WITH THE Mayoral campaign heating up this month, candidate Robert Thomas has decided to step down temporarily from his post as president of the city's American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 1602.

It's been difficult, Thomas said, to find time for his job with the public services department, the mayor's race, his union responsibilities and his family.

Taking Thomas' place until the Nov. 7 election will be Yvonne Gagnon. Gagnon, a secretary in the city clerk's office, is vice president of the local, the largest of the municipal employees unions.

TIME WAS on Sam Corrado's side last week literally,

The well-known civic booster made another one of his colorful presentations at Monday's Westland City Council meeting giving a check for $3,000 to the parks and recreation department from the Central City Park Association.

Before launching into the presentation, Corrado drew. laughs from onlookers as he placed a three-minute sand timer on the table and told council members not to worry.

The timer was apparently Corrado's way of letting those in attendance know Monday's speech wouldn't be a repeat of his 45-minute presentation last August of souvenirs from the Westland Stingers bockey tour of Finland and the Soviet Union.

Instead, Corrado spent about 3½ minutes turning over the check, which will pay for exterior improvements at the Melvin Bailey Recreation Center.

The park association raised the money through its ice cream sale at this year's Westland Summer Festival.

THE POLICE department's Crime Prevention Unit will be operating its Mobile Command Post in the parking lot of the Westland Police station, Ford Road east of Newburgh, Halloween night (Tuesday, Oct.

Officers will be on hand to check Halloweeen candy with a metal detector, as well as handing out junior police badges and coloring books for children from 6:30-9:30 p.m.

THE WESTLAND Sports Arena will mark the nationwide celebration of Ice Skating Day on Saturday, Oct. 28, with a series of special events. The schedule includes games and exhibitions by the Westland Hockey Association, local figure skating groups and free open skating for local residents. A college hockey game between Eastern Michigan University and Northwestern University (Evenston, III.) is scheduled for $ p.m. Admission to all events is free. Ice Stating Day is a project sponsored jointly by the city, the Ice Stating Institute of America, the U.S. Figure Stating Association, the Preferences Shaters Guild of America and

Neighbors shocked; suspect questioned

By Tedd Schnelder

An 81-year-old man, affectionately called "Whitey" by his neighbors at the Mohawk Mobile Home Court in northeast Westland, was stabbed to death as he returned home late Thursday or early Friday, police

The victim, Haskel Wolworth, was ambushed by someone he may have known just after he stepped inside the front door of his small, neatly kept mobile home at the front of the park, on Joy east of Inkster Road, police said.

A suspect in the killing was being questioned by police Friday afternoon. The suspect was found intoxicated and sleeping early Friday in a wooded field at an unidentified junior high school in Dearborn Heights, police said.

The victim's car was found parked in the school lot. The keys to the victim's car were found in the suspect's pocket, police said.

Cause of death was apparently multiple stab wounds to the chest, WOLWORTH'S BODY. was discovered at 9:30 a.m. by patrol officer Walter Rozen. After finding the victim's car, Dearborn Heights Police ran a check on the license plate and asked Westland Police to check on the owner's well-being, Rozen said.

Rozen said there was no answer at the house, but the door was slightly ajar. The victim was found in the living room, wearing a jacket and hat "like he had just come in from outside," Rozen sald.

Rozen said it looked as though there had been a struggle. The victim had several small wounds on his wrist, indicating that he apparently tried to fend off his attacker.

Police said they hadn't found a motive for the killing. The house's bedroom appeared to have been ran-

Mayoral candidates differ on development

staff writer

This is the first of two articles profiling the views of Westland mayoral candidates. Mayor Charles Griffin and challenger Robert Thomas spoke about the issues during an Oct. 4 interview at the Observer offices in Livonia. Previous statements made on the record and campaign literature were also used in compiling these stories. The election is Tuesday, Nov. 7,

Robert Thomas and Charles Griffin are on opposite-sides-of the cial and industrial development in Westland.

Griffin, who is running for a second term in the mayor's office, said if elected he would continue to cautiously push for the kind of increased commercial growth that has marked his first four years in office.

-"I think you have to have balanced commercial growth in your community in order to increase the SEV (state equalized valuation that determines property taxes) so that you can increase services," Griffin said.

"THE IDEA is to get your residential versus commercial to 50-50 (percent) so that (residential) tax rates are less and we're nowhere near that," Griffin said.

The incumbent said he would encourage increased residential expansion at the same time and pointed to the city having the second highest number of single-family housing starts in the region in 1988, according to figures compiled by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Thomas, on the other hand, favors a minimum six-month moratorium on rezonings of residentially classified properties to slow down commercial/industrial growth. He said he would request approval of the Mayor: Homeowners paying lower taxes

By Leonard Poger

Homeowners are paying less in city taxes - in real dollars and a proportion of the total property tax base — than three years ago, said Mayor Charles Griffin.

At the same time, a major increase in commercial/industrial developments has generated new city revenues to pay for improvements in public safety services.

This is the first time there has been a trend toward lowered property tax bills," the mayor said.

He cited property tax statistics which show that the city has expanded its property tax by over $182.7 million, enabling his administration to reduce the city tax rate and bills since he took office nearly four years ago, and boost public safety services substantially.

Griffin, campaigning for a second four-year_term with the election nearly a month away, said that the city tax bill for homes is down 3 percent, or from $8 to $14 a year, depending on the SEV of the home, from the 1986 levels.

The mayor and finance director Michael Gorman presented a report, which showed the tax impact for

Thomas questions the timing of his opponent's disclosure of property tax trends (see related story) showing that property taxes have been safety improvements were made.

Thomas, a city public services department employee, said the millage rate reductions may have been a result of the Headlee amendment to the Michigan Con-

Mayoral challenger Robert stitution which requires that millages be cut when local assessments rise faster than the rate of inflation.

Thomas blasts timing of report

The challenger said in an interview that the timing of Mayor Charles Griffin's report on tax trends is political, considering that the election is about a month away.

Thomas also said any financial figures "put out by the administration during a campaign should be looked at with a doubtful eye" 🐬

He also commented that the tax figures were compiled by persons appointed by the mayor.

Thomas also questioned the mayor's claim that the police department has increased its manpower. The challenger cited figures from the Westland Lieutenants-Sergeants Association that there are two fewer officers than 1985 and one officer is currently not working because of a job-related disability.

Local fire prevention effort to teach children fire safety

The Westland fire department will focus on children who play with fire during Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed this week.

"Blg Fires Start Small: Keep Matches and Lighters in the Right Hands" is the theme that will be stressed during the annual observance, said George Riley, battallon chief and the department's education

"The problem of children playing with fire has long challenged the fire protection service," Riley said. With that in mind (the week) emphasizes the importance of early edand lighters."

NATIONALLY, CHILD fire play is the leading cause of fire deaths among young children and the sixth leading cause of all civilian fire

Fires started by children playing with flammable materials account for three of every 10 fire deaths to preschool children.

Local Fire Prevention Week activities will include an open house and a poster contest, Riley said. The contest, open to children in kindergarten to sixth grade, will offer a $100 U.S.

> THE WESTLAND fire department's ongoing education program for children involved in fire play will also be publicized during Fire Prevention Week, Riley said.

> Many children face the temptation to play with fire every day, Riley said.

"Quite frankly, parents who leave matches and lighters within a child's reach are courling tragedy," he said. "Very young children do not have mercial and apartment construction along Newburgh in recent years has come after residential property was rezoned, allowing for the new developments.

Griffin however, said the city hasn't rezoned a residential piece of property in the last year, "I'd like to see them (rezonings). I don't know where they're at," he said.

THE MAYOR said the city's master plan, which was revised in the 1970s when he was on the council, has served the community well. He said the city is designed so that much of the residential land is in the northwest section of the city "and we don't intend to redo that."

Thomas said he would also try to control growth through executive appointments made by the mayor. He said he would seek out a planning director and a building director who share his beliefs.

"I've never been against growth," Thomas said. "I'm against uncontrolled growth, particularly commercial."

Griffin is stressing his experience as an administrator and the cooperative attitude his administration has fostered with the council as the qualities that make him best-suited for the job.

"I think my greatest asset is my ability to work with a diverse group of people and the fact that (because of experience and education) I understand our form of government," Griffin said.

Griffin served 10 years on the city council, four of them as council president, before running for mayor in

"As long as you've got some good. common sense and you are familiar with the operation of the city, I think you can (run for office)," Thomas

Other priorities stressed by Thomas are finding money for improved public services by tightening administrative expenses and working for better communication between the mayor's office and residents.

Griffin said continuing the city's current road construction plan and bringing more women and minoritles into city government are some of the goals he would stress during a second term.

Old house gets new look

HISTORICAL house in Westland is being spruced up. thanks to help from laidoff UAW workers and two union job bank staffers.

The Westland Historical, Cultural and Community Meeting House' is getting a paint job and other renovations for the planned rededication to be next month.

The building, formerly called the Rowe House, is on Marquette, just east of Newburgh.

Joseph Benyo, Westland historical commission member, said the union help is coming from a UAW job bank, which supplies laid-off workers for community service

At one point, Benyo said, two UAW staffers from the job bank staff helped paint the house, which was built between 1820 and 1850. The house, designed in the Greek revival architectural style, also is undergoing major renovations.

The building was moved to Westland from Canton Township about nine years ago. It is used by numerous community and service groups, hè said.

Meeting in the two-story building are the Host Lions Club, Breakfast Lions Club, Jaycees, Civitans, Friends of the Helen C. Brown Historical Museum, and Friends of the

The Jaycees also constructed a new porch for the building and will soon add a ramp for handicapped people.

Benyo said any community or civic group can use the building for meetings, without charge, by contacting him at city hall, 467-3200.

School board officials condemn Proposal B

By Tom Henderson staff writer

The Livonia Board of Education Monday night strongly condemned Proposal B, one of two school finance reform measures on the ballot in the Nov. 7 statewide election.

The board stopped short of recommending that residents vote for Proposal A, saying in its written position

"The board would encourage local citizens to give significant consideration to Proposal A on the November 1989 ballot. Proposal A provides new monles for education through the current state aid formula, and does of Livonia students."

Proposal B would raise the state sales tax from 4 to 6 percent and would reduce property taxes.

Proposal A would raise the state sales tax to 4.5 percent but would retain the current structure of local property taxes.

Neither proposal would mean more money for the Livonia Public

BOARD MEMBER Richard Thorderson said of Proposal B:

"One of the most onerous provisions of Proposal B is that local school boards will lose control of the funding for education. The state aid formula would work well if we'd fund it at the level we funded it in past decades."

In 1976-77, the state provided 45.8

education from kindergarten through grade 12. By 1987-88, the state's share had fallen to 30.4 per-

Under B, Thorderson said, "We will be at the whim of the state Legislature for funding public education, and I don't think that's in the best interest of Livonia or other school districts in the state."

Superintendent Joseph Marinelli said of B: "Obviously, Livonia would not receive the proportion of funds that it contributed to the state coffers."

OF BOTH proposals, he said: "Whatever the effect is, it's only not negatively impact the education , temporary. Over the long run, the inequity between the haves and the have-nots will continue to show itself. and grow even greater." ---

> In his written recommendation to the board, Marinelli said: "I support the concept of Proposal A because it does infuse new money into the formula without taking those funds from out-of-formula districts, as is inherent in Proposal B.

> "I feel we must be sensitive to the needs of in-formula districts and be willing to endorse Proposal A and other long-range efforts to increase funding for these districts."

> In-formula districts are those that receive state aid based on a complicated formula that gives money to the schools on a per-student basis.

cation. The Livonia district is out of formula.

BOARD MEMBERS made it clear that while they unanimously recommended that residents "consider" Proposal A, they were far from unanimous in deciding whether they themselves would vote for it.

Marjorle Roach and Joseph Laura said they didn't know how they will

Richard McKnight sald he would vote for A. "I'm encouraged by some of the things in it, perhaps more so than my fellow board members."

Under A, there would be no change in current property tax laws. Under B, there would be a 14-mill limit on businesses and a 9-mill limit on residential property taxes. In addition, there would be a foundation tax rate of 14.67 mills, which does not expire, and assessment increases would be unlimited.

Homeowners would pay higher federal taxes under B because property taxes (which are deductible) would fall when the sales tax (which homes in the four sections of the While taxes are going down slightly, the average Westland resident has gained an 18 percent increase in market value, as reflected by the state equalized valuation increases.

GRIFFIN, who has consistently emphasized new commercial and industrial growth, said that segment of . the city's growth has increased 28 percent since he took office.

"It is important to continue a growth policy that allows the city to reduce residential miliage and rates," Griffin said.

The total city millage rate, includ-ing the general fund and persion fund, is now $14.28 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, compared to $17.99 three years ago.

The current millage rate is broken down with $7.31 allocated for the general fund, $5.32 for non-city debt, such as the 1-mill levies approved by voters in recent years for the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority to improve a public incinerator, a new Wayne County Jail, and funds for special education programs under the Wayne County Intermediate School District. On a citywide basis, residential properties account for 64 percent of the entire property tax base, a sharp drop from the 78 percent level in 1976 when Griffin was first elected to the Westland city council.

He hopes to get the figure down to 50 percent. THE IMPROVEMENTS in public safety include six additional firefighters, four additional police officers, four new police-fire dispatchers, one housing code inspector, and two water hydrant repair employ-

In a related improvement, he said the city has hired two new highway maintenance-equipment operators during his administration to handle street sweepers and a sewer vaccum machine.

Griffin said the trend of lowered taxes and increased services represents "good management and controlled growth."

The new developments are also a result of a stable political environment, he said, referring to the constant mayoral-city council disputes involving his predecessor, Charles Pickering, now a city councilman.

It's academics Lawman goes back to school

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Orville Kappen, director of the Wayne County Regional Police Training Academy, is making a point about law enforcement education.

Then the phone rings. Today's lesson, it turns out, is about responsibil-

A trainee, absent due to illness, had his father call with the announcement - to Kappen's displeasure. Now, the chief of the trainee's sponsoring police department is on the line.

Kappen politely listens to the man's comments, then offers his own assessment.

"This young man is going to be an officer, but he has to stop letting his father do the talking for him," Kappen says. "After all, his father isn't going to be there when he's on your department."

After 26 years' active duty, mostly with the Livonia Police, Orville Kappen is adjusting to his new role as educator,

In doing so, he's part lawman, part teacher and part father confessor for his mostly youthful charges.

"I TRY to keep them at arm's length because I feel their closest relationship should be with the instructors," he said. "But if someone comes to me for help, I'll give it. And I'll do everything short of opening up their heads and inserting it surgically to make sure they understand."

Kappen's job, as he sees it, is to produce good cops - and weed out potentially bad ones.

"If someone slides through here because he's putting on a front, then

I haven't done my job," he said. He's been on the job at Schoolcrafft College-Radeliff since March, maintaining his sergeant's stripes after retiring from the Livonia Police. With that department — and earlier with Detroit - he served as everything from patrolman to supervisor.

But it was his long academic background that attracted Schooleraft College officials.

Kappen holds a bachelor's from the University of Michigan and a master's from Eastern Michigan.

Beyond that, he interrupted his own schooling to head criminal justice programs at Wayne State and Madonna College, Livonia.

Though he is a few comprehensive tests short of a master's in public administration, Kappen's own school days may be over.

"To tell the truth, I'm not so sure I'll finish the last one," he said. "I'm a grandfather now. I'm not sere I want to take any more tests."

His job now is to make sure his charges pass their tests.

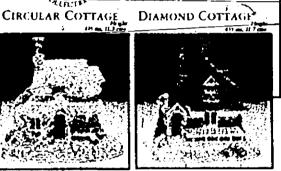

"This is nothing like Police Academy," he said, referring to the long-running movie series and its comic misfits. "This is hard work."

Is Your Child Too Small?

Most kids grow at their own rate. And there's nothing to be alarmed at if they're a little above or below the growth chart.

For some children, though, it's different. For any number of reasons, they just don't grow like other kids do. But if treated in time, many of them can be helped.

And that's the purpose of the Growth Assessment Clinic sponsored by Pediatric Associates of Farmington. in affiliation with Children's Hospital of Michigan and the Human Growth Foundation. If you're worried about your child's growth pattern, give us a call at (313) 228-2769.

we'll set up a private screening on Saturday. October 14. And it won't cost you a penny.

Global view Outlook on world's narrow

WE AMERICANS don't usually think of ourselves as foreigners. Our world view is such that we're accustomed to thinking of others as the "different" ones.

We don't, for instance, think of NASA as a foreign space agency, but that's how NASA is labeled in an exhibit at The Science Museum in Lon-

I noticed that right away when I visited the museum, and was a bit startled. From the British perspective, of course, NASA is exactly that. For us, space exploration has been such a part of our history that it's easy to assume all other people share the same point of view.

This was my second trip to England, and the first time I'd visited Scotland. One of the most enjoyable aspects of travel, I've found, is seeing how other people live.

We were fortunate enough to meet and spend some time with a couple from Lincoln. My husband and I went to a soccer game with them, saw some of the local sights, visited their favorite pub and stayed at their home one night.

DIFFERENCES LARGE and small are easy to spot. Their home, for example, had no screens on the windows. Our hotel in London was similarly equipped.

They didn't know what screens were, so we provided the best explanation we could. It's difficult to ex-the political references - although plain something so commonplace to us yet so unfamiliar to others.

Driving on the left side of the road was too bewildering for us, so we took trains and let our English friends do the driving.

OTHER DIFFERENCES were more noteworthy. One of the enjoyable parts of our trip was being in the audience for the taping of a BBC radio show. Much of the British humor went right over our American heads. We didn't understand many of we were aware that the Duchess of York (also known as Fergie) was expecting_a_baby_and_had recently written two children's books.

News from the home front was limited during our trip. We heard about Mayor Ed Koch's defeat in New York City and about the destruction caused by Hugo. Detroit's election outcome and other stories didn't make it across the ocean into the newspapers and broadcasts.

On the other hand, we heard a great deal more about happenings in Europe and even in Asia. It made me realize just now limited our view of the world can be.

OF COURSE, there were familiar touches from home. I confess to having watched an episode of "The Beverly Hillbillies" on the TV in our London hotel room. We were able to pick up some German and French television stations as well, and entrical outlet. That switch had to be joyed seeing "Star Trek," "Cagney flipped or else the outlet wouldn't and Lacey" and "Bonanza" dubbed in German.

American restaurants, including Pizza Hut, McDonald's and Kentucky Fried Chicken, can be found in the United Kingdom. There are many similarities in terms of clothing, musical tastes and other aspects of everyday life.

The Museum of Childhood in Edinburgh was the site of a surprise from home. An exhibit of toys from throughout the world included a Daisy Air Rifle, manufactured with pride in "Plymouth USA." A picture of that air rifle is now included in our collection of vacation photos.

I know it's bad form to bore people to tears with vacation stories. Certainly, as vacation destinations go, the United Kingdom isn't all that

That pause for thought gave him enough time to reach me and shove me backward. "Never mind," he said, grabbing my shoulder bag from my car, "I just wanted your purse."

THE RELIEF I felt in knowing it was only my paycheck he was after quickly turned into a cry of anger. I had been willing to help him yet he took advantage of me. It was here that my adrenalin kicked in and, let me tell you, adrenalin is dangerous

I'm a five foot tall woman and he must have weighed 180 pounds but I launched out after him. "You pig," I yelled, catching him by his shirt and swinging him into a parked car, "Give me back my purse." He pulled away, knocking me to the ground, and ran toward his pickup truck.

I chased him, ready to grab him again but, thank goodness, reason suddenly returned. (If I live to be 90 I hope I never do that again.) What would I do if I caught him? I'm all alone here, I thought.

I thought wrong. Other people from the parking lot were running toward us, a well-dressed businessman in the lead. Just as my would-be rescuer reached the end of the truck, the robber shifted into drive and

'He got her purse," I heard a Whitney Houston look-alike say to an athletic older man who cursed and ran to his black sports car. "Get the license number."

"Call the police." "Are you OK?"

· VOICES SWIRLED round me as I ran to the phone.

The Livonia Police Department immediately got to work. While the desk sergeant kept me on the phone with questions asked in a calming tone, a patrol car scoured the area for the truck. Two couples who had witnessed the attack volunteered the license number and description of the vehicle.

By that time, reaction had set in and the Whitney Houston woman put off her shopping until she was sure I was not in shock. The businessman stopped to say he had put my bag in my car. Until then, I hadn't realized a package was in my hand when the fracas began.

_ People who had seen the attack came by to offer help, their encouraging and sympathetic smiles giving me the courage to hold myself together It's nice to know there are such people in the world. Almost worth a robbery.

A-police officer drove up to take my statement and further news came in over the radio while we were talking. The man in the black sports car had followed the thief to the Livernois/I-96-area before call-, ing it in to the police department.

LATER THAT evening, I received a call from a detective.

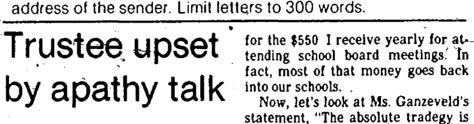

The suspect had been captured and my purse was intact.

"Wonderful," I said, "Your department does good work."

"Yes, we do ma'am," he replied, "But we had a lot of helpful witnesses in this case. When people give us that much information, it sure makes our job easier."

Then he asked if I would appear in court the next day to press charges: Would I press charges? I sure would! When people go out of their way to help me I say, "Thank you."

Thank you, Livonia.

Academy in brief:

The Wayne County Regional Police Training Academy is a new addition at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff.

It began last year through an agreement between the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and suburban police departments.

It is the primary training academy for western Wayne County though the current class includes a student from Branch County, south of Jackson, near the Indiana state

The academy will hold six 14week training sessions during its current fiscal year, which ends in December 1990. The current training session runs through Dec. 9. The next session begins Jan. 22.

To graduate, students must complete courses in constitutional law, police ethics and stress management, as well as hands-on training in police driving, first aid, firearms and self-defense. Classes meet five days at week.

While most trainees have been provisionally hired by area departments, others are self-financed Schoolcraft students working toward a degree in criminal justice.

The academy also includes in-service training for veteran officers:

SQUASH TEMPTATION

Kids love pumpkins each fall

Ask any kid this time of year what his or her favorite vegetable is and there's a good chance the answer will be "pumpkins."

I can remember hopping into the '65 Chevy BelAir with Mom and Dad and hearing the immortal words spoken by all parents at one time or another: "Be good. No fighting. We'll be at the apple orchard within the hour and you can each pick out your own pump-

Of course, at that age, I could never really understand why someone would go to an apple orchard to get a pumpkin. Upon, arrival, however, and before we were treated to cider and warm cinnamon-sprinkled doughnuts, we would climb over what sure could have been a zillion tons of pumpkins, ranging in size from miniscule gourds to bigger than a Dixie Cup, all the way up to one that would have required a U-Haul to haul away.

Pumpkins belong to the gourd and meion family, which also includes squash and cucumbers. Although there is some confusion between the terms pumpkin and squash, pumpkins are generally considered to be the large, orange fruits that have a coarse, stringy, strong-flavored flesh.

PUMPKINS WERE never served at the Janes Gang kitchen as tadie vegetadies dut instead mainly were used for pie making and table decorations. In other cultures, however, pumpkins are used extensively. The farmers of Manchurla dried strips of pumpkin in the sun, and the Italians still eat deep-fried, batter-dipped covered pumpkin flowers. With nouvelle culsine, the resurgence of pumpkin in soups and sauces has taken the old jack-o-lanterns to new culinary heights.

With fresh pumpkin easily accessible during the fall harvest, many cooks rely on using canned pumpkin products throughout the year. Be wary of canned pumpkin products, however, if you're looking for "real" pumpkin, as some processors actually resort to using winter squash instead of real pumpkin.

My sources report that one mafor canner prefers the use of winter squash over pumpkin because they believe the flavor of the squash is superior. When I mentioned this to Momma, she replied, "Heck, by the time you add the brown sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and alispice, you probably wouldn't be able to tell the difference anyway."

If you're interested in using pumpkin in other ways than the proverbial pie, you can cut the shells into small sections with the rind, seeds and stringy material removed and drop into a boiling cauldron of lightly salted water.

After the boiling, the meat can be purced in a blender or processor until smooth and then mixed with your favorite spices, a little butter and brown sugar. Occasional Sunday dinners at Momma's always brought requests for her baked pumpkin casserole topped with marshmallows that melt down and add a gooey, Sandersy sweetness to the otherwise bland vegetable.

PUMPKIN SEEDS can be prepared by first parboiling for a few minutes and then roasting with a little salt in a 350-degree oven, tossing frequently to prevent over-browning. About 30 minutes will do, when spread evenly over a non-stick cookle sheet.

Be warned that there is a difference between actual pumpkins and jack-o-lanterns that are used primarily for Halloween. Ple pumpkins are smaller and have a more rusty-orange color. Squash pumpkins have meatler insides than jack-o-lanterns but still have the same size and color characteristics. Jack-o-lanterns have thicker rinds and much less flesh and should be used only for decorative purposes.

So if you can't load the family into a '65 Chevy BelAir, buckle them into the minivan for a fun trip to a pumpkin patch.

Squash comes in both summer and winter varieties to enjoy.

Colorful, plentiful and tasty

By Larry Janes special writer

7 ISIT ANY farmers market or roadside stand between now and late October and you will be inundated with sights of squash. Long ones resembling warped baseball bats, glant. ones that would fill the gullets of Goliath, and a multitude of other shapes, sizes and colors.

This summer, which will go down in record books as being pretty darned near perfect for area farm; ers, is certainly proving to be a boom year for those of us who love squash. My sources near the fields have voiced just one minor complaint, that the extended rainy period in this region the last week of August might curb the harvest of a Janes Gang favorite, pattypan squash. But other than that, look for bigger yields and giant-sized nature creations being picked as you read Southeastern Michigan is home to an abundant array of various squash. A stroll through the Eastern Market reveals bushels of zucchini, barrels of spaghetti squash, battalions of acorns and bags of buttercups.

In addition, you will notice delicate, pale pattypans that resemble small flying saucers, crooknecks that could be classified as a danger? ous weapon, hubbards that will easis ly feed the entire block, turbans so colorful they could double as crown? for royalty and butternuts that beg to be baked with a little brown sugar, orange juice and cinnamon.

SQUASHES ARE generally divided into two broad classifications; summer and winter. Both groups are actually edible gourds and, as with most other vegetables, made their way to the Americas with the early settlers. The basic difference between the two groups is that summer squashes are picked and eaten when young and immature, while winter squashes are allowed to harden, thus developing resistant skins and mag

It has been said that of the two, the summer squashes are more deligcate in flavor, texture and keeping quality.

The most common summer squashes include green and yellow zucchini, straight-neck and crookneck, pattypan and chayote. Zucchirg is by far the most popular of the log mainly because of its year-round

Dough balls make dough at Marty's

By Janice Brunson

In the few short months that Marty's Cookle Company in Birmingham has been selling dough balls, the unique idea has caught on like , . . well, like a ball of dough, with customers scooping up the mixed and measured offerings for baking at

"You know, if you're running behind schedule and need something quick," said owner Marty Herman, suggesting an explanation for brisk sales from the very beginning of the rich, round offerings.

Actually, all sales at Herman's shop are brisk - an estimated 12,000 cookies baked and sold each week - popular chocolate chip, lusclous butter pecan, mouth-watering white chocolate with cashews, oatmeal with nuggets of raisin, creamy peanut butter and much more.

Because weekly sales of baked goods have always been good, it is only reasonable to assume that sales of the uncooked product should also be good. Tastiness is a reasonable explanation why.

"WE SEEK OUT the best quality ingredients. If a recipe calls for butter, we only use the highest quality. sweet creamy butter scored 93. We only use double grade AA eggs," said Hungary and raised in Israel. He came to the U.S. in 1957.

Herman never purchases ingredlents in bulk, and dough is prepared fresh daily, today's batch mixed for baking tomorrow. "We never mix and bake at the same time. It's too chaotic."

Recipes are finely tuned, refined over and over until "we find we can't make it any better." To ensure a plump cookle baked through and through, baking is slow at 285 de-

Dough is regularly taste-tested, samples from any given day set aside in the freezer for baking and tasting months later.

"It's our own quality control, a self-evaluation. We like to see just what's happening with our work."

A dozen varieties of cookles are always available at any one time, varieties that are regularly changed at customer request to accomodate varying tastes.

Also available at customer request are cookie bouquets, featuring fresh flowers and cookles of choice. One containing a dozen cookies costs

> Diners like Doug Hoffman urged Herman to relocate in Birmingham where Hoffman then operated a clothing store for men. After considerable consideration, Herman responded to the requests, making the move in 1982 and settling on cookies as a mainstay.

"I didn't have ples, cakes, flans or tortes. So why not cookles? I knew I could do it better (than Springwater's who has since ceased produc-

The small shop in Birmingham was specially designed to accomodate cookle baking and bables. A small nursery was built in the front of the shop for Micah, now 7, who was born shortly after Marty and wife Joyce launched the cookle shop. Jerusha, 6, and Norah, 4, also used the nursery that is now a storage and office room.

Assisting Herman in the cookle operation are "John who bakes, Ed who bakes. Roger who bakes and Joseph who bakes." Another dozen or so employees package and sell cookies, both in Birmingham and in a second shop in Detroit, opened two years ago.

Large cookies baked from a ball of dough the size of a small baseball sell for $1 each. Dough balls the size of golf balls are $3.50 a dozen. In addition to cookles, Marty's features luncheon salads, unique croissants stuffed with such delicacles as bacon and brocoli, muffins and availability. Riding the middle of the road that can categorize it either as a summer or winter variety falls another Janes Gang favorite, the spaghetti squash.

This is a football-shaped yellow squash that, when cooked, falls into gossamer threads resembling spaghetti. The spagnetti squash has done a lot to liven up the diet industry, especially in the old days before pasta was "legalized" and dieters used this squash instead of starchy pasta to smother with sauce.

By far the most popular summer squash is the ubiquitous zucchini that graces, more gardens throughout metro-Detroit than any other. Zucchini squash plants are like bunny hutches, start one and enjoy zucchini from June 1 till the first hard frost. .tered-ego" potato.

During that time, you also will send squash to friends, neighbors and relatives because even without the help of Miracle Grow, these things propagate faster than the speed of light, PATTYPANS ALSO are called cymlings and are known in England as custard marrow. As with most other squash, you can stuff 'em, steam 'em, boil 'em, bake 'em or fry 'em, but delicate little pattypans deserve to be treated more fairly. Try cutting them into matchsticks (julienne) and toss into a miniscule amount of hot oll for about 30 seconds, or better yet, thinly slice and pan fry quickly in some hot butter.

As with most of the summer varieties, they can be cut into matchsticks, given an egg bath, then rolled in breadcrumbs and fried for an "al-

, Crookneck varieties frighten more people with their looks, but as Momma always said, "Looks can be deceiving." The only problem I ever encountered with crookneck squash was, when purchased, it weighed in at just under three pounds and the family are crookneck fried, steamed and baked three nights in a row.

All summer squashes should be kept in a cool, dark area except for zucchini and yellow squash, which should be refrigerated for extended life. Because of its high water content, summer squasi, does not freeze well unless pureed prior to freezing.

Winter squashes are by far the firmest of the varieties. Winter squashes include the venerable acorn, which places a close second to cranberry sauce as the perennial table favorite at Thanksgiving. The giant hubbard is easily detected by a gargantuan size that closely resembles one of the pod people from science-fiction oldies.

Buttercups and turbans both look like Turkish headwraps, with buttercups heading the taste category, coming in like a sweet potato while the turban squash is more gourd-related and looks prettler than it actually tastes.

THE BUTTERNUT looks like a long-necked pear and cries out for an addition of brown sugar, cinnamon, butter and a sprinkle of nutmeg to bring out its bland taste. Last, but certainly not least, is by far the most widely purchased of all winter squashes, especially at this time of year — the pumpkin. And, yes, pumpkin is a member of the squash family — and if you need a decorative description, you need more help than this column will ever be able to offer.

Winter squashes do not require refrigeration. If you are planning to keep them at room temperature, do so for not longer than one week or they will begin to soften. If you happen to be a squash lover and buy them by the bushels, keep them covered with an old blanket in the garage on the back, covered porch for an indefinite winters rest.

Like their summer cousins, puree to freeze and use in soups, pies casseroles or as a side dish by themselves. Three pounds of whole squash will yield a little over three cups when cooked and pureed.

For any winter variety, remove the stem, cut in half, and scoop out and discard seeds and strings. If you are planning to boil, steam or fry, cut them into smaller sections and peel first before cooking. This writer thinks that winter squash are absolutely smashing when stuffed and baked, especially with a julcy filling. Make your favorité hearty vegetable soup and place it inside a scooped-out winter squash, then bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until the squash is tender. This not only increases the flavor but makes for a great serving piece when brought to the table. Meat loaf baked in a scooped-out winter squash also will be moist, juicy and flavorful, in addition to being different.

THE BEST BIT of news regarding both summer and winter squash is that not only are they friends of dieters, most coming in at approximately 70 calories per eight-ounce serving, but they are loaded with all sorts of vitamins nd nutrients.

When baked, broiled, boiled, fried or steamed, squash can be a welcome addition to any fall harvest table.

SQUASH PIE (As good as pumpkin ple.)

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt 11/2 teaspoons cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 1/2 teaspoon allspice ¼ teaspoon ginger % cup firmly packed brown sugar 1/2 cup granulated sugar I teaspoon vanilla 2 cups squash puree 1 cup milk or cream or half and half

1 partly baked 9-inch pie shell

Beat the eggs well, then beat in flour, salt, spices, sugars and vanilla. Stir in the squash puree and milk or cream and blend well. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Pour half the squash mixture in the ple shell. Place the pie shell on a cookie sheet in the oven. Pour in remainder of ple filling (this avoids spills). Bake for 10 minutes, then reduce oven temperature to 350 degrees and continue baking for 45 minutes. May be served warm, cold or at room temperature. (From "The Classic Vegetable Cookbook" by Ruth Spears, Harper & Row, paperback, 1989.)

CURRIED PUMPKIN SOUP (Works great with all squashes.) 2 cups cooked squash, pureed 2 tablespoons butter/margarine 4 cup onlon, finely diced 2 cups chicken stock 1/2 teaspoon curry powder 1 cup heavy cream fresh ground white pepper to taste

In a large saucepan, saute onion in butter or margarine till tender. Add squash and cook for 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in 1/2 cup chicken stock. Transfer to blender or processor and process until smooth. Return to saucepan, add remaining ingredients except cream. Heat to a simmer. Transfer to a hollowed-out squash or pumpkin and bake in a 350-degree oven for 45 minutes or until squash is tender. Using a large spoon, scrape inside of squash and stir into soup mixture. Raise temperature of cream with a little hot soup. Whisk into soup mixture and serve immediately.

SPAGHETTI SQUASH PARMESAN-1 whole cooked spaghetti squash 1/2 cup (I stick) butter or margarine 1 cup fresh grated Parmesan cheese fresh ground pepper to taste

Cut squash in half. Remove seeds and strings. Using a large fork, remove spaghetti meat from squash and fluff lightly with a fork. Add butter or margarine and toss well. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and toss well again. Just before serving, sprinkle generously with fresh ground black pepper.

Panic Pita Pizza handy in a hurry

Just as my family was getting adjusted to being back in school, soccer season started. We adjusted to that, and now we have had another wrench thrown into our family's routine with the advent of hockey sea-

Judging by the number of familiar faces I see at the soccer field and the ice areana, I know that I'm not the only mother shuttling children from one activity to another. I keep telling myself that these are the "Wonder Years," but the only thing I find myself "wondering" about as I wander through rush-hour traffic is. what on earth are we going to have for dinner?

Of course, there is always the easy choice of going to a fast-food restaurant, but for nutritional and economical reasons I prefer to feed my boys at home. On hectic nights such as this, I resort to dinners like "Panic Pita Pizza," which is an innovative and nutritious alternative to commercial pizza.

This is a quick and easy-dinner the boys like because they help make their own pizza, selecting from a variety of toppings that I have on hand. It is a great way to use up all those-"must goes" in your refrigerator. What is a "must go?" You know, this must go and that must go, like that last chunk of onion, the few remaining mushrooms in the box, or the last few slices of ham.

THE BEAUTY of this dish is that the cheese is placed on top, and once melted can cover up a variety of vegetables that will be scarfed down before the kids even know what they watermelon-wedges - a colorful conclusion to an easy, economical and tasty dinner.

I hope that this week's Winner Dinner will provide you with a solution on those trying days we all have. I guarantee that this is one dinner your children will enjoy more than your garbage disposal would.

Beginning next week, this column will feature a Winner Dinner sent in by a reader, who will receive an apron printed with "Winner Dinner Winner" for her efforts. One last note, if any of you have any ideas for fun and easy dinners for Halloween. like an orange-and-black dinner or a special pumpkin bread recipe, please send it in, as well as your family's favorite dinner menu. Sometimes the simplest things can make an ordinary dinner more special and memorable. I'm looking forward to hearing from you and hope that you and your family have a great week.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. Please include-a-complete-dinner, with recipes as needed. All submissions become the property of the publisher.

Each week's recipes are printed the same size, so that you may clip and save them in a three-ring binder - use a paper punch to make holes in the clipping, or paste the clipping on a blank sheet of three-ring notebook paper Another option is to simply file the clippings in a folder with I usually serve this dinner with pockets that will hold them.

It is a great way to use up all those 'must goes' in your refrigerator.

Preheat the oven to 450 degrees. Spray a baking sheet with a non-stick spray. Place whole pita bread on tray. Do not split the bread. Spread a generous amount of pizza sauce on top of the bread Sprinkle on ingredients of choice. Cover with mozzarella cheese and shake on a little Parmesan cheese and, if desired, some Italian Seasoning (I prefer the McCormick's brand). Bake in the oven until the cheese is melted and bubbly, about 8-10 minutes.

WATERMELON WEDGES

There is nothing fancy or complicated about this. Simply slice off a piece of watermelon and cut it into wedges. This works just as well with cantaloupe or honeydew melon

In the winter when watermelon isn't as available. I slice up oranges and apples and let evervatie nelp themselves. A quick and delicious alternative, to a more labor-intensive fruit salad.

Meadow jumping mouse shy but interesting creature

Unless you have had the opportunity to plow fields with a tractor at night, or spend a great deal of time walking meadows at night with a flashlight, you probably have not seen a meadow jumping mouse.

They are noctural in their activities and tend to be more solitary than the common species of field mice. Meadow jumping mice are small like other mice. Their body measures only 314 inches long. However, they have a very long tail which averages almost five inches long. A common white-footed mouse has a tall that is only about 314 inches long.

In addition to a long tail, they have very long hind feet. Their hind feet can be almost as long as one-

Meadow jumping mice prefer the open fields and meadows, but will also inhabit young forests and edges between fields and forests. When they live near or in the forest they come in contact with a close cousin of theirs, the woodland jumping mouse. They both look similiar and both hibernate during the winter months.

JUMPING MICE are one of the few species of mammals that hibernate. Some bats, woodchucks, the 13lined ground squirrel and the black bear also hibernate (yes, bear researchers now consider the bear a hibernator).

Now through mid-October is the period in which jumping mice retire to their underground hibernaculum. In response to the shortening days of late summer, they begin to eat extra amounts of food that they store as fat. By the time September arrives, a 16 gram mouse may weigh 28 grams. This supply of energy must sustain the animal until it awakens in April and May.

Adult males are the first to enter hibernation, followed by females and young of her first litter of the year. By mid-October the young of the last litter have had enough time to eat and put on fat and enter hibernation.

Though not often seen, jumping mice are interesting animals found in southeastern Michigan.

So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long-term risks of diabetes - like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated 150,000 deaths this year alone.

Rice dumps CC, snaps losing streak

By Marty Budner staff writer

Brother Rice has won its share of big games over the years. Most of them, naturally, have produced sheer jubilation. But Sunday's triumph over Redford Catholic Central was different — it spawned nothing

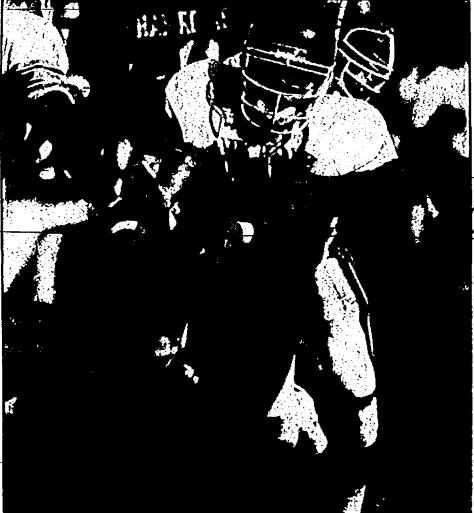

The Warriors defeated their arch rivals, 31-14, in the 45th annual Boy's Bowl played at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium before an overflow crowd of more than 7,000 spectators.

Catholic Cental had defeated Rice five consecutive times entering the game, including four straight Boy's Bowls and the 1987 Class A state ning to wonder when the losing streak would end.

So it was no surprise the Brother Rice faithful stormed the field and mobbed their heroes with unrestrained joy when the highest scoring Boy's Bowl in 19 years ended in Rice's favor.

"I'm relieved. This is a great victory for us," said Fracassa, whose team is now 6-0 and just three games away from his fifth undefeated regular season in 21 years as Brother Rice coach.

"You begin to wonder — 'five times in a row'. You keep thinking about that. I told the kids I'd been thinking about Catholic Central for Bob Ulter (14) ran for one touchdown and threw for two more to pace the Brother Rice offense.

61/2 days," he said. "Then I started playoffs. Warrior fans were beginthinking about our team and the players we have here. That helped me out. That gave me a lift."

The Warriors, paced by a balanced scoring attack that netted 300 total yards, mustered 31 points against a CC team which had not allowed a point in five games.

And although Rice opened the scoring, CC should have. The Shamrocks took the opening kick and held the ball for 101/2 minutes, only to come up short when Kerry Zavagnin's 20-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Rice's Dean Polce.

Shortly afterward, CC's Rick Walsh intercepted an Utter pass deep in Rice territory to give the Shamrocks another glorious scoring opportunity to begin the second quarter. Again, the Rice defense held. and Zavagnin's 28-yard field goal attempt went wide.

So the Shamrocks were blanked, even though they dominated the game's first 14 minutes.

"We hurt ourselves. We opened the game with a 10-minute drive and didn't put the ball in when we should have," said CC coach Tom Mach, whose team is now 5-1 overall. "Not putting the points on the board always changes the momentum. We were playing real well and it changed the momentum when we didn't put it in."

Rice then began to assert itself offensively, tallying the first points of the season against the Shamrocks defense when junior Kevin Cook booted a 20-yard field goal - his second of the season — five minutes before halftime.

Rice's defense forced a punt and got the ball back with 2:35 left. It took the Warriors just two minutes to score as Utter raced in from 2 yards out to cap a 40-yard drive with 43 seconds left in the second quarter. Cook hit the extra point to give Rice its 10-0 halftime lead.

The Warriors iced the game by scoring a pair of touchdowns within 10 seconds of each other early in the third quarter.

Rice took the opening kickoff 80 yards in six plays to make it a 17-0 game. The drive's key plays were a 24-yard run by Steve Morrison and a 38-yard touchdown gallop by Sean Johnson around left end.

On the ensuing kickoff, Rice's Kevin Kalczynski raced downfield and recovered what had to be a record for the longest on-side kick in Boy's Bowl history.

The Warriors scored on the first play after recovering the ball when Utter threw a 20-yard scoring pass to Morrison. Cook booted the extra point, and all of a sudden Rice was in command with a 24-0 lead.

"That (the kickoff recovery) really. hurt us," said Mach. "A 10-0 lead was nothing to worry about, because I thought we had the ability to come back. But that really hurt when they got those two touchdowns."

CC broke Rice's shutout bid when quarterback Jack Davidson, subbing for Jason Carr who broke a finger in last week's win over Bishop Gallagher, threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Mike Grimes. The Shamrocks 2point attempt falled and the third quarter ended with a 24-6 Rice advantage.

Each team scored in the final quarter.

Utter hit Pete Mitchell with a 9yard pass to make it a 31-8 game. Then, with 2:31 left in the game, Davidson threw a 15-yard touchdown; pass to Mike Thomas. Davidson successfully tossed to Arshon Stewart for the 2-point conversion to account for the final score. Utter completed 11 of 17 passes for 152 yards with two interceptions. Mitchell caught six passes for 107yards. Morrison caught two passes, rushed for 60 yards and averaged; more than 51 yards on three punts, including a 72-yard second-quarter boomer.

Senior Dave Owens was the Shamrock workhorse, carrying the ball 23 times for 98 yards.

Fordson rallies to stun upset-minded Wayne Memorial

staff-writer

Even the spectacular play of Wayne Memorial wide receiver Larry Johnson couldn't prevent unbeaten Dearborn Fordson from winning its sixth straight game Saturday, a come-from-behind 22-17 Wolverine A League victory over the heartbroken Zebras.

Playing before their homecoming crowd, the stateranked Tractors appeared down and out, trailing 17-8 with 6:07 left in the game.

But a Wayne fumble at the Fordson 31 gave the Tractors new life.

They engineered a rousing comeback by scoring a pair of touchdowns in the final five minutes, scoring the game-winning touchdown with only 26 seconds to go when quarterback Mohamad Baidoun rolled out and found Haisam Rahal on a 4-yard pass. (The two also teamed up on a 6-yard TD pass with 4:12 to play.) But even with only 19 seconds left to play, the game was not over, especially with the 6-foot, 165-pound

Johnson on the field.

The senior split end hauled in a 50-yard pass from quarterback Brent Tapp (out of the shotgun formation) with only six seconds left, putting the ball at the Ford-

BUT JOHNSON, who caught eight passes for 194 yards and two TDs on the day, never got a chance to make another big play, as Tapp was forced to scramble out of the pocket in desperation after taking a high snap. He was intercepted as time expired by Fordson's Ed

"No. 4 (Johnson) is the best we've seen all year," said Fordson coach Charlie Jestice. "We just don't practice against anybody as fast as thát."

Wayne was all over the stunned Tractors in the first half, taking a 14-0 lead as Johnson made a nifty grab and tip-toed down the sideline on a 15-yard TD toss from Tapp in the first quarter, followed by a 33-yard circus TD grab in the second quarter that took the ball away from Fordson defender Richard Orr.

Fordson, however, began to wear down a tired Wayne defense in the second half, marching 82 yards in 13 plays on its opening possession, resulting in a 28-yard TD pass from Baidoun to Youssef Sareini. (Fordson passed for the two-pointer to make it 14-8.)

But Tapp, who earlier had come up just short on a 53yard field goal attempt, made good from 36 as time expired in the third quarter for a 17-8 Wayne lead.

"FORDSON IS an excellent team and once they got hot, they were tough to stop," said Wayne coach Chuck Howton. "We tried a number of different things to control them, but they made a couple of great plays.

"We were just happy to have the opportunity to take a team as well-coached by Charlie Jestice to the limit, I know one thing — we didn't win, but I think we put the fear of God in them."

Between his running and passing, Tapp accounted for 247 of Wayne's 345 yards. Fordson had 285 yards total with Baidoun completing 10 of 23 for 155.

"We let them get too far behind, but that was because Wayne very much outplayed us, especially in the first half," Jestice said. "We weren't controlling the quarterback at all."

But it was the play of Johnson who had the Fordson fans shaking their heads in amazement.

"He's phenomenal all the time," Howton said. "He'll play for some college. He's a player."

It's Amy over rival Carrie in Challenge

staff writer

It had the look of an exhibition at the beginning, but as play went on, the intensity resembled that of a Wimbledon or United States Open Tennis final.

Local teenage phenoms Carrie Cunningham of Livonia and Amy Frazier of Rochester squared off on Centaur Racquet Club's center court Saturday night in an event billed as the Falvey Tennis Chal-

The one hour and 15 minute match, played before an appreciative crowd at the West Bloomfield complex, was all Frazier as the Rochester Adams senior defeated her opponent in straight sets. Frazier, who has competed in matches at Wimbledon and the U.S. Open, needed 45 minutes to win the first set, 6-2, and only 30 minutes to finish off Cunningham in the second,

"I enjoyed myself," said Frazier after the match. "I didn't play too badly, but I don't think Carrie played like she can."

SERVING WAS the downfall for both players, more so for Cunningham, as the first set featured sixservice breaks and the second set had four.

Frazier broke Cunningham's serve to break on top 1-0 and quickly increased the margin to 3-0 by holding and gaining another break. The two players exchanged service breaks in the next four games before Frazier held on in the set's eighth gàme.

Frazier, ranked 36th on the latest Women's International Tennis Association chart, grabbed a quick 2-0 advantage in the second set before Cunningham rallied to tie the set at three games aplece.

With Cunningham drawing even, Frazier turned to her powerful backhand to win the next three

"AWESOME, JUST awesome," sald Centaur's Wayne Jackson, the person who devised the match, of Frazler's backhand, "What you've seen tonight are two future top 10 players in the world."

Breaking through

Churchill gains 1st win at Pats' expense

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

A button worn by a woman in the Livonia Franklin cheering section Saturday said it all: "A football field is for marching bands."

The Franklin band did another wonderful job at halftime, but the football team didn't belong on the same field with cross-town rival Churchill. The Chargers were superior on both sides of the ball and beat up the Patriots, 14.3, before a disappointed homecoming crowd at Franklin.

The win was the first for Churchill against five losses. The Chargers are 1-3 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Franklin fell to 1-5 overall, and has lost its last four games by a combined score of 73-8. The Patriots (0-4 in the Western Division) have failed to score a touchdown in the last month, and that is beginning to wear on the players' minds.

TAD DENNIS gave Franklin its only points Saturday, kicking a 20-yard field goal with 1:35 left in the first quarter. An interception by Franklin's Brian Poisson set up the field goal, but the Patriot offense was upset that it wasn't able to score a TD on the turnover.

"The defense plays its heart out, gives us an opportunity to score inside their 10-yard line and we can't get it in (the end zone)," said offensive guard John Santi. "We've got talent, it's just that we're not playing as a team. Morale is low, real low. We've just got to come back and practice hard next week for Northville. But it's geiting hard to keep telling people that."

Fullback Andy Sapienza, whose first job is to block, scored both Churchill TDs on runs of 35 and 16 yards. Sapienza, a bruising, 6-foot-2, 220-

football

pound senior, gained 75 yards on eight carries and was a perfect complement for tallback Mike

Brooks led Churchill's ground attack with 119 yards on 23 carries, but Saplénza's totals were just as appreciated by coach Herb Osterland. Saplenza gave Churchill a 7-0 lead in the first quarter, capping an 80-yard drive with a 35-yard gal-

After Dennis' field goal made the score 7-3 at halftime, Saplenza scampered 16 yards with 9:12 left in the game to give the Chargers a 14-3 lead. Churchill was given a second life on the 84-yard drive when a punt by Brooks hit a Franklin player Inside the Chargers' 20-yard line and was recovered by Churchill.

FOURTEEN PLAYS later, Sapienza scored:

Mike Spaccarotella kicked both extra points. "Andy had a very, very good game today," Osterland said. "He's just a big fullback type. We use him a lot in short yardage situations. Actually, the TDs he scored on were just quick hitters and he got the hole in the line and got into the secondary and it was all over."

Churchill won't accomplish most of the goals it set prior to the season, but the Chargers can still become the mythical city champion with a win Friday, Oct. 27 against Livonia Stevenson at

"We want to be city champs and we had to beat Franklin to do that," Osterland said. "What this losing has done to us is, we've worked very hard all year and when you come up short sometimes klds pack it up and go home. These guys didn't do that.

"(Defensive tackle) Jim King started us off today with a sack - his first of the year. Trent Naumcheff has been doing a great job for us all year and Mike Spaccarotella just does everythide for us. This win gives us a nice breather. We have three games to go and have a chance to win all three. It's not like we have to play Farmington Harrison again."

Churchill gained more than 250 yards in total offense and held Franklin to 95 yards total. Quarterback Tom Diaz completed 3 of 8 passes for the Chargers, and Brooks completed two from his halfback position.

The Patriots quarterbacks — starter Brian Bartz and Mike Gleger - combined to complete two passes, both to Jeff Graham for 47 yards late in the fourth quarter.

HOW BAD was it for Franklin? The Patricta best carry of the day - 38 yards by Mark Little in the first quarter - was called back because of a penalty. Little led all Franklin rushers with 26 yards on 11 carries. "We weren't equipped for their 6-2 defence which is nothing more than an even defence, Franklin coach Armand Vigna said. "We tried to run the option, and we can't. We tried to pass; and we can't. It would have been something for our team to have bragging rights for South Livoi

"We can do a lot of things, but we can't play offense and defense on the same day. I congratud late them. They were the better team."

Stevenson tops Pats

If the Livonia Stevenson boys soccer team is holding its head high this season, it might be due to their 8-1-1 record, not to mention Wednesday's 3-1 victory over Livonia Franklin at home.

Travis Roy, Greg Smith and Scott Ceru all scored second-half goals for the defending state Class A champions, who outshot the stubborn Patriots 23-11.

Franklin's lone goal came offthe foot of Kevin Smith. He was assisted by Robert Hayes.

Jerry Smolenski got the win in goal for the Spartans, while Tim Dlugos suffered the defeat for the Patriots, who drop their record to Jovan Trpovski got the victory in goal for the state's No. 1 ranked team in Class A. The Chargers improved their perfect record to 11-0.

GARDEN CITY 3, PINCK-NEY 3: On Wednesday, after leading 2-1 at halftime, the Cougars found themselves in trouble when the Pirates scored two unanswered goals early in the second half.

With GC down 3-2 and just five minutes remaining in the match, the Cougars' Pete Gallo scored on a penalty kick to tie the score at 3-3. Sean White and Scott Kendrick also scored goals for GC. Greg Dahn preserved the tie in the Garden City goal. He made 12 saves.

"We had a let down period in the middle of the game," coach Scott Steiner said. "We gave them momentum and it took us a while to get it back."

GC is 1-5-3, while Pinckney stands

DEARBORN 1, REDFORD UNION 0: A penalty kick in the first half stood up Wednesday as the visiting Pioneers came away with the Northwest Suburban League triumph.

"We didn't have much to shout about," said RU coach Al Burnham, whose team got off only four shots.

Despite the loss, goalie Derek Shuk made six saves, while sophomore Jason Gadsby was singled out for an outstanding performance by coach Al Burham.

Senior defender Nick Beldean was another RU standout on defense. The Panthers are 6-4 overall and 2-

Lewis tallies 26 in Zebra win against Belleville

Senior guard Maya Lewis poured in 26 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday to spark host Wayne Memorial to a 43-34 Wolverine A League triumph over Belleville.

Wayne, 6-4 overall, is tied for first in the Wolverine A with Trenton, each with 4-1 marks. (The two teams meet Tuesday at Trenton.)

Michell Ernst added nine points for the Zebras, while Jen Chatzka and Rachell Melnick tallied 11 and 10, respectively, for winless Belleville (0-7).

The Zebras played without top scorer and rebounder. Dorris Bathwell (suspension).

. "It was a good win for us," said Wayne coach Jack Furlong. "Dorris will be back on Tuesday."

GARDEN CITY 41, RU 40: In a Northwest Suburban League game Thursday, the host Panthers (2-7) let a 20-6 second-quarter advantage slip away as the Cougars (5-6) gained the come-from-behind victory.

GC outscored RU 26-13 in the second half to pull out the victory. The Cougars are 2-1 in league play, while RU slipped Lynn Gowen led the victors with 15 points, while Tracy Thompson and Carolyn Shanks each added 10. (All of Thomp-cooks Known as the "Irish Hawk," the Eros byear-old boxer, who now lives in Rlymouth, is better known in Las Tegas and Atlantic City.

His family and friends greeted ssehim Wednesday at Metro Airport when he arrived home from the Rambling mecca after a unanimous 10-round decision over Cuban refugee Tomas Perez, the California state champ who was ranked No. 6 almong Junior middle weights by the World Boxing Council.

But there were no TV camera crews, no newspaper reporters waiting for him to step off the plane.

Since contract and managerial problems put him out of boxing in 1985-86, Lally is 7-0 and ready to hake on all comers.

With an overall record of 24-4 and 15 knockouts, Lally has become a celebrity of sorts among the professional boxing afficionados.

His brawling, muscling style made a big impression on ESPN, the national cable television network, which broadcast the fight live on Sept. 26. People around Showboat Casino, including some from undisputed heavyweight champion Mike Tyson's camp, took notice of his disciplined training regimen.

HE'S A THROWBACK to the old fighters," said his brother Bradd, who has since taken over his training and managerial duties.

"Brett's no choir boy, he likes to have his fun like anybody else, but side, Lindy Lindell, is trying to get undercard to Ann Arbor's Booker T. he's all business when he's training." Lally once was considered a choir boy type.

When he graduated from John Glenn High School, he was a 119pound diver on the varsity swim

He was considered too little for football," said 30-year-old Bradd, a former boxer himself.

Westland's Mike Modano, a 19-

year-old rookle with the Minnesota

North Stars, launched his 1989 season Thursday with a goal and an assist in a season-opening 6-5 victory

Lally, who once fought for a U.S. Boxing Association title at a lighter weight, got out of the sport for a while, coming home to develop his landscaping business (Lally Brothers) with Bradd.

"BRETT HAD TAKEN a lot of punishment (through 1984) and after he was out a couple of years, he came back a little older and wiser," sald Bradd. "He was also a lot more bulked up."

Lally now weights a rock-solid 155 pounds and can bench press 275, considered high among the same to stay strong and keep in shape than doing landscaping 12 hours a day," Brett

Brett said his latest paycheck from the Perez fight was substantial. "I won't have to worry about paying the bills for the next couple of months." His match maker from the east him another bout before the end of November. 'We'll go anywhere and take on all comers," Bradd said. "We were ready to taken on the Italian champion Rossi in Rome, but then things fell through." --

Lally once took a fight in London on three hours' notice. He was scheduled to face British Commonwealth-Brett watched his older brother champion Chris Pyatt, who was Todd step into the ring before he ranked No. 5 by the WBA, only to have the fight canceled when promoters backed off because Lally had fought in South Africa.

"HE'S A COMPETITOR," Bradd said. "It takes guts to go to South Africa (because of apartheld), but the money is also good there. We went out there (to London, to get a rating, not because he likes to get hit."

When Brett took out unbeaten John Scully earlier this year in an East Coast match, promoters came calling again.

And as usual, Lally was a decided 2-1 underdog against Perez, who came in with a 21-3 record. But as the fight drew near, the odds against Lally dropped to 8-5, and then 6-5 the day of the fight. "After the weigh-ins, the line changed drastically," Brett said. "I heard somebody put $6,000 on me, so I went out and put a $100 bet on myself."

Lally got $110 back on his wager but, more important, a lot more respect.

"We figure two more wins and Brett can get a title shot," Bradd said. "People like Brett because he shows a lot of heart and determination. He's also a humble kid.

"The (Perez) fight was hard, but right now Brett's excited. He's seeing the results because he's worked so haŕd."

SOME DAY Bradd would like to show Brett before the hometown fans.

A local promoter, Bradd said, has proposed that Brett compete on an Word later this month at Center Stage in Canton.

"It would be great to have him fight here," Bradd said. "But not for 800 bucks or even a $1,000."

But until something is worked out, Brett will stay near home, train and do a little landscaping work.

"I don't mind the home-cooked meals. My mother (Theresa) is the greatest. There's no one better."

Layne notched all of his TDs in the second quarter on runs of 2, 10 and 82 yards.

The Rockets opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 19-yard run by senior fullback Kraig Kuban.

In the second period, the floodgates opened with the Rockets pounding in four TD's.

After Layne's three scores made the count 28-0, Glenn added the final points of the half on a 40-yard pass from quarterback Eric Stover to Mark Wetmore.

The intermission break dld not slow down the Rockets' barrage, as they added 20 more points in the third quarter to complete the scor-

Baubles and beads

A little of the glitter, some of the glitz and a tab of the glamor of Hollywood and New York has come to northern Oakland County. And surprisingly it's not all that costly to enjoy. The place is Kathryn Post and it's the in place to go for baubles, bangles and beads.

The Observer & Ectentric Newspapers

As a flight attendant for American Trans Air, David Osmola has traveled entirely around the world in 37 days, including stops in Katmandu, Beijing and Puntas Arenas in South America.

Coffee, tea and a friendly face

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Monday, October 9, 1989 O&E

After stints of bartending and sales 10 years ago, Jack Simpson of Livonia responded to the passing suggestion of a brother and applied for a job with the airlines.

He's been flying for a living ever since, working as a flight attendant for the Detroit-based Republic Airlines that in 1986 became part of Northwest Airlines.

"All you have to do is get along with people," said Simpson, 35, of the job. "It's nice. I enjoy the days off." Flight crews typically work about 15 days a month.

Simpson's wife Kathy, until recently a Northwest administrator who supervised flight attendants in Detroit, paints a more telling portrait of the job.

Men invade air 'service'

"It's hard serving all those people. Flight attendants have my utmost respect," she said, citing their common traits, "Very outgoing, flexible, strong sense of self, extremely smart and witty. "Actually, I can't think of anything negative to say about them as

Jack Simpson is one of 2,300 flight ... attendants based in metropolitan Detroit, and Northwest is the only major carrier with attendants stationed here.

Tom Kassel, 27, a Westland native who recently completed training as a flight attendant for American Airlines, is based in Chicago.

A 1988 GRADUATE of Eastern, Michigan University in French and international trade, Kassel sought employment "tied" to his major. He investigated teaching abroad and interviewed with a cargo carrier, Trans Intercontinental, before being _hired by American last May.

Like most carriers today, American is experiencing enormous growth. Kassel is among the 2,000 new attendants the company will hire this year from a pool of 30,000 (applicants, those who perform well in such areas as problem solving.

During a group interview, Kassel and the others were asked to collectively solve a problem.

"They wanted to see how each of us got along and worked with others," he said.

Training, scheduled in Dallas for six weeks, was typical of that required by most scheduled airlines. Kassel received free round-trip transportation and room and board. But he was not paid a salary during the training. Once completed, he was assigned to fly immediately, even before he had time to find living accommodations in Chicago.

"It's been busy," Kassel said, but things are now settling into a routine. He is currently assigned to Montreal flights and hopes to fly internationally to Europe soon.

Of the 63 trainees in Kassel's class, 10 were men, four older than him, four about the same age and two who were younger. The mix reflects industry trends.

AS A RESULT OF fair biring standards established in the late 1960s, the number of male flight attendants has increased significantly in recent years. Of 76,297 attendants employed nationwide by 77 scheduled airlines, 14 percent are male, based on figures maintained by the Association of Flight Attendants in Washington, D.C.

A Little Inn with a 4-star rating

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

Sometimes life makes unexpected connections, as it did when I sat by the fireplace in the Little Inn with Richard and Corinne Fitoussi.

The Fitoussis are co-owners of the three-story Inn on the historic main street of Bayfield, Ont., 135 miles north of the metropolitan area on Lake Huron.

We were sipping Kir Royale, nibbling chips of dried reindeer meat and talking. "Where do you. come from?" I asked.

"I come from France," Richard sald, "Alsace,"

I have visited the French side of the Rhine River so I named the first town that came to mind. "Ribeauville?"

"No, Illhaeusern." And then we both said "Auberge de l'illi." I had never met anyone else who knew that wonderful restaurant in France, which has a three-star Michelin rating. My husband Micky discovered it years ago and took me there for one of life's memorable meals.

As it turned out, Richard apprenticed there as a teenager, then worked in restaurants in Germany. and England before moving to Canada. He worked for Westin Hotels, helped open the Westin Renaissance in Detroit in the 1970s, joined Pat and Gayle Waters as owners of the Hotel Saskatchewan, in western Canada and followed them to Bayfield as co-owners and managers of the Little Inn.

THE INN IS an entirely different setting from the high-rise glass, splendor of city hotels, but as Richard likes to say, 'It has more trees around it.

MOVING PICTURES

Civil rights lawyer lan McKenzle (Marlon Brando) agrees to investigate the mysterious death of Benjamin -Toit's (Donald Sutherland) black gardener in "A Dry White Season."

'A Dry White Season' A compelling must see

'A Dry White Season" (A+, R, 100 minutes) is a literate, compelling examination of South Africa's ugly, violent repression of black aspirations for a decent life.

Under the guise of fighting communism and terrorism, the Special Branch, a police counter-intelligence unit, performs every imaginable atrocity against blacks beacefully protesting the government's repressive policies. Of course that's been going on for a long time in South Af-

What is particularly special in this case is the very fine way in which those issues are personalized.

Ben Du Toit (Donald Sutherland) and his family serve as the centerpiece for this South-African tragedy. Du Toit - a white Afrikaner who teaches in a ritzy boys school - is propelled into the maelstrom first by the disappearance and death of his gardener's son and then by the gardener's death while searching for the truth about his son.

Mrs. Du Toit along with their daughter, son and son-in-law represent various attitudes in the struggle. There are, of course, others in ever widening circles around the Du Toit family, others who have their vested interests and their explanations for the horrors perpetuated by the government.

MOST NOTABLY is barrister Ian McKenzie (Marlon Brando), a rotund, bitter man who notes cynically that law and justice in South Africa are, at best, distant cousins. Despite his cynicism, he speaks out.

Ben Du Toit's gradual realization that the government regularly lies and misleads everyone in the name of power and that unspeakable horrors are routine makes "A Dry White, Season" a powerful film.

Du Toit evolves from an isolated "nice person" to a hard working activist, an evolution which speaks eloquently for all those in every time and place who have risen above the complacent acceptance which protects sheltered lives and economic

While everyone around Ben has differing opinions about his crusade. for justice, the film is not preachy. It is a formidible and overwhelming statement because attitudes are demonstrated by actions.

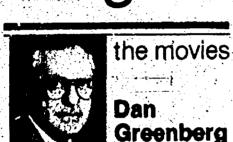

All this effectively personalizes what too often is reduced to tragic but abstract headlines. For that "A Dry White Season" is recommended highly to all.

'An Innocent Man" (B-, R, 90 minutes) is also a compelling movie about personal tragedy, but its plot structure, acting and characterizations fall short of the mark.

Jimmle Rainwood (Tom Selleck) is a regular, hard working guy married to a very nice lady, Kate (Laila Robins). Two corrupt narcotics detectives. Mike Parnell (David Rasche) and Danny Scalise (Richard Young) frame Jimmle as a drug dealer to cover up their mistaken drug bust of the Rainwood home.

THE POWERFUL, effective portion of "An Innocent Man" is its central section where Jimmie must adapt to survive the horrible prison world. Those tense, realistic sequences ought to make everyone wonder about our society and its prisons. But "An Innocent Man" opens and closes with pure adult-Disney stuff and that's not very credible. By the way, this is a Touchstone Film, Disney's "adult" unit. But Tom Selleck's deeply ingrained macho image overrides the possibility that anyone will believe him as a bland, sit-com husband which is how it all starts out.

The happy ever after ending doesn't fit with the graphic realism of the prison story, a segment by the way where Selleck's macho image works. F. Murray Abraham ("Amadeus") is Virgil Cane, a hardened lifer who befriends Selleck. Only he's a hardened lifer in the Disney World mold and it just doesn't wash, nor do the two corrupt cops who generally seem preoccupied with ethereal matters, hardly villainous. The story is frightening because it's all so plausible. Unfortunately, that plausibility and the powerful central section of "An Innocent-Man" are weakened by the first and last sections and by weak characterizations that overwhelm decent act-

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Almodovar's 'Dark Habits'

By John Monaghan special writer

Spanish director Pedro-Almodovar is startingly comfortable withvice - and he makes us feel that way, too. Where Luis Bunuel lampooned religious convention with a satirist's congeniality of a genuflection.

A case in point is his 1984 film, 'Dark Habit,"s premiering this weekend at the downtown Tele-Arts Theatre. It has been released following the success of "Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown."

Almodovar may be the hottest European director at work today and here is another reason why.

"Dark Habits" is about a vampish nightclub singer named Lovinda who accidentally murders her boyfriend when she sells him strychnine-laced cocaine. On the lam from the police, she takes refuge in a convent populated by a bizarre sect of nuns.

In some ways, this is Almodovar's remake of "Ball of Fire," the screwball comedy where Barbara Stanwyck hides out with a group of bachelor intellectuals. The nuns all bond with Lovinda; one even falls in ages are awash with unusual tones love with her.

THE NUNS have names like Sister Manure, Sister Damned, Sister Rat of the Sewers. Some entered the convent while fleeing murder raps. At least two are drug addicts. One regularly drops acid; we see from her point of view in psychedelic ultraviolet images.

Another writes trashy romance novels under the pen name of Concha Torres. The Mother Superior makes incredible, gorpy costumes out of state-of-the-art synthetic fabrics. Her priest helper smokes mariluana on the altar and adores the hats in "My Fair Lady."

But things are not all rosy for the little sisters. When a wealthy benefactor pulls her support, the nuns take to the street and have a bake sale. Then they get hold of an incriminating letter about the benefactor's daughter and try to blackmail lined with pictures of sexy women.

Marvelously straight-faced and sexy, Christina Pascual plays Lovinda who doesn't look especially surprised at the strange goings on she's been around, For the Mother Superior's birthday, she sings a spicy Brazilian number, backed by sisters on bongos and electric guitar.

Yes, the nuns of "Dark Habits" are blasphemous, but also very human and likable. And more than most women, they are susceptible to the pain and sorrow of Lovinda's torch

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg special writer

The legacy of Lord Laurence Olivier - one of this century's greatest actors - remains for our viewing pleasure on film and video tape, This week HBO is releasing, for the first time on video the 1982 Olivier film. "A Voyage Round My Father," which also stars Alan Bates.

Last week CBS/Fox Video released, also for the first time on video, the 1975 Olivier romantic comedy, "Love Among the Ruins" (100 minutes, directed by George Cukor) co-starring Katherine Hepburn. Arthur Granville-Jones (Olivier), England's greatest barrister, is hired to defend Jessica Medicott (Hepburn) who is being sued for breach of promise by a man young enough to be her grandson. It just happens that she and Olivier had been romantically involved 40 years earlier. Now, in the heat of litigation, their love is ontrial once more, as is Katherine Hep-

Three other Olivier films have been available on tape from CBS/ Fox for some time: "The Boys From Brazil" (1978, color, 132 minutes, R) with Olivier as Nazi hunter Ezra Lieberman on the trail of Dr. Josef Mengele (Gregory Peck). "Rebecca" (1940, black and white, 130 minutes), based on Daphne du Maurier's famous novel, stars Joan Fontaine, George Sanders and Judith Ander-

"Rebecca" was directed by Alfred Hitchcock in his American directorial debut and won the best picture Oscar that year. The script, which Olivier co-authored, also was nominated by the Academy for the 1940

FINALLY, CBS/FOX offers "The Betsy" (1978, color, 125 minutes, R) with Robert Duvall and Katherine Ross. It's all about the Detroit automotive industry and probably of the one Olivier film best forgotten.

Born in England in 1907, Olivier's style, manner and career epitomize the very best of British theater and English poetry.

From his 1922 stage debut until his recent death, Sir Laurence appeared on stage in England, the United States and elsewhere and in more than 50 films. He was knighted in 1947 and made a Peer of the Realm in 1970, the first actor to take a seat in the British House of Lords.

Among his most notable films are four Shakespearean works: "As You

Like It" (1936), "Henry V" (1944). "Hamlet" (1948) and Richard III" (1956). Although foreign films didn't compete for Oscars at that time, he was awarded a special one for his role as producer, director and star of "Henry V."

Olivier also won Oscars as best actor and for best picture for his "Hamlet" and numerous others as well; including a special one in 1979 for "the full body of his work, the unique achievement of his entire career . . . "

Along with these magnificent efforts in production, direction and acting, starting in 1944, he worked as co-director of the Old Vic Theatre with Sir Ralph Richardson, Later in 1963 - he served as director of England's National Theatre Compa-

Although "A Voyage Round My Father" is one of Olivier's last films you have and appreciate it - this film can only increase your esteem where the real Mortimer grew up.

All of this is recounted by the mature John (Alan Bates) as he reflects while attempting to come to grips with bittersweet memories and love of his father. It is not an easy burden because Clifford, after his misfortune, is cynical, irascible and often

Robb Roy: Ready for stardom

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Written off as breaking up nearly two years ago, Robb Roy looks poised to break out.

The five-member rock band will perform Tuesday, Oct. 10, in a competition for the top prize in "Sound-Check," an internationally-renowned talent search sponsored by Yamaha. The group left for Los Angeles Friday, but not before receiving a resounding send-off at the Metro Musi-Cafe in Royal Oak.

Robb Roy will be one of four bands competing for first prize, which is $10,000 worth of equipment and an opportunity to vie for the international finals at Budokan Theatre in Tokyo, Japan.

The show in Los Angeles will feature Richard Marx and female popartist Martika. The performance will be taped and televised sometime in December.

"The band is better than ever, really," said Graham Strachan, who lives in Redford Township and is lead vocalist.

TO REACH the semifinals of the international talent search was no small feat. Robb Roy submitted two songs, "Show Me" and "The Gypsy Walks," along with nearly 5,000 other bands back in July.

Then Strachan received a call from the people at Yamaha, telling him the band was one of 100 bands still in the hunt. Then Robb Roy was suddenly one of four finalists from the Midwest.

The band performed an afternoon showcase at Slammers in Dearborn before some impressed judges.

On the basis of material and live performance, Robb Roy was select-

MAGNUM CUM LOUDER

Hoodoo Gurus

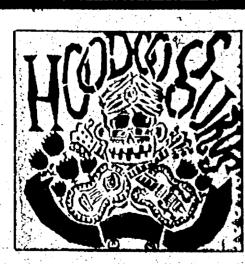

Not long ago, someone suggested that American college radio was becoming far too slick for its own good. At the time, we didn't give it much

After listening to Hoodoo Guru's latest LP on RCA, though, now one begins to wonder if there isn't some validity to that observation. Perhaps it is becoming too chart-oriented as major record labels use the college alrwaves to break relatively new acts, especially since commercial radio doesn't seem to offer such an opportunity.

The end result might have "alternative" bands going for more of a mainstream sound. Case in point: Hoodoo Gurus.

Which one is the real Hoodoo Gurus? Could it be the group that turns out such acoustically glowing gems like "Come Anytime" and "Shadow Me"? Or rather is it the band that seems to be seeking commercial appeal with less-than-inspiring numbers such as "Take Me All the Way"? Some of Hoodoo Gurus' bleakest moments come when the group decides to take the hard rock path in songs such as "Glamourpuss" and "Hallucination." A note on the album tells the listener to play this LP loud. What It forgets to add is that covering your ears doesn't hurt either.

Though_some of the lyrics are rather tolte, the group has acquired a knack for catchy melodies. For example, "Where's That Hit?" pulls out all the hackneyed baseball expressions one can equate with everyday life. Yet a stellar bit of gultar work pulls this number out of the muck.

Somehow, one should expect more out of a "new music" group such as Hoodoo Gurus whose main audience is the collegiate crowd. Then again, maybe we're asking too much. After all, it's only rock'n'roll.

Let it at least be said that Hoodoo Gurus has a very inconsistent album. on its hands. - Larry O'Connor

Gangster Fun

For those of you unfamiliar with Gangster Fun and its music, the band has been around for more than two years forming from a group of friends at Oakland University. The group's hallmark has always been an entertaining and engaging performance, leaving you to beg for more (I know, having sat through a couple of

One role the LP does fulfill is providing a delightful introduction to switch because it has all the hooks ska, which is often referred to as monster music.

GARDEN CITY - John Tesh

Best-known as the guy who occuples the seat next to Mary Hart on Entertainment Tonight," Tesh is also a keyboardist and composer of New Age and jazz-oriented tunes.

The big local question is whether Garden City (Cypress) makes reference to a certain western Wayne County suburb. Nope. It's Garden City, New Jersey.

Still, "Garden City," the title song, is a pleasant enough piece.

As a body of work, however, Tesh's music is the aural equivalent of his co-host's personality — perky and cheerful - even when, as on "Shock," he reaches for something deeper.

Tesh's chief musical fame has come through the television theme music for the Tour de France bicycle endurance race. And up-tempo, macho themes appear to be his strongest suit.

"Shock," "Bastille Day" and "Des-tination Paris," the latter pair per-haps inspired by the race, clearly fit under this heading.

First comes the heavy breathing. Next, a raspy voice whispers suggestively: "I'd like to handcuff you to my ice box and stuff your bikini with smoked kippers until the seaguil of love lands on your head."

No, it's not an obscene phone call. It's the winner of the first annual Detroit Radio Schlock Awards.

What's that you say? Identify the winner by name? Why you sly, litiglous boob. Everyone knows this column is pure fiction.

And now, the envelope please . . . First clue - It's the lonely hearts music program that's got all of Detroit snoring. All, that is except for emotional basket cases who dedicate the same Lionel Ritchie songs to each other night after night. How, you ask, could one of the old-

. Speaking of hormones, the primary qualification to host this radio throwback is a basso profundo voice that conjures up a suitably macho .. image to lovestick listeners.

Say "deep voice" to most of us and we automatically think of dignified Orson Welles playing Citizen Kane or Charleton Heston as Moses parting the Red Sea.

But somehow the majesty is lost when these same sonorous tones and careful cadences are used to tell the world, "Mickey-poo wants to dedicate this next song to Boom-Boom with the cutest elbows in the shipping department. P.S. He's sorry about the hickey.'

Besides being born with vocal chords longer than a giraffe's neck, two other skills are necessary to be an award-winning schmoozer:

(1) You must whisper everything you say. This is a non-negotiable contract item. Every word must be delivered in the hushed tones of a funeral director or else. Hearing aid companies flock to advertise on this soft-spoken show.

sense of drama is imparted to every sentence. Sudddenly, the weather report sounds like a torrid romance. Simple directions to a nightclub become intimate boudoir secrets. Time, temperature, a proposal of marriage - all get dipped in the same syrupy goo.

(2) You must talk as slowly as possible. The real experts at this ad a deliberate . . . dramatic . . . pause . . . after every syllable. Each time our host stalls between words, panicky listeners call to complain that the station is off the air.

In the beginning, a few graduates of the Slow Motion School of Broadcasting could actually fix a sandwich between words. Today, the best-of the bunch can start a sentence, fly to Vegas on a gambling junket and be back before their next word is due.

Depsite high salaries, speaking adagio has its drawbacks. Each week this poor guy orders dinner at the same restaurant: "I'll . . . take ... the ... Fet ... tu ... cl ... ne...Al...fre...do..."And each week the kitchen closes before he finishes his first sentence.

MUCH OF THE show's undeniable appeal is its romantic allusions and symbolic eroticism — "Nobody tunes my dial like you do."

Consider this recent excerpt: "If only I were there with you. I'd

There is, however, a legit reason for listening to such drivel. When you're grumpy and out of sorts due to irregularity, you need fast, gentle relief. For those times when prunes are not enough, medical science has a new answer — sonic laxatives.

In this experimental treatment, extremely low frequency sound waves (identical to those produced when our winner clears his throat) are aimed at the patient's digestive track. This same vibratory dissolution can be achieved for free in your own home by holding the radio against your midsection and dancing the Cha-Cha.

Now that we've peeked behind the scenes at the Schlock Awards . . . "Ready for romance? Then kick off those construction boots and put on your 'Mattress Talk' pantyhose . . .

There have not been any catastrophes in their lives and yet they seem to be going downhill, both physically and mentally. They are lethargic about their personal care.

I have tried to talk to them, without success. Do you have any ideas? A caring daughter

Dear Caring Daughter:

Your problem is becoming increasingly widespread as our society ages. While I was researching your question, I was encouraged to find that Beaumont Hospital has a group for you called "When Your Parents Grow Old." This group helps the middle-aged children of elders deal with the daily frustrations of aging. parents.

There are many reasons for these changes. As people age, their lives are no longer structured by jobs and other responsibilities. Without this structure seniors can sink into the malaise you describe. Also, the aculty of one's senses declines with age. so they may not be as aware of or concerned about their looks.

Practical fears, like falling in the bathroom, may also be stopping them from taking sufficient care with their hygiene and appearance. The problem may be more serious and if you think it is one of clinical depression, then their physician should be contacted.

It is important not to ignore these symptoms. They usually do not vanish without intervention. The frustration is that sometimes even wellmeaning support and encouragement does not solve the problem.

At the Workout Co., we provide individual exercise programs for many seniors. This furnishes social stimulation, structure and increased physical integrity. Different seniors may need other kinds of stimulation.

The number of Beaumont Hospital's Older Adult Services is 551-0777. Ask for Gail or Melissa and they will give you the name and telephone number of the senior adult center closest to your parents or other information that might help solve your problem.

Dear Barbara:

Park West Gallery in Southfield has opened up an original animation art exhibit with animations ranging from Bugs Bunny to Fred Flintstone.

The gallery features original celluloids from Warner Bros., Walt Disney and Hanna Barbera. And experts say the value of the hand-drawn animated cels can only go higher as the shift to-computer animation takes

"These animations have become quite expensive," said Peter Cooper, director of Park West Gallery. "In the beginning, no one thought of the value. Disney lost many in a fire several years ago, and Jack Warner had so many in the studio, he just had them destroyed."

AN ANIMATED celluloid is an original handpainted work of art. A series of cels are produced to create a sequence of movement in an animated film. Twelve to 24 cels are used for every second of a film and no two cels are alike. Serigraphs are a production of 9,000 cels and may be purchased at places like Disneyland and Disney World. Although serigraphs are less expensive, they don't have the uniqueness of an original production

Warner Bros. created toons such as the "wise crackin', smart alecky rabbit" Bugs Bunny, the "simply dithpicable" Daffy Duck, "wabbit hunter" Elmer Fudd, the "naughty cat" Sylvester and "sweet little" Tweety Bird.

Walt Disney works are known to be more expensive than. Warner Bros. and Hanna Barbera's because many Disney films became fulllength theatrical productions, adding to their value. Disney also owns animation's biggest star, Mickey Mouse. Other creations, such as "The Three Little Pigs," "Cinderella," "Lady and the Tramp" and "Winnie the Pooh," have also increased the value of Disney animations.

"The Jetsons seem to be the most popular sale in the gallery," Cooper myself. I go way back."

The price per cel is mainly determined by the popularity of the cartoon chracter. A gallery classic like the 1935 Disney drawing of Mickey Mouse "On Ice" is priced at $1,800.

Hanna Barbera's "Yabba, dabba doo" with Fred Flintstone and Barney Rubble is $850. Fred's pet Dind is $295, the same price for "Huckle; berry Hound."

Warner Bros. "Bugs Bunny and Elmer Fudd" goes for $595.

"We are always looking for new art and artists," Cooper said. "We found the source and it was something new to feature and it has proved to be successful."

Cooper plans on carrying the animation art on a regular basis in the gallery.

"I believe people really enjoy them," he said. "There is really noth-

Bayfield was named for a British naval lieutenant who surveyed the Great Lakes early in the 19th century and recommended the area to Baron van Tuyll van Serooskerken, a Dutch nobleman who bought a huge tract of land there in 1832.

The baron never laid eyes on the land he sold to settlers, although his son lived in the nearby town of Goderich at one time.

They made the first clearing right there where the sailboats now make their own masted skyline and the fishermen can be found at sunset, ei-ther drifting in a small boat or standing up to their hips in waders.

Men find their niche as flight attendants

Though males originally filled such positions in the early days of flying — aspiring pilots were required to work in the cabin before assuming duties in the cockpit those early ploneers were replaced early on by trained nurses, the majority of whom were female. Men, however, maintained a continuing presence as pursers, employed by some international carriers like Northwestern to oversee cabin crews.

During the heyday of the 1950s and early 1960s, when air travel expanded throughout the country, trained nurses gave way to stewardesses - young, single women noted for good looks. If they married, or turned 32 years old, they were out of a job, an employment criteria later overturned in court.

Simpson was hired in 1979, a turbulent year when the airline industry was federally deregulated. Small, vulnerable carriers were forced out of business or gobbled up by stronger lines.

The new, larger carriers adopted "B-scales," the practice of paying new employees up to one-third less than those hired earlier. Northwest implemented B-scales in 1984, American in 1982.

Kassel is a B-scaler, earning a base rate of $15.50 hourly. He will reach "parity" or equal pay in eight years, according to company spokeswoman Mary O'Neill.

What to do with a fieldhouse?

U-D offers laughs at its 'spectacular'

The storied fieldhouse was once the home of roundball standouts Dave DeBusschere, Spencer Haywood, John Long and coach "Disco"

Dick Vitale — just to name a few. But would you believe a "Comedy Spectacular" at the University of Detroit's venerable Calihan Hall?

Well, believe it. The U-D Titans are taking their basketball act to Cobo Arena, leaving an 8,800-seat hall with a few dates to fill.

SATURDAY, the U-D is hoping four of today's top comies can launch Calihan Hall as an alternative entertainment venue. And with a lineup featuring Cathy Ladman, local boy Dave Coulier (of ABC's "Full House") and legitimate headliners Jimmle Walker and Jerry Scinfeld, they may be able to pull it off.

"It's a pilot project to see how much interest there is in this kind of thing," said Tom Sakely, acting manager of the U-D news bureau. "It depends on the support we get from the public."

The idea of bringing big time entertainment back to Calihan Hall (it has been absent since a disastrous. Ronnie Milsap show several years back) first surfaced in February, according to George Clarkson, U-D associate director of marketing and public affairs.

"It's way overdue," Clarkson said. "We've got the facility to do it. We wanted to see if there is an audience for 'neighborhood' concerts.

To see this kind of show in the area, you'd normally either go downtown or to the suburbs."

A FEW musical acts were considered for this experiment, but comedy eventually won out because of its combination of potential profitability and simpler logistics.

Because comedy is so hot right now, this show would be the easiest to set up and do," Clarkson said. A theater-style seating arrangements will be used, with approximately 5,000 total seats available. Ladman is the least known of the comics on the bill, but is currently riding the crest of her recent first appearance on "The Tonight Show." Born and raised in Queens, N.Y., she is a straight observational performer, drawing material primarily from her family and other experiences.

COULTER IS the pride of St. Clair Shores and a graduate of Notre Dame High School. An adept impressionist, his variety of character voices got him a start in radio at the now defunct album rocker WABX doing commercials.

He opened at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle and later moved to Los Angeles to take a job at the Comedy Store — initially as a doorman.

Eventually, he got some stage time there, but his major breakthrough came again through his impersonations.

He became the voice of "Scooby-Doo," Mork in the animated "Mork and Mindy" and won and Emmy for his work on "The Muppet Bables" series. That enabled him to land the role of aspiring comic Uncle Joey in the series "Full House."

Walker is probably best known for his role as the teenage son J.J. on the still syndicated series "Good Times." He has gone on to appear on some short-lived TV shows and a few movies, but devotes most of his time to stand-up comedy - particularly in Las Vegas, where he is a regular at the Dunes Hotel.

Cathy Marriott describes the jewelry available in her Kathryn Post store in Southfield as "arty jewelry that isn't trendy."

A little glitter, glitz and Kathryn Post

By Charlene Mitchell special writer

Hollywood it's not, but the north Oakland Sounty area rivals just about any big city when it comes to fashion. And one of the newer retail stores in the area is bringing the glitz, glitter and pizzaz of New York and Los Angeles here in the form of jewelry and other accessories.

"What Kathryn Post offers is arty jewelry that isn't trendy," said owner Cathy Marriott.

Tucked away in a far corner of Southfield's Applegate Square, the Kathryn Post store, opened last year, is finding its niche.

"We took things slowly," Marriott said. "First, we got the merchandise in that we wanted and carefully planned how the inside of our store would look. We think we have a fabulous look that's very complimentary to our merchandise and soothing to our clientele."

Designer Kathryn Post lives in New York City and has been selling her goods to Neiman Marcus, I. Magnin and Horchow for years. Only recently did she decide to open franchises which would carry her own works as well as a select group of other artists. The Southfield store is the first Kathryn Post franchise.

BARBARA GROEGER is the hot name in "not so costume" jewelry this season. She designs two distinctively different looks - one for daytime, the other for evening.

crystal and her work comprises about 35 percent of the inventory at KP stores. The crystals are available in matte or sparkling styles and come in such rich colors as deep pink, cabacon, navy, hematite and clear. She does giant initials in pins and earrings and many unusually shaped pieces that catch the eye.

"Barbara's designs compliment Kathryn's," said Marriott. "Seven of our 13 jewelry cases are filled with Barbara Groeger and we're taking more than a dozen special orders a week."

One thing that helped bring KP to the limelight was the international publicity Post received when she designed all of the elaborate jewels and crowns for the box office hit "Coming to America," starring Eddie Murphy and Arsenio Hall.

"That did wonders for the KP line," Marriott said, noting that more Hollywood wardrobe consultants are now working with Post when adorning their stars.

Other designers whose jewelry and accessories are carried at KP stores include David Fooz, whose specialty is sterling and vermeil, Af-Groeger's trademark is Austrian rican motif and unusual bangles, and Gloria del Piano, whose evening wraps and silk scarves seem to be showing up everywhere lately.

But the bulk of the merchandise at KP is by the lady herself.

"It's what we call bridge jewelry," Marriott said. "It's all precious metal (sterling, gold and vermeil). This differs from Barbara Groeger's line which uses non-precious metals."

Unlike similar stores, many of the glass display cases are left open, allowing customers to reach in and "feel" a silk scarf or take a pair of earrings out and try them on.

"This helps them feel unpressured," said one of the saleswomen who lets her customers know that it's OK to touch.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE of this is that the customer gets to see the price sticker without having to ask, avoiding embarrassment.

The least expensive item in the store the day I visited was a pair of faux pearl earrings by Barbara Groeger which retailed for $30. The same pair in Austrian crystal sold for $49 to a Brimingham woman who wanted to order the same design in two more colors.

The most expensive piece in the store looked like something by Harry Winston. A synthetic sapphire and cubic zirconia necklace retailing for

Harmonicas overcome image of a musical toy

Little things mean a lot. Consider the harmonica. It's small and fits in your pocket. But don't let the size , said. fool you. The harmonica carries more than its weight with serious and casual musicians.

In all of music, harmonicas, also known as mouth organs, are the sim-And they fascinate those who fancy a lively tune or a classical piece.

The harmonica, as we know it, was invented in 1829 by Sir Charles

However, Benjamin Franklin diddled with his "musical glasses" - a graduated series of glass bowls fitting inside one another and supported by a spindle which revolved the edges of the bowls through a water trough - in the 18th century. Fingertips touching the moistened edges produced the sound.

Anyone not convinced that harmonicas are more than musical toys probably doesn't know that both Mosart and Beethoven composed for the mouth organ.

Peter Madcat Ruth has been making a living by playing the harmonica for 20 years and playing it professionally for 25 years.

"I played the gultar first, heard a combination of both played together, and then gravitated to the harmonica," he said. "Now I play solo with a Harmonica playing keeps Ruth busy doing kid's shows, live performances, television and radio.

"Radio and TV are using harmonica much more lately," he said. "It's getting more popular; there's a demand in beer ads."

Village 'garage sale' to sell not-needed items

Cars programmed to brake for garage sales will be stopping at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village on Saturday, Oct. 14, where Norton Auctioneers will conduct an auction of objects de-accessioned from the museum collections.

As with the articles offered at family garage sales, the items being presented at the auction, for one reason or another, do not "fit" the goals of the museum.

This auction is the result of the museums' on-going collections analysis program, an effort begun in the early 1980s. "We're trying to match our collections against our mission and goals," comments Harold K: Skramstad, Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village president.

"We continue to find objects that are in the collections that have little or no bearing on the story of America's past, or perhaps we might discover five, 10, and even 20 similar or identical pieces. These, along with many objects that simply are of poor quality and are not suitable for a museum are being offered to the public at the auction."

THE AUCTION WILL feature large quantities of vintage clothing and textiles - from buttons and boots to collars and petticoats; household items ranging from vacuum cleaners, wooden bowls and harness looms; and agricultural materials, including over 20 plows.

Proceeds from the sale will be placed in the museum's Collections Endowment Fund. Interest from this fund may be used only for acquiring additional objects for the collections or the conservation of existing col-

Decoy mania

Waterfowl carving comes into its own as art form

By Kevin Lawrence special writer

"Art imitates nature and necessity is the mother of inven-

- Richard Franck in his Northern Memoirs, 1658

VER THE years, the saying — art imitates nature has evolved into art imitates life. But now, more than ever, art is imitating nature to a very exacting degree as was witnessed during the North American Wildfowl Carving Championship held recently in Livonia.

Hosted by the Waterfowl Preservation and Decoy Club of Michigan, the three-day show and competition in the Hollday Inn convention center included hundreds of handcarved, hand-painted new and antique duck decoys, game birds, birds of prey, shorebird and song

Dick Lancaster, 80, retired businessman, decoy collector, avid out-doorsman and waterfowling historian who "like any old bird," is a vice president in the club. He explained the development of decoy carving in Michigan, amidst part of a collection of 3,000 to 4,000 carvings he and his wife Louise have amassed over the years in their Farmington Hills home.

"Some of the best duck hunting in the world exists within 100 miles of Detroit," said Lancaster. "Originally, up to about the turn of the century, you didn't need decoys. The ducks were so thick in the air you just had to step outside and shoot 'emi- reserved to the mile of

"BUT AS TIME WORE on and the land was developed," he continued, "the duck population decreased through hunting and then the disappearance of some of their feeing grounds. The market hunter -- who supplied restaurants restaurants and the like, and the sport hunter needed help. Necessity was the mother invention for decoys."

Lancaster went on to explain how must hunters initially carved their own decoys. "They don't have to be very good to entertain a duck," chuckled Lancaster. But then masters of the craft began to emerge. And then to satisfy ever increasing demand — even duck decoy factories in Detroit.

"Nate Quillen (1839-1908), Ben Schmidt (1884-1968), Otto Misch (1910-1965), Ferdinand Bach (1888-1967) were some of the great carvers and their work is very much in demand by collectors. And of course, with such a big need for decoys in the area, commercial makers emerged. Peterson, Dodge and Mason were the commercial decoy makers in Detroit and all are now famous names to collectors

CAROL PEDERSEN

The Lancaster house in Farmington Hills is home to thousands of ducks - sitting side by side on shelves, table tops — wherever there is available space. Here, Dick Lancaster holds one carved in the mid '30s by Otto Misch for well-known boat racing enthusiast Gar Wood. Louise Lancaster holds one doneby local carver Jeff Merrill.

Detroit's real decoy manufactur- be placed in the water and used for ing claim to fame lies with the Mason brand decoy which was sold until 1924 all over the country by mail order, Sears & Roebuck and Abercrombie and Fitch. Collectors have paid up to $9,500 each for a good Mason.

However, $9,500 is rather inexpensive when you consider one of the top decoys in the world, a preening pintail drake by A. E. Crowell of East Harwich, Mass., circa 1915, was recently sold for $290,000. Antique decoys can sell anywhere from $1 at a garage sale to $300,000.

And beauty is in the eye of the beholder - very valuable carvings have been bought by knowing collectors right out of the back of pickup trucks from hunters who were ready to get rid of the old floaters for new. Like any other are collectable, worth is determined by the caryer's name and reputation, condition and age of the piece, and the number of his carvings in existence.

WATERFOWL CARVING as a recognized art form has come into its own in the last 15 years in conjunction with an increasing awareness of our natural resources. There are really two schools of carving within the field. The original movement consists of service decoy carving, which may actually lines and shapes of waterfowl. There is some surface texturing done to the wood but for the most part, feathering and coloring is accomplished through the illusion of paint. This form is considered to be purist and tools used are much the same as 100 years ago - chisel and knife.

The newer movement, which could be considered realism, accounts for most entries in today's carving competitions and benefits from high technology grinding and carving tools. The realists produce carvings that are incredibly detailed. And unbelievably lifelike, right down to each strand of a single feather. These carvings typically serve decorative purposes and can take up to 200 hours to pro-

Interestingly enough, however, the newer, more accurate carvings though expensive, command less in the marketplace versus their antique counterparts. The most expensive newer carvings top out at around $7,000.

- "In today's world, carvers have made it so absolutely lifelike - it seems you could blow on a carvingand ruffle the feathers," commented Louise Lancaster, also an avid outdoorsperson and hunter. "The old masters carved with a different purpose in mind — hunting. They followed the classic lines of the bird and the paint was all-important. Usually, people who enjoy the old bird won't have anything to do with the new and vice versa. But Dick and I enjoy the new carvings as well as the old."

There are reminders of the Lancasters' appreciation of nature and waterfowl throughout the home they built after World War. II. Paintings, photographs and, of course, decoys and carvings are in every room. Married for 52 years, they met back in the early '30s and began a lifelong love of the great

"WHEN LOUISE AND I met, I was already a religious hunter," said Lancaster. "My first Christmas gift to her was a pair of hunting boots and was initially looked upon with a bit of skepticism. But we've enjoyed hunting together ever since."

The Lancasters were married during the dark days of the Depres-

"For our honeymoon, we had a week and $50 to spend," laughed Lancaster. "After seeing Port Austin, Caseville, Bayport, Sebewaing and Sugarbeet Bay, we got home with a little of both left."

It was on that trip that the Lancasters paid $15 for their first string, or "rig" of six decoys that began a lifelong passion for nature. and decoy collecting.

Left-brainers tend to be logical

Q: I've heard people joke about being born disorganized. Is there anything to that? Are people really born one way or the other?

A: Almost everyone is born either right or left brain dominant. This means that, while everyone utilizes both hemispheres of their brain, most people use one side more than the other. A great deal of research into right and left brain processing has been done in the last 25 years, with fascinating results.

While approximately 80 percent of the population switches back and forth between the two spheres within a normal range, 20 percent tend to utilize only one side or the other to an extreme extent. This does directly affect their organizational abiliiles, depending on which side they

Today's column will address only left brain dominance and how it affects organizational abilities. Right brain thinking and its opposite effects will be discussed next week.

People who think predominantly. with their left brain might be characterized as craftsmen. These people tend to be logical, practical, time oriented, deliberate, precise in speech, rational, structured, disciptend to see something which needs doing, consider the consequences, act on it and then realize the resulting feelings.

The Left Brainer will lined and detail conscious. They are "outer directed" (concerned with others' opinions) and fashion oriented. They tend to think vertically, being inclined to hang things up, and are often concerned with numbers (i.e. money) and concrete form. These traits are, of course, inclined to produce a well organized person.

Left brain activities might include surgery, classical music (specific notes, as opposed to jazz), careful shopping or dieting. If requested to describe a room, left brain dominance might allude to the number of pictures on certain walls, the type of furniture and which colors were used.

The left brain person tends to acquire his information visually and incorporates a "thought-action-feeling" process. In other words, the Left Brainer will tend to see something which needs doing, consider the consequences, act on it and then realize the resulting feelings. With all these wonderful attributes, extreme left brainers may be criticized for being too: controlling, impatient, concrete, judgemental, critical, cheap, cautious, obsessive, pristine, robot-like, insensitive and rigid. They may be accused of always straightening up, throwing out valuables and being workaholics.

These characteristics are described in an excellent and often amusing book, "The Odd Couple Syndrome - Resolving the Neat/Sloppy Dilemma" by Selwyn Mills and Max Weisser. It points out that neither side is "right" or "wrong," but merely different. Next week: Description of right brain dominance, and how to obtain this book.

Workshops given

Two special workshops are being offered by the Ann Arbor Art Association, one for guilters and the other for professional artists.

"New Images for Pieced Surfaces" will be the theme of the two-day workshop for intermediate quilters Saturday-Sunday, Oct. 21 and 22. Instructor will be Judi Warren from Maumee, Ohio.

During three consecutive sessions on Oct. 3, 10 and 17, Michigan artist and instructor Nancy Thayer will share valuable information with professional artists during 'The Busimess of Being an Artist." For more information, call the art association 994-8004.

Look at our great setting: Say goodbye to spralling apartment complexes. Come live in what one visitor described as a "well maintained public park," Walk, picnic or just sit under the trees away from busy streets, traffic and noise.

LOOK at our superb location: We're five minutes from downtown Birmingham, a short walk to Somerset Mall, shops and grocery stores. Nearby major highways make commuting convenient.

LOOK at our apartments: Richly decorated entry ways welcome you to your spacious one or two bedroom apartment with patio or balcony, tiled bath, ample closets:

'Underserved' retail market plays catch-up

By Doug Funke staff writer

Is there any end to commercial retail development in the northern and western suburbs?

Probably not, to hear a developer and real estate agent talk about it.

'As long as there are new population centers that aren't being served or older population centers . . . in a good location, there will be a need for retailing," said Bruce Gershenson, vice president of Ramco-Gershenson Inc. of Southfield.

Ramco-Gershenson, according to Crain's Detroit Business, is the largest retail developer in the Detroit area in terms of square feet under construction.

Joren Peterson, a retail specialist with Coldwell Banker Commercial Real Estate Services, doesn't see any immediate tapering of the shopping center boom.

ing circle," he said.

IT SEEMS as if you can hardly drive along a major road without passing shopping centers under construction, recently-completed centers advertising for tenants or signs announcing new centers to come. Just a partial listing includes:

Hampton Village in Rochester

Hills. • West River Centre in Farmington Hills. Woodland Square and Laurel

Park Place in Livonia. Meijer's in Westland.

Sheldon Crossing in Canton.

Even with all of that work in progress or recently coming on line, there's still room for more, according to Coldwell Banker's 1989 review of the commercial real estate mar-

"It's continuous. It's just a revolve ket in Oakland, Wayne and Macomb

It concluded: "The outlook is good, however, since many local and national retailers still are discovering that Detroit is an underserved retail market with less stores per capita than most major metropolitan areas."

PETERSON VOUCHED for that assessment.

"If you drove around Chicago neighborhoods like I did a couple of weeks ago, you wouldn't think we had retail here," he said.

Shopping centers don't evolve out of the air for no reason at all, Gershenson said.

"It's a response to market needs," he said. "I look at population. Without population demands, you wouldn't have shopping centers. "Then I look at effective buying power. Effective buying power is portant is good north/south, east/ west accessibility - very good roads," he said. "The ability to get in is as important to the retailer as it is being served," Gershenson said.

disposable income. If the effective buying income of a trade area is greater than retail sales, it indicates there's a lot of buying income not

"Another indicator that's very im-to the community." NEW RETAILERS wanting to get into the Detroit market fueled the growth of shopping centers here, Peterson and Gershenson said. They identified some of those players as Kohl's, Builder's Square, Target, Pace Warehouse and Sports Giant - large anchor stores around which smaller shops might want to cluster. --Surprisingly, developers and retailers don't seem to shy away from competition.

Satellite centers gravitate to regional malls, like Woodland Square to Wonderland in Livonia, Oakland Plaza to the Oakland Mall in Troy and West Oaks Center to Twelve Oaks in Novi.

"Most retailers like to be where the action is. Most would rather be near competition and compete head to head," Peterson said.

The elements for explosive retail growth around the Westland Mall in recent years - Westland Plaza, West Ridge Plaza, Westland Crossings and Westway Plaza — can be seen in other commercial hot spots

'THERE'S STRONG density there, income is good, new housing is still being built there, freeways are nearby," Peterson said.

New construction won't be the only wave of the future, Gershenson and Peterson predicted. Older shopping centers will be renovated if they're in good locations and population demographics are favorable. ``

Some like the Redford Plaza at Telegraph and West Chicago and the Southfield Plaza at 121/2 Mile and Southfield already have been done.

Expansions are on the drawing board for Somerset Mall in Troy and the Livonia Mall.

Refurbishings and expansions. That's what Peterson meant when he termed commercial retail development "a revolving circle."

And renovation of existing property will enable retail development to continue as land acquisition and development costs rise and the great migration west and north tapers off. "In 10 or 15 years, these new centers will need facelists and new looks, too," Peterson said.

Get answers before buying

We are thinking about buying a re- a warehouse condominium and I am sort condominium in the Harbor Springs area. The condominium project is about eight years old and the developer is apparently notorious for having drained the condominium project and gone belly up. The president of the association claims that all of these problems are now resolved. Do you have any suggestions for questions that I might pose before making a decision to buy a condominium.

A: The first thing I could recommend to you is to clearly define in your own mind the reason why you are buying the condominium. If you are doing it for investment purposes, be familiar with changes in the tax laws recently which have undermined resort condominiums for investment purposes to a large extent. On the other hand, if you are buying. it for recreational purposes and are not concerned about the tax ramifications attendant with a resort condominium for investment purposes, you should resolve these questions: What is the financial condition of the association? Are the problems with the developer resolved? If not, what remains to be resolved, including any outstanding or pending litigation? What was the result of litigation and what was the necessity of litigation? Does the developer have a continuing interest in the condominium project? Are there any "recreation leases" or the like with which the association or co-owners will be saddled? Finally, check the real estate market as to whether the condominium project has a bad name because of its association with the developer who may have wreaked havoe throughout northern Michi-

We are thinking about developing wondering if you have had any experiences or knowledge of warehouse condominiums, either in the Detroit area or around the country, and are they marketable?

As in many other areas of development, industrial and warehouse condominiums are becoming increasingly popular, not only on the West Coast but on the East Coast and in Michigan. For example, on a recent trip to Philadelphia, I observed a number of warehouse condominiums that had been established incident to a developer taking an old building and transferring it into a condominium warehouse for storage purposes. It provided the developer with the latitude to increase the return on his investment by taking a building and using it to condominiumize the space within it, while retaining certain managerial rights with respect to the operation of the condominium, for which he was paid a fee. There is no reason why such a procedure could not be undertaken successfully in the metropolitan Detroit area depending, of course, upon the price of the building, the cost of refurbishing, the management team in place with respect to the warehouse condominium and the price per square foot required in order for the developer to come out ahead in condominiumizing the warehouse condominium.

I've read your column in the Observer & Eccentric regularly and find it most informative. I have been the caregiver for my parents, and of selling a small land contract to settle their estate. How de I ge about doing this and what must I be aware of?

A: There are investors who specialize in buying and selling land contracts. Contact your real estate lawyer and ask if he or she knows of anyone who is in that business. Also check the real estate pages of the Observer & Eccentric papers for advertisements by people who are buying or selling land contracts. Finally, you may wish to contact a real estate broker whom you trust who may be in the position to refer you to people that are interested in buying a land contract. Obviously, the amount you should receive from a land contract sale is based upon value of the property, the quality of the land contract vendee who is making the payments to you now, the interest rate of the land contract, and the market conditions. You should consult with your real estate broker before accepting any offer. Also ensure by the use of your attorney that you are relieved from any potential liabilities in the event of a default under the land contract.
