HE'S BEEN shipped to the Middle East and he'd like plenty of mail from home.

That was the word last week from Joan Adis, whose son, Marine Sgt. Thomas Adis of Wayne, is en route to Saudi Arabia on the S.S. Raleigh.

"He left two weeks ago and we haven't heard from him," said Adis, who owns the Paperbacks and Things bookstore on Wayne Road in Westland. "He told us to watch the news and maybe we could spot him."

She realizes contact with her son will be difficult to maintain, so Adis thinks letters from folks at home might help.

Sgt. Adis is with the 2nd Marine Regiment, 3rd Battalion out of Camp Lejeune, N.C. Letters should be addressed to Adis, Thomas R., H + CO 3 7 2 D, Marine Division, Camp Lejeune, N.C. 28542-5006.

THE NEXT step in the ongoing city hall renovation was approved Tuesday by the Westland City Council.

The building will have its noisy, outdated air conditioning unit replaced with a new system. The cost of $31,644, about $8,000 less than what was budgeted for the job.

The job was awarded to low bidder W.J. O'Neil Co.

The city completed $400,000 worth of renovations last year, including remodeling of offices and the council chambers.

Still to be done at an undetermined date are the heating system and replacement of the front porch.

FOOTBALL season is here and that means so is the parks and recreation department's annual Punt, Pass and Kick Contest.

This year's contest, co-sponsored by Pizza Hut and the Michigan Recreation and Park Association, is set for 9 a.m. Saturday in Central City Park.

Registration is open through 9 p.m. Thursday.

Boys and girls 6-13 may compete. Winners will advance to regional competition, with the chance of representing Westland at halftime of a Detroit Lions home game.

For information call the Bailey Recreation Center, 722-7620.

ALSO ON the parks and recreation, eight city employees were cited by the city Tuesday for their role in keeping Westland clean and green.

Receiving certificates of appreciation from George Gillies, parks and recreation director, were: Steve Grant, Brent Green, Douglas Kawa, Ron Masur, Michael Paciocco, Jerry Parritt, Larry Perry, Keith Talbot and Robert Wozny.

JAY WHEELER of Westland will be one of 23 high school students with wildlife artwork on display at the Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills, this month. Wheeler received an honorable mention in the institute's biennial Michigan Wildlife Art Awards. The exhibit is open daily through Oct. 7.

VOLUNTEERS from the Lambda Society of America's Michigan Chapter will conduct a door-to-door fund-raising campaign through Sunday. The society promotes patient aid, education and cancer research.

Sure, you can drive the speed limit, give proper signals, make skillful turns and come to a stop "in the assured clear distance ahead." But what about those other driving skills? The ones you're not tested for, like putting on makeup or shaving. Are you prepared to spend a day in your car, doing all the things a real car potato does, including shopping a garage sale in Southfield? Writer Sharon Dargay and photographer Jerry Zolynsky take you through a "car day" in the Street Scene section of today's Observer.

Local residency is not a requirement.

Groups or individuals may nominate people. Entries must be detailed written accounts of the nominee's contributions and how they affected the community or a group.

Deadline for entries is 5 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 25.

The judges will meet the week of Oct. 29 to review the nominees and select a winner.

Nominations are to be directed to the Westland Observer editorial department, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The award is co-sponsored by the Westland Observer and the Westland Chamber of Commerce. The First Citizen award winner is announced the week before the Nov. 13 chamber luncheon.

In past years, the First Citizen winner is not only publicly honored by the awards' co-sponsors but also by the mayor, state legislators, and county commissioner.

The award was initiated by the Observer in 1986 to honor community service volunteers.

Judges for the 1990 award are Pratt, last year's winner; Bruce Priestley, chamber president and owner of Midwest Perma-Ceram Co.; Barbara Barr, manager of Abington Manor senior citizens' apartment complex, and Fred Mena, owner of Westland Travel.

Johnson named head of Annapolis Hospital

Thomas Johnson has been named a top administrator for the reorganized Annapolis Hospital/Westland Center, on Merriman between Michigan Avenue and Palmer.

He was appointed vice president/administrator shortly after management of the former Westland Medical Center was assumed by Oakwood United Hospitals, a health care network based in Dearborn.

The Annapolis/Westland hospital, a division of Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, provides services in three specialty areas: behavioral medicine and mental health, family medicine and 24-hour emergency care.

"Johnson will lead the development of a full-range of mental and chemical dependency programs at Westland," said Carla O'Malley, Annapolis/Westland's senior vice president and chief operating officer.

City approves road projects

Several major and neighborhood road resurfacing projects have been approved for Westland this fall.

The work includes Palmer Road on the city's southeast side, some Norwayne streets and residential streets immediately north and south of Ford.

"We are going to start construction in the next couple of weeks and there may be (traffic) tie-ups on occasion," said Richard Dittmar, city director of public services.

"We'll try to make sure there's access (to neighborhoods) during construction though," Dittmar said.

Supervisor, guards differ on light issue

Increased traffic from nearby Wayne Road and the expanded Westland Post Office has some Edison Elementary School crossing guards concerned for their own safety and that of students. They want a traffic signal installed at Hunter and Wildwood.

But the supervising guard said Thursday that traffic studies have shown the current four-way stop sign is adequate and a light could create more problems than it would solve.

"It's too confining," said supervisor Loretta Hulack, a crossing guard since 1978. "There's not enough time for children to cross the street (with a signal) and with people making right turns on red lights, that can lead to an unsafe situation."

Still, both Hulack and officer Thomas Hissong of the Westland Police traffic bureau concede that traffic has increased dramatically at the intersection, on the northeast corner of school property, in the last few years.

"SOME PEOPLE just don't stop, they drive right through," said guard Rose Isom, who has worked outside the school for four years. "They (drivers) also use Hunter as a cut-through from the stores on Wayne Road."

No children or guards have been hurt in recent years, Isom said. "But we've come pretty close to getting hit ourselves, especially at 3:30."

Bonnie Westergard, a new crossing guard, said traffic is heaviest in the afternoon. Postal workers are heading home about the same time school lets out, she said.

The post office last year completed an expansion of its parking lot, which now exits on Hunter, a few blocks from the school.

Traffic from newer shopping centers in the city's nearby downtown area also contribute to the increased activity.

Progress seen in teacher talks

By Tedd Schnelder

Officials for both sides in the Wayne-Westland teachers' contract talks reported some progress last week.

But Wayne-Westland Education Association president William Reece said Friday that the union and school district could "end up back in court 9:30 a.m. Monday (today)" if a dispute over elementary and junior high school preparation time wasn't settled over the weekend.

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James E. Mies Wednesday ordered talks over that issue in lieu of granting an injunction that would have returned teachers to the same planning periods they used last year.

Talks on teacher preparation were discussed as part of overall bargaining Thursday and officials for both through the Municipal Service Bureau and trained by Westland police. The MSB also runs the Westland Sports Arena and municipal golf course.

GEORGE GILLIES, MSB chairman and the city's parks and recreation director, said Friday he wasn't aware of any complaints from either guards or parents regarding the intersection.

He also said a traffic signal could do more harm than good, backing up traffic on two essentially residential streets.

Two guards work the morning and afternoon shifts and one guard covers the intersection at lunch time.

The Wayne-Westland Community Schools district transferred responsibility for the guard program to local municipalities about five years ago, following a change in state law and tighter district budgets, said Tom Svitkovich, associate superintendent for administration.

Svitkovich said the district could request a traffic signal if necessary, but such a decision would be up to the city. "We could express a desire, but I think those decisions are based on fact and circumstance. I'm not sure the traffic patterns would bear it out," he said.

Several Wayne-Westland schools border on commercial districts, he said. Schweitzer, near at Newburgh and Glenwood and Monroe, two blocks from Wayne Road, are examples.

Walker and Patchin are also in neighborhoods with heavier traffic patterns, Svitkovich said.

The 212,000 square-foot Meijer store opened last March adjacent to Patchin.

OFFICER HISSONG, who runs the training program for guards, said he couldn't recall when the Wildwood-Hunter intersection received its last traffic study. He said he thought the four-way stop sign was adequate for the amount of traffic, but admitted that drivers don't always come to a complete stop, regardless of location.

YMCA's fall programs set to begin this week

The Wayne-Westland Family YMCA's fall programs open this week with a variety of services offered for all ages.

The Y, which includes Garden City and Westland in its service area, plans to offer dozens of activities, mostly in the Y's main facility at 827 S. Wayne Road, south of Cherry Hill. There are also several special interest classes being offered.

Session I begins this week and continues through Oct. 27. Session II will start Oct. 15 and run through Dec. 22.

Special holiday events scheduled include the annual Halloween haunted house project, Oct. 12-31 in the Y barn, next to the Y's activities center; a Christmas craft show and sale Nov. 16-17, and luncheon with Santa on Dec. 15.

For youngsters, flag football teams will start their schedule Saturday and continue through Oct. 27. The league is open to boys and girls ages 7 to 12.

Preschool T-ball will be offered the same time for boys and girls ages 3 to 5. The Y will have a skills instructional class Tuesdays and Thursdays with scrimmage games played within the class.

T-ball leagues are held for boys and girls ages 5 to 8 with practice sessions beginning this week. Games are 6 p.m. weeknights and 10 a.m. Saturdays.

Preschool soccer is also offered for boys and girls ages 3 to 5 with students learning the dribbling, passing, throwing, and kicking techniques. The class meets Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

For those interested in competitive soccer, the Y has leagues in Pee Wee and Junior Varsity. Practices are scheduled to start this week. Weeknight games start 6 p.m. with Saturday games starting at 9:30 a.m.

Swimming lessons are offered for all skill levels in the Y's indoor pool. The Y also sponsors life guard training and water exercise classes and the Stingray competitive swim team. Synchronized swimming is available for adult men and women weekday mornings.

Children and adults may sign up for various fitness programs, including gymnastics, water exercise, aerobics, and body toning.

In other programs, the Y will have the traditional parent-child Indian Gulches, classes in creative arts, quilting, driver education, stop smoking, and weight loss, as well as before- and after-school child care services.

For detailed information on programs and fees call the Y, 721-7044.

the last two weekends when there weren't ongoing talks as "necessarily negative."

Both sides also said they were still far from a tentative agreement.

Teachers in the 16,500-student district have filed an unfair labor practice complaint with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission over the reduction in preparation time.

Elementary prep time has been reduced from 120 to 40 minutes and junior high school teachers have been asked to do their planning before or after classes as opposed to during the school day.

Some 1,050 teachers have been working without a contract since school opened Aug. 27.

"I THINK both sides viewed (Thursday's session) as a positive one," Reece said. "The board gave us a lot of counter proposals, although there are still major issues (salary and fringe benefits) on the table without (formal) proposals."

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill characterized the decision to hold weekend sessions as positive. But the superintendent said he didn't view Federal community development money will be used for repairs in targeted areas, Dittmar said.

THE HOSPITAL'S goal is to be able to provide western Wayne County residents "with comprehensive evaluations and treatments in both chemical dependence and mental health," O'Malley said.

Johnson's years of experience give us the leadership we need to provide these essential services for the people in the communities we serve."

Before four health care groups took over the former Westland Medical Center in the mid-1980s, it was operated by the county as a general hospital.

Before coming to Annapolis/Westland, Johnson was with the Ever-

Is Your Child Too Small?

Most kids grow at their own rate. And there's nothing to be alarmed at if they're a little above or below the growth chart.

For some children, though, it's different. For any number of reasons, they just don't grow like other kids do. But if treated in time, many of them can be helped.

And that's the purpose of the Growth Assessment Clinic sponsored by Children's Hospital of Michigan. If you're worried about your child's growth pattern, give us a call at (313) 228-2769.

We'll set up a private screening on Saturday, September 15. And it won't cost you a penny.

On the job

Adult ed to stress employability skills

By Mario Choatnoy
staff writer

Months spent training an adult to be a good welder can go out the window if the welder gets fired because he or she doesn't get to work on time.

With that thought in mind, teachers in the Livonia school district's adult education classes will now stress employability skills as much as they emphasize job training skills.

"Someone might be excellent on computers but if he has trouble showing up on time, how can he expect to keep his job?" asked Rosemary Miller, adult education specialist for the school district's adult and continuing education program at the Bentley Center.

The district includes the northern section of Westland.

"Responding to the changing needs of employers, the district has long offered adults the chance to either beef up job skills or learn new skills."

Classes offered this fall range from emergency medical training to cosmetology to computer literacy.

But increasingly, Miller said, employers are screaming that workers don't know the common-sense ground rules of being a good employee.

These rules include following directions, showing interest and enthusiasm for the job, not taking the day off when the mood strikes, and being a part of a team.

"Some families today don't stress the importance of good work habits, so the young people don't learn them," said Lois Rice, a Bentley Center supervisor for the English as a second-language program.

This spring, Bentley officials started giving its teachers special training in teaching employability skills to students.

Now, with fall classes starting, a workshop will be held Sept. 19 to continue the teaching process.

RENEE LERCHE, education projects manager for Ford Motor Co., will kick off the workshop on Sept. 18 with a lecture beginning at 5:30 p.m. in the Bentley auditorium.

Lerche, who earned a doctorate from Harvard University, is the author of several books on basic skills education.

The Tuesday lecture is open to anyone, teacher and adult alike, interested in learning more about employability skills.

The Wednesday workshop is for the approximately 80 teachers in

Renee Lerche

Livonia's adult education program.

Not all local adult education programs ask teachers to stress employability skills in their classrooms.

Teachers in the Redford Union and South Redford program don't run their classes with an official mandate to teach these skills, said program director John Avolio.

However, the teachers know employers want workers with these skills and will discuss employability skills if it dovetails with what's being taught in the day's lesson, Avolio said.

"They'll talk about them, but nothing that takes a great deal of time. There's no mandate from us, but these teachers are in the work force and know what employers are looking for. They're concerned that a student keeps his job, once he gets it."

THAT'S PRECISELY what's behind the push for employability skills at Bentley — making sure adults keep their job, once they get it.

"The dilemma we have is that adult education gives adults a second chance and we want to do everything we can for them," Miller said. "But we're not doing them any favors if we let them arrive late, or turn in papers late."

"We know that some of them have special problems, such as transportation or family commitments. But we also need to treat them like adults. We have to work within the framework of their problems and still teach them responsibly."

Miller points to a University of Michigan study which gives the top 10 main reasons why workers lose their jobs.

Number 10 on the list is a lack of necessary job skills.

Topping the list are absenteeism, lack of interest and enthusiasm, costly mistakes, tardiness, problems with co-workers, inability to follow directions, arguing with supervisors, and lack of initiative.

"These skills are so important," Rice said. "Young people today think they'll get the top job right off the bat. They don't want to start at the bottom, and be a part of a team."

"Employers want us to give them people who are prepared for the workplace. They're tired of hiring unqualified people. There's a discrepancy between what education turns out and what employers want."

MILLER AND RICE concede that teaching employability skills may not change students' habits acquired over 20 or more years of living, but that the effort must be made.

"Teachers must serve as a good role model," Rice said.

They also concede that Bentley's emphasis on teaching employability skills will hit hardest on teachers who teach such academic subjects as history or English.

Teachers dealing with historic periods or writing skills might not be that concerned with today's workplace, while teachers in the skilled trades program generally hold down jobs in their field and are more aware of the special needs of business.

In teaching employability skills, Bentley officials have printed guidelines for its teachers to follow.

The guidelines say that Michigan employers want workers with three sets of skills: academic, personal management and teamwork.

Academic skills means workers can speak, read, write, think, understand, problem-solve, and use the tools of the job skill.

Personal management skills include having a sense of responsibility, self-control, showing pride in one's work, enthusiasm and following directions.

Teamwork skills include communicating with others, showing sensitivity, having the ability to "give and take," and loyalty.

Bentley officials say teachers must now teach all three skills in the classroom.

Straight academic skills have long been taught in adult education programs.

It's the teaching of the last two skills — personal management and teamwork — that will be the focus of the Sept. 18 talk by Lerche and the Sept. 19 workshop.

Safety tried

Practicing safety techniques at the Ironworkers Apprentice Training Center on Schoolcraft in Livonia are Eric Faust and Andrea Markham, both of Westland. State labor department director Elizabeth Howe visited the training center recently to discuss safety programs offered by the state to reduce on-the-job injuries.

Stop for red light on bus

Legislation aimed at making Michigan's school bus stop law uniform on all roads and streets across the state, and consistent with other states, was signed into law and took effect before the opening of school.

The new law requires motorists to, as in the past, stop when the flashing red lights on the school bus are on and remain stopped until all students are in a safe location.

Previously the red light use was optional for cities, which caused much confusion. Now all school buses will be operated in the same manner with the same requirements for all motorists throughout the state.

Because not all communities adopted the law, confusion resulted for motorists traveling through consecutive communities, said Robert Cullen, community safety services manager for AAA Michigan.

"The fact that the law was not adopted uniformly in all communities also exposed students crossing the road to get on or off a school bus to potential danger."

THE CURRENT law also requires new school buses to be equipped with two overhead flashing amber lights in addition to the two traditional flashing red lights on each end of the bus.

Motorists should proceed with caution and be prepared to stop when the amber lights are blinking.

When red overhead flashing lights are on at the bus stop all other motorists approaching the bus must stop not closer than 20 feet of the bus and remain stopped until the red signals are turned off. The law previously required the flashing red lights be turned on as the bus was moving and approaching the stop and allowed motorists to stop within 10 feet of the bus when stopped.

If the bus is now stopped off the roadway far enough so vehicles may pass with a full lane, and the yellow lights are blinking on the bus, motorists may pass the stopped bus with caution. Motorists should never pass if their car must cross the center line.

"Over the next few years, all new Michigan school buses will be equipped with two overhead alternating amber lights in addition to the two overhead red lights currently on each end of the bus," said Lt. William Murphy of the Michigan State Police.

"In addition to the new eight light system and school bus stop laws, the legislation calls for stricter screening of school bus driver applicants and uniform regulation of all school vehicles carrying students."

There now are more than 13,000 school buses in the state.

BPW sets charter member deadline

The newly activated Westland Business and Professional Women's Club is giving interested professional and business men and women another two weeks to become charter members.

The chapter has set Sept. 24 as the deadline for new members to join and be designated charter members, said spokeswoman Joyce Wheeler, executive director of the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

The group's purpose is to promote the goals of working women.

Started two months ago, the chapter holds a dinner meeting at 6 p.m. on the first Tuesday of each month at the Big Boy Restaurant on Wayne Road at Hunter.

cop calls

POLICE and public services officials Friday reported minor damage from Thursday night's wave of storms in metropolitan Detroit.

Other communities — including adjacent Canton Township where a funnel cloud was reported shortly after 9:30 p.m. — suffered worse damage, they said.

"There were some tree limbs down, some power outages but nothing major," said police Inspector Michael Frayer.

Electrical wires were down at Grand Traverse and Dorsey and the railroad crossing gate on Merriman south of Michigan Ave. was stuck in the down position, according to police reports.

Richard Dittmar, public services director, said Norwayne and the southern sections of the city were hit harder than others. "There weren't any trees down, just a few branches here and there," he said.

On Friday, DPS crews were out draining flooded areas in the Palmer-Merriman area and other portions of the south end, he said.

POLICE chased two men on a motorcycle and on foot Wednesday through several subdivisions in the city's south end early Wednesday.

The riders escaped, although police believe one of the men might have been injured.

Officers reported spotting the two men speeding on southbound Venoy. After the motorcycle ran a stop sign at Avondale and Easley, officers said they tried to make a traffic stop, but the motorcycle took off at a high rate of speed.

The officers chased the motorcycle on Forest, Hively, Hubbard, Steinhauer, Venoy, back to Easley, then Avondale, Dowling and Thames, according to a police report.

At Dowling and Thelma, the riders, both white males in their 20s, jumped off and officers chased them on foot, police said.

The unoccupied motorcycle crashed into some bushes of a nearby house.

Police recovered two helmets, one of them cracked.

Police said one of the riders may have hit his head on the pavement or the front bumper bar of the patrol car when they ditched the motorcycle.

A RESIDENT on the 32000 block of Sandra Lane reported that someone stole a purse containing $38 cash and personal identification during a break-in late Monday or early Tuesday.

The woman said the break-in occurred between 10:30 p.m. and 5 a.m. while she was sleeping upstairs.

When she came down to the kitchen she saw someone had removed a window screen and discovered her purse was missing, the woman said.

Police found the window screen on the lawn at the side of the house.

A NEWSPAPER carrier told police she saw a man expose himself while delivering papers to residents of the Woodview Condominiums, Warren Road at Cowan, Wednesday.

The woman said she was walking through the complex about 5 a.m. when she saw a man laying naked on the lawn and masturbating, according to a police report.

The man then ran to a 1984 Ford pickup truck while covering his face with a scarf or rag, the woman said.

She described the man as white, 25 years old, 6 feet tall with curly, blond hair.

Engler team's target: captured boards, too

By Tim Richard
staff writer

John Engler's Republican team will make four state education boards a major battleground as part of his bid to become governor.

"I'd like to represent the Republican philosophy of excellence in education," said Laura Reyes Kopack, a Detroit Edison attorney from Livonia picked for the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

"By 2010, some 32 percent of Michigan will be multi-cultural — black, hispanic, Asian. It will take commitment from all of us to meet that need," said Kopack, the GOP's state vice chair for minority programs. She recruited a group of hispanic students to run for Republican precinct delegate posts.

The WSU campus has been seen two faculty strikes in recent years over the issue of how President David Adamany hands out merit pay increases and has had heated controversy over a black studies department.

Former Gov. George W. Romney, who served on the WSU board that hired Adamany in 1981, warmly encouraged Kopack. Romney said that in the 1970s "the faculty were running the place. The place would have been run into the ground. Adamany got hold of the thing."

THIS WILL BE Kopack's second try for the WSU board. In 1978, while a 25-year-old first semester law student, she came within 1 percent of winning.

"I've worked on boards and have been active in the hispanic community. And I have a selfish interest — with two children," she said.

Engler, the state Senate majority leader and undisputed chief of the Michigan GOP for four years, quietly picked the entire GOP ticket over recent months. The convention had only the job of ratifying his choices.

Engler signalled the importance of the state board and three university board races by personally appearing before caucuses on behalf of Marv Esch, the former Ann Arbor congressman he tapped to run for the U-M Board of Regents. Esch was unable to attend the convention.

"I'm looking forward to him (Esch) beating Phil Power. That'll be kind of fun," said Engler, referring to the incumbent Democratic U-M regent seeking reelection.

LOWELL PERRY, a Southfield attorney hand-picked to run for the State Board of Education, repeated an Engler theme when he told delegates that education in Michigan "is a mediocrity."

"There were only 18 black males teachers certified in the state in 1988. . . We are 44th in state contribution to education. . . We rank 29th in high school graduation rate at 73.6 percent. . . Our ACT (American College Test) scores were 18th among 20 states administering it.

"Educationally, we're on third down and deep in our own territory," said the former University of Michigan football star.

Perry, 59, was typical of the state which Engler chose. None of the 13 Republican candidates is an incumbent in the office he or she is seeking. The GOP hasn't won a top-of-the-ticket state race since 1978, and it has had only spotty success with the education posts.

Engler told the convention he would seek a guaranteed portion of the budget for schools. To raise the money, he promised to whack prison spending, Commerce Department promotions and the governor's helicopter trips "No glitz — just guts," he said.

ALTHOUGH A political unknown to the public, Perry, now head of corporate relations for Michigan Bell, had been active privately.

"I had been helping John," said Perry. "He called me at work one afternoon and asked me to run. This is my first try for elective office."

Perry was a plant manager for Chrysler before he left in 1974 to be President Gerald Ford's head of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. He knew Ford from their membership in a U-M honorary society.

For 10 years he has been on the board of Detroit College of Law, his second alma-mater, and for two years on the board of the privately endowed Starr Commonwealth School for neglected youth in Albion.

"I HAVE A personal reason for running: I shared a dream with my dad," Perry told delegates during Friday night caucuses.

"He was a poor black boy in Montgomery, Ala., in 1916. He wanted to go to the University of Michigan. He took a train to Ann Arbor. He had the dream of becoming a dentist.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Laura Reyes Kopack (left), Livonia attorney and Republican nominee for the Wayne State University board, gets some grandfatherly advice on the convention floor from George Romney, the 82-year-old former governor who also served on the WSU board. In the background is Larrain Thomas, GOP vice chair.

"Dr. Lawrence Perry served 12 or 15 years on the Ypsilanti Board of Education.

"And I view the State Board of Education as a wonderful opportunity to make a contribution to the state."

The state board is split 4-4 between the parties, and there have been partisan splits on the performance of Superintendent of Public Instruction Donald Bemis among other issues.

But neither Perry, Engler nor the other candidates touched on the issues, saving them for later position papers.

THE CONVENTION in Cobo Hall engaged in virtually no controversy, a far cry from the 1986 and '88 battles with Pat Roberson's conservatives. It had Engler's stamp. His top lieutenants made nominating speeches for candidates for the top of the ticket.

But Oakland County chairman Jim Alexander, a Birmingham attorney, stole some of the thunder when he made a seconding speech for state Sen. Connie Binsfeld for lieutenant governor. Alexander donned a blue-and-gold Cub Scout cap, reminding everyone that he knew Binsfeld when she was in den mother 30 or so years ago in an Oak Park Cub pack.

Oakland County Commissioner Nancy McConnell, of Bloomfield Hills, made the seconding speech for secretary of state candidate Judy Miller, a state representative from Birmingham.

"People go to the Secretary of State's office with as much enthusiasm as going to the dentist. There's no pain killer. You wait, wait, wait, and all you have to look at is a smiling picture of the incumbent (Richard Austin), who hasn't had to wait in line in 20 years," McConnell said.

For her part, Miller promised to make the Secretary of State branch offices "more user friendly. Let's get rid of the long lines," she said.

Here's Engler's ticket

Here is the "action team" hand-picked by gubernatorial candidate John Engler and ratified at the Republican state convention:

Lieutenant governor — Connie Binsfeld, 66, state senator from Leelenau County.

Secretary of state — Judy Miller, 54, state representative from Birmingham.

Attorney general — Cliff Taylor, East Lansing attorney, former assistant prosecutor.

State Board of Education — Lowell Perry, 59, Southfield, attorney and Michigan Bell executive, and Dick DeVos, president of Grand Rapids investment company and former Amway executive.

University of Michigan regents — Marv Esch, 63, Ann Arbor, former 2nd District congressman, and Shirley McFee, mayor of Battle Creek and former teacher.

Michigan State University trustees — John D. Shingleton, retired MSU placement director, and Dee Cook, Greenville.

Wayne State University governor — Laura Reyes Kopack, 38, Livonia, Detroit Edison attorney, and Elizabeth Hardy, Detroit attorney and former congressional staffer.

State Supreme Court (nonpartisan ticket) — W. Clark Durant, 42, Detroit attorney and former chair of the U.S. Legal Services Corp., and Judy Hughes, 41, former Barry County prosecutor.

HUDSON'S

MET slates parents forums

The Michigan Education Trust (MET) will hold public forums to explain the pre-paid college tuition program to parents.

"During 1990, our third year, we will offer both the standard one-time lump sum payment, as well as a monthly purchase-payroll deduction plan," said Robert A. Bowman, Bowman is state treasurer and MET board chairman.

Community forums about the MET program will be held throughout the state during September and October. For more information about MET or to reserve a place at a community forum, call toll free, 1-800-MET-4-KID.

ALL FORUMS begin at 7 p.m. Here are dates and places of area forums:

- Sept. 18 — Troy Athens High School 4333 John R.
- Sept. 26 — Cass Technical High School, 2421 Second, Detroit.
- Oct. 2 — Gardner Middle School (off Jolly Road between Cedar and Washington), Lansing.

The MET board recently raised prices 7 percent for the 1990 enrollment period and set up a monthly payment plan.

Applications for MET will be accepted Oct. 15 to Nov. 9.

"The monthly purchase plan increases the accessibility of MET for even more Michigan families," Bowman said.

"This year's 7-percent increase is about one-half the increase of last year. This dramatically lower increase reflects restraint on the part of Michigan's 44 public colleges and universities and better-than-expected investment opportunities."

BASE COST for one year of MET tuition for a newborn child is $2,095 under the 1990 full benefits contract. With the new monthly purchase plan, an individual can buy that same year of tuition for $35 a month over seven years. The older the child, the more MET will cost because the trust has less time to invest money before the child is ready for college.

Individuals who bought MET contracts in 1988 and 1989 will not be affected by the MET price increase. Almost 50,000 children are enrolled in the MET program, creating a trust fund with assets of nearly $350 million.

Applications for MET will be available statewide at all treasury offices, secretary of state offices, Meijer stores, McDonald's, Perry Drugs, savings institutions, libraries, video stores and independent grocery stores this fall.

Red Cross blood supply running low

Trying to bounce back from a month of low blood collections, the American Red Cross is preparing for the toughest two weeks of blood collections this summer.

"We are now entering the second full week of having to pull blood from our liver transplant reserve," said A. William Shafer, executive director of Southeastern Michigan Chapter of the Red Cross. "Should a liver become available for a patient in the next two weeks, supporting that lifesaving operation would be very difficult."

More than 1,000 pints of blood are needed, but collections have averaged only 775 each day for the last month, to meet the needs of hospital patients in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties. For the next two weeks, daily collections are projected to plummet to only 605 pints a day.

"We have a critical shortage of type O blood," said Shafer. "This morning we had only four units of O-negative on our shelves. We need 50 times that amount to meet patient needs."

The area Red Cross has been importing blood from other Red Cross blood regions. "Normally we import 842 pints of blood each week, but last week we had to increase the amount of blood we imported to 891 pints," Shafer said.

Among nine Red Cross blood collection centers in southeastern Michigan are offices in Bloomfield Township, Livonia and Oak Park.

Donors should call 494-2800 for an appointment at a convenient time and location.

TAKING ARTHRITIS MEDICATION 3X A DAY

Most arthritis medicines require that you take them two or three times a day, because these drugs leave the body quickly.

You might think that doctors would urge pharmaceutical houses to develop arthritis medication that patients could take once a day; but physicians have not taken this initiative.

The reason is because a drug that can stay in the body long enough to be taken but once a day, also can exert toxic effects for a prolonged period.

Therefore, the fact that a drug like aspirin requires you to take it often, is in its favor. If you have side effects, stopping the drug for even a day will rid you of its toxicity. In some instances, you can merely reduce your dosage by one tablet, to end its ill effects. Then you have the advantage of being able to continue the medicine at the same time that you are ending its toxicity.

Do not be upset if the arthritis drug you are taking requires that you take a dose 2-3 times a day. That nuisance is really a way of protecting you from harm.

Area Dems support Blanchard, Maynard

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

Delegates from Wayne County are certain that the Democrats will have a triumphant ticket in November, despite the negative publicity that came from a switch in lieutenant governor hopefuls.

At the close of a spirited convention over the weekend, delegates were confident that Gov. James Blanchard and his choice for lieutenant governor, Olivia "Libby" Maynard, will emerge victorious in the general election.

While there were debates and analyses generated the two weeks before the convention with Blanchard's announcement to ask Maynard, rather than incumbent Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths, to share the ticket. Delegates did not see the Griffiths episode as one that dampened the spirit of Democrats at the Flint convention.

"There's a tremendous spirit of unity," said Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano, one of about 2,000 delegates and guests attending what another delegate described as a "three-day love fest."

"We (Democrats) are up and ready to go," said Ficano. "We're going to win in November."

U.S. REP. SANDER LEVIN said any difficulty about the Blanchard's actions will soon be forgotten. "It may be important to us within the party, but I don't think voters are too concerned. It's certainly the right of the governor to pick his running mate."

As for Griffiths' reported comments and apparent rancor, Levin said, "In light of what's happened, I think Jim's been vindicated."

Shirley Poling, a delegate in the 15th Congressional District and a member of UAW Local 735 in Ypsilanti, said she is disappointed Griffiths hasn't accepted the Governor's decision gracefully.

"I admire Griffiths," said Poling, of Canton, "but she's not going out with dignity."

But Democrats closed out the convention with a tremendous spirit of unity that also sends a message to Republicans and the voters," Poling said. "We're thrilled with Libby. She is a woman of Labor . . . she is a woman of the Democrats."

Indeed, Democrats seemed to be thrilled with Maynard who smiled warmly and was greeted with hugs, congratulations and some tears of joy as she made the rounds of the various meetings and caucuses.

In response to reporters' questions, Maynard said Griffiths' remarks seemed to indicate she "is having difficulty coping" with retirement.

The 54-year-old Maynard refused to dwell on the outgoing lieutenant governor, however. She emphasized that the main opponent in November, Senate Majority Leader John M. Engler, "has been very self-serving (during his public life in Lansing) and mean-spirited. And he has not looked out for the best interests of Michigan."

JOHN W. MOORE of Westland said Blanchard had demonstrated courage by dumping someone he considered less than capable, even though the decision could hurt him.

Blanchard was thinking about the welfare of Michigan when he dumped Griffiths, Moore said. "But it's going to cost him some votes . . .

particularly among senior citizens who might not accept his explanation.

Moore said the Griffiths-Maynard issue, however, was overshadowing other important issues . . . like the party position on making college affordable for the middle class.

"My son (Paul) graduated from John Glenn High School with better than a 3.5 average," Moore said. "Yet he can't get much help. College is far too expensive for average people and Democrats should be talking about it."

Moore said the party should pay more attention to the increasing tax burden and how it is eroding the middle class.

Delegates not only continued their support of the governor but also seemed to develop what is best described as an increasing awareness that Blanchard took appropriate action on Aug. 24, when he dropped Martha Griffiths as his running mate.

Griffiths — acknowledged as the winning edge for Blanchard when he ran in 1982 — was dropped because of what the governor said is a concern about her health and ability.

But the 78-year-old champion of women's rights was disgruntled about the decision, even using the term "son of a bitch" in reference to Blanchard and the way he handled her demise.

Griffiths showed more bitterness Friday, on the eve of the convention, in an interview with Connie Chung of CBS which will be broadcast at 10 tonight.

In that interview Griffiths appeared to question the abilities and experience of her successor, who was the first woman Democrat to run for lieutenant governor in 1978 and was state party chairperson from 1979 to 1982. Maynard is currently head of the Michigan Office of Services to the Aging.

At a luncheon sponsored by the Democratic Women's Caucus Saturday, Griffiths was more supportive of Maynard, but demonstrated her rancor by telling her fellow Democrats she didn't want any tribute, suggesting it would be "hypocritical."

Griffiths said to reporters, "I hate to have a bunch of hypocrites up (on the podium) talking."

Democrats were shocked and angry, as much by Griffiths comments as by missing the opportunity to give Griffiths an appropriate tribute.

State Rep. Maxine L. Berman, of Southfield, said she would have to see Griffiths interview with Chung before she would fully believe reports about what the lame-duck lieutenant governor reportedly said.

"But I'm sure we'll get the chance to give Martha Griffiths the tribute she deserves," said Berman, who like Griffiths, is a vocal supporter of women's rights.

'That's the ticket!' claim state's Democratic leaders

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

Democrats have nominated a strong field of candidates that is balanced in terms of geography and gender, according to two candidates from the area who are proud to be part of it.

"It's a good ticket," beamed Donald F. Tucker, a Birmingham attorney who was nominated to the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

"They're all hard workers who represent the wide range of people and interests within our state," said Philip H. Power, chairman of the board of the Suburban Communications Corp. which owns the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Heading the ticket, of course, are Gov. James Blanchard and Lt. Gov. Olivia "Libby" Maynard of Flint. They are bolstered by incumbents Frank J. Kelley for attorney general and Richard H. Austin for secretary of state.

Others nominated in convention over the weekend are:

- Michigan Supreme Court: Patricia Boyle and Michael Cavanaugh, both incumbents.
- State Board of Education: Barbara Roberts-Mason of Lansing and Rollie Hoggood of Taylor.
- Michigan State Board of Trustees: Larry Owen of Lansing and Darnell Early of Lansing.
- Wayne State University Board of Governors: Jim Robinson of and Dr. David-Victor.

Libby Maynard (left) received a number of good wishes on new role as lieutenant governor candidate at Saturday's Democratic Convention. State Rep. Justine Barnes of Westland offered Maynard a congratulatory hug.

Homeless deserve a much better reception

SHAME ON YOU, Farmington Hills.

A progressive suburb which has stepped up to community-wide problems such as alcohol and drug abuse now takes a step backward as it refuses to allow a bank to shelter the homeless for a week.

The Farmington Hills Zoning Board of Appeals recently denied the Michigan National Bank branch at Inkster Road north of I-696 such a permit. According to three ZBA members, sheltering the homeless for seven days wasn't "in harmony with the existing character of the district."

It's true businesses don't generally offer up their quarters to the homeless. In Oakland County that has been left to a rotation of area churches and to the shelters, such as Baldwin House, The Sanctuary and Haven.

Hut MNB, at the suggestion of its employees, was about to break new ground — and perhaps its other branches as well as other businesses would follow.

They didn't take no for an answer. Last week, they filed an appeal in Oakland County Circuit Court. And bank officials also will return to the zoning board with a slightly altered request. It will be interesting to see whether anyone who voted against the permit in the 3-3 tie vote now sees the bigger picture — or has had enough of the hot seat.

"WE DON'T THINK housing homeless people for seven days is out of our (office) zoning," said MNB attorney Jim Williams. "Churches are allowed in office zones and churches are allowed to do this without a permit."

Oakland County's homeless are not visible — as they are in big cities. Only a 10th of one percent of our population is homeless.

A 12-month survey of homeless people as they registered in Oakland County shelters during 1989 showed:

- Of 1,122 homeless adults, 606 were female, 516 male. They brought 521 children with them.
- A small number used the shelters repeatedly.

- Various ages and races were represented.

- Most had been homeless for less than three months.

- Sixty-three percent were unemployed; 17 percent indicated they work full or part-time.

- Nearly 1,400 were turned away from shelters because of substance abuse, psychiatric problems, severe medical illness or discipline problems.

THEIR REASONS for needing shelter included: women escaping domestic violence, people suffering from long-term unemployment, residents whose homes had severe property damage, people whose utilities were disconnected and people who were unable to afford homes.

Michigan National may be the first area business to attempt to offer its own quarters as shelter, but is not first to become involved with the homeless.

Currently, a number of area businesses are renovating a building to house the Pontiac Area Transitional Housing program. PATH will soon offer 19 private apartments as well as counseling, training and mentoring for single women and women with children who currently reside in emergency shelters.

A building on Cottage Street in Pontiac has been renovated with materials and expertise supplied gratis by the area's building trades. Burton-Katzman is general contractor. Other major contributors include: Erb Lumber, Church's Lumber, Robertson Bros., A.J. Etkin Construction, Damone-Andrews, Buchanan Mgmt. etc.

IF THE ECONOMY continues to decline, the number of homeless will go up, and accordingly, the space needed to shelter them.

People who serve our communities — whether elected or on appointed boards such as the Farmington Hills ZBA — must have vision that goes beyond four corners.

Shame on you, Farmington Hills.

Local witch learns gags can backfire

GUNDELLA THE Witch, a veritable kewpie doll of a woman who wouldn't cast a spell on a fly, is mortified at the reactions she's getting to her letters. I know the feeling.

"I didn't think anyone would take them seriously," she said of 200 handwritten letters she sent promoting a murder mystery play. The letters, addressed to the males on her mailing list, said: "My Sweetest One: I dare not write what I want to tell you for fear this note may fall into the wrong hands."

"So please, My Darling, read the personals in this Saturday's Detroit paper — I'm sure you will know which message is from me. "Love always, G"

SURE ENOUGH, her personal ad was easy to spot:

"Sweetest Day interactive murder mystery in haunted castle. Interested? Call Gundella, 427-1072."

Trouble started immediately when some folks took the handwritten note literally.

"A dozen people were so angry at me. One woman said she cried for two nights because she thought her husband was having an affair."

"One lady called me and said she almost killed her husband."

"A son saw the perfumed letter and thought his father was having an affair. He hid the letter from his parents. When he saw the paper, he realized immediately it was me."

"I made a mistake in judgment. "But the letters were so corny — on perfumed paper," said Michigan's most grandmotherly and sweet-tempered story spinner. "I could have just sent out the brochures ..."

TO CATCH the gag, you also have to be an Agatha Christie fan and know the story "A Murder, Is Announced." A perfumed letter figures into that plot. That's where Gundella borrowed the idea. Gundella's play will be performed on Sweetest Day in October. "My Sweetest One" — get it? And the "G" for Gundella?

These interactive plays are great fun. It's not a two-hour performance with actors on a stage and viewers in the auditorium.

Rather, actors and audience intermingle, and the audience can quiz the performers for clues. For the actors, one-third of the work is memorizing lines, and two-thirds is ad-libbing answers. Only the actor playing the murderer is allowed to lie.

We've done a few. I was the psychology professor and killer in one at the Hiram Walker mansion in Windsor and the lecherous El Hunko the pirate in "Murder at the Mardi Gras" in Garden City. My wife enjoys them because she gets to tell me off, to the delirious delight of the women in the audience.

I'VE PRINTED gags that backfired.

Early in my career, when the Kinsey reports were still a hot topic, I did a mock interview with a Dr. Nihil (Latin for "nothing") who declared sex was overrated by a sex-crazed society. Dr. Nihil further stated pregnancy was caused by a virus, not sex, inasmuch as there was little correlation between marriage and pregnancy.

Yes, some folks thought the guy was real.

Remember in 1988 when it was revealed Nancy Reagan consulted an astrologer while planning Ron's trips? About the same time, I prepared a brilliant series of interviews of four candidates for Oakland County prosecutor, complete with their political histories, college degrees — and zodiac signs.

The bad reaction came not from people who believe in astrology. It came from those who equate it with the devil's work. No one commented on the excellent exposition of the candidates' views.

Some folks don't catch humor unless you label it. That's the moral for those who write newspaper articles and letters.

Right, Gundella?

Hudson's: a good citizen

To the editor:

During a recent trip to Hudson's, I noticed the sign over the shopping bag dispenser. It states that the fee for the shopping bag goes to the local United Way. It is my hope that the community is aware of the excellent corporate responsibility demonstrated by this program. Hundreds of area residents will benefit via the services provided by United Way agencies.

Just in case memories are short, I would also like to remind North Oakland residents that the shopping bag fee donation is the latest of many commitments by Hudson's to this community. From housing, the arts, a food bank, community development and teen programs, Hudson's has "paid back" this region around its Summit Place Mall store.

Because my memory includes grants to Lighthouse as well as those previously mentioned, I salute Hudson's continued generosity.

Tax cut plan gains supporters

AP — A property tax-cut petition drive stands only 12,000 signatures away from its goal after a Labor Day weekend push brought in more than 10,000.

The petition drive headed by tax foe Richard Headlee of Farmington Hills has 208,000 signatures and the group hopes to collect 220,000, spokesman Bill McMaster said. "There is remarkable activity out there," he said, adding the group expects to reach its goal.

It needs the valid signatures of 191,726 registered voters to put the plan to cut property taxes before the Legislature.

Lawmakers would have 40 days to approve the plan or it would go before voters.

Because the plan was initiated by voters, Gov. James Blanchard couldn't veto it.

McMaster said the group will turn in 220,000 signatures to make sure it has enough. The group has until Sept. 15 to gather signatures, but McMaster said it will submit them to the Secretary of State's office Tuesday.

That's the day the Legislature returns to the Capitol after the summer recess.

"THERE IS a tax revolt out there. You only need to ask people to sign and they do. As we've maintained all along the big job is getting the petitions in front of the people," McMaster said.

McMaster said the Headlee group expects its plan to win approval in the Legislature.

Headlee's plan would cut property tax assessments from 60 percent to 40 percent of a property's cash value by 1991 and force the Legislature to make up the difference in lost money to schools and local government.

He estimates the plan would cut taxes by $200 million the first year and then by $600 million in the second and following years.

The state budget for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1 is $7.66 billion.

I am fortunate to have friends living in other parts of the country who send me weekly food pages from their hometown newspapers.

Last week, as usual, I received a large envelope stuffed with food sections from the Arizona Republic, compliments of John and Christie Gibson, formerly of Plymouth and now heralding from the Grand Canyon State.

One of the features I enjoy most in this particular paper is their "recipe request" column that has readers request favorite recipes from the old days. Seems that one particular reader had been searching for the old version of Rice Krispie Squares.

Following the paper in dated sequence, I noticed that everyone sent in their Rice Krispie Squares recipe that used the typical butter and melted marshmallows. The reader, however, was looking for an older version calling for corn syrup, vinegar, butter and molasses.

LO AND BEHOLD, yesterday, while searching for an oatmeal cookie recipe, I came across an old recipe box filled with my late mother-in-law's hand-inscribed recipes. "Bosso," as I called her, would not have been put into the category as one of the world's better cooks. She could, however, whip up a mean roast beef, complete with lumpy mashed potatoes and slightly overcooked green beans. I miss that roast beef.

I didn't find an oatmeal cookie recipe in the old box, but I did find a recipe for a classic roast beef dinner, complete with gravy, lumpy mashed potatoes and a choice of overcooked green beans, carrots or broccoli. I felt like a kid on Christmas morning opening up my first present. I wonder if she stuffed that recipe in the box knowing that someday I might just find it and spend a few minutes rehashing days that are gone forever.

Artist friends Louie and Wilma Halliburton of Ann Arbor were searching through old mementos when they came across their momma's hand-scribbled notes and favorite recipes. They sent them to me, and after sitting on them for a year or two, I sent them back without even turning a page. After finding "Bosso's recipe box," I now know why they did.

Until today, I didn't even own a recipe box. All of my favorite recipes were either stuffed behind the spices or scattered throughout any one of three filing cabinets, all in no order whatsoever. Until today.

Yep, my momma's got a recipe box. Yesterday, I stopped down for a visit and took a few minutes to glance over some of the treasures hidden within. Recipes I haven't enjoyed since I was a Detroit Times paperboy in Wyandotte. I found the old recipe for "sliders" (not the gut bombs served at most hamburger joints) and for an old family favorite that still gets baked on everybody's birthday, German Chocolate Cake, with a coconut-pecan frosting.

IN ADDITION to the recipes, I found some heritage. Remember "Prem"? How about "Blue Label Karo"? Does "Armour Treel" ring a bell? One of my favorite finds was the "No sugar, no shortening needed for delicious All Bran Molasses Muffins" that came with a P.S. labeled: "Important! During these days of food shortages, help feed your family better." I don't remember, but Mom, Dad and I spent a whole hour remembering the days of food shortages, tinfoil saving and all-day bread-making sessions.

If you know where the old recipe box is kept, make a mental note to someday soon get it out, pour yourself a cup of coffee and just kick back and remember where it came from.

MEALS MADE AHEAD

School bell rings, dinner bell too

By Geri Rinschler special writer

Mills doesn't have a lot of time to spend in the kitchen.

IT'S FINALLY UPON us: September, the time of great Michigan apples, visiting elder mills and creating back-to-school lunches and dinners.

For most of us, meal planning in September isn't any different from any other time of the year. But for teachers and school administrators, it's a time to return to balance work, family and meal preparations.

No matter what your occupation, and whether the month is September or April, organization is the key to successful meal planning.

For one school administrator in particular, balancing work and family and serving healthy, homemade dinners has been a snap.

FROM THE moment you walk into Helene Mills' Kitchen, you know that this cook is O-R-G-A-N-I-Z-E-D!

The kitchen in her Bingham Farms house is bright and airy. On the countertops sit two Cuisinarts, a small one for chopping and a large one for shredding, mixing sauces and pureeing veggies.

A few feet away sits a "pro-line" Kitchen Aid mixer. Nearby on the refrigerator is a computer printout of dinner menus for the week.

Across the way, over a cupboard, are a few shelves lined with reference and ethnic cookbooks.

JUST BELOW them, filling the other shelf, are a dozen or so leather-bound, three-ring binders trimmed with gold lettering describing the contents: appetizers, soups, salads, vegetables, breads, poultry and fish.

It's here where Mills keeps the treasured collection of recipes she has cultivated over the years as a wife, mother and professional educator.

Although her three children are grown and have left the nest, Mills continues to prepare nutritional, made-from-scratch meals for herself and husband Ray.

As a middle school principal and family life lecturer and consultant,

WHEN SHE WAS a working mother, teaching home economics, Mills decided she and her family were not going to be dependent on packaged meals or frozen dinners laden with sodium, chemical preservatives and fat. Nutrition was and is still very important to her.

"As a home economics teacher, I taught nutrition. In order to give my three children nutritionally sound meals and work, I needed to be organized," she said.

Planning the Mills family meals in advance and "pre-preparing" most of it on the weekends allowed Mills flexibility but, most importantly, the time and ability to feed her family home-cooked meals every night of the week.

Organizing menus and cooking on the weekends may not appear to be a time-saving device.

But when you closely examine Mills' approach to meal preparation, it conserves energy by consolidating cleanup time as well as baking and cooking hours. Result: less time spent in the kitchen.

CURIOS ABOUT how the system works? Stick around for some helpful tips, and shortcuts to serving fresh vegetables, salads, entrees and desserts.

To begin with, you should know that the Millses have a large, deep freezer.

Now that she is only cooking for two, she shops for most of her meat twice a year, except for veal and fish. She also shops for all their paper goods twice a year, buying by the case.

A milkman delivers all the dairy products and a vegetable man delivers fresh fruits and vegetables to her house once a week. This instantly eliminates lots of time spent in a grocery store.

IN HER KITCHEN files, Mills has organized a long list of entree dishes and soups that have become standard recipes over the years to 'Create' memories through cooking

By Marty Figley special writer

We all know that scents can evoke memories. The fragrance of spices wafting through the house makes us remember our mothers' or grandmothers' kitchens, and perhaps while we cook with spices, we can "create" memories for our loved ones.

When speaking of spices, one generally thinks of any aromatic plant that adds zest to food. These include herbs (which originate most often in temperate zones) and that we grow easily in our gardens and use the leaves fresh or dried, such as mints, basil, chervil, farragon, sage and thyme; seeds of plants grown in hot or mild climates (or both), such as anise, caraway, coriander, dill, poppy and cumin, or the fruits, barks or roots of various plants which grow naturally in the tropics.

We will address the latter category, those classified as true spices: allspice, cassia, cinnamon, cloves, ginger, turmeric, mace, nutmeg and pepper. Seeds also fit this description, but we will leave that for another time.

Most cooks begin using spices by purchasing them ground. As cooks' culinary endeavors increase, they find that by using the whole spice and grinding or crushing it from that state, the flavor is well worth the effort.

Some of these spices are quite strong, so it is best to use them judiciously when beginning to experiment with their flavors. They should enhance the flavor of a dish, not disguise it. When trying a new spice in a recipe, use the amount given. The next time, the spice can be adjusted (either more or less) to suit your palate. Curried dishes, chili and gingerbread are notable for that one particular flavor, and it will be well-pronounced.

WHEN SPICES are used whole, or in chunks, they need to be incorporated into the recipe at the beginning of the cooking. Ground spices can be added toward the end of the cooking time. Marinades and other uncooked recipes need to have the spices included when the recipe is first prepared.

The use of spices began before recorded history of mankind and, again, the aroma of them can conjure up long-ago visions of expeditions of camel trains and, later, ships carrying this precious cargo from one country to another. In fact, the first map of the known world was made because of the spice trade.

Legends of the origins of spices abounded, as the competition among countries for the trade was keen. Used for many purposes, besides the preservation of food, spices were (and still are) significantly import-choose from when planning the weekly menus. Among the items are a variety of poultry, beef, veal, pork, lamb, fish and seafood.

To name a few, there are chicken marsala, coq au vin, Swiss steak, London broil, pork fried rice and jambalaya.

Also included on the list are variety meats such as roast duck, soups, pasta and quiche.

Each item is coded with a letter to identify which foods can be "pre-prepared," made from planned leftovers, or "last minute," for those that can be made in 30 minutes or less.

Chicken marsala is one dish Mills prepares in advance and refrigerates or freezes. Pork-fried rice is coded, "left-over," meaning it is prepared from a leftover pork roast.

TO FULLY understand Mills' technique, you will need to look at a few typical menus.

Sunday is generally a family dinner. A Sunday menu includes appetizers, roast turkey breast, baked potatoes, Caesar salad and a fruit flan.

Monday: minestrone soup, tossed green salad with French dressing, crunchy bread and fresh fruit. Tuesday: baked mushroom chicken, a side dish of fettuccine, steamed beets and a Waldorf salad.

Wednesday: chicken divan, garden tomatoes, cucumber salad, sliced fruit. Thursday: grilled salmon, green beans, potatoes au gratin and a fruit sorbet.

SUNDAY, WHILE the turkey is roasting, Mills will cook the minestrone soup on the stove top.

While the soup is simmering, she will mix together a batch of salad dressing using a recipe that provides enough to last a week or more.

Halfway through the roasting of the turkey, she will bake Tuesday night's mushroom chicken for approximately three-quarters of the total cooking time.

After removing the chicken from the oven and cooling it for a while, she will refrigerate it covered and finish the last 30 minutes of baking Tuesday just before serving.

AFTER DINNER, while her husband is helping with the cleanup, Mills will put together a turkey divan, using the leftover roast turkey breast.

Needless to say, she allows for extra servings as well as extra baking time when selecting meat and organizing the menus for planned leftovers.

Generally, Thursday and Friday menus are "quick-cook" recipes that only take about 30 minutes to make, such as a salmon steak or hamburgers.

Having made the salad dressing, bread and some sauces Sunday allows for flexibility in the weeknight menus. Saturday, the Millses generally entertain at home or in a favorite restaurant.

"Entertaining on a weekend may not be as difficult as you may think because when I take the time on Sunday to make a dessert, such as a fruit flan, I always make two and keep one in the freezer."

WHETHER YOU follow Mills' approach to menu planning or design one of your own, there are a few key points she suggests for success.

When buying kitchen equipment, select the best quality you can afford.

She personally uses Cuisinart steel pans because after cooking, the "pre-prepared" foods can be refrigerated or frozen right in the pot and then brought directly to the stove or oven.

To save time serving vegetables, such as asparagus, broccoli and green beans, blanch or partially steam them a few days before serving.

After draining and rinsing in cold water, refrigerate covered and reheat in a microwave at dinner time.

Moderation is the key to eating well. Planning a weekly menu in advance helps in maintaining healthy family eating.

HELENE'S FRUIT FLAN

Crust:
6 ounces (1/2 box) vanilla wafers, processed into fine crumbs
4 ounces ground pecans
3/4 cup melted butter or margarine

In a 9-inch springform, flan or pie pan, mix together wafer crumbs and ground nuts. Stir in melted butter and shape or mold crumb mixture to line the pan evenly. Set aside.

Filling:
2 large eggs, beaten
8 ounces cream cheese
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla
1/2 cup sour cream

In a mixer bowl, beat eggs until well blended. With the machine running, slowly add sugar, vanilla and cream cheese. Beat well for 2 minutes. Add sour cream and continue to beat. When well blended, pour filling into prepared crust and bake for 35 minutes in a preheated 375 degree oven. Remove when filling is solid and lightly golden and when a small knife inserted comes out clean. Cool completely on a rack. Refrigerate or freeze until day of dinner. To freeze: wrap well after cooling and keep in freezer no longer than 2-3 weeks. Day of dinner of serving time:

2 kiwi fruit, peeled, sliced thinly and evenly
2 peaches, thinly sliced
1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled and sliced
4 ounces apple jelly

On the day of serving remove flan from freezer or refrigerator, remove from pan and set on a serving platter. Arrange the fruit slices, overlapping each other in rows. Melt the apple jelly in a saucepan on the stove or in the microwave. Brush jelly on the fruit, allowing the excess to fall into the cracks and covering the surface of the fruit flan. Refrigerate at least 2 hours before serving.

Serves 6-8.

BOEUF BOURGUIGNON

(Beef Burgundy)
3 tablespoons oil of your choice
2 pounds lean beef chuck, trimmed and cut into bite-size pieces
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme
1 cup beef broth
1 cup burgundy wine
1 cup fresh mushrooms, sliced
2 medium onions sliced thin
Salt/pepper to taste

In a deep skillet or Dutch oven, heat oil; when hot, brown meat. Stir in flour, salt, pepper and thyme. Remove meat, scraping the bottom of the pan and set in a 3-quart casserole dish. Sauté the mushrooms and onions. When tender add to casserole dish. Cover and bake in for 2 1/2 hours in a preheated 325 degree oven. Cool completely cover and refrigerate until day of dinner.

At serving time, remove casserole from refrigerator 15-20 minutes ahead, and warm in a preheated 325 degree oven for 35 minutes. Serves 4.

Mary Schurman of Birmingham combines Taco Soup with Hot Curried Fruit for a favorite family dinner.

When schedules vary, try Taco Soup meal

As wonderful as summer is, I always greet the month of September with open arms.

For it is a time of gentle transition from one season to another, marked by clean, crisp air, changing leaves and, of course, the return of the children to school.

After the adagio pace of summer, the cadence of life resumes its more structured, upbeat tempo as organizations come back to life after the summer hiatus, school meetings are once again scheduled and the athletic season begins in earnest.

TO HELP you keep up with the ever-increasing momentum and demands of the month, Mary Schurman's popular and oft-requested recipes for Taco Soup and Hot Curried Fruit will surely become family favorites.

Recipes

TACO SOUP

More like a chili than a soup, this tasty dish is an ideal dinner for busy families on the go. It can be made ahead, frozen and then reheated when needed. This recipe serves 6-8 people.

- 1 pound ground beef (or ground turkey)
- 1/2 cup chopped onion

- 1 can kidney beans, 16-ounce size
- 1 can whole kernel corn, 16-ounce size
- 1 can tomato sauce, 8-ounce size
- 1 taco seasoning package
- Hot sauce (couple shakes only)

Brown ground beef (or ground turkey) and saute onions together and drain. Add tomatoes, beans and corn and do not drain these. Add the tomato sauce, seasoning mix and hot sauce. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat and simmer for 1/2 hour. Serve with bowls of sour cream, shredded cheese, chopped corn chips and sliced avocados to which everyone can help himself.

- 1 can apricot halves, 1-pound size
- 1 small jar maraschino cherries
- Juice of 1/2 a lemon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Sour cream (optional)

Melt butter or margarine, add sugar and curry powder. Drain and thoroughly dry fruits. Arrange fruit in a 9-by-13-inch pan and pour the sauce over. Brian Polcyn and Daniel Moore went to high school together in Farmington. Polcyn is owner/chef at Pike Street Restaurant in Pontiac, while Moore is co-owner/winemaker at Z Moore Winery in Sonoma County, Calif.

Recently, these two classmates teamed up again to show off Z Moore wines with Pike Street food. Moore owns the boutique winery with his wife, Natalie Zuccarelli, thus the name Z Moore — she gets top billing.

The winery is in a renovated hop kiln in the cool Sonoma County growing region known as the Russian River Valley. Here, Moore buys the distinctive chardonnay and gewurztraminer grapes he needs to produce 5,000 cases of wine annually.

ant for embalming purposes, medicine, dyeing fabric and food, and as beauty products.

The world's most popular spice, pepper, comes from a climbing vine, native to India and the East Indies. Black peppercorns include the dark outer hull, and the clusters of berries are harvested while still green, darkening while drying. White peppercorns are left to ripen on the vine, then picked, and the outer hull is removed, revealing the white or light-colored peppercorn, lightening in color as it dries. Whole green peppercorns are not allowed to dry and are preserved in brine.

Perhaps the next popular spice is the clove, the unopened flower bud of an evergreen tree of the myrtle family, and is reddish-brown in color. Whole cloves are used to stud hams, glazed pork or beef, and are often an ingredient in mulling mixes. An onion studded with two or three cloves added to a beef stew the last hour of cooking imparts a special flavor.

GRAYISH-BROWN cassia buds look quite a bit like cloves and are the dried unripe fruit of two cinnamon trees. They are used in pickling, to sweeten the breath, and in potpourris. Cassia quills or bark come from another tree related to the myrtle and are used in the same manner as cinnamon. They can be interchanged with that spice.

Cinnamon sticks, believed to be superior in flavor, are the bark of a tree of the laurel family. The bark is peeled off in long strips with special knives, left to dry for a day, and then the outer layer is scraped off. The inner bark curls up like a quill when drying. A whole quill makes an aromatic stirrer for hot beverages.

Nutmeg and mace come from the same evergreen tree. The fruit first appears looking rather like an apricot, and in the middle the kernel (or nutmeg) is covered with a red network, called mace, which turns golden yellow-orange when it dries.

When sold whole, it is called blade mace, and it is used whole in pickling spice mixtures and to flavor jellies and stewed fruits. It also is used in sachets. The flavor of mace is more delicate than nutmeg and can improve the taste of whipped cream, making it less oily tasting. Try some in macaroni and cheese, or mashed potatoes.

Freshly grated nutmeg is far superior than ground nutmeg, from a tin. Add some in your next spaghetti-sauce recipe, or over a bowl of bananas and cream. Asparagus and broccoli come to life with a speck of nutmeg.

Allspice berries grow on the evergreen pimento (not pimlenito) tree native to Latin America and the West Indies and have the fragrance of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg. When they are reddish-brown and not yet ripe, they are harvested and dried in the sun for several days before they are ready for export.

LONG USED as a food preservative, they are a versatile spice. Add two or three whole berries to your next lamb stew for a taste treat. When broiling a steak, sprinkle it with a tiny bit of allspice to make the meal memorable. The berries also are used in the making of Benedictine and Chartreuse liqueurs.

Ginger is a popular spice and comes from the rhizome of the ginger plant. Fresh ginger is readily available in our supermarkets now, as are the dried roots, which need to be lightly crushed or bruised to extract the flavor.

Another rhizome is turmeric, which comes from a plant of the ginger family and is sold in powdered form. Mustard pickles, chutneys and rice dishes are flavored by turmeric. It is in place of mustard to add color and interest.

Finally, the vanilla bean, or pod, brought to Europe by the Spaniards, grows on a climbing vine. My favorite use is to put a pod into a quart of white sugar, letting it impart its subtle flavor. Vanilla is used in spiced tea, puddings and cake.

Freshly grated nutmeg is far superior than ground nutmeg from a tin. Add some in your next spaghetti-sauce recipe, or over a bowl of bananas and cream.

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

The non-vintage Le Clos from Clos du Val Wine Co. ($6.75) is one of the best bargains in a classically styled red wine to enter the marketplace. It's a blend of 46 percent cabernet sauvignon, 34 percent pinot noir, 18 percent zinfandel and 2 percent merlot from the 1986, '87 and '88 vintages.

Intensely extracted aromas of blackberry, cassis and black pepper introduce a complex wine that's harmonious and approachable with a smooth finish. A great value.

WINE BULLETIN BOARD

The Healds will teach a fall wine class 7:30-9:30 p.m. on five consecutive Wednesdays from Sept. 19 through Oct. 17, at the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus at Orchard Lake Road at 1-698 in Farmington Hills. Total cost, $85. Topics include California, Italy and Champagne. For registration information, call 471-7561.

MOORE MOVED to California after earning a degree in food science from Michigan State University.

"I stayed in California because it was the first place I found where I could swim and ski in the same season," Moore said.

Z Moore Winery is a small, hands-on operation where the owners handcraft a tiny quantity of wine from premium-quality grapes, specializing in only three wine types.

"I was a white zinfandel lover who got my rigorous job training hauling hoses at Milano Winery in Mendocino County," Moore said. "Later, I worked for Hop Kiln Winery in Sonoma. That's where I got turned on to gewurztraminer."

AS SMALL as Z Moore is, it already has two labels. For five years now, Moore has produced a refreshing, spicy, pleasantly off-dry gewurztraminer called Quaff.

"For us this is not a second label," Moore said.

"It is our significant other," Natalie said. "This is a fun wine, seriously made. Drink it at the pool, on a picnic, at the beach, or in front of a fire with someone you love."

The 1989 Quaff ($7) has fresh, spicy, orange blossom aromas, with juicy, fruit flavors that make it a perfect starter almost any time.

Z MOORE also produces an unusual and totally dry gewurztraminer in the style of a crisp, clean Alsace version.

The wine is barrel fermented in 130-gallon, mature oak puncheons that allow the wine to retain its spicy aromas while broadening its palate impression.

Moore's model in Alsace is Domaine Ostertag, where Andre Ostertag has caused a sensation over his barrel-fermented wines in a region that traditionally ferments in large, neutral oak casks or stainless steel.

Whatever he does, Moore is on the right track. His 1989 Barrel Fermented Dry Gewurztraminer ($9) shows spicy ginger and orange blossom aromas with a creamy richness and generous body that pairs well with food.

ON CONSECUTIVE evenings, Polcyn paired this wine with ragout of creamed seafood in crust one night and spicy pasta with tomatoes and Vidalia onions the next.

Oven-steamed salmon with wild watercress and grilled Columbia River sturgeon with mustard cream were the dishes selected to accompany Z Moore's 1988 Chardonnay (available exclusively at Pike Street Restaurant).

The wine's firm, lean acidity was cleansing against the fish.

"I use Montrachet yeast," Moore said, "because I like how it highlights the wine's toasty character."

Z MOORE produces small amounts of red zinfandel, blended with petit sirah, showcasing generous black pepper aromas, forward fruit flavors and a heightened acidity that bodes well for extended aging.

Polcyn created an earthy, peasant-style grilled medallion of beef with braised beef shortrib using some of the 1988 Z Moore Zinfandel (only available at Pike Street) in the reduction sauce.

The combination elevated the taste of both wine and food. Polcyn's stylized food harmonies, created to complement the Z Moore wines, clearly indicate why he was selected as runner-up in this year's Paul Bocuse Best Native American Chef Competition.

THE 1989 Z Moore Select Harvest Gewurztraminer ($8.50/375ml) is a dessert wine that can be enjoyed on its own or with a variety of fruit desserts. Moore likes this wine with dessert because it is not overly sweet.

Polcyn created summer berries in mascarpone that included fresh raspberries, blueberries and strawberries set in a pool of milk chocolate and butterscotch.

The peach, honey and melon flavors of the wine harmonize well with the dessert, and the wine's crisp acidity left the palate clean and refreshed.

Z Moore Winery is a small, hands-on operation where the owners handcraft a tiny quantity of wine from premium-quality grapes, specializing in only three wine types.

To prevent crime in Tucson, police use sensitive, highly sophisticated surveillance equipment:

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of the Tucson Tip-off

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins.

They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people want to the police for advice.

They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention.

In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. To find out more, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20039-0001.

To SIDS parents this is music to their ears

Imagine you're a parent, checking on your baby in the middle of the night. You wait for the sound of breathing. A cry. A coo. Anything.

When SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) takes a victim, there is only silence.

It's commonly known as "Crib Death." The death of a seemingly healthy baby for no apparent reason.

SIDS is the number one cause of death in infants from one week to one year old... causing more deaths than cystic fibrosis, childhood cancer and heart disease combined.

Over 7,000 babies each year.

This killer strikes quickly, quietly, with no warning. A SIDS baby dies within seconds, usually while he's sleeping. He suffers no pain. He doesn't cry out.

One of the most disturbing facts about SIDS is that there's no way to predict it. No way to prevent it. Not yet.

But there is hope. With your help we can find the cause and the cure.

Donations of your time and of your dollars will make a difference. You can help save a life. Then we can all hear the sweet sounds of a baby's cry.

Raiders roll past Churchill

By Brad Emons
staff writer

North Farmington's football team may have solved the final piece of its puzzle Saturday in a 42-6 romp over visiting Livonia Churchill.

The Raiders, on the heels of a surprising 13-10 opening day loss to Pontiac Northern, stormed back in week No. 2 with an eye-opening passing display.

Senior Chris White, the converted swingback who was pulled last week against Northern in his first-ever start at quarterback in favor of junior Mark Temple, enjoyed a big afternoon.

Given the starting nod again, White completed six of 12 passes for 149 yards and two touchdowns. Temple, who came on late, also threw a 39-yard scoring strike to Jon Sturtz.

"Chris didn't get enough snaps last week and he really threw only one pass and that's not a good evaluation for anybody," said North coach Jim O'Leary. "We had to give him another shot. Today I thought he was better. He's got a ways to go, he's got to throw with more authority and execute his fakes better, but he was much-improved over last week."

NORTH, however, gave up its first touchdown on an opening kickoff in 29 years when Churchill senior Mike Brooks broke through and outraced the Raiders defenders for 93-yard return.

North kicked squibbers the rest of the day to keep Brooks from getting the ball.

"He's just a good athlete and we had a lot of respect for him after what we saw him do last week," said O'Leary, referring to Brooks' 171 yards rushing in a 35-14 loss last week to Sterling Heights. "He may be the best running back in our league. The kid's good."

But Brooks, held to 82 yards rushing in 20 carries, along with his Churchill teammates, couldn't sustain much offense the rest of the afternoon.

The Chargers did not make a first down in the first half, trailing 21-0.

"They (North) overpowered us," said Churchill coach Herb Osterland. "The opening kickoff was a great effort on Mike's part, but what it all boiled down to was that their interior line overwhelmed us."

North didn't take long to regain the lead, scoring with 3:25 left in the opening quarter on a 28-yard pass from White to tight end Todd Pawlowski, who jumped up over

Mike Brooks (with ball) of Livonia Churchill tries to gain yardage Saturday against North Farmington High's defense during a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover game. Brooks had Churchill's lone TD in a 42-6 loss.

Brooks to make a sparkling grab.

Mike Ober kicked the first of his six straight extra points to give North a 7-6 advantage.

"WE'VE GOT to get the ball to Todd in the air because he's 6-foot-4," said O'Leary. "Just get it in the air and he'll get the ball. He's just a load."

The Raiders unloaded on Churchill again, marching 46 yards in eight plays, capped by Sturtz's 8-yard TD run with 10:19 to go in the second quarter. (Sturtz, a 5-foot-11, 175-pound junior, led North with 63 yards in 14 carries.)

With 3:46 remaining in the half, White threw his second scoring toss, a 51-yarder to senior Dave Rankin.

White got hot in the third quarter, completing three straight passes, including a 38-yarder to Rankin, who made a diving grab at the Churchill 1.

Two plays later, White ran it in on a keeper to give North a commanding 28-6 lead.

In the final quarter, North tacked on two more scores.

Churchill's Matt Badrak, trying to field a snap which sailed over his head, couldn't recover in time, as Joel Leik barged in, blocking the attempted punt.

Defensive back Jason Horwitz scooped up the loose ball and ran in from 5 yards out with 7:20 to play.

NORTH'S FINAL TD came when Temple, who led North's unbeaten freshman and JV teams the last two years, found Sturtz wide open on a crossing pattern, good for 39 yards.

"We didn't know what to say about their quarterbacking situation after last week," Osterland said. "We didn't think they were set, but it looks like they're going to go to war with White. All I knew is that we'd have to buckle up after they had been beaten last week."

"All we asked of our kids is to 'play your best and play as long as you can.' That was our objective."

Churchill was held to 142 yards rushing and only 6 yards passing as sophomore quarterback Jason Renkiewicz, under pressure most of the afternoon, could complete only two of 12. (He was intercepted once by White.)

"For a young kid he did a decent job in there," said Osterland. "For a period in the third quarter we got our confidence back and moved the football, even though some of their starters were out of there by then."

Which brings us back to North's quarterbacking situation.

O'LEARY hasn't completely ruled out that White may return to swingback.

"Chris said he'll play wherever we ask him," said the North coach, "but he'd be happy at wide receiver. Chris gives us the dimension that he can scramble around, but then again we give him up as a great receiver."

"And Temple worked hard all week. He deserved to play. We weren't going to put him in and not have him throw the football. We've got to see him throw it when he's in there."

O'Leary realizes the most important business at hand is opening the Lakes Division part of the schedule, which begins this week in the Western Lakes Activities Association. North entertains Walled Lake Central on Saturday, while Churchill travels Friday to Walled Lake Western in a Western Division matchup.

"The preseason is over," said O'Leary. "I'd like to see our offensive line be more consistent. We have to sustain our blocks better. The holding and clipping penalties are unacceptable. I think we had eight. They kill your drives. We'd also like a more consistent running game, but I thought our backs ran hard."

And by Saturday, O'Leary hopes to have the final piece in place.

CC levels Sexton, 28-0

LANSING — Midway through the third quarter of Redford Catholic Central's 28-0 win Saturday over Lansing Sexton, a referee shouted something to Shamrocks coach Tom Mach.

"Isn't number 11 (Jon Barbara) supposed to play offensive tackle?" the referee asked.

"Nah," Mach said. "We like the way he runs."

Especially Saturday.

Barbara, a fullback who wears enough pads on his 215-pound frame to pass for an offensive lineman, gained 72 yards on 13 carries and scored a touchdown to lead the Shamrocks to the devastating win over the state-ranked Big Reds.

CC's starting tailback Mike Thomas saw limited action because of an ankle injury, so Barbara was anxious to show his own running talents. The bus ride home might have been uncomfortable with all those pads on, but he found his comfort zone against Sexton.

"I WAS HOPING coach would give me the ball more because I knew Thomas was out and I wanted to help pick up the slack," Barbara said. "Most people underestimate me, but today I proved them wrong. The line did a great job and I couldn't ask for anything more. It was easy."

The win improved CC to 2-0 overall. Sexton, coming off an easy win over Livonia Franklin a week ago, fell to 1-1.

This was the kind of win Mach likes to see after squeaking by Temperance-Bedford in the opening game, 10-8.

"We were hoping to move the ball well — and we did," Mach said. "We ran a little different offense this week (without Thomas) and gave people more to think about. They say you show a lot of improvement between your second and third games. We're going to have to improve to beat (Detroit Martin Luther) King Saturday."

CC scored on its first three possessions and outgained the Big Reds, 355-157 in total offense. The Shamrocks, who weren't forced to punt until early in the fourth quarter, picked up 18 first downs and held Sexton to six.

THE SHAMROCKS' running attack didn't end with Barbara. Jeff Tibaldi scored a TD and gained 69 yards on 18 carries, and quarterback Jason Carr surprised the Big Reds with 54 yards on nine carries.

CC's defense, meanwhile, keyed on Big Reds tailback Howard Tripplett, holding him to 52 yards on 15 carries.

"We're known for stopping good backs," CC cornerback Brian Chaney said. "We didn't forget about the rest of their team but we felt if we stopped Tripplett we could stop the rest of their offensive plan."

If Sexton thought it could throw against CC, it was wrong. On the game's second play from scrimmage, CC's Jack Davidson intercepted a pass thrown by Sexton's James McIntosh and returned it to the Big Reds 24-yard line.

Carr, who completed eight of 15 passes for 96 yards, found Mario Vassallo in the end zone for a 19-yard scored and an early 6-0 lead. Brent Jenkins, who made all four conversions, gave the Shamrocks a 7-0 lead with the point after touchdown.

After stopping Sexton on four plays, CC got the ball back and drove 73 yards on nine plays to open up a 14-0 lead. Tibaldi scored from 2 yards out with 2:59 remaining, and Barbara helped keep the drive alive with a 23-yard run on second down near midfield.

CC SCORED again on its next possession, driving 64 yards on 15 plays and scoring on a 1-yard plunge by Carr. The Shamrocks overcame four penalties on the drive in taking a 21-0 halftime lead.

CC took a 28-0 lead with 5:46 left in the third quarter when Barbara capped a 72-yard drive with a 1-yard dive.

Sexton had a chance to score later in the quarter, but CC linebacker Karl Kowalok intercepted a McIntosh pass inside CC's 5-yard line on fourth down.

It was that kind of day for Sexton coach Bob Meyers, who watched Keith Newbern drop a sure TD in the end zone in the first half.

"CC was obviously the better team today," he said. "We didn't play very well and they have no glaring weaknesses."

Spartans bounce Pats

By Brad Emons
staff writer

It felt like a rocky ride through the rapids for Livonia Stevenson's football team Friday night, but the Spartans made it through, scoring a 21-12 victory over city rival Franklin.

It was the second win in as many starts for Stevenson, which won despite being outgained in total yardage, 283-150.

"When we had the opportunities, we didn't let it slip away," said Stevenson coach Jack Reardon. "A win like this can do wonders for a football team."

The Spartans found themselves paddling up stream during the first half, but ironically enjoyed a 14-12 halftime lead.

Franklin's defense stopped the Spartans on their initial offensive series and proceeded to march 61 yards in 14 plays, only to be stopped at the goal line.

It was sign of how things were going to go all evening for Franklin.

Patriot running back Aaron Shakarian, who rushed for 43 yards in eight carries during the drives, was stopped by the Spartans' defense at the 2 (on third down) and at the 1 (by Spartan tackle Eric Kickland on fourth down).

But Franklin didn't come up empty.

STEVENSON, backed up on its own 1, yielded a two-point safety when Tony Faclone, blitting on the play from his linebacker post, sacked Chad Myers in the end zone.

"We let them climb out of a hole," said Franklin coach Armand Vigna. "Damn errors killed us and we made some physical ones as well, like when you're on the 2 (yard-line) and can't push it in."

Franklin, however, capitalized on its next possession when Wilfredo Vargas scored on an 11-yard run with 10:20 left in the second quarter, capping a 46-yard, eight-play drive, which included a key first down pass from Mike Geiger to Rahul Jadia.

Bobby Johnson added the extra point to make it 9-0.

Franklin nearly went up 15-0 when Faclone returned a punt 75 yards for an apparent touchdown, only to have the play called back because of a clip.

But the Patriots began moving the ball again, only to turn it over when Geiger, trying to cut upfield on a keeper, had the ball pop loose.

Chris Lehti recovered the fumble at the Stevenson 47.

Ryan Furkas then hit Doug Carmack with successive passes of 26 and 14 yards, setting up Lehti's 2-yard TD run with 5:31 left in the quarter. Stevenson missed the extra point, but Spartans were back in it, trailing 9-6.

THE SPARTANS picked up another Franklin fumble on the game's next possession. This time Paul Rockwood scooped up the ball when Shakarian, fighting for first down yardage, lost the handle. (Shakarian led all rushers with 77 yards in 18 carries.)

"I thought the fumble was a dead play," Vigna said. "I thought he was stopped, but there was no whistle. It was a judgment call and maybe I'll change my mind after looking at the film. The ball came out and our people were standing around looking at each other, and then all the sudden he (Rockwood) was gone."

The senior defensive back rambled 41 yards with the loose football down to the Franklin 1, setting up Lehti's 4-yard scoring run with 2:24 remaining in the half. (Furkas hit Rockwood for the two-point conversion pass to make it 14-9.)

Despite their misfortunes, the Patriots managed to cut the lead to 14-12 when Johnson booted a 38-yard field goal as time expired to end the first half.

"In the first half we were kind of beat up and not playing well," said Reardon. "But we had more points on the board and that gave us a great opportunity to win the football game we felt. The kids said to themselves 'we've got to pick it up a notch.'"

STEVENSON did just that, holding Franklin, which had gained 177 total yards in the first half, to 106 in the second.

With just over five minutes to go in the third quarter, Johnson ran a fake punt, but was stopped short of the first down marker after being met by Marco DeSanto and Carmack.

Two plays later, Furkas connected with Rockwood on a 46-yard scoring pass and Carmack added the extra point to make it 21-12.

"We knew we had to throw the football a little bit, we felt that going in," Reardon said. "because it was tough to move those (Franklin) people out."

Vigna, meanwhile, said the Spartans exposed his team's Achilles Heel.

"You hate to give it away, but that's what happens," said the Franklin coach. "The two fumbles cost us and then they found our weakness with our secondary, and they were smart to do that."

In the final quarter, Franklin never got the ball past midfield and made only one first down after collecting 10 in the first half. The Patriots also had another potential scoring drive stymied by a pair of penalties — roughing the punter and pass interference.

SPEARHEADING Stevenson's defense down the stretch were a pair of senior defensive ends — Roger LaGrow, who was in on 13 tackles, and Tony Sereno, who recorded three sacks.

"In the second half we pulled together and played a nice half," said Reardon. "To play such a poor (first) half and be up on the board had to make the kids believe that much more in themselves. There are no All-Staters on this team and they know that, but this team is physically and mentally tough."

Both teams open Western Lakes Activities Association play this weekend.

On Friday, Stevenson hosts Farmington in a Lakes Division encounter, while Franklin initiates Western Division action Saturday at home against unbeaten Northville.

SC harriers eye future

There are no concrete goals, no title dreams entertained. Maria Bayne resurrects the women's cross country team at Schoolcraft College with only one clear objective: survival.

The sport has never enjoyed continued success at SC. It's on-and-off status from year to year never allows the program to get established.

Bayne, who coached at Wayne Memorial for two years and at Westland John Glenn for three years before, hopes to change all that.

"IF WE have someone make it to nationals (the National Junior College Athletic Association championships), that would be wonderful," Bayne said.

She realizes individual accomplishments will have to suffice, for now.

"We really don't have that big a team. But I hope we can have good competition with some of the other schools in the area, like Macomb."

Wayne boys outrace Glenn

Wayne Memorial opened its boys cross country season Thursday with a 23-33 triumph over rival Westland John Glenn in a dual meet at Central City Park.

Matt Johnson and Aaron Simpson went one-two for the Zebras, covering the 5,000-meter course in 18:53 and 19:22, respectively. Teammates Marty Collier and John Costello took fourth and fifth in 19:49 and 21:12.

Joe Rajewski finished third for the Rockets in 19:37. He was followed by teammates Mark Coleman, sixth, 21:27; and Bill Griffiths, seventh, 22:29.

Glenn swept Wayne in the girls meet, 15-0, as Jennifer Kaplis crossed the line first in 24:22. She

THE OCELOT roster carries just six runners: Tracy Clark (from Livonia Stevenson), Jenny Marshke (Plymouth Salem), Cindy Spessard (Plymouth Canton), Michelle Dobransky (Canton), Ginger Rowland (John Glenn) and Rachel Boyd (Salem).

Further complicating matters, Clark has been nursing a knee injury and will be out indefinitely.

Still, Bayne said, the team members "all have very positive attitudes."

"It's just a matter of time before the results begin to show."

SC opened its season at the University of Detroit Lady Titan Invitational Saturday at Cass Benton.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL won its boys meet Thursday against Garden City at Cass Benton Park, 18-45. Chad Giles and Jon Curry finished one-two in 19:24 and 19:44, respectively. Steve Townsend added a fourth in 20:33.

Todd Jacobs was third overall in 20:10 for GC.

In a 19-42 Churchill girls victory, Stacy Rokicsak (24:40), Teri Moore (25:13) and Anno Drogosh (25:56) led the way for the Chargers.

Garden City's Trina Sherlita was fourth in 26:06.

Stevenson puts clamps on Eagles

Livonia Stevenson's plan Thursday was to contain Redford-Thurston's big guns, Carolyn Nagel and Michelle Birchmeyer.

Mission accomplished. Holding the Eagles' two stars to a combined seven points, the Spartans routed host Thurston, 72-38, in a non-conference girls basketball game.

"We were trying to hold down the two girls (Nagel and Birchmeyer) and thought if we could do that, we could win," Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said. "They got down early and might have gotten tired. All our shots we scored in the fourth quarter were from the paint."

Stevenson, undefeated in two games, outscored the Eagles (2-1 overall) in every quarter and led 32-14 at halftime. The Spartans raised their advantage to 46-25 after three quarters and still managed to outscore the Eagles, 28-13, in the fourth quarter with both benches playing.

Three Spartans scored in double figures, led by senior guard Jenny Audet with 20 points and nine rebounds. Junior center Teresa Sarno contributed 18 points and eight rebounds and senior guard Laura Zatorski added 10 points.

All 10 Spartans who played, scored. Stevenson was 34-for-82 from the floor for 41 percent.

"It is fun," Hebestreit said. "When you've been pounded in the past, this is nice to have a group that's willing to work and understands what you want to do."

Patti Haney and Nagel led Thurston with seven points apiece, while Birchmeyer, the Eagles point guard, went scoreless.

CHURCHILL 45, EDESEL FORD 35: Sophomore Chrissy Daly pumped in 16 points to lead Livonia Churchill (2-0) to a non-league victory Thursday at Dearborn Edsel Ford (0-3).

Leading by only two at intermission (19-17), the visiting Chargers broke things open in the third period, outscoring the Thunderbirds 19-8.

"We made some adjustments at halftime," said Churchill coach Don Alberston. "With our trapping at halfcourt, we were able to steal some balls."

Senior Lori Place added 12 points (4-of-5 free throws) and five assists for the Chargers, while teammate Alyssa Belatre contributed eight points.

Edsel's Kathy Nichols paced all scorers with 21.

FRANKLIN 66, DEARBORN 25: It was no contest Thursday as visiting Livonia Franklin (4-0) jumped out to a 41-17 halftime advantage and never looked back.

Junior guard Dawn Warner scored 18 of her game-high 20 points in the opening half. She connected on three straight three-point shots, giving her six straight over a two-game span.

Senior center Jenny Mayle contributed 13 points (11 in the first half) and 15 rebounds. Junior guard Patty Shea chipped in with 10 steals and six points.

The host Pioneers (0-3) were led by sophomore forward Becky Sekulch, who tallied eight points.

JOHN GLENN 62, G.P. SOUTH 49: Junior center Cathy Mruk netted a game-high 21 Thursday, leading Westland John Glenn (2-1) to the non-conference triumph at Grosse Pointe South.

Glenn led 30-27 at the half before outscoring the Blue Devils 15-9 in the third quarter and 17-13 in the final period.

Mruk, who hit 7-of-8 free throws, added six rebounds. Karen Olack and Carrie Rachwal contributed 15 and 10 points, respectively. Rachwal also had four assists and four steals.

Forward Angela Deake paced South with 19 points.

ALLEN PARK 45, CLARENCEVILLE 12: A 16-0 first quarter spurt Thursday carried the host Jaguars (2-0) to an easy victory over Livonia Clarenceville, which has now been outscored 99-38 in two games.

Terina Howell scored 20 points to pace Allen Park. Danielle Rose scored five for Clarenceville.

"They (Allen Park) were a much-better team, no question," said Clarenceville assistant Bob Wolf. "We had plenty of shots, but we just didn't shoot well."

LUTHERAN NW 44, HURON VALLEY 28: Senior forward Holly Hay tallied 11 of game-high 27 points in the third quarter Friday, leading visiting Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest (3-0) to victory over Huron Valley Lutheran of Westland (0-3).

Northwest, leading by only four at the half (20-16), broke things open with a 17-2 scoring spurt in the third quarter. Junior forward Sandy Dengel tallied 17 points and grabbed 13 rebounds for Huron Valley.

POSTPONEMENTS: Electrical storms Thursday knocked out four games in Observierland.

The Livonia Ladywood at Flint Northwestern game was postponed because of a power failure, while Wayne Memorial's first-round game in the Grosse Ile Tournament was also called off along with the Redford Union at Southfield encounter.

Redford Bishop Borgess was leading Detroit Holy Redeemer, 32-29, with 6:05 remaining in the game.

Madonna snaps losing streak vs. Kalamazoo

First, understand just how young Madonna College's volleyball team is. No seniors. Just three juniors.

That helps explain why the Lady Crusaders struggled with their confidence last week at the Mesa College Tournament in Grand Junction, Colo., and ended up losing all six of their matches.

Once back in familiar territory — their own gym to take on Kalamazoo College — the Crusaders got into a groove, ripping the Hornets 15-12, 15-6, 15-13 Thursday.

"We're used to our own court," said Madonna coach Jerry Abraham. "Colorado was the first time we've played together, and we got our jitters out. (Against Kalamazoo) we relaxed and played hard. We played real well, finally the way we're capable of playing."

"We played well in Colorado, we just didn't win."

STACEY GIRARD, a sophomore from Livonia Ladywood, got in

stride against Kalamazoo, collecting 17 kills. Freshman Dana Hicks (Milford-Lakeland) added 14 kills and sophomore Tonia Smith (Walled Lake Central) had 12. Junior Kristy McFadden (Redford Bishop Borgess) finished with eight kills.

On defense, junior Jenny Sladowski (Livonia Stevenson), sophomore Melissa Mars (Borgess) and freshman Evette Sluder (Wayne Memorial) had four digs apiece, while Mazie Pilut contributed outstanding sets.

Tiffany Goodlow (Wayne) turned in a solid all-around performance with four solo blocks and six service aces.

Madonna, now 1-6, plays at Oakland University at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Wetmore lifts Wayne; Glenn, C'ville prevail

Jason Wetmore and Joe Coughlin were an arsenal Friday against visiting Trenton, Wetmore scoring one touchdown and throwing two more to Coughlin in Wayne Memorial's 26-7 triumph.

The victory improved Wayne's record to 2-0; Trenton slipped to 0-2.

Statistically, the game seemed closer than the outcome. The Zebras gained 295 yards (161 rushing, 134 passing) to 250 for Trenton (all on the ground). But Wetmore and Coughlin were the big difference.

Wetmore slipped through the Trojan defense on a 13-yard scoring run in the first quarter, then booted the extra point for a 7-0 lead. In the second quarter, he fired a 24-yard strike to Coughlin and kicked his second PAT for a 14-0 lead.

Another Wetmore-to-Coughlin pass, this one covering 27 yards, made it 20-0 through three periods. Trenton got on the board on a 3-yard Greg Indre run in the final quarter. Wayne finished the scoring with a 2-yard Germaine Ellis dive.

Wetmore finished with eight completions in 11 attempts for 134 yards, with one interception. Trenton did not complete a pass in six tries, except to Coughlin, who picked off two.

JOHN GLENN 31, W.L. WESTERN 0: John Ward made a shambles of Walled Lake Western's defense, scoring four times in Westland John Glenn's shut-out win Friday at Glenn.

Ward gained 85 yards in 17 attempts. He scored on 2-yard runs in both the first and second quarters, raced 26 yards for a TD in the third and capped his night with a 4-yard scamper in the fourth.

Ward's performance overshadowed that of quarterback Lawrence Scheffler, who completed 11-of-17 passes for 243 yards, with one interception. Kevin Springer also booted two second-quarter field goals for the Rockets, covering 33 and 11 yards.

Glenn's defense was its greatest weapon, however. The Rocket defenders limited Western to 32 total yards: 26 rushing and 6 passing, with one pass completion in four attempts. Glenn gained 399 yards in total offense.

"They're a young team," said Rocket coach Chuck Gordon of the Warriors. "They're going to be good in the future."

Last Friday, however, Western (now 0-2) was no match for Glenn (2-0).

C'VILLE 27, HARPER WOODS 14: Livonia Clarenceville built a 20-0 lead after three quarters and coasted to a Metro Conference victory Friday at Harper Woods.

Carl Holston scored twice for the Trojans, now 2-0, with Jim Jurkowski and Kendrick Harrington adding TDs.

Jurkowski opened the scoring with a 6-yard run in the opening quarter, capping a 10-play, 72-yard drive. Holston made it 12-0 with an 8-yard run that finished a 57-yard march later in the period.

Harrington raced 31 yards to make it 20-0 after three quarters, with Ken Bazzy catching a two-point conversion pass. Holston's 13-yard touchdown jaunt in the fourth quarter capped the scoring.

Clarenceville finished with 343 yards rushing, with Harrington gaining 184 on 21 carries. Holston had 97 yards on 13 tries and Jurkowski added 62 passing yards on 11 attempts. Harrington was 0-for-5 passing.

The Trojans limited Harper Woods (0-2) to 97 yards in offense, 87 coming through the air. Senior linebacker Andy Van Erp intercepted a pass to ignite the defense.

Buterbaugh keeps GC Cougars unbeaten, 7-6

By Ray Sellock
staff writer

"Big time" were the words Garden City defensive back Kurt Buterbaugh shouted Friday as he ran to the locker room after the Cougars 7-6 victory over visiting Romulus.

It was Garden City's "big time" defense which won the game, improving the Cougars' record to 2-0.

With less than three minutes remaining, and Garden City leading 7-6, Romulus had a fourth-down-and-one at the Cougar 24-yard line.

The Eagles tried a sneak, but sophomore quarterback Bob Bergeron bobbled the ball, allowing Garden City to stuff the play short of the first down, regain possession and run out the clock.

"That was a big play by our defense," Cougar coach Bob Eisinger said. "It says a lot for our intensity on defense. You have to make big plays to win football games and tonight we made some big plays."

ROMULUS COACH Dan Henry thought his team could have gained a first down and kicked the winning field goal.

"We wanted that first down," he said. "If we got that, we could have been in a position to kick a field goal and win it. We didn't make the play and they did."

Scoring, though, was a rare commodity throughout the game.

Romulus tailback Eben Smith got the game's first points on a 2-yard run late in the second quarter. But Garden City's Tom Zografos blocked the extra-point attempt, holding the Eagles to a 6-0 lead. Smith finished the game with 71 yards on 13 carries for Romulus.

It took Garden City until the second half to piece together a scoring drive.

SENIOR TAILBACK Brian Norris' 1-yard plunge into the end zone capped off an 11-play drive late in the third quarter. Buterbaugh added the extra point, giving the Cougars a 7-6 advantage.

"Norris ran the ball well for us in the third quarter and we went with him," Eisinger said. "He made some big plays."

Norris finished the game with 41 yards rushing on 15 carries, including a 13-yard run. He also caught a pass for five yards in the third quarter.

Senior Nick Mutafis was steady at quarterback for the Cougars, completing 6-of-10 passes for 50 yards.

"Garden City played a good game," Henry said. "I thought we were two evenly matched teams and I was hoping that we could win this one. We play excellent teams the rest of the season, so I wish we could have pulled this game out. A win would have been nice."

Welcome back!

Fall bowling leagues ready to roll

THE REGULAR SEASON has officially started, the scores are coming in, and it looks like a great year ahead for the local bowling scene.

There are still many vacancies among the leagues, so any interested parties can get in on all the action. The lanes are basically the same as in the past several years, "short oil" being the prevailing condition. In some instances, the content of the substance that is applied to the lanes may be from newer and better formulas, however, the differences may be hard to detect.

I expect to see a lot of high scoring from all 30 bowling centers being covered in the Observer & Eccentric communities. Again, I ask the league officers to report the scores to the counter and someone will keep up a list and report them. If the scores go unreported, they will not appear in the "Ten Pin Alley."

A reminder to anyone who would like to win $10,000. The entry banks are still on the counters at all BCA establishments. Anyone 21 or over can enter and it is free. You might even win a dinner for two at one of the fine "Charley's" restaurants in the metro Detroit area.

Last day to enter is Sept. 14.

The Greater Detroit Bowling Council has finalized its selections for the Bowling Hall of Fame. The inductees will be honored at a dinner (open to the public) Sunday, Nov. 4 at the Polish Century Club. Tickets are $25 each and will cover cocktails and dinner. Cocktails will be served from 5 to 6 p.m. and awards will be presented right after dinner.

This year's inductees to the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame are:

Harry Campbell — He captained the Stroh's Beer team to two ABC tournament titles, is currently averaging around 217 in the All-Star Classic League and has 11 sanctioned 300 games and three 800 series. Campbell was on the all-city team first or second places from 1969-74, and was a winner of many tournaments locally and on the national level. In 1989, he was voted the GDBA Meritorious Service Award winner and also was chosen bowler's "Man of the Year," by the Michigan State Bowling Association.

Terry Grant — an outstanding bowler, she has two 300 games to her credit and a 790 high series. She has maintained a 200 average for several seasons, was the Michigan Queens Tournament Champion in '84. Grant has bowled in all seven tournaments, placing fifth in '87, third in '88 and third this year in Bay City.

10-pin alley

She has won many individual, team and doubles championships and was the Detroit all-events champion in 1988. Grant was named to the Michigan Women's Bowling Association Hall of Fame earlier this year.

Margaret Lewis — She started bowling in 1956 at Twenty Grand Recreation and has organized several leagues and went on to instruct young bowlers. Lewis was the first black female Brunswick certified Bowling Instructor, and the first black to participate in the WIBC Queens Tournament. Her team won two state titles and one in the DWBA Tournament.

Robert Kwiclen — Not only a great bowler, Kwiclen also was a good promoter of the game. He has won many titles, among them the ABC Doubles Championship; the Fred Wolk's singles, twice; and the father and son tournament with his son Todd. He has two sanctioned 300 games, one in the world five-man tournament in Milwaukee. He received the Gentleman of the Year award during the World Invitational in Chicago.

Jim Bennett — He is currently vice president of world-wide sales and service of Brunswick Bowling and Billiards Division. Bennett is actively involved in the committee for bowling in the Olympics and "Team USA." He was a member of the board of directors for the National Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum in St. Louis, Mo. Bennett supported and sponsored many bowling events and activities in the Michigan/Detroit area.

Ron Seibel — A member of the GDBA board of directors since 1971, and president of the association during the 1982-83 season. He has been a promoter of bowling for many years, is a former president of the Lutheran Bowling Tournament, and he served as president of the Old Timers Bowling Association in the 1987-88 season. He coordinated the Bowling Booth at the State Fair and the AARP convention.

Judge Richard M. Maher — For many years, he's been one of bowling's staunchest supporters. A speaker at many of the local bowling functions, he has worked closely with those in bowling to help "open doors" and be of assistance wherever he could. The judge is always present at the hall of fame and awards banquets.

Any youngsters 12 and up looking for the best competition can find it in the local traveling leagues. The Western Wayne Youth Travel League is still looking for a few good bowlers, ages 12-21, with about a 140 average or better. They bowl at Plaza Lanes (Plymouth), Town & Country (Westland), Westland Bowl, Wayne Bowl and Lodge Lanes (Belleville).

For further information, call either Norm Kluska at 522-1243, Joyce Zelek, at 453-2388, or Hal Winters, at 459-5380.

For information on the Ward-Burger King Youth Traveling Classic League, call Betty Helder at 542-5690. The Sunday Youth Classic is another good one. Call Ed Wright at 477-5047, or Brenda McDonald at 474-0359.

Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington has openings for three more teams in the Wednesday 6:45 p.m. Men's Kegler's League. These are four-man teams. Also needing teams are the Thursday 8 p.m. Ladies, Friday 6:30 p.m. West Side Men's, and the Friday 9:30 p.m. Mixed.

Life's a squeal behind the wheel

By Sharon Dargay
staff writer

Staff photos by Jerry Zolynsky

The Queen of Westland? No, it's me in the Westland Festival parade.

Stopped at the Beer Depot in Westland for a bottle of pop from Shawnee Ramsey. Hey Shawnee, grab a bag of chips for me too.

Lynn Morrow gives curb side service at a garage sale in Southfield. Such bargains!

I'm a car potato. That's something like a couch potato with tires. I can balance enchiladas on my lap and sip coffee from a mug secured in a Kleenex box while cruising at expressway speeds. I can brush on eye shadow, read "Mobile Office Magazine," fix nail polish, and compose full sentences on Hardee's napkins at an idle. And I look forward to the day Michigan revises its driving test to reflect real life driving skills like the "one-handed grope through grocery bags for taco chips while backing out of a parking space at the supermarket" and the "stop eye shadow go/stop blusher go/stop lipstick go" maneuver for busy career women in bumper-to-bumper traffic. Stopping as close as possible to the bank's ATM machine without scraping off paint will end up replacing parallel parking on the road exam. And the drive-through car wash, oil change and party store will become a normal part of the testing route. When that happens, I'll be prepared because I spend a lot of time behind the wheel sharpening my skills. Some days I don't even get out of the car. In fact, it's possible to spend an entire day in the driver's seat running errands, dining out and goofing off. You can be a car potato, too. Just start your engines, keep an eye on these tips and cruise:

YOUR FIRST destination will set the tone of your behind-the-wheel odyssey, so start with something fun. A parade is a good bet. But which one? The neighborhood association's "tot'n'trike promenade" may be fine for the amateur, but remember there's no place to put the handlebar streamers and spoke flappers, so you'll lose points for appearance. Don't even think about entering Michigan's Thanksgiving Day Parade unless you're an expert at driving with an oversized paper-mache head. Even if you master this subtle art of masquerade, the little Shriner car will prove impractical later in the day when you cruise up to the ATM machine or take-out window.

A community parade, like Troy Daze on Sept. 23 or the Rochester Christmas parade on Dec. 2, may be the answer.

At Westland's Festival Parade, you might be lucky enough to find a spot between a marching band and Girl Scout Troop 947 from Patchin Elementary School, like I did this summer.

But before hitting the road (or the brass section, if you're a tailgater), consider car appearance and music.

You're going to drive the car all day, so keep decorations simple. A tasteful monogram on the hood made out of an old bathmat makes a sophisticated statement.

AND MUSIC? You're probably wondering, "Should I tow a child prodigy and his pipe organ on a flatbed or hire strolling accordian players?"

Sometimes a good car radio is all it takes. Me: I like Elvis Costello. Friend: Yeah, he's one of my faves. Me: But we're behind a marching band and we're going to hear their music.

Friend: Oh no we're not. Trust me. They're going to hear ours. Now let's see, where's that tape of "Squere?"

Crank up the stereo to full volume. And don't forget to wave to the crowd.

Next, tackle at least one errand. Maybe you need to drop off dry cleaning at the drive-up window of Birmingham Cleaners.

Or you've finished watching another Bob Hope-Bing Crosby "On the Road" video and happen to be near the Blockbuster Video drop box in Troy.

Or you're ready to take film to Kinetic Photo's drive-through processing lab in Royal Oak.

If it's time to re-stock the fridge with a few simple staples, head for The Beer Depot in Westland, a drive-through grocery store. It's the tunnel of love for people who count soda pop and candy bars among their objects of affection.

Scrub that hood / Make it shine / Melvindale cheerleaders make my car look fine. At right, a trip to the ATM for cash to go!

Film gore devalues life

Although this column strongly condemned the sadistic and repulsive displays of violence in Sam Raimi's "Darkman" and Jimmy Liffon's "Mirror, Mirror," other critics have been favorable in their assessments.

It's a shame that our society has so little regard of life that it spends millions for "entertainment" which depicts death. Mitch Albom summed it up extremely well in his Aug. 5 column headed, "For most people, death no big deal." "Our movie theaters are making people famous for simulated mass executions. All the carnage . . . robs us, bit by bit, of our horror, our outrage, until eventually we become inured to death, particularly the death of strangers. We surrender our compassion. We stop feeling for those who really suffer."

He's exactly right and all those who think gross and graphic displays of death and mutilation are entertaining, let me invite you to the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College in November for a screening of documentary footage shot in Nazi concentration camps during World War II. There will be an opportunity to compare footage of Nazi atrocities with some current horror films. A discussion will follow.

Watch this column for specific details as to time and place.

No new films opened this week but everyone's looking forward to next week's premiere of Meryl Streep and Shirley MacLaine in "Postcards From the Edge." Directed by Mike Nichols from a screenplay by Carrie Fisher based on her novel, "Postcards" should be one of the top attractions of the fall season. Music by Carly Simon and also starring Dennis Quaid.

STILL PLAYING:

"Air America" (B-, R, 105 minutes). The insanity of war and the human sorrow of Southeast Asia in a jumbled but interesting story about two CIA pilots in Laos. "Arachnophobia" (B-, PG-13, 95 minutes). Killer spiders from Venezuela are no match for Jeff Daniels despite his fear of furry little, eight-legged creatures.

"Darkman" (A, PG-13, 116 minutes). Unpleasant, sadistic horror film lacks credibility and continuity.

"Days of Thunder" (A-, PG-13, 116 minutes). Made to order for Cruise fans as Tom conquers machines (race cars), pretty girls (Nicole Kidman) and himself.

"Delta Force II" (R). Chuck Norris as Colonel Scott McCoy leading the Delta Force to rescue American DEA agents held captive by drug lords.

"Duck Tales: The Movie - Treasure of the Lost Lamp" (A, G, 70 minutes). Scrooge McDuck from daytime TV in an entertaining and exciting animated feature that owes a great debt to Indiana Jones.

"The Exorcist III" (R). Picks up where number one left off with an evil spirit inhabiting the priest's body.

"Flatliners" (B, R, 111 minutes). Moody, atmospheric, suspenseful story of five med students experimenting with death.

"Ghost" (A, PG-13, 116 minutes). Banker's ghost (Patrick Swayze) hangs around after life to protect loved one (Demi Moore). Spiritualist (Whoopi Goldberg) helps him and this romantic/comedy/thriller.

"The Jungle Book" (A, G, 78 minutes). Re-release of 1967 Disney animated feature.

"The Lemon Sisters" (C, PG-13). Diane Keaton, Carol Kane and Kathryn Grody in a deep friendship.

"Men at Work" (B+, PG-13, 92 minutes). Good entertainment in story of two garbage men who discover a body in the trash.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Jason Patric and Rachel Ward star as a pair of loners drawn to each other in "After Dark, My Sweet."

'After Dark' lacks visuals

By John Monaghan special writer

He shuffles aimlessly, punch-drunk down a lonely highway. He reaches a four-way stop and, instead of heading straight, turns off to the left. "They were pretty decent to me back there," says the voice-over narrator, "until I got restless."

The scene is vintage film noir, straight out of "Detour" or "The Postman Always Rings Twice." And while the evocatively titled "After Dark, My Sweet" touches on the classic noir themes of alienation, femme fatales, shady pasts, and multiple double crosses, the new film lacks the visual style to carry it off.

The source is a pulpy '50s paperback from late writer Jim Thompson. This "dime store Dostoyevsky," as one Village Voice writer hailed him, worked with Stanley Kubrick on "The Killing" and "Paths of Glory" before fading into obscurity. Now several directors are adapting his books.

In the story, an ex-boxer named "Kid" Collins has had one blow to his head too many. In flashback, we watch him kill a man in the ring — take off his gloves and beat the guy's brains out. Now, recently released from a mental institution, he falls head-first into a kidnapping scheme.

JASON PATRIC, hair going every which way and clothes you can practically smell, looks appropriately disheveled as Collins. Though fashionably unshaven, he's rarely romantic or handsome. The ubiquitous steamy sex scene with Rachel Ward is shot in a series of tasteful fade-outs — more nervous and awkward than passionate because you don't know if such extreme emotion will set him off.

Bruce Dern plays Uncle Bud, a tanned, gray-haired ex-police detective with a penchant for bright, wide-collared shirts. He's surprisingly low-key here, as if he's trying to make up for the movie's derelictiveness by offering an atypical performance.

"After Dark, My Sweet" needs Dern to jump-start it — a wild character or situation tossed in, perhaps a little humor. Instead, director and co-writer James Foley treats the tone of his source much too faithfully. It's appropriately existential and depressing but not very satisfying to watch.

It's not fair to criticize "After Dark, My Sweet" for being predictable. Still, it's hard not to think back to films like "Blood Simple" which breathed new and exciting life into an antique genre.

Like its boxer protagonist, "After Dark, My Sweet" weaves and wobbles around the screen with painful futility. Collins sums up the film himself in a line that harkens back to generations of film noir losers before him: "I was in a rut but had to follow it to the end of the line."

VIDEO VIEWING

Videos educate, entertain

By Dan Greenberg special writer

Before the onslaught of video horror releases for Halloween begins, take a look at some of the more redeeming materials released this month. Some of them are so good viewers may even learn something.

Prism Entertainment, associated with Paramount Home Video, has just released three new volumes in its "Tell Me Why" series, a video encyclopedia "designed to capture your child's imagination." Volume 16-18, "Sports and Games," "Science, Sound and Energy" and "Beginnings: Civilization and Government" complement the 15 previously released tapes.

Retailing for just under $15, these 30-minute tapes in color are billed as "suitable for all ages." Each tape is designed to convey basic information — for example, Volume 18 asks, "Why are there 12 jurors?"

The previously released titles are largely scientific — "Water and Weather," "Gems, Metals and Minerals," "Insects," "Mammals," and "Medicine" although in addition to the newly received "Sports and Games" and "Civilization and Government," Volume 6, "Americana" covers American History.

THESE VIDEOS are based on a series of books and newspaper columns by Arkady Leoukum with each volume answering over 50 questions with graphics and film footage. The series has garnered a lot of positive reviews.

While we're improving ourselves, let's do something on video for the environment. MCA/Universal Home Video's Sept. 13 release of "Help Save Planet Earth: Easy Ways to Make a Difference" offers practical and specific information for simple, daily activities which will help preserve our environment.

Hosted by Ted Danson, "Help Save Planet Earth" is a 71-minute, color video priced at $14.95 featuring Beau and Lloyd Bridges, Max Casella, Jaime Lee Curtis, Whoopi Goldberg, Sally Kellerman, Cheech Marin, John Ritter, Sinbad, Ketric Robin Wolfe and Milton Berle. That's quite a line-up.

Practicing what they preach, "Help Save Planet Earth" is produced on reclaimed tape stock and packaged in a sleeve produced from recycled board. An aqueous acrylic coating is utilized instead of the usual plastic coating so that the package itself is recyclable.

A portion of the proceeds from this video will be donated to the American Oceans Campaign, a non-profit, non-partisan national oceans advocacy organization. Here's a worthwhile, entertaining program offering a multitude of tips on how to save and improve our environment. Let's clean up our act, our backyards and the rest of the town as well.

AFTER ALL that education and environmental improvement, it's time for a little entertainment.

Tied in with their environmental salvage program, MCA/Universal is celebrating "Woody Woodpecker's" 50th Anniversary with a special edition of his cartoons. Woody is the official mascot for the national Parks and Conservation Association and as well as several other environmental and "Buckle-Up" safety-belt programs.

Each of the two Woody volumes being released include four cartoons running a total of 30-minutes. They're in color and retail for $12.95.

"Babar's First Step," first televised last year, is a 49-minute tape in which Babar recounts, for his son Alexander, an adventure from his youth. It's $14.95 from Family Home Entertainment who also are releasing "Black Beauty" and "Around the World in 80 Days" on September 13. Both are animated, 63 minutes long and first released on TV in 1989. Suggested retail is $14.95.

If cats are still chasing birds, then it's appropriate that "Garfield" follows Woody Woodpecker in his home video debut this month. "Here Comes Garfield," "Garfield on the Town" and "Garfield Goes Hollywood" each run 24 minutes and retail for $12.98.

For the grown-ups, three noted foreign films, several Bolshoi ballet performances and a prize-winning independent American film were added to the Connoisseur Video Collection last month.

Both Alain Resnais' "Last Year at Marienbad" (1961, B&W, 90 minutes) and "Les Choses De La Vie" (1970, color, 90 minutes) directed by Claude Sautet and starring Romy Schneider are in French with English sub-titles.

"Chinese Roulette" (1976, B&W, 98 minutes) is a lesser known film by Rainer Werner Fassbinder in German with English sub-titles. "Heat and Sunlight" (1987, B&W, 98 minutes) won the grand prize at the U.S. Film Festival and was directed by Rob Nilsson who also stars.

The Bolshoi performances, taped in the spring of 1989, feature "The Nutcracker," "The Sleeping Beauty," "Swan Lake" and "Raymonda."

thriller, directed by James Foley. Starring Jason Patric, Rachel Ward, and Bruce Dern.

MICHIGAN THEATRE, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor, 668-8397. ($4.50; $3.50 students/seniors)

"Without You, I'm Nothing" (USA - 1990). Through Sept. 13. Performance artist Sandra Bernhard's one-woman Off-Broadway show makes it to the screen in an occasionally profound, mostly pretentious discussion of everything from Barbra Streisand to sex.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" (USA - 1935). 9 p.m. Sept. 11-12. Great musical fun from Busby Berkeley, featuring the classic number "Lullaby of Broadway."

"Rebecca" (USA - 1940). Sept. 14-16. A 50th anniversary tribute to Alfred Hitchcock's first American film, about a young bride existing in the heavy shadow of her husband's late wife. With Joan Fontaine and Laurence Olivier.

"Ben Hur" (USA - 1959). 8 p.m. Sept. 15; 9 p.m. Sept. 16. Charlton Heston stars in this enjoyable, exciting epic set in the time of Christ. A must on the big screen.

Double feature — "Spellbound" (USA - 1945) and "My Little Chickadee" (USA - 1940). Starting at 7 p.m. Sept. 14-15. The monthly film series pair vintage comedies and dramas. STREET BEATS Beyond the lights, Largebeat rocks with a felaty '60s style of sound.

Bright lights and a Largebeat

By Jill Hamilton
Special writer

The first thing you notice at a Mr. Largebeat Existence show is the lights — two eerie ultra-violet lights, to be exact. They cast a weird psychedelic glow over the band and the specially painted back-drop. The effect is pure 1960s, reminiscent of lava lights, love beads and groovy music.

"The lights are our claim to fame," said Kurt VanderVoort, bassist for the group. "They're kind of fun, but I keep forgetting the sun screen. I feel like I should have plants on stage with me."

He laughs. But that's usual. VanderVoort is the kind of guy who seems like he laughs a lot. Nearly every sentence he says is punctuated by a laugh, a hearty and booming laugh. That's OK because his jokes are funny.

'The lights are our claim to fame. They're kind of fun, but I keep forgetting the sun screen. I feel like I should have plants on stage with me.'

— Kurt VanderVoort
bassist

Everyone in the band — Jim Gertz on vocals and theremin, Matt Brezinkski on drums and Dave Surovell on guitar — exudes this same sort of friendliness. Perhaps that's why these guys are so popular — they don't have the I'm-so-cool-because-I'm-a-giant-rock-star mentality.

Or maybe it's their '60s sound.

They, none too surprisingly, list the big guns of that era as influences — the Who, the Beatles, Pink Floyd and the Stones.

PART OF that '60s sound comes from Gertz's strange instrument, the aforementioned theremin. A theremin is one of the first synthesizers ever made, but it's not a keyboard. It has something to do with manipulating magnetic fields or some other such scientific thing. Jimmy Page used one in a few early Led Zeppelin tunes and old science fiction movies in the '50s used it to make eerie, outer space sounds.

"I saw a rerun of Andy Griffith," said VanderVoort, laughing, "and they used it to get a weird, spooky sound."

Apparently some people nowadays must like it because Mr. Largebeat is slowly attracting a devoted audience.

"It's the typical cliché," said VanderVoort. "We have a small but loyal following."

VanderVoort credited this to the band's ability to change their song list according to what type of audience they're playing for.

Toadstool works out the warts

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

A band whose subtleties are precious matched with a guy from a pedal to the metal outfit like Soul Asylum — Sounds like a studio tug-a-war leaving more than a few rope burns.

"Well, . . . not really," said Brad White, guitarist for the Twin/Tone band Toadstool who performs Tuesday, Sept. 11, at Club Heidelberg. "David (Pirner) is a pretty laid-back guy."

"Dynamics is very important to this band. If we had a little bit more time in the studio, it would've come out more. Like, perhaps, using a little more piano."

Piano? This is a Twin/Tone band we're talking about here. Loud, raucous, you know, the Replacements and Soul Asylum kind of thing.

But Toadstool is branching off with its own sound, which can be rough and tumble. On the band's debut LP "The Sun Highway," elements such as jazz rhythms, funk and folk are incorporated with the right amount of subtleties to elevate Toadstool beyond the often derivative thrash and trash lot.

THE BOSTON-BASED group has evolved from aforementioned company, breaking with its past. White remembers listening to Toadstool's early stuff and found the band had disturbing similarities to a number of other "rad" groups.

As a result, Toadstool is still defining its sometimes rhythmic, sometimes apocalyptic yet most of the time intriguing sound.

White's guitar style is the hallmark of Toadstool's sound. He can be as loud as a D.C. 10 upon take off. His better moments come when he experiments and veers off into his own private domain such as in the number "Labello Confessa."

A pair of numbers titled, "Bill's Chin" and "Bill's Gin" are performed in nine/eight time signatures to catch mood of the moment.

"He (Bill) is a fictitious character," White said. "John (Joyce, bassist) and I were walking up the highway after our van broke down."

BRICK BY BRICK

— Iggy Pop

It's a cold, cruel world out there, and Iggy Pop describes it vividly in Brick by Brick, his most recent release.

With a cast of musical heavies providing back-up, Pop sings, croons and talks his way through a listing of society's ills. In "Butt Town," for example, which brings to mind Hollywood, "Everyone's gazing/ at some body part/ that's the nature of art/in Butt Town."

It is closer to Butt Town than to Detroit that Iggy now lives — as best he can. "I'm sliding like a lizard on my belly and back/ It's a miracle I haven't fallen through any cracks," he tells us.

In one of the more moving songs, he delivers a lecture about America's penchant for getting fat, lazy, and self-important: "We're the undefeated/ TV in the shade/ girls at all our parties/ we have really got it made."

Iggy, who may qualify as an aging rock and roller, came to prominence with the 1980s band The Stooges, one of Michigan's greatest musical exports. Iggy and the Stooges were preludes to punk, and Iggy was known for outrageousness on stage. He would (and still does) dive into crowds, wave something (apparently now deemed) obscene, and generally work himself into a bloodied frenzy.

He has been living a more healthy existence these days, getting healthy, eating right and all that. It shows on "Step By Step," which sounds in spots and snatches positively acoustic and totally West Coast.

It was produced by Oak Park native and studio wunderkind Don Was, and features several other musical whizzes, among them members of the producer's band, Was (Not Was); John Hiatt, who contributes a song; session players Waddy Wachtel and David Lindley, who leads Iggy through a reggae beat on one tune; and Guns and Roses' Slash, who provides the guitar grind.

But lest we think he's getting too soft, he promises that he "won't crap out," in a song that includes an unexpected hail of curses.

COME DOWN HEAVY

— Thee Hypnotics

Dust off the lava lamp, get out the incense and pop in the latest tape "Come Down Heavy" from Thee Hypnotics and you may feel a bit like you've been caught in a time warp.

This British band believes the height of rock'n'roll was the Detroit sound circa 1969, and it shows in their style.

If history repeats itself it could very likely start on the wings of Jim Morrison and Keith Richard. In fact, their song "Resurrection Joe" sounds hauntingly like the Doors. The guitar style of Ray Hanson alone will bring you back to the era of "Hell No We Won't Go."

Their first cut "Half Man Half Boy," seems to bridge the gap a bit, it was a more modern INXS resemblance.

One of the best cuts of the bunch is the Jimi Hendrix facsimile called "Uncarthed." Of course this is understandable because Hanson attributes Hendrix as one of his biggest influences. Woodstock never really dies, it's just reborn in albums like "Come Down Heavy."

Here is a band from England with its roots in the American music of the late '60s early '70s, I like that.

This CD package offers 10 high-intensity songs that will interest those who want a no-nonsense, getting back to the basics feeling. They're well-known in London, but just starting to get exposure here in the states.

You may have a problem distinguishing these guys from the multitude of other bands out there trying to capture the same market. But has this style of music been over played? Have we heard enough? Nah, I like that old time rock'n'roll.

So if you're yearning for something new in the spirit of the old, give Thee Hypnotics "Come Down Heavy" a try, I think you'll be pleased.

PRETTY HATE MACHINE

— Nine Inch Nails

As it says on the sleeve, Nine Inch Nails is Trent Reznor.

This album, onTVT records, is his showcase. It is written, programmed, performed and produced by him. Yes . . . I did say programmed!!

Modern music, eh? My only exposure to the band was the video of NIN doing their single "Head Like a Hole," which is the lead off track of this album.

Anyone who has seen this band live (the video is filled with footage of the band playing live) will attest to the fact that it would not be a good idea to ask any member to babysit your pet poodle? Mr. Reznor has assembled a touring band that more resembles the cast from Mad Max than a rock'n'roll band.

The song itself also has a searing chorus with enough Ministry-style, chain-saw guitar to ensure instant eviction for anyone playing it above volume 2.

But a great song, nonetheless, dealing with the glorification and deification of materialism: "Bow down before the one you serve/

You're going to get what you deserve."

But what happens? The slide to mediocrity is swift.

It is followed by "Terrible Lie," a song of self doubt, looking for an answer to life, the universe and everything, berating God for not providing those answers to Mr. Reznor, who obviously deserves them.

On these occasions, musically NIN could be likened to an angry version of Depeche Mode without the melodic subtlety, with a penchant for religious undertones.

Reznor focuses on his self-pitying regrets and pseudo-religious paranoia best exemplified on "That's What I Get": "Just when everything was making sense, you took away all my self-confidence, now all that I've been hearing must be true/ I guess I'm not the only boy for you."

With "Head Like a Hole" and a disturbingly plaintive piano riff on "Something I Can Never Have" as exceptions, Pretty Hate Machine is somewhat of a disappointment.

Discovery masters difficulty

Dear Barbara:
How does an adult learn to face difficult situations and stop avoiding them?

Trying

Dear Trying:
I hope that you will sign your next letter "Succeeding."

An adult learns to face difficult situations in the same way that an intelligent child learns. If avoiding a difficult situation to an intelligent child means loss of dessert or TV privileges, then the smart child faces the difficult situation repeatedly until mastery is achieved. The child is then rewarded with feelings of pleasure, high self-esteem, confidence and chocolate cake.

Have you ever watched a child playing with a puzzle, succeeding in placing the various pieces in their correct slots, and then beaming with joy as he or she kisses each hand?

Children are curious and investigative. In the back of their mind they believe that they will be rewarded. As you ask the question in the letter, you are afraid that you will get hurt. Your frame of reference is defeat-minded. The healthy child is success-minded.

A higher percentage of adults than children feel defeated before they start. You are in that higher percentage. Why not recapture the childhood joy of mastering discovery?

TELE-ARTS THEATRE, 1540

John Joyce (left), Scott Sherman and Brad White make up Toadstool, which performs Tuesday at Club Heidelberg.

Toadstool: Loud and subtle

This guy comes stumbling down the highway. He has this big bottle of gin in one hand and a bottle of Sprite in the other. His eyes were lit up and his head was on fire. We said, "Wow."

Unfortunately for Toadstool, the band's debut album has not drawn such a response from college radio programmers. Cuts off "The Sun Highway" are only receiving a minimal amount of air play.

That doesn't appear to bother White too much. If anything, not being labeled as a trendy band seems to validate Toadstool's present course.

"WE DON'T have the impact of a particular sound that is considered chic right now," White said. "I think it's going to take some listening to us or seeing us. I think people have to come to us on our terms a little more."

Obviously, that will take time and touring. In Toadstool's brief two-year history, the band has remained grounded in the Midwest and on the East Coast.

The band formed in Minneapolis where White lived when he met up with Joyce, who performed with another Twin/Tone outfit, the Magnolias, on their first LP.

In the first year-and-a-half, the Toadstool had four different guys on the drum stool. Eventually, White and crew headed to his home town of Boston where they found Scott Sherman, who was a drummer with the Flies.

Finally, Toadstool entered Prince's purple palace, Paisley Park Studios to record the 12-song "The Sun Highway." Soul Asylum's Pirner was selected to produce the project.

"Overall, when you do your first record you take a shot in the dark and let someone lead you," White said. "Dave taught us some studio ethics and some other things."

"For David, it's kind of different. He's more like, 'Is this stuff necessary? Get to the point.' We thought the subtleties, the breaks here and there were important."

Toadstool will perform with the Magnolias on Tuesday, Sept. 11, at Club Heidelberg, 215 N. Main, Ann Arbor. For information, call 994-3562.

Largebeat lights them up

"We've learned about 12 old covers," he said. "That way, if an audience doesn't seem very receptive to Mr. Largebeat originals, they can start playing cover tunes."

"In a sense it's like being a chameleon."

For this ability they have been awarded with the usual pittance that musicians earn. VanderVoort recalled a time after playing a gig at an area nightclub when each of the band members had only earned about a dollar apiece. As they were leaving a man approached them asking for money. When they told the man they only had a dollar themselves, the man was shocked and told the band members they were definitely underpaid. He told the band in his day, musicians made good money.

VANDERVOORT AGREES with the assessment — being a musician is different than it used to be. He said that he has noticed a change in the music scene since the early 1980s.

"The bar scene has dried up," he added. "There used to be enough available places to sustain more bands. Now, bars can show more favoritism with bands."

It seems strange this would concern him. After all, Mr. Largebeat Existence seems to be on the good side of favoritism at several area clubs.

"We're one of the lucky ones," VanderVoort said.

Ineed.
For now, the band is starting work on a new 45 which they will record in a friend's studio. VanderVoort dismissed the band's earlier and mildly successful tape, "Sending Suzie Signals from Space," which was released at the beginning of the year. "It was just a practice for our 45," said VanderVoort.

So, if you own one of the earlier Mr. Largebeat Existence albums and you may think you may own one of their first records, you're wrong. Their real first record hasn't been released yet. So you'll just have to wait.

STREET CRACKS

'In Living Color' star turns laughs

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

There's no truth to the rumor boxer Tommy Hearns asked comedian Tommy Davidson for a rematch. But he should.

Davidson's impersonation of Sugar Ray Leonard is dead on. So is his stand-up routine, which has the comedy world abuzz.

He was recently picked as comedy's "Rising Star" by Rolling Stone magazine, has his own half-hour Showtime special, "Tommy Davidson: Takin' It to D.C.," and is generally lauded for his inventive style of humor. Davidson pulls into Detroit Saturday, Sept. 15, for Laugh Jam 1990 at ClubLand.

YET DAVIDSON'S biggest splash has probably come from being a regular on the Fox Network's surprise smash hit, "In Living Color," where his version of Leonard came to life in the gut-busting skit, "Three Champs and a Baby."

On the weekly half-hour show, Davidson can be seen as Abdul, the turbaned East Indian party store owner who carries an Uzi, or the baggy-drawered M.C. Hammer. You can't touch the success of "In Living Color."

"I knew it was funny," said the soft-spoken Davidson, 26. "All it had to do was get on the air. I knew it would do."

"So, I'm not surprised at all. I am surprised it got on the air."

And, with it, so has Davidson. He was originally tapped to play the role of Prince Akeem in the television version of "Coming to America." The pilot quickly came and went.

DAVIDSON SPENT the next few months performing at nightclubs and appearing on Arsenio Hall's late night show. Then he auditioned for a new comedy show produced by well-known funnyman Keenan Ivory Wayans.

The show has taken off. So, too, has Davidson's career.

"It's a combination of all those things — the writing, the acting. It's a good chemistry. We all work together to make it work. We have a good team of people."

The format is similar to "Saturday Night Live." But unlike SNL, "In Living Color" is limited to only 30 minutes of satire.

THERE'S ALREADY talk of doing a couple of hourlong shows this season, Davidson said.

Time demands, though, would be enormous, he said. To produce an episode of "In Living Color" takes five days of writing and rehearsals along with four to five hours in front of the camera.

"In Living Color" has allowed Davidson to take some chances, developing new characters while still parodying the real ones in life. Stand-up provided the perfect training ground.

"That's straight-up creativity in your mind. You've got to execute and make it work."

DAVIDSON MADE it work in some of the most trying places. He started at a Washington, D.C., topless bar, doing a 10-minute set.

"The audience treated me well. Ultimately, I had to get the hell out of there."

He did. From bare-chested dancers, Davidson was soon opening for Patti LaBelle, Anita Baker, Luther Vandross, Al Jarreau and Kenny G.

DAVIDSON'S HUMOR has been lauded for its originality without resorting to gutter language.

While others impersonate the easy-to-caricature, such as Jack Nicholson and Mike Tyson, he's mimicking people like M.C. Hammer and Sugar Ray Leonard. The latter was quite impressed.

"Yeah, I got the word that he loved it."

Perhaps so would boxing promoter Don King.

Tommy Davidson will perform with rhythm and blues/jazz performers Pieces of a Dream, and Detroit comedian Downtown Tony Brown, at Laugh Jam 1990 on Saturday, Sept. 15, at ClubLand in Detroit. Tickets are $15. To order tickets by phone, call 645-6666.

Tommy Davidson, who is a regular on "In Living Color," is becoming one of comedy's hottest acts.

JACOB'S LADDER HUNKER HAUSER

Time to order dinner from the drive through phone. Maybe a salad. A few minutes later Chris Soechtig arrives with the chow. Ahhh, a romantic dinner for two - me and the car - at Quarton Lake.

Car potato peels out for the day

THE CINDERBLOCK building, decorated with beer and ice signs, has been a fixture on Merriman Road since 1959.

Shawnee Ramsey of Westland is one of the employees who wait inside the darkened passageway for cars, fetching peanuts, bread, chewing tobacco and other essentials off the shelf.

She exchanges cash for snacks as your car slowly rolls through this high calorie assembly line.

If the Beer Depot's beef jerky sticks are making you long for lunch, stow the groceries, skip the fast food drive-through window, (you ate at one for breakfast, right?) and order at one of those eat-in-your-car-and-drip-mustard-on-the-upholstery style restaurants.

Car hops still take orders windowside from A&W in Troy. At Rit's in Allen Park, you can watch whirlygigs twirl and listen to sea shell ornaments clatter in the breeze. Grab a menu from the Classic Coke six-pack holder that has been flattened sideways and tacked to a canopy support beam. Order the cheeseburger special for $1.40.

AND HEY, just becuz the sign up front says "flash your lights for service," it don't mean you really have to, OK? 'Cuz the waitress sees ya, so keep your shirt on, like, and she'll be there in a minute. Just make up your mind what you want already, 'cuz the kitchen's really busy. And when the waitress says "NO PICTURES," she means it, creep.

Boy, are you messy. You dribbled a gallon of root beer and spilled onion rings on the Turtle Wax finish.

You could use a good hosing. Might as well have your car washed at the same time, too.

You might consider a drive-through place, like the Tunnel O' Suds in Troy, a watery nirvana that requires you to close windows and hoist the convertible top.

But nothing beats a soap-up and rinse-off by a crew of teenagers like the Melvindale High School cheerleaders.

You won't hear the swish of mechanized brushes, but you'll get live conversation like "Gimmie the hose" and "Did you do the window? It looks kinda sloppy."

They'll do a nice job even with the convertible top down. Give 'em an extra few bucks and realize that you forgot to tip the car hop.

IF YOUR wallet is near empty, zip through the automatic teller machine. Or look for the kind of bargains that bring out shoppers in droves to the Southhampton Neighborhood Association's occasional garage sales in Southfield.

Pull into Bob Gilmore's driveway on New Hampshire and he may bounce a free tennis ball your way. While you're admiring his old tinker toys and sunlamp, helpful neighbor Lynn Morrow will give you curbside service.

"Everything is a bargain. This is cute. It's a milk glass," she says, handing over a white vase for $1. "The most opportunistic thing about this is getting your garage cleaned out."

George Young, a Detroit actor, association president and author of a how-to book about acting in commercials, may give you a free copy, if you play your cards right. "It's the most excitement we've seen in 10 years," he says. "This isn't only a garage sale but time for fun in the neighborhood."

The perfect end to a car potato's day - fireworks in Southfield.

But all fun must come to an end. Finish your grocery shopping with a stop at a roadside fruit and vegetable stand along a country road in Rochester Hills or Canton Township. Then head for Eight Mile and Southfield where vendors hawk thorny roses to motorists.

KEEP CONVERSATIONS while you fork over your $5:

"Who do you sell these for?" "We just do it ourselves," explains a guy named Ron, who doesn't look like a Moonie or Krishna follower. "I need to work some way, I'm helping that guy over there out. He is from the Vietnam War."

That's about as much explanation as you'll get before the traffic light changes and drivers start leaning on their horns.

Don't bait them into a traffic squabble, hook a fish instead.

Kent Lake at Kensington Metro Park is swimming with sunfish, bass, walleye and northern pike. Just make sure you've got a fishing license. And remember, the beach, nature area and boat rental are off limits. Any shore-fishing areas are fair game for anglers, although casting from the front seat might require the skills of a major league pitcher.

"You have to cast it a good 50 feet," warns Bill Rose, park ranger. "The idea is to get out of the car and enjoy the outdoors."

You can always pay a kid to run your line to the water.

IF A LARGE mouth bass isn't your idea of the perfect passenger, skip the lake and head for solitude at Manresa Jesuit Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills. You can cruise past the placid gazes of religious statues scattered throughout the center, almost touching a few within arm's reach of the driveway.

If your taste runs toward the avant-garde, head for Tyree Guyton's funky street art. The group of houses in the Heidelberg-Mt. Elliott area of Detroit have been reconditioned with a collection of toys, tires, car parts and other junk.

Keep binoculars ready to study detail of each sculpture or to watch a spirited game of soccer at one of nine playing areas in Troy's Fire-fighter Park.

Use your cellular telephone (or find a drive-up version) to call Door-to-Door delivery service for your picnic at Quarton Lake in Birmingham.

Park on the east side within view of the ducks and wildly flag down the delivery truck.

WHILE WAITER Chris Soechtig serves your entree, light candles and prop the roses in a vase. Save a few crumbs for your feathered friends and dump the plastic containers in a roadside trash barrel at the park.

Before the sun sets completely, find a first-row parking space at the Commerce Drive-in on Richardson at the west end of Haggarty in Commerce Township. The double feature starts at 8:45 p.m.

If it's a holiday weekend, skip the movies and look for community fireworks. Southfield's annual summer festival display keeps the crowd in awe for more than 90 minutes.

That's it. The perfect day for a car potato.

And now you're thinking about buying a motorcycle?

Well, that's a whole other story

Strive for quality, not for perfection

Q: My company is pushing the idea of "quality" to the extent that it's almost ridiculous. I work for a large corporation and, because of the Japanese influence I guess, they expect employees to make zero mistakes. At the same time, we are experiencing cost cutbacks with a resulting head-count reduction, which puts more work on those of us who are left. Since I've always heard (and have read in your column) that perfectionism is a waste of time, how do you correlate these two concepts?

thing possesses." One of the definitions for "perfectionism" is "extreme or obsessive striving for perfection, as in one's work."

While the descriptions are similar, the words "extreme or obsessive" set them apart. There is quality (or excellence) within reason, and there is perfectionism, which sometimes transcends reason.

I will be discussing this in more detail in my upcoming business seminar series at Schoolcraft College next week. The idea, however, is that you can do high quality work without going to the point of perfection.

For instance, it's excellent to maintain contacts with clients by sending them interesting newspaper articles that might benefit them. It's perfectionism, however, to write and re-write a cover letter 14 times before you get it just right, instead of jotting off a quick handwritten note to accompany the article.

In other words, you need to make sure you do your work well, but it's a waste of time to get caught up in perfecting relatively unimportant things that produce no yield. That's the difference between quality and perfectionism.

You can enroll in Dorothy Lehmkuhl's "Organizing Your Business Life" seminar series at Schoolcraft College by calling 462-4448, or her "Organizing for Success" classes at the Birmingham Community house by calling 644-5832.

The cut-away drawing of this Tri-Steel "Lifetime" house shows the features of the steel frame construction. They include: 1. bolt-together steel columns and rafters; 2. metal roof purlins; 3. eight-inch steel stud system for exterior walls; 4.

metal framing components for all dormers, roof and porch eaves; 5. metal sub-facia material for roof overhang; 6. 3 5/8-inch metal studs and track for interior walls; 7. metal furring channels for ceiling surfaces.

Steel frames seeking builder acceptance

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Residential construction is borrowing a page from the office and commercial construction industry manual — steel framing.

Steel frame homes, nearly unheard of in Michigan, may become a more important part of home construction as wood prices rise.

Kevin Adams, a former Farmington Hills resident and a builder of steel frame homes in Onsted near Irish Hills, stressed steel frame homes are not pre-fab or modular homes.

"They look exactly like conventional wood frame homes when completed," Adams said.

Adams started building homes six months ago and chose steel framing because of his background in mechanical engineering leads him to believe there are advantages to steel frame homes.

"The main advantage of steel is the strength of materials," Adams said. Greater strength allows larger spans — which create more open space within the home — and more flexible floor plans because interior walls are not needed to support weight.

Steel frame homes are also more energy efficient because, since the steel frames are wider than wood studs, they permit a greater degree of insulation in the walls and ceilings, he said.

"The insulation also creates a quieter home," Adams said.

STEEL FRAME homes are built so light they require an air-to-air heat exchanger — a filtering system that allows old, stale air to leave the home while transferring heat from the exiting air to the incoming air.

And finally, there is perhaps an environmental reason for building steel frame as opposed to wood homes, Adams said.

"I used to live in Oregon and if you've ever seen the barren mountains that used to have trees on them, you have to wonder where all the wood has gone."

Adams said that business is still slow, but he's optimistic that steel frame homes will take off.

"We had a lot of inquiries, but most people are waiting to see some finished homes before making any decisions."

New ideas take time, he said, adding that he plans to build mainly custom homes at first, but intends to branch out into subdivisions as business grows.

William Ku, president of architectural firm Yamasaki Associates in Troy, said that 30 years ago he tried his hand at building steel frame homes because "it was a time of experimentation — it was during the building boom (of the late 1950s and early 1960s) war, and people were building different ways to see what could be done."

ULTIMATELY, it was not practical, Ku said. "You just couldn't compete with the other builders."

"With one or two houses, it can work — it's not so much of a problem, but with larger projects building steel frame homes was too expensive, and the steel was harder to work with," he said.

"It was all right for small-scale building, but not for normal, mass-production housing," Ku said.

The main advantage of steel framing — its strength — was not enough to outweigh the advantage of wood — its cost.

"You would see it in high rise residential housing and commercial and office, but not homes."

Wood has had sufficient strength for most residential homes because load-bearing and exterior walls do not need to hold up as much weight as large apartment, commercial and office buildings.

Steel does offer some advantages because of its greater strength and resistance to termites, Ku continued, but unless the cost is brought down substantially, he doubts steel frame homes will ever catch on.

BUT ALL THAT may be changing, according to Richard Calooy of Tri-

Steel Structure Inc., a Dallas firm that specializes in steel frame home packages.

In the last decade, wood prices have increased and steel prices have remained stable or have fallen, Calooy said.

Furthermore, the quality of wood today has suffered, Calooy said.

"The Grade A wood of today is not the same Grade A wood of yesterday."

In the past, wood frame homes were built from mature trees. Today's wood frame homes are made from relatively young trees, he said. Wood from immature trees warps more and has less strength.

The quality of steel can be made consistent, Calooy said.

Steel frame homes can also be less expensive, he said. Because steel can be pre-engineered, it can be assembled quickly. Also, because less steel is required to achieve the strength and durability of wood, steel is lighter.

In some cases, he said, wood is still cheaper. "Once (the house) gets below 2,500 square feet, it's probably faster and cheaper to go with wood because you can't take advantage of the economies of scale."

In homes larger than 2,500 square feet, steel frame homes are also built at a comparable price to wood frame homes, generally costing $60 to $80 per square foot, he said.

WHILE MATERIALS are slightly more expensive, simplicity and ease of assembly helps even out the costs, Calooy said.

Steel frame homes are sent in component form, and are "stick-built" on site just as a conventional wood frame home is built, but pieces are pre-sized, pre-drilled and labeled for quick construction.

Calooy said geography and traditional building practices dictate the use of steel as opposed to wood framing in homes, which is why Michigan homes are predominantly made from wood frames.

Policies require enforcement

Our condominium has a prohibition on landscaping property without the association's approval. Our developer has allowed purchasers to do almost anything they want around their unit. Now the board has taken over and wants to impose some restrictions. How should we proceed?

This is a classic problem at condominiums because developers who have controlled their associations do not follow restrictions they have established in the documents. This not only leads to potential liability for the developer-director designees on the board, but also creates the problems you mentioned. The association should establish a firm landscaping policy and enforce it. To the extent that the developer has allowed modifications to be made, and those modifications are not within the landscaping plan, attempts should be made to compel the co-owners, to the extent reasonable, to make the necessary changes. Hopefully, the co-owners will understand that the association must maintain a consistent and realistic policy with respect to landscaping, as is the case with any other type of aesthetic restriction in the condominium documents. You may well be advised to consult with legal counsel as to how far you may go in dealing with recalcitrant co-owners under the circumstances.

For cooperative is considering converting to a condominium. We have heard that it may be a good economic vehicle for us to liquidate our units at a much higher price. Do you have any experience in this regard?

It is not unreasonable to expect at least a 30 percent increase in the value of a unit once it is converted from a co-op to a condominium in certain locations. One of the reasons for the marked increase is that co-operative housing is not as easily marketable because financing is extremely difficult to obtain. Obviously, condominiums are much more widely accepted in certain locales and are readily able to be financed in most markets. In some locales, there is a stigma of co-ops being substandard housing, which brings down the market value of the units, but is not universal by any means.

Our documents preclude co-owners from operating a business out of their unit. We have three lawyers in our complex who use their homes not only as a passive office but entertain guests or clients there. Is there anything we can do about it?

This is a difficult question. Obviously, your documents do not cover this point, and it may be a good idea to amend the documents to provide exactly what is meant by a commercial enterprise as opposed to the use of a home for strictly residential purposes that may mean, on occasion, "doing work at home." To the extent that the lawyer is using his home not only as an office for conducting paperwork, but also for seeing clients on a regular basis, you may have a good argument for pursuing that argument. Of course, you know what happens when you pursue attorneys, it is likely they will fight back. That is not a reason for you to not pursue any co-owner whenever there is a violation of the condominium documents.

You are invited to submit topics about condominiums that you would like to see discussed in this column by writing Robert M. Meisner at 30200 Telegraph Road, Suite 467, Birmingham 48010. This column provides general information and should not be construed as legal opinion.

Attempts should be made to compel the co-owners, to the extent reasonable, to make the necessary changes.

Ad consultant addresses BASM

The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM) will offer a half-day seminar on Monday, Sept. 17, to help builders make their advertising more cost effective while increasing sales.

Kevin J. Pfeiffer, a California consultant, will conduct the seminar.

The program will include how much should be spent on advertising, how often an ad campaign should run before changing it, the optimum frequency and size of ads, and the basic checklist to review before running an ad.

Pfeiffer's presentation also will include setting up an in-house ad agency, how to work more effectively with an advertising agency, and setting up an effective marketing budget.

The seminar will begin with lunch at noon and the program will be held 1-5 p.m. at the Clarion Hotel on 12 Mile Road, west of Orchard Lake Road (at the I-696 ramp) in Farmington Hills.

Registration fees for BASM members are $60 including lunch and $50 for the seminar only. Non-members are $70 for the program and lunch, $80 for the seminar only. For registration information, call 737-4477.
