Glenn students promote patriotism

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

An ingenious idea coupled with a sense of urgency caused by world and community events are the unlikely ingredients in a wildly successful business exercise by students at John Glenn High School, and area disabled veterans are the beneficiaries.

In a joint project between students in James McLaughlin's applied economics class and Marlene Dean's special education program, 36 youths sold an estimated 1,200 lapel flag pins adorned with yellow ribbons, raising over $700 for the Wayne-Westland chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

The project, which represented a whirlwind of activity over six days in January, commenced with the start of a new school semester one week after U.S. and allied forces attacked Iraq, and was scheduled to be concluded Monday, the last day of classes before a threatened teachers' strike.

The Wayne-Westland teachers and the school district averted a strike Monday afternoon when a tentative contract settlement was announced.

"This is the greatest thing since sliced bread, Cabbage Patch dolls and hoola hoops," said McLaughlin of the project which was based on Junior Achievement models aimed at teaching youth effective business practices.

Dean, occupational therapist for the physically impaired at John Glenn, said the project "enabled student involvement in a world event that requires extreme seriousness and sincerity."

'It's a good feeling walking down the halls and seeing everyone wearing pins.'

— Tammy Monarch, Glenn student

"TWENTY-ONE MORE PINS," echo Julie Elliot and Glenda Bauer, both 17, as they enter McLaughlin's second-level classroom. Bauer, who has an uncle with the U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia, and Elliot have been selling lapel pins class-to-class and need 21 more for Richard Boudreau's math class.

Senior Sam Ostyr returns from a similar sales run. He has also sold 20 or so pins, bringing his total sales to 70.

Of the 26 students in McLaughlin's economics class, Tami Garton has sold the most, an estimated 120 pins. She has been assisted by mother Pam Garton and grandmother Vicki Wade, both of whom sold pins at work. Andy Gagne, a 17-year-old senior, also relied on co-workers for sales, selling pins at Malarky's where he works part time.

Meanwhile, Dean's students are also busy at work and John McKevitz, who operates a concession during lunch, emerges the top salesperson. Both students and staff buy from McKevitz.

SCHOOL HEALTH aide Phyllis Shoroba carries the effort a step further, offering to sell pins to the school's office staff.

Senior student Dave Day, elected president of the project, arranges through his employer — U.S. Printers where Day works part-time — for 50 posters to advertise the sales project. The posters are strategically placed throughout the school.

Student Ernie Green does his own bit of advertising, pining a flattened dollar bill and two lapel pins to his shirt. "A sales gimmick," he laughs.

The efforts are working. Craig Brown, elected vice president of finance for the project, methodically stacks and counts a growing pile of dollar bills.

"WE'RE DOING IT FOR a good cause and everyone's pullin' together," says Stacie Lewis, 17, of the heightened interest by students in the project. Tammy Monarch, also 17, responds: "It's a good feeling walking down the halls and seeing everyone wearing pins."

In support of the project, Monday has been declared "Red, white and blue support-our-troops day" at John Glenn. Like most at school today, John Glenn vice principal Larry Wood sports a decidedly patriotic T-shirt.

THE GULF WAR
Hitting Home

The project, according to McLaughlin, "is bringing out the best in mankind. In 24 years of teaching, this is the warmest spot."

The pins, each tied with a yellow ribbon cut by two of Dean's students, Paul D'Angelo and David Hope, come in two varieties, press-on and brass. The press-ons are decidedly shinier, but the brass are far more interesting, at least based on local folk lore, They reportedly have been forged from spent ammo casings gathered after the Korean War.

During a momentary diversion, students discuss a new poster in McLaughlin's room portraying a dead soldier. The inscription reads, "War, It's a Dying Business."

"WAR IS horror," says Amy Finley. The poster, according to Kathy Boisvert, is "too drastic." The majority of students seem to agree with Finley and Boisvert.

The sales project has been hurried, racing towards completion be-

School tax proposal on March ballot

Related editorial, 8A

By Leonard Poger
editor

A split Wayne-Westland school board will ask voters for a millage rate increase at a special March 13 election.

The board, in a 6-1 vote Monday night, went ahead to approve a request for a 7.75-mill increase to help restore educational programs and services cut at the start of the school year last August.

One mill represents $1 of $1,000 of state equalized valuation. For a person in a house valued at $60,000 and having a $30,000 SEV, the rate increase would mean an additional $232.50 a year in property taxes.

The board "tried diligently to find help and couldn't," board member Andrew Spisak said. "It's now up to us" to pay for the school district's operations.

"Someone paid for your education and someone paid for mine. Help won't come from anywhere else," he said.

THE PROPOSAL is the same as the one defeated by voters last June and nearly the same as one rejected nearly a year ago.

The 7.75-mill proposal combines a 2.75-mill renewal that expired with the summer tax collections and a 5-mill increase. In the upcoming election campaign, the renewal must be described as an increase.

The current operating millage rate is $39.38 per $1,000 of SEV, or $4.02 less than the rate of four years, said school Superintendent Dennis O'Neill.

IF THE tax increase is approved, it would restore all the programs cut or reduced five months

11th-hour accord nips teachers' strike

A Wayne-Westland teachers' union strike, scheduled for Tuesday morning, was averted by a last-minute tentative contract settlement Monday afternoon.

The Wayne-Westland Education Association, which represents 1,000 members in collective bargaining, will tell its teachers Wednesday afternoon the specifics of the tentative agreement.

William Reece, WWEA president, and Dennis O'Neill, school superintendent, said they wouldn't disclose details of the tentative agreement until the association hears about the settlement next week.

The association is scheduled to meet Wednesday afternoon in Wayne Memorial High School's Stockmeyer Auditorium.

Reece said members at that meeting will be told of the proposed contract and then be asked to vote on it. If the settlement is approved, that would be tantamount to ratification, he said.

TECHNICALLY, THE association must receive a copy of the complete contract at least 72 hours before the paper ballot ratification is held.

If the WWEA gives preliminary approval Wednesday, the school board will formally ratify the new contract at its Monday, Feb. 11, meeting, O'Neill said.

The last-minute agreement came after the WWEA was upset with what it felt was a school board "ultimatum" that plans for a scheduled March 13 millage election would be dropped if there were no agreement by Monday night.

'It (negotiations) was a long, drawn-out ordeal.'

— Mathew McCusker, board president

The association then said it would strike Tuesday morning.

O'Neill, in a letter to WWEA members late last week, outlined the board's plans for canceling the election.

He added that a citizens' millage committee made it clear at a meeting in December that members wouldn't support a tax rate increase unless there was a tentative contract settlement with the WWEA before the election.

THE ONLY specifics of the tentative agreement Reece disclosed concerned the length of the proposed contract.

The agreement calls for raises in the first two years of the contract, through the 1991-92 school year and a different type of wage reopener for the third year, he said.

If a new salary is approved by a designated date for the third year, then the contract will be extended. If not, then negotiators for the school board and WWEA will start bargaining on a new contract, Reece said.

O'Neill said the proposed salary raises weren't identical to the board's latest proposal but were within "the parameters" set by the board.

Mayor's letter on terrorism draws fire

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

As war in the Middle East rages, a war of words has erupted in Westland between Mayor Robert Thomas and business people who fear a commercial backlash in response to the mayor's comments on possible "acts of terrorism and reverse terrorism" in the community.

Westland Chamber of Commerce president Bruce Priestley, a local businessman, called the mayor's comments "insensitive" and responsible for "undue concern to the business community and the general public."

"We want to pass along that it's business as usual here. Westland is no more nor any less susceptible to terrorism than any other community," Priestley said during a hastily called press conference Monday afternoon at the chamber's office.

'We want to pass along that it's business as usual here. Westland is no more nor any less susceptible to terrorism than any other community.'

— Bruce Priestley, Westland Chamber of Commerce

Businessmen Fred Mena and Dennis LeMaitre, also chamber officers, appeared with Priestley.

Thomas refused comment on the charges. Nor would he comment on a chamber recommendation for a liaison from the business community to the mayor's office to improve lines of communication.

CHAMBER OFFICIALS first became alarmed about public perception of terrorism in Westland following a letter of Jan. 15, signed by the mayor, Police Chief Paul Schnarr and Fire Chief Larry Lane. The letter, hand-delivered by police to local churches, schools and businesses, received national attention.

The chamber and most local business persons have yet to receive a copy of the letter, an oversight that has resulted in unanswered questions by those who have not read it, Priestly said.

The issue was further inflamed Thursday when Priestley said "the mayor again referenced the letter" during a televised newscast on

Mayor: Non-resident board members must resign

By Leonard Poger
editor

Six of eight members of Westland municipal boards and commissions will have to resign because they don't meet residency requirements, Mayor Robert Thomas said.

Thomas made it clear that he is seeking their resignations only to comply with the city charter requirements.

In his letters to them last week, the mayor stressed that the persons' "qualifications or desire to serve Westland were never in question, only the (residency) requirements under the (city) charter."

Thomas is asking the six to submit their resignations no later than April 1 so he can have replacements ready to fill the expected vacancies.

For those who want to talk to him personally about the feud which surfaced two months ago, the mayor said he has arranged to meet with them 5:30-6:30 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 20.

"I hope some or all of you can stop in so that I could thank you for your time and dedication as well as personally apologize for any inconvenience I might have caused you," he said in his letter to the six.

THOSE AFFECTED and the panels they serve on were: Joyce Wheeler, community development citizens advisory commission; Yvonne Johnson, cable TV commission; Dale Merrifield, housing rehabilitation review board, and Dan Vasiloff, Donald Hoffman and Marilyn Ziegler, all on the economic development advisory commission.

Two others who will be allowed to continue serving on the quasi-public Economic Development Corporation are Norman Stockmeyer and Patrick Danna because the organization isn't legally considered a city board or commission, according to a recent legal opinion submitted by city attorney C. Charles Bokos.

The letters were sent after Bokos completed legal research requested by Thomas and City Council President Thomas Brown last month.

In his eight-page legal opinion, Bokos concluded that members of boards and commissions must meet the same qualifications as elected officials. They must be local residents.

He also said that those people must maintain their Westland residency to continue on the boards and commissions.

"IT IS my opinion that the Westland City Charter requires persons holding elective offices, and officers serving on city boards and commissions, to reside within the city, but there is no residency requirement in the charter for department heads or 'employees' of the city," he said.

WXYZ-TV. "That blew everything out of proportion," resulting in a flurry of calls from concerned citizens to business leaders, both at chamber and business offices and at home.

The calls and inquiries from customers are the only indications business may be affected negatively, Priestley added.

In his letter, Thomas urged citizens to be "extra vigilant" in the event of hostilities in the Middle East because "violence may well spill over into the United States."

The American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee has called the letter unnecessary, resulting in resentment among the Arab community.

Mena, chamber vice president, said "the mayor's comments were done with good intent but they have had a negative impact. It might have been done in a different manner."

IN PROPOSING A business liaison to the mayor's office, Maitre said "we want to offer a good line of communication. Our imput could be beneficial and hopefully we would not get into one of these situations again."

Poor communications, he said, has been an ongoing problem since Thomas became mayor a year ago in election to his first public office. Thomas was previously a Westland public services department employee.

While Maitre declined to be specific on communication problems, he said "one by one, they are minor but there have been key things. Basically it's a lack of communication."

Chamber officials have not met with the mayor but Priestley said arrangements for such a meeting are underway.

Schnarr said his department has taken no special precautions to guard against terrorist acts. "The purpose of the letter was just to make people more observant of their surroundings.

"I think it's been taken out of context. The world is in turmoil. Be aware. What if we hadn't said anything, and something happened?"

cause of the threat of a Wayne-Westland teachers' strike which was to have started the next day.

On Monday, the final supply of pins are sold, generating an unofficial profit of over $700.

And now student Carolyn Kos, whose father Raymond is a member of Disabled American Veterans, will arrange to donate profits from the project to the local chapter.

Youth hockey playoffs set

The Westland Hockey Association will host playoffs Saturday through Feb. 10 in the District 1, Squirt Division for House B, Travel A and AA teams.

The playoffs will be held at the Westland Sports Arena, on Wildwood at Hunter.

Admission is $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

There will be games at noon and 1 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. through 4 p.m. Sunday. For other schedule information, contact Laura Bajis at 421-0748 or Gerry Skocen at 522-4166.

Free story hour for preschoolers

Preschoolers will have story-telling, music, finger plays, music and other activities in a free program sponsored by the Wayne-Westland Public Library starting Tuesday, Feb. 5, and continuing through March 12.

The program, for 3½- to 5-year-olds, will be held in the library on Sims and Wayne Road, Wayne.

You must register for the program in advance at the library, to start at 9 a.m. each of the scheduled Tuesdays.

Interested people may contact the library at 721-7832.

School tax increase would restore programs, services ago, such as the junior high sixth hour and expressive arts, he said.

The tax raise would also allow the board to eliminate the pay-to-play policy adopted to require students in after-school programs to pay to take part. The fee for most of those programs was just over $200 a year.

Four elementary schools that now share two principals will regain full-time principals if the tax proposal is approved, the superintendent said.

SYLVIA KOZOROSKY-WIACEK was the only board member to oppose the ballot proposal, urging instead for separate questions to allow voters a wider choice of which programs to support.

She "agonized" over the ballot issue for weeks but decided to oppose the "up or down/all or nothing" tax proposal, she said.

Many residents told Kozorosky-Wiacek they wanted to choose what they wanted to pay for, she said.

But her colleagues disagreed with her position.

IT "SOUNDS simplistic for a complex problem," board treasurer Leonard Posey said. A split ballot with earmarked millages for specific programs would have "sacrificial lambs," he said.

Board president Mathew McCusker said he foresees "only chaos" with an earmarked millage proposal.

Sharon Scott said she fears that a split election ballot would lead to half being approved and other parts being rejected.

"We need to educate people and run a good campaign," she said.

THE SCHOOL board met with the Funding for Effective Schools, a local citizens millage group, late last year and heard that the district needed the 7.75 mills last June and still needs it now, McCusker said.

The committee suggested a ballot proposal higher than the one approved Monday night by the board, McCusker said.

Others echoing comments by their colleagues were Kathleen Chorbagian, who also said the citizens committee urged a higher millage proposal for the March ballot, and Michael Reddy.

Teachers, schools agree at last minute

He added that the agreement includes some cost-effective changes in health insurance for WWEA members.

The association president said the negotiating team is urging approval of the agreement, with the union to be actively involved in the special March 13 millage election.

On the ballot will be a proposed 7.75-mill rate increase to restore educational programs and services reduced or eliminated by the school board at the start of the current school year to balance the budget.

One mill represents $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation or $232.50 a year for a person in a home valued at $60,000 and having a $30,000 SEV.

At the school board meeting Monday night, O'Neill said the tentative agreement was reached about 3:10 p.m. that day when negotiating teams from the WWEA and board were meeting with a state mediator.

"IT (NEGOTIATIONS) was a long, drawn-out ordeal," board president Mathew McCusker said of the bargaining which began nearly a year ago. Teachers agreed at the start of the school year in late August to work without a contract while negotiations continued.

In late October, the WWEA membership authorized its bargaining team to call a strike depending on the pace of negotiations.

O'Neill commented that the completed contract talks were a "frustrating and exasperating process in view of our limited resources," noting that three members of the board's bargaining team were lost during that process through one retirement and two resignations.

Following her performance of the violin solo selection "Bourree," Frost seventh grader Valerie Brissette gets some pointers from judicator David Reed, a member of the music department of Bloomfield Hills School. Valerie earned a second place medal.

A flute trio from Emerson did some last minute polishing of their performance in a warm-up room. They are Brandy Taylor (left), Kelly Webber and Stephanie Fries. The effort paid off with first-place medals for the seventh grade trio.

Tuning in to win

Young musicians compete in district

MORE THAN 1,900 first and second place honors were given out to area junior high and middle school students Saturday at district solo and ensemble festival competition held at Franklin High.

This Saturday Franklin, which serves the northeastern corner of Westland, will host the District 12 solo and ensemble competition for senior high schools in the region.

Over the two Saturdays more than 3,000 music students will perform solo, in duets, trios, or small ensembles before professional judges.

The performances of senior high students this Saturday will be from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Admission is free.

Emerson Middle School instrumental music students, with some from the northeast corner of Westland, earned eight first place medals for superior performance and 13 second place medals Saturday.

"It was a very successful festival for us," said Emerson band director Jon Holtfretter. "It demonstrated that Emerson students have the talents and drive to achieve their goals."

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC students from Frost Middle School, which serves the northwest section of Westland, earned 13 first place medals and 17 second place honors. "I was very pleased with the performance of our Frost musicians," said band director Robert Randall.

Besides competing this Saturday, Franklin band students also will be working to host the festival.

The solo and ensemble festival caps a busy year for the Franklin High Band which in marching band competition this year placed second at the Lakers Invitational, third at Huron Valley, third at Clarkston, second at Linden, first at John Glenn, and sixth in state competition.

At the midwestern regionals in Toledo Nov. 3, the marching band entered the novice class but was placed in the AA Division because of its high score. Joan Seay is band director at Franklin.

Glenn senior wins state title

Simmi Prasad, Wayne-Westland's Young Woman of the Year, won the Michigan title and a college scholarship at a state pageant Saturday night in Marshall.

Prasad was also given the award for the "poise" portion of the program. Scholarship awards amounted to $2,800, in addition to the scholarship money received from the local program.

She is the fourth Westland program winner to win the state title in the past 18 years. The others were Marie Neu, Pam Wallace and Natalie Kozorosky.

The Outstanding Young Woman program was previously called the Junior Miss program.

Prasad said that she was surprised at winning the state title because all the 19 other contestants seemed well qualified.

Prasad, a John Glenn High School senior, is in the National Honor Society, Student Council, former section leader in the marching band, former French Club member. She has received Recognition for outstanding performance in math and science from the Society of Woman Engineers.

The daughter of Jaldhar and Pushpa Prasad of Westland, she is the youngest of three children. Brother Vibhay, and sister Shally, are both graduates of the University of Michigan.

Simmi Prasad wins state title

Prasad also plans on attending the University of Michigan and will major in aerospace.

"SPACE IS a new frontier, full of new worlds, new questions, and new answers," she said. "I want to explore and discover what lies beyond the horizon."

In winning the Michigan title, Prasad will compete for the national title to be held in Mobile, Ala., in late June.

Another John Glenn student also did well at the state program last weekend.

Monica Evans, also a senior, received an award as one of the two finalists as well as for the creative and performing arts area and the Spirit Award, which is selected by the contestants themselves. The awards amounted to an additional $1,300 in scholarship money for Evans.

Active in the French Club she is secretary of Students Against Drinking Drivers and the choir, Evans finds time for her love of tap dance, reading and the writing of short stories and poems, and works the concessions stands at football games.

She plans to attend the University of Michigan and would like to become an attorney.

"I believe that everybody — regardless of their upbringing — deserves equal justice in the eyes of the law," she said. "I want to help those less fortunate than me."

Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Evans, and the eldest of four children.

THERE WERE nine scholarship awards given at the state level with Prasad and Evans winning five.

This week's question:

Should teachers strike?

We asked this question to students at John Glenn High School Monday morning, before a tentative agreement was reached later in the day.

'No, but they should have a contract. The courts should make the (Wayne-Westland) Board of Education give teachers a contract.'

— Curt Hall

'Yes, because they went to college at least four years and they don't have a contract or know how much they're going to make. They deserve a contract and job security.'

senior

'No, I think they should be happy with they have now, I guess they get paid enough. We lose our vacation and stuff.'

— Rob Tolliver

'No, I don't. We're battling already in a war. Why do we have to it in school, too?'

—Pandrea Dixon
junior

'Not really, because you don't know how long it's going to take. I know teachers have problems and they deserve what they need but there have been six months to compromise.'

— Gamal Ahmed
senior

'Yes, if they need more money. There hasn't been a contract in a long time. But it's sad for us. We'll miss out on our education.'

Westland man helps with repairs on Patriot missile

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

A Westland man is among nine expert machinists and an international machine part repair company that did their part over the weekend to help prevent innocent people and U.S. forces from being killed in the Persian Gulf War.

Both the nine machinists and their company, Phillips Service Industries of Livonia, repaired for free in record time a 6-foot-long, 250-pound part used to make Patriot missiles.

The machinists worked 35 man-hours repairing the part; the hours will never show up on their paycheck.

"You look at the news at night, see what's going on and can't do anything," said Ross Williamson of Farmington Hills. "This was the chance for us to do something in as direct a way as possible."

THE WORKERS agreed to do the work for free if the Ball Screw Division, a division of PSI Repair Services Inc., Phillips Services Industry, wouldn't bill Martin Marietta for other costs incurred by the company in repairing the part. The company agreed.

"Spirit and sweat. You can't put a value on that," said Michael Fannin, manager of marketing services for PSI. "The government and the whole project got a bargain. But the workers and the company got a whole lot out of it, too."

The part, a ball screw, broke down last week on an assembly line at Martin Marietta Corp. in Orlando, Fla.

When it broke, it slowed down Martin Marietta's capacity to make the Patriots, which have been successful in knocking Iraqi missiles out of the skies over Saudi Arabia and Israel.

MARTIN MARIETTA made an urgent call to the Ball Screw Division in Livonia.

Can you get the part repaired by Monday morning? they asked.

Delta Airlines waived weight restrictions to get the broken part to PSI Repair. It arrived at 10:40 p.m. Friday.

At 12:40 p.m. Saturday, it was on a Northwest Airlines flight back to Orlando.

"When we donated the time, we didn't know how long it would take," said Ken Pernak of Westland. "It was an unknown quantity."

NORTHWEST GAVE the more than 6-foot crate special handling in getting it back to Florida.

The part arrived around 4:30 p.m. Saturday, and the machine that cuts missile parts was in operation once again.

Martin Marietta employees who unpacked the ball screw part in Florida found it wrapped in red, white and blue ribbon. On the crate, near the words "Desert Storm Support," was a handpainted American flag.

THE URGENT request from Martin Marietta brought three surprises, Phillips chairman William Phillips said.

"We were surprised at the priority placed on it by the U.S. Government. We were surprised when we learned the part helped make the Patriot missile.

"And we were a bit surprised when the workers volunteered their time. It was the first time they did so. They gave up a good night's sleep and money because they wanted to contribute to Desert Storm in the only way they knew how."

All workers in the Ball Screw Division volunteered to repair the part free, Williamson said. However, because the job was done in 14 hours, only 10 workers actually got to repair the part.

"I DID IT for my country, and to help protect the troops and innocent people of Saudi Arabia and Israel," said Doug Maxwell of Redford Township.

Lou Steffani of Canton Township said the workers "all made a big effort to make sure that the company (Martin Marietta) could continue to produce the Patriot missiles."

Rochester Hills resident Orvin Ferguson said he considered the hours of work he worked his "tour of duty."

"But it's nothing compared to what the other fellows are doing over there."

County census shows decrease

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne County is shrinking, according to recently released U.S. Census Bureau figures, and decreases are not limited to Detroit.

County population shrunk by slightly less than 10 percent over the past decade, from 2,337,891 in 1980 to 2,111,687 today.

Population in Detroit remained above the 1 million level, at 1,027,974, though the city lost 175,395 people since the 1980 census.

Population also shrunk in most western Wayne County cities and townships.

Livonia, Redford and Garden City all lost roughly 4,000 residents. (See chart for details.)

Plymouth lost slightly more than 400 residents; Plymouth Township gained slightly more than 600.

Westland's population remained almost constant, growing by 121 — a mere one-tenth of one percent.

The only major population gainer among western Wayne communities was Canton, where population grew by more than 8,400.

Census figures, however, contained more than a fair share of irony.

Livonia witnessed substantial office and commercial development, including a major new mall, over the course of the decade.

"WE'RE AN expanding community with a declining population," Mayor Robert Bennett said.

Livonia's population loss, like those of other communities could be traced to fewer children, not households. The city added roughly 7,000 homes in the 1980s, but school population dropped.

Livonia Schools' enrollment, 22,282 in 1980, is now 16,228.

"But at that it's increasing," said schools spokesman Jay Young. "We feel we've bottomed out and are now on the increase."

Canton's population growth could also be attributed to adults, not children.

Plymouth-Canton Schools enrollment, 14,931, is down by slightly more than 2,000 students since 1980.

"We're seeing housing growth but some of the homes being built are for people with upper level incomes," said schools spokesman Richard Egli. "My feeling is that these are people either with grown children or no children."

Growth fanned out into other suburban areas, however, with Oakland and Macomb county communities posting the biggest gains.

"The suburbanization of people and jobs is continuing," said William Frey, research scientist with the Population Studies Center at the University of Michigan.

"A lot of the residential and employment base is moving to the suburbs, particularly west of Detroit," Frey said. "There are increasing disparities between growing areas and declining areas."

"The metro unit, not the central city, is becoming the economic unit," Frey said. "The kinds of jobs being created — high-tech, service, office-type jobs — can be located in the suburbs just as well as downtown."

Overall, Michigan's population crept upward by less than 1 percent — from 9,262,044 to 9,295,297.

Oakland County's population rose 7.1 percent, to 1.08 million, with 11 of its 22 townships enjoying double-digit growth. The tiny but posh Bingham Farms was the state's fastest-growing locality; its population rose 89.2 percent — from 529 to 1,001. West Bloomfield grew 29.9 percent and Brandon Township grew 26.5 percent.

Macomb County grew 4.4 percent, led by Shelby Township's 25 percent jump. In a sign of creeping growth to the northwest, Livingston County shot up 15.3 percent. Washtenaw County, anchored by Ann Arbor, rose 6.9 percent.

S'craft disposal costs could rise

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Like the municipalities and homeowners it serves, Schoolcraft has seen disposal costs soar as landfill space decreases.

It's going to cost Schoolcraft College more to take out the trash.

The college waste hauler, Aaro Disposal, has asked college officials to increase payments under its 1990-1991 contract due to greater-than-expected disposal costs.

Aaro had been using the Waterford Hills Sanitary Landfill in Oakland County. However, that landfill was closed after the Michigan Department of Natural Resources discovered it was contaminating nearby groundwater.

A new landfill cell at the site has not been allowed to open due to the ongoing controversy.

The company told college officials it was now paying more to dump in other landfills.

Aaro was the low bidder of three companies submitting bids on the 1990-91 contract. The company was to have received $13,281 for hauling Schoolcraft's trash. Waste Management of Michigan, $16,471 and Browning Ferris Industries, Inc., $17,163, were the other companies submitting bids.

College vice president for business services Adelard Raby said Schoolcraft would open negotiations with the other bidders if it couldn't come to an agreement with Aaro.

Like the municipalities and homeowners it serves, Schoolcraft has seen disposal costs soar as landfill space decreases.

The current contract represents an increase of almost 100 percent over what the college paid for trash disposal as recently as two years ago.

At the same time, the college has yet to implement a classroom paper recycling plan.

"We've looked at it, but found there was no practical way to do it because we're so spread out," Raby said.

Schoolcraft includes the main campus, in Livonia, Schoolcraft College-Radcliff, in Garden City, and a series of small buildings along Haggerty Road, north of Six Mile. Operations in those buildings will eventually be consolidated into a new student services building.

The building, when built, will include a loading dock for materials to be recycled, Raby said.

But one college trustee said the college could at least consider beginning now.

"In Northville, it's done," said Trustee Michael Burley, a Northville Schools employee. "The students take care of it."

McCotter gets GOP position

Thaddeus McCotter of Livonia was recently elected chairman of the Wayne Second Congressional District Republican Committee, a political organization including northern Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and Plymouth and Northville townships.

McCotter, 25, a Schoolcraft College trustee, was a four-year member of the Wayne II executive committee.

As chairman, McCotter promised to "devise grassroots strategies that provide all Republicans the opportunity to contribute their diverse talents on behalf of Republican causes and candidates."

McCotter will lead the Wayne II delegation at the Republican State Convention Feb. 15-16 in Grand Rapids.

THIS WINTER, THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN WILL BE STRICKEN WITH DIABETES. THE REAL TRAGEDY BEGINS WHEN THEY'RE TREATED FOR THE FLU.

During flu season thousands of children are stricken with insulin-dependent diabetes. These children are usually between the ages of 5 and 16.

Unfortunately, many parents and emergency-room personnel often confuse the warning signs of diabetes with the flu. Or, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

The major warning signs for diabetes to watch out for are: frequent urination, excessive thirst, extreme hunger, dramatic weight loss, nausea and vomiting. As well as irritability, weakness and fatigue. Generally, these symptoms appear over a three or four-week period, but don't appear as suddenly as flu symptoms.

If the child is not treated immediately, his or her blood sugar can go out of control leading to what is called diabetic ketoacidosis. Which in turn can lead to diabetic coma. The warning signs for diabetic ketoacidosis include excessive urination, great thirst, stomach pain, nausea and vomiting, dehydration which can lead to dry lips and sunken eyes, rapid breathing, followed by sleepiness.

So this winter, do something to really protect your child during flu season.

Learn the symptoms of diabetes.

House Dems take aim at Engler's tax cut plan

By Tim Richard
staff writer

House Democrats say Gov. John Engler's property tax cut plan does too much for well-off people who don't need it — including senior citizens.

But state treasurer Doug Roberts, Engler's financial right arm, argued the state needs a 20 percent school property tax cut for all — rich, poor and business.

"We can't address every single possible issue," Roberts warned the House Taxation Committee Tuesday as he argued for an across-the-board cut.

It was the panel's first meeting of the new session. Absent was freshman Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-West Bloomfield, whose lakes district has been the scene of some of the state's loudest property tax protests.

REP. JAMES Kosteva, D-Canton, tossed the administration's argument back in his lap, saying the plan contained several special favors.

"Why the assistance to seniors?" asked Kosteva, referring to Engler's proposal to exempt the elderly from all school operating property taxes over three years. "Obviously seniors are an effective political organization to satisfy."

Committee chair Lynn Jondahl, D-Okemos, quoted the American Association of Retired Persons as criticizing that feature for "pitting age groups against each other."

"We have it in the law right now," replied Roberts, saying that special treatment for the elderly is an established principle in Michigan.

Deputy treasurer Gary Wolfram added that older people have little capacity to increase their incomes, have less discretionary income and have special home maintenance problems.

"WHY INCREASE the circuit breaker?" Kosteva continued. Engler wants to raise the amount of income tax rebate (circuit breaker) a household can receive from the current $1,200 to $2,500 over a period of years.

Nick Khoury, another deputy treasurer, replied that the idea is based on a Senate Republican plan of last year.

Kosteva kept firing at Roberts' contention that Engler's plan was limited to an across-the-board property tax cut. "It's inherently a school finance proposal," said Kosteva. "We will now reimburse school districts without regard to wealth. We would widen the gap between in-formula and out-of-formula school districts."

Replied Wolfram: "If we don't reimburse, we'll have a difficult problem."

Engler's plan is that the state treasury would return to all districts the property tax revenue they would lose if the state cut assessments 20 percent.

Democrats objected that suburban districts with $8,000 per pupil to spend shouldn't be reimbursed while other districts have only $2,500 per pupil.

COMMITTEE CHAIR Lynn Jondahl, D-Okemos, argued for better proportional benefits for low-income people rather than an across-the-board cut.

"As long as I've studied economics," replied Roberts, "the property tax has been considered regressive. This (cut) doesn't make it worse. Cutting a regressive tax does not historically hurt the poor."

Rep. Ted Wallace, D-Detroit, argued that the $1.2 billion in benefits would be spread across the board but paid for by taxes paid by renters and cuts in services to the poor.

"I'm sensitive to the issue," Roberts said. But he said Detroiters are paying some of the most burdensome property taxes and that Detroit schools "are a major beneficial of the school aid formula."

Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, blistered the Engler plan as "Robin Hood in reverse," taking from the poor to help the rich. He called for more circuit breaker help and no cuts for business.

REP. KIRK Profit, D-Ypsilanti, recalled Engler last year criticized Democratic Gov. James Blanchard's $25 million plan as worth only 5 cents a week. But Profit said Engler's plan was worth only 7 cents to a family with a $20,000 income and a $30,000 home.

His math was corrected by Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, who said it amounted to $5.76 in that example.

And Roberts noted that the example family already would be getting substantial "circuit breaker" help. "Certain low-income people won't get any relief at all. They already get the homestead credit," Roberts said.

Engler's plan calls for assessing property every second year instead of annually. It also asks voter approval of a constitutional amendment to cap assessment increases at 5 percent.

Asked Munsell: Is that 5 percent annually or every two years? "Annually," said Wolfram.

THE ENGLER plan, which still isn't in written form, would roll down assessments from 50 percent of market value to 40 over three years on school operating property taxes.

Schools would be reimbursed every dollar from the state general fund, starting in the fiscal year beginning next Oct. 1.

Money issue

School tax hike a tough sell

WAYNE-WESTLAND school district parents, teachers, officials and possibly students are happy that a faculty union strike was averted at the last minute Monday afternoon, just hours before a deadline for a walkout and cancellation of a planned millage election.

While details of the tentative contract settlement aren't available yet, there is a certainty that the Wayne-Westland Education Association will get a raise, although the community isn't aware of the size of the pay hikes.

On the positive side, we're delighted that a tentative contract was reached without a strike, which typically divides the faculty, parents and students and forces the community to "choose sides" in the dispute without having all the information.

While we applaud the WWEA negotiating team and the administration for reaching a tentative agreement before the strike deadline, we are also concerned about the coming millage increase request.

THAT TAX proposal will be on a special election scheduled for Wednesday, March 13.

The tax issue on the ballot will be the same voters rejected twice in 1990 in nearly the same form. The Observer didn't endorse either proposal. We had urged the administration and board to split the proposals.

The school board is seeking voters' approval of 7.75 mills for five years, or $7.75 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. That represents an annual tax bill increase of $232.50 for a family in a house with a market value of $60,000 and a SEV of $30,000.

The tax proposal combines a 2.75 mill renewal that expired last summer and an increase of 5 mills. Since the renewal is now legal and political history, the 7.75 mill proposal must be described as a tax increase, not a combined renewal and increase.

The administration is stressing that the current operating millage rate is 4.02 mills less than the rate of four years ago. But local tax property bills continue to increase through annual assessment increases.

And homeowners typically look at the bottom line, not the rate.

We are still unsure if parents will approve a tax hike for which part will be used for teachers' salaries during the current uncertainties of an economic recession and the Persian Gulf war.

'Terrorism' letter: major goof

MAYOR ROBERT Thomas committed a major blunder two weeks ago in miscommunicating his goals of warning local persons to be more alert of potential terriorist activities.

A Neighborhood Watch-type letter urging people to be more alert to unusual circumstances has mushroomed into a major controversy because there wasn't a clearly stated goal or purpose of what the city administration wanted.

It is unclear whether the target of the letter is to warn of potential terrorists or to protect local Arab Americans who may be the targets of vandalism.

But trying to combine both elements in a short letter given city-wide distribution led to mass confusion and misunderstanding in the community.

TV reports relay the impression that there is a terrorist hiding behind every Westland building, forcing the Westland Chamber of Commerce to voice its opposition to the Thomas letter because of a fear that shoppers will go elsewhere.

In the future, the administration should follow the advice of a former school superintendent in a neighboring community who said:

"Not only make sure you are understood, make sure you are not misunderstood."

We're not suggesting that the mayor shouldn't alert the community to potential public safety dangers. But the communications have to be clear on what he wants to do and avoid any misunderstandings.

Budget time

Both sides must compromise

REFLECTIONS on Gov. John Engler's radically different view of state government as shown in his budget:

• The House Appropriations Committee has rejected his $265 million in cuts and executive order changes. Michigan government runs like labor-management relations in the auto industry — much negotiating, much tedious give-and-take. Let it be brief.

• As the first genuinely conservative governor since World War II, Republican Engler has won three major concessions from Democrats in the House, his major source of opposition. First, he has insisted that education take almost no cuts; Democrats buy that. Second, he wants no tax increase; all but a handful of Democrats concede that point. Third, Democrats are openly talking about such "short-term strategies" as "sale of assets" — meaning the Accident Fund, an agency that they had argued for years belonged to the state, and the state liquor business.

Engler should plan to give, too.

• The budget problem is not a matter of principle, like abortion or police searches. Engler wants to correct the $1 billion problem by dipping into the "rainy day" fund, 10 percent; spending cuts, 80 percent; and short-term strategies, 10 percent. House Speaker Lewis Dodak asks a one-third, one-third, one-third solution. Numbers are negotiable; no need for an impasse.

• There is $420 million in the "rainy day" fund, nickname for the budget stabilization fund. It is to be used during adversity. Engler wants to tap barely $100 million of it. Most economists, particularly at the University of Michigan, say the recession will be short and mild. Democrats want to use $333 million of it. There is room for Engler to compromise.

• Despite this newspaper's strong coverage of fine arts, the case against Engler's slashing of state arts funding isn't clear. Arts patrons portray Engler as a Beal City bumpkin. Those of us living south of M-59 and east of US-23 have no idea how furious outstate Michigan is at the way southeastern Michigan — alias "Detroit" — gobbles up the lion's, tiger's and elephant's share of the nearly $50 million in "equity" grants.

There are two ways to compromise: Either give outstate (particularly Grand Rapids) more, or give "Detroit" less. Engler seized the second option.

Let's look harder at the biggest single state grant — for the Detroit Institute of Arts, $16 million-plus. That isn't really "arts" money. It goes to operate a department of Detroit city government, under Detroit political control. For more than a decade, Detroit's priorities have been elsewhere than a 1929 marble building dominated by EuroAmerican art; that's Detroit's right. We have a dilemma. We need to rethink which level of government should fund — and operate — the DIA. Maybe it should be a tri-county agency.

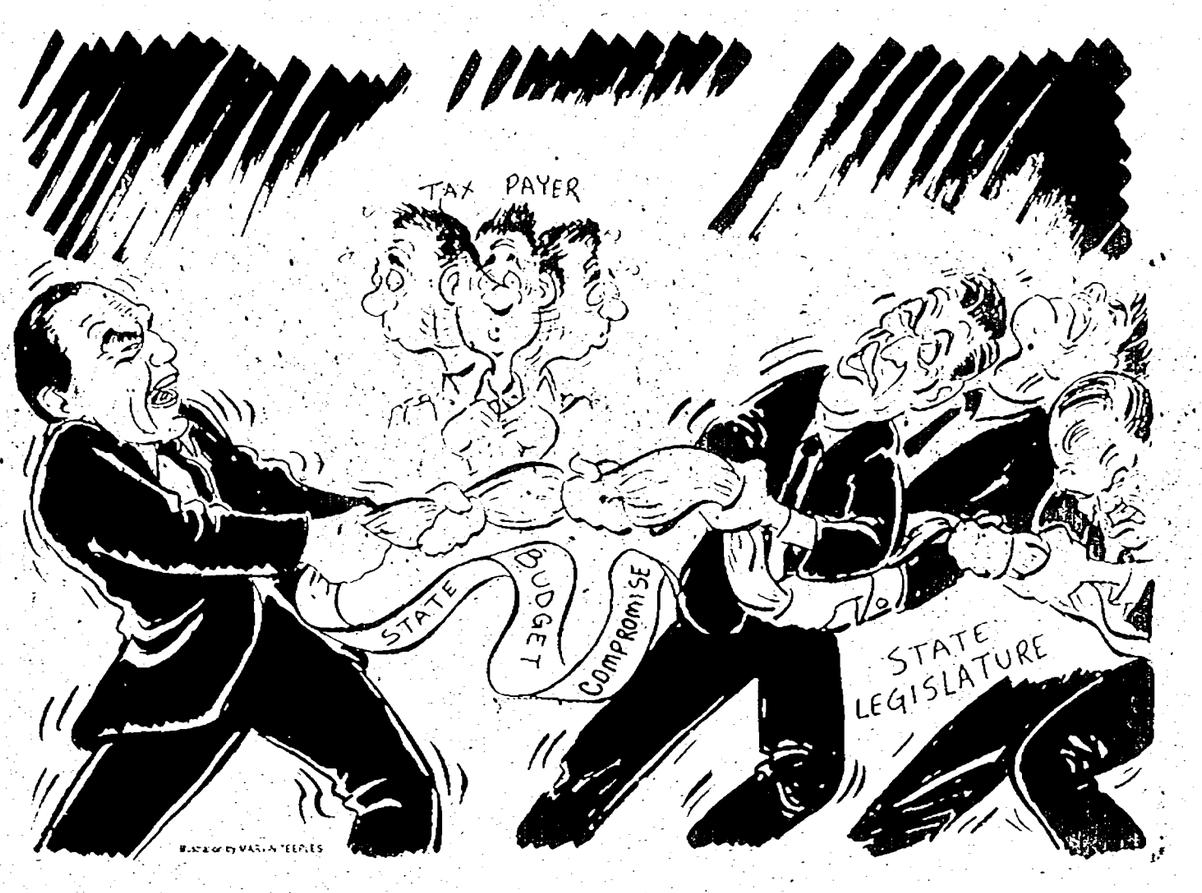
• Suburban groups — in fine arts, symphonic music and historical museum — may be in trouble as far as state money is concerned.

• State policy in the 1980s was to "de-institutionalize" mental patients. The result was to shove the responsibility onto community programs, and many fell through the cracks and became homeless.

• Candidate Engler last fall gave us the impression he didn't like programs of property tax concessions for business. It's clear big companies play one small town against another to get tax breaks. The net increase in jobs is nil. Engler is fond of saying that "the state shouldn't be in the business of picking winners and losers." State government needs to think about halting those programs.

• Engler accused his predecessor, James Blanchard, of using Commerce Department ad programs for political propaganda. Rather than de-politicizing them, however, Engler wants to rip them out. We suggest there is merit to state government promoting our industrial climate. The community growth alliances, in particular, had the effect of getting groups of governments and utilities to pull together.

• Much is said in Lansing about spending too much. It would be just as bad, however, to be too cheap.



State's deficit certain, but cure stays elusive

Philip Power

THE MICHIGAN Constitution requires a balanced budget: "The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the House and Senate, shall reduce expenditures . . . whenever it appears that actual revenues . . . will fall below the revenue estimates."

This requirement is producing the first fight between the newly elected Republican governor, John Engler, and battered but still spirited Democrats in the House.

Nearly everybody agrees the state faces a $1.1 billion deficit this fiscal year in a $7.4 billion general fund. But agreement on the cure will be tough to reach.

The rhetoric is tough. 'The public is made up of a lot of taxpayers,' said budget director Patricia Woodworth. 'The governor has laid before the Legislature a plan for chaos,' says Democratic House Speaker Lewis N. Dodak.

ENGLER WANTS to cut $537 million by eliminating general assistance welfare payments for roughly 100,000 able-bodied folks, dropping most state funding for the arts (including the Detroit Institute of Arts and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, both of which face closure) and cutting job training programs.

Suburban programs facing the ax include a prison in Northville Township, two proposed state police posts and a set of "outstate equity" Christmas tree items that in the past have concentrated on southeastern Michigan. The Engler plan would lay off 3,300 state employees and borrow $103 million from the $400 million budget stabilization fund.

The rhetoric is tough. "The public is made up of a lot of taxpayers," said budget director Patricia Woodworth. "The governor has laid before the Legislature a plan for chaos," says Democratic House Speaker Lewis N. Dodak.

Democrats have their own plan which would draw $300 million from the rainy day fund, make $330 million in budget cuts, and find $340 million from something called "short term strategies," which include sale of state assets (the Accident Fund), early retirement incentives and so forth.

BEHIND THE political posturing are two important realities that have escaped attention.

First, even Democrats concede that at least $500 million of the deficit is "structural" — that is, it reflects "trends and policy decisions made over a number of years that cause the statutory revenue structure to fall increasingly out of line with program spending requirements." In other words, we have been living beyond our means.

This fact has been disguised by a conspiracy between the governor and the Legislature: Take credit now for passing programs, to be paid for later by a series of supplemental appropriations.

One consequence: Money is spent higgledy-piggledy without concentrating enough resources in any one area to get the job done. State universities, which have been structurally under-funded by $80 million a year for a decade, make up the gap by raising tuitions through the roof.

Former Gov. James Blanchard and his folks knew about the structural deficit. To their shame, they didn't straighten it out when they had the chance. Now Engler is doing something and getting credit for his tough-mindedness.

THE SECOND reality is that Engler wants to make fundamental changes in how state government spends money. But he is also committed to a 20 percent property tax cut that eventually will cost the state $1.5 billion.

The rhetorical question: Is it right for Engler to pay for a big tax cut for rich property owners by slashing away the safety net that has kept many of the poor off the streets?

We deserve a discussion.

Democrats owe their state a clearer and more focused critique of the Engler spending plan. And Engler owes us an explanation of what he truly intends — and why — in the next few years.

Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His column will appear periodically.

Public prayer is criticized

To the editor:

One of the sacred principles of Americanism — separation of church and state — is being violated with persistence and regularity in Westland by the present city administration. Not only is this practice a violation of the U.S. Constitution, but the people who may not necessarily subscribe or support organized religion are having their tax dollars used, without their knowledge, for purposes which do not benefit them.

Recently, I called the number indicated in the paper to express interest in the "Prayer Breakfast" which would initiate the 25th anniversary celebration for the city. The phone was answered by a clerical worker in the city clerk's office. I would call this a clear violation of the principle of separation.

Moreover, on joining the Friendship Center for senior citizens, the noon meal is begun with a prayer — not a silent prayer, but one given at the microphone by one of the group. Prayer in a city-owned building, and this with the full approval and support of the director of the center. "Tradition," was her answer.

Let me emphasize that I am not against prayer. What I'm against most emphatically is prayer in public buildings — the actual sponsorship of religion by congress, state government or municipal government. One need not make a public show of religiosity.

It may be politically expedient for those in a position of public trust to wink at these and other practices which violate the spirit and letter of the constitution, but I, for one, will not sit by without voicing my opinion.

Loss of carts irks reader

To the editor:

For years when I go shopping at Kmarts, I see shopping carts one to two miles away from their stores. In the summer of 1990 I went to the city hall in Westland to see if action could be taken to make them keep their carts in the parking lot. Insurance doesn't cover those carts, so when you and I shop there we pay for those carts.

The lady at City Hall said that the shopping carts was a small potatoes issue. I took some of the carts back to the store and told the manager that I was not going to shop there again. Those shopping carts cost about $100 each.

At one time I saw a lot of those small potatoes laying in the ditches in Westland. In Plymouth where I go to Vic Tanny's at Haggerty and Ann Arbor Road on Jan. 4, I saw two ladies push a Kmart cart into the nearby Manufacturers National Bank parking lot after they took out two packages. That was Friday 9 a.m.

On Jan. 7 the cart was still in the bank parking lot from Kmart. After my workout I went over to Kmart and handed a letter telling the manager where the shopping cart was at and that I had no intentions of shopping there. Then when I went to the club on Tuesday, Jan. 15, I saw that same cart still in the bank parking lot.

After I told them about that shopping cart they still left it there. When I went to Orlando, Fla., last November, I found out that they won't let shopping carts out of the parking lots.

The man said to me, "We don't let carts out of the store because they cost $100."

If Kmart doesn't care about us, then let's tell them adios. If you people feel as I do, speak up.

Dear John: Think again about arts cuts

Judith Doner Berne

LISTEN UP, JOHN.

Now may be the time to cut government spending, but not to sell out the arts. In your bid to do away with spending you don't feel contributes directly to bringing business to Michigan, you obviously have ignored the growing draw of cultural activities.

In "Megatrends 2000: 10 New Directions for the 1990's" authors John Naisbitt and Patricia Aburdene predict: "Sometime in the millennial 1990's, the arts will replace sports as society's dominant leisure activity."

They cite these statistics:

- Since 1965 American museum attendance has increased from 200 million to 500 million annually.
- Membership in the leading chamber music association grew from 20 ensembles in 1979 to 578 in 1989.
- Since 1970, U.S. opera audience has nearly tripled.

Those trends are backed up in our part of Oakland and western Wayne counties: The suburban communities covered by our newspapers have active symphony orchestras, cultural and arts councils, community theater and museums.

JUST SINCE THE first of the year, special arts events have drawn thousands.

New Year's Eve, more than 8,000 people of all ages attended First Night/Birmingham — a celebration of the arts.

On Jan. 13 nearly 1,000 youngsters watched a Michigan Opera Theater performance of the opera "Little Red Riding Hood" at Temple Beth El in Bloomfield Township.

On Jan. 18 more than 280 people were in the audience for the Michigan Opera Theater's current "road show" sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission.

Friday's Livonia Symphony Orchestra's "Music Internationale" concert drew more than 200 people.

All events, in order to keep ticket prices low enough to attract a broad audience, are dependent to some extent on public or private grants.

YOU, JOHN, apparently want to stem that trend. As part of your push toward less government, you have frozen current arts funding and proposed stripping the ability of the Michigan Council for the Arts to endow programs.

As a result, the Southfield Symphony Orchestra might not play out its season because it hasn't received the $9,900 arts council grant it was promised.

And your freeze leaves Hedy Blatt, Troy Schools arts coordinator, wondering where she'll get $8,400 to cover costs of a dance troupe that visited the district last fall.

It may be possible for individuals and corporations to take up some of the slack of future state government arts funding cuts. But to stop funds already promised and to reduce the arts council to an advocacy group go too far.

Hard to believe it was just last month that we celebrated the Governor's Arts Awards at a gala, black-tie affair at Detroit's Clubland. It was one of defeated Gov. Jim Blanchard's last public appearances.

At that time, a statement from the governor-elect's office indicated you were interested in participating in the annual event.

That, of course, was before the Governor's Arts Awards became an oxymoron.

Schools can't operate with 2 governing bodies

QUESTION: I recently read that parents in the Chicago School District now have the right to hire or fire their school principal. As a principal I believe in parental involvement, but where is the line drawn?

Doc Doyle

ANSWER:

This Chicago parent group has come a long way from the spring P.T.O. cake sale/parents groups.

Frankly, we have a parent representative group in every school district now. It is call a board of education, citizens who were elected to represent their interest.

The Chicago plan you refer to resulted out of desperation by parents who perceive their educational program as a disaster.

The Chicago plan, sets up an 11 person local council for each building in the district. Six of the 11 members are parents, therefore a majority.

This local school-centered group has the power to approve the building budget in their child's school, any instructional improvement plan, and yes, the right to hire and fire the principal!

Most school districts encourage parental input and see it as healthy. But there exists sufficient national research that says educators, including the boards of education, draw the line in permitting parents to run the school district.

Al Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, says (of the Chicago Plan), "Teachers need much less interference from the outside, not more . . . they need a stable environment to innovate, take risks without fear from the outside."

Should the Observer & Eccentric set up a citizen committee to determine what is appropriate to write about and how to word it? Do local hospitals form a committee for final input before operating and letting the citizens group make the final decision. Hardly!

ON THE OTHER hand, I have worked in two major school districts which formed both local school building and a district wide parent advisory councils. From my experience, the parent advisory committees were an asset.

We received many excellent suggestions, some of which kept central office people from shooting ourselves in the foot.

Therefore advisory committees, parent or otherwise, which "empower" those other than the administration can be positive and an asset to a school district.

My position, however, is that if we are going to get into what educators now call sharing power (empowerment), this process should first begin at the building level between the building principal and his/her teachers. They are the professionals.

This does not negate having a building parent advisory committee which addressed concerns parents have at the building or district level.

However, there is one standard rule for forming parent advisory committees. That rule is that the district better be ready to listen and act on those issues in which the parents are legitimately correct. It would be better never to form a parent advisory committee if it is to be a token gesture or public relations arm off the building principal or central office.

Indeed, having been the chairperson of a district wide parent advisory committee, I experienced the anger and frustration many parents had for not having had a voice.

ONCE THE GROUP finds out you will get them an answer and not a song and dance routine, they settle down and become a valuable asset to the over-all operation.

Chicago is a slightly different story. More than 3,000 parents were sworn in last year as local building parent council members with the right to hire and fire the principal.

This was the result of a tremendous outpouring of anger by Chicago's parents toward what they perceive as a very poor educational system.

Presently, the teachers unions, local administration organizations and most likely several board of education members have succeeded in putting the "Chicago Plan" on hold. These professional organizations take the position that the parent councils were elected unconstitutionally.

The issue is now in the Illinois Supreme Court. I believe the Supreme Court will judge the councils unconstitutional.

Why? Because the Chicago School System can't operate with two decision making bodies. It either has to be the administration and the board of education or a citizen's group. It can't be both!

Schools of choice: Alike as apples, oranges?

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Choice implies diversity and, when it comes to schools of choice, diversity is rampant.

Ask any proponent — or opponent — to define what schools of choice means, and you're likely to come up with many, varied responses.

For some, choice means magnet schools for the gifted and talented — on the order of Detroit's Cass Tech or New York's famous High School for the Performing Arts.

For others, choice means special programs for students who are barely scraping by.

Some see schools of choice as a way to bring urban and suburban students together, or, at the very least, help equalize education among rich and poor school public districts.

Others, however, fear choice will prompt segregation, not only by race but by economic background. Some also see choice as just another attempt for a voucher system, giving tax credits to parents who send their children to private schools.

If there's one thing supporters and detractors agree upon, however, it is that choice means nothing without objectives.

"THE QUESTION is what do you want to do?," said Mike Boulus of the Middle Cities Education Association. "If you're simply moving kids around, that's not choice."

Many local school districts have already been implementing innovative programs that would fit under the schools of choice banner.

Bloomfield Hills has recently implemented a model high school classroom, giving students freedom to help create their own study plan.

Plymouth-Canton Schools is exploring team teaching for select middle school students and also considering creating a "school within a school" for some academic disciplines.

In Oakland County, plans are underway for a countywide magnet high school for mathematics and science students.

Such efforts are cheered by Donn Shelton of the Metropolitan Affairs Corp., a research agency financed by area corporations and unions.

"Public education is about the last institution doing things essentially the way they were done a half century ago," said Shelton.

Choice would give parents and students greater input into education, Shelton said. Demand alone would determine which school programs were successful and which weren't.

At the same time, Shelton notes — not without irony — that schools of choice is more enthusiastically promoted by parents, government officials and business leaders than by educators themselves.

"The system is very defensive," he said.

A spokesman for the state's largest teachers union, however, said teachers aren't opposed to the concept, but they are cautious.

"At this point, we don't support cross-district programs (sending students from one public school district to special programs in another)," said Allan Short, director of governmental affairs for the Michigan Education Association. "We think it should be implemented within districts first."

Equality, Short said, should be the watchword.

"ONE OF the things you have to have is fair treatment of all the parents," he said.

At the same time, the MEA "strongly opposes" a voucher system.

"That's not going to help at all," Short said.

Who participates in schools of choice programs — and who doesn't — is a major concern for even the staunchest supporters of the concept.

"Certainly, you can't have segregation," said Boulus, whose group includes the Plymouth-Canton and Southfield districts, as well as near two dozen other suburban, urban and rural districts throughout the state.

Though the group initially opposed choice, Boulas said he'll soon ask member districts whether they are interested in reconsidering that position.

Gov. John Engler and the Michigan Board of Education have embraced schools of choice, but board members say they're moving cautiously.

"We're supportive, but you can't rush into something with no knowledge or a base of experience," said state board member Dorothy Beardmore of Rochester Hills.

The board has approved "incentive funds" to create test programs in individual school districts.

While the test programs are expected focus on transportation, counseling and racial balance, they're also expected to focus on athletic recruiting.

"That's a big problem in Minnesota, especially for hockey," Beardmore said.

Legislation empowering local districts to create schools of choice programs is expected to be reintroduced in the state Senate.

While cross-district choice remains an option, it's still uncertain how schools of choice would be ultimately implemented in Michigan.

Programs in other states, however, offer some clues.

Minnesota's open enrollment plan, allowing students to attend any public school in the state, has already been widely discussed among Michigan government officials and educators.

The Minnesota plan allows school choice based upon available space, both within the district and school building. The plan prevents students from being accepted or rejected on the basis of behavior and grades but allows district to set individual guidelines.

State aid of up to $3,600 transfers with each student.

At that, it's uncertain, whether the plan will prove effective. Less than one tenth of 1 percent of all students eligible to change schools actually did in 1987-88, the program's first year of operation.

"One positive thing that has come out of the Minnesota plan is that school districts have become more attuned to the needs of their students and parents," Beardmore said. "But it's not all about quality education."

In Michigan, Beardmore said, state board of education members decide up to 100 property transfer cases a year — allowing children from one school district to attend school in a bordering district.

"Not once, in all those cases have I heard anything about academics," she said. "It's about societal things — where mom or dad works, where the baby sitter lives and, in some cases, one school district having a pool while another one doesn't."

Other states, however, have implemented programs widely different from Minnesota's open enrollment model, according to information compiled by the Denver-based Education Committee of the States and by the New Jersey Department of Education.

State and regional schools for gifted have been established in several southern states, including North Carolina and Virginia. Boulas, at least, thinks something similar could happen here.

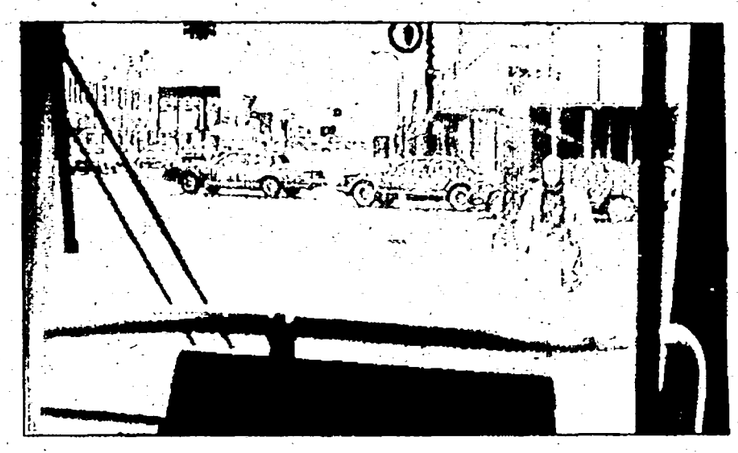
For Kathryn Wood of Garden City and her two children — Eric, 5, and Heather, 2 — the view from the SMART bus window includes a passenger shivering in the cold at an open air bus stop. At another stop, there's only a discarded bottle waiting for a ride.

Finding adventure at $1.75



By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

In order to ride a bus, one must first catch a bus. That doesn't mean holding a baseball mitt and crouching in the middle of the road.

But it might help.

At 9:16 a.m., the SMART bus en route to Detroit via Ford Road is indeed on time this sub-zero morning.

Only problem is the driver doesn't take the time to stop. Instead, he just wheels off down Ford Road, leaving a reporter and a photographer stranded, ankle deep in roadside slush.

Thus we learn before one can ride a bus, one has to catch the bus and, apparently, miss the bus as well. This makes us smart, we figure.

An hour later, another SMART bus in white and orange trim skids to a stop near the corner of Wayne and Ford roads. We board.

For $1.75, one is treated to a one-way ride from the suburbs to the big city. For another $1.75, they even bring you back.

On the snow-driven path is a kaleidoscope of images. The coach weaves a trail through the well-heeled areas of Dearborn to the decaying enclaves of Detroit.

THEN THERE are the people this bus collects and deposits along the way.

By this time in the morning the commuters have already arrived at their jobs. The few passengers on this ride are going shopping or visiting friends and relatives.

Some are like Kathryn Wood of Garden City. She has a car, but still rides the bus once a month.

"Where else can you go for a dollar?" Wood said. "It's cheap entertainment."

On this day, she's headed to Fairlane Town Center to do some birthday shopping for her husband. She's accompanied by her two children — Eric, 5, and Heather, 2.

For others like one woman bundled up snugly in a blue coat, scarf and knit hat, the bus is a lifeline to the outside world. She dearly clutches a Taco Bell hat while ringing the bell for her stop.

Her eyes nervously peer over the scarf covering most of her face. She is "handicapped . . . but I'm very willing to learn," she said.

As the driver opens the door to let her out, she continues to talk. A cold chill invades the coach.

THE REV OF the diesel engine and the constant rattle of the plastic interior interrupts the solitude of what otherwise is a very scenic journey.

The bus veers off Ford Road onto the winding path of Outer Drive and through a placid residential area. The driver makes a left turn onto Michigan Avenue, where storefronts for the sophisticated dot the walkway.

Fairlane Town Center signals a halfway point in the ride.

"Where are you going, Ma'am?" the bus driver asked an elderly woman about to board.

"Michigan."

"Michigan and what, Ma'am?"

"West Dearborn."

Wrong bus. She is told to wait for the westbound Michigan Avenue express.

Stacks from the Ford Rouge Plant belch smoke on the horizon as the bus turns back onto eastbound Michigan Avenue. Once past Wyoming Avenue, we penetrate the invisible wall that separates city from suburbs, black from white, prosperity from poverty.

Except this is a part of Detroit "Prime Time Live" forgot to visit. This stretch of Michigan Avenue appears vibrant. People young and old walk the street. There are several small businesses and restaurants — each different — something apparently lost in the strip mall mentality of the suburbs.

ONCE ACROSS Livernois Avenue, the cavities of urban life begin to surface. People huddle in doorways of abandoned buildings, escaping the cold while waiting for buses.

Burned-out houses and boarded-up buildings blend together after a while. The extent of the decay doesn't hit home until the bus passes a street where a vacant church has all its windows broken out. Even God is not averse to urban blight.

Once past the Cadillac Plant, from an elevated view from the overpass of I-96 the city is laid out. Detroit with all its bruises, cuts and scars still stands tall.

The ghostly state of the since shutdown Grand Central Station makes one close one's eyes and imagine bustling times in the 1930-40s when trains were the major mode of long distance travel.

Tiger Stadium with its light towers piercing the blue sky becomes even more majestic, forever treasured as a temple of childhood dreams.

Finally, the bus pulls up in front the Renaissance Center, a symbol of optimism in an area forever plagued by pessimism.

The trip back is much the same, except some passengers are venturing into the foreign area of the suburbs. Some are just plain foreign.

"ARE YOU interested in a story about a singer?" asked a stubble-faced man sitting in the front of the bus.

His name is Charles and he's from Windsor. The singer is him.

Every holiday he sings Christmas carols at the Windsor Market, he said.

"But that's not my specialty," he said. "My specialty is TV show theme songs."

Charles' singing repertoire consists of 200 numbers from TV programs, including "Green Acres," "The Brady Bunch" and "Punky Brewster."

He was asked if he knows the words to the song from "M*A*S*H*." Of course, he answered the inquiry, with a incredulous look one would expect from Alan Trammell if asked if he could swing a baseball bat.

Today, though, Charles is shopping. On his list: Tripledge wiper blades ("They're a gift for a neighbor") and, wallet willing, a low-cost shaver.

This is no easy task, however. On this frigid day, Charles rode his bike to the Windsor Tunnel and caught the tunnel bus, which dropped him off at Woodward and Fort. He walked over to Michigan Avenue to catch another bus going to Dearborn.

His mass transit odyssey hardly ends there. He'll catch the Greenfield bus headed north to Northland Center, he said. From there, he might even ride another one to Oakland Mall before heading back home.

THE REASON to cross international waters and endure all this?

"Better products; better prices."

Charles passes the time conversing with other passengers or the driver. A loud bang provides a perfect introduction for small talk with the guy at the wheel.

"You really hit something that time, driver," Charles said. "I hope you didn't hurt your tire."

The driver doesn't say anything. Instead, he just motors along on a path many times traveled.

Carvan Hawthorne said there's nothing in particular he likes about this route.

"I'm just doing my job," he said.

Even on a cold winter's day, a glimpse of the old ballpark is enough to conjure up warm thoughts about summer and, maybe, a championship season.

Printing reveals woman with eye for aesthetics

Lorene Green

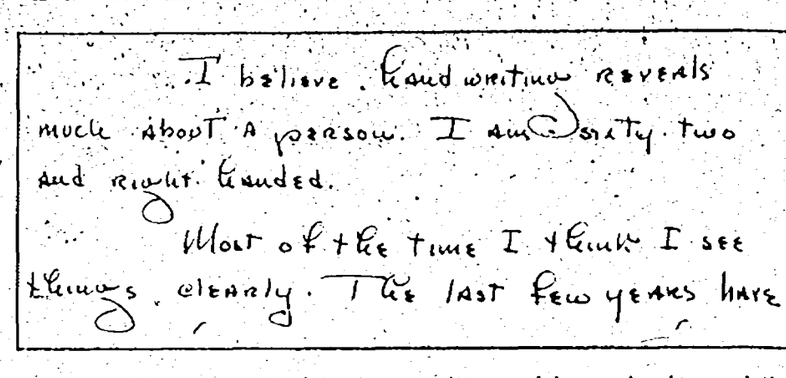
Dear Lorene,
I believe handwriting reveals much about a person. I am 62 and right-handed.

Most of the time I think I see things clearly. The last few years have made me feel I am deceiving myself.

Too many have told me I think my way is always the right way. Yet, I would be the first to admit I have much to learn.

Thank you for any help.

V.B.,
Novi



Dear V.B.,
I have selected your letter for today's column for two reasons. My first reason is to help yourself as others probably do. And my second reason is that it is printing, not writing. I do not often receive printed letters. Although the research on printing is somewhat limited, I would like to analyze it for you. In return, I am hoping you will give me objective feedback for my learning purposes.

If this printed sample is characteristic of what you do most of the time, it strongly suggests a woman with an innate eye for aesthetics. There is also a sensuous quality here, telling me you have a keen awareness for the things that appeal to your senses. Interest, even talent in the arts, seems like a definite possibility.

My next observation is that I am analyzing a woman with highly developed intelligence. Your mind is both curious and analytical.

Seemingly, you are a dominant woman, with a strong need to control both yourself and others. Self-interested, you often act according to your personal desires. Your actions may be calculated and manipulative toward this end.

We are each unique and the result of our past experiences. Close interpersonal relationships may not be easy for you to form. Some lack of trust has you placing distance between yourself and others. You may even be somewhat lonely, although you might be reluctant to admit this, even to yourself.

A well developed imagination is at work here. An interest in material considerations appears to be well developed also.

It is interesting to note that your letter is printed, your signature is written and larger in size, and the envelope carries a third style. People who have several different styles are often quite versatile. An additional dimension suggests shifting moods.

Seemingly, you would like other people to see you more friendly and sohpisticated than you may inwardly feel.

If you would life your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, Handedness and signature are all helpful. And constructive feedback is always welcome.

Loss of money displaces homemakers programs

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

Women across the state who have been working their way back into the job force, have been stopped in their tracks with the breaking of Displaced Homemaker contracts as part of Gov. John Engler's budget cuts.

"We were cost effective; we did a good job," said Pat Curran, director of Office of Women and Work which administrated the Displaced Homemaker program and who will be closing the doors and turning in the keys within the next few weeks.

"We've placed close to 1,000 women who went through the program," said Mary Ellen Stack of Jewish Vocational Service in Southfield. "These women are earning many times the amount of the grant our agency received from the state."

The exact amount, according to Nancy Swanborg, executive director of Schoolcraft Community College's Women's Resource Center, amounts to a 34 percent return on the state's investment.

"Over the past four years, clients who completed the program have earned more than $4 million in taxable income," she said. "The state invested $116,000 in that four-year period which is a yield of 34.1 percent, and that is just here.

"We are only one of 11 sites in the state that offer the program."

'Over the past four years, clients who completed the program have earned more than $4 million in taxable income. The state invested $116,000 in that four-year period . . .'

— Nancy Swanborg
Women's Resource Center

"THE FIGURES she has are correct and they are also typical of every one of the 11 sites in the state," said Curran, who has directed the Office of Women and Work since its inception in 1978. The office also is the only place in the state working women can turn to if they are having a problem about their rights.

"I feel terrible about this," said Dr. Radwan Currkhoury, who last week had to tell 20 women at the Arab Chaldean Center in Lathrup Village that the Displaced Homemaker program has been dropped.

"We are very disapointed," Stack said. "The program has been an investment in the workers as well as for employers who need experienced, well trained help."

"I am infuriated over the closing of the office (of Women and Work)," said Mary White, executive director of Womencenter on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College. "Not only has Pat Curren done an excellent job with the displaced homemakers, she is our one-woman information network who keeps all of us informed on current legislation, funding, grants.

"And she is a strong spokeswoman for women's rights. Any question on working women we had here has always been answered immediately for us."

"I've had questions come to this office on employee rights, civil rights, rights for pregnant women, and I can say without hesitation I am absolutely assured that 100 percent of those problems were responded to immediately by that office," Swanborg added.

AS FOR THE dismantling of the Disceplaced Homemaker program, Swanborg called it "penny wise and pound foolish."

Speaking for Michigan Older Women's League, Virginia Nicoll called it "financially short sighted."

Along with OWL, groups protesting the end of the Displaced Homemaker program are Zonta, a Livonia-based philanthropic organization, and several local chapters of American Association of University Women and Business and Professional Women.

Swanborg also has received letters of protest from women who have gone through the program and employers who have hired them.

A displaced homemaker is a woman who is widowed, divorced or separated, is married to a totally disabled man, is primarily a homemaker for 10 years or more, or lacks adequate skills to secure gainful, full-time employment.

The Displaced Homemaker progam provided help in evaluating and redefining the women's skills in contemporary terms. It also helped women gain confidence for the job search, develop realistic goals, find a job, and, through economic independence, develop a sense of self-worth.

IN A LETTER to Gov. Engler, Nicoll said "the move shows a calloused disregard for the welfare of homemakers who have been cast adrift financially after years of caring for their families."

"Last year 35 graduates of the program at Schoolcraft College reentered the paid labor force at an average wage of $6.60 per hour," she said. "Together, they earned almost $4500,000 in taxable income on an investment by the state of $29,000. They remained off the welfare and Medicaid rolls at a substantial saving to the state."

The Office of Women and Work had two separate components. One dealt with administration of the Displaced Homemaker program. It was closed Jan. 22, nine days before local agencies were notified that it would be closed Jan. 31.

The other compomemt was disbursement of information and research of working women's issues.

Curran said one morning late last week her office answered questions about women who held non-traditional jobs; handled a sex harrassment complaint; figured out for a divorce lawyer just how much a wife is worth; and told a woman what her rights were in an argument with her boss who threatened to fire her because she was pregnant.

Their music has a powerful message

By Julie Brown
staff writer

EVERY MUSICAL group needs a name, and Gail Carson decided to go with Gail Carson and The Key of G.

That "G" stands for God rather than Gail. She and her fellow performers are Christians who believe that music offers a great way to share God's love.

"It has to start from within," said Carson, a 28-year-old Plymouth resident. "I think our niche is to encourage Christians to spread the word and not be stagnant in their faith."

The musicians recently recorded their first album on tape, "Take a Little Step." Carson, singer and songwriter for The Key of G, also plays the keyboard and acoustic guitar.

Rick Zerndt, 34, of Garden City plays the classic and electric guitar and did some background vocals. Jeff Lightfoot, 30, of Livonia is the group's bassist.

THEIR BAND was formed about nine months ago. Carson's husband and Lightfoot have been friends for years.

"I've been writing songs since I was 13," said Carson, a 1980 Plymouth Salem High School graduate. She came up with some new songs and asked Lightfoot to help her.

"Gail would write some songs and I would put bass parts to them," Lightfoot said. He and Carson met Rick Zerndt through a network of Christian musicians.

"When I came over and heard Gail's tape, I was pretty impressed with what she was doing so I joined on," Zerndt said.

"It is new to me. This wasn't my original intention. I wanted to play in a rock band originally," said Zerndt, who grew up in Garden City and graduated from West High School in 1974.

Zerndt recently earned a bachelor's degree in music performance from Madonna College in Livonia. He teaches music lessons at several area stores.

Lightfoot works as an assistant drugstore manager. He grew up in Livonia, graduated from Churchill High School in 1978 and earned an associate's degree in marketing from Schoolcraft College.

CARSON, WHO studied music for two years at Eastern Michigan University, also has other commitments to keep her busy. She and her husband have two children ages 4 and 2. Finding the time to rehearse can be tough.

"Definitely, because we all have different schedules," she said. "The love of the music keeps us together."

The musicians rehearse at Carson's home in Plymouth. They recorded "Take a Little Step" at the Unity Productions studio in Plymouth. Unity's Dicky Lee, a Plymouth resident, co-produced The Key of G tape.

Members of The Key of G have performed at Christian coffeehouses. Their performing schedule has taken them to churches, outdoor festivals and other get-togethers.

"Christian music doesn't have to be boring," Carson said. "I don't think there's anything wrong with rock music. I think the message is in the lyrics."

She's not impressed with the music and message of some rock performers.

"It's giving teenagers a bad role model. The role models are just horrendous," Carson said.

They've found that people have liked what they've heard on "Take a Little Step."

"The vehicle that you use to get God's message across isn't the most important thing," Lightfoot said. The message is what matters.

THEY'RE NOW concentrating on reaching out to churches and plan to perform throughout the area. Band members are scheduled to perform Sunday, Feb. 10, at a concert at Northville's Masonic Temple. (See related story.)

"Our next step is the radio stations," she said. Musicians hope to have the tape played, particularly on Christian radio stations in the area.

They're also seeking a record contract and would like to tour with a big-name Christian band as the opening act, possibly for the summer of 1992.

They're a little more than halfway through writing their second tape, but haven't started recording yet. Generally, Carson writes the lyrics and basic music.

"She gives us a framework," Lightfoot said. Carson will sing a song and play the chords on a guitar or piano. The arrangement often changes and songs evolve during rehearsals.

Carson relies on the Bible for ideas on lyrics. She thinks about how she dealt with everyday problems. It's not uncommon for inspiration to come at 2 a.m. or thereabouts.

"I won't be able to sleep until I finish it," she said.

"Do the Right Thing," one of their songs, has more of a rock music sound, Zerndt said.

"Originally, all the songs we did had a folk sound." As they performed, the musicians realized they needed to take a different approach on some songs.

The musicians come from different denominations. Zerndt worships at St. Richard's Catholic Church in Westland. Carson worships and sings in the choir at Calvary Baptist Church in Canton.

"We have a lot of open discussions about it," she said. They don't let denominational differences stand in the way of their message, however.

The performers wrote and recorded the "Take a Little Step" songs prior to the outbreak of war in the Middle East. Nevertheless, they're glad to be able to send an uplifting message to listeners.

"The message in the songs is timeless, really, whether we're at war or at peace," Zerndt said.

Concert to feature gospel performers

An evening of contemporary gospel music will be presented Sunday, Feb. 10, at the Northville Masonic Temple, 106 E. Main.

The concert is scheduled 7-9 p.m., and doors will open 6:30 p.m. The Unity Productions concert will highlight the talents of The Reason and of another local Christian group, Gail Carson and The Key of G.

Ticket prices are $5 in advance, $6 at the door. Admission price for children ages 2-12 is $2.50.

Larry Cunningham of Plymouth is one member of The Reason. Cunningham, 37, works in engineering at General Motors. He did some percussion work and a little background keyboard work on "Take a Little Step," a cassette recently recorded by The Key of G.

CUNNINGHAM'S BEEN involved in Christian music for about a year. He and his wife have a daughter, 11, and a son, 1.

"The message is the most important thing. It's getting out the message using our contemporary styles," said Cunningham, who worships at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth.

Cunningham will play with both The Key of G and with The Reason during the upcoming concert.

The Reason was formed about nine months ago by musician Dicky Lee of Plymouth. He and Cunningham performed at the 1990 Plymouth Fall Festival.

They have a tape of their music out, "The Reason." They write, perform and produce original material.

Gary Cooper will also be among the performers at the Northville Masonic Temple concert. Cooper, a Northville resident, played the jazz flute for The Key of G's "Take a Little Step."

Tickets for the Sunday, Feb. 10, concert are available at: The Gitfiddler, 302 E. Main in Northville; Arnoldt Williams Music, 5701 N. Canton Center in Canton; Eden Books, 45184 Ford in Canton; and Giordano Gallery, 426 S. Main in Northville.

The "Take a Little Step" tape is available at those locations. For more information on The Key of G, call 453-8209.

"The Reason" cassette is available at The Gitfiddler in Northville and through Lee's company, Unity Productions. For more information, call 453-2327.

12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.
The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
6. Phone a friend.
7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.

More products, outlets to chart Ziebart's future

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

E.J. Hartmann, chairman of Ziebart International, has presided over an expanding product line and a network of dealers since acquiring controlling interest in the company in 1970. Further growth is anticipated here and abroad.

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Ziebart International can be seen as a classic example of a business that broadened its product line and distribution system rather than stagnate or shrivel when competition heated and the economy cooled.

Now, the privately owned company headquartered in Troy with a manufacturing/warehouse facility in Redford, is poised for explosive growth not only in the United States, but around the world.

"By having a broad range of services, we're not dependent on how well the car is made," said E.J. Hartmann, a Birmingham resident and Ziebart chairman. "We provide a service that adds value or more enjoyment to a car."

Ziebart used to be exclusively a rustproofer and probably still is perceived that way by most people, Hartmann said.

But in mid-1970s, Ziebart purchased Arndt Palmer and started offering paint and fabric protection treatment for vehicles. In the early 1980s, the company began selling accessories like sunroofs, running boards and grill guards.

ZIEBART BOUGHT a rustproofing competitor, Tuff-Kote Dinol, in 1988, and most recently purchased Tidy Car, whose franchises provide an elaborate interior and exterior cleaning service.

"We hope to communicate that Ziebart is more than a rustproofing company," Hartmann said. "We have a broader range of service we're offering, a cleaner image."

All Ziebart and Tidy Car franchises eventually will offer the services provided by the other, Hartmann said. Upwards of half of all dealers are expected to do so by the middle of this year. A successful test marketing was conducted last summer.

"We contemplated keeping them as two separate franchises, but as we looked at it, we saw more potential combined," he said. "Ziebart needed further diversification. Tidy Car needed diversification even more."

Convenience for customers, one-stop shopping, is a drawing card.

BUYERS OF new cars most likely would use the rustproofing and decal/accessory part of the business. Professionals like lawyers, sales people and doctors are likely candidates for the car care line.

Randy Oliver converted Tuff-Kote Dinol franchises in Livonia and Wodhaven to Ziebart about a year and a half ago.

"I think it (car cleaning) is a good area for us to expand into," he said. "I think it complements the first part of the business (rustproofing), making the car last longer. When it lasts longer, it needs to be cleaned."

Hartmann, 61, acquired controlling interest in Ziebart from a group of owners in 1970. He had come aboard as a vice president in charge of administration the previous year and was impressed with growth potential.

"I found out after I was hired that the principal owner was interested in selling," Hartmann said. "I made presentations to interested parties. I found that if I wasn't successful, I would be out looking for a job again."

SO HE bought the company.

There were 150 franchises in the United States when Hartmann acquired Ziebart. Now, there are some 380 franchises and 20 company-owned dealerships. Tidy Car had about 100 franchises in the United States and another 100 in Europe and Canada when acquired by Ziebart, he said.

The goal is another 400 combined Ziebart/Tidy Car franchises in the United States during the 1990s. The Southwest and Pacific Northwest will be especially targeted.

Potential also exists for advances in foreign markets, especially in Europe, and expansion of markets in the Far East.

For example, a Ziebart franchise in Jakarta, Indonesia, averages 500

Will diesel get another look?

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

> 'I could put you inside a car with a diesel engine today and you wouldn't know it.'

> Lucas Automotive

Diesel.

The word conjures images of sluggish, noisy and unreliable engines. But as far as today's diesel engines are concerned, nothing could be further from the truth.

In fact, if auto manufacturers are to succeed in meeting ever-restricting emission standards, brought on by the increased environmental awareness, the once-maligned diesel engine may be a best bet for the 1990s.

Maurice Wing, operations manager for diesel systems of Troy's Lucas Automotive Inc., said advances in the diesel engine and changes in the diesel industry and the world are so pronounced that the 1990s may well be the decade of the diesel.

Lucas Automotive, in addition to manufacturing conventional automotive parts, makes diesel fuel injection pumps.

Methanol, electricity, natural gas, solar powered, hydrogen and ethanol — cars powered by these alternative fuel sources have received the lion's share of attention even though there may be a better, proven alternative right under our very noses.

The diesel engine.

Although automotive research and development has focused almost exclusively on the gasoline engine for the last 100 years, the diesel engine has made great strides since the last energy crisis in the mid 1970s, Wing said.

ENGINE NOISE, sluggishness, reliability — all problems when automobile manufacturers first began touting the diesel engine — have been largely resolved, Wing said.

"I could put you inside a car with a diesel engine today and you wouldn't know it," Wing said.

Significant research on direct injection diesel engines — in which fuel is burned inside the cylinder instead of in a separate chamber — has significantly improved the performance of diesels, Wing said.

Two spring fuel injectors, which introduce fuel in two stages, and turbo-charged engines also offer hope for higher-performance diesel engines.

"You haven't heard about the major players doing a lot of research, but their European counterparts are," Wing said.

In the 1970s, he said, diesel engines were rushed onto the market before they were ready for widespread auto use. "Before the product, before the market, before the oil companies — no one was ready for the diesel.

"(And) that's unfortunate, because (the industry) is going to have to sell (the idea) of the diesel all over again."

JAMES BRITTON, director of services for the Association of Diesel Specialists, said that while diesel engines have several advantages over the conventional gasoline engine, the price of diesel fuel — which can range anywhere from 20 to 50 cents above the price of gasoline — will prevent its widespread use.

The initial purchase cost of a diesel engine — generally $2,000 to $4,000 more — is also an obstacle to wider use of the diesel.

"I'm a confirmed diesel addict myself, but (in light of these two points) even I'm hard pressed to purchase a diesel.

"There is growth in the North American diesel industry, but most of it's coming from offshore buyers," Britton added. Italy, France, Germany and England are all seeing an increase in the use of diesel engines in passenger cars.

But Lucas' Wing said other factors will force the automotive industry to take a second look at the industry. In addition to changes that have improved the reliability of the diesel engine, modern diesels are more efficient and burn cleaner than the gasoline engines.

Conventionally powered gasoline engine cars will have a difficult time meeting the corporate average fuel economy (CAFE) ratings currently under review by the government, he said. Under proposed (but not adopted) requirements, some cars would be required to exceed 50 miles per gallon.

Modern diesel engines are more fuel efficient, burning 25 to 30 percent less fuel than conventional engines, Wing said.

In the United States, where gasoline has been consistently cheaper than diesel fuel, this hasn't been as great a concern. But in Europe, where the two fuels are comparably priced (between $3.75 and $4 per gallon) that 25 to 30 percent is substantial, Wing said.

"We will be seeing, in the future, a significant penetration by diesel engines in the (passenger car) market — more in Europe at first, but the United States will follow," he said.

DIESEL-POWERED cars already comprise 25 percent of the automobile market in Europe, he said. In the United States market, the diesel engine has captured less than 1 percent.

Another accelerating factor in the acceptance of the diesel engine is a growing consumer awareness of the environment brought on by acid rain, global warming and ozone depletion, Wing said.

Automobile manufacturers can expect increasingly strict auto emission standards — standards today's gasoline powered cars are already hard pressed to meet, Wing said.

Similar standards designed to upgrade European air quality have also been enacted.

The diesel, Wings said, is inherently cleaner than its gasoline counterparts and does not require the expensive catalytic systems to remove pollutants.

Today's diesel engines, he added, would fare quite well against ever-restrictive emission standards that conventional gasoline engines struggle to meet.

"What you have to remember is that it's not what you see that is necessarily harmful to the environment," Wing said.

CARBON DIOXIDE and carbon monoxide emissions from a diesel engine are 30 percent less than those of a similarly sized gasoline engine fitted with a catalytic converter, he said.

Britton, of the association of diesel specialists, said emissions and minimum mileage requirement regulations may not be enough to spur a significant increase in the use of diesels.

Automobile manufacturers will resist stricter regulations — and in fact, several cars already exceed 50 miles per gallon — and technological advancements may help the dirtier gasoline engines.

There will continue to be a market for diesel trucks. Ford, General Motors and Chrysler all offer full-sized, diesel-powered trucks.

But to convince the mainstream public to take a real look at the diesels, fuel prices are going to have to come down, he said. Diesel fuel prices are typically higher because of federal taxes — which are higher than gasoline taxes — and higher refining costs.

MORTGAGE REFINANCING... A BRILLIANT DEDUCTION

Comerica

Chances are you've heard consumer loan interest is no longer deductible. Well, with the Comerica Mortgage refinancing plans of your choice, it still could be.

Mortgage refinancing means you can use the equity in your home to pay off your consumer loans. And this means you can convert consumer loan interest to mortgage interest and deduct it from your income tax.

What's more, when you refinance your high interest, adjustable or fixed rate mortgage, you may end up with a shorter term mortgage — with a lower interest rate and a smaller payment — than you now have. You even may be able to finance your closing costs.

Refinancing to pay off high interest loans just may be the smartest move you could make. Especially now, when mortgage rates are at an all-time low.

To learn about our refinancing options, call your nearest Comerica office, shown below. As one of Michigan's leading mortgage lenders, we not only offer competitive rates and fees. We also make ourselves available to meet at a time and place most convenient for you. And we promise to ignite your interest in mortgage refinancing. Brilliantly, of course.

Dan McCosh

Theoretically, the crisis in the Gulf is mainly of concern to the Japanese and Europeans, who in normal times get almost all of the oil exports from the Mideast. Meanwhile, we are, too literally, swimming in oil, despite the bombing, embargoes and damage to refineries.

Regardless, I still find myself waking up in the middle of the night wondering if all this is worth it. Whether, in fact, there is some way of maintaining our highly mobile lifestyle with some degree of energy independence.

It's occurred to me that we've been caught up on this issue for several decades now, with lots of avenues explored, none very far. In the late 1970s, there were hundreds of proposals for so-called "alternate" fuels, engines or automobiles. Most worked, a few worked well, but none worked cheaply.

PARTICUALARLY, none worked as cheaply as a piston engine fueled by oil that dropped in price on the world market with every hiccup in OPEC. Remarkable progress was made in those days in increasing the basic efficiency of the engines, but all eventually ended, restrained by the physical law that decrees that it takes energy to accelerate mass.

Weight and size lured the Japanese and Europeans, with the result that imports — that portion of the fleet that used to represent an almost anacronistic approach to fuel economy — eventually converged with a steadily improving domestic car fleet.

It should be obvious by now that the cost of fuel is never going to do much in the way of changing habits of energy consumption unless, of course, it jumps as horrendously in price as, say, car insurance or interest charges. There seems to be nothing on the immediate horizon that will revolutionize this industry. Rather, we seem to be facing a slow conversion of what had been everyman's dream of personal freedom to a strangled luxury item.

BUT THE curious thing is that we do have the capability to solve some of the problem, a little bit at a time. Some extremely promising technology has come into being in just the past few years. One is the potential of methanol fuel to replace gasoline some of the time.

Methanol, refined from coal or natural gas, is more or less independent from the need to import foreign oil. Its production in large quantities would release substantial amounts of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere, but in many ways it is cleaner-burning than gasoline.

One can, in fact, fuel cars using natural gas, ethanol (grain alcohol) or propane — all more or less available, although considerably more costly than a buck a gallon. That's before you consider the recent interest in electric cars as a means to use the energy of burning coal to get you to work.

At the moment, none of these programs seems likely to succeed without some kind of favoritism or subsidy. Not surprisingly, none is palatable to an auto industry struggling to sell cars that still burn the cheapest fuel of all.

Still, it seems to me that markets could be created, niches filled, and bit by bit we could develop at least some fleets that don't burn the stuff that now flows like blood in the Persian Gulf.

More products in Ziebart's future rustproofings per month while most domestic dealers average 1,000 per year, Hartmann said.

Six franchises had been operating in the Middle East — three in the United Arab Emirates, one each in Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, and Egypt — but none has been heard from since the U.S. launched air attacks Jan. 16, Hartmann said.

ABOUT 50 percent of Ziebart International's business now is rustproofing, the other 50 percent car care, detailing and accessories.

The goal is one-third rustproofing, one-third accessories and one-third car care, Hartmann said.

"We feel that's a good blend of services that can be handled by dealers," Hartmann said. "As well as it is, you don't want to make it too complicated because training and quality control becomes too difficult. We may pick up some products and drop others."

Radiator repair and installation of sliding windows on pick-up trucks were among the services implemented, then dropped by the company.

Decisions to diversify over the years weren't that difficult to make, Hartmann said, adding that more businesses than might immediately come to mind have done so.

"Markets continually change," he said. "McDonald's started out selling hamburgers. Now you can get chicken, salads and sandwiches." Last year, Ziebart International reported dealer sales in the U.S. and Canada of more than $100 million, plus an additional $50 million in the rest of its foreign markets.

'I Do! I Do!' on light side

By Mark S. Carley

Edgar A. Guest III, Joe Lannen and Nancy Gurwin just completed their umpteenth revival of the Tom Jones/Harvey Schmidt musical "I Do! I Do!" at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield.

The play, produced by Birmingham-based Janus Productions, chronicles the 50-year marriage of Michael and Agnes, a late 19th/early 20th century couple.

The production is lively, light and funny. Songs are well sung and jokes well delivered.

HOWEVER, THE warmth, drama and complexity of the script and characters are ignored, resulting in a sort of junk food theater experience — tasty but empty.

"I Do! I Do!" is one of those small, intimate musicals that tells a story, establishes characters and uses songs to punctuate moods of joy, sadness, humor and bitterness.

Here, however, it comes off as a song and dance revue with snippets of dialogue thrown in.

THE PROBLEM, I suspect, is that this production was intended to provide Nancy Gurwin with a star vehicle rather than render a serious interpretation of the play.

The playbill describes Gurwin as "Detroit's first lady of the musical stage."

Gurwin is unarguably a talented performer. She can belt out a song with the best of them, and her comic timing is keen.

At her best she is a combination of Ethel Merman and Carol Burnett, with a little Lucille Ball thrown in.

Here, however, these qualities simply overwhelm the material, leaving the audience wondering what the point was.

THE MUSIC of "I Do! I Do!" while pleasant is not powerful enough to stand on its own. Most of the songs are catchy, but few are memorable.

The notable exceptions include "My Cup Runneth Over," a lovely duet in which the husband and wife express their mutual gratitude; "Where Are the Snows?" which finds the once-active couple too tired to go out on New Year's Eve; and "The Father of the Bride," in which Michael (Lannen) laments that "my daughter is marrying an idiot."

Lannen is likeable and engaging on this song and throughout the show. He manages to play a fairly pompous and overbearing character without losing the charm that attracted Agnes (Gurwin) to him in the first place.

Edgar Guest's direction moves the show along at a brisk pace. The best moments are the comic ones, especially those dealing with the trials of parenthood.

Musical accompaniments are handled nicely by Barbara Gowans at the piano and Bruce Ryding on drums. Their enthusiastic playing complements the singers without overpowering them.

The set, a Victorian bedroom with four-poster bed, works well until a door is shut, at which point the rickety walls shake distractingly.

WHILE "I Do! I Do!" is a pleasant, warm little musical, it is not the right medium for a belting vaudeville comedian such as Gurwin.

She also lists "Funny Girl" and "Gypsy" in her extensive resume. These loud, brassy shows would seem to be more the right speed.

Mark S. Carley is active in local community theater, both on stage and behind the scenes. He is a member of the Birmingham Village Players and Ridgedale Players in Troy.

Chicago broadcast museum

$19.95 makes you a Mort Crim clone

By Mike Michaelson
special writer

If you've ever wondered how you'd look and perform behind a news-anchor desk, live out your fantasy at the Museum of Broadcast Communications in Chicago.

You and your favorite co-host can slide into the anchor chairs at the MBC NewsCenter and read the news from the Teleprompter as the newstape rolls.

You'll also introduce the weather man, superstation WGN's Tom Skilling, and read the sports scores, so you can make sure the Cubbies, or your favorite team, win.

You'll feel like a professional newscaster as a floor manager helps you on with a blue blazer bearing the MBC crest, clips on a tiny microphone and positions you on the set.

You get a copy of the script for a quick once-over and instructions about when to break and which camera to look into. Then it's, "Good evening from the MBC NewsCenter. I'm (your name) and these are the top news stories at this hour."

The result is a 15-minute newscast, complete with opening music and credits introducing "Chicago's newest news team." There's corresponding footage of floods and fires, of Mayor Richard M. Daley and Mikhail Gorbachev.

WGN sports announcer Harry Caray yells his trademark "Holy Cow" as you voice-over footage of Ryne Sandberg smacking a home run into the bleachers at Wrigley Field. To close, there is the obligatory humor piece ("Finally, a story about a couple who met and were married at a roller rink."), with a spot for your own ad-libs. The finished product even has actual commercials plugged in.

After the taping, you can critique your TV debut on a screen in the technicians' booth. The helpful technicians are communications students.

If your performance pleases, you can take home on videotape your 15 minutes of fame. Cost is $19.95, with no obligation to buy, although most would-be newscasters do.

Tapings begin at 10 a.m. and occur 20 minutes before each hour thereafter on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Reservations are accepted, and usually necessary.

If you regard a commercial break as a signal to raid the fridge or for some rapid-fire remote channel shuffling, stop by the kiosk that screens 100 of the funniest commercials.

Many are foreign. You'll see dry British humor and continental frankness at work, as well as some of America's best, including regional commercials that may be new to you. Those for Alaska Airlines are especially creative.

Belly laughs usually result from the screening of a British beer commercial featuring an impromptu song-and-dance routine by two staid pub patrons; and from an Eliza Doolittle in reverse, a hilarious attempt to teach a woman with rounded upper-crust tones to speak Cockney.

Unquestionably, this museum of memories, with its displays of vintage radio and television sets and its special exhibits, is great fun. But there is a serious side.

Its mission is to preserve valuable tapes that were being lost and to recognize the many contributions of midwesterners to American broadcasting.

Museum archives house thousands of hours of television and radio tapes, all of which are accessible for research, study, or purely nostalgic entertainment.

There's a user-friendly computer

Here, the venerated ventriloquist is honored with the display of Candy Bergen's "brother" Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd, and Effie Klinker. Another exhibit display pays homage to "Fibber McGee and Molly," the quintessential radio comedy that was broadcast weekly from 1935 to 1960.

Tourists asked to be nice to nature

MICKY JONES

According to the "10 commandments of eco-tourism," travelers should "never touch animals." While that might be hard to resist where cute monkeys are concerned, Big John the alligator in the Okefenokee Swamp Park of Waycross, Ga. shouldn't have a problem.

Betty Hidden-Hengert of Russell's Travel Service in Livonia encourages her clients to follow the "10 commandments of eco-tourism" recommended by the American Society of Travel Agents. ASTA is an international travel trade association representing 21,000 travel agency professionals in 25 countries.

"In the coming decade, tourism will be the world's largest industry, with some half-billion people traveling each year. The resulting environmental, cultural and ethical impacts on destinations will be profound," she said.

"Environmentally stressed areas already suffer from water, air, noise and visual pollution. Endangered plants, animals and habitats demand our attention.

"As fellow passengers on the planet Earth, all travelers share a responsibility of respect for other cultures and concern for the natural resources so that they may be enjoyed by generations to come."

According to Hidden-Hengert, environmentally-aware travelers can prevent much potential damage to Earth by following the "10 commandments."

1. Leave only footprints, take only photographs and memories.

2. Respect the frailty of the environment. Realize that all of us must be willing to help in its preservation.

3. To make vacations more meaningful, take time beforehand to learn the customs, manners and culture of the area. While on a trip, learn more about the area, talk to local people.

4. Respect and support local cultures, religions, traditions, crafts, services, cuisine and the privacy and dignity of residents, especially when taking photographs.

5. Never litter. Carry litter bags with you. Leave your surroundings cleaner than you found them.

6. Do not buy products made from

Environmentalists say growth of tourism threatens planet

(AP) — It's vacation time, 2091 A.D. Your great-grandchildren pack camping gear into their jet car and head for the woods. After skimming miles and miles of highway, they reach the forest.

They park, unpack and enter a sort of futuristic Noah's Ark — a glass-enclosed environment containing what's left of Earth's trees and wildlife.

It's not an unlikely scenario, according to environmentalists concerned about cumulative effects of acid rain, deterioration of the ozone layer and industrial exploitation of the forests.

Additionally, there's concern that current increases in tourism to remote and ecologically fragile areas essential to Earth's overall environment — areas such as the Antarctic, the Amazon and other rain forests, the Galapagos, African wildlife preserves and trails in the Andes and Himalayas — will cause irreversible environmental damage, ultimately on a planet-wide scale.

Ron Naveen, an author of "Wild Ice" (Smithsonian Institution Press, 1990, $29.95), a book about Antarctica, says the future might be brighter if travelers assume responsibility for preserving nature and the environment.

As founder of Oceanites, a Maryland-based, non-profit foundation dedicated to preservation of island and ocean environments, Naveen is an avid advocate of responsible tourism — or eco-tourism — as a means of countering deterioration of our planet's fragile ecosystems.

"The Antarctic and other unspoiled areas are so awe-inspiring they change people's outlook," Naveen says. "It's natural to become a naturalist once you've witnessed the Antarctic's magnificence and looked a penguin in the eye.

"We want travelers to experience this, but they must respect and protect the areas and wildlife. Numbers of visitors should be limited. Tours must be run by environmentally-concerned companies, led by experienced guides. Otherwise these areas could be destroyed."

Case in point: an Argentine ship that carried 100 passengers on 11-day Antarctic cruises sank in 1990, spilling about 250,000 gallons of fuel. No one was injured, but rookeries of some 20,000 penguins were seriously polluted with long-term consequences that cannot yet be assessed.

Stuck in Florida, airline broke and a war afoot

Iris Jones

I was aboard an Eastern Airlines plane between Cancun, Mexico, and Miami, Fla., when war broke out in the Middle East. And I was in Boca Grande, Fla., with an Eastern ticket in my hand, when Eastern went out of business.

I can't leave home for five days without disaster striking at home and abroad.

Most travel agents have discouraged their clients from buying Eastern tickets in recent months because the airline has been in bankruptcy court. The airline had earmarked a fund to cover the cost of all the tickets it sold, but it is inconvenient to be stranded when an airline goes out of business.

I bought my ticket on Eastern because all Eastern tickets, even very low cost tickets, were fully refundable. When they stranded me in Florida, however, I wasn't looking for a refund; I was looking for a way home.

I had spent that Friday evening with my friend Chuck Rogers of Northville, who was wintering in Venice, and got back to Boca Grande in time for the 11 o'clock news. The war was getting worse every minute and Eastern had stopped flying. The announcer said "American Airlines has agreed to honor Eastern tickets." As it turns out, most airlines are honoring Eastern tickets.

If you are going to be stranded, it is better to be stranded in Florida than in Tel Aviv, but I still had to report for work the following Monday morning. I started dialing airlines.

For two hours I sat listening to nice automated voices saying "all of our lines are busy, our first available operator will . . . " This would be followed by 20 minutes of silence. I would eventually assume I had been cut off, hang up and dial again.

Finally I went to bed and resumed my telephone vigil early the next morning. I was asleep with the phone pressed against my ear when a voice startled me out of my reverie. "American Airlines, this is ---- speaking."

I made a reservation and when I reached the Fort Meyers airport Sunday I joined a line that approached a sign reading "Passengers with Eastern tickets." American honored my ticket and I flew home.

I wondered how many other people had been so lucky. I called Darlene Leader of Leader Travel, Inc. in Brighton. She didn't have many stranded Easterners because she always tells her clients when an airline is in bankruptcy and what the risks are.

"If they are flying very soon after buying the ticket it's one thing, but if they reserve six months ahead on a bankrupt airline they may never get out of Michigan," she said.

What has the war done to business? "People are very reluctant to travel right now. Many business travelers have cancelled international flights. Most vacation trips to Europe are scheduled for spring and summer, and they haven't cancelled yet."

Darlene had a travel problem herself. She was scheduled to fly to Sydney, Australia, and board the cruise ship Royal Viking Sea, but she cancelled.

"There are 60 countries on the official warning list right now. Two of them are the Philippines and Thailand."

I also called Nancy Devereaux of Air World Travel in Westland. She had not encouraged her clients to fly Eastern, so the only calls she received were from people who had bought their tickets directly from the airline and needed to be rescued. She gave them the address for Eastern refunds: Eastern Airline, Inc., Passenger Refunds (MIAAR), Miami, Fla., 33148.

to help you search for a particular show or commercial. Then you simply take your request to the archivist and view or listen to the tape in an individual booth. The permanent collection includes the entire Kraft Television Theatre series.

Permanent exhibits include one dedicated to ventriloquist Edgar Bergen, where his wooden friends Charlie McCarthy, Mortimer Snerd, and Effie Klinker have a permanent home.

Another honors "Fibber McGee and Molly," the quintessential radio comedy that was broadcast weekly from 1935 to 1960. In addition to photos and original scripts, the exhibit contains a door visitors can open to reveal the sights and sounds of McGee's famous overstuffed hall closet, a long-running gag on this long-running series.

The Sportscaster's Cafe, with tables with red-and-white covers, is modeled after the cozy corner cafe where fans went to watch sports during the early days of television. It showcases great moments in American sports and the sportscasters who described them.

"The Great Debate" exhibit features the television camera used for John F. Kennedy in the first televised presidential debate with then-vice-president Richard M. Nixon.

The September 1960 debate at WBBM in Chicago (in the studio where Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert tape their movie-review program) changed television and American politics forever.

So much did the camera capture the Kennedy charisma that, although a poll of radio listeners said Nixon came out ahead, a poll of television viewers showed Kennedy to be the winner.

Major exhibitions are screened in a 99-seat, state-of-the-art auditorium, called the Kraft Television Theatre. These have included features on Vietnam, television westerns, the Beatles and a show called "The Whole World Was Watching," recalling the tumultuous events of the 1968 Democratic convention in Chicago.

Pick up a souvenir of your visit at the Commercial Break gift shop. It is stocked with broadcast-related merchandise; books, posters, framed prints, games, toys, puzzles, tapes, videos and stuffed animals, such as a couch potato.

The shop is the Midwest's only authorized outlet for ABC and CBS merchandise. NBC has a shop in its new Chicago building. "Wheelies," as Wheel of Fortune watchers have been dubbed, and fans of "Thirtysomething" can buy a T-shirt or sweat shirt proclaiming their favorite shows.

Old-time-radio aficionados can buy tapes of radio programs first aired in the 1940s or 1950s; perhaps a "Shadow" or "Hopalong Cassidy" episode. You can buy a David Letterman cap, a sing-along book of TV theme songs, or, for 79 cents, the store's best-selling item, a bulbous, red-foam nose, a la Bozo the Clown.

I asked Nancy what effect the war was having on business and she told me what I have heard from every other travel agent: People are not sure about air travel, even within the United States. The war, combined with the recession, is having a devastating effect on the travel agent business.

The threat of terrorism, as remote as it is, has kept some people out of the European travel market for several years now. Others believe, as I do, that they are in more danger driving to the airport than they are flying to Europe. Even Europe-lovers seem to be backing out of the skies now.

Travel agents report that large numbers of travelers are canceling their European travel plans. Some airlines, including Northwest and American, are relaxing rules on non-refundable tickets to overseas destinations. You can get a refund, usually for a voucher on another ticket.

Some people believe Eastern's demise will strengthen otherwise healthy airlines.

War and recession are harsh words in the travel industry. Fuel prices rise. People are afraid to fly. Even without a recession, the economic facts of life have driven airlines into impossible competition.

Eastern has folded. Pan Am and Continental are in chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings. The Air Transport Association reports that the airline industry has lost $1.7 billion in the last six months. Delta and United are posting the largest losses in their history. TWA cut its international schedule in half and laid off 2,500 pilots and flight attendants.

Some people believe that Eastern's demise will strengthen otherwise healthy airlines like Delta, which will no longer be forced to match impossibly low prices. Even so, as I write this, Pan Am is offering $158 round-trip tickets from Detroit to Miami for anyone who buys before Feb. 28 and flies by March 15.

Stay tuned.

'Snowbirds' driving to Florida, Tennessee & South Carolina

How do Michigan "snowbirds" fly the coop for warmer climes?

By packing up the family, hopping in the car and pointing it toward Florida, Tennessee or South Carolina in the peak cold months, according to AAA Michigan TripTik data.

"Forty-eight percent of the routings we prepared for members between November and March last year were to these three destinations," said Peter Erickson, AAA Michigan club services director. "We predict similar travel patterns this season."

Florida was the biggest draw with 48,671 routing requests in the 1989-90 winter season, Erickson said, followed by Tennessee with 4,759 requests and South Carolina, which lured 4,579 winter weary sun-seekers.

Michigan residents also have their favorite cities within these states, the data shows.

Orlando tops the list for Florida visitors. Walt Disney World, Epcot Center, Sea World, MGM and Universal Studios lure Great Lakes snowbirds in droves. From Detroit, Orlando is 1,170 miles and 20 hours away at an average speed of 60 miles per hour.

Nashville, the most popular city for Tennessee travelers, attracts vacationers to its Country Music Hall of Fame, Grand Ole Opry and The Hermitage, the home of former U.S. president Andrew Jackson. Nashville, a 534-mile auto trip, can reached in about nine hours.

Myrtle Beach, S.C., is a prem sunshine destination about 14 ho and 852 miles from Detroit. Mic gan residents flock to this a largely for its gorgeous beaches lush golf courses.

When vacationing by automob a family of four should budget ab $173 per day for lodging and me plus an estimated $9 per 100 mi for gas and other auto-related penses.

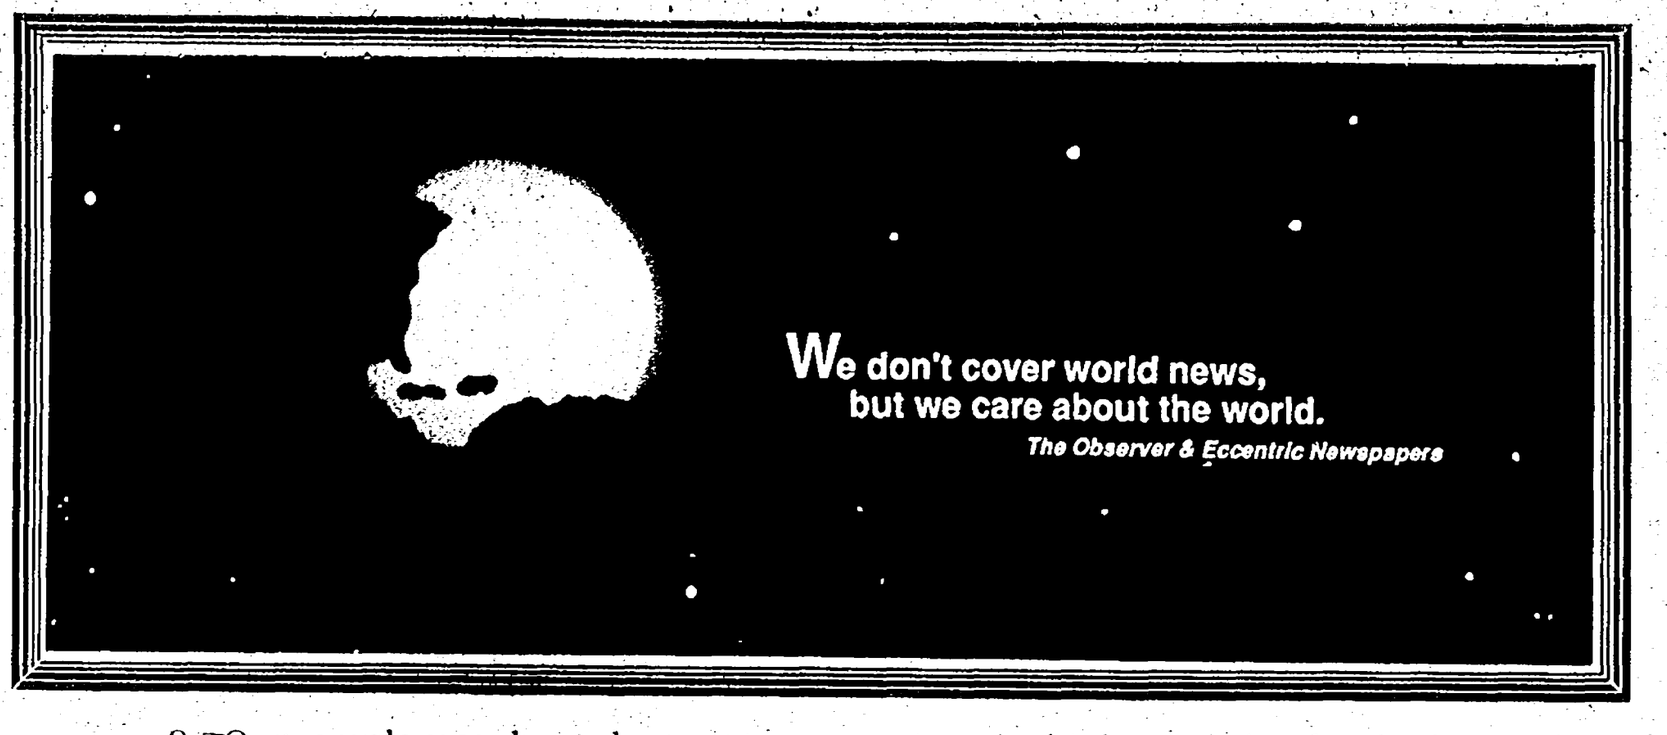
RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS.



Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.

2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put officer paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

Jeff Wollschlager (top) of Redford Catholic Central scrambles for the loose puck against Trenton's Kevin Armstrong during Saturday's 3-3 tussle at the Redford Ice Arena.

Persistent CC gets 3-3 verdict

Howell ties Churchill

Redford Catholic Central's offensive pressure finally paid off with 40 seconds to go Saturday when Scott Johnson's goal from Bill Baaki and Paul Schloss enabled the host Shamrocks to earn a 3-3 tie with Trenton in a battle of state-ranked prep hockey teams at Redford Ice Arena.

The tie leaves CC at 3-2-1 in the West Division of the Michigan Metro circuit. The Shamrocks, rated No. 8 in Class A, are 8-4-1 overall.

"It was a total team effort, we really forechecked in the second and third periods," CC coach Jack Gumbleton said. "Every line seemed to want to out-do the other. The kids are really progressing. I'm pleased with the way we worked. If we keep it out of our end, we'll be even better."

Trenton outshot CC 9-3 in the opening period, grabbing a 2-0 lead on goals by Paul Withee and Joe Chappelle.

Baaki broke the ice for CC at 8:50 of the second period, scoring from David Gallagher and Jesse Hubenschmidt.

Trenton's Tom Babcock then answered at 12:04 to increase the Trojans' lead to 3-2, but with just 41 seconds left in the period, CC's Pat Casey cut the deficit to one on a goal from Kevin Donnelly and Jeff Wollschlager.

Despite outshooting Trenton 20-8 over the final two periods, the Shamrocks could not score the equalizer until they pulled goalie Mike Brusseau (17 saves) for the extra attacker in the final minute, setting up Johnson's game-tying goal that beat Trenton netminder Dave Johns (23 saves).

Trenton was ranked No. 3 in latest Class A state coaches poll.

CHURCHILL 4, HOWELL 4: On Saturday, John Mitter scored three times in the final 3:09 to carry the host Highlanders to a non-league deadlock with previously unbeaten and untied Livonia Churchill (14-0-1) at chilly Grand Oaks Arena.

"Personally, we should have tied," Churchill coach Rudy Varvari said. "We broke down in our defensive end. We got caught standing around and watching them. We laid a big egg in the last couple of minutes."

hockey

Howell jumped out to a 1-0 first-period advantage on Steve Killen's goal.

Churchill then tallied four straight goals.

In the second period, Tony Schuer connected for the sixth-ranked Chargers from Jamie Allen and Larry Allen (no relation). Mark Michels then gave Churchill a 2-1 lead later in the period from Mike Johnson and Ryan Lukiewski.

The Chargers' Jeff King, on assists from Shawn Thomas and Dan Imperati, made it 3-1 in the third period. Jamie Allen, with Larry Allen assisting, gave Churchill what appeared to be a comfortable three-goal cushion.

But Howell stormed back behind Mitter, who tallied goals with 3:09, 2:55 and 1:52 — all from Killen — to knot the count.

"I guess we didn't lose," Varvari said.

Dave Watson was in goal for the Chargers.

Churchill returns to action at 6:30 tonight when it faces Bloomfield Hills Andover in a battle for first place in the Suburban circuit.

Churchill can virtually assure itself of the title with a victory at the Detroit Skating Club of Bloomfield Hills. The Chargers won an earlier meeting on Dec. 5 by a 5-2 count.

STEVENSON 7, LATHRUP 0: Scott Johnson scored twice Tuesday as Livonia Stevenson gained the Suburban High School Hockey League victory over host Southfield-Lathrup at the Southfield Civic Center.

Stevenson is now 8-6-2 overall and 6-2-2 in the league. Lathrup slipped to 3-7-1 in the league and 6-7-2 overall.

Johnson scored the game's first goal from Ken Lindsay with 9:02 left in the opening period. Just 11 seconds later, Mike Lindberg scored from Johnson and Chris Rennie. With 7:56 to play in the opening period, Aaron Moorehouse made it 3-0 from Mike Schmidt and Mark Peterson.

In the second period, Ryan Gusick, thanks to the digging of Doug Gulau, scored short-handed to give the Spartans a 4-0 advantage. Nick Sata also assisted on the goal.

In the final period, Stevenson struck three more times — Johnson, from Rennie and Ryan Fawkes; Lindsay from Gulau; and Fawkes, from Sata and Rennie.

Stevenson goaltender Dave Labadie turned back 18 shots to post the shutout.

Spartans turn tables, 67-56

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Like Wayne Fontes, Livonia Stevenson basketball coach Jim McIntyre is modifying his run-and-shoot offense.

The Spartans, once the area's answer to Loyola Marymount and the Denver Nuggets, proved they can still run, but also showed patience in Tuesday's 67-56 victory at Livonia Churchill.

It was the Spartans' fifth win in their last six games. It also avenged a 62-47 home-court loss to their city rivals back on Dec. 14.

"It was one one of the better fourth-quarter games we've played except for about a three-minute stretch in the second quarter when we got into their (Churchill's) tempo," McIntyre said. "We were a little hesitant to run-and-shoot against them because of the rebounding advantage."

The Spartans proved they could play a little half-court basketball, as well as running the break, pulling off some timely pick-and-roll and back-door lob plays for layups.

In the fourth quarter they pulled the ball out and worked the clock to protect their lead.

"We've extended ourselves to try to make teams play longer on defense," said McIntyre, whose team is 6-5 overall. "They understand if we're patient enough, good things will happen."

STEVENSON HAD five players score in double figures.

Junior guard Matt Grodzicki paced the winners with 18 points, while senior guard Phil Woods and senior forward Dan Gibbons each added 14. Junior forward Colin Stockton contributed 11, while 6-foot-4 junior center Tony Stojov came off the bench to score 10.

"We're looking toward improving each game and we've been doing that," McIntyre said. "These kids work very hard in practice. I'm real proud of these kids. It's been a whale of an effort within our first 11 games. We're making inroads."

The loss left Churchill with an identical 6-5 overall record.

The Chargers were led by 6-7 senior center Randy Calcaterra, who paced all scorers with 23 points. Mike Thomas added 15, while Brian D. Johnson contributed 13. Only one other Churchill player scored. (Jeremiah Karolak contributed four.)

basketball

Churchill committed 24 turnovers and shot only 38.7 percent from the field (19 of 49). Stevenson, meanwhile, hit 50 percent from the field (25 of 50) and had 17 turnovers.

"IT WAS A tough night," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "They (Stevenson) were doing a good job with the transition game and getting people behind us. We had trouble getting back defensively I'll have to look at the (video) tape to see how many easy layups we gave up.

"If you take away their transition game, it's a different game. But that's part of it. We tried to get more people involved in the offense, but we turned it over more than we have the last couple of games."

The Spartans jumped out quickly, taking a 19-13 first-quarter advantage.

They led by as many as 12 with 3:31 left in the half (on a basket by Woods), but Churchill cut the deficit to five at halftime thanks to a three-point play by Thomas with 1:21 to play, 35-30.

The third quarter was all Stevenson.

Woods scored on a back-door play with a second remaining in the period to make it 53-39.

The Spartans then increased their lead to 56-39 on a three-point play by Stockton to start the final quarter.

CHURCHILL, however, pulled off a six-point play when Gibbons was hit by referee Dave Flammer for a technical foul. Calcaterra made four straight free throws and Johnson hit a short jumper to slice the lead to 11.

The Chargers then pulled within eight, 60-52, with 2:50 to go on another Johnson hoop, but the Spartans were able to milk the clock down the stretch and go to the free throw line, hitting nine of 11 foul shots in the final quarter.

"We're willing to back off and make teams come out," McIntyre said. "We press with the intent of wanting to do things up-tempo, not with the intent of to steal (the ball) and score. Last year we flew people at teams. This year we've changed and how we're applying it (the press)."

The defending Western Lakes Activities Association playoff champs meet once-beaten Plymouth Salem Friday at home.

Churchill, meanwhile, will host Walled Lake Western.

"I'm disappointed with our rebounding, we should have dominated the boards," Price said. "I thought with our lineup, and with their lineup, we'd do a better job. They got a lot of loose balls off the fumble or rebound.

"They (Stevenson) were able to outlet the ball deep and alley-oop."

Cager plays despite crash

It was a night Livonia Churchill High basketball player Brian D. Johnson may never forget.

Trying to make his way into the school's parking lot at approximately 5:50 p.m. Tuesday, prior to the Churchill-Stevenson varsity game, Johnson was involved in a serious two-car accident.

"His car was practically destroyed, he was upside down and the firemen had to extract him from underneath the car," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "The whole (passenger) side was caved in. He could have come out much worse. It's a miracle."

Amazingly, the junior guard suffered no serious injuries and was able to start the game and finish with 13 points for the Chargers, who fell to their city rivals, 67-56.

"The fact that he came out and played a decent game is a something in itself," Price said. "Obviously, our kids were a little rattled. Their minds were preoccupied somewhere else."

Officials from the Livonia Police Department's Traffic Bureau were unavailable for comment late Tuesday about other possible damage and injuries.

Yaffai near personal record

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

college sports

John Hamel, an intern in the University of Michigan Sports Information Department, refers to Wolverine wrestler Salem Yaffai as "the big guy."

Wait a minute, isn't Yaffai a 5-foot-5, 118-pounder?

"All these guys are tough as nails as far as I'm concerned," said Hamel. "Whether they're 5-5, 118, or a heavyweight."

Yaffai, a senior from Livonia Churchill, has been especially tough this year for the 11th-ranked Wolverines, who are 9-4 overall and 4-1 in the Big Ten.

With five dual meets and the Big Ten championships remaining, Yaffai is on pace to break his single-season record for wins (23) which he set last year.

Yaffai, who is 20-9-1 this year, has a career record of 76-54-5. Many of those wins came while wrestling at 126 pounds, but this season Yaffai has settled in quite nicely at 118, coach Dale Bahr said.

MAKING THE CHANGE of weight midway through the season, Yaffai is 12-6-1 at 118 and Bahr believes he has a chance at winning the Big Ten title. Yaffai is 5-0 in the Big Ten.

"Things have gone real well for Salem this year," Bahr said. "He's not a real big, physical kid — he's more on the lean side. Last year, wrestling at 126, he lost seven or eight matches by one point. We told him this year it was in his best intentions to drop four pounds, because at 118 he's more dominating physically.

"He's always been a great, little technician and knows as much about wrestling as anyone in the room. Now, his power and technique work together and he'll be right in there for the Big Ten meet."

Yaffai brought impressive credentials to U-M. A four-year letterwinner at Churchill, he was the Chargers first state champion in 1986 when he went 43-0 in the 112-pound weight class.

NOW IN HIS fifth year (he was red-shirted as a freshman), Yaffai is experienced enough to know college wrestling is much more difficult.

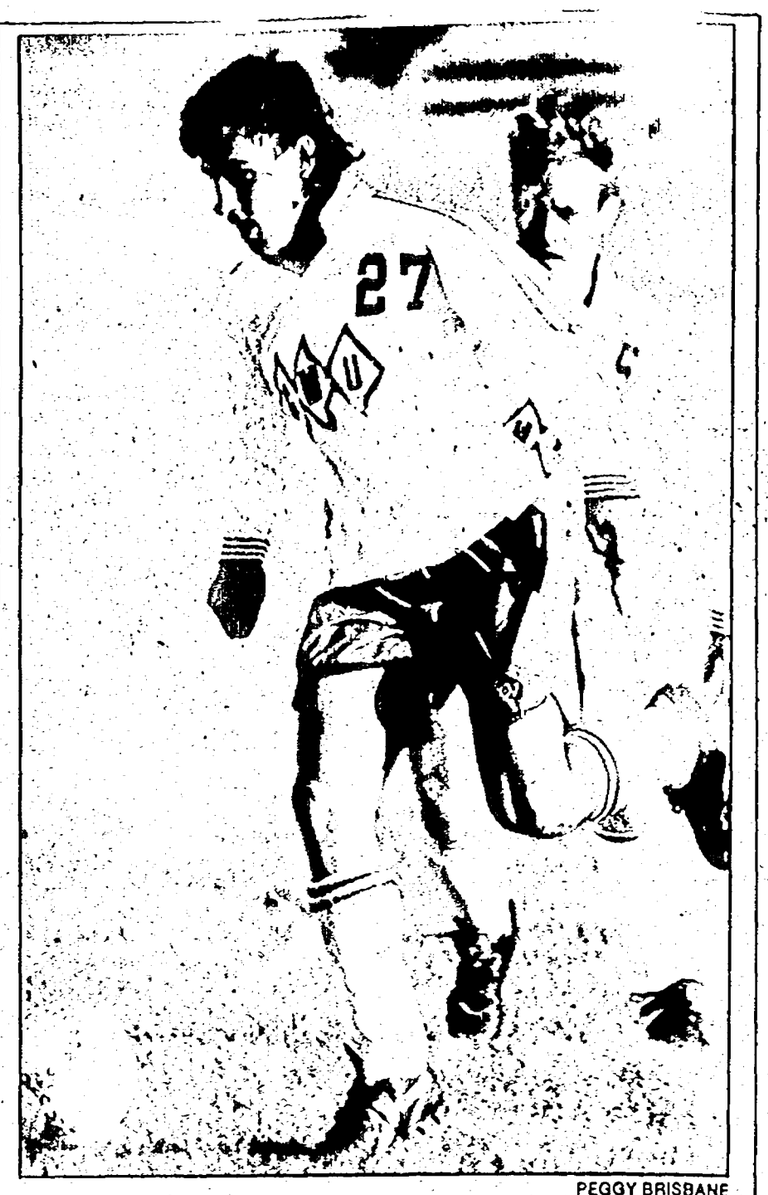
"You don't get as many pins in college," said Yaffai, who is taking his last eight credits to finish a degree in kinesiology. "They know better then to get caught in some situations."

Yaffai said it has been an up-and-down career. A year ago, he got poked in the eye in practice and had to have tear-duct surgery.

Yaffai continued to wrestle with a face mask after the surgery and tape over the affected eye.

"I was kind of nervous at first," Yaffai said. "I don't have a problem anymore — and that helps."

It also helps that he's wrestling at 118.



PEGGY BRISBANE

Award-winner

Kurt Will, a former soccer standout at Livonia Stevenson, has continued to flourish both on and off the field. A sophomore at Central Michigan University, Will was named to the all-Mid-American Conference team. Primarily a defender, Will had nine goals and three assists for the conference champion Chippewas. The team's second-leading scorer, Will was chosen most valuable defender by his teammates. Will was also a MAC scholastic athlete award winner.

Raiders rally to repel Ocelots

basketball

The final score may not reflect it, but Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Dave Bogataj thought his team "played a great ballgame" at Oakland Community College Saturday night.

However the Ocelots performed, it was OCC that walked off the court with a 116-104 triumph.

The victory kept the Raiders in the hunt for the top spot in the Eastern Conference. They are 7-2, a game behind Mott CC and Macomb CC. OCC is 17-2 overall.

The key stretch in the game started with 14 minutes left and ended five minutes later. During that span, OCC — which trailed 48-45 at the half — went from a tie game to a 14-point lead.

"We had a mental lapse, and those five minutes cost us," said Bogataj.

The Ocelots' final hopes for an upset ended late in the game, when Kwesi McGill and Scott Meredith fouled out in a 30-second stretch. A shot McGill made was nullified by a charging call against him; the two resulting free throws made the difference 11, instead of seven.

THREE RAIDERS surpassed the 20-point plateau in scoring, with Devlin Bell taking honors at 24 — 21 coming in the second half. Ed Whitaker and Starlin Stevens chipped in with 22 apiece. Jerry Prieskorn added 13 and James Escoe had 11.

Randy Watters poured in 34 points to pace SC. Watters also had six rebounds. Barry Quayle added 29 points and 12 boards, Dave Hamilton finished with 15 points and eight rebounds, McGill got 13 points and Mitch Fyke — who was troubled by fouls throughout the game — scored 10.

The Raiders went to the line 45 times, making 26 (58 percent); SC was 18-of-29 from the line in the game (63 percent). The Ocelots' foul problems proved decisive.

"We played some zone (defense) in the first half, and we don't do that very often," said Bogataj. "The kids were really aggressive on it. But the defense got soft because of our foul trouble."

Still, Bogataj figured something worthwhile came out of the loss. "The kids are playing really hard now," he said. "And other teams know they have to play hard to beat us."

SC-OCC WOMEN: Three against one. Or so the scoring seemed to indicate.

Tricia Lucas accounted for 30 points — more than 60 percent — of SC's offense Saturday against visiting OCC. The result was predictable: a 74-47 Lady Raider triumph.

No other Lady Ocelot reached double-figures in scoring. OCC, on the other hand, had three in doubles: Sarah Calahan with 23, Kim Walker with 19 and Laurie Montent with 14.

The loss was the sixth-straight for SC, leaving the Lady Ocelots at 8-9 overall and 1-7 in the Eastern Conference.

Despite setback, Pioneers still in title hunt

C.J. Risak

GREG KAMPE WAS dismayed, deservedly so. His Oakland University men's basketball team had just been thumped 93-78 at Hillsdale College, widening the gap between the Pioneers — now 5-4 in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference — and first place to two games.

That was Monday night. By next Monday, Kampe's disappointment may be completely dissolved.

That's because no one can seriously predict what's going to happen in this looney league race. Unlike previous seasons, when Ferris State was nearly unstoppable and, prior to the Bulldogs, Wayne State held sway over the GLIAC, this conference race is just that — a race.

When the GLIAC unveils its inaugural tournament, featuring the top four teams in the conference, with the winner gaining a berth in the NCAA Division II tournament, it will certainly be anyone's game.

As Hillsdale coach Bernie Balikian noted, "Everyone's shooting for (the tournament). Just win enough games to get there."

AFTER MONDAY'S defeat, Kampe was saying the same thing. "Every game is pivotal now. I'm not worried about us winning the league. I just want to get into the tournament."

Well then. With the conference season now entering its second half, here's how the playoff picture looks: With its win over Lake Superior State Monday, Grand Valley State remained in first at 7-2. Right behind are Ferris State and Northern Michigan, both 6-3 after recording victories Monday.

Hillsdale moved into a tie with OU for fourth at 5-4. Lake Superior and Saginaw Valley are next at 4-5.

OU, which has struggled to stay near .500 overall (the Pioneers are 10-10) throughout the season, still has an excellent shot at a playoff berth — and first place is far from out of the question. Of the six teams currently in the tournament hunt with OU, five must visit Lepley Sports — starting this week, when Saginaw Valley and frontrunner Grand Valley invade.

Indeed, the Pioneers have just two road games remaining — at Lake Superior State Feb. 7 and at Wayne State Feb. 14.

BUT AS every coach has preached at one time or another, let's take 'em one at a time. This week's games are important enough to deserve such consideration.

Saginaw Valley's situation is similar to OU's. The Cardinals, 8-10 overall, are on the playoff bubble. They beat the Pioneers earlier this season, 67-65. Saginaw Valley is led by center Bill Vitti, forwards Mike Essig and Steve Klein, and guard Chad Christman.

The loss earlier this season should help keep OU focused on Saginaw Valley, instead of looking ahead to Saturday's encounter with Grand Valley.

At present, the Lakers have to rate as the league favorite. They lead the conference in scoring, scoring margin, free throw percentage, field goal percentage and three-point percentage, and are second in field goal percentage defense. Among their top players are Charlie Mandt (from Troy), Todd Jenks, Jason Devine and Steve Harvey.

GRAND VALLEY handled OU on its homecourt, 77-65, last month. After that loss the Pioneers started rolling, winning five in a row and six of seven before Monday's defeat.

The streak built Kampe's confidence in his team. "We've gotten tremendously better since the beginning of the year," he said. "We're a very young team. Our goal since the beginning of the season was to keep improving and get into the tournament. Once there, it only takes two wins."

Ironic, really. This isn't the best team Kampe's assembled at OU, although his current backcourt of Eric Taylor and Tony Howard comes close to rivaling the standout tandem of Scott Bittinger and Brian Gregory.

Still, this team may have the best shot at accomplishing Kampe's No. 1 priority: winning the league and qualifying for the NCAA II tournament. First, though, the Pioneers have to clear the first hurdle and reach the conference playoff.

Five wins in their final seven games is a definite possibility. And that should be good enough.

OU hosts Saginaw Valley tonight, with the women's game starting at 5:30 p.m. and the men's game following at 7:30 p.m. On Saturday, OU's women meet Grand Valley at 1 p.m.; the men's game will start at approximately 3 p.m.

"We played a great game, but they wore us down," Wayne coach Dan Henry said. "We were really fired up, but they brought in some people that had rested through the third quarter and they really took it to us."

Dave Brown paced the River Rats offensively, scoring 15 points. Eric Culliver added 14 points, scoring seven in the pivotal fourth quarter.

Chargers capture WSU Invitational

Livonia Churchill's volleyball team continued its winning ways Saturday, capturing the Wayne State University Invitational with a 15-1, 15-2 triumph over Grosse Pointe South.

Christina Garry and Alyssa Belaire took over in the final match with some dominating play. Setters Amy Baron and Kristi Szymanski also stood out against South.

"We recognized that it was not a strong tourney, but we set some goals and one is that we wanted to play well and improve as a team," Churchill coach Mike Hughes said. "I think we met both goals and offensively we're becoming much more crisp. We're gaining confidence and playing with much more authority."

In pool play, Churchill downed Grosse Pointe North, 16-14, 15-1, as Julie Campau came off the bench to record three kills in the first game. She also made good on five of nine hits in the second game.

In a 15-9, 15-6 triumph over Dearborn Divine Child, Whitney Said collected four kills, while Stephanie Speen added seven digs.

Ellen Lessig blocked the middle well, according to Hughes, in the wins over Divine Child and Dearborn Heights Annapolis (15-1, 15-3).

Churchill also defeated St. Clair Shores Lake Shore in pool play (15-5, 15-10, as well as Lincoln Park in the semifinals (15-3, 15-2).

CHURCHILL ran its overall record to 14-0 Monday with a hard-fought 15-8, 4-15, 15-8, 16-14 triumph over visiting Livonia Franklin.

It was also Churchill's seventh straight win in the Western Lakes Activities Association without a loss.

"Franklin played an excellent game," Hughes said. "They were outstanding, playing superb defense. They're a small team, but well-coached."

Lessig had six block-points to lead the winners, while Szymanski, the setter, made only two errors all night. Campau contributed five kills and no errors.

Franklin (5-6-6 overall) was led by Colleen Lai, who had 17 kills in 40 attempts with only one miscue. Setter Sue Bona added 21 assists, while teammate Kari Zabell played outstanding defense.

"We did a good job," Franklin coach Teri Morehouse said. "We gave them a good game, I'd say."

In Saturday's Plymouth Invitational, Franklin was eliminated by Brighton in the quarterfinals, 15-10, 15-13.

Zabell and Lai combined for 35 kills on the day, while Bona added 56 assists.

Franklin split with three foes in pool play — Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (15-13, 4-15), Garden City (15-2, 11-15) and Brighton (15-11, 12-15). The Patriots beat Plymouth Salem's No. 2 squad, 15-10, 15-11.

LIVONIA STEVENSON downed Westland John Glenn Monday in a WLAA match, 15-7, 9-15, 15-6 and 16-14.

The Spartans are 16-5-4 overall, 7-0 in the WLAA and 4-0 in the Lakes Division.

Sue Bell and Andrea Wittrock paced the victors with 12 kills. Each had only two errors. Alicia Smith added nine good hits in 10 attempts with three kills.

Sophomore setter Patty Diamond had three aces in 20 serves with only one errors. She was good on 116 of 121 sets with 32 assists.

Glenn, which fell to 5-11 overall, 2-5 in the WLAA and 1-3 in the Lakes, was led by Kara Beeny and Nikki Wojcik, who registered 14 and 12 kills, respectively. Beeny, who had four errors in 30 attacks, had 30 percent kill percentage, while Wojcik, who made seven errors in 31 attacks, went for 16 percent.

Jennifer Massey served seven aces.

Hobby becomes business for Lee

JERRY LEE has the type of job most anglers dream about. He fishes for a living.

What started out as a hobby — like it usually does — has evolved into a full-time occupation for the Livonia resident.

"I started salmon fishing about 15 years ago with a friend," explained Lee, who managed an auto body shop at the time. "I had a small boat and fished in a few tournaments and gradually grew into a bigger boat."

Through the years, Lee increased his knowledge on fishing and refined his techniques. His tournament success culminated in 1980 when he was the top money winner in the state of Michigan in steelhead tournaments.

"There were always people around that wanted to go fishing with me," Lee said. "It got to be a pretty expensive hobby so I decided to make it a business."

Ten years later, business is booming.

LEE CAPTAINS his own charter boat through the fair-weather seasons and guides river steelhead anglers when the winds of winter begin to howl.

He charters salmon trips in Lake Michigan out of St. Joseph; summer steelhead in northern Lake Michigan out of Luddington; walleye in Lake Erie out of Monroe; and offers guided trips for steelies during the winter months on the St. Joseph River.

"I like to move around where the fish are," Lee said. "I go to different ports at different times of the year."

Lee is also a pro staffer for Lowrance and Eagle Electronics. In his spare times he travels around the state speaking at outdoor shows.

LEE IS AMONG several notable speakers scheduled to appear at the 1991 Detroit Boat and Fishing Show Feb. 2-10 at Cobo Center.

Other speakers include Babe Winkelman, host of the television show "Good Fishing"; Al Lindner, president of the In-Fisherman Network and host of the "In-Fisherman" television series; Dave Richey, author, guide and outdoor writer for the Detroit News; Mark Romanack, outdoor writer and walleye tournament fishing pro; George Richey, outdoor writer and fishing tackle producer; Larry Simpson, a veteran in the marine electronics industry; Carl Salling, outdoor guide; and Bruce DeShano, a front runner in the development of new downrigger tactics.

LEE IS SCHEDULED to appear each day of the show. His topics will cover the use of chart recording graphs and fish locators and how to apply the information from these devices to the task of catching fish. He will also be on hand at the Lowrance and Eagle Electronics booth to greet the public and answer questions.

"My main focus will be to help people understand the electronics on today's market," explained Lee. "The new systems on the market are pretty simple. They're user friendly. Most are menu driven just like a computer. People just need to understand what this equipment does and understand the secondary equipment and how to use it. The biggest thing is that many people don't understand the full potential of what they have. Sometimes they are misled by different things. I just want to educate people on what they have and what's available to them."

LEE ADMITTS life as a professional fisherman is not all glamour and games. The rigors of travel and the time spent away from home take their toll and the schedule never really allows for a season of rest. Still, he pushes on.

"Actually, it's a tough life," Lee said. "I'm gone from home a lot, but it pays the bills.

"If it wasn't for my love of fishing I probably wouldn't be doing it."

Boat and Fishing Show hours are: noon-10 p.m. Saturdays and Wednesday, Feb. 6; noon-8 p.m. Sundays; 3-10 p.m. weekdays. Admission is $6 adult and children under 12 will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

(Anglers and hunters are urged to report their success. Write to: Observer & Eccentric Outdoor Department, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009 or call Bill Parker Monday evenings 6-10 p.m. at 644-1101.)

Host Stevenson gets 2nd

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

An extra month of practice and competition seems to have made a difference for the Farmington Hills Mercy volleyball team.

When the Marlins won the Madonna College tournament in late December, coach Tim DeBeliso was worried about his team's defensive inconsistencies. Mercy won its third tournament Saturday, and sound defense was a key reason for the success.

In a clash between Observerland powers, the No. 4-rated Marlins won the Livonia Stevenson tournament with a 15-1, 15-9 victory over the host team, which is ranked No. 9 in Class A this week.

"I was very nervous about the defense early on and I'm a little more confident now," DeBeliso said. "We have to keep up our aggressiveness because defense really is an attitude.

"Overall, our passing on serve reception and defense was good. I really thought it was the difference. I was happy with what I saw, and this is the time of year you have to start making some leaps if you're going to get better."

MERCY IS 29-2-2 overall and the Spartans 16-5-4. Stevenson coach Lee Cagle also was pleased with his team's tournament performance.

"By making it to the final, the girls experienced something they haven't experienced in three years," he said. "I believe it's really important to do that, because once you get there you know what it takes to get there again."

The teams began the day facing each other in pool play, with Mercy winning 15-10, 15-6.

The Marlins added wins over Mount Clemens L'Anse Creuse (15-1, 15-4), Dearborn Edsel Ford (15-1, 15-8) and Saline (15-7, 15-1). Stevenson also defeated Saline (15-7, 15-1), L'Anse Creuse (15-1, 15-5) and Edsel Ford (15-9, 15-7).

In the semifinals, Mercy trounced Catholic League rival Harper Woods Regina 15-6, 15-4, while the Spartans, in what Cagle called an outstanding match, eliminated perennial power Temperance Bedford 15-11, 15-5.

"Sue Bell and Andrea Wittrock just destroyed the ball on the outside," Cagle said. "I think it was the best match we've played all year. As a result, we attacked ferociously on the outside.

"We didn't play error free; we just didn't let the errors bother us."

BELL HAD nine kills out of 24 attacks in the Bedford match, Wittrock five out of 16. Stevenson didn't miss a serve, either.

"Every one was a colossal hit, so Bedford had to expend a great deal of energy to handle those hits," Cagle said.

Defense was the telling factor in the final, he added. Mercy capitalized on Stevenson's difficulties with serve reception before the Spartans played better in the second game.

DeBeliso was pleased with his team's defense especially in pool play, because the Marlins were minus two starters early in the day while Susie Atchinson and Nora Hand took the ACT test.

"We had a couple kids come through very well," DeBeliso said. "It was the kind of tournament everybody had a hand in, because we had to rely on a couple people who hadn't had a lot of playing time."

Jill Eveleth, who usually divides the setting duties with Atchinson, did all of the setting and Karen Kivela picked up the slack for Nora Hand (in the back row). Eveleth had only nine errors out of 129 sets, leading to 47 assists, and Shannon Goff played a full rotation, too.

Maureen Paulin was voted the most valuable player of the tournament, and teammates Karen Pinkerton and Gail Murie also made the all-tournament team.

PAULIN WAS Mercy's leading attacker with 37 kills. She had only three hitting errors in 76 attempts and had a kill percentage of .447. Pinkerton had 28 kills and 57 attacks (.403), Murie 24 and 44 (.363) and Laure DeMattia 24 and 42 (.452).

Furthermore, the Marlins made only nine serving errors out of 235 serves for 96 percent serving.

"That's been one of our strong suits all year," DeBeliso said. "We seem to give people problems if we're serving well. It's another offensive weapon that people overlook, and it's proven to be very, very effective for us."

Bell was the top attacker for Stevenson. She recorded 28 kills and was 83-of-91 spiking. In the final, she had 17 attacks and 10 kills with no errors. Bell also had 11 aces while going 43-of-50 on the service line overall.

The Spartans divided their attacks among five players, so no one other than Bell had a substantial number of kills. Wittrock was 47-of-50 spiking with 10 kills, Teresa Sarno 43-of-50 with nine kills and Alicia Smith 23-of-30 with eight kills.

Shamrocks 2nd at Romulus

wrestling

Plymouth Salem made a strong showing in the Romulus Invitational by placing wrestlers at 10 weights Saturday.

The Rocks were third in the team competition, which included some of the state's best.

Flint Carman-Ainsworth won the tournament with 187 points followed by Redford Catholic Central (186), Salem (169½), Bay City Western (123), Mount Pleasant (118), Flint Kearsley (111½), Birmingham Brother Rice (105), Lansing Eastern (96), Romulus (96) and Lansing Sexton (78) in the top 10.

The Rocks had a pair of runners-up in 103-pound freshman John Moran and senior heavyweight Ken Coker.

Moran, a freshman, pinned the No. 1 seed, Toby Bakes of Ainsworth, in the semifinals (1:32) before losing a 17-7 decision to CC's Mario Scicluna in the final.

Coker pinned Bay City's Jacob Rostollan at 3:48 in the semis but also lost to a CC wrestler in the final, Rob Sylvester, who won an 8-4 decision.

The Rocks had four consolation winners. Dan Bonnett (119), Chad Wilson (125), Jeff Shumate (135) and Charlie Apigian (160) finished third.

In their final bouts, Bonnett defeated Ainsworth's Cory Lyons 3-0, Wilson defeated Jason Drouillard of Romulus 8-5, Shumate pinned Ainsworth's Jeremy Hubert in 4:10 and Apigian pinned Felton Bush of Romulus in 3:33. All were 4-1 in the tournament with the exception of Apigian, who was 3-1.

Salem's Scott Martin (112), Jeff Coleman (140) and Josh Viau (145) were fourth at their weights, and Bob Hansen (152) was sixth.

The Rocks wrestle at Westland John Glenn for the Lakes Division title at 6:30 tonight. Both teams are 4-0 in division dual meets.

● MADONNA CARD SHOW

A baseball and hockey card sports memorabilia show, featuring three Detroit Red Wing players, will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday at Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft Road in Livonia (I-96 and Levan Road).

Bob Probert is scheduled to sign free autographs 1:15-3 p.m. Saturday, while Steve Yzerman and Joe Kocur will appear 4:15-6 p.m. Sunday (Signers subject to change without notice.)

For more information about tables (100 available), call 591-5029.

● EQUIPMENT NEEDED

Frank Cahill of Farmington continues to collect used sports equipment for redistribution to needy sources, but he has one drop-off location now instead of two.

Anyone with items they would like to donate, especially ice skates and hockey equipment, can leave them with Cahill at Discount Pop and Beer, 15348 Middlebelt, Livonia. Cahill's store is located just north of Five Mile Road. Call 421-5670 for information.

Cahill recently donated 40 pairs of ice skates to the Hamtramck Recreation Department, but the department can use at least another 40 pair for its new recreation program.

● REDFORD SOCCER CLUB

The Redford Soccer Club will hold spring 1991 season regisration 7:30-9 p.m. Monday, Feb. 4, and Thursday, Feb. 7, at the Redford Ice Arena.

For more information, call Bob Durkin at 534-1893.

● C'VILLE SCHOLARSHIPS

During its last meeting, the Clarenceville High School Athletic Boosters Club voted to annually award a pair of $300 scholarships to deserving seniors.

The scholarships will be known as the Lowell E. Gumbert (male) and Dr. Samuel J. Prisk (female) awards.

To qualify, athletes must have participated for at least three years and awarded one varsity letter in at least one sport. They must also obtain a written recommendation from either a high school coach or athletic director, along with a recommendation from the high school principal. Maintaining a good attitude is also a requirement.

The selection committe will be comprised of the athletic director (chairman), and four members of the boosters club.

The scholarships were made possible because of the success of the spring and winter craft shows.

Nightlines available

The Observer Sports Department is available to take scores and results from 4 p.m. until 11:30 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays at 591-2312 or 591-2312.

Because of deadline constraints, no Wednesday calls will be accepted. Wednesday events should be called in on Thursdays, while weekend events should be reported Monday.

The western Wayne County sports desk includes schools located in Plymouth-Canton, Farmington, Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Redford.

To report best swim times and gymnastics performances, see today's statistical page (5D).

State income tax checkoff benefits wildlife programs nature

Timothy Nowicki

At the beginning of each year we receive financial statements about our income from the previous year. We organize them in preparation for paying our taxes.

When you fill out your Michigan tax form consider making a contribution to the Nongame Wildlife Fund. There is a loon next to the space where you can indicate your contribution.

Since 1983 the Nongame Wildlife Fund has been using money received for many worthwhile projects throughout the state. These projects are monitored by the Wildlife Division of the state Department of Natural Resources.

Several grants are awarded each year to people or groups who are willing to help study, restore, improve, survey, or educate about wildlife and their habitats in Michigan. All these projects are aimed at non-game species, but just as game species management increases non-game species, so does non-game management often increase game species.

Non-game species account for far more species than game species, so monies are dispersed for a variety of needs. Peregrine falcons now nesting in Michigan's Upper Peninsula — for the first time in 30 years — , was accomplished with Nongame Wildlife Funds.

Not all species helped by the fund are large with feather or fur. Bog habitat of the Mitchell's satyr, a brown butterfly originally discovered in Michigan in the 1880s is rapidly disappearing. A study was conducted to determine the extent of the existing population and to recommend habitat management plans.

Plants also are included in fund projects. Populations of dwarf lake iris, a beautiful blue iris that grows about four inches tall, were saved from destruction.

Wildlife officials realize that efforts to preserve a species will fall short if habitats suitable to the species are not preserved. Money from the fund also goes to restoring or managing habitats.

Introducing once native species to Michigan and preserving the natural heritage of the diverse flora and fauna of our states is an immense task.

Most of this year's contributions are put into a permanent trust fund, because after the 1994 tax year, the Nongame Wildlife checkoff will be removed from the tax form. So, the more contributions received, the greater the permanent trust fund will be after 1994.

Tim Nowick is a naturalist at Independence-Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

Income affects SSI benefits

Renee Mahler

Q. My husband was in an accident and was disabled for more than a year. He began receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits when we had exhausted our savings and most of our other income. He now wants to try and work again. What will happen to his SSI payments?

A. Under the Supplemental Security Income program, people with disabilities can have some income without losing their eligibility for SSI and Medicaid. The first $20 per month of any income is usually not counted. The first $65 of earned income is also excluded. Certain impairment-related work expenses can be deducted from total income also. This could include a wheelchair, a job coach, and transportation costs to and from work. Your husband may also be able to use one or more of other work incentives provisions. After all impairment-related work expenses have been considered $1 is deducted from the SSI payment amount for every $2 earned over the income limit. Your husband should call your local Social Security office as soon as he goes to work and for more details concerning his SSI payments.

Q. I am a 67-year-old retiree and am on Medicare. I strained my back recently and a friend suggested that I go see a chiropractor. Will Medicare pay for this?

A. The only chiropractic treatment currently covered by Medicare medical insurance is manual manipulation of the spine to correct a subluxation, or partial dislocation, of the spine that can be proven by X-rays. Other diagnostic or therapeutic services, including X-rays are not covered.

Downtown series concludes

A DOWNTOWN is a lot like life. It slowly matures. Then it slowly slips away.

But downtowns don't have to die.

With the right combination of vision and vigor, aging downtowns can spring back to life, shedding the tired, old veneer and sporting a fresh, new look.

In today's third installment of a three-part series tracing downtown historic architecture in Observerland, the spotlight is on downtown Garden City.

Over its 159-year-old history, Garden City, part of what once was Nankin Township, grew from forest, to farms to cityhood.

The downtown area sprang up in the 1920s around the country crossroads of Ford Road and Middlebelt, then served only by two stores, a city hall and a 14-room schoolhouse.

Developer Arnold Folker provided a key spur when he built The Folker Building in 1928, the year after the city of 2,500 people incorporated.

That now-historic landmark, on the southeast corner of Ford and Middlebelt, housed the city hall until 1965.

The central business district fell on hard times in the 1970s. But emergence of a downtown development authority (DDA) in 1981 helped pave the way for its dramatic rebound.

Raising money through increased property values within the development district; the DDA has spent $1.5 million on streetscape improvements. In 1987, it developed a commons area replete with a gazebo at the main intersection.

Meanwhile, the Kroger-anchored Town Center, opened last year, is a byproduct of the DDA's desire to inspire private investment through public redevelopment. The city's purchase of the old La Parisienne theater lot provided not only increased exposure but also increased parking for the planned new center.

Garden City leaders call a healthy downtown integral to the city's well being. The city has a tax base that's 86 percent residential, 12 percent commercial and 2 percent industrial.

"We hope to expand or, at the very least, maintain that commercial percentage so we can take those revenues and provide services to our residents without having to increase the residential tax burden," said Terry Carroll, community development director.

Historic downtown architecture in Farmington was profiled Dec. 20 and in Plymouth Nov. 8.

Built in 1928, the Folker Building sports an architectural style called Classic Revival, architect Betty-lee Seydler-Sweatt said, "but it has been simplified. The way the building occupies the corner identifies this as the center of the city. This is the way many bank buildings were built in the 1920s."

Today, the architectural detail of a single row of dentils above the main entrance to Orin Jewelers lurks beneath the Keepsake sign. The renaissance detail at the top (the clock) remains, as does the Folker Building name carved into the stone. A limestone face covers the building's wood frame.

Garden City — built on dreams of country living

Downtown HERITAGE

ARCHITECTURE MIRRORS the time period or era of a civilization, revealing beliefs, principles and dreams held and cherished by a society of people or its ruling government.

The turn of the century brought a cry for relief from the industrial way of life. Forced to work hours upon hours in dark factories at repetitive jobs, the masses, in the beginning of the 20th century, sought a return to the land, where sunlight, fresh air, and green living things abounded.

Across the waters in 1898 England, Ebenezer Howard proposed the idea for the creation of a "Garden City." Located outside a metropolis, Howard sketched a cluster of homes and gardens, planned around a central park.

In the mid-1920s, Nankin Township farms, of which part was later incorporated in 1927 as the village of Garden City, were subdivided and plotted for sale as private "farmlets" by land speculators and real estate developers making Ebenezer Howard's dream a reality.

In October 1923, a roadside sign read "40 foot lots, $1 a week." An ad for The Folker Co., which called itself the "developers of Garden City," referred to Garden City as the "Sun Parlor" of Detroit. Arnold Folker offered buyers with the sale of a "square half acre of Garden City, the opportunity to live much better for less cash outlay."

THE AMERICAN dream slowly began to evolve: to own a little house in the country with enough land for a garden. When World War I ended in 1918, the dream became reality. A revolution in transportation hastened the death of a day-to-day life of drudgery in the dismal and stifling industrial surroundings.

American cities and architecture would never be the same after the privately owned automobile became affordable.

Henry Ford I revolutionized the automobile industry and, in turn, American architecture with his invention of the assembly line. The technological discovery of the line, coupled with the creation of the standardized model of automobile, Ford's black Model T, brought prices of mass produced transportation within the range of the working man.

"The automobile brought freedom, and that freedom brought the longing for space, wide open spaces," said architect Betty-lee Seydler-Sweatt.

Seydler-Sweatt is an associate professor of architecture at Lawrence Technological Institute in Southfield, where she teaches two different courses in historic preservation. She also operates Preservation Planning Inc. in Franklin.

The automobile connected large industialized cities with the space of the suburbs. Within these wide open spaces, soon filled with tracts of homes, came the need for downtown commercial architecture.

IN 1928, Arnold Folker built The Folker Building on the southeast corner of Ford Road and Middlebelt. "The architecture is in the style of Classic Revival, but it's been simplified," Seydler-Sweatt said. "It has renaissance detail (the clock) at the top."

A parapet where the facade continues up, beyond the edge of the roof, marks the corner facade as does a single row of dentils above the main entrance. "The way the architecture occupies the corner identifies this as the center of the city," Seydler-Sweatt said. "The architecture is talking this way."

"This is the way, many banks were built in the 1920s," she added.

The massive architecture of the Farmington State Savings Bank, built in 1922, occupies the corner of Grand River and Farmington Road in this same manner, identifying it as the center of the city.

Joyce Pappas, whose father bought The Folker Building in 1964 to house a jewelry business, said her family has not changed the building in any way except to add a sign, which reads, Orin Jewelers, and awnings. They had the exterior stone cleaned.

"The building is a wood structure with a limestone face," said Joyce's brother, Orin Mazonni Jr. He along with his brother, Michael, and sister, Joyce, operate Orin Jewelers, since their father retired.

An ad for The Folker Co., which called itself the "developers of Garden City," referred to Garden City as the "Sun Parlor" of Detroit.

FOUNDED IN 1840, the Garden City Presbyterian Church, after existing in two different timber structures, built "a new brick building 35-feet-by-60 feet for $13,000."

The new Garden City Presbyterian Church was dedicated in October 1928. "You can see the English Tudor influence in the building," Seydler-Sweatt said.

Encasing the church's entrance is a tudor arch: a wide, low pointed arch, commonly used in the architecture of Tudor England.

American religious architecture during the late 19th and early 20th century used an immense amount of revival styles, or as Seydler-Sweatt lightheartedly refers to them, "revivals of revivals."

"Most of our communities are vernacular structures," Seydler-Sweatt said,"with a lot of revival details."

THE EDSEL B. Ford mansion in Grosse Pointe is a blend of several medieval styles grafted onto an English Tudor.

The congregation of Garden City Presbyterian Church grew at a quickening pace. Between 1923 and 1933, many small homes "were built on wood posts set into the ground and protruding a couple of feet above the surface."

Other Garden City residents built "garage homes on the backs of their lots" with the intention of building a "proper house" in front, at which time, the rear structure would revert to a garage.

In 1941, the Garden City Presbyterian Church began to build an addition to the church to accommodate its growing flock. Then the U.S. entered World War II. By 1943, the only portion completed was the "two-story manse" to house Pastor Robert Rives' family.

During the era between World War I and World War II, the idea of city planning became a reality, fired by the dream of Ebenezer Howard's ideal living environment: "Garden City."

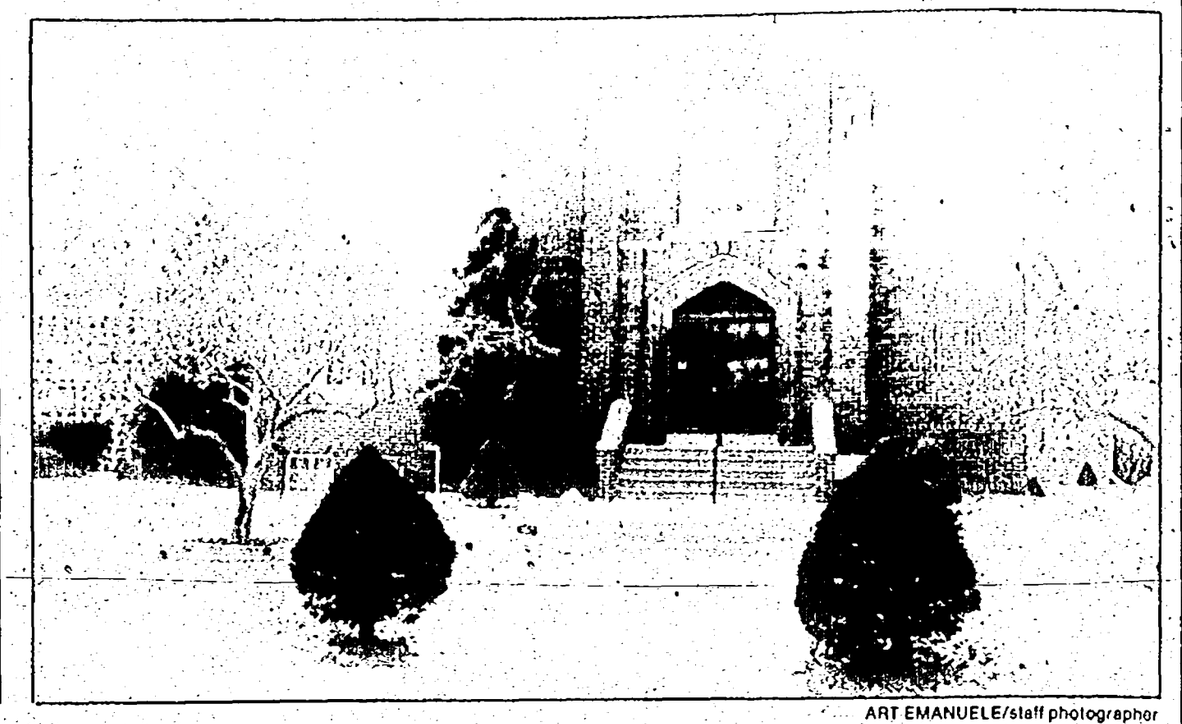
Garden City Presbyterian Church, built in 1928, has primarily an English Tudor influence, according to architect Betty-lee Seydler-Sweatt. Characteristic of the style is the Tudor arch, a low, wide arch that peaks above the church's wood doors.



ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

The wooden entrance doors to Garden City Presbyterian Church were replaced with glass. In 1967 the stained glass windows above the Tudor arch were dedicated. In 1955 an addition of a youth center, a sanctuary, an office and an educational wing expanded the structure to the rear of the main architecture.

Tracking Garden City's downtown heritage

Earlier, Howard published "Tomorrow, a Peaceful Path to Reform," later titled "Garden Cities of Tomorrow." In 1902, he founded the Garden City and Townplanning Association on the outskirts of London, England.

BUT IT was not until Ebenezer Howard built the first of his "Garden Cities" in Letchworth in 1902 and Welwyn in 1919 that he drew the attention of American architects and planners.

They became interested in Howard's ideal community set amidst wide open spaces upon learning that the community was economically self-sufficient. Howard's "Garden City" in order to become self-sustaining retained a small separate area for local industry.

American architect, planners and developers began patterning communities after Howard's "Garden City," from New York and New Jersey, to New Mexico.

By October 28, 1933, Garden City, Mich., was incorporated as "a home rule city." In October 1951, the first strip of concrete pavement was laid.

When Garden City became incorporated as a village in 1927, its population was estimated at 900. By 1960, the population had grown to 35,000. With Garden City's growth came the rise of modern commercial architecture.

IN MARCH 1962, Kmart Corp. opened the nation's first Kmart store in Garden City, Mich., according to Kmart public communications manager, Mary L. Lorencz.

"The basic structure is a very contemporary building derived from the international style," Seydler-Sweatt said. "The style evolved because there was lots of land on which to spread out the architecture. You could call the style 'strip suburban.'"

The international style, based on modern structural materials, used concrete, glass and steel. It rejected nonessential decoration. Bands and strips of windows were a major design feature of the style, creating a horizontal feeling.

According to Seydler-Sweatt, the Garden City Kmart is "very (Ludwig) Mies van der Rohe" even though he was known more for his vertical glass skyscraper than his horizontally expansive glass buildings, such as the Illinois Institute of Technology.

From the farmlands of the 1820s to the Garden City of the 1990s, architecture, truly is, the storyteller of civilizations.

Monte Nagler's photograph of Bond Falls illustrates how an unusual angle combined with composition that puts the viewer at the very edge of the action can build impact.

Put impact into your photos

Monte Nagler

Students and photography friends often ask, What makes a picture good? What separates the dynamic photograph from the ho-hum snapshot?

A number of key ingredients get a picture noticed and give it attention-getting power.

First is impact, difficult to describe, but so important in the formulation of a good photograph.

You might say that if a picture arouses feelings and emotions of joy, appreciation or excitement, even anger or sorrow, then that photograph most assuredly will have impact.

HOW DO you obtain impact in your shot?

Begin by selecting subject matter that is either unusual or is treated in an unusual way. Use a special camera angle or perhaps a different lens. Place the subject in an unusual environment or try special filtration. Important also is to shoot on a day with fog or mist or dramatic cloud patterns.

Pay attention to good composition. Place the elements of your picture in the viewfinder in the strongest way possible. Express on film what you see and feel when taking your shot. Fill the frame for added impact and watch backgrounds for distracting objects.

A good picture will hold the viewer's attention and will keep him or her thinking about the image. It will also stir the imagination. A good photograph will often have a story to tell that will have meaning and substance.

HOW BEST to put meaning in your shot is to photograph those subjects that capture your own interest. If your own feelings become a part of your photograph, you most certainly will produce a fine picture, one that will have more impact for others to enjoy.

Not only should a photograph say something worthwhile, but it should say it well. The picture must be well focused and have proper exposure. Color saturation and contrast should be technically correct and your pictures should be presented in a neat, professional fashion.

Also, sharpen your visual awareness and perception of the world around you. If you do, your photographs will be remarkably improved.

Monte Nagler is a Farmington Hills-based photographer.

1st chamber concert a winner

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra, under conductor Francesco DiBlasi, began the first of its Library Series concerts, "Music Internationale," with a well-rehearsed rendition of Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" Friday in the chamber-style auditorium at the Livonia Civic Center Library.

"The Library Series, because of the intimacy of the auditorium and reduced number of orchestra members (one-third of the Livonia Symphony), created music which was more sensitive," DiBlasi said.

Throughout the evening, DiBlasi spoke to the audience, creating the feeling that they were part of the performance.

For the second selection of the evening, DiBlasi directed five members of the brass section in Pezel's "Three Pieces for Brass."

During the third movement, one could almost see the dancers (in the King's Court) whirling about the ballroom floor.

review

DiBlasi teased the audience with a few phrases of the first two movements of the evening's third selection, "Symphony No 38 (Prague)," by Mozart before performing them with precision.

"Unlike most symphonies, which have four movements," DiBlasi said, "Prague has only three."

THE VIOLIN section introduced the light and airy second movement, which DiBlasi informed the audience was in 6/8 time. The third movement was precisely performed, very fast.

Guest artists for the evening were Kazmimierz Brzozowski, the internationally awardwinning pianist and bagpiper Charles Scheer.

Scheer performed a medley of songs "Mull of Kintyre," "Dark Island" and "Goin' Home."

During the last bagpipe selection, "Goin' Home," a medley rode over the background tone and faded as Scheer left to play the last moving notes, off stage.

After intermission, guest artist Brzozowski flawlessly performed the "Warsaw Concerto" by Richard Addinsell. The concerto was composed for the English motion picture, "Dangrous Moonlight," and was released in the states as "Suicide Squadron" in 1942.

Internationally, Brozozowski has won several piano competitions, including the International Piano Competition in Yugoslavia and the Frederic Chopin Society Piano Competition in Poland. The concerto from the old movie touched the audience with its melody of beautiful piano notes by Brzozowski and heartugging strings by the Livonia Symphony's violins.

The next Library Concert is Friday, Feb. 22. "American Theatre Music." Call the symphony hotline for tickets: 422-8090.

Wildlife: It commands photographic spotlight

In this well-balanced photograph of an American eagle, the photographer uses the slightly off-center eye of the eagle to draw attention to the eagle's cunning expression. The hackled feathers draw attention to the bird's alertness.

The work of professional wildlife photographer Rick Denomee is on exhibit in the Livonia City Hall lobby through Feb. 19.

The Northville resident works with his wife, Connie, to produce pictures of birds and animals, which, he says, "are so important in our lives and the world around us."

A Michigan native, Denomee is self-taught. His home library of more than 100 photographic books enables him to develop his own style and technique.

The Denomees do all the processing, mounting and matting in their home lab.

Although the variety of wildlife makes southern Michigan their favorite place for wildlife photography, the Denomees travel across North America to photograph specific species of birds and animals: Alaska for grizzly bear, Maine for puffins, California for sea otter, Florida for eagles and Yellowstone for elk and bison.

Denomee has displayed and sold more than 250 images of his work in more than 30 Midwest arts and crafts shows.

At this time, the Denomees are on a whale watch.

The Livonia City Hall is on Farmington Road, just south of Five Mile.

This snowy-white egret is a member of the heron family. The curving lines of the egret's neck lead the viewer's eye upward to the straight line of the lightning-quick beak of the cunning fisherman.

The serenity of this lone water lily is captured twice in the mirror effect of the water. The water lily's petals form a sphere of lines that radiate outward from the central point of interest.

Examples of photos by Rick Denomee

A bright, red cardinal perches on a twig-like branch. The cardinal dominates the composition. Through use of light against the darks of the background, the photographer draws the viewer's interest to the main object: the bird.

● DANCE PERFORMANCES

Two of Michigan's premier dance companies will perform together for the first time at Oakland University.

The concert by Harbinger Dance Company and Wellspring Dance Collaborative will be at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8, in Varner Recital Hall, Rochester Hills. It is sponsored by the Department of Music, Theatre and Dance and the College of Arts and Sciences.

Harbinger, the first Michigan dance company to receive a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, was established in 1970. This will be its first concert at Oakland since it became a resident company last fall.

Laurie Eisenhower, assistant professor of dance, is artistic director of the company. This concert will include a duet choreographed by Shirley Ririe of the Ririe-Woodbury Company of Utah. Two works by Eisenhower will be premiered.

Wellspring, a Kalamazoo touring company of six dancers, was established in 1981 under Cori Terry, artistic director. It is known for its willingness to experiment and take risks with choreography.

Wellspring will perform Terry's "Landsleit," a surreal/feminist statement for three women set to the music of Bohuslav Martinu. "Landsleit" is a Yiddish word for compatriots. Also on the program will be Terry's "Hive of Glass."

Tickets are $10 general admission, $6 for senior citizens and students and $3 for OU students. For concert information, call 370-3013.

Debugging your plant world down to earth

Marty Figley

Our last topic was the environment in which our plants live. Now it's time to address the problem of little critters that can quickly make owning houseplants a less than happy experience.

Examine your houseplants very closely, for aphids, white flies, springtails, spider mites, mealybugs and scale and treat them now to bring them back to good health.

If the plant growth is stunted or the foliage has begun to curl and become distorted, suspect aphids. These tiny plant lice, either green, red, pink, brown or black are sucking insects that secrete honeydew (a sticky product), which harbors a sooty black mold.

If the leaves have turned yellow and dropped, look for white flies. They look like tiny white moths and are also sucking insects, which fly when disturbed. The larvae, which hatch from eggs laid on the underside of leaves, do the most damage.

Springtails often "spring" up from the soil when it is watered. They usually feed on fungi and decayed vegetation. Sometimes they eat the plants. In this case, good hygiene around the base of the plants is essential.

IF THE leaves have a speckled, mottled appearance, spider mites may be the culprit. They spin fine webs on leaf undersides and multiply quickly in dry air.

Watch the cacti. If they become grayish looking, spider mites may be doing the dirty deed.

If you see a cottony mass on leaves or stems, sucking insects known as mealybugs, tiny, crawling, pinkish pests may be present. They seem to prefer the "joint" areas. Dabbing them with an alcohol soaked cotton swab will destroy them.

An irregular pattern of yellowish-green, brown or black spots or blisters on the underside of leaves is caused by scale, tiny oval-shaped insects. On ferns the scale are white.

Swabbing the scale with denatured alcohol will control it if caught in time, otherwise the plants will yellow and die.

AND FINALLY, fungus gnat — these are soil-breeding insects that look like tiny black flies, while the larvae look like tiny worms. Look for them on the soil surface and in the top inch of soil.

A gentle washing with warm, soapy water followed with a clear rinse will often take care of most of the problems (other than the cases where alcohol is recommended).

The most conservative approach is always best. When you do need to use pesticides, follow the directions exactly, and use those recommended for the specific insects that you need to control.

Our next subject will be diseases or "hurts" your plants may have.

A SPECIAL series of classes to provide an overview on starting and maintaining a plant nursery is being offered in response to numerous inquiries at the County Extension Offices.

The four-part series is scheduled for Feb. 12, 15, 19, and 22, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at a location near I-75 and US-23. Cost: $35 each, or $120 for the series. Lunch and refreshments are included.

For further information, call 858-0887 (Pontiac) or 732-1474 (Flint). The series will be presented by Mary Wilson, Genesee horticulture agent and Greg Patchen, Oakland horticulture agent.

Marty Figley is a Birmingham-based garden writer.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

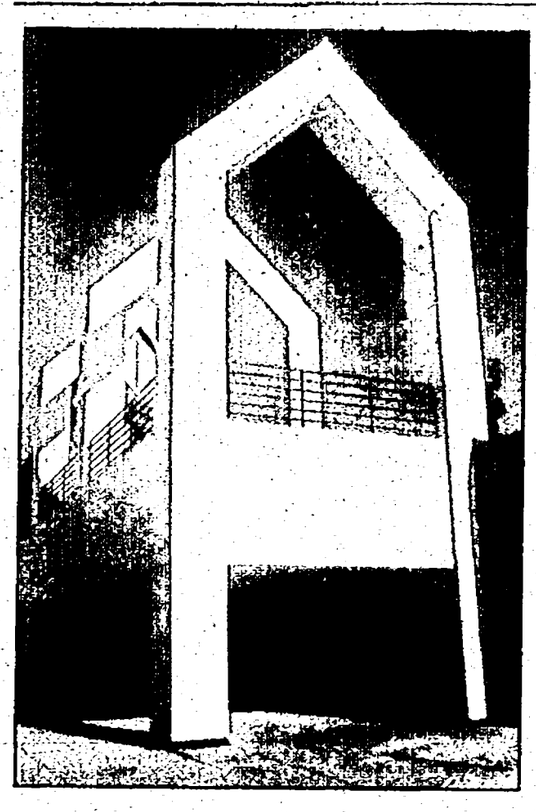
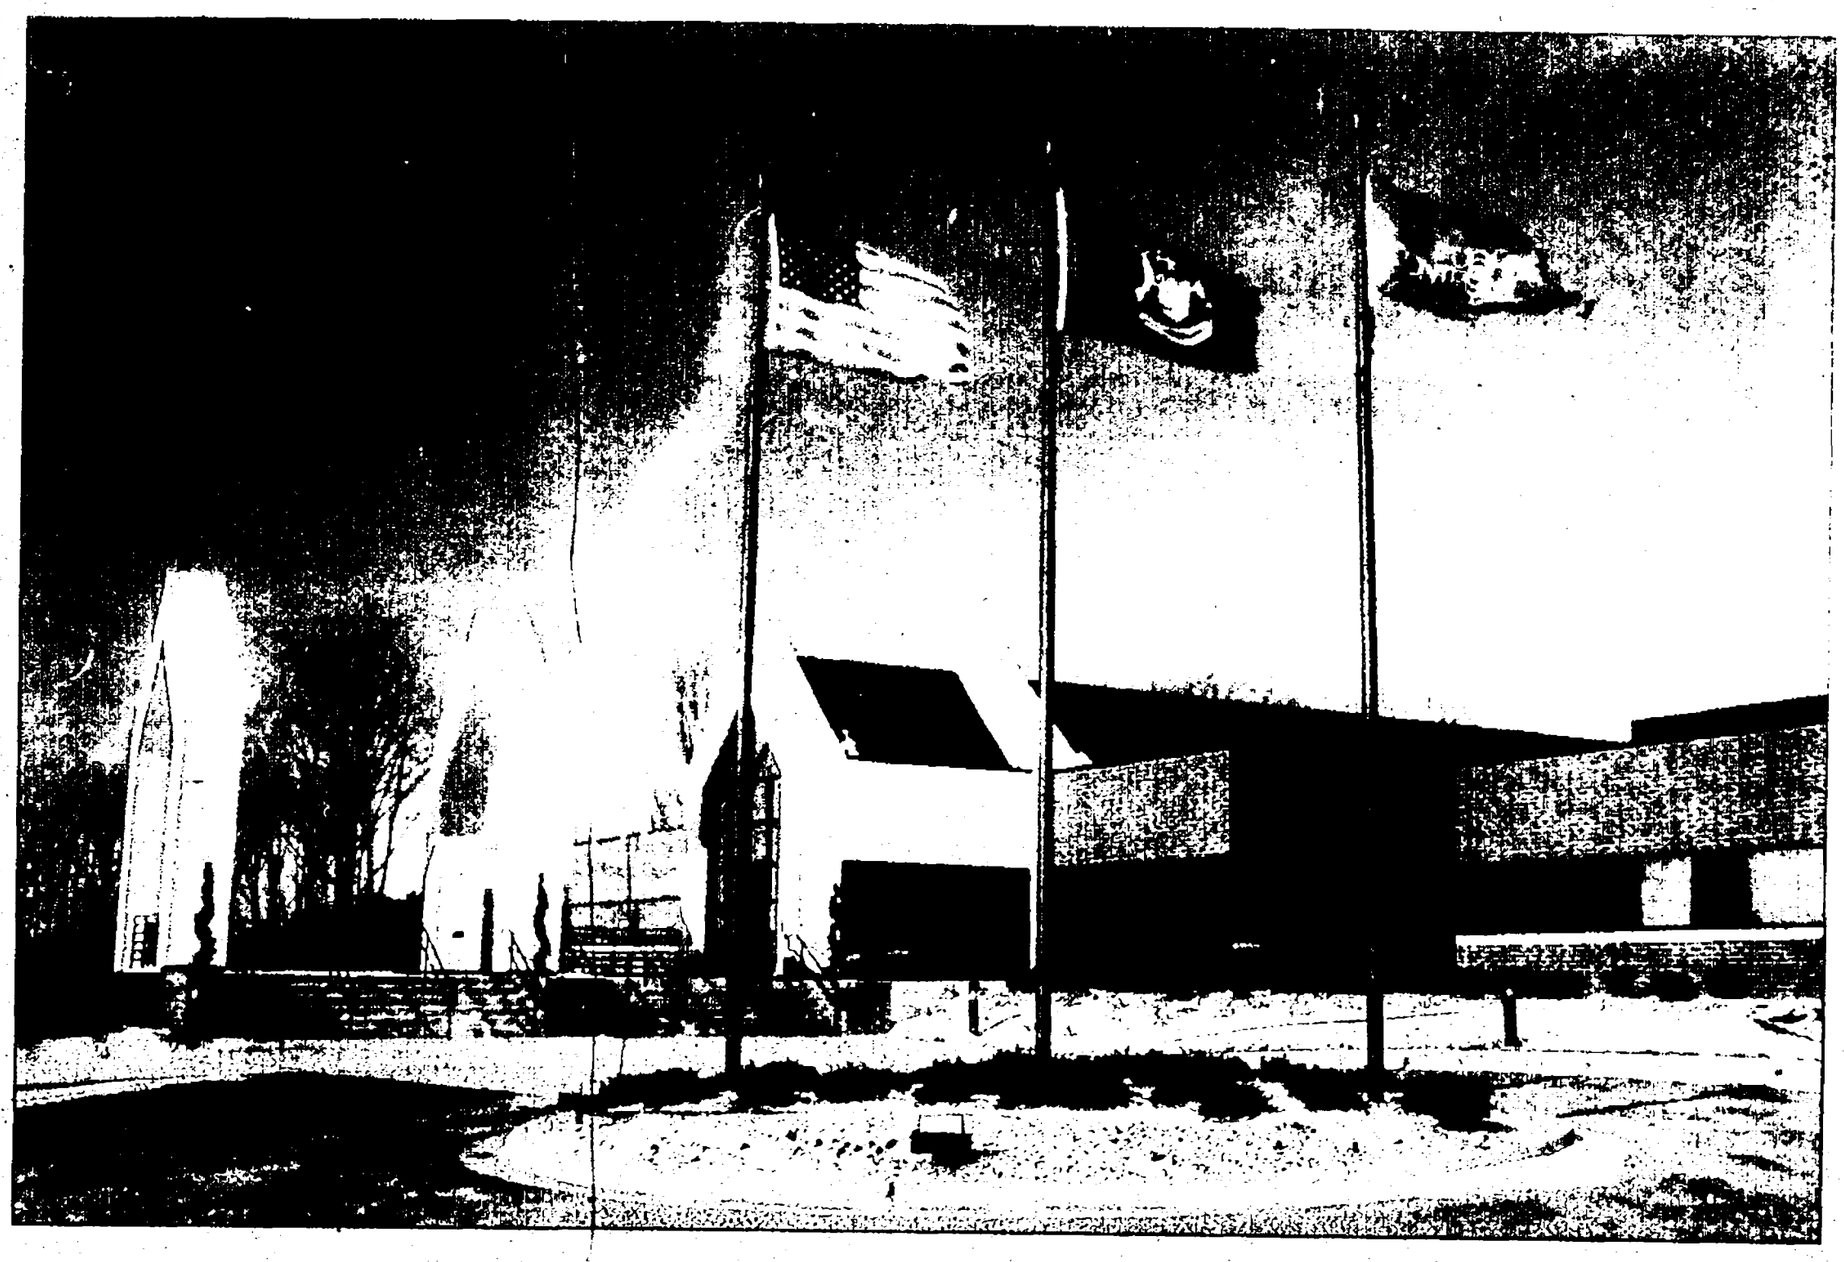
Marilyn Fitchett editor/591-2300

Thursday, January 31, 1991 O&E





Johnson Controls Automotive Systems Group Technology Center in Plymouth features a double arch that accents the center's main entrance. The building was selected by the Construction Association of Michigan as one of 10 winning projects.

Construction industry struts local winners

Some insiders at the Construction Association of Michigan refer to the process as their Academy Awards — building projects annually selected by the membership as premier examples of quality design and craftsmanship.

All but one of 10 winners this year have a connection with Observer & Eccentric communities.

"We wanted to give some recognition to contractors, subcontractors and suppliers who build projects," Brenda Zimmerman, association spokeswoman, said of the contest.

A nominated project must have been built within the past four years. Both the contractor and architect must be based in Michigan.

Photographs, renderings and models of the winners will be displayed at the association's annual exposition Feb. 13-14 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

"We purposely have not set qualified or measureable criteria," said James Kostrava, chairman of CAM Expo '91. "It really is a subjective thing. Whatever their opinion is — this is an excellent project in Michigan — is good enough for us.

"It's our top award. This is the one award given from the whole broad scope of the industry."

All of the association's more than 3,000 members, plus several hundred architects and engineers were asked to list three projects. Ballots were tabulated, winners announced. Descriptions of the buildings were provided by CAM.

They include:

• BASF Corp., Coatings & Colorants Division, Southfield.

A total of $43 million was spent on 228,000 square feet of new research and development space, renovation of 45,000 square feet of existing space and a new 332-car parking structure.

The exterior of the building reflects the high-tech image of BASF through a sleek network of smooth, square bricks, ribbons of glass and punched windows. The entrance is accented by a blue-tinted glass curtain wall curving toward the center of the building.

• Philip A. Hart Middle School, Rochester Hills.

This project, 160,000 square feet costing $13 million, includes classrooms, media center, lecture hall, two gyms, cafetorium, special ed facilities and provisions for electronic dissemination of educational information.

Outdoor facilities include a track and field complex, football, baseball, three softball fields and tennis courts.

The designer was Roy G. French Associates of Rochester.

• Johnson Controls, Automotive Systems Group Technology Center, Plymouth Township.

The $17.1-million, 222,900-square-foot project brings together corporate management, research and development, engineering, marketing

Carpet stairs with quiet

(AP) — Stairs leading directly from a living room or central hallway can look more attractive and inviting when carpeted.

And, a carpeted stairway will quiet your home by softening footsteps and absorbing sound waves. Carpeted stairs are safer, too, lessening your chances of slipping.

Avoid utility-grade carpeting. Stairways get heavy wear, especially along the tread nosing. Choose an easy-to-clean variety with a dense pile. Carpet with attached cushion backing is cheaper and easier to put down, but isn't recommended for stairways.

Since you want a long, narrow runner, you may be able to buy remnants of high-quality carpeting at much less than the going rate for a room-size piece. The runner need not be one length. Two or more sections can hide the seam under the tread nosing where it will be unnoticeable. Remember, the pile on each piece should always lie facing toward the bottom of the stairs. Both ascending and descending, the pressure of your foot is mostly toward the tread nosing, so unless the pile faces the same way, wear will be excessive. Feel pile direction by running your hand lightly across the carpet.

The most common method for carpeting a stairway with a closed wall on one side and open balusters at the other is to roll both edges under, allowing about one inch from the wall with 1½ inches roll-under at the edges. If your carpeting won't unravel at a cut edge, you can butt it against the sidewall without roll-under.

DETERMINE the total length of the runner by measuring one tread and one riser, wrapping the tape measure around the nosing and holding it against the riser below the tread with your thumb. Add 1 inch to allow for the thickness of the padding under the carpet. Multiply this figure by the number of steps. Remember to allow extra carpeting if your runner is in two or more sections, since each section must join under a tread nosing.

To get width, measure from the wall to the base of the balusters, or whatever portion of the step you will be covering. Add 2½ inches for rolling the edges under — 1½ inches for each side. Since you will probably need to trim at least one edge along the runner's length, allow an additional inch for this. If your carpeting has irregular edges, be sure you have enough material to trim the full length of both sides straight.

Measure a stairway with a landing as if the landing were one deep step. Ideally, cover the landing and the first riser above it with one piece. If you can't, include the riser with the steps above it. Winder steps — wedge-shaped steps that turn a corner — require carpeting about 50 percent wider than a straight runner, and waste considerable material. You need a separate piece for each step and the riser above it. The pile on each tread must be at right angles to the nosing and facing downstairs.

and support staff in an atmosphere of accessibility on a 23-acre wooded site.

Highlights include a two-story central concourse with skylight.

R.A. DeMattia Co. was the general contractor, DeMattia & Associates, the designer. Both are in Plymouth.

● Rittner Products, Rochester.

Two separate industrial buildings were connected with a two-story, 14,000-square-foot addition at an office/warehouse complex. The entire facade was faced with a synthetic plaster to create horizontal lines running the length of the 250-foot building.

The cost was $500,000.

Frank Rewold & Son, based in Rochester, was the general contractor, Architectural Studios of Gerald J. Yurk Associates of Rochester the designer.

● Rochester Community Schools Administration Center, Rochester.

This project involved renovation of 80,000 square feet of existing space including the original historical school building (1880), a 1920 former junior high addition and a 1930 former high school addition.

Three new elevators were added for barrier-free access, and extensive site work was done including new parking, truck service areas and driveways.

All at a cost of $8 million.

A.J. Etkin Construction of Farmington Hills was the general contractor, Roy G. French Associates the designer.

● Walsh College, Troy.

This $3.2-million project involved an addition of 32,400 square feet and renovation to 8,000 square feet.

The work touched on virtually every aspect of the building. Classrooms and a new entrance were added, while existing interior spaces received a facelift.

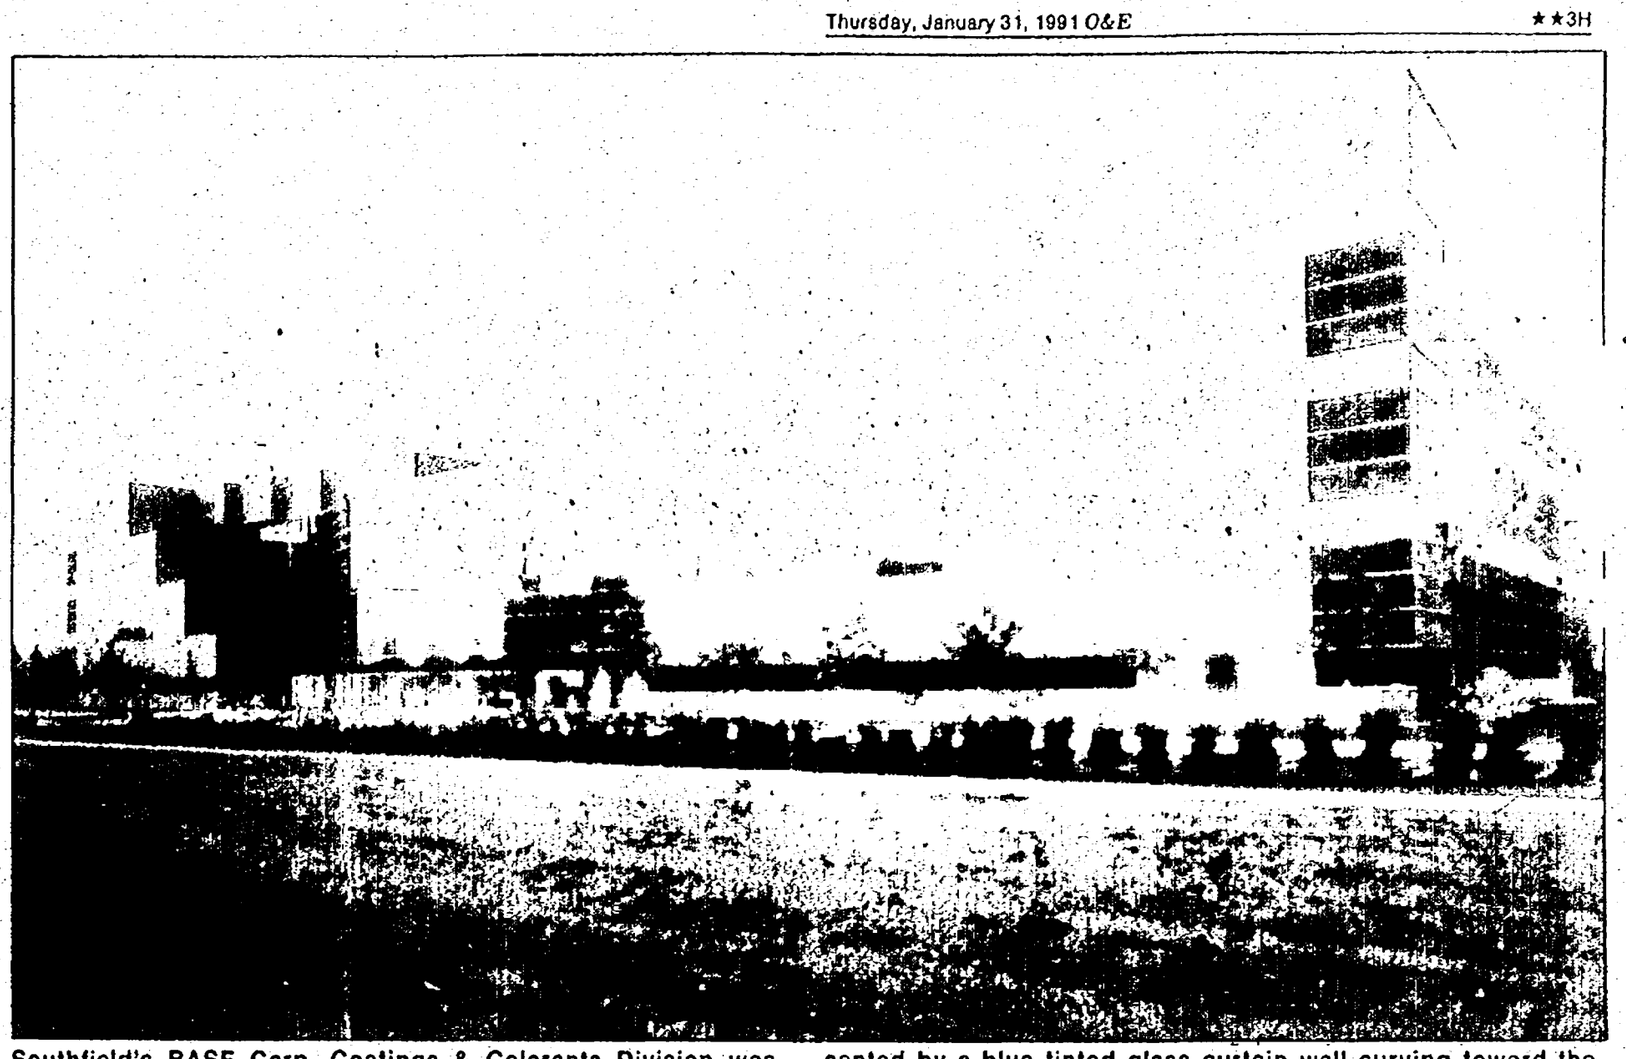
Louis G. Redstone Associates of Livonia designed the project.

Area firms were involved with other winning projects:

Harley, Ellington, Pierce, Yee Associates of Southfield was the designer, A.J. Etkin the contractor for a 305,000-square-foot office/prototype building for ITT Automotive in Auburn Hills.

Kenneth Neumann/Joel Smith & Associates of Southfield was a designer on Pointe Plaza, a $26-million mixed-use retail/office project in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Barton-Malow of Southfield was general contractor for a 380,000-square-foot NBD Technology Center in Van Buren Township.



Southfield's BASF Corp. Coatings & Colorants Division was noted for its use of a "sleek network of smooth square bricks, ribbons of glass and punched windows." The entrance is accented by a blue tinted glass curtain wall curving toward the center of the building.

Isn't It A Shame?

You had no idea, did you, that a seemingly harmless piece of plastic could become an implement of death to an innocent sea creature? Yet it happens, unfortunately, on a grand scale.

Tons of plastic material are lost or dumped into the oceans each year, imperiling the lives of hundreds of thousands of aquatic animals.

Plastic bags, six-pack yokes, fishing nets and other materials can trap fish, mammals, turtles and birds, causing death by drowning or strangulation. Sometimes animals get sick or starve when they eat plastic that they mistake for food.
