Sears still considering mall expansion

By Leonard Poger editor

Is Sears Roebuck still interested in buying Westland Center and doubling the retail floor space? City Council President Thomas Brown says no. The Westland city administration disagrees.

A spokesman for Homart Development Co., Sears' development agent,

"Negotiations have been continuing and are very positive.

"From our perspective and that of (Westland Center's owner), negotiations are continuing and we are making progress,"

- That was the word Tuesday after- . noon from Kevin Caulfield, Homart's marketing manager.

In a telephone interview from the firm's Chicago offices, Caulfield said that Homart and the center's owner "have made considerable progress" in negotiations, "but there are still certain conditions and terms" that have to be met.

"We are definitely making progress," said Caulfield, although he declined to pinpoint a timetable when year," he said.

The issue surfaced at a Westland Chamber of Commerce city council candidates' forum Tuesday. Eight candidates seeking four council seats Nov. 5, were asked their opinions on what the city's role should be in helping finance the proposed expansionand parking garage.

The Homart plan "is a moot ques-tion," said Brown. The proposal "has been tossed out of the window." Brown said the problem resulted from a lack of cooperation from local elected officials and businesses.

David Cox, one of eight council candidates, told the chamber audience that the Homart plan "is in the fall of its existence."

But Mayor Robert Thomas, in the audience for the candidates' program, and Scott Veldhuis, the city's economic development director, said the negotiations for Homart's purchase of the 1-million-square-foot center are continuing.

IN SEPARATE interviews, the two administrators said they have talked to the Homart representative involved in the negotiations and were told that talks with Equitable Life Assurance Society, current owners of Westland Center, are continu-

"I talked to Ron Winfrey (Homart's senior development director) and he assured me there is no change in the situation and a deal is still possible, Veldhuis said.

Thomas, who has supported the proposal and city financial help, said he "knows of no decision to drop the

"No one involved (in the negotiations told us of any changes in negotiations," said the mayor.

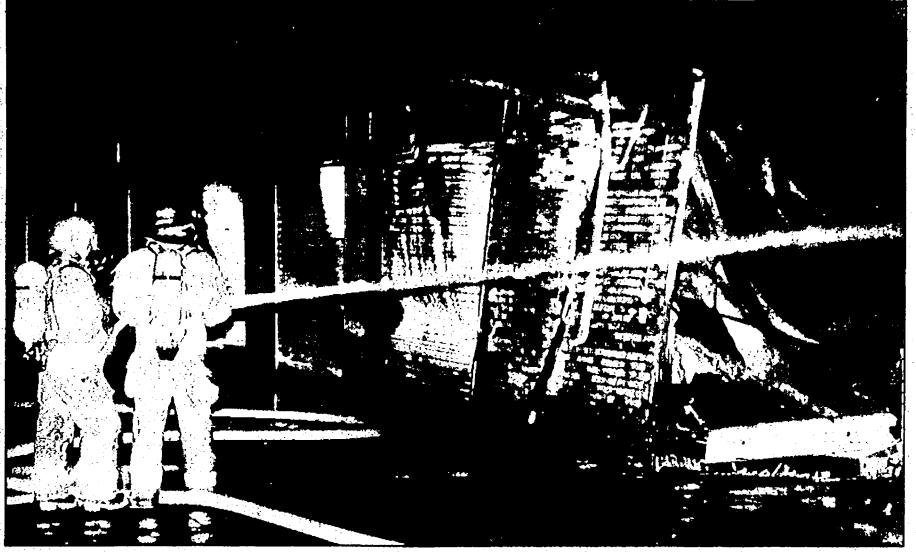

Thomas added that he has a "gutfeeling" that if Sears doesn't locate in Westland Center, it would look for a site in nearby Canton Township.

But the mayor insisted that he still feels that Sears has a "market hole to fill" and that locating in Westland Center would be a viable location.

Lockers damaged

A spectacular fire Tuesday night caused extensive damage to six self-storage lockers on Wayne Road north of Cowan. The Westland fire department said Wednesday morning it is still investigating the origin and cause of the blaze. Smoke from the fire at Stor-N-Lock, 7840 N. Wayne Road, could be seen from a distance, attracting residents from the neighborhood. The blaze was fought by firefighters from the city's four stations and nine off-duty firefighters, who were at the fire for four hours before returning for cleanup. To provide backup emergency medical help were departments from Garden City, Wayne and Canton Township.

Wanted: nominations for city's First Citizen

Nominations are wanted for the First Citizen of Westland for the 1991 award.

The winner of the sixth annual community service award will be announced the week of Nov. 4 and honored publicly at a Westland Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Deadline for nominations is 5 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, to nominate people for the award, given to a person for outstanding volunteer community service work, although in some cases the judging panel considered the record of people for their work-related activities.

The previous five winners were Joseph Benyo, Thomas Brown, Sam Corrado, Linda Pratt and Sharon

School board recall effort blocked again

staff writer

The planned recall of three Wayne-Westland school board members may end up in court after the. Wayne County Elections Commission rejected a proposed recall petition for the third time Monday.

By a 2-1 vote, the commission denied Steven Lind, leader of the recall campaign, the right to petition support for a recall election, saying the proposed petition lacked clarity.

Commissioners voted the same way in throwing out proposed petitions from Lind in July and August.

"We're going to appeal to show the public that we're not the one's making mistakes," Lind said, noting that an attorney would file an appeal in Wayne County circuit court next week for the recall backers.

Lind is chairman of New Beginnings for Our Children, a committee of about 200 Wayne and Westland residents supporting a recall of the three board members. The committee's executive board decided to appeal the latest election commission vote at a meeting Monday night.

"It's the attorney representing the three school board members who's playing word games. I'm not interested in playing word games any-

Recall leaders want to oust board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak for voting earlier this year to raise teacher salaries 11.9 percent over two years and cut programs. The cuts dropped art and music classes in elementary schools, shortened junior high school days an hour and make students pay to play sports.

Monday's vote was "unbelievable." Lind said. "No matter what we do, the (election commission) has predetermined that there is not going to be a recall election in this school district."

The recall committee had revised the petitions to satisfy criticisms of the earlier proposals, Lind said.

"OUR FIRST petition was rejected because it was too specific," he said. "But our last petition was rejected because it wasn't specific enough. I just don't know what they want in the petition anymore."

The third petition said the three board members should be recalled because they "voted in favor of granting teachers a pay raise of over 11 percent" in February.

"At the same meeting, after voting to grant these raises, (they) voted in favor of school program cuts."

Before the vote, attorney Dick James, who represented the three board members, said the petition is defective because it fails to indicate the date of the meeting, the time period the pay raise covers and the nature of the program cuts.

"The petition must be such that. voters can make an informed decision" about whether to sign the petition, said James of the law firm Allen, James, Tanner and Foley in Southfield.

Hospital hopes to raise money hosting 'Wedding'

Want to attend a Polish wedding with all the color and extras?

Then Garden City Osteopathic Hospital has invitations for you.

The "wedding" is being planned for Saturday, Oct. 12, to raise money for the hospital.

But in addition to the donation, those attending the "wedding" will get an education on the customs and traditions of an ethnic group, said hospital spokesman Mitchell Nimmoor.

The idea for staging an ethnic event was born a year ago in the hospital's development and community services department.

Discussing fund-raising, the subcommittee came up with the idea of hosting an ethnic event not only to provide something tangible for supporters' donations, but to offer them exposure to the customs and traditions of a specific nationality, Nim-

Because of the popularity of that event, the hospital decided to honor. another ethnic group, the Polish, with another ethnic celebration the "Polish Wedding."

"WE HAVE commissioned a dance troupe to reenact a typical; Polish village wedding, complete 's taining thanks for your donation, with authentic costumes and music," Nimmoor said. "And a Polish wedding is not a Polish wedding without food - and lots of it! Although the wedding will be staged, the buffetstyle Polish dinner will be the real McCoy, or rather, the real McCoy-

Nimmoor said the menu will include favorites as pierogi, sauerkraut, klelbasa, city chicken, meatballs, stuffed cabbage and pastries.

"And for those who can't attend a wedding without dancing, we've arranged for a five-piece orchestra,"

Every detail has been anticipated to assure the 'wedding' is as realistic and enjoyable as possible. Our guests will come away feeling as is they've attended a ceremony in the Old

"This event will provide an enterpartially covered as a tax deduction, offer background on one of our most colorful cultures and keep you in suspense for what next year's ethnic celebration has in store."

The "wedding" will be held from 6 p.m. to midnight at the Stitt American Legion Post 232, at 23850 Military, Dearborn Heights. For information, call the hospital's development and community services department at 458-4330.

cooperation from elected officials, Thomas pointed out that his administration has supported the proposed expansion and the use of city Tax Increment Financing Authority (TIFA)

IN RELATED comments at the chamber program, Cox also supported the use of TIFA dollars to help the center's expansion. He views the use of those funds as a financial investment. But like other candidates, Cox was concerned about the increased traffic problems if the expansion becomes reality.

Council candidate Glenn Anderson said that the city should serve "as a catalyst" for the proposed expansion, saying that the viability of Westland Center is critical to the city and its smaller businesses. While Westland Center "must be competitive" with other mails, he didn't want local TIFA or other public funds used for the expansion.

Councilman Tom Artley was adamant in opposing city financial support for the expansion, although he said ho has no problem in using TIFAS and for infrastructure improperior, such as for roads and street lights. But he insisted that the city must gain "more control of the traffic problem" near the mall.

Councilman Charles Pickering, who helped-initiate the TIFA program in his last year as mayor in 1985, said that the expansion of Westland Center would expand the local property tax base and help small businesses. He supports the said. The law says "we should pre-serve the rights of the average citizen in the electoral process," she Freddie Burton, Jr., commission chairman, voted not to approve the proposed petition. He declined to comment on his vote because he said the petition might come before the commission again.

Commissioner Raymond Wojtowicz also voted against the petition, saying its wording wasn't clear enough to allow the three school board members a fair response on the petition.

If a later petition is approved, the process to recall school board members and re-elect new ones could take as long as eight months after the petition begins.

THE RECALL committee must gather 4,420 signatures of registered voters in Wayne and Westland within any 90 day period. If the signatures are valid, the county would set a date for a recall election. A special election would follow for any seats of board members who failed to win a majority in the recall election.

Most pinkslipped teachers recalled

Ninety-eight Livonia school district teachers are back in the classroom this fall after being pinkslipped last May.

Only 16 laid-off district teachers remain jobless, a number that still distresses Steve Naumcheff, president of the Livonia Education Assoa dramatic turnabout - the Hotel Association of Greater Detroit.

"THERE ARE four reasons we support it - it's better than the (originally proposed) 5 percent tax; it's better than a 4 percent tax, it's better than a 3 percent tax and it's better than a 2 percent tax," hotel association president David Held

The executive's office also listed restaurant owners Joe Muer, Ted Gatzaros of Greektown, Dick Kughn of the Whitney and chef Jimmy Schmidt of the Rattlesnake Club among proposal supporters. But Redford Inn owner John Mourselas said he told executive's staff members in no uncertain terms to leave his name off that list.

"I told them my customers can't afford this," Mourselas said. "When I wanted to buy this place I had to go to the bank and ask for a loan. Why can't (Tigers owner Thomas) Monaghan do that? He's a million-

Local, hotel and motel owners raised exactly the same issue several months ago, when McNamara proposed a 5 percent hotel/motel

While many are still upset, Held said the one percent tax was a 'more liveable" proposal.

"Hotel revenue is like a pair of pants with a lot of pockets," Held said. "One of the problems with the five percent tax was that it would all come out of the room fee pocket. That pocket is already being tapped for Cobo Hall and other things."

Thomas Guastello, owner of the Livonia Comfort Inn and two adjacent restaurant properties, said he could understand why others were angry with the proposal.

But once you get past that feeling, you begin to see that this tax is not a meal-killer or a deal-killer," said Guastello, an outspoken critic of

The 5 percent hotel tax "would have been an absolute killer", said Wanda Spencer of the Livonia-based Spencer Group, a hospitality industry consulting firm.

"Detroit's at an all-time low in terms of (hotel) occupancy," Spencer

The hotel association agreed to the lesser tax because of the Detroit. Tigers' importance to the city and the region, Held said.

"We never said having the Tigers wasn't important,", he said. "We, didn't want to be the ones held accountable when our grandkids asked us why the Tigers left town." Held acknowledged the county could have raised the 5 percent tax on its own, without consulting voters, and praised McNamara's willingness to negotiate on the issue.

But Sharon Salenik, manager of Mr. Mike's Coney Island, Westland, said the tax would hurt business more than the Tigers would help.

"IT'S HORRIBLE," Salenik said of the tax. "People don't come in here for the Tigers, they come in for the entertainment we provide."

Though an adjacent restaurant managed by the same management group caters to sports fans by showing ballgames on a big screen television, Salenik said, the new stadium probably wouldn't benefit those customers, either.

"If it was football, it might be different, but not that many people have been coming in to see the

You can't read and you need medicine. What do you do?

Twenty million Americans are functionally illiterate.

This means that they cannot read or understand the printed word. They cannot fill in a form, write a check, or figure out a map or street sign. And medicine bottles—"take two every day, may cause drowsiness"—these instructions and warnings are useless. Dangerous.

Imagine yourself in this situation. Perhaps someone would read the prescription for you. Or perhaps you'd rely on your memory after questioning the physician or pharmacist. But they think you can read, so they may not give you all the instructions.

Pretty scary, Isn't It? How can you help?

If you know someone who cannot read, contact one of the agencies below and give them the opportunity to open up their world.

Miler 20 years, fate of GIS a mystery

By Diano Galo staff writer

They went to Vietnam to fight a war in the name of the United States, and more than 20 years later o one knows for sure what hapnened to them.

Refugio Thomas Teran, of Westland, vanished after Viet Cong overran a guard station at an ammunition dump near Henderson Hill in South Victuan's Quang Tri province, killing 33 Americans.

A Wayne Memorial High School graduate, Teran, 20, and another paratrooper were last seen tunning toward a barricade. His parents, sho still live in Westland, have taken fart in Westland MIA/POW programs in recent years.

Craig Mitchell Dix, of Livonia, is among western Wayne County servicemen still unaccounted for. Dix, 21, was a door-gunner on a four-man helicopter shot down while transporting South Victnamese troops to

Senate OKs business-labor compromise

By Tim Richard staff writer

A Michigan workplace safety law is about to breathe again after recent Senate action.

But state officials, will have a tougher time imposing higher standards than the federal government's, sald Sen. David Honigman, architect of what he calls "a very reasonable compromise" between business and labor:

The Senate approved SB 459 on a sald. 30-5 vote and sent it to the House. All area senators voted yes.

GOV. JOHN Engler and a handful of outstate Republicans wanted to kill MIOSHA (Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act), relying instead on federal standards and enforcement. The 1974 state law is due to sunset next year.

"The federal government should be the ones who are enforcing those rules rather than passing the buck to the states," said opponent Sen. Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo.

He said Michigan work rules, as proposed by the Labor and Public Health departments, were almost invariably higher than federal standards. "It puts Michigan employers out of competition with other states because we have higher regulations than competing states," Welborn Added Sen. Nick Smith, R-Addison: "It was my experience that rules promulgated by the (Michigan Safety Standards) commmission tend to (be). . . very liberal and labor-oriented - in other words, maybe some overzealous safety regula-who chairs the Labor Committee, sald the revised MIOSHA will allow higher state standards only in special circumstances

"It creates a rebuttable presumption in favor of new federal occupational safety and health rules. The directors of Labor or Public Health will be required to promulgate rules which are 'substantially similar' to new federal rules," he said.

"What we intend is that Michigan have the freedom to establish standards different from those of federal OSHA, but only if there has been a showing of a compelling need to do

"Similarly, Michigan still has the freedom to set standards where (the federal) OSHA has not established any regulations at all, but only if it has been determined by one of the commissions that there is a clear and convincing need to do so."

Workplace rules are made by state commissions. Under the state constitution, rules are subject to approval by a joint House-Senate Commimitee on Administrative Rules.

THE BILL also increases "sevenfold" the fines and penalties for violating businesses, Honigman said.

"On this, we had no choice, as federal law demands tht states with their own plans conform to federal penalty guidelines."

Honigman had trouble getting the measure out of his own five-member committee earlier in the week. With Robert Geake, R-Northville, absent and Nick Smith voting no, Honigman needed help from Democrats George Z. Hart of Dearborn and John Cherry of Clio to get three votes.

"It was the result of lengthy and painstaking deliberations," Honig-

Women ARISE seeks money

The anti-crime program Women ARISE is trying to stay affoat without financing through the end of this year, but staff members say they are afraid the program will sink in red

The problem stems from a shift in financing for the program, which instructs an estimated 100 female criminals each year in becoming better, more self-reliant citizens.

Women ARISE - the letters stand for "Accept Responsibility, Inititate. Self-Enhancement" - has been financed since 1986 by a Michigan De-partment of Mental Health grant.

The grant ran out this month. Complicating the situation, Women ARISE is seeking financing as a corrections program, not a mental health program, at a time when responsibility for corrections programs is shifting from state to local Billed as a rehabilitation and support program, Women ARISE brings female offenders together to share. their experiences and learn from past mistakes.

Ticket sales to help cancer patient

By Linda Ann Chomin special writers

The Holiday Home Craft Show Sunday, Oct. 13, in-Livonia will hold hourly drawings with all ticket sales donated to the Sandy Rager Reach Out To Fight Cancer Bone Marrow Transplant Fund.

O&E THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1991

The show, which runs 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., is at Laurel Manor, 39000 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Sandy Rager of Huntington Woods is a member of Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Livonia. "It's so important for her to raise the money. She needs the surgery immediately," said Joan Muglia, show founder and pro-

"The community is behind her 100 percent. Anything we can do to help. This is it. It's her last shot."

Rager learned she had breast cancer in July 1990. Conventional treatments, including surgery, radiation and chemotherapy, failed to halt the spread of the can-

Doctors now are recommending a bone marrow transplant, which could save her life. She needs to raise the $170,000 needed for the procedure, which her insurance provider calls experimental.

Prusak started making fabric wreaths to give as glits last Christmas.

When doctors discovered Rager's cancer had spread, Prusak began making and selling the lifesaving wreaths to help raise money for her sister's transplant.

"When we found out," Prusak said, "I fold her, I'll do the money battle. You do the physical battle."

Since May, Prusak has sold 54 wreaths at $30 apiece. "I said this is something I can do. I feel like I'm able to help out." During the show, Prusak's wreaths will sell for $25 to promote sales and benefit the transplant fund.

THIS IS Prusak's first craft show. She learned about it from fellow crafter Karen Skop and contacted Muglia, who donated the fees for Pam's table. Plans were made to hold hourly drawings with all proceeds put in the transplant fund.

'There's a tremendous networking of love and care. It has crossed all geographic areas and all types of people," Prusak said. "My sister is going to die without the transplant. We're not going to let that happen." On Nov. 1 in Boston, Rager begins chemotherapy treatments in preparation for the bone marrow transplant.

If you miss the craft show drawings and want to contribute to the Sandy Rager Reach Out to Fight Cancer Bone Marrow Transplant Fund, send donations to: Holy Cross Lutheran Church, P.O. Box 9152, Livonia 48151-1152.

80 crafters to display wares at 10th annual sale

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Fabric wreaths, oak mantle clocks, angel ornaments and country cows that sit astride shelves are all part of the craft show with a heart.

The 10th annual Holiday Home Craft Show, featuring 80 crafters from across the state, takes place 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 13, at Laurel Manor, 39000 Schoolcraft. Livonia.

"We're getting bigger. When we first started 10 years ago, we had 10 crafters down my basement," said Livonia resident Joan Muglia, show founder and coordinator. "Last year, we had 40. This year, there are 80."

Crafts, food and entertainment provided by guitarist Mordan have been planned by Muglia and show assistant Vicki Gilbert of Wixom.

There is, however, a serious side to this craft show with a heart. An hourly drawing will be held with all proceeds going to the Sandy Rager Reach Out to Fight Cancer Bone Marrow Transplant Fund.

"The raffle is a lifesaving situation. One dollar is nothing compared to a person's life," Gilbert said.

PRIZES INCLUDE a Cellular One car phone valued at $300 from Authorized Cellular in West Bloomfield. three basketballs autographed by Detroit Pistons star Joe Dumars, a golf bag from Pro Golf, a $20 hair value from Verant's Hair Today at Wonderland Mall in Livonia, and a giant koala bear donated by a leukemia patient now in remission.

Local businesses from Livonia to West Bloomfield are helping raise the money needed for the bone marrow transplant by donating valuable prizes for the drawing.

'Authorized Cellular is very active in the community and Sandy is in need of something to prolong her life,' said Jeff Muglia, owner of Authorized Cellular.

Tickets for the drawing are $1 each, or six for $5. They will be available at the show. The drawings held to benefit Sandy Rager's bone marrow transplant fund will be hourly from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Barbara Kibler of Westland will display oak mantle clocks with cross-stitched messages like "Bless This House" inlaid within the middle of the clock's case. Cross-stitching can be custom-ordered for color and word content. Some couples order their wedding date and first names inscribed. The smaller clock is $39.95: the larger, $48.95.

KIBLER WENT through a tragedy eight years ago when she lost her 1-year-old daughter to heart disease. She fought insurance companies and knows how stressful that can be. Kibler strongly supports the fund-raising drawing for Rager.

-"I know what insurance does to the family," Kibler said. "I can sympathize with Sandy's family."

Livonia resident Karen Skop's humorous wood items are sure to brighten spirits at the show. A 30-inch pine skeleton painted with white bones on a black background has movable arms and legs - very haunting.

Skop sells an endless variety of homemade crafts decorated with tole painting. A cow that hangs over the edge of a shelf for $8, cow necklaces for $12 and angel ornaments for $5 are just a few of the many different crafts she will display at the show.

Skop exhibits her handicrafts at only one show a year, the Holiday Home Craft Show. She paints 40 hours a week for a mail-order catalogue.

GILBERT WILL have holiday sweatshirts and Tshirts decorated with red silk poinsettia outlined with gold glitter paint for $18. Country chair pads that she will have displayed at the show can be special ordered.

Dolores Dellasavia of Livonia will have ceramic Santas painted in antique colors ranging from $8-$75. There are Santas painted in Scottish, Russian, English, Canadian and Australian dress.

"I've always painted since I was a kid;" Dellasavia said. "I like Christmas and I like to decorate at Christ-

TO THE CITIZENS OF THE GARDEN CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT

Michigan law requires that each school district publish a financial statement which is a composite of their annual audit. In compliance with the law, Garden City Public Schools offers this information to residents so that they might keep fully informed of the fiscal operations of Garden City Public Schools and the use of our public's resources. During the past year, we have been able to continue providing our students with a wide range of curriculum offerings and programs. We have continued to stress basic skills at all levels. We feel that mastery of these skills is an essential "building block" for our students as they prepare for their respective futures. Math and reading are taught daily to students through junior high school. Our high school students may take 6 hours of class work per day and they must satisfy the requirements of our more demanding high school graduation requirements. All of this is possible because of your interest and support.

Although this report focuses on the financial activities of the district, please keep in mind that these dollars translate into educational opportunities for our students. This report covers the fiscal operations of the Garden City School District for the 1990-91 school

Madonna dedicates DiPonio building

Bishop Moses Anderson, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit, blesses Madonna University's new nursing building. With him is Dr. Mary Wawrzynski, dean of the Madonna College of Nursing.

The Angelo DiPonio Building, 36200 Schoolcraft, Livonia, was recently acquired by Madonna University through a $1.2 million donation from the Angelo and Margaret DiPonio Foundation.

The late Angelo DiPonio was owner and president of Greenfield Construction Co., Livonia. He was a university trustee who for many years supported the life, projects and mission of Madonna. The building, renovated by architects Kamp-DiComo Associates, houses the Ray A. and Jean S. Shapero Nursing Demonstration Center and the Helene Fuld Computer Assisted Instruction Center, as well as nursing offices and classrooms.

Dedication occurred Wednesday, Qct. 2. It included an invocation by Sister Mary Dennis, provincial superior, Felician Sisters of Livonia:

There was also an unveiling of a hand-colored picture of the DiPonios, and plaques will be presented to the benefactors. Sister Mary Francilene, president of Madonna University, gave a brief description of the completed project and expressed gratitude for the gifts to the university. Student Roxanne Shelenberger, president of the Madonna University Nursing Student Association, gave the students' response. The Most Rev. Moses B. Anderson, auxiliary bishop of Detroit, blessed - the building after the brief dedication ceremony.

The Madonna University nursing program was established in 1962 and has been accredited by the Michigan Board of Nursing and the National League for Nursing. It is the secondlargest nursing program in Michi-

Off base County rebuff wrong on recall

Wayne-Westland school board members received a third rebuff Monday morning from the Wayne County elections commission. The commission, in a 2-1 decision, ruled that the proposed ballot language submitted by the recall group was not clear enough to be placed on the ballot.

The petition submitted Monday calls for the recall of school board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Andrew Spisak and Leonard Posey.

While the Observer rejects the reasons for the proposed recall, the language submitted by the recall committee seems perfectly clear to anyone with a sixth-grade education.

The committee said it wants the three board members recalled because they voted for teachers' union raises of more than 11 percent (actually it was just under 12 percent) and at the same meeting favored program cutbacks.

THE CUTBACKS were announced earlier in the year to tell voters what programs and ser-

EADERS OF a campaign to recall three -vices would be cut or reduced if a major tax increase failed to win public approval at a June 10 election.

Although voters supported the tax increase and averted major budget cuts, that has nothing to do with the clarity of the language on the recall petitions.

The law requires only that the petitions contain clear language - without judging whether the issues are valid enough to recall a public official from office.

The committee may come back again with a fourth petition.

It's clear that the group is getting the political runaround from the elections commission. It seems obvious that the commission is doing everything it can - legally or otherwise - to keep a recall from happening.

If the recall proposal eventually reaches the ballot, voters should reject it.

But let's give the recall committee a fair shake. It has complied with the law dealing with recalls. That's all that can be expected of the

Realty issue Schools to see fewer kids

HE GOOD news about the Wayne-Westland school district's financial crisis is that voters approved a major property tax rate increase June 10 to allow for the restoration and preservation of many educational programs and services.

The bad news is that many families moved out of the district and potential move-ins are staying

That's the bottom line of two "Fourth Friday" student enrollment counts announced two weeks ago. The count is used by the state to determine how much enrollment-based aid to give districts.

For Wayne-Westland, the money is crucial. For the Livonia district, which covers the northern section of Westland, "Fourth Friday" enrollment counts are meaningless since its high tax base disqualifies it for state aid.

The numbers are interesting because the drop in the Wayne-Westland's projected enrollment (about 425) is about the same as the Livonia district's increase.

SUPERINTENDENT Dennis O'Neill of the Wayne-Westland district said he was surprised about the drop because he felt that tax rate approval would have led to fewer move-outs.

Looking ahead, the Wayne-Westland school board and administration must focus on rebuilding their credibility and lure families back.

Limit terms

Good reasons for setting limits

sentatives isn't a new idea, but it is picking up steam, and for good reason. Our representatives on both the stateand national level have become career politicians who are too far removed from their constituents. And because of the advantages incumbents have in keeping their name in the public eye and building a campaign war chest that few challengers can match, they are almost assured of re-election. Despite a federal deficit, our elected representatives have continued to spend money we don't have in order to keep their popularity_at home - and get re-elected.

RE-ELECTION OF incumbents has come to the point where, short of a scandal of some sort, they can't lose. In 1988, 92.4 percent of incumbents in Congress were returned to office. That compares with only 45.7 percent in the years 1872-80.

And if voter turnout is an indication, recent elections have not inspired participation in a democracy where the issue of who runs the government is truly at stake.

But four western states have taken steps to limit the terms of elected officials, and Michigan could join them as soon as next year.

California and Oklahoma have passed laws that limit terms of state office holders. Colorado has taken it a step further by adopting a law that will also limit the terms of the state's representatives to the U.S. House and Senate. And Washington state will decide a similar proposal in the

The Colorado model is the one Michigan voters will consider if that referendum is placed on the ballot in 1992.

THE PROPOSAL would limit U.S. senators to two terms in a 24-year period, U.S. representatives to three terms in a 12-year period, state reps to three terms, state senators to two terms and the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general to two terms.

There is precedent. After all, the 22nd Amendment, ratified in 1951, limits the president to two

'A group, Limit Politicians' Terms, is circulating petitions to place the proposal on the ballot in Michigan in 1992. Although it would take 256,457 signatures to place the issue on the ballot, Dominick Vincentini, secretary for the group, says the goal is double that many, to make sure there are enough qualified signatures to get the issue on

If it appears on the ballot, politicians already serving will be sure to mount a campaign against it. But they won't be able to vote it down or veto it. Only the people who elect them will. And then the voters will have a real choice and a better way to keep our government representative.

His firm convictions led to our religious freedom

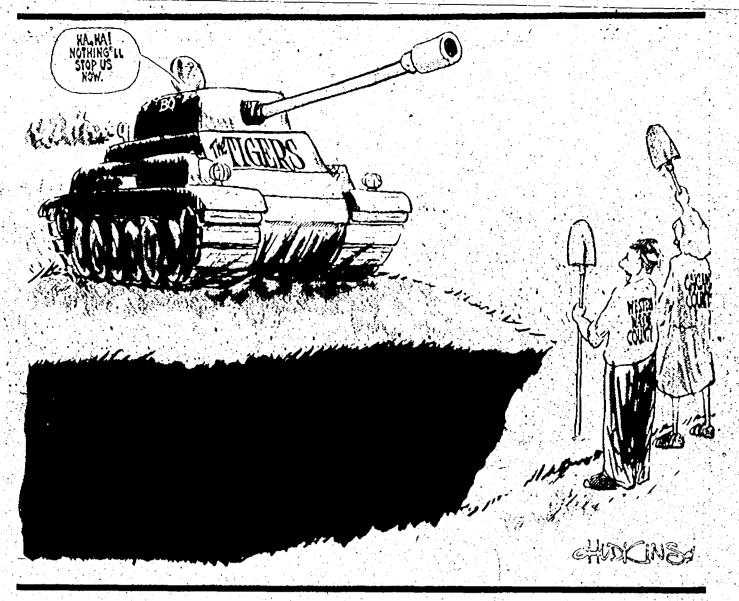

S MUCH AS any other single individual, Roger Williams set the stage for the religious freedom clause of the First Amendment.

"A permission of the most Paganish, Jewish, Turkish or Anti-Christian consciences and worships be granted to all men in all nations and countries," said Williams in a pamphlet penned to support his ideas of how to create and organize a colonial government.

Williams arrived in the New World from England in 1631. A Puritan minister of firm convictions, he felt the Pilgrims of Massachusetts Bay had not distanced themselves sufficiently from the Church of England. In a 1634 sermon, Williams declared that "forced worship is false worship." Such statements did not set well with the Puritans of Salem.

In 1635, Williams was banished from the colony for life for his unorthodox beliefs. He fled to the south and built a wood cabin which he named Providence, in an area that later became the colony of Rhode Island. Williams was given a Royal Charter in 1644 for the colony. Its provision included, at Williams' insistence, liberty of conscience for all citizens and a complete separation of church and state. As a result, Rhode Island became a haven for religious minorities -- Roman Catholics, Jews and Quakers - who suffered persecution in the other colonies at the time.

Portfolios will lead to jobs, education

EDUCATION WAS THE big new story last week.

"Trends in Academic Progress," a national report card tracking performance in America's schools, found that our children had struggled back to the achievement levels of students in the 1970s.

'Today's children seem to know about as much math and about as much science and read about as well as their parents did at that age 20 years ago," said Education Secretary Lamar Alexander. "That's not nearly good enough for the 1990s."

Another report reviewed the famous six education goals set at last. year's summit conference between President Bush and all the governors. Some goals seemed so far from attainment as to invite laughter.

Fewer than one student in five met the new new national standards for math achievement.

"WE'RE GOING to wind up, I'm afraid, with discouraging reports throughout the 1990s unless we come up with a national strategy," said Ernest Boyer, the widely respected president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advaancement of Teach-

He's right. There's no evidence that the political will exists to do anything either national or strategic.

Set a national curriculum with standardized examinations? No way. The White House is terrified of being accused of "eroding local control." And most folks figure that anything Congress messes with is badly thought through and self-serving.

Make sure all preschool age kids have a couple years of school before they enter kindergarten? Absolutely not. Costs too much money.

Pay teachers the professional salaries they deserve and demand professional accountability for results? Forget it. The conservatives won't pay the money and the liberals are scared of holding anybody individually accountable for anything.

I SUSPECT if there will be any real improvement in our kids education and, therefore, in our international competitiveness, it will have to come in dribs and drabs at the local level.

Fortunately, there's some good news on that front here in Michigan. In addition to getting their regular report car marks, our kids soon will be receiving reports on their "employability skills profile."

"It's a profile that you're supposed to use throughout high school and onto what you do next in life, whether that's further education or to go out and get a job," said Patrick Donahue, an assistant superintendent of Huron Valley (Milford) Schools and a member of an advisory group to the State Board of Education.

The portfolio can contain records of standard aptitude tests, career interest; voc-tech training, job experience, problem solving and non academic awards - anything to document work-related skills of a Employability skills will require the kind of linkage between the business world and the schools that has not existed in years. I remember drawing a lot of raised eyebrows some years ago when I suggested that the folks who ran our schools ought to go ask the business community just what kind of skills they needed.

And Dorothy Beardmore, the sensible Rochester woman who is president of the State Board of Education, took up the idea in 1988 and pushed

Last year, 23 portfolio pilots were run, none in communities served by this newspaper. This year there were 100 pilots. Next year all 10th graders in the start them, followed by all ninth graders in 1993 and all eighth graders in 1994. Are employability skills portfolios the answer for all of our education problems? No. But when you consider that most employers will hire the kid with a good portfolio, you realize that it is out of such small steps that real progress is made.

Welty should support recall

Regarding the Sept. 19 article. "Welty criticizes . . .," I think she should explain her sudden change of heart for the remaining old School Board members. In campaign literature prior to the June election, she exhorted the wrong-headed actions of the school board and administra-

For example, she promised "reduction" of the top five administrators' salaries. If and when she ever makes the motion to have her campaign promise enacted, does she believe that (board members Kathleen) Chorbagian, (Leonard) Posey and (Andrew) Spisak will give their sup-

In the same piece of literature, she promised "fair, equitable, appropriate contracts" contrasted by criticizing Chorbagian, Posey, and Spisak for approving the 12 percent raise.

Tell me, if she made a motion to the (school) board to renegotiate 'a fair, equitable, appropriate contract, will Spisak, Posey, and Chorbagian support her? I believe before Spisak, Posey, and Chorbagian change and support Welty, Welty will change and support Posey, Chorbagian, and Let me make it very clear: campaign promises before the June election and the activity as board vice president up to Sept. 19 do not even come close. In the strongest terms, I suggest Ms. Welty support the recall and disassociate herself from the three board members who are soon to feel the full wrath of the taxpayers and citizens of the school district. Kenneth Rauph, Westland

Moranty spreads 'hate'

Hate, hate, hate - is that all Mr. (David) Moranty, leader of the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, can spew? He sounds like the kind of leader that orders his followers to don white sheets and pointed hats and ride off into the night to preach hate, contempt and yell, "the sky is falling."

Let's take a look. School is back in session, the board has restored the programs that were cut. Teachers are not walking the picket lines as in some other districts, even though they got the smallest salary increase of any district in Wayne County (I'm not a teacher). Good things are hap-pening in Wayne-Westland, But what do we hear from Moranty, "off with

If it weren't so sad it would be laughable. Mr. Moranty has a way of getting people to follow him, he then uses them to do his hatchet job on hard working people. Poor Mr. (Steve) Lind (recall campaign leader), they picked him because he doesn't stand out in a crowd, he doesn't lose his temper, and he'll do anything Moranty tells him to. The word puppet comes to mind, but he's not the first and he won't be the last. And he won't go down in history ei-

The real problem now is that even the two people that Mr. Moranty's group backed in the last election and were elected have decided to think on their own without the Moranty party line forcing them to do what he says, and only what he says. What we have is the grand "pooba" losing his effectiveness among his own group because they are just tired of the Hate, Hate, Hate.

Mr. Moranty we all know you still carry an open scar because you didn't get re-elected to the board. It you think by recalling three board members you will be guaranteed a 'seat on the board, it sounds to me like the troops are tired of carrying on your personal hate line.

His vision calls for new haven

THE NEW DIRECTOR of the Michigan Department of Mental Health has a dream, or rather a vi-

It is to complete the move to com-_ munity-based mental health care; providing nearly all of the state's mentally ill treatment and housing close to home.

"You are responsible for every person in the community," James Haveman told several hundred mental health professionals mainly from Wayne and Oakland countles assembled at a conference sponsored by the Alliance for Mental Health Services at Wayne State University last Friday.

"I want people to receive treatment in their communities."

Haveman and other nationallyknown speakers were there to address "The Future of Mental Health Care."

Haveman's vision includes:

• Re-creating the image of mental health, not as a social service, but as health care with a variety of service providers: profit and nonprofit, public and private.

• Reorganizing the state's mental health department to lead and monitor the system.

 Creating community mental health authorities which aren't part of county government.

• Promoting inclusiveness in the schools, moving away from special education.

His vision was crystalized from the recommendations of citizen committees set up during his early weeks in office.

IT IS A LAUDABLE vision - one that began back in the early '60s when President Kennedy signed the federal act to move mental health services out of state-operated institutions and into local communities.

WSU professor of psychiatry Dr. Melvin Bornstein, training analyst of the Southfield-based Michigan Psychoanalytic Institute, reminded the audience that was "a time of exhilleration for mental health." New drugs and the scientific and social acknowledgement of chemically-triggered mental illness allowed many hospitalized patients to return to their families and communities.

Haveman admits that some for whom there is no known treatment may have to stay under state care.

THE NEW DIRECTOR'S attempt to complete the shift to community, seem to be enough of either. based mental health is complicated by politics, by hard economic times and by stereotypes and fear. And it comes at a time when more homeless are on the street, many of

It comes at a time when mental health units in general hospitals are being closed in favor of more lucrative specialties, while insurance companies are refusing to pay for the treatment necessary for effective substance abuse and longer term mental health treatment.

"The lamps are going out in pschiatric units and substance abuse units all over the state," warned Dr. Elliot Luby, a resident of Birmingham who is chief emeritis of the psychiatry department at Harper Hospital.

He described it as a tug of war, with the administration of private hospitals wanting to close units versus the state wanting them to take over.

AS FOR STEREOTYPES and fear, community officials and residents continue to show their outrage when the state dictates that a group home be placed on their streets. So rather than confront the more affluent, more organized communities, they are often placed where there is less political clout but also less safe-

At the same time, we adults need to become more inclusive on our streets so the new "asylums" meaning safe havens - can be our communities.

Memories honor Piston star

bashes for Will Robinson, and on Oct. 21 at the Palace of Auburn, Hills, there's going to be yet another for him. Well into his 70s now, the assistant general manager of the Detroit Pistons is in myriad halls of fame. He's made a career of being first: first black high school coach in Detrolt; first black to pilot more than one high school to a championship; first black head coach of a predominantely white NCAA Division 1

I coached champion track feams at Pershing High in the mid-60s when he coached champion hoop teams there, and I could share a hundred stories about him.

A memorable one to me is the time he commanded one of my sprinters to unlock the basketballs I had just locked away. He wanted to practice basketball on my track team's gym time. My athlete was apprehensive, but he stood his ground: "Sorry, Mr. Robinson. Mr. Telford said I can't do that. It's track time now."

John Telford

Furious, Will couldn't believe a student would hold an order from a new young coach in higher priority than one from him, and we quickly clashed.

BUT SOON WE came to respect each other, and I conditioned his players for him on the track. Guard Glenn Doughty became a good sprinter and later a Michigan Wolverine and NFL All-Star wide receiver.

John Lockard, a fine forward who also went on to play for Michigan, and Spencer Haywood, Will's 6-foot 9-inch All-American center, also excelled on my team. Spencer's specialty was the shot, which looked no bigger than a baseball in his huge palm. Maybe he wasn't the was certainly the tallest.

Coach Robinson and I had different styles. I didn't believe in hitting students, but Will whacked his athletes' behinds with his leather whistle cord whenever they made a mistake in practice. Principal Al Zack, who later became principal at Livonia Bentley, stormed into the athletic office one afternoon and barked at Will: "Robinson, I want you'to quit hitting those kids with that cord!"

"OK, Chief," Will responded. After Zack left, Will kept his promise, Instead of using the cord, he dipped a shoelace in a bucket of water and used that.

ONE OF MY particularly volatile athletes repeatedly cursed a long jump official who had called a foul on him, and I unwontedly slapped him to bring him to his senses. When Will heard about this he took me aside and advised: "John, you mustn't hit the kids."

"Will," I said, "You're right. We'd better stop, don't you think?"

He didn't stop, but he did care deeply about our athletes. One very hot Monday my quarter-milers were foaming at the mouth during a workput. Will examined them and worriedly growled, "Telford, you're running these kids too hard."

"You shouldn't let them hear you say that," I cautioned, "because they might realize you're right, and I have to run them hard today so they'll win the state mile relay Saturday." (The did, in record time.)

Will Robinson looked after all of his kids as though were his own. He sent 300 of them to college on scholarships. In addition to the other various halls of fame he graces, he's enshrined in my own person one - and that one's pretty

New rite of autumn gets workout

AH, OCTOBER. Falling leaves. Apple cider and doughnuts. Pumpkins carved into jack-o'-lanterns. Columbus-bashing.

Yep. Columbus bashing is the latest rite of autumn, and this year it's getting a real workout. The old navigator is being turned into a whipping boy by the politically correct revisionists, who keep bashing old Chris for somehow being personally responsible for what's being called the rape of a continent.

- it all ties in with the upcoming 500th anniversary - the "quincentenary" - of Columbus's discovery, of America.

The neo-revisionists, the Yuppies, the Politically Correct thinkers, all are reinterpreting history the way they think it should be interpreted by a "multi-cultural" society. The result is some of the loudest claptrap I've heard in a long time. And this is just the warmup act.

RUSSELL MEANS, the Indian oops, make that Native American activist has proclaimed that Columbus "makes Hitler look like a juvenile delinquent."

and moral decadence." So excuse us for existing.

All of these folks who are so ashamed of the history of this country have decided that we should "commemorate" the occasion but not "celebrate" it. A celebration, they feel, would be inappropriate:

Others have decided that Chris's exploit should be labeled an "encounter," not a "discovery," because, after all, the "Native Americans" were already here.

A HUNDRED years ago - the quadcentenary, I guess - Chicago pulled all the plugs with the 1893 Columbian Exposition, a blowout that featured, among other things, a dancer known as "Little Egypt" who introduced (or at least popularized) - goat. the "hootchie-kootchie," the forerunner of exotic dancing. .

If Little Egypt's dance - and Chicago's celebration - was a bit bawdy, so were the 1890s and so was the country that Christopher Columbus had opened up to European settlement. Americans were basically a rough-hewn lot, and they didn't give a damn about what other people thought:

But this is the 1990s. As Time magazine pointed out in a look at the Columbus controversy this week, the present debate has little to do with 1492 and everything to do with 1991.

"The peoples of the New World," Time remarks, "the land that Columbus made inevitable, are engaged in another convulsive attempt to reinvent themselves, to conceive a version of the past that will justify the present and, if possible, shape the future."

Behind all these arguments, the magazine points out, is the misguided 1990s notion that the world was once perfect and now it isn't, so somebody or something must have ruined it. This year Christopher Columbus provides a convenient scape-

Churchill hits stride

staff writer

The puzzle is being solved slowly, but surely, by the Livonia Churchill boys soccer team.

The Chargers, last year's state Class A runners-up to Warren De-LaSalle, appear to be putting all the pleces together at just the right time following Monday's 3-1 victory at state-ranked Plymouth Salem.

"I'll tell you what, they're some kind of team." Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "They outgunned us in every phase of the game. It's the best passing team around and the best team we've seen this year."

The loss dropped Salem to 10-3-2 overall, while Churchill is 13-1-2.

The Chargers, ranked second behind Livonia Stevenson (12-0-1) in the latest state Class A coaches poll, will take on their city rivals again at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16, for the Western Lakes Activities Association title. (The two teams tied 1-1 on Sept. 23 at Stevenson, the same siteof the rematch.)

During the first half of the season, coach Mark Mason tinkered with his personnel somewhat, but now has settled into a set lineup for the stretch run.

SENIOR DOMINIC VELLA, often marked tightly as a forward, is now playing outside halfback.

He had a goal and an assist in the win over Salem, along with teammate Mike Gentile, another mid-

"Playing outside halfback gives Dominic more room to make a run," Mason said. "We ask our forwards to do a lot of running so it creates space, enabling our midfielders to make runs up the middle."

The Chargers' Dario Rauker, an adept senior midfielder, tallied Churchill's first goal just 9:14 into the match when Salem's defense could not clear out a corner kick. (Vella drew the assist).

The Chargers then hit a brief lull defensively midway through the half as Salem's Tom Baker, on a sharp angle, beat Churchill goalle Jeff Cassar to make it 1-1. (Rich Andrusiak had the assist.)

Baker's shot, however, seemed to wake up the Chargers, who answered with a pair of goals in the final six_ minutes of the half.

Gentile scored the go-ahead goal from Chris Galea to make it 2-1.

With just under three minutes left in the half, Gentile made a short rush down the right side to set up Vella, who drilled a shot from point-

IRONICALLY, both teams wentscoreless in the second half.

We hung around for about half and there's no shame in that," Johnson said. "We had one good opportunity in the second half, and our goalie Paul Dood did a pretty good job for the most part. He's only a fresh-

Salem's wide, regulation-size field appeared to be tailor-made for the talented Chargers.

"The width of the field was nice, but it was a little bouncy, which made passing on the ground difficult," Mason said. "I thought we played a better second half. It was a more consistent effort. We worked harder and there weren't as many bad passes. We moved the ball better. We kept it on the ground and ods were we didn't work defensively. We kind of sat and watched."

The Chargers were a little sharper on Saturday, scoring a 2-0 victory at state-ranked Troy Athens.

Freshman Charlie Roberts, on an assist from Vince Troiani, scored to give Churchill a 1-0 halftime lead.

Galea then added an insurance scored what proved to be the game-

Midfielder-Kerry Zavagnin led the winners with three goals, raising his season total to 15. Scott Larner contributed two, while Mario Scicluna and Brendan Sullivan tallied one each.

Adam Borchert had two assists, while Rich Walos, Clayton Campbell, Larner and Sullivan added one apiece. Goalie Tim Bober recorded CC's eighth shutout of the year.

On Saturday, the Shamrocks jumped out to a 3-1 halftime lead and never looked back in a 5-2 win at state-ranked Grosse Pointe South. Zavagnin and Anthony Verino each scored twice for the winners. Steve Heitert had the other CC goal, while Sullivan and Walos each collected two assists. Goalie Jeff Sawicki made nine saves.

CC will be out to avenge a 3-1 loss earlier this year to DeLaSalle. Game time is 4 p.m. Friday at Bell Creek Park.

"It should be a very competitive game and we're looking forward to it," CC coach Phil LaJoy said. "If we play hard, hopefully good things will happen."

STEVENSON 8, HARRISON 0: Travis Roy had two goals and two assists Monday, lifting Livonia Stevenson, the state's top-ranked team (coaches poll), to a shutout victory over host Farmington Harrison. Sivenson is now 12-0-2 overall.

Scott Wiggins got Stevenson off to a fast start, scoring only 35 seconds into the game from Todd Krzisnik.

The Spartans went on to add four more in the first half for a commanding 5.0 Tim McCarley added two goals on the night, while Jeff Thomas, Adam Carriere and Krzisnik contributed one goal and one assist each. Goalies Matt Stabile and Steven Weller combined on the shuteut.

FRANKLIN 4, W.L. WESTERN 0: On Monday, Livonia Franklin ran its overall record to 7-6 and 3-2 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association with the win over visiting Walled Lake Western. The Patriots, who outshot the Warriors 18-4, were led by Victor Rodopoulos and lason Buelow, each tallying a goal and an assist. Guillermo Cazares and Russ Keberly also scored goals for the Pats. Goalkeeper Brian Spitler recorded the shutout.

Ocelots gain vengeance

By C.J. Risak staff writer

A dejected Mick Lakatos walked quickly across the Schoolcraft College soccer field, head down, making for the vans that would transport him and his Macomb Community College team home.

What the Monarchs were taking with them wasn't pleasant. Lakatos summed it up in one sentence: "Here we go again."

Quite correct. SC had just avenged a 3-0 loss suffered 11 days earlier at Macomb CC, knocking off the Monarchs 3-1 Wednesday. Which, in all likelihood, means the two teams will play one more time; the winner of that game will represent Region 12 at the NJCAA Inter-regional.

That is, if all goes according to blan. No one in Region 12 has been able to beat or the either SC or Macomb in several seasons. The two teams tied for the region crown last season, too, and the Ocelots won the

The Ocelots had their backs to the wall in this game. A loss and they could kiss the post-season playoffs

BUT UNLIKE the game at Macomb, SC played with determination and confidence, generated by sophomores Jelf VanDemergel (two assists) and Chris Crawford (one goal,

They combined on the first goal of the match, scored with 16 minutes gone. VanDemergel looped a pass from the right side to Crawford on the left; Crawford took his time teeing it up before dribbling his shot into the net.

And yet, even though the Ocelots played with more confidence, they continued to make defensive blunders. Macomb took advantage of one seven minutes after Crawford's goal. THAT MOTIVATED Macomb, and the rest of the half was played evenly. But SC regrouped at halftime and at the start of the second it was the Ocelots forcing the play. It paid off when VanDemergel was tripped as he sped past Macomb defender John Drummy in pursuit of a pass. A penalty kick was called; Dave Hebestrelt connected, giving

Lady Ocelots 2nd

Coach Tom Teeters' Lady Ocelots didn't win their own Schoolcraft Invitational volleyball tournament last weekend, but they did the next best thing — finish second.

Defending National Junior College Athletic Association champ Miami-Dade (Fla.) Wolfson lost only one game en route to an 8-0 record in the eight-team field.

Host SC, Kankakee (Ill.) and Flint Mott all finished with 5-2 records, but the Lady Ocelots took second, to go along with height, speed and based on head-to-head competition.

"This is one of the best tourneys we've ever played," said Teeters, whose team is 18-3 overall. We felt going in that if we got third it would be a break-even point, and anything above that we'd be extremely happy. "This is the toughest tourney we'll be in except for the Nationals itself." « The Lady Ocelots defeated Elgin, Ill. (15-3, 15-12), Lee, Tex. (15-5, 15-13), Kankakee (15-10, 15-10), Lake Michigan (5-15, 15-10, 15-12), and Belleville, Ill. (15-8, 15-8).

Flint Mott, a team SC had beaten twice already this season, surprised the hosts, 15-9, 10-15, 15-13.

"They're faster and they can attack a little quicker in some spots," sald-Teeters of Mott. "We need consistency and smarts to beat them."

MIAMI-DADE, led by Columbian recruits Paula Bedoya and Monica Pinillos, lived up to its high ranking, losing only one of 15 total games. Wolfson's only loss was to eighth

"They (Lee) had the best athletes, strength," Teeters said.

Reserve Sue Berger of Marysville came on for Jandasek with some key serves and dlgs to lift SC to wins over Belleville and Lake Michigan. She hit .333.

Defensively, Judi Scott (Clawson) had 28 digs to lead SC.

McNamara MSU's shining light

By Darren A. Nichols staff writer

Good things come to those who wait, and no one knows that better than Michigan State University volleyball player Corrinne McNamara.

She started the season expecting to move to outside hitter, but had to play the first 10 games at setter when eligibility problems occurred with another setter. University of Tennessee transfer Amy Rauch.

For McNamara, a senior from Livonia Ladywood, moving to setter and waiting to change positions worked to her advantage. In mid-September she was named Big Ten Player of the Week after outstanding performances at the Louisana State Invitational, and matches against Tulane and New Orleans.

"I was kind of shocked," said McNamara, who played on Lady-wood's 1988 state Class A Championship team. "I didn't expect it at all. It felt good, but I didn't expect it because we were down south and it was only the second week of the sea-

"IT'S BEEN worth the wait (moving to outside hitter). I'm happy now playing outside hitter. It's more enjoyable and I'm more confident with my hitting. Plus, this is my last year and I'm putting everything into this volleyball McNamara leads MSU in assists with 317 and digs with 153. She is fourth on the team with 103 kills.

"Corinne is the most unique player that I've had since I've been coaching," MSU volleyball coach Ginger Mayson sald. "She's literally played every position in her four years here. If she were not so versatile, she would be phenomenal at one position. She's a great athlete.

"Corinne brings a lot of intensity , and a lot of hard work. She's playing like a senior. She's a great role model for the juniors on down with her work ethic."

The time is now for McNamara at MSU. After playing a supporting role during her first three seasons, McNamara is the lone senior on the squad, looked upon for leadership for the inexperienced Spartans:

"IT (BEING A LEADER) is not a burden for me," McNamara said. "I'm the only senior and I've played for four years, so basically I kind of expected it. It doesn't bother me. I'm just going to come in with a positive attitude.

"This is a little bit different (from her first three seasons at MSU). We lost three seniors to graduation what have been playing since freshman year. I'm the only senior and we are starting three sophomores."

Despite the Spartans' 2-12 start this season, McNamara said the team has improved and good things are in store for the rest of the sea-

"We're playing pretty well," she said. "The coaching has improved and the players are improving. The people that came to see us (recently) said we looked like a whole different team from September. "We're expecting to finish strong. We played a strong Qhio State team . very tough this weekend. We still lost (13-15, 9-15, 1-15), but we played them tough."

McNAMARA, a child development and teaching major, said she will have fond memories of her college career once the season is over.

"After four years, you get kind of tired of practicing, so I won't miss the 6 a.m. swimming practices or the timed mile runs," a chuckling McNamara said. "But it's all been worth it - the practicing, the traveling. I've visited a lot of the country and I've met a lot of people. My teammates became some of my best friends in college. It will be real

And MSU will be said to see McNamara leave.

Patriotic stand

Franklin recovers to defuse Rockets

For one half Tuesday, Westland John Glenn accomplished a task not many teams are capable of - stopping Dawn Warner.

As Warner goes, Livonia Franklin goes. In the first half, Warner was held to six points and the Patriots trailed 17-15 at halftime.

But a second half surge by the senior guard helped lift visiting Franklin to a 45-39 girls basketball win over Glenn.

"Franklin is a never say die team." Glenn coach Pat Bennett said. "Dawn really took charge down the stretch." Franklin coach Dan Freeman said Warner picked up the tempo down the stretch. "We started out slowly," Freeman admitted, but Dawn picked things up in the second half and that made the difference."

Warner finished with a game-high 18 points, nine rebounds and four assists. Junior forward Karen Potempa added 11 points and eight rebounds, while senior Myryah Shea pulled down 11 rebounds.

Carrie Rachwal tallied 12 points to pace Glenn (6.4, 2.2).

STEVENSON 60, W.L. WESTERN 46: Senfor center Teresa Sarno poured in a game-high 26 points Tuesday to spark host Livonia Stevenson to a win over Walled Lake Western.

Sarno also had 12 rebounds for the winners. Sophomore guard Mo Drabicki chipped in with 12 points, while junior guard Jen Turblak tallied 11.

The game was tied 26-all at intermission, but Stevenson outscored the Warriors 19-14 in the third quarter and 15 6 in the fourth en route to the win.

"We started doing a little more diamond pressing in the second half," Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said. "That took them out of their game."

Senior forward Jenny Gross tallled 16 points in a losing cause for Western (4-5, 1-3). The Spartans are 8-1

FARMINGTON 52, CHURCHILL 50: Chrissy Daly scored 35 points Tuesday for Livonia Churchill, but it wasn't enough, as the visiting Falcons prevailed in a WLAA encounter.

The game was light, as Farmington enjoyed a narrow 25-24 halftime lead. The Falcons moved ahead 43-32 after three quarters before Churchill made a futile final period run.

Junior forward Tammy Allen paced the Falcons with a season-high 20 points, Senior guard Amani Plater added 11;

Parmington improves to 2-8 overall and 1-3 in the Lakes Division. Churchill is 0-4 and 0-10.

WAYNE 66, BELLEVILLE 44: Wayne Memorial built a 32-17 halftime lead Tuesday en route to a Wolverine A Conference win over visiting Belleville.

The Zebras (4-5, 2-2) were paced by Junior forward Lateefa Moore's 17 points. Junior guard Zenobia Davis chipped in 15, while junior guard Cindy Potter added

Senior forward Jenny Pakalo tallied a game-high 19 points to pace Belleville (1-7, 0-4).

"We had a nice lead throughout the game," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "We got a lot of baskets because of our pressing defense."

MARIAN 47, LADYWOOD 42: Birmingham Marian outscored Livonia Ladywood 9-3 in the final quarter. Tuesday en route to a Catholic League (Central Division) triumph over the visiting Blazers.

Marian improves to 9-1 overall and 3-0 in the league. Ladywood is 7-5, 1-3. The state-ranked Mustangs trailed 24-23 at intermis-

"We played well enough to win," Ladywood coach

Ed Kavanaugh said. "Obviously a three-point fourth quarter didn't help."

Mary Jo Kelly paced Ladywood with 12 points, while sophomore Tara Wasiak added nine.

Stephanie Storen tallied a game-high 15 points for the winners:

LUTH, WESTLAND 59, FAIRLANE 14: Junior center Mindy Hardy scored 13 points and pulled down 11 rebounds Tuesday, leading visiting Lutheran, High Westland to a Michigan Independent Athletic Association victory over Dearborn Heights. Fairlane

Senior guard Kristen Strang added 10 points and six assists for Lutheran Westland (8-3, 2-1). Nicki Lathrop scored 10 points in a losing cause for Fairlane Christian (1-9, 0-4)

HURON VALLEY 55, CALVARY 14: Nancv hist had the quadruple double Tuesday, breaking through for 34 points, 12 rebounds, 10 assists and 10 rebounds in Westland Huron Valley Lutheran's win at Ypsilanti Calvary. Sophornore Itachel Doletsky and senior Sapdi Dengel combined for 26 rebounds as the Hawks won for the second time in seven games. Ypsi Calvary, outrebounded 47-18, drops to 2-6 over-

"Hopefully this is a step in the right direction," Huron Vally coach Harvey Kightlinger said. "We thought we'd be doing better at this time. Our defense picked us up tonight."

HAMTRAMCK 46, CLARENCEVILLE 36: Livonia Clarenceville senior forward Leandra Hollman notched a season high 19 points Tuesday, but it was the visiting Cosmos who came away with the Metro Conference victory. Clarenceville (3-7, 1-4) trailed 43-19 after three quarters before outscoring Hamtramck (3-6, 2-3) by a 17-3 in the final period.

"It was not a good first half," Clarenceville coach Bob Wolf said. "We pressed in the fourth quarter and it got us back into the game."

Anna Merritt tallied six in a losing cause. Sonya Jones had 15 for the Cosmos; who made only 10 of 28 free throws.

Take 'easy' spares

FTER THE FIRST month of regular season bowling, the new "System of Bowling" has been put to the test.

Although not officially in effect until Jan. 1, most of the local houses have already converted to this new method. The houses feel it is better to convert to the method as early in the season as possible, instead of waiting until midseason to make a drastic change in lane conditions.

This 'system has, as expected, drawn mixed reactions. After discussing the tople with many bowlers, managers and proprietors, the responses are mostly favorable. Many averages will drop because of the new conditions, but many will improve.

The good news is spare shooting has become easier. The bad news is it's harder to carry strikes. The reason for this is because there is more oil on the lanes. The three units of oil on the outside boards seem to cut down the blg, wide hook shot, while the longer distance down the lane causes the ball to skid a bit

We are seeing more of the five pin left standing on a seemingly good pocket hit. The ball deflects more on the oil, thus harder to carry the five pin. If the seven or 10 pin remains standing, the result is a more difficult spare.

Another effect is that it's harder for some bowlers to find a line to the pocket. What has worked well in the past, isn't necessarily effective now. This means that we have to be able to try something different, probably a move more to the outside on the approach.

What works well one time may not seem to work the next time, so most bowlers will have to be more flexible in their game if they want to see strikes on their scoresheet.

Spare shooting is definitely easier because there is less likely to be a dry area on the lanes which might cause the ball to take an unexpected curve. This is especially nice for throwing at the corner pins, as you can go more directly at the target and the ball will hold the line better if properly delivered. This is generally true for all spares.

Practically anyone can have a higher average if they can make most of their spares, so the trade-off appears to be less strikes and more spares. That doesn't mean you can't bowl some high games, because you can. It takes a little more accuracy to get to the pocket, a good rolling ball, and as always, a little bit of luck.

• Bowl One Lanes in Troy is offering: a free "Ladies Learn to Bowl" clinic for three weeks beginning Oct. 28. Ladies can bring the kids and let them bumper bowl while they enjoy the classes. Also, beginning Oct. 12, Bowl One will stage a Moonlight Doubles each Saturday night with the winning couple receiving a 26-inch color television. For details, call Bill Strike at 588-4850.

Och Contrary to the headline that was written last week in one of our major metropolitan dailies, bowling sanction fees are going up $3 per year, not $3 per week. I just wanted to set the record straight.

WLAA division races moot point

staff writer

At the midway point of the high school football season, several division races are beginning to come into focus, and some key games this weekend will all but decide the issues.

The Farmington Hills Harrison-Northville showdown Friday night and the annual Boys Bowl meeting on Sunday between Redford Catholic Central and rival Birmingham Brother Rice are the most important games in that regard. Harrison and Northyille are 3-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, and the winner will be a game up with one to go.

In the WLAA Lakes Division, North Farmington has become the frontrunner after beating Plymouth Salem and Westland John Glenn, but the Ralders must beat upstart Farmington this week and then Livonia Stevenson to avoid a tie.

CC will become the favorite in the Central Division of the Catholic League if the Shamrocks can achieve a repeat win over Rice. CC won $1-0 last year.

In the prediction contest between Observer sports editors; Dan O'Meara was 11-4 last week and is 57-18 for the season. Brad Emons was 10-5 and is 50-25 over-

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Churchill at Ply. Canton: It will be homecoming at Canton as both teams try to end losing streaks and avoid the Western Division basement. The Chiefs (0-3 in the division and 1-4 overall) baven't won since the first week when they beat Monroe, Churchill is 0-5. Canton lost 6-3 in overtime to Franklin last week while the Chargers took a beating (49-0) from Harrison. PICKS: It will be close, but the Chiefs get the win.

Ply. Salem at Liv. Stevenson: If Salem gets the ground game In gear, the Rocks (2-1 in the Lakes, 3-2) could roll. Farmington kept the ball out of Leon Hister's hands in the first balf last week, but Pete Zantop and Dan Burke countered effectively and Salem won 35-15. The Spartans (1-2, 3-2) are coming off a 35-21 win over Walled Lake Central after losing to Farmington in overtime 15-7 the previous week. PICKS: Stevenson can't stop the Salem triple option.

Westland Glenn at W.L. Central: When was the last time Glenn (1-3, 3-2) lost two games in a row? A long time, to be sure. The Rockets are out of the Lakes Division race (though not the playoff picture) with losses to Salem and North Farmington, but they still have a fine team with an ability to diversily its offense. Central (0-3, 0-5) is winless and struggling. though quarterback Mike Gluski had a big game throwing the ball last week in defeat. PICKS: Glenn rebounds in a big way.

Farm. Harrison at Northville: The Hawks (3-0, 5-0) were considered a lock to win their 10th straight division title, but they'll be challenged after all. Maybe. On paper it looks like a pretty good game. Both are unbeaten in the division, and the winner should take the title. Harrison has to play Franklin, and who nearly upset Rice in the playoffs last year, hang with Harrison for four quarters? They did in 1987 when the unbeaten Hawks escaped with a 14-6 win at Northville. The Mustangs, who were 1-5 going into that game, have won four straight since losing the opener to unbeaten South Lyon, Harrison's pass defense will have to be sharp against Northville quarterback Ryan Huzjak. The Hawks will miss safety Dan Hight, who was injured (broken collarbone) two weeks ago in the Canton game. But coach John Herrington had already started working other players into the lineup, including Matt Gordon in the secondary. PICKS: Top-ranked Harrison keeps chugging along.

Redford Union at Garden City: After a successful non-league encounter with Jackson Northwest (28-7), RU returns to Northwest Suburban play, hoping to spoil homecoming festivities at Garden City. The Panthers (1-1, 3-2) are having a good year, led by quarterback Brian Theis, who ran for two touchdowns and passed for another last week. The Coogars (0-2, 1-4) have lost their last two games. PICKS: RU is the best NSL team in Observerland.

Drbn. Fordson at Wayne Memorial: The Zebras (2-2, 3-2). shapped a two-game losing streak by beating Belleville 21-6 but now they get unbeaten and state-ranked Pordson (4-0, 3-0). Wayne has struggled at times but is always capable of the upset, especially with the development of running back Bruce Calhoun, who had 142 yards against Belleville. The Zebras will need a good defensive effort to keep Fordson's run-oriented, ball-control offense from dominating. PICKS: The Tractors plow the field for another win.

Hamtramek at Liv. Clarenceville: As if the Trojans weren't struggling enough as it was, Clarenceville (0-4 in the Metro Conference, 0-5) was dealt another setback two weeks ago when coach Mark Ladd left to take a job in Georgia. The Trojans suffered their worst loss (50-0) to Cranbrook last week as interim coach Russ McKenzie made his debut. Hamtramck (0-4, 1-4) isn't doing much better in terms of record, but the Cosmos only lost to Cranbrook by a 7-0 score. PICKS: Hamiramck keeps the Trojans winless.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all 1 p.m. unless noted)

Taylor Truman at Red. Thurston, noon: Thurston (1-3 in the Tri-River, 1-4) got its first victory last week when the Eagles rallied from a 14-8 halftime deficit to win 21-14 over Annapolis. Paul Jaremski rushed for 175 yards and scored all three touchdowns to lead Thurston. This game is considered a tossup, though Truman (2-2, 2-3) is a little better in the won-loss column. PICKS: In a switch from last week, Emons takes Thurston while O'Meara picks Truman.

W.L. Western at Liv. Franklin: The first half of the season has been bittersweet for the Patriots (2-1 in the Western Divisloo, $-2). Franklin is having a better-than-expected year, but the Patriots could be doing even better. Franklin should be 4-1 and possibly 5-0. The Patriots were beating Northville 18-0 but lost 23-16 in overtime. Trailing 14-12 against Stevenson, Franklin was moving the ball when an interception was returned for the winning TD. Coach Armand Vigna wasn't sure who would play quarterback - either Keith Roberts, who had a 68-yard punt in the fourth quarter of a 6-3 win over Canton, or Dennis Madden, who was brought up from the JV team. David Little, who began the season at QB, is injured and won't play, though he might do some kicking. Western (1-2, 2-3) lost to Northville last week, 16-5. PICKS: O'Meara picks the Patriots; Emons says Western is best.

N. Farmington at Farmington: The Raiders (3-0 in the Lakes, 4-1) must guard against the upset, because Farmington has its best team in several years. North needs wins over the Falcons (2-1, 3-2) and Stevenson to clinch the division outright and reach the WLAA championship game for the first time in live years. Farmington has a fine defense, led by senior linebacker Matt Siskosky, and will have to stop North tailback Todd Anderson. The Falcons played well against Salem despite the apparent one-sided score. "I've seen Parmington play and they look tough," North quarterback Mark Temple sald. "We're not going to look past them." PICKS: The Raiders stay on track for an all-Farmington WLAA final on Saturday, Oct. 28.

Lath. Westland at Litchfield: The Warriors (1-1) rebounded from their only loss with a 20-13 win over Lutheran Northwest, but they face a formidable foe in Class D Litchfield, which is 2. 3 after beating Camden-Frontier 50-26. Lutheran Westland rallied from a 13-6 halftime deficit with two fourth-quarter TDs to beat Northwest. PICKS: The Terriers are no dogs. They win one for the home crowd.

St. Agatha at Waterford Our Lady: The unbeaten Aggles (2-0 in the C-Section, 5-0) have another key Catholic League divisional game with perennial power Our Lady of the Lakes. St. Agatha is No. 10 in Class C this week, the Lakers No. 9 in Class D. The Aggles broke a 27-27 tie to beat Shrine 41-27 Saturday night, and they have a fine back in Cardell Davis, who rushed for 141 yards and three TDs, including an 82-yard kickoff return. "St. Agatha is a legitimate team, a very good team," Shrine coach Jim MacDougall said Lakes (1-1, 4-1) has lost only to unbeaten St. Clement and is coming off a 33-12 win over Ann Arbor Richard, PICKS: Emons likes the Lakers and their history of success, but O'Meara will side with the Aggies Bishop Borgess vs. Benedictine at Garden City Jr. High: Borgess (1-1 in the Tri-Sectional, 2-3) broke a three-game losing streak with an 8-0 defeat of Riverview Richard and faces winless Benedictine. The Ravens (0-2, 0-5) have played division leaders Saginaw Nouvel and Allen Park Cabrini the last two weeks. PICKS: The Spartans move to 500 for the season.

SUNDAY'S GAME

Catholic Central vs. Brother Rice, 2 p.m. at Pontiac-Wisner Stadium: The Warriors could be CC's last big obstacle on the way to another division crown. The Sharnrocks (1-0, 5-0) have already played DeLaSalle and will have a decent Detroit-Jesuit team and winless Notre Dame remaining. Rice (1-0, 3-2) has won three straight after losing to Harrison and Ypsilanti. The Warriors might not be as strong as in past years, but they're still Rice and they're still pretty good. CC has proved itself as one of the state's top teams, beating King, DLS and DePorres in consecutive games by an average of 21/2 touchdowns aplece. PICKS: The Shamrocks make Rice a victim, too.

utheran Westland relies on Faith for victory

Lutheran High Westland obviously had a lot of Faith in its come-frombehind 20-13 football win Saturday over Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

Sophomore Steve Faith, who led all rushers with 118-yards in 12 carries, wrapped up the victory for the Warriors on a 49-yard touchdown run with 1:04 remaining in the game. Lutheran Westland is now 4-1 overall, while Northwest drops to 2-

Broderdorf. (The conversion failed.) Northwest answered in the second quarter, taking a 13-6 halftime lead on Steve Lemke's 1-yard sneak. (The two-point pass failed.)

Lutheran Westland used up much of the third quarter, mounting a 16play, 95-yard drive capped by Paul Feltz's 3-yard run (on the first play of the fourth).

Feltz added the two-pointer to give the Warriors a 14-13 advantage. Faith then wrapped things up with his late TD run. Lutheran Westland had 238 yards rushing and 110 passing for 348 total

Courtroom drama provokes thought

Performances of the Meadow Brook Theatre production of "Inherit the Wind" continue through Oct. 27 on the Oakland University. campus in Rochester. For ticket information call the box office at 377-3300.

The classic courtroom drama "Inherit the Wind" grapples with academic and intellectual freedom questions raised when a high school science teacher in Tennessee was tried for teaching evolution.

Did humans evolve from creatures that crawled out of the earth's primordial swamp? Does the Bible' speak metaphoric or literal truth?

SUCH QUESTIONS polarized the nation in 1925 during the Scopes Monkey Trial. "Inherit the Wind' is not history" insist co-authors Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee in the preface to the play, but they clearly based the drama on the infamous trial.

Meadow Brook Theatre's robust production of this genuine American masterpiece holds up a mirror to our cultural values - past and present. The fine cast of 37, and an imaginative, mobile set of the town/courtroom, recreate the era and offer dynamic, thought provoking theater.

Booth Coleman's brilliant portrayal of defense attorney Henry Drummond provides a stable nucleus of integrity in the hullabaloo of media hype that blew up around the trial.

DRUMMOND'S DEDICATION to freedom, his belief in "truth as a direction," and his faith in the miracle of the human mind make him the unquestioned champion of the play. His salty, non-elitsit language and willingness to stand alone against public opinion make him a quintessential American hero.

Cathie Breidenbach

Director Charles Noite depicts the media circus surrounding the trial with burlesquelike humor.

Coleman's boney physique and slightly arthritic galt'show him as an ordinary, aging man pacing the courtroom in shirt sleeves and suspenders. Drummond's heroism comes from within, and Coleman projects a quiet charisma and bedrock strength that qualify him as a brilliant advocate for the right to think. He defends schoolteacher Bert Cates, played with convincing humility by John Seibert.

Arthur Beer portrays Matthew Harrison Brady, the populist preacher/politican and prosecuting attorney. After three runs for the presidency, Brady has sold out his former grass roots integrity to political ambition. He still draws crowds, but his charisma has begun to fade.

THE TRICK to playing Brady is to retain a core of the integrity which once made him great; to depict a man with enough residual heroism to be a match for Drummond Beer's Brady is all charming bluster and inflated rhetoric; he never really challenges Drummond, Director Charles Nolte depicts the media circus surrounding the trial with burlesque-like humor. The small town Southerners from the Bible Belt look like sterotypical local yokels who hook their thumbs in their farmer overalls and chew with their mouths open. In Nolte's hand, the small-town tolk come off as righteous bigots or ludicrous bump-

Nolte puts media mayhem center stage in the play and makes a powerful statement about how media confuses, complicates and oversimpli-comed Brady; journalists headlined their biased interpretation of events, and a radio station broadcast live from the courtroom. The brass band at the train station partly drowns out dialogue in Act 1 and Nolte puts the radio mike center front at the trial,

The broadcaster's loud comments into the microphone nearly overshadow the jury forman's verdict. Does media "reporting" muddy history? Alter it? Charles Nolte's "Inherit the Wind" revives a lively, funny, powerful event from our past, and raises probing questions for the present.

'Talley's Folly'

Actors glide smoothly in humorous lovers' waltz

Performances of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford production of "Talley's Folly" continue through Oct. 26, at the Theatre Guild playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly, Redford. For ticket information call the box office at 538-

The Theatre Guild opened their '91-92 season with a charming, and humorous, look at romance in an engaging production of "Talley's Fol-

It's about two not-so-young lovers who waitz around the task of overcoming fears and consummating their relationship. Director Debi Bayley does a fine job with Lanford Wilson's Pulitzer Prize-wining play.

THE SETTING is a Victorian boathouse on the stately Tally Farm near Lebanon, Mo. It's a hot summer night in 1944. Crickets are chirping, frogs are croaking, a full moon casts soft shadows on the banks of the river. Perfect for a romantic interlude, right? Well, maybe not.

Leading the waitz is Matt Friedman, a 42-year-old Jewish accountant from St. Louis, by way of warweary Europe, whose family has been tortured and killed. Following not too willingly is Sally Talley, a 31year-old nurse's aide who is fast approaching spinsterhood.

Weibel

Fred Buchalter, as Matt. captures the very essence of a man whose outwardly teasing, playful humor masks a more serious and sensitive personality. Buchalter is especially. adept at moving from witty moments to telling scenes without obvious dramatics. It is a very smooth performance from beginning

SUSAN RENO is very good as Sally Talley, an attractive woman from a prominent family who has not married. Matt, she fears, is not the answer. Her reactionary family would never accept him. They are from different worlds; marriage would never work.

This conflict between heart and mind isn't always all that it might be. Perhaps if Reno played Sally with more warmth, or in a little less strident fashion, we would feel more of the desire Sally really has for tions continues between the two fragile lovers. They are like eggs, afraid to rub against each other lest they crack their shells. They must maintain their integrity, their privacy, to survive.

EVEN EGGS, however hard it may be on them, must give way to something better, perhaps even an omelet. Finally, the waltz ends, as they overcome their Humpty Dumpty complex. Sally and Matt confess deep dark secrets, and lift the veil of mystery that seems to separate them. They are more alike than they imagined.

If you've ever been apprehensive about getting romantically involved with someone, you will find great affinity for "Talley's ."

Challenging Trinity production needs work

Performances of the Trinity llouse Theatre production of The Trip To Bountiful" continue through Nov. 2 at Trinity House, 38540 W. Six Mile Road in Livonia For ticket information call 161 6302.

Though it has some things going ior it, Trinity House Theatre's recent production of "The Trip To Bountiful," directed by Peter Senkbeil, ultifrately misses the mark.

Horton Foote's play, though telling simple story, is also a challenging siece of work. It focuses on Carrie Valts, a kindhearted/lonely/hymnsinging/nature-loving/elderly womin (played by Angella Kobane) who, relate she dies, yearns to escape the mothering urban environment in i which she lives to her pastoral beginhings in East Texas.

HOW do you stage something like hat without having it lapse into comething all trite and overly senti-

Foote's story, though simple, is subtly wrought characters who, when convincingly portrayed, not only ensure against triteness, but make this play soar.

In the main cast at Trinity House, Guy Snyder is Carrie's ineffectual son, Ludie. Sarah Hedeen plays selfcentered, thwarted daughter-in-law. Jessie Mae.

The trouble here is that these vital, three-dimensional characters are less than convincingly portrayed. Consequently, the play never quite leaves the ground. Sometimes it threatens to just sit there, still as a concrete fence post.

IN THIS case, though some performances are better than others, the cast, as a whole, seems to come up short. A certain self-consciousness, copled with some highly complex, not usually seen in the Trinity House players, a certain tendency toward over-acting keeps rearing its ugly

A smile turns into a peculiar leer, a facial expression becomes so exaggerated it seems faintly ludicrous and altogether inappropriate. Some performers can't seem to think of what to do with their hands, other appear to be straining at their roles.

Now and then the exaggeration and overacting gives way to curious spells of flatness or woodenness on the part of some of the actors. None of this distracts or detracts quite so much as the fact that, very often, the performers don't seem to be listening or responding to each other-at: all, but simply anticipating their own upcoming lines.-Perhaps rehearsal time was short?

SET, SOUND, and lighting are imaginative and carefully done. Makeup and costumes are first-rate too, although some costumes look a bit more 1961 vintage than 1951, the year in which the play is set.

Car makers take 'meaningless' sales figures seriously is here again, what with the close of the 1991 model year at the end of September — the arbitrary date that generates a whole new set of numbers for analysts, prognosticators and soothsayers to massage, and keep their jobs.

The way in which the auto business keeps records of itself has always mystified me, despite having spent several years laboring over a calculator myself. Take the 'model' year, for example. Please.

Once something heralded with searchlights, the traditional newmodel car launch today has been replaced with a steady dribbling of new cars that starts sometime in March, and continues through January. As a result 'model year sales'

The auto sales claim silly season are, in fact a strictly arbitrary method of calculating sales from September through September, to no particular purpose.

> That fact doesn't deter publications such as Automotive News from using the annual model year 'winners' as a reliable headline sto-

Lately, those headlines have become pretty prédictable. Mainly, the numbers will be massaged until the Japanese look good, and the domes the industry looks bad. In fact, there were only three Japanese vehicles; on the list of the top 10 best-selling nameplates this year (fully half the list is Ford products), but the Automolive News headline is 'Honda nabs third in car sales." .

This makes the guys at' Chrysler mad, since they sell more than enough minivans to keep them solidly in third place, save for the fact that minivans are loosely categorized as light trucks; not cars.

Stiff, it is mysterious that the Chrysler minivan, which in fact is ' the third best-selling vehicle in the U.S. (First and second are Ford and even on the list of top 10 nameplates in the model-year sales list.

Wierd, i.it I you look a little closer and realize that because Chrysler sells its minivans under three divisions, and with three nameplates, it has fractured its chances for bragging rights.

Take this a little further, and you realize that the Honda Accord only Chevy full-size pickup trucks) isn't makes the grade as top selling nameplate by adding two separate models together - the two-door coupe and the four-door sedan, which share a name but not much else. One could cry 'foul,' but Honda. didn't invent this game - Olds used it for years to keep the Cutlass on top of nameplate sales. As far as I'm concerned, people drive cars, not. nameplates, and the 'honor' of bestselling 'car' should go to the Chrysler

Laughable as the reporting methods are marketing types take the numbers very seriously. Particularly the guys at Ford and Chevrolet, who go at each other annually, like one of those fights between two loggers on a single log - forgetting the water is full of Japanese sharks. This year, Ford beat out Chevy at the last minute for top truck sales by tossing in a $2000 incentive the last month of the model year.

Chevy marketing types who cried foul at this one apparently forgot. how they eased by Ford a few years ago by carefully wiping off a fleet full of light trucks submerged in a flood and doclaring them as 'sold', before scrapping them - which put them ahead of Ford in the numbers race that year.

Shinanigans aside, the model year sales numbers demonstrate what everybody already knows; sales are lousy, the Japanese are eating everybody's lunch, and the European makes are dying a quick death:

Like they say. It's a jungle out

Now, allied to Domino's, Widger is out to make home delivery the order of the day in England.

Before accepting Domino's offer, Widger was also courted by Pizza Hut, but he said he was more comfortable working with fellow Michigander Tom Monaghan and believes Domino's is postioned to make a good run at the international delivery business.

There's also a personal side to Widger's decision. His wife, Ger-rye, suffered a stroke last year, making it difficult for him to devote himself full-time to the American Pizza Co. stores.

As his wife's condition improves, Widger expects to spend more time again in England, where he had been averaging more than 40 weeks a year.

William Widger is the largest Domino's franchisee in Europe. His Bloomfield Hills home bears testimony to his many travels.

Pizza franchisee ponders growth in foreign lands

By David Stein special writer

Smother my pizza with sweet corn, tiny shrimp and pineapple, say our British cousins.

These toppings are among the favorites in Great Britain, where William Widger of Bloomfield Hills has been selling pizza and the home-delivery concept with his America Pizza Co. for the past four

This spring, Widger, 54, joined the Domino's team. After turning 13 of his outlets into Domino's stores, Widger is now the largest Domino's franchisee in Europe.

Widger identified a time factor in making the switch with the coming of Europe's unified trade zone in 1992, opening the doors to 350 million customers.

'If we meet with success in England, I think it is a great jumping off point for (the rest of) Europe," Widger said.

He is neither a stranger to franchising nor good timing. He founded Tuff-Kote Inc. in 1962 as an offshoot of W&M Products, an automotive supply company started by his father in 1940. By 1981, Widger and his brother service into a worldwide giant with 4.700 franchises in 67 countries as a partner of Astra-Dinol AB of Sweden. The visa stamps in Widger's passport became an inky blur as he handled the international side of the business.

AS AUTO COMPANIES took rustproofing in-house, Widger realized Tuff-Kote would have to explore new areas for sales. Astra-Dinol execs disagreed, so the Widgers sold out to them in 1981.

Widger and his family went to live abroad. But restfuliness eventually gave way to restlessness, and Widger, through the suggestion of a Norwegian friend, began a chain of pizza stores along the highway corridor running from London to Birmingham, England.

Home delivery of food is still a novelty outside of London.

"Their eating habits are much like ours were in the '50s, where you came home, and every meal was eaten in the home. You just didn't go out," Widger said. "Sales go right up on payday or they order on kids' birthdays and things like that."

Creative avoidance hurts sales prospecting

By Doug Funke staff writer

• Did you hear about the salesman's philosophy regarding prospecting, or making cold calls, that was tled to the weather? His belief - If the weather is nice, no sense trying because no one will be in. If the weather is lousy, forget it because prospects will be in a bad

• How about the salesman who acquired a batch of business cards from receptionists while making cold calls? He went back to his office and flipped off all the prospects without following up by rationalizing reasons why they wouldn't be inter-

 And did you hear about the two sales colleagues who took half a day to do a 15-minute job on a computer, learned all about the computer in the process but didn't make a single sales call?

Denise Roberts, a Bloomfield Hills sales consultant who's writing a book called "The Weakest Link in Sales," has heard about these and other ploys sales professionals use to avoid prospecting for new clients. "I keep seeing it in company after company after company," she said. "The market changed. Companies had been resting on their laurels.

They lost momentum. With the economy being tight now, we can't let it go on any more.'b

Roberts offered an explanation for the procrastination. "MOST PEOPLE avoid prospecting for fear of looking foolish or of being perceived poorly by the person contacted. It's not fear of rejection." Her solution - a low-key, market-research telephone approach. "Something like, 'I have a product or service, I don't know if it's of any value to you. May I ask you a few questions?' I'm soft, I'm not going for the jugular, I'm not pushing for an appointment," she said.

Roberts, who has researched case histories for the book, is sponsoring a "creative avoidance" contest to get even more anecdotal fodder. Managers or sales pros can FAX (737-0825) their tales to her through Oct.

Gag prizes will be awarded for the most humorous, most time-consuming and most original entries.

"I have seen sales managers try to deal with all kinds of avoidance by their staffs, and some of them can come up with really imaginative methods," she said. "One sales rep used to hide in the stairwells at the

Personal exercise trainers compete with health clubs

special writer

Tennis, squash and racquetball courts typical of health clubs are up against new competitors for fitness dollars in suburban Detroit: personal trainers who provide custom workouts either in homes or exercise stu-

Exercise studios are "the most efficient and safe way for people to get in shape, and stay that way," sald Collin LaLonde, owner of Fitness By Design in Southfield. "We design a workout program to meet the individual fitness level and goals of a client," he said, "Clients are assigned a personal trainer to guide them through solid balance of muscular strength, endurance and flexi-

Fitness. By Design opened two years ago, and includes all the exercise equipment typical of a major health club - stair climbers, treadmills, stationary bikes, free weights and a variety of arm and leg extention machines. Noticeably absent in the 1,300-square-foot studio are health bars, whirlpools and saunas.

Harold Fried, a partner with the Southfield law firm Fried, Saperstein. DeVine and Kohn, said he attends three hourly sessions a week at Fitness By Design, even though he is a member at a nearby health club.

"I never had much luck working out in my basement or at the club. It seemed like the phone was always ringing or you'd wind up socializing with friends and colleagues," said Fried, who pays $25 for an hour ses-

ed to grow in numbers as more and more people become aware of the health benefits of regular exercise but find they have less time to work out or feel health spas are too crowded or too intimidating.

The pros of one-on-one training include personal attention, efficiency, motivation and commitment while the cons are the expense - prices range from $25 to $200 an hour and the loss of the social element of an exercise class.

Personal trainers will also visitthe home. Jan Jacobs, a competitive triathlete who holds a master's degree in exercise physiology, said she opened Fit For Health two years ago to provide personalized exercise programs for people who prefer their own homes.

"Mostly I work with business execulives and women who want to get back in shape after pregnancy," said Jacobs, a Birmingham resident. Following a fitness evaluation, I'll prescribe an exercise program for a client and be there every session to guide them through how often, how hard and how long.'

Jacobs, who is also a dental hygienist, develops exerise programs for area athletes too. Fees are $40 an hour. Like most personal trainers, Jacobs asks that clients pay 10 sesknow the program is being done . sions in advance, to help instill comright, and there's no waiting for a mitment. Both LaLonde and Jacobs machine to be free. BEFORE EMBARKING on any physical training, both recommend people over 35 have a stress test done. The growing popularity of personal trainers has not been lost on area health clubs, though such trainers often oversee the progress of two or three people at a time, and in an informal setting.

Kitty Elenbaas, fitness director at the One On One Athletic Club in West Bloomfield, said the club has offered the use of personal trainers since it was redesigned from a tennis club six years ago.

"The use of personal trainers by our members has grown significantly in the last two years, but they still make up a small percentage of our total membership," she said. "People are aware that exercise is becoming more sophisticated, and they want to be sure they don't hurt them-

Currently, One On One has five trainers on staff. The fee is $30 an hour, and includes, like most other programs, nutrition counseling. Specific dietary needs are referred to a physician.

When selecting a personal trainer, it's considered essential to choose one who is a member of either the International Dance and Exercise Association (IDEA) or the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) is considered essential.

"After an initial interview where we go over past medical history and any past or present injuries, we start out with a light workout and then see how the client feels before starting the next session, said LaLonde, an IDEA member.

"It's important to retest or you might have someone getting hurt. We also set realistic goals for our clients and let them know it usually takes two to three months before changes are seen in the body. But iright away.''

Rich Miller of Livonia shows off a set of traditional Russian nesting eggs, decorated with not-so-traditional portraits of Soviet leaders Lenin and Gorbachov.

His 'glasnost' was mixture of music, Bibles

By Julie Brown staff writer

Handing out Bibles on the streets of Moscow was an eye-opener for Rich Miller of Livonia.

"I had reactions of all different types," said Miller, who recently traveled to the Soviet Union with a musical group.

Some Soviets thanked him, while others were more hesitant. They'd check to make sure no one was watching and would then quickly hide the Bible in a coat or newspaper, he said.

"You could tell they wanted it, but they just didn't want to be seen by whomever," Miller said.

Not too long ago, Miller's travels to foreign lands didn't extend beyond

"Going to Montana was a big step for me," said Miller, who left for the Soviet Union Sept. 1 and returned Sept. 11.

Miller, who grew up in Plymouth and graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1974, traveled with the Spirit of America Choir. The tour was sponsored in the U.S. by Youth for Christ International.

A number of mission groups in the Soviet Union assisted in coordinating a gospel music festival, which involved many different musical groups, including the Spirit of America Choir.

"WHEN PEOPLE ask me about my trip, I usually say 'Well, do you have three hours?' "Miller, 35, finds it difficult to sum up his experiences in a few words. "It was very interesting, very, very interesting.' The musicians thought the attempted coup in August might make their travels impossible, but Miller thinks it was "God's plan that he.

wanted this to come off." The musicians, some of whom live in the Detroit area, performed at the Palace of Congress in the Kremlin. which was very history-making in itself," he said. They also performed outdoors at a concert in Moscow's Gorky Park.

He found a mixed reaction to the idea of religious freedom in the Soviet Union.

He and others were handing out Bibles their last day in Moscow and found those Bibles, printed in Russlan, disappeared quickly. Black market Bibles are quite expensive, sald Miller, who works as a laboratory technician at NSF International in Ann Arbor. Choir members spent several days In Moscow and traveled to other areas, including Leningrad. They also split up into ensembles of about 12, and some sang in schools "which is something you wouldn't have in this country. His group sang at an orphanage "which was really neat: I enjoyed that." They sang for about 20 young people. The singers had learned a think," he said.

few songs in Russian and taught those to the children and teenagers at the orphanage,

THE AMERICANS also sang in an 800-year-old cathedral in Tallinn, Estonia's capital.

"A lot of the barricades were still up," said Miller, who plays the frombone with the Plymouth Community Band. He saw gigantic granite boulders in the capital's streets.

The group's guide, who was from Estonia, told them that the move toward independence in the republies had begun some time ago. Estonia had had its own currency printed up for some time, and Estonianswere just waiting to put it to use.

All travel arrangements for the musicians were made through the Soviet state-owned tourist bureau -"They kind of direct you where they want you to go. I guess we saw the better side of Russia, the better side of the Soviet Union."

Their contact with ordinary Soviet citizens was somewhat limited, but the singers did get to speak to people following concerts.

Many students and some professionals speak English, Miller said, although older people generally don't. His knowledge of the Russian language is limited to such basic words as hi, goodbye, please, thank you, yes and no.

THE VISITORS went to a flea market in Moscow, which "made me stop and think for a while because it seems too much like free enterprise."

Miller brought home souvenirs, including a Boris Yeltsin T-shirt he bought from a street vendor in Leningrad. He and the others saw the Moseow Circus and did some sight-

It was harvest time when they were in the Soviet Union, "so food was fairly plentiful." But he saw long lines at the service station and the bakery.

"Bread," he said, " seems to be a big thing in the Soviet Union and it's very good, as a matter of fact."

Lines were also long at the stateoperated liquor store, where Soviets get their supply of rationed vodka.

MILLER WOULD like to return to the Soviet Union. One of the most striking things he noticed during his visit was that few people on the streets smiled.

"You don't see people laughing or

He visited a small store in Moscow and saw how limited the choice of merchandise was. "It's not like going to Meljer's."

He thinks about that now when he goes shopping, and wonders how Soviets would react to seeing such a large store.

Hoya's vision is crystal clear

Artists capture beauty in glass

Milky white swirls resembling snow fade away to the crystal clear surface of the lake, broken only by the random shapes of icebergs. This is "Snow Lake."

Saburo Funakoshi's dramatic sculpture bowl — yes, a bowl in two sizes no less — has been exhibited at the Louvre in Paris and The Smithosnian Institution in Washington, D.C. Now, it's at Jacobson's Laurel Park store in Livonia.

It's one of many pieces of Hoya Museum Crystal available at the store, the only Jacobson's in Michigan to carry the world renown glassware and only the second store - the other is Charles Warren in Troy - in the state to sell Hoya Crystal.

Hoya lead crystal is recognized for its purity, reflective brilliance and clarity. It combines ancient glassmaking methods of mouth blowing and hand forming with designed technical innovations to create highly reflective, contempo-

"Japan has a tremendous tradition in the decorative arts," said Alice Chappell, president of Hoya Crystal, U.S.A., who was in town last week to introduce the crystal collection. "They've been making glass since the fourth century, but more people think of the Japanese laquerware.

"In 1913, a number of artists went to the government about recognizing glass as an artistic form. That resulted in a number of juried shows and Japan became an international beacon for the glass community."

HOYA HAS a worldwide reputation for its optical glassmaking techniques. Well-known for its camera lenses and filters, it helped produce the lens for the Nova laser at Livermore National Laboratory in California.

It also is one of the world's largest producers of fine crystal and it was Chappell who got the Japanese manufacturer to return to the U.S. market in 1985.

A background in contemporary art and business, Chappell was working for Corning Glassworks when she became familiar with Hoya, specifically "Snow Lake" and Toshio Sugasawa's "Books," a collection of crystal books 3-5 inches high.

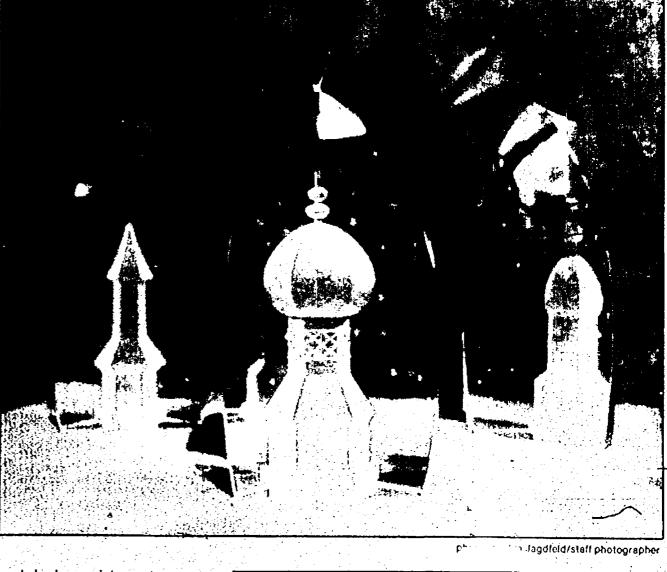

Chappell went to Japan in 1982 based on the belief that there was room in the crystal market for contemporary design. It took three years and patience to convince Hoya to return to the U.S., an experience Chappell enjoyed so much that when asked, decided to take a job with Hoya.

Hoya had been in the United States in the '50s and '60s, but left to protect its own market in Japan. It didn't export its crystal for 10 years to build its own domestic market.

"There was a void in the top end of the crystal market for pieces with contemporary design, but no one had taken the time to explain that to the Hoya officials," Chappell said. "Americans have a tradition in contemporary design and Hoya realized they didn't have to change their standards, they would not have to abandon their traditions to enter the market."

THE HOYA collection is as varied as the 13 artists-in-residence who work exclusively for the firm.

Among the Hoya Museum Crystal available at Jacobson's Laurel Park store are Yoji Suzuki's collection of five "Steeplescapes" and Fumio Sasa's "Aspiration," a twisted blown and cut crystal ¥880.

ished hexagonal prisms entitled "Intuition I and II."

Writer follows line of least resistance

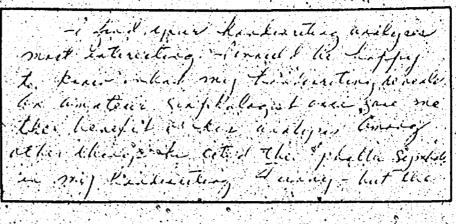

I find your handwriting analyses most interesting. I would be happy to know what my handwriting reveals. An amateur graphologist once gave me the benefit of his analysis. Among other things, he cited the 'phallic symbols" in my handwriting. Funny, but the nuns called it the Palmer method!

I am 65 years old and although I write with my right hand, I suspect I'm a frustrated "leftle" as I set up the ironing board, carving table and many other tasks as if I were lefthanded. Needless to say, my physical coordination leaves something to be desired!

Today, we are examining the handwriting of a woman who chooses to flow with the tide, not against it. She has the ability to fit in . with the prevailing social climate and often follows the line of least resistance. She may also act more friendly than she inwardly feels.

Seemingly, our writer experiences inconsistencies in her makeup, which she may or may not be aware. While usually amiable, she can also be direct even to the point of arguing when her emotions become deeply involved.

A woman of talent with a taste for cultural subjects is suggested in this handwriting. Literary interests are seen and she probably enjoys reading. She appears to have a sharp mind. I feel, however, she is more of a skimmer than one who probes

She is not without goals, but isn't alwasy diligent about following through on them. At times, she experiences sudden bursts of activity. Other times she can be easily distracted. Mood swings are here and may interfere with the results.

In some areas, especially where she is concerned personally, she can be quite indecisive and finds it difficult to arrive at decisions.

Although she enjoys change and and active lifestyle, she tends to be come involved more than she can comfortably manage. Then tension takes over. Perhaps she needs to redefine her priorities.

Feelings of pride and self-esteem can be found in this writing. Also her need for security cannot be missed. She has a strong awareness of her own body. She often feels that others are observing and judging her. This self-consciousness may stem from too much criticism in the past. Flattery gives her pleasure. Criticism gives her displeasure...

Problem solving is usually characterized by logic. Material gain also tends to influence her thinking.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C: Green, a certified graphologist at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are all helpful and objective feedback is encourpolished to create the snowy effect. It comes in two sizes — 11% inches ($210) and 101/4 Inches ($165).

A collection of five three-dimensional "Steeplescapes" by Yoji Suzuki, and priced at $355 each, were created by cutting the design with a diamond wheel on one edge of pyramidal piece of crystal.

AND UNLIKE other companies. that chemically polish their pieces, Hoya physically polishes each individual piece to preserve the crisp lines and mirror finish of the surface, Chappell said.

"Hoya drew a lot upon the independent crastsmen and glass artists in starting its crystal manufacturing, and its has a strong commitment to its glass vision," she said. "Its philosophy is that crystal should be an integral part of life."

And that philosophy is reflected in its collection of crystal bowls; drinkware and plates. While many people think in terms of matched sets, Hoya promotes variety.

Its collection of floral dinner plates feature the frosted blossoms of the narcissus, crocus, pansy, sweet pea, carnation, thistle, lily, poppy, African daisy, cattleya and cyclamen floating on polished crys-

And Sachio Hamamatsu created 10 intricately cut two-ounce crystal glasses ($50 each) with names like Pinwheel, Thistle, Snowdrop, Prism, Primose and Crescendo.

AND IN SHARP contrast to Sasa's "Aspiration," a vase made from a twisted column of cut crystal priced at $1,025, Hoya also carries such novelty items as crystal golf balls and clubs. Golf is popular sport in Japan and the crystal pieces are designed to be used as awards and the like as well as unusual decorative pieces.

In fact, pleces like Sugasawa's "Books," "Aura," notched clear crystal discs; and "Intuition," polished hexagonal prisms, are among Hoya crystal pieces suitable for engrav-

Church merger succeeds with lots of give and take

By Sue Mason staff writer

You could say it was a case of one thing leading to another. Except for two Livonia churches, it all happened in rapid fire succession.

On June 16, Ascension Lutheran Church and Sword of Spirit Lutheran Church literally closed their doors, A week later the doors reopened to a new church Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

"It still is scary," said Rev. Darwin Polesky, former pastor of Ascension Lutheran Church. "It was something no one expected and suddeally it's here,"

"The suddenness was overwhelming," added Rev. Walter Dickinson, former pastor of Sword of the Spirit. "It's a new identity for all of us and there's been a lot of give and take like in a marriage."

The emergence of Emmanuel Lutheran Church is akin to the mythological Egyptian bird, the phoenix, that consumed itself in flames only to rise, renewed, from the ashes.

In January, fire gutted a partially completed addition of Sword of the Spirit Lutheran Church on Seven Mile Road. In need of temporary housing, the congregation turned to Ascension Lutheran Church on Five Mile for help.

The two churches weren't strangers by any means. They were "already doing things together like joint worships and other activities" as the result of covenant drafted in SWORD OF the Spirit moved in with Ascension and within two months the congregations voted to the possibilities" available to the two churches. By late April, they were seriously looking at a merger.

"When the fire hit we were in an expansion program," Dickinson said. "Afterwards, we had to decide what it would mean to us."

"When we did the covenant plan of two pastors."

six-eight years ago, there was some conversation about a merger, but we never got to a serious talking," said Polesky. "No one took it seriously, even the pastors."

The churches' decision took into account that there are 11 Lutheran churches in Livonia, including three. Faith, Holy Trinity and Emmanuel - belonging to the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America denomination on Five Mile Road,

It also took into account the size of the churches. Dickinson believes that the proliferation of ELCA churches may have contributed to a lack of growth, Sword of the Spirit has been In existence for 25 years and has about 200 confirmed members; Ascension, at age 30, has about 300.

By May 5, the two congregations were voting on a merger. Six weeks later members were taking action on a constitution and name for the new church. Some 90 names were submitted and a committee narrowed the list down to 70 by removing names that were used by churches within a five-mile radius.

IN A SERIES of votes, the list was reduced to 12 and then three names. Emmanuel was eventually selected from the top three because in the scriptures it means "God is with us and we surely need Him with us," Dickinson said.

A week later, the two churches held closing services and on June 30, the first joint service was held. The two churches used the same hymnal and members were asked to bring them to the service.

'We mixed the hymnals up and set up a committee to study "all of sthe people just took one," Polesky explained. "It was sort of symbolic of the merger."

> Dickinson and Polesky serve as co-pastors of the new church. The congregation has extended threeyear terms to them to give the former "time to evaluate the feasibility

Co-pastors Walter Dickinson (left) and Darwin Polesky are sharing the duties of directing the new Emmanuel Lutheran

While ministering to the needs of the larger congregation, they also are fine tuning things like the schedule of preaching. "We won't announce it so it'll be kind of pot luck for the members," Dickinson said.

They're also working out how the two congregations blend together. "Even though we're both Lutheran, every congregation does things differently," Polesky said. "We do some Seven Mile Road.

things the same and we do some differently."

BUT THE major undertaking is a new church building. A committee also has checked out sites for the new building and that's where the tale of phoenix comes in Their recommendation is at the site of the former Sword of the Spirit Church on Church, created when Sword of the Spirit and Ascension Churches decided to merge in June.

They are in the process of taking bids for the demolition of the old church and working on a design for the new church. The hope is construction will begin with the spring thaw, Dickinson said.

"The design can be a really exciting time and how we incorporate our theology will be the fun part," Polesky added. "We'll be incorporatingsome of the old traditions into it."

If all goes according to plans, the new church will be dedicated in the fall of 1992. Until then, members are adjusting to cramp spaces for worship and Sunday School.

"People are excited and new ideas are coming out of this," Polesky said. "Attendance has been great for time of the year and the newness. We had to add a service during the

Library should be first stop when building a birdhouse

One of the first things I remember making with my dad when I was a young man was a bird house. We drew some plans on paper, collected the wood, measured the pieces, he showed me how to saw a straight line, pound nails and mount it in the yard. I was very proud of that house, and even to this day, somewhere in our family album is a picture of that bird house.

It'seems like it's almost second nature for a young person to build a shelter for an animal. Not only does it develop skills, but it instills an awareness of other animals and their needs.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is already gearing up for next year's Bird House Building Contest. Teachers from schools in the O&E readership area came to a workshop the other day to learn more about the contest.

There were teachers talking to other teachers about the benefits of including this competition in their regular curriculum. They mentioned how it gave the students a purpose and goal. It gave students a sense of self-esteem to complete the bird house, have it entered in the competition, receive a certificate for entering the competition, and to see it on display at the Builders Home and Flower Show at Cobo Hall.

not start in the shop though, it starts in the library. In order to build a proper house, one should know the habits, habitats and requirements of the prospective tenant. There are certain size requirements that need to be addressed, such as hole size, floor size, height of the hole above the floor, and other specifications. If the house is to be customized, it should be done without detriment to the bird using it. Learning about the habits of the bird will allow the student to make suitable modifications.

Then once the research has been completed, sketches have to be made. Putting down ideas on paper and changing them as the design evolves is a learning experience in and of itself. Finally, getting into the shop to layout, cutout and construct the house allows a student to manipulate tools and material to make the final product. Realization of a concrete object from a mental concep-tion is a very rewarding feeling.

No matter what the final outcome, experiencing the process and com-BUILDING a good bird house does . mitting to construct a house makes

Livonia benefit fare: music, food, sports

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Livonia Symphony Society and Laurel Park Place will present an evening to delight your senses, "Sunday," Symphony and Sports," on Oct. 27.

Bob Sklar editor/953-2113

Show time is 6-9 p.m. in the Grand Court at Laurel Park Place, Six Mile and Newburgh, Livonia.

The third annual fund-raiser promises an evening to savor. Proceeds will benefit the Livonia Symphony Orchestra, now in its 18th season.

Hear the moving music of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, taste gourmet foods and baked treats, bid on firstclass vacation packages worth $4,000-$5,000, see and meet sports celebrities Shawn Burr of the Detroit Red Wings and former Detroit Tigers pitcher Milt Wilcox.

This year, we have four major sponsors: Northwest Airlines, the Livonia Marriott, Laurel Park Place and the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers," said Livonia Marriott general manager Ron Shiflett, co-chair of the event with Betty Jean Awrey of Awrey Bakerles.

BESIDES MAJOR sponsors, the local business community is firmly behind the benefit, said Shiflett, a Livonia Symphony Society board member. Restaurants are supporting the event by providing an array of foods.

"I think it's going to be a lot of fun for everybody " get together and support the symphony," Shiflett said

FOR THE third year, Laurel Park Place will provide the setting for the fund-raiser.

'As a new member of the community, we feel we want to support the community and we feel the symphony is a big part of the community," said Michael-Buescher, marketing director for Laurel Park Place, a Schostak Brothers venture.

"We're coordinating the restaurants, trying to ensure there's a variety of foods. Ann Taylor is going to do a holiday fashion show in the store. For the silent auction, the Detroit Pistons have donated 10 autographed basket balls," Buescher said.

"But far above all that, the symphony performance is the highlight of the evening."

Light classical and popular music selections will include Camelot, Deep Purple, Finlandia and excerpts from the "King and I" and Tchaikovsky's "The Nut-DiBlast thanks businesses in the community for contributing all the elements necessary to make the fundraiser a success. "I think this is a first in the area, with businesses pulling together so that all of the money goes to the symphony.

IN VIEW of the current economic situation, many members on the board of the Livonia Symphony Society say the fate of the symphony rests on major fund-raisers like the annual benefit at Laurel Park Place.

"It's important to support the symphony. With the loss of the grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, it's going to be hard to raise funds for the operating budget," board member Lee Alanskas said.

Alanskas asks that all members of the community support the symphony by attending the fund-raiser.

THEN SUPERSTAR Luciano ... Payarotti performs at Joe Louis Arena Sunday, it will have a lot to do with the vision and determination of Michigan Opera Theatre founder David DiChlera.

And there are parallels between the famous tenor from Modena, Italy, and DiChiera, a longtime Birmingham resident.

Both have excelled in their careers by using their talents and personal charlsma. And like Pavarotti, DiChiera's success has not country for its size, staging six productions a Plymouth Symphony Orchestra opens its 46th season with "Piano a celebration of the magical music of Mozart Friday, Concert time is 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Sefem High School Auditorium, 46181 Joy Road, Canton.

Guest artists Ralph and Albertine Votapek will perform Mozart's 10th concerto, "Concerto in E-flat, K. 365" for two planos and orchestra.

The initial concert begins with Mozart's Overture to the opera, "The Impressario." It is followed by his four-handed concerto written for his sister, Maria Anna, whom he lovingly called Nannerl. The program closes with "Symphony No. 2" by Johannes Brahms.

The Plymouth Symphony decided to open the 1991-92 season with a concert to celebrate Mozart's music because this year commemorates the 200th anniversary of Mozart's death in 1791 at age 35.

"It's wonderful music and a nice way to start the season. It's just an appropriate time to play Mozart. He WHAT'A joy it was to see the completed version of Canton sculptor Joe DeLauro's long-awaited "The Storyteller," unveiled Sept. 19.

The Canton Community Arts Council commissioned the 26-inchhigh bronze sculpture for the culturally diverse township 18 months ago.

The work is dedicated to the American Indian — "people of the earth" who "had great imaginations," as DeLauro put it.

"Indians used a storyteller as well as art to communicate within tribes," said DeLauro, especially impressed by the Aztees and the May-

Despite a national reputation, fine arts degrees from Yale University and the University of Iowa, 50 years of sculpting experience and 100 commissions to his credit, DeLauro leaped at the chance to salute Canton - home to he and his wife, Dorothy, for 24 years.

At the library, "The Storyteller" will sit in the gulet reading lounge by the fireplace, an area that sports a Southwest feel.

"The sculpture is significant in that storytelling is what we're about here," said Jean Tabor, library director, "It should be a real inspiration for adults and children alike."

"The Storyteller" no doubt will complement the library's growing collection of books on Native American culture.

DeLauro sees the library as a fitting home for "The Storyteller." He was first introduced to a library as a youngster through a storytelling session. And he has long been an avid library user.

Mozart has been called the father of the modern concerto. He composed 27 piano concerti as well as several operas, sonatas, concerti for string instruments and woodwinds, and many pieces of chamber music.

What is most notable about Mozart's music is its universal appeal, from the first-time listener to the classical music devotee. "Piano Briallante" promises to be lyrical and uplifting, a true celebration of Mozart's gentus.

Following the concert, a gala afterglow will be held with champagne, hors d'oeuvres and desserts at the Novi Hilton, 211 Haggerty, I-275 and Eight Mile.

The Plymouth Symphony's new season is meant to appeal to a variety of musical tastes, from 19th century classical to Dixieland and Broadway.

America and he had been doing some of these very large presentation venues," DiChiera said. "He was excited about coming to the Detroit area. He has friends here.

"There are people who don'tknow anything about opera who like Pavarotti. He's charismatic. He loves life."

And MOT staff and performers are among Pavarotti's admirers.

Christine Donalson, marketing projects coordinator for MOT, has been hoping for an encore by Pavarotti at MOT since she joined the company two years ago.

"I wasn't here the first time (1988)," the Canton resident said. "I was thinking about how exciting it would be if he came back. I can't wait to see him perform."

ROSALIN GUASTELL, a mezzosoprano with the company and a Plymouth resident, said Pavarotti is well worth seeing - even without an opera as his vehicle.

"He is an entity in and of himself," she said. "I was lucky enough to see him perform in '77 in Minnesota. He was great, but he hadn't become a superstar yet."

A distinct feature of Michigan Opera Theatre is its variety and flexibility. That ability to adapt in a business where most performances must be scheduled as faras two or three years ahead of time has allowed the company to present "Candide" in November.

"I made that decision after Bernstein's death," DiChiera said. "He was such a great composer. And it is such a great work."

FOR ROCHELLE Rosenthal, a Birmingham resident and a performer with MOT since 1978, play-, ing in "Candide" will be a first.

"I'm playing the old woman," Rosenthal said. "I seem to always be playing roles with no name. That seems to be my Job. But it's a big role."

And even though Rosenthal is a veteran of many productions, she confesses to some nervousness at playing in "Candide" for the first time.

yes, I'm absolutely ner-"Oh vous," she said. "That's part of performing."

But Rosenthal, like most performers, loves the challenge of a new role and is prepared. That reflects DiChiera's direction.

Jessie Schneidewind, a Dearborn resident and a MOT trustee for the past six years, has known DiChlera and his wife, Karen, for 20 years.

She's not surprised at his success. "He never sits at a dinner," she said. "He's always talking to everybody, but not superficially. He knows something about you and he remembers you."

DICHIERA WILL tell you being able to work with people of different backgrounds and talents among staff, performers, artists, community groups and business people is important and enjoyable.

Rosenthal said she's not surprised that DiChiera could bring off the production of "Candide" in such a short time or attract Pavarotti to Detroit for a second

"He (DiChiera) is one of the most diplomatic people I've ever seen," she said.

And to Schneidewind, who has seen MOT grow in hard times and good, DiChiera has something important in common with the great tenor Pavarotti:

"He has great charisma."

By special arrangement with the Michigan Opera Theatre, Luciano Pavarotti will perform in concert at the Joe Louis Arena in Detroit at 4 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 13. A limited number of $30 tickets are available through TicketMaster: 645-6666. MOT benefit tickets, priced at $500 and $300, are available through MOT: 874-SING:

Exercise 155 2100,

Capture the beauty of sunrises, sunsets

Among the most beautiful and unforgettable images awalting your camera are sunrises and sunsets.

They can be dazzling in color, rich in tones, striking in composition and easler to obtain than you might

Here are some-tips to help you capture them on film:

• Use a long telephoto lens when you want to make the sun appear like a giant ball of fire, and a normal. or wide angle lens when you wish to accentuate, spaciousness or show a vast, striking cloud formation.

• It's important to place foreground subjects in the viewfinder to "frame" your picture and give it a foundation. Subjects can be trees, buildings; boats, even people. Because you meter off the sky, all foreground objects will appear as dramatic black silhouettes.

• Remember to take your exposure reading off the sky next to the sun. Make air exposure at this setting. and take a couple more at progres-

Livonia Symphony touching, inspiring

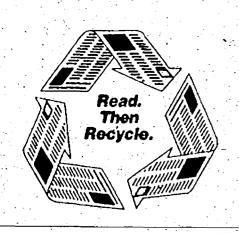

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

From the haunting and somberstrains of Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition" to the beautiful piano passages of Beethoven's Fifth Concerto, the Livonia Symphony Orchestra, under conductor Francesco DeBlasi, touched and inspired those assembled for the season's opening concert Saturday.

Beginning the evening with von-Weber's romantic German opera "Der Freischutz," DiBlasi led the orchestra in a jaunty, spirited performance of the Overture.

For the second selection of the evening, guest planist Flavio Varani performed Beethoven's Fifth Concerto. His hands magically flew over the keys, executing passages with precision: Each note rang bright and clear.

Varani's understanding of Beethoven's work was evident as he kept steady the tension throughout the dialogue between plano and orchestra, while sensitively revealing the beauty of its second movement.

Varani's conclusion of the concerto was majestic, moving, noble and powerful.

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra then proceeded to close its season opener with a dramatic performance of Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition' with transcription for orchestra by Ravel.

Slides by Gordon Draper of Victor-Hartmann's sketches, for which the composition was written, provided a perfect ending.

You'll find that by underexposing in this manner, your pictures will have deeper, bolder and richer col-

Try using color slide film instead of color negative film. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the more. saturated colors you'll obtain. Then, have enlargements made from your favorite shots.

• Pay close attention to horizons. Make absolutely sure they are running horizontally across the viewlinder. A tilling horizon can be very distracting.

• While 'sunrise/sunset' photographs in themselves can be excitingly colorful, the use of a colored filler will further enhance your shot.

Imagine a descending sun surrounded by a dramatic cloud pattern photographed through an orange, red or even purple filter. You'll be delighted with the results.

 You don't always have to place the sun in your picture. Wait until the sun dips behind a dark cloud and then capture the sunbeams as they spill through to the ground or wait until the sun has totally descended and see how the sky and clouds invite your camera with their gradually deepening color hues.

A CAUTION: For eye safety, avoid looking directly at the sun through the viewlinder. With a little practice, you'll find it easy to place the sun where you desire in the composition without having to look straight at it.

Sunrise/sunset photos are easy to take. The results will make you proud of your photographic abilities and may just give you a sunny dispo-

VACANT LAND ESTATES Pickney School Location

3 careful years in completion, Agentioaner displays 7 gorgeous estates (3-10 acres, 4.5 acres). Divinely sanctuaried over 53 acres of paradise. Total sectusion, Isolation and privacy Estates are indescribably beautiful. Colorado, Catfornia and upper peninsula fandscapes. Mountainous bluff, lush valleys, ponds, huge hardlandscapes. Mountainous blutt, bush valleys, ponds, huge hardnoods, towering natural pancramic views. Property is saturated with deer and all forms of winged or tury wide. Surrounded on all four sides by undevelopable property. Conveniently located one mile from time forgotten milage of Pickney with state award winning and private schools. Located th Putnam Township, with lowest taxes in Livingston county. I Miles from beautiful new public gotcourse with excellent restaurant. 5 miles from Brighton, state recreation center and snow sking. Heavily and profoundly deed restricted. Located 24 minutes to Ann Abox, 36 minutes to Livinia, 42 minutes to Farmington, 45 minutes to Southfield, 56 minutes to downtown. Asking $62,900 to $78,900 for a large piece of this private nature center. Nothing anywhere to compare to this development within 200 miles. Change yourself and your families the now and forever. Get away from the high cost cities and stress.
Get a piece of heaven here on earth now. This is sit.

Opinions vary on open houses

By Doug Funke staff writer

Open houses mean different things to different people.

Sellers seem to think they're a good marketing tool. Agents, who can make contacts for future business at open houses, say they'll work them to please sellers but find that many more sales result from appointments and private showings,

Many prospective buyers use them to get a feel for a particular market. And, then, lookers sometimes become buyers.

"I find open houses to be very effective because they (lookers) get inside and then emotionally become buyers," said Mike Leighton,-an agent for Real Estate One in Livo-

The open houses I have sold people had been looking, they were knowledgeable about what they were looking for and they had searched the area," he added.

But Leighton admitted that only about-20 percent of his sales result from open houses.

"I WILL DO it if a seller requests, but frankly I've never had a lot of success," said Mitzi M. Phillips, who recently was selected Realtor/Assoclate of the Year by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors.

"I don't know why," she said. "Perhaps people are out looking, they're not committed, they're perusing the market.

"An open house gives a house a lot of exposure," added Phillips, who works for Max Broock in Bloomfield Hills. "People driving and looking definitely will peruse for signs.

"Open houses are probably better , in a really strong market rather than slack," she sald. "In strong market times, people are really aggressively looking and ready to buy."

Why do people go to open houses? 'You don't want a hard sell, do you?" said Susan Lozano, who also: works at Max Broock. "You're able to come in, tour the house, get comfortable."

Lozano suspects that houses at the lower end of the spectrum would sell' better at open houses than those at the higher end.

"A LOT OF people who go through open houses have no idea what the price range is," she said. "They just think the outside looks pretty. Under $100,000, people in that range can definitely tell, 'This is my neighborhood.'

Going to open houses is a good way for first-time buyers, people new to an area and people who haven't bought or sold for a while to get a handle on what's happening before they get serious about shopping.

"I think the most effective time for an open house is shortly after it's listed, then maybe two or three weeks later," Leighton said. "At the very beginning, this takes care of neighborhood traffic. It's a preview for friends, family and neighbors who may know of someone who wants to buy.'

An agent hosting an open house has the opportunity to meet all kinds of potential customers.

'If they're not interested in or can't afford that particular house, you're in a position to advise them on something else," Leighton sald.

Affordability index remains favorable to offer more affordable housing than other major metropolitan median picced home.

Metro MLS, the state's largest multiple real estate listing service. puts the area's housing affordability index at 125 percent. This means that a household with a median annual income of $33,380 has 25 percent more income than needed to buy an existing house at the August median price of $84,500.

Half the homes on the market sell for more than the median price, half for less.

"Based on lending requirements of the First National Mortgage Asal income of $26,713 would have qualified for purchase of an August median priced home in the area we cover," said Allen C. King, Metro MLS president.

Following a formula developed: by the National Association of Realtors, the local housing affordability index is based on a 20 percent down payment with a 30-year mortgage based on todays's rates, even though many homes are bought with lesser down payments.

Metro MLS listings encompass a 1,600-square-mile area in northwest Detroit and major portions of Wayne, Oakland and Livingston counties.

Seek court solution to parking problem

What is the best way to deal with illegally parked vehicles that are owned by residents of the condomini-

Normally condominium documents give the association a wide variety of remedies including the towing of vehicles as well as seeking legal redress in the courts. While towing away of vehicles may appear to be the most expedient and effective in certain situations, there is no guarantee that the person will not bring the car back again or that he may not sue the association for wrong repossession or damages incurred as a result of the improper towing.

The preferable remedy, although admittedly more expensive, is to seek court intervention, assuming that you have attempted to seek redress through various administrative remedies at the condominium: giving notice, posting a sticker on the vehicle regarding pending legal action, and giving adequate notice of the intent of the association to deal with the problem.

Assuming that these measures have been taken, it would appear that seeking an injunctive order requiring the owner to comply with the restrictions is the most effective remedy because the court retains the right to hold the defaulting co-owner in contempt of court for failure to honor his obligations under the condominium documents.

condo

Are you "CAT PEOPLE"...?

There are two kinds of people in this world — cat people and _ well_" everybody else. We are definitely cat people. Our obeygle are all cat people. And our patients .? They're all cats. Nothing but cats. Nary a canary, a canine or chameleon. Just ca's, We're Britingham's only cars only referring hospital and heath care center located on Worth Street (right behind Betty's Health Food Store)...and we're looking for a few highly qualled cat people to fill some open staff positions. ; What does "highly qualified" mean? First of all, it means that you love cats and would absolutely addre the idea of spending your entire working day surrounded by the little critiers. Second, it means understanding that our pa-tients' human companions sometimes need more TLC than the cats do; and the time. And third, highly qualified means that you're kely prepared to work in, and contribute to, a clinical environment of uncompromising professional standards and unequalled service excellence

If you're a Highly Qualified Cat Person (HQCP) and are also a Licensed Vetrinary Technician, then we hope you might be interested in one of our positions, you might even quality without a Vet Tech degree, it you've had some expenence in a community veterinary setting and more or less know your way around an animal hospital.

If you're a HQCP with a great telephone style and the ability to keep your with about you when the waiting room is NA, the exam rooms are all occupied, two sick tabbles are wating proably from an animal care softe in the rear, three customers are perched at the counter wating for their computerprinted frivoices and all four phone lines are ringing off the hook. Then you're just the person we need as our Ofinic Receptions: We offer competitive safary packages, based on your level of expensive and accomplishment. We also offer flexible working hours, a continuing educa-tion plan, state-of-the-articlinic facilities, a warm and interesting professional staff, a wonderful focation, and a terrifice obersele. Models in the Long Lake Meadows Subdivision in Troy feature the return of front porches

Porches of old: a 2nd living room

(AP)After years of being cut off from the outside world in centrally air-conditioned ranch homes, Americans are unlatching the screen door and catching a summer breeze from a porch swing, rocker or glider.

The front porch is a selling point for many new houses and is being restored rather than closed in or lopped off of older house and inner city rehab-projects, according to Renee Kahn, co-author of "Preserving Porches" (Henry Holt and Co., $18.95).

Kahn, a housing preservationist and director of the Historic-Neighborhood Preservation Program in Stamford, Conn., says the porch, exposed to the elements, is often the first part of a house to deteriorate. "tive to both the building's and the neighborhood's character.

The condition of its porches telegraphs the state of a neighborhood better than anything I know," Kahn says. "Unattractive porches are a clue to a deteriorating neighborhood.

"If you paint and repair it regularly and keep water from accumulating, a porch will easily last 150 years or more."

Victorian porches were often enclosed during the winter with temporary panels of glass between the columns and rails and likewise screened to minimize the insect problem in summer.

BEFORE THE ADVENT of large metal screens, wood blinds, shutters, lattice work and draped fabric panels were put up to shield the porch from too much sun and insects. The use of striped canvas awnings dates back to the late 19th century. Reproductions of these old fashioned items: can be purchased today.

If you have a porch in need of repair, Kahn suggests:

• Start by doing research on your But removing it is usually destruction own house. There are sometimes marks on the facade where parts were once attached. Most old houses were built from standard plans. Look around the neighborhood for houses of similar style that still have their porches.

• Books on old building styles are invaluable. "Preserving Porches," for example, pictures and describes characteristic porches of each of the main architectural styles of the 19th century and early 20th centuries.

 Consult a historical society for doors." help. Local preservation groups may have photographs of old neighborhoods and lists of craftsmen specializing in restoration.

• Look for a sympathetic contractor. "A good carpenter understands that getting the details right is essential," Kahn says.

Once the basic structure has been restored, it's time to furnish the porch.

"OLD PHOTOS show porches furnished with hammocks, wicker furniture, potted plants and even oriental rugs on the floor. Some porches had shutters or blinds to shelter you from the elements," Kahn says.

Reproductions of old wicker, rustic twig, cast iron and metal wire porch furniture and planters are being marketed widely, and grass or sisal rugs are readily available.

Porches didn't really get started until the 19th century. "Occasionally," says Kahn, "they were added to houses built prior to 1830, but mostly in the South where the climate encouraged sitting out-

Though we associate the porch with small-town life, it wasn't until 19th century industrialization that it came within reach of the middle class. Hand-carved "gingerbread" trim could now be stamped out yards at a time, and cast or wrought iron, once custom-made by a blacksmith, was mass produced. Central heating and electric lights, which were in use by the end of the 19th century, eliminated the need to keep the porch from blocking out the sun. So porches became even more like a second living room, often shaded by awnings, screens and a flower trellis or two.

"Until World War I, front porches were an architectural and social necessity," Kahn says. But they were gradually replaced by a side or back porch or dropped altogether.

In the building boom after World War II, suburban developers dispensed with exterior frills for the sake of economy.

"You're not going to say, 'Interest rates are

Porches make mini comeback

By Doug Funke staff writer

Many architects, builders and home buyers haven't given much respect lately to front porches.

But at least one builder here has found that customers will respond to front porches if offered as options on new houses.

John Bollan Jr., vice president for the Troy-based family company, doesn't know exactly why there's an interest, and he doesn't expect that it will become a trend.

But buyers seem to like the option on his models in the Long Lake Meadows Subdivision, Troy.

"I suppose a porch is more tradi-tional minded and I suppose our customers are more traditional than contemporary," Bollan said. "This particular ranch (Meadowlark) is long and wide. From that standpoint, a covered porch gives it a little more

Bollan conceded that his porch evolved more from a design perspective than to serve as functional

But many of the porches, up to 20 feet long, on houses built by Bollan in Troy are well decorated with chairs, benches, planters and wall hangings that seems to indicate people spend time there.

Robert Stensen has lived in a Bollan model for three years.

"I GREW UP in Detroit in an oldstyle bungalow with an old-style porch across the whole house," he said. "I don't know if the relationship is there that caused us to buy this house, but it (porch) caught-our eye." His wife Luanne's decorative touches include an Adirondack chair, a couple of planters and a wreath

Tom and Mary Tsacoumangos moved into a new house less than a month ago and already have some planters out.

"I like front porches," she said. "Next year, we'll put maybe a park bench in and landscape."

"We traditionally sell to the second- and third-time home buyers," Bollan said. "They've already been in homes. They know a great deal about homes, what they want. They're buying laterally. It may be similar to what they have, but it's newer, cleaner lines, different things added on."

Porches, once considered primary social settings, now are regarded as entry enhancers. A couple of reasons - larger, fancier models and lifestyle changes — account for the PORCHES EXTENDING across the front of houses limit design possibilities, said Robert R. Jones, a West Bloomfield builder.

"In our communities, the front of every house is different," he said. "I think if you put a front porch in, you've dictated what the design is going to be. For us, it would be lethal. How many ways can you design a big front porch?

'And the demand isn't there,"

Jones added, "People don't use iti When people come home from busy days, they want privacy, serenity, time to unwind."

"It's a question of privacy," concurred Irv Tobocman, a Birmingham architect. "The front is the nonprivate part of the house. Given the two choices, would you rather sit at the front or rear? Most opt for the Large porches were scaled down when smaller new houses were built in cookie-cutter fashion on small lots after World War II. But the porches were still well used. Young families, plenty of children, sidewalks, living in close proximity fostered a sense of community.

NOW WE have subdivisions — not neighborhoods - with larger houses on larger lots, sometimes no sidewalks and certainly fewer kids.

"These days, quite frankly, in many communities people six doors away don't know each other," Jones

Also, a sense of cocooning has developed. People seem to want to be left alone in their secluded yards or master suites after work.

Television, especially with dozens of cable options, has replaced people watching as a pastime. And who needs to sit on a porch to cool off. with air conditioning?

"If we want to be outside, decks, patios and terraces have moved to the back yard," said Bob Bryce, a. West Bloomfield architect. "I guess. it's for privacy."

"We never asked what drives people to pick a house with a covered porch," Bollan said. "It (porch) gives us an avenue of changing the front a little bit and we find it caters to our customers so we stick with it."

RANCHES AND other architectural styles are best suited to longer porches. Styles with several peaks and roof lines aren't as amenable. "Tudors, the towering look you try to create, doesn't lend itself to a hori-. zontal porch," Bollan said.

There are other exceptions to thegeneral rule that people don't seem to want porches.

"We're doing a house on Maple-Road with a nice entry, a little front garden so you go from the sidewalk through the garden to the door." Tobocman said. "It's possible we'll develop a front area for people to sit. on a porch so they can be part of the street scene."

Bryce has a front porch on his West Bloomfield home on a site opposite a lake.

"I have a beautiful natural front yard with a stream running through. I like the feeling I get on the front porch looking at the yard. It's not necessarily a socialization thing, but a nice environment. The dogs watch the kids. It gives them something to look at."

But on balance, front yards are smaller than rear yards. You can do more exciting things, creativity, inthe rear," Bryce said.

"Mainly, I get insights into whatthey do and why they do it," graduate architect Eric A. Murrell said of the speakers. "It's always interesting to see what angle an architect takes when he looks at a project."

Jennifer Woelke, an architecture student at LTU, has attended the lectures for years.

"I think a lot of students decide to go long-after-they're required to." she said, "I go because they're interesting, informative and give you a broader-base view of the world. People who come in are diverse. And it's interesting to hear what goes on in other parts of the world."

Financial woes plague construction industry fell during the first two quarters of the year, according to a survey conducted by the Construction Association of Michigan (CAM).

General contractors reported the greatest decline, with business volume dropping more than 20 percent. according to John A DeMattia, CAM chairman and president of Lernergling to stay affoat during harsh economic conditions

There is a great misconception that construction companies are big with big jobs and big revenues. It's simply not true. In fact, 64 percent. of our members are making a living by doing jobs that are valued at less than $250,000. DeMattia said.

More than half (5! percent) are going after jobs that are worth $50,000 or less. That's consistent with national statistics that show than 84 percent of all businesses within the construction industry report less than $1 million in annual revenues; 71 percent report less than $500,000 a year

THE SURVEY was undertaken in cooperation with the Construction Services Group of Deloitte & Touche. More than if percent of the association's 3,000 member firms responded to the survey Deloitte & Touche tabulated the responses to protect member confidentiality and worked with CAM to analyze the results DeMattia said the survey re sponses reflect an industry that is clearly worried about increased competition strangled cash flow and inore trouble getting paid for work performed.

L CAM members reported an increase in thei competition for fewer available jobs. More than 43 percent of the members reported that they must compete with at least five other companies each time they bid a project, 12 percent reported competing with non-man 40 other coinpanies each time they bid a project; 12 percent eported competing with more that 10 other companies for each job.

DeMattia placed the bidding process in economic terms.

'It takes money to bid a project.

When there are fewer jobs to bid and more competition, contractors gamble more on each bid."

Nearly half (46 percent) of all business are in a worse cash flow position than they were a year ago, and 30 percent experienced their greatest financial losses during the second quarter of 191. Manufacturers were hardest hit with 37 percent reporting Linden Co. Novi He contended that . that they were in worse shape than Michigan's construction industry is three months previous to the survey. composed of small, businesses strug. L Sub-contractors ranked second with 32 percent listing their cash flow was worse than three months earli-

> MORE THAN A quarter of the respondents reported that they expect it will take more than a year to collect as much as 10 percent of their total revenue. Twelve percent said that it could take longer than a year to collect up to 20 percent of their revenue. Subcontrators appear to be the hardest pressed with nearly half expecting to take more than 12 months to collect between 5 and 20 percent of their annual revenue. About 10 percent of the respondents believe they will be forced to write off between 5 and 10 percent of their outstanding revenue as uncollectible.

John Fovensi emphasized the significance of the figures in comparison to profit margins in recent years He is a partner and director of the construction services group of Deloitte & Touche.

"Considering that industry profit margins continue to shrink, a year delay in getting 10 percent of 20 percent of a company's earnings can mean serious financial trouble for many businesses," Fovenesi sald. "A total loss of 5 or 10 percent can spell disaster. ·

'It's no secret that bankruptcy is a common part of working in such a high-risk industry, but the last few years have definitely seen an increase in business failures. Much of that can be attributed to lower profit margins, increased competition and a growing problem in collecting money once the job is done."

RESPONDENTS WERE asked to estimate the number of their competitors that would be forced out of business within the next year. Sixtyseven percent anticipate at lease one of their competitors will close over the next year. Twelve percent expect at least three to five competitors to lock the doors for good.

But DeMattia cautions against assuming that all of these figures reflect the recession.

"Construction is a risky business even in a good economic climate. There is probably a higher risk now because of the economy, but one of the advantages that smaller companles have is their ability to react to a downturn by cutting overhead and picking up their tools personally."

But 59 percent indicated that they have no plans to lay off employees. DeMattia suggest this may reflect that most companies have already made cuts to weather the economic storm, and they do not plan to cut further; although 16 percent reported that they do plan additional layoffs in the coming months.

While construction businesses contend with cash flow and collection problems, material prices continue to rise. Nearly 70 percent reported an increase in material costs during the first part of 1991. The largest number (34 percent) reported price increases of between 5 and 10 per-

Survey respondents indicate that three types of projects currently account for most of the work: industrial and transportation jobs (26 percent), office buildings (19 percent) and educational facilities (11 percent). New construction is still providing the most work (57 percent), but renovation and maintenance accounted for more than a quarter of all projects.

About 15 percent of the respondents are considering expanding their business scope outside of the United States, the largest number coming from suppliers (29 percent) and manufacturers.
Thirty percent of respondents said they would not choose to make their living in the construction industry if they had to start a career today. Many charge that it is too easy for inexperienced people to enter the field. The respondents expressed worry that competitors who lack serve their clients and tarnish the image of the industry by their inability to provide quality work at realistic prices.

According to DeMattia, the survey is the first step in a plan to develop construction statistics that might project changes in construction levels and help CAM members better prepare their businesses to react. CAM plans to conduct the business survey twice each year and measure the results against prior surveys. The information will be made available to members and others involved. in the construction industry.

Here's a winter checklist

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

S IF life weren't busy enough, there's still 101 things that have to be done before the weather turns cold:

• FURNACES

- Before that first cold snap, turn your thermostat on and set the temperature on high to see if the furnace goes on. It's better to find out that the furnace is broken now, than in the middle of the night in November.
- Filters should be replaced every two months during use.
- ☐ The blower unit needs to be oiled at least once every year.
- ☐ Most heating and cooling specialists recommend cleaning at least every two years.

WINDOWS

- Air infiltration through windows is. one of the greatest causes of heat loss. An eighth of an inch crack around an average size window is the same thing as having a 4-by-6-inch hole in the
- Caulking should be applied around the exterior of window frames where the frame meets the home and anywhere else two different materials or parts of the house meet. Weatherstripping should be applied around the perimeter of window sashes.

Plastic sheeting and shrink rap kits that cover windows can be used to reduce air infiltration.

• DOORS

☐ Caulking should be applied around the exterior of door frames where the frame meets the home.

- ☐ Weatherstripping should be applied around the perimeter of window
- ☐ Doors don't leak only around the frames; substantial heat is lost atten down the hatches, bundle up the house... and listen to the warm. Winter's on the way. Fall is the best time to get the house ready to do battle with the winds, rains and snows of winter. Routine maintenance now can mean a saving on energy costs later. Within that backdrop, we've selected "Keep the Home Fires Burning" as the theme for this special fall home improvement guide. Inside you'll find a variety of original stories with tips for keeping your family toasty warm when Ol' Man Winter blows in.

Boost home's energy efficiency

By Susan Tauber-Hyke special writer

EMEMBER ALL the press and celebrations focusing on Earth Day last April 22? We heard and read how and why we should do all we can to help preserve Mother Earth.

Mother Nature is getting ready to put us to the ultimate test to see if we paid any attention on Earth Day. What's the test, you ask? Another Michigan winter.

Passing the test means making your residence as energy efficient as possible for the upcoming winter. Regardless of what type of house, condominium or apartment you live in, you want your place to use as little energy as possible so you can be kind to both our planet and to your budget.

There are several things to do to prepare your home for the cold Michigan months. Some of the things are simple and only take a few minutes of your time. Some require complex procedures. Some are inexpensive; others are costly.

It's up to you to decide how energy efficient you want your home to be. Just keep in mind that the more energy conservation practices you follow, the more comfortable your home will be this winter.

OFFICIALS FROM both Consumers
Power and Detroit Edison have general hints for surviving the winter without costing you and their energy reserves a fortune.

"Let the sun shine in when it's cold outdoors," said Kenneth Aho, Edison energy conservation specialist. "That way, you are using solar energy to help heat your house to a habitable temperature."

Aho had other general tips, such as dialing down your thermostat when no one is home for several hours, changing furnace filters at least once a month and making sure there's enough insulation where it should be.

He recommended not using an openhearth fireplace to heat your home. If you have an unused room, close the door and block its heat register.

Both Detroit Edison and Consumers Power are concerned with insulation, ventilation and caulking. Edison has a home insulation program with low financing available: Call 1-800-482-2983.

If you want to check your house's energy efficiency yourself, call Edison at 482-2983 and request fact sheet copies.

"People who use energy from Consumers Power can call the Consumer Affairs Department at 433-5890 to request more information on home energy," said Dick Kravick, residential marketing services superintendent for metro Detroit. "They also can call 1-800-842-6971 for an energy audit."

Light bulb cost savings There's more to consider when selecting a bulb than just its cost. Certain types of bulbs have a longer life than others. Here's a comparison of four common kinds of bulbs: Life in Type of bulb hours .55¢ 1,000 60-watt regular 54-watt energy saver .70¢ 1,000 42-walt halogen $3.50 3,500 13-watt flourescent 10,000 Source: Splane Electric

Electrical

"There are many ways to save watts of electricity and money at the same time," said Gene Beres of Detroit-based Splane Electric Supply, which has stores in Livonia, Madison Heights and Van Buren Township.

"You have to remember that every time you save a watt of electricity, you save money. You may have to spend $50 on light bulbs in order to save money in the long run, but the expenditure will reduce your electric bill every month and increase the life of your light bulbs."

Beres, in charge of lighting outside sales, says consumers can use a formula for computing savings on various light bulbs.

He says to multiply the hours a bulb burns per day times 365 days times the watts saved by going to a lower wattage bulb times the kilowatt amount that Detroit Edison charges per hour, about 10-cents per hour (use .0001 in the formula). Then by comparing what each bulb costs and its life expectancy, you'll discover how much you are saving with the different bulbs.

"There are different kinds of light bulbs, called lamps, available on today's market," Beres said. "An incandescent light bulb is the regular bulb. There are different kinds of watt-saving bulbs that use a lower wattage to produce the same amount of light.

"Examples are General Electric's Watt-Miser and Sylvania's Super Saver. Then there's the halogen bulb (Sylvania's Capsylite) and the Plumbing equipment is among the largest energy users in a house, said Tom Leckie, vice president of Bergstrom Plumbing in Livonia. He's talking about toilets, shower heads and hot water heaters. And he has suggestions for making them kinder to the environment.

Plumbing

Most of his suggestions mean new equipment, however, because older equipment uses more water and energy to do the same amount of work as newer equipment.

"Toilets made prior to 1980, for example, use 51/2 gallons of water per flush." Leckie said. "Newer energy-saving toilets use 31/2 gallons or less per flush. Some use one gallon or less.

"If you add up how many times your toilets are flushed in your house a day times the amount of water saved, the savings can be quite significant. You can try adjusting the float in your existing toilet so it needs less water but new toilets are worth purchasing."

The same is true of shower heads.

Older shower heads were made to use 5 gallons of water per minute, Leckie said.

New ones are redesigned to use 1½ to 2½ gallons per minute.

"The new ones save you two ways—by the amount of water saved and by the energy saved by not having to heat up the extra water in your water heater," Leckie said.

LECKIE ADDED that you can put a flow restricter on an old shower head but results may be an unsatisfactory shower.

Heating

Fred Angell, service manager for S&M Heating and Sales in Southfield, suggested four things people can do to save energy:

- Use a programmable thermostat.
- Install a humidifier.
- Have the furnaces cleaned every winter and the air conditioner cleaned every spring.
- Change their furnace filters once a month without fail.

"Programmable thermostats are necessary, particularly when people are out of the house for long periods of time." he said.

The best ones, he said, are made by White Rodgers and by Honeywell.

"Some of them are really incredible. They come with a brain. After they've been on a wall for 24 hours, they know how long it takes to bring the temperature up or down to a certain level, so they will preempt the program and tell the furnace when to turn on.

"This way, the furnace won't kick on at the time programmed; it will already have the house at the temperature you want it to be at that certain time."

Angell calls a humidifier "totally necessary. You want the moisture in the air during the cold months.

"Just think about what it's like in the summer when it's hot out with low humidity compared with what it's like at the same temperature but with a higher humidity. You feel the heat more with the increased humidity. That's what you want in your home in the cold months.

Windows

Windows can be either a friend or a foe during the winter, depending on what kind you have. If they are wood or vinyl windows, they are your friend.

Aluminum windows? Foe, said Gary Weston, president of Weston Window Replacement in Plymouth, Hartland and Gaylord.

"Energy costs were inexpensive when aluminum windows came out so they were widely used," Weston said. "However, the aluminum frame actually conducts heat and cold air. It doesn't help keep it inside your home."

What can one do to help the situation?

Replace the windows with either wood or vinyl frame windows, which would cost about $5,600 to $8,700 for an average-size colonial house. Or, if that is too costly, use plastic window coverings over the entire window and frame to keep the heat in, Weston said.

"It's really best to replace with good windows if you can. They help increase the value of your house while you save on energy costs and have the use of the windows while you live there. You can save 20-30 percent of your energy costs if you replace aluminum windows with vinyl or wood.

"Storm windows don't help solve problem with aluminum frames, either. All storm windows do is help decrease the ice buildup on your windows."

If you do replace your windows, he recommends buying Type E glass. "This type of glass blocks out the sun's ultraviolet rays so it keeps houses cooler in the summer and reflects the heat back into houses in the winter," Weston said.

Plumbing

"Shower heads are designed to work on so many gallons of water per minute. If you reduce this number with a flow restricter, your shower head may not be worth using."

Leckie does recommend flow restricters on sinks throughout the house. He said they help reduce water usage from faucets. New faucets already have flow restricters.

New water heaters also are more energy efficient. They use less gas to heat the same amount of water in an hour than older ones and are better insulated.

"Most families don't realize that their hot water heater costs them between $220 to $250 per year to use," Leckie said. "Any reduction they make increases gas use efficiency.

"They can space their showers so not everyone showers in the morning, for instance. They can lower the temperature of their hot water heater to 120 degrees Fahrenheit or to warm. They can put a hot-water blanket on their heater.

"They also can wrap their water pipes particularly if they have a crawl space or live in a ranch-style house in which water travels from one end of the ranch to the other."

fluorescent unit that are even moreenergy efficient."

BERES COMPARED the bulbs this way: a regular 60-watt light bulb costs 55 cents and burns for about 1,000 hours. The 54-watt energy saver costs about 70 cents and burns for 1,000 hours. A 42-watt Capsylite bulb costs about $3.50 and burns for 3,500 hours. A 13-watt fluorescent bulb (suitable for covered light fixtures) costs about $7 but burns for 10,000 hours.

"If you use the formula to figure out how much money you'll save, you'll see you are way ahead by using the fluorescent bulb. If you burn a 60-watt bulb 10 hours a day, you're spending $21.90 for that lamp in a year. If you replace that bulb with a fluorescent, you're only spending $4.75 a year." Beres said.

For about $6 one can buy an adapter that changes a regular lamp to one that uses a fluorescent bulb.

Beres had these other tips:

• Ceiling Fan — Useful in both summer and winter for reducing energy costs. In summer, you want it blowing up to bring the cool air up towards the ceiling. In winter, have the fan blow the warm air off the ceiling. Keep the fan turning slowly so it doesn't cool the air. Ceiling fans keep the thermostat from kicking on the furnace. They help maintain a uniform level of heat.

• Dimmer Switch — An excellent way to save energy because every time you save watts, you save energy and money. Good to use with ceiling fans to control their speed.

Motion Sensor Light Switch — Takes the place of an existing switch in a wall box. Turns light on when someone walks into a room and turns the light off when it detects no more movement in the room after a certain amount of time.

"Also, the humidifier helps swell wood around windows to act as better insulators. It eliminates nasal congestion and electric shocks and make a home comfortable to live in."

PEOPLE NEED to be sure they are buying the right humidifier for their home. It needs to be designed for the home's square footage, Angell said.

Preventive maintenance on your furnace and air conditioner also is an energy saver, he said.

"You wouldn't expect your car to run smoothly without maintenance checks. The same is true for your furnace. It, should be cleaned and checked every fall, the air conditioner checked every spring. This adds about seven years to your equipment's life expectancy."

Angell warns people to beware of telemarketers who call during the winter offering very low prices to clean your furnace.

"A good company can't do it for $29.95. Expect to pay about $50 for furnace cleaning. If a company condemns it, be sure to get a second opinion," he said.

Now's time to prep your furnace

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

ICTURE A dormant furnace in the basement gasping and sputtering, realizing winter is near, Picture it desperately striving to warm your house. Picture its little ticker as it gives out.

Picture your blue toes when you wake up at 3:30 a.m. to find your furnace has — to put it euphemistically — passed

Now picture the repairman telling you he'll be right out to fix the furnace — in about seven days after he takes care of the other multitude of furnaces he has agreed to fix.

And while you're at it, picture the dent in your checkbook when the repairman leaves.

So grab a screwdriver and get down in the basement and prep that metal beast for the winter months ahead.

• WHAT TO DO

So you're in the basement, crawl space or back room, and the furnace is in front of you — now what do you do?

"One thing people don't do but should is to go down to the furnace in the middle of August and see if the pilot. light is still on," said Bob McQueen of Flame Furnace in Livonia.

It would amaze people the number of calls heating and cooling servicers get on the first morning of the annual cold snap that need nothing more than a relighted pilot light, McQueensaid.

That done, the homeowner should change the furnace filters and oil the blower unit. Locate the access panel to the blower unit and remove it to reveal the blower fan and above air filters.

Instructions for oiling the blower unit and changing the filters often are found on the inside of the access panel, but the homeowner may have to go hunting for the owner's manual, McQueen said.

A rule of thumb is to change the air filters every two months during furnace use, McQueen said, adding it may even be wise to change the filters every month during heaviest usage.

Oiling the moving parts on the blower unit should be done annually in the fall. Experts also suggest cleaning the inside of the blower unit chamber as much as possible.

For those furnaces equipped with a humidifier, McQueen said the homeowner can clean or replace the filter in that as well.

BE FILTER WISE

Don Green, owner of D&G Heating and Cooling in Livonia, said most people think furnace filters are designed to filter dust and dirt particles from the air we breathe, which they do, but the real reason for the filter is to protect the furnace blowers and burners.

First, a dirty filter impedes air flow and makes the furnace work harder, he

"I had a customer once who had a foot and a half of dirt in the bottom of the blower chamber," Green said. The customer was amazed when the furnace came on after being serviced and heated rooms previously left cold.

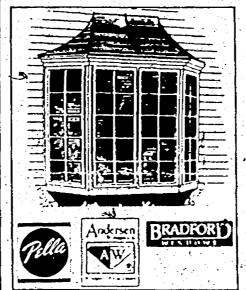

But filters also serve another valuable purpose: they keep the burners and heat exchanger clean, he said. Plugged or partially plugged burners prevent the furnace from getting a complete burn, which means less heat, but it also means incomplete combustion.

When burners or a heat exchanger aren't working properly, combustion creates an excess of carbon monoxide, which is harmful and can even be deadly. Green said.

The better the filter, the better off the homeowner is, he continued. "Ninety percent of the time, when we have to replace the blower unit, it's because people didn't change there filters."

The typical fiberglass filters with a light coating of oil found at some hardware stores are really only good for

New rage: direct-vent gas fireplaces

By Joan Boram special writer

HE SNOW is snowing, the wind is blowing. In the lane, snow is glistening. Baby, it's cold out there.

Sound familiar? It should: it's a Michigan winter.

Not to worry. Here's what to do: Get a stack of the latest magazines, a cup of hot cocoa, crawl into bed and reach for your ever-ready remote control. ZAP! You've got your direct vent gas fireplace to keep you warm.

. Modern technology has come to the rescue of the frostbitten.

"Direct-vent gas fireplaces are a brand new product," says Dean Berry, owner of Fireplace and Spa, Southfield. "And we expect them to become a really hot

"You can put a direct-vent fireplace anyplace you can put a clothes drier; you just run the vent through a wall. They're really amazing. They offer the coziness of a lireplace with the heating abilities of a furnace. They're made to order for condos, townhouses or finished basements.

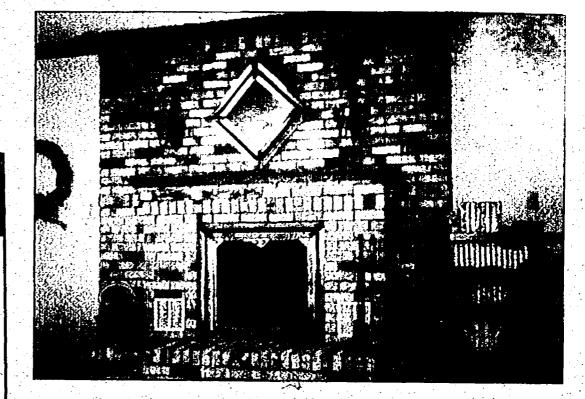

"On earlier units, the flame looked like a gas lamp. The newer models have an incredible flame for an unvented unit."

AT ATLAS Veneers and Pireplaces, Troy, the staff sees a lot of people who are remodeling or adding additions or dormers to existing homes and are looking for a way to heat the new space. "These people are natural customers for a direct-vent gas fireplace," said Rob Matujow, manager. "The existing furnace may not provide enough heat for the new addition or the venting from furnace to addition may be so intricate that the air cools off before it reaches the

"With a direct-vent gas fireplace, they kill two birds with one stone: they get a cozy look and they can heat the new area very efficiently. You get heat, beauty and efficiency at a reasonable cost. The average operating cost is 10-15 cents per hour, including the blower."

"The direct-vent gas fireplaces are in the 99-percent efficiency range," Berry said. "And they produce 25,000 BTUs, maximum. 25,000 BTUs will heat 800 to 1,000 square feet."

Most unvented gas fireplaces come with a wood surround; available in different styles - English, French, modern, for example. Base price for a direct-vent gas sireplace is about $1,000 plus the cost of installation.

BOTH BERRY and Matujow agree that sales of wood-burning stoves are

"We couldn't get enough woodburning stoves during the Arab oil embargo," Berry said. "But people got used to paying high energy costs. And when wood-burning stoves were at the peak of popularity, the EPA got involved. Smoke emissions now have to meet environmental standards.

"Fireboxes are smaller. And burn tubes re-burn smoke to get rid of minerals and gases before it exhausts up the chimney, so you get a second burn from fuel. Other stoves have catalytic converters. The stoves are a lot more efficient now, but prices have almost tripled over the last 10 years.

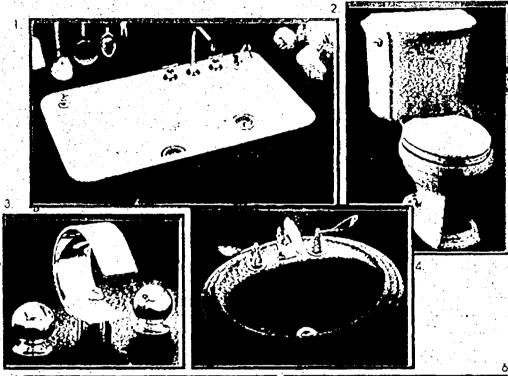

'They're also much more decorative than they were. Earlier stoves were just a black box and functioned only as a heat source. Today, they're available in brass, glass, enamel and porcelain finishes. People use them like wall hangings; their primary function is ---aesthetic.

'Gas logs have become very popular, also," Berry added. "Three years ago, we sold practically no gas logs at all. So far this year, we've sold almost 7,000."

Prices for gas logs run from $99-$400.

AT ATLAS, many customers are enthusiastic about zero-clearance fireplaces, which offer the option (upon installation) of burning either wood or gas. Wood-burning units require a chimney vented through the roof. Gasburning units are vented like a drier.

"Our customers buy three selfcontained vented units to one woodburning unit. A lot of people make their decision on potential re-sale value. A fireplace will get a return of up to 25 percent when you sell your house. A wood-burning stove will get very little, if any, return."

Sunrooms spruce, enlarge, add value

By Arlene Funke special writer

ELEN MERRILL adores the spacious sunroom added to her Plymouth home four years

"Typically it's where I spend all my free time," Merrill said.

No wonder. The 15-foot by 22-foot room, encased in glass, overlooks the family's brick patio and flower-filled yard.

The fully energy-efficient room is light and airy, furnished with pale green carpeting, white wicker furniture and accented with peach and white cushions.

Merrill and her husband, Kenneth, 61, retired from Ford Motor Credit Co., hired Old Village Remodelers of Plymouth to build their sunroom.

The room's warm, Victorian ambience was conceived by Merrill, based on photographs in design magazines.

Barbara and Jim Suhay of Birmingham added a sunroom six years ago. They hired Bob Stern Builders of West Bloomfield.

'I think we wanted more room on the first floor for entertaining," said Barbara Suhay, who teaches at a community college. "What we use the room for, more often, is informal dining. We eat dinner out there every night.'

SUNROOMS ADD living space and enhance the resale value of a house, said Bob Binsfield, a contractor who specializes in such work.

People fall in love with the glass room," said Binsfield of Bloomfield Hills, president of Southfield-based Conservation Unlimited.

The Merrill sunroom, entered through French doors off the den, features 17 windows with removable wooden mullions, which give the effect of panes:

catching large particles of dirt and some dust. "But when the oil dries up, it only catches large lint and dog hairs."

People would be far better off buying high-efficiency pads that last longer and clean better.

Better still, Green said, are the electronic air filters electronically remove fine particles from the air, These filters must be cleaned three times a year.

● KEEP A LOOK-OUT

Preventive maintenance is the preferred plan of attack, McQueen of Flame Furnace said.

Nevertheless, there are a few warning

"If you have black marks running up the wall by the heat register or inside the access panel, that's a sign that soot is coming through the furnace and there's something wrong," McQueen said.

Generally, soot is a sign of incomplete combustion or a faulty heat exchanger, which means a serviceman should be called.

"If you have green plants and the leaves are falling off, that's a sign of excessive carbon dioxide," McQeen said. Excessive carbon dioxide could mean a bad or dirty heat exchanger that needs repair or replacement.

Unusual noises like squeaks or even vibrations generally indicate bad bearings or a bad drive belt in a blower unit, McQueen said.

A furnace that kicks on and off during usage could mean a bad or dirty thermostat or it could be indicative of a more serious problem, McQueen said.

ke squeaks or even call this week."

A dead give a way is the price these companies charge. "You can't clean a furnace for $29.95," he said.

homeowner.

Common sense dictates that a serviceman with $30,000 in parts, a $12,000 truck and being paid $10 an hour can't make a service call that inexpensively.

call, rather than the company calling the

'Another popular scam is called the mortuary scam. Disreputable companies several weeks later saying so-and-so

When possible, Angell suggested homeowners should find out how long a company's been in business, should get a list of referrals and make sure the company is licensed.

If suspicious, Angell suggested calling the local building department for complaints and checking with the better business bureau.

• SCAMS AND CHARLATANS,

Fred Angell of S&M Heating Sales Co. in Southfield said one of the greatest problems facing the industry is the telemarketing scam.

Generally, the scam works like this: A phone call asking whether you want your furnace cleaned results in a visit. During the cleaning, the serviceman finds a problem such as a faulty heat exchanger.

Implying the existing furnace is dangerous, the serviceman offers to sell a new furnace at a good price. "He tells the homeowner they should put in a new $1,600 furnace or they may die the next day," Angell said.

Angell said the best way to protect yourself is to always get a second opinion if someone condemns a piece of equipment. He suggested homeowners

• WHAT EXPERTS DO

Besides changing air filters and lubricating the blower unit, there's little a homeowner can do for today's furnaces, which is why most suggest having furnaces checked at least every two years.

Furnaces, especially high-efficiency ones, continue to require special training and tools to service.

air conditioning, since the room faces north and nearby trees provide shade.

The job cost around $30,000. "The primary goal was to make it look like it had always been part of our home so it didn't look like it was added," Merrill said.

Last May, the Merrill home was showcased as part of the Plymouth Symphony's annual house walk.

THE SUHAY home, a 1940-era, colonial-style, is near Quarton Lake. Barbara Suhay and her husband Jim, a financial specialist at Ford Motor Co., have two teenage children.

The Suhays also enter their sunroom from the den. The couple obtained several estimates before picking their contractor.

Extensive work was required to connect the room to the central heating system. The job took around two months to complete. It cost around $30,000.

"We didn't try to do it the cheapest way," Barbara Suhay said. "He was very efficient and kept within budget."

The Suhay sunroom is air-conditioned. It's very cozy during cold months, Barbara said. Although the room has two heat ducts, one is adequate for warmth.

Both Merrill and Suhay emphasized the importance of researching your project. Work closely with the contractor and be prepared for some inconvenience while the work is being done.

Finally, said Merrill, don't overbuild, and expect to recoup your investment upon resale.

through air infiltration at the bottom of the door. Check to see if there's a draft. If there is, replace the threshhold or buy a threshhold shield, which attaches to the bottom of the door.

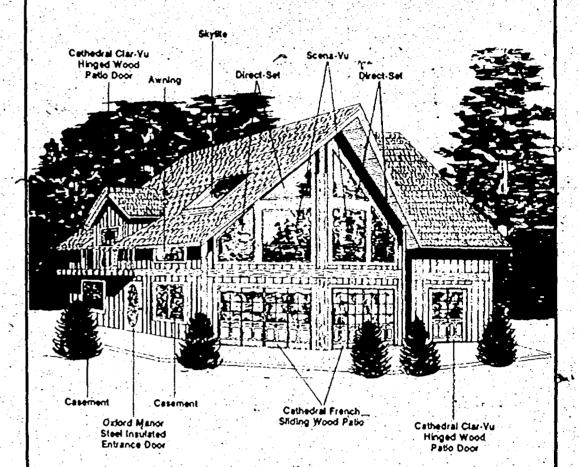

☐ Time to buy a new door? Make sure it's a solid insulated core door. If the doors have glass panels, make sure they're insulated glass panels. Many exterior doors have magnetic seal weatherstripping, which helps prevents heat loss.

• MISCELLANEOUS

- Although water heater tanks are already insulated, some people prefer to add a water heater blanket, especially in homes where the water heater is in an unheated basement, garage or cellar.
- ☐ Water in exposed pipes or pipes in crawl spaces can freeze quickly in bitter cold, causing them to burst.

 Foam pipe forms and fiberglass wraps eliminate this problem.
