The five were nominated for re-appointment by Mayor Robert Thomas.

A sixth commission member, Larry Dildine, wasn't reappointed.

THE WESTLAND City Council honored recently-retired city supervisor Mack Mayfield with a plaque Tuesday night.

The plaque was presented to the longtime department of public services employee by Thomas Brown, council president.

"I've worked for the city for 23 years and I've enjoyed every moment of those 23 years," Mayfield told council members and the audience.

Mayfield became the first black person to hold a city supervisory post when he was named DPS superintendent for water and sewer in 1970. He retired in late December.

Residents lash out against tax plan

By Tedd Schnolder staff writer

Angry Wayne-Westland Community Schools residents, including a Wayne Memorial High School teacher, spoke out against a proposed school tax increase Friday night.

The tax hike is one of three schoolrelated tax proposals on the Feb. 8 special election ballot.

"I've been watching for 17 years and I've seen Wayne-Westland go from one of the greatest districts to rock bottom," Dan Henry, a Wayne Memorial special education teacher, told about 45 residents attending a meeting of the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee.

"I'm not against millages and educating our kids, but I am against corruption and dishonesty," Henry sald.

Council reappoints planning, recreation chiefs

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

The reappointments of city planning director George Wilhelmi and parks and recreation director George Gillies were confirmed by the Westland City Council last week, but not before both were taken to task by councilman

Artley, the only council member to dissent, criticized the planning department's handling of rezoning and site plans, and accused Gillies of "playing favorites" on parks and recreation projects and personnel matters. In other confirmations Tuesday, council members unanimously approved retaining Diane Rohraff as city clerk, Charles Bokos as city attorney and the firm of Plante and Moran as city auditors.

MAYOR Robert Thomas had recommended Wilhelmi and Gillies for reappointment. Both directors were originally appointed in 1985 by former Mayor Charles Griffin.

"This is nothing personal against Mr. Wilhelmi, but my concern is over (City) Ordinance 235," Artley said. Ordinance 235 sets zoning guidelines and lists minimum size requirements for various types of development.

"Time and time again we let these guys (developers) get away with fulfilling the mini-mum requirements," Artley said. "I want more than the minimum.

"That's the only way you can guarantee top-quality housing stock," he said.

THOMAS SAID he shared improved housing

"You'll get support from me and you'll get support from George because George works for me," Thomas told the council.

"The building on Marquette (which houses the planning department) has to start appearing before this council on behalf of the city, not developers," said councilman Ken Mehl, who supported Wilhelmi's reappointment.

Friction between the planning and building departments needed to be "straightened out," Mehl said.

He suggested the building director be returned to the position of administrative liaison to the city's zoning board of appeals, a capacity currently filled by the planning director.

ON GILLIES' reappointment, Artley criticized the parks and recreation director's programming priorities. Lights for the softball diamonds and construction of a new parking lot and basketball court along the west side of the Bailey Recreation Center, projects initiated by Gillies during the last few years, should have taken a back seat to other projects, the councilman-Gilles ordered the addition of a weight room for the center and remodeling of a basement office without council approval, Artley

City settles up with newspapers over disputed help-wanted ads

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer

The post-election snafu over classified ads ordered by then Mayorelect Robert Thomas was finally settled last week as the Westland City Council approved payment for the November help-wanted ads.

The council unanimously approved payment of four bills totallng $807.54 to the Detroit News and the Observer & Eccentric newspapers. The invoices were voted on separately from the regular voucher list of city bills presented to the council at Tuesday's meeting.

The help-wanted ads were placed by a city employee at the direction of Thomas in late November as part of the transition for his term, which officially began Jan. 1. The ads sollcited applicants for a director of senfor resources and a water and sewer. maintenance supervisor.

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek was eventually re-appointed senior resources director and Douglas Tredinnick was promoted to water and sewer maintenance supervisor, replacing the retiring Mack Mayfield. Former Mayor Charles Griffin, who was defeated by Thomas Nov. 7, criticized Thomas' actions and said

IN A LETTER to the council last month, Griffin said that using the city as the advertising agent was "inappropriate" for "a private venture" and that payment of the bills would constitute "illegal expenditures of city funds,"

The outgoing mayor also reprimanded Nora Herbert, the city employee who placed the ads.

The (w)hole business keeps store on a roll

O MOST people it's just a doughnut.

To John Micallef, it's 16 years worth of hard work rolled into a bite-sized jelly or creme-filled cake.

Micallef is the owner of Dunkin' Donuts Store Number 569, or, "the doughput shop across from the Farmer Jack's store," the more familiar tag given to the small, neat building at the southwest corner of Ford and Wildwood by the Westland and Garden City residents who patronize it.

The doughnut business is rewarding, but far from easy, says Micallef. "I like the challenge. I like working with the public," the Brooklyn, N.Y., native says.

"Even though its tougher these days to get good help and to run a business.'

MICALLEF BOUGHT the franchise in 1974, after years of owning beauty shops and even a ally was just doughnuts and coffee, he says.

Today, he needs a kitchen capable of turning out soup, croissant sandwiches and - starting this week - bagels. All in addition to the 40 or so varieties of doughnuts, Munchkins (doughnut holes) and other baked goods.

On a typical day during a peak period (anytime the weather is pleasant) Micallef's store sells 180 dozen doughnuts, not to mention nearly enough coffee to fill a goodsized lake.

Micallef, who speaks four languages (English, French, Italian and Maltese), was raised in Europe by his parents before returning to the United States following World War II.

He lives in Plymouth Township.

Cops probe guard's death

BICKEL'S BODY was discovered by a maintenance worker at about 9 p.m. in a hallway in the office area of the plant, and about 100 feet from the security office. He was taken to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, where he was pronounced dead about 10:45

The victim had been dispatched to check an alarm on an open door in the plant at about 7 p.m. When he failed to report back with his superiors within an hour, plant security unsuccessfully attempted to contact Bickel and it was decided to conduct a search of the plant.

The worker who discovered Bickel's body was responding to a call for all employees to report to the main security office.

Investigators have not determined whether Bickel's check of the door alarm and his slaying are related. Murray said there were no signs that the door had been forcibly opened, and nothing appears to have been taken from the plant.

Because the parts plant was shut down for a three-day weekend in observance of the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday when the shooting occurred, there were only 12 employees on duty, compared to the usual workforce of 2,300.

MURRAY SAID it is not odd that the fatal gunshot was not heard by another employee, even though the shooting occurred near the security

"A plant that size has numerous strange noises all of the time even when it is not operational," he said. "There also is a series of doors and hallways that separate the security station from the crime scene, which would reduce the amount of noise ereated by the gunshot."

Murray said offering the reward was suggested by GM and the union to help police in their investigation.

"We are pursuing several areas of the investigation, but we can always use the extra help a reward provides," he said.

Bickel and his wife, Angela, moved to Westland after both left the Marine Corps in August. The couple has one child, 16-month-old

DURING A BREAK in the meeting, Anderson said he didn't want to be perceived as "anti-education" because of his position against the tax man and a former school board increase plan, "Every time you come out against a millage they (school officials) make it sound like you're against apple ple," he said. "That isn't the case."

"But we have to draw the line somewhere."

Committee chair says no to wiretaps

AP - Two of Michgan's most powerful politicians say police should be able to use wiretaps against drug kingpins, but the lawmaker now controlling the bill said he hasn't budged in his opposi-

Wiretapping is one of four ideas that Gov. James Blanchard pledged to push to the top of his anti-crime, anti-drug efforts this year, along with life without parole for repeat violent offenders, revised sentencing guidelines and a crackdown on racketeer-influenced and corrupt organ-

However, Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, said he's not letting the Senate-passed wiretapping bill out of the House Judiciary Committee that he chairs.

House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Birch Run, also supports the bill and said a compromise can be reached to satisfy Bullard. Bullard said he's yet to be convinced there's any need for the bill.

Blanchard' legal adviser, Michael Hodge, told reporters at a State of the State briefing last week that talks about the bill were making Bullard said he hasn't discussed it since he allowed a committee hearing Dec. 5 on the legislation. "I certainly haven't changed my mind, nor have we had any discussions," the lawmaker said.

"IF THERE'S a kingpin they want, then the feds already have wiretapping authority. I do see the real threat of police abuse; we have a history of that in our country.'

The bill has become a political football. During House sessions last year, Republican leaders threatened to try to force the bill from the committee. Dodak opposes such unfriendly moves and has promised to make every effort to prevent them.

Garden City Canton Township 427-8612 981-5600

Dodak said he'll wait until the release of recommendations by his Ad Hoc Committee on Criminal Justice, expected this month, before pressing the issue with Bullard.

The bill would allow county prosecutors and the attorney general to ask a court to authorize a wiretap in the investigation of suspected drug dealing. Authorities would have to show they first tried other ways to get the needed information, and show probably cause that a crime was being committed.

Sen. Nick Smith, R-Addison, the measure's sponsor, said he'd be willing to accept a compromise, perhaps limiting wiretap requests to the attorney general and allowing only Michigan State Police to run them.

"It would be too awkward for the governor having pushed this in two State of the States, not to have it pass," Smith said.

Hodge said Blanchard would continue to press for the bill until it be-

"IT SEEMS to me that if you avoid the tough issues and only ask for what you know everybody agrees: with, then you don't take care of tough problems that way," Hodge said. "You have to let people know where you stand."

"We have not quit on the issue. The legislative process is a process of give and take," he said of Bullard's adamant opposition.

Cleanup plan gets lukewarm greeting

By Wayne Peat staff writer

A report calling for a new $500 million bond issue to clean Michigan waterways was greeted with only lukewarm support from the man responsible for overseeing the Rouge River cleanup.

The report, sponsored by a group including a state trade organization for underground contractors, called for an end to combined sewers.

The outdated sewers -- containing both storm water and raw sewage - dump at least 16 billion gallons of pollution into Michigan waterways each year, according to the Clean Water Michigan report. Roughly half that goes into the Rouge.

Clean Water Michigan includes Associated Underground Contrac-

While Wayne County Public Works Director James Murray said he didn't dispute the findings, he doubted the report would have much influence.

"BECAUSE IT was commissioned by the contractors, 1 don't know how much influence it's going to have," Murray said.

Billed as the first comprehensive statewide study of combined sewer overflows, the report called for a new state bond issue to help communities build new sewer lines or retention ponds to separate storm water and raw sewage.

over 30 years," said Linda Headley, a spokeswoman for Public Sector Consultants of Lansing, which compiled the study on Clean Water Michigan's behalf.

Elimination of combined sewer overflows (CSOs) is the report's goal, Headley said.

Combined sewers, many at least a half-century old, carry both storm water and raw sewage to water treatment plants. During heavy rains, or spring thaws, the systems back up - dumping sewage into rivers and streams.

CSOs in Wayne and Oakland County have long been considered a major source of Rouge pollution. (Area sites are continued on the accompanying map.) "We found that combined sewer overflows dump between 16-20 billion gallons of contaminated wastewater each year," Headley said. "Of that, we estimated 7.8-8 billion gallons went into the Rouge."

Based on that figure, Rouge pollution alone would annually fill more than 400,000 backyard swimming pools. More than 2,000 gallons of pollution is produced for every Michigan resident, according to the report.

"WE BELIEVE this is the first time there's been statewide figures like this," Headley said.

Age of the CSOs is a primary concern. In addition to the possibility of cracks and leaks, Headley said the systems will soon be serving twice the number of people they were designed to serve because of population growth.

Rouge River Valley communities wouldn't be the only ones benefiting from the bond issue.

There are 588 CSOs, in 70 communities, statewide.

Regardless of the report's impact, Murray said work is already underway to clean the Rouge.

"There's $500 million in sewer work going on right now," he said, referring to the regional "super sewer" project involving Rouge Valley communities.

In addition, the county has received $400,000 in federal money to help eliminate CSOs.

Statewide, the Blanchard Administration also has implemented a revolving loan fund to help finance water pollution control projects.

"There's no doubt things will be done," Murray said.

First, medicines used to treat arthritis can cause blood loss, and second, the arthritis itself, particularly rehumatold arthritis, can stop the bone marrow from producing red blood cells.

If you have anemia accompanying your arthritis, and your red blood cells are "microchromic, microcytic," then possibly medication is irritating your stomach and causing you to lose blood.

It may be that you are anemic, and your red blood cells are "macrocytic." These findings could reflect that your arthritis medicine is interfering with the maturation of your red blood cells. Such interference is closely associated with methotrexate

If you are anemic, and your red blood cells are described as "normochromic, normocytic", then the red cells that you are making are normal. The problem is that you are not making enough of them. This altuation occurs when the arthritis itself interferes with bone marrow production of blood cells.

Thus, taking your blood counts helps your doctor assess both the side effects of therapy and the impact of the condition itself. The cost of such testing is small compared to the knowledge gained.

Capitol building offers a glance into the past

YOU WON'T find Elijah Myers' name in the standard Michigan history texts, but you'll hear a lot about him if you tour the restored State Capitol Building in Lansing this

Myers was its architect - "the greatest capitol builder of the Gilded Age," according to no less an authority than Senate Resolution 42. He designed the 1879 building you see on a little mound west of downtown Lans-

A lot of old walls and ceilings had been covered by false, modernistic, acoustical panels. Ornamental lights were replaced by neon tubes.

Lockers and copying machines stood in crowded corridors.

Even with restoration, there are still some flaws. Elevators are few and extremely slow. Heating is uneven. Some rooms are stiflingly warm. The press room air conditioning is so cold that during last summer's 90-degree weather, we had to wear coats, and someone even

There were jerry-built "overfloors" - half-floors tucked between the original stories. They cut across tall windows. The news conference room was on an overfloor you could reach from the second story but not the third.

Budget hearings were in an attached trailer, the home of the House Appropriations Committee. (Actually, it was one of the more comfortable places to work.)

THE SENATE wing restoration cost $5.4 million, or more than four times as much as the original $1.2 million construction price of the entire building.

Chairman of the project is Sen. William Sederburg, R-East Lansing. He argued it was cheaper to restore the old building ($45 million) than put up a new one ($210 million). Well, maybe.

Twenty or so years ago, Will Muller wrote a Detroit News piece saying the Michigan Capitol wasn't so great. Its design wasn't particularly pleasing to the eye, and its materials came from outside the state.

RONALD D. SHOWALTER

Muller's reasoning was impressive, but I'm still glad Sederburg's gang kept the old place. Victorian buildings were made to be user friendly, accessible to us common

In contrast, designers of modern governmental buildings go nuts with oppressive security precautions. If you enjoy being insulted, try to get into a courtroom in the Federal Building in downtown Detroit.

GROUPS OF 10 or more can tour the State Capitol free.

You'll see the Senate from the gallery (the House, too, when it's reopened in April).

Then there are the portraits of former governors. I still get a little chill at the painting of Kim Sigler (1947-8) because in the corner is his plane in which he crashed and died a few years after leaving office. Many need our help all year

During the holiday season, it was a pleasure to pick up a paper and read about warm hearted, charitable people reaching out to help those less fortunate. Church groups, unions, schools, business, neighbors, and our staff here at the Social Security office, were all busy helping to make Christmas just a little merrier for those in need.

However, it seems that once the holidays are over, we often forget that the disadvantaged still need our

The homeless, the mentally ill, battered women and children, the unemployed, the disabled, the elderly, may have special needs for assistance all year. I hope the Observer & Eccentric readers now will think about how we can help the needy year 'round.

Social Security may be able to help. Nationwide each year there are estimated thousands of people who are unaware they may be eligible for Social Security benefits. Supplemental Security Income pays cash benefits to people of all ages who are in need. SSI is paid to individuals who are aged; blind or disabled at any age (even children) with low income and resources. In some cases, people who are unable to work due to depression, alcoholism, drug addiction, and learning disabilities can qualify for monthly SSI disability benefits.

Social Security benefits are paid on the work records of wage earners who are retired, disabled, or deceased. The family of the worker can also be entitled to monthly cash benefits. The dependents include (but are not limited to) spouses, children under age 18, disabled "children" over age 18, divorced spouses, and even disabled survivors.

In the spirit of giving this season, let us extend a hand up, rather than merely a hand out. Be aware of possible sources of assistance. Refer someone who may be eligible for benefits to Social Security. Call tollfree; 24 hours a day, seven days a week for additional information about Social Security benefit programs. The phone number is: 1-800-

Help us meet our goal, that everyone who is eligible for benefits is receiving them. We look forward to receiving those referrals. Thank you for your cooperation.

Let's curb . vandalism

To the editor:

Recently I have been reading about vandalism. This problem has been going on for many months and something has to be done now to stop

Such incidents as driving on lawns. breaking into garages, spray painting signs, throwing rocks and beer bottles through windows of cars and homes, may be a result of the lack of police.

If we the people cannot stop this problem, it will just keep happening and more and more properties will be destroyed.

If we could get more police to help stop vandalism, we would all live a happier society and not have to worry about our property being destroyed.

Column was appreciated

To the editor:

A note of appreciation to Steve Barnaby for his excellent column on Dec. 21 titled "Mental illness still prompts scorn, fear."

As a psychologist practicing in the area, I too hear references and cringe at the attitudes regarding the emotionally ill person. We need to educate people to form an attitude of compassion toward those afflicted with an illness which may be entirely out of their control. It can happen to anyone, especially in the stressfilled society of today.

I was disappointed in an article which was in the same edition under Crime Watch in which someone was described as "kinky." Perhaps this was only a poor choice of words but we need to start somewhere if change is to happen.

Proposal seeks to cut school taxes

staff writer

Why does L. Brooks Patterson think yet another school finance proposal has a chance for voter approval this fall?

Didn't voters send a message last November by rejecting two so-called school tax reform proposals by nearly 3-to-1 margins?

"This tax cut proposal doesn't include a tax hike," Patterson said last week at the formal kickoff of a drive to cut property taxes and increase state financing for public education.

The proposal - called the Citizens' Tax Limitation Amendment -calls for a $550 million cut in properly taxes and an increase in the per-pupil amount of state aid to a guaranteed $4,100.

The proposal is expected to spark controversy because it would require the state to provide more than $700 million without raising other taxes

Wording for the petitions was approved on Jan. 12 by the State Board. of Canvassers in Lansing but a press conference was held Thursday in Bloomfield Township to kick off the petition drive.

'I think voters want a tax cut. But they don't want another tax hike with it.'

- L. Brooks Patterson

The drive seeks to get 239,180 signatures on its petitions by July 4 to put the measure on the Nov. 6 ballot.

A CONFIDENT PATTERSON. however, predicts the drive will gather more than 300,000 signatures - something that would provide a margin for error in addition to demonstrating popular support.

"I don't anticipate any problems," the former Oakland County prosecutor said. "People are fed up and they want a tax cut.

"Our biggest problem will be educating voters . . . and convincing them there is no gimmick."

Wording for the proposal was drafted by Patterson and Patrick Anderson, an economist with AlexThe tax measure is sometimes called the Patterson-Anderson Proposal.

The measure calls for cutting property taxes for school financing to a maximum of 30 mills (or $30 per $1,000 assessed valuation). The statewide average is about 34 mills (or $34 per $1,000 assessed valua-

Patterson said the state could cut taxes and provide more money for schools by simply limiting spending as the general fund increases as it has over the last decade.

The Legislature will have enough money to cut taxes and increase school aid if it limits increases in the budgets for state departments to 2 percent and puts aside other increased revenues, Patterson said.

"THE ONLY PEOPLE who will fight our proposal are entrenched bureaucrats," Patterson said.

Reminded of last November's election, in which two proposals for added money for education were rejected, Patterson said any message voters were trying to send was mudsaid. "But they don't want another tax hike with it,"

He was referring to Proposal A, which would have increased state' sales tax from 4 to 4.5 percent to provide more money for schools, and Proposal B, that would have boosted the sales tax to 6 percent, with the money being used to cut property taxes and increase school financing.

Proposal A was defeated, 1,341,292 to 514,407 statewide and 173,7212 in Oakland County. Proposal B lost 1,392,053 to 436,958 statewide and 191,392 to 22,505 in Oakland County.

State officials, including Gov. James Blanchard, are expected to oppose Patterson's proposal.

BUT ONE GROUP has already said the Patterson-Anderson proposal doesn't go far enough.

The group, formerly known as Citizens Unfairly Taxed and which included Patterson, is now part of Taxpayers United. Its ranks include William D. McMaster, a Birmingham publicist and former Patterson

Prior to Patterson's press conference last week. McMaster criticized the Patterson-Anderson proposal, saying it would not preclude future increases in property taxes.

McMaster said his organization will launch its own petition drive later this year.

Michigan GOP puts party line on hold gressmen toed the party line last year, while Republicans showed major streaks of independence.

Based on 207 votes monitored by Congressional Quarterly, the state's 11 Democratic congressmen voted with party leadership a combined 94 percent of the time among the highest displays of party loyalty among any delegation from any state. .

Reps. Sander Lovin, D-Southfield, and William Ford, D-Taylor, led the way, voting the party line 98 percent of the time each among issues on which they cast votes.

Levin's district includes Redford Township. Ford's district includes southern Livonia, Garden City, Westland and Canton Township.

Michigan's seven Republican congressmen, however, only voted with their party two-thirds of the Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, ranked second to colleague Robert Davis in voting independence among Michigan Republicans. Pursell voted with party leader ship 55 percent of the time. Davis. R-Gaylord, only voted with his party 47 percent of the time. Pursell's district includes north-

Support for President George Bush was greater among the state's GOP delegation, with members voting with the president a combined 71 percent of the time.

Broomfield's district includes Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Oakland Township, Rochester, Rochester Hills and Troy.

Despite his personal popularity among many of its members, the president received the votes of state Democrats a mere 30 percent of the time.

How to evaluate your options in light of the Detroit JOA.

The JOA has pretty much turned media advertising on its ear. Shockingly higher rates. New contracts. Uncertain circulation. In the midst of this turmoil, it's more important than ever before to take a careful look at the Detroit market.

Here are some facts to consider.

SPRING, the network of 45 suburban daily and weekly papers is now delivering more key customers for less money than either the News or the Free Press

Of all the newspaper alternatives, SPRING reaches the greatest number of people you want to much. More than 1,000,000 readers in more than 500,000 suburban households surrounding Detroit. Men and women with the spending power, smarts, and savvy to buy what you have to sell.

What's more, SPRING is efficient.

One sales rep, one insertion order, one ad copy, and one invoice does it all.

The bottom line? If you are a newspaper advertiser, you have a legitimate choice. You can look at the JOA as a new problem-or you can look at SPRING as a new solution.

Naturally, we hope you'll choose SPRING.

Grocery scene is chaotic

I think I've finally figured out why all grocery carts have kiddle seats.

I've seen frantic couponers load up the seats with shoeboxes full of money-saving coupons. I've also noticed purses bigger than bowling ball bags crammed into the tight spot. With a 6- and 4-year-old in tow, the seat serves as a sigh of relief for the grocery clerk who once watched my son topple 60 toilet paper packages when I asked my son to grab a yellow package while inadvertently turning my back to get a box of Cherrios.

A trip to the grocery store was recently turned into a chaotic attempt to stock the pantry when I noticed I was talking to myself trying to rationalize why I was buying one product over the other.

Trying to read labels while telling my 4-year-old that we don't buy sugar-coated Gummy Bear cereal and making sure my 6year-old doesn't totally rearrange the barrette display proved more difficult than I thought. As an educated, nutritionally aware consumer, I set off down the Yellow Brick Aisle in search of the Wizard of Food:

"I'M CONFUSED, O great Wizard. If I buy this product, will I get cancer? If I buy this other product, will I live forever?" I guess it's time I went back to Kansas or someplace I can shop for food without being besieged by kill-and-cure campaigns.

Home economists and nutritionalists say all it takes is common sense and enough time to make sound decisions based on reliable information. Common sense is no problem. We all can claim plenty of that. Time is something else again, especially when I've got two whining children shouting at the top of their lungs that they never get anything good. And if that doesn't get you, the elongated, whimpering, "pullllleeeeez" straight from the bottom of their little hearts must make fellow shoppers sure of the fact that my children are undernourished and never get what they want.

To this day, I stroll past the apple counter and still think about the Alar scare earlier this year. In contrast, however, I think nothing about opening up the dirty dishwasher and rinsing out a glass with a dried-milk-encrusted bottom. In all fairness to the apple growers, it was us in the media who contributed to the near panic which literally pulled apple products from school lunch programs and supermarket shelves.

The bottom line is that I guess I'm thankful to be a consumer who really does care what his family eats. I'm renewing my subscription to Consumer Reports and will continue my label-reading madness, searching out foods with more healthful benefits, and continuing to say, "No" to foods with hydrogenated palm oils and other high-fat-content items.

Instead of saying "No" to the kids when they grab Super Teddy-O's or canned pasta that supposedly contains enough salt to melt the ice on your sidewalk, I'm going to start asking them to make more healthy decisions. Let's skip the juice with only 10 percent real juice and instead get honest-to-goodness 100 percent juice. Let's curb our intake of processed Tater Tots and make more homemade real potato products. Let's make real macaroni and cheese.

So, dear Wizard of Food, grant me the temper to control two klds in the supermarket. Grant me continued good eyesight to continue reading labels and, most importantly, grant me the courage to continue saying "No" to food products that include unhealthy 100a aaaitives.

See recipes on Page 2B.

Weldon's Pasties in Livonia. The shop's owner, Weldon (Nick) ties brought over by Cornish miners were adopted by Finns.

Pasties: a handy meal

By Arlene Funke special writer

PIPING HOT pasty is the perfect meal to chase the winter chills.

That Upper Peninsula standby — a warm, savory meat pie that can be eaten out of hand — is a stronghold in the western suburbs. A rich, meat-and-potatoes aroma fills the air of such small, carryout pasty shops such as Weldon's Pasties and the Pasty Kitchen in Livonia. Jean's Pasty Shop of Redford boasts it has been in business for Ackroyd's Scottish Bakehouse, with locations in Redford and Birmingham, also sells several varieties of the popular meat pie. Albie's Pasty & Sub Shops, in Livonia, Garden City and Westland, ships its four kinds of pasties anywhere in the United States by

"I think the interesting thing about a pasty is it's a meal in itself," said Weldon "Nick" Hendrickson, owner of Weldon's Pasties. Hendrickson, a Farmington resident, hails from the Calumet-area of the Upper Peninsula. His shops are in Livonia, Sterling Heights and Keego Harbor.

The pasty (pronounced pass-tee) came to Michigan with Cornish miners who left their native Great Britain to work in Upper Peninsula copper mines more than a century ago.

ACCORDING TO eustom, miners wrapped freshbaked pasties in a towel and brought them to work. When lunchtime came, the still-warm pasties were eaten out of hand by the miners. The pasty was quickly adopted by the Finns who lived in the area.

Traditionally, a pasty is made up of small pieces of diced round steak, potatoes, carrots, onions and rutabaga. The ingredients are placed onto a crust which is folded over, trimmed and the edges

After baking, the pasty, which resembles a turnover, may be eaten warm or hot, either plain of with butter, catsup or beef gravy.

Of course, variations abound. Vegetables may be added or omitted, according to taste. Crusts can be made from packaged roll mix or frozen bread dough. As Hendrickson puts it, "Everybody has their own little recipe for pasty, just like stew.

"I started my business nine years ago because I couldn't get a good pasty," said Hendrickson, a former electrical engineer who claims Finnish descent. Weldon's recipe calls for a vegetable-shortening crust, filled with diced pieces of rutabaga, potatoes, carrols, onions, round steak and a little pork. Some shops omit the rutabaga, a vegetable that many people dislike and which sometimes is difficult to obtain. Jean's Pasty Shop used both shortening and lard to create a crust that is both firm and tender. Ackroyd's uses pull pastry crust. "OUR PASTIES are Cousin Jack," said Sue Koepfle of Redford, owner of Jean's Pasty Shop. Keopfle grew up on pasties made by her English-born mother.

"Cousin Jack means it is English style," Koepfle explained. "The Finns added carrots and peas."

Several years ago Koepfle's mother bought a shop in Detroit started by a Upper Peninsula man who

Ocean Grille great for seafood

There's nothing mysterious about the specialties at Birmingham's Ocean Grille. But there is a surprise. The extensive offerings of seafood dishes are in the mid-price range in a community where fine dining often Is synonymous with very high prices.

Reasonable pricing is just part of owner Craig Dilworth's strategy for carving out a niche for himself in the suburban dining arena. Former-director of operations for Chuck Muer's restaurants, Dilworth thought the area needed a "deluxe" seafood restaurant. Indeed, he was probably right. We tend to equate scafood with Chuck Muer's establishments, but the chowder, cole slaw and salty bread routine is getting a bit old.

Here, the bread is a mouthwatering French sourdough made on site. The house salads feature cold, fresh greens with a zesty honey mustard vinalgrette dressing. And finally someone has thought to dice the tomatoes and cucumbers before sprinkling them on the salad - no more unappealing tomato wedges!

Soups also are interesting, from a black bean with a dash of salsa to a billi-bl fresh mussel cream soup or an oyster stew.

THE DINNER MENU features a very good selection of entrees - not exclusively fish and scafood but predominately so. Special treatments make fairly standard items extra special - like the dill beurre blanc that added pizazz to our grilled salmon or the red pepper sauce that made our yellowfin tuna taste out of this world. We weren't as wild about the tarragon sauce that lightly coated our swordfish - but then swordfish isn't one of our favorites.

A shrimp and scallops entree with crispy pea pods was famastic. The seafood was poached in white wine and then served with a lobster sauce. The scallops were perfectly prepared, succulent and not a tad dry. Two other special entrees are the yellowfin tuna wrapped in zuechini and bacon and the perch fillets plccata in which take perch is sauteed In with butter, lemon, capers and artichokes.

Non-seafood entrees range from filet mignon to a fresh vegetable pasta and included a veal scallopini prepared with aged white cheddar and wild mushrooms.

The menu changes periodically, retaining the most well-received entrees and adding new ones to keep the interest of regulars. But with 26 entrees on the main menu and six specials the evening we visited, it would take even the most persistent regulars several visits to try every-

This is also a good spot for dessert and coffee after the theater. The "fabulous finales" are just that like the chocolate-chocolate raspberry torte or the Grand Marnler souffle - or whatever the pastry chef prepares.

This delicious soup amply feeds 4-6 people and can be made in advance and reheated just prior to serving.

It's a great recipe for using up any leftover chicken or turkey. Or you can do as Sharen Rose does, and microwave 2-3 chicken breasts - depending on the size - debone them and add the meat to the soup.

If you don't have a microwave, just cover the chicken breasts with water, and cook them for 25-30 minutes or until they are completely cooked.

35 cup wild rice (Regular rice may be substituted. Cook according to directions on box.)

2-21/2 cups cold water. 3-4 teaspoons (3 cubes) chicken bouillon

1/2 cup butter

1 small onion 1/2 green pepper, finely chopped 2 carrols, finely chopped

2 stalks celery, finely chopped 3-4 mushrooms, finely chopped 1 cup flour

11/2-2 cups cooked chicken or turkey, diced

3 cans chicken broth, (141/2ounce size)

1 pint half and half

Bring the wild rice, 2-21/2 cups cold water and bouillon to a rolling boil. Cover and simmer for 45-60 minutes.

Melt ½ cup butter in a large kettle or dutch oven. Add the chopped onion, green pepper, celery, carrots and mushrooms and saute until the vegetables are tender.

Add the wild rice mixture to the sauteed vegetables and stir in 1 cup of flour. Add 3 cans of chicken broth and the chicken or turkey meat and stir.

Add 1 pint of half and half and stir. If the soup should get too thick for your taste, add a little skim milk to thin it. Heat on low and serve.

PULL-APART HERB BREAD This recipe makes 2 ringshaped toaves, each serving 8, in two bundt pans. (Aluminum bundt pans are available at most large grocery stores.)

If you prefer to make a smaller loaf, cut this recipe in half. The bread needs to be made at least 4 hours in advance so it will have enough time to rise.

3 loaves frozen bread dough, thawed

1/2 cup margarine (or more, as needed) 14 cup Parmesan cheese

2 tablespoons parsley flakes 2 tablespoons garlic salt dill weed to taste.

Thaw, but do not let rise, 3 loaves of frozen bread dough. (Thaw in refrigerator overnight.). Cut each loaf into 12 pieces.

Melt the margarine in a saucepan. Add the cheese, parsley flakes, garlic salt and dill weed to Take 18 pieces and dip each into the saucepan and layer into 1 bundt pan. Repeat the process for the second pan.

Let the dough in each pan rise for 4 hours in a warm room until it has doubled in size. Bake for 30-40 minutes at 375 degrees. Turn onto a plate and be careful not to overbake.

LUCY'S FROZEN FRUIT CUP

This recipe was given to Rose by her neighbor, Lucy Morris. A refreshing salad, it is enough for 18 servings.

Unless you are serving this to company, you will want to freeze the extra fruit cups and use them with other meals. The recipe also can be cut in half to make a smaller amount.

1 can (17 ounces) apricot halves, drained and cubed 1 can (16 ounces) peach slices, drained and cubed 2 bananas, cubed

1 package (10 ounces) frozen strawberries

Notes

Come in from outside to soup, bread, salad

As winter continues to hold us in its grip, spring still seems very far off. And yet, one of the ways to make it go faster is to take advantage of the wonderful activities that the cold weather does provide. Whether you prefer ice skating, skiing, sledding or simply taking a brisk walk around your neighborhood, these activities are bound to stimulate your appetite as well as an appreciation for the season.

Sharen Rose of Canton is this week's apron winner' after her friend, Marnie Balog, submitted Rose's recipes for Wild Rice Soup and Pull-Apart Bread. Rose likes to end this meal with a Frozen Fruit Salad, which offers a refreshing contrast to the hot soup and bread. Because everything can be made in advance, this menu leads itself to entertaining.

Just imagine how much fun it would be to invite another family to go ice skating, sledding or whatever, and then come back to your home for a good and hearty, easily made

Rose, who is very accustomed to organizing activities, worked for 17 years as director of Huron Forest Camp Cherith. The camp between Oscoda and Tawas has offered many children an opportunity to escape the summer heat and participate in varied activities.

RECENTLY MARRIED, Rose adjusted her schedule and now works part-time as camp administrator. Although years of experience overseeing camp cookouts have left her very proficient at cooking over a campfire and making s'mores, her husband is justifiably proud of her culinary abilities. Dwayne Kelley U-D freshman

Kelley finds new life at U-D

By Brad Emons staff writer

WAYNE KELLEY had his hands full Thursday night down at Cobo Arena.

The University of Detroit freshman guard, a product of Redford Bishop Borgess High, was making his second start and things didn't come easy trying to stop Marquette's high scoring 6-foot-4 guard Tony Smith.

The first half I tried to play him straight up," Kelley said. "At halftime I told the coaches I could play him better if I forced him to his left. He seemed to pick up his dribble when he went to his left."

Chalk one up for inexperience.

Smith, who had 17 first-halfpoints, sprung for a game-high 32 in Marquette's 84-70 basketball victory over the host Titans.

"He's the best I'v played so far, better than Steve Smith (of Michigan State)," Kelley said. "But we knew how quick he (Tony Smith) was. We over 50 percent. knew that coming in."

SMITH, a seasoned senior averaging 20 points per game, has given Kelley and other opponents headaches all season. Back in December, Smith burned Michigan for 26.

Kelley finished with 11 points, five assists and two rebounds in 29 minutes. He did not make a turnover.

Going into the game, the 6-4 freshman was leading the Titans in threepoint field goal accuracy, shooting

On this night he made three of nine from three-point range, four of 14 overall.

"Dwayne has done a great job for us and in time he's going to be the guard everybody is talking about," sald U-D coach Ricky Byrdsong. "I'm definitely happy with what he's done for us."

At Borgess, Kelley was the pointguard for the state Class B runnersup, dishing the ball inside to such players as Parish Hickman (Michigan State) and DaJuan Smith (Eastern Kentucky).

As a senior, Kelley averaged 12.5 points and five assists per game, but was noted more as a slasher with good penetration moves to the hoop. His forte, however, was defending.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN University entered the picture, but backed off Kelley when he failed to meet Proposition 48 academic standards.

GC buzzes past Redford Union

By Ray Setlock staff writer

The Garden City and Redford Union basketball teams engaged in a brief skirmish late in Friday's game, but the knockout punch had already been delivered.

The Cougars, despite trailing by 16 points early in the game, beat the Panthers, 71-67, at Garden City.

RU got out of the gate quickly, jumping to an 18-2 lead, but Garden City narrowed the margin to 19-10 I following the first quarter and took a 21-20 lead in the second quarter.

"I thought we did an excellent job of battling back," Garden City coach Bob Dropp said. "Brian Hawkins, Kevin Gates and Jim Marszalek provided a spark off the bench in the first quarter. When they came in, we were losing and they gave us a lift."

RU coach Tip Smathers says the comback was due to a combination

"I BELIEVE we were getting a little tired and our defense wasn't as good," the coach said. "It rubbed off on our shooting and we didn't hit our :baskets."

The Cougars found themselves behind 30-27 at halftime and 50-47 following the third quarter, but Rick Morton's three consecutive layups in the final minutes secured the lead and the victory.

Soviets edge AISA all-stars in OT, 10-8

By C.J. Risak staff writer

When something new and unfamiliar comes to town, sports reporters turn into critics and give opinions on the product.

Indoor soccer was reintroduced to our town Saturday when the American Indoor Soccer Association all-stars battled the Soviet Unlon's Red Army team. The grades on this adventure are as mixed as the nationalities of the players.

• The play was quite good. The Soviet team got a goal from Oleg Sergeey 1:54 Into sudden-death overtime to edge the AISA stars 10-8. Peter Hattrup had tied it for the stars with 4:56 left in regulation, but Drago was the real AISA star.

He scored the team's first goal on a first-quarter penalty kick and set up the next two. The biggest mistake by the stars was not playing him in the third quarter so everyone got a chance to play.

The game itself was generally fast and exciting, although the scoring (one, two or three points, depending when and from where the goal is scored) can be confus-

Smaller Patriots overcome Churchill

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Franklin prevented city rival Churchill from pulling an inside job Friday, handcuffing the visiting Chargers in a Western Lakes Activties Association basketball encounter, 51-48.

The smaller and scrappe Patriots trailed by three early in the fourth quarter before rallying to beat the Chargers, now 5-2 overall and 1-2 in the Western Division of the WLAA.

Franklin, now 4-4 overall and 2-1 in the West-ern Division, was led by the ball-hawking and scoring of starting guards Keith Roberts and Craig Overaltis.

The two combined for 24 points (12 each), while senior forward David Barina and junior center Steve McCool added 10 and nine, respec-

Left-hander Mike Thomas, a 6-foot-2 Junior forward, led Churchill and all scorers with 21, while Mike Juodawikis, a 6-3, 215-pound senior,

Churchill's other front-liner, 8-6 junior Steve Calcaterra finished with six before fouling out

"We knew where they were going with the ball with their size," sald Franklin coach Rod Hanna. "Defensively there were no gimmicks. As the ball goes in the paint, we sag. It was just solid man-to-man principles and the guys reacted nicely. The rotation was there."

HANNA WAS PLEASED with the way his team played Churchill to a standoff in the rebounding department.

"I'm happy with the defensive effort," he said.

basketball

"The guys hustled and hit the boards decently.

That's what we had to work on." Churchill coach Fred Price was literally in a foul mood afterwards.

His team committed 20 fouls (to Franklin's 14) and made nine of 13 free throws (to Franklin's 16

"I'm just looking for more consistency in the calls," said the Churchill coach. "They shoot more free throws than we do, and they're pressing, and we're in a zone.

But we could have taken charge a little better. Give the Franklin kids credit, they scrapped all the time."

The Chargers shot only 19 of 54 from the floor (35 percent) and missed several good scoring chances right around the hoop.

"We had a weak inside game," Price said. "I thought we should have dominate more than what we did. At times we forced things, but we didn't move well or post up strong. We needed to be more authoritative inside. We didn't play good enough inside to win the ballgame."

FRANKLIN SHOT much better from the floor, 19 of 41 for 46 percent, but the Patriots never enjoyed more than a five-point advantage until there was 1:11 to play when Overaitis hit a pair of free throws to make it 51-44.

Churchill led 11-10 after one quarter before Franklin took a 20-19 halftime lead.

The Patriots led 37-36 after three quarters before Churchill jumped out 40-37 on two free throw by Calcaterra and a basket by Juodawlkis early in the fourth. Franklin rattled off eight straight points sparked by a pair of layups from Roberts. "Those breakaways hurt us," Price said. The 5-8 sophomore, who made a couple of key steals down the stretch, was intentionally fouled by Thomas with 1:31 to play. With the Chargers only down two, 46-44, Roberts hit both free throws and McCool added another to help secure the win.

"This young man (Roberts) is going to be one of the better players in the area somewhere down the road," Hanna said, "We like him a lot. He's going to grow physically, emotionally and mentally. He's a gym rat."

OVERAITIS (six assists) and Barina (six rebounds) also made strong contributions. (John Santi led Franklin with eight rebounds.)

"Craig did a good job running the offense as well as the defense," said the Franklin coach. "And Barina helped us a lot defensively and offensively, and on the boards for the time he played. He's only 6 feet, 140 pounds, but he's a good leaper."

Contributing to Churchill's failings with their inside game may have been compounded by the lack of outside shooting.

The team's top scorer of late, Kevin Hannigan, finished with just two points.

"Our outside game was not what it could been . . Kevin had a flat night and then he was reludtant to shoot," Price said. "But we didn't play good enough inside to win."

Stevenson trailed early, 1-0, but quickly turned the tables in this Suburban High School Hockey League matchup. The win upped the first-place Spartans to 5-1 in league play, 6-4-1 overall.

Scott Johnson knotted the score at one apiece in the first period on a bang-bang play set up by Chris Johnson and John Labadie. The Spartans tallied six times in the second period. "That line played really well all night," said Stevenson coach Paul Ferguson. "They really came out hustling in the second period and fired the rest of the guys up."

John Brodhun, Clark, Scott Duvall (first goal of season), and Kevin Bush finished the second period flurry. Labadie finished the scoring with

Spartans, Chargers are neck-and-neck

Stevenson's defense against Lahser was typical of the treatment most other conference foes have received; the Spartans have only given up seven goals in league play.

G.P. SOUTH 4, FRANKLIN 1: Where's the offense?

Livonia Franklin presented this question Wednesday at Grosse Pointe South. The Patriots managed to get outshot 42-9 during a 4-1 loss to the Blue Devils.

Franklin's offense sputtered, with Rob Burr scoring the Patriots' only goal on a pass from Mike Nutting. "Our forwards had a lot of trouble breaking through

Lady Ocelots suffer setback

Schoolcraft College's stay atop the Eastern Conference's women's basketball standings proved tenuous after all.

When the Lady Ocelots eased past perennial powers Highland Park CC and Oakland CC in backto-back meetings, it figured their first-place reign would last a while. Mott CC, however, had different ideas. The Flint-based team hit 16of-21 first-half shots (76 percent), which set the stage for its 80-68 ubset Wednesday at Mott.

"I've got to give Mott credit," said SC coach Jack Grenan, whose team fell to 10-4 overall, 5-2 in the conference. "Mott played a heckuva game. Everything was rolling their way, but they took advantage of every roll."

Those rolls started early. While SC was ice-cold in the game's opening moments, missing its first five shots, Mott was hot, making fivestraight to go up 10-0. The lead eventually reached 18 before the Lady Ocelots got their game together, pounding the ball inside to Barb Krug and Lisa DePlanche.

KRUG WAS particularly effective. She had 10 first-half points as SC battled back to make it 37-32 at

"We slowed it down and really worked it hard inside," said Grenan of his second-half strategy. It worked to an extent, as SC three times pulled to within four points. But Mott always had an answer, making seven-of-nine threepointers (78 percent). For the game, Mott made 68 percent from the field.

Shannon Coesel was Mott's major long-distance gunner, converting four triples and scoring 16 points. Shelly Roberts led with 21 points; Stephanle Roberts had 16, 14 coming in the second half, with two treys. Krug continued her tough play inside in the second half, scoring 15 points to finish with 25 and 14 rebounds. DePlanche got 10 of her 12 points in the final 20 minutes and grabbed nine rebounds. Tricia Lucas contributed 13 points and eight boards.

The loss dropped Madonna to 2-7 overall, 2.6 against NAIA foes. Northwood is 9-8 overall.

Flint Mott makes apple sauce of SC

There were two places where lead, however. Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team couldn't match up against its Wednesday night visitors from Mott CC: in the starting continued to apply a full-court lineup and on the bench.

In other words, talent levels were vastly different. The final score reflected it: 110-74, in Mott's favor.

I've seen," said SC coach Dave Bogataj. "After this, I can't see how they lost by 40 to Oakland (CC)."

Mott quickly quashed any threat of losing in the early moments of Paige (20 points), Carlos Fordham dle Mott's first five. (12) and Van Evans (10) doing the damage, Mott had a 58-41 cushlon by halftime.

The Ocelots' second-half comeback lasted about two minutes. Tony Rumple nailed a threepointer — his fourth of the game to make it 61-46. Fifteen was as big a dent as they could make in Mott's

A FORDHAM putback with 13:30 to go made it 80-50 as Mott press on shorthanded SC. The biggest spread came with 1:49 remaining on a Reggie Glover slam, making it 106-68.

Everyone played for Mott, and "That's the best group of athletes almost all of them scored. The same was true for SC, except the Ocelot bench — decimated by the loss of five players to academic woes earlier this month - was no better suited to handle Mott's the second half. Agatha makes it 3 straight wins

Just 10 days earlier, Redford St. Agatha's Jim Murphy confessed that he was about as low as he had ever been as a basketball coach. His Aggles, Catholic League C-D Division champions in 1989, had started the current campaign with eightstraight defeats.

But trends can change quickly in the world of high school hoops, and this one did for St. Agatha. On Friday, the Aggies methodically rolled past Marine City Holy Cross 67-54 at

It was their third-straight triumph, all coming in the C-D Division. They are 3.8 overall. Holy Cross slipped to 2-7 overall, 1-4 in the division.

With three players reaching double-figures in scoring, St. Agatha built a 16-10 first-quarter lead and increased it to 33-24 at the half. Holy Cross trimmed it a bit after three quarters (48-41), but the Aggles outscored their foes 19-13 over the final eight minutes to insure the win.

Brian Kutch led the winners with 19 points and 15 rebounds. Jeremy MacNicole had 14 points and Ken Kroll collected 11. Larry Venuk paced Holy Cross with 20 points; Andy Bauvais had 14 and Dave Kleckner 13.

BORGESS 72, DeLaSALLE 69: Shawn Respert's 19 points, including five-of-six free throws in the fourth quarter, helped keep Redford Bishop Borgess unbeaten in the Catholic League's Central Division Friday against visiting Warren DeLaSalle.

It wasn't easy for the Spartans, now 9-1 overall and 4-0 in the division. DeLaSalle is 5-3 overall, 2-2 in the division.

The Pilots had a 36-31 halftime lead, but Borgess outscored them 23-13 in the third quarter to go ahead. Poor freethrow shooting by the Spartans (13-of-24 for the game, 54 percent) allowed De-LaSalle to stay close, but Borgess pre-

Joining Respert in double-figures scoring were Artle Brown and Randy White with 16 each and Reshawn Sumler with 10. Larry Bensen topped DeLaSalle with 26; Mark Prylow had 18.

NOTRE DAME 87, RED-FORD CC 79: Matt Putti put on quite a long-distance smoting display for Redford Catholic Central Thursday - he drained eight three-pointers, including six in the fourth quarter - but it was too little, too late Thursday against visiting Harper Woods Notre Dame.

That's because the Fighting Irish (2-2 in the Central Division) scored the game's first 18 points and had a 25-6 lead by the end of the opening quarter. They increased their advantage to 44-22 by halftime and were still up 64-46 entering the final period. Putti finished with 29 points for CC (2-7 overall, 1-3 in the Central), 18 coming in the fourth. CC's Steve Whitlow also turned in a sparkling performance with 25 points - 12 in the last quarter. Jon Barbara added 12.

Ray Ricken's 18 points was best for Notre Dame; Mike Balow had 16 and Ron Stempin 11.

WAYNE 60, TRENTON 34: Kevin Hankerson's 15 first-half points spurred Wayne Memorial to a 31-15 halftime lead Friday at Trenton as the Zebras recorded their ninth win in 10 games and kept their Wolverine A League slate perfect through seven games. Hankerson ended with 24 points and eight rebounds. Wayne was never challenged after outscoring the Trojans (3-6 overall, 2-5 in the WAL) 20-8 in the second quarter. Pierre Hickson added nine Trenton got 12 points from Chris Mace.

STEVENSON 71, GLENN 48: Westland John Glenn had hardly been overpowering this season, although its record was a lofty 6-1 overall before Friday. The Rockets only ioss had been to Livonia Stevenson; Friday they were seeking vengeance.

They never got close to it. As Stevenson assistant coach Wayne Henry described it, everything went right for the Spartans, who improved to 5-4 overall, 2-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Lakes Division.

"We fast-broke well. They tried to press, play man, zone - nothing worked (defensively) for them," said Henry.

Stevenson led 20-12 after one quarter and 35-27 at the half, but it was the third quarter that was decisive: a 24-10 Spartan surge. Steve Leonard and Rick Laven reach had 18 points for the winners, with Ron Baran adding 15.

Eric Spencer's 15 points was best for Glenn, which slipped to 6-2 overall, 2-2 in THURSTON 83, TAYLOR CENTER 49: After the first quarter, Redford Thurston simply ran the visitors from Taylor Center out of the gym Friday. The Eagles outscored Center 24.9 in the second quarter, 24-18 in the third and 17-8 in the fourth in romping to their seventh win in 10 games.

D.J. Kellogg's 20 points led a contingent of five players to reach doublefigures in scoring for Thurston, which improved to 6-2 in the Tri-River League. Khari Spence added 14, Julius Maisano had 12, Jamie Zalewski 11 and Danny Perttula 10. Kellogg also had 14 re-

Isaac Branham's 16 points was best for LUTH. WESTLAND 63, N.B. WESLEYAN 53: A bit of intensified second-quarter defense allowed Lutheran Westland take control of Friday's game against visiting North Branch Wesleyan.

The win improved Lutheran Westland to 3-5 overall, 1-1 in the league. North Branch is 6-4 overall.

Trailing 17-15 after one period, Lutheran's man-to-man defense turned the game around in the second as it outscored North Branch 16-7. Chris Habitz had another solid all-around game with 23 points, 16 rebounds and eight assists for Lutheran; Doug Nelson added 16 points and nine boards, and Mike Hardies got 10 points and seven rebounds. Gary Swadling and John Cox each netted 19 points for North Branch. TEMPLE 72, BETHESDA 60: Marion Reed's 27 points ignited Redford Temple Christian Thursday at Warren Bethesda. The Patriots, 5-3 overall, built a 59-43 lead by the end of three quarters.

The loss dropped the Trojans to 3-5 overall, 0-3 in the Metro Conference. Lutheran West, which got 23 points from Dave Stewart and 14 from DeShawn Meadows, is 1-4 in the Metro.

ROEPER 60, HURON VAL-LEY 39: Bloomfield Hills Roeper rolled to a 33-13 halftime lead over visiting Westland Huron Valley Lutheran Friday and coasted from there, winning its fourth-consecutive Michigan Independent Athletic Conference game without a loss. The Roughriders are 7-2 overall.

GC UNITED 58, GREATER LIFE 55: Garden City United Chrisitan battled back from a seven-point deficit after three quarters (48-41) to edge Pontiac Greater Life Friday in Pontiac.

A fourth-quarter defensive change, to a half-court diamond-and-one trap, "caught 'em by surprise. They just couldn't handle it," said GC United coach Randy Peter-

Instead of sitting out a year, CMU withdrew its scholarship offer, particularly after coach Charlie Coles went out and signed two other guards, including All-Stater Sander Scott of Northport.

That meant Kelley was out of circulation awhile, a year to be exact.

He moved to Florida with his father Walter, who took a job with the Miami Herald Newspapers. Suddenly, Dwayne was literally back in circulation, working with his father and uncle in the newspaper's distribution

While working in the warehouse, young Dwayne also took a part-time

"Basically I worked a job and played a lot of pick-up ball," Kelley recalls. "At first I felt bad, but coach (Mike) Fusco (of Borgess) stuck by me 100 percent and he got it in my mind to be patient.

BYRDSONG, in his second season as coach at U-D after coming from Arizona, had never seen Kelley play, but liked what he saw on videotape. "People who saw him knew he

Preps gearing for playoffs

IGH SCHOOL BOWLING teams are now forming for the Second Annual Michigan High School Bowling Champlonship Tour-

Entry forms have been sent to 346 school districts in southeastern Michigan.

A major change from last year is that there are now separate divisions for boys and girls. A school can now enter either gender. If you are a high school student and interested in this event, check with your principal to see if your school is participating.

Last year, 45 schools from the metropolitan Detroit area took part in the event with Sterling Heights Stevenson capturing first place.

Dates for the event are: April 28 or 29 for qualifying, May 13 for the semifinals and May 20 for the finals. Entries must be turned in by March 21. The team entry

The tournament is sanctioned by the Y.A.B.A., and all bowlers must be amateur athletes (not having competed for money in the adult leagues).

· Teams will consist of four bowlers and two alternates. Scores will be based on scratch totals and no handleaps will be used:

The qualifying round will reduce the field of 32 teams based on total pins for three games. The semifinals will be based on head-to-head competition. The winner will move ahead to the next round. Bowlers can compete only for their school.

The location for this year's event will be Savoy Lanes in Pontiac at M-59 and Telegraph Road).

• The Michigan Bowling Proprietors Association's Bowling-Charities Tournament is now under way. It runs from Jan. 22 to Feb. 4. Every bowler is asked to contribute $1 to the fund. This gives the bowler eligibility to compete further in the local, regional and state events.

The fund supports a variety of charities. Each bowling center can designate a particular cause to be supported. Some bowling centers may offer incentives such as free games during open bowling.

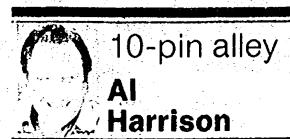

This is a most worthy event and all leagues should support it 100 percent.

Stars' look alikes: Making the most of a resemblance

By Debbie L. Sklar special writer

Take away the spiked wig, tight-fitting mini skirt and stiletto heels a la singer Tina Turner style and Dearborn Heights resident Tracey Jay is your average attractive female — almost.

Discard the 15-pound sequined shirt, microphone and flashy performance a la Neil Diamond and you've got Utica homeowner Jay White.

Transpose the long flowing jackets, trendy jewelry and dangling earrings of Southfield shop owner Leslie Pilling into denim from head to toe and you've got a dead ringer for actress Ali McGraw.

Even though these three individuals share look-alike status with some of the world's leading celebrities, they still want to be taken seriously as themselves.

"I've decided to give up the Tina Turner act after the first of the year and begin working on my own musical career," said Jay, who has performed in a variety of settings ranging from Las Vegas to corporate parties as the "Private Dancer."

Does she look like Turner?
"Sure, when I put on all the make-up, tight fitting clothes and wig," she said. "But really there is quite a difference between Tracey and Tina. Tina is loud, brash and raunchy. On the other hand, Tracey is quiet, shy and more conservative."

Her manager at BTB Productions in Birmingham said: "Tracey has the voice and the ability to make herself a big star. She's going to big or bigger than any star out there now."

JAY, 24, SAID she has dreamed of being a singer/performer ever since she was a young child, growing up with her parents in Toledo, Ohio.

"I remember I used to stand in front of the mirror pretending to sing into a hairbrush; I used to imagine that it was a microphone," she said.

Most recently, Jay cut a demo tape under the direction of BTB Productions, and her manager said she sounds like one of her musical idols, Barbara Streisand.

"I've always admired Diana Ross, Janet Jackson and Barbara Strelsand," she said. "I'm ready to make my name a household word just like these ladies have. Besides there's already a Tina Turner, but there isn't a famous Tracey Jay

"I guess you could say that I've had enough of being someone else. I'm ready to be myself and what I want most of all is to become a legend."

And when it comes to legends, one could say that pop singer Neil Diamond fits easily into that category.

Perhaps the person who best knows Diamond other than the legend himself is White. At 34, he is a dead ringer for the real thing. He has been singing songs and performing as Diamond since 1981.

He recently signed on with a hotel in Las Vegas, The Imperial Palace, where he will become a full-time performer in a show titled "Legends in Concert."

"There's just something about Diamond's music that has always sat well with me," he said. "He's so good at what he does, it still amazes me."

ALTHOUGH HE has never met the entertainer in person, he has seen him in concert "numerous times over the years."

"I remember I went to one of his concerts once and I was sitting in the front row," he recalled. "One of the lights shined on my face and Neil saw me, pointed and just kind of laughed."

White, who started his career performing at the former Mr. F's Club, grew up in Detroit and later attended Wayne State University and Macomb Community College, where he majored in liberal arts.

"I did a little singing and theater in those days, but I really didn't know what I wanted to do with my life," he said.

He became interested in portraying Diamond 10 years ago when audiences started comment-

Old mill is 'fodder' for a pleasant stay

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

It is only a fluke of nature that makes the Grand River stumble downhill in a roar of rapids in front of the Elora Mill. In the mid-19th century, those rapids turned the wheels so ploneers could crush grain for bread at the edge of the wilderness.

In the 20th century, it means relaxation for anyone willing to drive three or four hours into Ontario for a few days away from home.

We love these historic inns, although it's all an illusion. Most of us would hate the real 19th century accommodations — corn husk mattress on the bed, mud and manure in the street — but we love the illusion that modern innkeepers like Crozier Taylor and his son Tim create with spring mattresses and paved streets.

If you stay in a room high up in the fivestory stone grist mill, you can look downriver to where the Grand River has cut an 80-foot gorge into the cliffs, or down the village street, where small shops sell antiques, candles, paper goods and other things.

The Taylor family were distillers and brewmasters in England and came to Upper Canada, now Ontario, in the 1830s to brew beer near the Niagara River.

Crozier Taylor — "call mc Crow" — recently got the name Taylor and Bate back from the beer conglomerates and uses it on a small handmade beer he makes at his second inn, the Queen's Inn, in Stratford.

"People wouldn't really like the brew we made 100 years ago, but they love this one," Crow sald.

CROW SPENT his working life in the insurance business before he "retired" and became an innkeeper, first in Niagara-on-the-Lake and now in Elora. Elora is about 50 miles west of Toronto and about 200 miles north of Windsor. Take Highway 401 to Guelph and Highway 6 to Elora.

Several mills had been on this spot, but they burned down in 1859 and again in 1870. The last miller, Norman Drimmle, bought

'Music Box' is off key

The Holocaust was — and is such an incredible tragedy that we are in harm's way whenever its lessons are not taught with clarity and specificity.

Despite extensive media examination of Hitler's horrendous attack on the Jews - and on the rest of humanity - not too many years ago Pol Pot committed genocide on several million of his own people and he's presently on the way back to power.

In a small way, movies like "The Music Box" (C-, R, 123 minutes) are responsible for the equivocal collective impression about the Holocaust and its meaning to humanity.

The film fails despite rather fine performances by Jessica Lange as attorney Ann Talbot called upon to defend her father, Mike Laszo (noted German actor Armin Mueller-Stahl). Mike is subject to deportation proceedings on the charges that he lied on his citizenship application and, in reality, is a notorious and brutal Hungarian war criminal.

Constantin Costa-Gavras ("Betrayed," "Missing," "State of Seige," "2") is well known as a director of films condemning fascist brutality, no matter where its locale.

HAVING SUFFERED as much as he and his family did — first from the Nazi occupation of Greece during World War II and then from the right-wing Greek government, one would expect a more forthright conclusion to this statement about one promise of the most vicious chapters in human history.

Instead, "The Music Box" plays a pretty thin tune. In fact, the lastminute and unbelievably fortuitous discovery of photographic evidence in the instrument of the title is hardly convincing, particularly since one person in those photos Istvan Boday (Sol Frieder) — looks precisely like a victim supposedly photographed 40 years earmer.

Even more damaging to the film's credibility, there is no attempt to link the Hungarian war criminal's 1940s ID photo with the accused, Mike Laszlo. There's absolutely no resemblance. By the way, it's the same visage in the atrocity photos noted earlier.

Nor does it seem reasonable in the American justice system that witnesses would be confronted with only one photo — "Is this the man who did those terrible things?"

Despite tons of circumstantial evidence, no direct link is established. What happened to "beyond a reasonable doubt?" The fact that the federal prosecutor Jack Burke (weakly played by Frederic Forrest) is apparently only after Nazi war criminals to assuage his own guilt doesn't help matters one bit.

IT IS THIS sort of equivocation that undermines what ought to be a vigorous statement against the evil of genocide. It is the film's fatal

"Enemies, A Love Story" (R) also deals with the Holocaust. A man emotionally involved with three women is quite understandably upset when one of them, his first wife whom he thought was dead in the Holocaust, shows up to confront him, his second wife and his mistress. ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Branagh: A bold Henry V

By John Monaghan special writer

With Laurence Olivier barely cold in, his grave, can a 27-year-old upstart, really make Shakespeare's "Henry V" his own? You can discover for yourself when Kenneth Branagh's bold new adaptation opens at the Detroit Film Theatre this week-

Though unavailable for advanced. screenings, "Henry V" promises to be an amazing film that takes the 'historic tale well beyond The Bard."

"My greatest desire was to make it look like a film of today," Branagh has said in interviews, "to take the curse of medievalism off it, so that the 'Batman' audiences could conceivably be persuaded to see it."

He has also made a film with aims strikingly different from Olivier's masterpiece. In 1944, Olivier was at the height of his charm as a matinee idol. His noble king's victory over the French at Agincourt was tantamount to victory over the Nazis. Nothing of the sort here.

BRANAGH, WHOSE beefy frame holds a pugnacious Irish face, doesn't see Henry as a gentle, romantic hero thrown into a fervor by the banners of war. Henry begins and ends here as a hungry, conquering king who thirsts for French blood and throws over good friends in the process. The war scenes are far from romanticized. Where Olivier filmed a dreamy Arthurian battle, Branagh unreels a bloody, muddy massacre where French troops more easily succumb to a slip in the slime than their opponents' might.

After the victory, Branagh's camera shows the horror that war has wrought. In an extremely long tracking shot, Henry surveys the carnage with a dead servant boy thrown over his shoulder. Aside from Branagh, the film features a bevy of familiar faces from stage and screen - Paul Scofield, Ian Holm, Derek Jacobi, Alec McCowen and Robert Stephens. Emma Thompson, the talented TV actress who recently became Branagh's bride, appropriately plays Henry's queen.

The story behind the film also is fascinating. Though he worked on a handful of features and TV's "Masterpiece Theatre," Branagh knew little about the nuts and bolts of filmmaking when he embarked on "Henry V." He shot the film in only seven weeks at the cost of a meager $7.5 million.

THERE IS A first director's flashiness about it, such as ethereal back-lit shots (photographed by Kenneth MacMillan) that often mark the king's entrances. But this reportedly adds to the boldness of his message.

Branagh has worked with Shakespeare before. At 23, he was the youngest actor ever to play Henry at the Royal Shakespeare Company He has since formed his own Renaissance Theatre Company, which stages Shakespeare along with new original works.

Ultimately, it doesn't matter much whether Branagh is "the new Olivier" or not (the same argument might be made for "the new Orson Welles"). What's important is that Shakespeare through Branagh is out again and speaking to the

But having a quality product is no guarantee of a rapid release. Record company mergers have temporarily put Crossed Wire's career "in limbo." Once everything is straightened out, the band will have a better idea as to when their new material will be released.

Everything seems to be going well for this up-and-coming band, but do they have any regrets?

"I grew up listening to albums," Marschke said, holding up a compact disc for emphasis. "I always looked forward to putting one out myself. Now, by the time this (their new demo) comes out, they probably won't even make albums any more."

VIOLENT POP - Hypnotics

"Violent Pop" (Nebula) is a jagged, at times raw, snarling piece of gultar pop, Lyrics and melodies separate this from being a quasipunk cassette. Between the pop sensibilities and grungy, in-your-face guitar expression, the Hypnotics have made their own niche.

That is saying a lot, especially in these follow-what's-hot trend attitudes among local rock artists. The Hypnotics' strength is perhaps not trying to be something they're not -(A) a pop band, (B) a punk band, or (C) a metal band. Instead, the Hypnotics are (D) a little bit of all of the

Only in a few instances do the Hypnotics cross pop's borders. The Hypnotics achieve that by a strategy of swirling and forceful guitar. Dr. Bob leads a legion of guitar slingers here, working numbers like "Citles of Gold" into a magic.

Vocally, well, there are some cracks here, and lyrically, the Hypnotics are not exactly writing "War and Peace." But, after all, it's only rock and roll.

The putty of the Hypnotics is their songs, which will stick to a person like Bubble Yum on the bottom of a Converse high top. Except with "Violent Pop," you'll be very intent on being a gum shoe.

— Soundgarden

Soundgarden is the first band to graduate from the Sub-Pop/Seattle underground to a major label. "Louder Than Love" is the band's first record for A&M, and it finds the band wholly intact, and, for the most part, unremarkable. Despite references to their music as "psychedelic," "Zen metal," or "acid punk," most listeners will recognize this record as being "pretty Led Zeppelin." And this will refer not so much to Led Zeppelin the band, but to the genre that developed in its wake, a vaguely mysticized brand of whitebread "blooze" with occasional rhythm.

But Soundgarden takes it all so seriously. It's easier to accept some of Zep's more wretched excesses because that band, whether by design or dumb luck, seemed unconscious of its own absurdities.

Zep played rock'n'roll, rather than "art," most of the time. In Soundgarden, we have all of the pretension, but none of the humor, and, incidentally, only about half of the talent.

Perhaps that judgment is unduly harsh. "Louder Than Love" does feature some terrific riffing. Guitarist Kim Thayil lays down thundering Apatosaurus-weight phrases and the rhythm section is solid.

The big problem is lead vocalist Chris Cornell, who lands somewhere on the narrow strip between Robert Plant and the Cult's Ian Astbury.

The songwriting, which is credited to the entire band, vacillates between bad poetry and impulses that travel directly from the crotch to the mouth without first making a muchneeded stop in the brain.

Sure, rock'n'roll is an inherently sexual medium, but Soundgarden strips away the exuberance, flirtation and romance, replacing it with all the refinement and subtlety of a Viking banquet.

While there are certainly worse records in the world (and A&M's willingness to sign a band that they undoubtedly see as "dangerous" and 'cutting edge" is commendable) Soundgarden ought to be better.

THE INNOCENCE MISSION

— The Innocence Mission

Every time I've seen a review of this band, they have been compared to Kate Bush. Naturally, this fact alone was enough to grab my attention, as it should any self-respecting music lover.

Unfortunately, a shrill female voice doth not a Kate Bush make! Singer Karen Peris does have that distinctive vocal style. It falls more in line with an Edie Brickell/Stevle Nicks/Cyndi Lauper mix. Peris, and fellow songwriter and brother Don Peris, are not as outrageously adventurous.

Musically, they are a melting pot. Throw in a few Muses, add a couple of hundred of Manlacs from the 10,000, a pinch of New Bohemians and a glance in the direction of Bush.

For the most part, they construct atmospheric ethereal melodies liberally spiced with heavily echoed piano and bouncy guitar. Much use is made of Karen Peris in the vocal department, including multiple backing vocals, and this may be one of the main drawbacks to this LP. Not because of their lack of quality, but what is noticeable is the absence of - John Logie Instrumental breaks throughout the album (I was only aware of one guitar lead.)

"The Innocence Mission" tends to drag, and this may be due to the fact that the pacing on most of the songs are similar. There is also a lack of emotional highs and lows, both musically and lyrically

These faults are only sidestepped by a couple of songs on side two "Wonder of Birds" and "Come Around & See Me." the latter which is a "Crie de Coeur" for someone to break the agony of loneliness. While I really enjoyed that song, I find it hard to justify listening to the entire LP for it.

Typical of this new breed, one rancher confided to me that he'd swap a year in the saddle for a few minutes of bumper-to-bumper traffic. Most cowboys visit the middle class in one of two ways. The first is to book a suburban safari package and be herded around on a tour bus. The second is to live like a real native by staying at one of the new suburban dude ranches like the "Circle-K" in Livonia.

This and that

Variety is McCollum's persona

By Susan Steinmueller staff writer

There's more to Mark McCollum's stand up act than just jokes.

There's lines of music, from Led Zepplin to Young M.C.

There's impressions of Pee Wee Herman, Popeye and Olive Oyl, Elmer Fudd's punk son, and Kermit the Frog.

There's metal and plastic alligators that do back-up when he sings the Elvis song 'Don't Be Cruel' --alligators that need to be stroked, just like he does, says McCollum.

There's also a foot pedal pressed to give a concert-like echo when he asks an unsuspecting front row audience member their name, then startles them with a singing reply, such as the Led Zepplin lyric, "Hey, Hey, Mama gonna make you move, gonna make you sweat, gonna make you groove.'

"It's kind of a cornucopia of audiovisual fantasies," said McCullom in a phone conversation from Kansas last week. "It's a fast-paced visual act. You just don't stop -- you don't wander, if they (the audience) understood that, you just move onto the next piece. It's not 'Prairie Home.' "

. "I'm a comic pied piper," the "30 Something comedian said of the trail of characters that follow him into his act.

McCULLOM, A Los Angeles resident, said he has always imitated characters he has seen on television and in the world around him to get a few laughs.

"It's second nature to me," he said. "I've always done this. Give me a mom, and a mike and a baby and I'm satisfied.'

Born in San Francisco, he grew up with television, particularly cartoons. Early on, he began emulating such characters as Bugs, Daffy, Porky, and Tweety.

"I was hooked at an early age," he said "Cartoons were for me an art Later, he discovered the transistor radio, and along with that, rock'n'roll and the Ed Sullivan Show. "Music didn't really replace cartoons, it enhanced it." Next was his discovery of the guitar, which occurred in junior high, and he worked in a band with his brothers, playing at dances and par-

After graduation from high school, McCollum attended the City College of San Francisco and worked at a supermarket, but comedy was never far from his mind.

"I was always the guy at the parties who would wait for the right moment to pull out my guitar and do my thing." he said. "My ability to imitate was my security. That ability has served him well in the 12 years he has been a comedian. His comic career began in 1976, when he appeared at San Francisco's Holy City Zoo during open mike night and was well received. His confidence up, he entered the San Francisco Stand Up Comedy Compeition a year later and won. He followed that up with numerous college appearances.

MCCOLLOM MOVED to Los Angeles in 1980, where he kept working comedy clubs with his gultar, impressions and unique comedy, while auditioning for sitcoms, commercials and films.

McCollom appeared on the Tonight Show for the first time in 1984. Shortly afterward, he hired a manager, which resulted in a decision to enter the television show"Star Search.'

He walked away the 1987 comedy competition champion and $100,000 richer.

Over they years, McCollom has also appeared on television in "Solid Gold," "Comedy Tonight," "The National Song Writers Awards" and "America," appeared as a regular on the syndicated television FTV, provided the voice of Popeye for Cocoa Puffs commericals, and appeared on a Showtime television special, "Fun-

But while McCollom's ability to imitate has served him well for years, today, he is re-evaluating his act, trying to find his own voice.

So, when one asks McCullom whathe is aspiring to, he says, "What I really want to become is myself. For years I have been pulled into being someone other than myself." ---

"I am really watering my own garden right now, and my job is to be a gardener of my own garden, to nurture my own pieces, to check them, and to grow. It's an inside

IN THE REAL world, McCollom said he would be happy if the result is getting off the road — whether his new direction takes him to doing television, records or feature films.

"I want to do it all," he admitted. However, McCollum said, he would miss comedy. "On television, you don't know if you are good or bad, whereas the live audience gives you immediate gratification or disapproval," he said. "I'm addicted to that. I'm grateful for the opportunities that have been given to me. It's a lot of Even on a gray winter day, Flint's skyline presents an attractive picture from atop the Top of the Park restaurant in the Northbank Centre.

There's more to Flint than cars

By Carolyn DeMarco staff-writer

HANKS TO DOCUMENTA-RY film producer Michael Moore, mention Flint today and the word conjures up the depressing gray and largely unflattering city images seen in "Roger and Me."

Is that all there is to Flint we asked a new transplant to the City of Vehicles? Tell us, what is there to see in Flint, anyway?

"See I-75?" the new citizen retorted. "Get on it. Head south and get off in Oakland County."

Tsk. Tsk. If the locals are that negative is there any reason for Observer & Eccentric readers to bring their families for a cold winter's day visit to the beleaguered city?

Yes, yes and yes, says Erin Wawro, marketing director for the Flint Area Convention and Visitors Bureau. To begin with there's location. Give or take a few miles, Flint is just 50 miles and one hour from the Square Lake Road entrance to north I-75. The crossroads of the state, Wawro calls it, where I-75, I-69 and U.S. 23 all come together with a little help from the I-475 conriector.

Need a better reason than proximity? Here's one — The Alfred P. Sloan Museum in the city's cultural center will be host Feb. 4 through April 29 to "Creatures of the Deep," an exhibit of seven mechanized prehistoric sea monsters, made by the same company which brought youngsters the popular animated dinosaur exhibits seen locally at Cranbrook Institute.

EVEN WITHOUT the animated water dwellers, the Sloan is worth a family visit. Of particular note is the Carol Churchill Pierson doll collection - 200 exquisitely crafted and costumed figures dramatizing U.S. history in attractive diorama settings. Included is a miniature version of the hall of presidents' wives in inaugural ball gowns seen in Washington's Smithsonian.

Naturally, Sloan is also the setting for an extensive collection of antique and experimental cars belitting the birthplace of General Motors. And it's hands-on health science area is an eye-catcher - for example, a transparent anatomical manikin and a room shaped like a mouth (yes, that's the tongue you're stepping on) to explain dental health.

The Sloan Museum is just one attraction in the cultural center complex which adjoins the C.S. Mott estate and the University of Michigan-Flint campus.

While you're in the one-stop-seeall cultural center, you'll want to take a peek in the Flint Institute of Arts. It's all free. What have you got to lose? You'll find works by Rubens, Degas, Redon, Renoir, Bonnard and Cassatt among the 2,500 pieces.

STEP INTO the Viola E. Bray Renaissance Gallery for a breath-taking look at French and Italian period furniture and decorative art and check out one of the largest paperweight collections anywhere.

In addition to a quality museum shop, original art is for sale or rental. FIA hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday. For more information call 234-1695.

Sky watchers are welcome at the Robert T. Longway Planetarium, the largest planetarium in the state as dome sizes go. They'll be discussing "When Dinosaurs Roamed," an astronomical theory on the demise of the prehistoric creatures in regular shows through April 1. Catch the critters at 2 p.m. Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays. For information, call 762-1181.

The planetarium also is the ideal setting for laser light and music shows, and Longway has several on its regular weekend schedule with starting times 3:15 p.m. to midnight. Admission prices vary from $3-$5. Call the Laser hot line (233-3767) for scheduling information.

U-M Flint campus is downtown Flint, attractive, compact and very much alive. Bonus! There's an abundance of free or cheap parking. It's there right downtown that you'll find the present site of The Children's Museum, 432 Saginaw at Second. While it's a modest 10,000 square feet of exhibits now, Flint's careeroriented hands-on museum has great expectations.

THE CULTURAL center is also the setting for Whiting Auditorium and the Dort Music Center, home of the Flint Institute of Music and its

Just over the river and across the Flint Symphony Orchestra.

Visitors are greeted by Stuffee, the $6,000 soft sculpture doll, which helps preschoolers learn about nutrition, anatomy and general good health. There's also a banking center set into a old bank vault with cash registers and adding machines, a room of holograms, a climb-on bus, jeep and fire engine. (Did we mention there's an airplane hanging from the ceiling?)

MOST OF THE items have been donated by local businesses. That includes the equipment in the communications room. Kids can stage their own talk show and watch it on a monitor or give a weather forecast in front of the professional weather map. There's also a puppet show. area and a courtroom for role-playing fun.

Special programs are planned on Super Saturdays. General admission is $2 per person or $9 per family. The museum is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. For more information call 283-6900.

And now what else? Here are a number of attractions and/or activities available in winter.

Things to eat

Blue-collar Flint prefers bluecollar cooking, it seems, and no apology is needed.

Believe it or not, culinarily speaking, they're known for their coney island hot dogs. Not the wet 6. and sloppy variety Detroiters have come to love, but dry coneys - crumbled, chili-flavored hamburger piled high atop a frankfurter. (Apparently it's an acquired taste.)

Most famous of the coney vendors is Angelo's, 1816 Davison near Franklin; Angelo Popoli's the current owner. He's been there for 29 years, but the restaurant's been at that location since 1946. As an emigrant from Macedonia, Popoff's Uncle Angelo opened his first coney joint in Flint in 1916. — the original.

The visually accurate underwater creatures are the product of Dinamation International, and are programmed and mechanized to move like their once-living counterparts.

As visitors enter the deep, they will come face to face with the ancient Thalassomedon, the creature that inspired tales of the Loch Ness Monster, Nearby they'll see a giant sea scorpion, the Picrygolus, clinging to a chunk of rocky reef.

Other unusual animals are Dunkleosteus, a huge armored fish; Basilosaurus, an cel-like whale; Placodus, a semi-aquatic reptile: Tylosaurus, an ancient relative of the modern Komodu dragon; and Kronosurusa, with its powerful jaws and nine-inch-long Whitely Setrakian strikes a dramatic pose.

People Dancing

Quirky but poignant commentary on world

By Jill Hamilton special writer

ALWAYS want to go one step further, look at things a little differently, a little skewed," says Whitley Setrakian of the Ann Arbor-based company People Dancing. In other words, Whitley Setrakian is here to change a few minds about dance.

She succeeds. Setraklan and her troupe combine modern dance, theater and unexpected flashes of bizarre humor into a quirky, at times polgnant, commentary on the world.

The mixture of lively characters, odd plot twists and compelling athletics are engaging enough to keep even the most television-dependent viewer interested.

. These continually vivid performances are garnering new fans and flattering reviews for the energetle Setrakian and her troupe. In January, the group was invited to perform at the 1990 Cayman Island International Music Festival.

and her dancers will perform March 31 in a dance/drama sponsored by the Michigan Theater's aptly titled Serious Fun Series. The plece, "Charlotte: Life? or Theater," chronicles a period in the life of German Expressionist artist Charlotte Saloman.

Saloman, a Jewish woman, eventually died in a concentration camp, but she left behind the insplration for Setrakian's piece - a pictorial diary. Setrakian chose to focus the story on the time frame in which it was written - 1940 through 1942 - instead of its trag-

In a typical Setrakian twist, the character of Charlotte is played by several dancers throughout the performance. To indicate Charlotte's varied emotional states, there are sometimes several Charlottes on the stage at once.

Dancers Amy Drum and Tom Cocco in the duet from "Salad Days" performed in the People Dancing recent concert, "New Works for a New Year."

ANN ARBOR LOCAL hero, Tracy Lee Komarmy of the band Tracy Lee and the Leonards, provides the voice of Charlotte. Komarmy's soft, sweet singing is the perfect articulation for the expressive Charlotte's works. Dick Siegal, another popular Ann Arbor musician, collaborated with Setrakian to compose the emotional music for the hourlong piece.

The performance marks a new level of success for Setrakian and People Dancing. As one woman associated with the company remarked, "Good things are happening."

Incorporated in 1985, the troupe has struggled with the same problems that most artists face: finding funding and fans. Happily, Setraklan has found both. Her troupe has performed in cities throughout Michigan including Detroit, Birmingham and East Lansing. The Cayman Islands trlp and a recent performance in Boston marked the beginning of what might become an increasing number of out-ofstate performances.

In 1987, Setrakian won The Washtenaw Council for the Arts' Annie Award for Outstanding Emerging Artist and Arts Organization. This prestigious recognition, along with the innovative performances of her troupe, helped the group to attract funding. The troupe has received grants from the Michigan Council for the Arts, Arts Midwest, and the Arts Foundation of Michigan. With every performance, Setrakian wins over more fans. Charlotte: Life? or Theater? promises to be no exception. The combination of the considerable talent of People Dancing with local heavyweight musical figures should make this one of the most exciting dance events of the year. People Dancing's next concert will be: "Charlotte: Life? Or Theater?" at 8 p.m. March 31 in Michigan Theater, Ann Arbor,

'Makeup' time for saving face

Q. Several people have made cracks about my makeup lately. Do you have any tips on how to apply it?

A. I'm not a makeup artist, but I know one who is, so I called Judy Hepler, regional director of Jeffrey Bruce Cosmetics and, as always, she was very helpful. Following are a collage of her and my ideas.

"It's a New Year, but is it the same old you?" Judy quipped. "Women in the '90s will have to be even more professional looking, because life will be taking them more places," she told me.

Too many women learn to apply makeup in their teens and never change their ways, leaving an outdated look. Seeking professional advice will help you avoid making the same old mistakes.

المروج والمعتدين والمراجع والمنطول المستنين

Some women have never learned how to apply eye make-up properly, or may be fearful of applying it because of their habit of touching their eyes and smudging their make-up. They should begin wearing eye make-up at home everyday until they learn to leave their eyes alone.

VIDEOS CAN HELP. Sometime when you are alone, rent make-up video's from your local store. Take another spot (if you don't have a Feb. 7 at Schoolcraft College.

written notes as you watch, then treat yourself by setting up a makeup booth, (perhaps at the kitchen table) fix a cup of coffee, and spend some time experimenting. With no one around you can be free to "go wild" until you settle on what works

Lighting is extremely important for a smooth, well blended look. Too many people use overhead lights, which cast shadows down across your face. Ideally, lights should come from both sides at eye level.

Hepler suggests fishing tackle boxes for organizing cosmetics. The kind with open places at the bottom in a Happy New You! and trays that fold up with the lid provide the right kind of spaces for good place to do your make-up), and can be locked up from small children. Smaller tackle boxes can work: for travel, too. Maintain an exact duplicate set, perhaps with smaller. brushes and containers, so you won't need to go on a hunting expedition to pack, and you won't forget anything

This is a good time to replace your cosmetics bag in your purse and freshen up its contents, as well; Wash out your brushes with Woolite. replace your powder applicator, etc. Cremes should be replaced each year and mascara every few months. We hope these suggestions will result

New twists in road to mortgages

By Doug Funke staff writer

Simple fixed-rate mortgages, most for 30 years, continue to be the bread and butter of the mortgage industry.

And why not, with most financial institutions offering home buyers rates of less than 10 percent?

But a couple of new twists in the home-financing game are beginning to draw some interest here.

One is a short-term balloon mortgage with a monthly payment based on a long-term amortization schedule. The borrower benefits from fewer points assessed to close the loan or in a lower interest rate.

(Points are charges to borrow money. A point equals 1 percent of the mortgage.)

To illustrate, Countrywide Financing Corp., the largest independent national mortgage company in the United States, offered a 7-year balloon the week of Jan. 8 at 9 percent with 2¾ points.

Countrywide's conventional 30-year fixed at 9 percent at that time required 4% points.

THE DIFFERENCE in closing costs on a $100,000 mortgage - $2,000. The monthly payment for principal and interest on the balloon and 30-year fixed would be the same - $805.

Republic Bancorp Mortgage offers a variation of the balloon.

During the week of Jan. 8, Republic offered a 7-year balloon at 9% percent, a 30-year fixed at 9% with 2 points on each.

While each mortgagee will pay $2,000 in points on a $100,000 loan, the buyer-with the 9% rate will have a monthly interest and principal payment of $832, the buyer at 9%, $859. After seven years, mortgagees with balloons must refinance, but chances are they've long since sold and

"This is wonderful with transferees in an area," said Jennifer Detter, manager of Countrywide's Lathrup Village office. "Most aren't going to be the home long. - Republic. "Believe it or not, $27 a month means a lot er than three years, let alone seven."

"IF YOU'RE only going to live in a home four or five years, why take 914 when you can get 916?" said Dan Smith, branch manager and senior loan officer for to a lot of people."

A balloon also might appeal to first-time buyers who anticipate upgrading fairly quickly and to buyers of new houses who need money for furnishings or

A growing trend toward graduated payment mortgages has been noticed by Bill Thiess, senior vice president and manager of residential lending for First Federal of Michigan.

A graduated payment mortgage starts out low initially, then incrementally increases annually for several years before leveling out.

"IT'S GEARED basically for someone who expects their income to increase in the next few years young professionals," Thiese said. "It allows you to defer part of your mortgage payment."

First Federal offered a graduated payment plan the week of Jan. 8 that resulted in fixed rate of 9.625 percent for 15 years with 2 points.

To get that rate, a borrower actually would pay 6.77 percent the first year, 7.77 percent the second, 8.77 percent the third and 9.77 percent in years four through 15, Thless said.

Michael Lubig, vice president and manager of the mortgage department for Standard Federal Bank, projected that more buyers will take a look at FHA financing insured by the federal government.

"There's a new spirit of partnership on the part of FHA, lenders and local communities that we're here to help you, here to serve you," Lubig said.

FHA HAS ADOPTED less restrictive property inspection standards used by conventional lenders. FHA allows financial institutions to do many of the underwriting functions like credit checks and appraisals that caused delays and headaches in the past.

"The public (now) gets service and fast service," said William Booth, chief of mortgage credit for the Congress may authorize maximium mortgage amounts up to $124,850 from current limits of a $101,250 in Oakland County and $79,700 in Wayne County, Booth said.

FHA offers borrowers other advantages like more liberal income qualifying standards and requires a smaller down payment than conventional loans.

"It (FHA) is the only loan available that's still assumable," Booth said. "That's a major consideration in financing any property."

What of the longer view?

Lubig suggests the day may come here — though it? hasn't yet - where the homeowner and lender will share appreciation in the value of a house when it's "? sold in return for a lower down payment and interest. rate while it's occupied.

Thless said there's some talk in the industry in the very preliminary stages of a hybrid mortgage that would be partially fixed and partially adjustable.

That would enable both the borrower and lender to hedge their bets as the tide of inflation, which fuels mortgage rates, ebbs and flows.

2 sites named for Homearama

By Doug Funke staff writer

Homebuyers and dreamers can attend two Homearamas this year one near Brighton, the other in Shelby Township. The Shelby exhibition tentatively is scheduled for spring, the Genoa Township show in fall. Both are sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. Specific dates haven't been set. The west side show will be staged in the Pine Creek Ridge Subdivision off Brighton Road in Genoa Township just west of the city of Brighton, said James Stornant, township man-

The Brighton area was selected to attract showgoers from Lansing, Flint and Ann Arbor as well as the northwest suburbs, said Dennis Dickstein, Homearama chairman and chief executive office at Ralph Manuel Realtors. The Builders Association of Livingston County will cosponsor that show.

The east side Homearama will take place in the Pheasant Ridge

More than 125,000 attended last ar year's Homearama, the seventh annual show, in the Hills of Oakland Subdivision, Rochester Hills.

"Most people come out to see how the other half lives," said Dickstein.

Condo living offers lots of positives

Several readers have expressed their appreciation for information contained in this column about the potential problems of living in condominiums. But they have also wondered whether there are any good points to living in one.

Naturally, those of us in the legal profession tend to discuss those areas of concern that have perplexed co-owners and associations over the years. But there are, of course, many beneficial aspects to living in a condominium that should not be overlooked. Condominium living is certainly not for everyone because of the limitations, in certain instances. of individual libertles that would normally be extant in a single family detached dwelling. But the varieties of condominiums that can be developed are such that almost anyone can find a condominium unit to his/ her liking, both from an economic and social standpoint.

First, depending on the nature of the condominium, there can be tremendous economies of scale in that the project may include certain amenities not available to a subdivision resident such as a pool, clubhouse, tennis courts and the like. The cost of operating these amenities be, presumably, divided up among the residents of the condominlum project.

Moreover, the costs of maintenance, repair and replacement of certain of these amenities, as well as, in many instances, the outer structure of the condominium unit and building in which the wilt is located, are borne by the condominium association. So the owner is spared the need to maintain, repair or replace the exterior of his/her condominium unit. The obligations of maintenance, repair and replacement vary from project to project, and in the case of site condominiums, which are very similar to single family detached subdivisions, the maintenance and repair responsibili-tles placed upon the co-owner areever increasing.

Condominium living traditionally affords co-owners certain social and security benefits in that it gives them an opportunity to participate in community affairs while obtaining a certain amount of enhanced security because of the close proximity of their neighbors to their units. Social and recreational activities sponsored by the condominium association are enjoyable to many of its residents. And it gives members of the association an opportunity to directly participate in the management and supervision of their living environment by participating and serving on the board of directors or committees of the condominium associa-

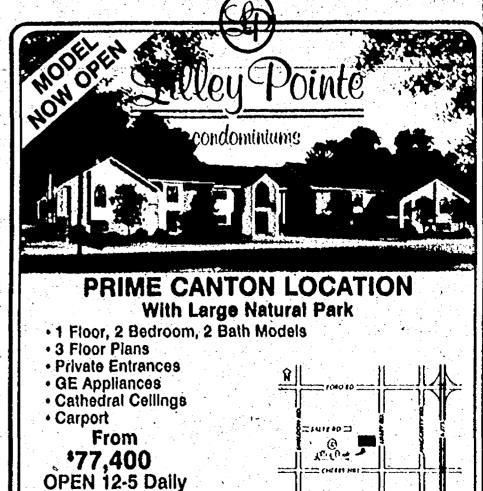

Moreover, condominiums, as opposed to cooperatives, for example, are much more marketable in this area because savings and loans and banks are more readily willing to lend against condominium units than cooperatives. Condominiums also offer a chance for "equity buildup" as vice people to assist in the maintenance and operation of the condominium association presumably is less because the economy of scale based upon the number of units in the condominium project. For example, a snow removal contractor who must shovel 100 walks will presumably do so for less than if he were doing it on an individual basis for members of a subdivision.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

In short, there can be substantial economic benefits to living in a condominium. Moreover, the use limitations imposed by the deed restrictions can be a benefit in that you are reasonably assured that if there are restrictions regarding pets, for example, that you will be able to live in an environment free of them.

Robert M. Meisner is a Birmingham attorney specializing in condominiums, real estate and corporate law. You are invited to submit questions about condominiums by writing Robert M. Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or Job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accuratel Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards

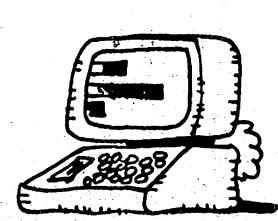

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more Interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

5. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very Interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt, stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.
