Knight-time fun

Renaissance Festival offers joust about everything

By William Coutant
staff writer

A journey backward in time to a fun-loving age of discovery can be yours provided you "suspend your disbelief" and head for Holly, Mich.

If you can, you'll find knights jousting, jesters jesting and people speaking of dragons, damsels and magic.

You could consider the Michigan Renaissance Festival a sort of theme park in the raw. Situated on 200 acres in northwest Oakland County, the festival, in its 12th year, provides an impressive array of crafters, magic and stage acts, food and drink, and people just being a little silly. And being mirthful is the key to enjoying the outdoor event that runs for seven weekends from mid-August through the end of September.

"It's as much (fun) as you make it," said festival official Peggy Burkhard. "You have to live the dream."

Craft booths, featuring about 150 artists whose works have been juried for their authenticity, line the 16th Century streets under ample tree shade. Food booths feature modern favorites such as pizza and gyro sandwiches along with culinary delights of an earlier time: roasted turkey drumsticks, Scotch eggs and apple dumplings.

The 700-member staff, dressed in period costume, are bound to get you in a festive mood whether it be through a melodramatic farce on stage at the Swan Theatre, a knights joust in full armor on horseback, or just a little ribbing as you walk along. Characters like Ded Bob, Magical Mystical Michael and Sir Ryosus help keep the mood light. And there's always an event on the grounds.

THERE'S EVEN an open air pub with entertainment that serves imported English beer and includes part of a real pub brought over from the old country. Cyril Lilly, an Englishman celebrating his birthday at Watneys Pub said it's quite authentic.

And while most visitors to the festival don't come quite as far, they seem to have just as much fun.

"My son challenged me (to dueling buckets)," said a somewhat damp Kathy Poole of Livonia. "I won. You don't often win with a kid," she added with a laugh. "They set the tone so that it's really fun."

And rain or shine, the festival goes on.

The event runs every Saturday and Sunday and Labor Day through the last weekend in September. Crowds for the opening weekend, which included a rainy Saturday, exceeded 20,000, most from Oakland County, Burkhard said. Yet the wide "streets" of the festival and large parking area make it easy to get around.

And many visitors are happy just to walk through the myriad of craft shops, which include weaving to glass blowing to the making of knight's armor. Others find it easy enough to stop at one of several stages to see a play, a puppet show or a magic act. And games for kids of all ages abound. What festival celebrating the 16th century in Europe would be complete without archery? Kids can joust on Fight the Knight, use their balance on Hunker Hauser and get all wet with Dueling Buckets.

ONE OF THE most popular events of all is the Joust. Three times a day, knights take arms, first on horseback, and then on foot, to win honor and glory before the king and his court. The lances break for real, but the knights survive intact, except for the verbal barbs of the crowd.

All kidding aside, the event coincides with the Harvest celebrations of earlier times. And for many actors, magicians and singers, it's a chance to display their talents.

Festival staff can be amateur actors to professional minstrels who play at the pub. And there are enough of them to keep visitors continually entertained.

And that's the festival's goal, to make sure those who enter this "kingdom" of a bygone era let go of their daily cares for an afternoon.

That quality of make-believe is an essential ingredient of the festival's success, says M'Arch McCarty, who along with his wife Janet serve as King Edward and Queen Katheryne.

"When I welcome visitors I say 'I am King Edward here, today, and you are whoever you want to be,'" said McCarty, who works as an actor throughout the year. "And it's true — for awhile."

The Michigan Renaissance Festival runs consecutive weekends, through Sept. 28-29, on Dixie Highway, one mile north of Mt. Holly. Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Admission is $9.95 for adults at the gate ($8.75 in advance); $4.95 for children at the gate ($4 advance). For information, call 645-9640.

Mistress Moana casts a menacing glance at festival goers as she and her fellow "Vulgarians" stir up trouble.

Leave summer behind at state fall festivals

The leaves are coming. In two weeks they will begin their crisp colorful descent across the Upper Peninsula. By the end of the month they will cross the Mackinac Bridge and begin to stain the ground around Mackinaw City and Traverse City.

By mid-October they will wrap their gold and green glory around Bay City and central Michigan, moving on south like a freight train of autumn color until they reach us in mid-October.

You can't stop them. Nature is in charge. They will roll down I-75 past Dayton and Cincinnati, through the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee, painting the world with their color and marking our calendars with the promise of winter to come.

For many of us, it is a favorite time of year, a time of autumn festivals and weekend getaways, with the kids in school and the heat of summer fading away.

You like festivals? Check out the action this weekend, Sept. 6-8, at either the Michigan Wine and Harvest Festival in Kalamazoo and Paw Paw or the Michigan Potato Festival in Posen and Edmore.

Or start at the western end of the UP with the Sept. 14-15 Oktoberfest in Copper Harbor, hit the Ewen Log-Jam-Boree Sept. 27-28 and end up Oct. 11-12 at either the Pumpkinfest in Bessemer or the Oktoberfest in Iron Mountain.

There's an Oct. 4-6 Red Flannel Festival in Cedar Springs and an Oct. 11-13 Oktoberfest in Frankenthum. Call toll-free (800) 5432-YES for a booklet called Michigan Fall Secrets from the Michigan Travel Bureau.

It will tell you about the three Great Lakes circle tours posted around lakes Michigan, Huron or Superior.

Explore the Agawa Canyon color train out of Sault St. Marie, Ontario, which leaves daily at 8 a.m. for the 230-mile trek north into the autumn-leaf glory of Agawa Canyon.

Or the Southern Michigan Railroad trains that leave every weekend from Clinton and Tecumseh to Raisin Center, call (517) 423-7230.

Or the Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society, which runs a pair of fall color tours by special excursion train that run from Birmingham to the Thumb, a 200-mile circle, Oct. 19 and 20.

Ride a canoe or take one of the fall color tours offered Sept. 29 through Oct. 21 on the Au Sable River. Take a hot air balloon above the trees at sunrise or sunset from Capt. Phogg Balloon Rides in Penton.

Did somebody say cider mills? We've got a million of them, starting with Adrien and Armada and ending with Ypsilanti. Check the state book for addresses.

And if you'd rather hang out a sign that reads "gone fishin'," we've got a million fishing tournaments for you.

We like to think that nobody else in the world has color like Michigan's color, but you can follow it down Interstate 75 to the mountains north of Atlanta before it begins to fade. Call Kentucky's ColorFall line toll-free at (800) 225-TRIP for color dates, late September to early November, when the color peaks in the southeast.

To the lighthouse at Big Bay Point

By John Monaghan
special writer

When the sun sets on Lake Superior, you'll know where to find the guests of the Big Bay Point Lighthouse. In the tower, high among the bluffs, I joined in the show as the glowing orange ball bid another good night to the Upper Peninsula shoreline.

I had arrived just an hour before to find a pink sheet of paper taped to my bedroom door. Innkeepers Buck and Marilyn Gotschall leave these for all overnight guests, a tongue-in-cheek description of duties while staying overnight. A button attached to the instructions distinguished me as a Keeper's Helper.

I didn't have to monitor weather conditions or replace a lamp filament, but I did feel, for a night anyway, that I guided the mighty Great Lakes freighters as the Big Bay beam traveled out over the waves.

According to the innkeepers, Big Bay Lighthouse is the only privately owned and operated lighthouse on the Great Lakes and the only one in the country where guests sleep right on the premises. The Gotschalls bought the historic 1896 brick structure in 1986 and immediately opened it as an inn.

"Guests like the mile of shoreline," Buck said. "It's rocky and craggy and good for rock-hounding."

Buck is a great kidder who picked up tennis at age 50 and has since whipped players half his age in statewide tournaments. He's also an avid sailor and pilot with his own airstrip and plane 100 feet from the front door. Marilyn, meanwhile, is a world traveler.

The breakfast conversation, as a result, is especially fascinating. Stories about Italian vacations. About the bear who ran into the woods with a trash can. About Buck's growing-up years in the same Indiana town where James Dean lived.

Big Bay Lighthouse has all the warmth and friendliness you expect from a great bed and breakfast, but it's not a luxury stay. Like the craggy rocks on which it sits, the lighthouse is more than a little rough around the edges.

During my visit, tools and books were piled high on a stair landing. The homey, cluttered common rooms displayed postcards and T-shirts for sale. Some corners needed redecorating, others a simple straightening and dusting.

Six upstairs guest rooms, which command $65 to $165 per night, are sparsely decorated and comfortable. Some share bathrooms down the hall. The Tower Room, with its dramatic view of the lake, remains the most requested.

The guests gather after dark in the first-floor living room, where the great stone fireplace takes a bite out of the cold lake wind; the wind can beat fiercely during a fall gale. Our conversation turned to William Pryor, the original Big Bay Point lighthouse keeper, who died under mysterious circumstances in 1901 and whose ghost reportedly roams the bluffs.

"He whispers to me in the spring to go fishing," Buck said. "I go, because I don't want a mad ghost around, but Marilyn doesn't hear him and she is getting suspicious!"

The second-floor library leads to a circular staircase and up to the tower, 120 feet above the water, where the light casts its beam. The current lighting apparatus is considerably smaller than the original Fresnel lens, which is on display in the foghouse.

Buck notes that it came from Paris with a list of 52 lighting instructions.

Breakfast is in two shifts, six guests each, during busy summer mornings, and it emphasizes the healthy and homegrown. We started with a whipped fruit drink of peaches, pears, apples, red raspberries and a touch of yogurt. Homebaked muffins came next, followed by delicious yogurt/buttermilk waffles. They serve whitefish or brook trout in season.

The innkeepers suggest (and so do I) the 4 1/2 hour $25 tour of Big Bay with friend and neighbor Jeff Ten Eyck. He guides the adventurous to favorite spots, hopping stone-to-stone over rushing water or scaling medium-sized cliffs. Jeff caters to any guest, including the elderly or disabled, who wants to journey by van to hiking sites and enjoy a trail lunch of U.P. pasties.

The Innkeepers have blazed a pleasant trail that begins as a tree-lined path, then ends in meadows along the Lake Superior bluffs, so you can hike around the property. Explore the town restaurants and the spots made familiar by "Anatomy of a Murderer," the 1959 movie which was filmed here and in nearby Marquette.

For more information, contact Big Bay Point Lighthouse, No. 3 Lighthouse Road, Big Bay, Mich., 49808; (906) 345-9957. There's a two-day minimum on the weekend. During your second breakfast, you'll be upgraded to Senior Helper, but your only real responsibilities will be to relax and enjoy one of the country's most unusual bed-and-breakfast experiences.
