THE WESTLAND City Council has approved the next phase of the Merriman road widening project and construction will begin this fall. The lastest phase calls for Merriman to be expanded to five lanes from Joy Road to Ann Arbor Trail. That will match the widening of the Merriman-Warren Road corridor that was completed in 1988.

Westland's share of the estimated $912,000 job will be $100,000, to be paid out of the 1988-89 Capital Expenditure Program budget.

Wayne County and federal aid money will be used to pay the balance.

THE CITY'S monthly distribution of surplus food is scheduled for Thursday and Friday at the Dorsey Community Center, Dorsey east of Venoy.___

Residents of Norwayne and Glenwood Gardens may pick up packages of peanut butter, flour and egg mix 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Other Westland residents can pick up the food 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday.

Senior citizens living in-Westgate Towers, Greenwood Villa or Taylor Towers should call building managers to find out days and times of distribution.

For more information call the Dorsey Center Hot line, 595-0366.

IT'S TIME to play our favorite election-season game: "Political Candidates - What They Say and What They Really

Our contestant this week is mayoral candidate Robert Thomas.

A recent Thomas handout distributed throughout the city emphasized the mayoral hopeful's strong priority on public safety. But the campaign literature says Thomas intends to "put more patrolmen on the streets and increase the response

What Thomas undoubtedly meant to say was that more patrolmen would "decrease" response time.

Thomas endorsed by 3 councilmen

By Leonard Poger

Three Westland City Council members, who have fought with each other in past years, agree on one thing: They want challenger Robert Thomas to defeat Mayor Charles Griffin in the Nov. 7 elec-

Endorsing Thomas last week, -council members Thomas Artley, Kent Herbert and Charles Pickering listed a laundry list of complaints about Griffin, who is seeking his second four-year term.

In a press conference in city hall, Pickering and Herbert chided Griffin's theme of "government by cooperation," saying that it is "just so much window dressing," that is, the mayor cooperates with the council members who do what the administration wants.

Griffin termed the criticism "sour grapes" and described the three council members as an "unholy alliance" whose goal is to control administrative appointments.

On specifics, the council members criticized Griffin on the rotated closings of fire halls, use of the planned unit development zoning classification, public safety, excessive absenteelsm by the mayor and his staff. and the municipal golf course proposal that was eventually dropped.

Griffin denied all the claims made by the three council members in a statement.

The council members knocked Griffin for his "broken promises to improve the quality of life through better ordinance enforcement." Griffin reduced the ordinance enforcement staff from two to one.

The three stressed they are not running for re-election. Herbert is not seeking a new term this fall. Pickering and Artley are in the middle of four-year terms and were unsuccessful candidates in the Sept. 12 mayoral primary.

THOMAS "HAS impressed us with his hard work on issues presented to the city council in the past, his attention to detail, his sense of fairness, and his good work record," they said.

Those qualities "merit an opportunity to improve the government of Westland as mayor," they said.

Criticizing Griffin's professional background, Herbert said the mayor had no prior administrative experience before being elected mayor in 1985. Griffin was a long-time Michigan Education Association employee, representing teachers unions.

While Griffin has a master's degree, academic backgrounds aren't a guarantee of success, Herbert said. He said he, Pickering and Artley all have degrees.

"Education isn't the only measure of success," Herbert said. "Hard work can overcome other hurdles."

Last winter, Melasi also organized a Christinas lighting program at the mill, having Girl Scouts sing carols and a local Lions Club sell Christmas tree decorative bulbs. The Christmas lighting of the mill was nominated for a Keep Michigan Beautiful Foundation award.

Appeals court will rule on creche dispute

By Tedd Schneider

The U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals will rule on Westland's cityowned Nativity scene by Dec. 1, city attorney Charles Bokos said last Bokos said the three-judge appellate panel hearing the case has ordered an expedited decision so that the matter can be cleared up before the winter holidays, when the creche is traditionally displayed.

Judges Damon Keith, Alan E. Norris and H. Ted Milburn heard oral arguments in two Detroit area Nativity scene cases Thursday at the appeals court in Cincinnati. The other case involves the city of War-

In both cases, the American Civil Liberties Union has sued the municipal government, claiming d the creches on city property violates the constitutional requirement for separation of church and state.

Bokos said Keith-Madden, who also handles off legal-matters, argued on behalf of the city. The ACLUwas represented by Paul Denenfeld, legal director for its Michigan office.

BOTH SIDES submitted written briefs in the case earlier this year.

Candidates split on pace at which city should develop

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer

This is the first of two articles profiling the views of Westland City Council candidates. Voters will fill four council seats in the Tuesday, Nov. 7 election. Incumbents Ben DeHart, Kenneth Mehl and William Ziemba and challengers Ethel Bollinger, Michael Bradley, Sandra Cicirelli, Terri Reighard Johnson and Dorothy: Smith spoke about the issues during an Oct, 11 interview at the Observer offices in Livonia. Previous statements made on the record and campaign literature were also used in compiling these stories.

Taken as a whole, the ideas on future development presented by the eight Westland City Council candi-... dates resemble the traffic signals in the city's bustling downtown retail

Three candidates advocate continulng residential, commercial and industrial building throughout the city at the current green-light pace.

Three say the city should proceed with caution.

. And two think halting all commercial and industrial building until a new council can take a closer look at development-related decisions would be best.

"THINGS ARE going too fast. We have to take a breath, take stock," of the commercial-industrial boom of the last four years, said Dorothy.

Smith, who has run for council four times since 1981, said city officials should place a moratorium on all development and revert to the city's 1983 master plan in considering new projects. "Since their (1983) we've had re-zoning after resoning," Smith said. Also supporting the moratorium idea is Michael Bradley, who said the new council would not assess the city's needs before approving additional major projects. Hen Dollart, Terri Reighard John son and Sandra Cicirelli fayer con

A 31-YEAR-OLD Westland woman told police she was robbed at knifepoint Tuesday night in the parking lot of the Farmer Jack supermarket, 34414 Ford at Wildwood.

The woman wasn't injured, police

The woman said the bandit escaped with her purse, which contained personal identification and $150 worth of food stamps.

The woman told police she got out of her pickup truck at 9:55 p.m. and was headed for the store when a man pulled up behind her in a small maroon or red car.

The man got out of the car, ran up behind her and demanded that she hand over her purse, the woman said. The woman told police that when she glanced over her shoulder she saw the man was holding a large, hunting knife.

The man grabbed the purse from her shoulder and ran, the woman told police.

The woman described the robber as a white man, about 25 years old, 6 feet tall with a thin build and shoulder-length, sandy brown hair and mustache. He was wearing a red plaid shirt and white pants, she said.

A store employee reported two suspicious looking men were seen in the parking lot sitting in a red. Renault Alliance about a half-hour before the robbery.

A WAYNE man told police someone stole his 1989 Ford Escort from the parking lot of Ford.

night. The locked car was stolen between 5:45 and 10 p.m., he said.

A RESIDENT of the Hampton Court Apartments, off of Christine north of Ford, reported that someone broke into her apartment and pried open her mailbox Tuesday.

The woman said the only thing missing after the break-in appeared to be her mail.

The break-in occurred between 3 a.m. and noon, the woman told police.

. Police said the thief entered the apartment by removing a screen . from a partially opened window.

Man faces murder trial in death of 81-year-old

A Westland man charged in the stabbing death of an 81-year-oldacquaintance from a neighboring mobile home park was bound over for trial Friday after waiving a rescheduled preliminary exam in 18th District Court.

James Vincent Ferrari, 27, will be arraigned in Detroit Recorder's Court on one count of first-degree felony murder 9 a.m. Friday, Oct.

Ferarri is charged with stabbing Haskel Walworth shortly after Walworth returned to his trailer in the Mohawk Mobile Home Court, Joy west of Inkster Road, Oct. 5.

Police said Ferrari, who lives in the adjacent Big Trees Mobile-Home Community, often spent time with friends who lived in a mobile home directly across from Walworth's home.

-Police sald Ferrari stole Walworth's wallet containing $10 and his car following the incident, but would not speculate on a motive for the killing.

Dearborn Heights police found Walworth's car parked at a junior high school in that city early Oct. 6. Ferrari was found by a police tracking dog while hiding in the bushes of a wooded field about 450 feet from the car, officers said. Walworth's car keys were found in his pocket, they said.

The preliminary exam was scheduled for today, but was moved up at the request of defense attorney Dennis Shrewsbury, who told the court he had other professional commitments scheduled for today.

Police and the prosecuting attorney agreed to the change, said Detective Sgt. Jerry Wright.

25th anniversary a blast for Glenn staffers

By Leonard Poger editor

It was the fall of 1964: The nation hadn't yet marked the first anniversary of President John Kennedy's assassination. The Ford Mustang was only fivemonths old and selling for $2,500. Gasoline was 25 to 30 cents a gallon and the Vietnam War was just beginning to heat up as President Lyndon Johnson and Republican nominee Barry Goldwater were campaigning for the White House. Locally, the community news was dominated by the opening of a new high school, named after astronaut and national hero John Glenn.

John Glenn High's first teachers and secretaries remember electrical workers finishing up the school's construction and ducking out of the way every 55 minutes when students changed classes.

The school's first athletic director recalls that a Glenn Rocket pitcher hurled a no-hitter in the school's opening baseball game in the spring of 1985. '.

A secretary reflected that students "are still good" when compared to the mid-1960s. "I could be a friend to them, I wasn't their teacher," said Anita Smith, a secretary to one of three assistant principals.

They all agreed that the opening of the Wayne-Westland school district's second high school was "exciting and noisy," referring to construction workers putting the finishing touches for the school on Marquette west of Wayne Road.

They were asked to share their memories of the school's first few months during a 25th anniversary reception held Thursday afternoon in the Glenn library. It was part of the school's annual homecomingspirit week activities.

On hand were the school's first three principals: Frank Higgins (1984-75), John Harrison (1975--1979, and Tom Svitkovich, (1979-84). Hosting the reception was Glenn's current principal, James Myers, who has been in the post forfive years.

Higgins, now starting his 11th year as L'Anse Cruse school superintendent' in northern Macomb County, recalled starting his principal the year before the school opened.

His "office" where he interviewed the first faculty was in a Tinkham family farm house.

He recalled that the building was initially referred to as the "Cherry Hill site" because the school was planned to face Cherry Hill Road. But the school board couldn't acquire enough frontage to handle school buses so the building plans were revised to move the school further north and front on Mar-

Higgins said the school was named after the astronaut the summer of 1964 after local board members heard Glenn speak before a national association confer-

Glenn, now a U.S. senator from Ohio and a former Democratic presidential candidate, has never visited the school, Higgins said.

"I remember the scaffolding in the hallway," recalled former reading consultant Ronald Somers, now the district's executive director of secondary education.

"There were wires hanging from ceilings" as electrical workers were finishing the school, he said. Somers also remembered those workers scurrying out of the way when students changed classes every 55 minutes.

WHEN THE school opened, it housed an estimated 1,700 students in the seventh through 11th grades, with the first senior class added the following year and graduation in June 1966. The school now has about 1,880 students.

MADD agenda for '90's stresses new laws

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Drunk driving was scarcely an issue a decade ago.

But Mothers Against Drunk Driving, now completing its first decade, believes it has succeeded in increasing awareness of the danger of drunk

Three recent headlines bear them

• Wayne County is drafting a new law that would force drunk drivers to pay all costs involved in their arrest, jailing and trial.

testing a new Breathalyzer, billed as cheaper, faster and more reliable than current 1954-vintage models.

• The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to determine whether the state can operate sobrlety check lanes for drivers - giving new life to an issue previously thought dead. (For information on the county law, Breathalyzers and check lane case, see related story.)

As she scans the headlines, Wayne County MADD director Sandi Wolf said she realizes how far the issue and her organization has come in its first decade. And how far, she believes, it has to go in the next.

MADD has campaigned throughout the decade for greater public awareness of drunk driving and stiffer penalties for those convicted of drunk driving offenses.

While MADD can now count on allies among media, police, prosecutors and judges nationwide, Wolf recalled early problems in getting any-• Michigan State Troopers are one to take the organization troversial state police check lanes struck out at all levels of the state court system after a one-night debut May 16, 1986 in the Saginaw area.

"Three Michigan courts have looked at this program, all of whom rejected it," said Howard Simon, executive director of the Michigan chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, "The Legislature had opposed it. The public had opposed it, and the evidence that came out in court was that these were not effective procedures for fighting drunk driving.'

The ACLU has sued to block the check lanes.

Though an unfavorable ruling would be a setback, Wolf said the check lanes are just one of the measures being sought.

"WE'RE VERY interested in automatic revocation - lifting drunk driver's licenses right on the spot," Wolf sald. "And we like to see laws giving police this authority."

MADD succeeded in the 1980s, Wolf said, in large part due to unified public support.

"The media were especially helpful in getting the word out," she said. "Once people became aware, involvement grew." 🗼 ,

Social drinkers are drinking more responsibly, Wolf said.

"I think we've really been able to reach these people," she said. "At parties, people don't appear to be drinking as much."

The organization's success, members believe, lies in the fact that their approach is non-extremist = stressing responsibility, not absti-

Still, she said, problems exist with hard-core drinkers.

supporters away.

"The important thing to remember is that we're trying to save people's lives," Wolf said.

Measures proposed

Here's what is being proposed, Breathalyzer. The Infrared Intoximboth locally and nationally, to curb drunk driving:

• Wayne County - County commissioners have approved a resolution calling for fines on convicted drunk drivers equivalent to the cost of their arrest, jailing and trial. Commissioners await cost estimates from the county sheriff and prosecutor before setting the fine and putting it into law.

• State Police — Highway patrol officers are currently testing a new eter. 3000 is billed as a faster, cheaper, more accurate way to test for drunken driving.

State Troopers are continuing to use their current Breathalyzers for traffic stops, the new infrared units are being used on suspects brought to a police station—and, at that, only ones in the Kalamazoo area.

"It's being tested in Kalamazoo, if it's approved we could be getting the new units sometime this year," said Lt. Shelby Slater of the state police Northville Post.

Tributes paid U-D coach

On Sept. 25, a perfect autumn day, hundreds attended the funeral of Bob Caliban, the winningest coach in the history of the University of Detroit.

Not so many Septembers ago, Bob Calihan, a 6-foot-4, 190-pound future All-America, was making his way to U of D from Chicago.

Riding shotgun in his 1931 Model A was his pai, Frank O'Donnell.

The basketball players were driving down McNichols, nearing U of D. The Chicagoans were on the lookout for a large limestone building with a red slate roof. After nine hours of driving, one appeared.

Calihan pulled in, parked, and the two looked around. To them, it looked like an awfully small cam-

"We knocked on the door and asked, 'Is this the University of Detroit?'" recalled Frank O'Donnell, now a Redford resident.

"The man said, "This is Michigan Bell. U of D is down the road."

When the pair did reach U of D, they found the athletic office and walked in. "Gus Dorals, the football coach, and Lloyd Brazil, the athletic director and basketball coach, were there," recalled O'Donnell. "Coach Brazil said hello to Cal, who was 6-feet-4, 190 pounds. Then he looked at me - I was 5-feet-9 and 135 - and asked, 'Who is this guy? Get him out of here.'

"Dorais and Brazil argued back and forth til Cal spoke up and said, 'Coach, he's Frank O'Donnell. My mom said to tell you that if he can't stay, I can't stay either.' "That's how I got my scholarship," said O'Donnell. At Calihan's funeral, former players, friends and family told funny stories and recalled away games played in Madison Square Garden and home games contested in Naval armories and high school gyms before U of D-had-its own gym.

M.B. Dillon

The nice thing about it was that Cal didn't miss out on the laughs. That's because his players gathered just about every year to celebrate their coach's birthday.

In 1977, Cal's party was attended by 900 people. The Rev. Malcolm Carron, then president of U of D, capitalized on the occasion, re-christening the school's sports arena "Calihan Hall."

Last year was number 70 for the former U of D athletic director, dubbed "The Smiling Irishman" years ago by Detroit sportswriters. It was commemorated at a golf tournament at Glenhurst and a banquet at the Monaghan K of C in Livonia.

Relived were seasons in the Sixties when All-America Dave De-Busschere — who went on to become a player-coach for the Detroit Pistons while pitching for the Chicago White Sox — led U of D to its first ever post-season appearances at National-Invitational Tournaments and the NCAA's, and future pro Spencer Haywood provided excitement on less successful Calihan squads.

EMCEEING AT dinner was Detroit deejay Tom Ryan, who allowed as how he worked his way up from Cal's "All-Backyard Team" - he started regularly as a kid = to his neighbor's varsity squad at U of D.

Ryan-told a few jokes and proclaimed George Feffles, a former suburban Detroit high school athletic director, winner of the longest drive contest.

"He came in from Chicago," cracked Ryan.

It was Cal's turn.

He looked around the room, crowded with family, friends and white-haired professors who, to see this Chicago stud in action, used to take the streetcar to U of D's home court at the armory. His Irish face lit up with a smile that warmed the

"Tom Ryan WAS or my All-Backyard Team," he confirmed.

"There was Tom, my daughter Colleen, Sam our dog, and Sarah the neighbor's dog. Little Bobby (Calthan, Jr.) was sixth man and Virginia (Mrs. Calihan) was head coach."

In a few words, Cal thanked his old charges and said he was happy they had this chance to be together. With difficulty dictated by advanced arthritis (Caliban had an artificial shoulder, two artificial hips and two artificial knees) he sat down.

The speeches were over, the evening far from it.

"I really think Cal, as a coach and a man, has contributed more toward the development of human beings than a lot of coaches," said Feffles. "He really cared about people."

Agreed Jerry Coyne, another Cal recruit, "Bobby Knight and AP McGuire didn't envy Cal's win-loss record. But they envied him for something so much greater.

'He was a hell of a nice guy. The basic difference between him and other coaches is he didn't put the emphasis on winning, but on us.

"Basketball just happened," said Coyne. "He always made it a point to tell us, 'Get to know your teammates.' He figured if you liked each other, you would do well. He has a much better testimonial than do coaches who may have had better records.

"The reason so many people came _ tonight is because they loved him."

Don't reject new spelling

In response to Jack Gladden's column, "Spelling is important," I would say his title is correct. However, I disagree with his rejection of "invented spelling." This term is new to me; however, the idea of letting first graders write, spelling as best they can, is not.

Our daughter is in the Livonia Public Schools, which started the whole language approach last year. As part of this program, our (then) first grader used her knowledge of phonics to write every day in a journal. She learned to put her thoughts on paper, which is an accomplishment in itself. But the writing also helped her in reading and printing and in developing creativity and discipline.

Yes, many words were misspelled, but that drawback was offset by her enthusiasm and her gain in self-es-

Now in second grade, our daughter still writes using her own spelling, but the teacher now writes in correct spellings over the misspelled words. She also brings home a list of spell-

I believe as long as the schools still advocate the teaching of phonics and spelling, the idea of invented spelling used in early writing is a fine one.

Spelling is high priority

To the editor:

Thank you so much Jack Gladden for writing your "Spelling is important" column. I agree completely with you.

I certainly hope parents of schoolage children see the wisdom of your article and voice their concerns in this regard to teachers and elected school board members.

My experience with Livonia school teachers 10 years ago was that spelling was indeed a very low priority. And, a school psychologist went so far as to tell me poor spelling was not frowned on so much any-

He doesn't like story on bouncers

To the editor:

I look forward to reading about the important local issues confronting our community each week in the Observer & Eccentric. In addition, your coverage of local sports activities are most impressive.

It was shocking therefore to view and read the article contained in the Street Scene section on "Bouncers," Sept. 25. Is the Eccentric trying to outdo the Free Press in its advertising of some of the lewd topless clubs in our area?

Is it some sort of rating period where trashy articles and pictures seem_to_build_circulation? Or is It that someone has simply lost touch with previously high standards set by the paper and we can expect a continuing decline in quality journalism. Of what possible value is the article to our community? I would suggest that the writer (don't take the word seriously Tim) and whoever approved the article find a job where your talents would be better utilized - perhaps the National Enquirer or some other piece of smut.

I think the Eccentric owes the community an apology — that's how outrageous the article is.

Arthritis Today
Joseph J. Weiss, M.D. Rheumatology 18829 Farmington Road Livonia, Michigan 48152 Phone: 478-7860

Pain in the shoulder joint is as common as in the knee or wrist. The presence of shoulder pain is not as readily recognized because the body "hides" the problem.

When the shoulder joint is inflammed, it cannot move with its usual ease. The surrounding muscles still work to position the arm so it can be raised above your head, extended to the side, or rotated behind your back. However, the usual smooth movement of the arm is changed to a series of tentative and hesitating motions as the body attempts to move gently over the areas of joint irritation.

Such a change spares the shoulder joint from pain, but puts considerable stress on the muscles compensating for the impairment. Pain felt down the arm, and up into the neck gives you the impression that you have a muscle or bone condition, but the likely cause is shoulder joint inflammation with muscle strain.

Physicians are trained to be aware of this subtle presentation of shoulder joint inflammation.

inflammation. Therefore, do not be surprised if the problem you present to your physician as "something in the muscles" leads him to respond with x-rays of the shoulder joint.

ice sculptor Ted Waker puts the finishing touches on a plece that will decorate a buffet table in an area luxury hotel. Waker, a Westland resident, is a Schoolcraft College graduate and will return to Schoolcraft later this month to instruct others in ice sculpture. An award-winner at local, national and international events, Waker has created pieces for several national firms, as well as weddings and parties. Though also proficient at chocolate carving, Waker lists ice sculpting as his favorite specialty. He has been involved with ice sculpting since his days as a Livonia high school student. A food service employee at Ford Motor Co. world headquarters, Waker creates his works at a Detroit warehouse, though this piece is on the loading dock prior to shipping. Schoolcraft's ice sculpting course will be offered Saturdays, beginning Oct. 28

Artist is making his mark on ice

By Wayne Peal staff writer

He's an artist whose works last for moments; not eternity.

Ted Waker of Westland is an award-winning sculptor, but his medium is ice, not marble.

A Schoolcraft College graduate, Waker is returning to Schoolcraft later this month to share his skill with ôthers.

A member of Ford Motor Co.'s food service staff, he is based at corporate headquarters in Dearborn. His portfolio includes a lifesized Crown Victoria automobile, sculpted for Ford CEO Philip Caldwell's 1984 retirement party.

Waker has also created a 16foot-high Disneyland castle, carved from 60 blocks of ice, with a Spider Salley-sized Mickey Mouse as its doorman.

But Waker said he doesn't mind. "I don't feel too bad about it," he said. "Most of what I create is a specialized piece for a special event."

IN ADDITION to his work for Ford, Waker has created pieces for British Airways and Nabisco. He has also created an icy Clydesdale for Anheuser-Busch.

Locally, he has sculpted centerpleces for weddings and parties. He also sculpts a weekly piece for an area luxury hotel.

Waker began his love for ice sculpture as a Livonia Franklin High School student. From there, he pursued a food service career at Schooleraft.

While he's dabbled in clay, and chocolate carving remains another of his specialties, Waker's favoritemedium is ite.

· HE HAS captured first place at the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular and received second and third place ribbons at recent national and international competi-

He runs his own ice carving business, Frozen Images, from his home, while most of his sculpting is done in a Detroit warehouse.

"Actually, the carving is not as difficult as handling the ice once it has to be shipped," Waker said. He begins by roughing out his designs with a chain saw, then uses tools similar to a woodcarver's for detail work.

Though some pieces take a day's work - or more - to complete, Waker usually completes at least five pieces a week.

A piece can last for eight hours or more, depending upon room conditions, he said. Then they melt away."

Ted Waker will teach a sixweek ice-carving class at Schoolcraft College, beginning Saturday, Oct. 28, from 12:30-4:30 p.m. Cost is $125. For more information call the college at 462-4448.

Momma spills her secrets

Who can resist the heartwarming aroma of a fresh baked pie? Ask any family to name one of grandma's favorite desserts and ple is sure to stand high on the

Like many other New World foods, pie as we know it today is an all American invention. Pastries from the Old World were adapted by our Colonial ancestors to meet the sparse food supplies. Fillings for the pies - shiny tart apples, mellow, golden pumpkins and tart rhubarb were gathered from the surrounding countryside. Today's pie, with vast improvements in flour, shortening and other ingredients, has evolved into a culinary delight.

Many-a-time I have watched from behind the dust-ladened knick-knack shelf of momma's kitchen as she baked. To this day, I still don't think she owns a set. of measuring cups or spoons; instead, she uses one of the most expensive utensils around - her arthritic fingers and a rolling pin that doubled as a 'kid chaser' way back in the 1950's

With the kids shuffled off to school, I recently spent a crisp fall afternoon with momma in her kitchen, just her, me and my notebad, watching and helping-her make ples for an upcoming family baby shower. If the pages seem smeared, it's just the flour, and shortening leeching its way out of my fingertips. Here's a primer on momma's secret suggestions for a no-fail pie:

Toquote her exactly,

• "A pie is only as good as its crust. Use a light hand with your pastry. Too much handling toughens the pastry." So much for the Culsinart, eh?

• For a sparkling, extra flaky top crust on fruit pies, brush ever so lightly with milk or cream, then sprinkle with just a tad of cinnamon sugar before baking.

 Never overcook fillings with a cornstarch base. Overcooking thins out the base.

• For better bottom crusts, brush the bottom with a teaspoon of beaten egg and then chill while preparing the filling. This will help seal the pastry and should prevent a soggy crust.

 After cutting the shortening into the flour, sprinkle water ever so gently into the crust and use a tossing motion to moisten the crust. Continue tossing until dough cleans the bottom of the bowl. Never pack and squeeze.

• Whenever possible, make the crust ahead of schedule so that the crust can have a chance to chill, solidifying the shortening. or butter before rolling out

Joyce Weigel is the first to win our recognition for her winner dinner. Here, in her Farmington kitchen, she presents a quick meal of Cordon Bleu chicken breasts, mushroom sauce, soft bread sticks, chocolate covered cherry cake, crushed cranberry sauce and a glass of cranapple juice.

FTER RECEIVING many, wonderful recipes, the time finally came to select the first Winner Dinner

It was not an easy decision because there were so many delicious dinners to choose from. However, Joyce Weigel's Mock Chicken Cordon Bleu got the nod after passing through the picky palates of a most discriminating panel of judges - my children and their assorted friends, Weigel, mother of three grown children; operates her own professional typing and secretarial service but of her home in Farmington. The chicken recipe she submitted has been a favorite of her children since they were little.

Weigel likes to serve the chicken with extra stuffing on the side and top it all with a brown mushroom sauce that is easy to make, A small serving of cranberry sauce and a tossed salad filled with loss of crunchy vegetables complete the meal.

ALTHOUGH WEIGEL and her family are not big dessert eaters, she offered a recipe for Chocolate Cherry Cake Bars that are a delicious?

Confetti's new chef takes a fresh approach

Every little bit of Confettl's contributes to a pleasant night out the long, narrow restaurant with its award-winning design, the stunning large glass block windows, the attentive service, the fresh bread offered as soon as you arrive and, most of all, the varied menu of pastas and

One of the earlier trendy restaurants out West Bloomfield way, Confetti's looks like a sliver of a place from its front on Orchard Lake Road just north of Maple.

But walk inside and the restaurant stretches out before you like a twotlered hallway. Though it seats 146, it feels smaller because of its design.

LARGE GLASS block windows on three sides of the restaurant let light filter in but screen out undesirable views. The restaurant's theme is carried out with colorful confetti strewn over white table cloths and pressed beneath glass overlays. Strips of blue and pink neon add to its contemporary feeling.

Designer Aleksis Lahti created a stunning restaurant from a brown, tunnel-like Maple House several years ago, and owner Bruce Cameron brought it to life with quality meals and excellent service.

Pastas and fish are the stars here, Until recently Cameron followed a "zero-based menuing" approach, creating a new monu each day dased on the freshest, in-season foods avallable. Fresh and in season are still the goals, but new chef Brian Gallagher intends to put a few mainstays back onto the menu each day, Like lobster alfredo, one of his favorites, and roasted pork loin served with peach chutney — a popular Item, but one that you won't find just anywhere.

WHEN WE visited, the chef was serving up a delicious "speared" shrimp that had been marinated in garlic, oil, ginger, pepper and worcestershire sauce, and was then grilled with corn and red peppers. The shrimp tasted delicious - and slightly tangy. The wood spears, however, were a nuisance.

From a selection of six pastas, we tried the pesto pasta with clams and lobster in a white wine cream sauce - another excellently flavored entree whose only faults were in a bit too much pasta and a slightly undercooked white sauce.

Other choices were equally tempting, including a chevre (roasted red peppers) fettuccine and a grilled sweetbreads feituccini.

IF YOU'RE looking for something different from the pasta or red potato side dishes, try the cous cous, a Mediterranean pasta served cold and with a chutney.

Gallagher said many patrons send it back and ask for it to be heared, but some like the cold, grainy dish. While we weren't thrilled with it elther (it reminded us of cold oatmeal), it was something different and worth a try. The Cuban black bean soup served the night we visited was excellent - prepared with just the right mixture: of spices.

Our dinner salad was fresh and crispy, though nothing extraordinary. The mustard vinalgrette dressing was good, but -- as is often the case - was poured on with a heavy hand. If you prefer a light dose of a dressing, ask for it on the side.

AS THE new chef settles in, you can look forward to some new dishes and a delicate treatment of old favorites. He's planning to add mashed sweet notatoes and grilled potenta as wide distant and will be stuffing ra-VIOLITY VALLOUS WAYS. THE IN be only what is in meason, no tired white fish entress.

Remember, recipes are meant to be changed

Cooking should be fun. If it isn't, then you aren't doing it right.

Perhaps you are one of those people who always follows every recipe "to a tee," afraid to make any changes or substitutions.

Recipes are created by ordinary human beings, just like you and me. They are not carved in stone by lightning on a mountain top. So, don't be afraid to experiment.

Once upon a time, when my oldest son (now hearing 40), was a toddler, I was making a meat ple from a recipe someone had given me.

I had fried the ground beef with onions, drained off the excess fat, seasoned it; and set it aside, while I prepared the biscuit dough, which was to be the crust for the ple.

Just then, the telephone rang, and I went into another room to answer it. I wasn't gone long, but by the time I returned, little Jimmy had dumped the meat mixture into the dough. mixture, and was joyously kneading the two together with both hands.

There went my meat pie. But the ingredients were too good to throw away, and I didn't have anything else: for supper. So I helped him mix it more thoroughly, and rolled out the dough on a board.

We called these little meat-filled biscuits, "Jim-Jims," and they became a family favorite. Sometimes we substitute bulk sausage for the ground beef, and sometimes we add shredded cheese to the mixture.

A plate of Jim-Jims straight from the oven, or nowadays, re-heated in a microwave, served with a bowl of hot soup, still makes my family members very happy.

I once dropped a cake, and broke it. It looked terrible. Company was due any minute. I put the salvageable pieces into individual dessert dishes, poured chocolate syrup over them, and topped each dish with a squirt of whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

mustard, honey and Heinz 57 sauce, honey and barbecue sauce, etc. Some of these combinations have tasted better than others, but all were happily eaten.

Meanwhile, my granddaughter Krystal has gained the satisfaction of trying something new and creating her own recipes for the first time. And she's acquired a self confidence that I'm sure will be helpful in many situations in life that have . nothing to do with cooking.

And, best of all, we had fun doing

Right now, many of you may have vines full of green tomatoes that you know will never ripen before the frost. Why not try the recipe for mock raspberry jam invented by some ingenious cook who wasn't afraid to play around in the kitchen.

The results will astound you. It is hard to imagine it isn't the real thing, even after you, yourself, made

I WAS RAISED during the Great Depression of the 1930's. We were very poor, but I never knew that until years later, because everyone in our town was in the same boat. We were all very poor.

Carlson's grocery store sold soda crackers out of a big barrel. They were very cheap, so we ate a lot of soda crackers.

Anyone my age probably remembers a dish called 'depression soup," made of soda crackers, and really

Since then, we've tried honey and 1 cipe, but I'd never print it because nobody today would ever eat it, even for old time's sake.

> But because we had chickens, we also had eggs, and my father invented an egg and cracker recipe he called cracker pancakes.

We've all loved it, and it has been passed down for three generations. All of my children make them, even when they have company. My grandkids love them for breakfast or Beat up eggs, one or two per person. Add one-eighth cup of milk for each egg, and beat some more. Crumble crackers into coarse crumbs. Use your own judgment as ato how many. Some people like a dryer pancake, and some like a molster one. Add crumbs to the eggs and milk mixture, and let sit for a few minutes, until the crackers soak up the egg mixture. Drop mixture bytablespoonfuls unto a hot greased skillet, and cook as you would any pancake, flipping over when firm, and the first side is done to a golden brown. Then cook the other side. Serve bot.

Here's another unusual pancake recipe, made up when we had cold spaghetti left over, and no sauce to. go with it.

Then turn the whole large pancake out on a plate with butter, and garnish as you like. This serves about four people, all of who will love it, and call you their favorite kitchen witch.

The important thing is that you have fun cooking. Try new flavorings and spices you haven't used before. Experiment with new combinations, and make up a few of your own. Recently, I added some butter pecan flavoring to the apples in a pie I was baking. The taste was terrific.

Start with something simple, like a sauce to serve over your fish, meath or vegetables. Taste your recipes as you prepare them, and add seasonings when needed.

Encourage your children to play at cooking with you. One year, when I was still teaching school and all four of my children were still at home, we all took turns cooking one day of the week.

Sometimes we had strange menus, but before long, even the youngest children were well able to plan, cook, and serve a palatable, wellbalanced meal and have fun doing it. I was always there to help but by the end of the year I was seldom needed.

Another really fun thing_to_makeis fried ice cream. It sounds and looks hard to make, but it's really easy. I made up this recipe, and I like it better than any other I've tried anywhere.

MOMMA'S PIE CRUST

approximately 214 cups all purpose

1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter, cut into bits 1/4 cup solid vegetable shortening cold, cut into bits 5-6 tablespoons ice water

Sift flour and salt into a mixing bowl. Add butter and shortening in bits, working in and tossing continuously until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle with half the ice water. Stir lightly with fingers. Add additional water by the teaspoon until dough clings together and cleans the bottom of the bowl. Divide dough in half. Wrap in plastic and refrigerate at least one hour until ready to roll out.

PUMPKIN PIE

1 cup heavy cream

Filling: 16 oz. pumpkin puree 1/2 cup dark brown sugar, packed 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/4 teaspoon ground allspice 1/4 teaspoon ginger 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg 1 teaspoon vanilla extract 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 largè eggs, room temperature

Roll out pastry into a 12-inch circle. Line a 9-inch ple pan with the pastry and crimp rim as desired. Line pastry with foil, then fill with dried beans and bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 375 degrees. Whisk pumpkin with remaining ingredients. Pour filling into pie shell after removing dried beans and foil. Bake for 20 minutes.

DUTCH APPLE CRUMB PIE 1 ple crust for a single pie

Filling: 6 Granny Smith apples, pared, cored, cut into even chunks 14 cup dark seedless raisins

1/2 cup granulated sugar 3 tablespoons cornstarch 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1 cup sour cream 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Topping: 35 cup all purpose flour 1/2 cup brown sugar, packed 14 teaspoon cinnamon 3 tablespoons butter, cold, cut into

Roll out pastry and place in a 9inch pie pan. Crimp crust as desired. Brush lightly with an egg wash, then refrigerate until ready to fill. In a bowl, combine apples, raisins, sugar, cornstarch and cinnamon and toss well to coat. Stir in sour cream and vanilla. Set aside. In a separate bowl, stir together the flour, brown sugar and cinnamon and mix well. Add butter in small chunks and mix with fingers until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Pour apple filling into crust. Sprinkle with topping. Place in a 350 degree oven and bake for 25 minutes. If top is browning too quickly, wrap edges of pie with foil and continue baking for an additional 30 minutes...

FRESH BERRY PIE

Pastry for a two-crust ple: 2 quarts fresh berries, (blueberrles, raspberries). 15 cups sugar 1 1/2 cup sifted all purpose flour 2 tablespoons butter or magarine

Roll out half the dough and line a 9 inch ple plate with the dough. Brush lightly with an egg wash. Refrigerate until ready to fill. In a large mixing bowl, combine berries with sugar and flour. Toss gently with hands to coat. Place berry filling in prepared crust and dot with small butter chunks. Roll out remaining pastry for top crust. Secure by crimping edges with fingertips. Brush lightly with milk and sprinkle ever so lightly with sugar. Cut vents to allow steam to escape. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 40 minutes or until pie is golden or juices are bubbling through the vents.

Pita pizza makes a quick, easy after-school snack NEW YORK (AP) - A survey by on a generous pinch of oregano. Refrozen peas, dot with butter and cook the Microwave Power Institute says nine out of 10 children between the ages of 6-17 use the microwave at least twice a week. After-school snacks and light meals are favorites, including pizza, popcorn, nachos and hot dogs.

You can keep pizza fixings on hand in your cupboard and refrigerator. Pita bread can be used for the crust. Toppings can include shredded mozzarella cheese, prepared spaghetti sauce and frozen vegetables.

For ease of preparation, divide a bag of frozen vegetables into 4-cup portions. Store in the freezer in airtight plastic pouches or other suitable containers. Frozen vegetables can also be used in these ways:

 Use frozen corn or Mexican mixed vegetables on nachos. • Toss frozen vegetables into soups, mashed potatoes or macaroni and cheese. • Fill a baked potato shell with

SC tops Macomb, takes control of region

staff writer

The game was over, and Schoolcraft College had every reason to rejoice after withstanding a Macomb Community College comeback to capture a 2-1 mens soccer victory Saturday at Macomb, After all, the win puts SC in the driver's seat for the Region 12

The Ocelots jubilation was short-lived, however. Moments after the game ended, as the two teams met at midfield for the customary congratulátions, words were exchanged; punches followed.

An SC reserve, Chuck Yonlsh, suffered a broken nose in the scuffle. Macomb's Jim Kazanowski was singled out for his part in starting the fight; he was given a red-card, meaning he will not be able to play in Macomb's next regional match.

The Monarchs also lost Tony DiMaggio and their assistant coach, Jack Herd, to red cards during the game. Herd got his for arguing with the officials.

ALL OF WHICH detracted from a pivotal match. Either SC or Macomb has represented the region in the National Junior College Athletic Association playoffs every year for the past decade.

As is normal when these two teams meet, the game was hard and rough, but SC was able to "play under control," as Ocelot coach Van Dimitriou described it. And that, as much as anything, may have been the differ-

The Ocelots took a 1-0 lead in the first half after a restart following a Maconib foul near midfield. Khaled Zeidan took the kick, and he booted it to Dave Dinglie.

"It was like the waters parted," said Dimitriou of Dinglie's effort. The SC stopper weaved his way past three Monarch defenders and buried a shot past Macomb keeper David White.

Still, the Ocelots had some shaky moments, particularly in the early moments of the second half. "I could see it coming," said Dimitriou. "We were in a daze out there." Macomb took advantage when John Vitale sped down the left wing and crossed a pass into Steve Ronney, who beat SC keeper Jeff Shuk to knot the score.

IF MACOMB gained any momentum from the tying goal — and a tie game would have put the Monarchs in a commanding position in the regional race — it didn't last long. . Three minutes later, Zeidan got loose on a. breakaway. As White came out from the. goal to meet him, Zeldan popped the ball: over the Macomb keeper. White decked: Zeidan (no foul was called), but Brendan. O'Rellly outraced a Macomb defender to the: loose ball and headed it in for the go-ahead.

Fortunately, neither team will face each other again this season, unless SC ties one of: its final two regional games and a playoff; for first is required. SC is 9-1-2 overall, 4-0-2 in the region; Macomb is 4-1-1 in the region.

Glenn wins title in final seconds

By Brad Emons staff writer

Westland John Glenn's Chuck Gordon had his team huddled in the locker room after an emotional and stunning 7-6 homecoming football victory over Plymouth Salem when his .73-year-old father, Gayland, walked

'How's your heart, dad?" said the happy Glenn coach. "Is it still tick-

There were a number of gutwrenching moments in this battle of unbeatens, but Gayland's 275-mile trip from up north was certainly worth the travel after the Rockets marched 82 yards with less than two minutes to play for the game-winning points.

Quarterback Eric Stover threw a 9-yard pass to David Ryan with just who earlier had missed field goals of 46 and 53 yards, drilled home the allimportant extra point, giving Glenn a one-point win and the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activ-itles Association. The Rockets (7-0) now face Western Division champion and topranked Farmington Harrison (7-0) for the WLAA crown Friday at

The loss was hard to swallow for Salem, which appeared to have the game all but won when quarterback Rob Kowalski, running a bootleg, caught the Glenn secondary napping with 2:03 to play. He broke open a flerce defensive struggle when he hit Scott Austin with a 37-yard touchdown pass.

"Our kids played hard and deserved a better fate," said Salem five seconds left, and Wes Taylor, 1 coach Tom Moshimer. "As it turned out, the damn extra point beat us." Salem's inspired defense, led by the play of linebackers Ryan Johnson and Brian Burlison, was readywhen Glenn took over at its own 46 with 1:56 to play. Burlison sacked Stover for a 13-from his own 18, Stover found Mark Wetmore on a crossing pattern over the middle, good enough for 37 yards.

Saddled with a fourth-and-1 situation at the Salem 44, the Rockets called timeout. Stover ran a quarterback sneak to gain the first down and keep the drive alive.

After another timeout, Stover worked the clock to perfection in the final 39 seconds, completing passes. of 15 yards to tailback Shannon. Layne, 16 to tight end Garnett Woody and 9 to Wetmore.

"We had two plays called in the huddle," said the Glenn coach. "Ourquarterback had the option of calling one or two plays, depending what he liked and depending on their cover--

Without hesitation, Stover threw the ball toward the corner of the end zone and found a wide-open Ryan, who cradled the ball into his body.

"My offensive line gave me great protection (on the final drive)," Stover said. "The passes got there, and they made the catches."

Chargers stun Western; Trojans romp, 42-0

One outstanding comeback deserves another, right?

Bryan Schultz during Friday's Lakes Division

Livonia Churchill believes it. At least the Chargers' football team does. Last Friday Churchill constructed a 17-point lead after three quarters against Walled Lake Western, blew it, then staged a miracle comeback to pull out a 23-21 triumph.

Any logic associated with this game was lost early. Both teams entered the contest with 1-5 records. Neither was considered an offensive jug-

But Churchill put 17 points on the board on a 7yard run by Mike Brooks in the first quarter, a 20-yard run by Andy Saplenza in the second and a 25-yard field goal by Mike Spaccarotella in the

That was more points than Churchill had scored in any game this season. And considering Western's record for futility, the lead seemed safe.

However...

WARRIOR QUARTERBACK Todd Byron suddenly started hitting his targets. He connected with Chris Johnson on a 52-yard touchdown pass play to trim Churchill's lead to 17-7 early in the final quarter. A short time later, Jeff Kubik hauled in another Byron TD toss, and it was 17-

The Chargers aided Western's comeback, too. They had the ball, third-down-and-one, at their own 35 with 3:30 left in the game — and fumbled. Western recovered and, with 43 seconds remaining, Chad Pifer burst through the line for 25 yards on a draw play to put the Warriofs in front,

Since logic had been defled throughout the eyening, it wasn't difficult to understand Charger coach Herb Osterland inserting his tailback -Brooks — at quarterback for a final, desperate

Starting at their own 30 with :41 to play, Brooks hit Trent Naumcheff twice, for 10 and 16 yards, with Naumcheff going out of bounds on both. Brooks followed that with a third pass to Naumcheff = and a third completion, good for 19 yards and out of bounds at the Western 25,- CHURCHILL WASTED a couple of timeouts and most of what was left on the clock trying to get off another play. Finally, with :02 left, Brooks (the tailback) dropped back and fired a 25-yard TD pass to Spaccarotella (the kicker) for the decisive points.

Brooks finished with four completions in six attempts for 70 yards. He also rushed for 70 yards on 27 attempts. Churchill had 193 yards passing and 125 rushing.

Byron hit seven of 14 passes for 190 yards. The Warriors rushed for 122 yards.

WAYNE 41, BELLEVILLE 7: Brent Tapp's final stats didn't seem so impressive: six of 17 passing for 140 yards and 34 yards rushing. But then consider six of those plays ended up scoring points, and Tapp's performance takes on a different light.

Reggie Brandon got Wayne Memorial started on its road to Friday's rout of visiting Belleville by streaking 68 yards for a first-quarter touchdown. That proved to be the only Zebra score in which Tapp wasn't directly

He fired a pair of second-quarter TD passes, 56 ards to Greg Walker and 21 yards to Larry Johnson. Johnson found the end zone again in the third quarter, this time latching onto a 16-yard scoring toss from Tapp. After that, the Zebra quarterback took matters into his own hands. He rambled 19 yards for a third-quarter

TD and 6 yards for another in the fourth. The win improved Wayne's record to 5-2 overall, 4-2 in the Wolverine A League. Believille, which averted a shutout when John Fisher scored in the final period on a 14-yard run, slipped to 2-5 overall and 2-4 in the

-WAL By the way, Tapp also kicks for the Zebras; he made five of six extra-point tries.

FRANKLIN 25, NORTHVILLE 7: Brian Bartz was not about to give up. The Livonia Franklin quarterback was victimized early in Friday's game at Northville when one of his passes was intercepted and returned 60 yards for a touchdown, putting the Patriots

Franklin improved to 2-5. After Barta's TD toss pulled the Patriots to within a point, Tad Dennis gave them the lead with a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter, Mark Little, who enjoyed an outstanding game with 133 yards rushing on-16 carries, bulled his way into the end zone on a 2-yard. run to increase Franklin's lead to 16-7.

Barts's run and another Dennis field goal, this one from 25 yards, capped the scoring. Bartz finished with nine pass completions in 24 tries for 191 yards. DEARBORN 18, GARDEN CITY 14: The Cougars had the lead early but couldn't sustain it, wearing down in the fourth quarter as Dearborn drove for the winning points with 4:45 to play Friday at Gar-

Corey Clish's 3-yard scoring run proved to be the game-winning play. For the third time in the game, the Pioneers opted to go for a two-point conversion, and for the third time they falled. But It didn't matter. Garden City's next drive was short-lived; quarterback Jim Marszalck's pass was intercepted, and Dearborn ran out the clock.

The Cougars got on the board first on a 28-yard pass from Marssalek to Dion Wujick. Dearborn answered with a 1-yard TD plunge by Jay Jakubowski. When GC was penalized on the extra-point attempt, putting the ball at the 114-yard line, the Ploneers went for two points - and missed.

The Cougars increased their lead to 14-8 in the second quarter on an 8-yard run by Frank Gotham. But, once again, Dearborn came right back, pulling to within two points at halftime on another Jakubowski 1-yard gaining 83 on 17 attempts. But Marszalek completed just one of 10 passes for 28 yards. Dearborn rushed for 218 yards — Jakubowski had 73 yards on 24 carries — but lost three fumbles. The loss dropped the Cougars to 1-6 overall and 1-3 in the Northwest Suburban League. Dearborn is 4-3 overall and 3-1 in the NSL.

CLARENCEVILLE 42, HAMTRAMCK 0: Andy Weighill only got to carry the ball four times for Livonia Clarenceville Friday night against visiting

Hamtramck. Good thing for the Cosmos. Three of those runs ended in touchdowns. Weighill scored on a 24-yard run in the opening quarter and added scoring jaunts of 61 and 25 in the second as the Trojans improved to 6-1 overall. The victory also kept Clarenceville in the race for the Metro Conference championship. The Trojans host unbeaten Auburn Hills Ayondale on Friday for the title. -Hamtramck, winless through seven games, hardly provided a test for Clarenceville, which led 35-0 by halftime. Carlos Perez returned a fumble 50 yards for a TD and Jay Larson dashed 5 yards for another in the Trojans' first-half blitz. Gary Lay capped the scoring, hauling in a 15-yard scoring pass from Chris Foss in the third quarter. Foss completed eight of 10 tosses for 150 yards; Kendrick Harrington caught five of those passes. Even though Weighill's carries were limited to four, he still gained 115 yards.

WOODHAVEN 24, RU 13: Mickey Sitarski ruined Redford Union's bid for its first victory by scoring two fourth-quarter touchdowns, igniting Woodhaven's come-from-behind victory Friday at RU.

Sitarski's first scoring run, from a yard out, came with 9:44 to play and put the Warriors ahead to stay, 17-13. His second TD, from 2 yards out, iced Woodhaven's victory with 1:47 left.

RU (0.7) got on the board first on a 35-yard Brian Theis-to-Earnie Gerathy pass play in the second quarter. Woodhaven (3-4) retaliated with a 28-yard field goal by Dustin Snell with 7:53 left in the half, then took a 10-7 lead on a 3-yard run by Earnie Nemeth with 1:07 remaining before the intermission. The Panthers recaptured the lead in the third quarter on Don Carney's f-yard plunge, but Theis' extra point kick falled.

"Even though we have a bad record, we have a good group of kids, usald RV coach Shawn McGowan? We're Still, McGowan refused to tolerate the defeat. 'To say we're rebuilding is an excuse," he said.

WALDRON 36, LUTH. WESTLAND 18:

Waldron came into Friday's game against visiting Lutheran Westland with just one win to its eredit; but running back Randy Shafter shredded the Wattfor defense for 194 yards and four touchdowns as Waldron pulled away to the triumph. Shaffer's performance overshadowed a three-TD effort by Westland's Mike Hardies, who scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 16 and 8 yards as the Warriors jumped in front, 12-7. But the Spartans (now 2-5) got on track, thanks to Shaffer, who scored on runs of 14, 16, 10 and 43 yards. Westland's final score came on a 2-yard Hardles run in the fourth quarter. Hardies finished with 47 yards rushing on 14 tries, as Westland dipped to 8-4.

Prokes carries Aggies to 'Dome

By Bred Emons staff writer

Redford St. Agatha football coach John Goddard got the Gatorade treatment Saturday night, but it was the Aggies' defense that left Center Line St. Clement drowning its sorrows.

The Aggles, who held the Crusaders to a mere 91 yards total offense, clinched their second Catholic League C-Section title in as many years with a 13-0 victory before a homecoming crowd at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

Goddard, soaking wet from a drenching administered by his players following his team's sixth straight victory, gave all the credit to a 4-3 defensive scheme brought in by new assistant coach Don Silvi.

"The defense has been tough all year," Goodard said. "But all the credit belongs to Don and coach (Mike) McCollom. They put the 4-3 in and they handle the defense. Don came in and made all the changes. He has lots of experience coaching at places like Divine Child and Crestwood."

THE AGGIES' front four of John DiPonio, Brian Rich, Pat Wagner and Joe Boards made life miserable for the Crusaders, who had only one real scoring chance all eve-

Fumbling the ball away at their own 16, the Aggles' defense was faced with their first major threat near the end of the first half.

After St. Clement's Tom Gall ripped off a 10-yard run down to the Agatha 6, teammate Dave Sauger blasted into the end zone for an apparent touchdown, but the play was called back because of a holding penalty.

The Aggles' defense then stiffened and St. Clement's Vince Bastine missed wide on a $5-yard field goal attempt with 1:40 to go in a acoreless first half.

"The kids were all walking this night.

around at halftime with their heads down, but I told them 'the only pity. you'll get is from your moms and dads, but not any from me," Goddard said. "We had a lot to say at halftime."

ST. AGATHA, however, was notdown for long. With senior fullback Ken Prokes carrying the load, Agatha began to wear down a tired Crusader defense in the second half. Junior quarterback Brian Kutch, who directed a 12-play, 73-yard drive, scored on a 2-yard keepen with 5:03 remaining in the third quarter to break the deadlock.

The Aggles then tacked another score on the board in the final Taking advantage of a fumbled

St. Clement punt, which Ken Kroll recovered near midfield, Prokes scored on a 9-yard run with 4:25 to "Prokes gets you 5 or 6 yards every time," Goodard said. "He really came on in the second half." Prokes, who rushed for 89 yards in the second half; finished the night with 122 in 22 carries. "I told the kids that this was the best win I've ever had." said Goddard, now in his 14th season. "I couldn't be more proud of the kids and the way they came back."

WITH THE VICTORY, the Aggles have already clinched a spot in Prep Bowl - Sunday, Oct. 29 at: the Pontlac Silverdome against elther Detroit East Catholic or Detroit St. Hedwig. "That was our goal to get back to the Silverdome, but last year wedidn't look like a good football team there," said Goddard, remembering a 17-9 loss to Flint Holy Rosary. "Now we want to ge back and make people believe St. Agatha has a good football team." <

HE LOOK THAT spread across Dave Bogataj's face said all that need be said, really.

How does it feel, switching from the National Junior College Athletle Association's Division I to Division II, the Schoolcraft College mens basketball coach was asked.

Bogataj knew the change in status had been in the works, but he had not received the word when the gestion was put to him.

When told the switch had, indeed, been made, Bogataj pressed his palms together and lifted them heavenward, sending a pot-so-silent prayer of thanks to whoever would accept the call.

"I was hoping," admitted Boga-

HE WAS hoping the change would be made for a very basic reason: "By us playing in Division II, we will be competing against teams with the same recruiting power. We will be able to play teams on the same recruiting level."

The difference between the two divisions is enormous. Teams in the NJCAA Division I are allowed to give 24 full grants, including room and board. Division II teams are limited to 10 scholarships, with no room and board.

The change will not affect SC's program. The school was limited to 10 scholarships anyway, according to Michigan Community College Athletic Association bylaws. Only two junior colleges in the state, Mott CC in Flint and Highland Park CC, are believed to be members of the NJCAA's Division L'Their status may change; schools are allowed to switch after threeyears.

THIS IS the first year SC could request a change in status. The NJCAA's second division, which exists only in mens basketball and golf, seemed a perfect place for SC. Other junior colleges, such as Oakland OC, Lansing and Delta, are far larger and are in the NJCAA IL Those three went on to win NJCAA his athletic directorship for other duties at the college, and the mound of paperwork necessary to make the change to the second division was never initiated.

"This was one of my priorities when I got here," said SC's new athletic director, Marty Nowak, "It's a three-year commitment, and if you don't commit (to the NJCAA II), you're in Division I."

THE RANKS of the NJCAA II have swelled since its inception to almost 80, Nowak said. "More teams are realizing they can't compete with the Vincennes." Lopsided recruiting competition is a prime example of the need for the NJCAA II. Vincennes is the only junior college in Indiana; it recruits nationwide and has dormitories for all of its students (which is mandated by the NJCAA; athletes cannot be given-room and board if it is not available to all the college's students).

For Nowak, gaining entry into the NJCAA's second division was another step in the right direction for SC sports.

HE ALSO wanted to host an NJCAA regional. That goal was reached when SC was chosen as the -site for the Region 12 volleyball tournament, which the Lady Ocelots should be favored to win.—

How successful Nowak is in realizing another goal - keeping athletes academically eligible (which has been a problem, particularly in mens basketball) - remains to be seen.

So far, he is encouraged by the Student-Athlete Support System, which requires athletes to fulfill academic obligations each week to remain eligible. If Bogataj has the use of the players he recruits for an entire season, who knows? The next NJCAA II championship banner could be fluttering from SC's rafters.

Thurston wins league

Churchill 2nd in meet

For the second consecutive year, Redford Thurston reigns as boys golf champions of the Tri-River League.

The Eagles captured their fourth title in five years under coach Emil Majeski by completing an undefeated league dual-meet season with a narrow 156-157 victory over Allen Park, Wednesday at Warren Valley.

Thurston's Scott Delano and Allen Park's Steve Rossi tied for medalisthonors at even-par 36.

Other Thurston scorers included Rich Sherwood (37), Adam Stern (41) and Bob Isenegger (42). John Walsh and Joe Wescott also shot 44 and 46, respectively, for the Eagles.

On Friday, Thurston finished eighth in the Class B regional at Hartland Glen.

Regional champion Stockbridge (322), Dearborn Divine Child (325) and Hartland (329) all advanced to the state meet. —

Canton girls seize 1st league crown

By Brad Emons staff writer

The old adage "there's a first time for everything" came true to life for the Plymouth Canton girls tennis team last week.

On Thursday, the Lady Chiefs outscored regular season dual meet. champion Northville, 21-16, to claim their first Western Lakes Activities Association title ever. The rain-delayed meet began Tuesday, but was not completed until Thursday at Livonia Stevenson. See tournament results.

Technically, because of Northville's league-leading 11-0 dual meet record, the Mustangs earn a share of the title in the final positioning of the WLAA standings. The dual and league meet finishes are weighed equally — 50 percent each. (Canton's dual meet record was 10-1 with their only loss coming against Northville, 4-3.)

But in the WLAA tourney, Canton was the superior team, winning titles at Nos. 2, 3 and 4 singles.

"Our (dual) meet with Northville was close, but it was still disappointing to lose," said Canton coach Carol Michaels. "We faced them in the middle of the season and had a tough week because of all the rainouts. It. was on a Friday and it was our fourth match of the week. I think we were kind of tired, but I think Northville was in a similar situation, too."

CANTON CAME OUT on top in all three singles semifinal meetings against Northville, and then top seeds Sherri Bajer (No. 2), Alissa Huth (No. 3) and Michelle Sparkman (No. 4) all completed undefeated conference seasons by winning their respective flights.

"We were very happy with the draw," Michaels said. "But beating Northville in all three of those matches caused the point turnaround. It would have been much tougher had we not won those matches."

Bajer grabbed her individual crown by defeating Farmington's Harrison's Lisa Tomle, 7-5, 6-4; Huth took out Plymouth Salem's Shiakah Kapila, 6-4, 6-1; and Sparkman downed Salem's Tracy Anderson, 1-

The Lady Chiefs also got a lift at No. 1 singles when unseeded Tanya Bowsman upset No. 2 seed Stephanie-Geelhood-of-Walled-Lake Central in the quarterfinals, 6-3, 6-3. "That was a nice win and it certainly helped," Michaels said.

Canton's No. 1 doubles team of Leanne Gurchak and Denise Gildo also pulled off a surprise, knocking off the No. 1 seeds from Central in the semifinals, Dee Geelhood and Marga Strobel, 6-0, 7-6.

SHARON LeMIEUX/staff photographer Tanya Berner, a sophomore at Livonia Franklin, reached the finals at No. 1 singles.

Heather Kaye and Resham Batra of Canton reached the semifinals at No. 2 doubles, as did the No. 3 team of Reetika Aulakh and Parikh Viraj. "Everybody improved," Michaels-said. "All four of our singles players are seniors. Both Sherri (Bajer) and Alissa (Huth) won the conference at No. 2 doubles together and as freshman they were on our only team ever to qualify for the state meet. They've been motivated ever since. They've been the leaders of this team." The individual leader of the tournament was junior Kori Davidson of Harrison, who lost only four games in three matches en route to the No. 1 singles title.

Davidson, a nationally-ranked U.S. junior player, defeated Livonia Franklin sophomore Tanya Berner in the finals, 6-1, 6-2.

Northville's Tricia Tomminia and Rebecca Bellamy, the top seeds, took the No. 2 doubles crown with a 7-6, 6-3 triumph over Stevenson's Sue Bell and Lori Balley, 7-6, 6-3. The Mustangs also added their second title at No. 3 doubles when top seeds Julie Howard and Merilynn Millgard outlasted Liovnia Churchili's Kathy Wira and Jenny Flanigan.

HARRISON AND STEVENSON tied for third in the league meet with_ 12 points each, while Salem was a distant fifth with 10.

We both finished third (Harrison and Stevenson) and we both feel good about it," said Stevenson coach George Croll. "We always do well in doubles because we have depth. But Harrison is going to be really good next year. They have four or five freshman in their lineup right now to go along with Davidson." But this season, it's Plymouth Canthe 5-foot-8, 161-pound Wetmore made a speciacular one-handed grab: for the 37-yard gain. "It was third-and-38, and we had two downs to get a first down," Gordon said. "Obviously, we were trying to get half of it back on one play. But then he (Wetmore) catches the ball and it's fourth-and-1, but by no !! means are we out of the woods." But as Stover would say, "That was the turning point; I thought we had a chance to win after that."

"THE ONE PASS (to Wetmore) killed us," said Moshimer. "The catch he made was fantastic. The ball was overthrown.

"We were in pass-prevent coverage , with three guys deep. We couldn't have been in better shape, but Glenn has that great speed at the flankers.

"I thought we had it. There was no doubt in my mind, then the pass (to Wetmore) killed us."

The two teams battled evenly throughout much of the night.

Glenn took the opening kickoff and marched to the Rocks' $5, but Mike Cygan intercepted Stover in the end

SALEM'S ONLY real scoring threat of the first half came when Kowalski slipped through the Glenn defense on an option run and appeared headed for the end soud, only to be tripped up on a game-saving tackle by Kralg Kuban.

In the second half, Salem's defense began to shut down Glenn tailback Shannon Layne, who added just 1$ yards after gaining 64 in the first

Franklin harriers: mark 7-1

Livonia Franklin added another victory to its fine dual-meet record in girls cross country Thursday, defeating crosstown rival Livonia

Churchill 15-47 at Nankin Mills. The Patriots, 7-1 overall, were paced by Dawn Harrison, who won the race in 21:24. Teammates Kelly Gustafson and Mary Lou Maddison also broke 22 minutes, finishing second and third in 21:49 and 21:56, respectively.

Franklin captured the top five places with Keri MacKay taking fourth place (22:00) and Stacey Hewett fifth (22:27).

Churchill's Jennifer Goodsell slipped into sixth place to stop the Patriots' domination there, posting a 22:31 time.

In alternating order and rounding out the top 10, it was Tammy Bauer, Franklin, 22:42; Stacy Rokicsak, Churchill, 22:47; Nicole Canham, Franklin, 22:55; and Rachel LeBlanc, Churchill, 22:57.

LIVONIA STEVENSON ran its dualmeet record to 4-1 Thursday with a 22-38 boys victory over visiting Westland John Glenn at Cass Benton Park.

Scott Freeborn and Keith Klassa of the Spartans picked off the top two spots with 17:19 and 17:37 times, respectively. The Rockets took three of the next four. places before Stevenson finished off the opposition by nailing down the Nos. 8-10

Glenn's Carl Lowe was third (17:40), Jason Nowicki fifth (18:10) and Joe Rajewski sixth (18:11).

Rodney Westlake of the Spartans was fourth (17:44), and Nick Boogé (18:34), Eric Oswandel (18:55), George Bracken (19:00) and John Marshall (19:09) rounded out the top 10 and scoring for Stevenson.

REDFORD UNION, paced by Marty Boyd, routed host Garden City in boys meet Thursday at Hines Park, 16-42.

Boyd was first with an 18:11 time, and his teammates captured the next three places, too. David Boyd was second (18:20), Ken Podina third (18:30) and Shawn Collins fourth (18:46). Adam Edwards rounded out the scoring for the Panthers, 2-1 in the Northwest

Suburban League and 3-3 overall, by finishing sixth in 20:26.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN conceded the first two places to Livonia Churchill, but rallied to beat the Chargers, 27-32, in a boys dual Thursday at Nankin Mills.

Churchill's Scott Westover and Don Kulka finished one-two in 17:25 and 17:80, respectively, but seven of the next eight spots went to the Patriots, 3-5 overall. Scott Goodell paced Franklin with a third-place time of 17:44, and the top five included teammates Aaron Boylan (17:58) and Paul White (18:22). After Dennis Radovanovich of the Chargers claimed sixth place in 18:34, the rest was all Patriots.

Most things are pretty much black and white. Oil and water don't mix. East is East. West is West. Something can't be solid and liquid at the same time. Well, not so with The FirstRate Fund. Because it earns you a great rate, without tying up your principal.

Earn 9 Percent For Up To 60 Days.

From October 2 T until November 30, The First Rate Fund earns interest at an annual rate of 9 percent.

After that, it's tied to the 91-day Treasury Bill, guaranteeing a highly competitive rate. All it takes is a $10,000 deposit to start. And you can add to it, whenever you like.

Make a withdrawal and you won't have to pay a penalty.

So, by all means, open your FirstRate Fund now, and earn an annual rate of 9 percent for as long as possible.

Solid. And Liquid, Too.

Unlike some other investments with a high return like the FirstRate Fund, you can get to your money, whenever you need to.

All you have to do is drop us a line. Seven days later, you'll have your money.

We'll even call to tell you when you can pick up your check.

Insurance For Your Money.

Most investments like this require some risk taking. Not so with The FirstRate Fund.

Your bank deposits are FDIC insured for up to $100,000. Meaning your principal's safe to the maximum amount allowed by law.

In short, you have nothing to lose. But an awful lot to gain.

Where's The Fine Print? You Just Read It.

If you're going to name something FirstRate, it ought to be just that.

So there are no funny restrictions or conditions. Just a straightforward investment that, unlike a lot of competitive investments, is unquestionably attractive. Which leaves us with one last question. What are you waiting for? The FirstRate Fund. Only from First of America.

Stop by any one of our First of America offices to invest in one, or call 1-800-544-6155.

Remember, this offer may not last forever, is available to individuals only, and may change without notice.

During recent races held in Livingston County, the hot air balloons took to the skies in pursuit of the X left by the "hare." In the "hunt" was Phil Glebe in his distinctive Pontiac Excitement II balloon.

A man and his balloon. Phil Glebe savors the height he attains, but only for a fleeting moment.

The open air is his lanes, the rizon his finish line. Glebe, 38, is simply not along for the ride.

As he commands the Pontiac "Excitement II," a 70-foot high, 55-foot wide balloon that serves as his racing machine, Glebe seldom seems at ease.

His eyes scan the horizon, looking at the tree-lined suburbs tinted orange from the setting sun. From there, his orbs dart to the altimeter, which gives an indication of the height of the balloon.

Some things don't change. Sharpes Creek still flows downhill from the Woolen Mill on Upper Pond to the Gledhill House on Lower Pond, rushing under the grist mill to the Maitland River.

The river flows downstream to the modern town of Goderich, and on to Lake Huron, but that is a 20th century setting and Benmiller is firmly stuck by history and choice in the 19th century.

If you look at the old photographic mural on the wall at the swimming pool you see the village of Benmiller as it was in the 1840s when the Canada Company sold the original land grants in the them Huron Tract of Upper Canada and what is now Ontario.

The mural shows the wide shallow-river-winding away between treed hills. A horse-drawn-cart clip-clops down the road that runs parallel to the river. Between the river and the road are a dozen wooden buildings that held the old

'Talking:' Cute but not credible

When Mollie (Kristie Alley), the CPA, gets pregnant by Albert (George Segal), the neurotic entrepreneur, she needs to find a father for her baby, Mikey (a whole bunch of kid actors - Jason Schaller, Jaryd Waterhouse, Jacob Haines and Christopher Aydon plus stunt double, Mihaly "Michu" Meszaros and plain double Amanda Blasko).

Schaller has most of Mikey's screen time and therein lies one significant problem in "Look Who's Talking" (C+, PG-13, 97 minutes). Mikey's suppose to a a year old, and there's no way that Schaller is close - he's 3 if a day.

The entire sequence with the four ehild actors — plus two doubles representing Mikey from birth to one year is unclear and simply doesn't ring true, It's symptomatic of a strained, gimmicky film with questionable continuity.

Mollie thinks Albert is going to divorce his wife and marry her, but it turns out that Albert is going through another phase. He's carrying on with his interior designer, Melissa (Joy Boushel), while Mollle is carrying his child.

THAT ALBERT and Melissa should be found in hot embrace in the shop where Mollie and her friend Rona (Twink Caplan) are shopping strains one's credulity.

But it does keep the plot limping along as Mollie is now on her own because Albert is moving in with Melissa. Just about then, Mollie goes into labor and a rather interesting. guy, James (John Travolta), pulls up in his cab to drive her to the hospital.

James winds up as Mollie's babysitter, and you can pretty much figure out what happens from there on. There's quite a bit of funny stuff, but on the whole it's simple-minded and obvious. Mollie has a Harold Lloyd hanging from the clock nightmare when the doctor notes that her blological clock is ticking.

The adult voice-overs speaking mature ideas representing babies is clever but quickly gets old. Bruce Willis is Mikey's voice. There also are caméos - Olympia Dukakis as Millie's mother, Rosie, and Abe Vigoda as James' grandfather.

Put it all together and it adds up to very little. Symptomatic are the music sequences thrown in whenever the plot falters. Still and all, lots of people will walk out of the theater saying, "That was cute."

"BREAKING IN" (R) features Burt Reynolds as Ernie, an older professional safe-cracker whose young protege, Mike (Casey Siemaszko), does it for kicks. It's a slightly different kind of story, a comedy about a couple bad guys who aren't all that bad, just on the wrong side of the law.

"The Fabulous Baker Boys" (R) stars the fabulous Bridges boys, Beau and Jeff, as cocktail lounge plano-playing brothers. Their act takes off when they hire a beautiful young singer, Michelle Pfeiffer, to work with them.

Talking."

Two major motion pictures debut this week on video cassette - "Lawrence of Arabia" (1962, restored version, 1989, 218 minutes, PG, color) and "A World Apart" (1988, 115 minutes, PG, color). Winner of seven Oscars, including the academy's best picture citation, the original "Lawrence" was cut by 35 minutes. Amidst much publicity it was restored for a nationwide tour, which included Detroit's Fox Theatre earlier this year. On Oct. 19, that restored version is available on video for home viewing.

The all-star cast, headed by Peter O'Toole and Alec Guiness, includes Omar Shariff, Anthony Quinn, Jose Ferrer and Claude Rains, It's priced at $29.95 and will available for rentreceived for this review, it will be to the agony of strangers? interesting to see just how David Lean's magnificent wide-screen epic looks on a small TV at home.

Media Home Entertainment isreleasing "A World Apart" on video just one week after the premiere of "A Dry White Season."

Both are polgnant stories that effectively personalize the tragically large, but often abstract, casualty lists when black demonstrations are repressed by the South African government.

"A WORLD Apart" chronicles Diana Roth's (Barbara Hershey) fight against South African apartheid policies in 1963 just after the 90-Day Detention Act became law. That legislation allowed imprisonment for such a period without charges being filed. It had been enacted in response to black aspirations and the rising strength of the African National Congress. By 1963, ANC leader Nelson Mandella was already in jail but others continued the struggle - and the South African government responded brutally. Diana Roth was a journalist for the Rand Daily Mail - the same paper Susan Sarandon works for in "A Dry White Season." Rothhad seen great injustice through her work and had become an active participant in ANC activities.

Based on a true story of the first woman imprisoned under the 90-day act (Rüth First), "A World Apart" relates the sad, divisive impact such policies have on family life. Conflicting duties tear at the family structure - is one responsible only to imal as well. Although a copy was not mediate kin or must one also answer

The story largely develops through the reactions of Roth's 13year-old daughter, Molly (Jodhi It's an interesting coincidence that May), who must contend with a parentless home after her mother is imprisoned and her-father, Gus (Jeroen Krabbe), flees to avoid jail on treason charges as a communist.

> world of apartheid, anyone who advocates freedom and equality is part of the world-wide communist Molly remains at home with her grandmother (Yvonne Bryceland) and the housekeeper, Elsie (Linda that everyone is responsible for the entire community. But those lessons are learned with considerable pain and bitterness as she becomes an outcast at school and is shunned by her best friend, all this while feeling abandoned by her parents.

`At the same time her mother, Diana, in solitary confinement, realizes she had gone too far in political activities and activism, so far that she ignored her children and put all her energies in the political cause. She is in solitary for refusing to cooperate with the official investigation of ANC activities.

Diana and Molly mature in their roles as mother and daughter united in their love for one another, in their regard for family and in their fight for freedom and equality. That convergence of individuals and causes is a touching moment.

EVERYONE CAN empathize with such moments no matter what one's level of political awareness may be. In that moment of true emotion as mother and daughter reconcile, we all realize the importance of family in the broadest sense, the family of home and the family of man.

The fact that the script, acting, photography and music are all excellent reinforce the impact of this polgnant personal statement about individual responsibility.

"A World Apart" is also another very worthwhile statement about the South African government's tragically brutal and grossly indecent policies. Each such statement helps mold a public opinion that eventually will eliminate the ugliness of apartheid.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

'Vera' uncovers Soviet life

By John Monaghan

special writer Soviet films aren't ordinarily known for their subtlety, sense of humor or frankness.

"Little Vera" is no ordinary film.

Playing for a second weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre, this may be the screen's most intimate glimpse into Soviet life. Vera (Natalya Negoda), a high school graduate, is constantly hounded by her parents about her wild life-nights with her girlfriend Lena. "Little Vera" begins as a film about alienated youth - comrades without a cause. In a startling early scene, an outdoor rock-and-roll dance is surrounded by police in riot style and a college acceptance that never comes. She hangs out late gear and with German shepherds. VERA MEETS Sergel (Andrei Sokolov) in the impending violence and immediately falls for him. After announcing their marriage plans, Sergel moves in with Vera's family and the movie starts to look like a Soviet "All in the Family."

But the film grows darker, Sergei treats her parents like dirt.

When he asks Vera why her parents are so dumb; she says, "They're the only ones I've got." She starts making strides toward adulthood while he grows more and more bored.

Natalya Negoda sizzles in her unglamorous but sexy role. Heavily made up and dressed in the same red striped shirt for much of the film, she has few options in or out of her dead-end industrial town. Aside from rock-and-roll, Sergel is the only thing that hasn't bored her to tears.

Vera's parents, meanwhile, are tired, hard working and completely at a loss in dealing with a teenaged daughter. The father gets into whiny drunken fits. The mother yells from the kitchen where she spends countless hours canning and pickling fruits and vegetables,

"Little Vera" shows us plenty about life in the Soviet Union, especially about cramped living conditions and family tension. Director Vasily Pichul can never get his camera far enough away. Things are always close up and claustrophobic in the tiny apartment.

THE LANDSCAPE outside Isn't much better. The entire town seems to be built on piles of rusted parts and scrap. The beach is all gravel and jagged iron poles. At one point, Vera crouches beneath the shell of a beached World War II submarine.

"Little Vera" won best film and best actress awards at the Chicago Film Festival and has been viewed by more than 60 million Soviets.

Although its conflicts are never fully resolved, it asks for acceptance and co-existence in a world that is much too small.

Brace for the Blues Explosion

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

The beakers and test tubes are out. Like the teenager in the basement with a chemistry set, blues man Kim Wilson is experimenting.

End result: The Blues Explosion. The lead singer of The Fabulous Thunderbirds will join guitarists Luther Tucker and Duke Robillard, along with drummer Fran Christina and bass player "Sister" Sarah Brown, for a special 10-date tour. The Blues Explosion stops by Sully's in Dearborn on Friday. A

"There's a lot of people I've known for years and years," said Wilson, who is formerly of Redford Township. "I've admired them through the years. Some of them I've never had a chance to play with because of being on the road so much.

"I like to work in combinations." The Blues Explosion is indeed one lethal combination of blues musicians. The lineup includes:

 Luther Tucker, guitarist who has performed with Muddy Waters, Sonny Boy Williamson, Little Walter Jacobs and James Cotton. • Duke Robillard, guitarist and vocalist who was one of the mainstays of Roomful of Blues .--

• Fran Christina, drummer with The Fabulous Thunderbirds.

• Sarah Brown, a bass guitarist who made a name for herself in the Austin, Texas, blues scene. She performed extensively in the Ann Arbor area with the Boogey Brothers before moving to Texas.

WILSON GOT the notion for a tour after catching Tucker perform in July at an anniversary at Anton's, a well-known blues club in Austin.

"I have a real soft spot for Luther," Wilson said. "One of the first blues records I had was a James Cotton album and Tucker was great on that.

"I saw him perform and I told him, 'Tucker, we're going on the road!'

He holds the same reverence for Robillard, who's quite a guitar slinger in his own right.

"He can do it all," Wilson said. "See, Duke always gets in my face. I'll watch him perform and he plays like 50 verses — at my table! I told him, 'I'm not coming to any shows you're playing unless I'm on stage with you.'

WILSON PROMISES a heavy dose of straightforward blues.

But he said, "A lot of crazy things can happen." Which is part of the reason Wilson put together the tour. The Blues Explosion allows him to do something a bit different from the T-Birds. He's quick to point out the Blues Explosion is not replacing The Fabulous Thunderbirds in his life. Group members will be writing some material for an upcoming album soon.

Like those he'll join on stage, blues music is a passion for Wilson. He has performed with many heroes, including Eddie Taylor, Albert Collins, John Lee Hooker and Muddy Waters.

WILSON LIVED in Redford Township until he was 9, moving to California.

"I didn't want to leave," he said. He performed with a number of bands in California, but his big break didn't come until he moved to Texas. There, he met Muddy Waters, who he said helped launch the Fabulous Thunderbirds.

"Muddy was kind of like my second father," he said. "He took me under his wing. He made me. I love all those guys, but he put the final stamp on me."

The Fabulous Thunderbirds emerged out of the Austin scene, touted as the blues band of the future. The group has released several albums, gravitating more toward mainstream tastes while still keeping its blues edge.

WILSON, THOUGH, has always kept himself busy with other projects. He recently produced and performed on Jimmle Rodgers' latest album. The Blues Explosion has him really excited.

"I do a lot of different things," said Wilson, who lives-in-Austin. "Iplay all different kinds of blues. I like big bands with horns. I-like keyboards and two guitars opposed to one. I like covering all the areas."

But with all those names on one stage, perhaps some egos would be covered up by others. Wilson quickly shoots down such a notion.

"No. We're all grownups here," he said. "(Shoot) man, every single person is the best that there is. They're like I am, they just like to play."

The Blues Explosion performs Friday, Oct. 20, at Sully's, 4758 Greenfield, between Michigan and Ford, Dearborn. For information, call 846-5377.

BOB MOULD

- Nectarine Ballroom, Ann Arbor.

So declared one nearby fan while watching Bob Mould tear through -100 minutes of rock-and-roll last Monday at Ann Arbor's Nectarine.

Ballroom. Mould, who fronted the now legendary Husker Du, laid to rest any fear that he had abandoned that pioneering postpunk band's penchant for using volume as a weapon. Touring to support his brilliant solo, alburn, "Workbook," Mould -transformed the haunting melodies of the relatively tame record into a hard-

driving guitar assault. "Workbook" is a brooding album of dark lyrics and moody music laced with cellos and acoustic guitars. On stage, "Workbook" takes on a deafening Husker demeanor, with Mould, guitarist-Jim Harry, bassist Tony Maimone, and Gold Palominos' drummer Anton Fier replacing the intricate string and vocal arrangements with tight guitarwork and deadly drumming.

—Mould only strapped on the acoustic guitar for "Sinners and Their Repentances" and a brief show-closing medley of Husker hits, including "Hardly Getting Over It," and the wonderful "Makes No Sense at All."

With his blond bangs turnbling on his forehead and his guitar dangling at this knees, Mould led his band through the entire new LP, plus a few outtakes a new songs scheduled for his second solo album, as well as an encore rendition of Nell Young's "Cinnamon Girl."

Mould closed the first set with the album's first single, "See a Littel... Light," and "Whichever Way the Wind Blows." The latter, "Workbook's" rockingest track, sent some of the diehards on the packed dance floor-slam-dancing-to-its-frenzied

The song and set, came to a pounding conclusion with Mould under strobe light, spinning his guitar like a top near the amplifier, creating skull-splitting feedback that would've made Jimi Hendrix shudder and Pete Townshend plug his ear. The din continued as Mould laid the guitar across the amp column i and ended up on the floor screaming into the microphone, to the delight of the awed crowd.

REI MOMO — David Byrne

David Byrne is most readily known for his work with Talking Heads. With that band, he redefined traditional notions of pop songs, constantly challenging the listener with new styles of singing. He quickly adapted and once again was one of the most imaginative proponents of the new technology. Not content with confining his talent to these arenas, he has been recognised for his outstanding work as a filmmaker ("True Stories" and "Stop Making Sense"), soundtrack composer ("Last Emperor," "Married to the Mob," "Something Wild," "Catherine Whell"- A Twyla Tharp Dance), and producer ("Waiting" - Fun Boy 3, and "Mesopotamia" - B-52s).

With such an exalted track record, it is impossible to ignore what Byrne furns his attention to now.

in this instance he u earlier this year by his involvement with the release of "Brazil Classics," a collection of Brazilian folk songs. His constant effort to push himbelf into unknown territories has extended from the African tribal rhythms used by Talking Heads during their career to the lighter, bouncier sound of traditional Brazilian folk songs.

"Rei Momo" (Sire) is a collection of David Byrne originals, using New York-based Latin musicians from the bands of Reuben Blades, Celia Crus and Tito Puente, and produced by Byrne and Steve Lillywhite. The difference between this effort and the aforementioned foray into African music is that Byrne seems to have completely immersed himself into the Latin music. With the African music, he absorbed its influences and used it to color a Byrne/Talking Heads song. With the Latin music, it has taken over completely. Despite Byrne's quirky, humorous lyrics and distinctive vocals, this sounds like the latest example from the Rio de Janeiro

Answers to stupid questions

- By Karl Nilsson special writer

In honor of National Stupid Question Week, I am interrupting our regular series on self-hardening clay to answer those burning questions from readers. How they caught fire is another story altogether.

Q. I'm trying to organize my closets. Any point in hanging on to my old fingernail clippings?

A. Don't toss that collection yet. They're useful in the manufacturing of artificial animal hooves. It used to be that when a prize show horse split a nail his career was ruined. Now, thanks to new "press-on fashion hooves," the judges never know the difference.

A. In the days before music videos, top swing bands relied on unusual rhyming names to promote audience recognition. The most popular of these catchy monikers was "Les Brown and His Band of Renown."

Brown's overnight success spawned a host of imitators like Conrad Rust and His Band of Disgust" and "Reginald Pitts and His-Band of Twits." Soon, all the good names were used up, bringing the Big Band era to an untimely end.

With the advent of television in the early '50s, the Big Band sound enjoyed a brief resurgence - this time with the Latin flavor of Ricky Ricar-

Q. Where did the game of basketball get the nickname round ball?

A. Surplsingly, it was not derived from the spherical shape of today's familiar orange ball. Instead, it was a reference to geographical location as in the phrase, "that's what we play 'cound here."

In actual fact, the original game wasn't played with a ball at all, but a - in this unusual tribute to his own cacinder block. Since dribbling was reer. more difficult, this early game emswitch to a rubber ball occurred during the great cement shortage of

2. Poor fielding - Most reports concentrated on the fans falling asleep in the stands, but my investigation revealed narcolepsy in the outfield, too. This outbreak of frequent and uncontrollable sleep may explain why fly balls kept bouncing off our fielders' chests.

Q. Why did "Big Band" music fad . 3. Poor pitching — The problem here was a communication breakdown between coaching and pitching. What the pitchers thought was batting practice was actually the first five innings. Once they discovered the game had already started, their performance usually improved. Q. What will be the movie box-office blockbuster of the 1990s?

Definitely a sequel. I predict Sly Stallone will bounce back with the ultimate drawing card, "Rambo Versus Rocky." Taking a cue from the old "Patty Duke Show," Stallone will play both starring roles — the trigger happy veteran and the aging boxer, confronting each other in the fight of the century.

This time the epic battle won't take place in a steaming jungle, sweltering desert or Las Vegas boxing ring. It happens in a vegetarian restaurant. -

Sleeplessness is common problem

Dear Barbara.

I have difficulty sleeping at night. I both have difficulty falling asleep and staying asleep. Then during the day, I am often tired and cannot stop myself from napping.

The doctor has prescribed sleeping pills, but they make me feel groggy and from what I have read, can possibly be dangerous. I am in my late 40s and have had this problem for about five years.

Sleepless in Livonia

Dear Sleepless,

Your problem is common. Onethird of the American adult population complains of insomnia and 7-8. percent take some kind of sleep medication.

To diagnose and solve this prob-'lem, you must use many approaches. If you haven't already had one, a complete physical is a beginning. If no cause can be determined from this, then you need to go to a sleep disorder clinic, such as the ones that they have at Henry Ford Hospital or the University of Michigan Hospital.

At these labs, your sleep will be monitored, resulting in a greater chance for appropriate treatment which could be medical, psychological, behavioral or all three

Until then, some simple things to think about are the amount of caffeine you are consuming and the regularity of your particular cycle.3 It has been found that people sleep better and are more alert when they are aware of and maintain the same sleep-wake times. However, as I have said, nothing can substitute for detailed monitoring at a sleep disorder clinic,

Dear Lonely,

Yes, you have rights. There have been laws since the 1970s, which allow grandparents to initiate legal action when, because of divorce or death, their relationship with their grandchildren has been terminated without cause.

Those were the requirements for Glebe. Then what was a hobby grew bigger than that.

"I WAS always fascinated with balloons all my life," said Glebe, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University. "I just fell in love with it."

"The sport is a natural for ad-All of a sudden he was staring at a vertisement," Glebe said. "What you are is a 70-foot billboard."

GLEBE IS only interested in one sign on race day - the one marked with an "X."

A typical race involves a lead balloon, the hare, being released. The lead balloon travels for 30 minutes and marks off a spot. The hound balloons are then released, dropping two-ounce sand-filled bags as close to the "X" as possible.

The competing hot air balloons are launched two miles from the festival site and vie for the spot. Once there, they release sand-filled bags that are decorated with brightly colored streamers.

"Racing adds another dimension to a spectacular sport already," Glebe said. "Number one, it sharpens your flying skills."

Even Glebe can relax a bit and appreclate the beauty that ballooning has to offer. In a flight over Plymouth and through Novi, he lowers the balloon above a pond in a field.

"If you look below," he sald, peering over the edge, "you can see a reflection of the balloon."

The image of the massive red balloon perfectly mirrored in the body of water is met with a smiling pilot.

Phil Glebe gets ready to turn on the propane burners that will heat the air inside his hot air balloon and cause it to rise.

but in those days it was a busy industrial center full of looms, saws, mill stones and other ingenious devices that served the settlers.

Benmiller had its own water power, so Gledhill's Woolen Mill and Pfrimmer's Grist Mill stayed alive through World War-II, but by 1972 it was a ghost town.

IT WOULD probably still be a ghost town if a man called Ivy, nostalgic for the woolen blankets of his youth, had not driven this way while on a vacation in Grand Bend. There were the old mill buildings, tucked into the trees near two Huron County roads, with nothing but the road to let a traveler know that he was in the 20th century, approaching the

It took a lot of restoration and rebuilding, but the Woolen Mill opened as the Benmiller Inn in 1974 and the grist mill became The River Mill in 1976. By 1979, two wings had been added to the private home of former mill owner Vern Gledhill, a thirdgeneration Benmiller weaver. They are all part of the Benmiller Inn to-

If you ask directions in Goderich, they will send you in the back way -"Follow Highway 21 across the bridge, take a sharp right, go through Saltford, turn right when the road ahead turns to gravel and you'll see the red brick church on one side of the road and a small green sign for the village of Benmiller on the

Don't go too fast or you'll miss the right turn onto County Road 1 and the gabled rooftops of the inn while whizzing past in a blur of trees.

You check in at the Woolen Mill, with its bar, dining room and guest rooms. Old hands like to stay there because the rooms are in a slightly rustic setting, but many prefer larger rooms and suites a few hundred yards downstream in Gledhill House or the River Mill:

IF YOU STAY downstream, you drive away from the registration building with a clutch of keys — one to get you through the door of your building and into your room, one for the River Mill, where you can use the big indoor swimming pool, and two small keys for the mini bar and a second bar full of videocassettes in your room.

All the rooms, except those in the Woolen Mill, have a sink and refrigerator tucked away behind doors, with an electric kettle and toaster, as well as the fixings for a continental breakfast in the refrigerator.

A suite in Gledhill House is likely to be two big rooms with a king-sized bed in one, and the television, fireplace, couches and other accourtements of a living room in the other. All have small balconles so you can sit and watch the river.

If you stay across the road at the River Mill, your third-floor room has a big deck overlooking the river, the fourth-floor has a regular room, with a smaller deck, for less money.

If you insist on being busy, walk up the gravel road to the tennis courts at the top of the hill in season, take a bike and ride through the changing autumn leaves. You can swim in the Olympic-sized pool, or use the sauna, indoor jogging track and table tennis facilities at the River Mill.

IF YOU ARE allergic to that kind of exercise, walk around, with maybe one stop at the store, coffee shop and general store that are the sum of downtown Benmiller - it's the only shopping place for miles except for the gift shop at the inn.

None of this is for the budget-conscious. Rates are from $125 for a smaller room to $225 for a suite, including continental breakfast, plus five percent provincial tax. (Those prices are in Canadian dollars. Remember that $100 in U.S. money

Hines does encounter racism while loing his act. But he said after seeing him perform, people will sometimes change their tunes.

One man, he said, made racist remarks at the beginning of his show, and at the end, stood up to lead a standing ovation.

One of his quips on racism is: "I like prejudiced people because you can mess up their whole day just by showing up."

While he may make fun of relationships, Hines, who is single, said, the most important thing to me besides being famous, is being mar-

Darwin Hines was good for laughs in grade school, but it wasn't until he was laid off from Ford Motor Co. that he tried his hand at stand-up comedy. Hines has been going for the 'aughs ever since.

ONE OF the tough parts of being a comic is that in a room of 300 people, "there is nothing I can say that won't offend someone," Hines said.

"When people go to comedy clubs, they should keep in mind that comedians are just out to make them laugh," he said. "They should keep an open mind. The comedian does not know that this particular subject may upset you. If you start taking out material that would make you upset, there'd be nothing to joke about.'

Another tough aspect of life as a stand-up comedian is that "on this level you have to travel a lot," Hines

To really make it in the business, a comedian should also live in Los Angeles, said Hines, who plans to head for the West Coast one day.

HERI DONOVAN grew up in Farmington Hills and after a long circuitous route to find a career, is now back in that fown working at WLLZ.

"I was a secretary, a waitress, a bartender (after graduation from Farmington High School)," she said. "One summer I mowed lawns for a landscaper just so I could get a tan. It took a while for me to realize I was going to have to zero in on something definite."

The something she zeroed in on was classes at Specs Howard School of Broadcast Arts where she got onthe job, on the air training doing State Police news and some weather reports for AAA's Icycle Network

Getting with Gear: comfortable country

special writer

O YOU ever look around your living room in despair at the frayed sofa garnished with dog hair, the hand-me-down overstuffed chair the cat uses as a scratching post, the coffee table ringed by years of kaffee-klatsches?

Do you sometimes wonder if your complete collection of Bob-Lo snowballs are genuine collectables or just kitsch? Just push the stack of shelter magazines aside, sit down and relax. Chances are you qualify as "country." Don't think "frumpy," think "patlna."

And while you're at it, think of rating wizard credited with being ors. the "Father of American Country." According to Waites, the mark of decorator's skill is to make a room look lived in from day one. Scuff marks on the dining room chairs put you ahead of the game. Be proud of that philodendron in the stenciled most important thing in the world is a Diet Coke and a hamburger, and then it's time to come home," claims the ebullient Waites.

And, in a nutshell, that's how Waites became the "Father of American Country."

Speaking at the Michigan Design Center's gala preview party recently, Waites traced his design philosophy from Southern Victorian to pared-down international to country comfortable.

Right after coming back to the states, I bought a quilt and a piece of pine furniture, and I did a complete design turnsbout. My wife and I began to haunt country fairs and pine began pushing plastic out the door."

"We had been brought up," he continued," in the Southern Victorian tradition - our families had loads of heavy, ornate table silver, white damask tablecloths, etc., that was used once or twice year."

Soon after his "conversion," Waites met Bettye Martin, and together they decided to take her $5,000 and his talent, and start a company to design and produce good American design. Thus, in 1978, Gear Inc., was launched.

"MY PERSONAL TASTE led to may professional life," be said.

About that time, Waites and Mary

Emmerling wrote a book describing was happening in design. "American Country," still in print, made them the official parents of the American Country movement.

Gear Inc. was an immediate success. "The time was right - something was bubbling in the country," said Waites. "You can't make anything happen if the culture isn't ready. There was a resurgence of looking at our design heritage. Maybe it was a delayed result of the bicentennial."

Waites passed out some advice at his appearance in the Burger gallery. He urges the special use (to you) of pieces as the foundation of a Raymond Waites," the Jovial deco- room. Just don't use too many col-

If you mix it with off-white and gray blue, you can change the attitude of the room with very little money. Learn to build color and accessories.

"For a seasonal look in the summer, add yellow striped pillows and daffodils. Mums, a tablecloth and swags over the windows, all in rich "But there comes a day when the rush red, will carry the room into > Waites is predicting that country will assume a more opulent, almost baroque, look.

> WAITES HAS USED the same core colors in successive fabric collections to assure continuity. "Stone blue," for instance, has been around for eight years, in various patterns.

"I use my own taste as a barom-eter," said Waites. "Eight years ago, I designed a romantic chintz collection. Everybody predicted that it would never sell. It was our most popular collection, it's still selling

When asked_to define country, Waites described an encounter in a Finnish farmhouse: "Once, I was traveling in Finland 200 miles above the Arctic Circle. We stopped at a farm house, and there was an old woman weaving rugs from old clothes - and plastic shopping bags! The rugs were wonderful. They were much more durable than an ordinary rag rug because of the plastic. She has creating a traditional item in a traditional way, using non-traditional material.

"That's the true spirit of country. There are no rules."

Marais look over plans for a similar development by Bloomfield Hills residents Ira and Barbara Green in St. Ignace at a recent get-together at the home of Ron (left) and Mary Benish and Barbara Green's commitment to Michigan's Upper Peninsula has paid off in ways they didn't expect.

They've managed to make some money on a condominium project some of their friends thought was crazy. But more rewarding has been the knowledge that they were promoting the beauty of Michigan's upper peninsula as an affordable recreational retreat.

It's also resulted in a new "extended" family — made up of the 15 or so families who bought units in the waterfront condominiums the Greens built last year at Grand Marais, on the shores of Lake Superior.

An announcement of the development came via a feature story in the Observer & Eccentric in July 1988. The story noted that the Greens, both from Bloomfield Hills, were fans of the Upper Peninsula — particularly the Grand

WHAT THE STORY didn't talk about was the skeptleism of friends when the Greens decided to replace rental cabins with condominiums on land they owned.

But Ira Green, who owns a dental lab in Troy, said be could understand their feelings. After all, he said, he wasn't a "builder" in the construction sense of the word. But he also knew that what he lacked in expertise, he made up in enthusiasm for Michigan's upper regions.

Underscoring that enthusiasm was a commitment to preserve the beauty and integrity of the region. To make sure he didn't compromise either, he sought advice from others who felt as he did. High on his list was the Department of Natural Resources.

He was 'most familiar with . Grand Marais because he and Barbara had vacationed there for many years. In fact, he had camped in the area as a youth.

_THE PROJECT WAS a labor of love, so to speak — a belief that, if given the chance, others would probably come to love the area,

Almost from the announcement of the development, the reponse was overwhelming, Green said. Not only did all 18 units sell almost immediately, but a majority of the people were from this area," sald Green. The result is a strong association that has become "almost like

The comraderie is so strong that the group often gets togther "down here" long after summer ends for what the group technically calls "association meetings." Plymouth, for instance, is a favorite meeting place - probably because the association treasurer and her husband live in Canton.

ANOTHER UNEXPECTED benefit came from a friendship Green formed with one of the association members who happens to own a market research firm. The two men often commuted from the Bloomfield area to Grand Marais on weekends.

"In fact, we have gotten to be such good friends, that he has helped me make decisions about our next project,"-said-Green with a grin.
Oh yes, there's another project on the drawing board.

The Greens are in the midst of developing a similar waterfront development - this one in St. Ig-

"It will be basically the same disign as the development in Grand Marais, but the units will be slightly larger," said Green. One- and two-bedroom units will be offered in a price range of $65,000-$75,000. The Greens - like a lot of other folks in the state including Governor James Blanchard happen to believe that St. Ignace is the gateway to the north. The Greens see their latest venture as a way to oil the hinges a bit.

Spotlighting right-brainers

Last week's column described the attributes of people who are left brain dominant and how that affects their organizational abilities. Right brain thinking will be discussed to-

While everyone switches back and forth between the two hemispheres of the brain, about 10 percent of people depend almost entirely on the right side.

People who think predominantly with their right brain might be characterized as artists, or creative people. They tend to think in metaphors, images, spatial concepts and intuitive leaps of insight. They are concerned with the immediate experience of patterns, moods, feelings and atmosphere. Right brain people tend to be inspirational, attuned to music, movement and touch. They can be inner directed (unconcerned with other's opinions), impractical, spontaneous, lacking in discipline, irrational, holistic and sensual. They are non-sequential, (as in not time oriented) and often drag their heels and run late.

"Right Brainers" acquire their information kinesthetically (through touch and feelings) and process it in feelings-action-thought order. That is, they experience a feeling, act upon it and only then consider the consequences. They often want' things Right Now! These people are good at looking at a whole concept, while ignoring the details. When asked to describe a room, for instance, they might say it is "bright, sunny, spacious and makes me feel making love, dancing, impulse buying and overeating. Because they are not conscious of details or objects and tend to think horizontally, they may leave things laying around, save things and allow possessions to become disorganized. Their homes may have a "lived in" look.

Right brain activities include

Although right brain people may be impractical, they may also be extremely talented in ways left brain dominance would never allow. If they have jobs that demand left brain thinking, they may revert to right brain dominance even more dramatically at home.

"The Odd Couple Syndrome — Resolving the Neat/Sloppy Dilemma," a book by Selwyn Mills, Ph.D. and Max Weisser, ACSW, points out that opposites attract and life can be difficult when two opposites live or work together. The often amusing book states that when Neat and Sloppy meet, "sloppy prevails." Acceptance of the other person's traits is a key to barmony. Also, anyone can learn to use both brain hemispheres, but it is more difficult for a predominantly one-sided person.

Author Mills emphasized to me that brain dominance is "beyond value judgment" and should never be construed as "right" or "wrong," but merely different. This is only an outline sketch of their insightful book, which can be obtained by sending $14.95 (plus $1.50 postage) check or money order to Jamelson Publishing Co., 90 Schenck Ave., Sulte 114, Great Neck, NY 11021.

Builder uses energy saving as sales tool

By Doug Funke staff writer

Robert Snowden, a West Bloomfield developer trying to break into the business, figures that he has to use every available marketing tool to compete with the big boys and attract customers.

So he's decided to add energy-efficient touches to bre-engineered modular houses he customizes on scattered lots in the metropolitan area.

Touches like storms on the Crestline windows, insulation in the steel front door, 31/2 inches of extra insulation between floors, 1414 inches of insulation in the roof and two thermostats on the furnace - one for the second floor, the other for the first.

Snowden, president of the fledgling Ashley Development Co., recently was recognized by Consumers Power for exceeding standards set by the utility's energy efficient home award program.

"For me, the energy package is standard because I believe in making an energy efficient home," Snowden said of models offered by General Housing of Bay City.

"IF WE'RE going to become energy independent, we're going to have to pay attention to these things," he

He put skylights in the upstairs bath and master bedroom.

The main floor — two bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchen, bathroom and laundry - is 1,120 square feet.

A small Valliant model, gas-fired boiler furnace in the basement is rated at 85-percent efficiency, Snowden said.

The house is listed at $126,500 and includes the lot. The model alone would sell for about $90,000 with an unfinished upstairs, Snowden said.

BUYERS DON'T seem to be as fussy about energy-saving elements in a house today as they were a decade ago, Snowden said.

"In 1979-80-81, buyers were more energy conscious when the price of energy jumped about 50 percent," he said. "Prices have stabilized, maybe fallen, and they're not paying as much consideration.

"I think they will be in for a nasty surprise in a few years when they (prices) take off again," Snowden

Jim White, a marketing consultant for Consumers, agrees with Snowden, but believes that energy again is becoming important to buyers.

"I think people realize we've seen some relief (on prices) in the short term," White said. "In the long-term, energy is going to be an important resource to manage."

A study by the National Associapainroom upstairs and roughed in a __tion of Home Builders indicates that bonus room over the garage at the nearly 70 percent of new home Williamsburg Cape Cod model in the buyers rank energy efficiency high Pleasant Lake Highland Subdivision on a list of the most important con-

Snowden said he has R-44 in the ceiling, R-19 in the walls and an additional 131/2 inches of insulation with a rating of R-45 in the roof.

'Hot-water baseboard heat is quiet, it's even and it's efficient," he added.

The dual thermostats on the furnace - one for the second floor, the other for the first - also save energy. Snowden said.

The Williamsburg in West Bloomfield remains unsold in spite of the energy strategy taken by Snowden.

The big drawback is the nearly mile trek on an unpaved road up Halsted from 14 Mile, he said.

Appliances cut energy use

(AP) — Consumers can save close to $150 a year by using the most energy efficient appliances sold in the United States, according to a independent non-profit energy research group.

"There are many factors that consumers need to look at in purchasing appliances. Energy is one of them," said Steve Nadel, senior associate at the American Council for an Ener-

Because "one-third of the electricity produced in the U.S. is . consumed in our homes" the council recommends consumers pay closer attention to the yellow EnergyGuide labels affixed

"We are suggesting that people narrow their searches," Nadel said. The group's guide, "The Most Energy-Efficient Appliances" offers consumers help in doing that.

"If all the households in the U.S. had the most efficient refrigerators currently available, the electricity savings would eliminate the need for about 10 large power plants," the The makes and models surveyed by the council meet or exceed the minimum efficiency standards established by the National Appliance Energy Conservation Act of 1987, Nadel

The law provides that minimum energy efficiency standands for major home appliances be reduced by 10 percent to 30 percent and phased in over five years.

Using appliances and heating and cooling equipment costs an average household more than $1,000 per year," the report

"We estimate that these standards will save consumers at least $28 billion over the lifetimes of the products' sold through the year 2000," the report concluded.

BUT NADEL estimated buying the council's most energyefficient refrigerator, dish and clothes washer could save $148

The average family refrigerator is 18.5 cubic feet refrigerators with top freezers and automatic defrosters, Nadel said.

The council report rates a Frigidaire 18.6 cubic feet model as the most efficient in that size category. Based on a national average energy cost of 7.7 cents per kilowatt hour the booklet estimates the annual cost to run the Frigidaire refrigerator at

The average refrigerator that consumers replace costs about $112 to operate yearly, said Nadel. He calculated that consumers would save $47 a year with the Frigidaire model.

For two other common household appliances, dish and clothes washers, Nadel estimated yearly costs for existing models in most homes at $70 and $90 respectively. --

The council rates a White-Westinghouse dishwasher which costs $38 a year to operate and a Gibson front-loading standard size washing machine costing $23 a year to run as the most energy-efficient new models. The consumer buying these would save $32 and $67 over current costs.

Consumers can obtain a copy of the council's guide for $3 by writing ACEEE, Suite 535, 1001 Connecticut Ave. NW, Wash-

Avoid problems before they arise

Our project is about 15 years old. The president of the association, having read your column, has requested that we amend our bylaws. Several members of the board are concerned that an update of the bylaws would be expensive and not necessary particularly since "we've not had any problems over the years." Their philosophy is why change it if it has worked. Do you have any comments?

A: If the condominium project is 15 years old without any bylaw changes, it is clear that you have not taken advantage of major changes in the 1978 Condominium Act, which enhanced condominium association operation, as well as other changes to the act that took place in 1983 and thereafter. Moreover, 15 years of experience in condo operation have not been incorporated into your condominium documents, As one of the co-drafters of the 1978 Condominium Act, it was my desire to alleviate many of the problems or abuses that took place under the first generation of condominium documents and the first-generation condominium statute. Unless you incorporate the changes in the documents, they will not be applicable. Also the fact that you have allegedly not had any problems up to this point is totally irrelevant to the question of the need to update your condo documents. The idea of having good condominium documents, which are specific in regard to restrictions, etc., is to avoid problems before they arise to be able to deal with them effectively once they arise, including, if necessary, the commencement of successful legal proceedings to ensure compliance with the condominium documents. Get your condo lawyer to address the members of the board of directors or the members of the association as to the need to update your documents as soon as possible.

We are upset about the election procedure of our condominium association regarding a recent attempt to remove the directors. All of a sudden the board decided that they would strictly adhere to the requirements that only the designated voting representative could vote when, in the past, that was not their custom or procedure. We protested at the meeting,

condo queries

Robert M. Melsner

but they basically did it their own way. What can we do since we want to throw the directors out? Unfortunately, we were not represented.

A: The board of directors of your association cannot have their cake and eat it too. If in fact they were elected under a procedure by which they did not follow their own rules and regulations regarding the designated voter representative forms, but then decided to get smart in an effort-to make it more difficult for them to be unseated, you more than likely have a good claim that they have not been managing the association properly and have abused the election process. It is also more than likely that there may be other irregularities in regard to the election process, which should be reviewed by a competent legal adviser who is familiar with condominium association election procedures. You may find that you have a basis to set aside either the original election of the directors or the apparent election removal procedure, which you claim was fraught with error.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney specializing in condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit topics, which you would like to see discussed in this column, including questions about condominiums, by writing Robert M. Meisner, 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010. This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.

On October 16, 1989 the West Bloomfield Township Board may pass an ordinance to restrict the reasonable use of your property. This Ordinance would require you to provide an extensive surveying and engineering study of your property and even force you to submit to a public hearing if you wish to relocate or remove even one small 3" callper tree which you planted a few years ago. Do you want Government to take away control of your property? Can you afford more tax increases or a decrease in your property value? Protect your largest investment. Attend the October 16th meeting at 7:00 pm in the new Township Building located at 4550 Walnut Lake Road. Let your voice be heard before your land becomes their land.

anyday of the week. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday - Thursday; 8-5 pm Friday, We run over 10,000 ads a week and our phones get very busy on Tuesdays and Fridays. Call early so we can be sure to get your ad in the next Publication:

> 644-1070 852-3222

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What-would-you-like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish-your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

!. include the price. Don't vaste your time or a potential nuyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond o your ad will be those who are renuinely interested. Surveys how that readers are more interested in those items and ervices they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words:

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

SUBURBANLIFE'S MONTHLY ALBUM

Monday, October 16, 1989

Just for Brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcements of engagements and weddings.

Engagement announcements will be accepted no later than 45 days prior to the wedding. Wedding announcements must be submitted within 60 days after the wedding. All announcements are run on a space available, first-come, first-served basis.

Photos submitted should be black and white glossies, preferably 5-by-7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the office where the information was submitted. Or, if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo it will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills are to be addressed to Loraine McClish, Farmington Observer, 33203 Grand River, Farmington 48024.

Inquiries are taken by McClish or Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.
