Group wants superintendent ousted

staff writer

A Wayne-Westland committee seeking to recall three school board members hopes the effort will result in the firing of Superintendent Dennis O'Neill and his closest'aide, recall chairman Steven Lind confirmed Tues-

Recall organizers, accusing the school administration of being money-hungry, want O'Neill and Deputy Superintendent Thomas Syitkovich ousted, Lind said.

"That's the ultimate result," he said. O'Neill's administration already has met resistance on some issues since three new school board members were elected June 10. One member, Laurel Raisanen, openly stated in her campaign that she wants O'Neill's critics hope to build on such opposition by recalling veteran board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Andrew Spisak and Leonard Posey and supporting anti-administration candidates in a special board election, Lind sald.

"I WOULD think that we would endorse certain candidates, but we don't have any in right now," he said.

O'Neill declined to comment on Lind's statements.

"Considering the source, I would not respond," O'Neill said.

Svitkovich defended himself and said, "My track record in this district is that I've done basically everything that the community wanted me to do, as well as what the superintendent has asked me to do."

Lind accused Syltkovich of being "a carbon copy" of O'Neill, and he blasted veteran board members as "an echo of the administration."

will push for the firing of O'Nelll and Svitkovich, Lind said.

"We need to get a superintendent in there who really has his eye on the needs of the students of the district and not on the money," he said.

O'NEILL AND veteran board members have been criticized for the superintendent's $90,000-plus salary, among other financial issues, such as a teacher contract that included an 11.9-percent raise over two years.

Lind's remarks about the administration came less than a week after the recall committee submitted to the county elections office the proposed ballot language aimed at recalling Chorbagian, Spisak and Posey.

County elections officials are expected to hear arguments from the recall committee - known as New Beginnings for Our Children, or NBC - and the targeted board members before ruling on the proposed ballot language in about two weeks.

If the county approves the language, the recall committee must gather 4,420 signatures from district voters to have the issue placed on a special election ballot.

District could scatter Cooper students if Whittier fails tests

By Marie Chestney staff writer

If Whittier Center isn't used to house Cooper Elementary students, there's a good chance Cooper students will be scattered throughout the Livonia school district rather than put together in one school build. ing, according to director of operations Art Howell.

District officials are awaiting the results of soil borings at Whittler, a former middle school, to see if the school is safe to reopen as an elementary school.

If it isn't, the district has two choices on where to send the 380 Cooper students. At the request of their parents, some students already have been assigned to new schools in Cooper is on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt. Whittier, across the street, has been leased for the past 10 years for non-K-12 school tenants.

The school board can convert one of the district's more than 10 closed buildings to an elementary school or it can scatter the students in schools. around the district.

Each choice presents its own set of problems.

MOST OF the closed buildings are either leased to a group or business outside the district or are used by an operation within the district

'Whittier is the simplest and best solution. But we have enough vacant space in the district to house all 380 kids. . . We're hoping the health department will say it's safe for kids to go to Whittier so it doesn't fractionalize the community, but if it's _not safe, they're not going there.'

- Art Howell director of operations

Leases in the building chosen would need to be terminated so the building could be equipped for students and reopen by the first day of school, Sept. 4.

"They would be difficult to use because of the time needed to terminate the lease," Howell said.

Stark, the district's only boarded up and unused building, can't be reopened because it would need extensive repairs. Howell said.

Scattering the students means the district would have to bus Cooper students to many schools around Livonia, creating a logistical problem that would have to be resolved by September.

Because of the short time remaining, Howell said it will be easier to spruce up empty classrooms throughout the district than try to get an entire building freed up.

However, Howell said, scattering Cooper students will "fractionalize" Cooper school and the school's spirit.

"Whittier is the simplest and bestsolution. But we have enough vacant space in the district to house all 380

Under pressure from Wayne-Westland school board members, Superintendent Dennis O'Neill has recommended upgrading the duties of the Wayne Memorial High School athletle director to include the position of assistant principal.

zorosky-Wiacek said the change would not be in the best interests of students at the two high schools.

Monday's decision is expected to result in Neal Thomas, Wayne Memorial assistant principal, being transferred to John Glenn as assistant principal and athletic director.

The latest shake-up came as school officials acted to fill the athletic director positions that had been vacant as a result of proposed budget cuts. The cuts were averted by the June 10 passage of a 7.75-mill tax

In a prepared statement Monday, O'Nelll indicated that his latest recley as the assistant principal and ommendation on Hawley came amid athletic director at John Glenn High pressure from a majority of school

"Although it is unusual for board members to be involved in the job location of administrators, Mr. Hawley will be assigned to Wayne Memorial High School at the direction of the majority of the members of the board of education," O'Neill said.

VETERAN BOARD members Kathleen Chorbagian, Andrew Spisak and Leonard Poscy had voiced concerns last week about the board's deepening involvement in the administrative appointments.

However, a majority of board members, including Kozorosky-Wiacek and newly elected board members Laurel Raisanen, Vicki Welty and Fred Warmbler, wanted a ment.

Hawley began his career in Wayne-Westland in 1962 as a physical education teacher at Franklin, Junior High School, He transferred to Wayne Memorial in 1967 and has been athletic director there since

His promotion required school board approval because, in assuming the job of assistant principal, he will move up in rank and switch from one bargaining unit to another. O'Neill commended Hawley's "work ethic" and predicted he will "do an outstanding job" in his new post.

"As all of us know, the hours of a high school administrator start early and end late, and (Hawley) has demonstrated his mettle for the chalstronger voice in the latest appoint- lenge," the superintendent said Mon-

School site ranks low on state's toxic list

Cooper Elementary School's low ranking on the state's toxic site that may keep it from getting state money to clean up the school grounds

Both a state environmental efficial and the Livonia school district a newly hired environmental attorney believe the district will have an uphill climb in tapping state money to help out taxpeyers in paying the millions of dollars it might cost to clean up the contaminated site.

The site is on Ams Arber Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt to Westland.

OLADIPO OYINSAN, Livenia-based district supervisor for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, said state money goes first to slies high on his toxic site list. The list ranks slies from one to 48, with 48 being the most toxic.

The Cooper site is recalled a sumber two, next to the lowest possible ranking for a toxic site in Michigan.

While it's not a site of high contamination, all sites on the list have to be cleaned up by the responsible party," Oyinsan said. But the ranking sets priorities for state trash at the former landfill and who under recently passed Michigan environmental law will thus pay part of the cleanup bill.

This search for other responsible parties, Smary said, is highly important because it's not at all certain the district will be able to tap into federal or state money.

"I will evaluate all funds, but everybody is tight with their money," Smary said.

"My job is to make certain other parties under the law assist in the cleanup so Livonia doesn't get stuck with the entire cost."

EVEN THOUGH it is low on the toxic site list, one DNR official recently estimated the cost of cleaning up the Cooper site could climb to $10 million.

In the months ahead, Smary will research documents to trace the ownership of the site and to unearth people or groups who dumped

"That's a huge research job for a landfill that closed 40 years ago," Smary said.

Pinpointing former dumpers is especially crucial due to amendments passed in 1990 to Michigan's environmental law. The amendments went into effect July 1.

UNDER THE so-called Michigan "polluter's pay." amendments, dumpers who helped create the toxic waste site also help pay for the cleanup so that taxpayers don't get stuck with the whole tab.

Under Michigan law, the cost of the cleanup falls on the shoulders of the school district simply because it owns the site.

It does not matter that the district did not contaminate the property, nor that it didn't. own the land when the contamination oc-

There's nothing fair about the law," Smary said. "You don't have to have done anything wrong, legally or morally, to be liable. You simply have to be the owner.

"It's not fairness, but a public policy declsion. Livonia is the responsible party because it is the current owner."

IN THE MONTHS and maybe even years ahead, it will be to the district's benefit to find as many dumpers as possible.

It is hoped that identified dumpers will in turn identify others so that more dumpers get dragged into the cleanup; thus cutting the district's liability.

The municipal dump operated in Westland from 1928-52.

"My work could take years or it could take months," Smary sald. "It's not unusual that it could take over a year."

BECAUSE-THE "polluter's pay" amendments just went into effect three weeks ago, Smary will be plowing new ground in the months ahead.

Additionally, the new law is so complex (more than 100 pages) and contains so many untested provisions that these provisions almost certainly will face legal challenges that could take years to be settled.

"There's been virtually no experience throughout the state in applying (polluter's pay) amendments," Smary sald. This will be interpreted as applied. Throughout Michigan, others are facing these same issues."

THE AMENDMENTS spell out how cleanup costs are to be allocated if more than one party is responsible for contaminating the site. Triple damages can be assessed against polluters who refuse to clean up the site. If only one person can be found who falls within the status of responsible party, that person can be liable for the entire cleanup.

The pelluter's pay amendments are designed to get some 2,850 toxic waste sites in Michigan cleaned up by polluters rather than by taxpayers.

In 1988 Michigan voters approved a bond issue that included $425 million for cleanup of toxic waste sites.

With total cleanup costs in Michigan pegged at $8 billion, legislators hope the polluter's pay amendments will force identified polluters to pick up a portion of the tab.

Frustrated firemen can't nail suspect

Perry confirmed that two or more juveniles are known to have been involved in setting the fire that swept through a central area of the school. on Palmer, between Wildwood and Venoy, in the city's south end. Authorities have questioned the youngsters, who have denied any involvement. "Unless someone comes forward with more evidence, we're at a dead end," Perry said.

WHEN ASKED if he expects that arrests will be made, Perry said "I really have no idea."

However, he conceded the chances are "slim to none" unless investigators obtain additional evidence needed to arrest the suspects and prosecute them on arson charges. Someone broke into Adams School and used flammable liquids to set the fire that ripped through Room 11 - destroying its contents - and spread to six other classrooms in the 35-year-old school.

Wayne-Westland school officials have billed it as the worst fire in memory in the school district. The damaged area has been repaired, although it was initially blocked off to prevent students from entering and possibly being injured. Anyone with information about the fire may call Perry at 467-3260, or police officer Derek Delacourt at 721-6311.

Couples truckin' over to Westland

By Diane Gale staff writer

Dave and Andrea Slayton run a business out of their Canton house. But they park their work truck in Westland. Canton ordinances say they can't park a commercial vehicle in a residential area. They learned that after getting an ordinance violation for leaving their 18-foot-long and 11-foot-high Ford Econoline in a vacant field across from their house south of Ford Road. When they tried parking it at various business lots on Ford Road they found out that wasn't allowed, el-

"It became difficult to find a place that I could go," Dave Slayton said.

"What is the small independent lawn care guy doing?" he said. "I' know he's not putting (his vehicle) here in Canton. I think people here go to Westland and Livonia."

AND THAT'S what the Slayton's are doing. When they get a call for service to their business, Mammoth Mobile Wash, they drive to Newburgh and Cherry Hill in Westland to get the truck first.

The purpose of ordinances is to ensure that residents' property is protected, said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

"There are certain things that property owner expects," he said. "Without ordinances someone could establish businesses next to residential homes that could create a level of activity that is not in concert with · residential living."

The business may not have a negative impact on area residents until he introduces a truck! Yack added.

"People who live in residential areas should be assured a quality of life that is commensurate of residential living," Yack said.

ASIDE FROM neighborhood rules, the Slaytons are disgruntled about Canton's ordinances in other areas as well. Another township rule killed an idea they had to open an arcade in Canton about six months ago.

"Zoning ordinances are unfair," he said. "They're (township officials) not doing enough to generate busi-

David Slayton leans against the commercial truck he parks in Westland.

Financing delays county's land sale

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Wayne County has slowed the $31.9 million sale of Northville Township land slated for a major multi-faceted development to give the developer more time to secure financing.

The Huntington Falls Limited Partnership, headed by Plamouth-Township developer Robert De-Mattia, is being given an additional year to secure financing for the 933-acre site.

"Because of the unsettled state of the national financial markets. coupled with the current recession, the county has to be sensitive to the fact that obtaining large amounts: of money right now for real estate is extremely difficult," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

While securing financing during the next year for the purchase of the Northville land, work on it will continue.

"There are still a number of aspects of the development which can be carried out in the interim," McNamara said.

"The development team will execute the removal of 18 underground fuel storage tanks as part of their preparation of the land and continue, seeking plan approval with the township of Northville."

THEY ALSO are committed to spend $2 million on the development before the new closing date.

The request for an extension was made by DeMattia, who is managing general partner of Huntington Falls. The other principals in the partnership are the Selective Group of Farmington Hills and downriver based Heritage Devel-

"It's moving slower than expected because of economic conditions," said DeMattia. "Absolutely we'll be able to continue, Nothing has changed really. There's a lot more (real estate) activity now than last year."

When the original agreement between the county and Huntington Falls was reached in January 1990, the land's price tag was $31.75 million. As part of the revised agreement with the county, the developers will pay an additional $150,000 on the price of the original contract - and make an earnest money payment of $150,000.

The new terms will be incorporated into a document amending the original agreement which will go to the Wayne County Commission for approval as a final step.

"We are all pretty certain that the economic downturn the country is experiencing right now is in its last stages," said Georgina Goss, Northville Township supervisor.

"I'm also sure that this project is only one of many around the nation that has to have its terms re-evaluated, so I don't see this as anything out of the ordinary."

When the development is complete in seven to 10 years, it will contain residential, recreational, office, retail, research and development space as well as an 18-hole golf course designed by Lee Trevi-

The Michigan Model is in place throughout Michgian public school districts. There is broad teacher and parent support for most program provisions, said State Sen. Gilbert DiNello, D-East Detroit, hearing panel chairman.

CONTROVERSY, however, has surrounded the program's emphasis upon deep-breathing techniques as a means of calming stressed, troubled or unusually active children, as well. as its approach toward sex, alcohol and drugs.

It took the Lake Shore Striders from Grosse Pointe only 33 hours, 42 minutes and 40 seconds to run the 320-mile race. The fastest time ever recorded during the yacht races was 32 hours, 40 minutes and 40 seconds

Al opens his mike, heart to addicts

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Drinkers, overeaters, gamblers, drug users - regardless of the addiction, they tune in Saturday afternoon to radio 1500 AM, WLQV.

The 50,000 watt station with studies in a highrise at Seven Mile and Middlebelt roads in Livonia reaches an estimated 12,000 to 20,000 listenets each week, from places like Lexington, Port Huron, Flint and Toledo.

Some just listen. Others call in to chat with host Al-Kohal and two guest co-hosts. Already over 100 metro area recovering addicts have co-hosted with Al. Al is a recovering alcoholic, and in keeping with the 12-step program, he stays anonymous. The name was given to me by my higher power-31/2 years ago on a plane trip to Los Angeles," he said. "At 38,000 feet, I thought I'd like to do 12 step work here on earth. The name, a play on alcohol, just came to me."

Thirteen months ago Al launched his show in the 2-4 p.m. time slot.

"I was never in radio. I was and still am in the flower business in the Detroit area."

Nevertheless Al figures he spends or more steps of the 12 step pro-20, to 30 hours a week preparing for his show.

"I go to five meetings a week, and talk to people on the phone daily. Response is very good," he said. "I think it's a great two hour meeting.

"IT GIVES PEOPLE in denial a chance to hear our show in a nonthreatening way. And it gives people in recovery a place to share their stories and help others.

"Saturday afternoon is an excellent.time to reach our audience. And we've had good publicity, including 10 large billboards in the metro area as a frée community sérvice."

 Upcoming co-hosts include a 68-year-old grandmother with 28 years sobriety and her 18-year-old granddaughter, elean for 14 months "At the end of July, we have convicted felons calling from a prison facility treatment center. It should be gut wrenching," Al said. "On Aug. 3, I have an 68-year-old man with 33 years sobriety and an 86-year-oldwoman 41 years sober."

Callers and the hosts - all on a first name only basis - talk about individual addictions and discuss one

The 12 step program centers on a person first admitting their addiction, then attempting abstinence on a daily basis, asking for help from a higher power, and finally promising to help carry the message to others. Al's own story begins in his teenage years, when his family moved from a small town in Illinois to Miami. He drove a cab and began to drink. He moved back to Illinois, began a series of sales jobs and a decade of binging.

"I was a very good salesman, so I Al, who is closing in on his 60th birthday, 'For nine sears, I'd binge. Then I got into a 12 step program, But for the next 21/2 years, I still drank. I went through a lot of jobs. R all got too difficult:"

AL SAYS he was married three times to three different women durhe was married three more times. He has been married to his current wife for nine or ten pears.

"This one is a witner," he says. With support from the media, merchants and unions. Al says the program is going strong. In fact, he hopes to expand to between 50 and 100 major cities next year. The station has 260 station links. "At some point we hope to reach "

one million people a week," he said. "I get the satisfaction of helping." people. My mother used to say an it idle mind is the devil's workshop." >>>:

Besides talk radio, the program by connects people in more personal in ways. Last November, for instance, 🕏 a caller phoned in distraught because he was drinking after years of sobriety. Within an hour, two volunleers were at his home to take him 23 had lots of free time. I'd drink," says ... out for coffee and guide him through 3 his crisis.

"He called in three weeks ago to " let the audience know he's been so-i ber six months now," Al said.

On July 20, a 15-year-old girl from the Livonia area discussed her probable. lem and continuing sobriety,

"Thirty years ago I'd go to a 121 ing his drinking years. While sober, step meeting and be the youngest person there," Al said.

School skirmishes

Board/staff relations change

HE WAYNE-Westland school board is going through an expected rough transition in its dealings with the school administration.

That shouldn't be any surprise to voters, who rejected three incumbents in the June 10 board election and elected three challengers, who said they would avoid being rubber stamps for the administration.

There were several skirmishes in the past month at the board table when election-winner Fred Warmbier took office shortly after the June 10 election. Warmbier defeated an incumbent who was appointed the previous November to fill

The first squabbles were over the operating budget for the new school year and the tax rate. But the board-administration relationship took on a new dimension last week when the board, with two more new members, refused initially to act on a proposed shifting of duties and personnel at the district's two high schools.

The details aside, the board is starting to show some backbone — which may have been needed in the past year, particularly during negotiations with the local teachers' union.

THE UNION raises approved by the board earlier this year angered local voters.

ing While the board has rarely kicked up a fuss on administrative appointments in past years, it should make sure that it exercises its authority to reject or table any recommendation if it believes it needs more information or debate.

While that may be a new direction for the school board, it shows that it is displaying the backbone voters wanted. Major administrative changes are crucial to the district's success in dealing with problems involving the educational program, teachers, students and parents.

While the board should avoid getting too deeply involved in personnel appointments, it should insist that its review of promotions is based on professional standards and the needs of the school community.

ing or challenging a recommendation.

The school board should continue to show its backbone.

ON THE administrative switches, Superintendent Dennis O'Neill wanted Neil Thomas, Wayne Memorial High School assistant principal, to have the athletic director's duties added to his

James Hawley, long-time Wayne athletic director, was proposed to be promoted to the-new John Glenn High School position of assistant principal/athletic director.

Technically, the board had only to act on Hawley's appointment because he was to be moved from the teachers' union to the administrators' union. In Thomas's case, board action wasn't

But in reality, the changes were related.

At a business session July 15, the Hawley appointment was removed from the agenda at the last minute because a board member wanted more information, O'Neill said.

The removal of the issue from the agenda prompted the board to schedule a special session for Friday morning to act on the appointments.

After quickly taking care of other business, the board and administration almost immediately went into a closed meeting, coming out 90 minutes later to approve principals for two elementary schools and a new transportation director.

But it refused to act that morning on the Glenn High position.

One board member said privately after the meeting that it declined to act on the appointment to avoid embarrassing O'Neill. On Tuesday, the board agreed unanimously to a compromise which would have Hawley remain at Wayne Memorial in a new position as assistant principal and athletic director, a move aimed at keeping Hawley at the school he has been at for 17 years and avoiding administrative disruptions at the two high schools.

Rights to free speech get new breath of life

A little bit of life was breathed into First Amendment rights recently when the State Board of Education supported, in a split vote, a bill that would make students full and equal citizens of the United States.

In these days when far too many folks would rather see freedom of speech just go away, we must celebrate this 5.3 vote.

Hard as it is to believe, many elected officials and school employees believe students should be forbidden to practice the tenets of the First Amendment.

State Rep. Lyn Jondahl is trying to do something about that. In what at first appeared to be a futile uphill battle, the Okemos Democrat Introduced a bill that would protect students' right to publish, conduct theatrical productions, post messages on bulletin boards, circulate petitions and wear political buttons.

SOUNDS LIKE pretty mild stuff. After all, this is America. But Jondahl has lots of opposition out there, from those who really believe that students will be better off by learning how not to practice the First

After getting off to a slow start, the bill has gained support from Lansing. Locally, Farmington Republican State Rep. Jan Dolan has thrown her support to this free speech concept as well as Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, James Kosteva of Canton and Maxine Berman of Southfield.

On the Senate side, West Bloomfield Republican David Honigman has introduced a twin to Jondahl's House bill.

Over at the State Board, dissenters Marilyn Lundy of Grosse Pointe and Grand Rapids businessman Dick DeVos represent some real prerevolutionary mentalities.

Listen to what Marilyn has to say. "Freedom of speech stops sometimes. We give too much leeway or license to young people," she said re-

Lundy and DeVos are supported in their efforts to keep student free speech suppressed by that spineless group of decision makers, the Michigan Association of Secondary Principals. This is the case even though the bill clearly states that school boards and administrators would be fully protected from both criminal and civil liability. It is frightening to believe that those bureaucrats responsible for our children's education would rather teach the merits of censorship than the responsibilities of free

Law unfair

Bill may alter drug sentencing

The U.S. Supreme Court's decision to uphold a Michigan law imposing a mandatory life sentence with no parole for drug possession will not be the last word on the subject. Despite the ruling, the Michigan Supreme Court could still change the law, and a bill introduced by State Rep. William R. Bryant Jr., R-Grosse Pointe Farms, could give judges discretion when sentencing those convicted of possess-Bryant's bill calls for a minimum five-year sentence while retaining the maximum penalty of life in prison. The high court upheld the so-called "650 law," which requires a life sentence for possession of 650 grams of cocaine (about a pound and a half), by only one vote, 5.4. THE CASE ON which the court ruled involved an arrest in Canton of a first-offender who had 680 grams of cocaine at the time, just over the minimum amount to be charged under the statute. The usually conservative Justice Byron White voted against the law as cruel and unusual pun-

Of 125 prisoners now serving life terms for drugs in Michigan, about half are first-time offenders. Drug kingpins, who can afford the best lawyers, plead to a lesser charge. So the law hasn't put a dent in the illegal drug trade even—of judges.

Bryant said the high court's decision to uphold the law doesn't mean the state's high court will follow suit. And unlike the U.S. Supreme Court, the state court has no time limit.

. If the court does not rule on the "650 law" in the near future, the Legislature will take it up later this year, Bryant said.

The current law won't "get tough" with big drug dealers. It will continue to be unfair to small-time criminals and taxpayers.

Bryant's law is more in line withdrug laws in other states and would give judges the latitude to base the sentence on the offender's crime and previous record. It would take the crime out of the political arena and put it back into the hands

Resident mad at closures

Over the last 28 years I have paid property taxes to the city of Westland. Always on time, but not always without negative comments regarding the inequities of them. I recently experienced some more of the inequities of which I speak.

With the passing of time, more and more of my freedoms are denied me and that which I have paid for and is rightfully mine is being withheld from me.

I am continually confounded as to the ownership of public property, . specifically, the Bailey Recreation Center.

On the July 4th holiday weekend, I went to the Westland Summer Festival to join in the celebration of our freedom at Central City Park. While in attendance, I took one of my grandsons to the ice cream cart to treat him to an ice cream bar. As is typical he has as much ice cream on him as he had in him and so off to the Bailey Building to clean up, be relieved and renewed.

Upon entering the building, I observed the stairway leading to the. upper level wash rooms was laced with rope to effectively restrict pedestrian traffic. We descended to the lower level only to be confronted by tables blocking the hallways leading to the wash rooms and each blockade was occupied by a hall monitor. I inquired about a place to wash my grandson's hands and face. The response from the hall monitor was to inform me of a water pressure problem in the bathrooms and added that the water fountains were out of order. She stated however that the drinking fountain located outside near the baseball diamonds was functional. In all of my memory, I cannot recall ever having used a drinking fountain as a wash basin, which is exactly what-was being endorsed by this parks and recreation employee.

Having been frustrated by all of this, I made some inquiries and observations that only increased my level of disbelief.

The low water pressure did not stop the fire department from having their waterball contest for three hours. I spoke with an informed person who told me that two hoses were. expelling 140 gallons per minute.

The parks and recreation employees watered the lawn immediately in front of Bailey Center as well as the landscape shrubs and bushes on a daily basis. The mechanical sprinkling system watered the larger lawn areas on a nightly basis. This activity is in direct violation of a citywide ban on lawn sprinkling except on alternate days only.

The swimming pool was also in full swing for the duration of this festive event, which would indicate that the showers were working prop-

I photographed the rope that was laced in the railings of the stairway at Bailey Center and produced it to a public employee at the fire station adjacent to city hall. I asked if what he saw in the photograph constituted a violation and he responded that he could not say, but the fire marshal has the capability to make a determination, if in fact I was making a formal inquiry. The public employee assured me that the matter would be looked into on that day,

It seems a particular shame when. a handicapped lady in a wheelchair is directed out of Balley Center to the porta-jons located at the east end. of the building. She departed the area to the security of her home.

Pine Knob still needs to adjust

IT WAS ABOUT five years ago, during two hours spent sitting amidst unbudging traffic and sweltering heat in a raucous parking lot after a concert, that I vowed never again to go to Pine Knob.

And I kept that yow - up to now. "> But the combination of the Palace buyout of the sagging Clarkstonbased outdoor amphitheatre and the situation, as Pine Knob had public promise.

Last Thursday was another such hot sweltering evening. But we made it from West Bloomfield to a parking spot in 35 minutes (more and expanded parking entrances), walked only a short distance to the entrance time even for a cone of soft yogurt (more turnstiles and concession service points) before the performance of works of Andrew Lloyd Webber, starring the original Phantom of the

Once again, the Palace triumvirate of William Davidson, David Hermelin and Robert Sosnick, are triumphing. There wasn't a seat to be had in the amphitheatre at this semi-classical concert, which in past years probably would have been held at Meadow Brook, not Pine Knob.

AUDIO IMPROVEMENTS allowed even the lawn area to fully experience the dimensions of Crawford's voice, including the whispered "Slowly, softly. ..." in "Music of the Night." Giant video screens placed on either side of the stage zoomed in on his face - much to the delight of females of every age. Lawn seating is reduced, making for less congestion while restrooms for both men and women have more than doubled. Getting out of the parking lot went nearly as smoothly as getting in.

And remember, that the Palace owners, all from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area, only bought the facility in February.

You recall the scenario. Original plans were to compete with Pine Knob not buy_it. Palace owners were going to spawn a state-of-theart amphitheatre - the Palace Gar-

> Meadow Brook also must add women's restrooms and more innovative, inviting concessions.

NO, NOT EVERYTHING at the new Pine Knob is as it might be.

Although women have been accommodated restroom-wise, men have a long walk if they are on the right side of the amphitheater. The lighting from the concession stands detracts from the performance. And I took personal offense at the illuminated Miller Lite beer signs which flank the stage . where many young_ eyes are focused.

But this is only midway through the first season. And Pine Knob marketing assistant Scott Heitman convinced me: "We do listen to our patrons. We talk to them. They're our best watchdogs."

So far, through listening and reading the responses to a visitor's survey contained in the program book, they have in mind for next year:

• Adding lighting on top of the hill which many climb to exit to the parking lot.

• Adding more comfortable chairs - at least in some of the low-

• Repainting.

So what about the beer signs on dens - right next to the Palace on either side of the stage? Heitman their Auburn Hills site. was direct: Miller Lite is the beer sold at Pine Knob and also sponsors some of the attractions.

And, as a further defense, he explained that Miller Lite's slogan is

'Think when you drink." That would fit nicely on those illuminated signs.

THERE ARE about three of us, in Michigan's population of 9,295,297, who know we'd be better off with a parliamentary form of government.

Events of the last few months amply show that we three are right, and the other 9,295,294 of you are wrong.

The guts of a parliamentary system is a legislature with one cham-Ber and a chief executive who came from the leadership of the legislature's majority party. The buck stops with the party in power.

It would be a big change. Under our schizophrenic form of government, Michigan in 40 years has had the executive and both chambers of the legislature in one party's hands for three years (1963-4 under George Romney, 1983 under Jim Blanc-

THE HORRENDOUS results of your system have been seen the last six months, and it will get worse as, fiscal 1992 rolls around.

At loggerheads, Republican Gov. John Engler and House Democrats resolved the budget crisis the worst possible way - putting off the solution until tomorrow. They shifted Adult Home Help funding . . . fourth quarter aid payments to 15

Meanwhile, colleges must meet payrolls either by dipping into reserves or borrowing. Colleges also must set tuition rates in the dark because they don't know what state aid will be:

There are other messes, but that is the most glaring.

GOV. ENGLER'S priorities are to: maintain and raise spending for education, maintain welfare aid for families, and the heck with everything else. Then cut all property tax

The loyal opposition, led by House Speaker Lew Dodak, D-Birch Run, has a different priority - social services. When the House passed its version of the 1992 social services bill. Dodak issued a lengthy memo boasting that his chamber's version:

• "Restores funding for energy assistance programs for the poor. . . • "Restores funding for water bills . . ." And so on, and so on.

Dodak expressed unhappiness that the mere 3.4 percent increase for social services is insufficient to maintain all current programs.

YOU VOTERS tried to have it both ways by electing a governor of one party and a House of another.

Your game plan was to put 'em at loggerheads so they couldn't screw you, Hah! They fooled you. Each side got some of what it wanted and aggravated the agony.

You voters did the same thing in 1980 when you elected a Republican: president who wanted a military buildup and a Democratic House that wanted a social spending buildup. Washington did both, blosting the deficit and turning the U.S. into the world's biggest debtor.

Thus shall it ever be as long as voters play political games by electing an exec of one party and a legislature of another.

Footnote: Nothing prevents Michigan from adopting a one-chamber legislature and a parliamentary system. To be admitted to the Union, a state must have a "republican form. of government" (U.S. Const. Art. IV; Sec. 4) — a requirement as easily: satisfied by a parliamentary form asthe current schizophrenic form.

'Best' teachers are those who care

QUESTION: At our 20th class reunion, we were discussing the best teachers we had in high school and the worst teachers. Have there been any studies on what traits the bestteachers have; the worst teachers?

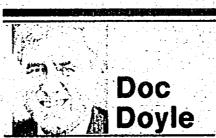

ANSWER: Tons of studies! Probably the best research I know of was by Dr. Howard Hickey of Michigan State University. He asked his future. teacher candidates for the past 20 years to list and rank the characteristics that they believe makes a great teacher.

Time Out! Before I share the results of Dr. Hickey's findings, take a minute and write down or think of some qualities you saw in the finest teachers you had starting with kindergarten.

The most frequent characteristics MSU students held for their best teachers follow: (not in any order) He/she was fair, had high expectations, was knowledgeable of the subject, was a caring person, a positive role model and had a sense of hu-

Now how would you rank the above characteristics?

The label that showed up consistently in the most hated teachers was he was unfair. Knowledge of the subject matter was listed at about 16th on the list of most hated teachers. Yet knowledge was one of the top qualities for teachers most "liked." It seems that even if the most hated teachers were knowledgeable, it didn't matter if they were unfair in dealing with students.

WHEN THE most appreciated teachers' characteristics were ranked, being fair was ranked number two. High expectations, sense of humor, knowledgeable and a positive role model vacilated between second and sixth as the most important teacher traits in Dr. Hickey's study.

However, the number one quality that students remember of their most respected teacher was he/she cared about me.

I can remember my finest high school teachers and college professors. They were demanding, knowledgeable and had high expectations. They were great teachers.

But tody I remember them most because they were always fair and I know they cared about me, my attitudes and my future.

Right now, I am thinking of my favorite elementary teacher, a first grade teacher. She also taught me a lot. I can't remember everything she taught me. But I remember she cared for me, indeed, she loved me and I still love her.

State seeks to improve math test scores

By Tim Richard staff writer

Look for Michigan public schools to improve their bad math showing on the 1990 National Assessment Education Program, says Gary Hawks. acting state schools chief.

Twin reasons: "Michigan is changing" with its new core curriculum law and the requirement of school improvement plans in every building. "We have work to do," Hawks

"This direction raises expectations for all Michigan students," Hawks told the State Board of Education last week. He said NAEP tests given to eighth graders measure only past math programs.

Tested were eighth graders in 37 states, the District of Columbia, Guam and the Virgin Islands. In Michigan, 2,500 students in 100 schools were tested.

MICHIGAN RESULTS show "average proficiency," said Hawks, but that wasn't saying much.

"At the national and the state levels, the results of the NAEP assessment are not good. A large percentage of our students are not doing well in mathematics. Only 13 percent appear to have acquired reasoning and problem solving skills involving fractions, decimals and percents. . .

"The results show that the level of performance varies widely across the state. .

"Our minority students (specifically blacks and Hispanics) and students from disadvantaged urban areas performed poorly.

Students who received instruction on elementary reasoning, problem solving and simple algebraic manipulation scored significantly higher than those sutdents who received instruction in simple mathmatical computation."

Board president Dorothy Beardmore of Rochester Hills agreed with Hawks' assessment, adding the problem was pithily summed up in a Seattle Times article headlined "Math: A nation of dunces." It blamed parental hatred of math more than schools.

MEANWHILE, SCHOOLS offering Michigan's comprehensive health education program were assured $35 million in state funding.

Grants are $60,000 for each of 454 public school districts and 132 private schools, Hawks said. The state board unanimously approved the grants last week.

Local schools must provide a 20 percent match, or $12,000. Costs cover a "Michigan Model" coordinator, teacher in-service training and classroom materials.

Religious groups are attacking the Michigan Model as promoting Orien-(a) faiths and attacking family values. They are expected to make their case at 7.p.m. tonight (Monday) when a select state Senate committee conducts a public hearing in Plymouth-Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center roads.

Local hearings are set on electrical service

Suburbanites who lost electric power earlier this month will be able to tell the Michigan Public Service Commission their problems with Detroit Edison and Consumers Power Co. MPSC has scheduled two public hearings for Monday, July 29 from 2:4 p.m. in the Troy Public Library, 510 W. Big Beaver, and from 7-9 p.m. in the auditorium at Livonia City Hall, Five Mile west of Farmington roads.

Othe hearings are set for July 31 in Grand Rapids and Jackson. MPSC chair Steve Fetter cited

Wolves pounce; champs roll

Thursday, July 25, 1991 O&E

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Three days after suffering a humiliating defeat, the Michigan Wolves rebounded - with a vengeance.

The Wolves lost their last regularseason game in the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League 4-3 to the Corinthians, a performance that cost the Wolves a second-place finish while securing the eighth (and final) playoff spot for the Corinthians.

It was a different Wolves team that took the field against the Birmingham Cobras II Sunday at Livonia's Jaycee Park. "We played with an attitude today," boasted coach Walt Barrett.

The result was a 3-1 victory that pushed the Wolves into the GLMSL Division I semifinals. The Wolves will play the Birmingham Cobras I, winners over the Ann Arbor Hattricks, at 4 p.m. Sunday at Jaycee

There was little reason to believe the Wolves would be able to bounce back and win so convincingly. Indeed, the Cobras II came into the game reinforced by the presence of Alexi Lalas, a member of the U.S. Olympic team (and a Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook graduate).

BUT LALAS was worn out from the Olympic team's 7-1 victory over Panama Saturday in Columbus, Ohlo, and the day spent traveling.

Gentile helps North to gold

By C.J. Risak staff writer.

The feeling was something most athletes can only dream about. John Gentile was fortunate enough to experience it.

Gentile, a Livonia Churchill grad who will start his sophomore year at Oakland University in about a month, collected a gold medal Saturday when his North team defeated the tournament favorite West squad 2-1 in the National Sports Festival soccer final.

"There's nothing that can top that," Gentile said-Sunday of his Sports Festival experience, just moments after playing for the Redford Marauders in a Great Lakes Men's Soccer League playoff match and only a few hours after arriving in town from Los Angeles.

"It might not be the Olympics, but just being out there was something I'll always remember," said Gentile. The Sports Festival medal ceremony is fashioned after the Olympic style, with medals draped around the athletes' necks and flowers presented to each.

"Just being out there was great," he added.

INDEED, GENTILE was somewhat surprised he was part of the team. When the tournament to select the North team was held in Rockford, Ill., he was at the Indoor Soccer Nationals with his Vardar squad. North coach Fred Schmalz. the University of Evansville head coach, asked Gentile to join the North anyway.

Gentile wasn't about to argue. He split time at center midfield, and his performance in the four-game tournament - the North won twice and tied twice surprised him.

"I played really well," he said. "I was surprised. I didn't think I would play that well. It was a fastpaced game, but it was controlled."

The North opened the tournament by tying the East - the team figured to be the West's toughest challenge - 2-2. Then against the West, the North scored twice late to pull away for a 4-1 victory.

The North's biggest test came against the South. Trailing 2-0 late in the match and needing a victory or a tie to advance to the goldmedal game, the North netted two goals in the final four minutes for a 2-2 tie, setting up the championship against the West.

"ALL FOUR games were really exciting," said Gentile. But there

Searing heat can't stop racers

The more than 1,000 runners and walkers who entered Livonia's 8th Annual Redford Roadrunner Classic found out what it feels like to run in an oversized oven.

By the 6:30 p.m. start of the eightkilometer run, the mercury had risen to 96 degrees, and the accompanying high humidity made it virtually impossible to sweat and cool off.

But the sponsoring Redford Roadrunners made it up to the runners, walkers and wheelers: the post-race party featured non-stop music, co-ed showers, lots of food and drink, prize give-aways, customized medals and gift certificates for winners, and dancing under the stars 'til midnight.

The heat didn't seem to faze overall winners Don Johns, 26, of Monroe and Terry Mahr, 42, of Oregon, Ohio.

JOHNS - WHO recently ran a 2:14 marathon and is knocking on the door of the U.S. Olymple team went out at just over five-minute pace with the lead pack of nine. By the three-mile point, there were three: Johns, Guy Murray of Ferndale and Wally Rodriguez of Perrysburg, Ohio.

"Guy got a little bit away from me and made a little bit of a move," said Johns, second in the NCAA 10,000 meters while at Eastern Michigan University in 1988.

'When he stopped his move, I tried to make a move on him. We hung together for another mile or so. With about three-quarters of a mile to go, I made another move. I could hear there was someone behind me, but for the last 100 yards, I couldn't hear anyone anymore," said Johns, who finished in 24:56.

Mahr, a native of London, England, showed that being 40-something can be something to write home about. She captured both the masters and open division in 29:12. It marked Mahr's third Redford win in the masters division.

"I'M PRETTY happy that I could break 30 minutes," said the selfcoached runner. "Until about the mile-and-a-half point, I was with Debble Nowak and Laurel Park. 1 felt quite strong, so I put on a surge, and no one came with me. Of course then I was committed and I had to gut it out." The overall wheeler champ was Chuck Patten, 41, of Grand Rapids, who bested the field and his paraplegic open division by nearly three minutes with a personal best of hearts as they finished, among them Farmington's Donna Cruz.

For nearly three months, Cruz, a veteran of the United Cerebral Palsy Olympics, trained for her first road race with her uncle and coach John Cruz of Plymouth Township.

A roar went up as the crowd spotted Cruz nearing the finish, kicking and gliding backwards in her wheelchair. The cheers spurred her to push even harder, and a determined Cruz breezed through the finish in 1:13. Wearing a smile to beat the band, Cruz later joined runners and wheelers dancing the night-away-inhor chair.

Another wheeler - Jim Keskeny of Pinckney - also completed his first five-miler. Keskery has multi-

David Carroll, the first-year coach of Hines Park Lincoln Mercury, willhave plenty of time refutbishing the old house he and wife Christine purchased recently in Dexter.

That's because Hines Park's season ended Monday at Livonia's Ford Field, when it split a doubleheader with Wendy's, and finished one point shy of a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoff berth. Hines Park kept its hopes alive with a 7-3, eightinning win in the first game, but Wendy's rallied for a 2-1 win in the nightcap to leave Hines Park in fifth. place at 14-13-1 (29 points).

Delwal beat Fieger and Fleger, 15-9, Sunday to secure the final playoff spot with a 14-12-2 record (30 points). Delwal will play No. 1seed Walter's Appliance (20.7-1) at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at Ford Field. Third place Fleger and Fleger (15-12-1) meets second place Redford Little Caesars (16-11-1) at 8 p.m. at Ford Field.

So instead of getting ready for the opening round of the playoffs, Carroll will be spending time around the

Each team collected five hits. Hines Park took a 1-0 lead in the third inning on the benefit of only one hit. Mark Stokes led off with a walk, went to second when Scott Niemiec (Plymouth Salem) was hit by a pitch and Stokes took third on a single by Ron Nanny (Saginaw Valley). Mustangs win state, aim for national title

The Mid-America Mustangs won their second consecutive state championship in girls 15-and-under softball Sunday at Liberty Park in Sterling Heights.

The Mustangs will compete in the world tournament Aug. 1-4 in Cocoa, Fla. They finished 13th among 76 teams last year.

"We've got a very good chance of being No. 1," Mid-America assistant coach Ron Movinski said. "Our goal is to win it all and bring home the

The Mustangs were undefeated in four games last weekend, winning the title with a 4-1 victory over Garden City in the final.

Cindy Lehnis of Plymouth, a student at Dearborn Divine Child, was 3-for-3, drove in two runs and scored a run in helping to make Stacy Sinke the winning pitcher.

"SHE'S THE best 15-year-old player in Michigan," said Movinski of Lehnis. "She picks up everything hit to her (at shortstop) and turns a heckuya double play.'

Mid-America scored three runs in the first inning to lead the whole game. Tara Wasiak and Jamie Cook added two hits apiece.

The Mustangs started the tournament with a 20-3, mercy-rule win over Jal's Gals. Wasiak, supported by 24 hits and allowing only two in the five-inning game, was the winning pitcher.

Michelle Bohnke and Lehnis were 4-for-4. Karen Jose had three hits, and Sarah Rowe, Stacy Movinski and Jenny Garvey two each.

Lehnis also had four RBI and scored four runs, Bohnke two RBI and four runs. Jose drove in five runs, Garvey two, Rowe and Movinski one apiece.

Golden experience

Festival than a medal.

"I learned more on this team in a week than I have in five years," said Gentile. "The players are so good. You don't get the opportunity to go against that type of competition

"It makes you realize how much better you can be."

The type of game, Gentile explained, was different than the kind played in Michigan because "it's a different type of competition. Here, they play more with heart; there, they depend more on skill."

The Olympic-styled experience -Gentile spent his 10 days at the Sports Festival on the Loyola Marymount campus, in suburban Los Angeles - was something he relished, too. Gentile was able to see sports that normally might escape attention, like team handball and field hockey. He also saw some volleyball and boxing.

There was also the chance to demonstrate to coaches from around the country his skill-level.

Lalas wasn't exactly unfamiliar to the Wolves, elther; both Jon and Jeff Petosky and Jeff Forshey (all from Southfield HS) played for years with and against Lalas and knew what to expect.

"Lalas is a great player," said Barrett. "And he's great in the air, he's so big (6-foot-3). On set pieces, we made sure someone was on him.

"I thought we controlled the middle of the field, with Berek Williford (Livoma Stevenson and Oakland University) and the Petoskys, and I thought Kurt Will (Stevenson) was outstanding on defense."

Steve Cain scored the Wolves' first goal. Jon Petosky made it 2.0 by halftime, and Williford increased the Wolves' lead to 3-0 before the Cobras II got on the board. With four minutes left, a hand ball inside the penalty area was called against Aaron Brown and a penalty kick was awarded to the Cobras II. Greg Lalas converted to avert the shutout.

After missing several opportunities, the Marauders got on the board midway through the opening half on an alert play by Paul Kaliszewski. A careless pass back to the Corinthian keeper was intercepted by Kaliszewski; he converted, and the Marauders were on their way.

The pressure kept mounting around the Corinthian goal, and Gemmell got something out of it when he punched in the deflection of a Lars Richter (Stevenson) shot, making it 2-0. Gemmellmade it 3.0 a short time later, chipping a pass from Jim Rhoad (Livonia Franklin) into the corner of the net.

THE MARAUDERS added two second-half goals, both in the final 20 minutes. Bobby Neumann (Schoolcraft College) got the first, on a pass from Brian O'Shea (SC and Franklin). Marauder coach Nick O'Shea (Franklin, SC and OU) capped the scoring late in the match, converting a pass from John Gentile (OU and Churchill).

In the Budlight win over Paragon, the game was tied 1-1 at half, with Doug Consigny scoring for Budlight and Chris Crawford (SC) netting one for Paragon, Jim Blanchard and Michael Rahn put Budlight ahead 3-1 before Crawford scored again for Paragon.

The teens were casually dressed in shorts. Their facial expressions and movements gave a clue to the characters they were portraying. Up on the hill, a group of young children sat on the grass. The 65 students attending the Cranbrook Theatre School in Bloomfield Hills are a part of a legacy that has taken place since 1941.

On Saturday, the school is honoring its founder and director, Annetta Wonnberger at a reunion with alumni. Activities for the day range from swimming and box lunches, to performances at the Greek Theatre, and a children's play. The city of Bloomfield Hills has designated July 27 as "Annetta Wonnberger Day." The newly renovated Greek pavilion is being renamed for Wonnberger and her late husband, Carl.

"I WILL never forget my first day at the school," said Dan Castle, a Birmingham actor and director who won a scholarship in 1975. "Annetta Wonnberger gave a charming talk and painted such a grand picture of the government funding for arts prothe theater. I was captivated and nave been ever since.

The quiet spoken 82 year old Wonnberger is still directing the theater as she has for 50 years, 38 years as co-director with her husband, and 12 seasons after his death in 1980.

"Where did the time go," said the have many fine theaters, amateur, if

In 1929, Wonnberger left Smith not seem to bother the College as a freshman to marry, and came to Cranbrook School to live. Her husband had accepted a job teaching in the English department. The couple would make their home there for the next 38 years until Wonnberger moved to Birmingham.

The couple has two daughters, Jo Anne Wheaton, also of Birmingham, who does the public relations for the school, and Nancy Von Steeg of De-

Besides having a family, Wonnberger was also busy completing a master's in theater from the University of Michigan, and a master's in English from Wayne State University. She also taught English at Berkley High Schol, Oak Park High School, Wayne State University, Detroit Institute of Technology, and Eastern Michigan University.

"THE CHILDREN in the school today are the same in many ways as they were in the early days," said Wonnberge: Today's children have had, of course wider experiences in travel and note off confidence and they are capabi of a great deal. They are not a wife though. They still have not to no natural qualities of being chile "a"

As an active theater arts representative on the 'r recutive Board of the Oakland Comicy Unitural Council, Wonnberger is cerned with grams. While she has reservations about how this funding has been used she is very supportive of funding for the arts. She also is disturbed by the use of the word "elite" recently in relationship to arts programs. "Our community is fortunate to

The Wonnbergers started in 1941 with 25 students. Now the average is about 75 ranging from third grade to college. A number of students have gone on to pursue professional careers in theater such as Robert Englung who was Freddy in "Nightmare on Elm Street" and Dana Elcar who is Pete in "MacGyver." Many have enjoyed the community theater as an outlet for their talents.

"I received a letter recently from one of our alumni saying how much the experience had helped her as an architect making presentations," said Wonnberger.

"I think the skills one needs for the theater are skills one needs in life; good communication, poise, confidence, and knowing what to do meeting people.

that is why I have stayed so young."

On Friday, Aug. 2, and Saturday, Aug. 3, the school's senior division will bring the 50th season celebrations to a close with an evening of four one-act plays. The program starts 8:30 p.m. in the outdoor Greek Theatre on Lone Pine Road.

The program includes "A Visitor from Forest Hills," from Neil Simon's "Plaza Suite." Frank Gorman's "A Case for the Detective/ with people of the same age. I think Private Eye" which demonstrates how a mystery is solved in two different ways by the same person. "Aria da Capo," a comic/tragedy by Edna St. Vincent Milay, a play-within-a play depicting the stylized antics of Columbine and Pierrot comingled with shepherds who inadvertently guide each other to an untimely end, and "The Applicants" by Patrick J. Director Marjorie King has fashioned a first-rate production in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers." Kudos too, to William Mandt, executive producer, and founder of SRO Productions for the City of Southfield.

Short model change plays with tooling costs

Chrysler President Bob Lutz claims Chrysler is going to be bringing out all-new cars on a four-year cycle from now on. Meanwhile, in Japan, Hisan Suzuki, head of Honda Research and Development, says Honda is slowing its new-car programs, bringing out new cars on a five-year cycle, rather than the fouryear plan it has used for several generations of Civics and Accords.

The odd leapfrog game that is unfolding is yet another twist in a competitive game that has been rife with misunderstanding and misread in-

The reality is that the most significant American new-car programs of the past decade - Ford's Taurus, GM's Saturn, and Chrysler's yet-to-be-unveiled LH platform all are the results of carefully stud-ing competitive cars, mainly imports, and adapting their best fea-

It's worth noting that when the Japanese imitate, they tend to imitate German, rather than American automakers. At least these days. I'd credit most of their progress from the realization in the mid-1960s they had to get off imitating the British, a new car every four years has led to the notion that they can engineer, develop and tool a completely new model in 48 months, Suzuki laughs, out loud at the idea. "That's only for a new model - not a completely new car," he says.....

Logically, you can introduce a new car every year, even if takes you 10 years to develop it, as long as you are working on 10 cars at a time. Ironically, it was GM that set records in car development with its Saturn, which were largely offset with-several years of bureaucratic paper shuffling and corporate planning. Introduced with numerous rough edges, Saturn also underscored the dangers of rushing to

In fact, while the Japanese have been successful with quick model changes, Mercedes has been equally successful with hanging onto basic designs for 20 years or more - as have certain domestic models such as full-size vans. I'd bet the average customer isn't quite so enthusiastic about changes as he is about improvements.

So far, the domestic industry has proved to be quickest at improvements in the highly pragmatic areas of safety, emissions and fuel econo-, my. New American cars are mainly pleting CFC, corrosion protection and meeting crash standards. Oddly, these are government requirements, which take no creative activity to initiate, only to solve.

But the Japanese have led in taking technological risks, some -worthwhile and some wierd stuff nobody seemed to want. The "talking car," for example, and the still-unrecognized benefit of four-wheel steering. Both of these sat on the shelf at American auto companies for decades before the Japanese brought them to market.

In the long run, it's that willingness to take chances that leads to creativity and eventually to real imchange alone.

Firm uses data bases to forge business deals

- Charles W. Peterson, 36, of Rochester Hills, and Larry J. Vingelman, 45, of Farmington Hills.

The two, who recently completed their first year as consultants/investment bankers in Troy, said the experience pretty much mirrored expectations.

C.W. Peterson & Co. only lost about $3,000. Not bad, they figure, considering that they paid them-selves salaries and most new business don't survive to celebrate a first anniversary.

"Our philosophies are very similar," said Peterson, who has accounting and law degrees. "It's build the business and forego personal advantage for the time being. In the long term, you'll make more money. The firm becomes more valuable on a multiple of earnings."

"WE MAY ARGUE how to get there, but never fundamentally what we want to achieve," added Vingelman, who has a finance degree and has become an expert at accessing computer data bases.

During their first year in business, the partners:

That often is the big rub. Owners of privately held companies often are their own worst enemies, Vingelman and Peterson said. Sometimes they can't see what needs to be done. Sometimes they can see it, but don't want to do it.

"Guys who were great at selling bottled water were not so great at financing," Peterson recalled.

"Any time there's talk of changes, there's a lot of emotional resistance," Vingelman said.

While directors of social services centers criticize the cuts in government general assistance programs over the last decade, they have welcomed federal, state and individual promotion of volunteer service in recent years.

"If social service organizations are going to survive after being dependent on government assistance for so long, everyone's going to have to fight," said Alice Hairston, director of the Baldwin Avenue Shelter, which provides 450 meals a day, five days a week, to those in need. "Organizations such as Volunteer Impact, church groups and sororities make it much easier to take up that fight. They come here, sponsor a meal, and really get to know our ellents. It's very gratifying to see that type of voluntarism. It's wonderful."

directors. "A lot of people go through the 12-step program and after the meetings there was no place to go. The club fills that gap."

The club had its start in downtown Detroit, but 10 members left to open at club in the suburbs. They pooled r money and their talents to it STAYED there until eightago, when, in need of more , the club leased the entire inville School building from the nia Public Schools. However, ancial difficulties forced it to and now shares the building with the nool district's curriculum partment.

McCliment discovered the club 20 ears ago. He started drinking at 16 and continued for 15-16 years before ne got into the 12-step recovery program in 1968.

"A judge sent me," he said. "I had a choice between jail and meetings, and I'd already been in jail so I took the meetings. I saw people who had omething I didn't have, but I didn't ·tay.'

He did decide to go back in 1975 and managed to stay sober for sixvears. He married and had a family, but when the marriage fell apart, he turned to the club to "help get through it without having a drink." He has stayed sober since 1986. "If there's a problem, we encourage people to come in because there's a lot of people here to help," McCliment said. "The judicial system knows about us. They send people here who need to work offtime in an atmosphere where they see people having fun without alcohol.

"WE LET them know that there's a life after alcohol, but they have to be willing to work at it."

While the members share a common goal — life without booze - they also share a common feeling. They care about each other. When one member couldn't afford her mother's burial expenses, club members passed the hat and collected enough to cover the cost, McCliment sald.

Although the club doesn't maintain a hotline, it does get "a lot. of people calling in for help." Admittedly, it can be a hassle for the caller, but members ask only that "you give us a chance," McCliment

"No matter what, our goal is to help people in recovery," he said. "And they need to know that they got a place to come to if they're in trouble. A lot of activities start in here, but end up out there in the real

Seminar helps older women ease into college life

By Sue Meson staff writer

When Kay Boyer and her husband separated several years ago, she decided she need help getting employability skills

Come December, Boyer will graduate from Schoolcraft College with an associate's degree in general business. The last lew years haven't been easy for Boyer, but she now knows she "can do it

And that's the message she'll convey to women at "Thinking About College," a seminar offered by the college's Women's Resource Center at its Livonia campus Wednesday, Aug. 7, and at its Radcliff Center Thursday, Aug. 8.

"I wasn't the world's greatest high school student," said Hoyer. "I had the po tential and I didn't use it. I didn't think I could make it in college, I didn't think I was smart enough."

The resource center presents the "Thinking About College" seminar prior to each semester. It introduces women to Schoolcraft College and provides information and support for those who are thinking of, or returning to school.

Established in 1974, the Women's Resource Center works with women like Boyer who are in transition. Boyer had heard about the center through her PTA activities and decided it would be the place to start reorganizing her life.

Peer counselors helped her sign up for classes, get a state grant to cover the cost of a psychology class. From there, she was steered toward student assistance that eventually turned in a Pell Grant.

SHE ALSO was directed toward the "Thinking About College" seminar, where she was introduced to the step-by-step process of enrolling in college.

"It was just a great deal of help in guiding me," the 40-year-old Westland resident said. "It took the edge off the scariness of my first plunge into college.

"You're very scared when you start out. You think you're different because you're older, but you find out that you really don't stand out."

Boyer has done well in college, maintaining a 3.9 grade point average. She is hoping to land a job in the human resources (personnel, employee placement) field.

Her success in college is mirrored in her participation in the "Thinking About College" program. She will be making her third appearance as a seminar panelist.

The message she will deliver is that older collège students should expect their lives to change, that some things will take a back seat to studying.

"You don't worry so much about the dust around the house," she sald. "It (home life) will be demanding and tough, but it will be exciting and rewarding to be in a college almosphere.

"Your children will benefit because you will put more responsibility on them."

BOYER BELIEVES returning to school has "made a positive impression" on her daughter even though the later thinks the former is boring because she "studies a said. "Two years later, I think she realizes why I did this.

"I know what a degree means to me and I do study a lot."

The seminar also helps single parents, displaced homemakers, single pregnant women and those interested in non-traditional careers may qualify for fuition assistance. In 1990, some $30,000 in financial aid was provided through the Women's Resource Center for college students

The seminar will be offered 9 am to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug.7, at the main campus, 18600 Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia, and 9 a.m. to noon Thursday, Aug. 8, at the Radcliff Center, Radeliff south of Ford Road, Garden City.

Writer exercises great control over her emotions

How does one become a certified graphologist? Is it related to fortune telling?

Thank you!

Dear L.C., I'll answer your questions first and then do an analysis of your handwriting. A person becomes a certified graphologist by studying graphology and psychology until her she feels qualified to pass the test given by the American Association, of Handwriting Analysts. I cannot give you a time frame for this. It depends entirely upon the person and the amount of time he/she is willing to devote to the study.

In no way is it related to fortune telling! A person's handwriting does not foretell the future. It describes the writer's personality as he/she is on the day of the handwriting. I might also add that knowing and liking people is a tremendous asset in personality assessment:

Now for your analysis. I wish you. had included samples of the various ways you write. However, since you didn't, I can only comment on the one you have submitted.

This handwriting tells me you are a young woman who exercises great control over your emotions. You are ever aware of how others view your actions and attitudes. And you are watchful of what you display of your inner feelings. This suggests an element of fear of others' reactions if you were to confide your true feelings or reactions.

Your main area of interest involves what is happening right now. You are overly concerned with yourself. Number one priority is protection of your own interests. You may have difficulty delaying pleasure. And yet you seem to be apprehensive about something in the future.

A strong need for security can also be seen in this handwriting. Seldom do you act impulsively. Decisions are made with the head more than the heart. Risk taking is a no-no. And you dislike being hurrled. A slow pace is more comfortable.

Material acquisitions hold a very high place in your value system. This could be a form of compensation for some early life deprivation you feel.

- Each one of us has a need to feel that we are loved and accepted as we are. It may well be that the home environment in which you were raised was not attuned to your special needs. Did you not feel more acceptable if you conformed to, rigid ' parental standards? Unfortunately, this did not help you become inde-pendent, nor develop your creative side. Neither did it help to promote feelings of good self-esteem.

Let's consider your many fine qualities. Your conscientiousnesss cannot be missed. Your are neat,

Girl Scouts enter the lab, encounter life as scientists

By Sue Mason staff writer

Red shorts, a-matching red striped shirt and flourescent plnk safety glasses. Not quite what you'd expect a chemist to wear in the lab, but that's what Dr. Marilee Benore Parsons was wearing last week as. she darted around one of the laboratories at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

"Just call me Dr. Nag," she tells her budding scientists, calling outto those not wearing safety glasses.

PARSONS AND fellow scientists Dr. Judy Heady and Dr. Linda, Fisher are running a summer daycamp for 12 Girl Scouts in the seventh through ninth grades from throughout the tri-county area.

In their early teens, they spent five days at UM-D getting hands-on experience in science.

The camp, "Labcoats and Microscopes," was the idea of Parson. herself a former Girl Scout. She wanted to break down the stereotype of the woman scientist - the "old hag in the lab" - and encourage them to explore careers in science, said Wendy Hanson, comunications coordinator for the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council.

"It's been shown that the girls need to latch on to their interest atthis age," she said. "By playing on their interests now and taking them into a working laboratory, the hope is to ignite a spark that will continue and lead them to looking into careers in science and mathematics."

The science

One of the things Dr. Marilee Benore Parsons, a professor at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, wanted the scouts to see was that scientists are "normal."

program for the scout council. If it works, it will become part of a larger program to turn girls' heads to mathematics and science, Hanson said.

PARSONS AND her cohorts planned a week's worth of experiments that showed the scouts how science is a part of their everyday lives - from making yogurt and fermenting grape juice to using beets, walnuts and marigolds to make dyes for a tie-dyed T-shirt and building a terrarium with fish, plants and fruit flies.

"Chemistry is related to all the things they do everyday," Parsons said. "Chemistry isn't a bad word; they eat and live with chemistry everyday."

Thirteen-year-old Erin Leclerc likes science, but admits one reason she signed up for the science day camp was to get away from her 10-year-old sister. A student at Pierce Middle School in Redford, she figured "it would be fun to play around with chemistry," that was until the bottle she and lab mate Carmen Russell of Detroit were heating up cracked.

A part of their fermentation experiment, the sizzling purple coze on the heating plate produced a cloud of steam and the stench of burning grape juice and yeast.

"Oooooh, that's all the stuff on the bottom," Erin said as Fisher moved in to scoop up the cracked bottle to save some of the juice for the experiment.

A LOVE of science was a common denominator among the scouts at the camp. In fact, most of the girls said that science and mathematics were their best subjects in school.

Jessica Flemming, 14, a student at Clawson High, plans to study selence and is aiming for a career, with the CIA or FBL Nicole Runnells, 13, of Oak Park is looking at becoming a veterinarian, her lab mate Anne Pieper, 13, of Grosse Pointe wants to be a doctor. "A lot of us are going into science oriented fields," said Anne. 2" "I'm interested in this because it's hands on. A lot of science classes in schools is what you read from books."

Sarah Sherman, 13, of Livonia is maintaining a wait-and-see attilab mate, Marchelle D'Anna, 12, of Farmington Hills, like Anne, wants to be a veterinarian.

Sarah, a straight A student at Emerson Middle School, said her decision will depend on "what I, learn here," checking the temperature of the simmering grape juice. "I learned a lot about science in school, about flowers, frogs and things, but it doesn't have to do with the stuff I'm learning in here," she said. Sarah has found the camp fun; but there is one drawback - the safety glasses - a feeling shared by most of the girls. The glasses they said, "are ugly and you can't" see through them." MARCHELLE, A student at Power Middle School, has been a' scout for about six years and hasn't been disappointed with the science

"It's fun," she said, adding that she likes the scouting is fun because of "all trips and stuff."

The clock on the wall of the lab was hovering around 12:30. It's Wednesday; the girls are at the halfway point of the summer camp and putting the finishing touches on the last experiment of the morning.

Armed with sterile beakers, pipettes, a graduated cyclinder and hot plates, they're working on "Today's food for Bacteria, Tomorrow's Snack for You." The byproduct - the laboratory version of yogurt.

Store's success a true inspiration

Family business still going strong

By Mary Rodrique staff writer ;

When Edward and Ratherine Servitto opened shop 30 years ago, seliing religious goods was a small part of their retail business in Redford Township.

But with a large Catholic population at hand, Michigan Mantel, a fireplace supplies store, eventually became Michigan Catholic Supplies.

Business is still flourishing with second generation owner Maryann Wolfe, the couple's daughter, who grew up working Saturdays and summer vacations at the store on Beech Daly south of Grand River. Now Wolfe's daughter, April, 19, an Eastern Michigan University student, works there part time.

"This is a highly Catholic community, with a church almost every mile in each direction." Wolfe said. members of the clergy a solid customer base, ions Cattolies and non-Catholies alike stop by for inspirational material, gifts and odds and ends.

Basically, the Michigan Catholic Supplies showroom looks like a gift shop with a Christian twist. There are greeting cards, with special emphasis on christening, First Communion and confirmation cards and gifts. Books for children range from the Bible to stories about saints. Jewelry, statues, rosaries and wedding and anniversary paraphernalia. round out the offerings.

The hottest commodity is a statue of St. Joseph. There's a belief among some Christians that burying a statue of St. Joseph in the yard will help sell their home.

"Realtors buy them by the dozen," Wolfe sald. A plastic model sells for $1.95.

WOLFE, WHO recently sold a home in Westland and moved to South Lyon, sald she buried a statue in her own yard and her house sold in two weeks.

What most people don't seem to know is that you're supposed to dig up the statue and give it a place in your new home," she added.

Other buys are more traditional, like statues of the Infant of Prague, which Wolfe says makes a nice wedding gift for a Christian couple.

"Rosaries were a particularly popular item during the war. We carry a lot of them and we actually sold out, which was very touching. I think that's why the war ended as quickly as it did," she said,

When Wolfe's parents retired 12 years ago, neither she nor her siblings had an immediate interest in

"My brother is a lawyer, one sister is a teacher, the other works at the University of Michigan. I was a cosmetologist. None of us was in (the family) business on a full-time basis. We all told them to sell it.

"But my husband Walter talked me into taking over. He thought it would be good for me. And it has been very good."

WITH THE exception of her daughter, April, Wolfe hires only retired women to work part time.

"I feel very close to them. And Tony, 12, and Theresa, 9. Wolfe re-

Courtesy, respect needed in daily encounters

Having spent a brief vacation in small community in northern Michigan, I was greatly impressed by the affability and cordiality expressed by the local residents. I avperienced, in the daily encounters of that small town, what is so often lacking in large urban centers the practice of courtesy.

Courtesy is one of the virtues which tends to be disregarded in this age of noise and turbulence. It is more than mere formality or ceremony. It is greater than politeness. It is a deep and abiding respect for human personality.

To be tactless or inconsiderate is not a mark of maturity. Such behavior is nothing more than childish petulance, anger or selfishness seeking expression. It may be an unconscious effort to conceal or cover up our sense of inferiority and inadequacy.

The mature person does not need to belittle others in order to make himself an equal. Aware of his own. self-worth, he needs no false props to bolster his sense of importance.

THE OLD STORY about a cab driver bears this truth. As a passenger handed him the exact fare, the cab driver frowned in disappointment. "That's correct, isn't it?" questioned the passenger. "Yes, it's correct," answered the cab driver. "But it isn't right." One of the reasons so many of us do not find satisfaction in our daily activities is that our relationships with others may be correct, but they are not right, they lack that civility which can sweeten life. Lord Tennyson was once appealed to by a lady to explain a passage in one of his poems which puzzled her. He replied "Dear ma- the surface but from a person's dam, I merely supply poetry to the depth of identification with the English people — not brains.

That reply was harsh and unfeeling. No one has a right to bludgeon even stupidity in such a fashion.

How different it was with Browning, when a lady asked him about a passage in one of his poems. "When it was written," he said, "there were two who understood it, God and Browning; now only God knows what it means." He saved the feelings of another and himself, too.

COURTESY MEANS sympathy with the self-respect of others, a self-respect which it helps to sus-tain by insightful, kindly response. Such sympathy springs not from needs and hopes of others. Perhaps courtesy can be best defined as be--nevolence in small things.

We live in a disturbed and uncertain age, with many of us not knowing where we are going or how and if we shall get there. The least we can do in our common predicament is to treat one another with a certain amount of respect.

This humble form of tolerance, while often deprecated or ignored, is an essential element in maintaining the fabric of our society. If history has proved something, it is that ways and means and procedures are more crucial than noble -but distant ends.

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Snaarey Zeaek in Southfield.

The mature person does not need to belittle others in order to make himself an equal. Aware of his own self-worth, he needs no false props to bolster his sense of importance.

Antique bottle buffs to show wares

"Old bottles is a term of art. To be considered old, bottles had to have a lip that was hand-finished, not finished by a machine," Roosen said.

Antique bottles and jars tell the story of our ancestors. Aqua, amber, crystal clear and rare ruby red bottles relate what life was like in the 19th and early 20th century.

"THE FIRST American glass house was built in 1619," Roosen sald. "Michigan had two glass houses, one in Mount Clemens and one in Saginaw."

ROWSING THROUGH the new Fashion Room at the Farmington Historical Museum, you can't help wonder what Lucy Putnam Bast looked like in 1901 wearing her thin, offwhite colton graduation dress, or how Edessa Warner looked covered to the ankle in her beige linen duster, a coat worn in the 1900s just to keep dust off clothes while riding in an Artist links cultures via brushwork; art show triumphs

SCANNING THE artscape:

• It's a winner.

Livonia artist Christine Wong's first one person show presents more than 60 watercolors she has painted using Chinese philosophy and techniques.

The show runs through Friday in the lobby of the Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Her imaginative art tracks 14 years of blending innermost feelings with inventive brushwork. Her paintings sour heartfelt messages about life's vast bounty.

The show chronicles the skill, spirit and confidence the China native has acquired through the creative strokes of her Chinese brush.

"I have to stand up to paint," she told the Observer. "I use my whole body. It's mental and body. I put my whole self into it."

Her work truly spans the vastness, between East and West.

One of my favorites is "Panda Bear." Dashes of green accent this wistful black and white portrait, which captures the loving bond between mom and cub. The eyes of these huggable Chinese bears are arresting. Another standout is "Waterfront," a haunting pastoral scene of a Chinese waterfront. Jagged hues of brown, blue, green and black unite in a splash of splendor and intrigue. I also like "Tiger and Cub." A cute cub sleeps peacefully on the outstretched paw of its mother, a .. Wong's enchantment with America's keen sentry with cars raised, whiskers perked, back tightened and eyes riveted, amid the cover of nature.

The cats' orange and black stripes are lifelike.

Purity, freshness and serenly comingle in "Flower Fairy." She's dressed in native purple-yellow garb, black hair blowing in the wind, brows arched over dark eyes, a basket of flowers in hand.

"Clown-Balloon Man" underscores spirit. Decked out in circus wear, tugging on balloons and with a big red nose and long purple hair, the clown is an instant Triend.

· With its wealth of quality art spread among 275 artists and crafters from around the country, Plymouth's Art in the Park is fast becoming a showstopper on the local arts fair scene.

'Artists came from as far away as California and West Virginia as well as Canada and Michigan. Many buyers came from the northern reaches of Oakland County.

The arts fest started in 1980 with 30 artists displaying their work in Kellogg Park.

Amid rising popularity and participation, Art in the Park has spilled over into the downtown streets that surround the village square.

"We've not only gotten good crowds but they've also shown good intensity," said hometown artist

Tale of civil rights lawyer proves riveting

"A Season of Justice," autobiography of Morris Dees, with Steve Fiffer (Charles Scribner's Sons, 355 pages, $24,95).

In these days of bottom-line ethics, we've come to expect new books extolling the virtues of macho entrepreneurial capitalists who are. praised for doing nothing more than making millions of dollars.

Rare is it to find a new book about a real American hero, a man who took his self-made millions, invested it in fighting bigotry, injustice and murder and, at the same time, risked

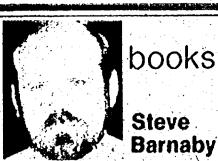

But Charles Scribner's Sons publishers deserve a pat on the back. The New York house has bucked the trend and is marketing the autobiography of civil rights lawyer Morris Dees, Entitled "A Season of Justice" and co-authored by Steve Fiffer, this is a tale well worth the read.

It's appeal is wide-ranging. Dees, whom you will recognize more from the cases he had handled rather than from his personal fame, is anything but the stereotypical East Coast lawyer who goes South to do good.

On the contrary, Dees, born in a small Alabama town of 400, is very much a product of his environment. Like many southern children, he spent time sweating it out in the cotton fields next to black field workers while, at the same time, living under the influence of his Uncle Lucien, who was "particularly ornery when it came to blacks."

DEES GREW up in the area of the nessman and, finally, founder of the country where it was acceptable for your best fishing buddy to be black but everything else - churches, schools, drinking fountains and the administration of justice - was separate and, as history has shown, very South.

But that is the charm of this book. Cincinnati airport, waiting out a

He saw himself as "a good lawyer wasting my time trying to make a few more million dollars." Taking his cue from the scriptural passage "to everything there is a season," he concluded that the rest of his life would be a season for justice.

AND WHAT a season it has been. Dees, along with his Law Center colleagues, has ravaged America's white racist organization while saving the lives of some black Americans who had been condemned to the death chamber.

Among the noted cases in which he has made a mark are:

· Saving the Tarboro Three, innocent black youths sentenced to death for allegedly raping a white woman.

 Defending Joan Little, a black inmate who faced execution for killafter he made sexual advances.

· Aiding the Vietnamese fishermen in Texas against harassment from the Ku Klux Klan.

Perhaps his biggest victory against the Klan was in a 1987 lawsuit he was able to prove a Klan conspiracy that led to the death of a black youth, Michael Donald.

The landmark case saw an allwhite Alabama jury award $7 million to Michael's mother, Beulah Mae. The award bankrupted the United Klans of America and put white racists groups on notice that violence carried a heavy price.

BUT SUCH victories don't come without a price. He and his family have been assassination targets of the Klan and neo-Nazis. His home has been attacked; his Law Center

"These men and others like them are bright and completely dedicated. With a change of heart, they could build bonds between the races. Sadly, they hate so deeply that their works and deeds destroy all they touch I cannot give up hope that they may someday change." Morris Dees is a special man with an important message. He gives us hope that we all can conquer racism - even within ourselves.

Leonard handwashed the clothes (about 30 pieces of clothing and 40 accessories) and began planning the display with museum curator Dick Carvell and committee member Barbara Butler.

But the final decision to open the Fashion Room came when the committee decided that vintage clothing would do more to "humanize" the old mansion than a library. Besides, the history room at the library's downtown branch down the street is open six days a week, but how often do local history buffs get to view turn-of-the-century clothing?

THE $2,000 project, which includes decorating and setting up the room to display the garments, was funded by contributions from the Quakertown Questers and the Farmington Winery.

-Volunteer-Kathleen Westlake of Farmington Hills made period draperies in an English garden print to match the wall coverings. Donationspaid for used mannequins to display the clothes.

Members try to research the vintage clothing and accessories, but examining the clothes and the exquisite hand detail is exciting even if the history is unknown.

"It gives you a funny feeling to look at the clothes and realize that someone wore them to a wedding or graduation at the turn-of-the-century," said Leonard.

Detail on many garments includes intricate embroidery, beading, French knots, lace and accordion

Why are few of our clothes handmade today? Years ago when generations lived together, it was the grandmother's job to sew for the family. If grandmother wasn't there, a traveling dressmaker generally stayed at a home for a month to sew the family clothes, Leonard explains.

The hand detail on the garments is gorgeous. These clothes are treasures," she sald.

BESIDES GARMENTS, the collection includes 30 hats from the wardrobe of Irene Grillon of Farmington. The millinery, dating to 1940, is still in the original hat boxes from Himelhoch's, Hudson's, B. Siegel Co. and Winkelman's, The collection includes pill box hats, plumed, beaded and flower hats, tailored head wear. jeweled hats and decorative veils.

are two smoking jackets, a wool knee-length bathing suit and a lodge uniform that may have been worn by a chaplain. The name ML Botsford ismonogrammed inside. The display, an admirable collection for a local museum, is still growing through donations, said Carvell. Next June, the committee may set up a wedding display featuring a short wedding gown from 1926, a champaign-colored wedding dress from the 1920s with a beaded veil and starched shirts worn by men in the wedding party.

Runnerup

Watercolorist nationally honored

Northville artist Linda Banks Ord has earned the Silver Award for second place at the Georgia Watercolor Society XII National Exhibition at the Columbus Museum of Art, Columbus, Ga.

The painting, "Reflection Series, No. 2," is 22-by-30-foot, free-flowing watercolor of two figures in closeup view.

The painting incorporates the concept of color theory used extensively by impressionists. The theory involves placing certain colors together (in this case, blues, greens and rose), which noticeably brighten and enhance each other.

This honor marks Ord's 21st in the past four years. She continues to show extensively on a state and national level.

Ord will open her Northville home and studio this fall for an exhibition, sale and studio tour, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 27. For a personalized invitation with directions, write Ken Ord, Kelly Services Inc., 999 Big Beaver, Troy, Mich., 48084.

Ord's work is available year round at Atrium Gallery, 113 N. Center, Northville, phone 349-4131. Call the artist at 347-1796.

Daylilies become a way of life

Howard Hite, who lives on Lake Angelus, has been growing daylilies for 20 years. Hite has been hybridizing them for the last 15.

He has created more than 100 new tetraploids (so classified because they generally have more vigor, dense foliage and larger flowers of brighter colors than other groups). Daylilles open in the morning and close at night, hence the name, displaying fresh blooms every day.

Hite said, "I used to have roses - not many bloom in July. I saw an ad in a magazine showing Shriner Daylilles blooming in July . . . aha. So I sent away for five or six and planted them. Then I met Francis Hughes (Hughes Gardens of Southfield), who took me to his friend Mr. Janovac, who had some beautiful dayillies and I bought two or three. One was Fleeta, a beautiful red and when I saw that I said, 'For heaven's sake, look at this,' and so that was the start of it."

Each of his daylilles is carefully labeled. When he cross pollinates the flowers, he keeps a list. Then the information is transferred to tags which are attached to each flower, identifying the two plants involved. Each daylily has six stamens and the yellow pollen is gently tapped or rubbed on the tip of the pistil (each flower has one) of anoth-

THE FERTILIZED flower is never picked. In about a week, a seed pod will start forming where the flower was attached to the plant, then the flower drops to the ground. There are 2-20 seeds in each pod, which ripens in two months. When the pods start cracking open, Hite gathers them and takes the seeds out and spreads them on sheets of paper to dry for a couple days.

The next step is to put them in a cellophane sack, with the labels so he knows what the percentage is, then they are stored in the refrigerator all winter. In early, early spring, the seeds are put into spaghnum moss and set 15 inches under Gro-Lux florescent lights for 18 hours each day, either in his den or in the loft of the barn.

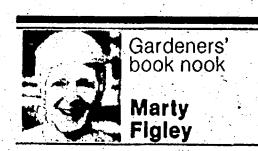

This moss must be kept moist for if the seeds start to sprout and they dry out, they're dead. Hite sprinkles them each day with an old-fashioned shaker sprinkler (the kind we used to use in the laundry.)

WHEN THE plants grow to 5.6 inches, they are transferred to 214 inch peat pots, set in a waterfilled tray and placed under the lights until early May when they are planted in the ground.

"Every seed gives a slightly different flower, like a family of children," Hite said.

It's fascinating to see the various plants and one has to look closely to see the subtle differences. Two full rows along the driveway are his creations, and several rows of plants are adjacent. Then the garden continues with the seedlings, 25 rows of plants ranging from 6 to 12 inches tall. Next year, they will be two and a half feet tall and blooming.

THE FLOWERS are grown in average rich garden soil. A 5-10-5 powder fertilizer is applied in May, June and July on the seedlings and once in May on the established plants. To supplement rain, traveling sprinklers are run all night (he doesn't want to boll the plants in the hot sun),

'I saw an ad in a magazine showing Shriner Daylilies blooming in July . . . aha.'

— Howard Hite daylily fancier

using water from the lake, every 5-6 days if nec-

Each day, Hite walks in the gardens to see what is blooming. In the 2-year-old bed, he picks out 50 of the choice bloomers, assigns a number to each, and from these he may register only 2 or 3 with the American Hemeracallis Society.

He is particularly fond of the white and nearly blue daylily (both his creations). He's been working on a blue one for years. Another of his, named for his wife Eleanor, is his favorite. It has a clear yellow color and green underneath in the petal. The edges are ruffled.

-WHAT SHOULD gardeners do when they want daylilles? "Buy some, go to a garden and see something you like and then buy it, plant it and it gets bigger every year and it blooms nicely; they start blooming in late June, all during July and part of August.'

Daylilles prefer at least half a day of sun and need to be planted in mud so that they get plenty of water to start with. They don't need spraying at

This 87-year-old gentleman said, "It's wonderful exercise for me, I might take the pollen from a flower and walk to the end of the garden to cross it then take pollen from another and walk another distance. It is great exercise, really valuable, and keeps me going. When you create seeds and plant them you have to live a couple of years to see them bloom... you don't dare die!"
To see some of Hite's daylilles, plan to attend the annual Daylily Speciman Bloom Show 2-6 p.m. Saturday, July 27, at the Congregational Church, Woodward and Cranbrook roads, Bloomfield Hills. Free admission. If you wish to have a hilyjudged, take it to the church by 10 a.m. Plants will - be available for purchase,

An interesting book from Garden Way, "Daylilies, The Perfect Perennial," Lewis and Nancy Hill ($14.95 paper) will help you learn more about these plants, from the history to how to propagate and grow them. Color photos and an extensive list of the flowers will help in selection.

Another treat for the family is the 'Taste of Festivals' being held on July 27-28 at Greenfield Village. Foods appropriate to the time period of each house will be offered to visitors.

Marty Figley is certified master gardener. Sbased in Birmingham, ence of amateur and professional botanists, gardeners, and nurserymen. Thus the magazine played a leading role in transforming British and American landscapes and sharpening the appreciation of flowering plants. Also included in the exhibit is a complete set of William Curtis's landmark work, "Flora Londinenis," which appeared between 1777 and 1798.

Quality, simplicity key to remodeling value

By Doug Funke staff writer

Home remodeling can be a tricky proposition if you're looking for value payback over time.

That message was conveyed by Gary E. Mayk, a writer who annually surveys appraisers from around the country to gauge which remodeling projects offer the best return for the dollar.

Appraisers pretty much agree now that consumers will have to guard against over-home improvement," he said. "Thirty-three per-

Improved for the neighborhood."

On the other hand, if homeowners do absolutely nothing, their houses will sit when it comes time to sell, Mayk added. "Buyers, if they see a house that needs work, they're going to walk. They want a home to be in move-in condition."

Nearly 130 brokers and agents nodded agreement during Mayk's, presentation at a recent membership. luncheon of the Western Wayne Oakland Association of Realtors.

MAYK'S SURVEY of appraisers indicated that no remodeling Job, aocent of projects are probably over- cording to a national average, will return 100 percent of what it cost in five years or even one year. Payback was defined by Mayk as value added

A dormer built over an attached garage used as a bedroom, hobby room or sitting area off the master bedroom offered a 78 percent payback in one year and 77 percent after five, according to the survey.

Remodeling projects offering the next best returns over a five-year period are:

• A prefabricated fireplace to the living room or family room - 76 fiberglass bath/shower, low flush tollet, wood vanlty and exhaust fan and light -- 75 percent.

• A first-floor laundry with a new front load washing machine, dryer relocation, venting, electrical service, storage cabinets and counter - 71 percent.

• A dormer with two bedrooms, shared bath and insulated windows - 68 percent.

WHEN REMODELING for resale value, some homeowners often have unrealistic expectations that future buyers will have the same taste or

• A bath including a combination attach the same value to projects. Mayk sald.

He advises simplicity and quality of construction.

"To make a kitchen look new, you don't have to replace the cabinets," he said. "Look at faucets, hardware, paint, a new floor."

hardwood floors, new wallpaper, a fresh coat of paint all can pay dividends at little cost.

"You've got to fit the neighborhood. Go with neutral colors and adaptability," Mayk said.

Scrutinize site plan condos carefully

We are a young family with small children. We had been considering. buying a new home until we found out the development was a "site-plan" condo." It has single-family units detached with no extras such as a pool or clubhouse. All homeowners maintain their own property. We were told by the salesperson that the site condo is a fairly new way for the developer to build without having to have the land platted with the state. Because I have not been able to find any information on site plan condos, I was hoping that maybe you could inform us. Is this type of investment as good as the purchase of a home in a regular subdivision? What about value appreciation? Is it more trouble selling a site plan condo and are others leery like us? Are their potential problems?

The concept of a site condo has velopers could, in effect, build or establish a subdivision under the condominium act without having to have the subdivision platted with the state as you indicate. A site condo results in the sale of "lots" upon which co-owners can enter into agreements for the construction of a condominium dwelling. The concept of a site condo has been upheld by the state attorney general. Depending upon the particular nature of the site condo, it is important to review the condominium documents closely to ensure that the developer has retained tight scrutiny over the nature subdivision. In a site condo, while the and manner in which units will be constructed.

buyer's Checklist," a guide to evaluate the shortcomings and merits of a house, is available from the Michigan Consumers Council.

The new edition provides a gen-

Tips include; how to check for basement water problems, verifying the presence of power in electrical outlets, and determining if there are any right of way or easements on the property. Environmental issues such as groundwater contamination and indoor air quality are studied.

The purchase of a home is the single largest investment any consumer can make. This guide is designed to help consumers get the best value for their money while reducing some of the stress and frustration of becoming a homeowner," said Kent S. Wilcox, direc-

Building's beauty: in the eye of the photographer

The Michigan National Bank headquarters captured at sundown/ moonrise.

By Dale Northup special writer

HE ARCHITECTURAL photograph visually tells us how we live, work and entertain ourselves. By looking at images of architecture in trade journals and homes magazines, our desire for a certain lifestyle in the commercial or residential environment is vicariously tempted.

We say to ourselves, "Why isn't my work place like that?" Or "Why can't I live that way?"

In our society, the architectural photographer is challenged with the creation of a visual impression that will in some way transport the viewer into a mirror that reflects a desirable architectural style or space. The photographs on architecture we confront daily are hidden persuaders that can sometimes serve as a catalyst for potential building projects of businesses and developers.

Among some of the current area architectural photographers who visually facilitate the building scene are Christopher. Lark and Glen Calvin Moon. Their entry into the world of photography, like many other. photographers, has been one of tenacity and dedication. Within their profession, they are essentially self-taught, making their work all the more admirable.

LIKE THE FRENCH impressionist painter Claude

Monet, who did 30 canvases of the Rouen Cathedral, these photographers follow a similar path by going out into the built environment to capture the play of light on the surface of a building. Their objective is to capture light, often missed by the human eye, that enhances the architectural character of a structure. Like Monet, these photographers can sometimes be more successful in capturing the right picture at sunrise or sunset.

On the other hand, Moon believes that the architectural details are sometimes lost in shadows created on sunny days. Blue skies are preferable to the "white-out" of cloudy days. The bottom line is to be in the right place at the right time, which requires patience that can often involve an 18-hour day. With a background in advertising, complemented by a degree in architecture, Moon sees his best shot as a "visual logo" for the building.

There are also precarious moments that sometimes require shots from the rooftop of another building to capture an aerial view that grips the entire structure in a way that a shot from the ground cannot.

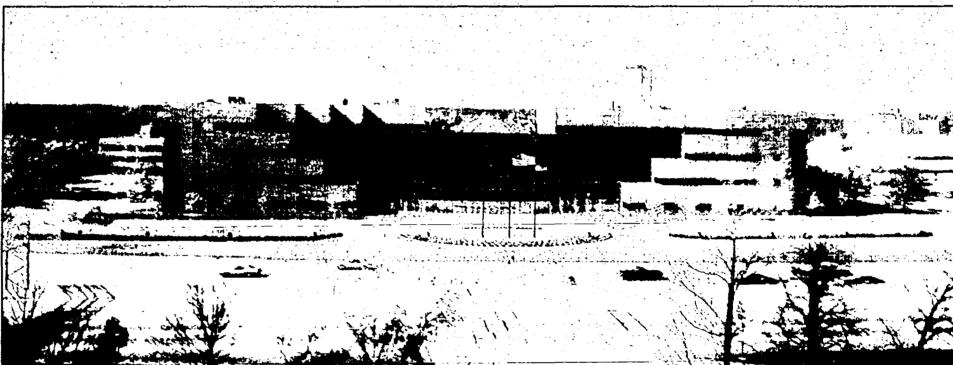

Such was the case with Christopher Lark when he took numerous shots of the BASF Building on Telegraph Road in Southfield. They were done at different times, both night and day, with the light quality emphasizing various features of the building that became an interplay of positive and negative elements. Another detail shot by Lark of the Michigan National Bank headquarters in Farmington Hills is a time study involving the warm glow of sunset playing off the brick surface of the building with a dramatically rising moon in the background. It is also the slow shutter speed of the camera that can capture the fleeting quality of light.

Buildings don't move, but light does. And, in that instantaneous moment, it becomes the task of such architectural photographers as Lark and Moon to arrest the transitory quality of light on film to enhance the man-made environment that is often lost to the human eye.

-Dale Northup is a college professor and architectural Photographs are hidden persuaders that can sometimes serve as a catalyst for potential building projects.

The BASF Building on Telegraph in Southfield seems to change images depending on the light as photographed by Chris Lark.

Geography added to retail site selection process

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Applied geography — not a remedial high school class, but the best way to site a retail facility.

Demographics have long been used to help site retail outlets, but today consultants are blending demographics with geography to insure

One might think a retail chain would be pleased to be on any welltraveled street in a middle class to affluent community, but cut-throat competition demands much more.

Retailers and developers invest millions of dollars each year in research to determine where to build or locate - they strive for any edge they can get. David Huntoon, vice president of Thompson Associates, a national research consulting firm with an office in Ann Arbor that specializes in site location and consumer research, sald experience has taught his firm that applied geography often succeeds where traditional siting wisdom falls. 🕝

LOCAL RETAIL outlets for Murray's Discount Auto Stores, Foodland Distributors supermarkets, Sports Authority, and national clients like the building material giants Home Depot and hyper-marts like Safeway Supermarkets have used Thompson Associates to determine the best locations for projects.

Huntoon sald applied geography - when coupled with demographic information and population projections - makes siting retail facilities less luck and more science, he said. Geographers are educated and trained in natural features, climate, resources and population that develops map making skills, enhances knowledge of transportation patterns, and gives them a historical Thompson Associates employees 20 full-time geographers among its 50-person staff to aid in pin-pointing preferred retail sites, Huntoon said.

LARRY OSIECKI, director of store development for Foodland Distributors, Livonia, said store location is absolutely critical - especially for supermarkets

"Convenience is the most import-'ant factor is a supermarket's location," he said. If people find it easier to go elsewhere, he said they will: That's why food distributors hire marketing firms to help them site

Taking a tip from Europe to repair concrete

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Americans have long had a reputation as a throwaway society. Bottles, foam cups, plastic bags -

Buildings, imagine, discarded because they're old and it's easy to go and build a new one in a cornfield somewhere.

In Europe, where all of the cornfields are needed to plant corn, people have been forced by cost and lack of land to keep what they have

Innovative ways to resurface, insulate and repair exteriors; new techniques in structural reinforcement; and innovative concrete repairs - all of these things have been in the last decade or so.

Take concrete repair. Corrective Systems Michigan Inc. of Birmingham uses a high pressure injection system to repair cracked and leak-

The company entered the market less than a year ago with its advanced German technology and competes against more-established concrete patch and epoxy injection companies. Vice president Dennis Flynn sald

There's really no logical reason practiced in Europe for years, but & to lot someone in your basement to have only come to this country with patch a crack," Flynn said. When ap-sealant stops the water leakage on the inside of the wall, but the crack and leaking water are still in the wall. Many times, the leak is stopped only temporarily. EXCAVATING AROUND the leak / and patching it from the outside is a better option Flynn said, but it is an extremely expensive one - often times ranging into the thousands.

Epoxy injection systems are better still, but the epoxy patch dries concrete repair techniques in this, hard which doesn't help if the wall

> "Water leaks are really not under high pressure - it just seeps every-where," he said. High pressure injected repairs accomplish two things: It bonds and plugs the cracks as well as forcing the water out.

When injected, the bonding agent is a fine liquid and able to penetrate cracks wherever water permeates. The bonding agent cures over time the cure time is controlled by the chemical mix of the bonding agent. - until it achieves a rubber-like consistency that fills and joins the concrete.

Because of the nature of high-pressure injection, it will not repair cracks in cement block basements and foundations.

RONALD ROY, district manager for Beztak Cos. - a national developer and property manager with holdings in southeast Michigan, said he was impressed enough with the idea to hire Corrective Systems to do some work at Muirwood Apartments and Terraces in Farmington Hills.

As a property manager, Beztak has had more than its share of concrete foundation leaks. "And nothing ever works."

The problem with concrete leaks is they often recur after they are repaired, he said. "Every time we've had a problem in the past, I couldn't find anyone to do a job."

Roy said he saw an article discussing the process and thought it might solve his problem. "I can't honestly say it has been long enough to see if it works, but Pm generally pleased ichmail - - - - - nsc process."

His other options - like repairing it from the inside, the outside, or improving irrigation around the foundation, are expensive. "If nothing else, it's costly from a project management standpoint."

Roy explained that whenever a traditional methods repair is made, the property manager must move the tenants to another apartment until they are completed. "Then, we don't want to have to move them again if there's a problem." In addition to costs, the high-pressure process is also attractive because it isn't disruptive - the work takes hours instead of days :- and the company stands behind the new process.

"In my experience, if a product. holds up for two years, it will hold up from ore to eternity," Beztak said.

Residential building toddles

AP - Construction spending dropped 0.9 percent in May, reversincrease in more than a year just a month earlier, the government said.

Analysis were encouraged by an increase in residential construction and relatively stable government spending despite fiscal problems. But they saw no indication of any improvement in private non-residential construction.

Construction of new houses and apartments increased in all regions of the country except the West last month, advancing 5.2 percent to the highest level in seven months.

Still, analysts said the housing revival would be one of the weakest since World War II.

The Commerce Department said housing starts were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1.04 million in June, up from a revised 989,000 in May. The May rate had been estimated at 981,000.

"It's still an anemic housing recovery," said economist David F. Seiders of the National Association of Home Builders. He is forecasting a total of 1.05 million housing starts this year, which would be the lowest level since 1.015 million in 1946 and down from 1.19 million last year.

THOMAS HOLLOWAY, an economist with the Mortgage Bankers Association, predicted that the recovery, while gradual, will be erratic. "There'll be a lot of choppiness," he Analysts contend the housing recession hit bottom with an 847,000 annual starts rate in January. New construction surged in February, but fell again the next month.

The June increase was the third straight gain and marked the longest string of advances since a fourmonth stretch from October 1989 through January 1990.

It also was the first time it topped ing direction following the largest 1 million since November, when the the previous month. rate was 1.13 million.

But the number of starts in the first six months of the year was 25 percent below that of the same peri-

Applications for building permits, a barometer of future activity, rose 3.7 percent in June to an annual rate of 1.0 million. They have risen each month since January, the longest string since the 11-month period from August 1982 to July 1983 as the economy was emerging from the last recession.

Still, the June rate was well below the 1.34 million applications in 1989, the year before this recession began.

Both Selders and David Berson, an economist with the Federal National Mortgage Association, said the socalled credit crunch continues to inhibit construction activity.

Single-family starts posted their third straight advance, up 3.8 percent to an 868,000 annual rate. Berson said growth in this sector would be more modest than that following previous recessions.

"Because this was a relatively mild recession, there's much less pent-up demand for housing," he Berson also said the multi-family sector will remain weak, "primarily because of the overbuilding in the early- and mid-1980s. Vacancy rates are still very high and, as a result, in many parts of the country it's simply uneconomical to build multi-family Multi-family starts did rise 12.4 percent to a 172,000 annual rate. But Berson said the advance merely brought starts back to the April level after a 13.1 percent plunge in May.

Overall, starts plummeted 14.8 percent to a 248,000 rate in the West. the lowest level in three months and nearly wiping out a 15.0 percent gain

Construction activity continued to improve in both the Midwest and South, which escaped the brunt of the recession.

Starts shot up 17.5 percent in the Midwest to a 255,000 rate, wiping out a 8.1 percent loss in May. Starts rose 6.0 percent in the South to 389,000, nearly erasing a 7.1 percent decline the previous month.

The Commerce Department said overall spending on residential, nonresidential and government projects totaled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $403.1 billion, down from $406.6 billion in April.

The revised 1.2 percent April gain was even stronger than the 0.8 percent increase first reported. It also was the largest since a 1.9 percent jump in February 1990.

The construction industry has been in a slump for more than a year, and the improvement in April was just the second in 12 months. Spending in May was 10.6 percent below that of May 1990.

Still, analysts contend the recession in the residential sector of the construction industry touched bottom last January. Home sales have improved since then, stimulating new housing construction.

How interested are you in selling your home?

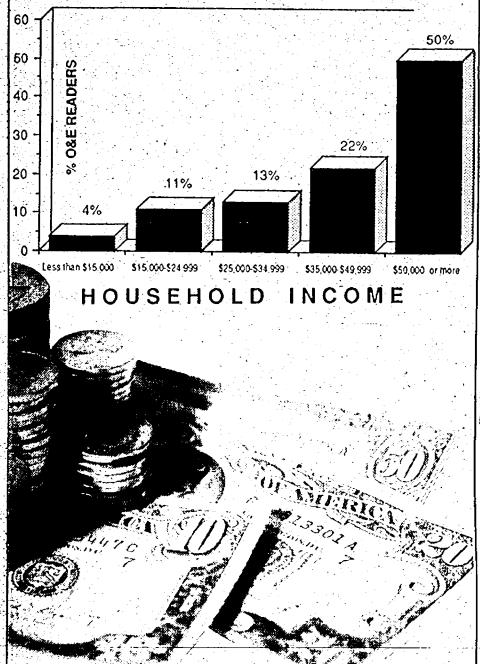

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent.

In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college dégrees or better.*

And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

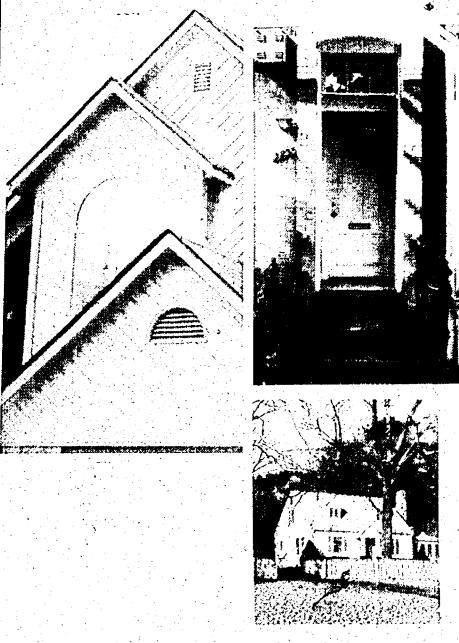

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

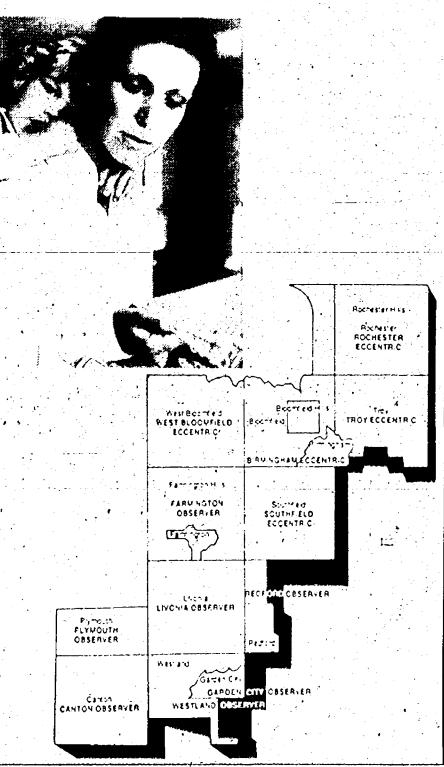

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.

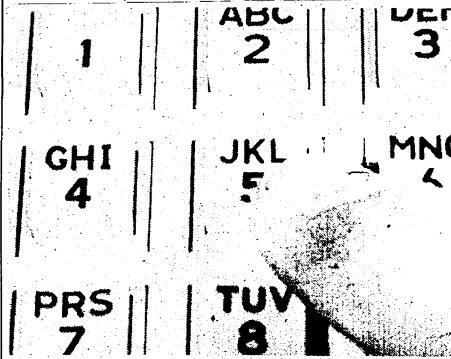

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers?

Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE,* a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.
