Surplus angers schools' critics

By Darrell Clem taff writer

Despite earlier predictions that the Wayne-Westland school district would be virtually proke, a new audit is expected to reveal a $4.4 million surplus for the fiscal year that ended June 30.

School officials attributed the starkly contrusting figures to conservative spending measures and a boost in state ald, but critics angrily accused officials of lying to win public support for a tax increase in June.

"Barnum and Bailey couldn't have put on a better show," said David Moranty, chairman of Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education, a committee that opposed higher taxes. "They really fooled the taxpayers."

The surplus appears certain to set the stage for a major showdown when the new report from the district's auditing fire. Plante

Moran, comes before the school board on Oct.

The surplus, which stunned some board members, doesn't include money from the 7.75 mill tax rate increase that voters approved June 10.

School officials said they couldn't have anticipated a $4.4 million budget balance when they sought the tax increase. Half of the surplus became known only recently, during the

"Our expenditures came in ($2.2 million) under what we had budgeted," finance manager Randy Leipa said. When asked to cite specific areas where savings occurred, he replied, "Just generally."

THE REMAINING $2.2' million surfaced earlier - largely from higher-than-expected state aid. That aid does not include more money the district will receive from the state's

Tax plan to help local schools

By Darrell Clem staff writer

The Wayne-Westland school district expects to receive $375,000 this year in new state aid through a tax-sharing plan that will divert money from richer school districts to poorer ones. Despite local gains, school officials appeared ambivalent about the plan. They welcomed the money but said it shouldn't come at the expense of students in other dis-

"It does not address the issue of inequity in funding," said Randy Leipa, Wayne-Westland's school finance manager. "But we're certainly not going to turn the money down. It does help."

Under the plan, billed as an attempted "Robin Hood" cure, richer. school districts would be forced to share with less-fortunate districts: the tax money they receive from future commercial and industrial development.

state Rep, Justine Barns, both

Westland Democrats, supported the plan, which has passed both Houses and has gone to Gov. John Engler for his expected signature.

School districts on both sides of the issue say the plan ignores the need for more state aid and focuses, instead, on a less-appealing move to redistribute money.

"I guess I have mixed feelings about it," Wayne-Westland board niember Leonard Poscy said.

Local school officials are adding up the money they stand to lose now that tax base sharing has passed the Michigan Legislature and is awaiting the signature of Gov. John Engler.

A major loser is the Livonia district which includes the northern section of Westland.

Through both tax base sharing and recaptured funds, the district this year will lose $5.3 million, said moted by its supporters as a way to money away," Marinelli said.

Superintendent Joseph Marinelli. Tax base sharing is designed to help poorer, in formula school districts such as Wayne-Westland, which will gain additional funds.

MUCH OF the money diverted through tax base sharing will go to such larger districts as Flint, Grand Rapids and Detroit, where the amount of money spent per student is near the state average and not near the $2,000 per-student figure at the low end of the spectrum. Tax base sharing has been pro-low end of per-student spending. Livonia Public Schools built enough money into its 1991-92 budget to offset the $5.3 million loss it will incur this year through recapture and tax base sharing.

But it, too, faces an even bigger problem next year when the property tax free goes into effect and the estimated loss to the district jumps to $7.3 million.

newly adopted tax-sharing plan.

Critics questioned why school officlais slashed some programs and threatened many others, amid claims that the district appeared on the brink of disaster.

"That was a scam," Moranty charged, "They had the money. They just threatened the community. They put money first and the kids second."

Some board members became upset when they learned about the $4.4 million surplus last week in conversations with school officials. Some accused Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's administration of exaggerating the district's so-called financial crisis.

"I feel that, with this large fund balance, our schools were fiscally sound," board member Laurel Raisanen said. "I feel there was a major deception to the public to get this (tax increase) passed. Will the public believe the schools again?"

Raisanen and board members

Vicki Welty and Fred Warmbier, elected in June, were not on the board when the board approved seeking the tax increase. However, Raisanen and Warmbier had publicly opposed the 7.75-mill plan, and Welty had suggested a smaller tax Welty appeared virtually speechless on Friday, when asked about the district's surplus.

"I DON'T even know what to say. On one hand, I'm a little ticked off because our children suffered when they didn't need to," she said. "I'm glad we have $4.4 million. I just don't know how it happened. I hope we will continue this conservative spending so we won't have to ask people for more money when we already have some."

Welty predicted an angry backlash when the public learns about the sur-

The preliminary audit results also caught board member Leonard Posey by surprise, though he refuted claims that O'Neill's administration intentionally deceived voters.

"I don't think that's a fair assessment to make," he said. "There's too much to lose if you intentionally deceive the public. Public trust is too important at this time.

"It was a miscalculation. It was a big miscalculation. We were off by a lot of money," Posey continued. But he commended the district's "prudent spending."

Posey and board members Kathleen Chorbagian and Andrew Spisak are the target of a recall effort for proposing massive budget cuts in February while simultaneously approving teacher pay raises of 11.9 percent over two years. Some observers said last week that the latest controversy will add fuel to the re-

O'Neill said Thursday "it's way too early" to say whether the district's improved financial condition could prompt school officials to lower the millage rate next year. But he warned that $2 million of the surplus funds will, in essence, be wiped outbecause the district this year will lose that much in state money, due to declining enrollment.

MOREOVER, O'NEILL stressed that with a $76 million budget last year, a $4.4 million surplus is "nowhere near the state average."

Though he sald exact figures won't be known until the audit report is done, he indicated that the expected surplus should be welcomed - not criticized - by taxpayers.

"We should be celebrating," he Moranty disagreed and said the surplus proved what his committee has said all along - that school officlals used deceptive measures to get the tax increase approved.

"We're going to continue to be the watchdog of this community," he said. "We won't let the people forget

Plan to let agency run complex for the annual program.

"That's the way it looks at this

Inkster-based Family & Neighborhood Services has agreed to lease

Tinkham from the school district and begin providing services for the center's 170 clients, who are developmentally disabled or chronically mentally ill, Svitkovich said. F&S's board of directors has approved signing a lease.

The proposal will be submitted to the school board for approval in October, Svitkovich said. School officials have agreed to keep Tinkham workers on board through the end of October - by which time F&S expects to take over the program, he

SPECIFIC DETAILS of the lease, such as how much F&S will pay the district, remain unresolved, Svitkovich said. "That will depend on how many square feet of space they lease," he said. The school district's decision to halt its 11-year involvement in the rehabilitation program came under fire earlier this month, when Tinkham worker Sylvia Laroche charged that "the Wayne-Westland system has failed us."

However, the board accepted Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's recommendation to drop the program. He sald the district cannot afford to continue to act as "the middle man" for the program.

In the past, the district has received three separate grants to hire employees and run the center on Venoy, south of Cherry Hill. But school officials decided to drop the program after O'Neill said the disfrict "has yet" to run it based on the money received from grants.

The center primarily serves clients over the age of 26. School officials said they need to focus more on K-12 education.

der. But I'm not so sure it's fair to take away from kids of well-to-do districts."

THE CITY of Westland provides a striking example of how various school districts will be affected by the legislation. While the Wayne-Westland district expects to gain $375,000, the Livonia district, which serves a portion of northern Westland, has projected a $5.3-million loss. (See related story.)

"I believe there's got to be another method," said Sylvia Kozorosky-Wlacek, Wayne-Westland board president. "I believe we will take what they give us, but it's too bad that they have to rob Peter to pay Paul. I think there should be another way to fund education, particularly because this is the future of our society. Our kids are our future. There's got to be another plan."

The district expects to receive $23 per pupil each year through the tax-sharing plan. The money is expected to begin arriving in late October or early November, Leipa

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said a better plan would bring poorer districts up to the funding level of richer districts by increasing state aid, instead of redistributing tax money.

"But I guess we all understand the budgetary problems," he said. "This certainly is a step in the direction of equity, but it doesn't do much to resolve it."

Enrollment drops

The Wayne-Westland schools received bad financial news, following the preliminary "4th Friday" enrollment count.

The administration said that the unofficial head count of Friday, used to determine the amount of general state aid to be paid the district, is down 425 from projection - representing a potential loss of just over $2 million in state aid.

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said Friday that the preliminary enrollment Friday was 15,378 - compared to the administration's earlier projection of 15,800. Last fall's enrollment was $5,948, or 3.5 percent 10 and the restoration of programs more than this fall.

O'Neill said the "4th Friday" headcount wasn't a surprise to the administration which had been making enrollment checks each week since the new school year opened in late August. He said he was particularly disappointed that the new kindergarten enrollment is 118 less than the projection - marking the first time in four years that the kindergarten

As with that appointment, board members will conduct face-to-face interviews with applicants before selecting the new board member.

APPLICANTS MUST live within the Schoolcraft College service district. The district includes the Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Garden City, Clarenceville and Northville public school districts, as well as a small portion of the Novi Schools.

Bruce Patterson, runner up to Ragan in June's board election, said he was considering applying for Smith's

"I'm going to consider it," the Canton attorney said.

Ronaele Bowman, who finished third in the June election, said she would also apply.

Bowman criticized this spring's nominating process, saying she believed board members decided upon Ragan before interviews were completed.

"I hope the process will be handled better this time," she said. '. know I'm still interested in serving."

Smith was elected to a six-year term in 1987. The appointee will fill out the balance of that term, serving from Nov. 20 until June 30, 1993.

Smith had been commuting from Dayton to Plymouth over the past year, while the chain's flagship store was established. He had missed several board meetings in the past year. A trustee since 1986, Smith was most heavily involved in college financial matters.

He was a booster of the Seven

Mile Crossing office complex, built on college land leased to a private developer. Later, Smith proposed a follow up project that would have added retail stores on college land near Six Mile.

That plan, however, received only lukewarm support from his fellow trustees and opposition from Livonia officials concerned about area over development.

At Wednsday's farewell board meeting, however, Smith encouraged the board to continue exploring alternative financing methods.

"IT SEEMS the rich are getting richer, the poor poorer and the middle class is getting squeezed," he said. "It's a dangerous position we're in, especially since we can't count on state aid."

Newly-formed Superpetz plans to expand throughout the Midwest. Smith said, though it currently doesn't plan on expanding into Mich-

A Michigan State graduate, Smith had been active in establishing a scholarship for Schoolcraft graduates who transfer to MSU.

Smith had previously been president of Nu-Trax/Chatham Markets. Inc., the Warren-based parent company of the now-closed Chatham supermarket chain.

Persons interested in applying for the Schoolcraft College board seat can call the college president's office, 462-4460. The office is in the main campus Administration Building, 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads, Livonia.

If you can read, you won't want to read this.

We know of no one who would want to know the startling truth about Illiteracy and our young people.

That's right, young people between the ages of 20 and 25 who are what the experts call "functionally illiterate."

"Literacy: Profiles of America's Young Adults," a study done by the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) revealed that of the people in this age group: '

Only 19 percent can comparative shop in the grocery store. Only 20 percent can figure out a bus schedule. Some 43 percent cannot use a map accurately.

If you've given it much thought, you undoubtedly believed, as most people do, that older folks are the ones with the illiteracy problem and that—take heart—society is becoming more literate as time and education marchs on. Not so. The literacy problems among young adults are especially serious.

If you know someone who cannot read, contact one of the agencles below and give them the opportunity to open up their world.

Saturn's rings are tilted 21 degrees in October, presenting us the best view we will have of them until 1999! As Saturn makes its slow way around the sun (29.5 years for a single orbit), its rings appear differently to us. In 1987 Saturn's north pole was tilted at its maximum toward the sun (and the earth) and the rings were tilted 26.75 degrees. This allowed for an excellent view, but after 1987 the angle began decreasing. The rings will be edge on in 1995 and disappear from sight. (This last occurred in 1980.) It will be eight vears before the rings (having passed the 'edge-on' period) are tilted 21 degrees again. So enjoy the Union has right candidate approach

WE WERE interviewing Schoolcrafft College board candidates some years ago when I noticed they all used the same words to answer a question on faculty relations.

The final candidate, Dr. Gerald Cox of Garden City, added, ". . . At least, that's what the Faculty Forum wants us to say."

Huh? Cox explained that the union had "interviewed" each one for 90 minutes, using much of the time to propagate its own point of view.

Smart tactics. Even if its endorsed candidate lost, the faculty union. made certain all candidates at least understood its point of view.

You don't learn that in civics textbooks.

PHIL ARTHURHULTZ, R-Whitehall, the dapper state Senate floor leader, did the same thing last week in confirmation hearings for three of Gov. John Engler's appointees to the Natural Resources Commission.

"All three were strangers in environmental and conservation circles," editorialized the Michigan United Conservation Clubs magazine. Particularly unpopular was David Holli, Ishpeming lumberman who has 17 logging contracts with the state worth $317,000.

NRC members are automatically confirmed 60 days after appointment unless the Senate rejects them. Deadline was 4 p.m. Sept. 17. Arthurhultz, an Engler ally for eons, chairs the Government Operations Committee, which reviewed the nominees.

Naturally, Democrats wanted to vote on them. They offered a discharge motion to force the Holli nomination out of Arthurhultz's committee to the full Senate.

"The framers of the constitution wanted the Senate to confirm, not three members of a committee," sald Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, going by the civics textbook.

"We would like to be part of that process, too," said William Faust, D-"I told them they were snookered badly by the senior members of the commission" when they promoted Roland Harmes to DNR director, Arthurhultz said.

"They need to be more aggressive. They need to be looking over the director's shoulder all the time."

He deplored what one nominee said several times, "I trust the department employees." The senator disabused him of that notion.

"These three nominees need to. rise to the occasion. I'm for giving them the opportunity," Arthurhultz

Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, No. 2 in the GOP ranks, concurred. "What we've demonstrated is how well the confirmation process works. What we've done is set a higher standard than in the past. There was a very strong message to

YOU NEED to understand that in northern Michigan, the DNR-Is hated in much the same way black Detroiters in the 1970s hated cops.

Folks up north wanna do what they wanna do with their farms, beaches, boat docks, dunes, swamps and woods. The DNR seems forever to be requiring permits and taking two times forever to grant or deny, usually the latter.

Engler says he gets more complaints about the DNR than any other department. That may be bad. or good. The Englers, 'Arthurhultzes' and Dillinghams think it's bad.

Now, Arthurhultz didn't-want toembarrass his governor by rejecting any of the NRC nominees, even though "the administration has taken us for granted from the beginning of the year." So he let them be confirmed after giving them his version of the Faculty Forum's catechism.

Holli's term runs only 16 months, and Arthurhultz vowed, "If he slips. up, he's dead meat."

For anyone writing a modern civics textbook, the lesson is: Don't kill-the heathen - teach 'em. Tim Richard reports on the local implications of state and regional events.

Billboard ban is mistake, takes fun out of life

The do-gooders are at it again. They're taking aim at the state's billboards, and if they're successful, our lives will never be the same. I'll miss the glant man-eating clam and Freeway Fritz. Leave it to the liberals to take the fun out of

The clam sign in Cheboygan County is a landmark. It tells me better than any road sign that I'm getting close to the bridge. And Fritz. He lives on a billboard near Frankenmuth and gives me warm feelings about eating chicken and drinking beer in Frankenmuth.

Then there's Uncle John's Cider Mill on U.S. 27 north of Lansing. The sign has a great painting of a country bumpkin drinking cider. To me it's art as much as any painting in a museum. Without them, traveling would be a drab experience, kind of like walking the halls of some corporate office that has nothing but modern abstract paintings. Safe and sedate. Behind the move to ban billboards are the less than effective ultra liberal legislators Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, and Rep. Mary Brown, D-Kalamazoo.

We could easily enough ignore them, fellow legislators most often do. But what's bothersome is that the Michigan United Conservation Clubs has joined with Pollack and Brown. The conservation club is pretty mainstream and has pushed through some sensible legislation such as the bottle return law.

BILLBOARDS JUST aren't the blight or pollution the environmental nannies seem to think. They're important to the economy of northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, areas that, have more trees than

It bugs me when southern Michigan legislators try telling folks up -north what to do. To me it should be a local option. If Pollack wants to turn Little Annie Arbor into a billboard free zone, that's fine. It's already a reproductive free zone and a nuclear free zone. They may just as well show how goofy they are in Ann Arbor by establishing another free

And the same goes for Brown in Kalamazoo. We'd like to hear what the local business folks think of tearing down all their signs.

Folks like Pollack and Brown are armchair environmentalists. They, like others in the state, drive the freeways and major roads and decry the visual pollution caused by billboards, but probably spend little time in the woods, where there are no such signs.

I spend probably a month or so each year walking or skiing in the Michigan woods or in quest of trout on her streams. There are no signs in the woods, and there are rarely any people.

THE TRUTH is that most folks don't get any closer to nature than looking out a car window or stopping at a rest area. And folks from southern Michigan are the worst. They're cry babies. When they drive to Gaylord or Grayling, they want a theme park, not a real small town. So when they see a sign for the Call of the Wild Museum or Sea Shell City they call it visual pollution.

The thing here is jobs. Nothern

Michigan doesn't have them, but the southern part of the state does. And billboards help get people to stop and buy something from a local busi-

Local is the key. The chains like Holiday Inn or Pizza Hut will do fine, if billboards are banned. They have enough money to put up those huge metal or plastic signs you can see from the freeway. They also have money for court battles.

But it's the little guys with locally owned restaturants, motels and bait shops who will be hurt. And the tragedy is that the money spent at those shops stays in the local economy instead of being sent to the Holiday Inn corporate headquarters.

Banning billboards is another way to suck money out of local economies and put it in the hands of the big guys.

God save us from the liberals.

Disburbed by soccer coach

My experiences at the Livonia Y have always been good ones until how but am now considering withdrawing my membership.

The reason is a soccer coach of the instructional league (5-, 6-, and 7year-olds). You know who you are.

This coach is more concerned with winning than the self-esteem of his players. This coach will play his good players while his players who aren't as good sit out half of the game. When I asked this man why my son had to sit out half of the game, his reply was "Everyone wants to win." He admitted to me that the not so good players were not given equal time on the soccer field.

Now tell me what is more important to a 5-, 6-, and 7-year-old, winning or being given the chance to play. What do I tell my 7-year-old son when he asks why he doesn't get to play as much as the other kids.

Wake up coach, this is not a professional league, you are dealing with 5-, 6-, and 7-year-old children, players.

Exec builds case against new county districts

By Wayne Peal staff writer

The residence of Wayne County's deputy clerk is expected to play a role in the challenge to new county commission districts.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara will challenge the districts before the Michigan Court of Appeals - in part because deputy clerk Marya Sieminski, who helped draft the districts, is an Oakland County resident.

Sieminski, an Oak Park resident, replaced county Clerk James Killeen on the five-member county apportionment committee during much of the debate over the new districts.

A court challenge could come as soon as this week; Duggan said, though the executive's office is still preparing legal briefs.

Despite concerns about Sieminski's residence, McNamara is primarily upset because the districts appear to weaken his supporters on the commission.

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, would be placed into a district that also includes Maurice Breen, R-Plymouth Township. Kevin Kelley, D-Redford, would see large numbers of GOP-leaning Livonia voters added to his district. Democrats Susan Hubbard of Dearborn and William O'Neil of Allen Park, two additional McNamara supporters, would also be placed in the same district.

We think the process was tainted. from the beginning," Duggan said.
"These districts revolve around politics, not fairness."

CONTROVERSY OVER the new commission districts is seen as another example of the rift between McNamara and the United Auto Workers wing of his party.

McNamara has long been at odds with the UAW - Amann's primary challenger received heavy UAW backing — while Killeen has enjoyed strong_UAW backing. Steminski is married to a UAW official.

Apportionment commission members could have revised the districts last week. County Prosecutor John O'Hair, also an apportionment commission member, called for revisions in a letter to commission chairwoman Juliette Okotie-Eboh of Detroit.

Other commission members, however, said they believed the districts were already as fairly drawn as pos-

An open letter to-N.Y. robber

Dear Sir. Or maybe it's "Dear Madam," although I didn't see any women on Crosby Street north of Houston when the thieves struck.

You were fast. You had my suitcase, camera bag and raincoat out of the locked trunk of that black 1990 Mazda in a flash, and you didn't even pop the trunk

Sorry your screwdriver and hammer didn't work on the driver's side. I guess we rounded the corner too fast. When Eric said "heads up, be alert!" out of the corner of his mouth, you were already drifting away.

It was the first time I had been in New York City for a couple of years. I enjoyed the theater, saw the Seurat exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum and had just finished dinner at K Paul's when you struck. The big room with the small wooden tables was almost empty at 7 p.m. on a Friday

There was lots of action on Broadway. No place to park under the bright lights, of course. Nobody ever parks in a dark street by choice, even half a block from the bright lights, but this is New York City.

You weren't very menacing looking men: 30s, poor, baseball caps, a shuffling gait. One beside the Dumpster, two on the driver's side of our car, a third on the opposite side. You saw us and drift-

We were eager to get into the car without confrontation so the only thing we noticed was that the key wouldn't go into the driver's door; obviously somebody had tried to get in. We didn't notice until we opened the trunk an hour later that my suitcase, camera bag and raincoat were gone.

We reported the theft to the Ninth precinct. I called the airline to notify them of the stolen ticket and to ask the procedure for replacing it. Common sense suggested that if you didn't show up with my ticket, and I could identify myself as the traveler who bought it, I could use the seat that I reserved and paid for on my flight home. Not so.

The agent told me that I would have to buy a new ticket home, submit a lost-ticket report, and the airline would then consider refunding me the cost of the second ticket minus $50 for the trouble they had taken to replace it. I objected. It was obviously a great deal more trouble to me than to them.

"I don't make the rules," she sald.

I arrived early for my Sunday flight and went through it again. The only ticket available was first class for $315, despite the fact that my seat, bought on a non-refundable $198 round trip ticket, was presumably still

'If you find your ticket . . . " "The ticket is not lost, it's

1 bought the $315 return ticket with the one credit card that I still possessed. I am home, waiting for my refund.

You robbed a reasonably affluent business traveler with more than one credit card, friends in New York City and Detroit. I'm lucky. I still have keys to the car was waiting for me at the airport and money to pay the parking fee.

The question I would like to ask you, and the airlines, is what would I have done if I didn't have all those good things going for me? No credit cards, money, friends, car. Would I be sleeping now on the airline terminal floor trying to figure out how to get JESTION: Can you recommend some good weekend getaways now that it is too cold for camping in Michigan? We love the state parks, but we would be interested in any natural setting where we can vacation without spending too much money.

ANSWER: I suggest you go south of the border. Not across the U.S. border to México but across the state border to Ohio, where there are 72 state parks, eight of them with resort lodges and cabins.

is in Michigan, and of course it gets warmer as you go south,

Most of us don't think of Ohio as a destination except during the theme park season. We drive through it on the way to Florida, but we usually don't stop until we get south of Cincinnati. You may have explored the state park resorts in Kentucky, Tennessee and even Indiana, but have you explored the state park resorts

You can trick or treat from campsite to campsite on Halloween. Dig for fossils in Hueston Woods. Walk through the fall colors from Old

Ohio state parks don't turn out the lights and go to sleep for the winter, like Rip Van Winkle, They launch one of their busiest seasons, with festivals and other events on the calendar through the fall and into winter.

Have you ever hiked Hope Lake, walking the trail into the middle of Zaleski State Forest? You hike past the old Hope Furnace smelters. "If you go far enough, you'll stumble over an old whiskey still, see beaver dams, turn-a-corner, and-startle a flock of wild turkeys."

That's Cindy Gates, information specialist at the DNR, who grew up in Maumee, site of the newest Ohio state park, Maumee Bay, and has had a love affair with almost all of the state parks.

"Southeast Ohio is the most scenic area. The lay of the land is gorgeous so there are vistas year-round. In the southwest, you can get permits to dig for fossils in Hueston Woods. Stone Lick and Caesar Creek.

'Hocking Hills State Park is geo-

As for the horse camps, it's strictly BYOH: Bring Your Own Horse, Clubs all over the state have found them at places like East Fork and Caesar Creek.

Not everybody likes roughing it. In Gates'-words-"some-people-thinkthat they're camping when room service is late." Seven of Ohio's state parks have lodges, cabins and other resort facilitles run by TW Recreational Services Inc., a division of Canteen Corp. of Chicago: Shawnee Hueston Woods and Deer Creek are in the southern half of the state; Salt Fork, Burr Oak and Punderson are central and east; Maumee Bay is 15 miles east of Toledo.

Mohican State Park Resort is run by Service American Corp. Why? the management of each state park resort is put up for bid every year and that's the way the cookie crumbles.

Resort rates are $69 to $86 for twopeople in a room April through October, $400 to $465 a week for cabins that sleep at least six people. The resorts take reservations up to one year in advance: Oct. 1, 1991 for Oct. 1, 1992. Cabins fill first. Lodge rooms are booked heavily for high season weekends, but often have cancellations.

Ohio state park resorts are a moderately priced way to spend a close-to-home weekend in the fall. Greens fees on the golf courses are tupicalle.

Visitors can get permits to dig for fossils in Hueston Woods, Ohio, near Oxford. This is the view from the path to the lake.

Whacked Salem, Hister paddle Glenn, 28-7

By Brad Emons staff writer

It was a scene right out of the old game show "What's My Line?" "Would the real Plymouth Salem football team please stand up."

The Rocks finally lived up to their preseason billing in a big way Friday, getting 239 yards from tallback Leon Hister en route to a convincing 28-7 win against previously unbeaten Westland John Glenn.

The victory also spoiled Glenn's homecoming and ended years of frustration against the Rockets.

"The real Plymouth Salem football team played tonight," declared coach Tom Moshimer, whose team snapped a two-game losing skid. "We just played with a lot more emotion. We didn't do anything different tonight, we just did it better."

The Rocks, coming off losses to top-ranked Farmington Harrison (21-12) and North Farmington (17-13), racked up 434 total yards and controlled the line of scrimmage throughout much of the evening.

"We played a good second half against Harrison and had two nice drives against North, but we haven't played a whole game with this type of intensity," Moshimer said. "It's football been a long time since we played this well."

GLENN SIMPLY ran into a buzzsaw.

"It's obvious they (Salem) were disappointed in their start and wanted to prove something," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "They didn't start the season the way they wanted, but coach Moshimer and his staff did a great job of holding that team together after the two losses."

Hister, the 5-foot-9, 182-pound senior, made life miserable for Glenn.

He carried the ball 32 times and scored three touchdowns on runs of 28, 1 and 44 yards.

"The guy runs hard and he's tough to bring down," Gordon said. "One man can't bring him down. And that's hard to do anyway because their offensive linemen sustain their blocks so well."

Providing the necessary holes up front for Hister were Kevin Werner, Patrick Stanton, Pat Vesnaugh, Josh Viau, Joe Hayes and Alphsonso Hys-

Ironically, Glenn, which gained 270 yards in total offense, scored first, taking two only minutes to get on the board.

Senior tailback Tad Quattlander, who led the Rockets with 142 yards in 18 carries, capped a 73-yard, fiveplay drive with an electrifying 39yard touchdown run around end. (Chris Bandy's extra point made it 7-

SALEM, however, immediately answered with an 87-yard, eight-play TD drive of its own. On the first play from scrimmage, Rocks quarterback Pete Zantop connected with Hysko, the tight end, on a 37-yard pass, and Hister followed with a 28-yard TD run. (Anuar Vargas knotted the count at 7-7 with the first of his four extra points.)

The Rocks struck again later in the first quarter, this time going 88 yards in only five plays. Dan Burke's 49-yard run up the middle set up Zantop's 6-yard TD keeper.

The two teams then exchanged fumbles in the second period.

Glenn threatened midway through the quarter, driving all the way to the Salem 22, but was stalled on fourth-and-8.

C'ville coach resigns

By Ray Setlock staff writer

Livonia Clarenceville Athletic Director Leo Kinsella said he was caught by surprise when football coach Mark Ladd walked into his office last week and resigned.

Kinsella said Ladd accepted an offer to coach and teach social studies in Georgia. He has been working as a substitute teacher locally for the past year.

"He told me that he'd gotten an offer from a school down south that he just couldn't refuse," Kinsella said. "I did not see this coming at all."

Ladd coached his final game for Clarenceville on Friday, a 40-14 loss at Detroit Lutheran West. Kinsella said assistant coach Russ McKenzie will take over the program, effective Monday.

Northville rally leaves Pats empty

Quarterback Ryan Huzjak threw a 10-yard touch-down pass to receiver Eric Shaw Friday to cap Northville's thrilling, 23-16, comeback football win over visiting Livonia Franklin.

The Mustangs, who improved to 3-1 overall and 2-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, trailed 16-0 with about five minutes left in Franklin, meanwhile, fell to 2-2 overall and 1-1 in the Western Division.

Huzjak, who completed 24-of-41 passes for 275 yards, started the Mustangs' comeback with a 21-yard scoring pass to Jamie Miller late in the fourth quarter:

Danny Walsh helped force overtime for Northville when he returned a punt 65 yards for a TD with less than two minutes left. Northville converted each twopoint attempt to send the game into overtime tied at 16. The Patriots enjoyed a 16-0 halftime lead on a pair of

TD runs by Jason Facione of 3 and 2 yards. Franklin quarterback David Little, who suffered a dislocated shoulder late in the game, added a 23-yard second quarter field goal. Aaron Sharkarlan, Franklin's senior fullback, led all rushers with 127 yards in 26 carries. Franklin's defense came up with three fumble recoveries and one interception. "Our defense was outstanding except for the passing yardage we gave up late," Franklin coach Armand Vigna said. "We played a good enough ballgame to win." The Patriots had a chance to force a second OT, but Mate then made a key play on defense, recovering a Lincoln Park fumble, and a few plays later, Welmore threw a 9-yard TD pass to Ballard. The two-point conversion pass from more to Barnes made the score 16-14 in favor of Wayne.

Lincoln Park came back, however, to score on a 73-yard, 11 play drive, capped by Phil Barbosa's 3-yard run with 3:16 re-

Churchill is 0-4 overall and 0-2 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Western is 2-2 overall and 1-1 in the division.

The Warriors successfully executed the two-point conversion following Budd's TD, making the score 18-0 at halftime. Arnie Gillert capped off the Western scoring in the third quarter on a 2-yard run. The Warriors gained 172 yards in total offense, 103 of which came on the ground.

Quick Macomb strikes sink SC

By C.J. Risak staff writer

It's a concept reaching its zenith worldwide. Even countries that for much of this century worshipped communism are now beginning to praise capitalism.

Certainly it's been fully endorsed by Macomb Community College's soccer team. The Monarchs looked every bit like model capitalists Saturday, pouncing on any Schoolcraft College mistake like it was unclaimed gold bullion and converting it into a goal.

Or goals. Macomb CC struck three times in the opening half, then went into a defensive shell in the second that withstood the Ocelots' pressure to secure a 3-0 victory at Macomb.

It was a win of some importance. As Monarch coach Mick Lakatos said, either Macomb or SC have represented Region 12 at the NJCAA Inter-regional Tournament every year for the past 15.

This victory gives the Monarchs the early advantage (they're 4.0 in the region, SC is 2-1). The two teams meet again, this time at SC, on Oct.

THE OCELOTS will have to do. things a lot better than they did Saturday if they want to even things up with Macomb (three times in the last seven years, the two teams have met in a one-game playoff after tying for the regular-season title; SC has won all three). "I don't want to take anything away from (Macomb)," said SC coach Van Dimitriou, "They're a good ball club. They took advantage of every opportunity given to them

- and I mean given to them." What perturbed Dimitriou was what he perceived was a lackadaisical effort by several Ocelots. "You: can't win a game of this magnitude with a partial effort," he said. "I best and others didn't."

SC keeper Scott Hauman summed grade stuff out there. It was just mental. We weren't with it mental-

Which was evident in the game's first few minutes. Ocelot defender Shane Millner lined up a goal kick then squibbed it. No other SC defender was in position to cover it. Macomb's Randy Hayosh reached it, sent it to John Gaynor, and Gaynor netted it for a 1-0 Monarch lead.

ANOTHER OCELOT miscue led directly to Macomb's second goal. A Monarch rush had been stopped in the corner and SC defender Shawn Mac had the ball — but not for long. He gave it up to Rinaldo Lucchesi, who centered it to Nino Chirco. Chir-, co looped his shot over Hauman and into the goal, making it 2.0.

Lucchesi set up the third goal as well, sending a long ball into Mike Weiskirch, who beat Mac and popped it over Hauman.

"We played a real good first half." said Lakatos, the Macomb coach. "I thought we played too defensively in the second half. You like not to have to spend the entire half kicking the ball out of your end." . .

The quick strikes by his team, however, were unexpected. "I was a little surprised we got through the Schoolcraft defense as well as we did," Lakatos said. "But they tightened it up in the second half.

And the Ocelots pressured -- but to no avail. Three times in the game, they put shots off either the crossbar or goalpost.

They had their chances: "We thought certain people gave their missed all sorts of opportunities." admitted Dimitriou.

That's something that will have to It up succinctly: "That was third- be rectified between now and Oct. 9.

Blazers collapse down stretch

By Brad Emons staff writer

No, the Beatles aren't back together, but the finish was certainly a scream Thursday night as Farmington Hills Mercy went into overtime to beat Livonia Ladywood, 51-47, in a battle of fierce girls basketball rivals.

An estimated crowd of 1,000 certainly had a deafening effect inside Redford Catholic Central High's gym.

It was a 'Hard Days Night' for the victorious Marlins, who finally reeled in the Blazers during the latter stretches of the game.

Ladywood, on the strength of three-point shooter Mary Jo Kelly (16 points), enjoyed a 34-30 advantage after three quarters.

But Mercy held Ladywood to only three shots from the field in the final quarter and forced 11 turnovers, capping the comeback when senior center Laure DeMattia (14 points) split a part of free throws with seven seconds left in regulation.

With the score tied at 41-all, Mercy made a McCartney-like statement, completing the 'Long and Winding Road' by outscoring Ladywood 10-6.

Kelly nailed a three-pointer to start the period, but Mercy responded with six critical points, four by senior guard Kathleen Berrigan, who led all scorers with 19 points.

"OUR SENIORS stepped up big and Berrigan, in some respect, took the game over," said Mercy coach Larry Baker, whose team is 6-2 overall. "Our motto this season is to play an entire 32minute game. The first thing I said between the end of regulation and the overtime is that it's now a 35-minute game. Maybe all the condition- sive," said Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh, Mercy was also able to overcome nine-first quarter turnovers, trailing by only one, 12-11.

The Marlins led by as many as five in the second period, only to watch the lead disappear in the last 2:13 (before intermission) on three straight Ladywood 3-pointers, including two by Mercy struggled to find itself in the third, falling behind as many as seven before slicing the deficit back to four on Valire Jones' free throw with 58 seconds to go.

"Jones and Marshelle Brooks both played their best games of the season off the bench," Baker said. "And that was a real boost to us because we had to play over their adrenaline rush and our mistakes."

. But it was the Blazers' mistakes - 32 turnovers on the night — which contributed to their demise in the final quarter.

They were lucky, however, to stay pretty much even thanks to three free throws by Janet Davis (15 points) and a clutch drive to the hoop by 6foot-1 junior center Katle Wright with 21 seconds

The Trojans overcame a Kingswood first-half press, outscoring the Aardvarks 21-12 in the second.

"If our girls come out and play like they did in the second half, the rest of the season, hopefully we'll win some more league games," Clarenceville coach Bob Wolf said.

Guy sings blues in the blues way

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

What Eric Clapton raved about and Jimi Hendrix once skipped a gig for is finally here — a Buddy Guy studio album capturing all the surges and wonderment of his live pérformances.

Damn Right, I've Got the Blues" is the Baton Rouge-born and Chicago-based guitarist's first studio album in 10 years. Buoyant, brimming with both soul and energy, the 10song effort on Silvertone springs out like a cobra from behind a dandelion patch on its title track opening cut.

This LP is something of a celebration, if not a long overdue one for those who consider Guy one of the best blues guitarists around. The festive nature of this effort, though, is tempered by an emotionally aching Guy instrumental called "Remembe-- rin' Stevie."

See, Stevie Ray Vaughan always wanted to be on any album Guy recorded and kept reminding him about it. Vaughan died on Aug. 27, 1990, after performing with Guy at a Wisconsin blues jam session. The helicopter carrying Vaughan crashed.

"I had lyrics that I could have put to that," said Guy in a telephone interview, "but I did that because Stevie was such a great musician and I wanted people to know how good he m liwe had four choppers up there that night. They had pledged to help me and get me into the studio. He (Valighan) sald he would be there."

MARK KNOPFLER, Jeff Beck d Clapton appear on "Damn Right, T've Got the Blues," which might be classified as something of an all-star blues session along with being Guy's gultar manisfesto.

Along with his own material, Guy does a rave-up version of Wilson Pickett's "Mustang Sally" and his rendition of John Hlatt's "Where Is the Next One Coming In" is a solid offering. More importantly, the album does justice to Guy's work as a live performer.

Guy credits the help in the studio from "his friends" but also the location of the recording - London, England.

"I started thinking of Hendrix," Guy said. "He played as well here as he did there, but he could never get that thing out here. Then he went to England and, 'boom bam,' there it was.'

"Damn Right, I've Got the Blues" is Guy's first LP since "Stone Crazy," released in 1981. But those are only two entries in a recording and performing career that spans four decades.

The son of sharecroppers, Guy left his Louisiana home in 1957 and went north in search of work. Unsuccessful in finding a job, he was only in Chicago for a couple of months when he ran out of money.

GUY WALKED the streets and hadn't eaten in three days when a stranger asked him if he could play the blues. After an informal audition, he was promptly escorted to the 708 Club and was put on stage with

One person in the audience was so impressed, he invited the young gul-tailst to his Cadillac to falk about the blues. Muddy Waters also offered Guy the best salami sandwich he's probably ever tasted.

After working as a sideman with Waters, Guy released a pair of albums on Vanguard in 1968 - "Man and the Blues" and a live LP "This is Buddy Guy." Both earned four-star ratings in "The New Rolling Stone Record Gulde."

Some of his later recordings have been termed uneven, mainly due to a lack of technical resources in the studio that were afforded to many other commercially successful art-

Whereas this is a source of bitterness with many old-time blues performers, Guy has faced his trials with stoicism and humbleness. While the likes of the Rolling Stones and Clapton reaped the financial success playing music Robert Johnson, Lightin' Hopkins, Howlin' Wolf and Guy himself helped define, grudges

don't fuel his passion to play music. "I think those guys did it the same

On his first studio album in 10 years, guitarist Buddy Guy has come up with a 10-song effort, brimming over with soul and energy.

way we did," he said. "I think the British people got more exposure than we got. I think it's just a part of life. I think those things just happen: Those people had respect for the music. If they didn't, maybe I'd feel dif-

"CLAPTON AND the Stones along with lke and Tina Turner helped America find out who Howlin' Wolf and Muddy Waters were."

Major labels have taken heed. Silvertone, which is distributed by R.C.A., has signed Guy and Virgin has started a blues' label Point

A passing fad? Or, an attempt by the industry to recognize the rich blues talent in this country? Guy sald he's not good at predicting the future. He's just glad to have an album out.

"At least more kids will know who I am," he said.

Buddy Guy will perform Saturday, Oct. 5, at the Majestic Theatre, 4120 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Doors open at 8 p.m. Tickets are $12.50 in advance. For information, call 99-MUSIC.

ELECTRIC LANDLADY — Kirsty MacColl

It may be said that young Kirsty is the Pia Zadora of the alternative scene, what with her husband being famous producer Steve Lillywhite of U2, Joy Division, etc., etc., fame, and being pals with the Smiths; Billy Bragg, The Pogues and a variety of music heads.

"Fix! Fix!," I hear all local bands who do their time treading the boards of any flea pit that'll have

Well, in the words of one of her friends, Billy Bragg, "Think, think again!" Kirsty has to try harder to overcome these jibes and to prove her worth herself.

And prove it she does. She first came to prominence on the British scene with a cover version of Bragg's "New England," and she was also featured on the Pogues' "Fairytale of New York" single.

Here, she is the focal point herself, albeit with the help of her friends, perhaps returning old favors.

By now, all you faithful listeners to CIMX-FM, will be familiar with the highly danceable and funky "Walking Down Madison," which features the incredible guitar playing of ex-Smiths-Talking Head-Brian Ferry-Pretenders-The The-Electronic-anybody who" pay the rent-wonder boy Johnny Marr, who also shares songwriting credits.

It is an examination of guilt imposed by the troubled streets of New York and the moral dilemmas and contrasts of the fabulous and simultaneously disgusting city . . . and you thought it just had a good beat and you could dance to it!

Marr is also involved with the third track "Children of the Revolution tion" which, lyrically, is as political as its title suggests.

Musically, it is a Smithsish-Brazilian bop given MacColl's character; istic velvet-smooth vocal treatment. But before that is the delightful "All I Ever Wanted Was," which is a happy, jaunty bopper musically which, lyrically, bemoans a woman's non-understanding of her relation! ship with her man. The "boppy" nature of the song is completely understood when, upon examining the songwriting credits; we find local hero Marshall Crenshaw listed. Mark E. Nevin is the next collabo.

rator listed and his heavily Johnny. Marr influenced guitar colors "Hals loween," which is a pleasant, brass lined ode to dreams and feelings disguised by costumes and masks. Nevin is also the co-writer of "My Affair" which, again, is a brassbacked, salsa-type declaration of independence by MacColl. This is probably one of the weaker numbers on the album. Other collaborators on the album include Jem Finer of the Pogues and the Pogues themselves play on the last track, "The One and Only."

Overall, Kirsty MacColl possesses

one of the most listenable and melancholy voices around today. With the quality of the people surrounding her, she has produced a fine collection of intelligent and melodic songs well executed.

New pizza bases loaded with flavor

Rarely does a new food product come along that really gets me excited, and tastes good at the same time. Food products come and go, often to the tune of 40,000 times per year, and they all jockey for valuable floor space in the supermarket:

Bringing a product to market requires big budgets, not to mention tons of information and regulations.

Labeling requirements, packaging, health department rules, transportation, marketing. in addition to consumer surveys, escalate the basic cost of a product sometimes as much as 50 percent.

So when I see a new product at the grocery store, especially. when it's coupled with a cents off coupon, I'm a sucker to buy it. Frequently, I'm less than satisfied, but occasionally I get my socks knocked off.

And so it happened last month when I tried my first Boboli ____ bread. I couldn't help but pick up the 89 cent trial package, especially because pizza is such a staple around the Janes Gang home.

The circular hunk of bread resembling a Frisbee with zits proved to be tasty and time saving even though it seemed a bit over-priced.

My next trip to the store brought a bundle of the larger sized Boboli's ringing in on the express lane at $3.19 each.

"What's this?" I ask the startled checkout clerk, "six-fifty for two pizza bases? Figure in the Mozzarella, veggies and pepperoni and I'm spending over $12 to make two medium pizzas at home!"

I mean, hey, the stuff tastes good, even though one major daily said it tasted "a little. yeasty" but convenience certainly has it's price, doesn't it?

THE SCENE changes now to a recent cooking demonstration for the Women's Guild at St. John Newman Church in Canton and lo and behold, I hear that Boboli can be bought at some thrift bakeries, like Entenmann's on Newburgh south of I-96, for half price! Saints be praised!

If you have a one dimensional mind, and think that Boboli can be used solely for a pizza base, dream on:

SINCE I found a new, lower price, I'm using them for garlic bread, meat ple crusts, and vegetable tart bases.

The Boboli folks claim on their packaging that the rounds make great garlic-cheese bread and pizzas. Yours truly has used the bread as a deep dish ple shell, and has slathered on everything from taco-scented beef to quickly sauteed seafood bits, in addition to shredded cheese and steamed vegetables.

At a recent tallgate party of a University of Michigan football game. I loaded up a base shell with assorted luncheon meats, cheese and vegetables, and topped it off with another shell.

Elongated toothpicks held the filling securely while the rounded "submarine" was cut into fingerable sandwiches, then wrapped in foil and heated, just enough to melt the cheese.
Yesterday, I topped them with paper thin slices of tomato from the garden, drizzled on a little olive oil and some fresh chopped basil and a sprinkling of parmesan cheese.

Popped that baby under the broiler for a few minutes and wow! You'll never want to use that refrigerated poppin fresh stuff again!

MY ONLY complaint? In a recent letter to the manufacturer, I expressed my concern about the missing nutritional data and requested a nutritional breakdown for my files.

There's little doubt that Boboli bread will be the hottest thing this holiday season, especially with the rage for pizzas.

Boboli is available at all major grocery stores in the bread department, usually hung on display pegs. The bread freezes well, and if prolonged storage is called for, about an hour of defosting is all that is necessary before use.

Mustard magic!

Cooks can muster up a spread of varieties

By Geri Rinschler special writer

HIS IS the right mustard." she proclaimed in her distinctive, warbled voice, "Dijon mustard, not hot dog mustard" as our beloved Julia demonstrated a favorite salad dressing recipe with co-host Joan Lunden of TV's "Good Morning America," recently,

MOST PROFESSIONAL chefs will agree a Dijon mustard is by far a better choice when preparing salad dressings and sauces. Why? Most Dijon and Dijon-style mustards are prepared_with_white_wine_(or-traditionally, made in France with the juice of unripe grapes known as

On the other hand, those mustards which fall into the category of hot dog mustard or the so-called ballpark mustards are made with a mild flavored mustard seed, lots of vinegar, and lots of tymeric in order to achieve that brilliant, yellow col-

Ah, now if there were only two varieties of mustard to choose from this story would come to an abrupt halt. The fact is that after a recent, gastronomic tour of specialty food shops in Ann Arbor, Birmingham and Detroit, the last count was just over 100 different jars of prepared mustard to delight (or in some instances, revolt) your palate.

THERE IS a plethora of mustards readily available from a piquant Dusseldorf from Germany to a creamy Wisconsin mustard blended with crushed cranberries.

There are strong, full strength English mustards blended with whole mustard seeds, vinegar, chillies and block programs and lies and black peppercorns, and some made in the mountains of Maine or the lake shore of Wisconsin enriched with beer, ale or imported Guiness stout.

Honey mustards, herb mustards from Provence and others blended with lemons, limes are all packaged attractively in painted crocks or in glass jars with fancy fabric covered tops and cutesy labels designed to confuse all of us.

Shopping for a few good mustards can be quite a chore. So before venturing out on your own here's some advice from the experts, and some personal recommendations after extensive tastings, lots of discussion and more tastings.

Lead content of wine too low to be harmful

Since early August, there has been significant misinformation in the press about lead levels in wine. Together with totally misleading statements, there have been insinuations that leave the reader questioning.

"Even the lead capsules on bottles." are under scrutiny," one writer remarked. This is poor journalism because the issue was not explained in the story.

As a health-conscious consuming public, you should be aware of the facts that put the lead issue into perspective.

Studies currently in progress suggest that California wines have less lead than many commonly-consumed foods and much of the nation's drinking water. THE BUREAU of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, the national regulatory agency for wine, beer and spirits, has performed tests on over 500 foreign and American wine samples over the past two years.

The agency released its study find-

Consumers do not risk ingesting harmful amounts of lead from wine. A wine drinker is exposed to less lead from wine than from many other foods and drinking water. Wine is not consumed by infants and children - the groups thought to be at greatest risk from excessive lead exposure.

would buy it," Marshall added. Today, Mucky Duck is available in 600 stores in Michigan and in 15 states.

BESIDES HONEY mustard, Smith suggested Rothschild, Raspberry Crunch, a whole grain mustard made at the Rothschild Berry Farm in Urbana, Ohio, and Southwest, a creamy, red chile and honey mustard made in Phoenix, Arizona.

The Big "10" party Store in Ann Arbor has sold 90 cases of Honeycup mustard in the past six weeks according to Theresa Montag, the shop's manager.

"Honeycup has been our No. 1 seller followed by Grey Poupon and then Mucky Duck," she said. The trend is going away from the simple or bland mustards toward the more exotic mustards. Big "10" carries a large selection (over 90) of mustards from England, France, Sweden, the Virgin Islands, the United States and Germany.

"We have a big German community here and when we run out of Dusseldorf mustard we really hear about it, Montag added. Among the exotic favorites at the Big "10" Party Store are Bech's Rum Flavored Mackinac Skipper, Luzianne Creole and Fawcett's Creamy Lime mustard from the Virgin Islands.

Although it may appear overwhelming, all mustards can be divided into varieties. Generally, they're cither English or English-style (made with mustard flour and water such as Colman's).

Dijon or Dijon-style (a smooth mustard made with wine or vinegar and ground mustard flour from brown or black seeds), Coarsegrained (made as it was before the invention of smooth mustards in 1702, with vinegar, salt and other seasonings).

German (a mild, creamy mustard made from the flour of yellow seeds) or Bavarlan, a bit sweeter taste made from brown seeds, or Flavored mustards (generally made from a mild, smooth base to which herbs. fruit or onions have been added).

All the mustards sampled for recommendation were tasted alone with a spoon. A good tasting mustard should taste good, on it's own. The ingredients should blend nicely and one flavor should not overpower the others and above all be palatable. Most of the herb mustards sampled did not resemble the herbs listed as an ingredient.

Generally, herbs which have been sitting in mustard for more than a week lose their freshness and become acidic. It's quite easy to prepare an herb mustard at home by adding either fresh or dried herbs to a small amount of basic, smooth Di-Jon or French champagne mustard.

Two of the fruit flavored mustards sampled, Wisconsin Wilderness Cranberry Mustard and Middlesex Farm' Orange and Hot Mustards were surprisingly pleasant although neither had a distinctive, fruit fla-

Again, fruit flavored mustards can be made at home by adding finely. chopped orange or lemon peel or zest to a basic Dijon, French champagne or honey mustard. Two tablespoons of grated peel to 1 cup of mustard should do it.

Although mustard never goes bad in the refrigerator, it's flavor and zest diminish. A shelf life of six months is recommended.

When cooking with mustard there are no rigid rules, just a little advice. Since the pungency of mustard intensifies with heat, you may want to add it toward the end of the prepara-

The smooth, mild prepared mustards are recommended for salad dressings sauces and soups. The coarse-grained mustards usually contain a high vinegar content and should be reserved to accompany ham and sausages.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but ittakes a bit of planning. Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Pick up your free Garage Sale folder in our affice when you place your ad! (Contains two signs, two arrows, a handy ledger, 14 tips for a successful sale and nine tips for a successful ad)
