Thomas surprise nominee; will face Griffin

If history repeats itself — and in Westland politics it usually does — Mayor Charles Griffin could be in for a tough re-election battle this fall.

Griffin, seeking a second four-year term, topped a field of four candidates in the city's mayoral primary election Tuesday. But the mayor's total of 2,397 votes, or 34 percent, was far less than the nearly 50 percent received by his two closest challengers.

Robert Thomas, a city-public-services employee and self-declared long shot, edged out city council member and former mayor Charles Pickering for the other spot on the Nov. 7 general election ballot.

Thomas received 1,760 votes, or 25 percent. Plekering's 1,701 votes gave him 24 percent.

City Councilman Thomas Artley finished a distant fourth with 1,144 votes, or 16 percent.

A TOTAL OF of 7,039 people, or 15.6 percent of the 45,254 registered voters, cast ballots in the primary. Turnout four years ago was 18.4 percent.

Tuesday's numbers were nearly identical to the 1985 mayoral primary, which was won by then incum-bent Pickering. Griffin, who was Westland City Council president, used used his strong second-place finish as a springboard to a 53-47 percent win two months later. "You never blow anybody out when you have a four-way primary,' Griffin said Tuesday after the results were posted on the far wall at Leright's banquet hall. "So I'm not disappointed in that respect."

"It was a high-spirited (primary) campaign with very capable opponents."

A beaming Thomas, stopping every few moments to accept congratulatory handshakes from about 100 bolsterous supporters at the Bova VFW Post on John Hix, said he was "surprised, a little" by his secondplace showing.

When he entered the race in June, Thomas said his name wasn't as recognizable as the other candidates, despite his work with the department of public services and his

Women challengers finish in top three spots

By Leonard Poger editor

Three women challengers who topped the Westland city council primary election ballot Tuesday agreed on one thing - they were all surprised.

And the three male council members who finished in the next three spots admitted that they will have to work harder if they are to be re-elected Nov. 7.

Overwhelming the 12-candidate field was Sandra Cicirelli, an attorney and former teacher, with 3,517 votes, or half of the 7,039 votes cast.

Following her were Terri Relghard Johnson, 2,752, and Ethel Bollinger, 2,738.

Council president Kenneth Mehl, with 2,447 votes, led the slate of three incumbents who campaigned together with Mayor Charles Griffin, renominated for a second term in a four-person mayoral primary. Also renominated were Council members Ben DeHart, 2,292, and William Ziemba, 2,257, and challengers Dorothy Smith, 1,948, and Michael Bradley, 1,800.

Finishing out of the running for one of the eight nominations were Richard Ringer, 1,394; Helene Raupp, 1,147; Debbie Carman, 909; Lewis Beaver, 614; and Yousef Eadeh, 421.

Terri Reighard Sandra Cicirelli Johnson

Despite the strong primary showings by Cicirelli, Johnson and Bollinger, a council member who is giving up his seat this fall warned that a high finish in a primary isn't a guarantee that the candidate will repeat that showing in the general election.

COUNCIL MEMBER Kent Herbert, who has endorsed Bollinger to fill his seat, recalled at one of several election parties Tuesday that he finished eighth in the 1981 primary, barely winning a nomination, while an incumbent finished second.

But in that fall's general election, the incumbent was defeated while Herbert won the council seat. .

In Tuesday night interviews, the top three finishers admitted that they were surprised, but insisted that they will continue to campaign hard in the next seven weeks to gain a council seat.

Cicirelli admitted that she hoped to finish fourth or fifth, or third at the most.

She credited her strong primary showing to hard work and door-todoor campaigning with excellent support from her supporters, led by a nucleus of 10 people.

Jury hears testimony in shooting death trial

Did a Westland man fired from his job as manager of a Ford Road Ziebart rustproofing business last April avenge his dismissal with the planned murder of Michael LaDuc, his former supervisor - hunting La-Duc down with a 12-gauge shotgun as he tried to run to safety?

Tests ordered for stabbing suspect

By Tom Henderson staff writer

2A(W)

Jackie Daniel Ambriez, the Westland man accused of stabbing his wife more than 30 times and slashing her throat Sept. 1, was ordered to undergo testing to determine his competency after a dramatic pre-trial hearing in Westland's 18th District Court Monday afternoon.

Ambriez' wife, Cynthia, insisted, despite objections from court personnel, on sitting in Judge, Gail McKnight's courtroom to watch the pre-trial hearing. When he saw his wife, Ambriez began sobbing.

Ambriez's court-appointed attorney, Eric Handy, suggested that two powerful drugs Ambriez was taking to control his epilepsy - Dilantin and phenobarbital - may have left him; at least temporarily, unable to understand the charge against him or to assist in a defense, and may have reduced his responsibility for the attack.

Ambriez is charged with attempted murder and is in custody, unable to post a cash bond of $250,000. McKnight rescheduled his pre-trial hearing to Monday, Nov. 13, following examination at the Michigan Forensic Center in Ypsilanti.

A pre-trial hearing is held to determine that a crime was committed and that there is a reason to believe the accused committed it. If McKnight determines Nov. 13 that a crime was committed and that there is reason to believe Ambriez committed it, he will be bound over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

MONDAY'S HEARING was highly dramatic.

First, McKnight refused to allow Ambriez to be brought into the courtroom until three court officers were in the room to protect other-court officials, witnesses and spectators. One court officer stood in the aisle near the door through which defendants enter the court, blocking access to another door in case of an attempted escape.

But Ambriez, dressed in dark blue mechanics' overalls, was subdued.

When he spoke, it was in a quiet tone, his voice breaking with emotion. Twice he looked toward his wife at the back of the courtroom and broke into sobs. Court officials handed him a box of tissues. And when he was led from the court at the end of the hearing, he broke into loud sobs as the door was closed behind him.

His wife's appearance provided mute but poignant testimony to the savagery of the attack. Large bandages covered both arms from her fingers to her elbows. There was another bandage over part of her neck. Visible on the unbandaged portion of her neck were. scabs in the process of peeling off. Her left eye was black, 10 days ## after the attack.

HANDY ASKED for the forensic exam, saying that he thought his client understood the proceedings but wasn't sure. Judge McKnight then asked a series of questions. "Who am I?" she asked.

"A judge."

Who was the man (Handy) next to him? "A lawyer." And the man in the tan suit? "A prosecuting attorney." And what was the prosecutor's role?

"To protect my wife," said Ambrlez.

A' few seconds later, Ambriez, who was standing in front of the court, looked back at his wife for the first time and began sobbing quietly.

After another request by Handy for the forensic exam, which prosecutor Andrew Telek said he couldn't object to, the exam was ordered and Ambriez was led from the courtroom.

AMBRIEZ' SISTER, June Willey, had sat in the first row for nearly four hours, first waiting for the hearing and then listening to it. Outside the courtroom, she asked Handy if he could help her visit her brother.

"They won't let me in to see him," she told a reporter. "He doesn't have a mother or a father, they're both dead, and his grandmother is too sick to visit. So nobody's been in to see him. "What I heard is he doesn't remember what happened. You saw him in there. That's not him. He's sick. When they were taking him away I heard him say, 'I love you.' And he was crying.

"I don't know what it is. They said he wasn't on (illegal) drugs or alcohol when he did it. The devil 'got into him."

Cynthia Ambriez walked by and stopped to smile and nod at Willey. "Call me, OK?" asked Willey.

Mrs. Ambriez nodded approval. "Call me later today. I don't have your number, so call," said Willey.

Mrs. Ambriez nodded again.

WHEN ASKED for an interview. Mrs. Ambriez said quietly, sinking onto a bench in the hallway: "I don't want to get into it. But I am feeling pretty good."

The attack reportedly happened in the driveway of the Ambriez' home on Webster in Westland. It was witnessed by neighbors and the Ambriez' three sons, 12, 3 and 2.

Neighbors reportedly came to her aid and held Ambriez until police arrived and arrested him.

The 12-year-old first pleaded with his father to stop the attack, then ran to the neighbors and pleaded with them to help "because he is going to kill her," according to witnesses in the neighborhood south of Warren Road and west of Wayne Road.

"I GUESS THE more we got out into the community the better I thought my chances were," he said Tuesday. "But I didn't want to admit

A_31-year-old Westland man charged with one count of armed robbery was arraigned Tuesday inthe Westland Medical Center where he is recovering from three bullet wounds fired by Canton police.

"If it was not for the police, I would not have gone back. I know that if I need them, they'll be here," Carol Alterman said following the Sunday evening robbery of Dairy Mart where she is employed.

Alterman, 49, was working alone Sunday evening when a man entered the store, threatened her with a or an ice pick and took more than $350 from the cash register. The man fled in a car.

The incident occurred at 7:15 p.m. Alterman said the entire situation was done and over, including an arrest of the suspect, within an hour. She then returned briefly to work before being relieved by another employee.

The first officers arrived at the scene of the robbery "while I was calling them to report the crime." The suspect was apprehended "while I was writing out my report" at the police station.

"THE WAY THE police handled me is the only reason I'm not in the hospital right this minute," Alterman said the day after the robbery. "They treated me like family. They calmed me down."

Alterman, who has been working daily since the incident, also said she is not frightened, "I can't tell youhow safe I feel and it's because of how quick the police reacted" to the Sunday, Sept. 10, incldent.

Based on Alterman's account, a man entered the store about 7 p.m. and asked to buy meat. As Alterman walked to the counter, the man grabbed her from behind and forced her to lock the front door of the small grocery store. He then made her stand in the store's walk-in cooler, threatening to kill her if she moved.

After taking the money, he returned to the cooler twice, once demanding keys to the safe and a second time for keys to the back door of the store. Alterman said she had nelther key.

The man left by the front door. Two youths, boys Alterman said are regular customers at the store, followed the man to his car, noting the vehicle's license number, which they supplied to police.

The man was apprehended a short time later and arraigned Tuesday on robbery charges. (See related story.)-Alterman, a Canton resident for 16 years, has worked at Dairy Mart on Warren Road at Morton Taylor Road for two years.

Cicirelli's main message during the primary is that she would be an independent council woman, if elect-

She also emphasized her background as a zoning board of appeals member and that of an attorney and former teacher and membership on the alumni board of governors of the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

That background, she felt, would help make her an effective and independent council member.

ZOHNSON; currently a Wayne-Westland school board member, said she only hoped to finish in the top eight and gain a nomination and that sha was surprised to be in the top three.

In order to win in the fall, Johnson said she will need a "whole of of organization, more hard work, and that I will depend on the people who got me here."

Bollinger, who was supported by Herbert for the open council seat, admitted Tuesday she was "shocked and surprised."

And she was "absolutely" shocked to have women candidates grab the top three nominations.

Bollinger, who came within 75 votes of winning a council seat two years ago, said that voters took at the candidates' literature and decided who to vote for.

Looking ahead to the Nov. 7 general election at which four council members will be elected, Bollinger said she intends to work harder, knock on a lot of doors, and listen to what people are saying.

Mehl told the Observer that he predicted there would be some surprises in the primary.

The top three candidates "went out and worked."

Looking ahead to the fall election, Mehl said he and the other incumbents intend to see as many people personally as possible and that they would run a positive campaign. SPEAKING BEFORE a large crowd at Leright's banquet hall, Mehl said that the council members "obviously have some work to do in . the next 58 days" and hopes that the numbers will be different in the general election.

Ziemba commented that while he was surprised at the incumbents' finishes, there was some "misinformation" put out during the primary, referring to challengers saying that the city closed one of four fire halls. He said a fire station was closed only on a rotating basis.

Now with the field known for the general election, there will be debates and "a different outcome" in the fall.

Mayor Griffin, seeking a second term, added that "it looks like we may have at least one woman on the council. I have always advocated awoman on the council."

In the Nov. 7 vote, the top three vote-getters will win four-year terms while the fourth highest candidate will receive a two-year term.

The murder weapon, a .22-caliber. single-shot rifle that Galindo borrowed from a neighbor on Norene, was also recovered by sheriff's deputies and police found .22-caliber shell casings in the car. The neighbor testified that Galindo asked to borrow the rifle in order to kill "a stray dog."

Training called key in chemical rail fires

By M.B. Dillon staff writer.

4A(W.G)

Fire officials and concerned citizens from around the state converged at a legislative hearing on rail transportation in Wayne on Monday, sounding a plea for stricter safety regulations and more training and financing for firefighters.

"We have a serious hazardous materials problem in this state. We tried to address it and falled," said Jim Carr, coordinator of the Hazardous Materials Response Team serving western Wayne County.

"We don't have the funds to train people in this area. We've done it. but it's a great financial burden."

STATE REP. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who chairs the house Rail Safety Subcommittee, scheduled the hearing after the derailment in July of a CSX freight train.

The train derailed in the rural Saginaw County town of Freeland en route to the Dow Chemical complex in Midland.

Three tanker cars caught fire, emitting toxic fumes and causing the weeklong evacuation of 3,000 residents from a 25-square-mile area. The train, which travels every week from Dow's Texas facility to Midland, pases through the Plymouth-Canton and Westland area.

Since February 1989, three derailments have occurred in Michigan. Kosteva, whose district is crisscrossed by railroads, conducted the hearing along with State Rep. Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Transportation Committee.

In attendance were representatives of organizations including the Federal Railroad Administration; State Police; Firefighters Training Council of Michigan; Citizens Against Toxic Trains and the Michigan State Firefighters Union.

HAD THE CSX train derailed in western Wayne' County, "could we have evacuated 28 square miles for all that time? Could we have lived with that situation? I don't think so," said Carr, deputy chief of the Dearborn Heights Fire Department.

"This is the most populated area that chemical train goes through." While coordination is good among Michigan agencies, "we haven't come close to achieving a coordinated response plan," said Charles Griffith, research director with the Michigan State Firefighters Union. "The metropolitan area is as far behind as anyone.

"Unless the whole community is aware of the dangers and has some confidence in local agencies, the public has little trust in the process. When you lose public confidence, you also lose public safety, because people don't react in an organized manner."

"MICHIGAN RANKS third in the nation in the incidence of hazardous materials accidents with 5.63 per 1,000 miles of track," Frank Lieder of Citizens Against Toxic Trains told the legislators.

"The people of Michigan feel they can no longer entrust our lives to the Federal Railroad Administration. "We beseech the state to lower speed limits and adopt stricter guidelines," Lieder said.

The CSX Dow train "stops right in front of my house in Highland," he said.

"IT'S CLEAR we can put an emphasis on training, but in other areas, it's difficult to know where and how we could have the most ef- funding can do." fectiveness," Kosteva said.

"We don't have accurate enough data yet. Hopefully, we can get some unable to attend the hearing. data from the National Transportation Safety Board as to the specific causes of accidents.

"Hopefully this will result in concrete proposals we can take to the Legislature that show here is where cent of our fire departments are money is needed, and here's what the

"In Michigan, we've had preter good relationships with industry. Bar we're finding it's not enough. Down Chemical creates 60,000 to 70,000 chemicals. Fire departments don'r have chemists. The expectation thur? fire departments can handle every thing just isn't there."

Officials outline costs

The cost of training firefighters to deal with hazardous materials is staggering, an area fire chief said.

"Just for two people to be trained to be on the response team cost us $13,500 in manpower, equipment costs and the city's share of response team expenses," Westland fire Chief Larry Lane said, speaking at a legislative hearing on rail transportation in Wayne on Monday, "And it has to be ongoing training."

State Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who chairs the house Rail Safety Subcommittee, scheduled the hearing after the derailment in July of a CSX freight train.

It's hoped that setting up more response teams and and establishing a state-run training center in Lansing will help lessen the burden on local communities. But financing is an obstacle, said Lt. Arthur Nash Jr. of the State Police fire marshal division. -----

THE GOAL is to ensure that well-trained response teams can respond within an hour anywhere in Michigan, We have 16 response teams now, but all are in the southern part of the state," he said at Monday's hearing.

"Just to establish the response teams there'll be an initial cost of. $1.5 million, with continuing costs of $340,000 a year to train those response teams.

"If we can't come up with the funding, the Legislature is going to have to look at this and say, 'Is this something we want to fund?' That's the only way those who need training will receive it," Nash said.

KOSTEVA ASKED fire officials to forward documentation of costs to the subcommittee.

"One of the consternations I'm having is that money is needed at a number of levels. If we expect to go advocate for additional funding, having exact figures and what they'd buy would be a great help," Kosteva said.

Francis Ray of the United Transportation Union in Lansing proposed defraying costs by imposing "a ton mileage tax on shippers and haulers of hazardous materials."

Charles Griffith, research director with the Michigan State Firefighters Union, supported the idea.

"Ohio has passed one of the nation's best pieces of transportation legislation," Griffith said. "So far, CSX has been successful in holding it up as it pertains to rail, but its primary provisions include registration of hazardous material carriers in the state and route assessments.

The state "may assess penalties to the carriers, and fees to carriers to finance training," he said.

Westland fire Chief Larry Lane said the cost of training." firefighters to deal with chemical fires is staggering.

Wade Hampton saw the future опсе.

In his days as a U.S. Navy electronics specialist, the 54-year-old Canton man gained an advance look at a number of technological breakthroughs.

"I remember the first time I saw color radar," he said. "It was top secret stuff back then, they didn't want us to tell anyone about it even after we left the Navy."

These days, Hampton believes he's seeing the future again - every time he calls a computer bulletin board to his video screen.

The new frontier of mass communications, computer builetin boards allow users to share information without regard to international boundaries or government regulation.

be commonplace to shop, bank and pay taxes, all through an electronic blip.

"THIS IS really Jetsons stuff," Hampton said.

Computer bulletin boards have fast become a staple of business and government. President George Bush and Soviet Premler Mikhail Gorbachev can share information on global warming trends through a U.S.-U.S.S.R. link-up.

. But the growing personal use market may prove even more intriguing.

Bulletin boards provide access to business programs and-computer games, allowing users to check spelling or organize mailing lists while providing inexpensive entertainment: for their children.

"There's just ton's of things out there for people to use," said Russ Delaney of Great Lakes Computer Systems Inc., an area dealer. "Many Someday, enthusiasts say, it will of the programs that people buy, they can load into their systems free of charge."

Yet bulletin boards aren't called the "electronic back fence" for nothing.

They allow like-minded computer operators to borrow each other's programs or just shoot the electronic breeze.

"I'D SAY, yes, you could borrow a' computer program the way you'd' borrow a pair of hedge clippers," Hampton said, "It's also a good way, to get in touch with folks."

Bulletin boards also allow professionals to share sophisticated information on a wide-ranging variety of topics.

Fact or fiction:

• You can become infected with the AIDS virus by giving blood.

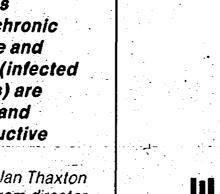

• You can contract AIDS by caring for someone with the disease, sharing their bathroom facilities, bathing them or assisting in feedings and medication.

• Being very selective in your choice of sexual partners is the best protection against contracting AIDS.

· Each of these statements are false but such myths are unfortunately believed by many, according to Jan Thaxton, a registered nurse from Westland. Thaxton hopes to help set the record straight in a lecture "AIDS: Fact, Fiction and Fear," Oct. 4 At Schoolcraft College.

"d'As a result of new drugs, AIDS is becoming a chronic disen and more people (infected with the virus) are living longer and leading productive lives. Both quality and quantity of life have been extended," Tflaxton said. A graduate of Schoolcraft's nursing program, Thaxton now directs AIDS public éducation for the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter.

"AIDS may not personally affect most of us, but it indirectly affects all of us," reads a description of the lecture in Schoolcraft College's fall brochure announcing Continuing Education Services.

In addition to dispelling myths, Thaxton has other goals as well, including public education about a disease that conjures up visions of horror for most.

Some news is even heartening.

PATIENTS NOW diagnosed with Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) that accounts for AIDS, can expect to live longer than those diagnosed previously because of such new drugs as Vidovudine (AZT).

"If treatment is begun before the final stages of illness, these new medications help the immune system fight off deadly infections. People live longer," Thaxton said. Of the 1,257 Michiganians who

The majority of Michigan patients live in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, nearly half are between the ages of 30 and 39 years and 80 percent have contracted the disease through high risk behavior, 59 percent through male to male sex and 21 percent through intravenous drug use.

"Most people are aware of how transmission occurs but not many are able to change their behavior. like using condoms or clean needles. Behavior modification is a very difficult thing to do. Anyone who has ever tried to loose weight or quit smoking knows that," Thaxton said.

The remainder of AIDS cases in. Michigan were contracted through blood transfusions (5 percent), heterosexual sex (3 percent) and at birth (2 percent). The origins of 4 percent are unknown, according to Thaxton.

Nationally, an estimated 1.5 million persons are believed to be infected with the virus and may or may not be displaying symptoms at this time.

Thaxton's lecture is 6-10 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 4, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road. Cost is $10. To register or for more information, call 462-4448.

Users see computer bulletin boards as an inexpensive, fun way to geton touch with like-minded individuals.--

"I'd say 98-99 percent of all bulletin boards are free," Hampton said.

"And I'd say most of us eventually meet face-to-face." Computer services that charge for information include Prodigy, the heavily promoted marriage of computer giant IBM and retail giant Sears.

With shop-at-home, bank-at-home and news service features, Prodigy and its rivals represent the next wave, Delaney said.

One rival; CompuServe, a 10-year veteran in the field, offers more than woll't fade from general use like . 160 different bulletin boards, which the company calls "forums."

The Columbus, Ohio-based firm bills itself as the largest information system of its kind.

"We're more than just a bulletin board, we're a full service organization," said company spokeswoman Kitty Thomas. "We have over a half million subscribers and it's growing all the time."

The key to the home use market, Thomas said, is that people are only now becoming aware of what computers can do.

"PEOPLE WHO may have bought computers to balance their check books now want to get something more out from their investment, she said.

Despite the presence of Prodigy, CompuServe and other giants like Dow Jones, enthusiasts said the bulk of the action is generated by the doit-yourself home bulletin boards.

What programs users choose often depends upon their age. "I don't use the news services. I'm mostly interested in the computer games," said 16-year-old Geoff Gladden of Canton.

Creating a bulletin board isn't complex, according to Delaney.

"Once you have a personal computer, it isn't too expensive to start one," he said. "Though you have to , add another telephone line,"

Some lines have short lifespans, however, because operators find it. tough to pay their new telephone bills. That is why some operators ask. for voluntary payment.

"It's really an honor system type of thing," Hampton said.

For now, the do-it-yourself bulletin boards are jammed.

"Bulletin boards come and go," Delaney sald. "But what we're finding is that there are far more interested users than there are bulletin boards to handle them."

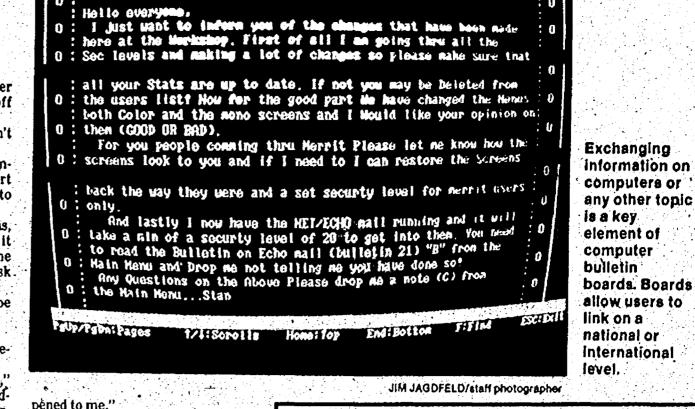

Nearly 700 people access his company bulletin board, Delaney said.

There is, however, a less-than-positive side to the craze.

Computer bulletin boards are supposed to reside in the public domain, using material that carries no company's copyright.

While the Federal Communications Commission isn't interested in regulating their content, enthusiasts said law enforcement officials keep an eye out for copyright infringements and hackers.

"Computer hackers are a problem" Hampton said. "There's also the risk of someone putting in a computer virus, though it hasn't happened to me."

Computer outlaws face even: stiffer penalties from foreign governments.

"I had one hacker access my system from Australia," Hampton said. "I just heard he was arrested for what he was doing over there and could face up to 100 years in jail."

That means the unlucky Australian, if he lives long enough, could be released back into a world where computer bulletin boards are as common as telephones.

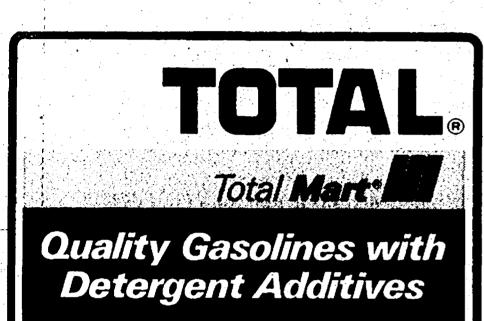

After all, Hampton said, the future is on its way.

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes — like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

COUNTY

But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, call JDF at (313) 569-6171.

Families help Irish kids spend peaceful holiday

By M.B. Dillon staff writer . .

One minute, Paul Casey, an 8land; was clowning around with his friends, posing for a photographer on ... the front lawn of his American host family's home.

The next minute, Paul, long lashes framing his large green eyes, was in a more serious mood. He was sitting by the driveway, talking about what -he likes and dislikes about the United States and Northern Ireland.

"The food here is kind of different. It's good," said Paul, a few hours before he and his brother Kevin, 6, ended their recent six-week stay in the United States.

The only thing I like about living in Ireland is when my mom takes us to the beach.

"The thing I don't like is when the Brits are around," Paul said, folded arms resting on his blue jams, eyes focused straight ahead.

"They break into the houses. They shot Daddy. It happened in my house."

Paul and his brother, a chaperone and three other children were sponsored by families from Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties through year-old from Belfast, Northern Ire- a program called Irish Political Prisoners' Children's Holidays,

Among those who donated airfare and expenses were Daniel and Gertle O'Kennedy of Livonia and Michael and Barbara Sullivan of Farmington Hills. This marked the first time Michigan participated in the program.

Like Keyin and Paul, the other youngsters have parents who've been involved in the ongoing struggle in Northern Ireland.

Kelly Skolarus, 16, and her parents Ed and Polly of Livingston County, hosted Kathleen Murray; 13, of West Belfast. Murray's father has been in prison for 11 years.

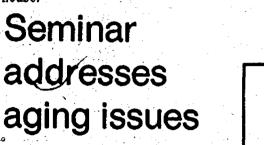

Said Kelly Skolarus, "We went out a lot with my friends - they really liked Kathleen. They called her 'Miss' Ireland?"

"We took her out to eat, and to Bahama Mamas in Taylor. We had a Rielly said what Kathy told her. about Northern Ireland "sounds like the Russian government. There are soldiers on the streets. Some are nice, but some can be really mean. They yell and swear at people. I don't believe things till I'm right there. But now I understand better."

KATHY, WHO has blue eyes and long, wavy strawberry blonde hair, said she's going to miss her new friends and "going to the beach." She's looking forward to Irish food, and "playing soccer and hurling with my brothers and friends."

What she dreads about going home is "just all the British soldiers shooting and fighting all the time, and just the feeling of people dying.

Ever since I was little, two or three times every year, the soldiers have raided our house. It's scary. the morning. They kick the door. If no one answers, they try and kick it they get everyone downstairs, and search the house. They look under the carpet, and look in the attic. They wreck the house looking for guns and bombs. They've never found any.

"If all the British soldiers were put out of Ireland, there would be no more trouble over there," she said. "If the British don't leave, there will just be sadhess. It will always be the same."

HOST FAMILIES and folks ranging from the manager at Meller to Detroit Tigers owner Tom Monaghan did what they could to help the children forget about their war-torn country for a while.

"The manager at Meljer's gave toys to Kevin and Paul," said Pat Ranger of Brighton, who with her husband Ray organized the trip and hosted three of the young visitors.

"People said Tom Monaghan would never do anything, but he sent the kids Tigers yearbooks and key chains. We had a lot of neighbors and friends donate clothing, toys and money.

They have guns and dogs and / "The children are all going home with new shoes, jeans, shirts and toys," she added.

The Matthews family of Howell hosted Rossa Quigley, who celebrated his 12th birthday during his visit.

"Rossa had never had a birthday party, and Anne (Matthews) gave him one," said Ranger. "They hired a magician, and had balloons, favors and crepe paper decorations, and served dinner to 25 kids. The kids wore birthday hats. Rossa may have thought that was kind of dorky, but he's going home with a birthday party under his belt."

Chaperone Rosle Murray, whose husband and brothers have been political prisoners, enjoyed a welcome respite as well. The top of Rangers' garage served as her sun deck, and Meijer as her second home. Just hours before the Irish entourage was about to leave, she was still shopping for clothes for family and friends.

Ranger hopes that next year more children and wives of political prisoners can visit the United States. Anyone interested in information, or in contributing to next year's exchange trip, can write P.O. Box 24744, Detroit, 48224.

The course request forms will be processed by class level to ensure that upperclass students are registered on a priority basis to get the courses they need to meet graduation requirements.

Data needed Police, fire study is a must-

COMPREHENSIVE study of the city's police and fire departments, including organization, staffing and technology, should put to rest any wrangling, about . thow many officers and firefighters the city should have.

The study, recently approved by the Westland City Council, will provide valuable information and directions for the city council and administration in trying to sort out the priorities on how to spend local tax dollars.

The issue, particularly in the police department, has been at the center of an ongoing disipute.

Residents tired of speeders and break-ins are demanding more patrol officers to respond quickly to their calls. Homeowners also are upset about closing one of four fire stations periodically to meet minimum staffing requirements.

The two departments and administration have consistently said they don't have the money to hire enough officers to satisfy the community's demands.

The study, which should be done by an outside organization, will certainly provide valuable information for the city's policy makers.

JUST AS important, it will provide the council and administration with numbers of officers and firefighters and dollar figures needed to bring. the two departments up to what they should be.

We hope the results of the study will be used by the council and administration as a tool for making short- and long-range budgeting goals for the two departments.

The last thing the community needs is to have the study completed then let it sit on a shelf and collect dust.

An important advantage of the proposed study a is that it will give both sides of the ongoing deA study will be valuable in helping. the city and community decide together how many officers and firefighters should be hired.

same base of information for discussion.

In past years, there was no consensus of what the ratio of officers or firefighters to population' should be.

Hopefully, the study will give the council and community the same set of numbers to deal with so there would be no argument on what the goals should be.

At a recent council meeting, the administration cited statistics showing a national average of municipal departments of 1.9 firefighters and and 1.6 police officers per 1,000 population.

WITH A population of 81,190, based on a middecade U.S. Census Bureau count, the city has fewer firefighters and police officers than the national average.

Westland has 63 firefighters and 89 police officers. Six of those officers will be freed of dispatching duties in a few months when six new dispatchers will be trained and be on the job by early next year.

But the council will have to balance the numbers recommended by the consultant with the number of available dollars.

Westland doesn't have the advantage of having a lot of industrial and commercial developments such as Livonia and Dearborn, but that doesn't prevent our city officials from planning more effectively to make the best use of their available dollars, such as combining similar duties in each

Excitement on the field, not in bottle this season

OUR SUBURBS will be pretty empty Saturday.

A good percentage of local residents will be hightailing it for East Lansing or Ann Arbor, as Michigan State and the University of Michigan launch their football seasons.

And this year, the excitement at the games (at least by the second half) will be generated from what's going on on the field and not from what's coming out of a bottle.

The University of Michigan, exhibiting one more facet of the leadership that should come from a worldclass university, last month banned bringing containers into the stadium - anything that could hold food or drink.

-Last week, MSU followed suit. As U-M season ticket holders, who like many fans have been relegated

I wonder what the funny guy in front of us will be like — without a drink in his hand? . . . It would be a shame if it turned out that without spirits he is spiritless.

out quiet, but by the half he's getting into it - no matter what's happenare extended to a broader and broader audience as the game goes on.

And, as a member of one of thefew sections with its own cheerleader, I wonder if he will still have the courage to stand up on the divider between the field and the seats and lead us in the M-I-C-H-I-G-A-N chant after a score - then gesture pointedly to the end-zone section reserved for fans of the opposing team. I sure hope so. He is an institution. It would be a shame if it turned out that without spirits he is spiritless. ON A LIGHTER note, lost in all the press given the crackdown on alcohol consumption is U-M's crackdown on umbrellas. That's really sticking it to us. We'll certainly be able to tell who's a fair-weather fan now. As the seasons change, half the funis waking up to that gray Saturday morning; contemplating whether it will or it won't, then tossing that -blue and yellow umbrella into the car and hoping that the old adage. holds - if you're prepared for rain, it won't.

And what's going to happen to all ing on the field - and his high fives, those blue and yellow umbrellas? They'll have to be left at the tailgate, taken to the golf course or - in the worst possible scenario - given toyour neighbor and season ticket holder for Michigan State, where they stopped short of the umbrella ban. "If you can cram anything into it, go ahead and try," laughed an MSU spokeswoman. You could say that MSU fans are more fragile, less staunch. Officials were afraid that, threatened with wet weather, fans wouldn't show up if they couldn't be protected by an umbrella. You could. But I won't. Happy football season.

Fighting drugs More local action needed now

RESIDENT GEORGE Bush's message is clear. If we want to rid our nation of illegal drugs, it's up to us.

If it's war we want, we'll have to be a the ones who wage it — in our home towns and in g our homes.

Though far-reaching, the president's proposal is woefully short of money. Consider this: the g federal government will spend just $32 for each man, woman and child in its new war on drugs. And that is with a $2.2 billion increase.

The president's speech set a moral tone. For now, however, it's up to us to put it into action. Whatever our disagreements with the president's proposal, now is no time to be sitting on our hands.

WHAT CAN be done to combat drugs? Plenty. First, let's not kid ourselves into believing illegal drugs are solely an urban problem.

If our suburban communities are free from law enforcement officials agree that dealers live here - even in the nicest of neighborhoods.

Government officials need to understand that. Western Wayne County, for example, has a multi-department police task force dedicated to knocking down suburban drug kingpins. Unfortunately, not every community contributes officers.

THIS ISN'T any time to slack off on community pressure, either. Parents need to continue spreading the word about the dangers of drug abuse.

We know of one large suburban community whose parental drug abuse task force has lapsed into obscurity.

But if it's an anti-drug abuse message we are sending, that message should be clear.

We know of another parental task force that financed anti-drug abuse programs through a cocktail party fund-raiser - without seeing the irony in its action.

Our proposed solutions are these:

We call on area police to redouble cooperative efforts. And we call on local elected officials to come forth with the money and manpower to make those efforts a success.

Also we call on all of us to re-examine our own behavior. Are we, like that parents group, sending mixed messages?

But if we shouldn't kid ourselves about suburban drug abuse, then neither should we kid our-

We call on area police to redouble cooperative efforts. And we call on local elected officials to come forth with the money and manpower to make those efforts a success.

WHILE LOCAL police can be wonderfully effective in bringing down local pushers, they can't. be expected to wage war against sophisticated South American cartels.

While parental guidance can help a child choose not to use illegal drugs, it is no substitute for the professional guidance needed for those children who have already made that choice.

-And while clear, unambiguous anti-drug messages may work for suburban youths, it might not prove enough for urban youths trapped inpoverty with no jobs or any on the horizon.

Make no mistake, we believe President Bush's program should be ratified by Congress. But it's only a start. We challenge Congress to come up with more money - without cheating programs designed to benefit poor Americans, as has been charged of the president's plan.

FINDING THE $1.8 billion necessary to pay for last year's Anti-Drug Abuse Act is a start. Just $1 billion has been appropriated of the $2.8 billion authorized.

But more money will be needed not only to punish the pusher but also to treat the victim.

The president has called drug users, even casual ones, a major part of the problem. Dealers wouldn't deal, he argues, if users didn't buy.

But health care professionals believe there must be more money to get users off drugs.

There is a national cry for a balanced approach: one part law enforcement, another part education and yet another part treatment.

We spend billions on weapons to protect us from outside attack, yet we're bleeding internally. What enemy ever devastated as many lives as illegal drugs? What enemy ever wasted so much human potential?

President Bush has given all of us our marching orders. And we should follow them.

to the same seats in the same row and section for the past five years, we've become accustomed to the people and tone of our section. It doesn't matter that from row 16, section 20, we can't see the far side of the field at all - we've got a great view when it's on our goal line.

SINCE RUMOR has it you have to be willed tickets or pay the hefty price to join The Victors Club to change season-ticket seats, we expect to be seeing these same folks for quite a while.

Parkland sale fought

To the editor:

I read with interest in the Aug. 31 Westland Observer a story regarding the Hawthorne expansion. But I find your survey results very confusing. When the extent of the expansion came to light in July, I covered a three-block-area-on-August-around my home and found not one person in favor of the park being sold to Hawthorne Valley,

I would like to know who conducted the survey. Some of my neighbors on August saw the surveyors, but were not asked their opinion. These surveyors were going to a street that does not border the park.

I wonder also why you didn't quote anyone against the park sale. Wouldn't that have been objective reporting? Please be fair. The land purchase extends from Merriman to Middlebélt Road and that is a large section of the parkway.

However, the golf course isn't the main issue here. The real issue is the sale of public parkland to a private developer, depriving families access to the park. We don't need golf courses as much as we need parks which can be used by many as opposed to the few who can afford the golf fees.

If this piece of the park is sold, we can probably expect more parkland. To the editor: to be sold and we can end up with no place for picnics, baseball and other free summer and winter recreation- neighbor for the past 16 years. I am was notified but evidently did not; find our efforts worth covering. We did get on the Channel 4 news on that date and also in the Detroit News. We have circulated petitions throughout the area and have many signatures of county residents who object to the sale of county parkland, especially to a private developer.

We plan to continue to object to the sale until we have exhausted all possible avenues open to us.

But please do us the courtesy to of listening to us, we are your neighbors, and we read your newspaper too. We know there is a large number of the people bordering the park who do not want it sold.

The people you quoted in your paper are people who already live on the golf course that now exists. Talk to those who do not live on the edge of the course too. They purchased land on the parkway and would like to see it stay that way.

Enjoyment of 'my lake'

MY LITTLE lake is one that thousands of other folks know about. On Labor Day weekend, nearly all 200 campsites are awash with trail-" ers, motor homes, RVs and tents.

The water is of pristine clarity, the way you imagine water was: when Nicolet and Joliet canoed into Michigan. It takes two solid days of . boats powered by 150 horse power engines towing water skiers to stir. up even a little'sediment.

The air is abuzz with engines four-wheel drives, inboards, outboards, chain saws, all-terrain vehicles, the truck of a guy who sells campers firewood at $1.50 a bundle, even though the forest is full of deadfall pine and oak branches.

One chap with a guitar played about 15 minutes. The rest of the time, you hear rock music on radios.

Families mostly take over the place, nice folks from the metro Detrolt suburbs, Midland, Bay City, Monroe. Much of the sound is made by children at play. This little lake doesn't attract partying, foulmouthed drunks.

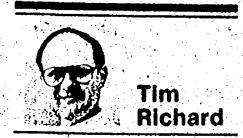

The park manager, a career DNR type, takes pride in its maintenance and regrets only that he can't make improvements faster.

MY LITTLE LAKE reveals another side when the weekend hordes evaporate.

Last year, the Tuesday following Labor Day, an adult bald eagle visited the dead tree next to the picnic beach. I was able to glide the boat within 100 feet of our national bird, who looked past me as if I were a worthless worm.

This year, one cool morning before the water skiers were out, an osprey did a diving act.

The lake level is down, given the dry summers of recent years, so the beach is wide. The woods are dry and free of mosquitoes. You can take a leisurely stroll a few hundred yards from the campground. If you can slt there with a book, or maybe

And if you drive at a leisurely pace down a county road instead of the maniacal pace of I-696, you can see big flocks of wild turkeys, families of deer and grouse.

WHEN IT'S QUIET after the hordes depart, you can hear the highpitched bugling of the elk as he stakes out his territory and serenades for mates.

You must listen carefully. Any transistor radio will obscure his 'Oo-o-o-E-e-e-e." I doubt many water sklers ever hear it.

Across the two-lane highway from my little lake is a gravel pit. The pit and the neighboring woods are used only by ATV drivers, as near as I can tell from the sandy ruts that carve the hills, and guys who shoot holes in Busch beer cans.

Too bad, because the flatter rocks contain tiny fossils of sea creatures from millions of years ago. The glaclers that covered the North American continent to the Ohlo River. picked them up and laid them down again.

I had the place pretty much to myself. Maybe fossils of ancient creates aren't as much fun as running of the devil. Or maybe people just don't know,

Other prizes are nearby. One lake has a loon, with its wobbling, plaintive cry. That lake is small and shallow, not much good for water skiing, so just a few quiet boaters get to enjoy it.

That lake connects to a flooding with a million zillion ducks, herons and geese. One can't run a 140-hp engine in that swamp, so quiet people can savor it at will.

"My lake", isn't private property at all. But if you proceed quietly, you soon possess an infimense amount of wealth.

WHEN GEORGE BUSH announced his plans for cracking down on drugs last week, he said twice that he wanted to send the message to drug traffickers that "the rules have changed."

The phrase was intended to show that the kind and gentle president was getting tough , . . on drugs at least. And since politicians are al--ways changing the rules in the middle of the game, that idea didn't seem to bother anyone. Except maybe me.

What bothered me about the phrase was not the words but the concept. We are in the middle of an era when changing the rules has become all too common, and all too

Rules are changed by government bodies, public officials and private organizations to meet what are perceived to be the needs of the moment without any regard to the long-term effects,

All too often individual liberties are eroded in the process. The rule-changers are acting with the kind of panic mentality that exists in wartime. And that, I suspect, is at the heartsof the matter. "War" has become the buzzword of the current era. We don't try to solve the problems of crime or racism or drugs or hunger. We declare war on them.

Thus, we have the "War on Racism," the "War on Drugs," the "War on Crime." But in any war, some liberties are lost.

THAT'S THE reason the American Civil Libertles Union attacked parts of the president's drug program, which includes, among other things, more drug testing of workers, more penalties for first-time users and more pre-trial forfeiture of vehicles and other assets.

The ACLU issued a statement calling some of the measures "attackson basic values like the presumption of innocence, the right to be free from unreasonable searches and seizures and the right to due process of the law."

Yet we seem to be forfeiting bitsand pieces of these rights every timesome official or organization "changes the rules."

Consider just one minor skirmish in this series of Social Wars - the "War on Smoking." Smokers, in the eyes of the warmongers, have forfeited all rights just by lighting

A classic example of this showed up in a small help-wanted ad that appeared in this newspaper a few months ago. The last line in the adread: "EOE - Non-smokers only."

How any company could proclaim itself to be an "equal opportunity. employer" that discriminates only against smokers is beyond me. But that's the kind of logic that even the most liberal among us accept as perfectly reasonable today.

IN ITS FERVOR to join the "War on Racism," the University of Michigan - one of the hotbeds of liberalism - recently adopted a policy that was so strident in its attack that a federal judge ruled that parts of the document were in clear violation of the First Amendment.

That ruling has caused Birming. ham schools to delay adopting a similar policy for their system.

Troy Schools, joining the crusaders against gambling, drugs and tobacco, recently added a catch-all phrase to the student rule book that could play absolute havoc with individual rights. In listing things that students are not allowed to possess, the term "etc." was added after the words "drug paraphernalia."

At least one board member worried about that small addition, saying that police liaison officers could be "exceedingly zealous" in enforcing the rules:

And in Southfield, when the question of drug testing of school employees was raised, one teacher said it didn't bother him. "It may be a violation of my rights," he added, "but the kids have rights, too."

Yes, they do. We all have rights. But little by little they are being chipped away in the panic of waging war on societal problems. And we're giving them up without a protest.

We need to find solutions to the problems of drugs and crime and poyerty. But we dare not give up our individual liberties in the process.

teachers to avoid a "split." If there are 10 potential "splits" in a school district (with moderate funds) and the administration decides not to use "split" sections, the cost is 10 extra teachers or $350,000 (with benefits). The question then becomes, "Is the district being fiscally responsible?" Principals generally place one of their most experienced and competent teachers in a "split" to grant a quality experience for children and to reduce parental anxiety. # Day care: Who has my baby?

By Shirles Rose Iden staff writer

Who will care for my child?

Grandma works as a grocery checker or may be off on a cruise. Relatives are in far away citles. Dad walked out when the kids were tiny babies, so mommy has to work. Who will care for her child?

With the sun's light at morning, more than half of American mothers are off to the job, facing the challenges of the work place only after having deposited their preschool children in some type of day care.

According to agencies involved in child care services, as many as two-thirds of preschool children in the country will have working mothers by 1995.

Doctors, lawyers, educators, engineers, clerks, waitresses and office cleaners all ponder the child care question. They are mothers and fathers who ask: "How can we insure the care, cuddling, feeding, socialization of the children we must work to support?

For many mothers, child care choices boil down to bringing a relative or helper into the home or seeking a care center or family day care elsewhere.

RESEARCH ON the social development of young children in non-maternal care is just beginning. Moreover, even the early researchers don't always agree.

One study, by psychologist Deborah Phillips of Yale University and colleagues, indicates that the kind of day gare received is of key importance to children's. social growth, perhaps as important as family background.

Another study, flashing caution signs for parents, suggests that daily separation from mother during the first year of life, even with the child at home, is a risk factor which could lead to a disturbed mother-infant relationship.

Except for one extended maternity leave in 1986, Brenda Moore has been employed almost continuously by the city of Westland since graduating from John Glenn High School in 1975.

"I've worked nearly all the time. I always thought I'd get bored staying at home," said Moore, a Westland resident who now works in the records department for the city's police department.

But since spending 10 months at home during her final pregnancy nearly four years ago, Moore found she was not bored at all. "There was always something to do."

Now, she feels as though "I'm missing a lot with the kids. I'd rather stay at home," caring for Christopher, 6, Matthew, 5, and Nicholas, 2.

But given the choice of staying home, Moore said, "I wouldn't quit my job at this point. It wouldn't be worth it. I have good benefits and in just a few more years, all three will be in school," substantially reducing child care costs.

Moore estimates she spends a third of her salary on child care expenses, "The expense is one of the biggest things about working."

STILL, MOORE IS luckler than most. Relatives have provided the majority of care.

Except for a single year when she relied on a licensed center, Moore's mother-in-law and sister-inlaw cared for the youngsters in their own home.

More recently, Moore has a unique arrangement with a cousin in Livonia who has two young sons ages 1 and 5 years. An aunt cares for all five boys, alternating between homes every other month or so.

Coming and going from each home saves on wear and tear in any one house," Moore said.

When the children are at Moore's home, she resumes a longstanding practice of returning home for lunch and eating with the children:

"It's a little more time each day with them, so it doesn't seem like I'm gone for the entire day. I guess it makes me feel better too," she said.

To compensate for time away from the boys, Moore and husband Tom, a tool and dye apprentice, plan frequent family outings, camping and fishing trips in northern Michigan. The family also takes evening bike . rides together and spend extended time around the family swimming pool. The two older boys play T-ball and Chris is a Cub Scout.

Rosalind Gilson, preschool educator, is an educa tional observer for Head Start and the Merrill-Palmer Institute and was director of the Beth Hayeled Nursery of Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield.

On home day care, she commented: "There are two types of child care in homes, first, group care for up to 12 children requiring a license; and secondly, family care, for up to six children requiring registration." "The advantage of family care for the child is that the staff won't pick up and leave. Frequent changes in staff is a big problem in day care."

Gilson, and others involved, indicate that the only discernable difference between children in day care and kids at home with mother is that the day care kids are "more outgoing and adjustable."

Dr. Berry T. Brazelton, a nationally known child expert, is alarmed because he sees a society of families and parents "not seeming to care about kids."

"Teens are acting out all over the country and no one relates them to the parenting of little kids," he said recently. "A working parent coming home has to save some energy, stride in and grab all the kids in a warm hug, then maybe move to a rocking chair and just rock and rock."

"There are too many children in overcrowded rooms with a TV as the teacher," he said. "Money spent on child care does pay off, if its quality child care."

LINDA BOLTON, a Birmingham pediatrician on the staff of Providence Hospital in Southfield, has many. tools to ply her trade. But beside the stethoscope and blood pressure machine, she stocks booklets such as "Breast-feeding Guide for Working Mothers" circulated by a company involved in infant nutrition.

"It has instruction for breast-feeding mothers whose bables are in day care while they work," Dr. Bolton said. "Mothers don't have to wean because they are returning to work."

Bolton, a social worker before going to medical school, is well versed in the problems of child care. "I know every permutation of the child raising situation," she said.

"Some women need to be home with their bables. Other can't. I know bankers, doctors and a pedlatri-cian who stayed home and others who couldn't cope with being at home.

"Some have the luxury of choice, others don't. People who have the most stress are those who don't have to work but have a good job. The major question in this country today is career vs. child raising.

"Remember, almost no pregnancies are accidenta now."

BOLTON SAID studies about child care do not confirm parental guilt. "The 2-, 3- and 4-year-olds love day care centers and many in this area have excellent equipment, even music facilities.

But, checking out day care is just plain tough. Mothers should talk to other parents, check licensing, look the place over, and make sure its clean, neat, and flexible where you're always welcome."

Married to attorney Michael Bolton, she decided to go to medical school at Michigan State University partly because she was unable to get pregnant herself. "I thought medicine would fulfill me, but I got pregnant in med school. As a social worker, I thought I should stay home and care for my child, but there -

'Maternal instinct' keeps her home

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Little in life provides Robin Guagardo of Westland with more satisfaction and pleasure than caring for her four children.

'It's like I have too much maternal instinct. But the thought of putting the crib away forever is very disheartening," said Guagardo, mother of Jonathan, 1, Ashley, 3, Anthony, 5, and Michelle, 7.

"Everything I do is with them. They're not a bother to me. In fact, I usually have three or four others around," she said, referring to four nieces and nephews between the ages of 3 to 8 years who live nearby.

During summer months, the brood goes swimming three times weekly. "When I traipse in with nine kids under 8 years of age, the life guard isn't exactly thrilled," she said with a laugh.

Guagardo and the children also regularly visit the park and take nature likes. She recently organized a picnic for Anthony and other 5-year-olds who started kindergarten this month. During the school year, Guagardo is a room mother and member of the Parent's Club at St. Valentine's Catholic School in Redford Township where the children attend school.

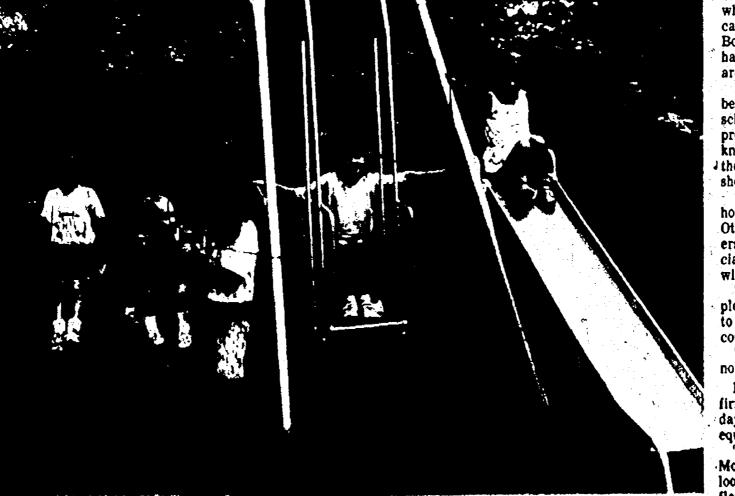

When I'm home, I'm with them. We do so many things together."

THE DECISION on "putting the crib away for good" is the source of Guagardo's greatest indecision.

Raising four children la expensive, she said, referring to such incidentals as "a continuous round of play shoes, dress shoes and winter boots." To augment husband Anthony's income as manager of the Franklin Hills Racquet Club, she works part time for United Parcel Service.

"If you don't get out at all, things can become very ." boring." But, whenever she sees a newborn, she wants' another baby of her own.

Aspiring teacher finds day care an education

By Larry O'Connor stall writer

A miniature child's table and chair set sits in the corner of the playroom. Without hesitation, Chris Kelly plops down on one of the chairs.

'I'm used to sitting in small chairs," said Kelly, 22, with a laugh.

That's one of the skills that comes with taking care of other people's children. She's been working at Kiddle Junction in Wayne for 2½ years.

The 3-year-olds are her territory at Kiddle Junction with 10 in a group. Her day starts at 7:30 a.m. and ends at 2 p.m. in the summer. In the fall, she works full-time. She's there when they come in the morning, groggyeyed and sometimes cranky. She's there when they cry for their mothers. She's there when they might fall and scrape their knees.

A person must have an affinity to children to be in day care. Kelly does.

She's an education major at Eastern Michigan University, hoping to teach early elementary students when she graduates.

"It's more than just liking kids," said Kelly, a 1985 graduate of Westland John Glenn High School. "I feel good when I get them to write their name without any help, to see the kids learning."

Those are the rewards. Those in day care work for relatively small pay. Many start out at minimum wage.

THE TURNOVER can be high. Many who take day care jobs think it is simply a babysitting job. Kelly said they soon find out otherwise.

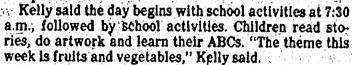

We have a good group here," Kelly said. "We've been together for a year now."

Stability helps, especially since it usually takes time .for parents to build trust in day care workers.

"You have to handle each one differently," she said. "Some of them you can joke with. Some of them are very straight-forward. They want to know exactly what their child did during the day.

"It takes quite awhile (to build trust). They ask you questions like, What kind of training do you have for. this?' When their kids are first starting, they call and check up if their child was crying before they left in the morning,'

At Kiddle Junction, children are put into groups according to age and ability. The center is designed for kids age 21/2-8. Included is a separate playroom and a computer room.

The experience at the center is valuable, especially for someone who wants to become a teacher. But the seeds of day care work were planted long ago. Kelly has two younger sisters.

"I was the built in babysitter," she said.

Like other in home child care providers, Janaan Gronau of Westland first saw the job as an opportunity to spend more time with her own children.

That was 18 months ago. Today she cares for six children from infancy to age 6, in addition to her own four children, who are now 11 to 16.

Gronau, who is licensed to care for six children, said her program isn't rigidly structured.

"We don't all color at 10 a.m.," she said. "Most of them are young. Their attention span is too short. They like the buddy system. They like to play. And they like to know that I'm around."

Gronau notices a difference among children who were formerly in institutional day care centers.

Arranging your own care plan

By Marcie Walker special writer

One of the most difficult decisions that working parents of an infant or preschooler must face is in whose care to place their child during the work day. There are several child-care options to consider:

- A professional nanny
- A full-time baby sitter A family or group home
- Day-care center

• Núrsery school (in cases where a parent works part time)

After deciding upon the type of care desired, the next problem is the selection process. Public, non-profit and commercial agencies are available to help in the process. These include:

• The Department of Social Services. For Oakland County, call 858-1612. For Wayne County, call 256-3814. Specify the type of care (family home, group home, daycare center or nursery school) and the communities in which you are looking, and they will send you a computer printout of licensed caregivers at no cost.

• The Wayne or Oakland County Child Care Coordinating (4C) Council. For Oakland County, call 858-5140; for Wayne, call 579-2777. The 4C's referral services are also free of charge.

• Nanny Agencies. The Nanny Network and Nanny, of America are two commercial agencies that will match you with a nanny. Delta College, in Bay City, has a free matching service, but they also have a long waiting list. *

• Baby-sitting Agencies. Check the Yellow Pages. There are several agencies that will arrange short or long-term baby sitters.

• Want-ads. Those operating family or group homes often advertise in the newspaper. If responding to an ad, make sure that they are licensed by the DSS. Baby sitters who will come to your home also advertise. The DSS does not require licensing for these caregivers.

Preparing Your Child for Day Care

The first day of leaving your infant with a caregiver is usually harder on the parent than the child. But an older infant or toddler will need more comfort and reassurance. While it will always be difficult on the parent and child in the beginning, there are some steps that parents can take to make the transition a little less stressful:

• If using a family or group home, visit with your child beforehand to make sure that the caregiver is familiar with his routine. Show him around, so that he

"I don't know what goes on there (in the centers), but when I get the kids they are usually hysterical for about the first week," she said. "I think they need the home atmosphere. They calm right down."

Gronau's philosophy is to meet children half way not catering to every whim the way a parent might be inclined to do, but also not acting as unbending dictator. --

"THERE ARE times when you have a bad day or they have a bad day," she said. "But that's natural. The kids have to adjust. They have to get their security with me and know that I'm not going to hurt them."

There is a class orientation sponsored by the Department of Social Services.

"They let you know what to expect but you are more or less on your own," she said.

"It is rewarding when you find you have a love conaection," she said. "They do come around. They do appreclate you. Three- and four-year-olds say things honGUY WARREN/staff photographer

Child care for her is the only option

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Roberta Curry is part of the legion of single working mothers for whom day care is not an option, but a fact of life.

Widowed seven years ago at a time when she was already working outside the home and nurturing two young sons, her new status only served to make her daily routine that much more difficult.

"After my husband died, there was no one else there to help," she said. "If one of the kids was sick, it was my responsibility to be there."

Curry's first delve into the world of hired caregivers led her to a woman who came into her home to watch her, boys, a solution that ultimately didn't work out.

"Unless it's family, I found that you just can't rely on other people," she said. "To me, it's worth it to pay more money and know the service will be there. If a staffer is sick in the day care center, that's their problem to find a replacement, not mine."

For the past several years, Curry has relied on Livonia Little Tots, a 25-year-old day care operation that cares for children ages 3 months to 8 years, Brian and Michael Curry, now 9 and 8 respectively, were enrolled in Little Tots at age 3.

Both began gradually, first going twice then three times a week. In the interim. Curry's sister-in-law cared for them while she went to work at CNA Insurance in Birmingham, where she is currently a group claims supervisor with 19 years seniority.

BOTH BOYS went to Little Tots full day kindergarten program and have spont the past few summers in particularly the summer day camp. Even if I took off the whole summer; we would never do as much as they do with the camp. They go on at least one field trip a week."

Curry said both her sons have adjusted well to their routine and luckily - have not been sick very often. One bout with the chicken pox, a contagious-disease with a threeweek incubation period, was managed by a relative who stayed home with the convalescing boys.

"They're used to getting up early," she said. "And they really don't complain much."

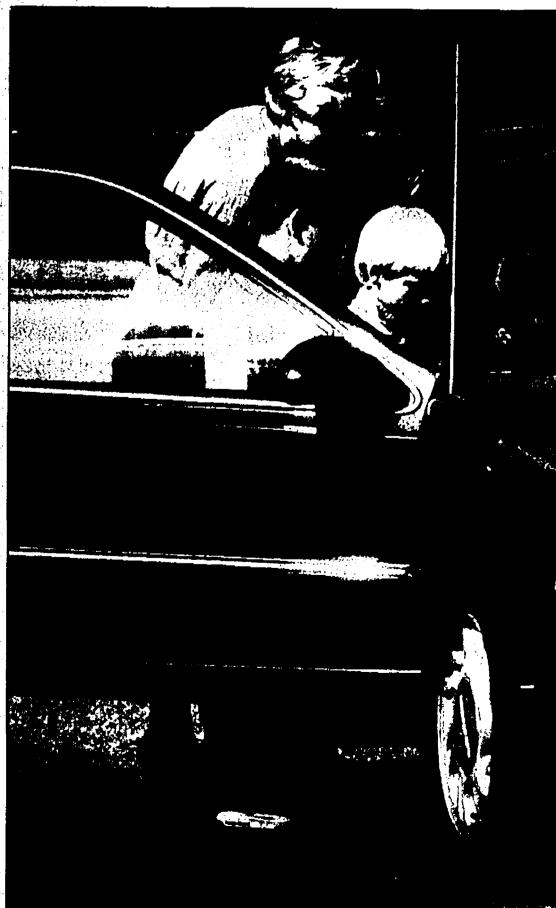

Her advice to parents seeking a competent caregiver: "Investigate the center or someone coming into your home. Know their qualifications."

Day care is expensive, she admits, but "I'm not sure any of the other centers would be cheaper and at least it's very reliable. I can count on them. I'd rather pay the money and know I'm going to be at my job daily."

THE ONE worry Curry currently harbors is what she is going to do with her sons over the next few summers, when they are too old for summer day camp, but too young to be left alone for eight hours a day.

"I think they still need supervision." she said. "I don't know what I'm going to do next summer. That worrles me."

Curry said she usually takes a couple of weeks vacation in the summer to spend with the boys and then reserves another four or five days to use in the case of illness or emergencies. The family's schedule is looser in the summertime, but once the school year resumes, the boys are busy in after school and evening ac-becomes used to the toys, other children, the yard, bathrooms, etc.

• A sitter or nanny should come to your home before you return to work, so that your infant or toddler will be come used to her and sho will learn your child's routine.

• If using a day-care center or nursery school, talk to the teacher and director beforehand. If possible, arrange to visit the center once or twice with your child for an hour or two before you return to work.

Most children will adjust to their new routine within a few days. Perhaps the most important factor for any child-care situation is to make sure that your child will be in a loving environment. During that first week, he will probably need extra comfort - if the center or home cannot give your child the extra attention he needs, you may want to consider a different option.

Sick Child Care

When your child becomes ill, a parent will inevitably have to take occasional days off from work. A new type of child care, called sick-child care, is gradually emerging in the metro area. These are options to consider if your child is only mildly ill or has to stay in bed for one or two more days before returning to school. Or, perhaps you absolutely have to be at work for one reason or another.

Pontiac General Hospital and Botsford General Hospital, in Farmington Hills, have both set up sick-child care centers for the children of their employees.

Two options are available in the metro area for the general public:

 Oakland General Hospital, in Madison Heights, has opened their Kids' Klinic. For a $20 fee, sick children can be cared for during the work day. Parents must call (967-7594) before bringing in their children.

• Rent-a-Mom. This program, run by Health Care Professionals of Southfield, provides nurses aides on an hourly basis to care for sick children in your home.

You might also consider contacting a babysitting or 2 nanny agency, if your child just has the sniffles. Many of 2 these agencies have short-term, hourly fees.

"She never once got up for us when I was little, but she came every day at 7 a.m. to care for the kids so I could do the internship and be licensed. Shortly after, 18 we found a housekeeper who stayed five years."

JANET PONT, director of the Beth Hayeled Nursery School, says that Congregation Shaarey Zedek has parenting classes for parents who are "juggling the a physical and emotional needs of their kids."

A recent recipient of her master's in preschool and parent education, Pont will shortly begin work on her doctorate at Wayne State University.

"There is a trend right now for all day kindergartens, but this is for need rather than education," she said. "The needs of parents have changed drastically," but the needs of children are to be children. Play is a child's learning. Overall, children need to develop self. esteem."

Today's working parents shop for day care even b fore conception. Finding just the right place to have a child nurtured is tedious and demanding, but vital. Speaking in Southfield in 1972, Mary Dublin Keysterling, an economist from Washington, D.O. labeled her talk on day care for preschoolers "the number one Item of unfinished business of the American people." As we approach the new decade of the 1990s, American parents are still asking: "Who will care for my child?"

Child care: 'Benefit of the '90s'

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Child care benefits, long overlooked by corporate America, are receiving renewed attention by employers scrambling to fill jobs from a shrinking labor pool.

"The benefit of the '90s," predicts Georgiana Jasnowski of the 4-C Child Care Coordinating Council in Wayne County. "Employers have to do something," she said, in view of "a decreasing work force and more jobs."

Jasnowski's 4-C counterpart in Oakland County, Paulette Chaplin, agrees.

"Severe labor shortages at entry level positions already exist. While big employers aren't feeling the crunch yet, they very soon will. And I think they're going to be forced into providing child care services," Chaplin said.

To date, few firms offer such benefits. Of an estimated 6 million companies nationwide, a mere 4,150 have programs, based on figures maintained by the National Commission on Working Women.

In Michigan, an estimated 200 firms, 30 percent located in metropolitan Detroit, offer various programs, but most are limited. because "the whole concept is new to corporate America," according to one corporate official whose firm launched benefits this summer.

Other possibilities for consideration include child care subsidies in lieu of health, vacation or other benefits now earned by employees and resource and referral systems that assist in tailored child care, rather than settling for what is readily available.

Presently, Burger King of Michigan subsidizes wages of employees at 19 outlets in Kent, Ottawa and Montcalm counties, paying an additional $1.50 hourly to those with young children. The big

State lawmakers prefer volunteer child care plans

By Tim Richard staff writer.

Republicans and Democrats agree: State' government shouldn't mandate child care benefits, but it's wonderful if businesses provide benefits voluntarily.

"We did not want governmentmandated benefits," said state Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, chair of a GOP task force that is producing how-to booklets for business and giving non-cash awards to employers that run a good program. "We need to stroke companies for new ideas."

"We're not handling it as a women's issue. It's not a women's issue," said Jeanette Hercik, a highranking official in Gov. James Blanchard's state Commerce Department.

"I'm not a child development person. I'm a working mother," added Hercik, who is putting together a 21-member, business-dominated task force on child care this fall.

THERE ARE virtually no bills in Michigan's legislative hopper on child care, although in time there may be cautious advances in licensing.

There are federal income tax benefits to setting up child care programs, and both parties are scurrying to make the 1986 tax law better known.

House Republicans have a free booklet called "The Michigan Employers' Guide to Child Care" that covers taxes and other ideas.

The Blanchard administration is setting up tax-free accounts for state employees. And his Treasury Department is working on a plan to do the bookkeeping for small businesses unable to do it themselves.

It works like this: The employee has up to $5,000 of pre-tax earnings deducted and set up in a special "child/dependent care account." A said it's "not up and running yet" but will be ready about Jan. 1.

★ ★3B

Under that, employers will withhold employees' care account money as well as taxes and submit them to Treasury, which will do the accounting. Employees would sub: o mit reimbursement requests to the state, which would make payments from individual "care accounts . plus."

If 30,000 Michigan families set up child care accounts, the state Treasury estimates it would lose it only about $7 million in revenue -1/10th of 1 percent of the budget.

JEANETTE Hercik of the Commerce Department said Blanchard will announce the 21 members of the child care task force sometime this month.

"Fifteen will come from the private sector. The private sector should have a majority," she said.

"It will have a business perspective - the economic climate -- not a social service perspective. We want to maintain Michigan's competitive advantage."

Hercik said Blanchard himself will chair the group's few meetings in its 90 days of life,

Her view is that many businesses want to do the right thing but don't know how. "Companies are calling me on how to do child care because they're not in the kid business," she said.

WHAT KINDS of changes could a task force recommend? • A child care ombudsman in 4: the Commerce Department.

• Training of day care providers. At present, a provider-working at home with fewer than six children need only register with the state Department of Social Services. Larger establishments must be licensed.

• A study of capital needs of providers.

"A CAFETERIA-STYLE benefit program" offering a variety of options is the ideal, according to John Szutarski of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance in Farmington Hills. Last May, the firm offered a flexible payment account, today's benefit of choice by most corporations.

Under such a plan, untaxed salary is earmarked for child care costs, saving the employee and the corporation taxes on withheld sums. While actual benefits are small, the program is considered by many to be at least a beginning.

Fidelity Bank, a community bank with branches in Birmingham, Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Troy, and Olin Industries in Livonia maintain such accounts.

Alexander Hamilton also implemented flexible work schedules this summer. From May to September, work hours were extended Mondays through Thursdays. Each Friday, the workday ended at noon

Flexible working hours "provide extended opportunity for families to be together, increased R and R time on the weekend," Szutarski said. The firm is now considering flexible work schedules on a permanent basis.

Six years ago, employees of the city of Southfield decided an onsite day care would be an asset for them. With the passage of years, all of those parents' children are now in school, but the idea didn't fade,

Within a month the Southfield Employees Day Care Center will open in the old Tennis and Arts Center of the Civic Center. It will be the first municipal child care center in Oakland County.

three auto firms, GM, Ford and Chrysler, each offer resource an referral services.

"MORE WOMEN THAN ever before are majoring in accounting, some 50 percent of all students," said Barbara Fornasiero of Plante & Moran, an accounting firm with offices in Southfield and Rochester.

"We looked at our demographics, who we are hiring, and decided it's necessary to do these kinds of things for the viability of the company," Fornasiero said of child care benefits offered by that firm.

In addition to extended parental leave (18 weeks beyond accrued paid leave) and flexible funding, the firm offers free on site child care each Saturday in the Southfield office during tax season, from January to mid-April. Up to 20 children ages 18 months to 12 years are cared for in a specially outfitted conference room that is converted into a day care center.

Quality on-site child care is costly and almost always requires some corporate funding, especially when starting up and if infants and toddlers are included, according to Janet Munson.

"It's expensive bringing child care onto your campus," said Munson, an early childhood specialist whose firm, on-site Child Care Services, has assisted in establishing many of the 17 on-site corporate centers now in Michigan, including those at Pontiac Osteopathic and St. Joseph hospitals in Pontiac, St. Mary in Livonia and William Beaumont in Troy.

Hospitals, responding to critical nursing shortages (many of whom are child-bearing age females), and the expense in training new employees, are setting trends in on-site care, aimed at stabilizing employee pools.

BOTSFORD HOSPITAL in Farmington Hills operates a stateof-the-art facility, featuring furnishings scaled in size to fit small children and felt-covered walls.

Launched three years ago by Munson and partner Kathleen Boylan, the center has an open door policy that permits unscheduled parental visits throughout the day, creating a "fish bowl" effect that Munson and Boylan said results in quality care.

Still, in spite of recent expansion that now accommodates 80 children, admission waits are lengthy and hours of operation, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., do not accommodate employees on night shifts. Costs range from $105 weekly or $3 hourly for infants and toddlers to $80 weekly or $2.50 hourly for children ages 2 to 5 years.

The Botsford center is a corporate model, according to Munson and Boylan.

The wave of the future, Boylan added, are centers catering to both the young and the old, "combined care for sandwiched families" responsible for the care of children and aging parents.

Employers, Munson said, "need to realize how important the entire family picture is to the health of the employee and then be responsive to those needs. If not, everyone - the employer and taxpayers like - is going to be paying costs four or five times over down the road when the children who aren't getting quality care today are grown."

couple earning $36,000 can save $1,244 on federal income taxes, $230 on state income taxes and $375 on social security taxes for a total of $1,849.

There's a short-run disadvantage: Social security taxes and benefits are also reduced, lawmakers point out.

Senate child care measure broadens role of government

Senate Bill S5, (ABC) the Act for. Better Child Care, was passed on June 23, 1989, authorizing subsidies and tax credits for child care.

Final version of the the Senate bill authorized $1,75 billion in grants to the states for subsidies to child care providers and payments, to parents. States would be required to set standards for child care providers.

In the House, the bill is now being moved along by the Ways and Means Committee.

IT APPEARS both parties in the House and Senate are trying to provide some measure of federal relief for working parents, HB3, sponsored by California Democrat Augustus Hawkins, would carry out a three-pronged delivery of child care.

Approximately 25 percent would finance full day/full year programs for Head Start, and more children, some from families with somewhat higher incomes, would be served.

Another quarter chunk would flow directly to preschools to establish or expand early childhood programs and before and after school "latchkey" programs.

Approximately 35 percent would be made available to child care providers to pay for day care programs for infants, toddlers and b children under 13 years old.

The remainder would finance grants to help states coordinate. child care activities, improve to standards, provide training and enforce regulations at the local level.

THE BILL would allow the poorest families to get services for free, but moderate-income families. would have to pay based on a sliding scale.

A presidential veto is possible, according to Labor Secretary Elizabeth Dole and Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan. Dole said in a letter to the committee that the range of choices available to parents would be restricted due to the bias in favor of 1 center based care and against informal arrangements favored by many parents.

Complex to offer on-site day care

By Janice Brunson staff writer

When Birmingham-based developer Peter Burton married Sandi Burton in 1980, she had a son, Christopher, then 9.

Her tales about the difficulty in finding adequate child care as a working single parent before the marriage impressed Burton, seeding an Idea he has translated into an innovative touch in an enormous commercial project under way by Burton and partners Robert Katz-, man and Ronald Hughes.

to social issues" as a result of the 1960s.

The center will be located in the fifth building, slated for construction next year when space in the recently completed fourth building is fully let.

Mercy Health Services, Delta Dental and TRW, a credit bureau, now occupy space in the complex. They and another 30 or so tenants were polled about interest in a child care center.

OF THOSE WHO responded, "100 percent were very supportive of the idea," according to Joanne Fletcher, of Arboretum Properties, the firm developing the project. Fletcher recently completed an exhaustive search for a child care operator. "We wanted to use a local vendor, someone able to adapt to the interest of the develoment. We didn't feel the (national) chains were flexible enough for us," Fletcher said.

A decision will be made later this month from an array of possible providers, including existing child care centers seeking expanded facilities, area consultants and national firms specializing in the development of child care centers.

Such firms are relatively new on the horizon, in the forefront of a promising industry now that corporate child care is emering as "the employee benefit of the '90s."

Gerber Children's Centers, a dlvision of Gerber Products in Fremont, offers a franchised turnkey operation such as that now in operation at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. Unligren's world and Kingercare offer similar franchises. Some 20 firms in metropolitan Detroit provide more individualized services, including Americare, noted for expertise in establishing resource and referral systems, and the Merrill-Palmer Institute at Wayne State University that offers a host of services.

"It's a commitment to society at large, a way of making the world a better place to live," said Burton, $5, describing himself as "sensitive

Seniors' health and safety included in Expo lineup

By Mary Rodrigue staff writer

Senlor citizens can be sitting ducks when it comes to crime.

"Although they are the least likely segment of the population to be victimized, they are often the target of con games, home break-ins and purse snatchings," said John Dzwon: kowski, spokesman for Citizens against Crime.

Dzwonkowski will speak to older adults about ways to protect themselves against crime at Michigan's serial numbers, and then return the first Retirement Lifestyle Expo at Cobo Hall Sept. 15-17.

Dzwonkowski offers these common con games now making the rounds.

"Many senior citizens have lots of cash in a bank somewhere. One con days, the victim calls the police stagame is the bank examiner's tion to inquire about his money and, scheme," he said. "The victim gets a call from the con telling him what a great bank customer he is. He keeps talking, saying he's a federal bank examiner and is looking for one trusted customer to help him nab a teller suspected of pilfering.

"He asks the victim to withdraw a large amount of money. He says a police officer will come to (victim's) house later that day to take the money into the police station, mark the - said, cash a few days later to be re-deposited to the questionable teller.

"So he withdraws the money, a police officer shows up - you can get of course, they don't know a thing about it."

One senior citizen was swindled out of $15,000 in this manner, according to Dzwonkowski - all in the name of being a good citizen.--

"THE KEY words are if someone says they need your money now and don't tell anyone about this - that should warn you it's a scam," he

Another scam involved a con man selling television sets to members of a prestigious community at half price. The con actually bought six TV sets and sold them at deep dis---every-night she went down to the those costumes anywhere - and count to prominent community, picks up the cash. After two or three members: Then he hired two teenag-community, telling them to check with the prominent community members to see if they were satisfied customers - they were.

Bottom line: The con walked away with $17,000. The teens weren't paid and each person who sent their check was out the cash as well.

"There are clever tips people can try to avoid crime," Dzwonkowski said,

He recalled meeting a 92-year-old woman who lived in a tough Chicago neighborhood.

"All her neighbors had been victimized, but not her," he said. "We asked her why. She explained that garden to get some fresh dirt, then she brought it upstairs to her apart-ers to solicit other members of the ment kitchen sink where she made fresh mud. Then she took a size 15 triple E mens work boot out of her closet and made fresh prints near her front door."

Apparently it worked,

"MOST CRIME occurs between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.," Dzwonkowski said. "I advise seniors to get their shopping done in the morning when they are much less likely to be victimized.

"Also women shoppers should consider carrying a dummy purse while they carry their money in their pocket," he said. "A purse snatcher is going to run some distance with the purse before he opens it to check its contents."

If seniors don't choose direct deposit of their Social Security check, they should consider going to the bank with one or two other people.

Dzwonkowski told the story of one senior couple victimized by criminals so brazen they walked into thehouse while the seniors were at home and stole the couple's video cassette recorder and television set. "We don't advocate firearms, we look at the alternatives," Dzwonkowski said.

Citizens against Crime sells canlsters of tear gas.

"One lady in Tuscon found that helpful when a guy broke into her home. She sprayed the canister of tear gas, he fled. It empowered her not to be afraid. She is living in a high crime neighborhood and feels better now."

Dzwonkowski will offer more tips at the seminar.

THE EXPO will offer the over 50 population an opportunity to learn about services, community programs and lifestyle options. Highlights include special guest appearances by Willard Scott of NBC's Today show and Alex Haley, author of "Roots."

There will be more than 40 seminars and 200 exhibitors covering a variety of subjects including retirement and financial planning, health and fitness, nutrition and travel? There will be dancing to the Big Band sounds of Johnny Trudell's Orchestra on Saturday, Sept. 16, and health screenings - including checks of blood pressure, body fat, cholesterol, vision, hearing and lung function.

Tickets for the Expo will be $3, however, advance complimentary; tickets will be available at a numberof Henry Ford Health Care Centers, Comerica Bank branches, Great, Scott! supermarkets and Little Cae-: sars Pizza in the Detroit metropolitan Detroit area.

Desire to serve motivates new associate pastor

By Julie Brown staff writer

TNTIL RECENTLY, the Rev. Lee Seese hadn't spent much time in Michigan. Seese, the new associate pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, started work Aug. 23.

-Before that, Seese had served as interim pastor at a Presbyterian church in Seattle. He'd been to Michigan to visit pastor friends periodi- Russian literature, except somecally, while he was passing through the state to other destinations.

"The basic response we got when we said we were moving was 'Where?' "

Seese and his wife, Lisa Konick, recently moved to Plymouth. They have a son, Jeremy, 214. Lisa Konick, a journalist, has worked for The Spattle Times and done freelance work for The New York Times.

Some people he spoke with before moving thought Michigan was just Detroit and that Detroit was just crime. Seese, however, found the people he met here to be warm and genuine.

"So my first impression was good. I'm more of a people person than a place person."

SEESE SPENT about nine months as interim-pastor-at the church-in- removed." Seattle. He grew up in Seattle, leaving to attend the Princeton Theological Seminary in New Jersey.

"Princeton was the first place away from Seattle for me." He received his master of divinity degree from Princeton in June 1988.

Seese, 30, attended the University of Washington as an undergraduate. He was an English major and comblned the creative writing and litera'I would have pursued a Ph.D. in Russian literature, except somewhere along the line God got me.' - the Rev. Lee Seese

"I would have pursued a Ph.D. inwhere along the line God got me," he said with a smile.

He did some graduate work at the University of Washington after college graduation.

"Something was missing. I just realized that felt need to be of service was stronger than anything else. As long as I could remember, I've had a strong desire to serve."

Seese was raised going to church, and at age 14 went through the confirmation program but didn't join the church.

"It just seemed like an overwhelming commitment." For 11 years, he wasn't active in the church.

HIS PARENTS divorced when he was 18, a world-shattering experience for Seese.

He read the works of German philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche and others, searching for answers. Over time, he came to realize that trust in God provided a foundation that wouldn't be shaken.

"I think the church is a place that was created for acceptance." The church provides a link between people's basic beauty and the way that's affirmed by Christ's message.

Seese's work at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth is primarily in pastoral care. He visits people in the hospital, senior citizens, and people considering joining the church.

He preached on Sunday, Aug. 27, for the first time at the church in Plymouth.

That will be something I'll do about once a month." His first sermon was "Can We Really Stand Peace?"

Seese talked about people's unquenchable thirst for peace, and the fact that peace is nevertheless hard to find. That burden doesn't have to be borne alone, however. The Scriptures remind people that God helps bear that burden.

Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. Magee is both a mentor and a colleague for Seese.

He'll be installed as associate pastor during a special service Sunday, Oct. 15, at the church. For now, Seese is getting settled into his new iob.

In his free time, he enjoys movies, including foreign films and comedies. Seese also enjoys reading, opera - and baseball. He played some baseball in his student days, and continues to play softball.

War on drugs begins at home moral perspectives Rev. Lloyd

The enemy has been located. War has been declared and forces mobilized to destroy the enemy. The war on drugs has turned its course to a war on the drug lords of Colombia.

Buss

The drug lords of Colombia are easy to hate. I can't think of a single redeeming feature in any of their actions that bring drugs to the users in any country. Everything they do to produce and provide drugs for street use is among the most reprehensible of all human activity.

The drug lords of Colombia surely need to be brought to justice. Whatever our country can do to assist Colombia in bringing these destroyers of life to the public tribunals of justice and order we must do as surely as we joined with our Allies in defeating the enemies of World War

Colombia's decision to reinstate the suspended extradition treaty between the United States and Colombia has been regarded as a key element in our efforts to reduce the sale and use of drugs. At long last, the United States can deal directly with those who have brought undiminished anguish and grief to countless numbers in our land. We can bring them to our land and lock them in extradite drug traffickers to the United States has been acclaimed as a 'courageous move' by President Bush, who was our chief drug cane for eight years as vice president der Ronald Reagan. The treaty providing for the extradition of drug traffickers to the United States was struck down by the Colombian Supreme Court on a technicality in 1987. Colombian drug lords under indictment in the United States are regarded responsible for 80 percent of the cocaine smuggled into the United States. Should one ask if these indictments were instituted since 1967?

The murder of Sesator Luis Carles Galan, an early favorite in Colornbia's 1990 presidential election and the declaration of terror by drug lords in Colombia, have created the scapegoats so useful in our war on drugs. At long last, we can sharply focus our efforts en specific pl committing specific criminal acta. We have found the anumy.

If only that could be true the drug lords of Culoushia are the ones responsible for the use abuse of drugs in the United St Misplaced judg false with wrong even.

There will be so visiony in o war on drugs ditill overy bits! the

Caponigro named president at Casey

By Doug Funke staff writer

Jeffrey R. Caponigro, whose first exposure to the media was as a highschool sports stringer in the mid 1970s, has been appointed president of Casey Communications Management.

The 32-year-old Troy resident will be second in command of Michigan's largest public relations firm, where he had most recently been executive vice president.

Caponigro succeeds Jack Casey, who will remain as chairman and chief executive officer of the Southfield-based firm.

"It will be a continuation of my on-going role - helping to manage the firm, strategic planning with the firm and working on obtaining the best client services we can," Caponigro said.

He also will continue to counsel on crisis communications and planning, and serve on the board of directors of Casey Communications. Caponigro has supervised several major accounts including Traffic Safety Now, the American Coalition for Traffic Safety and Audi of America since coming to Casey in 1984.

He previously worked at Anthony M. Franco Inc. and at Kolon Bittker & Desmond Inc.

CAPONIGRO SAID his sports background at the Observer & Eccentric, plus later stints at the Midland Daily News and Mount Pleasant Morning Sun, provided a solid foun-

Jeffrey Caponigro: 'I had a lot of experience dealing with people, and my writing ability probably gave me a jump. I really do feel that has helped me to develop a work ethic, a willingness to work hard, be a good team player, try to motivate people like coaches have to.'

Caponigro attributed his meteoric rise in the PR business to experience gained from all of his employers -Casey, Franco and John Kolon.

"I was given a lot of opportunities," Caponigro said. "I was fortunate to work with a lot of good people."

people," he said.

Two-way communication - from the different publics up as well as from the client down - will be emphasized, Caponigro said.

Caponigro was described as "one" of the top public relations professionals in the nation," by Casey,

"Jeff Caponigro's skill and dedica. tion have been critical to the growth and success of Casey Communications," the chairman said. "As president, he will be able to play an even more important role guiding the firm into the '90s."

Casey-has-grown from-a-four-person public relations firm to Michigan's largest (with 45 employees and public relations revenue of $3.6 million-in-1988).

THE FIRM was acquired by. Shandwick Ltd. of London, England, the largest independent PR firm in the world, in 1987.

Caponigro is a graduate of Central Michigan University, where he majored in journalism and English.

He and his wife, Ellen, are parents of two small sons, Nicholas and Michael.

"I really enjoy playing with the two boys. That's great," Caponigro said. He also admitted to enjoying golf, tennis and working out with weights.

Non-fiction books and magazines also are attractive when he can find the time to read.

Caponigro is a graduate of Lead! ership Detroit, the program conducted annually by the Greater Detroit Ten years of experience in the Chamber of Commerce for those considered the Detroit-area's to business and community leaders. He is a member of the Public Relations Society of America and is a member of its national accreditation board.

Budgeting college expenses

It doesn't take person with a perfect SAT score to determine that the costs of a college education go far beyond tuition, room and board.

The Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs advises that college students develop a budget-for-those miscellaneous expenses that can rapidly empty your wallet. The easy part is calculating the amount of money you have available to spend. Most students have four possible sources of money: a parttime job, a sayings account, a monthly allowance supplied by parents and scholarship or loan money (or what's left after paying for tultion, room and board).

Now comes the hard part: planning for expenses. Some colleges will provide you with an estimate of how much you may need for personal expenses, but these figures can be way off the mark. After all, the college's calculations probably miss important personal expenses, such as those marathon telephone calls to your best friend on the other side of the country.

To simplify the budgeting process, break down your expenses into categories such as books, supplies and lab fees; meals; transportation; tolletries; utilities; and entertainment.

START WITH books and supplies. You may hate to spend $45 on that computer textbook, but if your heart is set on a career as a systems analyst, you better be ready to foot the bill

Go to the local book store and scan. the prices of books you may have to buy over the next year. Some courses will land you in the texts costing top dollar. Find out now when you can anticipate the expenses rather than next term, when you may have

practically speaking

already exhausted your budget. Don't forget to include lab fees and the cost of such supplies as notebooks, typewriter ribbons and computer disks.

Even if you are on a meal plan, reserve some money for those midnight snacks. If you can't resist Friday night pizza outings, make sure you include the cost in your budget. WHETHER YOU are commuting or living in a dorm, you will have to contend with transportation expenses. Calculate how much a visit home costs and how many visits you plan to make. Talk to your parents and find out if they are willing to pay for any trips home. If you own a car, estimate how much gasoline you may use each week. It is likely the car will need repairs or a tune-up during the year?

If you are living away from home, remember that you will now have to pay for such basic necessities as toothpaste, shampoo and laundry. Although these items seem insignificant, they can add up to a sizeable sum by year's end.

Other expenses to consider are utility bills. If these are not included in your room and board fees, ask other students to estimate how much Includes entertainment expenses. If you are a movie buff, don't forget to reserve a few dollars for an occasional night out at the movies.

TRY TO ESTIMATE expenses

ONE SLICE AT A TIME

To develop a realistic budget, evaluate each of your expenses individually.

realistically, and as a safeguard against unexpected costs, increase your total by 10 percent. You won't be sure your estimate is on target until you've tested it a few months. So try your budget out and see how it fits. During the first month or two, jot down every dime you spend so you know where your money is going and whether your budget figures areaccurate. If the same patterns continue the next month, adjust your budget accordingly.

But what if you can't make ends meet? The solution is easy, even if achieving it isn't. You have to increase your income or decrease your expenses.

Chances are you've already exhausted all the normal options for producing income. If so, maybe it's time for you to try a more creative approach. Some schools offer venture-capital money to help launch student entrepreneurs. Students have successfully initiated businesses to fill obvious needs, such as typing term papers, running a wake-up call service or house sitting.

ALTHOUGH YOU may think you are living on a bare-bones budget, you will be surprised at how much you can still cut back. Often your you can expect to spend. And, of college ID can be the key to discourse, no budget is complete until it counts on food, entertainment, haircuts and school supplies. Don't hesitate to ask when paying for goods and services.

Shop for food and personal items wisely, taking advantage of sales and coupons. To save on transportation costs, plan ahead to buy discounted alrline tickets. Find out If buses and trains in your area offer discounts to student travelers. To trim your telephone bill, shop around for the best long-distance rates and dation for a career in public relations.

"I had a lot of experience dealing with people, and my writing ability probably gave me a jump," he said.

"I really do feel that has helped me to develop a work ethic, a willingness to work hard, be a good team player, try to motivate people like coaches have to."

pressure cooker of PR and advertising work can translate to 20 years in other fields, he said.

Caponigro envisions changes in the public relations profession as more nd more companies recognize that they have all kinds of "publics" with which to deal. "YOU HAVE employees, the community, clients, legislators, media

Fancy ad campaign doesn't mean you've arrived

Micro marketing strategies have been used to promote small businesses for years. But these techniques never seemed to command the level of recognition they have deserved.

For some reason, smaller companies were not perceived as having made it until they began sponsoring full-blown ad campaigns that appealed to the masses.

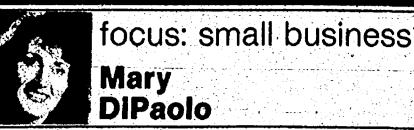

But the good news is that micro marketing works and will continue to as long as customer markets remain fractured.

RECENT EXAMPLES of micro marketing techniques reflect the creativity and imagination of the companies that have developed them.

Wallboards now appear in high schools, dentist offices and other locations to promote various products and services.

At a Kentucky high school, a glant poster of basketball's Michael Jordan has been used to promote mouthwash and shampoo.

Mobile units have been seen at state fairs and other outdoor events to provide free services for attendees. These services range from providing a diaper-changing facilility to conducting seminars on diet and nutrition to performing color analysis. ONE OF the newest micro marketing techniques has local video store owners renting space at the beginning of videotapes for local advertisements. The completed spots can be spliced in and run up to a minute in length.

'Anyone who rents 'The Wizard of Oz' will see a spot for a nationally distributed fabric softener," said a local video shop owner, "so why not see one for the local restaurant or car dealership as well?"

Non-media sources have also been used to help firms micro market local customer -groups. Sponsors of charity functions, summer festivals and sporting events have discovered how business can be successfully mixed with pleasure.

"INFOMERCIALS" represent another means available to promote a company's products and services. Community-based cooking shows that feature local restaurateurs and " hair and makeup demonstrations" sponsored by local salon owners are "". among those that serve both as a teaching an promotional tool.

For a list of micro marketing alter ternatives for small business, call-4 MarkeTrends at 474-1149.

Reformulating gas beats switching to methanol

On a clear day you can barely see Johnny Carson jokes. Los Angeles, which is why the latest Californta clean air initiative runs roughshod over political sensibilities and bans barbecues, charcoal lighter fluid and even some house paint, all of which are blamed in some small part for their contribution to the choking clouds of smog that Californians seem to thrive on.

As California goes, so goes the nation, as anyone who has filled in the holes in an abandoned trampoline cepter can tell you. This is one reason why President Bush is encouraging the use of methanol as an alternate fuel for automobiles.

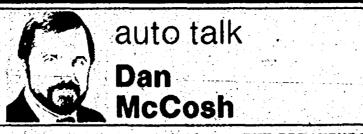

METHANOL IS a type of alcohol that burns with fewer hydrocarbons than gasoline. It's generally accepted that smog is mainly the result of unburned hydrocarbons that float up into the atmosphere and react in the presence of sunlight to turn into Since gasoline is mainly hydrocarbons, and auto engines burn the stuff, gasoline is a primary culprit in urban air pollution.

But while methanol does burn cleaner than gasoline, it generates fumes that act like peeling onions on your eyes. It also takes twice the amount as gasoline for equivalent mileage, and is so toxic a small amount ingested causes blindness.

Also, there isn't enough produced today to propel more than a handful of cars, and developing a production capacity large enough to supply the stuff would mean building up a whole new industry.

A RECENT copyrighted story in Automotive News suggests that_ there is a hidden pact between the auto companies and oil refiners to kill the use of methanol as an alternative fuel out of vested self-interest

- an accusation the powers that be vehemently deny.

Still, the suggestion that alternate fuels might work has shaken the industry out if its doldrums.

By now, we are nearing the end of two decades of legislation and engineering work aimed at controlling so-called auto emissions.' Early efforts at making cars burn cleaner involved twiddling with the engine tuning and had the side effect of cutting mileage roughly in half just as the Arabs cut off the supplies of crude oil.

THE BREAKTHROUGH was the introduction of the catalytic converter in 1975 by General Motors, an invention that hangs underneath your car and simply burns up the gasoline that isn't burned in your engine. This meant that engines could be retuned and returned to their former mileage, while about 90 percent of the hydrocarbons still were removed -from the exhaust. Arguably the invention of the ca-talytic converter accounts for almost all the progress in the effort to clean up air. Catalytic converters have been fine tuned, made more durable and ultimately ended up on all the cars on the road, immensely improving air quality.

Kiddie tax can't prevent deflection

BUT LIKE they say, there's no free lunch. Catalytic converters don't work with lead additives used to boost octane. The butane-based additives used in unleaded gasoline tend to evaporate easily - creating pollution on their own.

Also, the life of a catalytic converter originally was planned to be only half of the life of the car, which means the guy buying the transportation special gets stuck with replacing it. Of course, he doesn't anyway - killing the effect of the whole system.

Both are reasons why auto companies are interested in reformulating gasoline so that it doesn't evaporate so easily and helps catalysts to live longer. Changing gasoline isn't as simple as it seems, since we consume such huge quantities of the stuff that altering the refining process is a multi-billion dollar change.

REGARDLESS, THE auto compa-iit nies and oil refiners are starting to !! see that as preferable to developing a new system to make and distribute something as alien as methanol. So now the Big Three and major oil refiners are forming a joint real search effort to study major fuel al. ternatives aimed at improving air quality.

Clearly, the spectre of having to? develop a separate production and? distribution system such as metha nol, as proposed both by California and the new clean air legislation, has roused interest in seeking a more viable alternative, and the first priority is an improved gasoline formula.

Dan McCosh is the automotive editor of Popular Science.

Fourth of five parts

By Sid Mittra special writer

The fourth tax reduction strategy is deflection, which involves the shifting of taxable income to someone in the lower tax bracket. There are several ways of accomplishing this objective.

Kiddle tax

The kiddle tax is based on a parent's top rate if (1) the child is under 14, and (2) has net investment income after reducing gross invest-ment income by $1,000. This tax is not levied on earned income. Investment income may consist of interest, dividends, royalties, rents and profits on the sale of property.

Only net investment income is subject to tax at the parent's top rate. For purposes of this rule, net investment income equals gross investment income minus $1,000 if the child does not itemlze deductions. If itemized deductions is used, net investment income equals gross investment income reduced by the larger of (1) $1,000, or (2) $500 plus itemized deductions that are directly connected with the generation of investment income.

Notwithstanding the new kiddle tax rules, a number of strategies can be used to beat the kiddle tax. For instance, a taxpayer can take advantage of the fact that the first $1,000 of an under-age-14 child's unearned income is tax-favored. This is done by transferring assets that produce up to $1,000 of annual unearned income for the child. Another strategy is to switch the child's savings into Investments that pay little or no current taxable income. these investments include U.S. Series EE bonds, municipal bonds and zero coupon bonds. Also, minor's trusts, under which assets and earnings do not have to be turned over to the child until age 21, probably are taxed at a lower trust rate even though the child is under 14 and has income of over $1,000. However, eventually this strategy does result in double taxation. Gifts

An attractive way to shift income is for an individual with a high marginal tax bracket to give gift to a child in a low tax bracket. A gift of cash benefits the taxpayer to the extent that the after-tax return received by the child would presumably be higher than the after-tax return received by the taxpayer. A gift of appreciated property, such as property, can bring even higher tax benefits. For instance, the appreciated stock could be liquidated and reinvested to generate a greater af<sup>11</sup> ter-tax return for the child than it. would be for the taxpayer.

An example can demonstrate the use of gifts as a way of reducing the tax liability. Assume John Smith wishes to create a college fund for his son Mike and has $5,000 in a money market earning 7 percent in?" terest. Assuming a 28 percent tax bracket, John currently pays a tax of $98 (28 percent of $350). If he gives' the money to Mike who has no other sources of income, Mike immediate ly gains $98 because he would not i common stock or income-producing owe this tax to the government.

'Cattle call' gets actor in as a dancer

By Victor E. Swanson special writer

Actor Todd Heughens, a former Troy resident, couldn't get an audition for a role in "Fiddler on the Roof" but with ingenuity, he managed to become a dancer in the show.

Thursday, September 14, 1989 O&E

"Fiddler," which opens Tuesday at the Fox Theatre in Detroit, stars Topol, who played the lead role in the movie version of "Fiddler on the Roof," released by United Artists Pictures in November 1972.

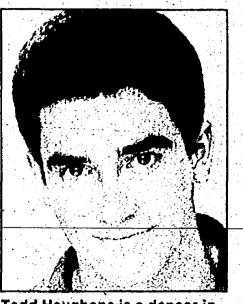

"The producers (of the stage production) were worried that everyone who was interested in seeing 'Fiddler' had already seen it," Heughens said during recent telephone interview from Cincinnati, where the production was playing.

"But they want to see it again done right. They've all seen the dinner theater and community theater productions, and now they want to see the guy (Topol) from the movie."

"FIDDLER" RUNS through Sunday, Sept. 24, at the Fox. Besides being one of the dancers, Heughens also understudies the part of Mendel, the Rabbi's son. As Heughens said, "I was hired as a dancer - slash understudy."

He was nearly not hired at all for the production.

movie or the play - before I auditioned for it," he said.

Heughens explained, as simply as he could, what "Fiddler-on-the Roof" is about. "The storyline has to do with this man, Tevye (played by Topol) and his relationship with his three daughters, and through the show each of them ends up falling in love, and Tevye has to deal with them wanting to spend the rest of their lives with these three men, when the tradition is that they would be set up with men chosen by a matchmaker . . . The third daughter "I was out of town working in Cine falls in love with a Russian - a non-Jew . . . and he just can't deal with that. He (Tevye) says, 'I can only bend so far before I break!"" Heughens described the production as "almost a perfect musical." He added, "It really gets to the heart. It's very funny and very moving. And, certainly, Topol does a wonderful job with it."

"Les Miserables," the most successful musical of all time, held its opening night Wednesday at Detroit's Fisher Theatre. It is expected to run at least through the end of the year. The show has five casts in North America and 17 casts around the world.

now, when they (the producers) were holding principal calls, auditions for the leading roles, and I had my agent submit me anyway, and I was thinking I could always fly in." Flatly he said, "They didn't want to see me for any of the roles."

Determined to get a part, Heughens attended a cattle call for the show when he returned to New York.

'There were about 250 guys auditioning as dancers, and by the end of the day, there were maybe 80 left. They called us back for another day, and throughout the day - the sixhour audition - they weeded it down to eight. It's a pretty grueling process."

What's surprising is that Heughens got a part without really knowing much about "Fiddler on the Roof." "I hadn't even seen 'Fiddler' - the,

▼ITTING BACK in a comfortable lounge chair in the lobby of the St. Regis, a casually dressed, long-haired Richard Jay-Alexander declared, "Detroit makes me nervous."

"There are no guarantees in this business. I don't come in here cocky, sure of myself, thinking that we can't lose. I have been told that this is a great theater town but I am not ready to cash in my chips."

Jay-Alexander was still jet-lagged from his flight from Las Vegas the night before. The associate director and executive producer of what has become the most successful musical of all time, "Les Miserables," he was exuberant as he talked about his show. Next door, the sets had been hung at the Fisher Theatre, ready for the first rehearsal of the Chicago cast.

"Les Miz" played for nine months in Boston, six months in Philadelphia and six months in Chicago. There are five casts now playing North America and 17 casts around the world. The Broadway production costs $4-1/2 million but recouped the investment in only 23 weeks. It now records weekly profits of hundreds of thousands of dollars for the show's English producer Cameron Mackintosh. As mastermind of "Cats," "Les Miz," and "Phantom of the Opera," Mackintosh is the most powerful producer anywhere.

"MACKINTOSH WOULD have been here if he could have," added Jay- Alexander. "I talk with him every day. He is really quite simple and basic. He loves his work and is very accessible."

"We're supposed to' end up on Broadway, That's what they keep saying," he said.

However, Heughens did say he was in an off-off Broadway show, "Big River," a Huckleberry Finn musical, that was expected -, by the cast - to go to Broadway a few years ago. It did not.

He also appeared in a wellreceived production at Ford's Theatre in Washington; D.C., called "The Hot Mikado," which looked as if it would go to Broadway.

"They had Broadway in mind and it ('The Hot Mikado') was a huge hit in Washington, and we were given Broadway opening dates (and) rehearsal dates and everything. I wasn't living in New York at the time, and they said, 'Well, you better find an apartment!' And I did, and I never heard anything about it (the show going to Broadway)."

HEUGHENS LIVES in New York, and he even has his own apartment, now, which he got this year. Most of the last six years or so, while he was in New York, he was subletting bespecial party for him, which will include friends and family. He has three brothers, two of whom live in Alabama.

Heughens attended Berkley High School as a sophomore and spent his junior and senior years at Troy Athens High School. "In high school (Berkley), I just saw a poster one day for auditions for The Pajama Game, he said. "I auditioned and I got the show. And that was it, and I was hooked. I knew as soon as I was at the audition - even before I knew I had been cast in the show — I knew that was what I wanted to do."

He spent a year at Oakland University in Rochester Hills. During the summers of 1979 and 1980, he toured - mostly in Michigan - with the Meadow Brook Estate singing group.

FROM 1980 TO 1984, Heughens attended the Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati. During the last year there and before going to New York, he took a short time off from school to work with the Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park, where he obtained an Equity Card.

"I actually moved to New York with my Equity Card, which was a ing of Mackintosh's newest musical "Miss Salgon."

"When I went to London to Interview for this job, I thought I blew the interview. I did not speak French. I hadn't seen the show. That night I went to the Palace and cried my eyes out," he said.

Jay-Alexander does the casting for the American productions. Last week he cast 47 parts. He has worked with at least 20 Fantines, the character who sings one of the show's most popular numbers, "I Dreamed a Dream."

"You can't play the part unless you belt," said Jay-Alexander, who went on to explain how much of the color and finesse of Patti LuPone's voice in the English recording was produced in the recording studio.

"SHE DID NOT play it that way on stage," he said, obviously agitated about insinuations that the London cast is more refined than the American. "Look, I know what it takes to play that part. That role is about a. woman who has lost her job. She is screaming about the miserable condition of her life."

"Les Miz" is taken from Victor Hugo's 19th century melodrama about the wretched living conditions of the poor in early 19th century expectancy of poor children was 2 years, when incurable diseases plagued the poor, when unemployment meant starvation,

The leading character Jean Valjean spends 19 years in prison for stealing a loaf of bread and his life explating for his sin while fleeing his policeman pursuer Javert.

"Sure I was handed this job on a platter," Jay-Alexander said. "I haven't had to gamble on this show like Cameron. But I have a lot of blood and guts in it. I have seen it perhaps. more times than anyone else maybe as many as 1,000 times - but it still moves me when I hear the music dr see it again."

What makes this "pop opera" different from a traditional opera is the acting demands on the cast. The actress who plays Eponine appears in a variety of roles in the show. She is a pea picker, a drinker, a pedestrian, an unemployed factory worker and a whore before she stars as Marius' rejected lover. After Fantine dies, she is cast as one of the boys at the barricade during the 1832 Paris uprising.

"THE WORD 'OPERA' scares me," Jay-Alexander said. "I think, though, the show will go into the opera house repertoire when the tours finish."

The show highlights the historical France, a time when the average life____ struggle between the French Revolutionaries and the Empire, parallel- Broadway, it was difficult because ing freedom struggles today in places such as China, one possible reason for the unwaning public appeal.

"Mackintosh was interested in the show long before Tianemen Square," said Jay-Alexander. "I think he picks his shows because of something that happens inside himself. China is expressing an interest in the show and so is the Soviet Union."

"Les Miz" opened in Paris in 1980 as a series of tableaux. The French audience was familiar with the story so no explanation was needed between the scenes. When Mackintoshdecided to take the show to London, he had it rewritten, shortening it to three hours and adding many of the famous songs - "Stars," "Empty Chair and Empty Tables" and "Bring Him Home." In New York, the show was again reworked into what is now the "Bible" version. "When we auditioned the roles for no one had seen the show and knew, what we wanted. Now everyone is ,, familiar with the parts so when we audition they come out of the woodwork to play the the parts," Jay-Alexander said.

"LES MIZ" got mixed reviews when it opened in London and was "tried" in Washington before it was mounted on Broadway.

"Cameron did not know if he wanted to risk it in New York, but he took a look at his ticket lines and de-" cided it was worth it. I get mad when +2 reporters take cheap shots at the show. We have not hyped it. The public loves it and has made it a suca cess,"

The 37-year-old actor-turned-di----rector is himself a trained singer ; ; who graduated from State University of New York at Oswego. The last time he played the Fisher was as the stage manager of "Amadeus."

Beaune's back, but result same

HE LOOK SAID all that need be said. But the question was asked anyway, needlessly; how did Tony Beaune feel after his first football game in nearly two years? The huge (6-foot-4, 270 pounds) defensive lineman from Livonia Stevenson slumped against the wall with a sigh of exhaustion. "Kind of tired," he answered.

Beaune's reply was only partial-ly in reference to his physical condition. Yes, he was tired, "I'm not used to going 70 plays," he explained. "Even in practice, weonly go about 30 or 35. So it's something I have to get adjusted to."

Beaune is heavier than he was two years ago, too, and carrying the extra weight through a game played in 80-degree weather is draining.

BUT BEAUNE was also tired of the outcome: his Wayne State team getting frounced 24-6 by Saginaw Valley State. It was the same old story for the Tartars. The last time Beaune played, in 1987, they were 4-6. WSU has an 8-21-1 record in the three seasons Beaune has played, with only one win in 15 Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference games.

Such dismal results are demoralizing, and Beaune's face after Saturday's loss reflected it. So much had gone wrong for him in the last year, he must have hoped - prayed - that both his and his

AGAINST SVSU, Beaune's performance mirrored his team's: He started slow and gradually improved. His final stats - 12 tackles, one for a loss - were impressive, particularly considering SVSU had two and, at times, three blockers taking shots at him.

"I think I could have played better," he said. "I could have played the pass better. I didn't get any sacks. I guess I did OK against the run."

Beaune might have been getting a pro tryout this summer. But prior to the '88 season, he was told he did not have the required amount of academic credits for eligibility. "I came in three days before the first game and found out," he said. His academic ineligibility (Beaune has a 2.7 grade-point average) was a difficult burden to bear. He couldn't even stand to watch the team he had played for, the team he led in tackles the previous year. "I went to our last game at Ferris State," Beaune recalled. "Just watching that was hard to take."

But that's all behind him now.

focused on making a difference this year.

"I ALWAYS WANTED to play?" pro," he said. "I've been dreaming" of it since I was a kid. I figure if it happens, I'll try it. I'll do my best. "But I'm not even looking at that right now." He has established his goals, both for himself ("I'd like to get 100 tackles this season, and I'd like" to break the career sack record")and his team.

He's got a good start toward his 100-tackle season, and he needs just a half-dozen sacks to set the. WSU mark. As for making a, winner out of WSU, that may prove too big a task, even for him. -The loss to SVSU didn't seem a: true reflection on each team's abil-" ity. Luck played a definite role, inpasses dropped (the Tartars bobbled three in the first half) and; caught. The Cardinals' second. touchdown, on a pass from Vince, Sawicki to Jim Miron, came after the ball was knocked out of Miron's hands by a WSU defender.

Miron caught it on the rebound, team's fortunes would finally re verse.

His already have. Pro scouts have been asking for film on Beaune. His size and strength are only part of the attraction. Beaune has run a 4.75 40-yard dash.

Which is why he was hoping for a better start to his final season at WSU. He would have made a difference in last year's 2-8 campaign. Was he missed? His teammates answered that by electing him co-captain. Now Beaune is right on the end line "It was a bad break, just like the last four years I've been here," said Beaune. "Bad breaks, Nothing's gone our way." Its got to change. Its got to. Doesn't it?

Aggie coach takes big victory plunge

By Brad Emons staff writer

It took five years, but Redford St. Agatha football coach John Goddard finally took a victory dip in the Grand Traverse Bay.

After being kidded and goaded by a couple of local prep prognosticators, Goddard gladly jumped in for a late Saturday night swim after his Aggies defeated host Traverse City St. Francis, 14-0.

"It was great," said Goddard, who removed his shoes before taking the plunge. "It wasn't even 10 seconds after the game had ended when the kids were already yelling: 'Coach is going swimming, Coach is going more fumbles. swimming.'

"It was a big win for us and it definitely felt good because we've taken Francis to 160 yards in total offense. our lumps there in the past. We had about 100 people follow us out to the Bay. It wasn't bad. I'd go swimming every week if it meant a win."

The Aggles played stingy defense and error-free football.

Both scores came as the result of turnovels. St. Francis (0-2) commit---ming again this week.-ted six on the night.

In the first quarter, defensive end John DiPonio caused a fumble and teammate Joe Boards, the other defensive end, scooped it up and rambled in 12 yards for a touchdown. (Agatha added the two-point conversion when holder Ken Kroll hit Kevin Smith with a pass in the end zone.)

In the second quarter, defensive back Fred Schick picked off a pass and ran 51 yards for a touchdown. (He missed the extra point.)

The defense then took over as Brian Kutch added a pair of interceptions and DiPonio recovered two Spearheaded by the play of Krol, a senior linebacker, the Aggles held St.

"We felt we could beat them last year and we wound up getting thumped 46-12, but we said this time we've got to get up early and then see how they would react," Goddard said. "We did just that."

Goddard may have to go swim-

"Lake St. Clair?" guizzed the reporter.

"There are a lot of carp in there," Goddard said, "but I'd guess I'd do it every time if it meant a win for us."

REDFORD CC 7, LANSING EASTERN 0: State-ranked Redford Catholic Central (2-0) beat the elements (thundershowers) and the Quakers (0-2) in a non-leaguer Saturday at Livonia Clarenceville High.

The Shamrocks were outgained in total yardage, 190-45, but scored the game's only touchdown with 38 seconds left to play in the first quarter when junior quarterback Jason Carr hit Leo Kowalyk with a 5-yard pass. (Kerry Zavagnin kicked the extra point.)

CC's defense, meanwhile, got a boost from Mike Mathis, who thwarted an Eastern drive when he picked off a pass at the goal line and returned it 20 yards In the second period, Defensive end Tim Jackson was the Shamrocks' top tackler with one sack, four solos and five assists. Linebacker. Rich Walsh was in on nine tackles, recording a sack, three assists and five solos.

Dave Owens, CC's leading ball carrier with 124 yards in a season-opening 31-0 win over Detroit Osborn, was held in check. The senior tailback had 49 yards in 16 carries, but had a 30-yard TD run wiped out in the fourth quarter because of a holding call. (Junior fullback Jon Barbara led CC with 54 yards in 18 carries.)

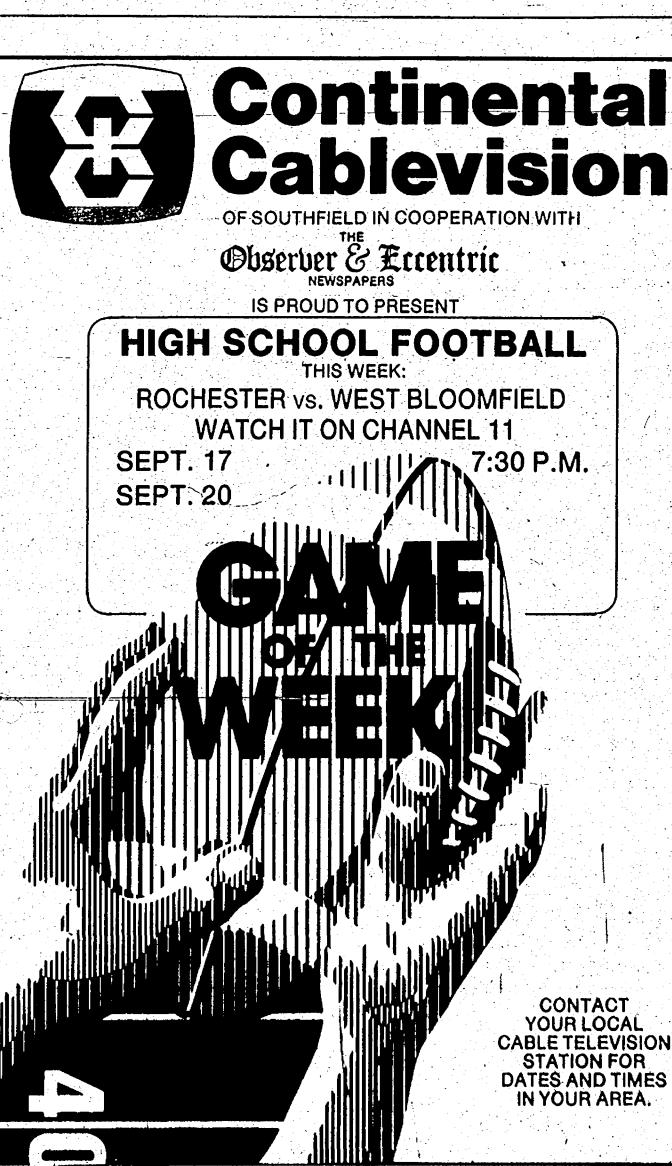

CC had 102 yards rushing and only 38 passing (Carr was three of 11). Eastern quarterback Tom Boyd had 75 yards passing, hitting five of 15.

OC travels Friday to take on nemesis Ann Arbor Pioneer in a battle of top 10 teams.

PECK 6, LUTHERAN WEST-LAND 0: On Saturday, the host Pirates slipped by the Warriors as Mike Carson tailled the game-winning touchdown on a . 2-yard run in the second quarter. Both teams are 1-1 on the season.

David Gielow rushed for 69 yards in 15 carries in a losing cause. Jason Zielinski added 46 yards in 10 attempts.

Mike Hardies and Matt Grams each intercepted passes for the Warriors. (Har#### dies also blocked an extra point.) The Warriors had trouble going airborne, completing just two of 13 passes. Quarterback Steve Aumann was intercepted three times.

Brady Ericson rifled in a shot from 20 yards out on an assist from John Gentile to give unbeaten and state-ranked Livonia Churchill a 1-0 victory Monday at Plymouth Canton.

Churchill is 4.0 overall, while Canton slipped to 3-2-1.

The game-winning goal came only 10 minutes into the match.

"They caught us napping," said Canton coach Don Smith. "That kick came with our backs turned. They slipped down past us when we weren't ready. They jumped on a mistake, which was good on their part. "But it was a pretty good game. It went backand-forth quite a bit.'

Goalie Jeff Cassar, who turned away 13 Canton shots, posted the shutout for Churchill, now 2-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. (Canton goalie Andy Collins made 18 saves.)

The Chargers overcame the loss of two injured starters, Phil Todino (knee) and Tim Riley (stress fracture).

"The field was virtually unplayable, just ridiculous," said Churchill coach John Neff. "It was a mud bowl, literally ankle deep. It sure distracted us from the game."

kicks.

Steve Nowak scored at 9:30 and captain Gary Luyben added another at $8.00. Mark Payment tailied RU's other goal on a scramble in front of the net at 11:30.

Southfield's Kob Yan broke senior goalle Derek Shuk's shutout bid with a goal with 10 minutes to play. But the victory meant more than the shutout to coach Al Burnham. "I thought we played well, but we had a bit of a letdown at the beginning of the second half," said the

RU coach. "Then we kind of regrouped and became, more aggressive and started going to the ball."

Burnham also praised the defensive efforts of senior captain Todd Hughes and sophomore Chris Roesler.

--- NOVI 3. GARDEN CITY 0: Dan Sitts broke a scoreless halftime deadlock, scoring twice in the second half to lead the host Wildcats to a non-league win over the Cougars (0-1-1).

GC goalie Greg Dahn held Novi pretty much in check.

It was a 1-0 game until 10 minutes to play when Sitts and Jeff Grabowski broke the game open with goals.

SALEM 7, FRANKLIN 0: State-ranked Plymouth Salem (5-0) got a pair of goals from Chris Olson and Greg Christensen to beat host Livonia Franklin (1-2) in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover.

It was goalle Matt Tudor's fourth shutout in five games.

Uciteic 'It didn't make any sense. Wayne State was attacking a team with one of the worst pass defenses around in 1988; opponents averaged nearly 200 aerial yards a game against Saginaw Valley State's porous defenders last season.

And the Tartars' battle plans were formulated around the suddenly popular run-and-shoot offense, a scheme that replaces the tight end and fullback with two additional wide receivers. The passing formation is supposed to result in a wide-open, high-scoring affair. It's true that what happened last year hardly matters this year. But consider that two of the Cardinals', 3.19 four defensive backfield starters against WSU had never started previously.

Add it all together, and it would seem to spell trouble - BIG trouble — for SVSU.

SO WHAT happened?

The Tartars' veteran quarterback, Mike Grennier, was a paltry seven-of-16 passing for 54 yards. WSU had just eight completions in 19 attempts for 63 yards in the game,

Which explains why SVSU won easily, 24-6, Saturday.

Experience, it seems, isn't everything. Chad Burgess is a perfect example. A Farmington Harrison graduate, Burgess has been in college about two weeks. In an era when most football players are redshirted as freshmen and don't step onto the playing field until their third year in school, Burgess is starting at free safety in his first season at SVSU.

"I didn't expect to start at first," he said after a game in which his open-field tackling was as impressive as his pass defense (he made six tackles, one for a loss).

"EVERYTHING IS going pretty well, but they're a lot faster (in college) than they were in high me," he said. "But the leam's there, and that helps. I'm already starting to feel more comfortable. "I guess I'm going to have to work a lot harder, though."

FOR ONE of his defensive backfield mates, the struggle to reach the starting lineup has been longer but no less impressive. Brian Tiller, a third-year sophomore, earned his starting spot at the short-side cornerback by beating out senior Larry Washington - a second-team all-Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference selection in '88.

Tiller had to learn to play defense. At Plymouth Salem, he was a tailback and quarterback.

"They converted me to defense when I came up here," he said. He worked his way into a part-time starter's role last season, but entering the '89 campaign nothing was assured for him.

"I didn't have (a starting position) coming into camp," Tiller said. "I just took it day by day."

He also knows there's no guarantee he will keep his spot. "I'm just going to have to keep working hard."

THEIR HARD work apparently paid off against WSU. The run-andshoot offense is supposed to confuse defenders, who aren't used to seeing four fleet wide receivers zipping across the field. Also, the Tartars tried to keep their adoption of the run-and-shoot a secret, to surprise SVSU.

The last ploy didn't work. "We heard about it through the grapevine," said Tiller. Burgess added,

"We worked on it during camp." Still, last season the SVSU pass defenders were well-briefed on opposing offenses, and they were still victimized for 197 yards a game. This year, the pressure is on the Cardinal defense. The offense is

Prognosticators try to make amends

7 ou win some, and you lose some. As for the Observer prognosticating duo of Emons and O'Meara, there was a little too much of the latter a week

Not only were many of last Friday's games delayed and/or postponed until Saturday because of severe thunderstorms, but the fearless forecasters also took a bath with some erroneous predictions.

O'Meara was 8-5 last week and Emons 7-6. Both were wrong on the Taylor Center-Thurston, Borgess-Redford Union, Wyandotte-Wayne, Clarenceville-Lutheran East and St. Agatha-Traverse City St. Francis games.

After two weeks of making predictions, the lone separator has been the Lutheran Westland-Peck game, because it's the only game the two have disagreed on. O'Meara is 20-7 overall. Emons 19-8.

Oh, well, enough about last week's disasters and poor percentages. It's upward and onward. There's some redeeming to be done.

The prep seers are eager to turn those blues into yellow rays of sunshine. They are heartened by the prospects of removing crow from a sports writer's diet.

In a pair of games pitting unbeaten teams, Redford Catholic Central plays at Ann Arbor Pioneer on Friday night and Westland John Glenn visits North Farmington on Saturday afternoon. So let's give it another try. The envelope, please:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (All games 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Farmington at Pty. Salem: The visiting Falcons are 0-2 while the unbeaten Rocks (2-0) are off to a rolling start and building up steam. Can Farmington handle Ryan Johnson and the wishbone offense? Pick: Salem's momentum has a steamroller effect on Farmington.

W.L. Central at Liv. Stevenson: Central (1-1) was manhandled last week by Farmington Hills Harrison, the No. 1-rated team in Class B, and coach Gary Tuz Is right when he says the Vikings won't face many better the rest of the year. Stevenson has had two close games but is 0-2 nonetheless. Pick: Central rebounds from that 58-0 shellacking. Emons believes Stevenson will win this one.

grid predictions

W.L. Western at Northville: One team comes away a winner for the first time, Both are 0-2 but have faced tough opponents in each of their first two games. The Warriors played a pair of 1988 playoff teams in Novi and Westland John Glenn, and the Muslangs played South Lyon and Plymouth Salem. Pick: We have to pick a winner, so the edge goes to Northville.

Harper Woods at Clarenceville: Clarenceville has always been trouble for O'Meara, who picks the Trojans to lose when they win and vice versa. But he thinks he has things figured out this week. First-year coach Vic-Balaj's team is 2-0, Harper Woods 0-2. Pick: The Trojans take a third victory.

Garden City at Ypslianti Lincoln: The Railsplitters have been a hard-luck team in the early going, losing twice in overtime to Willow Run and Tecumseh. Garden City also is 0-2 but has been outscored 70-7. Pick: Abe Lincoln would be proud of the 'Splitters' ability to persevere setbacks.

Redford Union at Dearborn, 4 p.m.: Both teams (1-1), have been up and down, and that makes this Northwest Suburban League opener a hard game to predict. RU beat Stevenson and lost to Bishop Borgess. Dearborn lost to Thurston and beat Allen Park Cabrini. Pick: Toss a coin and take the host Pioneers. Emons is sticking with RU.

Red. Thurston at Annapolls, 4 p.m.: The euphoria surrounding Thurston's opening win turned sour last week when the Eagles lost to Taylor Center, but Annapolis is 0-2. If Jesse Walker has a good day, Thurston should do OK. Pick: It's another potential coin-tosser, but give the edge to the Eagles.

Wayne Memorial at Monroe: Monroe has been beaten handily twice, and the 39-0 loss to Fordson indicates the Trojans aren't nearly the team they were last year when they went to the Class A playoffs, Wayne, however, was slung by Wyandolte in one of those games the supposedly omniscient Observer men failed to call correctly. Pick: Wayne wiggles its way into the win column, Redford CC at A.A. Ploneer: The Shamrocks ralled from an 18-0 halftime deficit last year to beat the defending Class A champs 22-18. That win avenged a 3-0 loss to the Pioneers in the 1987 state final. This should be another classic in what has become an annual rivalry. CC edged Lansing Eastern 7-0 last Saturday To go 2-0, while Ploneer has beaten East Lansing and Pontlac Northern. Pick: This time it's Pioneer's turn to win. Emons says CC can do it.

Red. St. Agatha at Univ. Liggett, 4 p.m.: Liggett boasts a 2-0 record while the Aggles are 1-1, but that doesn't mean anything in this game. The Knights beat Kinde North Huron and Harper Woods, but St. Agatha has played a pair of traditional Class C powers, losing to the likes of Country Day and beating Traverse City St. Francis. Pick: The Aggles harvest another victory.

Lutheran Weld, at Tekonsha: Where is Tekonsha, you ask? Well, we checked, and it's in the south-centrel' part of the state between Albion and Battle Creek. The Indians (1-1) are coming off'a 20-8 loss to Allendate but Allendale, as well as first-game opponent Wyoming Lee. Is a formidable foe. Lutheran Westland (1-1) mustalso contend with a lengthy bus ride. Pick: Tekonshat scores a TKO.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Churchill at Farm. Harrison: The Chargers are still-a decent 0-2 team, losing to powerful Sterling Heights and, in the mud, to North Farmington, But, there's no comparison with Harrison. If Mill Coleman* doesn't get you, Steve Hill, Joe George, Roy Granger Matt Conley, Mike Saputo, Jon Schaeffer, etc. . . . will Pick: Maybe Churchill's season will parallel WWII when OI' Winnle led the British to eventual victory, but that; means the Chargers must undergo the blitz this week.

Wsid. John Glenn at N. Farmington: Glenn has held? the upper hand in this Lakes Division rivalry, winning key games in 1987 and '88 that helped put the Rockets' In the WLAA final. After a shaky start, Glenn rolled lastweek. In a close game, North kicker Mike Cowen could. be the difference. Pick: The Rockets stay on track for at possible rematch with Harrison for the league title.

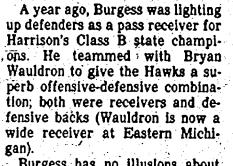

Ply. Canton at Liv. Franklin: A victory in the Western-Division opener would give Canton (2-0) Its finest start: In school history. On a dry field, the Chiefs have the skills players to make things happen, but Franklin (1-1) has some mean linemen who might decide differently. Pick: Canton rates the edge.

Divine Child at Red. Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m. at-Garden City Junior High: Divine Child (1-1) wasblanked 22-0 by DePorres while the Spartans (1-1) are" coming off a victory over Redford Union. There's nodoubt DC, a 7-0 winner over a highly rated Bishop Gallagher team in the opener, has faced the tougher com-petition. Pick: The Falcons are no fly-by-night operation.

Garden City stalls Tractors in surprise

Garden City made a stirring comeback in the final quarter Tuesday to pull out a 38-37 girls basketball upset against visiting Dearborn Ford-

Doreen Malone, a senior forward making her first start, scored seven of her eight points during a 17-8 surge in the decisive final eight minutes of play.

Malone's basket and Michele Tyree's two free throws down the stretch sealed the victory for the Cougars, now 2-2 overall.

"All the pleces of the puzzle came together," said an elated Garden City coach Marshall Henry. "This is one of our biggest wins ever. This is the way we like to play defense."

Malone, subbing for the injured Tracy Thompson (foot), also had eight steals.

"Doreen was all over the floor, anticipating passes," Henry said. "She was just unconscious. I never saw her play like that."

Senior guard-forward Lynn Gowen led the victors with 13 points, hitting seven of 13 free throws. She took over the point-guard spot when junior Carolyn Shanks (nine points and three steals) went down with a minor injury.

GC also got a boost defensively from senior Cindy White, who came off the bench to help limit the Tractors to 37 points.

Junior forward Wanda Baydoun scored 12 for Fordson, which slipped to 2-1 overall.

WAYNE 42, YPSILANTI 39: On Tuesday, Wayne Memorial evened its record at 2-2 by cooling off the Braves' red-hot guard Betsy Brown, who came in averaging 46 points per game.

Brown, who notched 41 in her last outing against Westland John Glenn and 51 in her season debut, was held to just 20 points as the Zebras won for the second straight time.

Wayne rallied in the final period, outscoring Ypsi 11-

"It was a real big win because they (Ypsi) are a talented team," said Wayne first-year coach Jack Furlong. "We were conscious as to where she (Brown) was on the floor at all times."

Senior center Dorris Bathwell led Wayne and all scorers with 23 points, while senior guard Maya Lewis contributed 11.

"Maya did a good job of running the point," Furlong said. "She set a nice pace, a good tempo."

In Saturday's consolation final of the Taylor Center Tournament, Wayne leveled Romulus, 45-30, as Bathwell poured in 17 points and Lewis added 15. Sue Molena tallied 11 in a losing cause.

Taylor Center beat Grosse Ile, 57-51, in the championship final. 🤪

STEVENSON 43, CHURCHILL 41: Center Teresa Sarno netted 18 points, including the game-winning basket on a six-foot jumper with three seconds to go Tuesday, giving Livonia Stevenson (3-0) a hardfought win over upset-minded Livonia Churchill (0-3).

Sarno also grabbed 14 rebounds; while teammate Jessann Martin contributed 12 points and 20 rebounds. Jenny Audet added nine points.

Freshman guard Chrissy Daly continued to impress; scoring a game-high 24 points, including 14 in the final period as Churchill outscored the Spartans, 18-8. (Daly hit a pair of three-pointers during the surge.)

With 14 seconds left to play, Daly made a pair of free throws to knot the count at 41-all.

"We called three straight timeouts, but we couldn't ice her (Daly)," said Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit. Fran Priebe also played well in defeat, scoring 10 points.

"She (Priebe) played a beck of a defensive game," said Churchill coach Don Albertson. "She guarded Audet, but her 10 points was a bonus.

"And offensively, Daly is doing a pretty good job for นร."

SOUTH LYON 51, JOHN GLENN 42: Westland John Glenn (1-3) lost for the third straight time Tuesday in a non-leaguer to the host Lions.

Jenny Shanks and Carol Pietila each netted 14 points for the winners.

Shuwarren Lee and Jenny Massey each tallied 13 for the Rockets, who were outscored 18-9 in the decisive third quarter. (Lee also grabbed 12 rebounds.)

"We're young and were up against some teams who are playing tough defense on us," said Glenn coach Pat Bennett. "We're getting frustrated."

BORGESS 35, REDFORD UNION 33: Senior forward Tanya Tounsel scored 18 points and added nine rebounds Tuesday, giving Redford Bishop Borgess a two-point victory at RU; Both teams are 1-2 overall.

Chinetta Austin, who had only four points, tallied the go-ahead basket (34-33) with 20 seconds to play. Austin also had four steals, while teammate Sandy Crenshaw contributed six assists. Three players netted eight points aplece for the Panthers - Danielle Sorel, Ann-Kolar-and Shannon-Morris. Sorel also had eight assists, while Kolar snared nine rebounds.

BU coach Terri Anthony was not happy with what happened in the final four seconds when Tounsel iced the game with a free throw.

Anthony contended the call, which sent Tounsel to the line, should have been a jump ball (giving RU possession) or a rebounding foul against Borgess.

"But the game was not decided in the final four seconds," Anthony said. "We played horrid, it should not have come down to that."

WILLOW RUN 66, CLARENCEVILLE 24: Junior forward Danielle Rose scored 15 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, but it wasn't enough Tuesday as host Livonia Clarenceville (1-3) was blitzed by the visit-" ing Flyers (1-2).

Kellie Castle of the Flyers paced all scorers with 20. Rhonda Saunders added six for the Trojans.

NOVI CHRISTIAN 34, GC UNITED 21: Garden City United Christian lost its season opener Tuesday to visiting Novi Christian (1-0).

OU kickers win tourney

When the season started, Oakland University soccer coach Gary Parsons voiced concern over the number of newcomers he would have to insert into the starting lineup, particularly on defense.

Those rookles were expected to face a major test at last weekend's Lock Haven (Pa.) University Invitational. But they didn't. Or at least it wasn't much of a test.

The Pioneers steamrolled to a pair of weekend wins, flattening Keene State (N.H.) College 4-0 Saturday, then crushing host-team Lock Haven 4-1 Sunday. The victories ran OU's record to 4.0; the Pioneers have outscored their opponents by a 17-4 margin.

Midfielder Simon Mayo was named the tournament's most valuable player. He scored a goal and had one assist, and was dominating in the midfield.

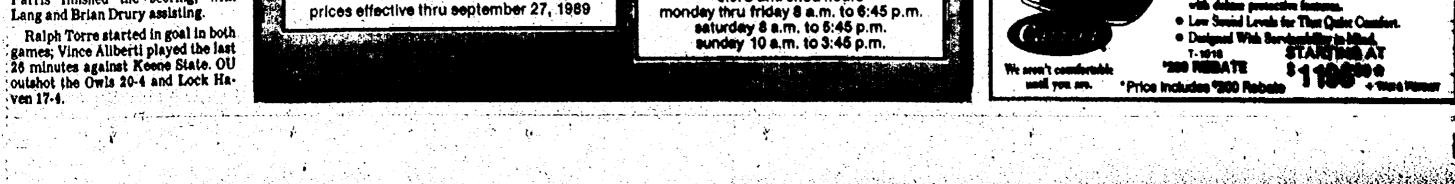

IN SUNDAY'S victory, forward Paul Phillips opened the scoring early with a goal 3:22 into the match. Alan Stewart, who collected two goals and two assists over the weekend, and Erlk Enyedy (from Southfield) assisted.

Forward Earl Parris made it 2-0 at the 18:21 mark, converting a pass from Enyedy, but Lock Haven struck back with a goal by Lance DiFabio at 21:02. The Pioneers regained their two-goal advantage at 35:09, John Brennan punching the ball into the net after a scramble in front. Stewart and Derek Williford (Livonia Stevenson) earned assists.

Mayo capped the scoring with a goal at 41:12; Dan Weinerth (Rochester Adams) and Enyedy assisted. It was Enyedy's third assist of the match, and fourth of the weekend.

In the shutout against Keene State, Phillips and Stewart each had firsthalf goals, Stewart and Enyedy assisted on Phillips' goal, while Mayo got the assist on Stewart's. Stewart converted a pass from Parris in the second half to make it 3-0, and Parris finished the scoring, with

Spot sandbaggers in fall season start

TOW THAT MOST of the bowling leagues are in full swing and the good scores are coming in, the question of sandbagging also comes up at the start of the new sea-SOL

For the benefit of those not familiar with the term, sandbagging refers to bowlers intentionally keeping their scores down at the beginning of the season to begin with a lower average, thus gaining an advantage for a team in a handicapped league.

Fortunately, most bowlers are out to do their best all the time, for this is the right way to bowl in competition. It would be difficult and almost impossible to determine if someone is actually "laying down" because at the beginning of the season a lot of people are simply out of shape after the summer layoff. The point is you should always play your best. The scores and averages will even out over the season, and a game lost at the beginning of the season is as important as a win near the end.

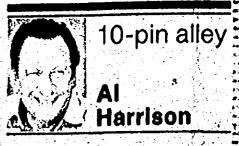

• The Senior House League bowls on Tuesday nights at Bel Aire Lanes on Orchard Lake Road in Farmington. Nobody can accuse these guys of sandbagging, as these scores prove: Jerry Lash, 704 series and 258 game; Paul Koenig, 700 series; Lynn Lewis, 689 set with a 258; Willie Smith, 672 with a 257; George Bertling, 666 with a 259: Tom Johnston, 656 with a 268; Bud Gignac, 652 series; Ed Wright 652, Steve Mattler, 267 game with a 651; Mort Friedman 650, Jeff Erard, 256 game. The Lash's Five team ran up a 3092 series with a 1066 game. This league still has a few openings with a maximum average of 201. The league starts bowling at 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays. There are also openings at Bel Aire in the Funtimers Mixed-Up Mixed League Friday nights at 6:45 and the Pin-Busters, also a mixed-up mixed, at 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Mayflower Lanes in Redford saw Eleanor Buchanan roll a 204 game in the Headstarters League which bowls at 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday. At Woodland Lanes on Plymouth Road in Livonia, Mike Koslowski never sanbagged either, as he scored a fine 277 game in the Allled Men's League. The Thursday Nite Men's Senior House League had some outstanding scores for this early in the year, as George Bird led the way with a 706 series, including a 278; Jim Gagnon 686, Art Kap 669, Tim Bennett, 267 and 693; Jerry Tomczak 669, Tom Elsey 676, Bud Gignac 662, Dahne Williamson 685, Ken Smoltz and Jack Craig 278.

In the Ford Parts League on Tues;

Dennis Weatherford had a 246 game in a placed on the return subce these have Kruczek 236/650, Larty DeFelice 235/ 631 and Jeff Lovelace 255/677. In the T Starlights League, Linda Gossett shot a 203 game in a 564 series.

Merri Bowl on Five Mile in Livonia saw Fred Young register a 290 game in the Men's Senior House League, while Jim McPhail rolled a block of 224-234-277 for a 735 series. Mickey Przytulski came through with a 199-224-289 for a 712, and John Watkins rolled up a 717 series.

The Lost Week Enders is a Sunday .... morning men's trio league which had some nice openers, with Clarence Bishop Sr. rolling 649 series and Daryl Thibeault a 636 set. In Y.A.B.A. action the 5- to 9year-old Bantams saw John Bentlet at 89 pins over average (series), prep bowler Emily Mitchell 92 over, Junior/Majors ... member Kelly Mitchell 193 pins over average. Melissa Cairns was 93 pins over average and Shelley Ellerholz 192 over for the series with a 210 game.

• In the Coca Cola Classic Majors, Chris Machnik led with a 217 game. Merrl Bowl has some openings in the King Louie/Right Approach Scratch Trio League bowling Thursdays at 10 p.m. with any combination of men or women bowlers with 180 averages and up.

• The first reported 300 game of the season took place at Westland Bowl by Steve Fletcher in the Sunday Sleepers League. Steve averaged 177 last year. and it looks like that average will escalate this season.

In the Sunday night King & Queen League, the busband and wife team of Tom and Colleen Johnston combined for a 794 and 697 dual series as Tom had a block of 279-267-248 and Colleen 234-219-244. Needless to say, they took all the jackpots; I guess they never heard of sandbagging either.

• There are openings at Westland Bowl in some short season fun leagues: the Just For Fun Sunday Nite League at 9:15 p.m. beginning Sept. 24 and a league at 8:30 p.m. on Monday nights with a combination of men and women bowlers. For details call Westland Bowl at 722-7570.

Bowling tip of the week: Nowadays the ball return racks are getting pretty Scrowded as so many bowlers have more day, Gary Cockfield rolled up a 666 series ( than one ball. It has been suggested to me and Dan Williamson hit a 667 set, while that each bowler have only one hall

• Anorexia nervosa is an eating disorder that is characterized by constant dieting, rapid weight loss and the feeling of being too fat in spite of being markedly underweight. Most anorexics are girls or women who are literally starving themselves to death. Unfortunately, this was the case with singer Karen Carpenter, who died of anorexia nervosa in 1983.

• The need for sleep seems to decrease with age. Although an infant may sleep as much as 16 to 20 hours a day, the child's grandparents may need only 5 to 6 hours of sleep a night.

• A recent study of male letter carriers showed that their low cholesterol levels placed them at reduced risk for heart disease. These men, who averaged 25 miles of walking a week, also had extremely high HDL cholesterol levels, which are apparently protective against heart disease. The researchers speculated that their excellent blood fat profiles were a direct result of their long duration, low intensity exercise.

ing in preparation for their migration south for the winter months. Large groups of starlings, blackbirds, and robins can be seen flying around neighborhoods. What makes them form flocks now and not form flocks several weeks ago?

One factor very influential in stimulating this change of behavior is the length of daylight or photoperiod. When the photoperiod begins to change during the summer months, it serves as a stimulus for animals like woodchucks to begin eating voraciously in order to put on enough fat to sustain them through winter.

Flying squirrels normally collect hickory nuts when they can at the rate of about 20 per night during the summer. When the photoperiod stimulates food storing behavior, flying squirrels can collect as many as 300 nuts per night. If a squirrel did not take advantage of this urge to cache food it might not survive. Sò through the years, those squirrels that did cache food survived.

Once the flocks of birds decide to move south on migration, they use the sun to help guide them in a southerly direction. At night, when many birds migrate, they use the north star and surrounding constellations as a guide. On cloudy days they can use the Earth's magnetic field.

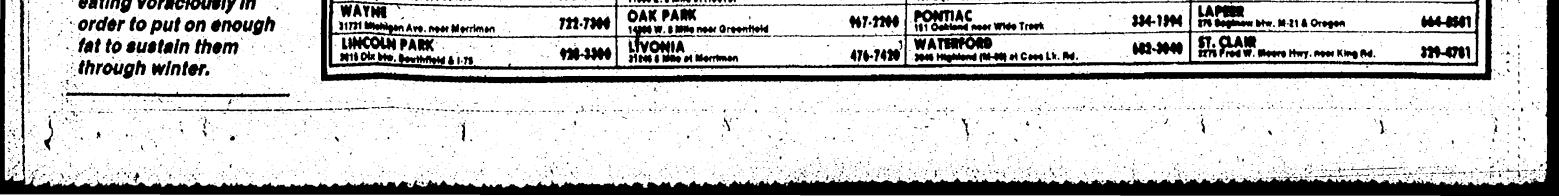

Using the sun and stars requires the birds to compensate for their movement across the horizon. Birds and many animals have a biological clock that keeps running and tells them what time of the day it is sothey can adjust their directional orlentation accordingly. Even if placed in a laboratory under constant light conditions, they will maintain their regular daily activities.

The actual source of this biological clock is not known, but given a minimal stimulus it keeps on ticking, enabling animals to know when and how to prepare for life's events.

S THE champagne and Perrier flowed, a financial planner, a lawyer, a doctor of radiology, a Ford executive, a former art gallery manager and retired U of M fund-raiser talked together. A typical cross section of people at an art gallery opening, you might think.

Unusual though, is that these same six area professionals, - making up three husband/ wife teams - also are business partners hosting the opening of their new contemporary art gallery on Main Street in downtown Plymouth - the Chameleon'Gallery. "And the funny thing is, we didn't even real-glehart) and her husband Jim. Denni used to manage a very successful art gallery in Australia, which was fantastic because we didn't want to manage a place full time."

And through Jim Englehart, a Ford executive, the Hanishes met another couple interested in investing in a new business venture, Walt and Karen Borda. Karen is a radiologist at Henry Ford Hospital and Walt is a lawyer in private practice.

Aside from traveling all over the Orient -China, Japan, Singapore, Hong Kong and Thalland, the Engleharts lived in Australia before resettling in Plymouth. While Jim worked with Ford Motor, Denni went into business, opening what turned out to be the very successful Artist Proof Galleries, in Melbourne. "The country/colonial market is well taken care of. But in Plymouth alone, for example, there are new homes going up that are more contemporary in style. And those homes need furnishing. We're bringing in pieces from around the world and across the U.S." "And as close to home as Ann Arbor, Flint and Saugatuck," added Denni's husband, Jim, who is executive director of truck operations and light truck product development for Ford Motor Company.

And we wanted to aim at an opening for the Fall Festival, but we couldn't come to terms with the current owners. Then space became available here at 370 Main Street, absolutely an ideal location with plenty of space (1,800 square feet)."

Stone cutter to sculptor—a fine line

Francesco Actitelli refere to his black marble sculpture, "Equal Volumes," as a "little intellectual exercise," it is a pedestal piece, different from anything else in the exhibit.

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Francesco Acitelli of Detroit is frequently described as a stone cutter and carver. That's an extremely modest description for a outstanding sculptor who works in stone, metal and wood.

His work is on display at the Americ Centers building, 7 West Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Hills. It will be on display through Nov. 17.

The building, completed in March 1988, is an attractive setting for these 18 works of art. Several handsome outdoor pieces are in the ground level garden patlo, opening off the lobby. Others are in the lobby and in two rooms, specially set aside, down the hall.

ACITELLI, SON of Italian immigrant parents, learned stonecutting from his father.

"I worked summers when I was a kid," he said, "I grew up with the tools."

But, this self-taught artist has taken his work far beyond that traditionally associated with skilled stonecutters, although he still does that on commission for residences and commercial buildings.

HE DOES functional and nonfunctional pieces, but he disagreed on the term non-functional.

"It all functions," he said, "it fills an emotional need."

Then, with a kind of half-smile, he said, "The making of art is about as arrogant a job as a person can have. You can't eat it, you can't make a garden with it, but, it. fills a very deep need."

in designing is to design stuff no one else can do."

The red marble spiral base is hollow, he said, otherwise it would be too heavy to deal with. As it is, it weighs approximately 85 pounds.

HIS PARTICULAR satisfaction or challenge, he said, "is to defy the limits of the materials." He can make marble look as light and pliable as putty. He can stretch and pull metal so it has the same almost weightless look (until lifted).

Many of the handsome marble. pedestal pleces in the exhibit arise from his interest in the helix form that he sees in nature. Two examples he cited were chromosomes and the inside of a conch shell. "Sometimes the simplest things in nature are the most beautiful."

ONE THAT looks different from the mobius and helix forms in the same room is "Equal Volumes." Acitelli-referred to It-as "a-littleintellectual exercise." It is a pedestal piece in black marble with a tilted tetrahédron (a solid figure with four triangular faces) beside a sphere.

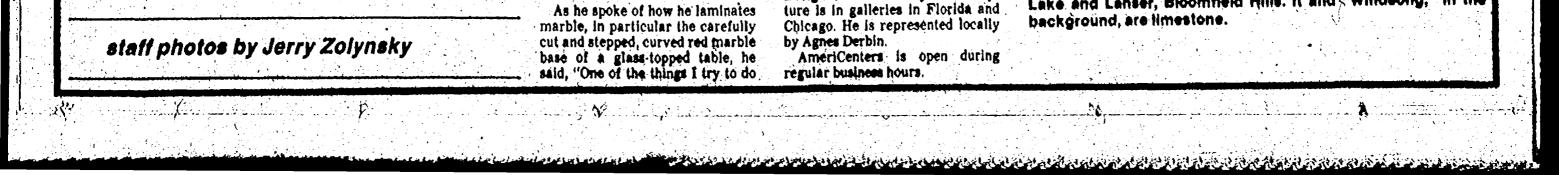

"It is the juxtaposition of the two that makes it interesting," he said. "The sphere has the least surface for the mass; the tetrahedron has the most, yet they weigh the same."

Acitelli is a master craftsman, but he is also a philosopher, a keen observer of nature and people and a fine artist. He was selected by the Smithsonlan Institution of Washington, D.C., to demonstrate the art of stone carving at the Festival of Michigan Folk Life in East Lansing this August.

His furniture pieces have been shown at Bill Born Ltd., Michlgan Design Center of Troy. His sculp-

'They say "you gotta have art." One area businesswoman, Laura Hardy, takes this advertising slogan for the arts seriously enough to give those that will eventually provide the art — young artists, a break by exposing them to the public at her poster and frame shop la Livonia.

Hardy, co-owner of Nelson's Framing on Middlebelt Road, recenty hosted the first of her planned series of "meet the artist" open

"It's so hard for artists to get the feedback they need to develop," said Hardy. "I meet so many talented young people here at the shop. They bring their work in and we talk. I want to help them as much as I càn."

FEATURED ARTISTS at the first open house included: Kit Genry, a Livonia Stevenson High School graduate and sophomore art tudent at the University of Michigan who works in watercolors; and Patricia Galea, an '89 Stevenson grad who work in pottery and oil paintings.

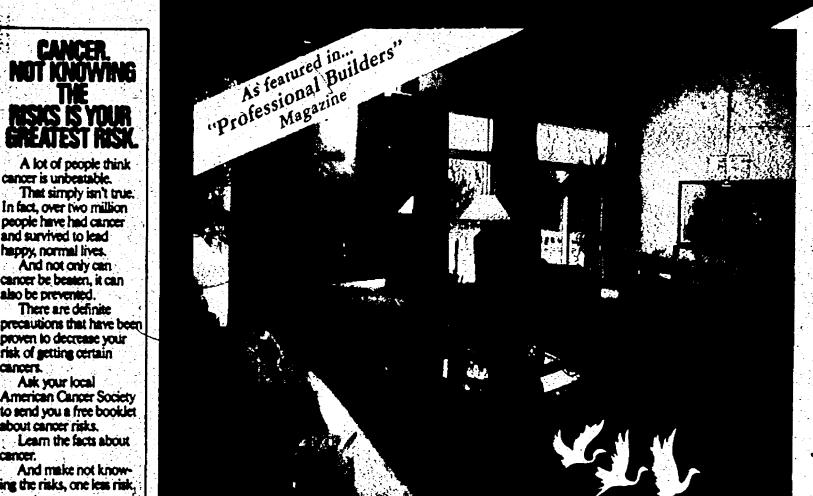

Janel Nowak, the artist in residence, displayed pen and ink sketches, cartooning and examples of glass etching. A young 72car-old Laura Bird presented paintings in oils and acrylics. Joe Wisnlewski, an engineer at Ford Motor Co., exhibited pencil sketch-
