Proposed teacher pact includes pay hikes

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Wayne-Westland teachers are expected Monday to ratify a proposed contract that would give them a raise that totals 11.9 percent when compounded over two years.

The pact would cost the school district an estimated $4 million.

Hundreds of teachers were told specifics of the last-minute tentative agreement at a meeting Wednesday afternoon with leaders of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, which represents 1,000 members in collective bargaining.

Although the union didn't ask for an informal vote at the meeting, held in Wayne Memorial High School's Stockmeyer Auditorium, union president William Reece predicted the contract will be approved Monday in a ballot vote in schools throughout the district.

"There will be some negative votes, but it will be passed overwhelmingly," Reece said after Wednesday's 1 1/2-hour session.

The latest proposal, which averted a teachers' strike last Tuesday, emerged from 11th-hour negotiations between union representatives and school officials. Teachers have been working without a contract since Aug. 27.

Under the proposed contract, teachers would get a 3.5-percent raise for the current school year, another 4 percent pay hike for the first semester of the 1991-92 school year, and a 4 percent raise for the second semester of that school year.

"Nobody's completely satisfied with it, so that must mean something's right," school Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said late Wednesday afternoon, adding that "it's a very fair and equitable contract for both sides."

UNDER TERMS of the contract, the top salary for union members with a master's degree and at the top of the salary schedule would increase from $45,755 to $47,355 for the current school year and to $51,220 for the following school year.

The pact could be extended for a third year if the union and school officials can reach an accord by late August in 1992. Negotiations would begin no later than April 1 of that year.

During Wednesday's meeting, Reece told teachers that if the proposed agreement is ratified, their raises would be reflected on their paychecks in mid-February. They also would receive a lump-sum check in early March for the retroactive portion of the pact.

Some teachers appeared concerned that they wouldn't receive their second-year raises if a proposed 7.75-mill tax increase fails in a special March 13 election. "That's not true," Reece said.

Several teachers predicted as they left the union session that the contract will be approved Monday, though some said the victory margin could be narrow.

Kip Swihart, WWEA building representative at Adams Junior High School, said teachers he has talked with "very truly believe that the negotiating team did the best they could," considering the school district's financial woes.

Elwood (Woody) London, the district's associate superintendent of business and operations, said the new contract would cost the district an estimated $4 million over two years.

Both Reece and O'Neill said the contract should pose no problems for the millage election, saying the tax increase being sought is aimed at restoring programs eliminated or reduced six months ago.

DURING THE WWEA meeting, teachers heard a millage pep talk by Ken McGregor, a Michigan Education Association political action consultant who is helping organize the millage campaign.

McGregor said that a campaign headquarters will be set up on Wayne Road, where the former strike headquarters had been, to telephone 25,000 school district households beginning Monday to seek voters' support. Moreover, he said, students will participate in a door-to-door campaign.

The month-long push will focus largely on some 5,500 parents who didn't vote last June, when an identical millage proposal failed.

Pact gives cops 18.8% pay raise

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Westland police officers will receive nearly an 18.8 percent wage hike over four years as a result of a new contract that will cost the city an additional $1 million.

The pact won unanimous support Monday night from the seven-member city council, ending eight months of negotiations described by both sides as cordial. Police officers had been working without a contract since June 30.

The council's approval came two weeks after the Westland Police Officers Association ratified the contract by a 63-9 margin. The agreement applies to 67 police officers and eight dispatchers.

"We really worked hard toward having an amicable relationship and agreement," Kent Herbert, city personnel director, said in response to a question about the tone of contract talks.

Scott Hall, union president, agreed, saying the police officers' union "has been getting along very well with city hall."

The contract, retroactive to July 1, provides for a new salary scale ranging from $24,495 for a new police officer to $34,994 for an officer with five or more years on the job. In the final year of the pact, those salaries will range from $27,552 to $39,361.

Dispatchers will earn 70 percent of the salaries of police officers.

tract Monday with virtually no discussion. The agreement calls for a 5.59 percent wage hike in the first year, followed by raises in subsequent years of 4.24 percent, 3.85 percent and 3.86 percent.

Although the percentages add up to 17.54, when compounded the actual raise would be nearly 18.8 percent over four years.

MICHAEL GORMAN, city finance director, said money has already been set aside in the city budget for the first-year raises. Subsequent pay hikes will be paid from "future revenues," and city officials expect no problems in fulfilling the terms of the contract, he said.

The city "would not be seeking a tax increase" to pay for the new pay hikes and benefits that will cost the city an estimated $1,064,406 during the life of the contract, Gorman said.

Other than wage hikes, Hall said the police officers also were particularly pleased with two other new provisions of the contract:

Cigarette butt leads to robbery confession

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

Westland's Douglas Harold O'Neill discovered Monday his cigarette habit could cost him more than his health. It might mean a lengthy prison sentence.

Livonia police smoked out an admission of guilt from O'Neill to one count of armed robbery when they informed him that saliva from cigarette butts found at the scene of a March 1990 gas station heist had been chemically matched to his blood characteristics.

O'NEILL, 34, pleaded guilty to the charge in front of Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Dalton Roberson shortly after his bench trial began, said Detective Sgt. Jesse Bartlett.

He will be sentenced by Roberson April 11.

"All along he had been telling us he didn't do it," Bartlett said Monday. "We confronted him with the evidence and he finally admitted it."

Bartlett said the cigarette butts, along with a good description of the suspect and his van by the gas station clerk, were keys to the successful prosecution.

Police said O'Neill pulled his white Dodge van into the Mobil station on Farmington Road at Six Mile about 7:30 a.m. March 4.

He walked into the station and announced the robbery, telling a clerk he had a gun and an accomplice waiting in the van and ordering him to the floor, police said.

After taking $200 from the cash register, he returned to the van and fled southbound on Farmington, witnesses told police.

Police, alerted by radio after the clerk called in the robbery, stopped the van about 90 minutes later on eastbound Seven Mile.

O'NEILL MATCHED the description of the robbery suspect and money from the gas station was found in his pants pocket, police said.

He also had a package of More cigarettes, Bartlett said.

Officers at the scene of the robbery collected cigarette butts from a spot adjacent to where witnesses said the van had been parked.

These included More butts that when tested by the Michigan State Police crime lab showed saliva "consistent with the secretions of the defendant's blood type," Bartlett said. "It's not as new as DNA testing but it's similar," the detective said of the process.

Council meetings to be shown on cable TV

By Leonard Poger
editor

"Monday Night Live — from Westland City Hall!"

Well, it may not be all that exciting but Westland city council members are expected to make local history soon by agreeing to have their business meetings seen on cable-TV starting in July.

The council agreed informally at a study session last week that it will have its sessions taped by a cable crew and broadcast a few days later on Channel 8, which has programming generated by the city's cable-TV/community relations contractor.

In past years, the council has consistently turned the political "off" button when suggestions were made to have the sessions televised.

The council last week directed Joseph Benyo, its legislative assistant, to make recommendations by March 1 on the projected costs and operational details for taping the council meetings.

THE COUNCIL was reacting to a survey made by Benyo last fall to determine how many Detroit area communities have their meetings on cable and their general comments on airing the meetings.

After agreeing to have their sessions on TV, several council members quipped about makeup preparation and losing weight for the camera.

On the cost of taping and cable-casting the meetings, a cable commissioner told the council there is more than enough money available to the city from the franchise fees paid it from Continental Cablevision, which has had the Westland franchise since 1984.

Benyo told the Observer Tuesday that the council sessions will be taped for replay several days later. The tapes "will be cleaned up" to avoid the frequent lulls in meetings, as when persons are walking to and from the rostrum when addressing the council.

IN HIS survey of Detroit area communities, 33 answered his questionnaire. Of those 33, 20 have their meetings viewed on cable. Of those 10 have them cable-cast live, four are on tape-delay and six have a combination.

The response to the programs has been overwhelmingly favorable by both the elected officials and the public, according to Benyo's summary of his survey.

The cost for those communities putting their meetings on cable varies from none to $252,000, depending of whether volunteers or the cable contractor handle the duties.

In 10 of the 20 cities who have meetings on TV, additional equipment had to be acquired.

During the council's discussion last week, it was noted that the cable communications commission will start having its own meeting live on cable starting Feb. 21.

In hearing about other communities' experience with council sessions, it was noted that there was some initial resistance by some who feared a lot of "grandstanding" for the cable TV cameras.

But that concern was resolved after a few meetings were seen on TV, he said.

Westland assessment hike continues at a slow pace

By Leonard Poger
editor

Westland homeowners will see their property assessments increase this spring from 7 to 8 percent, said city assessor William Schmidt.

But local property taxes will go up only 6 percent under the Headlee Amendment to the state Constitution which limits tax increases to the rate of increase of the U.S. consumer price index.

Schmidt said the rise in assessments reflects the increase in housing prices as compiled during a two-year sales study for the period ending last March 30.

The assessor said the study covered all 2,098 Westland sales in that two-year period and reflect an average turnover in the community of about 23,000 homes.

While the assessments are increasing, Schmidt said the latest increase is the lowest in the past three to four years when the annual increases were close to 10 percent.

In an interview in his City Hall office, Schmidt talked about the assessment boosts following the release of tentative state equalization valuation figures compiled by the Wayne County taxation and equalization department.

He said the average home sale, based on the county study, was $60,300.

The increases in home prices were echoed by Charles Pickering, a local real estate broker and city councilman.

On a citywide basis, the city's SEV will be close to $1 billion, a boost of 5.8 percent over last year.

That means that one mill in property taxes will generate nearly $1 million in property tax revenues.

The preliminary SEV for the city is $988.8 million, compared to $934.5 million last year, said City Finance Director Michael Gorman.

One mill generates $1 per $1,000 of SEV.

For a homeowner with a property tax bill of $2,000, the new increase will be an annual boost of $120, based on no changes in millage rates levied by the city, school district, and county.

In the Wayne-Westland school district, which covers most of the city, the current millage rate from all governmental agencies is $68.42 per $1,000 of SEV. In the Livonia school district, which serves the northern section of Westland, the combined millage rates are $57.39.

FOR A resident in a $60,000 home, that means an annual tax bill of $2,052.60 in the Wayne-Westland district and $1,721.70 in the Livonia district.

Schmidt said that all property owners will be mailed assessment notices with the city Board of Review, which can reduce assessments. It meets in early March.

The board, he said, can cut an assessment for one of two reasons: proof of financial hardship or that the property is overassessed when compared to like properties.

The board will hear assessment appeals Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of the weeks of March 4-6, 11-13, and 18-20. Day and evening hours will be scheduled.

The city's final and official SEV will be set by the county after the local board of review makes changes in assessments.

Schmidt said that commercial properties in the city will have their assessments increased 4 percent this year with industrial properties up 3 percent, a sharp drop from the 9 1/2 and 8 1/2 percent increases, respectively, in the previous year.

percent increase in their pensions after six years of retirement.

Officers hired from other police departments will be granted a one-third credit for years worked. For example, a newly hired Westland officer with six years' experience at other police departments would receive credit for two years.

"That was an incentive to attract people with police experience," Hall said.

Herbert, the city personnel director, said the city appears "pleased" with the pact, adding that the latest pay hikes negotiated for some other city employees, such as police department supervisors, were "significantly more." "By significantly more, I mean around 2 percent," Herbert said.

Louise Bego displays "Rage Before the Storm," one of her canvass catharses, in her Birmingham apartment which is decorated with her works.

Head injured artist paints her stormy emotions

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

In moments of peace, Louise Bego, 53, recalls happier moments, creamy Maurice salad dressing or spinach pie prepared and served by her father, Seit, in the landmark Westland restaurant that for decades carried his name.

In moments of despair, Bego, who now lives in Birmingham, turns to canvas and oil, putting forth in broad strokes myriad stormy emotions — depression, fear and rage.

Since mid-1973 Bego has known both peace and despair, struggling for mental and emotional health following a devastating auto accident in which she received a serious closed-head injury. It was years before the extent of the injury was fully understood, the memory loss, inexplicable outbursts of anger and personality transformation that reflect a damaged brain.

"I lost just about everybody, my friends, my family. Nobody understood. I didn't even realize it," Bego said.

In the process, art offered a life-line of hope.

"IT TELLS MY life story. I didn't start it that way. It just happened," said Bego, whose airy apartment is transformed into a gallery of striking works that catalog one woman's uneven march through life.

'It (art) tells my life story. I didn't start it that way. It just happened.'

— Louise Bego

A pale magenta wends its way up a towering slope of harsh blue and deep purple, angry colors muted by the simple thread of magenta. The work is symbolic, Bego's first abstract expression, simply entitled "1985."

The year is significant to Bego. She was hospitalized most of it. During treatment, "a nurse kept telling me I had to climb this mountain. I had to keep fighting, even if I kept slipping. I'd eventually make it."

The painting portrays Bego's path and her mountain.

A second piece, muted red with a dreamy quality, is deep, deadly depression like that experienced by Bego during the hospitalization and after. It's part of "slipping" the nurse spoke to her about.

By her own admission, Bego is basically difficult. "Sometimes I get my doctor real upset. I'm not the easiest patient."

EARLIER WORKS are reflective — deep, dark colors thickly applied to canvass in angry swaths marked with small touches of light in white and yellow. Titles of the works are telling: "Restrictions," "Aftermath" and "Rage Before the Storm."

Storm was Bego's first work entered into competition, the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association's student show, where it received honorable mention.

"My teacher said very few artists can express violence in painting. You can't portray it on canvas. She told me I did it."

The teacher, Leslie Masters, is a reputable area artist and former assistant director of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association. Masters' said Bego is talented and "her use of intense color makes a powerful artistic statement."

THE WORK, Bego said, "is my life coming out on canvas." Two sets of recent works, each containing four pieces, are done in colors reflective of Bego's style, one in black and white and the other in red and purple.

Lines in these works are smoother, softer. Oil is applied in meticulous evenness. Each set is stunning, testimonies to life and simply entitled "Life Story" and "Life." Final works in each set reflect peace, partially because Bego feels more peaceful and partially to please her doctor.

"Dr. Yates keeps me out of the hospital. She's the first one to teach me behavior training."

An enormous abstract female figure in red, as yet unfinished and named "Phyllis," is in honor of Dr. Yates.

Bego's artistry also shows when it's time to stuff green peppers, using father Seit's tasty filling, for a meal with Kitty McKinney, mother of Westland's second mayor Eugene McKinney. The two relish the past, a glory time for Bego, before the accident, head injury and despair.

SEIT'S FINE FOOD AND Cocktails on Wayne Road south of Ford was a favorite hangout for public figures like Mayor McKinney and state Sen. William Faust.

The restaurant, launched by Bego's father Seit and mother Hatixhe in what was then Nankin Township in 1955, featured Albanian food. The elder Bego's immigrant to the U.S. at the turn of the century.

The couple reared four children in a home atop the restaurant. "I grew up with people like Gene McKinney and Bill Faust. Sometimes Bill even ate in the kitchen with us," Louise said.

In 1977, Seit sold the business and, based on a Westland Observer press account at the time, "an era in Westland's cultural history faded with the closing of Seit's." (Seit and Hatixhe have since died.)

"My family had such good food. He did all the cooking," Louise recalled. The press account notes Seit was famous for his creamy garlic dressing, a recipe he refused to divulge even when "Gourmet Magazine" wrote praising it and asking for the recipe.

It was Hatixhe who first encouraged Louise to paint, after the accident when she seemed in need of meaningful activity.

'... I had to climb this mountain. I had to keep fighting... I'd eventually make it.'

Students teaches 3 R's of helping the environment

By Marie Chestnoy
staff writer

Livonia school district students, including Westland youngsters, Monday listed seven ways the district can practice some new three R's.

The 3 R's are reduce, reuse and recycle, and school officials promised the students their suggestions, made from firsthand classroom experience, will be studied when the district sets its environmental agenda in the months ahead.

"There is a task force looking at business and management practices to help the environment," school Superintendent Joseph Marinelli said at the end of the students' presentation Monday to the school board which serves the northern section of Westland.

"These suggestions from the students will be extremely helpful."

SINCE OCTOBER, fourth and fifth graders in Jim Colliton's class at Garfield Elementary have been involved in a project that showed the type and amount of trash produced by first, third and sixth grade students at the school.

From this project the students came up with the seven suggestions made to the board that will now be sent to the task force. Most of the suggestions deal with trash generated in school cafeterias.

"The kids echoed a lot of the things the task force is now considering," said Scott Helznson, a Livonia resident who is a member of the task force and who attended Monday's presentation.

The students determined the amount and type of trash the three

Livonia School District

grades generated simply by collecting it one day and dumping it out on a tarp.

After finding pounds of uneaten food and throwaway packaging in the trash, the students discovered just how wasteful youngsters — and their parents — can be.

THE STUDENTS suggested the district do the following to practice the 3 R's:

- Separate napkins, straws and other eating utensils handed out in the cafeteria so that students take only what they need.
- Use plastic, not plastic foam, food trays.
- Start a school compost pile to recycle waste that can be composted.
- Separate into containers the food and paper trash generated in the cafeteria.
- Serve smaller portions of cafeteria food to students.
- Appoint Garfield to serve as a pilot school to test out recycling ideas put forth by the district.
- Make a 3 R recycling video featuring Garfield students.
- They are helping us become more aware of our responsibilities in this area," trustee Carol Strom said.
- One of the district's goals for 1991 is to develop ways to help save the environment through changed management and business practices. The district has appointed a task force of staff and community members to make recommendations to Marinelli.

Two broad areas under review are waste management and product use. Suggestions made by the students Monday covered both areas.

THE STUDENTS gave the trustees 3 R buttons they made and handed out to other students at Garfield.

They also displayed the 3 R posters they had designed for display at the school.

They also emphatically said that waste reduction could begin in both the school cafeteria and in home kitchens where lunches are prepared.

"Kids are throwing away too much food from home and from the cafeteria," one boy said.

Each of the three grades examined by the students generated about 13 pounds of lunch waste, either in packaging or food.

DURING THE project, the students sent a letter home to Garfield parents, asking them to change the ways they packed their child's school lunch.

They asked parents to cut down on the amount of food put in lunch bags, pack the lunch in reusable packing, and talk to their child about what they want packed in their lunch.

Hospital helps New groups aid kin, friends of Gulf GIs

With rising tensions during the last few months and the recent outbreak of war, Annapolis Hospital-Westland Center is forming support groups for family and friends of military personnel in the Persian Gulf, said Tom Johnson, vice-president/administrator.

"Many residents in the area affected by this," Johnson said. "We're trying to help people be a support for each other and to let them know they're not alone. Sharing with others going through the same experience can be a tremendous source of strength for individuals in this situation."

While Annapolis is making available its facilities and offering help to those in the program, Johnson said its involvement goes beyond just offering space for the support groups to meet.

"The addition of some of our social workers and therapists in these groups will hopefully offer people a chance to talk about their feelings, and help them gain new insights in how to deal with this situation."

Johnson said while the hospital staff is always ready to help people deal with emotional difficulties, "a situation like the Gulf crisis can affect a lot of people in a lot of different ways."

"Whether it's just the need to talk, to let off steam, or a situation requiring more of an involvement of our staff, we encourage people to call because we're here to help."

Support groups are now being formed at Annapolis Hospital-Westland Center, without charge. Interested parties, or those seeking more information can call the Annapolis Hospital Help line at 467-2600. Annapolis Hospital-Westland Center is at 2345 Merriman, between Palmer and Michigan Ave.

The hospital is part of the Oakwood health care system, which has five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and over 1,000 physicians.

School to mark Patriot Day

Friday will be observed as Patriot Day at Franklin High School, which serves the northeast section of Westland.

The Franklin Student Congress has purchased 1,600 U.S. flag pins which they will distribute to all students and staff next week.

To show support for the U.S. troops, all students and staff are asked to wear school colors of red and blue with white on Friday.

An assembly planned for Friday will begin with an all-school support for our troops with a moment of sil-lence, singing of "God Bless America," waving of several hundred American flags bought for the program and a "USA" chant by students.

The assembly will start at 12:20 p.m. in the school gymnasium.

Man charged with molesting girl

A Garden City man has been ordered bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court to face charges of sexually molesting a 8-year-old girl.

William Hunt, 62, is charged with one count of first-degree criminal sexual conduct and one count of second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

During Hunt's examination in 21st District Court Monday, Judge Richard Hammer Jr. ordered the courtroom closed to outsiders as the victim testified. In addition to court staff, attorneys and police, the victim's mother and a children's advocate were allowed to remain.

The charges cover a period from March, 1989, to Jan. 1, 1991, at Hunt's home in the 29000 block of Cambridge.

THE FIRST-DEGREE charge involves penetration with his finger. The second-degree count charges Hunt, who often babysat for the girl, with having sexual contact with someone younger than 13 years old while having authority over the child.

The girl's family called police last month after she told an older sister that she had been sexually molested.

Hunt is scheduled to be arraigned Monday, Feb. 25, in Recorder's Court. He had been released following his district court arraignment on a $50,000 personal recognizance bond. Hammer ordered a $25,000 surety bond which Hunt posted.

In an unrelated case, Hunt is scheduled for trial on an attempted murder charge Feb. 26 in Recorder's Court.

Musician joins band

Pankaj Guglani of Franklin High School, which serves the northeast section of Westland, has been named to the 1991 Lions of Michigan All State Band.

Some 264 Michigan students vied last month for 184 positions in the band. More than 80 high schools and 102 communities were represented by students from ranging in age from 14 to 19.

A member of the Franklin Marching Patriots Band, Guglani was selected to represent Franklin at the Lions International Convention Parade in Brisbane, Australia, on June 18. He plays mellophone.

The tour will continue with performances in Hawaii and conclude upon its return to St. John's, Mich., on June 29. Future tours for the Lions Band include Madrid, Spain, in 1992, Minneapolis in 1993, and Phoenix in 1994.

The Michigan Lions All State Band, a project of Lions of Michigan Youth, was formed in 1978 to give high school students an opportunity to expand their musical growth.

Guglani, a junior at Franklin, plays first French horn in the Franklin High Symphony and is the principal horn of the Livonia All City Orchestra. Guglani will be playing the mellophone in the Lions

All State Band.

Guglani is the section leader of the mellophone section of the Franklin Marching Patriots. He started playing the flute in fifth grade at Hayes Elementary, in Westland, and switched to French horn while in the band at Emerson Middle School.

Guglani is an honor student at Franklin and a member of the National Honor Society.

No exceptions

Engler holds his ground on budget cuts

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Here's what Gov. John Engler says to people who ask his budget cutters to make an exception for the Detroit Institute of Arts, Displaced Homemakers program, local arts groups, Detroit Symphony, Southfield Symphony, the Grand Lodge Opera House, Youth Corps, community growth alliances, Oakland Technology Park, new computers, harness racing purses, subsidies to race track-impacted cities, a local mental hospital — and so on:

"People say to me, 'John, we're happy with most of what you're doing, but there's one program — one little program — save this one.'"

"Someone else comes and says, 'You're doing a heckuva job, but there's this other program — save that one.'"

"What happens is that when we add up everything you've asked us to except, the exceptions are bigger, and it allows us to go nowhere."

"WE NEED your help," he told the Oakland County Lincoln banquet, "to say, 'Look, ladies and gentlemen of the Legislature, we've got to work this out.'"

"We went through the budget without regard to the identity of the project," Engler said in an interview later, "and simply removed all the projects. Everybody was treated the same. No special considerations for anyone or anything."

Now that House Democrats have rejected his budget revisions, most state programs face 9.2 percent across-the-board cuts rather than some being zeroed out.

The Saturday night Republican event drew some 950 people, said chairman John Wierzbicki of Huntington Woods — more than double the 400 who attended in 1989 when the speaker was John Engler the state senator.

The tables were salted with non-partisan judges and peppered with Democrats. Even the Michigan Education Association, a union representing 12,000 teachers in Oakland alone, bought a full-page ad in the program alluding to Engler's decision to protect school aid.

A MINOR part of the budget problem was falling revenue in a recession, Engler said. "Our general fund of $7.5 billion was off only $250 million."

"When we got hold of the books (Jan. 1), we found that if we changed nothing — just kept spending the way the programs were set up — we were on course to spend $650 million more than we were going to take in."

"We were a state in the 1980s that simply didn't perform economically the way it could have."

"It simply costs more to be here than to be somewhere else. We used to argue that Michigan is a high-cost state because it's a high income state."

"But in the 1980s, income per capita dropped down, and we find we're not as wealthy as we were, but we're still paying high taxes."

"We said we're going to balance the budget without raising taxes, protect education, make it a priority. Then next year we're going to restructure the way government delivers services and spends your tax dollars."

OTHER POINTS Engler made of local interest:

- Judy Miller, former state representative from Birmingham who is now Engler's business ombudsman, will not only try to cut governmental red tape for business — she'll try to tame it. "That office grew bigger and bigger (under Democrat James Blanchard). They were trying to solve problems. We oughta go change the rule or law that caused the problem."

- He wants to settle a lawsuit won by Oakland County against the state Department of Mental Health for calling DMH programs "local" in order to give a false picture of state aid. The Blanchard administration in December carried its appeal to the state Supreme Court. "I am distressed at the amount of litigation. Everyone has felt in recent years that in order to talk to the state, you have to sue us. I hope to change that practice."

- Can Patrick Nowak, the deputy Oakland County executive who will become his transportation chief, sell him on a fuel tax increase or change in the distribution formula for local roads? "Pat did a superb job as head of SMART (Suburban Mobility Authority — Rapid Transit) in halving administrative costs. We can build a lot of roads with every dollar we can save on administration. We'll see how many roads we can get built that way first."

Said Nowak: "To those who think I'm putting on weight, it's just my pockets bulging with all your road requests."

IN A RARE near-criticism of the president, U.S. Rep. William Broomfield, R-Lake Orion, said George Bush may want to keep warm relations with the Soviet Union, but "he can't afford to ignore repressions and violations of human rights in the Baltic states."

In following news of the Persian Gulf war, Broomfield said Americans shouldn't overlook that "Soviet soldiers killed 19 people in Latvia and Lithuania; Soviet soldiers patrol the streets in every city; Soviet soldiers search and seize business property."

"And it's on the authority of top Soviet leadership," said Broomfield, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee and 32-year congressional veteran.

Toma still fighting in his war on drugs

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The war in the Persian Gulf will end someday but there is no end in sight for the drug war in America's streets, anti-drug crusader David Toma said last week in Plymouth.

"That war (against Iraq) — in six months, in three months, in one year — will be over," Toma told a mostly teenage audience. "The war we're having (with drugs), I don't think that will be over in your lifetime."

Toma spoke to youngsters and parents at the local offices of Straight, Inc., a national non-profit substance abuse treatment program.

The former Newark, N.J., policeman — real-life model for the 1970s television shows "Baretta" and "Toma" — is himself a recovered drug addict.

"You have been there. I have been there," he told his audience, not only challenging them to stay clean of drugs and alcohol but also to help others.

"YOU'RE THE best counselors," said Toma.

Clad in jeans, with sleeves rolled on his open collar shirt, Toma brought an evangelistic fervor to his appearance, often bugging and kissing audience members during question-and-answer sessions.

"I'm here because I love you," he said.

It's normal to be depressed, Toma told a young girl, asking audience members to raise their hands if they, too, had ever been depressed.

A young boy, worried about bad past experiences, was told to let them go.

Worry about the future, Toma said, not about events you can no longer control.

"He talked to the kids in their language and they understood," said one onlooker, a Westland woman who said her adult son has suffered three relapses in his ongoing battle to get off drugs. "He doesn't even know I'm here," the woman said.

The problem, Toma said, is weakness.

"Weakness doesn't just relate to drug addiction, it relates to everything you do in life," he said.

His own moments of weakness, Toma said, came after his young son died — ironically on a day when Toma saved the life of another young boy.

Restrained from committing suicide, Toma said he finally put his life back together with help of a nephew who, at the time, was fighting his own battle against drug abuse.

Toma's life story kept his audience rapt for nearly 45 minutes, and his direct style twice brought the audience to its feet.

Troops can delay taxes

The designation of the Persian Gulf as a combat zone triggers a number of federal tax relief provisions for taxpayers serving in Operation Desert Storm.

According to John Hummel, IRS district director in Detroit, members of the armed forces and support personnel in the Persian Gulf assigned to Desert Storm will not have to file their 1990 federal income tax returns until at least 180 days after they depart from the Persian Gulf. No penalty or interest will be charged during this period on any tax due for 1990.

IRS will also suspend all tax return examinations and actions to collect any back taxes owed by these taxpayers for years prior to 1990 until at least 180 days after the taxpayers leave the combat zone. During this time no penalty or interest will be added to any tax due.

"These relief provisions not only apply to armed forces and support personnel serving in the Operation Desert Storm combat zone but also to their spouses," Hummel said.

Military pay received by enlisted personnel while serving in the combat zone is exempt from income tax. For commissioned officers, up to $500 a month can be excluded from income. The exclusion generally includes amount received during periods of hospitalization resulting from injury or sickness suffered while serving in the combat zone.

In the event a member of the armed forces dies while serving in the combat zone, no tax is due for the year of death or any prior year in which the person served in the combat zone. In addition, any unpaid tax for years prior to service in the combat zone is forgiven.

The combat zone designation is effective Jan. 17, 1991, and covers Iraq, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Oman, Bahrain, Qatar, United Arab Emirates, Persian Gulf, Red Sea, Gulf of Oman, certain parts of the Arabian Sea and the Gulf of Aden.

Hummel emphasized that taxpayers, including spouses and others acting on behalf of a taxpayer in the Operation Desert Storm combat zone, should call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-829-1040 for additional information on federal tax matters. If they receive correspondence about any collection or audit matter covered by these relief provisions, they should contact IRS immediately so that the action may be suspended.

Program spotlights Engler's changes

"A New Governor: Will It Make a Difference? An Insider's Insight," will be discussed by state Sen. Lana Pollack's Thursday, Feb. 21, at a town hall forum sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Organization.

The forum begins, sponsored by the Garden City BPW, is at 7:30 p.m. in the Garden City High School cafeteria, 6500 Middlebelt Road, between Warren and Ford roads.

A question and answer session will follow Pollack's remarks.

Admission is free and refreshments will be served following the forum.

Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, recently began her third term in the Michigan State Senate. She is member of the appropriations, criminal justice and urban affairs and joint administrative rules committees.

She also serves as a member of the Senate Select Committee on Higher Education, the Senate Select Committee for the Advancement of the Creative Arts and on several nongovernmental organizations including the board of trustees of the Michigan Women's Foundation and the advisory board of the United Negro College Fund.

She was elected to the Ann Arbor Board of Education in 1979 and served until she was elected to the Senate.

She was unsuccessful in her 1988 bid to unseat 2nd District Republican Rep. Carl Pursell. The western Wayne County section of the 2nd District includes Livonia and Plymouth.

Pollack holds a bachelor's degree in political science and a master's in education from the University of Michigan. She also studied dance and music and is a former teacher of dance.

An active political worker for more than 20 years, she has held several party posts including chair of the Ann Arbor Democratic Party in 1975 and 1976.

Pollack is currently working on legislation to provide better enforcement of Michigan's environmental laws, withdraw Michigan from the Midwest Low Level Radioactive Waste Compact, improve school bus safety, provide restrictions over placement of prisoners in community corrections, require detention of domestic violence offenders until arraignment and clarify educational benefit provisions in the Veterans Trust Fund Act.

She has sponsored public acts which address the issues of corporal punishment in the public schools, children in foster care, jury selection, barrier free design standards, crime, domestic relations and the retirement system.

Pollack, who has traveled throughout Africa, Europe, India, Mexico and the Middle East, lived in England in 1977 and in Zambia in 1970. While living in Zambia she was teacher and administrator of the John Howard Compound School.

The BPW, sponsor of the forum, is a national organization of women and men dedicated to elevating the status of all working women.

Troop boosters

Groups work to raise morale

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Victory in the Persian Gulf will be much more difficult without victory on the homefront, say those involved with area troop support groups.

They're selling T-shirts, sending food baskets, writing letters and generally showing their support for the Persian Gulf conflict — no matter how they felt about Vietnam.

Elaine Guenther, a teenager when the Vietnam War broke out, remembers that war as unjustified.

Now a mother, with a daughter getting ready to depart for military duty, Guenther is working hard to generate support U.S. troops and their families.

"This war, I feel, is justified," the Westland woman said. "Vietnam wasn't — it wasn't declared by Congress."

Her group, called PUT-UP — Parents United Toward Universal Peace — meets weekly at a Livonia church.

"IT IS scary," she said of having a daughter who could soon take part in Operation Desert Storm. "But we're all there for each other. It's a safe place for us to go."

Support for the troops, complete with flag waving rallies, isn't really something new, according to Yvonne Zapinski of Friends of Freedom, another area support group.

"This is more what people did during World War II, but for some reason it stopped during Korea and Vietnam," said Zapinski, whose group has already delivered more than 300 pieces of mail to U.S. military personnel.

Group members believe candy and cookies are keys to boosting troop morale.

"We're sending them the kind of things they can't get," Zapinski said. "They don't have PX's set up in the desert."

Drop boxes are soon expected to be set up at area high schools, Zapinski said, with items to be sent to the troops.

Rallies, like the one recently held at Pontiac-Oakland Airport, are seen as morale boosters.

"That was really welcome," said Zapinski, whose son-in-law is awaiting transfer to the Persian Gulf.

"A lot of people feel — and justly so — that they have to do something," said Guenther.

But while public support is running in favor of the war effort, it isn't universal. Polls indicate support could drop if fighting becomes prolonged and if U.S. casualties mount — despite President Bush's repeated assurance that wouldn't happen.

Already, two large anti-war demonstrations have been held in Washington, drawing the kind of turnout unseen until the latter stages of the Vietnam War.

Both women acknowledged the right of protesters to protest — but said they wished they wouldn't.

"MY FEELING about protesters changes every day. Right now, I'd say if they want to protest something, they should go protest the price of milk," Guenther said. "It's time for all of us to stand behind the troops."

Guenther also said she was a big booster of the president.

"We have to stand behind him, too," she said. "I think he's doing an excellent job."

Toward that goal, indifference could prove a bigger barrier than opposition.

Guenther said she was surprised her group only included 30 people.

"Really, I feel we should have a lot more members," she said.

Support is there, she believes.

"When I'm on line at Kroger or wherever the talk invariably turns to the war and, when they find out what I'm doing many people end up giving me a hug. They tell me to keep going."

And Guenther said that's exactly what she and other like-minded people will do.

Drunk driving bills promoted

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin today said his top legislative priority this year is a comprehensive package of anti-drunk-driving bills.

"It should come as no surprise that we will strive for continued success in preventing the No. 1 killer and killer of Michigan's children, teenagers and adults — traffic crashes," Austin said.

THE PACKAGE includes provisions for:

- Swift and sure suspension of a drunk driver's license.
- 48 hours of consecutive jail time or 10 days of community service for a second-time offender.
- 30 days' minimum suspension for a drunk-driving conviction.
- Primary enforcement of Michigan's safety belt law. Presently, a person cannot be cited for failure to wear a safety belt unless stopped for another offense.

• Tougher drunk-driving standards for commercial drivers who operate large trucks, buses and school buses. Commercial drivers who are convicted of having a blood alcohol level of .04 percent or greater would have a one-year suspension of their commercial driver license and a lifetime suspension if convicted of a second violation. Currently, the blood alcohol limit is .10 percent.

• Mandatory safety helmet use by moped operators regardless of age. Currently, only moped operators up to age 19 are required to wear a safety helmet.

AUSTIN, SERVING his sixth term, also expressed a desire to work with other state officials in this post-election year to establish ethics legislation, "particularly regarding the issues of campaign finance and financial disclosure."

As Michigan's official historian, Austin expressed concern over lack of legislation governing the state's archaeology program, which is largely directed by federal law.

Austin called for approval of two other issues that have come before legislators in the past: limiting the sale of lists of names and addresses from driver and motor vehicle registration information, reduce the potential for junk mail, and authorization for the Department of State to accept credit card payment for all transactions, a practice now limited to mail transactions.

Jobless workers wait More money sought to process claims

By Tim Richard
staff writer

For once Republicans and Democrats, labor and management, the state House and Senate agree:

Jobless workers are waiting a month or more for unemployment checks, and Washington should cough up more money for staff to process their claims.

"You've heard we have no 'waiting week' for unemployment benefits. There is a de facto four or five week waiting period," said Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Honigman, new chair of the Senate Labor Committee, is author of a resolution due for passage today in both chambers of the Michigan Legislature asking Congress to release more of the money it has been taxing employers to pay for more staff at the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

SEN. ROBERT Geake, R-Northville, another Labor panel member, supports Honigman's measure.

"I've had lots of complaints from my district about long lines in MESC offices. Employees are stressed-out and short-tempered," said Geake, whose district includes Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Redford.

"Nobody gets their first check in less than four weeks. Nobody," said Larry Horwitz, executive vice president of the Economic Alliance of Michigan. Horwitz, of Southfield, said the group looks for "common ground" between labor and management.

Horwitz and spokesmen for the AFL-CIO and employers testified Tuesday before Honigman's Senate panel, repeated the speeches, later for the House Labor Committee and scheduled a love-in news conference prior to today's 10 a.m. sessions of the House and Senate. Both chambers were scheduled to vote on it today.

It was an easy beginning for freshman Sen. Honigman, chairing his first committee after serving three terms in the House minority.

UNEMPLOYMENT compensation was born in 1935 as a federal-state program.

The states tax employers for benefits to laid-off workers. The federal government charges employers $5 billion a year to administer the program.

The problem, said Honigman, is that Washington doesn't spend that $5 billion. "They spend $3 billion and count the rest as surplus. They're using the surplus as an accounting gimmick against the deficit," he said.

Michigan has reduced MESC staffing from 6,200 in 1980 to 2,400 currently and closed many branch offices. MESC needs to add at least 350 staffers, said David Plawewski, a state Labor Department official. "We operate totally on federal funding," he added.

"It's gonna get worse," said Carl Simpson, lobbyist for the state AFL-CIO, referring to recession layoffs.

THE RESOLUTION asks the Bush Administration to cough up as much as $201 million from the surplus to alleviate the staffing problems nationwide.

"The president just submitted a budget in which he requested $100 million," said Horwitz. "He's short $101 million by his own administration's estimates. And that's assuming unemployment isn't going to go up any more."

Wicki Cook Bumbaugh spoke for the Service Employees International Union, which represents MESC staff. "Claims are waiting up to nine weeks," she said.

"We've asked employers to let them know (about impending layoffs) so they can gear up. The UAW has been good about opening its union halls (for processing). But that doesn't get the work done," Bumbaugh said.

"WHAT DO THEY do while waiting for the checks? Go on welfare?" Honigman asked.

"No," said Horwitz. "DSS (Department of Social Services) first determines if you're eligible for unemployment assistance. They send you to the MESC."

Margaret Zaliaginis, representing the 300-member Employers Unemployment Compensation Council, said her group supports removing unemployment funds from calculations of the federal deficit.

Cigarette, alcohol use still high among teens, college students

By Darrell Prasely
Staff writer

Though the results of a University of Michigan survey show drug use on the decline among high school and college students, the number of young people doing drugs is still significant, said Mary Kay Meier, program supervisor for the Maple Grove Youth Treatment Center in West Bloomfield.

In the annual study, "Monitoring the Future," U-M social scientist Lloyd D. Johnston and several colleagues reported a decrease in the use of crack cocaine and other illicit drugs by high school seniors, college students and young adults between the ages of 19 and 28.

"We are seeing a continuing decline in the proportion of these populations who are actively using any illicit drug, as well as in the proportions using a number of specific drugs such as marijuana, cocaine, crack, stimulants and sedatives," Johnston said in the report. Cigarette and alcohol use, however, remain high—and the use of hallucinogens has remained constant, according to the study. In fact, the use of LSD is at its highest since 1983.

"THERE IS SOME decline in numbers and that's encouraging," said Meier, who works with adolescents involved in six-week residential plus follow-up treatment. "But I'm still concerned that the numbers are significant."

In 1990, one in 20 high school students (5.3 percent) reported using cocaine at some time in the prior year. That number is down from 13 percent in 1986.

Only one in 50 seniors (1.9 percent) used crack during that time period, down from 4 percent in 1987.

And, for the first time the survey noted a significant drop in the proportion of high school seniors saying they felt they could get cocaine powder fairly easily if they wanted some (down from 54 percent in 1989 to 42 percent in 1990) and crack cocaine (down from 47 percent in 1989 to 42 percent in 1990).

In reviewing the report, Meier said some teenagers who take the survey do not include every instance in which they use a drug—and cut down on their usage when taking the survey.

"The kids who come into treatment tell me that they minimize their use when they take the survey," Meier said.

Meier added she doesn't agree with the term illicit drugs, because it does not include alcohol. "Even alcohol in adults is illicit," she said.

"Alcohol is the most abused substance in the country. That's the drug that gets the least attention."

There is a downplay on alcohol, "because parents drink and they want to continue drinking," Meier said, adding that if teenagers are just drinking, then parents feel they should not be too concerned.

ALCOHOL USE, however, is widespread among those under 21, although some modest declines have been recorded in use among high school seniors. The proportions reporting any alcohol use in the prior month fell from a peak of 72 percent in 1980 to 57 percent in 1990. And, for the first time in 15 years of the survey, use of alcohol at any time by high school seniors dipped below the 90 percentile mark to 89.5. Highest use was 93.2 percent in 1980.

"Considering that the purchase of alcohol is illegal for all high school seniors, these are still very troublesome levels of drinking, though the statistics have been gradually moving in the right direction," Johnston said.

Though there is a decrease in smoking in the general population, there has been no change in the younger generation, Johnston said.

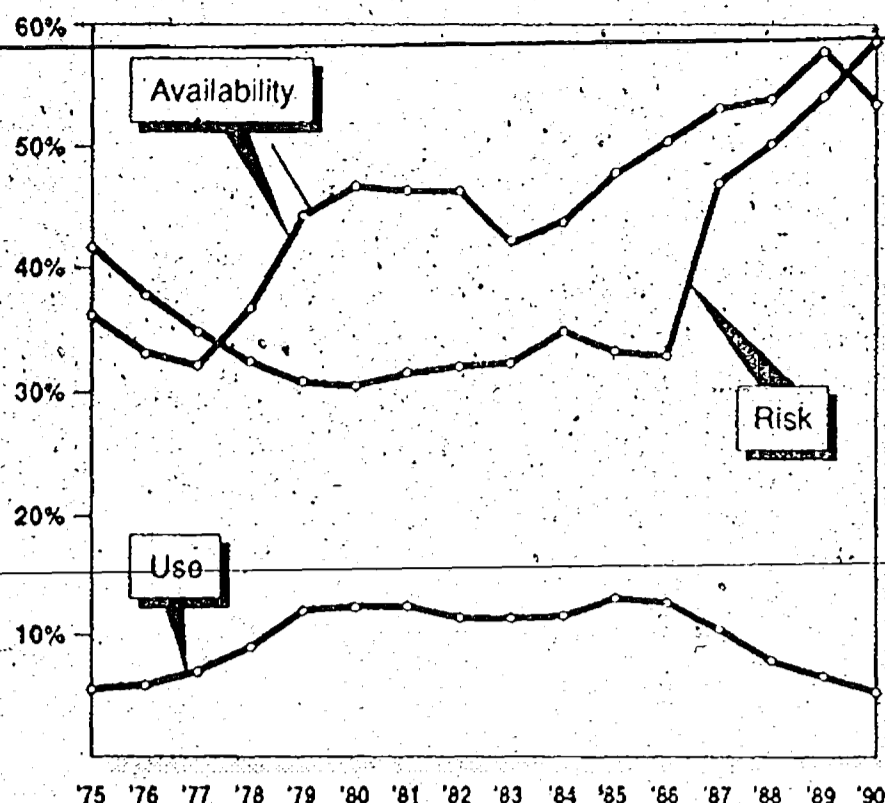

In 1990, 29 percent of high school seniors said they smoked at least some in the prior month, the same number in 1981. The daily smoking rate declined from 20 to 19 percent over the same interval.

"THE INCREASE in the use of hallucinogens is consistent with what we're seeing. It subsided for a while, but recently we're seeing an increase, Meier said.

"When the media focuses on one drug... we kind of lose our awareness of other kinds of chemicals," Meier said.

The numbers for college students using sedatives, hallucinogens, cigarettes increased between 1989 and 1990. Statistics overall, however, have decreased in alco-

Cocaine trends among high school seniors

Civics lesson Council on TV to help public

IN FIVE months, Westland cable-TV subscribers will be able to watch their city council in action.

After several years of prodding, the council members agreed at a recent study session to go ahead and have the twice-a-month business meetings taped for cablecast several days later.

The move, which is commended, should have been made years ago. It allows a much greater community understanding of how the council operates, at least in public.

We want to alert readers and cable subscribers that they shouldn't expect as much political excitement as CNN's coverage of the war in the Persian Gulf or as much fun as watching the Pistons winning a NBA playoff game in overtime.

There will be a lot of mundane business, such as budget transfers, reading proclamations and transfers of beer-and-wine licenses for party stores.

But the cable-casting of council meetings will go a long way toward the community being better informed of what the council is doing with their tax dollars and how city ordinances and property developments are handled.

The council sessions on TV may not be the most exciting game in town, but they're important if residents are to improve their understanding of local government.

War on stress Modified strategy in motion

THERE ARE circumstances when a need arises and there's not enough time to react. When such conditions occur, it is fortunate to have an existing program in place that can be modified to meet the new demand.

That's why the Livonia school district, which includes the northern section of Westland, is fortunate to be able to react to the problem of war-imposed stress on its students caused by the conflict in the Middle East.

The district already has excellent counseling programs available to pupils having problems, and they should be valuable in helping youngsters deal with war-related issues.

For some pupils, a lack of perspective dealing with distance and time prompted unnecessary fears generated by conclusions about how quickly the impact of war might be felt at home. For older students, there are fears about the reinstatement of the military draft and disruption of college or job plans.

Such stress can create major roadblocks to learning and interfere with normal functioning at home and school. Because the school district had a possible remedy already in place, help was available to the students on a very timely basis.

Today our students are learning that life goes on and that we all need to be able to cope with each day's troubles and trials. That's an important lesson to learn to survive in life as an effective, contributing citizen.

A generalist He takes on a road campaign

PATRICK NOWAK will take a splendid — if unusual — set of credentials to Lansing later this month when he becomes director of the Michigan Department of Transportation.

First, he's a generalist, not an engineer. Nowak has been an insurance agent, county commissioner and deputy Oakland County executive in charge of long-range projects. He has rubbed shoulders with elected leaders from big cities and little towns in the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Second, he is the first MDOT chief to have a background in public transit, chairing the rebirth of the suburban bus system called SMART. His predecessors have been largely road guys.

Third, Nowak, though raised in Detroit, has spent his adult life in Oakland County, chief source of complaints about bad roads. Gov. John Engler understood the message when he appointed the Bloomfield Township resident. Nowak once called Oakland "the place where all freeways end," referring to the state's reluctance to build M-275 and sloth in completing I-696.

Fourth, Nowak has political credentials that other MDOT chief has possessed. In 1974 he was on Gov. William Milliken's short list of lieutenants.

Roads in Oakland and Wayne counties need an enormous amount of attention and more money than the existing fuel tax formula can give them.

tenant governor candidates. Since 1977 Nowak has been County Executive Dan Murphy's campaign designer, political spokesman, debate stand-in and heir apparent.

We hope only that Nowak, a man unafraid of big change, won't try to resurrect the corpse of the M-275 freeway project across the lakes country of western Oakland County. Milliken's people killed it. Let the dead lie in peace. There are other and better ways to put a major artery in the heavily traveled Haggerty Road corridor.

Roads in Oakland and Wayne counties need an enormous amount of attention and more money than the existing fuel tax formula can give them. The governor is uncomfortable discussing this delicate subject. Maybe Pat Nowak can use his craft to good advantage.

Traffic to worsen

NEXT TIME you're stuck in a line of traffic at a red light, count the number of vehicles sharing your idle misery. Then count the number of cars, vans and pickup trucks with a single occupant.

Multiply that by the amount of fossil fuel you are burning as you sit there waiting for the light to change. Look at the blue fumes blowing away in the winter breeze.

We have scant comfort for you. Your plight will get worse. In the years ahead, the odds are you will not only drive longer distances to work, but it will take disproportionately longer to get there because traffic will be even worse than it is today. By the year 2010, you'll see a 6 percent population increase and a 40 percent increase in vehicle miles.

Your only consolation is that you'll see less blue smoke as vehicle emissions laws kick in. But the fuel will be burned up just the same. Whether the price is $1 or $3 a gallon in the years ahead, most fuel consumed in a traffic jam still is wasted.

SUCH IS the case for public transit. A bus takes up as much road space as two or three cars but can carry dozens of passengers. A bus reduces traffic and is more fuel efficient than a single-occupant vehicle.

We note with some satisfaction that SMART, the suburban bus authority, is about to expand the size of its fleet.

There are other things individuals and businesses can do to reduce traffic congestion, fuel consumption and costs.

- Use car pools and van pools. The Michigan Department of Transportation, which the above-mentioned Patrick Nowak will head, has an aggressive program of encouraging pooling that we hope the new boss will continue.

- In industrial parks and office complexes, arrange staggered work hours so that not everyone is emerging from the parking lot at once.

- Take advantage of modern computer technology to let people work at home.

THERE'S MORE government can do. Government can halt urban sprawl, encourage use of alternate fuels and develop public transportation further so that city dwellers can get to suburban jobs.

Traffic jams don't have to get worse. They don't even have to be as bad as they are.

Politicos duck the need for U.S. energy policy

LIKE FLOWERS that bloom in spring, war in the Middle East has brought out the predictable.

"No blood for oil," scream protesters in Ann Arbor and East Lansing.

"We're back again," said Sen. Richard Bryan of Nevada as he introduced a bill to require U.S. auto fuel efficiency increased to 40 miles per gallon.

"Of all the reasons to be at war in the Middle East," say I, "one of the worst is to bail out politicians who have ducked creating a national energy policy for 25 years."

Michigan's economic health is bound to the auto industry. So talk about oil and fuel mileage stirs up emotions and much opportunity for confusion. This column may help straighten out the discussion.

FIRST SOME facts.

Oil provides 40 percent of America's energy. Oil imports are up 60 percent in the past five years, accounting for half of our total oil consumption. Americans consume twice as much oil per capita as Europeans, our nearest competitors.

Some 26 percent of the oil winds up in cars. Total consumption is up by nearly 20 percent from the early 1970s as more suburbanites drive longer distances to work. Fuel efficiency of new cars has risen more than 100 percent overall since 1973.

Our pump price is around half of that paid by our industrialized competitors. And the record of the late '70s suggests the only thing that cuts use of oil is price.

TWO SLOGANS — energy independence and energy efficiency — are about two different things.

Sen. Bryan talks about national energy independence as a reason for pliances and conservation by utilities.

As Marina Whitman, GM's vice president and group executive for public affairs and marketing, says, "Mandating stringent increases in CAFE (fuel standards), as the Bryan bill proposes, would force manufacturers to restrict customer choice and reduce overall safety by lowering vehicle size and weight. Worse yet, history has shown the CAFE did not in fact reduce oil consumption because people drove more. Only higher fuel prices have been effective in reducing consumption."

The higher the price of energy, the more demand for efficiency and the less we use. Mandating increased CAFE standards ignores these realities.

Why not just raise gasoline taxes? From Michigan's viewpoint, according to Whitman, a 15-cents-per-gallon tax increase would cut domestic car sales by an estimated 500,000 units and cost 75,000 jobs.

An approach that would not penalize just one industry — and hurt us in Michigan — would be to tax all energy sources — gasoline, oil, coal, etc. That would help drive up prices and efficiency and help pay for our national energy security in one step.

Schools are important

To the editor:

An open letter to Mayor Robert Thomas:

I was watching the Westland community cable channel and happened to catch your discussion with the students and faculty of John Glenn High School. I was disturbed by your refusal to endorse the passing of the school system's new millage proposal.

Because you were elected to office by the voting citizens of our city, I feel an endorsement by you would be a crucial step towards the millage's passage. The voters obviously have a certain trust in your guidance as an administrator of the city and must value your opinions on how the city should be run. Concerning this matter, a refusal on your part to endorse such critical legislation could be, and so far has been, devastating to the quality of the education that the community as a whole so needs.

When one seeks an environment to settle a family, although I am single, one of the foremost concerns is the state of the area's school system. By your refusal to endorse the millage you compromise a vital element that the community turns to a city to provide. Many times neighboring communities such as Livonia and Canton receive the upper hand over Westland as the choice for a home just because of the quality of the school system it possesses.

While watching the cable program, I also noted your reasons for your position. Among them was the campaign slogan, "No New Taxes." The passage of this millage would not violate any part of that political resolution because this would not be a "new" tax but a slightly larger old tax. Even though I hate to pay taxes, I also realize that as in life you never get something for nothing. I would, however reluctantly, pay a higher tax to improve the overall condition of my city.

Mark Baker,
Westland

School tax is supported

To the editor:

A new vote for the millage of the Wayne-Westland school district is coming about again, March 13. As a parent and a member of the community, I would like to express my feelings as to why the answer should be "YES." As 80 percent of the millage goes to the teachers salaries, this is well worth the vote. We have some of the most devoted teachers than any school system around.

My story is only one of many I am sure, but this comes from the heart. My son was having many problems on entering the eighth grade. He was suspended many times, and ended up failing.

The next year, he entered the eighth grade again, thanks to God and the teachers at Marshall Junior High School he became the student of the month, works with the school on the D.A.R.E. program and is also on the student advisory committee, holding his head high with pride, not only for himself but the school.

The teachers not only worked through a hard time during contract talks, but they stood by my son and never gave up on him. This is what school is all about. Let's get out and vote to keep this community something to be proud of and make sure that our kid's get what they deserve, a good education and a place to live that they can be proud to call home.

War not simplistic for the Benz family

I'M GETTING tired of hearing the simplistic chants or slogans being shouted by the supporters and opponents of Operation Desert Storm.

It's nice that people display yellow ribbons, American flags and bumper stickers to show support for the American troops in the Persian Gulf.

While debates on war policy are nice and heat, the implementation of them can be a bloody mess.

Ask any family who has lost a son or daughter in combat or a service-related accident.

At the start of Operation Desert Storm on Jan. 16, most of the people

I talked to professionally, and privately expressed a general support of President George Bush's policy, but most were quick to point out that their opinions were based mainly on supporting the American troops, not necessarily the policy itself.

But policy aside, I felt angry and sad Monday morning when I learned that the son of a Garden City family was killed in a helicopter accident in Saudi Arabia during the weekend.

I know the mother, Sandie Benz, an Observer & Eccentric employee with whom I had occasional chats about Garden City issues.

Leonard Poger

The death of her son, Kurtis, is a loss on several levels.

THE FIRST, obviously, is on the family level with the parents losing their only son and their two daughters losing a brother.

Garden City High School, which Benz attended, also suffered a loss. Kurt was active on the varsity wrestling team and continued many friendships after graduation in 1987.

A close-knit city of more than 31,000, Garden City as a community also suffered a loss.

I recall the dozen or so professional visits I had to make to families who lost a son in Vietnam between 1966 and 1975. On occasion, I would attend the funeral service. My most vivid memory of those days is a clergymen reciting prayers and talking about the life of the young soldier or Marine.

Whether our country's war policy was right or wrong had no bearing on the sadness of the relatives of the slain soldier or Marine.

But I don't remember the intensity from the Vietnam War years following the death of a local serviceman being as deep as the feelings reflected this week when the community learned about the death of Kurt Benz.

While family visits and funeral services were done for professional reasons, I tried to understand what the family of the slain soldier or Marine was going through.

WITH THOSE memories rushing back, I pray that local families don't have to suffer that pain.

Most people agree that wars are obscene and that someone had to fight for the principles of freedom. But that doesn't stop the tears of a parent or sibling or friend who has lost someone overseas.

Leonard Poger is the editor of the Garden City Observer

War unleashes ways to show how we care

ARMY PVT. MIKE FLEMING of Rochester Hills is afraid of war — and of coming home.

"He said he didn't want to come home and go through what the Vietnam vets went through when they came home," his stepmother Karen Fleming says. "All they hear over there is that the American people aren't behind them."

Let's hope that by now Fleming, 19, stationed somewhere in Saudi Arabia, has heard differently.

For if the United States government can "manage" the war news that comes out of the Middle East, surely it can make certain that its military personnel receive an accurate account of the wave of patriotism unfurling in this country. And that even those who line up against the war are careful to explain that they do support the men and women in the Persian Gulf.

HERE'S JUST a small sampling of the swell of patriotism around our communities:

• On one block of Washington Street in Birmingham, 15 homes, including nine houses in a row, fly the flag. "Slowly but surely they began to pop up until we had this whole line of them," said resident David McFarlane.

• A "Show Your Colors Day" rally is set for 2 p.m. Sunday in Rochester, started by Rochester resident Tootsie Wakely and some friends over lunch. Those attending the rally will have a chance to sign a giant greeting card that will be sent to the Persian Gulf, pledge to donate blood to the Red Cross and join hands in a sing-along.

• Saturday morning, Greg Anderson and his 6-year-old son, Ryan, were among 2,000 area residents who packed a plane hangar at the Oakland-Pontiac Airport to wave flags and cheer for the Persian Gulf troops.

• Lois Gross Cleaners in West Bloomfield's Orchard Mall will clean flags free, according to a window sign. And in that parking lot, a car sported a homemade poster which said: "We are outraged at the treatment of our POW's."

• In Livonia, nine machinists at Phillips Service Industries repaired for free and in record time a six-foot long, 250-pound part used to make Patriot missiles. The machinists volunteered their time over a weekend. "When we donated the time, we didn't know how long it would take," said Ken Pernak of Westland.

• An applied economics class teamed up with the special education program at John Glenn High School to produce and sell an estimated 1,200 lapel flag pins adorned with yellow ribbons to a ready market. They turned the $700 profit over to the Wayne-Westland chapter of the Disabled American Veterans.

• Red, white and blue T-shirts, sweatshirts and sweaters for sale — and yellow ribbons everywhere.

TRUTH IS, it's been a long time since we felt able to show our patriotism — to fervently sing the Star Spangled Banner, to fly the flag, to stand up for our country.

It has been difficult to dissolve the cynicism resulting from Vietnam and further solidified by Watergate. It has been difficult to watch our once proud automobile industry bested and our largest corporations sold to entrepreneurs from other nations. It has been difficult to witness drugs and crime take over our cities and the gap widen between rich and poor.

Earlier this week, one of our fellow employees — Sandie Benz — and her husband, Bruce, of Garden

How very sad that it has taken going to war to know how much we care.

Understanding the Islamic philosophy

By Arlene Funke
special writer

Followers submit to God

Did you know that Muslims have reverence for Abraham, Moses and Jesus Christ? Are you aware that Muslims hold sacred the city of Jerusalem, as do Christians and Jews?

"The three monotheistic faiths — Christianity, Judaism and Islam — are joined under one God and message," said Imam Muhammad Karoub, 66, of Farmington Hills, a spiritual leader in the Islamic community.

Islam means "submission to God." Those who believe in Islam are Muslims, meaning, in Arabic, "one who has given himself to God."

Islam is a multifaceted religion, rooted in Jewish and Christian theologies. Founded in 622 A.D. Arabia by the prophet Muhammad, Islam is based on an intense prayer life and acceding to the will of God — Allah.

THE KORAN, the holy book of Islam, contains divine revelations and rules for daily life.

Few non-Muslims understand Islam, said Rabbi Sherwin Wine of the Birmingham Temple in Farmington Hills.

"Most people in the United States know little about any religion except Christianity," said Wine, 62, of Birmingham.

Wine has made numerous trips to Islamic countries. When he speaks to groups about his travels, "I find that people are sometimes amazed. They aren't aware of certain realities."

Islam claims 800 million adherents worldwide. Predominant in the Middle East, it also has followers in large portions of Africa, Malaysia, Pakistan and Bangladesh. Sizeable numbers of Muslims live in Turkey, the Balkan states and portions of the Soviet Union.

Around 4 million Muslims live in North America, said Nihad Hamed, of the Federation of Islamic Associations, based in Redford. The FIA is an umbrella group of some 40 Islamic organizations.

Approximately 160,000 Muslims live in metro Detroit. "They come from all backgrounds and ethnic groups," said Hamed, 62, secretary-general of the FIA.

THE FEDERATION, founded in 1952, promotes the ethics and philosophy of Islam. It raises money to build mosques, distribute copies of the Koran and award scholarships. It tries to promote good relations between Muslims and non-Muslims and to correct misconceptions about the religion.

Political concerns have taken prominence since the rise of Muslim fundamentalists such as the Ayatollah Khomeini of Iran.

"It subdivided the Muslim world and more polarization is coming."

Many local Muslims are native Americans. Karoub, who conducts prayer services and teaches Islamic law, was born and reared in Detroit. Others are naturalized American citizens, such as Hamed.

Muslims revere the prophets of Jewish and Christian scriptures. They believe Muhammad is the last and greatest prophet. They believe that Muhammad wasn't divine but an instrument chosen to bring God's message.

"Islam is an accumulation of ideas drawn from Christianity, Judaism and Islam," Hamed said.

The Prophet Muhammad, at age 40, had a religious experience. The Archangel Gabriel appeared to him in a dream. The angel said Muhammad must preach the divine word of the one God. Revelations would come in a series of visions.

MUHAMMAD EXPERIENCED persecution in Mecca, where many people were pagans. He fled to Medina and formed an army. He eventually triumphed over his old adversaries in Mecca. Within 100 years, Islamic warriors and missionaries conquered much of the world.

Mecca and Medina are Islamic shrines. Jerusalem also is a holy city for Muslims. The Dome of the Rock, a shrine in Jerusalem, marks the place from which Muhammad ascended into heaven to receive instructions, according to tradition.

Muslims must follow the six Articles of Faith, outlined in the Koran. These include belief in God, the prophets, the scriptures and angels, all of whom have specific duties.

The Articles of Faith also decree a Judgment Day, when human deeds are weighed. And, finally, Muslims believe in predestination. Human life is decreed by Allah. However, since humans cannot know their destinies they must make their own choices for good and evil.

When things go badly, Muslims may say "It is the will of Allah."

The Five Pillars of Islam outline religious duties required. These are: Reciting the Creed, or Declaration, that there is no God but God, and Muhammad is his prophet; praying five times a day; giving alms to the poor; fasting from dawn to dusk during the Holy Month of Ramadan; and, if feasible, making one pilgrimage to the holy city of Mecca, where they must perform certain religious acts.

THE TWO MAJOR sects are the Sunni and Shiite Muslims. The differences tend to be in style.

"They all worship God, the one God of us all," said Karoub, who is also religious director of the Federation of Islamic Associations. "The Koran unites us. The five daily prayers are adhered to by both. In the final analysis, Islam is the umbrella for all."

Although some 80 percent of the world's Muslims belong to the Sunni sect, at least half of local Muslims are Shiite, due to heavy immigration from Lebanon.

The Sunnis elect their leaders, while the Shiites invest their leaders with an aura of spirituality. The Shiites also tend to be more "traditionalists," according to Karoub. For example, the late Ayatollah Khomeini was a Shiite.

The split dates to political differences over who would succeed the Prophet Muhammad, Karoub said. Those differences have continued.

"Ethnicity is pervasive," Karoub said. "People tend to worship with their own."

Each Friday, Muslims go to the mosque for congregational prayers. The mosque is characterized by its rounded dome and minaret, a slender tower from which the muezzin's piercing voice traditionally issued call to prayer.

Mosque means "place of kneeling." Muslims remove their shoes before entering the mosque and wash before saying prayers. The imam leads the prayers, which always are spoken in Arabic. Muslims must pray facing Mecca.

MEN AND women pray in separate sections. Worshipers recite their prayers either standing, bowing, prostrating themselves or kneeling on prayer mats.

Islamic law also has influenced Muslim lifestyle. Gambling, alcoholic beverages and eating pork are forbidden.

The Koran allows men to have up to four wives, provided they can treat all equally. However, Muslims are subject to local laws. In practice, it is unusual for a man to have more than one wife in many Muslim countries. Orthodox Muslim nations, such as Iran and Saudi Arabia, forbid the mingling of sexes in public. Women in these countries must be covered completely, including veils, when appearing in public. Other countries are not so strict.

The Birmingham Temple's Wine has visited Muslim countries and regions of the Middle East, Africa, Pakistan and Soviet Central Asia.

Wine enjoyed visiting with local people on those trips. He usually communicated in English and French.

"I was eager to learn about the local culture," he said.

WHILE SOME Muslim nations are prosperous, others are poverty-stricken. Muslim countries which never have experienced the industrial and scientific revolutions are "intensely conservative," with more regimented lifestyles, Wine said.

"It makes it more difficult to communicate religious differences," Wine said. And, in view of present world conditions, "it's dangerous not to have this information" about Islamic beliefs, he said.

Religious fundamentalism — Christian, Jewish or Islamic — disturbs Wine. During a visit to Egypt, he witnessed demonstrations by fundamentalists who regarded the government as "too liberal."

"It was frightening," Wine said. "People who are fundamentalists believe they have the entire truth."

Hamed and Karoub also are worried. Both voiced fears about the economic and human toll of a prolonged war in the Middle East.

Hamed spoke of the sanctity of the holy shrines in Mecca, Medina and Jerusalem, and the importance of the Month of Ramadan, which begins March 17.

"That touches a very deep nerve with all Muslims and all Arabic people, that those sacred cities not be harmed," Hamed said.

Both Hamed and Karoub blame the news media for what they call lack of information and misinformation.

"We have to improve the understanding and expunge and dispel that misunderstanding from our hearts and our minds," Karoub said. "When we really believe it, and not just lip service, there will be a hope for mankind. There will be hope for pleasing God."

She puts new zip in a gift

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Doreen Odom is hoping she can duplicate the success of the queen of mail order catalogs, Lillian Vernon, who as the legend goes, started her business on her kitchen table.

The Redford Township resident has launched a mail order business, DMO Communications, aimed at providing in expensive personalized gift baskets and containers for children, gifts that are around long after the holiday or birthday has come and gone.

"Every holiday focuses on adults, there's nothing for kids except at Easter," Odom said. "And as a child, I could never find anything with my name on it."

Odom buys her products wholesale then does what she calls creative packaging. For girls on Valentine's Day, she has filled a 3-inch painted pail with a four-piece pink hearts and bows stationary set, ruler, pencils, scissors and pencil sharpener, small teddy bear, then paints the child's name on the pail, all for $3.

There's also some candy, but the focus of the gift is "items children can use later," she said.

For boys, the pail includes a ruler, pencil, pencil sharpener, paper clips, candy and small stuffed animal for $4.50.

For older children, she offers a Valentine mug decorated in red and pink hearts, filled with candy and a four-inch plush bear for $6.50, or a basket filled with a pad of paper, candy and a teddy bear pen necklace for $2.50.

"I TRY TO make them inexpensive," Odom said.

Odom, who works in communications for United Way, got her start in 1981 when she helped publish a calendar for her sorority. But she didn't really get into it until after several trips to Florida where she saw customized children's umbrellas.

"I had to go to Miami for a convention planning sessions saw someone had painted on the umbrella and personalized it, but I forget about it until 1986 when I went to Florida again," she said. "I looked at them and said I can do that."

And do it she did. While in Florida, she found a supplier of children's umbrellas and from there, put her creative talents to work. She has 10 designs she can paint on umbrellas, which sell for $12. The most popular is ballet slippers for girls, but she also has designs of a football and helmet and baseball bat and ball for boys.

She also does personalized small wooden benches at $8 each, which have gotten her husband, Rickey Winton, involved — "He got the bug when I did a craft show in Grosse Pointe and realized how lucrative this could be." He does the basic painting, while she does the personalized work.

"I HAVE NO formal art training. I just consider this simple work," she said. "It's a matter of finding a design you like and going from there."

Odom has marketed her products at craft shows in Grosse Pointe and at Bishop Borgess High School, but is hoping to turn DMO into a mail order business.

Odom selects her products by looking at them and thinking if she would have liked to have had them as a kid. If the answer's yes, they're bought. She also tries to find things that are different.

"I like to find things kids will enjoy using and I make sure that they're useful in some way," she said. "I check with my friends and nieces and nephews to see what they say."

As part of the business, Odom has come up with a newsletter that not only alerts customers to her new products but offers activities for children. And she also offers her services in planning birthdays and other special events.

To keep with her mail order scheme of things, she ships orders by UPS, meaning a one-two-day delivery locally. Odom can fill non-personalized Valentine Day orders, if placed by Friday, Feb. 8.

And she already is gearing up for Easter.

"I hope to be able to do this full-time," Odom said. "It picked up last year, but no where near to where I could quit my job."

For more information about DMO Communications, call Doreen Odom at 537-5324 or write to 11722 Beaverland, Redford 48239.

Helping the USO is his 'thank you'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

As a 5-year-old in Schweinfurt, Germany, Wilhelm Kast got a firsthand glimpse of United States troops in battle, and later, in victory.

World War II had ended. His home town was decimated.

"The American Army came in and the first thing they did was feed the kids," said Kast, who is president of Development Partners Corporate Services International in Livonia. "They would be at the grade school every day at lunch time. A United States Army truck would pull up and you had four guys there serving lunch."

For three years, the soldiers would show up at the school as the U.S. helped rebuild post-war Germany.

Ever since, Kast has had a positive image of American troops. Not surprisingly, Kast is actively involved in lending a helping hand to military personnel. He is a member of the World Board of Governors for the United Service Organizations (USO).

The USO is celebrating its 50th anniversary this week.

The non-profit, civilian organization was set-up by President Franklin Roosevelt in 1941 to meet the personal needs of military members and their families.

In essence, the USO helps take care of the little things. Things such as getting cold pop to troops in the desert, providing cellular phones to make free "I'm OK" calls home and entertainment.

After World War II, U.S. troops helped German children like Wilhelm Kast. Today, he's trying to do something for them as a member of the USO.

The organization also takes care of some big things. The USO helps families relocating to Germany or other distant military base to find an apartment along with other orientation programs.

TO MOST, though, the USO is only synonymous with Bob Hope and celebrity shows entertaining soldiers overseas.

Kast is well aware of the USO mission. As a high school student in Germany during the late '50s, he and some others invited American soldiers to their homes for Christmas.

Her handwriting shows she's a strong goal setter

Dear Lorene:

I am right handed and just had my 75th birthday. I am a very busy lady and wish there were more hours each day. Guess I will have to live to be at least 500 years old to do all the many things I wish.

I am the mother of four boys and four girls, 21 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, so you can see why I keep so busy. Thank you for any help analyzing this.

Dear A.K.,

I am pleased that you chose to share your unique handwriting with us. A dynamic woman comes quickly into focus as I scan your handwriting and I have nothing but superlatives for you, A.K.

sess forces to achieve in life. One important aspect of these forces to achieve is whether we set goals for ourselves and work toward them. Well, your handwriting unequivocally reveals that you are a strong goal setter! In fact, I rarely see such consistently high goals as I find in your handwriting.

I feel you know yourself well and set challenging goals, but also with practicality in mind. You consciously decide what you want to achieve and then set to work on that goal with determination, willpower and zeal. You are fortunate to also have the needed energy.

There is a directness of purpose here. You make efficient use of your time, cutting through the extraneous to get to the core of a situation or task.

Independent, self-motivated and self-reliant are all positive traits which further describe you.

Good self-esteem and optimism combined with your exuberant nature, supply dynamism to all your efforts.

Leadership talent also comes through strongly. You are definitely not a follower! Your enthusiastic nature would be contagious and a motivating influence to those around you.

Intellectual functioning is also done on a high level. You are able to envision the broad scope of a situation or task. And while you comprehend most things quickly, your analytical thinking comes into play in matters of importance to you.

There is inner strength, warmth and spontaneity to you. You also seem to have an appreciation of cultural expression and love of nature.

Complimenting all of this is your desire to relate to others in a harmonious manner. Socially, you choose to flow with the tide and can feel empathy for others.

You are busy and active and enjoy your many experiences, both with

DECREASING DUST EXPOSURE

Dust Mites, which are microscopic insects related to spiders, are present in all homes to some degree. They feed on tiny flakes of dead skin commonly known as dander. The source of this dander comes from animals as well as humans.

Mites are not dangerous in themselves. It is their waste products that produce a wide range of allergic symptoms varying from stuffy nose or itchy eyes to sinus problems, headaches and asthma.

It is important to decrease the exposure to mites by eliminating their breeding grounds. Simple measures such as keeping the humidity in your home at 20% or lower will help because mites thrive in high humidity. There are also other specific cleaning and isolation measures such as using a tight mattress and pillow covers, special furnace filters, and vacuum cleaners to decrease mite populations, thereby alleviating mite allergy symptoms and disease states such as asthma.

There's nothing square about square dancing

By Sue Mason
staff writer

As Bill Peterson sees it: When times get bad, people get to dancing square dancing.

The reason, he said, is that it's an inexpensive form of entertainment. No need to spend big bucks for lessons. Five dollars a week will do it. And once a couple has mastered the basic steps they can go anywhere and have a good time.

"The nice thing is you don't need to know your right foot from your left foot," Peterson said. "You don't have to have any experience." Peterson should know. The retired South Redford physical education teacher has been a square dance caller for 30 years and also is an instructor. In fact, he's just returned from a 12-day trip to Florida, where he called square dances in Venice, Fort Myers, Tampa and Dunedin.

"What's nice is once you learn the calls, you can go anywhere and dance," Peterson said. "All square dances are the same and they're always called in English—it's nice because wherever you travel, you can find a dance and join in."

Peterson got into square dancing while at Wayne State University. The final test for a physical education class was to call a dance.

"It was a disaster, so I decided I'd better learn how to call," Peterson said. "Since then, I've gone on to call" dances in 32 states and four foreign countries."

PETERSON TOUTS the healthy aspect of square dancing. Participants, wearing pedometers, have clocked more than two miles of walking during an evening of square dancing.

Square dancing also is a way of meeting new people, and helps keep the mind active.

"If you want to meet new friends, this is an informal way of doing that," he said. "You don't need to know anyone; you just join in a group. You can make new friends and get really healthy exercise at the dances."

Peterson is hoping people will join his new round of beginner square dance lessons starting up Sunday evening at the Livonia Civic Center Senior Center at Five Mile and Farmington.

The classes will 8-9:30 p.m. and over the 10-12-week period, couples will learn two to three new square dance calls each week. And couples who miss a week need not worry. At the start of each class, Peterson reviews the previous week's calls.

This is the second beginner's class Peterson has offered this season. His September class had about 34 dancers, who have advanced to Peterson's intermediate class or have struck out on their own. He also teaches an advanced class.

"NOW THEY CAN go out to clubs on the weekend and dance," Peterson said. "We had a group that went to a hall in Waltz and danced."

The inexpensive part of the lessons is the cost — $2.50 per person per lesson. Couples will be able to join the class through the end of February. After that enrollment will be closed. Couples get the first class free to try out square dancing, Peterson added.

As for what to wear, Peterson says forget the fancy duds — the bolita ties, western shirts and western style dresses with petticoats galore. Just wear a pair of comfortable flat shoes.

"Actually, all you need to do is just show up," Peterson said.

The beginner's square dance class will be 8-9:30 p.m. Sundays, beginning Feb. 10, at the Livonia Senior Center, Farmington and Five Mile roads, Livonia. For more information, call 425-8447.

USO means more than a Hope show

The USO helped set up the inter-cultural exchange.

Kast came to the United States in 1960 where he's become a successful businessman. Then six years ago, someone called and said the USO needed a person with business experience on the board. Kast gladly joined.

Fund-raising has been a major concern for the USO. Although mandated by Congress, the USO doesn't receive government money. Instead, the organization relies on contributions from the private sector.

Two years ago, Kast helped organize a USO fund-raiser at Henry Ford Museum featuring Pearl Bailey and Lee Greenwood. The event raised $400,000.

Until recently, though, the USO efforts were primarily concentrated stateside and overseas military bases in Germany and Japan.

KAST SAID the slide of the dollar has impacted troops stationed overseas. Military pay, in some cases, has devalued 50 percent.

"Many (soldiers) didn't have funds for entertainment," Kast said. The Persian Gulf War offers another challenge.

"The big thing in Saudi Arabia is to bring some additional comforts to our troops," Kast said. "Things like bringing cold soft drinks to those in the desert. That's probably more important than the entertainment."

On the home front, the USO has been developing an awareness with large U.S. companies that soldiers and their families have a "tremendous need." Coca-Cola, AT&T and McDonald's along with other companies have responded by donating services and items to military personnel.

The USO has set up stations in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, and Bahrain, Saudi Arabia. In addition, there are mobile units that pass out coffee, pop and soda to soldiers in remote areas.

The four-wheel vans are also equipped large screen TVs and VCRs and cellular phones.

The USO has been able to mobilize quickly in a conflict that developed unexpectedly. Kast said the on-going tensions involving the Cold War were extinguished, only to be replaced by the Persian Gulf War.

"Here we thought we had a shrinking of our armed services. We had a build up," he said. "We have to think what's going to happen after the war in Kuwait and Iraq is over."

After the war, Kast said the USO will be needed as U.S. troops are stationed in other areas of the world.

For information on the USO, call (202) 783-8121.

Singer offers Christians words of encouragement

By Julie Brown
staff writer

When Terry Blackwood was 12, he committed his life to the Lord. As a Christian, he thought life was just great.

"A lot of times, it was lip service," said Blackwood, a singer who recently traveled to Tri-City Assembly of God in Canton for a concert. It wasn't until later in life that he went through some tough times that tested his faith.

"The Lord is in the business of putting broken lives back together again," he said. "Jesus is so loving, so kind and patient with us. He's brought me a long way, and I have boldness in the Lord."

Blackwood's late father was a musician whose career included time spent performing with The Blackwood Brothers Quartet.

"He really was a bold witness for the Lord."

His father died and that was difficult to deal with. Blackwood later had to cope with his mother's death and with his wife leaving him.

"It hurt me very deeply. God was faithful to me through that time."

"He brought me out of that. He's a friend that sticks closer than a brother."

BLACKWOOD'S MUSICAL career includes nine years singing with The Imperials. During that time, he and the other group members backed up such well-known performers as Elvis, Pat Boone, Carol Channing and Jimmy Dean.

"You have to do their songs, of course." The Imperials concentrated on gospel music in their own performances. They've been together since 1964 and have continued to sing gospel music.

"They're still very contemporary, a lot more contemporary than I would be now. I'm comfortable with that. I'm not a kid anymore."

More recently, Blackwood spent nine years as a partner with Sherman Andrus in Andrus, Blackwood and Co. In 1986, he launched a solo ministry from his home base in Nashville, Tenn.

"I want to encourage people. I want to relate to them. Christians need encouragement," said Blackwood, who performed the evening of Sunday, Jan. 27, at Tri-City Assembly of God. Christians go through the same struggles that other people do and need a helping hand.

"Until you've been there, you don't know how to cry for them. We have disappointments in life too. I'm a stronger person because of it. My faith is stronger."

Blackwood kept things moving right along during his concert in Canton. He sang a variety of songs.

"We're just going to praise the Lord a little tonight," he told those at the church. "He deserves all the praise and the glory."

BLACKWOOD TOLD the worshipers that he was shy as a teenager and couldn't have envisioned himself performing before an audience.

"I've fallen a lot of times. God honored every attempt I made. I'm realizing my dream tonight, I really am."

Blackwood's now comfortable singing before audiences. His work takes him to churches, conferences for singles, banquets, revivals and other gatherings.

He's participated in a number of recording projects through the years. His most recent solo tape is "Keep Pressing On."

Blackwood wrote the title song for that and performs many original songs. He draws on his own experiences in writing music.

'The Lord is in the business of putting broken lives back together again.'

—Terry Blackwood

"I think that's the greatest outlet for speaking."

He was pleased with the turnout at his Canton concert. Blackwood, who's performed previously in the Detroit area, had to compete with the Super Bowl that Sunday evening.

"I knew that the Super Bowl would claim some victims. I thought everybody was a fanatical pro football fan."

He was also surprised to see that the evening's snowfall didn't keep people away. People from Nashville and other southern communities aren't comfortable driving in snow, he said.

Blackwood would like to continue to record and to minister through song.

"There's a real need for it. I'd like to be a part of filling it."

Singer Terry Blackwood recently performed at Tri-City Assembly of God in Canton.

The deeper dimensions of life also affect men

The children with me were from 4 to 8 years of age. I was explaining to them the idea that it is OK to cry.

"Crying lets the sad out of us," I said. At this moment, a little boy's clear voice broke through: "No, it isn't OK to cry!" He had already learned that men do not express certain feelings, especially with tears.

Another story comes to mind. A 10-year-old boy has heard about the war in the Middle East. He comes home one day so disturbed by this news that he throws up.

It is OK in our society for women to be this upset. We see their tears on the nightly news. It is not allowed for boys or men to express such fears and sensitive feelings.

MEN ARE taught to repress their moral perspectives

Rev. David Strong

feelings. One writer calls this the "anesthesia of males." Men are taught not to feel their own feelings. We are to be numb. We are taught to fix problems. These problems may require a wrench, a phone call or a M16 rifle.

In his new book, "Men's Dreams, Men's Healings," Robert Hopcke suggests that we raise boys to believe in masculine glory. Such raising leads tragically to "kingdoms devastated" and friendships destroyed.

How does this training relate to our current fixation on the war in the Middle East? Unfeeling males wind up either defeated or arrogant. Their feelings and especially their hearts are shrunk and their egos inflated.

It is tragic to admit that what we men feel is usually buried far below the surface. I wonder if men and women really want it this way. Men are certainly less apt to be responsive and close if raised in this manner.

Each of us is a unique person. Our feelings and our values must be a part of this uniqueness. They are planted in us by God so that we may become fully our special selves.

We need to measure life in ways that are more personal, more wholistic, more full of feeling. When will we learn that money, power, heroism and achievement cannot exist without other qualities in life? These other qualities include close fatherhood, feelings, individual growth, sharing our unique selves, a defined faith and compassion. These are the essentials.

IN OUR WESTERN culture, God is often identified as Father. Feminists and those who do not have a positive image of a father object to this image. Yet for men, there can be a deeper sense in which men are able to identify with the father and son relationship in a positive, life-giving manner.

The paradox of the incarnation, of God within one's experience, and with the drama of life and death which this involves, this can lead to maturity and spirituality. Men can find within these symbols a deeper appreciation of the mystery both of our mortality and of our continuation beyond death.

This is implicit in the religious drama of Father and Son which is central to the Christian rituals of the Lenten and Easter season. Such symbols of the deeper, spiritual dimensions of life can become part of the internal journey of faith so that these meanings become intimate with inner meaning.

Men are as emotional and spiritual as women. But before this deeper dimension of men becomes typical rather than a rare phenomenon our society must change. We men have a long way to go to find that journey toward wholeness which is both possible and one which is affirmed in our society.

The Rev. David T. Strong is pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Detroit.

This summer more than 15,000 people will spend their vacation with us.

Each summer more than 15,000 students take courses at Wayne State University. Students do not need to be admitted to the University to take most classes. Choose from a selection of more than 1,000 courses taught on the main campus in the Detroit Cultural Center, or at one of more than 10 metropolitan Detroit locations. Courses are conveniently offered in eight or fifteen week sessions.

Applications are welcome but not necessary. During the Spring and Summer at WSU, even students from other colleges and universities can attend WSU without applying for admission, or can apply to take courses as a guest student for the summer.

Get your feet wet. Start taking courses this summer and fill out your admission forms later. It's a great way for people to start out slowly before delving into a full semester.

Get ahead instead of behind while on vacation. High school graduates or students already admitted for future semesters can take summer courses and get a leisurely start on the fall term.

Having a great time learning a lot. Wish you were here!

This summer vacation, build more than just memories — build a future.

Sharon and Ken Smith received the Top Dog Award for operating the best dealership in terms of percentage of sales increase and service for the Invisible Fencing Co. Candy, the couple's Golden Retriever, has personal experience with the system.

Invisible fencing limits pets' range

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Cami Annas of Bloomfield Hills and Christine Koski of Farmington Hills rave about the product.

It's made life more pleasant for Tank, Patches, Chester, Nicky, Lady and hundreds of other dogs.

And it's proven to be a successful business venture for Sharon and Ken Smith of Birmingham.

The husband-wife team owns and operates Invisible Fencing of Birmingham, a dealership that installs underground, radio-controlled pet containment systems.

The Smiths recently won the company's Top Dog Award for the largest annual percentage increase in sales and quality service among the 225 dealers in the network.

"What made our business successful is it works," Sharon said. "It's the kind of thing people don't believe does, but it works."

INVISIBLE FENCING of Birmingham had gross sales of well over $500,000 and installed more than 500 containment systems last year, Ken said.

"This is a tremendous alternative, maybe the best way to go for containing a dog in the yard," he said. "In subdivisions where no fencing is allowed and there are tough leash laws... most people wouldn't get a dog."

Unless they buy a product like Invisible Fencing, he said.

Here's how it works.

Wiring is buried 2-3 inches underground around the area you want the animal to be contained. A transmitter is hooked to the wire, a radio-receiver collar attached to the dog.

Flags or rope is placed around the perimeter for the animal to see. The dog is led around the perimeter on the leash to explore the boundaries. A warning beep precedes a shock by an instant.

THE PET usually becomes conditioned to the boundaries in a week with few shocks, Ken said. "It is harmless, very mild and startles them more than anything," he said of the shock. "When they hear the beep and see the flags, that's enough to warn to keep back."

'The thing that concerns us is it shocks the animal.'

— Gary Tiscornia
Humane Society

The hardware and installation costs about $1,100 for 600 linear feet. A few general observations about the system from Ken and Sharon.

- The transmitter, because it sends out pulsating, low-frequency radio waves, won't interfere with neighbors' appliances.
- Dogs should be at least six months old to learn the system. Older dogs can be trained. The ease or difficulty of training depends on the temperament of the individual dog, not the breed.
- The failure rate is about 1 percent.

THE SMITHS can vouch for the product from personal experience. Their dog, Candy, a Golden Retriever, took to the system like a fish to water.

"When we moved from Philadelphia, we brought our (transmitter, collar) system with us," Sharon said. "When we got here, we figured we'd have the (wiring) system installed. We found no one had a dealership here."

"They practically begged us to start a dealership here," Ken said of Invisible Fencing Co. headquartered in Pennsylvania.

That was about six years ago. Sharon ran the business herself out of the home for a couple of years, then leased offices in West Bloomfield. Ken, who had been a sales representative, jumped in full time in 1989. Now, they have six inside employees and four sub-contracting installation crews.

Referrals account for most of the business. Ken said he knows of no local competitors.

Beware of mail business opportunities

Tough economic times often bring out get-rich-quick schemes.

Police, a postal inspector and an investment adviser warn consumers to beware of plans that seem too good to be true.

"They can come up any time, but especially when financial climates are down," said Lt. William Tullock, who heads the Troy crime prevention bureau.

"Absolutely it picks up," said Sid Mittra, a certified financial planner, college instructor and a columnist for the Observer & Eccentric. "That's a point you can easily make. People are looking everywhere for comfort."

"Given the sign of the times, the economic situation, things like this would seem very attractive to people," said Officer Lisa Hale, Garden City crime prevention officer.

"That's when people are desperate to make ends meet and grasp at straws," said Fred Van de Putte, a postal inspector in Detroit.

ONE LETTER now circulating in metro Detroit presents what it claims is a legitimate opportunity to earn money through a multi-level marketing mail order business. But authorities have their doubts.

The six-page letter offers the chance "to make at least $50,000 in less than 90 days in the comfort of your own home."

Recipients are asked to send $5 cash to each of four people on a list in exchange for reports about multi-level sales programs. Recipients then are directed to add their names to the letters, move the other names around and send copies to more people.

Van de Putte said he intends to send a copy of the letter to the special investigations division in Washington, D.C. for follow-up review.

"From my own experience... and from what I've read, it certainly looks like an illegal chain letter," he said.

Mittra said after reviewing the letter that he would have thrown it away after the first paragraph.

"MY FIRST advice is anything that offers anyone no cost, no problems, no trouble, my immediate reaction is to reject it no matter what," Mittra said. "I've never found anything that offers no cost, all benefit."

Sue Mason, a Westland resident and O&E editor, received a copy of Employees account for much theft

By David F. Stein
special writer

The kindly grandmother sifting through the sales table at the local Sears or Hudson's may really be a loss prevention employee, while electronic eyes keep watch overhead. But man and machine are not only guarding against customer theft. All eyes also are on employees, and for good reason.

While more than 93 percent of those caught stealing in 1989 were customers, employees caught shoplifting took nearly seven times more per person, according to the 12th annual "Ounce of Prevention" survey of 160 retail companies nationwide. The average recovery per customer apprehension in 1989 was $196, compared to $1,350 per employee apprehension.

The survey, co-sponsored by Ernst and Young, a retail professional services firm, and the International Mass Retail Association, includes data from Michigan department and drug stores, mass merchants, supermarkets and specialty stores. National sales for the 160 companies surveyed topped $193 billion in 1989.

"Employee theft is absolutely a problem," said Michael P. Fricker, loss prevention manager at Sears' Livonia Mall store. It's a freedom situation; employees are there every day and they present a great risk because of access to merchandise and cash.

But overall retail loss, called shrinkage, consists of paperwork errors as well as customer and employee theft. Total shrinkage for the survey firms increased slightly from 1.89 percent of retail sales in 1988 to 1.91 percent in 1989.

AT THE SAME TIME, companies spent an average $2.5 million to battle shrinkage, a 20-percent increase from 1988 to 1989. The money went for sophisticated merchandise accounting and tagging systems and electronic surveillance in addition to employee training and old-fashioned detective work. Personnel costs were 73 percent of the security and loss prevention total.

Department stores spent two to three times more than specialty stores or drug chains and supermarkets, as a percentage of sales, to combat losses. An informal survey of local department stores confirms concern with employee theft, although most retailers admit that getting an exact handle on each factor in the shrinkage equation is difficult. At Kmart, Philip C. Way, director of loss prevention, wouldn't divulge

Let's blame the other guy when we run out of gas

A guy is suing Ford Motor Co. because he ran out of gas. Now, this really isn't so funny, since the suit is based on a serious injury suffered after he not only ran out of gas, he was hit by a motorcyclist as he tried to push the car off the road.

Regardless, the notion that a car company is responsible for what happens after a guy runs out of gas seems to me to stretch the notion of product liability a bit far.

In this case, the argument is that the car in question had a faulty gas gauge, which still read about a quarter tank full when in fact it was empty.

In a way, I sympathize if this actually occurred, since the old Fords I have been acquainted with normally showed empty when in fact there was about a quarter of a tank in there.

In fact, I once had an old Ford that had a gas gauge needle that swung down to the E mark about as fast as a sweep second hand. It ended up reading E after you got about a half a mile away from a fillup. Then the fun began.

If the sun was right, you could sort of eyeball the width of the E as about the first two-thirds of the tank. Then the needle entered a sort of gray area, where it gradually opened up white space below the letter until eventually, it ran out of gas and the car stopped.

THE RESULT was a steady increase in anxiety once the needle left the bottom leg of the E, since the interpretation was completely subjective and certain to fluctuate. When you went up a grade, for example, the sloshing gas wiggled the needle, as it would in a hard right turn. Pretty soon, you were looking for the degree of slosh to figure out if you could make it down to the discount station or had to pull in and pay full price.

I admit this happened a long time ago, but, currently, the family minivan seems to have a similar method of estimating remaining gas. At least that's what my wife claims, since she says she has about three errands left after the needle hits rock bottom, where it seems to stay stuck even on steep hills.

In the course of my work, I drive a wide variety of automobiles, which means I often have been forced to rely on the accuracy of an unfamiliar gas gauge.

Modern technology is of little help in this matter, despite the fact that most modern cars have not only a gas gauge, but a warning light that comes on some time before the car stops dead, although there seems to be no widely accepted standard for the exact time remaining when the light comes on.

These lights tend to introduce yet another form of gas gauge phobia, since now I'm not only estimating the width of the bottom of the E, I'm trying to figure out if there is, in fact, a warning light that will give me a sporting chance, or merely a flashing light that blinks GOTCHA when it is too late.

If you have been reading this far, you might have surmised that I am the type that tends to stretch a tank of gas a bit. Sometimes I wonder what it is drives me to stretch for the ultimate mileage inherent in a tank. Maybe it's the mental exercise of calculating miles remaining and seeing if it matches up with the Miles to the Next Rest-Stop sign on the turnpikes. Maybe it's something imprinted in my psyche from adolescent memories of when running out of gas didn't seem like such a bad idea at the time.

Whatever, when it does happen, I figure it's nobody's fault but my own.

Invisible fencing can help keep your pets from leaving home

A COUPLE of customers gave the product a ringing endorsement. "I didn't think it would work," Annas said. "They had a guarantee on it and I liked that idea."

Tank, an 8-year-old Labrador, learned fairly quickly, she said. "He got zapped a couple of times, that was it."

"It's freedom for the dog. The dog isn't confined. I can take off for the day and not leave him in the house. It's an excellent product."

Koski said Invisible Fencing seems to be better for animals than keeping them tethered with ropes or chains or inside all the time. She had some misgivings initially about the shock effect, but changed her mind when she was accidentally zapped while holding a radio-activated collar.

"I KNEW it wasn't bad," Koski said. "If it were cruel, I wouldn't have done it."

She has four dogs ranging from a 16-pound chihuahua/poodle, Patches, to a 108-pound shepherd/husky, Lady.

The Humane Society of Michigan probably wouldn't place a dog with a person who had or planned to install an Invisible Fence, said Gary Tiscornia, executive director.

"The thing that concerns us is it shocks the animal," he said.

Other risks cited by Tiscornia include the possibility of an animal escaping, then not being able to get back into the yard due to constant zapping and the possibility of another animal coming into the yard and breeding with the dog who belongs there.

Employees guilty of expensive theft

Company statistics but said that the average employee theft involves considerably more merchandise or cash than a customer incident. Way also said that Kmart's shrinkage is below the 2-percent national average.

"Our primary focus is education," said Way. "The loss prevention manager at each store is involved in the training of every employee. We also use videotapes to educate employees on the behavior pattern of shoplifters."

But Kmart also aims surveillance at employees through routine observation and investigations of cash or merchandise discrepancies. The Kmart accounting system can track individual departments at each store. The laundering of merchandise tends to be a team effort with a non-employee, Way said, while employees usually act alone when stealing cash.

HUDSON'S RELIES on a sophisticated computer system to thwart employee theft, according to spokeswoman Susan L. Kelly.

"Our initial training for employees has a segment on shrinkage and loss prevention; our employees are informed on what our computer system can do, which often acts as a deterrent," Kelly said. "Our policy is to prosecute employees and customers whenever possible."

Local loss prevention managers see no clear pattern or profile for the dishonest employee.

Kmart's Way believes that there is less employee theft with increasing age and length of service. "Other workers haven't gained a stake in our business yet," Way said.

Sears' Fricker, with more than 18 years' experience in loss prevention, isn't so sure.

"Unhappy employees may be more likely to steal," Fricker said, "but if I knew why employees steal, I'd quit here and become a millionaire. The problem is difficult and getting more difficult. I hate to see people hurt themselves."

Kenneth Stedman, director of security for Crowley, Milner and Co., is also perplexed.

"I have never found any real correlation between male or female, black or white, young or old," said Stedman, who has 23 years in loss prevention. "The need as the employee perceives it and opportunity are the deciding factors."

Stedman also confirms a surprising finding of the loss survey. Forty-five percent of employee thefts were detected at the point of sale, the cash register. This may include false voids, a phony return or undercharging friends for merchandise. Only 10 percent of employee thefts were detected in the stock area.

"There's nothing really new," Stedman said, "Employees keep reinventing the wheel. They try to cover tracks wherever they leave them. Theft of merchandise is least on the list."

But Crowley's has a handle on the problem, Stedman said. In addition to computer inventory systems and plenty of closed-circuit cameras, Crowley's is fighting money losses with money.

Selling staff receive rewards for pointing out thieves: $25 plus 25 percent of the merchandise value for customer theft, and $350 plus 10 percent when identifying employees who steal.

Stedman said this program has helped Crowley's achieve a 1.34 percent shrinkage rate for 1989, well below the 2-percent national average.

Crowley's is also hard on those caught stealing. "We prosecute 80 percent of cases, employee or customer," Stedman said. "We make sure it's a winning case, and we have lost only one case in three years."

Michigan laws against retail fraud are stiff. First-time theft under $100 (second-degree retail fraud) is a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of 93 days in jail and/or a $100 fine. Theft of $100 or greater, or a second offense of any value, brings the charge to first-degree retail fraud, a felony subject to a maximum penalty of two years in jail and/or $1,000 fine. Stores are allowed to apprehend those caught stealing under the principle of citizen's arrest.

The national survey also claimed that 55 percent of employed thefts were related to drug use, a relationship that was not confirmed by local stores. None of the local stores surveyed test employees for drugs, although 64 of the 160 companies in the national survey do.

Business-by-mail can be a big loser the letter from B. Jamesons with a Garden City post office box number. Mason didn't recognize the name.

Mason speculated that her name came from a mailing list. "I'm registered to vote. I do take magazines. There are charge card companies that would gladly sell names for a fee."

B. Jamesons is a business operated by a Westland woman. She recently got involved after receiving a letter herself.

"THE BOTTOM line is just like everyone else — operating in the black and having a few bucks in my savings account," she said of her decision to participate. "I'm obviously on a lot of lists. I get letters every day. I'm a mail order freak."

The woman said she's spent about $250 on the venture and has just made her first mailing of 1,000 letters. However, the woman has had second thoughts since she was contacted for this story. "I want to investigate it further with the postal department," she said.

The woman said she has been advised by her lawyer to get a written ruling, hold all letters she receives unopened until that time, then return the letters and close the box if the decision goes against her.

That's her plan for now.

Jerry Embree of Cincinnati, Ohio, introduced the woman to the program via a mailing list.

He said he's been at it about two months, having earned $200, spending a little over $400 and mailing 1,000 letters.

"It did seem legal. It wasn't a chain letter. It wasn't a pyramid scheme. You're selling a product, information," said Embree. He, too, said he'd quit if the business were determined to be illegal.

Especially the affluent must plan for retirement

By Sid Mittra

A wealthy local professional is in shock. He has been busy making money for the business that he founded and owned for 30 years.

Now, at age 60, he has sold his business for $2 million and believes he has the right to a comfortable retirement. But being a multimillionaire is not enough. His needs current income, adequate insurance, an emergency fund and inflation-proof investments with limited risk. Unfortunately, during working years he failed to provide for himself the many fringe benefits offered by corporations.

He is not alone. The drive and controlling nature of the affluent professional can become a time bomb that explodes the moment the professional needs to take that important step and attend to the family's financial needs.

In a six-part article, I will address some of the major financial concerns of the affluent professionals.

Classic actor explores band's life

Brian Bedford will present "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet" on the American Artists Series at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10, at Cranbrook's Kingswood auditorium in Bloomfield Hills. Tickets at $25 are available by calling 851-5044.

By Cathie Broidenbach
special writer

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE went through a mid-life crisis centuries before the pop-psych term was even invented, and a distrust of women accompanied his middle-aged disenchantment.

In Brian Bedford's two-hour festival of Shakespeare called "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet," the acclaimed actor—who is a perennial box office favorite at Ontario's Stratford Festival—reveals his insights into the mind of Shakespeare. In a phone interview from Washington, D.C., Bedford said he is surprised how many sophisticated people don't know the facts of the bard's life.

"Shakespeare's father was mayor of Stratford," Bedford said. "William was married at 18. Before he was 21 he had a wife and three children. He had a middle-aged decline similar to what his father experienced."

Bedford's show ties in documented biographical facts about Shakespeare with the sonnets and speeches from the plays to create "a dramatic portrait of Shakespeare using his own words."

BEDFORD EXPLAINED the show is "not just Shakespeare's greatest hits. What I'm trying to do is create the character of Shakespeare. Everything works to that end. Lots of people see him as a high-falootin', oracular, god-like man. I see him as a very human being who experiences love, hate, ecstasy, despair."

To illustrate the beginnings of what Bedford calls the bard's "mid-

life decline," he quoted the happy country song from "As You Like It": "Most friendship is feigning, most loving mere folly." He said, "That is the acorn that blooms in succeeding plays into the full-blown nihilism of Lear and Timon."

The classical actor, born and trained in England, spoke with candor of King Lear's despairing speeches and of the bitter exile, Timon. He included some of those speeches in "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet and said the bitter language "is like upchuck. It's Shakespeare spewing out venom and bile against life."

Bedford admits it was a challenge to find the real man beneath the approximately 1,200 characters the bard created. "Shakespeare successfully masks his own personality. He wasn't interested in psychological therapy. He wanted to write wonderfully entralling theater." Bedford read the sonnets and the plays over and over to find the chinks through which he could glimpse the playwright, to find "what might be straight from the horse's mouth." He cited Hamlet's instruction to the actors who have come to Elsinore castle as such a chink. "It has no narrative value, and it was uncharacteristic for a Renaissance prince to be an aficionado on acting." In Hamlet's speech, Bedford said, "Shakespeare proclaims his own artistic mandate."

SELECTIONS IN the show include a gallery of Shakespeare's male characters. With only the actor's art (no costumes or sets) and Shakespeare's inimitable language, Bedford brings to the stage such divergent men as Nick Bottom, Romeo, Malvollo, King Richard II, Shylock, Macbeth, Angelo, Prospero, Hamlet and Lear.

Bedford says it took him a year to "complete" the show, which opened at Stratford's Third Stage in September 1989 to rave reviews. Since then the only change to the original show has been adding a little more of Macbeth after Bedford played the ambitious Scotsman last season at Stratford.

Bedford spoke of the particular challenge of making Macbeth relevant to audiences. "I don't think vaulting ambition is something the man in the street connects with. He can relate to jealousy, love and revenge, but Macbeth wants more and more." He added, "If a character is closer to my own experience that makes it a bit easier."

Playing Richard III, who murders for political gain, challenged Bedford, who felt a distance from the hunchbacked king. "I suppose if I'd murdered anyone, I'd find it easier," he said, and explained the dramatic challenge of making the audience feel empathy for Richard. "It's hard to convincingly depict a man who murders."

In more than 31 years as a classical actor, Bedford has become intimately acquainted with Shakespeare's plays, having played most lead male roles at one time or another. He said, "The sonnets (which he includes in the show) were a comparatively new discovery for me. They comprise an enigmatic documentary of part of Shakespeare's life, and I got on intimate terms with them. They weren't published until Shakespeare was 45, except for two which were leaked out when he was 35."

LAST WINTER Bedford took "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet" on a successful "20-25 city" international tour that included Canada and Mexico. This winter the itinerary includes 26 cities. Later this month, Bedford will perform his one-man show at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre in Detroit.

On tour, every performance is different. "The acoustics of the houses are important and they vary with each date," he said. Audiences also differ in their familiarity with Shakespeare's plots and characters. Many bookings are at regional theaters and universities.

"The university is the perfect Shakespeare class. Lively students have a knowledge and love for Shakespeare," Bedford said. "The point of fact is you don't actually need a knowledge of Shakespeare to find the show interesting. You come, sit there, and I do all the work."

After the tour, Bedford will return to Stratford, where he will play Dogberry in "Much Ado About Nothing" and the lead in "Timon of Athens" on the upcoming Stratford Festival season. He will play Timon for the first time, and despite the play's depressing nihilism, Bedford looks forward to the dramatic challenge and to working once again with director Michael Langham.

King Lear remains a plum Shakespearean role Bedford includes in "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet," but it is one part he has yet to play in a full-blown production. Bedford's almost boyish looks not only belie his 50-some years but, so far, directors may have perceived him as a bit young to play the blind, despondent old king.

BEDFORD DOESN'T want to wait too long to play Lear. He said, "You have to play him when you still have a lot of energy. When you're really older, you can't whip up energy out of the air."

At the moment he is enjoying his on-the-road schedule. "It's perfect. I do it three months at most a year." The other nine months he spends in Stratford, where he has a house, or at his farm in upstate New York. Of the tour, he said, "I don't do it (the show) every single night. It hasn't become a bore."

The production has attracted the eye of a Public Broadcasting System producer who wants to make a television video of it. Bedford said, "I'm stepping very gingerly. I do want to get as much mileage as I can. I don't want people to buy a video instead of me."

Now on its second successful tour, "The Lunatic, the Lover and the Poet" holds a mirror up to nature and mesmerizes audiences with the range and power of Shakespeare's words and the artistry of one of the finest classical actors in the business.

3 offbeat sisters make a great show

Performances of the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Crimes of the Heart" continue through Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Water Tower Theatre on the campus of Northville Regional Hospital. For ticket information call 728-4400.

If you think you've had a bad day, you don't know what a bad is until you check out the Magrath sisters in Plymouth Theatre Guild's entertaining "Crimes of the Heart." The play is set in Hazelhurst, Miss. It might as well be in River City because the sisters have got troubles. Big troubles!

First, there is Lenny who is celebrating her 30th birthday (and facing spinsterhood with a "shrunk ovary"). Patricia Ebbitt goes a bit heavy on the histrionics from time to time but gives a consistent performance as Lenny.

Then, there is Meg who dreamed of a glamorous career but returns home with a checkered past (after faking success in Hollywood). Michelle Mihail is very believable as Meg and shows a nice command of the stage.

Finally, we have Babe who is out of jail on bail (after shooting her husband — a state senator no less — because she didn't like "the way he looks"). Eileen Giffels makes her stage debut as Babe, and while we would like to see a more quirky character, she does an admirable job in a difficult role.

ALL OF THIS is just a sampler of problems facing the family. It obviously requires a stretch in imagination to accept the bizarre characters and the outrageous events. The point seems to be that when life's aggravations become intolerable, we become irrational and lash out in wacky ways.

Nevertheless, in the end the sisters work out all their problems. And we can see why playwright Beth Henley won a Pulitzer Prize for her comedy-drama, "Crimes of the Heart."

PTG manages a goodly number of laughs and poignant moments in this roller coaster of emotions. From time to time, however, the production jumps the tracks.

For example, the setting (a kitchen), while well done, is too large to establish an intimate family feeling. When combined with a plethora of curtain line scenes, the performers often appear detached from each other and their surroundings.

Also, the sisters, while well cast, have similar voices. They are difficult to understand when speaking rapidly or together. Perhaps director Carla Lenhoff might consider underplaying or working in a few pauses.

Also appearing are Brenda Hearon Damiani who is splendidly brassy as Chick Boyle, Thomas Hoagland as Doc Porter, and Faud Kandah as attorney Barnette Lloyd.

Bob Weibel of Westland is a freelance writer, who has spent more than 25 years in community theater as a director, designer and performer.

China tourist activities a mystery

Where would you go and what would you do if you could spend two weeks in China this summer? That's the question I was asked by Jane Bibeau of Bloomfield Township and Sandy Pennington of Novi, who plan to join Jane's daughter in China in either July or August.

Renee Bibeau, 23, has already had an interesting travel life since she graduated from Mercy High School in Farmington. She has lived in Finland, Estonia and Tahiti as part of a program offered by Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla.

A youth pastor in Tulsa recommended her for a similar position with a Christian group in Shenyang, in the Chinese province of Liaoning, not far from the border of Korea.

"The three of us would like to see significant areas of China this summer," Jane wrote. "Could you please tell us what we should see, and recommend a geographic area that would break up the trip on our way to China or on our way home?"

Jane and Sandy are looking for information about the weather, the cost of the trip, and whether they should try to include places like Tibet, Singapore or Malaysia.

If they had asked me about any other part of the world, I would have a file drawer full of information, but I have never been to China and travelers are just starting to go back there 18 months after the brief uprising in Beijing.

My first stop was a letter to the China National Tourist Office, 333 West Broadway, Suite 201, Glendale, Calif. 91204. That's usually a good way to get information, but I have waited several weeks without a reply.

I put the question to Kathy Ambrose, the manager of Travel Works in Southfield. She hasn't been to China but has all the information needed to book China travel through wholesalers like Pacific Delight Tours of New York or Silkway Travel Ltd. of Hong Kong.

I also called Jean West of Oakland Travel in Birmingham, who has booked many people on such tours. Jean agrees with me that Singapore, Malaysia and Tibet are too far from China to be practical side-tips on a two-week journey. When I flew to Singapore on Singapore Airlines last March, it was a five-hour flight south from Tokyo to Singapore, about the same time as flying from New York to London.

Jean suggested that Jane and Sandy start with a few guidebooks from their local library, so they can narrow their choices. She also recommended that they do at least part of their trip on a tour out of Hong Kong.

"Most tours go to Shanghai, Beijing, Stan — that's the archeological site of the life-sized terracotta soldiers — and maybe on a boat trip down the Yangtze River."

Jean recommends a Hong Kong stopover, where you can shop and maybe take a hydrofoil to Macau. I have been to Hong Kong and I second the motion, even if all you do is wander down the colorful streets or stare at the beautiful scenery.

Ed Jamieson of Northville Travel has taken groups to China and highly recommends it for the right kind of travelers.

"I took 40 members of the Michigan Dairy Farmers Association to China with Pacific Delight Tours," he said. "It was a 12-day trip with three nights in Hong Kong to adjust to the new time zone, and the rest of the time traveling south from Beijing to Shanghai."

SINGAPORE

Good joss among the high-rises

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

In another time and place, Singapore would be a city-state, or a kingdom, and this story would begin with "once upon a time."

Once upon a time there was an island 25 miles long and 15 miles wide off the Malay Peninsula, a pencil dot at the southeast tip of Asia.

When British East India Company officials created a trading post halfway between China and India, they named it Singapore, "lion city." The island was a swamp, but people brought their skills from China and India, worked hard, and soon ships from all over the world sailed into its natural harbor.

People lived in shop-houses, making shoes and joss sticks and other things in the open-fronted stores and living in the quarters above. Merchants, calligraphers and children spilled out into the streets. The shop-houses were edged by the five-foot way, a covered walkway mandated by Sir Stamford Raffles when he founded the city as a British trading post in 1819.

I lived in that Asian city during the later 1950s, and went back in 1990 when Singapore was celebrating its 25th anniversary as an independent nation, most of it under the benevolent dictatorship of regularly-re-elected Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew.

The city of shop-houses — that was the picture I carried in my mind. I was eager to learn whether the oriental city I knew was still there. Would I find the curry lady of Tanglin Market, who clucked over my blonde babies and challenged me to eat durian?

Would I see the street hawkers that sold sweets wrapped in leaves, the shopkeepers whose voices followed me down the street: "Buy a ring lady. Come see my shop?"

My first impression was that the Asian city I knew was gone. In its place I found a contemporary city where men and women in western dress travel by car and subway to high-rise hotels and office centers, rushing home every night to multi-storied apartment buildings.

The kampongs, where people lived in wooden houses high above the ground, were almost gone. Eighty percent of the 2.6 million people now live in high-rises.

When I taxied along Tanglin Road, I had to lean down to see the tops of high-rise hotels soaring above what were once fields. The market was gone. The curry lady was gone. The only sign of durian, a fruit that smells like rotten tennis shoes but tastes delicious, were a few signs in hotels saying "It is forbidden to bring durian into this lobby."

The British built this city as a free port, and the sea has been its trademark ever since. Hundreds of ships anchor offshore and the colored sails of windsurfers fill the water between shoreline and ship. French perfume and Irish lace can be bought at duty-free prices. Oriental goods are not nearly as visible.

The British were so accustomed to facing the sea, they had fixed guns facing out to sea when the Japanese bicycled down the peninsula and across the causeway that connects the island city to the mainland during World War II.

The British surrendered to the Japanese around a Ford Motor Company conference table on Bukit Timah Road. Many a Ford employee from Michigan subsequently sat at that table before it was moved to a museum on Sentosa Island, reached by cable car or ferry.

Sentosa, a $2-million development of beaches, museums and other attractions, was one of many new sights I would see for the first time. But first I wanted to find out if our old apartment building still stood amid the splendor of the Regent, the Omai Marco Polo, the Sheraton and Shangri-la hotels.

St. Martin's Drive was still there. The apartment was there, newly painted, across from the house where hundreds of fireworks were exploded during Chinese New Year. Fireworks are forbidden in the city now.

"Rich people live up here now," the taxi driver said. The house next door to our apartment was pretty rich in those long ago days, as I remember. One Chinese man lived there with three wives, one on each floor, and 27 children.

I remembered the day we moved in, with our two tow-headed sons. The amahs and the 27 children were singing at the top of their lungs: "Davy, Davy Crockett, king of the wild frontier." So much for exotica.

The house and the 27 kids are gone now, along with Ah Soong, my amah, a servant known as a black-and-white because they traditionally wore loose black pants and white tunics. Nobody in this affluent city wants to be a servant any more, so those who can get permission from the government import their servants from the Philippines.

Singapore looked so much like New York City (except it is clean, safe and well-run) that it took me a few days to realize that the old oriental city is still there under the new glass-and-steel high-rises.

The food hawkers used to sell from street corners, but Singapore is a cleaned-up city, so hawker food is now served on plastic tables under the trees in government-owned "hawker centers" like Newton Circus or Cuppage Center. Stalls sell chicken rice, Chinese char stew, Indian biriyani, Malay curry, giant prawns and lobsters, oyster omelets, cuttlefish and especially satay.

In the old days we bought satay — barbecued chicken or meat dipped in peanut sauce — from hawkers who squatted over their barbecue grills on Beech Road. Now they are scattered through every hawker center.

The joss makers can still be found in the industrial park of a satellite town called Ang Mo Kio. Fantastic figures made of sawdust mixed with cinnamon or camphor are created in open-fronted buildings and burned in front of temples and other places for luck.

A few yards down the street you can watch people make huge fun-

Snorkeling near Australia's barrier reef

By Allen I. Moore
special writer

Snorkeling in the warm clear waters off Australia's Great Barrier Reef was the highlight of a nine-week trip to Australia last year. My wife Christina and I took day tours into "Crocodile Dundee" country and rode the Kuranda Rail Road, but the best and last tour was to the reef 30 miles east of the Australian coastal resort town of Cairns.

Cairns is a pleasant seaside town in the tropical northeastern state of Queensland. It is on Trinity Bay, surrounded by the rugged Atherton Mountains. We stayed in a modern hotel and took guided day tours, including one into the croc-infested Daintree River, but diving the reef was the epitome of "getting away from it all."

We sailed out aboard a huge catamaran called Great Adventures. Our first stop was 25 miles offshore at Green Island, which typifies the palm tree islands of the south seas, with its white sandy beaches and shark barriers.

We disembarked for lunch at a small cafe in a jungle clearing. Nearby in a small zoo are the two biggest crocodiles in captivity, Oscar, 24 feet long and Cassius, 19 feet long. They were caught out at sea in trawl nets, just like a scene from the movie "Jaws."

After re-embarking and sailing a few more miles, we reached the outer reef, where a huge pontoon was anchored. This had a restaurant on-board and loading slips for numerous vessels. A glass-bottom boat took us over the reef.

The underwater views were incredible. I couldn't wait to go snorkeling. We met a Canadian couple from Edmonton, but the wives, after seeing Oscar and Cassius, elected not to snorkel, but to view the reef from a semi-submersible boat. They missed a fabulous experience.

As we dived, we saw a technicolor display of vivid coral hues under the crystal water, a quiet peaceful world full of strange shapes and shades. We swam a few inches below the ocean's surface, watching neon-like fish through the clear glass facemasks. It is an amazing experience.

These remarkably beautiful, but indifferent, creatures seem to regard snorkelers as merely other aquatic beings. They swam above and beside us, or below us.

Some of the exotic names are quite descriptive: red emperor, parrot, clown, sweetlip, barramundi, angel and sailfish. Swimming with them in 80-degree ocean water gave the impression of being inside a huge aquarium.

We saw giant clams on ledges among the coral 10 or 12 feet below us. We dove down, following the four guide through the schools of tropical fish. We teased the clams by hand-stroking their insides, then withdrew FAST before their three-foot mouths clamped shut. It created quite an adrenaline rush.

Although it was early May, during the southern hemisphere's autumn season, the temperature was in the high 80s. The blazing tropical sun, high in the clear blue sky, illuminated

Avoid the mid-summer months of December and January in the north, because of the heat; Aussies go north for the sun in their winter months of July and August just as we go south in our winter months.

erary paper houses, perhaps a giant house for a grandmother who died 10 years ago; her son couldn't afford a house for her then, but he has a new house now so she must have one too.

You can still visit a working pottery and you can still find coffee houses where men take their song birds every morning and take part in Asia-wide competitions. Check out the cafe at the corner of Seng Poh and Tiong Bahru roads.

The shop-houses would be only a memory if Singaporeans hadn't stopped their frantic building just in time. Now they're restoring the shop-houses and preserving the ancient Asian lifestyle in Chinatown, Little India and Arab Street, three of the areas most visited by tourists.

Even the famous Raffles Hotel is being restored, to reopen this spring as a luxury hotel.

"A guide from the Chinese National Tourist Office met the group in Hong Kong and stayed with us until we returned to Hong Kong. We also had Pacific Delight people with us, but they were there as hosts, not guides."

Jamieson said there are several tour groups that specialize in China, including Pacific Delight, Silkway, United Airlines Vacations and Gateway-Globus, just to name a few. He can sell you a trip for as low as $2,300 per person.

It's good to turn to professionals like us for information, but sometimes the real experts are travelers who have done the trip and have first-hand experience. Have you been to China? Send your advice to Jane and Sandy by writing to Iris Sanderson Jones, 35516 Grand River, Farmington Hills, Mich. 48335.

And if you have advice for travelers to Europe, remember our special Europe travel page March 14. Our deadline is at least 10 days before that, so write soon.

KOREA

You'll be seeing more about Korea on television this year. The Korea National Tourism Corp. has begun a promotional campaign targeting North America. The American market is Korea's second largest. Major projects for 1991 include television advertising, development of special-interest tour programs and participation in exhibitions and festivals.

The Korea National Tourism Corp. has also introduced its Automated Response System, by which tourism information is given out over the telephone in Korea. By dialing 134 and following the instructions, information on transportation, accommodations and more than 500 tourist attractions throughout Korea can be obtained.

For more information on Korea travel, contact the Korea National Tourism Corp., New York, N.Y., (201) 585-0909, or consult your travel agent.

The Weidong Ferry Co., a Korean-Chinese joint-venture has opened a car ferry route between Incheon, the port west of Seoul, and Weihai in China's Shandong Province. The ferry can carry up to 500 passengers in addition to cars and cargo, and operates two to three times per week. Cost for the 12-hour trip is $200 for VIP cabins, $140 first class, $90 second class. Travelers can obtain their entry visas on arrival in Weihai.

SOUTH PACIFIC

If you think of the Tahitian Islands as a romantic but far-away south-seas destination, you may be surprised to learn that Tahiti, Bora-Bora, Moorea and other neighboring islands are only eight hours from the US west coast by air.

UTA French Airlines, a new member of the Air France Group, offers nonstop flights to Tahiti and neighboring islands from Los Angeles and San Francisco. For more information and prices, contact Jet Vacations, (800) 538-0999, or consult your travel agent.

tions, (800) 538-0999, or consult your travel agent.

AUSTRALIA ADVENTURES

"Crocodile Dundee" buffs in your family can experience Australia by signing up for a tour this year. Journey's, located in Ann Arbor, for example, offers family trips to Australia that include a ranch stay in the Outback of the Red Center with a visit to Ayer's Rock and excursions to the rain forest and the Great Barrier Reef.

Local guides can lead families on a trip that interprets Australian history, Aboriginal culture and the scenic and natural environment of the country.

For more information on tours to Australia and other Pacific locations, contact your travel agent. For Journey's tours call (800) 255-8735.

The Globus-Gateway tour company has added the Great Ocean Road to its 17-day "Australia in Depth" tour. The road was built by 3,000 World War I veterans and dedicated to the memory of all who fought in that war.

Work on the road, said to have provided first access to the coastal area, began in 1919 and was completed in 1932. The road follows the coast southwest of Melbourne, winding around cliff faces, along the edge of beaches, down into river estuaries and up to the headlands.

Land rates for the "Australia in Depth" tour are $1,718-$1,748 per person. Price includes first-class hotels, some meals, sight-seeing with guide/lecturers, transfers, and the services of a professional tour director.

Call Globus-Gateway, (800) 221-0090, for additional information and the 1991 Australia and New Zealand book, or consult your travel agent.

NORTHWEST AIRLINES

Northwest Airlines will begin service between Tokyo and Beijing, China this year, under the terms of a "Memorandum of Understanding" recently negotiated between the United States and the People's Republic of China.

It has not yet been determined when the service will begin or how often flights will operate, but service will be aboard Boeing 747 aircraft. Beijing will be the 13th Asian city served by Northwest. Northwest now flies to Shanghai, China from Tokyo. For updated information, consult your travel agent.

You should also note that Northwest offers a low-cost tour to Hong Kong through March, priced at $1,000, including airfare and hotel. Check your travel agent or AAA Michigan.

Northwest will also honor tickets of displaced Eastern Airline passengers under many circumstances. Northwest will offer confirmed reservations for passengers holding Eastern-validated tickets, provided Northwest has an available seat in the same class of service as the Eastern ticket.

If Northwest does not have an available seat in that fare category, it will accept Eastern customers on a standby basis. The offer is available between any two points served by Eastern and Northwest. For more information, call Northwest reservation agents, (800) 225-2523, or your travel agent.

CHINESE ART AT METROPOLITAN MUSEUM

An exhibition examining the worship of sacred mountains in China from the Zhou Dynasty to the 20th century is now open at The Metropolitan Museum of Art, 82nd Street and Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10028, (212) 879-5500.

The "Sacred Mountains in Chinese Art" exhibition includes about 100 works drawn from collections around the country and from the museum's own holdings. On view are works ranging from mountain-shaped bronze and ceramic vessels to finely rendered maps and paintings illustrating the mountain abodes of immortal sages and fantastic beasts.

On March 3, the museum's "Sunday at the Met" program will be devoted to issues relating to the exhibition. On March 24, a day-long scholarly symposium will be held in the Uris Center Auditorium in conjunction with the exhibition. The symposium is free with museum admission. A series of weekday gallery talks will be offered throughout the course of the exhibition.

Three million foreign travelers visited Japan in 1990 and more are expected this year. The International Tourism Center of Japan plans to open new reservations centers April 1 to serve the needs of foreign travelers.

Japan's version of the bed and breakfast, known as Minshuku, will be available along with western-style pensions, and small economical Japanese inns. These reasonably priced accommodations will allow travelers to meet Japanese families.

JAPAN'S EXPRESS TRAIN

Business travelers to Japan this spring can take the New Express Train, or NEX, non-stop from the New Tokyo International (Narita) Airport terminal to Tokyo Station in 53 minutes.

East Japan Railways Co., JR

East, claims it will have the fastest service to central Tokyo by eliminating the 25-minute bus transfer from the airport terminal to JR Narita Station.

JR East expects up to 8,000 passengers daily on the new service which will leave from the airport terminal's new lower level station. Plans call for the NEX trains to operate seven days a week, on the hour, with 6:30 a.m. to 8:01 p.m. departures from Tokyo Station and 7:48 a.m. to 9:45 p.m. departures from Narita Airport.

From Tokyo Station, passengers can reach Yokohama Station or Ikebukuro Station in 90 minutes and Shinjuku Station in 80 minutes.

Seating will be reserved on NEX trains and all cars will be non-smoking except for one smoking compartment. The new cars offer local and international telephone service, large baggage areas, restrooms with wheelchair access and public address announcements in Japanese and English.

NEW AIR ROUTES

New service will be launched from various American cities to Japan this year because of agreements reached between the U.S. and Japanese governments. Fifteen new air routes were authorized in 1990. Service is scheduled to begin this year.

The agreements will affect American and Japanese air carriers. After new routes are launched, several American cities and territories will have non-stop service to Japan. Detroit already has had non-stop service daily to Tokyo.

AIRPORT EXPANSION

A five-year expansion project is under consideration for Japanese airports due to congestion at Narita Airport in Tokyo, which accounts for almost all international arrivals in Japan.

The expansion would affect both Narita and the Tokyo International Airport at Haneda. Kansai International Airport will also open in Osaka in 1993.

For more information on travel in Japan, contact the Japan National Tourist Organization, Rockefeller Plaza, 630 Fifth Ave., New York, NY 10111, or call (212) 757-5640

Plant your advertising message in the Observer & Eccentric classified columns and reap the rewards.

To fight crime in Philly, people plant posies.

"The bad part of town." Abandoned cars. Sidewalks scattered with crack vials. Bombed-out buildings.

A neighborhood whose spirit is as broken as the bits of glass that dot the street. There are only two things to do if your neighborhood becomes a war zone: give up or take action.

The Philadelphia Story

One day, in the "bad part" of Philadelphia, a neighbor complained to a neighbor. And then to another. And then to more. People didn't like their homes being "taken over." Feelings of helplessness and resentment turned to action.

They went to the police for help.

Soon a substation was established where folks could readily report crime. Weekly meetings began. Community watches started. Things started getting fixed up. Vacant lots were cleaned up and fenced off. Abandoned cars were towed away. Painting and repairing programs began.

The neighborhood was cleaning itself up. The local 4-H Club even helped set up garden clubs where kids, teens and adults could work together on plants and flowers while talking over ways to raise awareness.

When people care and get involved, neighborhoods change. When a block doesn't look like a haven for crime and drugs, it won't be. And in this part of Philly, where once only apathy grew, seven gardens now bloom.

This is only one success story of many. To find out what can be done in your neighborhood, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20539-0001. And help...

RECYCLING IS GOOD NEWS:

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

Bad news.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle.

It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation:

1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.
2. 25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

We don't cover world news, but we care about the world.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put office paper (memos, computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

3-peat matmen Salem reigns again; Pats 3rd

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

This was supposed to be the year any number of teams had a chance to win the Western Lakes Activities Association wrestling championship, but the 1991 results look a lot like those of previous years.

The WLAA had a familiar winner Saturday when Plymouth Salem won its third consecutive title and eighth in the last nine years, easily taking first place in the annual tournament at Westland John Glenn.

"They've been the power in the league, and they still are the power in the league," Franklin coach Ken Meinschein said.

The Rocks, with three individual champions, three runners-up and four others who placed among the top six at their weights, racked up 192½ points. The defending champs were expected to be challenged by a handful of teams, but the closest was Walled Lake Western with 126 points.

Livonia Franklin (114) and Walled Lake Central (109) provided a pair of surprises, finishing third and fourth, respectively. The first division included Farmington (105) and Northville (98).

"OUR KIDS just went through it and came out where they were supposed to, and the rest of the teams took turns beating each other up," Salem coach Ron Krueger said, referring to how well his wrestlers held or improved upon their seed positions.

The successful tournament was the culmination of a heretofore disrupted season in which the Rocks had to deal with an assortment of injuries. Everything came together for Salem at the right time, however.

"We were without half our team for three quarters of the year," Krueger said. "Then we started to get one back, two back, three back. We knew how many points we were missing at every tournament and how much it was hurting us. All we could do was wait for everyone to get back.

"There was only one we didn't get back, but Phil (Haynes at 160 pounds) stepped in and did a real good job. I don't think he could beat Phil, so I think we're as strong as we could be."

Krueger also was eager to give much of the credit for Salem's success to assistant coaches Larry Fidge, Dave Dameron, Greg Wolchuk and Larry Phillips.

"They're the guys who made it happen," he said. "A lot of times we were frustrated, because we didn't think we were going anywhere (with the injuries). But in the last two weeks everything started to happen for us."

THE ROCKS scored well in the lower weights where they had three winners. Scott Martin won his second straight league championship at 112, and Dan Bonnett claimed the 119 title.

Both upheld their status as No. 1 seeds and won decisions in the finals over longtime rivals Matt Allison of Northville and David Prusinski of Farmington Hills Harrison.

Salem's third champion was 135-pound Jeff Shumate, who made Krueger his No. 1 fan by winning the title after entering the tournament as the No. 3 seed. He defeated second-seeded Chris Brown of Churchill 8-5 in the semifinals and overcame Northville's Brandon Mardossian, the top seed, in the final when the latter had to withdraw during the match because of an injury.

"If Mardossian hadn't gotten hurt, I think Shumate would have pinned him," Krueger said. "He went out after him right away and didn't shut down."

Shumate wrestled the way

GUY WARREN/staff photographer

Chris Lehti (top) Livonia Stevenson won his first-round match against Eric Sherman, 15-4, at the Western Lakes Activities Association tournament held at Westland John Glenn. Lehti went on to finish sixth overall.

Krueger has been hoping he would wrestle for some time.

"There's a kid who's gone through more hard times and had the Wrath of Ron on him more than anybody," Krueger said, "and to see him go out there and win the league championship was really nice."

"I'VE BEEN on that boy for two years now, but that's because of the potential I saw in him. Some days he'd go out and beat the best kid around, and other days he'd lose to the worst kid around. But there comes a day when you make the transition and realize what you can do, and I think that has happened to Shumate."

Western also had three champions: Andy Fritz (103), Travis Ilacqua (145) and Todd Hoffmeyer (160). Franklin had one winner in heavy-weight Bob Johnson, who pinned Salem's Ken Coker in the final.

"He wrestled the best I've ever seen him wrestle," Meinschein said. The Patriots were helped by six others who placed. They had a pair of runners-up in Derek Rowland (103) and Eric Holmes (140) and a consolation winner in Brian Whetstone (189). Pat Poisson (145) and Ben Leece (152) were fourth and Brian Poisson (171) fifth.

"I'm not really surprised, but it was a pleasant experience," Meinschein said. "They really came on like gangbusters. Many of them are third-year wrestlers, and a lot of them are overachieving. If we do nothing else the rest of the year, I'll be real happy (with what the team already has done)."

Harrison had its best league-meet showing and captured two individual championships. Gary Devine (140) edged Holmes 4-3 in the final, and Todd Lytwyniuk (189) won decisions all the way through, including a 6-3 win over Salem's Wade Langdon to finish the tournament.

SCHOOLS WITH single winners were Stevenson, Ryan Carriere, 125; Sean Rock, Central, 130; Mike Reeves, Glenn, 152; and George Young, Canton, 171.

In addition to Coker and Langdon, Salem's Charlie Apigian was second at 171. John Moran (103) finished third, Jeff Coleman (140) fourth and Haynes (160) and Chad Wilson (125) fifth.

Langdon was seeded seventh and finished second, beating the Nos. 2 and 3 seeds and giving top-seeded Lytwyniuk a tussle in the final.

"All year he's been getting beat by a lot of these kids, and he turned around and beat them Saturday," Krueger said. "Wade was a total surprise, probably the biggest surprise of the day."

Krueger flip-flopped Apigian and Haynes, moving the veteran Apigian up to 171 and Haynes down to 160. Haynes was seeded No. 8 and placed fifth, and Apigian held his seed.

"I figured it would be better for both," Krueger said. "As it worked out, it was. We got a lot more points that way."

Salem began the season with a young team but is fast becoming a seasoned squad, which has Krueger thinking positively about next season.

"We have five seniors out of 40, so that means we've got 35 coming back," he said. The seniors are Coker, Apigian, Coleman, Bob Hansen and Wilson. "We had three champions and all three are back, so I guess that's a nucleus."

GUY WARREN/staff photographer

Glenn's Mike Reeves (top) won his semifinal match over Franklin's Ben Leece (bottom), 2-0, and went on to win the 152-pound crown at the WLAA tournament.

Sting operation

Franklin catches Spartans off-guard

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Fresh from its 59-58 basketball upset Friday of state-ranked Plymouth Salem, Livonia Stevenson was brought back down to earth Tuesday.

City rival Franklin walked into the Spartans' gym and came away with a 64-63 triumph.

The Patriots (9-5), however, were fortunate to come away with the win.

Stevenson's Matt Grodzicki, the hero with 19 points in Friday's win over Salem, missed a pair of jump shots in the final three seconds, including a final attempt off an out-of-bounds play at the buzzer.

That occurred after Patriots took a pair of ill-advised shots in the final 1:20, trying to protect a one-point lead while milking the clock.

Ironically, Dave Roman's free throw with 2:32 remaining provided the final margin of victory.

"We lost a tough game to Northville (61-60) on Friday so it was good to be successful this time," Franklin coach Rod Hanna said. "We made some mental mistakes with the ball three times in a row that could have cost us the game. We took some questionable shots. We have to be more disciplined."

FRANKLIN did make free throws for a change — 14 of 19. During the final six minutes the Patriots hit five of seven.

"We've lost four or five games this season because of free throws," Hanna said. "If we could hit 60 percent ... Tonight was by far our best this year from the line."

Junior point-guard Keith Roberts led the winners with 22 points, while senior center Steve McCool contributed 16. Roman, a senior guard, added 11 and senior forward Steve Stasevich came off the bench to score nine.

Franklin got out quickly in the opening quarter, grabbing a 17-12 lead. The Patriots led 35-29 at intermission after both Roberts and Phil Woods traded two free throws apiece with 1:25 remaining.

"Emotionally we were a little flat, but you can't take anything away from Franklin," Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre said, whose team is 7-6 overall. "They (Franklin) played well, but it was natural for us to have a little letdown."

"The first quarter was not typical of the way we've been playing. We were definitely flat. We were a half-step away from the traps and passing lanes."

THE SPARTANS, however, hung tough through the third and fourth quarters.

They tied it three different times in the third, but still trailed 53-50 entering the fourth.

Roberts connected on five straight points to give Franklin a 59-54 advantage with 6:33 to go, but Stevenson came right back, taking its first lead (61-60) since early in the first quarter on basket by Dan Gibbons.

Roman's free throw with 3:44 to go pulled Franklin even at 61-all. Tony Stojov put the Spartans up again at 63-61, converting a pair of his own with 3:22 to play.

basketball

McCool's two free throws with 3:11 remaining knotted the count at 63, but then Roman hit his first of his two with 2:32 to play.

Stevenson, going cold down the stretch, squandered a chance to forge ahead, missing the front-end of a one-and-one with just under the one minute mark.

But Franklin was just as charitable, flipping up a pair of bizarre attempts, including one with 37 ticks left.

Grodzicki launched a shot that went in-and-out with four seconds to play, but Franklin could not corral the rebound as the ball flew out of bounds, giving McIntyre the chance to call another timeout to set up a final-ditch attempt.

"WE WERE LOOKING for Gibbons inside, but it (the ball) went out on the wing," the Stevenson coach said. "We got the shot off. It was there."

"We had more opportunities than we deserved to win it at the end."

Hanna, meanwhile, called a pair of timeouts down the stretch to see what kind of strategy Stevenson was trying to set up.

"We switched our defenses," said the Franklin coach. "We knew we had to take care of Grodzicki because we have respect for him. And then we wanted to make sure and box-out the other four players. We knew he (Grodzicki) took their shooter and their money line."

Grodzicki took the ball near the free throw line on a pass from Stockton, inbounds man.

The 5-foot-11 Grodzicki, despite being sandwiched by a pair of Patriots defenders, got the shot off, only to have it bounce off the rim.

"We gave our kids an ultimatum, 'Don't let them get the ball inside,'" Hanna said. "We were fortunate it worked out."

Stockton paced the Stevenson scoring attack with 15 points. Three others netted double figures including Gibbons (14), Phil Woods (12) and Grodzicki (10).

THE SPARTANS shot only 37 percent from the floor (24 of 64), while Franklin made 23 of 52 (44 percent).

"The shooting was an indicator," McIntyre said. "We've been shooting fairly well, but this is our worst overall as a ballclub. We had golden opportunities in the paint (the key) and we didn't can them."

Franklin's transition defense was a major factor. The Patriots prevented the up-tempo Spartans from going up and down the floor.

"We played good defense overall, we took away their fast-break," said the Franklin coach. "We didn't let their guards run around. We used three guards (Roberts, Roman and Jeff Hunt) to match up. Right now we miss our rebounder Russ Keberly (out with an injured knee). We hope he gets back soon."

On Tuesday, the Patriots had just enough to get by.

Ocelots withstand Alpena's late comeback

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Dr. Jekyll, meet Mr. Hyde. If you know your literature, then you understand that both characters are part of the same person. Sort of like the Schoolcraft College basketball team.

And the Alpena Community College team, too.

The two Eastern Conference rivals alternated the roles Wednesday night at SC. As SC coach Dave Bogataj described the game moments after his team had repelled a final Alpena rally to win 98-94, "That was an ugly game."

No doubt he was describing his own team's Hyde-like performance down the stretch. Alpena, which trailed almost the entire game — its last lead was 6-4 — had sliced a 17-point deficit to 81-77 with 4:53 left.

But the Ocelots got three-pointers from Kwesi McGill and Dave Hamilton and hit four of six free throw tries to rebuild their lead to 91-82 with 2:20 to play.

Safe, right? Wrong.

DAN BRIDGES scored for the Lumberjacks and was fouled; his free throw narrowed the gap to six. Then came the turnovers — three by SC in the final 2:10. Bridges converted on a putback with 2:05 left to make it 91-87.

SC's Randy Watters fit into the Jekyll-and-Hyde scenario quite nicely down the stretch. Watters, who scored 24 points, hit a big-time shot when he swished a three-pointer from the corner with 1:48 left.

But Alpena answered 12 seconds later, with Ryan Marlatt draining a three to make the difference four once again. Again, Watters came up with a pressure play, taking the inbounds pass after Marlatt's basket and driving the floor for a layup and a six-point Ocelot lead with 1:32 remaining.

The SC defense, though, was nowhere to be found. Bridges scored inside again and the 'Jacks forced Hamilton into a travel with 1:07 left. When Mike Kollien banked in a shot to make it 96-94, it seemed the Ocelots were in big trouble.

LIKE THE last time the two teams met, Jan. 5 in Alpena, a reversal in fortunes seemed imminent. SC had just seven players available, and four fouled out, forcing the Ocelots to play the final half-minute with three on the floor. Still, Mitch Fyke looped in a long triple at the buzzer and SC escaped with a come-from-behind 97-96 victory.

The 'Jacks had lots of chances to do the same. Watters tried to drive to the hoop with 3:2 remaining but lost the ball, then fouled out battling Scott Olsen in the scramble to get possession.

But Olsen missed, Jekyll out, Hyde in for Alpena. The rebound was batted out of bounds and Alpena still had the ball. With 15 left, Bret Benvenuti put up a short jump-hook that bounced out. Bridges tried a tip-in, but that, too, rolled out.

McGill finally boarded for SC and was fouled near midcourt with eight seconds left. He hit two free throws to ice the Ocelot win.

"We had the shots we wanted," said 'Jacks coach Frank McCourt. "We had four or five tips, we just couldn't put the ball in the hole. They made the shots when they had to, and we didn't."

ACTUALLY, SC made the shots in the first half, filling the Dr. Jekyll role nicely. With Watters scoring 12 points in the first 12 minutes, the Ocelots had a 35-18 advantage with 6:30 left. But Alpena took over as Jekyll the rest of the way, outscoring SC 17-10 to close to within 45-35 at the half.

The role changes came more rapidly in the second half. SC led 61-49 with 14:20 left, 1:15 later, Alpena was within six. The Ocelots again lengthened their lead to 12 with 7:01 remaining, but a 10-2 'Jacks run over the next 2:08 made it 81-77 — and set up the final flurry.

"A lot of kids played well," insisted Bogataj. So what happened in the stretch run? "We got silly," he answered. "We just didn't have the energy. We did a real poor job handling the trap. If I were Frank, I would have gone to it earlier. We were near self-destruction because of fatigue."

But SC did hold up, bringing its record to 12-12 overall and 3-9 in the conference. Alpena is 2-10 in the conference, 9-16 overall.

Of all the things Jessica Handley has accomplished in four years on the Saginaw Valley State University basketball team, her greatest feat may not have anything to do with numbers.

"I can't remember if she's ever had a sprained ankle," said Cardinals coach Claudette Charney, referring to Handley not missing a game because of injury during her four-year career. "She always works extra hard to be in great shape. She's just a tough competitor."

Handley, a 1987 Plymouth Salem graduate, has been a model of consistency for the Cardinals, who have won the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference two times in Charney's five years at the helm.

Unfortunately, the wins haven't come as easy this season for Saginaw Valley, a young team with only two other seniors on its roster beside Handley.

After Thursday's 83-58 loss to Oakland University, the Cardinals are 4-6 in the GLIAC and 11-10 overall.

QUITE A CONTRAST from Handley's freshman year in 1987-88, when the Cards were 25-8 overall and earned a trip to the NAIA National Tournament.

"I don't want to keep saying we're young, but sometimes it shows," said Handley, a 5-foot-7 college sports

guard who averaged 6.0 points per game in her previous three years. "I've never been much of a scorer, per se, so I don't feel the pressure to score. I feel pressure to lead, though, and that's good pressure. I'm more of a yeller out there. Whatever the coach wants, that's what I try to do."

"It's a motivator (this being my last year). It's hard not to get frustrated, though, cause I want to do so much in so little time. That's a big dilemma, getting past the frustration. We've seen glimpses of what we can do this year. I know we can do better than tonight."

With only six games remaining in her collegiate career, Handley is already second on Saginaw Valley's all-time assist chart with 404, 65 shy of the all-time mark set by Gail Goestenkors. Handley has started all 21 games for the Cardinals this season, averaging 9.0 points and 9.5 assists.

She holds the record for most three-point field goals made in a game (3) and this year has made 19-49 from that range.

Handley will graduate in May with a 3.71 grade point average and a double major in criminal justice and political science. Handley, who has applied for law school ("I'll probably end up at the University of Toledo with my sister, Stacy,") also plans on playing third base or outfield for the Cardinals softball team this spring for the second consecutive year.

IS THERE ANYTHING she can't do?

"Her biggest attribute is she's a true leader," Charney said. "She works at it, puts in her time and can play both (guard) positions. She's a great worker and comes from a good high school program. She's been involved in a lot of wins, so it's a little hard to be involved in a total rebuilding year."

Handley was Salem's "Athlete of the Year" in '86-87 when she combined with fellow stars Dena Head and Jill Estey to lead the Rocks to the Class A semifinal before losing.

Handley said she still runs into Estey, a sophomore guard with the University of Illinois, at basketball camps during the summer. The two aren't similar in style, so when they play it makes for interesting one-on-one games, Handley said.

"I'm just a shooter, and she drives and is a lot more flashy with the ball," said Handley said. "I just try to shoot, she drives, and we try to outthrust each other for the ball."

Watching Thursday's game from the stands were Handley's parents, Joan and Harry, and her grandmother (Phyllis Oconnor). That's nothing new since Handley can't remember a game when they weren't in attendance.

"They're my best fans," said Handley. "I know it sounds corny, but it's true."

Fyke, Watters flow for SC

Randy Watters got Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team started and Mitch Fyke and Kwesi McGill provided the finishing touches in the Ocelots' 103-90 romp over Siena Heights' junior varsity Saturday in Adrian.

The win ended a three-game slide for SC.

SC led 46-39 at the half, thanks mainly to Watters. The sophomore forward poured in 21 points in the opening 20 minutes, but foul problems limited his playing time in the second half.

So Fyke, who had seven first-half points, and McGill, who had four, took over. Fyke riddled the Saints for 22 points in the second half and McGill added 14.

SC's lead reached 22 with seven minutes left, its largest of the game. Fyke finished with a game-high 29 points and 10 rebounds. Watters added 28 points, eight boards and four assists, McGill had 18 points and six assists and Jeff Wagner scored 12 points.

The difference in the game came at the free throw line. SC was 29-of-36 (81 percent); the Saints were just 11-of-17 (65 percent).

Brent Tucker led Siena Heights with 25 points. Eric Hicks had 18 and Scott Norkey scored 15.

SC'S WOMEN could not match what Mott Community College had — a scoring guard — when the teams played Jan. 30 in Flint. Trena Massey scored 18 of her game-high 18 points, which included 4-of-5 three-point shooting, in the second half as Mott pulled away to a 59-42 victory.

SC's guards, on the other hand, combined for just 10 points.

"We still are hurting at point guard," Lady Ocelot coach Jack Grenan said, adding Donna Galli missed her fifth straight game at that position with a twisted right ankle.

Galli, who had been averaging 14 points a game, missed seven of the first eight games with a sprained left ankle.

"She's run out of ankles now," Grenan said, "so she should be back Saturday."

NEITHER TEAM distinguished itself in the first half. The Lady Ocelots, who dropped to 1-8 in the conference and 8-10 overall, set school records for fewest points allowed and fewest points scored as the first half ended with the teams tied 15-15.

Mott outscored SC 44-27 in the second half, however, as Massey began to find the hoop.

"They started shooting from outside, and we continued our miserable shooting, shooting under 40 percent," Grenan said. "The Ocelots made 38 percent of their field goals."

Mott, 4-5 in the league, was helped by a pair of transfers from Alpena Community College, Lisa Jones and Gwen Thompson, who were not eligible to play in the first meeting (an SC win) between the teams.

Thompson tossed in 12 points, while Jones and Monica Holmes had 10 apiece. SC was led by Mo Merritt and Tricia Lucas with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Rockers searching for bigger crowds

THE BENCH was nonstop activity, sure — that's to be anticipated. Players coming off the field, subs going on. The whole thing ran fairly smoothly — again, to be expected, considering this was the Detroit Rockers, not some club team playing a midnight match at Total Soccer.

What did surprise were the opinions offered from just about everyone in the bench area, leaning over the boards to scream strategies at teammates. One player saying one thing, another suggesting something else.

Drago, the team's preseason superstar who's out with an injured knee, had this advice to offer: "Hold the ball a little longer on defense, then go. It's wide open."

Truth be told, on this night the Chicago Power defense was more than a bit "wide open." The Power did hold the Rockers scoreless until the final seconds of the first quarter, but after that the goals came fast and furious as Detroit counterattacked quickly. The final was 24-14; it was Detroit's biggest scoring output at home.

SO I GUESS any and all the opinions offered — contradictory or not — provided workable options this night.

There are a lot of things that don't seem to add up for the Rockers. They are currently in the midst of their hottest streak of the season, having won eight of their last 10 matches. But they've accomplished much of it with their best player, Drago, on the sidelines. Detroit is 5-2 without Drago, 9-8 with him.

This is the guy, you may recall, who set the National Professional Soccer League on fire last year, setting a league record by scoring 174 points. Now the Rockers enjoy their second-best offensive output of the season, and he isn't even playing.

Here's another head-scratcher: Detroit's hot, playing well, winning home and away — and the crowds seem to get smaller. How come?

FIRST, THE one factor everyone alluded to for Thursday's disappointing turnout (less than 2,000). Weeknights are weak nights for games.

C.J. Risak

Still, I thought that if the Rockers could put a strong side on the field and just post a winning record, suburban fans would be streaming into Cobo Arena.

Why not? Tickets cost no more than going to a movie. Access is easy (park on Cobo's roof). And there is a lot of fast-paced action (although, when Drago returns, Detroit's play may slow down again).

So what's the reason?

Like the Rockers' bench during a game, everyone has an opinion on how to sell the game in this market. As Rockers' director of public relations Jan Parratt accurately put it, no one can really tell what will work. Players have nicknames, there's a Rockers' mascot, giveaways abound in crazy contests between quarters, youth teams play during halftime.

SOME INSIST more American-born talent is necessary to make the franchise, which is owned by Livonia's Paul Scicluna, a money-maker. I don't believe it. The two players most popular with the autograph-seeking youth are Andy Chapman, the team's current leading scorer who was born in London, and Drago, a native of Yugoslavia.

In my mind, there's just a couple of things that have to occur to insure the success of this franchise. First, everyone's got to stick with it, because that corner their looking for — the one with success lurking just around it — may be a bit distant yet.

Second, in the oft-quoted words of Los Angeles Raiders' football owner Al Davis, the team has to do one thing: "Just win, baby." More than anything else, that will draw fans.

Churchill, Blazers grab tourney titles

Livonia Churchill made it a clean sweep Saturday in the Howell Invitational volleyball tournament.

The Chargers ran their overall season record to 20-0 with a 15-0, 15-6 triumph over Northville in the championship match. Fifteen teams competed in the tournament.

Alyssa Belaire paced the winners with five kills in nine attempts, while teammate Christina Garry contributed three kills in three tries and eight digs in the final.

"We also got some consistent setting from Amy Baron and Kristi Szymanski," Churchill coach Mike Hughes said. "They did a really nice job."

"We're improving consistently and we're looking forward to Schoolcraft (Invitational) on Saturday."

In pool play, Churchill opened with a 15-6, 15-8 win over Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard as Carrie Hawkins and Stephanie Speen each served six points. Garry added four kills.

Baron, meanwhile, served seven points in a 17-15, 16-14 win over Saline.

In a 15-0, 15-5 victory over Woodhaven, Ellen Essig recorded four kills and the Chargers received strong offensive play from Speen and Julie Campau.

Churchill then defeated Linden, 15-5, 15-3.

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN was ousted by Churchill in the semifinals, 15-2, 15-5.

The Rockets, now 8-13-4 overall, finished fourth overall after losing to Gabriel Richard in the consolation final, 15-12.

In pool action, Glenn split with Birmingham Groves, 15-10, 12-15, as Karen Olack served eight aces and Nikki Wojcik contributed 10 kills.

Glenn also split with Berkley, 15-5, 12-15, as Wojcik had eight kills and Nikki Nagel contributed 10 digs.

Kara Beeny totaled eight kills as Glenn split with Ypsilanti, 15-10, 15-2, while Jenny Massey served six aces in a 15-0, 15-0 triumph over Pinckney.

In the quarterfinals, Glenn eliminated Coldwater, 15-11, 16-14, behind 13 digs from Nagel and 10 kills from Wojcik.

For the day, Wojcik and Beeny recorded 49 and 41 kills, respectively. Beeny added 21 ace serves, while Leighanne Durlap collected 16.

Nagel was successful on 70 digs in 79 attempts.

"Nikki (Nagel) played incredible defense," Glenn coach Linda Jimenez said. "She's a very intense player."

On Monday, Glenn lost to visiting North Farmington in a WLAAs-Lakes Division encounter, 15-7, 15-12, 15-12.

LIVONIA LADYWOOD also came away with a tournament title over the weekend, capturing the six-team Dearborn Edsel Ford Invitational.

Ladywood took the title with a 15-11, 9-15, 15-5 win over Wayne Memorial.

Two of the team's top hitters missed the match because of injuries — Brandy Cairncross for Wayne and Rebecca Willey for Ladywood.

Valerie Adzmina had five ace serves in Hills Mercy dropped out of the tournament last week.

HERE ARE THE pool pairings: (A) Court No. 5 — Ladywood, Farmington Harrison, Plymouth Salem, Fenton and Anchor Bay.

(B) Court No. 6 — unbeaten Livonia Churchill, North Farmington, Garden City, Redford Thurston and Grand Blanc.

(C) Court No. 1 — Livonia Stevenson, Wayne Memorial, Forest Hills Central, Howell and Taylor Truman.

(D) Court No. 2 — Plymouth Canton, Temperance-Redford, Harper Woods Regina, Dearborn and Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

(E) Court No. 4 — Marian, East Kentwood, Burton-Atherton, Dearborn, Fordson and Dearborn Edsel Ford.

(F) Court No. 3 — Walled Lake Central, Farmington, Lansing Catholic Central and Grosse Ile.

14 attempts to lead the winners.

In the semifinals, Ladywood ousted the host Thunderbirds, 15-5, 15-8.

In pool play, the Blazers turned back Dearborn (15-5, 15-8), Ann Arbor Pioneer (15-1, 15-0), Dearborn Fordson (16-14, 15-2) and Edsel Ford (15-13, 15-5). They also split with Wayne, 13-15, 15-11.

Senior Kell Haeger was the top player on the day for Ladywood with 43 kills. Liz Gunn and Andrea Putti added 14 each.

Mary Jo Kelly had 66 assist-kills, while Julie Wilson contributed 42 digs. Jannel Hemme added 12 block assists, including two solo, while Adzima recorded eight ace serves.

On Monday, Ladywood clinched second place in the Catholic League's Central Division with a 15-4, 15-6 (Parents Night) win over visiting Harper Woods Regina.

Haeger and Willey were the Blazers' top hitters with six kills apiece. Kelly and Haeger recorded 23 and 12 assist-kills, respectively.

Wilson added seven digs and Gunn served three aces. Hemme served 12 times without an error, while contributed two block assists.

"Our sophomores are coming on strong and our seniors are becoming more consistent," said Ladywood coach Tom Teeters, whose team is 29-9-2 overall and 7-2 in division play. "We have more balance and it helped set up the blocks."

LIVONIA STEVENSON, behind the all-around play of junior Teresa Sarno, remained unbeaten Monday in Western Lakes Activities Association action with a hard-fought 15-4, 5-15, 13-15, 15-3, 15-10 win over Walled Lake Central.

With the victory, the Spartans are 7-0 in the division, 9-0 overall in the WLAAs and 18-5-4 overall.

"I thought Central played us the toughest they have in a very long time," Stevenson coach Lee Cagle said. "They moved the ball around and hit all the corners and middle. We couldn't predict where they were going to set the ball. We were glad to come up with a win after five long games."

Stevenson won the first game behind the serving of Laura Zatorski, along with four to five key serves each from Andrea Wittrock and Sue Bell.

In the fourth game, Julie Martin started in the front-middle, and was able to block and intimidate. She registered four blocks and four kills.

"It gave us an emotional lift to carry us through Game No. 5," Cagle said. "Our team sensed we were not playing with good mechanics, but we pulled for each other and worked through a difficult fifth game."

WAYNE ran its Wolverine A League record to 7-0 with a 15-11, 15-4 triumph at Trenton.

Vicki Rohraff and Gerri Ruffing paced the winners with nine and seven kills, respectively.

The Zebras also received timely serving from Denise Walsh and Kaitie Corwin.

Wayne is 19-4 overall.

Sarcevich headed for Hawaiian surf

By Steve Kowaleki, staff writer

Instead of saying good bye, Blazo Sarcevich might as well say "aloha," later on this summer when he heads for college.

Sarcevich, Farmington Hills Harrison's all-time leading tackler, signed a national letter of intent Wednesday with the University of Hawaii.

Sarcevich chose Hawaii after making an official visit to the islands over the weekend. The 6-foot-3, 235-pound inside linebacker turned down a scholarship offer to Central Michigan and also considered the University of Arizona.

Arizona had asked Sarcevich to visit last weekend, without the guarantee of a scholarship.

"ON MY WAY (to Hawaii) I decided that if I liked the visit I was going to pick Hawaii," Sarcevich said. "I liked pretty much everything I saw. I know I'm going to miss all my friends but I figured if I go somewhere else, I'm only going to be home over the holidays and during the summer, anyways."

Hawaii, which plays in the Western Athletic Conference, finished the 1990 season at 7-5. The Rainbows play highly regarded Brigham Young every year in the WAC and next year will travel Sept. 7 to the University of Iowa and host Notre Dame in the final game of the year.

That's a bonus, according to Sarcevich, and so is the weather. "It was 65 degrees in the morning and all the natives were wearing jackets, but I was in my tank top," said Sarcevich. "Other than that it was 85 and sunny every day."

In other recruiting news, Redford Catholic Central quarterback Jason Carr signed with the University of Michigan. Carr's father, Lloyd, is the Wolverines' defensive coordinator.

CARR ALSO visited Hillsdale and canceled a trip to Vanderbilt University. Academic problems have kept CC defensive back/tailback Mike Thomas from signing with the University of Michigan, Michigan State or CMU.

CC defensive end Brian Chaney signed with Eastern Michigan and the Shamrocks tight end Mike Grimes signed with CMU. CC back Arshon Stewart has drawn interest

CC linebacker Karl Kowalyk will attend Yale and lineman Gary Gurgold signed with Northwood Institute.

Redford Bishop Borgess tailback Anthony Hood signed with Northwestern, joining North Farmington lineman Todd Pawlowski.

Livonia Churchill back Mike Brooks signed with Ferris State. ROB SYLVESTER, a CC lineman, will wait until after wrestling season to decide between Yale, Harvard or Hillsdale.

The recruiting season hasn't been the happiest for CC fullback Jon Barbara. The 6-2, 215-pounder visited Bowling Green, Western and Hillsdale, but each school offered scholarships to other players ahead of Barbara. He visited Ferris State Wednesday and will visit St. Joseph's (Ind.) Saturday before making a decision Monday.

"I know I can play Division I," Barbara said Tuesday. "I just didn't get the opportunity. I'll make the best of what is going to happen and play right away. It's just something I've got to get through."

Redford Thurston linebacker Steve Koss has not passed his ACT test and will walk on at either Central, Eastern or Saginaw Valley. Livonia Clarenceville wide receiver Kendrick Harrington will end up at either Saginaw Valley or Northwood Institute, but is taking his ACT test again Saturday.

Ypsi clips Wayne; Kummer spurs CC victory

Ypsilanti outscored host Wayne Memorial 24-13 in the fourth quarter Tuesday en route to a 66-51 non-conference boys basketball win.

Game time was switched to late afternoon by school officials to assure the safety of the fans. Ypsilanti improved to 11-5 overall. Wayne dropped to 10-5.

"We played well for about 3/4 quarters," Wayne coach Dan Henry said. "Their size hurt us and our best player (Greg Hartmah) fouled out with about four minutes left. We're disappointed."

Steve Williams led Ypsilanti with 17 points. Wayne Miner added 13. Hartmah led three players in double figures for Wayne with 14 points. Rick Barnes added 12 points and Romarco Fletcher chipped in 10 points and nine rebounds.

SALEM 82, CHURCHILL 67: Senior Jake Baker, wearing a soft cast to protect a dislocated finger, scored a game-high 23 points and grabbed 10 rebounds as Plymouth Salem routed host Livonia Churchill Tuesday in a Western Lakes crossover game.

Baker, who injured his non-shooting hand in Friday's 59-58 defeat at Livonia Stevenson, made all four of his three-point shot attempts.

"He was a little mad we lost the other night," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. K.C. Kirkpatrick and John Hoffmeyer also finished in double figures for the Rocks with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

The Rocks led 20-16 after one quarter and 40-30 at halftime. Salem increased the advantage to 60-56 after three quarters.

"We came out of the blocks ready to play," Brodie said. "When you play a game and lead all the way, then lose it at the end, you better come out to play the next game."

Mike Thomas led Churchill with 24 points and teammate Randy Calcaterra added 15.

REDFORD CC 75, NOTRE DAME 61: Redford Catholic Central jumped on Harper Woods Notre Dame, 21-9, in the first quarter en route to a 14-point Catholic League Central Division win at home.

Junior Bob Kummer led all scorers with 25 points for the Shamrocks. Junior Chad Varga and senior Steve Whitlow contributed 22 and 19 points, respectively.

The win improved CC to 6-8 overall and 4-5 in the division. Notre Dame fell to 8-6 and 5-4.

CRANBROOK 59, CLARENCEVILLE 51: Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook outscored host Clarenceville, 20-9, in the first quarter Tuesday and held on for the Metro Conference win.

Clarenceville dropped to 5-8 overall and 2-4 in the Metro Conference. Cranbrook is 3-3 in the Metro.

Cranbrook's Tenny Evans led all scorers with 25 points. Frank Juneja led Clarenceville with 20 points. Kendrick Harrington and Dan Nunwery added 13 points apiece.

W.L. WESTERN 57, JOHN GLENN 50: Walled Lake Western hit 11 three-pointers Tuesday to collect the win at John Glenn.

Western improved to 6-8 overall. Glenn dropped to 6-8 overall.

Brent Mackowiak led Western with 17 points, including four three-pointers. Jeff Kubik added 16 points with another three three-pointers and Jason Renshaw added 12 points, all on three-pointers.

Senior forward Gamal Ahmed paced Glenn with 20 points.

LUTH. WESTLAND 70, LUTHERAN NW 68: Lutheran Westland hung on for the win Tuesday despite shooting a mere 35 percent from the floor.

Lutheran Westland improved to 4-10 overall and 1-4 in the Michigan-Independent Athletic Conference. Lutheran Northwest dropped to 4-9 overall and 0-4 in the MIAC.

"It was a close game all the way," Lutheran Westland coach Scott Welmer said. "Our largest lead was about 12, but the game stayed right around six points the whole game. They hit a three-quarter's court shot at the buzzer to cut the lead to two."

Senior forward Dave Gielow led Lutheran Westland with 22 points and 14 rebounds. Senior guard Dan Hoelt chipped in 14 points, junior guard Jason Zielinski added 12 points and senior guard Chris Habitz had 11 points, eight rebounds and four assists.

Senior guard Steve Lembe led Lutheran Northwest with 15 points. Junior forward Jerry Regowski added 14 points and sophomore guard Ryan Sheldon chipped in 10 points.

Some of the state's top teams will be on display when the annual Schoolcraft College Girls Volleyball Invitation takes place Saturday.

Action begins at 9 a.m. with six different pools. The top two teams in each pool will advance to the quarterfinals, beginning at approximately 4 p.m.

Defending state Class A champion East Kentwood will return to defend its title.

Among the ranked teams in Class A entered include No. 4 Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central, No. 6 Birmingham Marian and No. 7 Livonia Ladywood. Burton-Atherton, the No. 3 ranked team in Class CC, is also scheduled to appear.

The tournament appears to be wide open after No. 5 Farmington

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON — A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named product Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, "Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry.

Food Source One is available through physicians and pharmacies without a prescription because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients already known to be safe. Copies of the referenced study are available free from National Dietary Research, Suite 553, 1377 K St., Washington, DC 20005, however, please include $2 Postage & Handling for each request.

Turbo-charged Sinelli revved up for return

By Steve Kowaleki
staff writer

Jeff Sinelli, who nowadays could pass for a tight end, remembers when he considered himself too small to play football at Redford Catholic Central.

"Then one day I picked up lacrosse with my friends and I couldn't put it down," said Sinelli, a 1986 CC graduate.

Wise move. He has since grown to 6-foot-5, 230 pounds and plays forward for the Detroit Turbos, one of six franchises in the Major Indoor Lacrosse League. Sinelli, who played three years of lacrosse for CC and three more at Michigan State University, is in his second year with the Turbos.

One of the youngest Turbos at age 22, Sinelli has missed all five of Detroit's regular-season games because of a foot injury but plans on returning soon to the Turbos lineup. In the meantime, Sinelli is finding other ways to contribute.

He's been easy to spot on the Turbos bench at Joe Louis Arena, wearing a suit and tie and holding a pen and clipboard while keeping some of the team's statistics. Detroit, which plays Sunday at Philadelphia, is in first place in the National Division with a 4-1 record. The Turbos have taken an about-face from last year when they were 1-7 overall.

"IT IS AN antsy situation for me," said Sinelli, who as a rookie scored three goals and two assists and played in three of the Turbos eight games last year. "I've built up five games worth of energy and I almost feel like grabbing a stick and playing in my coat and tie."

"But like my coach (Medo Martinello) says, it takes 24 guys to win a championship and right now my job is taking stats. Nothing is assured, but I feel my chances are real good of making an impact once I do get back."

Though considered a professional in his sport, Sinelli still is able to work 40 hours as a manager of Mr. Sports Bar in Redford. Sinelli, who lives in Farmington Hills, is one of only three Turbos who hail from Michigan. Games and practices are held on the weekends, making it easy for the players to commute to and from their hometowns.

Players hold jobs on the side, with one, for example, being a postal worker in Canada, and another an assembler at Ford Motor Co. Sinelli, a recent graduate of MSU, is content for the time at Mr. Sports — before heading back to graduate school, probably next fall.

"I really like it," Sinelli said. "There are flexible hours and it allows me to give a full weekend to playing lacrosse. It's a perfect job."

Lacrosse is North America's old-people in sports

est sport with origins dating back to the 1400s. Initially labeled the national sport of Canada, the MILL (originally called the Eagle League) was formed in 1987 with teams in Baltimore, New Jersey, Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia.

IN '89, DETROIT and New York joined as expansion teams. Sinelli, who played outdoor lacrosse at both CC and MSU, is still getting used to the indoor game.

He remembers scoring his first goal last year, which came in front of about 14,000 fans at the JLA.

"It was such an emotional thing," said Sinelli, who commuted last year to and from the MSU campus to play. "All I could hear was the twine snap from the net and the siren go on. I almost blacked out."

"The game is set up like the game of hockey on artificial turf. I'm still in the learning stage. The ball never goes out of bounds unless it goes over the boards and you play with half the players (five instead of 10) and the game is much faster."

It also is high scoring, as evidenced by the Turbos' league-record, 26-goal output in a game earlier this year. The Turbos lead the league with 100 goals, an average of 20 a game.

The nets were widened by six inches this year (to 4 1/2 feet), and that makes Sinelli even more excited about returning to the lineup.

"Three inches on either side is a ball length and that makes it a heck of a lot easier to score," he said.

Southgate pops Shamrocks, 5-2

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Southgate Anderson was supposed to be the doormat of the Michigan Metro Hockey League.

With the graduation of nine seniors, coach Al Beville said all he could hope for was a good effort from his players.

The effort paid off Tuesday. The Titans handed visiting Redford Catholic Central a 5-2 loss at the Southgate Civic Arena.

"A lot of people were picking us to be last in the league," Beville said. "I guess we're playing better than most people thought we would."

Anderson improves to 12-3-1 overall and 8-1-1 in the league. The Shamrocks are 10-5-1 overall and 5-3-1 in the league. It was their second loss to the Titans this season; CC lost to them in Redford Ice Arena Jan. 12.

CC scored the only goal of the first period when junior forward Paul Schloss slid the puck past Anderson goalie Phil Toth. Senior forward Jesse Hubenschmidt and sophomore forward Bill Baaki drew assists.

THE TITANS had several chances to score in the opening period, but CC goalie Mike Brusseau was impenetrable, stopping eight shots.

"Mike was tough in that first period." CC coach John Gimbleton said. "He was sharp when he had to be. Many of their shots were great scoring chances."

Anderson shifted its gears to offense in the second period, tallying three goals.

Junior forward Shawn Page took advantage of a power play and tied the game at the 5:21 mark, junior forward Vic Fileccia got loose for a short-handed goal at the 10:54 mark and senior forward Scott Wright scored the eventual game-winner at the 12:32 mark.

"They were everywhere," Brusseau said. "Our defense did everything they could. Southgate just played real good hockey."

One of CC's downfalls was not being able to get the puck out of its own zone.

"WE WERE all bottled up in our own end," CC forward Tom Vaquera said. "If you do that long enough, they are going to score."

Anderson took a 4-1 lead early in the period when junior forward Jay Prato scored a short-handed goal.

CC cut the margin to 4-2 midway through the final period on a slapshot by sophomore defenseman Mike Kasper.

Fileccia scored his second goal of the night with just under two minutes remaining to secure the win for the Titans.

"I don't think we played with the kind of intensity that we needed," Gimbleton said. "Their goalie played well and that really helped them."

CC outshot the Titans 31-27.

ON SATURDAY, Brusseau made 23 saves en route to 4-0 CC shutout victory over Ann Arbor Pioneer in a game played at the Redford Ice Arena.

After a scoreless first period, Hubenschmidt broke the ice at 2:38 on an unassisted effort. Baaki then scored from Hubenschmidt and Schloss at 4:58 to make it 2-0.

In the third period, Schloss scored from Baaki at 9:23 and Vaquera tallied CC's final goal at 13:28 from Mark Lorelli.

"We played three good, hard periods and that was the difference," CC assistant coach Ron Repicky said. "We had three penalties to their seven, but they had six before we got our first one. When you can keep everyone on the ice, it makes a big difference."

Stevenson No. 8 in polls

There's been little rest for the Livonia Stevenson boys swim team.

The Spartans, ranked No. 8 in Class A by a statewide coaches poll, ran its overall dual meet record to 7-2 with a 128-58 triumph Tuesday over visiting Plymouth Canton.

It was Stevenson's third meet in six days.

On Saturday, the visiting Spartans fell to No. 4 Ann Arbor Pioneer, 115-71.

On Thursday, the Spartans defeated Western Lakes Activities Association (Lakes Division) foe Plymouth Salem, 107-79.

Stevenson captured all 12 events to beat the Canton Chiefs.

Among the Spartans' individual winners included sophomore Eric Peterson in the 200-yard freestyle (1:59.28) and 500 freestyle (5:19.74); Aaron Rieder, 100 butterfly (57.34) and 100 breaststroke (1:05.73); Rich Bennetts, 200 individual medley, (2:14.98); Taki Caranicolas, 50 freestyle (23.47); Jason Norrid, diving, 213.60 points; Bryan Morrison, 100 freestyle (50.61); Ryan Freeborn, 100 butterfly (1:00.35).

Rieder, Morrison, Caranicolas and Alex Goecke teamed up to win the 200 medley relay in 1:43.81.

The Spartans' 400 freestyle relay squad of Freeborn, Joe Petrillo, Priede and Jason Fried capped off the big evening with a first place clocking of 3:46.05.

STEVENSON GARNERED five individual firsts against Pioneer, but was swept in all three relays.

Caranicolas, a senior, captured the 50 freestyle (23.35) and 100 butterfly (56.74). Other firsts were recorded by Morrison, 200 freestyle, 1:47.66; Freeborn, 100 backstroke, 57.71; and Goecke, 100 breaststroke, 1:03.2.

Eric Troesch figured in four firsts for the Pioneers, winning the 200 IM (2:02.82) and 100 freestyle (48.88). He also anchored the victorious 200 medley (1:42.6) and 400 freestyle (3:23.5) relays.

Stevenson captured 11 of 12 events to beat Salem.

The Rocks' lone winner was diver Pat McManaman, who totaled 250.95 points.

Caranicolas, along with Rieder and Morrison, both juniors, each captured two events.

Caranicolas grabbed firsts in the 50 freestyle (23:33) and 100 butterfly (56.49). Rieder added wins in the 200 IM (2:05.3) and 100 backstroke (57.69). Morrison hit the ball first in the 100- and 200 freestyles in 49.77 and 1:53.2, respectively.

Rieder, Caranicolas, Goecke and Mike Gravina teamed up to win the 200 medley in 1:42.98, while the foursome of Freeborn, Rieder, Morrison and Goecke added a first in the 200 freestyle relay (1:33.21).

Caranicolas, Freeborn, Morrison and Petrillo added a win in the 400 freestyle relay (3:33.65).

Other Stevenson firsts were recorded by Freeborn in the 500 freestyle (5:10.06) and Goecke in the 100 breaststroke (1:03.3).

The Spartans return to action at 7 tonight against North Farmington at home.

In language of Inuits all snow is not alike

Words that compose a language are reflective of the needs of the people who use that language and will change when the need arises. For instance, if my grandfather was asked to define the word "crack" when he was a boy, he would have said it was a separation in a material. Today, the old definition stands, but a new definition has been added.

Language and its accompanying words also are developed through necessity. In Michigan, we use the word sleet to mean a wet falling snow, or slush to mean melting snow on the ground. But there are few other words which define the varying state of snow.

We do not have many words to describe snow in its various states. However, Inuits of the far north have many names to describe snow in varying conditions. When you live in it for eight or nine months of the year, you learn that all snow is not alike.

In the language of the Inuits, annui is the fresh falling snow crystals before they hit the ground. When they are on the ground and accumulating they are called api.

Just as we recognize about 80 different snow crystals that can form, Inuits recognize that snow on the ground has different qualities. Snow that has been packed by the wind, and is much more dense than freshly fallen snow, is known as uspiq. Fresh falling snow that is caught in a swirling wind or drift is known as siqqoq.

Some snow conditions may be beneficial for travel, while others are hazardous. Avalanches are always a nature

Timothy Nowicki

potential threat. Learning to recognize pukak snow can be beneficial to one's health. A snow drift, or kimogruk, may be a good place to build a snow shelter if it is wind packed.

One of the most difficult snow conditions to traverse is ice crusted snow. Breaking through this ice on top of a layer of snow can be very exhausting. It can also result in injuries. There have been many times when my shins became bruised on that layer of ice.

Inuits call ice-crusted snow siqqoqoq, or the snow that cuts the caribou's legs. This is also the kind of snow that causes narrow hoofed animals to become easy prey for predators. Wolves or coyotes can walk on top of the ice, but many deer and caribou puncture through the ice, become injured or exhausted and fall prey to the predator. Domestic dogs allowed to run wild have been known to do the same thing to deer in Michigan.

Annui may be beautiful, but api has to be shoveled and siqqoqoq can be injurious.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence-Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

New Federal Standards For Medicare Supplemental Insurance

Medigap consumers have long complained about the difficulty of understanding and comparing policies, high premium increases and questionable sales tactics. New Federal Legislation, for 1991, will give new protection to older adults buying Medigap policies. The new requirements, are enforced with civil penalties of up to $25,000.

New major provisions include standardized language and format for easier comparison with other policies and with Medicare benefits. There will be standardized benefits. All policies must include one core group of benefits and all insurers must offer the core group as a stand alone policy. No Medigap policy may be sold in a state which has not adopted these standards unless that policy has been certified by the Secretary of Health and Human Services to meet these standards. Policies that duplicate Medicare or other Medigap policies and policies sold to Medicaid recipients are prohibited.

Loss ratios have been changed. Companies must return at least 65 cents of every premium dollar in benefits for individual policies and 75 cents of every premium dollar for group policies. Refunds or credits to beneficiaries are required if these loss ratios are not met. Companies must sell Medigap policies to all seniors who seek them within six months of becoming eligible for Medicare. Insurers cannot refuse to sell a policy or charge a higher premium, based on the individual's health condition, if the policy is purchased within six months of Medicare eligibility. Policies must also be guaranteed to be renewable. In addition, all states must establish a process for approving proposed Medigap premium increases and a policy for holding public hearings prior to that approval.

Grant helps county expand anti-drug program

Wayne County officials announced this week they were expanding Campaign PUSH-OFF, an anti-drug program in operation since October.

The program is a sting operation that enforces the state forfeiture law against those who buy illegal drugs.

PUSH-OFF is an acronym for when Drug Purchasers Use Our Streets and Highways, they Opt For Forfeiture.

Those who buy illegal drugs on Wayne County roadways can have their cars confiscated and must pay a fee to have them returned.

The program uses the resources of the county prosecutor's and sheriff's departments.

"Demand for the product is essential for the narcotic trade to be profitable," Sheriff Robert Ficano said.

"Campaign PUSH-OFF shows that drug buying carries risks."

The program is financed, in part, by a $250,000 federal grant. The program will be publicized through bumper stickers and a billboard campaign.

Budget wrangling leaves local arts in limbo

By Linda Ann Chomlin
special writer

Gov. John Engler's proposed budget cuts, rejected by the state House appropriations committee, could devastate the budgets, programs and services offered by community arts groups if they're introduced again and passed.

Among the local groups that could be affected are the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

The Farmington Area Arts Commission won't directly be affected. Farmington and Farmington Hills cover FAAC's $9,000 budget. But FAAC vice chairman Robert Benjamin, who taught art in Farmington Public Schools for 36 years, hoped that school art programs statewide wouldn't suffer from the budget-cutting ax. "Without art, you're not completely educated."

The governor, the House and the Senate continue to wrestle with ways to prevent a $1.1-billion state budget deficit. Engler recommended drastically cutting the state's $49-million equity package for cultural organizations and institutions.

Meanwhile, an executive order in January freezing $4.3 million of the Michigan Council for the Arts' budgeted $9.1 million in grants for 1990-91 continues to wreak havoc with the budgets of cultural groups as well as individual artists, writers and musicians.

The executive order proposes eliminating all MCA grants beginning in October and cutting the MCA staff budget by half.

Two weeks ago, the Michigan Council for the Arts informed the Plymouth Community Arts Council all art support grants have been suspended, including its current $7,000 grant. That will severely curtail art programs and services, as well as diminish the ability to bring them to the schools.

"In Livonia, a $9,900 grant to the Livonia Symphony (10 percent of the symphony budget) will not be forthcoming," said Lee Alanskas, who serves on the Livonia Arts Commission and is a Livonia Symphony Society member.

'The most devastating effect will be on educational programs, where they actually take music into the schools. The Michigan Opera Theater programs will be among the first to go.'

— Marilyn Wheaton
Concerned Citizens for the Arts

ACCORDING TO state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, "Under executive order, the governor intends to immediately stop payment of current grants owed to certain recipients and to eliminate all grants to cultural organizations beginning Oct. 1."

"If the proposed budget cuts are put into effect, a part of our society would be void of any culture," said Therese Jaye, who serves on the Livonia Arts Commission.

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra is funded in part by the Livonia Arts Commission, the Michigan Council for the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, local businesses, corporations and private contributors. NEA funding is in part tied to state arts council funding.

With the current freeze on grants, Livonia Symphony performances would definitely, if not severely, be curtailed for the rest of the season.

"It (the proposed budget cuts) does not affect us directly," Jaye said, "because the arts commission is funded by the City of Livonia, but indirectly, it would limit our access to such fine programs put on by organizations such as the Michigan Opera Theater and the Livonia Symphony Orchestra."

A SOLD-OUT Jan. 18 performance of the Michigan Opera Theater musical revue, "Broadway Babies and Phantoms," presented by the Livonia Arts Commission, would never have taken place without grant assistance through MOT's Department of Community Services.

In Plymouth, the $7,000 state grant represents 10 percent of the arts council budget.

The freeze on state grants may affect Music in the Park, the Art Rental Gallery and bringing performers into the schools. It also may delay converting the historic Wilcox Mill into a community arts center, said Kathryn Savitskie, Plymouth Community Arts Council executive director.

"If the governor gets his way, I think that the arts and culture are going to be devastated in the State of Michigan," said Marilyn Wheaton, executive director of Concerned Citizens for the Arts in Michigan/Michigan Advocates for the Arts, an advocacy and lobbying group for the arts.

"Arts organizations were prepared to take cuts across the board like everyone else," Wheaton said. "What no one was ready for was that dollars already contracted for would be frozen."

"The most devastating effect will be on educational programs, where they actually take music into the schools," Wheaton said. "The Michigan Opera Theater programs will be among the first to go."

If the proposed budget cuts are eventually voted into place, "the domino effect is incredible," Wheaton said.

Couple's barn proud symbol of Americana

By Janice Tigar-Kramer
special writer

WHEN JOE and Judy Derek told their Realtor they wanted a house on two acres with a barn, a creek, a rock garden and city water, all in Farmington Hills, they were surprised to hear from their agent just one week later. A house with all of their requirements had just been listed.

Interested to see the property they had only dreamed of finding in the city, Joe, a lab technician at Sinai Hospital of Detroit, and Judy, office manager of the hospital's engineering department, both left work early to take a look. Joe was sold on the place before stepping inside the house.

"I slammed the car door and heard the 'whoosh' sound of a pheasant taking flight. I knew we had to live here," said Joe, 42, a naturalist and environmental lecturer whose love of wildlife and the outdoors began as a boy growing up in Detroit.

Besides the 1.9 acres, the creek and a yard filled with wild flowers and bushes, the lot was just one of a few in Farmington Hills with an old barn.

The couple moved into the 45-year-old ranch house in February 1987, and spent most of their free time exploring the land, peering into the creek and examining the condition of the 900-square-foot barn, at the bottom of a hill behind the house.

AFTER FINISHING some necessary home repairs, the Dereks began making plans to restore the two-story, hip roof barn, which stands proudly in a neighborhood of new homes north of 10 Mile.

"A few people wanted to buy the barn, but we never considered selling it," Joe said. "The barn represents the last of what used to be, and we had no plans to get rid of it."

To gather ideas for the restoration, the couple drove through Michigan and southern Indiana to look at the color and design of other barns. They even stopped to talk to farmers along the way.

BUT THE history of their own barn was revealed, almost by accident, just last summer.

One afternoon, the couple noticed two elderly women with a video camera in the street behind their property.

Since it's not uncommon for people to look at the old barn, the Dereks were used to the attention. But they were curious about the use of video equipment.

The visitors, Mary Yost of Wisconsin and her sister, Sally Sellers of Howell, grew up in the barn in the 1940s and just stopped by to reminisce.

Now in their 60s, the sisters moved into the barn with their parents shortly before World War II and lived there until the family's house (now owned by the Dereks) was built in 1946.

Their father, Lambert Sellers, originally built the barn for ponies, then planned to build the ranch house. But when war began, lumber was scarce and he couldn't find enough material to continue building.

The Dereks' barn, built in the 1940s, once was home to a Farmington Hills family during World War II. The couple plans to repaint the structure this summer and do minor repairs inside.

TO MAKE the barn comfortable for the family, Sellers installed a wood floor, an oil burning stove, a small porch and regular house doors. An open, ladder-type staircase was used to reach the second level.

Sellers even painted the barn white to make it look more like a residence.

"The sisters were amazed that the barn was still here. They visit Detroit and our place every few years to see if things are the same," Joe said.

LAST SUMMER, the Dereks found a local contractor willing to scale the 30-foot barn to remove the original roof, install off-white shingles and build a new chimney. Joe also built a bridge over the creek leading to the barn.

Botsford Inn — It's an enduring beacon of history

"And the innkeeper speaks to all of us, in the accents of today, over the decades of our past."

— Jean Fox, Botsford Inn historian

ALLEN AND Orrin Weston built it as Orrin's home in 1836, when Andrew Jackson was president and Michigan was the west.

Today, the Botsford Inn, a legendary gateway to Farmington Hills at Grand River and Eight Mile, is one of the oldest hostels in the state.

The national historic site may be tattered around the edges. But it retains much of its rustic charm. It's richly symbolic of our community's hospitality and heritage.

In 1841, Stephen Jennings converted the inn to a tavern.

"Known as the Sixteen Mile House (it was 16 miles out from the heart of Detroit), it was the stagecoach stop here in Clarenceville on the Grand River plank road, which followed an Indian trail that went on to Lake Michigan," a state historic marker in the front courtyard tells us.

Milton Botsford, from a Farmington Township pioneer family, bought it in 1860, after a succession of owners, including John Clagherty, who the town of Clarenceville, which survives today as a school district, was named after.

After Botsford acquired it, the inn soon became a popular meeting place for drovers, farmers and travelers to and from Detroit.

AUTO PIONEER Henry Ford I, who met his wife, Clara, at a square dance there, bought the Botsford Inn in 1924 as a romantic gesture and to save it from demolition during Grand River's widening.

Innkeeper, John Anhut's father, John Nicholson Anhut, bought the landmark from the Ford estate in 1951. The lodging market and the Farmington area have changed dramatically since then.

But Anhut, pledged to making the inn "a human establishment serving people and not solely a money-making operation," has never gone hog-wild with modern lures.

Lack of feelers from historically sensitive buyers recently prompted Anhut to take the inn off the market. Instead, he hired a general manager to run day-to-day operations.

The inn remains an oasis for travelers hooked on the ambience of an earlier time.

Personally, I can't envision the inn without Anhut, who more than anyone understands its distinguished place in local history, at the helm.

ANHUT, EVER the entrepreneur, has made several major building additions to the original structure. But he has never slighted the inn's role as a mini museum of living history. For example, touches of Americana, wood floors and five wood-burning fireplaces spice the guest areas. And much of the furniture came from Henry Ford's Fair Lane mansion in Dearborn.

Ford once said "history is more or less bunk," but the old man's love for the inn was undying.

"With Henry's drive and enthusiasm as a spur, the family decided it was more important to find people, like the Anhuts, who would keep the inn in the spirit of my great-grandfather," William Clay Ford Jr. once told me.

Chances are, the Weston brothers would beam with pride at what the state Legislature proclaimed during the inn's sesquicentennial in 1986:

"It stands as a beautiful window to a bygone age, with changes and improvements unable to obscure the feeling of history."

Kathe Koja doesn't look or act like somebody who would spend her time horrifying people.

But that's exactly what the amiable, attractive author from Oak Park does. And she's very good at it. Just pick up a copy of the little paperback "The Cipher," recently out from Dell. It's her first book (she's spent the last couple of years writing short fiction), and it's something you'll definitely want to read with all the lights on.

The book has been chosen to introduce Dell's new horror line, Abyss, which, according to Dell editor Jeanne Cavelos, will feature "a sophisticated, psychological element, with a presentation different to much of the horror fiction that's out now."

"There's so much formula fiction in which you'll see the same story line repeated again and again, until it's no longer scary," Cavelos said.

"What we want are vivid characters, dealing with the fear and horror of everyday life. We're not at all interested in seeing the same old monsters."

Koja says she has no idea why she happens to write horror. She's not particularly attracted, as a reader, to horror fiction, (preferring instead the works of Flannery O'Connor or Michigan's Jim Harrison). She's never experienced anything particularly frightening or bizarre, she says.

According to her, her tales of terror are something that just sort of happen. "I pretty much just sit down and write what I feel like writing," she said. "I don't especially have 'horror' in mind when I start. I don't even have a sense of the beginning, the middle, or the end of a story at first. I just start to write, and see what happens. And something always happens."

WHAT HAPPENS in "The Cipher" is this: An aimless young man named Nicholas and his eccentric girlfriend, Nakota, discover a strange hole in the floor of a storeroom in the building where he lives (maybe "exists" would be a better word). As time passes, the two find themselves inexplicably drawn to the hole, strongly attracted to its aura of evil, fascinated by the unknown possibilities of its depths. Eventually, to satisfy her curiosity, Nakota ties a mouse to a string and lowers it into the hole; the mouse comes back, shall we say, altered. Other unfortunate objects fare no better. Then, one day, Nicholas slips and falls part way into the hole himself.

Let's just say that what happens next is not a pretty story. "When I read Kathe's book, I was blown away by how great it was," Cavelos said. "I was reminded of Clive Barker, but she has her own unique tone and point of view of a dark world and its jaded characters. It's different, really, to any horror story I've ever read."

Publishers Weekly has called the book "a powerful first novel (that) is as thought-provoking as it is horrifying."

Very few people see Koja's work before it's published. She doesn't hang out with other writers and she doesn't submit anything to writers' workshops these days. She's never attended college, never signed up for any college-level "creative writing" classes ("Going to college really doesn't have anything to do with it. A friend of mine says writing courses taught her nothing but bad habits.")

NOW 31, what she does do is write — a lot. (In the past, in addition to her short stories, she's also written a healthy number of other novels besides "The Cipher," which remain unpublished.) When she gets her 6-year-old son, Aaron, off to school each day, she turns to her desk and gets down to the business of creating two more novels she's contracted to write for Dell. The first, as yet untitled, will be out early next year.

In the meantime, if bone-chilling, blood-curdling horror is your thing, look into "The Cipher" and join Nicholas and Nakota at what they like to call The Funhole. As much as you might want to, you may never forget these two.

Pleasant dreams.

He has appeared as soloist with major orchestras worldwide, including the Tokyo, Hong Kong and Seoul Philharmonic orchestras, Rochester Philharmonic and Toronto, Vancouver, Louisville and American symphony orchestras. He has taught at the Juilliard School of Music and the Manhattan School of Music.

Fujiwara is a professor of violin at the University of Michigan School of Music.

Joining Fujiwara is pianist Katsurako Mikami, a winner of the national competition in Tokyo and the Internationally acclaimed flutist Ginka Gerova-Ortega will join in the performance. Performing on four continents, this Bulgarian-born flutist has been making musical news since her 1983 Carnegie Hall debut.

The concert will take place at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 22, in the Smith Theatre on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College, 1-696 and Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills.

What to insure inherited chair for

Q: We inherited this chair recently; it was upholstered about 10 years ago. I would appreciate any information you can provide as to what it should be insured for.

A: This is a Victorian French Revival armchair made in the third quarter of the 19th century. It would probably sell for $650-$750.

Q: This mark is on the bottom of a tea set consisting of teapot, sugar and creamer. Each piece is decorated with pink and purple pansies and a lot of gold trim. Please give me your opinion as to the source and value of this set.

A: Your set was made by the Royal Rudolstadt works in Thuringia, Germany, about 1900. It would probably sell for $125-$135.

Q: Please provide vintage and value of my pitcher and bowl set marked "Mason's Patent Ironstone, Est. 1780." It is decorated with a red and blue Oriental design. The pitcher is 14 inches tall and the bowl is 18 inches in diameter.

A: Your toilet set was made in Lane Delph, England, by G.M. & C.J. Mason during the mid-19th century. It would probably sell for $500-$600 in good condition.

Q: Can you identify the maker of a beer stein marked "R.H."? It holds over three quarts and is decorated with a scene of men drinking in a tavern. I would also like to know its value.

A: Your 3-liter stein was made in Hohl-Grenzhausen, Germany, by the Reinhold Hanke company. It was made about 1900 and would probably sell for $125-$135.

Q: I have a Parker Big Red Duofold Senior fountain pen in the original box complete with guarantee and instructions. It was given to my grandfather about 70 years ago when he graduated from college. I would like to know if this has any special value.

A: It certainly does. The pen you describe is a highly desirable collectible that would probably sell for $165-$185.

"Let's say the Detroit Symphony Orchestra would go out of business because of these major and drastic overnight reductions. The musicians would immediately leave the state to seek work," Wheaton said. "The community orchestras with DSO players would lose them."

"Orchestra hall would be vacated for all intents and purposes. The people coming to Orchestra Hall won't visit area restaurants and businesses. Their business would be lost and tourism in general would suffer."

"Additionally, the state grants stimulate local government giving and matching gifts made by corporations and individuals. All that money aiding the arts would essentially dry up. The governor would be turning his back on what the people of Michigan want and what the people of Michigan need."

Said Therese Jaye of the Livonia Arts Commission: "It haunts me to think that we would (in effect) lose our civilization."

Barn undergoes boost

This year, the couple plans to paint the barn a traditional, rustic red with white shutters and trim.

Most of the wood is in good condition, but Joe will replace some rotted window sills and remove spray painted slogans left inside the barn by vandals. After repairs are finished, the couple may install a heating system.

Since a family of raccoons entered the barn, ate a butterfly collection and damaged other items stored inside, the building will be empty until the restoration is complete.

Judy hopes to use the barn for a retreat where she can quietly read or do craft work. The couple also plans to decorate the barn with old farm implements and other collectibles. This fall, the Dereks even may host a Halloween party or harvest dance there.

JOE AND JUDY, both members of Friends of the Rouge, Michigan United Conservation Clubs, National Wildlife Federation, Michigan Wildlife Habitat Foundation and a number of other environmental groups, believe the barn is a symbol of Americana.

"We have to preserve this small part of our history," Joe said. "You could say we owe it to the barn, to ourselves and to the community."

Richard Miller portrays Lincoln, with the just-completed Capitol dome in the background, as a man of strength, vision and anguish.

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photographer

Richard Miller's painting of General U.S. Grant is still in the early stages, but it illustrates his substantial drawing skills.

Paintings show troubled times

By Corinne Abalt
staff writer

It seems completely in keeping with Richard D. Miller's lifestyle that he was born in Canada (1931) on the birthday of the United States. Even though his life began in Canada, it has a Yankee Doodle Dandy quality to it.

He's lived in the United States permanently since 1982 and right now is dividing his time between Bloomfield Township and the area in and around Savannah, Ga. Miller has been a professional artist since he joined a commercial studio at 15.

Now, some four decades later, and with successful forays into other careers such as classical guitarist, antique dealer, radio show host, art gallery owner and published novelist, he's determined to put all of his considerable energies into painting in the fine arts tradition.

Certainly, he's been working what most people would consider full time, as a non-commercial artist for a long time. But, things are really flying since he focused ever more tightly on two favorite areas — portraits and the Civil War.

"Art has always been my main career. . . I got interested in the American Civil War while living in Canada — it becomes a very fascinating subject for everyone. I just enjoy it — and you never can absorb it all," he said.

SEVEN OF his Civil War paintings, including the portraits of Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee, are on display in the lobby of the main office of First Federal of Michigan, Woodward at Michigan, downtown Detroit through the month. The portraits are oils, the scenes are watercolors, all are on loan from private collections.

Although he has done hundreds of commissioned portraits of illustrious people such as Queen Elizabeth, Prince Philip and the Queen Mother (for the Queen's Plate Stakes in Toronto), Henry Ford II (Ford Hospital) and other members of the Ford family, CEO's and lots of sports figures, he takes particular satisfaction in doing portraits of the leading figures of the Civil War.

He had color photographs of his Lincoln and Lee portraits in his hand as he spoke.

He has depicted Lincoln as dignified and thoughtful. His cheeks are hollow, his gaze is on a distant horizon. The president wears a black suit, the sky behind him is filled with storm clouds, the only patch of light is around the dome of the Capitol in the background.

"You know there was no painting of Lincoln done during the Civil War. I've studied the pictures and photographs of him and in five years, he aged 40 years. . . He didn't even look like the same person. . . and he was not very popular either."

Still speaking of his Lincoln portrait, he said, "I'm happy with it because of the sensitivity of the eyes. There's a lot of symbolism in it. The Capitol dome was completed on the day of his second inauguration, March 5, 1865 and of course, he died shortly after (April 14, 1865)."

IN HIS portrait of Robert E. Lee, Miller portrays the great Southern general in full uniform, hat in one hand and sword in a handsome scabbard at his side in the other. He stands on a grassy ridge in the mountains of his beloved Virginia with his horse, Traveler, unsaddled, grazing in the background. Miller has just started on a full length portrait of General Grant.

gardener's book nook

Marty Figley

Two books will be of interest to those who wish quick and accurate identification of many plants.

Although the title of "Ornamental Shrubs for Use in the Western Landscape" by Emile L. Labadie ($13.95 paper, $17.95 cloth) may sound as though it can only be used in the West, many of the plants can be grown in Michigan, although some may be annuals.

All the plant characteristics are given on a page opposite the very fine line drawings. Listed in alphabetical order by the botanical name, the common ones are also given.

The second, "Ground Covers in the Landscape" ($14.95 paper, $19.95 cloth), will take the guesswork out of choosing such a plant. It is the same format as the shrub book, with descriptions of plant parts that are lessons in botany.

To order, write: Sierra City Press, 2690 Las Aromas, Oakland, Calif. 94766. Add $3 per book for postage and handling.

THE BEGINNING paragraphs of the first chapter of "A Harrowsmith Gardener's Guide to Water Gardens," edited by David Archibald and Mary Patton (Camden House, $9.95 paper), will grab you and set the creative juices flowing.

Then it continues with the considerations one must make when planning water gardens, pools and fountains. Subsequent chapters deal with the how-tos of construction and maintenance, even suggesting that a small container makes a receptacle for a plant or two.

and their requirements. All in all, this is a well-written, factual book.

"FOLIAGE, PLANNING and Planting" by Anna Pavord (Harper Collins, $16.95) is another in the Classic English Gardening Guides series.

Gardeners will learn about textures, shapes, colors and where and how certain plants can be used to the best advantage. Descriptions are complete. A chapter is devoted exclusively to ferns, bamboos and grasses, which become more popular each season.

"An Illustrated Guide to Attracting Birds" is the newest offering from Sunset ($7.95) and does a good job with the many photographs and descriptions.

The chapter "Birdscaping Your Yard" will make you anxious for gardening weather. Plans for feeders, houses and baths and where to put them are included. Sunset books are often sold in hardware stores and garden centers.

THE PHOTOGRAPHS of the many English gardens in "Creating a Cottage Garden" by Sue Phillips (Grove Weidenfeld, $29.95) clearly show the many varieties of plants that can be grown in such a garden.

In addition, the text describes some of the processes used to obtain such planned naturalness.

Early cottage flower gardens began in the front of the house and wandered around to the back, sharing space with animals, herbs and vegetables. Phillips shows how a garden using old plants as well as recent cultivators can be used effectively to achieve this look.

You may want to have a plant dictionary at hand, since in the text the author uses botanical names. The section devoted to traditional plants lists both the botanical and common names.

"THE COTTAGE Garden" by Christopher Lloyd, with Richard Bird, (Prentice Hall, $29.95) explains the history of such gardens and tells how to create one.

Explicit plans leave no room for error, as the novice and experienced gardener can be successful, using herbs, flowering and foliage plants as well as vegetables.

When I first leafed through this book, I was caught by the vivid photos and details, such as favorites for particular times of the year. The chapter "Tending the Garden" is a bonus, as are the recipes for using the harvest. Great!

"BOTANY FOR Gardeners" by Brian Capon (Timber Press, $29.95) contains an explanation in layman's terms of the plant kingdom, while it makes the subject come alive for the average reader. If one could learn to understand plants, perhaps their care wouldn't be such a mystery!

"The reader is invited into the realm of cells to better understand what goes on inside roots, stems and leaves when they grow," Capon said.

Thus the exciting processes that occur from the time a seed is planted until the plant reaches maturity are explained. All of us could learn from such information.

Marty Figley is a master gardener based in Birmingham.

This artist is an avid researcher. He has an extensive reference library, a film library of 1,500 movies, many historical documentaries, and the equipment to make prints from films.

As he spoke about doing portraits of live subjects, he said, "I like to do a photo session — mostly candid. Then, the ideal situation is to set up a second session and have them sit live. I like to see the subject again before the painting is finished." It is then that he likes to check colors and expressions one more time before the work is completed. "I've always considered myself, and studied very hard to be, a colorist."

He also works in a variety of media, depending on the subject and often, his mood — oil, transparent watercolor, oil and acrylic wash, and conte crayon which he grinds and dissolves himself.

He has done about 75 paintings on the Civil War and says the subjects are almost endless, some are the portraits, many others are scenes — a troupe of soldiers waving from the train as they pass through a small town early in the war, small groups of soldiers riding together, a messenger at fast gallop, a little girl handing a bouquet of flowers to an amputee walking along a country lane, and the crowds lined up to watch the opening battle of the Civil War as if they were going on a picnic.

Miller also does landscapes and wilderness scenes.

Miller's work is available through 454 Gallerie of Grosse Pointe Park which is opening a branch at 176 S. Woodward, Birmingham as of March 1.

In his painting of General Robert E. Lee, Richard Miller gives the southern military leader a commanding presence and a strong physical tie to the land he chose to defend.

Schoolcraft College will host free recitals by mezzo soprano Judith Zorn and pianist Anne Koscielny.

Zorn will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9, and Koscielny at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10, in the Livonia college's Liberal Arts Theatre, 18600 Haggerty, south of Seven Mile. Zorn is a member of the newly formed Schoolcraft College Chamber Players, a group of professional, classically trained musicians coached by Eugene Bossart, the college's Artist in Residence.

She has an established career in both classical choral and operatic singing and in musical comedy. She's a soloist Detroit Symphony Choral and a member of the Detroit Bach Festival.

PIPELESS ORGAN

Classic Claviers of Farmington has announced that the Detroit Symphony Orchestra has selected the Galanti Praeludium III "pipeless" organ to use for its upcoming concert.

The orchestra, under Neeme Jarvi's direction, will perform the Camille Saint-Saens Symphony No. 3.

Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7, 10:45 a.m. Friday, Feb. 8, and 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 9, in Orchestra Hall, Detroit.

Organist will be Marilyn Mason, University of Michigan School of Music Organ Department chair.

Also on the program is the Violin Concerto No. 1 by Shostakovich and the world premiere of the Rapchak Sinfonia Antiqua. Nadja Salerno-Sonnenberg will be violin soloist.
For tickets, call 833-3700.

DANCE TROUPE

The University of Michigan's University Dance Company will present "Trailblazers and Troubadours: Forty Years of Modern Dance" as part of the Power Series 90/91.

This program of lyric dances by influential choreographers plays today through Sunday at the Power Center for the Performing Arts, Ann Arbor.

It features two classics of modern dance repertory: Jose Limon's 1956 masterpiece "There Is A Time" and Lucas Hoving's 1964 "Icarus."

The dance troupe also will present three new works by U-M's dance faculty members Jessica Fogel, Peter Sparling and Vera Embree.

The program theme refers to both the founders of the modern dance movement and the new, younger choreographers finding their own voices by working from traditions established for them in the past.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Feb. 7-9 and 2 p.m. Feb. 10. For tickets: 764-0450.

OPERA FOR KIDS

For the second year, the University Musical Society of the University of Michigan is presenting two opera performances for fourth grade school-children.

In collaboration with the New York City Opera National Company, 2,800 children and their chaperones will see specially constructed and adapted performances of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro" at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14, in the Power Center for the Performing Arts.

For most of these children, this Youth Opera Program marks their first exposure to opera. For "The Marriage of Figaro," children will be coming from such communities as Canton and Plymouth.

To prepare students for this experience, education materials are sent to participating teachers so that children are ready to listen to the performers, watch the set changes and perhaps even sing with the performers or participate onstage in one of the scenes.

ARCHITECTURE LECTURES

A series of monthly lectures on Detroit-area architecture given by noted architecture and history professionals will begin Sunday, Feb. 17, at the Scarab Club in the New Center area in Detroit.

The first lecture will be "From Peacocks to Sunflowers: The Queen Anne Aesthetic Style," and will be given by Dorothy Kostuch, associate professor of art history at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit.

Registration for each program begins at 3 p.m., with lectures starting at 3:15. Sponsored by Preservation Wayne, the Scarab Club and the Center for Creative Studies, the series will cover both residential and commercial structures and interior and exterior ornamentation, with local noteworthy examples.

Cost for each lecture is $5 for members of Preservation Wayne, Scarab Club and the Detroit Area Art Deco Society and for students and faculty of the Center for Creative Studies. General admission is $7.
Call 577-3559.

YOUTH SYMPHONY

The Metropolitan Youth Symphony, consisting of 250 young people in three orchestras led by prominent music educators, will present its winter concert at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 24, at Orchestra Hall, Detroit.

The hardworking musicians, ranging from fifth through 12th grades, come from 50 communities.

The string orchestra will be conducted by Jacqueline Coleman, Detroit Country Day School middle school music program department head and director.

Her group will perform selections from Hopak by Moussorgsky/A. Lshin, Hungarian Dance No. 5 by Brahms/Isaac, "Send in the Clowns" from "A Little Night Music" by Sondheim/Forsblad and Allegro in C major from Quartet No. 4 by Mozart/Isaac.

Richard Pilppo, concert orchestra conductor, is a cellist and teacher/conductor at Wayne State University. His musicians will play Symphony No. 8 in G major, opus 88 by Dvorak from the original score.

Alan McNair is concertmaster and assistant conductor of the Rochester Symphony and orchestra director at Troy High. His symphony orchestra, selected as this year's Orchestra of the Year for the Michigan Youth Arts Festival, will play Symphony No. 5 in E minor by Tchaikovsky.

Tickets are $15 box seats, $10 main floor, $8 lower balcony. Call 644-8105 for more information about the volunteer youth symphony. The symphony raises money for facilities rental and other expenses.

SILENT AUCTION

The Detroit Area Art Deco Society, a Michigan non-profit group, in cooperation with Detroit's Historic Scarab Club, will host its first silent auction at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 25, at the Scarab Club, 217 Farnsworth.

Tickets are available in advance at Duke Gallery, Birmingham, and Deco Doug's, Royal Oak, or at the door. Vintage attire is encouraged. There will be a cash bar and hors d'oeuvres.

The auction will feature an array of art deco objects, collectibles and gift certificates ranging in value from $25 to $500.

"The art deco society uses these funds to promote and preserve the buildings and art of the early 20th century," said committee chair Tom Rusinow.

"Detroit was one of the truly great cities of the world in the 1920s and '30s and preserving and educating people of its beauty is a big job. We use this once-a-year event to help cover the equipment and expenses that we incur in all of the programs that we sponsor throughout the year."

MISSION FURNITURE

Bruce Szpoc of Birmingham will discuss the origin, concepts and people involved in "Mission Furniture: The Arts and Crafts Movement in America," 7-10 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27, at Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn. Call 271-1620 to register.

Discussion will focus on young Frank Lloyd Wright, William Morris and Gustav Stickley. Through slides and examples, special attention will be given to identifying makers, understanding the market and finding pieces of your own.

Houseplants

Soil and fertilizer are basics

Our final topic on caring for houseplants concerns soil and fertilizers.

Soil holds roots firmly and supports the plants. It also holds water and nutrients so that they can be absorbed by the plants through the tiny root hairs, which keep the plant healthy and growing.

Fertilizers are best used with discretion for most houseplants. When growth is slow and when light levels are low, they should be used very seldom, then used with restraint when new growth appears.

If plants are not growing well or have stunted growth, wilt, and/or are plagued with stem and root rot, perhaps new soil is all that is necessary to give the plants a boost. Soil that provides good support and drainage, one that is light and porous enough to allow good air circulation, and one that is sterile, is ideal.

Specific plants have various needs, i.e., cacti need coarse well-drained soil, such as coarse sand.

Others, such as ferns, prefer one with more organic matter, while most grow well in a commercial mixture which includes perlite, sand or other coarse materials. A top grade mix will give the best results.

Some of the newer ones contain watering agents (such as Hyponex) and hold more moisture in the soil eliminating frequent watering.

SALT CAN build up in the soil when hard water is used to water, and if frequent shallow waterings are applied.

I fill a gallon container and let it "air" for several days before watering to let it settle, and then I also know it is the proper temperature. Overfertilization also can cause salt buildup. Too much salt causes plants to dry out and the feeder roots to become burned.

Beware if your plants have brown tips and margins on many leaves, bud and flower drop and stunted growth. Either re-pot or at least water thoroughly to leach out those salts. When watering, allow it to run out the drainage hole and then pour out the excess after about 10 minutes.

Remove any diseased parts of the plant before re-potting; divide if necessary. Choose the next larger size pot.

Put some gravel or shards in the bottom of the new container, add a shallow layer of soil, then, after you have carefully removed the plant from its original container, and being careful not to injure the tiny-feeder roots, set that container into the larger pot and fill the space with soil.

WHEN THE smaller pot is removed, there will be ample room to position the plant in the new container. Pour soil around and over the roots and gently firm it with your fingers. Water well.

Plants need three basic nutrients for good growth: nitrogen (N), phosphorus (P) and potassium (K). These are the main ingredients in fertilizers, along with traces of other nutrients. Nitrogen encourages good leaf growth. If the green leaves turn pale or yellow between the veins, plants could be suffering from this deficiency.

Those low in phosphorus, necessary for root and flower production, may have stunted growth and a reddish-purple color in seedlings and older leaves, especially along the edges and between the veins.

Leaf scorch and yellowing of the tips and edges of the lower leaves and then those above, is caused by potassium deficiency, which gives the plants vigor, strengthens the stems and helps in flower production.

I am going to add 1/4 cup of Cricket Krap (a 100 percent organic fertilizer) to my 20-pound bag of potting soil when I re-pot my plants. Then fertilization will be done for awhile.

The company recommends using a small amount each month for continuous nutrients when plants are in a growth period or flowering. To receive their catalog, send $1 refundable with your order, to Bricker's Organic Farm, Inc., 824 Sandbar Ferry Rd., Augusta, GA 30901.

Supply outpaces market demand

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The suburban Detroit office market, with the exception of a few sub-markets, remains quite soft but is getting better, according to Joel Feldman, a West Bloomfield real estate consultant.

Efforts taken by building owners last year — putting the brakes on new construction and renovating older buildings to keep existing tenants — started to make inroads in the glut of office space, Feldman's report indicated.

But vigilance is still the watchword. "I do believe, from a practical standpoint, we're still a year or two from the light at the end of the tunnel — a genuine need and an all-pervasive need for new office space to come on line," he said.

Specifically, Feldman's study, issued last month, found that:

- Calendar year 1990 was again a tenant's market, but with the tightening up of available space, landlords may have to offer fewer concessions this year.

- Traffic congestion continued to hurt all three office corridors in Farmington Hills — Northwestern Highway, Orchard Lake Road and 12 Mile Road.

- While Birmingham remained an upscale market, enlightened landlords in the central business district will be flexible and aware of reasonable rates due to competition from Troy and Bloomfield Hills.

- The Northfield sub-market of Troy is one of the few places in the entire metro area that could support additional speculative office facilities now. The reasons — natural physical features of land, freeway access and reasonable rents.

- Leasings increased dramatically last year in the north end of Southfield due to the opening of I-696 and in the central/south ends due to refurbishing of buildings. But the vacancy rate remains fairly high in the latter sub-market.

- Tenants in West Bloomfield basically are professionals or users who don't require a lot of space. Many live nearby.

- Office space in western Livonia along the I-275 corridor continued to lease at an adequate rate and appears to be a good mix of new and renovated product.

TIME AND TIME again Feldman's report emphasized the need for restraint in new construction and the need to maintain existing buildings to bring balance to the local office market.

"Significant attention must still continue to be addressed to the leasing up of existing product with the introduction of new office projects on only a limited, judicious and highly-selective basis," the report said.

Overbuilding during the 1980s, not economic news or war in the Persian Gulf, is the reason for the oversupply now, Feldman said.

"The softness in the office market is an apolitical issue. I take exception that it happened overnight. It's a consequence of three to four years of unprecedented growth. Office space grew one and a half times in a short time."

'The softness in the office market is an apolitical issue. I take exception that it happened overnight. It's a consequence of three to four years of unprecedented growth. Office space grew one and a half times in a short time.'

— Joel Feldman

SEVERAL FACTORS contributed to the overbuilding, Feldman said.

"For many, many years, our market was so well balanced we had no-brainers out there. Developers could put in a building and not lose sleep in the better areas of town. The day of the no-brainer ended. The prime parcels were taken and people started getting burned.

"Lenders had a lot to do with it," Feldman continued. "They made bad loans. Developers are there to give birth. You give a developer money and he's going forward. It goes with the psyche.

"It (overbuilding) was a getting on the bandwagon type of idea. Four years of unprecedented construction. Everyone said there's nothing to worry about because they always had been successful in the past. They went ahead with projects and there was no demand for it," Feldman said.

RICHARD ROESER, president of a Birmingham development company and president of the Building Owners and Managers Association, agreed with Feldman's major conclusion.

"I do not think it's time to build now," Roeser said. "I think we do have more inventory than necessary at the moment."

But he expects a quicker recovery.

"I feel more optimistic about the coming year," Roeser said. "From what I've seen and talking to other landlords, the market is tightening a lot more than he indicates."

Peter Burton, president of Burton-Share-Katzman of Birmingham, also echoed Feldman's general theme.

"It's not that demand has quit. Supply has outpaced demand," Burton said. "It will take a little while to correct. My guess is within a year things will likely be back on an even keel. Hopefully, people (builders) will hold their horses longer than that."

Very broadly speaking — "and in a normally balanced supply and demand market" — profitability requires an occupancy rate of 85-90 percent, Roeser said.

"You were X percent leased, so what?" he said. "The real question is are you getting cash flow? Different buildings have different (break-even) levels depending on debt service."

And Roeser's personal position on a satisfactory occupancy level? "If it's not 100 percent, I worry."

Area office rates, vacancies listed

Office occupancy and rental rates vary not only from community to community, but within a community as well. Location, age of the building and amenities all play roles.

Following are selected figures from the 1991 Feldman Report on the Greater Detroit Office Market.

Feldman emphasized that the numbers, derived from sources believed to be reliable, are representative of office buildings in the area and not all inclusive. Quoted rates don't necessarily end up as effective rates, he added.

BIRMINGHAM

Bingham Office Center — Telegraph south of 13 Mile; built in 1980; 528,000 square feet; 93 percent occupancy; rental rate of $13.50/square foot.

Rock Financial Building — Telegraph south of 13 Mile; built in 1988; 16,000 square feet; 71 percent occupancy; rental rate of $17/square foot.

Hunter Medical Building — 390 Park; built in 1986; 30,500 square feet; 85 percent occupancy; rental rate of $23.50/square foot plus electric.

Even though a soft suburban office market showed signs of solidifying last year, developers must resist the urge to launch a building boom in the immediate future, said Joel Feldman, a real estate consultant.

Seven Mile Crossing in Livonia, pictured here, is 91 percent occupied in Phase I and 62 percent occupied in Phase II, Feldman's report said.

Builders cancel Homearama

By GERAL FRAWLEY
staff writer

The belated plans of mice and men — and builders sometimes even the smallest of details can derail the most ambitious projects.

Example: a Homearama scheduled for the Clarkston area by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

The builders association was forced to cancel the first of two scheduled Homearamas for this year, not because of a worsening economy — as some might expect — but because of logistical problems and a lack of parking.

"It's not the economy — that would be the reverse of the situation," Homearama committee member Dennis Dickstein said. "The worse the economy, the more important the show is."

Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan president James Bonadeo said putting together a Homearama requires many things to come together — not the least of which is parking. On average, more than 100,000 people attend each Homearama.

Bonadeo admitted there are other complications with holding a Homearama at the Clarkston site but wouldn't elaborate. But he said none of the other complications couldn't be overcome if the parking problem was resolved.

BONADEO ADDED that he remains hopeful a Clarkston Homearama can still be pulled off, but it will take more time. "We're looking at the fall."

Developer William Gilbert of the Rochester development firm Gilbert & Vennettini said he believes parking problems could have been overcome, but there simply wasn't enough time to put together a Homearama.

Sheringham Place in Independence Township, Gilbert's site, has 74 lots — only 12 of which would have been used for Homearama — and he has additional property adjacent to the development. Two other nearby developments could have also served as parking, he said.

Homearama is canceled

"Parking could have been resolved, but the timing, that would have been a problem," he said. Gilbert said site development took longer than he expected.

"We didn't want to start something on paper that we couldn't do," he said. "There's no way we could get 12 builder homes done with all the landscaping and furnishing and have a first-rate development."

Delaying the Homearama until summer — typically one of the slowest times of the year for builders — was also not a desirable option, he said.

HOMEARAMA committee member Dickstein said the committee has discussed another

Clarkston area Homearama site, but unless an agreement and an arrangement for parking is made within the next 30 days, the builders association may have to pass on northern Oakland County until fall or next year.

"We'd still love to do something in the Clarkston area," Dickstein said. "The problem with some of our sites is they're so nice — rolling hills, trees, water — that we can't always accommodate on-site parking."

Developer Gilbert said the Clarkston area is an ideal location for single family housing. Several big name builders — including the Selective Group and Holtzman and Silverman, both in Farmington Hills, are taking a serious look at the area.

Fabric trends are undecided

(AP) — Furniture manufacturers are making major decisions about the fabrics they will use this season.

The Mississippi National Furniture Market has almost 30 fabric mills represented in their permanent fabric showrooms. More than 20 other fabric mills set up temporary showrooms for the Winter Tupelo Fabric Show that ended last week, said Ann Taylor, fabric show coordinator.

A salesman with a North Carolina-based fabric company said there was not enough business right now in the furniture industry for there to be trends.

He said the distinction between styles has gotten muddy through the years because manufacturers are creating less expensive versions of the more popular, higher-priced items to please all budgets.

Furniture manufacturers meeting with the various fabric companies agreed that there is a slump in the industry and they are searching for good values and new looks.

Ray Priest, with Horizon Furniture Industry of Athens, Tenn., said the highlight of the Tupelo fabric show is the promotional prices the fabric companies are offering.

"There are some very up-style fabrics, but the companies are giving them at a good price," Priest said. "And that allows us to pass the savings on to the customers."

Mike Caneer, with Hilline Manufacturers of Booneville, agreed that he was looking for good values, as well.

"With the economy the way it is," Caneer said. "The better value we can get, the better value the customer will get."

Jackie Groban, executive vice president with Shaw Manufacturers in Okolona, said he was looking for fabric that will sell to retailers and then to consumers.

"We will use whoever has the look," Groban said. "Don't ask me what the look is. I want the styles that zap me when I see them, so I know they will zap the retailers, too."

GROBAN SAID he had seen several fabrics that caught his attention during the first day of the fabric show. He said nylon velvet, or flock,

This room is enhanced by the natural finish of the wood ceiling.

Finish enhances wood

To enhance and protect the natural beauty of wood, nothing can compare to a clear finish.

Clear finishes bring out texture and natural grain while sealing the wood's porous fibers from stains, moisture and dirt.

The most commonly used finishes include penetrating oil, shellac, varnish and lacquer. The finish you choose depends on ease of application, durability and desired appearance. Penetrating oil is an in-surface finish while shellac, varnish and lacquer are on-surface finishes.

Proper surface preparation is especially important when working with clear finishes since they won't hide scratches and nicks. In fact, a clear finish often highlights surface defects as it accentuates the wood's grain.

Fill small holes and gouges with wood putty (patching compound). Choose a putty color that matches the wood, but remember the putty will darken slightly when the finish is applied. Remove dried glue, scratches and any minor surface imperfections with a hand or cabinet scraper and/or abrasive paper. Remember, the finish will only be as smooth as the bare wood.

Coated abrasives (sandpaper) come in various grit sizes (coarseness) and types. The abrasive papers used in woodworking are coated with garnet, aluminum oxide and silicon carbide grits. Abrasives range from coarse to extra fine. The grit numbers, which range from 40 to 600, refer to the number of abrasive particles per linear inch. The grit number system is the most helpful and widely used today. A third less abrasive grading order is the 0-grade system — fine-grade paper (150-grit) is listed as 4-0.

THE POROUS surface of the open-grained woods such as oak, ash, mahogany and walnut must be filled in order to obtain a smooth, glass-like finish. If, however, you prefer to have the wood's texture show through the finish, then skip the grain-filling step. Paste wood filler (not to be confused with patching compound), is used to fill the wood's pores.

Before application, thin the paste filler with benzene or naphtha to the consistency of thick oil paint.

The most commonly used finishes include penetrating oil, shellac, varnish and lacquer. The finish you choose depends on ease of application, durability and desired appearance. Penetrating oil is an in-surface finish while shellac, varnish and lacquer are on-surface finishes.

The section's theme? The same as before: what helps make the big day so special.

Thank attendants with a special gift

By Debbie Wallis Landau
special writer

ENGAGED COUPLES are so often on the receiving end of others' generosity. Parties and showers are hosted for them, newspaper photos are taken and congratulations rain down from every quarter.

In all but the smallest, most private ceremonies, however, no one's friendship, loyalty and patience can be tested as thoroughly as one's wedding attendants. Compromise is usually a given. Personal convenience is sacrificed for the needs or wishes of the bridal couple.

It can, and should, be a pleasure, therefore, for brides and grooms to thank their attendants with some token of appreciation.

How conventional or unusual, how lavish or modest the gift becomes is really guided by the couple's budget, the size of the bridal party and perhaps even their collective personalities.

Some ideas presented by area merchants offer widespread appeal and options for the most discriminating and indecisive shopper.

unusual gift possibilities. Many are, or will be, collector's pieces.

Joanne Cohen, store manager, says the nice thing about Ceci's is that bride's attendants can be given gifts that they wear during the ceremony and keep thereafter.

"Since so many brides care about a uniform look, they often want to select the same earrings or barrette for all attendants," she said. "We very frequently custom make earrings for a bride and a complementing earring to be worn by each of her bridesmaids."

Cohen points out fresh water pearls that are often fashioned into a contemporary looking spray. "It's beautiful but not overpowering. We can use some of the same pearls for a design for her attendants."

"Deco," "Victorian" or "Contemporary," brides can all be accommodated at Ceci's, says Cohen, because the choice of the materials to work with is generous.

"We have black and clear crystal, onyx, rhinestones, just to mention some stones," she said. "A lot of brides and grooms are coordinating all black and white weddings and the crystals and rhinestones are great accents for them."

If a non-jewelry item is preferred, Ceci's has choices in all price ranges. There are feminine boudoir accessories, as well as fabric-covered jewelry and music boxes. Hand-held, purse-sized mirrors crafted from mother of pearl, lacquer and silver are available, as are notepads and an address book with deco acrylic covers.

"The cosmetic brush sets are popular," Cohen said. "They come in a velour pouch, perfect for travel."

Also on hand are a selection of perfume bottles, in a variety of media, such as frosted glass or beaded chrome.

BY TRADITION, groomsmen don't seem to have the same fuss made over them, but that isn't so when it comes to being remembered for participating in one's weddings.

Honeymoon: trip of a lifetime

By Joan Boram
special writer

ACCORDING TO a recent survey made by Bride's magazine, 98 percent of the publication's readers took a honeymoon trip, and 18.7 percent took their honeymoon in the traditional month of June. That should settle the question of whether romance is alive and well in the 1990s!

Everyone has a different idea of the perfect magical place for a getaway, but it's certain that every bride wants "her" honeymoon to be the trip of a lifetime, even if she was well-traveled before the marriage ceremony.

Troy resident Pam Nikitas has been planning honeymoons at Joan Anderson Travel Service since 1966.

"The basic premise has never changed," she said. "A romantic spot is everyone's dream honeymoon. Of course, ideas differ as to what's romantic, and there are usually budget restrictions. Recently, I arranged a honeymoon trip to Bali and Hong Kong for 10 days — that's the most exotic trip I've ever booked. But how many couples can afford a trip like that?"

"What is different these days is that couples are older, say in their late 20s or early 30s, and there are more second marriages. These couples often have more money than younger couples. Also, everyone has traveled more in the '80s than in the '60s. A European trip is almost commonplace, and Hawaii is not an uncommon destination, either."

WHAT ARE the most popular destinations for these traditional, non-traditional couples? According to Bride's survey, 65 percent of readers travel outside the United States on their honeymoon. Most frequently, they go to Hawaii, the Virgin Islands, the Bahamas, Mexico or Caribbean destinations. Very often, they go on cruises.

"The popularity of these destinations is easy to understand," said Mary Connor of Plymouth Travel Consultants. "For one thing, they are often available as part of a package tour. Honeymooners like to know exactly how much they are going to spend. On an all-inclusive package tour, everything is included: food, drinks, entertainment, sporting activities, such as swimming, tennis, scuba diving.

"Another advantage of a package tour is that everything is taken care of for you. Honeymooners want to concentrate on one another; after all, that's the whole point of the trip. They don't want to have to worry about booking rooms, and making travel arrangements."

"There's a growing trend toward actually getting married at the honeymoon location," said Sally Trowbridge, Bride's travel editor. "Many countries, especially those in the Caribbean, are changing residency requirements to accommodate those who want the simplicity of elopement combined with a traditional ceremony. Jamaica, for example, has recently established a 24 hour residency requirement."

RANDY BALTA, of Joan Anderson Travel Service, has arranged several such ceremonies. "A client came in and said, 'I just want to get married; arrange it for me.'

"It was really simple: I just called the Morning Star Beach Club in St. Thomas (Virgin Islands). They arranged everything, from license to wedding breakfast. And then the

Weddings showcase flowers

By Debbie Wallis Landau
special writer

YESTERDAY'S WEDDINGS often had predictable floral arrangements. In the reception halls, rounded groupings of carnations might be flanked by votive candles. Or simpler yet, a single blossom in a bud vase would be in the center.

The bride would be carrying a more elaborate bouquet of carnations with baby's breath, or a richer yet traditional arrangement of stephanotis, ivy and white roses.

Those scenarios haven't totally disappeared. But they are diminished by an explosion of creativity, not just in the availability of exotic blossoms and greens used to decorate weddings but new trends in color and the innovative touches of modern designers.

Colors are more often bold, not muted. And whether the bride's choice is romantic, nostalgic Victorian, or clean, crisp contemporary style, today's florists are pulling out all the stops to give brides what they want.

"MOST OF our clientele hire us because of our style," said Laura Enzor, bridal consultant for Premier Designs in Livonia. "Our interpretation of traditional is a bit different from other designers. For one thing, we never dye flowers. If a color is unavailable, we would use ribbons to run an accent color through a bouquet or arrangement."

In her business, the trend toward contemporary weddings has translated into uses of brilliant flowers like Birds of Paradise. Traditionally unheard of color combinations of orange, pink or purple are often used.

"Calla lilies, one of the most popular modern flowers for the bride's bouquet in the 1980s, are now often replaced by Casablanca Lilies," Enzor said, "because the latter doesn't have as thick a stem and is easier to hold."

Premier Designs specializes in what Enzor calls the finishing touches to a wedding: facets that may not be considered essential to a complete wedding but add a touch of elegance and thoughtfulness to the overall decorating theme.

"I like to sprinkle rose petals and netting over the card table which holds guests' seating arrangements," she said. "In a powder room which is mirrored, we attach a suction cup with a spray of flowers off to one side of a mirror."

ENZOR HAS been challenged with unusual structural limitations.

"We've done weddings, for example, in the Mary Martha Chapel in Greenfield Village. There is no electricity in the chapel and we used candles in all the windows. Rather than using vases, we cascaded flowers out of crates placed in various parts of the room. It was a very romantic, airy look in a place that could have seemed austere."

Amy Wojtylo, manager of Flowers on the Main in Royal Oak, has witnessed a growing trend toward lavish floral arrangements in the hall or reception area, and less decorating of church and synagogue areas.

"There seems to be two trends occurring," she said. "One is that many brides are bringing in printed restrictions from churches requesting no pew bows and/or allowing only one centerpiece for the altar. Also, other than Catholic wedding ceremonies, which tend to be longer, families decide not to invest as much for the flowers during the service and they go all out for the party."

Wojtylo often contrasts table decor by alternating high-pedestal floral arrangements with low ones. She also is enthusiastic about the use of beautiful greenery.

"I do push contemporary arrangements because we can get dramatic, very beautiful designs for less money if budget is important," she said. "The greens and fillers available today are gorgeous, airy and distinctive."

WOJTYLO DOESN'T maintain price books in the store because she creates individually for each bride.

"I tell them to pick something they like and I will work within their price range."

At a private home she was hired to decorate for a wedding, Wojtylo draped garlands of springer or asparagus fern, with curling ribbon around a staircase. It was just one way to achieve a romantic look without a major floral expenditure.

"Whenever possible, I also like to advise brides to choose a wedding cake with just white icing," she said. "We can develop a very personal design using fresh flowers on the cake to tie in with the overall wedding theme."

IN PLYMOUTH, Wesley Berry Flowers owner Lynn Denhardt gets requests to complement black and white weddings.

"Over the past year, it seems about six to every 10 brides had attendants outfitted in black, tea length gowns. And instead of traditional bouquets, they wanted to carry a dozen red roses.

"In most cases, the mothers of the bride and groom still wore a corsage, but often they will be handed one rose instead," she said.

Like Wojtyla, Denhardt is using more high-pedestal arrangements for parties instead of the traditional mounded look.

Donna Schroeter, owner of Schroeter's Flowers in Farmington Hills, coordinates "at least 200 weddings a year." She echoes Denhardt's comment about black and white weddings.

"We often incorporate another trendy color, teal, into those weddings with ribbon," she said. "Our brides are asking for lilies, freesia and orchids. But we find our clientele is very mixed; we do have a lot of requests for traditional weddings here, too."

ARLENE CHERRIN, owner of Silk Florist in Birmingham and Southfield, provides a service that's becoming increasingly attractive to bridal parties. She travels all over North America for silk flowers and greens of high quality and is proud of the abundance of so many good American products.

"The choices in silk designs today are endless," she said. "There are many aspects of a wedding where silk can be used interchangeably, and more effectively, than fresh flowers."

Cherrin specializes in creating lovely, lasting hairpieces, boutonnieres and bouquets for the bride and groom, as well as their attendants and special family members.

"SILK HAIRPIECES are so much easier to maintain. Roses and baby's breath and peonies have always been popularly requested, but using fresh flowers on short or unswept hair is very difficult. We enjoy creating halos for children, using stephanotis in a circle and dangling ribbons from the circlet," Cherrin said.

With so many people marrying for a second time, children are very much part of today's wedding ceremonies. Grandmothers also love to have a wrist corsage for a memento, and bouquets tossed to a female relative will last forever, Cherrin said.

She has observed an increase in all-white wedding parties, with flowers used to bring in the color.

"This fresh look we're seeing is very brilliant, very intense. Blooms like laetris, freesia, all varieties of lilies and orchids are the rage now. There are also many Victorian-style weddings, with purples, pinks and whites. Instead of the upright flowers held by many contemporary brides, a Victorian bride might opt for a more traditional nosegay. We fashion all of these."

DID YOU know...

• Why is the diamond engagement ring worn on the third finger of the left hand?

Ancient people believed that the vein of the third finger of the left hand ran directly to the heart. Medieval bridegrooms placed the ring on three of the bride's fingers in turn, to symbolize the Trinity: "The Father, The Son and The Holy Spirit."

The ring remained on the third finger and that has since become the customary ring finger for all English-speaking cultures.

• Why are diamonds considered the ultimate symbol of love?

Nature invests millions of years of great heat and pressure to crystallize a single diamond, the hardest natural substance known to man. Found in its natural octahedral form, a diamond appears as two pyramids base to base, which in the early ages, could not be split.

Thus the diamond became a natural symbol of an impenetrable bond, representing enduring and eternal love. The mysterious inner fire of a diamond was likened by some to love's passion.

• Why does a bride wear a veil?

Originally, the bride's veil symbolized her youth and virginity. Early Christian brides wore white indicating purity and celebration or blue, symbolizing the Virgin Mary's purity.

It is said that Nellie Curtis, Martha Washington's granddaughter, set the fashion for the lacy white veil of today, when she chose to wear a long scarf to her wedding. Her decision stemmed from the flattering comment her fiance made after glimpsing her through a lace curtain at an open window.

• Why does the bride wear white?

White has been a symbol of celebration since Roman times. In Victorian times, it was also a sign of affluence, but by the turn of the century, the idea of white as a sign of purity took precedence.

• Why does the bride carry a handkerchief?

It is a symbol of luck. According to folklore, farmers thought a bride's wedding day tears were lucky and brought rain for their crops. Later, a crying bride meant that she would never shed another tear as a result of her marriage.

• Why a wedding cake?

Cake has been a part of wedding celebrations since Roman times, when a thin loaf of bread was broken over the bride's head at the close of the ceremony. The wheat from which it was made symbolized fertility; the crumbs were eagerly sought by the guests as good luck charms.

Contemporary wedding customs adapted from "The Bride's Book of Etiquette" from the editors of "Bride's" magazine.

Helping plan your honeymoon

honeymoon began!"

"In Fiji," Trowbridge said, "a couple can be married in a native ceremony, the bride and groom wrapped together in a ceremonial cloth."

After Florida (14.8 percent),

Pennsylvania (6.2 percent) is the most popular honeymoon destination within the United States for Bride's readers. "The Poconos have made a big comeback," Nikitas said.

It's not hard to see why. The four Caesars Pocono Resorts, set on a total of 810 acres in the Pocono Mountains, specialize in indulging the most romantic fantasies.

Most popular of the amenities offered are the Champagne Tower Suites. Each four-level suite includes a seven-foot, champagne-glass, whirlpool bath, a heart-shaped pool, a dry sauna, a steam bath for two, a massage table, two televisions, a refrigerator and a king-size round bed, for which a mirrored canopy is available.

AND, SPEAKING of fantasies, one couple recently said "I do" in the seven-foot, champagne-glass whirlpool. The bride wore a veil and a bathing suit, the groom complemented her in white trunks and a white bow tie. Surrounded by bubbles, the Kansas City couple became husband and wife in an otherwise traditional ceremony.

Caesars Resorts offers four wedding packages ranging from simple ($75) to the spectacular ($17,000). Individual special requirements are honored, from horse-drawn carriage rides to specially designed wedding cakes... to getting married in a champagne glass!

For couples who just want a leisurely time at a leisurely pace, Mary Connor of Plymouth Travel suggests a country inn in California's wine country.

"There are a lot of small inns there, from six to 20 rooms, and many of them are beautifully appointed with antiques and period rooms.

"These inns are becoming increasingly popular with honeymooners. They rent a car and tour the countryside, staying at inns along the way."
