Noisy jets causing turbulence

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Westland residents are mad about noise levels from jets thundering overhead, and they're telling their elected officials they aren't going to take it anymore.

When asked if he had received any complaints, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas said: "You'd be able to fill your paper up with them. There's a lot of complaints, and not just from the (southeast) corner of the city . . .

"When it first warmed up in April, I began to receive a ton of complaints. I've talked to the county and we just don't have a good answer yet."

After three years of study, the Federal Aviation Administration changed flight patterns at Metro last fall. But officials say complaints about noise began pouring in with the arrival of spring, with storm doors and windows coming down and screens going up.

The three main patterns for departing jets now take them over Westland, Garden City, Dearborn, or Dearborn Heights.

THE NOISE has spawned a variety of legal action.

• The Dearborn City Council has allotted $100,000 to hire a Washington, D.C., law firm to battle the federal government over the issue.

• Taylor has sued the FAA over the accuracy of its environmental impact statement about a proposed airport expansion.

• And a group of Dearborn residents calling themselves Citizens Against Aircraft Noise has presented the Wayne County Clerk's Office with petitions containing 19,000 signatures, in hopes of forcing a ballot issue in November on whether the county can issue bond sales for the expansion, which has a price tag of $1 billion.

In Garden City, Mayor Jim Plakas said, "I had three calls just this morning, and I must have had 30 in the last month-and-a-half."

He met recently with assistant county executive Brian Amman, who has been named the county's noise czar to help figure out a noise-abatement program for Metro Airport.

"While we were sitting in the office, planes roared over non-stop," said Plakas. "We had difficulty

Developer: 'I'm ticked' over decision

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

Citing environmental and building design concerns, the Westland City Council Monday rejected special approval for a condominium complex bordering the William P. Holliday nature preserve.

But the developer said he would take the city to court to get his project back on track and charged city officials with "pulling a fast one" as he stormed out of city hall following the 4-3 vote against the complex.

"Hell yes, I'm ticked," said Curtis Kime of Kime Brothers Homes in Westland. "I've spent two years on this thing."

Kime has proposed a planned unit development of 62 condominiums.

"We met the ordinances. We did what they called for . . . and now this," he said.

Kime referred to a push from Detroit environmentalist Jack Smiley, who made an impassioned plea to the council Monday to turn down the project, proposed for a site on the east side of Hix and the north side of Warren Road.

Several members of the Holliday Nature Preserve Association — the group Smiley formed to fight a 1988 proposal by then Mayor Charles Griffin to convert a portion of the preserve into an 18-hole golf course — attended the meeting as well.

SMILEY SAID the city should take advantage of state law governing natural areas and buy back the property from Kime.

"I'm not saying we should penalize the developer," Smiley said. "But if we let (the area) slip away, it will be gone forever."

Condo plan rejected in Westland

He argued that wildlife and flowers on the property would be irreparably harmed by the complex, despite previous approval to build from the state Department of Natural Resources. He said animals living on the 40-acre site immediately south of the nature preserve included foxes, deer and amphibians.

In addition, Smiley said, although the site "is technically not a flood plane" upstream development would bring damaging floods to the area.

Councilman Charles Pickering said the site should be packaged with other natural areas in the city for a comprehensive study of how residential and commercial development would affect the environment.

"What we're saying (if the project

Schools band to fight 'Robin Hood' aid bill

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Livonia Public Schools officials have joined a growing line of school officials in the state who are trying to keep the governor from signing legislation that would cut $50 million in state aid to wealthy school districts and redistribute the money to poorer school systems.

If the 1990-91 state-aid bill for education is signed by Gov. James Blanchard, the Livonia district stands to lose an estimated $3.4 million in state aid this year, said superintendent Joseph Marinelli.

That loss is $2.8 million more than the district had anticipated, will dip into the district's $9.9 million rainy day fund, and could lead either to cuts in school programs or higher taxes, Marinelli said.

The loss also is higher than the estimated $2.6 million loss expected to hit the Birmingham school district and the estimated $2 million loss expected by the Bloomfield Hills school district under the "Robin Hood" approach to school financing adopted by the Legislature in its $3.15 billion school aid budget.

MARINELLI USED such words as deplorable, inexcusable and incomprehensible Monday in describing this Robin Hood approach as he urged the Livonia Board of Education to lobby Gov. Blanchard not to sign the legislation.

"Although we had anticipated some increase in recapture and budgeted the loss of funds accordingly, the dramatic increase in the size of recapture in one year is incomprehensible," Marinelli said.

Calling the recapture formula unacceptable and irresponsible, board members voted to urge Blanchard to either veto the recapture provision or the entire state aid act itself.

The trustees also urged Livonia residents to write Blanchard, urging him to veto the act.

"He should hear from us loud and long," said trustee Carol Strom.

Livonia School District

The Livonia School District includes the northern section of Westland.

Blanchard must sign the Legislature's 1990-91 school aid budget for it to become law. He is expected to get the legislation this week, and has 14 days to sign it.

Livonia officials had expected a possible $599,256 loss in categorical state aid, and had figured that loss into its 1990-91 budget.

Categorical aids are state payments for Social Security, pensions, bilingual teaching, dropout pilot programs, gifted and talented programs, transportation, and special education.

EARLIER, SCHOOL officials had estimated the district receives $6 million in categorical aid, of which $4.6 million is for Social Security contributions.

"The net effect of the Legislature's action is that the Livonia Public Schools will no longer receive any state categorical program funding even for state-mandated programs and, in fact, now will send a portion of its locally generated property tax revenues to the state for use by formula districts," Marinelli said.

"The action by the Legislature flies in the face of the Headlee provision in the state's constitution which requires the state to pay for state-mandated programs."

All districts, regardless of wealth, used to get categorical aid. But increasingly, Lansing "recaptures" payments formerly made to the wealthier districts and redistributes them to poorer school districts.

Livonia already had adopted its new $93.3 million budget before the state lawmakers passed the school aid package in late June.

Marinelli called the legislation a "simplistic and band-aid approach to the complex problem of adequately and equitably funding K-12 education in Michigan."

"It expresses that education in Michigan will be provided through the Robin Hood approach, which is to lower educational quality through decreases in funding to some districts in order to raise the quality of education through increases in funding to other districts, thus creating mediocrity statewide.

"Although I will add that money alone does not guarantee quality, it, along with the wise use of money, is an essential ingredient."

If the recapture trend continues, as it most likely will, and the district does not cut services or raise taxes, Livonia could deplete its reserve fund in three years, Marinelli said.

Working women get down to business

By Todd Schneider
staff writer

BPW is returning to Westland.

The city's expanded business community and the growing number of women in the metro-area work force has prompted a group of businesswomen to form a local chapter of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women.

The chapter will hold an inaugural meeting 6 p.m. Monday at the Old Country Buffet restaurant in the Westland Plaza, Wayne Road at Hunter.

Charter members will be able to join until September, said Joyce Wheeler, office manager of the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

A local chapter of the national organization folded in the late 1980s due to lack of interest, Wheeler said.

"The goal is to promote the interests of working women from Westland," Wheeler said. "We're going to appeal to everybody from waitresses to company presidents."

WHEELER SAID the local business community has grown to the point where she isn't concerned about finding members.

"This is like starting fresh because we're really in a different era," said Margaret Harlow, co-owner of Harlow Tire.

In addition to Wheeler and Harlow, members of the organizing committee are Barbara Barr, manager of Abington Manor retirement residence; Sandra Cicirelli, city councilwoman and an attorney; and Renee Roberts, a financial planner for IDS.

The organization is open to all working people — men and women, Westland residents and non-residents.

Wheeler said the chapter won't compete with the Chamber of Commerce or other local business organizations: "I think it can only complement the chamber, help it grow," she said.

She said a minimum of 15 members are required to incorporate. She hopes to be able to launch the chapter with 50 to 100 members.

Several other western Wayne communities have BPW chapters, including Garden City and Livonia. The Westland chapter will seek some

Resident faces trial in girlfriend's murder

The trial for a 29-year-old Westland man charged in the fatal strangulation of his live-in girlfriend last February will begin Sept. 24 in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Judge James R. Chylinski will preside over the jury trial for Miracle Ewayne Crawford, who has pleaded not guilty to an open murder charge in the death of Shirley Ann Harris, 24.

If convicted, Crawford faces a mandatory sentence of life in prison without parole.

Crawford is charged with killing Harris in the early morning hours of Feb. 24 following an argument in the bedroom of a home the couple shared on the 2900 block of Stelber.

According to testimony at Craw-ford's March 12 preliminary examination, Harris was strangled with a rope or cord.

Crawford, who had called police, was with the body in the southeast bedroom when officers arrived at the house about 5 a.m., testimony revealed. The bedroom window was ajar and officers observed footprints in the snow, but there was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Crawford was arrested March 2. Police said information they received showed a "discrepancy" in Crawford's stated whereabouts shortly before the body was discovered.

Crawford was given a lie detector test by Michigan State Police before his March 4 arraignment.

Marathoner gets running start in MS pledge drive

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

It's payback time for Art Kitz. The longtime Garden City resident runs Chrysler Corp.'s prototype machine shop. During the year, various Chrysler honchos or engineers come in to his shop, convinced their pet project is just a little bit more important than the next guy's and in need of rush attention.

Kitze accommodates them when he can. "I tell them I pass out favors, and then once a year, I collect on them," he said.

No, he isn't into graft. He doesn't take a few bucks stuck into a Christmas card or envelope. What he does, just about better than any of the thousands of runners who have run the Free Press International Marathon over the years, is solicit pledges for the Multiple Sclerosis Society.

Though the 26.2-mile race isn't until Oct. 21, now is the time he starts adding names to his lengthy pledge list and adding miles to his weekly training schedule.

And Kitze would do better on his pledging for MS if Observer readers cared to add their names to his list. To help him get back over $3,000 this year, call the Kitzes at 427-3248.

Kitze, 51, raised $3,284 on 169 pledges last year and has raised more than $10,000 in the four years he's run the distance for MS.

DISABLING DISEASES have struck close to Kitze. Four buddies from high school days were later struck down with MS and two of them have died, including Jack McNellis, co-captain of the football team in '55.

Kitze's wife, Sharon, who dropped out of Garden City High School to marry him, was diagnosed with severe rheumatoid arthritis in 1958.

One of Kitze's high school buddies who contracted MS, Jerry Patrell, started the pledge campaign rolling four years ago. On some of his 10-mile training runs, Kitze would jog out to the Camelot Hall Nursing Home in Livonia to visit him.

Patrell asked Kitze to pledge for MS and, soon, every staff member at Camelot had signed up. Patrell made a huge commitment — $100 a mile — but he didn't tell Kitze until the week before the race. "He put so much pressure on me when he finally told me," said Kitze.

No problem. Kitze finished the '86 marathon just as he has finished all 20 of his marathons.

BACK IN the early '70s, if you'd asked Kitze's sons, Art, Jr. and Kevin, if their dad was a runner, you probably would have gotten either incredulous stares or gales of laughter.

They were runners, sure — both ran for Garden City High School and Grand Valley State College — but dad was the guy who was 30 pounds overweight, who smoked cigars incessantly, and whose idea of running was to hustle into the kitchen if he smelled something burning.

Art Kitz runs marathons in support of the MS Society. He runs shorter races with his dog, Katy, who can clock 12:25 for two miles. Sharon, his wife, is often at the finish line for support.

In May 1974, Kitze decided he was tired of smoking, tired of being overweight and ready to do something about it. He headed out the door of his home on Beechwood and jogged to the high school track nearby. He had to stop and walk on the way there, jogged a couple of laps and then jogged back. "I said at the start, 'No matter how much it hurts, I'm going to stay at it for six months.' The six months has turned into 16 years, the mile of jogging has turned into 16,000 and running has become a way of life. Now, he even does an occasional triathlon, with one-mile swims, 25-mile bike rides and 6.2-mile runs, all in succession.

"I'll plan vacations and he says, 'Well, you can't waste a trip. Let's find a race there,'" said Sharon Kitz with a laugh. And, so he has run marathons in Honolulu and Las Vegas.

Cops consolidate several programs

The Westland police department will consolidate several community outreach programs into a newly formed Youth and Community Services Bureau.

The change, and the upgrade of one command officer to staff the bureau, was approved unanimously Monday by the Westland City Council.

Li. Albert George, a 24-year veteran and charter member of the department, was promoted Tuesday from sergeant to fill the position. George, 52, was at the top of the current civil service eligibility list, said police chief Paul Schnarr. "He's earned the job and I know he'll do well," Schnarr said Monday.

The change will remove the Youth Bureau, Community Relations, Crime Prevention and the department's new DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program from the investigative unit, which had staffed those positions for several years.

"Instead of three or four guys handling each of those jobs, we'll have one bureau with naturally related functions," Schnarr said.

The new bureau will cost an additional $3,000 per year, or the salary difference between a sergeant and lieutenant, said Edward Gunther, executive assistant to Mayor Robert Thomas. The sergeant's position, now vacant, will be removed.

Thomas recommended the move as a way to augment the DARE program, which was approved earlier this year by the council. "I believe the change will enhance the operation of the police department," Thomas said in a July 6 letter to council president Tom Brown.

DARE is a joint program between the city and Wayne-Westland Community Schools. Under the program, a Westland police officer talks to local elementary school students about drug abuse.

is approved) is that big homes are OK, on standard lots, and that's going to damage the environment," Pickering said. "I can't go along with that."

Other council members voting against the project were Sandra Cicirelli, Ben DeHart and Terri Reighard Johnson. Supporting the project were Ken Mehl, Tom Arley and Tom Brown.

"THE PROJECT is nicely laid out but I'm upset about building (the condos) in cluster form. I don't want to encourage cluster building in this city," Cicirelli said.

But Mehl said the project wouldn't "interfere directly" with the nature preserve.

Arley criticized Smiley for his late involvement in a project that had been on the drawing boards for nearly two years. "You want to sit down and work out a plan for ecology and we're willing to do that," he said. "But not at the 11th hour, all of a sudden, after this has been in progress."

The DNR held a public hearing on the site about a year ago, council members said.

The state agency approved the project with the condition that nearly half the original 40-acre site be dedicated to preserving wetlands.

The city meanwhile asked Kime to increase the size of the units, which made the cluster construction necessary, the developer said. Kime said his site plan called for three- and four-bedroom condominiums ranging in size from 1,700-2,000 square feet.

THE UNITS would sell for $120,000-$140,000, he said. Smiley's group was part of a successful lobbying effort against the proposed golf course. Griffin dropped his plan late in 1988 after the Holiday Nature Preserve Association staged informational meetings and picketed city hall the previous spring.

During his January, 1988, state of the city address, Griffin announced the plan to use 100 acres (20 percent of the park) that was jointly owned by the city and county to build the golf course.

joint activities with established chapters, Wheeler said.

Committee members cited concerns about women in the workplace, including inadequate health insurance coverage, difficulty for women in obtaining loans or establishing credit, recognition of women in male-dominated fields, two-income families and day care programs.

"IT BOILS DOWN to economic issues and family issues," Wheeler said.

The national organization was founded in 1919. BPW/USA was one of the first organizations to formally endorse a proposed Equal Rights Amendment (1937) and has fought for civil and women's rights.

Local chapters usually sponsor school and community outreach efforts and offer scholarships as well.

Roberts said she saw a local chapter as one way in which women in the workplace can get help in dealing with those issues. "A lot of times we (business people) concentrate on what's urgent, not necessarily what's important," she said.

Annual dues will be $65 and there is a one-time initiation fee of $10, Wheeler said. There will be a reduced rate for full-time students who are working.

The chapter will meet on the fourth Monday of each month.

For more information, contact Wheeler or Chamber secretary Doris Smith at 326-7222.

Bomb removed from truck at apartments

A Michigan State Police bomb squad Wednesday removed a pipe bomb from underneath a pickup truck parked at the Woodcrest Villa apartments, Wayne Road south of Joy, police said.

Nobody was injured and the incident was still under investigation Wednesday afternoon, said Westland police officer Clarence Hall. No arrests have been made.

Hall said police were called by a complex resident at 8:37 a.m. The resident noticed what appeared to be a bomb placed underneath the wheel of the truck, Hall said.

When officers found what appeared to be a pipe bomb, they notified Michigan State Police and evacuated the apartment complex, Hall said.

Golfers raise money for Y

IT'S NOT the Masters Tournament or U.S. Open. But a local golf benefit Wednesday means more to youngsters from low-income families.

Through the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA's annual Invest in Youth Classic golf benefit, money was raised to allow those youngsters to take advantage of YMCA programs and services.

An estimated 65 people paid for a day of golf and dinner to help the Wayne-Westland Family Y raise the money for its Invest in Youth campaign.

Benefiting from the fourth annual golf benefit were children in the Y's service area, which includes Garden City and Canton Township.

Golfers paid $100 each to enjoy a hot, humid day at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township, dinner, contests and door prizes.

The Y has several events during the year to help finance the Invest in Youth campaign.

This week's question:

Should Michigan have a 'right-to-die' law, allowing terminally ill people to terminate life-supporting equipment?

We asked this question to Westland residents at Westland Center.

'Yes. I can't see that a person should suffer if they're terminally ill.'
— Alfred Scobie

'I think the person should be able to decide for themselves. I think a person should have a right to die with dignity.'
— Judy Stone

'Yes. I think if a person is ill enough and still has the (mental) capacity, it should be their own decision.'
— Michael Donahee

'Yes. People should be able to make their own choice. If you're just lying there in pain and you don't want to stay hooked up (to a machine), you shouldn't have to.'
— Jim Bates

'Absolutely. It's much more humane than letting somebody stay alive by breathing through a tube. I've talked this over with my husband and we decided to state our wishes through living wills.'
— Ruth Crosssett

'Yes. I think it's a person's right. It should be what a person wants.'

Salvation Army needs food donations

By Joanne Maliszewski
staff writer

It's not a holiday. But hunger is still here. And so is the need to donate food to the Salvation Army's food pantry, which is running low with summer around the corner.

"People don't think about donating in the summer. At Christmas and Thanksgiving, that's usually when people think of it," said Lt. Jonathan Rich of the Salvation Army Community Center of Farmington Hills which includes Livonia in its service area.

But the food pantry, which serves needy families or those in the midst of emergencies, is running low.

Neighborhood House, located in the Salvation Army Community Center, also distributes food from the pantry. The organization is an umbrella service or clearinghouse that matches residents in need with appropriate services and agencies.

"When we get low, we have to refer people to other food programs," Neighborhood House director Cheryl Carter said. "We try to help as many people as possible, but right now we can't take walk-ins."

CARTER EXPECTS that the cupboard will be bare within the next 1-2 weeks.

On Thursday alone, Carter provided food for 16 clients, with more expected.

"We have some empty space in the freezers for perishable foods. But in quantities, we are in need of non-perishables," Rich said.

That means canned goods: tuna fish, soups, macaroni and cheese, peanut butter, jelly and anything else popular with kids.

"A lot of parents are on fixed incomes. Then all of a sudden the kids (who participate in school lunch programs) are out of school and the money isn't stretching," Rich said.

Anyone who wishes to donate food to the pantry may drop it off between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday-Friday at the Salvation Army Church, 27500 Shiloh Road.

"We have less this summer than in other summers. We are anticipating there will be a shortfall," Rich said.

THE SALVATION Army food pantry serves residents in Farmington, Farmington Hills, Southfield, Livonia and Novi.

Neighborhood House specifically serves Farmington and Farmington Hills residents.

Sixty-percent of the food pantry's caseload is Farmington and Farmington Hills residents.

Residents in need of food can make an appointment with Neighborhood House director Cheryl Carter, 477-1153. The program is based on need.

Though families may have an adequate income, extenuating circumstances and emergencies can easily put a family in need, she said.

speaking, the volume and intensity was so loud. He paused and said, 'Mayor, you've got the problem here in your office.'

Thomas and Plakas said they oppose legal action, for now.

"I've talked to (Dearborn Mayor) Mike Guldo and I respect his position, but we don't have the luxury of that kind of revenue to undertake something like that," said Plakas. "Not that we might not join a suit at some time, but we're pursuing other remedies first."

IN RESPONSE to flak from politicians and residents, Amman was recently given the task of figuring out what, if anything, the county can do to lower noise levels near the airport and under flight paths.

Plakas said he and Amman are scheduling a cable-TV appearance for Amman in Garden City. Residents will be invited to attend the meeting and air their gripes to Amman, said Plakas, adding the he hoped to announce a time and date soon.

"We're not trying to stop progress at the airport," said Plakas. "We're just trying to lower the noise."

cop calls

A 58-YEAR-OLD Westland man was mugged while walking with his grandson on Schuman, north of Harvard, Friday morning, Westland police said.

Garden City police apprehended a suspect a short time later in that city. The suspect was one of three youths arrested for carrying concealed weapons.

The victim suffered a cut over his left eye when the mugger hit him with a handgun, police said.

The victim told police he was walking northbound on Schuman between 8:45 and 9 a.m. when a jogger came up behind him, placed a gun to his back and demanded money.

After handing over $20 from his wallet, the attacker hit him over the head, the man said. The man said the assailant fled on foot southbound and turned on either Palmer or Hubbard.

AN ARMED robber escaped with $100 from the 7-Eleven store, 1826 S. Merriman, early Sunday, police said.

A clerk told police the man entered the store about 2:30 a.m. and waited for all other customers to leave.

The man then approached the counter, demanded money from the cash register and said he had a gun, the clerk told police. The clerk said she noticed the grip of a small, dark handgun protruding from the man's left jacket pocket.

The culprit fled on foot, she said.

A WESTLAND woman, 28, reported her ex-boyfriend kicked in the fender of her 1982 Buick after he paid her a visit while she was bowling Saturday night.

The woman said the former beau, a 39-year-old Detroit man, came into Oak Lanes, 8450 Middlebelt, at 9:45 p.m. and began yelling at her.

When she came out at 10:30 p.m. the right front fender of her car was dented and there was a footprint on the fender, she said.

Witnesses told police the boyfriend had parked next to the Buick.

S'craft summer programs let kids explore new fields

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Ninja turtles and splattered eggs — the stuff of summer enrichment for area youths participating in College for Kids and Adventures in Learning at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

The flat green turtle, actually "my own character" that only resembles a Ninja, was sketched by Paul Wolfert, 8, under the guidance of West Bloomfield artist Joyce Gottlieb, who is teaching Cartoon Capers for the second summer running.

The eggs, one hard-boiled, two that splattered and a handful that survived a two-story drop, were part of an experiment on speed and force in Exploring the Sciences, taught by veteran Wayne-Westland science teacher Tom Morgan.

Brian Robison, 8, of Canton knew his egg wrapped in "disposable" diapers borrowed from a neighbor would survive the drop.

"I tested it already. My mom threw it out the window," he said in a serious tone.

College for Kids, a series of classes offered for two or three weeks each, provides individualized and group instruction in such diverse areas as math, English, science and the arts. Adventures in Learning offers similar enrichment courses but is aimed at students who are talented or gifted.

"CARTOONING IS BASICALLY drawing, using distortion and exaggeration to tell a simple story," said Gottlieb, who holds fine art degrees from both Wayne State and Eastern Michigan universities.

Gottlieb's students range in age from 7 to 16 years, including the St. Louis children from Plymouth who display a definite artistic flair.

Vince, 11, and Ben, 9, have enrolled in the class twice, last summer and this summer. Sister Becky enrolled for the first time this year.

"I just add things and make a poster. It's regular cartoons," Vince said of his detailed pen and ink sketch.

Ben is busy on a large fantasy figure and Becky proudly displays a gray owl she has just completed.

MEANWHILE, STUDENTS in Morgan's science class prepare for the egg in a box drop from the observation deck overlooking a racquetball court in the Schoolcraft gymnasium.

The first up is Jennifer Bronlak, 8, of Plymouth. Her egg, wrapped in tissue and encased in a blue shoebox, survives intact. Jamison Beevers, 10, who attends Wayne-Westland schools, packed his egg in balloons and it also survived. Eric Phelps, 9, of Farmington, is not so lucky. His egg, cushioned by a small blow-up pad, splatters.

The most ingenious is Justin Nadolny, 8, of Redford. His pink shoebox, attached to a parachute of plastic, floats to earth without breaking the egg inside.

"MY OBJECTIVE," said Morgan, who is overseeing the activity, "is to excite them about science, open up avenues and expose them to science."

The egg experiment is meant to measure speed and force, whether "student engineering in cushioning the egg" is effective enough to prevent it from breaking "during the drop."

Chris Payne, 10, of Livonia, clarifies the point.

"The egg doesn't need cushioning when it drops. It needs cushioning when it hits."

Chris' egg survived the impact.

College for Kids will again be open to registration next summer. New classes in Adventures in Learning begin Monday, July 23. For more information, call 462-4448 (See related story).

Classes offer students adventure in learning

Schoolcraft College's Adventures in Learning Program for children is accepting registration for the following summer courses which meet Monday through Thursday, beginning July 23.

• Computer Programming I with BASIC — explore storing and manipulation, choosing an original project and developing it, 1-3 p.m. Ages 9 to 15. Fee, $55.

• Exploring Chemistry — study atomic structure of element and compounds, complete with experiments on characteristic properties and the separation of substances. Ages 8 to 14. Fee, $60.

• Beginning Conversational French — French as spoken including colors, numbers, food and conversational terms, 9-11 a.m. Ages 9 to 15. Fee, $55.

• Theater Performance — learn character make-up, costumes, lighting, scenery, props, stage direction and production, including mime, storytelling, skills, puppetry and plays. Ages 6 to 14. Fee, $55.

• Creative Learning for Pre-school Children — stimulating and open-ended activity, including discovery of the world within and around, 9-11 a.m. Ages 4 to 6. Fee, $55.

Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia. For more information, call 462-4448.

Lancome honors Bastille Day with a gift for you

Your gift with any $15 Lancome purchase is Le Lancomer Dore, a classic shoulder tote in sturdy black canvas lit with soft gold details. Tucked inside, two travel-size Lancome beautifiers... Immencils Gentle Lash Thickener and Trans-Hydrix Multi-action Hydrating Creme with sunscreen to minimize the effects of climate. And to celebrate the Gallic holiday itself, a baguette of French bread, brought to us fresh daily, for you to take home and enjoy.

For your purchase, consider new Effet du Soleil, an innovation from Lancome, Paris that offers self-tanning moisture care with non-ionic microspheres for radiant skin, moisturized and tan-looking over time. The patented non-ionic microspheres provide even coverage and sun-true color that develops and fades gradually, naturally, without the risks of sun exposure. Just establish the "tan" you want at first, whether a light glow or a deeper color; then regulate its use for color maintenance. The moisturizer hydrates the upper layers, leaving the skin softer, smoother, more radiant and resilient. In addition, it contains UVA/UVB sunscreens. It is ideal, under makeup or alone, for every skin type. 1.7 oz. $28.

Cosmetics. Offer ends July 21.

Mr. Peanut wants you!
The famous Planters trademark will conduct a nationwide search for America's Funniest Nut this summer in conjunction with the company's successful "Everybody Loves A Nut" television campaign.

With America's renewed interest in homegrown humor, the search is expected to attract fun-filled adults from around the country, one of whom will earn an opportunity to star in a Planters television commercial.

Anyone interested in auditioning in the "nuttiest" search can enter at one of the three open-call auditions this summer or by mailing in an audition videotape.

OPEN-CALL AUDITIONS are scheduled for July 31 (Los Angeles, Universal Studios, Hollywood); Aug. 15 (New York, Sherman Plaza, Central Park); and Aug. 22 (Chicago, Daley Center).

In case of rain, auditions will be the next day in Los Angeles and New York and inside the Daley Center in Chicago.

Registration will begin promptly at 8 a.m. in each location. Candidates will audition on a first-come basis. A limited number of people will be permitted to register at each location.

Auditions will start at 10 a.m. at each site. Those individuals unable to attend an open-call audition may submit their "nutty" act via videotape to: Planter Auditions, P.O. Box 717, Cooper Station, New York, N.Y. 10276-0717. The deadline for all video entries is Aug. 31.

AT THE open-call auditions, each contestant should perform a 30-45-second tongue-in-cheek act similar to those performed in Planters "Everybody Loves A Nut" commercials.

Each act will be judged by a panel based on humor, originality, lo-vability and adaptability to a 30-second commercial format.

In addition, all acts must be family-oriented and tasteful. No profanity or vulgarity can be used. Also, no dangerous acts can be performed.

Due to time limitations, no excessive props will be allowed.

NO MORE than three acts will be chosen from each of the three audition cities. No more than three videotape entrants will be chosen from the videos submitted.

Each finalist will be notified by Sept. 15.

A panel of judges will review the finalists' acts in October.

The best act will earn an opportunity to appear in an "Everybody Loves A Nut" television commercial and collect the standard Screen Actors Guild appearance and residual fees.

PLANTERS' "Everybody Loves A Nut" commercials are airing on programs such as "Late Night with David Letterman," "Stingray" and "Cheers."

Planters' Search for America's Funniest Nut is an extension of the brand's new "Everybody Loves a Nut" advertising campaign.

This campaign began airing in May. It features such acts as a contortionist who goes head over heels for Planters mixed nuts and a couple who perform the world's first safe Lambada dance.

"The ultimate goal of our ad campaign and talent search is to encourage consumers to think of nuts as a fun, contemporary snack for everyday use," said Roger Adams, Planters' director of marketing for nuts.

For more information, call the Planters information service line at 800-325-1123.

You may ask for agendas

Under provisions of Michigan's Open Meetings Act, you're entitled to receive notices of government meetings. A public body must mail notices to people who, on an annual basis, request such notification. Under the act, payment of a reasonable fee may be required before notices are mailed. This provision applies to all local, county and state government meetings. At the local level this includes city councils, school boards and various boards and commissions.

We Need Volunteers Who Love Happy Campers!
Sun Deer® campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer® asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer® can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

MET actuary labels criticism sour grapes

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

The Michigan Education Trust (MET), a prepaid college tuition program launched in 1988, faces economic disaster apt to encroach on the future quality of higher education, according to the results of a new study by University of Michigan law professor Jeffrey Lehman, who predicts the program will require a tax bailout to remain solvent.

Sour grapes, counters Richard Kaye of Coopers & Lybrand, the actuary who sets MET enrollment prices and monitors the program's finances.

"They're (university officials) scared out of their minds because they don't want someone looking over their shoulder when they pass along future tuition increases," said Kaye who lives in West Bloomfield.

MET, designed to protect parents against high tuition inflation in coming years, assures future college costs at state institutions for children in the program. During the first two years, more than 49,000 contracts were sold at a total cost of $300 million.

Much of MET's success is the program's relatively low price, according to Lehman. But such pricing spells trouble.

The program is dependent on the assumption tuition will increase slowly in the future. If schools face reduced tuition income, they will be forced to cut back on instructional programs, the study concluded.

NOT SO, said Kaye. The MET tuition increase assumption of 7.3 percent is based on actuarial accountings of the past 20 years that consider both actual tuition costs and mitigating circumstances.

Lehman's figures rely only on actual costs which, Kaye maintains, are simplistic and do not accurately reflect future costs.

The study also questions MET's taxing policies. Money from the purchase of a contract is viewed as non-taxable. Only income earned on invested monies is taxable.

The point is moot, Kaye said. A ruling by the IRS confirms MET policies, and it is unlikely the IRS will refute its own ruling.

Finally, the study concludes MET faces an eventual shortfall of $100 million that will require a bailout by taxpayers. If so, the primary beneficiaries will be Michigan's most affluent citizens because half of those enrolled in the program are in the top 20 percent of income.

Sabrina Keeley of the Michigan Department of Treasury refutes Lehman's findings.

"He believes in his study. We believe in MET and we stand by what our experts tell us. They have thoroughly researched the issue. Based on their findings, we are overfunded," she said.

An audit of Sept. 30, 1989, credited the program with a surplus of $1 million, said Kaye, who is a certified public accountant and a fellow of the Society of Actuaries. MET is legally represented by Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone.

"WE DON'T FEEL we have to defend ourselves. There are a lot of happy people out there" enrolled in MET, Keeley said.

John Lore of Plymouth Township, a former college president and past president of the Michigan Colleges Foundation who now serves on the MET board of directors, agrees.

"Our audits show very clearly we are overfunded, and it's a very positive program.

"It gives college access to people who have never before had access and opportunity to those who never before had opportunity," Lore said.

A university, Kaye added, "must be run like a business and if the University of Michigan doesn't think so, it's 15 years behind the times." Kaye, incidentally, is a U-M graduate.

Applications for 1990 MET enrollment, are available Oct. 15 through Nov. 9. For the first time, payroll deductions and a payment plan are available. To apply, call 1-800-MET-4KID.

Oakwood is Advanced Medicine

Magnetic Resonance Imaging

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) is a breakthrough diagnostic tool being used routinely at Oakwood Hospital today. MRI allows physicians to "see" into the body without x-rays, sound waves or surgery. As the name implies, Magnetic Resonance Imaging uses a strong magnetic field to produce multi-dimensional images of the inner structure of the body. The patient experiences no pain.

Oakwood provides patients access to MRI as well as the more traditional diagnostic procedures available at your physician's office or local Oakwood facility. MRI can reveal disorders much earlier in the course of a disease. In many cases, this early detection results in simpler and more effective treatment.

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty. Oakwood will serve more than half a million patients this year.

For the name of a physician on our staff, please call

Humane society to replace protesters

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Marie Turri, 72, of Canton doesn't understand why most of the employees at the Michigan Humane Society in Westland walked off the job last week. Nor, she said, is she particularly interested in the details.

But, she is certain of one thing. She wants Dr. Tim Dobson back on the job.

"He's been my pet doctor for years. He's like a son. He looks after my pets so nicely. I want these people to reconcile their differences," Turri said as she picked the facility earlier this week.

The sign she carried read, "We need Dr. Tim Dobson and nine others back working."

Their return is unlikely, according to the society's director Gary Tiscornia, who said, "we will be replacing most of the (Westland) staff." The society employs 114 people in facilities in Westland, Detroit and Auburn Hills.

On Friday, 10 of 17 employees in Westland resigned in a dispute over a newly written employment policy that permits "at will" termination. Four veterinarians, including Dobson who supervised the Westland clinic, three licensed veterinarian technicians, one veterinarian assistant and two receptionists quit. On Monday, a fourth licensed technician resigned.

The present dispute erupted in May, when employees were required to sign a policy containing a new clause that permits termination "with or without cause, at any time, for any reason."

The former manual allowed for "at will" termination, but with reason, Dobson said, adding the new phrase removes "all recourse for wrongful discharge." Employees were issued a nasty "love it or leave it" ultimatum to sign, he said.

Tiscornia said the clause, prompted by a $2,000 employee severance settlement last fall, is "a desire to protect the organization. We cannot afford to litigate. We can't afford payoffs."

The new phrase, he added, carries the same message as before. "At will means with or without reason. Our intention is identical. The legal effect is identical."

The expanded policy is also meant to end the practice of severance pay and voiding any existing employment contracts calling for it. In early 1989, Tiscornia received severance pay equal to three weeks salary when he resigned after six years as director of corporate affairs. The new clause now applies to him.

Michigan is an "employment at will" state, according to a spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Labor. Specific phrases, such as "with or without cause," are relevant only in specific instances, such as in claims of unemployment or disability benefits.

"I CAN'T UNDERSTAND what they're reacting to so violently," Tiscornia said.

The lack of understanding is precisely the point, according to Dobson, who said low staff morale is due to perceived harassment by Tiscornia and his general lack of respect toward employees who Dobson said are concerned with the future direction of the society.

Aside from economic viability, the society's main priority now is standardization of services between each of the three shelters and hospitals, Tiscornia said, "an across-the-board standardization."

Because each facility services a different clientele based on location, Dobson said primary services vary from one community to another.

"You must have individualization." Meanwhile, Lois and Jeff Scupholm of Redford adopted a new puppy, her first ever, as a skeleton staff attempts to maintain basic services in Westland, ministering non-profit care to a multitude of animals.

Dobson, describing himself as distraught, said "we've worked so hard, hard, hard and look at how much we've accomplished." In the nearly nine years he worked for the society, staff in Westland increased from three to 17 employees.

Pay dispute Salary issue in union's court

WAYNE-WESTLAND school district employees have the ball in their court, following rejection of a proposed millage increase and renewal by voters twice this year.

Now that several million dollars have been taken off the collective bargaining table for next fall, the unions representing all employees have to make some basic decisions on what level of pay raises and fringe benefits they want in their new contracts.

It's clear that voters don't want to increase their property tax burdens just to give raises to school employees.

Fair or not, that's the situation school staffers have to face.

The bottom line for them to recognize is that the higher the level of pay raises approved by board of education and union negotiating teams, the more employees will lose their jobs in the fall.

Jobs can be saved mainly by accepting a pay freeze through a one-year contract extension, a moderate raise, and/or cutting the cost of fringe benefits.

Other school districts and municipal governments have done it as well as those working in the private sector.

SPECIFICALLY, THERE are several ways to control personnel costs, such as changing health insurance carriers and combining jobs whenever possible. Another is to drop minor fringes which may be costly but not important to teachers.

These seem elementary but it's better than wholesale elimination of jobs needed to pay for salary raises.

The unions have to realize what the voters and school officials have long realized — that the Wayne-Westland school district depends on state aid revenues, has a serious financial problem and

The Wayne-Westland Education Association, which has the negotiating ball in its court, must understand that the level of proposed pay raises will affect the number of layoffs of their members.

can't afford to continually give away pay raises now and worry later about where the money will come from to pay for the raises.

Most voters may agree that there is an unfairness in the state school aid formula which penalizes in-formula districts like Wayne-Westland.

Under the current formula, Wayne-Westland loses state aid revenues when local property taxes increase through rising property values.

At the same time, the state aid revenues drop when the local millage rate goes down as it will with the loss of the 2.75 mill renewal on June 11.

But while voters said in two recent elections that the school aid formula isn't fair, they still don't want to raise their property taxes.

POLITICAL LEADERS in Lansing also don't care about helping in-formula districts.

While local legislators are aware of the problem, others are more concerned about their own political agenda when narrowing the gap between rich and poor school districts.

For example, Gov. James Blanchard insists local schools do more while state government does little to provide more money to reduce the inequities.

But school employees must realize that life isn't fair and that the problems of school finances aren't to be resolved quickly.

Good move

Tax limit petition drive falls short

WE NOTE with civic satisfaction that the bundle of fishhooks known as the Patterson-Anderson tax limitation amendment won't be on the state ballot this year.

Despite trumpeting by the sponsors that people were eager, the drive fell 40,000 signatures short of the quarter-million it needed to be placed before voters Nov. 6. Although the idea charmed some folks in Oakland, Macomb and Kent counties, much of the rest of the state yawned.

A state constitution is supposed to be a framework for government and a protection of people's rights. Clearly, the wordy proposal by former Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and economist Patrick Anderson was legislative in nature and had no place in our constitution, whatever its merits.

They sought to limit school property taxes. Fine. They sought to ratchet more money out of the state budget for schools. Cheers.

But the proper way to do that is to leap into the sweaty fray of the budget battle, not sit in air-conditioned suburban offices and concoct paper formulas.

Look the social services lobby in the eye and say no. Look the prison operators in the eye and say no. Look the environmental cleanup people in the eye and say no. Look the job training, university research, tourism promotion, factory inspection, judicial and state parks people in the eyes and say no — that's what Patterson and Anderson should be doing.

The circulators had six months to collect their signatures. We hope there will be no effort to tinker with that law and lengthen the period. Michigan has too long a ballot as is without cluttering it with more confused and confusing ballot proposals.

Patterson, Anderson and friends should have been running for the Legislature, the body which for 153 years has had the power to do the good things they want done. They have wasted their 1990 opportunity.

Communication

Telephones — fascinating, complex

BBETTER GET your dialing finger in shape. As if we didn't have enough buttons to push already, it's about to take three more numbers to place a phone call. By the end of this year we're all going to have to dial "313" for long-distance phone calls within this area code.

We're running out of phone numbers, said Michigan Bell. In fact, if nothing's done by February of next year there will be no more new phone numbers.

In short, by using a 313 preface for local calls, the phone company can add much-needed exchanges (the first three numbers) to the system. The new exchanges will — for lack of choice — actually be numbers with a 0 or 1 in the middle, like all the U.S. area codes. Bell computers, however, will get confused unless actual area codes are dialed first.

There is nothing simple about our phone system anymore. Things have come a long way from Lily Tomlin's "Ernestine the Operator."

It is now much more than merely vogue to have an answering machine. It's a necessity. And worse yet, we are expected to have them. The same goes for redial, speed dial, call waiting, call forwarding and all the other call somethings you can buy.

For those of us whose friends have call waiting, it's practically the norm to get put on hold half a dozen times during a single conversation, so that the friend — alerted by the obnoxious clicking noise — can check to see if the other caller is more interesting than we are.

Ahhh, the joys of technology. Hopefully, though, the engineers have time to work on other challenges as well, such as why there are a zillion phone books for metro Detroit.

Or, better yet, the zone calling quandary. Translation: Why can a West Bloomfield resident call for free a number in Rochester, located an hour away, but not in Farmington Hills, which happens to be on the other side of the street? Or why do the poor souls who move to the Plymouth area feel they have been disconnected from all their friends who they have left behind in the rest of metropolitan Detroit?

Phone technology is fascinating, even helpful, but often in these days of free market deregulation, we yearn for the good old days when a call was a dime and one phone call could get you all the phone service you could possibly ever desire.

Now let's see, do I call AT&T or Michigan Bell for this problem?

Abstract legal principles intrude in family matters

I WAS AS shocked as anybody at the story in last week's Detroit papers.

A 6-year-old boy was ordered by a judge to be taken from loving relatives to live with his mother and her husband. He was taken away crying. He was then repeatedly abused. The Protective Services Division of the state Department of Social Services was notified. Neither the state agency nor the judge did anything.

Shortly thereafter, the boy was found beaten to death. The mother and her husband are in jail on a murder charge.

I'll bet the judge — Martin Maher of Wayne County Probate Court — feels awful. His decision to give the child back to the mother was reviewed by the state Supreme Court, which upheld Maher's decision but said the Legislature should have allowed probate judges more discretion in handling such matters in the best interests of the child.

We have here a case in which the entire juridical (Judge Maher), legal (state law) and regulatory (DSS) apparatus of state government failed totally to resolve a complex and important family matter. A little boy is now needlessly dead. My guess is that the apparatuses of the state will continue to trundle on in their inflexible, mindless ways.

BUT THERE'S more to this than meditating on the many ways in which states botch things up.

In recent days, the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled to permit interposing the instruments of state control — law, judges and bureaucrats — into sensitive and previously private family matters.

The high court held that the state of Missouri could prohibit Nancy Cruzan's parents from having a feeding tube removed from their comatose daughter because there was no definitive evidence Nancy wanted the feeding stopped.

Following an auto accident that

I never have been enormously impressed with the timeliness, skill or subtlety of the ways governments do things.

Philip Power

severely damaged her brain, Ms. Cruzan has been hospitalized in a "persistent vegetative state" for seven years. Her doctors testified she had no chance of recovery. Her parents finally decided to permit her to die, in part because she once had casually indicated she would not want to be kept alive as a "vegetable."

To Missouri, there was not "clear and convincing" evidence. The Supreme Court agreed. And so Mr. and Mrs. Cruzan are obliged by the apparatuses of state control — laws, judges and bureaucrats — to twist slowly in the wind.

They can hope the Missouri Legislature in its wisdom changes state law to permit their daughter to die. Or they can move to another state, which probably will set off another expensive and time-consuming round of legal wrangling. Or they can indefinitely continue to visit and grieve over the shell that once was their daughter.

PERSONALLY, I never have been enormously impressed with the timeliness, skill or subtlety of the ways governments do things.

Judge Maher, for example, either made a decision that later events proved to be tragically wrong or found his hands tied by a state law that obliges judges to return children to their natural parents regardless of the welfare of the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruzan are experiencing a tragedy because abstract legal principles are being applied without respect for real people or facts.

The 10,000 other patients in situations similar to Nancy Cruzan's will, no doubt, be relieved to know the Supreme Court recognizes a right to die. Presumably this is to be best articulated in a complex document, a "living will," setting out a person's intentions on extreme medical treatment.

Fine. But in practice, laws and judges do not always follow what people who sign living wills intend. Human intentions are overwhelmed by abstract legalisms and the apparatus of the state.

THERE IS A lot of talk about "family values" and the importance of keeping families together — talk to which I wholeheartedly subscribe.

But it's a nearly universal truth that whatever governments intend works out just the opposite. The perverse consequence applies most profoundly to families and individuals.

I don't want a judge imposing rigid, imprecise state law to tell me cannot end the life of an elderly parent who has signed a living will or a son who is brain-dead after an auto accident. I suspect a lot of other people feel the same way.

And I find people who chant about "family values" but are diligent in resorting to courts to enforce their values on others nothing short of hypocrites.

Weapon ban appreciated

To the editor:
Thanks to Mayor (Robert) Thomas for placing a ban on the firing of any weapons in parades. I also enjoyed the Memorial Day parade, but the firing was unnecessary.

Instead of shooting off their weapons, the children (and adults) would enjoy picking up candy just as much as (empty) shells. That would be cheaper than ammunition anyway, wouldn't it? Candy isn't good for their teeth, but I'd rather have them brush well when they get home instead of bandaging their fingers.

On a different subject, I guess a ban on public fireworks would make a safer July 4th, especially after some of the accidents that occurred this year in other areas. But I hope it won't come to that.

Whoever was responsible for the fireworks display this year in Westland did a spectacular job! This was our second year watching, and they were even more enjoyable. Thanks for the good work of displaying them beautifully, yet safely.

Pickers like good deed

To the editor:
Today the senior citizens of Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park picketed the sales office on Ford Road (Village Homes), which is owned by Mr. Futenmick. Grievances being high rent and numerous violations.

Why I am sending you this letter is to say thanks to the lady and her three daughters who went by, saw the senior citizens picket, went home and brought back some Kool-Aid for us (and we did need it badly).

In this day of so much crime, violence and drugs, it is so nice to see a good deed being done by someone who cares.

So from the senior citizens of Royal Holiday we wish to thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Choice of college not key for teachers

Q: My daughter wants to go into teaching and is looking for the best college to attend for a teaching degree. From your experience, where did the best teachers come from in the districts you were an administrator?

Doc Doyle

A: I can't ever remember talking to a teacher and asking what college or university she/he was graduated from. Even during teacher candidate job interviews the college or university was not a major issue to me.

Knowledge of their subject area, empathy for children, clearly stated goals, and evidence of a willingness to continue their education, to be a team player, were characteristics looked for over and above the institution they attended.

This is a tough question. There are obviously certain state institutions of higher education that do focus more on teacher education than other schools.

However, there are colleges and universities whose major focus is not education but who also deliver good to excellent teachers.

I WILL have to say, as a former assistant superintendent for instruction, I really didn't care where they graduated from as long as they could teach.

Indeed, I scheduled myself into classrooms on a regular basis to get out of the central office with all its "paper pushing" so as to keep in touch with what was going on in the real world, the classroom.

In all those hundreds of visits, do I remember asking a teacher, "What college did you attend?"

The good and great teachers could have come from a lousy teacher education program. However, their own creativity and commitment to teaching, to children soon had them being recognized as a quality teacher.

Indeed, you could put a great teacher in an old barn with nothing more than one 1920 McGuffey reader. In a few months that great teacher would transform the barn into an alive, stimulating learning environment. Great teachers overcome all obstacles.

LET ME pose this question. Think of the 10 finest elementary, secondary or college teachers you had. What college or university did they attend? Can't answer it, can you?

For me to tell you which college has the best teacher education program is impossible.

A major research study of every education department, and its professors and their performance would be necessary to draw any conclusions. Then, those education departments rated average or below by the study would reject the findings.

HOWEVER, ALL things being equal, the following criteria is what I would use in determining the best experience for getting a teaching degree.

I would look for those teacher education departments whose major focus is teaching, followed by professional journal writing and then seeking research grants from the federal government.

Departments where the professors make themselves available to meet and counsel their students on a one-to-one basis. Where the professor hasn't advocated all his or her student contact hours to a teacher assistant.

To answer your question, the best teachers sort of evolve once they are in the field, in the classroom. They learn from peers, the quality and exemplary teacher role models in their own building and from dynamic staff development experiences.

They don't come from any certain college. They come with a desire and commitment to be the best. They are teachers who are constantly self-evaluating their own performance. They improve every day.

They are more concerned of their performance than their administration is — they are those with that certain, special gift. Don't kid yourself, students know them and parents know them.

Dr. James Doyle is a former assistant superintendent in the Troy School District. Questions for this column should be sent to Doc Doyle, c/o Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Political financing poisons campaigns

I HAVE BEEN solicited by phone to vote for a particular candidate, usually in local elections.

But I don't recall ever being asked to contribute money to a political campaign war chest. The first was this summer when I was requested to donate $100 to U.S. Senator Carl Levin's campaign for re-election.

I get plenty of invitations to fund raisers. When I was a full-time reporter for the Southfield Eccentric, the amount of the donation was crossed out. I never attended any in the interest of objectivity.

I'M STILL on the list, but now, in most cases, I'm welcome to pay at least $50 for the privilege of toasting the candidate with wine and cheese or coffee and bagel.

To this day, I don't do fund-raisers.

Getting back to Levin, the aide who called me mentioned that the senator will continue to fight for Israel. My contribution, I was told, will be used to ward off the attacks of the national Republican Party.

The GOP, I was advised, plans to wage an all out effort against Levin, who I respect and admire. Levin wants to remain in the U.S. Senate so he can continue cutting government waste, fighting drugs and supporting education.

Levin and his opponents are spending millions of dollars on their campaigns. The aide said if I couldn't afford $100, would I make it $50?

I'M NOT singling out Levin. But the whole system of campaign financing, it seems to me, is out of proportion. Candidates spend way more to get elected than they will earn while serving.

In Southfield, where the yearly stipend for a city council member has been raised to $11,000, more than twice that amount is spent by some candidates. That doesn't guarantee that they will come in first.

When the big givers are developers, this smacks of favoritism. It's the old "you scratch my back, I'll scratch yours" syndrome, real or imagined.

State Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, is chairing election committee hearings on state financing for legislative races.

Jackie Klein

tion of governmental intervention into a private decision will not soon be resolved.

Pro-choice and pro-life voters aren't likely to change their minds or be influenced by special interest groups. The issue is delicate, volatile and divisive.

SENATE HOPEFULS deny that they are single-issue candidates. The abortion factor has been fueled by the media and activist groups, according to political opponents.

But the Michigan Abortion Rights Action League, for example, is determined to put pro-choicers into office regardless of their stance on other issues.

A candidate who is not being endorsed by any PAC, is likely to say he or she is against special interest groups and is being supported by individuals including party heavyweights.

I'm not sure Maxine Berman's proposals are on the money. But some kind of campaign financing reform is needed. The best guy or gal for the job may not have the war chest to beat an incumbent or other contenders.

HOW DID we make our decisions before the advent of television? Who were the image makers before the Madison Avenue type TV ads with production pizzazz?

There's no denying that a $1 million media effort improves name identification. The candidate who hands out emery boards, ball point pens and swizzle sticks isn't likely to make it to the top.

When so much money is needed to cure the many ills of cities, counties, states and the nation, the millions spent on political campaigns seem downright obscene.

It may be naive to believe that there's a better way to go than buying votes. Money makes politicians shift positions and promise to do more for a popular cause than they possibly can. Compromising for bucks lacks the dignity and ethics we should expect from elected officials.

Yo-Master Zeemo shows his wizardry with the yo-yo before an appreciative audience during a workshop at Twelve Oaks Mall's "Return of the Yo-Yo Exhibit."

Up and down Exhibit revives memories of childhood and yo-yos

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

To become a yo-yo champion, Yo-Master Zeemo had to pull some strings.

And some 30 years later, the former middle school teacher is still yanking them. Some 225 yo-yo tricks are in his repertoire. The well-known ones — "Walk the Dog," "Shoot the Moon" and "Rock the Baby" — are mere child's play to him.

You can take the yo-yo out of the youth, but you can't take the youth out of the yo-yo.

"You had to take your yo-yo to school because everyone else would bring theirs," said Zeemo, whose real name is Paul Kyrtle and who lives in Ann Arbor. "I had a blue, plastic Imperial and you would just look at it and say, 'Wow.'"

The Duncan Imperial model he speaks of is on display along with more than 500 yo-yos in a special exhibit, "The Return of the Yo-Yo," at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. The exhibit runs through Sunday, July 29.

FEATURED IN the vast display is the Donald Duncan family collection of yo-yos from 1930-90 and memorabilia illustrating the history of the popular toy that has spanned many generations.

A yo-yo for Hulk Hogan? How about the 258-pound monster made of wood that is in "The Guinness Book of World Records" as the largest yo-yo? Or a yo-yo for when the power goes out? There are some that light up or glow in the dark that are on display.

If anything, the exhibit brings back memories. Everyone can remember their first yo-yo.

JERRY PATLOW, formerly of Redford, recalls his was a black and red Duncan beginner yo-yo that was made of wood. He quickly graduated to other types of yo-yos.

"I'm still a little kid," said Patlow, a theatrical agent who lives in Farmington Hills. "I still have a little yo-yo."

Patlow pulls out a miniscule yo-yo for proof. He's visiting the exhibit with his daughter, Marla, 8, who also has a yo-yo.

He can do 15 or so yo-yo tricks. He's teaching his daughter how to master the toy.

"As teenagers, we had a choice of hanging out on street corners doing yo-yo tricks or stealing hubcaps," he said. "I chose yo-yo tricks."

Patlow has 30 yo-yos stashed away in his bottom desk drawer at work, he said. Included in the batch is one commemorating "The Yo-Yolympics," which took place in 1979 in Gurney, Ill.

THE EVENT itself marked a pivotal turning point in the history of the yo-yo. Donald Duncan Jr., son of Donald Duncan Sr., tried to re-enter the yo-yo market without much success.

The Duncans are considered the first family of yo-yoing, though Pedro Flores is credited with operating the first yo-yo company in the United States.

Duncan, a Midwestern businessman, happened to see the toy on a trip to San Francisco. He bought the Flores Yo-Yo and Yo-Yo trademarks and started his own company.

Duncan was quite well known for his promotional techniques, inventing the Good Humor Ice Cream cart, the Eskimo Pie and parking meters. With the yo-yo, he Eric Tollefson, 4, of West Bloomfield needed the extra distance at the edge of the steps to let the yo-yo go where it would spin to the end of its string and promptly stop.

... Then it was time to rewind.

Lily society promises 'blooming' good show

By C.L. Rugenstein

Everything's coming up lilies for the Michigan Regional Lily Society Flower Show this weekend at Livonia's Laurel Park Place Mall.

Hundreds of lily enthusiasts will bring cuttings of their prized plants for nationally accredited lily judges to choose the fairest of them all Saturday and Sunday, July 20-21. Spectators will be able to ramble through the cuttings to admire — and sniff — the colorful, aromatic blossoms.

And lily growers will congregate to trade tips on growing, breeding and disease proofing their prize plants.

Virginia Heller, editor of the Michigan Regional Lily Society's bulletin, despaired of having any blooms at all to enter. "They all bloomed terribly early — about three weeks early. I won't have anything for the show," she said in the lily garden of her Palmer Park home.

There were two reasons for that, Heller said. One was because the temperatures in the city are generally warmer than in the suburbs, causing the flowers to peak earlier.

But also, "we ran into a lot of problems. Because the National Lily Society is having its show the week before ours, we didn't get any judges."

ALL WAS NOT lost, however. The Michigan Region snared nationally accredited lily judges Sandra and David Ross of Amherst, Ohio, who will "drive all night" to be at the Laurel Park show.

Some of the things they'll be looking for are the condition of the flower. That's worth 30 points out of a possible 100. Blooms also should not be faded and along with their leaves be clean and free from damage.

Vigor, and placement of the blooms (no crowding or void spaces, please) are other categories worth 20 points each.

Interestingly, the top award winner in the exhibit is called the "Queen of the Show." The runner-up, however, is only the "King of the Show."

Categories will include unnamed secdlings grown and hybridized by the exhibitors, artistic arrangements with an international theme - lilies in the cities of the world — and single stem entries grown from clones.

Cloning is the latest development in lily hybridizing, said Virginia's Heller's husband, Harry. Her enthusiasm has rubbed on her husband, a recently retired doctor.

Lilies are generally grown from bulbs. Hybridizers grow them from seedlings, which can take a couple of years to get them to show size — if they come up at all.

Lilies are so unpredictable that one may "come up one year — then die out the next year because it didn't get the proper attention," said Dr. Heller.

"NOW THEY'RE cloning them from tissue," growing the whole plant from one cell, he said.

Judith McRae of Oregon, who's experimenting with cloning, is the foremost hybridizers in the country. Charles Kroell of Troy is also well known for developing the popular "Vonnie," a brilliant orange — and hardy — lily.

Lilies are cross-bred to get sizes and colors, but developing hardy, longer lasting lilies that are also disease resistant is an important factor for growers.

Heller called the species "Enchantment," also a large, red-orange blossom, "the greatest lily in the world." Developed by Jan De Graaf, who died recently, "it was the first disease-free lily with a strong constitution that could be depended on to grow and be strong," she said.

On that note, Heller observed that some other flowers that have the word "lily" in their name are not lilies at all.

Daylilies and lilies of the valley, for instance, are also not lilies. But the lowly Tiger Lily that can be found growing wild by the side of many Michigan roads — is a true lily.

"BUT I'D HATE to bring one into my garden because they carry diseases," Heller said.

She'd like to see the Lily show extend to two shows.

"I personally think it would be better to have an early, middle and late show," so all the varieties could be displayed at their peak.

The Michigan Regional Lily Society also does public plantings in places like the Detroit Zoo and the grounds of the Dow Chemical Plant in Midland.

As for her passion for lilies, Heller said: "Anybody can drop a daylily bulb in the ground and it will come up. It takes a little more skill to grow a lily."

Times for the Laurel Park Place lily show are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, July 21, and noon-5 p.m. Sunday, July 22. The show will off the mall's central court. Laurel Park Place is at Newburgh and Six Mile roads in Livonia.

Writer experiences moods, periods of restlessness

Dear Ms. Green,
I have just read your article for the first time, and I found it very interesting. It truly amazes me how you can draw so much insight from even a small sample of handwriting. I hope that you will give my script a try. I am a 19-year-old, right handed male.

Thank you so much.

Dear C.T.,

I'm glad you jumped right on the band wagon and wrote for an evaluation of your handwriting. I see an interesting young man here who is doing some introspection at this particular time.

I also see you as a man of intelligence and somewhat serious. You appear to be probing in the abstract areas of life. With only a limited amount of handwriting, I cannot be absolutely certain, but I think it is along the line of values and/or concepts.

You appear to be prone to emotional thinking and may not always feel in agreement with established ideas or authority.

Signs of ambitiousness suggest you are intent on improving current performance. You may also be feeling pressure from someone else in this area.

Emotionally, you are rather dependent on the past and feel a need to conform to "accepted" behavior, as you perceive it to be. Other times you feel lonely and see yourself marching to a different drummer. These conflicting messages may cause you to procrastinate or step aside to dwell on all that you are feeling. As a result you experience moods and periods of restlessness.

All of your experience impact on you deeply. Happy times leave fond memories. However, when hurt or wronged it is not easy for you to forget what has happened.

In your interpersonal relationships, you like to keep a certain amount of distance between yourself and others. You are probably not the one to make the first gesture and may vacillate a little on how much of yourself you are prepared to give to another. After a friendship has developed you become a tad domineering, possibly without realizing it.

In matters of a real importance, you can become defiant and argue your cause. At this time you may not always be realistic in your thinking. A little tendency to make mountains out of mole hills also seems like a possibility.

It seems evident you are not a unleashed a mania in the 1930s akin to the Hula-Hoop in the '50s or Cabbage Patch Dolls in the '80s.

Without the benefit of television advertising, Duncan would employ yo-yo professionals who would perform tricks in front of stores. Children were dazzled, rushing inside to buy them.

IN THE 1960s, oversaturation of the market and legal wrangling left yo-yo sales hanging. In 1962, 45 million units were sold in this country that had less than 40 million children. Duncan lost a battle in court to get exclusive rights to the yo-yo name. The company went bankrupt in 1966.

The exhibit at Twelve Oaks symbolizes a rebirth of the toy. "The Return of the Yo-Yo" will travel throughout the United States for three years. Then the collection of yo-yo memorabilia will go on display in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

For a yo-yo pro like Zeemo, the exhibit is a chance to strut his stuff. He conducts workshops in the mall, including juggling and other magic.

Zeemo was Ann Arbor city champion in both 1959 and 1960. He teaches yo-yo workshops at annual juggling conventions.

"Any two-handed tricks are difficult," he said. "I used to walk five miles downtown with my left hand, doing the 'Loop de Loop.'"

Softball tourney benefits children's hospitals

By Tim Smith
staff writer

There won't be any flashing tote boards July 29 at Devon-Aire Park in Livonia, where a benefit softball game for the Detroit and Ann Arbor-based Children's Hospitals will take place.

But the double message that co-organizers of the first C.H.U.M.M. contest want to get across nevertheless is a big, heartfelt one: Help hospitalized children laugh while they get better and make coping easier for their families.

"What we want to show people is that, even though this (fund-raiser) is a small amount of money, every little bit helps somewhere along the line," said Redford Township's Chris Smith, who along with wife Jodie are one of the couples organizing C.H.U.M.M.

Beginning at 9 a.m. July 29 at Devon-Aire (West Chicago between Middlebelt and Merriman roads), participants will play until 200 runs are scored. Pledging is not mandatory for players, but those who show up are urged to pledge 1-5 cents per run.

All proceeds will benefit Children's Hospital in Detroit and the University of Michigan Mott's Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The Smiths lost a four-month-old son, Justin, earlier this year due to a congenital heart defect, despite what they called valiant, humanistic efforts by the medical staff at Children's in Detroit.

"ALTHOUGH OUR story didn't work out the way we wanted it to, we still had the best technology available," Smith said. "We want to do something to give back to the hospital."

The stories weren't as tragic for two other couples involved in the

'You always expect your family and friends to be there. But the people working at Children's help you and so do the other people with children hospitalized.'

— Jodie Smith

benefit game.

John and Sheree Patterson's son Christopher, now 7, is leading a normal life after three operations at U-M Mott Hospital. When the boy was 3, he was diagnosed as having severe high blood pressure, due to a blocked artery near his kidney.

Thanks to Mott, where Christopher had a chance to play with other ill youngsters and keep his spirits up during hospitalization, the Livonia boy these days is full of healthy enthusiasm and bounce.

"We're really grateful that we have good hospitals like that in the area," said John Patterson of Livonia. "What impressed us was how they handle each case professionally and are really caring for the kids."

Also spearheading C.H.U.M.M. are Livonia residents Carl and Raelon Routzahn. Their daughter, 8-year-old Jill, was treated for cancer at Mott after the disease was diagnosed more than six years ago. It is now in remission.

Patterson said he hopes the money raised in the contest will directly go to help other children at the hospitals and their families, and not fall through the bureaucratic cracks.

"DONATIONS LIKE this help bring toys and games for the kids," Patterson said. "I don't want to give it to the hospital and let them do what they want with it. I'm afraid it would get lost."

The emotional support Chris and Jodie Smith got at Children's Hospital during their month-long ordeal last winter also isn't easily forgotten and serves as another reason why they are promoting the C.H.U.M.M. cause.

"You always expect your family and friends to be there," Jodie Smith said. "But the people working at Children's help you and so do the other people with children hospitalized. It's unbelievable."

"Even as small as Justin was, they (medical staff) treated him as though he was the only baby there."

Smith said she hopes that very support group atmosphere can also be achieved at the benefit game, which the co-organizers hope will become an annual event.

Parents or relatives of children who were cared for at either of the hospitals are invited to bring photographs to the game. A table will be available for them to be displayed on.

For more information about C.H.U.M.M., call 255-0316 or 421-6490.

Sonntag earns scouting award

Edythe Sonntag is seeing gold. The Westland teen recently was a recipient of Girl Scouting's highest honor, the Gold Award.

Active in Scouting for 12 years, Sonntag completed 30 hours of community service and four interest projects to earn the award. She planned and carried out a Brownie activity day for area Brownies as part of her award work.

The daughter of Don and Sue Sonntag of Westland, she is a member of Troop 512. A graduate of John Glenn High School, she presently is majoring in zoology at Schoolcraft College.

As a Girl Scout, she has served as a program aide at the Wayne-Westland Area day camp and Tot Lot unit leader, and on the staff for Core Camp at Huron Valley's resident Camp Linden.

She also has participated in leader in training and peer leadership training. She was an adviser to the Board of Directors of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council and delegate to the 1987 national convention in Portland, Ore.

Sonntag also is a recipient of the Girl Scout Appreciation Pin for outstanding service by a girl acting in an adult capacity for a continuing period of time.

Firefighter finds his station in life

By Pat Schulte
staff writer

When Alan Brandemihl Jr. gets home from work, he hangs up his overcoat and helmet, slips off his boots and puts away his ax. Then maybe he'll shower to rid himself of the smell of smoke, or think back to the big smile on the old woman's face who sat back he rescued from a tree.

Then he'll pick up a "good book" to read. Brandemihl wears two hats. Well, actually one hat and a collar.

MUCH OF the week he spends as a firefighter at Station No. 3 of the Livonia Fire Department. And when he's not spending time with his wife, Sandra, and children, Vickie, 12, and Alan, 10, the Rev. Brandemihl can be found attending to the duties of the deacon of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Livonia.

Brandemihl, 36, grew up in the Livonia area and attended Franklin High School. And as a youth, he was involved with St. Andrew's as an altar boy and in the choir. Although he didn't know it at the time, the church was to play a great role in his life.

"Church was a really important thing for me as a child," he said. "I didn't understand the calling back then, but I enjoyed the capacity I served in."

Following high school, Brandemihl served a stint in the U.S. Marine Corps and was stationed outside Memphis, Tenn. While there he kept practicing the faith as a lay reader and lay Eucharist minister, taking communion to the sick and shut-ins. He was in the service when he met his wife.

UPON RETURNING to Livonia, Brandemihl decided to follow in his father's footsteps, becoming a firefighter for the city of Livonia in 1979. His father had been a Livonia firefighter for 27 years.

"Many fathers who are firemen have children who become firemen. But the real motivation was that I wanted to work for a service organization. With the fire department you see people at their worst, but in the same breath, it's so rewarding to help people at their worst."

The rewards of the church were also something that he decided to pursue.

BRANDEMIHL CONTINUED to work as a lay reader in his own parish. And eventually, after a friend, Ed King (who was a deacon at the time and has since become a priest) recommended it to him, Brandemihl began to take courses in religion at the Whitaker School of Theology.

From 1984 to 1989 he studied the Bible and continued to fight fires and help those in trouble, serving people both physically and spiritually.

On June 9, Brandemihl became the Rev. Brandemihl at a service officiated by the Rev. R. Stuart Wood at St. Andrew's Church. Brandemihl was ordained as a deacon, third in line behind a priest and a bishop.

"As Christ said in Luke 22, during the Last Supper dispute, 'It's not the one that sits at the table, it's the one that serves.' And that's what I do in both professions."

And to Brandemihl, the physical and spiritual healing often cross each other as a servant of God and a servant to the public.

"EMERGENCY MEDICAL Service (EMS) serves a role of healing. Also, over at our parish, we have a significant healing ministry that goes on."

So with the crossover in the two jobs, how do his parishioners and fellow firefighters feel about his two professions?

"As the deacon, I bring the church to the people," said Brandemihl, who puts in 56 hours a week at the fire department and 20 hours a week at the church. "The people of our church see the job of a firefighter as an exciting one. They're fascinated by it."

"And as tough as they may be on the exterior, I'd have to say that you'd never find a greater hearted bunch of guys (firefighters) in the world."

"Sure, I get teased from time to time, but it's all in fun. I think they've grown to know me from who I am and who I've become, and they accept this."

WITH HIS busy schedule, Brandemihl still manages to find time to play a little golf or softball with his fellow firefighters. And he spends valued time with his family at church and in the outdoors.

"Family camping is a real fun thing that we like to do. And since I've channeled my energies into different church activities, I get to spend time with my family there doing different things."

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Livonia firefighter Alan Brandemihl Jr. has been involved in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church since he was a child. At 36, he is now an ordained deacon at the Livonia church.

St. Andrew's has an interesting mix in the clergy, one as unusual as it is effective. Not only do they have a firefighter, but they also have a former Los Angeles County sheriff, the Rev. Robert A. Clapp.

Brandemihl will be the first to admit that police and firefighters have a notorious relations problem, yet, in their case it have worked out for the best.

"TYPICALLY, cops and firefighters don't work well together, but we really do. We have an advantage because of having dealt with things at their absolute worst, which can make most things in the ministry seem rather easy at times."

"We see people wanting to be their best, and this gives us a good sense of balance in being able to relate to good and bad."

So for Brandemihl, you could say that his careers are measured not by monetary excellence, but by the reward of helping those in need.

"For persons in the church who are alone and scared, just being able to hold their hand or put my arm around them, gives me a great sense of satisfaction . . . and you can't put a price on that."

"And as a firefighter, I come into contact with people and work my hardest to do the best job I can do in their time of need."

"I guess any other guy at the station would tell you the same thing."

Talents exceed our character

"There may be times when you will be sorry about something you said; sorry that you stayed too late, or sorry that you went so early; sorry that you won something, or lost, but all your life you'll never be sorry you were kind."

These words, from an unknown pen, move us forward to another truth as expressed by John Luther: "Good character is more to be praised than outstanding talent. Most talents are, to some extent, a gift. Good character, by contrast, is not given to us. We have to build it piece by piece — by thought, choice, courage and determination."

The recently concluded economic summit in Houston was assessed by a White House official as a "fact . . . that the United States is no longer the world's pre-eminent economic power."

IT IS REGRETTABLE that he did not notice how our moral character and stature has shriveled. The competitive nature of the economic summit did not extend, enrich nor strengthen our national character . . . it exposed us for what we are.

President George Bush was opposed to providing aid to the Soviets, and succeeded in delaying any unified package until the end of the year. He insisted that the Soviet economy be studied and evaluated before any grants be made.

Bush also blocked a provision that carbon dioxide emissions would be cut by 25 percent in 15 years.

What did not change as a result of the Houston summit is the fact that the United States is still ranked No. 1 in military power. We build the best weapons, equip and train more armies and can control more people with armed power than any other nation in the world.

With very few exceptions, politicians are a talented people. Their range of skills and abilities is greater than the average. It is regrettable that talents do not guarantee character.

Mikhail Gorbachev has stated publicly that the Soviet economy has failed to provide a basic economic moral perspectives

foundation for its people. He is saying that he is wiser today than he was yesterday. It is a wisdom that comes more from living than studying.

IT WOULD take courage and a special type of character for any politician to worry more about the next generation than the next election, but just how many opportunities to be moral leaders do we allow our politicians to ignore?

Until we are part of the solution, we continue to be part of the problem. Our country will continue to rank No. 1 in military power, and much lower in moral presence and power of character, as long as we say and do nothing in kindness to one nation and another.

Our international ranking as a military power is a sign of our talents. We know how to build weapons and compose armies. And surely there are times when they are necessary.

But our talents have exceeded our character. The Houston summit was an opportunity to grow in moral presence that we allowed to slip away.

The Rev. Lloyd Buss is pastor of the Abiding Presence Lutheran Church in Rochester Hills.

Canadian appeal draws on canoes, crafts and cruises

Iris Jones

"One of these days we should come back and do that."

I heard myself say that over and over last week when we weekendend in Peterborough, Ontario.

Peterborough is in heavily treed Canadian Shield country north and west of Toronto. It's about 90 minutes by car from Toronto unless you go during Friday rush hour, as I did, and then it takes three hours.

Peterborough is on the Otonabee River and is part of the Trent-Severn Waterway system that allows passage from Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay in Lake Huron.

The city of 60,000 population is in the Kawartha Lakes region, a fabulous inland recreational center where canoe and kayak championships are held regularly and where sailors are in their glory. The lakes and rivers of the 240-mile-long Trent Waterway, traveled by Champlain in 1615, are now the preserve of pleasure boaters who motor and sail through its 45 locks.

THE MOST-FAMOUS lock is the historic Hydraulic Lift Lock, which is said to have the highest lift of any lock in the world. I saw the lock once a long time ago. One of these days I'm going to come back and take a cruise through the lock and up the waterway to Stoney Lake and the Viamede Resort, a wonderful old restored wooden lodge.

There are three companies which cruise the waterway. Bobcaygeon Cruises ((705) 738-4779) does a two-hour cruise daily except Friday out of Lock 32 as well as sunset cruises, and is the oldest lock on the waterway. Stoney Lake Cruises ((705) 652-8389) does several cruises a day through Labor Day during the summer plus fall cruises, Sept. 18 through Oct. 15. Liftlock Cruises Ltd. ((705) 742-9912), does a two-hour cruise over the lift lock.

All cruises cost approximately $12 Canadian for adults and $6 for children. I'm going to do that sometime. This time, we explored the countryside by land. A country auction outside a church in the rain, with the auctioneer selling china cups and Canadian paintings and the antique glass bowl of a kerosene lamp.

We ate lunch at the Curve Lake Indian reservation where we delighted in wild rice soup and an Indian fried bread called Saucegun. We went shopping at an elegant gallery of Canadian Indian crafts, which carries everything from $12 handmade bead earrings from Owen Sound to $3000 bentwood painted boxes made by the Haida Indians in British Columbia.

The Trent Canal widens into Little Lake in the heart of Peterborough, and the city throws a free party every Wednesday and Saturday night during the summer.

LAST WEEK the historic boats were in, including some from Michigan; their sleek mahogany hulls rocking at the Little Lake Marina. We sat on lawn chairs and laughed through a stage presentation by Dave Broadfoot, a well-known character in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Lots of you laugh through that program weekly on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. station out of Windsor.

AUDRA HENDRICKSON

Avignon Papal Palace, located on the Rhone River, was made home to the papacy from 1309-1377 until Catherine of Siena, patron saint of Italy, led the pope back to the Holy City in Rome where she felt he belonged.

Living it up along the French RIVIERA

By Audra Hendrickson
staff writer

We were stopped at a customs station and rest area just inside the French border near Italy. The guide went through the usual routine, telling us that it is only: (1) her skill as a linguist, (2) her savoir faire as a briber and/or (3) her charms as a femme fatale, that will get us through unharmed.

Though it is never said, we all understand that without exercise of all of the above, we would be pulled out of the bus by cold-eyed French officials, none of whom could speak a word of English.

We detoured off the highway for a turn on the Corniche in order to get a glimpse of Monaco. Alessandro, our driver, maneuvered the long coach on a hairpin switchback road as if there were nothing to it.

We came back to Corniche for dinner that night in the little cliffside village of Eze, in a restaurant run by a charming couple known to our guide. We were promised the meal would be superb. French cuisine. We were not disappointed.

We later went to the Casino at Monte Carlo. We were hoping to catch a glimpse of Prince Rainier or Princess Caroline. Tres charmante!

MONACO and the Monte Carlo Casino are filled with elegant women and handsome men who lean over gambling tables, lounge at the bar and promenade the salons.

We won a little money at the tables, but lost it before we were through. We enjoyed a consolation coffee in the Cafe de Paris. It's a French-speaking version of a downtown Las Vegas hotel lobby.

We returned to our hotel in Nice and were in bed by midnight. The next morning, we walked around town. Nice is a beautiful city with a population of 750,000 and the climate of San Diego, Calif. The shops are full of expensive and elegant merchandise. Small parks stand along the inland and sea shore.

Heading toward Cannes on the coach again, we passed the Hippodrome de Cote d'Azur.

Cannes was named for the reeds that grow everywhere in the marshes nearby. The city is beautiful, warm and rich and looks across the bay toward an ancient monastery.

We made our lunch stop after winding along the Boulevard Carnot and the Rue Jean de Riolfe. The beachfront is lined by expensive hotels: Miramar, Splendid, Carlton, Grand, Cornet de la Reine, Majestic, and Gray Albion, the latter in honor of expatriate Englishmen and British tourists who developed the beach area and continue to donate time and labor to keep it neat.

MAKING OUR WAY through the city, we encountered construction work around which our coach had to detour down narrow streets and alleyways. Seeking a path through the maze, we confronted a semitruck and trailer.

Our coach and the truck were hood-to-bonnet in a street so narrow that the sides of each were nearly scraping the stucco off the buildings that line it.

Alessandro and our guide conferred with the driver of the semitruck. There was much waving of hands, scratching of heads, kicking of tires and spitting. Someone soon gave way. As Alessandro would say, it was time to apply "l'arte di arrangiarsi," ("Working things out; finding a compromise.") avenue which rims the seashore and the strand. At a sidewalk cafe drenched in glorious French sunshine, we ordered potage de poisson, crusty French bread, and cool white wine. Nectar and ambrosia!

We stopped for lunch in Cannes, on the fashionable

AUDRA HENDRICKSON

After lunch, we depart along the Rue Georges Clemenceau, the Boulevard du Riviera and the Boulevard Franklin Roosevelt. We turn north toward Grasse, where we visit the Parfumerie Galliard.

Each parfumeri (there are several in Southern France) has at least one "nose" (Les Nez) who is responsible for quality control in the works. The French perfume industry has some 40 noses, nearly all male.

ON AVERAGE, Les Nez work for an hour a day, 15 days per month. This gives them plenty of time off in which to rest their famous nostrils. It is vital that they be up to snuff for the delicate work of sniffing out new fragrances.

By 2:45 p.m. we were on our way to Avignon and Aix le Provence. The fields were full of flowers; the hillsides were latticed with grape vines.

Low mountains rim a shallow valley. They were covered with stunted pines and brush, not too unlike the Fremont River Valley in southern Utah. The air was bright with sunshine and fairly dry. Forest and brush fires have ravaged many square miles. There are strict regulations concerning campfires.

We entered a divided highway and drove past mile upon mile of vineyards. The red, yellow, gold and light green of the vines mixed with the flaming colors of deciduous trees and the dark green of pines. Here in the Vaucluse region, as in Provence and Languedoc, the vines are hot staked as they are in Italian vineyards.

We passed the village of St. Maximin, named for the saint whose tomb is located there, but better known for the place where Mary Magdalene is believed to be buried.

WE PASSED Mt. Victoire and stopped briefly at Provence on the Cote d'Azur, the fabled Azure Coast, en route to Avignon.

Avignon is a massive, intricate building, home for several popes after falling out with the Vatican in Rome. Catherine of Siena, patron saint of Italy, was responsible for their getting back to the Holy City where she thought they belonged.

Back on the coach, we follow the Mediterranean westward to the foot of the Pyrenees.

A view of Avignon in Southeast France reveals the peaceful and leisured town that it is. Avignon became a seat for the papacy for several years in the 14th century.

Looping through Wonderland on water rides and roller coasters

By Roberta Schwartz
special writer

Sprinkle in some excitement, stir with a dash of spectacle and shake well with color to concoct a day of fun at Canada's Wonderland, a something-extra theme park near Toronto.

That something extra comes in many forms including the Canadian discount on the U.S. dollar, which rates at 17 percent or more.

It's easy to get there too. The drive from Windsor via highway 401 takes about three hours. Wonderland rests just off highway 400, 10 minutes north of 401.

This year the park celebrates its 10th anniversary of keeping folks happy beneath 150-foot high Wonder Mountain.

Yet the terrifying variety of huge roller coasters reigns supreme as Wonderland's premier attraction. Challenge the Bat, Ontario's first and only backward looping coaster and Sky Rider, Canada's only stand up, looping coaster requires riders to forget their instinct for self-preservation upon boarding.

The Mighty Canadian Minebuster throws its devotees down 94 slopes at 100 kilometers an hour. Many visitors awed by the thrill rides are amazed when they find that they are still alive at the end of each roller coaster ride.

Wonderland hosts a wide variety of spectacles for those who would rather watch than be turned inside out on the coasters. Street entertainers, clown bands and cliff divers keep more passive visitors happy. Italian celebrations, fireworks spectaculars, and heritage days saluting different ethnic groups still add more spice to the overflowing Wonderland pot.

Two theme areas for youngsters give kids a chance to meet their favorite cartoon characters and shake hands with such stars as Fred Flintstone and the Smurfs. They love exploring Hanna Barbara Land and meeting Scooby Doo and the Jetsons. These cartoon celebrities hug their fans with fervor.

Wonderland takes pride in its claim of operating the wettest rides in the Western Hemisphere. Kids who want to cool off can try Timberwolf Falls, an exciting drop of water bound to leave them screaming and soaking wet. Youngsters love to race down a variety of water slides with their clothes on and emerge as a dripping mass of summer cotton.

The great raft ride etched in the memories and hearts of kids and written on untold thousands of T-shirts White Water Canyon, tests both their skills and personal courage. It gives them a feel for what going over Niagara Falls in a barrel must be like except that the Wonderland vehicle resembles a gigantic inner tube.

The beautiful landscape of the park is most noticeable with its splendid fountains and lagoons, majestic mountains, and elegant restaurants and shops.

ROBERTA SCHWARTZ

The variety of terrifying roller coasters is Wonderland's main attraction.

Professional divers keep visitors in awe as they skillfully dive at the park waterfalls. Wonderland operates the wettest activities in the Western Hemisphere.

Wonderland managers boast that the park's laser show, light and music extravaganza can't be matched for the beauty of its special effects. This year the park has added Jet Stream, but warns that the new ride is only for those with the right stuff. This 10-story ride goes through 360 degree loops that would test the courage of King Kong.

Ten live shows a day including a Broadway musical review, fairytale follies in which kids star in their favorite stories, and salt water friends show featuring dolphins, sea lions and a high comedy dive show staged on a galleon. These attractions leave visitors wondering what they should see first.

For those who want some refuge from excitement and all the challenge, international restaurants featuring the foods of many countries, wooden horses and antique cars offer some fun and consolation.

This year the park has introduced a special $5 children's concert series which brings top children performers to the Kingswood Music Theatre.

This $35 million park can come up with some of the hottest attractions anywhere, serving thousands of visitors every season. Labatt's Blue Concert Series, which costs just $7 in addition to park admission features such mega stars as John Denver, Crosby, Stills & Nash, Moody Blues and Deborah Harry in July and August.

This magic castle nestled in Canada's Wonderland is one of several sites for children to wander into at the theme park. The castle is surrounded by majestic mountains and lagoons throughout the park.

Crossroads Village in Flint beckons to those who seek a tranquil day and a chance to learn what life was like in the middle of the 19th century.

Crossroads is located north of Flint on Mott Lake.

This summer, Crossroads hosts thousands of people eager to ride the 100-year-old Huckleberry Railroad through farmland, forests and past rural lakes. A mock holdup toward the end of the ride keeps passengers laughing as the bandits create more smiles than fear.

In the winter, the Crossroads staff harvests tons of ice and welcomes visitors to a Polar Bear Festival. Down the road at Bluebell Beach, competitors test their skills in an ice fishing derby.

tors a bit of fun. It's great to ride down main street past the old general store, one-room school house and wooden chapel complete with organ and bell ringers. Kids love to sip cider and watch the mill in operation, ride a hot dogs vintage carousel and nibble hot dogs or doughnuts in Crossroads Cafe. Dropping by a completely furnished country kitchen, studying a rural garden and watching a handset print shop in operation are both delightful and instructional. For most kids, it's the first chance to see a blacksmith's shop at work.

The dirt roads of this small village with its flour mill and ancient water tank resembling the one on the "Petticoat Junction" TV show draws those who want a day away from the crush of the city. Crossroads invites exploration but it never tires visitors because of its size and slow pace.

Kids love to buy hankies, wooden toys and the games of yesterday for pennies at the general store. In winter, Crossroads blazes with 40,000 lights and plenty of holiday cheer as the little town goes all out to greet its guests and provide a good time.

To get to Crossroads, follow I-75 north to I-475 or I-69. Get off at exit 11, Carpenter Road.

MOTION SICKNESS

Off-balance misery on vacation

(AP) A common complaint that can make traveling a misery results when the brain receives conflicting signals from the body's balance system.

The symptoms of motion sickness — nausea that may lead to vomiting, drowsiness, dizziness, headache and general discomfort — are a "weak" balance system's response to movement, said Dr. Ronald A. Hoffman, an ear, nose and throat specialist at New York University Medical Center.

The brain provides a sense of balance based on information from three sources: the inner ear, the eyes and certain muscles in the body called proprioceptors, Hoffman said.

Most sufferers are born with a tendency to motion sickness, but an acquired inner-ear abnormality may increase sensitivity to movement.

GENERALLY, MOTION sickness first appears during childhood, and many people outgrow it. Occasionally it develops later.

An adult who experiences motion sickness for the first time should consult a physician to rule out an underlying inner-ear problem: tumor, infection, metabolic disorder or traumatic injury, Hoffman said.

For most people, however, motion sickness is a nuisance, not a sign of underlying illness.

HOFFMAN SUGGESTED taking an over-the-counter preparation designed to relieve symptoms: dimenhydrinate (Dramamine) and meclizine (Bonine) turn off or tone down the balance center in the brain, thus reducing the amount of conflicting sensory input.

The drugs start working in 45 minutes and usually last four hours. They may cause drowsiness and blurred vision, which make it unsafe to operate a car.

Children's dosages are available, and the side effect of drowsiness may be desirable, permitting a restless child to sleep during the trip.

For severe seasickness, a transdermal patch worn behind the ear that dispenses a steady amount of the central nervous system depressant scopolamine is available by prescription.

Drivers normally do not suffer from motion sickness because the driver's vision permits anticipation of the car's movement.

TO LESSEN the chance of motion sickness, Hoffman recommended driving whenever possible. Sitting in the front passenger seat and gazing out the front window is the next best position to avoid symptoms.

In a boat or plane, he suggested sitting where motion is least — amidship or over the wing — and reclining with eyes above the horizon.

Lying down, reading or otherwise fixing the eyes on a stationary object makes things worse. Although it may be tempting to try to distract a child with a toy or picture book, it is better to encourage looking out the window.

Canadian waterways boast the lush of the Great Lakes

Broadfoot was followed by the twice-a-week parade of lighted boats, dancing on the water and around the fountain in Little Lake, and the fireworks which end every Wednesday and Saturday night performance. Sunday we drove through that Canadian Shield landscape, a place of lakes and trees, cottages and fishermen, to Viamede Resort for Sunday brunch. One of these days I'm going to come back and stay in that lodge, perched over the edge of the lake, and do absolutely nothing for a week.

New York is No. 1

(AP) — New York was the nation's most-expensive city for business travelers in 1989, with an average daily tab of $312.01, more than $50 higher than No. 2 Chicago, according to a survey released recently.

The average daily cost of a hotel room, three meals and a car rental in America's 100 most expensive cities for business travelers was $159.42, virtually the same as in 1988, Corporate Travel magazine said.

The survey was conducted by the Rochester Institute of Technology's Graduate school of food, hotel and tourism management.

New York led all categories, with average daily hotel room costs of $162.78, food at $74.84 and car rental at $74.39. Chicago was second with a total average of $255.77, followed by Boston, $251.87; Washington, $226.16; and Newark, N.J., $218.39.

Rounding out the top 10 were San Francisco, $207.22; Los Angeles, $192.42; Dallas, $190.91; Baltimore, $185.84; and Detroit, $185.40.

Tallahassee, Fla., was the cheapest of the top 100 cities, with an average total cost of $115.56. It was preceded by Biloxi; Omaha, Neb., $123.82; and Fort Lauderdale, Fla., $125.55.

Next: saving for retirement

By Alan Ferrara and Dan Boyce special writers

Local financial planning experts reviewed the data of the family profiled here and made general recommendations based on the participants' resources and goals. The information is for educational purposes only; references are not intended as discrimination or endorsements by Observer & Eccentric or the advisers.

To receive a free financial planning brochure or to obtain a questionnaire to have your finances reviewed in this column, contact the Center for Financial Planning, Dept. 100, 26211 Central Park Blvd., Suite 604, Southfield 48076, or call 948-7900.

It is rewarding to know that you have helped your children obtain the skills needed to face the ever-changing world. Our profiled couple this month, Harry and Sue Pierce, both 50, find themselves in this enviable position.

The youngest of their three children will be graduating from a state university next year, and the money for his last year's tuition and expenses has already been set aside. Their two other children are already out on their own and have no need of assistance from their parents. Harry and Sue now can turn their attention to their other goals, especially their retirement planning.

In recent years, their financial savings efforts have been focused on assisting their children through college. They are very concerned now about their own future, and want to make retirement planning their primary goal.

HARRY, AN insurance adjuster, and Sue, a store salesperson, both plan on working for 10 more years; although if financially able, they would consider retiring earlier.

Both Sue and Harry contribute to a 401(k) retirement plan where they work. They have recently increased their contributions. Harry now puts 12 percent of his income, and Sue adds 14 percent of her weekly income to these plans. This totals about $350 per month, which is helping to form a solid foundation for their retirement planning.

They wonder whether they are putting too much money into their retirement plans. Specifically, they asked, "Should we cancel Sue's 401(k) plan and bank the $50 per week contribution?"

We would strongly recommend against any reduction in contributions to their retirement plans. Their retirement plans are excellent places to build their retirement assets. It is convenient for

The Bottom Line

Financial Strengths

- Two incomes and modest debt levels.
- Own their own home.
- Children are finishing college which frees up cash flow for retirement.
- Save regularly in 401K plans.
- Adequate medical, disability and homeowners insurance.
- Have wills in place.

Financial Weaknesses

- Have not evaluated retirement needs.
- Little time spent on future planning.
- Inadequate life insurance on Harry.
- Auto liability insurance requires increase.

Manufacturers on watch for counterfeit elements

By David Stein special writer

In May 1989, a 30-year-old truck driver died in a steering-loss accident in Ontario. The accident was traced to a counterfeit bolt, manufactured overseas, that was falsely marked as meeting Society of Automotive Engineer standards.

Today, automotive manufacturers, including the Big Three, continue to fight counterfeiters of replacement parts. Companies estimate that as much as $3 billion of the $50 billion per year automotive aftermarket involves counterfeit or simulated parts. The Federal Trade Commission translates this into 210,000 lost jobs for Americans, who would be producing legitimate equivalents.

"Counterfeiting is the imitation of something genuine with the intention to defraud or deceive," said Michael Dinger, Chrysler product development manager. "In my five years of fighting this problem, all counterfeit parts I have examined were definitely inferior to genuine ones."

Counterfeit parts may originate overseas, imported legally as generic parts before being placed in counterfeit boxes, or be made in the U.S. Original equipment manufacturers warn that these parts usually fail to meet industry or individual company standards.

In other cases, called simulation, parts of uncertain quality are offered in "look-alike" packages. Boxes with Motorcare and Autocraft labels, for example, have been used to deceive customers looking for Ford's Motorcraft trademark.

THE COUNTERFEIT and simulation problems need to be distinguished from the current crash parts controversy where less costly, but clearly marked, parts are used in collision repairs, Dinger said. In this case, automakers contend that such "imitation" parts do not provide satisfactory quality of repairs.

Manufacturers, worried about safety as much as lost sales and reputation, are getting tough with counterfeit parts makers and distributors.

In April, Southfield-based Federal Mogul Corp. claimed success in a civil case against a Marysville, Calif. parts distributor doing business as Mid-Valley Industrial and Hust Bros. Inc.

Energy tax plan would hurt state, utility chief says

By Tim Richard staff writer

Michigan and the industrial states would be hardest hit — in the export pocket — by proposed federal energy taxes, says the chairman of Consumers Power Co.

"Energy taxes will fall very heavily on an industrial economy," said William T. McCormick Jr., who heads the utility, selling natural gas and electricity to two-thirds of Michigan's residents. "This is going to be war between the states."

The firm estimated that $1 billion of the first year's $20 billion of budget-balancing taxes would fall on Michigan homeowners and businesses alone.

THE ONLY southeastern Michigan member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, Democrat Sander Levin of Southfield, said energy taxes are among "thousands of proposals."

"They (energy taxes) have all the problems mentioned by Consumers Power. But no one should think adoption of them is imminent. It's an idea."

Levin said he has "pre-judged none" of the tax ideas.

But Levin warned the estimated budget deficit — raised Monday to $168.8 billion for fiscal 1991 — is two-thirds higher than President Bush's estimate of six months ago. With the bailout of savings and loan depositors, the total deficit could reach $231 billion — "a very, very serious budget problem in this country," said Levin.

MCCORMICK CALLED a news conference Monday in Detroit to say the energy tax proposals are "highly regressive, hitting people on fixed incomes and the poor."

"It would do great harm to the industrial economy. Michigan is the nation's ninth largest energy user and the fourth largest exporter. It would affect our country's competitive position. It would be unfair and discriminatory to the large industrial users."

"Five or six states already are in a mild recession."

For homeowners in Consumers Power's service area of Oakland County and northwestern Wayne County, it would mean gas bill increases of 8 percent. For customers of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and electric customers of Detroit Edison, the increases would be about the same.

TWO MEASURES are under consideration by Congress and the Bush administration:

• A bill by Rep. Fortney (Pete) Stark, D-Calif., a high ranking member of the Ways and Means Committee. Coal, now priced at $35 to $40 a ton, would be taxed $15 a ton, in $3 increments over five years; petroleum, $3.35 a barrel, phased in at 65 cents a year; and natural gas, 40 cents a thousand cubic feet, phased in at 8 cents a year.

Retirement saving should be next goal them since they save by payroll deduction and it provides them with significant tax advantages.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS they make are currently tax deductible, and there is a very real possibility that the money withdrawn at retirement will be taxed at a lower rate than they currently pay. Alternatively, they may be able to take advantage of favorable five year averaging treatment on a lump sum distribution from their 401(k) plans. If their contributions continue at their present rate, it could increase their retirement nest egg by more than $100,000 — a significant sum for them.

The Pierces should review their expected retirement needs and estimate their future living expenses. This will also help them to determine if their current savings will be sufficient to allow them to live in the desired manner.

Harry estimates relatively high inflation in the future, as much as 10 percent, yet all of their assets are in investments which have little inflation protection — bank deposits and certificates of deposit. They may want to give some thought to including some growth assets which have inflation protection over the long term, such as stocks, real estate and the like.

ONE OF Harry and Sue's goals is to pay off their house by the time they retire. At the current payment rate, the mortgage will not be paid off for 13 years. With retirement just 10 years away, they are considering retiring the mortgage three years early.

They wonder if they should make extra payments on the mortgage at this time so that the mortgage is paid off when they are ready to retire, or whether they should bank the money between now and retirement and then pay the mortgage balance in a lump sum at that time. Their current mortgage rate is only 7 percent, and we would recommend that they not make additional principal payments on their mortgage. Because home interest is a fully tax deductible expense, the interest rate cost is only 5 percent after tax.

At retirement they will have assets to pay off the mortgage if they desire. However, even at that time it may make more sense to maintain their regular monthly payments rather than paying a lump sum to eliminate that debt. With their mortgage interest at just 7 percent, the only reason we would recommend paying the mortgage off early is if it would add to their piece of mind. In that case, it might be an acceptable "investment."

One of the financial strengths of the Pierces is that they have adequate medical, disability and homeowner's insurances. However, their auto insurance liability coverage is only $100,000. They should raise this to $300,000, which is in line with their current coverage under their homeowners' policy.

IF HARRY were to die unexpectedly with his current life insurance ($141,000 face value), the income from the proceeds would only replace about one-third of his current income. It also would not replace his pension and 401(k) retirement plan contributions during the next 10 years. We would recommend that Harry consider an additional term insurance policy covering him for the next 10 years to protect Sue in the case of his premature death.

Currently, Harry and Sue own three certificates of deposit jointly with their children. Each of the children is named as joint owner with Harry and Sue on the three different CDs. While this arrangement can avoid probate under Michigan law, and perhaps avoid Michigan inheritance taxes, it can become very unwieldy if it is intended to be used in lieu of a properly executed will.

Fortunately, the Pierces have wills in place, so that should not be a problem. In an effort to be fair to each child, they may create problems if not all three of the CDs are cashed in and used at the same time. One or more of the children may receive a disproportionate amount of their estate. In addition, at least theoretically, the children are entitled to a portion of the CD during their lifetimes, which is not the intent of the Pierces. Care should be taken with this type of relationship.

AS YOU can see, with increased assets available for retirement come financial strength. However, proper planning for that retirement is a necessity. The Pierces are allocating a significant portion of their assets to meeting the primary goal of retirement, and they should allocate a significant amount of time to be certain that their goal is realistic. As the financial assets and planning come together, the Pierces can move toward the realization of a sound retirement plan.

Dan Boyce, a certified financial planner at the Center for Financial Planning in Southfield, has been recognized by Money magazine as one of the top financial planners in the nation. Alan Ferrara is a partner in the Farmington Hills law firm of Couzens, Lansky, Feak, Ellis, Roeder & Lazar. Both serve on the board of directors for the Southeast Michigan Chapter of the International Association for Financial Planning.

Counterfeits hurt manufacturers

The suit charged that Roy Lanza, operator of both businesses, sold inferior oil seals as Federal Mogul parts he placed in counterfeit Federal-Mogul boxes that he had printed.

"We discovered the problem in 1988 when a customer of Mr. Lanza tried to return the oil seals to Federal-Mogul for credit," said George Bashara, Federal-Mogul vice president and general counsel. "This practice, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars of parts, had been going on for at least three years."

In a federal court-approved settlement, Lanza admitted fraud, pledged to stop counterfeit practices and agreed to pay damages to Federal-Mogul. The counterfeit parts and boxes were confiscated by the U.S. Marshal's office.

MANUFACTURERS have an ally in the Federal Counterfeit Trademark Act. Enacted in 1986, the act imposes criminal penalties of up to five years in prison and fines of up to $250,000 for individuals and $1 million for businesses dealing in counterfeit goods. In contrast, those "simulating" genuine parts are subject only to civil penalties.

The message for counterfeiters, Bashara said, is that "Federal-Mogul is no longer going to assume that this is a cost of doing business and let it go at that. In the past, Bashara said, Federal-Mogul feared bad publicity but now will prosecute whenever it can.

In 1989, aftermarket sales accounted for 68 percent of Federal-Mogul's earnings of $56 million. Federal-Mogul components include engine bearings, sealing devices, fuel pumps, and lighting and electrical systems.

Federal-Mogul continues vigilance against counterfeiters with the same strategies used by the Big Three: constant checking of products in the field, information programs, improvements in packaging, and the willingness to prosecute offenders.

In January, a nationwide FBI sting netted 30 counterfeit parts distributors. The FBI had been working on the case with major manufacturers for nearly three years. The investigation is continuing.

"Seven indictments have been handed down, but no cases from January have been completely settled yet," said Ken Myers, marketing manager for Ford's Parts and Service division.

WHILE MYERS sees less counterfeiting from Ford's standpoint in the last few years, he believes that it "probably will never go away; there is too much money to be made."

Myers said that counterfeit parts distributors are getting more sophisticated, with some using telemarketing schemes to reach auto service centers.

Both Chrysler's Dinger and Ford's Myers believe that counterfeit parts are more likely to be found in repair centers than auto parts stores.

"In my experience, no prosecutions over the last four to five years have involved any legitimate parts stores," Dinger said.

Locally, auto parts dealers also see less of a problem than in the past. Scott Harthun, manager of Southfield Auto Parts in Southfield, said he has never encountered any counterfeit parts or offers of them.

"We also buy direct from manufacturers, so we are unlikely to have the problem," Harthun said.

Bob Morton, owner of Stem's Auto Supply in Livonia, agreed.

"I am not aware of any problems with counterfeit parts for the last two or three years," Morton said. "Brand name stuff is all I sell; other projects don't last."

AT MID-5 AUTO Supply in Livonia, manager John Ginther said he may be offered parts from independent jobbers two to three times a year. Ginther shies away, buying strictly from established warehouses.

Morton and Ginther, each with more than 20 years of experience in auto parts, suggest buying from reputable stores and repairing cars at well-established service centers which are more likely to resist the temptation of selling off-brand parts as genuine.

"The problem is probably greater away from the city, especially when you are on a trip and need a repair," Morton said. He recommends carrying routine replacement parts such as belts or hoses when traveling.

As consumers defend against counterfeit or poor quality parts by careful shopping, a new motto based on manufacturer resolve emerges — Counterfeiter beware.

Utility chairman knocks plan to tax energy

Impact on Michigan would be $226 million next year, rising to $1.13 billion by 1995, Consumers Power said.

• A tax on BTUs (for British thermal units, a measure of energy) it reportedly is in a proposal by Sen. Pete Domenici, R-New Mexico, a Bush administration ally. On gasoline, it might amount to 5 or 6 cents a gallon. Cost to Michiganians would be $700 million to $1 billion the first year and $1 billion to $1.5 billion the fifth, the utility said.

He added, "There are probably broader kinds of taxes" if more taxes are necessary.

THE OIL Daily, a trade publication, called both bills "foolish" and "far, far back on the list of potentially fair and equitable taxes."

The Stark bill would fall one-third on coal, one-half on petroleum and one-sixth on natural gas. The Oil Daily said Stark has no reputation as a "deal maker."

The tax sponsors span the political spectrum. The liberal Americans for Democratic Action gives Stark a 95 rating and Domenici a 5.

No matter what, owners complain about their cars

This is the first year in history that an auto manufacturer managed to build a car that nobody complained about.

The source of this startling information is the J.D. Power & Associates "initial quality survey" of new cars. Power's people survey new car owners and ask them if they have anything to complain about. The results are tabulated annually and then the auto companies brag about them if they are on the top of the list or complain about the survey if they are at the bottom.

The Power survey is the one that ranks new cars according to quality that you probably have seen referred to in advertisements -- at those not written by Lee Iacocca, who makes up his own quality surveys, something he started to do after he looked at how much Power was charging him and realized that he was paying

Dan McCosh

Power says that two-thirds of the people buying the best-quality car in the world (the Toyota Cressida, according to the survey) complain about it anyway. In fact, until this year, no car brand had averaged fewer than 100 complaints per 100 cars, which means that somebody was complaining about every car.

Even really terrific cars have more than one person complaining about them. Buick, for example, had 1.13 complaints per car, which means that somebody's spouse must have put in their two cents' worth. Most cars get at least two complaints, and some get up to three, which means that probably the neighbor came over and picked at something as soon as he saw the thing pull into the driveway.

I THINK one reason that Power gets so many complaints is that he is basically a nice guy, and when he asks people to complain about their car, nobody wants to disappoint him.

"Yeah, I've got a few complaints, but what the heck, nobody's perfect" already adds up to about 300 complaints per 100 cars sold.

Actually, if you spend a lot of money on a car, you aren't about to complain, which I figure is why Mercedes, Lexus and Buick usually do pretty well on Power's complaint survey. On the other hand, when you find yourself driving, say, a Dodge Omni, you probably have other worries and aren't so picky anymore, which explains why the Omni ranked higher than the Honda Civic on this year's survey. I never really complained about my Omni, but I muttered a lot.

HOW YOU feel about your car is clearly the deciding factor as to whether you complain about it. For example, my old Triumph had lots of flaws -- such as a glove box that was a real cardboard box that was supposed to be attached behind a little leather-covered door that unlocked with a key. But when you put a set of socket wrenches in it (don't ask why), the box would fall off and hit your passenger on the ankle.

Then you had to put the glove box with the wrenches in it in the trunk, which meant that you could open the little leather-covered door with the key, hold your hands up behind the opening and do a passable rendition of a Punch and Judy puppet show.

I thought it was astute British engineering that left space in the trunk for the glove box. Funny, I never thought to complain about it. I wonder what Mr. Power would have thought of that.

Part III

An investment portfolio is not constructed in a vacuum. It must reflect your ability to tolerate risk. In addition, in targeting your portfolio you must recognize the five faces of risk.

Portfolio construction

Your portfolio should consist of a variety of investments. It's not easy to pick them in the proportions in which they should be mixed to construct an ideal portfolio.

The key investment features of a number of popular investment vehicles are presented in the accompanying table. This table can help you construct an investment portfolio designed to help you meet your investment objectives in an efficient manner.

Work of free-lance writers can help small businesses

"Hiring the words" is one way to describe how a growing majority of small business owners are converting their ordinary printed materials into captivating business communications.

In today's competitive marketplace, business leaders realize that their customer-directed literature must not merely be read, but read with great interest. When this goal is accomplished, the job of persuading readers to do what they've been asked becomes much more effective.

ADDING "SPARK" to a firm's written materials traditionally has been focused on company brochures, advertising copy and annual reports. Advertising agencies usually were perceived as the only source for professional writing help.

But working with an agency often meant spending a small fortune to receive receive finished copy that sometimes read like yesterday's newspaper. But as the writing-related needs of small businesses changed over the years, so did the opportunities to receive affordable assistance from alternate sources.

FREELANCE WRITERS have since become the small business industry's best investment and have been commissioned to do much more than create attention-getting, one-liners or organize factual information. From composing new client proposals to developing writing strategies for their clients, freelancers are finally gaining the widespread respect and recognition they deserve.

focus: small business
Mary DiPaolo

From composing new client proposals to developing writing strategies for their clients, freelancers are finally gaining the widespread respect and recognition they deserve.

Expanding your company's word power begins by identifying one or more signals that influence the impact of printed materials your firm plans to prepare and distribute.

- THESE SIGNALS include:
- You never seem to have enough time to prepare written materials.
 - You've been told that your written work isn't always clear.
 - You have sizable potential profits at stake.
 - Your rough drafts are controversial.
 - You're about to undertake a major revision of one or more documents.
 - You'd like to audit the written information generated by your company.

- You've got a problem and just don't know what to do.

THE ANSWER for your business should be able to offer a wide range of services extending beyond editing or actual writing assignments. He or she can help you brainstorm, teach you how to improve your own materials, conduct an audit of the written information flowing in and out of your company and serve as company liaison for very large projects.

Your writer should also be aware and focused on the specific reader audience(s) you are attempting to reach and the message(s) you want to relay. But this means that you must be available to provide the writer with detailed marketing and sales information when it is requested.

Next week, we will discuss the questions you need to ask before selecting a freelance writer to work with.

Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarkeTrends, a Farmington Hills business consulting firm. She is also producer and host of the cable television series, "Chamber Perspectives."

Introducing our seven-year mortgage with refinance option. Based upon a $75,000 purchase price, a $15,000 (20%) down payment and a $60,000 loan balance, here's an example of how the program would work. The first year's interest rate of 8.50% would amount to twelve payments of $461.35. For the thirteenth through eighty-third payments, the interest rate would increase to 9.50%, making the payments $504.52. The final payment would be $57,001.62. This program provides a conditional refinance option without requalification.

What's an advertiser to do?

1. Trust the right numbers.

The Detroit News and Free Press' own figures show suburban circulation of both the dailies and Sunday newspaper is down. At the same time, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers offers a solid, stable circulation of 530,000. (That represents more than one million readers!) What's more, all SPRING newspapers are audited by either ABC or CAC.

2. Put your money where it counts.

Even using the DNA's un-audited figures, SPRING delivers Detroit's suburban market at a lower cost per inch and a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press. In short, your advertising dollar will pack a bigger punch when you place your ad in SPRING.

3. Switch to SPRING.

Lower your cost per ad. Drop your cost per thousand. Hit your budget. And reach the suburban buyers you want to reach. Put more SPRING in your next media buy.

SC participates in engineering enrichment

Schoolcraft College in Livonia is hosting a summer enrichment program for middle and high school minority students who are interested in engineering and science.

The college is providing classrooms and instructors in such courses as laser technology, quadratic formulas and test taking.

The program, the Summer Engineering Enrichment Program sponsored in conjunction with the Detroit Area Pre-College Engineering Program, is held annually at area colleges.

In addition to Schoolcraft, courses are also scheduled at Wayne State University, the University of Michigan, the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Michigan State University, the University of Detroit and Lawrence Technological University.

S'craft offers career workshop

A workshop on planning a successful career is scheduled 8-8 p.m. Tuesday, July 31, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia.

The workshop will consider realities in career planning, factors involved in successful career choices, exploring current occupation trends and conditions of the current job market.

The workshop is open to the public free of charge. For reservations, call 462-4421.

Please Help A Neighbor's Child In Need!

In Third World countries, hundreds of thousands of children are in desperate need of food, clothing, medical care—the basics of life. These girls and boys are even denied the opportunity to attend school.

They are our neighbors in a world that grows smaller every day.

Through CCF, you can sponsor a neighbor's child. The cost is $18 a month—just 60¢ a day—to help a poor child in Asia, Africa or Latin America—a child who has virtually nothing.

Please pick up your phone now and dial the toll-free number below. Be a good neighbor by helping an innocent child.

#1 LEASING CADILLAC DEALER IN THE WORLD

MASTER DEALER

"Now, there's a new Cadillac in your future"

a month/36 months*

It's a great time to improve your driving. Because you can get a 36-month lease on a new Sedan de Ville—America's most spacious front-drive sedan—for just $398 a month.

Up to a $2,000 cash bonus. You can receive a $2,000 cash bonus direct from Cadillac when you purchase a new Cadillac Seville or Eldorado. Or a $1,500 cash bonus direct from Cadillac on a new Cadillac Fleetwood, De Ville or Brougham. See your dealer for details.

Whichever of these Cadillacs you choose, your investment is protected by 24-hour Cadillac Roadside Service® and backed by Cadillac's 4-year/50,000-mile Gold Key Bumper to Bumper Warranty.

But act promptly. Because the selection of these luxurious Cadillacs continues to diminish. And you don't have to be Arnold Palmer to appreciate outstanding drives like these.

*You must take retail delivery out of dealer stock. Tax, license, title fees and insurance extra. Mileage charge of 10 cents per mile over 45,000. Payments may be slightly higher in Alabama, Arkansas and Texas. Lessee pays for excessive wear and use. GMAC must approve lease. Example - Sedan de Ville, $29,635 MSRP. Includes destination charge. Total of monthly payments is $14,328. First month's lease payment, $400 refundable security deposit, $6,450 dealer/customer capitalized cost reduction for a total of $7,248 due at lease signing.

Option to purchase at lease end for $13,040. Purchase option price is fixed at lease signing and varies by vehicle model, equipment level, usage and length of lease. See your participating dealer for qualification details.

Jim Stevenson of the Mustangs dives back safely to first base during Tuesday's first-place showdown with the Langlois Cardinals. The Mustangs won, 8-7.

Mustangs recover to defeat Langlois

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

For two innings Tuesday at Ford Field, it looked as though the Langlois Cardinals were going to do the previously impossible — defeat the Mustangs and take over first place in the Livonia Connie Mack League.

Things didn't work out the way Langlois had hoped; the Cards ended up losing to the Mustangs for the third time this season, by an 8-7 margin. They previously lost by 12-0 and 8-6 scores.

Langlois' record is now 13-3, while the Mustangs are 14-2.

Langlois jumped to an early 5-0 advantage following the first inning, thanks to four walks and a run-scoring double off the bat of Dave Borkowski.

"OUR GUYS were really on a high when we jumped off to that lead in the first inning," Langlois coach Bob Murray said. "But you have to like the way the Mustangs fought back. It showed a lot of character on their part."

Langlois added two more runs in the second inning when Borkowski crushed an RBI triple to right field, scoring Andy Hathaway and Brett Welling.

The Mustangs made their comeback in the top of the third, scoring eight runs on six hits. They sent 11 batters to the plate.

Scott Marinkovich and Jeff Graham led the offensive attack in the third inning. Both had run-producing triples.

"YOU GOT to like the way we fought back," Mustang coach Jim Karoub said. "That is the mark of a good baseball team."

Tad Dennis earned the victory for the Mustangs, hurling four innings and striking out two. Craig Overalls got credit for the save, pitching two solid innings of relief. He collected two strikeouts.

Rick Fowler suffered the loss for Langlois in relief of starter Joel Mussat. Fowler tossed 3½ innings, striking out six and walking two. He allowed two runs. Mussat pitched 2½ innings, allowing six runs and four hits. He collected one strikeout.

"IT WAS a tough day for pitchers," Murray said. "There were some bad hops and some of the guys had trouble with the lights. But that is a part of the game. Both teams have to deal with it."

The Mustangs had six hits, all of which came in the pivotal third inning. Langlois managed just four hits.

Murray says he enjoys the match-up between the Mustangs and Langlois because of the friendly competition it offers.

"It's a fun game when these two teams get together," he said. "A lot of the guys on the two teams know each other and its friendly competition. We played a good game tonight. We weren't humiliated like the previous two games. We played well."

Magic Wolves, Wolves capture regional crowns

And then there were four.

Which is all that remains in the U.S. Youth Soccer Association National Championships: four teams in each of the nationally-contested age divisions (under 14, under 16, under 18), for both boys and girls.

One of the teams to reach the final four in its respective age division is the Michigan Magic Wolves. They qualified for the national tournament, to be held July 28-29 in Fairfax, Va., by capturing the USYSA Region II title Tuesday in Kalamazoo.

The Magic Wolves, a 1974 boys' team coached by John Boots, edged the Dynamo (from Columbus, Ohio) 2-1 in an overtime penalty-kick shootout.

Two other teams, the '78 Livonia Wolves, a boys team coached by Paul Scicluna, and the Vardar '78 boys, coached by Morris Lupenec, collected regional crowns as well, but there is no national tournament for their age divisions. The Wolves blanked the Huber Heights (Ohio) Stingers, 4-0. Vardar toppled Busch of St. Louis, 2-0.

TWO OTHER area teams reached the finals of the region, which covers 12 states and 13 districts: Michigan, Ohio north, Ohio south, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kansas.

The Livonia Hawks '74 girls, coached by Tom Coyne, lost 1-0 to the Beechmont (Ohio) Blitz; the Birmingham Blazers, a '78

girls squad coached by Roger Cummings, fell 4-0 to Wisconsin.

The Magic Wolves, 2-1 winners over Kansas in Monday's regional semifinal, were pushed to the limit before advancing. A goal in the 10th minute by Travis Roy put them ahead, and they clung to the lead throughout the match — almost. With just two minutes remaining, the Dynamo tied it to force overtime.

After a scoreless extra session, the two teams went to penalty kicks. Kerry Zavagnin, who assisted on Roy's goal, and Will Bothe hit their tries for the Magic Wolves, but misses on the next two penalty kicks left the two sides tied 2-2 after four.

STEVE SCHWARTZ connected to put the Magic Wolves ahead. Tim Webb stopped the Dynamo next effort, but the referee ruled the Magic Wolves' keeper had moved too soon. Webb, though, was up to the challenge, stopping the retake to preserve the victory.

The '78 Wolves' match wasn't nearly as dramatic. They led 3-0 at the half on two goals by Richie Walos and one by Shamus Rustin. Kenny Perlin got the fourth score in the second half. Alan Placek blanked all five Wolves' opponents in the tournament, including a 3-0 triumph over Missouri in the semis.

Ollie Curtis and Ryan Kyes connected in the first half to spark the '78 Vardar boys. They, too, recorded five-straight tournament shutouts, beating Kansas 2-0 in Monday's semis.

The '74 Hawks' girls, on the other hand, surrendered just one goal in the tourney, and it came early in the final match. They never regained the advantage, however. On Monday, the Hawks beat Kansas 5-0 in the semis.

The '78 Blazers' girls were also 5-0 winners, over Middletown (Ohio), in Monday's semis.

Wayne cage coach takes varsity post at Western

By Brad Emons
and C.J. Risak
staff writers

One district's loss will be another district's gain.

That is the belief of the two athletic directors involved in Chuck Henry's departure as Wayne Memorial's boys' basketball coach for the same job at Walled Lake Western.

Wayne is losing someone who will be, at the very least, difficult to replace. Western, on the other hand, is gaining a coach who will be counted on to turn a poor program around.

Henry's impressive credentials speak for themselves. In 13 years as a coach at Wayne and Dearborn Divine Child, he has compiled a 207-82 overall record and has guided his teams to three state district and six league championships.

Think Wayne HS is going to miss him? Consider what AD Bill Hawley pointed out: "He's had 19 wins or better for the last five years."

Now that's impressive, in a sport limited to 20 regular-season games.

Chuck Henry is taking his disciplined, and highly successful, style of coaching to Walled Lake Western.

WALLED LAKE school district AD Bob Atkins was, not surprisingly, extremely pleased to get someone with such proven ability to replace Dick Hobson, who guided Western to a 5-16 record last season and was 12-31 in his two seasons as coach.

"He's an outstanding coach and, more importantly, an outstanding person," said Atkins. "That's the key. He's a basketball person, very knowledgeable about the game. He's been a winner and winners know how to put a program together from the ground up, organization-wise. He has a very sound philosophy."

But, as important as philosophy and organization and motivational ability are, a team still needs talent to succeed. Henry will be hard-pressed to come close to posting numbers similar to those he had at Wayne.

His leaving the Wayne-Westland school district was not an easy decision, according to both Hawley and his brother, Dan. Henry left on vacation last week after making his decision and could not be reached for comment.

"TO WALK away from a program like that is very hard," said Hawley.

who was Wayne's coach in the mid-'70s and hired Henry as his assistant. "But what it comes down to is you have to take care of your family first. That's what's most important, even though I hate to see him go."

"He's one of the best coaches I've ever seen. There's no doubt about it; I would have no qualms recommending him for any coaching position in the country."

Henry, who served for 19 years in the Wayne-Westland school district, most recently as a physical education teacher at Adams Junior High (he also taught an advanced basketball class for one hour a day at Wayne), based his decision on factors outside the basketball arena, according to Hawley and his brother.

Because of the recent millage failure, staff cutbacks and reassignments are necessary. Henry had reportedly lost his physical education position and was going to have to teach junior high science, a subject he had never taught before. "That wasn't even his minor (in college)," said Dan Henry.

"That was a very prominent reason (for his leaving), no doubt about it," said Hawley. Money, too, played a role; Henry would get a substantial raise for relocating at Western, where he will again be teaching physical education.

TRUE, HENRY'S reputation will precede him, and that could place him in a pressurized situation. But it would not have been any easier at Wayne, where — again because of the millage failure — athletes and others involved in extracurricular activities will face a pay-to-play situation.

According to Hawley, that fee will be $210 for athletes and marching band members. Family fees and some hardship grants will also be available.

Hines Park battles back to top Duffy's

Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury outslugged Duffy's Plumbing 16-12 to defeat the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League leader 13-9 in a makeup game Monday night.

Winning pitcher Bill Bannon entered in the bottom of the second inning in relief of starter Dennis Szczechowski, who allowed eight hits and saw his team fall behind 8-4.

But Bannon limited Duffy's to four hits and one run over the last four innings of the six-inning game.

Szczechowski was a factor with the bat, however. He was 3-for-5 with a solo home run and three RBI. Bannon also had an impact, going 3-for-4 with two RBI.

Dan Niemiec was another three-hit player for Hines Park, and Mike Culver's two hits included a two-run homer. Jeremy Krol had two hits, too.

DUFFY'S LEADING hitters were Mike Siwajek with three and Mike Kaczmarek, Todd Fracassi and Matt Scalf with two each. Scalf drove in four runs with a pair of doubles, and Brent Haywood hit a two-run single.

David Jones was the losing pitcher, allowing six runs on eight hits in 2½ innings.

On Sunday, Duffy's and Little Caesars split a double-header, Duffy's winning the first game 5-4 and Caesars the nightcap 17-13.

Siwajek's two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning enabled baseball

Duffy's to win the first game. Eric Linck hit a three-run shot in the top half to give Caesars a 4-3 lead.

Fracassi and Steve Michelz chipped in RBI singles for the winners, and Paul Pirronello had two hits for Caesars.

Doug McGregor pitched 6½ innings for the win despite mixing eight walks with six hits. Losing pitcher Jim Miller had a no-hitter through five innings but eventually gave up three. He also walked eight and struck out seven.

IN THE SECOND game, Caesars jumped to a 12-2 lead after two innings and outthrew Duffy's 16-12. Gerald Davis hit a three-run homer for the winners, Joe Ransley a two-run shot and Adam Hazy a solo dinger.

Rich Roy led Caesars' attack with three hits, and Tom Hill, Linck and Bill Bertera added two apiece. Siwajek, Scalf, Kevin Adams and Michelz had two hits each for Duffy's. Fracassi had no hits but two RBI.

Omar Ahart got all but one out in the six-inning game dominated by the hitters. Mike Dallmonte got the final out with the bases loaded. Bill Wicker pitched one inning for Duffy's, allowing seven runs on seven hits, and was the loser. Wendy's of Ann Arbor swept a Sunday double-header from visiting Tom Holzer Ford, 9-4 and 10-6.

Stuart Hirschman had three hits (homer, double, single) and four RBI in the first game for Wendy's. Jim Izzo managed three hits for Holzer, John Frazzini two hits and two RBI.

Steve Hirschman went the distance on the mound for Wendy's. Steve Ross also pitched a complete game for Holzer.

EIGHT WALKS led to Holzer's undoing in the nightcap. Greg Hysell lasted only 1½ innings, giving up seven runs despite only three hits.

Holzer started with five straight hits and four runs in the first inning but couldn't contain Wendy's. Rob Baumgartel, Brian Daniels and Brian Frellick had two hits apiece.

Walter's Home Appliance also made a complete sweep of Sunday's action, beating Total Travel Value 11-6 and 9-6.

Jerry Koester hit safely in three of four trips and had two RBI in the opener. Joe Sturtz, a holdover from the 1989 championship team and playing in his first game of the summer after recovering from surgery, and Jay Gabel had two hits and three RBI apiece. Jeff Pendell and David Houghtby chipped in two hits and one RBI each.

Anthony Chandler surrendered all nine of Total Travel's hits but pitched 4½ innings for the win. Chad Wrona struck out six of the eight batters he faced in relief.

Jason Hicks pitched 2½ innings, gave up nine runs on nine hits and suffered the loss.

In the second game, John Gotts drove in three runs with two hits for Walter's. Total Travel rallied with a four-run sixth but merely dented Walter's 9-2 lead.

DAMIAN HALL also had two hits for the winners. Steve Pollock's three-run double was the big blow for Total Travel in the sixth. Dave Schmaltz had two hits and two RBI, and Chris Schmid also hit safely on two occasions.

Steve Owens pitched 5½ innings to become the winner. He was nicked for eight hits but struck out six while walking only two. Craig Murray, working the first 2½ innings, got tagged with the loss.

In a Saturday makeup game, Hines Park bombed Walter's 11-1 as Krol pitched a two-hitter, which included five strikeouts and one walk. Culver had two hits and two RBI, and Niemiec doubled home a run.

Gene Boyce went 2½ innings, allowed five runs and was saddled with the loss. Koester had an RBI single for Walter's.

On Friday, Duffy's defeated Hines Park 6-4, Walter's blanked Holzer Ford 10-0 and Wendy's dumped Walter's 8-2.

HAYWOOD PITCHED five innings and picked up the win, allowing five hits and four walks in the process. Wicker pitched two innings of scoreless relief.

Rob Kowalski went the distance for Hines Park. Though he scattered nine hits, he walked just three and fanned five.

In Walter's six-inning, mercy-rule victory, Gotts went 4-for-4 and knocked in two runs, and Hall was 3-for-4 with one RBI. Koester and Chandler got two hits each.

Bob Bullach also pitched a two-hitter, striking out four and walking one. Chris Bronis was the loser.

Redford MVP leads team to title

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Much earlier in his softball career, Bill Nawbert was forced by necessity to become a pitcher.

On Sunday, as on many previous occasions, that fortuitous move meant the 26-year veteran of slo-pitch — the last 18 spent in the center of the infield — was in the right position.

Nawbert, from Redford, was named the most valuable player of the 21st Annual Farmington-Farmington Hills Founders Festival Softball Tournament after leading JN Little/Shot's Tavern to an 11-7 victory over JW's Saloon in the championship game.

"I started in left field, but I burned my arm out and had to find a position where I didn't have to throw hard," Nawbert said. "When I'm warming up, people think I have a drop ball, but it's just lack of velocity."

While Nawbert poked fun at his ability, teammates Jim Little, the team co-sponsor and owner of JN Little, and Ron Leonetti were more certain about Nawbert's contribution to the team's success.

"JW WAS loaded," Little said. "Individually, they had some great ballplayers, but pitching was able to keep them under control. That was the key to that game. The MVP went to the right guy."

"Billy Nawbert, a 42-year-old guy who plays with such heart, is an inspiration to all of us," Leonetti said.

Leonetti also was a major contributor. Playing second base, he batted in the leadoff spot, went 3-for-4 with a team-high three RBI and scored a run in the final. His two-run single in the second inning helped propel Little/Shot's into a 7-0 lead over its favored opponent.

"We weren't concerned about (statistics)," Leonetti said. "The theme here is everybody contributes. If you didn't get a hit, you made a play in the field."

JW's Saloon had a potent lineup that featured former Redford Catholic Central, Michigan State and Detroit Drive offensive linemen Jeff Wiska, fellow power hitter Don Fradette, Farmington High School baseball coach Kevin Kansman and Mark MacDonald, coach of the Livonia Clarenceville baseball team and veteran of many a softball tournament.

But JW's had lost its first game Saturday morning to Bud Light and had to fight through the losers' bracket, needing to beat Little/Shot's twice to win the title. After falling behind by seven runs, JW's faced an uphill struggle that eventually ruled out even one victory.

"WE HAD to play a perfect game to beat them," said Nawbert, who plays with Little/Shot's in the regular Farmington rec league. "I think they had the better people. I've played 26 years; I think I know."

"The reason we won is we played as a team. Good chemistry. No stars, just good people."

And Nawbert was at the center of that team effort, both as the pitcher and as an emotional leader.

"I happen to be in the position to do spectacular things," said Nawbert, referring to his frequent stabs at line drives, often with his bare hand.

For that reason, the thumb on Nawbert's right hand was too swollen and too sore for him to accept his teammates' congratulations with the traditional hand shake afterward.

"I've got to do those things to contribute," he said. "I'd have to stand on second base and hit it one-hop to the fence. I'm just a singles hitter."

"Good teams come up the middle," he added. "I get (the MVP awards — the seventh of his career) for cheering, pumping people up and giving 110 percent. I get a lot of it on sentiment."

NAWBERT ALSO was named to the all-tournament team along with teammates Joe Ranusch, Leonetti, Shawn Shannon and Mike Nikitin. Other selections were Paul Welch and Mike McNamara of Bud Light, Frank Vellucci of Vellucci's and Wiska and MacDonald of JW's Saloon.

JN Little/Shot's won its first three games 7-3 over E.C.I., 11-4 over Balloon Saloon and 8-3 over Petersen Glass, but it was a 17-7 defeat of (Page's) Pub that gave the team a boost in confidence, according to Nawbert.

JN Little/Shot's rallied from a 4-0 deficit to lead 7-4 and, after Page's had tied 7-7, took another three-run lead that it expanded. Little/Shot's then beat Bud Light 10-3 to move into the championship round.

"I think that's when people started sensing it," Nawbert said. "We started to come together. Everybody started to believe we could win."

JN Little/Shot's jumped in front 4-0 in the first inning on run-scoring doubles by Ranusch, Tony Antal, Jack Aronson and Rick French. Ted Ackerman's RBI double and Leonetti's two-RBI single made it 7-0 in the second.

But JW's pulled within one during a six-run, sixth-inning rally. Tom Bagnasco, MacDonald and Greg Gorski had consecutive RBI singles to round out the rally.

Leonetti's RBI single in the bottom of the fourth gave Little/Shot's a two-run cushion, and a three-run fifth all but cemented the victory. Following a leadoff single by Antal, Aronson and Nikitin had back-to-back RBI triples and French drove in the last run with a base hit.

FRENCH WAS 3-for-3, and Antal, Aronson, Nikitin, Milo Karhu and Shannon had two hits apiece for the winners. MacDonald was 3-for-3 for JW's, and Kansman drove in his team's seventh run with a ground-ruled double in the seventh inning.

"I've been in this tournament 12-14 years, and it's certainly a highlight this year to win," Kramer said. "We've been in more competitive tournaments but never one that was more fun."

Little and Leonetti echoed those thoughts. "I've been on teams that won the World Series at Softball City but never the Founders," Leonetti said. "This is the greatest because it's the hometown tournament. All the guys who grew up here look forward to playing in this tournament."

"Like Bill said, it was chemistry," Little said. "We don't have any superstars. We have a great bunch of guys who play well together."

AJ's bumps Boyle for title

AJ's captured the Livonia Men's Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League's regular-season championship Monday with an 11-5 victory over defending champ Boyle Chevrolet.

Boyle led 2-0 after one inning, but AJ's scored the next nine runs to make a winner of pitcher Jerry Stazel. Al White was the loser.

Jeff Kiefer hit a two-run homer to give AJ's a 3-2 lead in the third inning.

Brian Dinsmore was 3-for-4 and scored two runs for the winners, and Tom See and Tim McCrohan had two hits each. See also scored a pair of runs, and Pat Malzone had a bases-loaded, two-run single.

Rick Dreher, Tim Robinson and Doug Kirkpatrick had two hits apiece for Boyle.

The final standings are: 1. AJ's, 8-4-1; 2. Boyle Chevrolet, 8-5; 3. Primo's, 7-5-1; 4. Total Foods, 7-8; 5. Malarkey's Pub, 1-11.

Top pros to appear

MARK ROTH AND Amleto Monacelli, two of the top stars in professional bowling will be in the area for personal appearances Saturday, Aug. 18, at Oak Lanes in Westland.

The event is the grand re-opening of the newly expanded and remodeled bowling center. The center has expanded from the original 34 lanes to 50 and has incorporated the new Brunswick System 2000, the ultimate in pinsetting equipment.

Roth, the all-time, leading money winner on the pro tour, has long been established as one of the all-time great professionals.

Monacelli, a young pro from Venezuela, was selected as the Pro Bowler of the Year last season and is regarded as one of the top competitors on the pro circuit.

Their appearances will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 8-11 p.m. Roth and Monacelli will be signing autographs and answering bowling questions.

On the same day, youth registration for fall leagues at Oak Lanes will be held. Come register the kids and spend time with some of the sports finest performers.

● Tony Camerella of Westland has some bragging rights with his bowling, thanks to a high mark of 298 rolled back in 1982. Earlier this month, Camerella went one step better when he recorded a hole-in-one on the 142-yard fourth hole at Independence Green Golf Course in Farmington Hills.

Camerella used a six iron, and perhaps now will be able to register that elusive 300 game next season in the Bel Aire Senior House League in Farmington.

● Bowling Digest is a fine bowling publication available on newsstands. There is a wealth of interesting reading for all bowling enthusiasts.

The most recent issue features an article about a local bowler, Tony Stipeak of Redford. Stipeak has been one of the fine classic bowlers in the area and is currently on Team USA bowling in international competition.

10-pin alley Al Harrison

The Stipeaks are a real bowling family with wife Cheryl a fine women's league competitor who once carried a 210 average.

The same edition contains an article about bowling professional Brian Voss. Written by Chris Warren, the article helps explain how a 115-pound bowler, standing 5-4, can generate a powerful enough shot to beat out competitors twice his size.

Chuck Pezzano, a nationally syndicated bowling writer and humorist has a regular feature called "Pins and Puns." A nice touch of humor from him states, "the bowler who smiles when he's bowling badly probably just thought of something or someone he can blame his problems on. Most bowlers, when telling about their latest series, talk 50 percent faster than the listener can listen."

● "Right to Life — Lifespan of Metro Detroit" is having a bowling fund-raiser Sunday, July 29 at Woodland Lanes in Livonia. Participants must have a pledge sheet which can be obtained by calling 422-6230 or 274-1435.

● The "Good Old Days" are back again as bowling centers are returning this year with bargain rates for bowling and refreshments, beginning Aug. 3. Rates and times may vary, so check with your local establishments.

Great Lakes champs aim to add playoff crown, too

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

There are several reasons Paragon Productions should be considered the favorite to win the Clarke Cup, presented to the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League playoff champion, according to Paragon coach Dan Duggan.

"If I was a betting man, I'd say we'd win the league," said Duggan. His reasoning? "We're deeper than (other teams) are."

Paragon's depth, which accounts for its "several reasons" to be favored, made it the regular-season champ. In the Great Lakes playoffs, there's no roster limit and substitution is open. The Michigan Cup tournament, on the other hand, limits teams to 15-player rosters, and in the National Amateur Cup tournament only two substitutions are allowed per match.

"We'll run five guys in and out of the lineup every 15 minutes," said Duggan, defining his strategy.

The Great Lakes playoffs start Sunday at three sites: Livonia's Bicentennial Park (two fields), Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn and Flint Atwood Stadium. There will be four matches in Livonia (two at 4 p.m., two at 6 p.m.) and two more at the other sites (4 and 6 p.m.).

EACH OF the four fields will host a Division I and Division II match. Paragon is slated to host the Ann Arbor Hatricks at 6 p.m. at Bicentennial. The other three Division I matches were not set; they would be determined after Wednesday's make-up between the Redford Marauders and Livonia Wolves.

If the Marauders, the defending Clarke Cup champions currently in fourth place, defeat the Wolves, they would play the Def Koreans, Brothers United would meet the second-place Birmingham Cobras, and third-place Bud Light would go against the Wolves.

The eight playoff teams in the second division were decided, but the match-ups were not. The Birmingham Cobras II had clinched first, with the Corinthians second. Livonia Venom and Ann Arbor City Grill were tied for third with the Venom playing the Homenetmen Wednesday.

Other second division playoff teams were the Rochester Rebels, Phase I, Homenetmen and the Rangers.

THE GREAT LAKES semifinals were originally slated for July 29, but the start of the Michigan Cup Tournament begins on that date and runs through the last Sunday of October, with games scheduled on the final Sunday of each month.

So the Great Lakes has rescheduled its semifinal matches for Wednesday, Aug. 1. The Clarke Cup final will be Sunday, Aug. 5.

Although Duggan is confident of his team's chances, he knows potential upsets abound. The Marauders made a lengthy run in the National Amateur Cup Tournament earlier this summer (which, because they were forced to reschedule several matches, affected their Great Lakes season) and are dangerous.

So is Bud Light, which tied Paragon 0-0 during the season. "They're technicians," said Duggan of Bud Light. "They all played together at Michigan State, and they all play the same game."

The second-place Cobras could challenge as well. For that matter, Paragon's opening-round opponent, the Hatricks, could be troublesome. Paragon, 6-0-3 for the season, tied the Hatricks in their season opener.

TOP SHOT

Livonia Churchill graduate Kati Kelemen, twice a Michigan State Junior Rifle Champion, was selected to train at the National Junior Olympic Shooting Camp through July 22 at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs.

Kelemen, who will be a freshman at Murray State University this fall, is involved in an intense, six-days-a-week program under the tutelage of U.S. head rifle coach Howard Moody, with the daily schedule going from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Kelemen is one of 40 athletes in attendance.

TOP SPORTS

The Michigan High School Athletic Association handed out its Good Sports Are Winners! awards for baseball and softball, and there were a few local teams honored at both the regional and district level.

tral was among the 14 district honorees in Class A. Redford Thurston was also a winner, one of 15 in Class B.

Good Sports Are Winners! awards are presented to teams for displaying good sportsmanship at the district and regional tournament levels.

Henry leaving Wayne

Still, if a family pays the fee, it may expect to see their young athlete play — a lot. That won't make it any easier for the coach.

All these factors figured in Henry's decision, which was not made easily, said Hawley. "Chuck really felt bad about leaving," the Wayne AD said. "But when you get a position that pays considerably more, and he had lost his job teaching phys ed, well..."

struggling basketball fortunes, he couldn't help but feel optimistic about the future. "He'll instill discipline in (Western). He'll attract the good athletes (in the school) and get them to perform.

"The people I've talked to say Chuck epitomizes all that. It's not going to happen overnight, but Chuck will have an impact here his first year."

And if Henry lives up to his advanced billing, that impact is bound to be positive at Western — and harsh at Wayne.

Young's hitting spree helps to stretch Concealed streak

Kevin Young had three hits and batted in six runs Monday to pace Concealed Security Systems to its 19th consecutive victory in the Little Caesars Connie Mack Baseball League.

Young's hits consisted of a run-scoring double, a three-run homer and a two-run blast as Concealed defeated host Plymouth Salem 9-1.

Chris Schmid pitched all seven innings to earn the victory. He scattered five hits, struck out seven and walked two. Tom Noonan was the starter and loser, pitching three innings.

Concealed's Joe Brusseau and Keith Bozyk were 2-for-3, and Shondell Currie contributed a two-run double. Bozyk had one RBI.

Salem scored its only run on Scott Rodgers' solo homer.

Concealed, 19-0 in the league and 28-2-1 overall, routed host Salem 16-2 on Sunday, also.

Schmid, who hit for the cycle last week, nearly did so again, going 4-for-5 with a single, two doubles and a home run. His hits produced three RBI.

Concealed outbit the Rocks 19-4 with Paul Pirronello and Currie having 3-for-5 games at bat. Each one hit a home run, and Pirronello collected five RBI.

Wins push Wolves to top

The Wolverines won two Metro Summer Hockey League games at the start of the week to jump from third place in the Eagle Conference standings to first.

Replacing the Huskies as the division leader, the Wolverines thumped the Wildcats 9-2 on Sunday and the Spartans 11-2 on Monday to improve their record to 3-2-2.

That gave the Wolverines a half-game lead over the Huskies, who lost their grip on first place with a 9-8 loss to the Lakers and stand 3-2-1.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, continue as the only unbeaten team, leading the Bakes Conference with a 5-0-1 mark following an 8-3 win over the Falcons on Sunday.

The Lakers, with their defeat of the Huskies and an 8-3 victory in their game Monday with the Broncos, stepped up from third to second place in the Bakes at 4-1-2.

Following are summaries of three MSHL games played Sunday and two Monday:

MONDAY NIGHT

● It was a big night for the Green brothers.

Mike Green scored four goals and assisted on four others as the Wolverines pounded the Spartans 11-2. Jeff Green had one goal and an amazing eight assists.

● Scott Dresch's three goals paced the Lakers in their 8-3 triumph over the Broncos, who faced 3-1 and 6-2 deficits after the first and second periods.

Teammate Mark Beaufait added two goals and one assist to raise his league-leading scoring total to 26 points. Jeff Pendell notched a pair of goals for the Broncos.

Lakers goalkeeper Dave Mitchell, a 16-year-old who played for the Little

SUNDAY NIGHT

● Chad Boucher connected for two goals to lead the Wolverines past the Wildcats. Mike Krygler and Jeff Green had one goal and two assists apiece for the winners, who followed a scoreless first period with a five-goal second.

● Joe Bonnett was the standout for the Bulldogs, scoring five goals in his team's 8-3 defeat of the Falcons.

Alan Carnes and Joe Burton had one goal and two assists each for the Bakes leader. Eric Clark assisted on two Falcon goals.

● Dresch scored two goals for the Lakers in their 9-6 win over the Huskies, and 16-year-old Kit Mastroberto and Beaufait assisted on a total of seven goals.

Beaufait had one goal and four assists, Mastroberto one goal and three assists.

DITTMAR REELECTED

Art Dittmar of Farmington Hills was reelected as a statewide vice president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) at the association's 53rd annual convention held recently in Grayling. Dittmar joins John Sherk of Jackson and William Habich of Onekama as the three active statewide vice presidents.

Robert "Bud" Slingerland, of Atlanta, was elected as the 30th president of MUCC. He succeeds Grand Rapids resident Wendie Biggs, who served two one-year terms as MUCC president.

MUCC is the largest state federation of conservation and outdoor recreation organizations in America. It is dedicated to furthering the cause of the environment and conservation and to promoting programs designed to educate citizens in natural resource conservation and environmental protection and enhancement.

SNAGGING BAN

Salmon snagging will be banned, beginning this fall, on the portion of the Muskegon River that flows through Newaygo County under legislation recently signed by Michigan Governor James Blanchard.

The legislation, introduced by representatives Donald Van Singel (R-Grant) and Marvin "Mickey" Knight (R-Muskegon), amends the Michigan Sportfishing Act and was supported by the Department of Natural Resources and a number of sport fishing and conservation groups.

"The measure will facilitate long-range fisheries management plans designed to enhance fishing opportunities on the Muskegon River," DNR director David Hales said. "We hope this river will become an increased year-round attraction to anglers."

The Muskegon River is widely acknowledged to be an important state salmon spawning stream, particularly that area upstream near Croton Dam. In recent years, however, annual autumn spawning runs have experienced a decline. By eliminating the practice of snagging, state fisheries managers hope to bolster future runs.

Fishing for resident brown and rainbow trout should improve under the new snagging ban and the river's increasing walleye population will be better protected. Habitat damage and littering are expected to decrease in the area as well.

OSPREY AID

A number of Michigan's endangered osprey, the second largest birds of prey in the state, are benefiting from a joint effort between the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the U.S. Coast Guard.

On the St. Mary's River, between Sault Ste Marie and DeTour, nesting pair of osprey have adopted several aid-to-navigation towers as convenient and safe platforms for building their large, stick nests. The nests partially cover the beacons and the solar panels that power them, creating a potential safety problem for ships that use the beacons for navigating the Great Lakes shipping channel.

This past winter, while the osprey were on their wintering grounds in Central America, the Coast Guard installed brackets and a large metal platform, shaped like a flat umbrella, four feet above the beacon on four of the towers. Osprey returning this spring built nests on two of the special platforms.

The Coast Guard and the DNR plan to install more of these special nesting platforms in coming years in an effort to eliminate this problem and to expand the population of osprey in the eastern Upper Peninsula.

Cost of installing the platforms will be shared by the Coast Guard and the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Fund, a fund created by citizen contributions through a check off on the Michigan income tax form.

TRUMPETERS RETURN

A pair of Trumpeter swans, released in April in Kalamazoo County as part of a Michigan Department of Natural Resources' restoration project, have returned to a wetland area near their original release site.

"Although this pair is too young to nest this year, we are hopeful that they will nest successfully in 1991 or 1992," DNR director David Hales said.

The reintroduction program was supported jointly by the DNR's Natural Heritage program, Michigan State University and private wildlife conservation organizations. A large portion of the funding for the project has come from citizen contributions to the Nongame Wildlife Fund through a check off on the Michigan income tax form.

In the reintroduction effort,

Trumpeter swan eggs are obtained from the wild and from zoos, and are hatched and raised at MSU's Kellogg Bird Sanctuary in Kalamazoo County. The young swans, called cygnets, are held until they are two years old, at which time they are released into a suitable wetland area.

The goal of the restoration program is to reestablish 30 pair of nesting Trumpeter swans in Michigan by the year 2000. Plans call for the release of 40 swans per year through 1993. Only a small portion are expected to return to Michigan.

Trumpeter swans can be distinguished from mute swans by the color of their bill. Trumpeter swans have a black bill while mute swans have an orange bill with a large knob on the top.

Five of the nine swans released this spring were fitted with a yellow neck collar to allow tracking of movements. The DNR asks citizens to report sightings of these birds, or other color-marked swans by contacting the DNR wildlife division at (517) 373-1263.

Not in my neighborhood.

If you think crime is something that happens in other neighborhoods, think again.

Fact: According to FBI reports, every 10 seconds a home is burglarized.
 Fact: Most people never consider a home security system until crime hits close to home.

Surprising when you consider FBI reports also indicate homes with electronic security systems — like Brinks — are fifteen times less likely to be burglarized.

For a low, one-time connection fee of only $195 plus $19.95* per month for 24-hour monitoring, Brinks Home Security Service will help you protect your home. Your family. Saxhorns serve up rock 'n roll of 1860s

By Mary Jane Doerr
special writer

THE DODWORTH Saxhorn Reserve Band plays hit tunes — tunes like "Slumber Polka," "Water Witch Quick Step," "Helter Skelter Galop" and the "Wedding Schottische." Hit tunes of the 1860s, that is.

"This was the rock and roll of the 1860s," said Alexander Pollock, founder of the 5-year-old, Plymouth-based Victorian band. "The waltzes we play were the dirty dancing of the 1880s."

The 12-member reserve band performs in a variety of settings: Victorian balls, historic home tours, Civil War dedications, political rallies and fairs.

It will perform in concert in the gazebo at Southfield's Historic Village, Civic Center Drive and Berg Road, at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 1.

For this summer concert, members will wear shirts typical of the Victorian times, not their usual wool uniforms from the Detroit Street Railway Band, which are too hot for a summer evening.

If the band's music was considered vulgar in the late 19th century and the dances risqué, the instruments the band uses were thought to be "brassy."

The band uses original American-made saxhorns popular in the middle of the 19th century and made between 1843 and the 1880s. Pollock owns 43 of these horns, which have been restored by the band's piccolo in D player, Tim Holmes, who does instrument restoration for Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn.

"These instruments were not used in orchestras because their sound was considered too 'brassy' at that time," said Pollock. "By today's standard, the sound is quite muted and soft."

POLLOCK THEORIZES that little has changed in American musical tastes in the last 100 years. The music this band plays is melodic, upbeat, toe-tapping and short. Like today's pop tunes, the pieces only last 2-3 minutes.

"Compared to high-brow European classical music, this was the American rubbish — the frontier music," said Pollock. "I think the music symbolizes the way we do things in America — quickly. We want immediate success."

One reason the instruments were not accepted in orchestras was the change in brass instrument design in the 1880s. These instruments are conical instruments fashioned with the diameter of the instrument increasing in size from the mouthpiece to the bell, which faced behind the players, not toward the audience. They did not produce the large volume of sound for the orchestra.

Today's cylinder instruments have one diameter from the lead pipe to the bell and have a mouthpiece that the players can use without tiring.

"We use the original mouthpieces even though they have a sharp edge and are smaller. It is painful if they are played for more than an hour at a time. We could use modern mouthpieces but the band members found that we couldn't get the same sound quality with the modern mouthpieces. So everyone voted to use original pieces.

BECAUSE THE instruments were made by different U.S. manufacturers, they are pitched differently, not at the standard pitch of 440. The band members have found that if they tune to 457, it seems to be a common denominator for all the instruments.

The music the band uses is often copies of handwritten manuscript, very difficult to read. The music comes from several sources: the Smithsonian, the Library of Congress and two private dealers, Mark Elrod of Maryland and Paul Mayberry, a musician who transcribes music of this vintage.

The pieces may be popular and short and the instruments may be brassy, but that does not mean the music is easy. The musicians of the times practiced diligently and their extreme dexterity is evidenced in the excessively difficult compositions of the day. Apparently, the public wanted showy numbers played in brilliant virtuoso style.

"We don't play 'When Johnny Comes Marching Home,'" said Pollock. "We try to concentrate on the other music of the era, entertainment pieces that were performed in the gazebos."

EVEN THOUGH the band doesn't perform the military music of the Civil War, the instruments came from the Civil War time. About 50,000 such instruments were made in America. Few are left, the metal being used in World War I or for other uses.

In the Civil War, each regiment had 20 companies. Each company was expected to provide two musicians, making a band of 24. Detroit Light Guard Band of 1862 was a regiment band, 24 musicians all playing saxhorns.

"A musician's life in the Civil War was not easy. They performed until the troops went into battle. Then they became the surgeon's orderlies

HART PLAZA

The 1990 Miller High Life Rock 'n' Roll on the Riverfront Festival brings performers from the '70s rock movement to Hart Plaza on July 20, 21, and 22. On Friday, July 20, Leslie West of Mountain will open the event and the group John Kay and Stephenwolf will headline it. Saturday evening opens with Mark Farner of Grand Funk Railroad; Saturday's main attraction will be David Clayton-Thomas and Blood, Sweat & Tears.

Sunday's opener is Dave Mason, founding member of Traffic, soloist and session player with Paul McCartney, Jimi Hendrix and The Rolling Stones. Bachman Turner Overdrive will end the festival with their rock 'n' roll classics. Throughout the three-day event, daytime entertainment will feature Metro Detroit classic rock bands, including The Look, Sun Messengers, Regular Boys and Detroit Blues Band.

LITTLE SHOP

Pontiac Theatre IV will perform the musical comedy, "Little Shop of Horrors," at 8 p.m. Friday-Saturday July 20-21, and Friday-Saturday July 27-28, at Pontiac Central High School Auditorium, 300 West Huron Street, Pontiac. This show was originally scheduled for May, but because of a fire was rescheduled to the July dates above.

All previous tickets sold with May dates will be honored at the door. Tickets for "Little Shop of Horrors" are $6 for adults and $5 for senior citizens and students. They may be bought at the door or at the office of the Cultural Council of Pontiac, 58 E. Pike, Pontiac (334-2390), from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. For information or group rates, call Kay at 338-2903.

THE LARADOS

Boblo Island's 1990 Miller Lite Moonlite Cruise presents the Larados Friday, July 20, playing, oldies and doo-wop sounds. On Saturday, July 21, The Civilians play their rock and soul style of music aboard the Detroit River cruise. The ship leaves the Clark Street dock at 11 p.m. with tickets available at the dock or at any Ticketmaster ticket center. Call (313) 843-0700 for more information.

DANCE PARTY

A '50s and '60s dance party to benefit Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall will take place at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 21, at the new Troy Marriott Hotel. Tickets are $35 a person. The theme of the dance, Flashback, sets the stage for a hula-hoop contest and a swing contest, as well as classic food of the era. "Secrets" will entertain with rock 'n' roll dance tunes from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Flashback is sponsored by The Volunteer Council of Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall Volunteer Council Office at 587-9000.

PUPPET WORKSHOP

The techniques and terms of puppeteering will be presented in an informative and entertaining session from 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 25, at The Village Players Puppet Theatre in MeadowBrook Village Mall in Rochester Hills. The instructional session will follow the mall's regularly scheduled 7 p.m. performance currently featuring "Peter Rabbit."

MeadowBrook Village Mall contains the only permanent children's puppet theater in this part of the country. A new presentation based on adaptations from fairy tale classics is performed monthly during regularly scheduled shows 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday-Friday and 1 and 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. For more information regarding the workshop, call Karen Quina or Donna Gallup at 375-9451, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

SONGS

"Songs" will be presented by singer/actress, Sheri Nichols and musical director/pianist, Richard Berent at 8 p.m. on Saturday, July 21, at Kerrytown Concert House, 415 North Fourth Avenue in Ann Arbor. Tickets are $10 and $15, assigned seating (rows 1-5). Reservations are suggested; call 769-2999.

MICHIGAN FESTIVAL

Tickets for reserved seats at Michigan Festival concerts on the Oldsmobile Main Stage are on sale at the Breslin Center box office at Michigan State University. The festival, to be Aug. 10-19 on the MSU campus and in downtown East Lansing, has begun reserved seat sales to help make concert attendance safer and more enjoyable and to raise needed additional revenue for the non-profit organization.

The festival has approximately 3,000 reserved seats available for Main Stage concerts. A regular admission button admits patrons to lawn seating at the concerts.

Tickets for 1990 Main Stage concerts, featuring Ray Charles, Smokey Robinson and Joan Baez among others, will be sold for $4, $6 or $8, depending on the show. Concertgoers will need an admission button and a ticket for reserved seating, but the button is good for all 10 days of festival activities and concerts. Tickets can be bought at the Breslin Center box office between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. weekdays, or by phone at 1-800-968-2737.

ANIMATED SUPERSTARS

The world of animation comes to life this year at the Michigan State Fair. Animated superstars The Simpsons, Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles and Super Mario Brothers will all make appearances at the Michigan State Fairgrounds, Eight Mile and Woodward, in Detroit.

The Simpsons will be appearing Friday-Monday, Aug. 24-27. The Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles are scheduled for Tuesday-Wednesday, Aug. 28-29. The Mario Brothers will be presenting six shows on Thursday, Aug. 30 to Saturday, Sept. 1. The 1990 Michigan State Fair runs Aug. 24 to Labor Day, Sept. 3.

MADCAT, CATFISH

Harmonica player Peter Madcat Ruth and National Steel guitarist Catfish Keith will join forces at 8 p.m. on Friday, July 20 at the Ark in Ann Arbor and at 9:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 21 at the Soup Kitchen in Detroit. Madcat will be accompanied by Iowa blues guitarist and Kicking Mule recording artist Catfish Keith. Opening these two shows for Madcat & Catfish will be blues guitarist and singer Shari Kane. For more information call 761-1451.

JAZZ AND BRASS

Music Under the Stars, co-sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission and Livonia Parks and Recreation Department will offer several concerts in July. On Friday, July 20, a brass ensemble from Belgium will perform at Civic Center Park.

On Thursday, July 19, the Austin-Moro Band of 17 jazz musicians will perform, also at Civic Center Park. On Thursday, Aug. 2, the Downriver Dulcimers will bring folk music to Wilson Barn, at Middlebelt and West Chicago Roads. The group uses hammer dulcimers, a banjo and a recorder. All shows run from 7:30-9 p.m.

FREE CONCERT

The City of Southfield Parks and Recreation, Division of Cultural Arts will present singers Michael Quatro and Connie Cocquyt in concert, as part of its Concerts in the Park Series. The free concert will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 22, at the Prudential Sun Bowl in Southfield. The group's music varies from top 40 and classic rock to instrumentals. Call Cultural Arts at 354-4717 for more information.

Of the 43 instruments Pollock has bought at antique sales and auctions, and from dealers all over this country and in England, the E flat bass is the more noteworthy. It was used at the inauguration ceremonies for President Abraham Lincoln.

When the Civil War was over, the musicians took their instruments back to their hometowns, where they formed their own bands. The cities could hire a musician who would then train the other members to play as in the story, "The Music Man."

JAN ROLSTON of Plymouth, a Central Michigan University graduate, has been with the reserve band since its beginning. "Playing with this period group allows me to have an outlet to perform," she said.

In this band she plays the E flat alto horn, the nearest equivalent to the French horn, which she normally plays.

Baritone player Richard Rowe, also of Plymouth, is one of the newest band members, joining only 1 1/2 years ago. He graduated with a music degree from the University of Michigan, where he performed in the school band. "I enjoy the traveling we do and the friendships."

Pollock has just returned from a trip to Disney World in Orlando, where he was making plans for the band to perform. The band also has performed at Gettysburg, Penn., the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island, Detroit's Orchestra Hall and in Canada.

A Blast From The Past!

There's no time like the present to take in the past; on display at the Detroit Science Center May 18 through September 23. Our dinosaur exhibit is sure to be Big fun for the whole family. Even grandpa will have to admit the "Good Old Days" take on a whole new dimension as he stands in awe of these near to life reptiles of every size, shape and even sound. It's a world that time forgot and a world of fun to remember. But get there soon, because time waits for no one and the dinosaurs won't be around forever.

P'jazz tickets are now on sale

Tickets are on sale at all Ticketmaster outlets for the Radisson Hotel Pontchartrain's 25th Anniversary P'Jazz Celebration, "The Motor City Revue Live at the Pontchartrain."

The celebration is produced by British record producer Ian Levine featuring vintage Motown artists.

There will be two 2 1/2-hour shows Friday, Aug. 3, and Saturday, Aug. 4, at 6:30 and 10 p.m. on the outdoor poolside terrace.

The Aug. 3 revue features Martha Reeves and the Vandellas, headliner; Kim Weston; The Countours; The Elgins; Marv Johnson; Hattie Little; Bettye Lavette; and the Valadairs.

THE AUG. 4 revue features the Supremes, led by Jean Terrell, headliner; The Elgins; Marv Johnson; Frances Nero; Carolyn Crawford; The Monitors; Frankie Gaye, brother of the late Marvin Gaye; and Mary Wells.

In recognition of more than two decades of service in downtown Detroit, the Radisson Hotel Pontchartrain's 25th Anniversary yearlong celebration will kick off with a salute to the music of Motown.

The hotel opened July 3, 1965, at the peak of the Motown sound, one of the most exciting periods of musical history in Detroit.

ADMISSION TO the Motor City Revue concerts are $19 for reserved seating A, $16 for reserved seating B, and $12 for general admission.

Tickets can be purchased at all Ticketmaster outlets, Hudson's, Harmony House Records, and at the Radisson Hotel Pontchartrain after 5 p.m. the night of the concert.

DIA figures up for films, kids, shows

Attendance results show a successful year for two Detroit Institute of Arts programs, the Detroit Film Theatre (DFT) and the Detroit Youththeatre. Final attendance results released by DFT show that attendance increased by 19 per cent last year, the program's 17th year at the museum. Close to 126,000 patrons came to see such films as "Camille Claudel," "Henry V" and Oscar nominee "My Left Foot."

During the past season, the DFT offered foreign, classic and present day films. It's season opener, "sex, lies and videotape," brought 22,000 people to the theater and broke previous DFT attendance figures. Other films shown included "The Little Thief," "Story of Women" and "Weapons in the Spirit." The DFT is currently taking a summer break and will resume in mid-August.

Mickey Miners, Detroit Youththeatre founder and curator, reports that the Youththeatre celebrated its 25th year this past year, presenting theatrical productions for more than 468,300 people. The program began its season with a musical production of "The Wizard of Oz" presented by its resident company, the Prince Street Players. Next year, the company will present "The Emperor's New Clothes" and will take it on a tour to Japan.

'New' Motown Revue: energy, spirit to spare

review

The Southfield Performing Arts Center, Inc., and Tap Ltd. presentation of "The Hot 'New' Motown Revue" continues Fridays-Saturdays through August at the Days Hotel in Southfield. For ticket information, call 557-4800.

By Mark Carley
special writer

Rap music got you singin' the blues? Heavy metal make you want to scream? What you need is a good dose of old-fashioned rock 'n' roll in the form of "The Hot 'New' Motown Revue."

The Southfield Performing Arts Center, in association with Theatre Arts Productions, presents this high-energy trip down memory lane.

The talented 10-member cast covers almost all of the Motown favorites by taking on the personas of the era's great recording stars. Smokey Robinson, Marvin Gaye, Tammy Tyrell, the Temptations, the Supremes and many more go through sets of their greatest hits.

All cast members sing well, and the taped background music blends nicely with the human voices, with a few exceptions. But the real treats here are the dancing and the boundless energy exhibited by the cast.

Those of us who grew up listening to Motown records without experiencing a live show got only the tip of the Motown iceberg.

Choreographer Jay Johnson's dance numbers sizzle with an energy and precision that you are not likely to see matched on any Detroit stage this year.

The show-stopper of the evening is a frenetic audience-participation number called "The Bird Song," as performed by Morris Day and the Time. Rick Ingram as Morris Day is joined by Johnson and back-up singers Earl Vinson and Larry Johnson in a hilarious and musically exotic performance.

MY OTHER personal favorite was a tribute to the Jackson Five, featuring 14-year-old Myron Tate as Michael. With silver lame jumpsuits and oversized Afro-wigs, the boys from Gary, Ind., move joyously through a set that includes "I Wantcha Back," "ABC" and "The Love You Save." Young Mr. Tate is a blur of energy as he convincingly captures the spirit of the young Michael Jackson.

Other stand-outs include Laverse Clark as both Diana Ross and Mary Wells; Bobby Allman as Marvin Gaye (with support from Ingrid Clark's Tammy Tyrell); and Larry Johnson, who handles the all-important falsetto roles of Smokey Robinson, David Ruffin and Eddie Kendricks.

Applause also goes to the show's costumers, whose outfits range from super-sophisticated formal wear to get-ups wild enough to get you arrested in most states.

The show's climax begins as a tribute to the Temptations and the Four Tops and builds to a crescendo featuring the Supremes and Gladys Knight as well. Finishing the show off with "I'm Gonna Make You Love Me," "If I Were Your Woman" and "Ain't No Mountain High Enough" just leaves the audience hungry for more. I went straight home and put on my old "Smokey Robinson's Greatest Hits" album.

Mark S. Carley is active in local community theater, both onstage and behind the scenes. He is a member of the Birmingham Village Players and Ridgedale Players in Troy.

Cranbrook offers 3 movies for kids

This summer the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum in Bloomfield Hills will present three films especially for kids.

These are "Where the Wild Things Are," "Don't Eat the Pictures: Sesame Street at the Metropolitan Museum of Art" and "Where the Forest Meets the Sea."

The two-hour program may be viewed at 2 p.m. through Aug. 1 and Aug. 14 through Sept. 2, in DeSalle Auditorium, during museum hours. The films are free with museum admission.

"Where the Wild Things Are" is the collaboration of composer Oliver Knussen with author and designer Maurice Sendak.

"Don't Eat the Pictures" follows the adventures of Bird Bird, Snuffy, Cookie Monster and the rest of the Sesame Street gang as they find themselves accidentally locked in the museum.

In "Where the Forest Meets the Sea" animator Jeannie Baker takes viewers on a visual journey through Daintree Tropical Rainforest in Australia.

'Bye Bye Birdie' brings '50s to life

review

of "Bye Bye Birdie," set in those innocent years when censors worried that showing Elvis's swivelling hips on TV would undermine national morality. A splendid cast and dynamic dance numbers bring back the days when Elvis was King.

The story tells of rock star Conrad Birdie (a singer with the same animal magnetism and looks as Elvis), who gets tapped to go in the Army. Before he leaves to do his patriotic duty for Uncle Sam, his manager cooks up a publicity scheme to have Conrad (Kevin Blair) give a goodbye kiss to the president of one of his many fervent fan clubs.

THE LUCK of the draw picks Kim MacAfee of Sweet Apple, Ohio, for the honor. Conrad Birdie's visit to Sweet Apple to bestow the kiss causes more uproar than that placid little backwater has seen in years.

The whole town gets catapulted into the national limelight on Ed Sullivan's "really big" Sunday night show.

And what would a musical be without a love story? "Birdie" has not one, but two sets of lovers — 15-year-old Kim (Susan Egan) and her steady, but jealous, boyfriend, Hugo (Brent Sudduth); and Conrad's manager, Albert (Tommy Tune), and his secretary, Rose (Ann Reinking).

SPLENDID AS they are, the leads almost get upstaged by two little old ladies in the supporting cast. The town mayor's wife, played by Pat Vern Harris, swoons with comic mastery whenever Conrad gyrates in her direction; and Marcia Lewis magnificently plays the role of Albert's ever-suffering, guilt-slinging, big-mouthed Mama.

Fine dancing and flamboyant costuming make Paul Blake's production of "Birdie" sizzle. Edmond Kresley's choreography celebrates leg. In one production number, teenagers contort their legs like pretzels as they gossip on phones and tie up every line in Sweet Apple, Ohio. Six-foot-six-inch Tommy Tune kicks up pure Broadway style when he sets his rubbery, long legs to dancing, or when, like a Great Dane who thinks he's a lap dog, Tune tries to sit his long-legged frame in his mama's lap.

ANN REINKING struts her legs in several dynamite dance numbers. In the funniest number of the show, she distracts a lodge meeting by dancing under, over, and around the Shriner's meeting table. She sets the stodgy Shriners' fez's spinning by rustling her lavender petticoats and showing plenty of shapely leg.

The show radiates kinetic, dancing energy as well as the energy of sock-'em-in-the-eye colorful costuming. Birdie wears a skin-tight glittering outfit of all gold down to his gilded boots.

His manager, not to be upstaged, wears a neon yellow suit accented by a fire-engine-red silk tie and red pocket handkerchief. In the second act, he sports a cherry red suit with a purple tie. The colors sizzle.

Although few tunes from "Birdie" made a mark outside the show, the fine singing and harmonizing add life to the pleasant, if not hit music. Even the orchestra leader punctuates his conducting with flamboyant gestures and energetic jumps in Meadow Brook Music Festival's happy revival of the "golden oldie" musical, "Bye Bye Birdie."

Dim Sum

French cooking techniques combine with Chinese cuisine when Mark Davis, owner of Puchinello's, introduces "Dim Sum Monday" at his Birmingham restaurant Monday. Davis describes his French version of Dim Sum as "a casual way of offering a large selection of small portions of Chinese food." There will be 12 different Dim Sum choices.

Culinary team

Certified Master Chef Michael D. Russell, executive chef of the Skyline Club in Southfield, has been named as captain of the 1992 United States Culinary Team. Each of four regions will be represented at the Culinary Olympics in Frankfurt, West Germany, with the five-member U.S. National Team representing the country in hopes of retaining its status as World Champions, as it did in 1984 and again in 1988.

Elwin's Tu-Go

After a long association with Van Dyke Place in Detroit, Executive Chef Elwin Greenwald has announced that he will open Elwin's Tu-Go, a retail food service business in downtown Royal Oak. Elwin's Tu-Go will include a small indoor dining area and a sidewalk cafe. Before working at Van Dyke Place, Greenwald was associated with Yvonne Gill and worked at Twee-ney's Cafe and her retail shop, Yvonne's Magasin du Cuisine, in Birmingham.

Tea room

The Summer Tea Room is open from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday, with no reservations required, through August at Meadow Brook Hall. The menu includes beverages, soups, sandwiches, salads, light luncheons and desserts served in the Christopher Wren Dining Room, the Wilson Dining Room and the Garden Court Room. For more information, call 370-3140.

Pastry chef

John Parmentier has been appointed executive pastry chef at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham. Known for his cake designs with fresh flowers, Parmentier will be responsible for dessert menu design and pastry preparation. This includes a daily selection for the Rugby Grille; an assortment of pastries, tarts, tortes and scones for high tea, and a different pastry each night for evening turn-down service.

Service award

The American Culinary Federation Educational Institute National Apprenticeship Training Program for Cooks has honored Kevin Enright, coordinator of the Oakland Community College chef apprentice program, with the Kraft Foodservice Award for Excellence for the Central Region.

Museum offers Sunday tours

Special tours of the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum grounds and outdoor sculpture will be given at 1 p.m. on Sundays, July 22, 29, Aug. 12, 19, 26. The tours will be free with the admission price to the Museum.

The tours will begin at the entrance to the Art Museum and will include information about Cranbrook's masterful architecture by Eiel Saarinen and the fountains and sculptures by Carl Milles. Exhibitions inside the Museum include "Milles as Mentor: The Work of Cranbrook Sculptors, 1931-1951;" "Gertrud and Otto Natzler: Ceramics from the Peggy deSalle Collection;" "Design Michigan," The Student Summer Show, and The Cranbrook Collection.

Violinist volunteers as a mentor

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

IF YOU ask Livonia violinist Linda Ignagni why she gives so much of her time to benefit young violinists, she will tell you she wants to give back a little of the help given to her as a young student.

"When I was 9 years old, my parents were opposed to my studying violin."

"I credit my first instructor, Lester Farkas, with making my violin studies possible," she said during an interview in her Livonia home.

"When he learned that my parents would not give me money to rent a violin from the Livonia Public Schools, he let me use his violin while in class."

Before attending Wayne State University on a full scholarship in music performance, her instructor, Jack Boesen, who was with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, gave her a violin that he put together.

"After such positive experiences, I decided one day when I was able, I would return the help which I had received."

FOR THE last four years, Ignagni has served on the board of directors for the American Youth Symphony Orchestra.

During the last half of the season, she volunteered many hours to conduct the American Youth String Orchestra.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Linda Ignagni learned to play the violin in Livonia Public Schools.

Close in her heart and related to her volunteer work is the Doree String Quartet.

In 1982, Ignagni assembled the quartet, which consists of herself, another violinist, a violist and a cellist. The quartet performs for private gatherings, public recitals, festivals, churches and wedding ceremonies.

MOST RECENTLY, the quartet volunteered to perform on behalf of the American Youth String Orchestra, during the second half of a concert by the orchestra.

Art display at city hall is worth checking out

IT MAY not rival the quality of the work on display at the DIA or Cranbrook.

But no matter. That doesn't make the art on display in the lobby of the Livonia City Hall any less fulfilling for either the artist or the viewer.

For the art aficionado, the month-long displays provide a creative respite to the typically routine business conducted at city hall.

For folks less than avid about the world of artistry, I'd suggest they seriously consider the wise words of Livonia arts commissioner Dorothy Wilshaw:

"If people who have no interest in art come to city hall and take the time to look at what's displayed, they might develop an interest. And if they do, that's great. Art is such a big part of our culture."

The latest exhibit includes 17 paintings by Karyn Butler De Alvarado of Livonia.

The artist's first eight paintings, of Guatemalan women weaving colored threads, are, in her words, "silken experiences of the rural farm in the mountains, of mystery and magic, of the cult of the Virgin and of Third World poverty and richness."

IN THE artist's statement accompanying her oils on canvas and oils on paper, De Alvarado writes: "Painting flows from life — from landscape, from portraiture, from still life, from experiences. Images weave and blend with the act of putting paint on canvas, into expressions of profound experiences."

In a particularly insightful passage, she adds: "Myth, ritual, magic serve to ground these experiences to that which is the ground of all and gives everything its expressions."

Preference is given to Livonia residents but artists from nearby communities also have been shown at city hall. Lack of display cases limits exhibits to art that can be hung: paintings, stencils, photographs.

But that limit might soon be sidestepped. The Livonia Arts Commission, which oversees city hall exhibits, hopes to spread the wealth and soon display such custom creations as pottery and jewelry at the Livonia Public Library.

MEANWHILE, ARTISTS interested in displaying their wares in the city hall lobby should call the Livonia Community Resources Department: 421-2000, ext. 221.

Leave your name and number. Wilshaw will call you back and arrange to screen your work.

"Basically, I keep out anything that's not in good taste," she says. "I don't judge artistic quality but there are certain minimum standards that must be met."

Wilshaw is an art lover, not an artist in her own right. She and husband Ron became hooked almost by fate while coming upon an art show in the Livonia Mall more than 20 years ago.

That hook soon extended to art galleries and juried art shows. Favorites in the Wilshaw home are wildlife paintings and photographs, and birds in china, glass and pewter.

As community art displays are extended to both the city hall and the library, I urge Wilshaw to pursue her dream of exhibits that reflect the ethnic diversity of Livonia and its neighbors.

Getting 'more deeply in touch,' 2E

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

AVISIT to the Farmington Hills home of noted artist David McCall Johnston and his wife, Ruth, is a journey into yesteryear, a trek to a masterpiece of historical accuracy and architectural integrity.

The house, built in 1843 by Cornelius Davis and later the site of Gravelin's Drive-In at Northwestern Highway and 13 Mile, was salvaged by the Johnstons, who bought the decrepit dwelling in 1985 for the princely sum of $500.

Once forgotten and certainly scheduled for destruction, the home, since moved, is now perfectly restored to its original Greek Revival style at a cost substantially more than the purchase price. A year ago, it was listed in the State Register of Historic Sites.

"Literally, we saved this house," David said. "Its present presentation is a good part of who we are." His former home, also historic, was a converted post office in Franklin village.

"It goes beyond being just a possession," David said. "It's a love of history and it's in our blood."

Ruth, whose purchase of an antique mesh purse in her youth gave birth to a lasting love of things old, said, "We live this house."

THE MAILBOX at the front of the property, painted early red, is the first hint there is something special beyond the stand of wild growth.

Approached from a gravel drive through a rolling field of natural grasses and wildflowers, the first impression is decidedly Cape Cod. The Johnstons vacation annually at the Cape, where they have photographed a twin of their refurbished home.

Queen Annes Lace, Yarrow and Chicory give rise to a vintage 19th-century farmhouse of stately white splendor, fronted by a porch of forest green and guarded by three Greek columns.

The old front door, complete with brass fittings, opens into a large entry that is sided by rooms of similar size: the parlor, library and dining room.

Through the entry is the kitchen with its five doors leading elsewhere and the home's only original bathroom. At the back is the carriage house, now a studio where David transforms creativity into striking works of fantasy and Americana art sold throughout the country.

TWO STAIRCASES lead to upstairs bedrooms and a second bath added during restoration. The staircase of 1860 is used most often because its climb is less steep.

At the top of the steeper case is a seam that splits the floor planks, the only remaining proof the entire house was divided in half by saw for easier transport from its original site to its new home nearby.

Artist David McCall Johnston in his home art studio, once the carriage house.

"It's right as rain. Absolutely pristine," Ruth said, both of the restoration and the furnishings within. The home is genuine circa 1840 and most furnishings date from 1820 to 1860.

The overall project was "a bit of a nightmare," Ruth added. David's eyes roll upward in recall. Then mirth.

While the project presented countless obstacles, present satisfaction more than compensates for nearly three years of labor, from late 1985 to the summer of 1988 when the final coat of exterior paint was applied.

IN THE midst of the project, David suffered a heart attack, brought on, according to his wife, by the stress of it all.

All interior walls were reduced to the wooden frame and plastered anew. Hardwood floors, laid in the 1950s, were removed, revealing original hand-hewn planks. Finish carpenters restored missing or damaged moldings, now repainted in period colors of Shaker and Williamsburg paints.

Most doors with porcelain handles are original. Those missing are replaced with antiques of exact vintage. Twenty-two windows of 12-panes each were built to replace modern installations and the glassed-in front porch was returned to open-air columns.

Artist's goal: 'to get more deeply in touch'

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

David McCall Johnston's paintings reflect a rebirth rooted a decade ago in a new marriage, a new child and a deepening self-awareness.

"It's trying to get more deeply in touch," he said, "a new beginning" that combines the old and the new.

The result is a matured expression springing from an original love of graphic design and now translated into Americana pieces of strong color or fantasy in muted shades. He works in ink and gouache or opaque watercolor.

"Jordan On The Carousel" is purely Americana, a true whimsical reflection of the spirit of America.

Johnston's son, Jordan, now 8, rides a restored circa 1900 carousel at Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Background vignettes suggest other pleasurable moments. Johnston is also father to twins Dave and Dan, 23, and Kim, 26.

Johnston's Americana is colorful and graphic, strongly influenced by folk art. It is, he said, a natural outgrowth of training in design. He is a graduate of the Art Center College of Design in California.

Much of Johnston's work hangs in his home, period pieces that embellish the 19th-century farm house. He also produces unusual Americana portraits that, in a single work, tell much of a family's history.

SHE STANDS slightly to the side, wearing a bonnet and clutching a basket of fresh herbs. She is surrounded by a farm scene. In the background, sitting atop a fence, is a man.

The portrait was commissioned by Judy and Walter Breyer of Birmingham, portraits of the couple in their natural setting.

Johnston's fantasy, complex line works that include finely executed pattern and texture, transports one to another world, Johnston said. Colors are more muted as a result of detailed lining.

Fantasy is most often used in children's book illustrations for Harper and Row, MacMillan and other publishers. Johnston has also completed commissions for Steuben Glass. His work has adorned covers of such magazines as "Heritage" and "Country Home." Four of his works hang in the Jules Verne Museum in Nantes, France.

His work is carried in 62 galleries across the country, including Knollwood Art Frames & Gallery in Birmingham. Prices range from $2,000 to $20,000.

The Ritz Carlton Hotel in Dearborn will exhibit Johnston's paintings Sept. 25 to Oct. 20.

Beginning with the school year 1990-91, he will be artist in residence at Detroit Country Day School, Beverly Hills.

kitchen and bathrooms deviate from the original, and even that is believable, "a typical early format," according to Ruth.

New plumbing, electrical wiring and a heating system update the home for modern living.

IT IS the furnishings, painstakingly collected over the years, that elevate the home to a masterpiece of Americana folk art.

"The simplicity of the walls, the arrangement of the objects are like compositions. Our approach is the art," David said.

A tack box made by G.U. in 1853 is now a bathroom medicine chest. A divider in the kitchen is an antique counter from a general store, fitted with modern Italian wash basins and fixtures that complement the piece.

A wardrobe with doors matching those of the house provide essential cupboard space in the dining room.

"We particularly love painted American furniture," Ruth said.

U-M panel debates censorship of art

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

What exactly is obscene? Who, for that matter, should answer this question? Are blasphemous works of art protected by the First Amendment? How about homoerotic works? Or racist art? Or sexist art?

By refusing to fund so-called objectionable art, is the U.S. government censoring it? In other words, is censoring the same thing as refusal to support?

These are the questions that a conference at the University of Michigan Museum of Art called "Censorship, Obscenity and Funding of the Arts" set out to answer Saturday. And the verdict was... there are no easy answers to these questions.

It was not for lack of trying or intelligence that the forum, hosted by the U-M Museum of Art in conjunction with the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair this week, failed to provide any solutions.

A three-person panel was moderated by Elizabeth Douvan, University of Michigan professor of psychology and women's studies.

The two featured speakers were Lee Bollinger, U-M Law School dean, and William Hennessey, U-M Museum of Art director.

THE AUDIENCE of about 100 seemed to have set ideas on the issue at hand when they arrived at the two-hour forum.

"I think it's a very important issue in the country at this time," said Beverly Galtner, an educational administration professor at Oakland University, Rochester Hills. "Serious forces have been unleashed that are dangerous to the country. I want to make my support known."

What brought Galtner to the conference?

"The purity of National Endowment for the Arts funding," she said.

"It's our job to open ourselves up to their work and to listen to what they (artists) say."

— William Hennessey
art museum director

"It reminds me, quite frankly, of totalitarian countries. My oath to this country is to defend the Constitution — not Jesse Helms' oath."

Her husband, Gerson Galtner, a Troy businessman, agreed. "The things that they want to censor are the things they fear in Germany — in most totalitarian countries. They (the NEA) are in perfect agreement with the old-style Communists."

Galtner finds it ironic that people are concerned with monitoring the arts while violent TV shows escape such scrutiny. "You can kill another person but, not make love to them," he said with disbelief.

A spokeswoman for the NEA in Washington said Monday the NEA has a multi-tiered review process involving both a council and a panel. "It's a review by peers," she said. "The panel changes every year."

"And that's about all I can say."

A LARGE part of the audience

Sunday was composed of folks 50 or older. "There is no limit when you start censoring," said an older woman to her friend in the audience.

That seemed to be the prevailing belief of the audience; no one actually stated their views aloud. It was all very fair and polite — each person would argue a position, then offer a counterargument.

Hennessey got closest to stating a position in his closing remarks:

"Art is not to make us feel good. It's not a visual hot tub. And we have to remember that not all visitors to museums are thin, white, male, heterosexual Christians."

"Artists today are pushing the limits harder and farther than ever before. It's our job to open ourselves up to their work and to listen to what they say."

The issue, which had seemed clear at the beginning of the conference, grew clouded as the day wore on.

Where should we draw the line on what should be funded by the government? If nudity is OK, is child pornography all right also? Should anti-Semitic, racist or sexist works be funded? Hard questions all.

A POSSIBLE solution came from a young woman who waited until the end of the conference to speak. She suggested that art be classified as "celebratory" or "condemnatory."

A Mapplethorpe showing homoerotic activity, for example, would be celebratory because it upholds a way of life or thought.

A racist piece of work, on the other hand, would be condemnatory because it tries to criticize another way of life or thought, thereby depriving the victim group of its rights.

The Michigan Council for the Humanities funded the panel discussion.

ON STAGE

Matthew Cahill of Garden City will perform in Henry Ford Community College's production of "The Servant of Two Masters," a 16th century slapstick comedy by Carlo Goldoni, Aug. 9-12 on the Dearborn campus.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

The Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane invites the public to join in a celebration commemorating the 127th birthday of auto pioneer Henry Ford I Monday, July 30.

Visitors will receive a reduced admission price of $1 on tours and a complimentary slice of birthday cake. The regular $6 per person charge for tours of the mansion and powerhouse will be reduced to $1 for this celebration only.

Construction on the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane, Michigan's only National Historic Landmark home open to the public, was completed in 1915. It served as home to Ford and his wife, Clara, for 30 years. It reflects their simple tastes and orientation to nature.

The powerhouse, used as a model for Ford's mill sites throughout Michigan, made the estate self-sufficient with its independent source of heat, electric service and water.

Guided tours of the mansion and powerhouse will be available at 10 and 11 a.m. and 1, 2 and 3 p.m. on July 30. Slices of a birthday cake bake especially for the occasion will be offered to visitors at each tour's end.

The estate is on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Evergreen, between Ford Road and Michigan Ave. Call 593-5590.

SUNDAY TOURS

Special tours of the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum grounds and outdoor sculpture will be given at 1 p.m. on Sundays, July 22, 29, Aug. 12, 19, 26.

The tours will be free with the admission price to the museum.

When snapping photos, pay attention to details

PATTERNS AND designs, encountered so often in our daily lives, can play an important part in our photography. They can make order out of chaos and lend harmony to a seemingly meaningless design.

How exciting it is as a photographer to draw attention to the often unnoticed wealth of detail in the patterns and designs around us.

Your home is a good place to begin. Patterns in brickwork, a design in the floor tile or shadows on the steps all have photographic potential.

DON'T FORGET your car. A design in the grille or a detail of ornamentation may reward you with an impact-filled shot.

Architecture, both new and old, offers a multitude of pattern and design possibilities. Look closely at buildings, even some under construction, and you'll see exciting photographic design opportunities.

Be sure to look for pattern in nature. Windswept sand, a close-up of a shell or an intimate inspection of an individual leaf will reward you with meaningful pictures.

ALWAYS HAVE your photographic vision turned on. A recent visit to friends enabled me to make the accompanying photograph. While on the patio, I looked up to see the interesting design of shapes and tones in the opened umbrella.

One of the best ways to see pattern and design is to use a viewing mask. A "window" cut from a piece of cardboard will do just fine.

Your viewing mask will isolate pattern and design from distracting surroundings. You'll find yourself zooming in on meaningful subjects you never knew were there.

Remember, the aim of creative photography is to make a visual interpretation of something that moves you, not just to record an image. With design and pattern, you can do just that.

Monte Nagler's photography is a regular feature in Creative Living.

Photographer Monte Nagler discovered beauty and pattern on the underside of an opened patio umbrella.

Violinist mentor to youths cal schools and hospitals. During the programs, they introduce the quartet's instruments and their individual capabilities. Then they give a performance of chamber music.

"Without these programs, many students would not be exposed to the beauty of stringed instruments," said Ignagni, who is married and the mother of two teenage sons.

OVER THE past 20 years, Ignagni has accumulated quite a lengthy list of orchestras with whom she has performed.

They include the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, the Saginaw Symphony Orchestra, the Meadow Brook Music Festival Orchestra and the Nashville Players.

"I enjoy the challenge and experience of working under different conductors. I believe this strengthens my playing skills and also my adaptability."

GROWTH IS important to her as a performing artist. Last summer, she spent six weeks in Czechoslovakia studying with internationally renowned concert violinist Peter Michalica.

The private studies, by invitation only, were sponsored by the Slovak Music Fund in Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.

"The Slovak method of playing heavily stresses feeling the music. You must become sensitive to the placement of the fingers upon the strings."

To demonstrate the method, she pressed down ever so gently upon imaginary catgut strings in mid-air.

AS SHE continued to speak about her Czechoslovakian studies, the undying excitement in her voice rose steadily.

"The Slovak method is more emotional than what is taught here in the states, as is the seeking of a softer, rounder sound."

"In Czechoslovakia, you are taught to flow with the music, free like a bird."

"I don't mean to slight the teaching methods here in the States. After all, this is where I learned to play the violin, in the Livonia Public Schools."

FULL OF enthusiasm, Ignagni continues her quest to help young music students.

This summer, "I'm holding rag music rehearsals because of a request by my students to do so, after they heard Scott Joplin."

"I am inviting my private students and members of the American Youth String Orchestra to participate."

Ignagni hopes that after the series of rehearsals are over, "we will be able to take the rags to nursing homes, or any place that wants us to perform them."

"After all, music is meant to be shared."

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better. We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the lush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton - and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one - the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

Discover these features at The Crossings at Canton:

- Dens & Fireplaces
- Fully-applianced Kitchens
- Patios or Balconies
- Central Air Conditioning
- A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, a new party room, and more!

Visit The Crossings at Canton today. We're just 20 minutes from Ann Arbor and downtown Detroit, yet comfortably away from it all. From I-275, just exit Arbor Rd. West to Haggerty Rd., follow south to Joy Rd. then east to The Crossings. Open Mon.-Fri., 10-6, Sat. 10-5, Sun. 12-5 Phone 455-2424 today.

FLOODED OUT—Splashing through flooded streets is not in the best interest of any automobile. Avoid such streets, if possible, but if you must drive through them, do so slowly, with patience and caution.

Save Your Fun On Water For Ride In Boat

Cars were not intended to be water-borne vehicles, and encounters with flooded streets can only increase the chance of a car malfunction. During the rainy season, avoid standing water at intersections or elsewhere if possible, particularly if it is above the bottom of the wheel rims. However, if you have no alternative but to drive through, here are some tips to help you safely navigate these water hazards:
Drive through the water very slowly. Rapid movement might cause the water to "swamp" or stall the engine, and perhaps leave you stranded.
If you do stall as you cross a deep puddle, try to coast toward the side of the road and wait for the engine to dry out before trying to start it. Wiping off the spark plugs, wires, and other parts of the ignition system with a dry cloth can help you get moving faster.
Remember that the car's brakes may be affected by driving through standing water, and you should check their stopping ability before an emergency demands their use.

THANKING YOU TO ST. JUDE
O, Holy St. Jude, Apostle & Martyr, great in virtue & sign in miracle.
Near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need.
To you I have recourse from the depth of my heart & humbly beg whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.
Help in my present & urgent situation. In return, I promise to make your name known & cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your name. Amen. Say three Getting away from it all within your home

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Call it what you will — a library, a den, a study, a "personal space room," whatever, but specialization in the home is pushing builders to include extra rooms beyond the traditional family, dining and living rooms. While still a fairly exclusive amenity found in luxury homes, the extra room is becoming a popular addition and may be the new status symbol for keeping up with the Joneses.

Upstairs and downstairs libraries, dens off master suites, studies, home offices — the extra room attracts a lot of buyers, according to sales manager Linda Friedman of Harbor Oaks Development in Walled Lake.

Usually identified as libraries on floor plans, Friedman said the extra room serves a special function in the home. They may not be the traditional library with book-lined shelves along the walls, but they serve a similar purpose — they offer the homeowner someplace to get away from the rest of the house.

Harbor Oaks is currently developing a joint venture in Lake Orion with Welcome Homes in Clarkston in which libraries are a standard amenity in many of the floor plans. Libraries have also been popular in the company's previous developments in West Bloomfield and Oakland Township.

FRIEDMAN SAID libraries in new construction have been around for several years now, but it's beginning to catch on more. "Now that people have seen them, they like what they're seeing."

"People use them as an office or as a private space — they like having a separate room away from the rest of the house," she said. "It's an extra room that is not a living room or a family room — it's someplace to get away from the rest of the family for a little privacy."

Given a choice between two houses of similar size — one with larger rooms or one with an extra room — the home buyer is more likely to buy the latter house. "(In one of Harbor Development's subdivisions) we have two different styles of colonials — the one with the library sells more."

Friedman said she doubts libraries will become common in less expensive homes strictly because of cost limitations. A certain amount of square footage is necessary to include a library in a floor plan and square footage costs money.

"I don't think you'll see (libraries) in homes less expensive than ours — we're known for giving a lot for the money," she said. Typical Harbor Development properties start at around $179,000.

JAMES J. RUTKOWSKI, president of James Joseph Enterprises in Rochester Hills, said the purpose behind the extra room or library contrasts with other rooms where the emphasis has been on rooms as gathering places.

'It's an extra room that is not a living room or a family room — it's someplace to get away from the rest of the family for a little privacy.'

— Linda Friedman

In that way, libraries buck current building trends by developing a room meant for seclusion rather than gathering, Rutkowski said.

The den or library provides a place of solitude for the homeowner, he said. "It's someplace for the parents to get away from the kids, or for the kids to do homework."

Rutkowski said the need for dens and libraries is not only driven by market demands, but is also driven by increased specialization in homes. "Years ago, the mother would do the bills on the kitchen table and that was the home office — now homes have their own offices."

The extra room doesn't have to be an office or library. "People use them for sitting rooms or quiet rooms — it gives you someplace to get away from the rest of the home."

But other homeowners do use the extra rooms as a traditional library. "People still read and libraries do add a certain feel to a home."

Rutkowski said the price of that extra room is still out of range for most first-time home buyers, but the price has come down significantly. It won't be long before libraries and dens — albeit small ones — will be found in homes starting in the $125,000 to $150,000 range.

Increased specialization in homes is evidenced by other types of rooms, Rutkowski continued. Kitchens for cooking, nooks for informal eating, dining rooms for formal dinners, great rooms for casual gathering, and living rooms for formal gatherings are forerunners of the offices, dens, libraries and media rooms of today.

"If I had to pick something, I'd say media rooms will be the next big craze in home building," Rutkowski said. Media rooms, which typically include built-in televisions and surround-sound stereo systems, are like small theaters, he said.

New loan program outlined

By Mary Rodrigue
staff writer

A new mortgage program that would help thousands of Michigan's working families buy a house by reducing requirements for a down payment is scheduled to begin this fall.

During the next three years, up to 10,000 families could benefit from the new partnership between the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. (Freddie Mac) and the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA).

Freddie Mac, a stockholder-owned corporation created to provide a continuous flow of funds to mortgage lenders, will buy $500 million in mortgages from state lending institutions. The lenders will make loans with lower down payment and more liberal buyer eligibility requirements. MSHDA will initially

Stroll Into Summer

We've just opened PHASE II: The Woods of Stonebridge, so now is the perfect time to take a stroll in our family community. On sidewalks where children play. At get-togethers where neighbors meet and talk. And in West Bloomfield schools where education is still priority. Don't miss your chance to see the community everyone wants to be a part of—The Woods of Stonebridge.

Specifically, the program reduces to 5 percent the down payment required on a new or used house, lowers income levels needed to qualify for a mortgage and eases credit requirements.

And the program is not limited to first time house buyers, according to MSHDA spokeswoman Ann Harrison.

THE LOANS will be 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages at interest rates negotiated with lenders. Commercial banks, savings & loan associations, and mortgage companies throughout Michigan are eligible if they are a Freddie Mac approved seller. Currently there are 161 lenders in the state that are so approved, and that number could rise, Harrison said.

Loan applications will be to lenders who sign up for the program. A list of participating lenders and other application information will be made available to the public in the fall.

"Any program that helps people get into property is a plus," said Lynn Egbert, spokesman for the Michigan Association of Home Builders in Lansing. "This is a program of encouragement."

The average sales price of houses in western Wayne and Oakland counties (new and used housing combined) was $95,157 for the first half of 1990, according to the Michigan Association of Realtors.

THE BUILDERS Association of Southeastern Michigan puts the average cost of new house construction at $114,000 in the seven-county region including Wayne and Oakland counties.

That figure is higher in southern Oakland and western Wayne counties, although an average was unavailable, said Peter Logan, BASM spokesman.

Buyers purchasing property in Oakland and Wayne counties will qualify for the mortgage program if they have an annual family income of $47,500 or less. The statewide average is $43,500.

How to select the quality lot

(AP) — Selecting a quiet site is the least expensive way to diminish the din, but not all sites are as peaceful as they look.

Evaluating the noise environment before signing on the dotted line may save lots of headaches later, Home Plan Ideas magazine said.

The location of the lot and the topography of the land can affect the amount of noise a family will have to live with.

Overall topography of a site has a dramatic effect on noise. A location upwind from a source of noise, such as a neighborhood ball diamond, will be quieter.

THOSE BUILDING downwind should plant a windbreak between the house and the noise. A tight evergreen or deciduous hedge will provide noise protection as far downwind as 20 times its height. If space is limited, use fences or columnar-shaped shrubs as noise buffers and privacy screens.

In an urban area, large buildings can reflect unwanted sounds onto an urban site. The noisiest places will be on traffic arteries between tall buildings. On the other hand, skyscrapers can perform a service if they are between a house and a source of noise. Greenbelts or trees also create pockets of quiet.

Families considering a site within two miles of a major airport should get a map and check with airport officials on normal flight paths. The noisiest area will be a three-mile-wide swath of land directly under these paths for 15 miles on either side of the airport.

PEOPLE WHO are serious about a building site should take the time to visit it several times during the day.

Sometimes an area that is quiet at midday can become noisy in the evening or early in the morning. A building site near a school playground is apt to be noisy several times during the day.

THE SELECTIVE GROUP

Open look for active family

This house boasts an organized plan to keep up with an active family.

room only by wood columns. The family room has a sloped ceiling and fireplace and sun deck amenities that make for improved livability. The dining room is separated from the family room only by cased openings. Formal diners are closed off from the kitchen giving the family chef more privacy.

A distinctive island surface unit includes a cantilevered snack bar for those hurry-up meals. The breakfast table would be in the corner between two walls of double hung windows. Cabinets and pantry areas are spacious.

A central basement stairway is near the master bedroom suite which in turn is highlighted by two walk-in closets, twin lavatories, garden tub, separate shower and commode area. A linen closet is provided for this bath.

Two additional bedrooms are isolated at the opposite end of this plan. They share a central bath and each bedroom has two closets. A central half bath is shown for daytime use.

The traditional exterior is embellished by a stucco finish, ornate windows, corner quoins and combined hip and gable roof design.

The plan is No. 2172 and includes 2,165 square feet of heated area in a computer-generated plan. All W.D. Farmer plans are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information, write W.D. Farmer, P.O. Box 450025, Atlanta, Ga. 30345.

COLONIAL ACRES (South Lyon)

building news

Robert G. Wertenberger joined the Farmington architectural and planning firm of Merritt McCalum Cieslak as project architect. He had previously been with Carne Associates in Plymouth.

Lawrence R. Ancypa has been named head of the architecture department at Hubbell, Roth & Clark, Bloomfield Hills. He will oversee all architectural projects.

Currently he is in charge of projects involving Chrysler, General Motors and Ford and is handling architectural improvement projects for Utica, Sterling Heights and Lake Orion.

Edgar E. Parks has been named president of the Engineering Society of Detroit. He is president and CEO of Albert Kahn Associates, Detroit.

James V. Clarke has been appointed director of land acquisition at Robertson Brothers Co., Bloomfield Hills.

A Bloomfield Township resident, he formerly was a commercial real estate broker with the Dietz Organization and worked as an office specialist for Hayman Co.

Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates of Southfield has reorganized its design division.

Samuel R. Bayne has been promoted to director of design from assistant director of design. He will work with top designer Harold F. VanDine, senior vice president of architecture and design. Gary L. Skog, vice president and former director of design, will take on an expanded executive management role in technical facilities.

Diane M. McAllister has been named property manager at Grubb & Ellis, Southfield. A Farmington Hills resident, she worked with Mid America Realty Investors and Equitec Financial Group before joining Grubb & Ellis.

The Pointe on Pleasant Lake, one of the last lakefront developments in West Bloomfield, has opened. Developed by the Ivanhoe Cos., the development consists of 42 detached ranch condominiums on 38 acres, with condos starting at $294,000.

Delta Tooling will break ground for its model and fixtures facility in the Metro North Technology Park, Auburn Hills. Campbell/Manix will provide the design, engineering and construction of the project.

White Lake Township is the home of Meadow Lake, a manufactured house community developed by Sidney I. Moss and Steven D. Karbal.

To be developed in two phases, each will have about 200 homesites. Houses will be 1,100 to 1,800 square feet and will start in the low $30,000 range.

Damone/Andrew, A Troy-based real estate development, construction and management company, has broken ground on the second phase of Rochester Hills Executive Park on Auburn between Adams and Crooks.

Three buildings will be added to the existing 10 in the high tech, research and light industrial park. Completion is expected by January.

Cleaning liquids demand caution

(AP) — Here is some advice from the "Guide to Hazardous Products Around the Home."

Before you buy a product:

- Read the label. Make sure it is the product you want to buy and that you're comfortable with the ingredients.
- Buy the least hazardous product. Let the signal words serve as a guide. With pesticides, "DANGER" means highly toxic, "WARNING" means moderately toxic, and "CAUTION" means slightly toxic.
- With household products, "POISON" means highly toxic, "DANGER" means extremely flammable or corrosive or highly toxic, "WARNING" or "CAUTION" means less toxic.

Buying products labeled "non-toxic" may be a way of identifying a safer product; however, be aware that the word non-toxic is an advertising word and has no federal regulatory definition.

- Avoid aerosol products. Aerosol disperses the substance in tiny droplets that can be inhaled deeply into the lungs and absorbed into the bloodstream. In addition, aerosol cans may become explosive when heated.

Once it's in your house, use it safely.

- Read labels carefully before using hazardous products.
- Use the proper safety equipment when working with hazardous chemicals.
- Leave products in the original containers with the label that clearly identifies the contents. Never put hazardous products in food or beverage containers.
- Do not mix products unless directed to do so by label directions.

Lighting reproductions available

AP — If you're renovating an older house, you can use modern lighting in authentic reproductions of period lamps that will blend with the architecture and decor.

Rejuvenation Lamp & Fixture Co. offers a catalog service of fixtures with designs dating from the 1800s to the 1930s. The new catalog features turn-of-the-century Sheffield designs with stamped metal parts and glass shades made from original molds recently discovered by the company's president, Jim Kelly.

For a catalog, write to Rejuvenation at 901 N. Skidmore, Portland, Ore. 97217.
