City wants alternate school plan dropped

By Darrell Clem staff writer

The Westland City Council broke Its silence on the Cooper School controversy Monday night and called on the Livonia district to drop plans for housing students in the nearby Whittier building - unless safety issues are resolved.

The seven-member council unanimously adopted a non-binding resolution uring Livonia school officials to address environmental concerns before using Whittier as an alternate site for elementary students forced out of Cooper, amid potential threats from a toxic landfill.

The sudden action came after two members of the citizens' group CHECK demanded that the council take a strong stand against the use of from Cooper. Parents remain concerned about potential health risks to children.

"I demand that this body stop procrastinating," Tim Gesinski told the council, adding later, "Shed positive light on the city. Protect our children. Do it now.

He is a member of CHECK (Concerned for the Health and Environment of our Community's Kids).

Cooper and Whittier schools are on Ann Arbor Trail, between Inkster and Middlebelt roads, in the Westland portion of the Livonia district. The council's move spurred CHECK members to also launch a letter-writing campaign urging Gov. John Engler to invoke his executive privilege powers and close Whittler.

AT MONDAY'S council meeting, Whittier, which is across the street Gesinski chastised the council for its silence on the issue and urged its members to use their "power and responsibility" to protect former Cooper students.

Gesinski and CHECK member Ron Graunstadt asked the council to force the Livonia district to scuttle plans for using Whittier, even though additional soil test results to determine the school's safety had not been completed Monday.

Members of CHECK fear that even if Whittier appears safe, students could be threatened as the Livonia district cleans up the Cooper site, where elevated levels of such hazardous chemicals as cadmium, arsenic, lead and DDT were found.

"We implore you to please put the pressure on the Livonia school system to please get our children out of there," Graunstadt sald. On Tuesday morning, however. school Superintendent Joseph Marinelli vowed that the district won't back down if the latest soil tests show Whittler is safe.

A grass-roots environmental group took a twopronged approach Monday to forcing the Livonia Public Schools to send Cooper Elementary students to another school besides Whittler.

The first part of their plan ended in success when the Westland City Council Monday unanimously urged the district to bypass Whittler and choose another school. (See accompanying story.)

hinges to a large degree on the results of a third set of test results, expected to be released tomorrow by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Livonia school district officials have repeatedly said they will not send students to Whittler if test results show the health of the children would be in danger. The schools are opposite each other on Ann Arbor Trail between Inkster Road and Middlebelt.

"If tests coming in at the end of the week show a concern for the health of the kids, we'll take action," said school board president Richard McKnight Monday. "I feel we got an accurate test result, but if not, we will re-evaluate. The kids will not then go there."

Mayor lifts water ban in wake of heavy rains

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Heavy rains eased the city's water-pressure problems and prompted Westland Mayor Robert Thomas to lift water-use restrictions Tuesday morning.

"The water restriction will be lifted for the entire city of Westland," the mayor said in a prepared statement.

The mandatory measure had forced all city residents to avoid watering their lawns during the day. Thomas announced on Monday that the ban would be lifted effective at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

However, clip officials will continue to look for a permanent solution to the water pressure problems that have plagued the city much of this summer, the mayor said.

In the meantime, Thomas said that he and Carl Clark, water and sewer superintendent, are continuing to suggest that city residents "use their best judgment as to the volume of watering they do."

Clark also told the Observer Monday that the ban will not be reinstated.

THOMAS APOLOGIZED "for any inconvenience" the water restrictions have caused for citizens wanting to sprinkle their lawns, but he added that "the welfare of the citizens comes first."

Confusion stemming from the water-use restrictions resulted in scores of city residents and businesses being warned by the Westland Police Department against violating the ban.

In recent weeks, numerous violations have been investigated, according to police department records. Many of the violations were called in by neighbors.

However, most violators were simply warned to shut off their lawn sprinklers, and Police Chlef Michael Frayer said he didn't know of any instance in which police actually issued a citation.

- Ignoring the water restrictions would be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $500.

David Wiacek, court administrator for Westland's 18th District Court, said he didn't know of any instances in which a city resident had to appear in court for a water-use viola-

New curriculum chief will work to boost test scores

By Leonard Poger editor

The Wayne-Westland school district has a new administrator to help boost students' academic scores.

Norine Blake, currently superintendent of the Lincoln School District-near Ypsflanti, was named Monday as the new associate superintendent for instruction.

Blake, 45, was confirmed by a 5-2 vote of the board of education.

The dissenting votes were cast by board president Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and trustee Fred Warmbler, who objected on the basis that they felt that the advertisement seeking applicants wasn't published nation-

SEVERAL BOARD members who met with Blake the previous week were confident that she has the skills and leadership for the position.

We need leadership that will move our school district forward," sald board treasurer Laurel Raisanen, "She will be a tremendous asset."

Board trustee Kathleen Chorbagian said she wanted a person "who would light a fire" under teachers and students and help improve academic scores.

Parents will boycott plan to put kids into Whittier

AS THEY HAVE for the past three school) board meetings, members of the group CHECK (Concerned for the Health and Environment of our Community's Kids) on Monday peppered board members with questions and with pleas to choose another school for their youngsters.

"The more you dig there, the more you find," sald one resident; referring to high levels of lead and mercury recently found in soil samples taken by the DNR near Cooper.

One resident brought to the meeting safety gear he wears in his job in a waste chemical plant, and said that most likely the district won't supply youngsters with respirators once the cleanup of the contaminated. Cooper grounds begins.

At the meeting and in a flier recently distributed in the Cooper neighborhood, CHECK urged the district to provide a bigger safety zone for the students, away from the toxic landfill and in a school such as the former Jefferson Elementary School, on Henry Ruff pear West Chicago.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE Marjorie Roach assured CHECK that the DNR would not approve a cleanup plan that is unsafe either for students or residents of the Cooper' neighborhood in Westland.

Another resident, who said she is a health care worker, urged CHECK to look at the issue more logically and less emotionally.

"Toxins are a part of our everyday life." she said. "You're (CHECK) looking for definitive answers - yes, Whittler is safe, or no, it's not safe. When you don't get definitive answers you get upset. Livonia might have been shortsighted, but they're currently working with the welfare of the kids in mind."

Security has been beeled up at Whittler to prevent problems at the school, said Art . Howell, director of operations.

CHECK members picketed outside Whittler Monday, as they did last week outside the district's administrative offices.

CHECK SPOKESMAN Ron Graunstadt sald CHECK will not picket Whittler on Sept. 3, the first day of school, if the district sends Cooper students to Whittier.

"We have nothing planned to disrupt school on the first day," Graunstadt. "Most of our parents will have to get their own klds ready for school. We want to keep the attention focused on the real issue, but not put our kids at risk."

So far, 115 Cooper students have asked to be transferred to another school besides Whittier, with 109 of that number getting official transfers, said Kent Gage, director of elementary education.

If the test results show Whittler unsafe, the district most likely will not opt for Jefferson, said Superintendent Joseph Marinelli. A lease held by the Learning Tree, a child-care center at Jefferson, expires Sept. 30.

It would take a month to get Jefferson ready as an elementary school, pushing the first date the building would be available. into November, he said.

. We would have to disperse the kids only to have them move to Jefferson," Marinelli said. "We have other options besides that,"

District urged to make sure Whittier safe

"Certainly if those (latest) tests show no problem, we obviously will continue to move toward the use of Whittier," Marinelli sald, adding that school officials would not place students there if a health threat appeared possible,

COUNCIL MEMBERS Monday stressed that they can't force the Livonia district to abandon Whittier unless the site poses a known health threat. However, council member Ben DeHart asked city attorney C. Charles Bokos to review the city's options.

Mayor Robert Thomas appeared concerned that the city could face "a large lawsuit" if it oversteps its legal boundaries.

Council pro tem Kenneth Mehl agreed. "To demand and force them (Livonia school officials) to do something - I don't think that's legal. I'm not going to sit here and tell the mayor and the building director to go out there and shut down Whittler school."

However, Mehl made a motion. supported by the full council, to adopt a resolution urging the Livonia district to resolve environmental.issues before sending students to Whittler.

CHECK MEMBERS drew strong support from council member Terri Reighard-Johnson, who said, "If I had children in that area, I would not send them to Whittier."

She said parents' request for another site should be honored by the Livonia district. "I think you are council's resolution, though he said asking something that should have he "very likely" will add his name to been done immediately, anyway." been done immediately, anyway." it. After the meeting, Mayor Thomas CHECK members halled the counrefrained from fully endorsing the cil's action.

"I'm ecstatic," Graunstadt sald. "This is something we've been looking for. I'm very happy that the council members understood what we're going through."

Schools say test results will settle issue

Following is the text of the Westland City Council's non-binding resolution and the Livonia school board's response:

"Whereas, the Westland City Council is aware of the environmental issues of Cooper Elementary School and supports the decision of the Livonia School Board to temporarily close Cooper School until such time that the school district is able to resolve the problems that have been addressed, and,

Whereas, due to the close proximity of Cooper School in relation to Whittler School, the council as well as the Livonia School District is concerned about the health, safety and welfare of the students who will be attending the school this fall,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Westland City Council recommends to the Livonia School District that they take precautionary steps to ensure that all environmental issues have been resolved prior to the students attending Whittler School this September."

Jay Young, Livonia school district spokesman, said Tuesday: "The Livonia Public Schools believe the test results expected shortly from MDNR (Michigan Department of Natural Resources) and Wayne County Health Department will resolve the environmental issue at Whittler and that the test results will confirm our own test results that Whittler is a safe alternative for Cooper students to attend this year.

"However, if these test results show a risk to the health and safety of students and staff at Whittler, the Livonia Public Schools will re-evaluate its decision and choose another site."

They offered their services free for the taping of board meetings.

The board Monday directed Superintendent Dennis O'Neill to contact the five municipalities that are part of the district to find out if they would air the board meetings on their cable systems.

The district includes most of Westland, all of Wayne and parts of Inkster, Garden City and Canton Township. Each municipality has a different company providing its cable services.

Board president Sylvia Kozorosky-

Wiacek felt that the pair's suggestion "is a great idea."

She added that several board members wondered if the board has to give permission for persons to tape board members.

Turner and Mexicotte said they have completed public access production training held by Continental Cablevision, with Mexicotte attending media classes at the school district's William Ford Vocational-Training Center.

The two are members of the Westland Public Access Producers Association.

If permitted, the taping of board sessions would be viewed on Channel 15. As proposed by Turner and Mexicotte, the board meeting would be taped with an unedited copy made available for the municipalities that make up the district. The only charge would be for copies of the tapes.

Volunteers defend handicapped

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Westland city officials moved closer Monday to a crackdown on drivers who park illegally in handicapped parking spaces.

Unauthorized vehicles using the handicapped spaces will be ticketed by civilian volunteers under a program approved unanimously Monday night by the Westland City Council.

Moreover, the fines will be dou-

City police Chief Michael Frayer, who hopes to implement the program by year's end, said it will aid the police department's efforts to catch violators.

"We have a lot of handicapped parking spaces — more than we (the police department) can control," Frayer said. "People do abuse it, and it causes hardships for those who have a legitimate reason to park in those spaces."

The city council provided $2,920 in "seed money" for the project — an amount that may be increased before the program begins. However, Frayer said the project is expected to become self-supporting once it begins.

Council member Thomas Artley voiced support Monday for eventually providing more money to get the project started.

"We certainly don't want to scrimp on it, if it's going to be effective," he said.

ABOUT 10 volunteers are expected to be involved in starting up the program and they will receive training before they patrol city streets looking for violators, Frayer said.

In another move, city attorney C. Charles Bokos said that Westland's 18th District Court is expected to begin imposing stiffer fines for drivers who park illegally in the handicapped spaces.

The city council Monday authorized increasing the fines from $25 to $50, and court administrator David Wiacek plans to recommend that district court follow through on the tougher penalties, Bokos sald.

City officials studied similar projects in other cities, such as Farmington Hills and Flint, before proposing one here.

In Flint, 45 volunteers generate about $45,600 a year in revenues from handicapped parking violations In Farmington Hills, 27 volunteers generate $30,000.

Liepa new business chief for district

To no one's surprise, Randy Liepa was promoted Monday to Wayne-Westland school district's top money man.

Serving as the number-two person in the business department and as interim director for six weeks, Llepa was approved by the school beard to be chief fiscal officer for the district, with an $87 million budget.

Llepa, 28, replaces Elwood (Woody) London, who retired June 30. Board president Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek admitted she was disappointed that the district didn't receive more applications for the position. She felt that the administration should have held a wider search for a new business manager.

"Are we getting the best for the dollar?" she questioned.

She didn't question Liepa's abilities, which were praised by other board members Monday night.

Vicki Welty, elected to the board June 10 and starting her duties July 1, complimented Liepa for helping her clarify school financing. Echoing her comments on Liepa's abilities were board members Laurel Raisanen, also a new board member, and Leonard Posey.

LIEPA WAS recommended by Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, who said he wanted someone in the position who was a combination of a "watch dog, bird dog and bull dog."

Liepa's background with an accounting firm "has not only saved the district thousands of dollars in auditing fees, but he has been a tremendous asset in our department," O'Neill said.

The superintendent added that when Liepa took over London's duties July 1, he handled the work that had previously been done by two persons.

Liepa became a certified public accountant six years ago and received his administrative certification last year.

He was a CPA with the Plant & Moran auditing firm from 1984-87, and the school district's supervisor of accounting for the past four years.

Report outlines ways to halt urban sprawl

By Tim Richard staff writer

In courthouses and town halls across the seven-county region, local officials in fall will look at a list of controversial ideas to halt urban sprawl.

The ideas include property tax base sharing, mandatory regional planning, local "impact fees" for new development, and revamped public transportation funded by a re-, ducing reliance on the property tax, gional sales tax.

"Every county commission and every local unit" will be asked to schedule the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments' presentation, said John Amberger, executive director of the 140-member, seven- ... 2. "Adopt and aggressively supcounty planning agency.

"Public participation has been delayed," said Gerald McCaffrey, SEMCOG chairman from the Macomb County Intermediate School District, until local elected officials have had their input.

"MULL THEM over," Marilynn Gosling, Oakland County commissloner who co-chaired the yearlong regional development initiative (RDI), told the SEMCOG executive committee Friday.

"It will take some time to determine who should do what," said Gosling, referring to seven broad recommendations drafted by the RDI steering committee.

"Urban sprawl" is the eating up of farms, woods and wetlands for development as population is stable, accompanied by abandonment of land and utilities in older cities.

The RDI study was prompted last year when the city council of Auburn Hills (pop. 19,000) approved plans for a 2-million-square-foot megamall. Neighboring communities saw the mega-mail as a potential economic and environmental disaster to them.

Earlier, SEMCOG released a draft of its conclusions as to why urban sprawl has occurred: racial bias, governmental subsidies to "green field" fringe development, and land use decisions based only on profits and property taxes.

THOSE CONCLUSIONS and these seven recommendations will be presented to SEMCOG's general assembly in October and to all interested of the 230 countles, citles, villages and townships in theregion afterwards:

1. Balance local resources by reincluding perhaps sharing municipal property taxes. (The state Legislature is expected to pass a school tax base sharing bill this session.) Oakland County is expected to do most of the sharing.

port anti-discrimination programs" in every local unit, with all schools implementing racial and cultural understanding programs.

3. Develop land use guidelines encouraging .compact development, protecting of farm lands, preserving of older communities and balancing of jobs and housing locations.

4. Create "a mandatory regional planning review process" for projects with multi-community impact.

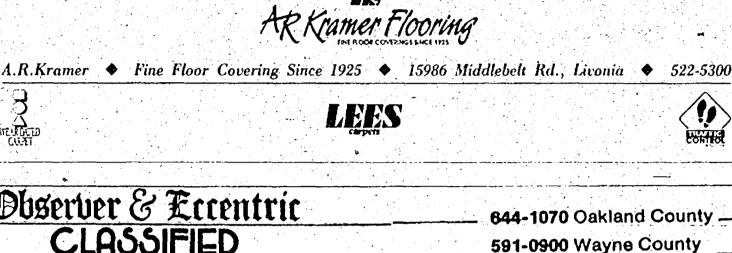

5. Adopt state laws requiring "concurrency" for new development -roads, sewer lines and public safety equipment must be in place before development begins. Local units would need state power to levy "impact fees" on developers who would "pay the true costs of additional municipal capital costs generated by the development."

6. Prioritize state and federal spending to maintain older communities with existing infrastructure.

7. Revamp regional public transportation with support of a regional sales tax in order to "link residents of older communities with the developing job markets of the suburban fringe.

SEMCOG executive committee members greeted the recommendations with little comment and few questions.

Innkeepers say new tax could be fatal to business

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Southeastern Michigan Innkeepers are waging war against a proposed 5 percent hotel/motel tax that would help build a new Tiger Stadium.

Even though the new tax would be applied to Wayne County hotels and motels only, innkeepers throughout the region fear it would deal a neardeath blow to a regional industry already suffering from abnormally low occupancy rates.

Innkeepers believe the new tax.?if enacted, would cost them the convention business they need to stay open.

"There's no doubt it would be dev- in business. astating," said Michael Wright, executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau, a group supported by area hotels.

the tax were enacted)," said David Held, president of the Hotel Associallon of Greater Detroit. "They could --either reduce their room rates or risk having convention business bypass Detroit altogether."

cupancy rate is among the lowest in the U.S., innkeepers say, below even the industry-accepted 65 percent rate needed to keep a hotel or motel

"Hotels would have two options (If

As it is, the 49 percent regional oc-

BUT IF southeastern Michigan's lodging industry is bleeding, at least some of the wounds are self inflicted.

Occupancy was higher at a time when hotel and motel rooms were once lewer.

A 1989 BDO Seldman study showed available hotel room nights - in short, rooms available - more than doubled from as recently as 1986.

Regional hotel and motel room construction boomed in metro Detroit during the build-now, worry later 1980s.

The Troy. Marlott, Livonia Com-. fort Inn and Detroit Metropolitan* Airport Mariott, Auburn Hills Hilton Sultes and Novi Hotel Baronette all opened within the past three years, adding more than 1,000 new hotel rooms combined.

Meanwhile, older hotels have cut room rates by as much as 10 percent.

It been good news for consumers. Detroit room rates rank among the lowest for large metropolitan areas. (See related story.).

It's bad news, however, for the regional lodging industry.

Loss of the Plymouth Radisson the former Hilton hotel is now rumored for reopening as a senior citi-zen apartment complex — and Troy Hilton, once one of Oakland County's premier hotels, now in bankruptcy, has sent shock wayes through the industry.

Insiders whisper as many as 14 other area hotels are in danger of closing.

The irony - not the only one assoclated with the issue - is that city and county officials are trying to preserve jobs, by keeping the Tigers downtown, while the tax could cost hotel and motel jobs.

"THE AVERAGE hotel employs about 50 people," sald Thomas Guastello; president of the newly-opened Livonia Comfort Inn and two other area hotels, "If hotels close, those jobs go."

Doubly ironic, however, is that while the hotel tax seeks to restore a downtown Detroit attraction, most new lodging industry has occurred in the suburbs.

Of the seven new hotels the convention and visitors bureau pointed to with pride at the time the BDO Seldman survey was issued, only one - the International Hotel in Greektown - was targeted for downtown. It's the only one that hasn't yet opened.

involves neither overbuilding nor retaining the Tigers. It's one of fairness.

"We are all very definitely in favor of the Tigers staying in Detroit," said John White, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, which represents about a dozen hotels and motels in two countles. "It's a big marketing tool."

What is unfair, said White, whose organization has sided with innkeepers, is that hotels would face new taxes without reaping new benefits.

"What bothers us is that we'd have no benefits from the stadium," said Ronald Shiflett, general manager of the Livonia Mariott, "People go to. the ballgame and them go home, they don't stay in hotels."

Hotel association president Held was more succinct: "What this is really about is taxing one private enterprise to support another private enterprise."

Tax on southeastern Michigan hotel and motel rooms currently runs at about 11 percent, including the 4 percent state sales tax, plus two special taxes linked to tourism development and the Cobo Convention Center.

Raising the tax further, innkeepers said, would put most Detrolt-area hotels second only to those in New York City in terms of tax rates paid.

The hotel tax is a "historic accident," said Guastello, a state legislator when the tax was approved in 1972 for a long-forgotten riverfront stadium project.

"THERE'S SOME question about whether it's even valid now," he said.

There's no question; however, in Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's mind.

The hotel/motel tax has long been part of the county's stadium financing plans,

While a final plan has yet to be announced, the hotel/motel tax, a baseball ticket surcharge, stadium rent and, possibly, a rental car tax. are all among items being considered.

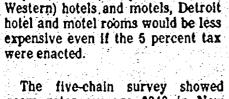

Executive staff members have said no one revenue source would alone be sufficient to pay off stadium bonds.

A cursory survey of five other mafor cities seems to indicate Detroitarea travelers are getting a break when it comes to room rates.

Detroit visitors can expect substantial savings compared with downtown room rates in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Atlanta, among citles that compete for convention business.

Based on a survey of downtown rates for Hilton, Mariott, Hyatt, Holroom rates average $248 in New York, $201 in Chlcago, $181 in San Francisco, $154 in Los Angeles and $140 in Atlanta, compared with $111 In Detroit.

Senior citizens, handicapped people will still be able to ride

SMART included action by the transit authority to drop a lawsuit filed against the regional transportation agency. The lawsuit was dropped without prejudice, meaning Nankin Transit could initiate it again without penalty.

Representatives from Nankin Transit communities complained that SMART had not given them any time to find alternative funding in giving short notice on the funding cut-off.

Utilizing 16 minibuses provided by Part of the agreement with SMART, Nankin Transit provides 9,000 rides a month for elderly and handicapped residents.

UNLIKE OTHER local transportation services operating under SMART, Plakas said Nankin Transit members provide local financial support for 56 percent of its $860,000 annual budget. The local contributions are generated through fares, municipal credits and contributions from participating communities.

"A lot of systems have no local matching funds. We aren't beggars," said Plakas. "We did it four years ago due to SMART shortfalls. Based on the census, we have an inter-local agreement for community assessments."

The agreement to continue funding and not pursue the lawsuit were the result of meetings between the Nankin Transit board members, city and township officials, as well as county and state level elected officials and SMART.

SMART had proposed taking over Nankin Transit's operation but with said. some restrictions not currently placed on the services.

Engler recall organizers set Sept. 3 deadline

By Pat Murphy staff writer

Local activists in the movement to recall Goy. John M. Engler insist moving the deadline back two weeks is a positive move that guarantees success.

"It's going to help," said Maggie Tyson of Bioomfield Township. "We're going to use that time to concentrate on the urban areas . . . and get more than enough signatures."

Organizers of the recall in Lansing Tuesday decided to extend the deadline for collecting signatures to Sept. 3 - a moved they say will help get enough signatures to make up for any that might be invalidated.

They did not release specific numbers, but estimated they have already collected nearly 600,000 signatures. Bob Alexander, director of the recall, said they want 200,000 more. Organizers need 641,141 valid signatures to put a recall proposal on the statewide ballot, something that has never been done in Michigan history.

Tyson, who was in Lansing Tuesday, said recall headquarters was a mass of confusion as organizers were overwhelmed by the last minute petitions coming in.

"There were unopened envelopes and hundreds of late petitions," Tyson said. "We might have enough signatures now. But the delay will ehable us to get even more."

SHARI ANDREE of Livonia agrees. After reading Wednesday that the effort was apparently short of the signatures needed, Andree and her husband went out of their way to find a petition to sign.

"We just don't like his (Gov. Engler's) policies," she said. "He's cutting education and other programs that help the average person. We believe he's for the rich.'

State Republicans, however, insisted Wednesday the delay is a sign the recall effort has failed.

"For three months these people have been talking about their great success," said Bryan Flood, press secretary for the Michigan Republican Party, "But when the deadline arrived, they didn't have enough. I'd say it's an abysmal failure.

"This shows that the majority of Michigan voters back the governor's policies," Flood insisted. "They spoke in November (when they elected Engler) and they're speaking now.

Dorothy Habicht, a recall coordinator from the city of Wayne, said she is not discouraged by the decision to move the deadline back.

"But I think we would have had more than enough signatures by now if the media had done a better job of explaining that this recall is about," said Habicht. "The media made it sound like the major complaint was about welfare cuts. But it's much broader than that."

SC scholarship created in memory of Marie McGee

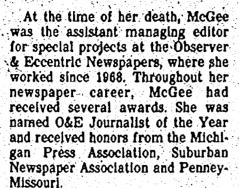

The Schoolcraft College Foundation has established the Marie McGee Scholarship Endowment in memory of journalist and Livonia activist Marie McGee.

A member of the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Advisory Committee, McGee died in May 1990. Her endowment will be used to fund scholarships for returning adult women to Schoolcraft.

S'craft offers speakers bureau

Schoolcraft College faculty and , staff, as well as interested community residents, have volunteered their time to form a college-community speakers bureau.

Speakers have expertise in a wide range of subjects which may be offered as a lecture; discussion or slide presentation. In addition, speakers are available on specific college programs and major educational issues. The service is free to area groups and organizations.

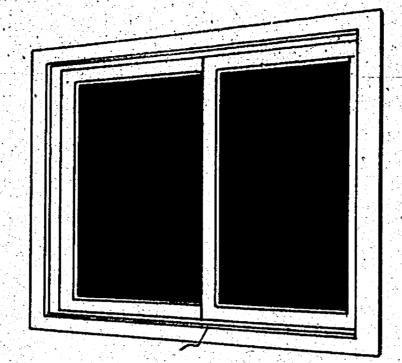

Active in Livonia elvic affairs, she was a devout patron of the arts, serving as a member of the Livonia Arts Commission and assisting in the promotion of the Greenmead Historical Village art shows, concerts and Heritage Fair. Put school board on cable-TV

WAYNE-Westland school board

If a recommendation made to the board and administration Monday is approved and eventually implemented, it would give taxpayers a better view of how the board operates.

Frankly, board meetings on cable won't set any records in viewership or force couples to decide between the Monday night football game or the board of education sessions.

The meetings should be on cable for the simple reason that they give local residents - adults, students and employees — a first-hand view of the debates on major issues which affect those different segments of the school community.

WHILE THERE are some technical hurdles to clear, they are certainly not insurmountable. With five separate cable systems serving different geographical sections of the school district, a group of volunteers for one system can tape the should have its meetings available to board meetings and make copies for the other cable-TV subscribers.

While residents will get an education from. viewing board meetings on TV, which hopefully will be a reality in the near future, they shouldn't assume that everyone they see and everything they hear represents 100 percent of the input on an issue.

Before the election of three new board members June 10 changing political alignments, meetings were short (usually 30 to 45 minutes long) with little discussion or debate.

Since the replacement of three board members this summer, there has been more debate and challenges to administrative recommendations.

While televised board meetings may not be as entertaining as "Wheel of Fortune," they are certainly more important to the future of local students.

Eloise Hospital memories are shared

12A(W)

RECENT reunion of former Wayne County General Hospital employees showed that a piece of suburban history was lost when the facility was closed seven years ago. Like the current controversy on whether Tiger Stadium should be replaced, the hospital, which had a peak of 1,500 employees and 8,000 patients, represented a symbol of history and tradition for area residents, patients and employees.

The name "Eloise" was long known as a oneword description of the facility built more than 150 years ago for mentally ill patients. In reality, it was a long-term care hospital for both medical and mental patients.

eral hospital around the corner.

The general hospital was familiar to most drivers in the Merriman-Palmer area as a place where they went for major emergency treatment, flu shots or visiting patients.

But as one former employee commented at a reunion of his co-workers, the county hospital was "set up to fail," since it was the hospital of last resort for patients with little or no income and no health insurance.

With about half of the patients being indigent, it was no surprise that the hospital was losing big bucks — $18 million a year — before it was sold to four private hospitals.

Fear keeps suburban residents out of city

FEAR IS a devastating monster. Consider a recent poll conducted by Schoolcraft College students. It reveals suburbanites are more frightened than ever at the thought of traveling into the city of Detroit.

The polling questions probed the effect of the widely publicized beating of two suburban women following the Freedom Festival fireworks. The beatings, recorded on videotape, made national headlines.

A whopping 63.9 percent of the 400 persons surveyed said they were less likely to visit the city because of the Freedom Festival incidents. More than 70 percent believed that police protection in Detroit is less than adequate.

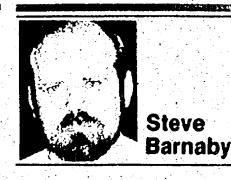

An indication of the depth of fear is that more than 78.5 percent of those questioned admitted that the city of Detroit has attractions unegualed in the suburbs. Nevertheless, they stay away.

A whopping 63.9 percent of the 400 persons surveyed said they were less likely to visit the city because of the Freedom Festival incidents. More than 70 percent believed that police protection in Detroit is less than adequate.

For decades, those who could af. ford the fare, have bought a ticket on the white-flight express, confident in the knowledge that they were making a down payment on a piece of the American dream.

But as reality has closed in the dream is revealed to be a little more than tarnished. A once familiar city whose streets we walked, whose facilities we enjoyed, and in which we invested millions of dollars has been allowed to disintegrate into what most would perceive as a haven for crime.

Certainly, the windy city has its flaws, every urban area does. But the leadership of metropolitan Chicago continues to support its core. The people follow that lead. And it shows in both the amenities offered by downtown-Chicago-and the-attltude which emanates from those who live and do business in that агеа

Tuition cap Controls won't hold rates low

OUSE SPEAKER Lewis Dodak and some Democratic leaders were seeking publicity and sending a message - we hope — with their price control proposal for college tuitions.

Their idea is to seek a constitutional amendment limiting annual tuition and fee increases at state universities to the rate of consumer price inflation. Voters would have to approve.

If their goal is to rattle the cages of university boards, which this summer have jacked up fall rates 6.5 to 20.4 percent, fine.

BUT IF TUITION caps are intended as serious public policy, the plan shows economic, historical and political illiteracy about price controls. Consider:

• Tuition hikes would be limited to the consumer price index (CPI). But the CPI is irrelevant to colleges, which use a higher education price index (HEPI). Colleges don't shop at the same grocery stores as families.

• Price controls don't work. They didn't work for the fourth century Roman Emperor Diocletian. Price controls didn't work for 70 years in the Soviet Union, resulting in a notorious black market. Price controls were the object of mirth in World War II and the subject of evasion when President Nixon tried them in 1971.

• If imposed, tuition caps would prompt universities to pare costs by offering fewer laboratory courses and more textbook-only courses. The quantity and quality of higher education would be diluted.

BESIDES, THERE already are better tultion control mechanisms that all skilled politicians know about.

First, the governor appoints members of 10 university boards, Former Gov. James Blanchard could have used his power in the mid-1980s to boot out Oakland University trustees who voted for tuition rates he considered too high. Instead, he reappointed them.

Second, state party conventions nominate candidates for the three largest university boards. If tuition hikes are so serious a problem, both parties' delegates could use tuition caps as a "litmus test" on candidates for the University of Michigan, Michigan State and Wayne State boards. So far, they haven't even tried.

Third, parents and grandparents who have enrolled young children in the Michigan Education Trust, a pre-paid college tuition plan, should have a vested interest in keeping tuitions low. As voters, they have enough numbers to decide university board races, which in Michigan are typically tight. As political activists, they could have even more clout.

THERE'S NO chance in the world that a twothirds majority of both chambers of the Legislature will put Dodak's proposal on the 1992 ballot. The speaker would waste his debt-plagued party's scarce resources by trying a petition drive.

The best - perhaps only - chance of holding down tuition rates is through political leadership. Candidates and parents should make tuition caps an issue at the 1992 Democratic and Republican state conventions, persuading one party or both to nominate candidates who will pledge to hold down tuitions as much as is feasible,

To the editor:

For several evenings this summer I've watched a series of horror shows starring the Wayne-Westland Board of Education.

The evening begins with "Cats" starring Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and Kathleen Chorbagian, two petty, vindictive women who make Linda Evans and Joan Collins look like saints.

Then it's "Expose" with Laurel Raisanen who can't string two coherent sentences together without reading from a prepared script and who obviously understands neither her questions nor the answers she is given. Her latest "hard-hitting" revelation was that the electric bill for a large school building is higher than one for a small school building.

On to "The Price is Wrong" with Fred Warmbier who just can't un-derstand that quality education does come with a price tag. Next we have "Laugh-In." It is laughable that, two weeks before school begins, the school board hasn't yet hired an associate superintendent for instruction and planning, someone with the vision and ability to get the school district back to the business of educating our children. It's like Chrysler's board of directors forgetting they make cars. And then there's "All My children." But it's not about children; it's about politics and hidden agendas.

Finally, it's "Monday Night Football" starring the two rival factions trying to out score each other. The problem is, they're using our children as the football.

A COLLEAGUE and I were recently exchanging views on the mutual admiration we share for Detroit's sister city on the Great Lakes, Chicago. The envy oozed from our every word.

tial hoteliers, I was shocked to hear them all readily surrender to the idea that "Detroit is no Chicago," that we never will be able to create the same kind of business in this town

And we never will if we continue to abandon what we have built.

Now is the time to slay the monsler called fear and take control of the valuable resource which pumps economic prosperity into this region. Steve Barnaby is the managing editor of the 12 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

These shows are more horrifying than anything I've ever seen on television.

Maybe we need a new show, "Save Our Children . . . From the School Board." Because if we don't change this lineup, in a couple of seasons, the six hours a day, five days a week of programming produced by Wayne-Westland Community Schools and sponsored by the taxpayers, will be cancelled.

Get off the stage, ladies and gentlemen. You're not stars here for our entertainment and we're not your audience. Stop wasting time and taxpayers' money with your petty fights, regressive policies, and endless requests for trivial information. You're an embarrassment to yourselves and this community,

You are elected officials who are here to work as a team with the administration, the teachers, the parents and the citizens, to assure that our students have a quality education that will take them into the 21st century.

Abortions destroy lives

To the editor:

Abortion is the very total destruction of a live, human unborn, baby! How can anyone agree, that it can be a "personal choice" . . . though an erroneous law permits if.

The advocates of abortion are not fond of having the public educated about what happens in the abortion chambers, simply because they know deep in their hearts, that no one would agree to it, except to save the life of the mother . . . if they truly knew the facts here.

They find this most intimidating.

Furthermore, those in the abortion business would be out of business.

Lives open to snooping eyes

REMEMBER THAT Florida couple? The man and woman who got a bit ..., uh ..., carried away on the Bathroom floor of his condo? In front of some blinds that were partially open? About 10 feet away from the common swimming pool?

It's the case that newspapers have dubbed "Sex, blinds and videotape." Some neighbors claimed that the couple could be clearly seen having sex inside the condo by children gathered around the pool. One helpful neighbor grabbed a video camera and taped the action, shooting through the blinds.

After the local sheriff looked at the tape, the couple was arrested. and charged with lewd and lascivious conduct in front of a child - a felony punishable by up to 15 years in prison.

WELL, THE local gendarmes dropped that charge, but the couple still face three disorderly conduct charges - second-degree misdemeanors with maximum sentences of 60 days in jail and a $500 fine. They are accused of taking a "partially" nude swim in the condo pool a arrested for in the first place. And week before the videotape incident, of having sex in a hot tub hours after the incident and of entering a bar restroom the following night "with the intent of engaging in sex."

So what are their crimes against society? The prosecutor summed it up: "These people were just conducting themselves in a manner where they were just being obnoxious to the people around them, if you will. If there was a law against being a jerk in public, then this charge would define It."

Last time I checked there was no such law, but that hasn't stopped the prosecutor. The couple is fighting the charges, which they say have nothing to do with what they were they say the videotaping through the blinds was an invasion of their priva-

But this is 1991. Big Brother is alive and well.

FARTHER NORTH, in St. Paul, Minn., the Court of Appeals has reversed a lower court ruling, in which a jury found a woman guilty of violating a Minneapolis ordinance requiring that homes be kept in a "clean and sanitary" condition.

The charges were brought after a complaint was filed in 1989 and the woman's home was inspected by a representative of the Minneapolis Health Department. The inspector testified that five plastic garbage bags and a barrel on the back porch; clothing on a back yard clothesline, boxes stacked against a wall, used plastic pop bottles and other items found at the home constituted unclean and unsanitary conditions.

A jury found her guilty and a judge sentenced her to 35 days in jail or a $700 fine. The appeals courtfound that the ordinance was "vague and discretionary" as applied in this particular case, but not on the face of it.

So if you are a messy housekeeper and you live in Minneapolis, you'd better make good use of the vacuum and the duster. Cleanliness is not just next to Godliness. It's the law.

AND BACK DOWN South, in Canton, Miss., a Jackson woman whose child was born dead has been charged with manslaughter because she allegedly used cocaine during her pregnancy. The charge carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The assistant district attorney prosecuting the case says a conviction could set a national precedent. The woman's attorney says her client's privacy was invaded.

"It is part of what we see as a trend nationally of the government trying to be involved in the private lives of pregnant women," she said, Yep, Big Brother is out there. And he's probably watching YOU. Jack Gladden is a copy editor

"I DON'T CARE who makes the laws," my hero Alexander Hamilton once said, "as long as I can administer them.

'Everything else' is budget target

That visionary founding father and first Treasury secretary was a practical politician who made a point still valid today: Lawmakers can pass a ton of thoughtful legislation; but unless your administrators have the energy and resources to do the job, the laws are a waste of time and paper.

That's particularly true in modern Michigan, where our safety regulations are being shredded.

THINK OF MICHIGAN'S budget as an apple ple with three roughly equal pieces:

1. Social services - it's driven not by the Legislature but by the high divorce and soaring illegitimate birth rates. To Democrats, it's a source of votes, hence sacred. Even Goy. John Engler doesn't want to cut aid to families with dependent children.

2. Education - Democratic Gov. Jim Blanchard Increased school and college aid. Republican Engler has made it such a sacred cow that even Democrats don't try to cut it in a recession.

3. Everything else - prisons, courts, state police, attorney general, labor regulations, business regulation, natural resources, public health, mental health, and so on.

Some parts of "everything else," such as prisons and courts, are leaping skyward faster than income and population growth.

BUT THE REGULATORY side of government has been butchered, and It will get worse.

Engler and the GOP have visions of a $1 billion school property tax cut. The money would come from "everything else."

Schools are suing the state for categorical aid, and communities are suing for court support. If (when) they win, the money would come from "everything else."

That third piece of pie was squeezed by Blanchard in the 1980s. Engler is squashing it in the '90s.

LET'S PLAY "connect the dots," the kids' coloring book game, to see the big picture:

• Michigan's bridges and highways are being pulverized because we have the heaviest weight limits in the U.S. - 159,000 pounds for an 11axle truck. Last week the University of Michigan reported some are carrying 230,000 pounds. Truckers in anonymous interviews say it pays to violate the law as long as they are caught only one time in 10.

• Michigan has seen an explosive growth of proprietary trade schools and an equally explosive growth in the minority that are financially shaky, incompetent and dishonest. But we've seen no explosive growth in the number of state regulators (three)

 Zippa-dee-day, we have a new "Polluters Pay" law - with little new in the way of natural resources regulators to make polluters pay.

• The attorney general's office, enforcer of laws for many state agencies, has taken a serious budget cut. And as for getting the AG to en-force the Open Meetings Act against sneaky Jocal governments, that stopped 10 years ago.

Connecting the dots, one can see Michigan looking like a 1964 Corvair - unsafe at any speed.

Catholic Central teacher Sunday Mass, dinner to honor 50-year priest

The 50th anniversary of the or-dination of the Rey. H. Norbert Clemens, a Basilian priest at Catholic Central High School, will be commemorated at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 25, in St. Genevieve's Church in Livonia.

Friends and alumni are invited to join the Basilian Fathers of CC and Clemens as he offers a Mass of thanksgiving. Immediately following will be a reception in St. Gene-vieve's Activities Building. The reception will conclude at 5:30 p.m.

An evening dinner reception will be held for invited guests.

"Father Clemens is well-remembered by more than 9,000 students who have benefited from his teaching and good example in academics, in religion and in school spirit," said the Rev. Richard Elmer, CC's director of development and alumni.

"He has the prayers and best wishes of the entire Catholic Central family for continued health and happiness."

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Clemens graduated from Assumption High School in Windsor, Ontario. He entered the Religious Congregation of St. Basil in 1933. graduating from Assumption College in 1937.

For 43 years Clemens has taught English and theology at CC. He has also directed first-rate drama productions and moderated school organizations, including the senior class and the Mothers' Club.

Currently chaplain of OC's athletic department, Clemens also has taught at St. Thomas High School in Houston, Texas, and at Assumption High School. From 1985-1968, he served the Basilians' Mexican Missions, supervising the construction of and directing El Centro Cultural, a school to foster native Mexican vocations to the priesthood and religious life.

Among those paying tribute Sunday to Clemens will be the Rev.

John Gallagher, superior general of the Basilian order; Thomas Brennan, president of Cooley Law School and former Michigan Supreme Court Justice; Judge James Ryan of the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals; and Robert Santello, CC athletic director.

"Fifty years a priest; that kind of single-minded commitment to vows and to the work of making men out of boys is uncommon,' said Ryan, who as a CC student acted in plays directed by Clemens. "And in this instance, it is in a priest who has devoted 43 years of his 50 years of priesthood to shaping and molding the moral values of young men at the same school.

"His style of bringing adolescents to a mature appreciation of developing for themselves a set of moral standards is unique in that he is blessed with the ability to capture the attention and the loyalty of male adolescents and to focus their attention on subjects that tend to bore young people, by which I mean shaping a personal code of conduct. That is a great skill.

"He teaches kids to love themselves and their Creator, and to respect one another," added Ryan, whose two sons also were taught by Clemens. "He is teaching the same personal moral code in 1991 that he taught in 1941. To sell. young adolescents on the idea of commitment to that kind of a personal moral code takes enormous teaching genius, but he has found a way to appeal to teenaged boys decade after decade, imparting the same fundamental message which is his credo as a Basilian: Teach me goodness, discipline and knowledge."

Brennan agreed, adding that Clemens "married me and my wife, Polly, as well as my son Tom and his wife. Father Clemens has probably married more people

Tuomi banking on wins

Thursday, August 22, 1991 O.S.

By Brad Emons staff writer

Coach Dennis Tuomi has taken the Lutheran High Westland football program from its infant stages and through a maturation process during the past five years.

The growing pains have nearly stopped as the Class C Warriors embark on the 1991 with their biggest and perhaps strongest squad.

"This is the most talent we've had, but not as far as speed," Tuomi said. "We're so slow again, but we hope our experience helps. We hope to improve one game this year."

Lutheran Westland went 5-4 a year ago after going 3-5 in 1989.

Lost to graduation were linebacker Ben Maton and running back Dave Gielow.

Despite the losses, Tuomi has his largest squad ever with 49 players.

Lutheran Westland returns 14 seniors, including starting quarterback Jason Ziellnski, a 5-foot-10, 163pound senior.

"Jason has to have a good year for us," said the Lutheran-High-coach.-"He certainly has a strong enough arm."

TUOMI WILL USE a two-back set out of his flexible-slot offense.

Quarterback Jason Zielinski points the Lutheran High Westland offense in the right direction

Seltz (5-7½, 155) and senior fullback Jason Leimbach (5-10, 168).

Grams had a knack for coming up with the big play last year from his flanker spot. "He gets away from people and catches the ball," Tuomi said. The ends will be senior Ken Bro-

The ends will be senior Ken Broderdorf (6-1, 152) and junior Pat Schaefer (6-1, 155).

The offensive line, which should benefit from an off-season weight lifting program for the first time, features three big tackles in seniors Jamie Hardy 6-1, -278), John Castle (6-2, 264) and Kurt Skov (6-5, 252).

The center will be Casey Cooley, a 5-11, 174-pound senior. The guards will be senior Jon Henzi (5-6, 175) and sophomore Troy Smith (6-0, 165), who played as a freshman. "We want to be a ball control team." Tuomi said. LUTHERAN WESTLAND will rely on a 5-2 defensive look with variations.

Most of the Warriors will play both ways.

Hardy, Skov and Castle will play inside with the defensive end starters "up in the air," according to Tuomi.

The linebackers will be Smith and Cooley, while the secondary is led by Grams, Zielinski and cousins Reter (5-9, 142) and Paul Seltz.

The kicking game features Zielinski (punter), Cooley and Henzi.

"Practice has been fun," Tuomi sald. "It's a fun group to coach because of the way they treat each other. They're a close-knit team. The seniors help the underclassmen. They pray for each other and their families." JIM JAGDFELD/staff photographer

Lakes title up for grabs?

By Brad Emons staff writer

Is the hoop scoop for 1991 much the same as 1990?

Defending Western Lakes Activities Plymouth Salem, which traveled all the way to the state Class A semifinals last year, should enjoy another strong season despite the loss of All-Area forward Sarah Ruete and starting forward Yolanda Jackson (transferred to Willow Run).

Coach Fred Thomann will have a strong inside post game, led by 6footers Darcie Miller and Emily Giuliani.

Chief competition should come from neighborhood rival Plymouth Canton, a young team on the rise led by junior center Stephanie Gray.

Salem's WLAA-Lakes Division quest, however, will be challenged by Livonia Stevenson and Westland John Glenn.

Stevenson, which reached the Class A district final last year at Northville, will try and improve on last year's 5-5 divisional and 12-8 overall mark.

The team's top scorer, three-year starter Teresa Sarno, a 5-10 senior who averaged 12 points and eight rebounds per game, spearheads a talented returning group along with 5-10 junior Karen Groulx (8 ppg), and junior guards Lori Shingledecker and Gina Renko.

"THOUGH WE ONLY have one camp at Aquinas (College) and should contend for the league title this year."

Glenn, coming off an 8-13 season, is led by the trio of guard Carrie Rachwall, center Cathy Mruk and guard Karen Olack — all three-year starters.

With 6-1 Nikki Wojcik developing in the post, the Rockets could blast off in '91.

On the Western side of the WLAA, Northville will be the team to beat, led by Stacey Nyland and Karen Pump.

Livonia Franklin, led by Miss Basketball candidate Dawn Warner, could also be back in the hunt despite the loss of three valuable starters to graduation, including forward Julianne Stesiak, the team's second leading scorer.

The Patriots will have an outstanding backcourt, led by Warner, a four-year starter, and Patty Shea, a three-year starter.

Warner enjoyed an outstanding summer, averaging 1 points per game in the Girls 16-and-under National AU tournament. She was also voted MVP of the Michigan All-State camp.

Matt Grams, a 5-10%, 151-pound and sophomore troy Sm senior, moves over from flanker to who played as a freshma running back. The rest of the starting backfield consists of senior Paul team," Tuomi said.

Retirement time?

Lally backers vow return to ring

T WAS MORE than apparent what was happening when I walked in late Saturday night to a packed Malarkey's Pub on Wayne Road in Westland.

This was boxer Brett Lally's favorite hangout, but patrons immediately wore concerned looks for their favorite son. HBO was beaming loud and clear on the TV monitors, maybe too vivid and real for Lally's friends and fans to face.

Admittedly, my heart sank when the Westland native was decked by World Boxing Council Super-Welterweight champ Terry Norris, the man who put Sugar Ray Leonard into retirement. The knockdown occurred only 14 to 15 seconds into the fight.

"This couldn't be happening," I said to myself.

The rest is well documented.

The John Glenn High graduate went down two more times before the bout was stopped at 2:40 of the first round at the San Diego Sports Arena. The HBO graphic said Norris threw 39 punches and landed 25 for 64 percent, compared to Lally's six of 33 (18 percent).

Cable announcers George Foreman and Larry Merchant immediately began speculating about Norris' next opponent.

"There's nobody left in this division (154 pounds) for him to fight," Merchant chirped.

"There's that bald-headed guy still out there," said Foreman, rubbing his head. "You know, the actor over there in Italy. Maybe he'll come back for another big pay day."

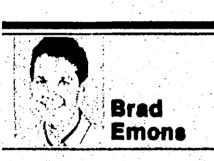

WHETHER NORRIS puts Marvin Hagler into permanent retirement, or moves up to meet James "Lights Qut" Topey or Michael "Second to" Nunn, is purely fight speculation.

The big question is whether Lallý, a journeyman fighter with a 29-6 record, had his last big pay day (reportedly $100,000).

After losses to Donald Curry, and now Norris, maybe it would be wise for the 28-year-old Lally to contemplate retirement.

He has 45 days (the mandatory suspension period after a knockdown) to weigh his future.

"Brett's not quilling, he's going to start over and take it as a lesson," was a real learning experience, just like the Curry fight (another early knockout).

"Brett should have stayed down after the first (Norris) knockdown, used up the count and gathered himself. Brett was just too excited and wanted to take the guy's head off."

Lally won the North American Boxing Federation's junior middleweight crown earlier this year by boring down on his opponent and scoring inside. That brawling style, however, went out the window against Norris, a fighter with speed, punching power and accuracy.

AS THE PATRONS from Malarkey's jumped out of their seats with excitement when Lally won the prefight stare-down, it was later revealed that he may have lost the bout earlier in the day during the weigh-in.

Norris, normally low-key, started spouling off and Lally took offense. The two got face-to-face and even buited heads. There was even a disagreement about what type of gloves should be used.

"Brett lost his temper and let his Nobody fight plan go out the window," said striking o brother Bradd, his manager and sets 6-0, 6 trainer. "Brett was as shocked as nal greep.

anybody. It shocked us when he (Norris) got cocky. They were both at the same hotel all week and kept running into each other. They almost got into it at a restaurant. The promoters should have somehow kept them separated."

Bradd said his brother was never more ready for a fight, even right up to the opening beli. He had trained for four weeks at 7,000-feet elevation at Big Bear Mountain in California. He had received favorable press from the papers in Los Angeles and San Diego.

The small ring was even to Lally's liking.

"That's his game, he likes to rumble," Bradd said.

Lally, however, may have got caught up in the emotion of it all. He led with his head instead of bobbing and weaving it.

"BRETT WAS all offense and no defense," Bradd said. "The darndest thing is that nobody has seen him at his best. It's a shame."

The question remains: Is Lally at his best good enough to beat a Norris or a Curry?

Maybe not, but knowing Lally, he won't end his career this way.

Up next could be San Francisco native Pat Lawlor for the NABF crown Lally vacated.

"He has a broken eardrum, but the only thing hurting him is his pride," Bradd said. "He's hurting more pyschologically."

Nobody likes ending the game by striking out, getting beat in straight sets 6-0, 6-0, or three-pulling the final green.

The Buffalo Bills' Scott Norwood didn't hang it up after he missed the all-important game-winning field goal in last year's Super Bowl.

Isiah Thomas didn't sulk when he threw that errant pass in the NBA playoffs. He came back and won two titles.

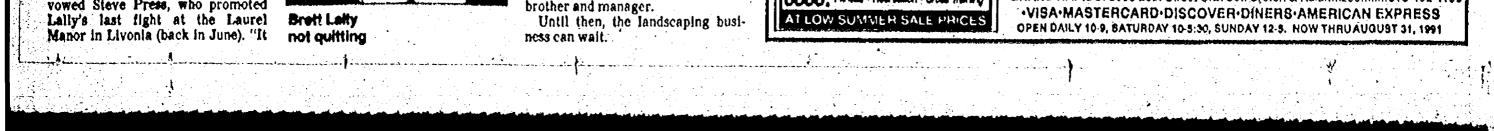

Even the great Terry Norris has been beaten three times in his boxing career.

And the (ans at Malarkey's should not give up on their favorite son so fast.

But the next time could be the last time, Bradd Lally admits.

"Breit got separated from his faculties and if he gets hurt one more time like that, we're done," said

Riverside skater has Midas touch

By Brad Emona staff writer

Rod Jellse knows a World Champlon when he sees one.

The artistic roller skating coach from Redford should know, having been a world champion himself in 1957 and coached several others.

His latest prodigy is 14-year-old Jeff Anglulli of Canton, who recently returned from the U.S. Amateur Confederatin of Roller Skating Compelitions in Philadelphia, Pa., with gold medals in three events, including Freshman Boys Figures, Advanced Men's Loops and Freshman Team Dance (with three-year partner Sarah Kemp of Northville).

"I've seen a lot of people comeand go," said Jellse, who coaches Angiulli at the Riverside Arena in Livonia. "But what makes Jeff unique is. that he has superior concentration and reacts under pressure. He could go to the top. He has the ability, although he's a way from that right now."

Angiulli, who began competitive skating as a 7-year-old, first qualified for national competitions in 1986 and has since won nine gold and four silver medals.

"HE (ANGIULLI) has done a phenomenal job in the low divisions from Juvenvile to Elementary to Freshman - he's moved his way up," Jellse said.

Despite having one more year remaining as a Freshman, Angiulli plans to jump next year into the Juniors with hopes of finishing in the top two. By placing in the top two at next year's nationals, the incoming freshman at Salem High would earn a spot in the 1993 U.S. Olympic Sports Festival.

"Jeff's at the turning point of his -career," said Jellse, whose son Shawn won the Juniors a year ago. "It's very possible that he could be in rollerskating LOGAL MEDAL WINNERS U.S. AMATEUR CONFEDERATION OF ROLLER SKATING COMPETITIONS -Aug. 3-10 in Philadelphils, Pa. Loops.

At 5 feet, 7½ inches and only 106 pounds, Angiulli is a slender, angular figure at the rink.

Right now it's more coordination than strength," Jellse said, "It's more accuracy than strength, but now we're going to try and develop him physically."

Anguilli, an honor roll student, is not afraid of putting in long hours.

In preparation for the Philadelphia competition, he trained seven days per week, six to 10 hours per day.

"Ron can be a good friend and he's pretty calm most of the time," Anguilli said. "He's most intense during the nationals. If he doesn't get mad at you, you wouldn't try as hard."

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Jeff Angiulli of Canton Township came back home with three gold medals from the national artistic roller skaling championships.

ANGIULLI'S FAMILY is committed, as well, to Jeff's ultimate goal of being a world champ and traveling to compete in Europe.

Linda, Jeff's mother, estimates the total costs for practice time, lessons, equipment and costumes run anywhere from $10,000 to $12,000 per year.

"It's not much of a financial change for us until you become world class when some of your expenses are covered," she said. "But it's been worth it."

Jeff's goals are to follow the paths of World Champs Justin Bates (of Flint) and Tony St. Jaques.

"He's a perfectionist and quite coachable," Jellse said. "He's the type of person many champs are made of. He's his own worst critic. When he doesn't skate well he's not so happy. When he's done something wrong and comes off he already knows what it is."

Angiulli is taking a month off from his roller skaling, trying to be a mainstream teenager.

"I like to hang out with my friends," he said. "They're into soccer and football, but they understand it (roller skating) now more than they used to be."

And bringing three gold medals home doesn't hurt his cause.

"It's tough trying to do everything well," Anguilli said. "I'm happy I won all three because I hadn't done it before. It was rewarding because I worked hard all year."

Marshall back at tackle

By C.J. Alsak staff writer

Changing positions prior to your senior year does not bode well for a college football player. Alex Marshall knows this.

Still, the Redford Bishop Borgess graduate did not argue, either when he was initially moved from outside linebacker to defensive line midway through the 1990 season, or when the switch was made permanent during University of Michigan's spring drills.

Nor did Marshall ever consider forsaking this, his redshirt year, at U-M. "I had planned on being back" for my fifth year," he said. "That was never a question."

The only question was, where would he be on the football field?

Marshall's career as a Wolverine has been in reverse since 1988, his first year of eligibility. He had a stellar start; indeed, he started 11 of 12 games at outside linebacker that season, collecting three quar-

AS A SOPHOMORE (in eligibility), Marshall led U-M in tackles for loss (11), tied for the team lead in fumble recoveries (two) and was second in sacks (siz). But he was fifth that season in total tackles, and going into the '90 campaign his consistency was openly questioned by Wolverine coaches.

He played 11 games last year, but his tackle total slipped from 63in '89 to 26. And he registered just one sack.

Midway through last season, Marshall - who had been bothered by injuries early in the year moved to defensive tackle. "We had some injuries (at defensive tackle), and I was the next logical choice," he said, "Early in the year, I wasn't healthy, and when I came back I wasn't playing."

college sports

Neil Simpson and Martin Davis were entrenched at outside linebacker, so Marshall went along with the move. He played well enough at tackle to get into four games, and during drills last spring he emerged as one of the six players defensive line coach Tom Reed will shuttle into the three positions:

MARSHALL DOWNPLAYS his changing roles, "Positions aren't that important," he said: "I knew the defense thoroughly before r moved. When you know something, it's not a big deal. I just want to terback sacks and seven tackles ter appay. It isn't not liking one position loss. or another. I want to play the game." \

Reed contradicted Marshall's views. "It's not easy (switching positions)," the Wolverine line coach sald. "But he's a veteran, he's been around, he's started before. Those things should help him."

The reason, Reed insisted, Marshall was moved was twofold. "I think Alex can maximize his potential better at defensive tackle than at outside linebacker," he said. "It's like Tripp Welborne (Michigan's now-graduated All-American). He came in as a wide receiver, and he probably would have been a good one, but he was a bet"Alex is the same way."

SO WAS the switch made for Marshall's benefit? "It was a move of necessity last year," Reed admitted. "This year, it's a little bit of both."

It's true, Reed sald, the defensive line remains "an area of concern." Marshall could help eradicate the worries, if he can . . . "Be consistent," said Marshall, Reed agreed. "That's it;" he said. "He has to be more consistent. It's not complicated. He's a little older, 'so maturity should help."

Marshall's weight was a bit of a problem when he played lineback. er. It won't be now; he's 6-foot-4, 260 pounds.

Perhaps he's grown to like his new position. Only time will tell.

U-M NOTES: Marshall isn't the only one needing to upgrade his consistency. Erik Knuth, entering his junior year of eligibility, will also see plenty of playing time for the Wolverines at noseguard.

The 6-1, 253-pound Redford Catholic Central grad (from Plymouth) is small for his position, which makes survival tough. Still, Reed believes Knuth could be a factor for U-M.

"Erik's in the same position (as Alex)," Reed said. "He's been here four years, now he's got to develop consistency and maturity, and not have the highs and lows.

"He's not big, not fast. He has to be technique-sound. And he must be aggressive."

Knuth played in four games last season and was expected to be among the contenders to replace now-graduated T.J. Osmun at the noseguard spot. However, a neck injury sidelined Knuth for spring drills and put him behind in his battle for a starting position.

All-Star verdict

Nationals stop Americans in finale

Arlana Ponlatowski's two-run homer keyed a four-run third inning that helped the Nationals win the Commercial Carpet Corporation Softball League all-star game Sunday, 9-7 over the Americans at Central Field in Plymouth.

Krista Miller was the winning pitcher, tossing a complete-game five-hitter. She struck out nine and walked 10 in seven innings.

The teams emerged from the first, inning deadlocked at 3-3, but the Nationals were ahead to stay after the third-inning rally.

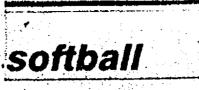

Mary Jo Kelly was the starting. and losing pitcher for the Americans. She gave up three hits, seven. zula, Mary Jo, Kelly, Amy Yocum walks and eight runs in four innings and was replaced by Karen Seremet, who allowed a run and three hits.

Julie Nicastri had an RBI single and later stole home in the National first inning. Beth Bislo added an RBI double. The Americans ralled in the bottom half with Amy Yocum's tworun double and Becca Bloch's runproducing groundout.

RENEE DORY added an RBI single in the third for the Nationals, who got single runs in the fourth and fifth innings. Tina Schafer drove in a run, and Bislo tripled and scored the last run on an error.

The Americans came back with two-run innings in the fourth and sixth. Erin Kelly had an RBI double and Mary Jo Kelly a solo homer. Ann Zazula hit a triple and scored on Bloch's sacrifice fly.

Bisio had two hits and scored three runs for the winners. Erin Kelly had two hits and Block two RBI for the Americans.

Trying times Spinners work their way back

By Slewarl Francke special writer

F IT was the Seventles, and it was soul, and it was a hit, it was most likely the Spinners. Though the Detroit-born R&B group has never received the praise that is routinely addressed to the Temptations, the Four Tops or the Commodores, the Spinners, with their classic call and response vocal style and remarkable string of hit singles, have perhaps the greatest ability to express joy simply and directly in song.

AND THOUGH they haven't had a hit yet in this decade, original member Henry Fambrough feels that the chance of it happening is not remote. "If anybody can have a hit," Fam-brough stresses, "the Spinners can. Musicality is coming back around again. We managed to have a hit inevery decade but this one, so we're trying for that now too."

Fambrough first began singing with fellow Spinners Bobble Smith, Pervis Jackson, Billy Henderson and Philippe Wynne in Ferndale in the late Fiftles. John Edwards replaced Wynne as the principal lead singer and front man in the late Seventies.

Initially managed by the renowned producer Harvey Fuqua, the Spinners were signed to Motown for much of the Sixtles. Though they scored a hit with "It's a Shame" while still at Motown, the group didn't fully hit their stride until they moved to Atlantic Records and began working with Thom Bell, one of the architects of the "Philly sound." "WE LEFT Motown in 1971." Fambrough recalls. "We just didn't have the concentration on the Spinners sound that we would need to get us over the hump. So we got lost in the shuffle. When Thom Bell came to Detroit to interview us, he said as he left, 'By the way, next year at this time you're going to be the number one group.' We said, 'Yea sure.'

But with unstoppable hits such as "Working My Way Back To You," "Rubberband Man" and "Cupld," the Spinners eventually earned 12 gold records and six Grammy nominations.

The key to their success is their smooth, gentle vocal harmonies, and the quality of the material that Bell either wrote or selected for them. "Spinners," their first LP, contained four classic singles that are still heard regularly today ,- "I'll Be Around," "Could It Be I'm Fallin' In Love," "One of a Kind" and "How Could I Let You Get Away?"

THEIR NEXT LP, "Mighty Love," solidified the group's tight professionalism. It also established a focal point that continues in their tremendous live performances today; each member alternates singing lead, creating an arresting and graceful counterpoint.

"We spend about 75 percent of our time on the road today," said Fambrough, who sings baritone when not taking his lead turn. "We do a lot of private functions - IBM, General Motors — as well as clubs and state fairs."

When-not-touring,-Fambrough,who is also a gourmet cook, lives in Troy. "Moving to Troy," he explains, "is not something that I planned. In fact, I had just bought a condominium in Detroit.

their clear approach.

"We do like being together, but it's a business together. We made a pact in the early days that we were going to slick with it and we just stuck together. Now, business is very good for us."

Talk about bad timing.

A press release announcing a business trade mission to the Soviet Union in October was postmarked Aug. 16, just days before Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev was ousted in an apparent coup.

But local sponsors are optimistic that the 10-day trip to Moscow and Minsk can still come off as scheduled.

"As of now it's a go, but we probably won't know until the middle of September," sald Eugene Pyatenko, an international lawyer with the Detroit firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, a tour sponsor.

"PEOPLE WHO have signed up called and said, 'What are we going to do?' I said, 'Sit back and walt. Take it one day at a time," " Pyatenko reported.

'Two other metro area firms --Deloitte & Touche and Travel Key/ U.S. Exchange - are sponsors.

"We're getting people and telling them to hold firm," said Robert Everett, president of Travel Key, "We're still a month and a half away. A lot can happen in a month and a half."

Service key to longevity, say auto dealers

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Fifty years of selling cars. Think about what's happened in 50 years: World War II ended, the atomic bomb was created, the Berlin Wall has been built and destroyed. Heck, man has walked on the moon. Sure, the Chicago Cubs haven't won a World Series, but that's still a lot of water under the bridge.

And yet, three area Ford dealers have achieved the status of being around for 50 years. As defined by Ford, to qualify as a 50-year dealer, the business must have remained within 50 miles of its original location and stayed within the same famíly.

Bill Brown Ford in Livonia and North Brothers Ford in Westland both mark their 50th anniversary this year; Stark Hickey in the old Redford area of Detroit, actually its 65th year as an automotive dealer. But Stark Hickey is no longer owned by the original family. Longtime general manager Clarence Kruse purchased the firm three years ago.

Jim North, president of North Brothers Ford notes that how an auto dealership is run has changed greatly over the years. Auto dealers have expanded their focus from selling new cars to being complex multiservice businesses. They've had to adapt to changing regulatory climate, increased their technical abilities, and automobiles and customers have changed a great deal.

were awarded their first Ford franchise.

Then, his father and uncle owned the business, the greatest emphasis was on selling new cars. Today, more and more emphasis is placed on the service department which has become a coequal with new car sales.

"Cars have become so highly specialized - they're an engineer's nightmare," he said. Special tools, special training and special equipment are needed just to diagnose some problems.

North admits that even he, an automobile dealership owner, is often baffled by the technology in automobiles. "I haven't the foggiest idea" (when he looks under the hood) what it's all about.

"It's a big part of the business, and it's not getting any easier," North said. "But if I want to stay in business, I have to keep up."

ED BROWN, president of Bill Brown Ford In Livonia, said the future of auto dealers is in service and commitment to the community.

"Because we do business in the community we are committed to its economic success," he said. Brown notes Bill Brown Ford's involvement to the Livonia Heart Drive, the torch fund and the chamber of commerce as examples of how automobile dealers increase their commitments within a community.

A natural outgrowth of this commitment to the community, is a comthe needs of its customers, Gunnigle make customers more comfortable with working for the dealer. "People

"The product we're dealing with is much more complex, and that makes the business that much more complex," he said.

Today's automotive dealership, North said, is five separate businesses: new car sales, used car sales, service department, parts department and collision shop.

"All of these are operated separately out in the community they're stand-alone businesses if so desired," North said. "It's our job to keep them all running smoothly."

Things were much different when his father and uncle Ray and Earnest North opened their first dealership — a Plymouth dealership — in Lincoln Park. Five years later, they mitment to the customer, he said. As the demand for high quality service grows, auto dealers will have to respond.

"Bill Brown Ford is here to service the community - not just Livonia, but all western Wayne," general manager Bob Gunnigle said.

When a person is awarded a Ford franchise, it is incumbent on them to do more than sell cars, he explained. "This is the community that is helping you to succeed — we have to make sure people are happy with (their cars)."

The dealership recently undertook an extensive expansion that doubles the size of its service department to improve the dealer's ability to meet said.

Oil changes, lube jobs, - those services that can be done quickly have been separated from the more extensive repair and maintenance jobs so they can be handled more quickly, Gunnigle said.

The service is break-even at best. In fact, it even costs the dealership more to have a trained service tech do the lube and maintenance and safety check than is charged the customer, he said. "He is specially trained to look for abnormalities to point out things that may not be going right with the car."

The philosophy is designed to to better management procedures aimed at taking care of the customer, he said. "They must become transportation specialists - not just sales.

"We have to get back to more per-sonal service - kind of like running a small garage or dealership in a small town," Gunnigle said. "People like the feeling they get from personal service - like when the guy who wrote up the original order (to purchase the car) is the guy you see when you come back for service."

CLARENCE KRUSE, president of Stark Hickey, said the secret of longevity for any dealer is customer service and consistency.

Hickey to one of his customers in a frame on the wall that begins with the simple phrase: "It was a privilege to sell you your new Ford. . . .'

"I think that's important to remember," Kruse said. Selling an automobile begins as a transaction, but it should go beyond that.

"People have been able to rely on the dealership," he said. Consistency of ownership is a big part of that.

"They know who they're dealing with, and they can be confident they'll know who they'll be dealing with in the future," Kruse said. "The most common heard complaint after a sale is 'Nobody knows me anymore.'"

What the good auto dealers have three years ago, Kruse said.

Hickey's sales and service staff has been with the company for more than a decade - some have been with the company far longer.

Kruse said he has always believed that promotion from within is the best philosophy because that adds to the consistency of service that people demand today.

This is all a continuation of what began when Stark Hickey opened the original dealership 65 years ago on the corner of Grand River and Maplewood That philosophy continued when Stark Hickey's son Bill took over the business and it will continue since he bought the business

Jake's breaks 'never on Sunday' tradition

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

In a break with retail tradition, Jacobson's department stores will open on Sundays beginning Sept. 8, the first Sunday after Labor Day.

Sunday hours will be noon to 5 p.m. and will affect stores in Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Dearborn, Grosse Pointe, Livonia and Rochester Hills. Jacobson's Clearance Center in Troy has been open Sundays since the store premiered in November 1989.

'All of our stores in the Midwest - 14 of them - will be affected," said James Batterson, vice prestdent, sales promotion for the Jackson-based retailer.

"The primary reason to go forward is that we've been hearing more requests from our customers to do this for a long time. So many people are in the workplace now." Schedules are busy. Business has gravitated toward the weekend. We try to accommodate customer interest."

Jacobson's tested the waters last holiday season, opening Sundays be-tween Thanksgiving and Christmas for the first time in the 123-year history of the company.

"Last holiday season was difficult to evaluate because of the difficult economic conditions," Batterson said. "We feel the Sunday openings did have some positive effect."

Batterson claims store employees are in favor of opening Sunday.

"All are confident it's going to result in increased business. Their earning opportunity increases. The type of scheduling we do, will make it easily accommodated."

the sales floor on Sundays.

"Customers will receive the same level of service as always," said Batterson.

The Jacobson's store in the Columbus City Center in Columbus, Ohio, has been open Sundays since April, Surveys and market research of the company's Florida operation have not been completed. No final decision has been made yet for that market.

The Sunday opening is intended as a permanent change, not a triat run, Batterson added.

"How much it will improve sales is difficult to say," he said. "We're making sure we're prepared to see that extra business with advertising and inventory above normal levels."

Green, of Howard Green & Associates in Troy, says Sunday shopping has become an inevitable trend.

"It's an extraordinary phenomenon," Green said. "The last holdouts are the auto dealerships and they too will have to change. Supermarkets are open 24 hours a day. This is the way we live. Consequently retail has to conform to what consumers want been a longtime evolving phenomein order to compete."

"The only thing that would persuade me to open Sundays is a promotion in town that would bring people downtown."

As chairman of the downtown merchants committee, DeLaura says special promotions like Night on the Town and Winterfest attract enough pedestrian traffic to make it worthwhlle for independent shopkeepers to open their doors on Sunday.

"It's difficult to gauge, but I don't 😴 see where their spillover will help us," said DeLaura. "(Jacobson's) has its two parking lots on either side of the store. I don't think it will create more traffic for us."

A simple playground game, perhaps, but the basketball action behind Livonia Bentley is hardly idle dribbling.

The pounding of a leather ball against the asphalt beats a rhythmic pulse to the proceedings as young men scramble about for an open space. In the background are a torrent of cuss words born out of frustration with every missed shot or errant pass.

As the afternoon sun burns an orange hue, young men congregate at the lenced in courts every day around 6 p.m. Players come from as far as Detroit to join in. Most are in their teens, some in their '20s and '30s. Often the pickup games will last into the night, furiously contested until the last shot falls through the metal rim.

More than a game, this is a proving ground.

It gets boring playing in your own neighborhood all the time," said Drew Hayward, 15, of Livonia, who is with his brother B.G. "It's better to be good in front of 18 guys than a just a couple.'

In contrast to the frantic pace, there is an orderly succession. Games run to 11 points, a basket counts for one.

NO REFEREES are present. Fouls are only called when the most flagrant offenses are committed. Disputes are simply mediated by letting the two plaintiffs "shoot for it."

Teams are five-a-side, sometimes assembled by friends, sometimes not. A player waiting for a turn says he "has next game." A person then has to ask, "Can I run with you?"

The game is also about contrasts.

Glen Szeman of Livonia stands out in the crowd of players. His 6-feet, 9-inch frame has a lot to do with that. Nearby, Jason Miastkowski of Livonia looks a bit out of place amid towering foes. He's only 5-8.

On this day, they share the court with eight others. They also have a few remnants on their bodies of the physical nature of the playground game.

Szeman bears two rather deep scratches on the right side of his face. "That's how I lost my tooth, too," he said, explaining the gap in his smile.

A basketball standout at Livonia Stevenson High School, Szeman attended junior college in Indiana before transferring to Henry Ford Community College. He's been coming to Bentley for five years since his family moved from Saginaw. The playground is different from the hardwood courts of college. Looking over the group of players, Szeman believes many could have played collegiate basketball.

"Some of them couldn't play in college because of grades, or they're just older and they're out of school," he said.

SCHOOL IS why Miastkowski is scrapping against guys much taller on this day. He'll enter his first year of high school and plans to try out for the junior varsity basketball team. A thick scab on his knee is part of the entrance yzam.

Miastkowski doesn't look intimidated, wearing a New York Yankees cap backwards and challenging defenders one on one.

In one situation, he gets double-teamed. A teammate shouts "You got help," but Miastkowski sends a fall-away jumper that finds the mark.

"You have to have somewhat of a cocky attitude," said Miastkowski later, after playing six consecutive games. "You get knock around a little in the hole."

"They treat me good. It's a lift for me, If I'm not playing 100 percent, they to play up my confidence.'

Dear Lorene

This is a very interesting column that you have in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. I would expect that you would get a great response from people needing their handwriting analyzed.

I am looking forward to hearing from you.

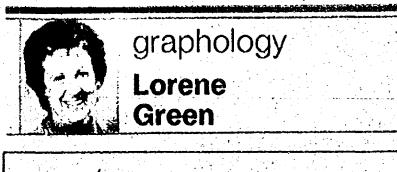

J.C.; Van Buren Township

As I study today's handwriting I am reminded of a fitting little poem learned long ago: "People who deal in sunshine are the ones who draw crowds. They always do more bustness than those who peddle clouds."

The upslope to this young lady's T bars and lines of handwriting tell us she approaches life and living through rose colored glasses. Her personal-goals-are viewed with optimism and positive thinking. A practical quality is also here to keep her feet on terra firma.

At the time this letter was written something was causing her to feel a bit down, but I strongly suspect it was only a temporary condition.

A mind that is both keen and creative can be discerned in this handwriting. Her inner need to climb the ladder of success is aided by her thinking.

She worships tradition and derives inner strength from a traditional background. Good breeding, a graceful manner and language facility characterize her behavior.

A sense of responsibility and strong attachment to family and loved ones can be gleaned from her handwriting. She is willing to make sacrifices for them and may also be a tad possessive.

Our writer is ambitious to attain success in whatever she does. Leadership qualities, good organization, pride and hard work are important traits which contribute to her success.

She has a variety of interests and an active imagination. Music stirs her deeply and a natural art talentseems to be hers.

She is people oriented with an outgoing, cheerful and generous nature. Unselfishly, she works for the underdog and/or defenseless. At times, she appears to be a little less friendly than at other times. This behavior might have her peers wondering where they stand with her.

There are two things she may also wish to consider, First is her tendency to perceive criticism where none is intended. Second is her indecisiveness in certain areas.

Trip helps teens put faith into action

By Julie Brown staff writer

EENAGERS AT Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton-know-that-youngpeople don't just think about themselves.

Members of the church's Senlor -High Youth Group recently returned from a mission trip to West Virginia. The 16 students and four adults did construction and repair work through the Almost Heaven Habitat for Humanity program in Circleville, W.Va.

"I thought it was a rewarding experience being able to help the people," said Autumn Bunch, 16, a Canton resident and senior at Plymouth Salem High School. "They needed the help and we had the opportunity to help them."

Those thoughts were echoed by Mark Colburn, 16, a junior at Plymouth Canton High School.

rience," sald Colburn, a Plymouth firsthand, Township resident. "It was a lot of fun, but it was quite a shock. You just take all of that for granted, don't even think about It."

VOLUNTEERS FROM Geneva left Sunday, Aug. 4, traveling in three vans borrowed from the congregation. They worked Monday through Friday of that week and headed home Saturday, Aug. 10.

Participants stayed in a local church, Conditions weren't quite what the students were accustomed to at home; there were no showers, so the volunteers bathed in a nearby creek.

"I think it was a great opportunity to get out of our sheltered suburban lives," said Carrie VanderWeele, 17, a Canton resident and freshman at Grand Valley State University. Group members not only saw a standard of living different from their Church members had heard about young people from other congregations going on such mission_trips, said Pam VanderWeele of Canton, youth coordinator at Geneva.

Adults at Geneva have participated in Habitat for Humanity projects in Detroit and have supported the organization financially. This was the first time feenagers from the church went on such an out-of-state mission trip.

"THE KIDS in our church decided that was what they wanted to do this summer," Pam VanderWeele sald. Prior to leaving, they raised more than $2,000 to support the trip, holding a car wash, bake sale and other fund-raising activities.

Circleville, W.Va., is in Pendleton County, a sparsely populated, low-income area.

"We worked on a number of different projects," said Jim DeLong of Canton, a youth elder at Geneva who went on the trip.

One group tore a tar paper roof off a house and put on a new tin roof. They worked on that the entire week and almost finished, said DeLong, owner of Ancor Inc. in Madison Heights.

Another group put an addition on a trailer, walling in a porch with windows and doors. The addition will eventually have a roof put on.

Others worked on construction of a building to house Habitat for Humanity volunteers, laying cement blocking and working on the plumbing.

Some did painting or helped to put up aluminum siding. Extensive knowledge of construction techniques isn't required for Habitat for Humanity volunteers.

Projects are done on an equal-opportunity basis, with girls and women doing their fair share. "One of our girls was on the pickax for parts of

THE ORGANIZATION'S volunteers build and repair homes for needy people. The emphasis is on self-reliance, with recipients expected to contribute financially or through their own labor.

"It was really great to watch all their faces turn from frowns when we got there to smiles when we got the project done," said Melissa De-Long, 14, a Canton resident and sophomore at Salem. She and others appreciated the warm welcome they received in West Virginia.

The man who runs the affiliate lives right there, Jim DeLong said, and that's helped to increase acceptance of the program among local people.

Each day, group members went right to work following morning devotions. They worked with volunteers from other parts of the country.

"I think it was a growth experience for a lot of people," said John Mincher, 16, a junior at Canton and a Plymouth Township resident. His dad is a floor contractor, so he'd learned some things about construction from him.

Personality type: It influences outlook on life

This is the season for "back to" school."

As students return to campuses, we reflect upon the various types of students who enter schools and take instructions.

In a book that contains the maxims and aphorisms of the wise men of centuries ago, we see depicted before our eyes four categories of students: the sponge, the funnel, the strainer and the sleve.

The sponge absorbs everything and retains it all; the funnel merely serves as a passageway receiving all and retaining nothing. The strainer rejects the wine, retaining only the dregs; and the sieve expels the dust but retains the flour.

This is an analogy that holds true in many areas of life and characterizes different types of personalities. There is one type of person who, like the sponge, would absorb everything and retain it.

Thanks to limitations of the senses and the structure of memory, this is, of course, not possible. And for good reason! If we remembered every face we encountered, every word spoken, every incident transpired, we would be living in a nightmare of shadows.

IF WE KEPT everything we owned, we would truly possess nothing. Think of the housewife who refuses to part with old utensils. Think of the man who cannot relinquish a broken tool or a shabby garment.

Life to these people is an attic of useless trash. To some extent, life would be unbearable if we did not subject our emotions to a periodic housecleaning. We ought not to nurture every grievance, to hold fast every joy, to be dejected by every hurt.

There are other people who assume the respect of a funnel to their attitude to life. They choose nothing, they retain nothing, they ignore everything. They gaze upon the panorama of life like bored spectators. Their motto is: "So what!"

Nothing in life is worth the fuss and bother. They are immune to life's pain and joy: blind to its beauty, deaf to its poetry, and unconcerned about its problems. They simply do not care enough to become involved in the concerns of this world.

There is a third type of personality who exemplifies an evil far greater than the funnel. We refer to the strainer which rejects the wine and retains the dregs. There are some people who are seemingly capable only of absorbing the corrupt, the rotten, the impure. This is the person who has eyes only for the evil in life, and is blind to the good.

IN ALL AGES and societies, there are embittered, hate-ridden souls who walk through life searching for victims upon whom they project the venom of their hostility: the bigots, the hate-mongers, the twisted and distorted people who bring pain in their wake.

Who among us has not seen the person who goes out of his way to inflict hurt on others, who enjoys others' suffering, who delights in cruelty? This is the strainer type of person who expels the wine and retains the dregs of life.

The highest moral attainment is symbolized by the sieve which rejects the chaff and retains the noble and nurturing qualities of life.

The Carnegie Hero Foundation was established some years ago to recognize and award heroic human deeds. In 40 years, it distributed 10,000 awards for heroic acts. The world contains many of the sleve type of person who separates a bit of heaven out of earthly dross.

Such a person discovers the wonder of life in all that he does. He finds life's blessing in the eyes of a beloved friend, in the smile of a cherished child, in the engrossing aspects of one's life-work, in the glories of service.

These, then, are four types of people. Before you start assigning your various acquaintances into these respective categories, take a closer look at yourself - the four types are all contained within you.

You can be a sponge, absorbing everything and learning little; or a funnel, choosing nothing and ignoring everything. You can be a strainer, retaining evil and losing the good; or you can be a sleve, rejecting life's corruption and refining its raw materials by idealism, dedication and sincerity.

The answer lies within us.

Americana

History, crafts converging at Greenmead

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

From the crafters to the crowds, it's a festival of fun for the family.

For the fourth year in a row, the Livonia Historical Commission will host the Americana Craft Show Saturday-Sunday, Aug. 24-25, at Greenmead Historical Village, Newburgh and Eight Mile, Livonia.

Another world awaits at Greenmead, one from the 1800s. White clapboard houses, a Methodist church and a Quaker meeting house, an old-time general store and a train super will whisk you back in time, while standing articl ine villages.

104-acres of historic buildings. "It (Greenmead) has an atmosphere all its own," sald Sue Danlel, commission chairwoman.

Again as last year, there will be four categories of crafts in the 60-exhibiter show: wood crafts, country crafts, Victorian crafts and textiles. "We have more fabric, more textile crafts than we had last year," Daniel said.

Wood crafts and stuffed bunnies, clowns and humpty-dumpty dolls bring the Banchoff and Masek family to the village show. Lorainne Banchoff, along with daughters Diane and Carol and son-in-law Mike Masek, will share booth 56 again tors year

SINCE 1965 the family day turbed and wood, sewed and stuffed dolls, a love for completing the handmade works drawing them ever closer.

"We take a lot of pride in our work. All the wood is nailed or screwed together. It's not just glued," said Diane Banchoff of Plymouth. "We make each item different rather than mass production."

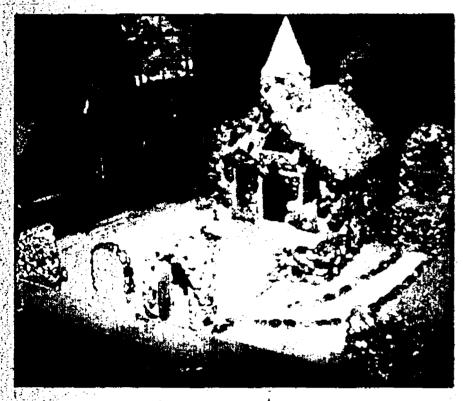

The wood itself is different, too. It's bought in the Northern Michigan town of Gladwin, where dead trees are planed and processed by the Amish. "The wood, pine or oak, is always cut from dead trees," Banchoff said.

VISIT to the Garden City Historical Museum is a charming journey into yesteryear in the fullest sense of the word. Housed in a genuine old log structure complete with original restroom facilities, the museum's operation is decidedly precomputer. The family takes pride in their work, perfection is stressed, ingrained in the woodwork of Lorainne and daughters by husband and father Peter Banchoff, who died in January after a 10year struggle with lung cancer. This is the first year, he will not be in the show at Greenmead. The legacy of taking pride in your work lives on through his wife and daughters.

'My father was always woodworking. He bullt every house we ever lived in," Banchoff said. "Hetaught us perfection, to take something apart and fuss with it until it's right."

LORAINNE BANCHOFF, having learned the art of cutting and routing wood as her husband did, will feature cradles, benches, magazine racks and shelves made from pine and oak in the show,

The beauty of natural wood grain in a child-size ocking horse belies its strength. "It can hold 200 pounds," said Mike Masek of Livonia.

The rocking horse is a joint effort of Mike and Carol (Banchoff) Masek. Carol cuts out the wood during the day while working her full-time job asmother to toddler Lindsay, 21 months old, and at new baby just 10 weeks old.

I come down to the workshop when they nap," Carol Masek said. "It takes about three hours to cut out and assemble the horse."

Carol and Mike enjoy woodworking. They are proud of their craftsmanship and enjoy the sense of accomplishment they receive in return.

"It's nice to have someone purchase your work, to hear someone say how nice it is, how well crafted," Mike Masek said.

The prices for the Banchoff-Masek crafts range from $10 to $40.

'We try to keep the prices reasonable," Diane Banchoff said. "With the cost of wood, screws, stuffing and other materials, we really don't make that much for our labor."

FROM 1.4 P.M. on show days, there will be tours of Greenmead's buildings. Tours are $2 for adults, $1 for seniors, free for children. Proceeds go to the restoration of Greenmead,

"The Simmons/Hill house will not be open on Safurday, but will be open Sunday for tours," Daniel said. Newburg School, built in 1861, consisted of one classroom and a cloakroom. "Last fall, we re-opened up the school. We've had classes out there to spend the day,".Danlel said-"Our project this year is the (1913) bungalow. Work should begin late August or early September, We open the bungalow in spring."

Once again this year, the craft show features food and refreshments at an old-time store, the A.J. Geer General Store built around the turn of the century.

GREENMEAD SITS on 104 of the original 160 acres decded to Joshua Simmons by President John Quincy Adams on April 2, 1825, for the sum of $225.

Joshua and wife, Hannah left their New York home in 1826 bound for the wilderness of the Township of Livonia where "wild beasts were abundant and the only roads were Indian trails and new paths laid out by the settlers and marked with blazed trees."

The village is divided into two time periods. The west end contains homesteads from the 1850s; the east end is a recreation of the corner of Newburgh Road and Ann Arbor Trail as it appeared during the early 1900s.

Americana Craft Show hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day There's no admission charge and parking is plentiful. Greenmead's entrance is on Newburgh.

History comes alive here

She worked in a room set aside at Maplewood until the early 1980s, when the museum moved into the log structure, which had once been a pub and then a gas station.

"We're inexperienced," said Betty Smith, a Garden City native and current chair of the historical commission, referring to the museum's collection of artifacts, items that have previously been donated or loaned for use.

BECAUSE OF a perpetually small operating budget, $4,300 this fiscal year, there has never been money enough to buy items. Commissioners readily accept gifts, including a collection of turnof the century farming tools loaned many years. ago by a local farmer.

Alas, the tool display is now pitifully void. The . farmer recently reclaimed his tools afterbecoming embrolled in a dispute over a water bill with the city manager.

Bancroft was manning the museum on the afternoon the farmer arrived to collect them. "He kept saying he didn't really want to take them back, but he'd already threatened to do it."

Smith responds: "Now we know we're not supposed to take things on loan. Only on donation."

Smith's favorite donation: a miniature church of rock. "People ask me what this dumb thing is doing here. To me, things like this are Interesting."

The miniature represents a moment of time in 1957, crafted in prison by Lester Ellerhorst after he shot Garden City mayor James Tierney during a meeting of the city's planning commission.

"JOBS TO be Done in the Museum," a carefully prepared list of 28 items, is tacked to a door for easy review. Item one, attending to flower beds in front of the log building, is complete and checked off.

Betty's name is marked next to item six, cleaning and waxing the floor. In fact, the floor looks spotless. Vera is attending to item 19, buying posterboard for a mobile display.

Betty and Vera attended to item 20, moving the desk under the telephone and rearranging the furniture to make room for one large file cabinet. Item 16 is the purchase of such a cabinet.

John Niemi has completed items 27 and 28, inserting locks on four showcases and painting a display case. Niemi was tapped as a volunteer after a visit to the museum earlier this year. Now, 1540.

Betty credits him with "doing most of the work around here."

Another hopeful is newcomer Lee Sleep, a former writer who has promised a spate of publicity in an effort to drum up more volunteers.

Partially because of a dearth of volunteer effort, the museum is open only one afternoon a week and on special occasions like family reunions in the park.

Smith's ultimate goal: "I'd like to see this be a place someone could come and visit."

THE OLD school desk, shiny with new varnish, nudges next to'a grinding stone weathered with age. To one side is the chair used from 1932 to 1964 by Garden City's first postmaster, Glen Donner. A washing machine and portable laundry tub are next, followed by a mangle topped with typewriters of various vintage.

Across the way is a King cream separator donated by Joe Del Frato, Indian arrowheads found by Edmund Wolfe on his Warren Road farm and a face-trimmed sunbonnet and caplet donated. by Calla Helka.

Old registration records indicate that in 1919, there were 13 registered female voters, three with the last name of Lathers, the founding family of what is now Garden City. In 1919, voters were registered by sex. The list for men is momentarily missing.

There are displays of toys, bottles, shoes and Jewelry. There are badges, including those worn by Arthur Nagle, the first police chief, and Thomas Ross, the first president after the village became a city in 1933. There is a burial flag, pastel Depression-era glass, high school yearbooks, military garb from both world wars and photos from days gone by.

VERA DONATED a swatch of intricately embroidered fabric, a piece that had been her mothers. "I like museums. I like history. But I don't like all that stuff in my house."

The gathered items reflect Americana, a shared heritage from Garden City over the past century. Of equal importance, the museum reflects perhaps the finest quality of that heritage - a shared effort meant for the good of all.

The Garden City Historical Museum is open 1-4 p.m. Wednesdays, 200 Log Cabin, in City Park, off Cherry Hill, between Merriman and Middlebelt. For more information, call 421-

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent. In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.* And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:: FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric^{*}. By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper. the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers? Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

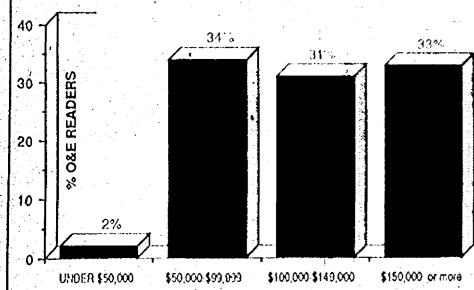

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

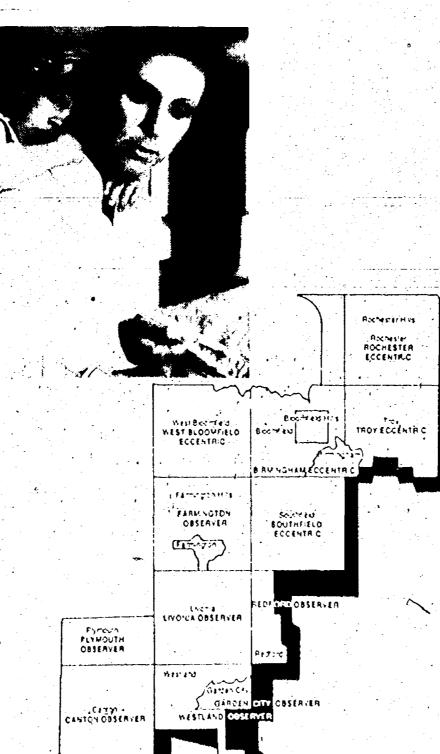

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

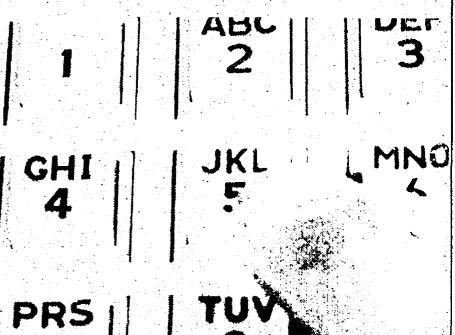

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else. That's us.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE,*' a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.....

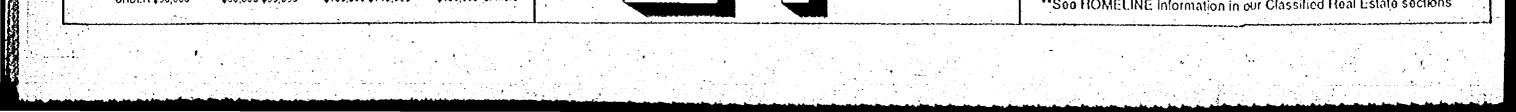

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor[®] so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

• YOUTH SYMPHONY

Metropolitan Youth Symphony will host auditions Wednesday, Aug. 28, at Abiding Presence. Lutheran Church, 1550 Walton, Rochester Hills. Call Charleen Madill at 651-7652 for audition time reservations.

The non-profit group provides a high level of musical experience for 250 students in a fourcounty area. Its concert literature is primarily classical, providing a chance for members to develop their symphonic repertoire.

All orchestral instrumentalists grades 5-12 are invited to audition; however, violas, cellos, stringbasses, clarlents, trumpets and trombones are especially needed.

All three orchestras rehearse 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturdays, September-May, at Southfield-Lathrup High School, 12 Mile and Evergreen.

The orchestra gives three performances a year, including one in Detroit's Orchestra Hall.

ANTIQUE SHOW

Five Observerland residents will take part in an antique show and sale Sept. 5-8 at Universal Mall, Dequindre at 12 Mile, Warren.

A sampling of the items include sets of old chiha from Ruth Heilmann of Livonia and depresslon-era collectibles from Barbara Rudis of Redford.

Other local presenters include Anita Luceus of Canton Township and Livonia residents Mary Haggerty and Gloria Siegert.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday-Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. There is no admission charge.

PROGRESSIVE DINNER

Sept. 6 is the deadline for tickets to the Livonia Historical Society's sixth annual progressive dinner

: Mayor Robert Bennett will chair the fund-raiser 6-11 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 14, at various locations.

Tickets are $25 per person. They include dinner, an auction and dessert. Price is $10 per person for the auction and dessert only.

Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 6 p.m. Soup and salad follows 7-9:30 p.m. Dessert and the floral auction will be 9:45-11 p.m.

All proceeds benefit the Alexander Blue House restoration at Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village. The Victorian Italianate house, circa 48150. Allow at least three weeks for publica- 1850, was once owned by a Livonia magistrate -and civic leader.

CHOIR AUDITIONS

The Rackham Symphony Choir, will offer free training to experienced choral singers who need to strengthen their music reading skills.

Auditions will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday-Thursday, Sept. 4-5, at the Wayne State University Muslc School, on Cass between Kirby and Ferry, in the Detroit Cultural Center.

Call 886-3480 for an audition appointment.

ARTS CLASSES

The FAR Conservatory of Therapeutic and Performing Arts, 1669 W. Maple in Birmingham, will hold registration for its fall semester from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 7.

The conservatory uses the creative and therapeutic arts to serve children and adults with physical, mental and emotional impairments. Classes will be offered in music, music therapy, art, art therapy, movement, dance therapy, gymnastics, drama, drama therapy, ice skating and ice hock-

The fall session will begin the week of Sept. 16. and end Jan. 31.

JURIED EXHIBITION

One Livonia artist will participate in the Michigan Surface Design Association juried exhibition Sept: 7 to Oct. 6 at the Midland Center for the-Arts, 1801 W. St. Andrews.

Sponsored by the Midland Art Council and Michigan Surface Design Association, the exhibit features the work of 26 artists who are current or former residents of Michigan, including Cynthia Wayne Gaffield of Livonia.

Juror Lenore Davis, a fabric artist and educator and a Cranbrook Academy of Art graduate, defines surface design as "the concern of creating color, pattern, line and texture with any medium on the surface of any material for the purpose of decoration.

"I support a broad definition as well, surface design being the finding or creating of objects and producing integrated or applied surface design with the intent of decoration or artistic statement. Surface design may be part of art making, art is not necessarily a characteristic of surface design."

Exhibit hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Fri-

Chef loves garden herbs

How many people get to choose their herbs from three different gardens? Jim Mater, executive chef in Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village, can do just that.

day and 1-5 p.m. Saturday. Call 517-631-3250.

NATURE TRAILS

Matthael Botanical Gardens, 1800 N. Dixboro, Ann Arbor, has garden and trail tours coming up. "What the Nose Knows" will be at 2 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 8. It will focus on scents of plants in the herb garden and along, the trails.

"The World Is Our Garden" will provide a look at exotic plants from around the world in the conservatory. Tours will be offered at 2 and 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 15, Saturday-Sunday, Sept. 21-22, and Saturday, Sept. 28. They will last 50 minutes to an hour and cost $1. Since space in the conservatory is limited, arrive 15 minutes early to register. Call 998-7061.

DESIGN WORKSHOP

In an effort to inform consumers of the many benefits of working with an interior designer, Michigan Design Center in Troy will host a full day with designers Saturday, Sept. 14.

The center is open to laymen who are accompanied by their interior designer or architect. For designer referral or more information, call 649-ning the menus and overseeing the kitchens in the Dearborn complex. He has been there five years. Everything from hot dogs to $100-plus catered evening events, including sit-down dinners, comes under his supervision.

We need carriers for Observer & Eccentric routes. Call 591-0500 to find out all about it.

We visited those three herb gardens. The first, Dr. Howard's, contains culinary and medicinal herbs, plus other plants such as rhubarb, hollyhocks, onions and horseradish.

When the horseradish plant is large enough (several years old), the roots are ground and added to whipping cream and served with beef. If a little salt and garlic are added, it makes a nice spread for roast beef on a french roll.

Mint, sage, dock, goldenrod, borage (flowersare used in salads), lemon balm, foxglove, hyssop, feverfew and lovage do well together. Lovage is put in potato salads and in cold pastas. Maier uses the leaves and also the seeds.

THE SECOND garden, the Leavened Heart, is next to the Eagle Tavern, Maler's favorite restaurant.

There are several separate beds, some heartshaped. Chive blossoms are used to garnish salads and entrees, and the thyme flowers garnish chicken or beef plates. The basils are used in pesto base to be served with pasta,

"It's quite nice to be able to come out here in the morning and pick some fresh herbs' to use," Maier said. "There's no comparison once you've used fresh, especially your tender-leafed herbs such as oregano, marjoram and basils. "They just don't dry that well and lose a lot of flavor. Rosemary, thyme, sages, the heavierleafed herbs will keep some of that true flavor after they're dried.

"Once you start using fresh, there is just no comparison. With fresh, your end product is so much nicer."

When I asked about a favorite herb, he said it's a close race between basil and thyme.

He likes basils for cold foods, Basil and garlic together with some parmesan is his favorite summer "herb food." Pine nuts or unsalted sunflower seeds enhance this combination.

So much can be done with the pestos, Maier said . . . add more oil and make a salad dressing, use a little less oil and whip the pesto with some butter for a bread spread.

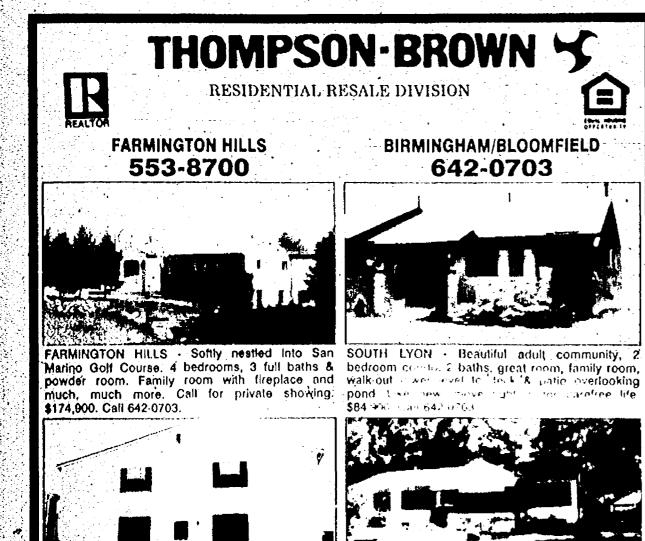

Thyme is his favorite for winter to flavor roasts and potatoes and add good seasoning to soup.

THE THIRD garden is one the general public doesn't see. It's called the Production Garden.

This is where the bulk of the herbs are grown, along with flowers suitable for drying to be used in arrangements and in the classes conducted at the Village. A group of volunteers, the Herb Assoclates, maintains these gardens and grows what this chef requests.

Except for two cooks he taught to care for the plants, Maier harvests the herbs himself, using scissors and removing only a third of the plant so that it doesn't go into shock. One exception is the chives; both flowers and follage are cut completely to the ground.

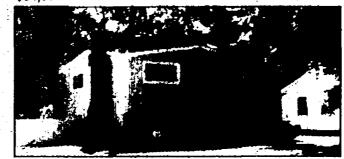

Marty Figley is a certified master gardener based in Birmingham.

The Easy Way to Sell Your Property and Save...

We help you sell your home, townhouse or condominium with major savings to you. As licensed real estate professionals, we provide valuable services which enhance your ability to sell your property. We charge a low pre-determined fee rather than a percentage of the sale price of your home. (Our fee is payable only when your property is sold and closed). THERE IS NO ADVANCE FEE.

WHAT YOU DO:

0&E Thursday, August 22, 1991

8E*

1. You show your property...(or we'll show it for a small additional fee – payable only if sold to the parties so shown).

WHAT WE DO FOR $2950*

- 1. We discuss the "BAD" as well as the "GOOD" in all offers and try to save you money wherever possible.
- 2. We place your property into our exclusive marketing system to get you buyers.
- 3. We send an ad on your property to potential buyers now looking for property.
- 4. We place your property on the Multiple Listing Service.
- 5. We help you avoid problems and assist you should any problems come up.
- 6. We do all the paperwork.
- 7. We follow through on your sale until it closes and you get your check.
- 8. We help your buyers obtain financing (many times there are seven or eight methods).
- 9. We protect you with our satisfaction guarantee.
- 10. We charge no fee unless your property sells then we are paid at closing.
- 11. We estimate your net proceeds at the time you place your property for sale and when you receive an offer to buy.
- 12. We guarantee in writing, to advertise your property every week in the newspaper.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Knowledge of personality types helps sales

By Doug Funke staff writer.

Adjust your sales approach to the personality of your customer if you want to make the deal.

That's the advice a syndicated real estate columnist recently passed along to brokers, agents, other sales professionals and guests at the Real Estate Roundtable.

"We're really talking about helping people feel more comfortable perhaps be more relaxed and more trustful," said Thomas Ervin. "I see a lot of jitteriness out there;" People are indecisive."

Ervin briefly outlined four person-gested effective ways to interact with them.

"A person who is dominant is kind of bossy. They want to get to the bottom line. They don't want to engage in pleasantries," he said. "If you compliment a dominant person on his tie, you'll put him on the defensive. He'll wonder, 'What do you want from me?'.

"You must be direct," he said. "This is what they're like. This is what they appreciate."

The influencer, Ervin said, is a socfalizer.

"THEY'RE VERY outgoing, personable, good communicators, They're usually upbeat and very posality types - dominant, influencer, itive. The primary emphasis of an steady and compliant - then sug- influencer is relationships. They want to be liked.

"Visit with them a little bit, build a little rapport. If you're direct with an influencer, they're offended," Ervin sald. The steady personality type is a team player, he said. "These people are really the glue of our society," Ervin said. "They.

want to cooperate, participate, do their share, but they don't want to run the show. They're mollvated by cooperation. You must be sincere with this person."

The compliant person is a fussbudget, Ervin sald.

"He's a detail person - it's either correct or it isn't correct. He's the kid in fourth grade who when it was a rainy day, he had his boots on and. all the buckles were buckled.

lint off your clothing?" Ervin asked, as the listeners nodded and chuckled. A compliant person will have all of his tools neatly arranged on a pegboard in the garage with an outline of the tool drawn so they can be lined up just right.

"YOU MUST be correct with this person," he said.

People are a blend of personality. types, Ervin said, but most can be pegged as to dominant kind. The idea is to come across as normal from a customer's perspective, not necessarily your own, he said.

"The issue is when you interact with another person, will you - not can you - read the personality trait

"Did you ever have a person take they're exhibiting and become more normal like them?" he said.

Ervin also touched briefly on a couple of other points.

• "Who's need do you satisfy when you complete someone else's sentence? Your own. What message do you send? I'm brighter than you are.

• "No handshake is normal except the one they (customers) give you. Put your hand up and prepare for a medium handshake. Be prepared to lighten up.

• "A blending statement' (when facing opposition) isn't, 'Yeah, but,' rather, 'I understand.' You provide a bridge."

· "Should you always look people directly in the eye? I think not. Ervin was well-received.

"He told me things I already knew, but things I need to be remind-'ed of," said J.B. Bernard, a commercal leasing agent with Gulda Associates. "He put it in simplistic terms." He made it understandable."

"He personally has such a vast knowledge of the real estate field and he certainly understands different personalities,", said Mark: Canvasser, an owner of Steuer & Canvasser, a Southfield real estate investment/management firm.

"The best thing with all of these. things is it opens your eyes. It. doesn't let you get closed minded," said Ken Elder, owner of Window Works in Bloomfield Hills. "Every time I come to one of these things if makes me think a little differently."

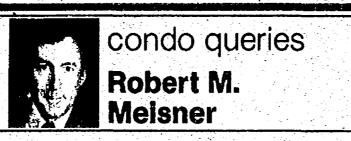

Michigan court upholds board's right to ban dogs

We have a dog restriction in our condominium that gives the board the discretion to allow or disallow dogs. The board has passed a rule authorizing that no dogs can be brought into the condominium prospectively. I know there are some cases around the country that have prohibited that procedure by the board. Is there any law in Michigan on the subject?

Yes. A recent Michigan Court of Appeals decision basically upheld the right of the board of directors to issue banning rules, even though the condominium bylaws per se allow the board to exercise discretion regarding the number of dogs allowed. The court reasoned that the passage of a rule absolutely prohibiting dogs was not analogous to an amendment to the condominium documents. This is contrary to other decisions around the county, but in Michlgan it is the law unless it is reversed by the Michigan Surpeme Court or is revisited by the court of appeals.

Our board is at a loss because we were convinced that we have a male prostitute working at our condominium. He is a tenant who has been living in the complex for several months with a written lease for a year. We have received numerous complaints from the neighbors and want to know if we have any authority to take any action.

The first question the board has to ask is whether it wishes to get involved in this matter. Assuming that the condominium documents prohibit immoral or improper behavior, the association may have a basis to pursue the owner of the unit as well as the male tenant.

First, I would check whether all the requirements of the condominium documents have been met with respect to the lease arrangement. Assuming that they have, I would ask the affected co-owners whether they wish to file any complaint with the local police. To the extent that they do not wish to participate or that the police are not prepared to take action, the board should attempt to document the problem and write the co-owner and the tenant a letter alleging that conduct has been observerd that is a disturbance to the members of the association. The letter should be carefully drafted with the assistance of counsel.

Assuming documentation can be obtained that the tenant is using the premises for improper purposes, legal proceedings should be begun against the tenant and the co-owner. The co-owner may have a basis to seek eviction against the tenant, in. which case it may eliminate the need for the associaton to pursue the tenant directly,

Houses of tomorrow evolving today

By Gerald Frawley staff writer -

Meet George Jetson? Be George Jetson?

Probably not. The house of the year 2000 will not be an elevated space platform with malfunctioning transport tubes, runaway walkways, mechanical arms deftly (and sometimes harshly) inserting a pipe in your mouth.

According to Gopal Ahluwalia, director of research at the National Association of Home Builders, the home of tomorrow will closely resemble the house of today - on the outside.

But on the inside - to paraphrase tabloid television - that's a whole different story.

Ahluwalia said changes are being driven by the demands of home buyers - not by the desires of builders.

"The quickest way to go bankrupt in this business is for a builder to build what he thinks people want, and not what the people want."

Lifestyle changes that include people entertaining more and working in their homes; demographics changes like the aging of baby boomers and an increased number of women in the work force; and the introduction of new technologies force builders to be more accommodating, he said.

TOMORROW'S HOME will be a two-story colonial, with a two-story foyer and nine-foot ceilings, instead of eight-foot ceilings, Ahluwalia said.

Reversing a trend of recent years, homes of the future will be built onsmaller lots. But in keeping with present trends, homes will be slightly larger than today's average, Ahluwalla said.

Buyers may be willing to accept ter designed to accommodate fea-, tures like two master bedrooms (one on each floor) with fireplaces, media rooms, exercise rooms or areas, large well-lighted kitchens, two full baths with separate showers and tubs, and two half-baths, Ahluwalla said.

smaller homes, but they must be bet-

Homes of the future will also most likely include home offices, sunrooms and Florida rooms, Ahluwalla said. They will have two-car garages for the most part, but three-car garages will become increasingly more common, Ahluwalia said.

Builders will also continue to focus their efforts on energy efficlency with more advanced furnaces, water heaters, windows, insulation, low-flush toilets and reducedflow shower heads, Ahluwalia said.

ALLAN SHAPIRO, president of Singh & Shapiro Construction Inc. in Southfield, said that from what he's seen, the national association's predictions seem pretty close to the mark.

"That sounds exactly like what my wife wants," he said.

Shapiro disagreed with one item - the popularity of nine-foot cellings. Nine-foot ceilings may add anair of prestige to a home, but from a cost standpoint, they don't make sense.

"Studs come in eight, 10, 12 two-foot increments - nine-foot ceilings will mean wasting one foot per stud." Builders are conscious about controlling costs through waste reduction.

"It might happen in upper end homes, but they (nine-foot ceilings) won't become common."

Shapiro said some other aspects of the study stretch credulity, but most of it is not beyond reason. For example, it's conceivable that larger homes will be built on smaller lots

- one would think economics would force municipalities to accept higher densities - but he hasn't seen any indications that's happening.

RICHARD KOMER, president of Wineman & Komer Building Co. in Southfield, said much of the study's findings make sense.

Larger kitchens, home offices, better designed and open floor plans, media rooms - most of these predictions are well founded on marketing trends.

"Two-story colonials give people privacy - they can get away from the rest of the house - but it is also less expensive," he said. A colonial means less roof space per square foot, less truss, easier heating and less wall space to name just a few of the economies as a multi-story structure.

But builders must be careful not to get caught in the trap of following. trends.

"Not everyone is going to want a two-story colonial."

There are a growing number of older buyers without children who will want less space and single-floor living.

"That (the two-story home) may be true for the family, but the empty nesters are thinking ahead to when they won't want to climb stairs."

Komer said he believes homeowners will continue to press for more open floor plans, bigger rooms and better design in their homes.

Media rooms will become more important as people seek their entertainment at home.

"We know this is happening already - the marketing studies show people are spending less for entertainment."

Large kitchens make sense because they are the most common gathering places - which is surpristhan ever before.

"The kitchen has become the focal point of the home," he said. Even though the kitchen is used less, buyers are looking for fully equipped kitchens.

"What it all comes down to is convenience," he said. Today's buyer is looking for convenience.'

JOHN P. BOLLAN JR., vice president of Bollan Building Co. in Troy, said not everything the NAHB study is relevant to the southeastern Michlgan market.

Michigan no longer responds directly to the overall housing market.

"It used to be things were tried out there (on the East and West Coast), and then they would make there way here," he said.

That's not necessarily the case now. The recession that precipitated the collapse of the East and West Coast housing market hasn't had nearly as great an impact in the Midwest, he said.

But southeastern Michigan's independence from other markets doesn't mean the NAHB's predictions are invalid.

Bollan said he can see a time when municipalities will permit higher densities. "Whether it will be before the year 2000 is another matter."

Other factors such as local patterns and weather will also affect Michigan housing.

Sunrooms and Florida rooms, for example, are popular in the South and Southwest, but not here. Decks are far more popular, he said, but decks go unused for most of the year.

"Around here, people would trade a sunroom for a larger family room or great room," he said.

The great room - the evolution of a combined family and living rooms - has never really taken a firm hold in this part of the country, he said. ing as more people eat out today. People in Michigan seem to prefer homes with a separate family room - for living in - and a living room - for doing nothing in.

"People around here just like that extra room - they grew up with it and don't want to lose it."

Bollan said he believes builders may even revive the now almost extinct front porch. Past trends have driven people from the front to the back of the home in search of privacy, he said, but he has noted an increased interest in home plans that include porches.

DANIEL BARTON, president of D&J Property development in Canton, said he thinks the NAHB is wrong in one important aspect the exterior.

The NAHB study predicts that home exteriors will resemble the. home of today in most ways, but Barton is betting otherwise.

"I'm not just betting - I'm building."

Barton is building a "Victorianstyle ranch," he said, adding that while the two sound contradictory, people will be impressed with the results.

"People who have seen (the plans) have been really impressed. Home buyers are beginning to tire of the contemporary and Tudor architecture that has become so prevalent in the last decade.

"I'll think we'll see a return to good and varied architecture."

Barton explained that he believes the status symbols of the last decade - big, opulence, excess - will be replaced by classical themes.

"If you want to impress someone, you won't take them home and show them your big house, you'll take him home and show them your Yan Gogh."

Fine arts, classical music and culture will be the prestige symbols of the 1990s, he predicted.

Future demands new roles for builders

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Houses aren't the only things that will be changing by the year 2001 builders will change too.

Cost controls, competition and technology will place new demands on builders who will have to change the way they construct houses and do business, according to National Association of Home Builders director of research Gopal Ahluwalla.

Niche marketing, Ahluwalia said, will allow builders to improve their ability to target specific markets -

"That's no surprise," he said. , By building in a certain location and including certain features, builders are able to attract certain. buyers. The real changes will come in getting those buyers to models.

By using computers, direct mailing, and marketing studies that have more information on what certain buyers are looking for, builders will be able to be even more specific, he said.

A LABOR SHORTAGE and increased material costs, Ahluwalla said, will mean more manufactured

Michael Tobin, president of Mike have been a problem years ago when Toblin said he is less certain labor duced as they come to market, he to respond to the market's needs. In Building Co, in Farmington, said betquality was suspect, but many of the shortages will spur the use of manu-said. Lumber, the basic building material, fluctuates widely in price even now, he said. Manufactured components constructed from particle boards and other composites permit ... builders to use more of the lumber that does exist.

"It makes good sense because it's more affordable, and it will become a necessity," he said.

Years ago, Tobin pointed out, carpenters built roof trusses on site. To-than material costs brought on by a 1 need," he said. But he agreed it's possible that a labor shortage could be brought on by a lack of new people going into the construction industry.

> BUILDERS WILL become manufacturers of building products and components, Ahluwalia said, because it is a natural outgrowth of what they do now, and because it will reduce the turnaround time from idea to market.

manufacturing facilities and become the innovators who produce products for themselves and other builders, rather than wait for the manufacturers to catch up.

"They as builders know what's needed and what's not."

Tobin disagreed, saying it will be the rare builder who becomes a manufacturer. "It's really not necessary - everything we need and moro is already available somewhere,"
