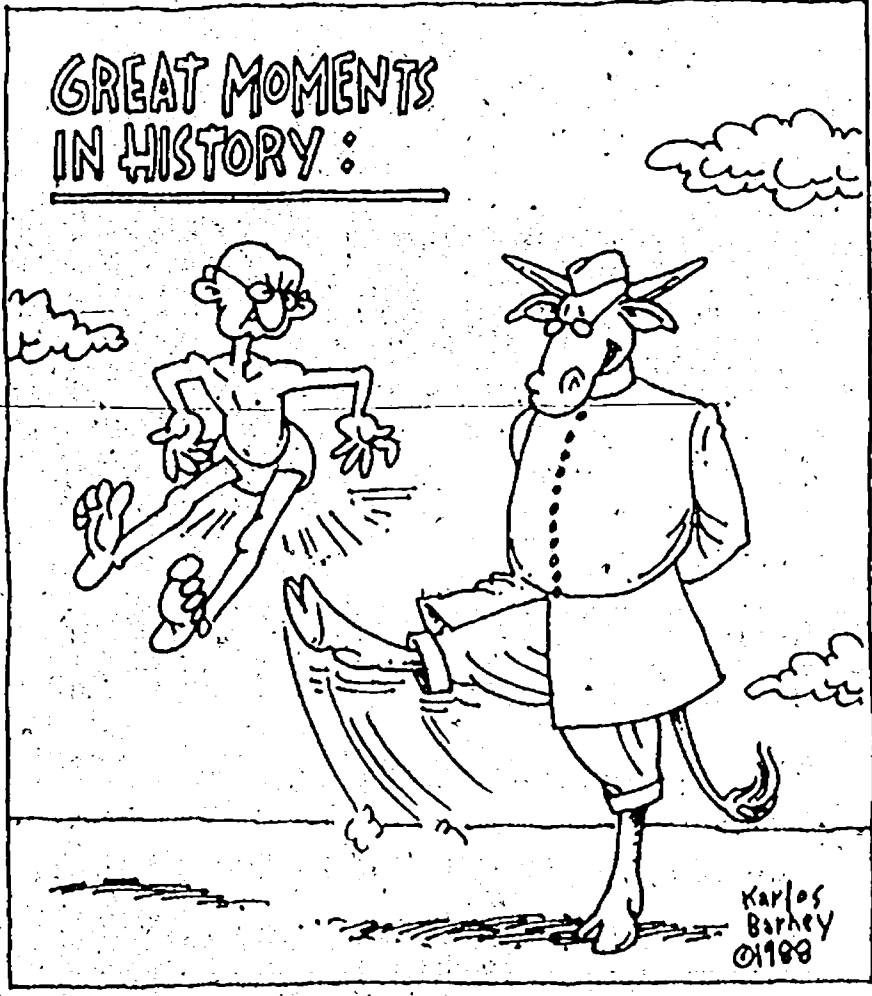

A quaint, red brick colonial building was A & P's trademark in the 1960s and '70s. They're a far cry from the sleek, we've-got-everything Future Stores in West Bloomfield and Canton.

THE GREAT Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company Inc. isn't the only major grocery chain changing its image.

Take the side road to Michigan City

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

MICHIGAN CITY, IND.: You pass the signs every time you drive west to Chicago: Stevensville, Bridgman, New Buffalo, Michigan City, Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore. If you are like me, you plan to stop "some day" and see what is down those side roads leading away from Interstate-94.

"Some day" never comes, so I decided not to go all the way to Chicago. Instead I drove west and followed the first law of travel: Get off the main road. That's how I found myself on the beach at Michigan City, Ind., just south of the Michigan border.

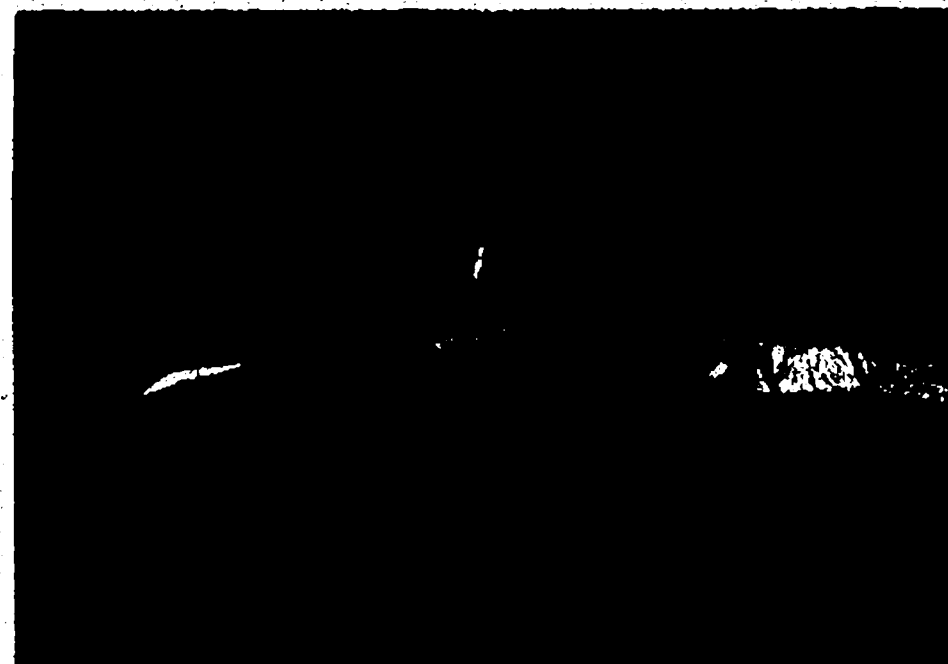

It was a brisk autumn morning, and Lake Michigan rolled in white-capped ridges to the glorious sand beach that follows this whole lakeshore southwest beyond Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore and northwest into Michigan's beach communities.

Only sea gulls sunbathed in cool weather, but the fishermen were out, lining the pier to the historic old lighthouse and the sandy shoreline of the sheltered marina inside the breakwater.

The high chimneys of a power company made their own skyline beyond that, reminding me that industry has always been very heavy along this strip of Indiana shoreline.

A popular activity on the sand dunes of the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore is hang gliding.

One of the country's largest dunes, the 200-foot-high Hoosier Slide, stood right on this spot when Isaac Elston bought the whole area for $1.25 an acre in 1833.

The dune was a landmark for Indians and early explorers, but it was also worth money. Thirty carloads of sand were shipped out every day for 30 years and by 1920 the great dune was gone.

THIS WHOLE wonderful waterfront might be gone too except for a former mayor who secretly bought the land, parcel by parcel, and then gave it to the city. He created Washington Park, a 90-acre lakeshore, with its beaches, public marina, fishing pier, lighthouse museum, and snail zoo.

The waterfront is one of three good reasons to stop in Michigan City. The other two are Lighthouse Place, a fabulous outlet mall for shoppers, and Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

'Imagine:' It's home movies at their worst

"Imagine: John Lennon" (D) (R) 95 minutes.

If you believe, as I do, that there's life after rock'n'roll, you'll be bored by this pedestrian documentary about John Lennon. Even if you're rockin' around the clock and think that the Beatles and John Lennon made major contributions to Western culture, you'll still be disappointed. This film is home movies at their worst, limited music, and low-quality news-reel footage taken off the tube. John and Yoko lying around in bed talking about peace may be a media event, but it ain't great culture.

"Memories of Me" (A-) (PG-13)

Alan King in bravura performance as nightclub comic and "King" of the movie extras. His son, the doctor (Billy Crystal), comes to L.A. after a heart attack and tries to mend their broken relationship. King is perfect, but Crystal is just a shade miscast. On the whole, however, excellent film.

"Bagdad Cafe" (B) (PG) 91 minutes.

Except for a confusing opening, this is a wonderful comedy about friendship, love and understanding. Jasmine (Marianne Sägebrecht) leaves her husband in the middle of the Mojave Desert and winds up in Bagdad where she rents a room from Brenda (C.C. Pounder), who has kicked her husband out. The two women, who start out with nothing in common, form strong bonds. Jack Palance also appears. Reviewed by Jennifer Morse.

"Eight Men Out" (D) (PG) 115 minutes.

Say it ain't so, John Sayles ("Matewan," "The Brothers from Another Planet"). Tell us you didn't make a film with poorly identified characters, confusing plot, choppy editing and half-lit staccato images. But I guess you did. Music track is nice, but it is hard to believe the 1919 Chicago "Black" Sox threw the World Series just because Mr. Comiskey paid them poorly. There had to be more to it than that. Same goes for the movie.

"Elvira, Mistress of the Dark" (D-) (PG-13) 96 minutes.

This hodge-podge tries everything and fails because you need a lot more talent than this crowd has to pull off a satiric-comedy-horror-cult-sex film. Timing is off, pacing erratic and everything is flat except Elvira.

"A Fish Called Wanda" (A) (R) 110 minutes.

A very funny film with the whackiest gang in town. Principals include Jaime Lee Curtis as Wanda the Wonderful, jewel thief extraordinaire. Among her colleagues are Kevin Kline in an absolutely inspired performance as a berserk American gunsel in London. John Cleese is a proper barrister, but... The whole thing is beyond words. The only solution is to see the movie.

"Gorillas in the Mist" (C-) (PG-13) 120 minutes.

Welcome to the wonderful world of gorillas. Sigourney Weaver plays it like the Magic Kingdom and the film's erratic pacing largely misses the point of Dian Fossey's life and her obsessive reverence for gorillas living freely in their natural habitat.

Despite some funny stuff, this comedy falls flat as Noah is forced to impersonate the late and unlamented dictator of Parador, so police Chief Strausmann (Raul Julia) can maintain control. Sonia Braga appears as the dictator's mistress, but neither she nor stilted cameo by Sammy Davis Jr., Charo, Jonathan Winters and Fernando Rey get this dud off the ground.

"Nightmare on Elm Street Part 4 - The Dream Master" (C) (R) 90 minutes.

Michigan City has sand dunes, malls might have been lost, if the state and federal government had not stepped in to create a state park in 1925 and a national lakeshore in the 1960s. The National Park Service has acquired 13,000 acres so far.

The visitor center of Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, five miles southwest of Michigan City, will give you a quick lesson in dunes — glaciers carving out the Great Lakes and receding again, left sand dunes and glacial till behind.

There are restored homesteads and farms to visit in the park, but the dunes themselves are the greatest attraction. Walk on them, hike the trails, camp, or join the hang gliding enthusiasts who soar off Mount Baldy whenever the weather permits.

Weather is also the primary concern of fishermen who take advantage of the long fishing season here in lakeshore Indiana. Michigan City has the largest commercial fishing charter fleet on the lake.

You can fish for coho salmon March through May, and for chinook May to July. By mid-June a hybrid steelhead trout, called Skamania, starts running.

THE COHO and chinook come back in the fall, preparing to go upstream to spawn, so one of the best fishing seasons is now through early November. The heaviest harvest is in mid-October.

When you are tired of outdoor sporting and ready to spend some money, you will find Lighthouse Place a few blocks south of the lake. It is a large outlet store mall built on the grounds where railway sleeping cars were manufactured until the 1960s.

The five dozen outlet stores, each the discounted retail shop of a specific manufacturer, draw 1.5 million shoppers from as far away as Chicago and Grand Rapids. Some of the well-known shop names include Royal Doulton, Corning, Van Heusen, Dansk, Benetton, Anne Klein, Jaymar, Oneida, Jonathan Logan and Maldenform.

There are the usual chain hotels, such as the Holiday Inn, in Michigan City. There are also four very interesting bed-and-breakfast places. Check the Chamber of Commerce.

Two of the most popular music hangouts are Chevy's, where a disc jockey plays 1950s and '60s music from a 1957 Chevy and D.J. Yesterday's, a popular late night hangout for the top-40 crowd.

Some of the popular downtown eateries are the Spaghetti Works (inexpensive, waterfront view), Waterfront Station, (moderate prices) and The Pub (Chicago prices). The best hamburgers are at Harmony Bar or Gratty's. Pizza lovers are divided between Roma's and Albano's.

IF YOU still want to go to Chicago, leave your car in Michigan City and take the commuter train. It runs at least a dozen times a day and takes 90 minutes to get into downtown Chicago.

There are fruit markets and pick-your-own places all over this area, as well as in southwest Michigan.

Next week we'll show you two ways home — follow the Michigan shoreline north and then turn east to Detroit, or drive east from Michigan City through South Bend, Ind., and the Amish village of Shipshewana.

Meantime, contact the Michigan City Chamber of Commerce, 300 East Michigan Blvd., Michigan City, Ind. 46360, or call (219) 874-6221.

Dogma 'walks' to own songs

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Walk the Dogma is not a band, it's a political convention floor.

At least that's the case when all five members are gathered together to discuss their music. All told, there are five members, four of which write the songs. Add that up and you have chaos.

"I'm the ref because they won't hit me," said Asta Jurgustis of Farmington Hills, who is the blonde, honey-voiced singer of Walk the Dogma.

Band members say they work under the Democratic principles of one man, one vote.

But, in reality, the Lithuanian opera-trained vocalist is really the power broker of the troupe. When the other four songwriters are done bashing creative heads over a song, Jurgustis takes the finished product and belts it out in high-pitched fashion that could shatter Plexiglas.

Walk the Dogma is a progressive rock band. Then again, what else could one call an outfit where four members take stabs at songwriting?

"I disagree," said Kerry Gluckman, drummer for the group. "I think we're a rock'n'roll band."

Such is life with Walk the Dogma where differences of opinion are the norm. The internal combustion of the group is channeled into some rather heady, pop-rock zap. Gary Sosnick likens it to a cross between the Jefferson Airplane and the Pretenders.

WITH FOUR songwriters, needless to say the product is varied.

People like it. Walk the Dogma recently played before a dancing-mad throng at Alvin's in Detroit. The current game plan includes performing in both Ann Arbor and Detroit regularly along with a Michigan collegiate tour of Kalamazoo (Western Michigan University) and Mt. Pleasant (Central Michigan).

Not bad for a group whose sole intent in the beginning was only to become a better rock band. The nucleus of Walk the Dogma was formed out of the since-departed local outfit, Of All Things.

"Make sure you get this on your tape recorder before it slips my mind," said George Schuster, lead guitarist. "One thing that makes this band have a lot of potential is that you put these five individuals together and what you get out of it is more than five times. It's 10 times."

At least that can be said for the number of different approaches each songwriter takes.

Sosnick likes to swing for the hits. Gluckman goes for the hard-edged approach. Bass and sax man Bill Lamb of Farmington goes for mood pieces.

"For me, the way it comes out is the way it comes out," Schuster said. "If it's good, I'll keep it. If it's bad, I'll put it on tape and throw into the drawer so my grandchildren can laugh at it."

BUT ADDED Jurgustis, ending the debate, "It's still my interpretation.

I take (the song) where I want it to go."

One thing the band does agree on is that they possess a bit more depth than the standard rock'n'roll mish-mash. "Politics of Mind," a song penned by the dry-humored Sosnick, deals with Nicaraguan farmers.

"We cover the usual love and hate," Sosnick said, "then I go for the political juggler."

Which is why, perhaps, the band is a hot commodity on the college circuit. But the group isn't content to appeal to the bookworms of the world. They want their infectious melodies to ring true to the shot-and-beer crowd as well.

"To write far-out songs that no one can understand is missing—the point," Schuster said.

Mention frets and Belew frets

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Let's see. There's Adrian Belew, the songwriter, Adrian Belew, the producer, and Adrian Belew, the singer.

In rock circles, talk always centers on Adrian Belew, the guitarist. Ask local guitar wizards Dave Feeny of the Orange Roughies or Chris Richards of Hippodrome who were their main influences and they'll drop the name of the former member of critically acclaimed art rock group King Crimson.

But mention strings and frets and this man begins to fret.

"I never considered myself as a guitarist, per se," said Belew, whose group the Bears will perform Friday and Saturday at Alvin's in Detroit. "I consider myself a singer, songwriter and a producer."

"When I'm considered as a guitarist I get scared because that puts me in the same league with guys who just practice the guitar all day. I'm not that way."

The guitar and Belew met by accident. Belew happened to pick one up in high school when he was recovering from an illness. He merely wanted to use one to write some songs.

SOON HE found himself totally Adrian Belew (second from right) and The Bears — Bob Nyswonger, Rob Fetters and Chris Arduser — will be at Alvin's in Detroit Friday and Saturday night.

immersed in the guitar music of Jimi Hendrix, Jeff Beck and Cream.

Belew emerged as one of the more innovative guitarists in the 1970s when rock'n'roll was beginning to branch out into an experimental phase. He performed with the likes of David Bowie, Frank Zappa and Talking Heads.

Belew really came to the forefront when he joined forces with Robert Fripp in King Crimson. That period marked a series of highly acclaimed albums, which Belew had a key role in.

Since his days with Crimson, Belew has plunged into a solo career and formed his own band, The Bears. The group has released two albums, including the latest "Rise and Shine."

Belew is also busily working on his next solo LP, which will be out in the spring on Atlantic. Nonetheless, talk quickly reverts back to his days with King Crimson.

"Not only were the people involved amazing, but it was also the first chance for me to step out of the shadows of the role of a side man to the role of a front man," Belew said. "The whole purpose of the band was to stretch our own limitations and stretch the music a bit."

"Even when we did pop songs... we did them in the most modern of ways."

BELEW HAS taken that credo with him as a solo performer and with The Bears. Except the group hasn't drawn the praise like King Crimson did. Both Bears' albums haven't been the commercial smashers, either.

Primitive Man, the label for both albums, has been absorbed by its parent company, International Record Syndicate (I.R.S.). Whether or not the Bears will stay with I.R.S. is still in limbo, according to a spokesperson for I.R.S.

"I thought those first two (Bears) albums would do well," Belew said. "There was some pretty straightforward stuff on there. I can't really figure out the commercial end of it."

The Bears, featuring Adrian Belew, will perform at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Alvin's, 5657 Cass, Detroit. Tickets are $12.50 in advance. For more information, call 832-2355.

REVIEWS

THE COURIER SOUNDTRACK

— various artists

We're told "The Courier" is a recently released movie portraying the dangerous drug underworld of Dublin, Ireland.

Foiled us. On first listen to the soundtrack, we thought this was the background music for "Grease III." Do Frankie and Annette have starring roles?

Really, if one is to capture the seriousness of drug crime, you don't include a dose of Mary Poppins pop songs. There are too many soft numbers on the soundtrack for "The Courier" (Virgin).

Unfortunately, it's left up to us whose throwaway B-side single, "Walk to the Water" is the most challenging and intriguing tune on the album.

That's not to say there's not some good music here. "Something Happens" unrolls the carpet with a fine guitar-infused piece, "Burn Clear." Their second contribution on the disc, "She Came from There," doesn't light any fires.

Also chipping in with some material is Lord John White's melodic guitar offering, "Kill the One You Love," which has an infectious bite to it. As does "Cry Before Dawn," which is haunting with its very slow rhythms.

Of course, Declan MacManus (A.K.A. Elvis Costello) certainly puts things into perspective with his orchestral contribution on this album. His arrangements certainly would seem to capture the atmosphere of the movie setting.

With that said, the selection of artists and songs here is somewhat questionable. For instance, Asian's title track "The Courier" is more of a joke. Here we have lyrics about a drama performed in the sly pop style of Debbie Gibson. Hothouse Flowers' "Wild White Horse" is strained to the point of boredom.

And where's In Tua Nua? This soundtrack is on Virgin and In Tua Nua is on the label.

The movie has yet to be seen, but the soundtrack has earned two thumbs down.

JOURNEY OF DREAMS

— Ladysmith Black Mambazo

So you figured Paul Simon was verry clever and picked up a new band to work with on the "Graceland" LP. Well get this. "Journey of Dreams" is Ladysmith Black Mambazo's 27th album. Most musicians in this industry are happy just to live to be 27.

That this LP is the one that gets them attention is purely an aftermath of Paul Simon and "Graceland."

This fact is not lost on Ladysmith Black Mambazo founder and spokesman, Joseph Shababala. He calls Paul Simon "Vullindela," which means "he who opens the gate." Since the Graceland tour, Black Mambazo has toured all over the world, from the United States through Australia to Europe.

Black Mambazo are far from the excesses of rock'n'roll. Coming from South Africa as they do, they are subject to all the realities of oppression that such an open display of state-sponsored racialism entails. This puts the group into a position of having a political power that most career politicians just dream about. Recently, a Black Mambazo concert was the first time that whites and blacks sat together at a performance in the Ladysmith Town Hall.

This political power is not overtly flaunted by the group. Black Mambazo's strength is based more on spiritual convictions and subtlety. Actually, the form of music is called "Isicathambya," which in Zulu apparently means "to walk on one's toes, lightly."

Unlike other South African notables, King Sunny Ade, Black Mambazo's strength is not its instrumentation, it is the relaxing rhythms and melodies created from layer upon layer of vocals. Anyone who has heard "Rain, Rain, Rain, Beautiful Rain" from their Shaka Zulu LP, which was used by 7-Up in an award-winning commercial, will know what I mean when I say that their vocal melodies can be hypnotic.

This LP won't be featured during any wild parties, but it may be used as a soothing soundtrack for the morning after.

VIVID

— Living Colour

Remember when hard rock had meaning? Remember when it had flavor? Today's banal version of heavy guitars pales in comparison.

So along comes Living Colour, who totally breaks down all those barriers. For the time, let's forget the novelty of this being the only black outfit in the white-dominated arena of hard rock.

Living Colour's "Vivid" (Epic) passes with flying colors. There's feeling here, there's bite here — unheard of in most guitar-gutted offerings where spandex and wild hairdos dominate.

The reason why, perhaps, stems from Living Colour's varied musical backgrounds in jazz, funk and reggae. They don't ignore these elements, instead incorporating them into their music in all the right places. But don't misunderstand, Living Colour is loud by any metal head's standard.

At the forefront is the guitarist

Reid milks every note for what it's worth, sounding like a heavy metal Carlos Santana. The avenue of hard rock serves the inner-city frustration Living Colour articulates at high volume. There's nary a cliché in song like "Open Letter (to a Landlord)" and "Broken Hearts."

Mick Jagger guests as producer, but really lets Living Colour do its thing in driving, funk-textured tunes like "Glamour Boys" and "Which Way to America?" Living Color touches on the anomaly of being a black hard rock band in "Funky Vibe." "No, I'm not gonna rob you/No, I'm not gonna beat you/No, I'm not gonna rape you/So why you want to give me that Funky Vibe?"

You might want to give this album a spin instead.

STREET WISE

Irish eyes

Irish eyes as well as others will be smiling Friday, Oct. 28, when an Irish feast of song, music and laughter will be staged at the historic old Redford Theater, Lasher and Grand River in Redford.

The Irish entertainment will start at 8 p.m. Ireland's "Ambassador of Song," Frank Patterson, will be featured along with Des Keogh, Ireland's "Master of Comedy," and Eily O'Grady, accompanist on the piano and Irish harp.

Patterson is renowned as the world's reigning Irish tenor. A versatile entertainer, he has recorded more than two dozen records and recently appeared opposite Anjelica Huston in John Huston's final film, "The Dead."

Tickets cost $25 per person ($20 for senior citizens), including valet parking. Proceeds from the event will benefit the Legionnaires of Christ, a congregation of priests and brother dedicated to youth in more than 10 countries. It operates three universities, more than 50 schools and hundred of youth centers around the world.

For reservations or more information, call 644-2954 or 644-0865.

More music

Sheri Nichols, the Michigan Opera Theater and Ursula Walker will highlight the indoor concert season at the Farmington Community Center in Farmington Hills.

The series begins at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 23, with a cabaret-style performance by chanteuse Nichols and her musical director, Richard Berent. Critically acclaimed for her masterpiece, "Le Miracle de Piaf," Nichols represents the finest in Detroit talent.

At 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20, the music switches to classical/pop with a special concert by the Michigan Opera Theater. The revue will include selections by Berlin, Gershwin, Sondheim, Oscar and Hammerstein and Hamlish.

Rounding out the musical selections will be Ursula Walker and the Buddy Budson Trio at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 4.

Tickets for the concerts cost $7.50 per person per concert of $20 per person for the series. For more information, call 477-8404.

The Farmington Community Center is at 24705 Farmington Road, north of 10 Mile Road, Farmington Hills.

On tippy toes

The Ann Arbor Civic Ballet will present "The Haunted Castle" at 2 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 29, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, for the benefit of Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The ballet will be staged at the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor. Tickets cost $10 for adults and $4 for children. For more information, call 668-8066.

Food and fun

The Van Dyke Park Hotel will present a dinner/revue beginning Saturday, Oct. 15, and continuing every Saturday.

"Fascinatin' Rhythms," a Broadway style musical revue will be staged in the 250-seat Van Dyke Theater through Saturday, Nov. 19.

The package includes a choice of dinner entrees, served in private dining rooms, followed by the musical revue. Tickets are available for the dinner/revue and for weekend packages, including the dinner, theater, overnight accommodations and Sunday brunch.

For more information and reservations, call the hotel at 989-2860. The Van Dyke Park Hotel is at 31800 Van Dyke, between 13 and 14 Mile roads, in Warren.

A bit of Bach

If you're really into the music of Bach, you won't want to miss the Village Bach Festival in Cass City, Mich., Thanksgiving week.

Cass City's Presbyterian Church will host three Bach concerts Nov. 25-27. The concerts will feature a new composition commissioned by the festival to celebrate the 10th festival season.

The Nov. 22 concert will be at the First Presbyterian Church in Caro and will feature Bach's organ and ensemble works for the flute and clarinet, played by festival soloist Frank Kowalski, Jacqueline Ho and Catherine McMichael.

For more information, write Village Bach Festival, P.O. Box 3, Cass City, Mich. 48726, or call (517) 872-3465 or (517) 872-2131, Ext. 261.

Our Town

On the art side of the street, Community House in Birmingham will host the juried Our Town art exhibition and sale Thursday, Oct. 13 through Sunday, Oct. 23.

The show includes 250 works by 140 Michigan artists. The juried works pertain to Michigan landmarks, architecture, nature and landscape, people and portraits as still life. All of the art work is two dimensional and includes a variety of media — acrylics, oils, pastels, watercolors, fibers and photography. All of the artwork will be for sale with prices ranging from $100 to $10,000. The sale will benefit Community House.

The exhibition also will include seminars, speakers and parties. The gala preview will be Wednesday, Oct. 19.

The art show will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 20-22 and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Oct. 23. Admission is free, although tickets can be purchased for the special event. For more information, call 644-5871.

Kroger proclaims a marketing success that doesn't have anything to do with food.

"Kroger is the world's largest florist," Reed said. "We sell and distribute more flowers than any single company in the world through food stores."

Supermarkets depend on volume sales, because there's a low mark-up on most goods, Reed said.

KROGER CAME up with the "Evolution Store" or the "Store of the 1990s," he said. For now, you'll have to go to Okemos to find Kroger's prototype of what's to come. The out-state store offers a video rental center, salad bar, nutrition center, pharmacy, delicatessen, in-store bakery and gourmet food.

The Okemos store also provides a the attention of the clerk at the time it is rung up, the consumer is entitled to the difference of the marked price and the price the cash register rung up.

If the consumer goes home and finds the mistake, the consumer is entitled to the difference plus 10 times that difference not less than $1 or more than $5.

For example, if an item is marked $1.39, but the register rung it up at $1.89, the consumer would be entitled to 30 cents plus 10 times the amount of the mistake. In this case, the consumer would be entitled to $3.30.

"SOME OF the stores have really found it convenient, other stores have found it's not cost effective," Bailey said. "But for the consumer, it's been wonderful."

One reason for the law was to combat the "worst-case scenario" where a business would change the computer pricing during peak periods to reap higher profits.

Some items, like fresh fruit and penny candy, do not need to be individually priced, Bailey said. The list of exempt items should be available at the store manager's office.

Kroger's Evolution store is "hopefully" coming to the Detroit metropolitan area in a few years, Reed said.

CHANGES IN supermarkets follow changes in lifestyles, said Paul Coleman, Great Scott! communication director.

The Great Scott! on Maple in Birmingham looks like something from "The Jetsons." Who needs a clerk for directions? This store has neon lights flashing on and off showing confused shoppers where the departments are. Television screens even tell and show you how to prepare your purchases.

fresh food and doesn't feel like cooking.

"People have less and less time a day and spend less and less time at a supermarket and cooking traditional meals," Coleman said.

Who would have thought 20 years ago the cash register would talk to you? In each Great Scott! store scanner reads the Uniform Product Code, and a computerized voice outputs the item and price. The computer lists the product on the receipt and helps management keep better inventory.

But as much as things seem to change they stay the same. Worst still do the whopping majority — 90 percent — of grocery shoppers, Montgomery said, quoting from a P survey.

Video tape rentals: Rocky road at first

(AP) — Renting a favorite movie to play on a VCR is as easy as making a trip to the local video store and plunking down a couple of bucks. But the entrepreneurs who came up with the idea of renting pre-recorded videocassettes to consumers faced enormous opposition in the beginning.

An article in the current issue of Video Magazine by James Lardner traces the colorful history of home video rental.

Andre Blay, a Michigan-based businessman, first came up with the idea of selling videotapes of movies to consumers, an idea that challenged the old Hollywood policy of never parting with the rights to a movie.

Taking out a $65,000 ad in TV Guide, Blay launched a direct-mail operation called the Video Club of America. By March 1978, Blay's company had sold 40,000 cassettes. Most of Blay's customers were retailers who were buying the cassettes and selling them to consumers.

On the other side of the country, a man named George Atkinson was gearing up to start his own video club.

It was Atkinson who first came up with the notion, for a $50 membership fee, of renting the videotapes rather than selling them. Atkinson worried that he may be breaking the law by renting, and contacted the movie companies to ask if it would be an infringement of the law. Nobody could say for sure.

THE BUSINESS thrived. After the movie companies saw the enormous success that Atkinson and other early renters were having, the studios decided to try to get a piece of the rental action.

They tried to put pressure on Atkinson by cutting off his source of supply. Atkinson, however, got around the ban by buying his tapes from other retailers rather than directly from the studios.

The studios then tried other schemes to participate in rental revenue. Retailers, however, preferred the way Atkinson did business and rejected the studios' efforts by boycotting individual releases. The studios quickly relented.

Today, tape rental has become a way of life for most Americans. The biggest problem renters have, in fact, is being able to rent the title they'd like when they'd like from their local video rental store.

Drew Barrymore won people's hearts with her portrayal of Gertie in Steven Spielberg's "E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial," but not like the alien creature whose likeness was reproduced on everything from T-shirts to dolls.

For love of 'E.T.' spells big bucks

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

"E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial," a heart-warming story of love between a young boy and visitor from another planet, has shattered records in advanced sales of home videos, with release still nearly two weeks away.

More than 10.6 million copies of the delightful film by Steven Spielberg have already been sold. Cassettes will be available to consumers Oct. 28. They are being released by MCA Home Video.

"The number is staggering, the dream of dreams," said Mark Hayden of Chicago-based Blockbuster Midwest, a nationwide video distributor with 17 outlets in the metropolitan Detroit area.

"The number is a record by far. A huge, huge title might sell 5 million. This is already double," Hayden said.

So far, area Blockbuster outlets have each sold an estimated 300 copies of "E.T." at a discounted price of $22.46. Sales have been strongest in the Birmingham, West Bloomfield and Livonia outlets. Advance sales are normally slower in the Westland and Garden City outlets, according to Hayden.

EACH YEAR, Blockbuster purchases two to three titles for advanced-sale campaigns. "E.T." and "Cinderella" are the selections this year. Hayden expects "E.T." sales to top 30,000 copies here.

"It's hot, both in sales and rentals," said Frank Barbat of the "E.T."

video. Barbat owns Video House, an area chain of 27 rental shops and Video House Wholesale, which supplies both Barbat's shops and another 130 video rental stores.

Barbat has stocked 5,000 copies of "E.T." and expects to sell them all. Video House, located in such communities as Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Canton, has priced the video at $19.95 each. The price is $5 less than the suggested retail price by MCA.

The reduced rate "is a draw for new customers. Plus, we like to give something to our old customers," Barbat said. He must also compete with prices offered by low-priced department stores like Target and K mart which are offering "E.T." videos at $14.95 each.

Any U.S. consumer may receive a $5 rebate on a sale price of $24.95 by purchasing one of a myriad of Pepsi-Cola products and submitting proof of purchase with a completed rebate form. The offer is good through Jan. 10, 1989.

MCA VIDEO and Amblin Entertainment, which owns the film, stand to make well over $100 million in profit on the sale of "E.T." videos which, since May, have been marketed worldwide. A portion of the proceeds will be contributed to the Special Olympics, according to a spokeswoman for MCA in California. Originally released in 1982, Spielberg's "E.T." is the top grossing film of all time, amassing a staggering $700 million in box office revenues. An estimated 240 million people have paid to see the film.

It's Go Blue mania, but how do you get there?

By Jeff Counts
staff writer

The best place to watch a University of Michigan football game?

"On television," answered one veteran sportswriter in Ann Arbor.

But just remember, that comes from a sportswriter who has over the years overdosed on maize, blue and Bo.

Too much M-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-I-C-H-E-I-G-A-N football? Maybe for that writer and others living in the shadow of Michigan Stadium.

But for the rest of us, there's nothing more fun than recharging our collegiate batteries with an afternoon of Go Blue mania, even if we never got closer to Michigan's campus for a class than an evening at a college tavern.

But before you go, there are some numbers to remember. No, they aren't the players or the team stats.

The figure 104,000 should stick in your head. That's the number of people that the stadium holds. Then there's M-14 — it's not a score — it's a freeway and it takes you quickly into Ann Arbor land.

HOWEVER, there has been road work going on where M-14 intersects with U.S. 23, although not on football days. A quick way to avoid the traffic is by exiting south off of M-14 onto U.S. 23, and then getting off on the Plymouth Road exit.

U-M fans that favor M-14 include the likes of Greg Housman of Livonia, Gary Wight of Farmington and Kim Budnick of Birmingham.

Munching on a tailgate menu of barbecued hamburgers, potato salad, cole slaw, beans, cheese and snacks, Housman shared his secret route to the home of the maize and blue — M-14 to Maple and Maple to Stadium.

Wight, whose bill of fare placed an emphasis on chili — chili dogs, chili soup and snacks — takes M-14 to Main Street and Main to Pioneer High School, where he stakes out a spot to park and picnic.

Budnick's route is a bit more complicated, partly because she stops to pick up friends in Ypsilanti. While her companions dined on pasta, salad, ham and roast beef sandwiches, herring and gouda cheese, she dictated her route: M-14 to Geddes Road to the Huron Parkway to Geddes Avenue to Hill Court to Main.

There's one die-hard fan who opted for the M-14 to U.S. 23 — Marvin Bauer, who works for Tutt and Associates in Farmington Hills.

His route reads like a list of who's who of suburban freeways. He starts with I-696, moves over to I-275, switches to M-14 and then hops on U.S. 23. No wonder he dines on cold cuts, cheese and snacks. There's no time to warm up the barbecue before the game.

SPEAKING of Plymouth Road, it's another route that provides more than just a ride — there's some scenery. And the ride from Plymouth is the kind that gets one in the mood for an afternoon of football.

There's no Astro-turf-like scenery on Plymouth, once you get past the town. It's open land and at least one centennial farm house to see on this route. The farm house is on the south side of Plymouth Road just west of Ford Road.

And the route runs through Dixboro, your basic cute little town on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Plymouth runs into Main in Ann Arbor, and much of the traffic congestion starts there. Try a parallel route. The traffic often comes to a stand still on Main, while the traffic moves freely on sidestreets. It seems only natural that Ron Lukasik would take Plymouth Road to Main Street in Ann Arbor and Pioneer High School. He lives in Plymouth.

The most unusual route has to be that of Mike and Barbara Kirby of Livonia. They take Seven Mile Road to Pinckney then cut through Dexter to Ann Arbor. They take the same route for every U-M game, but there's a reason for it — their tailgate party includes friends from Pinckney.

And while sometimes the starting quarterback may be a question mark for a Saturday, parking is the real question mark.

To pay or not to pay is a question to grapple with. It's also a question that divides the young from the middle age.

AT LAST year's Notre Dame game, I decided to join the middle age crowd, and would never go back. I paid to park. Faced with taking a son in a cast and on crutches to the game, I decided that I wanted to get as close to the stadium as possible.

The cost: $5. The result: I zipped in and zipped out. I can't remember the score of the game, but I do know I'd pay again.

But if one is into prestige parking, there's the Victors lot, but it's only open to members of the alumni club, said Chris Hill, of the Athletic Information Department at U-M.

Parking is also available at the U-M Golf Course near the stadium, he said, adding that access to the course is off of State Street or Stadium.

"The best bet is to get there early," Hill said. "About an hour and a half before the game is about right."

But to really get the choice spots for tailgate parties, 9 a.m. is about right, he said. As for tailgate fare, it ranges from deli sandwiches and Franklin Mill cider brought in from the Detroit suburbs to cold fillet sandwiches and crudites.

And on the subject of parties, there is no alcohol allowed in the stadium, Hill said.

"The only thing you can bring in is a six-pack size cooler," he said. "The guards will take anything larger."

BUT GOING dry and staying dry are two different things. Michigan weather being what it will, rain often can drench a crowd unexpectedly.

Ponchos can be purchased at the stadium, but plastic garbage bags are cheaper and you don't have to carry them.

But as the weather gets worse for the Minnesota game on Nov. 5 and the Illinois game on Nov. 12, and the layers of clothing come on, just remember the words of the sage sports writer — television.

(Emory Daniels contributed to this story.)

The pitfalls of driving to Ann Arbor

University of Michigan football fans need to add some driving time to their game schedule this year because of road work being done in the Ann Arbor area.

The Michigan Department of Transportation recommends that motorists avoid a seven-mile section of U.S. 23 on the east end of the city from south of Plymouth Road to I-94 where construction work is expected to slow traffic.

Traffic has been reduced to one lane in both directions on the U.S.

23 bridge at the Huron River between Geddes Road and Washenaw Avenue, according to the MDOT.

The MDOT suggested routes from the Detroit area are:

- M-14 to Main Street in Ann Arbor.
- I-94 business loop.
- U.S. 23 south to the Plymouth Road exit.
- I-94 to State or Saline exits in Ann Arbor.

Shuttle bus services also are available to the stadium on football Saturdays from the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority. The bus pickup points are:

- At Plymouth Road near U.S. 23, the Red Roof Inn, Marriott Inn and Domino's Farms.
- At State Street off I-94, Bombay Bicycle Club, Sheraton Inn and Wolverine Inn.
- At Huron Street off I-94, Weber's Inn, Holiday Inn West and the Comfort Inn.

Amazing grace or how I 'found' Elvis at Graceland

By Roberta Schwartz
special writer

Graceland Mansion smells like a funeral home 11 years after Elvis Presley's death.

When the front door opens, the scent of dried flowers and stale air pour out into the humid Memphis afternoon.

I never thought of myself as an Elvis fan, but southern cooking, elegant museums and curiosity drew me to Graceland during Elvis International Tribute Week.

Heartbreak Hotel Restaurant, a dozen shops and the seven-room Lisa Marie jet show how the entertainer has become a cottage industry. Pink Cadillac for $40, $10 for T-shirts and Elvis photo buttons clutter the stores. Even in death, Elvis is still making money for his managers.

Once Marilyn Monroe said super stardom meant being turned into a thing. Day after day, tourists line up to see Elvis' hall of gold records, guitars and even his wedding cake and Army uniform.

The Graceland staff say that the museum benefits thousands of tourists. So far 2½ million have paid $7.50 to see the house and memorial garden with four graves beside the pool. Two planes, a tour bus and two shows bring in still more cash.

A stable of horses and one beautiful pony that Lisa Marie Presley rode a week before the international tribute week keeps the legend alive as Graceland folks say, Elvis' Aunt Delta lives at the mansion in a small room off the kitchen.

Graceland Enterprises conducts tours through the historic district where Elvis learned about the blues. Fans march past W.C. Handy's statue and a pawn shop turned into Handy Hall. The facade of an old building leans on timber supports waiting for restoration near

The cleanup goes on in this district littered with bins of junk.

The wire service wrote that 35,000 filed past Elvis' grave at the 11th anniversary service. At 10 p.m., the crowd looked like about 5,000. Some fans had stood in the sun since noon and when a torch lit from the eternal flame at the grave passed through the crowd, thousands of candles illuminated Elvis Presley Boulevard.

Media guides advised the press that no interviews would be allowed in the Meditation Gardens or along the procession. A spokesman advised the crowd that rumors that Elvis is alive in Kalamazoo were in bad taste and painful to the fans.

WHEN THE press went through the gates ahead of the line, fans grumbled: "They must be part of the family."

As the procession began, two women marched, supporting each other, before the cameras of Fox Television. A local station stood by with a monitor as the anchor waited to cut into the Republican convention and go with a live report.

Colored lights made the white pillars of Graceland seem like some macabre Halloween house. Hundreds of candles in single file flickered as the mourners solemnly made their way up the drive as cameras clicked.

At the grave site, an unsteady Aunt Delta appeared. She was supported on the arm of a male friend. Her bright red dress blended with hundreds of paper hearts, flowers and Confederate flags.

After the reading of the 23rd Psalm by a Graceland representative who also spoke on the theme of loving Elvis forever, someone from the crowd shouted, "Let's move. Priscilla is watching us on television."

By the time they reached the graves, the two women in the lead were in tears. Old people, children who weren't born when Elvis died, many invalids and quite a few grandmothers left gifts or took pictures of the grave on the one day when no admission is charged.

Many cried. All paused to reflect.

When "Are You Lonesome Tonight" floated through the air, I was embarrassed to be in tears.

I'VE NEVER owned a Presley record, but the starkness and simplicity of the ballad reminded me of a rather poor, underfed Elvis Presley. It brought back the face in the photo at Sun Records and the nervous falsetto voice on an early recording.

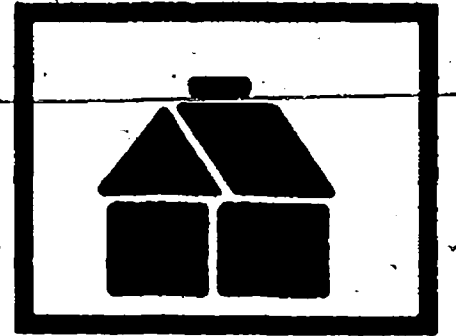

A picture of father and son beside Elvis' mother's grave shows how truly alone the two men felt and how close together death brought them. "He had a God-given talent," Vernon Presley wrote on his son's marker. "We miss you, son."

Increasing profits

Q. I am a subcontractor and it seems I make too many trips to jobs. How can I do better?

A. A case in point was a master electrician who was careful to let me know he had a large contract to wire a condo project and how insignificant my job was. On his first trip I showed him my list, but he didn't take it or write it down. I have noticed this particularly among independent contractors and other service people — many of whom profess to be too busy to get to your work.

He made a second trip on a Saturday afternoon, repeating his workload complaints, apologizing for not having the fixtures with him, and again kept a short step ahead of the carpenters. On his third trip he finally installed the needed fixtures, explaining he would have to finish extra details later. On his last trip he still didn't have time to complete the job and had "forgotten" some of the details we had agreed upon. (I've finally hired someone else to finish up.)

Since his shop was 35 miles away through slow traffic, it took my electrician about 1 1/2 hours for each round trip. At that rate he spent six hours driving — 4 1/2 of which were unnecessary (besides the time for his many scheduling calls to me and the carpenters.)

Additionally, each time he spent a few minutes chatting, reconfirming what needed to be done and unloading and reloading equipment. By adding 15 minutes "prep time" each time, I figure he wasted another 45 minutes, for a total of five hours and 15 minutes. If he manages all his time so poorly, it's no wonder he's behind and feeling frustrated.

Conversely, my kitchen remodelers (Cabinet Craft of Drayton Plains) took the time to go over every detail, make careful measurements and wrote everything down on their first visit. They planned carefully, never wasted a minute I could see and completed an excellent job.

While most contractors and service people do an excellent job, careful planning could help others to decrease stress and increase output and profits.

condo queries
Robert M.
Melsner

Q. In our particular conversion, do I need to concern myself with who the developer is in the sense that it is a corporation that I have not heard of before, even though one of the persons involved with the developer has had a good deal of experience in developing condominiums. I have heard something about a shell corporation, can you elaborate?

A. Unfortunately for the consumer, many condominium developers use separate corporate entities to develop their condominium projects. Sometimes these corporations are thinly capitalized and are dissolved after the completion of the condominium project. If the condominium project experiences problems, the developer may threaten the co-owners with the fact that the "developer entity" is uncollectible and/or non-existent. While there are means to try to circumvent that condition to pursue the developer, personally you should be wary of that situation when considering the purchase of a condominium.

If the developer has a track record of being sued in various other projects, particularly in the conversion context, there may be a pattern of conduct which has been established about which you should know in making your decision about whether to buy a condominium unit.

Q. I have purchased a condominium unit from a developer in a conversion project. Since the association took over, the assessments have nearly tripled over a period of three years. The developer, through a sales agent, promised me that we would be able to live within the budget that the developer prepared without any real increase. I am on a fixed income and find this to be real hard to deal with. What is my recourse?

A. Chances are you share the problem with many other co-owners in your condominium regarding what looks like to have been a low-balling by the developer of the true amount of assessments needed to adequately run the association. Typically, in conversions there is a need to establish a substantial reserve for repairs and replacements because of the normal "use" of the common elements.

Unfortunately, many times over the years, developers have tended to underestimate, either intentionally or negligently, the amount of assessments which would be needed by the association to adequately run the affairs of the condominium. I would suggest that you get together with the board of directors of your association and ascertain, with the benefit of legal assistance, whether or not you have a basis to pursue the developer for misrepresentation by way of low-balling as well as other legal doings.

Pitching the Fairways

THE FAIRWAYS, Troy's first luxury condominium townhouse community in 10 years, features classically designed, eastern-seaboard architecture in private, garden settings. In a city with a dramatic scarcity of zoned, developable land, the Fairways sets a new standard for ranch and townhouse condominium communities in the low-to-mid-$100,000 market.

The private Fairways community is in north Troy on the east side of Rochester Road north of Long Lake Road, directly across from Sylvan Glen Golf Course. Developer Holtzman & Silverman/The Fisher Group has begun construction of The Fairways, and first resident occupancy is expected in winter 1988/1989. The on-site sales center opened Sept. 18, with complete information packages available.

The Fairways residences feature distinctive exteriors designed of brick, limestone and siding in a classical architectural style accented by shuttered, multipaned and Palladian-inspired windows as well as skylights. Taking full advantage of their orientation to a variety of scenic, natural site features, The Fairways townhouses benefit from maximum exposure to ponds, streams, woods and landscaped open spaces, which comprise approximately 75 percent of the property. The ponds, accented by fountains, traverse the grounds, while landscaped perimeters are The Fairways boundaries.

The Fairways community contains 100 luxury townhouses in 17 one- and two-story buildings. Townhouse residences range in size from 1,400 square feet to over 2,000 square feet. Preview prices will range from $128,000 to $172,000. A variety of one- and two-story floor plans includes a choice of two or three bedrooms, two-to-three 1/2 baths, with two car garages and full basements.

ALL RESIDENCES FEATURE separate living and dining areas, custom kitchens with spacious breakfast nooks, vaulted ceilings, fireplaces, first-floor laundry areas, private decks and courtyards. Interiors throughout feature premium finishes and many custom-quality features. All underground utilities are provided for gas, electricity, telephone, cable television, sewer and water.

Each residence originates with a private courtyard or enclosed staircase entrance and extends through the home to conclude with views of landscaped open space at the private deck. Each townhouse is situated to offer expansive views of surrounding meadows, woods and water.

ON THE HOUSE

THE COUNTER OFFER

QUESTION: I received a written offer to purchase my property. What happens to the original offer if I make a counter offer?

ANSWER: A counter offer is a combination of a rejection of the initial offer and a new offer by the seller. When the seller demands a higher price, more down payment, or different terms, the buyer's original offer is automatically cancelled. In effect, this may burn bridges behind you. If the buyer refuses your counter offer, there is no way you can force him to make good on the original offer because it will have been wiped out with the rejection and counter offer. This is a tricky area of negotiation that calls for expert advice.

Seminar to show how to install brick walkways

A hands-on seminar for do-it-yourselfers interested in learning how to install decorative brick walkways is being offered by Soulliere Decorative Stone Inc. from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, at the company office, 4452 Twenty-two Mile Road, Utica.

There is no charge for the seminar. A small walkway will be installed from start to finish, showing the homeowner how to approach each step. Literature and material lists will be available.

For more information, call 739-0020.

Fingerprints to protect roses

ROSE leaves can be "fingerprinted" so that each of the thousands of rose plant varieties may be specifically identified. This will protect patents for the $44 million annual rose industry.

"For the first time, we can now accurately distinguish one rose variety from another," said Charles R. Krause, U.S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist. Heretofore, the only way to identify varieties was to rely on a specialist's opinion.

Krause magnified a rose leaf 10,000 to 20,000 times with a scanning electron microscope that projects onto a screen an electronic image that can be photographed. The highly magnified image shows that openings in the leaf, called stomata, have different shapes depending on plant variety.

The seven-year research fingerprinting project at the USDA Nursery Crops Laboratory at Delaware, Ohio, should aid in patent application and patent infringement law suits, Krause said.

MOTORCYCLISTS, OFTEN portrayed as damaging terrain, have volunteered to help maintain trails and do other conservation work in the National Forest Service system.

The American Motorcyclist Association, which has 20 million members, has signed an agreement with the Forest Service — the first nationwide pact made as part of the "Take Pride in America" program.

Forest Service chief F. Dale Robertson said he hoped the agreement would encourage millions of trail-bikers to help enhance the more than 15,000 miles of trail that are open to motorized vehicles in national forests. Motorcyclists interested should contact area National Forest Service offices.

The "Take Pride in America" program promotes the stewardship of the nation's natural resources and encourages safe and proper land use.

Earl Aronson

SCIENTISTS ARE fermenting good molds so that they multiply, putting them in powders, sprays or pellets and returning them to the soil to attack disease molds that can jeopardize farm and garden harvests.

George Papavizas, a plant pathologist at the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has been identifying beneficial molds in the "soil war." He says crops succumb to some 50 kinds of soil molds and a few types of bacteria. About $4 billion worth of crops are lost yearly, never making it to market, he said.

The scientists envision a farmer or gardener selecting a good mold to attack a specific fungal disease of crops. A company would package and sell the mold, for example, in non-toxic pellets.

"Safe, non-polluting disease control sometimes lasts for several seasons," Papavizas says of tests at the Beltsville, Md., research center.

Fairways opens

Completely furnished model residences will be open for viewing at The Fairways soon. The model interiors will be designed by the award-winning interior designer, Sara Olesker of Sara Olesker Ltd., Chicago. Olesker specializes in interpreting the nation's latest design themes for today's sophisticated home buyer.

The Fairways townhouses were created to answer the area's substantial demand for high-quality houses with the many benefits and amenities of condominium ownership. Many buyers will benefit financially from buying a townhouse at The Fairways as an alternative to renting, or as a release from the demands of a large detached house in favor of maintenance-free condominium living.

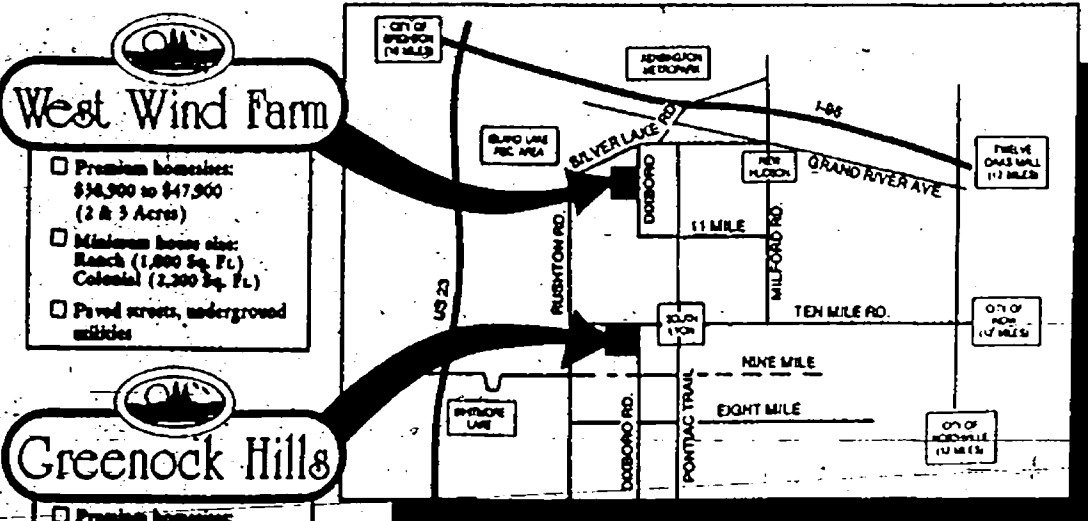

CONTRIBUTING TO THE exclusive quality of life at The Fairways are many special community features. The Fairway's private gatehouse entries from tree-lined roads open into brick-paved, extensively landscaped boulevards. A private clubhouse provides residents a two-story greatroom with fireplace, gourmet kitchen, men's and women's locker rooms, sauna, professionally equipped exercise room, exterior sundeck and swimming pool overlooking a natural pond with fountain. Additional resort-class amenities for resident enjoyment include an oversized spa pool, competition-class tennis court and jogging trails.

Residents of The Fairways will benefit from living in the heart of the region's diverse employment, educational, recreational and health care centers. Nearby highways, including I-75 and M-59, provide convenient access to the entire metropolitan area. Just minutes away are the offices and stores of the Golden Corridor in Troy, as well as Birmingham and Bloomfield. Nearby corporate headquarters include K mart Corp., Volkswagen of America and Ameritech. Area shopping centers include Somerset Mall with many fine shops and restaurants, as well as Oakland Mall featuring more than 100 shops and services.

The Fairways preview sales center is on Rochester Road, just south of Square Lake Road. Sales center hours are daily from 12 to 6 p.m. For a private appointment to preview The Fairways, contact Matthew Holtzman, 879-0900.
