PAT MITCHELL of Westland has spent the last month trying to show a little patriotism. But all she gets for her efforts is trouble.

When President George Bush ordered U.S. troops to the Mideast after Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, Mitchell unfurled an American flag in front of her home on the 36000 block of Roll. "I thought I could do my part," said Mitchell, 51, an executive secretary for Metro Home Health Care Services.

But on Aug. 25 someone stole the flag.

So Mitchell replaced it with a sign reiterating her support for the American soldiers and asking whoever took the flag to "please love and respect our flag the way we have for 20 years."

Unfortunately the sign didn't last long, either.

The severe weather that ripped through the Detroit area recently shredded the posterboard sign, Mitchell reported.

WESTLAND POLICE officers and firefighters are getting some new equipment.

The Westland City Council has approved purchase of a new EMS rescue vehicle and 30 portable and mobile radios for both departments.

The rescue unit will cost $44,713 and the city will receive $4,500 for trading in an old unit.

The radios and accessories will cost $37,920.

THREE RESIDENTS and three businesses are winners of Beautification Awards in the annual program sponsored by the Westland City Council.

First place residential winner is Sandy Gaura for her house on the 37700 block of Germaine. Leo Cwik was given second place and Joe Richardson finished third.

First place business winner is Paddy's Pub, 1000 N. Wayne. Second place was awarded to Taylor Towers and third place to Abington Manor, both senior citizens residences.

The council also honored several families from Hartel Street who initiated a cleanup program for a portion of Edward Hines Park adjacent to their neighborhood.

Receiving certificates were John and Verjann Moore, Edward and Helona Moore, Bud and Froya Johnson, Ken and Alice Haworth, Joseph and Kathy Caci, Angela and Dennis Lico, Joseph and Wanda Bonfiglio, Edward and Sandra Egan, Tracy and Beverly Takach, Antonette Grifith, Andrew Davison, Nicky Bruglio and Janet Brzustowski.

THE WESTLAND Rumble is set for Saturday.

No, we're not talking about a major gang fight.

We mean the kickboxing competition set for 7:30 p.m. at the Melvin Bellay Recreation Center.

The event is co-sponsored by the city police and recreation department and City Boys Kickboxing Association.

The main event will be the CHKA Michigan Heavyweight title fight between champion Scott (Johnston) Parrait and Brian (Bee) Butler.

Other scheduled professional and amateur matches include several weight classes for men and women.

Tickets are available at the Bellay Center, Lots of Fishes Kettle Supplies in Wayne, Bridge TV & Kettle Supplies in Taylor and the Detroit Dispatch in Westland.

Starts at 6:30 p.m.

Remembering the missing

Christopher Stacy, 6, of Westland stands at attention with a toy rifle during Friday's ceremony in honor of the more than 2,000 servicemen still listed as missing in action in Vietnam. Behind Christopher is his grandfather, H.B. Shaw of Westland. During the ceremony at city hall, Refugio Tom Teran of Westland, missing since May 1970, was remembered by his mother, Anna. For the story and more photos, please turn to Page 3A.

Senate-approved plan includes money for local library system

Construction of a public library for Westland moved one step closer Wednesday as the state Senate passed a capital outlay program that includes $2 million in funding for a new library and $600,000 for renovations to the current Wayne-Westland Public Library.

After numerous amendments, the Senate voted 20-11 to approve the bill, which appropriates money from the state budget for projects ranging from construction of buildings and purchases of equipment to elimination of occupational safety and health hazards.

Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, who proposed the library appropriation, voted for the bill.

The Michigan House of Representatives could act on the bill as early as this week, Faust said. If approved there, it will be forwarded to Gov. James Blanchard.

Faust was cautiously optimistic that the library appropriation would make it through the process unscathed.

The proposal calls for an allocation of $1.375 million for construction of a Westland library from the state's 1990-91 budget. An additional $625,000 would be appropriated in the 1991-92 budget.

The Wayne-Westland library, on Sims in Wayne, would get $600,000 for a major expansion and renovation, bringing the total value of the package to $2.6 million.

The money wouldn't pay for the operating expenses of a new library, but Westland Mayor Robert Thomas last week pledged city support for the project if it is approved.

Westland voters rejected tax increases for construction of a new library in 1985 and again in 1987.

Noise czar promises end to ear assault

By Janice Brunson

By next summer, Westland residents can expect relief from thundering overhead jet noise, according to Wayne County noise czar Bryan Amann, who said he expects noise levels to be similar of those in the summer of 1989.

A newly formed "swat team," a committee of federal, county and airline officials, is working feverishly to come up with specific ways to reduce noise, according to Amann, a Wayne County assistant executive.

Addressing a meeting of the Economic Development Advisory Commission Thursday, Amann told members the county is taking an aggressive role in abating noise pollution and fully expects to resolve problems caused by a change in flight patterns at Metro last November by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Ignoring a $600,000 county study of the situation, the FAA ordered the changes, neglecting to notify affected communities beforehand and denying changes for months afterwards. Changes were made Nov. 16.

The changes resulted "in a great double dose of noise in Westland," Amann said, when more than half of all north bound flight activity was rerouted over the city. Citizen complaints were immediate.

"WITHIN DAYS OF the change, we received complaints and they've been constant ever since," said Joseph Benyo, EDAC chairman.

Benyo served on the county committee charged with studying noise pollution. Consisting of representatives from communities adjacent to Metro, the committee met for two years and issued a comprehensive report. To date, their efforts have been ignored by the FAA.

The new swat team will consider the report, according to Amann, who said he is "ecstatic" with formation

Shelter prepares to open its doors

By Janice Brunson

The Wayne County shelter for homeless families has its first director and renovation on the interior of a county building expected to house the facility is expected to get underway soon, according to Joseph Benyo of the Wayne County Homeless Services Advisory Board.

In addition, Annapolis Hospital in Wayne has been contracted to provide food services once the facility is ready for business.

The shelter, intended to provide space for homeless suburbanites in the historic Eloise complex in southern Westland, was announced earlier this year by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara. It is expected to hold 28 dormitory-style rooms.

Social worker Linda Makowski has been approved as new director, Benyo said, and a bid has been let for renovation of the complex. Interior demolition is complete.

"Things are going well," he added.

During a meeting of the advisory board last week, members established a "wish list," a list of essential items necessary to support families who have been displaced for economic or disaster-related reasons.

Police seek driver in injury accident

Police are seeking the driver of a late-model Ford Mustang for questioning in connection with a hit-and-run accident Wednesday in which a 32-year-old bicycle rider was critically injured.

A second cyclist, the victim's 18-year-old companion from Ypsilanti, wasn't hurt, police said.

Jeffrey LaRue of Arizona was to undergo surgery Friday at University of Michigan Hospital for head and internal injuries and a broken right leg and arm, said officer Jon Handzlik of the Westland police.

LaRue was flown by air ambulance to U-M Hospital after being taken by police to Annapolis Hospital, Wayne.

LaRue was visiting family and friends in the Westland area at the time of the accident, Handzlik said.

LaRue was struck by the right front end of the Mustang about 3 p.m. near the entrance to the Trafal-

Ceremonies give salute to U.S. MIAs

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Steady rain failed to interfere with the duty at hand, honoring Westland's lost son and the 2,000-plus U.S. servicemen who never returned from Vietnam.

In ceremonies Friday evening on the lawn of the Westland City Hall, military honor guards, elected officials, family and friends recalled those whose fates are still unknown.

Refugio Tom Teran, missing since May 6, 1970, was vividly recalled by his mother, Anna. "This is not only for those who are missing, but those who might become missing (as a result of the Persian Gulf crisis)."

As members of Westland's VFW

Post 9885 raised the U.S. and POW-MIA flags and then lowered them to half-mast in mourning of the lost, veterans of posts from Garden City, Redford and Livonia stood at attention.

Later, alternating members of each post took turns throughout the 45-minute ceremony, standing at attention in full battle dress, guarding Westland's Vietnam memorial and the special plaque honoring Teran.

H.B. Shaw of Westland, an honorary VFW member, and grandson Christopher Staey, 6, wore matching fatigues. The two "travel all over to military parades," Shaw said. "Kids today should know what's going on. So here we are, standing in the rain."

Steady rains Friday didn't interfere with ceremonies honoring Vietnam veterans who remain unaccounted for. Among those was Refugio Tom Teran, missing in action since May 6, 1970. His mother, Anna, was present.

KITTY O'LEARY OF Livonia, also an honorary VFW member and dressed, like Shaw, in military garb, said her presence "honors women in the military," those who have served, as well as those who are serving, and especially those who have died in the line of duty.

Marty Eddy, president of the Michigan chapter of Prisoners of War, said 73 Vietnam veterans from Michigan remain unaccounted for. The situation in the Middle East concerns her. "If a conflict breaks out, we're facing new POWs and MIAs, more heartbreak," she said.

Westland police officer Bob Hysko — a former army medic in Vietnam and a VFW district commander — presided over ceremonies, introducing a host of elected officials or their representatives, including Westland mayor Robert Thomas.

A representative of Gov. James Blanchard read a prepared statement announcing Sept. 21 as POW and MIA Recognition Day in Michigan.

In closing, Hysko thanked Mike Sundburg, "whoever you are." The beds of colorful flowers, perfectly tended and in full bloom, are planted and cared for by Sundburg, at his own expense, Hysko said.

"We have no idea who this guy is, but we thank him."

Teachers of the year named

Three teachers, Christine Kleimola, Maureen Costa and Allen Herrmann, have been named 1990-91 teachers-of-the-year by Livonia Public Schools.

All three, nominated by their colleagues, recently were named exceptional educators by the Livonia Board of Education.

Kleimola, who teaches the mentally impaired at Webster, was cited for her work "above and beyond the call of duty."

"Christine strives to provide the most appropriate and fulfilling learning experiences for her students to function as independently as possible," said the trustees.

Kleimola serves on the Webster/Randolph Mainstreaming Committee, is involved with PTA and the Council for Exceptional Children, volunteers at a hospital to provide special care to abused children, and works with adults with handicaps during the summer.

Livonia School District

The Livonia School District includes the northern section of Westland.

Costa, chairwoman of the language arts/social studies department at Emerson Middle School, was cited for the high expectations she holds for her students.

"My kids, are the reason I get up every morning," said Costa in accepting her award from the trustees.

Costa is involved in such middle school programs as accreditation, cooperative learning, and curriculum alignment. She also coordinates numerous student programs, including Emerson's literary magazine, student camp weekend, building and system level spelling competitions, and writing contests at the local and state level.

Allen Herrmann, chairman of the technology department at the Livonia Career Center, was cited for excellence in helping students see their own self-worth.

"He is a professional of the highest order," said one of his nominators.

Herrmann has developed the computer-aided design program for engineering and architectural drawing at the career center. He also was instrumental in working with General Motors to bring Project Draft to the secondary schools.

Teens push for go-cart helmet law

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Three Livonia teenagers, upset at the death of a friend, are closer to getting legislation passed that would make go-cart riders wear helmets at private recreation centers.

State Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, recently introduced a bill that, if passed by the Legislature, would make helmets mandatory at private tracks.

"It is unfortunate that this legislation was not enacted earlier; however, when enacted, it may save the life of another teen," said Bankes.

THE LEGISLATION, House Bill

No. 6016, will be discussed in 1991, Bankes said.

Bankes' introduced the bill after being presented with petitions by the three teenagers, Jana Moenen, 14, Jill Howie, 14, and Michelle Malle, 15, all students at Riley Middle School.

The students began circulating petitions in Livonia asking for the legislation after their friend, Melanee Summers, was killed in July in northern Michigan when she was thrown from a moving go-cart at a private recreation center.

At the time of the accident, Melanee was wearing neither a seat belt nor a safety helmet because state law does not require either be worn on private property.

THE TEENS went door-to-door in Livonia, seeking signatures on a petition asking that the law be changed.

The petitions asked that the state make helmets mandatory for go-cart riders, even if the riders are on private property.

State officials said commercial go-cart operators do not have to comply with state traffic laws and public safety standards because the carts are operated on private property.

At the invitation of Bankes, the three teens will be visiting Lansing this week to tour the State Capitol.

Franklin 2nd in band competition

The Livonia Franklin Marching Patriots started its competitive marching season with a second place finish at the West Bloomfield Lakers Invitational.

The West Bloomfield competition on Sept. 16 hosted, by invitation, 16 competitive marching bands — four Flight III, six Flight II and five Flight I bands.

This is the third year in Flight II classification for the Franklin High marching band, directed by Joan Seay. The other Flight II bands were Kearsley, Lakeview, Milford, Linden, and Southfield.

Franklin is fielding a marching band of 77 members which includes its 12-person color guard, drum major Aaron Rajda, drum minor Erich Fyebel, and color guard captain Karl Zabel.

Flight II bands range in numbers from 71 to 110. Franklin was the smallest Flight II at West Bloomfield and is one of the smallest Flight II bands in the state.

This year the staff of instructors include: Jean Murdock, drill; Mike Stutzman, marching and maneuvering; Jim Mobeley, percussion; Allison Laub, color guard.

Corp style marching is the most difficult form of precision marching, said Seay.

"This is the best start we have ever had in five years of competition," said Seay. "I am extremely proud of this band. They have worked hard and persevered, and have demonstrated a great deal of dedication in improving musical and marching ability."

"Without the energy and support of the Franklin Band Boosters this program would not have been able to grow and develop as it has."

Franklin will continue in competition through Nov. 3.

The band also will perform in the Livonia Holiday Parade on Nov. 17 and the McDonald's All-American Parade in Chicago on Nov. 24.

County campaigning hard for airport bonds

By Janico Brunson
staff writer

Scott Veldhuis plans to vote for the Metro Airport expansion bond issue Nov. 6. His wife Shirley plans to vote against it.

Veldhuis, economic development director for Westland, said a modern airport is essential for continued economic welfare in Michigan.

His wife agrees. But tolerating increased jet noise is beyond her comprehension. Noise levels in their home are already intolerable, the couple said. They live directly in the path of a much-used flight pattern and she feels incapable of coping with more noise.

The Veldhuis' reflect typical reaction to the bond issue, said Wayne County administrative assistant Patricia Kukula, who is charged with convincing voters that approval is in their own best interest.

She is clearly worried about the prospect. People living near Metro are fed up with noise levels and many oppose passage because they fear it means increased noise pollution.

Kukula said the two issues, though intertwined, are not related.

METRO EXPANSION means continuation of current jobs, more jobs in the future and continued economic development here, Kukula said. A modern, convenient facility is a must, she added.

Increased noise is the result of changes in flight patterns by the Federal Aviation Administration, a situation likely to be corrected by next summer, especially since the recent formation of a special committee consisting of federal, county and airline officials.

As proposed, the project is in four phases and includes upgrading existing facilities and constructing new east-west and north-south runways, access roads and a terminal at a total cost of $1.2 billion.

The expansion is expected to ease present on-ground congestion. Flights are projected to increase only 10 percent over the next 15 years and will have a negligible effect on noise, Kukula said. (Between 1984 and 1988, flight activity doubled. Noise became a serious issue only after Nov. 16, when new flight patterns were initiated.)

Phase one of the project includes replacing parking structures, expanding storm water ponds and renovating and relocating roadways and road berms.

"IF THE BOND is defeated," Kukula said, "future expansion and modernization will be jeopardized."

Approval of the bond provides money for the project at no cost to taxpayers. It will not raise or create new taxes, Kukula said. The FAA has pledged matching funds of $186 million for additional projects.

Presently, Metro provides jobs for 821 residents of Westland, 299 in Livonia and 375 in Canton.

Three receive promotions

Three promotions have been announced by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and its parent company, Suburban Communications Corporation.

SCC president Richard Aginlan recently announced that Richard Brady, director of advertising and promotion for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, has been appointed vice president of sales and marketing for Suburban Communications Corp., parent company of the O&E newspapers.

Mark Lewis, Wayne County regional advertising manager for the O&E, will replace Brady as advertising director, according to Richard Isham, O&E general manager.

Carol McCloud has been appointed promotion manager/research assistant for the 13 O&E newspapers, said Isham.

Brady will be responsible for marketing, product development, sales promotions, sales activities and developing new markets for SCC. He has been an O&E employee since 1985.

A native and lifetime resident of metropolitan Detroit, Brady has also been assistant to the publisher of Shamie Publishing Co. and a former account executive for the Detroit Free Press and Yaffe, Stone & August. He attended Wayne State University.

Lewis will be responsible for day-to-day advertising department operations. He is a 13-year O&E employee. A Plymouth resident, Lewis attended Garden City West High School, Schoolcraft College and the University of Michigan.

McCloud, a 10-year O&E employee, will be responsible for all company promotions. The Oakland University graduate was formerly executive secretary to the director of advertising and promotion.

SCC also includes HomeTown Newspapers, formerly Sliger/Livingston Publications, Community Newspapers of Lansing, Community Newspapers, Cincinnati, Farmers Advance News and Advertising Systems.

The O&E newspapers include the Birmingham-Bloomfield Eccentric, West Bloomfield Eccentric, Southfield Eccentric, Troy Eccentric, Rochester Eccentric, Lakes Eccentric, Farmington Observer, Livonia Observer, Plymouth Observer, Canton Observer, Redford Observer, Westland Observer and Garden City Observer.

Power to show assessment plan

By Diano Gale staff writer

Power also is chairman of the Michigan Job Training Coordinating Council. He is a member of the National Center on Education and the Economy Board, Michigan Human Investment Fund Board of directors, Governors Cabinet Council on Human Investment and the Commission on Jobs and Economic Development.

Phil Power, University of Michigan regent and Suburban Communications chairman of the board, will unveil a new plan to assess high school students during the next Canton Economic Club luncheon.

AS GUEST speaker of the Oct. 2 meeting, Power said, he will discuss findings of the national Commission on the Skills of the American Workforce. Members included Power, William Brock, labor secretary during the Reagan administration; Ray Marshall, labor secretary during the Carter administration and Owen Bleber, UAW president.

"One of the proposals is to invest in a new kind of high school assessment on whether people have basic skills," Power said.

Before high school students graduate they would have their skills assessed "more like a merit badge," Power said.

The new system would evaluate if students can read well enough to write a couple of paragraphs about a subject they have read, use numbers in a basic way, solve problems and work with people. A Michigan Certificate of Opportunity would be given to students who pass. "If we began, say in Plymouth and Canton, to take assessments and allow them to earn certificates and if they are competing for a job with someone without a certificate, guess who the employer will hire? And that's how it comes down to a local level," said Power.

Employers in the U.S. annually spend $30 billion on job training and of that $27 billion is spent by one half of 1 percent of the employers, Power said, adding that there's an unequal commitment to all levels of the workforce. About 80 percent of the $30 billion is spent on management.

For the U.S. to be competitive in world markets, he added, "I believe you have to have high wages and high productivity."

POWER WAS recently nominated by the Democratic Party to appear on the November general election ballot for a University of Michigan regent position. He has served as regent since June 1987 and his term expires this year.

Subsidiaries of his Suburban Communications Corporation include the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, Sliger/Livingston Publications, Inc., Cincinnati Suburban Press, Inc., The Farmers Advance News, Community Newspapers Inc. and Advertising Systems, Inc.

Tax base sharing is derailed

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Rep. William Keith will try this week to get his bills permitting business tax base sharing among schools on track after they were derailed suddenly last week.

The black caucus and Democrats from the Saginaw-Flint belt fell short in an effort to send Keith's bills to the Appropriations Committee. But their 41 votes showed enough strength to scare the nine-term veteran who chairs the Education Committee. The bills were temporarily set aside.

"We're working desperately to reduce the inequities between school districts," said Keith, D-Garden City. He told the House that sharing business tax growth countywide would help close the gap between local districts which spend $2,500 to $8,000 per pupil.

THE STICKING point, however, wasn't tax base sharing but how Keith proposed to soften the blow for areas which would surrender their commercial and industrial growth with poor districts.

Keith would reimburse the growth areas out of the $72 million which the state "recaptures" by withholding their categorical aid for transportation and pensions.

"We're talking about $72 million!" said Rep. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, who didn't want to give back part of the recapture money.

"It comes out of the school aid fund," said Rep. Ted Wallace, D-Detroit.

And one of Keith's usual allies, Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, said, "(Growth) districts could gain more by tax sharing than they would lose through recapture."

IN THE KEY roll call, 41 voted to send Keith's bills to the Appropriations Committee, and 58 were opposed.

Voting yes were Lyn-Bankes, R-Livonia, John Bennett, D-Redford, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, and Willard Webb, D-Hazel Park — along with all members of the black caucus, House Speaker Lewis Dodak, O'Neill, Democratic floor leader Pat Gagliardi and Appropriations Chair Dominic Jacobetti.

Voting no were Keith, Justine Barns, D-Westland, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, James Kosteva, D-Canton, Judith Miller, R-

'We're working desperately to reduce the inequities between school districts.'

— Rep. William Keith
D-Garden City

Birmingham, and Gordon Sparks, R-Troy.

Kosteva said the Keith bills shouldn't go to appropriations because they're "not appropriations bills." It's unknown how much state money will be needed to reimburse the growth districts, he said, because it's unknown how many counties will volunteer for the tax base sharing plan.

Keith said intermediate school districts expressing an interest include Kent (Grand Rapids), Midland, Ingham (Lansing), Jackson and Eaton.

UNDER HOUSE Bills 5885 and 5886:

- Growth in commercial and industrial property tax base could be shared countywide if every district agrees. One district could kill the plan at any time.

- Existing commercial and industrial property would be unaffected. The sharing plan could not apply to residential, farming or mining property.

- Agreement could be by vote of the school board or vote of the people. The agreement would last five years.

- Out-of-formula districts would have an incentive to join. Instead of losing categorical aid of $72 million a year currently, they could continue to receive that aid. Keith was co-author of this year's law to increase the categorical aid "recapture."

- A district receiving state aid could not lose any aid by joining a property tax base sharing plan.

EARLY ORTHOPEDIC REFERRAL

Do not conclude that your doctor is giving up on your care, if after seeing you once or twice, he recommends orthopedic referral.

You need such consultation early in your arthritis for several reasons: One is so that you can learn the range of possibilities for treatment. Only a surgeon can tell you what operation can achieve and what are the risks.

Another reason is because orthopedic surgeons are busy. It may take weeks or months to arrange an appointment with the orthopedist, and you may need two or three appointments before defining whether surgery can help. In addition, you may want to speak with different orthopedists because your insurance policy requires it, or you desire a choice. It could take a year or more to complete these arrangements.

What you want to avoid is to find yourself one morning in great pain, feeling desperate, and willing to accept the recommendation of anyone who can see you on short notice.

What you want to achieve is a relationship with the surgeon so that when you feel operation is in order, you can call the doctor's office and arrange a hospital admission date.

Starting early on this quest will give you peace of mind, a greater understanding of your present medical program, and control over its future course.

"YOU ALWAYS GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR..!"

That old bromide has become one of the great lies of the century. Too frequently what appears to be a great bargain can be a great rip off. It's true with many things including clothes that fall apart after one washing.

Like clothes, not all kitchen and bath cabinets are created equal. That's why you should visit our KSI Showrooms. We will start by demonstrating the solid oak double-dowelled frame in Merillat Cabinets. Simply put, that feature produces precision alignment for perfect squareness and long-lasting durability to resist twisting and sagging.

You will see that you get everything you pay for as well as the custom look without the custom price tag in all Merillat Cabinets.

'Highway Hostage' speaks out

To the editor: Some time ago I wrote a letter to George Bush about the lack of law enforcement on our highways and streets.

My letter was sent to the Highway Department in Washington, D.C., and they said that the vast majority of motorists obey the law.

If you try to drive the speed limit you'll get run off the road. This disregard for the law started out a long time ago.

How can we fight drugs when our police can't even enforce the law? If I had a chance to vote for the military or the police to guard our highways, I would pick the military.

Please help save animals

To the editor: As a volunteer of the Wayne County Humane Society I wish to express the dire need that most of us have come to ignore or take for granted.

If you are too blind to realize this, your own members better wake up and smell the roses. Unions fighting each other is bad enough, without the importation of foreign scabs to fill union jobs.

Have your pet neutered. A lot of the overflow are "unwanted litters" or "too many animals."

Take one-two hours one morning or afternoon, any day of the week and share your love with the dogs and cats that need attention. It involves walking the dogs, cleaning cages, and watering and feeding.

Call the Westland Clinic at 721-7300 or Detroit or Auburn Hills. Be persistent - we are understaffed and its not always easy to answer the phone.

Mary Schaf, Plymouth

Help protect U.S. jobs

An open letter to Owen Bleber: You are in the midst of negotiations and striving for job protection and job security. This is just. You want protection from outsourcing and foreign cars.

New work has traditionally been done by the same building trades workers who marched in front at the Labor Day viewing stand that you watched the parade from.

We as building trades understand the encroachment of our work by the UAW skilled trades. It is their house and we are guests. But we do not understand the importing of foreign workers.

If you are too blind to realize this, your own members better wake up and smell the roses. Unions fighting each other is bad enough, without the importation of foreign scabs to fill union jobs.

Jim Jacobs, building trades member and buyer of American cars

Questions on unfit house

To the editor: Regarding your front page feature article, "Agencies declare house unfit for humans; elderly pair moves."

While the picture and article made for sensational front page news, I think Bauman needs some lessons in good reporting. Never was it mentioned how many times, or for how many years, neighbors called to complain, nor does it appear that any neighbors were interviewed for this article.

Also, it has been several weeks now, and nothing has been done. Who will follow up on it? What will happen next? If they are allowed to move back in, what will prevent it from happening again?

Julie Witkowski, Livonia

Don't raise but cut taxes

To the editor: I am writing in response to a letter entitled "Motivation Without Fees," by Dale Jurcisin, Livonia City Council vice president.

I take exception to the distorted characterization of the "bag and tag" volume-based fee system in the letter as a penalty and fine approach.

The volume-based user fee approach is a rational economic approach that would reward people for doing a good job of separating their trash. The concept is that people who put out mixed waste should pay for the costs of managing that waste and no charge for separated materials.

To increase taxes would be a misallocation and unfair waste of resources. Instead of paying for the services based on how much residents use a service they must pay according to the value of their homes.

Livonia will not be a model community as Jurcisin mistakenly believes but merely a mediocre community that will make limited progress in recycling at a higher cost than recycling.

Though he acknowledges that Seattle's bag/tag system promotes recycling he adds that the program must not fail. The implication is that it's all right for Livonia's program to fail.

I call on the city of Livonia to cut taxes by the amounts they are currently paying for waste management and go to the user fee system to reward people for doing a good job of recycling.

Raising taxes is truly an unfair punishment for those who would be responsible citizens.

Dennis Piper, Redford

Disagree with learning tools

To the editor: Livonia Public Schools will be conducting a random telephone survey to help define overall directions for the district.

Stories that accompany the math program focus on negative themes and concepts. It is astonishing that these stories, that do not go home, authored by Frederique, have found entrance into our impressionable youths' school rooms.

The back cover of "I Am A Very Happy Boy" states, "It is a little story about a lonely child - perhaps a typical child." Do you agree a typical child is a lonely child? I do not. This absurd reasoning is woven throughout the materials.

Another story, "The Old Shoe-maker," illustrates on Page 33 children stepping on nails, a deliberate punishment for vandalizing the shoe shop.

Several stories condone thievery. "81 Roses" is the story of an adopted dog that admits, "I am very greedy." His "mother" leaves the room after baking cookies.

A traditional classroom teacher shared with me the fact that her instructions from supervisors were not to supplement the CSMP with normal arithmetic. The dots, strings, arrows, stories and minicomputers confused her beginning pupils so she implemented with real numbers and processes.

"Drill and Kill" is the expression the national director of CSMP used at a workshop for Livonia teachers. Drilling is discouraged.

Is it taking things too seriously to demand quality education and decent standards in the core curriculum? How far can the fear of censorship strategy be stretched?

Elizabeth Charest, Livonia

Vote against air pollution

To the editor:

If the expansion of Metro Airport takes place, the departure gates will almost double, which in turn will double the noise, congestion and pollution. The new flight patterns being used now are creating a noise problem in Livonia.

Thomas Daugherty, Livonia

Anti-growth zoning column challenged

To the editor:

Steve Barnaby's column, "Public Deserves Say in Development Wars," is breathtaking in its inanity. The writer's suggestion that municipalities re-zone private property to arrest development displays a shocking advocacy of the use of state power for the benefit of a few citizens.

At a time when eastern Europe is freeing itself from decades of state repression of personal and property rights, it is appalling that Mr. Barnaby seeks to tighten government control here at home.

If a municipality wishes to preserve undeveloped land, it should buy the property. This distributes the cost of such preservation across the entire community, instead of forcing the property owner to subsidize the plans of a few influential citizens.

I would here refer Mr. Barnaby to the final clause of the Fifth Amendment, which prohibits the taking of private property for public use without the payment of just compensation.

A restrictive anti-development zoning can strip tens of thousands of dollars from the value of a parcel of land. That Mr. Barnaby considers this a small price to pay is self-evident - his property is obviously not at stake.

I will leave Mr. Barnaby with one final note. Studies reveal that apartment and condominium complexes, as well as commercial businesses, contribute more to a local community than the value of services they consume. In fact, the only type of property which poses a net drain on a community's resources is the single family home.

It is fiscal suicide to continue this inequitable shift of the tax burden from homeowners to renters and business, while at the same time restricting growth of the latter resource. If gambling is Mr. Barnaby's intent, he should visit Las Vegas and cease his manipulations of local economies.

'Low voltage' contractor bill sparks Senate panel debate

By Tim Richard, staff writer

A state Senate panel has stripped a bill licensing electricians of provisions requiring low-voltage equipment installers to be licensed journeymen.

Low-voltage equipment includes sound systems, burglar alarms, data processing equipment and closed-circuit TV.

"The low-voltage issue needs to be done with a separate bill," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, chair of the Senate Human Resources Committee.

HOUSE BILL 5168, as it came to the Senate, was vehemently opposed by home builders, hospitals, the burglar and fire alarm installers and the newly formed Michigan Association of Life Safety Equipment Contractors. Some still oppose it.

They saw the bill, as offered by Rep. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, and passed by the House, as featherbedding by Local 58 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the National Electrical Contractors Association.

And Sen. Robert Geake, R-North

ville, still thinks it hasn't been fixed enough. "I felt the bill was a blatant attempt on the part of the electricians' union to take business away from burglar alarm and sound companies by requiring that they conform to the licensing requirements," said Geake.

"The bill has been modified in an attempt to appease them, but it still requires unreasonable ratios of journeymen electricians to apprentices," said Geake, who was on the short side of a 3-1 vote Thursday.

DILLINGHAM said he would start work on a separate bill to cover low-voltage technicians, currently unlicensed.

"What we have to do is look at the licensing qualifications for low-voltage people," Dillingham said. "The electricians agree to that."

He likened electricians and low-voltage technicians to "oil and water, which don't mix." He called the House bill "a disservice" by packing in too many topics.

The Senate substitute requires a 1:1 ratio of journeymen electricians to apprentices on a job site.

Mike Crawford of the National Electrical Contractors Association, bargaining agent for 400 contractors with 3,000 workers, said a 1974 court decision had upset the intent of current law. He favors the new bill.

"The apprentice rules are enforced on a shopwide basis (instead of a site basis)," Crawford said. So while a contractor in Kalamazoo may have only one journeyman for four apprentices, he can tell a state inspector, "I have a 16:1 ratio in Marquette."

Crawford said that "so-called apprentices do electrical work without supervision at all. Apprentices are being hurt and killed on sites."

LYN EGBERT, of the 8,000-member Michigan Association of Home Builders, said the ratio of journeymen to apprentices should be governed by collective bargaining, not law.

"The electrical contractors have the lowest workers comp premiums of all the construction trades," said Egbert. "Safety is not a tremendously great issue."

He said wiring of new houses soon will be done by unrolling a 2 1/2-inch rubber strip. When Dillingham asked how many workers it takes to wire a house, Egbert said, "One. I don't think a person, to wire a house, has to be a journeyman or an apprentice."

Dillingham noted federal law requires a 3:1 ratio of journeymen to apprentices in federally financed projects.

Reno Regary, a St. Clair Shores contractor with one union and one non-union shop, said he favors the bill but would prefer a 3:1 ratio.

Meijer recalls beans

Meijer Inc. has announced a recall for cans of its own label greenbeans.

The recall involves 16 oz. cans sold at all Meijer stores in Michigan with the code number: G-WCVC/28180.

The federal Food and Drug Administration issued the recall after fears surfaced that uncooked beans were mixed with cooked beans.

According to the manufacturer, Meijer was shipped 150 cases of the beans, 75 of which remain in company warehouses. The beans are being pulled from the shelves of Meijer's 58 Michigan and nine Ohio stores.

Customers can return the beans to their nearest Meijer outlet for a full refund, a company spokesman said.

The beans were packaged by Lakeside Packaging Co. of Manitowoc, Wis. The company packages green beans under a number of labels.

Muffins a treat all day

Itty-bitty bite size or main course massive, muffins are marvelously munchable. One of the latest food trends to hit our area is the muffin phenomenon. At one time, muffins were a Saturday or Sunday brunch staple. Nowadays, muffins are garnering more and more shelf space at local doughnut shops, breakfast buffets and even at McDonald's.

And why not? Muffins are diverse. They're suitable for serving as a brunch bread, a succulent side dish, a delicious dessert or a scrumptious snack. They can even be transformed into a powerful nutritional punch while at the same time pleasing the palate.

Muffins started out as a simple quick bread that was baked daily. Nearly every culture had its own form, the first being the Welsh Pice Ar Y Man, small pancake-like cakes flavored with cinnamon and nutmeg and bursting with raisins and currants, according to "The Joy of Muffins."

The first real muffins were English crumpets — light, circular spongecakes developed in the early 1700s. This was a yeast bread product, while just about every other type is cousin to that original quickbread.

THE MODERN-DAY American muffin appeared in the 1840s after the development of baking powder, which hastened the rising process, so the dough remained quick but became more toothsome. Muffins soon moved from the realm of breakfast and English teatime to become snacks and fare for every meal.

Although the standard-bearer to some may be the original blueberry muffin (with the corn muffin a competitor), there isn't much that cannot be added to muffins. Among the most popular nowadays are the vegetable and fruit group comprised of the zucchini, apple, banana and pumpkin.

But watch out, because muffins are experiencing a resurgence and can be seen on the best tables featuring the likes of cheese, sour cream, rhubarb and even sausage.

Making muffins never has been a great mystery or challenge, but the key to making a better batter is in the mixing. Liquid ingredients should be blended into the dry ingredients at the last possible moment before baking, and then stirred by hand just until the dry ingredients are moistened. Stirring too long will produce tougher muffins. The longer the unbaked batter sits, the longer the gluten (levening agent) has to break down. Believe it or not, it's okay if the batter is lumpy.

If your muffins are as hard as baseballs, there probably was too much flour added and not enough liquid. Stirring too long and hard also will produce rock-alikes with the professionals saying that a 10-15 second stir is really all that's needed.

MUFFINS THAT ARE flat and spread out all over the top of tins are usually filled too full. Experts recommend filling muffin tins and cups only 3/4 full for optimum results. Also, too much liquid and not enough dry ingredients will make a flatter product.

On occasion, even I produce muffins that pop out of the oven as flat as the Ren Cen only to fall as flat as a soggy pancake. Again, too little flour can be the culprit. And lastly, if your muffins are not browning evenly, make sure that they are placed on the center rack while baking. Muffins too high get too brown, while muffins too low get burnt bottoms.

Great muffins make excellent lunch-box fillers for everyone from kindergartners to office brown-baggers. Why not whip up a batch of homemade goodness today?

Jordan Bumgarner, 3-year-old son of Randy and Tracy Bumgarner of Westland, adds another apple to the ones his family has already picked at the Plymouth Orchards and Cider Mill.

Cider Mill TIME

By Larry Janes
special writer

FALL IN MICHIGAN, the time of year for leaves, crisp evenings and foggy mornings, also heralds the blossoming apple crop.

Many of our area's apple orchards are gearing up for hectic weekends. They beckon suburban families to load up the car and head out for an afternoon of sipping cider, sampling doughnuts and enjoying the gorgeous splendor let loose by Mother Nature.

Among the nation's apple crop, Michigan apples always attain excellent status. The reason in no small measure is due to Michigan's unique blend of climate and soil. But more than anything else, it is due to the Michigan apple growers themselves — people with an abundance of apple knowledge and experience, a deep understanding of the latest in horticultural methods and a commitment to making a great product even better.

One of suburban Detroit's best cider mills is the Plymouth Orchards located just west of Plymouth Road between Joy and Warren roads. In addition to the sweetest and coldest apple cider in town, this orchard also boasts hayrides, a petting barn, U-pick dwarf apple trees, farm fresh doughnuts and pies, and soon-to-be-harvested pumpkins.

OWNED AND operated by the Emmetts for the last 12 years or so, this Western Wayne County establishment offers the locals the finest pickin' around.

But what makes the best apple cider? Plymouth Orchards says its award-winning cider is a blend of Michigan's best: In the early season, the cider mill starts off with a blend of Paula Reds and McIntoshes. As the season progresses, it switches to later harvestings of Michigan Delicious and Jonathans.

In the earlier part of the season, it takes about one bushel of apples to make one gallon. As the season progresses and the apples begin to ripen more and soak up more of those crisp fall nights, the yield will be almost three and one-half gallons per bushel.

Michigan is known as the apple variety state, where many different kinds of apple varieties are grown to meet the taste demands of folks like you and me. Major varieties grown in Michigan include the late summer Paul Reds followed by major year-round apples, the likes of McIntosh, Jonathans, Ida Reds, Romes, Delicious, Golden Delicious, Winesaps and Spys.

With Jonathans leading the pack in Michigan's apple production, it's no wonder they are billed as the fifth most popular apple in the nation. Jonathans are brilliant red with a creamy white inside. They are loaded with juice and are firm, crispy, yet tender, with a medium-tart flavor. Not only is this apple a winner for eating out-of-hand but its versatility is unsurpassed for use in pies, sauces, cider and salads.

Candy apple making is a sticky business

By Larry Janes
special writer

Candy apples and caramel apples are in prominence at all the local cider mills and farmer's markets.

At one time, I thought the only good thing you could do to an apple was dip it in hot melted caramels but the first time Momma made candy apples certainly will go down in history, along with my first apple pie and my first chocolate chip cookie.

There is little art to making a good caramel apple. Just start with a couple of big, juicy Delicious apples and a few old Popsicle sticks and a bag of Kraft caramels. I belong to the eat-one-throw-one-in-the-pot school of caramel apple making. By the time I have unwrapped a two-pound bag, I'm on such a sugar buzz that I can never wait for the hot caramel to cool enough. Just give me more.

But there is an art to the creation of a candy apple. First off, you can have all the apples, sugar, corn syrup and red food coloring in town but if Mother Nature doesn't want you to make candy apples, it isn't worth the hassle.

Reading between the lines, this means that the best days to make candy apples are cool, dry days, not these dog days of 90 percent humidity and air conditioners. Forget rainy days, too. I think I was asleep in cooking school the day the chef told why, but it has something to do with the fact that when there's moisture in the air, the boiling sugar and corn syrup hardens funny or something like that. Next time I talk to Dr. Science, I'll ask him why.

FINALLY, I FIND one thing that you absolutely cannot make in a microwave. In order to enjoy a good candy apple, one must be able to appreciate all the time and effort that goes into the making. You need a heavy saucepan. Forget the ones you bought at the state fair for $12.95. When you want to boil sugar and syrup to almost 300 degrees, you need a heavy saucepan that will retain and distribute the heat evenly.

If you're actually thinking about going through with this, and you want to read on, be prepared to buy, beg, borrow or steal a candy thermometer. This, however, is not necessary if you have a babushka-wearing Momma standing by your side with a little dish of cold water, who takes the tip of a spoon and dribbles a little in the cold water and then tests with calloused fingers just how hard the syrup has gotten.

Although babushka-wearing mommas are more fun, $5 candy thermometers are more practical because the latter will not make you feel guilty about having a dusty refrigerator top or, god forbid, fingerprinted sugar canisters.

Equipment and assistants taken care of, all that's needed is a cinnamon stick and some red food coloring. Get a bag of apples and a few leftover Popsicle sticks and the time has arrived.

If you happen to be making these with Momma, now is the time to get the cleanser out and wash your hands. Just scrub until it hurts because as far as mommas are concerned, they will never be clean enough. Cleanser aside, wash the apples and then dry them completely. Using the old ice cream sticks or better yet, if you happen to be friendly with the meatman behind the counter, ask him for some heavy city-chicken skewers. They work just as well. Plunge the sticks into the stem end of the apple and set aside.

AT THIS POINT, it is recommended you check the first-aid box for burn spray, salves and Band-Aids, and make sure the freezer is full of ice. Whenever I make hard

One of my favorite thought-provoking sayings goes as follows: "If you take away a person's chance for failure, you take away his chance for success."

I thought of this saying — which is applicable to all ages and arenas of life — when I received a letter from Josie Tajer who submitted a Winner Dinner in response to my request last spring for meals children could prepare themselves.

The mother of two grown children, Tajer submitted a family favorite recipe her kids had been making since they were 10 years old. She wrote that in order for them to feel at home in the kitchen they were given the privilege of cooking a complete dinner once a month. As her children were involved in Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts and trying to earn their cooking badges, they were excited about this opportunity.

She admitted she had to endure some interesting dishes, such as microwaved lettuce, and chicken with a few feathers still on, but palatable or not, the meals were eaten, and it was wonderful for her children to learn how to cook.

For the first two years, Tajer would be around to gently supervise, but as her children became more experienced and proficient, they were able to, by and large, take over the kitchen. Today, her older son is married and has turned into quite an adventurous cook. Her daughter is completing her last year of college and also can prepare many delicious meals, including this week's Winner Dinner, which she can make and serve in less than one hour.

NOW THAT her children are grown, Tajer has more time to devote to freelance writing, and she does articles that have been published in various women's magazines and area newspapers. Having started writing on a regular basis since she was in fifth grade, Tajer took a Writer's Digest correspondence course in the early '80s and, to date, has written several books for children.

She regularly attends writer's conferences throughout the year, and every spring she volunteers her time at the Livonia Senior Citizens Center to help people with their income tax returns. She loves to cook as well, and her husband, having learned from his children's example, prepares all the meals every Sunday.

considered for publication, to Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Recipes

HAMBURGER PIE

Quick and easy enough that a child could do it, this recipe makes 8 individual pies. Because the pies are small in size, and depending on how many people are eating this dinner, you may want to double the recipe.

On a note: It is helpful to use a rolling pin or your hand to flatten and stretch each piece of the dough so that it will fit into the muffin tin to form a little shell.

- ¾ pound ground beef
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 4 slices American cheese
- 1 package Pillsbury Crescent Rolls
- 1 can beef gravy

Brown ground beef in skillet, salt and pepper to taste. Add chopped onion and cook until tender. Pour off fat. Set aside.

Place separated crescent rolls into greased muffin tins. Put a small piece of cheese in the bottom of each dough crust. Then spoon some of the meat mixture into the individual pies. Top with cheese.

Bake in a 375-degree oven for 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Heat gravy and pour over pies just before serving.

FRESH, CANNED OR FROZEN CORN

Whether fresh, frozen or canned, corn is a colorful complement to the hamburger pies. One way to make use of left-over ears of corn is to take a sharp knife and slice the cooked corn right off the cob. Place the corn in a saucepan, add a little milk and butter and heat until corn is heated through. Season lightly with salt and pepper. If your child is preparing the corn, you may prefer to use either canned or frozen corn or cut the corn off the cob yourself.

TOSSED GARDEN SALAD

What better way to get your child or children to eat salad than to have them put it together. After all, they wouldn't dare not eat what they made. Let them choose the greens and vegetables that go into the salad as well as the type of salad dressing that will be used for the salad.

JELL-O NO-BAKE CHOCOLATE MOUSSE PIE

Leave it to the folks at Jell-O to come up with this delicious dessert that really is as easy as pie. Simply follow the package directions and top the pie with either CoolWhip or ½ pint of whipped whipping cream.

DETROIT'S Quality DEALERS

Senior transportation is generally available

Q. I am 89 years old and my wife is 87. We live in Detroit. We would like to be able to go to a senior center for meals and companionship but we have no way of getting to the center. Do any of them offer transportation? We are in good health, but I can no longer drive.

A. Many Detroit senior centers will provide transportation to and from the center sites. Most centers offer hot meals, usually at noon time, and a variety of activities for older adults. Some senior centers also offer transportation for shopping, medical visits and even some special senior entertainment trips. Fees, if any, for the transportation are determined by the individual sites. Meals are usually offered on a donation basis but no one is refused a meal. There is usually a small charge for social trips. For the names of the centers closest to your home, call the Detroit Health Department at 878-4559 Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Q. My husband will soon be released from the hospital. I cannot care for him alone at home and my family lives in other states. I will need help before he comes home and I don't know how to go about arranging for assistance.

A. Most hospitals offer discharge planning which assists patients and families prepare for health and on aging

home-care needs once the patient is discharged. This service is often provided by a registered nurse, social worker or the hospital may have a staff of specially-trained discharge planners. Discharge planning is offered so that, if needed, a visiting nurse, hospital equipment, home delivered meals or other services are arranged prior to patient discharge. The discharge planner can arrange for ambulance transfer if it is needed, too. Questions concerning follow-up care and those agencies to contact for additional assistance or information can usually be answered by the discharge planner, also. Ask your nurse to help you contact the hospital's discharge planners.

Q. I will soon be able to apply for Medicare and am interested in purchasing a supplemental insurance policy that will cover the medical services and expenses that Medicare does not. Where can I get unbiased information to learn about the best protection I can buy for my money?

A. Since everyone's needs and economics are different, the first thing you should do is to carefully consider your present and what you think will be your future needs before buying a supplemental health care policy. Your local Social Security office has an informative free publication entitled "Guide to Health Insurance for People with Medicare." This pamphlet explains supplemental insurance and how to go about investigating the available policies. In addition, the booklet contains the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the Michigan State Insurance Department and the Office of Services to the Aging. These agencies will provide you with additional information that will help you make your decision about buying additional medical insurance protection. You should make certain, however, that the policy you are considering purchasing does not duplicate the protection you will receive from Medicare. Duplicate protection is not only unnecessary but costly.

A Man's Gotta Do What A Man's Gotta Do

All young men have one responsibility in common. They have to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

A public service message of this publication and Selective Service System

Only one other environment is as well suited for the development of a healthy child.

The womb is a unique and nearly perfect environment. Designed specifically by Mother Nature for a developing child's needs. And dedicated solely to that child's well-being.

To those in the health care field, however, it presents a most difficult act to follow.

But on September 25th, the University of Michigan will open the doors of what may be the most complete and innovative health care environment outside a mother's womb. The Maternal and Child Health Center.

Here, four nationally known hospitals have been integrated under one roof: C.S. Mott Children's Hospital; Women's Hospital; James and Lynelle Holden Perinatal Hospital, and the Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Hospital.

All their combined skills will work to meet the specific needs of each individual patient. Pregnant women and new mothers. Infants, children and teenagers.

The Maternal and Child Health Center. After Mother Nature has done her usual, impeccable job, it's our turn. Knowledge Heals.

Antiques and lace: A B&B experience

By John Monaghan
special writer

Time was, you had to drive three or four hours to reach a favorite bed-and-breakfast destination. Now, as three inns in Detroit, Northville and Milford have proven the B&B experience is getting closer to your own backyard.

Located off Jefferson Avenue near Belle Isle, The Blanche House Inn counts Coleman Young and other prominent Detroiters among its neighbors. The eight-room inn has experienced great success, especially with business travelers.

"A lot of them look for a way to break from the impersonal chain hotel," said innkeeper Mary Jean Shannon. "They come here for the personality. We remember their names, often become good friends, and provide all the amenities of a hotel — and more."

Mary Jean and her son Sean both had nine-to-five jobs before purchasing the 1905 Blanche House and the 1898 "castle" next door. She was an interior decorator for properties on Mackinac Island. He was a budget analyst at Chrysler.

The renovation has been a labor of love for the Shannons, who appreciate Detroit's historic architecture.

"We basically did all the work on The Blanche House ourselves," Sean said. "On the castle renovation, I'm more of a general contractor."

THE EXTERIOR and landscaping have been low priorities, so you may be disappointed when approaching the tatty lawn and peeling paint of The Blanche House's colonial revival facade. Walking inside, however, you will find an exquisitely decorated inn.

Paintings, prints, and fresh flowers accent the antique-filled guest rooms, many named for Detroit historical figures. The Stanton Canal River Room, after original owner Marvin Stanton, is one of two rooms affording a riverside view.

The Snuggery, the third-floor suite, offers pastel-colored, hand-painted murals, a house-warming gift executed by a Kentucky cousin of the Shannons. This is the priciest room at $105 per night. All rooms include full breakfast with fresh fruit, juice, baked goods and an entree, perhaps quiche, French toast or cheese strata.

Restoration is in full force at the castle, which architect Louis Kamper patterned after a castle in Ireland. The Shannons hope to have guest rooms open by fall. On the weekends, scaffolding and paint brushes are set aside as the castle hosts catered weddings and banquets on its first floor.

Both homes were once part of the Detroit University School, which counted G. Mennen Williams and members of the Ford family among its pupils. The building served for many years as dentists' offices and apartments. Multiple residential zoning made things a lot easier when the Shannons purchased the home as a prospective inn in 1988.

INNKEEPERS SUSAN Lapine and Don Mroz came up with the initial five-step plan for Northville's Atchison House on the back of a restaurant napkin. Exactly one year later, in July 1988, they opened to guests.

"In between, I spent three months doing research into zoning, feasibility, everything," said Lapine. "The city at the time had no idea how to address a bed and breakfast, but they were very helpful in pushing it through."

She was concerned about the reaction of the neighbors, many of whom opposed the project because of increased traffic downtown.

"We did cold calls," she explained. "We introduced ourselves, said we would soon be neighbors, and told them about our plans."

Today, The Atchison House blends perfectly with the beautifully preserved small town of Northville. The talents of several local designers and architects have Stop motion animator Dave Hellmer, 27, of Ann Arbor works on the special effects for a movie in which the lead character dreams that spiders have crawled along his optic nerve and popped up in his brain.

Creating monsters and other FX things

By Greg Kowaleki
staff writer

Jeff Ginyard is a monster maker. And he's proud of it. The 29-year-old hobby shop salesman has a dual career as an expert in movie special effects — FX, as it's called in the trade.

Ginyard specializes in model making — often models of creatures that like to eat people's brains. Yuck! Ginyard was responsible for building the killer robots in the locally produced film "Moontrap." He also animated mini astronauts and built space ships and various contraptions that appeared so lifelike in the film.

"Moontrap," which starred Walter Koenig, best known as Pavel Chekov in the "Star Trek" TV show and movies, opened last year. The film didn't exactly set box office records. In fact, after its premiere in Ann Arbor, it went straight to video stores.

But rentals have been brisk. "It's really done well," said Mark Schaffer, manager of a Block Buster Video store in West Bloomfield. "A lot of local people knew about the film and were excited to see it."

And while critics found a few holes in the plot and some painful acting, it's difficult to knock the film's special effects.

THESE DAYS, film special effects are at the forefront of movie technology. And for a movie made in a warehouse on Rochester Road in Troy, "Moontrap" holds up quite well.

If you haven't seen the film, here is a brief synopsis: Astronauts on the moon discover a race of robots that are half organic and half machine. The grisly creatures incorporate human bones and muscles into their metallic skeletons. Their goal is to come to the Earth and take over the planet.

In the process, astronaut Koenig finds a beautiful alien who helps him destroy the robots' invading ship.

"Moontrap" was a challenge to the 12-member FX crew. Working on a budget of about $1.5 million — pocket change in Hollywood — the film's producers had to create a movie that would compete with the likes of "RoboCop," "Batman," and "The Abyss," at least in the area of special effects.

There they succeeded. The effects in "Moontrap" are first rate. The film's presentation of the lunar surface closely matches what the Apollo astronauts saw.

That was no accident. "Everyone knows what the moon looks like," said Gary Jones, owner of Acme Special Effects in Mt. Clemens.

JONES WAS technical director for the movie's special effects. His crew was responsible for creating the killer robots, disembodied heads (one of which became a studio mascot) and other assorted horrors.

Perhaps the greatest problem faced by the FX crew was making the sets look lunar-like. B.K. Taylor, the film's art director, used sand and cement dust to recreate the lunar surface. But making special effects in that kind of setting was difficult.

"The moonscape is in shades of black and white," Jones said, "You can't hide anything."

Contrast that with interior scenes where aerosol oil can be used to give a misty, glowing atmosphere, almost like a barroom haze. That can't be done on the lunar surface where there is no air to keep a mist airborne, Jones said.

The huge robots that pop up from the lunar dust also had to stand on their own. Either they looked real or they didn't.

They did. Making scenes look authentic took an enormous amount of effort, said Ginyard. Working with a tight budget and even tighter deadlines, the FX crew kept a seemingly impossible schedule.

"The designers can come up with an idea and expect us to make it in a day . . . Well, sometimes, it takes longer than that for the fiberglass to set," Ginyard explained.

MOST MODELS are made of clay that is coated with fiberglass and baked. Additional pieces, such as for a detailed space ship, come from plastic model kits and can be added to make the final product look real.

That's where working at Joe's Hobby comes in handy. By way of an appropriate plug, Joe's Hobby has outlets at 1055 Livernols, Rochester Hills, 35203 Grand River,

Miniature maker Jeff Ginyard, 29, of Detroit stands in an earthquake fissure he created for a dream sequence of a film in the making.

Farmington, 7845 Wyoming, Dearborn, and 17900 E. 10 Mile Road, East Detroit.

"I knew what pieces were available from kits and how we could use them," Ginyard said.

The finished models were equipped with motors and "squibbs" as needed. The motors gave the models limited movement, although a nudge from Ginyard's foot was needed to get a temperamental moon rover roving on cue.

Squibbs are small explosive charges that are electronically detonated to simulate bullets, or in the case of "Moontrap," blasts from space guns. In any case, the effect is loud, burning and effective.

The film minimized the use of stop-action photography, which is used to give models movement, because doing that is expensive.

However, the robots were given a amazingly lifelike movement by filming them at a slow speed. When projected at normal speed, the robots move with a realistically fluid motion.

EVEN THE simplest appearing scenes involved detailed work. Near the end of the film, Koenig and his alien friend approach the giant robot ship where they find a lunar lander attached to its hull.

Two lunar module models were used for the scene. One, about 1.5 feet high, was used for the distant shot, the closeup was done with a more detailed model about 3.5 feet tall.

Both Ginyard and Jones are film veterans of a sort. They have worked on other locally produced films and commercials.

And they're ready for more. Jones has a project in the offing called "Skeeters," which is about giant mosquitoes. The script, which he co-wrote and hopes to direct, is complete. And he has definite ideas on how to make a respected feature, comparable, he hopes, to the 1953 classic "Them," which is about huge ants.

There's no guarantee "Skeeters" will be produced or that it will be a box office smash. So are Ginyard and Jones ready to take on the grueling challenge of more seven-day-a-week work schedules with no guarantee of success?

Ginyard's answer: "In a heartbeat."

The B&B experience: Closer than you think

One of the most popular rooms, Anna's Room, is decorated around a quilt that belonged to Lapine's grandmother. The rose pattern of the quilt complements the hand-painted rose border around a clawfoot tub.

FULL BREAKFAST is served here, including homemade muffins, fruit, coffee and a hot entree like banana nut buckwheat pancakes and omelets. Rooms are priced between $70-85 per night.

Since The Atchison House is located just 30 minutes away from both Ann Arbor and Detroit, business travellers often stay here. The Inn also attracts Detroit-area couples who "want to get away, but not too far away," according to Lapine.

Weddings have also been popular at the Inn, which has hosted close to 70 since opening just two years ago.

A former stagecoach stop now houses the Hibbard Tavern Bed and Breakfast Inn, which sees its busiest season during Milford's September tour of historic homes. Innkeeper Barbara McGraw-Beckstrom worked at Greenfield Village before deciding to transform the 1845 building for guests.

Hibbard Tavern offers four guestrooms. The Coe Suite, named for two generations of the tavern's owners, sports Laura Ashley decor, a brass queen-sized bed, even a miniature Tudor home built by Barbara's father.

THE $70 PER night room is only available on weekends. This is the only room with a private bath.

Aside from attracting business travellers, Barbara uses special events — from herbal garden kitchen workshops to folk music concerts — to boost the Inn's occupancy rate.

"The fascinating guests" are what keep Barbara fresh after two years of Innkeeping.

"Very special people — adventurous, outgoing people — come to bed-and-breakfasts. It's fun to be part of their lives and to have them be a part of mine."

B&Bs are popping up in other nearby communities, including Ann Arbor and Romeo — not to mention well known historic Inns such as Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel and The Botsford Inn of Farmington Hills.

Could the bed-and-breakfast concept translate to other Detroit-area cities, such as Birmingham or Royal Oak? Detroit Innkeepers answer with a resounding "yes."

The most critical caveat for the prospective innkeeper is to discover their niche in the community and the market," advises Lapine. "Identify who the client is and work with the uniqueness of the location."

Ruth Mossok Johnston and David McCall Johnston think his new painting, "End of the Chase," looks great on the dining room wall, but they know it will probably soon be gone, when some collector sees it and falls in love.

Artist donates painting for benefit

By Corinne Abalt
staff writer

PAINTER DAVID McCall Johnston would fit nicely into one of his paintings. Not only is there a touch of the country philosopher about him in looks and speech, but he has a keen interest in and appreciation for history.

But he lives in this century and continues to be one of the most successful artist/illustrators living and working in Michigan, possibly in the country.

For the first time in his career, he will donate an original painting for a benefit. It will be for auction at the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation's Evening of Brilliance on Friday, Oct. 19, at the Ritz Carlton of Dearborn.

The painting is being reproduced on the front of the ad book and the invitations. It's a cause that he and his wife/business manager, Ruth, feel very strongly about. She is on the Evening of Brilliance committee and both have a strong commitment to this area and this state.

His painting alone should increase the proceeds from the auction significantly, even when compared to some of the other exotic items, such as the use of a yacht in the Barrier Reef, cosmetic surgery and a year-round playhouse designed by Betty Lee Sidler-Sweatt of Franklin.

FOR THE curious, the would-if-I-coulds and actual Johnston collectors, a special exhibition of his paintings will open Tuesday and continue through Saturday, Oct. 20, at the Ritz Carlton.

In all it will contain about 25 paintings, some that Ruth has managed to borrow back from collections for the occasions and some for sale. And since he always has a backlog of commissions, Johnston originals for sale are rather unusual.

"I work in two styles," he said, "a fantasy style for children's books — which isn't totally different, as you might think, from the other Americana style."

He recently did four paintings of dragons for Simon and Schuster (publishers) and has illustrated books for Magnum Classics, Harper and Row, Bantam, the New American Library, MacMillan, the Green Willow Press and the Franklin Library.

His Americana paintings have been bought and in many instances reproduced by the likes of the Jules Verne Museum of Nate, France, the Whirlpool Corp., the Michigan Apple Growers, Carson Business Interiors, Dr. Norman Vincent Peale (first published in Good Housekeeping Magazine), Berringer Wine, the Franklin Mint and Bradford Exchange, Maker's Mark Distillery and lots of national magazines.

THE JOHNSTONS share a love of collecting.

Their Farmington Hills house, the fifth he has restored (this one is the Gravin farmhouse, moved to a new location), is filled with outstanding examples of early American furniture and decorative arts — primitives, Shaker and New England, Amish and other quilts. Ruth has a fine collection of button and glove hooks.

"Sometimes we travel and I don't find anything. When we were in New England last summer, I found some wonderful ones," she said.

He loves his collection of early American light fixtures, "but I don't believe in electrifying them."

Their home, with its quiet, stark beauty, lack of pretense and total absence of any kind of gimmickry, is testament to the purity of his approach to all things — especially his art.

David McCall Johnston's painting for "Evening of Brilliance" was donated for auction to help the fight against juvenile diabetes. It was reproduced in stunning color on the auction invitation.

Singer leads quarterfinals

By Janice Tiger-Kramer
special writer

You could say 18-year-old Michelle Rott of Farmington Hills has been practicing voice for a lifetime.

Rott, who comes from a family of entertainers, won the quarterfinalist round in the pop category of the "Quest for Excellence" competition for 18-24-year-old musicians and singers.

The contest, sponsored by WJR-radio, Dodge and the tri-county Dodge dealers, was held at the Smith Theatre, Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge Campus, Farmington Hills, on Sept. 12.

Rott returns to the Smith Theatre on Oct. 3 for the semifinal round, where she competes against 10 singers in the pop category. If she wins the semifinals, she and seven other pop singers go on to the grand finals on Jan. 8, 1991 at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

The winner of grand finals earns $5,000.

Pop singer eyes semifinals

The college freshman won over the judges at the quarterfinals by singing "On My Own" from "Les Misérables." She will sing "I Dream a Dream" from the same show during the semifinal round.

A 1990 graduate of North Farmington High School, Rott studies music and business at Eastern Michigan University, but she dreams of a career in music.

"I love singing. I'm always practicing and listening to tapes of my favorite artists," she said. Rott will begin studio work in the university's music department this semester and will study piano there next year.

The oldest of four children, Rott comes from a family of celebrities. She clearly recalls performing in her parents' band at age 5.

"I used to sing 'You Light Up My Life' at weddings and other events," she said. "I loved performing even then."

Rott's mother, Carol, sang on the Decca record label in the 1960s and believes singing is something that her daughter was destined to do.

"It's in the genes. We're a show business family," she said. "When I performed on television, Michelle always watched. Performing became second nature to her."

CAROL, WHO performed popular tunes under the stage name of Vickie Carroll, admits she was more anxious during Michelle's recent competition than she was years ago during her own appearances on the Tonight Show and Merv Griffin.

Though Michelle's talent was apparent even when she sang with Sheldon and Carol Rott's band in the late 1970s, the real training began in high school where she sang with the Northern Lights and the Starlettes.

Besides being coached through the years by her mother, Michelle worked on her voice by singing at the Guest Artist Recording Studio, which her parents owned at the old Tally Hall in Farmington Hills.

Until the October competition, Michelle plans to keep her thoughts on college work. But she admits that the excitement of appearing in the semifinal round is always on her mind.

"My dream has always been to sing on radio," she said. "But winning the next competition and performing at the Fisher would be right up there — almost as thrilling as radio."

Irritants bane for each of us

Q: Several years ago, when you were speaking at a meeting I was attending, you referred to things that need doing that you see over and over again but don't get done. What did you call that and can you refresh my memory about it, please?

A: The term you are referring to is "irritant." An irritant is something, as you say, which needs doing, that you see repeatedly, but which isn't getting done.

Almost everyone has a few of these around — things like medical forms that need to be filled out, pictures or slides that need to be stored away properly or filling that needs to be done.

It's typical as you run across the "To Do" once again, to mentally snap your fingers and remind yourself, "I've got to get that done." However, you are too busy at that moment and promised yourself you'll do it "later."

Ironically, most of these irritants are left out where we can see them as reminders so we won't "forget" to do them — even though, if we were honest with ourselves, we'd admit we have no intention of doing them any time soon.

"Later," of course, then turns into days, months or even years, as the dreaded article gathers dust.

IF YOU see one of the irritants once a day, you have had one reminder of something to do. If, however, you see the same irritant five times a day, you have had five reminders of something to do.

Even though you know logically it's the same reminder over and over, your subconscious can't sort out that fact. All it knows is it's getting "hit" again and again with reminders of things that need to be done.

Now, let's suppose you have five irritants that you see five times a day each. By multiplying, you realize you've had 25 reminders of things to do — none of which you have any intention of doing today!

The ironic thing is that many of these irritants are just small little niggles that may take only five or 10 minutes to do, yet we put them off and put them off.

Not only do irritants multiply, they also inhibit productivity. One person desperately needed new carpeting, but didn't want to carpet until she painted. She didn't want to paint, however, until she puttied the windows.

And since she didn't know who to get to putty her windows, she lived with the irritant of old ugly carpeting for a long time.

I will discuss how to get rid of irritants next week at my "Organizing for Success" classes in Birmingham.

Correction: The telephone number of the Birmingham Community House was listed incorrectly in last week's column. It is 644-5832. You can also still enroll in my Schoolcraft College classes by calling 462-4448.

Piece of history adds atmosphere to newest houses

(AP) — Not everyone can live in an architectural landmark, but installing a piece of history such as an old mantel or door, a sink or wood paneling is a growing option.

Once considered fair game for the wrecker's ball, buildings parts are now salvaged and sold at retail through a network of architectural antiques dealers.

Although most items are anonymous relics, some have impeccable pedigrees.

THE CURRENT mail-order catalog of New York-based Irreplaceable Artifacts, for instance, lists cast-iron railings from Louis Sullivan's Chicago Stock Exchange Building; a bar from the Normandie, a French ocean liner; and a marble sink from the apartment of Marjorie Merriweather Post.

"Demand for architectural antiques has increased at least tenfold in the last 10 years, and the best usually sell first," said Herman Cole, owner of Ramase in Woodbury, Conn.

Old building lumber such as floor boards is three times as expensive as reproductions.

THOSE SEARCHING for a special piece are willing to cast a wide net, said Peter Hill of American Architectural Antiques in New Haven, Conn.

He recently sold paneling, bath fixtures and lighting from a late 19th century Stamford, Conn., estate to two far-flung restaurants and a New York antiques dealer.

The most impressive pieces are, of course, the most expensive. Recently in Hill's showroom were, for $5,600, the entryway to the Stamford house once owned by Sir Douglas Alexander, a president of Singer Sewing Machine Co.; its chestnut staircase, for $15,000; and a bathtub, for $1,200.

Not all old parts are pricey. Old handmade door latches, for example, cost about $35 to $45, about the same as new handmade ones, Cole said. There are still plenty of antique building parts to go around.

"Demand runs in fads," he said. "For a while we couldn't turn up enough barn siding. Now I can't sell it, but demand for flooring and beams for country kitchens hasn't cooled."

THOUGH A few dealers specialize in parts for a particular type of building, such as 17th and 18th century houses, most carry parts in many styles.

They typically stock doors, fireplaces, window glass, wood paneling and sheathing, old beams, early 20th century sinks and tubs, columns, old lighting fixtures, hardware and iron fencing.

General antiques dealers also stock parts, said David Duntton, a dealer in Woodbury. These tend to be choice bits that are bought as art objects rather than as building parts.

Exterior light fixtures and lamps run the gamut in style. Long gone are the days of a simple wood or metal pole and a round globe.

MOST PEOPLE buy only a few items to dress up a home. But Margaret and Charles Gure of Westborough, Mass., assembled an entire house from old building parts they found and bought from many places.

Their new colonial saltbox looks as if it has been standing in place for 250 years. Among the salvaged parts are its wooden staircase, ceiling beams, cornice moldings and posts, as well as wood sheathing, paneling, wainscoting and flooring.

"It took us eight years to find all the parts for our 18th century saltbox, but it was absolutely worth it," said Margaret Gure, an antiques dealer. "Knowledgeable people walk in and are amazed that this is a new home."

The effect is enhanced by antique furnishings she has collected.

IT'S MORE practical than a novice might imagine to buy used building parts for an existing house, said Evan Blum, owner of Architectural Antiques in New York City.

It is simple to install an old fireplace or a door — the two architectural antiques are most popular with homeowners — he said.

When shopping for an old fireplace mantel, you have to know the exact dimensions of the firebox and the wall surrounding it. You can change the size of the firebox opening by having it rebricked, but it is easier to make it smaller than larger.

Paneled rooms present a more complex problem, especially if the room you buy needs to be cut down.

ALTHOUGH THE anonymous building parts are the bread and butter of the trade, Blum said the fun is in the unusual.

When he took down the Vanderbilt mansion on West 52nd St. in Manhattan, he discovered there once had been a private basement entrance into the neighboring 21 Club restaurant.

Condo's best interests overlooked

I am a board member on a five-person board. There are four women and one man. He wishes to inflict his will not only on the board but upon the advisors that we have including the managing agent and the attorney. It seems that if the attorney says something is black, he says that it is white. He is continuously undermining the attorney and the managing agent in connection with their deliberations. How can we deal with this man who apparently has his share of problems?

I have observed over the years the tendency on the part of certain persons on the board to get carried away with their new found control and power sometimes to the detriment of not only their fellow board members but of the persons who are providing services to the association.

In the case of the managing agent or the attorney, they are presumably providing their best advice with the expectation and hope that the association will follow their advice. That is why they are being utilized.

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

In the last analysis, the decisions have to be made by the board with the benefit of the advice and consent of the managing agent, the attorney, the accountant and other persons. The board has to evaluate their recommendations and make an independent analysis.

If members of the board allow their egos or personal problems to interfere with their ability to make reasoned decisions or to follow the reasoned opinions of their consultants, you have a serious problem that could result in the undermining of the board's ability to effectively carry out its responsibilities and in some cases to commit malfeasance. It would appear timely in your situation to have a meeting with the board member in question, expressing your concerns and asking for his understanding and cooperation so that he might temper his "control problem" in the best interest of the association.

Our board is interested in finding out whether a co-owner who is seriously delinquent in her assessments can place a lien against a unit. The co-owner may also be in jeopardy of foreclosure by her mortgage company. It is not our intent as a board to intimidate the resident, but we wish to protect the common interests of the association as a whole, preserving the association's assets at this time.

The condominium statute and presumably your condominium bylaws provide the association with a right to place a lien on the unit of a co-owner for the non-payment of assessments. This lien is secondary, to the right of the first mortgagee to assert its lien for non-payment of mortgage payments.

Accordingly, if the first mortgagee forecloses, the priority of the association in regard to using the lien as a security may be wiped out, depending upon the circumstances. Nonetheless, the association should perfect its lien and begin foreclosure proceedings on its own, to the extent that the circumstances so provide. The association may also pursue a claim for money damages against the co-owner, which is unsecured by the unit. This action may be combined in one lawsuit.

The association should be prepared to pursue the delinquent co-owner aggressively and consistently. Keep in mind, of course, that the copdominium statute provides that the association's reasonable attorney fees and costs are chargeable to the delinquent co-owner.

I am not a board member but want to examine various bids that were obtained on a job, one of which was tendered by an affiliate of the managing agent. The board refuses to provide me with a copy of the bid. They have already given a copy of that bid to another co-owner who is not on the board. What can I do?

The board sounds as though it is playing games. Whatever basis the board may have had to withhold that information from you was obviously waived when it provided that information to a co-owner who is not on the board, or did not have any fiduciary responsibility in behalf of the association.

That, of course, assumes that there was any basis in the first instance for the board depriving you of that bid since it presumably would be a part of the records of the association to which you are entitled. This would be so stated not only under the condominium documents of your condominium, but under the condominium statute that mandates your right to inspect the books and records of the association. If the board continues to refuse after reasonable attempts by you, I would contact a lawyer and begin legal proceedings against the board for intentional malfeasance and perhaps a host of other potential abuses.

Let there be (outdoor) light

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Ken Kraemer, a retailer of outdoor lighting systems, believes that one look can be worth more than a lengthy explanation or pictorial summary.

To that end, he and partner Jerry Wallgora have relocated and upgraded their business — Nightlighters — from Livonia to a 3,500-square-foot showroom in Farmington Hills.

"This is the first store of this kind in the world we know of," Kraemer said. "Most light companies sell a mixture of interior and exterior lighting products. We carry only exterior."

The physical orientation of the showroom also sets the business apart.

"We wanted to demonstrate outdoor lighting products in a somewhat natural environment."

SO, THE partners installed black ceiling tiles. They decorated a rear wall to simulate the back of a house. They built a deck, bridge, gazebo and patio. They put in a fountain, rock gardens, trees, plants and flowers.

Now they can demonstrate different kinds of fixtures and lights in an indoor setting that more realistically reflects the outdoor experience.

Dozens of electric lights, including decorative yard lamps, illuminated patio stones, outdoor table and floor lamps, porch lights, architectural area lighting and low-voltage lights line the showroom.

"Builders, once they see what we can do, will be excited by it,"

Kraemer said. "Typically, builders don't do a lot with outdoor lighting."

ARCHITECTURAL AREA lighting differs from traditional street lighting in several respects.

The fixtures, much more decorative but not as tall as wooden or metal poles, generally are grouped farther apart than streetlights.

"The ideal way to use it is close to curbs," Kraemer said. "It's more subdued lighting. It adds illumination, but not to (the point of) brightness."

More developers seem to be investigating decorative lighting applications in an effort to stand out from one another, said Mike L. Hermann, a new business development supervisor for Detroit Edison.

"Frankly, our lighting is very utilitarian," Hermann said.

If nothing else, developers and builders are becoming conscientious about lighting their subdivision entrances, Kraemer said.

"It's almost a reaction to the marketplace," said Leon Zolkower, vice president of land development for Billmore Properties of Troy. "People's tastes are more sophisticated today, so they look for these things."

KRAEMER SAID he offers one-stop lighting service.

"I offer design, installation, maintenance and financing options. As far as a package, I'm able to make it easier so he doesn't have to deal with a lot of entities."

Individuals account for a majority of fixtures sold at Nightlighters, while dollar volume is evenly divided between individual sales and architectural area projects, Kraemer said.
