Pastor could be ousted

Church probes child abuse case:

By Darrell Clem ' staff writer

Michael Enersen, the Westland minister who admitted he abused his children, has come under investigaition by higher church authoritles who could oust him from his Assemblies of God pulpit, The Observer learned Tuesday.

Enersen, minister of Westland Full Gospel Church, is being investigated by his church's parent organization, the Michigan District Assemblies of God, and could face disciplinary action "as is deemed appropriate," district Superintendent William Leach confirmed Tues-

A decision to remove 36-year-old Enersen as an Assemblies of God minister would come from national headquarters in Springfield, Mo., Leach said.

The latest development came as word spread that Enersen's 700. member congregation, which continnes to strongly support him, may vote to secede from the Assemblies

Enersen again didn't return a telephone call from the Observer, and church members declined to respond to inquiries about the possible seces-

"That would be something that you would have to speak to the pastor about," said a woman who answered the church telephone Tues-

Former church members who have friends still attending Westland Full Gospel said their friends had talked about the possible secession.

MEANWHILE, LEACH confirmed that a six-member executive panel of the Assemblies' Michigan District has launched an investigation of Enersen, who, along with his 33-yearold wife, Carol, admitted in Detroit Recorder's Court on April 25 that they abused their children.

Two of the children - a 16-yearold girl and a 13-year-old boy have been taken from the Enersens and placed in a foster home. Those

Use of schools to plan millage drive stirs feud

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Wayne-Westland school officials have been accused of violating election campaign rules and misusing taxpayers' money in efforts to win public support for a June 10 tax hike proposal.

Wayne resident Rosemary Miller, a vocal critic of school officials, raised the allegations Tuesday and vowed that the issue will not be dropped, even if a lawsuit appears necessary.

Miller, the leader of a pending school board recall campaign, has made inquiries about possible violations to the state Attorney General's Office. She said the response she received by mail Tuesday supports her claims.

Though-school district-Superintendent Dennis O'Neill admitted that some of Miller's statements are true, he vehemently denied any wrongdoing by school officials.

Former credit union staffer admits fraud

A former Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union employee who pleaded guilty to embezzling more than $400,000 was sentenced to five years of probation, restitution of the missing money and 300 hours of community service. Elizabeth D'Arcy, a former Wayne resident who moved to Livonia, pleaded guilty Monday before U.S. District Judge Horace Gilmore.

The restitutions will amount to $436,594.

The FBI's investigation is continuing on D'Arcy's husband, Dennis, who had been general manager of the credit union for 33 years before resigning in July 1988, after an audit found that large sums of money were missing, said John Anthony, FBI spokesman.

The credit union, which has its main office in Wayne and a large branch in Westland, had its losses covered by its bonding and insurance. companies. Deposits were not in jeopardy, said a credit union official at the time. With 18,000 members, the institu-a 13-month period ending in March. However, voters rejected the latest plan by only a 3-percent margin.

Board incumbents Mathew McCusker and Sharon Scott - each seeking a third term — support the latest measure. Eight challengers who also favor the proposal include John Albrecht, Randolph Blouse, Anne Harbison, Terry Hewer, Jeanette Leppala, Kimberly Rowe, Albert "Ed" Turner and Vicki Welty. Three challengers - Ernest Hallmark, Laurel Raisanen and John Ristan - oppose the 7.75 mill plan. .

The Observer asked the panel of candidates about the millage issue in a group interview Saturday. Only Rowe, whose lob responsibilities kept her from attending, was interviewed by telephone.

Candidates supporting the miliage said they favored it because it will allow school officials to avert deep budget cuts, which threaten to eliminate busing, sports music and art programs and some 100 jobs, among other programs and services.

However, several hopefuls stressed that even though they support the measure, they are not enthusiastic about it.

"WILL I support it? Yes, but under protest," Turner, 57, a retired American Airlines worker, said. Though he said he has mixed emo-. tions about the millage, he plans to support it "to help the children."

Blouse, a 37-year-old music teacher, said he will vote in favor of the millage, despite deep reservations about it.

"My pocketbook says no, and my heart says no," Blouse said, but he added that "my brain says yes" because students stand to lose too many opportunities if the tax proposal fails. Welty, 34, a part-time Eastern Michigan University instructor, said she would have preferred a split millage proposal to give voters more choices, but she will support the 7.75-mill plan. "Am I happy with 7.75? No." she said, adding later, "I can't see hurting the children just because the adults haven't done what needs to be done" to control finances.

ALBRECHT, 50, a vice president's assistant at Dearborn Sausage, voiced support, though he criticized the state's method of paying for schools. Albrecht said the millage is needed to protect drama and other activities that help make school a rewarding experience.

"These kids need to have something to do besides sit in a classroom for five or six hours a day," he said.

Hewer, a 38-year-old truck driver, said he favors the millage for the students' sake.

"You can't play with your kids' education," Hewer said. However, he volced concerns at one point that the millage issue has placed pressure on students to campaign door-to-door for its passage.

Recall effort moving forward

staff writer

A recall effort aimed at ousting Wayne-Westland school board members appears to be gaining momentum, and organizers predicted this week that they are "real close" to forming an official recall commit-

Recall leader Rosemary Miller of Wayne suggested a "total housecleaning" of school board members and top-level administrators, saying officials have failed to manage the district's finances.

Miller, chastising school officials for repeatedly seeking tax increases that she said local residents cannot afford, called for new board members who would be "willing to live with the current economic conditions of Wayne-Westland."

MILLER'S COMMENTS to The Observer came in response to a written request that the newspaper made to obtain more information about the planned recall, which gained attention in March after organizers sought support in a classified advertisement that appeared in local newspapers.

Recall organizers had received 150 responses to the ad as of Mon-

"Hopefully a committee will be started soon," Miller said.

the recall effort might begin; she

MILLER HOPES the recall effort will result in new board members who are willing to replace school district administrators, she said.

"We need administrators who are willing to listen, have an open mind about the education of our children, live within our means, and be able to hold (employee) contracts to what we can afford without taking away from our children's education or seeking new money," Miller wrote in a prepared statement.

Board critics repeatedly have lashed out at the board for seeking a tax increase in the wake of a new contract that gave teachers an 11.9percent raise over two years.

The critics became angry after the contract won approval in February as the board planned massive budget cuts, such as eliminating busing and sports, that officials blamed on a severe financial crunch.

She does not know exactly when BUT BOARD critics fail to understand that, even without the teacher contract, more money would be needed to meet increased operating expenses, board member Kathleen · Chorbagian said Tuesday.

"I think they fall to see that the cost of doing business is continuing to increase year after year," she Chorbagian said the state's share of education financing has deteriorated, yet routine expenses for building operations have climbed in recent years.

"We don't have control over that," she said. "What would they frecall organizers) have us do? Shut the lights off? The heat off? The water?" The district's financial woes had emerged even before the teacher contract was approved, Chorbagian

"It goes a lot further back than that."

Though board critics have blasted the teacher contract, school officials have stressed that local teachers settled for less than many of their counterparts in other districts.

IN AN interview Monday, Miller said the recall effort will not begin until after the June 10 election. which has placed incumbents Mathew McCusker, Sharon Scott and Michael Reddy in opposition to numerous challengers.

If the incumbents retain their seats, they cannot be recalled for six months. That could force recall organizers to postpone some of their plans, depending on the election out-

However, the remaining board members, who are not up for reelection, could be the subject of a recall at any time, Miller said. Those, board members are Chorbagian, Andrew Spisak, Leonard Posey and Sylvia Wiacek-Kozorosky.

Recall organizers have not decided whether they will try to recall all of the board members - or which ones, Miller said. Such decisions will not be made until a formal recall committee has been formed, she

SOS held its latest meeting on Tuesday in the school board meeting room on Marquette, west of Wayne

MILLER POINTED to an attorney general's office statement that says school districts "may not provide public funds, public property or the services of public personnel to independent political ballot or candidate committees."

O'Neill, however, said the school board has "a very generic policy" that allows most organized groups to use school property for meetings.

"We've done it forever," he said, adding that he does not consider it a violation.

Miller also raised concerns that school officials have campaigned forthe millage while they are on the job, even though she said the attorney general's office has indicated that they shouldn't. She said that amounts to misusing taxpayers' money.

O'Neill admitted that school officials have sought support for the millage, though he said their political involvement has occurred on their personal time. However, he added that seeking millage support is currently "one of my chief functions.'

"I'd be derelict if I wasn't doing something to get it passed," O'Neill-

Moreover, school board president Mathew McCusker said O'Neill's strong involvement in district issues was among the reasons he was hired as superintendent in 1984.

"That's one of the qualifications that the citizens told us to look for,"

MILLER ALSO criticized school officials for allowing canisters to be placed in some schools to collect money for the millage campaign, and for letting the student SOS group at John Glenn High School use school time to plan election strategies.

The attorney general's opinion states that school officials cannot "solicit, during business hours, volunteers such as students" to advocate a ballot proposal.

O'Neill said students have acted on their own because they have a stake in the June 10 election, which could usher in massive program cuts if the millage fails.

Moreover, O'Neill said school officials have not placed the canisters in schools to collect money for the campaign. He said students have initiated the fund-raisers because "they see this as a cause." "The kids are doing it on lunch hour. Employees are not soliciting money," he said. "The kids take up money for all kinds of causes." Miller also raised allegations that the district should not have provided voter registration lists to the millage campaign, so that tax supporters could better organize their effort. She said the Attorney General's Office indicated the district should not become involved in such activities.

O'NEILL RESPONDED that while the district did provide the lists, it also charged a fee. The district sold such lists to Ken MacGre-gor, a Michigan Education Associa--tion consultant, during the March-13 millage campaign, O'Neill said.

Miller plans to send letters to O'Neill, all school board members and SOS officials to let them know of her findings, she said. She vowed the issue will not be dropped, perhaps even if a civil suit becomes neces-

McCusker said once a letter from Miller is received, he probably will refer it to school district attorneys.

"I'm sure our attorneys will be brought into it to decipher what the attorney general is saying," McCusk-

The investigation "undoubtedly" will be completed in time for the national council to consider the matter when it meets in June, Leach said.

Few details of the investigation were revealed in a written statement that Leach submitted to the Observer on Tuesday. "WHEN ALLEGATIONS or charges of misconduct by an Assemblies of God minister are brought to the attention of the district in which a minister is a member, it is the responsibility of that district to initiate an investigation and action as is deemed appropriate," Leach wrote. Tax hike wins support of 4-year candidates

ANNE HARBISON, 62, a retired school secretary who served on the Wayne-Westland board for a fouryear term in 1971-75, pledged millage support because "it's the only way the school district can survive."

Though some have criticized the board for teacher pay raises of 11.9 percent over two years, Harbison said students should not be punished. Leppala, 35, a pizzeria owner, linked the millage to such issues as property values, which she said would decrease if the school district declines. But she warned that board members must "make sure the money is well-spent."

Rowe, 20, a Schoolcraft College student and Crestwood Dodge employee, said the millage is needed to keep school programs and services intact. "If we don't vote for this much (7.75 mills) now, we'll have to make up for it in the next two years" by seeking an even-higher increase, Rowe said. "We can't just cut all these programs out."

McCusker, 55, a Ford Motor Co. employee, said the 7.75-mill increase is needed to give students the same opportunities that their predecessors had. Though McCusker pledged to work for state-level changes, he said, "This is the only system (of school financing) that we can operate under right now."

Scott, 51, who has worked as a medical assistant, also favors the millage proposal to protect school programs, but she added that more lobbying efforts are needed to pushfor state-level changes.

the millage because it is necessary to ensure a well-rounded education for students.

Moreover, Scott said she supports

MEANWHILE, RISTAU, a 27year-old freelance writer, has emerged as one of the most vocal opponents of the 7.75-mill plan. Citing the board's lack of credibility, Ristau called the 7.75-mill plan "abominable" and vowed to not support it. "You do not throw good money away," he said. "You fix what is bro-

Laurel Raisanen, 46, an Observer production department employee, opposes the millage plan but indicated she could support a smaller proposal, such as a 4-mill increase.

Raisanen, an outspoken critic of recent teacher pay raises totaling 11.9 percent over two years, said the 4-mill increase would have been enough to keep the schools operating without the pay increases.

Hallmark, 44, a General Motors mechanic, denounced the millage plan but said he could have supported a smaller increase, such as 5 mills, for one year. He said a proposal suggested by board member Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, who called for 6 mills for one year, could have been acceptable.

Board members should "look at ways to cut waste without cutting programs," Hallmark said.

In the next installment in this series, candidates will discuss what should be saved or cut if the June 10 millage proposal is re-

donates to DARE

The Westland police department's DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program is $100 richer — thanks to a donation from the Stevenson Junior High School's National Junior Honor Society mind students of their commitment chapter.

The chapter's leader presented the check Thursday to police officer Jess Gillesple, one of the officers who make the DARE presentations in local elementary schools.

Presenting the check were Stevenson NJHS students Kelly Hamrick and Christi Wyrybkowski, accompanied by teachers Stanley Tarnowski, chapter sponsor, and Nancy Schlanser.

about $11,000 since the DARE program was launched in 16 local ele- post, PTA chapters and the Jaymentary schools last fall, Gillespie cees, Gillespie said.

The money is used to buy incentives for students, such as sunglass. es, baseball-style caps, T-shirts and pens, all with DARE logos to re-to be drug-free.

The program will be expanded next fall to include three private schools, St. Damlan, St. John's and St. Matthew, the officer said.

THE DEPARTMENT is also planning an Aug. 26 golf benefit for the DARE program.

Of the $11,000 raised to date, more than a third, or $4,000, came from a benefit basketball game between police officers and members THE DEPARTMENT has raised of the Detroit Lions football team.

Warmbler, who served on the board from 1969 to 1985, said school officials should take a closer look at special fund monies and review all expenses before seeking a tax increase.

Pratt, 43, owner of Baker's Acre, said she supports the tax increase, though she added that the timing appears wrong because "the district hasn't built a case for

Pratt also said the board's damaged credibility has hurt millage campaigns. But she said she will vote for the tax hike because she believes that deep cuts will otherwise be made, "and that's not acceptable for my child."

HAGELTHORN, 40, senior consultant for Bull Information Systems, favors the proposal but said the board must continue to seek cost-cutting measures that wouldn't damage school programs and services.

Even if the 7.75-mill proposal wins approval, Hagel-thorn said, school officials could try to cut costs, protect programs and levy an amount lower than the 7.75 mills. He added that the average $233 tax increase for Westland residents "is not too much to ask" to rescue the district.

LeBlanc, 32, a General Motors metrology lab operator, said he plans to vote for the millage increase, but he indicated that a lesser tax increase of 6.4 mills "would get us out of this crisis."

In supporting the 7.75-mill plan, LeBlanc said, "I would liken this to a ball out, if you will." But he called for a closer look at finances in the next two years, in what he said could lead to a reduced millage at that REDDY, APPOINTED to the board in November after former member Kenneth Barnhill resigned, agreed that the two-year plan "gives us time to look at other alternatives.'

Despite suggestions by some that a 6-mill, one-year proposal would be feasible, Reddy said he fears such a plan would force school officials to return next year and seek a 9-mill tax hike. "That wouldn't help the board's credibility," he said, saying the 7.75-mill plan is necessary now to keep programs and services intact.

2 plead guilty to selling dope near school

By Bill Caspor staff writer

. A Westland man and his father, suspected by police as major marijuana dealers to students at a westorn Wayne County high school, have pleaded guilty to federal drug charges.

Danny Brackenrich, 25, of Westland and his father, Freddy Brackenrich, 42, of Redford Township originally pleaded not guilty at federal court arraignment.

They were indicted in February by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy to distribute marijuana, distribution of marijuana and distributton of marijuana within 1,000 feet of a school zone, Both men also were charged with aiding and abetting.

They were scheduled to go to trial May 28 in federal court but pleaded guilty May 9 to the conspiracy and the distribution charge in violation of the federal safe school zone act, assistant U.S. attorney, Michael J. Stern sald.

IN EXCHANGE for their guilty pleas, one count of marijuana distributton and the aiding and abetting charges were dismissed, Stern said.

The plea agreement requires that each of the Brackenrichs serve a minimum of one year in prison, he

They are scheduled to be sentenced Aug. 14 by federal Judge Bernard A. Friedman, who accepted their guilty pleas. The men were arrested Feb. 5 after the younger Brackenrich, accompanled by his father, sold a quarter pound of marijuana to a Redford undercover officer outside South Redford School District's Shear Annex Elementary School, located near Thurston, police said.

They are suspected of being major suppliers of marijuana to students, ... who sold to other students at Thurs. ton, a Redford undercover police of-

Undercover officers had made a series of marijuana purchases from the men over about a month's time, including the one near Thurston, the officer sald.

The offiers paid $500 to $600 for each quarter-pound purchase of marijuana, which can be repackaged in smaller quantities and sold on the street for about $1,000, he said.

The police investigation was aided by some Thurston students arrested previously by Redford undercover officers on marijuana possession charges, the officer said:

The Brackenrichs were charged under the federal safe school zone act because the penalties are stricter, he said.

-State-law-prohibiting-distributionof marljuana carries a maximum penalty upon conviction of four years in prison, he said.

The maximum penalty upon conviction of the federal safe schoolzone act is 10 years in prison. But, Stern said, the federal uniform sentencing guidelines recommend a sentence of 12 to 18 months for the Brackenrichs.

REDFORD OFFICERS seized 1,000 pairs of dice, thousands of blanks to make weighted dice, and other dice manufacturing equipment Irom Freddy Brackenrich's Redford home on Beech Daly, police said.

A Redford officer said he suspects the dice were being manufactured and loaded for use by gamblers at Casinos worldwide and even at church'sponsored Vegas Nightevents.

Some of the seized dice already were packaged and marked as to how they were altered, the officer said. Also seized from the older Brackenrich's house were dice logos of gambling casinos worldwide, including casinos in Las Vegas, Atlantic City, and Amsterdam, Holland,

The older Brakenrich is free after being released on personal recognizance bond but his son, who was onprobation for a 1989 arson conviction, is being held in the Wayne County Jail. ...

Students aid food bank drive

In the first year they participated in the "Kids Helping Kids" Gleaners Food Bank Food Drive, nine Livonia elementary schools collected more than 7,000 pounds of canned goods to -feed hungry people in the tri-county__

"I am happy to say that the Livonia community was an asset to our program," said Vicky Rogers, general manager of Gleaners. "The food they collected is now being eaten in 'soup kitchens in the area.'

The nine elementaries, plus Ladywood High in Livonia and the Livo-'nia Family Y, all served as collection spots in Livonia during the monthlong food drive.

In that month, more than 70 schools in southeast Michigan alsocollected more than 50,000 pounds of food for the needy, plus $2,200 in donations.

PARTICIPATING IN the food drive were Adams, Garfield, Hull, Roosevelt, Washington, Cass, Grant, Kennedy and Tyler elementaries.

The food donated by Livonia students and residents will help Gleaners meet their projected 10percent increase in food needs for more than 189 member soup kitchens, church pantries and emergency shelters.

IT'S TREATABLE.

The real tragedy of impotence is letting it go untreated even one more day. Stop denying yourself and your sexual partner an important part of your life. Impotence can be treated in almost every case.

The STAR* program developed by Grace Hospital provides complete diagnosis and treatment of male impotence. This confidential program is directed first at determining the cause of the problem. Diseases such as diabetes, cancer, multiple sclerosis and problems with prostate, heart and high blood pressure are common causes. There are many others. Injuries to the spinal cord, and low hormone levels can also cause erection failure. So, too, can fatigue, alcohol, drugs, smoking, stress and depression. Medicines used to treat such things as depression, high blood pressure and ulcers can be part of the problem. Age alone is not a cause of impotence. And, yes, some impotence problems are psychologically based; even organic impotence has an important psychological component that requires identification and treatment. An accurate diagnosis is the key to effective treatment. Sometimes, only a change in medication is needed. More serious problems may require surgery. But help is available. Complete, confidential and supportive. Call today and talk to one of our professionals.

If you had walked by a certain yard on the afternoon of August 25th, you might have heard the ground crying. That was the day a man walked into his backyard, dug a hole, and buried six puppies alive. Unable to stop him, a young neighbor girl looked on in horror. Luckily, her mother was also looking on.

She quickly called a Michigan-Humane Society Investigator.

When he arrived, the cruelty investigator found the mother of the puppies chained and lying protectively on a fresh patch of soil. Her sensitive ears could easily hear the cries of her pupples eighteen inches below her. What she couldn't figure out was how to help them. The MHS cruelty investigator got into the dog pen and dug the puppies out with his bare hands. Today five of those puppies are alive. And there's no clearer picture than this photo of what your contributions to the Michigan Humane Society accomplish: Your contributions help us feed and shelter the victims of animal abuse. Your contributions find them homes. And your contributions, allow us to keep cruelty investigators on staff, so caring heighbors have someone to call:

Volunteers are needed for river cleanup June

It's that time of year again. The sixth annual Rouge River Rescue is scheduled for Saturday, June 1, at 25 sites throughout Wayne and Oakland counties.

A combined 10,000 volunteers have participated in past cleanups, with an estimated 3,000 people expected to volunteer this year.

Debris and more than 300 log jams-have been cleared from the Rouge, improving the river's flow and its ability to rid itself of pollution.

Tires, refrigerators, blcycles, sinks and television sets are routinely pulled from the river during the annual cleanups.

Volunteers are asked to wear long pants and long-sleeved shirts. They are also asked to wear sturdy boots and gloves. Children are encouraged to participate, but they must be accompanied by adults.

Rouge Rescue '91 is sponsored by Friends of the Rouge, a Livonia-based volunteer group. Other sponsors include Ford Motor Co., Waste Mangement, Inc., City Management Corp., Coors Brewing Co., Don Lee distributors, WDFX 99.5 FM and WJBK-TV, Channel 2, De-

. Police address rights issue

'Can't allow prejudice,' local chief says

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Only a half dozen discrimination complaints were filed against western Wayne police departments over the past decade, according to the state Department of Civil

But area civil rights officials say the number of claims does not necessarily indicate discrimination and brutality isn't a problem.

Relations between police and minorities became a national issue after the recent beating of a black motorist by Los Angeles police. Civil rights officials contend that incident would never have ever come to light if not captured on videotape.

DISCRIMINATION and brutality are "very difficult to prove," civil rights department spokesman Jim Horn said. "(In L.A.) had it not been for a videotape, the public might never have known."

Likewise, the most serious allegation against an area police department is largely unsubstantlat-

Ernest Jarrett, a Detroit attorney specializing in civil rights cases, claims he saw Livonia officers beat a trio of teenage car thieves. The incident occurred on a summer night about three years ago, Jarrett said, after police followed the youngsters into Detroit on a high speed chase.

"I reported it to Detroit police as an assault and battery," he said. "But it seemed their attitude was that it wasn't much of a big deal.' Livonia police were equally unreceptive to his concerns, Jarrett said.

Though he sought to represent one of the youngsters in a civil suit, Jarrett said the youngster told him police reduced the car theft charge in exchange for a pledge not to file suit against the department.

Livonia Police acknowledged the incident occurred, but the department's description differs from Jarrett's.

"It was a situation where the suspect jumped the officer," Livonia Police Chief Lee Grieve said. "Sure, he hit him, but the officer was being assaulted."

The incident was judged minor, Grieve said, and no report was made.

If there had been a claim of brutality, he said, it would have been investigated.

"WE INVESTIGATE every claim and, if the officer was wrong, we take disciplinary action," he said. "But often what's considered excessive force depends upon whose viewpoint you hear. For some people, using handcuffs . constitutes excessive force."

Civil rights officials, sald nunishment, in itself, isn't enough to solve problems. What is needed, they say, are preventative steps - and possibly a new outlook on law enforcement.

"After the Detroit rlot, there was the Kerner Commission report," Horn said. "Sadly, while there's been much progress, we find many of the same things that were problems then are still problems to-

In many ways, Horn said, people seem even more tolerant of police brutality today than they were a quarter century ago.

"We still live in a society that values property over human rights," Horn said. "And that can lead to problems."

For police, however, the issue comes down to good administration versus bad.

"YOU HAVE to make it clear, right-at the top, that this kind of thing won't be tolerated," Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro said. "You have to reinforce it through discipline and peer pres-

With a 7 percent non-white population, Canton boasts the largest percentage, and second largest number, of minority residents in any area community. Westland's non-white population is 5 percent, though its 4,102 non-white residents slightly outnumber Canton's

Plymouth Township's non-white population is 3 percent. In contract, racial minorities make up less than 2 percent of the population in Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Plymouth.,

But integration of a community, or police force, in itself might not prevent brutality as the Los Angeles incident Illustrated.

The beating is the talk of the national police community, said Santomauro, who recently attended an FBI training session for the nation's police chiefs in Quantico, Va.

The message, he said, should be

"You can't allow it (prejudice) in any form," he said. "You can't allow an officer to verbally abuse someone because there's only a thin line between verbal abuse and physical abuse."

Still, Santomauro admitted, incidents occur.

"You have to realize that a police department comes into contact

Three groups are organizing petition drives to put tax questions on the 1992 Michigan ballot.

One would cut property taxes and raise the sales tax rate 2.5 percent to 6.5 percent. The other pair would limit property assessment growth to 2 percent a year and limit the tenures of U.S. congressmen and state legislators.

Meanwhile, the state Legislature has put a proposal on the 1992 ballot to limit property assessment growth at 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less.

Still unknown is the fate of Headlee II, the Taxpayers United proposal to cut assessments 20 percent over two years. The state Board of Canyassers last week failed to certify it for consideration by the Legislature and voters. TU chair Richard Headlee of Farmington Hills said the next step is the state Court of Appeals.

Former principal takes over at Farmington High

By Casey Hane stalf writer

It didn't take long for James Myers, former John Glenn High School principal, to "rocket" to the top of his new school at Farmington High.

O&E THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1991

After six years as principal of Glenn High, home for the Rockets' athletic teams, Myers resigned last summer to become an assistant principal at Farmington High.

He was promoted to principal of the school last week, effective this

Myers, who had spent nearly his entire educational career in the Wayne-Westland district, will succeed Jerry Potter, who will retire

When he assumes his new duties, Myers will find a different atmosphere than that at John Glenn. Farmington High has ing renovations, 13 to 15 new teachers and a new assistant.

That's a far cry from his last year at John Glenn with Wayne-Westland district voters rejecting a millage increase three times in the past 15 months.

When he joined the Farmington High staff last summer, there was speculation he was in line for the principal's job.

In recommending the promotion of the 45-year-old administrator Tuesday, school superintendent Michael Flanagan said: "Farmington High-has had a physical renaissance but-the most significantchange in a building is the principal." He made the recommendation "with the expectations that great things will continue to happen at Farmington."

Myers said that as principal at John Glenn, he never totally delegated to his assistants, and plans to be a hands on principal here, sharing responsibilities in all areas.

"We're a team," he said, explain-ing that his philosophy means involving teachers, administrators and other staff. "I share the responsibility and hopefully the rewards too. They work for me, but I work for them too

Myers said he wants to keep a good thing going, but expects newpeople to bring new ideas and approaches to the district's oldest high school. "I'm always open to new ideas," he said. "Right now, it's going along the same lines, but

He already has some ideas for new things at the school, including a student orientation week prior to the new school year to handle scheduling, school identification and class pictures, and general information. He would also like to do something special to welcome the new staff to the school: As principal in the in-formula district of Wayne-Westland, Myers said he learned to operate a "lean but good program," which may come in handy as Farmington prepares to make some program and

-staffing cuts. He is also pleased to have an involved parent community here, which he calls helpful. "They don't always bring the problems - they look for solutions," he added.

With the exception of the past year, Myers has spent all of his educational career with the Wayne-Westland district, both as a teacher and administrator. He also holds a law degree from Wayne State University and served as an assistant Washtenaw County prosecuting attorney before deciding he missed the interaction with kids and returned to education in the mld;

He believes today's families and kids need a caring school setting more than ever.

He calls today's kids "more complex," having been exposed to more sex and violence in today's society, but said they still have to be given a chance to grow up.

"We are surrogate families for many students today," he said. "You put in all the time you can to give the kids every opportunity. I want the best teachers, the best role models for these kids."

In his new role at Farmington High, Myers plans to stay involved in state and national education issues as well. He chairs the National Committee for Large Secondary Schools and is a member of the National Association for Secondary School Principals.

Trial is ordered for driver of car in deadly crash

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

A Westland man in a red Toyota Celica was zig-zagging his way through morning rush-hour traffic on the I-275 Expressway at faster than 80 miles per hour when he caused the May 3 collision that killed two people, according to court testimony Tuesday.

Arthur Joseph Bowes was bound over for trial on two counts of manslaughter after a preliminary examination in 16th District Court.

Killed in the accident near the Six Mile overpass were Mrija Kalaj, 47, of Canton Township and Karl Jay Beebe, 34, of Shepherd, Mich.

Judge James R. McCann refused a defense motion to bind Bowes, 22, over on a lesser charge of negligent homicide.

MCCANN HOWEVER, lowered bond from $5,000 cash or surety to $5,000/10 percent.

"He was going so fast," Albert Pistonetti, who witnessed the chainreaction collision from several car lengths behind, told the court.

'He made three lane changes to the right and then three back to the left, probably in no more than 10 seconds," Pistonetti testified.

Pistonetti told the court he looked down at his own speedometer when the Celica passed him and saw it registered 78 miles per hour. He estimated the Celica was going at least 5 miles per hour faster.

Other witnesses, including a frontseat passenger in Bowes' car, gave conflicting testimony regarding the Celica's speed.

Edward_Miskovich, a co-worker on his way with Bowes to the Wixom plastics plant where they worked, estimated the car was traveling 55-60 on the northbound freeway when it struck the rear of a Ford Tempo driven by Kalaj.

The impact sent Kalaj out of control, careening across a 52-foot wide grass median onto the southbound portion of the freeway, where she collided head-on with a Ford pickup truck driven by Beebe in the extreme right lane.

JAROSLAW DOBROWOLSKYJ, Bowes' court-appointed attorney, called the crash "an unavoidable, tragic, tragic accident."

But Dobrowolskyj said there was no evidence of the "gross recklessness" by his client necessary to support the manslaughter charge, which is punishable by a maximum 15-year prison sentence.

"He may have been passing a lotof cars to get where he was going. That, in Itself, is not gross, reckless behavior," the attorney said.

McCann, though, ruled that there was probable cause for a trial on the original charge and referred to Pistonetti's testimony as "the most damaging here."

Pistonetti testified Kalaj's car acted "like a slingshot" after its was struck from behind by the Celica. Parts from both cars showered other drivers after the initial impact, he told the court.

Pistonetti, who pulled over to see if he could help, also testified that he physically restrained the defendant, whom he thought was about to leave the scene before police arrived.

"I was a little upset. At that point. I knew that already one person was dead," he said of his actions during cross examination Tuesday.

IN OTHER testimony, Michigan State Police trooper Gregory Stevens read the written statement Bowes gave police.

Bowes refers several times in the statement to slow-moving traffic on I the freeway and characterizes his actions behind the wheel as "aggressive, but driving safely in my opin-

Retired air controller taking off for Russia

By Tedd Schnelder staff writer

Robert Ervin suspects his spring. trip to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe will be like traveling into a time warp.

Ervin, who is making the trek as part of a delegation of air safety and civil aviation professionals through the Citizen Ambassador Program, figures he'll see equipment and techniques reminiscent of his early years as an air traffic controller in the

"I hope I'm pleasantly surprised by newer technology," said the western Wayne County resident, "but I don't think that's going to be the state of air traffic control in the Soviet Union and Eastern bloc.

"Based on what groups in other fields have discerned, I think we'll be looking at equipment that is 20-30 years old. The system will probably rely heavily on visual sighting with little computer backup," Ervin said.

"It should be a tremendous learning experience," Ervin said. "For 40 years their borders have been closed."

ERVIN'S GROUP will spend just over two weeks in Moscow, Kiev, Warsaw and Prague beginning May 27 getting a first-hand look at the according to Ervin.

The delegation will look at flying operations, pilot and flight crew training, airfield management, air safety and en route air navigation facilities currently used in those

The planned seminars and technical meetings are "exploratory" in nature, according to the retired controller who said the delegation hopes "to provide an avenue of communication" between the Eastern bloc aviation community and its American counterpart.,

The purpose, as far as Ervin is concerned, fits comfortably with his philosophy: "Sharing knowledge is one of the most important responsibilities you can have as an adult."

But safety improvements and increased profitability for the airline industry will be benefits that spin off from the trip as well.

"With the tremendous growth in travel to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, our airlines need to know that they can operate safely in those countries." Ervin said.

New routes to cut flying time to the Far East and first-time routes over Siberia could eventually result from continued U.S.-Soviet dialogue,

IN ADDITION, the opening of air trade routes between those countries and America will benefit all sides.

A similar trip to communist China several years ago indirectly led to a $50 million contract for IBM to update a computerized air traffic control'system, Ervin said. . The group will participate in cultural activities and some members are planning a stop at the acclaimed Paris Air Show before their return to the United States, Ervin said.

The delegation is made up of a cross-section of aviation professionals, including pilots, controllers, representatives from training and simulation companies and even a psy-. chologist from the Swedish navy, said Ervin. Members are paying for the trip themselves.

Ervin, 59, spent more than three decades in the field and as an air traffic control instructor and administrator before retiring two years ago. Asked to give a brief description Ervin responds that the controller's job is "hours and hours of boredom punctuated by moments of sheer terror."

But the job's inherent stress can usually be laid at the feet of poor management decisions and working conditions, not the pressure of trying to guide small, private planes around jumbo jets with more than 300 passengers and crew members, he said.

A TYPICAL WORK week for controllers includes two daytime shifts, two evenings and a midnight shift, said Ervin.

SC, Gibson offer summer programs for gifted kids

Plenty of activities will be available for gifted students this summer, with both day and sleepaway programs on the menu.

Classes will be offered at Schoolcraft College, Livonia, Gibson School for the Gifted, Redford and at various other sites in Michigan and surrounding states.

Schoolcraft's Talented and Gifted series includes classes in computer programming, typing, science and foreign language for stu-

Among the highlights are creative drama, an opportunity for students to learn about theater history, costuming and mak-cup, as well as share in class dramatic productions. Another class, Plants and Animals in the Environment, allows students to learn ecology. Beginning, intermediate and advanced computer programming classes will be offered in the BA-SIC computer language.

A full class schedule, class fees and other information is available by calling the Schoolcraft Continuing Education Services Office, 462-. 4448.

Gibson's programs also include computer education, as well as, cooking, science, arts and crafts, drama, literature and other topics. Flexibile programming allows students to take one or a series of classes.

Additional information is available by calling Susan Gross, 994. 4560 or Florence Steinberg, 541-

Other programs are described in "Summer Sundries", a guidebook available through the Wayne County Regional Education Services Agency.

The book includes information on summer camps, including the Interlochen (Mich.) Center For the Arts, college and university programs, including those at Michigan State, Wayne State and the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and community programs, including those at Cranbrook and Roeper schools.

Out-state programs, including those at Northwestern and Iowa universities, as well as at National Wildlife headquarters in Washington, are also detailed.

Day trips in Michigan and Canada are also featured, as are a host of festivals and fairs, including the Ann Arbor Street Fair and Novi 1950s Festival.

A copy of "Summer Sundries" can be reserved by calling Wayne County RESA offices, 467-1459.

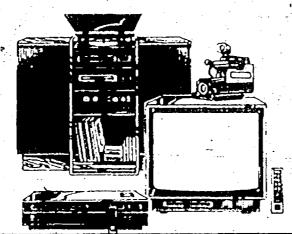

Other questions on issues and programs related to gifted and talented students can be answered by calling the Western-Wayne Alliance for Gifted Educatioon. The W2 MAGE telephone number is 421-8220.

environment at school. .

But a potentially dangerous environmental problem surfaced last week at Cooper Elementary School in Westland, part of Livonia Public Schools.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources said the school grounds on Ann Arbor Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt may be contaminated and ordered the playground closed for now.

The possible contamination of water coming from a 40-acre site can be seen on the south boundary in the ditch area between the Hines Parkway and the school's grounds.

In this area, rusty-red water with a heavy iron smell seeps from a glass-embedded hillside and flows into a storm sewer.

noilWater in the storm sewer flows into a culvert Bundor Hines Drive to the Rouge River, about 150

Cooper School parent Ron Graunstadt recently walked the school site with a family friend who is an environmental expert.

What turned out to be a walk to acquaint his children with environmental issues turned into a shocking discovery of just how much glass and other debris protruded from the grounds.

nuiGOOPER PARENTS were notified May 2 ethrbughia letter from principal Linda Gantos, who said that testing would begin immediately to determine if the grounds were environmentally y hazardous.

Gantos and the district's maintenance departfederal Enviro ment noted th

ARENTS AND STUDENTS expect a safe tection Agency and the Michigan Department of Health and Human Services indicated that there are no chemicals or toxins that presented a public safety hazard.

Both did not specifically mention, however, that the DNR considers the site to be a threat to the public health.

In informing parents and the community, the district should not pick and choose the good news but summarize the findings of all-agencies involved.

THE PROBLEM comes from the school property being a former landfill. When the school was built nearly 30 years ago, the community and its leaders (like most of the nation) weren't aware of environmental concerns.

While things have changed dramatically since then, the district is stuck with a problem handed it by school officials nearly three decades ago.

There are numerous federal and state laws designed to protect the public and employees from dangerous situations.

Certainly, Cooper School students and their parents deserve the same protection.

While the fencing of the asphalt playground area is an adequate short-term measure, the job. is not yet finished. The district must now determine the extent of the problem, identify the health and environmental hazards that exist, and come up with a plan to eradicate both.

There is no need for panic. But there certainly are no grounds for complacency neither. The concern that exists in the community should be sufficient motivation to complete soil testing and come are a transaction plan in timely fashion.

Children at Cooper Elementary are now confined to playing on the fenced-in asphalt area.

Priorities

Clear heads can handle crisis

T'S MICHIGAN WEEK — a time of celebration but also one of concern as the state faces troubling issues.

The slumping economy, however, shouldn't be used as an excuse to dismantle a state infrastructure that has served Michigan residents well.

With a budget deficit looming, this is clearly the time to hold the line on government spending. But there is a difference between keeping costs In line and eliminating programs altogether.

Cutting funding for state fine arts programs, selling state park land and dumping able bodied people off state welfare rolls may be popular, but it sets a troubling precedent.

FINE ARTS is not for the few. State funding for art and music is the best way to assure that all Michigan residents have equal opportunity for cultural enrichment.

Selling park land likewise sets a dangerous precedent at a time when many Michigan residents and communities are diligently working to halt development. Keeping park land open, if only as a green belt, also makes Michigan a much more livable place.

Welfare, like other state expenses, must face close scrutiny in tough financial times. It may well prove that dropping able bodied workers without children from welfare rolls will preserve programs for other, more needy state residents. Still, with joblessness high — and with infant mortality rates rivaling those of Third World countries in some parts our state — the need is clearly there.

> IT COMES down to choosing priorities and the governor may not be making the right choices.

The trade-off seems to be cuts in social services and other programs in return for a boost in state education spending.

Even though increased education spending is politically popular, spending more on education may mean inflating teacher salaries in poor, outstate districts. It also may mean keeping small, no-longer economically viable districts affoat in an era when they should consolidate.

The governor's clinging to a property tax cut is puzzling in light of his concern about education, knowing that could take hundreds of thousands of dollars away from Michigan public school districts.

The budget deficit requires clear headed thinking. It's time the governor and legislators started displaying some.

Lucrative

Expense fund revisions due

N THE WAKE of recent revelations of political misjudgments and conflicts of interest, the elimination of a special fund that lends itself to just such problems is long overdue.

A state Senate panel has unanimously supported a bill that would elimintate officeholder expense funds. The bill would allow officeholders who leave the state Legislature by a certain date to keep whatever is left in the fund or return it to contributors or give it to charity. If they don't leave, they automatically forfeit the money. That is similar to the federal law regarding campaign

The OEFs allow incumbents an unfair advanage over challengers, who are not allowed a similar fund. Corporations, which cannot contribute to campaign committees, are allowed to contribute to OEFs. Chucking this fund would further "Michigan's longstanding objective of eliminating undue corporate influence on elected officials," in the words of Secretary of State ... Richard Austln.

THE LEGISLATION would severely limit the 'atnount of money a candidate could spend at another candidate's fund-raiser. It would also eliminate uses of the money for questionable travel and entertainment expenses.

The bill to eliminate the fund has already passed the Sonate, as it did last year. It awaits action by the House Oversight Committee, of which Farmington Hills Rep. Jan Dolan is a

Dolan said that she doesn't have an OEF and would be glad to be rid of them. But a lot of other legislation is getting attention in Lansing. The bill could die, as it did in the last session. In fact, one wonders about a bill that almost nobody opposes not getting action. The delay provokes

Although this may seem like an administrative detail to some legislators, it isn't. They could help restore some needed credibility and eliminate a potential source of trouble: •

Legistators should not put this off, but take care of this messy detail before it blows up in their face -- and ours.

Suburbs ignore unrest growing within the city

THE IMAGES COME back into focus too easily. And the pictures are always the same.

Scenario One: A young man stands on the corner watching the billows of black and gray smoke roll across the summer sky. For as far as the eye can see, the horizon is filled with smoke while his ears are full of the sounds of sirens piercing the usual calm of a summer evening. /

Scenario Two: A bus maneuvers through a devastated city. The young man gazes in disbelief as he passes block after block of burned out houses and businesses. Ulive green jeeps are posted at the street corners, each manned with an M-60 machine gun, silent sentinels watching over the rubbleof a once proud city.

That was a lifetime ago, those horror filled days and nights in 1967 when Detroit exploded-and it was forever dismissed in most people's minds as a desirable place to live.

CERTAINLY MUCH has changed in the the last 24 years. It would be folly to seek similarities between social conditions of today and in 1967. While many of us are better off, with our collective inability, or maybe our unwillingness, to deal with the racial situation, Metropolitan Detroit lingers in a strange limbo of instability.

worse since 1967. For those who remember, as civil unrest swept the country that year, many predicted that riots could never happen in Detroit. Blacks, the experts said, were better off in Detroit than any place else in America.

So much for the experts.

Now we face a much different America. Short on eash, short on patience. The rumblings of discontent are heard in just about every corner.

The warning signs are ominous and once again few are paying attention. Some residents of the the nation's capital seethe with rage and the police are called to quell the disturbance. In Detroit a group of community ites, seems so far away. Who needs it, many suburbanites say, with all its problems. But this time it will be different.

There is nothing left in Detroit to burn. The young and restless of the underclass stand on the street corners, waiting for something to happen. Nothing does.

And please notice, it is not already in May. So very hot. And when it's hot, trouble is bound to follow.

Media miss the positive

To the editor:

Once again, the Detroit and suburban media missed the opportunity to report a positive occurrence in our community.

Last Monday, almost 1,300 seniors from over 130 local public, private and parochial high schools were honored at a beautification ceremony in the Riverview Room of Cobo Center, by the Detroit Association of Phi-Beta Kappa for maintaining high school grade point averages of 3.75 or better.

However, since no one was shot, raped or mugged before, during or after the ceremony, since no federal indictments were expected to be handed down as a result of the awards, since none of our local state or federal politicians deigned it necessary to attend, and since none of the scholars scheduled a news conference to announce the college he or she intended to attend, our local print and television media representatives, other than WKBD-TV, did not feel the ceremony important enough to report. Even Ralph Nichols, of the Dale Carnegle Institute, the evening's principal speaker, felt it necessary to comment on the lack of media interest. No wonder the public perceives

our schools and teachers to be failing. No wonder school districts have a difficult or impossible time passing appropriate millages. They operate in total secrecy unless something unfortunate or tragic occurs. What a sad commentary when the college choices of a few, tail (and talented) high school students, who happen to be able to shoot basketballs, but who often barely qualify academically for college, (or if they do, usually leave after one or two years) garner front page continuous local and national coverage while the achievement of 1,300 bright, dedicated and responsible young people, who will probably be among the leaders in our country, are virtually ignored.

No wonder Detroit's image stinks. Our priorities are so misplaced it is appalling. Our politicians are more concerned with building stadiums cand monuments to themselves, disrupting neighborhoods, despoiling the environment and looting our. treasuries than they are with saving' our national treasures - our children. God help us all.

Actually only three of them are clock clocks - that is, devices whose purpose is to tell time and nothing else. The others are components of the VCRs, the kitchen range, the radio, the coffee maker, the kitchen timer and the microwave.

The one in the microwave gets the most use, which is why you hear conversations like:

"What time is it, daddy?" "What does it say on the microwave?"

Therein, of course, lies the problem. Of the 10 visible clocks, four of them are analog - they have the traditional face with hands moving around - and the other six are digital, the kind that display a series of numbers glowing or flashing at you.

I realized this the other morning when the second grader remembered, just before time for school, that she had homework. The homework involved a series of pictures of a clock face (the analog type) with the hands in different positions. She was supposed to fill in the blanks to the questions: "It is - minutes be-

She had done the work at school and had gotten all but one of the answers wrong. Her assignment was to correct them. And she was frustrat-

After much discussion, explanation and frustration on both sides, the light finally dawned and, once she had figured out the system, she filled in the blanks with the right an:

THE PROBLEM, of course, was that we had relied too much on the microwave with its bells and whistles and digital display and not enough on the traditional Howard Miller creation that hangs on the wall in the dining room.

We had sworn that we would not do this. We would not let her rely on digital time-tellers until she had mastered the analog system.

But there was the microwave. And __lives in Canton __

So here we were, trying to interpret the time on a round clock face with one big hand and one little one and the numbers 1 through 12 encir-

For a second-grader, growing up in a digital age, it was, understandably, confusing.

I remembered a study conducted by a U-M professor a few years ago. He had postulated that digital time pieces had altered our whole thought process, and I think he was right.

Looking at a traditional analog clock, we say things like "It's halfpast 12" or it's "a quarter to 3." Time becomes relative, and we think of the present moment in relation to that which has gone before or that which is to come.

Not so with a digital timepiece. It tells us that the time is 12:31 or 2:46. Time becomes an absolute and life is a series of isolated minutes, each having no relationship to the past or the future.

And, of course, with an analog clock, we must learn to tell time. A digital display tells us what time it is. We don't have to think; it does it

IT'S TOUGH being an analog person in a digital world. But it's even harder trying to take a digital person of the '90s into the analog world of times past.

But I can't think about this any longer. My deadline is 10 a.m. and, according to the display on my computer screen, it's already 09:58:49.21.

Spartans win division despite tie

Livonia Stevenson girls soccer coach Mary Kay Hussey didn't know what to make of the Spartans' scoreless tie Monday against visiting Plymouth Salem.

"It either shows poor offense or great defense," she said. "I don't know which one."

Considering both teams entered the week ranked among the top five teams in Class A, the outcome probably had something to do with both teams' superior de-

Despite the tie, the Spartans still earned a berth in the Western Lakes Activities Association final game at 7 p.m. Friday at Livonia Churchill.

Both Salem and Stevenson finished tied atop Lakes Division at 3-0-1. The Spartans won the tiebreaker, however, by virtue of their 8-0-2 overall conference mark compared to Salem's record of 8-1-1.

Churchill, Northville and Canton were all 4-1 in the Western Division, but Churchill won the Western Division tiebreaker because it had a better overall conference record.

The Rocks' best scoring chance in the first half Monday came when senior forward Erin Harvey dribbled through a couple Spartans and shot the ball past goalkeeper Alicia Smith, but wide of the left goalpost.

In the second half, Smith came out of her net to make a save and the rebound was kicked toward the wideopen net, but defender Andrea Wittrock kicked the ball the other way.

HUSSEY CREDITED the goalkeeping on both sides for part of the shutout. But she was upset as well with her team's inability to score on Salem keeper Jenny Emmett, whom Johnson calls the best in the state "by Stevenson kept the ball in Salem's end the last couple minutes in a desperation attempt to score, but Hussey believes the Spartans wouldn't have needed a late goal if they capitalized earlier.

"We missed two open nets in the first half and didn't finish when we should have," Hussey said. "I don't think we played well. We were very anxious and a bit confused. Plymouth Salem is a good team. They won 80 percent of the balls and are very fast, strong and physical. We played hard but I don't think we were very smart about it."

Johnson said Salem paid special attention to Stevenson's best player, junior Ragen Coyne.

"Ragen starts out at midfield and our midfielder, Kris Goff, marks her as she moves around, then hands her off to our other girls," Johnson said. "Whatever zone she's in, she was marked. Everyone was aware of No.

Coyne wasn't too discouraged about the outcome.

"All in all it's an improvement over last year's regular season because we had four losses," she said. "I believe Salem is the toughest team we've faced. They played tight defense, but the balls weren't necessarily Churchill, Northville and Plymouth Canton all tied or first in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association with Identical 4-1 records.

But by virtue of Churchill's 8-2 overall WLAA mark, compared to Canton's 7-2-1 record and Northville's 7-3 slate, the Chargers will face Lakes Division champion Livonia Stevenson for the WLAA title. (Game time is 7 p.m. Friday at Churchill.)

Kobane enjoying self in new domain

By C.J. Risak staff writer

For Dean Kobane, the time had,

Sure, people go to college to develop a career. But what served as the vehicle transporting Kobane from Livonia (Churchill HS) to Pepperdine University in 1987 was a game golf. And although Robane has an abundance of ability, perhaps enough to carve out a niche for himself professionally, he considered golf a game.

After two years at Pepperdine, Kobane was beginning to feel otherwise. He had won the West Coast Athletic Conference championship as a sophomore, and although he still loved playing, he was beginning to think the game was controlling his future instead of him controlling the

"I enjoyed the golf part," said Kobane. "But I started to feel as though golf was my life. I wanted to play it for fun, as a game. It's something you should enjoy."

Combining that with several other factors, including the long distance from home, convinced Kobane to leave Pepperdine. He transferred to the University of Michigan in the fall of 1989, sat out three semesters (including last fall due to credit transfer problems) and became eligible this spring.

REMEMBER: SURE, U-M is wellestablished athletically in several sports, but golf is not one of them. At least not for nearly 40 years. The last time U-M won a Big Ten team title was 1952. The last Wolverine to win a Big Ten individual crown was John Morse in 1980.

Hardly seems like a program worth pursuing. But to Kobane, who won the Class A title at Churchill in 1986, it had just what he was looking

"I didn't want to give up the game or anything," he insisted. "It wasn't that. I know (U-M) never had a reputation as a good golf team, but they do have a good program. It's comparable to any northern team."

Since golf was, for all intentions, a low-profile sport at U-M, Kobane could be safely assumed it was still treated more as a game than a door-die, win-at-all-cost necessity.

Making golf more fun, less work hasn't affected Kobane's play. Not at all. Indeed, going into the Big Ten Championship this weekend, U-M coach Jim Carras rated his rising star as a top challenger for the individual championship.

"I would have to put him in as one of the five who can win the title," said Carras. "Dean has a very solid game, but his real strength is he hits the ball extremely long. He's one of the longest hitters I've ever seen. He's very, very strong."

KOBANE'S LONG-HITTING ability isn't what makes him successful, insisted Carras. It's how he handles

"With-additional-length, there always, always comes a certain inconsistency," the U-M coach said. "Long hitters don't always hit the ball straight, but Dean knows when he's not hitting it well to go to his

"Not all golfers do. Some stick with their driver no matter what. Dean's got golfing maturity; he's very smart."

Kobane's scores vindicate Carras. In 18 rounds this spring, only twice has Kobane shot 80 or above. He carries a 73.7 stroke average, best by far among the Wolverines (next best among regulars: Anthony Dietz,

He's been U-M's low scorer in four of the seven tournaments he's played (he missed three last fall), and he took medalist honors at the Spartan Invitational, hosted by Michigan State May 4-5.

Best of all, with the Big Ten Championship at hand, Kobane's game is coming together. At the Spartan Invitational and at last weekend's Wolverine Invitational in? the worst of his six rounds were a pair of 72s.

"I FEEL I'm playing pretty consistent now," said Kobane. "I can hit the ball far, but my irons are probably the best part of my game."

The site of the Big Ten Championship, Purdue University's South Course in West Lafayette, Ind., won't make Kobane's pursuit of a title. easy. It's a short course (6,428) yards), which tends to even out the competition, for long and not-so-long hitters. Still, Kobane figures his chances are good. "If I get off the tee well, I have a chance to win," he said. "I've been putting reasonably well, and I'm consistently getting on the greens. The type of course it is, I've? got to work on my wedge. I have to; get off the tee well so I can hit my wedge to the green.

"I'm just going to try to play intelligently so I don't give any strokes

Three Crusaders, nearly 4, earn district honors

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The statistics are impressive. Certainly, the three Madonna University players named to the all-NAIA District 23 baseball team — and one who just missed - seemed deserving of the honor.

But that's not what made them dinstinctive. Nor was that what made them successful.

It was their "Who cares?" attitude that separated them from the rest. Don't be misled. It wasn't arrogance - it was disdain for past accomplishments. Stats can be analyzed and admired during the offseason; but the goal is to delay the off-season's starting time as long as possible.

In talking to these four members of the Fighting Crusaders, that belief was prevalent. Ernie Bowling, the man who set team records with 16 homers and 54 runs batted in, said it best: "I would have given up the whole season to do well in the tournament."

BOWLING NARROWLY missed being named the all-district player of the year. That honor went to Aquinas College pitcher Tim Sullivan (10-0 record, 1.45 earned run average). So what the junior first baseman was offering to surrender — a .370 batting average, 14 doubles and a teamhigh 50 runs scored - were accomplishments worth relishing.

But his numbers, like those of teammates Joe Brusséau and John Bonham, also named to the first team, meant less than the outcome of last week's double-elimination district tournament. Madonna lost its first game 8-5 to Aquinas in 10 innings, won its second game over Northwood Institute 4-3 (also in 10 innings), then lost to Aquinas again

He wasn't the only one with mixed feelings regarding a year in which Madonna recorded a school-record

Said Brusseau, a sophomore second baseman from Redford Bishop Borgess-who had six hits in 11 atbats in the tournament: "I'd give them all up for that one hit." And the hit he referred to? Any one that would have won a playoff game.

BRUSSEAU'S NUMBERS - a 369 average (more than 100 points higher than a year ago), eight doubles, four triples, eight homers, 33 RBI and 41 runs scored — were nice, in his estimation, but they weren't what stuck in his mind.

"The one thing I remember is at Northwood earlier in the season, with runners on second and third, nobody out, and I struck out," sald

Success is in the eye of the beholder? It's relative? Both are true, as far as Madonna's three all-district selections and senior outfielder Mike Wozniak, who just missed being chosen, are concerned.

Post-season honors are great, but reaching the post-season so soon sure isn't.

Bonham provides a perfect example. He and Wozniak were the team's only seniors; Bonham wanted to get all he could out of his last season. "This is my last year," he remembered thinking. "You're going tohave to shoot me to get me out of the lineup."

WORDS WITHOUT action are worthless. Bonham backed up his statement by volunteering, during the preseason, to become the team's catcher. A utility player in years past, he hadn't caught since he was

It was a gamble Madonna coach Mike George had to take, though. His catcher from a year ago, Steve Coffell, had back problems and couldn't play. The only other catcher on the roster was freshman Chris Gajewski. The move pald incredible dividends. Bonham caught 46 (of 53) games and made just five errors; he. threw out 29 of 65 baserunners (45 percent). And offensively, Bonham broke new ground for a catcher by batting lead-off and stealing a teambest 27 bases (in 33 attempts). He batted .281 with four doubles, two triples, 11 RBI and 39 runs scored. "I was kind of worried," he antwered when asked his feelings about stepping behind the plate after an eight-year absense. "I thought it might hurt my speed."

lineup, not as long as he could contribute. At one point, Bonham said he approached George about moving him into the outfield and putting Gajewski - whom Bonham felt was better defensively - behind the plate. George opted not to.

THE FINAL week of the season was filled with frustration for Wozniak, a Westland native (Livonia Franklin HS). He had five hits in 12. playoff at-bats (.417 average); he batted a team-best .375 during the season with six doubles, two triples, three homers and 25 RBI.

But, in the all-district voting, he tied for a spot on the team. In the ensuing vote-off, Wozniak lost.

Still, that loss wasn't as bothersome as the 20 games the team lost. during the season. Nevermind the 32

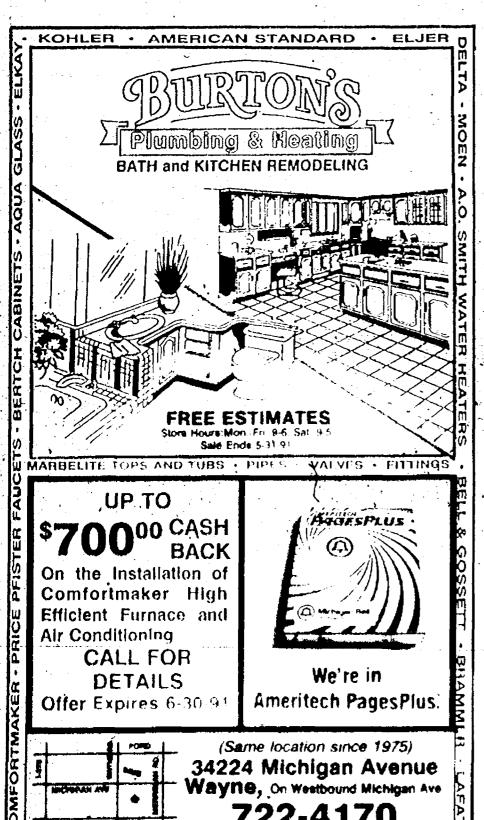

"If we had played every game like we did after getting off the plane in But he wasn't about to leave the Florida (the Crusaders were 6-2-1 on their spring trip), we wouldn't have lost a game," he said.

Which made part of the season's conclusion happy. During the long season, Wozniak said, "We started falling off. We got a little bit laid back. That's when we started talking about being a team.

Depth keys Shamrocks' league championship

By C.J. fileak staff writer

The key to Redford Catholic Central's tennis victory at the Catholic League Championships depth - is what Shamrock coach Bob Miller hopes will carry his team towards a Class A state title.

It certainly was too much for CC's only true challenger at the league meet, Birmingham Brother Rice. The Shamrocks, who narrowly defeated Rice earlier in the season on a dual-meet tiebreaker, rebounded Saturday to win six of the eight flights at the 10-team meet, held at Farwell Field in Detroit Satruday.

Rice won two flights and opposed CC in the other six finals. CC finished with 60 points to the Warriors' 52. University of Detroit-Jesuit was a distant third (24), followed by Warren DeLaSalle (22); Allen Park Cabrini (19); Harper Woods Notre Dame (16); Royal Oak Shrine (15); Redford Bishop Borgess (eight); Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher (six); and Pontiac Oakland Catholic

"I felt somewhat confident (about our chances),'s sald Miller. "We beat Brother Rice on a tiebreaker earlier, but I felt we were the better

tennis

HOW MUCH better? Does the league championship - CC's first since 1987 - prove anything?

"I think what it shows is we've got depth," answered Miller. "Our teams are fairly even in singles, but where It shows is at the No. 2, 3 and 4 doubles. And we were able to win the close matches this time."

Indeed, the Shamrocks were good enough to win six matches this time. Paul Bozyk started it off by capturing his second-straight No. 1 singles championship, bettering Rice's Tom Herb 7-6, 5-7, 6-1 in the final. .

At No. 3 singles, Scott Hazlett topped the Warriors' Enzo Garcia 6-3, 6-2. Rice collected wins in the other two singles, with Geoff Prentice topp; ing Paul Thieme 4-6, 6-9, 6-2 at No. 2 and Joe Vincler defeating Bob Bhatia 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 at No.

The doubles' flights belonged to CC, however.

The No. 1 team of Jayson Torres and Chris Alonte outlasted Rice's Victor Morales and Eric Podgorny with a come-from-behind effort, 6-7, 7-6, 6.4. Torres and Alonte trailed 3.0 in the second set before battling back to win.

WHILE CC'S No. 1 pair scrapped to win, the No. 2 team of Dave Gallagher and Chris Matson completely dominated. They whipped the Warriors' Jon Holfley and John Newman 6-0, 6-0 to win the title and complete a clean sweep three-straight match wins without losing a game.

The Shamrocks' No. 3 and 4 teams weren't quite as dominant, but they didn't lose a set in the finals. No. 3s Chip Shade and Dave Lombardi topped Rice's Jason Emory and Jim Molloy 6-3, 6-4, and No. 4s Steve Englehart and Mark Shaya ripped Chris Kowal and Chris Millar 6-3, 6-0.

The significance of winning the team title was not lost on Miller. "1987 was the last time CC had won the league championship in tennis, and Brother Rice had won the last three, so this was the first time any of these kids had been on a championship team, which is nice," he noted.

Now, if only CC can carry that success on to the state meet . . . The Shamrocks will begin their quest at the Dearborn Regional Friday and

CC names LaJoy new soccer coach

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Phil LaJoy, Plymouth Salem's boys and girls junior varsity soccer coach since 1987, has accepted the Redford Catholic Central varsity boys soccer head coach's job.

LaJoy takes over next fall for John Boots, whose contract was not renewed by CC after leading the Shamrocks to a combined 32-8-3 record over two years.

LaJoy owns Norrell Temporary Services in Ann Arbor, which allows him to juggle his schedule to his own needs. CC athletic director Bob Santello said in an earlier interview that Boots was not asked back because of his sales representative lob, which took him away for two weeks of practice and two games last LaJoy also has an impressive coaching background on both the club and high school level. He was the first and only JV head coach at Salem and his boys and girls teams have a combined record of 96-11-3 in 414 years.

"We think Phil will do a great job for CC," Santello sald. "In looking at Phil's resume and talking to him and others who know him, it looks like he has a great background. He's coached at the club level a long time and has organized major tournaments in Plymouth and that tells me he's very good at the organizational level. He's a licensed soccer coach so he's done his homework there, and he's a registered official (referee) so he knows what it's like being on the other side."

LaJOY GRADUATED from high, school in 1962 from St. Mary's High School in Wayne, and received a college, degree from the University of Detroit.

"CC is an excellent school and I look forward to contributing in a positive way to the soccer program," said LaJoy, who organizes the Canton Memorial Day Tournament every year. "Certainly, my time at Plymouth Salem was a very positive experience. I enjoyed every minute. at Salem, but golly, I really look forward: to (head) coaching at CC.

"Hopefully, I can make the soccer program grow and be better tomorrow than, it is today. My goal is to build an excellent program, and continue the tradition. of excellence of the other sports at CC.

"I won't be classified as a kick-ball coach. I'm more of a short-passing disclple, with an emphasis on defense. Plym-. outh Salem has played that game over

Canton wins title the 'Hart' way

By Brad Emons staff writer

Make way Detroit Pistons, because the Plymouth Canton boys tennis team has broken new ground.

How does "Four-peat" sound? The Chiefs, despite some anxious moments from neighborhood rival Plymouth Salem, like the ring to their fourth consecutive Western Lakes Activities Association championship Tuesday as 11 schools competed in the tourney held at Livonia Canton, thanks to Shawn Hart's victory at No. 4 singles, won the meet outright with a team-high 21 points, nudging out the rival Rocks who scored 20. See statistical summary.

As the sun was setting late Tuesday afternoon and temperatures still hovering near the 88-degree mark, only Hart and Livonia Churchili's Nadir Khan were the only two players remaining on the courts.

A victory by the Canton senior would give his school their unprecedented fourth straight title, while a loss would leave the Chiefs tied with their neighbors.

Khan put up a fight, but Hart was in control from start to finish, wrapping up the match and the feam championship with a 6-3, 6-2 triumph.

have choked if I knew I was under pressure to win," said Hart after he was told the outcome of the meet was riding on his match. "I-really kind of blocked everything out. I was just glad to have my teammates behind me. "His (Khan's) backhand and ground strokes have improved since the last time I played him. He's an overall better player."

Canton captured four of seven flights, a pair of titles each in singles and doubles.

While Hart's win sealed the outcome, the victory by Canton's No. 3 doubles team of junior Mike Donhost and sophomore Eric Baden proved

The Chiefs took advantage of a two-point swing when Donhost and Baden outlasted Salem's duo of David Bell and Spanish exchange student Javier Angulo, 7-6, 5-7, 6-3.

The entire meet may have come down to the first-set nine-point tiebreaker which Donhost and Baden

Bell and Angulo put up a real fight after going down earlier in the season against the same Canton duo, 6-

"THERE'S ALWAYS some kind of strategy, but I just told them (Bell and Angulo) to keep the ball in play," Salem coach Judy Braun said. "It would have been nice to win it outright, but this tournament is always tough. There's always good competition in this tournament."

Canton's other doubles victory occurred at No. 2 where senior Dan Rosario and junior Stu Levenbach capped an unbeaten WLAA season with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Churchill's

Todd Estes and Chris Machniak. Canton, with juniors Adam Maewski and Joe Binder teaming up, also reached the finals at No. 1 doubles, only to fall to Salem's Mike Mulder and Jeff Rearick in three sets, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

At No. 2 singles, senior Rod Jesena of Canton beat Salem's Jason "I'D RATHER not know, I would- Grinm, 6-2, 7-5 for the title. (Canton also picked up a valuable point when Scott Jones won his first match at No. 3 singles before being eliminat-

> "Rod-played over the winter and his tennis has really improved," Canton coach Jim Hayes said. "He's a tough kid."

> Hayes attributes Canton's success to "hard work."

9 "We have more and more kids playing indoor tennis," he said. "And the kids at Salem do the same thing. We're fortunate that the families are interested and willing to spend money for their kids to play."

HAYES ALSO believes the team's success stems from a popular physical education class the high school

'We're fortunate to have an elective P.E. program," he said. "The tennis classes are open to everybody, from novice players to the kids on the high school team. During the fall semester I taught three classes. In the winter I got all the gyms. I taught four classes this spring. The popularity is enormous." Despite having the distinction of of being "Three-peat" champions, Hayes was not totally confident going into the mee. His No. 1 singles player, Brian Schmidt was scratched from the lineup after spraining his knee over the weekend. Hayes got the bad news Monday morning when Schmidt showed up for school wearing a cumbersome brace.

"We just had to set different goals as far as points go and the kids just accepted it," Hayes said.

Schmidt, who watched in frustration all day from the sidelines, is hoping to return for Friday's Class A regional at Ann Arbor.

"I'm mad at myself, I was playing around in a park," Schmidt said. "The team was also kind of upset with me."

Jeff Fuerst, who along with Eric Mitchell back up the 10-man varsity squad, filled in for Schmidt, but lost in the first round.

"CANTON DID WELL since their No. 1 singles player (Schmidt) didn't play," Braun said. "If he had played," I think he would have taken at least two points."

The No. 1 singles draw became anti-climatic after North Farmington's Seth Hoffman, a nationallyranked player, parted ways with the Raiders' squad only a week prior to the WLAA tournament.

That left the door wide open for state Class A singles runnerup Mark Schwagle of Northville, who beat Hoffman earlier this year, 6-1, 6-4.

Paragon loses in final

The Mt. Clemens Booters Soccer Club edged Livonia Paragon, 1-0, Sunday in the finals of the Michigan Tournament of Champions held at Oakland University.

With the win, the Booters advanced to the Region II Tournament of Champions, July 26-28, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mt. Clemens scored 30 minutes into the first half on a penalty kick. Paragon's player-coach Dan Duggan was 'called for a flagrant foul, resulting in the penalty kick which decided Paragon's fait.

"The referee said I shoved the guy," Duggan said. "Most rels wouldn't call that in the middle of the field. It was shoulder-to-shoulder (contact), the guy took a dive and the ref called it.' -Duggan said Paragon pressed the en-

Pitcher's duel

Mayle tames Jose, moves Pats to 9-0

The present met the future Monday in a Western Lakes Activities Association softball game as Livonia Franklin senior Jenny Mayle hurled a perfect game to beat freshman Karen Jose and Livonia Churchill in eight innings, 2-0.

Mayle retired all 24 batters she faced, while striking out 11, to give Franklin the Western Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association with a 9-0 record.

It was Mayle's third no-hitter of the season, the second over Churchill. She is now 15-1 overall.

"Credit three defensive standout plays," Franklin coach Joe Epstein said. "Kris McComb made a long-running catch in center and Emily Skura caught a line-drive up the middle in the fifth. And Dawn Warner is just doing the job for us at second base."

Jose, meanwhile, struck out seven, walked four and allowed just three hits.

Franklin scored twice in the top of the eighth to gain the victory. Kris McComb started the inning with a walk.

She advanced to second on a groundout and reached third on Wendy Rynkiewicz's bunt single: McComb scored on a wild-pitch and Rynklewicz came around on Tracy Parenti's RBI sin-

"She (Jose) really throws well," said Epstein, whose team is 16-4 overall. "Once she gets her pitches down with a little more controk, she'll be somebody to be reckoned with."

Churchill fell to 5-8 overall with the loss.

"Jenny was very good and Karen did very well," Churchill coach Frank Bremmer said. "Churchill played its best game of the season on defense (only two errors). I'm very pleased with the game. Franklin played error-free."

A direct approach to playing Hamlet

OLM FEORE has the plumrole as Hamlet in the Bard's "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark," now in preview and opening the season Monday, May 27, at Stratford's Festival Theatre.

Feore takes his work seriously but he is not mesmerised by the character. He has played Richard III and Iago. "Now it's Hamlet," he said. "We're just doing the play - very simple - as honest and direct as we can be."

Asked what approach this production would take to Shakespeare's drama, Feore said, "We've let each of the elements be featured." He believes it's dangerous to assume you can put a single interpretation onto a role as great as Hamlet

"Nothing gets in the way of the words," he stressed. "You see more of the play and less of the art."

ANOTHER ROLE Feore will play at Stratford is Benedick in Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," also in preview and opening May 29 at the Festival Theatre. Hero and Claudio are the young lovers and Benedick and Beatrice are the cynical, older couple. In addition, he is cast as Horace, the boyfriend, in Moliere's classic comedy "The School for Wives," opening Aug. 2 at the Avon Theatre.

Feore, who is of Irish heritage, was born in Boston and raised in Ottawa and Windsor. He spent three years with the National Theatre School in Montreal and later worked at the National Arts Centre in Toron-main stage, But when Feore arrived at Stratford 12 years ago, "I started playing all sorts of big things," for two years on the main stage. Then, "I played smaller parts," on the young stage, which gave him further opportunity to develop his craft.

In 1989, he took a year off to do film and television. "I was terrifted to leave. I was terrified to come back," he said. "It's great to grow and develop," he said contrasting his year away with his years at Stratford, "but you can get seduced by the security of this place."

Feore praised the festival's artistic director, David William, saying, "He's interested in the qualities of clarity and honesty and serving up the plays so that they're understood. He said Richard Monette, director of "Much Ado About Nothing," also is interested in everything being clear.

Actress can identify with sensitive Emily

IN CONTRAST to Colm Feore's longtime Stratford stardom is the theatrical career of Ann Baggley, who is making her Stratford debut this season as Emily in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town."

Baggley first played the role of Emily four years ago at George Brown College, where she attended theater school for three years.

The actress, who was born and raised in Toronto, also has studied at the Banff School of Fine Arts. "I'm not in the Young Company show," she pointed out, "although I'm still a part of the Young Company." She considers herself very fortunate to have been chosen for the production of "Our Town," which is in preview and opens May 28 at Stratford's Avon Theatre.

She described the Young Company as a training ground for young actors, who have been working one or two years, and for apprentices. "Stratford likes to take young people and bring them up in the ranks," she BAGGLEY SAID the character of Emily is "a bit precocious but she's very smart and sensible and simple. She's a girl, who becomes a woman by the third act. She's an example of a very sensitive young woman. I identify with her."

The performer also plays Agnes, the young, convent-educated woman in "The School for Wives." She said that in many ways Agnes is similar to Emily. A totally different character ter is the part of Ginette in the world-premiere of a new English translation of Michel Tremblay's "Les Belles Sceurs," in preview and opening June 1 the Avon Theatre. "She's the kind of girl nobody wants to listen to. She's a real loser."

Baggley said that for the role she wears little round eyeglasses, a red wig and freckles. "I don't usually get to play this type of character. She's the opposite of Emily." The Canadian play has a cast of-15 women.

"It's a comedy but very black humor," she said.

This is the third time he has played Bigelow in productions of "Carousel." He described the character: "He's a ne'er-do-well, he's pompous, he's egocentric, but at the base of all that, there's a sensitivity to him, which you don't get to see until he launches into 'Soliloguy."

Suspense is missing in Ten Little Indians'

Performances of the Smith Theatre production of "Ten Little Indians" continue through Saturday on the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills. For ticket information call 471-7500.

By Sally Dubats special writer

The production of Agatha-Christle's "Ten Little Indians" at the Smith Theatre has a questionable amount of the famed Christie suspense. Although well acted and paced, it sometimes misses the whodunit quality of the classic mystery/

Christie employs a famous nursery rhyme to the letter for her plot. In the play, typical of a Christie mystery, several unsuspecting guests are invited for a weekend stay at an ominous country estate. In this case, however, the home is on an Island with no means of escape.

Director William W. Sharpe's staging of "Ten Little Indians" evidences little forethought or attention to detail. Entrances are made with other onstage actors blocking the view of the new arrival, actors are walking backwards and many times positioned to converse with other actors in a contorted fashion anything but conducive to conversation. Lead player Lee Martin as victim/suspect/guest Philip Lombard delivers quickly said lines which lack meaning and innuendo. Martin, although an adept wisecracker, falls short of the playboy aspect of his character's ability to woo any woman, especially the intended target, review

A saving grace of the show is Matthew Bierl as Detective Blore. Bierl possesses the self-confidence required of Blore and believably portrays the gruff but likeable detective.

Vera Claythorne (Cara Remund), another guest for the weekend.

PRETTY CARA REMUND'S technical style of acting does little to enhance the love interest in the plot, as no chemistry whatsoever is set up between Vera and Lombard, and her character doesn't show an ounce of visible nervousness as various characters are murdered.

The third leg of this flirt triangle, but only according to the script, is Matthew Scarlett as Anthony Marston. Scarlett chooses sarcasm for his character rather than the impetuous rich boy Christie intended. His delivery of lines leaves little room for the early-in-the-play flirting with Vera. A saving grace of the show is Matthew Bierl as Detective Blore. Bierl possesses the self-confidence required of Blore and believably portrays the gruff but likeable detective. Tom Williams also renders a credible performance as Sir Lawrence Wargrave.

As various characters die off, the audience is traditionally inclined to wonder who the murderer is, but the staging, with few notable exceptions, creates no tension through the use of suspicious characters. Scott Mancha and Gail Bohacek as the manservant and cook are neither suspicious nor nervous. Mancha's "aging" make-up looks more like white and black cat whiskers, making his character all the more unconvincing.

Kristen Williams as Emily Brent, the forthweight religious fanatic foreshadowing doom, would do better to make her character a little more eccentric and her lines more significant, to add to her suspicion.

BY CONTRAST, supporting player Khaled Hanna is excellent as General MacKenzie. His performance as the lonely, feeble-minded old widower possesses the subtleties and complexities of excellent acting, and his quirky characterization succeeds in creating a mysterious atmosphere.

factors affect the expected family contribution and thus directly affect the children's eligibility for financial aid. This topic will be dealt with in depth in next week's column.

It is worth noting that having two children so close together in age may actually work to their advantage. With the children overlapping three years during their undergraduate studies, they will likely be eligible for greater financial aid than if there were no overlap. This is a result of the family's expected contribution per child decreasing in the years when more than one family member is in college.

Although the Austins have not been able to provide money for their children's education to date, it is not too late to begin planning. In fact, it is a very good-time for them to review their situation and create their own opportunities.

Next week, we'll examine those complex financial aid forms and tell the Austins how they might qualify for more financial aid.

Auto makers are bypassing dealerships, selling directly to fleets as they pay wages to workers to build it. The relatively steep markup between the price of a delivered vetricle and the full retail sticker price (which can run between 8 percent and 16 percent, oddly, higher for more expensive cars), is sufficient to make some dealers richer than the chairman of the board at GM, a situation that was quite shocking to the Japanese when they first started marketing their wares.

In fact, until relatively recently, the Japanese didn't even use dealers, instead sent salarled salesmen doorto-door. Of course, their chairmen game has kept Chrysler, notably, afloat since anyone can remember. It's no coincidence that the recently retired chief marketing guy at Chrysler, Ben Bidwell, was a former top gun at Hertz.

Curiously, while the practice of undercutting the dealer network is disquieting to dealers, it results in some tremendous savings for consumers, since they can buy a lowmileage car minus both the retail markup and the first-year deprecia-

The pressure coming from fleet sales is destabilizing the market and has the unfortunate side effect of also putting downward pressure on

On the other hand, the fleet sales used car prices, thus hurting trade in · values.

All of these are the kinds of things you would expect in a business recession, however. In fact, it is the way the real world reacts to cut prices in the face of the dismal demand for new cars these days.

In short, it is the downside of the same system that allows successful dealerships to rake in profits when times are good. At least some customers are benefiting, and that ultimately is what it will take to turn the current slide in retall sales around.

Colleges pump economy while educating students

By Doug Funke staff writer.

Higher education means big dollars as well as sense. There's Oakland University in Rochester with an annual budget of $61.8 million, Lawrence Technological University in Southfield with a budget of $18-20 million and Madonna University in Livonia with a budget of $17.5 million.

Those three institutions, along with Walsh College in Troy, St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake and William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills provide some 2,400 jobs.

While colleges are exempt from property taxes, people with jobs there pay all kinds of taxes, buy houses, cars, appliances, food and other things associated with day-today living. And often right in the community.

"Higher education is a major industry in southeast Michigan," said Robert Ellis, provost at Lawrence

-David A. Spencer, interim president at Walsh, added, "There are some folks aware of the impact, but more probably see it as a community service rather than economic development operations."

. Vyver, Madonna president, figures in the future, Kleckner added. that her university annually pumps some $42 million directly and through dollar turnover into the

"WE HAVE a mathematical formula the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan bas developed based on college revenue, student expenditures, college visits, increased alumni earnings," she said.

"Obviously, our faculty and staff and school does a lot of purchasing in the area," said Edward Meyer, St. Mary's president. "I would say the vast majority of money out of this institution goes locally. I know we make an impact, but to pin it down would be tough.'

Oakland University spearheaded development of the 1,100-acre Oakland Technology Park adjacent to its campus in the early 1980s, said Keith Kleckner, provost there.

"Tremendous dollars are getting pumped into the area," he said. "This will ensure the economic viability of Michigan's basic industry, the auto industry."

RESEARCH PROJECTS conducted at OU, especially on health-care is the youngest. Sister Mary Francilene Van de issues, should lead to cost avoidance

Ellis believes that a campus contributes more to a local economy than an industrial plant with the same number of workers due to the student factor.

"Most of our students do commute," he said. "Those who do use gas, eat lunches here. Restaurants atound campus get an enormous amount of business from faculty and students.

"Lawrence Tech engineering students are very paramount at all major industrial and manufacturing companies in the area," Ellis said. "Engineers are out there generating knowledge, jobs and income for other people.

Spencer concurred. "As we produce graduates, they go out and create businesses, new jobs . . . and maintain growth in the community."

COLLEGES HAVE to survive to remain economic factors.

Together, OU, Lawrence Tech, Madonna, Walsh, St. Mary's and William Tyndale serve some 26,500 students pursuing degrees. All six of those institutions have been around a while, OU, which opened as a branch of Michigan State University In 1959,

"We try to market ourselves as a university offering a broad background," Kleckner said. "Students don't know where they're going to end up, so all of our programs have a strong liberal arts background.

"We're sort of in the middle," he continued. "We don't have as manyprograms as Ann Arbor or Michigan State, but more than a small place like Walsh or Madonna that is much more specialized."

Price isn't the major reason most students settle on a particular college or university, administrators agree.

"One fact we find in research is price is the third or fourth determinant," Spencer sald. "First is program, second is the institution's reputation or image. A real close third place. We have high standards. They is location."

"Some people get the breaks; others make their own."

Mike and Jo Austin are beginning to face the harsh realities of college costs for their two children, Jill, who will be finishing her sophomore year in high school, and Ted, who is just completing his freshman year. A modest income and and other financial pressures have kept them from saving more than a modest amount for future college costs. They wonder what steps they should be taking now to allow their children the opportunity of attending the college of their choice.

The Austins have managed their financial resources relatively well over the past 20 years. Mike, 43, is a construction foreman and earns $39,000 per year. Jo is 42 and has remained home with the children, but she is thinking of going back to work as a receptionist to help pay for some of the college bills. This possibility will be discussed in a subsequent article.

They live in a comfortable house in Westland and have done a good job of setting a solid financial foundation. Mike's employer has a good insurance package of covering life and disability, and Mike has personal life insurance coverage of $250,000.

Mike insisted years ago that they establish an emergency nest egg. Despite the temptation a number of times to use this money to pay off debts or make a major purchase, it has grown to more than $15,000 and is currently in a certificate of deposit at a local bank,

THEIR FINANCIAL condition will receive a boost to June when they expect to receive a significant inheritance from Jo's mother, who recently died. They expect to receive $50,000. This was the catalyst that motivated them to write to us.

They were mulling over whether to use the inheritance to provide for Jill's and Ted's educational needs. But Jo's mother had specifically 'requested that the money be retained by Jo and used to ensure her personal future financial security.

They also believe that this money will be needed at retirement since Mike has no pension plan at work. The only retirement plan in place is a 401(K) savings plan that became available to Mike three years ago and which he immediately joined at the rate of 5 percent of his salary.

To use this inheritance and nest egg for college costs would turn a college funding problem into a retirement problem. They ask, "We know that it is asking to have our cake and eat it too, but is there any way we can protect this asset and still provide significant help with our children's educational costs? You need to know that we put a high priority on providing the children with a good education.'

First, let's review the cost of college education. Jill is an excellent student and would like to go to a small private college in the Midwest. She has looked at Albion College and Miami University of Ohio, but it appears that those institutions may be far out of grasp financially.

The cost is $15,000 per year now, and it could well be $20,000 per year by the time she enters college. Ted has had his eye on going to Michgian State University ever since he was in late elementary school. As a result, his costs would be about half of Jill's, or about $7,500 per year in current dollars.

at summer jobs to add to the $5,000 scholarships, loans and work-study savings accumulated over the years from gifts and odd jobs. They are somewhat aware of their family's financial limitations.

An important point for the Austins to understand is that the cost of the institution should not necessarily be lies of modest means, but it does not their eligibility for financial aid. make It any less true. There are usuaid for college expenses, even after the governmental belt-tightening of the past several years.

The Austins need to start their planning right away. Some of the ac-

The Bottom Line

Financial Strengths:

✓ Some regular savings in place through 401(k) plan.

✓ Have sufficient emergency reserves.

✓ Appropriate estate plan in place. ✓ Insurance coverages are adequate.

✓ Inheritance provides nice boost to Financial Weaknesses:

✓ Minimal savings for upcoming educational costs.

✓ Mike has no pension plan at work. ✓ Little thought given to future planning. until recently.

✓ Assets improperly positioned to obtain college financial aid.

tions they take this year or next may significantly effect financial aid available. The earlier the process is started, the more likely it is the children will be able to attend the institutions of their choice.

A basic concept for them to understand in applying for financial aid is the concept of financial need. Each family is expected to pick up a certain specific amount of college costs, called the "expected family contributlon." This family contribution does not change based upon the cost. of educational institution. If the family contribution is $4,000 at College A where yearly expenses are $3,500," the family contribution will also, be $4,000 at College B, which may have an annual cost of $12,000.

FINANCIAL NEED is simply defined as the difference between they cost of the college and the expected family contribution. In the illustration, financial need at College A is zero, and it is $8,000 at College B. Inthis case, College B can help the Austins put together a financial aid package of $8,000. This aid package, BOTH CHILDREN plan to work, may be a combination of grants, programs. It bears repeating thatthe family's expected contribution should be no larger than $4,000 regardless of the institution.

A major part of planning for college education costs can be pursuing strategies that reduce the expected the primary factor in their choice of family contribution. There are a college for the children. This concept number of significant strategies that is sometimes hard to grasp for familiary the Austins can pursue to increase

Caring is sharing

Her talent puts patients' heads 'under wraps'

In her own way, Freda German is a volunteer. Few people know her, but many benefit from her time and talent.

At one time, she did volunteer work at a hospital, and at the age of 71, she still like doing something for other people. That's where the turbans come in.

German is spearheading a sewing campaign that is keeping the oncology departments at Henry Ford and Harper Hospitals in turbans for cancer patients who lose their hair as the result of chemotherapy.

German found the simple twopiece pattern at a sewing convention she attended last year. She brought it home and started making turbans. She also got members of two sewing groups the Creative Clothing Club in Birmingham and the Metro Detroit Bishop Sewing Teachers Association — to help out.

To date, she has gathered up more than 520 turbans for the two hospitals.

"If I keep getting a lot of requests for the pattern and if I get a lot back, I'd like to branch out to nclude hospices." she said. "But I have to wait and see. I don't want to start, if I can't continue.'

The turbans take about a half yard of material. Once cut out, it takes just 12 minutes to sew, German said. A cotton polyester knit fabric is the material of choice because patient's heads are so sensitive, she added. German has been sewing for some 50 years. She started sewing out of necessity - three daughters and a son, not a lot of money and a figure flaw. She can't get fitted in a store because her bottom is larger than her top.

SHE ADMITS that many of the styles created 30 years ago, she wouldn't tackle today. She doesn't recall "any failures; somehow I managed to do something with

German remembers her first project - a dress she made from a used shirt. It turned out OK, but lasted only a few months. "I'll never do that again," she 🐆 said.

The most she has had in the way of formal training was a class she took in pattern drafting, but that didn't keep her from parlaying her talent into employment.

She did alterations for a clothing store at Northland Mall. She did the fittings at the store and then took the clothing home to do the sewing. That way she could be with her children. She also had several office jobs, retiring as an employment interviewer with the Michigan Employment Security Commission 12 years ago.

Her childhood experience has place in book for kids

By Carolyn DeMarco staff writer

If there's any advice Janice Goffin can offer young diabetics, it's this: "You can do anything and live as normal as anyone else and still take care of your diabetes."

Goffin should know; the Redford woman is a registered nurse and diabetics educator in the endocrinology clinic at Henry Ford Medical Center-West Bloomfield. And if that's not enough she's been a diabetic herself since the age of nine.

"I have only vague memories that I was different than other kids," she said of her childhood. "Mont did a super job, but I did feel restricted

. I remember I tried to play on it (the fact that she had diabetes) and use it to my advantage a little. I wanted whatever I was told I couldn't have.' As a youngster in Farmington Hills, Goffin tried to find out more about her disease from a book her mother had, since there was nothing comprehensive available for children. "I couldn't grasp it. It was frightening to me," she explained.

With that in mind, six years ago

Goffin set out to write her own "owner's manual" for young diabetics. "Randy Has Diabetes," geared for elementary age children with juvenile diabetes, has just been published. The paperback is written through the eyes of Randy, an 11year-old diabetic who explains the symptoms, diagnosis and complications as well as the 3 importance of a proper diet and exercise. It also teaches how to physically deal with the disease including giving blood tests and insulin injections, and touches on the emotional aspects. "The kid is probably me," Goffin said of Randy, "in the way I wanted

THE BOOK, Goffin sald, is one of only two on the subject. "There are many pamphlets and comics that talk about the disease, but none provide an educational overview for children," she said. "Most of the materials that are available are written in terminology only adults can understand."

By contrast, Goffin says of her book, "A child who can read can understand the concepts explained in the book." The book was illustrated by Goffin's artist sister, Patricia AuBuchon of Apache Junction, Ariz.

Getting the book published was no easy feat. "I knew there was a need but'it was such a narrow field," Goffin said, "and it had three strikes against it - it was for a child, it was already illustrated and it was medical."

Patricia's husband, Edward, took on the project and published the book himself. "He's the publisher, editor and proofreader," Goffin said of her brother-in-law.

Success: It's picture perfect

By Larry O'Connor

A four-year old photo and a sister's persistence had Chris Kozłowski's California dreaming suddenly beached on reality.

The 19-year-old graduate of Redford Thurston was selected as one of the winners of the Envision Model Search 1991. Kozlowski received two weeks of free lodging in Los Angeles and went through an intensive training course in fashion modeling.

Kozlowski also had a photo shoot with Michael Gaylord and worked with a top Los Angeles stylist during her stay. She'll return to Los Angeles in June to pursue a modeling career, something she always funcied but never thought would come

"I knew I would regret it if I never went and tried to find out if I could make it as a model," said Kozlowski, who will finish up this semester at Oakland Community College. "I don't want to wonder when I'm 50 if I could have been a mod-

While she has stars in her eyes, Kozlowski sounds grounded in reality. The modeling profession is very competitive and quite demanding.

Six a.m. photo shoots are not uncommon. Neither are eight-hour days working in front of strobe lights. For every photo shoot, at least two or three hours can be spent in make-up.

'It's all a part of life. If they don't want you, you just go to the next

— Chris Kozlowski

ALSO, DUE to the bevy of competition, rejection is common for an upstart model.

"It's all a part of life," Kozlowski said. "If they don't want you, you just go to the next place. I'm prepared for rejection. That's a part of modeling, Jadranka Kijowski, talent director for Envision, believes Kozlowski has all the necessary attributes to be a successful model.

For one, she has the looks. Kijowski said her Scandavian-like features are quite intriguing for photographers. But Kijowski believes another quality separates Kozlowski from the rest.

"She has such drive," Kijowski sald. "She wants to work hard whereas other girls have the looks and the talent, but they don't have the ambition."

Envision is a management firm, which searches for women with the right qualities for being a model and trains them for two weeks. The models are then signed with an agency with Envision receiving a commission. Kijowski said Envision is not a school or agency.

Aside from her recent trip to LA-in January, Kozlowski had never modeled before. She was a 1989 homecoming queen at Redford Thurston High School where she was also on the pom-pon team and played flute in the honors band orchestra. She was also a member of the Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) chapter at Thurs-

SHE IS also a championship figure skater, recelving both regional and national awards for freestyle and patch events.

"I súppose (skating) probably helped build up (my) confidence," she said. "I could perform better with people around. Performing in front of an audience or at a show wouldn't bother me."

Her brother, Dave Kozlowski, was able to get her a part as an extra in the low-budget film "Lunatic." But it was her sister, Cathy Kotrys, who's been especially helpful in her fledgling career as Without Kozlowski knowing, her sister submitted a picture of Chris to Envision when she was 15 years old. She had received the notice a few weeks later she was a finalist and was presented with a management contract with the Los Angeles-based outfit.

"She watches what I eat," Kozlowski sald. "She makes sure I stay on my diet. She makes sure I have a positive attitude about what I am doing."

According to talent director Jadranka Kijowski, Chris Kozlowski has what it takes to be a successful model --- the looks and the drive.

Writer shows a need to express her individuality

Dear Ms. Green:

Dear C.B.,

As I was reading through the Observer News I read your column to find it very interesting. Most of all I am anxious to find out how you analyze my writing. I am 33 years old and right handed.

This interesting handwriting tells me you are an independent young woman with a need to express your individuality. This need for freedom probably/manifested itself early in your life. Perhaps your family viewed you as a tad rebellious.

Seemingly, you have broken away from conventional ideas and can deal with new concepts. You are also quite open-minded.

Many signs which point up above average intelligence can be seen. Your thinking is often original and creative. A resourceful mind can work ahead to come up with new solutions to problems.

Talented and versatile, you seem to have the ability to do whatever the situation calls for. Your time is utilized efficiently. You are able both to see and act on the essentials. When you have a task to do you are more inclined to get right at it, as opposed to spending time and energy with discussion and preplanning.

Another useful tool for saving time and effort is your retentive memory. A memory such as yours can eliminate the time which is often consumed searching for information -and things that have been filed

She has used her skills with a needle to make her daughters! wedding gowns-and most of the bridesmaids gowns, to sew Easter dresses for her granddaughters and whip up her own wardrobe for a trip to England.

TWO OF HER daughters picked up on her interest in sewing -"They do a wonderful job," - and one daughter sewed for the other for quite awhile, she said. But work and family responsibilities have putting their sewing on hold.

Bothered with arthritis in her hands that comes and goes, German now does what she wants to do. One thing is imparting her, love of sewing to her grandchildren. They have learned to use her three sewing machines. In fact, her 10-year-old grandson made himself a short-sleeved shirt, complete with topstitching.

"The boys take to it more than the girls," she said. "And it gives them something to do while they're here."

It wasn't until four years ago, though, that she discovered the Bishop Teachers Association. It was exciting for her to find "a group of people with a big stash of material and love sewing." The Birmingham club provides her with creative ideas.

Those two groups have helped with the turbans, either with cutting out material or with cutting and sewing.

BPW focuses on the future

Focusing on political and social changes, local clubs from Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Canton Township are sending delegates to the Michigan-Federation of Business and Professional Women's 73rd annual convention this weekend in Novi.

The convention, representing more than 3,000 members throughout the state, will be held Friday. through Sunday in the Novi Hilton. New officers will be elected. A new budget, bylaws and legislative platform also will be adopted.

Keynote speaker will be Kimberly Kassner, a graduate of Central-Michigan University and owner of a consulting firm in California. Kassner is a former Michigan BPW Young Career Woman, a special program which honors outstanding young career women.

The convention, which will be the largest convention held at the Hilton, will also feature Dona Wells, national legislation chair of BPW/USA.

Wells specializes in lecturing on women's health care and reproductive rights. She has been the issues specialist on reproductive freedom for BPW's Clubs Inc. since 1985.

The book will be a useful tool for Goffin's current position. She gives one-on-one educational aid to adults and children in all stages of the disease. She also coordinates five series of classes for Henry Ford throughout the year on "Practical Living with Diabetes" at the West Bloomfield facility. The next one starts the last Monday in February and meets from 7-9:30 p.m. for five consecutive weeks. The class is open to anyone of any age for a small fee, but registration in advance is necessary, Goffin is also responsible for an adult support group which meets at 10 a.m. on the second Saturday of the month in the Henry Ford West Bloomfield multipurpose room or 7 p.m. the fourth Thursday of the month in the ambulatory surgery lunchroom. There is no charge and no need to register.

A NEW SUPPORT group to help the parents of children with diabetes is now forming. The group will meet for the first time at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 3, in the multipurpose room of Henry Ford West Bloomfield. Neither parents nor children need be patients at Henry Ford.

Juvenile diabetes usually first occurs in grade school children, Goffin said, but the onset may be delayed anytime before 30. Goffin works with kids as young as four years old, "Some don't understand the seriousness of it, and they dislike the injections and the blood-testing. They're a tremendous bunch, the most precious kids you've ever seen and they catch on. They're cooperative.'

The approach to diabetes has changed since Goffin was a child, she said. "The approach today is much more positive. Today we avoid the pity aspect. There are few areas they can't enter as adults. They can't be pilots, but there are diabetics that are tri-athletes. The only limitations are those of the individual, not the disease.'

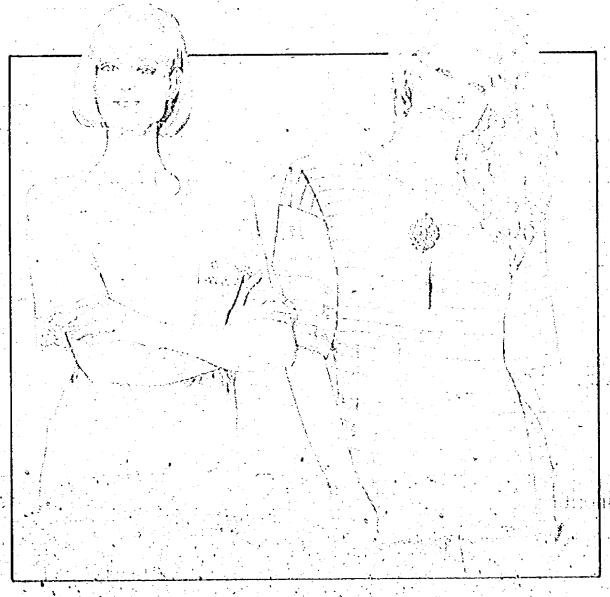

DIETARY RESTRICTIONS are more flexible today, she said. "You can check blood sugar at home, and adjust your own dose to have foods that were once forbidden. It's more individual now — we know more how to manage day-to-day."

"I learned to manage my disease by doing for myself in the life style I chose to live. I know it's hard but it's possible. Your diabetes is like a kid - you feed it, check it, take it for walks . . .

Church music directors fading from the scene

By Larry O'Connor staff writor

Church music directors are fast becoming like baseball players who know to bunt; politicians who don't break promises and gas station attendants who wipe the windshield and check the oil,

A dying breed. Concert planist Gerald Goslin estimates 20 churches in the area are currently without music directors. "Unfortunately, it's getting worse," said Goslin, who lives in Redford.

Of course, Garden City Presbyterian isn't one of them.

The adjunct professor in both piano and voice at Oakland Community College arrived in February at the church near the corner of Ford and Middlebelt. GC Presbyterian was without a permanent music director. terim, but the position was far too

Several people filled in in the in-

(People) don't recognize what would happen if there wasn't any music," said the Rev. Gareth Baker, pastor of Garden City Presbyterlan Church. "If you took it away, the service would be dead . . . I think it's taken for granted.'

Enter Goslin, who is a highly regarded concert planist and raised in the Presbyterian church. More importantly, he's been music director at several churches, most recently for two years at Southwestern United Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

ALREADY IN just a few months since Goslin arrived, Baker said there is consistent attendance by 'choir members and a better variety

The longtime pastor of the church paints a picture of a musical director who possesses an odd combination of perfectionism and patience.

"I guess I would say, musically, he's very enthusiastic," Baker said. "He wants it to be perfect. He wants to do his part right and he wants everyone to do their part right. He's always trying to improve.

"He's willing to give extra time in order for someone to become bet-

The quest for excellence doesn't stop at the church steps. Goslin's managers, Brian Harris and Shane Taugher, relate how 18-hour practice sessions on the keyboards are not uncommon for Goslin.

Goslin's Redford quad-level home has four planos, including a restored 1891 Steinway, two church organs and a harpsichord. His wife, Margaret Goslin, is music director at First Baptist of Ferndale and works with the Livonia Schools.

"She's on level four and I'm on level three. There's little (sound) bleed through at the house," he said.

Gerald Goslin laments the fact that church music directors are decreasing in num-

Somehow Goslin finds time to give private lessons in plano, voice and music theory in addition to performing on the concert circuit.

He's also released two albums, one is of sacred music and the other a piano solo LP. The piano solo, "Magic of the Masters," is available at Dearborn Music.

GOSLIN BEGAN taking piano lessons at age 41/2; started on the organ soon after. His involvement in music stems to Westminster Church in Detroit where there were 19 pianos and seven organs. He would play the organ for Sunday school classes and sang in the youth choir.

"You're there to help people worship God," said Goslin, explaining hisrole as a church music director. "Outside of the church, when you're in concert, you're more of a per-

"I think everything a Christian does is a service to God. When you're in church, it's more directed at God."

At Garden City Presbyterlan, Goslin directs the adult, children's, men's and women's choirs and the Brass Ensemble. He also has to coordinate the anthems with the sermons planned by the pastor.

"Some of the themes, you have to look really hard . . . I've never had a Sunday where I wasn't able to find something."

Part of the reason is the staff at Garden City Presbyterian is quite organized and the people are friendly, according to Goslin. Also, there's a strong base of young couples, something that appears to be missing with mainline denominations.

But Goslin believes something else is amiss at some churches.

"I've always felt Christian musicians should be the best," Goslin

Decent housing for all should be a top priority

One of the great values of the area in which we live is good housing. Our homes are important to us. The dream for people in the Detroit area is to own your home. Individual home ownership has been strong. It has also been a powerful force for building community.

We all realize that it is getting more and more difficult for young families to move into a home of their own. We have heard something about the homeless in our country. What we do not hear about is people who work but cannot afford a home.

More and more people in America are renting at prices they cannot afford. They may never be able to afford a home of their own. According to the Economic Policy Institute in Washington, D.C., 78 million Americans cannot afford the housing in which they are living. The shocking thing is that our nation is less and less committed to addressing this problem.

ALL OF THE current economic trends reduce the probability that our nation will have affordable housing. The recession reduces the chance that private interests will build low-cost housing. The banks are not eager to lend money for this kind of purpose. The federal and state governments have reduced their investment in housing. Ten years ago, the federal government spent $1 on housing for every

While the homeless and almost homeless try to cope in the Detroitarea, we hear that there are 35,000 homes which are abandoned but to address this critical problem? '

Religious people should care. People become righteous about a war in the Middle East; at the same time, we refuse to acknowledge the economic and social changes that are making decent homes impossible for so many. Could most of us who have a decent home afford to buy it to-

I BELIEVE that there is a moral and religious blindness in too many people today. "Am I my brother's or sister's keeper?" Many people answer,"No!"

How does this live itself out with regard to building community, preventing people from turning to crime, or aiding the next generation? If we ignore housing and continue in this direction I believe we will reap awful rewards.

The Detroit area has a great and long tradition of good homes. We have a heritage and a stewardship to uphold. Even more, we have a responsibility to our whole society, especially to the next generations to give them a chance to live a decent,

We need a change in our attitudes. We need a change in what we define as a religious issue. We need compassion for the plight of so many in our nation.

The Rev. David T. Strong is pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Detroit.

@ AAUW

Donna Salisbury, Penny de Stigter. and Barbara Medwedeff, all of Livonia, and Carol Canavan of Northville, representatives of the Livonia Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) joined their statewide counterparts at the 69th Michigan Division Annual Meeting May 4-5 at the Grand Valley State University, Eberhard Conference Center in Grand Rapids. The meeting's theme, "Unity Through Diversity," was reflected in presentations by Helen Popovich, president of Ferris State University, and Mary Purcell, former AAUW president and current president of the International Federation of University Women (IFUW).

Popovich, a longstanding member of AAUW, introduced the organization's new issue, "AAUW Initiative for Educational Equity." Purcell, who has just returned from Geneva cadquarters and from the meeting of University Women of Asia held in Bangladesh, addressed the issue of worldwide unity. A special feature of the meeting was the opportunity for participation in Diversity Awareness Training, a program designed to help members speak against racism, bigotry and hate, to learn how oppression and prejudice affects everyone and how to react to it.

Weight Loss Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON-A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete "hi-tech" food tablet would help erase world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Researchers in Europe found that an ingredient in the aptly named produce Food Source One actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, according to one study published in the prestiglous British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in intestinal absorption of calories.

While the development of Food Source One, a project of National Dietary Research, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the discovery has been a windfall for overweight ALLEN PARK DETROIT HOWELL Allen Park Drugs 6228 Allen Ré. 383-5200 Denton Drugs 1121 E. Grand River 546-8700 people. A Daytona Beach, Florida woman fighting a weight battle for 12 years used the product on the recommendation of her physician and lost 30 pounds. She stated, Not only have I lost 30 pounds, but my cholesterol has dropped from 232 to 143. I have two closets full of clothes which have not fit me in two years that I can now wear." In a separate report, a telephone interview revealed that a Wilmington, North Carolina pharmacist lost 14 pounds in 15 days on the product and was never hungry;

Sellers can save on traditional commissions

By Doug Funke staff writer

You neither have to pay a commission of about 6 percent to an agent for selling your house nor tend to all the details yourself to pocket the savings.

Some firms will find a buyer and shepherd the paperwork during the sale for a' flat fee or a much smaller percentage.

There is one catch - sellers have to show their houses to prospects.

"The biggest advantage as opposed to the old-fashioned Realtor is sellers are paying much less and receiving as much or more services and expertise," said J.R. Paine, owner of Home Marketing Special-

Her company, with offices in Southfield. Rochester, Fraser and Romulus, charges an up-front listing the sales price at closing.

That totals $1,914 on a sale of $80,000 or 2.4 percent.

"We can offer a full line of services to the seller and save them thousands of dollars. That's the bottom line," said Mario Ferrante, marketing manager for a Help-U-Sell franchise in Plymouth.

His firm charges a flat fee at closing based on the sales price of the house - $2,250, for instance, on a sale of less than $80,000 and $2,950 on sales from $80,000 to $150,000.

A 6-PERCENT commission, fairly common in real estate transactions here, amounts to $4,800 on an $80,000 house.

Joel Schmidt had nothing but good things to say about the work of HMS.

He listed in Farmington for $118,000 fee of $298, then $20.20 per $1,000 of and sold for $114,000. Schmidt thought he had sold the house on his own a year earlier, but the deal fell through when the prospective buyer failed to qualify for a mortgage.

"They (HMS) sold my house in a hurry, in about a three-week time frame. They were very professional," Schmidt said. "It was worth the money to have them handle all the phone calls and paperwork."

It took Help-U-Sell only 24 hours to sell his house listed at $82,000 in Westland for $80,000, said Dennis Beaver.

"I really did struggle with (a decision to hire) a 6-7 percent (agent) to sell the house," he said. "I thought there's no reason we can't do some of the work ourselves like showing it. We needed someone to do the paper-

Both Ferrante and Paine described their firms as full-service brokerages.

"I GIVE market analysis, just like any other Realtor," Ferrante said. "I will list your property, supply signage. I do all the paperwork along the way through closing. I will guarantee classified advertising. They're guaranteed to be part of an exclu-. sive marketing system."

"We find the buyers," Paine said. "We provide every service from listing to closing. We extensively advertise."

Paine and Ferrante disagreed with a popular belief that sellers, because they're too emotionally attached, shouldn't walk prospects through their houses.

"I hear every day from buyers how grateful they were to have the seller show the house," she said.

"We feel a seller knows more about his own particular home than a Realtor," he said.

Paine and Ferrante try to avoid the Multi-List Service, an advertising network, because its use results in higher sales commissions and expenses to the seller.

Both recogize that their pricing should have a choice."

practices aren't all that popular with agents who work within the traditional commission network.

"Our goal is to sell homes," Ferrante said. "I'm not against my peers."

"The idea is not to be critical of any system," Paine said. "We have a free enterprise system and an owner

Tax act provides relief for builders of low-income housing

I am a developer and understand that under the Tax Reform Act of 1986, Congress created new incentives to encourage the private sector to participate in the provision of affordable housing. Could your briefly give me some insight into that? You are correct. In 1986 Congress created new incentives to encourage the private sector, especially corporations, to participate in developing affordable housing. The Low Income Housing Tax Credit was established as part of the tax reform act as a year period may approximate up to credit against federal income taxes. Corporations (other than personal service and sub-chapter S corporations) can use unlimited amount of LIHTC to reduce federal tax liability from business income (subject to the general limitations on business tax credits). But LIHTC cannot be used to reduce the alternative minimum tax. LIHTC is granted over a 10-year period. Depending upon the type of mortgage utilized to finance the housing, the total credit over the 10-40 percent or 90 percent of the original cost of the housing. Unlike the repealed investment tax credit, LIHTC does not reduce the tax basis of real estate assets.

Additionally, the LIHTC may be carried back to recover income taxes previously paid or carried forward to reduce future tax liabilities. Investment corporations may also use the passive tax losses generated by the housing. These losses, which are mainly due to tax deductions for interest and appreciation, may be
