Man, 29, charged in murder

A 29-year-old Westland man was arraigned Sunday on a charge of open murder in the strangulation of a Stelber Street woman Feb. 24.

Miracle Ewayne Crawford was arrested by police late Friday night in the death of Shirley Ann Harris, 28.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Crawford by Judge Leo Foran in out county district court. He was remanded to the Wayne County Jail without bond. A preliminary examination is scheduled for 9 a.m. Monday, March 12, in 18th District

Westland police Detective Sgt. Jerry Wright said the investigation focused on Crawford "shortly after we began to look at the case." He said police received information that showed "a discrepancy in his (Crawford's) stated wheareabouts shortly before the time of discovery" of Harris' body.

Crawford had called police after returning to the home which he shared with the victim.

Crawford was given a polygraph examination by Michigan State Po-

Wright said other physical evidence "points to Crawford" but he declined to give specifics.

Harris died of strangulation according to the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office.

Harris death was the second homicide in Westland this year.

Union fights mayor's fire station plan

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer

The Westland Firefighters Association has filed a grievance over the manning plan implemented Thursday by Mayor Robert Thomas as part of an effort to eliminate periodic station

"It's in the mail and should be on the mayor's desk by Monday," Kevin Riley, union president, said Friday.

Riley expected to go to arbitration eventually over the matter, he said.

The union protest was based on the belief that the plan, which was implemented in the form of a directive from fire Chief Larry Lane, demands changes that instead should be negotiated between the city and the union as part of the collective bargaining process, Riley sald.

The mayor was "misleading the public" by issuing weighted statistics on station closings in an effort to gain approval for his plan, Riley said.

"He's come up with a plan that doesn't go against the contract specifically because the contract doesn't address that exact situation," Riley said.

But if you put everything in a contract that you can't do, you'd have to haul it around in a

THOMAS WASN'T aware of the grievance yet and couldn't comment on it specifically, the mayor said Friday.

But he said he hoped the union would reconsider the challenge and repeated his statement Carlson (the main station), Newburgh and from last week that the plan "will create better public safety for the people of Westland." Until Thursday, periodic closing of one or two fire stations for up to 24 hours at a time was allowed under an April 1988 minimum manning agreement worked out between the clty and the firefighters' union.

The agreement, which stipulated a minimum of two firefighters on each vehicle answering a fire or rescue call, was necessary to ensure firefighters' safety, the union said.

The city's four fire stations are at Ford and Palmer, Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail, and Preventive medical care for children is the goal of Dr. Verna Turkish, a pediatrician who recently opened a practice in the Garden City-Westland area after working eight years in Africa.

District officials plan for retirement

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer

Some familiar faces will be missing when Wayne-Westland students return to school next fall.

A handful of retirements have been announced in recent weeks. And Wednesday the school board approved a proposal from Superintendent Dennis O'Neill to lay off 14 administrators in June to help ease a projected $5 million to $7 million budget deficit.

The cost-cutting measures were made necessary by the failure of three tax proposals in a Feb. 8 spe-

When that district was consolidated into the Wayne-Westland Community Schools in 1984, Harvey assumed his current job.

Shortly after he made the transition Harvey told the Observer he had "mixed feelings" about his new job and said he sometimes missed his close relationship with students, parents and staff in the small (2,200 students at the time of the merger) three decades in education, rising Cherry Hill district.

But looking back on his mid-career switch Harvey said Thursday it couldn't have gone better. "I feel comfortable, welcome here and really I always have felt that way," he

Although he's glad to be leaving the long hours behind, Harvey said he would try to find a way to be involved in education on a part-time basis. Retirement will also give him more time for volunteer work, partleipation on the board of his condominium complex, and golf, he said.

"I'll have some more time to travel and be with my family," he said. Williams, like Harvey a former Cherry Hill administrator, said he would miss his elementary students staff at Walker would be difficult.

"I won't miss all the paperwork and all the other stuff," Williams said. "This job is all about the kids and that's what I'll miss."

Pack marks 25 years

UB PACK 860, one of Westland's oldest Scouting units, marked its 25th anniversary Feb. 28, with 175 people attending the annual Blue and Gold Dinner.

Held in Westland's Stevenson Junior High School, the Scout leaders opened the event to alumni of the pack's Webelos unit, which provides a transition for boys moving from Cub Scouting to Boy Scouting.

There were five former Webelos members who returned for the dinner, although many others contacted dinner planners and Scout leaders, said Shawn Steketee, assistant den leader.

Thomas met twice with union leaders to discuss the plan and delayed implementing it when the union voiced concerns.

But the arrangement that went into effect Thursday was "virtually the same plan he showed us in January," Riley said Friday.

"THE ONLY difference is that he dropped his proposal for the lowest staffing level of 13 (firefighters on duty per shift), which he know we would never have agreed to anyway," Riley said.

Statistics compiled by the fire department and released by Thomas last week showed that at least one station was closed on 352 of the first 394 days of the 1988 agreement. Two stations were closed on 56 of those days, according to the agreement.

THE NEW plan would eliminate the closing of two stations and reduce by 90 percent the number of days that one station is closed, Thomas said last week.

But Thomas' statistics don't cover the period from summer 1989 to the present where all four stations have been up and running "far more often," Riley said Friday.

"If fact, since the beginning of the year there's only been one day when both stations were closed," he said.

The hiring of nine new firefighters in 1989 and 1990 (some to replace retiring firefighters) has helped reduce the number of station closings, Riley said.

Insurance cap sparks debate

"We'd like to get a handle on costs," said James Borin of Troy, whose Detroit firm defends auto insurers in catastrophic cases such as brain injuries.

Borin told the Senate Commerce Committee that a Republican-sponsored bill allowing insurers to offer caps of $250,000 to $2 million would limit expenses:

But a plaintiffs' lawyer, George Sinas of Lansing, said capping expenses would destroy the promise made to Michigan drivers under the no-fault insurance law.

"The current no-fault law says insurers must pay all medical and rehabilitation expenses. That was the main selling point in 1973. This bill suggests change," Sinas charged.

rates cut by 25 percent in return for tighter definitions of bodily injury and optional limits on payouts.

In contrast, a House Democratic bill was drafted to order a 20 percent rate cut with no word on costs. House Republicans made a mockery of it by raising the cut to 30 percent and gleefully helped pass it 105-0 last December.

Posthumus is ignoring the House bill. He is taking his time in the commerce panel, stretching out Tuesday afternooh hearings over a month and scheduling expert witnesses.

BORIN AND Sinas appeared side by side, like Lincoln and Douglas, veterans at debating each other and highly respectful of the other's skills.

They agreed the state shouldn't try to cap doctors' fees.

"When government pegs prices," said Sinas, "doctors at the cutting" edge may relegate these cases to second-class status.

"Surgeons will select patients who can pay their regular fees. Accident victims will be pushed down the Added Borin: "I can't see artificial limits on fees.'

The bill before the Senate panel is SB 712, offered by chairman Richard Posthumus, R-Alto. It aims to order auto liability rates cut by 25 percent in return for tighter definitions of bodily injury and optional limits on payouts.

SINAS SAID a 1983 court decision called "Cassidy" required that an injury, to be compensated, must impair a body function and be "objective" - that is, verifiable by a medical doctor.

But a later decision, called "Di-Franco," overruled Cassidy because too few plaintiffs were recovering damages, the plaintiffs' lawyer said.

"This bill (Posthumus') returns us to the darkest days of Michigan nofault law - to the Cassidy days," Sinas said.

Replied Borin: "I'm not saying go back to the common law days (when a person 1 percent at fault could collect nothing." But he said the Cassidy case at least set standards for recovery, while DiFranco had none.

"The issue is affordability," said Melvin Hollowell, pointing to the difference in costs in two city-suburban corridors:

• Plymouth Road - Detroiters, mainly blacks, pay $1,410; Livonians, mainly white and only 21/2 miles away, pay an average of $894.

• Michigan Avenue - Detroit average, $1,734; Dearborn, $980; Inkster, $1,400; and Wayne, $928.

"There is not a great difference in the auto theft rate," said Hollowell, calling the Detroit rates "excessive and discriminatory." As Detroit's auto theft rate fell 30 percent recently, premiums rose 50 to 150 percent, he charged. "That is no way to reward Detroit." HOLLOWELL, who was particularly critical of AAA's rates, was asked by senators why other companies didn't compete for Detroiters' business and undercut AAA's rates

House says no

AP - Allowing parents to chose their children's schools may hurt some students and schools, say lawmakers who voted down an open-enrollment bill.

The House on Tuesday voted 61-36 against the proposal, which its backers said would have encouraged administrators to improve their schools for fear of losing top-. notch teachers and students to other facilities within the district.

Currently, public-school students generally must attend a school designated for their neighborhood.

The bill would require that all districts decide whether to convert. to a system where students could attend any school within district boundaries. If the district decided to implement the new setup, it would form a committee of parents, educators and administrators to further study the transition, said its sponsor, Rep. Claude Trim, R-Waterford.

"The status quo, the way things are right now, is not working," said Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City and chairman of the House Education Committee.

"This bill does not mandate choice, it mandates that districts look at choice," Keith said. "It gives choice a chance in Michi

Keith and James Kosteva, D-Canton, were the only western Wayne County state representative who supported the bill. Those voting against the bill included: Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia; Justine Barnes, D-Westland, John Bennett, D-Redford and Gerald Law, R-Plymouth.

Keith said President Bush, Democratic Gov. James Blanchard and Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, all support schools of choice, but said influential education lobbyists were holding the bill back. Opponents, however, 'said the plan would hurt students who have uninformed parents and may have families picking schools for the wrong reasons - such as the winning record of sports teams.

Education groups say the bill Isn't needed because individual districts can vote for schools of choice now and some already have implemented the concept.

"I have not seen any research that shows that schools of choice will help any student. In fact just the opposite is true," said Rep. Nate Jonker, D-Clio.

WRAPPING & STRAPPING

Treatment of arthritic joints can include more than medication, injection or heat. When the damage involves ligament strain, wrapping becomes appropriate therapy.

The joint that responds best to this approach is the ankle. To wrap the ankle properly, you should use a 2 inch wide ace wrap. Anklelettes or a narrower wrap will not suffice. You should start wrapping at the foot, just above the toes. Cover all the foot and ankle with overlapping loops, and end the wrap at the lower third of the leg. Be sure to cover the heel. The wrap should be pressing firmly over the areas covered, almost to the point of feeling tight.

Undertake this treatment for 4-5 days; then begin to use the wrap for only half a day. If the ankle remains sound, discontinue the wrap completely.

Wrapping the knee is rarely successful because the constant bending motion of walking inevitably loosens the wrap. Wrapping the wrists without concommitant splinting usually fails because repetitive motion prevents maintenance of even compression over the wrapped area.

How today's women survive midlife crisis

(This is part of a series on marriage passages from Karyn Pasquel's planned book. All rights reserved.)

Well, women, it's our turn. In previous columns, I talked about men's midlife crises. But women have similanicrises. Their crises are similar to those of men, but carry some interesting twists.

Keep in mind that I base and modify my hypotheses on a combination of experiences shared by my clients, data from other researchers, and my own experiences.

Even I found myself overly selfconscious of much more "worn" I looked than my two daughters, ages 20 and 18. I felt compelled to explain continually that we used to look more alike, apologizing for my flaws.

The wonderful reality is that male friends don't want the young, immature women — even though they are the "perfect" women. Sometimes, men prefer someone with more intellect and maturity.

While I made silly, but normal, comparisons with my daughters, I have learned to be happy with myself as I am. The potential insecurity, understood and put into its proper perspective, was not allowed to develop into a damaging experi-

WHAT IS the woman's identity crisis? It occurs right around the time the husband's does, so she can't get adequate support from him. And it comes when the children are in the through of adolescence.

Each family member is dealing with a difference crisis that demandattention from another family mainber who is not capable, because of his/her own individual crisis, of providing support.

This creates a vulnerable family

unit made up of several shaky members. At a time when each needs the most support from a loved one, that same loved one is at a point of breaking himself/herself.

It is vital that marriage partners understand this "midlife" crisis and work through it together so the period accomplishes an enhancement to the person as well as the family unit.

UNDERSTANDING THE problem and open communication are the key factors. In the midlife crisis, it is hard to communicate as it is difficult to define what it going on. It is also hard for one partner, going through his/her own crisis, to emphasize with the other since the focus is on self at the time.

When talking things out is attempted, it often ends in an emotional, angry exchange.

Women in this stage are experiencing strong feelings of neglect by their husbands. If they have adolescent daughters, the daughters are aware of the attention they receive from their father and other males on "how pretty or youthful" they are.

The mother may start to imagine how it would be to share an apartment with the daughters, and may even start talking or dressing in a manner resembling the daughters. The glamour of being a single woman is enticing. Why?

In midlife crisis, a woman has fulfilled and almost completed her role of raising children and keeping house and husband happy. Now the older children are leaving with others closely behind. The wife turns inward to see her purpose and youthfulness slipping away.

FOR YEARS, this woman has been able to feel fulfilled, even if the marriage relationship wasn't the best. This is because the requirements of motherhood distracted her from attending to her own personal

Many think that if the wife went to work outside the home, she was fulfilling her personal needs. The woman may not understand what her true needs are until she finds herself having to let children leave the house, her husband non-attentive, her work being the "same old thing," her energy decreasing, and her age beginning to contrast with her daughter's in appearance.

It is normal for anyone, male and female, to get tired of being an adult with responsibilities, requirements, expectations and roles.

At that point of the midlife crisis, we tend to feel that life is controlling us. In rebelling, we fight back to regain control, failing to realize that it was always our choice to do that at any time.

THEN THE "selfish" stage begins. We now find ourselves hypersensitive, suspicious and defensive in an effort to hang on to self-control. We see ourselves getting hard but are unwilling to be softened. We don't like the person we are becoming but are afraid to let go.

These feelings are normal, as frightening and intense as they are. Be patient with yourself.

How can a woman be patient, loving and respectful to a husband and children when she is feeling unneeded, unappreciated, unattractive and lacking purpose? We must learn to fulfill our own internal needs without someone else — alone — first.

But first, the needs must be identified. Next week, I will discuss how to identify internal needs.

Value rising

And suburbanites are restless

THE SUBURBAN natives are

The reason is the soaring increases in property taxes.

Some retirees in northern Oakland County are complaining about $9,000 tax bills. On a smaller level, increases are running about 10 percent a year, which is the general rate of inflation in the real estate market, but far above the more overall inflation rate of 4.8 percent in the past year. The furor over assessment increases has resulted in many school millages or bond issues being defeated because homeowners can't afford higher tax bills along with their high mortgage payments.

But, frankly, I can't get excited about the furor.

The reason is a comment made by a labor relations attorney summing up the way contract grievances are

He said that when supervisors are faced with a grievance, they should remember that "its not what's fair, it's what's in the contract."

In other words, if a union employee doesn't like the way a problem was handled under the negotiated contract, the union should change the contract's provisions at the next negotiations.

In dealing with property taxes, the "contract" is the Michigan Constitution, approved in the spring of 1963 when property values were falling. When they were increasing, it was a more moderate rate of only 1 or 2 percent a year. The convention delegates who wrote the Constitution in 1961-62 knew what they were doing in tying property assessments to market val-

AT THE time, the convention delegates wanted local officials to be able to have local tax revenues increase with the rate of inflation to have money to operate their pro-

In those days, a typical used single-family home prices were $10,000-$12,000 with property taxes about $300-400 a year.

With housing prices generally five times the 1963 level, property taxes should be running $1,200 to $1,400.

Leonard Poger

But in the real world, property taxes are much higher, due in part to higher millage rates.

What is perceived as the culprit by frustrated homeowners is the constitutional provision which sets a ceiling of 50 percent on assessments compared to market value.

A few years after the constitution was adopted by Michigan voters, the Legislature considered a specific percentage of market value to set assessments. Ultimately, legislators set the level at 50 percent.

So if your home is valued at $60,000, the local assessment should be $30,000.

If your home increases in value by 10 percent next year, the assessment will move to $33,000.

IN THE past 11 years, assessment increases have become academic becuse of the 1978 Headlee Amendment to the state Constitution controls the annual property taxes through reducing local millage rates to the rate of inflation, which has been 3 to 4.8 percent in recent years. That means that if you have a $2,000 tax bill this year, it may go up to $2,096 next year, reflecting a 4.8 percent increase in the inflation

The increase in your tax bill is only $96 a year, or $8 a month, hardly enough to get excited about.

That amount may even be lower because the property tax can be used as a deduction on your federal income tax return. The state also provides a "circuit breaker" tax refund for persons whose property taxes are high in relation to their income.

The perception among homeowners is that assessment increases of 10 percent will automatically result in a tax bill increase of 10 percent.

will be far less.

But most homeowners will hang on to their perceptions, not the reality of the matter.

On another basis, most homeowners get excited about assessment increases because they are individually notified through the mails by their ... hometown assessor.

But I don't recall any personal notification from my president or congressman when my federal Social Security taxes were raised. The increase was merely reflected in my paycheck.

IF A person gets a job promotion , and a 10 percent pay raise, he/she automatically pays 10 percent more in state, federal and Social Security income taxes, but no one complains.

It's the property tax that upsets people more than any other tax. If homeowners want to change assessment policies, they must force a change in the state Constitution or convince the legislature to reduce the level of assessments from the current 50 percent. But a side effect of that solution would be to also lower tax revenues used by local schools to pay for teachers and books and city governments to pay for police, fire, and rubbish collection services.

NO ONE wants to reduce the level of public services. But the same people also demand a cap, if not a reduction, in local property taxes which pay for those services.

As the labor relations attorney said:

"Its not what's fair, it's what's in the contract."

If you don't like assessment increases, then contact your state legislator to change the rules.

But don't blame legislators and local assessors for following the rules on the books.

They didn't create a runaway inflation in suburban real estate markets. The assessment increases merely mirror the real estate market and don't precede it.

Wayne County's latest controversy - a proposed change in the county executive's line of succession - is in the hands of a three-member panel.

A panel of three county commissioners is expected to schedule a public hearing, perhaps as early as this week, to determine whether voters will be asked to change the county charter. The proposed change would make the county commission chairman next in line for the executive's job, rather than the deputy county executive as is now spelled out in the charter.

At the same time, one local commissioner said he was considering submitting an alternative proposal that would make the depay commissioner's job an elected, rather than considered a near-certainty in this an appointed post.

THE ISSUE is heavy with political ramifications. County Executive Edward McNamara raised eyebrows with a recent announcement he was considering running for governor in 1994. In some commissioners' minds that apparently meant McNamara --- year's executive's race - would leave office early, allowing deputy Michael Duggan to advance to the executive's post. Such a move would enable Duggan to run as an incumbent in the 1994 executive's race.

But if the proposed change in succession were made at this time, commission chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, or another commission member chosen by commissioners would become the executive for 120 days until a special election is held.

Blackwell, who proposed the change, is one of the three commissioners on the panel. He is joined by Kay Beard, D-Inkster, whose district includes Westland and Garden City and Bernard Kilpatrick, D-Detroit.

It was Blackwell who also proposed the panel at Thursday's commission meeting, rather than calling for à direct commission vote on putting the Issue before voters.

"There was some uncertainty on the commission's part," Blackwell said afterward. "This will provide more of an opportunity for discus-

Despite the overtones, Blackwell said the proposal wasn't politically motivated. Instead, he said, the change would assure that the first successor would be an elected official, rather than an appointed one.

"We don't want anyone to think?" this is something that's being done? for personal reasons," he said. "But? it is something I feel strongly about."

If there weren't sufficient commission votes to put the issue on the ballot, Blackwell said, he would consider starting a petition drive. Duggan could not be reached for comment.

Commissoner Milton Mack, "D-Wayne, said he was considering proposing an alternative resolution that would make the deputy executive's. post an elective office and allow vot: ers to choose both officials at the same election.

"If we held a special election (on the Blackwell proposal) that would cost the county an estimated $2 million," Mack said. "That's money we don't have."

Since 1959, mobile homes in parks have been taxed $38 a year, although local officials say some are worth as much as $60,000.

MOBILE HOME owners do pay the state 4 percent sales tax when they buy their units: Their rent also covers the park owner's share of property tax and single business tax, along with special assessments for water and sewer.

And mobile park owners say they provide many municipal services at no cost to the city or township - internal street maintenance, lighting,

But local government officials say mobile home parks fail to pay for their share of schools and other costly services.

SEMCOG's executive committée endorsed the concept of House Bills 4943-45. They would repeal the current $3 a month tax, provide for the taxation of mobile homes in parks as personal property and exempt used mobile homes from the 4 percent use

Cast iron is worth its weight

How could I resist?

With the onslaught of winter "home" sales, just about every color glossy stuffed into my Sunday paper proclaimed a sale on heavy, cast-iron cookware.

Most of the sales mentioned only cast-iron frypans but one sale in particular caught my eye with a four-piece cookware set including two frypans and a covered dutch oven. I toted the 20pound-plus equipment throughout the store after becoming the proud owner of a brand-new set of cast iron cookware.

Momma frequently cooked in cast iron, and to this day still hauls out a frypan and cauldron from the fruit cellar for impromptu Sunday morning egg fests and tummy-warming pots of

Those of you who remember a story that ran last year in Taste called for preparing the "ultimate brownie," in a large castiron frypan. I'll admit that when I tested the recipe for that brownle, I had to venture on down to Wyandotte to borrow Momma's frypan. Unfortunately, the diet I'm now on will forbid me making the brownle recipe in my newfound cookware but, nevertheless, I look forward to testing new recipes in these toys.

WHY ALL THE hoopla on castiron cookware? Cast-iron cookware is heavy. It absorbs heat slowly and evenly, retains it like no other and is a good conductor of heat as well - all excellent qualities for a cooking vessel to possess.

Unfortunately, there is a negative side, too. Cast iron is rather brittle. It rusts, stains and becomes pitted on exposure to air, dampness and some foods, and it tends to become distorted when heat is applied. Food purists will either applaud cast iron for its ability to impart certain minerals into the food while cooking or crucify it for its inability to withstand the pitting that occurs from cooking foods high in acidity. -From a professional standpoint, you just can't beat cast iron's ability o slowly cook a stew or chili, seldom burning it. Sunny-side eggs take on a distinctive crust that I still remember from the days when Momma cooked up a pound of bacon and then plopped in a half-dozen or so eggs into the molten, bacon grease. She would use the special steel spatula, that doubled as a dreaded disciplinary tool, to splash the grease onto the tops of the eggs to just barely cook the tops. It wouldn't take an expert to see and taste the difference from an egg made in a plastic-handled non-stick frypan compared to one made in a cast-iron frypan.

THERE ARE, of course, a few pointers that all owners of castiron cookware should heed. First off, cast-iron cookware is particularly likely to become warped if subjected to high heat or sudden extremes in temperature. Therefore, never place cast-iron cookware directly on a high-heated burner or in a hot oven. Place the cookware on a cold burner or in a cold oven and allow the heat to raise gradually.

Common sense should prevail when cooking with cast Iron because of its hearty, heat conduction. You can cook and get the same results over a medium-low heat compared to high heat.

After using the cookware, it should be washed, dried and seasoned immediately. Never place the cookware filled with food in the refrigerator, freezer or dishwasher. If the food has burned or stuck on the bottom or sides, scouring will remove some of the seasoned coating but a light scrubbing with table salt and dry paper towel will remove any leftover food residue with minimal

If you have a gas or an electric istove, you will notice a difference when cooking with cast iron. If nothing else, you will benefit from the lifting. Bon Appetit!

Southfield nutritionist Gail Posner conducts group tours, pointing out healthy food choices to make in the supermarket. Here she escorts the Birmingham-Bloomfield Newcomers Club around the Shopping Center Market in Farmington Hills.

Getting smart about groceries

HESE DAYS, it seems like you need to be a registered dietician to make intelligent choices at the grocery store.

But if you can't become a dietician, maybe you can at least bring one along. That's what a group of women from the Birmingham-Bloomfield Newcomers Club did on a recent weekday morning.

The 10 women took a guided tour of the Shopping Center Market at Orchard Mall in Farmington Hills. They were accompanied by nutrition counselor Gail Posner, who has a master of degree in nutrition and 10 years experience in the field. Posner offers the tours as part of her private nutrition counseling prac-

Providing free samples along the way, she walked the group past the butters, the chips, the breads, the cheeses and the yogurts, pointing out what were really healthy choices and what merely seemed to be.

Posner started out with a basic primer on fats in food, since that is the main concern when it comes to lowering cholesterol and reducing the chance of cancer and other diseases. She explained there are three types of fats: saturated fats, polyunsaturated fats and monosaturated fats. The saturated fats, found in animal fat, lard, whole milk and tropical oils such as coconut oil, are high in cholesterol and should be minimized.

POLYUNSATURATES - in corn oil, sunflower oil, mayonnaise and walnuts have been considered a good choice until recently. But it has been discovered, Posner said, that polyunsaturates not only lower the unwanted low-density lipoproteins (LDLs) in the blood but also lower the high-density lipoproteins (HDLs), thought to help combat cholesterol. So the best choice when it comes to fats, she said, are the monosaturates: canola oil, rapeseed oil, peanut oil, olive oil and hi-oleic safflower oil.

"When we compare the monosaturates with saturated fats, we're not talking about moderately worse," Posner said. "We're talking a major dietary disas-

First stop on Posner's tour were the dairy products. Pointing out that regular cheddar cheese has 110 calories an ounce, she offered several cheeses that are very low in fat and calories - two to three grams per slice and 35 calories. She also had them try some reducedcalorie cheeses - such as Kraft Lite Line - which have five to six grams of fat, but which the group seemed to agree

Next stop on the tour was the snack foods. Here the issue is not cholesterol chips labeled 'no cholesterol' and then say, "Aren't you proud of me?" Posner said with a laugh. "All potato chips are made with vegetable oil and are cholesterol-free. But you need to look at what kind of oil is used. And no matter what you buy, it's still a lot of fat."

FOR LOW-FAT snacks, Posner recommends pretzels (you can have 30 or so small stick pretzels for a serving), popcorn popped without oil and sprayed with a vegetable spray, and rice or popcorn cakes. Watch out for microwave popcorns though. Many are loaded with fat. Posner particularly recommends the flavored rice cakes and the popcorn cakes, which have more flavor than plain rice cakes.

Next, Posner stopped in front of the breads. The key to choosing breads, she said, is making sure whole wheat flour is listed as the first — and therefore the major - ingredient. If it says wheat flour, that means it's just white flour and doesn't offer enough fiber.

The group also sampled a new line of Entenmann's baked goods, which have no fat and fewer calories than the company's other products. They tried cakes, coffeecakes and cookies, and seemed universally pleased. Posner approves of

Italian restaurant has homey quality

On the edge of the Rosedale Garden section of Livonia, there's a neighborhood Italian restaurant that embodies all the warmth and homeyness you might expect to find in a village restaurant in Italy.

At DePalma's, strangers greet you as if you are old friends. The hostess seats you in a cozy booth in a dim, unpretentious room. A woman with a lovely soprano voice plays the baby grand and sings "Santa Lucia" as you read through the extensive menu. Then a young waiter wearing a white shirt and black vest chats a moment before taking your order for wine and hors d'oeuvres.

Even Scrooge would have to enjoy an evening that starts like that.

DePalma's is about to mark its second anniversary, but its chef and owner, Vito N. DePalma, has been cooking around Detroit for several

The restaurant is clearly more than a business to DePalma. One of his two managers is Syd Harris, a former restaurateur himself, who works the room like a politician and makes sure the service is "perfecto," And on Wednesday nights, the restaurant becomes a theater of sorts as the members of the Verdi Opera Society pay homage to Enrico Caru-

Guests are coddled and entertained - and served hearty, Italian cooking. The meals range from pasveal dishes. A surefire winner is the veal zingara, a delicious and salty combination of black olives, prosclutto, sun-dried tomatoes and thin slices of veal sauteed in butter and sherry. It is excellent.

A DISH OF fettucini with fresh mussels was good, though a tremendous portion. The mussels, served in their shells and cooked exactingly, were tossed with the fresh noodles and tomato sauce. Though we found the sauce a little oily, it was seasoned gently and deliciously. The pasta was freshly made. With most entrees comes a choice of soup or salad, a side dish of pasta or a potato and a fresh vegetable. tas and fresh fish to a wide range of Few guests ever get to the desserts - and many leave carrying the portions they couldn't finish and

The restaurant serves a very good minestrone, which almost resembles a bean soup. It doesn't have a heavy tomato taste to it. The breads are wonderful, from the Italian bread with a very heavy crust to the La-Vache, a sweet matzo-like bread.

Even the fresh green beans served with our dinners were crisp and good. Alas, we were disappointed in the lemon shrimp appetizer, in which the shrimp and artichoke hearts were overcooked.

The wine list is as comfortable and unpretentious as the restaurant. It provides ample selections but isn't outrageously expensive or exclusive.

Overall, DePalma's is a special place where you will find good meals, friendly and attentive service and reasonable prices. The lunch menu features your expected selection of pastas, sandwiches and salads - with several interesting variations — like a meatball submarine or a chicken parmesan sandwich or the pineapple royale in which a pineapple is stuffed with chicken salad, topped with toasted almonds and served with fresh fruit.

All dinner and lunch entrees are available for take out, and the restaurant offers a fax service where you can gather lunch (or even dinner party) orders and be assured they will be ready when you are. It is a business after all.

Dressing mixes up in bottle

Call this elegant salad amazing. The dressing is amazingly easy. It mixes right in the bottle, and it tastes amazingly like homemade. The simple arrangement of fruit and greens look amazingly impressive.

To choose a prime papaya for this salad, look for one with smooth, undamaged skin. Allow a firm papaya to ripen at room temperature for 3 to 5 days or until it yields to gentle hand pressure. Once ripe it will keep for several days in the refrigerator.

GREENS AND PAPAYA SALAD 1/4 teaspoons poppy seed

Nutritious meals help active family stay trim

I could have jumped for joy when I read in the paper that researchers have finally come up with a pill that reduces fat in a person's body without special exercise or diet.

It's about time, don't you agree? Having played "Lost and Found" with my weight the last few weeks, I'm hoping that the FDA will step on it and get that pill into production ... fast! After all, summer and swimsuit weather is only four months away!

Until this appetite-reducing pill becomes commercially available, we need to continue to eat sensibly and exercise regularly in order to keep our bodies fit and trim. This week's Winner Dinner, submitted by Adriane De Windt of Bloomfield Hills, will help us to work toward that end, in that it is a tasty and well-balanced meal.

De Windt's life revolves around her two active children and husband. Nary a couch potato among them, her husband, Del, has qualified three times for the National Amateur Golf Tournament, and they ski, golf and play tennis together as a family. Her children are involved in organized team sports as well. She jokingly admits that her eyes are in great shape, thanks to watching her children participate in soccer, hockey, volleyball, baseball, tennis and golf.

BECAUSE THE dinner hour is one time of the day when they are together as a family, De Windt makes a special effort to put together meals that are visually appealing and nutritious but aren't too timeconsuming to make. Always a family favorite, her recipe for yeal served with Parmesan potatoes, a tossed salad and blueberry dessert will surely be a hit with your family as well.

Thank you, Adriane De Windt, for sending in your recipes and congratulations on being our Winner Dinner Winner of the week. As March is National Nutrition Month, your menu will launch us off to a tasty and healthy start. And, until that wonder pill hits the stores, back to sit-ups we

VEAL WITH TOMATOES AND MUSHROOMS.

This quick and easy dish takes only 20 minutes to prepare. It can be made just before serving or it can easily be made in the morning, covered and refrigerated and then reheated. Turkey scaloppine or boneless chicken breasts can be used in place of . the yeal, if desired.

2 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons olive oil Italian bread crumbs thin veal scaloppine (because they are so small, allow two pleces of meat for each adult, one for each child) can chicken broth, 141/2-ounce size 1 or 2 tomatoes, sliced 1 box of fresh mushrooms, 8-ounce size 2 tablespoons flour '

2 tablespoons chopped parsley Italian herb seasoning, to taste

Melt butter in large frying pan. Add the olive oil and stir to mix the two. Coat the yeal with Italian bread crumbs and cook until lightly browned on both sides. While the meat is cooking, slice the mushrooms and the tomatoes. Add the can of chicken broth, the tomatoes and the mushrooms. Simmer until the mushrooms are tender, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle the flour over the pan and gently mix it into the sauce. Add the chopped parsley and the Italian herb seasoning to taste. Cook for a few more minutes and then serve with buttered noodles or Parmesan potatoes.

POTATOES PARMESAN """

A tasty variation, these potatoes are easy to make.

4-6 Idaho or redskin potatoes 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine

½ cup Parmesan cheese Lawry's Seasoning Salt; to taste

Quarter washed, scrubbed potatoes. Roll in melted butter or margarine, Parmesan cheese and Lawry's Seasoning Salt. Bake on a baking sheet for 40 minutes at 400 degrees.

TOSSED SALAD

While the yeal is simmering. put a simple salad together and toss with your choice of dressing.

BLUEBERRY DESSERT

Although especially good with blueberries, this recipe works with fresh peaches and apples as well. Because it is winter, berries are still expensive. However, this recipe can be cut in half, using fewer berries, and it still makes enough for 6 servings. It is especially good served with vanilla ice cream or vanilla yo-

1 quart of fresh blueberries cinnamon, to taste nulmed, to taste — use less than cinnamon, though 2 cups flour

11/2 cups sugar 1 stick butter

Wash fresh berries and place in a deep over-proof dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon and nutmeg.

The topping is made as follows: Mix the flour, sugar and butter until the butter is completely cut in with the flour and sugar. Place on top of the berries. (Because this recipe makes a lot of topping, you may not want to use all of it.) Sprinkle more cinnamon on top and bake at 350 degrees until very lightly browned and bubbly, about 30 minutes.

Spartans bring title back to Livonia

staff writer

The despairing look on the faces of his Livonia Stevenson basketball players. Saturday night concerned coach Jim McIntyre.

The Spartans were trailing Plymouth Salem by nine points following a strong finish by the Rocks at the end of the third quarter.

After a quick lecture by McIntyre, his Stevenson charges did an aboutface in the last period, survived some tense moments late and upset the No. 8-rated Rocks 61-60 in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game at Salem.

"I told 'em 'You come in as winners: don't come over to the bench looking like losers," McIntyre said. "I think the kids picked up on that.

"I wasn't chewing on them, just reminding them they're not quitters. 'Don't come over here acting like you're going to lose."

SALEM, WHICH beat the Spartans twice in the regular season and slips to 18-2, turned a 36-33 lead into a 44-35 bulge at the end of the third quarter.

Stevenson, 14-6 overall, was quick to reverse that trend, scoring the first 10 of the fourth period to lead 45-44 and creating a nail-biting situation that carried through to the final seconds.

The comeback included triples by shooting specialists Rick Laven, who scored a career-high 26 points, and Ron Baran, who finished with 19 after an excellent second half.

Laven's total included five threepointers, three coming in the first half when his nine points helped keep the Spartans in the game and offset a cold-shooting half by Baran.

were ready to play, because we didn't want to get blown out again. We wanted to show we're still a good team, that we're still good enough to beat teams that are ranked."

Laven was being modest, however, about his major contribution, saying he can help if he plays within himself and directing credit to the team's defensive effort.

McINTYRE DIDN'T feel as inhibited in his praise of Laven.

"He has a natural, quick-draw McGraw release," McIntyre said. "He gets the shot off before people know where the ball is. There's probably not a better outside shooter around from certain spots."

Glenn Szeman, Stevenson's 6-foot-9 center, tossed in 11 points and made an equally important contribution by essentially staying out of foul trouble, though he did foul out in the last minute.

Salem's big men, juniors Jake Baker and K.C. Kirkpatrick, paced the Rocks, scoring 20 and 17 points, respectively. Tom Noonan added

"If they're going to shoot as well as they did from that (three-point) spot, they can expect to win the game," said Salem coach Bob Brodie of the Spartans. "They're shooting threes and also getting it to their big guys. That's tough to defense.

"They played hard. They were getting a lot of loose balls, and they made free throws in critical situations. They deserve to be conference champs."

"Before the game, I could tell ev- FOLLOWING THE Spartans' re- ference record and state ranking," couple times and was tied twice until Baran's basket with 1:36 remaining gaye Stevenson a 56-54 lead.

The Rocks missed several crucial free-throw opportunities while Szeman (2), Laven (2), and Phil Woods (1) put Stevenson up 61-57 with 21 seconds left.

Mike Mulder kept Salem's hopes alive when he sank a triple with:07 on the clock. Steve Leonard of Stevenson missed a one-and-one with four seconds left, and Baker grabbed the rebound. Kirkpatrick lofted a shot from just inside the half-court line that fell short as time expired.

"We worked on our press and defensive intensity," Laven said. "In the second game, it wasn't there. This time we backed up our press, so they wouldn't get so many opencourt points."

A first-quarter spurt helped Stevenson to a 14.9 lead as the Rocks shot four of 16 in the period. That turned around in the second with Salem shooting the better percentage and the Spartans two of 16. The Rocks started going baseline to Baker (13 points) and Kirkpatrick (nine points) and took a 25-20 lead into halftime.

Not only did the Spartans win the school's first WLAA basketball championship but the first by a Livonia school.

"IT'S BEEN A while since we've taken something back to the other three schools," McIntyre said. "More than that, I feel good for the kids."

Salem and Stevenson could meet Friday for the district championship at Northville. That also would be a rematch of last year's tournament final won by the Spartans.

"I told the kids 'We've been sitting on a bubble so long with the win streak (16 games), undefeated conerybody was loose;" he said. "We covery at the beginning of the fourth Brodie said. "There was no release."

Wayne cages Tigers for league crown

By Brad Emons staff writer

Wayne Memorial won the Wolverine A League basketball crown the hard way Friday, walking out of Belleville's gym with a hard-fought 64-62 victory.

Wayne, which has won five of the past seven league crowns, wrapped up its regular season with a 19-1 record. The Zebras also duplicated their feat from the 1984-85 season by going 14-0 in the Wolverine A.

A key block by Kevin Hankerson with nine seconds left followed by a free throw - with six seconds remaining - by the 6-foot-4 senior, helped preserve the victory over the bounds pass in his own backcourt host Tigers (15-5, 12-2), who could have clinched a tie for the title with

"I expected this to be a tough game because they (Belleville) were in position to win the title," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry. "I knew it would be an emotional crowd and we'd be facing a Belleville team that would play very hard."

The near-capacity crowd was on its collective feet for the final six seconds as Belleville failed to convert the game-tying basket.

AFTER EACH TEAM called a timeout, guard Rod Hill took the inand fired the ball past the timeline to teammate Ron Hunter, who let fly a 35-foot bank shot that missed the mark as time expired.

"With six seconds left and a good ball-handler like (Paul) Gardette (17 points), I thought it was more than enough time to take the ball the length of the court and get off a good shot," said Henry. "They set screens to get him (Gardette) the ball, but we kept it out his hands. I thought they'd do that or they'd go inside to Hunt-

But Hunter couldn't get the ball in his favorite spot, and it was a good thing for the Zebras, who failed miserably in trying to stop the burly 6-4 junior, who had his way in andaround the basket much of the night en route to a game-high 29 points.

"He (Hunter) was a horse in there," Henry said. "At halftime he had 18 points and we had to switch 'Hank' on him to try to slow him down. The last time out, Derrick Boles (a 6-4 junior) got 21 points on us, but tonight Hunter was the man."

Hankerson, who scored 14 points for the Zebras, came up with big stop, blocking Hunter's inside attempt with only nine seconds left.

BUT THERE were many other heroes for the Zehras, starting with 6-1 poured in 17 of his team-high 22 points in the first half. He also hit key basket on a drive with 1:28 remaining to give Wayne a 63-62 ad-Johnson canned three of his four 3-senior guard Larry Johnson, who pointers in the opening half as Wayne led 40-34.

And yet another stalwart was 5-7 point-guard Reggie Brandon, "The Little Big Man," who chipped in with 14 points.

His four-point play as the buzzer sounded to end the third quarter (set up after Wayne pulled the ball out on a delay) helped erase a 52-51 deficit. "That was one of the huge plays,"

Henry said. "I could not believe it when it went in and he was knocked on his fanny . . . just a great shot." Belleville coach Mike Garland also said Brandon's four-point swing "When you look back it, that's the points they eventually win by," said Garland, whose team shot 37 percent from the floor (20 of 54). "And I'm second-guessing myself on that last play, but I'm proud of my kids because they played hard.

"They're tough kids mentally. They came back four, five and six

Sata's goal topples CC

The puck came to Nick Sata's stick like a dog to its master Thurs-

 Except Sata didn't pet the plece of rubber. He unleashed a wicked slap shot from top of the circle past Redford Catholic Central netminder Matt Fennelly.

And because of it, Livonia Stevenson finally had its day, taming CC, 4-3, in double overtime in a Class A regional semifinal hockey game at Oak Park Compuware Arena.

Sata's goal, on an assist from Nick Mariani with 3:28 left in the second sudden-death, eight-minute overtime session, capped off an entertaining game. After each period, both teams were deadlocked.

Stevenson's Chris Rennie sent the game into OT, knocking in a pass from linemate John Fenech with 2:29 left in regulation. Sata drew the other assist on the crucial goal.

MATT CICHY and Brian Eglinton accounted for Stevenson's other two Pirronello scored two goals while Hubenschmidt added another. Of those three goals, though, only Hubenschmidt's — a minute into the third period - came when both teams were at full strength. Pirronello's first tally with 5:04 left in the second period came on a power play. His second, with 46 seconds left in the period, was a shorthanded effort.

IN THE OVERTIME session, Stevenson (16-5-3) played like a team in a perpetual man-advantage situation. The Spartans outshot the Shamrocks, 9-5, in extra time.

Only the stand-up netminding of Fennelly kept Stevenson from revving up the team bus earlier. He made several key saves, facing a total of

The Spartans' John Labadie had a goal called back just seconds into the first overtime session. The referee kids had confidence they could do it ruled the puck was kicked into the and they stuck to the game plan real net. Undaunted, Stevenson continued to run the show.

Though it was of little solace to the CC coach, who's not used to such carly exits from state playoff festivitles. The Shamrocks (12-7-3) sagged toward the end of the regular season, closing out with losses to Southgate

Anderson (4.0) and Trenton (6.1). CC appeared to have shaken out of doldrums. The team bounced back from a one-goal deficits twice in the second period. Pirronello did Eglinton slap shot from the point was redirected, giving the Spartans' a 2-1 lead with 2:54 left in the period. John Brodhun and Cichy were credited with assists.

With teammate Matt Surowiec off for holding, Pirronello deposited his second goal into the left-hand corner of the net with 46 seconds left. Boxyk and Cyrek assisted.

Pirronello, along with Boxyk, helped set up Hubenschmidt's goal shot tied the score, 1-1. Joe Cyrek 58 seconds into the third period.

Rice swarms over Stevenson

By Marty Budner staff writer

No one could have guessed the outcome of Saturday evening's Class A regional championship ice hockey game between Birmingham Brother Rice and Livonia Stevenson at Compuware Arena in Oak Park.

Not only did the Warriors rout the Spartans, they mercled them. The final score was 11-1, and that count seems unimaginable considering that both teams are ranked among the top 10 Class A schools, both were league powerhouses and both won at least 16 games this season.

Four-time regional champ Brother Rice now advances to the scored by John Fenech halfway state quarterlinals 7 p.m. Wednesday at Yack Arena against Trenton, which won a double-overtime thriller over Southgate Anderson on Saturday.

As for Stevenson, first-year coach Paul Ferguson did not not forsee such a lopsided season-ending defeat. And he refused to totally blame his team's emotional double-overtime victory in Thurdsay's regional semifinal game against Catholic Central for the lethargic effort against Rice.

"What can you say? We were a little bit off of our game tonight," said lic Central)... that there's more to started. the state tournament than that. We that we did against Catholic Central.

They were flying," he said.

FLYING? It was more like a nuclear assault that left the Spartans reeling at every corner of the arena.

Rice forwards Joe Vancik and Chris Freeman each scored goals before the game was four minutes old. Then, late in the first period, Bob Bowen and Freeman scored consecutive short-handed goals one minute apart to give Rice a 4-0 lead after the first 15 minutes of play.

The Warriors were more overpowering in the second period.

Rice outshot Stevenson 15-3, and outscored them 5-1. Tom Ricketts, Vancik, Freeman, Bowen and Pat Grohar accounted for the Warrior tallies. Stevenson's lone goal was through the period on assists by Chris Rennie and Nick Sata.

Brother Rice needed only a little over five minutes to invoke the 10goal mercy rule and senior captain Steve Brown inflicted the honors. Brown tallied at the 14:27 mark and again at the 9:43 mark.

Freeman, a junior who leads Rice in season scoring, finished with three goals and three assists. Bowen added two goals and three assists. Vancik had two goals and an assist.

"I didn't expect this kind of score," said Rice coach Bruce Antloch, whose team takes an overall 17-5-2 mark in Wednesday's action. "You can tell the kids not to be "We worked very hard in our own; satisfied (with a victory over Catho- end tonight and that's where it all

"I thought the turning point was" just didn't have the jump tonight when we scored those two shorthanded goals," he said. "It's tough "But you have to give Rice credit. for anybody to come back after something like that."

Reed shoots Temple to title

Redford Temple Christian's basketball team ended all the suspense Friday night.

Temple, playing its final regular-season game, clinched first place in the Greater Metso Independent Conference with a 76-70 win over visiting Taylor Baptist

The win moved Temple to 13-7 overall. Baptist Park fell to 9-10.

Marlon Reed led three Temple players in double figures with 27 points. Dave Schalte scored 11 and John Millard contributed 10 for Temple, which hosts Redford St. Mary at 6 tonight in the first round of the Class C

Temple led 11-9 after one quarter and enjoyed a 30-19 halftime lead after outscoring Baptist Park 19-10 in the second quarter. Temple opened up a commanding 51-38 lead after three quarters.

"We had two goals," Temple coach Dave Gilliam said. "One was to win our homecoming game (over Allen Park Inter-City Baptist) and the other was the league title '- we've accomplished both. We've progressively gotten better. We were 1-3 in December, 5-3 in January; and 7-1 in February. We've had a good year, but have a tough draw in the district (tonight against St. Mary).

BORGESS 81, LAKES 49: All 15 players scored Thursday, as Redford Bishop Borgess - playing without injured star Shawn Respert - routed visiting Waterford Our Lady of Lakes, 81-49.

Respert is out indefinitely with a twisted knee. It didn't matter Thursday as the Spartans, 17-3 overall, raced to a 23-4 lead after one quarter and led 41-19 at halftime.

Senior guard Artle Brown and sophomore Darwin Cegers, playing in his first varsity game, led Borgess with 10 points each. Junior guard Kevin Riser and sophomore guard Jermaine Parker contributed nine points aplece.

The game was a learning experience for Borgess, which was able to use three players recently called up from the junior varsity, along with a pair of freshmen.

Junior center Pete Ugolini led Lakes, 13-5 overall, with eight CLARENCEVILLE 58, HARPER WOODS 54 (OT): After suffering through a nightmarish fourth quarter, Livonia Clarenceville outscored Harper Woods 7-3 in overtime Thursday to win the Metro Conference game.

Clarenceville, 7-12 overall, led 48-32 after three quarters but Harper Woods outscored the Trojans 19-3 in the fourth quarter to send the game into overtime tied at 51;

Derrick Herr led host Clarenceville with 17 points and Chris Foss added 10. Kendrick Herrington had nine points, including three in overtime, and seven assists for the Trojans. Mike VanBrienen led Harper Woods with 11 points.

OSBORN 64, REDFORD CC 62 (OT): Steve Whitlow led Redford Catholic Central Wednesday with 25 points, but Detroit Osborn came away victorious in overtime.

CC, which fell to 4-16 overall, sent the game into overtime tled at 60 when Whitlow sank an 18-foot jump shot at the end of regulation.

CC led 29-26 at halftime.

WITH ONE BIG accomplishment in hand, Henry was in the mood for celebrating a little bit before his team returns to action Wednesday for the state tournament. Last year Wayne reached the Class A regional finals before losing to Detroit Cooley.

"The league is the most important thing," he sald. "That's what you set your sights on. But it wasn't easy. Belleville is a very worthy opponent. We have all the respect and admiration for coach Garland and his program." Despite the heartbreaking setback, Garland sees his team following Wayne's lead next year.

"We are Wayne Memorial last year, predominantly a junior team," he said. "They have seven seniors on their team this year and that's where we'll be next year."

ST. CLEMENT 79, ST. AGATHA 50: Redford St. Agatha struggled from the free throw line Wednesday and St. Clement outscored the Aggles 42-29 in the second half. It all added up to another loss for St. Agatha, which fell to 6-

The Aggies were only 14 of 33 from the free throw line. Senior center Pat Wagner led Agatha with 14 points.

Guard John Cronin led three St. Clement players in double

St. Clement led 19-12 after one quarter and outscored St. Agatha 18-9 in the second quarter to open up a commanding 37-21 halftime lead.

TRUMAN 64, THURSTON 56: Redford Thurston showed balanced scoring Thursday, but it wasn't enough as host Taylor Truman won the Tri-River League game, 64-56. Donnell Williams, who made all of his six free throws in the final quarter, led Truman with 24 points.

The win improved Truman to 16-4 overall and 12-2 in the Tri-River. Thurston slumped to 14-6 overall and 10-4 in Tri-

Four players scored in double figures for Thurston, led by Jason Muller's 14 points. Dan Pertiula, Colin Shanahan and D.J. Kellogg added 11 points apiece. Thurston trailed by one, 29-28, at halftime, but Truman out-

OAKLAND CHRIST, 76, LUTH. WESTLAND 70: Craig Martin, one of Oakland County's most explosive players, scored 39 points Thursday to lead host Oakland Christian to a narrow win over Lutheran Westland.

Tom Knibbs, who scored 14 points after halftime, contributed 17 points for Oakland, 10-9 overall. Oakland is 5-3 in the National Division of the Michigan Independent Athletic Confer-

Lutheran led 34-28 at halftime but was outscored 30-21 in the third quarter to trail 58-55. Martin, a junior guard, made 11 of 13 free throws to ice the win.

Westland, which slipped to 7-12 overall, got 18 points from junior forward Chris Habitz and 17 from senior forward Mike Habitz also had three three-point field goals, five assists and four steals. Doub Nelson and Steve Aumann were Lutheran's other scorers in double figures, finishing with 11 points apiece. Nelson grabbed a team-high 12 rebounds and Hardies hauled down eight.

GARDEN CITY 78, DEARBORN 70: Garden City recovered from a slow start Friday and won the Northwest Suburban League game behind the 18-point effort of senior forward Rich Morton.

Four players scored in double figures for Garden City, which improved to 8-12 overall and 3-5 in the Northwest Suburban League. The Cougars trailed 22-8 after the first quarter and 40-27 at halftime.

Dearborn led 57-49 after three quarters but Garden City outscored the home team 29-13 in the decisive fourth quarter. Garden City was 26-35 at the free throw line and Dearborn converted 28 of its 38 tries.

Senior guard Dan Emerson had 17 points for Garden City and senior teammates Jim Marszalek and Paul Donaldson contributed 14 points aplece.

WOODHAVEN 65, REDFORD UNION 58: Woodhaven, the regular-season Northwest Suburban League champion, had to rally Friday at home to beat a pesky Redford Union team, 65-58.

Woodhaven, 19-1 overall and 8-0 in the NSL, outscored RU 19-7 in the fourth quarter. RU, which fell to 7-11 overall and 2-6 in the NSL, still led with about 21/2 minutes left before Woodhaven made a final comehack

"We were halfway decent on defense but we didn't get into our offense," RU coach Tip Smathers said. "We tried to do it individually instead of running our offense. We didn't execute well down the stretch."

Steve Nowak led RU with 17 points and Bill Malecki and Dan Lezotte contributed 13 and 12, respectively.

Jason Gagnon had only four points but grabbed eight rebounds for RU, which was outrebounded 46-31. Vernon Crump's 13 points and 10 rebounds led Woodhaven.

HURON VALLEY 94, PLYMOUTH CHRIST. 78: Manish Nandani's game-high 27 points was wasted Friday for Plymouth Christian as Westland Huron Valley Lutheran rolled to a 94-78 win at home. Matt Henzi led four Huron Valley players in double figures with 25 points and five steals. Senior forward Paul Knichelbein had 19 points, Melton Stoudemire scored 18 and Bill Kowske 11 for Huron Valley, now 10-7 overall. Huron Valley led 45-44 at halftime before outscoring Plymouth 25-14 in the third quarter.

Harrison, Patriots grab consolations

By Brad Emons staff writer

Farmington Harrison picked up some steam heading tonight's state tournament with a 72-54 victory Saturday over rival North Farmington in the third-place game of the Western Lakes Activities Association basketball playoffs at Plymouth Salem.

The Hawks (15-5), who bounced back from Tuesday's 82-71 WLAA semifinal loss to Livonia Stevenson, will take on Redford Thurston (14-6) in first-round district action tonight at Redford Bishop Borgess High. (See tournament pairings.)

Andy Smith once again led Harrison, which beat North (10-10) for the second time this season, with a game-high 21 points. Sophomore Paul Gilvydis came off the bench to score 14, while senior point guard 'Mill Coleman contributed 10.

"Smith is a very smart player, always in the right place at the right time," said North coach Tom Negoshian."And for his sizes he shoots the ball very well."

The Hawks simply had too much inside strength for North.

"We had a real nice ballgame with all sorts of quality minutes from our people off the bench," said Harrison coach Mike Teachman. "We accomplished many of our goals this year. We got 15 wins and won our (Western) Division. And along the way there have been a lot of different heroes."

HARRISON TRAILED during the early stages, but went ahead for keeps, 12-10, on a basket by Brian Ellison with 2:15 remaining in the opening quarter.

Gilvydis, a 6-6 sophomore, then scored 10 of his 14 in the second period as the Hawks opened up a 37-26 lead at intermission.

The Hawks took a 48-32 advantage with 4:08 left in the third quarter on a breakaway dunk by Rob Karbowski, but North fought back to within seven after three quarters, 50-43, on a pair of free throws by Matt Hoffman with 11 seconds re-

Harrison then pulled away in the final quarter, outscoring North 24-11. The Hawks hit 13 of 16 free throws to keep North at bay. Poor shooting plagued the Raiders, who made only 19 of 53 from the floor (35 percent) and 12 of 28 from the free throw line (42 percent). "We're 15.0 when we hold our opponent to 62 points or less," Teach-man said. It was a frustrating night for North, which seemed to have a lld on while Hollman, the senior point guard, added 14.

"They (Harrison) played a triangle-and-two defense," said Negoshian. "We had open shots and didn't make them. We just haven't been scoring lately."

FRANKLIN 65, GLENN 61: In the battle for fifth place Saturday in the WLAA playoffs, senior guard Craig Overaltis pumped in 26 points to lead Livonia Franklin (10-10) past Westland John Glenn (10-10).

Franklin overcame à 12.2 deficit at the outset by outscoring the Rockets 21-16, 15-13 and 19-16 over the final three peri-

Dave Barina chipped in with 17 points for the Patriots. Dave Roman added nine. Bobby Lawrence led Glenn, minus two starters because of disciplinary reasons: with 15 points. Tony Dobbins and Garnal Ahmed added 11 each, while Carl Lowe had 10. NORTHVILLE 65, CHURCH-ILL 59: The Western Division co-cham: pion Mustangs (14-6), behind Joe Kaley's 21 points, took seventh place with a winover Livonia Churchill (10-9).

Three other Northville players scoredin double figures: Scott Meredith (15), Paul Grant (12) and Bill Kelly (10).

Mike Thomas paced the Chargers with 16 points, while Kevin Hannigan and Randy Calcaterra added 14 and 13, respectively.

W.L. WESTERN 67, CANTON 55: Five players scored in double figures Saturday as Walled Lake Western (5-15) pulled off a mild surprise in the WLAA loser's bracket, snapping Plymouth Canton's three-game winning streak. Five Warriors netted double figures, led by Chris Johnson's game-high 20 points.

Others scoring in double figures for Western included Jeremy Farkas (12); Jeff Kubik (11), Chris Sobieck (10) and Todd Biron (10). Western connected on 22 of 39 free throws, while Canton (9-11) hit just seven Western trailed 31-23 at the half, but roared back in the third quarter, outscoring the Chiefs 24-10. Three Canton players scored in double figures: Karl Wukie (14), Mike Stafford (10) and Brett Howell (10).

FARMINGTON 61, W.L. CEN-TRAL 51: Chris Schmid led a balanced Falcons attack in a loser's bracket victory over Walled Lake Central (1-19). Farmington, 6-14 entering state district play, also got eight points apiece. from Brian Browne and Eric Miller. Joe Sharpe led Cental with 20 points:

Solid Rocks

Salem glides by Spartans in WLAA

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What happened to Plymouth Salem's swim team last week was one of the best reasons a coach becomes a coach.

It wasn't because the Rocks won. It was because they won when they weren't expected to.

The Rocks surprised a lot of people, including their coach, by captur- relays meet. ing a third-consecutive Western Lakes Activities Association championship Friday. Salem scored 467.5 points to outdistance Livonia Stevenson, which edged favored Northville by a point for second, 411-410.

North Farmington was fourth (368.5), followed by Plymouth Can- and successful, too. ton (297), Farmington (182), Farm. ington Harrison (173), Westland John Glenn (144), Walled Lake Western (46), Livonia Churchill (45), Livonia Franklin (40) and Walled Lake Cenlem coach Chuck Olson answered, "Us finishing fourth or fifth. That's where we ended up in the dual-meet

THE ROCKS were 6-4 overall and 2-2 in Lakes Division duals. Northville was unbeaten in WLAA meets and captured the league's preseason

"We didn't go into the season thinking we were going to lose (four) dual meets," said Olson. "But we had one thing in mind: get ready for Wednesday (the preliminarles) and then do as well as we could tonight."

Simple formula, or so it seems,

The key to victory for Salem was not a multitude of overpowering performances, although they got a pair from senior Ron Orris, an easy double-winner in the 100-yard butterfly (51.70) and 200 freestyle (1:42.38).

Asked what he expected of his Both were new WLAA records; the swimmers going into the meet, Sa. nearest competition was 2.3 seconds behind in the fly and 5.15 seconds behind in the 200.

Depth, though, turned the tide in the Rocks' favor. Salem had four swimmers score in all but one event, the 50 free; they had three in the 50, including two in the final six.

"EVERYBODY DID their job," said Olson, who guided the team to its fifth WLAA title in eight years. "You get four guys scoring in each event, with a certain number in the finals, and you'll be real tough to

"We've had some real nice wins, but to have to pass three teams like Northville, Stevenson and North Farmington makes this special."

At least one coach wasn't surprised by Salem's finish. "Not me," said Doug Buckler, the Stevenson coach. "I knew it a month-and-ahalf ago." How?

"Depth," Buckler answered. "(Olson) had four kids (score) in every event except one, and he had three in that one.

"And he's a great coach, the best in the area. Salem deserved it, they're a good team."

Stevenson may have been providing a glimpse of the future with its strong showing. The Spartans were another surprise, placing second in spite of their youth. They had just two seniors who scored points.

"It was the best we ever swam," said Buckler. "We wanted it real bad. This is the best young team I've ever had. I can't wait to get on the STEVENSON HAD four firstplace finishes, with junior Aaron Reider leading the way with two individual wins and a first on the 200 medley relay.

Reider's titles came in the 200 individual medley (1:58.98) and 100 backstroke (57.05). He combined with Scott DeWolf, Taki Caranicolas and Alex Goecke in winning the medley relay (1:40.62).

North boasted a triple-winner in senior sprinter Chuck Chuba. Chuba's individual firsts came in the 50 free (22.75) and 100 free (49.89), and he teamed with Dan Knipper, Jerry Jehle and Chris Knoche for a win in the 400 free relay (3:19.55).

Northville had the other two champions. Eric Newton edged Stevenson's DeWolf in the 500 free (4:58.48 to 4:58.52) and Larry Osiecki captured the diving (447.00 points). Salem's surprising win and Stevenson's strong showing made it seem as if Northville choked. Olson

After Wednesday's preliminaries, Olson knew what it would take to collect another championship: good, not necessarily spectacular, swimming and an elimination of mistakes. He got both.

And Salem got its title.

Junior tournament needs volunteers

THE NATIONAL championships are coming to town. The finest youth bowlers in the United States and Canada, in addition to Europe and Asia will shoot for $45,000 in scholarship money. It is the "National Junior Bowling Championship," held Aug. 16-20 at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park.

Coca-Cola, a long-time youth bowling supporter, sponsors the event.

The local organizers and officials are in need of volunteers now to help make this a successful and memorable event for competitors and everyone else involved. Volunteers are needed to chaperone both during the day and night.

They all will stay at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. If interested in chaperoning, call Betty Helder at 542-5690. This will be the first time the Youth National Championship will be held in Michigan.

Four bowlers from each state and four from each of the six Canadian providences, in addition to the U.S. military commands in Europe, the Far East, Caribbean and Puerto Rico will be there, -

THE FOUR bowlers are the top scorers and winners of overall competition in local and state competition in four divisions - the boys handicap, girls handicap, boys scratch and girls scratch. The

LIVONIA BOXER WINS

Welterweight Rob Diffanbaugh (147 pounds) of the Livonia Boxing Club bounced back after taking standing eight-count in the second round Wednesday to beat Gilbert Gonzales of Pontiac-Azteca Club in an amateur bout at the Gourmet House in St. Clair Shores.

"Rob took a hard shot to the midsection, but he bounced back nicely," said LBC director Paul Soucy. "It was a tough fight."

Diffanbaugh, a student at Schoolcraft College, will take a 28-6 record into the Detroit-area Golden. Gloves Tournament later this

Hostility a threat to long life

Did you know that . . .

• Scientists now believe that of the various qualities that characterize the Type A person, being angry or hostile is the most significant when it comes to heart disease risk. According to one widely quoted study, almost 20 percent of 25-yearold doctors and lawyers who scored high on hostility tests were dead by age 50. The message is simply this: If you want to live to a ripe old age -- cool it.

• This month, the American Heart Association rolls out its widely publicized, yet much debated, Heart Guide program. Heart Guide is an unprecedented effort in consumer education aimed at helping you to choose foods that meet the AHA's guldelines for total fat, saturated fat, cholesterol and sodium. In the supermarket, you'll begin seeing products that contain a heart-andcheck seal (Figure) that identifies them as having been tested and approved. Food companies can apply for their products to be tested; however, considerable costs may be involved. For more information on Heart Guide simply call 1-800-223-

• A recent review from the Mayo Clinic concluded that drinking alcohol is not an effective method to prevent heart disease. Alcohol seems to raise the HDL-3 form of cholesterol, which has no proven role in safeguarding your heart. It is the HDL-2 form (which is increased by regular exercise) that has been shown to be protective.

Sponsors of SJ Res 212 needed a three-fifths majority to clear the procedural hurdle.

The measure sets April 24, 1990. for remembering "the Armenian Genocide of 1915-23."

By passing it, Congress would acknowledge the disputed historical Empire government was behind the deaths of up to 1.5 million Armenians during the period.

The State Department and many senators expressed concern that pasRoll Call Report point that genocide by the Ottoman sage of the resolution would disrupt relations with Turkey, an ally and NATO member.

Transplanted Southfield resident Sheila Kay is looking for the limelight in L.A., not to mention a part in a situation comedy or even a husband. As Sheila sees it,, she's just wants to be another "domestic goddess" like Roseanne Barr. For more on this very funny lady, see Page 5D.

There's mistaking the enthusiasm sled dogs have for their sport. Hook them to a harness and they're howling, yelping and barking to get started.

'Paw power' keeps 'em mushing along

By Bill Parker staff writer

The howwwwwwl of the huskies shattered the crisp morning air as the sun crept over the horizon with welcomed warmth.

Despite the frigid early morning temperatures, the mood was electric as the huskies warmed up in anticipation of events to come.

This was Kalkaska in mid-February, home of the Kalkaska Sled Dog Races.

Better than 125 sled dog teams from as far away as New York, Missouri and West Virginia had entered the race, an annual event for the past 16 years in this northern Michigan community.

Hundreds of eager dogs — Siberian, Alaskan and American huskies and every cross-breed in between — were howling, yelping, yipping and barking in frenzied anticipation of the start of the rac-

Races are held in several classes including 10-, six-, four- and three-dog teams and unlimited (up to 25 dogs). Anyone over 14 can participate in the races that are sponsored by the Great Lakes Sled Dog Association and sanctioned by the International Sled Dog Racing Association.

Competition is held over groomed, marked trails in distances from four to 36 miles. There is also a weight-pull competition.

ZABIK WAS competing in the four-mile sprint race with her three-dog team of Josie, Rambo and Tiger.

Leonberger: The 'Whopper' of mountain dogs

By Sue Mason staff writer

Bismark von Weinstock can trace his roots back to the small town of Leonberg in the southern part of what is now West Germany near the city of Stutgart. Nearby is the famous Black Forest and the even more famous Swiss Alps.

In fact, Bismark can trace his roots back to the 1840s. Hmmmm . pretty good for a guy who really isn't into genealogy.

Bismark's forte is snow-capped mountains and he has a penchant for a brisk three-mile walk in the morning and some good workouts in the backyard. As for weather, a dash of snowfall is preferable.

An eligible Bloomfield Hills bachelor, Bismark could melt a snow cap with just one look from his soulful brown eyes. And when he kisses you, you know you've been kissed.

"He's a baby . . . a spoiled baby," said Annaleise Tippery, giving him a playful pat on the back.

"Sometimes, he's so responsive, I think he's human."

Oops, did we forget to mention that this dashing young "man" about town is a dog? Yes, he is. You see, young Bismark — he's a mere two years old — is a Leonberger, a rare German mountain dog. (There are only 53 Leonbergers in the United States, with a large contingent based in the Southwest around Phoenix, Ariz.)

Bismark will be among 20 rare breeds of dogs being showcased at the 72nd annual Detroit Kennel Club Dog Show at Cobo Cenier Sunday, March 11.

The Leonberger has many of the features of its ancestors — the small floppy cars of the St. Bernard and the broad face and thick coat of the Great Pyrennes and Newfoundlander. But, according to Tippery, when it comes to mountain work, the Leonberger has it all over its famous distant relative, the St. Bernard.

"ABOUT THE best you can expect of the St. Bernard is for it to sit there and look pretty with a barrel around its neck," said Tippery. "The true mountain dog is the Leonberger." The Leonberger is a very guarded breed in Europe, prized for its

JOHN STORMZAND/staff phtographer

Bismark von Weinstock may weigh close to 150 pounds, but according to his owner, Annaleise Tippery of Bloomfield Hills, the rare German mountain dog is "a baby."

high intelligence and powerful build. It was breed to work the mountains and during wartime, was used to ferry supplies and medicine to soldiers fighting in the mountains.

Tippery, born in Cologne, Germany, discovered the breed three years ago, when a friend introduced her to a breeder during a visit to her homeland. Tippery was looking for a dog after losing her 131/4year-old bearded collie. She had thought about getting a small dog but her children convinced that she should stick with a large one.

cool crisp winter morning with a Dogs strut stuff at DKC show

If you love dogs, then the 1990 Detroit Kennel Club dog show is the place to be Sunday, March 11, at Cobo Center in Detroit.

From 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., 3,200 pedigree dogs of all shapes and sizes will be vying for honors in best of breed and best of show as well as obedience trials.

The show is the largest one-day, all-breed benched dog show in North America. Under the show format, dogs entered in the competition are stationed on benches except while being judged and groomed, providing plenty of viewing by specta-

Dogs of each breed will be judged in six different classifications - pupples, novice, American breed, bred-by-exhibitor, open class and best of breed.

Best of breed competitors will be determined in the categories of sporting, hound, working, terrier, non-sporting, toy and herding, with the seven group winners competing for the coveted best of show

In addition to the competition, there will be 20 rare breeds of dogs on display at the show.

The show again will have the Grand Prix-style steeplechase event, in which dogs of all sizes will race against the clock in individual time trials. The scissor-shaped course has seven barriers, including a wall and 10-foot long tunnel.

Officers from the Detroit and other area police departments will be on hand to explain how police dogs are trained to sniff out bombs and drugs and to locate missing persons.

Tickets for the show cost $6 for adults and $4 for children under 12 and senior citizens. A $15 family ticket will admit two adults and three children. Tickets are available at all Hudson and TicketMas-

'Red October' misses mark as a 'thriller'

Films set against the backdrop of international politics and conflict lose their impact when those tensions are defused. Then they become historical dramas - but they still need to discover excitement and dramain the material.

None of which exists in "The Hunt for Red October" (C., PG, 135 minutes). There's just endless, confusing underwater shots, control panel shots and storm-at-sea shots. Seldom are those shots immediately or clearly identified.

Soviet Naval Officer Marko Ramius (Sean Connery) captains the "Red" October," the Soviet's latest and most threatening submarine. Together with a few of his trusted officers he plans to defect to the United

Meanwhile in Washington, Admiral James Greer (James Earl Jones), a major figure in the CIA, summons his Javorite analyst, Jack Ryan (Alec Baldwin) to figure out what's going

Naturally, Jack is quiet but heroic. Is Captain Ramius defecting? Is he going to bomb the East Coast? Who knows? National Security Advisor Jeffrey Pelt (Richard Jordan) doesn't and he isn't getting much help from Soviet Ambassador Andrei. That makes as much sense as the Lysenko (Joss Ackland). Let Jack figure it out.

SEAN CONNERY, James Earl Jones and the rest of the cast are far too accomplished for this cliched screenplay by Larry Ferguson and Donald Stewart and the murky direction by John McTiernan ("Die Hard" and "Predator").

The cast walks through their lines, looking faintly embarrassed, but striving as professionals to do the job they were paid for. But now that Comrade Glasnost has come to roost in the Soviet Embassy, there's just no story here - and it's told very poorly.

Can you believe Sonorman Jonesy aboard the U.S. Submarine Dallas? He wears Petty Officer Second Class Insignia but he's listed as a plain seaman. He sits there with his sonor, earphones and $40 million computer figuring out major technical secrets.

Does he have trouble convincing the Chief Boatswain (Larry Ferguson) or his Captain (Scott Glenn)? Of course not, they are eager to make major decisions based on an enlisted man's theory. That's not the Navy I remember.

By the way, did Ramius defect? In the end he discusses the issue at length with Jack Ryan but never explains his position. It may have been because both Ramius and Ryan were taught to fish by their grandfathers. rest of "The Hunt for Red October."

Screening this weekend at the spends its first 10 minutes without a single word of dialogue. Dissonant electronic music fills the soundtrack while the film focuses on a pair of women obsessed with video-taped

Alone in her apartment, Lisa (Arsinee Khanijian) zooms in slowly on a man in the background of a scene - a handsome extra named Lance (Michael McManus). The second woman, Clara (Gabrielle Rose), seated in a new age mausoleum, watches her deceased brother walk toward

In Egoyan's world of the very near lovemaking — are prompted by the sture, people thrive on empty com-video image. The scary part is how future, people thrive on empty compliments and never really get to the heart of a conversation. Lisa, who works with Lance in the housekeeping department of a small hotel, tries to confront Lance with real feelings, but he literally runs from

THE FILM brings home Lance's vacuousness when he finally lands an audition for a speaking part. He talks in monotone during an emotional hospital scene.

"Do you think he's real enough?" asks the God-like movie producer, presiding over script meetings on an imposing video screen. Of course, he is, because everyone acts in a similarly detached way.

Clara, the screenwriter, also falls in love with Lance, mostly because he so resembles her dead brother. But all emotions with them - even readily they accept it. Bleakness, sterility and claustrophobia permeate the film, from the gray laundry and hotel rooms where Lance and Lisa work to the artificially lit mausoleum. None of the scenes take place outside, except in Clara's dead brother's video image.

'Speaking Parts' is hard to watch because Egoyan gives us no one to relate to. Lisa, the apparent heroine of the film, longs for an emotional breakthrough, but also relies heavily on video to accomplish it. We can't tell what's going on behind actress Khahijian's intentionally lifeless per-

In many ways, "Speaking Parts" is a more intense, though less mature, companion piece to "sex, lies and videotape." It's the ambition and obvious thought behind the project that allow us to see beyond Egoyan's student art-film pretensions.

Station: Not so soulful sounds

By Jill Hamilton special writer

First, let's get this out of the way. Soul Station doesn't play soul music. What they do play is an unusual sort of guitar-driven rock that sounds like an unlikely combination of "classic rock" and Stan Ridgeway. This mixture actually works.

Soul Station is a band you could bring home to mother. During an early afternoon interview at the glamorous setting of a Denny's Restaurant, Joe Angotti (lead guitar), John Linardos (vocals, rhythm guitar) and Scott Burks (drums) proved themselves to be articulate, personable, nice guys.

Nice guys? Yes, nice. Although we don't know for sure since bassist Steve Rousee couldn't come to the Denny's summit, he's probably a nice guy,

Some bands seem more enamored with the trappings of success and the idea of being in a band than in the music itself. The four guys in Soul Station play in a band just because they really like playing music.

"We're always going to play," Linardos said. "Of course, it would be nice to be able to make a

Sure, but is it probable? Actually, the answer is Soul Station got off to quite a good start. For their first gig, they played at St. Andrew's Hall, opening for the Orange Roughies.

"It happened kind of fast," said Burks. Linardos was a friend of the Orange Roughles and asked if his band could open for them at the St. Andrew's gig. What Linardos neglected to mention was that he didn't exactly have a band together yet. He quickly recruited Angotti, a neighbor from his building and his friends Rousee and Burks.

THE SHOW was a success. They had to use a practice amp since they didn't have any equipment but, as Burks puts it, "We jammed."

After that fateful first gig, Soul Station decided that maybe it was time to buy some equipment. It was a good investment. After only 11/2 years of playing together, Soul Station racked up an impressive array of successful performances.

In January, they headlined with several of Detroit's most popular bands at the FUN magazine party at St. Andrew's Hall. They also played at the popular Tremor Records show at Paycheck's.

In February, they performed at the Majestic Theatre with such illustrious local talent as Crossed Wire, Phineas Gage, the Sun Messengers and Ash Can VanGogh at a benefit for WDET and the American Heart Association.

Their new five-song cassette, simply titled "Soul Station" has been getting air play on WDET's "Dimensions" show and on WDTR's "Detroit Music Scene."

The band has started playing the out-of-state club circuit.

"We've played in Toledo and Milwaukee . . . the Midwestern tour," said Angotti.

The band hopes to eventually expand their next Midwestern tour to include more than two cities, but for the present, they are happy with what they

"When we first started out, half the shows were good and half were not good," said Angotti. "Lately, we've been playing well and getting good re"WE'RE GETTING more consistent," Linardos

Lindaros handles writing the songs for the group because, as Angotti puts it, "We're lazy, so we let him do it."

"I try to write all the time. Every night I write something - songs, poetry or something on the guitar," said Linardos.

When asked about musical influences, Linardos named songwriters "like James Taylor, Paul Simon, Lou Reed.'

Listening to Soul Station's rough-edged songs, it's hard to imagine that they were somehow inspired by mellow rockers like James Taylor and Paul Simon. But, take a look at the lyric sheet and the influence is obvious. Linardos has quite a talent for writing honest, emotional songs.

WHEN ASKED about other local bands, Soul Station is quick to compliment the competition. Some favorites include Anti-Fashion, Inside Out, Viv Akauldren, Static Alphabet and Crossed Wire. They repeat the familiar refrain that Detroit has a lot of great local bands but that there is little radio support. However, Soul Station has a solution to the dilemma.

"Everybody has to get together." Linardos said "Local bands need to work with each other instead of competing with each other," added Jim Stone, who manages the band.

"More like a collective," echoed Burks. "I would be great if there were more local compilation albums." He cites Tremor Records and commends them for their support of local music.

"Their review was really fun and it was packed," he said. "We could use a lot more things

The Livonia Stevenson graduate has performed with a number of local groups, most notably Snake Out and Elvis Hitler. Several musicians helped out on the project, including vocalists Karen Oliver, and Angle Defever describes his music as "basically rock music" blended with folk and classical stylings. He's putting together a band to tour in the fall. Members include Melissa Elliot and his younger brother Matthew Defever.

We have a new idea for a compilation album. Title it "Bass Player Blues" and ask Frank Allison & the Odd Sox, Orange Roughles and Jugglers and Thieves to appear. All three have, or will be, waving byebye to their bassists.

John Boyle recently performed his last show with Frank Allison & the Odd Sox at the Blind Pig. Tim Doss of the Orange Roughles served notice he wouldn't be able to tour in support of the long-awaited release of "Knuckle Sandwich."

Jill Zimba of Jugglers and Thieves will be leaving the band to marry Daryl Dybka, who is keyboardist and co-producer of the Chet Atkins Band, later this year.

INSHA-ALLAH! - Nasa

Nasa's debut, Insha-Allah!, is the latest entry in the recent spate of Middle Eastern recordings hitting U.S. shores. With Insha-Allah!, Momo (gultar) and Cash (vocals) have no less lofty a goal than "to bring together East and West into a startling new synthesis of sound." They succeed. The group, named after the American space program and Gamal Abdel Nasser (the Egyptian president who spearheaded the movement for Arab unity), spices up Western guitar-based rock with mysterious Eastern melodies, chants and sounds. The mixture makes for quite an odd concoction.

Although Western musicians, most notably George Harrison, have incorporated elements of Middle-Eastern music into their music for years, Nasa is the first band to go beyond the occasional use of a sitar and give Eastern and Western sounds equal and oasis of gentle, atmospheric Krishna and Allah. Eastern sounds. Cash's echoed vocals can be anthemic and sweeping, loosely translated as "God willing." as on "Woman" or harsh and metal- No use taking any chances. lic, as in "Magic Jeweled Limousine." He has that same sort of passionate wall as U2's Bono or INXS' Michael Hutchence.

Two songs - "Shah Shah" and "Serophia" were previously released on a four-song EP, "Boy King and the Lizard Giri." "Shah Shah" is savage and exotic layering of sounds. "Scrophia" is a dizzylng dance tune, complete with a new age philosophy in lyrics like, " A love mission, children given sight/a psychic vision, beauty born of decay/a new religion, pary for your love to stay."

BLOOD BROTHERS — Rob Tyner

In 1969, three bands released major-label debuts that forever redefined "the Detroit sound." The Stooges, Alice Cooper and the MC5 played raspy, industrial strength rock-and-roll. Of the three, the MC5 was the most political, inventive and Twenty years later, the raw power, muscle and sonic boom of these bands is still being imitated. And while the bands themselves have all disintegrated, the lead singers, Iggy Pop, Alice Cooper and Rob Tyner, remain the most active and recognized alumni of their respective bands. Unfortunately, none of the three has retained the distinctiveness or originality that characterized their early work.

Rather, they are all imitating their imitators. Iggy Pop's songs crop up on soundtracks, where they blend depressingly with the current wave of L.A. metal. Alice Cooper has copped more than his fair share of Bon Jovi harmonies of late. And Rob Tyner, well, his is the saddest story has been the band's key songwriting member. If this is true, Tyner's skills have evaporated over the past two decades. The record has traces of the MC5's politicism, but the ideas are even

"Blood Brothers" is a startlingly bad record. Typer claims to have penned most of the MC5's lyrics, and more fuzzy and muddled. On several tracks, Tyner strives for anthemic pop-metal. The results end up sounding like bargain basement KISS.

Tyner's vocals are a pale, wobbly echo of his former full-tilt assault, and his band is not able to prop him up. Joey Gaydos has a stableful of Van Halen-inspired snorts and whinnies, but his efforts are shoehorned into the songs. And the drumming is simply inept, with beats stumbling about like soused deckhands. The opening cut, a cover of the Stone's "It's Only Rock'n'Roll," is so tepid that the title becomes a lie.

Because the record contains blatant attempts to cop the Los Angeles pop-metal sound, it might be possible to write this record off as a desperate and ill-advised stab at Top 40. If, however, this record represents Tyner's idea of "Detroit hard rock," he would do well to head for the palm trees and leave "Motor: City Music" to people who can still smell something burning in the Motor City. - John Logie

SHAKE YOUR MONEYMAKER Black Crowes

Ah yes, sometimes life is surpris-

The Black Crowes are a new band from Atlanta, Ga., who recently received quite a career boost when they were signed by Def American, a division of Gessen Records. With "Shake Your Moneymaker," the Crowes are making their first stab at the big time. Unfortunately, the Crowes also became acquainted with publicists. Here, verbatim, is what one eager young PR type at Geffen had to say about the Crowes:

"If rock'n'roll is down'n'dirty, boozin', bloozin', and flozzin" if rock'n'roll is letting loose all your emotions, if rock'n'roll is reacting to signing a record deal with the word 'cool,' if rock'n'roll is crashing a car, so you can put the real thing instead of a sound effect in a song, then the Black Crowes is rock'n'roll."

Maybe this description would thrill and excite some eager, young listeners, but others of us might be prompted to think, "Gosh, those Black Crowe guys sound like a bunch of jerks."

So, it was with great trepidation that we placed this particular disc on the old turntable. Guess what? The album is pretty good.

Brothers Chris (vocals) and Rich

Robinson (guitar) might be jerks, but they are not talentless jerks. They are adept at writing powerful tunes that rock hard and actually have some semblance of a melody. Drummer Steve Gorman bangs the skins with originality and finesse

And, perhaps the biggest bonus, on "Shake Your Moneymaker," the songs don't all sound alike. These Crowe fellows have written some mighty fine tunes incorporating roots rock; head bangers and sweet, sorrowful blues Their "power ballads" are actually powerful and their rockers rock. Songs range from a funky cover of Otis Redding's "Hard to Handle" to the bluory "Sooing Things" to the melancholic "She Talks to Angula," a song about addiction.

"Shake Your Mome: fine debut and al band some acciation. Th PR person stays out of it.

FEAR & LOAFING

Getting a job

By Karl Nilsson special writer

People change careers for a variety of reasons. Some desire personal growth. Others seek greater opportunity.

Occasionally the move is not voluntary. Sometimes a slight personality quirk like hiding fripe around the office can rub the boss the wrong way. Sometimes a minor incident like impaling the owner's Mercedes on a forklight can signal a departure.

But whatever the reason for being in the job market, everyone agrees the worst part of looking for work is the Job Interview. And no wonder! Patterned after the Spanish Inquisition, it's designed to turn your most innocent remarks into evidence that . can be used against you.

For instance, suppose you're applying for head chef at a posh restaurant. Asked to describe your recent job experience you reply, "Fewer people died of food poisoning than at my first two jobs."

Excellent answer, except for one tiny mistake - you inadvertently. revealed you worked at three establishments. That could brand you as a 'job-hopper."

Or let's say you're applying for chief mechanic at a new car dealerreply, "I installed brakes for 10 years and never had a single customer come back and complain. I guess the accidents were always fatal. Eventually I got depressed with all the lawsuits and burned the place

Not a bad answer, but don't use the word "depressed." Car dealers want people who can smile and project confidence.

Whatever your situation, you can breeze through your next interview with helpful tips compiled by personnel directors across the country:

1.) Never phone your analyst during a job interview. It's far better etiquette to bring him along in person. If you feel more comfortable answering questions lying down, remember to ask the interviewer to clear off his desk before you spread

2.) Companies value loyalty from their prospective employees. Before your interview, have the company logo tatooed across your chest. During the dialogue, look for an excuse to casually open your shirt to the 3.) Personal appearance is critical. Trouble is, you can't anticipate swipes so much as a pencil.

the interviewer's taste. If you're lucky enought to wear a hairpiece, bring a spare. If things seem to be going badly for you as a young brunette, switch to your gray toupee.

4.) Gone are the days of sheep mentality. Today, companies want employees who are bold and assertive. Even if you're a non-smoker, light up a 10-inch cigar. If the interviewer points to a no-smoking sign, rip it down and laugh contemptuously. When the air is completely fouled, grind your stogey out on the mahogany desk top. Having proved your rugged individualism, put the cigar back in your purse and reapply your lipstick.

5.) By state law, licensed interviewers must be able to pass for comatose, so breaking the ice isn't easy. To liven things up start off with a hand-buzzer, juggle a rubber chicken, and squirt him with sillystring. Next, fill out your application with disappearing ink, toss a smoke bomb into the wastebasket, and make a Xerox copy of your bare ship. Asked about your specialty you butt. That's the kind of spunk that can't be ignored!

Occasionally, a second interview is conducted in a most relaxed atmosphere, usually over lunch. Special rules of business courtesy apply

1.) Except for minestrone, it's best not to eat soup with your fingers. It could be hot enough to cause a nasty

2.) If dexterity and coordination are called for in your new position, a demonstration could be helpful: Place a toothpick between your front teeth and spear your meat-

3.) When the check comes, make a grand gesture and grab it from the waiter. Then try to pay it with food stamps. This will subtity underscore how badly you need the job.

Finally, with employee pilferage at an all time high, questions will inevitably turn to your personal integrity. To convey your feelings about white collar crime, pull out a giant chrome revolver and shove it up the interviewer's nose. In your best Dirty Harry snarl, say you'll personally terminate any co-worker that

Where to meet people

A few months ago, someone wrote to you inquiring about why there are not any groups forming for individuals to meet new people. With all of the self-help and other support groups in the metro area, it does not seem right that women and men who need to meet new people don't have a place to congregate.

I am a 23-year-old female recently moved back to this area. After being away for school, coming back has proven difficult, especially in the acquiring of new friends. I would like to know if any such group has since been formed, and if not, how to contact anyone interested in forming some kind of new one.

In Search of New Acquaintances Dear In Search of:

A few months ago there was a lot of correspondence in this column from singles. Many bemoaned the lack of situations for single people.

Others wrote to say that they had found many possibilities for meeting new people in the Observer & Eccentric, the News and the Free Press. They cited church and temple groups, community gatherings, dating services and even bars as possible sites for meeting other singles.

However, even the singles who find others who are unattached seem to have trouble finding the "right" ones. That is, cohorts with similar values and interests.

When singles were high school and college age, there was a school environment that allowed for a lot of dis-. course and familiarity before romantic attachments were decided. Without that environment and the possibility for familiarity that it imparts, many singles find that they are in a crapshoot, as one of my readers called it.

The suggestions that successful singles give are the following: They say to be open to new people and experiences, wherever you are. Friendships with married people can add dimension to your life and may lead to an eventual fix-up as well.

Singles who have been successful in meeting others say that being fixed up by friends has the best chances for success. Friends know you and thus can screen the possibilities. Friends often have values and interests similar to yours - and so will their choices.

Of course, if you have interests political, athletic, intellectual or artistic, you will have more chances for finding friends who are compatible. Don't expect others to come after you. You have to be aggressive.

My readers and I always love to hear more on this subject, so let us know-what happens to you.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg special writer.

Three more Oscar-nominated films have been added to the video list. There are now 15 motion pictures in contention for Academy Awards which are or shortly will be available on video cassette for home viewing.

Leading the latest list is "Dead" Poets Society" with four nods from the academy - best picture, best actor, best director and best original screenplay.

Apparently, producers and distributors now feel there's more money to be made from video than from milking Oscar nominations at the box office. Touchstone has just announced that "Dead Poets Society" will "be available on video cassette just two days after the Academy Awards telecast in March." --

Earlier CBS ox announced March 29 as the street date for "The Abyss" which received Oscar nominations for art direction, cinematography, sound and visual effects. Finally, Orion has announced Woody Allen's 'Crimes and Misdemeanors' on the video racks May 24.

Not in contention for an Oscar, but still playing at the local theaters, "Look Who's Talking" will be released on cassette April 11. As with other top-grossing films from 1989 - "Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade," "Dead Poets Society" and "Batman" — this may be a case where not too much more is expected at the box-office, so it's time too milk the video market.

Another film still in theatrical release which is now (March 1) available on video is "Apartment Zero" (color, 1989, R, 114 minutes). It's been playing aroung the country at 15 to 20 theaters for the past five months, but for the life of me, I can't understand why.

"APARTMENT ZERO" won best picture at the Fort Lauderdale Film Festival and that honor plus best director at the Seattle Film Festival, neither of which are the big leagues, so there may be a clue there.

The story and production values are appropriate to the title. Set in Buenos Aires, a repressed manager of an art film house, Adrian Leduc (Colin Firth), takes in a border, Jack Carney (Hart Bochner).

Their relationship develops against the background of Argentinian society cleansing itself from the legacy of death squads, a serial killer on the loose, homosexual overtones and a touch of necrophilia for on, but actually, the film is etremely slow and boring and an excellent demonstration of the difference between artistic and pretentious film-Zero," of course, is the latter.

With such offerings, it's no wonder that distributors are releasing Oscar a similar class.

winners of former years. Twentyfive MGM titles are now available on cassette. Add to those five Columbia classics which will be available just prior to this year's Oscar ceremonies.

"Picnic," "The More the Merrier," "On the Waterfront," "From Here to Eternity" and "All the King's Men" will be out March 21. The first two are making their debut on the video racks, while the last three have been around for some time. All are listed at $19.95, which means that eager collectors will find some real bar-

"All the King's Men" (1949, black and white, 109 minutes, not rated) is of particular interest featuring Broderick Crawford in the portrayal of Louisiana Gov. Huey Long, a performance which won best actor in 1949. Screen this video just before trekking out to the theater to see Paul Newman's current hit, "Blaze," the story of Huey's younger brother, Earl, also a governor of Louisiana.

BESIDES BEST actor, "All the King's Men" won best supporting actress and best picture. Based on Rob-That may sound like a lot going ert Penn Warren's Pulitzer Prizewinning novel, it also was nominated for directing, writing and film edit-

'On the Waterfront" (1954, black making techniques. "Apartment, and white, not rated) and "From Here to Eternity" (1953, black and white, 118 minutes, not rated) are in

"Waterfront," the well-known film about labor racketeering, stars Mar-Ion Brando, Eva Marie Saint and Lee J. Cobb. It won best picture, actor, supporting actress, directing, writing, cinematography, art direction and film editing.

"From Here to Eternity," featuring Burt Lancaster, Frank Sinatra, Montgomery Clift, Ernest Borgnine, Donna Reed and Deborah Kerr, won seven Oscars for its compelling tale of army life in Hawaii just prior to Pearl Harbor.

The two new video releases, "Picnic" (1956, color, 113 minutes, not rated) and "The More the Merrier" 91943, black and white, 104 minutes, not rated) are both well worth your viewing time.

"Picnic" stars William Holden, Kim Novak, Rosalind Russell and Susan Strasburg in a drama about an 🛴 egotistical drifter and the effect he has on the lives of five women in a small, Midwestern town. It won Oscars for art direction set direction and film editing while being nominated for best picture, supporting actor, direction and music scoring

"The More the Merrier' is a comedy set during World War II in Washington. Jean Arthur, Joel McCrea and Charles Coburn star, with the last winning best supporting actor; Arthur was nominated for best actress. The film also was nominated. for best picture, director and screen-

Bismark readies for debut

"My friend introduced me to a woman she said had a dog I was going to love," Tippery said. "I meet her and the dog and fell in love with Topas (Bismark's father).' One thing led to another and a year later, Tippery and her husband became the proud owners of Bismark. As dogs go, Bismark is a well-traveled pooch. He was 12 weeks old when he was shipped via Luftansa Freight to New York, with a connecting flight on United Freight to Detroit.

He came with a letter, explaining his care. According to the letter, Leonbergers dine on tripe and rice. They should never be placed in a cage (it will break their spirit, Tippery said). And the long fur on their paws should never be trimmed. The fur attracts ice crystals, protecting their pads from frostbite, Tippery explained.

Being a German dog, it's to be expected that the animal would be named after a famous German, in this case, Prince Otto Von Bismark. But Bismark got his name more for a painting of the Prussian chancellor of the German Empire than the man himself.

"There's a painting of Bismark in a museum in Munich," Tippery said. "He's posing with two Leonbergers. I saw it as a young girl and someday I'm going to go back and take a picture of it."

Bismark has a good temperament and is "wonderful" with children. "He knows his limitations." Tippery sald.

He also is protective of the family cat, Bubbles, although the feeling isn't mutual. Bubbles tolerates Bismark, Tippery sald.

For now, Bismark is brushing up on his rink etiquette at the Birmingham Dog Obedience School in preparation for the dog show - his and Tippery's first. There will also be a visit to the groomer's for some primping.

And, of course, there will still be the morning walks and playtime. "You really have to work with them," Tippery said.

Sheila Kay is finding fame on West Coast

By Bob Sadler special writer

Sheila Kay is yet another transplanted Detroit comic seeking limelight in La-La land — not to mention maybe a part in a decent sit-com or even a husband.

"God knows I'm waiting for the perfect marriage," Kay said. "I just want to take care of somebody and be a domestic goddess like

Maybe the former Southfield resident is pulling our legs a bit. She'd probably like the weekly television show and notoriety that a certain Ms. Barr now enjoys, but that domestic goddess stuff may not exactly be her cup of tea.

"I've been married so many times I don't remember," Kay said.

In actuality, it's only been twice, but she's certainly not that far removed from the realities of domestic life. She was washing dishes at the beginning of the interview.

She only uses her first and middle names for her stage moniker, because the wry comic doesn't "want people to find her." Standing about live-feet tall, Sheila describes herself not as another Roseanne, but as ·Carla from "Cheers" plus another 20

The majority of her humor is of the self-deprecating variety - the ·kind of "how do I look to you" stuff that has spelled stardom for people like Gary Shandling:

SHE FOCUSES on her appearance (particularly on her ongoing diet and exercise battles), her history of relationships (or "dating and the lack thereof" as she put it) and the family that provided both material and support through the years:

"I hate watching ine perform," Kay says in her typical self-deprecating way. "I've got all these tapes of myself, and I never see them. I never like me as much as I hope everybody else will."

It's been a long road to full-time. comedy and Los Angeles for Sheila Kay. Born in Detroit, she spent the first six years of her life in the old Dexter-Davison neighborhood. Later, her family moved to Oak Park, where she grew up playing the clarinet and taking dancing and singing lessons.

"I always had that show biz thing around me; my uncle used to be on the 'Soupy Sales Show,' doing skits and other stuff," she said. "I had a lot of background in the family, but I never really thought about show. business as a career.

"I got married right after high school (she graduated from Ferndale High School), and it threw a monkey wrench in my entire life!"

In March 1979, she joined the nucleus of Detroit comics who all earned their wings during the early days at the Comedy Castle. This illustrious group includes people like Bill Thomas, Van Gunter and Tony Hayes — people who have been able to stay alive on the comedy circuit ever since. Kay remembers those days well. 👉

Kay worked at various day jobs while learning the comedic ropes and actually ran a club in Bloomfield Hills for a short time. The experience gained booking a club and emceeing shows gave Kay the confidence to take her act on the road. Finally, the move to Los Angeles was made three years ago.

Now, she has made it as a national headliner, with some television credits to boot - "Comic Strip Live," HBO's "Not Necessarily the News," "Evening at the Improv," and a soon-to-air appearance on the Showtime Comedy Club Network. However, the humble comic still sees room for improvement and more stars to

"I feel I'm doing my job well, but I'm not really where I want to be yet," she sald. "I'd like to get better. In fact, I'd like to be a director someday - because I'm really good at telling people what to do."

Sheila Kay will perform March 2-3 at the Mainstreet Comedy Showcase in Ann Arbor and March 21-25 at the Holly Hotel.

Ten lovely ladies in nine movies are vying for two of the most prestigious Oscars — best actress and best supporting actress — to say nothing of those who weren't nominated although many think they ought to have been:

· It's unusual, but not unheard of, for two nominations to be made in the same category for a given film. Anjelica Huston and Leno Olin — wife and mistress to Ron Silver's Holocaust survivor in "Enemies, a Love Story" - are in that category and among the brightest performances nominated this

Julia Roberts nominated for her role as the tragically fated daughter in "Steel Magnolias" is in a film that some think ought to have had a few more nominations for best supporting actress. Shirley MacLaine and Olympia Dukakis were magnificent in that film.

Of course, what constitutes a supporting role is open to debate. Who was the feminine lead in "Steel Magnolias" that Roberts supported?

The same question might be raised regarding Huston and Olin in "Enemies, a Love Story." In terms of lines, screen time or any other measure, both were featured more than Sophie Stein who supported them in the role of the Polish servant that saved Silver from the Nazis and later married him. Her fine performance also deserved a nomination.

Well, who will win?

LET'S ELIMINATE Brenda Fricker as Christy Brown's mother in "My Left Foot." It's hard to credit a performance that presents the same visage over a 20-year period. The incredible strain of bearpoverty, particularly when one of them has cerebral palsy and one's husband is less than a perfect gentleman, ought to show more on the features and the bearing but Fricker carries on brightly and bravely throughout. Far too much so for credibility, much less for ac-

Dianne Wiest in "Parenthood" was effective as a distraught, single mother with difficult children to raise, but her performance wasn't all that noteworthy. Competent, yes, award-winning, no. In fact, given some of the possible choices this year, this was a puzzling nomination.

Julia Robert's nomination also strikes a strange note. Despite a sympathetic role, she was overshadowed by an extremely fine cast, some of whom had to be in "support." So, eliminate her and that brings us back to Olin and Huston in "Enemies."

Both were excellent and both have a lot of political sympathy working for them, attitudes which mean so much in the academy's selection process. Olin was wellregarded for her role in "The Unbearable Lightness of Being" despite the fact the film didn't do ing and raising seven children in Michelle Pfeiffer won her best actress nomination for her performance with Jeff and Beau Bridges in "The Fabulous Baker Bovs."

Politics aside, Tandy, Huston are best picks

Lena Olin's performance as Masha, the passionate and troubled mistress of Herman Broder (Ron Silver) in "Enemies: A Love Story," won her a best supporting actress nomination.

Julia Roberts earned her best supporting actress nomination for her role as Shelby Eatenton Latcherie in "Steel Magnollas."

Zabik has suffered broken ribs and a broken nose and received stitches in her lip from sled accidents during training.

"The danger is if you fall off your sled," said Zabik. "If you fall, you don't let go of the sled. 'Lose your sled and you're dead,' is a slogan of the mushers. You have to hold on until the dogs stop, otherwise you'll have a team that's out of control."

Zabik bounced back from the Kalkaska disaster to finish second the following weekend at the Michigan/Wisconsin Curtis Cup Challenge in Curtis.

"I came in second on Saturday and had to pass a couple people," Zabik said. "On Sunday I didn't see a soul. It wasn't ley at all; the trail was great. I fell once on the trall, but overall it was a great race."

ZABIK WAS introduced to the sled dog scene several years ago while visiting a friend in Alaska, home of the Iditarod Trail Race, the most famous dog sled race in North America which covers more than 1,000 miles. She was bitten by the sled dog bug several years latand Mahon became good friends. Mahon gave Zabik her first two sled dogs - a pair of registered Siberian huskies.

"She gave me one great dog and one good dog," Zabik sald. "It's really not unusual for some other racer to give you a dog because everyone is really friendly. But it is kind of unusual for someone to give you a good dog, especially two of them."

Experience with the dog team means a lot on the trail. The secret, according to Zabik, is having

Mom/artist dotting her pieces and cubes

By Cathleen Collins Lee special writer

Then Birmingham artist Carol Jacobson comes across some limitation or problem in her work, she is frustrated but she's also, well, pleased.

"It's a challenge to me to see what I can do with a limited resource," she said. "The creative process is simply like that in that there are problems that don't have obvious solutions. It pushes you into learning to do new kinds of things yourself. You can try a lot of different things."

Jacobson had just that kind of experience a few years ago when she wanted to buy baby furniture for her daughter Lacey, now 31/2.

A graphic artist and a graduate of University of Michigan's fine arts program, Jacobson has an intense visual awareness and her own definite sense of style.

When she found that the traditional nursery furniture did not appeal to her, she decided to create what she wanted herself. She bought unfinished furniture and garage sale castoffs, then painted them in bright, colorful patterns; Checkerboards, splatter paint, small scattered flowers, polka dots, and combinations of scattered doodles, crosses and dots. Friends asked her to paint furniture for their children, and soon her basement painting projects were becoming a business.

JACOBSON NOW sells a variety of hand-painted furniture for children, including chair and table sets, rocking chairs, toy high chairs and toy chests.

She also works with a furniture maker to design custom-made furniture for adults such as console tables, coffee tables and armoires. Jacobson sells her furniture under the name Doodles and Dots from her house and through three Birmingham stores - Kiddlewinks, Ariana Gallery and Expression. But she's hoping that soon she'll be able to open her own place.

"It's a hard thing to sell through other stores," she said, "because people don't always understand that what they see there is not all that's available. I can custom-design my furniture to fit any decorating

Indeed she can. Jacobson has matched the color of a design on a toy chest to the blue in a particular shopping bag that matched someone's decor. She has replicated a particular wallpaper on a rocking chair. And one time, when a customer was trying to plan a surprise gift for someone, Jacobson had a housekeeper sneak in the house and describe the color scheme.

For Jacobson, much of the pleasure of her work comes from working with people to create pieces that will fit particular situations.

"Often the people who order the furniture are really excited about it because they're buying something special for somebody," she said. "That kind of thing is part of the fun. People feel like they've had a hand in designing it, and they also give me a lot of leeway to do what I want."

On a recent weekday, several examples of Jacobson's work were scattered around her house. Down in the workroom awaiting a few finishing touches were a white doll's highchair with small scattered pink and green flowers and a white toy chest with bright blue dots and the name Jason on the front. A child's roll-top desk and small antique table were stripped and ready for painting.

And up in the kitchen was a striking chair and table set that Jacobson painted for her daughter: the arches on the chairs and the edge of the table are painted in a black and white checkerboard design, while different sections of the chair legs and the table are painted in bright purple, pink and turquoise and orange.

JACOBSON USES a high-quality enamel oil-based paint that gives her many color options and which she feels is very durable. Her prices range from $70 for a child's stool to $100 for a small rocking chair and $250 for a high chair. If someone asks her to paint a piece of furniture. they already own, Jacobson charges $40 to $200.

"Many people don't realize how time-consuming and skilled this is," she said. "I spend at least 10 hours on every plece of furniture. You can't paint two different colors that are touching at the same time, and each coat takes 12 to 24 hours to dry. It also takes a great deal of concen-

One of the things that Jacobson enjoys about her furniture is twisting together two different styles in an unexpected way.

"Most of the furniture I do is early American and that's usually stained. "But when I paint it I handle it in an unexpected way, and there's a contrast there. My approach is eclectic, and I think it gives it an eclectic feeling. I like traditional and I like contemporary, but I'd go crazy if I could just have one or the other."

THOSE PIECES, rescued from relatives and friends basements, represent Jacobson's creative and personal approach to decorating. "I rarely go out and just buy these old one-of-a-kind pieces and deciding myself how I want them refinished. You're not dealing with a middle-person." Another theme in Jacobson's approach to art is a black and white checkerboard design. Jacobson's 10 years in graphic design accustomed her to working with black and white, and although she uses color liberally she finds her emerging trademark seems to be in the checkerboard. You can see it in the kitchen floor, in several of her own paintings, which. hang in the dining room, and in the; narrow checkerboard wallpaper border she was delighted to find for a bathroom. The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one—the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

Not a lot of money, it appears, even figuring $20 per month under either option to tie into a central telephone emergency notification add-on.

But consider the flip side.

If you're going to spend a small fortune on a condo or house, you probably figure it's in a nice, safe neighborhood, right?

Some builders include security systems as part of their standard construction package. Others, like James Bonadeo, a Plymouth builder and president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan,

"Most people use plastic money, so they don't have cash in the house. If you have jewelry, it's usually in a safe or deposit box. Outside of furniture, TV and a few electronics, people don't keep much expensive stuff in the house," Bonadeo said.

Dennis Park, president of Blue Heron Construction, intends to put security systems in all 140 condos under construction at the Blue Heron Pointe Subdivision in Northville.

The touch pads have panic buttons for quick notification of medical emergency or physical attack.

Some of the more sophisticate control units have a digital readout indicating where a door or window has been left open if the system won't activate.

Keeping indoor air healthy takes care

(AP) - Since people generally spend a lot more time at home during the winter, an Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) report that indoor air is five times as polluted as outdoor air is particularly alarming.

Linda Hunter, a freelance journalist, wife and mother in Des Moines, Iowa, became so concerned about the report that she decided to make her home a safer place to live. She published her experience in a book, "The Healthy Home."

Ladies' Home Journal interviewed Linda and picked up some first-aid tips for making a house its healthlest and most comfortable:

• Track down all pressed wood. This popular building material — including plywood and particleboard - is often used for cabinets and countertops although it contains formaldehyde and emits toxic fumes. Look up under the sink to check (tip: pressed wood gives off a sweetsmelling odor). Seal the exposed survents. • Increase humidity with an ultrasonic humidifler. Homes with forced-air heating systems are especially dry. The humidifier should be cleaned and replenished with fresh water daily. • Make sure the house has good ventilation, which is the most important condition for clean air.

 Check for asbestos. The government's EPA Asbestos Hotline (202-faces using a sealant without sol- 554-1404) gives information of where to look for asbestos and what to do if it is found.

> • Test the water supply, which could be loaded with contaminants, including bacteria, pesticides, indus trial runoff and lead.

• Get rid of radon. This naturally. occurring gas found in soil is to known carcinogen that gets into a house via the basement. Determine, the level of radon by calling the EPA (800-SOS-RADON) for testing.
