Ben DeHart to leave council

DeHart to quit for health reasons

By Leonard Poger editor

Veteran Westland city councilman Ben DeHart surprised the political community by pulling out of the Sept. 10 primary.

DeHart, 51, and on the council for 111/2 years, cited health reasons for his pulling out of the primary by Friday's deadline. He submitted nominating petitions to get on the primary ballot by the June 18 deadline. Under campaigning for four seats. state law; candidates have a three-day grace period to withdraw.

The councilman's term expires Dec. 31. DeHart refused to return repeated phone calls from the Observer this week, but had a statement released by Joseph Benyo, city council liaison and spokesman, DeHart's pullout means the city council will have at least one new face after the Nov. 5 general election.

His decision narrows the primary field to 10 candidates - three incumbents and seven challengers - who are seeking eight nominations. Those eight will be on the Nov. 5 ballot

IN A public statement addressed to the community, DeHart said:

and findings of a medical heart examination and on the advice of my physician, I must regretfully not seek re-election" to the council.

"I have had to make difficult decisions throughout my career and this decision has been the most difficult of my entire life. Consideration has been given to my cutting back on community service as a councilman, but I find that totally unacceptable, when I cannot give the continued 100 percent of my responsibilitles to the community.

"Lord willing, as time goes on and my condition hopefully improves, I will again, in some fashion, continue to serve my community."

n, DeHart thanked local persons for giving him the chance to serve and represent them.

MAYOR ROBERT Thomas admitted that he was "shocked" by DeHart's withdrawal.

Thomas said the councilman approached him and asked for the mayor's support in the upcoming election, which the mayor agreed to provide

DeHart, a staff member of Council 25 of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees for many years, was praised by Thomas, who occasionally criticized the councilman for specific votes.

School unions applaud new pay increases

By Darrell Clem

The Wayne-Westland school board approved contracts for five employee unions Monday night, two weeks after district voters approved a tax increase to help pay for the raises.

The contracts, similar to an earlier-approved pact that gave teachers an 11.9-percent-raise over-two years, provided pay increases for 477 employees ranging from custodians to top-level administrative cabinet members.

One-hundred-fifty school employees jammed the school board meeting room for the sometimes-heated session in which board members also approved a record $85.1 million budget. The workers - some of whom had been working without a contract for two years - applauded as the board set the pay raises.

DAVID MORANTY, chairman of the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, said he had already forecast "the wildest spending spree ever seen in Wayne-Westland." The contracts came as no surprise after voters approved a 7.75-mill tax increase on June 10, he said.

The contracts were approved in the final week of the board terms of veteran members Mathew McCusker and Sharon Scott, who were defeated in the election.

Board member Kathleen Chorbagian defended the pay raises for the unions as being among the lowest negotiated among Wayne County districts.

Board members Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and Fred Warmbier had wanted to delay the contracts until July 1, when newly elected board members Laurel Raisanen and Vicki Welty will take office. All four have indicated concerns about salaries, raising fears that they would form a new majority on the seven-member board and try to reduce some raises.

----WARMBIER DECLINED to vote on the contracts Monday, while Kozorosky-Wiacek generally favored pay raises for hourly workers but opposed salary increases for administrators.

In approving the contracts, McCusker and Scott drew support from board members' Kathleen Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak.

Kathleen Chorbagian, Wayne-Westland school school for the fall term.

Westland resident Beity Talmadge, addressing the board during Monday night's meeting, criticized Chorbagian for planning to pull her daughter out of the Wayne-Westland school district and place her in Ladywood, a Catholic high school for girls in Livonia.

"I didn't want it (the flier) to go out too early, because I was afraid people would forget about it," Dittmar said.

City officials say the latest phase of Westland's waste-management program will reduce by 18 percent the city's refuse tonnage.

Residents are being asked to separate their grass clippings, leaves and other yard waste from the rest of their garbage. Yard waste should be placed in plastic bags - preferably clear ones with contents weighing no more than 40 pounds -- or in trash : refuse will not be collected," the cans with a Westland decal.

THE DECALS, which are free, are ayailable at all Westland fire stations; the city clerk's office, 366Q1 Ford Road, the DPS office, 37137 Marquette, and the Westland Eco-

DPS officials are asking residents to place their yard waste 10 feet apart from their other refuse on the curbside. Yard waste will be picked up on the same day as other garbage, but at a different time.

"Yard waste placed in improper containers or mixed with regular DPS said in its flier, signed by Mayor Robert Thomas.

The city contractor will take the yard waste to the Contral Wayne County Sanitation Authority for transfer to a composting facility in Ypsilanti, Dittmar sald.

"The purpose of the program is to help reduce the amount of refuse Clear plastic bags may be bought sent to landfills or incinerators and at the economic growth center or at to help protect the environment,"

> YARD WASTES that will be collected include grass clippings, leaves, garden vegetation, weeds, potting soil, Christmas trees, shrubbery trimmings and tree trimmings, according to the DPS.

> The city is encouraging residents to use trash cans, instead of plastic bags, when they place yard waste at the curbside. Cans are less expensive in the long run, because they can be reused, city officials stressed.

Moreover, trash cans "promote better degradation at the compost site, since all plastic is eliminated," ... the DPS flier states.

"You really don't think the Wayne-Westland school system is as great as you say it is." Talmadge said.

Chorbagian admitted that she made a down payment on tuition at Ladywood, which costs $2,500 a year to attend, but noted that daughter has also enrolled at Wayne Memorial High School.

Chorbagian said the family hasn't decided yet which high school the daughter would attend in the fall. Earlier this month, the daughter completed the ninth grade at Adams Junior High School.

CHORBAGIAN SAID she and her husband, Mark, enrolled Kelly at Ladywood before they knew that voters would approve the Wayne-Westland district's 7.75 mill tax increase in the June! 10 election.

Chorbagian had feared that the tax proposal would fail, as three previous proposals did.

"That worried us a great deal," she said.

Saying that her "children come first." Chorbagian told Talmadge that she had feared her daughter would not be able to receive a good education at Wayne Memorial.

Prior to the election, budget cuts had threatened to reduce the Wayne Memorial instructional day from six hours to five. Such cuts would have caused the school to lose its accreditation, school officials have said.

Chorbagian said Monday she didn't have a chance to discuss with her daughter which school the child will attend. The daughter was vacationing in Florida with her grandmother.

Police officer Fred Cromic saw Howard's body about 7:10 a.m. Tuesday while on patrol in his police cruiser near an apartment complex in the 35000 block of Hunter, about 200 feet west of Wayne Road, said police Sgt. Lennis Hayes.

Cromie checked the body and found no signs of life. Fire rescue officers were called to the scene and confirmed the officer's findings, Hayes said.

any designers." He is, however, interested in and admires the ability of designers Thierry Mugler, Jean-Paul Gaultier and ssey Miyake...

Burneikas' brand name, Faceman, came from a nickname he acquired during his high school days when he was interested in acting and disguises. He liked altering his image for shock value, he said.

"One day in high school, I dyed my hair black, changed my complexion and wore a suit," Burnelkas said. "Everyone thought I was a substitute teacher."

Burneikas experienced a culture shock when he transferred from a strict Catholic grade school to a large public high school. During his first year there, he hid in the hallways and dressed like "the generic. American boy," he said.

"During my sophomore year, I started extroverting," said Burnel-

He assembled and modified clothing with bleaches and paints and began sewing. He wore his personalized attire to school and became known for it.

Burneikas is putting himself through school, and Faceman is paying the tuition. He seeks out business when he needs it, he said.

"I always have to balance business with school," Burneikas said. "I want to invest money in business but I invest it in my brain."

"The reason I'm at college now is basically because it's the trendy thing to do. That's why there are a lot of kids at college," said Burnel-kas. "At 18 years old, it's rude for society to ask a person what he wants to do for the rest of his life."

After he graduates, Burnelkas plans to pursue his fashion career full-force.

S'craft prof leads excavation

By Janice Brunson staff writer.

The shard of blackened stone discovered atop a Hat hill near a stream in Washtenaw County of fers clues to the past.

Alter a successful day of hunting some 5,000 years ago, a Native American hunter returned to the hilltop and prepared his game by roasting it in a stone oven dug deep into the earth.

The shard, one of thousands recently uncovered at the site, is part of the ancient roasting oven, according to Rick Zurel, a teacher of anthropology at Schoolcraft College in Livonia and Oakland Community College in Auburn

Since May, Zurel, his students and others have been excavating the hilltop, searching for clues to ancient man.

In addition to shards, they have also uncovered dozens of stone fragments from tools and spears, indicating a stone-age community? once flourished there during the Late Archaic era before man had discovered the bow and arrow or pottery.

"AT ONE TIME, everybody in the world lived this lifestyle," Zurel said of his hunter, adding the man might also have boiled game by heating a stone red hot and then dropping it into a bowl crafted from tree bark.

"There is always a sense of mystery in finding things that are very ancient, in being able to say that, right on this very spot 5,000 years ago, someone made a tool. Seeing a fiberglass or plastic replica is not the same thing."

Zurel first located the spot in 1968, during a drive in the coun. tryside while earning a degree in anthropology from Oakland University in Rochester Hills, After graduate studies in Georgia, digs in Missouri and New Mexico, and a brief career in banking, he has returned to the hilltop located in the center of a hayfield.

To provide hands-on experience in an outdoor classroom of sorts, Schoolcraft College has leased the field for use by students and others who are members of the Schoolcraft Anthropological Society.

Since May, they have gathered artifacts plowed to the surface by modern farmers and mapped distribution of the found objects in order to pinpoint areas called-"features."

Archeological features include areas once used to make or sharpen tools, cooking and habitation: areas and roasting or garbage pits, clues to life in an ancient stoneage community.

"There are definitely houses, but : they might be tricky to find,"

Zurel said, because all that remains to be found are "stains" from decayed poles that once served as house beams.

"IT GIVES ME a chance to do more than read," said Rich Richards of Plymouth, an historian whose primary interest in the project is new insight into the people who first inhabited America.

Zurel said that the people who. once inhabited the village were Native Americans but bear little resemblance to today's Indians.

Rita Brown, a Westland resident who for two years has been president of the Schoolcraft Anthropological Society, is most interested in cultural aspects the dig might uncover.

"My favorite study is their life style, how they married, foods they ate, that sort of thing." A new mother, she is unable to spend much time in the field. **

"It's interesting," said Cindy McGowen of Livonia, "to find something that old that's still. around." On her first trip to the hilltop last month, she discovered a stone spear head.

Carl Wall, a retiree from Plymouth, has helped Zurel map the finds, plotting their location on the hill for clues to potentially promising future excavation.

Eileen Scheff, an attorney representing the man who claims he is a Livonia teacher, commented:

"I think police were soliciting the activity and creating activity and this is another incident of the police promoting a clear anti-gay" agenda.

Scheff also represented defendants arrested last year at an Adrian rest stop. Adrian police dug out holes behind the rest stop and looked for homosexual activity for 21/2 months. Scheff appeared on the Phil Donahue show to talk about the Adrian case.

"They deliberately sat in mud to watch consenting men have sex, Scheff said. The sting "was deliberately designed to intimidate men and to create terror that gay sexuality wouldn't be tolerated in Adrian." Anti-gay remarks made by police and a judge, Scheff said, sparked a gay and lesbian rally of more than 200 people through Adrian.

First McGee Scholarship awarded

Franklin High School graduate, is the first recipient of the Marie McGee Memorial Scholarship.

West received the $1,000 scholarship last week from Steve Barnaby, managing editor of the Observer & . Eccentric Newspapers. West was a member of the school newspaper staff and baseball team while at Franklin.

WEST, 18, received three academic excellence awards from his school and was recipient of the school's 1990 journalism award. He also won first place in 1989 and second place in the 1990 sports writing contest. sponsored by the Great Lakes Interscholastic Press Association. He will study journalism at Wayne State University in the fall, hoping to become a sports writer or broadcaster. He is the son of Danny C. and Julie Daniel West, a recent Livonia M. West of Elmira Street in Livonia.

He was praised for his "easygoing, engaging manner" by Livonia Schools teacher Joseph LeBlanc, who taught West during his junior and senior years.

"Danny earns, his high grades without commotion or self-congratulation," Leblanc wrote, "He is inspiring evidence that there are superior students in our schools,"

West is also a 10-year member of the Boy Scouts of America.

In addition to his studies, hobbies and after-school jobs, West also served as a student intern at WJR-AM, Detroft.

The internship program is designed for self-motivated, highachieving Livonia Schools students. Students from throughout the district compete for internships. Selection is based on grades, standardized test scores, teacher recommendationWest displayed a "quick, comprehensive" grasp of assignments, according to WJR assistant news director Gene Fogel.

The scholarship honors the late Marie McGee, a former assistant managing editor for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. During her 23-year O&E career, McGee also served as a reporter, copy editor and Suburban Life editor.

In addition, McGee was committed to nurturing young journalists. As a reporter, she often wrote on the state of scholastic journalists. She also followed the progress of local student papers,

By Daniel West special writer

Student publications have been designed to inform and entertain fellow students. Informing the readers at controversial times can be eliminated by school administration. Michigan House Bill 4565, protecting First Amendment rights for students, recognizes that students are United States citizens, and have the same rights as professional journalists in providing information to the public.

The First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States guarantees freedom of the press to all citizens. The public has the right to be informed of the status and activites of the nation.

Student journalists, as well as professionals, are both entitled to be allowed to carry on their duties on assignments and other such tasks. As long as the facts supporting their story are clear and concrete, the story should be presented to the public

Providing there is no "yellow journalism" or defamation of one's character, no one individual has the right to eliminate another's First Amendment rights, Publications are created for entertainment and information of the readers and fellow students should be entitled to the same rights as the general public as far as being informed. The Constitution was adopted for all citizens, whether young or old, professional or amateur. Not only does limiting a student journalist cause a lack of informing their readers, it limits their experience on breaking controversial stories. It may also decrease their confidence in becoming a journalist when such incidents occur. If the facts are there, students, as well as professionals, should be allowed to use them to prepare for publication - whether it may bring a negative or positive response from the readers. If it is true and fair, then it should be published.

AN INDIVIDUAL in the public eye without interruption. has to be able to take criticism as well as compliments. However, journalists should be open-minded and consider positive information for publication as well as negative infor-

Digging up an incident that occurred a while ago and using it to defame someone's character, just to gain readers' or listeners' attention, is one negative aspect to freedom of the press.

There is nothing wrong with having an upbeat or positive front page story or lead story on the radio or television news.

The media can help as well as hinder society. If they can look for uplifting stories as well as the negative, there would not be as much controversy around the press.

When is it right for a school administrator to ban a story for publication? The school administrators should use their power in a more positive manner. Instead of removing a true, but controversial story, they should help the students. For example, if a journalist has some information, but not all of the facts to create a story, then the administration should intervene. Other than that, the student should have the right to publish any factual information, just as professionals do.

Realizing that students are inexperlenced when working as journalists, they still should be given the opportunity to cover any truthful story. Otherwise, how can journalists improve from generation to generation if they are banned from valuable experiences in high school and college.

Authority to students must understand that the First Amendment to the United States Constitution is there for all citizens in this country, not just those with a college degree.

New school promotes "more joyful" learning

By Janice Brunson staff writer

If six experienced teachers with a vision have their way, a new school providing an innovative educational experience will open its doors for the first time come September.

Playground improved for foster kids

· Foster children in a suburban social services agency's program have new playground equipment and picnic tables, thanks to a service club.

Members of the Dearborn Sunrise Rotary Club spent most of the past weekend installing playground equipment at the Youth Living Centers facility on Hively, south of Cherry Hill west " Middlebelt.

The community service streets represents $4,000 of time and materials.

The organization provides a vide range of foster parent, adoptive parent and protective services and programs for youngsters.

The agency last fall moved into a vacant Wayne-Westland elementary school and received donations to renovate it for programs and officwers in one of six courtyards and painted the side of the building facing the playground. .

Helping the club with the project was M.E.P. of Romulus, a construction firm which donated employees' labor and materials.

Y plans day camps

The Wayne-Westland Family YMCA, which also serves Garden City and Canton Township, is offering a summer day-camp program through Aug. 23.

There will be a different theme for each week, including a "back to the '50s" for this week and "Happy Birthday, America" for the 4th of July week.

"The Y Day of Adventure is more than an activity," said a Y spokeswoman. "It's a program designed to give children a new experience, develop new skills, make new friends and to make more aware of the wonders of nature."

Fees are $60 a week for Y members and $70 a week for program members with a 25 percent discount for the second child in a family.

For working parents, children may be dropped off at the Y activities building, 827 S. Wayne Road, Westland, as early as 6:30 a.m. and be picked up no later than 6:30 p.m. The camp program is held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

The program is for children from 6 to 12 with youngsters to be grouped together by age during the day camps.

The Y said camp fees must be paid one week in advance and there are no refunds for unused days.

Individual days are charged at the rate of $12 for Y members and $14 for program members.

-For youngsters between 13 to 16, the Y is offering a summer youth group program, which will have field trips, use of the Y's indoor swimming pool, sports groups and visitations to potential professional

"Reading on the Wild Side" is the theme for the Michigan summer reading program for 1991, which is a subject near and dear to my heart. Though the program incentives, available at your local library, are geared toward young people, that should not stop adults from reading about wild things too.

A well-written book is not only informative but can form lasting impressions in your mind, and it can often influence your future. Some big names in science were influenced by Ernest Thompson Seton's "Wild Animals I Have Known" when they were young. I still have two books I read when I was young that influenced my perspective about nature. They are Allan W. Eckert's "The Great Auk" and "Wild Season." In "The Great Auk," Eckert outlines a series of events in the life of a species of bird now extinct. Weaving facts into a thrilling story of the last days of the last individual of its kind, made the definition of extinct indelible on my

Even after reading "Wild Season" many years ago, I still remember the drawing depicting two bull snakes entwined in a courtship behavior. Just a few years ago I was walking through a field in northern Michigan when I came upon two blue racers entwined in a similiar manner. Immediately upon seeing them, the first thing that came to my mind was the book "Wild Season" I had read years earlier.

I would encourage your whole family to take advantage of "Reading on the Wild Side" this summer.

School tax base sharing moving forward in House

By Tim Richard 🔻 staff writer

Fighting a losing battle, suburban state representatives this week were asking voter approval of any plan forcing school districts to share their business property

"This should go to the voters. It's a more drastic change than even a graduated income tax," said Rep, Willis Bullard, R-High-

"This is radical. It's a major, major change," agreed Rep. Tom Power, R-Traverse City.

But Bullard and Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-West Bloomfield, wound up on the short end as the House Taxation Committee rejected the amendment to put tax base sharing on the ballot. Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, voted with the Democratic majority.

THE PANEL then voted Tuesday to report out the second of a pair of bills that would force mainly suburban districts to give half the growth of their commercial and industrial tax bases to poorer

Later that morning, the full House postponed consideration of the controversial bills, one of which is sponsored by Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City.

Dobb, a freshman lawmaker from a growth area in western Oakland County, offered the full House an amendment to send the shared taxes to school districts with the poorest people — not nec-essarily those with the lowest perpupil tax bases. Dobb's amendment was set aside as the House. turned to other measures.

The stated purpose of tax base sharing is to reduce the spending gap between the richest districts ($8,000 per pupil) and the poorest

THE PAIR of bills that probably will be passed today has several differences from a Senate-passed tax sharing plan tacked onto a school aid bill a week ago. Among

• The Senate plan offers a carrot to wealthier districts - restoration of the $72 million in state ald they used to get for "categorical" needs such as half of Social Security and special education. The House plan offers just partial restoration of that "recaptured" money - $1 in categoricals for every $2 iff business taxes lost.

• The Senate plan would take half the business tax growth from every district. The House plan would take only from out-of-formula school districts (the wealthiest 30 percent), allowing poorer districts to keep all their business tax growth.

• The Senate plan would spread the business tax growth on a per-pupil basis to all districts.

William Keilh

The House plan allocates the new money only to the in-formula districts (the bottom 70 percent).

KEITH, CHAIRMAN of the House Effication Committee, canceled a scheduled meeting Tuesday on a proposed constitutional amendment to require "equal opportunity" for education

The wording would allow poorer school districts to sue the state for more aid. Sponsor is Rep. Kirk Profit D-Ypsilanti.

Schools have duty as landlord

TNFORTUNATELY, the Livonia school district gave its critics more ammunition with its lack of initiative in identifying two 55-gallon drums containing possible toxic chemicals buried on a second school-owned property site on Ann Arbor Trail west of Merriman in Westland.

What's disturbing about the most recent incident is the lack of knowledge on the district's part about the existence of the possible contaminants on its own land.

The fact that administrators didn't even know a possible threat existed makes this latest incident more ominous than the Cooper School prob-

THE DISTRICT, which includes the northern section of Westland, acquired the 10 acres from the city in 1984 in exchange for land Westland wanted for a park.

This site, like Cooper, once was used as a landfill. Both barrels were found buried at the end of the site, with one corner of one of the containers sticking out of the ground.

The administration claims it had no idea the two barrels were on the site and never had been notified of their existence by the DNR or Wayne County Health Department which had taken soil tests. It is disburbing that the DNR or health dematter of concern that the district had not made the discovery on its own.

TWO CONCERNS are raised.

First, why did the district not inspect the site when it first acquired the property from Westland seven years ago? A walk-through of the site could have resulted in discovery of the barrels, if they were buried at the time the land was ac-

A reasonable person would closely inspect an asset before acquiring it, for several reasons. Sometimes perc tests are taken if there's an existing septic field or suspected leakage from a sanitary sewer. Soil tests would have been in line if it was known then by the district that the site had been used as a landfill. A walk-through should have been done.

A responsible landlord will regularly, at least annually, inspect property owned to make sure it is clean and safe.

Although its probable the two drums were buried when the land swap was made, it is possible the drums arrived afterwards, in which case they would not have been spotted in 1984. And that brings rise to the second concern.

Livonia Public Schools does own quite a bit of property and, like any landowner, has responsibility for what it owns and has a liability exposure at each site.

If a sidewalk is cracked, and a visitor falls, the district faces liability. If a broken bottle-is left on the playground and a student is badly cut, there's potential for damages. Now, given that some sites (not just Cooper) are former landfills, there is potential liability because of the presence of ₹oxic material.

Because of the potential liability, the district should periodically inspect the property-it owns. Sites currently used by students should be inspected at least monthly, if not weekly. Sites not partment did not notify the district but is also a used by students should be inspected at least once a year.

> The district has enough manpower and expertise to accomodate a standard which calls for a minimum of an annual inspection of every piece of property it owns.

> Understandably, society is more environmentally conscious than 10-15 years ago. But the latest incident involves property acquired six years ago. The district has a higher level of accountability for its non-handling and lack of knowledge of this lastest discovery.

> A review of policies and practices are in order. Livonia does not need any more surprises about its school sites. Let's pursue knowledge of what we own to make sure all'assets are protected and our land, soil and air is not threatened because of what we don't know.

Like the close relationship between a teacher and student working together, it's time for our legislators to come to terms with the real need for an innovative solution to funding education.

Hopes for better race relations flicker here

BEING NATIVE Detroiters, especially those of us who are proud of the distinction, we never quite get over the embarrassment of those from the outside who can't help but notice our Achilles' heal - segrega-

Recently a journalist friend of mine popped into town. Looking forward to seeing him, I was disappointed when he didn't show.

A note came about a week later. Of all things, he was researching a book on racism and poverty. Detroit was his model.

"I found myself overwhelmed with work once I got there (Detroit)," he said.

My heart sank. Yet another book on a problem with which we just can't seem to deal.

"I found Detroit to be . . . a place of great human feeling and surprising beauty amid the physical destruction. Fires have torched so many city blocks, but the flame of hope burns.

"I met committed Detroiters who are committed to helping people retool their lives and roll on to a better time. To these people and the grassroots programs that are rebuilding cities like Detroit my book is dedicated."

I thought about that letter this week after reading about the meeting between some concerned Birmingham business and civic leaders who sat down Thursday with officials from the NAACP, the Oakland surprising beauty amid the physical destruction. Fires have torched so many city blocks, but the flame of hope burns.'

County Center for Open Housing and the Birmingham-Bloomfield Task Force on Race Relations

Seeing a predominantly white suburb face this area's largest problem is, indeed, rare. Most suburbanites burn a lot of psychological fuel denying that any problem exists at all.

AND WHILE the Birmingham meeting may be just a flicker rather than a flame, it is at least a start. At any rate, it makes this cynic believe that my friend could be correct, that hope does, indeed, exist.

Many Birmingham residents look upon themselves as leaders and this past week they got their chance to do

Faced with a few highly publicized racial incidents in recent months, some folks in town decided it would be best to go public and clear the air. Hence the meeting.

"WE IMPARTED a sense that the city is open and willing to improve race relations," said Birmingham City Manager Thomas Markus.

"City fathers have to assume responsibility, just as I have to assume responsibility for what goes on in my house," countered NAACP board member Merell Weeden, who noted that dealing with the undercurrent of racism is just as important as dealing with the recent public incidents.

Not a flame, but a flicker. Now we need to see action from other suburban communities so the next time my friend comes to town he has more names to put in his

Education among top needs

SNT IT ALWAYS the way: We know what we want, but we don't know how to get it. Most everyone in Michigan believes all children should have access to the same set of sound, thorough educational opportunities.

It's simply a matter of fair play, we observe, that a student in Baldwin, one of Michigan's poorest school districts, be able to walk into class and receive the same instruction and encouragement as his counterpart sharing plan, already passed by the state Senate and now under consideration in the House,should be voted down. This plan takes us off. A THREE PART SERIES course by remixing the same set of halfway, half-hearted solutions that already, repeatedly, has failed the students of Michigan. The reason this plan will fail like the rest is because it embraces the continued dependence on property taxes as the primary means of funding public schools.

People are getting squeezed by tax rates multiplied by ever-inflating property values. The elderly, who by today's standards are synonymous with the term "fixed incomes;" find themselves in the uncomfortable position of supporting the ideal of a good education for all, at the. personal cost of a steadily decreasing standard of

In addition, our dependence on local property taxes to fund education promotes the very idea we want to eradicate: that education is some-? thing we provide for our own . . . and forget the other guy. It's part of why the children of doctors: and lawyers grow up to become doctors and lawyers while the children of the chronically unemployed grow up to become chronically unemployed.

THOSE ARE. IN FACT, the results we have achieved thus far by basing public school financing on property taxes.

We need, instead, to be innovative in our thinking, to try new things, now that we're positive the old solutions will provide inadequate support through this last decade of the century.

Residents should be willing to consider at least two other options for funding schools:

 a graduated income tax or; • a state sales tax increase to 6 percent, which would merely make Michigan competitive with the rest of the nation.

Neither are perfect solutions. Residents will complain that they moved to Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Livopia or Plymouth so their children would benefit from the schools, and through equalization of this sort, the advantage will be neutralized. That's true. Also true, though, is the fact that nothing would stop residents in wealthier districts from voting for additional funding, on top of the type of basics we're discussing here, for their school

A lot of new ground must be covered once we overcome the problem of property taxes. Let's revamp the system once, thoroughly and confidently, to alleviate the need to revisit school funding every time we turn around.

IT'S ALSO TIME to challenge our governmental system.

We must elect a government to respond to the electorate and serve, not duck and dodge, the needs of the people.

At the moment, the people need government to step in and propose solutions to a ton of budget problems, school funding not the least among them. Real solutions are needed, and it's up to the boys and girls in Lansing to provide them.

Next week we will examine the role jobs play in the solution.

Band is defended

In response to Kathie Carpenti's letter regarding the Wayne Memorial High School-marching band's attire and performance during the recent Memorial Day parade:

Carpenti has every right to be proud of the John Glenn High School marching band. I know them to be a talented group of young musicians. But how dar's you criticize the Wayne Memorial band as you did! You obviously are not aware of ail the other activities they have performed at during this past year. You also are obviously not aware of what adversities both schools' music departments have had to face this past school year. If you had been aware, you would realize that your commonts are totally out of line.

First of all, the T-shirt and shorts that you and your Wayne friends school year. do with the June 10 millage vote. Those were the summer uniforms that were designed for the Marching," Band Camp of August 1990! The "U millage defeats of last year - forcing the establishment of the pay-toplay policies, forcing the layoff of tal instructors this school district has ever seen and forcing the chopping in half of the band — WMHS was going to still have the best marching band possible.

Another reason for wearing the summer uniform during the Memorial Day parade is that 95-degree heat with an 85-percent humidity factor tends to lead to dehydration and heat exhaustion in a very short period of time. I'm sure none of the parade spectators were wearing wool jackets and slacks. The Wayne. Memorial Band Boosters and the marching band director thought it more prudent to keep our musicians healthy and comfortable in this extreme weather.

Now to address the portion of your. letter that infurlated me the most as a Wayne Memorial band parent. You have the nerve to question the enthusiasm and school spirit of these young people based on only one performance. In total, this same Wayne marching band has performed in over 15 activities during the 1990-91.

14 other appearances. Ms. Carpenti, during these difficult times in our school district, we as Wayne-Westland citizens and parents need to stop the constant comparison and criticism of WMHS vs. JGHS activities. A friendly "crosstown school rivalry" is healthy, but out and out criticism is not. We need to combine our efforts and offer praise to all the young people of these schools for any extracurricular activities they participate in They are getting enough adverse messages through cutbacks in school functions, teacher layoffs and the embarrassingly poor attendance by the Wayne-Westland citizens at band and orchestra concerts, post-football game shows, etc.

A.J.'s topples All-American

staff writer ~

Curtis Richards and Al White are teammates when competing nationally for their Miami-based modified fast-pitch softball team.

The opposite is the case when it comes to backyard rivalries such as the one played out Monday night at Ford Field in Livonia where two of the nation's top pitchers faced each other in a key men's modified league contest.

Richards tossed a one-hitter and outdueled his mentor, White, as Plymouth-based AJ's Lounge defeated All-American Sports Center of Farmington Hills 5-2. The winner kept pace with co-leader Primo's Pizza, both with 8-0 records, while All-American slipped to 6.2.

"Al White was basically my teacher," Richards said. "He taught me how to pitch and how to throw different pitches.

"I respect him for that, but when we're on the field I'm looking for a victory as much as him. You have two national pitchers going at it and, fortunately, our team came out on top."

JIM DILLON had the only hit off Richards, driving in a run in the fourth inning when All-American scored twice to take a 2-1 lead.

Richards was pitching a perfect game through three innings when Brian Tiller led off the fourth byreaching base with the help of an infield error. He went to third on two wild pitches and scored on Dillon's hit, and Dillon gave All-American the lead when Ron Wandzel was safe on a strikeout/wild pitch.

Richards allowed only two other baserunners, retiring the side in order in the fifth and sixth innings before giving up a lead-off walk in the seventh, which was followed by a fielder's choice.

"Curty is the best pitcher that we'll see around here," All-American player/coach Dave Brubaker said. "He's played with us (previously when the team was FGS Radiator and Pat Boyle Chevrolet), and we know how he throws. He's a good pitcher."

AJ's managed to get seven hits off White, the dean of modified pitchers in the metro area and possibly the country.

"The important thing is knowing we're facing Al White," AJ's player/coach Tom See said. "You can see it in the attitude of the guys. Everyone bears down a little more and gets more intense.

"SOME TIMES people wonder why 35- and 36-year-old guys put on a uniform and come out here. It's the challenge (of facing a pitcher like White). I've played 20 years but some guys who've played 6-7 years don't know what he could do in his prime. Al was the dominant pitcher in the nation."

After scoring first on See's RBIsingle in the fourth, AJ's regained the lead with two runs in the sixth. Tim McCrohan singled and scored from first on Jeff Keifer's double, and Keifer, the only player with an Brian Dinsmore's hit.

AJ's added insurance runs in the top of the seventh. Following a

Livonia Churchill post goes to Don Albertson

By Brad Emons staff writer -

Don Albertson has been named to replace the retiring Larry Joiner as Livonia Churchill High's new athletic director.

The announcement was made official Tuesday by Churchill principal Rod Hosman.

Albertson becomes only the school's second A.D., succeeding Joiner, who spent the past 22 years on the job.

"I had a chance to work with Don this past year, as our senior class' sponsor, and he impressed me with his organizational ability," Hosman said. "He helped coordinate our commencement exercises and senior prom, but beyond that I felt he had a lot of enthusiasm working with young people and was very posi-

Albertson was one of three candidates interviewed last week by a committee of five, which included Hosman; assistant principals J. Kenneth Bourgon, Larry Ruzsas and Jack Bauman; along with Livonia Public Schools' Health and Physical Education Coordinator Fred Price.

"I'M HAPPY the principal and the committee at the school thought enough of me that I could handle the job," Albertson said. "I felt very positive when I went in.

"The first thing they (the committee) asked me 'Why do you want the ob?' And I said, 'When opportunity knocks, you've got to answer the

Rising son dreams about U.S. college

staff writer

The Americanization of Makoto Iwata apparently is not over.

Originally scheduled to return home on June 10, the Lutheran High Westland pitcher, via Saitama, Japan, has been granted an extended stay, scheduled to be on the mound Tuesday at Tiger Stadium for the 10th annual Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association East-West All-Star Game.

The right-hapder is one of four Observerland players who have Been chosen to play for the East squad. The others include catcher Scott Niemiec of state Class A champion Plymouth Salem; Detroit Tiger draftee Scott Kennedy, a pitcher from Plymouth Canton; and Farmington Harrison outfielder Gary Devine.

Iwata's parents, Kazuyoshi (his are flying to the U.S. for the first time (on Saturday) to see their son pitch.

"Everything will make me nervous," admitted the 19-year-old Iwata, who came to live with the Cooper family of Westland in April of 1990. "I think a lot about it."

High Westland have already returned to their homeland, Iwata remains here, determined in pursuit, of going to an American university (with aspirations of continuing his baseball career).

"I WILL BE disappointed if I" cannot stay here and play baseball for some college," Iwata said. "If I can pitch (Tuesday), I hope somebody will watch. I'd like to go to Eastern Michigan. They have a good baseball team."

Iwata is an unknown quantity among college coaches and scouts. Perhaps many are suspect of the Class C competition Lutheran Westland plays against each

But Iwata's statistics alone may raise a few eyebrows.

As a senior, the 5-foot-11, 152pounder went, 7-2 with a 1.13 earned run average. In 62 innings he fanned 90 batters, while walking only 10.

baseball

He also Red the Warriors in hitting, a .422 average (27 for 64) with 20 RBI and seven extra base hits.

The All-Michigan Independent Athletic Conferenc pick also played first and third base when he was not on the mound.

"Makoto is a very good allaround player," Lutheran Westland coach Marty Moro said. "He's a very good fielder and picks up things very quickly. I'd say he throws around the low 80s (MPH)." His baseball talents, however, are not the biggest obstacle. There is a language barrier.

. Iwata did not speak a word of English when he arrived at the Jim father) and Shigeko (his mother), and Ann Cooper's doorstep nearly 15 months ago. (Sue Kamin, -a friend of the Coopers from Christ the Good Shepherd Lutheran in Canton, made the referral.)

BEATING the TOEFL Test, an English exam which could gain him admittance into a school such While several other Japaneese as EMU, is his most immediate exchange students from Lutheran · challenge. He is 90 points shy from a passing grade.

The test is very difficult, even for me," Ann Cooper says.

By becoming fluent in English,

Makoto iwata all-star pitcher.

Iwata believes it will open a lot of doors for him in Japan and abroad.

"I'd like to work some day for a company as an interpretor," he said. "That's why I'd like to go to college here in the U.S."

"He's come along quite a bit," Ann Cooper says. "He's just a great kid. No matter what I ask, he does. And I thought the Japaneese had no sense of humor, but every day we laugh about something." & & L.

Although he struggles with English, Iwata makes it clear about his passions for MTV, mashed potatoes, barbecue chicken, pizza, Michael Jordan, the Pistons, chocolate, his catcher and teammate Jason Zielinski, not to mention the. kidding he takes from his adopted Yamily, which also includes Melissa, a junior at Westland Glenn, and Jeffrey, an '89 Glenn grad.

IWATA'S HOMETOWN, Saltama, is a 11/2-hour ride (by train) from Tokyo_

His father, who owns two clothing stores and a gift shop (where his 22-year-old brother Yutaka is employed), is a former baseball

But frustrated by the regimented, disciplinary baseball traditions of the Japaneese, Iwata's father suggested his son try the sport in the U.S.

"We do a lot of running," said Makoto, who was recruited to play high school baseball in Japan. "We weren't very good and it was too serious with the coach.

"When we're working here-wehave fun. We do a lot of different things, not just one thing. I like it."

Iwata's favorite professional team in Japan is the Tokyo Giants, where Americans Warren Cromartie, now with the Kansas City Royals, and Bill Gullickson (ace of the Tigers' pitching staff) once played.

Makoto's favorite American players are former University of Michigan star Jim Abbott (now with California), Rickey Henderson and Jose Canseco (both of the Oakland A's). · And on Tuesday, Iwata and Ab-Livonta Clarenceville High prodmere as Caesars outslugged Hines for Hines Park. Park in the opener of a twin bill at Ford Field, 11-7.

Jeff Bates, Jeff Miller and Adam Havey each contributed two hits for Caesars, which scored six times in the third inning and five more in the fourth to erase a 3-0 deficit.

Bates, a catcher from Grand Valley State, knocked in three runs. Third baseman Mark Stokes collected three hits for Hines Park. Eric Stanczak, the University of Detroit Mercy right-hander, worked 635 innings to pick up the win. He needed relief help in the seventh from Livonian Bill Bannon (Western Michigan University). Brian Paupore (Canton High and Hillsdale College) suffered the loss.

In the second game, Lou McKaig (Madonna College) scattered seven hits over seven innings to lead Caesars to a 4-1 win. McKaig struck out six and walked five.

Keith Bozyk (Redford CC High and

Friday at Ford Field, Bates (Grand Valley State) pitched a seven-hitter over seven innings to lift Caesars past second place Walter's Appliance, 8-3.

Earl Johnson, Miller and Roy each collected two hits for the winners, while Kevin Croclata reached base safely four times.

Shortstop Mark Hribar went 3-for-3 for Walter's.

The losing pitcher was starter Chad Wrona, who worked the first 51/2 Innings.

WALTER'S 6-1, DELWAL 4-2: In a battle for second place, Walter's and Delwal of Brighton split a double-header. In the opener, Craig Overaitis (Franklin High and Henry Ford CC) clubbed the game-winning homer in the top of the sixth to lift Walter's to a 6-4 triumph. Hribar and Jason Gabel (Churchill High and Central Michigan) each added two hits. Gabel, a first baseman, knocked Mark Dube smacked a solo homer for Delwal, while shortstop Ron Hollis collected two hits.

Winning pitcher Mike Coleman went the distance for Walter's, scattering five hits and four walks.

Lefty Leo Hutchinson (Redford, CC High and Eastern Michigan), went six innings. He suffered the loss.

In the second game, Erle-Sumpter (Michigan State) walked with the bases loaded in the bottom of the eighth to give Delwal a 2-1 victory.

Steve Money (MSU) tripled off reliever Bob Bullach to open the inning. Walter's manager Mike Keller then walked the next two Delwal batters intentionally to set up a force.

But the strategy backfired when Bullach forced home the game-winner.

Walter's tied the game at 1-1 in the top of the seventh when Overaltis singled, went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Jerry Koester and scored when pinch-hilter Chris White's smash to short could not be

• CLINIC NETS 80

The "Say Yes to Tennis, No to Drugs" clinic on Saturday, June 15 at the Livonia Family Y attracted 80 participants, according to Ben Tasich of Racquets Unlimited.

"It was a wonderful chance for kids to play tennis and talk about a problem that plagues our society, it was a huge success," said Tasich, who helped sponsor the event along with New Balance Shoes.

The clinic featured pros Jennifer Reault, Jud and Jack Kingsbury, and Phyllis Nelson of the Livonia Y, along with speakers Chris Heaton (a counselor) and Joseph Damiani (a certified psychologist).

HOBELS WIN 1ST

Mark Salah's seventh-inning triple, scoring Steve Zimbalatti, gave the Hobels their first victory in the Wyandotte Class' A Baseball League, a 7-6 triumph last week over the Frazee Baseball Club at Wyandotte Memorial Field.

Salah, a Redford St. Agatha graduate, also clubbed a three-run homer in the first inning and added a double. Zimbalatti (Redford Union grad) contributed three hits, including a pair of doubles. Jim Carter also collected two hits for the Hobels, now 1-9 overall. Winning pitcher Larry Williams scattered six hits over seven innings.

He fanned 10 and walked four. On Monday, the Hobels were drilled by Rhythm and Blues, 10-3, despite a 3-for-4 effort by Zimbalatti (he had two doubles). Salah added two hits, including a homer and Tom Berry hit safely twice.

Pat McAfren, the losing pitcher, gave up eight hits and walked four over six innings. He struck out sev-

GC's Hanosh ends coaching career

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

George Hanosh, the recently retired Garden City High School tennis coach, said he won't really feel like an era has ended until the fall.

"The only way I'll know is when September rolls around, I won't be coaching the girls three : weeks before Labor Day," Hanosh said. "That's kind of tough to put aside all of a sudden.'

Hanosh, who will turn 62 on Dec. 11, retired as both a coach and teacher at the end of this past school year. He was the boys and girls tennis coach at Garden City West and Garden City High Schools since 1962, and also served as a swimming coach for 20 years.

A science instructor, Hanosh's tennis teams won nine league championships at Garden City West. Hanosh's coaching career began in at Garden City High and he moved to West in 1964, where he stayed until the school closed in 1982,

He has been coaching tennis and teaching science at Garden City High, the school which merged East and West, since 1982. Bill Pinnell, the outgoing athletic director at Garden City, said Hanosh's teams won 366 tennis matches.

"I would say he was always very stern with the athletes, but all really enjoyed him. He was always trying to teach proper technique. He was very meticulus, and drilled kids, whether in the classroom or on the court."

A Detroit native, Hanosh graduated front Cooley High School and earned an undergraduate degree in science from North Central College (Illinois). He received a master's degree in science from Eastern Michigan University.

He played a year of basketball at North Central before realizing "that wasn't my sport and I ended up being a diver on the swimming team." Hanosh captained the North Central swimming team and also played tennis at the school. Upon graduation, Hanosh taught science for 361/2 years, beginning with a stint in Livonia at Cooper Elementary and Emerson Junior High.

HANOSH SAID he is doing his best to make it a smooth transition period for the new coach, Mike Zimbrowski, and the Garden City players. Despite his retired status, Hanosh has been a frequent visitor to the Garden City clinics, now run by Zimbrowski.

"With the kids I've had, you don't just turn your back and walk away on them," Hanosh said. "I (already) miss the kids. When you teach somebody and can watch them serve and hit, that's enjoyment. It's a big thrill to watch them perform what you've taught them.

"I enjoyed working with kids and enjoyed seeing the results after patience, fortitude and many, hours of teaching, teaching, coaching, coaching. It all pays off in the end. Today some are doctors, psychologists, lawyers, all kinds of people in successful fields."

One of Hanosh's best-known tennis players, Rick Gwizdz, was a Class A regional champion at West and entered the state tournament seeded No. 1 in the late 1970s. The most memorable team Hanosh had, he said, came in 1982 when West wordeague and regional championships and qualified all its players for the state meet.

Unfortunately, the state meet wasn't that memorable, for reasons Hanosh had no control

"THE NIGHT BEFORE the tournament we had the senior prom and all our seniors had prior dates," Hanosh recalled. "They were out until 4:30 (a m.) and I picked them up in the McDonald's parking lot and drove them to Kalamazoo in a van. We got there to the championship just in time to get our fannies whipped. They were too handicapped to be effective, and that "We had good depth and strength (during the regular season and up until the regional), one through 10. They did a great job and shocked a lot of people."

Hanosh and his wife Barbara raised two children, Ted and Barbara, who are in their early 20s. Hanosh said he and his wife aren't sure what retiremut has in store for them.

The first year we're going to keep a quiet pro-Tile and see how things go before making definite plans," Hanosh said.

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Mike Stefanski, a recent Milwaukee Brewers draft pick, brought some impressive credentials with him to the club's rookie team in Phoenix, Arlz.

As a senior last spring at the University of Detroit-Mercy, Stefanski hit 332 with 40 RBI and six home runs, and earned first-team All-Midwestern Collegiate League honors. He led-the Titans with nine gamewinning hits and 14 doubles, and fin-Ished with a .511 slugging percent-

About the only way Stefanski could have been more prepared for professional ball was to learn the Korean language. You see, one of his roommates is Young Min Ma, a recent drafted player from Los Angeles, who barely speaks English.

"It's actually more comical (talking to him) than it is hard to communicate," said Stefanski, a 1987 Redford Union graduate who was drafted in the 40th round of the June draft. by the Brewers. "He's a funny guy." He understands swear words, so we get along great."

STEFANSKI HAS been getting along great on the field as well with the Brewers' Peoria team, located about 15 minutes outside Phoenix. Peoria is 2-0 after beating the California Angels' farm team, 8-7, in Sunday's season opener and earning a 4-2 win Monday over the St. Louis Cardinals rookie team.

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound catcher was 2-for-5 in his professional debut Sunday and followed Monday by stroking a single in a pinch-hitting Stefanski, one of several catchers drafted by the Brewers, could have been optioned to the team's other rookie team in Helena, Mont., but he's pleased to be in Peoria where he's expected to get more playing time. There is one other catcher on the Peoria roster, he said.

"They said there was a good possibility to move up fast because they need catching," Stefanski said. They said, Come down and work your ass off,' to coin a phrase. We have two rookie league teams and they said I'll get more playing time here and it's better to get that than sitting on the bench.

"My goal is to just play hard every day and work my tail off this year, all.

and see what they'll do with me next

LARRY KELLER, the Brewers scout in charge of Michigan, Indiana and Ohio, said Stefanski's defensive tools and throwing arm impressed him the most. As a senior at U-D-Mercy, Stefanski threw out 29 of 91 baserunners attempting to steal

"I liked his ability of catching and throwing, that's probably the thing that made him stand out," Keller said. "He's also got a lean body and he hit pretty good in college."

As for hitting at the professional level, Stefanski has to use a wooden · bat, instead of the aluminum ones he's accustomed to. Stefanski has been surprised how easy the adjustment has been so far, with help from coach Wayne Krenchicki, a former major leaguer, and other instructors.

"A bat is a bat," he said. "You've got to hit it sweet anywhere you go. When you hit it sweet and don't feel a sting in your hands, the ball goes farther than aluminum bats.

"But with wooden bats it varies from day to day. One day, you're hitting solid and think you've got it, and the next day you can't find the sweet spot. But I like wooden bats better because they make you concentrate

BECAUSE OF THE warm Phoenix sun, the Brewers get up about 5:30 a.m. every game day and play their games at 10 a.m., before the temperature reaches the 100 degree level.

Since he was selected in the lower rounds, Stefanski said he signed for a modest bonus and he makes $850 a month with the Brewers. Stefanski spends his free time relaxing or laying out by the pool of the apartment complex the team stays at.

It beats college life, he said, when he had to balance a class schedule

'If Let an injury or run into trouble, I'm going back to school," said Stefanski, who is about a year shy of his degree in math. "But as far as playing ball and going to school at the same time, I didn't like that at

All-Star berths Glenn's Prey lands spot on East squad

Once again, the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association All-Star football game will have distinct Observerland flavor.

Five All-Observer players and one area coach have been selected to participate on the East squad in the 11th annual, classic, set for Saturday, Aug. 3, at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing.

Bishop Borgess to a 6-3 record, a Catholic League Tri-Sectional co-title and a berth in the Prep Bowl, will coach the East All Stars.

Among the players invited to participate on the East squad:

• Karl Wukle, Plymouth Canton: The 6-foot1, 175-pound quarterback led the Chiefs to their first-ever state playoff berth and a 9-2 record. He paced Canton with 2,600 yards total offense. Wukie is headed to Western Michigan University as a preferred walk-on.

• Anthony Hood, Bishop Borgess: The 6-foot, 205-pound running back, bound for Northwestern University of the Big Ten, gained 1,172 yards last season for the Spartans.

football

· Blazo Sarcevich, Farmington Harrison: The Walt Bazylewicz, who at age 67 led Redford 6-1, 225-pound linebacker, bound for the University of Hawaii, played both ways (also a tight end) for the 11-1 Hawks, who reached the state Class BB playoffs before losing to Oxford.

> • Tony Prey, Westland Glenn: The 6-1, 227pound center helped the 8-2 Rockets capture the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activities and gain a berth in the Class AA playaffs. He is headed for Kalamazoo College.

> • Rob Sylvester, Redford CC: Member of the state AA champions, the 6-3, 235-pound offensive guard is bound for Hillsdale College. Sylvester was also a fifth place finisher in the state Class A wrestling tourney and recently received CC's Whelan Award, given to the school's outstanding scholar-athlete (3.64 grade point average).

THE EAST SQUAD, which leads the series 6-4, also features the state's top-ranked player; Dearborn Heights Robichaud all-purpose back Tyrone Wheatley. He is headed for the University of Michigan.

Other top names on the East team include Shannon McLean of Detroit DePortes, Herbert Gibson of Detroit King, Aaron Hayden of Detroit Mumford and Duane Goldbourne of Detroit Northern.

Among the Eccentric area players selected to play for the East squad: linebacker/end Jason, Penzak of Class A champion Birmingham Brother Rice; defensive back Marvin Reynolds of Southfield; fullback Dedrick Johnson of Auburn Hills Avondale; fullback Jason Wallace of Birmingham-Detroit Country Day; linebacker/end Jason Scott of Troy; and wide receiver Marvin Falls of Southfield-Lathrup.

The West team, coached by Negaunee's Mike Mileski, is led by running back Howard Triplett of Lansing Sexton, quarterback Jay Riemersma of Zeeland and lineman Rob Vanderleest of Muskegon Catholic Central.

Tickets for the 1:30 p.m. start are $5.

Thomas makes grade, off to EMU

By Steve Kowalski

staff writer

Mike Thomas, Redford Catholic Central's outstanding two-way back, has accepted a full-ride football scholarship to Eastern Michigan Univer-

Now all he needs is someone to give him a ride to Ypsilanti so he can sign the binding national letter of intent.

Thomas, who helped lead CC to the Class AA state championship last fall, wasn't sure his 1982 Buick Regal could make the trip this week, so Eastern coach Jim Harkema has had to wait a little longer to sign his prized recruit. Because the football recruiting season has long been over, players must either show up on campus to sign the letter — or mail it.

Thomas might be better off using the postal

"My fuel pump is leaking badly — oil and gas," said Thomas late Tuesday night. "My car has a good body on it and gets me here and there, but I Sometime this week I'll get there - maybe by ter his improved core curriculum GPA. Greyhound. (Eastern) Coach (Greg) Satanski said Express."

The recruiting experience has been an adventure from beginning to end for Thomas. Because of his size (6-foot-1, 190 pounds) and speed (40 yard dash in 4.5 seconds), Thomas attracted several major colleges early, but his grade point average wasn't nearly as attractive.

THOMAS SCORED an 18 on his ACT test (which enables him to play as a freshman), but heading into his final high school semester, did not have at least a 2.0 GPA in his core curriculum classes to qualify at most schools.

Thomas said he earned a 2.5 GPA in his final semester to raise his core curriculum average to 2.1. Eastern's admissions office then accepted Thomas, and Harkema offered him his last remaining scholarship, giving the Eagles (formerly the Hurons) 25 players in their 1991 recruiting

"It's been a real unique and hectic recruiting season for me," Thomas said. "It's really been an experience, a valuable experience. I've learned my lesson. It was just a matter of time management - I wasn't really focused on my school

"I believe the Lord is leading me in the right direction and I thank God for the opportunity. It couldn't have been there at all, so it's a blessing they did offer me a scholarship. A wonderful blessing."

THOMAS GAINED 556 yards on only 111 carries as a tailback last fall, but will probably end up playing in the defensive secondary in college. He_was an All-Observer first-team defensive back, recording 46 tackles, recovering a fumble and making two interceptions.

"I think my offensive days are over," he said. "I like to hit instead of getting hit."

Thomas regrets not having a chance to play for U-M, but looks forward to suiting up for EMU, which struggled in 1990 with a 2-9 overall record. Eastern last won a Mid-American Conference Thomas said if he had to start high school over, _ championship, and the California Raisin Bowl, in

Career switch helps pursue dream

By Mary Jane Doerr special writer

HIRTY-THREE-year-old Keith Koster is a retiree. For 15 years, he worked the line at General Motors. building trucks and dreaming of a music career. He kept working, going to night school to earn two music degrees, an undergraduate and graduate degree. He then finished a second master's degree in business.

When GM offered him the incentive for early retirement, he took it.

"I am still not where I want to be financially, but I am so much happier," said Koster, who now teaches music at St. Mary's Prep School and College in Orchard Lake and is the director of music at the Utica United Methodist Church.

"I did not think I would like teaching high school but the kids are

FOR THE LAST two years Koster has pursued another dream. He is cofounder and musical director of the Great Lakes Men's Chorus, a local chamber ensemble that is, for the first time, venturing into vocal jaszin a concert at 8 p.m. Friday at Cranbrook House, 380 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. Tickets at $10 are available at the door.

Joining the 12 member ensemble is the Wayne State University Vocal. Jazz Ensemble, which is making its final appearance in this area before appearing in Switzerland at the Montreux Jazz Festival.

"This has been a real challenge for me," said Michael Moore of Redford, co-founder of the Great Lakes Men's Chorus. Moore is a classically trained baritone with a music degree from Eastern Michigan University who teaches music in Plymouth.

"The chords are very close together in vocal jazz, and it is sometimes harder to hear the changes," said Moore. "I have gained so much respect for Cole Porter's music."

Koster has planned a medley of Porter's music - "Night and Day," "Don't Fence Me In" and "After You" - to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the American composer's birth in 1891 in Peru, Ind. Also from the 1920s-'30s era, he has programmed a medley of Duke. Ellington tunes including "Hit Me with a Hot Note" and Rodgers and Hart's "Little Boy Blue." From the vocal group Manhattan Transfer he has taken "Route 66" and "Java Jive." A jazzed-up version of "Over the Rainbow" will precede a combined arrangement from "American Bandstand" called "Bandstand Bogie." The Wayne State ensemble is

Antifreeze lives, but Germans can't stand dead fish

Americans buy 200 million gallons Wyandotte, which makes Zerex cooof antifreeze every year. Actually, the proper technical term is "coolant," since a considerable portion of the stuff ends up in cars in the sun-

Practically all of it is ethylene glycol, a chemical that has the happy property of remaining liquid at about 60 degrees below zero when mixed 40 percent with water. Prestone and Zerex are the two most popular brand names, together accounting for about 80 percent of coolant sold.

ALL THIS is the kind of thing I was learning at "antifreeze universilant. In fact, it was a thinly disguised sales pitch for Zerex-brand coolant. Regardless, I was fascinated.

As it turns out, the ethylene glycol people, who normally would have a stable market until global warming gets really serious, are being threatence by a new chemical called propylene glycol - a near cousin, chemically, which has slightly different properties.

One is that it has a higher boiling point, which is of interest to engineers. The other is that it is less toxic, which is of interest to pet owners.

FOR SOME reason, common antity" in Wyandotte, home of BASF freeze is tasty to dogs and cats, and they tend to lap the stuff up if it is left untended when you change your antifreeze (some 40 percent of American adults change their own, in case you wondered - the most popular do-it-yourself car opera-

According to the BASF people, antifreeze is a relatively benign substance. It biodegrades relatively quickly, and in fact can be recycled, although no auto company approves of using recycled antifreeze in its

In fact, ethylene glycol lives pretty much forever in a car's cooling system. The reason you have to change it every couple of years or so is that it is full of other chemicals that prevent corrosion in the car's cooling system and engine block. These wear out, and old coolant can

AND AS if dogs eating the stuff. weren't enough to worry about, there is the dead fish and the Mercedes.

It turns out that a good corrosion additive - tolyltriazole, if someone asks - smells a bit like dead fish. This upset the high-line German" companies, mainly BMW and Mercedes, who were concerned that a leaky heater would turn their cars into something that would attract

This is one reason why you get a special, BMW antifreeze without tolyltriazole at the dealer, if you know what's good for you.

"This basically says we value (our employees' children)," O'Connor' said. "I can't imagine saying a better thing than that."

Steven Faine, administrator for . professional and support services at Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills, agrees.

Botsford began offering on-site child care four years ago when it built a separate child care building at the hospital. "We think its one of best in the state," Faine said.

Since the facility was built with child care in mind, it was designed to include special safety features and features built to accommodate small children.

THE FACILITY is staffed by 15 employees and cares for 50 children at a time. Botsford pays for 25 percent of child care costs.

"There's been a lot of talk about on site child care, but they talk about. it and talk about it. Frankly, I can't understand the reticence," Faine

Hospitals were some of the first companies to recognize the need for - 0 () & Classificals Work! child care assistance, but it is sur-something to help their employees, up the slack.

"We still get calls all the time from hospitals interested in our program," he said.

"In health care, our work force is very finite," he said. Furthermore, a vast majority of the health care work-force employed in the hospital are women of child-bearing age. Men who work in the hospital also use the child care center, he added. Faine said there are several adyantages to on-site day care. An obvious advantage is that the hospital subsidizes the cost, but another big advantage is parents can visit their children on breaks and during lunch.

"I can't tell you how much this has done for morale — we even get a lot of positive comments from employees without children," he said. Working is a burden not only for the parent, but for the parent's coworkers as well, he explained. A worried parent is more likely to be a burden to the workplace, he ex-prising how few hospitals are doing plained, and co-workers have to pick

An unexpected benefit, he continued, is the effect children have on the hospital campus. "I think it's good for everyone to see what real life is like - patients and employees get refreshed when they see the young children."

But the key reason the program was initiated, Faine said, was to retain and attract employees.

Morale has greatly improved at the hospital since the child care center started, and that improved morale has resulted in a slow turnover of employees.

Hospitals, Faine said, traditionally have a very high turnover. 💉

"We've had people come and say they'll work here if they're guaranteed a spot in the center and we've had people say I wanted to leave, but won't because I don't want to take my kid out (of the center)."

agon has indicated it will interview existing Charley's employees for employment, he said.

If all transpires as planned, Sikorski said, Paragon will buy and convert East Side Charley's in Harper Woods, Fairlane Charley's in Dearborn, Meriwether's in Southleld, and Livonia Charley's.

The four remaining restaurants — Charley's in Toledo, Bloomfield Charley's, Northville Charley's and Clamdiggers in Farmington Hills, would be reacquired by the C.A. Muer Corp.

Sikorski said the plan - if approved - would free Charley's Restaurants Inc. from all debt. The corporation owes suppliers, banks and the C.A. Muer.

Sikorski said he doesn't regret his foray into the restaurant business, but if he could change one thing, he would not leverage himself so deep-

Inc. first went into bankruptcy, he launched a chain-wide effort to refocus its customer base, improve facilities and change its menu. "It had a positive effect, but we were really behind the eight ball on the bank debt and the money owed to C.A. Muer."

Daniel Nye, vice president of operations for Paragon of Michigan, said last week that the sale of four restaurants - along with plans to open an additional three - will nearly double Mountain Jacks' presence in the this market.

Paragon of Michigan already operates 12 stores in Michigan, including Bloomfield Township, Farmington Hills, Troy and Southfield.

Nye said the four Charley's Paragon intends to convert to Mountain Jacks will employ about 400 roughly the same number now employed at Charley's restaurants.

Mitchell, communication specialist for the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, works mostly at home. Some people call it telecommuting, some call it family friendly policles," Mitchell said. "I call it the best of both worlds." When Mitchell discovered she was pregnant last year, she didn't know whether she would return to work after the birth or stay home and raise her daughter, now 9 months

"But as it got closer to the due date, I became more and more cer- care. tain that I wanted to stay home," she

Mitchell said she enjoys work, but if it came down to working and putting her daughter in child care, or staying home, she was going to stay

SEMCOG, however, didn't want to lose her. Just as any other employer , is beginning to discover, the work force is shrinking, and experienced people are getting harder to find.

"So I sat down with my boss and we discussed our options," Mitchell said. The result? Part time, working mostly at home, some weekends and a happily employed mother.

"IF EMPLOYERS want to keep qualified people, they are going to have to work harder," she said. "To me, this is saying they care about me not only as an employee, but they also care about my needs as a par-

But family-friendly policies are just one way businesses can help working parents make ends meet.

Child care assistance can be broken down into basically four categories - resource and -referral, which is becoming more common; family-friendly policies, like those enjoyed by Mitchell; financial policles ranging from subsidies to pretax deductions; and on-site child

Joseph J. O'Connor, president of Consumer Market Analysis in Birmingham, said employers have long been under the misconception that the only way they can help parents he said. with child care is to provide on-site

"They think it's an all or nothing issue — it -isn't," O'Connor said. There are many things that even small companies can do.

Consumer Market Analysis, which provides market analysis for private industry, employs eight workers, three of whom have money deducted from their weekly paychecks before taxes to pay for child care.

"We started it about three years ago and people have been very pleased," he said.

"IN THE SHORT-term, it seems like it's only a benefit for the employce," he said, "But in the longterm, it benefits everyone. The realbenefit is it pays off in employee productivity.

"We (as company executives) can't continue to run businesses without being open to child care issues," O'Connor said. Next to parents, businesses are the most affected by employees having children.

Parents may have to start later: because they have to drop children off, they may have to leave early to pick them up; take personal days when children are sick. If companies are unresponsive to these things, they aren't going to keep employees,

Restaurateur negotiates sale

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Word of a possible sale of the Charley's Restaurants, currently in bankruptcy, is premature.

Richard Sikorski, president of Charley's Restaurants Inc., said several parties have been talking — and yes. — there is a plan that would clear the corporation of all debt, but there are several hurdles that must be overcome. Charley's Restaurants Inc. filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy In November 1990.

Chuck Muer, principal owner of C.A. Muer Corp., said he couldn't discuss the particulars of the plan because any sale is contingent on the approval of the U.S. Bankrupley

In 1987, Muer sold seven Charley's

Restaurants in Bloomfield Town. it was buying four Charley's from Siship, Southfield, Livonia, Northville, Dearborn, Harper Woods and Toledo, plus Clamdiggers in Farmington Hills and Meriwether's in Southfield, to Charley's Restaurants Inc. in Farmington Hills.

"Everyone wants this to be wrapped up and done with, but we ean't say that," Muer said. Anyone who has ever had dealings with bankruptcy courts knows that until all the papers are signed, a plan is still just talk," he added.

Muer said announcing plans prematurely serves no productive purpose but does cause anxiety for employees,

Paragon of Michigan, which owns and operates 12 Mountain Jacks in the state, announced last week that

The remaining four Charley's according to Paragon vice president of operations Daniel Nye, would be reacquired by the C.A. Muer Corp.

A fifth Charley's - Uptown Charley's in Madison Heights — was sold

ANNOUNCEMENT OF a sale is premature because the sales must be approved by both the U.S. Bankruptcy Court -- which is responsible for all-creditors being paid - and the Liquor Control Commission - which must approve the transfer of liquor licenses, Sikorski said.

"(All seven) Charley's will remain open until a decision is made," Sikorski said. If the sale is approved, Par-

Business leaders wrestle with child care questions

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Who's watching the children? Sixty years ago, it was probably

Thirty years ago, it was probably

If it's a 90's kind of family, with mommies and daddles both working, it's probably some sort of day care arrangement.

Private sector day care providers have rushed to meet that increased need. But the problems presented by caring for the children of southeastern Michigan's work force have faroutstripped the private sector's ability to cope with the demand for day

Robert A. Davis, Child Day Care Delivery project director for the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, said business is going to have to be more involved in helping parents provide day care.

The Metropolitan Affairs Corporation is a coalition of business, labor and government leaders from Oakland, Wayne, and Macomb counties that analyzes regional problems, suggests options for public policy and stimulates civic action.

Changes in population and work force_have_created a dilemma for not only parents, but for business as well. Overall, there is a lack of information about what quality day care is, and a lack of clear guidelines for businesses seeking to offer assistance to parents with child day care problems, Davis said.

There is also a need to spell out the business benefits of child care.

"That's what we originally set out to do - convince the employers that child care does affect the bottom line," Davis said.

The benefits to business of child care are hard to quantify in dollars, Davis said, which is the first thing most decision makers want to know.

JUST BECAUSE they're difficult to quantify, however, doesn't mean there are no benefits.

'That's what we originally set out to do - convince the employers that child care does affect the bottom line.'

- Robert A. Davis

Ensuring that employees have adequate child care improves employce productivity and morale because child care concerns no longer interfere with the work day, Davis

Assisting in child care can also do wonders for a company's image. Companies that help parents find child care, or in some way assist in child care, are likely to develop a good image - and that image can help companies attract good quality workers.

There may not be an immediate gain for the business, but child care should be considered a long term goal, he said.

We ought to be positioning ourselves for the future."

But even those businesses interested in providing child care have no idea where to begin, Davis said.

The Metropolitan Affairs Corporation's answer to this most basic question is to publish a handbook for providing child care, scheduled for release later this month.

More than a year in the making, the child care guide will be distributed to personnel and human resources

Options on child care and accredited child care centers are only some of the information contained in the booklet, he said, More importantly, the guide will show business decision-makers why child care is important and how to go about starting some type of child care.

But providing day care and day care information is only part of the problem. Davis said a scarcity of quality care staff will be a great. problem in the next decade.

GAYLA HOUSER, Troy Chamber of Commerce president, said there is probably a great many more companies doing things that involve child care than the average person thinks. In a 1990 survey of its members, Houser said child care was one of the top five concerns of business leaders.

Businesses have begun to realize that an ever increasing number of families include two working parents and unless they can find quality day care they will not be able to concentrate on jobs, she said.

Child care, Houser said, will become an important benefit in the future. "I think we're only seeing the beginning of a trend.

"It doesn't take a genius to figure out that with less workers (overall) and more females in the work force, that the competition for employees will (necessitate) offering child care as a benefits' she said.

Nor does Houser think child care will be a difficult sell for today's decision makers.

When woman first started entering the work force, the business leaders and decision makers were from the old school - men went to work. women stayed at home and took care of the children.

Today, woman are not only more interested in pursuing a career, but they are almost required to do so.

"Today, decision makers are fathers (in two-income families) or they're grandfather's who see the problems their children have raising children."

So the issue of child care is not ashard to get across as it might have been once. Houser added there is still the question of what businesses can do

"Large companies have the resources (to look at the issue), but the small to mid-size companies have a problem," she said. "Too many people think child care is an all (on-site child care) or nothing issue."

Amid the swirling lights, organ music and screeches of kids, Carl Hazelwood has found serenity.

The 48-year-old former resident of Garden City winces against the glare of the setting June sun, looking out of the corner of his eye at passers-by on the midway. His skin is tanned, almost leathery. He clutches a small white piece of paper, listing his many tasks with Pugh Shows.

Hazelwood doesn't bother to consult the paper when discussing why he joined the carnival five years ago.

"It was a way to get away," said Hazelwood solemnly.

At the time, Hazelwood was going through a divorce from his wife of 25 years. He said he had seen what separations did to other people, leading some of them to drinking problems.

Hazelwood worked 13 years with Detroit Diesel as a foreman on the assembly line. He also taught math and science at Riley Middle School in Livonia for a year.

Something inside him yearned for a chance to escape the drudgery of everyday existence and emotional turmoil from his disintegrating family life. Nearby, the carnival happened to be in Canton Township. He applied for a job, hoping to get lost in the lights of the midway.

"THERE'S MORE of a freedom out here," said Hazelwood, who has four grown children. "Even though you are tied to an hourly job, you're

With Pugh Shows, Hazelwood shandles the transportation unit. He organizes the moving of the trucks through Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

But in the day-to-day operation of the carnival, Hazelwood serves in a do-it-all role. He inspects rides and makes repairs.

"He's a handy guy in a lot of ways...but some of the hats he wears are very important," said Jim Wegerly, vice-president of Pugh Shows, who sat in on the interview.

Traditionally, the carnival has a legend of being a haven for wayward souls. A place where malcontents could congregate, escape into a constantly moving world that only glimpses at the rest of society.

Traveling amusement parks have also been viewed as magnets for criminals; drifters and castoffs. But that's a Hollywood stereotype.

Yet the carnival has a romantic allure, a nomadic life illuminated with bright lights and carousels. They seem to live vicariously through the happiness of the outsiders who visit their world.

"IT'S LIKE an escape from reality." said Don Badami of Westland, who has worked with carnivals for 16 years. "It's like a world inside of a world; a city inside of a city." The 1977 graduate of Westland John Glenn started working the carnivals one summer when he was 16. Badami spent the summer on the road. He returned and worked a number of jobs around Westland. The recession hit in 1980 and with it went many jobs. The carnival, though, was always there.

"It sort of grows on-you,": Badami said. "Once it's in your blood, it's hard to get out."

Badami is a supervisor with Pugh Shows. He stands with his arms folded, carefully watching the midway on this night at the Garden City Festival. He reveals a wariness of outsiders, something inherent to those on the midway. Part of the reason-is the rash of negative publicity carnival outfits have received.

Two amusement workers were found dead in Detroit after being overcome with fumes while sleeping in a cabin of a truck. Even a member of Pugh Shows was fatally crushed by a truck in May during a stay in Garden City.

ACCORDING TO Hazelwood and Badami, a lot of the trouble is brought on by carnival companies who don't take care of their employees — carnival workers having to sleep under semi trucks, not having proper shower facilities and, in some cases, not being paid.

"Their main concern was that dollar," said Badami, who has worked with a couple of carnival outfits. "They left the help to fend for themselves." Wegerly goes to great lengths to point out his company does take care of its employees;

He gives a guided tour of the living conditions, which includes six separate sleeping areas to each trailer. Inside are two beds, a shower, a toilet and a sink. Each area is air-conditioned. The front of one trailer is even converted into a dart game in order to make it profitable.

"It (the stereotype) hurts," Wegerly said. "The only thing we" ask is just open your eyes. We're

So far, between the two of them, they have trekked to 21 parks (inoluding both Toronto, stadiums). Seattle, Houston, Texas, San Diego, San Francisco, Oakland and California are left on the list to see together. Talk of baseball expansion could increase that.

THE IDEA for this journey was originally proposed by Bourque, who is an avid baseball fan and had gone on some out-of-town games with his mer Livohia resident. "Then he said, 'It would probably be impossible.' I don't like the word impossible."

By next summer, the tour should be complete. This season, Bourque and Ray are going on an extended road trip sometime in August to the Stephen Bourque of Livonia and West Coast where they'll hit San Diego, Los Angeles, California, Oakland and San Francisco.

Then, only the two Texas ballparks in Arlington and Houston will remain.

Dear Ms. Green.

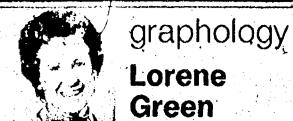

Your column in the Observer& Eccentric is very interesting. It never occurred to me that so much information about a person can be revealed from their bandwriting.

Recently, I heard some employers are using handwriting analysis to determine the right person for a job. Since I am currently unemployed, I was wondering what a prospective employer would learn about me from my handwriting.

I am right-handed and 44 years old. I would appreciate your insight. West Bloomfield perfection. This in turn inspires you to live up to the expectations of yourself and others. Your determination is strong and you have been blessed with vitality. You do not relax until your work is done; regardless of how you may be feeling.

There is a strong sense of responsibility here. You probably would not require much supervision once your superior delineated exactly what was expected of you. You are com-

Authority figures hold a position of respect. And you would abide by company rules and regulations to avoid confrontation. You enjoy and expect full involvement and hard work. However, you are not the one to devise short cuts or streamline the lob.

Emotional reserve allows you to calculate your responses so as to avoid situations which might threaten you personal privacy. Seemingly, you were raised in a strict environment and continue to cling to these early values and teachings.

At this time, you appear to be dissatisfied with some part of your life. And there is concern or apprehension about something in the future.

I would like to tell you that I have given you more information than I would furnish on a personnel analysis. For that purpose, I provide the Usually, they order tickets in advance, normally in the upper deck down the (third base line. Bourque said stadiums have ample areas for disabled people, but the sightlines are usually bad.

Many of the trips have been conquered in one swoop, including a 16-hour one-way trip to Montreal to see the Expos in what both disdainfully describe as a "shopping mall" stadium.

TWO SUMMERS ago, both went on an extended road trip with friend Mike Perry to the East Coast. Six baseball games were taken in during, a six-day period in Boston, New York (Mets and Yankees), Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore.

Baltimore's Memorial Stadium provided the fun of a "county fair" atmosphere, while Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia and Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh were typical "cookie-cutter stadiums."

Bourque and Ray felt like they were in a middle of a runway as airline traffic to nearby LaGuardia constantly flew overhead.

YANKEE STADIUM appeared "dark and ominous" at first, made more so by the fact the group found themselves lost in a rundown Bronx neighborhood. The game they attended at the "House That Ruth Built" also happened to fall on Bat

"It was really scary to be in Yankee Stadium with all these people who had baseball bats," Ray said.

By far, the highlight of the tripwas visiting Fenway Park in Boston with its "Green Monster" in left fieldand the bustling baseball atmosphere outside.

All of which makes Bourque and Ray more sentimental about Tiger Stadium. "I feel it's awful," Bourque said.

"Where's it going to stop? They took the organ out. Bo Schembechler really rubs me the wrong way." SOMETIMES, THE itinerary gets scrambled. They traveled to Atlanta, Ga., to see the Braves, only to find the game rained out, so the duo had Consensus, though, the best ballpark fare are the bratwursts ats Milwaukee County Stadium and the franks at Fenway.

Also, Bourque picks up a pennant and staples his ticket stub to it and Ray gets a baseball.

In the process, all three bases are touched on the way to home, Bourque said.

Shopping for a swimsuit: Start with good self-image

It's that time of year again. . . Time to stand in a small, brightly lit cubicle, face a full-length mirror and try on swimsuits.

If that isn't your idea of a good time, you're not alone. No matter what size or shape, most women feel anxious when it comes to trying on swimsuits.

"In our society, looking good in a swimsuit is often defined as the ultimate test for a woman to judge her body shape," said Florine Mark, area director of Weight Watchers. "Shopping for a swimsuit forces her to face this issue, and for many, it can be very discouraging.'

But it doesn't have to be that

"The trick is to turn the experience around by building a good self-image before you shop," Mark said, "Focus on the positive changes you've already made in your lifestyle and your figure. This can give you the confidence you need to make swimsuit shopping Here are some suggestions from

Weight Watchers that can help you choose a flattering swimsuit: • Different styles of swimsuits flatter different body types. Try on many different styles to find the most flattering for you. • Covered up is in., Today's styles offer many options like boy-cut legs, "shorts" , bottoms and flattering skirts. • Highlight you best figure feature. For example, if you have a trim waist, look for suits with a belt or try a '50s style two-piece

• Look for interesting patterns. and colors — they can be a figure booster. For example, diagonal stripes and alternating colors can create the illusion of slimness. • Choose a color that is flattering to your skin tone.

• Look for suits that offer special (irming panels to help control your figure.

• Build up a good body image before you shop. Attractive hair and makeup will help you to feel good about yourself.

• Shop for a total beach or poollook - an attractive cover-up, -summer sandals and flattering sun glasses - to make the shopping event more fun.

 Consider catalog shopping. Many now offer a variety of suits in slimming styles, and you have the advantage of trying them on inyour own home.

• Think-"active." Moderate exercise can help you to feel and look more toned in a relatively short time. Try to walk daily, climb stain (instead of riding elevators) and enjoy outdoor activities. Spot exercises (like sit-ups and leg lifts) can help tone up muscles in problem areas.

staff writer

RESBYTERIANS AREN'T newcomers to downtown

"This congregation

was organized in 1835 a couple of years after Plymouth was officially organized," said the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee, senior minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. "There always has been a Presbyterian church on this plot of land, since that time.

The current building, at 701. · Church in downtown Plymouth, was built in 1937 following a fire that did extensive damage. Since then, the structure's been added to and remodeled. 🦠

About three years ago, a survey was done and a vote taken among church members. They considered constructing a new church on the current site, adapting the building to meet future needs, or moving out farther into the Plymouth com-

We voted as a congregation to stay here," said Dr. Robert Evans, chairman of the Vision 2000 project at the church. "It's part of the uniqueness of the town and we want to remain a downtown church."

HE AND many others have close ties to the congregation.

"We were married in this church, my wife and I," Evans said. Their daughter was recently married at the church.

Money raised within the church through Vision 2000 will be used for several purposes, including measures "to make this church accessible to everyone and not just for worship," said Evans, a longtime Plymouth resident and local dentist. "We hope to start construction this summer."

Evans and other church members served on a task force that looked into the feasibility of raising money for renovation. That group was led by the clerk of the session, Ted Porter, who did an excellent

"We decided, yes, we were going to go for it," Evans said.

Vision 2000 began June 1 and church members hope to finish ith fund-raising efforts by early y, said Magee, a Plymouth resiit in his 20th year as the urch's pastor.

Leaders set a fund-raising goal f $500,000, to be funded over three years. Of that, $75,000 will be used to support missions work in the Inited States and overseas.

NO PROFESSIONALS in fundraising have been recruited to help with Vision 2000. "It's being done entirely by laypersons," Magee 3id. Church members and friends will provide support above and beyond their usual generous giving, he said.

church because we're exactly that," he said. Other Plymouth congregations have moved out of the downtown area as their membership has increased. Relatively few remain downtown, and the Presbyterians would like to stay in the heart of Plymouth.

"We're not reflecting on them atall, but yes I think it's vitally important," Magee said.

The church has about 1,200 members. In addition to worship services and other church activities, organizations such as Alcohol-ics Anonymous, Alanon and others not affiliated with the congregation rneet at the church.

"What we're trying to do is renovate the building to make idaccessible to all in need," Magee said. "The emphasis is on the handicapped."

The church has a number of steps, and that makes accessibility difficult for disabled people.

An elevator will be installed to make all three levels accessible. In addition, sound and lighting in the sanctuary will be enhanced to help those with hearing or vision impairments. No major changes to the building's appearance or architectural design are planned.

OTHER PLANS include:

• Repair of mortar and tuckpointing of bricks with a repellant coating to prevent further damage by the elements:

(except stained glass ones) to improve energy conservation;

• Replacement of all windows

• Ramps to improve accessibil-

• A stairway to provide an emergency exit from the fellowship hall in the basement, enhancing fire safety and allowing access to the hall from the rear of the sanctuary.

"My dream is to get these things done before I leave," said Magee, who has to refire next summer. "I wanted to get these things done so they wouldn't encumber a successor."

Greater awareness of the needs of disabled people contributed to the project, Evans said.

Magee also knows how important accessibility, is for disabled people. For a number of years, he's had a handicap that makes walking difficult.

The effort isn't a personal crusade based on his own situation. Magee, who uses a walker, said he knows it's important for Christians to reach out and serve all in need.

WITH THAT in mind, worshipers will use $75,000 of the morey to support mission work. One international example is providing money , for Americans in Moscow, including military and diplomatic personnel, to build a worship facility.

Closer to home, church members. will assist the Presbytery of Detroit in developing new churches in ; the I-96 corridor, "which of course is a burgeoning area," Magee said.

A portion of the missions money will be used to assist in building a wing for Alzheimer's patients at, Presbyterian Vilinge of Detroit.

The Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee is in his 20th year as pastor of the church in downtown Plymouth. He plans to retire next summer.

Dr. Robert Evans of Plymouth is chairman of the Vision 2000 project at the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Fourth of July calls for celebration and reflection

The Fourth of July, our national birthday, occurs at a time when schools are not in session, when our children are in the midst of enjoying. the pleasant activities of summer.

What message should we transmit: to the younger generation, beyond the firecrackers, speeches, parades and public celebrations?

I offer these thoughts, It has been a long time since we signed the Declaration of Independence. We said a lot of things then. We believed them. We haven't made everything come true, but we still believe in them and think we can yet make them real.

Other nations have had the same objectives. But at no time in the history of civilization has a nation worked so long and so patiently as we have to make this dream a reali-

Nature's way

New books focus on wildflowers

Four new books on wildflowers top this month's list of good things to read:

• Two books by Henry W. Art (Garden Way, both paperback) are excellent. The first, "Garden of Wildflowers, 101 Native Species . . . How to Grow Them" ($12.95), deals with plants from all over this country.

It is in its fifth printing. Each line drawing is accompanied by excellent botanical descriptions, some historical facts and informations such as growing needs and propagation methods. Names of plants that grow in like conditions are given, while the charts list bloom time, height and color. -a-tremendous-help when choosing-wild-plants-fora home garden.

The second, "The Wildflower Gardener's Guide" ($11.95); pertains to the northeast, mid-Atlantic, Great Lakes and eastern Canada. The format is the same as the first one and this too, is excellent. It received a Quill & Trowel award from the Garden Writers of America Inc.

Included are charts for timing bloom, soil pH requirements, weather and rainfall information. A bonus is the gallery of color photos. The glosseries in both are a great help to amateur botanists.

• "How to Know the Wildflowers," Mrs. William Starr Dana (Houghton Mifflin, $12.95 paper), was first published almost 100 years ago, but is still viable. We are privileged to peek into the 19th century and read her lyrical descriptions of these flowers.

In this edition, the botanical and common names have been updated. Twenty-five colorplates by noted flower painter Manabu C. Selto make a nice addition to the line drawings to help make identification easier. Plants are listed in alphabetical order by color.

• "Wildflower Folkfore," Laura C. Martin (The Globe Piquot Press, $23.95, cloth) "reaches out from the shelf" with its delicate basket of flowers on the cover. Each of the 105 plants found readily in the wild are depleted with line drawings.

Where and when to find them, how to grow them, and all botanical information is included. The book was written because Martin discovered when she took tourists on wildflower walks while working as a teacher/naturalist at Calaway Gardens in Georgia, they were more interested in the lore and legend of the plants than their growing

You will find recipes that were used by the Indians and early settlers which might be fun to try. Many wildflowers were used medicinally and Martin has not neglected the subject. Preserving these native gems and appreciating their beauty is important to this author. Your bookstore can order it or cast 1-800-243-0495.

• Butterslies," Marcus Schneck (Rodale, $24.9$, cloth); explains how to garden so that butdown o earth Figley terflies will visit your garden and then, when they have arrived, how to identify them. It has received kudos from experts.

We learn how butterflies evolve, how they really look (great photos), and what their different parts do . . . such as when a part of their feet contact a sweet surface the probocis (outer lobes of the upper jaw) uncoils spontaneously, ready to sip the nectar.

This book tells how to raise your own butterflies. The main section is the colorful directory; like colors are grouped for quick reference. Perhaps there are some future lepidopterists who will really enjoy and learn from this book.

• "Rododendrons in America," Ted Van Veen (Binford & Mort, $39.95 cloth, $25 paper) contains more than 200 full color enticing photographs of this flower and descriptions of 300 varieties. Cultural information, how to purchase and care for them will enable nurserymen, greenhouse growers and home gardeners to be successful with rhododendrons.

Plants suitable for all areas of the-U.S. have been included, so that proper selection is assured. I like Van Veen's straightforward writing style and how he explains his theories and ideas. The varieties are listed, when they bloom and the color. His pinch, prune and dead-heading illustrations are great.

• "Barsnips in the Snow," Jane Anne Staw and Mary Swander (University of Iowa Press, $24.95 cloth, $12.95 paper), relates the exeriences of these two writers as they traveled seven states through the midwest, seeking out vegetable gardeners in all walks of life.

These people then shared their food as well as their memories of parents and grandparents and how they farmed, and now how things are done today. This memorable human history tale is well

• "Woodworking Project for the Great Outdoors," (Garden Way, $19.95 paper) will keep the craftspersons busy all summer. Tools and techniques are discussed for 42 projects from decks, to gun and fishing rod racks. A complete materials list prefaces each project, so that repeated shopping trips won't be necessary.

Marty Figley is a certified master gardener. based in Birmingham. Her column runs reqularly.

Instead, the concert will take place at 4 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 13 in Joe Louis Arena in Detroit. The concert will benefit the 20-year-old Michigan Opera Theatre and kickoff its 1991/92 season. At this time, only 1991/92 MOT subscribers may purchase tickets to the concert. They may either order the full subscription of five productions, the fall series of two at the Fisher Theatre or the spring season of three operas at Masonic Temple. For information, call

HAMMER DULCIMER

Madonna University in Livonia wil offer "Introduction to Hammer Duccimer" 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays, Sept. 24 to Nov. 26, participants will learn practice, repertory and the uses of hammer dulcimer in concert, church, classroom and social settings.

Rules of appraisal game to change next year able to perform?" Wolter said. "I

By Doug Funke staff writer

Residential feal estate appraisers who must have completed at least 76 hours of classroom instruction, have one year experience and pass a licensing exam to practice their trade as of Jan. 1 differ on what impact those changes will have on the indus-

Some, like Hugh L. Gedrich, president of Complete Appraisal Co. in Southfield, and Peggy Ann Kralik; owner of Appraisal One in Rochester Hills, believe there could be a major shakeout.

be about one third less appraisers

"The one this is going to affect the most is the independent fee appraiser," said Kralik. "I have had people say 'I can't keep up with this stuff. I'm going to drop out." Others, like Charles W. Allen, a

Livonia appraiser, doesn't foresee an exodus. "I don't think it will change anything," he said, ' Up to now, appraisers had to have only a real estate license. Some apprenticed on the job with seasoned when applying for a mortgage, veterans. Others took some classes to upgrade their skills.

THEN CAME problems in the sav-"My personal opinion is there will lings and loan industry. Congress passed a far-reaching law, part of which mandated formal training, examination and licensing of appraisers doing any business with federally insured financial institutions.

"It's an attempt to clean up the industry," Kralik said. "The appraisal" industry was tainted by the S&L scandal. Some of the appraisers were alleged to be part of the blame."

. Most consumers come into contact . with an appraiser only indirectly

The majority of in-house appraisers and many active independents probably have enough schooling and experience so all they have to do is pass the test.

"MOST STAPF appraisers I'm familiar with will have taken the education class hours to meet the criteria." said Roger Everett, chief appraiser for Fireman's Fund

Mortgage Co. in Farmington Hills. James Wolter, chief appraiser for First Federal of Michigan, agreed that most of his people now meet all qualifications except for the exam.

. However, he's concerned that the .2.000 hours of practice Ineeded before taking the exam will discourage employers from hiring inexperienced newcomers and young people from entering the business. I

"Who's going to hire anyone who has to work that long before being think it will be a hardship in the future."

Other appraisers express different

"I THINK an oldtimer like me, in the business for 35 years, should have been grandfathered in - at least those with designations in appraiser organizations," said Robert H. Scott, who has a practice in Troy.

What does it mean for consumers? Some appraisers believe that mortgage application fees will rise to cover costs associated with licensing. Others doubt that:

"They (clients) should get a more qualified appraisal, have a more secure value in their property," Krallk

Appraisers who have a license to protect may be less likely to fudge. numbers to please lenders or real estate agents, Gedrich sald. Not that a great number were doing that to begin with, he added.

Real estate agents can still do market analyses prior to listing, but they can't represent those analyses as appraisals or charge for that service without an appraisal license.

The first licensing exam in the state is scheduled for next month. Classes are offered through colleges and professional associations.

Condo board should address lake access issue

board of directors has been remiss in regard to lake rules, particularly with respect to boats. It is a private lake limited to the use of the members of the association. I am concerned about the safety of the residents because of the lackadaisical attitude of the board, which thinks it is running a country club. What can I do to bring them to their senses?

-You have brought up an oftenasked question concerning boating privileges on lakes confined within a condominium project. You must check the condominium documents to determine whether there are any specific restrictions with respect to motorized boats allowed and what other activities do the bylaws pri- ' vide for? More than likely, the by-

Our condominium is on a lake. The laws also prescribe that the board may set regulations regarding the use of the lake or beach facilities. If no rules have been set, you should wire a letter to the board advising it of its responsibilities under the condominium documents to preserve the property and to protect the safety of the residents.

If the board ignores your request, the use of the lake. For example, are mune from responsibility, particu-sued for omission or failure to take necessary and proper action as prescribed under the condominium documents or under prudent management of an association.

I am a landscaping contractor and am fed up with one of the management companies who is so arrogant and condescending that it made us line up outside of its offices along with several other landscape contractors before it would even see us in connection with bidding on its Jobs. I do not understand how one management company can claim to be so powerful and unreasonable in dealing with us and-particularly when the management company has a subsidiary that is also bidding on the job but which has not been disclosed, I am told, to some of the associations that it represents. I am witting this letter to you to alert you to this kind of abuse and wish your comments.

The directors of a condominium or community association have the responsibility to retain contractors, managing agents and other personne on behalf of the association. Sometimes the board will delegate to the management company the responsibility of letting contracts to subcontractors, such as landscaping, snow removal, painting and other types of maintenance. Many management companies utilize their own subsidiary service companies, but this fact should be disclosed to the board, and bids should be sealed.

While I recognize that this can be frustrating for the contractor, it is' equally detrimental to the best interests of the association if the management company is allowed to abuse. its prerogatives, particularly if it is large enough to do so. I would try to contact the board of directors directly to appraise it of what you consider to be improper tactics undertaken by the management company. Perhaps that will have a therapeutic effect on the management company's conduct and its apparent arrogance in dealing with you. It may also result in the management company ultimately losing much of its business, particularly if it is not disclosing its affiliation with contractors or affiliation with contractors or affiliates with whom it has a financial inter-,

I am-buying a condominium unit from a developer who has not designated the parking spaces. He says that he will assign them, but at present they are not designated on the subdivision plan. Should I be concerned?

Absolutely. Unless the parking spaces are assigned to you as a limited common element or as part of your unit in the master deed, you will not necessarily have a right to utilize that parking spot.
