LAURA LOVISKA of Westland tied for first-placehonors in Livonia Mall's "My Marvelous Mom" Mother's Day essay contest.

Laura's mom, Frances Briggs was described as teary-eyed as her daughter read the essay at the mall's center stage. When the tears dried, Mrs Briggs won a $100 shopping spree.

Mrs. Briggs has survived two bouts of cancer and now, at the age of 76, enjoys bowling and driving.

Another Westland resident. Nicholas Radiwon won thirdplace honors for the essay about his mother, Bonita Copeland.

Minister in abuse case takes leave

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Westland minister Michael Enersen announced in a rousing sermon Thursday that he is taking a leave of absence pending the outcome of a child abuse controversy in which he and his wife are involved."

But Enersen, vowing that Westland Full Gospel Church "will not crumble," implored hundreds of churchgoers attending Thursday evening services to remain strong amid troubling times.

"I will be watching. The world will be watching," he said. More importantly, he add-ed. "God will be watching."

Many church members wept as Enersen made his announcement.

Enersen's statement from the pulpit cametwo days after his church's parent organization, the Michigan District Assemblies of God. confirmed that it has launched an investigation that could result in disciplinary action against the 36-year-old minister.

Enersen told the congregation he is stepping aside "with much regret" and indicated that he did so under advice from higher church authorities.

Enersen and his 33-year-old wife Carol have that, through faith, they can emerge united pleaded guilty to child abuse charges that resulted in two of six children - a 16-year-old girl and a 13-year-old boy — being removed from their custody and placed in a foster.... home.

The Enersens are scheduled for sentencing May 31 in Detroit Recorder's Court.

ENERSEN ANNOUNCED his leave in a highly emotional service that brought his supportive congregation to its feet several times. He drew applause for his message encouraging church members to band together and prove from the controversy.

Enersen told the congregation that an assistant minister, Stephen Little, will temporarily lead the church, on Palmer, between Wildwood and Venoy, in the city's south end.

Enersen noted in his sermon that some church members came to services Thursday expecting to vote to secede from the Assemblies of God, amid the district-level investigation that will result in findings being turned over to national headquarters in Springfield, Mo.

Students suspended for wearing shorts

By Susan Buck staff writer

Some 60 Franklin High students received one-day suspensions for insubordination May 15 when they showed up at the school door wearing shorts and refused to change clothes, according to principal Michael Fenchel.

On Thursday, two students from the school which serves northeast Westland were sent home, he said.

The suspensions were a tough measure, Fenchel said, but students need to learn that change in the dress code comes about only by "utilizing the student government for change."

"By just showing up one day wearing shorts, that won't bring about change," Fenchel said. "Some brought a change of clothes. Schools cannot give into protests."

THE DRESS CODE is set individually by each high school in the Livonia school district which serves the northern section of Westland, Fenchel said.

At Franklin, students may wear fingertip length shorts from Memo-" rial Day through Sept. 30.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographor

A review committee studies the dress code in each high school every two years, Fenchel said. "The policy with regard to shorts went into effect two years ago." Previous to that, students could not wear shorts, he said.

Ironically, the issue of shorts was on the student government agenda that day. Fenchel said the two incidents were "totally unrelated."

Each student's parents were notified before the student was sent home, Fenchel said.

Minister taking leave of absence

"It is not going to happen," Enersen said, referring to a secession attempt.

. In stepping aside, Enersen told congregation members that he wanted to spare them any additional grief that the child abuse case may have, caused them. Some church members may have faced ridicule from their family members and in the workplace, he said.

"I have decided to take a temporary leave of absence from the ministry," he said, but he added that "I am not going to fail off the face of the earth.'

ENERSEN CALLED on the congregation to stand up unashamed to forces outside of the church and, in closing his sermon, called upon church members to pray "for those who hate us."

Enersen asked church members whether they have been reading their Bibles or paying more attention to newspaper reports that have focused attention on the case.

Enersen, who has failed to return numerous telephone calls from the Observer, said during Thursday's service that he has refused to speak out under advice from his attorney - a situation he described as "extremely frustrating?"

However, he indicated he will have more to say about the case once it has been resolved in court. In the meantime, he urged church members not to speak on his behalf. Congregation members have voiced strong support for Enersen, though former church members have ended years of silence about the known child abuse and spoken out against the Enersens.

WESTLAND POLICE have said the two older children - fathered by Michael Enersen during a previous marriage - had been bitten and scverely beaten with a wooden paddle. Authorities also said food and water had been withheld from the 13-yearold boy, but that he has gained 25 pounds since he was taken from the Enersens on March 11.

The older children were born when Michael Enersen was married to his first wife, Cheryl, who died of congestive heart failure in 1978 at age 19 Enersen remarried about a year later. The maternal grandmother of the two older children - who recently saw the youngsters for the first time in 12 years — has vowed to try to win custody of them. Her ties to the children were severed by Enersen after her daughter died.

A petition to remove the remaining four children from the Enersens' custody is pending in Wayne County Probate Court. A hearing is scheduled for June 19.

start," Fenchel said. "I think that it is extremely important for students to understand that they need to follow a governmental policy," Fenchel said. "The students are not happy with the policy as it is. Churchill High School, which serves northwest Westland, started working on it 10 weeks ago."

THE THREE high schools have very similar dress codes with slight variations, said Rodney Hosman, Churchill High principal.

"The board of education states that every student shall personally maintain a standard of wearing ap parel that is not disruptive," said Hosman. That means no bare backs, midriffs, or feet. Shorts must be three inches above the knee and must not be cutoffs, spandex or silky, athletic shorts, he sald. Churchill students began wearing shorts May 13 and will be allowed to wear them through September when they return to school, Hosman said. Under consideration is allowing Churchill students to begin wearing shorts as early as May 1, Hosman said.

"He (Alvarez) is in the hands of the federal government. The federal government has assured us he will serve his time in federal prison," said Plotnik, who prosecuted Alvarez. "It's hard to give that credence."

"My concern is that he will walk. I think they'll put him in the witness protection program with a new name," added Boynton.

U.S. Justice Department spokesman Doug Tillett sald he would not be able to confirm or deny whether a person was involved in the witness protection program. *

mer New York police officer, had testified before the Knapp Commission which investigated police and political corruption.

ANY THREATS to Alvarez's safety while incarcerated in Florida are unlikely to be related his father's testimony, according to Wolfinger.

"Those physical threats are probably true for anyone who kills and rapes a child," he said. "They are not going to be well received by their fellow inmates. I don't know what if any level of proof was given to show. it was related to his father's testimony."

The real reason for the transfer would more likely be to facilitate Alvarez's father in visiting his son. Wolfinger said.

There has been some discrepancy about who initiated Alvarez's transfer, the state corrections department-lic's mind, he said.

"WHAT IS very disturbing to me is an inmate who has committed the most heinous crime-is allowed to continue to manipulate the system," Wolfinger said.

After Alvarez's transfer, which occurred without notification to the court or prosecutors, Boynton said he had lost confidence in the federal system:

Boynton, who is remarried with a daughter, 15 months, was able to gain full custody of Joshua's sister, now 10. His ex-wife Kimberly has maintained Alvarez was innocent and is currently residing with his family.

But Pat Hill, a Franklin parent, thought high school officials were unfairly cracking down on shorts when there are other flagrant violations in dress.

"I am a follower of rules," Hills said. "But they can't pick and choose rules.'

Stevenson High students reportedly can wear shorts after May 1 but phone calls to the school from the Observer weren't returned.

Alvarez was transfered to federal custody at the request of Florida corrections authorities who indicated they could not guarantee the prisoner's safety, according to Tillett.

This was done despite federal regulations which require a memorandum of understanding with a person entering the protected witness program requiring that they not commit any crime.

People are most often dropped from the program, Tillett said, for revealing their identities or committing a crime. He did note there are about 300 prisoner witnesses who are protected while serving their sentences.

State attorney Norman Wolfinger has sent a letter to U.S. Altorney General Dick Thornburgh protesting the transfer of Alvarez and calling for his return to the Florida correctional system.

Official function Political, civic leaders mark city's anniversary

By Leonard Poger editor

Gray-haired men and women hugged each other Thursday night and swapped stories about the good old days.

A typical school reunion? Not guite.

It was Westland's political and civic leaders convening to reminisce about the "college of hard knocks" at a celebration to mark the city fo Westland's 25th anniversary of incorporation.

"Westland was a new baby, a new arrival and there was a team to care for the new baby," said state Sen. William Faust, who was , Nankin Township supervisor in late 1964 when he and others launched a petition drive which led to city incorporation in the spring of 1966.

"Tom Brown was elected to head that team," said Faust, referring to the city's first mayor. Brown erved 314 years and later served in the state House of Representatives for 12 years. Brown is currently the Westland city council president.

As in a typical high school reunion, there was a specially-designed cake and a table display of newspapers telling of the inauguar-'al ceremony held by the new city. officials on May 16, 1966.

The by-line on those stories was that of Gene McKinney, then Eagle editor who served as city charter commission chairman. He was elected to the city council in late 1967 and served as mayor from late 1969 through 1975.

MCKINNEY, NOW 55, reminisced about the early days of his administration and the current growth of the city. rowth of the city. "What amazes me now is the commercial growth," he said. "It makes me feel good.

The former mayor said that he is most proud of two accomplishments of his six-years as mayor.

One is the retail growth surrounding Westland Center. He adopted a new assessment policy 20 years ago which encouraged development of vacant land near the shopping center,

The second point of pride is the acquisition of nearly 99 acres of county land behind city hall for local recreation purposes, an idea initiated by then recreation director Melvin Bailey. The land has been developed as Central City Park and includes the Balley Recreation Center, tennis courts, ball fields, a gazebo for outdoor concerts, a pavilion for group picnics, and a large pond for fishing.

McKinney chatted Thursday night with former mayors Brown, Tom Taylor, Charles Pickering and Charles Griffin and the current mayor Robert Thomas.

"THERE IS a camraderie among the former mayors," McKinney said, "and we emphathize with Thomas." He said that some of the same problems experienced years ago still exist.

But McKinney added that part of aging is "that we tend to forget the bad times and remember only the good times."

Introduced were the charter commission members present, -McKinney, William Anderson, Justine Barns, Ed Gunther, and Charles Mclihargey.

There were also introductions of past city council members and the current council and a reading of names of former council members who have died.

Faust, Brown, councilman Kenneth Mehl, city clerk Diane Fritz, and retired fire chief Ralph Savini were also part of the program.

Framed resolutions were presented by state Rep. Barns and county Commissioner Kay Beard at the close of the event, held in the Hellenic Cultural Center, on. Joy east of Newburgh.

Joseph Benyo was events and program coordinator for the reunion. Mehl and Brown are cochairmen of the anniversary committee which started planning two years ago for the varied events 'anned thr his year.

Cash-strapped schools to borrow $2.5 million

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Wayne-Westland school board members, facing an immediate cash flow problem, agreed Monday to said. borrow $2.5 million to keep the district operating.

The move marked the first time in four years that the district has had to borrow money to keep operating, said business manager Elwood "Woody" London.

The stopgap measure emerged after London told the board it needed to borrow money because of delays in state aid to in-formula districts.

The state, also faced with a budget crunch, has told local school officials that payments will be made late in June and August, causing a delay of two to three weeks.

"WE NO longer have enough. (money) to weather the cash-flow problems," London said during Monday's regular board meeting.

Though the state expects to send about half of its aid on time, the re--maining 50 percent is expected to be delayed for two to three weeks in both June and August, London said.

Chorbagian appeared concerned that longer delays could be possible, and she asked London what that might mean for the district.

London responded that the district couldn't meet its payroll in July unless the state aid comes through in ·late June. - Board members expressed dismay with the state during Monday's meeting, and Chorbagian said many state officials don't seem to care that local districts are suffering because of state-level wrangling.

Welty also said busing should not be eliminated, though she said officials might save money by hiring a private company to transport students. Moreover, Welty said a top priority should be to ensure a full, day of instruction for all students.

CANDIDATE JOHN Albrecht, 40, a vice president's assistant at Dearborn Sausage, said budget cuts must focus on more reasonable contracts and benefit packages for teachers and other school district workers.

"They (teachers) couldn't have a better benefit package if somebody laid it in their laps," he said.

Albrecht also suggested that school board members should consider donating their stipends to the school system. The seven boards members are each paid $30 a meeting, with an annual cap of $1,560. Randolph Blouse, a 37-year-old music teacher, called on board members to consider reopening the teacher contract and seeking smaller pay increases, saying "I really think this needs to be done."

Blouse also supported potential cuts in administration and indicated that such cuts could have been made previously. Sill, Blouse said a failed millage could prove "disastrous" for the district.

CANDIDATE ALBERT "Ed" Turner, a 57-year-old retired American Airlines worker, said he would need to conduct a thorough review of the school district's budget before concur with other candidates that administrative cuts could be made.

Laurel Raisanen, 46, an Observer & Eccentrics Newspapers' production department employee, called for even deeper cuts among administrators and teachers.

"I believe we can still make more cuts in administration," she said, also singling out some teacher assistants for budget cuts.

Raisanen agreed with some cuts but opposed others, such as reducing the school instructional day. She said students should attend school for a full day.

Jeanette Leppala, a 35-year-old pizzeria owner, suggested examining all areas of the budget for waste, and she said many of the cuts probably could be made among personnel.

Jeanette Leppala, a 35-year-old pizzeria owner, suggested examining all areas of the budget for waste, and she said many of the cuts probably could be made among personnel.

To offset personnel cuts, Leppala said the school district needs to find more ways to spark parental in-volvement in schools. She, too, supports protecting programs.

BOARD HOPEFUL Kimberly Rowe, 20, a Schoolcraft College student and Crestwood Dodge employee, called for protecting school programs and a full-day of instruction. Japan is among the countries where students are spending more time in school, "and we keep falling behind," she said.

We need to increase the time students spend in school and not cut classes," she said.

Though she didn't cite specific outlining extensive proposals for re- budget cuts, Rowe said "we just need ducing spending. However, he did to stop spending money on things that we don't need."

Terry Hewer, a 38-year-old truck driver, cited potential cuts in vocational education, which he suggested could be made more self-supporting. He said he would need to examine the budget before proposing extensive cuts.

Hewer called for keeping school programs intact, especially those that would protect the district's high school accreditation. School officials have said the district could lose accreditation if the high school instructional day is reduced one hour.

BOARD INCUMBENTS Mathew McCusker and Sharon Scott - each seeking a third term - supported the board-approved cuts, such as eliminating busing, some programs and 100 jobs, as a last resort to addressing the district's budget crisis.

Scott, 51, who has worked as a medical assistant, said more layoffs are inevitable if the millage fails, because "80 percent of the budget is personnel, and that's about the only place that we could make more cuts."

McCusker, 55, a Ford Motor Co. employee, agreed that more personnel cuis would be necessary if additional budget reductions must be made.

He continued his support for board-approved cuts, such as busing and athletics, if the millage fails on June 10. 🚬

However, he also suggested the board may have to look "very seri? ously" at closing some school build-ings -a consideration that he said could prompt the board to reform its building committee.

He called proposed cuts "a realistic view in as much as the money we will have to work with" if the tax proposal fails.

So here are two-unfashionable stories to the contrary.

As state government stopped its bleeding by reducing its spending, an auto glant maintained its flow.

THE OTHER story was told by a West-Bloomfield lady who read my account of state Sen. David Hopigman's bill to prohibit local governments from having residency requirements.

About one-fourth of local units require employees to live within city, ' village or township boundaries.

Only government, said Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, would make a rule so obnoxious and oppressive to personal liberty.

Not so, said my caller, who told of Assuming the story is true, it suggests private business can be every bit as obnoxious as government is al- . leged to be.

I HAVE A theory about groups of, people.

My idea is supported by an insur-

My theory is that 85 percent of any group - rabbis, nuns, fundamentalists, gringos, Orientals, blacks, plumbers, surgeons, bureaucrats - want to do an honest day's work for an konest day's wage, pay their fair share of taxes and live in peace. Ten percent are lazy or cut corners. Five percent are crooks.

Sexist expressions show us conventional wisdoms

THERE ARE CERTAIN expressions that are slipping out of our vocabulary because they are sexist.

For some, it's good riddance, but when it comes to others, we've tried to toss out some conventional wisdom that has been passed down to a man." It says something. It reminds you to be stoic, uncomplaining and able to withstand some pain.

One of my favorites is "take it like"

It's just one of those expressions killed by the feminists because it --- who say things that should be left uncan't be updated. "Take it like a person or take it like a woman" just don't work, for reasons known to many.

But because schools and parents are substituting new, warm and fuzzy language for the old standbys, we're raising a generation of wimps said, or who talk in that everythingis-wonderful language that nobody understands.

Kids have swallowed so much of how to have good gang fights anymore in the suburbs.

ONE FRIEND of mine who coaches soccer says the kids have been so brainwashed by the "be nice and cooperate" language that they won't mix it up on the soccer field. They're afraid to take the ball away from the other kid because then they wouldn't be cooperating.

I wasn't surprised by his woes. Let's face it, soccer is a fall game for wimps who don't have the guts to play football. It's a nice activity, but it really isn't a sport in America even though the soccer crowd keeps trying to push it. It's just too European: It's a bunch of guys running around in short pants and long socks

It's just the sort of crowd you'd ex- and made a quilt with the names of pect to "cooperate." They don't know how to take it like a man and play football.

When you lose an expression from the language, you lose an idea, a tradition, a mode of behavior that helped carry our forefathers through the tough times.

In the old days, when there was a death, you lost the farm or a war started, you were stoic about things. You took a bottle of whiskey out to the back 40 and howled at the moon for an evening. You took it like a man. ·

THESE DAYS people join support groups that meet in church basements and drink coffee out of paper cups. There they talk about the pain of whatever they're experiencing. That's taking it like a woman. And while they call them support groups, they're basically nothing more than, an updated version of a sewing circle or a ladies aid society.

That was pretty apparent when a

Another word that's gone the way of the cigar is henpecked. It use to be applied to men who didn't stand up for themselves with their wives. When I think of henpecked, I think of the father in the movie "Rebel Without A Cause." There he was in a apron picking up stuff that had fallen on the floor.

These days, henpecked has been transformed by the magic of politically correct-speak into "supportive husband." The wimpy, henpecked husband of the 1950s has been turned into the perfect man, er person, of the '90s.

And all this happened because we didn't know how to take things like men.

More Rouge money

Federal grant will benefit area cities

The key numbers for Friends of the Rouge are 3,000 and $46 million. The volunteer agency is shooting for 3,000 participants at the sixth annual rouge Rescue on Saturday, June

The new federal allocation is expected to go into effect Oct. 1. It is ... expected to substantially improve Rouge water quality in Livonia,-Westland, Plymouth, Canton, Redford and other communities in the Rouge River basin.

The federal money was approved by a U.S. House Appropriations subcommittee. Though full committee and House votes are pending, Congresssional staff members said approval was almost certain.

The money will go toward new sewers, improving waste water treatment plants and eliminating outmoded combined sewers. Combined sewers -a chief source of Rouge pollution - dump human waste into the river when heavy storms force other sewers to overflow.

It will also be used to finance investigations into commerical and industrial river pollution, as well as illegal sewer connections.

"ESSENTIALLY, this makes us a test project," James Murray, Wayne County Public Works Division director, said. "We hope to be a role model for other communitles throughout the nation."

Area Congressmen William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, have all announced support for Rouge projects.

Announcement of the new federal money was a highlight of the Rouge Rescue kickoff event held Friday at the Henry Ford Estate, Dearborn.

"It's definitely good news," Larry Coogan, Friends of the Rouge director, said. "It's going to go a long way toward helping with the CSOs (combined sewer overflows)."

At the same time, Friends of the Rouge members are promoting the annual June cleanup throughout many area communities.

"THINGS ARE hopping right along," Canton site coordinator Kim Scherschilgt said.

With a goal of 3,000 volunteers, Friends of the Rouge seeks to make the 1991 Rouge Rescue its biggest ever.

Volunteers clear log jams and carry other debris from river banks to trash bins placed near the site. Items commonly pulled from the river include bicycles, large appliances and even an automobile or two.

Volunteers are encouraged to avoid direct contact with the river and to wear long sleeve shirts, long pants and boots for additional protection.

Information on Rouge Rescue sites in Canton, Livonia, Plymouth and Westland is available by calling Friends of the Rouge, 427-1234.

BATHING & ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis, you may be unable to use a tub for bathing because of the difficulty of stepping in and out of the tub. In using a shower, keep in mind the following features:

Even if your grip is impaired, you should have a shower head you can hold by hand. Then you can direct the water between the thighs and to the posterior thigh despite limits in your body movements.

If possible, have a walk in shower; this type is easier to enter and exit than the tub shower combination. Place a rubber mat on the shower floor and a bathchair in the shower itself to permit bathing in a seated position.

You should position 3 or more grip bars in the shower bathroom area. The bars should be installed with you present so their placement will match the way you enter and exit the shower.

. Use liquid soap. A bar is difficult to hold, and if it slips from your hand, the soap is a hazard for, your step. Bending to retrieve the soap may bring on additional risks. In contrast, liquid soap comes in a plastic bottle that is easy to grasp or pick up and not a danger if on the shower floor,

Il possible have someone nearby when you shower. Then you can call for assistance it despite the above precautions, you slip or fall.

No way to avoid crying

It was once said, "The only way to chop an onion is to give it to someone clse."

Even with today's food processors, chopping an onion is still a teary-eyed job, especially when removing the lid of the processor after the chop. Short of having a chef-in-residence to do your cooking, one sure way to beat the tears of an onion chop is to always use the sharpest knife you can find.

Seems that when an onion is chopped by a dull knife, the onion juice is squished out of the onion more abundantly than throughnormal slicing. When the onion juice hits the air, it turns into obnoxious fumes that surely begin the old watering of the eyes.

I have heard rumors about being able to chop onions without tears. That's just what they are, rumors. The old adage about peeling the onion and leaving the skin intact with the roots, to prevent tears, isn't true.

Then there's the one about putting a toothpick in your mouth sideways so that the only pain you. feel is in your cheeks. This is supposed to help you forget about the onion odor. It doesn't work. (As I write this, sucking ice cubes

There, like many of you I enjoy being outside as much as possible. However, during the work week that can be a little difficult. With assignments to finish and piles of files on desks to sort through, it just seems like there is never any time to enjoy the weather. A solution to this problem is to brown bag it to work. Lunchtime is the perfect opportunity to head out for a quiet shady spot to relax and clear your mind. Just grab your lunch and head

Sweet midget gherkins are a great accompaniment for this sandwich.

Smoked Salmon Sandwich: Lightly toast a croissant that has been cut in half lengthwise. Spread each half with a garlic herbed cream cheese, such as Alouette cheese, and wrap tightly. Carry separately 2 slices of smoked salmon, 1 slice of red onion and a sliced hard-boiled egg and assemble sandwich just before eating. Olives and sweet midget gherkins go well with this sandwich.

Ham and Biscuit Sandwich: Slice a large biscuit lengthwise and layer a desired amount of thin sliced ham atop one half of biscuit. Top with thinly sliced cheddar cheese. Spread on top of the other half of biscuit a desired amount of fruited chutney and place on top of cheese.

Chicken Tortilla Sandwich: Process 1 cup cilantro, 2 cloves garlic, ½ cup walnuts in a food processor. Add to running machine ½ cup olive oil in a thin stream. Blend ½ cup Parmesan cheese and salt to taste in mixture. Take 1 ½ tablespoons of pesto mixture and spread on top of 1 flour tortilla. Top with shredded lettuce, carrot, shredded cooked chicken, chopped scallion and chopped tomato. Roll in burrito fashion. Wrap in plastic wrap until ready to eat.

trying to stop the bleeding from using too long a toothpick.)

UNFORTUNATELY, for the weak of cye, this indispensable vegetable and flavoring agent is plentiful throughout the year. Generally speaking, the warmer the climate, the milder the onion. I can vouch for that because on a past trip to Georgia, the Vidalia capitol of North America, I peeled an onion and ate it like an apple. Grant you, it wasn't the tastiest morsel I've ever eaten, but for an onion it was surprisingly sweet and full flavored.

They can be served raw on sandwiches and tossed into salads. They are outstanding baked and stuffed. Ditto for Bermuda onions, again found only during the spring and early summer months. Both varieties have a delicate flavor that is not overpowering and can accompany just about anything it is served with.

Frequently spotted on our grocery shelves are Spanish or Valencia Onions. Theirs is a long season, from August through April. They are noted for their full flavor, especially in soups, stews and casseroles and when served with roasts. The "justabout-do-anything onion" — this is it.

RED ITALIAN or Creole onions are stronger yet than the Bermuda or Spanish with a flavorful pungent flavor that invigorates many sandwiches and gutsy salad bowls. Also known as purple onlons, these fend themselves to baking or just: . served thinly sliced on asandwich or salad. White or pearl onions are oval with pointed ends and flaky white to silver skin. The smallest pearls, so delectable in stews, are usually reserved for pickling and being served in martinis. The large variety, called volling onions, are great in juicy casseroles, ragouts and fricasses.

Did you ever stop to realize that something so basic crosses paths in our kitchens so often and yet offers so many different ______ flavors? Onlons are great sliced, alternatives to add to your lunchtime enjoyment. All the recipes serve one unless otherwise stated.

A different kind of Salami Sandwich: Partly split open pita and line bread with 2 romaine lettuce leaves. Add thinly sliced salami; sliced tomato and red onion. Sprinkle one teaspoon of chopped black olives and crumbled feta into pita. Mix in a separate bowl ½ cup olive oil, 1 tablespoon white wine vinegar, 1 medium garlic clove minced and 1 tablespoon minced basil. Add a desired amount of this vinegrette to your sandwich when you are about to eat.

Lavosh Club: Place 1 lavosh (a large flour tortilla can replace this Armenian flat bread) on a surface. —Spread softened cream cheese over bread. Arrange shredded lettuce —over cream cheese at one end of bread. Top lettuce with desired amount of turkey, ham, sliced tomato and 1 slice of peeled cucumber cut lengthwise. Everybody loves pita bread, not just Middle Easterners

By Arlone Funke special writer

Ten years ago, the Beirut Bakery served mostly Middle Eastern customers who grew up savoring the versatile pita bread.

"It wasn't as popular as it is now," said Iskandar "Alex" Wakim, one of the owners of the family-run bakery based in Redford.

Nowadays, people of all backgrounds enjoy the round, slightly chewy pita, which sometimes is called "pocket bread." Pita may be eaten plain, used as a food scooper or sliced open to form a pouch or pocket, then stuffed with meat or salad.

"As people became educated, the business expanded," said Wakim, who was born in Lebanon.

A visit to the bakery on Schoolcraft Road just east of Beech-Daly can mean a crash course in Middle Eastern and Mediterranean specialties.

There are stacks of the popular pita, so prevalent in Lebanese and Syrian culsines. Thore are stuffed grape leaves and tangy tabboulch, a salad which mixes bulgur eracked wheat, parsley, tomatoes and onions in a dressing of olive oil and lemon juice.

ALSO SOLD is the so-called Lebanese plzza, dough topped with ground lamb, onions, tontatoes and spices. And trays of the sweet, honey-and-nuts confection known as baklava.

The specialties are prepared fresh by members of the Wakim family, who emigrated from Beirut during the 1970s and came to Redford. Although they were trained for other jobs, they decided to open a bakery, "to keep everybody busy," said Iskandar's wife Ilala.

"When we started the business nobody family business. It keeps us together." The bakery opened in 1979 at Schoolcraft and Inkster roads. It moved to its present, larger facility around 1983.

Although Beirut Bakery's breads are -available in many supermarkets, "Manypeople prefer to come here to buy it," Hala Wakim said.

One new customer came in just days after tasting pits for the first time.

"I was on a flight," he said, picking up several packages of bread. "The airline served us a sandwich on pita. It was good."

Pita js made with flour, water, yeast, sait and sugar. It contains no fats or preservatives.

. The pocket is formed by steam which is generated during the baking.

The dough is shaped and rounded by machine. It is baked quickly, at very high heat, in a conveyor oven. The dough putts into a ball. When it cools, the dough collapses, leaving a hollow center.

"IT COMES OUT pulled like a '. football," said Iskandar Wakim, formerly of Redford, now living in Northville. "The dough weakens in the middle. You cut it along the middle and it will open into a pocket."

Each pita is called a loaf. A large loaf, at 2 35 ounces, contains 185 calories. Party pita is somewhat smaller.

Pita is sold in packages of 10 loaves. A 1-pound, 9-ounce package sells for 85 cents in the bakery. Supermarket prices range from around $1 to $1.50 per package. Pita freezes well for six months.

Beirut Bakery is at 25706 Schoolcraft, just east of Beech-Daly, Redford, phone 533-4422. Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday-Friday, and 8 3. Saturday.

How to pack a brown bag lunch

See related story. Page 1B.

By Jonnifer L. Hill special writer

What goes into the making of a bag lunch? Anything and everything is the answer.

A bag lunch is a picnic for one. This picnle isn't enjoyed high atop a mountain or deep in a valley near a stream but rather in a park aroundthe corner or perhaps just at your desk in the office. Anywhere you have your bag kunch the same parts can be/included, a) main dish as the focal point and an assortment of side dishes comprised of items ranging from fruits and yegetables to cheeses and desserts.

Here are a few suggestions for side dishes in your bag lunch.

• A thermos of cold soup, fruit or season has to offer. Fruits and vegefare but a little added enhancement dell addition to these lunches.

• Fresh fruit goes well with elther salads or sandwiches. It also can be a perfect ending to your meal.

• Fresh berries can be dipped into confectioners' sugar or a mixture of brown sugar and vanilla yogurt. This will add spice to any prelude or conclusion of a lunch.

• Dried fruit, such as apricots, may be dipped in chocolate or dates, and prunes can be stuffed with cream cheese or nuts for your lunch.

• Take a trip to your neighborhood bakery to see what they have to offer. Bakerles and pastry shops have many wonderful items that pack perfectly in a bag lunch,

• Breads, such as, croissants, baguettes and brioche, found in bakerics add a special touch to salads. These breads also are perfect if you plan to take cheeses with you.

Pastrles and baked goods are worth the temptation. Cookies, sliced cake, tarts and eclairs are all great to tote.

• You don't have to depend on bakeries for such treats. You can bake your favorite muffins, cookles or quick breads at home. Try adding your favorite herb to a biscuit mix to make an herb-studded biscuit to accompany a salad.

• Scones are an alternative to your basic biscuit.

• To add crunch to your lunch, try one of the following suggestions: bread sticks, matzo, Norwegian flat bread, pretzels, even bagel chips. • Chocolates add a special touch to a bag lunch, especially if you are packing it for someone else.

Let's not forget the beverages! With so many types of beverages to choose from - sparkling waters

A thermos of cold soup, fruit or vegetable, is a delightful and refreshing alternative as a side dish.

(plain and fruit flavored), sodas, botfled juices and milk - there is a never-ending variety to what you can take. Iced coffee and tea are wonderful accompaniments too. Just remember, if it has a cork, take a corkscrew.

Whether you have your meal on a park bench or under a tree, you want most of all to take an appelite and a. relaxed attitude to prepare for the remainder of the work day.

Almonds add flavor to quick chicken stir fry

Imagine being a part of a family that has held annual reunions for 86 years, written its own family history book, published one cookbook filled with family recipes and planning to publish a second.

This week's Winner Dinner Winner, Irene Troutman Sutter of Farmington, is a member of just such a family, the well-known Troutman family, whose heritage and history as one of North Carolina's founding families goes way back to 1752. The original family members came from Germany and founded a town near Charlotte which they named Troutman.

Sufter grew up in this town, but. moved to Farmington when she got married. She and her husband, Elwood, are the parents of three grown children and now have five grandchildren.

Sutter has been a kindergarten teacher for 25 years at St. Paul's Lutheran School in Farmington. Last year, she had the pleasure of having one of her grandchildren in her class. ALTHOUGH SUTTER enjoys cooking, the demands of her job don't leave her with a lot of extra time in the kitchen. As a result, she likes to prepare meals that are quick and easy to put together.

After-reading-my-plea for stir-fry dinners, she submitted a recipe for almond chicken stir fry that she likes to serve with rice, saucy gingered carrots, a tossed salad and raspberry apple delight. Besides tasting great, the entire dinner can be prepared in less than an hour, which makes it a winner just on that basis alone.

With the school year almost over, she and her husband are looking forward to attending the 86th Troutman Family Reunion this summer. It should be a good opportunity to catch up with her brothers and sisters, as well as with 300 or 400 other family relatives.

Thank you, Irene Troutman Sutter, for sharing your wonderful recipes with us. Hopefully the honor of being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner will earn you a spot in the Troutman Family Hall of Fame as well as a place in their history book.

Until next week, all the best and thanks to those who have taken the time to send in their family's favorite menu. Although it is still early, I am looking for recipes that would be appropriate for summer picnics as well as for Fourth of July get-togethers.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each-week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Phelps Vineyards expanding Side dish features the specialty rices

Spring Valley, a small fold in the hills east of St. Helena in California's famed Napa Valley, is home to Joseph Phelps Vineyards.

When the winery project started in the early 1970s, only 175 acres of a 670-acre ranch was planted to grape vines in order to preserve the natural beauty of Spring Valley.

In addition to the Spring Valley ranch, the winery owns a 59-acre parcel south of Yountville and a 30acre plot in the Stag's Leap District planted to cabernet sauvignon. Addi-- tional cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc are planted on 35 acres west of Rutherford. A 40-acre Carneros sight has been planted with full chardonnay production expected in 1994.

Even these diverse holdings cannot satisfy the demands for Joseph Phelps Vincyards' wines, which include chardonnay, sauvignon blanc, gewurztraminer, johannisberg riesling, scheurebe, semillon, cabernet sauvignon, zinfandel and several native Rhone Valley varietals such as grenache, syrah and viognier sold under the Joseph Phelps Vin du Mistral label.

Phelps Vineyards is known worldwide for the vineyard-designated cabernet sauvignons from the Backus and Eisele vineyards. Insignia is a blend of at least 50 percent cabernet sauvignon and, depending on the vintage, may contain 10 to 40 percent merlot and none to 30 percent cabernet franc. Insignia is considered one of the more exciting Bordeauxstyled wines produced in California.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

1989 Vin du Mistral. Grenache Rose produced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($12) is a blend containing ive percent mourvedre, another Rhone varietal. The wine is pleasantly peppery and spicy and what we refer to as a "think light and drink right" wine. Serve it well chilled with summertime lentil or bean salids.

1987 Vin du Mistral Syrah profuced by Joseph Phelps Vineyards ($16) has distinguished toasted-barrel aromas with lively blackberry fruit character. Intense flavors mirror the aromas in a generous wine with good body, structure and finish. It will stand up nicely to barbecued red meat.

HOWEVER, WHEN you refer to most exciting at Phelps, the Rhonestyled wines are in the fore. Winemaker Craig Williams has a personal passion for these wines. Hehas been producing syrah under the The 1987 Insignia carries a $45 price > Phelps label since 1974-Since 1986, the Vin du Mistral (a reference to the garine or butter. Reserve ¼ cup of the crumb mixture.

It's not really a meal without a cup of coffee

Press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom and 23½ inches up the sides of an 8-inch springform pan or 2 inches up the sides of a 9-inch springform pan. Set aside.

In a medium mixing bowl combine cream cheese, sugar, vanilla and salt; beat with an electric mixer on low speed until smooth. Add eggs; beat just until combined; do not overbeat. In a separate bowl, stir together sour cream and 1 teaspoon of the coffee crystals; stir into the cheese mixture. Turn the mixture into the prepared pan. Sprinkle reserved crumb mixture on top. Bake in a 375-degree oven for 50 to 55 minutes or until nearly set. (A 1-inch portion in the center will still jiggle slightly.) Cool on a wire rack. Cover and chill about 4 hours.

windy conditions of the Rhone Valley) has been used as the special brand for Phelps' Rhone-styled wines.

"Our work with syrah has been a journey of discovery," Williams maintains. "We've learned that if we employ production techniques similar to those for cabernet sauvignon or zinfandel, the wine is excessively tannic. We now imitate several Rhone vinification techniques including whole-berry fermentation, stem retention and gentle pressing to'reduce tannin extracts."

Today, the wine is recognized as soft and approachable with heightened spicy flavors.

Tavel, a small Southern Rhone appellation, is famed worldwide for its grenache rose. With its recognizable color and fresh, lively, dry flavors, it is best consumed young and well chilled. The 1989 Vin du Mistral Grenache Rose produced from grapes grown in Monterey is a close rival of Tavel (see Wine Selections of the Week).

Condrieu, a small Northern Rhone appellation is the home of the celebrated white varietal viognier. In 1983, Joseph Phelps Vineyards obtained 10 viognier buds from the Experimental Fruit Testing Station in Geneva, N.Y. From those buds, they developed a "mother" block of twodozen vines that has expanded into a 10-acre vineyard at the Spring Valley ranch. Currently, three acres are bearing and are the fruit source for, a scant 200 cases of 1989 Vin du Mistral Viognier.

Production of Rhone-styled wines is miniscule compared to the wines bottled under the Joseph Phelps label, but it should be recognized as a milestone in California wine production. If Phelps and winemaker Williams are able to consistently pull off the exotic wildflower bouquet and delicate flavors of French vlognier, we're in for a special treat in-years to come.

AP - This flavorful, low-fat side dish shows off the nutty flavors of specialty rices such as basmati and popcorn rice. You will find these rices in specialty food shops and gourmet mail-order catalogs. In a pinch, you can make this pilaf with regular long-grain rice. To make up for the missing nut flavor, sprinkle each serving lightly with toasted chopped pecans or walnuts, but remember that nuts add fat as well as flavor.

RICE PILAF SUPREME

1/4 cup dried mushrooms 1 shallot, finely chopped 2 tablespoons margarine or butter 1 cup basmati, texmati, wild pecan or popcorn rice 11/2 cups chicken broth 1/2 cup dry white wine or apple juice 1/2 cup sliced celery 2 cups torn fresh spinach

Soak the dried mushrooms in enough hot water to cover for 30 minutes. Drain: remove and discard stems. Chop the mushrooms.

In a 2-quart saucepan cook the shallot in hot margarine or butter until tender but not brown. Add the rice; cook and stir over medium heat about 2 minutes or until rice is light brown.

Carefully pour in the chicken broth and the wine or juice; add the chopped mushrooms and celery. Bring the mixture to boiling; reduce heat. Cover and simmer for 20 to 25 : minutes or until the rice is tender. and the liquid is absorbed. Stir in the torn spinach and pimiento. Serve im-. mediately. Makes 6 to 8 side-dish servings.

GREEK COOKING

Regarding the article on Greek cooking in Taste on April 29, Olga Loizon says the recipe for Triangle Spinach Pie should not include celery, which was listed as one of the ingredients. The Stuffed Grape Leaves recipe give 1 cup of vegetable oil as an ingredient; ¼ cup oil can be added to the rice mixture, 34 cup oil when water is added. Loizon also says she is Greek Orthodox, not Catholic, as the article stated.

Spartans perform like champs: 1-0

By C.J. Rissk staff writer

Most coaches agree that when you're No. 1, everyone wants a shot at you.

One who wouldn't is Livonia Churchill girls soccer coach Nick O'Shea.

Not that O'Shea would argue that Livonia Stevenson, Churchill's opponent Friday in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship match, doesn't deserve its topranked status. The Spartans are the defending Class A state champion, and they have survived a difficult regular-season schedule without a loss.

Against Churchill, they certainly looked like the champs.

For the second time this season,

Stevenson bested its crosstown rival. go after her. It was 1.0 this time, and it delivered something to the Spartans they didn't have last year - a WLAA title.

For O'Shea's Chargers, it was the second-straight time they've been frustrated in the WLAA final. They lost a year ago at Farmington.

FRIDAY'S GAME, played at Churchill, bothered O'Shea - and not just because his Chargers lost. It was the way they lost. Instead of attacking and playing aggressively against the state's top term, they played tentatively, without confidence.

"They back off," said O'Shea, describing his team's loose defense in particular against Ragen Coyne, the Spartans' catalyst. "They won't

"It's psychological. She's a great player, but they make her look even better."

The Chargers' loose-marking midfield was victimized by Coyne, resulting in the only goal of the match. With 16:54 remaining in the first half, Coyne got possession at midfield and fed a pass through to Lori Godlewski on the right side. Godlewski beat a Churchill defender and broke in alone on keeper Monia Servi, who had no chance to stop her from 10 yards out.

THE CHARGERS had scoring opportunities, particularly in the first half with the wind at their backs. But they didn't convert; they could never quite finish their plays. The reason: There always seemed to be a Stevenson defender a step ahead of them.

Speed was the decisive factor. And the Spartans had a lot more of it. "I think we're fast," agreed Stevenson coach Mary Kay Hussey.

"That's one thing we try to utilize. We work on our quickness and speed."

In the second half, with the wind in their favor, the Spartans were in control. Churchill had few true scoring opportunities, again because they couldn't beat the Spartans to the ball.

Or were unwilling to, according to their coach. "You can catch (the Spartans) when they're not running to the ball," said O'Shea. The Chargers, in the second half especially, did not challenge aggressively.

'And it cost them. Indeed, they were fortunate the final was just 1-0. Stevenson did not play flawlessly. Coyne got a through ball behind the Charger defense with 12:20 remaining in the first half and raced toward goal, unleashing a shot from 10 yards out -- directly at Servi, who made a relatively easy stop.

STILL, THE Spartans were good enough to win, as they have been throughout the season (their record: 12-0-2 overall).

Can they repeat as state champs? That was certainly on Hussey's mind, even before Friday's match. Her biggest concern going into the WLAA final was "someone getting hurt. I didn't want to lose another player today, before the (state) tour----- Then he added, "I'd like to change --nament."

The Spartans are without Shannon-Wilkinson; her status is uncertain, which makes their defense a bit unstable, too. It also makes Hussey uncertain of her team's chances.

(L,W)1C

"If we had everyone healthy, I'd say we're stronger (than last year's team)," she said,

They may have to be. Looming. ahead is a possible third meeting with Churchill, In the Northville district final Friday. Beating a team of the Chargers' caliber (they finish the regular season with a 9-4-1 mark) tiree straight is no easy task.

Asked if he planned to make any changes should the two teams meet again, O'Shea answered, "I'll have to think about it."

the come."

Lally headlines local fight card

By Brad Emons staff writer

Boxer Brett Lally is a landscaper by trade, so it's only natural that the Westland native is returning to his home turf.

The North American Boxing Federation's newly crowned junior middleweight champion will be part of a seven-bout professional card on Tuesday, June 11, at the Laurel Manor Conference Center in Livonia.

Lally, sporting a 28-5 record and 18 knockouts, will take on Chicagoan Anthony "Hard Puncher" Ivory (9-2) in a scheduled 10-round non-title bout:

The 1981 John Glenn High graduate, now residing in Plymouth, has literally fought all over the world -London, Johannesburg, Honolulu, Atlantic City and Las Vegas.

Ringside tickets are $25 apiece (approximately 400) available with another 2,000 general admission seats will be offered at $15 each. (Call 462-0770 or 477-6959 for more ticket information.)

East Detroit matchmaker Lindy Lindell has lined up several boxers with area tles for the seven-bout card, including welterweight Jeff Styers (8-0), a 1984 Wayne Memorial grad, who will return to action after nearly a 21/2-year layoff.

Styers, now residing in Northville and a sales representative for a computer firm, dropped out of sight because of contract difficulties after the death of his manager Johnny "Ace" Smith, who was shot and killed in an apparent hit in Detroit.--

"Blue Thunder" Hopper (14-4), a Livonia Franklin grad; and heavyweight Kermit Fitzpatrick, a state trooper who trains out of the Livonia Boxing Club.

Lally, however, will be the main attraction.

"I've been landscaping eight to 10 hours per day and that keeps me in shape when I'm not training," Lally said. "Plus it gives me a good suntan. I'm looking forward to it. I've been training hard."

IVORY, Lally's next opponent, is coming off a loss at the Palace of Auburn Hills against undefeated Tim Dendy.

Lally last appeared on an area card back in November of 1983 (in Southfield) when he knocked out Charles Triplett in the third round of a junior welterweight bout.

"We wanted to bring boxing to the local fans of southwest Wayne County," said brother Bradd Lally, Brett's manager and trainer. "This is a nice set-up (the Laurel Manor). We'd like to attract a suburban crowd once or twice a month."

BRADD LALLY'S Golden Boys Productions, in cooperation with West Coast Productions of Pasadena, Calif., are promoting the fight.

"I have not signed a contract with anyone," Styers said. "I learned the boxing business is cut-throat and rough, but Bradd gave me an opportunity and there's a good matchmaker who I can trust."

Scholarships cut without warning

O COACH at Schoolcraft College, you've got to be ready to get "scrooged." Problem is - unlike the main character in Dickens' Christmas classic, who deserved his fate - at SC it doesn't matter if you've been naughty or nice. The college's version of the Grim Reaper is without bias; he slashes away at all, chopping programs and making fools of everyone.

"What happened officially at last Thursday's meeting of the athletic staff wasn't a total surprise. At least some of the coaches had heard their scholarship budgets would be trimmed.

That doesn't make it any easler, though. Or right.

And it still remains mostly unexplained.

The scholarship budgets for all SC. sports have been sliced, in some cases by more than 50 percent. All sports have been affected, and the minimum -'in a survey of five SC. coaches - is 40 percent.

According to women's soccer coach Nick O'Shea, the 283 credit hours he had available for scholarships last year has been whittled down to 138 - a cut of more than 50 percent.

THE REASON? According to sources, the one given by SC administrators is the sagging economy and state budget cuts imposed by Gov. John Engler.

(In a recent interview with the

Whatever the reason, the fallout is extensive.

The two administration officials in command of SC athletics shed no light on the problems. Midge Carleton, assistant dean for physical edu---cation, left town the day after the meeting; athletic director Marty Nowak refused to comment.

UNDERSTAND, THE extensive cuts are only part of the trouble. The timing borders on unbelievable.

The coaches are being told now that their scholarships for next fall have been sliced.

In case the beancounters in charge of SC's finances didn't realize it, scholarships have already been promised. Recruiting can't wait until the summer months.

All the coaches contacted admitted they have already overspent their reduced budgets. So now what?

The administration's answer: Go back and tell the recruits, "Sorry, kld, but I guess I can't provide the scholarship help I promised you"; hold fund-raisers; or find some millionaire with money to burn and convince him to donate it to your sports program. None are realistic.

Stevenson finishes undefeated

Livonia Stevenson completed an unbeaten dual meet season in girls track Wednesday with a 78-50 triumph at Westland John Glenn.

Stevenson, coached by Paul Holmberg, won its sixth Lakes Division title in seven years with a 5-0 record. The Spartans, who have lost only one dual meet in the past five years, finished the 1991 season with an 8-0 overall record.

The Spartans will try and defend their Western Lakes Activities Association crown Tuesday in a 12-school meet at Farmington.

Chief competition will come from Western Division champion Plymouth Canton and Lakes Division runner-up Plymouth Salem.

"It will be a battle," predicted Holmberg. "As George Przygodski (the Canton coach) said to me, after they won it (the WLAA, title in 1989), enjoy it while you can because everybody will shooting at you the next year, and it's been an awful tough year."

Harrison, 3-2 in the Western Division, was led by Heather Conley, who swept the 100 and 200 dashes and was a member of the victorious 400 and 800 relay squads.

Livonia Churchill could not stand in the way of Northville's conquest of a Western Division boys 'track title Wednesday.

The host Mustangs won 10 events, including three of four relays to finish division action at 5-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Jamie Miller stood out for the winners, capturing the long jump (20 feet) while teaming up with Bill Kelley, Matt Hemp and Ryan Huzyak to win the 400-meter relay (45.2).

Churchill, which finished 2-3 in the division and 2-5 overall, was led by Jeff Martus, who captured the 800 and 1,600 runs in 2:10.3 and 5:00.5, respectively. He also combined with Brian S. Johnson, Tim Priebe and Scott Sepanski to win the 3,200 relay (8:42.3).

The sophomore won two girls golf tournaments last week, including the Inaugural Western Lakes Activities Association event Wednesday at Huron Meadows, followed by the Class A regional Friday at Oak Pointe near Brighton.

Johnson shot an 80 at the regional. but had to go one extra hole in a sudden death playoff to edge Ann Arbor Pioneer's Susan Evashevski.

Livonia Ladywood's Mickle Gossell, a senior, also qualified for the state Class A finals by finishing third with an . 87. Teammate Meghan Blake, also a senior, qualified as well with a fifth place finish. She shot 90.

Ladywood finished tied for fourth in the team standings with Brighton at 407, six strokes from going to state.

The state qualifiers included regional champion Pioneer (374), Howell (400) and Northville (401). All three teams, along with Gosseit and Blake, advance to the finals, Saturday, June 1 at Forest Akers in East Lansing.

IN THE WLAA tourney, Johnson shot an 88 to gain medalist honors, 12 shots ahead of Plymouth Canton's Kerrl Kittleson, who was second overall with a 100.

Canton captured the team title with 422 total, followed by Northville (434), Stevenson (454), Livonia Franklin (475), Walled Lake Western (492), Plymouth Salem.(519), Walled Lake Central (525) and Livonla Churchill (587).

Other Canton finishers included Sarah Beckman, fifth, 108; Audrey Melssner, seventh, 107; and Katle Konovaliv, eighth, 109.

Meanwhile, Ladywood wrapped up a 12-2 dual meet season last week with a 197-206 win over state-ranked Birmingham Seaholm in a match at Idyl Wyld. Roscolimicolemicoletistenitonineservitines

Churchill headed to predistrict

Mike Brooks slammed a two-run homer and Mike Foley went 3-for-3 Thursday, leading host Livonia Churchill to a 6-1 baseball win over Redford Union in a Class A predistrict qualifier.

The Chargers (6.9) out-hit the Panthers, 10-5.

Winning pitcher Mike Thomas allowed four hits over six innings to eatn the victory. He struck out seven and walked two. Mark Rutherford finlshed up in the seventh.

Mike Ernst, the RU starter, was roughed up for five hits and four runs over two innings.

Dennis Creedon and Rutherford each added two hits for Churchill.

ADRIAN 3, WAYNE 2: Wayne Memorial (6-11) was eliminated from state Class A tourney play Thursday as the host Trojans held on for the win.

J.R. Hayden, the winning pitcher, struck out 13 and did not walk a batter in five innings. Dan Lock, who came on In relief, pliched two scoreless linnings to earn the save. He struck out the side in the seventh.

"The kid (Lock) that came in second we faced last year," Wayne coach Jim Chronowski said. "He (Lock) is a long, tall drink of water. He doesn't look too bad, but he stopped us pretty effectively this year. We helped them with the wind tunnel. We got the (Detroit) Tiger syndrome. , with a lot of whiffs."

'Dan Kirkendall slammed a solo homer over the left-center field fence in the first for Adrian. Hank Soto and Hayden cach added RBI singles in the third; all with two outs.

Wayne talled both of its runs in the fourth when Joe Limotte doubled and Joe Files added his second homer of the year. Doug Leverenz had two hits in a losing cause.

Jason Wetmore (3-2) suffered the loss for Wayne. He allowed only four hits and four walks over six innings. Wetmore fanned five batters.

CLARENCEVILLE 10, LU-THERAN WEST 0: Steve Cox and Carl Holston split six innings down the middle, combining on a no-bitter Wednesday in visiting Livonia Clarenceville's Metro Conference triumph over Detroit Lutheran West.

Holston, who worked the final three. innings to pick up the win, struck out four and walked one. Cox allowed one walk and fanned one.

Holston helped his own cause, going 3for-3 with three RBI. Dave Balanger and Tony Malinowski each added a two-run doubles. . ..

Clarenceville is 11-4 overall and 9-4 in the Metro.

JOHN GLENN 8, BELLE-VILLE 1: On Thursday, Westland John Glenn ran its record to 17.2 overall with the Class A predistrict qualifying triumph over the Tigers.

REDFORD CC 13, CANTON 1: Redford Catholic Central (14-13)

THESE GUYS aren't paid much to coach to begin with (all SC coaches are paid less than $5,000 annually). Asking them to put in more time to raise money - half would go directly into the budget of the sport hosting the fund-raiser, the other half to the athletic department's general fund — is ridiculous.

At least finding donors is a better deal. The sport responsible for landing the donation gets to keep all the money. Van Dimitriou, the men's soccer coach, will be able to offset hls scholarship deficit with money donated to the men's soccer fund.

ADDED. WOMEN'S basketball coach Jack Grenan: "My most important consideration is my reputation with these kids." He and Bogataj plan to put on a series of fund-raising clinics in the fall.

But while Grenan was "trying to be, positive and make (the deficit) up in other ways," O'Shea was less optimistic.

"They're asking us to do an awful lot, for the position we're in," the women's soccer coach said. He added that, before he's forced to renege on scholarship help already promised, he would resign.

Other coaches aren't as fortunate, although one was contemplating standing at the Six Mile exit ramp off I-275 with a cup to see what he could get.

The first option is flat out dismissed by all the coaches. They steadfastly refuse to renege on scholarships already promised.

The coaches might have expected cuts, considering the economic recession the nation is in. But the magnitude was not anticipated, at least partially because individual sports do not have overall budgets.

There has always been a defined number of scholarships per sport, but there is no exclusive budget for men's soccer or women's basketball or volleyball.

"Wo're the Inside Guys"

Arm wrestling event has successful 3 days

By Stove Kowalski staff writer

Rob Bixby showed up at Redford's Mr. Sports One Of A Kind Bar one night earlier this month for the Yukon Jack Arm Wrestling Championships.

The 22-year-old Livonia resident made it known he was there to watch the regional, not compete.

"I don't put myself through that," Bixby said.

Bixby came to root on his friend, Livonia's Roger Beaune, who in his first-ever competition placed second in the heavyweight division to Ken Flynn of Dayton, Ohio. Four winners were crowned and received $200 in prize money and an automatic bid to the national championships to be held next month in Tampa, Fla.

But according to Jeff Bernstein, a Yukon Jack Tournament official, the real winners were Mr. Sports and the local Multiple Sclerosis Society. Bernstein said the bar has earned the right to host next year's regional, and Detroit also "has an outsidechance of hosting the national" in 1992.

The three-day tournament drew 84 competitors from three states and Canada and raised $840 for the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Mr. Sports was packed to capacity Tuesday and over the three days bar patrons went through 60 bottles of Yukon Jack Whiskey, a tournament record according to Bernstein.

"IT'S A GOOD Yukon Jack market," joked Bernstein, who is based out of New York City. "This bar is terrific. It's a great layout and the whole crew is as helpful as possible. I rate it right up there in the top two or three (of 13 regional sites). It may be the best."

A tournament record 15 arm wrestlers competed in the women's division, including Mr. Sports General Manager Kim McNamara, who finished second. McNamara never arm wrestled before last week and prior to Thursday night's final she wasn't taking this thing seriously.

McNamara won all five of her matches Wednesday night, but was taught a lesson in Thursday's final. Sports in Farmington Hills); I never thought I'd be in it," joked McNamara, "But because it was for a good cause, six employees and I got involved. If I wasn't serious in the final round, I would have broken my arm."

McNamara is looking forward to continuing the relationship with the Yukon Jack Arm Wrestling Championships.

"BEING A SPORTS bar we've got to do as lot of different things," she said. "We've got the Great Shooting Contest, run by (Los Angeles Lakers general manager) Jerry West and we don't want to eliminate any specific sports or hobby. Our goal is to have everyone fit in when they come to Mr. Sports. We want to have something for everyone."

Dave Patton, a 32-time world champion, was in town the first two days as the Yukon Jack Arm Wrestling Championships spokesman, but had to leave the third day because of a work commitment. He did not need to compete since he has an automatic bid to Tampa after winning last year's title.

The most famous name remaining was Cobra Rhodes, a 26-year-old from Muskegon who won the middleweight division by beating Tim Edwards, of Gratis, Ohio, 2-1, in the final. Rhodes, who weighs only 165 pounds, was competing against arm wrestlers who weigh 190 in the middleweight division.

A previous national champion, Rhodes began arm wrestling as a sophomore in high school when he took on juniors and seniors for lunch money in the cafeteria.

"THE JUNIORS and seniors used to do it for lunch money and after a couple months the juniors and senlors started to go hungry because I had most of their money," said Rhodes, who is as cocky as he is good. "I take no one lightly. I just get up and do it."

Rhodes' talents have taken him all over the world and landed him a role in the movie "Over the Top," which starred Silvester Stallone.

"I trained Stallone off the set, and taught him the proper hand tech-

HE MICHIGAN CANCER FOUNDATION Is now running its fifth annual Blanche Robinson Memorial Tournament at Merri Bowl Lanes in Livonia and Plum Hollow Lanes in Southfield.

The Plum Hollow action will take place this week for the final squad on at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

This is the last squad of the tournament. Bowlers may enter as often as they wish (cash one time only) and the prize money is very attractive. A prize of $5,000 will be awarded for first place, $2,500 for second and $1,000 for third.

All proceeds will go towards the support of cancer research and patient services.

The format for the tournament is notap for three games. The men's handicap is 80 percent from 210 and the women's is 99 percent from 210.

The top 10 percent scores from each of the five participating centers will advance to the final roll off on June 7 at Bonanza Lanes.

There were 281 bowlers in last week's squads at Merri Bowl.

The unofficial leaders include: Jennifer McIntosh, first with 898; Dave Cervenak, second, 869; Theresa Beltowski, third, 861; Paul Wells, fourth, 849; Bill Spray, fifth, 845.

• Anyone still entaining thoughts about joining a spring and summer league should check it out now at the corner bowling establishment.

Video golf slices into airline

NEW YORK (AP) — International executives who wish they were on the golf course instead of being stuck on a stupefying 13-hour flight to Tokyo can now hit the links while they're airborne.

On a video screen, that is.

All Nippon Airways is betting that the allure of video games, noted for mesmerizing youngsters for hours, will help first- and business-class travelers kill time as they cross the Pacific.

The Japanese carrier claims to be the pioneer in offering the in-flight games, which are displayed on a television monitor connected to the armrest between seats.

"We realize that the trip either way is very long, and it's just trying to give them something to do, make them more comfortable, take their mind off the fact that they're in the air for this protracted time," said ANA spokeswoman Jan Still-Lindeman.

"It sounds pretty-neat," sald Tim_ Neale of the Air Transport Association, a trade group in Washington. "I know airlines are starting to order video screens in the seatbacks and the armrests. It's the coming thing."

The video Golf is one of six games offered by ANA and developed by Konaml Industry Co. Ltd. and Sony Corp. Other available sports include road racing, in a game called Road Fighter, and baseball, in a game called Crashing Pennant Race 2.

In the Golf game, players have the choice of using two woods, eight irons, a pitching wedge, a sand wedge, or a putter as they knock the ball around a nine-hole course. Each club has a standard distance for how far it will send the ball, with the driver's range being 240 meters and the sand wedge's range being 80 meters:

The video screen provides a view from where the ball lies, with a layout of the course off to the right. The number of strokes, the par - even the wind direction and velocity -show up on the screen.

Knock the ball out of bounds, you're penalized two strokes. Shoot from a sand trap, and the distance. the ball flies will be shorter for whatever club you're using.

Several major U.S. airlines acknowledged that ANA has beaten them to the punch by offering such in-flight amusements, although others are looking into similar setups. United Airlines, for one, hasn't been happy with the equipment it has seen so far.

A leading aircraft manufacturer, the Boeing Company, agreed there are bugs, particularly in where the screen should be set up.

But the airline vidcos have ond big advantage over their counterparts in video parlors on the ground. There's no need for world travelers to stock up on quarters before they take off.

The games are free, once you've paid the price of a first- or businessclass ticket.

Sea World seeking to import killer whale from Great Britain

SAN DIEGO (AP) - A permit seeking importation of a killer whale from a British marine park has been filed by Sea World Inc., which operates four theme parks in the United_ States.=

The permit application, required under the Marine Mammal Protection Act, was filed with the National Marine Fisheries Service, said Dan LeBlanc, a Sea World spokesman in San Diego.

Sea World has 13 killer whales at four parks in San Diego, Orlando, Fla., San Antonio, Texas, and outside Cleveland, Ohio.

Colorado railroad bounces back _after inferno

DURANGO, Colo. (AP) - On a chill, dark morning two years ago, grown men near tears stood in the snowy vard of the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Rallroad and watched fire destroy the historic roundhouse where all six engines were stored.

Since then, the railroad has literally risen from the ashes and aims for 250,000 riders this year.

There is a new $2 million roundhouse and machine shop where the aorid, charred smell of the fire has finally dissipated.

"It seemed hopeless when you looked in that burnedout skeleton," operations supervisor Dan McCall said. "We're just happy to be back in the shop."

The shop crew not only takes care of the Durango & Silverton maintenance, it does contract work for other railroads.

Engines from the Cumbres & Tolec, the Grand Canyon and the Georgetown Loop railroads have been. worked on in the Durango backshop this winter.

When the fire destroyed the roundhouse on Feb. 10, 1989, owner Charles Bradshaw was sleeping next doorin the General Palmer Hotel.

"By the time I had my pants on, I was thinking, if we have to run tracks in the parking lot under a circus tent, we'll get the trains going by May," Bradshaw said.

He was right. Eleven weeks later, three engines were repaired. The train season began right on schedule May 5, and by mid-summer all six engines were on track. The plucky little engines carried a record 201,004 passengers by season's end.

Mechanics were still working six and seven days a week. But a year later, they moved into the new 35,000square-foot roundhouse.

The roundhouse's design incorporates historic features and two original 1881 brick walls. It has 18 stalls for locomotives, three times the old roundhouse capaci-.

"The shop's come a long way. It's never been batter," said Larry Beam, the roundhouse foreman.

The railroad's ambitious goal of 250,000 passengers this year springs from a 17 percent increase in early reservations, Bradshaw said.

The 1991 season began this month, and the iron horses will pull coaches to Silverton through spectacular Animas River valleys through Oct. 27.

Despite industry fears that the recession could soften tourism, railroad officials are promoting the train at trade shows across the country.

"One thing's for sure," vice president Amos Cordova said. "I don't think the American public is going to be gyped out of a vacation."

Cordova said the railroad is offering promotions. And, for the first time, it is giving commissions to travel agents who attract riders.

McCall, meanwhile, believes the fiery cloud two years ago had a silver lining.-

"The fire was a tragedy as far as historic purposes," he said. "For our purposes, it was great."

INDIAN ATTACK

The British will be there in their red coats. The Indians will attack as they always do. And the pioneers will shoot their muzzleloaders, throw their knives and show off their fur fashions within the palisaded walls of Fort Michilimackinac. The Fort Michilimackinac Pageant, where 30,000 spectators help relive 18th-century life, will be May 25-27 at the Straits of Mackinac Peninsula, A re-enactment of the June 2, 1763 storming and capture of the fort during a baggataway match between the Indians and the British garrison will top off each day of the festival. Baggataway was the forerunner of lacrosse. Restored Fort Michilimackinac, site of 18th century French and British garrisons, is now the subject of the longest ongoing archaeological dig in North America. Nearby is the 1892 Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse, now serving as the Mackinac Maritime Museum. For more information, write the Michigan Travel Bureau, P.O. Ohio's Maumee Bay Lodge shines on Lake Erie shore

THE COTTAGES are built on square foundations under squared shingled roofs, but what happens between roof and foundation is truly innovative architecture. Two corners have been cut away to create an open deck and a screened deck. Another small porch lies.off the main bedroom.

We followed a long private drive to our parking area and walked across a small bridge to the door of our two-bedroom cottage. As you enter, you can go directly upstairs to a loft containing two single beds separated by a partial wall under. skylights that open at your touch. Or you can circle the stairs on the main floor, past a full bathroom, a bedroom with an upper and lower bunk, a second bedroom with a double bed, and a living-dining area with large table, living-room furniture and a gas fireplace.

The cottages are a good buy, especially for families or small groups. Lodge rooms cost $69 for one person, $79 for two, $109 for a loft room or a suite. The two-bedroom cottages are $89 a night, $425 a week. Four-bedroom cottages are $120 a night or $465 a week. Don't forget to add 12 percent state and local tax to those rates.

The management staff at the resort are trained, but the service staff is mostly new to the hospitality industry, so things were a bit slow durthere and enjoy the facilities without spending too much money. The potential is greater than what's there now, because not everything is open yet.

"What I liked best about it was staying in a cottage, lighting the fireplace at night and falling asleep upstairs under the skylight with a sky full of stars overhead."

By midsummer, these greening fields will be busy with bicycles, Tshirts, ball caps, cars, golf carts and the other trappings of a summer resort. For this brief off-season month it is quiet, with hawks and seagulls ing that first week. Untrained or not, we found the staff cheerful and helpful, ready to open any door or run and the lake any dining-room errand.

Bettle Cannon of West Bloomfield, who visited the resort just after it opened, gave it high marks. "It's very accessible to people in the Detroit area. Families can get together

"We got a half-price special, so the rates were $40 per night on the weekend, $20 per night during the week. The hotel was decorated with gaudy, baroque style decor. "Meals in Las Vegas can be very inexpensive," she said. "You can find buffets at most hotels. We ate a pound of crab for only $9.95 one night. The shows are not cheap. David Copperfield was performing when we were there, but his show cost $55, so we passed on that one.

"The Excalibur, a new hotel and casino, offers a spectacular dinner and show for around $25. It's built like a medieval castle, with jousters in the spirit of King Arthur. If you're a guest, you get two tokens for the "Excalibur" machine, which is a rock with a sword as a handle. You pull on the sword for the jackpot."

Amidst the glitz and glamour, the magic turned to reality for Sue. Maybe it will for you too.

To celebrate 25th they want tropical

Sharon and Lawrence Churchfield will celebrate a quarter century of married life next fall, and they would like to do it in a nice warm place.

"We would like to take a trip somewhere different, possibly tropical. We have been to Hawaii. I am a little reluctant to go someplace tropical because of monsoons. Do you have any suggestions?"

The word "monsoons" startled me, because I associate it with childhood stories about the mysterious east. I looked the word up in my dictionary and read "the seasonal wind of the Indian-Ocean and southern Asia, blowing from the southwest in summer and the northeast in winter."

Another definition was "any persistent wind established between water and adjoining land."

Look at it from that point of view and you get the word "storm" which quickly leads you to "hurricane," a very scary word indeed. Surprisingly, very very few travelers are ever caught in hurricanes, no matter how much their stormy paths dominate the evening news.

Some cruise ship lines will refund your money if you have the bad luck to sall during a storm. I talk to a lot of travelers, but only one or two have ever complained about bad weather in the Caribbean.

Where should you go?

My favorite island discovery of the last year is St. Lucia, a mountainous isle in the eastern Caribbean where you can stay at a variety of resorts and enjoy sand, sea, sun and too much good food. Definitely not for those who like casinos and evening entertainment.

My favorite place in Mexico is San Miguel de Allende, northwest of Mexico City. This was once the heart of Spanish colonial Mexico: You can stay in an old Spanish mansion converted into a small luxury hotel. You can shop, eat and tour the surrounding area. You cannot stretch out on the beach; no beach.

Your destination will depend a lot on what you enjoy, what you mean by "somewhere different." If you go early in October, and want to go that far, you will find something different on the Balearic islands of Majorca and Ibiza off the coast of Spain. That is where Europeans go in the fall.

I suggest you spend some time in your library and at a travel agency. Check out Margaret Zeller's guide book on the Caribbean. Her observations are very personal and reliable. Use the Reader's Guide to Periodicals or just browse through past magazines like Conde Nast Traveler and Travel & Leisure. Pick up handfuls of brochures at a travel agency.

Half the fun of travel is exploring the possibilities. When you have narrowed your choices down, write to me again and we'll refine your itinerary. Meantime, we invite other readers to send us their suggestions for a tropical celebration of a 25th anniversary.

Ohio offers a nearby retreat Maunee Bay Lodge

This is the clubhouse at Maumee Bay Lodge, a new state park resort in Oregon, Ohio.

By Iris Sanderson Jones special writer

AUMEE BAY Lodge; Ohlo's 10th state park resort, opened May 1 on the shore of Lake Erie 15 miles east of Toledo in Oregon. It has been getting rave reviews.

The lodge is a great close-to-home getaway for Michigan travelers, with fine resort facilities available at moderate prices. But you will have to book early to get what you want.

The 120 lodge rooms are available all year, but 20 cottages that rent only by the week during summer are already fully booked from Memorial Day to Labor Day, although cancellations are always possible.

The cottages were rented within three hours after reservations became available in January. The park will begin taking cottage reservations for 1992 on June

YOU REACH Maumce Bay by the Highway 2 exit of I-280. Drive through the town of Oregon and turn left between farmhouses on Maumee Bay Park Road. Campers have used the adjacent campsites at Maumee Bay State Park for several years.

Maumee Bay Lodge appears ahead of you, a contemporary sprawl of sawed planks, stained fawn grey, rising in the center to weathered cedar-shingled roofs. The lodge, low on the ends and high in the middle, is set against the shore of Lake Erie, but you need not limit yourself to the sand beach (to be completed by July 4), or to the 1,500 feet of inland beach on the 57-acre sailing lake.

IRIS SANDERSON JONES

The lodge includes a large outdoor swimming pool; a heated indoor swimming pool with saunas; courts for racquetball, basketball and tennis; and a fitness center. All are available free to guests.

If you look to the right as you approach the lodge, you see contemporary cottages in the same grey planks, scattered in singles and doubles across the slightly rolling prairie landscape, tucked into grovés of trees.

Most cottages are set on widely-separated knolls beside the golf course, which looks ready for play but is still digging its grass roots into the ground for a fall opening.

Madonna and Dice not nice

2D大次上点

In "Truth or Dare" (F, R, 118 minutes) and "Dice Rules" (F, NC-17, 87 minutes) Madonna and Andrew Dice Clay pretend that they are artists discussing sexual power, the hostility of passion and the printacy of their own sex.

Not true, friends, for in reality they're both sadists out to torment their fans with 312-boring hours ofobscenity, adolescent posturing and some of the worst film footage to be screened in years.

Both of these productions are supposed to be innovative, something 'new and different" in concert films but they wind up as two of the least entertaining films imaginable.

"Dice Rules," all in color, opens with a half-hour drama in which Dice is the ultimate nerd who becomes super cool by purchasing a $15 leather jacket. The remaining hour is wasted screening footage from his Madison Square Garden concerts. For those who are blessed with ignorance of Clay's routine, it's non-stop-four-letter words celebrating naked masculine sexual power in the hands of someone who doesn't understand sexuality or human rela--tions.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING Impromptu:' A triumph

In the mid-19th century, George Sand created a panle, even for Paris. The popular female writer not only carried on indescrete affairs, but insisted on dressing in men's clothing.

Frederic Chopin, while enjoying his own popularity as a planist and composer, was plagued by a lung disorder that kept him from setting foot outdoors, or even cracking a window. Composer Franz Liszt called him "The Polish Corpse."

Historically, the meeting of Sand and Chopin was little more than a passing acquaintance through mutual friend Liszt. The new film, "Im? promptu," however, takes Sand's admitted infatuation with the composer and creates an irreverent and beautiful romantic comedy.

Playing exclusively at the Maple Theatre, "Impromptu" finds Sand; now divorced, desperately trying to avoid the mad and Jealous lovers she's taken since. She finds Chopin's music, introduced to her at a party - recital, "heavenly" and "the answer to a prayer."

SAND'S RELENTLESS pursuit of Chopin completely bends the protocol of male-female courtship. Sand, dressed in trousers and ascot, frightens the frail, well-coiffed Chopin. He finds her revolting, but also. is strangely compelled by her.

Judy Davis flesh-and-blood portrait of Sand, meanwhile, redefines the depiction of famous personages. It's partly her well-documented bitterness that has Sand wearing men's clothing, but, as she confesses to her mother, they're also "casier to move about in."

MINANIA ARCANE I ST. VALUESSIGATA LEDNAR PREMIUM IN MINAR RADIAL CO

In one of the film's most moving " moments, Chopin is overtaken by her intensity and fears he will die if he succumbs to it.

"Take some of my strength," she implores. "I've got too much of it." What sounds overly melodramatic on paper comes off with amazing . sincerity on film.

This is clearly Davis' picture, though Hugh Grant's Chopin is also fine. Julian Sands, a veteran of "A -Room-with a View" and "Gothic," looks properly rumpled and badgered as the long-haired, thick-

REAL LIFE - Simple Minds

According to some astronomists, our sun still has a few phases of growing to go through. A few million or billion or something like that years from now (don't worry you probably won't be around), the sun is going to get really huge and burn very brightly. At that time it will be called a "red giant," that is if there's anyone around to call it that."

Alter doing that for a few million or billion years (ask Carl Sagan if you're interested in exact numbers), the sun will contract and become a dense, tiny star called a "white _dwarf."

Now, if you'll stay with me for a moment, you'll discover why you're reading about astronomy in a record revlew.

The reason is Simple Minds' latest album "Real Life." Metaphorically speaking, of course, Simple Minds'

Now, with "Real Life," Simple · Minds will most likely continue their contraction into the white dwarf slage.

Go, if it feels right to you

O&E Monday, May 20, 1991

Dear Barbara,

I received the enclosed invitation yesterday as did several of my officemates. As I had never heard of a "miscellancous, personal, just want to have fun shower," I asked some of those who also received invitations their thoughts.

Barbara Schiff

One individual was absolutely enraged --- way beyond indignant --and lambasted the "perpetrator" of this "abomination" (I believe that was the word she used). Some were confused/baffled and others were glad "because we need a party."

In an attempt (and it's feeble, at best) to make this somewhat clearer, the party is being given to cheer up/ bring the spirits up of the honoree. She has been having some family and other problems, but the main reason for the party (originally) was to be a "grandmother" shower and then turned into this. (Don't ask me; it isn't getting any better.)

I have mixed feelings about this affair. On one hand, I think it's a wonderful gesture and wish someone would do something like that for me when I'm on that out-of-control roller coaster. But on the other hand, I say, "So what. You've brought this mess on yourself and I don't have time to feel sorry for you and don't feel I have to coddle you so you'll feel better because nothing's going to change.'

I guess what I'm asking is have you or any of your other readers heard of/been invited to this kind of "shower." And if so (and even if not), what are/were your thoughts and/or feelings and WIIAT KIND OF GIFT DO YOU BRING?

Wondering

Barbara

Dear Wondering,

I have not heard of this type of. shower. If readers of this column have, I encourage them to write in with similar stories and their reac- . tions.

My feeling is that if you like this person, go to the shower and be gracious'in your attitude. Don't be angry or critical. Attend the party in a way that will make you feel good about yourself — like a lady.

If you don't like the woman, don't be a hypocrite. Don't go.

Any present that you guess might put a smile on her face is appropriate. How about lottery tickets or a Bill Cosby recording on families.

Rich Hall: You know his face, but how about his name?

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Van Morrison's music plays in the background while Rich Hall talks on the phone from his Montana home." Somewhere in the conversation, the comedian is asked what Morrison record is playing.

"No, he's (Morrison) here," says Hall earnestly.

No doubt in the tilted imaginative mind of Rich Hall, "Van the Man" is probably there strumming "Brown-Eyed Girl" in his living room: After all, Hall has a knack for making up things.

This is the fellow who gave us the Sniglet, words that somehow escaped Webster's book like "premblememblemation," which is the term for double checking to make sure a letter went down into the mailbox. He can also take a piece of Plexiglas and turn the object into a visual comedic bit about driving .--Hall's an Emmy-winning writer. He has three books to his credit and was recently honored by the Museum of Broadcasting in New York. His sometimes frumpy-looking face is certainly recognizable to most. Yet obscurity is still the main mailing address for Rich Hall, whose string of television credits include ABC-TV's "Fridays," HBO's "Not Necessarily the News," NBC-TV's "Saturday Night Live" and, currently, Comedy Channel's "Onion World."

PERHAPS THE closest Hall has come to prime-time exposure were those Pizza Hut commercials, where he trekked around in a pepperoni-Inspired odyssey around the country. He's been in several TV pilots, but a majority of them remained dormant.

"In a way, I've sort have followed that natural pattern where you do enough late night stuff they try to fit you into prime time," Hall says, "I've sort have been resisting that and still trying to find a way to still work in that period.

"I know I don't have a conventional style of humor. There's not that many unconventional places to do comedy."

Hall is not bitter. Instead, he feels better off than some of his comedic contemporaries who've found a place during the family viewing hour:

-"Kevin Meany is a really funny guy and they stuck him in a really stupid-show ("Uncle Buck")," Hall says. "Same with Bob Saget: He's a really funny guy. I'm not going to do that. I don't care if I'm not on at 9 o'clock in front of the nuclear family."

-In the meantime, Hall is content to make his new show "Onion World" a go. The program features his slightly-off-center humor along with cutting edge bands such as Jazz-worked as a street performer for Butcher, Del Amitri and Camper awhile before turning to stand-up-Van Beethoven.

Also, Hall will be in a soon-to-be aired CBS-TV show "Say What?" The show focuses on how wordy the world has become, no doubt destined to find a place with a prime-time audience.

"CBS tested it in front of a busload of tourists," Hall says, "and they hated it."

STAND-UP COMEDY provides solace. Hall worked his way up the circuit, opening in front of rock'n'roll audiences.

And sometimes things could get ugly. He relates opening for a band that featured former members of. The Band at some converted bowling alley on Long Island on St. Patrick's Day. After 17 minutes, Hall was left ' News" later allowed a better showcrowd howled.

Hall's wry observational humor still managed to find a receptive audience.

"I-was kind of different because at that time I worked with a lot of props," Hall says, "which worked out well because I had a lot of bright and shiny objects to keep the drunks' attention a little bit longer." His keen eye for the peculiar David Letterman recognized Hall's talents, catching his act at the Improvisation in New York. Letterman hired him as a writer for his illfated morning show. Though the program was canceled, Hall earned an Emmy for his writing.

FROM THERE, Hall's sojourn into network television began. ABC-TV's "Fridays," an anemic attempt to compete with "Saturday Night Live," provided his introduction. Hall contends he doesn't remember.

"I went to a Blackstone show and I was hypnotized for three years,". Hall says. "During that time people said I did 'Fridays.' " "HBO's Not Necessarily the to slink off stage as the drunken case for Hall's off-beat observational humor.

The show also produced the first Sniglet, "flen" - the crusty residue on top of a ketchup bottle. (For the record, Hall's favorite Sniglet is "pielibrium" - a term for when the crust of a pie slice outweighs the filling and it tips upward.)

"Saturday Night Live" was another short lived late-night forum for Hall.

"There was a lot of frustration there because nobody liked our producer Dick Ebersol, who was about as funny as a stick," Hall says. "After a year, we said 'that's it' and everyone quit. "_____ On "Onion World," Hall has a free rein. The show travels around the world, so Hall can fix his eye on "technological and environmental buffoonery.'

But there's nothing like perform-

"You get that manipulative power to have the audience in the palm of your hand and work them into a comedic frenzy if you want,"-Hallsays. "Or, more than likely in my case, create some incredible vacuum of silence.

"Like unbelievable silence, like a black hole where no sound can escape. That's what my material is like: There's a lot of abject silence."

- How to win at the numbers game.

he game is newspaper advertising --- and the rules L are changing. Rates are up in the Detroit News and Free Press. Suburban circulation is down. And all around town, advertisers are wondering what numbers to trust --and where to place their media dollars. What should you do?

Beware of smoke and mirrors.

Right now, the News and Free Press circulation is unstable at best. On the other hand, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers delivers to more than 500,000 households ---and that's a real number. How do we know? All SPRING newspapers are audited. Every year, the circulation figures for each SPRING newspaper are verified by either CAC or ABC -- two of the industry's most highly-respected independent auditors.

No slippery stuff here. SPRING's numbers are tested, tried, and true.

Place your bet on SPRING.

Once you've studied the numbers, we're suire you'll agree: SPRING is a sure winner.

SPRING's circulation is solid and stable. It's audited. And it represents more than one million readers who have the means to buy what you sell.

No matter how you figure it -- those are very good odds, indeed.

OK - so dazzling numbers can be misleading. And, when it comes to newspaper circulation figures, you want more than quantity. You want quality:

We've got it. SPRING's one million readers are some of the most affluent consumers around. SPRING newspapers go to suburbs with the spending power to buy more cars, condos, boats, bikes, appliances, apparel, gizmos, and gadgets than most other Michigan communities combined,

Best of all, SPRING delivers this upscale suburban market at a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

Eat away for your special D-A-Y

By Joanne Sobczak special writer

HE NEXT TIME YOU think there isn't such a thing as a "free lunch," you might want to talk to Kaye Pearl, Jeff Schmidt, Bob Vargo or Kevin Downey. They'll tell you there's an exception to the rule — your birthday. Accord to Pearl, assistant service manager at the Southfield Bill Knapp's Restaurant, several monthsago her staff served a woman who had turned 101 years old. And at Bill Knapp's, that makes her soccial.

Birthdays are indeed special at Bill Knapp's, which has grown from one location in Battle Creek in 1948 to 48 restaurants in five states today.

Right from the start, founder Clinton Knapp made sure children's birthdays were an exciting event at his restaurant. "Little Knappers," as children 1 through 10 are called, are treated to a free chocolate cake. Plus everyone (a maximum of 10) at their birthday party receives a free dish of French vanilla ice cream.

"Big Knappers," 11 years and older, not only get a chocolate cake, but with identification, the cashier will discount the birthday boy's or girl's meal a percentage equal to his or her age.

When someone celebrates his or her 101st⁴ birthday at the restaurant, not only is the person's meal free, but the patron is also reimbursed a calculated percentage of the guest check, based on how many years passed 100 the person is celebrating.

Celebrate a birthday at Charllo's Wayne Roadhouse In Wayne and you may have a halfdozen staff members sing a jazzed-up version of "Happy Birthday" and be served a huge chocolate sundae by Terri Nelson.

another guest," he said. "It's basically a one entree off type policy."

THE BIRTHDAY freebie has only been offered since the establishment came under the ownership of Fred Ferguson who also bought the Uptown in Madison Heights. Both restaurants were formerly part of the Chuck Muer seafood chain.

"Sometimes people come in and they don't know we have the policy," said Schmidt, a Novi resident. "They will be treating a friend to dinner and drinks and then they'll find out (from the waitress) that the friend will be getting a free birthday dinner."

So it was for Van Devender.

"What a riot," she laughed, referring to the staff's new version of "Happy Birthday." The University of Michigan administrative assistant had no idea what her friends Barbara Breeding of Romulus and Linda Gardner of Canton had in mind. Although the two co-workers had eaten at the Roadhouse before, neither was sure about the details of the restaurant's festivities.

Beau Jacks in Birmingahm created its birthday give-away system about four years ago. The restaurant uses a computer. Customers fill out postcards and return them to the restaurant, according to manager Bob Vargo.

THE PATRONS write their birth date and address on the postcards and the information is entered into the computer. Every month the restaurant sends out 450-550 gift certificates inviting them to celebrate at Beau Jacks at 20 percent off. The discount is applied to the entire bill no matter how many are in the party. ___ Vargo said 60-65 percent take the restaurant up on its offer that includes a complimentary birthday cake as part of the offer. There is no specific expiration date on the coupon. At Beau Jacks, the pub-like ambiance is for those who prefer casual dining. The popular food choices are the half-pound burger, followed by the Caesar salad. If money is no object and you really would like to do it up, the elegant Fox and Hounds in Bloomfield Hills has embarked on giving birthday presents. Owner Kevin Downey and manager Lori Grubba created the "Celebration Club," using a computer to register their patron's birthdays in a fashion similar to Beau Jacks. "The customers fill out a registration card which is presented with the guest check," Downey said. "It requests information about the patron's birthday and anniversary dates. During the month of their special date, a personal letter and a $10 gift certificate (good any time during the month) is mailed out."___ _.

SO IF YOU'RE 100 or older, there is such a thing as a free lunch or dinner. The company has had about 250 people who, in the last 20 years, have pasted the 100-year milestone and who have received checks from Bill Knapp's. None of them have yet to cash their refund checks.

"They seem to keep the check as a souvenir or momento," Pearl said.

"They are very accommodating about how they prepare the food," said Marjorie Naftaly who has been coming to Bill Knapp's for 20 years to enjoy family birthdays. That night she and husband Roland were quietly toasting his birthday.

"I save money and the food is very good," the Oak Park CPA said while waiting for the waitress to pack his free cake. "I pick out what I want."

At least 65 cakes leave the Southfield Bill Knapp's daily and 80 percent of them are for birthdays. The other 20 percent are white cakes, used for anniversary celebrations. The company produces about one million cakes annually for businesses for the birthday/anniversary celebrations.

Alicia Auth stared with wonder at the excitement going on at the table next to hers. Wilayne Van Devender of Romulus sat between her two "best" friends while a half dozen staff members at Charlie's Wayne Roadhouse sang a jazzed-up version of "Happy Birthday" to her.

THE THREE-year-old's eyes widened even more at the sight of a lit candle on top of a huge chocolate sundae presented to Van Devender.

Van Devender noticed the youngster's interest and stretched between the tables to offer Alicia a chance to blow out the candle. Alicia definitely assisted. \Im

With the candle extinguished, Alicia eyed the sundae. Van Devender didn't have to worry, Alicia's father made certain the waitress brought the youngster one.

Well, he had to pay for Alicia's sundae, but Van Devender didn't have to pay for hers. The dessert was part of her birthday gift from the Wayne restaurant. The other part was a free dinner.

Jeff Schmidt, manager of the Roadhouse, said birthday celebrating customers who inform their waitress of the special occasion and show identification, enjoy a complimentary sundae and the restaurant's "free meal" policy.

"With proper identification, unless it's a little tyke, we cut the bill in balf, if you come in with

ABOUT 3,000 customers are enrolled in the club "and it's growing," Downey said. About 20-40 cards are filled out daily and the establishment is experiencing a 20 percent return. Downey hopes to build the registry to 1,500 customers a month.

In addition to the gift certificate, there's also a birthday cake — a chocolate cake with chocolate mousse and chocolate shavings or white cake with white mousse and white butter cream frosting. You also get a discount on another house original — the Birthday Package. For 10 bucks, the staff will decorate your table with a happy birthday banner and helium balloons. And, of course, the staff sings — Birthday Pakage or not.

Don Nelson and his wife Bernice of Howell were having a great time with their friends Frank and Mary Macartney of Rochester Hills at the Fox and Hounds. The latter arranged for the surprise celebration, complete with the banner and balloons.

Nelson, a retired corporate pilot who was celebrating his 66th birthday, joked that after 33,000 hours of accident free flying, he was going to take the balloons home and consider becoming "a balloonist."

"I think 90 percent of our society celebrates birthdays and anniversaries," Downey said. "It's a festive situation. You are only wishing someone -well."

Just for brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcement of engagements and weddings. All announcements are______ published on a first-come, first-served basis.

Information sent must be legible and include a daytime telephone number so if there is a question the staff can call. Photos submitted should, perferably, be black-and-while glossies, 5 by 7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted, but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office; or if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the _____ photo, every effort will be made to return it. However, photos do get lost because so many are handled every month. There is just no guarantee the photo will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills should be addressed to Loraine McClish, in care of The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336.

Inquiries are taken by McClish or Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.

The exact origin of diamonds is still somewhat of a mystery, even to scientists. Though the diamond is the hardest of all gemstones, it is the simplest in compostion. It is common carbon, like the graphite in a lead pencil.

But somehow Nature, by great heat and pressure over millions of years, crystallized the diamond — deep inside the earth — into a form different from any other substance. Then force of ancient volcanos drove the diamond-embedded rock up through pipe-like channels toward the earth's surface where, today, diamonds are mined. Restaurant lounge
