Crash leaves woman in coma

Accident probed

A 37-year-old Westland woman remained in a coma Tuesday following a two-car collision on Merriman, north of Warren Road late Monday,

Two other people received less serious injuries, police said.

The investigation into the 11:35 p.m. crash is continuing, police said. Police declined to identify the woman, who was a passenger in one of the cars, or the two drivers involved in the accident.

The driver of one car, a 21-yearold Canton Township man, faces possible charges, police said.

The woman was admitted to Garden City Osteopathic Hospital with major closed head injuries,

The woman was admitted to Garden City Osteopathic Hospital with major closed head injuries, police said. She was awaiting transfer to University of Michigan Hospital,

The Canton Township man was southbound on Merriman in a 1990 Chevrolet Beretta when he lost control of the car and crossed the center line dividing the northbound and southbound lanes, said officer Tom Hissong of the Westland police trafsic bureau.

"He hit the other vehicle, a 1989 Pontiac Sunbird, nearly head-on" Hissong said.

The woman was a front-seat passenger in the Pontlac.

The driver of the Pontiac, a 29year-old Westland man was admitted to Garden City Osteophathle Hospital with a broken left arm and broken left leg, Hissong said.

The driver of the Chevrolet was treated and released from Annapolis Hospital.

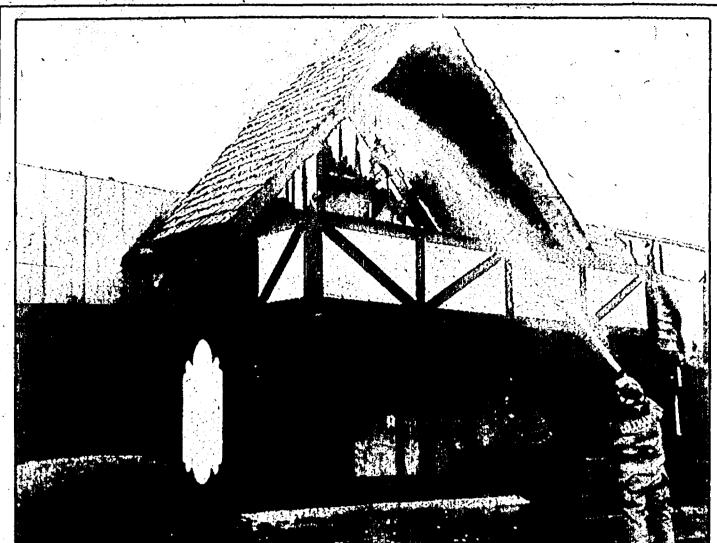

None of the occupants were wearing seatbelts, Hissong said.

Both drivers were under the influence of alcohol at the time of the crash, he said.

A firefighter douses the roof area with water Monday. Small sections of the restaurant reignited Monday and Tuesday.

Fire at local restaurant is ruled arson

By Todd Schneider staff writer

The fire that destroyed Ralph's restaurant early Monday has been ruled an arson by Westland police and fire officials.

There were no suspects early Wednesday and the investigation was continuing, said Robert Perry, Westland fire marshal.

"It was a set fire. And that was clear because it was started in a place where there was no (other) reason for there to be a fire," Perry said.

Perry declined to say where or exactly how the fire was set. He said accelerants (such as gasoline) weren't used, however.

The fire marshal said evidence of a break-in was uncovered at the restaurant at Newburgh north of Cherry Hill.

Co-owner Ralph Calamita told police an estimated $6,500-$7,000 was missing from a safe inside the building. Assisting in the investigation are Westland police detective Sgts. Jerry Wright and Henry Ryskamp.

The fire gutted the well-known dining and entertainment spot, formerly known as Bob's Hideaway.

PERRY SAID Wednesday replacement of the building would probably cost $700,000-$750,000 up from his preliminary estimate of $500,000.

The four-alarm fire was called in at 2:08 a.m. Monday.

The restaurant closed midnight Sunday and Calamita told fire officials he left the building between midnight and 12:15 a.m.

Bumper Ball issue in city council's court

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Bumper Ball is coming to Westland. Maybe.

The answer to your first question: Bumper Ball is a fast-paced hybrid of jai alai, basketball and hockey with players racing around the court in carnival-style Whirly Bugs, or bumper cars, trying to scoop a ball into their opponent's goal.

The game could become the sport of the '90s, its proponents say. There are now 20 courts across the coun-

Bumper Ball location in Michigan, joining facilities in West Bloomfield, Ann Arbor and Mount Clemens,

The proposed Westland site is on the city's west side, in a vacant, 5,750 square-foot portion of a building on Marie, south of Ford. The site is zoned light industrial, but borders on a small neighborhood of singlefamily homes.

"Our hope is to develop (local) leagues once the center has been established," said Draython Baker, one of three partners in the proposed Westland facility.

more information. Tom Brown, council president, questioned placing the facility in an city survey showing a large number of vacancies in commercial districts. Brown also criticized the proposed site plan, which calls for arcade games and a concession stand.

Therapeutic program plans expansion to help disabled

She intends to expand the program by geiting preschoolers and elderly people involved. Blair plans to do that by more contact with schools and senior citizen centers and apartment developments.

"My goal is to have the best therapeutle program in Michigan within two years," said George Gillies, the city's parks and recreation director. "To do that, the new supervisor will be more of an administrator than a player, overseeing and developing new programs and services."

FIGURES SHOW that 10 to 13 percent of the nation's population has a mental or physical disability, Gillies said. Placing those numbers on Westtand's population of nearly 85,000 would mean the community has from 8,500 to 11,000 disabled people.

The recreational programs planned for the disabled, Gillies said, include aerobics, cooking and swim-

City eyes early retirement plan for workers as way to cut costs

By Tedd 8chnolder staff writer

As many as 50 city employees could take advantage of an early retirement plan under consideration by the Westland City Council, city officials said last week.

The plan, which would be available early next year for qualifying city employees (with the exception of police officers and firefighters), could save the city an estimated $270,000 annually, according to figures compiled by Mike Gorman, city finance director. Westland has more than 300 full-time city employees, about half of whom work outside the police and fire departments.

To qualify for the plan an employee must have a minimum of 10 years with the city and their combined age and years of service must add up to 70 years.

for our clients."

Gorman estimated an annual savings of $5,392 for each employee choosing early retirement.

The maximum number of employees who qualify for the plan next year would be about 50, depending on when it was implemented, he said.

The Municipal Employee Retirement System plan would allow the city to adopt a 60-180-day window for qualifying employees to accept the early retirement

Portions of the building smoldered and reignited Monday afternoon and again on Tuesday.

Perry said that was "normal" for a large fire.

"The roof collapsed and there were (burning) areas that firefighters couldn't reach," he said.

Newburgh, which was closed to traffic during the Monday morning rush-hour, was closed briefly again by police in the afternoon as the charred-out building continued to smolder.

The restaurant was operated for years by their tenant, Bob Cuddeback, as Bob's Hideaway.

operators would take precautions to eliminate loitering by area teens.

"We don't want to turn this into an arcade game for kids," Baker said.

He added that center operators will keep a list of local schools, calling them to verify whether school is in session when kids show up during daytime hours.

THE TARGET age for Bumper Ball is 21-40. Baker said. In other locations, police and fire departments have sponsored five-person teams.

Teams reserve the court and pay a $125 per hour rental fee, which is where most of the business' profit is generated, Baker said.

Baker likened the business to a bowling alley, which solicits leagues to fill its lanes.

"It's a very controlled environment because of the limited number of players who can participate at one time and the fact that they have to be scheduled," Baker sald.

The video games and concession area are to serve those waiting to play or family members and friends who come as spectators, he said.

Stan Magnum, a Salt Lake City,

Utah, automotive shop owner, is the father of Bumper Ball. He developed the original game, which he dubbed Whirly Ball, in 1962.

After 18 years of refinements, he opened his first court in 1980.

THE GAME has flourished in the western U.S., Baker sald. Bumper Ball centers have also been opened in Florida and North Carolina.

Safety measures for players in-clude plastic scoops and balls, and bumper cars equipped with seatbelts, a roll bar and air-cushioned bumpers, Baker sald.

"What we have to determine is will city services suffer by bringing in that large a number of untrained employees?" said councilman Thomas Artley.

At a Dec. 10 study session, council members discussed the possibility of adopting the plan on a delayed basis, so that new hires could be trained by retiring employees still on the job.

The early retirement plan must be approved by a majority of council members at a regular meeting.

Program to expand services for disabled

Blair's non-therapeutic program duties will include directing the women's volleyball and beach volleyball leagues, plus coordinating the recreation department's special events, such as daddy-daughter/ mother-son dances, she said.

THE NEW supervisor succeeds MaryBeth Jones, who resigned last summer when moving to the Chicago area. Interim supervisor was Jan Perry for the previous five months.

Blair, 26, who started her new post three weeks ago, is a Detroit native.

She received her bachelor's degree in recreation and parks administration from Central Michigan University, with a major in therapeutic recreation.

Blair earned her master of arts degree from East Carolina University in leisure systems management, with a major in management of therapeutic recreation.

Her past positions include being a recreation therapist in a California hospital and program director for a group home for the disabled in Beverly Hills, Mich., and working at a psychiatric hospital in Warren.

BLAIR FIRST became interested in recreational programs for people who are disabled at the age of 14 when she was a "candy striper" volunteer at Bons Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe.

Later, she spent two summers as a camp counselor at a Girl Scout camp designed for the disabled from throughout the country. "I first wanted to be a doctor,"

Blair said, "but later became more interested in rehabilitation." While doing her internship for her bachelor's degree, Blair also decided that she wanted to be involved in a community organization providing services for the disabled instead

THE PROGRAM, organized in the late 1970s, was first known as Tri-City Therapeutic before it was downsized four years ago as a costcutting measure.

Before the change, the program served Westland, Garden City and Wayne and was financed by their recreation departments.

Before the downsizing, the program won a national award for the services offered the disabled.

'Think positive' state tells young students

By Tim Richard staff writer

The pop psychology of Norman Vincent Peale is on its way to an elementary school near you, thanks to $750,000 raised by the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

Two-thirds of Michigan elementary schools - 1,380 out of 2,080 this week will receive a package of videotapes aimed at teaching Peale's "positive thinking" and raising kids' self-esteem.

"The program is delightfully creative and absolutely consistent with the Michigan Model for Comprehensive School Health Education," said Pat Nichols, health teaching consultant for the Michigan Department of Education.

"The bottom line is health care cost containment, POPS (Power of Positive Students) is a wonderful addition," she said in a news conference with business donors.

THE KITS, at $448 aplece, consist of two videotapes for classroom use, audio tapes and written materials for teachers. Usage is totally under the teacher's control.

Promotional material says the program "teaches children in kindergarten through fourth grades how to pop out of negative self-images and enjoy being themselves. "Research indicates that 80 percent of children entering kindergarten have a good self-image, but by fifth grade that number falls to 20 percent."

No agreement? County budget war looming

By Wayne Peal staff writer

If there's to be a compromise on the Wayne County budget, it could come today.

But war seemed more likely as this afternoon's meeting approached.

Commissioners and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara appear far apart on several budget items, with matters likely to head to McNamara has charged commissioners with driving the county back into debt by adding slightly more than $1.2 million to the county budget. Where the money is going, and where it's coming from, are keys to the dispute.

"IF WE were fighting over money to go to health care or some other topic like that it would be one thing," McNamara said. "But what we're fighting about is the commission padding its own budget and that of the clerk.'

Though McNamara said he approved a $600,000 increase for commission expenses - a 14 percent hike - commissioners added an additional $700,000, giving them a $5.6 million budget or 30 percent in-

Some of that money would apparently go to create a new position executive director of commission

"They're budgeting $84,000 for a position that isn't necessary," said McNamara, who added he wouldn't authorize any payments to whoever fills the job. (County insiders speculate the post has been offered to undersheriff Warren Evans.) Commissioners, though, said the post was necessary.

"I think we need to upgrade our staff." said Commissioner Kevin Kelley, D-Redford. "This person would be chief of staff for the commission chairman."

Commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, made it clear that the commission would sue McNamara if the executive failed to fund any commission-approved ac-

Another commission-approved increase would boost the commission's own budget auditing division.

"WE HAVE to get moré information on budget matters," said commission Vice Chairwoman Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township. "For instance we've never seen an audit on the county's new indigent health care plan."

A related aspect, $250,000 the executive approved to expand the health care plan, was canceled by the commission.

"This would have helped the working poor," McNamara said. "I don't know how the commission could have voted against it."

Commissioners, though, said the money could scarcely have covered an expanded program.

"I'm still interested but it seemed like they approved money to get it started, but not to keep it going," Kelley said.

Another dispute centers on an estimated $500,000 the commission added to the county clerk's budget raising clerk's office fees to pay for McNamara said he would veto the increase, in part because commissioners failed to properly schedule a public hearing on the new fees.

Commissioners, however, had set another public hearing for Wedneson before we had a county executive," he said.

But some commissioners hope matters will resolve peacefully. "I'd hate to see us go to court."

Kelley said. "To me, that's the last resort. I'd rather we sat down and worked this out."

Numbers

Schools act to boost scores

TUMBERS ARE what you want them to

That's the problem of analyzing the annual Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) academic test results. In recently announced results, the Wayne-

Westland school district didn't do well. In two of nine categories, scores went down significantly, while others remained about the same when compared to last year's results. Ronald Somers, head of the district's instruction department, said he is disappointed with the 1990 results. To its credit, the administration has quickly moved to help correct the problem.

SOMERS DIRECTED ALL principals to develop an improvement plan designed to raise MEAP test scores. He is aware that not all schools have the same problems or the same type

The district is insisting that the principals, as educational leaders of their buildings, develop what would be like a medical prescription to address the needs of specific patients.

One set of statistics that parents in the community should be aware of in analyzing the latest MEAP results is that there is a more rapid turnover of students as compared to past years.

THAT TURNOVER has an impact on localtest results.

The school district's curriculum is based on students going through its sequences in successive years, Somers said.

When students move into the district, they are not exposed to the local curriculum and sometimes have trouble getting in step. If the MEAP tests are given at that period of transition, then scores are expected to drop.

The Wayne-Westland school district is right on target in directing building principals to draft a plan aimed at improving academic test scores for their students.

The numbers about the turnover are almost as interesting as the MEAP scores, since the turnover makes it clear that the administration and teaching staff have to be more flexible in adapting to the changing student body and move more quickly in making changes in the curriculum or classroom teaching strategies.

LET'S TAKE a closer look at those numbers. Of the 1,097 seventh graders tested this fall, 29 percent had attended an elementary school in a different district and hadn't been exposed to the local academic curriculum for part of the previous seven years.

That's a whopping increase of four times the previous year's turnover.

In the 10th grade, 16 percent of those tested attended a junior high in another district within the previous three years. That is more than double the previous year's figure of 6.5 percent.

Certainly the district can't do anything to control the turnover of families.

But Somers is on target in suggesting that the district be more flexible in meeting the needs of today's students who didn't experience the earlier years' curriculum.

Pay raises Put them on hold for now

HE PEOPLE OF MICHIGAN should ask state officials to put aside their proposed raises, in some cases amounting to 16.2 percent, until they earn them. Last week a state commission recommended giving raises to legislators, the seven Supreme Court justices, the governor and the lieutenant governor. These raises, which would take effect Oct. 1, 1991, were approved by the commission state services, programs and layoffs. The impropriety of accepting raises under such circumstances should be reason enough to cancel them. But there are other compelling rea-

That argument, "If you pay them more, they must be for will turn out to be) better," is flawed. One need look only as far as the national level in the public sector to find well-paid, well-intentioned budgeteers and managers presiding over a recession-driven economy, an unfavorably lopsided trade imbalance and monetary and social malaise from coast to coast.

their market share dwindle to foreign competitors. They're also taking the advice of high-paid consultants who recommend going for the shortterm bang of big profits, instead of the long-term benefits of seeing programs (such as solar energy and production of higher density computer chips) through to completion, which would keep jobs here, guarantee a lock on research and development and still return a handsome profit.

So paying someone more isn't necessarily the

• This is Michigan. A salary of $45,450, which legislators now receive, may not be much to live on in New York or California, but it provides a very nice living in this state. If that isn't enough for a legislator's family to live on, perhaps the legislator should ask his or her spouse to get a job, like the rest of us.

That said, it is necessary to attract good people to serve in the public sector and money is an incentive. There is nothing wrong with giving these people a raise under the same circumstances the rest of us get a pay increase - merit and performance.

Look in any direction and one sees areas on a statewide level that can be improved — education, incentives for small businesses, commerce, social services, overcrowded prisons and court dockets, medical care, housing, roads. Measurable improvement in these areas would make Michigan a better place to live for its residents, who come first, since they pay the bills.

Christmas front Reason, tolerance prevail

O NEWS IS good news, we feel, when it comes to the so-called December Dilemma — this Christmas-in-the-CIRISTMAS IS to be downplayed schools controversy that has nettled some suburbanites in past years. Christmas in the classroom (or religion in the public schools) in some of our overwhelmingly Christian communities had the potential to become "an emotional free-for-all" in the words of an administrator, once the religious minorities got going on the subject.

It's no secret that pressure has been applied to the school establishments of several districts (Ruchester and Birmingham come to mind) by these minorities to keep the traditional symbols of Christmas out of the public schools. And of course parents to whom Christmas means a lot were talking back.

Christmas front, or that's the way it seems.

Why have things settled down? We'd like to beblieve that it's a matter of points well made and learning about life.

RESTRICTED TO THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF

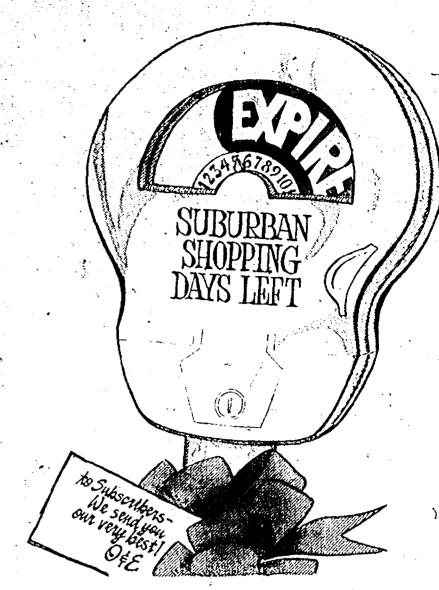

CHRISTMAS IS to be downplayed in some districts, according to new holiday policies. There seems to be a new attitude, as well, as people adjust to the new policies.

"I guess people are getting educated to the fact and sensitive to the fact that this is no longer a 100 percent Christian community," said a Christian pastor from Birmingham in an inter-

In the past, we've asked for tolerance and understanding on this issue. It could be made into a positive experience for all concerned with the proper understanding.

Rather than the emotional free-for-all, parents and educators should view the issue as an opportunity for working together to teach their This December, however, all is quiet on the children about the various cultures and religions that must co-exist on this planet.

That's not religious education. That's simply

The cost of housing turns 'dream' into a nightmare

THIS COLUMN is another in a series devoted to exploring what has happened to The American Dream here in Michigan.

Last week I showed that the dreams of most middle-class people are now being shredded by real declining incomes. This week, I'll start looking at the costs of some of the things that traditionally have meant participation in The American Dream.

Take housing. After all, owning your own home is one mark of entry into the middle class. And traditionally, more Michigan people owned their homes than anywhere else because they held the good, high-pay-

BUT STARTING around the mid-1970s (just about the same time that real incomes started to fall), something started going haywire with the costs of housing.

On average, the price of a house tripled from 1973 to 1988. And the steep rise in Interest rates - remember the "standard" mortgage used to be 30 years at 5 percent compounded the problem of making house payments.

In the 1950s, a typical Michigan 30-year-old middle-class man in an ordinary house spent on average 14 percent of his gross income on mortgage payments. By 1973 that had risen to 21 percent. And by 1983 it had shot up to 44 percent.

When mortgage payments con-sume nearly half of an average guy's income, it's not at all surprising that the rates of home ownership have started slipping for the first time in nearly 70 years.

The consequences of the terrific inflation in housing costs over the last 20 years are many and terrible.

WHO'S TO BLAME? The Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan says: • Local building codes are inconsistent and too restrictive, while building inspectors are arbitrary and slow. This runs up costs and drags out construction time and interest

 Housing construction is energy intensive, and when the price of energy goes up, so too do the costs of housing. People have been indoctrinated to want more house than in the past. There are all sorts of examples showing that a family with an average income simply cannot afford an average house. Realtors used to say that a sensible budget for housing was 25 percent of the husband's income. Today they say you should budget 40 percent of a family's combined income.

THE CONSEQUENCES of the terrific inflation in housing costs over the last 20 years are many and terri-

They start with the thousands of homeless people you see sleeping in the park and trying to get a square meal in a church feeding program. Some are mentally ill; others are habitual substance abusers.

But far too many are perfectly ordinary, decent, hard-working people who simply cannot earn enough money to afford housing for their families. For them. The American' Dream ended some time ago, and

But far more common and far more insidious is the kind of pressure making enough money to meet the house payments puts on families. Husbands work at two jobs instead of one. Mothers go back to work six weeks after delivering a baby, not because they want to, but because they have to.

One of the important parts of Their American Dream was set out in one; of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Four Freedoms: the Freedom from Fear. ...

Far too many families are living right at the brink, existing from paycheck to paycheck, always in fear that some unforeseen event - a layoff, a pregnancy, an illness not covered by insurance - could put : them out in the street. For them, The, American Dream exists only in the fantasy world of TV ads.

Joys of a Christmas that's finished

THE PARTY OF THE P

Just a week until Christmas and all through the place the family is zoned out in pure hyperspace.

The tinsel is strung on the mirrors up high while the cats calculate whether felines can fly.

The Scotty is zooming around through this zoo playing "Bet You Can't Catch Me" with the kid from Grade Two.

She's dashing and dancing and squealing with glee. Then she loses her balance and knocks down the tree.

Mom's making the cookies, I'm cleaning the floors. Big Brother's in hiding avoiding the chores.

I've just finished up with the dining room rug when the kid from Grade Two takes a break for a hug.

Then out in the kitchen

we heard such a clatter I sprang to the door to see what was the matter.

The flour on the floor gave the room a strange glow and the specter that stood there was white as the snow.

She was covered with flour from her head to her feet and the moment I saw her my heart skipped a beat.

Her eyes, ooh, they sparkled. Her look was not merry. Her face was as red as a Michigan cherry.

The dough in the sink and the look on her face let me know right away I was in the wrong place.

"The cookles aren't working," she said with a growl, as I barely avoided a flying dish towel.

"The dough is too soft and the room is too hot."

Jack Gladden

RANGE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE

And I ducked when I saw her reach out for a pot.

As dead leaves that in Michigan often do fly,

I was sure that that pot would soon take to the sky.

But then tempers cooled down (and so did the dough) and the Big Cookie Project was put back on "Go."

The dog had relaxed and was gnawing a bone and the kld from Grade Two was involved on the phone.

Big Brother appeared from the womb of his room and in just a few minutes was wielding a broom.

The cats were still eving the tinsel with greed but had not figured out how to manage the deed.

When dinner was over the dog wanted out and the kid from Grade Two was asleep on the couch.

Big Brother had vanished back up to his room and the silence enveloped the house like a tomb.

Said Mom, with a terrible ache in her head, "I don't know about you, but I'm going to bed."

And I heard her exclaim as she crawled in her nest, "This will be over soon, and then we can REST!"

Vocational programs must be improved

Q: We are always being compared with Europe and Eastern countries. Everyone knows our test scores are lower but there must be other factors beyond test scores that make their educational systems more successful. What are the reasons.?

A: I believe the main reason is our over-all 19th century approach to education. Our curriculum does not address the fact that a majority of students who do not graduate from college yet are in a system that favors those that do.

In Germany and Japan, at about the fifth grade, students are assigned to either a college-bound curriculum or'a vocational education program. Germany and Japan recognize that many young adults will not go to college, so they begin preparing them in prevocational/industrial arts programs at the upper elementafy level.

Granted we offer some of these opportunities. The difference, however, is in the amount of resources, commitment and energy given to those young adults who will not graduate from a four-year college. Frankly, we run most of our high school kids through a college-oriented curriculum whether they like it or

Look at the figures. Only 20 percent of all U.S. high school students graduate from college with a fouryear degree.

Yet 80 percent of our high school curriculum is geared towards college-bound students and 20 percent. of our curriculum is geared toward non-college bound students.

Recent studies show that, in the United States, only 18 percent of the jobs in the future will require a college diploma; 82 percent of the jobs will not require a college education.

Germany, Japan and other emerging powers recognize that 70 to 80 percent of their student population will not graduate from college. They have structured an appropriate system to serve the non-college bound population.

Those going to college go to the college-bound high school. Those not attending college go to a vocational

Yet to justify our college-dominated high school curriculum, we develop remedial math, science, English and other holding tanks so that this neglected student majority can accumulate enough credits to receive a

These young adults want a job after graduation. Some are saved by our community college system. But a vast majority wander around from job to job.

PRODUCTION OF THE PROPERTY OF

The brighter ones eventually enroll in a quality adult education program to start anew - to start preparing for something they should have been trained for previously.

No, it is not just test scores in which the emerging international powers are surpassing us. Frankly, government officials and educators talk about restructuring and school reform but I haven't seen it.

We need a dual system, one for the college-bound and one for the 70 to 80 percent that do not graduate from college . . . clearly defined with sfu-dent dignity and self-esteem for the non-college-bound built into the sys-

We need a vocational and industrial arts program second to none. One with technical and computer literacv - a built-in requirement.

How is anyone going to survive in any job in the next decade without computer skills?

Everyone has said it and it's true. Our national priority is not education. Until it is, we shouldn't blame or "dump" on local school boards, taxpayers and educators; many are making the best with what they have to operate.

You see, the national priority in Japan and Germany is education. Teachers are the highest paid civil servants and equipment is state of the art. Vocational schools are fully funded, not an after thought.

On the flip side, Japan is a class society and once one is labeled a skilled worker, that's what they are to be. We never shut the door and believe the truck driver can become a lawyer if the desire is strong enough. However, there are still at least 70 percent who will not go on to

Our system needs a total restructuring as opposed to 20 years of philosophizing and writing about restructuring and school reform.

Boy-o-boycott! look at future

Try this news story from the year 2001 for size:

President Patricia Schroeder provided a great opportunity for all Americans this year - rebuilding the almost totally collapsed. economy.

"An environmentally safe, unisex, people-owned set of companies must be our goal," said Schroeder in her State of the Union message.

Reconstruction is necessary because of the collapse of all the "Fortune 500" companies during the last decade due to boycotts. The gross national product — total of all goods and services - plummeted from $5.2 trillion in 1989 to $1 trillion currently - at inflated

THE BEGINNING of the end came in 1987 when Chrysler Corp. signed up to sponsor ABC's miniseries "Amerika." It portrayed the peaceful takeover of the United States by the Soviets.

Chrysler's dealers and customers gave the No. 4 automaker a lot of heat for agreeing to sponsor it. Peace groups gave Chrysler even more heat for backing away. Everyone agreed to boycott Chrysler's products.

A movie producer ultimately bought control of the firm and used its stock of unsold cars in a sevenmovie series entitled "Demolition Derby."

In 1993, NOW, the National Organization for Women, brought Domino's Pizza to its knees. Before disposing of his stock, founder Tom Monaghan had contributed much of his profit to anti-abortion lobbies.

Domino's problems were compounded when every environmentalist group in the nation accused him of turning the countryside around its Ann Arbor headquarters into a sleazy Broadway of holiday lights. Their efforts doubled when Monaghan turned Drummond Island into a theme park, injecting bears with Valium so they could be

Target and Hudson's stores, succumbed when Right to Life instituted a boycott of its stores because of the company's support of Planned Parenthood.

Ohio was the first state to file for governmental, corporate and personal bankruptcy. The issue was ignited when lottery winners rejected Honda automobiles, made by a Japanese-owned company in Ohio but employing non-union American workers.

When Honda's Ohio plant closed shop, Ohioans boycotted every other kind of auto, and the other 49 states boycotted all Ohio products. By 1995, no Ohioan had a job, and all had aged, rusted autos.

ABC, The Detroit Free Press and Meijer's - a broadcaster, newspaper and retail chain, respectively - closed shop in 1994 after blacks boycotted their allegedly racist

THE WHITE HOUSE said rebuilding the U.S. economy would start with Mea Culpa Inc., a print-

Mea Culpa accounted for half the shrinking GNP by printing standard apology forms used by target corporations to placate boycotters. A target corporation would buy stacks of the forms saying the firm totally, completely and without reservation apologized and renounced its offensive behavior and would change all its policies. The president would fill in two blanks - the company name and the offended group - and mail them to all who protested.

Unfortunately, the form also promised the company would cancel dividends and dedicate 110 percent of its profits to anti-racist, anti-sexist, anti-abortion, anti-polluter and anti-war community

This led to the collapse of the stock market because no one wanted to invest when every corporation was suffering a loss.

Schroeder said a new source of investment capital would have to be found because no one audited what the anti-racist, anti-sexist, DAYTON-HUDSON, parent of anti-abortion, anti-polluter and anti-war community groups did with the corporate profits they had received.

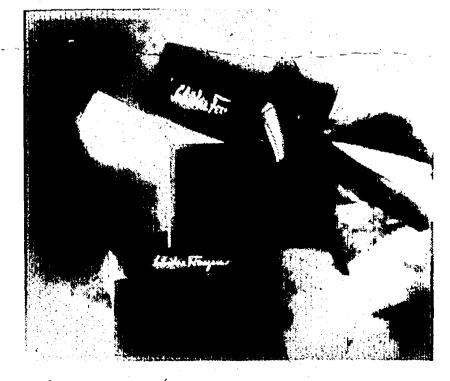

"These are times of great challenge. But working together, I believe we can build a new economy," the president said.

'Holiday blues:' Ways to survive 'tis the season

By Sara VanderVoort special writer

Now that we are in the holiday season, everyone seems to be caught up in a hectic pace, both exciting and exhilarating and more than a little exhausting.

But for some, the holidays can bring disappointment and depression, often resulting from unrealistic expectations and too much to do.

Holiday stress and depression affect people differently and show up in unexpected places and disguises.

Some people know from past experiences that Jan. 2 will find them depressed and depleted. Others are puzzled to find themselves bickering with co-workers, fighting with loved ones, suffering crying jags or experiencing anxiety attacks.

But they seldom make a connection linking the holidays and this stressed-out behavior. They often forget that much the same thing occurred last year.

UNDERLYING THE visible symptoms of stress and unhappiness is a web of pressures often only dimly recognized by "holiday blues" sufferers.

Central to the problem is the seemingly universal wish to make. today's holiday celebrations memorable and perfect, a wish that is coupled with inaccurate recollections of last year's celebrations.

Adults remember the cozy family gatherings and picture-perfect feasts of their childhood, forgetting that family tensions were ignored and that dinner was a family project, not a one-cook spectacular.

Attempts to recreate an idealized past, or to achieve a new and improved holiday fantasy, are certain to fail and leave us feeling frustrated and inadequate. The same is true of parents' attempts to create a "dream Christmas" for children.

EQUALLY DEFEATING is the hope that problems with those close to us can suddenly be repaired because of the holiday season. Ironically, even the best relationships may weaken under the stress.

Family history can wreck the image of at least temporary harmony. Old disappointments, conflicts and anger often reappear when families come together during the holidays. Love and kindness do not appear on command.

The loss of friends and loved ones through death, divorce or alienation may be felt especially acutely during the holidays.

FINALLY, self-discipline and the control of painful feelings are made; more difficult by lack of sleep from a hectic schedule or social pressures to 'let down" and "enjoy," accompanied by alcohol, which reduces inhibitions and self-control.

The difficulty of maintaining emotional balance during the holidays is,,,, matched by the challenge of manage ing the everyday side of celebrating. A family's financial stability may be threatened by overspending on gifts.

Time-management demands another kind of balancing act. How can we keep up with our family, work and social obligations in addition to our holiday commitments? What are the consequences if we fail?

GIVEN THE many holiday pressures and potential for disappoint-ments, it is small wonder that so many people vow to "do things differently next year." But followthrough takes foresight, planning and determination. Here are some suggestions to help the "holiday" blues:"

• Plan this year's holiday observances for their value and satisfaction. Do only what is satisfying and "" meaningful. Plan only what can rea-

Tradition has it that when Jesus was born in the Middle East, and we have all heard of that region, three wise men from the East journeyed to the place. They had followed a star and they came bringing gifts. Would that history could repeat itself.

Following the star that matters is in many . ways no easier today than it was in that long ago time. Convenience had to give way to consistency then and that is no less true in our time.

In the past few agonizing months, hundreds of thousands of people from the West have journeyed to that same region. However, their star has been a distinctly different one than that which led those wise men of old. They arrive not on camels but in tanks and ships. And they come bearing arms rather than gold and frankincense and myrrh.

The men on the camels came to worship a person. Today's entourage worships something else. Ironically myrrh is a kind of oil, but the ancients from the East brought it with them. The armles from the West come to take it home.

PERHAPS THEREIN lies something of the reason that this time of year carries a special appeal. It is, despite the commercialism and the heartaches of the lonely, a time of giving. It may be that one of the reasons that organizations dedicated to serving the poor ring their bells and hold out their hand now instead of in July or September is that more people are in a giving mood at this time. Let's face it, the world is in many respects a 'dog-eat-dog place for much of the year. The name of the game is take what you can get your hands on. But at least for a short while, this time is about giving. And that seems to make a differencé.

The price, and perhaps even the need for oil, will rise and fall with other developments of history camels did not drink the stuff. Wisdom, however, will continue to hold its value, and indeed its price. Truly wise people know that giving holds as much possibility for contentment as getting. And certainly it is more life-giving than grasplng ever can

· Following the star that matters is in many ways no easier today than it was in that long ago time. Convenience had to give way to consistency then and that is no less true in our

IF OUR STAR is human rights, if we deline it as freedom, then we must follow it regardless of where it takes us. We must follow it into places where we stand only the opportunity to give as well as to get. Political and economic expediency cannot be our guiding light.

How we read the story of old will perhaps not matter nearly as much as how we write today's story. How will future generations read our story? Will it be the story of truly wise men and women who came to give?

Or will it be about rather greedy folks who came to get or to profect what they have claimed as their own? Will it be about those who sincerely look for life or those who want little more than to protect a given lifestyle?

This is not only a season for telling stories of old. It is a time to let those stories give us some direction on how to write the stories to be told by tomorrow's children. It is a time to allow the wisdom of the ages to be the star for our own journey. It is a time to swallow our pride and change direction when the only star that matters points another way.

The Rev. Robert Schaden is with the Newman Center campus ministries at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Donations to pay medical expenses

Family and friends of 23-year-old cancer patient Brian Buchholz are collecting donations to help defray the cost of a needed bone marrow transplant.

Buchholz, a 1985 graduate of Riverside High School and former Marine lance corporal, was diagnosed as having Granulocytic Leukemia, cancer of the bone marrow, in November, 1989. According to his doctors, the only way to bring the disease into remission is a bone marrow transplant.

The cost of the procedure is $125,000-250,000, depending on the length of his hospital stay, prompting the call for contributions.

Tax deductible donations, made payable to CAP (Caring about People) Foundation with a notation for the Brian Buchholz Fund, can be made to the Brian Buchholz Fund, P.O. Box 39511, Redford 48239.

Brian Buchholz

Donations will be used to pay for costs not covered by insurance.

Planning can help with 'holiday blues' sonably be accomplished without giving up your sleep and peace of Postpoñe social commitments until after the holidays. Old friends will be happier to see you in January under less pressured circumstances than at a cocktail party for 50 in December. Everyone is rushed at this time of year.

 Decide to accept your limitations and those of others. If you take on too much, admit it. Cut back, and let others know you are doing it and Friends are not lost over reasonable changes in your behavior. Decide to distance yourself from family problems; you can tolerate difficult relatives a little longer.

• Declare a non-holiday. There's no law compelling you to celebrate every holiday. You can choose to abstain and create a special day for vourself or for others. New Year's Eve and New Year's Day are a good place to begin. Why bother with resolutions you know you will break?

• Focus on things outside yourself. Plan ahead to do something for others. Such activities promote selfesteem and provide a rationale for not participating in the situations triggering post-holiday depressions.

SEVERAL SUGGESTIONS can be held in reserve for next year's holiday season:

• Two or three months before the holidays, take stock of the past and acknowledge whatever difficulties typically occur. This helps you plan for changes before problems reappear. Let others know you will do things differently this year.

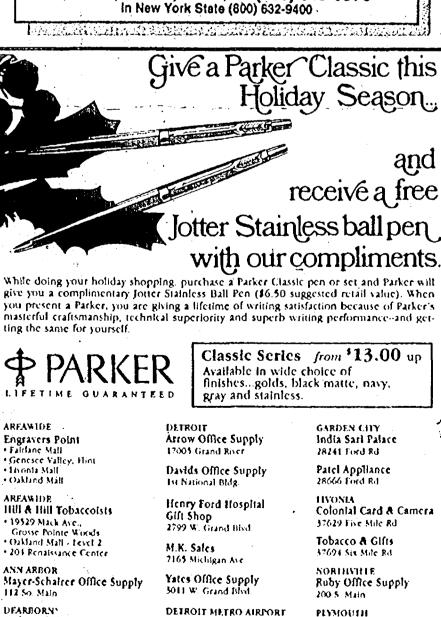

• Some people begin their gift lists and holiday purchases as early as July, an approach that is not as crazy as it sounds. Spread expenditures of money and time over several months before the holidays. Consider handmade gifts, which are often more appreciated than commercial purchases.

To prepare early for holiday entertaining, remember that most food items can be frozen or stored for at least six months.

ACCEPTING THE possibility that the "holiday blues" may strike prepares you to plan your recovery.

In most instances, relief is found by adopting changes in attitude and lifestyle, with support of friends and family. On the other hand, if depression is so deep you cannot seem to mobilize your resources, it is time to seek professional help.

Pets of the week

Rosie, a 9-week-old female terrier/shepherd mix, and Chelsea, a 3-year-old female long hair cat, need homes. Rosle (Control No. 295879) is good with children. Chelsea-(Control No. 295809) is litter-trained and good with other pels. To adopt these pels or others, or to check for lost pets, call the Westland Kindness Center of the Michigan Humane Society, 721-7300. The center is at 37255 Marquette, Westland.

Mice move into abandoned bird nests

Not long ago I suggested that soon after the leaves have fallen from the trees, one should look at bird nests. They are still intact because wind, snow and rain have not damaged them. Some nests may persist until next summer, but most are not durable enough to last that long.

As you look at some of these feats of construction, you may notice that some of them have additional material which have been incorporated into the original design. Often this added material consists of grass, shredded paper, cattail down, feathers and hair.

These materials were not added by the bird before it left in hopes that it would winterize its nest. A new and different animal has remodeled and taken up residence in the nest. Wild mice will often make a winter home from an abandoned bird nest.

An abandoned nest from a brown thrasher or a robin are suitable in size for a Peromyscus mouse. Bird nests provide a stable foundation with good insulation and protection from the bottom. Additional material is woven into a dome to cover the top of the structure and the nest cup where the mouse will curl up.

Though we often only think of mice on the ground, many mice

nature Timothy Nowicki

will take advantage of a nest that may be up to 13 feet above the ground. Nests above the ground are exposed to winter wind and do not have the insulative advantage of snow as do nests on the ground. Their elevated position does, however, remove them from many potential predators that search the ground for a meal.

White-footed mice also have the ability to lower their body temperature from 98 degrees Fahrenheit to 59 degrees Fahrenheit. By lowering their body temperature, they will not loose as much body heat and thus expend less energy. Conservation of energy for a small mammal is essential in winter when food sources are scarce.

Those people who have bird houses will often find mice using the old bird nest inside the box. Old nests need to be removed in spring in order to encourage a bird to use the box. Typically, birds do not use the same nest over again.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

"Well begun . . . is half done." This month's subject, Judy Tippit of Plymouth, is making a new beginning and wants to make sure she goes about it the right way. Tippit lives in a mobile home with her 7-year-old daughter. She earns $35,000 per year working as a programmer in a small, family-run business in Northville. Her exhusband contributes child support of $400 per month.

She has both short-term and long-term goals. She would like to buy a new car next year at an estimated cost of $10,000 and a house within the next two to three years with an expected cost of $100,000. From a long-term standpoint, she would like to prepare for the expense of her _ daughter's college education and provide a retirement nest egg for

Tippit is in an excellent position to make a good beginning because she has some good financial strengths. She has a steady income and employment, good emergency reserves, an excellent savings rate, and adequate homeowner's and life insurance. But she must deal with some weaknesses that may hold her back from reaching her goals.

One of the first concerns we note is that Tippit owns a townhouse in Ohio that she received as part of her divorce settlement. She receives yearly rental income of $5,400, but her yearly expenses for this property are about $6,500. Thus she is experiencing negative cash flow of about $100 per month. Including the depreciation, the investment does provide her with some tax savings, but this is not necessarily an adequate reason to retain the property. Although the area around the townhouse is wellkept, there has not been a great deal of appreciation in recent years. When you consider her potential problems as an absentee landlord, Tippit may want to consider selling the property.

IF SHE DOES sell, there will be some taxes to pay. She has a tax basis in the property of about $48,000, and if she sells it for $70,000, she will have to pay income tax on $22,000 of capital gain. The capital gain would result in additional income taxes of about $6,000.

Because she turned a townhouse into investment property, she could not defer the gain by buying a new residence. She may want to structure the sale on an installment basis or land contract to spread the taxable gain over several years.

Tippit is currently saving about $800 per month, which is an outstanding savings rate. Part of this savings is being put into savings bonds and part into her passbook savings account. She is planning on using the passbook savings account to buy the car next year, and subsequently the savings will be used for the house she hopes to buy. She views the savings bonds as retirement savings.

We agree that it is a good idea for Tippit to keep savings for shortterm goals in a liquid, stable account, but we would suggest that she consider switching her savings account to a money market account/fund for her short-term goals to get a greater return than passbook savings provide. The money continues to be immediately accessible whenever she needs it.

As for her long-term goal of retirement, Tippit might better be served by setting up a deductible Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and placing $2,000 every year into the account (her employer has no retirement plan). In this way the principal and income are tax-deferred until withdrawn from the IRA.

BETWEEN THE IRA and her "untouchable" retirement savings actount, we would suggest that $300 be allocated from the total savings. She might want to consider investing at least the IRA portion in a quality growth mutual fund, which should provide better long-term returns than the savings bonds and which would build a better balance into her portfolio over time.

If Tippit is careful she should be able to meet her next targeted goal of buying a home within the next two to three years. She currently has $30,000 equity in her mobile home, which could be used to help buy the new home. In addition, if the townhouse is sold, this will provide additional money for the new home payment.

Tippit should determine how the new mortgage payment will impact on her monthly budget and cash flow, especially on her ability to save for other goals. When determining the total amount she wants to spend for the new house, she should look at what effect it will have on her total cash savings and on her cash-flow needs.

We note with some concern that Tippit has no estate plan. Her assets are not so significant that she would consider a revocable living trust for tax avoidance purposes, but she may want to at least consider executing a will to provide for her daughter. It is likely that her daughter's father would be the named guardian under the law, but if he is unavailable or dies before her mother, successor guardians should be named.

As some point, Tippit may want to consider setting up a living trust for the benefit of her daughter. Under Michigan law, any assets left to her daughter would be payable to her daughter at age 18. With the use of a trust, Tippit could spread out the distribution of assets to a later date while providing flexibility for the use of the funds for her daughter for whatever is needed.

correcting is that Tippit has no disability insurance. If she were to become disabled, she has no ongoing source of income. This is a major problem in the event she becomes disabled. She should buy an individual disability insurance policy to protect against this contingency.

Tipplt should give some significant thought to future college expenses for her daughter. At Tippit's income level, it is possible that her daughter will qualify for some college financial aid if she plans properly. Much of this will depend to a large extent on the costs of the school chosen and on the strategies she uses for allocating her savings.

It is commonly recommended that parents provide for college savings by establishing a Uniform Gifts to Minors Act (UGMA) Account, which places assets in a custodial account for children. But when determining eligibility for financial aid, these assets are considered to be owned by the child. As a result, for financial assistance purposes, the yearly contribution percentage of those assets (35 percent) is much greater than if the assets are kept in the name of the parent (the expected contribution percentage is reduced to 6 percent).

In addition, Tippit's daughter would be entitled to the assets in an UGMA account at age 18 without any restrictions on the use of the assets. In this case, we might recommend that Tippit keep assets in her own name and earmark certain savings for her daughter rather than establishing such an account.

An additional consideration is that certain types of assets never show up on the college aid

Sound designs abound

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

* Imagine a world without sound. There may be some positives. No advertising. No blaring announcements. No sound bites. But think again. Not only would we eliminate the sounds we bring into our world by choice, but we also would lose the background sounds that are part of everyday life.

The soft music that plays while we eat dinner. The musical scores in movies and plays that excite and calm. The radio station that quiets the nerves, thus preventing you from driving that bleepity-bleep in the car In front of you off the road.

ONE LIVONIA firm, Multi Communication Systems, has been making its business by providing sound in all its myriad commercial applica-with sales of more than $4 million last fiscal year, has built a reputation for itself as a leader in the industry that has led to a number of prominent jobs.

The University of Michigan Hospital, Detroit Metropolitan Airport, the Mazda Automotive Assembly Plant, the Pontiac School District, Oakwood, Henry Ford and Harper Grace hospitals - the list of big name clients goes on and on.

BUT THE job Multi Communication Systems president Lonnie Ervin is most proud of is the Cobo Hall expansion.

JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

In the increasingly complicated sound design industry, competitors dealing in similar products have to find a way to make themselves stand out. Front-end engineering, before etectri-

· clans ever solder the first connection, ensures more flexibility at less cost, according to Lonnie Ervin, president of Multi-

Communication Systems of Livonia.

The configuration of Cobo Conference/Exhibition Center, with its four contiguous meeting halls that can be transformed into one giant 600,000tions for more than a decade. square-foot assembly hall, posed Multi Communication Systems, several logistic and cost problems, general sales manager Dave Hill said.

Multi Communication had to develop a system that could serve each of the four main halls separately and also serve the one large hall created when the partitions between them are removed, Hill said.

The system also had to service the numerous meeting rooms used for the various breakout needs of conventions. The overall cost of the system came in at about $1.4 million,

Now completed, the system requires nearly 64,000 watts of power, a 600-square-foot control room with 14 bays of 72-inch tall racks crammed with amplifiers, 1 million feet of wire connecting the whole thing, and a 20-ton air conditioner just to keep the system cool, Hill

BUT SOUND isn't all that Multi Communication Systems does. By definition, the company is a lowvoltage communications contractor that specializes in institutional applications for the health, educational and corrections industries, Ervin sald.

To accommodate this market, his company has had to expand its services to the design, installation and maintenance of security, paging, life safety, closed circuit television and computer data networking applications.

"What we really do is integrate these systems," Ervin said.

Similar systems require similar installation and maintenance skills, he said, but contractors also have to be mindful of how systems affect one another.

TWO OF THE GREATEST growth areas for low-voltage communication contractors, Ervin said, are in computer networking, in which independent personal computers are linked together, and in security, both for private security needs and the construction of prisons and jail facilities.

Multi Communication Systems' success, Ervin said, can be attributed to value engineering.

"Value engineering is looking at new ways of solving old problems; sometimes using old technology in new ways."

· Value engineering probably wouldn't mean anything to the layman, Ervin said. "All he's interested in is that if he speaks into a microphone, he wants a voice to come out the speakers." BUT VALUE ENGINEERING does not mean that its systems will cost less than others, Ervin said.

"What (more engineering) means is more flexibility and more value for the same dollars. If we can enhance a system without costing the customer extra money, then we're ahead of the game," Ervin said.

Value engineering is a natural progression from being in a highly competitive, established market.

Most companies will offer comparable products, Hill said, but comprehensive engineering up front can make a system better and at a lower cost.

THE COMPANY'S greatest strength is its in-house engineer, Hill said. It has all the traditional draftsman and electrical engineers, plus computer-aided design/ computer aided manufacturing (CAD/CAM) capabilities.

"We can become a design partner with architect and design engineers," Hill said.

Any sound company that hopes to compete will have to be able to provide more. Because products are relatively sign, installation and maintenance. THE FIRST step in a sound de-similar, that "more" has to come from what the firm provides - design project, whether it's new construction or a remodeling job, is to sit down with the design and engineer team to work out the technical aspects of the system, Hill said. The second step is to sit down with the non-technical end users, he sald. "Quite often, the end user has a whole different set of qualifications than the engineering people,"

Hill sald. "We have to be cognizant of that and sometimes act as the facilitator of these two groups and get them together."

Once the pre-engineering interviews are complete, the company does a sound analysis of the structure from which sound engineers can determine what equipment is needed and how it should be used.

AFTER DESIGNING the system, being careful to allow for expansion and ease of use, the sound equipment is installed and tested. But the job doesn't end there, Hill

"No matter how good a piece of equipment is there will always be failures - especially in electron-

Sound systems have to be flexible because uses often change, he' said. Non-sound applications and integrated applications follow similar steps, he said.

Auto makers shouldn't wrap cars in the flag

American car, or per lays I should say the cars sold by the companies who have their main headquarters in the U.S.

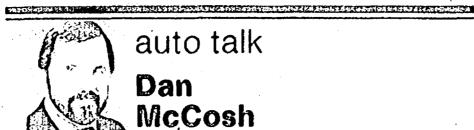

'That is why' I was surprised at my own reaction to the conclusion of a testimonial dinner honoring a topranking Detroit auto exec that concluded with the guy giving his favorite speech, tying patriotism directly to buying American (preferably his Afnerican) cars.

I think I may have been pushed slightly off-center when he pulled out a plastic American flag, stiff enough to sort of look like it was blowing in the wind, and began wav-

I seem to spend more time than Well, maybe he was kidding, trying most journalists who cover the auto to make a caricature of himself and industry defending the merits of the his often-publicized opinions on such matters.

Kidding or not, the flag bothered me aglot more than I would have thought. When it comes to patriotic issues, nothing gets me quite as angry as someone pulling out the flag to bash someone who is expressing an opinion different than his own. To me, it's worse than burning it, since protecting the right of idiots to express their opinions is one of the principal things it stands for. No one ever claimed it's fireproof.

Then I realized that what was also bothering me was that someone who should know better was once again taking an old-fashioned jingoist ing it from the podium. No kidding, stance on the matter of what kind of

auto talk

cars Americans ought to buy.

It seems to me that something has gone strangely awry with the debate over U.S. vs. Foreign automobiles. Mainly, it is the failure to distinguish between a simple machine on wheels and the effect of national policy.

.It's pretty clear that when U.S. manufacturers duplicate the Japanese effort in engineering and manufacturing technology, as they are attempting to do, the result is superior cars made more efficiently. But it also should be obvious that if the U.S. duplicated Japanese national policy, rather than its cars, the U.S. would simply prohibit all importing of Japanese products and make Japanese investment in the U.S. illegal, then possibly write a special set of books that would allow U.S. products to be sold cheaply in Japan until that country's national wealth began to siphon our way.

One reason it's difficult to cite an import buyer for lack of patriotism is because the domestic auto companies have gone offshore faster than the typical retail auto customer.

It was Chrysler, for instance, that led the way to volume purchases of Japanese steel, and GM has nearly wiped out the U.S. machine tool and stamping press business by spending virtually all of the $40 billion or so 't took to refurbish its plants in Japan and Europe rather than with U.S. companies. This, of course, is before you count the often-cited penchant for suppling major components and niche cars from offshore sites.

Regardless, I would argue that the notion of a patriotic consumer is far less important to the future of U.S. industry than some sensible national policy on trade and debt.

It's sobering to realize that the beleaguered U.S. auto business is virtually the only major U.S. manufacturing enterprise that has managed to stay marginally competitive with imports, despite the seemingly selfdestructive trend of many U.S. economic policies.

All this is heavy stuff for someone out to kick a few tires and buy a set of wheels. I don't really think it should be his problem. It's a problem for the leaders of the industry and the country that deserves some careful thought and debate, not the feeble waving of a plastic flag.

Q. I was at a broker's meeting stock once a month for Better Investing magazine. We try to 'pick stocks that seem to have the characteristics that would enable them to double in value in the coming five years. Five years is a long time in the stock market.

Several months ago the stock we selected was Guardsman Products Inc. This is a company whose major business is making finishes used in the appliance and furniture indusyou be able to give me an illustra- tries. As you might guess with those major markets, its business is a little cyclical.

MANAGEMENT RECOGNIZES that and has started to build some am on a committee that picks a new lines that are more consumer stable.

The company has had an excellent record. Its sales have increased at 15 percent compounded annually for the past 10 years. Earnings per share are up 20 percent:

With a record like that, that is good reason, from a long-term point oriented and consequently more of view, to believe the company will continue its past performance and possibly be worth twice as much five years in the future. But the longterm investor also would recognize that during the five-year period a number of temporary problems might arise that could cause declines in the price of the stock.

ANALYSTS WITH a short-term outlook have taken on an entirely different view of the stock. They have reasoned that a recession most likely is coming.

Since the appliance and furniture industries are very cyclical and are almost certain to decline sharply in a recession, they reason that Guardsman will experience a sharp decline in sales and earnings and its price will drop.

Both lines of reasoning are good. It is just that they are from different perspectives.

THE PERSON following the short-term thinking will sell the stock in anticipation of buying it back when he reasons the business turns around.

The person with the long-term point of view will recognize the bar-Peain when the price declines and add to his holding. The person following the short-term pattern has the more difficult job because his timing has to be right. He has to select his sell and buy-back points close to their respective highs and lows to make a profit.

More bad news on how taxes will affect you

Last week I presented several provisions of the RRA of 1990, details of which were supplied by Deloitte & Touche. This column provides additional provisions, also supplied by Deloitte & Touche, which I hope would be of interest to you. EXCISE TAXES

10 Percent Luxury Excise Tax -A 10 percent excise tax is imposed on the portion of the retail price of the following items that exceeds the following thresholds: automobiles -$30,000; boats and yachts — $100,000; aircraft - $250,000; jewiery -$10,000; and furs - $10,000. The tax is applicable only to the first retail sale of newly manufactured items. Additionally, the provision contains special rules on antiabuse, the leasing of boats and aircraft, an exemption for sales to the Federal or state or local governments, and the exportation and the importation of affected goods.

Effective Date — Applies to sales after 1990 and before 2000. However, an exception is made for binding contracts that were in effect on Sept. 30, 1990.

Gas Guzzler Excise Tax - The prior law gas guzzler tax rates are beled. Thus, the tax begins at $1,000 for automobile models with mileage between 21.5 and 22.5 miles per gallon and increases to $7,700 for automobile models with fuel economy ratings of less than 12.5 miles per gallon. This provision applies to passenger automobiles with an unloaded gross vehicle weight of less than 6,000 pounds. However, all limousines are subject to this tax regardless of their weight. The special rules permitting Treasury to set the rate of tax for small manufacturers are repealed.

Effective Date - This provision is effective after 1990.

Highway and Motorboat Fuels

Fuels — The highway and motorboat fuels taxes are increased by 5 cents per gallon. A 2.5 cents per gallon tax is imposed on fuels used in rail transportation. The excise tax exemption for gasohol is reduced to 5.4 cents per gallon. The exemption for rtially exempt ethanol and methanol fuels remains at 50 percent of the applicable rate. In addition, rules relating to the collection of taxes are tightened.

Effective Dates - The fuels tax increase is effective on Dec. 1, 1990, with applicable floor stocks taxes imposed on that date. The collection of tax provision is effective July 1, Excise Tax on Beer, Wine, and Distilled Spirits - The Act doubles the excise tax on beer from $9 a barrel to $18 a barrel, increases the excise tax on distilled spirits by $1 per proof gallon, and increases the excise tax on still wines and artificially carbonated wine by .90 cents per wine gallon.

An exemption is made for small domestic producers of beer and wine. Under the exception, small producers will, generally, pay the same rate of tax as under the old

Effective Date - The rate increases are effective Jan. 1, 1991, including a tax on floor stocks.

Tobacco Excise Taxes - The excise on all tobacco products is increased by 25 percent on Jan. 1, 1991, with an additional increase of the same dollar amount Jan. 1, 1993. For example, the tax on a pack of cigarettes will increase by four cents in 1991 and by another four cents in 1993. Floor stocks of cigarettes will be subjected to each tax increase.

Ozone-Depleting Chemicals Excise Tax - The list of ozone-depleting chemicals subject to the excise tax is more than doubled. However, the excise tax for the newly taxed chemicals is lower (30, cents) for the tax year 1992.

Airport and Airway Trust Tunton Taxes - The tax on passenger tick ets and air freight is increased by 25 percent. For example, the ticket tax is increased from 8 percent to 10 percent. In addition, the Airport and Airway Trust Fund excise taxes are extended for five years through Effective Date - The airport and airway excise taxes generally are effective for amounts paid after Nov.

Harbor Maintenance Excise Tax - The harbor maintenance tax is increased from 0.04 percent to 0.125 percent of the value of commercial cargo or the passenger fare.

Effective Date - Jan. 1, 1991.

Leaking Underground Storage Tank Trust Fund Tax - The Leaking Underground Storage Tank Trust Fund tax of 0.1 cent per gallon of fuel is reimposed and extended for five years through 1995 with no Trust Fund revenue ceiling.

Effective Date — Dec. 1, 1990.

Extension of Telephone Excise Tax - The 3 percent excise tax permanently extended.

Effective Date — Jan. 1, 1991.

Extension of Superfund Taxes and Trust Fund - The Superfund taxes and related Trust Fund are extended For four years. In addition, the cap on tax revenue collected through Superfund taxes is increased from $6.65 billion to $11,97 billion.

Effective Date - Jan. 1, 1992 through Dec. 31, 1995. OTHER PROVISIONS:

Estate Tax Freese Rules - Section 2036 (c) is repealed retroactively. Thus, an interest in property (including corporate stock and partnership interests) carrying a disproportional share of potential appreciation in an enterprise that is transferred to a family member of the transferor will not be brought back into the gross estate of the transferor. However, the Act tightens the rules for valuing the transferred and the retained interests in corporations and partnerships that are not publically traded.

How to win at the numbers game.

he game is newspaper advertising—and the rules are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trustand where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households and that's a real number.

How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAE or ABC—two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors. No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're sure you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it - those are very good odds, indeed.

OK — so dazzling numbers can be misleading. And, when it comes to newspaper circulation figures, you want more than quantity. You want quality:

We've got it. SPRING's one million readers are some of the most affluent consumers around. SPRING newspapers go to suburbs with the spending power to buy more cars, condos, boats, bikes, appliances, apparel, gizmos, and gadgets than most other Michigan communities combined.

Best of all, SPRING delivers this upscale suburban market at a lower cost per thousand than either the Newsor the Free Press.

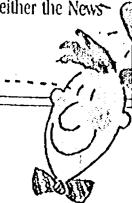

One call. One order. One ad. One million readers. One heck-of-a-buy.

Sol Frieder, German-born actor who originated seven roles in "A Rosen by Any Other Name" off-Broadway, repeats these roles in the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production.

By Cathle Breidonbach special writer old FRIEDER PLAYS seven character roles in "A Rosen by Any Other Name," the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production of Israel Horovitz's comic drama, through Sunday, Jan. 6, at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield.

He is almost a one-man supporting cast. Frieder portrays Jacob Ardenshensky, the narrator of the play, and Reb Brechtman, the ancient rabbi who is preparing 12-year-old Stanley Rosen for his bar mitzvah. He also plays a photographer, a stubborn sign painter, a shopkeeper and a chef who sculpts Stanley's likeness in chopped liver for his bar mitzvah — much to Stanley's mortification and his mother's delight.

Funniest of all, Frieder plays Judge Brown wearing a pompous, judicial wig like a slightly askew hat put on in a hurry. Frieder describes the seven roles he plays as "comical, tragic and tragic-comical" and says they "give me an opportunity to show various facets of acting."

In person, the man with an impressive resume of acting credits is a soft-spoken, unpretentious gentleman with more than a hint of Germany in his accent. With gracious humility he tells of his eventful life and his career in the theater.

FRIEDER WAS raised in Germany. When the Nazis began to gain power, he and his eight brothers and sisters escaped to Switzerland. He relates his early life in an understated, factual way, and tells how his parents remained behind in Germany, were eventually deported to a concentration camp in Poland and died there.

Between 1938 and 1949, Frieder lived in Switzerland, part time in refugee labor camps and part time as a student at the University of Lausanne, where he earned a doctorate of social science. His dissertation was on "the history of religious tolerance in connection with the general social history of Europe."

He wrote in French, and his adviser was none other than the famous Jean Piaget. Frieder studied heretical movements persecuted by the church in the 11th, 12th and 13th centuries. He concluded that heretics who "developed their own ideology opposed to the Catholic Church's" most often arose from the poorer classes.

"I finished the dissertation to become an actor," he says, "I got the acting bug later, but my general education in history, philosophy and literature gave me a good intellectual basis."

He remembers seeing a production of Shaw's "Candida" that was a turning point and impressed him with the power of theater. At the time he had a friend who was a director in Prague and Vienna, and his friend encouraged his aspirations to become an actor. He studied acting in Berne before coming to the United States in 1949.

IN THIS COUNTRY Frieder made his home in New York, where he still lives, and became a professional actor in 1958. Unlike most actors who spend anxious years playing walk-on roles and paying their dues, Frieder started at the top — on Broadway — in the role of Mr. Frank in "The Diary of Anne Frank." That same year he toured with Faye Emerson.

Of his decision to become an actor, the man who speaks fluent German, English, French and Yiddish says, "I think I did the right thing." He expresses few regrets, saying, "I would like to have started earlier as an actor and worked in a language closer to me. I haven't been able to get classic parts in English because of my accent. That's how it is."

Frieder counts several dozen Broadway, off-Broadway and offoff-Broadway shows in his long list of acting credits as well as feature roles in 12 movies, multiple TV ap-

Similarities to character

By Cathle Breidenbach special writer

Daniel Kahn is 12 years old and studying for his bar mitzvah. So is Stanley Rosen, the character Kahn plays in "A Rosen by Any Other Name," and the similarities don't end with the coincidence of age and religion.

"Stanley is a lot like me in his whole outlook," says Kahn. "The way he is open and serious. If he thinks something, he says it." Kahn, a sixth grader at Roeper School, explains. "But Stanley's unlike me, too. He keeps more to himself, doesn't have a lot of friends and spends more time in the house with his family."

"A Rosen by Any Other Name," at the Jewish Ensemble Theatre is Kahn's acting debut, but he has been singing and dancing in front of audiences for years. He is the kind of forthright, natural performer who seems born to the footlights and is not intimidated by an audience.

His mother, Marcia, jokes that he was on stage in a prenatal state because she performed in dinner theater when she was expecting him. Love of theater is a Kahn be happ family passion. Marcia belongs to family."

both the Birmingham Village Players and St. Dunstan's Guild of Cranbrook, and Daniel's father, David, also belongs to St. Dunstan's.

YOUNG KAHN cites two emotionally charged, physical moments in the play as especially challenging. "The hardest part is when my father (Mr. Rosen) slaps me. It hurt until we worked it out," he says, reluctant to divulge particulars of how actors preserve the illusion of a slap, and eliminate the pain.

In the play when his cousin Manny, who suffers from shell-shock, "has a freaky dream, I slap him across the face to wake him up."

Kahn, who plays Stanley in a refreshingly natural, unstudied way, admits that playing the part has involved more than acting challenges. The social sacrifices required by auditions and rehearsals frankly bother him. "I missed my very first dance for the call-back auditions and missed a five-day camping trip up North."

Much as he loves performing, he is a realist and says of his future, "I don't want to be an actor. It's too risky economically. I just want to be happy and be able to support a family."

In 1976, his accent worked in his favor and won him a part as a German immigrant taking an evening class in The Primary English Class." The play by Israel Horovitz starred Diane Keaton as the teacher. That was Frieder's first acquaintance with Horovitz with whom he has worked frequently since.

7 He later worked with Keaton again in Woody Allen's movie, "Love" and Death," which led to other Allen films including "Crimes and Misdemeanors" and "A Midsummer Night's Sex Comedy." In "Music Box" starring Jessica Lange, Frieder plays a death camp survivor testifying at the trial of John Demjanjuk, a Cleveland autoworker accused of being Ivan the Terrible of Treblinka. He sets the time and place for the dramatic action - in Sault Saint Marie on the Canadian side, back in 1943 when news of the persecutions in Poland had begun to leak out of Europe. The play abounds with humor, some as corny as a Borscht-belt comedian's, yet "A Rosen by Any ously its mission to affirm and celebrate Jewish identity.

He says of the play, "It shows the conflicts, warmth and love of family. It's good for kids - amusing, has a lot of humor — maybe also some truth."

Frieder originated his seven roles when the play debuted off-Broadway four and a half years ago as the middle piece in a two-family trilogy of plays by Israel Horovitz. Frieder played multiple characters in all three plays - "Today, I Am a Fountain Pen," "A Rosen by Any Other Name" and "The Chopin Playoffs," and he so marked the characters with his German-accented, gently wry delivery that Horovitz unequivocally recommended him to JET Artistic Director Evelyn Orbach.

She says, "From the very first contact, Horovitz sald, 'You must use Sol Frieder.' We hemmed and hawed because we weren't planning to bring anyone in from New York, but when I met Sol, it was a match. I knew we needed him."

SO FRIEDER came to Michigan. It was his first trip to the Winter Wonderland, and he came prepared. "Before I left New York, I bought boots, long underwear, gloves and earmuffs," he says, smiling at himself. So far, I've been lucky with the

Comedy has family warmth

Performances of the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production of "A Rosen by Any Other Name" continue through Sunday, Jan. 6, at the Aaron-DeRoy Theatre at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. For tickets, visit any Ticketmaster outlet or call 645-6666.

As very ably presented by the Jewish Ensemble Theatre, Israel Horowitz's "A Rosen by Any Other Name" is a warm-hearted comedy that positively radiates familial love and nostalgia.

Set in the small town of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, in 1943, the play focuses on the Rosen family, for whom pressures of the ongoing war vie with preparations for son Stanley's fast-approaching bar mitzvah.

The father, Barney Rosen (Tony Dobrowolski), is so fearful of "the war against the Jews" reaching Canada that he resolves to change the family name to something non-Jewish and stands adamant against his wife and son's objections.

The mother, Pearl (Annette De-Petris), is equally obsessed with ensuring that her son's bar mitzvah outshines all the local "competition."

"Your bar mitzvah is going to be just what I deserve!" she admonishes Stanley, standing adamant against his protestations that such elaborate plans are an embarrassment.

STANLEY (DAVID KAHN) becomes increasingly desperate to make both his parents return to their senses, while at the same time he tries to spark romance in Fern (Jalme Newman), the 12-year-old. femme fatale in his life.

Aided by his shell-shocked older cousin Manny (Sean Folster) and the wise old rabbi who is tutoring him (Sol Frieder), Stanley bravely confronts the issues of his Jewish identity and his coming to manhood.

Under director Evelyn Orbach all just the right balance between humor and schmaltz.

Doborowolski seems the epitome of paternal benevolence, making his paranola over names and his snit of silence all the more comical. De-Petris likewise glows with warmth and love, though her giggly coyness in the bedroom scene could be toned down a bit.

Kahn and Newman, both actually 12, have an impressive stage presence for their age. Kahn deltly wields his heavy load of lines and is remarkably convincing in conveying emotional inflections. Newman couldn't be better at showing the disdain with which the girls of her age regard their more immature male classmates.

FOLSTER CREDIBLY portrays the young soldier's nightmares and panic at the sound of the air raid sirens and also does a nice job switching to his wise-guy accentwhen joshing with Stanley.

Veteran character actor Frieder is outstanding from the moment he steps on stage as the old actor Ardenshensky, who narrates some of the play. In addition to playing the actor and the rabbl, Frieder plays the players do fine work, striking six other small roles, most of them great fun because of his wonderful mannerisms and vocal inflections.

Edith Bookstein's costumes seem very authentic, and Eric Johnson's set design works well. At Sunday night's performance only the sluggish lighting cues marred this delightful production.

Barbara Michals teaches high school English in Southfield. Asul theater critic for the last 18 years, she is an inveterate playgoer who regularly catches up on all the New York productions.

Under director Evelyn Orbach, all the players do fine work, striking just the right balance between humor and schmaltz.

Wayne fends off determined GC

By Neal Zipser staff writer

The Wayne Memorial basketball team's bus walted for sophomore point-guard Dontez Prewitt to arrive for their always tough game Tuesday at Garden City.

But when the moment for decision came, Zebra coach Don Henry decided to leave Prewitt home. This meant that Wayne's seventh man, junior Stan Hill, was pressed into ac-

The 5-foot-6 guard responded by scoring 13 points, pulling down six rebounds, dishing out 10 assists and orchestrating the Zebra's offense the entire game, leading Wayne to a win over the feisty Cougars, 76-68.

"Stan's play was the key to the game," said Henry, whose team improved to 3-2.

"I was a little nervous at first, but then I calmed down when I started finding the open shot," said Hill, who acknowledged he may get more playing time in light of Prewitt's absence.

Garden City (1-3) took a 2-0 lead off the opening tap, with a long jumper by senior guard Matt Johnson. But it was the only lead the Cougars enjoyed entire night.

THE TALLER and quicker Zebras dominated the boards, holding a 35-23 rebounding edge, but needed a late 12-5 spurt to put the game out of

"For whatever reason, Garden City always gets up for Wayne and this type of game didn't surprise me," Henry said. "They played hard about this before the game and knew for the most part, it was a pretty fair it would be tough.

"But we rebounded well and got in good position under the basket. And what was also important was that the referees let us play. It's good they realized that just because you jump over a person's back for a rebound doesn't mean it is a foul."

GC coach Mark Crampton wasn't surprised by the close game either.

"We were well prepared and even though we lost, I'm happy with the effort," said the first-year coach. "Wayne jumps well and is so quick to the ball. I just want my team to know that they had an excellent performance."

Wayne led most of the game by six to nine points. With 5:38 remaining in the fourth quarter, the Zebras led

The Cougars' Scott Marihugh stole a Wayne pass and fed junior guard Jeff Williams who converted a layup. Marihugh, a senior guard, stole another pass and Williams was the recipient of another easy layup, which cut the score to 62-59 with 5:02 left.

ON WAYNE'S next possession, Garden City's Adam Morano fouled out. The senior forward was the catalyst for all of the Cougars' comeback attempts, scoring 17 points and collecting a team-high seven rebounds off the bench.

"There were several close calls the entire game. The team talked that could have gone either way, but game," said Morano, who usually starts, but was hampered by a knee injury. "By coming off the bench, you get a feel for the game before you're in the game."

"We get more intense for this game, because we know they are supposed to be better than us," Morano added. "But I think we could have won tonight."

Zebra junior Greg Hartman missed the front end of a one-andone opportunity, but teammate Rick Barnes pulled down the rebound and laied it back in. The junior forward collected a game-high 13 rebounds.

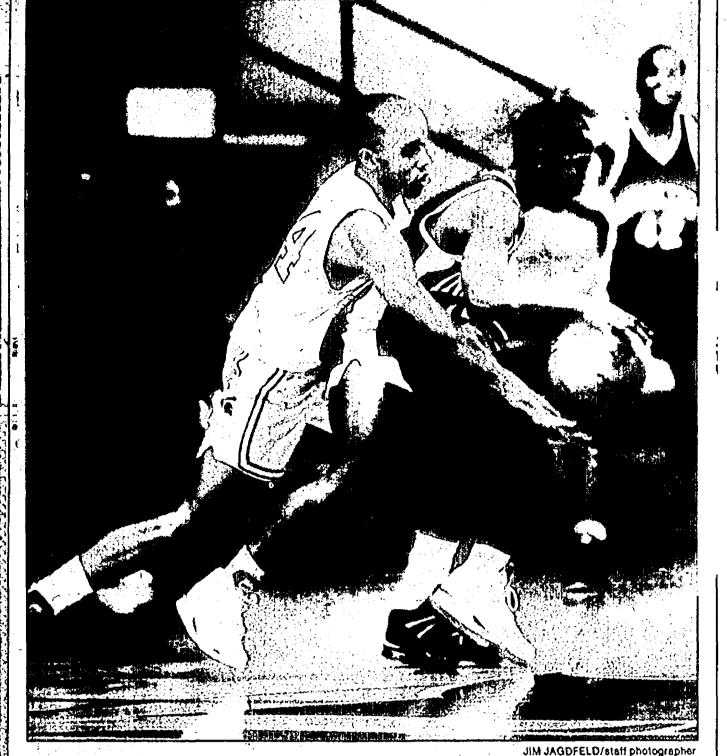

The Marihugh-to-Williams connection worked one more time to make it 64-61 with 3:13 remaining. Williams finished with a team-high 18 points.

HARTMAN MISSED another free throw, but after Barnes kept the ball alive by batting it against the backboard, junior Lee Williams came down with the ball and was fouled. Williams hit both free throws to extend Wayne's lead to 66-61.

Marihugh fed junior guard Ken Brown, who drove for a leaning layup to slice the score to 66-63, and when the Cougars got the ball back after a Wayne miss, the noise level in the Garden City gym reached its

But Barnes blocked a Garden City shot to half-court, where Hill picked it up, drove the length of the floor for a layup and was fouled. His free throw gave Wayne a 69-63 lead. Barnes hit a 14-foot jumper to give Wayne a comfortable 71-63 lead. Barnes had three blocked shots.

The visiting Rams, members of the Capital Area Conference, tallied 306 points, nearly doubling secondplace Livonia Franklin's total of 154.

Other Observerland schools in the top 10 included: Westland John Glenn, fifth, 1321/2; North Farmington, sixth, '96; Livonia Stevenson, seventh, 94; Wayne Memorial, eighth, 90; and host Canton, ninth, 89. See statistical summary.

It was another strong showing for the second-place Patriots, who took runner-up honors only a week earlier at the Trenton (dual meet) Invita-

"I didn't think we'd do that well," Franklin coach Ken Meinschein sald. "Holt is a real solid team. We did real well because we got a lot of pins in the first round. That got us going.

"Overall we felt good about it (second place), but we have a long way to go."

Reeves is now 9-1 on the year.

"Michael's a super, good kid with a good attitude," said Glenn coach Dave Hill, "He's highly motivated and a humble champ. He started out in the seventh grade. He is a real freestyler and he goes year-around."

OTHER OBSERVERLAND champions: Redford Thurston's Jed Kramer, a 3-0 winner over Holt's Todd Williams in the 125 final; Garden City's Chris Gorak, a pin against Holt's Scott Trimmer in the 135 championship; and Canton senior Liam Rentz, a 7-3 victor over North Farmington's Jared Lawrence at

Other area grapplers earning runner-up finishes included Glenn captain Brandon Udell (119) and Stevenson's Ryan Carriere (130).

Canton's Ray Givens, the tournament director, expects an even better field for next season.

"It was a good tourney and we had some good action going on at the five different mats," said the Canton coach. "I heard (Redford) Catholic Central has expressed some interest about coming next year and Salem has inquired about coming instead going away to another meet that weekend."

The tournament director, however will have to work out a few bugs in the individual draws before next

CC's Fowler rules 119 class

Redford Catholic Central's Rusty Fowler won the 119 pound wrestling championship Saturday at the Lansing Eastern Invitational, and Plymouth Salem's Ken Coker was second in the heavyweight division.

Fowler defeated Fred Schumacher of Temperance Bedford in the final, helping the Shamrocks to a fifthplace team finish.

Coker lost to Howell's Kyle Steinacker in the finals, but he had two pins and an overtime decision in the semifinals to reach that point.

CC's Jason Krueger was second at 160, and teammate Dan Kelly was third at 171. Dan Rieple and Rob Sylvester gave the Shamrocks a pair of fifth-place finishes at 145 and heavyweight, respectively.

In addition to Coker, Salem's Jeff Shumate was fifth at 135, and John Moran (103) and Scott Martin (112) placed sixth.

Kelley's right on target for Titans

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Matching last season's strong showing isn't the challenge for Dwayne Kelley. The question is how much he'll exceed it by.

Because there is no doubt the University of Detroit sophomore — yes, he's only in his second year, although he plays older — will improve. Already he's shown it; he was named Midwestern Collegiate Conference player of the week for his performance in U-D's 85-81 win over Eastern Michigan Saturday.

Kelley poured in 22 points — all in the second half — as the Titans won their first game of the season, rallying from a 20-point deficit. He connected on six-of-11 from three-point range and dished out seven assists.

An outstanding game, sure. But it's becoming rather common for the 6-foot-4 guard from Redford Bishop

"I'm trying my best," said Kelley. His off-season preparation has helped tremendously. So did a team trip to Italy last summer. But none. of the work - not the drills or weightlifting or running - would be viewed as necessary evils to Kelley, for a very basic reason.

"I LOVE playing basketball," he said. "Over the summer, I work twice as hard as I am now.'

Which is why even greater things can be expected from Kelley, who averaged 10 points a game as a freshman, third best on the team. What should frighten opponents is what Kelley has added - diversification.

"Before last year, I worked on my out an outside shot."

But Kelley's outside penchant as a freshman - he had 47 threepointers, second on the team, connecting on nearly 40 percent of his attempts - also robbed him of part of his game. "At Borgess, I used to go to the basket a lot more," he remembered.

A talk with U-D coach Ricky Byrdsong and a quick study of last season's statistics convinced Kelley a change was needed. "This year, I'm a lot more aggressive. I'm going inside more,"

53 free throws all year," noted Kelley. "This year, I've already been to the line 25 times."

The difference? "Last year, I shot

HIS SCORING has soared, too.

outside shot a lot," Kelley explained. Kelley leads the Titans with a 16.8 "You can't play Division I ball with-points-per-game average (fourth best in the conference), and he's third in the MCC in free-throw accuracy (88 percent). Also, his assists are up; he averages 4.0 a game (seventh in the MCC).

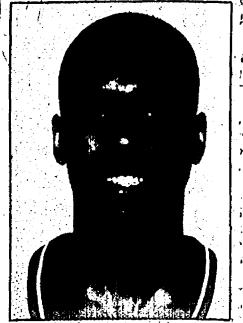

> It's helped that Byrdsong has made Kelley one of the main go-to guys in the offense. "Coach has instilled a lot of confidence in me," sald Kelley. "After the year I had ·last year, getting about 10 points a game, I thought I could go to 15 or 16 a game this year."

And yet, Kelley — who said his selection as player of the week "really surprised me. It made me feel good, let me know the coaches in the conference respect me" — isn't particularly happy with the season. While his game has improved, U-D's has not. The Titans lost to Duquense, Central Michigan, Toledo and Michigan State before beating EMU. Four of those games were at Cobo Hall.

And yet, Kelley is determined. 'We're not going to let a 1-4 start distract us," he said: "We've still got a lot of confidence. All the goals for the learn were set by the coach before the season. He wants to win the MCO - this year."

If hard work (including the trlp to Italy, during which U-D faced several pro teams that featured former NBA players like Darryl Dawkins) pays dividends, the Titans will post a record far better than the 10-18 of a year ago. And they may be a major factor in the MCC race.

Dwayne Kelley player of the week

Lady Ocelots knock off Mott

A young team that's improving - that's how Schoolcraft College women's basketball coach, Jack Schoolcraft Grenan views his squad. And yet. Grenan views his squad. And yet, this penchant for making games close is distressing.

Four of SC's wins have been by five points or less, including Saturday's 57-54 triumph over visiting Mott-CC. In this latest case, missed free throws in the clutch could have been costly. The Lady Ocelots misfired on four-straight from the line in the final 90 seconds, making young." the outcome much tighter. We start

Miller, U-D are soaring

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Expectations were low. Production, though, has been high.

That's good news, whatever it's applied to. And in the case of University of Detroit's women's basketball team, it has dual application. Not much was expected from the team. Why should there be? The Lady Titans' coach for the past seven seasons, DeWayne Jones, left in August. The new coach, Fred Procter, didn't assume command until Sept. 17.

Then there's the team he adopted - 7-20 last season, 6-10 in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference. The last time the Lady Titans had a winning season was 1986-87.

No reason to expect anything good, right?

The same might be said of senior center Sharon Miller. The Melvindale High School graduate came to U-D in 1988 after two seasons at Schoolcraft College, where she played for Jack Grenan and averaged 16.7 points and 17 rebounds a game. Her initial season at U-D was steady, but unspectacular: 9.1 points, 7.1 rebounds.

THAT WAS in 1988-89. Miller was redshirted last season after surgery for a leg injury. Could she come back and match the numbers she posted

No reason to expect anything good, right?

So far, both team and Miller have disappointed the critics. U-D improved to 3-3 Monday with a 70-61 win over visiting Cincinnati. And Miller? She had 21 points and 10 boards in the victory.

Not so surprising. After all, earlier in the day she learned she had been named MCC player of the week. That honor was bestowed upon her for her 20-point, 12-rebound, two-block performance in a 73-60 win over Northeastern Illinois Satur-

How did Miller greet the news? "It's embarrassing," she answered. "I'm not a big stats person. I just want to win."

Of course, that's the object of the game. But it took some adapting on Miller's part to help put this season on the winning road.

NOT JUST to a new coach, either — although the situation wasn't easy, at first. "I was kind of shocked," said Miller of Jones' resignation. "I had heard the rumors that he might quit ever since I got here, but I really hadn't taken them to heart.

"When he left so late, it really made me nervous. A week into the school year, we still didn't have a coach."

Thinking Jones would return and allow her to play outside more, where she was more comfortable, Miller worked on her perimeter shot during the off-season. When Procter arrived, he put the 6-foot-2 senior back in the post.

Miller didn't argue. One reason might have been where she could've ended up - on the bench. Her first season at U-D, Jones had her coming off the bench during the last half of the season. Miller never liked it.

"MY CONFIDENCE went down a lot when I didn't start," she said. "In our last nine games, even though I got double-doubles (double figures in scoring and rebounding), he wouldn't put me back in a starting position."

Procter has had Miller starting from the season-opener, even though her recovery from her leg injury limited her to just-three weeks of practice. And he's stuck with her.

"In my first game, I was rushing things," she . said. "I'd just get the ball and shoot it. He told me !. to take a deep breath and relax, to take my time."

Her response to Procter's coaching has been shocking. Miller is averaging a team-high 18 points a game, third in the MCC, and eight rebounds, fourth in the conference.

"I LIKE him a lot," said Miller of her new coach. "He's an excellent coach. There's a lot more team spirt this year. We're like a family unit. That's a lot better than it was.

"He's not a negative coach at all. He's a very calm, compassionate, caring person. And he never gives up on us. He always thinks there's a way to win, even if we're down by 80 with a second left. I like that attitude a lot." Most of all, she likes playing — especially after sitting out last year. "It was pretty depressing, just watching," she said. "And it wasn't a great season (for U-D)." All that has changed this year. "We're not a one-person team this year," said Miller. "To win, we all have to play good. I think everybody (in the MCC) is going to be shocked. I think we'll do a lot better than seventh (where U-D was picked to finish in preseason polls)."

So far, all the other dismal predictions regarding the Lady Titans have been laid waste. No reason to expect anything different for this one.

SC humbled by superior Mott

Rock solid Salem captures Western Lakes Relays

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

If anyone wondered what kind of swimming team Plymouth Salem would be without All-American Ron Orris, the Rocks had an answer Saturday.;

With a balanced effort, Salem won the annual Western Lakes Activities Association Relays, finishing first in two events, second in four others and no worse than fifth in any of the 10,

The first thing I did after the meet, when I walked out in the hallway, was say to the parents 'Orris, who?' and all of us laughed together," Salem coach Chuck Olson said.

"It was nice for the kids. It was certainly not expected by us, but we had a good entry in every event. I was real pleased."

Salem scored 242 points and runner-up Plymouth Canton 224. The top six teams included Livonia Stevenson (195), Northville (190), North Farmington (156) and Westland John Glenn (138).

It will be a long time before anyone forgets what Orris did while at Salem, and the relay title proves the Rocks are still bonafide league contenders.

THE ROCKS have won the season ending WLAA meet the last three years with Orris on the team, and the 1990-91 team received a boost in confidence as it tries for a fourth straight without him.

"Some teams could've been hurt by winning it," Olson said. "Some teams might get the wrong idea about their ability level.

"But they know what their times are, they're working hard and they know what they have to do. After getting ripped apart by Dearborn (in the first dual meet), it didn't hurt. If anything, maybe we got a little respect back."

It used to be the winner of the relays meet usually won the league meet in early March; however, Salem hadn't won the relays since 1987. But that assumption still holds, and Olson will gladly accept the label as preseason favorite.

"I'll take it," he said. "I'd rather win the relay meet than not. At least we have a trophy to show at our banquet.

"With the dual meets coming up, we might savor this victory. It could be a while. We have some big-time, getting-ready stuff to do."

Olson maintains Stevenson, Northville and North Farmington remain the top contenders for the league title with the Rocks and Canton being in the chase, too.

WHILE THE relays are always competitive, Olson wonders if other coaches and teams are as seswimming rious about the meet.

"Some . . . try not to win it," he said. "There's that old saying: Whoever wins the relay meet (wins the league meet). I think a few of them don't want that label.

· "We have no illusions about being head and shoulders above the rest of the teams in the conference. But we're very appreciative of the win, and we'll see what we can do with (the label as favorite)."

Canton coach Hooker Wellman echoed Olson's thoughts.

"It's funny - I think teams go in there and deliberately let us win and turn around and kick our butts," he said. "I know Northville is going to focus on us for the division now. They've got fuel for their

"Other teams go to the meet and send other teams a message, and some coaches go to the meet and send their teams a message."

Olson said he believes Stevenson came out of the meet underrated, adding the Spartans are better than. what they showed on Saturday.

STEVENSON HAD the most first places, winning four events, but the Spartans were disqualified in the 200-yard backstroke and 200 butterfly. Coach Doug Buckler figured his relays would have been third and fourth, which would have given the Spartans another 46 points and a 241 total.

"We would have been right there; it would have been close," Buckler said. "We loaded up with our six, eight best swimmers in the Buckler said the same about North Farmington and Northville as Wellman did his Spartans. The Raiders were without Chris Knoche, Keith Lee and Mike Drelles, and the Mustangs were minus Eric Newton. They skipped the WLAA Relays to compete in a junior national qualifier in Chica-

"North Farmington didn't have three of its best there," Buckler said. "(North) is an awful good swim club. They have depth and cover all the strokes very well. Those two (teams) didn't show what they had.'

It was appropriate, Wellman said, that Salem and Canton, the co-hosts for the meet, should finish one-two.

Their swimmers volunteer their services for the Rotary Club's chicken barbecue each year at the Plymouth Fall Festival, and The Plymouth and Canton Rotary Clubs in turn are annual sponsors of the WLAA Relays.

"It's justice served for all the chickens they had to stuff in the boxes and all the corn they had to husk," Wellman said.

AS FOR THE actual competition, Salem took its victories in diving and the 200 medley.

meet record in the medley with a 1:46.6 time. The standard had been the 1:47.5 posted by Stevenson six years ago.

"McManaman was a little injured," Olson said, "so he had to back off and Salhaney dove real well."

Olson used 22 swimmers with nobody swimming in more than two events. Those with dual assignments included Scott Helmstadter, Mark and Matt Erickson, Al Sneath, Witthoff, Gary Bergman, Pawluszka, Stridiron, Todd Piwowar, Brett Petroskey, Aaron Berlin, Drew Varsava, Alan Hunt and Brett Meik. Swimming one event were Phil Hoffmeyer, Todd Beauchene, Chris Lynn, Scott Wiklund, Tom Satwicz, Tim Nixon, Noel Ranka and Rex Umney.

Canton's lone victory came in the 400 IM in which Ron Trosin, Matt Tertel, Dave Nevi and Doug Nevi posted a 4:10.16 time, finishing nearly two seconds ahead of Sa-

The Chiefs also had two second places and scored well in every event. Their strong showing will help their confidence, too.

"It should send our kids and other teams in the conference a message that we have some talent," Wellman said. "To finish toptwo in our conference you have to.

"WE CAN BE a respectable team in our conference, and that's what we want to be. I think there are teams in the conference with better talent. That's a fact. All we can do is deal with that and do our best, and that's what we did on Saturday."

Stevenson was impressive in the events it won, finishing well ahead of the next-best relays. That was especially true in the 500 crescendo as Joe Petrillo, Taki Caranicolas, Aaron Rieder and Bryan Morrison finished nearly 20 seconds ahead of runner-up Canton.

Stevenson's Scott Freeborn, Alex Goecke, Caranicolas and Eric Peterson won the 400 medley: Rieder, Morrison, Petrillo and Mike Bencik the 400 freestyle; and Aaron Carlisle, Peterson, Goecke Ebner the 200 breaststroke.

"All in all, (Salem and Canton) were a little more consistent than us," Buckler said. "Our big relays did well, but some of our younger kids didn't swim up to what we needed to win the relay meet. It opened our eyes and showed us what we have to do at the league meet."

Westland John Glenn was first in two events. Jason Farmer, Pat McGrath, Matt Martin and Jeff Kolbas comprised the winning 200 backstroke and 200 freestyle relays. Northville won the 200 butterfly with a record time of 1:44.31.

Stingrays post fast clockings at event

The Michigan Stingrays were looking for fast swim times, and they got what they wanted last weekend at Northwestern University in Evanston, III.

The Stingrays recorded many senfor and junior national cuts as well as lifetime bests.

"Our national boys have been training for 21/2 months, and our national girls were retapered following their high school meet last month," Stingrays coach Peter Leonhardt said.

All-Observer high school swimmers Kerry Doran and Katie Knipper also fared well at Northwestern.

Livonia Churchill's one-two punch of Randy Calcaterra and Mike Thomas delivered a knockout Tuesday against previously unbeaten Dearborn Fordson.

The two seniors combined for 44 points, leading the host Chargers to a 71-68 victory over the Churchill is now 3-2 overall, while Fordson dropped to 3-1. A 28-9 Churchill scoring run in the second huarter proved to the difference. The Chargers, who led 42-21 at intermission, withstood a late Fordson rally.

Fordson senior forward Wissam Darwish, who jed all scorers with 33 points, scored 14 in the fourth-quarter, but it was too little, too late for the Tractors. "We played very unselfish, particularly in the first half," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "Overall we made some mistakes, but we played hard and it was a good win." Calcaterra, the 6-foot-7 senior center, scored 22 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and recorded eight blocked shots. Thomas, the 6-4 senior forward, also scored 22 and collected five assists. Calcaterra made six of seven free throws, while Thomas hit 10 of 14. The Chargers converted 27 of 38 overall from the line.

TRENTON 50, FRANKLIN 44: The Patriots (2-2) went stone-cold from the free throw line down the stretch Tuesday, falling to the host Trojans (3-2) in a 'non-league battle.

Livonia Franklin made 14 of 26 shots from the foul stripe. Trenton, meanwhile, connected on 11 of 16. Trenton outscored the Patriots 16-9 in the decisive fourth quarter to pull out the victory. Senior guard Chris Moore paced the winners with a game-high 20 points, while senior forward Phil Morrow contributed 10.

Seniors Dave Roman and Steve McCool paced Franklin with 11 and 10, respectively. Point-guard Kelth Roberts, one of the Patriots' top scorers, fouled out in the final quarter.

BELLEVILLE 95, JOHN GLENN 66: On Tuesday, the host Tigers (4-0) outscored Westland John Glenn (1-3) 47-30 in the second half to win going away.

Three Believille players shredded the Glenn defense: Derrick Boles (game-high 21 points), Ron "Heavy" Hunter (20) and Lenny Macklin (19). Glenn, which suffered its third straight defeat, was

Redford Union slams Aggies

By Darren A. Nichols staff writer

Redford Union outscored host Redford St. Agatha 23-10 in the third quarter Tuesday to win a non-conference boys basketball matchup, 78-60.

'Just say we played lousy and I said we played Housy," Redford Union coach Jim Murphy said. We were outplayed."

RU improved its record to 2-3 overall. The Panthers unleashed a 13-2 run midway through the third quarter to open up the a 69-43 with 2:13 remaining. St. Agatha could never get any closer, as the Panthers enjoyed a 28-point lead during the fourth quarter. Section 1900 But RU coach Tip Smathers credits the Panthers' success to their pressure defense.

"In the second quarter our pressure opened up a 14-point lead," he sald. "(But) I indicated that we could still do even better if they would execute. We cleaned up (the play) in the third."

FOR A MAJORITY of the first half, the game looked like it might be closer.

But RU was able to steadily increase its advantage. With with 4:41 left in the quarter, a pair of free throws by forward Reeve McNitt pushed the lead to 25-20. A 17-5 run by RU in a span of 2:27 put the Panthers up 42-30.

They led 49-34 at halftime. "For about a quarter or a quarter and a half, I was impressed by St. Agatha," Smathers said. "They're a solid team, but they aren't very deep and they can't go to the bench."

Foul trouble hurt St. Agatha for most of the game. In all, three starters were disqualified with five fouls, and another was saddled with four personals.

"They were really hurt by foul trouble,". Smathers said. "They were really hurt when (Jeremy) MacNicol (Agatha's top scorer) got three (fouls) in the first quarter."

RU GUARD Bill Malecki, a junior, led all scorers with 22 points. Forward Chris Mulka chipped in 10 points.

St. Agatha was led by guard Derwin Henderson with 13 points. Forward Jared Kreznak added 12 points and forward Todd Reamer had 10 points. "I was pleased overall," Smathers said. "After we lost by one point on Friday, we needed to pick things up before our first league game Thursday against Dearborn. This game helped."

Tancill: minor adjustment

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

The difference between the WCHA and the AHL? Simple,

There's a letter missing. And Chris

Tancill has found it. It's D - as in defense.

But the right winger from Livonia has found the transition from college hockey to the professional ranks is hardly anything like Sesame Street, although Tancill has stood out like "Big Bird" for the Springfield (Mass.) Indians, the American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate of the Hartford Whalers.

Tancill starred in four years at Wisconsin in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association (WCHA).

This year, his first in professional hockey, he already has 14 goals and 13 assists in 27 games for the firstplace Indians. He's doing regular duty on the team's power-play and penalty-killing units in addition to taking a regular shift.

"I'm afraid he might not last the season the way I'm using him all over the place," said Springfield coach Jimmy Roberts with a laugh.

Tancill scored 39 goals and added 32 assists for 71 points last season for the Badgers as they landed the coveted NCAA Championship in March at Detroit's Joe Louis Arena. The common knock on collegiate players, though, is they think back check only means going to the chiropractor.

"Usually, if you get a player who can score, you have to work on their defense," Roberts said. "He brought the ability to score with him along with being conscientious enough to play defensively as well."

"The biggest adjustment here coming from college is that you have to play both ends of the rink." Tancill said. "In college, you can get by being just an offensive player."

NOT AT WISCONSIN where Badger coach Jeff Sauer believes, a good defense is the bread and butter of any good hockey team. His schooling is only part of it, though.

Coaches and scouts alike marvel ASIDE FROM the impressive at Tancill's work ethic. He's not a hulk (he stands 5-foot-10) and turbos are not exactly strapped to his

"I think he has the desire to excel. It's not just one thing about him. He just works really hard."

Nevertheless, jumping from the rah-rah of college to cut-throat arena of minor league is often sobering.

SOME PLAYERS from college initially have difficulty making the adjustment. Michigan State's Joe Murphy of the Edmonton Ollers, and closer to home, Mike Donnelly (another Livonian) of the Los Angeles Kings, are prime examples.

With Springfield, Tancill is playing against Binghamton (N.Y.) on Sunday, busing to Hershey, Pa., for a game on Wednesday, and then back for a home game on Friday.

Then there is the transient nature of minor league hockey. Players come and go faster than Iraqi defense ministers.

"It's weird," Tancill said. "From day-to-day, you don't know who you're going to play with, who's going up and who's coming down. You just play."

Because of the adjustment, Tancill was leery about setting any longterm goals. He wanted to "figure out the league" first.

Junior Laura Fisher also had a strong tournament, recording 21 service aces and 138 assist-kills.

Defensively, senior Denise Walsh stood out with 25 digs and only three service errors in 75 altempts.

Board to act on plan for special ed center

By Wayne Peal staff writer

A vote Friday night by Garden City school board members could secure the short-term future of Burger Center, home of Wayne County education programs for autistic students.

School board members will decide if they want to keep the building open for the next 10 years if a county agency pays for an estimated $1.2 million in repairs.

Repair costs would be paid by the Wayne County Regional Education Service Agency. The agency, formerly known as Wayne County Intermediate Schools, supervises special education programs for all county public school districts.

The Garden City Board of Education meets 6 p.m. Friday to discuss the proposal. The county agency board unanimously authorized money for repairs last week.

Parents, who lobbied the county agency for two years to keep Burger Center open, said they are optimistic about the building's fu-

"WE'RE PRETTY encouraged," said Ken Howse of Livonia. "The big hurdle has already been cleared with the county money being available."

Garden City Schools Superintendent Michael Wilmot said the building would receive about $1.2 million in repair-work. Much of the money is expected to be used for roof repairs.

For the first time, the county agency would also pay rent to the local district and would agree, in writing, to pay teacher salaries.

"We'd expect to receive about $90,000 a year in rent," Wilmot said. "The county had been picking up teacher salaries but that was an informal agreement. This is the first time we've have anything in writing."

. Mainstreaming programs, which place autistic children in buildings with other students, could apparently continue.

A dispute over the benefits of mainstreaming had clouded Burger Center's future.

"We're not opposed to mainstreaming," said Howse, who was active in the campaign to keep Burger Center open. "But we did have concerns about over-mainstreaming, about trying to mainstream children who just aren't ready."

Under the agreement, the county agency would complete repairs over the next two years. Burger Center's current staff would remain for at least five years.

In August, a county task force recommended restoring Burger Center, a former Garden City junior high school, and keeping it open at least another 10 years.

The center was initially scheduled to close at the end of the 1989-90 school year.

Some 218 students, age 3-26, attend Burger Center programs. It is the only center of its kind in the Students are bused to Burger Center from districts throughout the county.

At the center, youngsters participate in programs ranging from physical education to kitchen skills to woodworking. Some older students receive outside job training.

Legislature to address assisted suicide

By Tim Richard staff writer

A bill to prohibit assisting suicides will get fresh attention in 1991 in the wake of the Dr. Jack Kevorkian case in Oakland County.

"It could develop to euthanasia," said state Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, who sponsored a bill in the last session to make assisting suicides a felony.

Because of the Kevorkian and another case, Dillingham and others fear Michigan will become the "suicide capital" of the nation unless a prohibitive law is passed.

DISTRICT JUDGE Gerald McNally on Dec. 13 threw out a first-degree murder charge against Kevorkian, 62, inventor of a machine that allows a person to press a button and inject lethal drugs into his own bloodstream.

McNally dismissed the charge after a pre-trial exam, saying the legal status of asssisting suicides is unclear. "The Legislature has a responsibility, and I would hope they would step out and meet it," McNally said. Oakland prosecutor Richard Thompson charged Kevorkian in the June 4 death of Janet Adkins, 54, an Oregon woman with an advanced case of Alzheimer's disease.

DILLINGHAM'S Senate Bill 1084 died in committee Dec. 11 when the Legislature adjourned. The bill would have made assisting a suicide a felony punishable by up to four years in prison and a fine of $2,000.

Dillingham can introduce the bill next year, but he will no longer chair the Senate Human Resources Com-elected assistant majority leader and relinquished his chairmanship,

He sees the bill as part of a package of measures, including the newly passed "patient advocate" law. That law allows a person to designate another to make medical treatment decisions if the first person becomes incapacitated.

The House Judiciary Committee also was working on its own assisted suicide bill as the Legislature adjourned.

"We held a hearing on it. It opened up a can of worms," said David Weiner, a committee staff lawyer. "There's no social consensus on it."

THE SENATE panel also held one hearing on Dillingham's bill in Octo-

Streets of this Finnish city are laid out like a set of reindeer antlers

By Lillian K. Lehto special writer

After falling head over heels in love with Finland in 1982, I was on my fourth trip there, this time with a group of 22 other Fennophiles. The terminus of our tour was Rovaniemi, capital of the Finnish province of Lapland. The Arctic Circle was just five mlles north.

On my first visit to Rovaniemi I didn't know quite what to expect, it had been almost completely destroyed by the retreating Germans during World War II. What a surprise to find a beautiful modern city, with no signs of past devasta-

We learned that Rovaniemi had been totally rebuilt according to plans drawn up by the internationally known Finnish architect and city planner, Alvar Aalto. He designed a beautiful city, but we found his street plan confusing. Streets are laid out in the shape of reindeer antlers! Getting from point A to point B without getting lost is a challenge!

After settling into the moderatelypriced but entirely adequate City Hotelli (In Finland you need not be afraid to stay in even the least expensive hotels, as they are all immaculately clean), we headed for the "tori," or outdoor marketplace, where the best souvenirs can be found. The prices here were much more reasonable than those in Hel-

Now, on to see some Aalto-designed Royaniemi. His most famous structure here is Lappia House, a combination theater/convention/ concert hall. The Lapland Provincial Museum is on the lower floor.

The unique roof contours of Lappia House symbolize the fells (gentle mountains) of Lapland. This building, plus the library next door and the yet-to-be-built town hall, form the administrative and cultural center of the town.

The ultra-modern library is worth a visit. Finns are among the most enthusiastic readers and library users in the world. Each member of the

Bethlehem sojourn leaves fine memory

By Micky Jones special writer

With Christmas just around the corner, my thoughts wander back a few months to my first visit to the Holy Land. Our whirlwind tour of Israel last January allowed only two days to see the many sights of Jerusalem. That's like trying to tour all of Detroit in an hour or the Detroit Institute of Arts in 10 min-

I discovered, to my surprise, that our tour guide had no intention of taking our small group to Bethlehem, only five miles to the south. With a few directions from our gulde, I was able to strike out on my own and take a 20-minute bus ride to Manger Square in Bethlehem. This unremarkable square, about half the size of a football field, is surrounded on three sides. by two- and three-story stone- and plaster-coated buildings. Two adjoining churches form the eastern end of the square.

It was off-season so there were no tour buses in the square, only a few parked cars and taxis, a few old men sitting on benches and peraps a dozen kids on their home from school. I took a few pictures and then entered the Church of the Nativity through a stone doorway no more than four feet high. Constantine

Then it was home to Christmas dinner, which was lutfisk, a kind of cod, fresh ham, rice porridge. The rice porridge had one almond in it. If you got the almond and weren't married, you would get married soon, and if you were married it just meant good luck.

"Then it was prune tarts, chocolates and almonds, coffee. We had three maids in those days and the longest wait for us was waiting for them to wash the dishes and get dressed up so we could all open our gifts together!

During much of the year and especially at Christmas and Easter, this church and grotto are jammed with thousands of Christian pilgrims from around the world. But when I was there I had the place to myself. In the 15 or 20 minutes that I spent photographing the birthplace and adjacent manger cave, only two other tourists came down the steps.

From the Church of the Nativity, I wandered next door to St. Catherine Catholic Church which is somewhat larger and more modern. It is from this church that Christmas Eve mass is televised around the world each

Downtown series continues

Bricks and mortar provide a framework for buildings, not downtowns. It takes people to parlay potential into productivity

Take it from Farmington Downtown Development Authority planning consultant Christopher Wzac-

The image of downtown, in effect, is the image of the city. It's the downtown that makes an impact on us. It's a representative physical element that says something about the people of the city."

In today's second installment of a three-part series examining downtown historic architecture in Observerland, the spotlight is on downtown Farmington.

The DDA's $1.4 million in public streetscape improvements aptly accentuate the private redevelopment that's bringing restoration of many older buildings.

Clearly, rejuvenating a smaller central business district is only as limited as the enterprise of the landlords, shopkeepers and city

Chances are, upbeat downtowns in Plymouth, Farmington and Garden City will spread to the neighborhoods beyond, stangthening community vigor and property values along the way.

There's still much to do to revitalize downtown Farmington, Lack of central ownership will always be a problem.

But individual owner efforts to restore century-old buildings, in turn, highlighting the city's beritage, underscore that vitality has replaced despair.

Former Farmington DDA board member Frank Clappinon is right: "The downtowns we have today are the only downtowns we will ever have. No one is building downtowns anymore and it is up to us to make sure that downtowns like Farmington s will endure."

Historic architecture in downtown Plymouth was profiled Nov. 8. Garden City will command the spotlight in January.

MERICAN ARCHITECT Frank Lloyd Wright said, "In any and every case, the site is the beginning of the building that aspires to architecture."

In February 1824, Arthur Power and sons Jared and John left their home in Farmington, N.Y., to ploneer a settlement in the wilds of Michigan Traveling by horsedrawn sleigh, they journeyed two long weeks. Finally, they reached their destination.

On March 8, they felled the first tree to build a shelter from the cold, the wolves and the panthers. A log house arose in the midst of the wilderness, created from the only material available: Michigan trees. Building after building sprang from the barren landscape in what was soon to become the township of Farmington, in the county of Oakland. Arthur Power was the first builder-architect in the village of Farmington. He built a shop for shoemaker Ebenezer G. Stevens; a store for Henry Miller; the first sawmill and dam; a grist mill and dam; a potash works for making soft soap; a log house and buildings for his son, Nathan; a large log house on high ground on the northeasterly side of the creek for himself; and two years later, another large, long log house. Arthur Power was at the forefront in the "encouragement of all enterprises" and promoted growth in the village. He built the first frame mill in 1826.

IN SPRING 1827, the township of Farmington was formed by an act of legislative council. Then came the first frame house built by Timothy Tolman in 1828. Two years later, Arthur Power built a frame dwelling.

DSO STATUS

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra increased ticket sales by 28 percent and revenue by 45 percent in 1989-

"An excellent artistic product and improvements to programming and the appearance of the hall and a dramatic impact on ticket sales," said Robert Miller Jr., Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall board chairman.

An audited summary of the yearend financial statement showed the, DSO met or exceeded goals of the five-year business plan in all financial categories, Miller said.

The annual fund raised almost $5 million, thanks in part to a Skillman Foundation grant. A fund-raising appeal to corporations and government sources raised $9.2 million with $3 million from a supplemental state allocation. The volunteer council raised $200,000.

The educational concert series reached 32,000 young people. The DSO performed free concerts for such groups as the American Red Cross, the NAACP, Detroit Aglow and the International Freedom Fest. The first African-American Composers Forum was a big success. "The hall restoration is complete, one of the finest conductors in the world today, Neeme Jarvi, is on board as music director, and we can now turn our thoughts towards recordings and a major endowment campaign, two of the most important building blocks for today's orchestras."

THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O

A major retrospective exhibit of the work of Gari Melchers (1860-1932), a Detroit-born artist celebrated for his paintings done in France, Holland, Germany and the United States, will be featured at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Sunday, Feb. 17.

Melcher's career was marked by several important shifts. At the beginning, he realistically painted the peasants of Brittany and Holland. In the late 1880s and 1890s, his art was influenced by symbolism. And in the early 20th century, he turned to impressionism for inspiration.

Underlying his diverse subjects — genre scenes, religious themes, portraits, landscapes, nudes, stilllifes — there is always a direct honesty, a basis of sound academic principles and a commitment to Docents at the Matthael Botanical Gardens in Ann Arbor will lead a winter walk in the woods at 2-4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 6.

Docents will emphasize winter tree identification, pointing out the many clues woody plants have, even though the leaves are gone. Also they will be searching for color.

If weather and temperature permits, the walk will be along the Blue Trail, stretching to the far reaches of the gardens through a Scots Pine Grove, old fields and the woods along Fleming Creek. Wear warm dress and footwear.

Meet in the lobby of the Gardens Conservatory. The gardens is at 1800 N. Dixboro Road, a half mile south of Plymouth Road.

Hammond was in Detroit to promote her awardwinning "Mr. Bach Comes to Call" and "Beethoven Lives Upstairs." "Mozart's Magic Fantasy," based on the opera, "The Magic Flute," will be released next year.

The first two tapes are available in the metro area at Harmony House, Toys R Us and other outlets. They are on the BMG label.

They are currently the bestselling children's tapes in Canada. "Both have gone gold," Hammond said. The Beethoven tape won the Juneo award, the Canadian counterpart of the American Grammy.

"I like to think of them as antieducational. I want children to fall in love with the music and the era."

Hammond, a trained classical musician, teacher and mother, said too often classical music is presented to children like medicine."You should like it because it's good for you."

She said she married the music to drama because "I'm a firm believer that where the heart goes the mind will follow."

It was after she had her own children she discovered how little there was out there in classical music for children. In addition to a goal of entertaining rather than purely educating through these tapes, she sees challenges in the stories, which are about heroes of the past. "Beethoven took 22 years to get the right notes for 'Ode to Joy.' If that isn't a lesson in perseverance, then what is?"

She's also working on a fourth tape on Vivaldi and will be coming out with a video on Beethoven "shot in Prague." A planned orchestra show will be a touring company of actors doing a show with local musicians. That will take shape in 1992.

On Oct. 9, 1872, tragedy struck the village as fired rotred down Main Street.

Timber structures lining Grand River burned with fury, leaving nothing but charred wood and ashes. The lone building to survive the disastrous fire in Farmington's business district now houses the Korner Barbershop, at Grand River and Farmington Road.

"The Korner Barbershop was built sometime between 1860 and 1870," said Lee S. Peel, author of the 1971 book, "Farmington: A Pictorial History," out-of-print but being revised.

"It is the oldest known business structure in downtown Farmington," Peel said:

The oldest known business is not significant from an architectural standpoint. It is a plain, boxy building constructed strictly for function.

IN 1873, local businessman and politician P. Dean Warner replaced the structure that he lost in the fire of 1872 with a two-story brick building known as the Warner Block. Its vernacular architecture style was popular in the late 19th century.

"The structure is primarily a combination of turn-of-the-century architecture," said Carl E. Gaiser of Farmington, an architect for 35 years.

Today, all the ironwork is gone from the 114-year-old structure, now known as the Masonic Temple. Alongside the Governor's Mansion, the Town Hall/Masonic Temple, purchased by Farmington Lodge No. 151 F. & A.M. from Farmington Township in 1963, is one of Farmington's most notable pieces of architecture.

BUILT IN 1867, the Governor's Mansion ranks among the most nota-

"The Governor's Mansion shows a Victorian influence," Gaiser said. "It is traditional, colonial-looking with round columns. There's eyelid brickwork around the windows."

There are decorative brackets under the overhanging roof of the second story and lantern, A balustrade decorated the entire length of the first-floor roof line.

P.D. Warner built the house two years before he became a Michigan senator, therefore it became the Senator's House. When Fred M. Warner became governor, his father, P.D. "Dean" Warner, built himself a smaller house alongside and let his son use the senator's house as the Governor's Mansion.

SINCE 1980, the mansion has been home to the Farmington Historical Museum.

ner, the exterior being of Bedford stone and granite base coupled with reinforced concrete and tile, making the same fireproof."

Bedford limestone is named after the town it is quarried from: Bedford, Ind. The newspaper also noted that the interior is of Missouri marble and Kansas walnut.

PEOPLE'S STATE Bank opened to the public on Feb. 16, 1923. Paired Ionic columns adorn the facade of the bank. Stahl & Kinsey were the architects and engineers. The Farmington Enterprise described the bank in the Feb. 23, 1923 edition:

"The exterior of the building is shown of white artificial stone and especially designed with heavy Corinthian columns flanking the main entrance and extending the full height of the building, supporting a handsomely patterned entablature, the structure presents a substantial and pleasing facade."

After World War I, banks were designed to relay the idea, they were stable and secure.

"There's a little Roman influence in the People's State Bank," Gaiser said, "very much like the Parthenon with the fluted columns."

WHEN BUILT, People's State Bank, except for the position of its clock and a baluster along the roof line, was identical to the Plymouth United Savings Bank on Main Street walking by because they were disin- mains. It has been sandblasted off in Plymouth, Mich.

The caps on the columns of the People's State Bank building in Farmington have since been removed. Gaiser said.

The ornamental scrolls on the capitals were dangerous to pedestrians tegrating. They were removed and what remained, smoothed nearly flush with the columns. They now appear as columns of the Dorle order, instead of the Ionic. Today the engraving in the stone, People's State Bank, no longer rethe facade,

The Farmington State Sayings Bank shows French influence, with the urns and entablature," Gaiser said, "also a little Roman." Farmington State Savings Bank is now the Village Mall.

These gift ideas are aimed at gardeners

Affew last-minute gift suggestions for the gardener might be in order at this time. Perhaps I can be of some

Most everyone enjoys a plant to brighten up the house, and even though the traditional "Christmas" plants are welcome, many other houseplants will delight the receiver perhaps an exotic one such as an orchid, with directions for its care.

Just be sure to protect any plant well from the cold winds when making the delivery.

A selection of self-watering planters to match the decor of a home, garden gloves or hat, tools, basket, rain gauge, soil or compost thermometer, fertilizer, kneeling bench, or a gift certificate from a garden center are always appreciat-

BOOKS ARE always welcome. "Masters of the Victory Garden" by Jim Wilson (Little, Brown, $19.95, soft) will provide some quiet reading from the hustle and bustle of the festivities and is sure to please those interested in a particular phase of gardening.

For this book, Wilson, a host of the TV show, "The Victory Garden," selected 11 specialists from across the country. Each one specializes in a particular plant. They explain how they achieved success with their chosen plants, how they hybridize, nurture and love them.

A history of each subject is included. Rhododendrons, hostas, daylilles, roses, antique fruit trees, herbs, dwarf conifers, peonles, wildflowers, lilies and peppers are featured.

What a stocking-stuffer this would

I have an address book that inspires me every time I use it. From Abrams Inc., it is a handy 71/2 by 9 1/2 inches, beautifully illustrated with 18th and 19th century flower and fruit prints. A commentary accompanies each illustration. It is titled "Nature Illustrated," ($17.95) and would be a useful gift for anyone who loves plants and art.

ONE FRAGRANCE that brings back fond memorles is that of a fresh Christmas tree: Historians trace the tradition back to ancient times, the American Association of Nurserymen sald. In late December, Egyptians put palm branches inside their homes as symbols of growing things. Celebrating Saturnalia, Romans decorated their trees and placed an image of their sun god on top.

To celebrate the winter solstice, Druid sorcerers hung golden apples and lit candles on oak trees. During the Middle Ages, people celebrated the feast of Adam and Eve on Dec. 24, using what they called the "Paradise tree" for its symbol, a fir tree hung with red apples.

The use of trees as a Christmas custom began in 16th century Germany and found its way to this country during the Revolutionary War.

I FIND it interesting that apples are still used on our "modern" Christmas trees. They're made of glass, plastic and other materials, as pomanders, or dried and fashioned into wreaths. .

- Now just about anything is used as tree ornaments, some quite traditional and some very creative and unusual.

No matter what is used to decorate this symbol of good will and peace, may these Christmas trees convey that message throughout the

Holiday time provides special opportunities

Holiday time is the best opportunity of the year to record treasured family memories.

Christmas and children go hand in hand so let's begin with them. Most importantly, move in close, get down on their level and fill the frame for impact. A short telephoto will work

Concentrate on candids as the kids unwrap their presents and begin to play with their new toys. Your pictures will appear natural and spontaneous because in all the excitement, the children won't even know you're there.

Don't exclude other family members and friends. For group shots, have everyone sit or stand around casually rather than pose in a stifflooking composition. Include yourself in the picture by using the camera's self-timer and placing the camera on a tripod or tabletop.

Flash pictures will work fine but try using some of the new, improved faster films such as Fujicolor 1600 or Kodak Ektar 1000 under natural indoor lighting. You'll be pleased with the results.

KEEP YOUR eyes open for other Christmas subjects that will add variety and interest to your holiday

A star filter used with those sparkling ornaments or overall Christmas tree shots will add a dramatic touch you'll be proud Need some last-minute stocking stuffer ideas? How about a supply of film or a set of fresh batteries? A good photography book will always be received with gratitude.

Jerry Bradely of Dunn's Camera says panorama pictures are "in" this year. So stuff the stocking with an inexpensive, disposable Kodak stretch camera . . . the results will surprise you. Or for the Minolta lover in your family, a panorama adapter set can make regular shots into stretched vistas.

As holiday time, we're usually deep in nature's blanket of winter snow. So bundle up yourself and your camera and head outdoors to capture exciting winter scenes.

Happy holiday to all my readers and friends.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

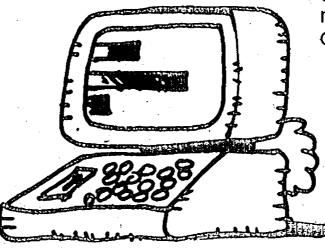

!. Include the price. Don't vaste your time or a potential puyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond o your ad will be those who are renuinely interested. Surveys how that readers are more nterested in those items and ervices they know are within heir price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

BUILDING SCONE CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Thursday, December 20, 1990 O&E

You don't see many spec houses with a listing price in the area of $2 million, even in Bloomfield Hills. Harold Koss and Richard McCoppin have teamed up to bring two to the market. This old-South style mansion and a French manor-look next door were designed by David Sellards.

Speculative thinking: building big houses

By Doug Funke staff writer

Spec houses today in excess of 7,500 square feet and priced at more than $1.5 million?

Yes, believe it or not.

Georgian Properties of Birmingham, a corporation formed by mortgage bankers Harold Koss and Richard McCoppin, has completed one such house and nearly finished another in Bloomfield Hills with nary a buyer in sight. But then the two have successfully operated a building side-line that way for eight years, said Robert Reason, development coordinator for Georgian.

"Most people in this price range are capable of paying cash," Reason said. "In good times and bad, people who buy houses in this range aren't affected by the economy.

"They (Koss and McCoppin) emphasize going for the higher end, the Bloomfield Hills area," Reason said. "They know when they're putting their money there, they will get a fair return on

"From the ordinary builder, I don't think you'll find spec homes like this."

GEORGIAN HAS turned away from a traditional Tudor look

Several touches of Old South architecture — a striking staircase, accentuated by oak flooring and sconce lighting - can be found in a spec house built by Koss and McCoppin in Bloomfield Hills.

for its two offerings on Brady Lane.

A house with an old South-style elevation surrounded by porches and a series of columns has a floor plan of 7,885 square feet. It's been on the market since late September with a listing

Oak wood floors can be found in all major rooms on the lower level - living room, den, keeping (family) room/kitchen and dining room. The den is oak from top to bottom. Brass fixtures and top-of-the line appliances abound.

An imposing staircase rises from the foyer in the middle of the house. Four bedrooms - to be carpeted to the buyer's specifications — are upstairs.

The bath portion of the master suite contains a marble floor, marble wall covering and a marble shower. A two-person Jacuzzi is mounted on a platform.

A THIRD LEVEL, originally designed for storage, can be used as a media room, exercise room or playroom for children. Fireplaces are located in the living room, den, keeping room and master suite.

Other touches include double 2-by-12 floor joists, a modern butler's pantry and sconce lighting fixtures on the second floor. David Sellards, a Birmingham architect, designed the house.

"I'm from the South. I can relate to it, traditional value, neo-Classical. I think everyone can identify with nooks and crannies of Grandma's house. It's comforting, nostalgia," he said.

While Georgian executives liked Sellards' floor plan, they thought the initial exterior elevation was a little too contemporary, Reason said.

"We worked with him. He put together some sketches," Reason sald. "We took a very modern floor plan and incorporated an older-style home, which many people aren't building now.

"EVERY ROOM, every living area in the house on the first floor you can get outside to a porch," he added.

Kathy Billig, a Realtor associate, is marketing the house for Hall & Hunter. "The thing what sets this house apart is large, functional rooms," she said. "It's not chopped up." "The immediate buyer would be an auto executive transferred to the area and needs immediate housing or someone who saw it and liked it," Sellards said. "It's going to sell," Billig sald. "We've had financial planners, an independent wealthy person, a doctor interested, entrepreneurs. There's been a lot of interest. "We (Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors) have al-we're in a community where per capita income is in the top 5 percent in the country."

most 40 listings over $1 million, new and old," she said. "But GEORGIAN'S second house on Brady, also designed by Sellards and still under construction, has a French manor exterior.

The interior, 9,000 square feet, will contain six bedrooms, five full baths and two half baths, five fireplaces, two stairways and first- and second-floor laundries.

That house will list for $2.2 million.

Sellards conceded that the magnitude of the two houses most recently built by Georgian as speculative ventures are "very rare even in Bloomfield Hills."

Novices urged to choose easy wallpaper to hang square feet of wall (these are based

Look for paper with a pattern repeat or drop of 10 inches or less. Pattern drop or repeat refers to a pattern's length (a repeat or drop of 10 inches is a pattern that repeats itself every 10 inches). The larger the drop, the more paper is wasted getting the pattern to align between the pieces.

YOU'LL FIND the pattern repeat on the back of each pattern in your wallpaper sample books and on the roll's wrapping. By choosing a pattern with a small repeat for your first project, you can avoid excessive waste.

Build success into your first attempt by choosing a simple bedroom. Don't try a bathroom, kitchen or two-story hallway at first.

First, look in the back of the wallpaper book for a notice that tells you the area of each roll. Most rolls of American wallpaper contain about 36 square feet of material. Allowing for waste due to the pattern drop and trimming, the roll covers about 30 square feet. A roll of European (metric) wallpaper contains about 28 square feet and covers about 23 on wallpaper with a drop under 18 inches).

To calculate how much paper you need, first find the wall area, Add the length of each wall, and multiply this total by the ceiling height. Multiply the height of each door and each window by its width. Add the door and window areas and subtract this from the wall area. This gives you the surface area to be papered. Add about 20 percent to the total papered area to allow for the few bad cuts (inevitable on your first job).

Divide this number by the area that your wallpaper roll covers, and that's the number of wallpaper rolls that you need.

MAKE SURE the paper is from the same lot or batch. The batch number is stamped on each roll, and all the rolls should have the same number. If you run short and have to order extra paper later, you might get a roll from a different batch run. The color or repeat pattern might not match exactly, even if you order the same pattern from the same store.
