Court sides with city in permit dispute

By Tedd Schneider and Tim Richard staff writers

A divided Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday sided with the city of Westland in its six-year court battle against a local electronics firm over the city's right to ask for land in exchange for granting a building per-

The high court ruled 4-3 to uphold a 1987 decision by the state Court of Appeals that reversed a Wayne County Circuit Court jury's award of $433,052 in damages to Electro-Tech, Inc.

In addition to saving the city and its insurance carrier nearly state Supreme Court," Jackson said.

$500,000. Tuesday's ruling could strengthen the position of Westland and other municipalities in attaching conditions to permits and other licenses, an attorney representing the city said.

"The court ruled there are certain prerequisites that have to be taken before one's civil rights may be considered violated," said Gail Massad of the Livonia law firm of Cummings, McClorey, Davis and Acho. Wilson Jackson, lawyer for Electro-Tech, said his client was "disappointed with the ruling."

Jackson said a further appeal of the case - to the U.S. Supreme Court - was possible.

The case stems from a 1983 refusal by the Westland City Council to grant a building permit for a proposed expansion of Electro-Tech's manufacturing plant on Newburgh north of Palmer.

The building permit was turned down after Electro-Tech refused to dedicate a 27-foot strip of land fronting on Newburgh to the city for future road improvements.

The city eventually started condemnation proceedings and took the land, paying Electro-Tech $18,000 for the property.

Electro-Tech, which employs 40 people and manufactures electronics components, claims it lost several U.S. defense department contracts when it couldn't build the expansion.

"We believe the denial of the permit and the taking of property without fair payment is a violation of due process," Jackson said.

THE LAWSUIT against the city was based on a federal law that provides civil remedies for the deprivation of constitutional rights by agencies acting under state law.

But state Supreme Court Chief Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley. who wrote the 40-page majority opinion said that the company must obtain a final decision, and attempt to obtain compensation for the unjust condemnation, before suing under the federal code.

She was joined by Justices Patricia Boyle, Dennis Archer and Robert Griffin.

Riley said Electro-Tech did not have to exhaust its local remedies but was obliged to obtain a "final" action from the city so it could show "an actual, concrete injury."

In a sharply worded, 43-page dissent opinion, Justice James Brickley said Westland "arbitrarily and ca- picked up by the insurance carrier.

Brickley, joined by Justices Charles Levin and Michael Cavanaugh, said the city treated Electro-Tech's property rights as "a government benefit."

HAD THE COURT reinstated the original award, which could have been increased by interest and court costs, the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority would have paid the balance of the judgment. But the city would have been responsible for the first $50,000, which isn't

Men to face charges from mall drug bust

By Tedd Schneider

Two men were bound over for trial Monday on charges stemming from a July 17 undercover drug bust at Westland Center.

All Youssef, 21, of Dearborn and Jamal Ahmad Hazime, 19, of Dearborn Heights waived preliminary examinations before 18th District Court Judge Gail McKnight. Arraignment in Wayne County Circuit Court was set for 9 a.m. Monday, Aug. 14.

Youssef and Hazime are charged with possession with intent to deliver more than 50 grams of heroin. If convicted, they face a maximum sentence of 5-20 years in prison.

contract talks on Monday

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Livonia school district teachers and administrators are scheduled to resume contract talks Monday, after a six-week break.

Because teachers were angered that talks 'did not continue through July, "We will probably be more cautious" entering talks, said Steve Naumcheff, union president.

He said that if possible, the district's 1,050 teachers would like to settle the contract before their current contract expires Aug. 15.

But Sam LaMonica, the district's director of employee relations, said:

"The mood certainly is optimistic and hopeful" that a contract agreement will be reached before school is tentatively scheduled to start Sept.

With only two negotiation sessions scheduled before that contract expiration date, LaMonica said reaching a settlement before then "would be very difficult."

LaMonica said talks are also scheduled to begin in the next two weeks to settle contracts with three other school employee groups; 150 teachers aids, 140 secretaries and 61 head custodlans.

He said the district, which includes the northern section of Westland, tries to pay salaries in a competitive range and seeks 3-year contracts during negotiations.

Naumcheff said the Livonia Education Association (teacher's union) board of directors will meet Tuesday. to discuss how early returning teachers - including coaches and counselors - should be provided for after the contract expires.

"When they (administrators) walked away from the table, it was a shock to us," Naumcheff said.

Much of the task of reaching a contract settlement this time around invloved reworking contract language, more than 10 years old, to better suit current practices.

WHILE MUCH contract language had been rewritten by both sides in negotiations this spring, "I don't know how much of that can be recaptured," Naumcheff said.

But LaMonica said that from the administration's view, both sides will pick up from where they left off in June - indicating that agreements on reworked contract language will stand.

Neither side has discussed salary provisions of a new contract since the administration made an opening. offer of 3 percent pay raises over each of three years of a new con-

Naumcheff said as talks opened, "Our thrust is the district has a high caliber of teacher. Eighty percent of the staff has advanced degrees."

In metro Detroit, teachers have been averaging 6 to 8 percent pay raises in the past year, according to the Metro Bureau of School Studies.

The current three-year contract between teachers and the district provided for 5.5 to 7.5 percent raises in various years of the contract determined in part by how much property values increased in the dis-

Mayor disputes crime rate assessment of city

Westland city officials and the Westland Police Sergeants and Lieutenants Association may have stopped talking to each other, but neither side has stopped talking altogether. While they wait for an Aug. 10 session with a state mediator with the hope of getting stalled contract negotiations back on track, both sides continue to push their views before the public.

The latest salvo came Friday when Mayor Charles Griffin hastily called a press conference to dispute what he said was an incorrect assessment of the city's crime rate by Sgt. Robert Barthold, union president. Barthold, criticizing police department manpower in a July 17 Observer story on stalled negotiations, said "We went backwards while crime was going up."

"The statistics speak for them-selves," Griffin said Friday. "During the last three years our crime rate has decreased and the Class II (less serious) crimes have gone down dramatically."

4,981 in 1986. Police Chief Paul Schnarr and executive Lt. Mike Frayer, who also attended Friday's press conference, credited the department's crime prevention program and cooperative, inter-department efforts such as western Wayne County drug enforcement and auto theft units.

'You're going to see more and more community involvement," Schnarr said.

Schnarr also said new technology, such as the just introduced E 9-1-1 emergency telephone system and the recently approved purchase of portable computers for the city's 22 patrol cars, will help in the battle against crime.

Schnarr also discounted complaints from within the police department that the new technology would be less effective since it was being matched with an older, rotary dial phone system.

"THERE'S NOTHING wrong with the system we have, it's working fine," Schnarr said. "What you have are a few pessimists who won't give it a chance."

Lyme disease:

Troublesome illness can strike dogs, other pets

Ruby Hamirez cuddles her 8-year-old irish Terrier, Kelly, who was diagnosed as having Lyme disease two weeks ago. With treatment, Kelly will fully recover.

By Keith Postler staff writer

Ruby Ramirez often took her eight-year-old Irish Terrier, Kerry, for walks near the thick woods around her home this past spring.

Later in the spring, Kerry became lethargic and her muscles and joints seemed to give her problems.

"She just wasn't playful anymore. She would crawl under a bed where it was darkest and sleep for hours," Ramirez said.

After Kerry started limping, she took the dog to the veterinary where she was tested several times before being diagnosed as having Lyme disease. .

WHILE AS MANY as two thousand cases of humans being infected by Lyme disease are reported in a year, fewer cases involving dogs and other domestic pets are reported, said Dr. Mary Ann Carson of the Beverly Hills Veterinary Association.

Dr. Carson estimated that only a handful of verified cases of Lyme disease in dogs, perhaps as few as two or three in the last four years, have been reported in Mich-

"So far, we have not seen any cats with the disease. It's just becoming evident in our area."

Since May, Dr. Carson has examined six dogs that displayed Lyme disease-like symptoms, with one being positively identified as having the illness. Animals and humans, she said, are most likely to pick up infected ticks in long grass and dry, wooded areas.

How do you know if your pet has Lyme disease? Dr. Carson identified several symptoms that may indicate the presence of the disease, particularly in dogs.

IN DOGS, the most common signs are lethargy and minor to major lameness, indicating the animal is having muscle or joint problems.

The dog may raise the aching leg to "show where it hurts," or it may become overly aggressive and crabby because of the pain. Fever, swollen joints, loss of appetite and bouts of sleepiness are other symptoms. Some dogs become skin sensitive and don't want to be

The same symptoms also apply to cats, Carson said. To treat the disease in Kerry, Carson prescribed twoweeks worth of antibiotics and aspirin. Since then, the dog's health has slowly improved, said Ramirez of Franklin.

"She's starting to be playful again, and she isn't sleeping as much anymore, but she isn't healthy yet by

Carson predicted that because the disease was caught in its earliest stage, Kerry should completely recover.

IN ITS LATER stages, Lyme disease can cause arthritic symptoms, heart irregularities and neurological disorders. Carson said.

Although the disease can be treated with antibiotics

'She just wasn't playful anymore. She would crawl under a bed where it was darkest and sleep for hours.'

in its early and later stages, it is more difficult in the later stages and it could take a few months or years for total recovery.

Is, there reason to panic? Probably not.

Erik Bergishagen, a dog breeder and groomer, said he has only seen a few dogs afflicted with ticks, and none that have carried symptoms of Lyme disease. The disease, he said, has not yet become a serious problem in Michigan, though it could in the future.

"If we see ticks or fleas on any of the dogs we groom, we'll take care of it by bathing them right away with organic shampoos. If the pets owner sees that they have a tick problem, they should immediately take them to a professional groomer."

Another veterinarian advises checking pets frequently for ticks after they have been in a wooded area because ticks don't go away immediately after biting.

Tips to protect pet from Lyme disease

These are basic precautions to stop your pet from becoming infected with Lyme dis-

Hearings scheduled on rail safety

Residents concerned about rail safety will have a chance to voice their concerns at two public hearings scheduled by state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton.

The first will-be at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 7, near Saginaw at the Tittabawassee Township Community hall in Freeland. The second will be at 9:30 a.m., Monday, Sept. 11, in the Wayne City Council chambers, 3355 S. Wayne Road in Wayne.

Freeland, a rural community west of Saginaw, was the site of a CSX train derailment July 22. About 3,000 Freeland residents were evacuated after tank cars carrying toxic chemicals for Dow Chemical Co., Dow Corning Corp., Chevron Corp.

and DuPont Corp. caught fire. The families finally were allowed to return home last weekend.

CSX lines and trains carrying hazardous materials traverse the Plymouth-Canton area.

"I'M INTERESTED in taking a look at the recent derailments and past accident reports to see if there is further need for legislative oversight in this arena," said Kosteva, who chairs the House Rail Safety Subcommittee.

"The recent derailments have also

Duggan: Deputy exec growing with the job

By Wayne Peal staff writer

A doting daddy, handy with video camera. A political coalition builder. Call it the mellowing of Michael Duggan, chief of staff for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, said he's lost none of his passion for his job during its hectic first 21/2 years. It's just that family responsibilities and a new sense of maturity may have softened Duggan's hard-charging approach.

"Most days, I'm home by 6," said Duggan, deputy Wayne County Executive. "I want to spend more time with my family."

A behind-the-scenes type not immediately recognizable by most county residents, the Livonia resident is well-known to county insiders. While respected, his relationship with other county officials sometimes turned prickly, especially during the early days of the McNamara Administration.

Duggan had been point man for a number of key McNamara Administration proposals, arguing the administration's case for budget reform before often-skeptical county commissioners and state legislators.

In retrospect, Duggan said he was as tough as he needed to be in carrying out a tough assignment.

"EVERYTHING HAS been a struggle," he said. "You don't appresniping at you."

"With the solvency package, we had outstanding support from the governor and even from Republicans, yet it was still difficult."

In the process, he earned a reputatails but something less than patient court. with those who took longer to grasp an issue's intracacies.

Just before the McNamara team mer Laurie Maher. The wedding represented the union of two of the Detroit judicial community's most respected judicial families. Duggan's father is U.S. District Judge Patrick Duggan, his father-in-law is Michigan Appeals Judge Richard Maher.

The couple are parents of a oneyear-old son, Michael Edward Duggan Jr., called "Eddle" by his dad. The family also includes 9-year-old Mary, Mrs. Duggan's daughter by a for candidates other than previous marriage.

Duggan himself admits becoming a husband and father has given him ministration Melvin "Butch" Holnew priorities.

"I'M ONE OF those parents with a VCR who goes around taping everything," he said. Eddie's day-today growth and replays of Mary's soccer games are among the family's video treasures.

Being a family man also means clearing out time for family vacations. A week in Florida in February marked the first time off Duggan has had since assuming his appointed post.

Still, Duggan estimates he averages between 50-60 work hours a week. His six-day work week includes halfday Saturday sessions in his downtown office. "That's just to clear off my desk," he said.

From the start, Duggan has been able to count on strong support from McNamara. An attorney, with a law ciate how many people you have degree from the University of Michigan, Duggan has argued the county executive's case in Michigan Appeals Court in the jail control lawsuit between McNamara and County Sheriff Robert Ficano - an unprecedented step akin to having John tion as an astonishingly quick study, Sununu, President Bush's chief of with easy mastery of complex desstaff, argue a case in federal appeals Duggan's role in representing the executive in court was itself the If feathers were unduly ruffled, focus of a minor county controversy. Duggan said, he's sorry. Nonetheless, the as-yet undecided took office, Duggan married the for- suit sent a political message to other county department heads, underscoring McNamara's commitment to a balanced county budget.

"It showed that if we were willing to take the jail away (to balance the anything," Duggan said.

As deputy county executive, Duggan heads a mostly 35-and-under staff that also worked on the 1986 county executive's campaign - but McNamara.

Assistant county executive for adlowell was drawn from the campaign of Democratic primary runner-up Samuel Turner. Turner himself was appointed the county's chief legal representative for civil cases before resigning to become a Wayne County Circuit Court judge. Executive assistant Carol Steffani was drawn from the campaign of former county commission chief John Hertel. Assistant county executive for criminal justice Bryan Amann, a more recent addition, headed Ficano's campaign for county executive.

"We've built a good, dedicated staff here," Duggan said. McNamara, though, is looking for even more coalition building as 1990 approaches. Strengthening what budget) we were willing to do almost Duggan termed were already strong ties with the area's black leadership is a priority, he said. .

McNamara is expected to run again, though he hasn't yet announced, and Duggan is a likely choice to head the re-election campaign and retain his post in a second McNamara administration.

Beyond that, Duggan isn't speculating on his future. His mother. Joan, is a former Livonia mayoral candidate. But whether he'll follow her on the campaign trail someday he isn't saying:

"Right now, I feel I have the best job in the world," Duggan said, surveying his third floor office in the historic Wayne County Building.

"I remember I used to come to this building when my dad had an office here. If anybody had told me then that (County Executive) Bill LuAs deputy county executive, Michael Duggan is known as a hard-charging achiever who serves as Edward McNamara's right-hand man and chief of staff. But the Livonia resident balances his county duties with those of husband and new father.

By Tim Richard staff writer

Two commuter universities found they did fairly well when the dust settled on the 1990 legislative budget

"Relative to the others, we did OK," said Oakland University president Joseph Champagne. OU got an overall increase of 4.6 percent, and its per-student aid will rise to $3,712 compared to $3,600 in the current

"The mood here is almost glee," sald Steve Waasko, news service chief at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. UM-D was boosted 5.1 percent overall, and per-student aid will reach the "floor" of $3,300.

THE STATE Senate had sought to adopt an enrollment-driven formula for alding the 15 public universities.

Politically, it was Sen. William Sederburg, R-East Lansing, chair of the appropriations subcommittee on higher education, versus House appropriations chair Dominic Jacobetti. D-Negaunee, and Gov. James J. Blanchard, who had favored flat percentage increases for everyone, regardless of enrollment growth or shrinkage.

We made tremendous strides in breaking a decade-long mindset," sald Sederburg, who favored a formula based on several student fac-

Blanchard had recommended a flat 3.5 percent increase in his $1.18 billion coilege budget. The House raised the numbers but retained the flat-rate method.

"We came out in-between," sald Sederburg. "We kept the Senate philosophy — we wanted to bring the five lowest schools up to $3,800 per Jacobetti held out for not penalizing U-M, Northern Michigan and Eastern Michigan. In the end, they got the lowest increases, 4.5 percent, while Saginaw Valley got the most,

A POLITICAL problem was Sederburg's desire to bring Central Michigan to a floor of $3,300 per student in state aid.

But the House this year agreed to a larger dose of aid for Central.

CHAMPAGNE praised Sederburg's "wholeheartedly positive" effort toward formula funding, but added, "Absolutely, the state has to put more money into higher educa-

He said higher education got less than a 5 percent increase, hardly equal to the consumer price index and 1-2 percent below the higher education price index, a measure of the things colleges buy. The university presidents asked for 5.5 percent plus more for problem spots.

"The lower schools only are being brought up. We (OU) are achieving our success by holding back on enrollment."

Champagne hoped Blanchard would notice OU had increased tuition only 7.2 percent for residents and 8.2 for non-residents.

In contrast, UM and Wayne State raised tuition 9.6 percent, Michigan Tech 9.48 percent, and Ferris State 9.55 percent.

Blanchard has threatened to veto the appropriations of universities whose tultion increases he considers excessive but wasn't specific.

Waasko sald UM-D was "very pleased with what Sederburg was able to do. he was very supportive of Chancellor (Blenda) Wilson's effort."

UM campuses in Dearborn and Flint receive separate appropriations from the Ann Arbor campus. UM-Flint got a hefty 6.7 percent

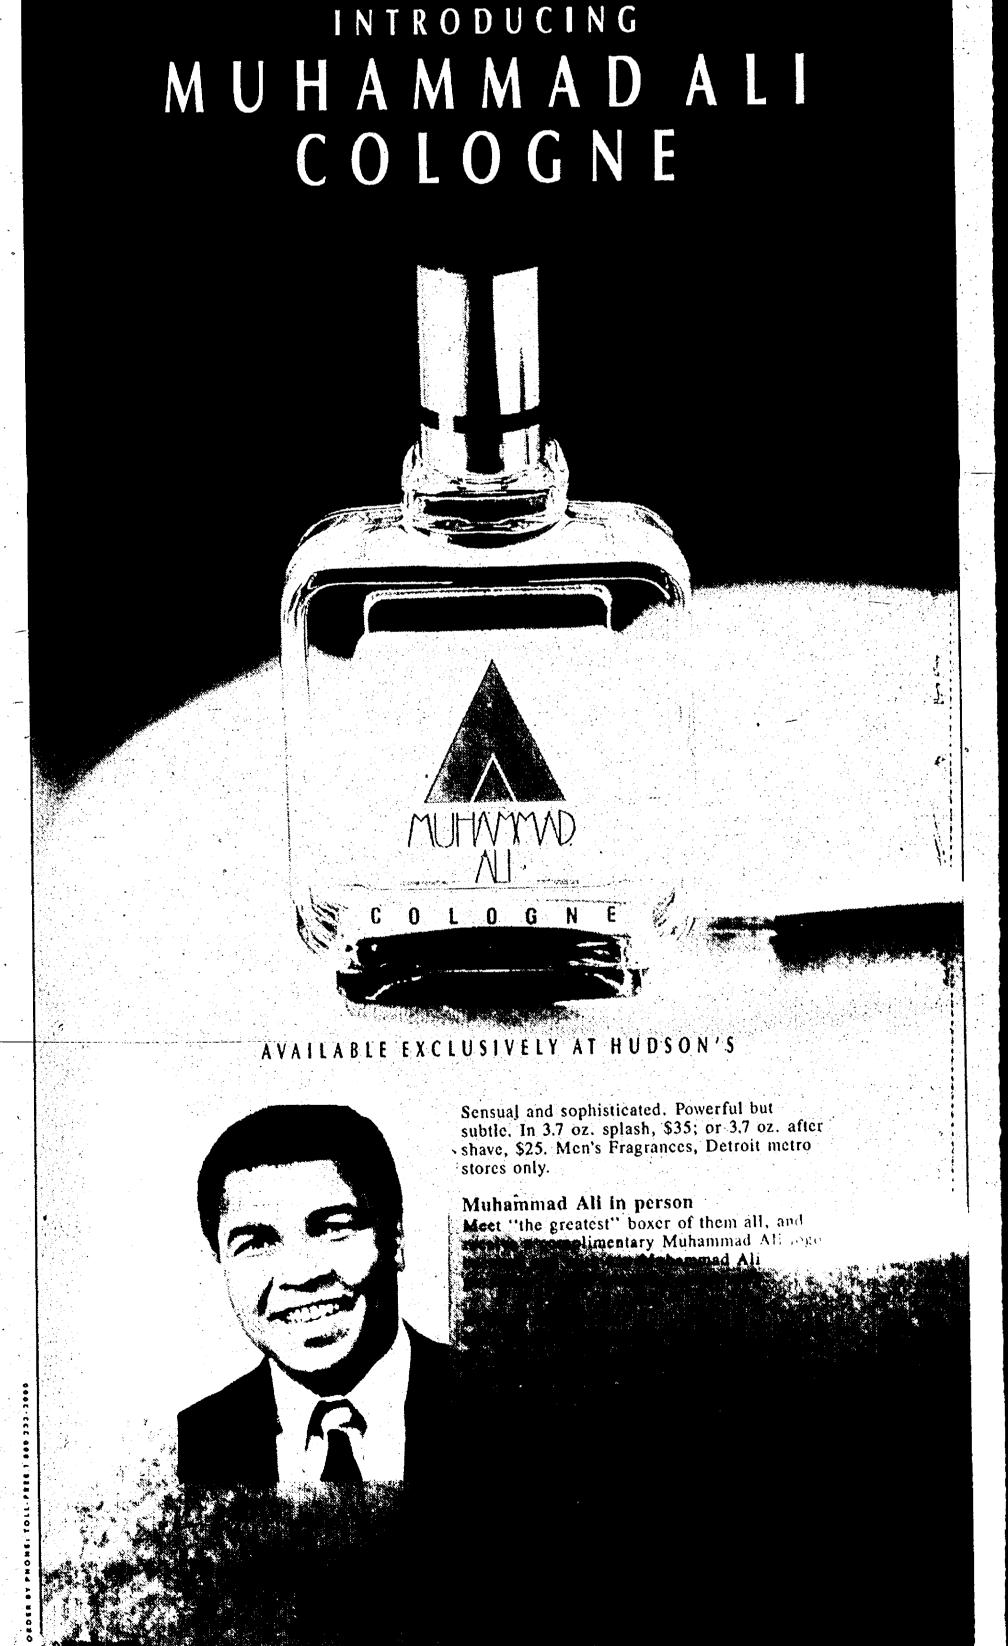

HERE IS WHAT selected universities will receive in the budget for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 unless Blanchard uses his veto:

• OU - $33.8 million, up 4.6 percent; per student aid $3,712. • UM-Dearborn - $16.6 million, up 5.1 percent; per student ald at $3,300 floor. • UM-Ann Arbor - $253 million,

• Wayne State - $174 million, up 5 percent; per student aid $7,931. • Michigan State - $214 million, up 4.7 percent; per student aid

Hines Park: Getaway for quiet summer day

Hines Park can be a pretty terrific place to spend a quiet summer afternoon. Families. vacationers and workers from nearby companies slip away to the park each day for sun bathing or an outdoor lunch. Above, Rob Anderson of Novi welcome the sun, much to the amusement of Westland resident Heidi Haas. At left, Erica D'Angelo, 8, and her brother Jamie, 7, try their hand at fishing while their mother, Barbara, looks on. The family lives in Salem Township. The park is also a nice place for a quiet conversation, as the pair on the right shows. Many people stop off in the park for a few relaxing moments before beginning their drive home. The rambling Wayne Countyowned park stretches along Hines Drive, extending from Plymouth Township, through Livonia and Westland, to Dearborn Heights.

It was a perfect afternoon for a stroll in the park - hot and sunny with miles of soothing greenery.

Yet Edward Hines Park was not teeming with people. A couple here, a sunbather there and a few joggers thrown in for good measure.

Serious minded blcyclists pedaled at fast pace. Walkers in clipped rhythmic fashion made their way along winding Hines Drive. An energetic Irish setter gave his master a brisk workout.

Dotted sporadically between the trees, their cars parked along gravel paths, workers on lunch break and moms with kids took a breather from daily routines.

Tammy Clark of West Bloomfield and David Weakland of Perrysburg Township, Ohio, both employees of Fretter's Appliance main store in on a yellow blanket.

"We don't come out here much at this year," said Craig, swishing around the remainder of a McDonald's Coke. "Today's a nice day and we like the outdoors."

Nankin Mills, with about a half dozen cars parked along its hairpin gravel roadway, was one of the more crowded spots.

Under one tree Jim Hutchings of Plymouth, who works at Crestwood Dodge in Garden City, was lunching with wife, Cindy, and month old son,

"We brought him out for lunch today," said Cindy. The couple was eating carryout from Little Caesar's

"We like the park to relax," her husband added. Little Evan seemed oblivious to his surroundings, bundled in an infant carrier on top of the picnic table next to his parents. He is their firstborn.

Just a stone's throw away, buddies Jim Radford of Livonia and Dave Hennicken of Westland chatted. Radford, who works for United Parcel Service, was on vacation. Hennicken, employed by Ram Chargers in Livonia, was on lunch break.

"I COME HERE every now and Livonia, stretched out for some sun then," said Radford. "I drive through here. It's an easy way to get to work - no stop lights. You can watch the seasons change."

Hennicken said he purposely seeks out the more secluded areas of the

Down at Merriman Hollow, Cheryles Hoskins and her 4-year-old son, Stene vie, walked down from their. West. land apartment complex to enjoy the park. Seated at their picnic table was Ron Jones, also of Westland, * who Hoskins described as a "park regular."

"I JUST came down from Hawthorne Apartments where 15. live," Hoskins said. "There isn't much up there, just a swimming pool. (Jones is) here all the time."

His skin already deep bronze, Jones said he enjoys soaking up the sun. About 20-feet away, his car stereo blared rock music.

"It smells down here, don't you, think," Hoskins said. "It smells like r frogs or something."

If indeed frog odor was in the air. it didn't seem to bother anyone, much. With Stevie at her side, Hoskins seemed content to stay put.

Just another day in the park.

Hazards

(W) A8

Public must have safeguards

HE RECENT train derailment should be of concern for communities besides those affected in Midland, Saginaw and Bay counties.

In the Saturday, July 22 mishap, two train cars containing toxic chemicals derailed and burned, forcing 200 people from their homes. One home burned and 36 people were injured.

t. The fires were allowed to burn themselves out because of the toxicity of the fumes. One car contained an agent that turns into hydrochloric acid, a highly corrosive substance. The other contained acrylic acid, a toxic and irritating substance.

. Don't scoff at the scenario. Westland has a railroad track in its southwest corner near one of its several industrial parks.

ACCORDING TO state officials, trucks could prove a hazard down major highways, such as Ford or Newburgh or the nearby I-275 freeway, in getting to or from their industrial destinations.

"If a jackknifed vehicle spilled gas, and fire erupted, it would be a catastrophe no matter where it happened, but if it occurred on that section, motorists would have no way to escape. On other roads they can climb or drive up, the slopes and get away," said Paul Riley, traffic and safety engineer at the Michigan Department of Transportation Metro Division.

Local fire officials are prepared to handle any potential emergency in that area with fire hydrants, fire engines and a standpipe to pump water down to the expressway.

It's comforting to know that our fire officials have paid careful attention to the safety of those using local roads.

BUT THERE'S CAUSE FOR concern because the trucks have to travel some way through our city street system to reach destination points, such as I-275.

Signs can be posted, telling trucks not to travel those routes. But no signs will offer alternate

That's a little like pretending if the problem is ignored long enough, it will surely go away. Hazardous materials are just that — a hazard — and must have special handling precautions.

Perhaps something should be done to offer trucks carrying hazardous materials some reasonable alternatives, as well as reasonable speed limits. Then care should be taken to enforce the new rules.

In the face of what may happen to the Saginaw area — contaminated soil removed and houses hosed and scrubbed — some additional steps are reasonable to consider.

Tougher actions are needed

SOMEHOW, the public isn't getting the message about the dangers of drinking and driving.

For the second time in eight days, a driver reported to have been drinking has caused another tragedy on local roads.

In the latest accident, a driver crossed the center line of Newburgh between Warren and Joy crashing into a car, killing two women.

An earlier accident in July resulted in a driver with a long list of traffic violations in six years of

In recent years, schools have done an effective job of planning a curriculum for students warning them of the dangers of drinking and driving.

But there must be other steps taken for those out of school and those who don't consider the consequences of their actions.

Many things can be done.

But public officials can start with a stepped up police enforcement program, backed up by stiffer and certain penalties by judges

Lucas lesson: Revise nomination standards

'E AGREE with the Senate Judiciary Committee's rejection of William Lucas as the nation's civil rights

But we disagree with a confirmation process that leaves political nominees, like Lucas, dangling like a worm on a hook before so many angry piranhas.

The Lucas nomination process has been an ugly, noisy spectacle. There are lessons we believe both the president and Congress should learn to restore a sense of balance and fairness to future nominations.

Given the amount of public humiliation faced by political nominees and given the fact that most could probably earn much more money, with much less aggravation, in private sector jobs, it's a wonder we can attract any men and women of quality into our federal government.

If relatively minor past transgressions and unproven allegations can be trotted out for public consumption — as they were in the Lucas case — The confirmation process becomes less a test of the nominee's background and qualifications and more a target shoot for politicians eager to make points with home constituencies through a display of righteous, though selective, moral indig-

holding political nominees to standards they themselves wouldn't be able to meet? What is needed, both from the Oval Office and

Capitol Hill, is a "good faith" nomination stan-

Nominees should be selected on the basis of broad adherence to the principles of the department they are tapped to head, as well as their experience in the field and demonstrated administrative skills.

And they should be judged precisely according to those standards.

That said, the Lucas nomination should still be rejected. Lucas lacks experience in handling civil rights cases, his tenure as Wayne County executive was disastrous and his commitment to civil rights goals is sketchy at best.

The goal here isn't to save Lucas but to assure a better quality of future nominees.

Adoption of such a good faith standard would make the confirmation process more like a job interview and less like a stay in the public pillo-

Avoid the pig-snouts when rating teachers

THINK HOT DOGS when pondering national educational standards. That's right, hot dogs, just like you buy at the ball park or hockey game. Education and hot dogs have a lot in common. Michigan, you see, has higher hot dog standards than most other states and certainly more than the most vaunted national standards.

We've managed to do away with most of those rotten byproducts which haunt other hot dogs around the nation. Something akin to nutritional value comes into the vocabulary when talking our dogs. Not so with those full of pig snouts and ears.

National education certification - now that is even more frightening than a bad hot dog.

But that's the thinking of some bureaucrats out there in the great hinterland of red tape and paper clips. The plan — certify teachers by some weak-kneed national standard.

THANK HEAVENS, a lot of heat will be raised over this issue by the teachers' unions, mostly for the wrong reasons, mind you. But anything which will kill off this crazy idea is good enough. Southfield associate superintendent Roger Allen calls it a "significant step." I guess agreement would be in order if you count backward steps as significant. In very few circumstances does centralization work. In education it never works. Education is the last bastion of local autonomy. It also is the reason that our education system is as strong as it is.

Local school boards aren't beholden to some narrow-minded pencilpusher, securely lodged in a Washington office.

This whole argument comes under the competition ethic. We all know that properly guided competition makes this country thrive. Misguided regulation makes it suffer.

That's not to say that all regulation is misguided or all competition is on a fruitful route. But that's an argument for another day.

It certainly is true that some states have higher standards than others. Standards can change from one district to another. But implementing a national standard will only serve to deflate the educational quality in many states.

For a country of government bureaucrats who take pride in maligning communist countries for their mistaken bent for centralization, our national leaders certainly never seem to miss a chance at a hunk of central control for themselves.

'Junk mail' column series was biased

To the editor:

I am writing regarding the rather biased series of articles being written by Ms. Dorothy Lehmkuhl concerning "junk mail." Newspapers need extensive paid advertising in order to be profitable. Therefore, isn't it a little unethical to attack a competing advertising medium (mail) without acknowledging this conflict of interest?

Many individuals enjoy the freedom of shopping by mail in the comfort of their home. For others, such as senior citizens and invalids, it can be their only direct link to a variety of goods and services.

It seems Ms. Lehmkuhl took the easy way out in writing her column rather than spend the time and effort researching the subject so she could inform and help her readers.

Here are just a couple ideas gleaned from articles written by more energetic columnists:

• To the person complaining they purchase from one catalog and then receive catalogs from other companies. Tell Ms. Lehmkuhl, most catalog order forms have a box you can check advising you do not wish your name to be shared with other advertisers.

• To the people who wish to have their name removed from mailing

Tell Ms. Lehmkuhl, to have them write to: Direct Marketing Association, Inc., Mail Preference Service, 6 East 43rd Street, New York 10017. The association will tell their members to remove the individual from their malling lists. In closing, I would like to comment on her support of a tax to dispose of unwanted mail. Would it not be a good idea to also apply this to newspapers? The volume of newspapers discarded daily vastly exceeds unwanted mail.

In the future I would like to see better informed, less biased articles in my local paper. A tax on "junk mail" would increase other postal rates the public uses and would hurt many of the printers, mailers and others in the industry.

One of the few growth industries in the U.S. has been the judicial system, which serves as an employment agency for lawyers. Just today, over 80 cases were scheduled in one Oakland courtroom all at 8:30 a.m. to maximize legal fees. A litigant can count on getting all the justice he can afford! People like Stanford Stoddard, Jay Kogan, Judy Augenstein and former Reagan administration aide Lyn Nofzinger all succeeded in having their convictions overturned by incurring legal fees of up to $1.5 million. It all goes to prove that justice isn't blind but that it generally sees only dollar signs!

No-fault divorce like no-fault anything is a legal obscenity surpassed only by Supreme Court-authorized flag burning! Under no-fault divorce one party without charges or evidence can force the other partner into court, necessitating open-ended legal expense and tying up assets all for the sole purpose of trying to effect a generous financial settlement. Erma Bombeck recently wrote that "People talk about the moral breakdown and the lack of ethics in America as if they don't know what to do about them. I know what to do: Bring back guilt!"

Judge Norbert A. Nadel in Cincinnati, who handled the Pete Rose case, received $1,600 in campaign contributions from the two law firms representing Rose. In fact, during his election campaigns in 1982 and 1984, Judge Nadel received 690 contributions totaling almost $63,500. No conflict of interests here!

An Associated Press review of 935' judicial financial disclosure forms shows that most federal judges have six-figure investment portfolios and many jurists make more money off the bench than onl Nonetheless, many judges are dissatisfied. Judge Howard Turrentine of San Diego is a millionaire who complained that he is paid less than 30 or 32 former law clerks! Is the bottom line of our judicial system justice or profit?

Yogurt business is newest retail trend

I usually call my friend who lives in California to track them. For whatever reason, they seem to start there and eventually wend their way to Detroit and its suburbs.

So generally, I was lying in wait for the cookie nooks, the video stores, the muffin shops, the oatbran muffins in muffin shops, the oatbran in everything including cookies, the soft yogurt parlors. Somewhere in there, car telephones and facsimile machines came along.

in the heat of the soft yogurt rage right now.

rate video stores once did - that's of course before the biggies came in and knocked the smaller ones off the block.

But, almost.

Road near Inkster on the West Bloomfield/Bloomfield Township border, a soft yogurt parlor has just replaced the defunct video store.

AND LAST SUMMER, it was a lineup on every torrid night (and there were a lot of them - remember?) at the TCBY on Orchard Lake north of Maple in ever-trendy West Bloomfield.

Now, there's seldom even a wait because of the invasion.

Soft vogurt is in — everywhere. Besides the shop in every mall, soft yogurt machines recently were added to your regular ice cream store, to the concession stand at your swim or country club, even to your neighborhood supermarket.

Judith Doner Berne

Now, you can move down the aisle In case you hadn't noticed, we're spooning or licking the soft creamy stuff while you shop — by paying for it ahead at the deli counter when It may not be spreading at the you're buying your luncheon meats and cheeses.

And for many of those trends you put in your mouth you can now "fax" out for - and have them waiting -Case in point, on Walnut Lake unless, of course, you'd rather phone ahead from your car!

What you put in your mouth is not the only obvious out-on-the-street trend. Sure, there are still joggers. But they have been joined, perhaps outnumbered, by the race walkers, the bikers (helmets on — a healthy trend toward safety), and most recently, the roller bladers.

In fact, the height of trendiness was one of my neighbors spooning it up in a soft yogurt shop outfooted in the newest aerobic trend - roller blades - on which he had skated

For those who choose the inside in which to exercise, aerobics are a trend in themselves. First it was aerobics, then low-impact aerobics, now it's high-low aerobics. Costumewise, you used to see the legwarmers that dancers wear. Well, no more. It's shorts-length or knee-length tights topped by a muscle shirt and let those calves just hang right out. I guess they don't need to be kept warm after all.

SO WHAT'S NEXT?

Well, some months ago, I called my California friend for what was Fast food sushi bars, she said. So I sat back and waited.

Luckily I didn't invest 'cause I'm still waiting.

Bloomfield Hills-based trendologist Alan Teitel's predictions for fall - for what is "new and now" - include: squatty heels, tea dancing, costume watches ("Say goodbye to your Rolex and Piaget") and winter

My predictions for fall would be in a different mode: recycling - including those soft yogurt containers; running - for mayor of Detroit; rahrahing — for a third consecutive Big 10 championship and Rose Bowl victory for a team from the state of Michigan.

And a raw fish bar at that Walnut Lake/Inkster storefront.

Judith Doner Berne is assistant managing editor for the Oakland County editions of the Observer & Eccentric newspapers.

Doc

Dovle

THE FIRST post-A debate has occurred in Lansing, and it came out a Proposal A, if your memory goes back to 1988, did away with Medicaid-paid abortions. Government had been paying for about 18,500 a year at a cost of $6 million, but voters said "No more."

Most of that debate had to do with "a woman's right" versus "a baby's right," and little of it had to do with what happens to our state budget if Proposal A passes.

Until two weeks ago.

A CONFERENCE committee that included Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, was trying to achieve compromise on the House and Senate versions of the Department of Social Services budget.

The Blanchard administration reasoned that with fewer abortions, more babies would be born on welfare, and Michigan would need $10 million more to support them. Later DSS chief Patrick Babcock came up with a figure of $8.6 million.

The House of Representatives guessed it could cost $7 million.

The Senate, through Geake, said zero. It won't take any more money to put additional babies on welfare because the welfare birth rate won't increase.

They finally compromised on $3.5 million. Actually, however, the issue won't be decided by Blanchard, Babcock, Geake or anyone else in government. It will be decided by the number of women who get pregnant when neither they nor the fathers

Tim Richard

BOTH SIDES - "pro life" and "pro choice" - agree that women on welfare will continue to have abortions, even without government money.

They agreed the abortion rate will drop 20 to 25 percent. The money will come from somewhere because rarely are folks on welfare totally without cash. And without government subsidies, doctors will reduce the prices of abortions.

Pro-choice people assume more babies will be born. I've never read why they make that assumption.

Geake, who is in the pro-life camp, cited Georgia. He could also have cited Ohio.

The numbers, interestingly, come from the Guttmacher Institute, financed by Planned Parenthood, one of the leading pro-choice groups.

After the federal government in 1977 decided it wouldn't pay for abortions, Ohio and Georgia withheld state aid for abortions.

In 1978 Ohio found that the number of induced abortions among welfare-eligible women dropped to 2,600 (rounded off) from 4,000 the year before. But were there 1,400 more births? No, the number of live births fell from 6,200 to 5,900.

In 1978 Georgia showed 1,200 abortions compared to 1,500 the prior year. Were there 300 more births? No, the number of births dropped by .

29 to 6,829. Why? Well, the guess is that eliminating government-paid abortions not only reduces the number of abortions but also the number of conceptions. In other words, couples get more careful about conceiving.

PRO-CHOICE people see the DSS debate as irrelevant because they're concerned with an individual woman's right to choose, whatever the statistical results. Pro-life people are concerned with the soul of a fetus and don't care if it costs $20 million more in state support of welfare babies.

You'll notice I take no sides in their debate. My field is the effect of government money on human behavior, not legalistic and theological ruminations.

The issue, as I said, will not be decided in the appropriations committee room in the State Capitol basement. This isn't like road building, where you spend the available money and then the road stops. It isn't like school budgeting, where you hire teachers until the money runs out.

The issue will be decided in bedrooms. But my notion is that Michigan humans are similar to Ohio and Georgia humans, and that couples will tend to be more careful now that there are no more freebies at the abortion clinic.

In a couple of years, we'll know for sure.

Q: My son is going into his senior year. I am concerned because he hasn't taken any time to seriously study which college to attend after he graduates next year. I am worstarting in another month. We have talked about it but not really investigated college selection. We will talk to his counselors about this issue. However, he does have a 3.5 grade point average so I guess he will be able to attend any school he wants. This is the first child we have going to college and I think it is time my husband, my son and I sat down and made some decisions.

Why students wait till the senior year is mind-boggling but not untypical of many.

On the other hand, some students' decisions are literally made for them. Consciously or unconsciously, these will be going to the parent's alma mater, their brother or girlried because his senior year will be friend's institution, where their buddy will be attending or the site of the great football team; it is hoped to an institution that offers a curriculum in line with their goals.

> available for your son's education? Costs range from approximately $1,600 at a community college to $12,000 at a private liberal arts college to $17,000 at an out-of-state quality institution.

If money is tight, as you indicated in your letter, you should consider a community college and save on

PLEASE SIT down now and disroom and board. Your son will receive as fine a first two years of education (if he selects the right teachers) as he would at any of the institutions in the state of Michigan.

How much money do you have Indeed, many large major institutions use graduate assistants to teach the first two years - the tried and true professors teaching upper grades or graduate school.

> IN MY opinion, the size of the school is a critical issue. Some students literally get emotionally lost in a major university where 20,000 to 30,000 students are running around.

On the other hand, some students can't stomach the small liberal arts schools of 1,000 students and tend to feel the students are pumped out of the same mold with little diversification in thought or ideas.

The idea that a 3.5 grade point average will get your child into every school is a misconception. Some major universities and colleges in the state could fill an enrollment with 3.6 or 3.7 if that were the only criteria used for college entrance. Institutions tend to look for a solid academic background, but also for a well-rounded person who will contribute in many ways.

Since your son is not sure of his chosen profession but does know he prefers business courses, determine, with the assistance of his counselor, which schools offer quality business/ accounting programs.

Remember, however, that 50 percent of all college students change their curriculum by the end of their sophomore year. This is why colleges put students in a general liberal arts type curriculum the first two even qualify for. years and then focus on the student's major area the last two years.

NEXT, YOU must make some college visits. After you have narrowed your choice to a few specific schools, call the admissions office and set up a tour to visit each campus.

Do this now — this August — don't wait until school starts. Your son will be up to his ears in classes, activities, taking the SAT or ACT, etc. Talk to some campus teachers, review their curriculum, visit the student union, find out their job placement record for business majors.

Next file two or three applications to different institutions if your son is not positive of his choice. However, don't fill out 15 applications. You

Castle kings

Good parks, great fun

Here's an answer to your kids' 'summertime blues'

Parks seem to bring out the kid in all of us.

Visiting a park or playground is an enjoyable way to spend part or all of a day. What follows is a summary of popular playgrounds and parks close to home. Perhaps you'd like to take some time to explore the metropolitan area's all-time favorite playgrounds.

Westland:

Thursday, August 3, 1989 O&E

The city of Westland has 17 city parks and the always-popular Hines Park, which winds through the northern portion of the community. The hidden jewel when it comes to entertaining youngsters, however, is Tattan Park, on Carlson just south of Ford Road.

IT'S LITERALLY a kids' park, with a merry-goround, rocking horses and Tot Town, a seven-house play area. Developed in the late 1970s, the park has a rustic appearance with split-rail fencing to set it off from its 110-acre neighbor, Central City Park. It also has a pavilion that is used for many of the city's parks and recreation department summer programs.

It's a short walk over a wooden bridge to Central City Park. That park offers tennis courts, a baseball diamond, a physical fitness trail with exercise stations, and a small lake where "small fry" have been known to catch one or two fish.

The lake also attracts wild ducks and Canada geese, neither of which oppose free handouts from park visi-

If it's hot outside, a session of open swimming at the Bailey Recreation Center's outdoor pool can provide a cool-off to end the excursion.

For information, call 722-7620.

Garden City:

Garden City has nine parks, in addition to the county's meandering Hines Park. City Park, on the northeast corner of Merriman and Cherry Hill, is the best bet for spending a day communing with nature or just

Youngsters can enjoy playing on the playground, stocked with swings, a jungle gym, slide and merry-go-round. Kids can then cool off over lunch in the pichic grove or at the pavilion. The picnic area comes complete with grills, a good invitation to an afternoon or

There are also always-important restrooms, ball diamonds and horseshoe pits, not to mention swimming and wading pools. The pools have open swimming 1-3:45 p.m. and 5:30-8:15 p.m.

For information, call 525-8846.

Livonia:

Livonia has 57 developed and undeveloped park sites within its boundaries, not to mention a portion of Hines Park that includes Newburg Lake. It's one of its earliest developed parks that brings in children.

At one time, it was called Veterans Park, but in the early 1980s was renamed John Stymelski Park in honor of a gentleman who had contributed many years of work to the city's Memorial Day parade.

The park, on Stark between Schoolcraft and Hubbard, is full of the things that keep kids playing.

For the younger set, there are the standard swings and slides, plus such play toys as the climbing rails and

While it doesn't have permanent restrooms, parents will be glad to know that there are portable tollets at the park. More permanent facilities are across the street at Ford Field, site of baseball diamonds and the Eddie Edgar Ice Arena. For information, call 261-2260.

Redford Township:

Redford Township has three major parks, numerous small recreation areas set up for ballplaying and two Wayne County parks — Lola Valley and Bell Creek.

The standout when it comes to entertaining young-sters is Capitol Park, a "hidden" park site in terms of finding it. Capitol Park is at Capitol and Hemingway, between I-96 and Plymouth Road. To get there, it's best to take Beech Daly south to Capitol, head west on Capitol and keep driving to the park.

The sprawling park offers one of the best baseball diamonds in the area, according to township parks and recreation staffers. It offers six tennis courts for budding Chris Everts, a concession stand and a children's play area for the swings-and-slides set.
Restrooms are available and plans are to add a pavilion for picnicking in the near future. For information, call 937-2727.

Farmington/ Farmington Hills:

You don't have to be a kid to play in the parks in Farmington/Farmington Hills.

Farmington City Park, Shiawassee at Power, is made up of 18 acres along the Upper Middle Rouge River. In addition to baseball diamonds, the park offers two play areas with swings and slides and a 860- dren go sledding in the park. square-foot covered picnic shelter.

of the Eleanor Spicer estate, on west Farmington Road between 10 and 11 Mile roads, Farmington Hills.

Spicer's arts-and-crafts-style house was built in the 1920s and has been designated a historic residence. Designed by architect Marcus Burrowes, it will reopen as a visitors' center in late fall.

Scattered across the 211-acre estate are play and picnic areas as well as 3.3 miles of nature trails.

Nature classes are conducted from 10 a.m. to noon the third Saturday of each month throughout the year. Classes are open to everyone of at least elementary school age. As with all of the park's organized activities, there is a fee. For details, call the Farmington Hills Parks and Recreation Department at 473-9570.

From mid-September through October, hayrides will be offered through the trails at Heritage Park.

Canton Township:

Kids of all ages can find plenty of places to play in the Plymouth-Canton area. Parks large, small and inbetween dot the area, giving fun-seekers plenty of places to go. The ever-popular Maybury State Park is also nearby, west of Northville on Eight Mile.

Griffin Park can be reached from Canton Center Road or Sheldon in Canton. The park is north of Cherry Griffin Park has playground areas, a picnic pavilion,

Plymouth/ Plymouth Township:

Plymouth Township Park is on Ann Arbor Trail at McClumpha in Plymouth Township.

The park includes pienic pavilions, a playground area and baseball diamonds. In the winter, many chilmonths working on the sculpture, which is near the park's playground area.

Downtown Plymouth is home to Kellogg Park, at Ann Arbor Trail and Main. The park is the site of many community activities, including the Plymouth Fall Festival and summertime concerts presented by the Plymouth Community Band and the Plymouth Community Arts Council. The city of Plymouth also has a number of smaller neighborhood parks. Those parks have playground equipment designed to please the younger set.

Birmingham/ Bloomfield:

The Birmingham-Bloomfields can't compete with the likes of Southfield and Oak Park when it comes to playgrounds your kids won't be able to get enough of. But they do hold their share of scenic parks with picnic areas, some with enough play equipment to keep the little ones occupied for an hour or two.

Beverly Hills Village Park on Beverly between Evergreen and Southfield boasts the largest array of play equipment. With a large pavilion adjacent to the play area, it could make a pleasant family plenic site.

The playground has swings (for infants as well as the older children), a large sandbox, monkey bars, jungle gyms, slides, a merry-go-round and two climbing wooden play structures that hold slides, tunnels and many other features to keep children exploring.

Beverly Hills Park also boasts a sand-covered volleyball court, tennis courts and baseball diamonds.

The West Bloomfield Community Sports Park, on Keith north of Commerce, has a small, sand-based children's play area with a wooden play structure that holds tunnels, a chain ladder and a winding slide. The park also has several ball diamonds, a concession stand Bloomfield knolls, on Henbert north of Greer, and Sylvan Manor Park on Woodrow Wilson south of Orchard Lake, both in West Bloomfield, offer pleasant neighborhood getaways with play equipment geared toward preschool- aged children.

In Birmingham, Shain Park offers a play area for children as well as the atmosphere of the city's downtown. Located just south of Maple between Bates and Henrietta, the park offers swings, slides, monkey bars and large jungle gyms for climbing.

Pembroke Park on North Eton between Buckingham and Windemere has a large open play area as well as playground equipment, including swings (for infants as well as older children), various sizes of sliding boards, monkey bars, a large sand box, tunnels and a wooden play structure.

If your children might enjoy feeding the ducks, Birmingham's Quarton Lake Park, located just north of Maple between Lakeside and Lake Park, is a good bet as well as a nice place for a picnic.

Southfield:

The star of great playgrounds in Southfield is Inglenook Park, a relatively new facility on 12 Mile between Lahser and Evergreen.

Busy, happy children often play with the all-wooden structured play equipment, according to Dave Boyer of the Southfield Parks and Recreation Department.

Southfield's also the home of Beechwoods Center, which has wood play structures and excellent climbing areas for kids. Lahser Woods Parks has a nature center that's popular with visitors. John Grace Community Center is a new playground facility that's also a popular place to visit.

Troy:

Troy has 14 neighborhood parks. Boulan Park, Jaycee Park and Raintree Park are three of the most pop-

All three have open air picnic shelters, which may be reserved for $20. Reservations must be made in person at the Parks and Recreation office in the Troy Community Center, 520 W. Big Beaver.

Rochester Hills:

The city of Rochester Hills has five parks, in addition to the Paint Creek Trail and land surrounding and including the Van Hoosen Museum. Thelma G. Spencer Park, with its variety of activities and offerings, is one of the most popular.

Spencer Park offers a swimming beach on a springfed 40-acre lake. It's open through mid-September. The beach is supervised by lifeguards.

Row boats and pedal boats are available for rent, and fishing is available from shore or in a row boat. There is a volleyball court, two tennis courts, a soccer field and a baseball field. There are two miles of wood-

The park is at 3701 John R, between Auburn and M-59. For information, call 656-4657.

Rochester:

The city of Rochester has four parks. Two of the most popular are the Municipal Park next to the city complex, and Dinosaur Hill, a nature preserve. The 36-acre Rochester Municipal Park features a pond, four lighted tennis courts, a skating shelter facility used as a day camp in summer, a Kiwanis shelter, two tot lots and picnic tables.

There is a paved blacktop pedestrian path, about one mile long. Crittenton Hospital uses the park for its healthbeat program, and a warm-up station and mile markers are found along the path.

The shelter is available for reservation for $10 ($20 in order to use the electrical outlet inside the serving There are two restroom facilities. The park is adja-

Memberships are available. Dinosaur Hill is at North Hill Circle and Axford Place.

KIND: Giving direction to children in need of it

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Once the fluorescent light illuminates the room, a few people slowly begin to walk in.

A mother totes three young girls. Later, a teenage boy comes in and sits down in one of plastic backed chairs.

Charlotte Congdon is facilitating the program and surveys the room. This will be the Kids In Need of Direction (KIND) for the night in Room No. 1 at the Oak Park Community Center. •

Despite the small size of the support group, they'll get a lot accom- son. plished. The woman with her three children is quité enthusiastic, attending only her second meeting.

Things such as violence, drugs and alcohol are discussed along with things as skipping school. The KIND program is different than others in that the whole family is encouraged to attend.

"If one child is having a problem," Congdon said, "it affects the whole family. We believe if there are changes involved, everyone has to give a little."

"Parents have to learn to listen to their kids and listen to what they have to say."

For that reason, many kids attend the meetings by themselves.

"It's a very safe environment," Devone said. "We're not there to reprimand the kids . . . We're there to build their self-esteem so they

BUT, IN turn, the children who attend the meetings paint a realistic picture for parents. Many can tell moms and dads what it's really like on the streets, the peer pressure involving drugs and alcohol abuse.

Those things don't always ring home to parents, especially if they don't believe their child is involved.

"(Parents) are learning a lot about their children from other children," Devone said. "They're finding out they are not alone. Their child is not the only one having trouble. As a result, they can deal with their own children differently."

On the course of helping, parents often uncover problems more indepth than simply Johnny got thrown out of gym class.

Devone said some parents, themselves, are "carrying baggage from when they were children." They might have been abused or had trouble with peer pressure.

Through United Cable, KIND produces a TV show "Kids In Need of Direction: Making a Difference" that deals with things such as peerpressure, racism, teen violence and drug abuse. The meetings in Detroit are attracting a large contingent with problems. Yet Devone said most of the problems cross the city limits.

"Every single family in Detroit is affected by drugs and violence," she said. "The violence might be the only -. different thing. The drugs are just as bad in the suburbs, the abuse is just

Dr. M. Joseph George, director of American Family Care in Livonia, oversees an Electrolipography, which analyzes a person's body composition and can spell out health risks that may exist from being overweight.

In search of... body fat

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

From the dunk tank to the computer bank, body fat still can't hide.

A new way has been developed to measure how much fat a person has compared to lean body mass and muscle. The process, Electrolipography, involves a diagnostic analyzer, a computerized printer and an electrolipograph.

In the time it takes to brush one's teeth, the process is completed. A printed analysis of a person's body composition can spell out health risks that may exist from being overweight.

And the process is certainly more convenient than the previous method of measuring body fat, which involved patients being submerged under water and asked to expel all the air from their lungs.

"PEOPLE ARE losing weight because they are more concerned about obesity," said Dr. M. Joseph George, director of American Family Care in Livonia. "But losing weight might not be the only factor.

"When you look at someone who is 50 pounds overweight, he might not have to lose 50 pounds. He might be a person with a heavy frame."

When people go on diets, they could be losing valuable muscle. Crash diets can be especially detrimental to the body structure, if not medically supervised.

The results of the test provide such data as percentage of lean body mass, body water analysis and basal metabolic along with percentage of body fat. Also, a gradual weight loss program is included along with diet and exercise tips.

THE TEST itself is simple. A person lies down while two electrical leads are placed on the wrist and the foot. There is no pain or sensation of any kind.

Once the person's impedance (the total opposition offered by an electric circuit to the flow of an alternating current of single frequency) is measured, the number is entered into a computer along with the person's age, height, weight and sex.

Within minutes, a computer spews out a four-page report. George said the data can be an effective tool for triggering permanent behavioral changes for improved health.

"Most people are surprised when they see their body weight content," George said. "They say, 'Geez, I'm carry all this weight around that is not doing anything for me."

APPROXIMATELY 34 MILLION people in the United States are said to weigh 20 percent more than their ideal body weight. Obesity has been associated with such lethal diseases can Family Care Center at 462as diabetes mellitus, cancer, strokes and cardiovascular disease, according to studies done by the National Institute of Maryland, National Institute of Health and the U.S. Surgeon General.

The idea of the test is to encourage slow weight loss, focusing primarily on losing body fat. Quick weight loss in some cases has actually increased overall body fat, according to a newsletter issued by Bio-Analogies Inc., which produces the system.

The printout recommends a combination of exercise and a balanced diet as the most effective way to lose body fat.

THE ELECTROLIPOGRAPHY system was developed y a physiologist at the University of Southern California at Berkeley. Dr. Albert Libke, president of Bioanlaogics Inc., appeared on the "Phil Donahue Show" to discuss the electrolipography system of measuring body composition.

American Family Care Center made the test available at a recent Health-o-rama exhibit. The response was overwhelming, George said.

The test costs $25 and is available at American Family Care Center in Livonia. An appointment is needed. George said an average of seven tests are conducted every week.

"The bottom line is that you have to lose fat by burning it up as energy," George said.

The Michigan Community Coordinated Child Care (4C) Association is an organization dedicated to promoting quality child-care and family services throughout the state.

Through a network of 13 local offices statewide, the 4Cs provide a wide range of services, such as resource and referral, information and material, parenting education and financial assistance for low-income families needing child care.

The Oakland County 4C Council is a non-profit corporation funded by the Michigan Department of Social Services and the Oakland County board of Commissioners.

They are also funded by a grant from Mervyn's to train and recruit family day-care providers.

ACCORDING TO Paulette Chaplin, director of the Oakland County 4C, one of the organization's most frequently used services is their child-care resource and referral service.

Through this service, parents can call the 4C office (858-5140) for assistance in their search for licensed child care, be it a family or group home or a day-care center.

Church grows in faith, size

By Julie Brown staff writer

Things are moving right along at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

A major expansion project is under way at the church, on North Territorial west of Sheldon in Plymouth Township. Construction work started last November.

"It's proceeding quite well," said the Rev. John Grenfell Jr., the pastor. He and others at the church hope to be moved into the new administrative office wing at the end of the first full week of August.

The project includes construction of a new sanctuary for the church. The old sanctuary is to be turned into a fellowship hall.

New administrative offices, a choir room and library are to be included, with a new parlor and kitchen. The building will be barrier-free.

The present office space, parlor and kitchen areas will be used for classroom space. The general contractor for the project is T.H. Marsh Co. of Livonia. Project cost is approximately $3.2 million.

PLANS FOR the expansion started some five years ago. A future Christmas this year, but that's not a planning tesk force looked at the certainty.

need for expansion. That was followed by a three-year pledge program designed to raise money to finance the project.

The First United Methodist Church of Plymouth has just over 1,400 members. The church has been in Plymouth more than 160 years; members have worshiped at the church on North Territorial since

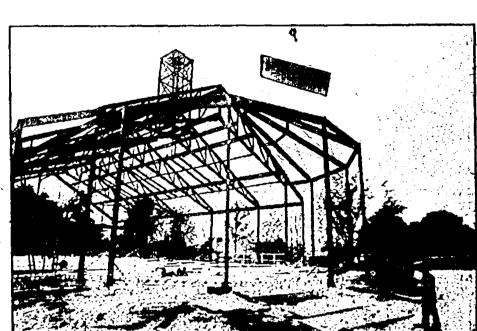

Grenfell and other church leaders anticipate the work being done some time next spring. There's some talk of being in the new sanctuary by

"You know how building programs go," Grenfell said.

Dealing with the construction has required a certain amount of patience and flexibility on the part of the staff and church members.

"We're in the throes of all of that," he said. Even so, it's rewarding for the worshipers to see the work continue day after day. A dedication service is planned when the project's completed.

"Certainly, there's an excitement about it," the pastor said. "I think when we're all through, we'll have a building that'll be very attractive to the community."

The construction work is continuing at the church. "It's proceeding quite well," said the Rev. John Grenfell Jr., pastor at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Unfortunately, due to the claims of a few overzealous enthusiasts, heart patients who embark on physical conditioning programs often do so with unrealistic expectations, Consequently, there is a need to clarify the benefits and limitations of exercise therapy for patients who have had heart attacks, bypass surgery, or balloon angioplasty.

Doctors now realize that regular aerobic exercise offers numerous benefits to the cardiac patient. It decreases the heart rate at rest and at any given level of exercise. As a result, anginal symptoms (chest pain) may be reduced.

Research has also shown that ex-

A recent analysis also revealed that exercise by itself - independent of weight loss and other factors - can significantly reduce resting blood pressure in moderately hypertensive persons. Average reductions were about 10 millimeters of mercury for both systolic and diastolic blood pressure.

Additional benefits of regular endurance exercise include decreases in body weight, fat stores, and stress levels. Cardiac exercisers also report increases in self-confidence, particularly in relation to physical tasks, an improved sense of wellbeing, decreased depression and anxiety, and more pep and zest for life.

Furthermore, a physical conditioning program will not necessarily prevent heart disease from worsening.

In summary, regular exercise should be part of a comprehensive cardiac rehabilitation program for heart patients, which also includes vigorous efforts at smoking cessation, blood pressure control, and dietary modification. # August features lunar eclipse

The last half of August features two eclipses - only one of which is visible to us.

Full moon is at 11:07 p.m. on Aug. 16. The moon is opposite the sun, as seen from the earth, and is fully lighted. In fact, the moon is exactly opposite the two, and it will be totally eclipsed as it passes through the earth's shadow. This is a lunar eclipse, an eclipse (covering) of the moon.

The earth always casts a shadow. It always points away from the sun and out into space. When the moon is opposite the sun, as the moon is during its full phase, it usually passes above or below our shadow and remains lighted. But should things line up precisely, the moon will pass through the shadow, and the light of the sun, streaming past the earth is

Many eclipses are partial; the alignment is close, but not exact. The moon will pass through a part of the shadow and only a portion of the moon will darken. This month, however, the alignment happens to be quite precise. This wil produce a to- show is over at 12:56 a.m. The next tal eclipse: the moon will be totally total eclipse won't be visible from covered and should darken considerably. The last total eclipse visible from our area was in 1982.

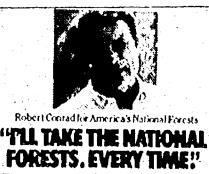

THE ECLIPSE officially begins at 8:24 p.m. when the moon enters the penumbra (pen UM bra), the faint outer shadow of the earth. Because this part of the shadow is very faint, no change in the moon will be noticed to the casual observer.

At 9:20 p.m. the moon begins to enter the umbra, the darker part of the shadow. During the next hour the moon will darken from left to right until it is completely in the shadow.

Totality will begin at 10:20 p.m. The moon will be totally within our shadow for the next one hour and 36 minutes. The darkest "phase" of the eclipse will be at 11:08 p.m., when the moon is near the center point of the eclipse. The top part of the moon is nearest the central part of the shadow and should appear slightly darker than the rest of the moon.

During totality, the moon probably will not disappear from view, as the sun does during a total solar eclipse. Enough sunlight streaming past the earth will be refracted (bent) by our atmosphere and will illuminate the moon, but with an eerie red glow. (Sunrises and sunsets are red because our atmosphere refracts the sunlight's spectrum. This same

It is not possible to predict how "dark," or how red, the moon will be. Each lunar eclipse appears differently. The more dust and pollutanis we have in our atmosphere, the redder the moon. In December 1963. volcanic eruptions on the earth caused more light than usual to be blocked by our atmosphere, and the moon disappeared from view during totality!

TOTAL PHASE ends at 11:56 p.m. as the orbit of the moon begins to carry it out of our shadow. The moon will be partially eclipsed again, getting light from left to right, from 11:56 p.m. until 12:56 a.m.

The moon will still be eclipsed by the fainter penumbra until 1:52 a.m., but for all intents and purposes the our area until December 1992.

An eclipse of the moon is totally safe to observe. Best views of the eclipse will be through binoculars or with a telescope at low power, although there will be plenty to enjoy if you just go out and watch with the naked eye.

One week after the total eclipse of Jupiter.

the full moon, the moon is at Last Quarter phase (officially at 2:40 p.m. on August 23). Look high in the southeast, about 45 minutes before sunrise on the 23rd, and locate the moon in Taurus. Below and to the left of.-the moon is the beautiful Pleiades (PLEE a dees) star cluster. This is the "shoulder" of Taurus. The bull's "eye," the orange-red star Aldebaran (al DEB a ran), is located below the Pleiades. On the morning of the 24th, the moon forms a triangle with the Pleiades and Aldebaran. The Voyager 2 spacecraft will have its closest encounter with the outermost planet of the solar system, Neptune, on Aug. 24 and 25. (Because of the high eccentricity (oval shape) of Pluto's orbit, Pluto is actually closer to the sun than Neptune and will remain so until 1999.) While this event is certainly not visible to us, it is interesting to make note of mankind's involvement with an object that is more than 3 billion miles away.

Launched in 1977, two Voyager spacecraft were sent on a mission to examine the planets Jupiter and Saturn. After these encounters the spacecraft would both cruise the empty blackness of space for all eternity. A meeting with Pluto is not possible.

LOOK FOR the moon, high in the east before sunrise, on Aug. 26. The bright star to the right of the moon is

The moon is near the "heads" of the Gemini twins on the 27th. The star to the left of the moon is Pollux and above Pollux is Castor. On the 28th the moon is located below Castor and Pollux.

Mercury is at maximum elongation (greatest apparent distance) from the sun on August 29. It will be 27 degrees east (left) of the sun in the evening sky, but it is close to the horizon and very difficult to see.

The second New Moon of the month is at 1:44 a.m. on Aug. 31. But, unlike the new moon of Aug. 1, this time the moon is located nearly exactly between the earth and the sun and there will be a partial solar eclipse. The bad news is: this eclipse is not visible from our area. It occurs at midnight, at which time the sun is not in the Michigan sky. To see this eclipse, you need to be in southern Africa, Madagascar or the Indian Ocean.

Students need homes

Exchange students Nikodemus Asplund and Maria Berron are eager to become the newest young ambassadors from Sweeden and Spain when they arrive in the Detroit area next month to attend high school for a year.

The two students were selected for an academic year abroad by Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit student exchange program based in Cambridge, Mass. Local EF Foundation International Exchange coordinator Bob Gurney has been working to find homes for Nikodemus and Maria.

"In addition to being a good representative of Sweden, Nikodemus is eager to learn about American customs and become fluent in English during his exchange year.

Seventeen-year-old exchange student Maria Berron said she is also going to take advantage of this opportunity, and study and learn as much as possible while living with an area family.

Southfield law firm fights software battle

By Philip A. Sherman staff writer

At what point does an idea take on qualities so explicit and exacting that it becomes like no other and can be copyrighted?

A Southfield lawyer is about to take that question, long fought in the music industry over song lyrics and sound-alike refrains, and in literary disputes over plagiarized passages, to trial.

This time, though, the battle for what now is called "intellectual property" will be fought over similarities between products developed by two competing computer software firms.

Ashton-Tate of Torrance, Calif., is suing Fox Software, of Perrysburg, Ohio, for copyright infringement of its dBase program. dBase is a database that allows users to enter almost any type of information into the program and then store, sort and recall it in a variety of ways. Foxbase does the same thing in much the same

STANLEY WITKOW, general counsel for Ashton-Tate, says Fox Software pretty much lifted dBase, renamed it Foxbase and is now marketing the program as its own. Ernie Brooks, a principal with Brooks & Kushman, the Southfield law firm representing Fox, says Fox didn't copy the program — it merely used the same computer language to create Foxbase that Ashton-Tate used to create dBase.

Two key points will be at issue in the trial if the case gets that far (each side thinks the other doesn't have a case and would be better off settling out of court).

Brooks says one can't copyright a computer language any more than one could copyright Spanish, and therefore Ashton-Tate's suit is dead from the start. Witkow and Ashton-Tate don't quibble with the fact that a language shouldn't be copyrighted, but they say Foxbase has even adopted the "look and feel" of dBase, that the similarities are far greater than the differences, and hence the lawsuit.

"THEY CREATED a product that uses the same commands; it implements the dBase programming language that we created," Witkow said. "It emulates the look and feel of our product, the screen emulation and the order of command structure."

Brooks says the look and feel of the two products are not all that similar but adds they do operate in a similar fashion. "That was an objective - it was a design criteria." Brooks said. Tom Lewry, who is working on the case with Brooks, agreed. "Somebody who knows how to use dBase can sit down and use Foxbase." Lewry said, adding that was done on purpose so users with dBase files could use them on Foxbase.

Brooks is basing much of his case on the history of the development of dBase. According to Brooks:

o U.S. Government employees at Jet Propulsion Laboratories in California developed a computer data base program called JPLDIS in the mid '70s.

• Wayne Ratliff created Vulcon software in 1978 and based it on JPLDIS. Ashton-Tate took a license from Ratliff in 1980 and began marketing Vulcan under the name dBase II.

o Ashton-Tate bought the rights to dBase from Ratliff in 1983.

Brooks practices patent and technical law cases in general because, besides his law degree, he has undergraduate and graduate degrees in engineering. He's handling this case in particular because a client in Toledo,

The battle for what now is called 'intellectual property' will be fought over similarities between products developed by two competing computer software firms.

who knows a member of the Fox corporate board, recommended him.

AROUND THIS time, Brooks says David Fulton and Richard LaValley entered the picture. Fulton is the founder and former chairman of the computer sciences department at Bowling Green State University; LaValley is an attorney and certified public accountant.

Before he founded Fox Software with LaValley, Fulton also founded and managed DACOR Inc., which designed and implemented systems software for corporations and wrote several business-oriented computer languages, according to Brooks.

"They were writing applications, used dBase, found it had bugs and recreated the program as Foxbase, as a perfected version," Brooks said.

That's where the differences between the two programs are apparent, Brooks says. Fulton used the same language to create Foxbase but added several enhancements he thought users would find useful, in addition to being compatible with dBase, Brooks said. For example, Brooks and Lewry said Foxbase runs much faster than the newest Ashton-Tate release, dBase IV.

ASHTON-TATE, IN prepared material, says Fulton went beyond that point and built into Foxbase the same look, feel and operating sequences as dBase.

By way of example, Ashton-Tate has distributed printouts of computer screens, one with a dBase command sequence, the other printout allegedly showing the same command sequence in Foxbase. The printouts appear Brooks says Fulton sent a copy of Foxbase to Ashton-Tate prior to 1984 and asked if they wanted to buy it. "They weren't hiding it," Brooks said. "In 1984, Fox marketed it as Foxbase II. The only complaint from Ashton-Tate was 'don't use the Roman numeral II.'

"In 1986, Tate started to work to buy Foxbase because it (Foxbase) reached a level of development they didn't have. Negotiations fell apart in '87, but there still was no claim of rights infringement," Brooks added. The lawsuit was filed by Ashton-Tate in November

"THEY KNEW about it (Foxbase) in '84 and '87 and didn't do a god-damn thing," he added. Brooks contends Ashton-Tate filed the lawsuit because its newest product, dBase IV, isn't selling well among computer users and that they want to slow down sales of Foxbase, which Lewry says are doing very well.

The case presently is in discovery. Witkow said he didn't know when it would go to trial. "It depends on whether Fox is willing to settle," he said.

Brooks also isn't sure when it will go to trial but hasn't written off a settlement - from Fox's vantage point. "There doesn't seem to be any gracious way out for Ashton-Tate," he said.

Friedman expands beauty business in strip mall

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Tamara Friedman, Soviet emigre turned American entrepreneur, envisions a beauty institute aimed at good health, not pampered indulgence, a comprehensive center amid plush decor.

"Instead of 'let's go shopping' or 'let's go to lunch,' I want people to say 'let's go to Tamara's," Friedman, 41, of West Bloomfield, Tamara Friedman: "Women are used to caring for others. Being cared for is a change for most."

This week Tamara's Institute de Beaute moved from cramped quarters on Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills to an adjacent strip mall Friedman and partner Stan Finsilver are currently developing.

The Courtyard, designed by J. Wolf & Associates of Southfield, offers 18,000 square feet of retail space, 7,000 of which will house Friedman's expanded institute. Other merchants include a hair salon, a boutique and an art gallery. Two spaces have yet to be let.

Based on Friedman's concept, patrons may spend the entire day shaping up and shopping without ever leaving the building.

LOCATION has served Friedman well.

In 1981, with Michigan's economy in a severe recession, Friedman and husband Eugene, both of whom left the Ukraine with twin daughters in 1975, paid $135,000 for a "smelly" building on an acre of land in the then-relatively undeveloped area of Northwestern Highway just south of 14

Less than five years later, they paid $300,000 for an adjoining acre. Michigan's economy had substantially improved, and the location is now a major artery for traffic and shopping.

The idea of the strip mall emerged three years ago. After two years of frustration, the couple entered into a partnership with Finsilver, a West-Bloomfield developer and contractor, to build Courtyard, a $2 million project.

"It's pretty scary. We're talking about hundreds of thousands of dollars. But I always wanted my own building," Friedman sald.

Within the institute, 1,000 square feet of space is partitioned for a toning salon employing muscle pedicure and exercise, all aimed at purification stimulation by means of electrical current. A diet- and good grooming. ician and nutritionist will staff the salon that has yet to be named.

Other tenants include Linda Hayman Gallery of Southfield, which has leased 5,000 square feet fronting Northwestern, an area formerly occupied by Friendman's institute. A hair salon and a boutique will lease some 3,000 square feet, and another 2,800 square feet remain available.

"We could easily lease 100 percent but we are choosy about the tenants. We want businesses that complement each other," Friedman explained.

"Simple elegance is how interior designer Renee Garno describes the interior of Friedman's new quarters: corals and peaches draping pickled rosewood, marble and polished ceramic tile.

A posh lunch room allows for special offers like the Mother/Daughter Champagne Treat that, for $220, buys massage, makeup treatment and lunch for two, or Tamara's Day of Pampering for $170 that includes a light luncheon.

"WOMEN ARE USED to caring for others. Being cared for is a change for most," she sald, in describing her institute modeled after luxury European spas Friedman recently visited. The way I felt there is how I want people to feel at my spa, like a princess who is well cared for." Friedman is "hooked" on European-styled health and beauty treatment, a system she said is based on natural products that purify the body.

"The difference in treatment is unbelieveable. There, it is to cure. Here, it is to pamper." She wants her patrons to "feel" the difference.

Friedman's new center features Europeanstyled body detoxification and skin remineralizing, a new line of French lotions prepared from mineral and seaweed oils, a muscle toning program employing electrical stimulation and a hydro tub. There is also a small health food bar. Each patron receives a consultation. "Only when we know everything about them and they trust us" does treatment begin, including massage and facials, waxing, permanent makeup (tattooing) and scalp therapy, makeovers, manicure and

Friedman is preparing a pamphlet on how to apply health and beauty tips because "education, education, education is the key to my success."

Joining Friedman is her "newest partner," daughter Gabriel, 20, a graduate of West Bloomfield High School. Gabriel's twin, Edita, a student at Michigan State University, aspires to be a doctor, a goal that once was Friedman's.

staff photos by SHARON LeMIEUX

Friedman admits developing a strip mall is "pretty scary," but she says she's always wanted her own building.

Bartering instead of buying

By Mary DiPaolo special writer

Fred Detwiler traces his work in the business of partering to organizing a radio station party on a shoestring budget.

Detwiler was told the employees could have a party so long as he didn't spend any money.

"I was also told I could trade anything I wanted in order to get what I needed. We did a lot of one-on-one trades with other busineses, such as swapping commercial air time for restaurants and printing services when we needed them." Detwiler said.

It didn't take him long to find out that air time wasn't the only commodity he would be able to barter. "Once I got going, restaurants were asking me to get them alternative advertising services and vice versa. The idea to start a trade exchange took off from there."

As president of the Michigan Trade Exchange, Detwiler's operation, which began in 1978 and is based in Oak Park, now has several offices through the state

"We now exchange products and services for business. owners throughout the country and have just begun trading on an international basis,"

Acting primarily as marketing agent and clearinghouse, members of the exchange trade items such as concert tickets, condominium vacations, and college tultion. Participating companies are issued a membership card for a one-time fee to obtain products and services from any of the 10,000 card holders. Members are charged a $425 fee to join the exchange.

Account credits and debits are issued as members provide or receive goods and services through the exchange network. For tax purposes, transactions are treated in the same manner as cash deals.

"Unlike the one-on-one trade'situation, a member may get tires from someone one week and be providing his or her service to someone else the next." Detwiler said. He sees his organization as helping businesses move inventory, conserve cash and generate new busi-

BUT TRADING goods and services isn't always practical for all business owners.

"I can think of 100 items I'd like to obtain on trade, but I can't think of a single person who'd want what I have to offer," says Walter Sundquist, owner of Heeney-Sundquist Funeral Home in Farmington.

"There are lots of products and services out there that would never be considered as part of a trade situation. It's like anything else that people may 'need' but aren't necessarily willing to trade for."

Sundquist adds that trading may also pose a problem for firms that offer goods and services involving large cash outlays. "I have a business associate who manufactures customized conveyor systems for industrial applications. If someone out there needed one, it sure would take quite a bit to get back the equivalent value of products or services."

Customer satisfaction is another issue to consider before taking the step to barter.

Detroit, not Smyrna, is critical test for UAW

By Dan McCosh special writer

The UAW's resounding defeat in Smyrna, Tenn., which is where they make Nissan automobiles these days, touched off, a lot of handwringing about the fate of organized labor in general and the UAW in par-

. It' wasn't the first defeat for the UAW in its effort to expand its membership to include the so-called 'transplants," those auto production facilities owned and operated mainly by the Japanese on U.S. soil. The majority of Honda workers in Marysville Ohio, for example, turned down the UAW even after four members of the powerhouse crew founded what must have been the smallest UAW local in history. So far, the major inroads in organizing have been in plants co-owned by the Big Three, such as the GM-Toyota California venture.

Of course, the greater Smyrna metropolitan area has never been a hotbed of union activity anyway, one reason why Marvin Runyon, the former head of Ford manufacturing who directed site selection for the Nessan plant, chose the place to begin with.

Local culture puts the UAW in the same pot with big business, big finance and other evils of Up North that had them falling asleep in Detroit City and dreaming about the cotton fields back home for years. Now the benevolence of a company that brings wages at least comparable to the industrial. North without the long bus ride seems sent from heaven.

The Japanese scare their children with comic books showing hulking UAW members swinging wildly at Toyotas with sledgehammers - an incident that in reality was the work of an overenthusiastic car dealer in Livonia but has since become a maior symbol of the American auto worker with his back against the

All of this is not to say the UAW will have an easy time organizing a plant that pays at least lip service to modern personnel practices. It's fascinating to listen to the UAW's pitch about promising higher wages - arguably, the UAW never did accomplish that goal for its members.

What it did was reduce the gap between highly trained craftsmen and unskilled assembly line workers. Historically, the strongest issues that prompted organizing efforts in the U.S. auto companies were mainly practices such as calling in workers two and three times a day for a couple of hours and lack of any uniformity in personnel policy. This was compounded by blatant corruption in plant-floor management, likely making union dues seem a little cheaper than kickbacks.

Arguably the main reason most plants, union and non-union alike. subscribe to more uniform labor policies today is because of the ultimate threat of union organizing.

But this is an abstract idea to a younger generation that never experienced the bad old days and seems' to have a stronger faith in the essential fairness of modern management than their fathers ever did.

Curiously, one of the larger-scale tests of current attitudes toward unions doesn't seem as likely in Tennessee as back in Detroit, where Chrysler has announced an 8-percent cut in its white-collar workforce the first major-league cutback most of this generation of workers has experienced.

That the cuts will come mainly from the non-UAW side is a point that could easily raise more interest in signing up than any pitch stemming from a Smyrna motel room eyer

Bartering, not buying

"I never worked with an exchange network before. But I was badly burned the last time I traded services with another business," an Oakland County business consultant

"The exchange was fairly straightforward; they were going to provide custom-designed clothing for a television special I was hosting, and I was to provide them with the equivalent value of consulting ser-

"It didn't take long to realize that their work was inferior, yet I felt obligated to continue our arrangement in hopes that things would improve. Of course, they didn't, and now we're involved in a lawsuit so I can recover the damages I sustained."

prospective trade partners before- written cover letter clearly states hand. "All it takes is a few phone the applicant's interest and purpose calls to others that have had past for writing, highlights important intrading experience with the firm."

Business owners and managers would be wise to make good use of resumes as valuable employee screening tools.

I was recently asked to review several cover letters and resumes to help select interview candidates for a senior sales position.

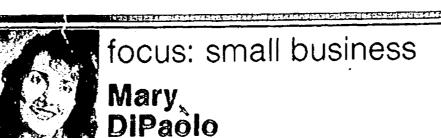

Of the four dozen packages that had been submitted, only a handful were given serious consideration. Here are some do's and don'ts of successfully evaluating submitted applicant information as part of the employment screening process.

Screen cover letters and resumes from a purely appearance standpoint. Regardless of the desired position, a sloppy-looking package of documents should never be accept-

One package we received contained 12 corrected errors on the cover letter alone. Even though the applicant was highly qualified for the position, her resume and cover letter were filed in the wastebasket.

Other "file 13" documents included those that were copied (and badly, I might add), handwritten or "decorated" with water marks, coffee stains and makeup.

Read cover letters that have He suggests persons investigate passed the appearance test. A wellformation that may be included in the resume and requests an interview indicating the candidate will call for an appointment.

IT SOUNDS easy enough, but a majority of applicants tend to use cover letters as a means to say everything else. If the cover letter is unclear, too long, or worse yet, reads like a form letter applicable to any position in any organization, it signals a communication problem.

Cover letters must be addressed to a specific person within the organization, must be one page in length and must use appropriate language. "I would very much like to be hired by your company as soon as possible" not only sounds desperate but could be stated more professionally.* In the book, "High Impact Resumes & Letters," the authors point out that resumes are "one of the most imitated, plagiarized and misunderstood documents individuals produce and use." # Let goals determine size of your savings

Recently I was intrigued by a conversation I had with Lynn Stone. Lynn claims that she has been saving on a regular basis but has never done so to reach a predetermined goal. Savings without a purpose is like travel without a road map If you don't know where source going, how would you know when yourhave arrived?

Goal setting

You may use Table 1 to set your goals The table not only specifies the amount of savings needed to finance each of the stated objectives but also commits future savings to these objectives

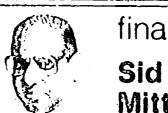

Savings required

The next step is to calculate the amount of savings required to achieve a specified goal. This task can be accomplished using an inflation adjusted, after tax multiplier, presented in Table 2

For instance if the objective is to save $50 000 at the end of 10 years to finance a child's education, and if 4percent interest can be earned on monthly savings net of inflation and taxes then the monthly savings required to achieve this objective is $340.26 Monthly Savings Required = $50.000/1469 (from table) =

$340 36 Note, this is after inflation return on your money. It for example, the inflation rate is 6 percent and you can get an 8 percent return on your money you are actually getting a 2percent increase not an 8-percent increase.

I hope that if you are a saver without a specific goal, this column will

Keller pays nice tribute to former Walter's player

ERSEY NO. 21, draped along the fence just inside the Walter's Appliance dugout during last week's Livonia Collegiate Baseball League, certainly provided inspiration.

It was once worn by the late Bob Foust, a Westland firefighter who died last spring in a drowning acci-

Manager Mike Keller thought it was only proper that this summer season should be dedicated to Foust, a former standout on the Walter's

And what a way to pay tribute to

Walter's will be making its first appearance in the prestigious All-American Amateur Baseball Association Tournament. The tourney, marking its 50th anniversary, is special because it brings together 22 collegiate-age teams (20 and under) from all over the country for nine days of play, Aug. 12-19 in Johnstown, Pa.

Walter's, the third-place team in the Livonia League during the regular season, surprised the four-team. field, earning the trip by sweeping through three playoffs games by a combined score of 31-10.

IT WAS AN emotional night for Mike Keller after his team clinched the playoff bld.

But if there was ever a deserving coach, it's the man they call "Stick," whose tall, thin frame often has him mistaken for a basketball or volleyball coach.

But even in the glee and excitement over Friday's 7-2 playoff championship win over Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury, Keller paid his respects to a ballplayer he truly loved and admired.

"Now we can give Bob's jersey to-Bob's parents," said Keller, still a young man (35) who has tolled as a coach and manager in the league for more than 10 years. "From the beginning of the season our goal was to go to Johnstown.

"I'm really holding it inside, I always dreamed this day would come. The feeling was so strong even though I didn't show a lot of emotion that night."

It's tough to predict how Walter's will do next weekend in Johnstown. Past history says the representative from the Livonia League belongs somewhere in the middle of the pack, a notch below the powerhouses from Baltimore, New Orleans and Detroit.

BUT KELLER will be getting some help.

He is allowed to take three other players from the other teams in his league to fill his 18-man roster.

As of Tuesday, the selections were: Little Caesars second baseman Art George, the league's batting champion, who prepped at Redford Thurston High before going on to star at the University of Evansville; Hines Park left-handed pitcher Derek Darkowsk, a Canton High product who performed well during the spring at Michigan State; and right-handed pitcher/infielder Chris Kloc of Caesars, another Thurston grad. "George gives us speed, and he led the league in hitting," Keller said. "Defensively he's one of the better second basemen in the league, if not the best. He can also DH (designated hitter) for us.

"With some rest, Darkowski can be effective. He'll help our pitching staff. Kloc has been there before and he can play the field also."

Pitching is what makes or breaks you at Johnstown.

The Walter's staff has not really had a stopper this season, according to Keller, but everybody has chipped in at one stage or another during the

RANDY BUCHLER, the star of the playoffs (he won twice), is coming off a stellar week of pitching, but Keller won't underestimate the talents of Joe Mackiewicz, the Redford CC product and Kalamazoo College junior (he won game No. 2); lefty David Houghtby, a Livonia Stevenson High grad from Henry Ford Community College; Steve Owens, the former Churchill High ace who has been effective out of the bullpen; and lefty Kevin Walker (ex-RU and Henry Ford CC), another reliever.

"Everybody will be a starter and reliever in Johnstown," Keller promised. "I'm ready to go. Two weeks of preparation will go by just like that.'

This latest Walter's team has some intangible qualities which may provide an upset or two in the AAA-BA tourney.

"In past years we've always had a leader, but on this team everybody chips in," Keller said. "Everybody just goes out and does their job. They do whatever it takes."

BUT BEFORE Keller loads up the van and cars, he'll present the league championship plaque to his team sponsor, John Mistak.

"We'll have him mount it on the wall of his Livonia store," Keller said. "He's been the backbone of this team. John always said, 'Stick, whatever you need, you've got it.' Without 'Wally,' we wouldn't be out here. He's the kind of sponsor you like, just a nice guy."

Mistak was naturally thrilled about the playoff results.

For years he's played second fiddle to one of the AAABA's founding fathers and head honchos, another appliance dealer from Dearborn named Mike Adray.

But this season, they may have something different to talk about in . Johnstown, namely "Wallyball."

But regardless of the results or how Walter's performs, my recollections of the 1989 season will be that yellow and marooned-trimmed jersey, No. 21, hanging on the fence.

What a nice way to cap off a sea-

Olympic dreams

Festival provides hope

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

While southerners reacquainted themselves with hockey last month at the U.S. Olympic Sports Festival, the players got used to the ice. The humidity outside the State Fairgrounds Arena in Oklahoma City, Okla., made the ice "a little bit sloppier," said Chris Tancill, one of five Observerland players competing in the Festival.

"It made for a different game of hockey," added Tancill, a 1986 Livonia Stevenson graduate currently attending the University of Wisconsin. "The ice tended to be sticky and chippy."

Said Mike Jorgensen, also a Stevenson graduate, of '87: "The ice was

The Oklahoma Blazers, a minor league hockey team, played at the State Fairgrounds in the 1970s, but there had not been a hockey game played at the Fairgrounds since at least 1982, said Todd Schoenthaler, a sports writer at the Daily Oklahoman.

Though they didn't have kind things to say about the ice, players interviewed couldn't have spoken higher about the people they met and experiences they had.

The West team beat the South, 5-1, to win the gold medal in front of 3.286 fans at the Fairgrounds. The North team, featuring local stars Pete Podrasky and Jorgensen, settled for the bronze, beating the East,

But did he deserve the cold?

"I don't know why I've got the cold," Podrasky said. "It's probably because of the air conditioning down there. It's so hot outside but it seems like they turn the air conditioning down to freezing level inside. all the buildings."

This was Podrasky's first Olympic Festival appearance and he looks forward to playing in next year's event in Minneapolis, Minn.

"If I get asked to go next year, I'll jump. at it." he said. "Hopefully, people who pick the (1992) Olympic team liked the way I played this year. This is something I'll never forget. The people in Oklahoma. ran a class act. No matter what they didthey had to do their best. They were as friendly as they can be down there."

> BILL PYE Plymouth Canton High

For Pye, a junior-to-be goalie this fall at Northern Michigan, the 14-day odyssey was an experience he won't forget, even though his team (the East) was winless in four games and failed to garner a medal.

"It was a good experience," said Pye. I can still play in two more Festivals so this was just a starting gate for ('92) Olympic hopefuls. We had all close games. They just didn't work out our

The East lost the next two games, 7-5 and 6-3, respectively, before losing to the North, 7-3, in the bronze-medal round with Pye in goal.

Pye said what he'll remember most were the Opening Ceremonies, held at the University of Oklahoma before more than 76,000 fans.

"Just being there was sort of like the Olympics," he said. "(Former) President (Ronald) Reagan was there. Bob Hope spoke and Florence Griffith-Joyner ran around the stadium with the torch. It was kind of neat with all the different athletes

CHRIS TANCILL Livonia Stevenson High

Tancill, who will be a senior next winter at the University of Wisconsin, was one of the East's offensive threats, scoring a pair of goals in the bronze-medal game against the North.

Still, the East finished the tournament at

"Maybe our guys weren't prepared as much as the other teams. That may not be true, but I hope it's true." Tancill said. "When you get in a tournament like that, there isn't a player you can't count on it

Tancill will be spending the rest of the summer in Madison, Wis., getting ready for the 1989-90 season. He scored 20 goals and had 23 assists last winter for Wisconsin, an NCAA quarterfinalist. His only regret about playing for Wisconsin is the Badgers play in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association, and rarely play close enough to home for his family to watch.

He'll be home later this summer for his sister Leslie's wedding, but isn't sure the next time he'll be back

"I wasn't even-home last Christmas." he said. "That's one of the negative factors of Wisconsin, compared to playing at Michigan or Michigan State. I could see: my family more."

MIKE JORGENSEN Livonia Stevenson High

Jorgensen had only one minor complaint about his stay in Oklahoma. The folks who sew the players' names on the back of his North jersey spelled his name

I said 'No biggie, it happens all the time," said Jorgensen, who will be a sophomore at Ferris State University.

Being a member of the North team meant Jorgensen was entitled to a bronze medal. Jorgensen's flight out of Oklahoma left Sunday, however, and the medalsweren't distributed until Monday.

Ferris State coach John Perpich, who also coached the North team, is holding the medal for Jorgensen until this weekend when Jorgensen can pick it up in Big

"I can't wait to see it," said Jorgensen. "It's a pretty prestigious award. We should have had a gold or silver, but I'll settle for the bronze. I might get it tramed.

The North finished the tourney at 2-1-1, but would have played the West in the gold medal round if it had beaten the South Friday instead of tying.

With three years of collegiate eligibility remaining, Jorgensen hopes to be invited to future Festivals. This one was full of new experiences as well as a handful of "There was even an air-hockey team out there," Jorgensen said. "I couldn't believe it. It's just an exhibition sport and they were having demonstrations."

Tim Walton was on his way to a family reunion last Thursday when Joe Bushofsky, the Detroit Lions' director of player personnel, unexpectedly called.

"I was going to Virginia and all of the sudden I was told to report. to camp," said the Redford Bishop Borgess High product. "There was a sudden change of plans. It caught me by surprise." •

The 6-foot-1, 235-pound All-Mid-American Conference linebacker out of Ball State is a longshot to make an NFL roster. But with holdouts like All-Pro Mike Cofer yet to report to training camp, Bushofsky figured Walton was worth a look.

"My dad (Sam) more or less promoted me," said Tim. "He was my agent. We made a lot of calls. I was basically waiting around, but Mr. Bushofsky was good on his word. He told me I'd be the next linebacker he'd bring in if there was an opening."

WALTON WAS NOT selected in April's National Football League draft, but later worked out with Chicago and Houston. Bushofsky also conducted a personal workout with Walton a few months ago.

"I was just hoping to be with somebody, but with Detroit being my hometown, that's more than i can ask for," he said.

When Tuesday's morning workout at Oakland University ended, Walton was lugging a bulky notebook over to the dining hall.

"I'm anxious to play, but I have to get the playbook down," he said. "Once I learn the plays and get my responsibilities down. I'll be all right.

"I just have to keep the faith and go for it. I've got an opportunity now. I'll just leave it up to God."

In college, Walton was noted for his hard hitting. He started 34 of 44 games, finishing his career with 480 tackles. He was in on-180 his senior year en route to honorable mention all-America honors.

AN AVENUE for Walton into the NFL may be special teams.

they wanted to save me as much as possible," Walton said. "But that's how most rookles make teams."

Listed as an outside linebacker, Walton must prove he belongs against the likes of veterans Jimmy Williams, George Jamison, Danny Lockett and Cofer.

"The vets just tell me the coaches look for intensity and hustle," Walton said. "I'm a physical player, but there hasn't been as much hitting as I like. But then again, I can understand they don't want the starters getting hurt."

Tuesday's morning session was typical of an NFL workout. The players were drilled in techniques. They walked through plays. There was minimal contact.

"As far as technique goes, it hasn't been much different (than college) because I've been playing linebacker all my life," Walton said. "I was a starting linebacker at Ball State and that's where I always wanted to play."

WALTON IS AN unknown, even to some of his teammates.

When this reporter asked another Lions player where Walton could be found, he answered:

"He's No. 66," said the reporter. "He's right over there," said the player, pointing to the parking lot adjacent to the fieldhouse.

Razzle-dazzle returns to prep all-star game

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Out-of-season all-star games are usually prescribed for insomnlacs. Yawns assured before the game's half over, followed by fitful sleep long before the predictably boring conclusion.

But there are always exceptions, which is what Saturday's ninth annual Michigan High School All-Star Football Game proved to be. There was more action than drudgery (a refreshing change from the seventh and eighth "classics"), much of it traceable to surprising sources - local ones at that.

The biggest of the surprises, of course, was the final score: East 31, West 26. The result ended the West's two-game win streak - the West had three victories in the last four meetings - and established new scoring records, for one and two teams (both previous bests came in the West's 25-22 win in 1982).

THAT PART had to please game chairman Tom Moshimer, Plymouth Salem's football coach. After all, as he explained after the East had rolled to a 31-13 haiftime lead, "The game is designed that way. The defenses are handcuffed. They can't blitz, so they can't put any pressure on. The game's designed to put points on the board."

Which is why, after West running back Tony Jackson scored on a 7yard run with 5:02 left in the third quarter, his team got the ball back. To try to keep the game from becoming a runaway, there is a 12points or more after scoring, it gets the ball back.

The rule didn't benefit the West. The closest it got after the first quarter was the final margin, and that came with just 2:11 left when Mike Nadlicki bulled his way into the end zone from 4 yards out.

BUT DENNIS EDWARDS, the defensive back from Rochester Adams, grabbed the West's ensuing onside kick attempt and the East's offense ran out the clock.

What made this game memorable weren't the final moments, however, it was the opening ones, which produced a bevy of trick plays and

The West drove 72 yards on nine plays to open the game, including a wingback reverse pass from Ty Hallock to Robert Oginsky to the 1 (Hallock dove over on the next play). Then the East unloaded a shocker

Bob Gould, listed as the team's punter, circled around on a flanker reverse and lofted a long pass to end Bryan Wauldron, from Farmington Harrison. All Wauldron had to do was hang on to the ball; no defender was in the vicinity. He did, and when Zoran Diordievic booted the extra -

Here's the rundown on the Observer & Eccentric-area athletes who played for the East team in its 31-26 win in Saturday's ninth annual Michigan High School All-Star Football Game, in front of 14,300 fans at Michigan State's Spartan Stadium:

 Bobby Johnson (Southfield), running back: 10 carries, 69 yards rushing, including a 13-yard second-quarter touchdown, and one pass reception for 2 yards;

• Lee Krueger (Radford Catholic Central, Plymouth), noseguard: 41/2 lackles, including two of four East sacks; also he'ped force two fumbled snaps that led to 10 points for the East:

 Bryan Wauldron (Farmington Harrison), wide receiver: Two catches for 80 yards, including a 69-yard touchdown reception on the East's first offensive play of the game, on a wingback reverse pass from Bob

• Dennis Edwards (Rochester Adams), 'defensive back: Credited with two tackles and one pass break-up; also recovered the West's onside kick attempt with 2:11 left in the game to preserve the East's victory;

• Ulric King (Southfield-Lathrup), wide receiver: Two catches for 33 yards, both resulting In first downs; the first came in the East's second-quarter, 69-yard TD drive on a third-down-and-10 play from the East 47 to the West 33; the second was on a first down play from the East 25 to its 38;

 Marc Milla (Birmingham Brother Rice) Mike Boyle (Redford St. Agatha), Mike Ostrander (Troy), offensive linemen: Helped the East rush for 172 yards on 33 carries (5.3 per attempt) and pass for 169 (seven completions, 13 attempts) for 341 total yards, while surrendering just one quarter-server & Eccentric-area athletes who toiled on the offensive line for holes in the West defense so the running game could produce 172 yards.

And the guy who was most grateful was Bobby Johnson of Southfield. Johnson is listed as 5-foot-8 and 180 pounds, but he doesn't look nearly that big. Still, he was plenty big Sat- scoring. It was enough.

urday. He rushed for a game-high 69 vards on 10 carries, including a 13yard touchdown scamper with 4:13 left in the second quarter that put the East up 31-13.

UNLIKE MANY of his all-star mates, Johnson isn't headed to a bigtime university. "I'm not real big on name schools," he said after his superb performance. "All these guys around here are saying, 'I'm going to Michigan' or 'I'm going to Notre Dame.' I didn't want to go someplace where I'll have to depend on a tutor to pass a class for me."

Johnson is headed to Elon College. an NAIA school in Greensboro, N.C. "I liked it. I liked it better than all the other schools I visited. It had everything I wanted."

What Johnson wanted in Saturday's all-star game was plain enough: "I just wanted to go out and do my best. I wanted to give 100 percent, like in every other game."

He wasn't alone. Another guy bent on giving his best, a guy who also wasn't highly recruited for football, was Redford Catholic Central noseguard Lee Krueger, from Plymouth.

KRUEGER WAS both disruptive and destructive. He's headed to Wisconsin, but he'll have to walk on to play football. His athletic grant is for wrestling.

The 6-2, 205-pounder grappled his way to 41/2 tackles against the West. including 11/2 sacks. Just as important, he rattled West centers Nick Roush and Mike Morrison into a pair of fumbled snaps in the first quarter, both recovered by the East and re--sulting-in-10 points (a 7-yard run by -> Joe Youngblood and a 22-yard Djordjevic field goal).

"I didn't let anybody down," Krueger said afterward. "The West was picked to win. We were determined to beat 'em."

Youngblood's run put the East up Milia and a couple of other Ob- 14-6 with 3:23 left in the first quarter, and Djordjevic's field goal made it 17-6 with :38 remaining in the the East - Redford St. Agatha's first. # Record-setters

Marks tumble in Roadrunners Classic

By Tom Henderson staff writer

It was a night of records Saturday at the sixth Redford Roadrunner Classic at Veterans Park in Livonia.

A deluge of last-minute entries pushed the combined field for the eight-kilometer and one-mile runs to more than 1,500, an all-time record by 300. And records were shattered by the first man, first woman and first wheelchair racer?

Don Johns of Ypsilanti, who captured the Trenton race, skipped the Classic to run in the Olympic Sports Festival in Oklahoma City, making him ineligible for the Triple Crown. And Van Savell of Ann Arbor, who won the Classic with a blistering 24:08 and a withering final-mile

"I took it out too hard," said

How did he know it was too hard? "There were good enough runners in the race, I shouldn't have been alone. But at that point, you just gotta his division by more than three min- keep on going and hope no one catches you."

"The guy who won it - I don't competing against the local high know who he is, I haven't seen him around - he just came up and went by me," Schmidt said.

Hadler led from the start and cruised to a 27:14, well ahead of her record 27:55, set a year ago. Ann Boyd of Ann Arbor tied the old record in finishing second.

"I knew Ann was a good runner," Hadler said, "she's really coming along. So, I tried to run like a scared rabbit. I didn't want to discredit her. I probably should have taken it easy. I need a break from so much racing. But I'm pleased with today's run."

BOB FITCH was beaming heartily at the post-race party. Fitch, of East Lansing, burled the wheelchair field with a time of 19:50.

"It's the first time I've averaged under four minutes a mile," said Fitch, who credits a new, threewheel racing chair for his best sea-

Fitch, 38, was 31/2 minutes ahead of Charles Patten of Belding.

Pat Ford of Linden was the top woman wheeler, finishing in 28:48.

THE ONE-MILE is considered non-competitive. Though a clock keeps time, times aren't recorded and winners usually aren't given trophies. This year was an exception.

Duane Zemens, 27, of Detroit won the mile in 5:23. It provided a nice finish to a bad day; earlier, he had attended the funeral of his father. Race officials decided to award him a trophy (actually a glass beer pitcher) after he razzed them at the awards ceremony.

"I never won nothing in my life," he said. "This is the first time I've won a race."

For the second straight year, Terry Mahr was back home for the holidays and dominated the over-40 division with a fine time of 29:03. That was third overall for the women, 91st in the field of 1,241, and good for nearly a two-minute win in her age group over Vickie Putnam of Dearborn.

Though he had been racing since he was 8 and had won 13 amateur and 10 professional go-cart titles, it was Pruett's connection with the Roush team that got him to where he is today.

"THAT WAS my first major break into the big time." Pruett said. "That was my biggest move to that point. Jack played an integral part in helping me with my career, as well as Ford Motorsports."

After he and former Olympian Bruce Jenner made an impressive showing as co-drivers at Elkhart Lake, Wis., in 1986, Pruett was introduced to the Ford people and subsequently Jack Roush.

Pruett won four championships a pair of IMSA GTO titles in 1986 and 1988, the SCCA Trans-Am crown in 1987 and the IMSA GT Endurance title in 1986 - during his stay with-Roush Racing.

But the transplanted Californian who now lives in Dublin, Ohio, was ready to move up late in 1988 and made three Indy-car starts. The Marlboro 500 will be his 10th this year, and his best showing to date was second place in the Detroit Grand Prix.

"I think Jack was proud" when he Man graduated to the Indy-car level. Since Pruett-said. "He knew what my ability was, and he said up front he was not interested in fielding an Indy

"When the time came for the next hara move in my career, he gave me every bit of encouragement."

> THOUGH HE has yet to win an Indy-car race, Pruett, who became the Truesports Racing pilot last November, is fifth in PPG Cup Points, ranks fifth in earnings at $472,017 and istled with such notables as Emerson Fittipaldi and Rick Mears for most finishes (7) this season.

Furthermore, Indy-car racing has not disappointed Pruett, who brought high expectations to this level. The ultimate experience was racing at Indianapolis where he finished 10th.

"Everyone said it would be frustrating, exhiberating, exciting," he said. "It's more than you could ever put into words."

But it hasn't been easy, either. Pruett, who started 11th and finished sixth in his most recent race at Toronto on July 23, has received his baptism under fire, which serves to underscore the success he has had in his rookle season.

"It's the toughest year of competi-tion I've seen," he said. "Ten teams can win any given weekend. You have to work for every little bit out

"It's tougher than I thought it would be. Physcially, it's more demanding to drive. It takes more strength to drive those cars and push for every little bit."

THE NEED TO gain a competitive edge in such a tight arena has caused the drivers to give increased to physical conditioning. In an age when the racing machines are so highly developed and finely tuned and there are so many quality out-fits, the stamina of the individual can sometimes be the difference. That's why the 5-foot-8 Pruett, a trim 148 pounds, finds it necessary last year through weight lifting and plenty of road work - running on two legs and not four wheels.

"I think we're seeing more of that trend," he said. "The competition is so close and demanding. You're in the car for 21/2 hours. It's hot and your level of concentration has to be on all the time.

"Form that aspect, the better shape you're in physically, the better you'll be able to compete."

Being competitive in Sunday's race is certainly on Pruett's mind since his past experience as a Trans-Am driver means he's more at home on road courses than oval surfaces.

(The MIS track) is one of the most forgiving ovals we'll run on," Pruett sald. "It allows you to run two abreast, and there's really two turns instead of three or four like Indy.

"WE RAN practice laps there a couple weeks ago and ran 216 (mph). So we were actually pleased with that, and it should get better as the time gets nearer.

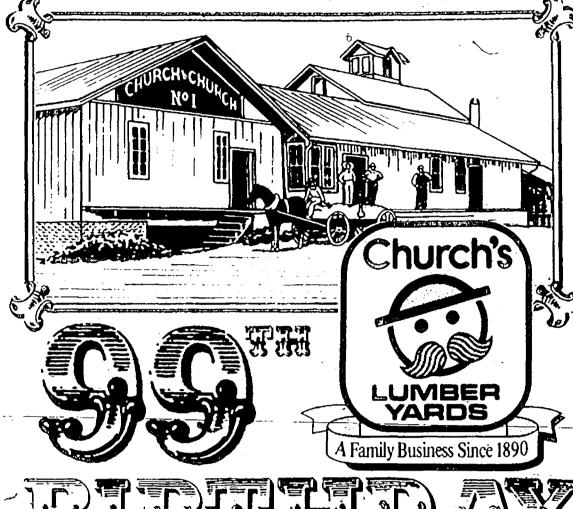

"I think we should run strong. It's only my fourth oval with an Indy car, but from testing there lately I think we can run strong."

And, past performance being the barometer, Pruett knows how to find the finish line just as he did his old stomping grounds in Livonia.

Paragon falls in playoff, 3-1

A costly call early in the second half turned the tide against Livonia Paragon in Sunday's Great Lakes Men's Soccer League semifinal, which Flint Bud Light won 3-1 at Bicentennial Park.

With the game tied 1-1, Paragon defender Russ Gans was called for a hand ball inside the penalty area seven minutes into the second half. Bud Light's Chris Larson converted to make it 2-1.

Forced to pressure for the game-tying goal; Paragon's defense was caught out of position with 18 minutes remaining in the game and Larson iced the triumph with his second goal of the game, after taking a pass from Jeff Sier-

It was the third-straight year Paragon, which finished third in the GLMSL regular season standings, has been ousted in the league's semifinals.

Carl Hopfinger opened the scoring with a goal for Bud Light. Paragon's Dave Conway tied it before

But despite a strong effort, Paragon failed to finish its scoring chances. And that put them out of the playoffs.

Bud Light, regular-season runner-up to the Redford Marauders, plays the winner of the Marauders-Birmingham Cobras semifinal for the GLMSL championship at 6 p.m. Sunday at Bicentennial Park's Field No. 1. The Marauders meet the Cobras at 7 tonight at Bicentennial.

National championship brought home by Hawks

The Under-19 Michigan Hawks last weekend became the first Region II girls soccer team to win a national championship.

The Hawks, who won both the state and Region II titles last month, continued their successful season Sunday, winning the United States Youth Soccer Association's Athena Cup in Uniondale, N.Y.

Troy goalkeeper Brooke Gillespie recorded a shutout and fullback Natalka Litkewycz scored the only goal the Hawks needed as they beat Revere Travel of Kerney, N.J., 1-0 in the title game.

Knowing they were the first Region II team to win a national title made the weekend even more enjoyable, said Amy Trunk, one of the Hawks' top offensive threats.

SHE HOPES this gives Region II - generally regarded as the country's weakest region - more respect.

"It's great," said Trunk, who will be a senior at Farmington High. "No one was expecting us to be anywhere near good. They thought we'd be real bad because the Midwest usually is not very good.

"We had a lot of chemistry. We have played a lot together and that helped. We really know what everyone's going to do.'

The Hawks defeated the Phoenix 71 of Cline, Texas, 5-4 in a shootout in the semifinal round. The Hawks and Phoenix were tled 3-3 at the end of regulation and 4-4 after two overtime periods.

Hawks coach Paul Dugan, who took an under-16 girls team to the Final Four in 1985, said Gillespie's play in the shootout was the difference the fifth goal in the shootout for the Hawks, assuring the team a spot in the finals.

"Brooke came up big in the shootout," Dugan said. "She almost got the first one - it went through her hands - and the fourth shot she deflected over the top of the net."

Margaret Kopmeyer, Caeri Thomas, Trunk and Jacquie Silagyi were the other goal scorers in the shoo-

Shannon Meath, Trunk and Silagyi scored for the Hawks during regulation, and Kopmeyer notched the only goal in overtime on a penalty kick to keep the teams even.

THE HAWKS won the Little Caesars Ilitch Division regular-season title with a 10-0 record and have lost only two games the entire season. They outscored their opponents 45-1 in the regular season play and 20-0 in five Region II playoff games.

But before Sunday, no one had heard much about the Hawks nation-

"I told them 'We're in the greatest" position," Dugan said. "If we lose, so what. We're not supposed to win anyway. If we win, that's great."

The manager is Mike Yderstadt and trainer is Ralph Gibson. Statistician is Don Montgomery.

Mann moves from Thurston to Borgess

By Brad Emons

staff writer

The "Traveling Mann" is back as a varsity girls basketball coach, this time at Redford Bishop Borgess

Dave Mann, who last year finished with a 5-15 record at nearby Redford Thurston High, takes over at Borgess for Mike Resmer, who resigned last spring after five years to pursue other career interests.

Thurston for Mike Schuette, who is versity of Michigan's Team Camp. returning this fall after a year's leave of absence.

With Schuette coming back, Mann was scheduled to serve as Thurston's JV coach. But Borgess athletic director Mike

Fusco, impressed with Mann's credentials, wasted little time in offering Mann the vacant position. "We think he's a catch for us," Fusco said. "He has a good feel for what Catholic League sports are all about. He's more experienced than a one-year varsity basketball coach.

He really has a good feel for the X's and O's of the game."

MANN SAID he received the blessings of Jim Urick, Thurston's athletic director. "I talked with him on the phone the other day and he's happy for me," said the 28-year-old Portage native. The new Borgess coach will have little time to get acquainted with his new team. Before the start of practice, Aug. 14, Mann hopes to round Mann filled in last season at up enough players to attend the Uni-"I'll basically be scrambling for two weeks," said Mann, a television producer who works camps for the U-M Athletic Department. "I've talked with some of the girls on the phone, but basically right now I don't know who is who." Mann inherits an 11-8 team from Resmer. Four of the team's five starters have graduated. Under Resmer, the Spartans won two straight district titles, but failed to reach the Catholic League playoffs. Ironically during last year's Class completely bare, as the Spartans return an outstanding scorer at guard, Kyra Woodard, a third-team All-Observer choice last year as a sophomore. Forward Tonya Tounsel, last year's sixth man, is also back.

"We'll man-to-man press and do a lot of things I'm comfortable with," said Mann, who resides in Ann Arbor. "I may change a few things offensively. A lot depends what kind of personnel we have." At Thurston, Mann's teams were known for their aggressive defense. That style of play should fit right in with the rugged Central Division, which includes the likes of former state basketball champions-Livonia Ladywood, Farmington Hills Mercy, Harper Woods Regina and Birmingham Marian.

"We'll go in with the same attitude we had at Thurston when we played: BUT THE CUPBOARD is not Taylor Center (the Tri-River League champs)," Mann said. "It was a great opportunity for our girls and we looked forward to playing them. Even though the score was lopsided, I certainly knew that we had played hard.

"Now the only difference is that we're going to play against teams, the caliber of a Taylor Center, every night. But this is a great opportunity, I'm looking forward to it."

Folk music trio songs old, new

By C.L. Rugenstein staff writer

T'S BEEN SAID that the more things change, the more they stay the same.

Fans of the Peter, Paul and Mary trio of folksingers will have a chance to see for themselves how the group has changed yet remained the same since they rode the crest of social protest movements in the halycon days of the '60s and '70s.

The group is scheduled for a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10, at Meadow Brook Music Festival on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills.

Some of the songs will be Peter, Paul and Mary classics like "Puff the Magic Dragon." Other songs will be very old, and some, like "With Your Face to the Wind," will be very new.

IN ALL, promises Mary Travers, it will be "two and a half hours of a lot of music that deals with a lot of subjects - some absolutely frivolous, some absolutely serious."

Old fans returning with a second generation, their children, "will find some meaning, even if nothing else but having a moment together as a family," Travers said recently in a phone inter-

Mother of two daughters, one with a daughter of her own, Travers seems pleased with the presence of some very young, new fans in Peter, Paul and Mary audiences.

"It's lovely to look out at the audience and see a father hug his little boy during a song from the father's college years," Travers said, "and to see that the son knows the words."

'A Peter, Paul and Mary concert is not about politics. It's about the human condition.'

- Mary Travers

Many of the children learned the trio's songs at camp or nursery school.

"IT'S NOT UNUSUAL to hear a baby cry, or see some little toddler who can't make it past six songs because they fall asleep," she said. But, "That's OK because we sing 'Puff' early."

Though she downplayed the group's influence in earlier civil rights and anti-war movements, ("It's important to know that being a hero is not a permanent job,"she observed.), their commitment to issues that deal with "the fundamental rights of people"is as strong as ever.

Travers noted that the self-indulgent grab for affluence and influence in the '80s is giving way to an awareness of urban problems, and individual responsibility to do something about it.

"Certainly America spent a lot of time staring at its own navel," she said, but now, "People are saying, 'Gee, we're going to have to address those problems."

The plight of the homeless, poverty, an alarming rise in the illiteracy rate, and the recent setback in affirmative action are some national problems Travers

"SOME OF OUR new songs address the issues,"she said.

One new song, "With Your Face to the Wind," is a solo written and performed by Peter Yarrow. He wrote it for the Wellness Community - "It's like a hospice,"Travers said - in California.

"William McBride," by a young Australian, is an anti-war song set in World War I. And "No Easy Walk to Freedom" deals with apartheid.

Travers was arrested for her part in an anti-apartheld demonstration she participated in, with her mother and daughter.

But Travers stressed that activism is not what Peter, Paul and Mary is all about.

"A PETER, PAUL and Mary concert is not about politics. It's about the human condition," she told in song.

There's no new album in the offing, though Travers said she and partners Yarrow and Noel Paul Stookey (who is originally from Birmingham) have enough material for one.

"We're doing 60 concerts a year together now, and 30 as solo performers," she said, so finding time to do the recording is a problem. "At the end of summer, in September, we sit down and plot out our time for the following year."

Hopefully they'll find time to record a few more songs to be immortalized.

Standard Federal builds with art in mind

By Joan Boram special writer

This is a building with beauty and brains - and it flaunts it. You could describe the exterior as Aggressive Modern if it weren't tempered by a touch of Babylonian ziggurat.

Dominating the sloped 26-acre site on the corner of Big Beaver and Lakeview, in Troy, the 450,000 square-foot, six-story Standard Federal Headquarters is enhanced by a water retention area that utilizes grasses and wildflowers to add to the natural beauty of the

"The building was designed from the inside out," said David Swanson, senior project architect of Grand Rapids' WBDC Group. "The building draws on the latest interior and exterior design concepts to create a comfortable, efficient and cost-effective environment.

"At the same time, the design is flexible enough to anticipate and quickly adapt to new technologies as they arise. The facility was designed from the inside out to fit the bank's style of operations."

Believe it or not, the first floor is designed around a mortgage. An "adjacency study" done early in the planning stages led to the actual prototype for the design of the building.

The study was undertaken to determine which departments and key operations of the bank depended on one another in order to function efficiently. As a result, the first floor matches the route a mortgage travels from start to fin-

THE BUILDING is more than a mortgage factory, however. It is also home to a fine art collection, so it was designed to accommodate both mortgages and abstract expressionism.

"We knew when we designed the building that art was an integral part of the project." said Swanson. "The stage was set from the beginning. The building itself is a form of art; it portrays Standard Federal. Anticipating an art program, we planned a building that would provide for art within art.

"We used neutral colors, relying on rich materials, like granite, and designed vistas and curtain walls that didn't merely accommodate, but required, art.

"And, of course, the emphasis was on light. Natural light makes the art look better, makes the building look better and provides employees with a pleasant working environment. This is a people-oriented building, it was designed for people and their comfort. The bank's management knows that if people come first, innovation and productivity will follow naturally." Swanson even went so far as Cold Springs, Minn., in the middle of winter to make certain that the walls without art got the most in-teresting granite. Granite with less "character" was used on walls for which art was planned to avoid vis-

THE ART COMMITTEE included Joel Mettler, director of corporate design, Ford & Earl Associates and Thomas R. Ricketts, chairman and president of Standard Federal. They were advised by Phyllis Fenton of Fenton Fine Arts, Fort Worth, Texas.

"It took us one and one-half years to put the collection together." said Fenton. "I visited gallerles around the country, and, of course, I visited important local galleries. The committee would review slides that I brought with me. We had certain rules - no realistic pictures, no Warhol, no Lichtenstein, all abstract impressionism."

As in other areas of life, rules were made to be broken. A large Warhol silkscreen, "Indian head Nickel," hangs in the loan deptartment - a visual pun. There are other examples of representational art — Christo's lithograph/collage, "Wrapped Automobile" and Lakeman's acrylic, "Containers," of paint-spattered cans. A Lichtenstein hangs in the employee cafete-

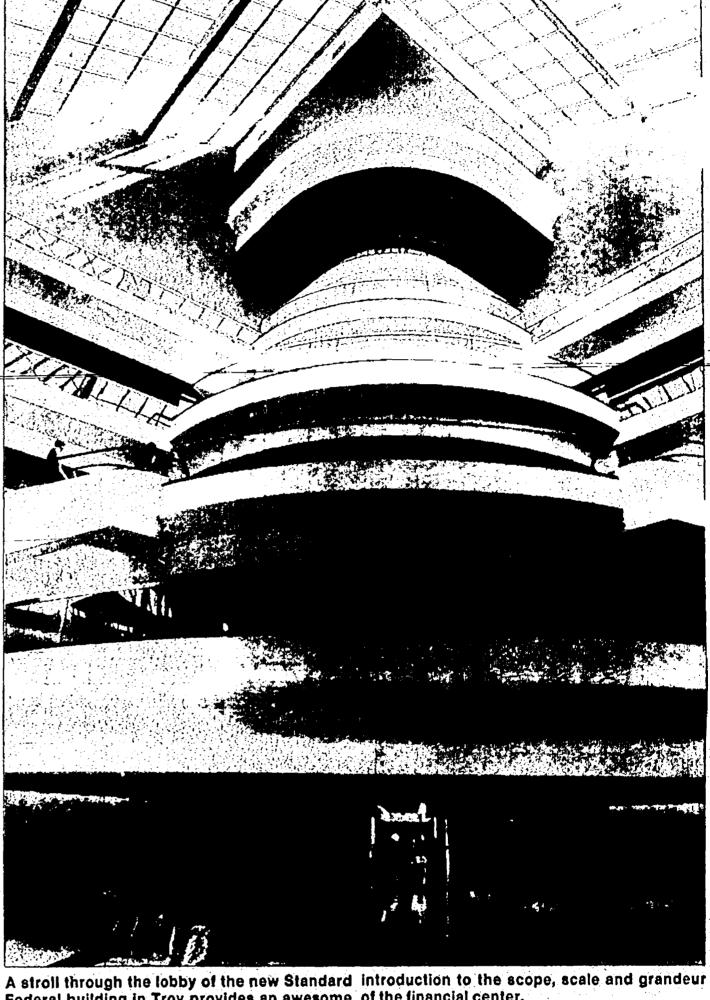

Employee reaction wasn't universally favorable from day one. One picture in particular, the George McNeil acrylic, "Dorlan Disco," was very controversial. "People thought it was violent, that it didn't belong in a bank," said Fenton. "I explained to them that McNeil is 82 years old, that he had seen "Saturday Night Live," TV programs showing music and photos in popular magazines. He had never actually seen a disco. The contorted faces, the gyrating bodies flying around, are not depictions of violence, they are what McNeil imagines a disco must look

"Dorian Disco" is hung at the top of an escalator and it almost appears to be in motion as you enter into the scene from below. Among bank employees, it is now one of the most-popular pictures in the collection.

EACH MORNING at 7:45, Fenton gives a one-hour seminar for employees willing to skip breakfast for the sake of art. "I try to select pictures that dare getting unfavorable comments and I encourage people to nominate a picture for the tour."

It's been a rewarding experience, both for Fenton and for employees. "Last week, an employee told me that he went to the Detroit Institute of Arts for the first time in years and that he even took his grandchildren with him. You overhear snatches of conversation between executives, comparing the Motherwell to the Stella, or, 'Ill meet you by the Obuch' and you really feel good."

"Collection" is not a popular word with Fenton. "It's institutional, and it has an elitist image. This is the employees' home for the better part of the day. I want them to be comfortable with the art, not think of it as a museum."

For the same reasons, Fenton insists that there be no signs identifying the picture or its artist on the wall, a la museums. Late this year, Standard Federal will invite all artists represented in the collection to visit the building to meet employees and see how their pictures are displayed. Guidthought it depicted violence, until they learned the 84-year-old artist was painting his impression of a disco as seen on ; "Saturday Night Live."

What to do when inspiration fades

Many times in drawing or painting artists begin their work in an emotional high. Inspired to the nose holes, they begin an "incredible work" - probably their best - but soon find themselves with half a drawing and no inspiration whatsoever.

Let's look at the meaning of the word inspiration: "to breathe life into." So when you lose your inspiration, your idea suffocates and the artwork falls dead on your easel. Inspiration excites the mind to create the work of art. As this inspiration fades, your creativity lessens and the work dramatically suffers. The strokes of brush or pen become tentative and halting. You doubt your choice of color, question your shading and soon abandon the work altogether.

Here is where the amateurs and the pros separate. Like the stone amateur that I am in golf, when I hit a ball into the woods, I fall over stiff in the fairway. A better player or woods to better plan his next shot.

PROFESSIONAL ARTISTS do not require inspiration to work out a decent piece of artwork. And indeed many commissions are 180 degrees from inspiration. A professional artist knows that if he or she is going sign the work, it has to be worthy of their signature and indicative of their ability. Every single week at least one of my students looks at me with eyelids at half mast and asks, "Can I be done now?" The "push" required when inspiration is gone only comes from years of experience and technical skill. This is why art lessons are so critical for students hopeing to excel in the field of art. Few works done by a student at home with the usual domestic distractions can be rendered before the inspiration lifts, however, the teacher's technical knowledge should help the uninspired student push his or her work to completion.

So when faced with a commission, pro would confidently walk into the seek to be inspired. First, consider the object of the commission. Remember the word, "consider" means to take thought of. Perhaps your commission is of something that appears to be boring. If so, your careful consideration of it may somehow spark your interest and thereby initiate creativity. Next, appreciate the object of your commission if it is inanimate. Study it closely for its basic shapes. If it is man-made, look for the craftmanship or technology within its construction. If it is of nature, take thought of the power that fashioned it, and automatically it will increase in your opinion. Don't seek to copy, seek to recreate.

Here's a question: How do you shade something like a glass of

A. Glass and chrome are a little difficult to draw because there is no definite color. All you really see is the reflections of light and surrounding shapes and colors. In the example of a glass of wine, that portion of the glass holding the wine would apor of the pear to be the puri wine. But the reflection of light and objects around it highlight and shade its smooth surface.

So, even though the wine is purple, its color is secondary to the reflections on the outer surface of the glass. Anything wet or glassy or even chrome must have a strong white highlight to appear shiny. Where you see only the glass, the surface reflects the whites, grays and surrounding colors. It is interesting that in drawing shiny objects that the white must be surrounded by black or dark colors in order to make the white appear bright and sparkling.

One easy trick to help in drawing shiny objects is to always place the darkest darks right next to the lightest lights. One of our lessons at the Art Store & More is to draw a name or logo on black mat board then color the letters so that they look like chrome. The colors that appear to give the best chrome effect are: non photoblue at the top tinting to white the middle of the letter. " --

Today, I'd like to provide some food for thought about the 150th anniversary of photography and what photography means to us today. Let's begin by stepping back through

When we remember the Vietnam War, photographic images immediately form in our minds - perhaps the little girl fleeing from the destruction of napalm bombs or the haunting shot of the execution of the Viet Cong guerrilla.

Many of us remember pictures of President Dwight Eisenhower visitng our troops in Korea and the inspiring flag raising over Iwo Jima toward the end of World War II.

Turn your thoughts to World War I and pictures of soldiers in odd shaped helmets huddling in muddy trenches come to mind.

And who can reflect on the Civil War without recalling photos of the many dead sprawled over the now lovely hills of our eastern states?

Revolutionary War and what comes to mind? Paintings and drawings. We can't relate as well to these occasions because, of course, photography didn't then exist.

Our backward journey through time using America's involvement in war as a yardstick is a good way to illustrate the significance of the photographic image as we note this anniversary.

For the past 150 years, photographs have been used to inform, inspire, entertain, document or shock us in ways that no other medium ever could or ever will do.

Through photographs, we can travel to distant lands we can otherwise only dream about. Scenes we would never have known about if it weren't for photography can be etched in our minds.

We are able to share special moments with celebrities and athletes. And we have shared the sor-

But think of the War of 1812 or the rows of people just like ourselves who have lost loved ones in a plane crash or other disaster. And all of this is possible through the wonder of photography.

Think for a moment during this milestone year for photography and imagine how difficult and unsettling life would be without photographs. What else can evoke the emotions without the use of a single word?

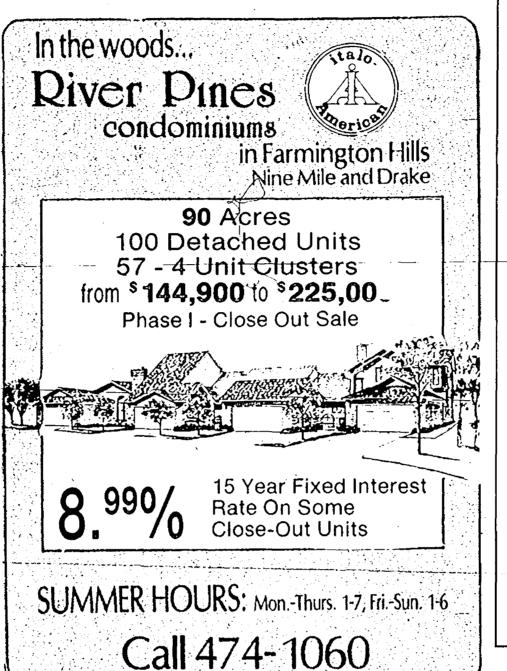

Whether it's the well-known image of John-John saluting a farewell at President Kennedy's funeral or an old, tattered picture of a favorite relative that has meaning only to a few, photographs touch us in ways no other medium can.

And we as photographers can touch people, too. We have the ability to make visible what others can only sense. We can move people and stir emotions in a way that is unique.

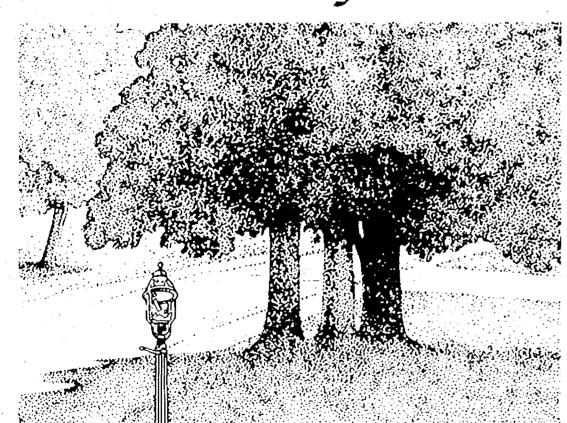

Take a moment to appreciate how very fortunate we are to have photography play such a vital role in our

The Bank of Commerce has begun inviting Michigan artists to enter its sixth art competition, bank president David J. Harris announced

As in the preceding competitions, Heritage '89 is open to artists 18 years of age or older. Heritage '89 welcomes works in two dimensional media submitted by Oct. 20.

The bank has acquired over 30 artworks in the five previous contests started in 1981 and proudly displays them in several branch offices. The five most popular paintings were reproduced in fine lithographic form and have been offered to the public since 1987.

IN-HERITAGE '89, a process of slide review will be used to select 40 works, which will then be evaluated in their original form. Then 18 finalists will be chosen and invited to the opening receptions of the two month-long exhibits. First, on Nov. 28, at the Bank's main office in Hamtramck, followed by an exhibit in the Warren City Hall opening on Jan. 9, 1990.

mounting them and encasing them into a lucite frame. The piece is 20 by 30 inches and covers a small, wide wall in my library.

TRACING YOUR family tree is becoming a popular thing to do. One of my clients is fortunate enough to have photographs of her parents, grandparents and great-grandparents — aunts and uncles as well. What a wonderful collection of photographs made more than a century ago. Many of the pictures were made in Russia and Poland. The originals were reproduced and are being framed at Knollwood Frame

We selected four different styles of frames and mats to complement each other. In total, 20 photographs are being framed. They will go up the staircase and the upper hall. I can't think of a painting that would surpass the pleasure this treasure will give to my client's children and their children's children.
