Council turns channel, considers televised meetings

ing Monday asked council legislative assistant Joseph Benyo to rescarch how other communities have handied televised meetings. He request-ed a report by Nov. 30 and urged the council to look into the matter at a study session the second week in December.

Pickering said the council should consider either live or taped broadcasts on Channel 8, which is operat-

The request appeared to be motivated in part by Mayor Robert Thomas' plan to host a regular cable call-in show. The council voted 4-3 Monday to buy a four-line tele-phone/audio system for $1,730 for the mayor's live show.

Some council members said they were concerned about the mayor's increasing presence on cable television and the planned subject matter of his show.

BUT PICKERING also spoke about making use of the technology to better inform Westland residents. Benyo said Tuesday the request caught him by surprise, but added that he planned to begin mailing out survey forms as early as this week.

It still must be approved by the appropriations committee and then the full House and Senate before being signed by Gov. James Blanchard.

Mayor Robert Thomas confirmed Tuesday that the proposed library appropriation was on his agenda of a scheduled meeting with Faust in Lansing. Thomas said he was going to Lansing "to lend my support" for the proposal in hearings before the appropriations committee,

"HOPEFULLY, THIS is going to be a new dawn for library services in our area," Faust said Tuesday.

However, the senator remained cautious about eventual approval of the measure. "We've only made it past one step. There's still a long way to go," he said. Faust's proposal calls for an allo-cation of $1.375 million for construction of a Westland library in the state's 1990-91 budget. An additional $625,000 would be appropriated in the 1991-92 budget. The Wayne-Westland library would get $600,000 for a major ex-pansion and renovation, bringing the total value of the package to $2.6 million.

Faust said he began working on the proposal after meeting with the Wayne-Westland library board last winter. "They told me of their frustrations with the Wayne building. I know that federal funds have dried

They (voters) defeated a couple of millages but there's still a lot of support in the community," Thomas said Tuesday. "I think a lot of people would still want to have a library. They just weren't happy with proposals that asked them to pay for. construction."

Voters rejected a millage for con-struction of a new library by 53 to 47. percent in 1985.

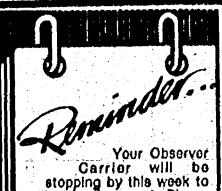

In 1987, a similar tax increase proposal lost by a 2-1 margin, although backers conceded it may have been huit by a tax increase proposal to pay for increased fire protection services on the same bal-lot. That proposal was also beaten handily.

The cities of Westland and Wayne approved $35,000 in renovations at the existing library following the defeat, including replacement of worn ceiling panels and new carpeting for the facility, originally built in the mld-1950s.

Three years ago, construction was pegged at $2 million and prelimi-nary plans for a 23,000 square-foot what's inside City tests junkyard for toxic materials

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

A Newburgh junkyard will be allowed to continue operating while officials soll test the city-owned site for toxic and flammable chemicals, Mayor Robert Thomas said Tuesday.

But Thomas said he hopes to be able to eventually close down Worldwide Auto and Truck Salvage on Newburgh, south of Cherry Hill, which he called "a disaster" and "a pigsty" during Monday night's Westland City Council meeting. The council meanwhile tabled a renewal of World Wide's already-expired license until a Sept. 25 trial in 18th District Court for 17 outstanding ordinance violations issued against the business last summer.

Violations included one for improper storage of compressed gas cylinders and another for failing to provide an approved metal storage locker for combustible/flammable llaulds.

Other violations concern a 2,500 cubic-foot section of the yard stacked with old tires, which Thomas called a major fire hazard and a fence surrounding the property that has fallen into severe disrepair.

Taylor, who requested a public hearing in front of the council, ad-mitted after the hearing that her rent had been in arrears and that she has had rent checks returned by the bank for insufficient funds during the eight years she has owned the business.

Taylor's business license expired June 30.

In a brief interview outside the council chambers, Taylor referred to the violations as "housekeeping problems" and said that the may had personal reasons for wanting to close her yard. "Is it personal? You bet it's personal. He just wants us out of business," Taylor said. She declined to speculate on Thomas' reason for wanting the business closed.

Council OKs DPS building renovations

The city of Westland's department of public services building on Marquette, east of Newburgh, is next on the city's remodeling list.

The City Council voted unanlmously Monday to approve $92,200 in renovations for the city structure.

The city completed $400,000 worth of renovations at city hall last year and earlier this month author-ized an additional $31,644 for replacement of that building's air conditioning system.

The DPS building work, to be done by low bidder Corona Construction Inc. of Livonia, includes remodeling the general offices and superintendent office areas and replacing existing windows with energy-efficient glass.

The work should begin next week, said Richard Dittmar, DPS director. Although the project was approved, the amount of money previ-

Dittmar said the $92,200 bid didn't include architectural costs for the project, which he estimated at about $10,000.

'Freedom of choice', paternity testing bills moving forward

By Tim Richard staff writer

Two of the Michigan Legislature's best known women - Rep. Maxine Berman and Sen. Connie Binsfeld advanced pet bills toward final passage Tuesday.

sion into private decisions," Berman got votes from 10 of the 19 Judiciary members for her House Bill 5211.

The action came six days after the Legislature adopted a "parental consent" law under which girls 17 and younger seekig an abortion must obtain the written consent of a parent or probate judge. Berman had bltterly fought the Initiative by Right to Life of Michigan.

Chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, used the one-hour hearing to berate the opposing RTL lobbyist. "Ed Rivet has to earn his grits today on behalf of the so-called Right to Life ... this so-called organization."

Rivet called Berman's bill "extremist - more radical than Roe v. Wade (the 1973 U.S. Supreme Court decision overturning anti-abortion laws) because it (the court decision) Binsfeld, R-Maple City, saw her at least recognizes the rights of unborn children."

"Michigan is tied with Mississippi as the two states with the highest proportions of their populations on AFDC (aid to families with dependent children)."

Binsfeld was the lone speaker as the bill routinely advanced to third (final) reading at press time.

County parks sets sight on a 'garden spot'

Imagine a setting of lush green, edged on one side with mature weeping willows wending along the Rouge River. In the background stand two historical structures, restored to picturesque splendor. A riot of color, the smell of roses in full bloom. Scenic, enchanting, romantic.

Legislature moves closer on patient rights

By Tim Richard staff writer

After 16 years, a patients' rights bill with a chance of passage is on its way to the Senate after approval in the House.

All the interest groups approved the sponsor, Rep. David Hollister, patients. D-Lansing, Right to Life, the Michlgan Catholic Conference, the Michigan Seniors Advisory Council and even the Hemlock Society.

"Don't call it a 'right to die' bill," ville, vice chair of the Senate Human Resources Committee which last week gave it a 3-1 recommendation.

HOUSE BILL 4016 contains many procedural safeguards, Hollister's aide told the panel during a 45-minute hearing last week;

• Two_witnesses would have to attest to the patient's granting of power to an advocate, and the wit-

• If the patient advocate were a spouse, a divorce or annulment, would automatically terminate the grant. The advocate's power would be suspended during divorce proceedings.

• A probate court would determine the patient's capacity to make decisions in event of a dispute, acting within seven days of receiving a petition.

• A probate court could resolve disputes over whether the patient advocate failed to comply with the patient's desires.

• If a patient were pregnant, the advocate could not make a medical decision to withhold treatment that would result in her death.

• The bill could not be construed to condone suicide or homicide.

At all times, patients would be encouraged to prescribe the extent to which they wish to be treated whether it be to pull out the stops to cure, or pull the plug.

THE LONE dissent on the Senate panel came from Gil DiNello, D-East Detroit, who said he hadn't read the bill, was unsure what it was intended to do and "am not prepared to vote on it at this time."

Supporters were Geake, chairman Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, and John Cherry, D-Clio.

"This legislation has been drafted with an eye to the courts," said Dillingham. "This is a highly litigated area" -- a reference to the U.S. Supreme Court's 5-4 decision upholding Missouri law in the Nancy Cruzan case. Cruzan, 32, is in a vegetative coma, but never signed a document saying she might want her feeding tube disconnected.

Dillingham, concerned that "Michigan is quickly gaining the reputation for being an assisted suicide haven," is drafting a bill to prohibit assisting in a suicide. It is due for introduction this week.

Dillingham said the patient advocate and assisted suicide issues are related but stopped short of saying he wanted to tie-bar them. A tie-bar

JANET GOOD of Farmington Hills, representing the Hemlock Soclety of Michigan, said Michigan is "one of six states without a living will law . . . I've never heard anyone say, 'Please keep me alive with feeding tubes in my stomach, please keep me alive with tubes in my nose, please keep me alive with pounding machines in my ear.'...

"Medicine can prolong dying but not its inevitability," Good said.

Bill lets patients decide care

By Tim Richard staff writer

A "medical self-determination" bill is on its way - again - to the state House of Representatives after an easy victory in the Judiciary Committee.

House Bill 4174 would allow an adult (age 18) of sound mind to authorize the extent of medical intervention - from pulling out all the stops for a cure or pulling the plug for ending treatment.

Sponsor Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, sees it as a companion measure to the "patient advocate" bill of Rep. David Hollister, D-East Lansing. Hollister's bill is on the Senate calendar after House approval and a Senate committee recommendation.

"HOLLISTER'S bill designates an agent to make medical decisions," said Bullard when asked to explain the difference. "It has a lot of limitations.

"My bill is medical self-determination to allow a person to specify, in writing, the type of care, experimental use, or ending of care he or she wants. Forty_states have this kind of living will.

"A patient advocate can work with our legislation," Bullard said.

Bullard's House Bill 4174 reached the House floor in spring but was kicked back to his committee. Tuesday there were two negative votes and five absences on the 19-member, sist suicides.

panel. Among the missing was Rep. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Supporters saw Bullard's bill as an answer to the problem raised by the said the family of the 32-year-old woman in a vegetative coma could not authorize ending treatment because Missouri law required a written instrument from the patient.

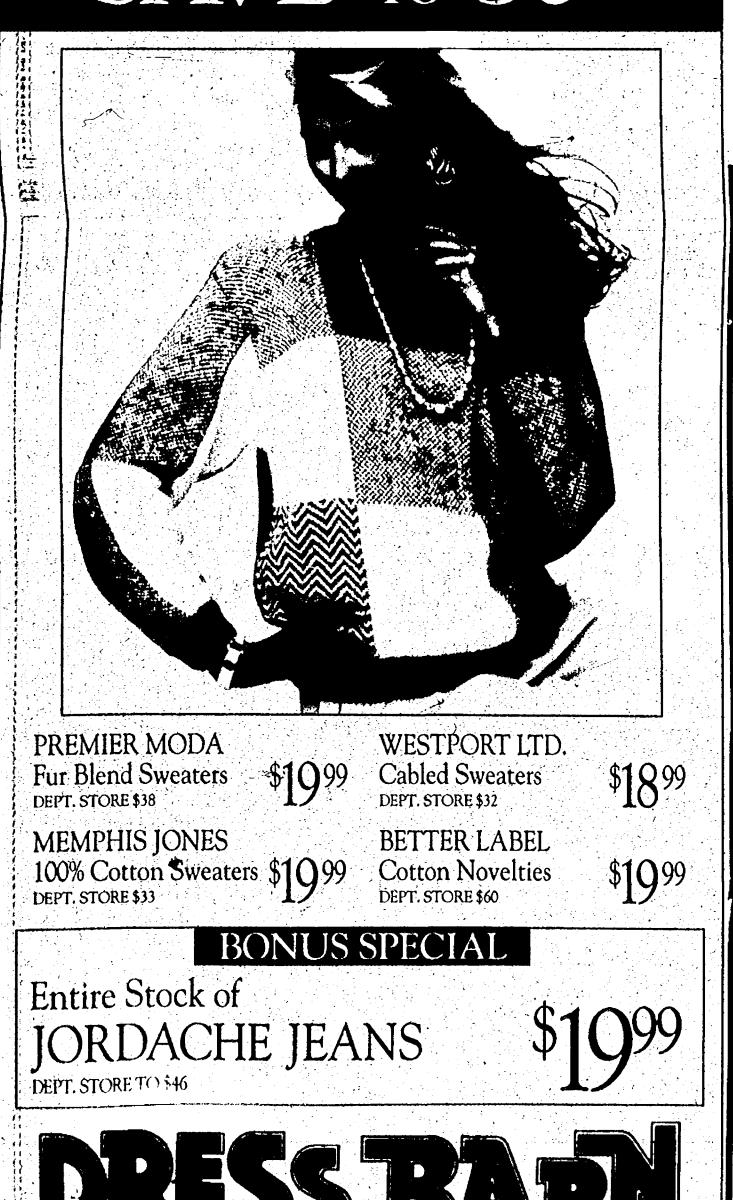

BULLARD TOOK an oral shot at Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, whose committee moved Hol-, lister's patient advocate bill to the Senate floor.

Dillingham said he will not seek a Senate vote until Bullard's committee advances a bill to prohibit assisted suicides and punish those who as-

Polluters pay bill sails through state House

By Tim Richard staff writer

A "polluters pay" bill sailed through the Michigan House of Representatives on a 92 to 3 vote, and Rep. Jan Dolan thinks she knows why,

"We used a different process (from the Senate, which in June defeated a similar bill)," said Dolan, R.

special six-member committee that refined the bill during the summer.

The panel was chaired by House Conservation Committee chair Tom Alley, D-West Branch, a former teacher.

House Bill 5878 now goes to the Senate.

senators (who voted no)," Stypula and asked him to work on it. It the last few months."

It was more like a seminar, with up by the polluters rather than by taxpayers. A board of scientists would resolve cases where shares of the cost are contested.

> Dolan said that where there's an "orphan share" - say, a polluting company is dissolved - its share can be-divided among other polluters.

> Two years after this takes effect," she said, "a citizens board will review the act to find out, is it working? Then we can fine-tune it."

Michigan has a cleanup law called Public Act 307 that requires court procedures. "Only 104 sites have been cleaned up out of 2,700-plus in all the year this PA 307 has been in effect. It's just not progressing," Dolan said.

ALL AREA lawmakers voted yes except Democrats William Keith of Garden City and Justine Barns of morning Debate revolved entirely around amendments, all rejected, offered by . Rep. Tom Power, R-Traverse City.

"On the whole, it is an environmental bill, but why this exemption for local governments? The state can also go through a procedure and. avoid liability," Power said.

Alley replied that Power's amendment would undermine state efforts to encourage smaller, older cities to redevelop property.

Power also sought an amendment, to give non-bank lenders the same, exemption as banks. "This is terrible. Suppose you lend $40,000 to a nephew to start a business 800 miles away. The business fails, and you have to foreclose. You have tremen--dous exposure to liability. If the bank closes, the bank doesn't have llability," he said.

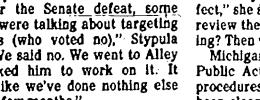

We've bent over backwards."

We went away on kind of a DON STYPULA, publicist for the retreat - four hours one evening, all day the next day to 1:30 in the morning. Normally you (a committee) "After the Senate defeat, some meet a couple of hours every Tues-" groups were talking about targeting day morning. "We sat around a table." Dolan said. "We said no. Council meetings due on TV 7ESTLAND RESIDENTS may get a chance to see their elected city council members in action on cable TV -finally.

fäll. Last spring, an Observer survey revealed that many neighboring communities have live or taped coverage of government meetings. Even communities far smaller than Westland and those that spent far less on cable television than Westland's $463,932 in fiscal 1990 provided this service.

Although councilman Pickering's request may have been made in part for political reasons -to counter Mayor Robert Thomas' increasing presence on the city's cable television station we nonetheless applaud the councilman's initiative.

AS WE'VE SAID before, televised council meetings would help ensure that both residents and elected officials could fulfill their responsibilities when it comes to local government. For residents, that means fulfilling an obligation to stay informed. For officials, it means operating as much as possible within the public eye.

Our first choice would be do have live coverage of council meetings. But if that isn't practical, then a taping for later telecast would be a good second choice.

The arguments for cable coverage certainly outweigh any negative points raised by opponents, who cite worries of a "circus" atmosphere or the need for additional equipment to do the job right.

The cable coverage works in other communities and there is no reason it shouldn't in Westland, a city of 85,000 people.

The bottom line is the public's access and knowledge of what the city officials are doing will only benefit everyone involved.

Student skills the key to better schools

I TOOK MY 8-year-old son down the drive to wait for the school bus. He's in third grade this year in a public school that seems to be challenging his mind and nourishing his spirit.

As he climbed aboard the bus, I had that same proud/scared feeling most of us experience when our children do something big by themselves - the opening of school or going to camp for the first time. You feel sad/happy at the end of summer and turning of leaves; sum-mer is over; children go off to school; the work year is coming.

And since schools are likely to be a big topic this election year, a quick how much money should go to which school districts? What taxes should be levied for education? School finance is one of the biggest "no winner" issues in all of Michigan. Gov. James Blanchard and the House have been fighting with John Engler and the Senate about what to do and whom to blame for lack of action. Business lobbles have looked on education finance reforms as an excuse for a big tax cut. The Michigan Education Association has looked at it as a chance to get more money for its members. Suburban school districts have looked on in horror as more money has been shifted to poorer areas. In politics there is a rule of thumb: Don't concentrate on issues that set themselves as a zero sum game that is, where any result involves a winner and a loser with no possibili-ty of mutually beneficial compromise. School finance is such an issue. As long as everybody keeps concentrating on this part of the problem, nothing will happen. Moreover, a good deal of evidence says the amount of money a school district spends has little to do with the kind of education kids actually get. The average salary for elementary school teachers here ranks sixth in the nation, while secondary teachers place ninth.

sion, while others want fundamentally to change the way teachers are trained.

The State Board of Education urges concentrating on learning outcomes, but then puts into place a. complex and bureaucratic way of defining just what is to be done.

The endless rhetoric sounds g

Foes should topple state law

T WAS WITH disappointment that we viewed passage of the parental consent ·legislation which requires unmarried girls 17 and younger to receive permission from either their parents or a judge before receiving an abortion.

But we cannot imagine the horror of pregnant teens who cannot, for whatever reason, go to their parents or go through the legal system of appealing to a judge for written consent to abort. a fetus.

My mother would kill me if I got pregnant," said a 15-year-old sophomore from Plymouth-Salem High School recently interviewed by an Observer & Eccentric reporter.

"If you're old enough to get pregnant, you're old enough to make the decision," said 17-yearold Abbey of West Bloomfield High School.

While some girls interviewed acknowledged he need for some kind of advice from an older edult, they are quick to say that parents wouldn't understand. And some students, like Allison at Seaholm High in Birmingham, also talk fearfully about botched abortions and suicide attempts. Those aren't scare tactics; they're reality in the world of a teenager. None of the students, like none of the pro-life members, mentioned sex education. In fact, if the pro-life movement was to intent on saving babies, it would set its sights on a massive drive to educate teens about sex, about how to prevent babies as well as love and what goes in to deciding when to have one.

IS THERE ARE OTHER hard realities dawning on women throughout Michigan, including those who held a candlelight vigil in Lansing Monday right to mourn the swift passage of the measure in the state Legislature.

According to state Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, 70 percent of young girls who go to abortion clinics already go with their mothers. A substitute proposal would offer to the other 30 percent the option of another family member, Midicial bypass or counseling.

What's so frustrating about this legislation is that it couldn't be amended by lawmakers since it was the result of an initiative petition signed by 330,000 voters.

"That stymied opponents from offering amendments to allow aunts, uncles, adult siblings, doctors, psychologists and counselors or nurses to sign consent forms. And Gov. James Blanchard minority leader Paul Hillegonds, R-Holland. "We have a way to go. We don't expect to do it couldn't veto the measure because he already in a vear." she said. 🗉 had vetoed another House bill with the same language. At best opponents of the bill were able only to delay its taking effect until April 1. teen should be a good reminder. State Sen. Jack Faxon, D.Farmington Hills,

Some girls acknowledge the need for some kind of advice from an older adult, but they are quick to say that parents wouldn't understand. Some also talk fearfully about botched abortions and suicide attempts.

noted in casting his vote against the legislation that its passage by the Legislature robbed citizens of the right to vote on the measure. The 330,000 signatures do not represent a majority of thinking in this state on the subject, he said.

HOPEFULLY, THAT will give pro-choice forces time to mount a fight - whether it be in the courts with a test case or again before the Legislature — to preserve freedom of choice for all ages.

Berman believes that the real mission behind parental consent legislation is to shut down abortion clinics altogether.

She is about to mount another fight with a bill introduced in the House Tuesday that would not compel any woman to complete a pregnancy. This is likely to be the most significant legislation of all, since it is the ultimate test of whether a woman has the right to control her own body. And we agree with Berman - it will reveal the ultimate agenda of pro-life forces who say they accept abortion to save a woman's life.

"The handwriting, is on the wall," says Berman. And agreeing with her mission is Carol King, executive director of Michigan Abortion Rights Action League. Both women are determined to deliver a pro-choice Legislature.

THE LEAGUE has a political action committee, will watch the governor's race and keep as its number one objective retaining pro-choice incumbents in the Legislature. King said that out of 110 House members, 39 are pro-choice.

In the House, six area representatives voted yes and six area representatives voted no, including all the area women reps. The Legislature's top four caucus leaders all voted yes ---Senate majority leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant; minority leader Art Miller, D-Warren; House speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Montrose; and

But it won't happen at all if voters don't get involved in monitoring votes cast by their legislators. The haunting fears of a scared, pregnant tour of the educational horizon is in order.

INTERNATIONALLY, the situation looks as bad as ever. Kids in schools run by our international competitors - Germany, Japan, England, France - learn more, work harder, go to school longer and contribute more to the workplace than our kids.

With European economic integration coming in two years, we'll have a harder time competing with their educated, skilled work force than we have for the past 10 years.

On the national front, George Bush said he wanted to be the "education president," but it's hard to see what, if anything, has come of it. He had to be pushed into setting some concrete goals at the national education summit last year. Today's word is that political operatives are scared of setting tough national standards for fear they'll be accused of nationaliz-ing education and scuttling local control.

In Michigan, things are no better. A national report recently gave Michigan a "C" for attempted school reform, while a national survey by the Carnegle Foundation for the Ad-vancement, of Teaching found onethird of Michigan's 78,000 teachers would grade the state's reform attempts from "D" to "F." This is not encouraging, especially since school reform has been a burning issue at least 10 years.

WHY THE LACK of progress? The two main reasons stem from the fact that people have been concentrating on the wrong thing. First, a disproportionate part of the debate has focused on finance -

MAYBE I'M simple minded, but it seems to me there does exist a way to get something done. It was suggested by the report of the Commission on Skills of the American Workforce, on which I was happy to serve. The commission suggested that employers be asked what skills they felt were needed for entry level jobs in the economy. Literacy; numeracy; ability to read a paragraph and write two or three sentences expressing the main ideas; ability to work with other people. Next, the commission proposed that a body independent of the school system be asked to create a way of examining accurately whether people had mastered these basic skills. The commission argued that it seemed senseless to ask the schools to judge their own work, especially when a high school diploma has come to have no meaning at all,

Give those who show they have mastered basic skills a "certificate of initial mastery," to validate to employers - and themselves their skills level.

Last, let the market work. Employers confronted with two applicants will hire the one with a certificate of initial mastery. Schools faced on one hand with employers who demand skills, and on the other with children and parents who expect skills, will have to figure out how to teach them.

Simple minded? Radical? Maybe the times call for simple-minded radicalism.

ANTIVE SALE BASE SUBJECT OF

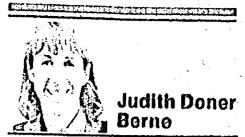

Space shots give us our heroes

LAST WEEK WHILE NASA astronaut Sharon Newman, a Rochester resident and former Bloomfield Hills teacher, was urging Southfield elementary students to take risks in life. I was standing in the shadow of the shuttle Columbia launch pad.

As one of about 250 journalists taking part. in the National Conference of Editorial Writers' annual convention, I spent a day at the Kenpedy Space Center at Cape Canav. eral, Fla.

There the world's highest technol. ory - the means to conquer space of acres of a national land preserve. A tour of the space center was deslened to inform and impress. But in the full story, the long-standing scientific debate was repeated: "Is it worth it to try to put a man on Mars?"

University of Michigan professor Thomas Donahue was imported from Ann Arbor to argue that: with unmanned space vehicles" robots can do it more safely and as competently as we need. • "It's typical of the space agency to take on grandiose projects whose costs are not understood at the inception." Budgeting hasn't always included technical delays and so has been off target.

• "We may have lost the ability - coexists with nature on thousands to create the space craft as competent as Voyager was." As Congress has whittled away at the space agency budget, many of its best minds the journalistic tradition of getting have been lured to the better salaries offered by industry.

> • "The man on the street doesn't have the imperative to put a man on Mars and go again to the moon." People no longer care.

NASA ASSISTANT DIBECTOR for space exploration, Dr. Jeffrey Rosendahl, strongly disagreed. Rosendahl argued that the space program is much more than science, that there are no robot paleontologists.

The space program, Rosendahl said, is about politics and the U.S. will to succeed: it's about technology and the need to advance it by working on something hard; it's about economics that are dependent on programs to drive technology; it's about jobs and the use of a highly trained work force in a peaceful endeavor.

But the arguments which hooked me - a non-scientific type - were that it's also about exploration, adventure and mythology - the stuff of heroes. And about the need for flagship programs to attract children into the hard sciences.

Their_heroes_arc-rock stars and football players, and for many - the drug dealer on their block.

Cancellation of Tuesday's launch of Columbia, due to yet another hydrogen leak, may be testimony to Donahue's view that we no longer have the expertise for sending man to Mars. The launch was already a record 111 days behind scheduled.

BUT THEN THERE'S Sharon Newman and how excitedly those kids at Southfield's McIntyre Elementary responded to her message:

"Be willing to risk, go where you've never gone before," she urged them. "Run to the roar."

Newman was a finalist for the teacher in space program. When Christa McAuliffe and six others died in the Challenger disaster, she vowed to do what McAuliffe would have, had she survived.

"I decided that day that I'd spend most of my life talking to kids to go into the space program," Newman said.

So she told them: "Study science, math, engineering . . . forget TV. that's bubble gum for the eyes, and start reading and doing experiments. Someday when I'm a little old lady in a wheelchair and you're ready to go up into space, promise that you'll remember me. In front of me might be sitting a future astronaut."

She promised to return to the school later in the year to find out how many students followed through on risk-taking promises.

No robot could follow that act.

IT'S THE END of a court action that never should have happened. The prosecutor's office should let it rest.

Thursday, September 20, 1990 O&E

Forty-eighth District Court Judge Edward Avadenka last week refused to continue the case of Robert Elliott, charged with negligent homicide in the death of his best friend, David Caswell.

Caswell was killed this spring. He was in the passenger seat of a van Elliott was driving. Both were on their way back from a morning rowing competition in Wyandotte. Both were assistant coaches for Orchard Lake St. Mary's rowing team.

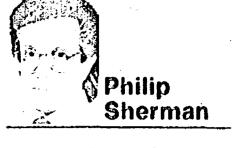

The van in front of Elliott's, driven by head coach John LeBlanc, came to a sudden stop to avoid hitting a car. Elliott's van hit Le-Blanc's. The impact caused several rowing sculls attached to LeBlanc's van to crash through the windshield of Elliott's van, striking Caswell in the head and killing him.

THAT WAS SAD ENOUGH. A much-liked, young rowing coach, an amateur artist who had designed the team's logo, was dead. But it became worse when, earlier this month, it was announced that the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office would press negligent homicide charges against Elliott.

Whoever, pressed the charge is a hardened person. No one had more right than Caswell's parents to press such a charge - and they didn't. David Caswell's parents, David and Ruth, told us they didn't think it was right to press charges against Elliott. They thought he'd suffered enough. The elder Caswell even said he's gone to the prosecutor's office to tell them he didn't support the decision to press charges against Elliott.

This was an accident, one of the Judge Avadenka refused to continue the case against him, still has to live with the memory.

THE PROSECUTING ATTOR-NEY, Pamela Maas, said last Friday she might appeal Avadenka's decision based, at least partially, on the issue of whether Elliott was following too closely behind the van he struck on northbound Middlebelt near Winchester Road.

Letting Avadenka's decision stand is the best thing Maas could do.-

There isn't any justice to be done here. Justice wasn't done in the first place, when Caswell was killed, and grinding Elliott through judicial hell isn't going to change things.

It's natural to want answers or make someone accept responsibility when something like this happens. And there's a time and place to press, on behalf of the public, to get those answers or make someone accept responsibility for the consequences of their actions.

But this isn't it. Caswell's death is a crime, in the tragic sense, but Elliott is not a criminal. Negligent homicide is a charge more at home in a drunk-driving hit-and-run case or someone playing with a loaded gun and injuring a bystander. Leave Elliott alone.

An 'Asian Advantage' in math?

Q: Much has been written about bow the mathematic achievement on standardized tests of Chinese, Japanese. Talwanese and other Aslan students is far superior to American students. We test bilingual students, immigrant children and some who can't even speak English. Ign't that the reason our math scores are lower?

A: No! It is the Asian Advantage. Harold Stevenson, a psychology professor at the University of Michigan completed (with others) a sixyear study on mathematics education. They compared American, Japanese, Taiwanese and Chinese elementary students.

on standardized math tests than do American children. Stevenson calls the results the Asian Advantage. The advantage is made up of sev-eral factors. First, the study showed that American parents of elementary students place a greater impor-tance on reading skills than math skillis. It also showed that elementary teachers often lean more toward teaching language arts and reading than toward math. Yet Asian parents and teachers placed an equal amount of importance on math and reading.

ers in upper elementary grades spend an average of 12 hours per week on math, Japanese teachers spend nine hours per week on math and American teachers spend approximately four hours per week on math.

This may, in part, be due to the parents' and our national emphasis on reading. It is probably also due to He found the Aslans score higher the time needed for the numerous . other teaching responsibilities that make up, and sometimes clutter, an elementary school day. And reading must be taught. When it came to homework, America wasn't even in the ballgame. Chinese fifth grade students spend 12 hours per week on homework, Japanese fifth graders spend. nine hours per week and American fifth graders spend an average of three hours per week.

can women, hold jobs outside the home

Student time in the classroom or into other ventures outside the classroom showed an even more glowing difference in American and Asian priorilles.

American fifth graders were out of the classroom up to 18.4 percent of the time for various reasons while Chinese and Japanese fifth graders were out only 0.2 percent of the time. More out-of-class time for America's elementary students means less class time for math.

The most important aspect of the study, in my opinion, is the Asian's belief in Mastery Learning.

Asian children are not passed on to the next grade without having mastered the math skills taught at their present grade level. Asian educators use the Mastery Learning theory - each math skill must be mastered in order to move on to learning a higher-level math skill. Indeed, Aslan fifth grade teachers dents are continually given quizzes on the basic math skills they must master to be successful at the next grade level.

Furthermore, Asian teachers have always had the faster students in a class help the slower students to learn in what American education has just recently labeled Cooperative Learning.

The answer to your question is no. Competent educational studies do not compare apples and oranges. Major educational studies that compare nations "match students" on everything from age, sex, household income, occupation of parents and other factors so to be as accurate as possible. America simply has not made math (and science) the priority the Asians have.

A death in the family

Parents help parents grapple with the loss of a child

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

All Levada Austin-Geisey asks for is one word, Her request brings anger, cries of sorrow, laughter and, more importantly, stories.

At times, those around the table forget to come up with one phrase to Barile, whose daughter, Nancy, was describe: their feelings. Austin- killed by her bovf-

Gelsey reminds them."

Sue Mason editor/591-2300

But the co-leader of Parents of Murdered Children understands. Asking a mother or father to sum up in one word the experience of having their child killed would take all the words in Webster's book. • "My word is sad," said Dennis "Yesterday, Nancy would have been 21. Today, sad. Tomorrow, I'll be p---- off again.

"He didn't want her to go home, even though he was going out with his buddies. He put a .41 Magnum between her eyes and blow her head off. Forgive him? He's an a-----. He'll always be an a-----."

POMC meetings, but it surfaces in non-virulent forms. Those who at- , large. tend are not shocked. If anything, they share in it. To use words like a-----, jerk . . . those are names for people who cut you off on the highway," one woman sald. "These people are monsters. They are subhuman. There is no remorse."

Another woman, whose infant was killed by a baby sitter, tells the group she would pull the cord if that person got the electric chair. Then she said that it's a terrible thing to 8ay.

"Why is it?" one member responds. Others agree.

POMC WAS formed in 1978 by a Cincinnati couple, Charlotte and Bob Hullinger, whose daughter died after injuries inflicted by her boyfriend. Today, there are 18,000 members with 300 chapters nationwide.

The Greater Metro Detroit Chapter is a close-knit group of 70 members that meets the second Monday of the month in Southfield. At meetings, speakers from the criminal justice system and other related professions visit. The group is also open to other relatives such as grandparents or siblings.

Or, as on this night, members listen to each other's stories and provide support.

"They just don't get that chance talking to a friend or an acquaintance," said Austin-Geisey, whose son's murder is still unsolved. "They say, 'I understand how you feel.' But they don't."

SUCH RAGE is not uncommon at Members of POMC often feel isolat- said. "I'm afraid he's going to come ed and overlooked by society at Unlike with the death of an older person, the grieving process for a son or a daughter can be very intense and drawn out. The personal tragedy cracks the foundation of the family. Sometimes it never recovers, which can lead to divorce in some càses.

In cases of murder, the loss itself is magnified. Media coverage and the ensuing trial only cause the family to relive the pain.

Patricia Rourke is a therapist with the Human Potential Center in Monroe. She has helped counsel parents whose children have been murdered.

"People are in a stupor or are in shock," said Rourke, who has a doctoral degree in psychology. "Some people say they can't remember a thing. Then the anger comes out."

IT'S IMPORTANT to let parents know it's all right to be angry, Rourke said.

In some cases, the family's resentment is directed at the legal system. Many share stories of plea bargaining, trial postponements, commuted sentences and early paroles for the murderers of their children.

"They have all the rights; we have none," Austin-Geisey said. "You have to become knowledgeable (about the legal system). Otherwise, they'll walk all over you."

Some live in fear. One mother told members how the alleged killer of her daughter is out on ball and only lives a few miles away from her one night and do us all in."

(W, G)1B

Her case is one of several where the children were killed by a lover or a spouse. Other sons and daughters were murdered in random lashion

Regardless of the situation, though, parents and siblings left be, hind continually grapple with thy question of why.

AMID THE seeming hopelessness and despair, POMC members are channeling anger and bitterness into action.

The group has been advocates for victims rights, calling for stiffer sentences. Many become legal eagles, following other murder cases through the system.

Members from POMC also go to trials of other victims to provide emotional support for family mem? bers.

One member of POMC, Joseph Schramek, has filed a lawsuit against the owner of the gun used to kill his teenaged son, Ed Schramek. Although the defendant was nowhere near two crimes committed with the gun, Schramek said he was negligent in letting the gun out of his passession.

Austin-Gelsey even talks of possibly starting a boycott, similar to the one initiated by Bloomfield Hills homemaker Terry Rakolta against violent television programming.

"I think we have to draw together," said Duane LaMoreaux, whose daughter. Pamela, was killed three years ago. "When we do, we're hope-

ART EMANUELLE/staff photographer

Larry and Joan Dressler of Westland still feel was gunned down outside his northwest Dethe anguish two years after their son Daniel troit home. His murder remains unsolved.

Anguish haunts parents 2 years after son's death

By Lerry O'Connor staff writer

Daniel Dressler, 80, was a happy-go-lucky sort. He served in the Marines, returned home and was working odd jobs as a mechanic,

One night, Dressler was outside fixing his van in the northwest Detroit neighborhood where he lived. Details differ from there.

Some say Dressler was involved in an altercation with" another youth. Others report he helped break up a fight between two teenagers.

At any rate, a person returned later on a motor scooter and fired two shots from a .357 Magnum, one fatally wounding Dressler. That was July 14, 1988.

TWO YEARS later, his case remains unsolved and his parents, Larry and Joan Dressler of Westland, still feel the angulsh.

"After two years, whether or not that person is behind bars, that's not going to bring our son back," said Joan Dressler, sitting at the family's kitchen table with a copy of a newspaper article about her son's death.

"The thought he is still out there and he could cause this much pain to another family . . ."

THEIR SON'S murder was one of 629 in Detroit for 1988, the one that somehow didn't merit a few lines in the daily newspapers, the one the local TV news didn't have time to mention, the one that ends up as a number in some police department's homicide file.

Behind every case, though, there's someone like Joan

WHAT MARES the Dresslers' situation more difficult was the seeming indifference with which their son's case has been handled.

They never received a phone call from the Detroit po-lice. Instead, a stranger called their other son and informed him of Daniel's death.

A few months later, when they didn't hear anything about the investigation, the Dresslers went to the police department themselves looking for answers. An ensuing letter to Detroit police Chief William Hart finally brought a response.

Someone from the department phoned and told them cases such as their son's were updated every three to six months. A note would be attached to his file for someone to call and let them know how things were progressing. "I told them, 'I don't care if you just call me and say there's nothing new to the case,'" Joan Dressler said. "Give me that little peace of mind."

The Dresslers haven't received a phone call. (A call was placed by The Observer to the police on this case. They haven't responded.)

THEN THERE are the personal reactions resulting from the shock. Larry Dressler said he felt guilty he wasn't there to help his son.

"I was floundering," she said. "I didn't know where I Livonia Jaycee Karen Dukatz got the idea to put on a health fair when she saw some out-of-shape people.

"When you look around the room you see a lot of young people not taking care of themselves and you have to wonder if the community is doingthe same," said Dukats, Jaycee vice president for individual development.

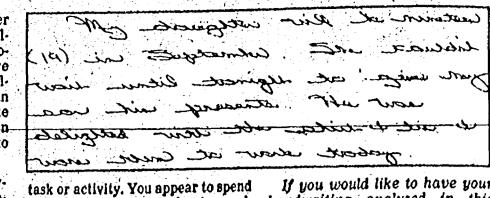

So Dukatz corraled fellow Jaycee Mary Zuckerman and made her chairwoman of a 10-member committee to organize the fair. Zuckerman pantomimed having her arm twisted and laughed.

"Mary's been one of those general members that gets involved with a lot of things," Dukatz said.

The health fair will be noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Wonderland Mall, Plymouth and Middlebelt roads, Livonia. Admission is free.

There will be at least 20 booths, demonstrating everything_from chiropractic care to smoking cessation.

That old bromide has become one of the great lies of the century. Too frequently what appears to be a great bargain can be a great rip off. It's true with many things including clothes that fall apart after one washing.

Like clothes, not all kitchen and bath cabinets are created equal. That's why you should visit our KSI Showrooms. We will start by demonstrating the solid oak double-dowelled frame in Merillat Cabinets. Simply put, that feature produces precision alignment for perfect squareness and long-lasting durability to resist twisting and sagging.

You will see that you get everything you pay for as well as the custom look without the custom price tag in all Merillat Cabinets.

Club caters to 'full and fabulous' By Relph R. Echtinaw

staff writer

Maybe we're going about this weight loss thing all wrong. Maybe a positive self-image is more important in life than sleek thighs and slim hips, · Overweight women have borne a stature-based stigma in a society that values slender figures above all else.

Many have learned to live with the pain of rejection, burying it deep in their psyches, yet it still affects their outlook and attitude. All because our standards of beauty don't fit them.

SHARON DUMAS learned that through personal experience when she started an organization for fullfigured women, called Full and Fabulous, eight years ago.

"When I first started I handed out fliers; people would take them and tear them up in my face," she said. "(They were) women who were overweight and didn't accept it."

Self-esteem comes before weight loss, Dumas said. Losing weight is not the key to feeling better about yourself, but rather feeling good is the key to losing weight, if you want to.

"We don't condone being overweight. We say our diet is selfesteem. If you feel better aboutyourself, the weight will come off."

Self-esteem comes before weight loss. Losing weight is not the key to feeling better about yourself, but rather cleeling good is the key to losing weight, if you want to.

- Sharon Dumas

FROM ITS inauspicious beginning, Dumas' organization has grown to include a membership of 5,000 size 14 and up women who pay dues of $5 per month.

Run out of a northwest Detroit clothing store, Full and Fabulous puts on self-esteem courses, a beauty pageant, modeling and makeup courses, a dating game and more for its membership.

Full and Fabulous has prospered to the extent that the 8-year-old beauty pageant draws crowds of more than 600 to view its 15 to 25 contestants. The next one will be Nov. 9 at the Day's Inn in Southfield.

THE PAGEANT has been so popular that Dumas plans to expand the event to five other cities Birmingham, Ala.; Atlanta, Ga.; Columbus, Ohio; New York, N.Y. and Washington, D.C. - next year. "It's exactly like the Miss America pageant, but it's for full-figured women," said Dumas, formerly the beauty director for the Miss Black America beauty contest.

Some men, Dumas said, have come to the pageant for several years.

"I have men who call here who are married to slim women, but they still come to our pageants." One man told her, "My woman knows nothing about what my true preference is.'

Another man told Dumas, "'There was a time when I would not even take a look at a full-figured woman,' and now he's married to one."

THE DATING games, which take place every six to eight weeks, pit three full-figured women against one man who must chose between them. Recruiting the women is easy, Dumas said. Men, however, resist.

"It takes about (six to eight weeks) to recruit the men. We have a lot of men that call about it, but they don't want their friends to know. They want to see (the game) first.

"It's a lot of fun. (The questions) are not too X-rated, just enough to be entertaining."

A FULL-FIGURED woman herself, Dumas was subjected to her share of barbs and taunts when she grew up, but learned to overcome the adversity.

"Slim women can be very cruel They don't like it when you finally become confident in yourself. I just decided that no one can intimidate me. I weigh the same as I weighed in high school, but now men try to talk to me."

Dumas credits her mother, Dorothy Tankersley, for providing the support she needed to succeed in life.

"My strongest supporter in all of this is my mother. If it had not been for her, I wouldn't have had the inward confidence."

Indeed, Dorothy Tankersley has been rewarded, and not just with a successful child.

"I send a limousine to pick her up (for the pageants), make sure she's dressed real pretty and she just loves it."

Rev. Richard I. Peters

Thursday, September 20, 1990 O&E

It's a homecoming for Rev. Wysocki

By Julie Brown staff writer

In his younger days, the Rev. James Wysocki studied at St. John's Provincial Seminary in Plymouth Township.

"I sometimes sort of jokingly say I've come back to Plymouth to learn some more," said Wysocki, who recently became the new pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth.

Wysocki succeeds the Rev. Richard Perfetto, who's now pastor of the newly-created Resurrection Catholic Church in Canton. Wysocki, who began work Aug. 15, previously served as pastor at a parish in New Baltimore, Mich., on Anchor Bay, for nearly 14 years.

"It was a bit of a shock at first," Wysocki, 49, said of his assignment-sociate pastor and a pastoral ministo Plymouth. New Baltimore, northeast of Mount Clemens, was a onetime resort area and isn't the wellestablished suburban community that Plymouth is.

"It's growing now, especially in Chesterfield Township," he said of that east-side area.

HIS FORMER parish didn't include an elementary school, as OLGC does.

"Since I've been a pastor, I have not had responsibility for a Catholic school. It's a very important asset to the parish, and our young people are very important to us, as they are to any family."

Wysocki, who was ordained 23 years ago, began to consider entering the priesthood when he was 13.

"It just kind of gets stronger as the years go. There's no question it's a calling. There's a strong faith reason for being a priest."

His work at OLGC will include offering sound liturgies and providing leadership for the many church programs. He'll be working with an aster at the church, which includes about 2,400 families from Plymouth and Canton.

"So it's a blg responsibility. At this point, it's a learning experience for me."

Wysockl's a west-sider, so the It's been a very rewarding life for move to Plymouth wasn't too much of an adjustment. His childhood was spent in the Grand River-Six Mile area, and Wysocki went through high school at Sacred Heart.

"Now, I return back to the west side."

WYSOCKI EARNED his bachelor's degree in philosophy from Sacred Heart Seminary in the early 1960s, and studied mainly theology there. He finished a master's degree in divinity from St. John's Provincial Seminary in 1983.

He knew the late Rev. Kenneth McKinnon, who served at OLGC for a number of years. McKinnon taught at Sacred Heart and Wysocki knew bim during his student days. He also had an internship with McKinnon at another church shortly before Wysocki was ordained.

Wysocki served as an associate pastor at St. Michael's in Pontlac before being assigned to the New Baltimore church.

"This is only my second pastorate.

me. There's a tremendous challenge out there in terms of the needs of people. They want to hear the word of God."

He's been impressed with the love and concern worshipers at Our Lady of Good Counsel have for each other.

You can see the faith of people in the way they pray." Various parish a groups work together harmoniously. "To me, that's a sign of faith working. People are very dedicated here in the parish. It's good to feel a sense of welcome."

ONE MAJOR goal at the church involves the Focus Gift building project. Worshipers hope to build office space and a gathering space for the church. They hope to put in a hall connecting the school and church complex and would like to renovate the church's interior.

Church leaders are working to raise money within the parish for the project.

"The people have supported it pretty generously," Wysocki said.

Many children attend the school at OLGC and about 400 more youngsters come for religious instruction. Some 5 to 10 baptisms are done weekly.

"There's a lot of families having children in our community." The church needs to meet the needs of those families and of others as well.

"We want to provide a social setting for our adults too." Church organizations are available to help divorced or widowed people and others with different needs.

Wysocki attended the recent Plymouth Fall Festival and liked what he saw.

"Those kinds of things, I think, are good for the community.

"I hope that our church will continue to serve the community. We want to make our contribution.'

Wysocki's busy learning about his new duties, but finds time for rest and relaxation. He enjoys working on cars and is also an athlete.

"I enjoy golf. Sailing is really my favorite hobby." Wysocki didn't mind moving to a landlocked community.

"We're close to expressways where you can get out to those kinds of things." He's also been impressed with area golf courses.

Our elderly should be revered, not ignored the same time, the likelihood is increased that we will undergo impairment, rejection and unhappiness as we enter the years of advanced age.

The greatest and most universal fear in our society is the fear of getling old. It is the pervasive obsesslon.

If the past offers any insight at all into this matter, it is that in premodern societies, old age was not separated from the rest of the lifespan.

A generation or two ago, grand-

The advance of medical science parents lived with their families as has increased our life expectancy. At honored members of the household. They were able to exert beneficent influence upon the lives not only of their own children, but also of their grandchildren, serving as a symbol of the continuity of time and tradition

> IN OUR TIME, this experience grows increasingly uncommon. There are homes for the aged, hotels for senior citizens, retirement villages for the elderly. All these meet that need which arises out of the conditions we associate with age. The aged do not fit into the lifestyle of the contemporary family, and everyone knows It.

Biblical faith is clear, unequivocal and insistent on our responsibility for the aged. Created in the image of God, the aged deserve not only love and compassion but also reverence.

The biblical pronouncement to "honor the face of the aged" does not have an asterisk with the designation only if he has financial resources, or children that are able and willing to pay the expense, or if he still has mental faculties or a pleasant disposition.

Older Americans are not a homogeneous group. They come in all shapes and sizes, with all kinds of needs and capabilities. The only common denominator is that virtually all of them are in one way or another disadvantaged.

There are the physically disadvantaged - the millions who are feeble and ill with not enough money for food, clothing and transportation.

THERE'S ANOTHER category: millions of older Americans who are psychically disadvantaged. They are healthy, reasonably well off, but have been segregated from the rest of society by the accident of calendar age. They are eager, competent and willing to serve. They seek to exercise their abilities and talents, but they are denied such opportunities Author James Michener once put this issue into clear focus.

He wrote: "The problem of caring adequate housing, medical care, for the aged looms as the principal social problem of the balance of the century, greater than ecological asphyxiation, greater than overpopulation, greater than the energy crisis.

The beautiful - and petite muntjac deer is just one of 29 species of exotic hoofed stock dotting the sweeping landscape of Tampa's Busch Gardens 60-acro Serengeti Plain.

The smallest of the true deer specles, muntjacs weigh less than two pounds at maturity. Muntjacs are closely related to the small musk deer of northeastern Asia and China.

Muntjacs may make a barking noise when alarmed, and are often in pairs and are always near water. Both males and females will scent mark using two pairs of glands, one pair directly in front of the eye (able to open almost as large as the eye itself) and another which forms the familiar "V" on their forehead.

Visitors to Tampa's Busch Gardens may see muntjacs among the collection of more than 3,300 animals.

Malta The Isle of Honey

By Sally Davis special writer

One of the best-kept secret side trips from Rome lies 80 miles southeast of the southern coast of Sicily in the Mediterranean. It's about an hour's flight from Rome's DaVinci Airport. Melita, the Isle of honey, named by the ancient Greeks, today is known as the island of Malta. It's a fascinating, but little-known place for Americans to tour. It's a tiny island (95 square miles) with a little bit of everything, even if you're a jaded traveler.

Before starting to explore the island, head for the Mediterranean Conference Center, a visitor center for tourists near the Fort of St. Elmo, an imposing bastion by the sea. Here you will see the unique slide show, "The Malta Experience," which acquaints the first-time visitor with the history of Malta up to the present.

Valletta, the capital of Malta, has many places of interest including the Palace of the Grand Master, which is now used for government offices; the BIblioteca (library) and St. John's Co-Cathedral. The palace has rare 400-year old tapestries of African animal and jungle scenes that look as if they had been made last week. Illuminated choir books and several documents signed by Henry VIII are among the displays at the library. Also located in Valletta is the National Archeological Museum, with its famous statue of the fertility goddess, "The Sleeping Lady of Maita," which dates from the Megalithic Age.

No trip to Malta would be complete without a visit to the Sunday morning market, located outside the Freedom Gate in Valletta. Here, vendors sell everything from antiques, empty mortar shells from World War II and good luck charms to T-shirts, dolphin-shaped doorknockers of brass and aprons with a recipe for rabbit stew printed on them.

Take a day sail around the island on one of the Captain Morgan tour boats and get a totally different perspective of Malta from the sea. The highlight of the sall is having lunch and a swim at a small piece of paradise, the Blue Lagoon. The lagoon is a narrow strip of calm, iridescent, sapphire-blue water separated from the sea by a barrier of rocks. The opposite side faces the sandy beach of the small neighboring island of Comino.

Plan to spend a morning in Rabat and the ancient walled city of Mdina, the first capital. Mdina sits atop a hill, offering a splendid panoramic view of the whole island. Within the walls is a lovely Norman house, open for tours, although it is a private residence. There are also many good architectural examples of the various cultures who have lived on the island. Stop at the little cafe for a cool drink and a good view of the breathtaking scenery. In Rabat, visit the lace shop with its exquisite and unique gifts of handmade lace. A partially restored Roman villa and a small museum filled with Greek and Roman antiquities are also in the area.

A short distance from the lace shop are St. Paul's Catacombs and St. Paul's Church, with its Spanish decor. The church was built over the grotto where St. Paul lived for three months after being shipwrecked off the coast of Malta on his way to trial in Rome. He is the patron saint of the island. These are interesting places to visit to get a feel for the history of Malta.

In the afternoon, head over to the small fishing village of Marsaxlokk. It's a quaint little town with a beautiful sandy beach, one of the few on the island. Marsaxlokk Bay is filled with colorful fishing boats which always look freshly painted. Some are painted with evil eyes on the bows to ward off the dangers of the sea.

Another don't-miss is a boat ride through the caves of the Blue Grotto. The crystal-clear water shows off the multicolored fungi (reputed to have magical powers), which cling like sparkling jewels, to the underwater rocks. Wear your bathing suit under your clothes, because the boat will stop for a few minutes in one of the caves, allowing you to take a short swim in the warm water. You can see about 30-feet down to the bottom.

Blue Grotto caves embrace warm waters of Malta

Not too far from the Blue Grotto are the ruins of Hajar Qim and Mnajdar, perched on top of a hill, facing the sea. These are among the earliest of the prehistoric femples on Malta. An interesting feature is their similar construction to Stonehenge in England. For comparison, vis-it the newer temple at Tarxien (Copper Age.) It was used for animal worship and huge statues of fertility goddesses were found in the area. Look for the graffiti Dragonara Hotel the ancients drew on the walls, depicting boats and a method for telling time and seasons.

Several centuries before the Greeks arrived, people who perhaps migrated from Sicily were there building temples and worshipping fertility goddesses. The Phoenicians sailed there and conducted trade on the Island. The Algonquin Hotel has this kind of style, in my experience, and a unique history. It was an important part of New York literary life in the 1920s and '30s, when writer Dorothy Parker was making all those witty remarks to Robert Benchley, or vice versa, at the famous Algonquin Round Table in the Rose Room restaurant. I remember some nice people - a desk clerk who rescued me from an embarrassing scene with a loud, demanding (and drunk) relative by having me paged and then saying, in a sympathetic whisper, "Don't worry, everyone understands. Do you want me to help get her in a cab?"

And an elevator operator, whose greeting brightened up a trying day. "I forget the floor," he said, smiling, "but I remember the perfume."

Leaving the Algonquin, I often think of Robert Benchley's famous exit: "Get me a cab," he said to a uniformed man at the door.

"Siri" the man said, haughtily. "I am an admiral in the U.S. Navy!"

Graphic design creates identity

By R.J. King special writer

As Erv Wolk puts it, graphic design is not so much the art of making things look better as it is about creating a distinct identity. As the president of The Think Tank, a graphic design agency in Birmingham, Wolk makes his living challenging what best can be described as the conventions of the status quo.

Nowhere is this more evident than in the lobby of his office, where you are likely to be struck-by-the presence of a mannequin on the couch and the neon sculpture that spells out the company name.

"He's the only one that listens to me," quips Wolk, 62, casting an eye toward the well-dressed, but rather stiff, model.

"If I have a problem I talk to him. We work things out. He's a great llstener."

A MANNEQUIN perched on a couch, especially one with a receptive ear, is bound to make people whisper over lunch, but that is exactly the kind of lasting impression Wolk is out to create.

Whether It's a striking new logo for a corporation or a fresh brochure outlining the attributes of a cancer treatment program, The Think Tank is out to achieve distinction in a world often indistinguishable from itself.

"I want people to know right off the bat that we're more than just another graphics house," said Wolk, a Birmingham resident.

"If a company comes to me with an idea of how they should market themselves, 1'm not going to design Erv Wolk, president of The Think Tank, talks a graphics idea over with a friend. something if I don't agree with the concept.

"If I agree with it, I say: 'Great. Let's go ahead.' But if I look at it with something better in mind, then -I'll work it out and present what I feel is right for the client."

in the industry.

WHILE SUCH confidence may be novel for a graphic design agency only seven months old, Wolk brings to the business more than 35 years of advertising, marketing and design experience.

Most recently, Wolk was president

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer of Wolk Advertising in Birmingham, TO BE sure, while The Think Tank a firm he started in 1954 and still operates much like an ad agency, it runs today, although he emphasizes does not collect the 8 to 15 percent most of his time is spent with The commission a traditional agency charges when placing an ad for a cli-Describing the firm as an agency ent in a specific medium. For example, if an advertising that offers creative support but doesn't place ads and a graphics agency placed a $20,000 ad in a house that designs promotional manewspaper for a client, the agency, terial, Wolk said the firm fills a using a 10 percent commission rate. niche in the marketplace while would charge $2,000 for its efforts in addition to billing for any design reversing long-standing trends withwork.

The Think Tank, on the other hand, bills clients by the project, which Wolk said is less than what an ad agency charges but more than a graphic house following specific instructions.

"It's taken me months to define the reasons for why I did this," he said with a laugh. "I always thought there were companies out there who didn't need an advertising agency but needed to draw on someone who specializes in special projects.

'Art takes time to create, and only through thought is it created.' - Erv Wolk-The Think Tank

"For instance, if a company needs a source to develop ideas, layouts and designs for a direct mail campaign, they could call on us, we would complete the project, and they would take it from there."

AS WOLK envisions it, and what has already come to pass, the firm will draw small- to medium-sized firms that have the personnel to carry out an advertising plan, but lack the artistic skills to create something fresh, bold and distinct.

As an example, Greg Tigani, president of Jewelry Express in Novi, said his company turned to The Think Tank earlier this year to develop a direct-mail brochure that his staff could use to boost sales for a credit financing program.

"We were offering an instant credit service to jewelers for use with their customers, and we wanted to change the design of our original campaign," Tigani said. "We thought it was too plain, and to be honest, we didn't think it was effective.

"We got in contact with Erv and presented our new idea, and he said the working spouse or the one who incurred the debt.

"The slight margin account my husband told me about turned out to be $60,000. He took out the loan, but now I have to pay also," a horrified spouse said.

The situation may be worse because of the excessive use of credit cards and other debt often prevails at the time of divorce.

ANOTHER AREA of contention during the divorce is the allocation of pension benefits, For highly paid executives, these benefits can be substantial and dividing them is more complicated than it first appears. Allocation of these benefits is becoming an area of increased con-represent a major portion of the marital assets. Plans vary considerably, requiring attention to the current and future payout.

Rights to these pension benefits can be transferred to the ex-spouse of a plan participant if the proper steps are taken but these benefits may not be able to be distributed immediately. If current cash flow is needed, pension benefits may not be the best assets to accept under a property settlement. Additionally, provisions at death must be considered. Too often the current and future income tax consequences on these benefits are not considered.

When a family business, professional practice or large investment portfolio is part of the family assets, the divorce process becomes into be valued, which creates, disa- me with one-third the income needgreement, and also the tax impact at the time of future sale is a critical consideration.

Basic to the divorce process is knowledge of current and future cash flow needs. Here is one woman's experience.

"I always thought we lived on about $50,000 a year, but when I took a careful look at our expenditures, I found it was closer to $65,000. I had conveniently disregarded the summer camp for children, our vacations, child care, repairs to our house and trips to the summer cottage.

"I never thought about the increased need for child care and clothes for work after the divorce. Child support, interim alimony and tention because these benefits often creasingly complex. The assets need income from investments provided mer cottage, but when I realized

ACCORDING TO a national study, 52 percent of the attorneys surveyed say that most of their women clients do not have a clear picture of family assels or income. Divorce counselors would add that men are often only vaguely aware of the day-to-day needs of the family.

Divorce financial planning assists the divorcing person to assess the true financial situation and shed an objective light on what assets will be beneficial to them to meet current cash flow needs and to protect their financial future.

Financial planning can assess what assets are best to keep. It can also review the need for other protections such as life insurance, disability and health care coverages.

"Our wedding was centered around I do's and romantic dreams of building a life forever. Our divorce was the division of a business partnership — pure economics," said one discouraged spouse. "When you got past custody issues, the divorce came down to economics: How

The four graphic artists who make up The Think Tank developed a brochure using a high-gloss photo of an emerald as a background. Enclosed in a matching envelope, the brochure unfolds into three sections, each spelling out specific areas of the program.

Income per $1,000: $6.54 (A) Tax Bracket: 28 percent Period Certain: 16 years By 81d Milltra special writer

In this concluding article, I will present the essential elements of annuity with a twist (AIT). I will also discuss it in detail in the next seminar (see below for details).

Guaranteed income

The company will pay you $654 per month (A), or $7,848 per year (B) for 16 years. This monthly income will not change for 16 years, unless you commute the contract to a lump sum of cash.

From a federal tax standpoint, the $7,848 annual income is composed of:

• $1,598 of interest (C) which is taxable; and

• $6,250 (D) which is a return of your principal, and therefore not taxable.

In 16 years you will have received $125,568 (E) of which $25,568 (F) would be interest and $100,000 (G) would be the return of your principal. In addition, the company will owe you $100,000 (H).

Rate of return

AIT offers a guaranteed interest rate of 3.00 percent (I). This rate is the basis for the taxable portion of each payment (C). The company also currently credits your account with additional interest.

Tax advantages

Of the monthly income of $654 (A), 79.64 percent (J), or $524.85 will be tax-free. This tax-free status of your monthly income will be maintained throughout the 16-year period of the contract.

Knowing when to quit is important as being good

Let's imagine that you are about to open your own import gift shop this weekend. As a full-time manager with XYZ Co. for the past three years, you have spent every spare moment since last fall working on your gift shop.

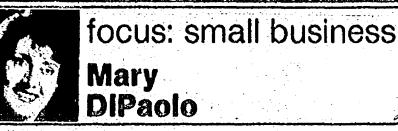

Now the vision is about to become reality. There's just one more issue left to be decided. Do you continue working for your present employer? And if so, for how long?

Knowing when to stay and when to leave applies to anyone employed outside the home. But for the new business owner leaving an existing Job can spell disaster when the timing isn't right.

At one end are would-be entrepreneurs who quit their jobs as soon as they decide what it is they want to do, At the other extreme are those who refuse to leave no matter how busy their business becomes over time.

Paul Kennedy, owner of Kennedy Plumbing in Livonia, believes quitting a job prematurely is the biggest mistake a the owner of a new business can make.

"It's not like leaving your job to write a book," Kennedy said. "I've yet to meet anyone who was financially independent enough to take on that type of risk."

on who has been put in charge, things may work out extremely well or fall apart completely.

"Regardless of what happens, the risk associated with the company's long-term success is just as great."

He stresses the ethical considerations of working on two careers simultaneously. "The practice of pursuing what is considered 'personal' business during your employer's time is not only unfair to the company and its other employees but creates a whole new series of complications sooner or later. He advises those starting new businesses to talk to those in similar fields.

"This is a crucial first step and would mean speaking with not just a few people but several," Henk said. "It also helps to get in touch with small business advisers who are available to share information based on their previous work with clients.

"The one thing to remember is that experience is the best teacher, especially when it's someone else's experience you've learned from."

He's singin' and dancin' in Donald O'Connor role

By Ethol Simmons staff writer .

FILLIAM AKEY IS BACK home in the Detroit area, performing here for the first time since he moved to Chicago to pursue his acting_career. And it's in a starring role in the Birmingham Theatre production of the Broadway musical "Singin' in the Rain."

In an interview last week in the theater lobby, the personable performer relaxed in a high-back chair as he talked about the theater, the show - based on the classic movie musical - and playing the Donald O'Connor role, of Cosmo Brown.

He also recalled his growing up years in Livonia and later in Detroit, where he attended Wayne State University and studied theater, becoming a member of the Hilberry acting Nashville to do an original musical. troupe.

"I lived in Livonia since I was in the fourth grade, from 1967 to 1981," he said. "For about six years I delivered the Livonia Observer. I was Paper Boy of the Year my last year in high school. Then, I worked at the Livonia office of the Observer & Eccentric. I started the summer before college, in the circulation department for a year."

AKEY IS a graduate of Livonia Bentley High School. His parents, Charles and Joan Akey, now live in those people." Canton.

undergraduate and graduate shows and industrial films. Another school," he said. Akey spent two years at Wayne State in the graduate school at the Hilberry, where he played such part as Thomas in "The Imaginary Invalid," Richard in "Ah, Wilderness!" the Dauphin in "St. Joan" and Yank in "The Hasty Heart."

"I also did musicals during my undergraduate year, working with Nira Pullin, movement professor. They even took me away from the graduate company to perform and help in musicals. I was assistant choreographer and dance captain for 'H.M.S. Pinafore.' "

During the summers from 1980-83, Akey appeared at Opryland in Nashville, in the entertainment park's musical revue. "After graduating from the Hilberry, I went to It flopped within a week," he said.

He worked at Opryland one more summer before moving to Chicago, where he had friends. He auditioned for a show the second day there and got the part of Enoch Snow Jr. in "Carousel." "It was my first Equity show."

HE CONTINUES to work in Chicago. "The theater community in Chicago is very good," he said. "There's about four major musical theater houses. I've worked for all

He also has done commercial

"In 1981, I moved to Detroit for work, voiceovers, live industrial for reality." show-business job was aboard a ship in the Caribbean for three months, playing Tom Thumb in the musical "Barnum" and appearing in a revue. "I didn't want to be there," he said, explaining he missed his friends.

Akey and his wife, Lynette Lewis, celebrated their first wedding anniversary recently. In Chicago, she has been a staff announcer at Channel 2 and hosted a PBS program "Woman to Woman." Lewis also has done volceover, films and commercial work. Recalling how the couple met, Akey said, "I co-teach a Bible Study for people in the arts. She showed up one night and said to herself, 'That's the man for me.' The rest is history."

Akey fits comfortably into the Cosmo Brown role in "Singin' in the Rain," sticking close to the Donald O'Connor interpretation. "The movie is such a classic and his performance in that movie is such a classic, I thought it would be difficult to stray from what he did," Akey said.

"I'VE TAKEN some of the physical things he did. Hopefully, people will see I'm doing what Donald O'Connor did, and more. He had 10 takes - I only get one take."

Akey said Cosmo is one of his favorite roles. "He's really the heart and soul of the musical." In the show about a Hollywood movie studio, at the time of the switch from silent films to the talkies, "You look to him

Cosmo is a piano player who becomes a musical director for the studio, while his buddy, Don Lockwood (James Mellon in the Gene Kelly role) becomes a star. For the physical aspects of the number "Make Em Laugh," "We've taken the choreography almost verbatim from the movie," he said. "It's our version of Donald O'Connor playing Cosmo Brown." Akey said the musical wasn't very successful on Broadway and that he didn't see the Broadway show. "Our production has tried to stay more true to the original."

BESIDES "MAKE Em Laugh," Akey performs in song-and-dance numbers including "Good Morning," "Broadway Melody," "Moses Sup-poses" and "Fit As A Fiddle." He said, "In the first act, I'm either changing costumes or on stage."

"Make Em Laugh" takes place ona movie set and uses set pieces as part of the number. "I do pratfalls. I get hit with boards. It's the most fun but the most difficult," he said."

Although Akey tap dances up a storm in the show, he mentioned, "As I kid I was a gymnast. I didn't take my first tap class until my sophomore year in college. Nira Pullin taught me much of what I do today." He also praised Helen Hopkins, with whom he studied voice in college. "She was a big influence in my life."

James Mellon (left) plays the Gene Kelly role of Don Lockwood, and William Akey, onetime Livonia resident, has the Donald O'Connor part of Cosmo Brown in the Birmingham Theatre production of "Singin' in the Rain." Here, they appear in the "Moses Supposes" musical number.

Akey performed in shows during grade school and high school. He did several shows at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. "One summer I did a one-man show as Tom Sawyer," he said. "I also did several shows at the Henry Ford Museum Theatre."

"Singin' in the Rain" continues through Sunday, Nov. 4. Its run began as part of the Birmingham Theatre season and will conclude as part of the Fisher Theatre season - at the Birmingham Theatre.

The week after the show ends, Akey goes into rehearsal for an industrial show he is doing in Las. Vegas.

Choreographer D.J. Giagni puts his vision onstage

D.J. Glagni is choreographer for "Singin' in the Rain."

By Ethel Simmone staff writer

When "Singin' in the Rain was on Broadway, "It wan't successful. They didn't have a good creative team," said D.J. Giagni, choreographer for the current Birmingham production.

He said that the Broadway direc-tor tried to put the film on stage. "There's no point in trying to recreate the movie. All the songs, dance and story, it's better for the audience to see live."

Giagni compared the blg produc-tion number in the second act, "Broadway Melody," to the movie version. "There was a dream sequence in the film with Cyd Charisse. Ours is a nice big tap dance, with Don Lockwood. It's all about rhythm."

He said a lot of small changes were made by the director, Theodore Pappas. "He uses the side stages of the Birmingham Theatre, to keep the pace and rhythm. On stage, there are quick blackouts using the side stag-es. Between the second and third scene, we've added a tango, to change the set upstage. "Ted is also a choreographer, and we opted to split up the choreography. It's not often you work with a director who understands dancing. Ted staged the Beautiful Girls' num-ber and 'All I Do Is Dream of You.' We did the finale together."

THE ENTIRE CAST of 22 people appears in the finale, a reprise of "Singin' in the Rain." In "Broadway Rhythm," Don, Cosmo and 15 dancers perform.

"The hardest number is 'Singin' in the Rain,' because of technical diffi-culties," Giagni said. The solo num-ber, where the character Don does Gene Kelly's famous dance, requires him to get an umbrella and hat, change shoes and coat.

During the spectacular sequence, rain pours down from overhead and Don dances in puddles. Afterwards,

"The stage is sometimes a little slip-pery. The pipes leak a little bit. There are a few glitches."

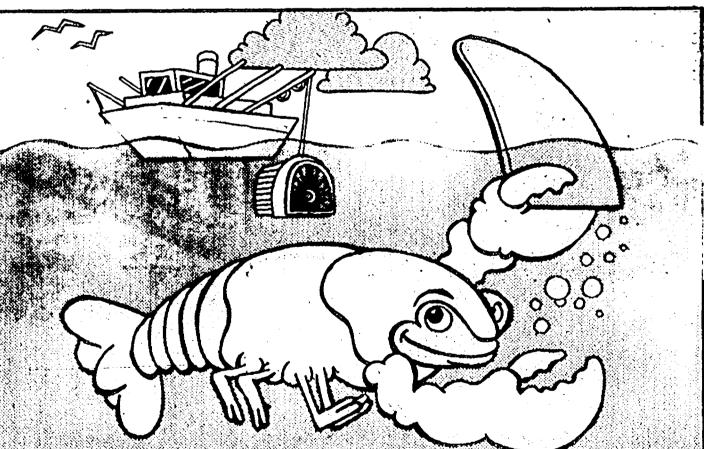

Giagni said he has seen the movie "Singin' in the Rain" at least 10 times. "As a dancer, it's the quintes-sential dance film," he said.

When Giagni returns to New York, it will be to start work on the new Stephen Sondheim musical "Assassins," about people who tried to as-sassinate Presidents' of the United States.

GLAGNI IS THE SON of Danny, Daniels, Tony-award-winning chore; ographer for the Broadway hit "Tap Dance Kid." Because D.J.'s first; name is Daniel, or Danny, the same was assistant choreographer," Glagni said. "I was not in the show but I danced for Jay the Mouse" (he did?

the dancing first, which was recreated for the animated character). Giagni was born and raised in New York, "I'm a Broadway baby," he said with a grin. He and his wife live in Staten Island with their daughter, 4, and son, 3.

Although Giagni studied ballet and danced with ballet companies in the United States and France, when he got out of high school, he was going to be a composer. "I was about 23 when I started tap dancing seriously," he said.

Choreographing a show about song-and-dance team "Harrigan and Hart," he did research of the period. He will do monthlong research for "Assassins," "to have the flavor and texture to what the movement is." Giagni also worked as associate choreographer on "Tap Dance Kid" and "Annie II" and has done work on pre-Broadway shows.

IN FILM, he was assistant choreographer on "Pennles from Heaven," spending a whole year on the project. "My job was to teach Steve Martin to tap dance," he said. For "Exorcist II: the Heretic" he did the choreography for a tap dance number when Linda Blair gets possessed by the devil.

He spent two months teaching Mark Hammill (of "Star Wars" fame) how to tap dance, for "Harrigan and Hart," at the Goodspeed Opera House. The show ran five performances on Broadway.

Glagni seemed like the right person to ask, Is the Hollywood musical dead? "Just as animation found a whole new exposure, I think the same thing will be happening with the movie musical. It will be rediscovered."

He said that on Broadway, the domination of London West End musicals seems to be ending, with such hits as "Grand Hotel" and "City of Angels." "That will happen to Hollywood. They feed off each other."

Blood pressure may soar at mere sight of doctor

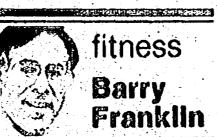

Did you know that.

• Memory problems are a relatively common side effect of coronary artery bypass surgery. Happily, for almost all patients, the difficulties usually disappear within a few months.

• Several studies now suggest that 20 to 30 percent of patients diagnosed as "having high blood pressure" may not be hypertensive at all. It appears that anxiety temporarily increases some peoples blood pres-sure when they visit the doctor's office. This phenomenon is referred to as "white coat hypertension."

• In a 1989 survey by the national Institute of Drug Abuse, about 5 percent of the nearly 17,000 high school boys surveyed admitted that they had used anabolic steroids to build muscle or improve their appearance. Unfortunately, many peo-ple are still unaware of the dangers of these drugs.

• Nathan Pritikin of Pritikin Diet fame had a heart attack in 1955, At the time his blood cholesterol was 280. After-30-years of following a sensible exercise program and a low fat, low cholesterol diet, he died of cancer. One year before his death his blood cholesterol had decreased to

94! A post-mortem examination showed his coronary arteries to be remarkably free of any cholesterol buildup,

• Shorter men appear to be at in-creased risk for heart disease. According to a recent study, the risk of a heart attack was almost twice as great in men who were less than 5foot-6-inches tall than it was for men over 5-foot-10.

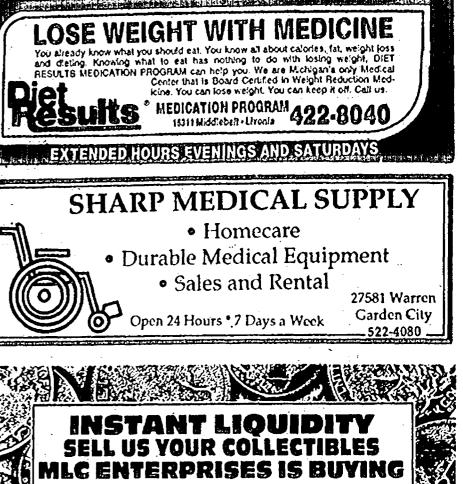

• A just-published report indicates that sperm production decreases during the summer months.

State-ranked teams settle for draw

Gentile's 2 goals save Churchill vs. Spartans

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Churchill came back from the dead Wednesday, rallying for two goals in the final eight minutes to gain a 2-2 tie with city rival Ste-1- and No. 2-ranked boys soccer going. 'teams.

Thursday, September 20, 1990 O&E

throng, left both teams with identical 5-0-1 records.

It also marked the first meeting between first-year coaches Walt Barrett of Stevenson and Mark Mason of Churchill.

Mike Gentile, a junior midfielder, was the hero for host Churchill, scoring both of his team's goals.

The first occurred with 7:55 remaining in the game when he caught Churchill box. the Spartans' defense hedging up, tapping in a shot on a pass from junlor Darlo Rauker.

The goal seemed to wake up the Chargers, who had been lethargic for shots in the opening half. nearly 60 of the 80 minutes of play.

With 5:42 to go, Churchill took advantage of a break, capitalizing on a Stevenson foul just outside the box in front of the Spartans' net.

Gentile then rifled in a direct free kick, drilling a shot from 20 yards out, just to the left of the Spartans' defensive wall.

ALTHOUGH STUNNED by the sudden turn of events, Stevenson

Stevenson appeared to have the The game, played before a large ball on a string, dominating for nearly 40 minutes.

The Spartans took a 1-0 lead with 19:18 left in the half when senior defender Travis Roy scored on a direct free kick from 25 yards out, putting a shot in the upper left-hand corner of the Churchill goal, beating the Chargers' five-man wall.

The restart came when Krzisnik was tripped on a foul just outside the

CHURCHILL, meanwhile, couldn't get anything going, recording only one corner kick and a few harmless

"My coaching staff pointed out some things to me," said Mason, the Churchill coach. "I was trying to force my style of play. Changes had to be made. We needed more strength up front. In the first half we didn't have much of an attack going."

Mason went with four forwards instead of three, pushing Gentile from midfield to forward.

'We needed some scoring punch nearly shook off the effects when a up front," he said. "We were clogg-Todd Krizlsnik shot rang off the post ing up the midfield and that's why we didn't do anything the first half. We had to loosen up the midfield. with 3:45 remaining. But the Spartans had to settle for a tie and left the field with a sour taste in their mouths, "They're frustrated," said Barrett. "We were playing great, but they (Churchill) caught us on a good play. They earned the first goal.

"But unfortunately for us it was a restart on the second one. What can you say?"

The hustling play of All-Area de-fender Brian Mitchell seemed to set quicker to the situation." But despite the changes, the Chargers found themselves down 2-0 just 7:07 into the second half when Krzisnik, the junior forward, tucked in a shot on a short cross from Adam Carriere.

But the momentum began to slowly shift Churchill's way during the IInal 20 minutes.

comes tiring to play defense all the time," said Mason. "They seemed to be more defensive and sat back. We controlled a lot of the game in the. second half, except for a few breaka-ways they made." Barrett, however, offered a different viewpoint of the way things unfolded.

'I didn't think we changed a thing," said the Stevenson coach. "Our plan was to keep attacking, re-gardless of how many goals we had. We just opened the door with the one goal. A one-goal margin is not enough to keep Churchill off your back. But our team played well and Churchill played well, too. I like Churchill's work and buildup in the midfield." "Rauker and (Aaron) Sawicky did a nice job for us in the midfield area," said Mason. "It was a matter of getting the right people in the right places."

Both goalies — Churchill's Jeff Cassar and Stevenson's Scott Plagenhoef --- did yeoman's work.

EACH TEAM was also down a key player.

Churchill was missing one of its leading scorers, junior forward Dominic Vella, who was serving a one-game suspension after being day, Oct. 17.

O&E champ Caddy comes in handy for Urbats

By Steve Kowalski staff writer *

Bob Urbats brought a caddy with him for the final round of the Observer & Eccentric Golf Tournament Sunday, and It's a good thing since he was out late the night before.

The extra help must have done some good, as the 86-year-old Livonia resident responded with a twoover par 72 in the wind and rain to take his first-ever. O&E title at Whispering Willows. See results Livonia. on page 6D.

. The rest of Urbats' foursome went solo, but he was glad to have his brother Mike at his side for all 18 holes during the championship flight.

Urbats finished with a two-day total of 141 (69-72) and afterwards bought his brother a drink in the clubhouse to show his appreciation.

"I should buy him a lot more back with a 71. than that," said Bob. "I went to a been playing the wedding and got to bed about one can remember." last night. When I got up and saw the rain, I said 'Oh my God.' But the blood came through today. He helped out in the rain, with an umbrella and keeping the clubs dry."

URBATS, A VETERAN of more than 10 O&E tourneys, is notorious for being inconsistent. But not this weekend, as he was able to outduel 28 others in the top flight, including second-place Alex McLuckle (73-74, 147), of Livonia, and third-place Richard Quiton (73-75, 148), also of Urbats won a $225 gift certificate for winning the Championship Flight and Quiton took home a $120 gift certificate for winning the net division (including handlcap).

"Urbats always has one very good round and one not so very good," said Whispering Willows Golf Professional Gary Whitener. "He'll shoot an 81 and then come back with a 71. He's a good kid, been playing the O&E as long as I Urbats, who says he normally plays "pretty good in rainy, windy weather," lived up to that reputation Sunday. After shooting a fourover par 39 on the front nine, Ur-bats closed out strong, with a sterling back-nine score of 33.

Urbats had three birdles on the back nine, including one on the par-4, 341-yard 11th hole — where he chipped in a 40-foot shot for a three.

"I kind of snuck that one in," Urbats said. "I prayed to just get it on the green so I could put for a four. I kind of figured things were going my way. These greens are in the best shape I've seen in a long time. Even in the rain you can really roll the ball."

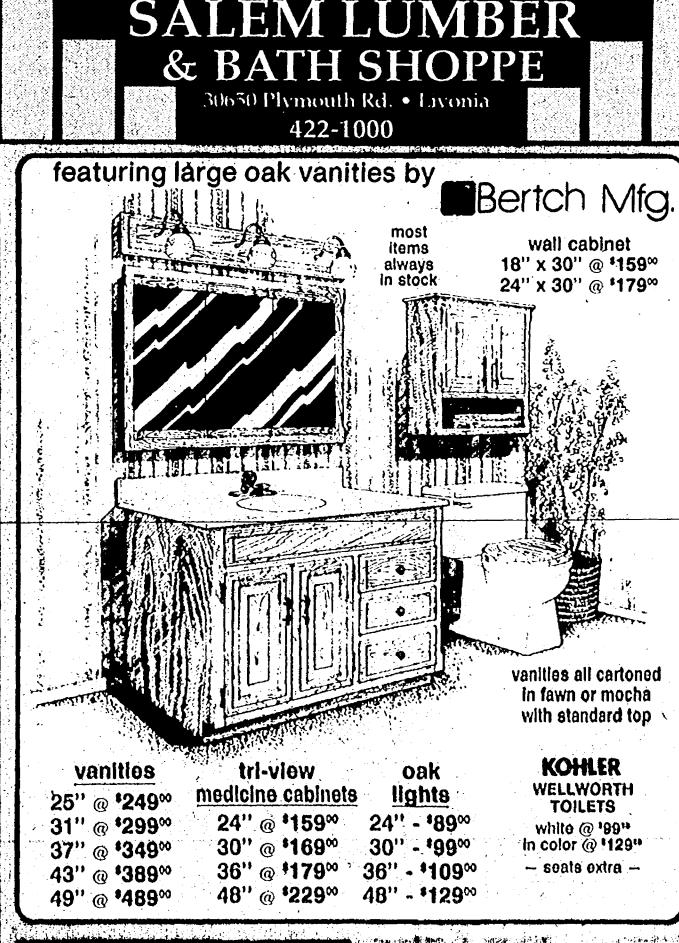

URBATS, WHO carries a twohandicap, had a four-shot edge over McLuckie after the first round. McLuckle owns a one-handicap butknew it would be tough to catch Urbats on the final round - regardless of the past.

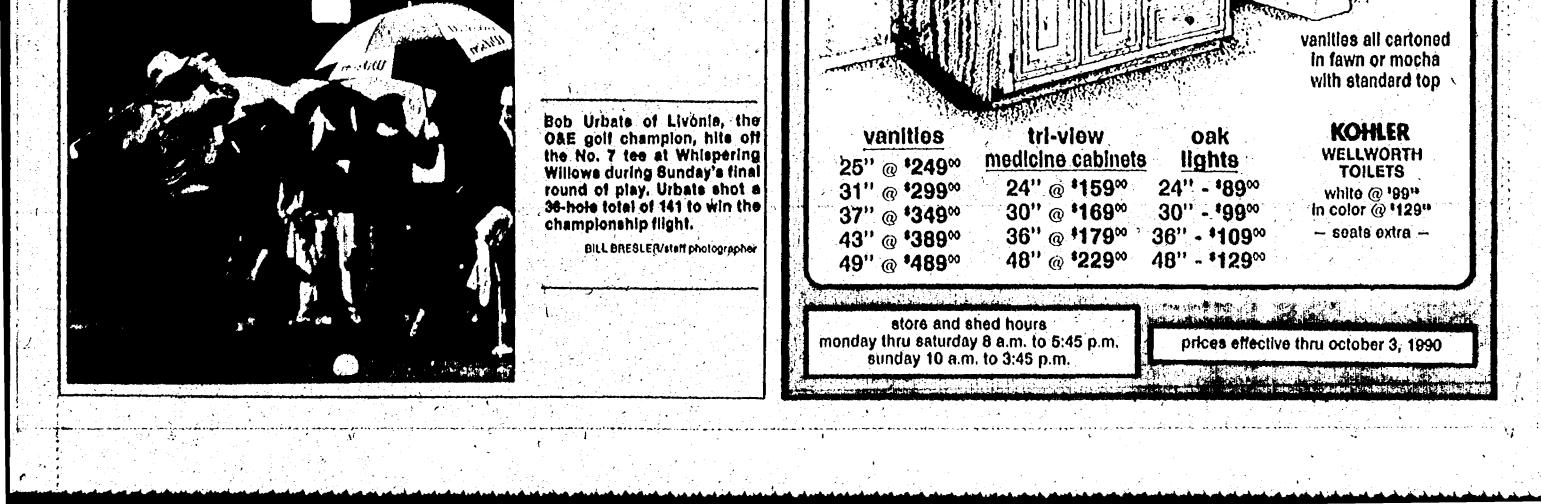

This was the second-straight second place finish for McLuckie, a 29-year-old who would like to win the O&E sometime this decade,

"I'm sick of being the brides. maid — especially to Urbats," he said, half-joking. "I know Bob's track record (of having one good round and one bad), but four shots

Chiefs rule relays

Plymouth Canton swimmers were in the right place at the right time Saturday, according to coach Hooker Wellman.

The Chiefs were impressive but surprise winners in the annual Western Lakes Activities Association Relays at Plymouth Salem.

The Canton girls won four relays, including the diving, to capture the title for the second time in three years with a 250-point total. The Chiefs were second last year.

"We talked about swimming well, not making any mistakes and seeing what we could learn from the meet," said Wellman, admitting Canton didn't anticipate finishing on top with teams like North Farmington, Livonla Stevenson and Northville competing. "They got in there, held themselves together and did what they were supposed to do."

Plymouth Salem also had a good meet, taking second place with 228 points. North and Northville tied for third with 190, and Stevenson (169), Livonia Churchill (167) and Farmington Hills Harrison (165) were bunched together in the Nos. 5-7 places.

NORTH WAS disqualified in the first event, the 400-yard medley, but would have taken first place with a record time of 4:10.87. The 36 points the Raiders would have received for winning that race would have tled them for second place with Salem.

While some teams loaded up in certain relays, the Chiefs benefitted from their depth, having enough good swimmers to win some of the other races. Each swimmer was allowed to compete in two just events, limiting the impact of outstanding individuals.

"It makes it hard if you've got a small team," Wellman said. "We've got 51. It's very crowded at practice, but it's an advantage in a meet like this.'

Canton, which held the lead from the third event, set a record in diving

swimming

with senior Becky Hoisington and Junior Amy Kodrik achieving a combined score of 432.15 points. Northville's Wendy Beach and Michelle Beacham set the old record of 392.75 two years ago.

Amy has been diving the year round at Eastern Michigan," Well-man said, "and both went to Boca Raton (Fla.) and worked with Ron O'Brien, who is Greg Louganis' diving coach. So they've had good training, and both have grown up and matured a lot."

The Chlefs captured the 400-yard freestyle with Jeni Cooper, Janet Roberts, Chris Lang and Pam Pritchard swimming that race.

Canton's victories in the 200 backstroke and 200 butterfly reflected its depth as the Chiefs capitalized on other teams concentrating their top people in specific events.'

April Billins, Jill Mellis, Amy Butzlaff and Nicole Montresor won the backstroke, and Beth Yack, Jill-Barnes, Sonya McWhirter and Erica Carson comprised the winning team in the butterfly.

Meet records also were set in the 200 breast stroke by North Farmington and the 200 freestyle by Church-111.

EMILY SHIVELY, Sherri Richardson, Anna Palmer and Carrie Worthen swam 2:15.52 in the breast, eclipsing the 1988 mark of 2:15.84 by the Raiders. Tara Ditchkoff, Ellen Lessig, Liz Sorokac and Carla Karoub went 1:44.74 in the freestyle, surpassing the time (1:48.3) recorded last year by Farmington.

Other event winners were Stevenson in the 400 medley (4:21.49) and the crescendo (5:02.85), North in the 400 individual medley (4:32.18) and Northville in the 200 medley (1:59,21).

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer Alex McLuckie of Livonia was runnerup in the championship flight to Bob Urbats, another Livonian. He shot a 38hole total of 147.

is a lot to make up and the weather wasn't very good. Anything could happen. I just went out and tried my best, unfortunately it wasn't good enough."

The O&E championship flight field wasn't quite as strong as in past years, mainly because the Michigan Mid-Amateur Tournament was held the same weekend in Kalamazoo. As many as 10 contenders missed, including two-time champion John VanVleck, and defending champ Gary Cauzillo. Whitener said it's hard picking a weekend for the O&E without having to worry about competition from other tournaments.

The Women's O&E tournament was canceled earlier this summer, but Whitener is hoping to have it back next year, as strong as ever.

"Next year, I think we'll have posters and hang them up in our three (Livonia) clubs (Whispering Willows, Idyl Wild and Fox Creek), reminding people (men and women) two months in advance," Whitener said.

FIRST FLIGHT: Jon Paupore, a first-time entree and a student at Plymouth Canton High School, won' the First Flight with a two-day to-golf tal of 155 (77-78). Paupore edged second-place Allan Brink (75-81), of Berkley, by one stroke, and Livo-nia's Andrew Ponke took third (80-79, 159). Paupore won a $190 gift certificate and David Meyers, of Farmington Hills, won $110 for the best net score.

SECOND-FLIGHT: Thomas Blazer, of Canton, took first with a two day total of 167 (82-85). Kevin Behn, of Farmington Hills, placed second with a 169 (84-85), followed in third place by Livonia's Robert Legel (82-90, 178).

Blazer won a $110 gift certificate and Robert Legel a $70 glit certificate for the best net score.

THIRD FLIGHT: Dennis Furlong of Farmington Hills took first place with a 180 (86-94). Dan Gutowski (Livonia) tied Redford's F. Robert Taylor for second place with identical 190 scores.

Furlong won a $75 gift certificate and Gutowski won $40 for the best net score.

Shamrocks tie Athens kickers 1-1; beat Foley

Redford Catholic Central soccer coach John Boots doesn't think there's a better Class B team in the state than Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

But Foley's still not in CC's class, literally and figuratively.

Four different CC players scored as the Class A Shamrocks beat the host Ventures, 4-1, Monday in a nonconference game. CC led 1-0 at halftime and controlled the second half in improving its overall record to 4-1-1. Foley is 5-1 overall.

"I honestly can't see another Class B team beating them," Boots said of Foley. "They're a typical good high school team and play real physical. We played real well in the second half."

Kerry Zavagnin, Dana Orsucci, Rich Walos and Steve Witek had one goal each for the Shamrocks. Zavagnin, a junior center-halfback, also had a pair of assists. Orsucci leads the Shamrocks with six goals.

GOALKEEPER, Tim Bobar earned the win to move his personal record to 3-0-1.

"He's played very well the last four games," Boots said. "He keeps getting stronger and stronger. Our goalkeeping has gotten better and we're playing much better because of it because the players have confidence in our goalkeeping."

The CC win comes two days after the Shamrocks and host Troy Athens played to a 1-1 tie.

Athens tied the game in the second half, scoring a "garbage" goal, ac-cording to Bools, after a scramble in front of the CC net. CC took the game's only lead, before halftime on a goal by Orsucci, assisted by de-fender Joe Sebestyen. Boots was pleased with the effort.

"For the first time this year, Catholic Central showed it was capable of playing with the 'Big Boys,'" he said. "By that I mean, Troy Athens, Livonia Churchill and Stevenson and Plymouth Salem."

STEVENSON 5, FARMING-2 TON 0: On Monday, host Livonia Ster venson (4-0) got goals from Adam Pichler, Todd Krzisnik, Matt Grodzicki, Tim Lampi and Adam Carriere to whip the Falcons.

Scott Plagenhoef and Matt Stabile combined on the shutout.

Weight Loss Mystery Baffles Scientists

WASHINGTON-Scientists are baffled by a natural food ingredient that causes people to lose weight even though they don't change the way they normally eat. A study published in The British Journal of Nutrition says that the ingredlent, often used to thicken ice cream, can cause significant weight loss. Although several explanations for the weight loss are auggested, the most likely according to scientists in a Finnish study, is that the ingredient seems to decrease the intestinal absorption of calories.

National Dictary Research, an organization committed to the research and development of nutritional solutions to world wide health problems, along with consulting scientists, have successfully. isolated and incorporated the ingredient. into an improved method that greatly enhances the potential for weight loss over the ingredient alone. Called Food Source One, the significant breakprovides a three-way scientifically designed meth absorption.

If you check the past 13-year history of the Schoolcraft College Girls Cross Country Invitational meet you'll see Redford-Union-quite frequently on the board, either as a first or second place team.

It's been a while since the Panthers won the coveted title, but on Saturday coach Bob Ouellette's team broke an nine-year drought, winning its first team title since 1981. RU has now won four team titles and has been runner-up four other times (including 1989).

It was pretty much a two-school race and a two-girl race as Walled Lake Western's one-two punch of Jennifer Ray and Wendy Proos posted the top times of 20:05.96 and 20:12.08, respectively, over the 5,000-meter course.

RU scored 76 points with Livonia Stevenson only nine off the pace (85). Defending champion Farmington finished third with 102. See statistical summary.

"The kids just say 'Run the best you can, and whatever happens, happens,"' said Ouellette. "Today we ran as well as we could."

RU had only one runner make the top 10. Senior Liza Mockeridge finished seventh.

Meanwhile, Stevenson had three crack the top 10 - sophomore Stacy Prais (third), sophomore A.J. Koritnik (ninth) and Carrie Creehan (10th).

BUT IT WAS the rest of the Panthers' contingent - junior Tracey James (12th), senior Michelle Daraban (14th), senior Mellssa Still (21st) and junior Jenni Sturdevant (22nd) - helped make the victory possible.

"Stevenson is awfully good," said Ouellette, "but we have nine kids who run absolutely together all the time. And we stress it.

"I'm really happy for these kids, especially the seniors. They're the ones who came out when there was nothing. They're really no different than the good boys teams we've had at RU. They run hard all the time." Stevenson, making a bid for its first title ever, may have been the victim of bad timing.

The Spartans' fourth runner, junfor Gall Grewe, took 15th place. Freshman Amy Klassa, filling in for the injured Becky Adamcyzk, gained 48th.

"It was a nice effort by our ninth grader," said Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg. "Our top four have been solid all along. If we get Becky back, we'll be that much better. But I can't knock Amy. She's going to be a factor in a lot of our meets because

The start of the girls race was a sign of things to come as Walled Lake Western's Jennifer Ray and teammate Wendy Proos finished one-two she's improving each time out."

ADAMCYZK has yet to run after burting her back while water skiing over Labor Day weekend.

"We hoped she could run today, but she wasn't really ready and it was not the wise thing to do," said Holmberg.

Stevenson's most pleasant surprise is Prais, who finished third in 20:20.19.

"This is her first year, she was a hurdler for me in track last spring," Holmberg said. "She came to me from the marching band. She's getting better and better."

Like Stevenson, Western coach Ed Roselle believes his team is one runner away from grabbing a major title after finishing sixth Saturday in the team standings.

He said his combination of Ray, a sophomore, and Proos, a junior, can get even better.

The Farmington standout, however, didn't need a late burst on Saturday.

"It was real cold, but I didn't mind," he said. "My hands got numb around the two-mile mark. The temperature was great, but it was the wind. It slowed everybody down. But it's better than the heat."

Despite nearly a 14-second advantage, Goba felt the presence of the pack behind him.

"The Walled Lake Western guys pushed me a lot and Molly is real ood, he's only a junior," said Goba. "Today everybody was off fairly fast, but I stayed back a little. I just had to run my race."

Franklin rolls to 49-25 win

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Franklin left city rival Stevenson hanging out to dry Tuesday, pounding the Spartans in a battle of unbeaten girls basketball teams, 49-25.

The host Patriots, who won their sixth straight, still have few things to iron out before they take on the upper echelon of the Western Lakes Activitles Association.

But for 4-1 Stevenson, which had high hopes of competing among the WLAA's elite, it felt like a night at your local Laundromat.

"Yes, I expected more than what they (Stevenson) showed," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman. "But I thought we did a nice job of containing Teresa Sarno (19 points) even though she got her baskets. When they get her the ball in the post, things start to happen. And when that happens it opens up for their guards, like Laura Zatorski and Jenny Audet, who can shoot it from outside. "I think defensively our kids did a good job of helping out against her inside."

Sarno, a 5-foot-10 junior, was smothered most of the night by Franklin senior center Jenny Mayle.

When the Patriots collapsed around Sarno, Franklin's defense dared the Spartans to shoot from outside.

THE STRATEGY paid off. Stevenson shot a miserable 17 percent (9-for-51) from the floor, failing to convert several easy inside baskets.

Despite a decided height advantage and a 35-31 rebounding edge, the Spartans could not capitallze against the Patriots, who led 27-12 at halftime and were never seriously threatened in the second half.

Sarno, who grabbed 14 rebounds, had little help. Of the five Stevenson starters, Audet was the only other player to score. She had a free throw, Franklin, meanwhile, used a balanced attack, led by junior guard Dawn Warner, who popped in 19 points; and senior forward Julianne Stesiak, who added 14.

"Dawn shares the ball with her teammates, she knows if they try to shut her down, she can go to other people like Juli," said Freeman. "We have some balance. We have some other people we can go to. And a girl like Patty Shea, who keys our defense, keeps us in the ballgame." Warner, now in her third season on the varsity. wasn't required to turn it up a notch against the Spartans on this night.

"SOMETIMES SHE'S too unselfish," said Freeman. "She's improved, but she doesn't shoot as much as I like. But when she has to, she steps it up and will shoot it."

Freeman called the Patriots' offense "ragged" against Stevenson.

"We work hard on setting it up, but we never scored off our offense tonight, it was mostly freelance plays," said the Franklin coach, whose, team shot 39 percent from the field (19-for-48). "Juli had a few, and we had some others off some backdoor cuts. Our guards see the floor well, but. our offense didn't flow the way it can."

Freeman knows that there will be stiffer challenges ahead in the WLAA.

"We're not taking anybody lightly," he said." "Before we were able to sneak up on people," Teams are looking at us now and it's tougher to; stay there.

"We have the players and we're where we should be. We just want to get better and better with each game."

It wasn't that the Patriots got better on this night, it was a case of the the Spartans gettingworse.

encounter Rockets blast Wayne in city

Westland John Glenn coasted to a 58-24 girls basketball victory Tuesday over city rival Wayne Memorial.

The host Rockets led 25-11 at halftime and never looked back.

Glenn converted 15-of-23 free throws to help the cause.

Junior guard Carrie Rachwal paced Glenn with 15 points, while junior center Cathy Mruk chipped in with 14 points and nine rebounds.

The win evens the Rockets record at 3-3.

The Zebras, who got 10 points from Lotten Holmgren; fall to 1-2.

COUNTRY DAY 58, LADYWOOD 50: Kelly Mires scored 19 points and pulled down 10 rebounds

Tuesday to power Birmingham Country Day to a win over visiting Livonia Ladywood (2-3).

Country Day (3-3) led 26-18 at halftime and 40-34 after three quarters.

Natalie Neaton added 11 points and five steals to the Country Day offensive attack.

NORTHVILLE 48, CHURCHILL 16: On Tuesday, the host Mustangs outscored Livonia Churchill 23-7 in the third quarter to record their third win of the season.

Karen Pump and Kate Holstein scored 14 points aplece for Northyllle.

The Chargers (3-2) had nobody in double figures.

HURON VALLEY 44, FAIRLANE 27: Huron Valley Lutheran of Westland rolled to its third win of the season Tuesday by defeating host Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian.

Huron Valley converted 5-of-10 free throws, while Fairlane made 5-of-8. Nancy List and Sandi Dengel sparked the scoring attack for Huron Valley, posting 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Huron Valley (2-3) led 21-17 at halftime and 33-20 after three quarters.

LUTHERAN WEST 53, ST. ALPHONSUS 44: Stephanie Locke poured in a game-high 19 points Tuesday to lead Lutheran Westland to a win over host Dearborn St. Alphonsus.

Junior guard Kristen Strang added 12 points for Lutheran Westland.

Tina White paced the Arrows with 11 points. The Warriors (5-1) converted 18-of-29 free throws, while St. Al's (1-3) made 5-of-13.

CC product earns start for Badgers

As a senior at Redford Catholic Central two years ago, Plymouth's Lee Krueger wanted to play college football in the Big Ten.

He was an all-stater who helped the Shamrocks reach the Class A flstead.

Krueger wasn't discouraged by the lack of attention from the big teams.

A two-time state champion in wrestling, he took the University of Wisconsin's offer in that sport with the intention of trying football as a walk-on player.

Now, a short time into his collegiate career, Krueger has proved to himself and his doubters he belonged in the Big Ten afterall. Krueger, a redshirted freshman, will be in the starting lineup at noseguard Satur--day when the Badgers entertain Temple in Madison, Wis.

"I GUESS I never let that get to me when they told me that," Krueger said. "I just wanted to do it for myself. My dream was to play Big Ten ball, and I wanted to carry it out. I'm not out to prove anyone wrong."

The 6-foot-1, 252-pound Krueger, who has added more than 35 pounds since high school, was told Monday by defensive coordinator Dan McCarney he would be the starter this week.

He didn't play in the season opener against California, but he split time with former starter Patrick Thompson of Oak Park in last week's win over Ball State.

"(The coaches) said I played the better game and right now I'm the No. 1 noseguard. 'Keep it up,'"

Once the game starts you forget about everything else and concentrate on your assignment."

> Walk-on players usually are treated as lower-class citizens until they prove themselves on the field, and that was Krueger's objective a year ago when he was a linebacker for the scout team.

> "ALL YOU can do is show the coaches you can hit, and maybe they'll remember you for next year," Krueger sald.

> But the Badgers underwent a coaching change in the off-season. Don Morton was fired as head coach, and former Notre Dame assistant Barry Alvarez brought in a new staff.

"It was kinda like starting over again," Krueger said. "I can't say what the outcome would have been with the old staff. I think (the , expected this much." change) is an advantage to everybody. I think we're being pushed more and getting more out of everybody."

Not only did Krueger have to prove himself to a new-set of coaches, but he had to rebound from a knee injury, which required arthroscopic surgery, during wrestling last December.

Krueger recovered in time to wrestle again and earned a varsity letter, though he was disappointed with the season he had.

"I was kinda nervous because I Krueger said. "Nothing is for sure. I never had anything like (the knee injury) before," he said. "Now it's like it never happened."

Krueger entered fall practice as one of the top three noseguards. He knew he was making progress when the coaches told him to be ready to play against Ball State.

"THEY SAID for the first time being on the field (in an actual game since high school) I had a great game," Krueger said. "In spring ball, I was trying to work hard, so I could play some this year. I never

The Badgers will have a week off after the Temple game, which means two weeks to prepare for Michigan, which plays at Wisconsin · on Saturday, Oct. 6.

Krueger will be on the opposite sideline from former CC teammates Erik Knuth and Pete Elozevic. Knuth also plays noseguard and Elozevic is a kicker for the Wolverines.

"Right now I'm concentrating on Temple," Krueger said. "I've gotta work hard so I don't lose my spot. I know (the Owls) are a real big team, and they like to hit. They go all out, so we're in for a real battle."

Glenn-North battle looms

By Dan O'Meara and Brad Emons

staff writers

THE BIG GAME in Observerland this week will be played Saturday night at Westland John Glenn.

As always, the Rockets and North Farmington have fine football teams, and the winner will as: sume the role of favorite in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Glenn isn't the only undefeated team in the area. Wayne Memorial and Lutheran Westland will try for No. 4 while facing tough opponents.

On the prognosticating scene, some people wondered if Dan O'Meara had conceded the race and dropped out when his picks didn't appear in print last week.

That's probably what he should have done, looking back on it now.

But, no, he made his picks - and promptly lost more ground to Brad Emons, who was the only one to go on the public record with his predictions due to a computer error.

Emons had another outstanding week, going 13-1 and raising his overall record to 41-6. O'Meara didn't do that bad compared to other weeks. He was 12-2 this time and is 36-11 for the season.

For the matchups and predictions in Week No. 4, keep on reading:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all games at 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Redford Union at Edsel Ford, 3:30 p.m.: Are the Thunderbirds headed for another Northwest Suburban League title? Edsel Ford (2-1) knocked off preseason favorite Woodhaven 28-6 on Saturday. The Panthers are winless in three games but gave unbeaten Dearborn a struggle Friday, losing 10-0. Picks: The T'Birds roar their engines.

Garden City at Woodhaven: The Cougars (2-1) saw their winning streak end last week in a 43-7 loss to unbeaten Ypsilanti Lincoln. Woodhaven (2-1) hopes to rebound from its defeat at the hands of Edsel Ford. Picks: The Warriors have a close call, but squeak by at home.

Lincoln Park at Wayne Memorial: The amazing Zebras are 3-0 overall and 2-0 in the Wolverine A Conference, surviving a scare against Wyandotte when opposing back Joe Allano was tackled on the Wayne 1-yard-line after running 45 yards on the last play of the game Friday. The Zebras won 12-7. The Railsplitters are 2-1, losing their first game last week to Belleville, 10-0. Picks: Lincoln Park won't stop Wayne, says O'Meara. Emons takes Lincoln Park.

Det. Lutheran West at Clarenceville: The Leopards, who rolled over Hamtramck 61-0 last week, are 2-1 and ranked No. 9 in Class DD. Clarenceville had a two-game winning streak stopped Saturday when Mount Clemens Lutheran North defeated the Trojans 41-6. Clarenceville quarterback Kendrick Harrington was injured in that game, but probably will be able to play this week. Picks: The Leopards will be leapi

Liv. Stevenson at W.L. Central: Stevenson has yet to play a team that has won a game, but that matters little to the Spartans, who beat Farmington 12-0 to remain undefeated (3-0). The Vikings are another winless opponent, losing to Milford, Harrison and North Farmington. The Raiders beat Contral 35-0 Saturday. Picks: Stevenson can chalk up No. 4.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Luth, Westland at Grosse Pte. Liggett: A clash of unbeaten teams will take place on the east side. The Warriors are 3-0 for the first time in school history after toppling wintess Tekonska, 26-16. Liggett also is 3-0, its latest win being a 28-7 win over Kingston from the Thumb area. Picks: Liggett gets in its licks against the Warriors, who drop their first game

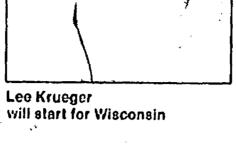

D.H. Annapolis at Red. Thurston: Thurston (2-1) has a twogame win streak going after losing its opener to state-ranked Dearborn Heights Robichaud. They share the lead in the Tri-River League with a 2-0 record after beating Taylor Center 11-6 Annapolis is 0-2 and 1-2, losing 23-12 to unbeaten Taylor Truman last week. Picks: It's time for O'Meara to get on the Eagles' bandwagon after making the wrong prediction two games. in a row. Emons also sticks with Thurston.

Ply. Salem at Farmington: The Rocks (1-2) haven't work since the first week when they trounced Trenton, but they've faced two teams - Northville and Westland John Glenn - that are 6-0 in their last two games. The Falcons (0-3) hope the home field means something in this Lakes Division contest. Picks: Salem's record rises to .500.

Bishop Borgess at O.L. St. Mary's: The Spartans could be 3-0 if not for a last-minute field goal by Dearborn Divine Child, which sent Borgess to its first loss Saturday night, 9-8. Borgess has played impressive football, but St. Mary's is a tough opponent despite its 1-2 record. Picks: Borgess has a winning debut in the Catholic League's Tri-Sectional Division. Emons takes St. Mary's.

N. Farmington at Westland Glenn, 6 p.m.: The Lakes Dive sion title could be decided in this game, which pits perenniat contenders against each other. The Raiders have rolled in their last two games since dropping the opener to Pontiac Northern. But those opponents - Churchill and Central - are 0-6, and North will have something to prove. The Rockets, coming off a 20-14 win over Salem, are 3-0 and would certainly cause their stock to rise with a win here. Ditto for the Ralders. Picks: Glenn emerges with a victory.

Red. St. Agatha vs. A.A. Richard, 7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field: After going 0-3 in the preseason, including a 6-0 loss to Barrie, Ontario, in its last game, St. Agatha hopes to start Catholic League C-Division play with a win. The Fighting Irish are Agatha guarterback Brian Kutch sidelined with a knee injury, could make his first appearance this year. Picks: It's a toss-up. The coin toss says St. Agatha.

Pats can't corral Mustangs

Lutheran Westland prevails;

For the first time in the school's four-year existence, Lutheran Westland's football team has produced a three-game winning streak.

The Warriors ran their record to 3-0 Saturday with a 26-16 victory over visiting Tekonsha.

Lutheran Westland will go for its fourth straight Saturday when its hosts state-ranked Grosse Pointe University-Liggett, also 3-0. (Game time is 1 p.m.)

Quarterback Jason Zielinski tossed a pair of touchdown passes and David Gielow rushed for 115 yards in 18 carries to lead the Warriors' offensive attack.

Gielow opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 2yard run. Danny Hoeft caught the two-point conversion passs from Zielinski to make it 8-0.

Tekonsha, looking for its first win after being outscored 77-0 in its previous two starts, tled it in the second quarter on a 4-yard TD and two-point conversion run by Travis Hall.

Later in the quarter, Matt Grams caught a 13-yard touchdown pass from Zielinski to make it 14-8 at halftime.

In the third period, Grams and Zielinski hooked up again on a 25-yard scoring pass as the Warriors increased their lead to 20-8.

But Hall (52 yards in 16 attempts) came back for the Indians in the final quarter with a 2-yard TD run. He added the two-pointer to bring his team to within four points. 20-16.

With two minutes remaining, Hoeft, who added 99 yards in 20 carries, scored on an 8-yard dash. (Lutheran Westland missed its last three two-point conversion attempts.

The Warriors outgained Tekonsha in total yardage, 273-189.

Defensively, strong safety Bill Wargo and linebacker Ben Maton were each credited with nine tackles.

Zielinski added two interceptions, while Grams also picked off a pass and returned a pair of punts for 73 yards.

NORTHVILLE 28, FRANKLIN 27 (OT): Winless Livonia Franklin (0-3) fell victim to the big play Saturday as the visiting Mustangs (3-0) pulled out the victory in overtime.

"We shut their (Northville's) option pretty much down," said Franklin coach Armand Vigna. "And we moved it all day. I'm proud of the kids. We played right with them. We played to our potential. We're not the fastest or most talented kids, but we battled."

Northville got out of the gate quickly as junior quarterback Ryan Husjak, running an option on the game's first play, broke loose for a 63-yard TD run. (Brandon Hayes added the first of his four extra points.)

Franklin, capping a long drive, scored in second quarter on a 1-yard run by Fred Vargas, but trailed 7-6 after missing the extra point.

The Patriots, capitalizing on a Northville fumble, made it 14-7 at balitime on a 4-yard pass from Mike Geiger to J.J. Drabicki. Robert Boahbedason added the two-pointer.

On the opening kickoff of the second half, Northville's Bill Kelley tied it up on a 93-yard TD run.

The Mustangs went ahead later in the quarter on a 30-yard pass from Huzjak to Jamle Miller.

But with 4:00 to go, Shakarian culminated another long Franklin drive with a 1-yard TD run. Bobby Johnson's extra point sent the game into OT.

Northville, winning the flip to go into overtime, scored on third-and-goal at the 3 when Huzjak, taking a fake extra-point attempt, scored on an end-around. Hayes added the PAT to make it 28-21.

Franklin answered in two plays, Michael Krompatic caught a 7-yard pass from Geiger, and Shakarian, who rushed for 45 yards in 10 carries, tallied his second TD on a 3-yard run.

But the Patriots' fake extra-point attempt went awry as Northville held on for the win.

Franklin had 210 yards total offense. Geiger his 14 of 16 passes for 97 yards.

Northville totaled 149 yards total offense as Huzjak hit 8-of-13 for 78 yards.

Defensively, Franklin standouts included Johnson at tackle, Kirk Evans at at and Tony Facione at strong safety.

Northville defensive standouts included middle linebacker Bob Holloway and Brian Schultz.

Farm. Harrison at Liv. Churchill: The Hawks (2-1) made themselves the frontrunner in the race for the Western Division crown after beating its main challenger, Plymouth Canton, 21-15 The Chargers are 0-3 after losing 21-12 to Walled Lake Western. Picks: Harrison stays on track with another win.

Liv. Franklin at Pty. Canton: Both teams are stung by defeat Saturday. The Chiefs (2-1) must hope for help from other teams if they're to win the Western Division championship. Harrison turnovers provided fourth-quarter chances, but the Chiefs failed to take advantage. Franklin lost 28-27 to unbeaten Northville (3-0) in overtime when a conversion pass from kick forma-

Redford CC vs. Warren DeLaSalle, 7:30 p.m. at Rosevillo Memorial Field: The Shamrocks (2-1) begin their quest for a Central Division title, hoping to rebound from a 20-7 loss to Detroit King, the No. 2-rated team in Class AA. DeLaSalle also hopes to put an end to losing ways, but the Pilots (1-2) have played a murderous schedule, too. After beating Jackson in the opener, DeLaSalle has lost to Lake Orion and Ypsilanti, both state-ranked teams. Picks: CC makes sure the Pilots never get alrborne.

Fall is season of plenty for plants with the arrival of autumn comes the season of plenty. Vegetable plants started from seeds planted in pols on the windowsill while there was snow on the ground have now completed their cycle. Diligent gardeners can reap the benefits of their labor.

Thursday, September 20, 1990 O&E

Not only vegetable plants and cullivated flowers complete their cycle in late summer and fall, but wildflowers, plants, and animals do too.

As I walk along the trail I see evidence of several different kinds of fruits or seeds that are designed to propagate the next generation. Some with small hooks on their casings attach to my pant legs, others explode and shoot their seeds when dislurbed.

Many types of seeds are designed to disperse from the parent plant so they will not complete for nutrients. Through time alien species of plants come to reside in my garden? Maybe the wind blew the easily disjointed seedpod from the parent plant, or or maybe it got caught in the hair of introduced on the east coast have a wandering raccoon and eventually the seed got where it is and it is interesting to note some of its characteristics. As its name implies, it does have large heart shaped leaves which feel velvety to the touch. , Another common name of this plant is butter print. This name refers to the interesting shape of the seed pod. It would indeed make a very decorative pattern on a pad of butter.

Despite its velvety texture, the plant was originally introduced as a source of fiber to replace or supplement the use of manila or sisal. It did not have the qualities needed for fiber, but it did adapt well to disturbed areas where it is found today. If conditions are not immediately suitable for germination, seeds 60 years old have been known to be viable.

Hard water doesn't need to be a problem can I do to soften my water?

A. The most common water quality problem reported is hard water. Hard water is found in more than 85 percent of the United States. Over 60 percent of the earth's water is groundwater. It 'travels through rocks and soil picking up minerals, including calcium and magnesium. These two contaminants are the maferred to as "hardness" in water. Hardness is measured in grains per gallon (gpg). A range of 1.0-3.5 gpg is considered slightly hard. 10.5 or above is considered very hard.

Hard water can be detected easily by the consumer:

• Clogged pipes and/or appliances could be a sign of hard water. Mineral deposits can build up in pipes or plumbing equipment. A reduced water flow or increased number of calls to the repairmen can indicate a hard water problem.

• A film on the bathtub or shower, or even on the body can signal hard water.

• Water heating costs could increase due to hard water. When water is heated, the minerals can precipitate and form scale.

• The calcium and magnesium in hard water act on many soaps, detergents and shampoos to reduce their sudsing and cleaning capabilities.

In areas of very hard water, the local water utility may soften the

The most common option for water softening is for consumers to soften the water used in their household. There are many different types of water softeners. The most often used method for households is cation for cause of what is commonly re- exchange. An ion is al electrically charged atom or group of atoms, A cation is a positively charged ion. The water is softened when the hardness ions (magnesium and calcium) are exchanged with sodium ions.

On trial Embattled arts director fights obscenity charge

By Noreen Flack staff writer

HE "rollercoaster ride" began in February for Dennis Barrie, director of Cincinnati's Contemporary Arts Center.

Barrie and the CAC go to trial Sept. 24 on two misdemeanor charges of pandering obscenity and illegal use of a minor in nudity-oriented material in connection with displaying sexually explicit photographs included in the traveling exhibit by the late Robert Mapplethorpe.

On Sept. 13, Barrie gave more than 600 Detroit-area art loyers a taste of his seven-month-long "rollercoaster ride" as he lectured at Rackham Auditorium in Detroit The lecture was coordinated by the Detroit Focus Gallery, a nonprofit visual arts group.

Barrie was Midwest regional director of the Archives of America before he moved to Cincinnati seven years ago. Gere Baskin, Detroit Focus Gallery director, worked with Barrie for years. She said it was "a great pleasure" to ask him to speak in Detroit.

"We haven't received any negative feedback from the presentation," Baskin said. "I think most people are in favor of what he has done."

IN AN effort to "wake up" the art community in America, Barrie, a native Detroiter, has been touring the country since spring raising money to defend himself in court. His legal fees have passed $100,000 and could tor $200.000

With a tired yet persistent tone during his two-hour lecture last week, he urged local art supporters to get involved in the fight. His lecture theme: "Robert Mapplethorpe: Freedom of Expression and the First Amendment."

The two misdemeanor counts he faces stem from the CAC's April exhibit of Robert Mapplethorpe's, "The Perfect Mement."

Mapplethorpe, who died of AIDS in March 1989, has been labeled a controversial artist. Much of his later work captured his homosexual lifestyle, - tagged "homoerotic." Barrie called "The Perfect Moment" a "stunning body of work." He credits Mapplethorpe as "one of the best classical photographers of the 20th century."

BUT DUE to the endless "wear and tear" of the charges, including a "Nazi Germany-type" indictment on opening day and previous scares of being arrested, Barrie said he would "think twice" before featuring a controversial exhibit again.

"This case has created divisions in the city that will take a long time to heal," he said.

"Sometimes, I think maybe I shouldn't have done it, but that principle (freedom of expression) is so ____ important, in the end, the city will EXHIDIT

Dennis Barrie, a national hero to many art lovers, greets local supporters at his Detroit appearance last week.

Backing the city of Cincinnati's obscenity claims are U.S. Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and the Rev. Donald Wildmon, a former Cincinnati resident and now a Mississippi funda-mentalist preacher. Both leaders are noted crusaders in the case and other cases against "what they consider to be obscene," Barrie said.

Although he has received much support from the national art com-munity and particularly Cincinnati residents, his trial outcome looks grim. He is already preparing for gave at Rackham Auditorium in Dethe possibility of appeal.

"The fallout is very, very real," Barrie said. "The opposition is very well organized and they are funded cans, we thought we had all this much better than we are. They have freedom - freedom of expression, stirred up the city unlike any other but we were wrong. This is a way of event."

The maximum penalty upon conviction of each charge is a $1,000 fine and six months in jail for Barrie and a a $5,000 fine for the Contemporary Arts Center.

Several openings remain in the strings sections, DiBlasi said. While some of the LSO musicians are professionals, others are serious students and music teachers, "Twothirds are from Oakway," DiBlasi said.

Separate Saturday concert themes will be the Russion composers; "mostly American," including selections from "Carousel" by Richard Rogers and favorite pieces by Victor Herbert; and Mozart and his contemporaries.

A long-term goal is to present more youth-oriented concerts. "They (children) will learn to love what is put in front of them," DiBlasi said. "It pays off in a few years. They will come to the symphony."

At Madonna ecture focus: Japanese music

Dr. William P. Malm, distinguished author and professor of music at the University of Michigan, will be first speaker in a lecture series on the culture and civilization of Japan presented by Madonna College, Livonia.

Malm, considered one of America's foremost musicologists, will speak on Japanese Music at 3 p.m. Friday, Sept. 28, in Room 228 on the college campus.

"We are honored to have such an esteemed authority on Japanese music speak in the first of seven entertaining and informative lectures," said Dr. Robert Rann, professor of Japanese Studies at Madonna College.

The lectures, funded by a grant from the Panasonic Foundation, are an extension of the Japanese Studies Faculty Development Project, a cooperative effort between Madonna College and Lawrence Technological University to foster international perspectives. Entitled: "Japan: A Cultural Overvlew," the se-ries runs monthly through April 1991. It will feature speakers from across the nation.

SLATED FOR November is Kinoshita Toshio, a partner in the firm of Coopers and Lybrand. The topic will be "The Japanese in Business Trade." April's lecture will feature Dr. Merry White of Boston University. White is author of "The Japa-nese Educational College" and is considered the pre-eminent authority on Japanese education to-

HEN CHAMELEON Galleries Ltd, opened last September in downtown Plymouth, the Idea behind the gallery was that it would be chameleonic, or changeable.

As you gaze across the gallery's walls, it becomes apparent that since last year's opening, Chameleon has changed, acquiring a full range of mediums and techniques, as well as tripling the number of artists on exhibit.

"In the last year, we've grown from 26 artists to over 100 artists on the first anniversary of our opening," said Denni Englehart, co-owner and manager of Chameleon Gallerles Ltd.

Watercolors, lithographs, mixed media, rakuware and sculpture, stained glass, blown glass, functional pottery and oil paintings on silk are typical of the eclectic works showcased in the Chameleon gallery.

Ohlo resident Peggy Brown's transparent watercolor landscapes hang alongside the photo-realism, Wildlife prints of kookaburras and garn owls by Paul Morgacy of Aus-Iralia.

J Dennis Englehart's husband, Jim, Ford Motor Co. Light Truck Division executive director, is her sllent partner in the gallery.

WHEN CHAMELEON opened a year ago, there were six partners. Since then, Denni and Jim Englehart have bought out the other four.

l'Chameleon carries contemporary and Oriental art, from $5 to $1,000," cald Denni, a Northville resident. The art is impressionistic, some tofally abstract art, except for a few traditional pieces."

We travel all over looking for art. The intriguing part is the finding of new artists," she said. "We've picked up a lot of unknown artists so that the work is affordable but still quality work.

"We recently attended an exhibit of 1,200 artists in Atlantic City, where we picked up 20 artists. We have 25 local artists, several from Birmingham, who do functional pottery, such as Suzi Bolton and Carole Bekhorst."

Ricki Berlin of Birmingham paints abstract watercolors. In "Suny Day in the City," shes use a pallet of opaque colors that take in the spectrum of a rainbow after a thunderstorm, from red to violet and cerulean blue, with fine brush trokes of ochre creating the rays of "Morgacy mainly red, to create vibrant geohas just been commissioned by the Australian government to do a series of Australian stamps for 1991," Den-MANY OF Chameleon's artists ni sald.

Ann Arbor artist Daniel Gelakoska's abstract lithographs are bright and bold. Arizona resident Michael John Marsh's monoprint, Red Ridge Pass, uses three main shapes in hues of sepia to create his striking piece of art against a white backdrop.

Denni, a veteran businesswoman with a passion for art, is clearly aware of what sells. "Peggy Brown's paintings sell off the wall. Art sales vary during the year. We'll sell a lot of blown glass and raku around Christmas, while paintings sell best in spring and fall, when people rede-corate."

On the pedestal below Ricki Berlin's collage "Subtleties" sits Mark Sudduth's blown glass vessel in deep violet. The vessel is from Sudduth's Line Series. It contains seven layers of nicipal Judge David Albanese granted a request by the prosecution to limit-the obscenity case to the five photographs described in the indictment. This weighty decision allows the prosecution to build a case around the most controversial photos rather than the entire show, Barrie said.

LEADING THE pack of controversial photos are two pictures of naked children; one entitled, "Rosie. or Honey" the other, "Jessie."

"Being a parent, I was particular-ly bothered by this charge. I felt they had turned something quite innocent into something evil and dirty," Barrie said.

The mothers of the two children photographed were contacted regarding the case. Barrie claims both were "outraged" by the charge.

Another controversial element in the exhibit is the "XYZ Series," an encased photo series involving pictures of sadomasichistic acts, flowers and nude black men.

The obscenity charge goes beyond "child pornography." The conserva-tive opposition of Mapplethorpe's work also seems disturbed with photos of homosexuality and the mixing of races as displayed in "Thomas and Dovana," a white woman dressed in sheer white garb and high-heeled shoes being held at the waist by a nude black man, Barrie said.

But the photographs are no longer the issue, Barrie insisted. Freedom of expression is at stake; the threat of expression through the arts in particular.

Knowing the controversy the exhibit would stir, Barrie decided they had "a moral and ethical right to go forward with Mapplethorpe."

The exhibit soon became a "major media event;" 5,000 people campedout in support of CAC, despite a freak snowstorm, for "The Perfect Moment" opening April 6.

"What keeps me fighting is the support of the Cincinnati people," Barrie said.

two misdemeanor counts relating to obscenity charges from the April ex-hibition of Mapplethorpe's, "The Perfect Moment.'

The Barrie and CAC vs, the city of Cincinnati case poses a threat to all art communities in the country, Barrie sald.

"DETROIT HAS already felt someof the impact from this case," said

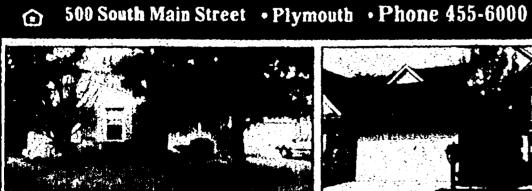

Carlos Diaz of Livonia and co-chair of the exhibition committee for Detrolt Focus Gallery, which hosted Barrie's local appearance.

"Detroit Focus is already re-thinking exhibitions for the future," Diaz said. "We have to think about the number of exhibitions as well as the controverslat sides to the show. It's very difficult to hang a lot of these shows. There's a lot of pressure. In order to maintain funding, you have to be realistic."

Legal fees leading up to Barrie's Sept. 24 trial have exceeded $100,000 and are likely to reach-$200,000 before it's over, Barrle said.

O YOUTH AUDITIONS

Auditions continue through September for openings in three orchesthas of the Livonia Youth Philmarmonic of Michigan.

LYPM is a non-profit organization that offers youth orchestra experience at three levels, starting with the entry-level junior string orchestra for young players with as little as one year of training.

. The advanced string orchestra accepts students with two or more years of experience.

Students are placed in these two orchestras based on their auditions. Andrew Sewell conducts the two string orchestras.

The philharmonic orchestra is a full-concert orchestra studying standard classical repertoire. It has openings for all string players as well as French horns and bassoons. Attila Farkas is the conductor.

LYPM membership is open to all students in the nearby Detroit area. Rehearsals are 9 a.m. to noon Saturday at Bentley Center, 15100 Hubbard, Livonia.

The season boasts two major concerts as well as other area. For more information or to schedule an audition, call Lois Gilmore, 453-8887.

O ON EXHIBIT

Two pieces of precision machinery that helped shape the industrial revolution are on display in the New Additions area at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn.

The machines are early 19th century metal-working lathes built by . Henry Maudslay, who is credited . with developing the first truly accurate lathes capable of cutting extremely precise screw threads.

In the exhibit, a recently acquired. 1816 Maudslay lathe is shown with an 1805 model that has been in the museum's collection since 1929 but

O HANDS-ON MUSEUM

The Chautauqua Express rolls into the Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum 5:30-7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 29.

This lively show features music, storytelling and group participation. Guy Sferiazza of the Chautauqua Express uses instruments such as the lute, mandolin, violin and guitar to teach children the function of the musical notes, their placement on the staff and how they are produced.

Historical and contemporary ideas of music are explored, leaving the children with the knowledge that enjoyment.

Tickets are $3 and available in advance in the museum's Explore Store, 219 E. Huron.

At least six hands-on activities, many with take-home materials, and a 30-minute demonstration will be available for visitors to enjoy in the O POLISH ART National Chemistry Day Celebration 1-4:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 3 at the Ann Arbor Hand-On Museum.

You can make nylon or experiment with felt-tip-pen chromatography, discover the properties of oobleck and make a batch of slime. This event, designed for all family members, is sponsored by the Huron Valley Chapter of American Chemical Society and Eastern Michigan Chemistry Department. In addition, there's a teachers workshop 7-9 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22, that will focus on chemistry in their elementary classrooms.

Orchestra Hall, home of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, reopened this week with the latest phase of restorations having been completed during the summer.

Built in 1919 as the home of the -DSO, Orchestra Hall has now been

The interior has been brought up to the same level as the acoustics. Old photos and historical documents were studied and sketches were consulted in an effort to restore the building's visual integrity. Orchestra Hall now looks as it did when it opened in 1919.

The DSO took up residence again at Orchestra Hall in September 1989 after a 50-year absence. The hall has Discount tickets are available undergone extensive restoration since it was saved from destruction in 1970.

> The recent refurbishing includes extensive decorative painting by Evergreene Painting Studios in New York on the ceiling coffers, a proscenium arch, painting of faux limestone walls, stenciling of beams, painting of cherubs, friezes and intricate grill work, replacement of the roof, reupholstering of the main floor chairs, new drapes and carpeting in the main hall. Additional seating areas for wheelchairs and new floor lighting for the aisles also were installed.

Previous stages of the restoration took place with a total cost of $5.3 million; this summer's work cost music is and has been a medium for $1.5 million. Money was provided by donors to the Campaign for Orchestra Hall.

O OPENING NIGHT

The Ann Arbor Symphony opens its season at 8 p.m.-Saturday in the Michigan Theater. An all-Beethoven program by conductor Carl St. Clair and the orchestra is planned. This concert marks the start of St.

Clair's sixth season with the orchestra.

Concert tickets are $17.50, $15 and $12 with discounts for senior citizens, students and children. Call the box office; 668-8397.

PEOPLE DANCING

The People Dancing studio will present "On the Run" Oct. 19-21 in Studio A at the University of Michigan Dance Building.

The concert will feature a major new dance as well as solo and group favorites from the company repertory headed by choreographer Whitley Setrakian.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 19-20, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 21.

Tickets are $9; $7 for students and senior citizens, Call the box office: 668-8397.

People Dancing is the only Michigan dance company to be included on the Arts Midwest Touring roster, the federally financed touring program serving performing arts presenters in the Midwest.

The company has received a $10,000 development planning grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, which will provide Setrakian the chance to meet with other dance professionals around the nation.

artist Eanger Irving Couse in 1893, will be among the paintings featured in the eightim America, Michigan and Detroit."

Museum hosts course on painting

The works of some of Detroit's most prominent 19th century artists are featured during "200 Years of Painting in America, Michigan and Detroit," at the Detroit Histor-Ical Museum.

This eight-week lecture series, which began Sept. 8, is presented by professor and local art historian Michael Farrell. He uses slides and paintings from the historical department's collection to illustrate his lectures.

Local 19th century artists such as Julius Melchers and his son, Garl, Letta Crapo Smith, African American artist Robert Duncanson and E. Irving Couse are featured. The course schedule continues Saturdays, Sept. 22, Oct. 13, 20, 27, Nov. 3 and 10, from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Detroit Historical" Museum, 5401 Woodward at Kirby. Free parking is available in the museum lot on Kirby.

Antique Mart aids orchestra

The Plymouth Symphony League's 28th annual Antique Mart, on behalf of the Plymouth Symphony:Orchestra, was a financial success in spite of a torrential rainstorm and a tornado sighting the night of the preview reception Sept. 6. "We did very well," said Peggy Blaisdell chair-woman of the antique show dealers. "We raised $8,100 over the two-day show and at the preview reception."

The Plymouth Fall Antique Show ran Sept. 6-8 during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

The Plymouth Symphony League is the fund-raising arm of the Plymouth Symphony Society. The money raised during the antique show will be used for operating expenses by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

"We're really looking forward to our winter antique show to be held Jan. 11-12," Blaisdell said.

Proceeds from the fall and winter antique shows, along with a home tour in May - all hosted by the Plymouth Symphony League — will help support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's operating budget during its 45th anniversary season.

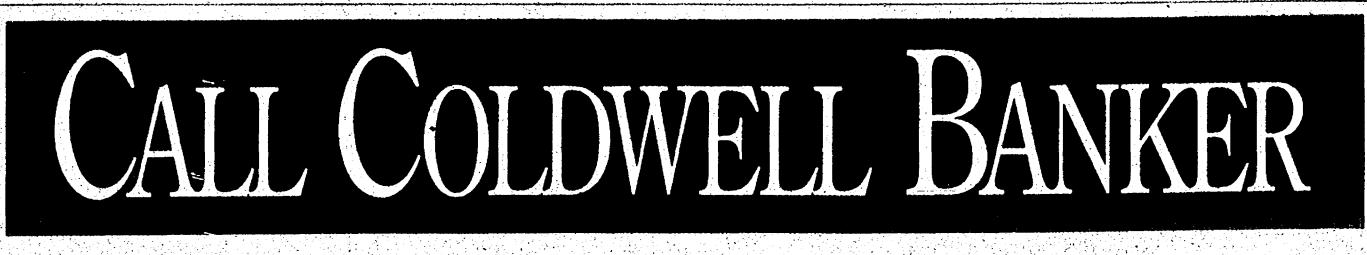

The 90-member Plymouth Symphony Orchestra-will begin its 45th season on Oct. 12 with a Bee-

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't vaste your time or a potential ouyer's time. If you advertise the orice of the item or service you offer, the people who respond o your ad will be those who are senuinely interested. Surveys how that readers are more necessaries they know are within heir price range. 5. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

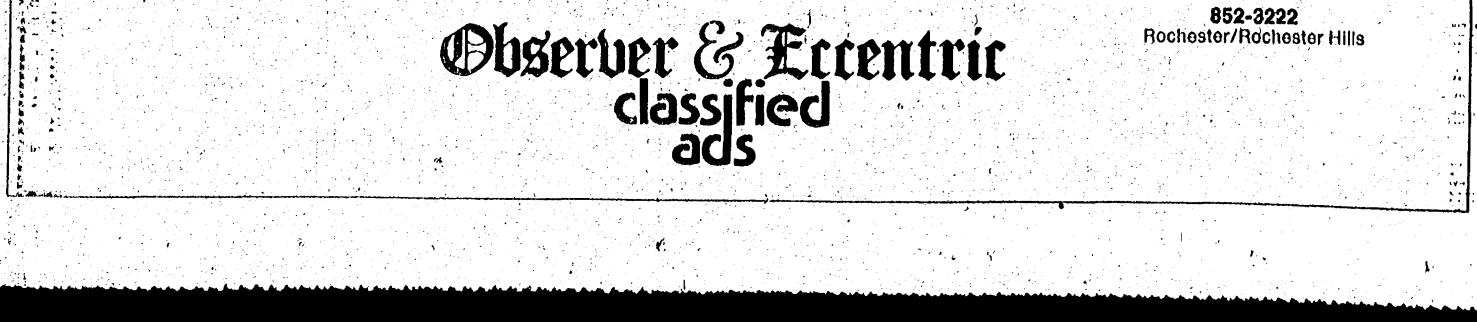

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

Large, wooded lots featured at Homearama

By Doug Funke

Awesome.

That's the word used to describe the site of the upcoming fall Homearama in Brighton by Dennis Dickstein, general chairman of the show and chairman/CEO of Ralph Manuel Realtors of Birmingham.

"We don't know how we'll ever top this one," Dickstein said of the Pine Creek Ridge subdivision overlooking Brighton Lake.

"This is a beautiful spot. They (spectators) can spend a day in the country among the pine trees and See beautiful homes.'

The show, a joint effort of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Home Builders As-sociation of Livingston County, will run Oct. 4-28.

Standard Federal Bank, headquar-tered in Troy, and Detroit Edison are Co-sponsors.

Ten builders, including five from the Observer & Eccentric coverage erea, will showcase custom-built Thomes. (See related story on Page 3.) Prices range from $350,000 to $4800,000. Most probably will be priced in excess of $500,000.

ATTENDANCE OF some 110,000 is expected.

"I would say 98 percent of the people will never be in a position to buy c homes in this price range," Dickstein sald. "Sometimes, you just go to see beautiful things.

"It nothing else, they may pick up an idea, flavor, thought or feeling and transfer it to their own homes." And what of the builder particiapants?

"It's good for their reputation, redibility," Dickstein said. "It's defmitely a marketing tool for sales.

"They are the other 2 percent. "Two percent of 100,000 (spectators) "is 2,000. All you need is 1 percent to buy and you've sold 20."

'I'm a great believer in model homes. It's very difficult for most people to visualize plans, Having models, they'll customize, but they'll know what their getting.'

- Robert R. Jones builder

Jones recalled one couple who came to him five or six years after seeing one of his models at a Homearama when they were in a better financial position to build. "I'm a great believer in model homes," Jones said. "It's very difficult for most people to visualize plans. Having models, they'll cus-tomize, but they'll know what they'ro getting."

Abbey Homes of Birmingham, which acquired exclusive control of the 700-acre property about three years ago, expects to develop in five phases over at least that many years.

"IT'S HEAVILY wooded with a number of lakes, ravines and rivers," said Robert Katzman, presi-dent of Abbey Homes. "It was an old Boy Scout camp. The Boy Scouts every year planted pine trees. Now it's a largo forest."

Plans now call for 317 home sites and 200 condominium siles, Katzman said. Individual lot sizes will range from one-half acre to three acres, Homearama tickets, at $5 apiece, will be available at the Pine Creek Ridgo subdivision on Brighton Road % mile west of Grand River when the show opens. Take the Spencer Road exit off 1-98.

Thursday, September 20, 1990 O&E Builders list favorite features

The fall Homearama next month in Brighton will Area builders are constructing six of the 10 houses. Janet Compo, president of the company. They include:

• Robert R. Jones Associates of West Bloomfield, which will showcase the Balmoral, 5,200 library. square feet with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths.

Highlights include a large combination great are quite different. It's the longest house in the room/dining room, a family gathering room with show." adjoining kitchen, and a full walk-out basement to a lake.

"One of the single biggest things is the exterior, the stone," Jones said. "Usually, you see stone used as an embellishment. We put stone on the whole square feet, and the dining room, with a two-story front of the house including a courtyard."

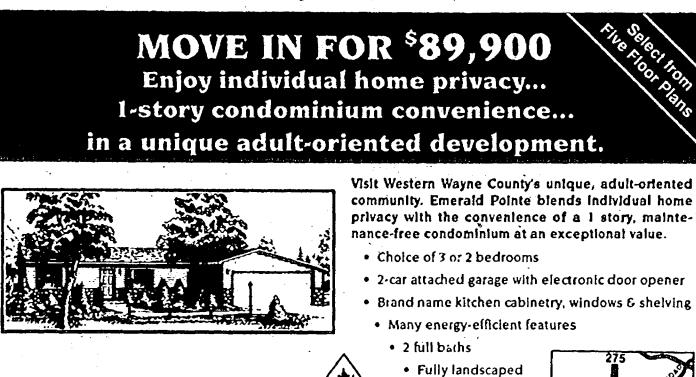

• Koch Development of Troy, which will exhibit the Dynasty, 5,300 square feet also with four bedrooms, three full baths and two half baths.

The house contains five fireplaces, a three-story staircase and his-and-her separate baths,

"It's got a tremendous amount of windows - 61, I think," said Richard Koch, president. "I think the window bill on that was $55,000."

• James D. Compo of Farmington Hills, which will construct two houses.

While no one can foresee a child being injured in the klichen or bathroom - two of a home's more hazard. fraught rooms -- everyone can take steps to lessen potential perils. Most of these measures are common sense, but Kitchen and Bath Ideas magazine says it pays to review.

These safety guidelines apply to both the kitchen and bathroom.

• Store liquor, chemicals, cleaners and medicines in upper cabinets out of children's sight. Because kids can climb, however, outfit the cabinet with a lock. Buy potentially lethal products in child-resistant packaging only.

• Latch cabinets where garbage and plastic garbage bags are kept.

• All cabinet doors and drawers should feature safety stops. Knobs should be too large for a child to swallow,

• Provide safe storage for sharp objects, such as knives and fingernail files.

• Install slip-resistant flooring and make sure scatter rugs have non-slip backings.

• Eliminate or cover sharp corners, such as on counters, tables and hearths.

• Place all electric outlets, or at least those near water sources, on a ground fault circuit interrupter.

• Cover electric outlets.

• Stay away from water sources when using small appliances.

• To avoid severe burns, set the water temperature no higher than 120 degrees. Water heated to 156 degrees can cause a third-degree burn in only one second.

• Install smoke detectors and place a fire extinguisher near the exit. If building or remodeling, consider installing a sprinkler system.

 Install windows and mirrors with protective film that prevents shards from flying when broken.

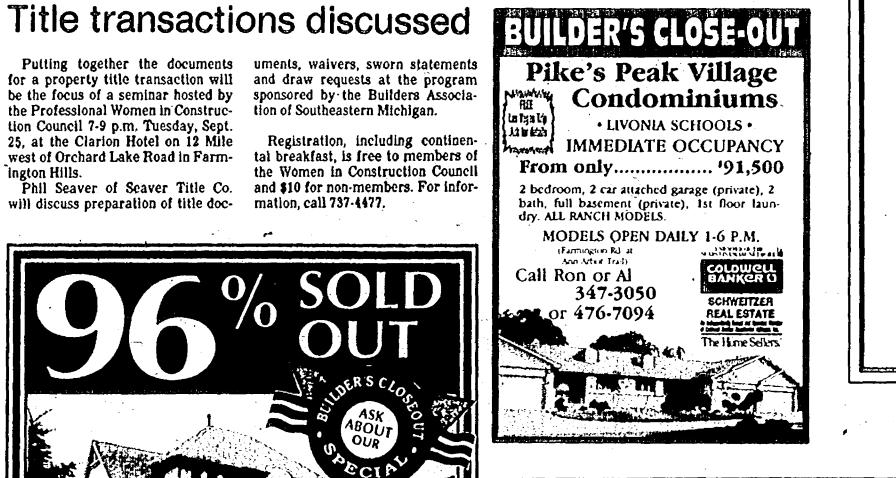

Windows, especially those on upper floors, should 0 feature hardware that limits how far they open.

Newsletters: builders' marketing tool

By Mary Rodriguo staff writer

Communications may be the key to selling homes in the '90s.

One way builders are drawing attention to their projects is by publishing newsletters. While the tool is commonly used to pique the interest of real estate agents, present homeowners, past customers, potential partners and the media, sometimes it's simply used to keep those who have already bought into a project homes and condominiums, the informed.

Holfzman & Silverman, one of the nation's leading developers of sale and rental properties, produces newsletters for its single family home and condominium developments. In addition, each of its 22 Village Green properties in metro Detroit (representing 8,000 apartment units) produces an independent newsletter.

"Pertaining to single family newsletter apprises the reader of activities of the firm, its distinguished reputation — it's a third-generation company - and its exceptional attention to detail," said spokeswoman Jane Lynch.

The Village Green rental communitles begin publishing when leasing begins, again when the first models are open and later when the properties are completed, she said.

"Then the focus is on what's hapclub room, swimming pool. Each community has a social activities director and the monthly newsletter would promote Sunday brunch, movle nights, any special activity."

OAKLAND COUNTY builder Sam Blumenstein produces a newsletter for each new project he designs. Currently building the Maples of Novi at 14 Mile and Decker roads, 1,000 units of all detached site condominipening with the fitness center, the ums, the accompanying newsletter is dubbed the Maples of Novi News.

For his last project, Maple Villas between Haggerty and Halstead In West Bloomfield, he produced the Villas Voice.

"It's not for the outside, it's strict-ly internal," said Blumenstein. We found a lot of people asking the same questions. Communications in the '90s is very important. People who are kept in the dark are not happy. They want to be informed."

Little chapel offers wedding alternative

ARIMA AZMOUDEH of Bloomfield Hills wanted an intimate marriage ceremony without religious overtones. Still, she didn't want what she considered to be a sterile wedding in a judge's chambers. What's a bride to go?

^o Azmoudeh, a 35-year-old computer programmer and her engineer husband, Ahmad, 36, decided to be married at The Little Wedding Chapel, 27857 Orchard Lake Road.

Although it bears the name "chapel," the site isn't affiliated with any church. It is, simply, a place where small weddings are performed.

"We wanted the ceremony for our family and a few close friends." said Azmoudeh, formerly of Southfield. In the Orchard-12 Shopping Center at Orchard Lake Road and 12 Mile. the Farmington Hills chapel has a cozy, romantic ambience.

THE FRONT window is edged with white latticework and accented with pots of flowers. The chapel, which seats 50 people, has pews, lighted candles, silk flowers and a gas fireplace.

The bride may enter under a trelliced arch and down a winding stairway or through lace-curtained french doors.

"They make it very special for you." Azmoudeh said.

The Azmoudehs, who chose a civil ceremony, were married in a candlelight service Dec. 29. Twenty guests witnessed the first-time bridal

AIRY TALES, do come true at could happen to you Romco and Juliet, Anthony and Cleopátra, Bogie and Bacall Everyone loves to immerse themselves with the "enanjourous" feelings of two people in love

Gary Miller, a nationally renowned photographer from West Bloomfield. has designed the ultimate wedding keepsake for today's newlywed couples: the "Living Love Story."

The "Living Love Story" shares the interaction, essence and spirit of a couple in the form of a three-minute video slide presentation set to music

The video love story creates a warm ambience when shown to the guests at the wedding reception. It is a wonderful surprise gift from the bride and groom to their friends and family that results in zestful applause and emotional tears of joy.

"I help each couple touch the heartstrings of all their family and friends right at the onset of the wedding reception." Miller said. "At most weddings, the bride's side only knows the bride and the groom's side is only familiar with the groom. My love story is the icebreaker that helps to melt the two separate families into one."

THIS NEW concept in wedding photography begins before the wedding day funce experience prenuptial photo sessions (often taken one day of each season of the year), sharing their special moments, common interests and lifelong dreams, which Miller captures in his photographs.

These photo sessions also help the couple feel more confident and comfortable in front of the camera. They establish a special rapport between the couple and the photographer, ensuring photos that radiate and glow on this most important day

Some couples choose to include their families in their love stories, which often bring two families with three generations together. The love stories are filled with expressions of love, touching, hugging and family interaction. The selected photos are placed on video and orchestrated to the couples' most meaningful romantic love songs.

* reception might be held in a church or synagogue hall, a four-star restaurant or mom's back yard.

But regardless of the grandeur or earthiness of the party, guests will most certainly be served a slice of wedding cake.

The choices for contemporary brides and grooms extend from the simple to the sublime. Pastry chefs at local bakeries agree that a first marriage seems to command a more ornate, larger wedding cake. Receptions that include a full dinner also usually feature a multi-tiered cake.

Susan Kelly, manager at Mrs. Maddox's Cake Shop in Farmington Hills, says. "When a cake is on display longer, it's going to be more elaborate. A tea reception with hors d'oeuvres will present a beautiful cake, but often the budget is more modest in the first place, and that's always a consideration."

Kelly is a third-generation baker. Her grandmother was the original Mrs. Maddox. The latter first opened her cake shop in 1928 and became known throughout the Detroit area for her wedding cakes and lovely petit fours-

"In my grandmother's day, more bakeries were decorating cakes with buttercream frosting. You could drape lacey, latticework designs with it. Today, because of people's concerns with health and diet, buttercream isn't being used as frequently.

"What we do use is a boiled frosting, which has a fluffy, marshmallow-like consistency. It's derived from a

THE BIGGEST change in her wedding cake orders. Kelly said, is a tendency to duplicate shapes of fresh flowers with icing or adorn the cake with fresh blossoms as well

The big favorites are calla lilies. and morning glories. The modern bride is also often asking for a contemporary looking cake," she said.

"Today's bride knows exactly what she wants." she added. "She will come in with pictures from magazines or photos taken at parties she has attended."

Richard Jurkiewicz of the G & M Paris Bakery in Livonia sees cakes ordered smaller than in years past. His average order will nicely serve 200-350 He used to get requests for cakes serving 400 or more.

'We're also still doing many tiered cokes." he said. "but using fewer separators between tiers. Yellow cake is still the hands-down favorite flavor for cake, although we do get some people asking for chocolate or raspberry mousse layers W alternate flavors between pers, as well "

Jurkiewicz frequently includes lots of fresh and silk flowers on his wedding cakes. Brides like the design to replicate their throw bouquets, he Said

SYLVIA LEE, owner of Desserts by Sylvia Lee in Southfield, admits that her creations are pretty rich

"I believe in giving guests a good slice of something satisfying," she said "If it's chocolate, it's deep chocolate and creamy. I use a lot of fresh lemon for a sweet, yet tart taste if citrus is chosen."

One of Sylvia Lee's signature cakes is a chocolate pinwheel torte adorned with curls of white chocolate. It's a popular choice for older brides or couples celebrating second marriages With its two tiers, it can still afford that "first anniversary sentimentality" if the couple wants to save some She echoes the popularity of flowers on today's cakes, saying: "We very rarely do anything but fresh flowers The old tradition of putting a little bride and groom atop the highest layer is getting passe."_______

Stu Koster of the Bavarian Bakery and World Class Cakes applies the finishing touches to a three-tiered wedding cake.

of World Class Cakes and Fine Pustries in West Bloomfield and the Bayarian Bakery in Troy, say that on a busy weekend, they might get 10 orders for wedding cakes at either location

The Kosters opened the Bavarian Bakery 11 years ago and World Class Cakes in 1989. "In the years we've been bakers, cakes seem much simpler." Sharon said "Most people are not into the real fussy designs that used to be poular.

The Kosters will copy any picture brought into their store and honor most flavor requests. "Yellow, chocolate and white cakes are still the most popular." Sharon said. "but we do fruit fillings and mousses, and also offer cherry nut, marble or carrot cakes '

MILLER OFFERS the following tips to remember when preparing for your bridal photo session:

• Clothing: Simplicity! Simple. plain outfits photograph the best as they are not distracting. Wear warm colors with long sleeves.

Glasses: Ask you optician to supply you with empty rims for the day of your appointment; not only do glasses catch light reflections, but they also can distort the faceline in some portraits because of the lenses.

Women: Eye shadow should be applied lightly and with care. Apply two coats of mascara on both upper and lower lashes. Wear your other makeup as usual. Bring all of your makeup with you in case any minor modification is required.

• Men: Be sure to shave just before your appointment as there is no way to hide a "five o'clock shadow" in color photography.
