Police: City stalling on contract talks

Cops put feelings on bumper sticker

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Some of Westland's police have taken their labor dispute with the city to the streets. No, they aren't picketing outside city hall — they've put out bumper stickers that let their cars do their talking.

The bumper stickers read: "Talk to your sergeants and lieutenants. 'Trav' won't."

"Trav" refers to Mayor Charles Griffin, who was expected to announce his candidacy for re-election today at 11 a.m.

Griffin lambasted the union's tactic in putting out the bumper stickers. "For them to say we haven't talked is ludicrous and a scam. Maybe they think it'll pressure me, but I can assure you it will not."

The president of the local lieutenants and sergeants union, Sgt. Robert Barthold, said the city has dragged its feet on contract negotiations and hasn't met with the union since April.

The former contract between the union and the sergeants and police expired in June of 1988, though the 23 members of the union got the same raise (7.6 percent) as the patrolmen did when they agreed to a new pact.

Summer camp days

An old tractor tire and a pile of sand are enough to keep Steve Jones, 11, and Justin Lusk, 7, happy at the Wayne-Westland YMCA Summer Day Camp. But the daily camp for Westland, Garden City and other area children 6-12 offers much more than just a playground. For a story and more pictures please turn to page 3A in today's Observer.

Schools fund asbestos removal

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Removal of hazardous asbestos from Wayne-Westland schools will continue this summer as district officials struggle with how to pay a cleanup bill that could eventually come to $15 million.

The school board last week unanimously approved spending $259,525 for asbestos abatement at John Glenn High School and Marshall Junior High.

But several board members criticized school administrators for their plan to use money from a special account to pay for the work without first notifying the board. The board is responsible for all decisions regarding the account, which is part of the district's surplus and has a current balance of about $300,000, said board treasurer Kenneth Barnhill.

"This board put the money into that account and I thought we agreed that this board would be responsible for withdrawing it," Barnhill said.

WASTE MANAGEMENT workers from Dore and Associates will remove asbestos from ceilings in the John Glenn gym, lobby and stairwells.

A second company, Environmental Pollution Control, Inc., will complete the job at Adams, which includes removing asbestos from the ceilings in the lobby and two hallways. A 350-square-foot patch of water-damaged ceiling tiles was removed from an Adams ceiling last May in an emergency move after school officials determined it contained a higher than allowable amount of asbestos.

Both projects will be completed by mid-August, before the start of the school year, according to Thomas Svitkovich, associate superintendent for communications and finance.
"This handles the issue at hand, but it does nothing for the long range," said Superintendent Dennis O'Neill. "We're going to have to take a serious look at how we address this issue in the future."

O'Neill has said asbestos removal at the district's 34 buildings could eventually cost as much as $15 million.

THE DISTRICT has submitted a plan to state health department officials for removal of asbestos from its buildings.

Board member Mathew McCusker suggested a bond issue for asbestos removal. Such a measure would have to be approved by district voters.

Trustee Sylvia Kozorosky-Wlack said state and federal lawmakers should approve aid for asbestos removal.

Studies of people who worked with asbestos have shown that exposure to the fire-retardant compound increases the risk of developing lung cancer, cancer of the lining of the lung and abdomen and chronic lung disease.

Condo builders to scale back plans

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Developers of a proposed condominium development in Westland have scaled back their plans in response to a wetlands protest by the Southeast Michigan Land Conservancy and the Holliday Nature Preserve Association.
The developer, J-G Financial Services of Birmingham, and opponents of the original plan said, after a hearing by the state Department of Natural Resources Wednesday, that they thought they could amicably agree on development plans.

The development, known as Emerald Point, is southwest of the intersection of Hix and Koppernick and northeast of the Holliday preserve.

The preserve association was chiefly responsible for thwarting a city proposal to build a golf course in the area last year.

Phase I of the free-standing, single-family condominium project has begun. Phase II awaits DNR approval because the developer needs to put a road across a small strip of wetlands that leads to a pond and marsh at the west end of the site.

The pond and marsh are home to a variety of ducks, fox, herons, hawks and, last summer, a nesting pair of great horned owls.

PETER BEER, a vice president of J-G Financial, told DNR officials at the hearing, which was held at the Dyer Center, that a new plan would eliminate five out of 111 condos and several hundred feet of road, which would leave the swamp and pond intact.

"I can live with that," said John Covert, a science teacher in Livonia who testified against the original proposal.

Covert, Jack Smiley, the president of the Southeast Michigan Land Conservancy, and representatives of the developer were to meet on the site Friday to agree on boundaries for the proposed development.

Abortion won't be huge issue — Faust

At least one state lawmaker remains unconvinced that Michigan will jump upon the anti-abortion legislation bandwagon now that the U.S. Supreme Court has given states regulating authority.
"I don't see it as the volatile issue some are trying to make it," state Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, said last week.
Faust said he anticipates no action in Lansing this year.
He holds that view despite informal announcements from a number of colleagues who said they plan to introduce bills when the state House and Senate reconvene on a full-time basis in September.

Faust said the remodeling of the state Capitol building — which has created cramped quarters for state lawmakers — will mean that only essential legislation will be considered. The state budget, due by Oct. 1, will get top priority, he said.

The state senator said the only chance for anti-abortion legislation would be a petition drive, since there wouldn't be enough votes to override an almost certain veto from Gov. James Blanchard, who is pro-choice.

Camp offers different fun

Things are going to be different at the Wayne-Westland YMCA summer day camp this week.

In fact, things are different every week.

That's because the Y offers the only day camp in town that has more weekly themes than a package full of ethnic festivals.

There's "Indian Week," "Gymnastics Week" and "Independence Week." If that doesn't grab you, try "Nature/Animal Week," "Carnival Week" or "International Week."

Each week through Aug. 25 carries a different theme.

The program features traditional day camp activities — swimming, arts and crafts, singalongs — for area children 6-12 as well.

Children may attend the Monday-Friday summer camp on a daily or weekly basis.

Fees range from $10.50 (Y member) to $12.50 (non-member) per day, or $52 (Y member) to $62.00 (non-member) per week. There is a non-refundable registration fee of $10.

Campers may bring their own lunch or buy one at an additional charge. Free drinks are served daily.

Program hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and a latch key child care program is available beginning at 6:30 a.m. and ending at 6:30 p.m. Latch key fees are $2 per hour for members and $3 per hour for non-members.

For more information on day camp activities, call the Y, 721-7044.

It's "Sports Week" at the Wayne-Westland YMCA summer day camp and the sport of the moment is kickball.

cop calls

A GARDEN CITY man learned the hard way Tuesday morning to walk away from trouble after he got part of his ear bitten off in a case of mistaken identity.

The man, 25, and a friend were leaving Greg's Emergency Room Lounge on Palmer about 1:30 a.m. when a stranger followed them outside and asked if they were the ones bothering "Linda."

According to a police report, the two men said they didn't know "Linda" and things seemed over when the stranger admitted they didn't look like the guys he was looking for. But the Garden City man asked him what he would have done if they had been whom he was looking for, and moments later the two were trading punches and rolling in the parking lot.

The stranger said he'd had enough, but after the Garden City man started to let him up, the man thumbed his left eye, grabbed his head in his hands and bit off more than half of his left ear.

The Garden City man screamed and tried to get up, but the man knocked him down and began kicking him in the face, all the while with the ear clamped in his mouth. "Here's your ear," he said finally, spitting it in the man's face. When the Garden City man and his friend tried to drive across the street to the Westland Medical Center, the man kicked in both sides of their car.

The man, wanted on a charge of mayhem, was described as 21-22, 6-foot-3 and 190 pounds.

TWO WESTLAND WOMEN say there were knocked around and robbed of a VCR and TV by two acquaintances from Pontiac who arrived at their apartment about 5:30 Wednesday morning looking to collect on a debt.

The women, 18 and 24, who reportedly owed the two an unspecified sum of money, filed charges of assault and battery.

A MAN CLAIMING to have a gun jumped onto the counter of the 7-Eleven on Merriman about 2 a.m. Wednesday and took $42 from the cash register.

The man, described as white, about 40, with dark hair streaked with gray, first asked for change for a quarter. When he couldn't produce the quarter, he asked for change for a dollar, then jumped on the counter and said he was armed.

After the cashier asked to see the gun, he reached over, opened the register and took the money. He fled in an '83 Ford LTD that had been reported stolen in an armed robbery in Dearborn the night before.

A DRINKING PARTY with friends ended up in a beating by ax handles, baseball bats and shovels for a 30-year-old Westland man.

Police were summoned to a June address to report a drunk man throwing bottles at cars. When they arrived, they found the man bleeding from head wounds, but he wouldn't press charges or name his attackers.

"I've got pride. I'll take care of them myself," he told police, who then drove him home. When the man got out of the police car, he said, "Look what they did to me," then challenged one of the police to take off his gun and fight him. The police left without incident.

Schools win federal grant

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools have been granted more than $157,000 in federal funds to continue the system's highly successful Upward Bound program for the 1989-90 school year.

The program, which is run at Wayne Memorial High School, is aimed at low-income, disadvantaged high school students throughout the district who show academic potential.

The students — 10th, 11th and 12th graders are eligible — receive tutoring and extra academic counseling and are required to take such college-prep courses as a foreign language, computers, English and mathematics.

Upcoming seniors live on a college campus for an intensive-study summer semester, which helps prepares them for life away from home and shows them what will be required of them at a four-year school.

ACCORDING TO Ann Green, director of the Upward Bound program for the Wayne-Westland schools, the school system is the only one in Michigan receiving Upward Bound funds. Most funding goes to university-run programs.

Green said the program, now in its sixth year at Wayne Memorial, has seen 97 percent of its students go on to college.

She said about 60 students will participate in the program in the upcoming school year.

This summer, underclassmen take six-week sessions at the high school, while the seniors are off at college campuses.

Green said eight are at Eastern Michigan, with one at General Motors Institute, one at the University of Michigan and one at Olivet College.

Boy recants story of sex assault

A Westland police officer said Friday she believes a 12-year-old boy was sexually assaulted by his stepfather, despite the boy's last-minute recantation Wednesday in front of the Detroit Recorder's Court judge presiding over the man's sentencing.

"I saw this coming, but we had a very good case," said officer Laura Moore, who handles sex crimes for the department.

The 35-year-old Westland man was facing a maximum penalty of life in prison for first-degree criminal sexual conduct when the stepson told Judge Warfield Moore Jr. that he "made up" the sexual assault, according to a published report.

The stepfather was convicted by Judge Moore in a June bench trial.

The judge postponed the sentencing until Aug. 10 and ordered the man and the alleged victim to take lie detector tests.

Laura Moore said the boy may have been convinced to change his story after spending two weeks with relatives outside Michigan after the conviction.

"The mother has always sided with the stepfather and they took him away to some of his relatives out of state and I'm sure they leaned on the child," officer Moore said.

The alleged assault occurred in June 1987 when the stepfather allegedly coerced the boy into performing oral sex on him, according to court records.

Setting the stage

Meeting planned to save area theater

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

A "save the theater" movement has started in Livonia.
Residents and community leaders interested in preserving the former Mai Kai Theater as a performing arts center are looking for individuals with similar interests.
An open meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Wednesday on the stage of the Ford Road exit ramp Thursday.
The Arts Alliance Group, Performing arts and community groups have been invited.
TAAG chairman Ken Kelsey said that the alliance has commissioned a feasibility study on potential uses of the Mai Kai as a performing arts center.

would operate the center to bring in top performing groups for the enjoyment of residents and to offer a center for local performing groups to use, said Kelsey.
The facility also would be made available to schools and colleges for graduation ceremonies, to businesses for conferences or auctions, and for lecture series and several other uses.
"The location of the Mai Kai and the general good condition of the facilities inspires us to pursue this opportunity to see if we can develop a convincing case for the future of this wonderful building," Kelsey wrote in a letter recently to performing art groups.
The consultant hired to do a feasibility study will be introduced Wednesday night and will listen to suggestions on different uses for the facility.
TAAG will use the meeting to gauge community interest in the project, said Kelsey. Another meeting will be scheduled with business leaders in the city.

Kelsey said TAAG will make a presentation to the Livonia City Council after the meetings are held and a feasibility study is completed.
The present owner of the Mai Kai has expressed a willingness to donate the theater to the city of Livonia or a non-profit community group to operate as a performing arts center.
BACKERS BELIEVE a non-profit group could make the project work because it wouldn't have to make mortgage payments, a major expense, if the theater is donated. The center would also enjoy tax-exempt status.
TAAG board members also believe there might be funds available from foundations to help the center get off the ground.

Other board members of TAAG include: Jeanne Bonner, secretary; Dave Palmer, treasurer; Fred Fehlaier, founding chairman; and Robert Bishop, Marcia Buhl, Peter Ventura, Dennis Chidester, Ida Krandle, Mary Ann LaForest, Diana Socha and Clara Lawrence.
Kelsey said he sent invitations to other groups in the community that might use the center, including key performing arts groups, but may have missed someone. "That's why this is an open meeting. We want anyone interested in the performing arts, or interested in saving the Mai Kai, to feel free to drop in Wednesday night."
Kelsey, who also is president of the Livonia Symphony, said the symphony would be interested in holding its concerts there. Other music and theater groups in the city have expressed similar interests.

2 hurt as police vehicle struck

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A Canton police car was hit from behind while trying to get to a rollover accident on the shoulder of the southbound I-275 freeway at the Ford Road exit ramp Thursday.
Of the four people involved in the accidents, two received minor injuries, according to Greg Stevens, a state police trooper. Both were from Westland.
THE FIRST accident happened about 3:15 p.m. when an 18-year-old Garden City man was trying to exit from southbound I-275 at Ford Road.

The driver lost control of his vehicle and veered onto the gravel of the left side of the shoulder, Stevens said.
The car slid, still out of control, across the exit ramp and headed toward the ditch on the west side of the shoulder. The car struck pieces of concrete on the shoulder of the road, veered into the ditch and rolled over.
The driver reportedly suffered minor scratches on his back and wasn't hospitalized, police said.
Canton officer Dave Boljesic, who was off-duty at the time, said he stopped at the accident and asked other witnesses to call the emergency 9-1-1 number.

Canton officer George Sharp responded at about 3:25 p.m. and entered the northbound I-275 freeway just north of the Ford Road entrance.
"He got to the top of the ramp and tried to exit the freeway to get to the other side" of the expressway, Stevens said. "He made it across two lanes."
However, a 19-year-old Westland man was in the far left lane and didn't see the patrol car "until it was too late when he attempted to stop," he said. A 16-year-old Westland girl was sitting in the passenger's seat.

THE CAR slid and struck the left rear quarter of the police car, spinning it around and putting it in the ditch.
Sharp and the 16-year-old passenger were taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia for treatment of minor injuries.
"They were both treated, stabilized and released," said Julie Sproul, St. Mary Hospital director of community relations.
State police are investigating ski marks and other evidence at the accident scenes to determine who was at fault in the accidents. Those reports should be available next week, Stevens said.

Catholic group is supporting legal abortion

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

There's no reason that Catholics who believe abortion is a personal matter, not a governmental matter, need to hide, says Sandra Damesworth, Michigan spokeswoman for Catholics for a Free Choice.
Catholics for a Free Choice is a 16-year-old national educational organization that supports the right to legal reproductive health care, especially family planning and abortion.
Despite the church's official anti-abortion stance, polls show that many Catholics — like many in the rest of the U.S. population — support the right to legal abortion and believe it can be a moral option, said Damesworth.

want their views publicized belong to Catholics for a Free Choice, said Damesworth.
"Hopefully, more will come out of the closet and start speaking out publicly."
IN MEXICO, said Damesworth, 70 percent of hospital beds are occupied by women who've had botched abortions.
In China, women have their stomachs beaten to induce abortion, she added.
"It's been 16 years since we've had to deal with (illegal abortion). People really don't know what they're bringing onto themselves because it's been so long since we've seen it."
"Young women in this country haven't had the experience of knowing death from a coat hanger. It angers me we can't trust a woman to make a decision that will affect herself and her family. The thought that we'd make criminals out of women is unbelievable."
The church "has never recognized the social injustice of having children you can't feed," she said.

"No one's talking about teens or rape victims. The church has no feeling for what's going to happen to children after they're born, which is why we're concerned about sex education for teens, family planning, birth control and women's rights in the Church. Women still don't have much of a role in the church."
Damesworth is urging people to write their state legislators "to let them know how they feel before we get legislation that'll affect women's rights even more."
Catholicism "is a wonderful religion, and I hate to see it go down the drain."
"They're having trouble finding and keeping enough priests. It's kind of sad to see them lose members over fundamental personal rights."
Individuals interested in joining Catholics for a Free Choice can call Damesworth at 451-0221.

Recycling needs our attention

I'm frightened, and you should be too.

In the United States, the per person per capita production of solid wastes (comprising of trash) increased from 2.75 pounds per day in 1920 to more than 9 pounds per day in 1988.

With the increased demands being placed on cities such as ours to locate landfills, where will our kids and their kids come to dispose of trash safely? Because of the tremendous pressures to purify our nation's air and water resources, and because of the lack of room at dumping sites, sludge and garbage are front page news as one city after another faces up to the crisis. Untreated and unrecycled, these wastes will haunt us for centuries to come by causing health and pest problems — a blight to our land, water, air and ourselves. They also will cost each and every one of us astronomical amounts of tax dollars.

And those of us who call ourselves "foodies" actually increase the problem by throwing away countless amounts of cans, bottles, plastics and papers which, by itself, account for more than 65 percent of the trash collected by the waste haulers.

Think for a minute about the number of cans alone that are generated in the kitchen. Now, multiply in the food pages from your newspaper. Don't forget to count the empty mayonnaise jars, jelly jars and mustard containers. If you purchase milk in those recyclable plastic containers, add that in too. Don't forget to count the juice jars/jugs and by all means, get out the calculator to tally those baby food jars and condiment jars. My head is spinning already, and that's just from counting my kitchen refuse.

If you haven't guessed by now, I volunteered a few hours of time at Livonia's Community Recycling Center last Saturday and came away with a new outlook on how the Janes gang will treat household refuse in the future. I applauded each and every one of the more than 150 folks who dropped by with carloads of newspapers, cans, tin, jars and used motor oil. Many of the cars and vans were packed with kids who helped unload and sort the refuse. In the two short hours I was there, we stacked and collected more than a ton of newspapers (many of which consisted of O&E Taste pages) and bags of jars, tin and aluminum cans. It did the old heart (and conscience) good to see folks just like you and I taking an active role in recycling.

You know what scared me though? I realized that this was less than 1 percent of the total population. That means that more than 99 percent of the community still tosses recyclable materials such as those mentioned above out with their weekly trash.

But then I hear about folks like the Jim Amick family who live in the Seven Mile and Merriman area who, after hearing about the opening of the recycling center, have actually reduced their curbside trash by more than 60 percent simply by recycling. The Amick family not only drops by the recycling center every three weeks or so with their recyclable trash but have also started a compost heap in their backyard and they turn their coffee grounds, egg shells and compostable wastes into fertilizer with a few shovels of dirt.

Like you and I could, the Amick family now requests paper bags at the grocery store and whenever possible, carry items from the store without the use of bags. They have even alerted their neighbors about their monthly trips to the recycling center, offering to transport their recyclable materials. Sounds like a back-breaking, dirty job? Hardly. Their neighbors, like you and I could, rinse out and flatten the cans and place the newspapers in paper shopping bags and help load the Amick car.

And if you're sitting there thinking that only Livonia has a recycling center, were you aware

Move over, fast food — there's a new way to eat

By Debbie Sklar
special writer

TWO ALL-BEEF patties, special sauce, lettuce, cheese flame broiled . . . Where's the beef? . . . We do chicken right. . . Ah, the sweet sound of those fast-food jingles, but wait — there's a new way of eating.

In this day and age a growing number of Americans are spending more time at home relaxing by the television with one of the latest video movies (a recent study suggests that more than 78 percent of moviegoers would prefer watching a film for the first time on their own TV screens instead of at the theater) and a gourmet-delivered meal spread across their laps.

"Nationally, right now, food consumed off-premise is a $40 billion industry, but only $3.9 billion of that is being delivered. There is definitely a market for this type of service," says Kirk Scott, founder and president of Wabam Wabow, a computerized restaurant, food-delivery service that caters to homes in the major suburbs of Oakland County.

"It all comes down to the fact that people are getting sick of burgers and pizza. They want a change. They still want fast service, but they're willing to wait a little longer and spend a little more money to get better food. Let's face it, this is going to be the trend of the '90s."

ACCORDING TO marketing trends, in USA Today, Americans are spending more money decorating their homes because they're entertaining in them more.

"They call it cocooning," says Scott, who began exploring his Clawson-based company more than two years ago after seeing a similar operation in Southern California. "Today people are having kids, they're both working, they have dual incomes, and now because their spare time is so limited, they want to spend it at home."

"No longer can the husband say, 'Honey, you go in the kitchen and I'll stand outside and drink a beer,'" he says. "Women don't want to be in the kitchen any more than the husband does."

It is at this point that gourmet delivery services or even individual restaurants step in to save the day and possibly a lover's spat.

"Rather than having a meal catered, where you have to order large quantities of things," Scott explains, "with our service, people can come in from work at seven o'clock, look at our menu and order appetizers and have those delivered. Maybe an hour later they decide that they want to order a meal and give us another jingle. It's pure convenience. We call ourselves the instant caterer."

AS PART OF its menu, Wabam Wabow offers lunch and dinner from 14 restaurants, ranging from Lebanese hommus with tahini from Phoenix in Birmingham to broccolli beef with straw mushrooms from Mon Jin Lau in Troy. Other offerings are from Keith Famie's L.A. Express in Royal Oak and from Alban's, Machus Sly Fox, Punchinello's and, for the sweet tooth, Marty's Cookies, all of Birmingham.

"What's nice about eating restaurant food at home is that you don't have to eat the whole meal right away or have dessert immediately after your meal," he says. "You can put half in the refrigerator and eat it at midnight if you want."

At Wabam Wabow there is a $20 minimum for each lunch order. The delivery charge will remain the same as the dinner service; 10 percent or $3.50 whichever is greater.

You can either call your order in by dialing 288-FOOD or fax it by calling 288-FACS. Orders are taken 24 hours in advance or up until 1 p.m. the following day of delivery. Dinner service is Monday-Saturday 5-10 p.m. and Sunday 4-8 p.m. Dinner minimum is $10. Wabam Wabow has 12 drivers, who all arrive wearing uniforms.

Scott says in order to ensure hot, high-quality food with fast delivery, each restaurant has its own limited delivery area, which is approximately five miles. Surprisingly, Scott's service is not just limited to the yuppie crowd as many may believe. It appears that the average customer is 45 and older.

"I HAVE a 72-year-old lady that orders from us every night," he says. "She probably spends between $10 and $15 per night — not much more than a pizza."

Over in Royal Oak, famed chef Keith Famie says he actively uses Wabam Wabow's delivery service to deliver tempting delicacies from his quick carry-out service, L.A. Express, within his popular Les Auteurs restaurant.

Muffin company in full gear

By Arlene Funke
special writer

JOYCE SHERMAN is no Jill-come-lately to the oat bran craze. Sherman, of West Bloomfield, has been baking healthy, tasty oat bran muffins for years. Now her Livonia-based Motor City Muffin Co. is cashing in on the demand for muffins that are sweet, low-fat and high in fiber.

"I saw a niche," said Sherman, 31. "I love doughnuts, but I can't eat them anymore. I read that oat bran does lower cholesterol. In '87 we were using oat bran. We were ahead of the game."

Sherman, a former French teacher at Roeper School in Bloomfield Hills, had always enjoyed baking. As time went on, she thought more and more about launching a business, centered on her time-tested, popular blueberry and poppy seed muffins.

Sherman teamed up with her sister-in-law, Susan Borin of Bloomfield Hills, a former flight attendant who also had modeled and acted. Motor City Muffin Co. was on its way.

"It was all just so exciting and new," Borin, 36, said of the company, which began in Sherman's home kitchen in March 1987. "We did everything together. I became interested in the baking as well."

ENTHUSIASM PROPELLED the partners, neither of whom had any commercial baking interest before starting their company. Sherman and Borin, both mothers of small children, decided that at least some of their muffin varieties would be what they call "heart-healthy," high in fiber but low in sodium, sugar and fat.

Both women were keenly interested in those health aspects because Borin's husband Andrew — Sherman's brother — is a cardiologist.

"We continue to work on newer flavors that can also be heart-healthy," Borin said.

In addition, Motor City Muffin Co. products are kosher. That means they must adhere to rigid standards of cleanliness and purity of ingredients.

From the early days in Sherman's kitchen, the company moved into a pizzeria, then to the kitchen of an Oak Park synagogue. They outgrew those early quarters as new accounts mostly supermarkets, were acquired.

One year ago, Motor City Muffin Co. moved into its current facility on Stark Road in Livonia. The firm, which employs 10 people, produces 47,000 muffins per month.

"At the time, we were nervous about making such a big investment," Borin said. "To top it off, Joyce was pregnant."

CURRENTLY THE muffins are sold in about 50 upscale and specialty supermarkets, including Food Emporium of Livonia, Northville, Oak Park and West Bloomfield, 10 Great Scott supermarkets, the Merchant of Vino and Shopping Center Markets.

Several muffin flavors contain oat bran, touted by medical specialists for its ability to lower cholesterol, a fatty substance linked to heart disease. It seems there is an insatiable demand for muffins, cookies, breads and pancakes which contain oat bran.

"We can't keep (oat bran muffins) in the store," Sherman said.

Some 50 muffin varieties are available on a rotating basis. The lineup includes raisin nut, carrot and choco-

Now 'fast' food arrives with a gourmet touch

"Originally, we did the deliveries ourselves, but it got too hectic, so I decided to go with Wabam Wabow," says Famie, who was seated at one of the few small tables that dot the tiny carry-out service. "It's a tremendous service for people and it's definitely the way of the future."

Items on the specifically designed menu for delivery service at L.A. Express include Basil Pasta Salad, L.A. Pizzas, Pasta Choo Choo and Black Bean Cakes smothered with Smoked Chicken, Tomato Salsa and Sour Cream.

"Our biggest seller is L.A. Pizzas. People go wild over them," he says. "Pasta dishes and desserts are really big sellers too. As far as I can see, people are eating much more healthier and much more sensible these days."

L.A. EXPRESS has been open for about a year and concentrates on "fast, efficient, quick, good healthy food that's moderately priced." The bulk of the menu is pasta, gourmet entrees like lamb stew and linguini dishes, desserts and healthy salads.

Famie says one positive factor about his carry-out service is that the customer can either come in, browse, take the food home himself or call Wabam Wabow to deliver it for them.

At Monchelle Lamoure in Birmingham, owner Kathleen Haggerty says the restaurant, which is mostly known for desserts, has been involved with Wabam Wabow for at least four months. "It's helped the business because it's good exposure," she says. "People like to order desserts from us, especially our mousses, tortes and midnight chocolate layer cake."

Most recently Monchelle Lamoure added a lunch menu, which offers a variety of salads, soups and sandwiches. "We thought it would be nice to add a lunch menu for office workers during the summers," she says.

According to Cindy Kruse, co-owner of Kruse and Muer, within the Meadowbrook Mall in Rochester Hills, "This is a great service, one that we're really happy to be involved with."

KRUSE AND MUER offers numerous "Pastabilities," chicken and ribs combos, as well as soups, salads and other "stuff."

Kruse says they decided to hire

Wabam Wabow more than two months ago because they thought it would be good for business.

"We were really impressed with their presentation as well as the idea," she says. "It's great for us because they worry about insurance, liability and all the other headaches."

And what would a delivery service be without a good chocolate chip cookie?

According to Marty Herman, owner of Marty's Cookies in downtown Birmingham, Wabam Wabow buys about five dozen bags of cookies per week.

"I like their idea. I think it offers people the freedom of dining with their favorite restaurant but at the same time dining in their own house."

SINCE 1972, Anita's Kitchen in the busy city of Troy has been serving up some of the most exciting Lebanese dishes around. And according to co-owner Pierre Farah, business has become so overwhelming that he had to start his own delivery service. "There's no doubt about it," he says. "This is the wave of the future for the businessman."

Farah who owns the restaurant, along with his two brothers George and Charlie, says more than 10 percent of his delivery business is to offices around the metro area.

"Nowadays, business people don't have the time to hop in the car, lose their parking space and fight traffic just to get a bit of lunch," he says. "We knew there was a need for our service so we started it about three years ago. Our next step is going to be a fax machine so people can fax in their orders from wherever they're at."

Farah says there is no delivery charge as long as the order is more than $15 and within three miles of the restaurant. Anita's Kitchen does deliver to most suburban communities, but there is a fee, depending on location and what is ordered.

"This is a service that we as a restaurant really enjoy because it helps to service our customers greatly," he says.

ANITA'S KITCHEN specializes in Lebanese and American cooking. "Everything is baked in our kitchens on a daily basis and there are no preservatives or additives," he says. "Just good, home cooking with a lot of taste."

In Southfield, Bijou owner and general manager Walter Maeder says although he doesn't have a regular delivery service for his fine cooking, he does make exceptions for special occasions when he delivers to top executives and local celebrities.

"A couple of years ago Arthur Penhallow from WRIF called me the night before he was going to have surgery," recalls Maeder. "He wanted to know if we'd cook him up a steak and a Caesar salad. I sent my chef over to his place with a bottle of Chateau Lafite Rothschild and a chocolate mousse as well."

These recipes are from the L.A. Express in Royal Oak.

6 ounces rice wine vinegar
1/2 cup toasted sesame seeds

"Our special deliveries are really limited to faithful Bijou customers who may be laid up in bed and have a yen for our cooking," he says.

Maeder also has delivered Bijou entrees to top executives such as ad man W.B. Doner, when he was moving into an exclusive Birmingham abode.

In addition, Maeder says he prepares many dishes for local news media of both television and radio. "Dayna Eubanks always calls us for our Caesar salad and lobster bisque."

3 ounces honey
10 ounces mayonnaise
5 ounces country mustard
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 head red cabbage, shredded
1/2 head green cabbage shredded ize and blue (corn muffin with blueberries) will be available. The eggnog variety will show up in November or December.

"There is something for everyone," Borin said.

The partners have worked with diabetians from the American Heart Association to develop several recipes that contain no eggs, but are rich in whole wheat flour, oat bran and low-fat vegetable oil. Some are sweetened with molasses or fruit juice. Recipes that meet the heart association's dietary requirements are marked on the package.

"IT HAS TO BE a maximum of 30 percent fat," Sherman said. "If it's 32 percent, it doesn't pass."

At $1.59 to $2 each for a six-ounce muffin, they don't come cheaply. But Sherman guarantees freshness and purity of ingredients, with a shelf life of five days.

Mini, one-ounce versions, called babes, cost around $4 for 12 muffins. The larger muffin contains around 220 calories.

"These calories are nutritionally dense," Borin said. "They are all calories that are good for you. They are high in fiber. A high proportion of the muffin is oat bran."

Sherman and Borin both attribute their success to believing in themselves and their product, and a willingness to do what is necessary to get the job done.

"I think we just knew it was going to be successful," Sherman said.

The hardest part has been adapting to growth and constant change.

"It was keeping an open mind about being flexible and adaptable," Borin said.

Families need to get involved in recycling

that other communities, such as Birmingham, Southfield and Canton, also offer recycling stations such as ours? Call your city or township offices and find out how you can help save the environment, reduce pollution and begin a new recycling lifestyle.

Better yet, all of the cities listed above are in desperate need of volunteers to help direct traffic, sort and assist at these recycling centers. What a great lesson for today's youth to see first hand that there is an alternative to waste disposal.

If you can't find the time to volunteer, it's really simple to begin recycling at home. The Janes Gang took three old laundry baskets and placed them under the basement steps. Basket No. 1 holds all the newspaper (with shiny inserts removed) while basket No. 2 takes the glass jars and basket No. 3 tallying up the rinsed out cans and metal lids. Every other week, we get out the electric can opener and remove tops and bottoms from the cans, then let the kids have fun on the deck smashing them down. Without a doubt (and just by using these three baskets) our family has reduced packaged trash by 20 percent EASILY. I've stopped buying plastic-packaged items at the grocery and am digging holes behind the garage and filling them with my grass clippings. It's not much, but it's a start and I want my kids to be able to enjoy a pollution-controlled nation along with their kids to come. Hope you will too!

Make-ahead dishes perfect for quasi picnic

In the past, I have often written about picnic meals — which are fun to prepare and eat at all sorts of unusual times and places. These include breakfast picnics, after-dark romantic repasts under the stars, roadside lunches, and the more elaborate picnic feasts that are works of art.

However, strange as it may seem, there are large numbers of people who do not like picnics. They prefer to eat their meals in air-conditioned comfort, or — at least — in screened-in rooms or porches, away from the flies and mosquitoes.

One of the nicest features about picnics is that they are often make-ahead meals with no last-minute work. Everything is prepared and packed ahead, so that you can enjoy eating it along with the rest of the people.

The dishes are either paper throw-aways, or they are packed back into the basket, to be done later.

If your mate is one who doesn't enjoy picnicking, and you still want the fun and relaxation of such a meal, try some of these wonderful make-ahead recipes.

Serve them on a screened-in porch, or in any room of the house. Use your imagination, and plan as you would for a real picnic.

Eat on throw-away dishes, or, if you prefer real ones, stack them in the sink or dishwasher and worry about them later. You're entitled to a rest period after dinner, too — especially if you're the one who prepared the meal.

Here are some of my favorite easy

kitchen witch

to serve, make-ahead summer dishes. I hope you'll enjoy them.

DUCK AND LIVER PATE

1/4 pound bacon, coarsely chopped
1 pound meat from duck (skinned and boned, fat removed, and cut in pieces)
1 duck liver (optional)
1 pound chicken livers
1/4 cup flour
1/4 cup dry sherry
2 tablespoons brandy
6 tablespoons heavy cream
2 eggs
4 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Blend duck, livers and bacon in a food processor or blender until finely chopped. Add the flour, and beat until smooth. While beating, add the sherry, brandy, cream, eggs, salt, pepper and nutmeg.

Pour into a well-greased loaf pan, tightly cover with foil, and place in a larger pan of hot water (bain-marie).

Bake at 325 degrees for two hours. Remove from hot water, loosen foil and cool for 20 minutes. Place a weight (a brick wrapped in foil works nicely) on the pate, and let it sit for one more hour.

Remove the weight, and refrigerate for several days.

This is best served at room temperature, accompanied by onion marmalade.

ONION MARMALADE

(good with all meats)

1 small yellow onion, peeled
1 small orange
2 tablespoons raisins
2 large pitted prunes
1 teaspoon minced green onion
3 tablespoons dry sherry
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1 cup red currant or apple jelly
1 teaspoon crushed white peppercorns
1/4 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
3 tablespoons finely chopped pine nuts or pistachios

Cut onion in quarters lengthwise, and soak in salted water for one hour.

Cut half the orange rind into fine strips. Squeeze and save two tablespoons orange juice.

In a small sauce pan, combine the raisins, prunes, green onion, sherry, strips of orange peel, orange juice, lemon rind and lemon juice. Bring to a boil.

Reduce heat and simmer slowly for 20 minutes. Cool and drain. Save the cooking liquid, and coarsely chop the raisins, prunes and strips of orange rind.

Rinse and drain the onion, and then mince it. In a bowl, combine the currant jelly, minced, crushed peppercorns, pine nuts and mustard. Stir in the chopped raisins, prunes and orange rind, and their cooking liquid.

This sauce can be used right away, or refrigerated and kept for several days.

NELS WALTON'S CURRY CHICKEN AND RICE SALAD

This recipe, which serves 8 to 12 people, is absolutely the most fantastic-tasting dish. I guarantee your friends will love it.

Combine:

3 cups cooked rice
1/4 cup chopped green onion
1 cup golden raisins
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
Salt and pepper
Set aside to cool.

In a separate bowl, mix:
3 cups cooked cubed chicken meat curry chutney dressing (see below)

Let sit for one hour, then add:
One Granny Smith apple, finely cubed

1 1/2 cup boc choy (Chinese cabbage. It grows like celery — you may substitute sliced water chestnuts if you like.)

1 cup cashews (or chie peas)
1/4 cup julienne carrots (optional)
2 pounds cleaned fresh spinach, torn into pieces

Toss this chicken/vegetable/dressing mixture together with the seasoned rice mixture, and serve. Slices of melon, kiwi, green grapes, or strawberries make a nice garnish.

CURRY CHUTNEY DRESSING

10 tablespoons chopped chutney (any kind will do, but mango is best)

1 1/2 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
6 tablespoons white wine vinegar (Orange or strawberry vinegar is a nice substitute. You may add a little more or a little less, depending on the thickness of the chutney.)

Mix the above ingredients well.

LOMI-LOMI LUAU

(10-12 servings, depending upon the number of other appetizers served)

1 1/2 pounds lox or Scottish smoked salmon
4 large tomatoes (beefsteak are best), peeled and diced
1 cup minced green onions (including tops)

1/2 cup minced coriander leaves (or Chinese parsley)

Mix well, and season with a dash of hot pepper sauce and the juice of one lemon. Cover and refrigerate until serving time.

Serve with crackers.

SEVEN-LAYERED FRUIT SALAD

By now, I am sure that everyone and his uncle, has tried the popular seven-layered vegetable salad. (If not, and you'd like the recipe, please call me.)

But here is a seven-layered salad that is different because it is made with fruit. This recipe serves six.

2 cups shredded lettuce
2 apples (cored and chopped with peel left on, sprinkled with lemon juice to preserve color)
2 navel oranges, peeled and sectioned
2 cups seedless green grapes
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cup shredded cheese (almost any kind will do — Cheddar, Monterey Jack, or even grated parmesan)

Spread lettuce on the bottom of a two-quart serving dish. Arrange the apples on top. Layer the orange sections on top of the apples. Then layer the grapes.

Combine mayonnaise and sour cream, and spread over the grapes. Sprinkle sugar evenly on top of the mayonnaise mixture, and top with a layer of cheese.

Cover tightly with foil or plastic wrap, and refrigerate overnight.

Note: If you have any questions about these or other recipes, please call Gundella at 427-1072.

Choose your cheese — guidebook offers tips

AP — Whether it's served on a burger for lunch or with wine at a party, cheese is a popular item on the American menu.

With over 2,000 varieties available, there's a cheese for every occasion. But with such a large selection, which cheese do you choose? How do you read the complicated labels? What are the benefits of the new "light" cheeses?

The following guide is offered by the nutritionists at Dorman-Roth Foods in Moonachie, N.J.:

How is cheese made?
Cheese has been enjoyed for more than 4,000 years, and has been a ba-source of nutrition for many cultures. Cow's milk is the basis of most cheeses. It is typically heat-treated, or pasteurized, and fermented with acid-producing bacteria or enzymes to develop the cheese. The differences in processing methods produce the more than 2,000 varieties of cheese.

What are the different categories of cheese?

Traditional cheeses and the new "light" cheeses fall into the following four categories.

- "Natural cheese" is pressed curds that have been aged — two to three months for mild cheese and longer for sharp cheese. Swiss cheese is an example.

- "Pasteurized process cheese" is a blend of fresh and aged natural cheeses that have been shredded, mixed with an emulsifier and heated to stop ripening. American cheese falls into this category.

- "Pasteurized process cheese food" is similarly prepared but slightly lower in fat because it has less cheese, more water and more non-fat milk or whey solids.

- "Pasteurized process cheese spread" has even less milk fat and more water.

What is an average serving of cheese?

Most cheeses you select from the dairy case will include nutritional information and serving size on the package. When you select cheeses to be sliced or cut at the deli section, you generally won't find labeling information.

An average serving of cheese is generally one ounce. This is typically one average slice or a 1 1/4-inch cube. A serving of cottage cheese is 1 1/4 cup or 4 ounces.

What types of cheese have the most calcium?

Most hard cheeses are good sources of calcium: 205 milligrams in an ounce of cheddar or muenster, 275 in Swiss, 185 in mozzarella. A 1/4-cup serving of cottage cheese has only 80 milligrams, about half the amount in a cup of milk.

What does "light" mean on the label?

Generally, cheeses labeled "light" are lower in sodium, fat, calories and/or cholesterol than traditional versions.

What are low-fat cheeses?

If a cheese has less than nine grams of fat per ounce, it's considered a full-fat cheese; if it has six to eight grams of fat per ounce, it falls into the moderate category; and cheese containing less than five grams of fat per ounce is low-fat.

Cheddar, American and muenster each contain nine grams of fat per ounce; there are eight grams of fat in an ounce of Swiss; and six grams in feta and mozzarella.

Are all cheeses high in sodium?

Cheese is often high in sodium, with the processed cheeses among the highest at more than 400 milligrams an ounce. Cottage cheese is also very high at 450 milligrams per 1/2 cup. Among hard cheeses, the lowest in sodium are Swiss and mozzarella. Low-sodium cheeses are lowest of all.

Tips for making iced coffee

AP — The secret to our full-flavored iced coffee is in the ice cubes. They're made from coffee, too, so they don't weaken the flavor as they melt.

ICED COFFEE: At least one day before serving, pour coffee into an ice cube tray and freeze. For each serving, place frozen coffee cubes into a tall glass. Pour room temperature, fresh-brewed coffee over them. Serve with cream and powdered sugar, if desired.

CINNAMON ICED COFFEE: Before brewing, sprinkle ground cinnamon over the grounds, using 1 teaspoon spice for 10 to 12 cups coffee. Brew; serve at room temperature over coffee ice cubes.

VANILLA ICED COFFEE: Before brewing coffee, sprinkle vanilla over coffee grounds, using 1 teaspoon vanilla for 10 to 12 cups coffee. Brew; served at room temperature over coffee ice cubes.

MOCHA ICED COFFEE: Before brewing coffee, stir presweetened cocoa powder into coffee grounds, using 2 tablespoons cocoa powder for 10 to 12 cups coffee. Brew; serve at room temperature with milk and sugar over coffee ice cubes.

WINNERS CIRCLE

BY LAURIE KIPP

MSL

With the opportunity to become a Michigan Lottery Millionaire occurring in every two-weekly Super Lotto drawing, readers asked for more information on winning.

Q. How many prizes of $1 million or more have been won in Michigan?
A. Through the end of June this year, there had been 352, with 39 of these prizes awarded to lottery clubs.

Q. How many of these were jackpot winners in a Lotto game?
A. There have been 365 Lotto jackpot winners. Of these, 284 received prizes ranging from $1 million up to $17 million.

Q. How many have been won this year?
A. Through the June 28 drawing, 23 prizes worth $1 million or more were won this year, or an average of about one a week. This is slightly ahead of the 1988 pace when 61 were awarded during the full year.

Q. How many Lotto jackpot prizes have been worth more than $10 million?
A. As of this writing there have been 10, with 45 others in the $5 million to $10 million range. The largest number of winners, 126, won prizes worth $2 to $5 million. Another 103 lucky players won between $1 million and $2 million.

Q. What determines the size of the jackpot for each drawing?
A. The top prize is based on the number of plays in the game since the jackpot was last won. When a rollover occurs, Lottery officials establish a new guaranteed minimum based on the amount already in the jackpot plus anticipated sales for the next game.

Q. How many plays does it take to add another $1 million?
A. About 2.2 million. From each dollar in Lotto game sales, 28 cents is placed in the Jackpot prize pool for investment to pay a prize over 20 years. But, because winners collect this money plus all the interest it earns over that 20-year period, $1 million can be awarded with only about $550,000 in the prize pool.

Q. Are my odds of winning the jackpot better when it goes above a $1.5 million minimum?
A. Your odds of hitting the jackpot remain the same, about one in seven million, no matter how large the jackpot is. But, as larger jackpots attract more players, there is a greater chance that the top prize will be shared by two or more winners.

Q. How many times have there been multiple jackpot winners?
A. Through the end of June, the Super Lotto jackpot has been won 107 times with multiple winners in 37 drawings.

Q. Since the start of Lotto play in 1984, how many other prizes have been won in these games?
A. As of the end of June, 3,561,450, which includes more than 80,000 players who matched five numbers for awards worth up to $4,767. Winners matching four numbers have received prizes of up to $144.

Q. What is the total won in Lotto games in Michigan?
A. Counting the full value of jackpot prizes, this total is now past $1.38 billion.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, Stresh J. Patel of Taylor will receive 60 "Fame & Fortune" tickets. Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the earliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery Central wins. In case of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 38077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Present Value jolts Proper Reality

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

The last two runnings of the Michigan Mile provided no drama and no surprises. The two favorites (Waquoit in 1987, Lost Code in '88) won in a walk.

Maybe that's why Saturday's race at Ladbroke DRC was so disappointingly attended — 10,006, the lowest figure since the inaugural Mile, in 1949 at the Detroit Fair Grounds.

Too bad, thoroughbred fans. You missed a heckuva race, a final stretch dash to the finish in which heavily favored Proper Reality — surprise! — was outlegged by 49-to-1 shot Present Value.

The winning time was 1:49 and one-fifth, the fastest since Thumbsucker's 1:48.2 in '83. Present Value paid a whopping $100.60 for a $2 win ticket. Mi Selecto was a distant third behind Proper Reality.

THE RACE was decided before the quarter-mile pole. Present Value, starting in the No. 8 slot in the nine-horse field, broke from the gate quickly and was running second after a quarter-mile. Proper Reality, coming out of the No. 3 gate, got a bad start but moved into contention by the first turn.

The difference was Present Value was running easy and clear on the outside, just behind pacesetter Sasscat; Proper Reality was boxed in by Baltic Fox and Congeuler and had to fight his way through.

"My horse was running real comfortable," said winning jockey Frank Olivares. "There was no pressure at all. It was a perfect spot to be in. I just waited for horses to come up to him."

"He was very relaxed and very comfortable. That is his style."

As the horses turned toward the clubhouse, the duel began. Present Value and Proper Reality separated from the rest of the field and raced side-by-side toward the finish line. But Proper Reality, the 2-to-5 betting favorite and winner of nine of its 15 previous races, never caught Present Value.

"I saw a horse come up on the inside," Olivares said. "I didn't know it was Proper Reality, but I knew I could outrun whoever it was."

PRESENT VALUE did just that, both taking advantage of his own strength while exploiting the only weakness associated with Proper Reality. A relatively small horse, Proper Reality's ability to hold up over a mile-and-an-eighth was questionable.

"We really have no excuse," said Bob Holthus, trainer of Proper Reality. "We just got outrun. If (Proper Reality) had been enough of a horse today, he would have won."

Jerry Bailey, the favorite's jockey, offered no excuses, either. "(Proper Reality) did just fine, but the horse running next to us in the lane was going just a little bit faster. Proper Reality's probably at his best staying just off the pace, and then closing at a mile distance."

"On his best days, he can go one-and-one-eighth miles. But this wasn't one of them."

THE HUGE payoff was not a good indicator of Present Value's ability. "Outside of Proper Reality, I thought four or five horses were pretty even," said Jerry Fanning, Present Value's trainer. "I didn't

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

What was expected to be a runaway win in the Michigan Mile for Proper Reality (No. 3) came down to a two-horse duel down the final stretch. The winner was 49-to-1 shot Present Value (No. 8).

think he could beat Proper Reality, but I thought he could handle the rest."

Once the race entered the final stretch, Fanning had changed his mind. "Once they straightened out (coming around the final turn), I knew (Present Value) could beat him."

The victory makes Halo the first horse to sire two Michigan Mile winners. The first was 1980 champ Glorious Song.

It also made Fanning and Richard Fontana, Garry Potter and Jay Bligh — all part-owners of Present Value — happy people. The group bought the Mile winner in January for $160,000 (Saturday's race guaranteed $180,000 to the winner) and had the legendary Willie Shoemaker as his jockey until "the Shoe" left to tour England.

Olivares, who races the California circuit, was hired to replace him; Saturday's race was only his second race with Present Value.

"Jerry really turned (Present Value) around," said Fontana. "He's not the same horse we bought. 'Shoe' said don't try to hold him back, let him do what he wants to do. Once we figured that out, (Present Value) really turned around."

He showed it in Saturday's dramatic upset.

Barrett joins Spartan ranks

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

A cursory examination of the hiring of Wally Barrett as assistant soccer coach at Livonia Stevenson would indicate a steal-of-the-century deal that should keep the Spartans among the state's best for a few decades.

After all, such positions are usually filled by newcoaches, former players just breaking in to the coaching ranks. Barrett is nothing of the kind. He coached Southfield High's team for the past two years, building a struggling program into a powerhouse. The Jays reached the Class A quarterfinals in 1987.

Indeed, as Spartan coach Pete Scerri said, Barrett's Southfield team was "the only one to beat me" in the past four seasons. Stevenson has won two of the last three state championships, but the Blue Jays eliminated the Spartans when they reached the quarterfinals in 1987.

And yet, Barrett willingly gave up the top spot at Southfield to become an assistant at Stevenson.

Why?

"I'M THRILLED to go back and coach at my alma mater," said Barrett, providing partial explanation (he graduated from Stevenson in 1977, and he played for Scerri). "I'm more than willing to be an assistant. It ought to be interesting to see what Pete Scerri and Wally Barrett can put together."

Yes it should. But how well Scerri and Barrett can blend their talents is only part of what promises to be an extraordinary story on the sidelines at Stevenson.

SOCCER

However, the reasons Barrett left Southfield need be understood first. "The toughest thing for me to do was to leave an athletic director like Art Carinci," said Barrett. But the attraction of a job at Stevenson was overwhelming.

Also among Barrett's considerations was Southfield's soccer future, which appears to be bleak. There are no youth programs in the city; with all the Jays' top players graduated, rearming will be difficult at best.

"There's no doubts about that," admitted Barrett.

There's more. Barrett would not have been as eager to accept the assistant's job at Stevenson if Scerri's position was not soon becoming available.

THE STRATEGY is not unusual to Stevenson soccer. In 1988, former Stevenson star Mary Kay Hussey served as Norene Divens' assistant. Hussey's assistantship was in name only; she did most of the coaching and was in charge on the sidelines, and when Divens retired at season's end, Hussey was ready and waiting to step in.

"When Pete is ready to retire, I would like to promote from within," said Stevenson AD Roger Frayer. Frayer's reaction to hiring Barrett was predictable: "I'm very happy. He's the only one who's beaten us in four years. And I'm very, very pleased because he is involved in soccer in our area. Even when he coached at Southfield, he still coached youth teams in Livonia."

But Barrett may have to wait awhile before stepping up to Stevenson's top coaching spot. When asked about retiring, Scerri answered: "No, no, not yet. What could I do? I'd be lost without it."

Scerri took advantage of Ford Motor Co.'s early retirement plan five years ago. "I have to have something (to do)," he said. When he does decide to leave Stevenson, Scerri said "I had in mind I'd like to see the program go to someone capable."

WHICH IS why he contacted Barrett when his longtime assistant at Stevenson, Ralph Aullcino, was forced to resign because of expanded duties at work (Aullcino will continue to assist, but in a reduced capacity).

Scerri's retirement may prove to be a point of friction between the coaches. It won't be the first. Two years ago, before Southfield upset Stevenson, Barrett criticized Scerri's program often.

Barrett vows to bite his tongue and not be a divisive force at Stevenson. Scerri, though, seems to know what to expect from his new assistant: "When I used to take him out for a substitute in '76 (at Stevenson), he used to get so mad. He never wanted to leave the game. That's the way he is."

Barrett will have to take a back seat — to Scerri — now. If he doesn't, the Stevenson sidelines may provide more action than the team on the field.

Gymnasts rated highly

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

A pair of local gymnasts fared well earlier this month at national meets.

Jason Whitfield, a Livonia Franklin High student, took second place in the all-around competition, June 30 and July 1, at the Junior Olympic National gymnastics meet in Oshkosh, Wis.

Adrian Besancon, meanwhile, placed 35th among 48 gymnasts July 7-9 at the McDonald's USA Championships, a senior men's event held in Minneapolis, Minn.

Whitfield's 105.65 points were surpassed only by Drew Durbin, the champion with a 108.3 total. More than 120 gymnasts, representing eight regions competed.

Whitfield's performance earned him a berth in the national training camp later this month at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo.

IF THE 15-year-old Westland resident finishes in the Top-10 at the training camp in the strength and skills testing, he will qualify for the national team, said Dave Mingle, state chairman of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation.

"Given he finished second in the country at the national championships, he should be able to qualify for the national team," Mingle said.

The all-around competition in Oshkosh was comprised of seven events, including the still rings, won by Whitfield with 18.0 points. Whitfield's other best point-total came on the parallel bars, where he finished seventh with 16.77 points.

All this, despite an injured ankle, which hampered Whitfield's performance, Mingle said.

"HE INJURED an ankle two weeks prior to the meet so I think he could have done better on the vault and floor exercise," Mingle said. "Jason is very strong on the rings and has a unique combination of strength and flexibility at a young age. Generally at his age you're either strong or flexible or vice-versa."

Besancon, who graduated from Livonia Stevenson and will attend the University of Iowa on a gymnastics scholarship in the fall, did better than anticipated, attaining 99.19 points.

Besancon was the last qualifier for the national event, so his 35th-place finish surprised some. The rings were his best event, placing 18th with 18.14 points.

"I was real happy with what I did," Besancon said. "I qualified 48th so I moved up quite a bit. It was a real experience. Knowing you're there with the best guys in the nation brings out the best in you. It was my best meet the whole year."

Churchill searching (again) for girls cage coach

IT'S TIME, as Howard Cosell says at 5:50 p.m. each day on the radio, for "Speaking of Sports."

This comes at a time when your friendly sports editor embarks on a week's vacation, hopefully to catch some walleye on Houghton Lake.

But before I snag anybody, here's some bait to nibble on for our Observerland readers at the all-star break.

Coaching merry-go-round (I): Guess who is looking for his fourth girls basketball coach in four years?

Livonia Churchill athletic director Larry Joiner, that's who.

Joiner may have to cut short his vacation time (up north) to find a successor to Dave Van Wagoner, who told him last week he couldn't continue after accepting the Plymouth Canton boys job.

"We're in limbo right now," Joiner said. "I haven't posted it (within the district yet) because I haven't been able to reach our (new) principal (Rodney Hosman)."

"We're disappointed because of the timing, but that happens. Right now there's a lot of pressure to get somebody in because of the lateness."

Van Wagoner can't take all the blame for the bad timing because the people at Canton dragged their feet about hiring a new boys coach.

They interviewed candidates on May 31 and did not make a decision until July 10. Were they waiting for John Wooden to make his entrance?

Joiner said he expects junior varsity coach and former Bentley High guard Lonnie Payne-Hines to apply. But Hines is not employed by the district and that could hamper her chances.

Former Bentley boys coach Larry Jackson, who is the JV boys coach and a teacher in the district, is another possibility.

Van Wagoner's departure has put Joiner under the gun because the first practice date is Aug. 14.

Stability hasn't been a fixture with the Churchill girls basketball team over the years. The long list of ex-coaches includes Tim Newman, Tom Lang, Roger Springsteen, Don Albertson and Jim Newman. Trivia question: Who was the coach before Jim Newman?

Brad Emons

Coaching merry-go-round II: Redford Thurston has a new-old girls basketball coach.

Mike Schuette, who has been the boys coach for five years, returns as the girls coach after a year's leave. He will serve in dual roles.

According to athletic director Jim Urlick, Schuette replaces Dave Mann, who apparently will return as JV coach unless he is hired as a head coach somewhere else.

Schuette took a year off to coach his daughter's youth team.

According to Urlick, Mann is free to interview elsewhere, but can take the Thurston JV job if things don't pan out at another school.

Speaking of hockey: Livonian Dennis Smith, a defenseman in the Detroit Red Wings organization the past few years, has signed a contract with the Washington Capitals.

Smith has been a steady player the last few years for the Wings' top farm club at Adirondack. He helped the A-Wings to a Calder Cup championship this season.

Smith appeared in one exhibition game last fall with the Wings, but apparently he didn't fit in the Wings' future.

Although he is relatively young (25), the Wings are going with "geezers" as evidenced by the recent signings of Mike O'Connell and Boris Salming.

Let's hope Smith comes back to show the Wings that he can play.

Speaking of Bud Middaugh: Friday's resignation by the beleaguered University of Michigan baseball coach came as no surprise to me.

It was apparent he had overstepped his bounds with new athletic director Bo Schembechler.

Big Ten Investigators have yet to unveil its report regarding alleged improprieties with the University of Michigan baseball program.

But whatever the results, I can't think of too many baseball schools that have gone under scrutiny. Middaugh's program has been under probe for the past nine months.

There haven't been many baseball programs put on probation by the NCAA. Arizona State got nailed a few years back for steroid use.

Speculation has Bill Freehan coming back to coach the Wolverines.

Meanwhile, expect Middaugh to find a job quickly with a professional team, the club most mentioned is the Cincinnati Reds. Don't look for him to be with Detroit or Toronto.

The first game is only 47 days away.

How about this story coming out of Alabama regarding evidence uncovered about coaches and referees fixing games?

The story seems too wild to be true, but has the sleaziness dipped down into the prep ranks? Nothing surprises me anymore.

Sports, the alleged "American Dream," has been taking a beating the past year with all the sad stories: Ben Johnson, Pete Rose, Wado Boggs, Steve Garvey, etc.

Speaking of baseball: Apologies from me to junior Jason Gabel, Livonia Churchill's leading hitter (.397), who was left off the All-Observer baseball team's honorable mention list. Just an oversight on my part.

Speaking of minor leaguers, former Livonia Franklin grad and Lamar (Tex.) University product Mike Wilkins, a right-hander, has been moved up from Lakeland (Class

Boyle Chevrolet earns fastpitch tourney spot

Pat Boyle Chevrolet, an under-19 women's softball team comprised mainly of Observerland players, qualified for regional competition later this month in Ann Arbor.

The fast-pitch squad did so by finishing third in the Metro Tournament in Waterford (July 7-8).

Foster Oil of Richmond, which has two all-Observer players on its roster — Amy Edward of Farmington Hills Mercy and Slacey Thompson of Plymouth Canton — won the tournament. Oxford-Orion was the runner-up.

The Pat Boyle team consists of Livonia Ladywood's Shannon White, Kim Supron, Jomarie Skurtovich, Jenny Kennedy, Dana Domanski, Lisa Bielenda and Stael Kowalczyk; former North Farmington players Missy Bosscauwen and Kelly Coulson; Farmington products Melissa Tisdale and Lisa Rockafellow; former Mercy player Missy McKenna; Birmingham Marlan's Anne Rattenbury and Kris Baiardi and ex-Dearborn Divine Child player Amy Dentstead.

The team is coached by Dave Brubaker.

In tournament play Saturday, Pat Boyle defeated L'Anse Creuse 7-6 and Compuware of the Pontiac-Waterford area 3-2 before losing to Foster Oil 6-2. Oxford-Orion, which has most of the Oakland Community College players on its roster, beat Pat Boyle 2-1 on Sunday.

THE FORMER Farmington High standouts were big contributors to the Boyle Chevrolet success. Tisdale, a two-time, all-area selection, hit .400 and had four RBI, and Rockafellow was the second-leading hitter at .385.

After L'Anse Creuse tied the score with three runs in the seventh, Pat Boyle won it in the bottom of the inning when Kennedy walked, advanced on Tisdale's hit and a wild pitch and scored on Supron's single.

Baiardi went the distance, scattering eight hits. Tisdale was 3-for-3, scored two runs and had two RBI. Bosscauwen and Rockafellow chipped White took her turn at pitching the second game and also turfed in a complete game. She scattered five hits and walked only one.

Pat Boyle took a 3-1 lead after three innings. Following three straight walks with two out in the first, Bosscauwen knocked in one run and Rattenbury drew a bases-loaded walk. Tisdale smashed a solo homer off hard-throwing Jill Cline of Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes for the third run.

In the Foster Oil game, Boyle Chevrolet had only three hits off Edward, two of them by Rockafellow, who also had an RBI. Baiardi was the loser, giving up nine hits but only one walk.

fate in the Sunday game. She scattered eight hits over seven innings and kept the game close by walking only two.

Rockafellow was 2-for-3, and Tisdale's RBI groundout gave Pat Boyle a shortlived 1-0 lead in the first inning.

Boyle Chevrolet swept a doubleheader from Rochester (7-6 and 14-2) to improve its league record to 8-4 Tuesday. The team is 11-11 overall.

Baiardi went the distance in the first game, and White pitched a complete game two-hitter in the nightcap. Tisdale hit a two-run triple, and Kennedy tripled and scored a run.

In the second game, Tisdale and Supron crushed three-run homers. Bielenda was 3-for-3, scored four runs and had three RBI.

Tisdale and Rattenbury also had three hits, Tisdale scored three runs and Rattenbury had two RBI. Supron added two hits and three RBI, and Dentstead had two hits and scored two runs.

Westland slowpitch team 3rd in Cincinnati field

The Mid-America/Domino's Destinations, a girls 18-and-under slowpitch softball team from Westland, finished third out of 22 teams in the All-American National Invitational Tournament, July 1-2 in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Recent Plymouth Salem grad Ann Munding, a shortstop, was selected to the all-tournament team for her defensive play.

East Detroit's Joanna Zabalavicius, who batted .600, was also honored.

Last year's national champions, the Bandits from Georgia, won the invitational by eliminating Sweeney's of Cincinnati.

Twelve of the 22 teams were ranked among the nation's top 20.

Finesse, a Michigan team from Commerce Township, took sixth overall.

ON JULY 4-6, in the Touring National Teams tournament held at the Canton Softball Center, Mid-America/Domino's was ousted by the eventual champion the Astros of Florida, 10-9, in nine innings.

The Astros captured the round-robin tourney with a 7-1 record.

Thirty-one girls from nine teams hit a total of 52 homers in 36 games.

Kim Reith, a recent grad from Garden City High, was among three Mid-America/Domino's players who smashed homers.

Others included outfielder Sue Greathouse of Eastern Michigan University and Jenny Boik, an infielder from Madison Heights Lamp-here.

Greathouse and Boik each led the team with 11 RBI, while Munding was the top hitter at .643.

A) to London, Ontario (Class AA) in the Tigers' system.

Wilkins joins reliever Greg Everson (Bentley High and the University of Michigan) and Paul Wenson (Farmington High and U-M) on the London pitching staff.

Another local player, Brian Porter, a right-hander from Livonia Stevenson High and Eastern Michigan, has put up some decent numbers in the Astros farm system. Porter apparently has bounced back from an elbow problem which plagued him at EMU.

Another former Tiger farm product, Glenn Belcher (Westland John Glenn High), is now pitching for C.J. Express in the Michigan-Ontario International Baseball League, which plays some of its games at Garden City Park.

Speaking of Johnstown, Pa.: The All-American Amateur Baseball Association (AAABA) Tournament, in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the famous flood, is expanding its field from 16 to 22 teams.

All AAABA franchises around the country will gain automatic berths into the tournament. The stakes will be high when Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs get underway on Sunday, July 23 at Ford Field. The LCBL playoff winner advances to Johnstown for double-elimination play (Aug. 12-19).

The LCBL's runner-up will play in the National Amateur Baseball Federation College-Division Regional, Aug. 4-6 at Ford Field.

Speaking of tennis: Carrie Cunningham of Livonia had mixed results during her stay at Wimbledon.

The senior-to-be at Churchill High reached the second round of the main draw and lost in the quarterfinals of the Junior draw.

Cunningham will return to the U.S.

Open this fall after playing in a series of national junior tournaments over the summer.

Speaking of football in general: Former University of Michigan wide receiver Paul Jokisch was released by the Toronto Argonauts, while Franco Harris (say it isn't so Franco?) was cut loose by the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League. Is Franco gearing up for that match race with Jim Brown?

Mark Messner, the former Redford Catholic Central High and Michigan star recently signed with the Los Angeles Rams. I bet he becomes an impact player like Chris Spielman was last year for the Lions.

Speaking of auto racing: It seems that NASCAR driver Mark Martin, who races for the Jack Roush operation in Livonia, is always near the pole, but never manages to finish.

Martin, who lives in North Carolina, is long overdue to win a stock car race.

Whatever happened to Canton's Jim Hull, the guy everybody pointed the finger at for a big pileup a few years ago at Michigan International Speedway?

Speaking of vacations: Why don't we have an all-star break in the middle of the prep football season?

Woodland Lanes in Livonia has had one of the fine youth bowling programs in the area and starting this Wednesday, through Aug. 23, it is conducting a "Learn to Bowl" program for kids from ages 6-14. The classes will go from 7-9 p.m. and coach Laura Posluszny will be teaching the concept of bowling and beginning skills to enable these kids to one day go out and bowl in good competition. The fee is $30 and balls and shoes will be provided. This is a great opportunity to get these kids started in bowling. Call Woodland Lanes at 522-4515 for details.

Enough about the kids - in Woodland's senior citizen's league, Leona Smyk evoked a big cheer when she converted the near impossible 4-6-7-10 split. In the Family Foursome League, Darlene Martindale hit a 649 series on a block of 214-231-204 and one of the prep bowlers, Jason Gilbert, bettered his 98 average with a 179 game. The Men's Trio League bowls a four-game set. # Local congressmen support sanctions for China

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of the House of Representatives were recorded on major roll call votes in the week before the Fourth of July congressional recess. The Senate was not in session.

AID TO INDIA: By a vote of 204 for and 212 against, the House rejected an amendment to cut aid to India for the next fiscal year from a committee-approved level of $110.4 million to $85 million. This occurred as the House sent to the Senate a bill (HR 2655) authorizing about $23 billion in worldwide foreign assistance in fiscal 1990-91.

Sponsor Wally Herger, R-Calif., said India deserves less aid as a result of human rights abuses cited by Amnesty International, its development of nuclear weaponry and the economic hardship it has inflicted this year on its landlocked neighbor Nepal.

Opponent Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., said the amendment would "have a chilling effect on our relationship with the world's most populous democracy."

Area members voting yes supporting cuts in aid to India were: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth and William Ford, D-Taylor.

Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, and William Broomfield, R-Lake Orion voted no.

TO SANCTION CHINA: By a vote of 418 for and zero against, the House imposed legislative penalties on China that go far beyond the diplomatic and trade sanctions ordered by President Bush in response to the Chinese government's massacre of pro-democracy demonstrators and crackdown on dissenters.

Roll Call Report

Added to the new foreign aid bill (above), the amendment is designed to withhold American capital and sensitive exports, slow China's technological development, impair its national security and hold Chinese leaders up for world scorn over their repression of Tibetans and their own citizens. It seeks American accommodation of Chinese students in the United States, and hinges any improvement in America's attitude toward China on Bush's certification that Beijing has begun respecting human rights.

Jim Leach, R-Iowa, said the House must express America's "great distress about the butchery in Beijing and the brutal reimposition of Stalinist totalitarian control in China." No lawmaker spoke against the amendment.

Members voting yes supporting the anti-China legislation were: Pursell, Carr, Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

TO CUT PHILIPPINES AID: By a vote of 185 for and 233 against, the House rejected an amendment to HR 2655 (above) to reduce foreign aid to the Philippines from $1 billion to $400 million over the next two fiscal years. The cut was to have lowered America's share of a multi-country aid program in which Japan and other nations also will provide the Philippines with development funds.

Sponsor Toby Roth, R-Wisc., said "the Philippine people are a nice people . . . but the American taxpayer has to be considered at some point, too."

Opponent Robert Lagomarsino, R-Calif., said ample American aid will "help shore up the Philippines economy and thereby its democracy" against a Communist insurgency.

Members voting yes supported the proposed cut in aid to the Philippines.

Ford Voted yes. Pursell, Hertel, Levin and Broomfield voted no.

TO LIMIT IMPRISONMENT: By a vote of 376 for and 34 against, the House sent to the Senate a bill (HR 2136) to limit imprisonment for civil contempt of court in the District of Columbia. A person found in contempt could be kept in jail for no more than 12 months or, if criminal charges have been filed during the incarceration, 18 months.

The immediate aim of the retroactive bill is to free Dr. Elizabeth Morgan, a Washington plastic surgeon who has been jailed for the past 22 months by a D.C. Superior Court judge unhappy with her refusal to cooperate in a child custody case. Morgan has put her daughter in hiding and refuses to allow the child to see her father, who is claimed, by Mrs. Morgan to have molested the child.

Supporters said the bill insures due process for people jailed in D.C. for civil contempt of court, while opponents said Congress should not make a new law retroactive to a specific case pending in court.

Area members voting yes supporting the bill were: Pursell, Levin and Broomfield. Hertel and Ford voted no.

Don't let the sign fool you. While it may sound unneighborly, the residents of Harsens' Island are as neighborly as can be.

photos by RANDY BORST/staff photographer

The newer homes are more opulent, but along some of the island's shores you'll find houses on stilts, built in the 1920s and '30s.

HARSENS' ISLAND

Lake St. Clair's curvaceous gem

By Loraino McClellan
staff writer

THE MOST OUTSTANDING characteristic of Harsens Island is its unusual land mass. A horseshoe-shaped lake swirls within the 10-by-3-mile island giving the land channels, canals, spits, coves and more islands.

Several houses are built on islands within the island. And because of all of the land curves, it is not unusual for a house to have a water view on three sides.

Much of the waterways are lined with marsh grass, sometimes so thick it blocks the view but it protects the many and varied water fowl and their nests.

Bring binoculars and your nature guide to best appreciate the birds that live in the marshes, as profuse as the fish under the waters judging by the number of fishermen who line the shores.

From the earliest sign of spring, the fisherman come, some with rod and reel, some with pole and some with bow and arrow.

In the fall the sportsman come for duck hunting. In the winter they come for ice fishing.

All of the marsh lands — which means much of the island — are wildlife sanctuaries owned by the Department of Natural Resources.

Sans Souci — a village unto itself consisting of seven buildings — is downtown Harsens Island.

There are two country clubs — known by the residents as the Old Country Club and the New Country Club — two churches, an elementary grade school, a golf course and a raft of marinas.

San Souci, with its one bar and restaurant, is not too far from the island's one public park. Either site offers a superb view of the industrial and commercial boats that sail the Great Lakes and use Harsens Islands' South Channel.

Freighters cruise the island's South Channel as they traverse the Great Lakes during the shipping season.

HARSENS ISLAND is not listed with the Michigan Bureau of Tourism. Harsens Island has no chamber of commerce. Harsens Island, about 90 minutes from downtown Detroit, east on I-94, then east on Route 29 just this side of Algonac, is strictly a residential community with the largest homeowners association in Michigan.

Artie Bryson said he tried for years to get a chamber of commerce organized, but it never got off the ground.

"The homeowners association does the job of a chamber of commerce, with bike races, field days, that sort of thing for the residents. They (the 1,000 members) just didn't think they needed anything else," he said.

Bryson, born and raised on Harsens Island, is turning a boat into a restaurant, which cannot help but become a landmark for the island. The boat sits next to a small sign that is the entrance to the Champion Auto Ferry.

Southern adventure starts in Ohio

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

Q: Everybody else is going north to get away from the heat, but we like it hot so we're driving to Savannah on our 10-day vacation. And we're leaving the kids home with grandma. Help us find interesting places to stay. My wife likes shopping and historic houses. I like planes, trains and wilderness.

V.E.E.,
Farmington

A: There are a couple of obvious stops for plane lovers on your first day out. The Neil A. Armstrong Air and Space Museum, two hours drive down I-75 in Wapakoneta, Ohio, is celebrating the 20th anniversary of the moon landing in the hometown of the astronaut who said "One small step for man, one giant leap for mankind."

The Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio, is a great two-hour stop. If you haven't seen it before.

If you like historic inns, it's worth the 10-mile detour off I-75 from Middletown to the Golden Lamb in Lebanon, Ohio. It is the oldest inn in the state. Highlights include an inn full of Shaker furniture, guest rooms straight out of Greenfield Village, an old-fashioned dining room and the most popular bar in the area. It is a straight run from Lebanon into the queen city on the Ohio River. (Caution: The Golden Lamb is very popular, so reserve ahead.)

Cincinnati is one of my favorite cities, but shoppers cross the bridge to Covington, Ky., for a downtown full of spec and outlet stores. While you're there, have a meal on the river at the Catfish Farm. If you like really funky places, ask the tourist bureau if the local ventriloquist museum is open for visitors. Charley McCarthy would love it.

WILDERNESS LOVERS: couldn't do better than to stay overnight in one of Kentucky's state park lodges or adjacent cabins. There are several of them near I-75. Train lovers should definitely stay at the Chattanooga Choo Choo, a railway station turned into a food-drink-shopping center (Trapper's Alley style) in downtown Chattanooga. The Hilton Hotel rooms are in train cars, on the tracks outside. Expensive, but worth it for one night.

All these suggested stops are designed to break up a long trip, but once you cross the Georgia border, you may want to slow down for some real sightseeing.

Furnished cottages are available in 23 of Georgia's state parks. Fort Mountain, Red Top Mountain and Indians Springs are all close to Timothy Dalton is back as James Bond in "License to Kill." Starring with Dalton is Carey Lowell.

Bond's back 'Kill': Outrageous, but entertaining

Supporting the old adage that a half-clothed woman is more alluring than a naked one, Carey Lowell joins Timothy Dalton in the 16th 007 adventure, "License to Kill" (B+, R, 135 minutes). One of the most attractive Bond girls, Lowell is a good performer as well.

Lowell's allure proves to be more than physical as she matches Dalton's hard-fighting, easy-loving acting style on even and very effective terms. While she never loses her femininity, she doesn't use it as a crutch either.

As Pam Bouvier, a U.S. Army pilot and CIA operative, she is crucial to James Bond's (Dalton) vendetta against South American drug kingpin Franz Sanchez (Robert Davi).

In the film's opening sequence Bond is sidetracked on his way to his friend, Felix Leiter's (David Hedison) wedding. Leiter, ex-CIA and now Drug Enforcement Agency head for south Florida, captures Sanchez with Bond's help.

Sanchez escapes and takes revenge on Felix and his bride, Della Churchill (Priscilla Barnes). It is obligatory for Bond to even the score, and then some, and he does so quite effectively on his own once M (Robert Brown) suspends him for failing to follow orders and give it up. Only Pam, Q (Desmond Llewelyn) and Miss Moneybags (Caroline Bliss) are willing to risk everything to help James.

As with all Bond's heroic deeds of daring, he does them with such style and aplomb that for all their ridiculous impossibility they are entertaining and never wear thin. Bond's stuff is well-staged and sufficiently credible that we wind up believing it.

OF COURSE, one element working for Bond here is that we'd all like to think it possible to clean up on major drug-dealers simply by turning loose one super-heroic agent. Nice fantasy, but no cigar.

While there's a great deal of violence in this film — and plenty of excitement — the camera does have the good grace to avert its gaze at the most telling moments so we don't have our noses rubbed in gore — almost, but not quite.

characters are clichés typical to the Bond super-hero film, they're played well and that makes all the difference. Lupe Lamora (Talisa Soto) is the abused mistress of the drug king and Milton Krest (Anthony Zerbe) is a typical mid-management gangster.

While most of the Sanchez goons are typical pug-uglies, some have enough character to reinforce this production's polished quality.

Stunts, photography, music and scenery, all are high style and make this long film entertaining despite its violent and outrageous heroics. Oh, well, at least they're slick.

"Peter Pan" (A, G, 77 minutes) is back with Tinker Bell, Captain Hook and all the others in familiar and favorite Disney animation. This 1953 version of Sir James Barrie's fa-

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

It's an 'unpolished gem'

By John Monaghan
special writer

Back in the early '80s, Australian filmmakers surprised the world with exciting and literate films.

The directors of "Breaker Morant," "Gallipoli" and "My Brilliant Career" have since emigrated to America, leaving their homeland in the hands of characters like Crocodile Dundee and Yahoo Serious.

"The Navigator," an Australian/New Zealand co-production playing for the next two weekends at the downtown Tele-Arts Theatre, proves to art-film fans that there are still unpolished gems left to discover in the land Down Under.

The story begins in medieval Cumbria, England, where frightened villagers await the encroaching Black Death. A group of copper miners, led by the visions of a young clairvoyant named Griffin, feel that by placing a spire on a distant cathedral, the pestilence can be averted.

As Griffin's dreams instruct, they enter a tunnel that leads through the center of the earth into modern-day New Zealand, a vastly different landscape of subways, freeways and video monitors.

In one of several astounding images, a nuclear submarine surfaces and almost capsizes their tiny boat. They naively fend it off with sticks.

"THE NAVIGATOR" eventually loses course, but it does maintain an arresting visual style. Shadowy black and white characterizes the dreary English village, while the boy's dreams and the new world come across in vivid Technicolor.

Almost as strange as its premise are the harsh conditions that writer/director Vincent Ward challenged to make his epic adventure. He and his crew — many new to filmmaking — set out for a frozen volcanic lake in New Zealand's Southern Alps. The resulting film looks completely unlike any other.

The intent of the film, said Ward, was "to look at the 20th century through medieval eyes." His main actors (Bruce Lyons as a somber, hooded Connor and Hamish McFarlane as his young brother Griffin) express wide-eyed wonder and fear at a world far different from their own. Or is it?

Among other parallels, the pestilence of 1348 has simply been replaced by Third World famine and AIDS (an appropriate, if pat, analogy).

Too often irony and mysticism win out over coherence, blowing "The Navigator" further and further away from the great film it might have been.

Bruce Lyons stars as Connor in the Australian/New Zealand production of "The Navigator" at the Tele-Arts in Detroit.

Scott Morgan: On his album and his music

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Scott Morgan has an impressive past. But like many creative musicians, he'd rather talk about the present.

The Scott Morgan Band recently released its first album, "Rock Action," on Revenge Records, a French label. It highlights Morgan's soul-rock vocals and songwriting, introduced on albums and singles by the Rationals in the late '60s.

That Detroit-based band scored a local hit with "Respect," covered later by Aretha Franklin. In the mid to late '70s, Morgan was an integral part of Sonic's Rendezvous Band. That group was fronted by ex-MC 5 guitarist Fred "Sonic" Smith, who these days plays guitar with wife Patti Smith.

But when you recall the old days — Morgan was invited to join Blood Sweat and Tears and Janis Joplin's band, Big Brother and the Holding Company, as lead singer in the early '70s — he says, "I'm tired about talking about the old days. I want to talk about the new record."

THAT RECORD, in limited distribution in the United States and Western Europe, features his best songwriting to date. And the album's only single so far, "Sixteen with a Bullet," backed by "Detroit," has won mention in Billboard Magazine, the Village Voice and Rolling Stone. Rock critic and Bruce Springsteen biographer Dave Marsh gushes over the album in its liner notes.

On a recent afternoon, Morgan talked about several of the 10 songs recorded in Ann Arbor and included on "Rock Action."

• "Sixteen with a Bullet:" "There was an incident that was in the newspapers three or four years ago before the teen violence thing became a big issue. A couple of kids got busted stealing some chips or candy. The incident ended in a shoot-out, and one youth was killed. It seemed so ridiculous, I wanted to write something about it," he said.

After the song sat around a while, another local band had planned to record it, then, "The teen violence thing started getting out of hand," Morgan said.

Driven by a hard back-beat from former Stooges drummer Scott Asheton, harmony from Kathy Deschaine and Gary Rasmussen's bass — he played on Patti Smith's latest album — the single was released to national critical acclaim last year, even though it was on a local label.

The catchy descending guitar riff Morgan plays on the chorus was suggested by the engineer at the session. "He thought it needed a strong guitar hook for people to play 'air guitar' along with," Morgan said.

• "Eagle Dance:" "I had read a story, in the newspaper again, about an eagle that was migrating through the area, and was seen flying around Ann Arbor." A few days later, "About a mile from my house it flies in front of my car and lands in a tree, then it took off and started circling higher and higher." Morgan and Deschaine evoke an image of soaring high, as they hold a long note on the chorus over Asheton's solid drum beats.

• "Say Yeah:" "It's supposed to be a pop tune with a little bit of a Motown feel, kind of a (blues artists) Albert King or (Paul) Butterfield kind of feel. . . . It's the only song like that really on the album.

• "Heartland:" "The term heartland has been banded about a lot. I thought it would be good for somebody from the heartland to write something about it, instead of somebody from the East Coast.

• "Hijackin' Love:" "That's a (soul artist) Johnny Taylor song, from 1971. We played it in Sonic's Rendezvous, but we stopped playing it when we started playing a lot of originals."

• "Pirate Music:" "I wrote it for Sonic's Rendezvous Band. I presented it to the band, but I don't think Fred liked it. It was recorded for an EP (extended-play record) but it was never released."

The song recalls the pirate stations that broadcast progressive rock from offshore ships to the English mainland in the '60s. It's well-received at the band's live shows.

• "Josie's Well:" "It's about a distillery where they make single-malt scotch. They get their water in the highlands from a spring called Josie's Well. It could be the name of a place, or a bar where you go to get elixir or water of life," he said, adding it could also stand as an image for a woman. "What it really is is a song about alcoholism."

• "Detroit:" "I was working for this company, kind of like an assembly line job, there was a lot of young kids out there, big heavy metal fans. Somehow we got talking about Detroit music.

"When a band comes through Detroit and says, 'Hey Detroit, lets rock and roll!' they probably don't know anything about the scene. I thought maybe somebody should document something about it, give some encouragement to the local scene. I think it kind of gets lip service basically."

In the song's verses, Morgan lists the names of Detroit soul and rock artists from the late '50s to the present. "Detroit" has received the most local FM airplay of any song on "Rock Action."

"The media should be more supportive of local artists," Morgan said.

When we last checked in with Inside Out, Lynda Marie wanted to do modern dance numbers, Cathy was leaning toward more rock'n'roll and Karen was standing firm with punk. How does it all work?

"Compromise," they said in three-part harmony.

The buzzword for the day doesn't describe the music of this three-woman outfit. Snarling, guitar grinding power-packed venom might be a start.

Despite some obvious creative differences, the group has been together for three years — no small feat.

They even have an album due out soon, "In As Much As" (Wanghead Records), an EP set for release in England, and a certain undercurrent that perhaps even suggests maturity.

Lynda Marie belches. OK, correct that. Perhaps musical maturity is more of an apt description. On that front, there is agreement.

"We were punky at first," said Cathy Carrell, who is the drummer. "We've gotten better. The punk has been filtered out."

"My philosophy is the older you get the better you become at performing and writing songs," added Lynda Marie, who is guitarist and vocalist with the band.

ALTHOUGH relatively young (age ranges 20-23), Inside Out is certainly experienced at performing locally. They are one of the few bands remaining from what once was a thriving punk scene at the Greystone Ballroom in Detroit.

A scene, for the most part, that has dried up. Nonetheless, Inside Out has continued to evolve with its own spiral-jarring brand of music.

Today, Inside Out can be found performing at Paycheck's Lounge, Hamtramck Pub and, occasionally, at Blondie's. With countless shows under their belts, the band has plenty of anecdotes.

Karen Neal, lead singer and bass player, no sooner finishes up relating how she scared off a would-be purse snatcher in Detroit when she talks about a less than cultured patron of music.

"This girl spat on me one time," said Neal, whose soft lilt goes against the grain of what she sings onstage. "Then the same girl tried to start a fight with Cathy . . . and she (Cathy) beat the pulp right out of her. It was great!"

"It was," said Cathy gleefully. Inside Out is one of a few all-female lineups in the Detroit area. And, like others, they hear the constant stereotypes. "You guys play like men." We hear that a lot, "one member said.

Yet this threesome didn't set out to be an all woman band. Members profess they're a music-band, not an image band.

"We're not cutesy; we're not butch," Lynda Marie said. "We're kind of asexual really."

Inside Out will perform on Thursday, July 20, at "Rock'n'Bowl" at the Garden Bowl, 4120 Woodward, two blocks north of Mack Avenue, Detroit. Cover is $4. For information, call 833-9850.

REVIEWS

MIND BOMB — The The

Matt Johnson is The The. This is his third LP, the others being "Soul Mining" and "Infected," and there have been a multitude of 12-inch dance mix singles taken from those.

While Johnson is the brains, lyricist and chief bottlewasher behind the band, he uses a variety of session musicians of his albums.

On "Mind Bomb," he has employed the services of the most hip and everybody's favorite guitarist, ex-Smith, ex-Pretender, ex-Talk Talk Johnny "I Hate Morrissey" Marr, and on the majestic "Beautiful Rain" the guest co-vocalist is Sinead "I Hate U2" O'Connor.

Johnson's lyrics have always had a hard edge to them, be they dealing with personal or party politics. This time, he turns his attention to things religious. But don't imagine that this is going to be played at the next church outing. Check this out from "Armageddon Days Are Hereo."

"But if you think Christ is coming, honey you've got another thing coming," or "God doesn't live in Israel or Rome/God doesn't belong to the Yankee dollar/God doesn't plant bombs for the Hezbollah/God doesn't even go to church."

Johnson's voice is one of the most menacing, powerful and uncomfortable in modern pop. His snarl is frightening. He even sounds intimi-dating in the opening lines where he sends up that famous call-and-answer introduction from The Sweet's "Ballroom Blitz" ("Are You Ready, Steve? . . . Uh, huh").

The music still has his signature driving drum beat, but this time has more emphasis on piano motifs while Johnny Marr plays havoc on the backing tracks with his unique brand of guitar hysteronics and wailing mouth organ. This is particularly effective on one of the most exciting songs I've heard in a long time, "The Violence of Truth."

The overriding effect of the LP is that Matt Johnson is still about to explode with his anger and frustration.

Fueled by this anger, his music is loud, tense and powerful. Combined with Johnny Marr's subtle funk, this The The LP is as strong, if not stronger, as any of his previous offerings. One of the top albums of this year so far.

BOOM BOOM CHI BOOM BOOM — tom tom club

A friend of mine said she considered this album too cold, mechanical and lifeless.

I disagreed. Maybe it is, maybe it isn't. I like the recording anyway, and my friend eventually warmed up to it.

"Boom Boom . . ." is the third album from the tom toms, who released their first in 1980, and their first release on Sire. Seems hard to believe the band had label and release problems, but it has.

The tom tom club core is Tina Weymouth and Chris Frantz of Talking Heads fame — she on bass etc., he on drums etc. Here they are joined by guitarist Mark Roule, keyboardist Gary Pozner and a host of others. Tina's sister Laura, an original tom, appears only briefly.

Talking Head mates David Byrne and Jerry Harrison show up with Lou Reed on one selection, a Reed-authored song called "Femme Fatale."

That's a highlight of the album, though the band doesn't need all those heavy hitters to sound good.

"Boom . . ." is full of good stuff. The CD contains an extra track, a Dylan tune called "She Belongs to Me," though I haven't heard it because like a stereophonic dinosaur, I'm still buying albums.

The two previous tom tom albums have been showing up with frequency in cutout bins, which may indicate where this one is headed.

It may deserve better. "Boom . . ." is good. It's quirky. It's funny and fun. It's got a great beat, which is what you would expect from a bassist and drummer, who are husband and wife and bandmates.

Some tracks, like "Wa Wa Dance" are funky while others, like "Suboceana" and "Don't Say No" are more subtle.

Mostly, the songs here work well, in part because of Tina Weymouth's quirky vocal style. She's not a natural singer. She reminds me of an improved Marilyn Monroe.

She pulls it off, helping to inject some warmth into the sound.

WHO CARES? — Static Alphabet

Who cares?! We care, Static Alphabet. In fact, we care more than Oprah Winfrey, Phil Donahue and Sally Jessy Raphael combined.

There are plenty of reasons to take more than a casual interest in this rather understated five-song cassette tape. First and foremost is that Static Alphabet is one of the few local groups who can sit down and honestly assess their weaknesses.

And unlike most bands, who either ignore or attempt to play over such deficiencies in their music, Static Alphabet has found a way to turn whatever is lacking into positives.

From a pure musical standpoint, one might be able to single out a less than crystalline vocal or a guitar note out of sync on this tape. Those people, though, don't deserve to listen to Static Alphabet.

They are truly missing out at what's at the heart of the matter — the final creation that features simple melodies, hooks and delightful lyrics. Two songs stand out from this tape — "Don't Count On Me" and "Tripping Over the Things in Her Room" — with those attributes.

"Tripping Over the Things in Her Room" moves along like a child skipping home from school. The number deals with a rather eccentric woman, who is admired from a distance.

"Maybe she's writing fiction, maybe she's eating popcorn," Paul Einhaus sings. "All of those things are no place, when she is kissing my face." The simple lyrics are backed by some equally endearing guitar lines.

In some cases, Static Alphabet misses the mark. Either the guitar is too grumpy or the singing somewhat muddled. "Too Much Hangin' Around" seems to fall under that category.

But, hey, we'll take a few unpolished stapes among the gems. This tape is worthwhile. Static Alphabet has latched on to something. We hope we'll be able to hear more of it in the future.

Let 'voice' be your guide

Dear Barbara,
I am a 45-year-old woman who has been married for more than 10 years. When younger, I was physically attractive. Since my children were born, I have been sedentary. My weight has been constant at about 80 pounds overweight. My health is being affected, but I can't seem to change my eating or exercise habits.

I never talk to anyone about this because of the embarrassment I feel. My friends are of normal weight.

Recently, I saw a Gerardo Rivera show in which fat women and their normal weight husbands talked about acceptance and even enjoyment of their size. It would ease my anxiety about my weight to believe that I was beautiful, healthy and sexy this way, but a little voice says that this is a lie.

Where do I start to change? I am depressed because of this problem.
Overweight Woman

Dear O.W.,

Your ability to be realistic about your current situation is a first step in starting to change. You must now allow, and indeed insure, that the "little voice" inside of you becomes so loud that you will not be able to hide from it or rationalize it away. With this constant motivation, some of the further guidelines I am going to give you have a better chance of being followed.

The reasons for being overweight are legion. From the small amount of background you have given, exercise is one area that has changed as you have grown older.

A lack of exercise is one of the reasons we become fatter. Begin by walking, outside or on a treadmill, at least five half-hour sessions a week, but preferably five one-hour sessions a week.

I can already hear you saying you don't have the time. If becoming healthy is a priority, you will make the time. Be sure to have a physical first and, if you need support, find an exercise consultant to set up a program that will be safe and effective.

Next, begin to cut fats and refined sugars out of your diet. There are many good books about how to approach this. I particularly like books by Jane Brody.

Now try some psychological support. Put pictures of yourself — fat or thin, whichever you would find motivating — on your refrigerator. Fantasize yourself at thinner, more ideal weights. Find motivational tapes and really listen to them. Join or form a group so that you will be responsible to someone else for being successful.

Most importantly, keep trying new approaches and don't give up. If need be, make yourself an expert on this subject. The more involved you are at every level, the greater your chances of success.

Lastly, there is one important thing not to do. Do not go on a diet that is under 1,000 calories a day. Lasting success is achieved in only five percent of those who lose weight on such diets and most become fatter than they were before. Slow and steady is your best chance for health and beauty.

Trail leads to Savannah

I-75, with weekday rates from one to three bedrooms ranging from $35 to $55 a night ($10 surcharge on weekends). Telephone toll-free (800) 5GA-1ARK.

Exit at Dalton for the 25-mile run to Fort Mountain State Park, (15 cottages) or for the nearby Cohutta Lodge, a rustic hilltop lodge with lots of outdoor activities. Rates are $39 to $55 double, $10 to $20 more for suites and efficiencies.

If you prefer antebellum, the pink marble Tate House is 40 east miles of I-75 at Tate, Ga., and offers bed and breakfast for $70 to $140 a couple. The county is dry, so BYOB. Phone (404) 735-3122.

If you want to linger in Atlanta, remember that you can ride rapid transit called MARTA into the city. Ride it to Underground Atlanta, which recently reopened. This huge complex of shops, restaurants, bars and night clubs is now mostly above ground and is an attractive place to spend an afternoon or evening.

TAKE A 45-minute tour of Ted Turner's CNN studios in the CNN Center (formerly Omni Center). Or get off at the Five Points MARTA station for lunch at the upscale City Grill, in an old high-ceiling bank at 50 Hurt Plaza.

An alternative — snack any time in a 1940s-style Darlin's Restaurant, in an old house at 1077 Juniper St. in midtown. The menu reads Shrimp Burgers, Picket Fence Chicken, Dixieland Trio, Scarlett O' and Eye Waterin' Chili. Wash it down with coffee drinks called Sweet Magnolia, Johnny Reb, Dixie Whistler and Rhett Butler.

You could also skip Atlanta and do the Magnolia Trail near Macon, a sure winner for people who like historic houses.

By the time you turn on I-16 at Macon, you'll be eager to get to Savannah. People who like interesting historic accommodations should definitely stay in one of Savannah's terrific assortment of historic inns and bed-and-breakfast places.

If you like them hotel-sized and moderately expensive, you'll love the Mulberry Inn built in an old 1860 livery stable near the river ($125 to $150 for two, plus 10 percent state tax, and add $39 per person, if you want breakfast and dinner at the inn.)

I highly recommend one of the historic inns or guest houses, which often come with carriage house apartments overlooking walled gardens. Top of the price line (more than $80, and some can run to $200 for a suite), are places like the Ballstone Inn, Foley House, Eliza Thompson House and Gastonian.

THE GASTONIAN has 13 rooms, and the intimate feeling of places run by the owners. (They serve a full breakfast.) I also like the Barrister House, but they tend to take long-term guests, so it may not be available.

The Magnolia Place Inn, has verandas overlooking Forsythe

Park. The 16-room Presidents' Quarters has high tea and bicycles for rent. Liberty Inn has more modern accommodations in an old house setting. Or you can stay in the restored riverfront streets of Factors Walk at a place called Olde Harbour Inn.

The Bed & Breakfast Inn is moderately priced at "under $80" and has seven upstairs rooms with shared bath as well as garden suites. The man who owns and runs the Haslam/Port House also runs a service called R.S.V.P., which will find you accommodations up and down the Atlantic coast. Call (912) 232-7787 for R.S.V.P. or call the Savannah Visitors Center toll-free at (800) 444-2427 and ask for a list of places to stay and things to do.

Island life is natives' cup of tea

Art-Champion, Bryson's grandfather, built the ferry in 1937. The ferry runs continuously between the mainland and the island.

Jacob Harsens, the island's first settler, did his trading with the Indians in the early 1800s. The Champion family, considered one of the island's first families, came to the island in the 1880s.

Bryson has a lot of counterparts.

"There are so many of us who grew up on the island, left for college and then turned right around and came back to live here," he said.

When Bryson's restaurant opens, it will be called "The Boat" because, he said, "That's what everybody has called it ever since I docked it here."

BRYSON ESTIMATES the summer population of the island to be 5,000 and the year-round population about 1,500.

"There was a time when it was almost 90 percent summer cottages," Bryson said, "but that has changed steadily as land values went up. There is probably more construction going on now than I can ever remember at any other one time, and they are all year-round homes."

A minuscule sign in San Souci's Delta Hardware identifies Nick Sarzynski as a real estate agent.

"As soon as a house goes on the market, it's sold," said Sarzynski, who has a long waiting list of potential buyers.

As for the price of houses on the island, Joan Sarzynski told about one incident that happened early this spring.

"The asking price for the house was $168,000. I do not know if that is what it sold for, but when it was sold, it was torn down and the land was used to start an entirely new construction," she said.

Bob Wise has a voice that's reminiscent of the Three Stooges' Curly. Wise even has Curly's big guy physique, but he looks more like contemporary comic John Candy.

Bob Wise: Shy kid finds his niche as a comedian

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

You call a comedian, you expect comedy.

And comedian Bob Wise delivers — even when he's not at home.

"Wait, I'm being attacked by a giant green bird, leave your message, I'll get back to ya," says the recording in a voice reminiscent of the Three Stooges' Curly. Wise even has Curly's big guy physique. But he looks more like contemporary comic John Candy.

"Yeah, I get compared to John Candy about every 15 minutes. We're both big and blond," Wise said later from his Savannah, Ga., hotel room.

The 40-year-old Chicago-area native had just performed at Hilton Head and Myrtle Beach, S.C., and was on his way to yet another comedy club in Orlando, Fla.

"I wanted to be a comic since I was about 5 years old," he said. "My absolute favorites were Jack Benny, Jackie Gleason, Art Carney, Jonathon Winters, Bob Hope and Johnny Carson."

"My current favorites are Jay Leno, Harry Anderson and Steve Landesburg who played Dietrich on 'Barney Miller.' I do like those Second City guys. They're very funny."

Wise was not the class clown — in fact he was a shy kid "until puberty hit," he said. He earned a degree in "covert communications" from Illinois State University, but his resume lists attendance at five colleges ranging from Purdue to Michigan State, with no mention of Illinois State.

THEN IT WAS onward to a career in radio at Indianapolis stations WIRE and WFMS. Wise said he was an award-winning country music station DJ, once snaring Billboard magazine's County Deejay of the Year award.

"I was pretty good at it," he said. "But got fired for having a bad attitude. They told me I had a bad voice."

Then comedy called.

For the past five years, Wise has done comedy stints in joints from Atlantic City down to New Orleans. Last year he was on the road 51 weeks, covering 32 states, Caribbean cruise ships and Canadian clubs.

This year he's cutting down to 46 weeks of traveling.

He was an extra in the Gene Hackman film "Hoosiers" for which he got paid "$20 and a free lunch." And he plays the manager of a chicken fast food outlet in the yet-to-be-released "Diving In." It was a big enough part to get him a Screen Actors Guild union card and hopefully more opportunities for movie parts.

He's done national commercials for Delta faucets and Archway cookies, and a slew of regional stuff, hawking everything from cars to waterbeds.

The 6 foot, 3 inch, 300 pounds-plus comic likens his stage presence to fellow big guy Sam Kinison — both are loud and brash — but Wise said his shtick is clean. Former preacher Kinison is known for his blasphemous routine.

Wise has been the opening act for Leno and Anderson and singers Dionne Warwick, the Kingston Trio and Dolly Parton.

Re-inventing the skate

Fitness fans find 'blades

By Pat Sculte
special writer

It used to be that when you laced up a pair of skates with wheels attached to them, you'd end up rolling counter clockwise around a wood floor rink that had a giant mirrored ball hanging from the center of the ceiling.

You'd stop for a while to eat some junk food and listen to the disco music, then roll some more until it was time for someone's mom to pick you up.

Rollerskating, which has hung on somewhat unnoticed over the last decade, is back, recharged with a streamlined innovation and a catchy new name — Rollerblades.

The Rollerblade skate looks like an ice skate that's grown wheels, one in front of the other, along the blade. "In line," as it is called by the manufacturer, Rollerblade Inc. of Minnesota, the skate travels more fluidly across a variety of hard surfaces than its cousin, the rollerskate, making it perfect for outdoor use.

And they have become one of the hottest selling recreational/fitness tools in the Detroit area this summer.

The idea for the skate is basically a re-invention of an idea of a 17th century English instrument maker. The "in-line" wheel pattern was the norm for the rollerskate's first 100 years or so. Then, in 1863, a guy by the name of James Leonard Plimpton from Medford, Mass., developed the first "obvious" rollerskate — two wheels arranged beside each other under the ball of the foot and under the heel.

In 1980, two Minnesota brothers developed the skate that has led to a revolution in rollerskating, much the same as what aluminum did for baseball bats and turbos for race car engines.

WHEN ROLLERBLADES first hit the market, they were developed as an off-season training tool for skiers and hockey players. The motion used in those two winter sports is an obvious extension of the Rollerblade. And now that nordic (cross country) skiers use a skating motion instead of the "kick and pole" method, Rollerblade skates are perfect during the summer months.

Alpine (downhill) skiers found them helpful as a conditioning tool during dry land training.

Don Thomas Sporthaus of Birmingham, has become one of the major outlets for the Rollerblade style skate.

"In two months this year, we have doubled our 1988 total sales," said Teri Temmerman, hard goods buyer for the Sporthaus. "People have been using them to mix up their running and biking workouts and they've found out how cool these things are."

"It's like skating on ice, but easier... not as hard on the ankles," said Larry Cantor of Farmington Hills, who tried out Rollerblades at a recent Sporthaus demonstration. "If I didn't have a corn on my foot, you wouldn't be able to get these things off me!"

Andrew Surber of Birmingham takes his Rollerblades to work every day.

"I deliver my papers on them," the eight-year-old said. His two brothers, who along with Andrew play hockey, agree on the versatile nature of the skate.

Marc Hutchins, 14, of Bloomfield Hills jumps some cones, showing off moves he's perfected on his Rollerblades.

"I like to skate around with them and play hockey on the tennis courts," said Dave Surber.

"YEAH, THEY'RE great training for hockey and an excellent source of transportation," his brother Will said.

The recreational worth of the skates are obvious — an exciting toy that varies as much as the terrain you apply it to. And applying Rollerblades to the fitness side of recreation makes the skate even more interesting.

Probably the most impressive aspect of Rollerblades is that they allow you to get more out of your workout than running or aerobics.

First off, take all of the stress and shock involved with running and aerobics and file them under "1-800-FORGET-IT." Then take the one, two, three or however-many miles you run and triple the distance. Then there's the slight you'll take in during the same amount of time on a set of Rollerblades.

And finally add in the fun, speed and gradual growth in confidence on this new fangled fitness tool. You can even slip off your sport coat, loosen the tie and slip on a pair of Rollerblades like Steve Luppenatz, 26, of Royal Oak who tried them out for the first time.

"This is a great low-impact workout... and coupled with biking, it will be a great way to cross train," he said.

Now, along with the motion and the wheels comes the occasional accident — the wipeout, slam, or whatever you call it. Most just call it "Ouch!"

SAFETY EQUIPMENT is a good idea for Rollerblades. Plastic

Pads are a 'must' with Rollerblades

Okay. Now you know everything you need to know about Rollerblades. But, you ask, what does it cost to get started in this new fangled skating?

Well, first you have to figure out where you fit into the four style of Rollerblades that are available. Yep, they come in four styles and, likewise, four prices:

- Blade Runner for children with growing feet cost $85.95.
- Zetra 608 for beginning adult recreationalists cost $129.
- Lightning for advanced recreationalists and fitness buffs cost $169.

• Macroblade, the top of the line, high tech flyer, cost $199.

Now that you've figured that out, you might want to consider safety equipment. That can save wear and tear, not to mention bumps and bruises, on knees and elbows.

Knee pads can run you $25, wrist guards $21.95 and elbow pads $19. And if you want to protect your head, add another $36.75 for a helmet.

With that, you're ready to just roll along.

Marc Hutchins, 14, of Bloomfield Hills was trusting enough to lay on the ground while his friend, Alex Dellatorrey, 16, of Birmingham jumped over him. Both accomplished skateboarders, they translated that expertise over to Rollerblades.

capped knee pads and wrist guards provide ample protection for Rollerbladers, beginner to expert, who unfortunately happen to shake hands with the pavement.

Choice of terrain also has a lot to do with Rollerblade safety. Just like a novice skier choosing a run labeled with a skull and crossed bones, Rollerbladers should stick to flatter terrain, such as parking lots and low-inclined streets. Advanced skaters can take to steeper inclines, with a long run-out and maneuver the skates as they would a pair of downhill skis.

So, what will you see on Rollerblades?

You might see Wilma Jacobs, 56, of Orchard Lake.

"I use my Rollerblades two or three times a week," said Jacobs, who teaches figure skating at the Detroit Skating Club and Livonia Ice rinks. "I just get on them and the neighbors wonder who's that crazy lady going down the street."

The real common denominator with athletes and Rollerblades is that there are no age boundaries. Fun is fun, six or 60.

According to Robert Thomas, manager of the Sporthaus, Roller-blades are here to stay.

"For health conscious people, looking for something else to do this summer, Rollerblades provide recreation with fitness," he said. "And since there are so many types of people who would enjoy these skates, I see them as a stable recreational fixture... not a fad."

SO, AS THE Rollerblade grows by leaps and bounds (the company has experienced a 100 percent growth over the last year), what lays ahead for the latest foot-to-pavement recreational/fitness vehicle?

Steve Lessick, Rollerblades technical representative for Michigan, sees them as a must for athletes five years from now.

"Rollerblade will be a must for kind of winter sports athlete," he said. "I also see Rollerblades becoming more of a freestyle expression, such as skateboards have."

"There's so much potential because the product caters to so many types of people."

Just think of the sun as the giant mirrored ball and the cement and our asphalt riddled planet as a huge roller rink. Heck, there's no admission charge and you don't even have to listen to disco music.

Making connections for the perfect party

By Joan Boram
special writer

Nancy Kader-Jacobs threw 167 parties last December.

Just the thought would send your normal introvert running out the door, screaming. For Kader-Jacobs, it's all in a day's work.

"There's no point having a job that you don't love, and I love entertainment and parties," said the founder and owner of the Southfield-based Entertainment Connection.

Kader-Jacobs got her start through Doug Jacobs, owner and leader of the Red Garter Band.

"I was working as a bartender and Doug asked me to act as his booking agent," she said. "I started booking other local acts and I was in business."

She was married at the time — to Doug Jacobs.

The Entertainment Connection is five years old. Kader-Jacobs has gone on to book national acts and has expanded the business to include full-service convention/special event planning. She counts more than 200 companies and private party hosts among her clients.

"I started doing parties when I noticed that a hula dancer was the only 'Hawaiian' aspect of a 'Hawaiian' party," she said. "Now I do the whole thing — from invitations to valet parking."

A case in point is a recent Roaring '20s party, held at the Willistead Manor in Windsor. The touches included a sandwich board, worn by a "hobo," to advertised "Diamond Clete's," a play on the client's name, valet parking by "gangsters," and cocktails were served in coffee cups.

Where does Kader-Jacobs get the ideas for her parties?

STEVE CANTRELL/staff photographer

Nancy Kader-Jacobs of the Entertainment Connection, who books national acts and provides full-service convention/special event planning, counts more than 200 companies and private party hosts among her clients.

"I DO A LOT of brainstorming with the two other salespersons on my staff," she said. "My eyes are always open. I see everything in terms of parties. There's a prop; there's a party."

To a lot of out-of-town convention groups, Detroit is still Mowtown. For them, the Entertainment Connection provides a Motown show, including mint-condition '50s cars, hub cap centerpieces and The Four Tops, The Shirelles, The Drifters or The Latin Counts.

Kader-Jacobs doesn't advertise either for business or private parties. She and her associates do a lot of cold calling on businesses, and of course, word of mouth is the best advertising, she said.

Weddings constitute 35 percent of The Entertainment Connection's business, and Kader-Jacobs does advertise in a couple of bridal publications and participates in several bridal fairs.

"It's a special day for brides," she said. "For most, it's probably the biggest party they'll ever throw."

"It's the band that makes the party. The food can be mediocre, the hall can be shabby, but if the band is good, everybody has a good time."

When Kader-Jacobs books a band, there are no surprises. She has more than 70 bands on video, in every price and taste range.

She begins by interviewing the bride-to-be. Does she want a female vocalist? A solo horn player? What's her budget? Often, the bride needs advice, and Kader-Jacobs is pleased to help.

Eventually, they decide on four to six possible bands and the bride comes in to view the video tapes.

"WE DON'T DO much rock work," she said. "The ideal wedding band is versatile. They know a lot of golden oldies, the top 10 and at least one polka."

If the wedding budget doesn't allow for a band, there are tapes of disc jockeys as well. "I'd rather hear a good disc jockey than a bad band."

As a professional party thrower, Kader-Jacobs has advice for the do-it-yourself hostess.

"Don't flip out... ever," she said. "If something goes wrong, don't tell anybody. Chances are they won't notice."

Organization is the key to a successful gathering, Kader-Jacobs said.

— Nancy Kader-Jacobs

"Details make a party," she said. "Anybody can plan a menu, order flowers, book a band. Have lists, lots of check lists. Everybody involved gets a list. Then they know what's expected of them and when and where."

"I don't care about the glory. I just want to make the other person look good. People come in with a vision — parties are a kid of fantasy. My job is to fulfill that fantasy, to make the vision a reality."

The Entertainment Connection is at 21711 W. 10 Mile, Suite 116 Southfield. To book a band, a magician or an elephant, call 353-1515.

organizing Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Q: I've been reading about your Less Is Better campaign to decrease junk mail but have never learned where I can write to get off mailing lists. I've asked the Post Office but they were no help.

A: You are right. The Post Office has no control over mail — it is required by law to deliver whatever is legally stamped. I haven't published addresses because many people told me they had tried to get off mailing lists and it didn't work, or that it worked for only a while.

The DMA (Direct Marketing Association) does, however, do it's best to help unhappy consumers and here, for what it's worth, are addresses you can write to request removal of your name from national lists: Mail Preference Service, Director, Marketing Association 6 East 43rd Street, P.O. Box 3861, Grand Central Station, New York 10163.

Your name will be registered on a "delete file" which is made available to business subscribers on a quarterly basis. You may notice some decrease in your bulk mail within three months and your name will be maintained on that file for five years. This will not affect local mailings nor professional, alumni, political or various others. Your name will reappear on national lists when you subscribe to new magazines, apply for credit cards or otherwise inadvertently re-enter your name into the system.

If you want to remain on certain lists such as your favorite mail order company, inform them to retain your name on their "in house" lists.

Many readers have complained vehemently about telephone solicitations. The DMA can also help remove your name from national phone lists, a service similar to the Mail Preference Service. You may register by writing to: Telephone Preference Service, Direct Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd Street, New York 10017.

A third DMA service is called the Mail Order Action Line. MOAL acts as an intermediary between consumers and direct marketing companies to resolve complaints, usually within 30 days. Send the name and address of the company you are complaining about along with photocopies of cancelled checks, order forms or other relevant documents and a letter summarizing the facts, to the Mail Order Action Line at the 10017 Address Above.

It's difficult to evaluate the value of these services because you usually won't know what you don't get. While they won't solve all your problems, it may be worth the small time and effort to try them.

condo queries Robert M. Meisner

Q: My husband and I moved into a brand new condominium in May of 1987. When winter came we found spotty frost on the inside of many of the outside walls, especially in the master bedroom. I sent a letter to the developer notifying it of the problem. I claim that there is not enough insulation but the builder insists that there is enough insulation, only that air is getting in somewhere and so he has recaulked every possible area of the outside walls. I have had two winters of frost with embarrassing water marks and runny paint on the walls. The building inspector has been somewhat helpful in getting the builder's attention, but they have not come up with a solution. While the builder has made an attempt to correct the problem, he cannot determine the cause and solution. Now that the weather is breaking, we will not know until next winter if it is repaired. Also, we are wondering what responsibility our co-owner's association has in assisting us to get this resolved.

A: Don't rely on the developer to give you the answer since he may be incapable or unwilling to do so. Hire an independent consultant with the expertise necessary to determine the problem and get a written report. Present it to the developer with a demand that the developer take care of the problem. The association, particularly if it is independent of the developer's control, should also be given a copy of the report as it may be the association's problem to pursue in the event that the defect is in a common element for which the association has the responsibility to repair. If the developer does not answer your request, retain legal counsel and ask legal counsel what remedies you have against the developer and/or the association if the association has a responsibility to pursue the matter in your behalf and does not do so.

Judy Gettel in the midst of Expressions

Expressions Getting down to decorating details

By Joan Boram
special writer

JUDY GETTEL tells stories. Not "once-upon-a-time" stories at variance with facts. No, Judy Gettel tells stories about color, and, like all good storytellers, she embellishes her tales with interesting details. In Gettel's stories, it's accessories that provide embellishment.

Gettel is president of Expressions Custom Furniture, the 41st and only Michigan store of the New Orleans-based franchise chain.

"Originally, Expressions was an outlet for fabrics," Gettel explained. "The founder, Eric Aschaffenburg, new CEO of Expressions Custom Furniture Inc., wanted to give every woman the opportunity to buy fabrics formerly available only through decorators. Our store offers over 500 designer fabrics plus top-grained dyed leathers. There are over 150 different sofa, sleeper, sectional and chair styles. The customer picks the fabric and the style; the piece is custom made and delivered in 45 days."

THE FABRICS ARE displayed on specially designed racks that line the walls of the expansive, brightly lit Birmingham store. A person who has difficulties making decisions could spend the rest of her life sitting on the floor.

"Vignettes of different lifestyles ("stories") offer a customer the opportunity to select the scene against which she wants to play her own life story.

Will it be super-modern black and white, snatched from the brink of austerity by an oil painting of a Holstein cow, and a pack of black-spotted white dogs? ("We couldn't keep those dogs in the place," said Gettel. "They were only supposed to be for display, but people just loved them, and we just keep ordering more and selling them.")

Now about Southwestern, very popular and influencing other styles? There's an armoire, custom-painted to please the customer, actually made in the southwestern United States. Antique Kilims set off the desert colors of the armoire and the heavy rawhide chair. There is a section of sand-colored pottery, heavy "silver" picture frames, folk puppets, and one-dimensional metal cacti with spines made of nails. A sparkling white sofa invited you to kick off your spurs and relax. Pastel wooden coyotes, perpetually howling, contribute to the ambience.

"MOST OF OUR accessories and a lot of our furniture pieces, such as the armoire, are made by small companies in the United States. Some of them only make the one piece, such as the coyotes."

"The people in New Orleans are merchandising specialists and we get as much help as we need. All we have to do is ask. Once a year there is a market in New Orleans, exclusive to Expressions franchisees. All the vendors exhibit, and we select what we want to sell. The merchandise is unusual, and not available to other stores."

The first thing everybody says to me is, 'I want my friends to feel comfortable from the moment they step in the door.' Clients want a house that reflects their taste and lifestyle.

— Joan Knight
Expressions decorator

All accessories sold in Expressions stores must be purchased from approved vendors. However, Gettel isn't limited to vendors selected for her in New Orleans.

"If I find someone locally that produces a piece that I think will sell here, I can obtain approval for that vendor by submitted photos of their work and demonstrating that it will be a quality product."

There is the neo-classical story, for purists ("Not for everyone.") The English country story, ("The most popular, followed by Southwestern.") with lots of flowered chintz.

There is the Ralph Lauren "gentry" story for people who don't smile much: wood and leather accessories, very tailored. Any minute now the hunt will be over and the horse set will be lolling on the traditional sofa with a wide stripe of subdued colors, or the wing chair with a narrower "ticking" stripe.

"ACCESSORIES MAKE the story," Gettel said. "They make the settings very, very rich and they give the customer some options. Some stories, Contemporary, for example, may require only two or three striking pieces. Other stories, such as Stately Homes or English Country, may require as many as 40 different accessories."

What trends does Gettel see for the future? She calls on decorator Joan Knight to answer.

"There's a softening, especially in the contemporary look, using texture and color," said Knight. "Warmer tones are emerging in all categories: roses, persimmon, cinnamon, honey beige. At the same time, there's a trend toward darker, more formal colors."

"The key word is eclectic. People are staying home more and entertaining at home. The first thing everybody says to me is, 'I want my friends to feel comfortable from the moment they step in the door.' Clients want a house that reflects their taste and lifestyle."

"The first thing I ask a client is 'What do you want to keep?' and we build around that. It isn't always a valuable piece; sometimes it has sentimental value. The important thing is, it's a personal look, not a 'decorated' look."

And, of course, they all lived happily ever after — another expression people know and understand.

Design seminar planned

Michigan Design Center in Troy and Schoolcraft College in Livonia will team to present a seminar, "Design Directions — '89" on Friday, Oct. 13. The event will be open to the public.

Top area designers will be discussion leaders in morning sessions followed by lunch and a tour of the design center, open to the trade only, as a rule.

For the tours, plans call for a professional designer to oversee small groups of about 12, according to Helen Balmer, who is coordinating the event for Schoolcraft.

Designers and their topics will include: Sheldon J. Scott, "How to Work with a Designer" scheduled for 9-10 a.m.; Sandra Seligman and Kevin McNammon, "Terrific Trends in Home Furnishings and Decorating," 10-11 a.m.; Brian Killian, "The Magic of Color, Light Texture and Fabric," 11 to noon. Luncheon will follow.

Cost of the seminar will be $55 per person, including lunch. Registrations will be accepted beginning in mid-August, Balmer said. For more information, call Balmer at 540-2465.

The ultimate gifts

Stuck for a gift idea for the bride and groom? How about a car phone? Or a fax machine? Or a maid service? According to a recent informal survey of bridal shops and services, more and more brides-to-be are listing these "ultimate" wedding presents.

These gift ideas and a number of wedding tips were uncovered recently by Molly Maid Inc., the nation's leading residential cleaning service.

The most wanted gifts were:

- Money — in the form of cash, savings bonds and stocks, preferably "blue chips."

- Crystal — exquisite new patterns by Waterford, Baccarat and Stueben, which are becoming the heirlooms of tomorrow.

- Maid service — for three-, six-, nine-month and one-year contracts. Brides are now listing maid service as the "ultimate" wedding gift idea. In fact, maid service is now being included on many of the more creative bridal registries.

- China — traditional patterns with golden or silver trims are setting bridal tables across the country.

- Furniture — in the contemporary mood, country French and the hot new "salsa" designs from the Southwest are becoming increasingly popular for the '90s.

- Diamonds — as always, are a "girl's best friend."

- Appliances — fax machines and car telephones are on the most-wanted list, for both bride and groom.

- Dream honeymoon trips — when the newlyweds sail off into the sunset off the coasts of France, Greece, Italy, Spain and Alaska.

The survey of bridal shops and services also provided tips for the big occasion.

These include:

- Bachelorette party — this celebration should be held two weeks prior to the wedding day so that you ensure "healthy" attendants.

- Cake cutting — usually cake cutting is done at the end of food service, and one often has to round-up guests who are then involved in partying or who have left. Avoid this by cutting the cake at the beginning of the food service when all guests are seated, still excited with the happenings of the day when all eyes are focused on the bridal couple.

- Photographs — schedule photographs on the day of the wedding before the ceremony. Often photographers bring portable bland background screens for taking formal pictures, which then look as though they were taken anywhere. Be certain the photographer personalizes the background in some way pertinent to the wedding. Since the groom doesn't view the bride before the wedding, plan the photo session in two different shifts until the ceremony is completed.

- Buttoning the gown — if the bride is concerned about her newly manicured fingernails or is having a difficult time buttoning her gown, suggest a crôchet hook

- Keep the garter — The bride should wear two garters so that she has one to toss and one to hold as a keepsake.

- Last-minute calls — to get an accurate count for the wedding dinner, telephone all those people who have not responded. This should be done two weeks prior to the wedding.

- Attendants duties — Ushers should usher, not stand around in groups before the wedding. Flower girls and ring bearers should be 4 to 6 years old. Younger children are precious but unpredictable.

- Bridal attendants — arrange celebrations in advance of the big day. Assist parents with duties, and if parties are large, a maid service is appropriate to help with preparations.

Founded in 1979, Molly Maid Inc., with U.S. headquarters in Ann Arbor, has nearly 400 franchises in the United States, Canada, Great Britain and western Europe.

For more information about maid service or the location of a Molly Maid service near you, call 1-800-289-4600.
