A 53-year-old Westland man was sentenced Tuesday to five years probation after pleading guilty to 10 counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

John Shippy will also undergo psychiatric treatment, according to the terms of the sentence imposed by Detroit Recorders Judge David Kerwin.

He was also banned from moving back to a Westland townhouse complex where he had lived and worked and where the incidents took place. He was forced to move from the complex last fall as part of the bond guidelines set by 18th District Judge Gail McKnight.

Shippy, who pleaded innocent to the-charges-at-his arraignment, changed his plea last month to guilty in a pretrial hearing before the judge. He had waived a pre-liminary examination in 18th District Court.

Shippy was arrested in November after one of the children, a 5-year-old girl, told her parents about the assaults, police said.

2nd review planned of computer proposal

Westland city council members will once again study a proposal for computerizing the police and fire departments, despite questions on how the city will pay for the $450,000 project.

A similar proposal was rejected by the council three years ago.

The proposed computer system was outlined to council members in a study session Monday night. It will take four-to-six weeks to work out contracts for final council approval.

Councilman Kent Herbert, who didn't attend the meeting but relayed his opinions through a memo to the council, appeared to be deadset against the proposal.

"No way will I support spending anywhere near $500,000 for a public safety computer system," the memosaid. "Anybody who proposes something like this has rocks in his head."

Other councilmen also had con-"I believe the system is desirable, but my concern is funding and budgeting," said Charles Pickering.

Thomas Artley said he would consider the proposal "if I can see evidence of solid funding."

THE COMPUTER package was put together by a nine-member Public Safety Steering Committee. Serving on the committee were the city's police and fire chiefs, several top police and fire administrators, two city officials and two consultants from the accounting firm of Plante and

The proposed IBM system would include a $64,000 processor, 24 work station terminals, 14 personal computers and 19 printers. The proposal also calls for nearly $80,000 worth of support equipment (disk, tape drive and modems) and will require some $160,000 in software. Training and implementation assistance, at a cost of $41,000, is included in the pack-

Maintenace costs, which are in addition to the overall package, are expected to be $27,000 annually.

The administration has proposed funding the project out of the city's capital improvements program. The program has $78,000 available to use as a down payment and the rest of the project cost would be financed

Griffin pledges restraint in guiding city finances

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Mayor Charles Griffin pledged Tuesday to continue the conservative fiscal policies that he said have paved the way for Westland's "return to respectability as a communi-

Griffin cited lower millage rates, increased residential construction and growth in property values, and the city's booming retail district during his annual State of the City address before the Westland Chamber

The mayor also informally disclosed his intentions to run for a second term this fall.

"I must confess I'm looking forward to continuing the policies of this administration — on into the '90s," the mayor said near the conclusion of the 25-minute speech.

Although the mayor didn't list a top priority for the coming year _ as he has in past State of the City speeches - he-did-mention at leastone new project in the planning stages for 1989.

HE SAID the recreation department is looking at a pilot project for a Summer Youth Program. The program would be regionalized, with activitles in four city parks - Corrado, Stottlemyer, Jaycee and Central City Park.

The administration is also reviewing the needs of the Westland Sports Arena, in an effort to make it more competitive, Griffin said.

Griffin also mentioned the William P. Holliday nature preserve in the speech, which was the subject of controversy for much of last year after the mayor revealed a plan to convert a portion of the park into a municipal golf course. He called the park a "community asset" and said the parks and recreation department would, within budget limits, "assist those volunteers (from local environmental groups) in their efforts to maintain this preserve in a clean and safe condition for citizens to use."

Griffin used much of the speech to outline his administration's accomplishments in the three years since his November 1985 election. He said the major goals met by the adminis-

Police dispatchers will be able to use computer ferminals to alert officers to potentially hazardous situations. Information stored in the computer will include details from any previous calls to that address and whether there are certain types of firearms registered there.

Such information is currently stored in traditional files and isn't always readily available to dispatchers, said police Lt. Robbin Crosby, a steering committee member. "Now, when the records bureau closes at 5 p.m., there's no way to access that kind of information," he said.

Other capabilities will include the ability to alert a dispatcher to a potentially hazardous situation, Jeup said. A timer can be set to go off after a certain interval if an officer on a traffic stop hasn't radioed the station, he said,

The fire department will have immediate access to information on previous calls to the location, location layout, where fire hydrants are located and special medical needs of residents.

'IMAGE AND stability - in my mind - are the components you must have to enhance, maintain and attract quality residential, commercial and industrial developers to a community," Griffin said.

The mayor cited a three-year growth rate of nearly 22 percent in the city's total state equalized valuation (property values). The figure increased from $660 million in 1986 to $760 million last year. He said prolected figures for 1989 indicated a 9percent increase, to $830 million.

At the same time, Griffin said the city's millage rate decreased from 17.99 mills in 1986 to 15.98 mills last. year. He projected another decrease for 1989, to 15.12 mills. At the same (ime, the city's property tax-base in--creased.

A GUNMAN escaped with between $261 and $361 after a holdup at the Amoco gas station, 8008 Middlebelt, Saturday night, police said.

An employee told police a man walked into the station at 8:16 p.m., greeted her and walked over to the cooler where he took a bottle of Pepsi. As she prepared to make change for the Pepsi, the man pulled a small, automatic handgun from his jacket and demanded she turn over the contents of the register and a nearby cash drawer, the employee said.

The employee told police she handed the gunman $200-$300 from the register and $61 from the cash drawer.

The gunman fled the station on foot and got into a brown or black, two-door car driven by another man, the employee said.

The employee described the gunman as a black male, about 6 feet 4 inches tall, 220 pounds, with short hair shaved on the sides. He was wearing a green army jacket, black T-shirt, blue jeans, tennis shoes and black leather gloves, the employee said.

The employee wasn't able to describe the accomplice driving

Local legislators share in PACs generosity

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Western Wayne's incumbent state legislators were PAC men and women when it came to financing their November re-election campaigns. with teachers, doctors and the National Rifle Association among the most frequent contributors.

More than 75 political action committees contributed to western Wayne candidates, with the average contribution $350, but challengers rarely shared in PAC generosity.

Only Jeanne Stempien, a challenger for the Plymouth-area 37th District seat, received contributions from more than one PAC, according to available state election reports.

ALL INCUMBENTS - Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia; Justine Barns, D-Westland; John Bennett, D-Redford Township, William Keith, D-Garden City; James Kosteva, D-Canton Township and Gerald Law, R-Plymouth - retained their seats.

Each received multiple PAC contributions. Among the more generous contributors:

• The Michigan Education Association. The state's largest teacher's union contributed $1,500 to Barns, $1,000 to Bennett, $1,000 to Keith and $750 to Kosteva through its MEA-PAC. The MEA Public Affairs Council contributed $1,000 to Law.

 Hospitals and doctors. The Hospital Association PAC contributed $500 to Law, $250 to Keith and $200 to Bankes. The Michigan Doctor's PAC contributed $500 to Law and $600 to Kosteva.

• The National Rifle Association. The NRA Political Victory Fund-

Michigan gave matching $250 contributions to Barns, Bennett, Keith and Law and a $200 contribution to Kosteva.

Education-related contributions weren't limited to the MEA. Among other PACs, the Michigan Organization of Private Vocational Schools gave $300 to Bankes and $500 to Keith. Both are members of the state House Education Committee.

Health industry contributions weren't limited to MD's and hospitals, either. The Michigan Optometric PAC gave matching $400 contributions to Barns and Law. The Michigan Opthamology PAC gave $200 each to the same candidates. Barns and Law also received $200 each from the Pharmacy PAC. Both are members of the Public Health Com-

Most PACs played no party favorites. Not surprisingly, however, union PACs opened their wallets only for Democrats.

The UAW of Wayne County PAC contributed $2,000 to Barns, $1,000 each to Keith and Kosteva, $1,800 to Stempien and $800 to Matthew Abel who unsuccessfully challenged Barns also received $200 from the Michigan AFL-CIO. Stemplen received contributions from the United Steelworkers of America and Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502.

UTILITIES AND lending institutions were bi-partisan in their giv-

The Michigan Consolidated Gas

PAC gave $300 to Bennett.

The Michigan Bell PAC gave $200 each to Keith and Law. The AT&T PAC contributed $250 to Kosteva. Kosteva also received $150 from the Telephone Association of Michigan.

Among lending institutions, the Michigan Credit Union gave $3,000 to Keith, and $100 each to Barns and Bennett.

Bank PACs were equally generous: Bennett, chairman of the Corporations and Finance Committee, received $500, from the Michigan Bank PAC and $300 from the Manufacturers National Bank PAC $300. The Manufacturers PAC also gave $100 to Law. Keith received $500 from the Comercia Bank PAC; Kosteva received $200 from the same source.

The automotive industry also made its political presence felt, as did the state's insurance industry.

Bennett received $1,000 from the Detroit Auto Dealers, $1,000, Law and Kosteva received $400 each from the Chrysler PAC. Law also received $250, and Kosteva $200, from the Ford Motor Co. Civic Action Fund, while Keith received $100 from the General Motors Civic Improvement Program.

Among insurance PACs, Life Underwriters contributed $200 each to Bankes and Barns and Michigan Insurance Agents contributed $250 to

Other politicians also shared from their own campaign funds.

The John Dingell for Congress committee opened its coffers to Barns, Kelth and Kosteva. Each received $250 from the powerful Trenton Democrat.

Stemplen received $100 from the Committee to Elect (U.S. Rep.) William Ford and $100 from McNamara's Band, a group formed on behalf of Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce PAC contributed $300 to Kosteva and $200 each to Keith and

Other PACs that gave to more than one area candidate included:

• The Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers PAC, $500 each to Keith and Law.

• BPAC, representing Michigan home builders, $1,000 to Bennett.

$600 to Law, $300 Bankes. • Michigan Trial Lawyers PAC, $1,025 to Stempien, a Liyonia-based attorney, $400 each to Barns, Keith and Kosteva. • RPAC, representing state realtors, $1,000 to Bennett, $500 to

• The Political Responsibility Committee of Michigan CPA's, $800 each to Kosteva and Law.

Spending varied widely in House races

By Wayne Real staff writer

All of the area's incumbent state House members won re-election, but for some the cost of victory was higher than for others.

Election spending for incumbents was as high as $36,000 and as low as $8,000 in area races. All outspent their foes. (For a look at campaign financing, see related story.)

John Bennett, D-Redford Township, spent the most according to election files. Bennett's campaign spent $36,230, easily outspending Republican and Libertarian Party challengers in the 34th District race.

Brady Walker, a tool maker with a Livonia firm, spent $4,800 in his unsuccessful GOP bid. While Bennett received money from 10 political action committees, as well as from private individuals, Walker's fund raising appeared limited to professional contacts and friends.

Libertarian challenger John J. Tatar said he wasn't filing a campaign spending report because he spent no money on his campaign. The district includes Redford and a section of eastern Livonia.

SPENDING LEVELS were closer in other races.

Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, spent

$8,449 and Livonia attorney Matthew Abel $7,100 in the 35th District race. The district covers most of Livonia.

Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, spent $10,827 and Schoolcraft College trustee Jeanne Stempien $9,858 in the 36th District race. The district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and a section of eastern Canton Township.

City, spent $7,101 in the 33rd District race. GOP challenger Harold Richardson spent less than $1,000, according to campaign reports. The district includes Garden City and

THERE WERE partial reports in the 37th and 38th District races. Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, spent $7,900 on his 37th District reelection bid. State elections officials said they hadn't yet received a report from Republican challenger David Dossette. The district includes western Canton Township, Belleville, Romulus, Wayne and Van Buren Township.

Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, spent $26,998 in the 38th District. Figures weren't available for Re-Rep. William Keith, D-Garden publican challenger Kenneth Raupp.

Midwest (achoo!) no more resistant to colds — doctor

staff writer

The Wayne County medical director disputes findings of a recent study by the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta that shows midwesterners have colds and the flu less often than people in other parts of the country.

"I was once told, figures lie and liars figure," quipped Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk of the study results. Lawrenchuk, a Livonian who has been medical director of Wayne County for six years, said the study reflects little more than how well statistics on colds and the flu are maintained in various parts of the country.

"At best, the results are guesstimates. We need a lot more research before jumping to any conclusions." Lawrenchuk said.

The study, based on figures supplied by state health departments to the National Center for Health Statistics (within the Centers for Disease Control), showed midwesterners have fewer colds and incidents of flu, and are less likely to experience loss of work due to either illness. Midwesterners are also more likely to seek medical attention when sick with a cold or the flu.

THE PROBLEM with the study arises in the reporting process, according to Lawrenchuk.

In Wayne County, for example, over 100 infectious diseases must be reported to the medical director, including acute, life-threatening infections like rables or botulism, as well as less serious infections such as head lice or chicken pox.

reported unless incidents "occur in significant or unusual numbers" within a certain period of time. "Significant or unusual numbers of anything, even a rash, (within a certain period of time) are required to be reported," Lawrenchuk said.

Lawrenchuk and the other 47 county medical directors in Michigan report their findings to the state Department of Public Health and the figures are, in turn, passed along to the Center for Health Statistics.

Based on reported figures in 1987, midwesterners had 21 colds per 100 people. Northeasterners reported 27 colds, southerners 24 colds and westerners 33 colds per 100 people, the study said.

Westerners lost more than twice as many days from work due to colds, 33 days per 100 employees in the West, compared to 15 days per 100 workers in the Midwest. In addition, 40 percent of midwesterners cases reported. There 430 cases of had their colds attended to by doctors, compared to 31 percent of 1,383 cases of salmonella bacteria,

Dr. Robert Canon, a colds and flu specialist with the Centers for Disease Control, said the incidence of colds and flu is difficult-to judge since the illnesses are so common and are not reported. In addition, incidence is dependent on age, race Colds and the flu, however, are not and sex, factors that must be considered before any regional analysis

> Epidemiologist Harry McGee of Michigan's public health department sald results of the survey had to have been based on "very soft data" because "the surveillance for respiratory infections is not an exact science."

> In addition, statistics on the common cold are not maintained anywhere in the country and much of the information that is gathered is based on such "indirect indicators" as laboratory results, reports of widespread illness in institutional settings and causes of death.

"The survey was a good measure of guess work," McGee said.

Of the legally reportable infectious diseases in Michigan during 1988, chicken pox led the list with 42,549 outbreaks of the disease. Gonorrhea was second, with 37,435 hepatitis A, 668 of hepatitis B-and the deadly food poisoning.

State tax expenditures higher than tax bills

By Tim Richard staff writer

On paper, it looks as if Michigan state and local governments collect $15 billion in taxes.

But when all the exemptions are figured in, only 40 percent of that is paid to state and local treasurers. Reople, businesses and non-profit groups get $9.2 billion back in socalled "tax expenditures."

"This tax report is not advocating either the elimination or the expan-Sion of tax expenditures," said state treasurer Robert Bowman. "The report simply details the magnitude of the tax-reducing features we have bullt into our system.

Dems reject GOP's 'reform' rules

Here's how House members were recorded on major roll call votes in the opening week of the 101st Congress. There were no Senate roll REFORM RULES - By a vote of 231 for and 162 against, the House endorsed the Democratic majority's proposed rules for its operation in the 101st Congress.

The vote cleared the way for routine adoption of the Democratic rules, which are essentially unchanged from those used in the 100th Congress. It rebuffed a reform package authored by House Republicans.

At issue were GOP complaints that Democrats in recent Congresses have used their control over committee and floor operations to all but eliminate Republican opposition. Republicans say increasingly restrictive rules also lessen accountability to constituents and make it more difficult for public opinion to influence Congress.

The GOP rules sought to:

• Require roll call votes on final passage of all appropriations and

Roll Call Report

taxation' bills and members' pay raises.

- Substitute a five-day work week for the present three-day week.
- Outlaw proxy voting in com-
- Require committees to be more open in conducting meetings and divalging voting records.

Republicans also attacked the increasing use of "closed" rules that limit or prohibit floor amendments, the Democratic majority's growing. reliance on budget act waivers to skirt statutory deficit limits and the practice of adding unauthorized money and programs to appropriations bills.

Also, the GOP rules required the House to include itself in civil rights, fair labor practices and other social legislation it has passed for the rest of the country and directed the Rules Committee to recommend ways of streamlining the House's committee bureaucracy.

Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., said the GOP rules would "blow the doors off the chamber and let in the clean, fresh air of open and free debate."

Democrats did not comment on the Republican proposal.

Members voting yes supported House rules put forth by the Democratic majority. Voting yes: Demo-crats Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods, William Ford of Taylor and Sander Levin of Southfield.

Voting no: Republicans Carl Pursell of Plymouth and William Broomfield of Lake Orion.

CLOSED RULES - By a vote of 163 for and 239 against, the House rebuffed a Republican attack on the Democratic majority's increasing use of closed debating rules.

Closed rules set by the Rules Committee ban floor amendments or limit the number of amendments that can be offered to a particular bill during floor debate.

Republicans say their use has nearly quadrupled in the past decade, frustrating the GOP minority's efforts to present alternatives to Democratic legislation.

This vote killed a GOP attempt to require four days notice of any Rules Committee meeting that could' send bills to the floor under restrictive rules.

"This House is becoming unrepresentative and undemocratic," said Rep. Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y.

Democrats did not comment on the proposal.

Members voting yes favored four days' notice of Rules Committee meetings that could produce closed rules for floor debate.

Voting yes: Republicans Pursell and Broomfield.

Voting no: Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Star steps out in Birmingham

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

TAYING WITH her family while her show is in town is one of the pluses enjoyed by Susan Flynn, who stars in "Stepping Out" at the Birmingham Theatre.

The New York actress won critical praise for recent appearances in Off-Broadway revivals of "Company" and "Dames at Sea." She was in fine spirits when she was interviewed one day last week at her parents' home in Birmingham.

An energetic blonde, Flynn was casually dressed in a red and white sweater, red pants and Reboks. Dad, George Schubering, wasn't around that afternoon, but her mother, Margaret, was - beaming while she popped in and out, making plans for another in a series of welcoming parties. Schubering also brought out newspaper clippings about her daughter's previous shows and said good naturedly, "That's what mothers are for," in explanation of her

Flynn is no shrinking violet. She talked enthusiastically, laughed heartily as she recalled such adventures as her last appearance in metropolitan Detroit, when she played the Fisher Theatre in a show that hoped to go to Broadway but flopped here, and (on a more upbeat note) talked about how she met a tall dark Irishman at a bus stop, gave him her phone number on the bus, and eventually became his wife.

"BARBARY COAST" was the name of the show that was beset by problems during its run at the Fisher in 1983. "It was a disaster," Flynn said. One of the actresses (who is now starring on Broadway in "Phantom of the Opera") was fired opening

That same night, "They had never staged the fight scenes," Flynn said, beginning a story that continued with one of the actors being knocked cold and two performers being knocked into the orchestra pit.

"The first thing I heard from my dressing room was a voice saying, 'Just tell me the two people in the pit are all right," she remembers.

Wheels of justice

Schools want integrity back

HE WAYNE-Westland School District will spend much of this spring fighting to regain its integrity — again.

The reason is the announcement Friday afternoon that the preliminary exams scheduled for three employees in the adult education enrollment dispute will be adjourned for two months.

The examinations were originally scheduled for-last Monday.

But on Friday, attorneys for the three defendants met with District Judge Gail McKnight and the prosecutor's office and agreed to postpone the examinations until early March.

One major reason is that the prosecutor's office intends to call from 15 to 30 witnesses and the defense attorneys wanted more time to prepare their cases.

Aside from the criminal justice viewpoints the district has the ongoing problem of trying to maintain its organizational integrity while the publicity drags on.

At first, we had hoped for a quick resolution to the examinations and trials, if they are needed.

The reason is the adult education enrollment dispute has been dragging on for nearly five

It is having an impact on the school board, administration, adult education department, employees and the community.

The administration's enemies want blood, while its supporters only want the dispute resolved and the book closed.

But the book will be open for a while longer.

THE DISPUTE and cloud over the district's credibility have been seen in several crucial elec-proved — still by a small margin.

The close margins in those two elections compared to earlier victories with larger margins — are clear signals that many school voters either don't feel the money was needed or that they just didn't accept the word of the board and administration that the money was needed.

The district has been saying since the enrollment dispute surfaced in 1983 that there was no fraud involved, only honest mistakes or continued changes by the state on how the enrollments are to be tabulated.

While the board and administration have no power to speed up the wheels of the criminal justice process, they can take that extra effort to improve institutional credibility.

One is to go that extra mile to continue dealing openly and candidly with the community and its institutions when questioned about the enrollment dispute or related issues.

Another is to avoid being defensive when challenged by those who want their political pound of flesh.

Private citizens have a right to ask questions of their public officials and those officials have a responsibility to answer directly and professionally, as they have in the past.

At the moment, the enrollment dispute will be in the news and headlines for a while with the resulting chitchat at community and school

We wish the wheels of justice would turn faster

But they won't. In the meantime, the district A year ago, a $12.9 million bond issue for must continue to run its business effectively and professionally and hope for the best in the courts.

Dr. King

Cherish his unifying dream

■ ELEBRATING the memory of Martin Luther King Jr. is essential to all suburban residents — black and white. And while the civil rights leader's birthday on Jan. 16 has been proclaimed a national holiday, many suburban communities quietly balk at the idea.

That's a shame.

Many ask why they should celebrate. After all, some say, we don't outwardly celebrate national holidays dedicated to other leaders. Others see Dr. King as a leader solely for the black community and leave the commemoration to them.

Hence a tradition is developing that sees racially mixed municipalities like Southfield honoring Dr. King with major events, and most other suburban communities doing little, if anything. Of course, exceptions do exist. Each year Birmingham dedicates more time and resources to the event.

Some of the neglect, we are sure, is based simply on an absent-minded tendency. But we are just as sure that others refuse to honor Dr. King because of racist attitudes.

PREJUDICE is an ever-lingering danger in our society. It feeds on itself like a dirty wound, poisoning more and more of the body-politic.

Left to fester, it will destroy us.

It is good medicine to remind ourselves that people do exist who have the courage to actively fight against the sickness that continually threatens us. ..

Dr. King showed us the way. Without his efforts yesterday, we would be living in a very different world today.

We are heartened to see that some communities and educational institutions are getting behind the effort to make Dr. King a national hero in the hearts of coming generations.

We must foster the values he taught us so that others will have the courage to continue the battle which, when won, will set all of us free.

We need to commemorate his activities so those of us who lived through that stormy era never forget the struggle we endured. We need to honor Dr. King so those who were born after his death can learn from the courageous example he

Since his assassination, Dr. King has been nearly forgotten by an entire generation now Verging on adulthood,

-They don't know about the force of the firehoses unleashed against unarmed demonstrators, who fought only for their basic civil rights.

They are unaware that before Dr. King's crusade, thousands were tortured and lynched because they were born black.

They have been cheated out of learning about an era when a majority of America was finally brought together to stamp out racism.

They have been kept in ignorance about the dream that Dr. King so eloquently outlined that day long ago before the Lincoln Memorial.

WE ARE heartened to see that some communities and educational institutions are getting behind the effort to make Dr. King a national hero in the hearts of coming generations.

In February, Black Awareness Month, Rochester's Oakland University has outlined an ambitious program to help all of us learn more about blacks' contribution to our culture.

And the University of Michigan has an entire slate of programs during Dr. King's birthday to help all of us remember.

We believe it crucial that even more educational centers and municipalities kick in to honor this great American.

Engendering the spirit of Dr. King in the very young is probably the most important effort of all. If we can bring up a new generation with a better understanding of racial prejudice, we have a winning chance for a new society.

Honoring Dr. King once again gives us all a chance to learn more about each other's cultures, to erase the stereotypes that hinder our efforts for a unified society

WE SURE COULD USE LEADER IN TODAY'S TROUBLED WORLD.

Respect can age fast, so can the new year

THE YEAR began on a good note. I saw a glimmer of respect, perhaps even awe, in the eyes of the teenager who baby sits for our 2-year-old.

Moments earlier the look in her eyes was more skeptical upon hearing that singer George Michael's latest was among the compact disc selections in our limited musical library.

"Give me a break," she all but said. George Michael? No way. She might have thought I meant George Jones if she were old enough to know who that is, but in her humble opinion, George Michael was out of my league.

This is the same young woman who late last year grimaced when told that my wife and I were off to see "Everybody's All-American" at the movies. She would have opted for "Child's Play," which I gather features a character who would be a perfect blind date for Freddie of Elm Street nightmare fame. Or is he in Halloween?

YOU SEE, I not only can't tell those two sequel-happy scare-flicks apart, but I've never seen any of them, which comes as no surprise to my baby sitter who already has me pegged as an old fogey who certainly doesn't have any George Michael music hanging around.

George Michael, to my brethren in the Old Fogey Before Your Time club, is an English singer whose hits include "Kissing a Fool," "Father Figure" and "I Want Your Sex,"

State budget jeopardizes health services

To the editor:

This letter serves, in part, to thank you for Philip Sherman's Dec. 22, 1988 column about autism. It was insightful, compassionate and evidenced a constructive moral character. Your suggestion that many people have never read about autism is undoubtedly accurate. Hopefully, through movies like "Rain Man," the average citizen will become more aware of the needs of people with handicaps.

Mental health services that help fulfill the needs of many people wit!. autism and other handicaps are in serious jeopardy in the state of Michigan. Many are concerned about the 1989-90 fiscal year proposed mental health budget.

A $76 million reduction is proposed that will devastate the entire mental health system, and thousands of individuals will suffer from not receiving services.

I want my tax dollars to be spent on people who are in need of our assistance for their very existence. Recently, Jack Kemp, the new

I felt sad, angry and uplifted as I read about the unpleasant experience that you encountered when you stopped for lunch at Livonia Mall.

-I am a black middle-aged "human being" who shops and attends the movies, on a regular basis, at the mall. It shakes me up to think that when I walk into a restaurant, department store or bookstore, the person that is being paid a salary to serve the public may "cringe" at the thought of waiting on me.

I am a 14 year resident of the city of Farmington. I could write a book about the insensitive and ignorant remarks that have been made to me over these many years. It is depressing (at times) to know that just because of your skin color you are repulsive to some people and some people actually "nate" you and think that you are inferior to them. I say "at times" I feel depressed, but most of the time I think "how ignorant and pitiful you are." I'm glad that you have a forum

Praise drivers who stopped

To the editor: In these times, when humanitarianism most often seems to be a thing; of the past, I was very surprised and filled with an odd sense of warmth atthe actions of a group of very special people, strangers to themselves, who stopped to help a large dog which was hit by a car and was left lying in. the traffic lane as the offending car continued on.

These people, some of whom had to turn around to come back to the! scene of the accident, worked together to put the dog, which was stillalive, onto a board for transport to: an emergency animal facility. They even wrapped the dog in a blanket.

The people who stopped know who. they are. I feel that they are to be commended as an example of kindness and humanitarianism which we all should strive for.

In Twain territory

A reporter's job is never done

NATURALLY, the best yarn of the trade I've heard lately had its setting in Virginia City. A century ago, the Nevada mountain town was the West's mining metropolis, the heart of one of the richest deposits of gold and silver ever discovered. Of its 110 saloons, the Bucket of Blood still appeals best to tourists like myself, although Virginia City's permanent population is down to about 1,500 from the 30,000 of its heyday. .

When I used the word "naturally," I had in mind the fact that Nevada's first newspaper was the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise and two of the reporters who worked there were Mark Twain and Bret Harte. Twain and Harte didn't gain their lasting literary recognition until later, but that didn't stop tourist trap entrepreneurs from opening a Mark Twain Museum of Memories to corral as many of today's inflationary dollars as possible.

THE OUTSIDE world hears mostly about Las Vegas, Reno and Lake Tahoe when Nevada is mentioned and, as one writer put it, "20 minutes from the clatter of Las Vegas and Reno the only sound is wind brushing across miles of sage." Let me tell you, in winter it's a damn cold wind,

It was inevitable that I would be escorted to Virginia City where much has been done to restore the boom town appearance of the 1870s when, so historians claim, a lady named Julia Bulette was revered by the town's male population as "the Queen of Sporting Row."

I have a notion that Twain and Harte liked their life up in the craggy mountains and also that they suffered from a malady that's universal among good reporters, inability to leave their job at the office when quitting time came. I can't possibly imagine Samuel Clemens, which was Twain's true name, passing up a good story and telling his editor, "Sorry, it's my day off."

That's why I think he'd chuckle at a 1989 tale told by John Miller of an experience the latter had in recent years while working as a public relations man for a Virginia City mining company.

IT WAS a job-which included showing out-of-town reporters, photographers and free-lance writers the historic sites, and among those who arrived on assignment were a writer and photographer from Penthouse Magazine. By mid-afternoon they decided they had seen it all, which I can well believe, and gave themselves the rest of the afternoon off in favor of a saloon stop.

Word had spread that these visitors were from Penthouse and in the bar a few bystanders butted in with questions about rather intimate material which had been published.

"Our group had grown to six or seven guys," Miller recalls, "when this lady got up off her stool at the other end of the bar, walked over and zoomed in on the photographer, asking, 'Are you the fellow who takes pictures for Penthouse?"

"He agreed that he was. "'Then, tell-me what you think about this.' With that, she whipped off her sweatshirt and presented him - and everybody else - with a view of her abundant feminine charms.

"The photographer avoided offering either criticism or praise, talked her into putting her shirt back on, and then explained to her that he wasn't the one who decides who gets to pose for the magazine. He sent her on her way with a business card giving the Penthouse telephone number, suggesting she call his boss if she was truly serious.

"She thanked him with a grin. stuffed the business card in a hip pocket of her jeans, and walked back to a noisy, standing ovation from the group she was with at the other end of the bar."

At Miller's table there was a prolonged silence, maybe from awe, and John remembers that finally it was broken by the photographer who perhaps felt the lack of conversation was his fault.

'That's the trouble with this job,' he said to no one in particular. 'You can't leave your work at the office."

In that sense, I doubt if Virginia City has changed much from Twain's day, but I didn't stay long enough to find out. Or maybe I simply got there too late.

Doves need target practice to win peace

OUR FRIENDS from Covenant for Peace have been strangely silent during the last month about the events in Libya, West Germany, Switzerland, Scotland and other tense points around the globe.

Unless you have been in a cocoon several years, you know Covenant is the group that holds marches and prayer vigils outside a Williams International plant on Maple Road in Commerce Township. Why that plant? It produces engines for low-flying cruise missiles that can carry nuclear warheads into eastern Europe, particularly to the Soviet Union.

And we all should believe, if we've paid attention to sermons and polls of school children, that nuclear weapons are the awfullest thing in the world, even though they haven't been used in combat in 44 years.

THE POINT is that it's time for peace-loving people to consider another target besides Williams.

The U.S. government-says it has irrefutable evidence of Libyan involvement in an April 1986 bombing of LaBelle discotheque in West Berlin. No nuclear weapons were involved, but an American soldier and a Turkish woman were killed and 155 others injured.

Where are the anti-bomb protests outside LaBelle discotheque?-

Ever hear of Imhausen-Chemie? A medium-sized chemical firm based at Lahr in Germany's Black Forest, it specializes in plastics, Imhausen-Chemie is the outfit that appears to be providing Libya with equipment townships of the second second

The Libyans say, shucks, it's a pharmaceuticals plant - but since when does one need a toxic waste 'emissions system, fortress-like construction and Soviet anti-aircraft missiles on the perimeter to make aspirins?

Chemical weapons, once considered unthinkable, were used by Iraq in its war against Iran. Chemical weapons pose a far more immediate threat of death than nuclear weap-

So far, peace demonstrators haven't targeted either Imhausen-Chemie or the companies that sold to Iraq. They're missing something.

There is a Swiss outfit called Imhico that the United States is accusing of acting as an intermediary between Imhausen and Libya. No demonstrations there, either.

NO NUCLEAR weapons were used to blow up Pan Am flight 103 over Lockerbie, Scotland - but 270 people died violently.

No nuclear weapons were used when terrorists attacked airports in Rome and Vienna in December of 1985, but 16 innocent people were killed. The United States says Libya is harboring the group that carried. out the attacks.

No nuclear weapons were used in April of 1986 when Libya fired missiles at a U.S. station on the Italian island of Lampedusa. No nuclear weapons were used by, Iraq on its upstart dissidents — just poison gas.

THERE ARE oodles of places that deal with terrorists or make up-todate weapons that would make far better targets for demonstrations than Williams International.

Is it too far to travel to picket those West German and Swiss firms? How about a French embassy or French airlines? Remember in 1986 when the U.S. bombed Libyan milltary installations and terrorist bases in Tripoli and Benghazi? Remember which country wouldn't let our planes fly across? France.

Nuclear weapons are an expensive joke. By an unwritten treaty, no nation will use them. It's time to take the spotlight off the unused weapon that has been the keystone of the U.S.'s policy and put it on the weapons and nations that are really killing people in the real world.

This "blame America first" stuff, to borrow Jeane Kirkpatrick's apt phrase, is outdated and irrelevant.

Originally I did not believe in this concept but after having worked in two school districts with open enrollment I am convinced that it is the appropriate way to address certain issues. Thursday, January 12, 1989 O&E

Sue Catalano discovered Jazzercise while at home, recovering from the birth of her baby. In need of losing some of her "baby fat," she decided to give it a chance and today is the nationwide company's mid-East regional administrator.

Jazzercise: Low-cost alternative to fitness

staff writer

So you went-out and bought yourself a designer leotard and color-coordinated Baryshnikov tights. You're ready to make a commitment to the the physical fitness crowd.

Now if only you could find a workout program that you like and can afford.

Sue Catalano claims she has the answer - Jazzercise, a choreographed dance-fitness program that's found in every state, doesn't require a yearly or lifetime membership and is relatively inexpensive - $2.50 per class.

"In a one-hour class, we try to hit all the basics," she said. "It's like a bell curve. There's a warmup segment, aerobic activity from slow to high intensity, dance to the floor for muscle conditioning, strengthening, toning and flexibility and a cool

"It's designed so you can have fun, relieve stress and anxiety and burn off fat and calories," added Diane teaching the class.

She is now mideast regional administrator for Jazzercise.

GLENDENING joined Jazzerclse in Oklahoma City. She wanted to meet people and needed a stress release. She took what she learned to New Jersey and eventually brought it back to Michigan.

In the process, she became a certified instructor and now is Jazzercise's Detroit area manager.

Jazzercise is a corporation, based on Carlsbad, Calif. It sells franchises, but not along the line of more well-known fast food chains, with specifically designed buildings, uniforms and the like.

The instructors buy the franchises; in return they get new choreographed fitness routines, developed by founder Judi Sheppard Missett, every eight weeks. They are certified as Jazzercise instructors and are critiqued at least once a year.

But don't let words like corporation and franchise create the wrong impression of Jazzercise. Yes, it's a big business, but it's grassroots in nature, Catalano sald.

"It's intended to be for everyone, so we use church halls, school auditoriums, community centers, wherever we can find space," Catalano

Diane Glendening got started in Jazzercise when she was transferred to Oklahoma City. She stuck with it, even in a move to New Jersey, and came back to Michigan as a certified instructor. Today she is Jazzercise's Detroit area manager.

Within eight weeks' time, she was said. "We pay rent for the space and supply quality equipment to provide good sound. There's no lifetime memberships, no yearlong commitments. Just eight hourlong classes over four weeks."

> MISSETT developed Jazzercise in 1969, while teaching at an Evanston, Ill., dance studio. When she moved to California in 1972, she began teaching Jazzercise at YMCAs and family fitness centers.

> By 1977, she was training instructors in her program and within in two years, Jazzercise classes were established in the United States, Europe, Brazil and Japan.

It wasn't until 1983 that Missett began franchising instructors. Now the fitness company ranks seventh among 500 franchise businesses and first among franchised fitness businesses, according to this month's "Entrepreneur" magazine.

The program is individualized, Glendening said. People who have a sense of beat and musical phrasing pick up the routines quickly, while those who say they have two left feet may take about four times to catch

"By about the third time, they start feeling comfortable," Glendenning said. "The first night they watch the instructors and watch the people beside them.

'There's so much to absorb, but a jog step is a jog step. Once you learn them, you can do all the routines."

While Jazzercise is for both men and women — there even are classes for teenagers — it's primary market is women. That's not to say men don't take the class—their numbers are increasing, Catalano said.

"IT (JAZZERCISE) isn't real macho and men tend to think in terms of weight training, running and leisure sports for exercise," she said. "But they can benefit from Jazzercise because it makes them more flexible and reduces the injury po-

Finding a Jazzercise class may be as simple as asking around among friends. Word of mouth is Jazzerclse's strongest form of advertisement, Catalano said.

You also can check with your parks and recreation departments or community centers. But the operative word, according to Catalano and Glendening, is check.

Many places may offer classes billed as Jazzercise, but they aren't. What they are doing is infringing on. the Jazzercise registered trademark, 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. 1. Catalano sald.

"Our classes depend heavily on the availability of space and many times our students search for spots," Glen-· dening said.

He sees Australia from courtside

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Imagine George Periot with basketball shoes. Then you're talking about Bob Sluka.

At least he sounds a little like the long-time television travel show host in describing his recent adventures in Australia.

No, the Livonia resident didn't wrestle with gators out in the outback. Nor did he spend his daytime hours popping caps off of Foster's Lager.

Sluka did grapple with forwards under the boards as a basketball standout in Australia. And the only caps he was concerned with were those of the white variety, on the sea, as part of his studies in marine biology at James Cook University. (Captain James Cook is the British fellow who discovered Australia. Even though the aborigines were already settled there.)

Really, Sluka's recollection of Australia is not seen through the eye of the typical tourist with a Hawaiian shirt and a camera wrapped around his neck. His was from more common man's perspecsaid Sluka, a 1985 graduate of Livonia Stevenson High School. "Where here when you're with a group of friends the big question is, 'Where are we going to go?' There, it's more of just being with your friends?"

Sluka strikes many comparisons between the cultures of Australia and the United States. As an exchange student at James Cook University, he was able to notice many differences.

He went to Australia to particiete in a pilot program in marine biology through the University of Miarhi (Florida). He was able to go on several field trips, studying the aquatic happenings off the Barrier Reef.

From the classroom, Sluka went to the court. He led James Cook University to a second-place finish in a national tournament and was named to the All-Australia Team. A school hero, members of the team retired his basketball jersey No. 11 for good measure.

Already with enough memories to fill a 12-volume photo album, Sluka capped his 10-month odyssey by traveling a month down the coast from Townsville to Sidney. A 10speed bike was his mode of transportation and a tent served as his accommodations.

"The refs don't call them unless you're bleeding," he said.

He found his work in the classroom equally as invigorating. The Australian way of learning is based mostly on the English system. Exams are only given at the end of the semester and usually are of the essay variety. Multiple choice tests aren't a choice.

But the overall attitude toward learning is different, he said. Sluka noticed that there isn't a barrier between professor and student that tends to exist here. Having lunch with a professor to discuss research. wasn't uncommon.

"To me, there was a lot more expected of you," Sluka said. "It was expected that the university would be your whole life. Whereas at least at the University of Miami, the attitude is once class is over it's your time to do whatever you want. There, I'd have professors say we'd be going on a field trip tomorrow, and it would be Saturday."

Writing shows ambivalence

Dear Lorene,

I have always been fascinated with things like handwriting analy-

The one thing that has been bothering me lately is how I'm so undecided on how I want to make the capital letters in my signature. For some unknown reason, all of a sudden I can't seem to settle on one way or the other. It seems so ridiculous that after all these years I hesitatein signing my name. Seems like it should just come natural. What in the world is my problem? I've had the same name for 33 years! Since I send many letters each day with a full signature, I'm really finding my hesitation annoying.

Thank you.

Livonia

I enjoyed your letter and can appreciate how annoying it must be to have to stop before signing your many daily letters. And I'm sorry I cannot tell you exactly what the Research on signatures has found that a person's signature is the image he/she wishes to portray to the world. It is usually formulated early in life and remains constant unless there is some reason for the change. Possibly, my analysis may lend some insight for you.

Can it be that you are ambivalent about the image you want to present to others? Your handwriting suggests you may be experiencing ambivalence in some areas of your life at this time.

As a result, they are causing you to be on guard and suspicious of some people and their motives.

And a sensitive nature has you anticipating criticism even when none may be intended.

Some ambivalence with your personal goals can also be noted. Can the fear of failure be behind this? And your feelings of self-esteem tend to fluctuate in certain areas.

moral perspectives Rabbi Irwin Groner

Nothing is more deeply imbedded in American Tradition than the right of a person to choose his mate freely without outside interference. Yet, young people often find that the exercise of this right raises difficult problems, particularly if they happen to fall in love with people with different religious backgrounds from their own. To make matters worse, they often get conflicting advice.

Some friends say: "Don't marry out of your religion or you'll regret it the rest of your life. Religion goes deep, you can't compromise it." But others insist: "Religious differences don't matter. Husband and wife differ in many ways. This makes marriage interesting. You have to adjust. It isn't always easy, but love finds a way."

When a man and a woman are. drawn to one another, select one another from among many, feel a physical attraction and a congeniality and an affection amounting to a deep hunger, it is very difficult to dissuade them from the covenant of marriage because of religious difference.

Common interests, some similarity in levels of intelligence and aspects of personality, a sharing of basic values - these seem more important in the long run than the church or synagague in which one worships.

AND YET, life's experiences teach the fundamental truth that a marriage concerns more than the husband and wife. Marriage involves relationships with the families and religious communities in which the husband and wife have had their origin and childhood associations. These influences, over the years, can add to the emotional burdens and stresses of the marital relationship.

Children present the greatest challenge to those who enter mixed marriages. The psychological welfare of a child, his emotional and mental health, are fundamentally dependent upon the security of the home, the strength of the marriage, and the ways in which the parents affirm their shared outlook about faith, religous holidays and spiritual values. If parents are in conflict over religion, with the welfare of their children.

A recent case involving the struggle for custody of children in a divorced family depicts a nightmare in real life. A judge has threatened to jail a Roman Catholic mother for taking her two daughters to church. Her former husband, the divorced father, is Jewish and he was granted spiritual custody of his daughters. The mother received physical custo- Southfield.

dy of the children and was ordered by the court to rear the children in the Jewish faith of their father.

THE CASE is unusual in the decision of the court to divide the child's religious and secular nurture and growth. The mother, who had promised to raise the children as Jews, began taking the children to church, hung a crucifix on the wall in each child's bedroom and added additional religious observances in the home. Meanwhile, the children have gone to the synagogue on Saturday for worship, and to Mass on Sun-

In the custody hearing, the mother said she wished to raise the children in both faiths. The father contended that such an up-bringing would be psychologically harmful and the judge agreed with him.

The legal issues touch on the First Amendment — freedom of religion, of speech, and of association — but the spiritual and emotional issues are far more complex. Can children be raised with a sense of loyalty to more than one religion? Can children attend church and synagogue without a sense of inner conflict? Can Ezips, it's something of a new beginning. children be exposed to two relgions at an early age and then, when they reach maturity, choose their own

How sad that children are subjected to such stress. This case should be considered and reflected upon by all the religious factor can play havoc men and women who are considering marrying outside of their religious community. Religious intermarriage can impose great hardship, not only by consenting adults, but upon the children of such marriages who are the innocent victims of conflicts that cannot be resolved and commitments that cannot be compromised.

The Rev. Ray Zips came to St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland in December.

New start

Pastor eagerly rejoins ministry

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Another assignment, another church, another city. That could easily sum up most new pastorships.

But not for the Rev. Ray Zips. Zips' new assignment at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland is much more than that. For

PRIOR TO accepting the position at St. John's - replacing the Rev. Thomas Wilson, who took another pastorship in Tennessee - Zips spent six years outside the full-time ministry. led to a divorce, he resigned as pastor at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Colorado. Zips sald taining a job. he had the support of the congregation, but had to get his life in order.

So at 36, Zips was suddenly thrust into the working force. His bachelor's degree was in chemistry from the University of Texas-Arlington. But few job descriptions called for a clergyman-turned-chemist. . :

He refers to it as being in the secular world. 'Most of us, though, would refer to it as the real_

Zips received a crash course in trying to support a family of three children from his dissolved marriage. He had an assortment of jobs, including as a store manager for a light store.

IN HIS spare time, he did ministerial work in a mission. But it wasn't the same.

"One of the things having been in that situation and being out of the ministry for a while is to listen more closely to what people are saying and what they are needing," Zips said.

Of course, most ministers strive for that. Except some find it difficult to relate to those people they listen to.

The normal path of the pastor takes them from college right to divinity school to the church. Because of personal problems, which eventual- Some don't get a taste of the daily rigors of supporting a family, making ends meet and main-

> With a laugh, Zips said he used to get upset with members of his church when they failed to show for a meeting on a committee. Now he understands why.

When I got home from work, the last thing I wanted to think was going to a meeting," Zips said. "The pressures of the ministry are much different than those in the secular world."

Zips plunged into the ministry right out of college. He was raised a Southern Baptist growing up in Texas. While at the University of Texas-Arlington, he joined the Episcopal Church. *

HE RECEIVED his master's of divinity degree from Nashotah House in Wisconsin. He served as an assistant pastor at Church of Transfiguration in Dallas. He landed his first full-time ministry position at St. Stephen's.

His tenure there was marked by lay involvement and physical improvements. He said his ministry style is informal, without detouring from the tradition of the Episcopal service.

Zips' main goal at St. John's Church is getting more people involved. He said a great deal of members are already working at the church, but it can be improved.

Another area he would like to work on is the acceptance of those who are divorced. Obviously, he is quite familiar with the stigma that still ex-

Cheese, wine among foods that bring on migraines

Your column on immunization against the flu and pneumonia sure "hit the nail on the head" at our tough.

Last winter we had a house guest (my sister) who arrived with a bad cold. Within a little over a week, both my husband and I came down with colds. My sister stayed a week the colds staved all winter.

Needless to say we are not extending any invitation to her this year. I do wish that people with colds would stay home and get well and keep their germs to themselves. I hope you don't think we're going overboard on this - but when you're old and not feeling well, life is awfully

We will be immunized this fall against the flu and if our doctor agrees, we'll get the pneumonia shot

Dear Mr. E:

Some practicel suggestions are: eat slowly in a relaxed atmosphere; try eating small meals frequently; avoid gas-forming foods such as cabbage, beans, onions and nuts; and try bland, low fat, easily digested foods. Antacids that have been chilled may also be helpful. Be sure to mention this problem to your doctor at your next visit.

David Goodwill, CEO of Ladbroke DRC, is looking for help from the Legislature in the form of loosening wagering laws, to help DRC get back to the winner's

Terms of the trade

• Parimutuel wagering

Ever since a Paris shopkeeper discovered a better way in the 19th Century, bettors have not had to submit to the vagaries of payoff prices set by bookies. In essence, horseplayers now set the prices (odds) themselves by betting in a mutual pool ("mutuel" in Paris, hence parimutuel).

◆ Off Track Betting (OTB)

Parimutuel horse-race wagering conducted at a betting shop away from the track, sometimes with full-service dining and beverage services, on races brought in via closedcircuit TV. The thoroughbred racing industry, hit hard by state lotteries and changing lifestyles, sees OTB as a way to take its product to consumers no longer willing to drive long distances and sit through a full day's racing card.

• Intertrack Wagering (ITW)

A less-radical cousin of OTB, ITW allows betting at a race track on races run elsewhere and brought in on closed-circuit TV. Under current law, DRC offers betting on selected simulcasts of major races from around the country. But there is a maximum of one race a day, which is added to the program of live races. Under ITW, DRC could remain open at night and accept bets on Hazel Park's harness racing — and vice versa. In states such as Illinois and Pennsylvania, ITW was operated for several years before introduction of OTB.

DRC looks to Lansing for convenience betting

By Tom Ferguson staff writer

Handicapping a bad race is easier than getting a line on the future of Ladbroke DRC in Livonia, Michigan's only thoroughbred horse racing

The British conglomerate that bought DRC in 1985 is entering the final year of a five-year plan still waiting for the one tool it believes essential to success: off track betting (OTB)

"If someone came to us and said, 'You're never going to get it (OTB),' it would be a no-brainer," said David Goodwill, 42, CEO of Ladbroke Racing Corp., meaning Ladbroke would pull the plug on its effort to develop a major league racing program at

"Results at this track have improved, but we are not talking about a profitable organization," said Goodwill, recently arrived from Britain to coordinate Ladbroke's stalled American invasion.

"We have a lot of assets here with no return. But Ladbroke is also a company that is prepared to take a long-term view, to do the job proper-

Long-term for DRC means long enough to see whether OTB, or at least its less-ambitious cousin, intertrack wagering (ITW), will emerge from the Legislature. (See accompanying story for betting definitions.) Goodwill won't say how far Ladbroke's patience will extend, but indications are one more season wouldn't be a bad guess.

Meanwhile, predicting the fate of ITW/OTB legislation is hazardous.

THE GOOD news for Ladbroke is that James Karoub, the track's powerful Lansing lobbylst, is optimistic.

"I don't see any problem with ITW," he said. "OTB will be introduced later."

The bad news is that the harness racing industry, which represents nearly three-quarters of the Michigan horse racing industry, is at best cool to what the thoroughbred industry prefers to call "convenience bett-

At worst, if the harness horsemen decide to oppose OTB, and if they are successful, Goodwill might have his "no-brainer."

WHEN LADBROKE Group PLC decided to establish its U.S. beachhead at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt, it clearly had OTB in mind — not the operation of a minor league race

Though it has yet to accept a single OTB wager in this country, Ladbroke Racing Corp. (the U.S. subsidiary) is described in a company press release as "Ladbroke's U.S. off track betting subsidiary."

"We are the world's experts in this area," Goodwill said. "If anybody is going to do OTB well in this country, it is going to be us."

The parent company is indeed the world leader. By last June Ladbroke was operating 1,797 betting shops in the United Kingdom and Ireland, had 75 percent of the market in Belgium and had opened 75 shops in the Netherlands after securing a national monopoly on OTB.

Tracks face changing times

"This place was built to hold 30,000 people in the '40s," said Bill Bork. "Now we fill up that parking let with a crowd of 15,000 on Michigan Mile Day. I ask some old-timers where the hell they put all those cars, and they say: Bill, this was farmland then. They parked across Middlebelt and across Schoolcraft."

Changing times and their effect on marketing his product are what's on the DRC president's mind these days. He rattled off the litany.

"Anyway, there were no lotterles. There_were_no_five_sports_teams_ with long seasons, .

"It takes five hours to run 10 races, and people don't want that anymore. See all those wooden stadium seats? They want to be able to bet two races and go home. Biff. Bam. In and out.

girlfriend."

The answer, he believes is offtrack betting, packaged and presented with the expertise the parent Lad-

- Bill Bork

'I'm talking about cushioned chairs," he sald. "I mean first class. Two- or three-million-dollar facilities that seat 500 people. No admission. No parking problems. Mutuel clerks in tuxedos. Look at the Palace; that's what people want."

But he'll settle for intertrack "And they want a nice place wagering, at least for starters, al-where they can take their wife or lowing DRC to send its racing card via TV to other tracks.

"It (ITW legislation) looks good for this year. Let's get the vehicle in place," Bork said, "No one is sure that it's going to work. But every state that has OTB has had ITW first. It's a natural step.

"It appears that the standardbred (harness) people are against it because they don't know what effect it will have. But I helped write the bill so that if it's hurting them, they can

He is confident of ITW's immlnence, and of OTB's inevitability. But he sees yet another, inferior route to help his alling industry, sort of a jack in the hole.

'Traditionally, thoroughbreds have never raced in the winter here. I come from a background in Pennsylvania racing, where we did race in the winter, and we could go yearround. Give me a 40- or 50-degree day in January or February, and I'll do a million and a half at the windows. There's nothing else going on: no lake sailing, no Grand Prix, no Tigers.

"But I don't want to do that at this time. I think the answer is convenience betting. That's off track."

Some health plans are like hospital gowns: They never cover as much as you wish they would.

When it comes to health care, traditional medical insurance leaves a lot to be desired. Because they only cover a portion of your costs. Health Alliance Plan, on the other hand, is much more comprehensive. We offer complete coverage for virtually everything from pediatrics to geriatrics. And this extensive medical coverage is available from over 1,600 physicians at 23 medical centers, 18 hospitals and hundreds of individual doctor's office locations.

To find out how you can become a member, call 872-8100. You'll learn why Health Alliance Plan is such a great way to cover your medical needs. And that's the naked truth.

Other countries in Europe could be interesting over time," Goodwill

. It all added up to fiscal 1987 net profits of $250 million, more than a third of that from racing/betting operations, on revenues of more than $3.75 billion.

So the resources and the expertise to fulfill Ladbroke's U.S. mission are there, even though four years of shopping the United States have produced only one race track, in Livonia, that has not quite improved to marginal and has no off track Asked if Ladbroke was discour-Britain a major ("second in the maraged, Goodwill said: "Words like discouragement don't enter into it. It can be frustrating, but that's the real world, isn't it? We're encouraged by what happened in Pennsylvania."

State, and not Livonia, is where Ladbroke's plan for the United States will start to take some real shape.

What happened there is that the state Legislature approved an OTB program, then sustained it over the governor's veto. Ladbroke is in the final stages of a deal to buy the Meadows harness track near Phila-

Under the new Pennsylvania law, each track in the state will be able to build four OTB establishments in 1989 and two more in 1990. Assuming the Meadows deal is done, Ladbroke can't wait to break ground.

LADBROKE IS also in the final IT APPEARS that the Keystone stages of buying Golden Gate Meadows, a thoroughbred track in California (ITW but no OTB), and is defending itself in an appeal after being awarded a monopoly on Wyoming's first OTB parlors.

The sparsely populated high plains at best will be an outpost in Ladbroke's empire. Wyoming doesn't have a race track, meaning bettors will wager strictly on piped-in races. But even there Ladbroke ran into hazards typical of its American experience.

'We won the sole-license, with a number of criteria used in selection," Goodwill said. "Incredibly, our main U.K. competitor appealed, saying the process wasn't done properly. Even in a situation that seems clearcut there are pitfalls."

THE BIGGEST pitfall at DRC may turn out to be choosing to buy a track in a state and region dominated by harness racing.

While DRC runs the only thoroughbred game in town, harness meets are held at Hazel Park, Northville, Jackson and Sports Creek in Flint. That is just the southeast Michigan competition. Harness meets are held within Ontario's jurisdiction in Windsor and Sarnia.

As Gordon Wright, president of the Michigan Harness Horsemen's Association (MHHA), said, none of the states that have approved ITW or OTB has dominant harness racing interests. MHHA's board has yet to decide whether to support the new ITW bill, oppose it or introduce a version of its own. But Wright estimates that 65 percent of his membership are opposed.

"The great fear," Wright said, "is that live racing will be diminished."

THE THOROUGHBRED industry. meanwhile, fears ultimate diminishment - as in extinction - without innovations such as OTB.

Ladbroke officials were unable to speculate on what kind of increased revenue OTB might mean. But they point to Illinois' success in 1988, when Chicago's new downtown OTB parlor was opened with facilities only half completed.

A popular myth which never seems to die, is that you can make successful investing decisions by putting your money in whatever seems to be popular.

Take a look at Table I, prepared by Raymond James & Associates Inc. In case you are wondering, the 1980-86 ranking is not permanent either; in fact, it is already changing.

Another persistent myth is that mutual funds can be selected by referring to the latest issue of a financial magazine like Money, Business Week, Forbes or Time.

Table II should dispel this myth. The top 20 mutual funds during 6/78 to 6/83 virtually disappeared during the next five year period.

My message to you should now be clear: Do not be distracted by fads, sales talks and unsustainable claims. Seek the advice of a professional and invest for the long-term.

Happy investing in 1989.

Realism, not wishful thinking, determines resolution's worth

Be they set for personal or professional reasons, the key to keeping resolutions boils down to the answer behind one simple question: "Am I being realistic?'

For example, is it realistic to assume that your wildly successful "new" b. siness venture will be equally successful over the next 12

If your answer is yes, then you must have analyzed and identified specifically those factors that have contributed to your past prosperity. If you don't know why you've been mal, will require stronger managerial control over your company's resources-now and in the future. The experts tell us that unmanaged growth quickly can zap company resources (such as labor, capital and raw materials). Keeping this in mind, the newly successful small business owner has much to think nity and can ultimately provide you about and do in maintaining operational growth over the new year.

For those who have thought about starting a business in 1989, resolve to objectively plan for it. There isn't Starting a business represents an exciting opportuwith an entirely new way of life. Don't sell yourself short by ignoring the obvious: Plan your work and work your plan.

Lastly, resolve to benefit by the experience of others. No one can possibly know, do or be it all in any given professional situation or circumstance. Joining the appropriate business groups, attending lectures and seminars and reviewing key publications are just a few of the methods available to help you and in the years to come.

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would-you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

Use this form to write your classified advertisement

and mail to:

before you call...or fill it in

The Observer & Eccentric

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

ture for me. Please. It sounds so innocuous, almost innocent when used to describe a quirk common to mankind.

Like stupidity. People do something stupid, admit it, try to convince others in a similar situation not to make the same mistake, and what happens? The same stupid thing. And it's dismissed as another example of human nature.

Example: Schoolcraft College. Imagine getting your college education paid for. Imagine, too, that if you run all you have to do is mention it and .you'll get instant help.

Now tell me how, in situations identical to these, a kid flunks out? Seems to me you'd have to try awfully hard to fall.

"I don't know if it's as difficult as much as it's frustrating," said Bogataj. "I don't get as mad at the kids as disappointed in them."

UNFORTUNATELY, this year isn't an exception to the norm. Last season, Bogataj's first, he lost Deon Frederick, his second-leading scorer, to academic woes. Two others quit the team. SC was barely able to complete the schedule. Bogataj made due with a bunch of walk-ons who rarely played for their high school teams.

It's difficult to recruit good players. Finding those who are serious about getting an education, then convincing them to come to a community college for two years, multiplies the difficulty.

Then factor in SC's high degree of academics, at least compared to some of its conference rivals, and the task borders on impossible.

To SC's gredit, they try very hard

Late basket carries SC to 48-46 victory

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Sports lesson Number One: Wait till the game's over

As elementary as that may seem, violations occur constantly. Like last night at Schoolcraft College.

The Lady Ocelots were up against Oakland Community College, the defending womens basketball co-champions of the Eastern Conference. SC led by eight with 1:40 left, but OCC - which had fizzled offensively through the second half - was coming to life.

Marla Long cut the deficit to six. Regina Woodard made it four. Then, with 36 seconds left in the game, Long scored again to narrow the gap to two.

SC turnovers had set up the previous two Lady Raider baskets. When Lisa DePlanche blew a wide-open, breakaway layup with 27 seconds to play, it seemed SC was certainly jinxed.

SURE ENOUGH, OCC got the game-tying basket when Bonnie Kittle banked in a short, off-balance jumper. Problem was, there were still 11 seconds left, and Kittle and her teammates were already celebrating Too bad, because Darlene Bazner and Barb Krug ruined their party in those final few moments. Ignoring what seemed an obvious situation for a timeout, Bazner took the inbounds pass, dribbled the length of the court, drove through the lane and dished the ball to Krug. The 6-foot-3 center from Plymouth Canton scooped the ball off the glass and into the net.

Final score: SC 48, OCC 46.

"We don't call timeout after a made basket," explained SC coach Jack Grenan. "If we do, it allows them time to set up their defense.

"If it's a tie game, we know we can't lose. Our best chance is to get it inbounds quickly and push it up the floor. Plus, the way they had been defending on our inbounds passes, a timeout would have just helped

THE FINAL play was about the only thing that went SC's way in the final 90 seconds. Three turnovers and a missed layup down the stretch are hardly the stuff champions are molded from.

But the Lady Ocelots did stick together, dismissing the mistakes almost instantly. Which is one big reason why they are still unbeaten - 16-0 overall, 6-0 in the league — and ranked seventh in the National Junior College Athletic Association.

"There's a four-letter word we never use, and it begins with L," said Grenan. "We always do what we have to do to win.'

SC isn't lacking for leadership. Bazner's worth is plainly evident. She drew her fourth personal foul with 9:25 left and went to the bench. Four SC turnovers and less than three minutes later, she was back in the game, and in a 30-second span she made two steals and scored a basket. "She plays that hard in practice every day," Grenan claimed. Then there's Michelle Dyksinski. "What can I say?" said Grenan of his sophomore forward. "She kept us in

THAT MAY be underestimating Dyksinski's value. She scored 20 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, making six-of-12 from the field and eight-straight free throws. No one else reached double figures in scoring or rebounding for SC. Bazner and Tracy Osborne netted nine points apiece. Bazner also had seven steals (five in the second half) and just one turnover.

"You can see they're sophomores," said Grenan. "They're money players. When the pressure's on, they don't back off.'

The game was hardly of championship caliber. SC made just five-of-26 first-half shots. OCC wasn't much better, the Lady Raiders were one-for-20 to start the game and 10-of-41 in the first half. Eleven offensive rebounds allowed them to take a 23-17 halftime lead.

SC took the lead with 15 minutes left and never relinquished it, thanks to a pressure defense that forced countless turnovers and free-throw shooting. The Lady Ocelots were 11-of-12 from the line; OCC made just five-

The Lady Raiders got 14 points from Colleen Jacobsen, 13 from Woodard and 10 from Long. OCC dipped to 4-2 in the conference.

IT WAS SC'S second-straight win over a top conference contender. At Highland Park CC Saturday, SC held off the Lady Panthers — who shared the title with OCC last year — 71-69.

The Lady Ocelots led by 10 at the half (38-28) and by eight with 1:20 left before a late Highland Park rally. Dyksinski collected 15 points and 10 rebounds, Bazner notched 14 points (hitting four-of-five three-pointers) and DePlanche chipped in with 14 points and nine rebounds. Highland Park slipped to 13-3 overall, 4-1 in the conference with the loss.

Wayne Memorial routed Dearborn Fordson, 56-43, in an important Wolverine A League boys basketball game Tuesday at Wayne.

The outcome left both teams tied in the league at 3-1. Wayne is 6-1 overall, while Fordson fell to 7-2 overall.

Tony Rumple paced the Zebras with 16 points and junior center Kevin Hankerson contributed 12 points and 11 rebounds. Chris Hebner added eight points for Wayne, which hadn't played since Thursday, Dec. 22,

"We weren't real sharp, but the kids played real hard," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said.

Wayne jumped out to a 14-4 lead after one quarter and never looked back.

Malak Harajli and Jeff Barwish were Fordson's only players in double figures with 17 and 10 points, respectively.

BISHOP BORGESS 70, GALLAGHER 41: Redford Bishop Borgess got a bundle of points in the paint and even more from the perimeter Tuesday. as the host Spartans powered by Catholie League Central Division foe Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

Junior guard Shawn Respert scored 20 points and senior center Kareem Carpenter added 18 points and 15 rebounds for Borgess (2-1 in the Central and 4-4

Guard Charles North and forward Randy White added nine points each.

Marc Klatt paced Gallagher (0-3, 4-4) with 10 points. Borgess led 35-24 at halftime and outscored Gallagher 20-12 in the third quarter to take a commanding 55-36 before cruising home.

THURSTON 82, KENNEDY 67: Fernando Merida continued to burn the nets, scoring 24 points Tuesday in Redford Thurston's convincing Tri-River

League win at Taylor Kennedy. D.J. Kellogg and Jason Mullesscored 21 points and 14 points, respectively for the Eagles, who are 5-1 in the Tri-River, 6-2 overall.

Kennedy's Brian White led both teams with 28 points, but it wasn't enough as the fell to 2-4 in the Tri-River, 4-5 overall

JOHN GLENN 71, STEVENSON 70: Greg Anderson led Westland John Glenn with 21 points, and his basket with a minute left gave the host Rockets a 71-65 lead over visiting Livonia Stevenson in a Lakes

Glenn is 2-0 in the Lakes, 4-4 overall. Stevenson fell to 0-2, 4-3 overall.

The Spartans played without 6-foot-6 center Mike Vrogman, out at least eight weeks with a broken foot. Glenn missed two front ends of one-and-one free throws in the closing minutes but Stevenson wasn't able to capitalize. A 3-point shot by Ron Baran and a basket by Scott Kosikowski trimmed Glenn's lead to one, 71-70 in the final minute, but that's bow it ended. Chris Poplin scored 19 points for Glenn before fouling out in the fourth quarter. Casey Killingbeck added 12 points. Rosikowski led Stevenson with 22 points and Bob Sonie added 18. Chris Nazelli was the other Spartan in double figures with 10.

AVONDALE 82, CLARENCEVILLE 54: Kyle Bonesteel led to figures with 28 points. Auburn Hills Avondale led 27-12 after one quarter and cruised to the Metro Conference victory over the visitors from Livonia Clarenceville.

Avondale remained unbeaten in four Metro games, 8-2 overall. The Trojans, meanwhile, fell to 1-1 in the Metro, 2-4 overall.

Jay Larson and Rich Roy led Clarenceville with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Pat Magee and Jelf Kucemba paced the winners with 12 points apiece.

ST. AGATHA 75, CARDINAL MOONEY 50: Mike Boyle led the way for Redford St. Agatha Tuesday, scoring 21 points and hauling down 12 rebounds in the rout at Mount Clemens Cardinal Mooney. Galen Walker added 18 points for Agatha, which improved to 4-1 in the Catholic League C-D Division A-Intersectional. The Aggies are 6-1 overall. Cardinal Mooney is winless in four league games, nine overall REDFORD UNION 82. TEMPLE 79: All five starters scored in double figures Tuesday for host Redford Temple Christian, but it wasn't enough to save the Patriots in the non-conference game.

The win improved RU to 4-3 overall, while Christian fell to 4-7.

Jell Weiss and Brenndan Figurski led Temple with 19 points each Marlon Reed scored 16, followed by Roy Neal with 14 and Maurice Little, who scored 10. RU was led by Joe Delfgauw, who poured in 25 points and John Burdick, who added 24. Steve Nowak chipped in with 11 points.

Burdick scored 12 of his points in the fourth quarter and made nine-of-12 free throws. Delfgauw made four, 3-point shots.

PINCKNEY 92, GARDEN CITY 73: Pinckney made 33-of-48 free throws Tuesday, holding on to drill Garden City in this non-conference game. Pinckney improved to 7-3 overall and Garden City

Kyle Bonesteel led three Pinckney players in double

The Cougars also had three players score in double figures, led by Jason Wynn and Paul Donaldson with 21 apiece. Jim Marszalek added 10 points. Bud Barnett led GC in rebounding with 12 caroms.

GC UNITED 83, NOVI CHRISTIAN 56: Tim Blatter led bost Garden City United with 19 points and teammate Jason Cavin added 17. 5

Chadd Presnell and Steve Selph scored nine points each for United, now 3-0 in the Michigan Association of Christian Schools. United is 73 overall Novi Christian fell to 4-2, 5-2 overall.

Richards picks up slack § in CC win against Rice

By Steve Kowalski staffAyriter

Terry Boykin had the flu Tuesday and wasn't able to play for Redford Catholic Central, so Ray Richards decided to show up.

Coach Bernie Holowicki is glad he Richards scored a season-high 28 points and grabbed eight rebounds, leading host CC to a resounding 63-53 win over Catholic-League rival Birmingham Brother Rice.

The win keeps CC unbeaten in three Central Division games, 4-4 overall. Rice fell to 1-2, 4-4 overall.

Richard's performance was a pleasant surprise for Holowicki, who sometimes wonders where Richards is on the court. He is one of the reasons Holowicki's voice is so hoarse after games.

"THE LAST COUPLE games Ray has been coming to play," Holowicki said. "If he comes to play, we'll be all right.

"Ray played at another level today. A notch higher than usual."

Richards missed only one of his eight shot attempts, and he's never played better than that against Rice.

"I've never seen him play that hard and rebound that well," Carrico said. "He was a major difference in this game. That was the best anyone's played against us this year."

"I told my team, 'Don't relax, because I've seen so many games where one of the better players (like Boykin) wasn't able to play and the rest of the players have the games of their lives. I don't think we relaxed, we just didn't play well." 🍃

Holowicki needed a big-time effort out of Richards with Boykin, CC's leading scorer and point-guard, out of the lineup. Sophomore Steve Whitlow, normally a small forward, also performed admirably, playing in place of Boykin at point guard.

WHITLOW SCORED only six points, but handled Rice's full-court pressure. Jeff Schaner was the only other CC player in double figures. scoring 17 points.

"Terry played sick against (Harper Woods Bishop) Gallagher." Holowicki said, "and he's been in bed since. We gave Whitlow a crash course Sunday and Monday at point guard and for a young sophomore, he did an excellent job.

David Washington led Rice with 22 points, but he made only seven-of-24 shots from the field. In fact, Rice missed all nine of its field goal attempts in the first quarter, and trailed 8-2 before the game was five minutes old.

CC led 13-3 after one quarter and 29-19 at halftime, and its match-up zone defensive frustrated Rice all

"We fell behind 10-0 (actually 8-0) and end up losing by 10 points," Carrico said, philosophically. "We haven't been playing well offensively the last week-and-a-half, and it's tough to come back when your not.

"Teams give David (Washington) a lot of special attention. He's a great player, but when you're constantly double-teamed, it's hard to play the whole game. The other players have to shoot it in and they didn't."

JUNIOR PAUL Arthur did his best to keep Rice close, scoring 11', points and making two 3-point shots. Consecutive 3-point shots by Washington and Arthur trimmed CC's lead to six, 55-49, with 1:33 left, but that's as close as Rice got. Whitlow and Richards then made both ends of one-and-one bonus free throw attempts, pushing the Shamrocks lead to 10, 59-49, with less than a minute left. Richards scored 14 points in the final quarter and the most impressive points came on a dunk with 3:19 left, giving CC a 52-40 lead. Richards must be watching a lot of University of Michigan games.

"Dunks are always nice to get," Richards said. "I was open and he (Matt Putti) hit me. They usually pick up the team."

By Brad Emons staff writer

It was a battle of matador defenses Tuesday, but Roy Hall and Mark Donehue led a band of Livonia Franklin picadors as they gored city rival Churchill, 69-67, in a WLAA Western Division boys basketball battle.

The win increases Franklin's record to 4-3 overall and 1-1 in the division, while Churchill slipped to 3-5 and 1-1. It was a night where defenders on both sides were chanting "Ole," as they waved and stepped aside all oncoming rushes. A LACK OF DEFENSE was no more evident than in the third quarte when the 5-11 Hall, finding himself free for open jumpers, led a 24-18 scoring spurt.

Blazers turn back Mercy

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Farmington Mercy has fashioned itself as a team capable of repeated comebacks early in the 1989 volleyball season.

The Marlins were on the verge of doing it again Monday night, but catching the defending Catholic League and Class A champion was too

Instead, it was Livonia Ladywood that roared from behind in the third game and won the Central Division showdown 15-10, 12-15, 15-8 at Schoolcraft College.

"We've got a tough group," Blazers coach Tom Teeters said. "We've got a lot of talent left over from last year, and some new talent has come

Senior attackers Sarah Adzima and Stacey Girard, holdovers from the championship team, were instrumental in the victory with their hits ting and general front-row play, while junior Peggy Knittel and the sophomore duo of Keli Haeger and Rebecca Willey added their support.

ADZIMA, WHO helped nail down the win with two late kills that put unbeaten Ladywood (2-0) in position for match point, and Girard had a teamhigh 10 kills apiece. Haeger knocked down five attacks and Knittel three.

Early in the year, we're going to (Adzima and Girard) most of the time, but we're going to spread it around eventually," Teeters said. "They hit the most, but scoring-wise our leaders were Willey, Haeger and Knittel."

While the Ladywood serving was sharp, the Marlins had difficulty with serve reception when the game was on the line.

volleyball

There was no doubt in Teeters' mind the Domanski sisters, senior Dana and junior Kari, were largely responsible for the Blazers' success. Dana was on the line for 16 Ladywood points and had seven aces.

"They key to this match was the Domanskis coming through with their serving when we had the right people up front," Teeters said. "Haeger got us started in the third, she got us back in the

THE MARLINS, 1-1 in the division and 9-3 overall, jumped in front 6-0 in the finale behind the serving of sophomore Becky Leddy and hitting of Andrea Velthoven. After Dana Domanski served an ace to break Mercy's momentum, the Blazers rallied to tie during Haeger's turn in the

Except for a brief interruption when Leddy, who played well in place of starter Jennifer Goff, scored back-to-back points, it was all Ladywood after the poor start.

Adzima had a dink and two kills for points down the stretch, and the Blazers won it when a Mercy attacker hit the ball out of bounds. Because their setter had to go deep to take the pass, the Marlins often ended up lobbing the ball over the net just to keep play alive.

"We gave them a lot of free balls when it was 6-0, and Adzima and Girard are excellent hitters," Mercy coach Tim DeBeliso said.

"All they were doing was hitting the ball hard at us. We weren't hitting the ball hard at them and making them work for it. When you let two good hitters take free swings at the ball, you create a lot of problems for yourself."

Ladywood dominated most of the first game, leading 6-0 behind Dana Domanski's serving. The Marlins cut it to 8-6 with a Leddy kill, but the Blazers worked their way to a five-point win, culminating with an Adzima kill.

MERCY REGROUPED, in the second game, bouncing back from a 3-1 deficit to lead 7-2 and

. Velthoven, who had 12 kills in 20 attacks, paced the effort with five service points early and later demonstrated her ability as an attacker. Pam Gryn came off the bench to serve the last two points, including an ace for the game

"(Velthoven) has to be a force for us game in and game out," DeBeliso said. "She has to be if we're going to be a good team"

After playing tentatively in her first starting assignment last Saturday, Leddy impressed De-Beliso with her aggressiveness. She was 10-of-13 as an attacker and had only two errors in 19 serves. Pam Thompson had nine kills out of 11

"We did well hitting," DeBeliso said. "Where we tend to have a lot of errors is in serve reception. (Nikki Burns) does a good job (as the setter). but when you're not passing well it's hard for the setter to get to the ball and run an effective of-

"We're disappointed because we felt if we had played well we could have won tonight. We started out 6-0 and just broke down. But the errors are all correctable."

Clarenceville spikers eye another Metro title

Livonia Clarenceville opened devolleyball championship Thursday with an impressive win at home over Kiddingly, he grabbed one of the three trophies sitting on the winner's 'stand. None of them were his. He peered under the scorer's table, hoping to find a piece of hardware.

THE TWO LAUGHED. Even Buckalew, coach of the eighth-place team, was in a festive mood.

The first-place trophy belonged to Portage Central, which finished with 210% points. Salem earned second place with 170 points, followed by Mount Clemens with 135. Loc Performance sponsored the invitational.

Eight_Observerland teams competed, including North Farmington, which finished a distant seventh place with 83 points, just ahead of Glenn (74).

Defending champion Redford Catholic Central and Eaton Rapids, another powerhouse, weren't there to dominate the competition, so that opened the field. Krueger said CC was invited this year, but by the time the Shamrocks acknowledged the invitation, he already had filled the 17-team field.

"It seems like a happy tournament," Krueger said. "Everyone has a chance, instead of when CC or Eaton Rapids is here. When CC is here their fans are all yelling 'Eat the mat, eat the mat.' Today, everyone in the crowd is happy.

"WHEN IT'S fun, it's not work. Plus, we're not going to be here until the cows come home. I want to thank the parents and the Salem Booster Club for all their help."

Portage Central, no doubt, had the most fun.

Central's winners were T.K. Muraoka (103), John Butler (112) and Scott McCloughan (125).

'I knew we had a shot at it. but I didn't think we'd win like this," Portage Central coach Mike McCloughan said. "We had a good week of practice, and it makes for a fun day. When the ball gets rolling, it inspires everyone, and they seem to wrestle better.

"It's always fun to come here. It's a well-run tournament and Krueger is a good host. He tries to make it. fun. Last year we had a terrible day wrestling wise (fifth place), but we still had fun. It wasn't Krueger's fault we wrestled crummy."

Rob Matigian captured his 100th match of his career Tuesday, but it wasn't enough as Westland John Glenn fell to host Romulus, one of the top prep wrestling teams in the .state, 43-16.

The 140-pounder scored a 7-1 decision and came back for his 101st career win as Glenn pounded Ypsilanti in the second half of the doubleheader, 55-15.

Scott Lefler (103) was the only other Glenn matman to score two wins. He won on counts of 10-3 and Eric Ewing (125) and Cory Buckalew (145) each won one and tied a match.

Other Glenn wrestlers scoring wins included DeJohn Connor (112), Karl Pace (119), Paul Gottlieb (135). Mike McKenney (152), Garnett Woody (171), Dereck Tharp (189) and Joe Williams (heavyweight).

REDFORD CATHOLIC CEN-TRAL finished second, Saturday to host Lansing Sexton in a five-team dual meet tournament.

CC scored victories over Adrian (41-25), Howell (56-15) and Flint Northern (38-27) before losing to the host Big Reds, 37-35.

Heavyweight Lee Krueger had a big day, scoring four consecutive pins to raise his season record to 21-

Matt Helm (130) also won four times, three by pin, to increase his personal mark to 21-1. Other CC wrestlers unbeaten on the day included Jay Helm (140) and Stevenson coach Don Berg said the Salem tourney is a good measuring stick for the season, which already is half over.

"It's a tough field," Berg said. "We come out of this tournament having seen good competition and good wrestlers. "We've compacted the season so much, it's unbelievable.

"By the end of the month, we wrestle the (Western Lakes Activities Association) league meet (Saturday, Jan. 28). Then we have to get ready for state after that. We've got three weeks before we get ready for the finals."

Bernie Carbo gets Clarenceville post

By Brad Emons staff writer

Bernie Carbo, the man who hit two dramatic homers in the memorable 1975 World Series between the Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Red Sox, is the new baseball coach at Livonia Clarenceville.

The 41-year-old Westland native, who is replacing Mike Shearer (now at Milford), is no stranger to the

He was a prep star at Livonia Franklin where he was drafted No. 1 overall out of high school (1965) by the Cincinnati Reds.

In 1970 he was voted National League Rookie of the Year, hitting .310 with the Reds.

Known as a free spirit during his 11-year pro career, which included stops in Boston, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Carbo has been running "We Are Family Hair Stylists" in Wyandotte since he retired in 1980.

During the past eight years, the former outfielder has been a guest instructor at several baseball clinics around the country.

"BERNIE HAD applied at several other places, and he seemed quite serious about trying to develop a program," said Clarenceville- athletic director Leo Kinsella.

Carbo, who was once turned down in his bid to become a minor league hitting instructor, is "glad the AD (Kinsella) and principal (Dave Simowski) gave me the opportunity.

"I want eventually to build up to maybe a college job, and it's a start," said Carbo. "I know I've got to start somewhere, and I appreciate the opportunity to get my feet wet.

"I'm looking forward to it. Hopefully we'll have a good turnout and we'll be successful.'

It's well-documented that Carbo and Sparkey Anderson clashed during their days in Cincinnati. It's ironic that now Carbo will be calling the shots as manager.

Going for gold

Area figure skaters eye trip to nationals

By Marty Budner staff writer

Jason Dungjen and Paula Visingardi are new partners in the world of figure skating.

They successfully completed Phase I of their icy relationship over the weekend by placing first in Senior Pairs competition at the 1989 Midwestern Figure Skating Championships held at the Detroit Skating Club. They will embark on Phase 2 of their quest for gold and glory at the national championships Feb. 6-12 in Baltimore.

The stellar showing at the Midwestern Sectional - one of three sectional competitions held across the country - came as a nice surprise to Dungien and Visingardi.

"It was a goal to place first (at the Sectional), but I didn't really think we'd win it. We've only been skating together for eight months," said Dungjen, a 1985 Troy Athens High School gradu-Dungjen, who's been skating for seven years. recently returned from a two-year hiatus from the sport. His comeback couldn't have come at a more opportune time.

DUNGJEN AND Visingardi, coached by former Olympian Johnny Johns, were second after their two-minute, 40-second short program. They performed a fine free skate to win that competition and take first overall by one-tenth of a point over Elaine Asanakis (University of Deleware FSC) and Joel McKeever (Dallas FSC).

"I was tired and needed a break (from skating). I feel much better now, and I was really glad I took that time off," said Dungjen. "I think we have a lot of work to do as a team, but we're getting there. We have to get to know each other a little more. But I was very happy we were able to finish first."

Dungjen, 21, said he'd like to one day-win a national championship and qualify for the Olympics. The top two placers at this year's national championships qualify for the U.S. team, which will represent the country at the world championships later this winter.

With the retirement of many of the Olympic figure skaters after the 1988 games in Calgary, Dungjen figures now is a golden opportunity to make something happen within the next couple

"This is a perfect year to return because the doors are wide open," he said. "But that's not the real reason why I got back into skating. I came back because I just wanted to give it one more

Dan Hollander of Huntington Woods (Detroit Skating Club) placed seventh in Junior Men's competition. His best showing was third in the optional program. John Wright of the Garden City Skating Club placed last in Junior Men.

Angela Denèweth of Westland (Detroit Skating Club) was last in Junior Ladies competition. Birmingham's Jill Attenson (Detroit Skating Club) and partner Richard Peal (Skokie Valley SC) placed seventh (eight competitors) in Junior Dance competition.

North Farmington graduate Jennifer Bayer (Detroit Skating Club) and partner Sean Gales had a nasty spill in their long program. Bayer fell to the ice and was taken to the hospital. She reportedly had been released and was in good condition by Tuesday.

The four-day Midwestern Sectional included more than 300 participants representing 60 clubs from 22 states across the country. It is the largest of the United States Figure Skating Association's three Sectional tournaments.

GOP school aid plan would divert more state spending

(AP) - Just weeks after the Michigan Legislature killed a school finance plan, Senate Republican leaders have drafted a new proposal. 'They say it will boost state financing of public schools by more than $500 million a year.

But it, too, faces a long road. Organizers must gather enough petition signatures and win either acceptance by the Legislature or approval by state voters.

The proposal doesn't call for a tax increase, but would set aside a larger share of the state budget for schools, according to Sen. Dan De-Grow, R-Port Huron.

"This is a concept we've argued. keen on this," he said. for from day one," DeGrow said. "This is re-establishing priorities."

He said backers will discuss the idea with education, business and other groups and decide near the end of January whether to launch a petition drive to place it on the ballot.

THE PROPOSAL is aimed at reducing the gap between rich and poor school districts in Michigan. Currently, the poorest districts spend less than $2,500 per pupil a year. The richer ones - such as Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Southfield, Farmington and Livonia per year.

Senate GOP leaders said they would draft such a proposal after the Legislature failed last month to approve legislation to cut property taxes for homeowners and businesses, raise the sales tax to 5 percent from 4 percent, and dedicate 10.7 percent of the budget for education.

DeGrow said many school officials are supporting the new idea, but he acknowledged that it's expected to draw opposition from many lawmakers who want to protect other areas of the budget.

"House Democrats are not real

THE PROPOSAL, he said, calls for earmarking 11 percent of the state budget for education in 1991. Each year for five years, it would be raised by 1 percent year to a total of 15 percent. Now, 7.4 percent of the budget goes for schools.

The budget for the current fiscal year calls for spending $6.7 billion from the general fund, the state's main checking account.

Three percent of the budget would be set aside for community colleges. and the state would guarantee at

- allocate $5,000 to $7,000 per pupil least $3,000 per year for each school pupil, DeGrow said.

He said the program would be funded by growth in the state budget, as long as spending for other programs is frozen. But he said an extra $230 million would be needed in the first year of the plan.

If lawmakers decide to go ahead, they would start circulating petitions in April, DeGrow said.

They would have to collect 191,726 valid signatures within six months to force a special election, although the Legislature would have an opportunity to pass the law itself before the election is held.

Also backing the new plan is Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant.

BUT THE CHAIRMAN of the Senate Appropriations Committee is cool to the idea.

The Booth-Newspapers reported that Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, said the budgets of at least four state departments would have to be wiped out to meet the proposed school spending increases.

"I'm not happy about it," Gastsaid. "I think they should define where these dollars are going to

Fresh, new look Couple take to contemporary with no regrets

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

When a well-known area builder and his wife moved from a family home with an eclectic decor to a roomy, gracious condo, they decided they wanted a contemporary environment.

Birmingham-based interior de- from it. signer Ed Born was ready with lots of ideas, starting with the blueprints of the proposed construction. Although plans called for a cathedral ceiling, he advised a high flat one. "It's better with a contemporary look, especially with art," he

Half of the double guest closet in the foyer became an attractive bar area at the entrance to the great room. One of the more difficult designs to pull off, which was worth the effort, was the half columns with a depressed ring of red meon about two thirds up that flank of the great room window wall.

Born builds a sense of drama, but never lets it get out of hand. He also recommended that some of the doorways off the foyer be widened and angled.

HE WAS surprised when his client said she wanted a dining table to seat 16, but he obliged with a Saporitti glass top table on concrete and stainless steel triangles and black leather and chrome chairs.

The furniture in the seating area of the great room is taupe with a cluster of throw pillows in a textured aqua. The handsome coffee table, which Born designed for Brueton years ago, is glass mirror with steel with a black finish. With limed oak bare floors and neutral

The figure brings a human and humorous quality to the otherwise cerebral art collection - a strong change of pace from the lovely, muted color painting at the other end of the room by Harold Linton, professor at Lawrence Technological University and talented artist.

While Born said his clients chose the paintings independently (and well), he provided an elegant atmosphere for them. Neither he nor his clients wanted obvious window coverings, but they did decide to install semi-transparent privacy blinds to use at night. When not in use, they form little more than an architectural line over the win-

In addition to the bar and coffee table, Born designed the stainless steel wall server in the dining area, the black lacquer finish server with the black granite top, a large stainless steel and ash entertainment center in the den, and structural accessories such as a stairway bannister and rail.

Born's client described her great room as "very liveable." Would she want to go back to the former eclectic environment? No way.

Remainder' tables profit all but authors

HE HOLIDAYS are over and, as usual, what little money is left after the spending orgy has to be carefully allotted. For me, that should mean stay out of the bookstores. Well, we know that's not soing to happen, so all I can say is thank Herá for the remainder tables. Remainder tables are where the but-of-date and undersold books set-He, and almost every bookstore has one or more. Out of respect for the suthors of those books, I used to shun those tables. Because warehousing is tight and stockpiling books is so -inprofifable for publishers these days, they've taken to "remaindering" the books that haven't sold. that is, they recoup some of their lesses by selling them for practically nothing to distributors who in turn pookstores.

Everybody's happy except guess who? The author. There are no yaities on remaindered dooks, though sometimes the author is given the opportunity to buy up his or her own books. The unit price is low, but the quantities aren't. A thousand on remainder tables.

THOUGH I STILL think it's appalling that authors don't profit from their own remaindered books, I've -changed my tune when it comes to buying them. I search out those books first now — mainly because I save a lot of money (I often buy the hardcover edition for less than the paperback still on the bookstore shelves. Sometimes I buy the hardsell them for next to nothing to the cover to replace the paperback on my own shelves.) But, more important, I've become acquainted with writers I might never have known So that I could read about stultifying about before.

One example: At a Waldenbooks I bought a small book called "Letters from the Country" by Carol Bly for 99 cents. The cover looked intriguing books stacked in a garage can be a __ a small, gray barn, two horses, a formidable display, which is why you stark winter landscape. On the back see so many really wonderful books cover Publishers Weekly called it

"An absolute gem of modern rural Americana." Noel Perrin, in a New York Times Book Review, called it "a very readable mixture of sociology, secular sermons and good stories." The jacket copy said, "For 25 years Carol Bly has lived in Madison, Minn. (pop. 2,242), a town possessed of clean air, beautiful lakes, a Kiwanis chapter — and a stultifying aura of blandness, isolation and lone--liness." Well, I can't say I would have bought it at the $5.95 list price, but for a buck - .

I bought it for the "Aha!" factor. small towns, much like those I'd spent some good amount of time in, and say "Aha! See? She sees them that way too." But Carol Bly's essays were tough and funny and thoroughly wonderful - and I began to wonder: Who is Carol Bly and why haven't I ever heard of her?

SO LAST SPRING when I was at across the mall to another book store Ragdale, the artist's colony, I questioned some of the residents from the Midwest. To my surprise, several of them told me they had traveled long miles to hear her speak, had fans themselves.

Then, in a Milwaukee bookstore, Carol Bly's latest book, "Backbone," a collection of short stories, jumped at me and this time I paid the full price, $6.95 (a Milkweed Editions large paperback) and would have gladly paid two or three times that amount. And now that I've read "Backbone," I'd montgage my house to buy her next book. All because of an obscure book I happened to find on the bargain table.

Some books appear on the remainder tables and it's all you can do to keep from cheering. (Examples: books by any or all of the Watergatefigures, a book on Jim and Tammy future bet to cheer about already: mystery.

Just the other day I found two recent hardcover books in perfect contaken classes with her, had become dition but marked down at a discount store. One of them was "Oscar and Lucinda" by Peter Carey, an Australian novel that has appeared on almost every critic's "Best of 1988" list. It's selling for $18.95 all over town. I paid $4 for it. The other book I bought was Reynolds Price's "Good Hearts." At $3 for the $18.95 Pointer Kathryn Falk. hardcover, I paid less than I would have for the paperback — which was already on'my list of books to buy.

The animais are solid basswood and Shellhaas said she was delighted to discover than many full-size animals done by the great carvers were also done in basswood.

Shellhaas sald Mark Twain bought the (Lincoln) bed which she has in the miniature show in Italy for the Mark Twain home in Connecticut, which he later lost.

"His daughters used to put on plays using the finials on the bed for characters. Mine are removable too," Shellhaas said. "The cherubs I carved were 9 inches tall."

In her research she learned that Twain bought a lot of the furniture for that home in New England in Italy and that he liked the headboard of the bed so much that he put his pillow at the foot of the bed so he could look at the headboard.

Shellhaas, mother, wife and in-demand minjature maker and teacher, said she is working on a degree in graphic arts with a possible minor in sculpture. When she was a teenager, she wanted to become an architect. But while she worked for six years in the production department of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, she said the X-acto knife became an extension of herself and she knew she would always want to be doing something with her hands.

Miniature making became an ideal outlet for her skills and her creative spirit. The carousel may be one of her most challenging projects yet, but she and her students are determined to see it through.

lage. The weaver is shown working of Plymouth. Even these profession in his studio and along the wall are many of his completed coverlets. This is a remarkable scene.

In another display of miniature textiles are several pettipoint rugs and a flame stitched upholstered wing chair by Sister Pauline Boyd of Saginaw, 1,600 stitches to the inch.

Marjorie Adams of Washington Courthouse, Ohio specializes in miniature paintings. Whether the collector wants Gainsborough's Blue Boy or 18th century Chinese woodblock prints by Hiroshige or Harunobu, Adams can deliver. She also did minlature wedding portraits of Goad's daughter and two sons and their spouses on commission.

Still, it's hard to top the workmanship and creativity of Judy Shellhaas als gasped as they unpacked Shellhaas's carousel animals and Mark Twain (labeled Lincoln bed In the exhibit) just prior to opening days The bed is so named because because when Twain used it in Italy, he reportedly slept with his head at the foot of the bed, so he could look at the beautiful headboard. Shellhouse also made the miniatures of the original ental furniture, "The Adams's Coly lection" which Goad's grandparents brought from the Orient.

"Masterpleces in Miniature," doba in cooperation with Birmingham? Bloomfield Art Association, is open; free of charge, from 9:30 a.m. to 4.30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 1516 S. Cranbrook, Birmingham.

SISSON GALLERY

"To Draw" is the theme of the visual art stateme its to be exhibited in the Sisson Gallery at Henry Ford Community College, featuring work by artists John Hegarty, Jim Nawara and Peter Williams. The show will close Jan. 13. .

Hegarty treats the figure as a metaphor for man's confrontation with himself. The figures are nude, which strips them of their source of camouflage. Hegarty chooses to present the figures straight on and almost life-

Nawara explores the nuances of the landscape, which seem to hold the mystery of nature for him. The landscape is sometimes viewed from above and sometimes straight on.

Williams, through the flight of his imagination, conveys in robust drawings a dialogue about his experiences as a black, as an artist and as a person in the urban environment of Detroit and his responsibilities to this environment.

All three teach at Wayne State

The gallery is on the campus of Henry Ford Community College, 5101 Evergreen. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily with additional. hours 6-8 p.m. Tuesdays.

Showing collection of hand weavings

Mike Farrell, textile designer for Textillery of Bloomington, Ind., will present a collection of handwoven throws at three Jacobson's stores next week: at the Birmingham store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday; in the Dearborn store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday; and in the Livonia store from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday.

Textillery is owned by John and Judith Rose, who began the company 14 years ago. "We were definitely a couple of hippies," she said. She creates the designs and weaves the first sample of the throws and he is responsible for the marketing. Even though a computer translates her first. designs into complex patterns for the loom, the artisans have no interest in power looms.

"I don't think we'll ever become industrial," she said. "This way, we can adapt quickly and everything is pretty much made to order:"

-Their designs combine silk, wool, cotton, rayon, mohair and ribbon. Pattern colors range from soft pastels to rich jewel tones.

Story League to meet .

The Detroit Story League will hold a meeting from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 21, at Christ Episcopal Church-Detroit, 960 East Jefferson, Detroit.

The storytellers will be: Linda Day, Livonia; Michael Deller, Dearborn; Jean Jambas, Farmington Hills; Mildred Stennis, Detroit; and Jean Gordon, Northville.

A workshop, "How Stories Can Teach Without Preaching," will be given by Caite Allam of Redford.

Bring a bag lunch. Coffee and desserts will be

NEW lavishly large 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace ranch dwellings of unsurpassed size that are utterly extraordinary - up to 2,800 square feet and every amenity: private entries, attached garages; fireplaces, cathedral ceilings, designer kitchens with separate breakfast areas, master bedroom suites with dressing area, double vanities, double closets and walk in closets too, mresidence-laundry and storage, full empering, central-air conditionings

Truly resort-like recreational facilities include: oversized pool in a spectacular wooded setting, a manor-home like clubhouse — ideal for private parties - tennis courts and, of course, a 24-hour manned gatehouse with package reception services. There is even a private lending library. All on over 130 incomparable private acres for estate-design and breathtaking setting, YOU MUST SEE the 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace homes of ALDINGBROOKE. Travel Maple Road to Drake Road; turn north and drive through the woods, to the summit of the hill, and enter ALDINGBROOKE

Unquestionably the standard for beauty and luxury. For their size.

Note: Limited number of short term executive rentals available. I and 2 year leases being offered.

Mon.-Frl. 10-6; Saturday 9-5; Sunday 12-5. Rental Residences From *650-*1500

You Can Get Into Muirwood FOR '540 A MONTH

But Only Through The 24-Hour Manned Gatehouse.

The peace of mind of a round-the-clock manned gatehouse and electronic door entries are only part of Muirwood's abundance.

There's so much light, so many windows, so much room. Windows and eating space in most kitchens. A private balcony or patio. Beautiful window treatments. Lots of storage, huge closets. Covered attached parking.-

Then, there's the incredibly large pool with spa. The lighted tennis and volleyball courts. Spectacular Clubhouse with party facilities and a lending library. A private 12-acre nature trail. A pond and rolling hills.
