Mayor: Hire 6 dispatchers

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer -

Plans to beef up the police and fire departments highlight the budget proposed by Mayor Charles Griffin this week.

Griffin said Monday he would like to hire six new police and fire

"That will allow us to move other officers who have been handling dispatch duties out on the street, where they can do what they were meant to do," the mayor said.

Griffin said the additional police and fire personnel, coupled with this spring's implementation of Enhanced 9-1-1 emergency telephone service and the planned computerization of both departments, will make the city "state of the art when it comes to public safety."

The mayor said it would take about six months to hire and train new dispatchers.

Public safety is the only area of the budget targeted for increased - + A $270,000 difference in expendipersonnel. There are no layoffs in the proposed budget.

THE WESTLAND City Council has until the first meeting in June to make changes and adopt a budget. A public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for Monday, May 15, during the regular council meeting.

"In the (nearly) four years that I've been mayor, public safety has been a primary concern," Griffin said. "But until now the budgets have been really tight."

The proposed budget for fiscal 1990 (July 1, 1989-June 30, 1990) calls for general fund expenditures. of $24.5 million, 3.3 percent higher than the 23.7 million budgeted for the fiscal year ending June 30.

tures and estimated revenues will be made up with unspent money from the current general fund budget, Griffin said.

With the Headlee limitations, Griffin is proposing a city property tax rate of between 7.31 and 7.51 mills (between $7.31 and $7.51 per $1,000 in state equalized evaluation. The rate would be decreased from the current 8.81 mills.

The program, originally announced by Griffin during his State of the City address before the Westland Chamber of Commerce in January, will cost only $15,140, the mayor said.

"I think it will provide residents more in terms of the quality of life they have available to them in Westland," Griffin said.

Golden arches cause debate

By Leonard Poger editor

McDonald's is in the middle of a fight between history buffs who want to retain the familiar doublearches and Westland city officials who want a more modern and smaller sign.

The old fashioned sign will be retained, at least for now, until the Westland Zoning Board of Appeals decides the issue. The board's next meeting is Wednesday, April 19.

The battle is being fought on the Garden City-Westland boundary on the south side of Ford at Radcliff, where McDonald's is preparing to open a new restaurant Friday morn-will replace a 20-year-old McDonald's that was demolished earlier this week. The zoning board of appeals will eventually decide whether the old sign stays or is torn down to comply... with city regulations.

The company was directed to comply with the new Westland sign ordinance because the soon-to-open building is a new structure, said George Wilhelmi, Westland planning director.

The zoning board, which decides requests for ordinance variances, in January defiled McDonald's request to retain the old sign.

THE COMPANY came back with a request to build a new, downsized sign to meet the city regulations, but wanted the zoning board to approve a variance and allow McDonald's to locate the sign closer to the road than allowed by the ordinance.

At that point, the Westland Historical Commission joined the dispute, Wilhelmi said, and asked that the double-arches sign be retained until the commission finds a new location for it, sald Wilhelmi.

The commission said that the sign is one of the few like it left in the country, the director said.

A company representative said the Ford Road restaurant was the "second generation" of McDonald's

Westland not likely to be site for new county jail

By Tedd Schneider staff writer.

Mayor Charles Griffin was happy Monday with the news that Westland is out of the running as a primary site for the new county jail.

Griffin said the city will press forward with Eloise, the former county hospital site at Michigan Avenue and Merriman that was one of five possible locations for the jail.

"We're really going to be able to get going on that now," Griffin said. "It seemed like any progress we had made was stalled while we were waiting for a decision." Griffin said he talked with a representative from McNamara's office last week who assured him that a Westland site was at best a remote possibility.

A FEASIBILITY study for future development of the site and other areas surrounding Detroit Metropolitan Airport is under way.

commercial/industrial development plans for \, The 840-bed, medium-security prison is to be built with miliage money approved last year by county voters. A decision on where the jail will be built is expected late this week.

Highland Park and Hamtramck, both actively courting the jail for financial reasons, are the apparent front-runners, Michael Dug-gan, an official from the office of Wayne Coun-ty Executive Edward McNamara, said Thursday. The Eloise site and two potential Romulus locations are considered backups,

THE SOUTHERN portion of the 300-acre, county-owned land could be used to attract a major industrial development such as an automotive plant, an industrial park of mediumsized firms or both, Griffin said.

The area surrounding Westland Medical Center could attract similar developments and the north side of the site would be a good location for high-rise or other residential development, the mayor suggested.

"With the scheduled road improvements (Merriman will be widened to five lanes) and the fact that utilities are already in place, you're talking about a large, viable piece of: property," Griffin said.

A LOBBYING effort against locating the jail in Westland "made all the difference in the world," the mayor said.

City officials were joined in the campaign by state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, and

"It we had said in the beginning that we; weren't all that opposed to the idea, I think it would have been easy for the county to come in and designate that site right away," Griffin

"By forcing the county to look elsewhere, we helped them find other cities who want the project," Griffin said.

One supervisor would be hired on a part-time basis and two play leaders would run activities in each park.

"We're at the point (financially) where we can talk about adding programs like this instead of eliminating them, and I think that's good news," Griffin said.

In the meantime, McDonald's and construction contractors are working hard to complete the building for the planned Thursday evening prevlew and Friday morning public

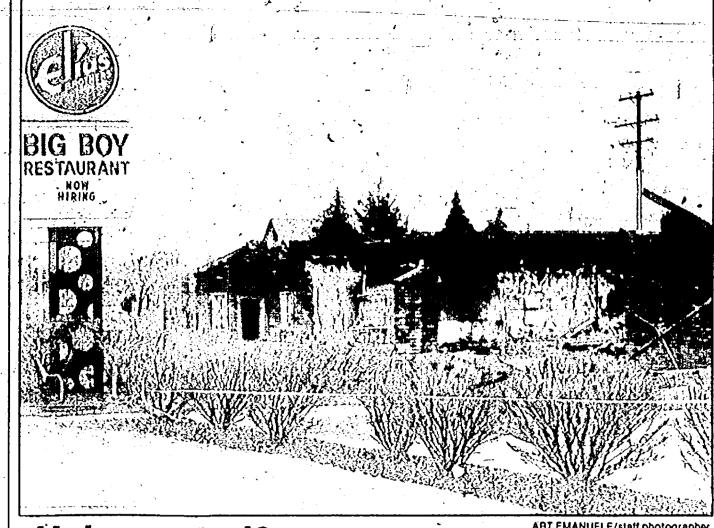

The new building, located directly behind the ruins of the razed structure, will have 92 seats, or triple the capacity of the original building. Miller said.

When complete, the new McDonald's will have a space theme, Miller admitted that he would pre- with posters of science fiction movies on the wall and modern tables, chairs and counters. .

There will also be space murals on the ceiling and walls. The only other McDonald's of that style is in Denver: Miller said.

The supervisor added that the space theme was planned for the Ford Road site because of the restaurant's close proximity to John Glenn High School, named after the first American astronaut to circle the earth.

The Garden City Junior High School band will play at the 9 a.m. Friday morning with the Garden City High School Air Force Jr. ROTC squad to preside over the flag raising ceremony.

Well, it's going to be months anyway before new employees get a chance to mingle with customers at the Elias Brothers Big Boy restaurant, Wayne Road at Hunter. ### Young athletes go for team challenge

Spring training isn't the sole province of the Tigers.

Other athletes go through spring training too. Even young, disabled athletes.

Just ask the members of the Tri-City - Seals Physically - Challenged Sports Team.

Seventeen teammates from Westland, Garden City and other communities went all out Saturday in preparation for the 1989 Michigan Spring Sports Fest to be held May 19:21 at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

The Sports Fest for physically, disabled athletes is similar to the annual Special Olympics, which is designed for mentally disabled.

people____ Saturday's mini-meet at the Bailey Recreation Center was a first for the Seals, according to Marybeth Jones, recreation supervisor and team coordinator.

"It was a warm-up for the kind of competition they're going to be faced - with next month," Jones said. "We wanted them to get used to competing with others, making sure they follow the rules, that kind of thing."

MOST PARTICIPANTS were in the junior division and the trip to Mt. Pleasant will be their first experience in "serious competition," Jones sald.

Ribbons were given to first-, second- and third-place finishers in such events as 20-meter sprints, wheelchair slalom track, soft discus, and two beanbag throws (distance, accuracy). Participation awards were also given, Jones sald.

Ribbon winners in various events included Jason May, -Beth Weinman, John Seip, Joel Crews, Michael Belanger, Michael Hudy, Betsy VanCamp and Aaron Welty.

Also, Andrew Menominee, Kyle. Brodbeck, Jamie Zylka, Jeffrey May, Tammy Groth, Andy Siwarski, Ronnie Caldwell, Eric Miller, Todd Pasant, Renee Williams and Jeff Ferguson.

Three organizations cosponsored the mini meet. The Westland supervisory employees union provided backpacks, Almatta Grotto of Dearborn donated uniforms and the Westland Civitans provided a canopy tent for the competition.

Program honoring senior citizens enters 2nd year

For some senior citizens, retirement is only the beginning of a busy, active life. Many start a second career as a volunteer for hospitals, nursing homes, seniors and community service programs.

To honor local retirees for community service, County Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, is sponsoring her second annual "Outstanding Senior Citizens" award.

The program honors one senior each in Garden City, Westland and Inkster for outstanding or exceptional service to the community.

Beard announced that applications for the program are now available from her office and local senior citizens' centers.

"I have met senior citizens in my sented in early June. district who have not only contributed. / Nomination forms have been sent ed to society in their earlier years but are still active with various volunteer and community programs," Beard said. "Far too often they are not recognized-for their tireless, often behind-the-scenes, services."

Beard also said the program is not only to honor the three outstanding seniors, but also to recognize the importance of their contributions.

BEARD'S selection committee includes Elissa Breen, Garden City seniors coordinator, Vera Bancroft, Garden City's 1988 award winner and Charles Brown, of the Westland Commission on Aging.

The committee will select the to city officials, senior citizens clubs, service agencies, hospitals and schools in her district. Forms can also be obtained by calling Beard's office at 224-0902. Deadline for nominations is May 8.

Nominees must be a local resident for at least one year and be 55 or older. Nominees can be retirees or employed. Not eligible are elected officials who are in office the year they're being nominated.

The person being nominated should have displayed outstanding or exemplary service at a local volunteer agency, social service organization, school, church, hospital, nursing home or other agency. The service winners with the awards to be pre- rendered can be ongoing or a onetime situation — like assisting someone in an emergency.

Westland Civitan Club to mark Awareness Week

The Westland Civitan Club will observe "Civitan Awareness Week" next week to mark the 69th anniversary, of the international organiza-

Gerry Falkner, Westland club president, said the week is a time for Civitan members to reflect on the history of the organization, focus on membership recruitment and make the community aware of Civitan's purpose and programs.

In efforts to promote Civitan in he community, the local club will be posting signs in local businesses and passing out mints, said Falkner.

The club's purpose is to provide programs for personal and professional development while encouraging service to the worldwide community, he said.

Civitan has traditionally helped the mentally and physically handicapped, including major aponsorship of the Special Olympics, Falkner added. However, each club decides which service projects it will participate in and which groups and individuals it will assist internationally and locally.

Westland Civitans have helped with Westland's Easter egg hunt, Wayne County's marshmallow drop, food baskets, camperships for handicapped and deserving klds, senior citizen projects, Special Olympics and sixth grade essay contest.

OTHER projects are a youth seminar for high school students, scholarship help for students attending Blue Lake and Interlochen music camps, in addition to financial support for the Tri-City Scals Sports Team, part of the Westland therapeutic recreation program.

Other projects getting club support are the bike contest and parade, 5K Run and other events held during the Westland Summer Festival, group and nursing homes activities, beeper ball blind baseball, Easter Seals, Children's Miracle Network telethons, among others.

Civitan International was founded -April 15, 1920, in Birmingham, Ala. when a small group of businessmen began meeting weekly and discussing how they could improve their community, Falkner said.

Civitan has grown to nearly 60,000 members in 1,800 clubs throughout North America, Europe and Asia.

In 1974, Civitan became the first previously all-male service organization to welcome women. Today, women comprise more than 30 percent of Civitan's membership and serve at all levels of the organization, including the international board of directors.

People interested in the club may contact Doris Elmendorf at 722-5504, Marie Johnson at 595-6039 or Marlene Dean at 728-7405.

Nankin Mills will play a prominent role in Rouge Rescue '89, the fourth annual volunteer river cleanup.

Special attention will be paid to he stretch of the Rouge River runhing between the Westland recreation area and Warren Valley Golf Course in Dearborn Heights.

"What the county parks people would like to do is to have canoeing there next summer," Friends of the Rouge Director William Jakeway said. "So, we're going to put a special effort into getting rid of log jams and debris.'

Friends of the Rouge, a volunteer agency dedicated to cleaning the heavily polluted river, has scheduled the cleanup for Saturday, June 4.

Though previous efforts were morning-only, Jakeway said this year's plans call for volunteers to work until the early afternoon.

"In the past, things tended to wind down around noon," he said. "This year, we'd like to see the sites worked until 1 or 2 p.m. We may even see some Sunday work, depending upon the site coordina-

At the cleanups, municipal public works departments clear log jams from the river, while volunteers remove branches and other debris from the river bank.

Volunteers like Karen Swift of Plymouth helped bolster the ranks of the Friends of the Rouge during last year's cleanup. The fourth annual river cleanup is scheduled for Saturday, June 4, and William Jakeway, director of Friends of the Rouge, hopes that volunteers will once again head for the river banks in what is expected to be a daylong cleanup.

Rouge is also seeking new sites in Wayne and Oakland counties.

Some 2,500 volunteers participated in last year's event and a similar number is sought this year.

School districts throughout Wayne County seek to enroll students in special education programs this month as part of a nationwide program.

Project Find, the nationwide program, identifies learning impaired children under age five and helps them find appropriate preschool programs.

Parents in western Wayne County are encouraged to call their local district's special education director. Local directors include:

• Clarencville — Cheryl Leach, 473-8910.

• Garden City — Jack Houser, 425-5660. • Livonia - Robert Dietiker, 523-8800.

• Plymouth-Canton — Patrick O'Donnell, 451-6590.

 Redford Union → C. Gus Kaselemis, 592-3427. • South Redford - John Baluci, 535-4000:

• Wayne-Westland - Mary Anne Garzon, 595-2066. Special education directors are interested in identifying children with difficulty walking, talking, hearing or speaking or with physical, emotional or mental conditions. Parents who aren't sure of the district in which they live can call Elizabeth Lockwood at the Wayne County Intermediate Schools, 467-1363.

Upon receiving a call from parents, local districts will an evaluation program to determine the extent of the child's disability.

Parents are given a series of brochures describing the kind of communication and motor skills their child should display at each age, as well as their rights as parents of learning disabled children.

Parents in western Wayne County are encouraged to call their local district's special education director.

Testing is free. Education programs for learning impaired Michigan children are also free under state law. Referrals are also made through area hospitals, including Children's and Henry Ford hospitals.

Seventy-eight children have been identified and match with appropriate programs thus far this year, according to county statistics.

Each district operates its own special education programs, though more than 6,000 children with severe disabilities attend regional programs.

Wayne County recently boosted its regional special education programs through a voter-approved, one-mill county tax. Similar programs are conducted for youngsters in each of Michigan's 83 countles.

The Rouge River Remedial-Action Plan (RAP) is a comprehensive, nine-volume document that presents health. The RAP includes:

Untreated sewage, storm water and toxic pollutants entering the Rouge River pose a threat to public health and result in frequent and severe violations of the state water quality standards throughout the basin. The Rouge is 30 polluted that it further degrades the water of the Great Lakes.

The serious pollution problems in the Rouge River have been recognized for many years, yet the problems persist. The Remedial Action Plan provides a comprehensive approach for dealing with pollution in the Rouge basin. Not only have the problems been identified, but polluilon abatement strategies have been ieveloped for each pollution source combined sewer overflows, nonpoint pollution and others). Under Public Act 470, odometer tampering is upgraded from a misdemeanor to a felony. This change increases the likelihood that prosecutors will be willing to bring charges against individuals accused of odometer tampering.

"Over the past several years, we have enjoyed tremendous success in detecting and acting against odometer tampering and misrepresentation," said Austin. "This new law provides another enforcement tool which will allow the Department of State's Bureau of Automotive Regulation, the Attorney General, county prosecutors and other authorities do a better job of eliminating odometer

In addition to making odometer fraud a felony, the new law requires persons selling a used vehicle to a dealer or another individual to write in the vehicle's mileage, as shown on the odometer, when completing the mileage statement on the back of the vehicle's little. Failure by the seller to fill in the mileage statement on the title could make them subject to a misdemeanor charge.

Finally, as of April 1, automobile dealers must show the purchaser a used vehicle's title and any title reassignment documents belonging to the vehicle, marking the first time that buyers will have easy access to a vehicle's title history before they purchase it. Currently, dealers are only required to give mileage disclosure statements on separate forms.

Department of State officials are emphasizing that Secretary of State branch office personnel will not accept applications for new titles if the existing title does not include the seller's mileage reading. Also, beginning April 1 the Secretary of State will print the mileage reading on the front of all new titles issued for cars over 10 years old.

Individuals are encouraged to use the new disclosure requirements when selecting a used vehicle. Consumers should note the prior ownership, particularly if the vehicle was formerly owned by a rental or lease company, and not whether there is evidence of erasures or alterations of information on the title.

Finally, if the title is issued in the name of the selling dealer, consumers should ask why it was necessary to convert the previous title into the dealership's name.

Dealers and vehicle owners with questions regarding the new law are encouraged to contact the Department of State's Bureau of Automotive Regulation at 357-5108.

Response mixed to jail mediation bid

By Wayne Peal staff writer

An attempt by the Wayne County Commission to forge a settlement in the county's long-running jail control battle has received support from only one of thosparties at the dispute's core.

McNamara.

McNamara, however, believes the commission's action is an attempt to révive a mediation plan that was rejected when first proposed several months ago.

Ficano has appealed a Feb. 16 ruling giving McNamara full administrative power over the fail. The issue is currently before the Michigan Court of Appeals. Though the court has been ordered to hear Ficano's appeal by mid-May, a ruling could come later.

THIS COULD run through June or beyond," Ficano said. "I'm amenable to sitting down with anybody to try to find a settlement."

. County commissioners David Cavanaugh, D-Grosse, Pointe, and Jackie Currie, D-Detroit, the proposal's chief sponsors, said a settlement could save the county thousands of dollars in legal fees.

"Too much energy is being wasted and too many dollars are being spent in prolonging this controversy," Cavanaugh said.

UNDER THE commission proposal, McNamara and Ficano would jointly appoint a jail administrator while the county auditor general would establish a timetable for correcting jail problems.

Cavanaugh and Currle announced their proposal Monday. The full commission is expected to discuss the matter Tuesday, April Currie, head of the commission's public safety and judiciary committee, satd the proposal would force all county officials to work together toward a jail settlement.

Deputy county executive Michael Duggan, who has represented McNamara in court, said the commission's earlier attempt to mediate a settlement was rejected because it didn't solve the fall issue's primary problem.

"This was rejected four months ago," Duggan said. "At the time, we felt the problem was that there was no one single entity responsible for the jail. This is an old proposal, I'm kind of surprised we're still talking about it."

CHIEF WAYNE County Circuit

Judge Richard Kaufman named McNamara jail receiver. In the Feb. 16 ruling taking the jail from Ficano, the judge ruled the sheriff wasn't doing enough to improve jail conditions under terms of a 1971 inmate lawsuit.

The appeals court initially rejected Ficano's 'motion to block McNamara's appointment. In subsequent action, Michigan Supreme Court justices set aside the appointment and ordered the appeals court to rule on Ficano's appeal within 60 days:

Jail control has temporarily reverted to Ficano pending the appeals court's ruling.

The issue stems from a 1971 lawsuit. At that time, inmates alleged they were being housed three to a cell, often without mattresses or blankets, that the jail suicide rate was excessively high and that recreational activities and psychological counseling are inadequate or non-existent.

• What are the RAP findings?

For planning purposes, the basin was divided into 11 sub-basins. a problem assessment found that all 11 sub-basins are affected by pollution problems. Problems are severe, drains and prepare local storm waenough that every sub-basin fails the State of Michigan standards for stream use in at least three of the five categories. Examples of the extent of the Rouge's problems include:

• Sewer discharges from combined sewer overflows (CSOs), overcapacity separate sanitary sewers and sewage improperly discharged to storm drains result in bacterial contamination of 10 of 11 sub-basins.

• Storm runoff is rapid due to the paved surfaces and rooftops in the basin, which causes stream scouring and bank erosion. This runoff carries large quantities of pollutants.

• River sediment continues to be storm water discharges. of concern because of toxic contaminants such as metals and PCBs. • Near zero stream flow in upper portions of the watershed during dry weather makes it difficult to maintain oxygen levels sufficient for fish and stream organisms to survive.

• What recommendation does the RAP make?

. The RAP calls for a phased approach to solving the Rouge's problems. The plan identifies specific projects needed between now and the year 2005. The approach followed in the recommendations is based on the guidance set forth in the WRC Strategy: address the entire Rouge River Basin, implement improvement projects as soon as they are identified and determine implementation costs and schedules. In addition, the RAP recommends a financing strategy as an essential part of the overall plan:

The phases of RAP implementation, as contained in the recommendations, generally can be described as follows:

PHASE I (Present to 1993.)

• Construct separate sanitary sewer improvement projects.

• Monitor and optimize the exist. ing combined sewer system. • Conduct detailed local planning for CSO controls. • Implement programs to remove improper connections to storm ter management plans. • Study and implement resource improvements, such as log jam removal and habitat enhancement.

• Control industrial pollutants at the source through NPDES permits for direct discharges and through source controls for discharges to the sewer system.

• Continue regular monitoring and conduct special intensive studies in identified problem areas.

• Implement financing methods at the local, state and federal levels to pay for improvements.

• Issue discharge permits that specify requirements for CSOs and PHASE II (1994-2005).

• Implement CSO improvements that will eliminate untreated raw sewage discharges. Meet the minimum objective of point-by-point con-trol with settling, skimming and disinfection for all overflows.

• Complete implementation of improper connections program and other programs that address problems identified in special studies.

• Implement further storm water controls as needed based on monitoring and the storm water management plan.

PHASE III (After Phase II completion.) • Evaluate results of CSO controls and initiate planning and implementation of further improvements necessary to meet Water Quality Standards,

• Evaluate further needs for storm water discharge controls and implement where needed to meet Water Quality Standards.

Low unemployment rate linked to education

By Tim Richard staff writer

The more people in town with colege degrees, the lower the unemoyment rate.

Education matters to communis." said Mark Murray, director of business research, for the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Murray spoke last week at a University of Michigan economic conerence called "Beyond the Rust Belt," which celebrated the diversilying of industry and the state's ecolomic recovery.

"Education reduces unemploynent. The disparity has grown durng the '80s," he said, citing 11 metopolitan areas.

ANN ARBOR, U-M's headquarers; has the state's highest concentration of college degrees - 36 pereent. It also ranks first (best) in the state with a 1988 unemployment rate of 3.8 percent, his chart showed. Here's how other metro areas

• Kalamazoo ranked second in college degrees with 23 percent and had the second-lowest jobless rate, .8 percent.

• Grand Rapids ranked fourth in college degrees with 15.9 percent and third in unemployment with 5.4

• Lansing, including the university town of East Lansing, ranked third at 21.7 percent in college degrees and fourth at 6.0 percent in unemployment. . '

• No separate figures were available for Oakland, Macomb and western Wayne counties, which were lumped into the Detroit metropolitan area. But the link held: Detroit was fifth with 14 percent college degrees and ninth with 7.7 percent unemployment.

• At the bottom of the list were Muskegon, 11th in degrees at 10.6 and 10th in joblessness at 8.9 percent; and Flint, 10th in degrees at 10.9 percent and 11th in joblessness at 13.8 percent.

"GOOD JOBS are available, but not to the unskilled," said Paul N. Courant, U-M professor of economics and public policy.

While unskilled auto factory workers took a severe beating in the 1979-82 recession and never did recover, other kinds of jobs grew and more than made up for the loss of "rust belt" work in the 1972-87 period, economists said.

BUSINESSES WILL invest in Michigan without tax and other gimmicks, said Courant.

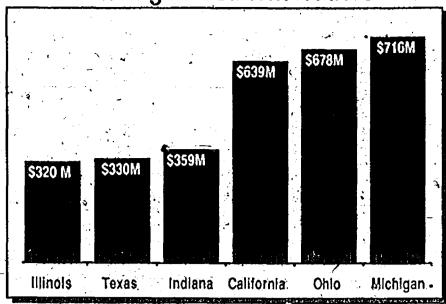

Asked why the series of eight speakers said nothing about the need to lure investment, Courant replied, "Capital is not unwilling to come here. It is not a principal concern."

"That doesn't seem to be a problem," added Murray.

Courant deplored local property tax abatements — which he branded "bribes" - as poor incentives to industry. "It's impossible to engage in a bidding game. The only winner is the industry bid for," he said.

Although Courant said he is "no the Great Lakes region in both employment and earnings since 1982," said Janet C. Wolfe, an economic researcher and Ph.D. candidate at Ų-M.

George Fulton, a U-M economist, said the state is gaining "export" jobs — that is, in industries which bring in out-of-state money - in several non-traditional areas.

In manufacturing, Michigan is doing well in plastics, scientific instruments, office furniture and printing.

"We are a major destination for Japanese tourism and Japanese businessmen," said Harold Skramstad, president of the village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn. "They come here with a reverence. The technology they use was formed in this country. As our international audience grows, we need to accommodate them," said Skramstad.

Village brochures are printed in seven languages: Japanese, Chinese, Italian, French, Spanish, German and Arabic. Skramstad has people on staff who speak all of those languages except Chinese.

GREENFIELD VILLAGE and the Ford museum generate $50 million in revenues each year. And two plans are under way to boost that business:

THE MUSEUM announcement followed by one day a major economic conference at the University of Michigan on diversification of the state's economy. "I call it 'From the Rust Belt to the Brain Wave," said Rick Cole, former press aide to Gov. Blanchard and now an associate professor of advertising at Michigan State University.

Doug Ross, state Commerce Department director, said Michigan is competing effectively in the international market, but more attention needs to be given to teaching foreign languages.

"Most CEOs (chief executive officers) you run into from other parts of the world are already multi-lingual," said Ross. "If our future is international markets - and it is - you operate at a great disadvantage if you don't know other languages and cultures.

He was right.

Mayor Charles Griffin, in the fourth year of his first term, is learning the same thing, in carrying out his 1985 campaign promise.

When campaigning in the fall of 1985, Griffin talked mainly about two things: improved public ' safety and ordinance enforcement. ... In his first year in office, the mayor stepped up the campaign to get rid of unsightly junk cars in neighborhoods. While there was a problem with the way it was implemented, there was no question what he wanted to do.

IN THE proposed budget submitted to the city council this week, Griffin made it clear that he is providing more emphasis on public safety with the planned hiring of civilian fire-police dispatchers next fall or winter.

The hirings will free up six firefighters and police officers for duties they were trained for instead of baby-sitting telephones.

Residents have been complaining about the lack of police protection in recent years. The added police patrol presence will help, particularly in the area of residential crimes.

He now can brag that he is meeting the needs and priorities of the community.

As McKinney said nearly 20 years ago, it's all "priorities, policies and programs."

Civitans help the community

WESTLAND service group will mark it's international organization's 69th anniversary next week.

While most Westland residents may not be aware of the Civitan Club's accomplishments throughout the year, the community should be aware that the club members are active in numerous public service projects, including the Wayne County Special Olympics, essay contests, senior citizens' activities, and group home and nursing home projects.

If nothing else, the Civitans should be honored for being the first all-male service group to open its membership to women long before the U.S. Supreme Court said it was discriminatory for service groups to ban women.

The next time you see a Civitan at a street corner soliciting funds or notice a canister on a restaurant counter, donate an extra dollar for a worthy cause.

F YOU SAY you have no time for volunteerism because you work, the 49 percent of the 1.6 million metropolitan area people who perform an average 4.2 hours a week of volunteerism prove you wrong.

That's a good indication that the "me" generation is turning into the "we" generation. It says that volunteerism has taken on well-deserved respectability, banishing the thinking that volunteers were those who couldn't find paid work-or had nothing better to do.

A committee message to volunteers explains the feeling:

New ballpark

Taxpayers should not pay

LOT HAS happened since we examined the plight of Tiger Stadium this time last Back then, we knew there was the possibility a new Tiger Stadium would someday replace the old. Now, we have some vision of what a new stadium would look like.— As far as the plans for a new, open air park go, we're impressed. We have a strong preference for natural turf and fresh air. 'But there are bigger issues at stake.

First off, we reiterate our belief that a new Tiger Stadium, whenever built, should be easily accessible for city dwellers as well as suburbanites. We've said this before and it bears repeating Tiger Stadium remains one of a dwindling number of places where city and suburban dwellers can routinely gather to pull for a common cause. That's not true with all our area's sports teams. While we don't believe the Detroit' Pistons display a "plantation mentality," we do know the Auburn Hills Palace is a far drive even from suburban Livonia.

Second, we strongly prefer a privately-built and operated stadium to one using public financing. Even though a baseball stadium would receive far more use than the debt-plagued Pon- + tiac Silverdome, we don't believe it's in the public's interest to help subsidize professional sports teams. Regardless of the good will they generate, professional sports teams are businesses. The city, indeed our region as a whole, could put the stadium money to better use.

That said, there's an issue that gnaws at us. It's this - professional sports is increasingly becoming the province of the very rich. In some cities, far more attention is paid to luxury box holders than to everyday fans who weather sun. rain and wind, not to mention long lines, for the chance to spend a relaxing afternoon or evening at the ballpark.

Even though a baseball stadium would receive far more use than the debt-plagued Pontiac Silverdome, we don't believe it's in the public's interest to help subsidize professional sports teams.

CUTTING DOWN on the number of bleacher seats in the proposed ballpark is a troubling sign. It seems that Tiger management is moving in this direction.

Our third issue, then, is this: Keep the everyday fans in mind.

We understand that luxury boxes are a bottom-line necessity, especially in privately built

But it should also be remembered that the working men and women of Detroit have long made the Tigers one of baseball's most consistently successful teams at the gate. It would be a tragedy if they were somehow "priced out" of the new ballpark,

Though they are a private business — and we suggest they play in a privately built and operated stadium - we still believe the Tigers should remain accessible to all area residents, regardless of geographic location or income level.

Whatever it's flaws, the old Tiger Stadium provides that kind of accessibility. That doesn't mean that the old ballpark couldn't be improved upon. Remember, few of the thousands of hockey fans streaming into comfortable new Joe Louis Arena express a preference for Olympia.

A new Tiger Stadium could also be a sports fans' paradise. Or it could be a fool's paradise. The choices Tiger management makes in the next few years will tell.

Dirty floor

irks woman

I went to the movies with my daughter this past Easter Sunday. We attended the 10:20 p.m. showing of "Lean On Me." I could not believe the filthy floor as we entered the row in which we chose to sit. My shoes, with crepe soles, stuck to the floor. We tried several other rows, only to find the same problem.

I literally stuck to the sidewalk while walking to my car upon leaving the theater after seeing the movie. I removed my shoes once I got home, and the following morning, had to scrub them with Wisk to remove the sticky substances, whether it was pop, beer, gum, etc.

I think this is a crime when the theater charges $5.25 to see a movie and then one must endure such filthy conditions. I might add further that it took us several rows to find seats that were not broken.

The theater used to be first rate, but I am sorry to say this is no longer true. This is not the first time I have encountered this problem. I am sure I speak for many other people. It is no wonder that people tend to rent videos today, which enables them to watch in the comfort of their own home and need not be exposed to such conditions.

I would strongly suggest the theater be cleaned up. (The owner) certainly will not see me in its theater again. There are many theaters around with clean floors and good

Elaine Flagg,

Don't tax my income tax

To the editor:

Please tolerate one more sincere tirade from another victim of 1989's new "Catastrophic Tax" on the elderly. (Those chosen to foot the bill for the entire nation's Medicare.)

I'm not normally a tax griper, at least not in writing. It's been my motto to force a grin and pay, in the spirit of the old tax lament: "Tax my hat. Tax my coat. Tax my horse. Tax my goat. Tax my shoes. Tax my socks. Tax my final resting box."

All that was OK. All shared, generally in line with means and the common good. But now I'm compelled to yell "FOUL!"

"Tax my pick, tax my ax, but don't you tax my income tax!" Tax the retiree's income tax? Yep, an extra 15 percent per nose; and it triggers in this year at age 65. Even you"borderliners" and seasoned yupples had better pay attention. It can be proven that age 65 creeps up.

This isn't chicken feed that's got so many responsible retirees oiling their gunsights. For couples, this incredible new "age penalty" tax can be as much as $1,600 in 1989, increasing yearly to $2,100 in 1993. In-

Some (but not all) congressmen, having so greatly underestimated the recent gross tonnage of tea bags, are now perking up their ears at the backlash from their senior constituents. Hopefully, they'll re-examine both the blatent unfairness of the age-penalty tax formula, and the degree to which tax-paying-retirees perhaps actually do vote.

But where on earth was our AARP. (American Association of Retired Persons) during this flasco in Congress? Their modest five buck annual membership fee (from 27 million) members) now seems a questionable investment. The AARP? "Aargh!" Some advise seniors not to shoot, but to write to their congressmen. But take care when investing in stamps. Michigan's own John Dingell and Carl Levin were leaders in the fight to impose the entire tax on the tax-paying elderly. And this was despite heavy minority opposition, in crucial House and Senate debates during 1989.

Their apparent "logic:"

(a) Old folks who pay income taxes must be rich. They saved, plan ahead, and sacrificed for their later years. So we'll zap them with the $30: billion.

(b) Confine the entire tax to those over age 65, since young folks don't; benefit from the health of old folks.

Well, congressmen, I'd drink to that "logic," if you'd carry it to com-pletion: (a) Confine Medicare Taxes to those over 65, but (b) Confine school taxes to those under 65. How's that for fair play, congressmen? Can you understand it? "If a dollar I should save, tax the stone upon my grave." Edmund O. Smith,

Homeless-to-be pose concern

YOU DON'T have to worry about going to downtown Detroit and seeing the homeless.

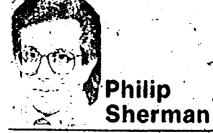

They're coming to western Wayne County to see you.

That may sound flippant, but it's not meant to be.

Most of the homeless are people who've been evicted. "That's the big." gest" group, said Diane Fike, manager of program planning for United Community Services, one of the planning arms for the United Foun-

She said a few of them sink all their money into drugs and haven't anything left to live on. "They're emotionally, or psychologically, temporarily unable to meet their obligations," Fike said. Some of the horneless end up homeless as a result of a marital problem, where the wage earner abandons the family. In that situation, Fike said the remaining spouse can't pick up the pleces in time . . . and the family is evicted.

The reasons why people become homeless, what they do when they're homeless and what communities can do to help them will be discussed with community leaders during "Families With No Place to Go," a one-day conference sponsored by the

THE "FAMILIES" part of the program's title is what worries Fike. According to statistics for fiscal 1986, she estimates there were 2,313 actual homeless people in her "service area," a term which includes all of Wayne County except Detroit.

But there were 175,000 "economically vulnerable" people as of last September, Fike said. The economically vulnerable are the homelessto-be, the people most likely to lose their homes because they're barely making it on a minimum wage income and could be monetarily devastated by any additional drain on their resources, such as a large med-

Beau loved his mud

EARLY SPRING brings fond memories of Beau, the Head Poodle.

Beau (1964-80) relished every season of the year. In late spring he leaped into rivers to land trout on the hook. Summer was devoted to scampering after waterbirds on the Lake Michigan shoreline.

Fall was his time for flushing pheasants from fields that have since been buildozed away for I-275 and the Northville State Police headquarters. On sunny days in winter, he burrowed into a snowdrifts to hunt field mice.

But early spring was Beau's favorite because it is the season of mud.

YOU HAVE to understand that in the German language, "poodle" and "puddle" come from the same root word. Poodles love mud.

It's in their genes. Poodles were waterfowl retrievers in Germany long before the French gave them those close haircuts and put 'em in circuses.

Beau relished puddles. He wouldn't leap across them. He didn't prance around them. No, Beau paraded through puddles. The long

As winter's snows melted, he would locate the first square foot of mud in an entire vacant lot and excavate it.

Beau's most glorious spring was the year we moved into a new suburban subdivision. No fences. No lawns. No flowers. No trees. Just acres and acres of mud, mud, glorious mud.

Daily he had to be bathed, or at least rinsed because you don't want to wash the protective oil out of a dog's coat. He endured it because of the rapture he had just experienced outdoors,

Once we made the mistake of bathing him with a scented shampoo. Angry and snorting, Beau barked to go outside where he immediately found some evil-smelling gunk and rolled in it, just to get even.

That partly used bottle of scented shampoo is still on, a pantry shelf, its label faded, a monument to Beau's indomitable desire to play in dirt.

THE POODLE, according to the, book, was originally a hunter's retriever of 50 pounds or so.

The instinct to retrieve stayed with the breed, even when poodles were bred down to the 21-pound size of Beau or the 10-pound size of the Beau's favorite game, until his eyesight began to go at 14, was fetch. He would fetch old tennis balls or sticks, then bark for me to throw it

One warm spring afternoon, he visited the green of the Kalamazoo College campus and espied a student lounging in the sun with his sandals off. Guess what Beau fetched.

Fortunately, the student was good natured. In addition, Beau was boldly handsome, and that helped. People will tolerate more mischief from a good-looking, well-groomed dog than from a frazzly brown mutt.

Early spring was Beau's favorite because it is the season of mud.

Beau exploited his advantage his entire 16 years.

ONE SPRING day we visited a pond in the Grand Mere area near Beau's favorite haunts of Lake Michigan. The ice hadn't been melted long, but Beau was chasing sticks into the water.

Now Beau didn't just walk or run into the water. His style was to take a flying leap through the air and tand several feet from shore. Saved paddling time.

On this occasion, Beau halted his leap, turned in mid-air, dived to the bottom of the pond and emerged seconds later with a baby muskrat in his mouth.

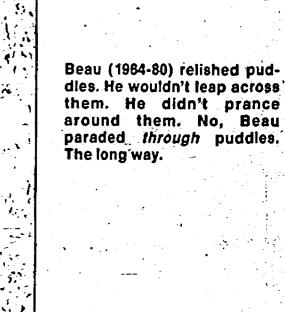

A mighty hunter often will show off his kill to other people, even if he doesn't intend to share it, and Beau's audience this time was a group of Camp Fire girls hiking by. Standing directly in front of them, Beau cracked the unfortunate muskrat's skull in his jaws.

"Yec-c-c-ch!" said the Camp Fire girls.

Beau went to Doggy Heaven in the fullness of years, as they say, and I'm certain he has a dominant spot because he devoted his entire life to honoring The Poodle Creed: '

"A filthy dog is a happy dog."

Grades no guarantee of success

Q: What is the predictor for success in college and, more importantly, after college?

A: The most important study that I recall when I taught Educational' Research at Wayne State University was by a professor who studied National Merit Scholarship finalists over a period of 15 years. His purpose was to determine which National Merit Scholars were successful and which National Merit Scholars were not successful and what were the major factors for those who were

The National Merit Scholarship test is the toughest test given to high school students and breaks out the top one percent of high school scholars in the country.

The professor extended the study to students who had average test scores and average grades to find out what were the most common factors for those people who were successful. Was it grades, aptitude (test scores), luck - what factors defermined success?

Why any professor would spend 15 years on this project is beyond me, but the results are interesting. Whether a student had high grades major factor for those who were successful after college.

The single factor that the professor found in tracking his entire sample of students for 15 years was what he called "achievement motivation." That is, the motivation and drive to achieve was so strong that the person overcame every obstacle - social, political or otherwise - and was, in his own mind, a success.

Grades and test scores helped to initally break into a good job market but did not guarantee success. Success was defined as a person's achieving what he/she wanted to achieve in life with evidence from peers that the person was a winner, a success regardless of the occupa-have seen National Merit Scholarship finalists who failed miserably in life and I have seen high school "C" students at these class reunions who, while in high school, went through school by the path of least resistance but who now-are corporate lawyers. There seems to be an innate drive in the "A" or "C" student who is "successful," an ability to focus with a single-minded purpose on what they want in life.

Although good grades and good test scores open the door for students to numerous opportunities and in the long run pay the most dividends for the majority of students, they alone do not guarantee success in life. Those people who, if we believe the professor's study, are totally engrossed and motivated to achieve, who have a clear focus, who have overcome any, maybe many, obstacles were the successes.

Airport officials are mum. about Northwest rumor

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Metro Airport officials are declining comment on a possible takeover bid for Northwest Airlines. But new ownership of Metro's largest passenger carrier could have long term repercussions for the county airport.

Northwest is rumored to be the subject of a hostile takeover. Airport officials declined comment on the situation, calling it the product of speculation more than reality.

"It's all speculative at this point," airport spokesman Michael Conway sald. As of midweek the name of Northwest's prospective new owner had yet to surface publicly.

Northwest, however, is by far-Metro's largest passenger carrier. As such, it has the largest say in airport financing at a time when the airport seeks to expand.

Minneapolis-based Northwest accounts for nearly 60 percent of all passenger flights at the Romulus airport. In contrast, troubled Eastern Airlines accounts for about three percent.

Under the airport's mancing system, airlines pay for airport operations through landing fees - an assessment levied against the number of flights using the airport.

"NOT ONE cent of county property taxes go into the airport." Conway -said. In addition to landing fees, fees from concessions, on-site parking, souvenirs and car rentals also support airport operations.

Airlines also finance bonds used to pay for airport expansion. Northwest prompted a county panic in October 1987 by threatening to withhold its share of bond payments because it didn't approve of aspects of the county's airport expansion plan. Negotiations between county and airline officials helped resolve the Rumors of a Northwest takeover' come at a time when the airport seeks a new terminal, air traffic control tower and two new runways. Metro's passenger use rose from 4.2 million in 1982 to 9.9 million five years later. It is expected to top 14.5 million by the mid-1990s.

Ironically, Metro's expansion was prompted to a large degree by Northwest's making the airport its major hub. As such, Metro is the main connecting route for intercontinental Northwest flights regardless of the point of original or final desti-

Northwest's decision to boost its presence at Metro, however, came after a business dealings of its own.

Republic Airlines initially sought to create a Metro hub before its 1986 merger with Northwest.

That move was a positive step for airport growth, officials said.

"Northwest brought in a wider mix of planes, including more larger planes than Republic could have.' Conway said.

When parenthood replaces childhood

Program helps teens prepare for new role

By Sue Mason staff writer

Statistics can be overwhelming — particularly when children have children.

Consider this:

In Wayne County during 1987, the latest year for which statistics are available from the state registrar's Center for Health Statistics, there were 5,725 live births among females 15-19 years old in an estimated population of 84,264.

But even that isn't a true indication of teen pregnancy. In 1987, there were 5,393 abortions and an unknown number of miscarriages among 15- and 19-year-old females.

While experts are divided over how to address the problem — some even prefer to call it an epidemic — one western Wayne County schoolbased program has been helping pregnant teens adjust to their new role in society and prepare for the responsibilities of parenthood for more than 18 years.

The name is deceiving in light of what it does for the young women that have come to it over the years. The Garden City Alternative Education Program for Girls not only fills in the educational gap for pregnant teens, it provides them with emotional and psychological support and plenty of individual attention.

"For some, this can be the most positive and stable thing that can happen to them at a time when their lives are in turmoil," said Maria Rifat, program coordinator. "It lets them continue their education in an environment that gives them a picture of a family and not of a school and the moral and emotional support they need.

"THEY ARE welcomed here and they are not condemned nor condemned."

Established in 1971, the program attracts students from 11 school districts, including Garden City, Wayne-Westland, Livonia and South Redford and Redford Union. The students range in age from 14-19, all though some have been as young as the graders.

sixth graders.

Based in a wing of Farmington Elementary School in Garden City, the primary emphasis is on education Courses range from home economics/family living/the child to the usual English, social studies and mathematics. The instruction takes into account the students' grade levels and abilities.

There's also a health class taught by a nurse that focuses on the changes their bodies are going through during their pregnancies and on childbirth. The nurse also conducts individual health counseling sessions.

-Educationally, pregnant teens have two choices once they decided to have their babies. They can remain in their home school or ask to be referred to the alternative education program.

Waiting for the baby: Three changing lives

By Sue Mason staff writer.

She eases herself slowly into a chair. Getting comfortable when you're pregnant is no simple task.

The story she tells has been played out many times in many homes throughout the country. She's 14, in love and pregnant. She never thought she would get pregnant and never thought about using contraceptives. Her 18-year-old boyfriend is excited about the pending birth.

"I want a girl," she said. "I see my cousins who have little girls and they dress them up so pretty. I want to dress my baby up like that."

SHE SPEAKS in quiet tones, and always with a trace of weariness. Her pregnancy hasn't been an easy one.

The trouble started when her mother took her to the doctor. She had thought her daughter had the flu, when in actuality it was morning sickness. She heard the news that her daughter was expecting, she didn't take it very well.

"It didn't sink in at first," the ninth grader said. "My mom was really upset. She wouldn't talk to me and when she did, she called me names. And there was constant fighting between my mom and dad."

Her pregnancy also didn't come as good news for herboyfriend. At first they fought a lot and he went out a lot with friends to "get it off his mind." Now he likes the idea of being a father.

She decided to continue with her pregnancy rather than have an abortion. Killing a human being, she said, is against her family's beliefs.

WITH HER baby due in April, she is looking to the future. She would like to move out of her parents' home now because she "can't take all the fighting and arguing," but will wait until she's 17. She and her boylriend are already talking about getting married after she finishes high school.

ishes high school.

She plans on keeping her baby. Her father will switch to afternoon work, so he can watch the baby while she's in school, she said.

She wishes it could be different; but knows it can't.
It's almost as if her father was a clairvoyant.

"My dad told me I'd end up being pregnant by the time I was 14," she said. "I didn't think so and never gave a thought to birth control."

She leaves to hurry back to her mathematics class. She has a test and wants to finish before the end of the period.

A CLASSMATE leans forward as she leaves the room.

Her story is similar except that at 16, she is married and living with her 19, year-old highend's parents.

and living with her 19-year-old husband's parents.
"We planned on getting married; it's just a little bit sooner than we thought," she said with a smile.

sooner than we thought," she said with a smile.

Her future is carefully planned. Her baby is due in June. When school starts next fall, she will return to complete her senior, year, using the money her parents

'it's very tiresome and when he's crying, I try not to let it irritate me. I'm up from 6 in the morning to 11 at night trying to do whatever I have to. I get very tired.'

'My dad told me I'd end up being pregnant by the time I was 14. I didn't think so and never gave a thought to birth control.'

set aside for her college education to pay for a baby

In the process of buying a home, they will continue living with his parents until the sale is complete.

SHE IS thrilled with the idea of being a mother. She has always wanted to be a mether, but couldn't tell her parents who had hoped their daughter would be a "career woman."

She scoffs at statistics that show teen marriages as likely to end in divorce. She sees herself as different. She didn't get married because she was pregnant, but because "we love each other," she said.

"I feel very safe with him."

IT WASN'T hard to tell her mother she was pregnant.

Her menstrual period was two months late, so she went to a clinic and had a pregnancy test. It confirmed what she had decided couldn't be.

"I kept looking in the mirror to see if I was," she said.
"I looked the same so I said 'I guess not.'"

But it was hard to handle her mother's reaction to the

"She said 'Don't tell your father, we'll take care of this ourselves,' " she said. "She wanted me to have an abortion. I didn't expect that and my dad felt the same

She has found it difficult to "see my parents, who I trusted, turn against me," she said.

"I couldn't talk to them I had because they wanted to be rid of it and that wouldn't happen."

SHE WANTED to leave home, but her parents refused to let her go unless the was married. In November, she married her boyfriend and moved in with his parents. She is delighted to have a supportive mother-in-law and said her parents have "gotten a lot better" since the marriage. They haven't been fighting as much, she said.

"I'm the oldest child and the first real screw-up," she said. "All the others are doing great."

She eases her self out of her chair and heads back to the classroom. Another classmate changes position. She is ready to tell her story. She differs from other girls in only one respect: She delivered her son Christmas Day 1988.

SHE'S 15 years old and a ninth grade student. She is finishing out the school year in an alternative academic program before returning to her home school.

"We (she and her 19-year-old boyfriend) used to talk about it (getting pregnant) all the time, so when it happened, it didn't surprise me," she said. "I liked the idea, but after a couple of months, I realized I had to tell my parents. I didn't want to because I didn't want to disappoint my mother; she's very sweet.

"I was fine until I told her, then I started feeling verybad."

And opting for the alternative program doesn't preclude their return to their home school after their child

Thirty-six expectant mothers have been referred to the program this year, although six have left to return to their home school after delivering their bables or for reasons like a miscarriage and an inability to cope with both raising a child and attending day school:

Although work can be frustrating, but according to Rifat, the rewards are many, especially when the staff sees the students "blossom and grow."

HER PARENTS' reaction was a -quiet_one. They didn't have much to say. That's not to say there haven't been any problems. She has had to deal with her parents' reaction to her boyfriend.

"They really didn't want him around, and after the baby was born, they really didn't want him around," she said. "They made him feel uncomfortable.'

She also has had to grapple with who would make the decisions about her son's care. She didn't mind her parents wanting to watch him while she was in school, but "I didn't want them telling me who was going to watch him." Eventually, she decided to have an aunt care for her son.

Her boyfriend sees his son on a regular basis, and while they have talked-about marriage wouldn't mind. I love him quite a bit" — nothing has been decided.

She knew about contraceptives when she became sexually active, but never really thought about using them. She said she couldn't "be bothered taking a medicine at a certain time of the day."

SHE ALSO couldn't considered terminating her pregnancy. It would have been on her conscience "for all time," even though she sometimes wonders what it would have been like had she not gone through with the pregnancy.

She would have liked to have returned to her home school after her son's birth, but decided to stay in the alternative program. It's "a sacrifice" she has had to make now that she's a mother.

Emotional 'loss' has its place in 'weighting' game

By Loraine McClish staff writer

N ORDER TO lose physical weight you are going to have, to lose emotional weight.

If you lose the physical weight and keep the emotional weight the physical weight is going oto return.

hear One reason why this occurs so fresiquently is that emotional weight ean't be seen in a mirror, or on a scale, so it is left untreated. But it's to there. In your head.

"Calorie counting and stepping on h a scale are both self-destructive bethavlors," said Dr. Colleen A. Sundertheyer, whose book "Emotional in Weight" was published this month. Lauthere is absolutely a more fulfilling, a healthler way to cope."

on the cover of the book is a scale.

But instead of numbers on the scale the pointer points to the range of emotions from confidence to depression; from love to fear.

"Love, trust, happiness and anger are not stored in fat tissue and just because fat is lost it doesn't mean you lose those feelings," the nutritionist and psychologist said. "My book helps people pinpoint their problems and it provides them with healthy mind and body solutions. No recipes, diets or the ever popular before and after pictures."

RECOVERY FROM an eating disorder isn't when the overweight person loses weight or the anorexic begins to eat or the bulimic stops purg-

"Recovery means achieving a positive self-image and peace of mind," Sundermeyer said.

'When emotions are used in a positive they can provide you with a better sense of who you are and where you want to go in life. Yes, emotions can do all that if you will only listen.'

> — Dr. Colleen A. Sundermeyer author of 'Emotional Weight'

One of the important concepts in the book is that all emotions are good, even guilt, fear, anger and disappointment.

When emotions are used in a positive they can provide you with a better sense of who you are and where you want to go in life. Yes, emotions can do all that if you will only listen. Emotions can not be stopped but we can control what we do about them.

"We can either accept and trust the emotions or we can deny or repress them. It is only when we repress them that they start working in a negative way and that is when we take on our emotional weight.

"Emotions are meant to be expressed," she said. "If they are not expressed, fear, happiness, love, doubt and anger can all be displaced onto food. Eating or not eating can reduce the anxiety, but the problem is still there."

Sundermeyer grew up in orphanages and in foster homes.

"There was never any direction. Never," she said. "My emotions were all I had. Oh, the intellect yes, but it's important not to intellectualize everything. I started to grow, started to learn when I started to go with my feelings. What I do now is experience my feelings and then go

Team effort

Synagogue thrives with help of members

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Hey, it's not easy being the rabbi for the only conservative synagogue in Western Wayne County. Just ask Martin Gordon.

"Non-Jews call me all the time and ask me questions," said Rabbi Martin Gordon, who heads the Livonia Jewish Congregation, which is colebrating its 30th anniversary Sunday. "One person calls up and asks me for a recipe for matzo. A person who is a Christian Scientist the other day calls up and wants to know what (Ish are kosher_____

"It's a little awesome serving 75 families in the congregation, but when you're the only rabbi serving in Western Wayne County it's quite a

The Livonia Jewish Congregation has not only survived, but thrives. And that's no easy task.

The congregation has always been faced with the continual movement of Jewish people from Wayne County to Oakland County. Yet congregation members still come from all over the tri-county area to attend services, including from as far as Oak Park, Southfield, Detroit, Lathrup Village, Pontlac, Whitmore Lake and Walled Lake. And everyone pitches in to make the congregation vibrant. Many of the members perform numerous tasks. For instance, one member, Phyllis Scherman of Livonia, serves in a variety of roles, including publicity chairwoman, community services director, and chairwoman for the upcoming Chai Dinner Sunday.

"I'm embarrassed sometimes. People are working four nights a week and I have to ask them to work a fifth night," Gordon said.

OF COURSE, Gordon does his share as well. In addition to his normal duties of officiating Shabbot services on Fridays and Saturdays, not to mention holiday services, Yarselts, weddings and funerals, he visits hospital patients, nursing homes and prisoners.

Gordon also takes an active role in the community. He is chaplain for the Livonia Police Department. He's on the steering committee for the annual Livonia Prayer Breakfast and is a chaplain at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital

One recent visit found him in the unusual position of counseling black Muslims.

"There was only one Jewish patient in the hospital," Gordon said, "and he didn't want to see me."

Since arriving at Livonia Jewish Congregation in 1967 from Maine, the experience hasn't been what Gordon quité expected.

Not only has he provided guldance for black Muslims, Gordon has counseled Syrians and Lebanese. He said some of his most rewarding experiences have come from working in the community.

"I pictured myself working with youths. I'm working in geriatrics. I'm working with the emotionally impaired. I'm working in fields I never thought I would," Gordon Gordon's fulfilling experiences are perhaps only exceeded by the rich history of the congregation.

THE ROOTS of the Livonia Jewish Congregation can be traced back to a meeting of 10 men at Clarenceville Central Elementary School to organize services. The Livonia Jewish Congregation was organized in

Services were held in a variety places, including a tent at the Botsford Inn, until a church was bought and converted into a synagogue in 1964. The congregation then moved to its present spot on Seven Mile Road in 1970 when The United Hebrew School vacated operations

Cantor Henry Blank was the congregation's first full-time spiritual leader. Gordon was hired in 1967 to work with the cantor.

Blank retired from his full-time duties in 1960 after serving as a cantor for 70 years.

The Livonia Jewish Congregation also had the distinction of installing Helen Bayles as the first woman president of a conservative Jewish . synagogue in metropolitan Detroit. She was one of only 50 women to have done so.

For members, the Livonia Jewish Congregation has a myriad of activities. There is Sunday School and adult education, as well as services conducted in both Hebrew and Eng-

Due to its size, the congregation operates on a tight budget. A small membership does have its benefits.

"As a rabbi, I can spend an hour or two hours with members." Gordon said. "With a larger congregation, that would be difficult."

Rabbi Martin Gordon has been at Livonia Jewish Congregation since 1967. The synagogue serves 75 families and is celebrate a Ing its 30th anniversary this year.

Health care chief wrestles with industry

Can't return to 'good old days'

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Despite the perception that there is a health-care crisis in this country, Edward Connors, new chairman of the American Hospital Association and president of Mercy Health Services in Farmington Hills, isn'tcaught up in doom and gloom.

"I reject the notion it (health administration) used to be fun and now it's a series of headaches," said Connors from his offices on 12 Mile. "Yes, it's tough, but the possibilities for leadership are enormous. I don't subscribe to the theory of returning to the good old days."

That's not to say he doesn't realize there are serious problems (see related story) like rapidly rising costs, cutbacks in Medicald and Medicare, failing hospitals, skyrocketing malpractice insurance, low levels of consumer confidence, a dangerous shortage of nurses.

"It is sobering that nowhere in this nation, not in this association and not among any legitimate stakeholders in health, does there exist a clear, unambiguous vision of what health care in the United States could and should be in the future," said Connors at his investiture in Washington, D.C., in January as AHA chairman. The 6,000 member institutions of the AHA comprise 92 percent of the hospitals nationwide.

Deciding, as a nation, what kind of health care we want and then making the tough decisions on how to pay for it won't come easy. As AHA chairman, he will testify in Washington, speak to groups around the country, give advice to member institutions and hope that in his one year as head of the trade association, he can help get health care back on track.

- Connors will be honored Tuesday by the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council at a dinner at the Hotel St. Regis in downtown Detroit.)

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Edward Connors, new chairman of the American Hospital Association and president of Mercy Health Services in Farmington

CONNORS, WHO grew up in a small, farming community in South Dakota, was the starting quarterback on the University of South Dakota football team and still holds the school record for pass-completion percentage — he graduated in 1951 and back then, his team still ran the old single wing, where passing by the quarterback was nearly nonexistent. In desperation one game, he threw the only pass of his career and to his surprise, it was caught.

His leadership skills were more sharply honed in infantry combat in Korea, which he entered as a second lleutenant and left as a first lieutenant and company commander.

Hills, believes the nation must adopt a vision of what its health care should and could be.

"I learned about leadership of people at stressful times, though I wasn't conscious of it at the time. People look to you for leadership; and you have to provide it whether you're ready for it or not."

Coincidentally, it was during combat that Connors received notification that he had been accepted to graduate school at the University of Minnesota, a career move that was linked to his football days. A tight end on his team who was a year ahead of him had touted the field of health administration,

Connors, a math major as an undergraduate, had planned on a career in education. On the basis of his friend's urging, and despite no background in the field, he applied to Minnesota's School of Public Health and resumed his schooling after getting out of the Army in 1953.

Connors earned his master's degree in health administration in-1955, completed an administrative residency at Rhode Island, then joined the staff at the University of Michigan, where he attained the position of assistant professor. In 1960, he was named superintendent of the University of Wisconsin hospitals. In 1969, he returned to U-M as director of University Hospital, a post he left in 1974 for the Sisters of Mercy.

In 1976, he was named president of Mercy Health Corp. and in 1984, president of its parent corporation, Mercy Health Services (see related story on Mercy and its subsidiaries). In January, he assumed the chairmanship of the AHA, a trade association that represents the health-care industry in the formulation of public policy and which helps the industry develop education and management programs.

IT'S BEEN A BUSY couple of months for Connors. As AHA chair, he has been to Washington (twice). Idáho, Phoenix, Traverse City, Iowa and New Jersey.

The work for the AHA takes up "30-40 percent of a seven-day week," said Connors, an Ann Arbor resident and avid U-M fan, who managed to get tickets to the Final Four in Seattle. "Since there's no pay, it takes a very supportive organization back home, an understanding board and staff."

Despite the seven-day week, Connors, 60, finds time to support his hobbies of reading (mysteries, politics, history and the New York Sunday Times), the theater and ballet.

His artistic bent was passed on to his two daughters, Colleen Connors Long, a novelist and aspiring screenplay writer living in California, and Bridget, a singer, dancer and actress who graduated from the U-M Music School. His sons, Timothy and Patrick, are attorneys.

Human, financial resources stand as difficult questions

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Just because Edward Connors is an optimist doesn't make him a Pollyanna. Though he heads the American Hospital Association, he is candid in his criticisms of the healthcare industry and the problems facing it.

He said, for example, that too much money is spent at too many teaching institutions and that the industry must restrain itself in the use of expensive technology.

These are the key issues facing health-care administrators, Connors • Finding an adequate and stable source of financing. Because of cuts in government reimbursement for Medicare and Medicald patients, hospitals in Michigan now get back only approximately 80 cents of each dollar incare they provide. A survey by the accounting firm of Coopers and Lybrand estimates that next year, state hospitals will lose an average of $792 for each Medicald inpatient, or $113 a day.

• Too much competition. Hospitals must collaborate rather than compete, Connors said. Competition was encouraged under the Reagan administration, but "it nitted one hospital against another. But who wants to compete for the poor or the uninsured?" As a result, the burden of caring for the poor has fallen on a small pool of hospitals and doctors.

• The availability of human resources, primarily a shortage of

"We're on the edge of a crisis and it's likely to get a lot worse." Making sure that the care given is really needed and is indicated by national industry standards. . Connors said standards work well with drugs - what to give to whom and in what dosages - but there are no standards for many other treatments and tests, Connors said there are too many tests, both by doctors who profit by them or doctors who don't. "It's the way they're trained," he said. They are taught to do all they can, though in the long run, because of cost-ineffectiveness, too much health care can lead to poorer, not better, service, given a finite amount of money available. CONNORS ISN'T afraid to discuss the issues bluntly with his peers. At-

"It is sobering that nowhere in this nation ... does there exist a clear. unámbiguous vision of what health care in the United States could and should be in the future. (Such) lack of consensus . . . leads inevitably to short-term fragmented public policy decisions, political manipulation, divisiveness among providers, underfunding and discontent with the status quo."

And, "all persons have a basic right to needed health services and that this right flows not from policy judgment by society but rather from the dignity and worth of each human

And that industry must place "as" much emphasis on compassion as on technical and scientific competence (and) must strive to deliver uniformly the same high standard of care to all, regardless of economic classification, payment sources or patient characteristics....

"Our mission calls for us now to give our time, energy and resources to shaping a better tomorrow - a tomorrow characterized by a new vision, a clear goal, a set of values and principles that distinguishes this field from commercial, commodityoriented businesses, and a tomorrow that will be better for those whom

Reader bought good stock but bought it at wrong time

My broker persuaded me to buy Upjohn stock a couple of years ago. I bought it at $52, which was just about as high as it went. It then started down and is below $30 most of the time. Would you give me your opinion of that stock?

Upjohn is the featured company in the March issue of Better Investing, and I have had the opportunity to see a great deal of information about it. It is unfortunate that you paid the price you did for Upjohn, but I would not doubt that in the next three to five years you will see it selling in the $80 to $100 range. It might pay you to add to your holdings while it is selling below $30.

WHEN YOU bought Upjohn, it was enjoying a lot of publicity over its development of Rogaine, a drug that seems to have the ability to promote the growth of hair. At that time, stories were circulating that the new drug would be tremendously successful and produce huge profits for Upjohn.

Now, as so often happens in the investment world, the stories have company received permission to changed and suggest that it may be proceed with clinical testing on its

THE FACT of the matter is that Upjohn is a very good company with or without Rogaine. Rogaine seems to be able to grow hair as it is reputed to do and almost certainly some day will make an important contribution to Upjohn's earnings.

In the meantime, the company has other products that seem capable of moving its sales and earnings ahead and its historical rate. The company has expanded its spending for research from 12 percent to 14 percent of sales. The drug industry on the average spends 9 percent.

Upjohn's figures are pleasing to investors. Over the past 10 years, sales have increased at 71/2 compounded annually.

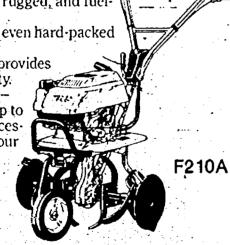

EARNINGS PER share have increased at 10 percent compounded annually. In the past five yeras the growth in a percent of sales got up to 18.1 percent. Its average price/earnings ratio over the past five years is 16. Recently the stock as sold as low as 281/2 and a price/earnings ratio of 15. ### Youngsters aren't better off than we were

The average American baby boomer is beginning to wake up to the fact that he not only didn't leave enough children behind to take care of him in old age, but that many of those who were fathered (or mothered) can't read or write too

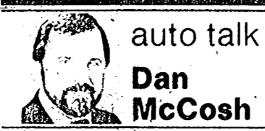

Maybe this is why there is a sudden rush of remorse about the state of American education.

Corporate guilt frequently expresses itself in a donation to public television, which may be the reason I recently received a notice from Chrysler that it is sponsoring a PBS series on Learning in America — the kind of predictable documentary about why American kids aren't doing so well in school, unless, of course, they are recent Asian immigrants.

IT'S A subject that might seem a bit far afield from the auto industry. -But-in-fact;-the-car-business has a rich history of involvement in educa-

Directly, as in the foundation of institutions such as Antioch College and the General Motors Institute, not, to mention the social engineering attempted by Henry Ford. And indirectly, through payments of property taxes, still the most common form of financial support for local schools.

In many ways this was enlightened self-interest, since the industry in its early days was on a technological roll that demanded highly trained technicians, engineers and managers, while the workers it attracted often came from backgrounds slightly less than Ivy

BUT THINGS changed. Ford pulled out of Antioch long ago, and GM set GMI off on its own approximately 10 years ago. GM also stopped the science shows that used to tour the country and ended the Fisher Body design contest. More significantly, American Motors chairman George Romney, as head of constitutional reform for the state of Michigan, altered the assessment base and shifted much of the tax burden away from heavy industry to local homeowners, setting off a series of financial shocks in the city of Detroit and elsewhere, where industry was paying much of the school tab, that nearly bankrupt build them a new plant. once-affluent school districts.

MORE RECENTLY, Chrysler led the way to building new facilities in urban areas only with huge concessions from local school taxing districts, while GM and Ford have quietly beaten back local assessments - and local school revenue through a series of court actions.

I was a little startled to notice that Chrysler today claims to pay $25 million in school taxes in the whole country. I did some quick arithmetic and discovered if it paid at the rate of the average homeowner, it would owe twice that in the city of Detroit alone - and Detroit coughed up $150 million in direct subsidies to Chrysler last year to

BROKE SCHOOLS obviously aren't the fault of the auto industry. The whole system of tax support for public schools has become so fragmented, perverted and inequitable; it would be unfair to blame the mess, on a single industry.

Corporate executives are, after all, merely reacting to public policy and controlling costs.

Still, I don't think there is anyone. who spent his life in this town that can honestly say things are being left for the next generation as good as we had it when we were kids.

Get help for a workshop

is it possible to plan, organize and run a conference or workshop on the first try?

Authors Lois B. Hart and J. Gordon Schleicher say no. They have published the "Conference and Workshop Planner's Manual" to help small-business owners and managers "create a workable system" for this type of decision making.

For many, planning a conference or workshop represents a one-time experience that may involve as few as 10 or as many as 1,000 partici-

Still, a growing number of independent businesses have taken advantage of opportunities to coordinate their own industry-related events on a periodic basis.

The Farmington Community Library has repeated its workshop series for 15 years, said Beverly Paoai, director of the library.

"WE OFFER six business and management-related workshops each year, free of charge to participants. The feedback we've received from the local business community more than justifies our decision to continue with the series indefinite-

Mary DiPaolo

The library rents its facilities to companies choosing to coordinate their own sessions.

"Not many small businesses have the space to hold seven to 200 people at the same time - and often stop before they even start planning an event for this reason."

The library charges a $10 minimum to non-profit organizations that conduct conference sessions; nonprofit companies are charged a minimum of $60.

HART AND Schleicher advise would-be organizers to follow seven basic steps in developing the "how to's" of their company's events-plan-

First, a needs analysis determines the purpose of the event from the participants' point of view. Next, the key people, groups or organizations whose support is necessary should be identified and the appropriate commilment made.

After assessing the needs analysis and any barriers affecting support, alternative strategies should be developed.

Once the best plan has been chosen from among available alternatives, the facilities, materials, equipment and personnel needed to carry out the plan should be identified and acquired - -

Personnel is a crucial variable for the success of any event and will result in the formation of committees to handle program, arrangements, promotion, registration, exhibits (if offered), budget and evaluation.

Actress repeats role in 'Quilters'

* Performances of the Meadow Brook Theatre production of "Quilters" continue through Sunday, April 23, on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills. For ticket information, call .. 377-3300

By Cathle Breldenbach special writer

The musical "Quilters" stitches together vignettes from the lives of ploneer women who settled the American heartland. In word, dance and song, Meadow Brook Theatre's highhorizons and open skies of the plains in the days when families first settled the prairies.

The cast of seven women portrays a panoply of characters who survived the hardships of cold-to-thebone winters in sod houses and raging prairie fires in those good-oldbad-old days. To balance the pain of hardships, "Quilters" shines with the comedy of cowboys, the highlinks of children and some fine toe-tapping fiddle music. Authors Molly Newman and Barbara Damashek use motifs of traditional quilt designs - Log Cabin, Windmill and the Tree of Life to name a few — and mingle old folk songs and new melodies to piece together the scraps and remnants of ordinary women's lives into a patchwork musical of pioneer history.

They tell their tales from women's points of view and celebrate history through a woman's art form - quilting. Like a good quilt design, the vignettes in Meadow Brook Theatre's production combine in an entertaining show that's greater and more moving than the sum of it separate falters only when he emphasizes "stereotypes and cliches in the script." Why would a play that celebrates the strength of women fall back on hackneved sexist cliches and have the energy production recreates the vast - lone boy in the schoolhouse scene pull the girls' pigtails and harass them with a squiggly snake?

In scenes recreating childhood memories, why must-the cast resort to the silly, shrill voices used only by make-believe children from the land of stereotype? And why must Shirleyann Kaladjian overplay the bigeyed, innocent effervescence of her characters?

Despite her indisputable cuteness, an overdose of irrepressible perkiness cloys like Pollyanna's optimism or Beth's goody-goodness in "Little Women." Thankfully, cliches can't undermine the feisty honesty of the musical. For the most part "Quilters" remains true to the harsh land and the resilient, realistic folk who tamed it.

Robert Spencer's creative staging of the vignettes reaches a peak at a Baptist baptism in a river of undulating fabric, a fitting medium for a play that acclaims fabrics and revels in their colors and designs.

In another memorable vignette, Papa splurges to buy a whole bolt of scarlet fabric so his womenfolk can spark their quilts with the joy of red. Riding back home in the wagon with the bolt of scarlet jounding in the DIRECTOR ROBERT Spenser's back, frugal Papa, the Baptist ively direction of the excellent cast preacher, justifies his extravagance by quoting from the Bible all the way home.

QUILTS NOT ONLY figure in the plotlines of many vignettes and provide the structural framework for the musical, they decorate the theater as well. Fine examples of traditional quilt designs hang from Meadow Brook Theatre's walls:

The musical lets a quilt tell the life story of Sarah McKendree Bonham. Mary Rausch as Sarah portrays splendidly the practical toughness and wisdom of pioneer women. Nancy Krebs, another outstanding player in the fine cast, uses her deep voice and comic timing to create winning papas, cowpokes and tom-

Cheryl Carr, Shirleyann Kaladjian, Patti Perkins, Judith Reagan and Heldi White-round out the able cast of women. Their voices harmonize well as they sing hymns that strengthened the faithful and tunes whose lyrics and melodies echo the folk songs sung round campfires when Conestoga wagons rolled West.

Show for charity rewards players

By Bob Welbel special writer

7 RITING AND producing an original musical. comedy has to rank right up there with the most challenging ways to raise money for charity.

"But it's also one of the most rewarding," said Marcia Myers of Northville, representing the Redford Suburban League Theatre Guild, which will present its 32nd annual original musical comedy this week-

"We experience not only applause and the warmth of the spotlight for a moment or two, but a continuing. 'feel good' glow," Myers said. "We are able to donate $3,000-$4,000 annually for causes that need and deserve community support."

These include Special Olympics, Boys Club and a variety of Western Wayne County organizations for the mentally retarded.

THE SHOW, "Hardly Hollywood"

Markae Rupp of Livonía has the lead role of Irma Horseshack, and as you might suspect, our heroine meets up with a variety of interesting characters and bizarre situations. "Hardly Hollywood" will be performed at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 7 p.m. Sunday at Redford Union

> Myers' association with the theater guild goes back a long way. Her mother, Roberta Ramsey, who helped found the guild in 1957, appeared in more than 25 productions (including the first, "Around Miranda would love it. the World in 80 Minutes").

Myers is a relative newcomer-This is her fifth show. And, as with many in the cast of 35, she is a dancer and bit player.

There are six dance lines. 'We've been rehearsing at Miss Harrlet's Dance Studio in Livonia two or three, times a week since mid-January?"she said. Two of her favorite routines are the opening jazz number and a hot Conga dance featuring men dressed as women. Carmen

MYERS SAID the audience will get a kick out of seeing their friends and neighbors in unusual roles. Forexample, West Bloomfield Police Chief Al McGhee, appears as gangster "Al Capon" (any-connection to an eunuchized rooster is, of course. purely coincidental). As an extra added attraction he belts out a stirring rendition of "Razzle Dazzle."

Music is performed by an orchestra under the baton of professional Tom Aquino and features Broadway show tunes with new lyrics.

The writing started in September. Director Jackie Galazka of Livonia cast the show in January - and now three months later it's all coming together for opening night.

One of the biggest jobs has been costumes. $1,600 was budgeted to give the show that splashy, flashy Hollywood look. Costume head Audrey Maihofer and producer Diane Bateman, both of Redford, have been overseeing the fftting and cutting and predict the last few stitches will be completed about 15 minutes before curtain.

"We not only want to sell a lot of tickets," said Myers, "but we're always looking for new members (women and men over 21), so we can do an even better job next year." For membership information, call 937-

This production, the guild's 30th, features an original script written by members and dance numbers choreographed by Miss Harriet's Dance Studio in Livonia. Proceeds benefit Michigan's retarded residents.

show opened at Meadow Brook, Krebs described the plotline, saying, ''Quilters' is a musical based on a series of books that were written about women - pioneer women going out West, and how quilts figured very heavily in their lives and the art of quilt making and, not only their lives but, in extension, the lives f their men. It's a very powerful show, a very powerful show.22 Written by Molly Newman and Barbara Dameshek, "Quilters" was . first performed a number of years ago at the Denver Center for the Performing Arts.

Krebs is one of seven performers in the production, but she is the only one who is acting and playing two unique musical instruments - a mandolin and a violin, which is much more than the standard violin, the instrument on which she started her __musical career in seventh grade.

Both instruments were made by Mac Barnes III, a craftsman who is in his 30s. Her violin is a string in-pruggar, which was popular in the mid-1800s. There are a several reasons why it's special, besides the tone. It has five strings; a standard violin only has four strings. Fifth string on Krebs' instrument is a Cstring. Krebs' instrument has a lot of intricate carving in the wood, such as a carving of a head. The instrufirst one crafted by Barnes.

Krebs obtained the violin several years ago when her when she and her husband, Pete Baden, a professional studio musician, were visiting his close friend, violinmaker Kennie Lamb in Baton Rouge, La.

SHE BOUGHT the violin from Lamb, fell in love with the instrument, and later bought a mandolin from him. The mandolin is the second one Barnes handcrafted. Krebs and Lamb believe when historians write about the violin makers of the Krebs plays the instruments at the opening of act two, which is like a hoedown - loud and loaded with dancing and fun, and at the end of the production.

Raised in Baltimore, Krebs was trained in classical violin. One day she switched to fiddle-type rhusic. "I had more fun playing the bass fiddle than I ever had playing the violin;" she said.

For much of the 1970s, after graduating from the University of Maryland and doing graduate work at the Dallas Theater Center, she did sort of abandon her violin.

From 1980-1986, mostly in the summers, Krebs taught and performed in summer theater in Alaska. such as with the Alaska Repertory Company. "I was really lucky," she recalled. "I got to go — when working for Alaska Rep — I got to go places where normal Alaskans don't get to travel because travel in Alaska is so expensive — it's huge."

SHE AND A PARTNER would go to small villages and teach acting workshops.

"I learned a lot from that experience about how to treat natives," she said. She learned how the Eskimos.

as a people, are "not verbal people." She remembered how roll call took getting used to. At first, when ment also is special because it's the she announced a person's name, she expected some shout or a "yes" or something else. That never happened. She learned to call a name out and look up. If a person, such as a boy, raised his eyebrows, it meant that he was the person and that he was indicating "yes."

Is the team

concept part of the past?

left the White House and is retired in California. The immortal George Gipp, whom-Ronald Reagan portrayed in one of his earlier careers, is long gone but hardly forgotten. He remains the epitome of sports, a legend, an ideal. So what's happened?

- Sport used to mean sacrifice for the team. No more. Not in this age of stark realism, an age in which drugs, criminal abuse and an anything-for-money attitude have supplanted team goals, sportsmanship and the all-for-one belief that used to rule sports.

Examples surround us. Look no further than Ann Arbor, or maybe I should say Tempe, Ariz., or even Seattle, Wash. - just where is Bill Frieder nowadays, anyway? That question is easily answered - nowhere. Associates of mine want to insert his mug next to the word "buffoon" in Webster's next dictionary.

UNFORTUNATELY, I'M certain krieder will always consider himself a success, even though he abandoned his team when it needed him most (or, perhaps as history proved, needed him least). That's too bad, because his takecare-of-me-first attitude is all too prevalent — at all levels of sport.

At Oakland University, the men's basketball team was fighting an uphill battle in the Great Lakes Conference. Ferris State was the target, a target which eluded the Pioneers. It didn't help that starting guard Tony Howard deserted late in the season.

Missed practices, dubious injuries, then a failure to make a team bus ended Howard's paidfor career at OU. He can come back and play for the Pioneer's, according to coach Greg Kampe, but not under scholarship.

Why would Howard cripple his team's chances for a title, and possible NCAA Division II tournament berth? When questioned, he offered nothing more than the entire episode was "a misunderstanding."

By whom?

BRYAN WAULDRON was one of the heroes of Farmington Harrison's Class B football championship team. He was the goat of the Hawks' basketball campaign.

Wauldron may be the best example of the disintegration of the team concept in sports. After all, Harrison's basketball team was among the top-ranked in the state. Then, just before the state tournament started, he gult the team after a disagreement with coach Mike Teachman.

According to Wauldron, he left because he had a part-time job that conflicted with practice, and Teachman wouldn't give him a break. He needed the job to earn money for a trip to Florida over spring break, and to pay for awards to adorn his football letter jacket. But what about your teammates, Bryan? His answer: They

EXAMPLE NO. 3 is Rick Taylor. The Plymouth Salem product was euphoric when given the op-portunity to play NCAA Division I basketball at the University of Detroit two years ago.

Before his sophomore season concluded, he gult. Taylor's circumstances might best compare to former U-M coach Frieder's. Neither was really needed. Indeed, Taylor would have probably been better off playing Division II, if court-time concerned him. It's hard to convince high school kids of this. A contradiction is created. Success, young athletes are instructed, is the summation of hard work and determination. Being told you're not

Stavros regains form with record

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What Monica Stavros accomplished at the NCAA Northeast Regional gymnastic meet at Penn State last weekend wasn't as surprising as what she didn't accomplish at the Big Ten championships.

"Monica had a bad meet at the Big Ten," said Ohlo State coach Larry Cox "char med on the bars, missed on the beam. She was all right on the vault, then stepped off the mat on he floor exercise.

It all added up to trouble for Stavros, a senior at OSU from Westland John Glenn. "That was a bad one for me," she admitted. "I don't know why (I did so poorly). I was really excited for that meet. Maybe I was too excited."

Whatever, Stavros was more than ready for 'he regional. "It made me mad," she said of Churchili coach Kelly Graham hopes to win the WLAA league meet despite losing a talented group to graduation.

The Chargers, 11-1 in dual meets, fin-ished second to Plymouth Canton in the league meet a year ago.

Gone are All-Observer first-team selections Karen Kantor and Gretchen Lloyd as well as Colleen McPhee and Amy Riters. Kantor is now a track and cross country runner at the University of Detroit, while Lloyd, a sprinter, has re-turned to Churchill in a coaching capacity, assisting Graham.

"We're losing the four seniors who got a lot of points, but we have new girls who can fill in and get some points," Graham said. "It's just a matter of trying to figure out what events to put them in." Graham knows where senior returnee Taylor's skills are limited. He lacks the speed, quickness and jumping ability to play Division I basketball on a full-time basis.

BUT HE COULD have contributed, if only by working hard in pra& tice. Instead, he left a struggling team that was trying to prepare for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference tournament and took off for Florida.

The Titans' chances of winning the MCC tournament were slim, to be sure. But a year ago, they finished dead last in the conference, then advanced all the way to the tournament finals before losing. Their 1987-88 season ended one win shy of the NCAA tournament.

Taylor might have helped get U-D ready this year. Instead, his own interests took center stage. Titan coach Ricky Byrdsong confirmed Tuesday that Taylor won't be back. He is trying to transfer to a school in Florida, Byrdsong said.

None of this is meant as a defense of the institutions involved. Amateur athletics are modern-day dinosaurs. The only true amateur sports are those with few supporters.

I don't believe a school suffers greatly when its basketball team loses. But the players do. And when one person endangers his teammates' future, it's selfish. It's unfortunate. And it weakens the foundation sports is built upon.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

If last Tuesday's scrimmage was any indication, better days lie ahead of ninthyear coach Steve Dolloway.

No scores were kept at the 10-team scrimmage hosted by Franklin, but had there been, the Patriots would have finished the meet with 62 points. Last year, Franklin's performance at the same preseason meet would have earned the Patriots a paltry six points.

Franklin finished the '88 season at 3-5 in duals, and 11th at the league meet.

"Last year wasn't a banner year," Dolloway said. "But we had a great overall team attitude. Basically, we went with a lot of freshmen (in '88) and they're a year older.'

Dolloway must replace 10 seniors who graduated, including sprinters Jill Miller and Terra Abraham. Also gone is senior Jenny Fogg, the team's best 800 meter runner, who moved with her family to South Lyon. Dolloway has a talented list of sprinters returning including sophomores Tina Janeski, Jenny Hovarter and Christy Mplrine along with freshman Sue Bona. The Patriots also are deep in the distance events, where junior Dawn Harrison and senior Kristin Mackay return.

Freshman Kelly Gustafson, who also will compete in the long jump, will bolster the distance group. She was a sec-. ond-team All-Observer cross country member last fall.

·The Patriots might struggle in the field, where they are young. Four freshmen will get an opportunity to compete, highlighted by Gustafson, high jumpers Kris Celeski and Becky Latham and thrower Danielle Simon. Dolloway also is counting on junior Amy Lankford and sophomore Colleen Lai.

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS

Shelly Blanding, last year's Observer track woman of the year, graduated, but coach John McGreevey remains optimistic for the '89 season.

Blanding was instrumental in leading Borgess to a 9-1 dual-meet record, and a Catholic League title. The Spartans also were second at the Class B meet to champion Detroit St. Martin de Porres.

"That was a pretty good season," again and Flint Beecher looks good. We're a senior team this year and our six core seniors have to carry the load. They're good, but the year Shelly had was pretty awesome." Returning for their senior years are discus thrower Psi Hines and shot putter and sprinter Tanisha Stokes. The most impressive senior might be Michelle Gayney, an All-Observer first-team member in the mile, who also runs the two-mile. Gayney won the Spartan Relays 3,200 meter race last month, clocking 12.12.

Other seniors expected to contribute are low hurdler Akoco Boubai and sprinter Philana Hooper.

Senior Angi Ross, a first-team All-Ob-server pick last year in the hurdles, is no longer with the team because of disciplinary reasons, McGreevey said.

REDFORD THURSTON

Thurston's best returnees are sophomores, so coach Bob Lake has a lot to look forward to.

The Eagles were 3-5 last spring in duals, and finished fourth at the Tri-River League meet.

much even on all of them. A lot of all-arounders have a weak spot, but not Monica.

"She hit all four events at regional. She did a great job. It was one of the best meets she's had all year."

Stavros agreed that the floor exercise is probably her best, but she added, "Every event, when I do well in them, will score the same."

Now her season has been stretched another two weeks. The NCAA championship meet is April 14-15 at the University of Georgia in Athens. The top 12 teams in the nation will compete; OSU is ranked 12th.

To it will not be Stavros' first trip to the NCAAs. She and Somers both qualified individually last season, but that meet also proved to be a disappointment.

Stavros hurt her ankle in the first event, the floor exercise, and was unable to perform up to standard. "I learned from last year not to think about it as a big meet," she said. "Just go out and do my job. There's always that goal to be All-American, but that will be tough."

THE REASON Stavros thinks All-American status may be out of reach is the subjectivity of her sport. Whereas other athletic competitions are decided by times, baskets or goals, hers is judged, which allows for individual interpretation of performance. — and for bias. ...

Still, Stavros is certain her chances at a top-six finish and All-American status ("Floor or bars are shape.

my best, but I have a chance in vault, too") are much better because she attended OSU.

"I was the type of gymnast who could do a lot of tricks but couldn't put them together well into a routine," she said of her pre-OSU days. "I wasn't consistent at all. If I won, it was almost by luck.

"(Cox) taught me how to compete and how to be consistent. He taught me a lot of skills, too, but most important was his teaching me to be consistent and to compete."

Which is why, even though Stavros acknowledges her chances of making All-American are long at best, she's not giving in. She doesn't plan on finishing her gymnastic career with another Big Ten meet-type of performance. "I'm going to do my best," she vowed.

A superlative season hasn't ended yet for Canton's Bill Pye. A sophomore at Northern Michigan, Pye - voted his team's most valuable player - guided the Wildcats to the Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoff championship (he was tournament MVP) and into the NCAA tournament.

He had a 26-15-2 record, a 3.15 goals-against average and a save percentage of .904, logging leagueleading totals in games played, minutes and saves.

The season was extended for Pye when he was chosen to play for Team USA in the Pravda Cup this week in Leningrad . . :

The University of Michigan's basketball team isn't the only one with NCAA title aspirations. The baseball team was 12-4 prior to the start of Big Ten play (the Wolverines took three-of-four from Northwestern last weekend), and sophomore Greg Haeger, from Redford Catholic Central, had played a big role.

Haeger was tied for the team lead in runs batted in (16) and doubles (eight). He was batting .346 with two home runs and 18 hits in 52 at-bats. He leads U-M with 15 walks and is second in runs scored with 17.

Mary Hebert, an outfielder at Western Michigan from Garden City, helped the Bronco softball team win 10 of 11 games on its spring trip through Florida. She led the team in walks (five) and was batting .259, and she had WMU's only homer. Her 11 RBI was second best on the team. She also had two doubles . . .

Henry Miller, a sophomore righthanded pitcher at Wayne State from Livonia Franklin, picked up the save in the Tartars' 2-1 win over Siena Heights. Miller pitched the final two innings, allowing one hit while striking out three. Through 11 innings this season, Miller has a team-leading 0.82 earned run average . . .

A pair of Westland natives; sophomore Jennifer Okon and junior Gerald Clark, were honored at the Northern Michigan basketball banquet. ### Spring turkey season is open for a limited hunt PRING HAS sprung. I'm sure of it. The ice is gone from most southern Michigan inland lakes, and the Detroit Tigers open their home season tomorrow. More important, the spring turkey season is upon us. And according to Hugh Marx, Michigan chapter president of the National Wild Turkey Federation, there's a very good chance some lucky hunter will bag a new state record Tom this season.

Through a cooperative effort between the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan Chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation, wild ' turkeys have been planted and transplanted throughout the state since 1954. Last year's winter census indicated Michigan now supports a flock of better than 34,000 birds statewide.

Since 1983 the effort has been focused on establishing a flock in southern Michigan. This year, three areas of southern Michigan will be open to a limited hunt — the Waterloo, State Game Area (near Jackson), the Barry State Game Area (near Battle Creek)) and the Allegan State Game Area (near Kalamazoo). Two of those areas, Waterloo and Barry, will be opened for the first time. This is where Marx feels a new state record bird could come, r and agricultural areas is different than the woodland habitat in the northern part of the state. Because of this, the DNR has been stocking the southern section of the state with birds from areas of other states with similar habitat. The turkeys originally planted at Waterloo and Barry came from Missouri.

"The Missouri birds are from a strain of big birds." explained Marx. "They're big birds to begin with, and since there hasn't been a hunt over there yet, there could easily be some four- and five-year-old birds. Most Toms, in areas where they are hunted, only live for an average of two or three years. I'd bet a new state record will come from Waterloo or Barry."

LOCATING TURKEYS, obviously, is the first step in a successful hunt. Marx explained that the best area to start looking for Toms is where there is a lot of fresh sign. Look for tracks, droppings, scratchings and dusting areas. Even if you haven't received an answer to your call, if there is a lot of sign, chances are there are

"You've got to go where there is a lot of sign," Marx said. "A lot of times a Tom just won't gobble. If he's with his hens, or roosting where the hens are in sight, he won't have to gobble. But if you find an area with a lot of sign you'll know there are turkey in the area."

, Once you've located a bird and begin to call him in, it's best to begin with a low, selt call and increase the volume if you don't get a response. This way, if a Tom is close you won't scare him with a sudden burst of noise.

A VARIETY of calls can sometimes be helpful to entice a Tom to come in to you.

"If a bird has made an attempt to come toward you there is no need to switch calls," explained Marx. "But when a bird is taking an extremely long time to come. in, if he's hung up for some reason, you may want to switch calls. Or, if you know he's there but you can't gethim to gobble or come in, again, you may want to change calls."

Some hunters also prefer to back out of their present location and quietly circle around to another location before resuming to call.

Water beads right off Wolmanized EXTRA Weather-Resistant Lumber because it's got something "extra" — It's pressure treated with a special water repellent to prevent moisture penetration from rain and snow. All wood swells and expands when it absorbs moisture. As it dries, it releases moisture and shrinks. Constant expansion and contraction causes grain raising, checking, splintering and warping. Spray or brush-on water sealers just can't repel water like Wolmanized EXTRA Lumber — in laboratory tests Wolmanized EXTRA Lumber shows almost two-thirds more moisture resistance than pressure-treated lumber protected with a leading water sealer. Of course, this fantastic lumber is also pressure treated with chemicals for fifelong protection against termites, rot and decay. Don't settle for ordinary treated lumber. ### Nature has no 'opening day'

Knowing nature has many ad vantages and virtues.

For one thing, it's always there. One does not have to wait for opening day or a special season. Nature can be appreclated by people of all

And learning about nature and living things can help us appreciate our own place in this world and realize how complex it really is. ..

FOR THESE and for many other reasons, thousands of people in the United States are enjoying wildlife for its own sake.

The U.S. Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service, in fts newly published 1985 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife Associated Recreation, calls it "non-consumptive use of wildlife." In other words, the 85 million people feeding birds are not doing it so they can eat the chickadees.

This survey has been conducted non-consumptive use of wildlife.

In 1980, 93.2 million people over age 15 reported observing, photographing, or feeding wildlife. That figure rose to 134.7 million people in 1985 - a 44 percent increase.

THE INITIAL purpose of the survey was to determine the number of people fishing and hunting. But its purpose has expanded.

When the wildlife service in 1980 since 1955, but only in the 1980 and , surveyed sportsmen who hunt and the 1985 survey did it measure the fish, it learned 46 percent of them also fed birds, and that one of eve-

In 1985, nine out of 10 sportsmen participated in non-consumptive wildlife use, such as feeding or observing wildlife.

Of those people who are non-consumptive wildlife users, many travel more than one mile specifically to enjoy wildlife. And that number grew slightly, too, from 28.8 million in 1980 to 29.3 million

Our Great Lakes region boosts the second highest use by residents who enjoy wildlife in their backyards. Their numbers rose from 79.7 million in 1980 to 105.3 million in 1985 — a-32 percent increase.

Minimum wage is Michigan issue, too

(AP) — With Congress reviewing an increase in the federal minimum wage, the Michigan Legislature also is considering legislation that would raise the current minimum of $3.55

Supporters of the Michigan bills cite the plight of Julia Jefferson, a Saginaw mother of two who returned to government assistance after saying she couldn't afford to hold a job paying $4.15 an hour:

one of survival. She said she left her seasonal job at a Saginaw-area food processing plant because "you can't support two kids on those kinds of wages. You just can't do it:"

Stephen G. Scofes, chairman of the Michigan chapter of a businessgroup called the Minimum Wage Coalition to Save Jobs, estimated that Michigan would lose more than 23,000 jobs by 1990 if the minimum wage was increased.

MICHIGAN HAD about 182,000 people working at the current minimum wage of $3.35 an hour in 1988, according to U.S. Labor Department statistics.

The federal measure, now in the U.S. Senate for action in May, would mean increases not only for $3.35an-hour employees but for anyone else making less than $4.55.

Of 2.6 million hourly employees in Michigan in 1988, 542,000 made less than $4,50 an hour, and 352,000 of those made less than $4, according to federal figures.

For Jefferson, 31, the question is Michigan's minimum wage law matches the federal $3.35 an hour minimum but extends it to some areas not covered by federal law. such as small retail stores.

> STATE REP. ROBERT L. Emerson, D-Flint, has introduced a bill in the Michigan House that would raise the state minimum to $4.45 in 1990, $4.65 in 1991, $4.85 in 1992 and $5.10 in 1993.

A similar bill sponsored by Sen. John D. Cherry Jr., D-Clio, is pending in the state Senate Human Resources Committee. Aides for Emerson and Cherry sald Friday that no immediate action was expected.

Log home of their dreams from a kit

This is the second of two articles on log

By Arlene Funke special writer.

arol Sheehan Krauch is just an old-fashioned

Krauch and her husband, Ken, are living in the home of her dreams — a spacious log house the couple had built themselves on a five-acre, spread west of Plymouth. My mother always says I was born a few years too late," she said with a laugh. "I love old-fashioned things. I bake. I love antiques. And I enjoy being home with my family."

The Krauches, who have been married a little more than a year, took on a task that would dismay many people: They designed a house, then ordered materials from a kit and hired local construction crews to do much of the work.

Carol, a Redford native who has lived in Livonia and Plymouth, confesses that she has always wanted to live in a log house because it evokes nature and a throwback to earlier times.

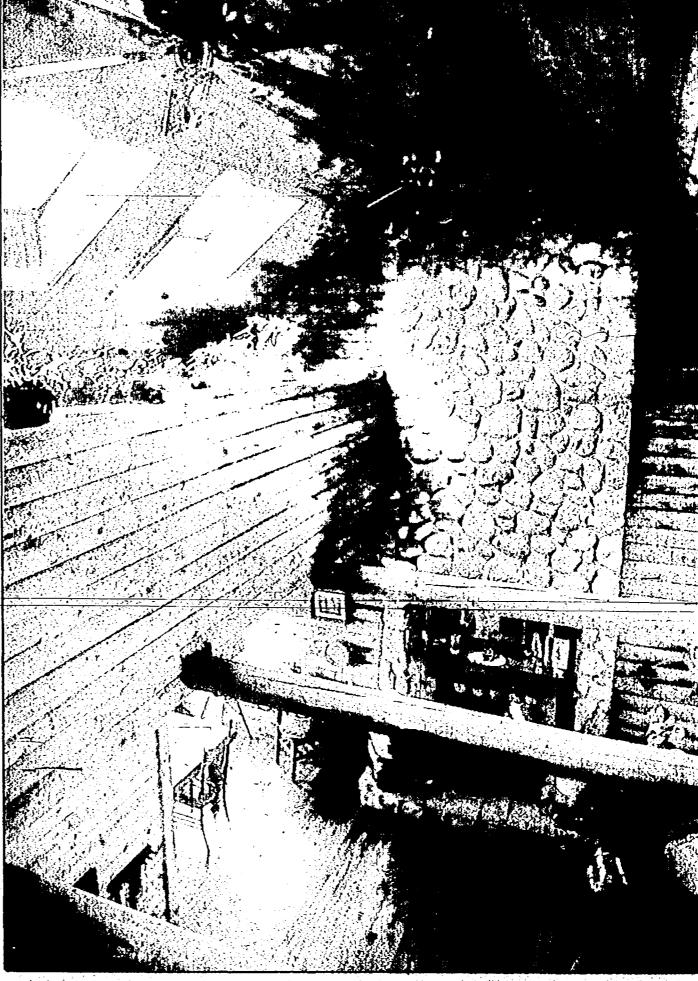

"I had seen log cabins up north, and I've always liked them," said Carol, 39.

BUT THE KRAUCH HOME IS no rustic wilderness cottage. It's a natural, country style with warmth and comfort. The house encompasses 4,000 square feet of living space, with five bedrooms, one full bathroom, three half-baths and a great room with cathedral ceiling and stone-and-oak custom fireplace. The rounded log walls lend an outdoorsy ambience. "I can't stand little cubbyholes," Carol said of the open, flowing style.

The home serves as a model for Wilderness Log Homes of Wisconsin, the firm from which the Krauches purchased their kit and supplies. The company projects a saving of 15-25 percent for people who act as their own contractors.

Artists' concerns is workshop focus

In a little bit of a switcheroo, the Livonia Arts Commission will do something for artists themselves other than show their handwork.

The event will be an all-day workshop Saturday, April 15, focusing on concerns artists have in their search

Open to all area artists, the workshop will meet from 10' a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Livonia Civic Center Library. A "brownbag" lunch break will enable the group to tour the new library facility on Five Mile Road and also view the public art collection the city is assembling, thanks to efforts of the arts commission and other civic organizations, League.

Untidy soul's love affair with books

0&E feature writer Victoria Diaz is the new Book Break columnist. She replaces Mona Grigg, who gave up the column to do some serious fiction writing. This is Diaz's first column. It will appear every other week in the Creative Living section.

SK ANYBODY what they like to read, and their answer will tell you a lot about who they are. It's a question I almost always bring up when I'm interviewing someone for an article, and trying to find out what they're really like.

So, as a way of introducing myself, I thought I'd take you on a brief tour of my bookshelves and show you some of my favorite books. It won't tell you everything there is to know about me - I seriously doubt you want to know that, anyway - but I think the little trek will go far toward getting us much better acquainted.

TO BEGIN with, my bookshelves are a godawful mess. In fact, if clutter makes you nervous, maybe you'd better just skip this altogether, for we are talking major league disarray here. One of the reasons my bookshelves are so messy, I suppose, is because many of them aren't really bookshelves. Come to the place I call home and you will find books scattered over desks, tables, chairs, floors, stairways, dresser drawers, cardboard boxes and other books. Another reason for the mess is that the bookshelves are not just bookshelves. They are also resting spots for the Free Press, the News. The Observer and Eccentric, the New York Times, weekly magazines, monthly magazines, catalogs, comic books, every crossword puzzle ever devised, church bulletins, school newsletters....

BUT ENOUGH about that. Let's get this tour under way by taking a quick look at what's in this teetering stack of books you're about to trip

How's this for eclectic taste? "Great Experiments in Blology" alongside Dickens', "Bleak House." "The Big Broadcast," a history of the golden days of radio, atop "The Poems of Tennyson" and Jackle Cooper's 1981 autobiography, "Please Don't Shoot My Dog." A volume of Sylvia Plath poetry and "Your Own Computer" and "How To Grow Roses," Melvyn Bragg's new blography of Richard Burton, side by side by side with "Gulliver's Travels" and Oliver Sacks' offbeat psychological studies, "The Man Who Mistook His Wife for a Hat."

Just last week, I added John Gardner's new novel, "A Prayer For Owen Meany," and Paul Theroux's "Half Moon Street" to all this.

Somewhere around here, I have to find room for E.L. Doctorow's new novel, "Billy Bathgate," and Dutch Leonard's latest, "Killshot," and Rebecca Fraser's "The Brontes."

The other day, I found a hard-Hound collection of short stories by John Updike for only $3.98. I think I could wedge it in over here, somewhere between "The Annotated Al-ice" and "The Official NFL Record Book." What do you think?

And so it goes,

IT'S HARD to choose a favorite. Maybe Pat Conroy's "The Prince of Tides"? Tom Wolle's "The Bonfire of the Vanitles"? "Wuthering Heights"? Joan Givner's blography

Several readers had questions about leather.

Q. I found your column on leather interesting. I am considering leather for my living room, but have no idea as to who would be a good source for me. I have been shopping the furniture stores and find a very small selection in the various lines I have

Can you suggest a place where I might be able to see a diversified line of leather that is a reputable source?

A. Baker Knapp and Tubbs represent a fine leather line called Contemporary Hides. I have used their leather over many years. I find their line imaginative and most reputable, If you are working with an interior designer, ask to see the line at the Design Center. If you are considering furniture from a store, tell them vou would like to see the Contemporary Hides line. They will be able to get the leather from the showroom.

Q. Would it be good decorating to have leather in the living room and the library or den?

A. Limit the leather to one room. I would use the leather in the room that would be most used.

Q. After reading your column on leather, I have decided to reupholster our family room sofa in leather. The sofa has a wood frame. How should I have the sofa finished, with welt or nailheads? The style is country French.

A. Nailheads.

of Katherine Anne Porter? Reynolds, Price's "Kate Vaiden"?

See what I mean? I like short story collections, blographies, books on writing, books that assure me I can look 21 again, and books on books.

I like art books, gardening books; books on the theater, on psychology and psychiatry, books on movies, nature, sports.

I am always attracted to travel books, and probably the most beautiful book I own is "Journey Across Russia.'

FOR SOME reason, somewhere along the line, I seem to have developed an inordinate affinity for what some call Tales of Terror.

I happen to believe that you haven't lived if you have not-yet spent a dark and stormy night with, Daphne du Maurier's "Don't Look Now" or "Kiss Me Again, Stranger." The same goes for Rachel Ingalls' creepy love story, "Mrs. Caliban," or Thomas Tryon's strange tale, "The Other."

Farmington Road, Livo-No, I don't have any rare or antique books. The closest thing to that that you'll find here is an 1899 copy sored by the St. Aldan of James Lane Allen's American Cultural Society. Adclassic, "The Choir Invisible:"mission is $5; senior cit-

I'HOPE, as we've moved along, that none of you has been shocked at the dog-eared, coffee-stained, fingermarked conditions of some of the books.

Some that are especially "wellread," like Denise Levertov's "The Poet in the World," or any of the short story collections I own, may even harbor a cookie crumb or two. since one of my favorite ways to spend my allotted moments in this vale of tears is to eat and read at the same time.

I also write notes to myself in the margins of these pages at times, underline phrases I want to remember, or embellish whole paragraphs with exclamation points - sins considered by many bibliophiles to be as red as the ink I use to commit the crime. Sorry, but it's just the way I am. I suppose that's what happens when such an untidy soul falls in love with books.

Rustic-style happiness came in a kit

The Krauches are part-time dealers for Wilderness. They conduct periodic seminars and open houses for prospective customers. For information, call 455-0484.

At first Ken Krauch, 33, was startled back when Carol expressed her wish for a log home, a popular style in western states. At the time tho two were engaged to be married. .

"He looked at me like I had 10 heads," Carol recalled. Once the decision was made, the couple ordered brochures from companies that deal in log housing. They finally settled on Wilderness, based in Plymouth, Wis., north of Milwaukee. Wilderness offered more than 50 model choices, starting from

as small as one-bedroom, one-bath

The Krauches' custom-designed kit cost approximately $60,000. That price covered logs, interior tonguein-groove walls, insulation, doors. shingles and other components. It also included the cost of shipping.

APPROXIMATELY $35,000 THAT Carol had realized from the sale of her house in Plymouth was used to buy a 5.5-acre parcel of land on North Territorial, about five miles west of Sheldon Road, in largely rural Salem Township.

"We used the property as collater-al," Carol said. "I think it helps to have your land."

The Krauches said they experienced no difficulty in obtaining ei-

Symphony offers 'Pizza and Pops'

The exhibition Hall at Domino Farms in Ann Arbor will be the scene tomorrow night of cabaret pops concert by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. Featuring pizza and "pops," the musical event will being at 8 p.m., but show-goers are encouraged to come early and browse through the Frank Lloyd Wright Museum, nearby on the Domino site, which will be open 7-8 p.m.

Museum admission is $1. Concert tickets are $10 and include refreshments. Advance ticket sales are suggested. Tickets are available at Beitner Jewelry, 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail in downtown Plymouth, or by calling 451-2112.

Featured will be music of Scott Joplin, Marvin Hamlisch, "Stars Wars Medley" and "That's Entertainment."

ther a mortgage or insurance for their home, which carries a Plymouth mailing address and is located in the Plymouth-Canton school dis-

The couple attended a two-day seminar in Wisconsin. They hired a crew from Wilderness to put up the shell, including logs and insulation. That procedure, which cost $15,000,. took about two months. .

Panic set in the day the "kit" of building materials arrived in four; 45-foot semitractor trailers.

"They were all lined up on North Territorial, Carol recalled. "There were all these bundles of logs. I thought, what have we done? Are we ever going to be able to do this?"

The Krauches selected pine for its warmth and utilized an option that incorporates extra insulation. The logs also are available in cedar. 🦿

"It's a 13-inch thick wall," Carol said. "It's just a very warm house." Interior walls are flat, tongue-ingroove panels which fit together. Only the bathrooms, because of dampness, were constructed with drywall, rather than wood. It took about six months to construct the house.

Local crews were hired, at a total cost of around $26,000, to do the interior work. For some, it was their first experience with log construction. Coordinating the different tasks required much juggling, and some crews had to be replaced.

"REALLY, IN THE LONG RUN, we were just glad it was built and over with," Carol said.

A few weeks after the house was completed, about 80 friends and family members celebrated as Carof and Ken were married in front of Carol's cherished fireplace. The fireplace is encircled with eye-catching stonework. The mellow, honey-hued oak fireplace cover dates to around 1910 and came from a home in Detroit that was going to be razed.

The log house has become a haven for the busy Krauches. Both Ken and Carol hold full-time sales jobs. Carol also has additional demands as a part-time college student and
