1991 Suburban Communications Corporation Attorney cries 'vendetta' in abuse case

Members lose faith in church officials, 2A

By Darrell Clem staff writer

An attorney for Westland minister Michael Enersen and his wife Carol - who already lost custody of two children for abusing them - blasted a juvenile defender's attempt Monday to remove four other children from the Enersen home.

"This is a joke," attorney David Kallman said. "There is absolutely not a shred of evidence to remove these children from their .home."

Kallman accused juvenile defender Rosemary Chase of having "a vendetta" against the Enersens, and he lashed out at her for trying to split the children from their parents "when we should be trying to keep the family together."

Kallman's comments came after the Enersens appeared in Detroit juvenile court for a hearing to determine whether they should lose four children who remain in their custo-

Chase told Judge Charles McDonald that she believed that the three girls and one boy, whose ages range from several months to 10 years, are in "substantial risk of harm" in the Enersen home.

Two older children - a 16-year-old girl and a 14-year-old boy - were taken from the Enersens amid charges they were abused. The Enersens pleaded guilty in Detroit Recorder's Court and were ordered to cease contact with the two children.

The two children, unlike the others, were born to Michael Enersen during a previous marriage. They are now living in a foster home.

MONDAY'S HEARING stemmed from a motion that Thase filed in an attempt t have the four remaining Enersen, children immediately taken from their parents, pending a Sept. 24 trial to decide the youngsters' fate.

McDonald reached no decision during Monday's hearing, which will continue on Aug. 12.

The judge repeatedly chastised Chase on Monday for presenting evidence that pertained to the two children already removed from the Enersens' custody. Visibly angered, the judge warned Chase to focus on the other four children.

But Chase argued that the abuse suffered by the two older children - such as beatings with an oak paddle and human bite marks pointed out the risk the other youngsters face at home.

Chase called the 14-year-old Enersen boy to the stand Monday and asked him if he had seen the younger children abused. He testified that Carol Enersen had struck her 10year 13 daughter "four or five times at the most" in the last year, and that a 2-year-old son had received "a little swat."

When asked by Chase if he thought the 10year-old girl might be hit again if she remains in the Enersen home, the boy replied, "She might."

At one point, the boy said he had been younger siblings being disciplined.

"I HEARD the sound of something smacking and them crying," he said. But he said he did not see the incident firsthand.

Kallman, the defense attorney, said the boy's testimony provided no proof of child abuse.

"These allegations are totally unfounded," Kallman said. "It's a shame that (the boy) had to get up on that stand today."

Under questioning from Kallman, the boy said the Energens punished their children for such offenses as lying, running away from home and stealing food. Authorities have said the Enersens withheld food from the boy.

Chase's other witnesses included Gerald Kuhrt, a former associate of the Enersens, and Laura Moore, the Westland police sergeant who investigated the case.

Kuhrt, who notified police about the Enerawakened at home by the sounds of his sen case after two of the children called him for help, said the 10-year-old girl told

Computers top the list if school bond passes

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Computer labs and computerized school libraries top the list of technological improvements that could take place in the Livonia school dis-trict in the next few years if voters in February approver an estimated $60 million bond sale. The Livonia Board of Education, whose district includes the northern section of Westland, got its first look recently at a priority list put together by a planning committee com-posed of principals, teachers and administrators. The list, with improvements ranked in the order of their priority, spells out the latest technologies committee members believe are needed to educate students for the workplace of the 21st Century.

However, there is no guarantee that all the improvements can be financed through the bond sale, said Robert Laundroche, assistant superintendent for business. "They'll all be competing for dol-Nankin Transit officials are continuing to scramble for money to avert the Sept. 2 shutdown of the financially troubled bus system that provides door-to-door service for handicapped and elderly people in western Wayne County."

A solution appeared elusive after a recent meeting of ~ Nankin Transit officials, state legislators, Michigan transportation officials and Albert Martin, general manager of the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART).

SMART, which provides money to the Nankin Transit Commission, announced in June that funding would be halted on Sept. 2 - a move that could idle the 12 buses that provide 9,000 rides a month for 1,000 elderly and handicapped residents.

The commission serves Westland, Garden City, Canton Township, Wayne and Inkster.

When asked if it appeared that state money might be allocated to rescue the NTC bus service, NTC chairman Thomas Kelly recently said, "I don't believe so. I just don't see state funding at all at this point."

Carol Larkin, spokeswoman for county commissioner Kay Beard, said local, county and state legislators hope to schedule another meeting within the next two weeks to continue talks, in hopes of averting a Nankin Transit shutdown that lawmakers have termed a crisis.

New program sends police chief walking

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Westland Police Chief Michael Frayer made a sweep through a northend neighborhood last week, knocking on doors and stopping people on the street.

But he wasn't trying to solve a murder, sniff out a drug cache, bust a gambling ring or nab a jail escapee.

Instead, Frayer launched his new "neighborhood walk" program, aimed at talking face-toface with city residents to learn about their perceptions of the police department and to ask them if they're having problems with neighborhood crime.

his aides already have implemented a neighborhood walk program.

The police chief - two months into his new job - hopes the project will keep him in touch with . the community.

"A lot of chiefs get tied up with the paper chase, and they lose touch with the people they serve," Frayer såld.

FRAYER, IN becoming the city's fifth police chief in May, set goals that included being more responsive to the community and implementing a hands-on management style.

His first neighborhood walk took him to such streets as Donna; Gladys, Henry Ruff, Hillcrest, Lonnie, Randy and Flamingo, among others in a northend section between Merriman and Middle-

idential neighborhoods. Most residents told Frayer the police department is doing a good job.

Frayer in May replaced chief Paul Schnarr, who retired.

Mayor Thomas, who himself plans another neighborhood walk next month, said his administration's efforts to develop closer ties with the community stemmed from a campaign promise he made.

"We can see the neighborhoods more. We can see the problems that maybe we wouldn't see driving around," Thomas said. "Plus it gives our citizens the feeling that we're working for them." Thomas described the neighborhood walk program as part of a three-pronged approach to improving relations between the city administration and city residents. The mayor also started a series of town hall

Members lose faith in church officials

By Darrell Clem staff writer

2A(W)

Michigan Assemblies of God officials came under fire this week from churchgoers who accused them of mishandling a abuse. child abuse case that has rocked the Assemblies-affiliated Westland Full Gospel Church and its minister, Michael Enersen.

Two church-goers said that they and many people they know are prepared to quit the Assemblies because their faith in church officials has been shattered by the child abuse scandal.

Assemblies members have become increasingly angry that Enersen, 36, has been allowed to return to the pulpit, despite his admission in court that he abused his 16year-old daughter by beating her with an oak paddle. The daughter's buttocks were bloodied and severely bruised, police said.

"WHY DON'T we just take a convicted felon out of Jackson Prison and give him a church?" asked Debbie Davis, a former friend of the Enersens who now attends an Assemblies of God church in Dearborn Heights.

Davis and Barbara Kaczor, who attends an Assemblies church in Sterling Heights, said widespread opposition to Enersen and church authorities has emerged in Assemblies-affiliated churches in southeast Michigan, where the Enersen case has sparked extensive publicity.

Kaczor described many disenchanted church-goers as baffled at the church's response to the case involving Energen and his wife, Carol, who also pleaded guilty to child are planning to picket outside of Enersen's church on Palmer, between Wildwood and Venoy, though a date for the protest has not been set.

"It makes me wonder if this is a Christian Mafia here and they take care of the people in authority," Kaczor said.

Kaczor, a Ford worker, expects to guit the Assemblies, she said. Moreover, "I know a few people that I work with that are dropping out," she said.

Kaczor and Davis were among the former friends of the Enersens who same forward to tell about the child abuse that they said has occurred for several years.

The case has resulted in the 16-year-old and a 14-year-old boy being placed in foster KACZOR SAID some angry church goers care, though a decision about removing four. younger children from the Enersens' custody has not been made in juvenile court.

KACZOR ACCUSED church authorities of siding with Enersen, despite evidence of child abuse and his own admission of guilt.

"When will they believe it - when one of the kids is dead?" Kaczor asked.

She lashed out at church officials fon failing to do more to protect the children and for letting Enersen return to the pulpit.

"This is like a big slap in the face," she said. "So many people came forward on this and nothing was done."

OF ENERSEN, Kaczor said, "Mike seems to think that the people speaking out against him want to nail him to the cross. But they don't. They want him to get help."

Enersen announced a leave of absence in a May 16 sermon, amid pressure from church authorities. But he returned to the pulpit within six weeks, even though the case remains in the juvenile court system.

"I think the man should have been removed for the customary disciplinary period. of one to two years," Davis said. "Why are the Assemblies of God (officials) turning their faces? Why are they not helping the children? They're the ones whose lives are ruined

"Everyone that I have talked to about this is furious."

DAVIS RAISED doubts about Enersen's ability to minister to his congregation.

"How in the world could this man counsel people? What'if a couple comes to him and they feel like they're abusing their children? What's he going to do?

"How in the world can I respect the ministry and its cause when I have no respect for the leaders who are running it?" Davis said. criticizing church officials. "It makes me start to question the thing that I have believed in all of my life,"

Kaczor agreed.

"The (Enersen) kids have gotten the blunt end of it again. It makes me sick."

local residents depend for trips to doctors' offices and grocery stores, among other places.

"Nothing has changed so far," Larkin said Tuesday, when asked if any new developments have raised tentatively scheduled for next Feb. hopes of saving the 17-year-old bus service.

On another front, Kelly said it appears possible that, beginning next year, Nankin Transit could receive direct state funding, instead of having its money channeled through SMART. That could place the local bus service on firm financial ground.

"That seems to be a possibility," Kelly said. "The state hasn't declared that, but that's my reading of what they've been saying. They're not closing the door on it. To me, that's a plus."

HOWEVER, THAT does little to provide the emergency money need. ed to keep the bus system running past Sept. 2. It could be a year before Nankin Transit receives its direct funding - if, in fact, it does. The NTC needs about $375,000 in emergency money.

will stay the same if voters approve the bond issue in a special election

Instead, the bond issue would take the place of older bond issues as they are paid off.

In putting together the list, committee members did not pencil in basic maintenance the schools will need over the next 15-20 years.

Nor did they figure in the cost of new classrooms if enrollment increases, as expected.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR elementary schools include:

• Banks of computers in both the school's IMC and in a special computer classroom.

• Electronic information retrieval stations and a computerized card catalog in all IMCs.

Recommendations for middle schools include:

• Technology centers, or computclude up to 10 lab stations.

• Converting industrial arts shops to industrial technology facilities.

• Developing a large group meeting center for team teaching and small assemblies.

Recommendations for high schools include;

• Add two computer labs and one industrial technology lab for the three high schools and the career center.

• Increasing the size of the Franklin and Stevenson IMCs.

• More lab stations for science classes.

• Two science lecture rooms.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS explored other improvements for the middle and high schools but did not make them a priority.

For the middle schools, these include extra storage space, air conditioning in the IMCs, expanding and upgrading stage areas and giving all schools an equal amount of gym

The rate for taxpayers will not go up if voters approve the school bond issue in a special election. The new bond would take the place of older bond issues as they are paid off.

If the current bond issue expired and was not replaced with a new one approved by voters, district taxpayers would get a property tax reduction on the current 1.05 mill debt-retirement levy.

The amount of the bond issue and the election date could both change in the days ahead. The Feb. 10 date has been set to meet Wayne County election requirements.

Members of the planning committee are Dave Butler, Emerson prin-

Jim Reeves, Stevenson teacher; Carol Robb, Randolph teacher, Carole Samples, assistant superintendent/instruction; John Streit, Holmes teacher; Ron Van Horn, Buchanan principal; Ken Watson, director of secondary education; and Jim Winebrener, computer education speciallst.

HE DETROIT Rockers professional soccer team came to Westland last week to teach local youngsters how to improve their game.

About 65 youngsters, mostly members of the Wayne-Westland Soccer League, participated in the weeklong soccer clinic in Central City Park.

"The kids had a blast," said Tina Zeplzauer, league spokeswoman.

Participants ranged in age from 5 to 17, and they seemed quite impressed with the expertise and friendliness of the Detroit Rockers, Zeplzauer said. "The Rockers learned all the kids' first names, and that really impressed the kids," she said.

The children also received free T-shirts, soccer balls and one ticket each to the Rockers' opening game on Nov. 9, Zeplzauer said.

The clinic was held Monday through Friday afternoons. Though most participants were members of the Wayne-Westland Soccer League, the clinic also was open to the public.

The clinic proved so successful, Zeplzauer said, that organizers are planning to schedule another one for next year

Teachers at technical school build on assembly plant visit

By Leonard Poger editor

The Ford Wayne Assembly Plant and a Wayne-Westland district vocational/technical school have teamed up to educate the school's teachers on what students can expect in the work world.

The principal and several teachers at the William Ford Voc/Tech Center met with the Ford plant management for a tour of the facility on Michigan Avenue and Newburgh.

"The staff saw the technology training at the plant and compared that with our own training," said Greg Baracy, voc/tech center principal.

The half-day tour of the assembly and stamping plant is the latest step of the new Partnerships in Education program involving the auto company and the Ford Center, on Marquette near Carlson, he said.

THERE WILL be one, possibly two, Ford Center teachers to take the Ford Wayne Assembly Plant training and take it back to the educational center, Baracy said.

The auto plant's training covers robotics, gears, pulleys and hydraulic power systems.

Baracy wants teachers "to understand what we have in our center and tell them what employees should '(The tour of the car plant enabled the teachers and principal) to see what real life work is like so we can improve our curriculum and to allow us to relay that (information) to current and future students.'

expect in the real world," he said.

"THERE IS no limit to the things we can do," said Ed Manlon, the assembly plant's senior training coordinator.

Manion's plant has 287 pieces of robotic equipment — all of which is "state of the art and brand-new," he said.

Manion is one of several members of the Partnerships in Education task force, initiated by Wayne-Westland school Superintendent Dennis O'Neill. The tour of the car plant enabled the teachers and principal "to see what real life work is like so we can improve our curriculum and to allow us to relay that (information) to current and future students," Baracy said.

IN AN earlier activity at the Ford Center, two UAW members from the assembly plant spent a full day at the educational facility, teaching students how to work as a team, identify problems in an assembly operation and work as efficiently as possible.

Baracy hopes other area businesses will join the parlnership program, he said.

Several UAW members have enrolled at the Ford Center's data processing and heating/air conditioning classes.

Manion and three UAW training coordinators visited the Ford voc/ tech center earlier this year.

BESIDES BARACY, other Ford Center staffers taking part in the plant tour were Ginny O'Brien, technical preparation coordinator/sex equity coordinator; Bill Pettis, welding teacher; Barry Swan, electronics teacher; and Jeff Bloomer, media productions.

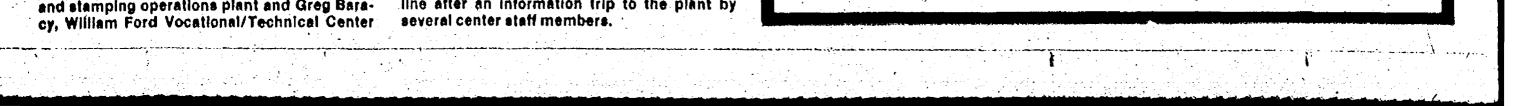

With them were Manlon and UAW members Dan Orr and Henry Jetason, company trainers

Bonsai store puts down roots

By Barbara Wilson special writer

B-O-N-S-A-I.

For some, it sounds like a yell associated with World War II movies. But to others, bonsal means plants.

The ancient craft was developed by the Chinese centuries ago, and later perfected by the Japanese.

And now it's putting down roots in western Wayne County with the help of Kathy Garon and Rich Blaut, the owners of Mushugi Bonsai of Plymouth.

Bonsai is the art of pruning a plant's roots and trimming and wiring shoots and branches to produce a desired shape.

Most bonsai plants are found in pots and most are varieties of junipers. They are typical of plants one thinks of when imagining Oriental gardens.

The plants are often short with the branches trained to grow in a twisted, curved fashion.

--- THE COLLECTION offered by Mushugi Bonsai includes more than the typical juniper bonsai. Garon performs her art on azaleas, maple trees, locust trees and much more.

The business, at 41950 Joy Road, was opened just a few years ago when already avid bonsai fans Blaut and Garon decided to bring their hobby to others.

"Rich has been doing this for quite some time and he got me interest-ed," Garon said. "I've been doing bonsai for about four years.

"You might call it a hobby out of control," Garon said, sitting on her deck with more than 50 bonsai trees around her.

GARON REFERS to her plants as living things, for that is what they are.

"He is unhappy," she might say, or

"He requires some extra care." "When people see the plants, they think that is too much work. Really all they require is basic care, the same care that should be extended to all plants."

Blaut and Garon sell their creations at art shows and festivals throughout the area, as well as from their shop.

They also sell Oriental pots and mud figures that are often found at the base of the plants.

"I like to think of the plants in terms of miniature landscapes. I might make a little path with moss and pebbles and then put a little mud figure in at the base of the plant."

WHILE SELLING the plants is how she earns a living, Garon also encourages those interested in bonsai to start their own from scratch. It's really not as difficult as it looks, Garon said. Choosing the right plant is important. Junipers might be easiest to start, but just about anything will do.

It's important to remember that the leaves cannot be too big and that the sizes of fruits and flowers cannot be altered.

"You should look for a plant that intrigues you. It might have an interesting bend in the trunk or it might have great roots."

THE KEY to bonsai is keeping the root system the same size as the plant above ground.

In bonsal, the artist encourages the growth of a more fibrous root system, while the thick tap root is snipped off. The roots are trimmed once a year to maintain their size and shallow level.

"You want the roots to show above the soil. The Oriental people believed the roots to be the most important part of bonsai."

The branches of the plant are trained to grow in set directions using wire, and "upward-bound" branches are trimmed regularly.

You supply the fridge.

Sizes of the bonsai plants vary dramatically .- Some people may choose to keep their plant very small - a few inches high - and others may allow it to grow to as tall as 12 or 15 feet.

Garon is quick to argue with those who dispute that bonsai is an art.

"The person decides how the treewill look and maintains it to keep it that way. It's a very creative process."

THE AVERAGE price paid for a tree Garon has worked with is $35, she said. She has worked with trees over: a-period of years that are valued at $1,000 and more.

The most expensive plants in their store, however, are the ones they buy from outside the country. Many of these plants carry with them documentation that shows they are hundreds of years old.

"People are very concerned about investing that kind of money into a plant. I tell them that if a plant has lived that long, there is no reason it can't live another hundred years."

Although Garon has never been to the Orient, she is intrigued by the culture. She hopes to make a trip there soon.

Adoptions bureaucratic, costly, Senators informed

By Tim Richard staff writer

Michigan law and custom put up many barriers to adoption, a state Senate committee learned last week. Black social workers don't want white couples to adopt black kids. Health insurers don't want to cover adopted kids for a year. And counselors tell women with "problem pregnancles" about abortion and birth but not about adoption, the Senate Family Law Committee was told.

"There are more unadopted children than the general public thinks," said Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Chairman Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, said the panel would write legislation as it goes along. Goals: to reduce the barriers to and costs i of adoption, reduce the bureaucracy ( and focus on special needs kids" referring to handicapped and black youngsters.

WHATEVER THE panel reports is likely to get support from both Republicans and Democrats, pro-life and pro-choice forces. Adoption is turning out to be a popular issue.

Karen Krupanski of Rochester, representing the Michigan State Medical Society, endorsed three House-passed bills requiring health insurers to give adopted children the same coverage as birth children. Some insurers require the adoptee to be in the home a year before cover-age starts.

'There are more unadopted children than the general public thinks." - Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville

"It will be considered at the same time as other adoption bills," said been identified, and legislation to Welborn. His committee has the bills, sponsored by Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield:

Women (with problem pregnancles) are not told about adoption ---just childbearing or abortion," Krupanski added.

That brought agreement from Ed Rivet, lobbyist for Michigan Right to Life, the anti-abortion group. "Women in crisis are convinced only aborision or birth are their options," Rivet said

WELBORN, QUESTIONING a Macomb County foster mother, concluded that black social workers in Wayne County resist letting white couples adopt black children.

"I've had 37 (foster) children," answered Dorothy Tallman of Armada. "I'm OK to foster. I'm not OK to adopt."

Her testimony called social workers "totalitarian" and "usurpers of authority" who are "so biased as to not listen to the desires of the children themselves."

Linda Gabriel of Rochester, representing Families for Children, urged Welborn's panel not to wait for a full study of adoption but to move but Michigan has cut back aid for promptly on Berman's health insurance bills."The problem has already correct this situation has been pending for the past 21/2 years. We need you to take immediate action.", Adopted children must go to a doctor who accepts Medicald patients. "(Other) doctors don't want them." The (Medicaid) paper work costs them more than the Medicaid reimbursement," she said.

'It sends a message to the adoptive child — an awful message: 'You're not as good as other children,'" Gabriel said.

NORA EDGAR, a home health care nurse from Flint, proudly help up the handicapped baby boy she and her husband adopted three weeks

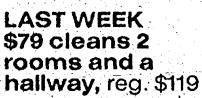

"He's from Ohio. It took five months (to complete the adoption). With the roadblocks, we waited three years in Michigan," Edgar said.

"Are you saying Ohlo has a better system?" asked Geake.

Maybe it's just the (social) worker," Edgar replied. "We got the brush-off from workers here.' Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing, noted Ohio still subsidizes adoptions,

Engler recall hits halfway mark

By Pat Murphy staff writer

The recall of Gov. John Engler: Fact or fiction?

Fact, say people like Dorothy IIabicht, a single mother of two. Sunday she held open house at her home in Wayne so some people could sign the recall Engler petitions .... and others could get informal schooling on the proper way to circulate petitions, so names won't later be invalidated.

'We had 30 to 50 people," said Habicht, who attends Wayne Community College.""We'll get a lot more as this thing catches on."

The recall is fiction. At least from . the point of ylew of Judy. D. Riedlinger, who lives in Bloomfield Township and with her husband, owns a small business in Novi

"I haven't seen any sign of a recall whatsoever," sald Riedlinger, who is also GOP chairman of the 18th Congressional District that includes much of Oakland County, "I haven't seen proof of any recall."

LAST WEEK organizers of the recall released figures showing they. had garnered 351,166 signatures, more than half the 641,141 needed to put recall of Gov. Engler on a statewide ballot.

Besides surpassing the magical' half-way point, that figure reflects an emotional benchmark, according to Robert Alexander, a former Oakland County resident who now works in the Michigan Department of Social Services and coordinates the recall Engler drive.

"We're gaining momentum'.... we're going to make it," said Alexan-der, a 1964 graduate of Berkley High School, "We're' going to get more than enough signatures to force a recall,"

No Michigan governor has ever been recalled. Until recently, many belleved such a recall was impossible, mainly because, of the large. scale organization and effort , reguired to get that many signatures.

Meanwhile, the state GOP isn't worried, according to Richard M. Czuba, director of research and com-.munication.

State Republicans are going about their business as if the recall didn't exist, said Czuba. "Recent polls show Goy. Engler's approval rating up by 11 percent (with 49 percent of those responding approving of Engler's performance and 46 disapproving).

"More and more people are starting to realize that Gov. Engler is doing the right thing," said Czuba.

BUT PEOPLE like Vic Taylor of Livonia and Mary Johnston of Farmington Hills disagree.

ngton Hills disagree. Taylor, a Army retiree, said he is committed to the recall because the budget cuts attributed to Engler fall most heavily on the poor. "Because of those cuts, people who are dependent on general assistance are forced to chose between food and drugs."

Donald Broersma, a recall coordinator from Ypsilanti, said many affluent and middle class residents feel the same way. "We were at the Ann Arbor Art Fair over the weekend. They were lined up six deep to sign our petitions ... and these were not poor people."

THE RECALL was initiated May 20 as a protest against a wide range of cuts in state services including general welfare assistance, or welfare.

In March, general assistance to families, the disabled and so-called 'able bodied" adults was cut across the board by 17 percent.

Benefits for a 'typical" welfare family (a single parent and two chil-

Bologna - whose two monthly newsletters, "The Forensic Accounting Review" and "The Com-puter Security Digest" are sub-scribed to by Fortune 500 firms worldwide - is associate professor of management at Siena Heights College in Adrian.

The certified fraud examiner has worked as a consultant for M&M Mars Division of Mars Inc., Chrysler Corporation, Truck Stops of America, the American Hospital Supply Corporation, and the Mead Corporation, among others.

He has visited the Soviet Union to share information on computer crime, and was selected from a slate of international candidates to present a paper on communications security in Paris, France.

"THE AUTO pioneers gave little thought to the social hazards their inventive genius might impose on future generations. It took some years before we discovered that the automobile, like all other technological innovations, was a mixed blessing," said Bologna, who holds degrees in accounting and law.

The author of "Computer Crime — Wave of the Future," and four other books on computer fraud, Bologna said it's possible for computerized databases "to do in-depth individual profiles that may contain financial information; which is all right.

"But the big question becomes one of how far do you go? Does everyone in the country have the right to know about your finances?

"With these databases, it gets to the point where everyone can access financial information on you, even those with just a passing interest."

INCREASINGLY, TARGETED consumers are getting computerized phone calls from tele-marketers who've bought consumer information enabling them to "make sort of a crass approach, because they know more about them than people would like them to."

The issue currently is being faced by credit agencies such as TRW, Equifax and Trans-Union, Bologna said.

Area Detroit Edison customers said Wednesday they were sick and tired of being left in the dark by the utility giant.

-Though still seething over the long power outage that followed a heavy July 7 storm, customers said power outages, were the norm, not the exception. They also blasted Edison for what they called its slow, often ows subdivision, haughly response to their concerns.

"This isn't an attitude of customer service, it's one of customer surliness," said Fred Shadko, who has recorded more than 60 outages over the past five years at his Livonia home.

Rape problem

Women deserve a warning

EATHER FORECASTERS for TV stations frequently go on the air with special bulletins to warn viewers of possible tornadoes or severe thunderstorms.

The Michigan Department of Transportation * has newspapers publish weekly updates on free-way and state highway construction projects so drivers can plan detours and avoid traffic jams.

Auto companies, prodded by federal laws, issue safety notices to their customers about mechanical problems that the firms intend to correct.

Wayne County's public health department goes public on a moment's notice about a measles outbreak, warning children to get shots for protection.

But the Westland police department and the management of Hampton Court Apartments apparently don't feel that women residents in that complex should be warned about a rapist who attacked three women there in the past four months

The women victims and their neighbors deserve better.

THE POLICE are worried about tipping off the assailant. The apartment management is concerned about the image of the complex, on Wildwood north of Ford.

But let's put public and personal safety first on our list of priorities.

Certainly, the police department has to avoid giving out public information which might-messup its investigation.

But there is a simple and effective method of the police and apartment management combining to issue a warning to Hampton Court women that would avoid compromising the investigation

Only when newspapers and a TV station publicized the rapes did the police department give out, albeit reluctantly, a small bit of information about the status of the case and related helpful The driver is justifiably angry. advice to help Hampton Court residents take ....... And so are the Hampton Court women who steps to protect themselves. . . . Frankly, it's hard to understand the police Their anger is justified.

Given an appropriate and straightforward notice, women in the complex could have heightened their alertness.

thinking on keeping a secrecy lid on this one.

The department has a crime prevention unit and a woman police officer who specializes in sex and child abuse cases.

WITH ALL those resources available, it's amazing that the Hampton Court women had to go to the media to let the community know of the problem.

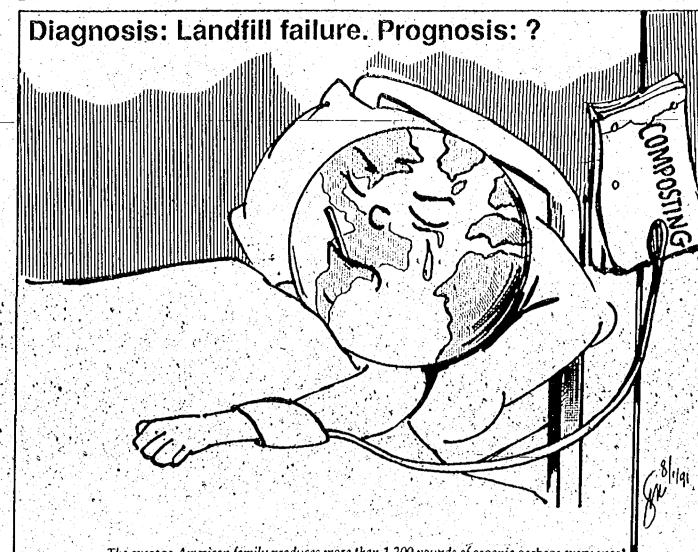

The police and apartment management could have easily issued a warning notice that would be constructive and helpful. For example, alerting them that there have been several attacks in recent months, that the department is following up on all leads and that women should take steps to protect themselves, such as locking their doorwalls and being more alert when walking to and from their parked cars, would have been prudent.

Going public would not have messed up any police investigation. The assailant knows who he is. The women attacked know there was a problem.

The only ones kept in the dark were other women who are potential victims and who could have taken steps to protect their safety - if they knew there was a problem.

People sometimes let down their guard when they sense they are in a safe environment. Given an appropriate and straight-forward notice, women in the complex could have heightened their alertness.

The situation reminds one of a driver who runs into a road detour without any warning signs posted.

History, Champagne marked growth at OU

JOE CHAMPAGNE, president of Oakland University, gets up at 5 a.m. With his family still asleep, Champagne goes to the kitchen, pours himself a cup of scalding black coffee. Then he sits silently in the still dark living room for an hour, thinking and planning, experiencing "my-time, with me.'

Being president of a large, public university is probably the toughest job in America. Between the competing demands of students and faculty, business and politicians, pure research and crass conniving, Joe Champagne's day has precious little time for himself or his family.

Maybe he'll have more. He will leave Oakland this week to be the new president of Crittenton Hospital. Since managing large hospitals is arguably the second toughest job in Technology Center and a string of America, you've got to conclude that Fortune 500 corporate tenants.

mains in and everything here, along with the university" - would make a magnificent research park development.

The key was to bring "the users of knowledge into close proximity with the creators of knowledge" by engaging in a new kind of academic real estate development.

The Oakland Technology Park was thus conceived, to be born two years later when Comerica Bank bought the original 210-acre parcel and started a $40 million operations and computer center that now employs 1,800.

TODAY THE PARK covers 1,500 acres with more than 5 million feet of office space in use or under construction, including the Chrysler

UNIVERSITIES around the nation today are under assault for being too self-absorbed, too expensive and too other-worldly.

OU will likely not be the target of such criticism. Ghampagne cites as his happiest moment as president a review committee's finding that cited OU as being, in his words, "a model university for the 21st century, blending the traditions of academla with the realities of the future."

were exposed to a problem and weren't warned.

Concern Thomas: Do the right thing

HERE'S BEEN an extraordinary amount layed endorsing or denouncing him. This week it of talk, nationally and locally, among politicians and NAACP chapters, about the president's choice of Clarence Thomas to take Thurgood Marshall's seat on the court. Much doubt already has been cast on the candidate because of his very conservative nature and whether he is a quota appointment.

"I'm concerned," said Robert L. Willis who is associated with the South Oakland County Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "I worry about his views on abortion and affirmative action," Willis added that he opposed "stacking the court" with liberals or conservatives.

Given that Bush will not appoint a liberal like former Michigan Supreme Court Justice Dennis Archer to the court, it's important to step back and take an intelligent look at Thomas.

MORE AND more opinions written by Thomas are unearthed daily: He was against busing to accomplish desegration; he let expire without recourse 13,000 complaints of age discrimination while head of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission; he has publicly praised Louis Farrakhan.

But, Willis said, "the jury is still out on Thomas.

Disagreement with his decisions is not a good enough reason to keep him off the Court. Disagreeing is a fundamental right in this country.

A thorough grilling by the Senate should be encouraged to insure that any potential problems are uncovered and weighed. Beyond that, there isn't much more to be done.

THE NAACP was unsure of Thomas and de- path blazed for him by Marshall.

Assembly, petition are deeply-rooted freedoms

YRECALL, STOP the war, no more toxic waste dumps — when Americans don't like something, they take to the streets. Protest, assembly and petition are deeply rooted freedoms. A century and a half ago, Alexis de Tocqueville, the French observer of American life, commented on the inclination of Americans to form voluntary associations to solve common problems.

When the First Congress under the Constitution debated the Bill of Rights in 1789, Rep. Thedore Sedgwick argued that the proposed assem-bly and petition clause was "trifling" when comvoted in opposition to him.

Their care in making an endorsement was admirable, except on one front: Some members were concerned that if they fought and defeated Thomas, Bush would nominate someone worse and the NAACP wouldn't be able to mount another successful challenge.

That's bad reasoning. If the NAACP believes Thomas is not worthy of becoming a Supreme Court justice, then it should fight the nomination on its merits. That's better than justifying inactivity because of what might, or might not, happen.

And there's really no accurate, certain way of knowing whether Thomas is a quota appointment. Bush said he was going after the best candidate and came up with Thomas. Others say the anti-affirmative action president is contradicting his own beliefs and making a quota appointment.

Speculation is worthless; so-called expert analysis is tiresome and rarely correct. Unless Bush himself cares to step forward and reveal why he chose Thomas, no one will know.

So let's look at the positive side. Inheriting Thurgood Marshall's legacy as a champion of civil rights is a weighty gift. Other Supreme Court nominees, once seated on the Court, have veered off their stated courses and voted in direct contradiction to their stated positions, often to the dismay of the presidents who nominated them.

Perhaps when seated Thomas will rethink his position, realize his opportunity and widen the pared with other rights, Rep. John Page of Virginia disagreed, saying that if people could be deprived "of the power of assembling under any pretext whatsoever, they might be deprived of every other privilege" in the First Amendment.

These two rights have alforded protection for many reform movements, and also nurtured American labor in its long struggle to create unions and to undertake collective bargaining.

This is another in a continuing series of commentaries marking the anniversary of the Bill of Rights.

Champagne is either a glutton for punishment or supremely self confident.

TALK FOR A few moments to Champagne and you get a sharp first impression. Dynamic, Self possessed. Compelling. Wonderful salesman.

Maybe first impressions are close to the mark, because in his 10 years at Oakland he fundamentally changed the university - "brought it into the 21st century," in his words.

He realized shortly after arriving in 1981 that "the I-75 corridor where we already have thousands of acres of land, gas lines in, water in contact with the real world."

Bank delay irks customer

To the editor:

Did you know that you are entitled to enter your safety deposit box at National Bank of Detroit Branch Office located at Cherry Hill-Merriman only when they are ready to let you enter the vault?

I tried to get into my lock box today and was told to enter my name in the log and management would take care of me_when it was my turn. Management consisted of three women at the four desks taking care of other customers at the time. There were two other women waiting their turn ahead of me. I entered my name in the log at 10:56 a.m. with the "deposit box entry" notation and sat down.

Twenty minutes later I still had not been waited on even though the woman behind the glass partition knew what I wanted. When I asked her how much longer I had to wait she said "when management gets to , you in turn." I left the bank without entering my deposit box.

When I called the NBD main office I was referred to the Plymouth-Deering office where I talked to senfor assistant manager Julie MacKenzle who took my complaint and said she would check into it and return my call.-A call-was returned from --- winds -- of the thunderstorm that the Cherry Hill-Merriman Office advising me that only management can allow me access to my deposit box. It's their new policy.

The tech center is at the core of. Oakland County's ambitious plan to become the center of a high-tech business in southeastern Michigan. And the linkages between OU's science, engineering and technology activities and the world of business have hardened the university's reputation.

Champagne acknowledges that at first it was a hard sell, especially with humanists who feared business interests would dominate the university. Today, however, he says most professors agree that "our faculty will be better off for being directly

1950s bring misconceptions

"THE 1950S." Ask an Ignoramus or a left-wing propagandist to describe the decade, and you'll Hear "Elvis Presley" or "the McCarthy Era and the Red Scare."

In truth, Elvis was the darling of the C students, the greasers. A poll. showed B and A students preferred Pat Boone.

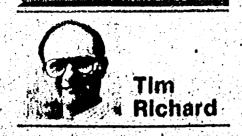

Elvis' rise came in the '60s, asscholastic aptitude scores plummeted.

SEN. JOE McCarthy, R-Wis.; chaired an investigating committee from 1952, when the GOP won Con-. gress, to 1954, when it lost control. Two years, Some "era."

Before the decade ended, McCarthy, not yet 50, died of cirrhosis of the liver, a malady associated with the ingestion of prodigious quantities of grain alcohol.

In short, McCarthy was a drunk. Drunks are sick people. Drunks don't deserve to be canonized by the right wing, which no longer honors McCarthy. Drunks don't deserve to be vilified by the left wing, which continues to do so.

Yet McCarthy's name still pops up in any discussion of the '50s and the recent University of Michigan flapdoodle over whether to exonerate three faculty members bounced in 1954.

HERE'S A POP quiz for, leftists who babble about "McCarthylsm." Identify: 1. "Amerasla." 2. The Smith Act. 3. Igor Gouzenko. 4. Louis Budenz. : 5. Elizabeth Bentley. 6. Judith Coplon. 7. The Rosenbergs.

ANSWERS:

1. A-magazine circulated to Asia diplomatic specialists and scholars, "Amerasia" admired the Chinese Communists. Early in 1945 a federal intelligence specialist found in "Amerasia" whole paragraphs of a topsecret document he had written.

Federal raiders found 300 documents from British, U.S. Navy and U.S. Army intelligence - and our plans to bomb Japan.

The editor plea-bargained down to a charge of possession of government documents. Many felt Truman administration prosecutors were too lenient.

2. In 1951 a New Deal/Fair Deal Sapreme Court affirmed the conspiracy convictions of top Communist Party officers under the Smith Act for plotting the overthrow of our government.

3. Gouzenko, a clerk in the Soviet embassy in Toronto, transmitted. coded spy reports. He. defected. bringing scores of documents and names of Canadian officials who had spled for the Soviets.

The Soviets were targeting such military secrets as the proximity fuse to anti-sub devices and radar. Their little helper was scientist Alan Nunn May, a Communist who had fed the Soviets samples of uranium 233 and 235. May got 10 years.

Fifteen Canadian officials also were caught.

4. Budenz, editor of the Daily Worker, revealed the influence of Soviet control of the Communist Party in the U.S., fingering Gerhart Eisler, who skedaddled back to the Iron Curtain.

5. After her Russian spy-lover died, the ignored Bentley went to the FBI, pointing to a score of Soviet sources such as an assistant secretary of the treasury.

6, Coplon, a Justice Department clerk, was caught handing documents to Valentin Gubichev, a Soviet employee of the United Nations. Convicted, Coplon won on appeal because the FBI had illegally tapped her telephone.

7: The Rosenbergs went to the electric chair for revealing atomic secrets. Z

THESE WERE real cases the left wing forgets about.

Americans expected their World War II enemies to spy, but they were infuriated that our ally, the Soviet Union, was spying and doubly angry that the secret of the A-bomb, our ace weapon, slipped away.

Technology aims

at wannabe hero

Besides I've never been able to figure out who paid the superguys' salaries. And whatever they were paid, it couldn't have been enough. Just the upkeep on the uniforms had to cost a fortune.

So I'd pretty much decided to let. the proper authorities deal with villains and arch criminals and I'd continue being a mild-mannered newspaperman. Then: 1 started reading about all those videos.

You know, the one in California that showed the cops beating up on some guy. Another one in Fort Worth, Texas, showing a similar incident. The one in Detroit that showed some suburban women getting stomped by a group of teenage girls.

The people who took the videos didn't try to stop what was going on, you understand. They just stood there, video cameras at the ready, and recorded it all on tape - presumably using a telephoto lens. Then they turned the tape over to the authorities and let them handle the messy details.

EVERYWHERE YOU turn, people are dragging out the video cameras. Police in Fort Worth have reported several incidents of responding to calls and being taped by passersby armed with the recorders. A couple of other videotapes have made the news lately that add a whole different perspective to the use of the video camera as a crime fighting tool.

A defense attorney for a Rochester man accused of sexually assaulting a Center Line woman and recording it all with a hand-held video camera got the OK from a judge this week to use the tape as evidence at the trial. He claims the tape will Indicate "consent" on the part of the woman.

And down in Florida, a man and a woman were engaging in sexual activity inside a first-floor condominium. The blinds were partially open and neighbors in a swimming pool. less than 10 feet away were able to see through the blinds and witness. the act.

One neighbor said he yelled at the man involved to close the blinds, but the man said later that he dids't. hear anyone yell or know that any. one was watching. Another neighbor did more than just watch.

He grabbed his video, camera, aimed it through the blinds, and recorded the activity on tape. He turned the tape over to sherilf's deputies who watched it and later arrested the couple for lewd and lascivious behavior in front of a child younger than 12.

The fact that the couple was inside their own condo and the neighbors. who "witnessed" the act had to look through the windows to do it didn't deter the deputies from upholding their sworn duty. The man and woman were charged and released on $15,000 bail each.

SO I DECIDED. I'm going out and buy myself a video camera, a pair of red long johns and a blue sweatshirt. I'll get my mother-in-law to embroider a big white "V" on the front of the shirt and - Ta! Ta! - "Videoman."

I'll prowl the neighborhood looking for partially open blinds and questionable activity going on inside. I'll cruise the city streets in the Videomobile, seeking out muggers and . robbers. If I spot someone getting stomped by a street gang, I'll cap-. ture it all on VHS.

No one will be safe from the electronic eye of Videoman. And all. those "ZAPS!" and "POWS!"? Leave ... them to Batman and Robin. Videoman won't do anything to stop a crime. He'll just watch it and tape it and turn the tape over to the authorities

Yeah, that's my kind of superhero.

Foster moms restore life to babies

CINDY AND HER sister Tammy (not their real names) are beautiful one- and two-year-olds with big blue eyes, rosy cheeks and new happy giggles. They also have AIDS. The reason for their happy laughter is the tenacious advocacy and support social worker Judith Urban and their foster mother offer them.

Their foster mother's own child died of cancer a year ago. The children's natural mother is HIV-positive-indiscriminately promiscuous, --and a drug and alcohol abuser with a criminal record.

Recently a man called the county Public Health Department to complain that she had had sex with him without advising him of her terminal communicable illness - a felonious offense.

The natural mother repeatedly violated Ms. Urban's trust, including once when she sold for drugs the brand-new furniture and appliances paid for by the Department of Social Services which Ms. Urban had arranged to have delivered to her. SO THE SOCIAL worker recommended placement of the two terminally-ill children in this foster home. A serencly capable woman with a ready smile, this remarkable foster

It can cost the state beyond $100,000 annually for institutional care for one of these kids. Foster parents, on the other hand, are volunteers who are carefully screened and have their own sources of income. They are far from easy to find - and particularly difficult to find are those willing to care for AIDS-infected children. The insufficient funds the state had allocated to this fine foster parent for each of her charges had forced her to dig deep into her own pocket to provide for them.

BLESSEDLY, Governor Engler has reinstated the reimbursement, provision he recently had cut for heroines like this, so now they will again be able to afford to serve as foster parents. This is true of all foster parents in Michigan - not only for those caring for kids with AIDS.

Before Cindy came to her foster mother, her ribs showed, her eyes were dark-circled and sunken, and she lay in an institutional bed all day staring catatonically at the ceiling. Before Tammy came to this loving home, she was abandoned for long periods with strangers without the medication needed to prolong her life while her natural mother roamed the streets stealing and buying drugs.

I would like to invite the Governorand his staff to visit the sixth-floor north wing of Children's Hospital of Michigan, 3901 St. Antoine in Detroit, to see the dying children. Then I would ask him to visit this wonderful foster parent's home to see what he has restored for Cindy and Tammy, and for innocent children like... them who were born to die from-AIDS.

en out of this home; they would have been almost certain to die much sooner. Their foster mother, who happens to be of a different race than her two foster children, is the only person they have ever bonded with. She also is the only person thoroughly familiar with their symptoms and medical history.

Scholarship problems are over at SC — right?

Sports

THE SCHOLARSHIP problems facing Schoolcraft College coaches have been defused, for now.

According to Midge Carleton, the assistant dean of physical education who oversees SC's athletic department: "We have not disapproved any scholarships that have been given out. We are operating under the same procedure as in previous years."

Carleton also insisted that the college "has not cut any scholarship funding," and added, "I will work with any coach individually on any. problem presented to me."

Whew. That's a relief.

Now maybe the coaches can get down to business and start signing recruits for the fall season, which - in case you haven't seen a calendar lately - gets underway in about six weeks.

Okay, I admit such a remark may seem both sarcastic (What? Me?) and somewhat unfair. After all, SC coaches have been busy - in the last few weeks in particular - signing people.

BUT THEIR busyness is due more to the reversal in the administration's position, and the fear it may reverse again, as anything else. A recap may be necessary, since it's taken most of the summer for SC's scholarship problems to be ironed out.

In a meeting in May, athletic director Marty Nowak told coaches that scholarship budgets were going to be trimmed - in some cases by more than 50 percent. This was met, understandably, with resentment from the coaches. Many said they had already promised more to recruits than their new, drastically reduced budgets allowed.

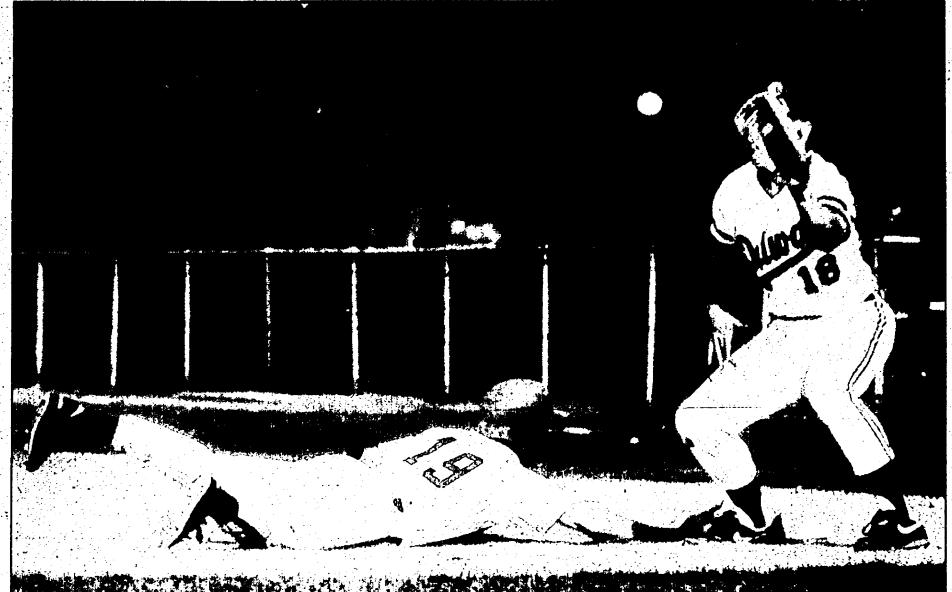

Telling coaches in the middle of their recruiting campaigns their budgets were being slashed in half is grossly unfair. Asking those coaches to then renege on what they had already promised to athletes added insult to the injury.

NO WONDER the coaches were near rebellion. Several threatened to resign rather than damage the reputations they had worked so hard to build — both their own and the school's.

Through all of this. Nowak refused to comment. On anything, Even when Adelard Raby, an SC administrative official, called to tell me the athletic scholarship budget was the same for the coming year as it had been the previous year. Nowak was steadfast.

Only Carleton was deemed able to answer queries like why the cuts were necessary, why they were coming at such a late date, and what was going to happen if coaches had already overspent their budgets. But when the story broke, Carleton was out of town on vacation.

When she returned, Carleton insisted she "would not renege on any promises coaches already made." She added that fund raising was going to be necessary if the athletic budget was to balance. "I've been running a budget that has not balanced the last two years," she said.

ONE REASON, believe it or not, is the price of success. Post-season trips to National Junior College Athletic Association tournaments by the volleyball and men's and women's soccer teams have put SC's athletic department in the red, asserted Carleton.

But what Carleton said that the coaches found reassuring - and what certainly reversed a quickly-deteriorating situation - was her promise to fulfill all scholarship promises coaches have made.

"No one has complained to me that they haven't been able to get any athletes because of a lack of funding," she said. And yet. . . well, forgive my pessimism, but the situation may not yet be completely resolved. After all, if coaches continue to operate believing they have as much money as they had previously - and some are, quickly signing recruits to full-year scholarships before the administration changes back again - then the deficit problem is bound to reoccur.

THEN WHAT?

To be sure, coaches are trying to trim expenses. Said women's soccer coach Nick O'Shea: "I'm not planning on spending my whole (scholar-

A couple of late-inning rallies made for an exciting, almost exhausting, opening night of action in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs Wednesday at Ford Field.

The night finally ended at 12:53 a.m. after second-seeded Livonia Little Caesars scored five runs in the top of the ninth to beat Fieger & Fieger, 8-6. In the opener, which started at 5:30, No. 4 seed Delwal scored six runs in the seventh inning to erase a 7-1 deficit and eventually upset No. 1 Walter's Appliance, 10-9, in 10 innings.

Caesars trailed, 5-3, entering the ninth, but loaded the bases on a pair of walks to Andy Weighill and Don Sikora and a single by Earl Johnson. A wild pitch by Fieger reliever David Wood scored Weighill from third and Jeff Bates, who finished as the LCBL's top hitter with a .459 average, responded with a two-run single to give Caesars a 6-5 lead.

After Rich Roy walked, Mike

"I just owed the team," said Bates. "It wasn't for me, it was for the team. The guys on the team put in so much time, losing doesn't make much sense."

The win means Caesars will face Delwal tonight at 8 p.m. at Ford Field. Walter's will play Fieger & Fieger in tonight's first game, beginning at 5:30 p.m. For Caesars coach John Moraltis, the win meant satisfaction after watching his team drop out of first place with six straight losses to end the regular season.

"I feel better than I did four innings ago," Moraitis said. "We got beat how many times in the seventh inning, and this time we finally got our breaks and won in the ninth. Relief pitching was great and Jeff and Mike got the clutch hits."

Lou McKaig (Madonna University), who pitched 315 innings in relief gie up the middle by rieger's Aaron Mach hit the right-handed pitcher in the left ankle and loaded the bases with one out. Bill Bannon (Livonia and Dearborn Divine Child), out the last two weeks with an ulcer, came on and got two of the three batters he faced to end the threat.

"Billy was gassing it; he was throwing absolute cheese," Caesars assistant coach Ken Wandzel said.

Fieger scored an unearned run in the first and raised the lead to 4-0 in the fourth on an RBI triple by Kevin Adams and T.C. Raptis' first home run of the year. Flohr's RBI double scoring Aaron Mach gave Fieger a 5-0 lead after five before Caesars scored its first run on a walk to Jeff Miller and a triple by Roy in the sixth.

Walter's was cruising along with a 7-1 lead in the opener before Delwal tied the score in the bottom of the seventh mostly on Walter's generosity. Walter's starter Mike Coleman

Three Walter's pitchers combined to walk six batters and hit a batter in the seventh, and Jason Valente and Eric Sumpter also delivered clutch hits to tie the score at 7-7. Walter's Craig Overaitis broke the tie in the eighth with a home run and Paul Pirronello tripled home Joe Sturtz from second base to give Walter's a 9-7 lead after 71/2 innings.

Sumpter hit a two-run homer in the eighth to again tie the game at 9-9. The game went to extra innings and Vince Sacco ended it with a twoout single up the middle to score Ron Hollis from second base with the winning run.

Paul Mancini earned the win in relief of Tim Bruce, who lasted the first seven innings. Walter's led 4-0 in the first on a two-run single by Overaitis and a two-run double by Sturtz. They scored three more runs in the third, highlighted by Eric Stover's (John Glenn: two-run triple

Real vision Hawks soar to national crown

By Bred Emons staff writer

It took six years for coach Tom Coyne and his Michigan Hawks '74 to reach their dream.

With a roster of 17 players from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area, the Livonia Y Premier Soccer Club had reason to celebrate after Saturday's 4-1 conquest over Pegasus, a team from the San Diego, Callf. area.

The Hawks '74 are newly crowned' champions of the Girls Under-17 division of the U.S. Youth Soccer Assoclation after winning two straight at Tranquility Park in Omaha, Neb.

"This is an exceptional accomplishment for these girls, it's been our vision for quite some time" said Coyne, who molded the Hawks '74 in. 1985., "Our theme from the start" was, 'Play for one another, You can't be an island.' The team chemistry was just great."

A slight underdog going into the four-team tourney, the Hawks reached the final with a 4-2 victory Thursday over Plano, Texas.

In the other semifinal matchup, favorite Willingboro, N.J. was upset by the representatives from southern California, 3-2.

Natalie Neaton, an incoming senlor at Country Day School in Birmingham, was the Hawks '74 scoring leader. She had a pair of goals in the final and a hat trick in the semifinals.

minutes later after a Pegasus defender accidentally booted the ball into her own net.

Leading 2-0 at intermission, Pegasus struck back early in the second half to slice the deficit to one (off a restart), but Neaton scored on a breakaway and teammate Patty Shea (Livonia Franklin) added another to give the Hawks '74 an insurmountable three-goal cushion.

The story was much the same in the semifinals as Neaton scored twice in the first half to give the Hawks '74 a 2-0 lead. She added a third goal in the second half and Shea ended the Texans' hopes by scoring on a corner kick from Kristen Westveer (Troy High).

"We felt very good, we were in the right position after the first game, and we didn't care who we played, we were just excited to be In the fi--nal," Coyne sald.

THE HAWKS '74 were able to overcome injuries along the way to co-captain Molly Ferguson (Bir-mingham Marian), left winger Amy Werthman (Plymouth Salem) and backup goalkeeper Alicia Smith (Livonia Stevenson).

Ferguson was out with a knee in-IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP, Nea- jury suffered the previous week in the Region II title run in Sioux Falls, McGough (Troy Athens), who Coyne said, "had a big save in each game." "We had a restricting team defense, they just played great," said Coyne. "They tracked back well to the ball."

Leading the way defensively along with McGough, was stopper Tracy Morrell (Stevenson), left fullback Kim Popyk (Farmington), sweeper Lisa Thomas (Stevenson) and rightfullback Westveer.

The team's unsung hero, according to Coyne, was Stevenson's Shannon Wilkinson.

"She was asked to shadow the best player, and she shut everything off," said the Hawks '74 coach. "Shannon is always a worker, very tough. She's a very physical player who also has good skill level.

"We didn't want one of their speedsters to get through. Every team we played, it seemed, had one. Every team has one person to depend on."

THE HAWKS '74, however, were more than a one-man band.-----

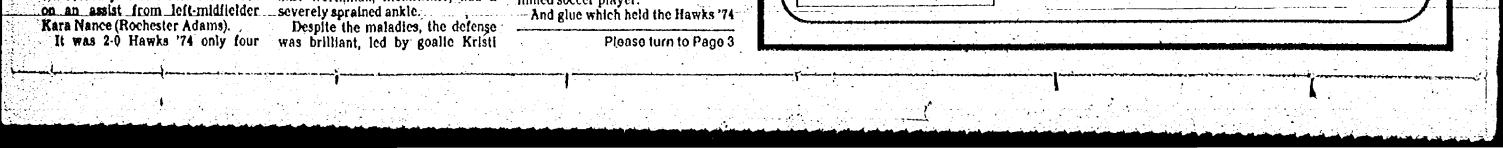

Also showing their stuff were Thomas and Popyk.

"Lisa really caught the attention of college coaches as a sweeper and Popyk did a great job at the fullback spot," Coyne said. "Popyk wasn't 100 percent, her feet were numb, but we were able to get her into most of the action. We were able to get most of them healthy."

Coyne also praised the play of left winger Dana Pososki (Livonia Churchill), calling her "a very determined soccer player." -And glue which held the Hawks '74-

Bazylewicz a hit with All-Star team

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Walt Bazylewicz, the coaching legend who turns 70 this year, proved Tuesday he can still take a hit from someone young enough to be his grandson.

Bazylewicz, watching his East team practice in preparation for Saturday's 11th annual All-Star football game, got upended by a pair of detensive linemen who were supposed to tackle the quarterback, not the coach.

We had a play going and suddenly the gates open and two 260 pound tackles come through," said Bazylewicz, who currently coaches at Redford Bishop Borgess, "They were chasing the quarterback, but he escaped and they ran into me. I'd rather it be me, than my guarterback."

Bazylewicz ended up getting a twisted ankle out of the hit, but nothing will keep him from coaching on the sidelines Saturday for the 1:35 p.m. kickoff at Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium.

IN NAMING Bazylewicz as head coach of the East, the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association picked a guy with a coaching resume longer and more impressive than most of his colleagues.

Bazylewicz's coaching career began at Detroit St. Thomas in the ## football

1950s and a decade later he won two Catholic League championships as coach of Harper Woods Notre Dame. Bazylewicz went on to become the Catholic League Director for 20 years before taking on his latest challenge in 1989 as the Borgess coach.

Bazylewicz, who guided his teams in the '60s to two Soup Bowlstitles and a pair of Goodfellow wins, will count this week of preparation and Saturday's game among his best memories,

"This is quite an honor," said Bazylewicz, who last fall guided an unheralded Borgess team to a 6-3 record and a berth in the Prep Bowl at the Silverdome against Birming-ham Brother Rice. "I appreciate it, especially in my twilight years. There's a lot of talent here, We'll probably draw 10,000 fans, but we should draw 50,000.

"These kids are huge. We took shoe sizes and most of the kids are 12, 13, 14, 18. When I played, if you had a 200-pounder you had a big kld."

BAZYLEWICZ IS staying in Holden Hall on the MSU campus with the rest of the athletes and his roommate is Dick Kennedy, the head

"He keeps me honest," joked Bazylewicz.

Despite this being an all-star game, Bazylewicz said both teams are taking football seriously, with two-a-day practice sessions and an 11 p.m. nightly curfew. The players are allowed some free time at night but must be back in the dorm by 10 p.m. - a time even the coaches adhere to.

"We blde by that because we're all bushed by the time we get off practice," Bazylewicz said. "These are good kids, all well-behaved. The MHSFCA really does it with first class. The campus is beautiful, facilities are great." Bazylewicz said the week presents a challenge for him and his five assistants to blend the talents of his roster is running back Tyrone Wheatley (Dearborn Heights Robichaud who has signed with Michigan), but an emphasis won't be placed on the running game, Bazylewicz sald.

"We'll be throwing the ball more than 'Bazy's' used to throwing the ball," Bazylewicz said. "This is all new to me. We've got all classy receivers and quarterbacks (including Plymouth Canton's Karl Wukle), so for the good of the game and fan interest, we'll throw more."

The week also has been a reunion of sorts for Bazylewicz and East running back Anthony Hood, a 1991 Borgess graduate who will play in the fall for Northwestern University.

Blazo Sarcevich's goal Saturday will be to score touchdowns, not prevent them.

Sarcevich, an all-state linebacker from Farmington Hills Harrison, will play tight end for the East team in the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association All-Star game at Michlgan State University's Spartan Stadium.

PASS will televise the 1:35 p.m. game live. All tickets cost $6.

Sarcevich played tight end for Harrison, but he made more of an impression at linebacker with a. school-record 299 tackles in his career. The East coaching staff, headed by Redford Bishop Borgess' Walt Bazylewicz, decided to move Sarcevich to tight end because of a shortage of players at that position.

"It's fun, but you have to have a different frame of mind to be a tight end," said Sarcevich, a 6-foot-1, 225-pounder who caught 12 passes last fall. "You've got to be more controlled, whereas on defense you can go ahead and be more wild."

SARCEVICH WON'T have much time to relax after the game, considering he leaves Sunday for the University of Hawali, where he'll be a freshman in the fall.

"I've already packed," said Sarcevich, "I just brought my old clothes up here for the week."

Plymouth Canton's Karl Wukie will be one of two-East-quarterbacks. Wukie, a first-team All-Observer choice last fall when he led Canton to the Class AA quarterfinals, has made adjustments with the East offensive scheme.

"All of the passes except one is a drop-back pass," said Wukie, who will walk-on at Western Michigan University. "I'm used to rolling out so we'll see how it works. I'm trying my hardest but I'm not really too concerned with how I perform. I came out here to have fun and get in shape."

Tony Prey, of Westland John Glenn, will snap the ball to Wukle, and Redford Catholic Central's Rob Sylvester also will play on the offensive line." Lining up in the offensive backfield is Borgess' Anthony Hood. Prey, who will play for Division. III Kalamazoo College, said he's using this game to "prove something" to other colleges that didn't recruit him.

Hood, the first-team All-Observer tailback, looks forward to playing with Dearborn Heights Robichaud's Tyrone Wheatley, the state's top recruit who has signed with Michigan.

Prey is impressed by both runners. "Thank God I block for them, not tackle them," he said.

Concealed Security wins district baseball championship

Concealed Security is headed for the American Amateur Baseball Congress regional tournament in Battle Creek after winning the district at Ypsilanti last weekend.

"It was a lot tougher than everybody said it would be," Concealed manager Lou Pirronello said. "Eyerybody said we should breeze through the tournament, but every one of our games was a tough one."---

Concealed, runner-up to Ypsilanti In the Little Caesars Baseball Federation-Connie Mack Division, clinched the title Sunday with a come-frombehind, 4-3 win over Ann Arbor.

Concealed trailed 3-1 but Shandel Currie hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth Inning to make it 3-2. Concealed got two more in the sixth to win the game.

Aaron Mach hit a leadoff single, stole second and scored the tying run on Matt Fennelly's base hit. Mike Grahl, pinch running for Fennelly, took third on a single by George Leung and scored on Randy Glerczak's two-out single.

FENNELLY, LEUNG and Glerczak had two hits apiece and Currie, who drove in the first run with a single, two RBI.

Mark D'Antonio pitched a complete game for Concealed, allowing eight hits. He struck out four and walked three.

Coincidentally, Concealed opened district play against Ann Arbor and had a difficult game despite an eventual_12-4 victory. Concealed scored eight runs in the eighth inning to break a 4-4 tie.

Concealed had nine of its 16 hits in that inning. Matt Bonkowski and Ron Hollis had two-run singles, Eric Miller and Jim Solak RBI-singles. and Mach an RBI sacrifice fly.

Jermaine Burley and Bonkowski - from Margolick, who scattered four were 3-for-5, and Hollis and Solak had two hits each. Hollis had three RBI, Solak two.

Andrew Margolick pitched the last one-third of an inning in the seventh to get the win.

Hollis departed after 6% innings, having given up four earned runs on seven hits and eight walks. He struck out 12, however. Margolick finished that inning and, with plans to pitch Saturday, gave way to Leung in the eighth.

Cobras sting Wolves, 1-0

By C.J. Risak staff writer

What has cursed the Michigan Wolves all season long cost them again in their Great Lakes Men's Soccer League Division I playoff semifinal Sunday against Birmingham Cobras I.

"The same thing hurt us as before, a lack of scoring," said. Wolves' coach Walt, Barrelt, whose team bowed out with a 1-0 loss. The Cobras I victory filled half of the 'GLMSL championship bracket, to be contended at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at Livonia's Bicentennial Park (on Seven Mile between Newburgh and Farmington).

The other half of the bracket will be filled tonight, when the Redford Marauders play Flint Budlight at 6:30 p.m. at Livonia's Jaycee Park.

Barrett's description may have seemed too obvious, but it was a problem throughout the Wolves' first year. "Low-scoring games slowed us throughout the season," he noted .-.

STILL, COBRAS I earned their position in the championship round. They finished second in the regular-season to the Marauders and beat the champions head-to-head, 1-0.

The only score of Sunday's match, played at Jaycee Park, came after 15 minutes had elapsed. An indirect free kick was awarded to the Cobras I after what Barrett termed "an extremely questionable___ obstruction call" six yards outside the Wolves' penalty area.

The free kick was tapped to Han Roest, who drilled it off two Wolves' defenders, rebounding it into the net.

softball

After that, Barrett asserted, the Wolves dominated play but could not score. Kurt Will pounded one shot off the crossbar, and Jon Petosky hit another off the post.

IN THE GLMSL Division II playoffs, the Babylon Stars and upstart San Pablo advanced to the championship match with semifinal victories Sunday. The Stars shut out Waverly 2-0, while San Pablo - the final playoff qualifier and previous upset winner over regular-season champ Ann Arbor United - defeated the Rochester Rebels 2-1 on overtime penalty kicks.

The Stars and San Pablo will meet for the Division II title at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Bicentennial.

Also last Sunday, three GLMSL teams advanced to the final eight in the Michigan Cup tournament with victories. The Marauders beat C.B. United 6-0; the Cobras II edged Belgrade 2-1; the Corinthians clubbed Drita 3-1; and the Carpethia Kickers blanked the Livonia Rangers 5-0. 🦂

For the Marauders, Brian O'Shea - normally the team's keeper scored two goals. John Brennan, John Gentile, Paul Kaliszewski and Don Gemmell added single scores. Colin Jex was in goal to record his second-straight shutout.

There will be a redraw to determine opponents for the next round of the Michigan Cup; matches will be played the final Sunday of August.

Primo's, AJ's will settle title In Livonia Modified

Primo's Pizza and AJ's Lounge will have a playoff game to determine the champion of the Livonia Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League Monday night at Ford Field.

The teams tied for first place with 12-1 records. A score was incorrectly reported last week, indicating Primo's Pizza had lost to Malarkey's Pub and suffered a second defeat.

Primo's won that game to remain one behind AJ's and then gained a share of the regular-season title when Total Foods upset AJ's 8-7 Monday. Primo's beat the Marauders 4-2.

Total Foods led 8-3 going into the seventh inning when AJ's scored five runs to take a 7-4 lead. Total Foods rallied with four in the bottom of the inning and scored the winning run when a fly ball was dropped in the outfield.

STEVE KARRIS was 3-for-4 with two RBI and Joe Walacavags hit a two-run single for Total Foods, Brian Murphy was the winning pitcher and Jerry Stazel the loser. Keith McManaway hit a three-run homer for AJ's.

In other games, Crestwood Lounge blanked ALT 3-0, Bedson Electric #### won by forfeit over Suburban Door, Malarkey's ripped Pulice Bros. Construction 13-1, Mid-Joy Inc. upset All-American Sports Center 9-8 and Papa Romano's won by forfelt over O'Connell Industries.

Mid-Joy scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth (and last) inning to erase an 8-7 lead by All-American, which scored three times in the top half to take the lead.

Mick Rotter was 3-for-3, with a two-run homer, and four RBI to lead Mid-Joy. Mike Greener, Doug Fulton and Craig Delugas had two hits apiece. Greener also knocked in a run and scored two, and Fulton chalked up two RBI.

Ron Wandzel had three hits, Curt White and Rick Dreber two apiece, for All-American. Tom Lee was the winning pitcher and Al White the loser,-

The final standings are: 1. AJ's Lounge and Primo's Pizza, 12-1; 3. All-American, 10-3; 4. Total Foods, 8-5; 5. Suburban Door, Malarkey's and Mid-Joy, 7-6; 8. Marauders, Bedson and Papa Romano's, 6-7; 11. ALT, 3-9-1; 12. Pulice, 3-10; 13. O'Connell, 2-10-1; 14. Crestwood, 2-11.

Classic cartoons Bugs Bunny on Broadway' comes to Meadow Brook

By Keely Wygonik staft writer

4B*

Wabbit fans of all ages are hopping to see "Bugs Bunny on Broadway," a collection of Warner Brothers cartoons projected on a giant screen, accompanied by the 50-plece Warner Brothers Orchesta.

The show is making just one stop in Michigan, 8 p.m., Monday, Aug. 5, al the Meadow Brook Music Festivàl

"'It's been playing to packed houses, and 85 percent of the people in the audience are grown-ups," said Sylvia Coughlin Porter, Meadow Brook Music Festival spokeswoman. "When it debuted in San Diego, many turned up in tuxes with cottontails and carrot corsages."

GEORGE DAUGHERTY, the 35year-old composer who created "Bugs Bunny on Broadway," will conduct the orchestra in a program that features Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Elmer Fudd, and Porky Pig in nine 24-carrot gems of animation that have been totally restored. The orchestra will supply the music for the cartoons. Bugs and his pals will provide the lyrics and spoken dialogue.

"Some of these cartoons haven't been seen for over 40 years," said __ing____ Porter.

The lineup includes these classics from the 1940s and 1950s: "Baton Bunny," "What's Up, Doc?," "High Note," "The Rabbit of Seville," "This is a Life?," "A Corny Concerto," "Rhapsody Rabbitt," "Long-Haired Hare," and "What's Opera, Doc?"

George Daugherty

Daugherty, a lifelong Bugsian; has done animation scoring for Warner Bros. and won a gold medal at the New York Film and Television Festival for scoring "Narchsus and Echo."

Before becoming involved in animation scoring, he conducted for the American Ballet Theatre and for national productions of "Annie" and "Man of La Mancha" and composed several scores for Public Broadcast-

Like many Bugs fans, the Indianaborn Daugherty fell in love with "Looney Tunes" and "Merrie Melodies" as a child. In order to create "Bugs Bunny on In order to create 'Bugs Bunny on Broadway,' music and sound effects were stripped from the original soundtracks, leaving only the voice tracks.

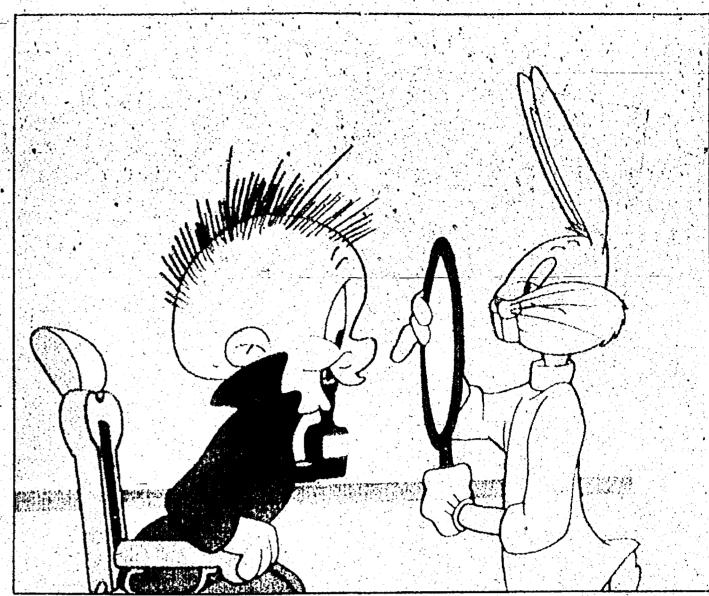

Broadway," music and sound effects were stripped from the original soundtracks, leaving only the voice tracks. The tracks were then separated digitally and the sound effects recreated.

MOST OF the musical scores for Bugs cartoons were destroyed long ago, so Daugherty, and a team of students from an animation scoring class at the University of Southern California recreated the music.

"In many cases, we had to transcribe by ear - note by note, instrument by instrument. We also had to wade through sound effects and dialogue," said Daugherty.

In the case of "What's Opera Doc?," there were tremendous amounts of thunder and lightning, and tons of sound effects they had to ____ listen to get to the music.

We would get it into full-score-form and listen to it over and over topick out any inaccuracies. We spent months in this process. Then we tested it for accuracy," said Daugherty.

Elmer Fudd and Bugs Bunny in a scene from the animation classic "Rabbit of Seville."

Synchronizing the live music to the animation is accomplished through the click tracks, a sophisticated metronome created by Bugs Bunny cartoon composer Carl Stalling.

The program features music created by Stalling and Milt-Franklynfrom classical works by Wagner, Strauss and Rossini.

Musicians wear headphones and listen to clicks to keep them on the beat, and to prepare for tempo changes, meter changes, and new sections.

Plan to visit the exhibit of authentic production cels, the colorful paintings on clear plastic sheets that were used to make original Bugs Bunny cartoons. The cels were acquired by Gallery Lainzberg of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and will be on display in a tent on the festival grounds. Gallery Lainzberg is the largest animation art gallery in the country, said Porther.-

To create the cels, pencil drawings generated by animation artists are transferred to the plastic sheets which are then painted, laid over a background and photographed in sequence to create the illusion of movement.

It takes as many as 24 different cels to make one second of film.

Tickets for "Bugs Bunny on Broadway"are $22.50, $22, and $12.50. Call 377-2010 for information. Meadow Brook Music Festival grounds open at 6 p.m. with entrances_on_Walton Boulevard and Adams Road.

'Rehearsal for Murder' good, needs faster pace

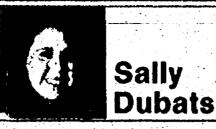

Performances of the Troy Players production of "Rehearsal for Murder" are 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 2, and 8 p.m. Saturday; Aug. 3 at the Troy Community Center. For ticket information call 879-1285.

The Troy Players' production of "Rehearsal for Murder," by D.D. Brooke, has many elements of a good modern mystery, but the current staging needs more sparkle and quicker pace

John White is appropriate for the role of playwright Alex Dennison who pens a script based on his actress/fiance's last night alive. The play-within-a-play is supposedly written to weed out suspects in Alex's flance's death. White, howev, er, needs to broaden his character's range (especially to include urgency) for this complex role, and he is cer-tainly capable of doing so. As many of the characters on-stage wonder of Alex's sanity, so too must the audience. This would be one more way to add tension.

Beautiful Monica Wells (Elizabeth DeWilde), the murdered actress/ flance, reappears to read scenes from Alex's play with various charactets who are suspects, These "scenes" are actually flashbacks and serve to tell the story of the night of Monica's death. DeWilde, new to the Troy Players, is an impressive actress with stage presence, and is a definite asset to the show. A common misinterpretation in many mystery or suspense dramas is to deliver extremely informative. lines (which illustrate events leading to the murder in question) as though explaining procedures to putting together a bicycle. This is particularly evident in "Rehearsal for Murder" because of the flashback writing style of D.D. Brooke's adaptation. Thom Griffin, as Frank Heiler, does splendidly while in the "past," or during scenes involving interaction, > was presented. Lori Jacobs reprebut when recounting past events without "living" them, the bicycle procedure delivery of dialogue returns. The actors/suspects invited to the reading of Alex's new play (within the play) are cast well. On the whole, however, the cast needs to pick up their lines to pick up the pace in Act I. Act II did bring more intrigue asthe story unfolded and more action sented comedic relief as the character of Bella Lamb. Jacobs would have fared better, however, if she delivered her funny and stinging remarks to the intended targets onstage, rather than to the audience.

New Troy Players member Karin Lyons shows promise as ingenue Karen Daniels. Lyons delivers her lines with self-assurance and is a good match for her partner in crime, Bob Zawideh, who plays Leo Gibbs with enthusiasm.

Handsome Dane, Lawicki is also new to the stage as David Matthews, and conveys quite well the typical leading man ambiance required of his role. Don Hagerty renders a creditable performance in his portrayal of Lloyd Andrews, the Broadway director who is also a suspect of End Productions headquartered sorts.

Two fun characters are portrayed by Tom Tighe and Carrie Anglewicz. Tighe is likable as the theater teckle (technical person) who has been at the theatre forever, and Anglewicz plays Alex's quirky, perky secretary with spunk.

Director Philomena Somers gives us a respectable production of "Rehearsal for Murder" which could improve with a more creative staging and a faster pace.

Sally Dubats of Southfield is an an actress, director and teacher, who teaches at community the aters in the metropolitan area. She is artistic director of West in Southfield.

Business woes go beyond 'poor economy' platitudes

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Hadley Arden, one of southeastern Michigan, women's apparel main. stays, is planning on closing its doors at the end of this summer. Livonia-based Hadley Arden is not alone. The recession has spelled trouble

- if not bankruptcy - for a number of commercial ventures including, but not limited to, Bonwit Teller, Uptown Charly's, Highland Appliance, Willow Tree, Chelsea Stores, Crowley Milner & Co, Dobbs Furniture and Corey Dinette Furniture.

Even developer Western Development of Washington, D.C., the builder of the proposed Auburn Mills mega-mall, is in bankruptcy court considering a real estate loan workout.

All this despite a growing number of economists jumping on the recesslon-is-over — or will be shortly bandwagon.

HENRY MOSES, vice president of Barry M. Klein Real Estate, a national retail brokerage firm, said he isn't certain what the economists are using for guidelines in their predictions, but they don't apply to the independent and semi-independent retailers.

"There's still a contraction in the retail market," he said.

Moses said he expects there will be-more-small, independent and semi-independent retailers declaring bankruptcy or going out of business because they fail to see enough light at the end of the tunnel to justify operating through the coming months. "If (the economy) is turning around, it's a long, slow turnaround,' he said. Moses stressed that borrow money to get through the market are courting disaster, he slow times," he said. Large compa-, said. nies can borrow from themselves; small companies go to banks. When the economy dips, banks are more discriminating in their loan practices which means retailers have to cut costs and Inventory. This, in turn, makes it more difficult for retailers to draw customers. WITHOUT CUSTOMERS, the businesses must cut back still further, but there's a limit to how far a retailer can cut. "At some point, it becomes throwing good money after bad - many retailers will cut their losses and wait until times get better.

"I don't think anyone can feel safe right now," Moses said.

Tony Camilletti, director of visual marketing at the retail design and consulting firm of Jon Greenberg & Associates Inc. in Southfield, said these are certainly not boom times nearly bad enough to drive retailersfrom business.

Camilletti said he doubts the recent surge in retail hardships predicates bad tidings for the industry as a whole.

"But I don't think they're isolated incidents. These are cases where consumer-oriented companies didn't address the consumer market and competitive changes," he said.

The economy may have been a factor, but it hasn't been an insurmountable obstacle - as evidenced by the success of many retailers.

Problems ailing retailers run the. gamut from falling short on the service aspect, an inability to meet customers' product demands, a problem in reaching the correct market, or perhaps just a poor image.

"Some companies may have just shopping begins." manded too much and not antici-

Jay Wedevan, principal with the Southfield retail consultant firm Strategic Edge Inc., said from a construction point of view, there are two reasons behind the recent problems.

"In many instances, some areas are just overbuilt."

Simply, if there are too many retailers and not enough customers, some businesses are not going to survive, he said. "The overbuilding has put a squeeze on retailers who expanded too guickly."

Paradoxically, this overdevelopment has caused problems for retailers who need to expand or move to stay in business.

"Retailers want to go to certain locations, but they can't get there because the developers can't get there."

Retail developers can't get loans for retailers, but the economy is not from financial institutions because overbuilding has made them neryous, and even those financial institutions that are open to making loans are asking for substantial equity from the developer.

> CHRISTINE LENZ, retail manager in the Detroit office of the public accounting firm Arthur Andersen, said for the most part she is optimistic about the remainder of the year and doesn't anticipate continued problems for retailers.

Most economists are predicting better times ahead, and if that isn't encouraging, the usual retail cycle ought to whip the industry out of its doldrums.

As back-to-school time approaches, retail sales generally pick up, Lenz said. "After that, the holiday id it would be too simple to blame the recent retail woes on the economy.""It's more likely that it was a combination of things." Consumers are bored with existing products and want something new; people are shopping price; the troubles of larger retailers have weighed on consumer confidence; financiers' have been reluctant to make loans to retailers and manufacturers; and suppliers — in light of everything else that's been going on - are

'Independents don't have the luxury of sitting out the hard times," he said. If a major retailer sees sales slip in one area, it can usually hold out until things get better, he said. This is not true for the smaller retailers

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY is alling companies didn't anticipate or take seriously the challenge of increased competition in a tighter market. "We're seeing the beginning of a change in how retailers do business," Camilletti said. "Some companies haven't been able to respond."

Couple again gets together for sake of kitchen designs

By David F. Stein special writer

They met in college, fell in love, married and had two children.

More than 20 years later, they met at their son's basketball game and got engaged in business.

Can a couple divorced for 10 years find success and happiness wed in business?

Janice Steinhardt and Gary Fried are making a good start at it with the Madison Design Group of Troy, designing and installing upscale kitchens and other customized living spaces.

In this partnership, Fried, 44, handles the design while Steinhardt, 43, deals with marketing and the bottom line.

"We both have to want something out of this, and we do," Steinhardt sald.

Located in the Michigan Design Center in Troy, Madison sells directly to homeowners.

·Custom kitchens with the latest in appliances and cabinets run from $15.000 to $50,000. The average Madison job runs $25,000.

IN A little more than a year, Madison has designed and installed more than 50 kitchens. Fried and Steinhardt credit their early success to business contacts and experience, including Fried's as a cabinet manufacturer and sales rep and Steinhardt's in renovating and reselling homes in the Birmingham area. Fried learned cabinet making after college at his dad's firm, Midwest Cabinet of Walled Lake.

After they get their feet in the kitchen door, Steinhardt sald they are often asked to do built-in custom closets, media centers and utility rooms. They plan to expand their business to include commercial off-latest of materials. They feature European products, which they believe lead the way in ideas and materials.

"It's like foreign cars; every time the Americans duplicate them, the competition is on to something else," Fried said. "American manufacturers had really grown quite lazy; they continued to make the same products, which were of decreasing quality and no style."

But Madison has found one American gem in Heritage, a Mennonite company in New Holland, Pa. It combines old-world craftsmanship with the newest materials such as polyester cabinets.

FRIED AND STEINHARDT met while undergrads at the University of Michigan. Fried majored in business; Steinhardt earned a degree in speech pathology.

Married in 1969, they have two children: daughter Karle, 18, and son Ryan, 15.

After working with his father, Fried tried manufacturing European-style kitchen cabinets at this own firm, Kinetics, but became discouraged by the cost and attitude of local labor.

His next venture, Light Year Corp., sold cabinets retail and to builders and architects, which led to work in nightclubs.

Asked to do the design and construction management for Cheeks on Eight Mile in Detroit, Fried became its owner in 1982,

A string of club ownerships continued to the late 1980s, including Prima Donna in Detroit, and Menage and ISIS, both in Pontlac.

"It's very exciting, but high-visibility clubs only last a few years at best, and then you have to move on," Fried said.

The couple separated in 1979 and divorced the next year.

Mr. Smith goes to Concours

Packard has spot in show

By Larry O'Connor -stait whiler

N ACORN DROPS FROM THE tree above and a loud "ping" rings off the 1947 black full-classic Packard in the drive way. Forgive Howard Smith, if he thinks the sky is falling.

Smith, 68, reacts like anyone else would with a vintage auto parked next to his house. He's a bit over protective.

Every once in awhile in the course of a conversation, the retired Ford Motor Co. employee and World War II veteran will notice a wax smudge or a clump of dust. A look of concern comes over him.

Then out comes a cleaning cloth faster than Jessie James on the draw. Once the imperfection is wiped away, Smith's face returns to a high beam.

"I always wanted to own a Packard," said Smith, who has lived in Redford Township for 37 years. "Only rich people had them when I was a kld before World War II." About four years ago, Smith, spurred on by his neighbor Greg Harakas, bought one of the classic autos. He plunked down $12,500 with a guy in Hershey, Pa., for a 1940 Packard.

Smith eventually sold his Packard to Harakas, who's since had the car fully restored to its 1940s luster. The Howard Smith of Redford is as happy as can be. His classic 1947 Packard will be among 200 vintage autos on display at the 1991 Concours

"THE PACKARD was alwaysadvanced in their suspension and in their steering and they were advanced in their styling," said Harakas, who owns six Packards and, who like Smith, is a member of the Motor City Packards. "They were a luxury car, no doubt."

Style returns to diamonds

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Sure diamonds are a softball player's best friend. And they're willing to dress up for them.

Gone are the days when players merely showed up at dusty ball fields in a cut-off jeans and yellow-ing T-shirts with rolled up sleeves,

Today's fashion-conscious diamond denizen makes a statement chugging first to third on a single or booting a grounder at second. Sometimes, the player stays within the confines of a uniform, sometimes not.

Who better to ask, we figured, then the men behind the (fashion) plate themselves?

"The other night a guy showed up in a stretch nylon leotard," said Richard Austin of Westland, who umpires for the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department. "Then he had a pair of 3/4 length shorts on with a loose short shirt over that. He looked like he was going to an veteran of World War II, in turn, bought the 1947 model six months ago.

HIS COLLECTION of antique cars also includes a Ford Model-A and a 1968 Ford Mustang. But, as owners of the elite model of autos will tell you, there's nothing like a Packard. You know it's a Packard when you look at it," Smith said. On Sunday, Aug. 4, the public will get a look at Smith's gleaming 1947 Packard along with 200 other vintage autos at the 1991 Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills. People can view the cars 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. In addition to Packards, rare cars from the Alfa Romero Museum in Milan, Italy, will be on display as will a line of Cords from the 1930s.

The Concours is considered one of the premiere classic automobile shows in the world. For Smith, the show is a particular honor in that it is by invitation-only event for classic car owners.

Part of the prestige of the Concours d'Elegance is that cars on display are judged as works of art.

From the silver swan hood ornament to the ornate rear fender, the Packard is definitely a work of art. A metallic grill, white wall tires, fender skirts and the shapely contours only add to the car's sleekness, Packards were also considered a top-flight auto in terms of performance. The car featured a straight-eight cylinder engine with nine main bearings, the same type of motor used to power PT boats during World War II.

Packards were ahead of their time in other aspects. For instance, they were the first auto with air conditioning in 1932.

Smith's 1947 four-door model is special for another reason. That was the first line of Packards made after World War II. The company discontinued its automobile line during the war.

For Smith, his Packard might have been the one he bought in the euphoria of the post-war victory. He served as captain in the Air Force, surviving several dive-bombing missions over, Europe as a fighter pilot.

The 1947 model, though, also marked the beginning of the end for the Packard Company. Production of the luxury car continued until 1956 when Studebaker absorbed the company and made a Packard/ Studebaker line in 1957. Sales fizzled as did the Packard Company.

The building at the original production site remains on Mount Elliot and East Grand Boulevard in Detroit. It's a historical landmark.

Aside from an old factory, the legacy of the Packard lives on through the likes of Smith and other classic car enthusiasts.

SURPRISINGLY, Smith has no hesitation taking his Packard for a spin. Often, he'll cruise around the neighborhood and get some gas. Insurance is $108 a year for fullcollision with no deductible.

"I get a lot of looks and I get the 'thumbs up,' " said Smith, who retired three years ago from the ... claims department at Ford. "People will come up to look at it and they want to know what year it is." The same curiosity got Smith involved in classic cars. With Harakas across the road, he walked over one day and started asking him about his collection. The two struck up a friendship.

Both go to classic shows together and Harakas convinced Smith to buy the 1947 Packard. Recently, for his 50-year class reunion at Detroit Mackenzle High School, Harakas took Smith in style in his 1937 Packard to the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills.

"He's really proud of it (1947 Packard)," Harakas said. "I think it made his whole life. Not everyone gets into it (classic cars).

"I always tell him I want to buy it.<sup>0</sup>

"Oh, you'll get it one day," Smith replied

Church leaders aren't discouraged by slowdown in summer

By Julie Brown staff writer

HURCH PEWS are often a little less crowded on these warm summer Sun-" days. Attendance at worship services tends to drop a bit between Memorial Day and Labor Day. "I want people to be responsible" about Sunday. In a sense, for what it's worth, I affirm people being gone for the summer," said the Rev. Dr. Thomas Eggebeen, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

"I don't worry too much about that. I've got no problem with folks taking some time off," he said. "They're not taking time off from

"I've got no problem with folks taking some time off," said the Rev. Thomas Eggebeen, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

God, just from the institution."

Some members of Eggebeen's congregation have cottages up north and are away on summer weekends. On the other hand, some church members who spend winters in Florida worship on summer Sundays at St. Paul's Presbyterian:

The Rey. James Wysocki, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth, has also noticed the seasonal change. Attendance and contributions don't drop appreciably, but he has seen a difference.

"THERE IS a reduction in the number of people that come to Sunday Mass. I think it's a natural phenomenon that all city parishes experlence."

Unlike some other western Wayne County churches, Our Lady of Good Counsel is air conditioned.

"That really does help during the summer months." There's less of a tendency to feel rushed or distracted during Mass, he said.

"It's kind of the opposite when you have air conditioning. People don't want to leave."

CATHOLICS ARE bound by church law to attend Mass each week, and that's a serious responsibility, Wysocki said. He knows it can be difficult for people on vacation to find a church and go to Mass.

"The church is still very important to the people, even in the summer."

Worshipers can keep a strong prayer life, Wysocki said, and pert haps find time to visit a church during the week. Some churches are beautiful, impressive sights to see on vacation.

Some worshipers at St. Michael Lutheran Church in Canton travel to vacation spots up north in the summer.

"They tend to go away more during the weekend," said the Rev. Jess Abbott, assistant pastor: "What we do is encourage people to" worship wherever they are. The important part is to give God God's time."

THAT CAN include attending a service at a church of another denomination, he said.

Attendance at churches in northern Michigan and other vacation areas tends to increase in the summer, said Abboit, who'll soon leave to become pastor of evangelism. and outreach at a church in the Grand Rapids area.

Some members of Eggebeen's congregation bring back bulletins from other churches they've visited, so he knows they're still worshiping in the summer.

leaders make some changes to accommodate the summer needs of worshipers. The same number of Masses take place at Our Lady of-Good Counsel, but Sunday services are moved up an hour to 7, 9 and 11 a.m.

"Basically, we've completed our morning liturgles by noon," Wysocki sald.

Church members appreciate that and he does; too!

The church in Plymouth also has a 5 p.m. Saturday Mass, and that remains popular in the summer. St. Michael Lutheran Church started a 5:30 p.m. Saturday service in February.

Summertime attendance at that service has dropped a bit. "The number decreased, but people still appreciate it," Abbott said. "It offers another option."

SOME PEOPLE work on Sundays, and the Saturday service is a help to them, he said. Many Roman Catholic churches have offered a late Saturday service for a number of years, and some Protestant churches have followed suit.

The pastors don't have a problem with worshipers wearing more casual attire in the summer. Even with air conditioning, suit coats can be a bit of a burden in the summer, Wysocki said. He believes casual attire's OK, "but not so informal that it's beach wear."

Wysocki doesn't particularly change his preaching at Masses for the summer.

"We still try to make them as appropriate to that particular Scripture as we can."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Attendance does decline at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in the summer, said the Rev. James Wysocki, pastor of the church in Plymouth. "I think it's a natural phenomenon that all city parishes experience."

Eggebeen put together a summer sermon series, "Remedies for Maladies," based on the Book of Psalms. He has been preaching on such practical concerns as worry, sleeplessness, fear and doubts.

EGGEBEEN DECIDED long ago not to fight the summer drop in attendance.

"I can handle that, just as long as they're back in the fall."

Worshipers can use the summer to "get rested and relax and come" back here and hit it hard in the fall," he said. Eggebeen himself recently took a Sunday off and spent the morning reading the newspaper. CHURCH LEADERS can use the summer to reach out to non-members, Abbott said. The church can target certain groups, such as single parents, rather than just cater. to the church's own membership.

"We need to think about who it is in_our_society_that_hasn't been reached and how to reach them," he said. "There's a large community out there that needs to be reached."

Abbott sees that as an exciting thing; the church hasn't changed in substance, but only in style.

Storm leaves wave of destruction in its path

Many of us still have fresh memories of the early July storm whichleft a wake of downed trees, darkened houses and dead telephones. More than a few watched their food spoil in dark refrigerators. People

For those who struggled without power to cook, take showers, or do any of the many everyday activities which require electricity it was a week to remember, but not one to repeat. However, in the long run, we did survive.

For some, there were relatives and friends with room in their freezers for the endangered food.

For others, there were restaurants and even motels with storm victim rates. For most, there were alternatives to their living room lamps and kitchen fans.

WITHIN A week it was over. A few lost loved ones to a variety of storm-related accidents. For some, treasured trees were missing from front yards. A roof here and there had yet to be patched, but for most little more remains than the memory of inconvenience.

The air conditioners are humming again and television again takes place of human conversation. Even the hot water is once again available for showers. The glant camp-out in southeast Michigan gave way to our beloved conveniences.

But we were the lucky ones. For was not unleashed by Mother Nature but by Uncle Sam and a number of the world's "god fathers." The world knew it as Desert Storm. The winds were hot, the clouds hung low, and trees were not the only living things to be ground into the earth.

We remember what happened to us in early July. It was local enough to have made an impact, and recent enough to still hang in our memory. Do we remember what happened to so many thousands of people who and old are still without running water, electric lights, or the refrigerators we take for granted. Detroit Edison would not stand a chance of getting them back on line in a year.

But we were the lucky ones. For most who weathered this storm, lives have already returned to normal.

Goldfinch breeding just begun

Many species of birds are already raising their second brood of young. Robins and bluebirds have just about ended their breeding season in Michlgan. But the American goldfinch only recently started.

American goldfinch, or wild canary to many people, does not start its breeding cycle until there is thistle down or cattail down. Both of these materials are woven into the: nest of goldfinch. These light colored downy plant fibers give the nest a silvery appearance. Their fine texture allows the nest to be woven very tightly. Some nests can hold water, they are so dense. Young have actually drowned during rainstorms when adults have been unattentive to their nest duties.

Female goldfinch are usually, very attentive of their nest. Ninety-five they both appear in dull yellow-olive percent of her time may be spent on the nest. She is able to do this because her mate will come and feed her while she remains on the nest. Males are not instrumental in building the nest, but they are important. in caring for the female and young.

Incubation of the eggs will last about 13 days. As the young get older and are close to fledging, they no longer enclose their fecal material in a flexible membrane, which the parents then remove. Older nestlings move to the edge of the nest to defecate. This behavior leaves some fecal material on the rim of the nest. Abandoned goldfinch nests can be Identified by this feature.

In shrubby fields where goldfinch nest, their presence is not difficult to detect. Males with their bright yellow body and black wings are constantly bouncing through the air saying "potato-chip, potato-chip." Their undulating flight is very characteristic. They are easily separated fromthe female in summer, but in winter colored feather typical of the female.

After the nesting season goldfinch flock together and feed on various seeds. In the wild they enjoy birch, alder, chicory, and burdock seeds. At bird feeders, they enjoy both sunflower and thistle seeds.

If during the summer you miss the appearance of goldfinch at your feeder, just take a walk through most any field and you will find them in full breeding plumage.

Wood carvers to spotlight their wares

Roy Sipes of Westland carves a cow girl.

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Bob Sklar editor/953-2113

Hundreds of handcarved horses, birds, bears, carousel animals and ducks will III Eddle Edgar Arena in Livonla Saturday and Sunday, Aug.'3-4, when the Livonia Wood Carvers Club holds its 17th annual woodcarving show.

Two days of fun and camaraderie are sure to prevail as 126 exhibitors from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Ontario, Tennessee, Florida and West Virginia display wood carvings, sell wood-carving tools and supplies, and share carving tips and ideas with visitors as well as each other.

Carvers of whittled pieces, wildlife, minlatures, human figures, marquetry, relief, chip carving and decoys will compete for awards.

The show and club are sponsored by the Livonia. Parks and Recreation Department.

"We like displaying our work to get new people interested in carving to get them interested in something enjoyable," said Livonia resident Ronald Morin, publicity chairman for the show.

Morin has been carving since 1982. He teaches sharpening and wood-carving techinques at the club meetings, and at a 4-H club in Novi.

"Once you get started, there's no end to what you can carve." Morin said.

"THE THEME of this year's show is horses. We'H have two tables (displaying) every size and shape of horse," said Redford Township resident Bob Brooks, Livonia Wood Carvers Club president.

Pam and Jim Krausman of the Howell Nature Center will visit the show again this year, bringing along their special friends.

"Pam will have live barn owls, hawks, and a crow who likes to eat fingers," Brooks said. "The Barn Owl is the farmer's dream. They build their nests in barns and they eat the mice."

"The "Karvings for Kids" table is for kids only. Any child can come up and buy things for 50 cents to $6 to give as gifts," Brooks said.

"Sister Mary Magdalene of Duns Scotus will have carvings on display. She's a pretty good carver."

Door prizes, carved by club members, will be given hourly to those attending the show. 'Everybody will receive a door prize ticket at the door," Brooks said.

item, gracing a limited-edition envelope with a pen and ink sketch of the Quaker Meeting House at Greenmead Historical Village in Livonia. The U.S. Postal Service has authorized use of a Greenmead Station postmark on the envelope, illustrated by Farhat to commemorate the 35th anniversary of the Livonia Historical Society, the 145th anniversary of the Quaker Meeting House and the construction of the new Greenmead Post Office on purchased Greenmead land.

The artist will autograph the Quaker Meeting House-illustrated, limited-edition envelopes, with a Greenmead Station postmark, 1-3:30 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, in the Michigan Room of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

"I respect the historical people for trying to preserve the past. You have to give them credit in the sense that preserving their heritage, looking back in time, is a good way to see the future," Farhat said.

Originally, the Livonia Historical Commission commissioned the meeting house illustration in 1974 as part of a bicentennial series, the limited edition of which is on sale at Greenmead.

FARHAT GRADUATED from the Wayne State University School of Fine Arts in 1951. He worked as an illustrator and quality control engineer for Ford Motor Co. before retiring. His watercolor, acrylic and oil paintings are steeped in a philosophy of God and life.

"My work has a kind of message," the Livonia resident sald. "I like to say something with my work."

Art show long on promise; economy tugs at galleries

pal buildings in Livonia. But only folks who make the rounds get a chance to see it. Still other pleces are in storage. There's no permanent' display of city-purchased artwork.

But that'll change in August, thanks to Livonia arts commissioner Dorothy Wilshaw, a master at thinking up ways to bring artwork closer to the community.

She envisions the show giving people "a chance to see what the arts commission is doing and has done over the years."

From Aug. 6-23, the Livonia Arts Commission will host a city hall lobby exhibition featuring the best in the city's art collection. It holds lots

The 34 pieces on exhibit will in-• Quality art adorns the munici-, clude lithographs, oils, acrylics, watercolors, paper art, photography and mixed media.

· One plece is made of narrow, wood strips painted so that it reflects three different pictures, depending on what direction you look at it from.

Visitors to the show also will be invited to view three-dimensional pieces displayed in arts commission showcases on the second-floor of the city library across the municipal' parking lot.

"A lot of beautiful work belongs to the city," said Wilshaw, who chose the pieces with arts commissioner Lucille Kimpel.

"It's a shame hardly anyone gets the occasion to go to a city office or the library.'

Unless she can enlist more help, Wilshaw isn't sure she'll push for the show to become an annual event. "There's a lot more work involved than I thought," she said.

Though not an artist, Wilshaw Is an avid art collector. An arts commissioner just two years, she alivonia's artistic landscape.

Only time will tell whether this kind of impromptu summer art show will work in Livonia. But of course, the only way to know for sure is to try it.

• Observerland art galleries have felt the vice of Michigan's fiscal downlurn.

"We began to really feel the cconomic pinch within the last two months," sald Norma McQueen, curator-artist at The Art Gallery, a nonvrofit arts cooperailve in Garden City.

"People come in and admire our exhibits but they're not buying in the same numbers. Last week, we sold one framed piece and two unframed pieces."

an art show in June at J. Glordano Gallery in Northville.

She sold two of 25 framed pleces but 17 of 50 smaller reproductions. "There was an awful lot of traffic but people were reluctant to buy originals. They opted for less-expensive pieces."

At Chameleon Galleries Ltd. in Plymouth, owner Denni Englehart said she's "hanging in there. I'm doing as well as last year, which is better than some gallery owners can say."

A 25-percent jump in sales of glass and wood art has offset the 25-percent drop in sales of paintings, she said.

Twenty of the 150 artists who exhibit at Chameleon took part in the sampling of those 20 artists showed that, for them, "sales are down up to 40 percent over the course of this year," Englehart said.

---- "The problem-we're up against," she said, "is that art is a luxury item. It isn't like clothing. No one has to buy it."

At Nelson's Gallery in Livonia, director Laura Hardy has noticed a 15-20 percent drop in lithograph and serigraph sales:

"Poster sales and custom framing are still strong but there are no buts about it: People aren't willing to spend like they did last year. We're getting more traffic coming through. the gallery but a lot more people are comparative shopping."

ty-seven works from 67 artists, including Farhat's, were chosen for the traveling exhibition honoring artists older than 60.

Farhat's latest paintings relate feelings on space and time concepts, and Genesis. Bronze sculptures of Christ and Mary are symbolic of beliefs, related to biblical stories. "My capital of Japan, the musical group,

Shikandaza, will conduct a workshop and concert performance at Madonna University, Livonia, on Saturday,:

Shikandaza will hold a free work-work speaks for itself," he said.

In the 1960s, Farhat was commissioned by St. Damian Convent in Westland to cast the stations of the cross in stone. Another commission cast by Farhat was dedicated in August 1990, a bronze sculpture of Stanley Blen, Livonia Public Library former director.

"TIME CAROUSEL" is an expressionistic painting of a carousel, going backwards in time. Clowns and characters color this predomlnately blue painting.

"Hamtramck Madonna" features a street scene complete with business signs of the Polish neighborhood, in English and Polish. Farhat's use of white space makes the painting breathe with life as line drawings of automobiles seemingly float on the streets.

"I allow the white to show through," Farhat sald.

The head of the Madonna looks down on the scene from above.

"Everything has a religious tinge," Farhat's said, ""although they're not biblical depictions as such."

Farhat's abstract paintings, using large planes of horizontally placed colors, deal with creation of the universe. Vertical, rectangular shapes placed inside a horizontal rectangular form describe concepts of space. For 10 years, Farhat taught watercolor painting, drawing and sketching in Livonia adult education classes. He ingrained in his students the basic precept behind all art, the ability to draw.

"DRAWING IS the mother of all arts," Farhat said. "I always told my students, you have to be able to draw before you start splashing paint around."

The commemorative envelopes, featuring the Quaker Meeting House with a Greenmead Station postmark, are $1. Limited edition envelopes signed by Farhat are $2. All the proceeds go to the Livonia Historical, Society.

"From what Livonia Postmaster

Cates said, none of the mail coming out of the new post office will be marked Greenmead. This is onetime only," said Joanne Potter, chairwoman of the historical envelope project. "It's a limited edition of 395 envelopes."

The new postal station at Greenmead is tentatively scheduled to open around mid-August or after Labor Day.

The U.S. Postal Service makes it a policy to support projects by groups such as the Livonia Historical Society.

"We supported the effort by having the stamp made," said Alzana Braxton of the U.S. Postal Service marketing and communications de-. partment. "All of the printing of the envelope and the illustration was done by the Livonia Historical Society."

If you miss the artist's autographing session, limited edition envelopes are available by sending $1 along with a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope to the Livonia His-torical Society Stamp Cancellation, 20501 Newburgh, Livonia, MI.

Compelling tale Ex-POW releases caged dragons

"Caged Dragons: An American P.O.W. in WWII Japa,n" by Robert E. Haney. (267 pp., Momentum books LTD., $19.95).

"Caged Dragons: An American P.O.W. in WWII Japan" is not so much something you read as something you experience, so real are its events, so vivid are its characters, so compelling is the story recorded within its pages.

... psychiatrists expend huge amounts of time and patients' money seeking to identify dra-gons... so they can be expunged," writes former Michiganian Robert Haney. "Give the dragons a name, it is said, and they will go away."

Haney, 70, and now living in California, never needed to conduct such a search, he contends, because he was always able to identify his own personal dragons. They took shape during the invasion of Corregidor in early 1942. They grew to monstrous proportions over the next 41 months months that Haney, then a Marine corporal in his early twentles, spent in Japanese prison camps.

"For four decades after the war, I held the dragons at bay by caging them," he goes on to say. "I did not speak about them, even to my own family. "It was I, of course - not the dragons in the cage - who was held captive . . . That realization and this book took shape together.

"I know there is value for me in putting these words on paper; I hope there is some value for others. The story of POWs . . . has been told neither often enough nor well enough."

WHILE IMPRISONED at camps both in the Philippines and Japan, Haney kept secret diaries and journals in which he recorded his thoughts, feelings and the events he witnessed.

He scribbled some entries on bits of toilet paper, others on the backs of canned food labels. Some were destroyed by Haney when his captors began searching prisoners' belongings. He feared that discovery would bring punishment. Others, written during the latter part of his confinement, he managed to keep, and these form a major part of the book.

"Memory can be fallible after half a century," he admits, "but the events . . . remain so vivid as to defy egregious error."

Haney grew up in Big Beaver, Mich. (now Troy), then not much more than two gas stations (one of them run by Haney's father), a dimestore, a pool hall, school and a couple of churches.

At 16, after several clashes with his father, Ilaney left home and headed west, eventually enlisting in the Marines. He had been in the Marines not quite four years when he was captured near Corregidor. (By the way, if you're an admirer of Douglas MacArthur, don't expect to find a soulmate in Hancy.)

sions of hell - the prison camps where he would spend the remainder of the war.

The scenes and pictures recorded here are not pretty. Prisoners watch as one of their group commits suicide by jumping off a cliff one day. At another time, suffering from dysentery and the intense tropical heat, they travel from one prison camp to another, packed into narrow-gauge freight cars.

Over 17 days, they are transported from the Philippines to Japan in the airless hold of a Japanese freighter. The hold eventually becomes a kind of human cesspool where the food and water of dysentery-ridden prisoners blend with their own excrement, and the living share their tangled confinement with the dead. Throughout their imprisonment, they contend with cold, heat, illness, starvation, torture. Some are forced to dig their . own graves before they are shot.

But the ugliness is not unrelieved. Most of all, it is counterbalanced by the strength and courage of men like Hez Bussey, the Cherokee blinded by a vitamin-deficiency disease in the camps. Or the Spanlard, Angelo Manzano, a merchant marine captured when the freighter on which he worked_ was sunk in the South Pacific. Or the young lieutenant who sought to relieve the misery of the desperately-ill Haney, fanning his face and talking to him about home and St. Louis beer, as Haney faded in and out of consciousness on the nightmarish freighter crossing.

NOW AND then, one hopes for more clarification of unfamiliar words and phrases here, or the inclusion of a couple of additional basic maps or more careful editing (mostly to eliminate a surprising amount of repetition). But, ultimately, this book's strengths far exceed its flaws.

Obviously, this is a story that could have been overly dramatic, sensationalistic and tainted with self-pity. But Hancy's controlled, careful style helps to avoid such literary traps. (His feelings about the Japanese culture that nurtured his captors remain obviously wary; his bone-to-pick with MacArthur sounds a slightly shrill note now and then.)

Haney, now an almond farmer and for years a technical writer, studied English and literary criticism at the University of Oklahoma shortly after the war. He briefly taught there before moving on to California. This is his first book.

Boards recognize performance over the call of duty

By Doug Funke staff writer

A willingness to get involved beyond the normal scope of the job is what sets apart Realtors of the Year.

from their counterparts. They achieve personally but also reach out to colleagues. They're knowledgeable about real estate issues. They're active promoting the industry and professional associations.

Bill Deacon, Nancy-Howell and David N. McNabnay share those characteristics.

Deacon, a broker and part-owner of Century 21 Chalet in Westland, was selected Realtor of the Year by the Western Wayne Oakland Association of Realtors.

Howell, an associate broker and manager of ERA Home & Land in Rochester Hills, was named Realtor of the Year by the Rochester Board of Realtors.

McNabnay, broker and owner of McNabnay & Associates in Bloomfield Hills, was chosen Realtor of the Year by the South Oakland County-Board of Realtors.

DEACON, 55, has been in the business for 25 years. The Westland resident specializes in residential sales. "At this company we're oriented toward training and hiring to new people," he said. "I still do some selling. If there were a highlight of what I do, it would be training and helping other people succeed in real estate." Deacon is treasurer of his local association and serves on its executive committee, strategic planning committee and membership, committee. He's also a director for the Michigan Association of Realtors.

"He's very thorough, dedicated and involved," said Ruth Clevers, Realtor of the Year in 1990 for the Western Wayne Oakland association.

"Bill is very level-headed," said Allen King, president of the association. He thinks out problems, comes up with solutions. He's just in control."

HOWELL, 48, has specialized in. the residential market for 14 years. She lives in Rochester Hills.

Howell is currently president of the Rochester Board of Realtors and chairwoman of the Greater Rochester Chamber of Commerce. She has served in all office and committee capacities including long-range planning, education and membership.

"It sounds crazy, but it really is a pleasure," Howell said of her involvements. "It rounds out the whole job. If I just sold real estate and managed an office, it would be tedi-· ous.

"In our industry, we have to rely on one another. We work together with our co-agents," she added.

Traditionally, the president of the Rochester Board also is selected Realtor of the Year. Howell served as president and was chosen Realtor of the Year in 1986.

"Nancy doesn't just get involved. Nancy makes a difference," said Judith Waugh, executive director of the board. "Nancy assesses a situation, decides what needs to be accomplished and sets out to accomplish."

McNABNAY, 45, a Farmington Hills resident, has been active in. commercial real estate for nearly 20 years.

"Because of turmoil . | . in the commercial market, ethics and expertise are real important in the broker you select today," he said. "That's what I really try to represent with our company.'

McNabnay, second vice president of the South Oakland board, is oversight chairman of the political affairs and community/county relations committees. He serves on the executive committee, bylaws committee and is past chairman of the commercial investment division.

McNabnay also is secretary-treasurer of the state Society of Industrial and Office Realtors.

"He's unassuming, very articulate, and a highly motivated young man," said Maurice Richards, executive vice president of the South Oakland _ Board.

The Birmingham/Bloomfield Board of Realfors also has selected its Realtor of the Year but won't announce the winner until a September luncheon.

Nancy Howell

Condo rules apply to renters

We are interested in leasing a condominium. The landlord has handed us the lease, but we are wondering if there are any specific provisions that must be incorporated in the lease to comply with the condominium statute or any of the condominium documents. The landlord didn't want to retain-an-attorney. We are concerned that he may have missed out on something. I don't want to get into trouble later. Can you help?

David N. McNabnay

The condominium documents provide than any lease arrangement must contain a provision that the condominium co-owner recognizes that the lease is subject to the restrictions,-rules-and-regulations-ofthe condominium and that the proposed tenant agrees to abide by those regulations and restrictions. The lease should also acknowledge, as a practical matter, that the tenant has received a complete set of the condominium documents including any restrictions that may affect the tenant and that the tenant, fully understands the obligations to comply with the condominium documents. If these conditions are met, you will be in compliance under the condominium act and most condominium bylaws. But you should double check the condominium documents to ensure that there are no other pre-. conditions such as a right of first refusal given to the association regarding your proposed lease transaction.

Our condominium project prohibits the placing of "For Sale" signs anywhere in the condominium including-windows.-Is this an enforceable provision?

An absolute prohibition on signs any place in the condominium may -not be enforceable as it may raise reasonable constitutional issues concerning free speech or may be deemed an unreasonable burden on people being able to sell their units.

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

• The selection is excellent. • Low interest rates are available. • There are many financing options available.

Go ahead, make the move. Now is the right time to buy

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision,_ But current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- First time buyers are encouraged to purchase nowthrough financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise. investment.
- Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

SEAL STREAM PRIME TO THE SECTION STREET A CONTRACT OF Thursday, August 1, 1991 O&E:

Super job: minding the nuts, bolts

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

When buying a home from a builder - especially in the production home market, but sometimes in the custoni home market - the guy with the paperwork with isn't the guy with the hammer.

In fact, chances are the builder won't be on the construction site half the time a house is being built.

The one who does the day-to-day, nuts-and-bolts work is the construction superintendent.

He's the one who pushes the workers, supervises progress, catches and corrects mistakes and makes sure everything goes according to plan.

Darryl Patterson, president of the financial services firm of Patterson, Bryant & Associates in Troy, recently built a home at Vintage Estates in Rochester Hills and can attest to the importance of the superintendent.

"I probably spent a lot more time (at the site) than I needed to," Patterson said.

Birmingham building/development company S.R. Jacobson Development Corp. built his home, and he's very satisfied with the results. But some credit must go to the superintendent, Patterson said.

"Scott (Jacobson) is a very good guy, but Scott's not on the job site," Patterson said.

Patterson said for a person building a home, it's wise to get to know the construction superintendent and become a person to the construction superintendent and not just a faceless name.

Patterson said he feels it's important to establish a "level of trust" because he's the one most responsible for looking out for the homeowner's interests.

BRIAN YAMARINO, construction superintendent for homes built by S.R. Jacobson Vintage Estates in Rochester Hills, said it takes a special type of person to be tion," Yamarino continued. "If nothing went wrong, you a construction superintendent. -

"A superintendent is a middle-man pin cushion -you're basically a punching bag," he said. Home buyers, builders, contractors - each has its own agenda, and the construction superintendent has to answer to them

Brian Yamarino, construction superintendent for homes built by S.R. Jacobson at Vintage Estates in Rochester Hills, is responsible for all

The hours are long, the stress is incredible and the pace is hectic. Everything that needs to be done can never be accomplished in a 24-four hour period, he said.

People who fail to accept that fact, he said, generally don't last. Yamarino, a seven-year veteran of the construction game, has been a construction superintendent for two years.

"A superintendent's job has a lot to do with prevenwouldn't need the superintendent."

BEFORE ANYONE arrives, the construction superintendent likes to walk through the homes in progress, noting things that have to be taken care of, and planning

JIM RIDER/staff photographer of the homes built by his company in phase one of the project.

"A superintendent that doesn't walk around with a notebook isn't a very good superintendent," he said.

Then it's back to the trailer and more planning and scheduling for the coming week and the week after depending on what stage of building the home is in.

"That's about the time the workers start coming in." The most important thing he does, Yamarino said, is meeting with the contractors to discuss the day's work. "The number one reason things go wrong on a construction site is lack of communication."

"I have to stay on top of it - the rule of thumb don't turn your head and if you see something go wrong, act on it right away, because no matter how bad it is, it will be worse if you have to fix it later.

about this job. No matter what you do, something always goes wrong," he said. The rest of the day is filled with trying to be everywhere at once, being an extra hand wherever necessary, going over bills, and a lot of screaming and hollering at contractors. The day ends with superintendent back on the phone, calling contractors and suppliers to make sure everything runs smoothly, he said.

So why do they do it? More than anything else, being a construction superintendent gives one a sense of accomplishment.

"This was just a piece of ground - now it's a home and people are living there," Yamarino said.

DAN HOUGH, one of two construction superintendents at Stonebridge in West Bloomfield, said hectic days are a way of life for the superintendent. "Basically, what I do is be 100 percent in charge of scheduling. quality control and watching out for foul-ups."

Stonebridge is a joint venture by Nosan/Cohen Associates in West Bloomfield and the Selective Group in: Farmington Hills.

Hough, a 10-year veteran of the construction industry, said a construction superintendent is a diplomat, a gofer, a third hand when needed, the responsible party when something goes wrong and the unsung hero of the building trades — he's generally the difference between a good and bad home.

Hough said another name for a construction superintendent might be fireman.

"It's crisis management - people come to me with a fire and I run around all day putting fires out."

The superintendent's charge is to built the perfect home - which is patently impossible.

"The perfect house has never been built - and I don't think it will ever be built - but it's our job to get it as close as possible," Hough said.

EVEN THOUGH the superintendent is considered a construction job, the contractor's most used tool is the telephone, Hough said. "Keeping yourself out of trouble means keeping in constant contact."

Hough said one might think one phone call would be all that's necessary to get a contractor to the job site, but in many cases the superintendent has to make several followup calls.

"It's not that they're lazy or bad - contractors are swamped with work and they have to prioritize," he said. As in the rest of life, the squeaky wheel gets the grease, he said.

Hough said despite all the hours and all the hassles, superintendents get something out of their work that few can appreciate.

"You stand back and look at a half-million dollar home and know you've made a major accomplishment."

It's a certain thrill that those not in the building industry probably wouldn't understand, Hough said.

"When it all comes down to the end - you see people walk into a finished home and living there."

Booth lauded for role in construction liability law

By Doug Funke staff writer

William D. Booth, a lawyer and senior vice president at Plunkett & Cooney, has been fascinated with construction liabil-Ity since his first such trial 30 years ago.

That case — the collapse of a high school under construction in Saginaw - was just an appetizer for what was to come involving landmarks like the Pontiac Silverdome, Renaissance Center and Hart Plaza:

Booth, a Bloomfield resident, also was instrumental in promoting a state law limiting liability for design professionals, then successfully defending its constitutionality before the state Supreme Court.

Booth was honored recently with the William B. Somerville Award from Schinnerer Management Services, an insurance underwriter, the American Institute of Architects and the National Society of Professional Engineers.

"The award is intended to recognize dedication and commitment of individuals who promote a better understanding and enthusiasm for defense of liability claims against design professionals," said Tom Porterfield, a vice president at Schinnerer.

"There's only a very small cadre of attorneys who have taken it upon themselves to invest time and effort to become specialists in this unique law."

PROBLEMS RESULT when plaintiffs take a shotgun approach and haul everyone with a peripheral interest in a project into court, he said.

A law limiting liability for design professional to six years, shepherded through the legislature in 1967 by Booth, was badly needed, he said. An amendment in 1988 extended liability to 10 years in cases of gross negligence.

"A building that has a useful life of say 50 years, without this statute 45 years down the line, you, as an owner, can sue me as the architect," he said.

"That is difficult to insure against or protect yourself against. I have no way of insuring myself against that type of loss. That's very important."

Design professionals over the years have been dragged into lawsuits on matters outside of their direct control, Booth maintained.

A current fight is to stop proposed federal regulations that would make design professionals liable for safety on the construction scene.

"We're not against safety on the job," he said. "It's a laudable thing. We should do everything we can.

"OSHA wants to increase responsibility for safety on a project to include architects and engineers. They aren't trained in safety matters. They're rarely on a project on a daily basis. "It..., gives them exposure..., when they're not being paid for it and they don't have authority. Now, it's an employee's employer's responsibility," Booth'sald.

CONTRACT DISPUTES also can provide a steady diet of legal work.

"You don't know what's underground no matter how many borings you do. You can't see it all," he said.

Booth Initially was drawn to construction liability law three decades ago. A school collapsed as it was going up.

"I was called to help one of the partles in the lawsult. I was born and raised in Saginaw. I happened to know the architect and the young man who was killed. I ended up being the leading attorney for the design group."

The American Institute of Architects liked his work and encouraged him to stay in that line, Booth said.

"I had some engineering background. I understood the princi-

Booth since has been involved in litigation stemming from roof collapses at the Silverdome, the design of the steps at Joe Louis Arena and the fountain at Hart Plaza.

Occasionally, design professionals are responsible for problems that develop, Booth said.

"We sit down and settle those lawsuits as quickly as we can as quietly as we can." he said.

Since 1968, Booth has missed only one big seminar for law-yers who specialize in construction liability -- the Annual Meeting of Invited Attorney's - Porterfield said. That's because he was involved with a trial.

BOOTH IS THE fourth Somerville Award recipient, named for a lawyer who worked to standardize contracts in the construction industry, since it was instituted in 1983.

"We look to individuals . . . who have represented design professionals and helped them avoid liability situations," Porterfield said.

And they can get it from all directions - suppliers, the general public, owners, contractors, subcontractors, he added.

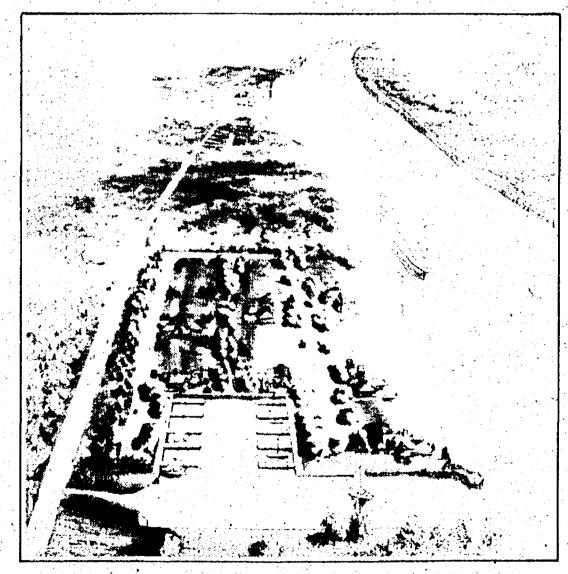

Booth, for his part, enjoys the work.

"I like the idea being connected with a project," he said. "It's kind of fun. It's interesting and intellectually challenging."

His colleagues believe that the award is well placed.

"Bill's significant accomplishments and contributions both in the field of law concerning design professionals and to the education of attorneys in the legal profession are responsible for

Rental of unsold house can trigger tax problems

(AP) — Many people with an unsold home feel that they are strapped with a financial and psychological albatross. If you're so afflicted - or worry that you may be because you plan to move soon renting the old place temporarily may be your best option.

Make no mistake: It's far from an ideal solution. When you become a landlord, you're saddled with a whole new set of record-keeping and tax problems. You'll have to screen tenants. You'll still be stuck with all the responsibilities of ownership. And there's no guarantee prices will be better next year.

But renting can be a helpful inter-Im step. Any rental income you. receive eases the cash flow nightmare of having to support two mortgages. If your expenses exceed the rent you can command, you may qualify for a tax break.

Before tackling the landlording realities of setting the rent, finding tenants and writing a lease, consider the key tax issues you'll confront.

A major concern when you rent your house is to protect your right to roll over the profit and hold off the Internal Revenue Service. If you have owned a number of houses during your homeowning career and used the rollover provision repeatedly, the combined profit from several homes could be at stake. Losing the rollover right could cost you a for-the old house within two years of the time you buy a replacement home. (You may have as long as four years if you're on active duty with the armed forces.) As long as the new home costs as much as the amount you get from the sale of the old one, the rollover rules will protect you from a tax bill.

Another potential problem is that the rollover break applies only when you move from one principal residence to another. It doesn't apply when you sell a rental property. That . means you must be able to show that converting your home is a temporary measure rather than a permanent switch. Proof that you're renting for the short term can include efforts to sell the home prior to renting it and an agreement with your tenant that allows you to show the property before the lease expires." Although you have to report rent received as taxable income, you may be able to offset most or all of the income by deducting related expenses. Qualifying expenses include rental expenses - the broker fees, management fees, ads, property taxes, mortgage interest, upkeep and the utilities that you pay.

YOU CAN ALSO deduct depreciation. Homeowners who convert their houses to rentals are often disappointed by stingy depreciation writeoffs. You write off your basis over perhaps far less -- than its current value.

Your basis is essentially what you paid for the house (not including the land) plus the cost of improvements, minus any gain you rolled over from previous homes. If your basis is $100,000, a full year's depreciation would translate to a $3,640 deduction. Although that doesn't cost you

Even if it seems like more trouble. than it's worth to figure depreciation on a temporary rental, you can't ignore it. The deduction may be small, but the law says your basis will be reduced by the amount of the allowable depreciation whether or not you claim it. That means you're going to have more taxable gain (or less taxsaving loss) when you finally sell the

WHEN TAX-DEDUCTIBLE expenses are taken into account, many instant landlords may find themselves in the red. There's no question that when expenses exceed the rent-. al income, renting your home won't hike your tax bill. The big question is whether a loss can be deducted against other income - such as your salary or income from investments : - to cut your tax bill.

There are two potential stumbling blocks between you and a loss deduction. First, the IRS says the tempo-'rary rental of a home can't produce. a tax loss. If you're treating the home as your principal residence for rollover purposes, the agency says you can deduct rental expenses up to , the amount of rental income, but no more,

But the IRS doesn't always have the last word, and on this issue a court has ruled that as long as a taxpayer was charging a fair rent; a rental loss is deductible. If you find yourself in this position, Brockman, for one, recommends that you claim the loss and take your chances on a possible IRS challenge.

But you could still lose the loss deduction to the passive loss rules. These anti-tax-shelter rules generally allow real estate losses to be deducted only against "passive" income - from other real estate investments, for example, or limited partnerships.

AN IMPORTANT exception is likely to allow you to deduct losses on the rental. A loophole in the passive loss rules lets you deduct up to $25,000 of rental losses if you are actively involved in the management of the property.

You can meet the active requirement, even if you hire a management firm to handle the property, as long as you approve tenants, set the rent and approve capital improvements. (The $25,000 allowance begins to be phased out when adjusted gross income exceeds $100,000 and disappears completely when AGI passes $150,000.)

When you sell your home for less.; than your basis, you don't have to worry about whether the rental is temporary because there will be no. capital gain to roll over-But don'f expect the federal government to let. you write off the loss. The law does not allow the deduction of a loss on a principal residence.

Although converting to rentalproperty is often promoted as a way. around that restriction, there's a catch. The basis for figuring your loss begins as the lower of the adjusted basis or the fair market value: of the house at the time of the conversion. In other words, any decline In value before you start renting the. house would not count when figuring. a tax loss.

Commercial property sellers must beware

The closing on the commercial piece of property has taken place, the seller has received the proceeds of sale, the broker has received his commission and the buyer has received the deed, to the property., Another successful deal has been put behind the broker.

Two weeks later, the buyer discov-CIS:

• In a depressed area on the property, which appears to be a natural water runoff area, the edge of a large barrel is found above ground. I best use of the land and the widest When investigated, five barrels that have the word "Toxico" painted on the side are found. They are all rusted and have been leaking their contents into the soil for years. Most of the barrels are now empty.

seller and the buyer does not choose to inspect the property, is not clear. The recent California case of Easton vs. Strassburger, citing the National Code of Ethics of Realtors; held that a residential broker did have the duty to inspect a piece of property prior to a sale. Two other jurisdictions have also adopted the line of reasoning that a residential real estate broker has the independent duty to investigate the property.

In the Easton case, the court relied on the National Association of Realtors Code of Ethics, which says in part:

The Realfor should recognize that the interests of the nation and its citizens require the highest and distribution of land ownership. They require the ... preservation of a healthful environment."

Article 9 of the ethics code states that the "Realtor . . . has an affirmative obligation to discover adverse factors that a reasonably competent and diligent investigation would disclose."

Interestingly, the court did not extend this duty to investigate to the commercial real estate broker. The court noted that the commercial purchaser is generally more astute and informed in these types of transactions than the common homeowner.

The court took it upon itself to draw the distinction between the duties of the residential and commercial broker even though the code of ethics does not. It would appear, however, that it is only a matter of time before a case is brought before the courts dealing with commercial brokers. It would not be surprising to find that the principles applied at that time to commercial brokers are similar to the rules developing in the residential broker area.

ARE THERE any precautions that a broker can take to protect against >liability?

sites. If a site is commonly known to those in the areas as a problem area. brokering a deal next door could be costly.

 Investigate the property and the surrounding area. This does not mean you must be a biological engineer. But rusting drums, oozing green liquid and malodorous vapors are all common sense signs of trouble. Bring these to the attention of the seller and recommend their investigation or disclosure. Be willing to walk away from the sale if no disclosure or investigation is made. Remember that the average cleanup cost of a site runs into millions of dollars.

• If the broker represents the buyer, the buyer should be advised to have an environmental audit performed. Regardless of whether the buyer has the audit, the broker should insist that the buyer acknowledge that no reliance will be placed on the broker as to environmental matters, and that the audit has been suggested by the broker, but specifically waived by the buyer, if that is the case.

• If the broker represents the seller, an indemnity provision could be used in both the listing agreement and offer to purchase as to all liability relating to environmental difficulties on the property. This assumes that the seller is financially solvent and available when the need for the

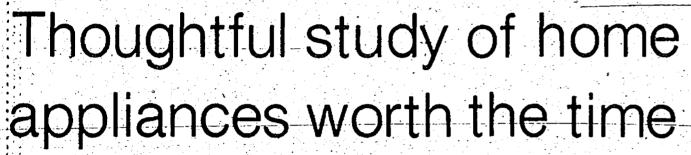

• The broker should state in the listing agreement and offer to purchase that because of the federal and state statutes in this area, both buyer and seller should consult legal counsel. The broker should also suggest that other professionals such as environmental auditors, check if : there are any environmental problems with the property.

All possible questions as to a broker's liability and certainly all of the answers are not yet known. What is clear is that if someone is damaged, there will always be the tendency to find someone to sue.

(AP)- Selecting the appropriate appliances for that new house is no easy task. Today's appliances are available in an ever-increasing selection of types, sizes and styles with price tags as far-ranging as the features, reports Better Homes and Gardens Kitchen and Bath Ideas magazine. Once appliance selections are made, consumers will probably have to live with their decisions for a decade or more. These shopping tips will help consumers make choices they can live with well into the 21st century: • Money matters. It's best to establish a realistic budget first.
