Test results to determine students' fate

staff writer

Additional test borings requested by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and due early next week should determine whether Whittier School will be used in 1991-92 to house students from Westland's Cooper Elementary.

The tests, done by the Livonia Public Schools testing consultants, will show the level of toxic metals on the grounds at Whit-

If the tests show higher-than-safe levels, school officials will pick another school to send Cooper students, said school board trustee Patricia Sari.

In the Westland portion of the Livonia school district, Cooper is on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt. Whittier, across the street, was formerly a junior high school and is being occupied by other organizations.

"We're currently looking at other alternatives," Sari said. "When we chose Whittler, we did so because parents wanted to keep the kids together and close to Cooper.

Residents in the Cooper Elementary area in Westland plan to circulate petitions, bombard school officials with letters and even picket Livonia Public Schools administrative offices in August if Cooper students are not sent to another school besides Whit-

The residents also are seeking the permanent closure of Cooper after the site is cleaned up. Petitions to do so may be pre-

"If Whittler doesn't play out, we will have to make another decision."

THE TRUSTEES hope the the test results will be known by Monday night, when the board's building and site committee meets.

With school starting in September, the district does not have much time to choose ansented to the Livonia Board of Education at its Aug. 5 meeting.

While school officials are awaiting results from additional test borings before making any decision about Whittier, Cooper parents believe enough evidence has surfaced to cast doubt on the safety of the Whittier school grounds across the street from Cooper.

A PRELIMINARY investigation by the district's environmental consultants showed detectable levels of toxic metals in all eight

The residents believe Cooper will never be safe, even after the district contains toxic chemicals now apparently surfacing from the site on Ann Arbor Trail east of Middlebelt in Westland. The site is a former where a lot of time is not required to terminate leases and where there is the most available space, Sari said. For space reasons, Sari ruled out the closed Rosedale Elementary.

If the district bypasses Whittier and chooses another school, transportation will be provided by the district, Sari said.

ON JULY 2, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources recommended that more soil borings be taken at Whittier because preliminary borings taken at the school showed high levels of some toxic metals.

These borings are expected to be completed this week, Sari said.___

In a preliminary report, the district's consulting engineers, Testing Engineers and Consultants Inc. of Troy, took three borings behind Whittier school and five borings on the grounds of Cooper school. They also analyzed carpet samples from Cooper.

A more complete set of borings at both schools, 76 in all, will be taken this summer to determine how toxic both sites are.

The DNR closed the playground at Cooper in late April when soil samples showed the presence of DDT, mercury and arsenic. The DNR did not close the school.

The DNR also recommended that soil samples be taken off both sites so that a comparison can be made between toxic metals found on school grounds and those found in nearby areas.

Police want crackdown on parking violations

By Janice Brunson

Are unarmed civilian volunteers who are empowered by the city to ticket drivers illegally parked in handicapped parking spaces acting as crusaders or vigilantes? That and other questions surfaced briefly Monday during considerationof a proposed Handicap Parking Enforcement Volunteer Program by the Westland City Council. As proposed, volunteers who receive eight hours of training would issue citations to vehicles parked in violation of the city's Handicap Parking Ordinance. Illegal parking in a handicapped parking space could result in fines of up to $100.

"Why the need?" Councilwoman Terri Reighard Johnson asked Police Chief Michael Frayer. The program handicapped parking, far too many for us to adequately patrol. It is violated on a regular basis. Those who have this program in place speak very highly of it. It becomes almost a crusade by volunteers.'

Arming police with an "additional tool" in monitoring youths found wandering city streets late at night, the Westland City Council approved a curfew extension Monday night.

The amended law requires youths under 14 years of age to be off the streets by 10 p.m., unless accompanied

Previously, only youths under 12 years of age were subject to a 10 p.m. curfew while youths 12 and 13 had to be home by midnight.

"It's reasonable for a 12- or 13-year-old kid to be in by 10 p.m. on a school night or any other night," said police Chief Michael Frayer.

"At that time of night, there's nothing out there on the street for them, except trouble.

"This is a tool for us to better control the situation," Frayer added.

Council renames fire station for retired chief

By Janice Brunson staff writer

What started as a simple tribute in honor of Westland's first fire chief, Ralph Savini, culminated Monday in a notable gesture when members of the Westland City Council unanimously agreed to rename Central. Fire Station the Ralph Savini Fire,

"He's a good man. He did a good job," said Larry Lane, the city's present fire chief. Lane and council president Thomas Brown requested Savini be recognized for 16 years service as chief for Nankin Township and Westland.

The station, one of four in the city, is on Ford at Carlson, just east of City Hall.

"We asked for (a street to be named) Ralph Savini Drive and (the request) was expanded to include the station," Lane said.

Gag rule doesn't stop abortion discussion

By Janice Brunson staff writer

What's happening at the Family Planning Service in Westland as a result of the recent gag rule by the U.S. Supreme Court which bans all discussion about abortion?

"What's happening? Nothing's happening," said director Ralph Painter, who for 12 years has overseen operations at the center which received federal funds.

We're sitting in limbo," Painter said of the gag ruling which prohibits clinics receiving federal dollars from providing information or referrals for abortion.

Legal challenges to the ruling and proposed legislation now before the U.S. House and Senate aimed at overturning the ruling may well prevent enactment of the court decision in the foreseeable future, according to Painter.

In the interim, "we are maintaining the status quo," he said.

Located on Venoy south of Palmen the center, a service provided by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services since 1972, provides information on family planning, including pregnancy.

"IF SOMEONE COMES in and is pregnant, we advise them of all the alternatives; one of which is abortion," Painter said. Patients are supproviders, adoption agencies, abortion clinics and counseling services.

The clinic is prohibited by law from referring clients to abortion

"We've never gone hogwlid with the abortion thing, never steered people toward abortion," Painter. said, adding that one of the counseling services listed for use is Catholic Services.

Several years ago the clinic was the target of a bomb threat by prolife activists. To counter further harrassment, Painter said a sign was mounted to the front of the building announcing "We don't do abortions

"We're not against the school board," said Mary Gesinski, "Our Intent is to protect our kids. We're willing to do what we have to to protect our klds."

To decide on how to pursue their two goals, the red-shirted residents also overflowed a pichic pavilion in Westland's Corrado Park Tuesday evening.

"We're now past the point of determining whother the (Cooper) site is safe," said CHECK spokesman Ron Graunsladt. "And the school board knew there were high levels of cadmium and silver at Whittier on the night they chose

ON MONDAY, CHECK members also asked city of Westland officials to come up with an emergency plan in case an explosion should take place on the Cooper site once drilling starts this summer on additional borings and methane gas gets released.

"Residents were told Tuesday that any decision to permanently close Cooper would come from the Wayne County Health Department.

Cooper parents seeking to send their children to another school besides Whittier told of increasing resistance from the district in finding a school close to Cooper.

"A CRUSADE, but hopefully not a vigilante group," said councilman Thomas Artley, adding he regularly receives phone calls complaining about abuse of the handicap parking

"I observe it myself at least several times a week. It's disturbing to people who need it. The handleapped are already discriminated against Westland deputy mayor J. Edward Gunther said the city also regularly receives numerous complaints.

Councilman Kenneth Mehl said he has no problem with the program but fears potential legal problems as a result of volunteers injured while

As proposed, volunteers would travel in pairs in city vehicles to patrol assigned areas during scheduled periods. Volunteers would wear uniforms and be issued violation books. They would be authorized to write tickets only while on duty.

"If the city gets sued by a volunteer, we have a liability potential," Mehl said, adding he is also concerned about a potential backlog of unpaid tickets in which warrants would be issued.

Gunther, who said the program is working well in other communities, also said unserved warrants are a possible problem because "of a shortage of manpower. There are already hundreds of them."

Council action was adjourned until August when Westland city attorney C. Charles Bokos will review legal ramifications.

SINCE ENACTMENT OF such a program in Farmington Hills last September, 27 volunteers have issued a total of 1,030 tickets, according to Farmington Hills police Sgt. Ray Cranston.

"In all candor, the program has been very successful. No problems at all. It has been very well received by the public. People-stand on the curbs and clap" when citations are issued, Cransion said.

Volunteers, covered under the city's liability insurance coverage, drive two refurbished city vehicles specially marked with an amber-colored light bar and signs identifying occupants as civilian volunteers.

In the event of questions or problems, volunteers rely on city traffic section officers, a specialized unit that deals exclusively with traffic enforcement.

In their first month, volunteers wrote no tickets and spent their time requesting all businesses to identify handicap parking with proper signs. Some 70 businesses have yet to comply, according to Cranston.

Once a ticket is written, volunteers appear in court with a poloroid snapshot of each illegally parked vehicle. "The photos have cut down on rhetoric in court," Cranston said.

In an effort to require full compliance to proper signage identifying handicap parking, the Farmington Hills council recently enacted fines of up to $100 a day per sign for business locations found to be in noncompliance, Cranston said.

Curfew rules broadened

The amended ordinance was drafted by city attorney C. Charles Bokos at Frayer's request, and submitted for council recommendation last month.

"THERE ARE A LOT of juveniles wandering the streets past midnight, including lots of 12- and 13-yearolds. It's not unusual to see young people out wandering the streets, especially during warm weather," said police Sgt. Michael Terry, a community youth services officer.

Under the new law, which takes effect upon publication, youths under 14 years of age may not be "upon the public streets or in a public place between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m., unless accompanied by the child's parent or guardian or by some other adult designated by

Song dispute draws a chorus of attention

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Attorneys for the Livonia Public Schools have asked for more time to respond to a lawsuit filed in June in U.S. District Court by a Livonia student, 8-year-old Kelly DeNooyer, against four officials of the district. The district serves northeast Westland.

The lawsuit charges the four officials, ranging from McKinley Elementary principal Jane Van Poperin to Superintendent Joseph Marinelli, violated Kelly's right to free speech when they refused to let her show a video to her second-grade classmates at McKinley.

The video shows Kelly singing in church a song about her love for Je-

Her attorney, David Melton of the Rutherford Institute of Michigan, said he agreed to the 20-day extension requested by the district's attorneys out of "professional courtesy."

WHEN A LAWSUIT is filed, defendants have 20 days to file a response through their attorneys with

"I understand that attorneys can have backlogs," Melton said. "I could move for a default if they didn't answer by the prescribed. time, but I usually give one time extension if one is asked for."

The district's response should be filed by mld-August.

In the meantime, Kelly's lawsuit against the district has been publicized throughout western Michigan by Republican state Sen. John Welborn, whose 13th District covers Montcalm County south to parts of Kalamazoo County,

In a memo to newspaper editors in his district, Welborn outlined the circumstances leading up to the lawsuit and painted Kelly as a victim of religious persecution.

He challenged educators who teach about the Bill of Rights to discuss the Kelly DeNooyer case with their students, and let the students. themselves decide if the videotape allegedly censored by the district prevention and self-esteem pro-

15 is the 200th anniversary of the Bill of Rights.

THE SENATOR writes a weekly column printed in newspapers throughout the 13th District. His column on the DeNooyer case appeared in mid-July.

School officials claim that the constitutional doctrine of separation of church and state would have been violated if the video had been shown at McKinley.

They also claim that school policy gives them the right to review all videotapes coming into the classroom and to prohibit-those found objectionable. :

In his column, Welborn said the goal of the First Amendment's prohibition against the establishment of a state religion was to protect American citizens from religious persecution and allow them religious free-

"I don't think a reasonable person would have accused Livonia Public Schools of violating the First Amendment if Kelly had been allowed to show the videotape of her singing," Welborn wrote.

"The unregistered and imagined concerns of those who might be offended by an 8-year-old singing a Christian song in front of their children was enough to cause Livonia Public Schools to stifle Kelly De-

"I think the authors and signers of the Bill of Rights would agree with me that Kelly DeNooyer is a victim of religious persecution, not a perpetrator of it." MELTON, KELLY'S attorney, said districts have gone overboard since the 1940s in applying separation of church and state doctrine.

"They don't understand what the phrase means, and the way it is now applied is not what the Founding Fathers meant. School districts have been reacting to litigation since the 1940s from such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union and Americans United for the Separation of Church and State.

"More and more, through drug should have been shown to McKinley grams, schools are going into the personal and private lives of kids. Welborn said such discussions They want kids to have self-esteem, ion-based. Kelly dared to have a religious base for her self-esteem."

As part of a program to build selfesteem, Kelly's teacher, asked her students to bring to school items that had special significance to them. Kelly brought in a video showing her singing a Christian song in church.

The leacher, Sandra Solomon, asked McKinley principal Van Poperin whether the video should be shown in the classroom. Van Poperin said no, and her ruling was upheld by Kent Gage, director of elementary education, and Carole Samples, assistant superintendent for instruc-

"Ironically, Kelly's self-esteem suffered a reversal when she took a videotape of her singing performance to school as part of the program that was designed to boost' self-esteem," Welborn wrote.
SCHOOL OFFICIALS apparently.

But Welborn noted that no suchfear apparently existed the week before, when a Jewish girl brought a Menorah into Solomon's class and: told of its significance to the Jewish Hanukkah holiday.

"I don't think any reasonable person would accuse Livonia Public School officials of trying to establish a Jewish state religion, or of stiflingreligious freedom, just because they allowed a second grader to give a presentation about Hanukkah," Welborn wrote. -

Melton described Welborn as a "mayerick Republican" who doesn't always follow the Republican party

John Prang, an assistant in Welborn's office, said the senator picked the lawsuit to write a column about because it is a "case worthy of "The First Amendment is often misinterpreted," Prang said. "There's a lot of pressure on the schools to stay away from anything religious."

The mission of the Rutherford Institute, Melton said, is to uphold the religious rights of all Americans, be they Christian, Jewish or athlest.

We asked this question at the Westland Post Office on Wayne Road south of Hunter.

(After a long pause) 1 don't think they'll do any better than before. I never had much hope for them. - Kathy Schliewe

'I really won't know until they start playing (in the regular season). You really can't tell by the summer camp.

- Stuart Davis

- George Ellis

Fifty-fifty, somewhere in the middle.! - Doug Anderson

'My husband would be the better one to ask. Their chances are as good as anyone else's.' - Georgette Sinclair

Their chances are good. Why? It's about time.

Co-op students awarded scholarships

Scholarships for co-op students are now being offered by the Livonia Community Credit Union, 15420 Farmington Road, Livonia.

The scholarships were announced earlier this year at the annual Employer/Employee Breakfast at Schoolcraft College, held by Livonia Public Schools for students involved in its co-op program.

The Livonia Public Schools District serves northeast Westland.

Ruthann Kokko, vice president of the $21 million credit union, announced the following as recipients of the co-op student $500 scholar-

 Suzanne Czgarnik, a graduating senior at Livonia Stevenson High and co-op employee this past year at the school's main office. She was awarded a credit union scholarship in the area of office co-op. She plans to obtain a degree in education from Central Michigan University.

• Heather Barnes, a graduating senior from Livonia Franklin High, received the health co-op scholarship. She had been working at the Jackson Center for preschoolers and plans on attending Central Michigan this fall to pursue a degree in special education.

 Aaron Bruck, graduating senior from Franklin, received the trade and technical scholarship from the credit union. Learning the commercial food and restaurant business, he is employed as a chef at Sheraton Oaks in Novl and is talented in ice carving. He plans on attending Johnson & Wales University in South Carolina to become a master chef or perhaps own his own business.

 Kristen Guntzviller, graduating senior from Livonia Churchill High, received the marketing co-op scholarship. She worked as a co-op employee at Foxmoor Casuals clothing store and wants to pursue a career in fashion merchandising. She was Distributive Education Club of America chapter president and compeled at the DECA national conference. She plans to enroll in Northwood Institute in Midland.

Livonia Franklin, Stevenson and Churchill high schools offer co-op programs with more than 400 businesses participating as employers. Through these programs, the employer acts as teacher and the business environment functions as a classroom.

"This is a mature and goal-oriented group," said Kokko of the co-op students. "It gives them a great start on the 'real world' and I think we can be comfortable knowing that these are our future leaders."

Livonia Community Credit Union has been involved in the co-op program for five years. "This year," said Kokko, "we thought it was time to give something back to the co-op employees."

The credit union received more than 50 applications for scholarship competition. The criteria included a 2.0 grade point average or higher, senior status, employment in a co-op position for the entire school year, acceptance at a college, university or other educational institute and recommendations by the employer, teacher and co-op coordinator.

Peace, environment concern teenagers

Teenage girls across America are most worried about the future of the environment and peace in the world.

In a nationwide survey of 600 outstanding teenage girls, the majority of respondents placed apprehension about the environment and world peace above issues such as hunger, homelessness and drug abuse:

My greatest concern about the world today is . . . — "pollution and the depleting ozone layer."

- "if our world leaders can't solve their problems peacefully, how can we as citizens be expected to?" - "people make more weapons to destroy the world, when we're doing a pretty good job without them." THE 10 WOMEN, they most admire, after their mothers and a teacher or coach, are: Barbara Bush, a Girl Scout leader. Sandra Day O'Connor, Maya Angelou, Margaret Thatcher, a grandmother, Oprah Winfrey, Jackie Joyner-Kersee, Florence Griffin Joyner and Bette Midler.

The responding girls from all 50 states, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico were all delegates to "Together We Stand," a national Girl Scout leadership conference in Philadelphia July 10-13.

At the conference they discussed these and other issues of concern to them, and explored how they can make a difference in the future. The survey was taken by the Girl Scouts of Greater Philadelphia, who hosted the conference.

UNLIKE WHAT their mothers might have said 25 years ago, these teenagers are strongly directed toward career-oriented goals. The majority of them have greater consciousness of opportunities, choices, freedom and possibilities than their mothers might have had:

The best thing about being a girl today is . . . — "so many doors are opening for my future."

- "being viewed as an equal with guys and being able to compete against them."

ONE GREAT thing I'd like to accomplish is to become . . . — "head of the CIA."

- "the first black woman Supreme Court judge." - "president of an advertising agency.' "president of the United

Most girls, if given $10,000, would save it for either college or general savings goals. Very few would use it solely for short-term purchases. Almost half would give to charity or other societal or environmental causes, or help their families:

IF I HAD $10,000 I would . . "give it to an adoption agency." - "give to AIDS research."

- "buy my mother and homeless people a house."

strongly for 20 percent of the girls: If I had $10,000 I would . . . the mall." WHEN ASKED to give a message

However, shopping did figure to the youth of America, they stressed learning from others, but thinking for oneself:

"Listen to the ones that have been through what you are now going through."

Ex-commerce chief urges change

By Pat Murphy staff writer

Doug Ross is back in town.

And the former director of the Michigan Department of Commerce, has some advice for communities like Rochester Hills, Southfield, Farmington, Livonia and Redford:

Be ready to go after a good piece of the economic pie and be willing to make the changes needed to achieve

Communities must have a clearidea of what they want to be and where they want to go to be successful," Ross said Tuesday in an interview at his new home in Farmington Hills. "Communities that hang on to the past - that won't make changes - are in for difficult times."

Ross, who was director of commerce from 1984 to 1989, left Michigan two sago to become president of the Corporation for Enterprise Development (CFED), a not-for-profit agency in Washington, 'CEFD is a combination thinktank and public consulting agency," he said, which focuses on a wide range of economic and developmental problems. Its clients include the Baltimore Regional Council of Governments, the Aetna Life & Casualty Foundation and Johns Hopkins Uni-

But the organization is decentralizing, Ross said. As part of its strategy to move key personnel into diverse parts of the country, he has moved back to Michigan.

WE ALWAYS PLANNED to come back to Michigan," said Ross, who moved back earlier this month. "So when this opportunity came up, we were ready."

Ross said the move home was "a family decision," with input from wife Karol and their daughter, Julie. The couple's two sons, Mitchell and Douglas, are students at the University of Wisconsin.

Ross, who was a state senator from Southfield from 1978 to 1982, said the decision to buy a house in Farmington Hills was, to a large degree, based on input from his daughter.

"Julle's going into her senior year," he explained. "So we said she could pick her own high school which turned out to be North Farmington. Karol, a psychologist, is die rector of a clinic in Macomb County. She said she could live with Julie's decision."

Ross, 49, said his immediate plans are somewhat general. His main preoccupation will be with CFED, of course. He intends to be active ,but in a nonpolitical context.

"I've always been an activist," said Ross, who held leadership positions with both the Michigan Citizen's Lobby and Common Cause, before turning to government. "That's not going to change.'

Ross said he intends to be active in the Farmington schools - possibly through the Parent-Teacher Organization and, hopes to lecture or . teach at the University of Michigan. "And I wouldn't mind tutoring."

POLITICS, HE SAID, is definitely out, at least for now. "I simply have no interest."

Ross said he was surprised -- like others - that his old friend and boss, James Blanchard, lost his bid for reelection last fall.

Nobody can pinpoint the specific reason Blanchard lost, Ross said. But I believe it has something to do with a general dissatisfaction with politics and government.

"People seem to have lost faith in a number of institutions (including politics). They don't believe they are effective in dealing with major problems," Ross said.

So people are turning elsewhere, he said. They're looking for other ways - to schools, service clubs or social organizations - to make their contributions.

Ross still considers himself to be a Democrat. "But there's an ongoing struggle for the soul of the Democratic Party (nationally and locally)," he said

"The future of the party depends on its ability to refocus on mainstream America," he said. Instead of being the party of the poor, Demo-

In a home filled with political memorabilia, the Political Monopoly board behind Doug Ross relates to his tenure with Common Cause and the Michigan Citizens Lobby. Less distinguishable is a picture of Ross, former Michigan Gov. James Blanchard and John Sununu, chief of staff for President George Bush. The occasion was a gathering of the National Governors' Association at which Ross received an award.

You may ask for agendas

Under provisions of Michigan's Open Meetings Act, you're entitled to receive notices of government meetings. A public body must mail notices to people who, on an annual basis, request such notification. Under the act, payment of a reasonable fee may be required before notices are mailed. This provision applies to all local, county and state governments. At the local level this includes city councils, school boards and various boards and commissions. Locally, requests may be submitted to the city or township clerk, or to the school superintendent.

Madonna to host fall elderhostel

Combining the study of literature with labor unions and Gospel music might seem a little strange, but that's what Elderhostel at Madonna University does.

Founded on the belief that retirement is the beginning rather than the end of activity, Elderhostel will be offered Sunday, Oct. 6, through Saturday, Oct. 12.

This is a great opportunity for older people to study topics of Detroit and Michigan interest, meet new people and experience campus life," said Anita Herman, professor of gerontology at Madonna. "We're hoping to have a lot of participants from the Detroit area as well as out.

in all 50 states, 10 Canadian provinces, and in over 40 countries overseas to individuals 60 years and older, although someone as young as 50 may accompany a qualified person.

Over 190,000 adults participate annually.

Elderhostel courses at Madonna will include "Work, Wages and Wheels: Detroit's Impact on the American Dream," which will address how the labor movement in-Detroit's automotive industry changed the American workplace and the impact of assembly lines and labor unions on our economy. "Ernest Hemingway in Michigan Horton Bay's Favorite Son," will exam. ine the influence young. Hemingway's summers in northern Started in 1975, Elderhostel offers. # Grants fund 2 local county park projects

Wayne County's division of parks has received three bond grants totalling $822,075 for current and future park projects.

The money represents two approved state grants out of the three for which the county applied in April

The money will be split between three projects: Newburg Pointe Improvement Project in Livonia; West Comfort Station Recreation at Eliza beth Park in Trenton, and Holliday Nature Preserve Land Acquisition in Westland.

The Westland project received its funding - $360,000 with a $123,000 land conservancy match -- from the Resource Trust Fund.

This project includes the acquisition of 38.65 acres of land in the city of Westland adjacent to the Holliday Nature Preserve. The area is one of the last breeding grounds for the red fox and will be an important meadow habitat addition to the preserve.

"This is the project about which we are most excited," said Hurley Coleman, director of the county parks system "The red fox doesn't have many areas left in which to breed, so it is important to us that we help provide it with one."

The Newburg Pointe project received $414,750 in state funds through the Recreation Bond Program grant with a $138,500 county match It will provide for the restoration of the historic Newburg comfort station and the development of a riverwalk along Newburg Lake for the first step in the Rouge River Improvement master plan.

The Elizabeth Park project received its funding ($47,325 with a $15,775 county match) from the same source and will go to restore that park's historic comfort station as well. The project includes providing handicap accessibility, repairing the slate roof and installing bath room dividers.

"Little by little, we are raising our?" parks system to new heights," said": Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara. "I don't think I have to fishing and paddleboats. This will be remind anybody about the condition 3. of our parks during the 70's and early 80's when they were nature's equivalent to condemned buildings. &

"Those were the days when it was easier to find a picnic table in the Rouge River than it was to find one in a picnic area."

Brothers bring Broadway to area

By Greg Kowalski staff writer

"For a local operation, we're about the closest thing to Broad-

So says Harry Nederlander, owner of the Birmingham Theatre. He and his brother Joe, who owns the Fisher Theatre, have been carrying on a lifelong family tradition of bringing quality theater to the metro area.

Their productions include "Cats,"
"Les Miserables" and a host of other top shows that have achieved critical and financial success. Along the way, they've worked with many of the biggest names in the business.

the biggest names in the business.

So what's it like hobnobbing with the stars?

"Well, there's never a dull-moment," said Joe kindly. "It takes a long time to get used to their idiosyncracies."

Such as?

three or four shows a week in other venues. Joe cured her spontaneous illnesses by sending her flowers and gifts every day. Melina Mecouri demanded a proctologist a half hour before showtime. "I was going to dress Harry up as a doctor . . ." Joe

Another performer — whom they refused to name — complained that the trash haulers distrupted his big scene at the same time every night. Joe promised that he would set the city workers straight. And every night when the noise recurred he duly apologized for their crassness until the end of the show's run.

Not all actors, of course, are temperamental. "Brian Keith was a gentleman," recalled Harry, who lives in Bloomfield Hills. Others he and Joe singled out as exceptional were Michael Moriarity, Jack Weston and Robert Wagner.

A dud?

Tony Curtis in Turtlenecks." It was an ill-fated show that seemingly had everything going for it — a top star, good production, good writing — and nevertheless flopped mighti-

"THE ACTORS who have been around are the best." They're the ones who have been through the mill, who didn't face instant stardom and worked for their success, said Joe, who lives in Birmingham,

This season, the Fisher is celebrating its 30th anniversary with a lineup of top productions, including "The Phantom of the Opera," "Tru" and Neil Simon's "Lost in Yonkers." The Birmingham Theatre has "Man of La Mancha," "Damn Yankees" and the stage version of "The Wizard of Oz" scheduled.

Although Joe and Hary have personal favorite shows (Joe — "Inherit the Wind"; Harry — "Run For Your Wife," an English comedy), "I like them all," Joe said, and Harry agreed.

They should know. The Nederlander family has been involved in the ater since 1905. Their theater dynasty was founded by David T. "D.T." Nederlander, the son of a Dutch immigrant, who operated a jewelry store. When D.T., the father of Harry and Joe, learned the Detroit Opera. House was up for lease he rented it and operated it with advice from the Shubert brothers, who were theatrical experts.

THE DEPRESSION killed Nederlander's first try at the stage in 1931, but in 1941 he took over the Orpheum Theatre in Detroit. Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Rex Harrison, Julie Harris, Al Jolson and Bette Davis were typical headliners. Harry remembers how Jolson used to stop by for his mother's chicken dinners and would occasionally munch a chicken leg on stage, noting that it came from Mr. Nederlander.

D.T's children carried on the family tradition, eventually acquiring the Birmingham and Fisher Theatres. Both have deep roots in the community. The Fisher goes back to the 1920s, when it was built as part of what was then proposed as a huge office complex. Likewise, the Birmingham Theatre was built in the 1920s.

Originally, the Birmingham Theatre presented vaudeville shows, but the village granted approval to show movies on Sundays, which were the first talking pictures shown in Birmingham.

In 1979, the Birmingham Theatre switched back to live "legitimate" theater and prospered.

BUT THERE ARE still business perils. Production costs are skyrocketing, which translates into higher ticket prices, although Joe and Harry stress that they are trying to keep prices down. "We never ripped the public off," Harry said. "We could

Robber heads east

By Tedd.Schnolder

staff writer

A man suspected of robbing banks this summer in Ann Arbor and Howell worked his way east Monday and held up the Michigan National branch on Seven Mile near Farmington Road in Livonia, police and FBI officials said.

The unidentified man escaped with an estimated $2,500-$3,000, Livonia Police reports said.

"We believe this individual is responsible for several robberies at banks and other businesses," said, special agent John Anthony, head of the FBI office in Detroit.

"He always displays a handgun from some kind of envelope."

AT 10:48 A.M. Monday, the man walked into the bank at 34000 Seven Mile, approached the window and placed a brown, cardboard envelope onto the counter, police said.

He opened the envelope, exposing a small, black handgun to the teller, and demanded money, police said.

The man fled the bank and may have gotten into a black Ford Mustang or Chevrolet Camaro, witnesses told police. WITNESSES DESCRIBED the robber as 30-35 years old, 5 feet 7 and weighing 145-150 pounds. He was medium to dark complected, thousald they said.

He had black hair, combed toward the back of his head, and a mustache he was wearing a blue and white striped shirt, blue pants, and sunglasses perched atop his head, witnesses said.

The man's statements to the teller indicated a knowledge of bank security procedures, Anthony said.

THE MAN is suspected of robbing Michigan National and National Bank of Detroit branches in Ann Arbor as well as an Ann Arbor Holday Inn motel and a Red Lobster restaurant in Howell, all within the last two weeks, the FBI spokesman said.

He may also be connected to a bank robbery, in Southfield last week, Anthony said.

The Detroit Clearing House is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the man's capture, Anthony said.

Anyone with information should call Livonia Police at 421-2900 or the Detroit FBI office, 965-2323.

The new elementary positions are a restoration of two principalships which were eliminated last year as part of the spending cuts forced by voters rejection of a property tax rate increase.

Voters on June 10 approved the tax hike, allowing for the restoration of many programs eliminated or reduced in the past school year.

Westland dancers take top honors nationally

A trio of young Westland dancers trained at community dance studios swept top honors in recent national dance competition.

Kendra Phillips, 11, and Joshua Honken, 10, both of Westland, won first-place gold during recent 1991 National Finals competition hosted recently by the Dance Educators of American in Las Vegas.

The pair took first place for a lyrical duet and second place for their interpretation of "Chorus Line."

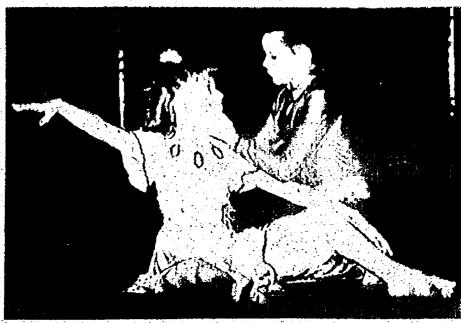

Kendra also won a gold medal for a junior group lyrical dance and a senior group pointe dance. She also won the President's Challenge Gold Cup by scoring the most points in competition.

Kendra, a sixth grader at Kettering Elementary School, and Joshua, a fifth gradeer at Roosevell Elementary, attend the Encore Dance Acad emy in Westland.

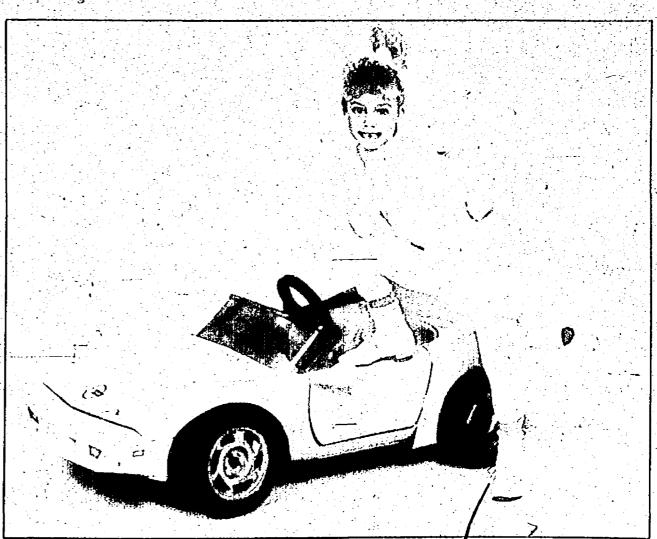

Jessica Berner, 6, a student at Susie's Dance Pointe in Westland, took top honors in recent competition hosted by Showstopper National Dance in Myrtle Beach. Over 6,000 participated.

Jessica, daughter of Debbie and Mike Lindquist, placed first in pom pon jazz, third in jazz and fourth in photogenic competition.

She is scheduled to appear with Bobby Vinton at the Showboat Festival in Chesaning later this month.

School board sessions eyed for cable showing

There is a possibility that Wayne-Westland school board meetings may be aired through the cable TV system.

Public access volunteers are studying the possibility of taping meetings and making the tapes available to five cable companies which serve the different communities in the school district.

Ed Turner, a member of the Westland cable TV commission, told the board and audience Monday night that a report on the possibility of taping board sessions is expected to be completed next month.

The issue of taping board meetings to improve the board's communications with the public was raised Monday by residents.

The district covers all of the city of Wayne, most of Westland and Inkster and small parts of Canton Township and Garden City.

Board trustee Andrew Spisak noted that a major part of the problem of taping board meetings is that each of those communities is served by a different cable company.

Separate what?

Video too quickly censored

THE LIVONIA Board of Education has gotten into an unnecessary lawsuit over religion in the classroom.

The lawsuit was filed after parents, were unable to resolve differences with the district, which represents the northern section of Westland, over its refusal to allow their daughter to show a video to classmates. At issue was a Video of all 8-year-old girl singing in a worship

The leacher decided showing the video would be inappropriate because some of the girl's classmates might be offended by its religious content. There were references in the song to the function of Jesus Christ as a personal savior. To the teacher, refusal to play the video was justified on the basis of the separation of church and

THE DISTRICT always walks a fine line in determining (censoring) what materials should enter the classroom. At times censorship is justified because material is inappropriate for a particular ages. This time, the district walked too fine a line and unnecessarily withheld the video from the classroom.

A fine line exists because very often religious songs and materials are allowed, without a second thought, in our schools. Almost any concert, at elementary or secondary levels, will contain religious music. The classical composers - Mozart, Brahms, Beethoven - were paid church staffers who wrote hymns to be played in worship services. Much of the great classical music is religious music.

The fact that classical music may contain references only to God while a more modern selection mentions Christ's name does not make one selection any more religious than another. The district would be illogical in banning a contemporary Christian artist like Sandy Patti or Amy Grant while allowing selections from Beethoven or Mozart. Logically, the concern should be with of Hanukkah. Nothing wrong with this activity. religion in general — not specifically with Chrisious materials in the school but use of materials which seek to proselytize or convert anyone to a particular set of religious beliefs; whether Christian, Jewish or Islamic. There is no problem with religious materials in the classroom that are instructional but do not proselytize. There is no problem with materials which are uplifting or entertaining. Other non-religious materials which uplift or entertain but don't instruct are used. The problem exists when any attempt at conversion is introduced. Souls are to be won at church, not at school.

IN THE case at hand, the video of the 8-yearold girl singing in Temple Baptist Church was not a clear attempt to proselytize.

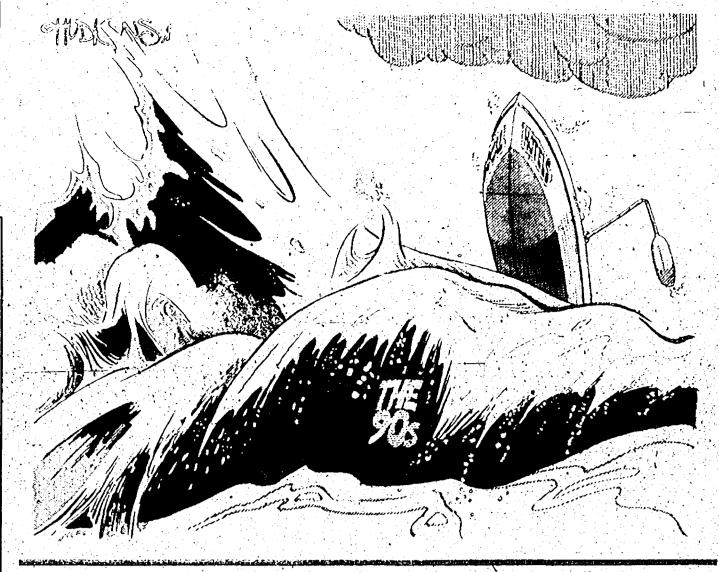

Visually, only for a moment did the video show a church setting. Most of the footage was a close-up of the young girl singing, without an altar, cross or any other symbols visible. No harm present.

Most of the specific words sung by the young lady could not be heard in the video, even while straining the ears it was very difficult to hear the words. In the casual setting of a classroom, other students would not have been influenced by the message of the song.

The song, "I Came to Love You Early," contains a veiled reference to salvation - "you touched my heart." But that reference is so veiled that it has no specific message to a non-Christian. The same words can be heard in countless love songs. Another reference tells how a young person gave Christ "my childish heart of sin" and says Christ "saved me from a lifetime of what might have been." Again, the message is too veiled to suggest that proselytizing is the intent or that conversion could even result from

The Observer did receive a contradictory report that the week before a student appeared before the same class with a menorah to explain its significance to a Jewish family in the observance

The district now faces legal expense and time in court — unnecessarily. Better judgment would have saved time and money.

Struggles of the past help build the future

IT'S BEEN A while since I've wandered over to see the gang at the corner of 11 Mile and Middlebelt.

Longtime readers of this column will know I'm talking about Farmington-Hills city hall where I spent more hours than I like to remember covering the eccentricities of grass roots democracy.

Last week I returned for a couple of hours and this time I left with a much different feeling, a feeling that the sense of community is the ingredient which forces us to overcome all the other shortcomings of our present situation.

The occasion was arranged by journalism colleague Bob Sklar, formerly editor of our Farmington and Rochester editions. Bob, now an assistant managing editor, is a real local history buff and has spent considerable time writing and gathering information on the subject. He is member of the Farmington Hills Historical Commission.

ALL OF US at the Observer & Eccentric have history on our minds. this year. We are celebrating 25 years as a corporation, even though some of our editions have been around for more than 100 years-

Recently, a journalism professor from the University of Michigan was commissioned to write a history of our company. For those who are unaware, this newspaper's owner is Phil Power, whose ancestors also were the founding family of Farmington back in the dawning days of the 19th century.

All of us at the Observer & Eccentric have history on our minds this year. We are celebrating 25 years as a corporation, even though some of our editions have been around for more than 100 years.

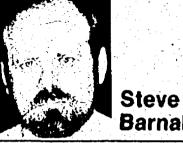

As a matter of fact, many members of the founding family are buried over at Quaker cemetery on Gill Roacin Farmington.

In a move to make the area's history come alive, Bob, with the aid of various Power family members, gathered an impressive array of Power family memorabilia.

At present, it is on display at Farmington Hills city hall.

To remember the time, several folks were invited over to see the display. Phil Power and his father, Eugene, an entirely separate piece of fascinating history himself about whom a book should be written. dropped by along with cousin Bob Power.

They were greeted by Farmington Hills mayor Aldo Vagnozzi as well as council member Jean Fox who is quite an accomplished historian in her own right.

JEAN IS ONE of my local heroes since she wrote an impressive biography of turn-of-the-century Republican governor Fred Warner, whose Farmington home on Grand River is now an historical museum.

Also in attendance was local historian Kay Briggs who is simply a charm to know. It was a special moment to stand there with present Farmington editor Tom Baer and watch as Bob Power presented pastor Edward Duncan of the First United Methodist Church with a log of that church's history from the last century.

Too often today people question the value of history, its relevance to today's developments. When I remember that recent day in the Farmington history, I know that we can only build a strong future through the struggles of those from the past.

Steve Barnaby is the managing editor of the 12 Observer & Eccentric newspapers.

Bad business

Act would allow more power

ELEPHONE companies have found a host of ways to expand business. They compete against restaurants:

"'Do' a phone call instead of lunch," says the brochure in our latest phone bill. They compete against caterers: "Call a family funion! 'says the same brochure. They compete against stationery and greeting card companies. As daughter goes to college, dad gives her a telephone credit card instead of much cheaper paper and stamps.

They compete against magazines with directories of business advertising — the two-ton "yellow pages."

They compete against the pokey U.S. Postal Service when proliferating Fax messages go over telephone lines.

If your name is in the telephone directory, phone companies make money when solicitors call you. When you take your name out of the directory, the phone company charges you each month. That's a "win-win" proposition for the telephone company.

SO NOW the telephone companies are lobbying Lansing for a chance to "compete" in a longer list of businesses.

They want to get further into "information systems" as if you weren't inundated with enough advertising.

They want to manufacture equipment — as if their former parent, AT&T, and its many competitors were somehow sluggish.

They want to get into the long-distance business — as if there weren't enough long-distance companies.

Sponsors of the bills — state Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, and state Rep. Alma Stallworth, D-Detroit — have been hard-sold a bill of goods under the code word of "competition."

MUCH IS WRONG with the telecommunica-

• Telephone companies are a) monopolies and b) big. As they seek to invade new lines of business, there are grave risks they can hide expansion costs in their existing monopoly business, underpricing smaller firms.

• After several federal anti-trust suits, the old AT&T empire was broken up, and seven regional Bell operating companies were created with restricted powers. Today the telephone companies want to recreate that empire in the name of "competition."

• This week the House Judiciary Committee noted that the Dunaskiss-Stallworth bills would create new exemptions under the Freedom of Information Act.

• Telephone systems in Washington, D.C., Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and San Francisco have been failing, apparently when a deluge of 11 a.m. calls shut down the electronic systems that route them. We wonder if it could happen in metro De-

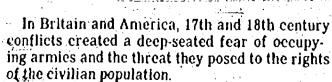

No, telephone companies have enough challenges, enough things to do, enough businesses to compete in Michigan doesn't need the fiendishly complex "telecommunications act" to give the powerful even more power.

Second, third amendments brotect civilians from armies

HE SECOND amendment — the right to keep and bear arms - is one of the most cited and least understood provisions of the Bill of Rights.

The entire amendment reads, "A well regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to bear arms, shall not be infringed."

Coupled with the third amendment, which prohibits quartering soliders without a property owner's consent, it's clear that the founding fathers weren't looking for the proliferation of weapons and the related problems that exist in today's society.

It was Britain's double standard in dealing with its American colonies on these issues that in part led to the American Revolution.

The second amendment has not prevented the federal government from regulating certain firearms and prohibiting some weapons. Due to the constitution's civilian controls over the military, the third amendment has never been tested.

To the editor:

Your headline of "Budget Faces Board Opposition" (in the June 24 Observer) contained many interesting pieces of information.

Not only did it indicate that a lame duck board was intent on "ramming through everything it could" prior to July 1, but the figures issued now do not match those given by the board prior to the millage

Their 1990-91 budget projected revenues of $73.2 million, but now we are told the revenues received were $75.9 million. That's $2.7 MORE than anticipated!

That same budget projected expenditures of $75.2 million. Now we are told that next year's budget will increase 11.3 percent to $85.1 million. An increase of 11.3 percent means that the expenditures were really $76.5 million. That's $1.3 million more than anticipated. However, the most disturbing sentence in the whole article is, "Moreover schools officials expect to have a fund balance of $6.5 million at the end of the next fiscal year, compared to a $2.3 million at the end of Prior to each of the four millage elections, the school officials kept saying that there would be little or zero fund balance at the end of the 1990-91 school year. Now there is a fund balance of $2.3 million! Every junior high school student who was cheated out of six classes, every student who was cheated out of expressive arts, every athlete who deceived into "pay-for-play," every teacher who was laid off, every custodian who worked short-handed, every secretary who was out-ofwork, every administrator who was released, every school which shared a principal, every John Glenn sleepin parade-marcher who was used as a pawn, every "yes" voter who was deceived, should be "hoppin mad"!

Some $2.3 million could have restored many student programs, provided many athletic programs, called-back some laid-off workers, brought back some expressive arts, and generally met some unfulfilled student needs. What callous, arrogant pride and lack of concern for the kids. This they did FOR KIDS and TO KIDS:

The same people who perpetrated this deceit continue to keep their lobs and continue to deceive with arrogance, The superintendent, the cabinet, and the board members, which led the way, should be replaced immediately if integrity is ever restoreds

They wonder why the citizens accuse them of lack of credibility , and honesty. Maybe it's the new unath. Or maybe it's the old shell gamie. Whatever it is, the audit's report will make interesting reading this year.

Where is law enforcement?

It's time that we put parents back in charge of raising children instead of TV and filthy movies. But how can this be done when people drive 75 to 100 mph three and four feet off your back bumper. A lot of them have children in their cars. People run through red lights, stop signs and if you blow the horn at them they give you a half a victory salute. Don't look to law enforcement or congress members to help because they don't

After years of letter writing with no success I know that reckless driv... ing is big bucks to the State of Michigan. In three years our insurance on catastrophic went from $3 to $100 and it's going to take another jump. The manufacturers put seat belts and air bags on cars so they can charge more money on the cars.

Not long ago the big topic was gun control with the news media. They said it would save lives. The big aim in law enforcement is confiscation of the right to bear arms to protect your home. Over the 4th of July weekend, one policeman was killed with a hand gun. Thirteen were killed by cars and 16 were killed by

Words change in ballad

BACK IN THE early '60s, when the country was still paranoid in the aftermath of the infamous McCarthy hearings; the Chad Mitchell Trio came out with a song called "The Ballad of the John Birch Society,"

The Birchers, of course, were the ultimate Communist hunters, and the Chad Mitchell group was a sort of musical version of "Saturday" Night Live." Their songs parodied everything from Billie Sol Estes to the high cost of dying.

One of the lines from the song about the Birchers sald: "If mommy is a Commie, then you gotta turn her in," Such a concept, even in those paranoid days, seemed ludicrous nough to be funny.

Looking back on that era, when bomb shelters were the order of the day and "better Red than dead" was the slogan of the peaceniks, we can cluck our tongues over the paranola that reigned throughout the land. We're much too sophisticated for that today. Or are we?

WE SEEM TO have overcome our fear of communism, especially as we watch it crumble throughout Eastern Europe. But as we wage war on illegal drugs and legal alcohol, we are not far removed from the Red Scare hysteria that motivated Joe McCarthy and his followers.

Drug check points, sobriety check ell song keeps running through my lanes and police sting operations are accepted as "effective" ways of fighting this current menace to society. If such techniques mean giving up a few individual liberties, we shrug and say, "Well, It'll be worth it " in the long run."

When police want "no-knock searches" and "warrantless searches," we shrug and say, "Sure, if it'll help fight drugs."

Out in Rochester Hills last week, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department announced that it had arrested eight people over a 10-day period and charged them with either selling or possessing narcotics. Five of the arrests were made as a result of the department's Turn in a Pusher pro-

Under the TIP program, people are invited to snitch on their neighbors or anyone else that they think might be using or selling drugs. On the surface it doesn't sound so bad, but every time I read about this program, that line from the Chad Mitch-

head - "If mommy is a Commie

AND THEN it happened, not in Oakland County this time but in Muskegon. A 10-year-old girl who, officials say, learned in school about the dangers of illegal drugs, picked up the phone, dialed 9-1-1 and turned in her mother.

She told the dispatcher who took the call that her mother kept marijuana in the house and smoked it. Based on that phone call and the information the girl gave to the police operator, the state police got a search warrant for the girl's house... They found what they believed was a small amount of marijuana and the mother is expected to be arraigned on a possession charge.

The girl, meanwhile, along with her 9-year-old stepbrother, has been taken into the custody of the Muskegon County Protective Services and is staying with relatives pending the outcome of a court hear-

And that's just a little slice of Americana, 1991 style. We haven't come that far from McCarthyism, after all. We're now singing "The Ballad of a Drug-Free Society." The tune is the same; the words are different. "If mommie is a druggle, then you've gotta turn her in."

Only now, it's actually happening.

WHEN I WENT to camp, a favorite song was "100 Bottles of Beer on the Wall" and the countdown, if the bus trip was long enough and the campers persistent enough, was to NO bottles of beer on the wall.

When I went to camp we spent a lot of time working with rope, learning to make various kinds of knots for sailing or for crafts or to tie our bedrolls for overnights.

When I went to camp, we weren't encouraged to talk of home - perhaps to avoid home sickness.

But that was then in the northern woods of Michigan - this is now on a wooded site in West Bloomfield.

A small circle of campers sings: Cigarettes taste bad. They hurt my throat. If I smoke too many, They will make me croak." Other verses refer to marijuana and alcohol:

How sad, said a couple of people when I told them about it... But think about it.

Finally we're starting to come to grips with a problem that in past societies sometimes was treated as a joke, particularly if it were a fallingdown-drunk man, or hidden behind household doors, particularly if it were a woman frequently found passed out on the floor.

And the children, well, they were left to handle it as best they could.

And that best wasn't very good. According to current statistics, "DRINKING-CAN MAKE every?" more than 50 percent of all recovering members of Alcoholics Anonymous report growing up in a family with at least one alcoholic parent.

This camp isn't somewhere else run by somebody else. It's here in our suburbs - at the Henry Ford Hospital Maplegrove Center in West Bloomfield. It is run by volunteers from Maplegrove Community Education based in Birmingham and funded by the Birmingham Junior League.

How sad? How very lucky for these children.

Education needed to teach compassion to all ages

A HOMELESS, 12-week-old kitten from Pontiac died recently.

It had been this friendly kitten's fatal misfortune to trot toward some strange boys he had hoped to play with. Instead, they tossed him into a five gallon bucket, poured gasoline on him and set him on fire.

After the Michigan Humane Society tried for several days to save him, they finally euthanized him to put an end to his misery.

Why am I bothering to write about one small, pathetic cat when there are so many other issues of far greater impact?

Maybe it's because as I write a pair of kittens is playing happily at my feet, and because I have housed and protected animals all my life. My earliest recorded difficulties with the authorities resulted from action I took in 1949 when I witnessed a kitten being similarly burned. Somebody had to speak up for the speechless.

BUT THE MOST important reason I'm dedicating an entire column to the story of the death of that trusting little waif is because that vicious act illustrates a horrible failure of the home, the church and the schools - structure in the school that is often to teach a significant number of our cepts of common compassion.

I wish now that I had done more as an administrator in my various school districts to ensure that anticruelty curricula were fully infused throughout all of the subjects and grades.

John Telford

Children need to have support unavailable in the home.

Full-time social workers or guidance counselors should become al and thus more responsible and standard staff in elementary schools. Social and emotional skills and experience must become an integral part of the curriculum.

THIS WILL help instill in young children a greater caring and empathy for others - including nonhuman others.

All of God's furry and feathered creatures have rights, too. What alarms me most is the increasing number of incidents of animal cruelty involving juveniles or young * Two young men stabbed a 3month-old puppy 11 times in Rochester-Hills last summer.

IT IS HOPED OLDER, professionhumanistic adults would know better and behave better. Unfortunately this isn't true.

There remain the annual autumn blood rites of "sport" hunting that countless insecure males of both dulge in to reassure themselves of their manhood.

The fur traders' use of leg-hold traps still prevail.

And laboratory researchers are continuing to inflict pain and death on innocent animals in experiments that either could be performed by some other means or are unneces-

A case in point is the shooting of State University as part of a study of head wounds that several doctors say duplicates research done 100 years ago.

THIS INCIDENT highlights a serious need not only for educating children regarding kindness to oth-

blue and white collar background in- ers, but for similar adult education

If there is any hope of our becoming a "kinder, gentler" nation, everyone will have to take a consistent stand against cruelty in all its forms.

One little kitten from Pontiac has perished. Due to his death, all of us are just a little less alive today as

Wendt fluent in hoops

By C.J. Risak staff writer

It took a while. It took a determined commitment. And it was a gamble.

But Greg Wendt has found a basketball home - five years and more than 4,000 miles after leaving the University of Detroit.

Wendt, the Redford Catholic Central star (class of '81) and native of Livonia, is a national celebrity in his sport.

In Germany.

Wendt plays for Tus Bramsche, a German Division I team sponsored by Rasch. The 6-foot-6 forward has made a significant difference for Bramsche, guiding it to the Division II championship last year and into Division I, then helping it stay there this year - Bramsche made the playoffs, losing to South Division champion Bamburg.

And what precisely did Wendt contribute? How about a scoring champlonship? He led all Division I scorers with a 37 points-per-game average. It was his second-consecutive scoring crown - Wendt led Division II last year with a 43-point av-

SO IT'S not too surprising when-Wendt says: "I love it. To me, European basketball is a lot better than

The Continental Basketball Association was one of Wendt's earlier stops, which included a two-year stay at Duke University in North Carolina; two years at U-D; a year playing in Pensacola in the CBA; and a tour in the fledgling U.S. Basketball League, where former U-D

Wendt, who was all-Midwestern Collegiate Conference in both his years at U-D (he averaged 14 points and seven rebounds a game as a senior), hurt his back playing in the USBL and decided to give the game up. He took a job in sales with Automatic Data Processing, and later round by the Boston Celtics in '86. transferred to Minneapolis.

While there, his back improved and Wendt began playing again in what he described as the Minneapolis version of the "St. Cecilia league," a reference to the Detroit gym that draws so many local stars during summer. A friend he met while playing in Minneapolis, Shel-teammate and another CC alum, don Anderson, suggested Wendt look into playing overseas.

> ANDERSON HAD spent time playing in Germany and still retained contacts there. Wendt had considered playing in Europe after graduating from U-D, but opted not to when he was drafted in the sixth

"I had this dream of playing in the NBA," he said. "In hindsight, I wish I had tried (Europe) right out of college."

Armed with Anderson's recommendation and a second chance, Wendt decided to go for it. The decision wasn't easy, nor was it one he could make himself. Not only was he giving up his job, but he was getting married to his high school sweetheart, Kathy Rogers.

They both decided it was a good gamble. "We thought, 'Let's take it while we're young. Once you get older, you plant your roots and you're not as willing to take the chance."

He signed a one-year contract that included an apartment and a car. He flew back to Detroit to marry Kathy; the day after the wedding, they flew to Germany.

WENDT WAS determined to make the most of his German experience. He was fortunate in having a one-

'M SORRY RICK LARSON Livonia's Ford Field is not quite the same.

In a city of 100,000, there's only one baseball diamond left with a grass infield, and it's going to pot.

In fact, the whole place looks

When managers, players and fans complain about the deplorable conditions, the complaints should be directed at Larson, a 27-year. city employee who took over seven months ago as parks maintenance supervisor.

Larson works for Department of Public Services director Robert Beckley, who is ultimately responsible for all the decisions made about maintenance of our city's ball diamonds, soccer fields and golf courses.

Don't direct your complaints against the Parks and Recreation Department, which only coordinates and administers the sports programs.

What's wrong with Ford Field's Diamond No. 1, which is the home of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League?

. The list reads as long as my arm. Right now the only thing functioning is the scoreboard (donated by the Optimist Club).

Larson said his crew of employees, approximately 30 seasonal and 23 permanent employees, are doing their jobs no differently than a year ago.

UPON MY INSPECTION of the facility Monday night following a Connie Mack game, here is a sample of the obstacles managers, players and fans are facing:

· Weeds: They are everywhere, including the outfield where clover reigns supreme ("We've put weed killer in the outfield twice, and the clover really seems to thrive in the heat and drought," Larson said.)

• Sink holes: We're just not talking about the pitcher's mound and batter's boxes. Just walk around the infield and you'll find a mini-replica of the Grand Canyon.

• Lips and dips: Ridges around the diamond have made playing the infield an occupational hazard: Several LCBL players are nursing injuries because of dangerous bad hops ricocheting off aluminum bats. The field is simply not level.

• Lack of water: Following the July 7 storm, the field went without water for a week, according to a reliable source. The sprinkler system supposedly runs from midnight to 2:30 a.m. each morning, said Larson, but after looking at the dust flying around, it's a wonder the place doesn't become a permanent site for a rodeo (at 12:17 a.m. Wednesday, the system was not on). It's very dry on the back side of the infield.

 Concession stand: This dilapidated cement block building, with paint peeling everywhere, Is-leased and approved by the City Council to private enterprises. Sometimes it's open and sometimes it's not during peak nights. Some patrons claim they have been charged for-

Walter's clinches LCBL crown

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

People can dispute Jay Gabel's second home run Wednesday all they want, but there should be no dispute over who won the regular-season championship of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League: Walter's Appli-

Amid controversy, Walter's clinched the title with a 14-4 six-inning mercy win over Redford Little Caesars at Ford Field. Gabel, who hit a two-run homer to highlight an eight-run fourth inning, sent a threerun shot to right in the fifth that some thought bounced over the fence. and should have been ruled a ground-rule double.

Caesars' coach John Moraitis thought so, arguing enough to be ejected by home plate umpire Chuck Brady. Caesars' right fielder Andy Weighill said the ball cleared the fence by "3 inches."

. The loss was the fifth straight for Caesars, which before July 10 had a two-game lead on Walter's. Walter's has won five straight and is 19-7-1 with one game left before the fourteam league playoffs. Caesars is in second at 16-10-1.

Gabel (Livonia Churchill) drove in 'five runs and his fourth-inning homer over the left-center fence forced Caesars starter Eric Stanczyk out of the game with Walter's ahead 8-4. There was no doubt about his first homer, but even Gabel wasn't sure his second shot cleared the right field fence until someone told him

"I didn't think it was gone," said Gabel. "It didn't feel that good but the ball was carrying well that -

Walter's leadoff batter Joe Brusseau (Redford Bishop Borgess and Madonna University) had three hits, reached base safely all five trips to the plate, scored three times and had two RBI. Jeff Pendell (Livonia Churchill and Madonna) and Paul Pirronello (Redford Catholic Central and Henry Ford CC) had two hits apiece, while Mark Hribar and Jerry Kõester drove in two runs each.

Walter's trailed 4-1 after three innings, but starting pitcher Chad Wrona settled down enough to enable Mike Keller to coach his first regular-season champion in 10 years as coach. Caesars batter Jeff Bates collected three of the seven hits off Wrona and leadoff man Earl Johnson had two RBI.

"I told Chad to take a breather and start having fun and in the third he started to come around," Keller said. "The kids played well, but this is only one-third of the pie."

The outlook was not particularly bright. The Redford Marauders had seen what seemed like a safe firstplace cushion erode away in the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League. They had tied the Birmingham Cobras II and lost to Cobras I in a twoday span last week to fall into second place.

On Sunday at Livonia's Jaycee Park, the Marauders were up against another tough opponent: Flint Budlight, one of the GLMSL's top four teams. And the Marauders were going into the match missing several players.

As it turned out, maybe being shorthanded was a blessing. In their 1-0 loss to Cobras I, the Marauders missed all sorts of scoring chances. But against Budlight, Jim Rhoad a reserve forward who graduated from Livonia Franklin in 1983 started and made the most of his chance, scoring the only goal of the match to clinch the regular-season title with a 1.0 win.

Rhoad's goal came with about four minutes left in the opening half. . The Marauder defense did the rest, turning away all Budlight opportuni-

Qualifier

Western's Bolo enters U.S. Seniors

By Marty Budner staff writer

A business venture interrupted Hunter McDonald's last opportunity to play in a professional golf tournament.

That's not going to happen again.

An elated McDonald will participate in next week's U.S. Senior Open tournament thanks to his superb play in a special qualifier conducted by the Golf Association of Michigan Monday at the Knollwood Country Club in West Bloomfield. McDonald was one of four golfers from the 75field tournament earning a Senior Open berth.

An amateur out of Oakland Hills Country Club, McDonald shot a one under par 70 on the 6,600 yard Knollwood course to match scores with professionals Dennis Alden of the Pontiac Country Club and Babe Hiskey of Pirates Beach (Texas) Country Club.

Redford's Ray Bolo, head professional at the Western Golf and Country Club, grabbed the final qualifying spot after winning a sudden-death playoff with Cass Jawor representing the Hampton Golf Club of Rochester Hills.

It turned out McDonald didn't need a playoff.

MCDONALD WON local and sectional qualifiers back in 1966 to qualify for the U.S. Open which was to be held at the Olympic Country Club in San Francisco. However, he could not at-

"I had to relinquish that spot because I went to England for a business trip," said McDonald. "That's what being an amateur is all about. But there are no business trips planned this time."

golf

And McDondald is thrilled about playing the U.S. Senior Open on his home course. It's an opportunity he'd been preparing for since the beginning of the year.

"I'm really excited about it," said McDonald, who has won 17 club championships in 28 years as a member of Oakland Hills. "I just had one, shot at it and who knows when it will come back to Oakland Hills. It could be another 10 years.

"I've been working out, trying to get my body in shape. I've lost some weight and have been working on my mind to get to play well, and here it is," he said. "I've been saying all along that the hardest part is qualifying."

McDonald certainly didn't waste his chance. The 50-year-old manufacturers representative from Franklin had two birdles (365-yard ninth hole and 371-yard 10th hole) and a bogey (407yard 12th hole) on the competitive Knollwood layout. He registered a solid round of golf at just the right time.

"I hit the ball solid from tee to green, I putted steady and I had a lot of opportunities for birdies which just didn't go in," he said. "I was really only threatened two times at making bogey. I drove it well and sort of managed my way around the golf course exactly the way I wanted

WHILE MCDONALD and his cohorts at 70 really were never in danger of losing their qualifying spots, it was a different story for Bolo and Jawor. They turned in rounds of 72 about midway through the competition and nervously watched the leader board. No one, however, could match or better their scores which necessitated a sudden-death playoff.

Bolo and Jawor each scored a four on the first sudden death hole. Jawor then hit his next tee shot into the woods on the 10th hole while Bolo drilled his tee shot right down the middle of the fairway. That was the difference as Bolo made par and Jawor missed a 20-foot putt attempt for

Thus Bolo qualified for his fourth U.S. Senior Open tournament. The 57-year-old club pro previously played in Senior Opens at Hazeltine National Golf Club (1983), Oak Hill Country Club (1987) and Laurel Valley Golf Club (1989).

Bolo missed the cut in his three previous Opens, two of them by one stroke. He's hoping for different results in his hometown.

"I'm going to be playing 10 miles from my house and that will be delightful," said Bolo, head pro at Western for the past 31 years.

"I just hit a lot of fairways and a lot of greens today. I only had two three-putts. I was very satisfied with my play, except for the last hole which I bogeyed.'

McDonald and Bolo both had a successful qualifying round. They hope to continue that consistent play next week at Oakland Hills...

Payne makes successful return

By Brad Emons

staff writer

Livonian Craig Payne, 1984... Olympic Trials finalist, returned to the boxing ring Tuesday night after a six-year absence, scoring a unanimous four-round decision over K. Porter in a professional heavyweight bout held at the Lansing Civic Center.

Payne's scheduled opponent. Vernon Griffin of Detroit Kronk, was a no show, but the 217-pound Porter (15-7) of Battle Creek proved to an able stand-in.

"This guy (Porter) has been around, he's fought guys Michael Dokes, Larry Holmes and Tony

boxing

Tucker," said Payne's trainer Paul: Soucy of the Livonia Boxing Club. "Craig had some ring rust, but wasn't bad. He dominated the four rounds. I'm very happy with the performance, but now we have to put on some polish and have him keep droppoing the weight, and keep him busy."

Payne, who is 2.0 as a pro, weighed in at 295 pounds.

"I was nervous because I've been out six years," said the cement contractor. "I was not quite ready like I wanted to be. He (Porter) countered my right hand and it made me leery. He caught me with a few good shots and I'm a little sore this morning."

Payne's best round was the second, when he rocked Porter with some effective hooks.

"I hurt him in the second round, but couldn't put him away," said the 28-year-old Payne. "I tried for the knockout, but I got tired. But we'll get it back together by the end of the year."

. His next bout is scheduled for Aug. 13 at the Palace of Auburn

Mustangs rally for win

The Mustangs, a Connie Mack League (ages 16-18) team from Livonia, ran their Washtenaw Amateur Baseball Association record to 14-3-1 with a come-frombehind 10-8 triumph Monday over B.T. Express in a game played at Ford Field. The Mustangs trailed 8-4 before rallying for four runs in the sixth inning and two more in the decisive seventh.

Dennis Creedon sparked the winners with two hits and three RBI, including a key two-run single in the sixth. Jeff Hunt, Brian White and Jessie Gerwatowski each contributed two hits.

Three pitchers worked for the Mustangs.

Tad Dennis started, lasting 21/3 innings before giving way to Ron Sherry, who went the next 23/3. Winning pitcher Steve McCool threw the final two innings, holding the Ann Arbor squad off the board.

The Mustangs are a half-game behind Cliff Keen of Ann Arbor in the WABA standings.

ON SATURDAY, the Mustangs swept a doubleheader from Walled Lake Adray, 11-4 and 5-4.

baseball

Gerwatowski pitched a six-hitter in the nightcap, going 61/2 innings before giving way to Mike Higgins,

Tim Sudz delivered a key two-run single for the Mustangs in the first inning. He also added an RBI sacrifice

In the opener, Livonia pounded Adray, 11-4, as Jeff Schaffer had two hits and two RBI. Hunt also knocked in a pair of runs, while Mike Giorgi collected a pair of hits and scored four times.

Pitcher Mike Berry, with relief help from Ron Sherry in the seventh, was the winner. Berry struck out six, walked one and allowed seven hits.

OSTROWSKI 2ND

Michael Ostrowski, a 1989 Redford Catholic Central High graduation, finished second last week in the 180.5-pound division at the Grant National Sombo Wrestling Championship in Battle Creek.

Ostrowski lost his last match by one point in the final few seconds against a U.S. opponent who finished third recently in the 1991 World Championships (held in the Soviet Union).

The Redford resident will compete next week, representing the Michigan State University judo team, at the Junior Olympics in

VARDAR WINS CUP

The Vardar III '74 boys soccer team, led by Livonian Dominic Vella (18 goals) continued its three-year unbeaten streak in tournament play by winning the International Friend-3-2; North Farmington, 19-9; and Al-ship Cup, held June 30 through July 6 in Denver, Colo. The event drew clubs from 12 states and 11 countries. Vardar III '74 beat Necaxa of Mexico City, 5-2, for the title after beating the Colorado State Cup runner-up Evergreen Stingers in the quarterfinals, 4-2, and Spirit West of Kansas City, Mo., in the semifinals,

In round-robin play, Vardar III '74 downed C.U.M. of Mexico City, 11-1,

• Grooming: Don't use the Spree celebration as an excuse, the entire complex has a Guns n' Roses look about it that would make Axel Rose proud.

• The lights: An ongoing problem for years. The dimly lighted diamond may have cost at least one college player, unaccustomed to judging balls in the outfield, a procontract earlier this summer because he performed poorly in front of scouts.

• Holes in the dugouts: Those gotta be sun roofs, right?

IN DEFENSE of Larson, he (personally) has only received one complaint about the diamond, and that was from an LCBL manager prior to the season.

"If someone has a problem, you can fill out a field report form, we're open to suggestions," said the parks maintenance supervisor.

As a longtime resident of the city and former sandlot player, I have a few suggestions.

First, make Ford Field as green as the soccer fields at Bicentennial. Park. After driving over to the Seven Mile Road complex, I found it. interesting that one of the soccer fields was being watered heavily during the day by an above-ground, irrigation system. The signs also read: "Off limits, closed for reseed-

· I guess baseball is literally a dying sport. Just look at the infield at-Ford Field.

Secondly, get some competent people specifically assigned to Diamond No. 1 that know something about groundskeeping.

TRUE, THE field is dragged every day by a morning crew of four, and the (low) pitcher's mound and batter's box is packed with clay, but it takes more than that.

Larson came to DPS from Parks and Forestry, so he should know something about keeping things green and spruced up.

Ford Field has become what you call a "55 mph lawn."

The faster you drive by it on Farmington Road, the better it

But when you drive by it slowly on Lyndon Avenue, it comes nowhere close to being a "25 mph

You'd think the Parks and Recreation Commission, chaired by Beverly Griffin, would exert some authority on the DPS people, namely Mr. Beckley. But these are the same people. who ran poor Mike Adray, the appliance dealer, out of town, turning their backs on his financial support for amateur baseball. It seems politicians, perhaps even the new administration under Mayor Bob Bennett, don't know how to handle these correctible situations. In the meantime, Mr. Larson and his assistants, Pat McKeon and Dave Benson, can take a hard look at a once proud baseball diamond going down the drain.

Having played, watched and covered games for nearly 31 years at Ford Field, something is wrong. The place just doesn't look the same.

The German league is divided into North and South divisions, with a 32game regular season. Bramsche. a town of 30,000 located in northwest. Germany, is in the North Division. Each division has six teams; the top four make the playoffs. The first two playoff rounds are best-of-three games; the finals are best-of-five.

The bottom two teams in each division have their own single-round playoff, with the losers dropping down to Division II, to be replaced by the Division II divisional champs.

Also included on the team's schedule are approximately 15 "friendship" games, played against national teams from neighboring countries.

One of the first things both Wendt and his wife did was to enroll in an intensive language course (six hours a day, five days a week for six months). Both are now fluent in German; Kathy works for the team's sponsor, Rasch, a wallpaper and fabrle manufacturer.

Wendt added that having Kathy with him helped immensely. "People who can adjust to it can have a great time over there," he said.

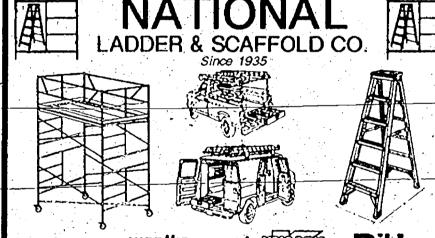

There's little doubt he has. Actually, on the court Wendt has had few problems. "To me, the game is no adjustment. They really rely on Americans for everything - to score, to rebound, to handle the ball

CONSIDERING WENDT'S allaround style of play - at U-D, he was the team's second-leading scorer and top rebounder, and ranked among the MCC leaders in rebounds and assists - it's no wonder he blended right in.

And it's no wonder he'll go back. He spends his summers with his family, now in Farmington Hills (Kathy's brother is Kevin Rogers, a standout on Eastern Michigan's baseball team; she's a Mercy HS grad). And he doesn't spend much time thinking about a future with an American pro team.

At Meadow Brook

Patti Page brings back warm memories

Patti Page and Pat Boone will appear at Meadow Brook Music Festival at 8 p.m. Friday, July 19. Tickets are $27.50, $22.50, $18:50 and $12.50. The Meadow Brook Music Festival is at te Baldwin Pavilion at Oakland University in Rochester Hills.

By John Monaghan special writer

ATTI PAGE still enjoys performing the songs that made her famous as much as her loyal fans love hearing them.

"I think of lovely things," she says, "as I've heard people do when they hear them. So many things have happened to me over the years that I can't help but recall them when I perform."

Since the original success of "How Much is that Doggie in the Window?" and "Tennessee Waltz" in the early 1950s, Page has recorded 80 albums and 157 singles, performed in three movies, hosted weekly television shows on all three major networks, and toured around the world.

This Friday, Page's current concert tour brings her, along with Pat Boone, back to the Meadow Brook Music Festival in Rochester Hills to stir the collective memory all over again.

Even sniffy critics in New York who previously criticized her all-American persona and vocal stylings are calling her performances "unpretentious," "remarkable" and "intimate." Her desire to get close to her New York audience found her greeting each individual there.

THAT SAME kind of intimacy is harder to capture at a large venue

Fowler, the second-youngest of 11 children, in Claremore, Okla. Her first peforming job was in 1946, on the "Meet Patti Page" radio program in Tulsa, sponsored by the local Page Milk Co. When the regular star left, Clara Ann got the part and a new name.

Musician and manager Jack Rael, passing through town at the time, heard a broadcast and recognized her raw talent. He quit his job to represent her and managed her through her initial hits, beginning with "Confess" in 1948. He's still managing her today.

"It's got to be one of the longest manager-performer relationships on record," notes Page. "We still fight like cats and dogs from time to time, but we respect each PAGE'S CAREER has taken her in several directions, including motion pictures. She had parts in three films, including the classic "Elmer Gantry" in 1960.

"I was used to television where you're on the go all the time," she says. "So sitting on a soundstage. and waiting for them to call me was a little hard for me."

Her last film, 1961's "Dondi," was based on the popular comic strip and starred David Janssen. "It's in the book as one of the 50 worst films of all time," Page notes with a laugh.

Though she doesn't have a recording contract currently, Patti Page will soon see a series of her original, Mercury albums re-released on Polygram compact discs. Digital recordings have already surfaced in Japan, where she has played on several occasions and enjoys a loyal following.

Page has been cited for the unepretentious nature she brings to her show, which includes standards like "Old Cape Cod" and "Allegheny Moon" and some current selections. Page especially admires the work of Barbra Streisand and Bette Midler.

"WHAT APPEALS to me in a new song? The idea that I might be able to sing it," she says. "I couldn't sing a certain Whitney Huston song that a I love so much, because it's not in my range."

Critics have noted that Page's voice has changed surprisingly little over the years.

"My voice was a little higher back then," she says. "I can still hit the same notes, but now I can hit the lower ones too."

The Meadow Brook show will reunite Page with some especially loyal fans. "I have so many friends in Detroit," says Page, who made frequent visits to the Motor Citywhen she hosted a televison show sponsored by Oldsmobile. Her first Detroit performance was at the London Chop House.

On Thursday, she will be searching the first few rows for members of the Patti Page Appreciation Society, which is based in Flint. Unfortunately, she won't have much time to visit. She leaves the following morning for an engagement in New Jersey.

Keep sanctions, says treasurer

EAST LANSING (AP) - Michigan should continue to restrict investment of pension fund assets in companies with ties to South Africa, state Treasurer Douglas Roberts sald Thursday.

Roberts said the changes in that country's apartheid laws have yet to meet the standard spelled out in Michigan law for halting divestment of pension funds.

"One of those things in fact is that all citizens of South Africa have equal rights. In my opinion, that has not been achieved," he said.

The Bush Administration's decision to end U.S. sanctions against South Africa has no direct effect on . Michigan's law requiring the state to sell off its investments in companies ·with ties to the racially divided na-

But the president urged state and local governments with divestiture laws or other sanctions against South Africa to repeal them.

MICHIGAN'S law gives the state treasurer the power to end the pension fund sell-off by determining that apartheld has ended. The law says the treasurer must decide if full

"I have no desire to make any change," he told reporters before a speech to the Lansing Economic

About $2.6 billion of Michigan's $20 billion in pension fund assets remain in companies that have ties to South Africa, Roberts said.

That's down from $5 billion on Jan. 1, 1989, when the law went into effect. The pension funds must be entirely divested of South African-related investments by Jan. 1, 1994.

Economy shows products can run amok in Japan

THE YANGTZE River is flooding, and 1,300 people have died. It is headline news here in Tokyo, the kind of thing that rates a paragraph or so, if a mention at all, in the papers back home. The shift in perspective of local journalism is in a way more profound than the shift in time when you travel this far. Detroit is, in fact, just an hour. back on the watch, until you take in consideration the half a day lost in a trip across the North Pole, some 36, hours of daylight soaked up in the time warp of a 747. I have been traveling to Japan, off and on, for some 13 years, just long enough to begin to figure out the subway system in Tokyo, and long enough for telephone technology to make it easy to work the bright green pay phones. That the phones are easy to use today in Tokyo, while Michigan Bell has managed to make Detroit phones worse than Mexico City, is one of those changes that mark progress.

The auto business has changed as well. The Japanese are stronger than ever, and the sense of economic pride is palpable. Their banks now take up more than half a list of the world's largest, and there are no U.S. banks on the list.

On the other hand, corruption in the Tokyo Stock Exchange has prompted several top-level resignations, and growing mob influence is feared. The rice farmers still hold considerable power, blocking any imports, while land prices skyrocket and food prices make the

auto talk Dan McCosh

$500 steak dinner, common in local restaurants, comprehensible, if not understandable. These are some of the most obvious side effects of the stalling on opening Japan to imported goods.

BUT WE ARE here to look at cars, and the overwhelming sense is still of a kind of bonzal approach to transportation. The minicars proliferate and move upscale. A quick trip through traffic in a Honda Beat - a tiny two-seat convertible with a converted motorcycle engine, luggage space for a tuna sandwich, and a boom-box stereo - leaves us giggling for more.

Couriers tear around in vehicles that resemble nothing more than giant tiddlywinks, with huge, D shaped windscreens enfolding tiny, three-wheeled scooters. Pragmatism prevails in this maelstrom of traffic, and we take note as an elderly business man is cut off, and proceeds to chew out the offender at the next stop light, just like New York. Well, not exactly.

But the traffic is merely an analogy for the zany proliferation of manufactured goods that jam retail outlets. A hundred variations of a single product is not unusual, whether it is tape recorders or cars. There is a growing caution among automakers that perhaps this has gone too far, that there is no way to make eight engine variations for every car line and remain profitable.

A turbocharged, four-wheel drive, four-seat minivan careens around a corner to punctuate the notion.

We try the electronics district, where one store, specializing in communications radios, displays perhaps a thousand variations on a single wall of tiny, two-way transceivers. In a case in the samestore are a dozen different telegraph keys. Down the street is another shop selling electronic parts, so crowded you can't walk the aisles, with microphone cords and antennas hanging in foot-thick bun-

IT'S ONE outcome of production run amuck. The Japanese economy is based on making things, not so much selling them or even owning them. It's a staggering flood, where the survivors persist on the surface by dint of flash and innovation, and even 15 minutes of fame seems an

The who, why and how of bankruptcy filings

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Charge accounts are maxed out, about to be disconnected, the car is in repossession and daily phone calls from creditors send the blood pressure soaring.

Earnings simply do not provide income enough to keep up with the bills, especially now that overtime $10,000 to $20,000 of unsecured liafaltering economy,

A gloomy picture but one that is trict of Michigan, in Detroit. During the first four months of 1991, bankruptcles are up significantly over the same period last year, from 4,597 filings in 1990 to 6,021.

Of the total number filed, more than 80 percent are personal or consumer filings, people whose financial lives are out of control. They seek

In the scenario described by Gold, Chapter 7 bankruptcy is appropriate because, after exemptions allowed by law, assets are nil.

Exemptions include $7,500 equity in a home, $1,200 value in a vehicle, relief in bankruptcy court under one $1,300 in personal and other posses-of two options — complete liquida- sions and $750 in work tools. Renters mitted an additional $3,750 in miscellaneous deductions.

"Abuse is like pornography. You know it when you see it. It jumps off the page. It shocks the conscience," Mack said, adding that court challenges for substantial abuse under Chapter 7 have steadily increased in the past six months. The disposition of such challenges are settled in

The case of the $60,000-a-year professional is telling. As required by law, he submitted verification of income and a monthly budget of living expenses to Gold, trustee in the case. Allowances for such budgeted items as telephone, clothing, recreation and church contributions were considered exorbitant, and the court dismissed the petition.

While there are no hard and fast formulas to determine substantial abuse, Mack said "it is a good faith issue. Should creditors be forced to subsidize recreation, or clothing or . dry cleaning? Maybe a person has to tone down lifestyle,"

Under Chapter 13, debtors at-tempt to pay outstanding bills, agreeing to repayment schedules of three to five years. Those filing 13 are normally employed or have a regular source of income.

"The classic 13," according to West Bloomfield attorney David Ruskin who is also a bankruptcy trustee, are nomeowners facing im minent foreclosure because of default in house payments. "It allows time to catch up."

UNDER 13, assets aren't liquidat- ed, permitting the homeowner with a large equity the opportunity to sal-vage the investment.

Other factors also prompt 13, according to trustee Earle Erman, a Bloomfield Township attorney. They are personal ethics, legal guidance and the willingness of creditors to accept repayment plans.

In certain regions of the country, such factors appear to weigh heavily. In Tennessee, for example, there is a disproportionately high incidence of Chapter 13 filings, said U.S. trustee Mack.

Court costs for filing Chapter 7 or 13 proceedings are the same for each, $120. But Chapter 13 proceedings are more complicated and last longer because of repayment schedules of up to five years. Chapter 7 filings are normally completed within 90 days.

Many times, 7 or 13 is equally appropriate, according to Erman. In such instances, "we favor the chapter that gives the client the most allaround benefit."

In either case, bankruptcy almost always has a negative impact on credit ratings and makes little allowance for those who attempt repayment.

"I advocate that the distinction should be noted by credit agencies," Mack said, favoring those who "try and pay their bills to the best of their ability.'

Otherwise, Ruskin adds, "What's the incentive for attempting repayment? The credit community wants it both ways, (repayment but no distinction on credit reports). They're shooting themselves in the foot by not offering this extra incentive."

Under Chapter 7, bankruptcy is noted on consumer credit reports for 10 years and under 13, for seven years, according to Pate Young of TRW Information Services in Southfield. The firm is one of the nation's largest credit reporting agencies.

Our profiled couple this month is facing some major changes in their lives and wondering how best to cope

Ira and Joan Cremins have lived almost all of their married life in Plymouth, Ira, who will turn 62 next month, was laid off last year from his job as a materials handler for an auto supplier. Joan, 59, worked as a sales clerk until she was laid off in 1988. Partly because of Ira's past health problems, they decided to opt for an earlier than planned retirement rather than actively seek stopgap jobs.

Their main goal is to maintain their standard of living in retirement, which they estimate will require an income of $2,500 per month or $30,000 annually. The only major expense looming on the horizon is replacement of their 1984 car within the next two years. They estimate a new car will cost them $15,000-

One of their major financial assets is their home, which they value at $195,000 and which is owned free and clear. They are contemplating a move to a smaller home. With their children grown, they do not need the amount of space in their current home, and they would like to reduce their property taxes.

A move to a less expensive residence not only would lower their property taxes but would also probably free up some of the equity locked in their current home - allowing for a greater investment cushion. We believe that such a move early in retirement is well-advised. It might help keep them from perhaps becoming "house poor" later in life.

We would suggest that they buy the new car at the time they sell their current house, if possible. A portion of the home equity could be used for the car. We would also suggest that they at least consider a recent model, low-mileage used car their home. We would offer two This could shave thousands of dollars off the cost of a new auto.

We believe that their inclination to pay cash for the car, as well as any other retirement purchases is good strategy. We have found that those retired individuals who have kept their debts to a minimum are the determine whether there are some most financially secure in retirement. This is especially true regarding consumer debt, which is both small long-term reductions in their ery costly and is not tax-deductible. at much lower income levels. THE CREMINS' future income includes a-fixed-pension of $400 per month for Ira. He also expects to receive $900 from Social Security, and Joan will receive approximately half of that three years from now when she turns age 62. The remainder of their income must come from their own savings and investments. It appears that they will be able to meet their income needs during the next few years. With income of $1,300 per month from pension and Social Security, they need an additional $1,200 per month from investments to meet their $2,500 per month income goal. If they earn an average of 8 percent on their $178,000 of investment assets, they would be able to generate the $1,200 per month needed. Eight percent can be obtained right now in long-term U.S. government treasury bonds or with shorter term deferred investment annuity contracts.

A major concern of ours is the probability of future inflation eroding their purchasing power. At an average 5 percent rate of inflation, their purchasing power would be cut in half over 15 years, and the cost of living would quadruple over Joan's 30-year life expectancy. If they put their entire savings into long-term government bonds, they would be virtually assured of a lower standard of living in the future. They can expect only minor increases in their future income from the addition of Joan's Social Security in three years and from the investment of any sales proceeds from suggestions to help them deal with significant problem of inflation.

FIRST, IRA and Joan need to take a close look at their expenditures. They should track their expenses over a period of several months and expenditures that are really unnecessary for their quality of life. Even expenditure rate is a real plus for them.

Early in retirement we like to see the total investment assets increase somewhat to offset future inflationary pressures. This can be done either through reinvestment of income or from growth in the value of their investments. Currently, they have only one small growth investment a stock holding.

This observation leads to the second suggestion, to consider some growth and income investments in their portfolio rather than committing to pure income-oriented investments. Utility stocks, convertible bonds, and quality blue chip issues are all appropriate assets for a part of their portfolio - perhaps 30 percent of it. Although returns are not guaranteed, they should be able to achieve higher average rates of return over the long haul. They might want to use mutual funds to achieve adequate diversification and to gain professional management expertise.

If they are able to successfully reduce expenditures and increase average investment return, they will not need as large an investment cushion in retirement. This in turn may give them greater flexibility in their choice of a retirement resi-

Another issue they must address is the need for health insurance during the early years of retirement until. both are age 65 and eligible for Medicare. They may want to contact a specialist in the insurance area to investigate alternatives. But they should first look into continuing the group coverage from Ira's old employer. By law, they must be offered such coverage under the group medi-,cal plan for two years from the date of Ira's layoff although the premiumwould be paid by Ira and Joan. Some companies also offer the ability to convert this group coverage to personal coverage until age 65.

Ira and Joan need to put a basic estate plan in place. They currently have no wills, trusts or other documents. All property is held jointly, except for their IRAs and autos. They should realize that in the case of a common accident, their property would be probated and distributed according to inflexible state rules

Jobs are plenty, but the pay isn't

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Summer is in full swing and jobs for students seem plentiful. And while employers are hiring at or above last year's levels, no one is getting rich off the wages.

"This is supposed to be a slow economy, but it's an employee's market. We have difficulty finding staff," said Shirley Ritter, executive director of the Livonia YMCA.

The Y has hired approximately 17 students as counselors and camp directors for summer day camps which runs through the end of August. The various camps attract youngsters from preschool age to early teens and include a camp for mentally impaired children. Wages range from $4.85 an hour to $6.75.

The Y also hires students (at $5 an hour) for its aquatics classes.

"One perk is that they get to use the Y facilities, but after working 40 hours a week this is usually the last place they want to be," Ritter said, "We hire students year around. And we just lowered our hiring age from 17 to 16."

For many Y programs, students need a background in swimming or gymnastics.

"Most of our part-time staff is students," Ritter said. "And we would like to keep them on after the sum-workers at the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department.

"We try to keep people employed on a year round basis. It's easier for us," said Ronald Reinke, parks superintendent.

The city begins accepting applications in December from civil service. Applicants need not take a test nor live in Livonia to fill out an application.

"It just establishes a list for us," Reinke said. "About the youngest employees we have are recreation aides at the golf course, 15 years old.

"We also hire recreation aides for the playgrounds. Usually, kids are 16 to 18. And the same ones come year after year." Currently, the recreation payroll has 100 workers. Some begin at minimum wage — $4.25 an hour. Athletic officials earn $15 to $18 a game.

"We are always on the lookout for good employees," Reinke said. "Because there are X number of positions, the earlier you apply, the better the chance of employment."

Through the year an employee may be shifted from ice rink to golfcourse to baseball diamond, depending on the season. Not all part-timers are students. Senior citizens and teachers help staff some jobs.

Students can always slap burgers on the grill at fast food joints.

Students find summer work on 'slim' side

By Julie Brown staff writer

Students know that paying for school isn't easy. Tultion and other expenses are steep, and many young people rely on summer jobs to help, pay those bills.

Job placement officials agree that the recession's had an impact on local hiring. Fewer employers are hir-

"I think the jobs are tighter than they were," said Donna Nordman, a job placement specialist for Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "It has defi-nitely had an impact. It's a concern for the students."

The situation was even worse around last December, said Nordman, a Livonia resident. It's improved-some since the Persian Gulf war ended, but still isn't as good as it was in the fall of 1990.

Jan BenDor of Eastern Michigan University has also noticed the effects of the recession.

"It depends on which type of jobthey've gone after," said BenDor, manager of operations and student employment at EMU's Career Services Center in Ypsilanti.

REPRESENTATIVES OF resorts, national packs and summer camps throughout the United States came to EMU during the winter to interview students for summer jobs. Students who decided to look for work closer to home in Michigan haven't fared quite as well, however.

"We haven't seen our job board so empty in years," said BenDor, a Superior Township resident, That's true in many categories, including clerical jobs, general labor, health care and food services. "Everything is notably down." Oncampus jobs that in some cases weren't filled in the past now hold more appeal for students. Those jobs. generally don't pay quite as well as off-campus jobs, but many students are choosing to work on campus,

"The university has benefited," BenDor said.

Schoolcraft's placement office provides help for anyone who's ever taken academic classes at the community college. That includes some guest students from other schools and Schoolcraft alumni.

This summer, listings are down in such areas as office jobs, shipping and receiving and others, Nordman said, although there are more listings for landscaping jobs. She and her colleagues have been able to find jobs for students, but those jobs aren't always the ones students want the most.

Jobs available pay in the neighborhood of $6 an hour, and some are part time, she said.

NORDMAN AND BenDor agree that students can do a great deal to help themselves find work, even in relatively tough times.

"I would say students need to be more aggressive in their job search," Nordman said. It's not enough just to read the help-wanted ads. Students need to do some networking, checking with friends and family members to see what's out there.

It's important to keep an updated resume available and to put in Job applications at a number of workplaces, Nordman said. Students can't be shy when they're out looking for

Students need to dress appropriately and present themselves professionally. Starting a job search well in advance helps; some students start looking early in the year when they're home for vacation. Students also need to know what skills they can offer:

"They need to know what those. skills are and how they translate to the employer," Nordman said.

An unpaid internship or volunteer work in the student's field is another option to consider. "Oh, definitely, to get some experience in your field if you can afford to do it," she said.

Kids can travel the world over, have a flight of fantasy or a dose of reality, get silly or serious, all without leaving an armchair.

Summer reading programs are in full swing at libraries in Livonia, Redford Township, Garden City and Wayne-Westland, but even kids who can't make the scheduled library events can enjoy a whole gaggle of books.

Here's what local librarians say is hot reading material for the 6- to 12-year-old set.

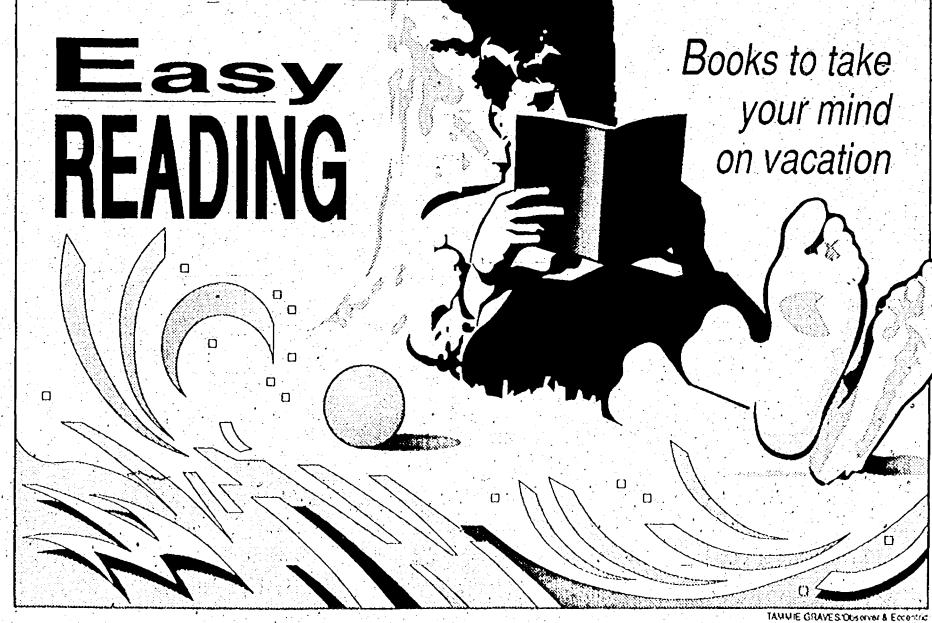

Older readers, age 9 to 12, might like "Indian in the Cupboard," a series by Lynne Reid Banks about a 9-year-old boy with a plastic toy Indian who comes to life when he's put inside a cupboard.

"He goes to London in one book, to the Old West in another. It's like a time travel series and the kids love it," said Bonnie Weber, Garden City library alde.

For 8- and 9-year-olds, "Bunnicula," an intriguing story about a rabbit with vampire tendencies, is a winner, according to Weber. Coauthor Deborah Howe died shortly after its publication. Her husband, co-author James Howe, has continued the series about the adventurous bunny and its sidekicks Chester the cat and Harold the dog. Howe also has authored "Sebastian Barth," a mystery series for 10. to 12-year-olds.

YOUNGER READERS in the primary grades have a cornucopia of choices. "There's a lot out there - "Put Me in the Zoo," "Are You My Mother?" and "Amelia Bedelia" to name a few," said Weber. "There's ested, they will strive to read even also "Boxcar Children," a very simple series written by Gertrude Warner in the '40s."

Between 200 and 250 children in first-sixth grades are participating In the Garden City Public Library's summer reading program.

Number one reading tip from Kevin Hutchinson, Wayne-West- . land children's librarian, is to get books of interest to your child.

"You don't have to concentrate on fiction: We have books on every subject," he said. "If they're interIf it's a little above their level,"

In the realm of fiction, Hutchinson's picks first-second grades include "Popcorn," "Just Like Daddy" and "Goodbye, House" by Frank Asch, the Berenstain Bears series by Jan and Stan Berenstain and "Gollys Sisters Go West" by Belsy Byars.

For third-fourth grades respectively, there's "Pharoah's Beautiful Daughters," a black oriented book by John Steptoe, and "Uncle Shelby's Story of Lafcadio" by Shel

James Howe's "Eat Your Poison, Dear" will keep fifth graders tittering while sixth graders might enjoy "Rifles for Watle"-by Harold Keith, a Civil War novel.

APPROXIMATELY 500 kids between the ages 3 and 12 are in the summer reading program at the Wayne-Westland Public Library.

Livonia librarians Dottle Sogovian and Barbara Lewis named a slew of titles to keep young minds

Zeroing in on the third grade transition from feaders to chapter books, Lewis recommends "Stories Julian Tells" by Ann Cameron, about a little boy with a big imagination who gets in trouble; "Busy Body Nora" by Joanna Hurwitz, about a six-year-old girl who wants to know all her apartment building neighbors - all 200 of them; and "The Stone Fox" by John Reynolds Gardiner about a 10-year-old boy who enters a dog sled race against all odds.

From fourth-sixth grade, children might like "Mrs. Piggle Wiggle" by Betty MacDonald, about a lady who helps parents solve child behavior problems; "Kevin Corbett Eats Flies" by Patricia Hermes, about a daredevil boy who meets his match in a girl named Bailey; and "Is Anybody There?" by Eve Bunting, a suspense story that builds around a 13-year-old latchkey boy who suspects a prowler in his house.

OTHER APPEALING titles for older readers, according to Sogovian, are "Mr. Popper's Penguins" by Richard and Florence Atwater and "Ben and Me" by Robert Lawson.

"I loved it ("Ben and Me") so much that I read it to my son when he was 412," said Sogovian, children's librarian at the Civic Center Public Library. "When I get a reluctant reader, I go to those two because they're so silly."

Younger readers, preschool to second grade, might like the Mereer Mayer "Little Critter" books, Cynthia Rylant's "Henry and Mudge" series, simple adventures about a boy and his dog; and Robert McCloskey's "Lentil" about a boy who learns to play the harmonica and saves his town.

Livonia Civic Center Library has 586 young readers registered in its independent readers summer pro-

Redford Township children's llbrarian Sialan Liang had these picks for kids:

'The Very Busy Spider" and "The Very Hungry Cat Burglar" by Carl Eric for preschoolers; for first-second grades, the Curlous George series; third-fourth grades, Walt Disney Books for beginning readers; and fifth-sixth grades, folklore type books.

Robert and Helen Shepard

Robert and Helen Shepard of Livonia celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary June 30 at a party at the Newburg Methodist Church Hall.

The party was given by their daughters - Patricia Conblin of East Tawas and Joan Shepard of Oscoda - with help from Marian Zayti of Northville, the Shepards' maid of honor, and cousin Leora Norgrove of Plymouth.

He is a former mail carrier who because of a lengthy illness was able to spend 45 minutes at the celebration. His grandchildren, Theresa and Mark Tousley, Tina and Larry Hohn and Greg Conblin were at his side

Playhouse Link helps seniors stay at home

By Sue Mason staff writer

By today's entrepreneurial standards, Andrew Dave (pronounced Davay) is a youngster. At age 20, he's started his business with a dream -"helping people help themselves."

Don't look for a manufacturing facility, huge warehouse or the like. He has a no brand office - computer, telephone and Fax machine and an answering machine for a secretary. - in the Holliday Park office building in Westland.

He has a sales staff of two - himself and an older woman.

The lack of frills doesn't dampen Dave's enthusiasm. With a graying population, he knows his Playhouse Link has a marketable commodity - personal living devices for seniors who would rather stay in their home than move into nursing homes.

"Our products are straight forward, nothing fancy," Dave said. "These products don't require items be replaced or modified, they're made to attach to existing things."

Don't confuse Playhouse Link with medical supply companies. It's goods are non-medical with a foundation in basic common sense.

. YOU WON'T find hospital beds, wheelchairs and IV stands in its catalogs. You'll find things like an adjustable bathtub safety bar, a raised toilet seat and toilet safety frame.

There's also a gizmo to help put on stockings, a doorknob grip to make opening a door easier, an automatic night light that uses a sensor to turn lights on and off in rooms and even weighted silverware and sectional plates to make eating easier.

Playhouse Link offers items that you would see in a nursing home but you don't see in a residential setting. The question he asks is if they can be used in a nursing home, why can't they be used to keep people at home.

"Medical supply companies don't focus their energies in the homes." Daye said. "We do because we think that's the trend. The average nursing home in the country costs $40,000 a year. For a lot of people that cost can be a tremendous chunk of their retirement savings or a burden on their extended family."

Dave doesn't solicit customers by going door-to-door, his clientele is strictly people who contact his company. He will visit the client's home, find out what a typical day is like and what things he has available that will make it better for that per-

THE PRODUCTS offered by Playhouse Link are manufactured by two companies - Invacare and Duro-Med Industries - and the prices range from a low of $11 to a high of about $200. Some of the items are available through a warehousing operation in Taylor, while others can be gotten from the manufacturer in two days to a week.

And the clients' need not lear those fateful three words of mail orders - some assembly required. Dave delivers the products and helps with the installation, if necessary.

"These things are really nice and really popular because nothing has to be done to install them," he said, using a door jam to show how the And the job roster is bare bones. turn of wing nut that locks the bathtub safety bar in place. "These are items people don't have to spend tons of dollars to have changes in their lifestyle."

Playhouse Link seems an odd name for a company that works with senior citizens, but it reflects Dave's concept. The Playhouse stands for a making a home comfortable for a person - comfortable enough to play in. The Link is the link between the house a person has and the one he or she wants to have.

IT HAS only been around since April and Dave admits that from a "money standpoint," response has though, is all those different things. he has tried, and learned from, to get the word out about the business.

Another plus for Dave is the response to his products. People who have seen the items are "excited" about them. He hasn't gotten "one" negative response," he said Sales comes naturally for Dave because he "enjoys talking to people." He has worked as a marketing representative in the transportation industry and managed a furniture warehouse.

But it was his work as a volunteer at the St. Louis School for Exception-al Children that got him interested in helping older people stay in their homes.

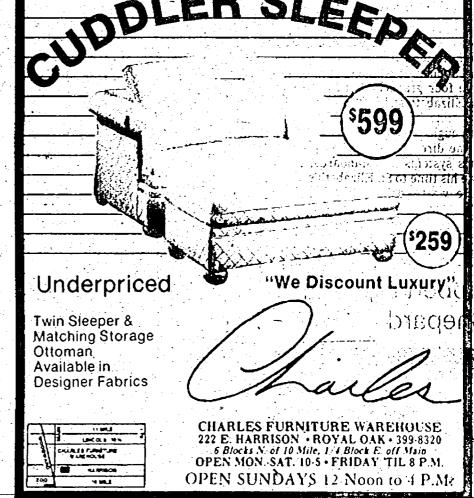

The children were handicapped and the one thing I found that they, wanted most was to be independent," Dave said. "They wanted to be able to know when to take their medication.

"People don't realize they have resources that can help them and that all other people have to do it take : time to listen to what they need. We listen."

For more information about Playhouse Link, call Andrew been disappointing. On the plus side, __ Dave at 522-6530.

MAKING COLD calls to employers who do work that interests a student is a place to start, BenDor said.

We are encouraging the students to be creative. There is work, it's just they're going to have to look for it." Service industries, particularly local ones, have been hard-hit by the recession, BenDor said.

Students shouldn't turn their noses up at fast-food restaurant jobs, placement officials agree. "Those jobs pay very well. There are some good career opportunities in management with those companies,"

Recent college graduates are also experiencing some difficulties in

Tearful parting

Canton minister bids congregation a fond farewell

The Rev. Kenneth Gruebel preached this sermon June 23. his final Sunday at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton, He's now pastor of St. Mark's Presbyterian Church in Bayonet Point, Fla. (This is a condensed version of the sermon.)

On Sunday, March 16, 1980, I preached my first sermon as Geneya's second pastor. It was a letter that I had written to our daughter Melissa Joan, who had been born a month and a half earlier ... it was highly personal, and for some, very emotional. After that first service, several folks said to me "If that's the way you're going to preach, you should put tissues in the bulletin."

And so it has gone. Two or three times every year, a particular sermon would touch the heart and afterwards someone would always say to me "If you're going to make me cas, you should put tissues in the bulletin." I want you to know that your pastor listens to you. It sometimes takes me a while, but I finally eatch on. So this morning there are tissues in the bulletin. And with my luck, nobody will need them!

AS WE CLOSE this chapter in our life together, there are some. things I hope you will remember about my ministry; there are some things that I will be leaving behind with you this day; and there will be some things I am going to take

First of all, I hope you will remember that marvelous little verse that Jesus offered: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Several years ago, former Detroit associate executive presbyter Teri Taylor said to me over lunch "I've finally figured out what makes this congregation

"Oh!" I said, "What?"

"Relationships," she said. "Geneva is built on relationships: parishioner to parishioner, parishloners to pastor, pastor to parichioner, and pastor and parishioners to

"Well, what other way is there?"

She replied "Some are devoted to preserving their building. Others are steeped in 'tradition.' Still others are built around the personality of the pastor or a pillar of the church, But Geneva is built on relationships."

And so it is. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you, said Jesus. If that commandment is followed, relationships are formed. But relationships will not last unless they are build on trust.

WE HAVE done some incredible things together because we were willing to take the time to form and nurture relationships that were built on trust. And when we got to know each other and trust each other, ministry and mission flourished, and laughter abounded. Humor is not only necessary, it is a part of God.

The second thing I hope you will remember, Jesus put this way: "I do not call you servants any longer, because a servant does not know what his master is doing. Instead I call you friends, because I have told you everything I have heard from my Father." Jesus didn't want blind robots or mindless mannequins to follow him. He wanted mature, thinking, assertive believers.

During my ministry, I have told you again and again not what to believe, or how to believe, but rather that my responsibility was to offer you the theological and biblical tools so that you could make mature, informed decisions on your own. I gave you not tickets to heaven, but shoes for the journey. In so doing, I tried not to duck the responsibility of sharing with you what I believed, why I believed it and the process which led me to that conviction.

This leads me to the third thing I hope you remember. As Jesus sent his disciples out two by two for a little on-the-job training, so I have sent you out over the years. I wasn't always at your meetings. I wasn't always there to fix it and make it better. It was OK in this church to goof up, drop the ball and make mistakes.

IT WAS OK in this church to try a new idea or drop an old one. And look what has happened. This church has marvelous, selfmotivated and directed leaders who can take responsibility for ministry and affirm the ministry of others.

The fourth thing I want you to remember is something that was very difficult for me to learn. If we' use the old biblical model of the pastor as shepherd, then it has been my responsibility to move this congregation along the way from one place of sustenance to another. A shepherd, however, was almost always responsible for someone else's flock. That is, the shepherd didn't own the sheep in his care.

In my case, folks were often saying to me "Your church this" and "Your church that." Geneva is not now nor was it ever Ken Gruebel's church. I did not own the church,

During my ministry, I have told you again -and again not what to believe, or how to believe, but rather that my responsibility was to offer you the theological and biblical tools so that you could make mature, informed decisions on your own. I gave you not tickets to heaven. but shoes for the journey.

nor possess the church. The church belongs to all of us, but ultimately it belongs to God. For the last 11 years, I have had the privilege of being a shepherd to this part of God's vast holdings, and I wouldn't have traded the experience for anything in the world.

The fifth thing I want you to remember is that I have tried to demonstrate in word and deed that faith - yours and mine - is relevant to all of life, and not just reserved for a few religious words and prayers on Sunday. Which is to say that nothing is outside of the grace of God.

SO I HAVE preached on conservation, euthanasia, divorce, single parenting, gray power, gay rights, abortion, capital punishment, adultery and mid-life crisis, surrogate mothers, abused children, and the list goes on and on.

I have also tried to demonstrate in word and deed that we do not do: our Christian thing in a vacutm. We need one another . . . Relationships, trust, laughter, training for ministry, affirmation, stewardship, faith, relevance, involvement. That's not a bad legacy.

As I pack my bags, there are several things that I will leave with you. I leave with you a rich residue of love and affection for allowing me to be a part of your life and to share in the Christian journey with Geneva.

At times, we have clapped hands as we have stood on great mountain peaks and rejoiced. At other times, we have held hands tightly and walked through the valley of the shadow of death. We have celebrated births, baptisms, confirmations, graduations, weddings and new jobs. We have ached over illness, divorce, infidelity, wayward children and aging parents. We have sat through short sermons and long meetings - or was it the other way around? No matter, I leave you my love and affection.

SECOND, I want to thank you for allowing me to be myself, to be human, for not putting me up on a pedestal or trying to stereotype me. You have put up with my humor, tolerated my shortcomings, overlooked my weaknesses and been supportive during my times of need. For that, I leave you my thanks.-

Thirdly, I leave you a marvelous

Finally, this is what I will take with me. I am taking with me rich memories of accomplishments, triumphs, parties, worship, basking in the glory of who we have been; and are, and will become. I have no regrets, Oh, for sure, I would have done this slightly differently, orthat in another manner But I have no regrets. I wouldn't have spent the '80s with anyone else but you.

I also take with me my friend, my supporter, my lover, my wife ... most of what I am and ever hope to be I owe to the love and support of the special lady I married over 22 years ago.

And so; my friends, we close this era of our life together, and I leave this church in your hands. And I doso without fear or trepidation. I believe that God is a God of change, that we are a part of God's continu ing creative process of life. And what God has in store for us, we do not know, but we shall receive it gladly, and thankfully, and triumphantly...

I leave this church in your hands, my friends. Will it become stagnant? Dormant? Divided? Will it die? Or will it fly forth in new energy of mission, soaring to new beights of ministry? As (you will my friends - as you will. Alleluia and Amen!

Garden walk will boost beautification

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

As days grow short with the passing of the summer solstice, beds of red, white and pink petunias blossom, peaking with color that soon will give way to the bitter blowing. winds of winter. Why not fill your senses with summer, while storing memories for those long, cold Michigan nights?

Come, take a walk with the Redford Township Beautification Commission as it sponsors the fifth blennial garden walk 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 20:

Money raised on the walk will further the work of the beautification and improvement commission, replacing trees and shrubs, planting annual flowers and providing cleanup throughout Redford Township.

We have some wonderful gardens on the walk this year," said Irene O'Neil, chair-

Towering pink Trumpet Lilies over six feet tall greef visitors to the back yard of Jerry and Julie Richardson, one of five private gardens on the walk.

In the Richardson back yard, a perennial garden, raised beds filled with eggplant, peppers, basil and thyme, along with five bushel baskets planted with tomatoes and other vegetables, tempt fellow gardeners into considering alternatives for their gar-

VISITORS TO the Richardson home also will be able to see the methods that go into a well-thought-out composting system such, as the one in their back yard.

The four other gardens on the walk include a lily pond, water fountains, Japanese maples, contorted filbert, weeping beech, an attractive vegetable garden and a clematis-covered trellis entry way into a perennial garden.

Her first one-person show, featuring more than 60 watercolors painted with Chinese techniques, is on exhibit through July 26 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road at Five

"I use watercolor media but Chinese painting technique," Wong sald.

With ink, watercolor and a Chinese brush, Wong creates quiet, delicate paintings using "Canons," or basic principles, which have guided traditional Chinese painters since their publication around the year 500. These concepts of Chinese philosophy and painting technique shape Wong's watercolors in a harmony of mind and brush.

"Chinese philosophy and culture is about 5,000 years old. Our feeling is behind the strokes. That brush becomes part of me, much free, much natural," Wong sald.

'Chinese philosophy and culture is about 5,000 years old. Our feeling is behind the strokes. That brush becomes part of me; much free, much natural.

— Christine Wong

WONG'S PAINTINGS form deep within her spirit, her heart, her mind. Ch'i, or spirit, is the key to creating a Chinese painting. If artists begin a painting with spirit, everything else follows, but if they miss focusing on spirit, nothing can save the painting from lifelessness, not embellishment or skill.

"I have to stand up to paint; I use my whole body. It's mental and body. I put my whole self into it,"

Wong was born in mainland China. When she was 4. Communists took over the mainland. The Wong family fled to Taiwan, where Christine lived until coming to this country in 1971.

In second grade, Wong began training in Chinese painting technique through mandatory calligraphy lessons, taught in school. "As a child, everybody has to do calligraphy, just like a penmanship here. I use the same brush to write as to paint," Wong said.

In China, calligraphy is a highly esteemed art that uses Chinese characters to depict words. The same techniques of brushwork apply to this art as apply to painting.

THE SECOND principal in ... Chinese painting deals with brush control. Unlike the Western brush position, placement of the fingers by traditional Chinese painters is similar to holding chopsticks.

Position, pressure, speed of stroke and loading the brush are practiced until they become instinctive. After loading her brush, Wong with a single stroke, can create a range of tones from dark to light.

Economy of line, brush control and use of white space are of importance in Wong's use of Chinese painting techniques.

"I like to leave whites for imagination," Wong said. "That's one of the concepts of Chinese painting, to leave space for the imagination."

Instead of using a pencil, Wong sketches the initial composition with a brush dipped in plain water.

"I don't set a boundary for my work. I let imagination run. I don't limit myself with the pencil," Wong said. "Chinese philosophy. you don't see pencil marks."

IN 1965, Wong graduated from nursing college in Tapei, Taiwan, after which she studied painting with Chinese art professor David Kwo, an internationally known artist.

After marrying Robert, the couple moved to the United States, first to Wisconsin then to Ann Arbor, where Christine worked at University Hospital for 12 years.

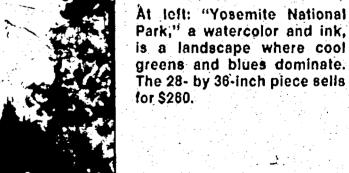

It was during this time she began to enjoy watercolors. Watercolor allowed Wong to blend Western and Chinese techniques.

"I learned from very giving artists (in Ann Arbor). I learn their technique. They learn from my technique," Wong said.

Wong strives to complete a painting during a single block of uninterrupted concentration. "I like to catch the freshness. We try not to go back, so you carry the spirit of the art."

A delicate work in watercolor and ink, "Orchids" by Wong captures the fragility of the pinkish-white blossoms as they gently drift across the paper. Green sword-shaped foliage bends in the wind against a

og discovery kindles interest in plank toll road era

In the tumult of life, it's not earthshaking. But it's a historical treat.

This is one of the most significant finds we've ever had," said Ruth Mochlman, Farmington Hills Historle District Commission chalrwoman.

Thanks to Farmington Hills nurseryman Fred Steinkopf, 15 old logs believed to be part of the base of a plank toll road that goes back to about 1850 have been saved from the scrap heap.

At least two experts authenticated the find as historic, Mochiman said.

Oakland County excavators dug up the logs last month while working on a sewer line project in the median of

Grand River near the Botsford Inn. Logs have been donated to the Farmington Historical Museum, Park, the Detroit Historical Museum and the Wisner Historic House in Pontlac. All plan to put the logs, each about eight feet long, on public display.

THE BOTSFORD Inn, a national historic site, was dubbed the Old Plank Road House during the 1850s while operated by John Claucherty (for whom the village of Clarenceville is named).

During this time, the hostelry also was known as the Sixteen Mile House, denoting its location at the 16th mile-marker on the Detroit-to-

Howell plank road. Steinkopf spotted the logs while driving by the excavation site. If it hadn't been for his quick thinking and the Farmington Hills Depart-Livonia's Greeninead Historical Vil- ment of Public Works' quick re- tance in less than a half a day,"

It's impossible to determine if the logs were originals on the 50-milelong, Detroit-to-Howell plank road, which opened in 1851, or added later as replacements. The planks themselves were three inches thick. "With stages now clippety-clopping along at the unheard of speeds of eight to 10 miles an hour, passengers could miraculously travel the dislage, Rarmington Hills' Heritage trleval arrangements, the logs might writes Farmington Hills historian America is great country. I try to give myself back to the community in my way, like a bridge. I want to be a bridge of two cultures of different human beings," Wong said.

Along with Christine's watercolors there are an additional 12 pieces in the show done by the Wong children, Joyce, 17 and Andrew, 14. At age 8, Andrew rendered a badger with the sensitivity and strength of an artist; far beyond his years. With motherly pride and love. Christine informs "these works not for sale."

The last 14 years, Wong has worked as office coordinator in her husband's dental office. Robert offers Christine the support necessary to pursue her art. "He helps me a lot. He's very supportive," Wong said. "He tells me, this is your dream. Pursue your dream."

Christine's work can also be viewed at the office of Dr. Robert K. Wong. For information, call the office: 425-7888,

"I enjoy the creation of the God and the world. (In my paintings), the bird, the clown, the fish, they're all smiling. I try to make the world a little more pleasurable," Wong said.

Christine's art celebrates life, love and nature, bridging the vast expanse between East and West. "Art's just like love, there's no boundary."

Livonia City Hall is at 33000 Civic Center Drive. Viewing hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and Tuesday to 9:30 p.m. Christine will be there on Tuesday evenings if people would like to learn more about her paintings.

Redford gardens attract spotlight

The gardens orchestrated by the Rev. Ron Babich on the grounds of St. Hilary Church feature the tranquility of mature evergreens, water displays and statuary.

"There will be two-hostesses at each garden to answer any questions," said Kathleen Stoner, walk co-chairwoman.

The Redford Township Beautification Commission is an all-volunteer group. This spring, it replaced all the dead trees along Beech Daly Road with the help of local Cub Scout and Brownie troops. In return, the children earned certificates for community service.

"The children are fun to work with," O'Neil said.

Together, the volunteers planted 45 flats of flowers around the town hall, library, police station and court house.

EVERY CHRISTMAS, the beautification commission puts up decorations consisting of evergreen roping and lights. They also were instrumental in obtaining the returnable bottle bill for Michigan several years ago.

'All funds from the walk will be used to keep the township beautiful.'

"All funds from the walk will be used to keep the township beautiful," Stoner said.

Tickets for the garden walk are $4. They are available during regular business hours at the Redford Township Hall: 15145 Beech-Daly

Tickets can also be purchased on the day of the walk at each of the five host gardens. By calling 533-3689 on July 20, garden lovers will be directed to the one nearest them for tickets.

For more information, call Irene O'Neil at 533-3689. Kathleen Stoner at 532-4841 or the Redford Township Hall at 531-

'Star Trek' novelist writes Civil War drama

By Steve O'Leary special writer

Author Diane Carey, best known for her popular "Star Trek" novels, is taking a chance. And so far, it appears to be paying off.

After four "Trek" novels, three hitting the New York Times bestseller list for paperbacks and one, "Final Frontier," selling well over 500,000 copies, the Flint native has taken a sabbatical from the series; its own right. There are connecting threads, but no cliffhangers," Carey said.

She'll sign copies of her new book 1-3 p.m. Sunday, July 21, at B. Dalton Bookseller, Wonderland Center, 29859 Plymouth Road.

"Unlike an author like John Jakes. who writes books that could be set in any time period really, there are things in my book that could only happen in that time period. I'm very proud of the book and the research my husband, Greg Brodeur, and myself put into it," she said. "It was well worth it."

THE MAIN question to Carey is why stop a good thing? She is one of the top two or three bestselling authors in one of the most popular series ("Star Trek") in print.

Her answer is to the point; she and other popular series authors are unhappy with the control Paramount Studios (which owns the rights to "Star Trek") has over the "Star : Trek" characters, including those from the original series.

Carey has four "Star Trek" out- new to Carey: "Distant Drums" is lines ready. 'I could have a new 'Trek' book out in eight months, in addition to the sequel to Distant Drums,' which will be out in a year," she sald.

Frame shots through viewfinder

We'll all agree that a properly selected and assembled frame will add greatly to the presentation of artwork, including photographs.

But did you know there's another kind of frame that can apply to your photographs, one that will make your pictures much stronger with far greater impact?

I'm referring to framing through the viewinder as you compose your shot. As a compositional tool, framing can turn an otherwise plain shot into one with strength and vitality.

How do you begin to use framing techniques? Start by looking through, around, over and under a foreground object that totally or partially frames, a more important subject behind.

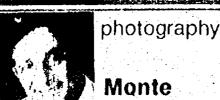

For example, hanging branches will add interest to the sky and give extra emphasis to the landscape or seascape in the background.

AN OVERHANGING roof adds accent to a street scene. An archway will direct attention to the subject inside and a foreground rock formation will give substance and foundation to an overall scene.

Even portraits can be made more dramatic when a window is used as an impromptu frame.

Often, framing effects are so natural that a viewer may not be aware of them in a photograph. Yet if the framing were absent, it would be missed and the picture's impact di-car door, an outstretched arm or a twisting river or fence. Frames that contrast with the area they sufround, either in color or tonal values, will be exciting, too.

BECAUSE MANY of the frames' you'll be using will be close to the camera, you will have to pay careful attention to depth-of-field.

Often, a small aperture such as f-11 to f-22 will be needed to maximize depth-of-field so that foreground objects and background subjects will both appear in focus in the final

By using your camera's depth-offield scale and depth preview button, you'll be able to attain the zone of sharpness your shot requires.

Using a wide-angle lens will increase depth-of-field even further and will help you easily get foreground objects in the scene.

So get yourself caught in a photographic frameup.-You'll be glad you Monte Nagler selected a camera position that effectively "tucks" the pagoda into the foreground and overhanging rocks. This framing technique produced an impact-filled photograph from Kunming, China.

"Just Before Dark: Collected Nonfiction," by Jim Harrison. (318 pp., Clark City Press, $24.95).

Though I hope to do so some time, I've never met Michigan writer Jim Harrison.

A bit reclusive, he spends most of his days with his wife and family on their Leelanau County farm, or holed up in a small, wilderness cabin he owns near Grand Marais. When he does venture out, I understand it's usually on hunting or fishing expeditions with a few close friends.

Tifeel, though, as if I've caught a significant glimpse of Harrison in a very real sense, after reading "Just Before Dark," a recently published, absolutely delicious collection of 46 articles, columns and personal essays he's put together over the last quarter-century.

Most of the pieces have appeared previously in publications as diverse as Sports Illustrated, The New York Times Book Review, Antaeus, Automobile Magazine, Rolling Stone and many others. Some, however, are appearing for the first time in "Just Before Dark."

Though Harrison, 53, is primarily a poet and novelist (e.g. "Letters to Yesenin," "Dalva," "The Woman Lit by Fireflies") these highly readable, witty, and thoughtful pieces make you wish a collection of his nonfiction had appeared much earlier. At any rate, one hopes it won't be another 25 years before another is brought out.

At the risk of inferring that this is simplistic work - it isg't - I'd like to emphasize that "Just Before Dark" seems especially well-suited for summertime reading.

DIVIDED INTO three sections, "Travel and Sport" and "Literary Matters," the book can be read section-by-section, beginningto-end, of course. Or pick it up and start with any piece in the middle, if you'd prefer. Or skip around to your heart's content. Any way you approach it, you'll be rewarded.

Harrison, in addition to his writing talents, is also one of the most knowledgeable amateur naturalists around, and his marked appreciation for the great outdoors is quickly evident here - another facet of the collection that makes for especially appealing summertime reading. (You'll be interested to read of this environmentalist's views on hunting and

Also very dear to the heart and soul of Jim Harrison; food, food and more food. And then some more food. And almost anything that has to do with food: hunting for it, shopping for it, planning meals, cooking meals, serving meals, talking about meals. And, of course, eating meals.

And writing of them: "I eye the miniature Lake Superior brook trout I have grilled over an oak fire, the sliced tomatoes, fresh corn, and wild leeks vinaigrette . . . "

"Small portions are for small and inactive people," contends the burly writer, who averages about 10-12 miles of hiking per day. "Life is too short for me to approach a meal with the mincing steps of a Japanese prostitute."

WHAT ELSE would you care to read about? Chances are good you might just find it in this varied collection.

How about "Ice Fishing, the Moronic-sport?" Or dreams? Or writing (a particularly intriguing piece, "From the 'Dalva' Notebooks: 1985-87," was written in connection with his acclaimed 1988 novel)? Or Hemingway and the Nick Adams stories? Or Jack Nicholson, a close friend of Harrison's? Author Tom-McGuane, another friend? Fellow gourmand, Orson Welles? Bar pool?

How about a few hundred wellchosen words on revenge? ". . : at a certain point, there is a baffling stupidity to anger," Harrison writes. "Years ago, when I learned that my brate the 128th anniversister's first husband had slugged her, I made inquiries to find out how I could get him murdered; but I was on a Guggenheim grant and could scarcely handle the seven-grand

Not surprisingly, Harrison includes several references here to pivotal events in his life: the childhood accident that caused perma. will be reduced to $1 per nent blindness in his left eye, and the person for July 30 only, loss of his father and sister in an a greater than 80-perauto accident when he was 19,

The outspoken author of six novels, six novellas and seven books of poetry repeats himself a bit here and there. But, really, this is a splendid literary feast for readers and, at a feast, who cares if a few treats pop up more than once on the banquet

Staying power: 35 years in real-estate

By David F. Stein special writer

Positions at real estate firms seem to turn over faster than pancakes at a Kiwanis breakfast.

But Bill Fearon Sr. Is the guy who brings up all the averages. He's marking his 35th year in real estate sales as he turns 89.

Although he no longer lists homes, Fearon is an active member of the weekly sales meetings held at Real Estate One's Farmington office.

He keeps his state real estate license current and attends all continulng education programs offered by . But some things stay the same.

his employer. Leads on houses are passed to full-time colleagues.

"There tends to be an impression that real estate is a passing fancy,' said Richard S. Elsea, president of Real Estate One, "People like Bill are an example that it's a great career and one you can stay in well beyond others."

FEARON HAS seen many changes over the years. The most striking are the addition of state and federal regulations and the continuing education demanded of sales associations.

. "Either you have a lot of houses to sell and not much mortgage money or you have a lot of mortgage money and not enough houses to sell. It's never ideal," Fearon said.

Real estate is Fearon's secondsales carer. He spent 28 years as a route salesman for Famous Foods, maker of Vita Boy potato chips. His route included the Corktown and Del Ray sections of Detroit and east Dearborn....

"I only wanted to do it until I could get something better, and I did it for 28 years," Fearon said. "But no always in the chips - potato chips, that is."

While still working for Vita Boy, Fearon started part-time work with Harry Archbold's Northwest Detroit. Real Estate agency in 1956.

"I became a full-time part-timer," Fearon said.

A typical 11/2-story bungalow with brick facing cost $18,000 in those days, Fearon said. A three-bedroom colonial commanded $20,000-

In the late '50s, the Archbold agen: cy was acquired by Mathers Stevens matter how tough times were, I was - and Mortin, which in turn merged with three other brokerages in 1970 to form Real Estate One.

In 1963, Fearon earned the name of "Billion Dollar Bill" for the sale that put Mathors Stevens and Martin over the billion dollar mark in sales.

Rearon is the father of two and grandfather of seven. He keeps busy as vice president of the Farmington Place tenant's association and attends Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Farmington.

But next Tuesday morning's sales meeting at Real Estate Ohe's Farmington office is already marked on his calendar.

Consultants' loyalty: to association

Our managing agent has approached us to advise that it wishes to channel all correspondence between the CPA and the attorney on the one hand and the board of directors on the other. While many of the directors of the association are busy, I am wondering why the management company wants to eliminate our contact with these persons who were picked by the board before the retention of the management com-

Keep in mind that the CPA and the allorney for the association owetheir fiduciary and legal responsibility to the board of directors and not. the management company. The management company may feel threatened by these consultants and may want to usurp the lines of communication between the board and its consultants so that the management company gains a stronger foothold in the minds of the directors. I would instruct the management company that it is not its province to restrict communications between the professionals advising the association and the board of directors. The checks and balances system regarding potential mangement agent abuses should be continuously reviewed at all times by the board of

Many times I have found it extremely frustrating while sitting on the board to deal with other members of the board who allow their self interests to dictate what should be done in behalf of the associaton. Those persons are always against increased assessments because they are leasing their units. How do I impress upon them the fact that this is improper conduct?

Remind those directors, who you believe may be abusing their prerogatives, that their only interest should be the best interest of the association and not their own personal financial stake. ### Location helps set future home value

(AP) - The selection of a neight of deterioration in established borhood may be more important to neighborhoods include run-down a homeowner than the design choices made in a new home.

The neighborhood not only affects the market value of the home, it also shapes the way a homeowner lives, where children go to school, and how long the commute to work takes.

Consider these points when evaluating a potential site for a new

Buyers looking for custom touches in production houses

staff writer

Brad and Mary Contrucci wanted a home that was distinctly their own. They looked around at models and liked a lot of what they saw, but there were a couple of things that just didn't click. They considered a custom home, but decided that they really liked the Devonshire model at Vintage Estates in Rochester Hills with one exception - the nearly floor to ceiling windows in the living room.

. "I was petrified at the thought of the heating and cooling costs (because the room was on the south side of the home)," Brad Contrucci said.

So the couple went back to the builder and asked if it might be possible to move the room to the other side of the house.

"He said sure," Contrucci said. So they asked for other changes, including the addition of a sun room, a second furnace, changes in windows and elevations, the addition of a balcony, and a slew of other changes. The builder said, "Sure."

Call them build to suit, made to order, or mass produced custom homes. But-whatever they are, builders are moving to cater to the needs of people who point at a home and say "Something like that, but not exactly like that.'

The question isn't will the builder make some changes — the question is how far is he willing to go?

APPARENTLY, as far as a builder has to go to make the sale, according to Ida Lucas, sales representative for S.R. Jacobson Development's Vintage Estates in Rochester

Hills where the Contruccis bought

More buyers - especially upper end buyers - want a home that is uniquely their own, Lucas said. Home prices at Vintage Estates start from $235,000.

Sometimes, changes are limited to changing facade or roof materials, moving and enlarging closets, or adding skylights. But other times buyers want extensive structural reworking - enlarging rooms, moving windows, changing elevations or even moving rooms, she said.

"You have to give people what they want," she said. "It takes a lot more time, but you have to provide detail, you have to be a custom bullder.

"The end result (of these builder/ buyer coordinated efforts) is a $350,000 home with all the extras that has the attitude of a $500,000 home," she said.

David Lewen, vice president of marketing at S.R. Jacobson Development Corp. in Birmingham, said builders have wrestled with the problems of giving home buyers what they want and still keeping the prices within reason.

S.R. Jacobson has developed a 15page guide book sales representatives use to help people make their houses seem more like custom hous-

The process begins with a pre-production meeting, Lucas said. Prospective buyer and sales associate. sit down to go over material and building options.

Lucas stressed that not everything buyers want is possible. "But if it's possible, we're willing to do it."

CUSTOMIZED, production housing isn't necessarily limited to upper end market.

The same principles can be applied to more moderately priced homes, according to Adriano Paclocco, president of Multi Building Inc. in Plymouth.

"Not all builders are doing customized production housing," he said. Because of the additional time, work and planning that is required, buyers generally find builders reluctant to customize production homes unless the homes are in the upper end of the market.

But just because only upper end builders are customizing homes, doesn't mean affordable home buyers are any less savvy, Paciocco said. "They can be just as demand-

Paciocco said he is attempting to take the customized production housing principle and apply it to a more moderate market with his Maple Ridge Woods subdivision, a 51-home project of $125,500 to $136,000 homes being developed by

Multi Building in Canton Township. "It's been successful - half of the project is already pre-sold," he said.

Moving laundry rooms, adding additions, changing room partitions many of the custom changes that are performed at the upper end can also be applied in the moderate market if the builder is willing to make the extra effort, Paciocco said.

"It's a little more work, but I think it's absolutely necessary," ne said

BUYERS HAVE become far more "street wise" within the last decade, Paciocco said. "People are moving around a lot and they're seeing more

- Please turn to Page 2

Today's buyers are more savvy about what than just construction changes. For a builder, they want and don't want in their home. So it also means training a sales staff that has builders are are offering the next best thing to some knowledge of what goes into designing a custom house - alterations to mass-produced houses. But modifications mean more and constructing a house.

Trucks roll; concrete strike settled

Some residential builders stymied by a strike of concrete transit drivers anticipate getting down to the business of building following settlement of the labor dispute late last week.

"It means we're going to go like hell," said James Bonadeo, a Plymouth builder and president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan. "It took us three weeks to get a basement poured when normally it takes two days. A lot of builders are holding up basements."

Several builders, including B.B.C. Group and Holtzman & Silverman, both of Farmington Hills, and Bonadeo, reported that some of their projects had stalled during the six weeks the drivers were on strike.

Other builders, while not immediately affected, figured they would have been had the strike lasted into August.

The drivers, represented by Teamsters Local 247, settled on a pay increase of $1.10 per hour over three years. They had been paid $15.92 hourly.

"We got what we wanted on (health) insurance, we compromised on wages and got what we wanted on our pension," said Ben Mosqueda, business agent for Local 247.

THAT LOCAL generally represents drivers in Wayne and Washtenaw counties and pockets of Oakland County. Local 614, headquartered in Bloomfield Hills and which had settled earlier, represents other drivers in Oakland.

Whether specific builders were affected by the walkout of Local 247 generally was determined by where they were build-

Tom Sinelli, owner of Sinelli Concrete in Redford, and Chuck Guidobono, owner of Piedmont Concrete in Farmangton Hills, both said they shut down and laid off several employees as a result of the strike.

"Very definitely, work will pick up for a period of time depending on the strength of the economy," Sinelli said. He added that some work he normally would have provided was gobbled up by drivers from Local 614 during the strike.

Guldobono said so much work was snapped up by other drivers during the strike that there's no backlog of jobs for his drivers.

Group provides 'uniform voice'

Environmental consultants and contractors,

As environmental concerns continue to grow in importance in Michigan, the building and manufacturing industry, municipal governments and even private interests are more frequently turning toward environmental professionals for expertise and counsel.

Until now, these consultants and contractors have been a fragmented group, according to Mark Henne, interim vice chairperson of the newly formed Michigan Environmental Consultants and Contractors Association, which is holding its first meeting today in Lansing. He is president of a Lansing environmental consulting firm.

"We were formed because of a general lack of a uniform voice," Henne sald. Considering the growth in the industry and the far-reaching impact of new and changing regulations, Henne said it is surprising such an association wasn't formed before this.

"This idea is at least two years overdue."

Other considerations — such as information sharing, continuing education and professional and ethical standards — also prompted the formation of the association

Henne said the association is not an advocacy group, but will fall on different sides of issues; sometimes siding with environmental advocacy groups and sometimes siding with industry and business,

In many issues, emotional concerns override reason and technical aspects, Henne said. "We'll be in the middle - our interests don't parallel conservation groups or industry."

The environmental consultant association's mission is to promote responsible improvement and protection of Michigan's environment and sources, he said.

Project named Towne Square

Oakland Towne Square has been chosen as the name for Real Estate Development and Investment Co.'s Allied Center project in Southfield.

According to Robert Sosnick, president of REDICO, when the idea for the project was first conceived, it was referred to as Allied Center because of its proximity to REDICO's existing Allied Center, which is adjacent to the site of the new develop-

"Allied Center was originally designed as an individual entity, not as part of a larger complex," Sosnick said. "We wanted to ensure that the history and integrity of the Allied: Center is maintained, despite its proximity to Town Square,"

Town Square will consist of three office towers of one million square. feet; four 27-story luxury high-rise apartment buildings; and a 70,000square-foot retail development. The first phase will consist of a 500,000square-foot office tower, one 27-story luxury high rise and the retail

The site is bounded by Northwestern Highway, Civic Center Drive and 1-696.

R.E. Daily & Co. of Southfield will build the project. Rosetti Associates has designed the office towers, and Hobbs + Black have designed the retail center and apartment build-

REDICO, headquartered in Troy, counts among its projects the Travelers Tower, Top of Troy, Raleigh

Office Center and the Palace of Auburn Hills.

Robert M. Platek has been named director of architecture at Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates of Southfield.

Formerly project administrator, he is responsible for management of the department including the production of project construction documents and all technical matters.

Prior to joining the firm last year, Piatek was vice president of Roger Snyder Architects, Detroit, and previously an associate at Garbooshian/ Budday Associates in Birmingham and Rosettil Associates/Architects Planners, Detroit

Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates is the fourth largest architectural/engineering firm in the state and is the headquarters for the HEPY group, a network of firms with offices in Denver, Los Angeles, Orlando, Seattle and Windsor.

R.E. Dailey & Co. of Southfield was presented with the Safety Honor Roll award for achieving a low incident rate of lost work time injuries compared to other state construction firms for 1990.

The award was given by the Michigan chapter of the Associated General Contractors, a trade association with more than 100 member construction firms.

Building was up in both Wayne. and Oakland counties for May-compared with April, but both countles are still lagging in 1991 building starts compared to 1990.

In Oakland, 550 residential construction starts were made in May compared to 477 in April for an increase of 15.3 percent. But by this point in 1990, 3,516 units had been started compared to 1991's 1,889, a drop of 46.3 percent.

In Wayne, building was up 159.9 percent in May over April with 421 construction starts compared to 162. But in 1990 ground had been broken on 1,633 projects compared to 936 in 1991 for a drop of 42.7 percent.

Abitibi-Price Building Products Division has introduced a line of door trim kits. The kits come with two seven-foot fluted casings, a 42-inch fluted casing for the top and two casing corner blocks. Made of plastic, they require only straight saw cuts with no mitering.

Modifications mean more than just construction changes, Paciocco said. It also means training a sales staff that not only knows how to sell a home, but has some knowledge of what goes into designing and constructing a house.

It also takes greater coordination with construction tradesmen and the project superintendents, he said.

"As things change, they are missed — people have to work together to make sure they aren't. missed." Paciocco said he has traditionally been a high Menuck said customizing a home may take a little longer, but doesn't complicate the building process greatly. Changes are made to blueprint and the construction crews follow the blueprint.

The only obstacle to changes is price, he said. "But if the buyer is willing to pay the extra cost, we'll do it."

Some changes, like adding a room or increasing its size can add substantially to the price of a home. What people need to realize is that what might appear to be a subtle change may require extensive structural and mechanical changes, he

Jean Randolph, a petrographer, claims to have a fairly good success rate determining what causes concrete to fail.

Concrete sleuth gets down to basics

By Doug Funke staff writer

Jean Randolph, a Beverly Hills resident, says she's the only person she knows of around here who works in forensic concrete petrography. She can't understand why anyone would find that exciting.

But all kinds of people on the construction scene - consulting engineers, builders and suppliers - seek out Randolph's expertise.

"A petrographer identifies and classifies rocks," she said: "Concrete is cement, water and aggregate usually limestone in Michigan mixed together and hardened.

"In 90 percent of my work something went wrong and they (clients) want to know why," Randolph said. "Some want me to do a quality control check - did we get what we ordered? Maybe some concrete is 15 years old. They want to know what went wrong so they know how to repair it."

Randolph, who earned a geology degree from the University of Texas and "apprenticed" in concrete petrography at the Portland Cement Association in Chicago, tries to find the answers.

powered microscopes, basic knowledge and experience.

Clients send her samples of concrete several inches thick.

Randolph, working out of a laboratory in her basement, cuts a crosssection of the sample with a large concrete saw. She then takes several hours to polish and smooth the cross section.

After mounting the sample on a microscope slide, Randolph uses a smaller saw to reduce the sample to one millimeter thick, then uses a grinder to reduce the sample even further to about 20 micrometers.

"I can see all kinds of microscopic detail on the sections," she said. "I look for micro cracks, air content, aggregate quality, cement paste quality. I get the water/cement ratio for concrete."

RANDOLPH TAKES two weeks for a study and charges a fee of $350 She doesn't take referrals from homeowners about driveway and sidewalk problems.

"You have to know what's going on in the field," she added. "Everything is so different. It takes years of accumulated knowledge."

Randolph decided to form her business, Construction Petrographics, as a way to stay active in the field while staying home with her young children. She learned while working for an engineering firm in the metro area that clients had to send samples out of state for analy-

Randolph has analyzed chunks from parking decks, curbs, roads, septic tanks and buildings awaiting restoration.

"I find her a very astute business person, very energetic, extremely competent in her field," sald Richard Melnechuk, technical services manager for St. Marys Peerless Cement Co. in Detroit and vice president for the Michigan chapter of the American Concrete Institute.

Karen Kalbaugh, a graduate geology student, works with Randolph.
