WESTLAND restaurants will strut their stuff next month at the first International Taste of Westland Festival.

The event is slated for 7 p.m. Sunday, June 25, at Westland Center.

In addition to sampling American and ethnic delicacles prepared by local chefs, festivalgoers will dance to music from around the world. Door prizes will be awarded.

The festival will benefit the Westland Cultural Society, which sponsors summertime concerts in the park and other activities.

Tickets, at $20 each, are available at the Westland Center office or information booth, city hall, the Friendship Senior Center and the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

ROCKETS AND TULIPS sound like an odd mix.

But that won't be the case Saturday when the John Glenn High School Rocket Marching Band hoofs it to Holland, Mich., to march in the annual Holland Tulip Festival Parade.

The parade invite is one of several activities keeping the band busy through graduation ceremonies next month, said Norman Logan, John Glenn director of instrumental music.

The band will join the school's other fine arts departments in celebrating Fine Arts Week at the school, May 30-June 2. Concerts, demonstrations and other activities are planned.

MAYOR CHARLES

Griffin is boning up on Dearborn and Dearborn Mayor Mike Guido is probably trying to pinpoint Westland on the map this week as the two prepare for Mayor's Exchange Day.

The exchange — part of the city's annual Michigan Week Celebration — is set for Tuesday, when Guido will visit Westland, and Monday, May 22, when Griffin will travel to Dearborn.

Westland city officials are planning an entire day of activities for the Guido entourage, including a tour of city buildings, a luncheon and an evening reception at the St. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church and Social Center.

THE WESTLAND

Convalescent Center and the Garden Nursing Center in Wayne will mark National Nursing Home Week with a number of special activities through Saturday.

Westland Convalescent Center events include concerts by the Garden City High School Chorus, 3:15 p.m. Tuesday and the Dyer Center Kitchen Band, 2 p.m. Friday. An art exhibit will be on display in the center courtyard all week.

Activities at the Garden Nursing Center include a resident bowling tournament Tuesday and an Ice Cream Social 2 p.m. Friday.

TWO WESTLAND residents will be headed to Disney World in Orlando, Fla., after winning a Mother's Day Contest sponsored by a radio station. Keyin Malaric and Kim Bartlett were among 11 contestants who turned in winning essays on why they love their mom.

WESTLAND resident Kelly McWilliams has completed an advanced restaurant operations course at the McDonald's Corp. Hamburger University, Oak Brook, Ill.

McWilliams received Instruction in customer service, quality control, equipment fundamentals, sanitation and malatenance.

Fireman dies in boating mishap

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Westland firefighter Robert Wallace Foust drowned Thursday while fishing on Lake LeAnn, in Hillsdale County, hours after working to extinguish a major fire at a Westland retall center Wednesday night.

Services were held Sunday at Uht Funeral Home on Glenwood west of Wayne Road, with burial to be Tuesday in Lake City, Tenn.

A memorial luncheon sponsored by the fire department was held Sunday afternoon in Bailey Recreation

A spokesman for the Hillsdale County Sheriff's Department said Friday the investigation into the incident is continuing, although preliminary reports indicate the drowning was accidental.

The spokesman said Foust, 23, and colleague Mark Wilhide were in a small fishing boat when it capsized in strong winds about 2 p.m.

The two were apparently swimming to shore when Foust drowned police said. Police said Wilhide escaped uninjured.

Foust's body was recovered by a rescue team at 4:40 p.m., in eight feet of water about 20 feet from shore, according to police.

"He was a real good kid from a firefighters' family," Fire Chief Larry Lane said Friday. "He considered being a firefighter a special career."

During his three years with the department, Foust received several letters from residents complimenting his work, Lane said.

Foust also took an active role in the department's various prevention programs, teaching EMS and CPR classes and talking to youth groups at the Westland fire safety house.

Before joining the fire department nearly three years ago, Foust attended Henry Ford Community College on a baseball scholarship.

Earlier, he lettered in baseball. football and basketball at Churchill High School where he was also baseball co-captain and football captain.

As a youngster, Foust attended Jefferson, Eisenhower, and Johnson Elementary Schools and Lowell Junior High.

Foust's father said his son was an active hunter and fisherman, a good swimmer, in excellent health, and played on the Adray baseball team.

The younger Foust was offered a baseball scholarship from a college in Pennsylvania but turned it down to join the Westland Fire Department, the father said

MAYOR CHARLES Griffin called the incident "a real tragedy."

"The loss of one of our best young firefighters is a real loss to the community," Griffin said.

Survivors are his wife, Teresa; parents, Wallace and Katherine Foust of Westland; a sister, Debra; and grandmothers Mary Hope Foust and Mildred G. Freda.

Memorial contributions may be made to the City of Westland Fire Department, Robert W. Foust Memorial Fund, 36601 Ford, Westland 48185.

Fire official: Blaze started in heating unit

The fire that gutted most of the Hunter Park Plaza shopping center Wednesday apparently started in a heating unit mounted underneath the roof in the center's northeast corner, said Westland Fire Marshal Robert Perry.

Perry said investigators were still trying to determine the exact cause of the fire Friday afternoon.

"We've got an engineer coming in to take a look at the heating unit and then maybe we'll know more," he

Perry estimated damage to the exterior and contents of the 2-yearold strip shopping center, on the north side of Warren Road east of Venoy, at about $600,000.

Nobody was injured in the fire, which began about 6:30 p.m. in a party store. Other damaged businesses included the Celebration store, a party goods store, the Sara Lee factory outlet, Regal Cleaners and Karen's Flowers and Gifts.

Arts program brings own 'Fame' to district

By Kevin Brown staff writer

When the Creative and Performing Arts program started three years ago, some in the Livonia Public Schools didn't know what to make of

The first couple of years were rocky," said Sy Levine, art and music coordinator for the district, which includes the northern section of Westland. "There was a view of, Who are these people intruding on us, what's different than what we're doing already?"

"If you've seen what they're producing, you can assess what the difference is."

ON A rear wall in Barb Demgen's visual arts room, one spots a striking watercolor of a woman's face, done in shades of blue.

Pointing to the student's bold brush strokes, Demgen speaks of "the courage to do that."

"I have kids who are loving art. They are all so motivated, they are totally committed to art."

administrators toured schools including La Guardia High School in New York (the "Fame" school), the Interlochen fine arts school, and a high school for performing arts in Cinncinatti.

The Livonia schools were able to start the program - rare among area school districts - because declining high school enrollment created space to house it, Levine said.

"And there's funds for gifted and talented programs," he added. Federal funds pay for about 25 percent of CAPA operations, Levine said. _

ORIGINALLY, ADMINISTRA-TORS considered establishing the program in a separate building, and attracting students from other dis-

Of the latter idea, Levine said, "a new superintendent and the board may choose to do that."

CAPA's 100 students can choose from classes in art, music, dance and theater in five rooms at Churchill High. Levine said he expects the number of students enrolled in CAPA — they must pass a screening process to qualify - to grow to about 160 next fall.

Eventually, he said, enrollment "will probably plateau at 200-250."

City starts anti-arson program

The Westland fire department has started a program aimed at reducing juvenile arson.

The Juvenile Firesetter Program involves education by firefighters and counseling from outside agen-

"The purpose of the program is to evaluate and educate children involved in fire play," said fire department Capt. George Riley.

Riley said 40 percent of all arson fires are set by juveniles, "some from curiosity, others with the intent to destroy property or harm loved ones." Arson fires are responsible for $1.8 billion in damages across the country each year, according to

Some 12,000 people and 125 fire-

Arts program brings own 'Fame' to district

By Kevin Brown staff writer

When the Creative and Performing Arts program started three years ago, some in the Livonia Public Schools didn't know what to make of

"The first couple of years were rocky," said Sy Levine, art and musice coordinator for the district, which includes the northern section of Westland.

"There was a view of, 'Who are these people intruding on us, what's different than what we're doing already?""

"If you've seen what they're producing, you can assess what the difference is."

ON A rear wall in Barb Demgen's visual arts room, one spots a striking watercolor of a woman's face, done in shades of blue.

Pointing to the student's bold brush strokes, Demgen speaks of "the courage to do that."

"I have kids who are loving art. They are all so motivated, they are totally committed to art."

In hopes of starting an arts program in Livonia, Levine and other administrators toured schools including La Guardia High School in New York (the "Fame" school), the Interlochen fine arts school, and a high school for performing arts in Cinncinatti.

The Livonia schools were able to start the program - rare among area school districts - because declining high school enrollment created space to house it, Levine said.

"And there's funds for gifted and talented programs," he added. Federal funds pay for about 25 percent of CAPA operations, Levine said. ORIGINALLY, ADMINISTRA-TORS considered establishing the program in a separate building, and attracting students from other dis-

Of the latter idea, Levine said, "a new superintendent and the board may choose to do that."

CAPA's 100 students can choose from classes in art, music, dance and theater in five rooms at Churchill High. Levine said he expects the number of students enrolled in CAPA — they must pass-a screening process to qualify - to grow to about 160 next fall.

Eventually, he said, enrollment "will probably plateau at 200-250."

Amy Sovey, a CAPA student, said some students may take a traditional drama class for an easy credit. But in CAPA, "most of us want to go

"There's more of a want" to excel, adds CAPA student Sam Singh.

Singh, who plans to major in business and law in college, said attending CAPA classes has helped him become a better traditional student.

Alicia Bewernitz, a CAPA theater student, said that besides getting training in theater, "It helps you go up in front of another group and Bewernitz recently auditioned for and got the part of 11-year-old Martha in the premiere of "Private Rights," to be performed at the Music Hall in Detroit. "We foster these opportunities,"said CAPA director Steve Kosinski, himself a former actor in stage plays and television in New York

IN ADDITION to nine credits earned in CAPA for graduation, "They've got to have 14 other hours for graduation," Levine said.

Kosinski said it's interesting to watch students expand their tastes in the arts through CAPA classes.

At the start of music classes, "Three-fourths of the class always hates the show tunes or the jazz tunes," he said, but they eventually get into them.

At 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, CAPA students will perform "The Bad Seed" by Maxwell Anderson in the auditorium of Churchill on Newon to college," she said, to study arts. burgh north of Joy. Tickets are $4.

Fair set for Webelos scouts

All Westland Webelos Scouts who are "crossing the bridge" to Boy Scouting are invited to attend the first Webelos Transition/Registration Day. The activity will take place from 7-9 p.m. Thursday at the Schoolcraft College Green at Seven Mile and Newburgh roads. This Webelos Transition Fair, a pilot program in the Gemini district, is a first for the entire state as well. It is the intent of the district, which includes Westland, that every Webelos Scout who wants to go on to Boy Scouting have that opportunity.

Boy Scout troops will have representatives on hand to help the undecided Webelos Scouts in their transfer to Boy Scouts.

All participants will receive a copy of the Boy Scout handbook, special certificates and other items of recognition that only will be distributed at the fair.

After the graduation ceremony, the boys and their families will be invited to participate in the district's ice cream social, which is included in the fee of $9 per family.

City starts anti-arson program

The Westland fire department has started a program aimed at reducing juvenile arson.

The Juvenile Firesetter Program involves education by firefighters and counseling from outside agen-

"The purpose of the program is to evaluate and educate children involved in fire play," said fire department Capt. George Riley.

Riley said 40 percent of all arson fires are set by juveniles, "some from curiosity, others with the intent to destroy property or harm loved ones." Arson fires are responsible for $1.8 billion in damages across the country each year, according to fighters are killed each year from all types of fires.

Children enrolled in the program receive educational information at the main Westland fire station and then are referred to a professional counseling agency. The program includes six hours of one-to-one counseling with each child.

Appointments may be made by contacting Riley at 467-3236.

McNamara backs gas tax increase

By Wayne Peat staff writer

Count Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is among those pushing for an increase in the state's gasoline tax.

"We absolutely have to have a gasoline tax increase," McNamara said Wednesday in an address to area business leaders.

Raising the gasoline tax would pay for badly needed road repairs, McNamara said

"It's the fairest tax in the world. You're being taxed because you use the roads," he said.

Major Wayne County projects that could be completed were the tax increased include the widening of Eight Mile Road in Livonia, McNamara said.

OPPONENTS TO the proposed 2-cent-per-gallon increase include Gov. James Blanchard.

Blanchard recently said he was doubtful the increase would be approved.

Agreement between the governor and Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, is essential, McNamara said.

"If John Engler and the governor don't agree, then we're not going to have it," he said.

McNamara also supported the increase in testimony before a House committee.

McNAMARA ADDRESSED more than 160 business leaders at a Livonia Chamber of Commerce luncheon at Schoolcraft College. The event was held in conjunction with the annual Ligonia business Expo.

McNamara also said the county would continue to fight the proposed takeover of Northwest Airlines, no matter who was doing the bidding.

Though Los Angeles financier Marvin Davis has mounted a takeover bid, Northwest is also-subject to a rumored takeover plan by Pan American Airlines.

Either bid would plunge the new owner into heavy debt, McNamara said, rendering Northwest unable to pay for major airport expansion. "A leveraged buyout is what we don't want,"McNamara said. Pan Am's existing debt, coupled with the takeover cost, would render Northwest unable to pay for the $800 million to $1 billion in Metro Airport renovation costs and expansion.

deemed necessary by the county. Northwest is responsible for more passenger flights at Metro than any other commercial carrier. Under the airport's operating agreement, the airlines are responsible for the cost of improvements

The county has gone to court to block the takeover.

U.S. Rep. Bob Carr, D-East Lansing, has introduced legislation that would make it tougher for bidders to take over airlines. Carr's bill would force bidders to prove they could provide safe and reliable transportation before they could take over an airline. The U.S. Secretary of Transportation would be empowered to review bidders' safety claims.

State to aid school pensions

School districts in danger of getting stuck next fall with employees' pension costs are getting encouraging news from state senators.

The appropriations subcommittee on K-12 schools is putting $103 million back in the budget for pensions and Social Security. It will reject Gov. James Blanchard's effort to cap the state contributions.

"This bill completely restores what the governor would take out for Social Security," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, a member of the panel who is supporting the Republican effort. "This is really big. The out-of-formula districts were going to have to eat the whole thing.'

"The governor was going to hold it to the '89 figure," he said - $265 million for the Public School Employees' Retirement System and $340 for social security.

BLANCHARD, supported by a House of Representatives vote, sought to pass on to local districts the increases in his fiscal 1990 budget - $60 million for the pension fund and $43 million for Social Security.

"The House bill was going to hit out-of-formula districts, very heavily." said Faxon after a committee hearing last week.

"They feel out-of-formula districts shouldn't get anything (from the state) and should give up their tax base to poorer districts."

Other subcommittee members are Chairman Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, R-Lowell, and William Sederburg, R-East Lansing.

THE PANEL'S change is part of an effort to increase K-12 school funding without a proposed state sales tax increase.

Sens. DeGrow and-Jack-Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, say another $295 million could be channeled into schools. They pointed to a Senate Fiscal Agency report which says: Blanchard's budget underestimates state Schools get state money from two pots: $2.8 billion from the protected school aid fund (including the lottery) and $540 million from the general fund, according to Blanchard's budget. The DeGrow-Welborn plan would hike the total by nearly 10

They are backed by Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, who told DeGrow to draft a two-year budget based on it.

BUT APPROPRIATIONS Chairman Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, said he has serious reservations about the DeGrow-Welborn plan.

Gast is drafting legislation to boost the sales tax to 6 percent from 4 percent - an effort that would require voter approval of a constitutional amendment.

That plan would provide $400 million in new school money and $1.2 billion for property tax relief.

Blanchard and Senate minority leader Art Miller, D-Warren, also are cool to it.

DeGROW DOUBTS voters will support a sales tax increase....

"I'm just increasingly pessimistic we'll get an agreement to put a school finance proposal on the ballot," he said.

"The intent is to put priorities into K-12 education," Welborn said.

Larry Chunovich, president of the Michigan Education Association, said the Republican plan might actually hinder consideration of more sweeping ideas.

"I'm afraid if it were to be given any serious consideration, that would hinder meaningful school finance reform for several years to come," said Chunovich, a former Southfield math teacher starting his fourth two-year term as state president of the union.

Who's a guy gonna pick on anymore?

IT'S GETTING tough to find a group to pick on these days.

The latest outfit serving notice that it's mad as hell and won't take it any more is the Moonies - who-o-oops! — the Unification Church.

That group's supporters recently took out a full-page ad in Editor & Publisher, my industry's trade mag, to attack U.S. News & World Report for an article on the church's support of certain nonprofit groups.

The point of their ad was that calling them "Moonies" amounts to an enic slur. "So why single out the Unification Church? Could it be because its leader is Korean and many of its members are Asian? If so, why not just say it?"

ONE CAN'T pick on Islam either, as Salman Rushdie, author of "The Satanic Verses," learned the hard way. The Ayatollah Khohmeini put a price on his head.

There is ample authority in holy scripture for such a sentence: "And he that blasphemeth the name of the Lord, he shall surely be put to death, and all the congregation shall certainly stone him: as well the stranger, as he that is born in the land, when he blasphemeth the name of the Lord, shall be put to death." (Leviticus, 24:16.)

In other words, even if one is not, like Rushdie, born into the Islamic faith, "the stranger" would be subject to death for committing their version of blasphemy.

LAST YEAR conservative Christians declared their beliefs off limits even when they weren't attacked. report this on the basis of the Michigan Republican credentials fight several months prior to the na-spent fully one-third of their time complaining that they were sick and tired of being insulted, mocked and ridiculed because of their religious faith. Actually, none of the Bush mainliners ever said a word in that forum about anyone's religious faith, and I remain uncertain what the source of these alleged insults might have been.

The Robertsonite message got across, however. From there on, you never saw a newsman or heard a Republican politico call them "Bible CATHOLICS have been off limits since John Kennedy won the White House in 1960.

But in my youth, I recall hearing serious discussions of how Catholics weren't loyal Americans because they swore allegiance to a foreign ruler, the pope. And older generations recorded slurs about "popish plots." Indeed, many newspaper copy editors still insist on inserting the word "Roman" in front of "Catholic."

Not only can we not attack Jews without incurring the wrath of the Anti-Defamation League, but you're in deep if you imply all Jews are rich, as a state senator did last year. And if someone asks why so many blacks are good athletes, don't an-

THE PROFESSIONAL Italians are all over you if you equate the entire nation with the Mafia. Once I considered buying a bumper sticker that said "Mafia staff car — Keep-a you hands off!" but cowardice carried the day.

Locker room humor is becoming off limits because much of it is, or used to be, directed at nubile women.

The only group left that one can insult with impunity is white, suburban males. They are a bunch of materialistic Yuppies, worse, they're secular humanists, which is one of the dirtiest things you can call anybody.

And of course, they are racists. If they're not overt racists, they are subtle racists or practitioners of institutional racism.

Gosh, it's great to have at least one group to pick on in this compassionate, sensitive, kinder, gentler nation.

Pet ownership can offer us much love

THEY REMINDED us last week that "happiness is a healthy pet."

To that, I would agree. Twelve-year-old Charlie the Cat reminds me of that every day. He sort of meanders around the house, until a flicker of light or a moving string catches his eye. Then he's as frisky as a kitten. For an older cat who was the runt of the litter, he's a pretty healthy guy.

It hasn't been without cost.

Pet health is something everyone should be aware of before taking on the responsibility of pet ownership. There's a lot more to sharing life with a pet than having a ball of furand fluff to cuddle. They're living things that can develop many of the same heal(n problems as humans.

And those who take home a puppy, kitten or other animal to love, better be ready to foot the bill for preventive medicine, special foods if needed and time out to handle behavioral problems should they develop. Caring for a pet can be expensive, although I have found veterinarians to be most reasonable in the fees they charge.

A FEW years ago, an aide in my vet's office apologized as she handed me a $150 bill.

"Oh dear, that's a lot," she said, after adding up the costs of a fourday stay, tests, continuous intravenous fluids and a myriad of medication, some of which I was taking home with me. She looked at me with concern. I gladly paid it. To me, having my companion of many years in a healthy state was well worth the investment.

Despite his constant begging at the dinner table and the drool marks on the sofa back, the little pest is still lovable. Payback to the investment comes when he curls up on your lap on a cold day, or keeps you company when you're sick.

Many people don't realize they may spend the next 10-20 years with a pet when they bring one home. And they don't think about the health problems those pets might encounter as they grow older, which might require special, daily-medications-oreven surgery. The experts tell us that pets, just like humans, are living longer and longer today because of improvements in veterinary med-money, and have their pets put to sleep when the expense is too great. Some people just can't spend the money, and that is understandable.

There are others who simply grow tired of caring for their pets, and just take them to a park, or leave them behind when they move. The responsible thing to do is to try to find them a home — and to take them to a shelter or have them put the Farmington Observer.

to sleep as a last resort.

A pet is more than a short-term visitor. He is a longtime companion and a member of the family; adjustments will be made to lifestyles because of him.

Special arrangements will be made for family vacations, the pet food aisle at the grocery store will become a regular stopping place, and certain parts of the house will suddenly no longer belong to you. In most cases, humans are happy and more fulfilled for having a pet or

Business spending key in Blanchard, Engler battle

By Tim Richard staff writer

In the state budget, the Commerce Department is one of the smallest. But it figures to be in the center of the Blanchard vs. Engler gubernatorial battle of 1990.

"We're listening to you. Cooperation works," said Gov. James J. Blanchard, a Democrat preparing to seek a third term. In Novi last week, he told several hundred small business owners at an awards luncheon: "Every item on our agenda came from the small business communi-

"They're constantly announcing, new programs, new initiatives," said Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, the probable GOP challenger. "So the staff constantly travels across Michigan sort of spreading the good news of the present administration rather than helping people to be more competitive. Costs speak louder than advertisements," Engler said in a recent interview at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The difference: Blanchard advocates literally five dozen programs to promote business; Engler sees most as mere "public relations. . . an extension of the Democratic State Committee" and wants to hold down state spending.

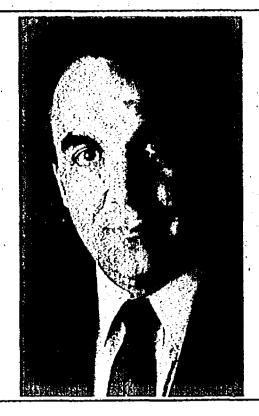

LAST WEEK Blanchard used the Novi forum to push his latest program for the "job-generating machine," but already it had been rejected by Senate Republicans.

Blanchard said he's asking $1 million so the state can contract with private business consultants to

"High-tech initiatives usually take longer to develop than traditional programs because they hinge on the development and commercialization of new technologies," they wrote in the March issue.

Meanwhile, Blanchard cites the accomplishments of other help-business programs: consulting services to small firms on how to reduce workers comp costs; encouragement of a new venture mechanism called BIDCOs (business and industrial development corporations), whose legislative sponsor was a Republican; and air access to the Traverse City

"The small business owner could never get as good a price," said Jeff Padden, the former legislator who is the small business advocate in Blanchard's Commerce Department.

"CORPORATE WELFARE," a House Republican staff memo said of the Blanchard proposal.

Senate Republicans cut or eliminated that and several other Commerce Department budget items minority advertising, the "highly politicized" Michigan promotion program and others.

Said Engler: "We've taken out 150 vacancies in the Department of Commerce that were funded but not filled. If the department functions well without the vacancies being filled, then to fill them now represents a program expansion.

"In the Yes Michigan program, we actually increased money for tourism, but we're targeting that money out of state to bring people to Michigan — not to tell ourselves and pat ourselves on the back.

"We would like to see more substantial promotion of Michigan as a summer golf mecca. That worked for the Myrtle Beach area in the Carolinas, and it worked in Florida," Engler said.

AN AUDIT report on "Selected Economic Development Programs, Department of Commerce," is providing Engler aid and comfort.

Auditor General Franklin C. Pinkelman said the Commerce Department "does not have adequate procedures for evaluating the efficiency and effectiveness of its economic. programs." The department describes "only the number of activities performed, without consideration of cost," the audit report said.

The Commerce Department counted "the number of new jobs projected to be created by expansion of companies which had been contacted by the department," a "questionable indicator because the projected new jobs may not actually materialize. Also, the new jobs may have been created whether or not the company was contacted by the department."

Said Engler: "Doug Ross (Commerce director) is very articulate

Volunteers sought for scouting outing

Handicapped scouts are invited to participate in a "scouting outing," Friday, May 19, at Adams Butzel Center, Detroit.

The outing includes horseback riding, games and a clown show. Lunch will also be provided. The event will be held 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The center is at 10500 Lyndon. It is the second annual event.

More than 250 scouts are expected to attend.

Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies are participating in the event. Additional volunteers are also sought.

Additional information is available by calling 935-3069.

IDY BINS BURSTING with bright-green broccoli, unblemished beans, succulent strawberries and every imaginable fruit and vegetable line the shelves. A cooler houses freshlaid eggs, tangy cider and special orders. Customers choose from the freshest possible produce in the metropolitan-Detroit area, in a location that can't be beat - their driveway.

It's a produce market on wheels. Independent owners takes their specially equipped trucks from Eastern Market to nearly every suburb in Detroit, calling on customers who contract their service.

"About 50 percent of the people come out to the truck to select their own fruits and vegetables," says Joe Lucido, owner of the Green Grocer of Fine Foods and Fresh Produce home-delivery service. "The other half leaves an order for me. I pack up whatever they ask for and leave it in their garage or back porch, so it's ready for them when they get home."

Providing top-quality produce and convenient service means long days for Lucido and others in the business. Their day usually begins about 3 a.m., when they awaken to drive to Eastern Market to buy their goods.

"It takes about 314 to four hours to load up the truck," Lucido says. "I don't just grab anything I see. I han-ize in quality. So I'll look through 10-15 cases of a product before I find one I'll buy."

LUCIDO'S LIVELIHOOD is based on this attention to detail — a lesson he learned from his father, Tony. "If dle the best of everything. I special you give people junk, they'll say, 'We don't need you. We can get this ourselves," " says the senior Lucido, who has been in the business for 45 years. He recently retired, selling the service to his son. "We always bought the best, and It sold, and people were happy," he says. "The customers leave it up to us. They trust us."

Shirley Lee of Birmingham has trusted the Lucidos to select her fruits and vegetables for more than 25 years. They "know what their customers like, and how much they want to eat," Lee says. The produce is "impeccably fresh. They won't bring something if it's not up to their standards." Sam Lopiccolo, owner of the Green Gardener of Fine, Fresh Fruits and Vegetables, relies on 28 years of experience with the produce-delivery business to offer the finest food in the market.

"My customers depend on me to pick a good melon, a good pineapple, whatever," he says. "They count on me for that." Quality and trust are key to keeping customers, but convenience is an equally important ingredient. Dualfor both Lucido and Lopicollo. "A LOT OF working people don't have time to drive to the store and stand in line. They don't want to go out shopping," Tony Lucido says. "They come home, and everything's there for them."

With the produce waiting when they get home from work, people have more time to cook. And the market is ripe for fresh foods, with more and more families focusing on a healthy diet.

"I'm selling more vegetables than I ever have before — more broccoli, more cauliflower," Lopiccolo says. "And I do a big business with greens."

Diet - and cholesterol-conscious customers have "cut out starchy foods," Tony Lucido says. "In the last 8-10 years, they've eliminated corn and potatoes from their orders - the things that need butter."

In addition to the trend toward healthy foods, the senior Lucido says the news media changes customer buying habits. "Whatever they read in the papers, they want to buy," he says. News that broccoli could help prevent cancer meant "broccoli sales went crazy. Another time, there was a story on the benefits of mangoes and papayas. Every place I went, people said give me two or three papayas."

Peddlers who deliver to busy suburbanites

Now more than ever, quality and convenience are key consumer concerns. An old-fashioned concept has come of age for busy people who seek the best: the home-delivery produce business. Such services have satisfied the fruit and vegetable needs in suburban Detroit neighborhoods for-

Local peddlers include Joe Lucldo, the Green Grocer of Fine Foods and Fresh Produce, and Sam Lopiccolo, the Green Gardener of Fine, Fresh Fruits and Vegetables.

Both businesses carry nearly every fruit and vegetable customers could want, delivering special orders for exotic items at the clients' request.

Lucido travels to neighborhoods in the Grosse Pointes as well as to the Birmingham-Bloomfield area including Franklin, and to Southfield and Palmer Woods. Lopiccolo's business takes him to Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Farmington, Troy, Rochester and Utica.

Individuals interested in the produce home-delivery service should write to Lucido, the Green Grocer of Fine Foods and Fresh Produce, P.O. Box 1731, Warren 48090, or call Lopiccolo at 247-5371. Their routes are not limited to the cities they currently serve.

Joe Lucido sweeps out the truck, during a stop on the route, which includes such suburbs as the Birmingham-Bloomfield area and Southfield.

Depending on the size of your family and the degree to which you practice success in planting, you can grow enough gourmet produce to make store-bought vegetables a thing of the past.

Once you've savored the taste of home-grown produce, you'll never be satisfied with the store-bought again. True, vegetables and home gardens are work during the spring and need occasional upkeep during the summer and fall, but the benefits reaped can reduce your grocery bills and, at the same time, introduce your family, friends and neighbors to sometaste buds chef Larry Janes thing other than tomatoes and zuc-

First off, the secret to successful gardening is to keep on top of it. Twenty minutes daily in an averagesize garden is about de rigeur. Work during the morning or evening when small corner I have my herb garden, temperatures are lower and so you surrounded by an old "sunken" tire.

won't feel the hardiness of ol' sol. Next, use the wide variety of gardening tools and accessories that can make for a more enjoyable garden. I'm not talking pesticides here, simple remedles like landscape cover which, when laid between rows of vegetables, make weeds almost nonexistent.

A FEW YEARS back when yours truly began gardening, I was a little skeptical of such doodads as Garden Weezlls and soaker hoses, but after checking with pros who literally could open their own produce stands with the bulk of what they reap, I have become a believer in buying time-and-back-saving devices.

My garden is a simple patch of ground, about 10-by-20 feet. In one This serves two purposes: It keeps the perennials from spreading into valuable garden space and also maintains a neat appearance. There, I grow fresh mint, basil, oregano, chives, dill and parsley. This year I added a bay laurel tree. With a little research, I found out that not only will it supply me with enough bay leaves for next year's stews and sauces, it also will help repel pesky summer flies, lice moths and weevils. I figure that the money I spend on bay laurel wreaths alone will repay this year just by planting

When you have a garden my size, you have to be a little choosy in planting what you need and want. Two tomato plants will reap the Janes gang more than enough tomatoes, as will two small zucchini plants. The garden this year is edged on two sides with leeks which required taking the sand from last year's sandbox and mixing it into the soil in the fall. Leeks love a rich, sanoy loam and plenty of sun and will be a tasty addition to my cold Vichyssolse and gazpacho.

THE OTHER TWO sides are full of baby hybrid carrots, which promise to be disease-resistant and won't require the loose soll that larger carrots need. Both the leeks and the carrots will stay in the garden long after the first frost because they are hardy and underground.

This year, I visited a well-known gardening center and picked up some exotic lettuce seeds. If I can grow leaf and romaine with little fuse, this year's harvest of aragula and red leaf should be a real boon.

The corner of the garden that gets some nice afternoon shade from the tall oak tree will benefit best with these types of lettuces. Add to that a

Prices for the carefully chosen fruits and vegetables are competitive with those found in grocery

"Sometimes the prices are cheaper because of what the market's doing that day," Joe Lucido says. "If I get an item cheaper, the customers are going to save in the long run,

Lopiccolo says they "can compete with supermarkets easily because it's a one-man operation. We don't have the overhead the stores do."

The home-delivery routes were developed through word of mouth, with no advertising except for their brightly painted trucks. The Lucidos credit much of their business expansion to dinner parties.

"Someone might say, 'Oh, my gosh, where did you get that beautiful asparagus?' or, 'That salad is so green," " the senior Lucido says. "When our customer tells them, 'Oh, the Green Grocer brings it,' they say, 'Well, tell him to come to my house,' and we do."

Picking out fruits, veggies

By Katle Maple McBride special writer

He says it's in his blood. At the ripe young age of 27, Joe Luido has more than 10 years' experince in handling fruits and vegetabes. His 62-year-old father started selling produce when he was 7, and his grandfather began the busiess in the 1920s, shortly after he came to this country from Italy.

Things have changed since trandpa Lucido pushed a handcart p and down East Grand Boulevard peddling produce to the people f Detroit. The "fruit man" is now amed 'Ahe Green Grocer of Fine Poods and Fresh Produce" and he dilvers choice fruits and vegetables tofamilies in a variety of suburbs ir Oakland and Wayne counties.

But the tradition lives on. Vith a 7.2-year heritage of selecting th best beans, the tastiest tomatoes and the most heavenly honeydews, the Lucidos know their produce. Here'swhat

Asparagus: Firm, green stall not seedy at the tip. Width of the stlk is a matter of preference and desn't Apples: Granny Smith - smooth, hard skin, bright green color. Red Delicious — bright red, smooth, hard skin, no bruises. McIntosh — softer apple, bruises more easily. Skin can give a little bit, but not too much. Bananas: Can buy green to ripen at home or yellow to eat immediately.

Honeydew: Opaque cream color, not too yellow. Rub your hands over the skin. If it's slightly sticky, it's a nice honeydew. When ripe, the skin gives a little to the touch.

Oranges: Color doesn't necessarily indicate sweetness. Valencias are excellent in the summer, navels are sweet year-round.

Bays picks winners in English muffin contest

By Ethel Simmons e) staff writer

I've always enjoyed English muffins, so it was a special treat to be asked to judge the finals in the sixth annual Bays English Muffins National Recipe Contest in Chicago recent-

More than 2,000 entries had been narrowed down to less than 30, and from these, four final recipes were chosen. The finalists were flown to Chicago to prepare their recipes, which the judges would sample before meeting the contestants.

All the judges were food editors and, in addition to myself, included Jane Lichtenstein of the Boston Herald, Mary Glerum of the Dallas Times Herald and Trent Rowe of the Lakeland Ledger.

Judges awarded first place to a Chicken and Roasted Pepper Salad (from Elaine Schultz of Miami) that was flavorful, getting its_zing from such ingredients as three kinds of peppers, onion, lime juice, white wine Worcestershire sauce, black

Second place went to a Kate's Bananas Rumba (from Kate Godfrey of St. Louis), a sweet dessert recipe that combined bananas with butter, brown sugar, dark rum, cinnamon, lime juice, and peanut butter on a muffin half.. The warm dessert was garnished with chocolate shavings and lime zest.

Third prize went to Stilton-Stuffed Hamburgers (from Ellen Burr of Truro, Mass.), a runny mixture of Stilton cheese and cognac, along with other ingredients, inside the hamburger patty, topping a muffin half. Fourth prize was for Ginger Irish Crabbles (Peter Shoup of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif.), cream cheese, crab meat, mayonnaise and other ingredients, over a muffin half. Bailey's cookbook serves up new soups

By Ethel Simmons . staff writer

You won't find recipes for your already-favorite soups in "Lee Bailey's Soup Meals: Main Event Soups in Year-Round Meals."

Author/designer Bailey said, "I decided not to use traditional recipes. I just made up all of these. I had a year to experiment and test on. my friends."

Of the soups in his book likely to become new favorites, "Everybody adores that Carrot and Dill Soup,' Bailey said.

Carrot and Dill Soup, along with Sweet Potato Vichyssoise, and Cauliflower and Cress Soup, were served at a recent tasting in the Gift Gallery at Saks Fifth Avenue, Somerset Mall, Troy. Chris Angelosante of the Appeteaser in Birmingham prepared

He broke his rule of only innova-

Researching his book, he discovered, "Most soups are cooked too long. They are cooked to death and wind up with flavor, but it's just one flavor."

Bailey said his soups are very healthy. Most of the vichysoisse has. cream in it, but the others are made with stock.

"Soup Meals" is published by Clarkson N. Potter, 176 pages,

CARROT AND DILL SOUP

The combination of carrots and dill is a marriage made in heaven. Add as much dill as you like:

2 tablespoons (1/4 stick) unsaited but-

6 ounces onion, coarsely chopped 1% pounds carrots (weigh after removing tops) % pound sweet potato

1/2 pound baking potato

5 cups rich chicken stock 11/2 teaspoons salt scant 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground white pepper

2 generous tablespoons finely chopped fresh dill sour cream, creme fraiche, or yo-

1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Melt butter in a medium skillet and saute onion until light golden and just beginning to brown. Carefully scrub carrots and cut into rings, unpeeled. Steam until soft. Meanwhile, place sweet and white potatoes in oven and bake until soft, about 1 hour.

Scrape sauteed onlon into a food processor, deglaze pan with a little of the chicken stock, and add this to the onion. Add carrots and puree. Scoop out potato pulp and add to processor along with salt, white pepper, and lemon juice. Puree until thoroughly mixed and very fine. Pour mixture into a saucepan, then add dill and stock. Simmer over very low heat for about 15 minutes.

Soup may be thinned with additional stock, milk, or cream. Correct seasoning, and serve warm with a dollop of sour cream, yogurt, or creme fraiche on top.

1st cookbook not for beginners

"My First Cookbook" by Mae Hoover, A&H Publications, 1988,

"My Firt Cookbook" is not what the title implies. It's not a beginning cookbook for young children but a thin, spiral-bound book written by a mother for her children when they left the nest. Southfield mom Mae Hoover sat down one day and began to write a cooking advice book with all the family-favorite recipes. "One can survive without a microwave, a toaster and an electric skillet," Hoover suggests, then adds, "If possible you should also have the following basic appliances: cake mixer, blender, can opener, crock pot, coffee maker."

Assuming the reader has no experience in preparing foods, the opening pages list the essentials for stocking a kitchen, planning meals and buying groceries. The remaining 70 pages are a collection of simple-to-prepare recipes for chili, pizza, Mexican Spam, French toast, lasagna, chicken enchiladas and more. She has included all the foods kids like to eat. But what about the foods they should eat? Sorry to say, most of the recipes neglect to inform the reader of specific amounts in the listed ingredients, or how many servings each recipe makes. To say, "Use 1 package of chopped broccoli or 1 box of confectioners' sugar" is usually not specific enough.

For dessert, there's Momma's Pecan Pie, Blond Brownies and Mom's Mississippi Mud Cake. The final Chapter, "Oops! Company," guides the inexperienced cook with a few suggestions for portion or serving amounts, along with some good motherly advice.

"People will enjoy being with you, if you are relaxed and comfortable with your role as host or hostess" Hoover concludes, and, "of course, people enjoy good food, but they prefer good company." "My First Cookbook" is available at select bookstores including Bor-

NO TWO ARE ALIKE

You probably have no difficulty accepting the idea that no two patients are alike. But are you comfortable with the notion that no two doctors think the same?

Why do physicians differ? First, the physician assesses the significance of your pain from his own singular experience. Two doctors may differ widely in the urgency each would place on treatment for your condition. Second, no medicine, with the possible exception of aspirin, has received extensive evaluation over time and numbers of patients. Thus, preference in therapy between doctors is the result of speculation and personal judgements rather than the logic of science.
In the past, patients were expected to accept the doctor's orders. Today, we realize that successful treatment depends on the coordination of effort by both patient and physician. To achieve that end necessitates that you find a doctor with whom you can work in a harmonious fashion. Finding that physician may require a second or even third medical opinion on the cause of and therapy for

If you have arthritis, it is important to have a proper state of mind and appropriate type of health insurance. Both should encourage you to search for the physician best suited for your temperament and needs.

Thurston hurler stops Crestwood

Wayne Vester allowed just four baserunners and Tim Wojcik slugged a triple and two doubles to trigger Redford Thurston's 10-0 drubbing of Dearborn Crestwood in a Tri-River League baseball game at Thurston Thurs-

Each of Wojcik's hits delivered a run. He had a triple in the first and run-producing doubles in the second and fifth. His fifth-inning double knocked in the Eagles' 10th run, invoking the 10-run mercy rule and ending the Vester hurled a three-hitter to pick up the win. He walked one and struck out eight.

Bob Isenegger drove in two runs with two hits and Jim Stephenson collected two hits and an RBI.

George Leung started and absorbed the loss for Crestwood, going 11/3 innings. Thurston led 2-0 after one and 8-0 after two. John Gerdy relieved for Crestwood and went 31/2 innings.

The win lifted the Eagles to 7-11 overall and 5-7 in the Trl-River League.

CC 5-0, NOTRE DAME 0-11: Leo Hutchinson blanked Harper Woods Notre Dame on six hits and two walks in Wednesday's Catholic League Central Division opener at Notre Dame, but Redford Catholic Central was overwhelmed in the nightcap.

Hutchinson struck out eight as he improved his record to 8-2. He also had two hits and drove in a run. Paul Pirronello and Mike Kelley had two hits apiece, with Pirronello adding an

In the second game, the Shamrocks managed just two hits a single by Pirronello in the first and a single by Pete Elezovic in the second - off Irish starter and winner Jim Turner. Turner walked three and struck out seven in the five-inning Pirronello started and took the loss for CC, but lasted just one inning. He left after hurting his shoulder diving for a ball. Pirronello gave up four runs on three hits, striking out one. Mark Staniforth relieved and gave up five runs in the next 25 innings; Ryan Bell followed him, going the final 35 of an inning and surrendering two more runs.

The split left CC with a 17-8 overall record and a league mark of 10-8. Notre Dame is 11-7 in the league.

baseball

JOHN GLENN 11, W.L. CENTRAL 4: Walks and errors wrecked any chance Walled Lake Central had for victory Wednesday at Westland John Glenn. The Rockets scored three times in the second, with Dan Croft and Bryant Satterlee each bringing in runs with bases-loaded walks and an error producing another.

Jerry Koester pitched well for Glenn; he went the distance. giving up two earned runs on seven hits and four walks while fanning eight. His counterpart, Central starter Bob Trusty, did not fare as well. Trusty lasted four innings and allowed five runs (three earned) on three hits and six walks.

It didn't help that the Vikings committed six errors, four while Trusty was pitching. Three of Trusty's walks came in the three-run second.

Koester and Jerry Shippe each had two hits, with Koester knocking in a run. Satterlee had one hit and two RBI.

The win improved the Rockets' record to 13-3 overall, 8-3 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 6-2 in the Lakes

N. FARMINGTON 9, STEVENSON 1:Back-toback four-run innings propelled North Farmington to a lopsided WLAA win Wednesday at Livonia Stevenson.

Jack Herberholz cracked a two-run double and Joe Sturtz added a two-run homer to produce four runs in the fourth for the Raiders, who improved to 8-9 overall, 5-7 in the WLAA and 3-5 in the Lakes Division. Sturtz finished with two hits, and both he and Herberholz knocked in three runs.

McEvilly had two hits and scored three times for the Raiders, who got four more runs in the fifth. -Stevenson got two hits from Dave McElmeal. Brian Piergentili's first-inning single drove in the Spartans' only run. McEvilly was the winning pitcher, giving up one run on six hits and three walks, striking out five.

Jerry Hakala collected three hits and an RBI and Tim

the Spartans got a new pitching coach last year in Dan O'Brien. Second, O'Brien figured his staff needed another lefthanded starter.

Darkowski fit the job description.

"They wanted a lefthander who could throw strikes and off-speed stuff," he said. "Someone to set up the guys who throw hard the next

DARKOWSKI PROVED more than just a setup pitcher, however, through 45 games he was MSU's leader in wins, with a 5-2 record. His earned run average was 5.21, but had a freshman starter in a long that's deceiving. Opponents hit just .238 against him, lowest on the staff among pitchers who have thrown at least 15 innings (he has 46% innings, second on the staff).

> Off-speed is defined by Darkowski. In high school, he said his fastball was clocked "around 78 miles an hour" - far from fast enough to land a scholarship from a major university. The only NCAA Division I school that showed any interest at all was Western Michigan.

But Darkowski liked MSU, and after his tryout in the fall of 1987 the Spartans decided to redshirt him and take another look. By the time his sophomore year rolled around, the situation had changed.

Darkowski pitched for Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League last summer, and he was impressive enough to get a scholarship offer from Western Michigan. When Darkowski phoned MSU coach Tom Smith and told him he was transferring to

"I couldn't be happier," said Darkowski. "I've learned so much since I've come here."

ONE LESSON he's absorbed is he'll never be another Nolan Ryan. "Every time I try to throw too hard, our pitching coach tells me, 'Don't throw harder, throw smarter.'

That makes sense. Unless you throw 90 miles an hour, you've got to outthink the hitters." There's still other lessons to learn. Although he's improved his fastball to 82-83 mph, he admits "I'm the slowest thrower on the staff, except for one other guy." And yet, Dar-kowski claims, "I throw more fast-halls than anyone. Probably 60 percent of my pitches are fastballs."

He gets away with it because he has an excellent curve and a developing change-up, and because he can . place his pitches - not as well as he'd like to (he has issued 31 walks, an average of almost six a game), but pretty well.

"I think I can improve my concentration and spotting the ball," said Darkowski. "You have to be able to put the ball wherever you want it, whenever you want it."

So far, Darkowski has been able to put the ball where he wants it often enough to become MSU's top starter. And that's far beyond last summer's expectations.

Bowling Green adding Ladywood point-guard

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Jenny Kennedy, a point-guard from Livonia Ladywood, signed a national letter of intent Thursday to attend Bowling Green State University, three-time defending Mid-American Conference women's basketball champions, BGSU has earned an automatic berth the last three years to the NCAA tournament. This season the Falcons advanced to the second round before losing to Maryland, an eventual Final Four team.

"It's a well-rounded school," said Kennedy, who hopes to study prelaw. "It's great for academics as well as athletics and I like their team's intensity. I saw them play a few times and it's the kind of game I like to play."

The Falcons (27-4 overall) lost three seniors to graduation, including point guard Paulette Backstrom, winner of the Naismith Trophy given to the top women's player in the nation under 5-foot-6.

Kennedy, who led Ladywood to the Class A quarterfinal before losing to eventual state-champion Birmingham Marian, also considered Albion College, Siena Heights and the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Kennedy will reunite with former teammate Katle McNulty, who lettered as a freshman at BGSU. She is one of five recruits signed by Falcons' coach Fran Voll.

"Jenny comes from one of the better programs in Michigan," Voll sald. "Katie McNully came to us last year from a successful program, and Jenny Kennedy is one of the leading point-guards in the region. Banquet celebrations cap off successful league campaigns

S WE APPROACH THE END of the regular season, it is now Banquet Time" for area bowlers, as most of the leagues split the point money and honor those worthy of rewards. Ranging from the austere to the ornate, from hot dogs and potato chips to filet mignon, the end of the season banquet is certainly one of the year's highlights.

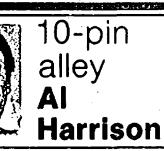

• The Ward's Invitational Traveling Youth League held its annual awards banquet at the Polish Century Club and most of the 120 members and their parents attended. The first-place trophles were about three-feet high and went to the "Wes Jerue Team" of Duane Henderson and Tamika Glenn, both of Farmington Hills, along with Mike Woods, Robert Hibbitt and Mike Penka-

The foursome survived a three-way tie round-robin roll-off in order to capture the championship. The runner-up team was "Cherry Hill North," and the "Cecil Ward Team" came in third. High-game honors went to John Balicki with his 300 game, while Donald Harrison and Scott Stephens tled for second-

Among the young ladies, Robin Ostro and Melissa Lindroth tied for high game at 245 while Tamika Glenn added a 239 for third.

In the "Classic" division, Pat Waldo led the boys in the high-game category with 277, while Michelle Ewald paced the girls with 245.

The leadership of Ron and Karen Young came to an end, as each announced their resignation as co-directors of the league after having taken over from the late Cecil Ward. The new directors are Betty and Bill Helder, who have been associated with the organization for more than 20 years as assistant directors and coaches. The Ward League is one of the many fine youth leagues in this area, and a lot of the real fine bowlers around town came . up through these youth leagues.

• The Greenfield Mixed League from Country Lanes had a nice banquet at the Monaghan K of C Hall in Livonia with a country-and-western theme, not to mention lots of good "vittles."

The Inter-Lodge League will convene for its annual banquet with an overnight stay at the St. Clair Inn along with their spouses next weekend.

The Parks & Recreation League from Woodland Lanes in Livonia all turned out for their festivities at Roma Hall on Schoolcraft. There were shiny trophies by the hundreds and more than 500 youngsters and parents attended.

Al Winkler, the proprietor of Woodland Lanes, hosted the event, and guest speakers were Cass Sicilia, director of bowling centers, and yours truly, who also gave a few words of wisdom from the podium.

In addition to the many awards and trophies handed out, the prizes for the "Kids Bowling for Kids" charity event were also handed out. Eric Donohug of 'the Friday "Preps" was the top recipient, earning $195 in gift certificates for bringing the most pledges with 138. Winkler also was instrumental in getting the bowling charities started a few

• At Merri-Bowl Lanes in Livonia, Richard Madsen rolled a 702 series in the K of C men's league. His block was 254-248-200.

Merri-Bowl has plenty of spring and summer activity with men's and women's leagues, mixed leagues and youth, along with bumper bowling for the little ones. In addition, they will feature a singles no-tap tourney at 7:30 p.m each Friday. To bowl, you must have a league sheet or yearbook average.

• The Wayne-Westland Men's Tourney is underway at Westland Bowl and Larry Traver came up with a 300 game while competing. Westland Bowl, located on Wayne Road, has openings in the spring leagues for individuals and teams in the 8 p.m. Tuesday mixed league, the 8 p.m. Wednesday women, and the 10 a.m. Tuesday leagues.

 At Woodland Lanes in Livonia, the senior house league featured Art Kapetansky with a 717 series, including a 279 game; Jeff Adamczyk, 727; Mike Gullett, 694; Jack Craig, 279; Bill Stillwell, 277/697; and Scott Smith, 754. In the Kings and Queens, Mark Cumbo registered a 728 series, and the "Bucks and Does" League featured Don Booterbaugh with a 249. Meanwhile, Woodland Lanes features loads of spring league action starting now for men's, ladies, mixed and students. For more information, call Woodland Lanes at 937-8420.

9 PALACE ADDS FINALS

The representative council of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, at its annual meeting May 10 in Lewiston, recently voted the Palace of Auburn Hills as the site for the boys basketball finals, beginning March 24, 1990. The Palace (seating capacity 21,454) will also stage the 1991 and 1992 finals.

The state semifinals (March 23, 1990) will remain basically the same - Class D-A at the new Breslin Events Center (replacing Jenison Fieldhouse); and Class B-C Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor. (Crisler had been the permanent site of the finals since 1975.)

In a related move, the Class A finals will be held at night for the first time since 1971. Times have yet to be announced.

Ticket prices for next year's finals will be $5 per person.

Wins keeps Glenn tied for lead in Lakes

Westland John Glenn continued its mastery of Lakes Division softball teams Friday, edging Plymouth Salem 5-4 in the rain at home.

The win gave the Rockets a share of the Lakes Division lead with Walled Lake Central at 8-1. Glenn is 15-2 overall.

Salem fell to 8-9 overall and 4-8 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Glenn plays host to Plymouth Canton in a double-header today and meets Detroit Mackenzie Wednesday at home in a Class A pre-district qualifier.

Jenny Massey picked up her 12th win against two losses on the mound for the Rockets Friday, scattering five hits and walking five.

sey's fly ball was dropped by Salem leftfielder Tracie Robinson, scoring the eventual winning runs with two outs in the bottom of the sixth.

Holly Hinzmann suffered the loss, giving up seven hits and walking seven.

Michelle Myers' solo home run in the third inning and double in the fifth highlighted Glenn's offensive show. Christina Hoffman was 2-for-3 with one RBI for the winning team, which stranded 12 runners.

SK A QUESTION like this in a crowd of baseball people and prepare yourself for a lengthy debate.

What is the most important factor in building a championship team?

The argument would begin immediately. A major contingent would support pitching as the key element, but there would be a segment that would insist defense can make or break a team. And there would also be those backing the bat-swingers, ready to chime in with the "you can't win if you don't score" theory.

Trying to find an answer to such a question would be like trying to find the end of a circle. Unless, of course, you asked the question in a crowd of Great Lakes Conference baseball people.

A GLIAC crowd would, in all probability, come up with a quick consensus. Their answer: the weather.

SOUND SILLY? It should, because it is. Unfortunately, it also happens game, if the weather were bad terms. Like playing the same numenough. No kidding. Unless someone else went unbeaten in the league and played more games, a 1-0 team could be champ.

The reason is the league has no clearcut rule for making up rainouts. The games are just canceled. "With the number of games they play and the number of rainouts, it's almost impossible to get (makeups) in," said GLIAC commissioner Vern Norris.

"They want to play lots and lots of games, but they don't leave much room for error. They don't take into consideration the greatest predictor, the weather."

With rules (or lack thereof) like that, I can't imagine why Northern Michigan doesn't have a team. Heck, most of the Wildcats' home games would be snowed out (the GLIAC baseball season, in case you didn't know, ended May 7 — last weekend). If NMU could win just one game, then plead that poor weather kept them from playing the rest of their schedule, the title would be theirs.

I'm sorry, but I always thought A team could actually capture the teams vying for the same champion-GLIAC championsh: by winning one ship should be competing on equal four games against Wayne State — nothing at all.

ber of games, against the same competition. That just isn't the case in the GLIAC.

Oakland University finished 10-7 in the conference. Ferris State won its second-straight title by going 11-7. Until last Wednesday, the Bulldogs had played one fewer game than OU, but Norris allowed Hillsdale and Ferris to make up a double-header because it wasn't canceled by poor weather, but by a breakdown of Hillsdale's bus.

OTHER GLIAC schools lost games the same weekend as the Ferris-Hillsdale double-header to the weather, but these two — both battling for the title — got to reschedule. Ferris swept Hillsdale, and that gave the Bulldogs the title.

OU was in a no-win situation. Had Hillsdale split with Ferris, the Chargers would have been champs. As it is, they finish third at 10-8.

It isn't fair, to be sure, particulartwo league members.

I like them. Both. Don't ask which I like more, because I haven't a preference. Either one is better than unfair the policy is. What if OU has what the GLIAC has now, which is

Wendy Gilles was named most valuable player on Wisconsin's tennis team before her season was over. Gilles, a senior from Plymouth (Salem), was chosen for the award by the Badgers' coaches and players. The team's No. 1 singles player, Gilles was in Gainesville, Fla., last week for the NCAA Championships.

Both Gilles and partner Elaine Demetroulis qualified in doubles and Gilles made it in singles. In doubles, the Badger duo was 19-13 for the season and ranked among the top four in the Midwest Region.

In singles, Gilles was 23-13 and it was uncertain if she would gain a berth in the 64-entry NCAA tournament. Gilles is ranked 61st in the nation in singles. Wisconsin finished the season ranked 25th nationally . . .

Heldi Reyst, a sophomore at Kalamazoo College from Farmington (Harrison), was named to the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association second feam in softball. Reyst, a pitcher, was sixth in the MIAA in earned run average at 1.59 and allowed just eight walks in 36 innings. She had a 3-4 record for 5-7 Kalamazoo . . .

Henry Miller; a sophomore at Wayne State from Westland (Livonia Franklin), was one of the few bright spots for the Tartar baseball team. Miller led WSU with a 5-3 record and had team bests in earned run average (2.33), innings pitched (501/5) and strikeouts (39). He had a string of 23-straight scoreless innings snapped May 6 against Oakland University, a game he won 7-2 on a three-hitter. The Tartars were 18-24-3 overall, 6-12 in the Great Lakes Conference . . .

Erica Zonder, a freshman at University of Michigan from Farmington Hills (North Farmington), was a highlight for the young Wolverine golf team. Zonder was second in scoring for U-M with an 83.0 stroke average, and was the Wolverines' low scorer at the Big Ten meet with an 89-84-85/258, a total that placed her 37th overall. Unfortunately, U-M - a team consisting of three freshmen and three sophomores - finished last Zonder was the team's low scorer in five of 11 tourna. ments...

Bob Tatro, a junior at Ferris State from Garden City (Dearborn Divine Child), was instrumental in the Bulldogs capturing a second-straight Great Lakes Conference baseball title. Tatro, a catcher-designated hitter hit .297 with five doubles, three homers and 20 runs batted in. He tied for the team lead in RBI. Ferris was 14-27 overall, 11-7 in the GLIAC . . .

Singles Scene: To be or not to be

By Alice Collins staff writer

Monday, May 15, 1989 O&E

What looms like a pall over today's singles-scene, striking fear into the hearts of men and wom-

If you guessed Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, better known as AIDS, you're not

But talk with the singles at the parties, dances, bars and other spots where they get together, many will tell you there's something they dread even more.

Loneliness.

"You're always running from loneliness, it's ongoing," said Frank Shier, a longtime member of the singles scene. "There's often no one to talk things over with or to enjoy things with. That's why we're always going out, joining singles organizations."

Shier was one of many men and women interviewed at various restaurants and bars in the area where singles gather to find company, conversation, meet with old friends and find new ones - maybe "someone special."

To be fair to the state of singlehood, many of those interviewed said they were happy and satisfied with their status. For this article they were asked only to talk about the "downside" of being single today.

In addition to loneliness and the danger of AIDS, they talked about game playing, lack of sincerity, singles burnout, the professional singles wall, too much drinking, boredom and other complaints.

"The downside of being single is that you're alone," said David Vogt of Waterford. "I've been thinking of taking a trip, but it would be nice to find someone to go with me."

FOR RUTH Moody of Birmingham, "The singles scene is a dreadful thing. Professional singles build a professional singles attitude. They're behind their professional singles wall, they're unreachable. There's a lot of game playing. No reality. It's empty.'

"The only downside I can see is that there's no easy way to find someone and people just have to realize it," said Sy Shaw of Oak Park, "People are in too much of a hurry. You have to be very persistent. I think someone said, 'you've got to kiss a lot of frogs to find Prince Charming.'

"Being single is great as far as you've space for growth, socially, emotionally and workwise," Ruth Maceri of St. Clair Shores said. "I think the only bad thing is if you go to too many singles events you get a form of burnout, and you don't appreciate it as much as you might.

"There are so many interesting things to do," she continued. "But I have to slow down so I don't get burnout."

A friend of Maceri's from Harper Woods likes meeting a "lot of interesting people. They all seem sincere. Unfortunately, they're not. You have to learn meet friends," said Ron Nay of Livonia. "There's a good cross-section of people. I don't just come here to meet women. I come to meet friends, have a cocktail and conversation. "As for the bar scene, people do get tired of it," Nay continued.

"Everyone's looking for someone to enjoy a relationship. But they're more cautious, more observant than in the past. People aren't as interested in getting into marriages as they were 10 years ago. That's a plus."

AS FOR THE AIDS situation, said Nay, "it's put a damper on sexual freedom."

Russ Géntry of Sterling Heights prefaced his comments by saying, "I enjoy being single. My friendship base has been expanded. My social life has expanded. I have more friends than I've ever had before, female and male friends."

Regarding AIDS, Gentry said, "I'm not unique. I like sex, but I don't want to give up my life for it. AIDS is making everyone more cautious. Casual sex is kind of out - at least for those not willing to assume a lot of risk."

"Holidays are bad for everybody, but they're much tougher for singles and the children of sin-

Being independent is good, butoften going along with that is having to do everything yourself, Taylor pointed out.

"There are times, as a homeowner, that I need an extra pair of hands and that's not easy to come by," he said. "When your children are adults living elsewhere it's difficult to say 'come here.' "

Carl Tyler of Ferndale finds a great deal wrong with the singles scene today. One of the major problems, he believes, is too much alcohol.

"Many of the women I meet are alcoholics, and the men drink too much, too," he said.

With a few exceptions, said Tyler, "the women I meet are very empty. I keep trying to find the right one, but they're too afraid because of past hurts. They use a protective wall. They're not real. Role playing is a big problem and sex is part of that game.

"THEY DON'T like to talk about themselves, they're impolite, arrogant, snobbish and very independent," added Tyler.

Several talked about the high costs of being out "on the scene."

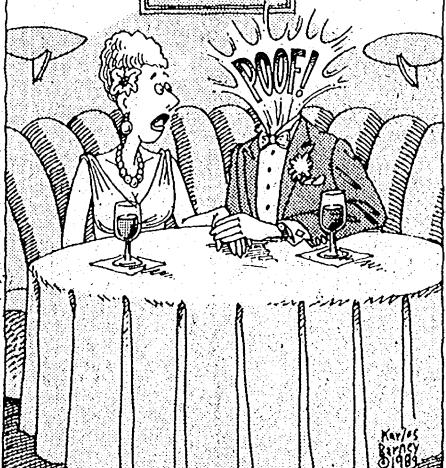

"To meet the right people you have to go to the best places," said Shier. "And especially at bars, the prices are outrageous. You pay the cost of an entire bottle for one glass of wine."

"There's absolutely no downside to being single," said Cindy Kehring of Birmingham. "There are lots of places to go and things to do. You can sail, ski, play tennis, travel, singles clubs are wonderful. You can meet lots of beautiful people.

"If there is a downside, it's that I don't have enough money to do It all."

Sue Buyers of West Bloomfield, single for one year, said singlehood has "given me a chance to be managing me. I've learned to do it all. I used to be only Mom. Now I'm more of a person. I haven't really been part of the whole scene. I just belong to one club, I haven't run into any leches or role playing. I'm just getting

It's just a sip off the old hat

What kind of person would wear a hat that has two beverage holders bolted to the side, a drinking straw that sprouts from the top and a gizmo up front that emits atom bomb sounds?

An "obnoxious, crazy, extroverted" person, according to Greg Eve-

"You would have to be to wear something so insane."

The level of emotional stability among his customers doesn't stop Every from producing Beverage Buddy hats. He calls them gag glits, but there's nothing funny about his balance sheet. His Livonia-based company, Crazy Helmet Manufacturing, grossed a quarter million dollars two years ago. Last year's figures aren't in yet, but they are expected to be "well over that," he sald.

THE COMPANY'S basic model is called the Double. It holds two soda cans that can be sipped from while the hat is being worn. They retail for approximately $8 to $10.

The Blaster model features the obligatory can holders as well as a small speaker. With the switch of a button, the unit can produce the sounds of machine gun fire, a laser beam or an atom bomb.

"Plus you can talk through it," Every said, talking through it.

THE HOME RUN looks identical and is similarly priced at $20 to $25, but the only sound it produces is the user's voice.

Besides the Double, the Blaster and the Home Run, Craxy Helmet offers seven other models that are varlations of those three. There's one with enough beverage holders on the sides to carry an entire six pack. And another has two speakers - one to produce the machine gun and other sounds and the other to amplify the user's voice.

Hunter and Steenburgen star in 'Miss Firecracker'

It's a slow week for premieres, so here's your chance to catch up on all the good stuff that has been playing. You won't have time next week when a raft of new films appear. Let's hope no more underwater monster-mutant movies are in the offing.

"Miss Eirecracker" (PG) is an interesting study of a young woman's desire to be somebody, in this case a beauty queen in a small Southern town, Yazoo City.

There the Fourth of July competition for the Miss Firecracker crown is intense. That contest serves as a springboard to portray the town and a good number of its inhabitants.

Holly Hunter and Mary Steenburgen are featured in this widely publicized film. Based on a play, which was staged in March 1987 at Detroit's Attic Theater, it also stars Scott Glenn and Tim Robbins.

If you like ooz and slime, then "The Return of to Swamp Thing" (*) (PG-13) is just for you.

"Season of Fear" (*) (R) stars Michael J. Pollard in a love triangle that gets complicated when the lover discovers he's having an affair with his estranged father's wife. Got that? Neither do I.

Richard Pryor and Gene Wilder star in "See No Evil, Hear No Evil" (*) (R). This isn't about monkeys, but about a blind man and a deaf one, who saw no evil and heard no evil, but are still wanted for murder. Sounds "evil," but it's billed as a comedy.

"See No Evil, Hear No Evil" reunites the outrageous comedy duo of Richard Pryor and Gene Wilder as Wally, who is blind, and Dave, who is deaf, and both wanted for murder.

'Powwow': A realistic look at native Americans' lives

By Anne Sharp special writer

'Powwow Highway," at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor May 19-25, is an on-the-road picture with a difference. Blending humor, social satire and visions of the mythical west, it offers a Journey through the world of the modern American Indi-

Perhaps it's significant that "Powwow" is a British-American production, made under the auspices of former Beatle Geroge Harrison's Handmade Films company.

The British are much more socially conscious than Americans these days. After all, it was an Englishman, Alan Parker, who directed the controversial "Mississippi Burning," about a period in our history most Americans would prefer to forget.

The protagonists of "Powwow" are two men living on the Northern Cheyenne Reservation in Montanna. Although they are childhood friends, they aren't at all alike.

Buddy Red Bow (A. Martinez), a Vietnam veteran, is a radical activist, committed to the cause of native American rights.

Philbert (Gary Farmer), on the other hand, is a placid, sedentary fellow who retreats periodically into larger-than-life fantasies about the glorious past, when his people were wise and invincible rulers of their own land.

The odd couple is called into action when an unscrupulous mining company, retaliating against Buddy's attempts to stop its encroachments on Indian territory, uses its government connections to have his sister Bonnie (Joanelle Nadine Romero) jailed on phony drug charges in New Mexico.

WITH A broken-down buggy as their white horse, Buddy and Philbert thunder off (after a fashion) to the rescue.

Although representatives of native Americans are legion in film - good heavens, all those cowboy pictures, not to mention the '60s liberal guilt films like "Little Big Man" - there have been scant attempts to present a realistic picture of this often ignored or misunderstood ethnic community.

"Powwow" offers a look at a nation of people, living in one of the richest lands in the world, under what Buddy refers to as Third World conditions.

The screenplay for "Powwow" is by Janet Heaney and Jean Stawartz, adapted from a novel by David Seals. The soundtrack features music by Robbie Robertson, former leading light of that dinosaur of; scuzzy backwoods rock, The Band. ...

Although its critical reputation has yet to be established in the U.S.,. "Powwow" proved to be one of the major hits of last year's Florence. Film Festival.

Equally popular with Florentine. audiences, incidentally, was "Elvira." Mistress of the Dark." Probably no reflection on "Powwow" as Cassandra Peterson, aka Elvira, goes way. back with the Italian film industry, Federico Fellini, in fact, was so taken by the bodacious comedienne that he gave her a cameo in his "Roma."

PSYCHOTRONIC ALERT: A trilogy of short subjects at the Tele--Arts this week will feature "Super-" star: The Karen Carpenter Story." Although, lamentablly, not available for screening, this item has much to recommend it reputation-wise to the... bent-minded film goer. Kristin Hersh of Throwing Muses quickly apologizes for being late with her scheduled telephone call.

"I had some Pixies on the phone," said Hersh, whose band performs Friday at Saint Andrew's Hall in Detroit. "They sure liked to talk."

As a result, Throwing Muses and the Pixies are at the forefront the new wave of American bands making it big at home on college radio and abroad in Great Britian.

As both groups grapple with critical success, they appear to be taking different routes. The Pixies appear to have gravitated to the more obscure with their latest LP "Doolittle" (Elektra).

Not so with Throwing Muses. Last year's stellar album "House Tornado" (Sire) thrust the fourmember band into the spotlight. The LP was hailed by critics. "Hunkpapa" (Sire) is the latest volley as Throwing Muses seeks to garner radio airplay while keeping their integrity. The acoustic-flavored melodies on the LP are definitely listener friendly without being the banal fare so common in AOR

The creative spark eminates from Hersh, who handles the songwriting and vocals.

The success of "House Tornado" made the stakes higher when recording "Hunkpapa." Gary Smith produced both albums. In making "House Tornado," though, the band learned a great deal about the creative process.

"AFTER THE fact, we learned we treated the material right," Hersh said. "When we were going into the studio, we said, (heck with) the proground breaking instead of the U.S. college in Boston, they performed ducer. We know what we want to do.'

"Then when we got in there we started saying to one another, What do you want to do?' I don't know. What do you want to do?' We argued throughout the recording of the album. It was a horrible experience, bert McClinton would be a major star. This album, drawn from a performance for the "Austin City Limits" television show, is as close to perfection as this Texan is likely to get.

AUSTIN

Good as his studio albums have been, McClinton's shot-and-a-shell barroom blues works best in front of a live audience. Here, he reprises the triumphs of his rambling, three-decade career before a friendly crowd.

"B-Movie Boxcar Blues," recorded by the Blues Brothers, is perhaps the best known of the album's five originals. McClinton also throws in expert cover versions of "Shakey Ground," the 1975 Temptation's hit, Otis Redding's "I've Got Dreams to Remember" and "Lipstick Traces," a much-covered chestnut from Aaron Neville's New Orleans songbook.

His lone hit, "Giving It Up for Your Love," is the set's closer. Like the Fabulous Thunderbirds, who are trying to reach the yupple crowd between the ages of 18-34, Spin is honing in on the 18-24 set.

"When you to an audience that wide (18-34), you dilute the editorial content," said Guccione, whose magazine recently celebrated its fourth anniversary. "We really aim for the 18 to 24 group. That slice of humanity is very interesting. That particular group is always evolving they are quite curious."

cover the underground scene in the United States. As a result, the magazine has been criticized for being unfocused at times. Stories in Spin, though, have a common thread in their irreverent style of writing. At times, it resembles the British music press. "We use a lot of young writers," Guccione said. "They are not necessarily impressed with the '70s or the '60s, Most of all, they're not impressed with themselves. They're not concerned with keeping up an image.

"With older critics - yes, they get the interviews with the Winwoods, the Claptons and the Springsteens but they are protecting a sensibility. They're afraid to discover a new sensibility . . . The rock criticism of the '70s doesn't fly today. It's a new cullittle more diverse path. Guccione Jr. published "Step by Step Guide to Kung Fu" in England and was the creator of "Poster Press," a monthly music magazine that unfolded into a poster.

He became vice-president of promotion and marketing for Penthouse International in 1978 and was instrumental in the launch of Omni. Then came Spin in 1985.

ANSWERS TO NOTHING

- Midge Ure

Midge Ure must have been thinking about something when he concocted "Answers to Nothing," his latest Chrysalis album.

Such as, "I don't give a rip if this is or isn't a commercial success. . . I want to be free to make music the way I want to."

That statement would pretty much sum this up, a creatively ambitious album ignored by the public.

Not too many record buyers today often shell out money for songs like "Dear God," a five-minute hymn about saving the world, embellished with a soaring guitar solo. It never broke the Top 95, despite strong exposure at college radio.

The second side opens with "Just For You," maybe the most straightahead rocker on the album. It builds throughout, then winds up with an intense guitar rill.

"Answers to Nothing" won't spawn any hits or beer commercials. What it does yield is good music, something that seems to be a low priority these days.

THE MAN WITH THE BLUE POST-MODERN FRAGMENTED NEO-TRADITIONALIST GUITAR

- Peter Case

Peter Case's second solo album since the breakup of his former group, The Plimsoula on Gellen Records, easily wins the award for the longest, and possibly the strangest title of the year.

Anyone who caught Case's sojourn in this part of town a couple of years back will be familiar with his easy going and, dare I say, "Dylanesque" style of acoustic guitar pop.

The genial, and funny, Mr. Case gave performances at Sam's Jams and various radio stations and made an impromptu appearance at Saint Andrew's Hall in Detroit, all done as much for the fun of it as promoting his album.

This LP sees him expanding the instrumentation on each song, although the style of the songs will still allow him to perform solo. He uses a variety of people on instruments as diverse as ukulele to mandolin to harmonica, most notably Ry Cooder, Mitchell Froom and T-Bone Burnett.

who also helps with the production.

Each song paints a little picture and tells a little story. He casts his opinion, shares hard luck stories and wraps them all up in sweet folk and blues-oriented pieces of music.

The lead track, "Charles James," is a traditional song, which Case used for the soundtrack of Sam Shepherd's play "A Lie of the Mind." The tempo and atmosphere heat up with the track, "Put Down the Gun," musically similar to the BeDeans, on which he offers hope to someone who's down.

We then travel to the "Entella Hotel," a place of lodging for transients in San Francisco, which burned down last year. A big hand grabbed America and shook it, and everything loose rolled to the coast.

On "This Town's a Riot," he offers his opinion about modern society and then adds, "But there's nothing like an earthquake to remind you who's in charge."

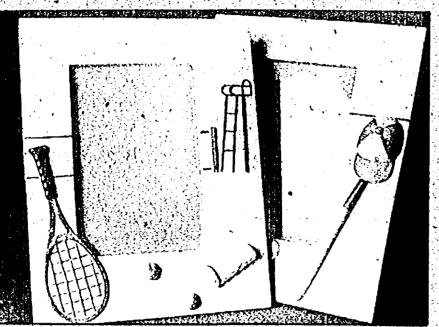

On this record. Peter Case takes charge of your imagination.

Don't be afraid of another failure; Second marriages are successful

Dear Barbara.

Dear D.J.,

I am currently divorced after a long and unhappy marriage. Despite this negative experience, I still believe that a good marriage is the best of all worlds and definitely do not want to spend the rest of my life alone. However, I am really reluce. tant to even think about even trying again as I would hate to fail and experience a second divorce.

Statistics prove that the failure rate for second marriages is extremely high. What advice (or formula) can you provide for a successful second marriage?

My research at the local library has turned up different statistics than yours. In my research, first marriages have a 50 percent chance of ending in divorce and second marriages have a 20 percent chance of ending in divorce. These statistics fit my own personal observations and sense of logic.

In other words, some people do learn from their mistakes. If you sincerely believe that a good marriage is the best of all possible worlds, then try for it. It is better to have had a divorce and learned than never to have been married at all.

You can put new insights into a second marriage or even a third. Second marriages are usually made by older, smarter and more sophisticated partners. These partners should, as a result of greater selfknowledge and confidence, be able to write better contracts for them-

STREET CRACKS

In search of the real Judy Tenuta

By Peggy Aulino staff writer

Judy Tenuta's stage persona has an air of superiority, to put it mildly. Give her a topic, she'll tell you why she has little use for it.

Men? "You should be able to ride and brand your love pig," she states matter-of-factly.

And what happens after a woman marries a man?

"He plops himself in front of the TV waiting for the Super Bowl. The only way you can get his attention is to eat until you look like a stadium."

Then there's the Catholic church, another staple in Tenuta's routine. An alumna of "St. Francis of the Talking Mules," she said grade school was "like Catholic boot camp."

OK, OK, you get the idea. But what is Tenuta - who will appear at Chaplin's East in Fraser May 17 through 20 - really like?

After a 30-minute telephone interview, it can be said that Judy Tenuta, at least when dealing with the media, is almost the same on stage as she is off. The jokes come nonstop, and one wonders where she finds time to inhale.

The only difference during a oneto-one encounter and a stand-up routine is that she doesn't insult an interviewer. (During her shows, she's Judy Tenuta has invented her own religion — Judyism - and requires of her followers adulation and offerings of canned goods.

apt to yell at a man in the audience 'You make me want to get my tubes

Friendly as Tenuta is off stage, it's still difficult to get a straight answer out of her.

"I'M SORTING my socks," she said over the phone from her Chicago home. That might sound plausible enough until she adds: "I cleared off my bed and found Jimmy Hoffa."

So the autobiographical sketch she drew - In a voice without the raspy quality she uses during performances - probably should be taken with a grain of salt.

She and her sister and six brothers, who have names like Bosco and Bingo, are the product of an Italian/

Polish marriage. Her mother forced her to go to Mass every day, and though the Tenutas were on a tight budget, sometimes a priest would be invited to dinner.

"My mother would buy these special, really neat things like food, something that was foreign to us," she said. "We got to have Father Paddy O'Furniture's leftovers."

Has she ever gotten complaints from Catholics about a routine some might call blasphemous?

"No, never once," she said, sounding serious this time. "None of that is malicious. I'm just commenting on

But she can't resist adding: "An insult from me is like a blessing from Mother Teresa."

Tenuta, you see, invented her own religion - Judylsm - sometime during the dozen years she's been doing stand-up comedy. She requires of her followers adulation and offerings of canned goods.

Another staple of Tenuta's schtick is her accordian. It has been reported elsewhere that she started taking not how Tenuta tells it now.

"IT WAS actually my mother's IUD. I came out playing it," she said. Now she uses the accordian "as an instrument of love and submission."

Nor would she seriously discuss her age, which others have put at 35. "I'm a Goddess so I'm not bound by mortal time," Tenuta said, but she does admit to using "Ernest Borgnine Beauty Cream" to keep up her youthful looks. Tenuta has never been married ("The Goddess does not belong to anyone."), but she doesn't let that fact stop her from offering tips on the topic for the sake of a good joke.

Her advice for husband-hunting women: "Act like a petite flower and virginette, but let everyone know you'll mate with the first Shriner in a Saab."

The Chaplin's East show will not be Tenuta's first visit to the Detroit area. When she was here about 10 years ago, one of the few things she knew about the Motor City was that people set fires at Halloween.

"I thought maybe you were trying to impersonate hell," Tenuta said.

Judy Tenuta will appear Wednesday through Saturday, May 17-20, at Chaplin's East, 34244 Groesbeck Hwy., Fraser. For reservations, call 792-1902.

A. Each week the bureau receives approximately 40,000-45,000 TV entries. From among these, 250 are randomly drawn to be included in the drum you see on the Fame & Fortune show. At the end of each program, the six contestants for the next week's show are drawn from among those 250 entries.

Q. How are home partners selected to be paired with contestants?

A. After the on-air drawing of six contes-tants for the following week's show, six more entries are drawn to become home partners. They are paired with contestants in the order drawn. Q. Are home partners notified in

A. No, this is another surprise element of the show designed to heighten interest.

Any player submitting a TV entry may hear his or her name announced as a home partner at the beginning of the show. Q. How much do home partners win?

A. Each week, the home partner lucky enough to be paired with the contestant winning the $50,000 top prize gets a $500 Q. Are entries not drawn as contestants or home partners held for later drawings? A. No. After each week's drawings are com-pleted, those entries are destroyed. A fresh batch of entries for the next show include all those received the next week.

Q. How much has been won on the "Fame & Fortune" game shows? A. Through the 14th show on April 29, the total value of prizes won was $1,030,231. In addition to the 14 awards of $50,000 each, prizes included 15 new automobiles, three computer packages, one stereo package, and 51 other cash awards. Home viewers won another $7,000. Q. What else does a contestant do on the day of the show? A. All contestants enjoy a full day of stardom! After a get-acquainted continental dom! After a get-acquainted continental breakfast at Detroit's Omni International Hotel, they are driven by VIP Limousine Service to the studies of WDIV-TV for a tour and taping of individual introductions. Then they are guests of honor at a special luncheon in The Whitney Restaurant. Returning by limo to the studio, they are briefed on all clements of the show by a Lottery representative. A professional Lottery representative. A professional make up session and a chance to meet the show hosts Chuck Gaidica and Diane Sarnecky is next. Then contestants are greeted by the live audience, and pose for a souvenir photograph on the set before starting the game. After award of prizes, they return to the hotel for an overnight stay as guests of the Lotlery.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, James Persons of Livonia will receive 50 Fame & Fortune tickels.

Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the carliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery Central wins. In case of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing. If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to: "Winners Circle," Michigan Lettery, P.O. Box 30077, Lansing, MI 48009.

Theme Park in Orlando, Fia.

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

It's a movie; you're the star. The setting is a new theme park on the grounds of Walt Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

The script is only partly written; you can decide whether you will star in a television program, make your own movie, watch the animators at work, do the Great Movie Ride or watch Indiana Jones blow something up.

A voice-over (where have I heard that voice before?) says "When Walt Disney took his friends behind the scenes to see how movies were made, they became like children. It didn't matter how sophisticated his friends were, they were all excited kids on a backstage tour."

The voice is Michael Eisner, chairman and CEO of The Walt Disney Co. I've seen him introducing the NBC Disney Movie on Sunday nights. On this occasion, he was into something a little more spectacular - introducing a third major theme parkin Walt Disney

They call it Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park, but if you catch the bus from the Magic Rindom or the Epcot Center, it just says "STU-DIOS."

Eisner looks like a kid himself, but he gets into heavy stuff when he talks about making Walt Disney's dream come true at last. Almost as heavy as the $29 one-day charge for getting into any WDW theme park or the $97 four-day charge that includes admission to all three.

THE RISING prices probably won't keep anybody out. I was in Florida for the official opening day of the Studios May 1 and the lines were so long they closed the gates at 10 a.m.

If you have visited the Magic Kingdom, you will get a slight feeling of "deja vu" when you enter the Studio gates. Instead of Main Street, you see a reincarnation of Hollywood Boulevard; the skyline at the end of the street is the Chinese Theater instead of Cinderella's

The buildings have been aged just enough to make the art deco fronts look realistic, and the street life has enough hard-boiled '30s and '40s characters to give it the traditional Disney comic relief - a street cop, an autograph hound, a taxi driver.

"Sure, sure, I drive a yellow cab, but can I drive it when you're walking down the middle of the street? Okay, so you're a star, but I gotta make a living!"

I kept my eyes closed and my wallet zipped when I walked past the Mickey Mouse stores and the shops selling movie, classic car and Hollywood trivia. The eve-opener was a voice from Pacific Electric Pictures.

"Come on in, make your own movie!"

Well, that's more like it. Let's see, should I pick a set from the Wild West or a space ship. I guess I feel like "Star Wars" today.

"Okay, stand right there. Put this costume on over your clothes. There's cue cards for you to read. Hey, you look great. Okay . . . action!"

And there I was caught for posterity on video film, which would be erased by the next movie star that came along unless I bought the video for $24.95 and took it home for succeeding generations.

SMART TRAVELERS make reservations for lunch at the Brown Derby or the Prime Time, but I decided to stand in line for the cafeteria at Hollywood and Vine, or the Soundstage Restaurant, so the obvious next stop was to see the handprints that famous movie stars left Movie Ride.

The ride is not for coaster maniacs. There are two sets of cars that take you past the singing, dancing, dramatizing audio-animatronic figures of Indiana Jones, Mary Poppins, Roger Rabbit, and monsters from "The Aliens." We went down the underworld streets of the old gangster movies, down the yellow brick road to the land of Oz.

through smoke and slime and Munchkins.

There are two sets of trams. In one, you get highjacked by Public Enemy No. 1 and in the other, you get attacked by a wild pair of cow-

The theater is realistic enough. I heard a man say: "I used to live in California and go to Graumann's Chinese Theater, and the ushers dress just like the ushers here."

The Great Movie Ride is great fun, but the two-hour Backstage Tour is probably the most important attraction for movie buffs. The first half is on a tram that winds through the backlots - past the house where they film the Golden Girls, past Roger Rabbit's tram, on a realistic New York City street, through Catastrophe Canyon, where the tram is hit by explosions, fire and floods.

The second half of the tour is on foot, past a pond where they demonstrate special effects by blowing up ships, and filming storms, and on into the production studios where real films are made.

THEY WARM you up with a room full of props from movies you love, and by letting you star in a video while riding a giant bee from the upcoming movie "Honey, I Shrunk the Kids!"

The format is fairly standard, although the background changes the real world of movie making is interspersed with video displays that show you the on-screen results.

Guides walk you through viewing rooms where you can see down through glass walls to real moviemaking activities - a rehearsal for a "Conversation with George Burns," a filming of the new Mickey Mouse Club, or a scene from the latest Dinney picture. Bette Midler shot a special 21/2-minute film, called 'The Lottery" for the tour. You see it on video, and then walk through the sets used to make it. This same format is used in the Animation Tour. You watch real artists at work behind glass, while a video screen describes the pro-

If you really want to be in the movies, line up for the Superstar Television by Sony and wave your hand like mad when they ask for cast members.

THEY CHOOSE about 30 stars from the audience, so you've got a good chance. Your traveling companion can sit with the rest of the audience and applaud while the stage hands race from one changing set to another and you have your moment of televised glory.

For example, remember this famous scene from an "I Love Lucy" show. Lucy and Ethel work in a Two important new attractions open in June — a wa- chocolate factory, but can't wraper park called Typhoon Lagoon and a restaurant-night; the chocolates fast enough. The "superstar" who plays Ethel does the role on the stage, and is fitted in right next to Lucille Ball in the real scene on a monitor above the stage.

At Pacific Electric Pictures, you can make your own movie, choosing a set from the wild west or a space ship and take the video home with you for $29.95.

Getting to Tomorrowland

Delta Airlines is the official airline of Disney World. It has a huge L-1011 jumbo jet mock-up created as a movie set visible on the Backstage Tour at the Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park. Delta's fly-through adventure DreamFlight will open in Tomorrowland, part of the Magic Kingdom, this summer.

Its alliance with Disney may give you the best packages, although you should always shop around.

Delta has approximately a dozen flights a day from -> Detroit to Orlando. They connect through either Cincinnati or Atlanta, except for one non-stop to Orlando at 8:50 a.m. and one back to Detroit at 7:30 p.m. The most economical rate is $240 round-trip, if you leave Detroit Sunday through Wednesday and return Tuesday through Friday, and stay over a Saturday night. Other days add $40, and after May 21, reserve 14 days

Call the tour desk at (800) 872-7786 for packages, but be prepared with several dates because they sell out months ahead for hotels on Disney property.

FOUR DAYS for two people sharing a room at Disney's new budget Caribbean Beach Resort, five villages of two-story hotels amid gardens and pools, is approximately $1,380 including air transportation, four-day Disney passes, three-day rental car and taxes.

Stay off property at a place like the Quality Inn and it costs $1,075 mid-week, but doesn't include Disney passes (a four-day pass, good at any WDW park, costs $97 each). Northwest offers the same $240 fare, same limitations. If you buy tickets before May 26, children ages 2 to 17 years can fly with you for $1 round-trip, if you fly

Tuesday or Wednesday. A sample August reservation for four days at the Caribbean Beach resort, plus four-day rental car and oneday Disney pass is $207 per adult, children 2 to 17 free in the room. Add air fare.

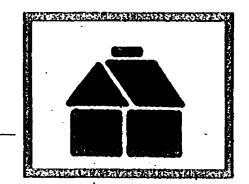

SEVERAL OTHER airlines, including American, have this $240 fare and some kind of special fare for children. American will fly children 2 to 17 years old free, if you fly Tuesday or Wednesday.

· Free transportation runs regularly between the Magic Kingdom, EPCOT, the Disney-MGM Studios Theme Park and other attractions. The Studios Theme Park is not as complex as EPCOT, so you can skim it in one day. With a multi-day pass you can go back and forth between the various parks.

ter park called Typhoon Lagoon and a restaurant-night club area called Pleasure Island. I'll bring you more about them when they are in full operation in June.

Meantime, contact a travel agent, an airline or Disney (407-W-DISNEY).

SERVED STATE OF THE SERVED

Q: My husband and I live in a condominium in Plymouth Township and we have been there since 1983. About two years ago we noticed a leak in our basement. As our basement is finished, pinpointing the origin of the leak was difficult. The site manager of the condominium decided that the main source of the leak was from the main supportive I-beam. This was repaired by digging down and covering the suspect area

Shortly thereafter, we discovered that we had one more leak. The worst was around aslarge basement window that sat in a well." We were told that to have the leak repaired we would have to hire someone to remove the interior finished wall from around the window including the window frame and suspended ceiling which we did. Ultimately we found that the leaking window frame became a leaking frame, two additional leaks in the basement wall and an additional leak around the I-beam.

After a total of four trips by the people hired by the association, the leaks have been stopped. This has taken approximately three months during which time our downstairs was a total mess, depriving us of the space we basically desperately needed over the holidays. We had out of pocket expenses and painting to be done plus the carpeting now needs to be replaced. Can we hold the association financially responsible for the inside damage caused by the basic structural defect?

A: This is an age-old question which not only is perplexing for co-owners but condominium boards as well. Many condominium boards, unfortunately, make arbitary and capricious decisions about their repair responsibility without consulting with competent legal counsel. Others make reasoned decisions but decide that they will not follow the condominium documents and rely on either their own so-called "handed-down policies" or what they think they can get away with.

In your case, the responsibility for the association for incidental damage to your unit depends in part upon what the condominium documents say as to the scope of responsibility of the association.

Most condominium documents require that the association be responsible for the incidental damage to a unit which would include, at the least, the items which came with the unit originally when it was purchased from the developer. Others are more expansive in terms of their scope of liability. That is not to say that a court would not take the position that the association, under a negligence theory, is responsible for all of the resultant damages attributable to your unit if it was careless and/or negligent in maintaining the condominium premises.

You are well advised, therefore, to seek the advice of competent legal counsel to review your condominium documents and provide you with a written opinion.

Q: Every year I fantasize about how I'll improve my yard. When I see all the beautiful tulips, I vow I'll plant hordes of my own. When tomatoes ripen, I wish I had planted my own. I can't afford a landscaper and somehow the beauty I imagine never materializes. Any suggestions?

A: As with any project, bountiful gardens don't just happen - they require careful planning, and right now is the perfect time.

The first step in your Grand Plan is to gather information. Obtain books and catalogs from the library or book stores. Drive around and spot particularly attractive plantings and find out what they are. Visit several nurseries, talk to their nurserymen and ask for their catalogs and predrawn designs. Call the county Extension Service for information. Set up a Gardening file to hold your data. Make a list of the names of all plants you may want. Write down whether they will' grow in sun or shade, when they produce flowers, color or fruit, how big they will eventually get, and the best planting time. (Planting times are much more versatile than they used to be.) Consider a color scheme and continuing maintenance.

On graph paper chart out your existing garden spaces and evaluate if you want to retain, prune or transplant, tear out and replace, or add to what you have now. Using your researched information, draw up the Grand Plan of your Dream Yard. It isn't necessary to complete all your plantings this year. If you lack the time or money to do it all at once, implement parts of the plan over a period of two or more years.

Coat your outside shakes as soon as weather permits

AP - One of the misconception about the care of wooden shakes on the outside of a house is that they sould be allowed to "season" for as long as a year before a coating is applied.

Wrong, say the experts. It takes only a month before the outer surface of the wood develops a loose layer of dead cells. Coating will not adhere to a loose surface.

One of those experts, John Oberle, technical director of Benjamin Moore & Co., advises homeowners to coat the shakes as soon as weather permits.

. "If the season has been generally dry," he says," and you have had two or three days of good weather, the chances are your shakes are dry enough for coating."

SHAKES CAN BE FINISHED in a number of ways: with stains, paints, clear coatings or not at all. Left to weather naturally in harsh environments, the resulting layer of loose cells turns cedar an attractive gray.

This outer layer stays in place and offers some protection to underlaying layers. Left untreated, however, shakes can sometimes weather unevenly, creating a non-uniform appearance. They can also develop unattractive stains.

To preserve the beauty of cedar's natural color, shakes can be treated with clear coatings that penetrate the wood and require very little upkeep. Not only do they permit cedar to hold its original color and appearance, but many offer the added advantages of repelling water and protecting against wood rot.

Stains, often applied to shakes to achieve a more Colonial look, range from semitransparent to solid. Semitransparent stains allow both texture and grain to show through.

OPAQUE STAINS OBSCURE a bit more of the texture, but obliterate the grain and do not build up a thick film the way paint does. Because they penetrate the wood rather than adhere to its surface, stains are also less likely to peel.

Paint is the coating of choice for a smoother more contemporary look. Untreated cedar requires a base coat of primer before painting because the wood contains soluble materials which may bleed through to the surface. To avoid stains showing through the paint, Oberle says, one or more coats of a bleed-resistant primer utacturer's instructions."

must be used. Both oil and water-based systems are available for this purpose.

Once the proper primer has been applied, painting is easy. As common sense would dictate, just paint vertically with - not against the grain. For those who prefer them, special applicator pads are available for painting

Over the years, untreated shakes eventually wear out and need replacing. Paint provides the most protection against replacing, followed by opaque stains. Semitransparent and clear coatings require more frequent reapplications.

Before a new coating can be applied over the old, the surface of shakes must be free of loose or peeling paint, mildew and the chalky residue that often results from natural degradation of the initial coatings.

IF THE WOOD IS BADLY weathered, Oberle advises, it's often wise to use another coat of primer before applying the top coat. Mildew is easily removed with a solution of one-part laundry bleach to four-parts water. Commercial mildew washes are also available.

Because each added coat of semitransparent stain reduces the visibility of the grain, it can be hard to anticipate how the finished job will look. Test the stain first on a small, obscure area of

If you don't like the result, you can step up to an opaque stain or paint. When clear-coated shakes begin to look silvery, it's time for recoating. A new clear coat penetrates the wood and gives the house a rich, fresher look.

When structural changes are made to the exterior of a house, new shakes must be matched to the original color. The task is often tricky.

"If you're trying to match shakes of different ages, the best you can do is mininize the difference," Oberle says. "New shakes and old shakes have different textures." He recommends enlisting the help of a paint dealer.

According to the National Paint and Coatings Association, shakes may be finished with highly satisfactory results "if a top quality material, made by a reputable manufacturer and distributed by a reputable dealer, is applied in accordance with label directions.

"The most important single factor in obtaining a satisfactory finish job is to follow the man-

New style home windows helps let the sunshine in

More years ago than most would like to remember, "let the sun shine in" was the anthem of a generation.

Today, that generation - and every other group you can name - is taking that little motto to heart as interest grows in windows, skylights, greenhouses and other ways to 'let the sun shine

Builders throughout the metropolitan Detroit area are meeting the demand with a variety of innovative and attractive products and design techniques.

"Decorative windows in all shapes, from simple circle to triangles, trapezolds and even more elaborte geometric constructions are showing up in homes everywhere," said James Bonadeo, president of the Builders Assocation of Southeastern Michigan.

"Combined with beveled glass, stained glass, leading, carved wooden mullions and others decorative design features, these windows bring not only light but an air of distinction and charm to any home," he said.

Especially popular with many homes buyers are half-round windows above standard windows or patio doors. And decorative transoms and sidelights grace many a home's entrance, while walls of windows bring sunlight and enticing views indoors.

'Despite their obvious aesthetic value, today's new windows can be practical as well," said Bonadeo. "Many feature coated glass, reflective materials, double glazing and other modern techniques to enhance energy efficiency."

With the emphasis on light, sight lines and views of the outside, what's a home owner or builder to do in metropolitan communities where the homes are within sight lines of each other? The answer: glass block.

INCREASINGLY POPULAR IN residential applications, glass block is perfect for bringing light into the home while screening a less than perfect view for a measure of privacy. It also is popular inside the home - especially in bathrooms - where it again provides light and pri-

Just for brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcements of engagements and weddings.

Engagement announcements will be accepted no later than 45 days prior to the wedding. Wedding announcements must be submitted within 60 days following the wedding. All announcements are run on a space available, first-come, first-served basis.

Photos submitted should be black and white glossies, preferably 5-by-7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the office where the information was submitted. Or, if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo it will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Westland are, to be addressed to Sue Mason, Livonia Observer, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Farmington and Farmington Hills are to be addressed to Loraine McClish, Farmington Observer, 33203 Grand River, Farmington 48024.

Mason can be reached by calling 591-2300. McClish can be reached by calling 477-5450.

On the cover.

The photograph was taken by Marisa Miller after the wedding of Debble Crawford and Jeff Bond when the couple received guests in Western Country Club, Redford.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford of Livonia, is a graduate of Stevenson High School. The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bond of Livonia, is a graduate of Churchill High School. They are both employed in the Crawford family's business, Ace Welding Supply, in Redford.

Miller has been employed by Focal Point Studio in downtown Farmington for seven years and specializes in weddings and portraits. She is holder of three blue ribbons won from the Detroit Professional Photographers Association, and is the recipient of a great deal of appreciation from Debbie Crawford Bond.

Three days before her wedding, the bride was in an accident that left her with more than 30 stitches in her nose.

"I have never known such cooperation."
Everyone in the (photo) studio got involved in how best to pose me for my wedding pictures," the bride said. "The photographer was very patient and went way out of her way to make me look beautiful."

The newlyweds are now residing in Livonia.

The ivory organza wedding gown with embroidered bodice and sleeves is from the spring and summer Carolina Herrera Couture Bridal Collection.
