Board critics deny starting recall drive

Mounting opposition to Wayne-Westland school board members apparently has sparked interest in a recall effort, though some of the board's harshest critics Tuesday denied any involvement.

No group or individual had claimed responsibility Tuesday for a classified advertisement that appeared in local newspapers, seeking members for a committee to recall board members and circulate petitions to replace school Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's administration.

The ad, directed at "concerned citizens" of the school district, merely gave a Wayne mailing address. It appeared in the Westland Observer and the Eagle.

Leaders of the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee denied placing the ad, though Chairman David Moranty suggested as recently as March 13 that elected board members and appointed administrators should consider quitting their posts.

"We are not involved in a recall," Moranty's wife, Joan, said Tuesday, adding that she did not know who was behind the effort.

Moranty had suggested on March 13 — the evening that a school board-proposed tax increase narrow-

School board split on timing of June tax vote

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Wayne-Westland school board members, reeling from the March 13 millage defeat, appear deeply divided over whether to return to voters in June with another tax hike proposal.

Board president Mathew McCusker on Monday became the only board member to strongly support reviving a proposed 7.75-mill tax increase on June 10.

"This is one board member who says yes," McCusker said during a board meeting at which some millage supporters demanded the board renew its fight for a tax increase to avert severe program cuts.

"I'm willing to go back next week, the week after that, and the week after that until we pass it," he added.

Board member Leonard Posey, however, appeared doubtful that millage supporters could win the support of a majority of school district voters on June 10.

"I don't think we could do it," Posey said. An informal poll by the Observer revealed that other board members, including Kathleen Chorbagan, Sharon Scott, Andrew Spisak, Michael Reddy and Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, haven't decided whether they support another tax proposal so soon.

SOME HAD indicated earlier they would prefer to wait until the fall, after district voters feel the crunch of such budget cuts as eliminating busing, reducing the high school instructional day, slashing all sports programs and trimming the district's workforce by 100 employees.

"There's no doubt we need more money," Spisak said, though he remained undecided on a June proposal.

McCusker strongly favors renewing the millage proposal, despite the possible impact it could have on his re-election bid on June 10. Scott and Reddy also are up for re-election.

Wiacek had wanted a split millage proposal on March 13 to let voters decide separately whether to approve a 2.75 operating millage, which would have amounted to a renewal, and an additional 5-mill increase. But other board members lumped the pro-

School cuts spur parents to demand June tax vote

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Wayne-Westland students and parents angered by pending budget cuts demanded Monday night that the school board place another tax increase proposal on the June 10 ballot.

But board members appeared split on the issue Monday, just 12 days after voters narrowly defeated a tax increase in a fiery election that has fueled an increasingly bitter public debate.

The tax battle raged as 350 people stormed a board meeting Monday night at John Glenn High School's auditorium, where the first post-election session was held to accommodate the inflamed, standing-room-only crowd.

"WE NEED more money. We've got to put this back on the ballot, and we've got to try harder," said Robin Cowan, a Westland mother of three.

John Glenn students signed 800 petitions calling on the board to ask for a 7.75-mill tax increase at the June 10 election for three board members.

Voters upset with board members should try to oust them in June, but shouldn't let their anger defeat another request to raise property taxes, said Kevin Tomaszewski, a member of the John Glenn's Save Our Schools student committee. "This is your chance to punish the school board instead of the students."

Fred Hagelthorn, among 26 people to address the board, urged its members to unite behind another request to raise property taxes. He singled out board member Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, who has suggested seeking a smaller tax increase.

HAGELTHORN ACCUSED Wiacek of siding with city officials because of her job as director of the city's senior resource department. Hagelthorn last week led a

School tax foe accused of carrying out 'vendetta'

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

The leader of a Wayne-Westland citizens group that opposed a property tax increase has threatened to sue a school board member who accused him Monday of having "a vendetta" against the school district.

David Moranty, chairman of the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, indicated he may file a suit against school board member Kathleen Chorbagan after he reviews a tape recording of statements she made during a Monday night meeting.

Chorbagan lashed out at Moranty, saying his vehement opposition to school officials stems from his pent-up anger over being ousted from his former school board position in 1985. Moranty served a four-year term before voters didn't re-elect him.

"This man has a vendetta," Chorbagan said, adding later, "I truly believe that he has sworn to get even (with school officials) and with the entire community."

"We have allowed his vendetta to grow and grow," she said. "That much hate can consume many people, and it grows and grows."

MORANTY HEADS the citizens group that successfully fought for the narrow defeat of a school board-proposed tax increase in the March 13 election. He has demanded more accountability from board members and Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's administration.

But Chorbagan, who was on the board during Moranty's term, said she knew him and that his opposition to school officials arose from his election defeat.

Chorbagan and other school officials have accused Moranty and other members of the citizens group for harming school programs by continuing to strongly oppose higher taxes needed to avert massive budget cuts.

"HOW CAN you hate education?" Chorbagan asked during Monday night's school board meeting. "How can you hate children?"

crowd of 100 people that swarmed a city council session to blast Mayor Robert Thomas for opposing the March 13 property-tax-increase proposal.

"Sylvia, your opposition to this last millage proposal was right in line with the city administration for which you work," Hagelthorn said. "We must remind you that as a member of this school board, your responsibility is to the children of this community and not to the city administration."

Wlasek later responded that she didn't oppose the 7.75-mill tax-increase request, though she conceded she believed voters would have favored a smaller increase.

"I always say a half a loaf of bread is better than none," she said.

Board members must regain public trust before expecting a large tax increase to pass, Wlasek said.

"We have to show credibility and accountability," she said.

Hagelthorn received a standing ovation from some audience members after he attacked the anti-tax-increase Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee and advised its members, "It's time to put up or shut up."

MARTI MOLITOR, a Westland mother of six, asked board members to attack the budget crunch by renegotiating a contract with teachers and reducing the 11.9-percent pay increase they received over two years.

When her family has a tight budget, she said, "we don't continue to spend what we don't have."

Board President Mathew McCusker, responding later to Molitor, strongly indicated that no efforts will be made to renegotiate a teacher contract. "There's a stronger possibility of me walking on water," he said.

Molitor reminded board members that many district residents are laid off from their jobs. "There are people who will not eat if they pay $20 more a month (in taxes)."

Parent Denise Thomas was among several parents who voiced concerns that special education programs will suffer from budget cuts.

"DON'T SHORTCHANGE my child to guarantee that there will be benefits for teachers," she said.

Wayne resident Steve Lind attacked a memo that school Superintendent Dennis O'Neill sent to his staff, in part telling them defeat of the tax-increase stemmed from "a senseless war being waged against the kids by an uninformed few."

Lind stressed that nearly 15,000 people voted in the election, rejecting higher taxes 51.6 percent to 48.4 percent. School officials have said the failure to raise property taxes will force them to make massive budget cuts, such as eliminating busing, reducing the high school instructional day and cutting nearly 100 jobs.

THE VEHEMENT opposition to higher school taxes upset Cathy Keyes, a Save Our Schools committee member, who said Monday, "This makes me sick to be somebody from Westland."

Several students blamed voters for ignoring students' needs in refusing to raise property taxes.

"Tears come from my eyes when I hear how selfish this is," said Karen Deschaine, a John Glenn sophomore.

Eleventh-grader Alicia Embury agreed and said, "I want my education. I want to go to college. I want to go to (graduate) school."

Embury urged people who want taxes increased and their critics to bury their differences. "Be on your children's side," she said.

heavy fire in recent weeks for proposing a 7.75-mill tax increase that would pump an additional $11.9 million into district coffers to avert budget cuts such as the elimination of busing and all athletic programs.

Much of the criticism has centered on the board's approval in February of a negotiated contract giving teachers an 11.9 percent pay raise over two years — a move that will cost the district $4 million.

Members of the Morantys-led citizens group, among others, have lashed out at school officials for granting teacher raises amid threats of severe program cuts affecting the district's nearly 17,000 students.

The latest recall effort comes 8½ years after four former school board members — Mary Arbour, Ken 3th Marshall, Mildred Batterson and Donald Rusnock — were recalled for approving teacher raises of 16 percent over two years. That recall group, in its ballot language, claimed that "the financial and high tax conditions of the district and its taxpayers were not considered."

Some current board members were appointed to the board after the 1982 recall that was approved during a special election.

Three of seven board members — president Mathew McCusker, vice president Sharon Scott and trustee Mike Reddy — are up for re-election, June 10.

As word of the potential recall spread this week, school officials defended their performance and voiced concerns that a recall effort would cause even deeper divisions in a community split on the need for higher taxes.

"I THINK we've done a decent job," McCusker said. "We're not infallible. They (voters) don't elect popes."

Trustee Andrew Spisak labeled recalls "destructive" and said, "I don't think any recall is good for anybody. Recalls are divisive. They tear us apart. I hope we don't have one."

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said the last recall caused disruption that he hopes will not be repeated.

posals together. (One mill represents $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.)

"I'd have to see what the (June) proposal is going to be before I could make a decision whether to support it," Wlasek said Monday.

THE MARCH 13 defeat marked the third millage loss in 13 months, though two proposals last year were rejected by much wider margins. The latest plan was turned down 51.6 percent to 48.4 percent.

The proposal would have raised $11.5 million a year to restore programs and services cut last year and to avert pending budget cuts. The millage would have been levied for five years.

A hero's welcome

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photographer

It was an emotional reunion Monday night at Metro Airport for Willetta Bandy and her son, Air Force reservist Scott Bandy, who came home from the Persian Gulf.

Family showers returning area Air Force reservist with love

By Tim Smith
staff writer

Westland's Alicia Harper helped welcome home her cousin, an Air Force reservist stationed in the Persian Gulf, when he was greeted by other relatives Monday night.

Scott Bandy, 21, strode proudly through the airport terminal about 9:30 p.m. into the waiting entourage of family and friends — many waving American flags and banners proclaiming "Welcome Home, Scott."

The senior airman, deployed in early December, returned amid the kind of cheers and emotion usually reserved for rock stars and winning sports teams. He noticed,

"We knew we'd be accepted, but we had no idea it (the reception) would be this large," Bandy said, who was wearing a dark blue Air Force uniform and beret.

THE FIRST person to reach Bandy, understandably, was his mother, Willetta Bandy. Not far behind was his father, Gaylon, who was stationed during the late 1960s in Korea; and grandparents Phyllis and James Bandy, the latter who served during World War II.

"He's staying with us," a teary-eyed Willetta Bandy said about her son, who will probably stay for about two weeks and then return to Hill Air Force Base in Ogden, Utah. "His dad took off two days from work.

We're planning to spend some time with him."

Willetta wore her heart on her sweater, namely a badge including Scott's photo and the phrase "One Star In The Storm." She said regular telephone and mail communication with the reservist helped get the family through the painful waiting.

Faith helped, too, she said. "I was just praying and praying that he'd come home safely."

Also waiting in the lobby to hug their hero were many other family members, some who contributed interesting messages to a large white greeting placard they signed while waiting for Bandy's plane to arrive from Dallas, Texas.

"Welcome Back From Hell, Welcome Home To Hell," read one of the messages. Another inquired "How Does It Feel To Be My Hero?"

SCOTT'S NIECE, 1-year-old Amanda Hines, also was among the happy entourage. "He's only seen her once before," Gaylon Bandy said.

Before returning to duty, Scott Bandy said he will probably return to Southfield High — where he first signed up for the Junior Reserve Officers' Training Corps. — and talk to students about his war experience.

"What I'll tell them is, being in the back lines (as an Air Force Security policeman), even though there doesn't appear to be a threat, it is, because of terrorists," Bandy said.

"There's always that unexpected factor. The boredom was tough, but not knowing what to expect was tougher."

Bandy also recalled what it was like dealing with the hot, muggy, dusty living conditions — which sometimes meant spending nights in fox holes.

"The only way to keep something from getting sand on it was to put it in Zip Lock bags."

Although Bandy said he could not divulge much information about his job in the Gulf, he noted that it was reassuring to see bomber planes return to the base.

"IT WAS a good feeling knowing that our planes were returning safely," he said. "Basically to survive to fight another day."

Although Bandy said the mail and phone calls from home often boosted his spirits, nothing did more for morale than President George Bush's decision to go forward with Operation Desert Storm on Jan. 15.

"All the politics were set aside and he just let us do our job and do it well," Bandy said.

The advice of his grandfather, World War II veteran James Bandy, also helped.

"My grandfather spoke to me a lot about World War II," the younger Bandy said. "He told me all the time to keep my head down."

Police brutality rare in city

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Police brutality claims investigated in Westland have revealed no incidents as jolting as the Los Angeles police beating, and most local cases have been settled out of court or dismissed.

In a recent case, a Westland man who had attempted suicide accused police of brutality when he was struck during a scuffle that broke out as he tried to grab an officer's gun. Police had been called to the scene.

"The officer hit him," said Westland Police Chief Paul Schnarr.

The complainant received a "relatively small" out-of-court settlement, though police never admitted liability in the incident, said City Attorney C. Charles Bokos. He declined to say how much money the man received.

In another case, dismissed in Westland District Court, an off-duty police officer had faced a felony assault charge after he was accused of putting his police revolver "down a guy's throat" outside a bar, said David Wlasek, court administrator.

The officer had tried to stop the man from breaking into a car, and the two became embroiled in a heated argument, Wlasek said. However, the defendant's case didn't go to trial and, instead, was dismissed during a preliminary examination in district court, he said.

Schnarr conceded that if the police department becomes the target of a lawsuit, police brutality "is usually one of the charges." But in his 24 years with the department, including more than two years as police chief, Schnarr could not recall any major cases of confirmed police brutality.

"We don't condone that," he said.

POLICE BRUTALITY sparked a national outrage after Los Angeles police were captured on videotape March 3 as they beat Rodney King, kicked him and shocked him with a stun gun.

Four officers, including a supervising sergeant, have been charged with felony assault. King, a motorist stopped by police, has sued the city for $56 million.

Schnarr called the incident "terrible."

"From what I could see, even if the man resisted arrest, there was no reason for what they (police officers) did," he said. "If they're guilty of all that, they deserve to be charged."

The Westland Police Department has made a videotape of the beating to show to local officers, Schnarr said.

Though Bokos said the city has paid for out-of-court settlements involving allegations of excessive force, he added that "we're reasonably free of these kinds of claims."

Most police brutality allegations stem from cases in which the offenders are seeking a lenient sentence, Bokos said.

"THEY FIGURE that it will benefit them in terms of how strongly they are prosecuted," he said, but added, "There have been absolutely no cases of founded claims of police brutality (in Westland) in modern memory."

Schnarr said most allegations emerge from situations in which police, in an effort to protect themselves or control an unruly offender, become involved in minor, virtually unavoidable scuffles. Some complainants later say they were handcuffed too tightly or treated roughly.

In many cases, the city decides to settle out of court to avoid becoming embroiled in a lengthy, expensive court trial, Bokos said. But the local police department never accepts liability for the allegations, he said.

Some people, when arrested, threaten to file a police brutality complaint, but then decide against it, Bokos said. "It's a tactic."

WHEN THE city receives a report of police brutality, the complainant is asked to fill out a citizen complaint form. Allegations then would be investigated by the department's internal affairs section, Bokos said.

Large settlements would be paid by the Michigan Municipal Risk Authority, a self-insuring authority that covers some 300 Michigan cities. The city would have to pay the first $50,000 of a settlement, while the authority would pick up the remaining tab.

Panel freezes salaries for officials

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

A plan to let elected Westland officials reduce their pay to as little as $1 a year was dropped Tuesday as a local salary-setting panel agreed — for a third time — to freeze maximum salaries at their current levels.

City attorney C. Charles Bokos told the Local Officers' Compensation Commission that it did not need to adopt a resolution allowing Mayor Robert Thomas and the seven city council members to lower their salaries if they so choose.

Elected officials already have the authority to refuse part of their pay and turn it over to the city, Bokos said.

Bokos' comments came as the LOCC met for a third time in an attempt to straighten out the legal wording of resolutions it passed in an attempt to establish current salaries for elected officials.

Earlier, the panel had agreed that elected officials could lower their salaries to as low as $1 a year by notifying the city council between March 1 and April 1 of each year.

"It never should have been an issue (with the LOCC)," Bokos said Tuesday, after the LOCC met for a brief session.

MEANWHILE, THE LOCC reiterated its intent for a two-year freeze on salaries for the mayor and city council members — a move that elected officials have said they favor.

Current salaries are $68,310 for Mayor Robert Thomas, $11,051 for council President Thomas Brown, $10,551 for council president pro tem Kenneth Mehl, and $10,051 for council members Charles Pickering, Ben Delfart, Terry Reighard Johnson, Thomas Artley and Sandra Cicirelli.

Meanwhile, LOCC members indicated during Tuesday's session that the city council doesn't have the authority to disband the panel — a suggestion proposed by Pickering during a recent city council meeting.

Pickering had indicated city council members should assume control of setting their salaries and the mayor's salary, saying LOCC members have come under too much political pressure from elected officials.

But LOCC members said Tuesday that the city council could not take the action. Even though elected officials can reject part of their pay, state law prohibits them from having control over setting their own salary levels, LOCC members said.

Schools to borrow $2.5 million

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

The Wayne-Westland School Board will borrow $2.5 million because of a budget crunch it blames on state officials.

The move, approved Monday night, marks the first time in five years the district has had to borrow money to keep operating.

Elwood (Woody) London, the district's finance director, blamed the budget problems on a delay of $2.3 million that the state had expected to turn over to the district by Aug. 1.

That payment has been delayed until Oct. 1 as state officials grapple with their own budget crunch, London said.

Board member Kathleen Chorbagan, addressing the audience during Monday's board meeting, said much of the district's financial woes can be attributed to the state.

"If you have blame, some of it must fall on Lansing," she said.

Chorbagan voiced dismay that the district will be forced to pay interest on the loan that would not have been necessary had the state paid the $2.3 million to the district on time.

The last time the school board was forced to borrow money, it took out a $2 million loan. One year earlier, the board had borrowed $5 million.

IN OTHER financial matters Monday, the board approved a 3.5-percent wage increase this year for the 180 para-professionals employed by the district. The pay increase came after the district and the employees' union reached a negotiated settlement on a salary reopener that had been called for in the third year of a contract.

The raises, retroactive to Aug. 28, marked a 3.5-percent increase on the hourly wage of $9.47 that para-professionals had been paid. Para-professionals include classroom aides for special education and vocational classes.

"We think it's a very equitable contract," London said. Money already had been set aside for the pay raises, he said.

The contract marked the second union group that has received a negotiated settlement with school officials. The board already had approved a contract giving teachers an 11.9-percent raise over two years.

The board still has not settled with unions representing bus drivers, custodians, cafeteria workers, secretaries and principals, among other workers.

Plymouth defends dullsville title

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Is Plymouth dull?

And singled out for special dullness among metro Detroit's suburbs is our fair city.

In the article, John Barron wrote, "Many, for instance, might consider the vast tracts of Livonia or Warren to be dull."

"Wrong. By metro Detroit standards, they're minor-league bland. For full-bore dullness, cast your gaze toward Plymouth."

"Quaint, unrelenting traditionalism, unrelieved small town charm. The city works hard to duplicate a simpler, less complicated age.

"Plymouth is dull and proud."

Plymouth-ites who have read the article responded with mixed reactions.

Most, like Penniman Deli owner Russ Webster, said dull isn't so bad.

"I think it's kind of dull and that's good," Webster said. "If you want excitement, go somewhere else."

City Commissioner Jerry Vorva commented, "All I can say is the author was looking the wrong way, or maybe he was in Northville."

"Plymouth is an exciting place with all the activities that take place — the fall festival, the ice festival, arts in the park."

After reading the comment about Plymouth, downtown businessman Fred Hill asked, "Isn't that great?" and laughed.

"I don't think they're necessarily implying that it's bad. We have a little slower pace."

"They chose the word dull. I would choose something else — tranquil, relaxed," he said. "Why do you go to a beach — because it's tranquil," Hill added.

"I think that's awesome," said former county commissioner Bill Joyner, of Plymouth Township. "I don't view that as being negative at all."

"Dull means depth, strength, substance, as opposed to glitz, style and superficiality," Joyner said.

After reading the article, Sharon Thomas, city housing director, said, "Oh! They're kidding — No!"

"I just think this is the greatest town," she said, adding there's something to do for every age group.

"If you want to put it this way, thank God it's dull," she said. "Who'd want to live in a party town?"

Burton Gallery owner Sharon Burton asked, "Well, what's exciting?"

"There's not a lot of night life, I think we can agree with that. But Plymouth is just alive, it's a great place to live."

Burton said she recently spoke to a woman writing a guidebook to Michigan. "She's going to include Plymouth because it's interesting."

Mayflower Hotel co-owner Creon Smith wasn't happy with the designation. "I can't imagine them taking time to make a comment like that with all the problems they have in Detroit," he said.

"We are the nucleus holding Detroit up," Smith said, adding, "They could use some of the dullness."

Bush, Tracey Brichita and Kris Doudt also attended the anti-substance abuse program rally Tuesday in Detroit.

Project Graduation kids cut loose — within limits

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

It had all the makings of a celebration — a four-piece band pumped out rock music, while banner-waving youngsters sang, clapped and danced in the aisles.

The youngsters, participants in Project Graduation programs at area high schools, had something to celebrate, too.

Alcohol-related deaths are down among teenagers, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control, with drivers 15-17 posting the biggest decrease.

The new statistics weren't lost on any speakers or participants who kicked off 1991 Project Graduation activities Tuesday at Masonic Auditorium, Detroit.

Project Graduation aims to reduce drinking and drug use among area high school students. The 40 percent drop in teen drunk driving deaths from 1982-89 was seen as evidence the program, and others like it, are working.

"WE'RE GETTING the feeling we're making a difference," said Sandi Wolf, director of Wayne County Mothers Against Drunk Driving, a sponsor of Project Graduation activities.

Part pep rally, part heart-to-heart discussion, Tuesday's program aimed to pump up participants, getting them to spread the anti-drinking, anti-drug message among classmates.

The entertainment, including a high-stepping rap group, and several hyper disc jockeys, didn't obscure the message.

"It was fun," said Charles Smith Jr. of Southfield High. "But they got their message across."

Charity Claramunt said it was the message, not the entertainment, that she would remember most.

"They had an emergency room doctor who spoke about what she sees as a result of drugs and drunk driving and she was pretty effective," the Redford Union student said.

Other serious moments included a moment of silence for all youngsters killed through drug- or alcohol-related illness and injuries. Banners, specially prepared for the occasion by Redford Thurston students, bore the names of those who died.

But Tuesday's rally was mostly a high-energy affair. Audience members were encouraged to shout, stomp and generally cut loose and they responded — making an Arsenio Hall Show audience seem almost comatose in comparison.

More than 3,000 youngsters, from an estimated 60 area high schools, attended the event.

The sharing of youthful energy served a valuable purpose, organizers said.

"These are kids who sometimes may feel they're in

Gov: Tigers should stay in city

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Until now, Gov. John Engler has sided with economic developers. Last week the Republican conservative showed signs of concern about urban sprawl.

Engler told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments he wants to preserve the old Tiger Stadium, promised to appoint a liaison to SEMCOG and indicated a concern about the cost of new development in open fields.

"I would prefer that the stadium stay in Detroit. I'd actually prefer that Tiger Stadium be fixed, if it can be," he replied to Detroit council member Maryann Mahaffey. The SEMCOG General Assembly greeted the remark with warm applause.

"If there's redevelopment or development of a new site, I don't think there'll be state money involved in that."

IN HIS 1990 campaign, candidate Engler said Michigan's problem is not controlling growth but obtaining it.

But in a speech to SEMCOG, a seven-county agency seeking to cool urban sprawl in a time of little population growth, Engler shifted his ground a little.

"I would like to see an expansion of the enterprise zone concept... to bring growth and investment back," he said.

In an enterprise zone, taxes on new investment are reduced to near zero to lure businesses into blighted areas. The idea is preached by Jack Kemp, secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

Engler said an enterprise zone experiment in Benton Harbor had "mixed reviews."

"We don't have a growth problem in too many of our communities. You look at Michigan in the 1980s, and we gained only 33,000 people in the entire state."

TO SOUTHFIELD Mayor Don Fracassi's plea that he appoint a staff link to SEMCOG, Engler said he would.

"I don't have a name for you yet," Engler said, noting he has cut his staff 40 percent compared to former Gov. James Blanchard.

"I'd like to appoint myself. But we are looking at someone. We have to settle a couple of issues relative to our southeast Michigan office," said Engler, in office 11 weeks.

"We will have someone readily identifiable and, more importantly, more accessible for you to deal with," he told Fracassi.

ENGLER TOLD SEMCOG delegates — all either elected or top appointed officials in local government — he would welcome their ideas on growth policy.

"One of the things you've focussed on is the cost of delivery of services to undeveloped areas, particularly when the cost has been borne once, and there's an opportunity to re-utilize prior investment."

"Should we support the development of greenfields, or should that expense be borne not at all by state government or even local taxpayers?"

"It frequently comes to a head when someone says, 'Fine — your choice is not whether I go here or there but whether I go to Michigan or not in Michigan.' That raises the stakes."

"I happen to be an advocate for an organization like this (SEMCOG). Someone said, 'Enough to pay for it?' Well, I'm not that much of an advocate," he said to loud laughter.

"We ought to set in place state policies that will reward the maximum cooperation (with local planners) and be less helpful to those brave souls that wish to go it alone."

Pointing to his own home area of Mount Pleasant, Engler deplored federal, state and local spending on two utility systems, "one encircling the other."

SEMCOG is half-way through a yearlong study of the impact of urban sprawl on governmental infrastructure and society. Delegates last week learned that the region's population has actually shrunk 90,000 in the last 10 years.

the minority in their schools," Wolf said. "Here, they can look around and see that there's thousands of other students who share their beliefs."

It also showed, as several speakers were quick to point out, that youngsters didn't need alcohol or drugs to have a good time.

Project Graduation, is a collaborative effort between WTVS-TV, Detroit and area 7-Eleven stores.

Project representatives are available to help students group organize and plan activities.

"We're there to help, but we really want the students to take leadership themselves," Wolf said.

7-Eleven is the program's major corporate sponsor. The long list of additional sponsors includes Birmingham-Bloomfield Families in Action, Wayne and Oakland county regional school agencies, the Oakland County health Department, Wayne County Prosecutor's Office and Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, as well as other private and public agencies.

Additional information on Project Graduation is available by calling Agnes Scott, WTVS vice president for special services, 876-8379 or Sandi Wolf at Wayne County MADD, 422-6233.

Senate bill would make assisted suicide a felony

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The state Senate moved toward making assisting a suicide a four-year felony amid warnings that the bill goes too far.

Senate Bill 42 was passed 26-8 last week but faces an uncertain future in the House.

"In enforcement, it's going to be obvious the only ones you can prosecute are doctors and hospitals," said Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Deerborn, who voted no. "People every day are permitting their loved ones to just pass away."

THE BILL also was opposed by Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, who advocated a study commission to look at ethical, legal and scientific issues in helping a dying person end life.

"I got 16 votes to tie my study to this bill," Honigman said, indicating that support for the bill is softer than indicated by the vote.

All other area senators voted yes except Democrats William Faust of Westland and Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills, who had excused absences.

Sponsored by Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, Senate Bill 32 would make it a felony to encourage or help anyone to commit suicide. Penalties would be a $2,000 fine, four years in prison or both.

The target of the bill is Dr. Jack Kevorkian, a retired Royal Oak pathologist who used his "suicide machine" to help a fatally ill Oregon woman end her life in an Oakland County park.

A murder charge against Kevorkian was tossed out of one court, but a circuit judge has slapped an injunction on his further use of the heart-stopping machine.

SUPPORTER Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, warned that without a new law "we'll make a new industry in this state. We'll have a motto: 'Welcome to Michigan. We'll help kill you,'" Welborn said.

"Dr. Kevorkian is the lightning rod," said opponent Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing. "This bill says anybody who provides means or access — not just Kevorkian or doctors."

In the House, the bill will likely go to the Judiciary Committee, headed by Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor. Bullard sneers openly at any bill supported by the "so-called Right to Life" organization.

One possible scenario: Bullard will seek action on his "living will" in exchange for support of Dillingham's assisted suicide bill. The living will allows a person to prescribe the limits of medical treatment should he or she become unable to make decisions.

Tighter state licensing for proprietary schools

By Tim Richard
staff writer

In an era of deregulation, customers and businesses agree one area needs tighter state licensing — proprietary schools.

"In nine months, we were supposed to cover 15 areas of law," Terry Lemerand of Waterford Township told a state House committee last week. "We covered five areas."

The former Clarenceville resident told a series of horror stories about a now defunct school for paralegals in Pontiac:

- An entire course was started over after new students enrolled.
- Only three students in a large class ever were able to get jobs as paralegals, and there was virtually no counseling.
- Students were promised judges and lawyers as teachers, but only one person ever taught all the classes.
- The school turned out to be unaccredited by any accrediting agency.
- 40 percent of the material on a criminal law test was never taught in class.

LEMERAND said she's suing the proprietor for fraud, breach of contract and sexual harassment. She said he's countersuing her.

"I'm now going to Oakland Community College and planning to transfer to Madonna College (in Livonia)," said Lemerand.

She told the House Colleges and Universities Committee she paid $2,600 cash for the program and didn't get her money's worth.

Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, panel chair, said looking at proprietary schools would be the committee's chief task this session.

Michigan saw an explosive growth in proprietary schools, said the man charged with regulating them.

"The schools licensed by the department (of education) have increased from 160 with 23,000 students in the early 1970s to almost 300 enrolling perhaps 50,000 or more today," said Ronald L. Root.

"The licensure unit has consisted of one or two staff over these years who must regulate an educational system with three times the number of schools as our college and university system contains," said Root, director of higher education management services.

He called for higher inspection fees because state funding for his program was eliminated three years ago.

And he called current law "extremely weak" and lacking penalties for non-compliance.

Root said mushrooming federal aid in the early 1970s led to the growth of privately-operated schools teaching mainly vocational programs. "Many do an excellent job and provide quality educational services," he said.

But the bad apples have resulted in many students' defaulting on loans, forcing some schools to shut their doors and leaving paying students out in the cold.

ANDREW VIGNONE, of the Michigan Organization of Private Vocational Schools, said some schools have low standards.

Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, told of speaking to a business school graduating class where the highest paid person would be making only $17,000 a year and the average $12,000. But students had taken out "huge loans" to qualify for such low-paying jobs, she said.

"Congress has tilted student aid to loans," Vignone replied.

FRANK PAONE, former dean of the Detroit College of Business, said private schools began their own accrediting organization in 1957 because the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools would accredit only liberal arts and nonprofit schools.

Paone said the Association of Independent Colleges and Schools became an accrediting agency after receiving that power from the federal government. The schools themselves fund accrediting expenses.

Stadium unwelcome in western Wayne

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

A suburban stadium for the Detroit Tigers would be about as welcome as crab grass, say community leaders in western Wayne and Oakland counties. While the professional baseball team hasn't yet announced a new stadium site, Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships have joined Novi in pulling up the welcome mat.

"They just don't want them," said Susan Heintz, vice chairwoman of the Wayne County Commission and a former Northville Township supervisor.

"In a sense it's a growth issue, a development issue," Heintz said, with many community leaders fearful a suburban stadium will bring unwanted growth and traffic tie-ups.

"Our feeling is we already had a fairly large traffic generator with 12 Oaks Mall," Novi City Manager Edward Kriewall said. "We didn't want another."

Novi city officials made headlines in February when they unanimously passed a resolution urging the Tigers to look elsewhere.

That resolution was "a philosophical statement," Kriewall said. "The feeling was, we should take a stand on it as a regional issue."

Whatever its intent, other communities have followed suit.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP passed a similar resolution Feb. 26. While it has no force of law, officials said they hoped the resolution would discourage the Tigers from picking a Plymouth Township site.

"We were getting calls from our residents on it, so we just wanted to put it to rest," Supervisor Maurice Breen said.

In Canton, officials believe no such resolution is needed.

"Our feeling is they could only locate in the Ford Road, I-275 area, and with the wetlands and multiple property owners out there it would take them five years or more to even put anything together," Supervisor Thomas Yack said.

"Personally, I feel most stadiums belong in a central city setting," Yack added.

Though Canton is attempting to create a downtown of its own, Yack said a stadium clearly isn't part of that plan.

"We're talking about a 35-acre site, that's hardly enough," he said.

Though Northville Township is considering changes to its zoning ordinance, township Supervisor Georgina Goss said changes have nothing to do with the Tigers.

"We said all along that Tiger Stadium isn't coming to Northville Township," said Goss. "It would strain our tax base beyond belief to get something like that."

Her feeling is shared by other suburban leaders.

"The feeling is it's going to cost them so much, in terms of police and other amenities, that whatever tax revenue the stadium brings just isn't going to be worth it," Heintz said.

WHILE SUBURBAN leaders might not be entirely altruistic in wishing Detroit well in efforts to retain the ballclub, Yack's statement downtown stadiums is based on precedent.

Of the 26 major league baseball teams, all but three play in a stadium within the corporate limits of a major city. Of the three suburban stadiums, none would be comparable to any suburban site in metro Detroit.

Anahelm Stadium, in Orange County, Calif., is close to Disneyland. Arlington (Texas) Stadium is in the shadow of Six Flags Over Texas, another major amusement park. Shea Stadium, in Flushing, N.Y., is near LaGuardia Airport.

It's somewhat different for professional football. Of the 17 National Football League stadiums used for football only, seven are in suburban sites.

But it's one of those stadiums — the Pontiac Silverdome — that gives suburban leaders the most pause.

Built in the mid-1970s with the assumption it would bring business to its financially troubled host city, the Silverdome has instead proved to be a money loser.

Slightly more than a decade after its opening, Pontiac was kicking in more than $1 million a year to keep the Silverdome solvent. Nor did the stadium give any boost to Pontiac redevelopment.

Even though the Silverdome recently landed regional finals for the NCAA men's basketball tournament, city officials still complained that too many fans stayed, dined and shopped in other suburbs, ignoring Pontiac completely.

Perhaps with that in mind, suburban leaders hope that they're the ones who will be ignored when it comes time to pick a site new Tiger Stadium site.

Millage feud Tax backers are off-target

MANY THOUGHT the Wayne-Westland school district millage campaign was over Wednesday night, March 13, when the votes were counted.

They were wrong. While the 7.75 mill property rate increase was narrowly defeated by 3 percentage points, the millage supporters are still upset.

But one focus of their anger and frustration is misguided.

The millage backers were so mad after the defeat they stormed a Westland City Council meeting a few days later to criticize Mayor Robert Thomas for his public opposition to the tax proposal.

The mayor came out unexpectedly in early January to oppose a tax rate increase for the school district and was quickly criticized by school board members and Superintendent Dennis O'Neill for his position.

While many didn't agree with the mayor, clearly Thomas was reflecting the views of a large segment of the community. Politically, his opposition shouldn't be a surprise to anyone.

A few months before, Thomas even resisted a modest millage increase for a local library, saying he would back it only as a last resort.

He opposed a $2 a month increase initiated last month by Continental Cablevision for cable-TV subscribers.

THE MILLAGE backers were also off-base in making their case against Thomas at a city council meeting. A business session held for routine actions on site plans, payment of bills and issuing of proclamations isn't the forum for a full-fledged debate on the tax dispute and the mayor's position.

If the supporters wanted to confront Thomas, they could have asked him to arrange a public meeting with him.

On another level, the millage backers are guilty of beating to death the factors which resulted in the narrow tax defeat.

Millage backers should forget about Mayor Thomas and concentrate on getting out more voters.

As in any close election, there were many factors.

Admittedly, the supporters were pleased that the March 13 vote was much closer than the routs in two elections last year.

But Mayor Thomas' public opposition this year was only one factor in the proposal's defeat.

Others factors that may have contributed to the defeat were the timing of the assessment increases of 7 to 8 percent, mailed to local homeowners the week before the election, and the fact many people were working on their federal and state income tax returns.

Generally, there was an increased sensitivity to all types of taxes. Unfortunately for school board officials, only school property taxes are placed on ballots regularly for voters' approval.

THE PUBLIC outcry at Monday's school board meeting, attended by about 350 persons, clearly reflects the reopening of past political wounds and possibly the creation of new ones in the form of a potential recall campaign against school board members.

While the threatened recall is not yet a reality, it would seem easier for the recall workers to achieve their goal in a more efficient way — rally behind the candidacies of challengers in an effort to defeat three board members on the June 10 ballot.

Meanwhile the millage backers should tone down the rhetoric and discuss strategies for the next millage campaign instead of wasting energy on blaming the mayor for contributing to the defeat of the March 13 proposal.

Coping with war Communities pulled together

THE WORLD SHARPENED its focus on Southeast Michigan for the past seven months, starting last August, when Iraq invaded Kuwait. Everyone noticed, as though for the first time, that this part of the world includes the largest Arab population outside the Middle East.

The reaction to this geographic discovery was, initially, not much to be proud of. The Arab community that had existed in relative peace now was under renewed scrutiny, with the self-proclaimed wiser among us wondering, in fact, if "they" were going to be a problem during the Persian Gulf war. It was an embarrassing time for the rest of us.

Many residents said this smacked of something they'd already been through, and hoped never to go through again. They talked about Hitler. They talked about sequestering the Japanese during World War II. Some wondered aloud who had the authority to draw a line in the concrete and aim public suspicion at a large population that had done nothing wrong except exist.

FORTUNATELY THOUGH, THE correct line of thought seems to have prevailed this time. There were a few relatively minor problems during the past seven months. Some tried to tie-bar those problems to the Persian Gulf war, but anyone who's lived in an urban area for a while knows that these problems occurred before, and unfortunately will occur after, this war is finally stamped, sealed, certified and over.

Those same people know that economic and social problems are a large contributor to civil unrest, and most of the time, when it gets right down to it, a small percentage of people fulfill their own ugly prophecies in these matters.

However, the strong majority of Wayne and Oakland county residents should be commended for setting an example that largely resisted stereotyping and racial hatred, and instead found ways to widen communication and develop greater understanding during a highly emotional episode.

Many of the narrow-minded, for example, expected our local Jewish populations in Southfield and West Bloomfield to ignite against perceived Arab threats in their own communities. Instead, although some Jewish institutions took security precautions, they also set an example by opening their doors and inviting Chaldeans and Iraqis to services and programs.

OTHERS ANTICIPATED WIDESPREAD escalation of tensions in area schools with diverse populations. Incredulously, there even was serious discussion in a few Oakland County schools of canceling athletic events, an act that would have made tangible the unfounded fears of students automatically brawling over racial lines if given the chance to congregate.

Our students proved to be wiser than that, a credit to them and their parents. International, national and local reporters came here looking for student-vs-student stories, just like they make their annual Halloween pilgrimages to Detroit for Devil's Night fires.

They didn't come away with much. A few had the courage and integrity to report what they found — kids basically getting along with one another, not getting overly excited about an event transpiring 6,000 miles away. Most, though, ignored the news when they found it. No conflict, no story.

The conflict end was reported mightily. One weekend not too long ago, there was a bomb scare in front of a party store in Garden City. That was serious business, but an isolated incident nevertheless. It was reported, however, as though Hussein had planted it himself.

During a Martin Luther King Day ceremony at West Bloomfield High, a bomb threat was phoned in. The school was cleared while police searched the building and found nothing. The school celebration was held Jan. 15, the day the United Nations had set as a deadline for Iraq leaving Kuwait.

Some said the threat was due to the deadline. The better answer came from a local police sergeant, who reminded us that the school regularly gets threats, and he thought no more or less of this one due to the war.

Then there was Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, who penned a letter warning of "acts of terrorism and reverse terrorism" in the community, even though nothing yet had happened. Westland's Chamber of Commerce called the mayor's comments "insensitive" and responsible for "undue concern to the business community and the general public."

Those are the smaller incidents, though. The story was right in front of us, and that was that people behaved with good intentions during a bad time. It needs to be mentioned.

Censorship unacceptable in high school papers too

THE CONVERSATION is disturbingly repetitive:

"Could you come and talk with my high school newspaper staff. I'm a first year English teacher and I've been put in charge of the student publication. And I really don't know anything about newspapers."

Grinding my teeth, I take a deep breath, smile and eagerly volunteer to serve yet another hitch in a campaign which, to a less persistent soul, could very well appear futile.

But those of us who believe the Bill of Rights is more than just something to wave a flag at are a persistent bunch. We have to be because our numbers are dwindling.

Increasingly our students are being misled. They are being taught that censorship is acceptable, even preferable. Weary educators, beaten down by a system which demands conformity, are declaring that a free press really isn't all that important or practical.

STUDENTS too often are learning that your right to know what the powerful of America are visiting upon the disenfranchised and poor is inappropriate.

And these same young minds are rapidly making their way into the newsrooms and classrooms of America where they are determining that it is better to go along in order to get along with the establishment. They have lost the distinction between editing and censorship.

It's a dangerous trend, one which, if continued, will surely erode our freedoms.

If our children are going to learn how the press works in a free society they must be allowed to operate in a free environment, no matter how frightening it may be to some.

Steve Barnaby

learns by doing, not by doing the opposite.

The responsibility for turning around this situation rests in the hands of our educators, with support from school board trustees and parents.

Educators, in particular, must show the common sense and courage to develop journalism programs which are meaningful. They can begin by hiring experienced teachers who know the basic tenets of journalism, libel law ramifications and First Amendment rights.

At the present, journalism is held in such low regard at most high schools that typically some freshman teacher who very well may not even read newspapers is thrown into the task.

Support of the Jondahl bill would force fearful administrators to sit up and pay attention to our Bill of Rights, a sometimes forgotten part of American freedom.

Steve Barnaby is managing editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

That's why it's essential that those who cherish a free press support a bill recently introduced in the state legislature by Rep. Lyn Jondahl, D-Okemos.

The bill is in response to a 1988 U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing school principals to censor student expression. With Jondahl's initiative, students would be provided with free expression rights when working on school publications or other events such as plays, bulletin board postings and petition distribution.

For many folks that's a scary thought.

If our children are going to learn how the press works in a free society they must be allowed to operate in a free environment, no matter how frightening it may be to some.

THE IDEA that our children are being taught press censorship as acceptable is ludicrous, irresponsible and very simply dangerous. A person

Education a low priority?

To the editor:

I would be "less than candid" if I did not make it clear that the depth of disappointment many of us are feeling as a result of the outcome of the March 13 millage election is both profound and painful. Certainly, my pledge to you continues to be that all of us within the school district will do the very best we can for kids with the limited resources available to us.

Slightly less than 15,000 community members have expressed their opinions through the democratic process yet, all of us will be required to live by that decision until "another day."

For those 7,165 people who voted to support the future of young people in Wayne-Westland, I extend a heartfelt "thank you" for both your generosity and for your vision. Although a record number of you turned out at the polls, it is still a defeat regardless of the close margin.

A very special "thank you" is extended to all of those members of the Save Our Schools Committee and to co-chairpersons Bob Millar and Margaret Harlow. Their personal effort and their concern for the growth of our community through education served as a mainstay of the campaign.

It occurs to me that one of the ironic criticisms of American public education, heard during the recent millage campaign from more than one "NO" voter, was that the performances of American students when compared with students from Japan and some European countries was "less than competitive."

How interesting to me it is that anyone could possibly believe that by voting "no" on a local millage, therefore denying a school district adequate revenue, that our students would compare more favorably within the world community.

The simple truth is that for far too many people, education is not a priority when it comes to the allocation of resources. I assure you that education is a priority with people in the countries mentioned above. Until schools have the resources available to provide a program for students which allows them to spend as much instructional time with teachers as do those students in foreign countries, we will not make significant progress in bridging the gap.

Five hours of instruction in our secondary schools certainly won't help us reach our goal of providing prepared and competitive young adults, ready for the challenges of the 21st century.

Our current system of funding education is archaic. It scares me to think what would have happened in the Persian Gulf War if the financing of Desert Storm had been contingent on passage of a local millage to pay for tanks and troops. While non of us relish the idea of paying more taxes, most of us do feel fortunate that we are living in a free society.

The "Catch 22" is that with freedom comes responsibility. There are many among us who, in my estimation, better do a "quick and serious" reassessment of the value of living in the greatest democracy on the face of the earth. If we don't accept our responsibility and pay a little more now to provide an education for our kids, they'll pay a whole lot later in other ways.

I have every confidence that just as it has in every other "crisis" school district in the state, "this too shall pass." Ultimately, our community will "see the light" and support kids.

The only question is whether it will come "sooner or later." There are already victims of our millage defeats. They are the students in our classrooms across the district. For many of them "sooner" may even be too late. Can we afford the loss?

Mayor forgets local pride

Open letter to Mayor Thomas:
Help me, I'm confused. I'm looking at a brochure describing the City of Westland and the headline reads: "City of Pride-Progress and Promise." Where were you when a large percentage of your community was fighting to keep its schools from crumbling? Does the City take PRIDE in its kids and in its schools? Did I overlook your public statement of support for the value of education in our community? Does your PRIDE in the "quality of life" in Westland include everything except the education of our kids?

If not PRIDE, what about PROGRESS? Do you want us to believe that any community can move forward while the school district which serves its kids is forced to move backward?

Precisely how will the next generation of Westland youth help their community skills? Perhaps they can drop by City Hall to get the rest of their education. That surely would be Progress.

I can see clearly now that the Promise you hold for Westland will be a hard one to deliver on.

Perhaps you may want to let your community know that while PROGRESS in Westland will mean improvement of city services, better roads and "lots of new street signs," if won't mean that their children will have a decent education or that Westland seniors and adults will have access to new skills and ideas through adult and vocational education.

You can just tell all those folks in Westland that they'll have to figure this one out on their own.

Again, many thanks for your "silence" during the recent (Wayne-Westland) school millage campaign. It certainly was a brave stand for you to take. I know you'll take a great deal of PRIDE in knowing that you made a major contribution to the defeat of this election.

Perhaps you may wish to consider a revision of the City's slogan to more accurately reflect your personal point of view as chief administrator. May I suggest: "City of Pride-Progress and Promise — except where KIDS are concerned."
Carol Gillentine,
Westland

New tax hike vote opposed

To the editor:
With another millage election behind us, I think the Wayne/Westland community has expressed its opinion. The question is whether the school board will listen. I think not! (School Superintendent) Dennis O'Neill has already stated he wants another millage election. In June — for what?

The future of our children is at stake. I don't believe money is the issue. Accountability is. We continue to ask questions but get no answers. Why are the SAT and MEAP test scores so low? Why are the textbooks, some up to 13 years old, being used? Where are the priorities?

I think a better solution would be to hire an outside consulting firm, specializing in business turnarounds, to go in and audit the books — find out what cuts can be made without emotion — basically getting rid of the waste. Show the cost of reinstating the programs that have been cut, those vital to our children and community.

If an outside company re-evaluated the district, set new, realistic objectives and implemented strategies for renewed stability and strength — then announce to the community how much money was needed and WHY. I don't think the community would hesitate to pass a millage increase.

When private business has financial troubles, cuts have to be implemented. They are made so that they do not affect the product or the service. They do not go for the jugular vein, if they want to stay in business. I believe the Wayne/Westland school district would be out of business, or would certainly be in bankruptcy court if it were a private business.

I would like to quote Andrew Spisak from a local newspaper: "We can either pay now or pay later, when they are in prison." If this is the attitude of the school board, we have a serious problem. We need people who believe in our children and our community, not someone who thinks of our children as criminals.

Mary Staley,
Westland

Millage foe is criticized

To the editor:
This is in response to the Wayne-Westland School millage defeat and to David Moranty and his membership in the "Wayne-Westland for Destroying Education Committee."

After three defeats, it has finally been brought out in the open. Moranty wants Superintendent Dennis O'Neill to resign. That's the bottom line to this millage defeat. Moranty doesn't give a damn about education or the kids. It is you, Moranty and your membership, who used the kids for pawns, not O'Neill. As a former board member, you know perfectly well schools are financed by taxes only.

If I hear one more time about O'Neill's wages, I am going to throw up. Do you think that O'Neill is the only school employee that gets paid? What about secretaries, custodians, bus drivers, bus aides, paraprofessionals, cafeteria workers, social workers, psychologists, learning consultants, homebound teachers, teachers and counselors.

I am going to keep the photo that appeared on the front page of the Observer so my grandchildren can take a good look at some of the people that caused them to be cheated out of the same opportunities that their parents and students before them had.

The only thing that bothers me is that Mr. Moranty's picture is not there. As chairman of the "Wayne-Westland for Destroying Education Committee," I would think you would be proud of your accomplishments. Your members sure are. But, then again, Mr. Moranty, you never appear in public where the citizens can get both sides. What are you afraid of? That your information distributed in your flyer will be discovered as being false?

Shame on the people who voted no because of these lies. A double shame on the citizens who have kids in school and didn't vote at all.
A. Arbin,
Westland

Mr. Moranty was in the election night photo printed in the March 14 Observer but his face was partially obscured.

Don't pass the buck

To the editor:
Are the Wayne-Westland school district voters really to blame? I think not. When school board vice president Sharon Scott said that pending budget cuts were "not really the board's fault" but "the voters' fault" shows me that some board members are not really in touch with the voter.

Thousands of Wayne-Westland people think that the "all or nothing" 7.75 mill proposal is too much, all at once. There are many fixed income people who are living on the edge right now.

A huge increase would force them out because they wouldn't be able to afford to live in their own homes. There are other people who feel that this large of an increase is plain unwarranted. There are many other reasons and they all have one thing in common, a NO vote!

In any future millage proposal, I think the voter should be given a greater choice by putting two or more smaller increase proposals on the ballot. Even if only one of the smaller increases were voted in, it would be much more desirable than the zero increase the district has been getting.

To blame the budget cuts on the voter is a "pass the buck" mentality. When the going gets a little tough, we need people on the board with a "the buck stops here" attitude. Perhaps it is time for a change.

Richard Dearing,
Westland

Tax defeat no 'victory'

To the editor:
"VICTORY: the winning of a battle, war or any struggle." I guess if you call losing jobs, having to transfer schools, splitting families and losing the value of your homes a victory, then my dictionary needs revising. I would prefer devastated, "to lay waste; ravage, destroy, overwhelm."

It seems to me that this "victory" is costing us much more than education itself. Our children are not only losing education, but they are losing friendships, in some cases a chance for furthering their education and homes they have lived in all of their lives.

I am sorry to say that for the cost of 95 cents per day or less to keep this community viable and our schools in high standard, we have totally lost the prospective of life.

My question to you is: now that you have taken the life out of the schools and our community, what do you plan on doing to get it back? My feeling is it will probably cost $$$$ something.

Paulette Biat,
Westland

Vote apathy is knocked

To the editor:
It's time to wake up and face facts! We have put our future in danger. We have put the very thing we value most in life, our children, in a handicapped situation. Once more we had the opportunity to provide them with a solid education, a foundation for their future and once more we failed them.

In the short term we may save a few dollars in taxes, something we all pay too much of, but in the long run we will all pay a much higher price. The price of an uncertain future. The price of dropping property values. The price of gull as we live knowing we could have done better for our children but didn't.

For now, our children must pay. It's a high price for such young minds. Their high schools will not be accredited. For those unable to achieve top scores on ACT and SAT exams, this means no hope of college. For all age groups class days will be shortened.

Poverty is not what killed this proposal. A lot of people struggling just to make ends meet supported it. A lot of young people just starting out, some with no children, supported it. A lot of older people on fixed incomes supported it. All of these people realize the importance, the value of a quality education.

What killed this proposal was apathy, indifference and neglect. To all those who supported the millage but failed to vote, shame on you! With your support it could have passed. To those who stayed home thinking their vote wouldn't make a difference, this election proved, every vote counts!

To those who voted no out of an honest inability to pay, we understand. To those who voted no because their children are grown and gone, what about your children's children? What about my children? My parents were there to help educate your children.

These children need us now. If given the opportunity again let's hope we can be there for them. I don't like paying taxes anymore than anyone else, but I can think of no better place to give my hard earned dollars than to the insurance of the future.

Robyn Cowen,
Westland

Junior high pupils vulgar

To the editor:
It's too bad all 7,000 plus "yes" voters don't live in corner houses near a Westland junior high school.

If they lived there and they had to put up with the students destruction of property, their rudeness and their vulgar mouths maybe a few would have thought twice before voting "yes" for the increase in millage.

Larry Johnson,
Westland

Fairy shrimp are found in ephemeral pools formed from snow melt waters in fields or in ponds that have recently thawed.

Fairy shrimp are probably the tiniest sign of spring

Harbingers of spring come in many forms and shapes. To some the first crocus to bloom is a sign of spring. Others look to the first robin or first red-winged blackbird. Whatever sign it is, when we see the first one of the year, there is a sense of security and stability — nature's infinite cycle has returned again and we look forward to a future we know from the past.

Most harbingers tend to be large and showy, but there is a less conspicuous reminder that can be found in small pools of water. Fairy shrimp are found in ephemeral pools formed from snow melt waters in fields, or in ponds that have recently thawed.

I remember walking through an old fallow field and looking into a pool that I was about to walk around, when I noticed that the water was moving. Despite the cold weather there were hundreds of delicate  $\frac{1}{4}$  to one inch long fairy shrimp beating their legs furiously.

Upon closer examination I noticed that they were swimming on their backs, or sides, as it sometimes appeared. When their rapidly moving legs stopped, they began to float downward. Then all of a sudden they would start beating again. Their feathery legs have gills connected to them, which are used for respiration.

In back of the legs and gills was a narrow body section that one associates with a typical shrimp. A large black colored eye at the head end was very noticeable. If a few are collected and transferred to an aquarium, their beating heart and internal organs can be seen through their transparent body. Small vernal ponds are the best place to find fairy shrimp because there are no large predators to feed on them. However, they may be seen in one pool and not in another just a few feet away. They may also be seen one year and not the next. This may be a result of young hatching from overwintering eggs too early in the season. Warm weather that may follow can kill the young nymphs.

Fairy shrimp seen during an early spring walk have been in a dormant stage for a long time and are actively courting and mating before their aquatic home dries up again. Once mating is completed, the adults fall to the bottom and die, while the eggs fall to the bottom and await the next cold wet season.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence-Oaks County Park. He lives in Livonia.

Family matters

Reality replaces tradition at home

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Our image of family has been greatly shaped by the television sitcom.

In the 1950s, there were the Cleavers on "Leave It to Beaver" with Ward Cleaver returning home at the end of the day and tended to by June Cleaver, dressed in high heels and pearls.

Even in the 1990s, Marge Simpson is portrayed as a domestic engineer, taking care of Bart, Lisa and Maggie while Homer toils away at the nuclear power plant in "The Simpsons." But what is imaginary on TV is becoming fiction in real life.

"That's the mythical family of the past," said Dr. J. Ross Eshleman, a professor of sociology at Wayne State University and author of several books on the American family. "That's not a realistic image of the family, especially with the proportion of women in the work force today."

The traditional family is still around. They're just harder to find.

Statistics bear this out. Since 1970, the proportion of two-parent family households in the United States has decreased immensely, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

The number of single-parent families has increased 2.8 million since 1980, totaling 9.7 million.

Traditional families made up 53 percent of all married couples in 1980, but by 1988, the percentage dropped to 33 percent. And the number continues to fall.

According to American Demographics, more than half of all children will spend part of their lives in single-parent homes by the year 2000. The publication predicts full-time homemakers will approach extinction, and most children will never know a time when their mothers did not work outside of the home.

MANY HAVE associated this trend with the overall disintegration of the American family. Not so, experts say.

"In spite of all the problems," said Craig McLean, district supervisor for Family Service in Livonia, "I believe strongly in the American family. The American family is alive today and is even thriving."

"To me, the American family must be defined in a broad way. A single parent family is a family as well."

McLean has been at the Family Service office in Livonia since 1973. Family Service is a United Way agency, which helps families deal with a wide variety of problems.

In 18 years, McLean has seen the vast change in the types of families who come through the agency. Traditional families — where the dad works and the mom is a homemaker — were the bulk of clients in the early '70s.

Today, there are more single-parent families and those where both parents work.

McLean's belief in the American family is bore out in interviews with members of single-parent households. Contrary to the image of "a broken home," single-parent families tend to be just as close-knit and very supportive as traditional clans.

In the majority of cases, women became the head of the household as the result of divorce. They tell of encountering momentous financial and emotional issues surrounding the separation.

Many women also found themselves entering the work force for the first time. According to statistics provided by Family Service of America, a female's standard of living decreases 73 percent after a divorce. A man's increases 42 percent.

ALONG WITH the financial challenges, the heads of the single-parent household appear to bear the brunt of the emotional strife. They report having to deal with resentment from children stemming from the divorce as well as having to be a disciplinarian.

Yet many single parents felt the difficult times initially brought the family closer together and made members more resilient.

The same sense of self-preservation exists in traditional family settings. Many see themselves as carrying on the same vision of family their parent's had, those who have a homemaker and only one spouse who works.

But like single parent households, traditional families reported the biggest obstacles are financial, especially trying to get by on one-income.

Unlike their parents before, traditional families have to cope with more pressures today. Material goods, such as Nintendo games, VCRs and home computers, are considered by many to be necessities instead of luxuries.

In this need to achieve financial and material success amid the higher cost of living, the pressures of work and family increase. When these sometime unrealistic goals are not met, anxiety and depression can set in.

"When families are struggling financially, living paycheck to paycheck . . . It's going to affect other aspects of their life," McLean said.

Some can point to substance abuse or physical abuse in the family as a result. Substance abuse is at all time high, primarily alcohol addiction.

It's estimated 20 percent of the population is affected directly or indirectly by drug use, according to Family First America. For every person who abuses drugs or alcohol, at least three others suffer the consequences.

Not surprisingly, substance abuse is at the core of many divorces. McLean said separation doesn't have to be the natural course.

"The strong family is still there," he said. "The important thing is when a family is in trouble is to seek help and put an effort into it. They can be helped and can be remedied."

For Karen Turner of Westland, family life hasn't been quite what she expected. And as the mother of Falan, 5, and Jack, 7, she admits being a single parent hasn't been as tough as some people told her.

Single parenting: Not 'so bad'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Single parenting in the '90s? Karen Turner of Westland said it's not quite what she expected.

"Turns out, it's better than she thought."

"I talked to a few single women," said Turner, who has been divorced for three years. "They told me it's a cruel world out there. It's tough."

"I've always been self-sufficient. It hasn't been so bad."

Not even coupled with the task of raising two children, Falan, 5, and Jack, 7, while managing a dental practice. A successful career woman

'I'm a little more picky about who I go out with . . . because I'd rather spend that time with my children. I don't go just to go out. They're more important to me.'

—Karen Turner

and a mother? Sounds too be good to be true.

In Turner's case, she's been able to manage. The biggest reason is that she already had an established career. She also maintained household chores such as paying the bills during her marriage.

But how do you explain to a 3-year-old his daddy is not going to be living with them anymore? How do you deal with his parents? Where will the time come to spend with her children?

Vexing questions for sure. Turner appears to have it all under wraps.

For one, Turner gets along well with her husband's parents who still consider her a part of the family. Her job allows her flexibility in order to be with her children as much as possible.

LOOKING BACK, Turner made some right choices. At one time, her husband wanted her to leave her career and join him in a family service station business. She decided to stay with the dental practice.

"I gave it a lot of thought," Turner said. "I thought it might help the marriage."

Yet there are parts of being a single parent that never are easy. In Turner's case, it's explaining to her son why his dad and mom don't live together anymore.

"I try to explain to him that it was nothing he did," Turner said. "He has a friend next door. They like each other, but they never get along. I tried to use that to illustrate what had happened."

Her daughter, Falan, was only 18 months old during the divorce.

Still, Turner tries to keep the atmosphere positive. For example, she tells her children they have two houses now instead of one.

It's all part of the "brick wall" she puts up for her children. She and her former husband of seven years are friendly to one another, but she adds there's "still a lot of resentment."

One of the problems is familiar with divorced parents during visits.

"He seems to want to make everything fun . . . I'm always the bad guy."

The absence of a male in the household has posed few problems, Turner said. Her son has sort of taken on the role, looking out for both his mother's and sister's welfare.

REMARriage IS not a consideration at the moment.

"I'm a little more picky about who I go out with," Turner said. ". . . because I'd rather spend that time with my children. I don't go out just to go out. They're more important to me."

Turner tries to do as many fun things as possible with her children. They play games and do puzzles together.

They also go out for pizza and later the movies quite a bit, leading Turner to remark she's seen more children's films than mainstream ones the last few years.

If anything, Turner believes she's become a better mother.

"I think I'm a little more tuned into their needs and their feelings because I'm the sole person guiding them," she said. "I talk to them like they're a friend."

"The most important thing to me is I've built up a friendship with them."

Writer has high aspirations, interest in people

Dear Lorene Green,
Your column is the reason I subscribe to the Observer Newspaper. The graphology tips are great too, when you can include them. Please tell me what you can about my writing. I am 39 years old and right handed.
Thanks!

graphology
Lorene Green

T.L. Redford
Dear T.L.,
This large right slanted handwriting suggests your interest in people, high aspirations and need for recognition and acceptance. You want to stand out in a crowd and be held in esteem by others.
On the day you wrote to me, you were feeling optimistic and somewhat enthusiastic. All the lines of your handwriting are sloped upward. If this is the direction your lines run most of the time, it is safe to say you are an upbeat woman who has faith in a higher being.

You approach life and living in a direct manner. Yours is an inquiring mentality that thrives on facts. You streamline your thinking and have a way of getting right down to the core of a situation. You waste neither time nor conversation on the unimportant.
You are observant and are able to visualize the broad scope. Interest runs toward the big issues rather than the trivial ones. Once your mind is made up you stand firm.
An important part of our personality is the extent to which we possess the forces to achieve in life. Possibly the main consideration here is whether we set goals for ourselves and work toward them or just drift along accepting whatever life happens to bring.

This handwriting tells me you are a goal-setter and do not rely on others for your motivation. Your goals are made with practicality in mind. With the determination and persistence here I can see you intend to accomplish them. You also have healthy vitality and will power. You take pride in achievement and like the recognition it brings you.
I see you have empathy for the needs and feelings of others and often stand ready to help out. Still you exercise a little cautiousness as you interact with others. And while you do not like friction and probably would not be the one to start an argument, you are prepared to meet the challenge if one comes your way.

Your self-reliance cannot be missed. You are probably happiest in a position that allows you to be in control and offers freedom of movement.

Confidence in yourself appears to be greater in relation to your capabilities and ambitions than your assurance when dealing with people socially.

There is noticeable inhibition in your handwriting. Relating to people in new situations or in areas you do not fully understand may be stressful and you may try to avoid them when you can. Your high aspirations are not without penalty. Your need for recognition surmounts your inner feelings of insecurity but may cause inner tension.

Your upbringing appears to have been rather strict. A great deal of criticism has made you self-conscious and cautious about showing your feelings.

You appear to have an appreciation of cultural expression. Music and literature may be areas of enjoyment for you.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are all helpful. And constructive feedback is always welcome.

Pitrone find Dodges a challenging subject

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Biographer Jean Madden Pitrone had a story to tell Wednesday to the Livonia Town Hall audience. It's a story filled with intrigue and mystery surrounding a family that was seldom written about and yet was one of the most influential in the automotive industry — the Dodges.

Pitrone had already written one book, "The Dodges: The Auto Family Fortune and Misfortune" in 1981. Then she received a phone call.

The person on the other end sounded a bit distraught. After reading Pitrone's book, the woman said her mother believed she could be the cast-off daughter of John Dodge.

The claim seemed strange, but Pitrone investigated.

Some eight years later, "Tangled Web," Pitrone's latest book, chronicles the life of John Dodge and raises the possibility the claim of Frances Lucille Mealbach of Dearborn is the daughter of the automotive giant.

Mealbach was in attendance during Pitrone's appearance at Town Hall and was introduced to the audience.

"It's quite a mystery," said Pitrone, who lives in Trenton and has written eight biographies. "There's many clues in the book. You can make up your own mind."

Mealbach's story has been featured on NBC-TV's "Unsolved Mysteries." Her case regarding the claim as a heir to Dodge estate is still in the courts.

"I HAVE a comfortable life," Mealbach said. "I'm happy. I'm 76. I really don't care, honestly. But for the sake of my children, I want to do this."

Mealbach contacted Pitrone with a vague memory of visiting a large home on Boston Avenue in Detroit as a child and several discrepancies surrounding her adoption records. A picture of the Dodge family home on Boston Avenue piqued Mealbach's interest.

Pitrone's meticulous research has uncovered several details regarding the Dodge family that leave more questions than answers.

For one, there are inconsistencies regarding birth records. First, Mealbach was given a different date of birth, then only to be told her birth certificate had been lost.

At 27, Mealbach mysteriously received birth records from the state. Her birth parents were listed as the Manzlers, the people, as she found out later in 1960, who had adopted her.

On one of the records, the name Emma Nelson is listed. Nelson was registered as a domestic in the Dodge household in the 1910 Census. Pitrone surmises Nelson could have been paid to use her name on the records.

"I have my own ideas," said Pitrone about the records. "Social Security numbers had only come into use. Someone saw to it she was supplied with this record so she wouldn't be asking questions in Lansing."

THEN THERE was the way Judge Thomas Murphy divided the Dodge estate to include 5 percent for undetermined heirs.

Mealbach asked for a birth certificate for Frances Dodge, the late heiress of the Dodge estate. The document was on a multiple birth form with a line drawn through twins and triplets.

She spent six years in court, attempting to get her birth certificate and birth records. Dodge attorneys attempted to keep her records sealed in order to "protect the reputation of the dead."

Mealbach was also ordered to go to Ann Arbor for genetics testing. She has not seen the results.

"If there was no truth to her claim, the records would clear that up," Pitrone said.

In January 1990, the state Court of Appeals ruled Mealbach should be allowed to see her adoption and birth records. The father was listed as unknown and the mother's full name was not given, only the first name Ramilda.

Also the date of birth is Nov. 20, 1914, instead of Nov. 23. Pitrone said there are several obvious erasures on the document.

Mealbach's birth certificate, too, is on a multiple birth form.

The multiple birth form fuels speculation that the Dodges perhaps had Siamese twins, separating them at birth. Other coincidences include scars on the back of Mealbach's neck.

MEALBACH WASA told by her adoptive parents they were the results of an injury. A doctor examining her later said they were surgical, similar to those from the separation of Siamese twins.

Pitrone points out, however, there is no known case of fraternal Siamese twins as born.

Instead, she theorizes Mealbach could have been born with sacs on the back of her neck.

"Those days a family with a disfigured child hid them in a room in the house," Pitrone said. "That could be why she was given away."

As with her previous book on the Dodges, "Tangled Web" also offers a portrait of a fascinating family.

Research on the Dodges was extremely difficult. Unlike the Ford family, the Dodges didn't keep many records and those they did have were lost in a fire at one of their plants in Hamtramck.

Her break for the first Dodge book came upon a visit the Burton Room of the Detroit Public Library. Several report cards of Matilda Dodge were donated by her sister, Amelia Cline. Pitrone found Cline living near 13 Mile and Southfield roads and interviewed her.

"I couldn't believe the information Amelia Cline collected on the Dodges," Pitrone said. "She had boxes and boxes of stuff. There were letters, Valentines, locks of hair. You name it she had it. Best of all were her memories. They were sharp and clear."

CLINE TURNED out to be a valuable source on the Dodge legacy. According to Pitrone, she had disavowed her sister and not talked to Matilda for 30 years. Cline died three months after the first Dodge book was published in 1981.

"Tangled Web" is her eighth book of her writing career, which started in 1965. She is currently working on a biography on the Hudsons.

Salvation Army helps those in need

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Lt. Col. Clarence Harvey has been a Salvation Army officer for more than 30 years. His involvement with the Christian organization goes back to an even earlier time.

Clarence Harvey

"I received a Salvation Army basket as a kid," said Harvey, who now serves as commander of the Eastern Michigan Division. "I'm indebted to men and women who have recognized the importance of being tutors."

Harvey, 54, is a Detroit native. As a child, he went to a Detroit community center and got involved in Salvation Army programs designed to keep young people off the streets.

He spoke at the March 15 meeting of the Plymouth Rotary Club at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Harvey told club members and guests that many people have helped him through the years.

"I'm here today to share with you the interest I have in America."

Many pressing social problems exist.

"We are quick to place the blame on the educational system. We use that often as our scapegoat."

There's a need to improve the quality of education, but others too must do their part, he said.

HARVEY AND his wife, Lois, were assigned to Detroit to work on an inner city community program in the 1960s. Harvey was involved in the food and emergency services programs provided by the Salvation Army during the 1967 riots in Detroit.

Harvey worked with children and families during the 1960s in Detroit's Herman Gardens. He remembered that a local merchant offered to donate rolls of Life Savers candy to be distributed to children.

Harvey passed the treats out to youngsters and soon heard from one mother in the neighborhood, who asked if he had read the label. He thought she would be pleased with his efforts; Harvey was dismayed to learn that the so-called candy was actually a laxative rather than Life Savers.

"I wanted to say then 'It's my wife's idea.'"

Harvey, who graduated from The Salvation Army School for Officers' Training in Chicago in 1960, was later transferred from Detroit. He doesn't believe the laxative incident was a factor.

"They moved me for other reasons, I think," he said with a smile.

HE BECAME the divisional commander for eastern Michigan in January 1987. When he returned to Detroit, Harvey got a call from a man who had lived in Herman Gardens as a child.

That man remembered the help he received as a youngster from the Salvation Army, and had become a Presbyterian minister.

"I invested myself in the lives of people," Harvey said. "God used it for his good."

Harvey knows there is a place for the Salvation Army in more affluent communities.

"I THINK the greatest gift of the Salvation Army is being able to retain its low profile," he said in an interview after his Rotary Club speech.

The organization does serve people from well-to-do areas, he said, including some in drug rehabilitation programs. People are often grateful to receive treatment through the Salvation Army without neighbors and business associates being aware of the situation.

The Salvation Army, an international organization, operates some 1,200 centers in the United States in every type of community, he said.

Programs include counseling, recreational and youth activities, drug rehabilitation, emergency assistance and a missing persons program, in addition to a regular schedule of worship services.

The Salvation Army has been well-received and supported in the Plymouth-Canton community, he said. Many people, organizations and churches from throughout the suburbs support the Salvation Army.

EVEN SO, Harvey is concerned about the divisions between the city and its suburbs.

He has served in most areas of the United States, and has never seen more evidence of such a division than is found in Detroit.

"There is a wall bigger than Jericho."

Some suburban residents take

—Lt. Col. Clarence Harvey pride in not having visited the city for many years.

"There's got to be a common ground to survive. I believe that the problems are curable."

HE AND other Salvation Army leaders are worried about Michigan Gov. John Engler's budget cuts.

"We are deeply concerned as to the effects this will have."

Salvation Army officials anticipate a 40- to 60-percent increase in needs, which may require some cutbacks in programs.

Harvey understands the need for a balanced budget in Michigan, but also worries about the state's neediest people suffering.

"It's always the biggest price that is paid by the poor."

Furniture boss revels in charity promotions

By David F. Stein
special writer

The best at hawking insurance or real estate or cars often top $1 million in sales. Franklin resident Bernie Moray, owner and president of Gorman's Furniture, has created a new club. Over the last decade, his "fun in the furniture store" promotions have raised more than $1 million for local charities.

The Moray formula: Mesh local celebrities and a worthwhile cause in a home furnishing store setting, then treat invited friends, staff and customers like family. Those helped rang from surgery patients at Children's Hospital of Michigan to children without toys at Christmas, from the homeless to victims of domestic violence.

"People have fun. It's as simple as that. Plus, the causes are good," Moray said. "My goal is to do a common good by reinvesting some time and effort back into the community."

Last month's benefit at Gorman's Grand Rapids store was typical. Guests lunched in specially designed rooms as local radio and television and personalities walked through, modeling new fashions. Gorman's staff provided the idea, the setting, the food, the promotional effort. A local shelter for the homeless sold the tickets and pocketed the cash.

"Where else would 150 women pay $50 for a box lunch?" Moray asked.

Since 1980, Gorman's has held more than 15 events, most on a larger scale. Each represents a donation of up to $40,000 on Moray's part.

The model for Gorman's promotions is the kind of events that Bloomingdale's in New York used to stage, Moray said. But the impulses are often personal.

MORAY'S FIRST charity promotion, in 1980 for the American Cancer Society, accompanied the opening of Gorman's Fairlane store in Dearborn.

"He had a friend who had cancer," said Moray's daughter, Susan Moray-Kerr. "He also had a sister who died of Lou Gehrig's disease and a niece who died from MS (multiple sclerosis)."

Moray-Kerr has woked on most of the promotions and met her husband at a subsequent American Cancer Society benefit. To her, the secret of her dad's success is simple.

"It's part of my father's whole philosophy, which he even practiced while raising his children, of always giving something back," Moray-Kerr said.

"He grew up poor and has worked from the time he was 11 years old, he's always worked long hours, but we always got his time, his beliefs. He was always there to listen to you. He's the same way with his employees."

Moray got his start with Robinson's Furniture in Detroit. He left after 18 years, buying Gorman's Furniture on Livernois in Detroit in 1965. The original Gorman's store was destroyed in the Detroit riot fires of 1967, but the Gorman's name lives on. Almost 200 employees, including 25 designers, work at retail furniture and business interiors stores in Southfield, Troy, Dearborn and Grand Rapids and business interiors stores in Southfield and Midland.

Last year, Moray celebrated the 50th anniversary of the Gorman's name in furniture retailing, a business that continually grows. Sales have increased from $8 million in 1983 to more than $20 million in 1989.

Moray's favorite charity is Children's Hospital of Michigan. Again, the connection is personal. His granddaughter Lauren was born in 1979 with congenital toxoplasmosis, a protozoan disease acquired by her mother Susan on a family trip to Israel.

LAUREN WAS treated at Children's Hospital, where she underwent successful surgery for hydrocephalus caused by the toxoplasmosis parasite. During Lauren's stay, Moray became friendly with the hospital's doctors and staff and became concerned about their needs, especially for specialized surgical equipment.

Special workers lauded

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Tom Turner, president of an auto supply company recently designated Contractor of the Year by the Association of Retarded Citizens of Oakland County, passes all the recognition and credit back to his employees.

"They really care about their work," Turner said from his office pointing to the shop. "As far as I'm concerned, there's no one out there who couldn't walk into any other business and do at least as good on that job as they do for me."

All 18 or so assemblers who put together side view mirrors for Autoport Corp. in Troy have some kind of emotional, physical or mental disability.

"It's a synergistic relationship," Turner said. "These people, according to New Horizons (a non-profit vocational rehabilitation agency), are very grateful to be out in the community in a full time job with value."

"I'm probably 10 times as grateful to have this workforce. They show up every day. They care about what they do. The job means something to them."

AUTOPORT EMPLOYEES work eight hours a day, 40 hours weekly putting together mirrors for the S10 Blazer in a 14-step assembly line process. They're paid what Turner described as a competitive wage.

"As time goes on, their pay scale will increase and benefits will increase," he said. "We're a young company."

Turner, who now reports annual gross sales of some $5 million, contracted with New Horizons for labor at its Pontiac sheltered workshop when starting production in 1988.

"They had the facility, they had people. We were a young company. It was an economic decision. As time went on, we felt it was better to do this in our own facility because we have better control over what's made," he said.

Turner and his partners leased a building in Troy earlier this year and hired people from the workshop to join them in a traditional employer-employee relationship.

THAT SUITED Linda Lifter, placement services manager for New Horizons, just fine.

"Our main goal is to help people with disabilities achieve independence with competitive employment in the community," she said. "I was very pleased he made a commitment to these people. He's provided support and encouragement."

The Association of Retarded Citizens of Oakland County honored Autoport with a Contractor of the Year Award for involvement in work centers serving its clients.

But Turner doesn't view himself as any kind of hero. And he can't say enough about his workers.

"I'm not running a charity case. I'm not doing this to feel better. I'm not taking advantage of handicapped people. These are good workers, good people who value their jobs. They're a happy, cohesive group of people. This is the best group I've been associated with."

It's a new game for suppliers

By R.J. King
special writer

Nine years ago, when General Motors was reeling from foreign competition and a beleaguered economy, several major suppliers were called into the company's world headquarters and asked a question.

Would each supplier be willing to undergo an intense examination process to take part in what GM heralded as a revolution in the way cars would be conceived, designed, built and sold?

"In short, they asked if we would be prepared to supply parts for a car to be made in a new-style American factory," said Bob Albert, vice president of the automotive materials group for Dow Plastics in Southfield. "Our common starting point would be a blank sheet of white paper." That "blank sheet of white paper" turned out to be Saturn, G.M.'s $3.5 billion experiment to build a nimble, compact car that could pass its established Japanese counterparts in the automotive fast lane.

The stakes were high. Since 1980, GM has lost a quarter of its market share despite massive restructuring. Much of the loss was in the company's small-car lines, where loyalties are first earned among young consumers. There were other problems. GM often operated in a climate in which it played suppliers against each other to exact the lowest bid. In some cases, this meant a single part was purchased from several suppliers, a system creating thousands of invoices with little room for quality control.

"In the old days we would have three suppliers, and we would say: 'OK, you have the lowest bid, you get the contract,'" said Marcella McCullough, supplier manager for the Saturn plant in Spring Hill, Tenn. "Now we say to a supplier: 'OK, we're giving you the contract, what can you do with it?'"

A CENTRAL TENET of this new relationship between supplier and auto maker is that products must be designed together so they can be

Furniture store helps charities

This led to the first Dream Makers promotion at Gorman's Southfield store in 1986. Attendees included Shirley Eder, Bill Bonds and Aretha Franklin. Moray raised $60,000, which bought a Cavitron ultrasonic surgical aspirator, which speeds the removal of brain tumors with minimal damage to surrounding tissue.

"We are absolutely dependent on community support, so that we can continue to take care of all children for whatever reason," said Dr. Alexa Canady, Laura's doctor and head of neurosurgery at Children's. "The Bernie Morays of the world let us function."

Lauren, 11, is a sixth grader at West Hills Middle School in Bloomfield Hills. She continues as a patient of Dr. Canady and recently participated in the dedication of an ambulatory care wing at Children's. Moray is on the board of Sparky Anderson's CATCH (Caring Athletes Team for Children's and Henry Ford Hospital).

The Moray generosity has spread to other businesses, which have donated free paper, free food and free music for recent Gorman efforts for Children's.

Moray will be 70 in August but has no plans to slow down. He still works long hours and travels extensively, searching for new home furnishing concepts. Moray is more likely than not to bear other Gorman's salespeople to customers entering the Southfield store.

Moray's unabashed zeal for the furniture business and giving something back to the community are likely to make him a $2 million man before long.

Saturn shakes up suppliers' lives

built and assembled with ease. Under the old system, auto engineers designed products and then told workers in the factory what to do.

Now the new product and the means to make it are established at the same time by designers, factory engineers, line employees, accountants, service people and suppliers. The group effort, McCullough said, ensures that everyone's concerns are met, that the car can be easily built when it reaches the factory floor, and that it can be sold at a profit.

By Albert's estimate, not since Henry Ford developed the mass-production assembly line in the early 1900s has the domestic auto industry set out to drastically change its production techniques.

"What GM was really talking about was building an entirely new car company from scratch under an entirely new philosophy," he said. "Everything we had done in the past had to be tossed aside. We had to change or risk being left back."

To that end, Dow Plastics, like many other suppliers, began to look at internal changes to help spur creativity, reduce mistakes and increase productivity. One result was bosses became consultants to teams of production workers who determine how best their job can be done.

Schoolcraft College

"What's different now is that everyone is involved in designing the car, not just some guy in a room somewhere," he said. "It's not an adversarial bid process anymore, now it's a mutual path toward quality."

One of many successes of the new team spirit between supplier and auto maker was the development of thermoplastic body panels to be used on the exterior of Saturn vehicles. The first product of its kind, which Dow calls PULSE, the thermoplastic panels resist heat, impact and help reduce the expansion and contraction of door panels during extreme environmental changes.

THE BIGGEST breakthrough, though, is that PULSE panels do not rust. Another approach to manufacturing cars required that Saturn suppliers provide a team — as many skilled people as the program requires — on-site in both the company's technical facility in Troy and the plant in Spring Hill.

Bruce Sweet, director of business and industrial services at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, said such close relationships allow once-distant auto entities to combine their efforts and troubleshoot problems before they are encountered in production, or worse, on the road.

"When you have more suppliers involved in the design process, there's this communication where you say: 'This won't work, but how about if you do this?'" Sweet said. "What happens is you don't have to re-fix problems that should have been fixed in the first place."

In addition, Sweet said, Saturn has reduced its supplier base to 170, a move which puts more pressure on companies like Dow Plastics. A typical auto plant is serviced by 800 suppliers.

"If an auto maker isn't happy with your performance and turns to someone else, it's a lot harder to get back in. Thus a supplier must not only supply parts, but also look four to five years down the road and provide the next state-of-the-art technology. If they don't, they could lose a large slice of business."

Hunk of iron revives Mercedes' reputation

Dan McCosh

"What's plomb mean?" says my co-driver, just as I was about to squeeze the trigger on the nozzle in a self-serve gas station somewhere in southern France.

I say "somewhere" since the reason I was filling up the tank was because we had become slightly disoriented after four consecutive U-turns a few miles back and were running low. I had no clear idea of exactly where we were. "Yeah," he says. "We've got sans plomb and regular plomb here."

PLOMB. I'M thinking. Like in plumber... er... plumber. Lead. It means lead. Yikes! I cut off the leaded gas I'm about to put in the tank, which probably would have fouled the catalyst on the brand-new Mercedes 400 SE which had carried us this far.

Back in the states they keep you from doing this sort of thing by making it impossible to put the wrong pump nozzle in the tank. Here in southern France, wherever we were, filling the tank at a self-serve station was more of an existential experience, susceptible to both the skill of the user and the whim of fate.

AFTER MOVING to the proper pump, a quick squeeze started the numbers on the gas pump clocking the total to clicking so fast they disappeared in a blur. This bothered me for a minute, but I rationalized, figuring it was only French money, and I had received gobs of the stuff for just a few American bills at the hotel.

My co-driver, who is from New Jersey, sees the spinning dial and looks nervous. "Maybe they take a Mobil credit card," he says. "Non to worry," I say, in my best French.

Two underdressed American auto writers nervously counting the change in our pockets as we filled up a $120,000 Mercedes with what turned out to be about $60 U.S. bucks worth of gas for a half a tank were attending the introduction of the new S-class Mercedes, the revised, upscale version of a car that for years has been the car of choice for most of the world's embassies, Hollywood producers, oil emirates and arms merchants.

THE NEW S-class weighs more than 5,000 pounds and has an optional V-12 engine that produces 400 horsepower and sucks gas at a rate of about 100 French francs an hour, roughly the same as a twin-engine Cessna. As the Rolex watch of automobile status symbols, the new 600 SEL is the heaviest, most powerful car in regular production and costs roughly the price of a four-bedroom house.

It's a remarkable piece of engineering, which should finally lay the old "carved from a block of steel" cliché to rest. It is a block of steel, with nothing much carved away.

NOBODY IS going to make a heavier, bigger, more expensive car for a long time, and that makes Mercedes feel a bit more secure than a few years ago — when BMW began making a more powerful engine, with 12 cylinders vs. Mercedes meager V-8; the Japanese were edging upwards in price and precision luxury; and U.S. manufacturers were making rapid gains in style, finesse and mechanical precision in the luxury car field where they already dominated in interior room and sales volume.

Mercedes answer is this incredible car, which rolls down the highway drawing mainly admiring glances. But once in a while you notice a stare of pure hatred — typically a younger French driver in a smallish French car, who grits his teeth, yells silently something absorbed by the sound-absorbing glass in the big Mercedes, and takes a death-defying chance to cut you off at the next curve.

Let them eat cake. I think to myself, as we get back on the road to Grenoble, relaxed in the knowledge that in fact they do take credit cards.

Growing up

'Patent Leather Shoes' is great fun

The Village Players present "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?" at the Birmingham Village Theatre. Remaining performances are at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 28, and Friday-Saturday, April 5-6. Tickets are $9, student tickets are $7. Reservations are recommended; call 644-2075.

youth. "He doesn't want to meet Sister Lee either."

Despite her fierce demeanor, Sister Lee shows a soft side and even kicks up her heels in one lively number.

Stephen Tadevic is great as Father O'Reilly, sometimes needing the patience of a saint to deal with his young charges, sometimes trying to literally pound behavioral rules into their heads.

Bob Wilkinson is wonderful as Louie Schlang, the shy adolescent who fantasizes that he is a teen singing idol while he stammers out an invitation to dance at the freshman mixer.

Monica Perisi is well-cast as spirited, boy-crazy Virginia Lear. Kristine Murrell is amusing as angelic Mary Kenny, the perennial teacher's pet. Diana Marie Balsama is fine as pert Nancy Ralansky.

Jay Peterson is delightful as the over-sexed Felix Lindor, and Ken Ebaugh is very credible as Mike Depki, the resident skeptic.

Director Lindsay Balmer Hinz, assistant Cheri Pobst, musical director Joan Bowes, and choreographers Debi Jackson, Suzy Leonard and Hinz have all created a lively, highly entertaining production.

Barbara Michals teaches high school English in Southfield. A theater critic for the last 16 years, she is an inveterate play-goer who regularly catches up on all the New York productions.

the infamous warning that girls should not wear black patent shoes because they reflect up. Others come from older siblings, such as the amusing idea that a girl will do anything a boy asks if he massages her elbow. "Thank God, we'll never be that young again," cast members sing at the finale.

While the nuns and priests are gently satirized, the play makes it very clear that their warmth and understanding are always there when needed.

Tim Reinman as Eddie Ryan and Carolee Castle as Becky Bakowski get most of the good songs. Both have fine voices and winning personalities.

In grammar school, Eddie offers his friendship to unhappy, overweight Becky. In high school, friendship blossoms into romance until Becky decides to enter a convent and Eddie begins to question the tenets of his religion.

BETSY TODD is marvelous as Sister Lee, the tough old bird whose students estimate her age to be at least 1000. "God's no fool," quips one Growing pains, the little triumphs and tragedies of childhood, are recalled with gentle good humor in "Do Black Patent Leather Shoes Really Reflect Up?"

The current production by the Birmingham Village Players features a wonderful cast in this engaging musical. The only flaw on opening night was painfully slow scene changes.

Although the play is set in Catholic grammar and high schools, the pangs of childhood are universally recognizable to "publics" as well as parochial school alumni. There are common fears of tough teachers, divine retribution for misbehavior, and ridicule by classmates if one is considered "different."

Act I follows eight boys and girls through grammar school and their worries about keeping the esteem of members of their own gender. Act II shifts to the teen years and the problems of adolescent sex.

SOME OF the naive notions of youth come from the nuns, such as

Todd Langen succeeds with 'Turtle' screenplays

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

IT'S BEEN quite a year for Todd Langen who, following his 1978 graduation from North Farmington High School, earned two degrees in aerospace engineering at the University of Michigan. And his success has nothing to do with rockets or space stations.

"Last year was phenomenal," Todd noted in a recent phone interview from his North Hollywood home.

He's currently at work on an original screenplay for a feature film, which he hopes will match the success of his first two produced works, scenarios for "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles I & II."

"Know what you want and be prepared to work for it, because it seldom happens by random chance or magic," is Todd's advice. That's exactly what he did, as recounted in these pages just under a year ago when "Teenage . . . Turtles I" was about to premiere.

"To get good at anything, you have to practice," as Todd tells it, and he wrote 20 or 30 scripts "on spec" — that's jargon for writing on the speculation that you may be able to interest a producer in purchasing your work. More often than not, only file drawers are interested.

IN LANGEN'S case, however, working on spec led to sale of a script for television's "Wonder Years" and soon a position as staff writer for the series. The assignment to write the "Turtle . . ." scenario followed.

Just before "Turtles I" opened, he received an Emmy nomination for the "Wonder Years" episode, "Coda" — the story of Kevin taking a piano lesson. That program also received another nomination as "Best Script for a TV Comedy Episode" from the

and it's very rare to get a sequel turned out in less than a year, but from conception to screen, "Turtles II" was less than 10 months," Todd noted.

"We (Todd and the creators of the Ninja Turtle characters, Kevin Eastman and Peter Laird) spent a week in Massachusetts talking about tone and what elements to include."

FROM THE very first meeting with the producers, they were extremely sensitive to criticism received on the first "Turtles."

"Even though it was cartoon violence," Langen noted, "there was an outpouring from parents and critics. I feel that kids can distinguish between cartoon and real violence. The upshot was that we decided to be more creative and clever."

As this reviewer attested Monday, "Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles II: The Secret of the Ooze" has lots of action and very little violence, and is clever enough that it won't be a painful experience for parents. The movie premiered in Detroit last week at the Showcase Cinemas in Pontiac with a benefit which raised $2,000 for cystic fibrosis.

Todd spent last summer finishing the script for the film and then a spent a week on pre-production consultation on location in Wilmington, North Carolina. He was on call throughout the production and post-production periods.

"The success of the "Turtle" movie was wonderful," Todd said. "It's given me the luxury to work on an original screenplay. But the greatest fun was sitting and enjoying with the audience."

"Then, I'd hang around the exits listening to comments. The best moment came when I heard a mother say to a distraught 3- or 4-year-old, 'But honey, the movie has to end sometime, it can't go on forever.'"

Writer's Guild — and it's especially sweet to be recognized by one's colleagues.

Last July, still another "Wonder Years" segment, "Square Dance," won a Humanitas Award for television writing, which "fosters understanding." In January of this year, "Turtles I" received the Movie Award as Best Children's and Family Film.

But Todd hasn't been sitting back counting nominations and awards. Because advanced test screenings were overwhelmingly positive, the "Turtle" producers, Golden Harvest, started working on the sequel before "Turtles I" opened.

As Todd noted, "it was for the obvious reason, capitalize on the Turtles phenomenon. Early last May when the "Wonder Years" season ended, I started working on the script for "Turtles II."

"It usually takes a year to two,

Shirley MacLaine sparkles at Fox

Shirley MacLaine dazzled Fox Theatre audiences with her song and dance show Thursday-Sunday. The multi-talented redhead performed as part of the AT&T Variety Series at the Fox, in Detroit.

MacLaine took many bows after the opening night performance Thursday. Although she admits each leg is "27 1/2 years old," the star who first rose on Broadway in the Bob Fosse musical "Pajama Game" in 1954 still has the ability to strut her stuff with the best of them.

The performer with a pixie face adorned her shapely, long-legged body in basic black, plus spangles. She wore a deep-necked gown, whose long skirt was removed to reveal a short skirt for a song-and-dance number. Later, for serious dancing, that skirt came off and she was in a leotard.

Other routines changed the outfit with jackets and accessories to create many more fascinating costumes.

THE BROADWAY star and Academy-Award-winning actress

Ethel Simmons

THE THREE dancers also spoofed the Michael and Janet Jackson style of dancing and dressing with "attitude," on MTV. MacLaine praised Alan Johnson, who choreographed her show, calling him America's best and most sophisticated choreographer. Johnson's specialty is changing time signatures, which MacLaine, Savage and McDaniel then artfully demonstrated.

MacLaine had fun with her own image and beliefs. "This is an incredible theater," she said of the lavish Fox. "Like one out of one of my old lives." Later in the show, she paused to talk about her experiences in Peru, where she received a personal mantra that led to — "Inka Dinka Do." "Gottcha!" she said, after completing the joke.

Other songs MacLaine sang, besides many of the hits from shows she has been associated with, included "Taint Nobody's Business," with personalized lyrics. She closed with Stephen Sondheim's "I'm Still Here," which she said paralleled many aspects of her own life.

Women's films will be featured

"Films For Women About Women," Oakland University's 10th Annual Film Festival, will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 6, in room 156 of North Foundation Hall. Sponsored by the OU Women's Studies Program, the festival will feature three award-winning films by women along with discussions with two of the filmmakers themselves.

"Calling the Shots" will be shown in the morning and "Half the Kingdom" and "No Need to Repent" will be shown in the afternoon. The film showings will be interspersed with formal and informal discussions.

Films chosen for the festival have earned international honors, including the Canadian version of an Emmy and an award at a French festival for films by women. "Calling the Shots" is an acclaimed documentary by Janis Cole and Holly Dale about women in the film industry. Clips from films, including "Desperately Seeking Susan," and "Dessert of the Heart," are mixed with interviews with women directors, producers, writers and actresses.

"HALF THE Kingdom" is a story about the quest of seven Jewish women who try to blend their 20th century lives within a traditional religion. Produced and directed by Francine Zuckerman, it has been called a "must see" film for its insights on the modern Jewish feminist experience.

"No Need to Repent," by Ann Alter, tells the real-life story of the Rev. Jan Griesinger, an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ. The work focuses on how Rev. Griesinger integrates her ministry, politics and personal life.

Admission is $12 for non-students, including lunch. Students with IDs will not be charged admission to the films; an optional lunch will be available to them for $7. The deadline for mail-in registrations has already passed. Registrations can be made at the door the day of the program, but luncheon cannot be guaranteed. For further information, call 370-3180.

Menzel film at DFT

The Detroit Film Theatre (DFT) of the Detroit Institute of Arts will present Czechoslovakian director Jiri Menzel's film, "Larks on a String," this coming weekend, from Friday through Sunday. Unseen anywhere for more than 21 years, this comedy/drama from the maker of "Closely Watched Trains" and "My Sweet Little Village" was made in 1968 and banned after Soviet tanks rumbled into Czechoslovakia.

Set in a city near Prague in the 1950s, it tells of the romance between a man and a woman sent to "re-education prison" for their political misdeeds. Dave Kehr of the Chicago Tribune said "Larks" was "surprisingly lighthearted and funny." J. Hoberman of "Premiere" said of Menzel that "none of his other films exhibit so severe a disjunction between the sweetness of the story and the harshness of the circumstances."

"Larks" will be shown at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 7 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $5 general, admission and $4 for students with full-time identification. They are available in advance at the DIA ticket office or at the door.

The DFT's Crystal Gallery Cafe is open one hour prior to each performance for light snacks and complete beverage and bar service. All proceeds from cafe items benefit DFT programming.

For further information on individual tickets or group rates, or to receive a complete schedule of films, phone 833-2323 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Spartans set to defend soccer title

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

OK, so you're the coach of the defending Class A state girls soccer champion, and all your players have returned to defend that title.

An envious position to be in, isn't it?

"Probably not," said Livonia Stevenson coach Mary Kay Hussey, who returns for her third year to guide her alma mater. "Everyone is gunning for us, and it's always difficult defending a championship. I'd rather be the one gunning for someone else than defending a championship. But I think this group is ready for it."

The Spartans were ready when they counted last season.

Stevenson, which battled injuries and struggled during the regular season, capped its season with a 15-4-1 season, with a 10-0 record in the Adams in the state final. Incredibly, the Spartans lost no seniors to graduation and return 16 players, including junior halfback Ragen Coyne, a two-time all-state choice.

All-Area forward Lori Godlewski also returns for her senior year.

"Ragen ranks as one of the best I've seen," Hussey said of Coyne, who finished with 16 goals and 13 assists last year. "She has a high skill level, vision and endurance and has improved physically. She's much stronger."

Junior Tracy Morrell, a leading returnee, might miss the entire season because of a knee injury, and senior Emily Heby will be out a month with a hand injury, Hussey said. But among the other returnees are goalkeepers Alicia Smith (junior) and Karen Groulx (sophomore), senior defender Andrea Wittrock, along with juniors Lisa Thomas, Shannon Wilkinson and Jean Barnas.

Patty Diamond and Michelle Brach also return after fine freshman campaigns, and Hussey welcomes five new freshmen to the program.

"The experience of last year will help; the pressure situations they went through last year as young players makes them now an older, mature team," Hussey said. "The league (Western Lakes Activities Association) will be tough as always. I have no idea who will end up on top."

Never count out Livonia Churchill, which won the state title in 1986 and has been a contender ever since under coach Nick O'Shea. The Chargers lost in the WLAA playoff final to Farmington and didn't get out of the district, but have a strong lineup returning in front of senior goalkeeper Monia Cervi (three shutouts in '90).

Senior forward Lori Place, a second-team All-Observer choice in '90, and senior midfielder Mechelle Brazin combined for 17 goals a year ago. Also on Churchill's side is a winning attitude, with five players off the Chargers' recent Class A championship volleyball team in the lineup. "Hopefully it will carry over, eh," O'Shea said.

Franklin finished at 6-7 overall a year ago, but coach Joe Galea has an All-Observer first-team player returning in junior midfielder Patty Shea (12 goals, eight assists).

In the Catholic League Central Division, Livonia Ladywood will try to break the .500 mark after going 4-5-4 in coach John Ozog's first year.

FILE PHOTO

Lori Godlewski (left) of Livonia Stevenson and Fran Priebe of Livonia Churchill have been familiar foes the past two seasons. Both teams are among the state's best this season.

The Blazers lost second-team All-Observer choice Cassie Ozog to graduation, but return defender Christa Ozog (All-Catholic) for her senior year.

Dawn Gabriel is the new coach at Garden City. Gabriel played for O'Shea at both Churchill and Schoolcraft College before becoming his assistant coach last year at Churchill.

"Nick has been a real influence, not only in my playing years but he also helped me along in coaching," said Gabriel, an '88 Churchill graduate. "I go to him with questions and advice all the time. I don't agree with everything he says, but I get his thoughts and make my own decisions."

Redford Union will try to get in the win column this season after going 0-14-2 a year ago, while Thurston shoots for a .500 record after a 5-8-5 season.

- Season opener: Wednesday, April 10 vs. Dearborn.

- Last year's record: Defending Class A champs with 15-4-1 overall record.

- Promising newcomers: Five freshmen.
- Hussey's '91 outlook: "The experience of last year will help; the pressure situations they went through as young players makes them an older, mature team. We have a lot of depth. It's hard to say who's better of two, three or four (of my) top players. I mean that, because we have a solid team. If one player is out, there's someone to take their place."

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

- Head coach: Nick O'Shea, fifth year.
- League affiliation: Western Lakes Activities Association (Western Division).
- Season opener: Wednesday, April 10 at home vs. Troy.
- Last year's record: 10-3-2 overall; first place in Western Division; lost in WLAA finals and Class A district.

We have a lot of seniors and Northville has a lot of seniors, but Stevenson won the state last year without any seniors. Cantor and Salem has some good, young players so it's hard to say how good they'll be. It'll be interesting."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

EVERY YEAR YOU'LL find quality gymnasts in Observerland, but it seems that was never more true than in 1991.

With the Nos. 2 and 3 teams in the state — Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton — residing in the area, the sport reached an all-time high.

To have teams of that stature, it required some exceptional gymnasts, and while the majority hail from Salem and Canton, not all are members of those teams. Six of the seven schools with gymnastics teams are represented on this year's All-Area squad.

Ten of the 14 members are repeat selections. Salem's Kim Miller and Courtney Gonyea, North Farmington's Heather Kahn, Canton's Dawn Clifford, Heather Murphy, Kim Rennolds, Johanna Anderson and Jenny Tedesco, Westland John Glenn's Christine Prough and Wayne Memorial's Kelly Jacobs were selected again.

Salem coach Kathl McBride led the Rocks to their most successful season and was chosen Coach of the Year. It also was her final year as coach. She plans a move to Washington where her husband is stationed with the U.S. Army.

all-area gymnastics

The Rocks captured a second straight Western Lakes Activities Association championship, won a regional title and finished second in the state. If not for the presence of another fine team — state champ Muskegon Mona Shores — the '91 Salem team would be considered the best in state history.

ALL-AREA TEAM

Kim Miller, sophomore, Salem: Miller placed third in the state in all-around competition (37.15). She was second on balance beam and floor exercise, fifth on vault and bars.

She also was the regional and WLAA champion in everything except bars. Miller achieved an Elite All-American rating on vault, beam, floor and all-around and is an All-American on bars.

Miller also had the top Observerland score in every category with 9.55 on vault, beam and floor, 9.60 on bars and 37.55 in the all-around. "Kim is the most talented gymnast in the state," McBride said. "No matter where she placed (at the state finals), I'm still happy with what she did. She's still my favorite gymnast in the state."

Courtney Gonyea, sophomore, Salem: Gonyea qualified for the state meet as an all-arounder and finished ninth with a 36.05. She also placed fifth on beam and sixth on floor.

At the regional meet, Gonyea was second in every event but bars, in which she took fifth place. She was second in the WLAA on beam and floor, third on vault and in all-around scoring.

Gonyea is an Elite All-American on beam and floor, All-American on vault, bars and all-around. She had season-best scores of 9.40 on vault, 9.20 on bars and 9.50 on beam and floor. Her top all-around score was 37.00.

"She's a very enjoyable gymnast to watch, especially on beam and floor," McBride said. "Courtney's beam and floor (at the state meet) were as pretty as they always are."

Alysa Solios, freshman, Salem: Solios made an impressive debut on the high school scene, finishing second in the state on floor and 10th on bars. She was eighth among all-arounders with a 36.40 at the state meet.

In regional competition, Solios was second on bars, third on floor and fourth in the all-around. She is the WLAA champ on bars, and she also finished third on vault and fourth on floor and all-around at that meet.

Solios is an Elite All-American on bars and floor, All-American on vault, beam and all-around. She had season-high scores of 9.60 on bars, 9.45 on floor, 9.30 on beam, 9.35 on vault and 36.75 in the all-around.

Pye, Beaufait embark on Final march

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

Now it begins. Or ends — perhaps too quickly.

Northern Michigan University's hockey team has reached a long-sought goal — the NCAA Final Four. The Wildcats battle the University of Maine at 3 p.m. today in one semifinal, with Boston University and Clarkson meeting in the second.

The winners play for the NCAA title at 8 p.m. Saturday; that game will be telecast by ESPN (the semifinals are on PASS). Minneapolis-St. Paul is the site for all three games.

For Bill Pye, NMU's standout goalie and a strong All-American candidate, this week's games will definitely be his last collegiately. The senior from Canton HS will be looking to the pros afterwards.

Mark Beaufait, a Livonia Stevenson graduate, has another year of college eligibility; he'll be back, but with five forwards, Pye and star defenseman Brad Werenka all graduating, it will be difficult for the Wildcats to reach this pinnacle again.

"That's why we want to win it this year," said Beaufait.

THE END of the season is not something Pye or Beaufait is dwelling upon. They have two common goals — extend the season as far as possible, and end it with a victory.

Problem is, there are three other teams with the same aim.

But with both University of Michigan and top-ranked Lake Superior State eliminated, NMU — which was rated second in the last NCAA poll — must be considered the favorite, even if the team's players don't agree.

"When it comes down to the Final Four, I don't think there is a favorite or underdog," insisted Pye. Beaufait echoed those thoughts: "All the teams are good. Anyone can win it."

Both players will have to produce for the Wildcats to succeed in capturing the school's first-ever NCAA title. Pye, in particular, will be in the hot seat; goalies always are.

"Goaltenders win championships," he said. And senior goalies are depended upon even more.

A SHARPER Pye will be necessary this weekend. In last weekend's sweep of Alaska-Anchorage, the offense was unstoppable, scoring 13 goals in the two games. But the defense surrendered five goals in the opener in what coach Rick Comley called his team's worst defensive effort of the season.

"The first night, I wasn't following the puck real well," said Pye. "But we got the win. I came back Saturday and took some shots (before the game), which I normally don't do — just trying to get my confidence up." It worked. The Wildcats won 5-3, with Pye making 30 saves — 15 in the third period.

Throughout the season, he has been reliably outstanding. He has a 2.75 goals-against average with four shutouts; NMU has a 30-3-4 record with him in the net. For the season, the Wildcats are 35-5-4.

The question is, will Pye be the hot goalie? In a single-elimination tournament, the team with the seemingly unbeatable netminder usually prevails.

"IT IS tough," said Pye of the single-game elimination. "Anything can happen: That's why there's no underdog."

It does put a lot of pressure on you, but I'd rather have it like that than playing a best-of-three against Maine."

Perhaps the memory of this season's earlier games with Maine have something to do with Pye's one-game preference. In November, NMU played twice at Maine and lost twice, 4-1 and 4-2. At least the losses makes it unlikely that the Wildcats will be caught looking ahead to a possible berth in the NCAA final.

"Right now, we're focusing on our first game," assured Beaufait. "We know what we have to do. We've got to slow down their top lines, and we've got to hit them. They're a quick team, and they have a good transition game."

Beaufait, a member of NMU's fourth line, will look to continue doing just what he has been doing — provide both offense and defense. He has 18 goals and 29 assists this season for 47 points.

He'd like to add a few more goals to his total in the next two games, especially if they can be translated into a pair of wins.

Focus hasn't been a problem for NMU. "It's hard not to think about it," said Pye. Then he added: "It's all happening real quick. People I don't even know are coming up to me and saying good luck. It's really exciting."

Problem is, the excitement can come to an abrupt end.

college sports

Baseball season has begun — collegiately speaking. Indeed; some teams are quickly approaching the mid-point of their campaigns, having played more than 20 games already.

One player off to a fast start for University of Michigan's team is junior righthanded pitcher Todd Marlon, from Plymouth Salem. In a 9-8 Wolverine win over South Alabama, Marlon notched his fourth save in as many attempts, then added his first win of the year in U-M's 6-5 victory over Notre Dame.

Marlon, who holds the school record for saves in a season, could not have a better record. He's pitched eight innings in six appearances, allowing six hits and a walk while striking out nine. He has yet to surrender a run. Through 11 games, U-M was 8-3.

SOME OTHER Observer products are enjoying quick starts. Included is Redford Thurston graduate Art George. Playing for the University of Evansville, George was batting .324 through 11 games, with four doubles, one home run, six runs batted in and six stolen bases in seven attempts. His batting average was second among regulars on the Aces, who were 7-3-1.

Tim Dowd's Central Michigan University team wasn't off to a great start, going 5-6. But Dowd, a senior from Plymouth (Salem), was doing his share. The outfielder had played eight games and was hitting .417. His 10 hits, two doubles and eight RBI were tied for second among the Chippewas.

SOFTBALL IS well underway, too. So is University of Detroit junior Denise Tackett, another Salem HS graduate. Tackett was third in batting in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference at .375; her 15 hits ranked second. She had six RBI for the Lady Titans, who were 8-7 overall.

NOW BASKETBALL. We'll start with academics. Jessica Handley, a senior at Saginaw Valley State from Salem HS, was named to the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference all-academic squad. Handley, who set a new school career record for assists, carries a 3.70 grade-point average, with a pre-law major.

Most schools hoop season has concluded, so here are some final stats on Observer players.

Katie McNulty, from Livonia Ladywood, averaged 6.5 points and 5.4 rebounds a game for Bowling Green State, which finished 14-15 overall (9-7 in the Mid-American Conference). She led the team in blocked shots with 30 and was second in rebounding, despite averaging just 17.7 minutes a game.

Sue Nissen, from Redford (Dearborn Divine Child), completed her collegiate basketball career the same way she played it throughout — in style. Nissen averaged 16.3 points, 7.1 rebounds and 3.2 assists, making 49.5 percent of her shots, while guiding the Lady Chippewas to a 21-8 record. She finished her career with 1,938 points — best in school history and third-highest in MAC history.

Jennifer Okon, from Westland (John Glenn), is also done with basketball. Okon's Northern Michigan team did not end its season without a fight, however, reaching the NCAA Division II regional finals before bowing out. Okon averaged 8.5 points and 5.2 rebounds as a starting forward, making 46 percent of her free throws and 84 percent of her free throws. NMU finished 22-9.

Bill Vitti, a junior at Saginaw Valley State from Redford (Catholic Central), was the chairman of the boards in the GLIAC this season. Vitti led the conference in rebounding with a 9.7 average; the 6-foot-6 center also averaged 10.7 points while making 58.8 percent of his shots, third-best in the GLIAC, and had 50 blocked shots. Vitti was second-team all-GLIAC and was a member of the all-defensive team. The Cardinals finished 13-14 overall.

The fate of Parrish Hickman's Michigan State basketball team was widely witnessed. The Spartans bowed out in the second round of the NCAA tournament with a double-overtime loss to Utah. Hickman, a junior from Redford Bishop Borgess, filled his sixth-player role by averaging six points and 3.7 rebounds a game. His best games: 15 points in a win over Northwestern, 10 boards in a loss to Nebraska.

Jill Estey, a sophomore at the University of Illinois, saw her team struggle to a 9-19 record (6-12 in the Big Ten), but she had a solid season.

Estey averaged just 3.7 points, but the point guard also dished out 5.5 assists and made two steals a game. Her best games: 14 points, seven assists and five rebounds in a win over Minnesota, and twice dishing out 11 assists in a game.

SALEM YAFFAI, a senior on University of Michigan's wrestling team from Plymouth (Salem), won his first match at the NCAA Tournament before losing twice in the 118-pound division. His first loss came against eventual champ Chad Zaputill of Iowa.

Yaffai finished with a 17-7-2 overall record, 9-1-1 in the Big Ten. In the Big Ten meet, Yaffai lost to Zaputill in the championship match.

TWO KALAMAZOO COLLEGE swim team members selected to the all-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association have Observerland backgrounds. Sophomore diver Jim Davis, from Canton (Wayne Memorial HS), and Cindy Grush, a sophomore from Farmington (Mercy HS), were each honored.

Grush placed third at the MIAA meet in both the 100-yard and 200-yard breaststroke and was fifth in the 500 freestyle. Kalamazoo College won the MIAA women's title and was second in the men's.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN'S hockey team will be playing for the NCAA championship this weekend in Minneapolis-St. Paul, thanks in part to the play of senior goalie Bill Pye and junior winger Mark Beaufait.

Pye, from Plymouth Canton HS, was an all-Western Collegiate Hockey Association selection and was named MVP of the WCHA playoffs for the second time in three years. He has a 2.68 goals-against average, with four shutouts. Beaufait, from Livonia, was named to the all-WCHA playoff team; he has 18 goals and 27 assists for the 36-5-4 Wildcats.

Dena headed to 'Orleans

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

Success is a relative concept. Winning more than losing is enough for some teams; for others, anything less than a national title isn't enough. This season's Nevada-Las Vegas' basketball team is a prime example.

So is Tennessee's. That's Tennessee's women's basketball team, which will be appearing in the NCAA Final Four for the fifth time in the last six years this weekend in New Orleans.

Included in that run are two NCAA champions. Dena Head, a junior from Canton (Salem HS), remembers the second one. Head started at point guard as a freshman when the Lady Volunteers beat Auburn for the title in 1989.

That tradition is what lured Peggy Evans, the 1989 Miss Basketball and a Detroit Country Day graduate, to Tennessee. Like Head (another former Miss Basketball), Evans has contributed greatly as a freshman. She is hoping her first year at Tennessee ends as successfully.

Certainly, Evans first year of college basketball was difficult to anticipate. "I probably played more defense the first day of practice here than I did in four years of high school," she said.

SHE ALSO learned very quickly that to play for coach Pat Summitt, she'd have to keep playing a lot of defense. "Our team really focuses on defense," said Evans. "The people who play the best defense will probably play the most."

It is a philosophy Evans endorses completely. "I just think Pat is one of the best coaches around. If you work hard and show her what you can do, she'll give you a chance. She's very fair."

Evans was convinced of that early. She got into Tennessee's season-opener against Stanford, the defending NCAA champion, and responded by scoring 20 points. For the year, Evans has averaged 8.5 points and 5.7 rebounds while playing 19.2 minutes a game. She has started nine times.

Of course, Evans would love to repeat that performance Saturday, when the Lady Vols meet Stanford again in the NCAA semifinals. It's the third time this season the two teams will clash; Tennessee won the first two.

"I think it's an honor to go to the Final Four," she said. "Most freshmen never get that chance. The experience will help me later on."

As for her previous success against Stanford, Evans said, "I got some confidence from it, proving to people what I could do. I'm not going to dwell on it, though. I want to concentrate on what we need to do to win this weekend."

MAYBE HEAD can answer that. She was part of Tennessee's "disappointing" 1989-90 season; the Lady Vols made it only to the NCAA regional finals.

"We started our preseason pretty much the day after last season ended," said Head. "And we worked hard all during the off-season."

"(The loss in the regionals) is always in the back of your mind. There is some motivation from it, but we didn't dwell on it."

What the Lady Vols did was reassemble an even more determined team. It showed Saturday in their 69-65 regional final victory over Auburn; Head hit the clinching two free throws and finished with nine points.

Now switching between point guard and off-guard, Head has stepped up her game again. She averaged 11.4 points as a sophomore, making 45 percent of her floor shots; this season, Head is averaging 12.6 points, 5.7 rebounds and a team-leading 3.7 assists. All except the assists are career bests.

But most impressive is her shooting. Head is making better than 50 percent of her floor shots. And from the perimeter, she has connected on a team-high 49 percent of her three-point attempts — 25-of-51. In her previous two seasons combined, Head had attempted just four three-pointers.

"THE THREE-POINT shot is definitely a key part of the college game," she said. "It's something you want to take advantage of. I've been given the green light to shoot it, and, given the opportunity, I'm going to take it. It's a great tool." But it isn't improved shooting that Head thinks is her biggest contribution to this year's team. It's leadership. And it's something she wants to keep doing, particularly through the weekend.

"I want to continue to be a leader for our team and do whatever is necessary, whatever it takes, to win," said Head.

First, the Lady Vols must get past Stanford. To accomplish that, Head said they'll have to play tough defense against point guard Sonja Henning and "control their post people."

And they'll have to rebound, especially on the defensive boards.

A win against Stanford will put Tennessee into Sunday's nationally televised final against the Virginia-Connecticut winner. And while such success may be a school tradition, it's not one the Lady Vols tire of.

She concluded the season with a solid performance on floor at the state meet, scoring 9.45 on the second day and giving her an 18.90 total that tied Miller for second place.

"Alysia sold it," McBride said. "She psyched herself up. When you see it in her eyes, you know she's going to jam."

Kim Rennolds, sophomore, Canton: Rennolds, the lone all-arounder from her team to qualify for state, took 12th place with a 35.40 score. She also was eighth on vault and ninth on floor.

She was the regional champion on bars and also finished third on beam and all-around and fifth on floor at that meet. In the WLAA, Rennolds was sixth in the all-around and on floor, seventh on bars and eighth on beam.

Rennolds, a two-time all-stater and All-American, had season-best scores of 9.40 on vault, 9.35 on floor and 36.45 in the all-around — all school records. Her best on beam was 9.15 and best bars was 9.30.

"Kim had another excellent year," Canton coach John Cunningham said. "She was our most valuable gymnast and will be even better next year."

Heather Kahn, senior, N. Farmington: Misfortune struck late in the season when Kahn, runner-up to Miller in the all-around last year at state, was weakened by the flu days before the regional. She still managed to qualify for state on vault and floor, and she missed making the finals on vault by five 100ths of a point.

"She had a very good year," North coach Jeff Dwyer said, "but it didn't turn out the way she wanted it to. The flu hit her pretty bad."

"She's the type of girl I think will be even more determined in college. I don't see her getting sad and giving up. She's a strong individual. She'll put it in perspective and keep going."

Dwyer added that Kahn only scored less than 35.00 in the all-around a couple times all season and is still one of the best gymnasts in school history.

In the WLAA, she was second on vault and bars, third on beam and floor. She scored a season-high 37.40 to finish second behind Miller in the all-around. Kahn's other top scores were 9.50 on vault, 9.35 on bars, 9.45 on beam and 9.35 on floor.

Kelly Jacobs, senior, Wayne: Jacobs qualified for state as an all-arounder — the first from her school to do so since former coach Natalie Rieley in 1981 — after finishing sixth in the regional with a season-best of 34.50.

She also was third on vault, 11th on bars, 10th on beam and eighth on floor at the regional meet. Jacobs had season-high scores of 8.90 on vault, 8.95 on bars, 9.00 on beam and 9.10 on floor.

"Kelly's presentation and confidence in her ability is outstanding," Wayne coach Monique Kozoroski said. "Her attitude is very positive. She has the potential to excel in anything. She's a very high achiever."

Kyna Morgan, junior, Glenn: Morgan was another qualifier for the state meet in all-around competition, placing fifth at the regional with a 34.65 total.

She also was eighth on bars at the regional, seventh on beam and floor. In the WLAA, Morgan took fourth place on beam and bars, ninth on vault and 10th on floor. She was fifth in the all-around at that meet and third at the Saline Invitational.

Morgan had high scores of 9.00 on vault, 9.25 on bars, 9.35 on beam, 9.20 on floor and 35.85 in the all-around. Her average scores were 8.63 (vault), 8.46 (bars), 8.31 (beam), 8.77 (floor) and 34.30 in the all-around.

"Kim is a true competitor," Glenn coach Pam Yockey said. "She pours it out when she needs it. She sets her goal and goes after it."

Johanna Anderson, senior, Canton: Anderson, a state qualifier on vault and beam, will be the alternate to the five-person team of high school seniors representing Michigan at the Senior Nationals in June at Colorado Springs, Colo.

In the regional, she was eighth on vault, 13th on bars and fifth on beam. She scored 34.35 to finish eighth in the all-around. In the WLAA, Anderson was fifth on vault, seventh on bars, eighth on floor and ninth in the all-around (34.45).

Anderson was the Western Division champ on floor the last two years and a three-time member of the all-area team. She also was third on vault at the Troy Athens Invitational and is an All-American on vault, beam, floor and the all-around. Her top all-around score was 34.60.

"This was Johanna's best year — an excellent finish," Cunningham said. "Her qualification as first alternate to the Senior National team is only one example."

Heather Murphy, senior, Canton: Murphy, a state qualifier on beam and floor, is another three-time, all-area choice.

She was fourth on beam and eighth on floor at the regional, and she was fifth and 12th respectively in the WLAA. Murphy earned All-American honors in both events and holds the school record of 9.45 on beam.

"Heather has developed into a beautiful gymnast to watch on floor and beam," Cunningham said. "She deserved her 9.00 at the state meet."

Christine Prough, senior, Glenn: Prough is a three-time state qualifier and three-time All-American.

She was eighth on vault and 14th in the all-around at the regional. Prough was second among all-arounders at the Saline Invitational and tied Anderson for ninth in the WLAA. She also was sixth on beam and eighth on floor at the league meet.

Prough had high scores of 9.00 on vault, 8.65 on bars, 9.20 on bars, 9.25 on floor and 35.10 as an all-arounder. Her average scores were 8.57, 8.02, 8.56, 8.80 and 34.20, respectively.

"Chris is a true team leader," Yockey said. "She would extend herself way beyond what is expected for the good of the team."

Dawn Clifford, junior, Canton: Clifford qualified for state on vault. She was sixth on beam in the WLAA meet (9.15) and 14th in the all-around (32.45).

In the regional meet, Clifford was fifth on vault (8.75), 15th on bars (8.15) and ninth on beam (8.55). She scored 33.60 to finish 12th in the all-around. Clifford is an All-American on beam and the Western Division champ. She was third in that event at the Rockford and Freeland invitational.

Clifford had season-high scores of 8.90 on vault, 8.15 on bars, 9.30 on beam and 8.40 on floor. Her best all-around score was 33.90.

"Beam was the highlight of Dawn's junior year," Cunningham said. "Her 9.06 All-American average and division medal are evidence of exceptional performance."

Autumn Bunch, junior, Salem: Bunch was a state qualifier on vault, having placed fourth in the regional. She also tied for 12th on floor and was 13th in the all-around (33.50).

In the WLAA meet, Bunch was fifth on vault and 12th on beam. She had high scores of 9.35 on floor, 9.30 on vault, 8.70 on beam and 8.75 on bars. Her best in the all-around was 34.85.

"Her scores consistently counted on vault and floor," McBride said.

Jenny Tedesco, sophomore, Canton: Tedesco qualified for state on bars, finishing sixth (8.95). She also was 12th on floor and 10th in all-around scoring at 33.70.

She recorded high scores of 8.95 on bars, 9.25 on beam and 35.05 in the all-around. Tedesco was fourth on beam at the Freeland (9.25) and Rockford (8.90) invitational. She is an All-American on bars, beam and all-around.

"I'm extremely pleased with Jenny's success at the All-American level and her excellent improvement in areas like floor exercise," Cunningham said. "Her 8.75 at the state meet is a prime example."

Lisa Granfeldt, junior, Clarenceville: Granfeldt achieved All-American scores and recognition on beam, floor and all-around. She was the most valuable member of the Clarenceville team.

"Lisa is a talented gymnast and a key figure on the Clarenceville team," coach Chuck Thompson said. "She is proficient on all events and is a steady, consistent performer and would be an asset to any program."

AAU Wildcats win

Warner lifts 16-and-under champs

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

The Western-Wayne Wildcats found out what it's like to really work overtime Sunday in the Under-16 girls basketball AAU state tournament.

After losing in overtime, 61-59, late Sunday morning to the Michigan Defenders, the Wildcats went on to win three more games within the next six hours and capture the state AAU championship at Plymouth Canton.

The title earned the Wildcats a berth in the national tournament, scheduled for June 28-July 6 in Johnson City, Tenn.

Coach Fred Thomann's team deserves the time off. The Wildcats were 7-1 throughout the three-day tournament.

"This team did not fold at all and was very resilient (after losing the first game Sunday in the double-elimination tournament)," Thomann said. "They did a great job putting that loss behind them and going on to the next game. At that point and time in the tournament it becomes a game of who's got the best conditioned players and the where-with-all to play in adverse conditions. Four games in eight hours is tough."

Livonia Franklin's star junior guard Dawn Warner and Flint Powers' center Lisa Negri sparked the Wildcats' Sunday rally. After losing the overtime game to the Michigan Defenders, the Wildcats ousted the defending-champion Brick-City Bombers, 64-53, to reach the final round against (none other than) the Michigan Defenders.

NEGRI SCORED 19 points and Warner 16 as the Wildcats handed the Defenders their first defeat, 55-45. In the tourney's final game, the Wildcats jumped out to a five-point halftime lead and behind Negri's 19 points, defeated the Defenders, 59-51.

Warner's most-impressive game might have come Saturday when she scored 21 in a 63-54 win over her former teammates, the Brick-City Bombers.

Other Observerland players who excelled for the Wildcats included Salem's Darcie Miller, Franklin's Patty Shea, Canton's Julie Nicastrri and Farmington Hills Mercy's Mary Bieniewicz.

"(Warner and Negri) are awfully good, and the other thing is we had good balance from other people," Thomann said. "Nicastrri didn't score a lot, but did a lot of other things nicely, like keeping the ball alive on the glass; playing defense. Miller made some big free throws and rebounded real well."

The weekend, which also included the 18-Under championships, drew about 800 to 1,000 fans for the weekend at the three sites (Salem, Plymouth Canton and Northville), Thomann said.

"I'm already looking forward to next week (April 5-7 when Salem, Canton, Northville and Mercy host the 13-Under, 12-Under and 11-Under championships)," Thomann said.

THE 18-UNDER championship was won by the Michigan Defenders, a team coached by West Bloomfield's Ronna Greenberg. The Defenders cruised through the tourney with no losses in six games.

After winning the opener Friday night over the Oakland County Lady Knights, 92-86, the Defenders won their next five games by an average of 21.6 points.

Six players averaged in double figures for the Defenders, including North Farmington guard Eve Claar, who scored at an 11.0 clip. Claar scored 19 in a 90-65 win Sunday over the Michigan Royals when the Defenders clinched the title.

The Defenders also are scheduled to play in the national tourney, June 28-July 6 at Johnson City, Tenn.

"Eve Claar had a very, very good weekend and was real consistent," Greenberg said.

Claar was the first guard off the bench, playing behind this year's Miss Basketball, Markita Aldridge (Detroit King), and next year's leading candidate for the award, Tannisha Stevens (Mount Clemens). West Bloomfield guard Amira Danforth, who missed her senior year with a severe knee injury, played four minutes over the weekend and is eligible to play in the national tournament.

Livonia Ladywood players Rebecca Willey and Leslie Catanarite also contributed.

GC United bounced back to beat Northside Christian (16-5) of Mayfield, Ky. in the second round, 76-64, behind Cavin's 23 points.

Senior forward Ragnar Moore and Cooper each added 15 points for the winners.

GC United was eliminated by

All-Area spikers bright

By Brad Emons
staff writer

COMBINING BRAINS and talent, state Class A champion Livonia Churchill leads another talented group of All-Observer volleyball players for 1991. The Chargers, coached by Mike Hughes, placed three honor students, all the first team.

Hughes, who guided Churchill to a 47-1-1 record, was also selected Observerland Coach of the Year after leading his squad to three invitational titles, along with conference (Western Lakes) and division (Western), district, regional and state crowns.

The 14-year veteran coach has an overall record of 399-116-32.

Wayne Memorial, Class A quarterfinalists and Wolverine A League champions, also garnered three first-team berths along with Livonia Stevenson, the only team to beat Churchill this season.

Meanwhile, Catholic League A-B Division and district champion Farmington Hills Mercy landed two players on the first team.

Area coaches gathered recently to select the top players in the area. Here is a look at the first-team selections.

FIRST TEAM

Brandy Caincross, Wayne Memorial: Named to the Michigan High School Volleyball Coaches Association Dream Team, the 6-foot-1 Caincross was the area's most feared spiker.

The senior co-captain played in 69 games (missing 42 because of a thumb injury), but still managed to rack up impressive totals for kills (251), solo blocks (95) and ace serves (27).

She had a spiking percentage of .850 and a kill percentage of .345.

Caincross will attend Ferris State on a full-ride volleyball scholarship this fall after turning down an offer from South Carolina.

"Brandy was a dominating force in the front row," Wayne coach Ann Kolnitys said. "She was the most talked about high school player in the state. Brandy is a gifted young lady with more potential than any player I have ever coached."

Caincross ended her career with 20 kills in a state quarterfinal loss to 65-0 and top-ranked Holland West Ottawa. Wayne finished 41-6 overall.

Christina Garry, Liv. Churchill: The senior middle hitter made second-team Class A All-State and Academic All-State (4.29 grade-point average).

The 5-8 Garry, an All-Western Lakes pick, recorded 315 kills with a kill percentage of .352.

"Christina is an extremely competitive person and takes pleasure in both the defensive and offensive responsibilities of her position," Hughes said. "Through much effort, she became a fine passer and defensive player."

"There was never a time in either a practice or a contest when she does not give her very best. She has improved all aspects of her game in one of the outstanding players in the state."

"Her attitude toward the team epitomizes what Churchill volleyball is all about."

Alyssa Belaire, Liv. Churchill: An All-Western Lakes selection the past two years, Belaire was the Chargers' other senior middle hitter who excelled.

The 5-7 Belaire paced the team in service reception (.94.1 percent) and blocking percentage (.88.1). She was also second in digs (82.4 percent) and hitting (.279 with 255 kills), and third in serve percentage (.94.2).

"Alyssa is arguably Churchill's finest all-around player," Hughes said. "She also has fine hands, and with her quick feet, could easily play at the outside hitting position or set at the college level."

Belaire, a second-team Class A All-Stater, is also an excellent student, carrying a 4.0 average in a rigorous academic program.

Amy Baron, Liv. Churchill: The 5-foot-4 senior was the "field general" of the state championship squad.

The first-team All-Western Lakes choice was the setter in Churchill's 5-1 offensive attack, responsible for handling the front and back rows.

And outstanding defensive player, Baron had a dig percentage of 84.2.

She also led the Chargers in serves (.96.3 percent) and recorded 1,184 good set in 1,203 tries (98 percent).

Baron, the team MVP by a unanimous vote, is also a superb student, maintaining a 4.0 average.

"Amy is both creative and intelligent in apportioning the ball against different defenses and players," Hughes said. "Most of all, she is the quarterback and there is no question who is running the Chargers offense when she is on the floor. Her competitive attitude and control of the offense is what makes the Chargers tick."

Maureen Paulin, Farm. Hills Mercy: A three-year starter since her sophomore year, Paulin never missed a game, powering the Marlins to two Catholic league crowns, a pair of district championships and a berth in the 1990 final four. (Mercy was 130-21 during her stint.)

Paulin registered 352 kills in 909 attempts (.290 percent) along with 316 digs.

The 5-8 outside hitter was selected second-team All-State (Class A) and first-team All-Catholic. Paulin also carries a 3.2 GPA.

She was also MVP at the Livonia Stevenson and Madonna invitationals, along with team MVP.

"Maureen is simply one of the finest young ladies I've been fortunate to work with, and is arguably the best volleyball player. Mercy has produced," Mercy coach Tim DeBeliso said. "Maureen emerged as our leader in both work and deed. Her commitment to her coach, team and school was extraordinary. Her competitive fire and relentless pursuit of excellence were without a doubt, the driving force behind our success."

Suzie Atchinson, Farm. Hills Mercy: The 5-7 senior setter was an honorable mention All-Stater and reaped first-team honors in the Catholic League and Region.

Atchinson was also named to the all-tournament teams at Madonna College and Stevenson.

She had 854 assists this season and 255 digs. Atchinson had only 18 service errors in 341 attempts and 23 reception errors in 355 attempts.

"As a first-year setter, Suzie quickly understood what was expected of her," DeBeliso said. "Regularly, she was the first to arrive and the last to leave practice. Her greatest attribute, though, is her mental toughness."

"Her dedication, discipline and refusal to accept nothing less than her best, catapulted Mercy to the second best record in the school's history (48-6-2)."

Atchinson is also an outstanding student, carrying a 3.974 GPA.

Keli Haeger, Liv. Ladywood: The 5-9 senior setter and middle blocker was an honorable mention All-Stater and All-Catholic League pick.

She led the Blazers to a final record of 43-11-3 en route to tournament victories at Delta, Dearborn Edsel Ford, Essexville-Garber.

With a jump-touch approach of 9 feet, 4 1/2 inches, Haeger averaged five kills and 12 assists per game.

Haeger, a three-year starter, was a member of Ladywood's 1989 state Class A championship squad. As a junior, she helped the Blazers to a second place finish at state.

"The past year Keli has improved her arm swing enough to be one of the top spikers around," Ladywood coach Tom Teeters said. "But more importantly, her setting skills have improved. If Keli continues down this path she will be one of the better collegiate volleyball student-athletes... as a setter, spiker or a combination of both."

Sue Bell, Liv. Stevenson: The third-team Class A All-State pick led Stevenson to an unbeaten record in the Western Lakes Activities Association and a district crown.

Bell was also an All-Western Lakes selection.

The 5-7 senior outside hitter recorded 248 kills in 684 attempts (.268), 127 ace serves in 465 attempts, along with 326 total digs.

"Sue was a tremendous three-year player for us," Stevenson coach Lee Cagle said. "It will be a great void to fill, not only for her abilities, but also because she is a quality person. She was a good friend to her teammates and also a help to me. She has always given her best and her heart to volleyball."

Teresa Sarno, Liv. Stevenson: The 5-9 middle blocker with a 24-inch vertical jump made the All-Western Lakes and All-Region squads.

She also made the all-tournament teams at the Temperance-Bedford and Stevenson Invitationals.

She recorded 137 kills in 351 attacks (.178), 70 ace serves in 388 attempts, 115 total solo blocks and 276 total digs.

"Teresa is a player finally coming into her own as a team leader," Cagle said. "Her volleyball skills have improved greatly. She has dominant defensive skills and will improve offensively. Teresa gives her all, every minute, in every practice and game."

Patty Diamond, Liv. Stevenson: The 5-10 sophomore setter recorded 664 assists in 2,306 attempts (.963 percent).

She also added 258 digs, 42 solo blocks and 47 ace serves for the Spartans.

Diamond was named to the All-Western Lakes team, as well as all-tourney at Stevenson and Bedford.

"The most enthusiastic, effervescent player we've had in years," Cagle said. "Patty has done a tremendous job as a first-year all-around setter."

"Potentially, she is one of the best setters in the state. She deserves a tremendous amount of credit for our success this year. A true team player."

Laura Fisher, Wayne Memorial: The 5-7 junior setter was the Zebras' co-captain and was voted Most Dedicated.

Fisher also made the All-Wolverine A League and All-Region teams.

In 111 games, Fisher recorded 54 ace serves, 73 kills (.284 percent), 197 digs, 1,009 kill-assists and was good on 2,726 out of 2,734 sets.

"Laura is the most dedicated player I have ever coached," Kolnitys said. "She has only one focus — the team. She goes to all limits for the sake of her teammates."

"She's an excellent 5-1 setter who has taken her team to the state (quarterfinals) the past two years."

"Laura was a young lady that listened to every work a coach had to say and continued to improve and mature with every match."

Gerri Ruffing, Wayne Memorial: The 5-10 outside hitter was voted Wayne's MVP and received honorable mention All-State accolades.

In 111 games, the All-Wolverine A League selection had 295 kills (.279 percent), 117 ace serves, 417 digs and a 92 percent serve reception.

"Gerri is a young lady that has to work very hard to be good," Kolnitys said. "She developed into my best defensive player. She pulled my team together when we lost a key player early in the season."

"She is a great server (93 percent) who took pride in being the first server of the game. She gave the team a lift by starting many games with one or more ace serves."

Ruffing is also an excellent student, carrying a 3.5 GPA while planning to attend the University of Michigan.

'Tis the season to be cruising

If cruising is on your list of dream vacations, this may be your year. Winter is a high season for northerners who want to flee the snow and enjoy the sun, but summer is still peak travel season for Americans, especially families, and cruising is part of that.

Travel bookings for every destination have been soft because of Desert Storm, and soft bookings encourage discounts. Bookings are picking up, but cruise ships all over the world are still eager for passengers.

On top of that, cruise ships that normally sail the Mediterranean in summer have repositioned themselves to North America this year. You will find them in the Caribbean, on the Alaska runs and even in the new and growing New England market.

Cruise ships have always had discounts for people who book early, but they have extended their early-booking discounts this year. You might have to hurry, because many have extended only until April 1, but there are others that will be cutting cruise rates for a much longer time.

Where to go? Hawaii almost never offers cruise discounts. Alaska is a fairly expensive market, and the early-booking discount is only about 5 percent. But there is a new wrinkle in the Alaska market. Several of the European ships have repositioned some of their sailings to Alaska this year.

Paula Sucaet, cruise manager of Only By Sea Inc., in Birmingham, says Holland America is still offering $350 per couple off their sailings; book by April 1. Regency has extended its early-booking discounts to 90 days before sailing, which means you can book in May and sail in August.

"You can book an Alaskan cruise for as little as $1,700 per person, including airfare, but $2,000 and up is more realistic," Paula said. "Regency is a good example. It's a casual ship. At their early booking rate, you can sail for $1,300 plus $475 per person for airfare to Vancouver, British Columbia and home from Anchorage, Alaska."

Paula highly recommends cruises to Bermuda this year. You can sail for $1,100 out of New York. I sailed the Horizon to Bermuda last summer and highly recommend that itinerary too. Bermuda is very expensive, but one of these week-long cruises gives you a day and half of sailing time, coming and going, as well as four days in Bermuda with your ship as hotel.

The best deals are still in the Caribbean. The upscale Renaissance Cruise Lines has repositioned to the Caribbean this summer. Buy one passage and the second person in the cabin is free.

The midscale Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines offer 50 percent off an air-sea package for the second person. Buy your own air and the second person costs $199 for the cruise.

Budget-priced Regency Lines offers 50 percent off an air-sea package for the second person in the room. Buy your own air and the second person cruises free!

You won't find many bargains on New England cruises, which are mostly fall cruises. Paula says most people in Michigan are used to changing fall colors so they don't book fall color cruises as eagerly as southerners do.

What about the kids? Try a three- or four-day cruise on Premier, Carnival, Royal Caribbean, Norwegian Cruise Lines, etc. You can't beat Premier, because of its ties with Walt Disney World. And Premier has a single-parents plan applicable to some but not all cabin categories. Single parents can bring a child under age 17 for the much lower rate usually paid by the third and fourth persons in the room.

Remember: It doesn't cost you a penny to talk to a travel agent or to book through a travel agent. The travel industry pays their commission.

Taste the Old South in Mississippi mansions

By Phyllis Kreger Stillman
special writer

"Gone with the Wind" created beautiful and selective images of antebellum plantation life: An elegant home reflecting opulence and plenty. A lifestyle characterized by chivalry and the southern belle. Mint juleps on the veranda. As for the slavery that made it all possible, well, we'll think about that tomorrow.

A number of antebellum plantations along the Mississippi River between New Orleans and Baton Rouge have been restored as elegant bed and breakfasts where you can spend the night steeped in the history and reliving the romance. Guests are usually housed in outbuildings, but a few have rooms in the "big house." Madewood

When I first arrived at Madewood, I thought I had made a mistake. There was no paved parking lot, no guide in antebellum dress, and the entry way looked, frankly, a little seedy. But Madewood turned out to be my favorite of all the plantations I visited. It feels like a home, not a hotel. It may be the closest we'll get to experiencing life on a 19th century plantation.

Overnight visitors to Madewood are treated like friends of the family, welcome to explore the home with its beautiful antiques and impressive art work, and actually use the rooms. Nothing is roped off.

Guests have the run of the grounds, including a quiet and peaceful family cemetery, shaded by a massive oak tree, with graves dating back to the 1820s.

An overnight stay begins in the library, with fruit, cheese, wine and conversation with other guests.

It's at dinner, served by candlelight in the main dining room, when the romance really begins. In the flickering candlelight, with one of the guests acting as the master of the house with a small bell to summon the staff, the years melt away and you become part of history.

The food is fabulous. Dinner is a home-cooked, four-course meal

This is the Madewood mansion on Bayou La Fourche near Baton Rouge, La. Guests here have the run of the grounds, including a quiet and peaceful family cemetery, shaded by a massive oak tree, with graves dating back to the 1820s. The Greek revival-style mansion has 365 windows and doors, one for each day of the year.

featuring regional specialties like gumbo, sweet potatoes, southern-style vegetables, seafood pie and bread pudding with whiskey sauce. After dinner, coffee and brandy are served in the parlor.

In the morning, guests are awakened with fresh coffee and juice in their rooms, followed by a continental breakfast (most often including homemade biscuits and jam).

The mansion is Greek revival style with six supporting columns in front and long porches on the second floor, front and back. It was designed by architect Henry Howard with 365 windows and doors, one for each day of the year. And it is beautiful; so beautiful that it was used in the TV movie "A Woman Called Moses."

There are four bedrooms and a suite available in the main mansion for overnight guests. Some bedrooms have bathrooms within, others have private baths down the hall. (None of the rooms have telephone or television, but TVs are available if you ask.)

Rooms in the main mansion are $159 per couple per night and include the aforementioned amenities, plus a guided tour of the mansion. Other accommodations are available.

Virginia towns are wonderful places to leave hubbub behind

Editor's note: Betsy Taylor of Birmingham learned fishing from her father and antique collecting from her mother. She doesn't go fishing as often as she likes, but is very involved with antiques.

She is a member of the steering committee for the Birmingham Antiques Festival, which previews 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Thursday April 11, and will be in operation 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday April 12 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday April 13 at the Community House in Birmingham.

Her love of antiques also takes her traveling. She recently escorted a group of antique lovers to Leesburg. Yes, and then

reader's report

on to the annual antiques forum in colonial Williamsburg. In this story she tells us about a weekend getaway in Leesburg.

By Betsy Taylor
special writer

We approached historic Leesburg through a maze of fast-food chains, but disappointment disappeared when we viewed the heart of the town. Chartered in 1757, it still boasts some original buildings as well as old brick walks.

Leesburg has many good inns and bed-and-breakfasts, but I prefer to stay at The Norris House Inn. My prejudice may well stem from the fact that my daughter Libby is the innkeeper! But the inn is charming.

Built in 1806, it has been lovingly restored by owner Amy DeRemer to the 1850-80s style it had while occupied by the Norris brothers, famous Virginia builders and craftsmen. The restoration is most evident in the library where guests gather by the fire to read, sip tea, or talk. The bookcases, furniture, and pale yellow walls create a cozy setting. The bedrooms are well appointed, but guests should expect to share a bathroom. Three of the bedrooms have fireplaces, so I like to arrive Friday evening after dinner, unpack, and begin my relaxing weekend by curling up with a treasured book by the fire.

Guests are left pretty much to their own, but do gather for a hunt-style breakfast in the well-proportioned dining room. A typical breakfast includes fresh fruit, juices, homemade muffins, quiche, sausage, toast and endless pots of coffee laced with cinnamon. This ample breakfast is included in the $68 to $112 a night charge. The Norris House Inn is at 108 Loudon St. SW, Leesburg, VA 22075, (703) 777-1806.

A needlework sign at the inn reads "George Washington slept next door." The adjacent stone house is called Washington's Headquarters, because it is believed that Washington quartered here during the French and Indian War.

Saturday we explored Leesburg. The town has an understated look so sweaters, slacks and comfortable shoes are right for a country weekend. Shops are set in wonderful old brick or stone houses built in the late 18th and early 19th centuries.

At the foot of the hill stands my favorite shop, The Guest Room, Ltd., owned and operated by Pat Ewalt, who left horse raising to open a shop full of old laces and quilts. It is Mecca to the horsey set who flood the town during hunting season.

The nearby town of Middleburg, a weekend retreat for government leaders, is smaller and has all the shops centered on one road.

Stop at the B and A Grocery for a chat with Mrs. Edwards who has been in business for 57 years. She says 800 people live in Middleburg plus "a lot of folks who walk around on the weekends." Buy her chutney, and damson jam, or order

Reader has handy tips on Alaska and Florida

ALASKA

Very rarely in any travel plans do I see or hear the "Top of the World Highway" mentioned. It runs from Dawson in the Yukon to Tok, Alaska.

The high-country scenery is fantastic, but traversing it requires good driving and care. Dawson is special too, in that so much of the gold mine equipment remains where it was left when mining operations ceased.

In the Kenai in lower Alaska is the Russian River. In June, thousands of fishermen line the banks to catch high salmon. What a sight!

Alaska visitors don't have to ride expensive cruise ships to enjoy themselves. In June and July of 1988, six of us traveled just about every major road in Alaska in a new Ford van with pop-up camper.

We ate well, enjoyed a lot of salmon bakes, the University of Alaska and seeing glaciers by boat. Total cost per couple for 60 days was just under $3,000. We drove the entire Alaska highway on the way north, and returned by the state ferries from Haines, with stops of several days at Juneau and Ketchikan, coming ashore at Prince Rupert.

That was our third and best trip to Alaska. Most people just get to the "front door" of Alaska with the cruise ships. However, additional Canadian taxes have driven up the cost of time spent in that country.

in outbuildings for $90 per couple, which includes breakfast and a tour, but not dinner. Dinner may be reserved though at $27.50 per person.

Madewood is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day. Contact Madewood, Route 2, Box 478, Napoleonville, LA 70390, or call (504) 369-7151.

Nottoway

Nottoway is not as homey as Madewood. An overnight stay is more like staying in an elegant hotel. What I remember best is the scolding birds that woke me in the morning. Here, about 40 miles from New Orleans, I was truly in the country.

Another memorable part of my visit was the chance to explore the mansion on my own, after the guided tours were finished for the day. The lights were dimmed. There was no one to guide or hurry me along, and I was free to linger in what felt like a private museum.

Nottoway was built using the best wood available on a 7,000-acre sugar plantation. Completed in 1859 and designed by the Madewood architect, the mansion was built by the John Randolph family. It's the largest plantation in the area, with 64 rooms, 53,000 square feet of living space and, like Madewood, 365 openings. Italianate and Greek revival in style, the mansion has 22 supporting columns and two flanking staircases leading to the main entrance.

A beautifully restored home, the gentlemen's study features curtains that are replicas of those used by Scarlett O'Hara to make her dress in "Gone With the Wind."

There are 11 bedrooms and two suites available for overnight guests, including the master bedroom and a bridal suite with a Jacuzzi. Each has a private bath, and all are furnished with antiques and decorated with fresh flowers. There is also a pool for the use of overnight guests.

Rates range from $125 to $250 per couple, including wine and snacks upon arrival; a morning wake-up with coffee, juice and a wonderful sweet potato biscuit; a country breakfast on the ground floor of the mansion; and a guided tour.

Randolph Hall restaurant is open for lunch and dinner across the grounds from the main mansion. It's large and elegant, with impressive chandeliers and a grand piano in the main dining room. Service is attentive and the food is wonderful; small portions beautifully prepared and presented.

Nottoway is open daily, except Christmas, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, write P.O. Box 160, White Castle, LA 70788, or call (504) 545-2730.

Other plantations with guest accommodations include Oak Alley (which is straight out of "Gone With the Wind"); Tezucoco, a small sugar plantation with simpler accommodations; and Ormond Plantation, which I haven't seen.

The 28 oak trees from which Oak Alley takes its name dominate the landscape and, in some ways, eclipse the mansion. Planted by a French settler in the early 1700s to form a path to the Mississippi River, the trees are now so big that limbs extend to the ground. The mansion, Greek revival with 28 columns duplicating the oaks along the drive, was used as the setting for the TV movie, "The Long Hot Summer."

The back yard features more large oaks along the pathway to the slave cabins, some of which have been made into cottages for overnight guests. (The cottages rent for $75 to $100 per night and include a continental breakfast.) For information, call (504) 265-2151, or write to Route 2 Box 10, Vacherie, LA 70090. Tezucoco nished with antiques, some of which belonged to the original owners. Most overnight accommodations are restored and converted outbuildings and slave quarters, and include kitchens. Many also have fireplaces. The price range is $60 to $95 per night.

A suite with kitchen and two bedrooms is available in the main house for $185 per night. All rates include wine in your room upon arrival, a tour of the mansion and a Creole breakfast served in your room.

Tours are conducted daily by guides in antebellum costumes from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The grounds include a chapel, a carriage house and a children's play house. There's an antique and gift shop in the mansion basement. For information, call (504) 562-3929, or write Tezucoco Plantation, 3138 Hwy. 44, Darrow, LA 70725.

Stand in front of Trivelda Real Estate and read the house ads. All of them state "Price upon request," which translated means, "If you have to ask, you can't afford it." The town's laundromat includes a sign that reads, "Only use the green machines if you're washing horse blankets."

The Red Fox, a famous and historic inn, provides late lunch, tea, a beer, or early dinner. The low-beamed tavern room with open hearth, polished plank tables, copper pots, fresh flowers, white-washed walls and recessed windows create a perfect ambiance. The food is excellent and the overnight accommodations outstanding; well worth the focus of another weekend.

Another detour from Leesburg is to nearby Aldie, home of The Little River Inn and the charming owners; Tucker and Mary Ann Wither. The inn includes the main house with five bedrooms, living room, dining room and two small cot-

With their own home, their antique shop, their involvement in the restoration of the old mill and son Calder's tomato stand, it's evident that the Withers own most of Aldie. A goat, several sheep and a donkey add to the ambiance of this small town. Rooms are $75 to $125 a night, breakfast included. For reservations call (703) 327-6742.

We returned to Leesburg for dinner at The Limelight, across the street from The Norris House Inn. Owned and operated by Christina and George Vetsch, it offers a delightful combination of gourmet meals and the simple pleasure of George's warm cheese bread. The service is excellent, the dining leisurely, and the surroundings pleasant.

Christina, a knockout brunette, greets the guests in a classy tux and spends time at each table, chatting with the patrons and carefully explaining the items on the menu. This is dining at it's best! Reservations are suggested: (703) 777-7492.

Sundays are leisurely in Leesburg. After breakfast there are many historic churches to attend, or a visit to the famous Oatlands Plantation might be in order. This is wine country and a vineyard visit is fun.

I like the new Tarara which produces a wonderful wine and is home to Margaret and Whitey Hubert. It's fun to sip wine, make a purchase, tour and enjoy the atmosphere. Tarara offers meeting facilities, picnic grounds, and group tours. For information call (703) 771-7100.

In each bedroom at The Norris House Inn is a guest book. The comments in the one in my bedroom, written by a recent guest, sum up my love for Leesburg. "The hospitality of The Norris House and the ambiance of the town brings me back in time when life was quieter, more regular, and less hectic. We all need times like this to restore ourselves. Thank you for this wonderful weekend of recreation."

Quilt exhibit showcases a new art form

quilter profiled: 4E

Quilts, traditionally bedcover and once crude insulation for castle walls, have come a long way since the most basic ones were made to keep bodies warm.

"Quilts As A New Art Form," a Janis Wetsman 20th Century Decorative Arts exhibition devoted to the genre, will show how 21 quilt artists have combined form and function into pieces adorning walls in living rooms, corporate suites and public buildings.

Four of the artists, Ohioans Nancy Crow and Judi Warren and local residents Carole Harris and Karen Kratz-Miller, will explain their techniques and creative processes at the opening reception 5-8 p.m. Thursday, April 4.

The 30-piece exhibition will run through April 27 at Artpack Services, 31505 Grand River (at Orchard Lake Road), Door 10, in Farmington.

Wetsman said she will donate 10 percent of all proceeds to the Design Industries Foundation for AIDS.

QUILTS HAVE rapidly grown from folk art to individual pieces now considered works of art.

Although influenced by traditional methods of quilting, many of the artists invited to show their work have formal art training.

They are a part of a movement that has witnessed sculptors, printmakers, potters and artists in other media embracing quilts as another path to explore.

The exhibition will provide a keen look at the quilt medium as an art form. Although textiles continue to be the predominant material, quilt artists have turned to the non-traditional. Crushed cola cans, ceramic, plastic and metal have been used to create these special pieces.

Wetsman, who operates a Birmingham gallery, said the exhibited artists were selected because they would provide a profound look at what's being created today. Prices range from $2,000 to $15,000.

ONE OF the newest trends in art quilting, making them appear three-dimensional, will be presented in two quilts by Joyce Marquess Carey of Madison, Wis.

"Stepping Down," a rectangular piece that measures 70 inches wide, shows four jacquard-woven pictures of former Chinese chairman Mao tse-Tung, using satin, velvet and sequins. "Magic Carpets," each 50 by 29 inches, appear at first glance as celluloid strips, furled every which way.

The Kings spent three years tearing down and rebuilding their Tudor style house in Livonia's Coventry Gardens. The couple demolished the original building to its frame to rebuild this 2,400-square-foot, four-bedroom house.

House with past secures a fresh and upbeat look

By Janice Tigar-Kramer
special writer

WHEN STEVE and Debbie King began the task of renovating and rebuilding an old, red brick house in Livonia's Coventry Gardens, they never dreamed the job would consume three years and involve the removal of each brick and every chunk of wet plaster.

The result, a 2,400-square-foot, Tudor-style house with vaulted ceilings, a spacious loft and modern appointments in each room, is an outstanding addition to a charming neighborhood where most homes date back to the 1920s.

"No one was convinced I could rebuild the house — not my mother, the suppliers or my wife," Steve said, flashing a smile at satin finish, ceramic floor with a work island and the newest in appliances.

Debbie. "I think that was part of the motivation to go ahead with it."

Besides the challenge from family, sub-contractors and neighbors who, over the years, had complained about the lack of attention renters had paid to the house, the building had special meaning to Steve.

The sixth of 13 children, Steve grew up in the two-bedroom house on Edington. He bought it from his parents in 1981 and remembered when it once looked like a mansion on its well-groomed, double-sized, corner lot. He was convinced it could be stately again.

SINCE HE'D worked as a painter, mason and roofer throughout high school, Steve decided to sub-contract only plumbing, electrical work and some carpentry.

He worked with an architect just long enough to produce the blueprint required by the city in exchange for a building permit. Then, unable to find a general contractor willing to supervise the project, he took over the job himself.

He also was certain bids would have been astronomical, anyway, simply to cover unexpected problems that generally accompany the demolition of an aging house. Even city inspectors thought he had taken on too much.

Right: Since the Kings liked the home's original bow-style window, they replaced it with a similar style by Anderson. The platform kitchen is boldly decorated in black and white.

Left: The Kings selected a traditional decor for the second-floor loft, which used to be the home's attic. The room, now the master suite, features a cathedral ceiling, four large skylights, an adjoining bath and a walk-in closet. The couple refinished the original red oak flooring.

Old Nankin Mills schoolhouse: It's rich in history

ITS NAMESAKE, the 135-year-old Perrinville School at Warren and Merriman in Westland, the first brick schoolhouse in what then was Nankin Township, is better known.

But Nankin Mills/Perrinville School, built by Henry Ford I in 1937 at Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road for workers at his nearby village mill, is still a Westland landmark brimming with history.

The two-room schoolhouse, in the old town of Perrinville, was expanded in the '50s. Livonia Public Schools acquired it in 1969 when the Nankin Mills School District dissolved. Livonia later converted it to a curriculum development center when elementary enrollment declined.

The school's name was changed from Nankin Mills to Perrinville

... I'm delighted to hear that the Westland Historical Commission is contemplating the Nankin Mills area as the first of many historic districts it hopes to establish during the '90s.

(minus the "s") after a new Nankin Mills school opened nearby in 1957.

Within this backdrop, I'm delighted to hear that the Westland Historical Commission is contemplating the Nankin Mills area as the first of many historic districts it hopes to es-establish during the '90s.

TOM BROWN, who chairs the commission, says the area is one of the city's most historic. "Ann Arbor Trail was the high road so it could be traveled year-round by stagecoach between Detroit and Arbor."

If Livonia Public Schools ever decides to close the curriculum development center, I'd urge it to work out an agreement with Westland so the city could restore the old two-room schoolhouse and use it as a museum of artifacts from the village mill era and early 20th century classrooms.

The original part of the schoolhouse boasts a slate roof, a bell tower, hardwood floors and a coal room.

"The core of the building, it's in pretty good shape," says Sue Grigg, head custodian. "The school's not in bad shape inside. And outside, it's in great shape."

DURING THE '20s and '30s, Ford, ever the innovator, bought old grist mills as part of a grand plan to build village industries along the Rouge and other small rivers.

He believed farmers working in an atmosphere of cleanliness and tranquility would restore a proper balance between the industrialized city and rural communities.

During the slack season, farmers "could work in the small plants in the farming communities, thus resulting in year-round work, providing the security of farm life with the increased income afforded by industry," Ford said.

Ford's experiment, which intrigued American and European planners, proved unprofitable. Nankin Mills closed after World II. It became a county nature center in 1956 but closed in 1980 when funding ran out.

IN ITS heyday about 1850, the town of Perrinville flourished as a small commercial center at Ann Arbor Trail and Merriman Road.

It was a stagecoach stop between Detroit and Ann Arbor. The coming of the railroad farther south to Wayne spurred the town's decline in the late 19th century. The crossroads became part of the new city of Westland in 1968.

Last year, the city applied for a $50,000 state equity grant to help restore the original Perrinville School at Warren and Merriman.

Plans call for Western Wayne County students to attend day-long classes in that school once it's restored. Harper Readers and reproductions of early textbooks would highlight the 1890s curriculum.

A: Small plastic-case radios of the 1930s have become extremely popular with collectors. "The Antique Trader Antiques and Collectibles Price Guide" lists your radio for $600-$800.

Q: I would appreciate any information you can provide about a ceramic figurine marked "WW-Made in Austria." It is a girl sitting on a rock with a drape around her hips and legs. The figure is 6 1/2 inches tall.

Skill raising Catalogs, seminars, shows inspire gardener

By Marge Alpern
special writer

One-stop shopping garden centers were a national phenomena of the '80s, which continue into the '90s. They are a visible manifestation of the growing allure of home gardening.

We are fortunate to have many fine garden centers in our area with a wide selection of accessories and plant material. Many centers stock a good supply of well-grown, tried and true specimens and each year we are able to find more rare or new cultivars.

There are enormous advantages in shopping locally. You can see and select exactly what you want, avoid shipping costs and delay in planting due to shipping time. If the plant is unsatisfactory, generally you can return it within a reasonable time.

However, when winter settles in, the garden catalogs again delight and entice me. I love looking at the pictures and occasionally I succumb to temptation and order a few new varieties.

The material in many catalogs is well-written and offers practical horticultural help. I sometimes feel like a child with a comic book as I linger over them during the winter months.

THE GLOSSY publications from well-established national commercial distributors are, of course, the most enticing. However, bigger isn't always better and I have had disappointments from several of the leaders in the field.

This past winter, I wrote for catalogs from several small, nurseries that grow their own private stock and often offer rare and unusual varieties.

My experience has been that although the catalog may be just a simple typewritten sheet, the plants are just as likely to be in good condition, well-packaged and cheaper than those from larger concerns.

The service often is much better and the catalog and the people are usually friendly. Now that counts for something these days.

There are dozens of small companies; check the back of your garden magazines for names and addresses if you wish to give them a try.

Catalogs from these nurseries are among those recommended by Allen Lacy in his fine book, "The Garden in Autumn."

1. Canyon Creek Nursery ($2), 5327 Dry Creek Rd., Oraville, CA 95965.
2. Holbrook Farm & Nursery ($2), Rt. 2, Box 223, Fletcher, NC 28732.
3. Lamb's Nurseries (free), East 101 Sharp Ave., Spokane, WA 99202.

YOU OFTEN find garden accessories listed in some catalogs that are helpful and not easily found elsewhere.

Last summer, I ordered a Hanewacker Perennial Spade ($22 plus shipping, total cost $26.25) from The Gardener's Eye, P.O. Box 100963, Denver, Co. 80210. This company's slogan is "Healthy Habits Build Healthy Plants." The two-foot handle of this spade with the sharp "V" shaped cutting edge better than a trowel for digging wide, shallow holes. It's a convenient size for me.

Along with the flood of catalogs this year, there are several gardening events to heighten our anticipation of spring. They all promise to be worthwhile and fun.

The second Ann Arbor Flower Show at Yost Field House April 11-14 will again attract gardeners from all over the midwest. New ideas are being planned, and the show promises to be once again a huge success. Tickets will admit only for specified times for each day and are available at all Ticketmaster outlets and Hudson's stores.

A TRIP to London to see the Chelsea Flower Show is being offered by the Matthaei Botanical Gardens of the University of Michigan. There is ample time scheduled to visit the show.

The spectacular display of British horticulture undoubtedly makes it the premier show in the world. Arrangements have been made to see it during the Royal Horticultural Society Member's Preview.

There will be tours to many famous gardens, including Sissinghurst, Wisley, Kew and Hidcote Manor. To see these gardens at their springtime peak will be a real attraction for me.

The trip, May 19-26, is being planned by Huron Valley Travel Inc. of Ann Arbor. For information, call John Kosta (313) 761-1300.

Exhibit and opera help salute Mozart

An exhibition of 50 posters by contemporary British artist David Hockney are on display through May in the Detroit Main Library, 5201 Woodward.

The display is in the third-floor exhibit hall of the library, in the University Cultural Center.

The exhibit is a part of the "Mozart Magic in Motor City" promotion of a series of events celebrating the bicentennial of Mozart's death in 1791 and made possible by Ford Motor Co.

It directly relates to the Michigan Opera Theatre's production of Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute," April 27 and May 1, 3 and 4 at Masonic Temple, Detroit.

The posters, loaned by collector Brian Baggott of London, England, represent more than 30 years of Hockney's artistic production. Baggott owns more than 150 posters, a collection that is unrivaled.

Hockney is regarded as one of the most successful artists of his generation. He was born in England in 1937 and now lives in Los Angeles.

His many changes of style and ventures into new fields have been chronicled extensively. He has done painting, photography, drawing, Polaroid-photo collages, laser printing and Xerox-machine composition.

He is noted for his stage set and costume designs for this production of "The Magic Flute."

Library hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, but not Wednesday, when the library is open 1-9 p.m. No admission charge.

Edith Kaufman, owner of the Poster Gallery, supervised the installation. For exhibition information, call the library community relations office, 833-4043 during business hours.

For ticket information on "The Magic Flute," call the MOT ticket office, 874-SING.

The Wintergreen quilt, 70 by 70 inches, is done in shades of gray and green with accents of violet, red and tangerine. The $4,800 piece will be on exhibit at Artpack Services.

Quilter's magic bold and bright

By Janice Tigar-Kramer
special writer

Quilter Karen Kratz-Miller may have been drawn to her craft as a child resting on her mother's old bedspread.

The quilt artist memorized the pattern and the colors of the bedcovering as she ran her fingers over the lumpy, well-worn quilt each day at nap time.

And even if she didn't sleep, the familiar lines of the quilting were as relaxing then as they are today to the Farmington artist.

"I was so familiar with my mother's old quilt. Looking at the pattern every day, I'd see different pictures. I felt like I made that quilt myself," said Kratz-Miller, who will show two quilts at the Wetsman quilt exhibition through April 27 at Artpack Services in Farmington.

Kratz-Miller, who designed and sold her own line of clothing, accessories and wallhangings in San Francisco, retired her apparel line in 1978 when she began quilting.

That year, her first quilt, "Sundance," earned two awards (one for innovative design) at the National Quilt Contest in Santa Rosa, Calif. Since then, the fabric artist has picked up awards throughout the country at local and national quilting shows.

Though quilting techniques haven't changed much over the years, modern quilting is considered an art form, said Kratz-Miller, whose innovative quilts include dramatic combinations of colors and designs.

"I DON'T go for safe, color combinations. I like surprises and I enjoy the magic that happens when I put fabrics together," she said. "Quilting doesn't have to be serious business. It's fun."

It's obvious the artist enjoyed creating the Maple Street Series, a collection of quilts depicting the four seasons. "Maple Street Rag," depicting fall, was inspired two years ago when the artist moved to Michigan from California.

"I was amazed by the change of seasons. When we first arrived, I lived on the front porch and watched the leaves turn," Kratz-Miller said.

"Maple Street Rag," named for the street on which she lives, features leaves and splashes of bold colors and patches of plaid on black background. Like her other quilts, the back is quilted with a complementary pattern of colors.

"Wintergreen," measuring 70 x 70 inches, is done in shades of gray and green with accents of violet, red and tangerine. It's boldly highlighted by a black background. Fan and cable quilting suggest snow drifts and gusts of wind.

"EMERALD SPRING," 74 x 54 inches, includes dozens of plaid and photos by SHARON LEMIEUX/staff photographer

Quilter Karen Kratz-Miller used vivid colors such as teal green, orange, red and gold against a black background to create "Fireworks," a quilt measuring 53 by 71 inches. The piece is solid greens, some hand-dyed, on a black background. The piece is random quilted, giving it a feeling of breeze, or air. The artist is still planning the summer quilt.

"Wintergreen," priced at $4,800, and "Emerald Spring," $4,300, will be part of the Wetsman exhibit.

When the artist is searching for fabrics to add to a quilt, she's not above using her own clothes or her boys' shirts. She literally conducted a "green hunt" while making "Emerald Spring," even using part of the dining room tablecloth to finish the piece.

Kratz-Miller, a native of Pennsylvania, learned early on to appreciate the simplicity of Amish quilts. Like the Amish, she generally uses black as a unifying color.

"What makes a quilt unique is the play between the colors and fabrics," she said. "Black brings the work together and makes the other colors pop out of the quilt."

KRATZ-MILLER, who attended Rhode Island School of Design, creates her quilts like an artist paints a landscape.

After selecting a theme, she pins fabric pieces on a layer of quilt batting, which is hung on the wall of her workroom. Seeing the pattern unfold vertically gives the artist a clearer perspective of the work.

Exhibit spotlights quilts as art

The dramatic move from craft to art also is apparent in the shapes and subject matter of contemporary quilts.

Arturo Sandoval, a professor in the University of Kentucky's College of Fine Arts, will show his 54-by-66-inch "Ground Zero #8," which takes on an oval appearance from afar.

"I'm inspired by the things I see and feel," said Kratz-Miller of Farmington, a full-time artist who has fine tuned her quilting over the last 15 years. "You're not going to see landscapes or recognizable machine quilted with variegated metallic thread. "Fireworks," priced at $3,900, is available through the Janis Wetsman 20th Century Decorative Art gallery in Birmingham.

Using 50-100 fabrics in each quilt, she is able to finish a project in four-to-six weeks.

The artist often becomes attached to a quilt as she makes it but because she can't repeat the creative process, she never attempts the same design twice.

"I love fabric and color and it seems so natural to put them together," she said. "Each quilt is very different and somewhere during the process of making it, it takes on a life of its own."

forms."

Harris, a Detroit interior designer inspired by African themes, agreed. "It's not narrative," she said of "Homage," a 50-by-90-inch geometric that features projections, or streamers, that reach to the floor. The quilt is dominant with black, purple and turquoise.

THE EXHIBITION also will feature the work of Faye Anderson, Elizabeth Busch, Lia Cook, Caryl Breyer Fallert, Sharon Holdingsfeldner, Nancy Herman, Jane Kaufman, Terrie Mangat, Ruth McDowell Jan Myers-Newbery, Elizabeth Newbill, Esther Parkhurst, Pamela Studstill, Jane Sassaman and David Walker.

Founded in 1984, the Design Industries Foundation for AIDS was started by interior design, furnishings and architecture professionals. It now encompasses all aspects of design.

Its mission is to raise and distribute money to AIDS groups and projects nationwide. It so far has distributed $5 million to 250 groups providing AIDS education and services in 32 states.

The design industries also have donated millions of dollars in furnishings and design services to community AIDS groups, both through the foundation and independently.

House's renovation a fulfilling experience

Taking time from his job as lead singer of Steve King and the Ditties, he began the tedious demolition, often working 12-hour days. He finished 18 months later, filling more than a dozen 30-yard dumpsters with debris. Much of the red brick was salvaged and donated to Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village, where it was used to pave the walkways.

Besides exceeding his $100,000 construction budget, Steve did more demolition than he originally planned.

"I wanted to save walls, but I realized the finished project would be much better if they were installed new. The project became larger and larger," he said.

AS WET plaster was replaced with drywall, he faced the problem of how to route air ducts after converting from steam heat to a forced air heating system.

For example, since head room in the basement was a premium, ducts had to be concealed and boxed into the north wall. The first-floor hallway ceiling was lowered one foot just to accommodate cold-air returns.

The couple changed each room's original design, except the library, which still includes the handsome, dark-walnut paneling installed in 1927. The couple also reused the original front door and restored the marble entry.

Since the Kings wanted an open floor plan, they raised the original nine-foot ceiling in the great room through the attic, vaulting it to the roof. Dramatically decorated in black and white, the room is flanked by expansive windows on the west side to allow in afternoon sun. The room also includes a zero clearance, mirrored fireplace.

gen stove and a matching Jenn-Air oven.

THE TWO first-floor bedrooms for Casey, 5, and Brandon, 8, include the original oak floors, which Steve pickled for a more updated look. Both have nine-foot ceilings, pickled woodwork and closet doors, plus a pair of lofty, double-hung windows.

The first-floor bath, decorated in navy ceramic with gold and white accents, includes a step-up tub with a narrow window overhead for natural lighting. The couple saved the old pedestal sink, reglazed and fitted with gold-tone fixtures.

The second-floor loft, formerly the attic and a dormitory-style room for Steve and his brothers, is a departure from the contemporary first level. Overlooking the great room, it includes the original red oak floor and is supported underneath by an exposed structural beam.

The loft has four large skylights, a walk-in closet and a whimsically decorated bath with a corner shower and a vaulted ceiling. The loft leads to a fourth bedroom for 2-year-old Allyson, born during the renovation.

THE FINISHED lower level, decorated in gray tones, houses a spacious recreation room, a possible fifth bedroom, a bath with spa, storage and a concealed furnace room.

Debbie took on the job of decorating. Neutral, off-white walls are dramatically highlighted with colorful balloon shades, shirred-on valances and mini blinds or pleated shades. The children's rooms are decorated with colorful wallpaper borders, matching bedspreads and coordinated accessories.

"We don't like heavy window treatments or an over-decorated look," Debbie said. "The house is very bright and we've been able to take advantage of the natural light."

and browsing through building, decorating and garden magazines, had only one request for Morelli Landscaping: year-round color.

After the removal of about 20 overgrown evergreen trees, the Livonia landscaper graded the oversized lot and planted bunches of petunias and begonias for color when the Kings moved in last May. The wide bed surrounding the house also is filled with low spreading Junipers and dense yews for spring, summer and fall color.

THE YARD is dotted with Burning Bushes that provide a rich, red color in fall, a Flowering Almond shrub and a Dwarf Purple Lilac.

The generous-sized lot also is filled with Birch trees, a Candied Crab Apple, Crimson Maple, Sugar Maple and Lace Leaf Maple. The variegated Red Twig Dogwood flowers all summer and turns beet red for fall and winter color. Two varieties of Maple trees line the boulevard.

George Bird

Bird was well known for his expertise in early china, ceramics, early American and contemporary glass, and early American antiques. His collection reflects his broad range of interests.

Saturday's agenda includes 18th and 19th century country furniture and accessories. Sunday's includes late 19th and early 20th century items.

BIRD LEFT his position as curator of the Berks County Historical Society in Reading, Pa., to become a research assistant at Henry Ford Museum in 1953.

He soon became curator in the decorative arts and the glass and ceramics fields. He retired as senior curator of decorative arts in 1977, after 24 years of research and curatorial work.

From 1977 until his death late last year, Bird continued to be active in the glass and ceramics field.

His volunteer work included curatorial work for Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills and board of trustees work for the Jones Museum of Glass in Douglas, Maine.

BIRD LECTURED, taught and wrote about decorative arts throughout his career.

his later collections. He was part of the museum training program at the Philadel-

Bookshelf yields wealth of green-thumb insight

Two books will be of interest to those who wish quick and accurate identification of many plants.

Although the title "Ornamental Shrubs for Use in the Western Landscape," by Emille L. Labadie ($13.95 paper, $17.95 cloth), may sound as though the book can only be used in the west, many of the plants can be grown in Michigan, although some may be annuals.

All the plant characteristics are given on a page opposite the very fine line drawings. Listed in alphabetical order by the botanical name, the common ones are also given.

The second, "Ground Covers in the Landscape," ($14.95 paper, $19.95 cloth), will take the guesswork out of choosing such a plant.

It is the same format as the shrub book with descriptions of plant parts that are lessons in botany.

To order, write: Sierra City Press, 2690 Las Aromas, Oakland, Calif. 94766. Add $3 per book for postage and handling.

the first chapter of "A Harrowsmith Gardener's Guide to Water Gardens," edited by David Archibald and Mary Patton (Camden House, $9.95 paper), will grab you and set the creative juices flowing.

Then, it continues with the considerations one must make when planning water gardens, pools and fountains.

Subsequent chapters deal with the how-tos of construction and maintenance, even suggesting that a small container makes receptacle for a plant or two. The final chapter details plants and their requirements.

All in all, this is a well-written, factual book.

"FOLIAGE, PLANNING and Planting" by Anna Pavord (Harper Collins, $16.95) is another in the Classic English Gardening Guides series.

Gardeners will learn about textures, shapes, colors and where and how certain plants can be used to the best advantage.

Descriptions are complete. A

gardener's book nook

Marty Figley

chapter is devoted exclusively to ferns, bamboos and grasses, which become more popular each season.

"AN ILLUSTRATED Guide to Attracting Birds" is the newest offering from Sunset ($7.95) and does a good job with the many photographs and descriptions.

The chapter with "Birdscaping Your Yard" will make you anxious for gardening weather.

Plans for feeders, houses and baths and where to put them are included. Sunset books are often sold in hardware stores and garden centers.

THE PHOTOGRAPHS of the many English gardens in "Creating a Cottage Garden" by Sue Phillips (Grove Weidenfeld, $29.95) clearly show the many varieties of plants that can be grown in such a garden.

In addition, the text describes some of the processes used to obtain such planned naturalness.

Early cottage flower gardens began in the front of the house and wandered around to the back, sharing space with animals, herbs and vegetables.

Phillips shows how a garden can use old plants as well as recent cultivators effectively to achieve this look.

You may want to have a plant dictionary at hand, since in the text the author uses botanical names. The section devoted to traditional plants lists both the botanical and common names.

IN "The Cottage Garden" (Prentice Hall, $29.95), Christopher Lloyd and Richard Bird explain the history of such gardens and tell how to create one. Explicit plans leave no room for error, as the novice and experienced gardener can be successful, using herbs, flowering and foliage plants as well as vegetables.

When I first leafed through this book, I was caught by the vivid photos and details, such as favorites for particular times of the year.

The chapter "Tending the Garden" is a bonus, as are the recipes for using the harvest. Great!

"BOTANY FOR Gardeners" by Brian Capon (Timber Press, $29.95) contains an explanation in layman's terms of the plant kingdom, while making the subject come alive for the average reader. If one could learn to understand plants, perhaps their care wouldn't be such a mystery!

"The reader is invited into the realm of cells to better understand what goes on inside roots, stems and leaves when they grow," Capon said.

Thus the exciting processes that occur from the time a seed is planted, until the plant reaches maturity, is explained. All of us could learn from such information.

Marty Figley is a certified master gardener who lives in Birmingham.

Conservatory tours slated

Conservatory tours at Matthaei Botanical Gardens will be at 2 and 3 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays in April.

This month's topic: "Plants From Around the World."

The conservatory has one of the area's finest collections of world flora. Many plants are familiar through their products. Others are important trade items for countries far removed from their native land. The histories of some of these traveling plants will be covered in the tour.

Tour dates are Saturdays, April 6, 20 and 27; Sundays, April 7, 14, 21 and 28. No tour will be Saturday, April 13.

Just 30 people per hour can be accommodated. Visitors are asked to come to the gardens at least 15 minutes before the tour to register.

Conservatory entrance fees are $1 per person; Friends members with identification are admitted free.

The gardens is at 1800 N. Dixboro, Ann Arbor, 2 1/2 miles north of the Geddes Road Intersection.

● HELPING HAND

Helping design the Birdhouse Garden at the International Home, Flower and Furniture Show were Brazen Construction and Superior Scape.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources sponsored the Best Birdhouse Builder Contest in conjunction with the show, which ran March 16-24 at Detroit's Cobo Center.

The contest was open to seventh and eighth graders in the O&E circulation area.

● RECORDING PACT

Music director Neeme Jarvi and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra have announced details of recording plans for the second of five discs with Chandos Records Ltd. of Great Britain.

Repertoire for this all-French disc, due for release in fall, will include Ravel's La Valse and Bolero and Roussel's Symphony No. 3 in G minor and Bacchus and Ariane, Suite No. 2.

All four works will be recorded in Detroit's Orchestra Hall in May.

In January, the DSO and Jarvi signed a two-year, five-disc recording agreement with Chandos Records. The first, to be released in May, features American works by Amy Beach and Samuel Barber.

● QUILTED ENCOUNTERS

The Center Galleries announces the opening of "For John Cox' Daughter," an exhibition that features a colorful array of contemporary African-American quilts from the southeastern United States.

Frances Dorsey, organizing curator, traveled throughout the southeastern United States to locate and select this many-hued display of original, handcrafted art from Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia.

Though the names of many contemporary quilters are known, the blue denim quilt from which the exhibition takes its title is simply signed "John Cox' Daughter," hence the exhibition's dedication to this anonymous African-American quilter.

In addition to the display of these 12 quilts, a two-day sale will be noon to 3 p.m. April 27-28, featuring quilts designed by some of the quilters represented in the show.

Organized by the Jean Paul Slusser Gallery of the University of Michigan-School of Art, the exhibition at Center Galleries takes place concurrent with:

— the Henry Ossawa Tanner retrospective exhibition at the Detroit Institute of Arts and related programs at the Detroit Historical Museum, Your Heritage House and the Museum of African-American History, all in Detroit's Cultural Center.

A fully illustrated catalogue with an introductory essay and biographies of the quilters represented is available.

The opening reception will take place 4:30-7:30 p.m. Friday, April 26.

"For John Cox' Daughter: African-American Quilts from the Southeastern United States" will be on view in the Center Galleries from April 26 to June 7.

The Center Galleries are at Woodward Avenue and Kirby Street in the Park Shelton Building. Exhibitions are open to the public and admission is free.

Gallery hours are: Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Paid parking is available inside the Park Shelton and free parking is available in the Center for Creative Studies parking lots.

The Center for Creative Studies and the Center Galleries are supported in part by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Helpful hints

Try tips for improved results

Here are some thoughts and tips from the excellent gardening conference I attended recently.

It was organized by Janet Macunovich of Perennial Favorites of Waterford. For information on the next one, call 681-7850.

In planning a garden, decide on its purpose. Who are you going to please? How much maintenance will be required?

If the garden is shady, judicious pruning of trees will let in more light and air circulation will be improved.

If there is standing water, use raised beds. Garden areas can be planned for a particular time of the year for impact and bloom periods.

Put daylilies in front of daffodils. Their foliage will hide the maturing daff foliage and their blooms will provide extended color.

Before you think of color in a border, think about shape and form.

To keep a plant from blooming at its preferred time, put it in a holding bed and then when bloom is wanted, replant it in its original spot.

IF COLOR is needed in a shady area for a particular time, transplant a blooming plant from a sunny area.

Some plants that will make up the backbone of a border are gas plant, peony, oriental poppy.

Tall spire plants add pizzaz to borders and beds. Lavender blooms on new wood and can be trimmed in May and June.

A bed of various shades of reds is striking.

When planting, put compost directly in the hole, where roots will be.

Annals provide instant color, can be planted most anywhere and do have a place in the garden.

Perennials provide diversity and their colors and forms are ever-changing during the season.

Look at a plant's foliage when it finishes flowering.

THERE ARE perennial plants for all garden conditions, sun, shade, wet, dry and in between.

A drain spade, which has a narrow blade, is down to earth

Marty Figley

indispensable for digging around perennials. A spading fork, with flat tines, can be used to loosen soil around plants without disturbing the roots.

A claw/ho, with a long handle, is very useful. Use a pruner with a scissors action. A "man" is a small tool, shaped like a "T" for scraping dirt off tools.

Dig tap-rooted weeds, don't just cut the tops off. If a few of these weeds are left in the garden and pulled before flowering, they will be gone and not re-seed.

Remember: One year's seeds equals seven year's weeds.

SOAKER HOSES and trickle irrigation save water.

Incorporate a slow acting fertilizer in October when roots are still growing, with top dressing. The best winter mulch is this area is snow... the second best is evergreen branches.

Some perennials need dividing at specific times, consult a good book. A general rule is: If they root on the fall, divide in the spring and vice-versa.

To control moles, put hardware cloth completely around mole runs... they can't penetrate it. To deter deer, hang small bars of soap on trees and fences.

Each garden is unique. It is the personal creation of the gardener.

Marty Figley is a certified master gardener based in Birmingham.

FASHION PORTRAITS

Spring style mirrors the world

By Denise Lucas
special writer.

WHO SAYS fashion is all fluff? Take a look around. Spring fashion trends not only reflect individual style but aspects of the world.

Fashion is the barometer of the ecological, economic, political and psychological spirit of this nation and planet.

● COLOR

The fashion word for spring '91 is color. High-volume bright, ablazing color. After two seasons of looking at a world in conflict along with a suffering economy, we have removed our black cloaks of mourning and will experience the magnificent color palette of spring — brilliant orange, lime, red, yellow, and fushia lift our spirits high along with hemlines.

● HMM... HEMLINES

Spring '91 has raised the hemlines to all-time highs, giving great legs over-exposure not only with short skirts but short shorts.

Fear not: fashion front runners, designers and authorities know we no longer live in a time of fashion dictatorship. Fashion has become an expression of self and lifestyle. There is something for everybody. Those short-skirt skirts look hot this spring, but it's also cool to wear whatever your mood or body parts tell you.

● NEUTRALS

Got the "bright frights?" Designers have also appealed to those who want soft neutral shades.

Our awareness and quest for a renewed environment looks to the earth, moon, sea and sky providing balancing neutral colors and harmonious tones by paying tribute to nature's wonders.

● SHAPES

Spring takes on a melange of shapes and contouring. Blazers are long over short skirts or short over short. The vocabulary of dress shapes include trapeze, sheath and wedge, baby doll, empire and sleeveless A-line.

Casual lines include full tops over tunics or leggings, while the femininity of draping, cowl necklines, and sarongs are making front-page news.

● PRINTS

chedelic op art, to the '60s Pucci revival, prints are found on everything — dresses, suits, shoes, purses, headbands and tights.

● SHINE

The world is a brighter place to live. Watch for sequins, crystals, Lucite, matte metallics (especially in silver), for day to evening accessories. Black patent shines bright this spring.

● SIXTIES

It's the '60s revisited. Colors, shapes, prints and heroines — the Age of Aquarius saturated with peace and love.

Marilyn Monroe, Grace Kelly, Jackie Kennedy, Audrey Hepburn and Brigitte Bardot are remembered from the '60s. The decade of yesteryear brings to the '90s a revival of the "Jacqueline Kennedy suit, Grace Kelly head scarves, Marilyn Monroe peek-a-boo cutouts, John Lennon glasses, short trapeze dresses and denim, denim and more denim.

The world's posture also has reflected the '60s attitudes of home fashions and furnishings.

While we spent four days shooting our fashion section at Gorman's Gallery of Fine Furniture in Southfield, Bernie Morey, owner of Gorman's, said: "It's a year for everything... country French, contemporary, traditional, eclectic.

"Americans are returning to the home. They're 'cocooning,' spending nights in comfortable and inviting settings, entertaining at home and renting videos."

Like clothing fashions, home furnishing are looking toward natural, timeless designs with the focus on individual style and mixing the new with old family heirlooms.

O & E spotlights fashion trends

LIGHT AND LIVELY: That's the spirit of this special spring fashion section, appearing today in all editions of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

To those who helped put together this sampling of what's hot on the fashion scene, we extend a big thank you.

Gorman's Gallery of Fine Furniture in Southfield provided the setting for our four-day shoot as well as the props and perches for our photographers and models.

We extend special thanks to Bernard Moray, Gorman's president, and his helpful and cooperative design, sales and store staff, including Ken Michlin, sales manager, Joe Osowski and Scott Bartshe.

Thanks also goes out to these hairdressers and stylists for their creative talents and cooperation:

● Hair by: Sherri Burrows, Sophia Contaguris, Stephanie Denha, Todd Skogg — from Salon Kennice Bashar, Farmington Hills. Mary Beth Hatropoulos, Kathleen Torgerson, Rheanne White — from Justin Parish, Birmingham.

● Make Up: Joan Smith — from Tamara's Institute de Beaute, Farmington Hills. Myles of Trezza Salon, Bloomfield Hills. Scott Barnes.

Classique Boutique of Tel-12 Mall in Southfield and Oakland Mall in Troy provided an array of hats, scarves, wigs and hairpieces. auCourant Optical Fashions of Somerset Mall in Troy provided fashion eyewear.

ABOUT THE COVER:

The renaissance of femininity flows with the allure of fabric and expression of watercolors. A viridian green silhouette coat dress, $400, suggests graceful gestures of floating silk welcoming the romance of spring. With a poetic accent of a French imported silk rose pin, $30, and the innocence of the Louise Green straw hat with blossoms, $160. Presented by Kidz Kloz, Sugar Tree, West Bloomfield. Gorman's provided the French-inspired boudoir settee.

Staff photographer Dan Dean took the cover shot.

Special fashion writer Denise Lucas and O&E special sections editor Bob Sklar coordinated this section. Randy Bost, O&E graphics editor, designed the section, including the cover. Staff photographers included Jim Jagfeld, team leader, Bill Breiler, Dan Dean and Sharon LeMieux.

Advertising coordinators were Gigi Badalamenti in Oakland County and Peg Kucispal in Wayne County.

This Edward Rose colonial was judged best design for a house under $100,000.

The Lakewood by Ivanhoe/Huntley was one of two winners in the $200,000-$400,000 category.

The Regency by MacLeish Building took honors for houses costing more than $400,000.

Practicality, not pizzazz, mark contest winners

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Designing a good house is part science and part art.

There are aesthetic concerns to deal with such as appearance, visual excitement and materials, and there are engineering and practical matters such as floor, space and value for the dollar.

Put it all in a jar, shake it up, and if everything works out well, a concept becomes a house.

Architects will tell you it's not hard to score a hit, but betting a home run, ah, well that's another matter.

Detroit-area builders presented their best ideas in house design in the Second Annual Parade of Homes at the International Home, Flower and Furniture Show at Cobo Hall last week and allowed a panel of five architects to pick the houses apart, scrutinize and judge them on their design merits.

What did the judges find? For the most part, production houses in southeastern Michigan are of a fairly traditional design and solidly grounded in the basics.

Traditionalism a contest winner

JUDGES MIGHT have hoped for more adventurous designs, they said, but realized that mass production — and even custom houses — are more grounded in practicality than architectural theory.

Judges were looking for houses that gave a sense of excitement, George Erdstein said. Erdstein is a partner in the West Bloomfield firm of Erdstein Bryce and Palazzola Architects and Planners and one of the judges.

Excitement, he conceded, is a subjective criterion.

"When you look at one house, something may leap out at you that doesn't leap out in a similar house. That's the benefit of having several judges — if more than one sees something exciting, that indicates a design's worth."

Karl Greimel, former dean and current professor of architecture at Lawrence Technological University in Southfield and a judge of the Parade of Homes, said that judging the Parade of Homes was unlike most design contests.

"MANY ARCHITECTURAL entries are more theoretical than practical with new ideas and experimentation, Greimel said. In addition to aesthetics, judges for this contest also weighed livability and value, he said.

The judges, in recognition of the changing style of houses, added another category to the original four, Erdstein said. Under the original guidelines, the judges were to select houses from under $100,000, between $100,000 and $200,000, between $200,000 and $400,000 and over $400,000.

That setup, while not ignoring the attached-house market (condominiums and duplexes), did not clearly recognize it. "So we felt we had to add a separate category for attached homes."

WHICH DOESN'T mean there weren't qualities about the houses that could be judged, Greimel said. The number of rooms, bedrooms, the size of great rooms, how a house responds and interacts with the site, and things such as a house's flow — how functional a house is — greatly affected the judges' decisions, he said.

Parade of Homes winners and judges comments:

Colonial: Built by Edward Rose Associates in Southfield, this 1,650-square foot, $99,500 two-story colonial in Brownstown Township has three- and four-bedroom plans, a basement, two-car attached garage, kitchen with eating area, dining room, living room and family room. It was judged to be an exceptional value.

Fairgrove Manor: Built by Fairview Builders of Auburn Hills, this 1,600-square-foot, $135,000 detached condominium in Troy has walk-out basement, vaulted ceilings, two bedrooms and an option to convert a den into a third bedroom. It was recognized for its use of sharp clean lines and geometric simplicity.

Amberwood: Built by S.R. Jacobson Development Corp. Birmingham, this 1,900-square-foot, $180,000 detached condominium in Rochester Hills has high ceilings, open floor plan with a master bedroom suite and a second bedroom with an option to convert a studio loft into a third. It was also recognized for its clean design and simple lines but also scored for its dramatic roof angles, which the judges said created a sense of excitement.

The Lakewood: Built by Ivanhoe/Huntley, this 2,742-square-foot, $265,000 estate in West Bloomfield has a first-floor master suite and two additional bedrooms with an option for another, a large kitchen with nook and sitting area, cathedral ceilings, and a great room with fireplace. It was recognized for both its function and its dramatic incorporation of the exterior site.

Manchester: Built by Scaccia Building Co. in Rochester, this 3,900-square-foot, $399,000 estate in Troy has four bedrooms, great room with cathedral ceiling and circle top transom windows, first-floor den or library, formal dining room, large kitchen and two staircases. It was also recognized for its simple geometric design with a repetition of form and consistent use — and respect for — materials.

Regency: Built by MacLeish Building of Troy, this 5,300-square-foot, $475,000 mansion in Troy has nine-foot ceilings, a two-story foyer and living room, a circular foyer staircase and rear family staircase, four bedrooms with an option for a fifth bedroom, walk-in closets in the bedrooms, a bath for each bedroom, and a first-floor master suite. It was also recognized for its simple geometric design with a repetition of form and consistent use — and re-

Buyers lean toward colonials

By David F. Stein
special writer

Suburban Detroiters are a conservative lot who have routinely steered clear of the adventures of excesses of homes in other parts of the country.

But today's buyers are tiptoeing more carefully than ever as Wayne and Oakland builders and architects increasingly hear the refrain, "Make mine colonial."

"Colonials are more popular than ranches; most builders don't even do a ranch model any more," Bloomfield Hills architect David Lubin said. "Styles have moved back to the traditional: pseudo-Tudor burned out, Spanish homes are out, the bi-level is out even though you used to get a lot of space for your dollar. We are doing a lot of story-and-a-half with the first-floor master bedroom raised a few steps."

Michael Horowitz of the Selective Group in Farmington Hills agrees.

"We see very little demand for the ranch home. People who are coming from condominiums or the empty-nester — even they tend toward a stacked ranch," Horowitz said.

Colonials are not only popular but practical.

Full, two-story colonials cost less to build per square foot of living space than ranches of story-and-a-half, loft homes. The main savings come from relatively smaller basements and roof and perimeter wall surfaces, all of which drive up construction costs.

In addition, most builders said colonials have the best energy efficiency.

"Colonials are more energy efficient than older homes with more square footage in the basement. That's where a lot of heat loss occurs," said Paul Dyhdalo of Daimler Builders in Troy.

LIFESTYLE AND expectations often reinforce choices.

In contrast to most of Wayne and Oakland counties, ranches are still popular in some communities, Dyhdalo said.

"In Warren, eight of 10 are ranches; people like the ease of one-floor living, even families with a lot of children. It's simply a mindset for living," Dyhdalo said.

He is now building in Troy, West Bloomfield and Farmington Hills, where he finds most buyers prefer colonials.

But most builders agree that once popular styles, such as the bi-level and tri-level, are unlikely to regain favor. Most also scratch their heads for the reasons.

"In the '60s, tri-levels were very popular. They were very efficient since you were using half of the basement for living space," Dyhdalo said. "But now tri-level are out; you only find them being put up piece-meal."

ONE EXPLANATION is that families prefer more open, flexible floor plans than what is possible with segmented living space of bi-levels or tri-levels.

And the next generation always seems to want more different. Those raised in the split-levels of the past may be looking for the feel of a colonia when they raise their own families.

Regardless of style, buyers still have big eyes when it comes to size.

"Detroit has always been a conservative and traditional city," said veteran architect Ron Mayotte of Troy. "But no one comes to grips with size. Peoples fantasies are still out of line with their pocketbooks."

Developer Robert Katzman of Abbey Homes in Birmingham doesn't think bigger is better can last forever.

"Even though people want big homes, with taxes, heat electricity, houses will have to get smaller in the long term," Katzman said. "The floor plans will have to be very more wide open. Vaulted, cathedral ceilings will be in. We will think of cubic as opposed to square feet."

While buyers converge on the traditional in basic style, there is always room for change within the conventional forms.

The biggest change locally has been the addition of the master bedroom to the first floor of colonials.

"The traditional two-story is still the mainstay, said Deen Hyde, director of marketing for Pulte Home Corp.'s Michigan division. "But we are also finding as demographics change that people are going to master bedrooms on the first floor."

"People have children who are older and at school, but still come home. They want a family room, bedrooms and a bathroom for the children upstairs. The house lives like a ranch when the kids aren't home."

Hyde said there is an increased call for master bedrooms on the first floor of a colonial to be used as an office or a bedroom for grandparents.

"Even younger people are going on their own at a later age. Extended families over the next decade will want to live separate but together," Hyde said.

Meanwhile, architects are trying to add variety to the tried and true.

"We are trying to do an upbeat colonial, not as done in the pure sense of tradition," Mayotte said, but he admits that "there are only so many key plans and basic room arrangements to a home."

Mayotte has tried to individualize houses through the relation of the second floor to the first, 1 1/2-story homes being popular, stairway placement, and ceilings as tall as 11 feet.

Different entrance points and the traditional shingle-style architecture of Long Island's Hamptons is also being tried. The old-fashioned porch may even make a comeback.

Mayotte doesn't lay all the blame for today's sameness at the feet of consumers.

"The schools are turning out architects who don't know how to design in the traditional matter, with attention to detailing and design," Mayotte said.

Like Mayotte, architect Lubin is working to embellish the basic colonial.

On the inside, this includes more open floor plans, more angles, more ornate window treatments and shapes, and more detailed entry ways in addition to higher ceilings.

"The nine-foot ceiling on the first floor is almost becoming standard," Lubin said.

"Outsides are also becoming more interesting. There is an old adage that you catch people with the outside, then sell them on the inside."

The key here is more authentic detailing, said Lubin, with limestone and brick.

TODAY'S FAMILIES also demand as large a garage as possible.

"Attached garages are a must from security and weather standpoints; they also serve as a buffer to save energy," said Sam Blumenstein of Classic Construction Corp. in West Bloomfield.

"Even when the lot dictates a two-car garage, we find ways to add extra storage behind," Pulte's Hyde said.

While homes are tending to look the same, the sanctity of the individual private lot may be in for a shake-up, according to Horowitz.

"In the interest of wetlands and woodlands, the trend is to do more environmentally sensitive land use," he said.

One solution is clustering of homes, using condominium law to subdivide the land, even when building detached, individually-owned homes.

Horowitz said there is "an obsession in this area about too much density in subdivisions that is not common in other parts of the country."

"There's a lot of hesitation," Horowitz said. "It's still the great American dream for people to own their own home and own land."

Developers can use the cluster concept to protect the environment and still create a development with the look and feel of a conventional subdivision.

"Remember, in some areas like Birmingham, Northville and Grosse Pointe, people pay a premium to buy better homes, closer together," Horowitz said. "People want to live in a community first; the house is secondary."

The colonial has been a mainstay of U.S. architecture for many years. The main appeal seems to be the spaciousness and elegance.

Although ranches seem to have fallen out of favor with the house-buying public, they have the advantage of one-floor living. Ranches are usually more expensive to build than colonials, but they are often easier to maintain. The most popular style is the straight side-to-side ranch.

The popularity of Tudor houses seems to be declining. But the combination of stucco and wood trim exterior makes the houses look appealingly unusual. They are also characterized for their gables, large angular chimneys and slate roofs. They appeal to families who want lots of space.

Color it back to basics

(AP) — Color and pattern changes are inevitable as people tire of the old. Current events and changing interests inspire the new.

Right now, a number of events and attitudes are turning the color wheel in new directions, displacing pastels, floral excesses and shiny fabrics.

Important among them are concern for the environment, a good feeling about natural materials, interest in ethnic designs of Asia, Africa, Latin America and American Indians, and a revival of colors and patterns inspired by the art movements of the 1950s and 1960s.

The trends were cited in programs on home furnishings fabric directions for the 1990s by Ron Splude, color analyst for the Du Pont Co.'s interior textiles department, and by Mary Louise Hawkins, color stylist for Cotton Inc., the marketing arm of American cotton producers.

"As we move into the new decade, we're seeing a shift toward natural materials and a pared-down style," Hawkins said.

Whites and neutrals are popular in the bedroom. For example, there's J.P. Stevens' new line of linens for bed and bath called Simply Cotton. The products are chemical-free, undyed and unbleached and come in their natural off-white shade. They require ironing because they aren't treated with permanent press chemicals.

THE COMPANY HOPES to capture the imagination of the environmentally concerned public with the collection in its Utica line. It will be in stores in late spring or early summer. A twin set of sheets will cost about $40.

"We have seen a groundswell of interest in natural products free of additives and preservatives and in packaging that is simple, recyclable and biodegradable," said Thomas J. Ward, J.P. Stevens president.

A hand-crafted ethnic style is particularly widespread, Hawkins said, with colors and prints that suggest the look of kilim rugs, paisley prints and mosaic motifs.

Contemporary art is furnishing two fabric trends. One is for fabrics that depend on texture and surface interest rather than color. Seersucker and pique, which have raised patterns, and solids with small dots are examples.

Moving on to more lively patterns, there are many with wavy lines, squiggles and splashes of bright color or inspired by the pop art and graphics of the 1960s.

Colors and designs that are less of a fad and longer lasting are more desirable now than they used to be. That's why more classic colors are being used in home decorating, said New York decorator Barbara Southerland.

THE MORE FAMILIAR the colors you select, the longer they are likely to give pleasure, she said. She advises steering clear of tricky colors in favor of more classic hues.

"Color is the most important aspect of decorating a room because people remember color far more easily than other things such as fur-

If you are unsure what color to select, you can find inspiration in a box of crayons.

"Not the big box," Southerland said, "but the basic small box we all got when we were 4, and none of the 10 or so colors were weird."

The primaries of red, yellow and blue retain their freshness and don't go in and out of fashion the way composite colors such as mauve do, Southerland said.

"A CLASSIC pale yellow wall will look good for 10 years. A lipstick red sofa or cobalt blue chair that looked great new in 1970 would have the same appeal if purchased today."

A formula that is easy to apply includes one or two strong clear colors for furniture and surfaces and neutrals such as beige, pale yellow or gray to keep the room from becoming too intense. Patterned fabrics can mix the shades and bring more life.

There are schemes men and women both tend to like. One that reminds her of the colors of Italy in summer mixes pale sienna (a kind of peach), terra cotta, pale yellow and a gray-brown she says looks like the stones of Florence.

"Men and women both find it very comfortable, and it's gorgeous at night."

Another popular combination is gray with white, yellow and black and a touch of red or pink.
