Judge won't halt board recall campaign

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Recall leaders trying to oust three Wayne-Westland school board members scored a decisive victory Friday as a Wayne County Circuit Court judge refused to halt the recall campaign.

Judge Kathleen MacDonald dismissed a court challenge in which school board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak had sought to block the recall petition drive.

MacDonald, ruling against the board members, rejected a request to overturn an Oct. 28 decision in which the Wayne County Elections Commission approved the recall petition language.

The judge also refused to grant an injunction that would have prohibited the recall committee - known as New Beginnings for Our Children - from circulating the peti-

Recall leader Steven Lind hailed the decision and said the recall committee would meet during the weekend to plan the petition drive. The group needs 4,420 signatures of school district voters to call for a special recall election.

"It's just a relief to finally get this thing off the ground," Lind said. "The school board members want to keep this from the electorate, and that's just not fair. The electorate wants a chance at this."

Board members planned to consult their attorney, Richard James, to determine their next step, Chorbagian said.

"I guess maybe we have to test the (recall) law this time," she said.

Recall leaders want to oust the board members for approving a two-year, 11.9percent teacher pay increase in February, amid a budget crunch that threatened massive cuts in school programs and services.

Board members have called the petition language "lies," saying it indicates the budget cuts were made. The cuts were averted in June when district voters approved a controversial 7,75-mill tax in-

"How can you expect the electorate to judge on lies?" Chorbagian asked. Posey and Spisak could not be immediately reached Friday evening. Lind has repeatedly defended the petition language and has stressed that it states that board members only "proposed" the cuts.

"I want to emphatically state that there are no lies on those petitions, and I will state that to the bitter end," he said.

The petition states that during a Feb. 11 meeting, the board members "voted in favor of proposed cuts causing a reduction of school busing; reduction of the senior high academic day by one hour; elimination of elementary art, vocal and instrumental music, and physical education; and reduction in classroom supply and textbook accounts." Lind said he expected to have the petitions printed today (Monday). The recall committee hopes to collect the 4,420 signatures within 30 days and then call for a special election...

Teachers union slams effort to recall board

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Leaders of the Wayne-Westland teachers union, blasting a recall campaign against three school board members - as "a - thinly - disguised witch hunt," are trying to rally teachers in opposition to the effort.

The officials, in a memo to the 1,100 members of the Wayne-Westland Education Association, are urging teachers to give money to a legal fund to help board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak fight the recall. The board members have been paying their attorney, Richard James, out of their own pockets in what could become a highly expensive challenge of the recall in Wayne County Circuit Court.

"Obviously they are going to need money," said William Reece, WWEA president.

Board members are paid $1,500 each per year, and their legal expenses are expected to easily exceed their earnings. "It's going to be in the thousands," Chorbagian sald.

However, recall leader Steven Lind predicted that many educators will balk at the fund drive. Moreover, he said some teachers are working to raise money for the recall campaign.

The recall committee wants to oust Chorbagian, Posey and Spisak for approving teacher pay raises of 11.9 percent over two years. Board members approved the contract in February, amid a budget crunch that had threatened massive program cuts before voters approved a tax increase in June.

The local bus service is in danger of running out of money before the middle of next year. Efforts to boost financing aren't going anywhere.

Kevorkian attorney 'confident'

By Ralph R. Echtinaw staff writer

Like radio talk show host Rush Limbaugh, attorney Geoffrey Fieger, famous for defending Dr. Jack Kevorkian, has been accused of especial arrogance but prefers to call it confidence.

Although Fieger doesn't claim to be the most dangerous man in America, or the epitome of morality and brain tied behind his back as Limbaugh does, his confidence in his ability is monumental.

"I was meant to do what I do," he said. "And I'm as good at it as they come. I have a natural talent for this. I believe if you hire me, you've got the best there ever was and ever will be.

"SOME PEOPLE DON'T like me. Some people find me very arrogant. (But) I have self-confidence. They find that to be arrogant. I think that I'm kind. I like animals. I like cats a lot: I'm very approachable. I like to talk to people. I find people interesting," Fleger said.

But like former baseball player Pete Rose, who was often charged with having what one might call excessive pride, Fleger can convincingly back up his claim. At 40 he has practiced law for just 12 years and already collected 10 $1 million plus verdicts, mostly in medical malpractice cases. In addition, Fieger said he's accumulated 25-30 settlements of more than $1 million.

Earlier this year he won $12.6 million for a client in a medical malpractice lawsuit.

Fieger attributes his success to a coincidental collision of ability and the profession in which it could be most effectively employed. In short, he says he's been lucky.

"Everything in my personality happens to mesh well with the things I do," he said. "The best thing that can ever happen to anybody is to virtue, or walk around with half his have a job that doesn't seem like work. You have to be awfully lucky to be in a situation that you can do what you want."

Fieger also finds that the means of his success consist, in part, of acting training he got at the University of Michigan. "It allows me to think on my feet," he said. "You have to have a sense of theatrics to maintain interest. (But) the idea that I could deceive (a jury) is just not true. Anybody who thinks it works like that knows nothing about the law."

While love of money motivates many people to become attorneys, Fieger says that, ironically, his success (and therefore his wealth) was made because he didn't seek financial largess in law.

"I really don't think about the money," he said. "I never really cared about money. (The job) is allconsuming to me. It was never important that I made money at it."

PERHAPS FIEGER can find the roots of his ability in the family tree. Growing up in Oak Park, he was exposed to law through his father-attorney Bernard. The younger Fieger joined the father's firm in 1979.

Surprisingly, or maybe to be expected, Fieger's siblings have also found prominence in life. Brother Doug is lead singer of The Knack, a rock 'n' roll band famous for the song "My Sharona," circa 1980. Sister Beth writes television scripts in Hollywood.

But Fieger's desire for passive entertainment is necessarily limited by his vocation/avocation. Although he admits to a predilection for football and boxing, "kicking my opponents in the ass is my hobby."

Speaking of football, Fieger's newfound celebrity, thanks to Kevorkian, has derailed his ability to have a meal in peace. Sunday he was at the Stage Deli with Kevorkian, watching the Detroit Lions game when "two news media saw (us) and started harassing us and we had to go. It's gotten to that point where almost I can't go out. It can't go on. It's getting a little crazy."

However, Fieger will accept the notoriety as the price of success. As one of Michigan's premier medical malpractice attorneys, custodian of a landmark case where Kevorkian is concerned, the owner of six lakefront houses in Oakland County and two Caribbean homes, the case Fieger makes for his competence is compelling.

"I'm not a risk taker. I don't gamble. I never bought a lottery ticket in my life. I don't bet on the horse races. The only thing I bet on in my entire life is my own talent."

Top-officials of the Wayne-Westland family YMCA met in a special session Thursday night, but board members remained hushed about the sudden resignation of executive director Janet Gillies.

Board members have confirmed that Gillies stepped down amid allegations of YMCA policy violations, but they have refused to elaborate on the Oct. 31 resignation. Gillies also has declined to comment.

Officials from the metropolitan YMCA headquarters in Detroit have met with local board members at least twice, including Thursday, since Gillies quit her job in a shroud of secrecy that even puzzled some local board members.

School board to put bond issue to voters

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Ballot language for a $62.1 million bond issue that school officials call a "win-win" situation for the schools and taxpayers is expected to be approved tonight by the Livonia Board of Education.

Once approved, the bond application will be sent to the Michigan Department of Education, which is also expected to approve it, Superintendent Joseph Marinelli said.

On Dec. 2, board members are expected to set Feb. 10, 1992, as the date in which residents will vote on the bond issue.

LIVONIA'S TAX rate will neither rise nor fall if voters vote yes because the new bond issue will replace an older bond issue that is re-

If voters vote no, Livonia taxpayers will get a property tax reduction on the current 1.05 mill debt-retirement levy. If the bond is approved, the district will use the money to upgrade its school buildings and to bring technology into the classrooms. School officials are now informing. principals what specific improvements will be made in their buildings if voters approve the bond issue. Marinelli said both the district and taxpayers will benefit from the bond

"It's a win-win situation," Marinelli said. "It doesn't increase the tax rate and it provides desperately needed funds to enhance technology in the schools. It also will upgrade facilities that are 25-37 years old and need upgrading.

"It's easier to upgrade them than to let them deteriorate. It's the most economical way to go." Neither objective, new technology and the upgrading of buildings, could be paid for through the operating budget, Marinelli said.

A PRIORITY list on how to use the bond money was put together by a planning committee of principals, teachers and administrators.

Computer labs and computerized libraries top the list, which ranks items in the order of priority.

The list sets standards committee members believe should be followed in each elementary, middle and high

For example, committee members believe all elementary instructional material centers should be the same size. If approved, this means the IMCs at seven schools - Adams, Cleveland, Garfield, Marshall, Mc-Kinley, Roosevelt and Washington would be made bigger.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR elementary schools include:

• Electronic information retrieval stations and a computerized card catalog in all IMCs.

Recommendations for middle schools include:

Technology centers, or computer banks, in school IMCs. • Electronic information retrieval systems and a computerized card catalog in all IMCs. · Two more classrooms containing banks of computers.

• Upgrading of science labs to include up to 10 lab stations. • Converting industrial arts shops to industrial technology facili-

. Developing a large group meet-IMC and in a special computer class ing center for team teaching and small assemblies.

Recommendations for high schools include:

• Adding two computer labs and one industrial technology lab for the three high schools and the career

• Increasing the size of the Franklin and Stevenson IMCs.

• More lab stations, for science

• Two science lecture rooms. The bond money would help the district accomplish one of its main goals set forth in its recently adopted strategic plan.

That goal is to update each school building technologically so that 's graduates can meet the demands of the 21st-century.

Beyond holidays

Agencies struggling to meet '92 needs

staff writer

Thanks to seasonal generosity, area food banks should be stocked through the holldays.

After that, the cupboard could be bare.

"There's enough food through Christmas, but for March and April we can't say," said Gene Gonya, president of Gleaners Community, Food Bank.

That's why area food banks are asking contributors to be especially generous this year. '...

Gleaners hopes to stock up on nonperishable items through a special holiday promotion offered in cooperation with area food merchants.

The Buy a Case of Food event provides cases of food - from baby formula, to soup, to canned stew - at wholesale prices. Individuals are encouraged to buy cases of food for donation to Gleaners:

Food banks aren't the only charity projects looking for more help this year.

Salvation Army volunteers will also be staffing their holiday keitles with an eye toward 1992.

"FROM WHAT we're seeing, I'd say things are going to get worse in the New Year," Salvation Army Major Robert Thomson said.

Already, requests for Christmas assistance are up 8 percent from last

The Salvation Army also provides gifts for needy children and helps, needy families buy groceries.

It also staffs homeless shelters and soup kitchens.

In addition, the Salvation Army works with area utilities to help needy people retain their electricity.

This is the 100th anniversary of the Salvation Army's familiar holiday bell-and-kettle fund-raising drive. The project began on the docks of San Francisco back in 1891. Another agency, Future Force conducting a first-ever food drive of its own this holiday season.

"WE'RE REALLY on the front." lines in terms of seeing the people who come to us after losing their Jobs," district manager Kamela Torvinen said.

Future Force seeks to collect 100,000 cans of food at sites throughout Wayne and Oakland Countles.

While Future Force sees an increasing number of Jobless white collar workers, Gleaners, and the Salvation Army are bracing for an influx of former general assistance recipients.

"It's starting and we expect to see more former GA people next year." Thomson said.

Both agencies said they're spending an increasing amount of time with the working poor — people still employed but with low pay and no medical benefits.

"The agencies we deal with tell us they're seeing more and more of these kinds of people," Gonya said. "In the 1980s a lot of people still had benefit packages, health care and the like. Now, those are gone."

To buy a case of food for Gleaners, call 923-3535. Prices range from $7.20 for a case of baby food to $18 for a case of peanut butter to $40 for a case of canned tuna.

To assist the Salvation Army, call 477-1153, Farmington Hills: 453-5464, Plymouth of 722-3660, Westland.

· Future Force is collecting canned food at corporate headquarters, 1361 E. Big Beaver, clerical/technical headquarters, 631 Big Beaver, Troy and at Redfrord offices, 25245 Five Mile, Suite 5 and Westland offices, 1531 S. Wayne Road. Hours are 8 a.m. to, 5:30 p.m. for corporate headquarters, 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for clerical technical headquarters, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for Redford and 6 a.m, to 7:30 p.m. for Westland.

Cold weather 'ruff' for pets, MHS says

The Michigan Humane Society reminds pet owners that cold weather and pets don't mix. Weather forecasters estimate unseasonably cold weather throughout the winter, which means extra care needs to be taken to protect all pets.

The indoor dog requires only a few precautions when traveling outdoors for short periods of time. If the indoor dog is a short-haired breed and goes for a walk be sure to protect him from the cold with a coat or sweater. Always keep a towel on hand to dry his coat, including his feet, when he enters the house. Slush and salt deposits from sidewalks and streets can cause paw and skin irritation: The Michigan Humane Societydiscourages pet owners from keeping dogs outdoors, especially during the winter months. If a dog is kept outdoors he needs special attention during the winter months. Following are some common sense approaches to caring for the outdoor dog in winter.

• Be sure the dog's house is in good repair. Fix any leads or gaps that might let moisture or wind

• Elevate the dog house so that it is 4.6 inches from the ground. Any moisture that does enter the dog's house will be able to dry if the house is elevated. • Place a flap over the door of the dog house to prevent drafts.

• Place the house so that it faces southeast and away from prevailing winds.

• Use clean straw as an insulating and bedding material. When straw, becomes wet it loses its insulating properties, so be sure to change the straw frequently.

• Increase the intake of food to help maintain the animal's body temperature.

• Keep fresh food and water available for the animal at all times, and replace if either becomes frozen.

• When the temperature or wind chill falls below 0 degrees Farenheit consider bringing the pet indoors into warm surroundings. A basement or a heat porch will help to maintain the animal's body temperature. Do not house the outdoor dog in a warm portion of the house, because extremes in temperatures can be harmful.

GOP bill would 'open' primaries, unseat Dems

By Tim Richard staff writer

Michigan Democrats may have to find another way to send delegates to their national convention if a Republican-backed change in the presidential primary becomes law.

"It looks like a change to zap the Democrats," said Sen, John Cherry, D-Clio, minority floor leader.

The Senate Thursday approved 21-11 an amendment that effectively wipes out the new requirement that voters in next March 17's presidential primary declare a party preference 30 days before enteringthe voting booth.

SENATE BILL 469 would allow voters to declare party preference the day of the primary and then cancel it on leaving, said sponsor Nick. Smith, R-Addison.

It was widely believed that Ronald Reagan's strong showing against incumbent President Gerald Ford in Ford's home state was due to mischievous Democrats

In 1972 President Richard Nixon was a shoo-in for renomination, and Republicans crossed over to back Alabama's segregationist Gov. George. Wallace in the Democratic primary, to the acute embarrassment of the party's liberal leadership. That led to the Democrats' rule change.

Senate — Employers can't stop workers from smoking

Bosses couldn't require workers to quit using tobacco off the job, under Senate-passed bill headed for the

In a war of words that ranged from the bitter to the grotesque, the Senate passed smoker Fred Dillingham's bill on a 26-6 vote.

When we argue employers have a right to patrol employees 24 hours a day and pigeonhole an employee for legal behavior - absurd!" said Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, presenting his bill as a civil rights measure.

"Absurd! Ridiculous!" replied antismoking Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. "I guess you want to go back to the good ol' days when men were men and could spit where they want."

Faxon threw the chamber and galleries into hysterics with his oral picture of tobacco chewers "drooling pus, brown, stinking, horrible stuff, like an abscess."

iss, R-Oxford, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Opposed were Faxon and Robert Geake, R-Northville. William Faust, D-Westland, had an excused absence.

Non-smoker Honigman guided the bill through his Labor Committee, though he admitted he requires his own mother to smoke in the garage when she visits.

If an employer were to prohibit all smoking because it's dangerous, Honigman said, he could also prohibit skiing and parachuting because they too are dangerous.

Bouchard, though backing the bill, said smokers should be charged more for health insurance "if they want to take that risk.'

DILLINGHAM said half his mail was unsigned because smokers fear retaliation for supporting his bill.

"There is an absolute push to control a person's behavior beyond the workplace. There are help-wanted ads that say, 'If you smoke, don't bother to apply,' 'said Dillingham.

If it becomes law, Dillingham's bill would:

• Prohibit employers from discriminating against tobacco users in compensation or promotion.

• Limit no-tobacco rules to the workplace - defined as "an area owned or operated by an employer or serving as a place of work for employees."

• Allow employers to have a life and health insurance policy "charges tobacco users more or otherwise makes distinctions among employees regarding the type of coverage or the cost of coverage based upon the employees' use of tobacco prod-

Avoiding housework is a man's duty

, ONE OF my favorite country and western songs is "Put Another Log" on the Fire." It's a wonderful hillbilly lament about why some guy's wife ' is leaving him because she does all the work around the house.

hits home. It was running through my mind when my wife forced me to watch a segment of ABC's "20/20" on men and women sharing house-

... I watched under protest. That was Friday. By Sunday afternoon my wife was on a cleaning campage, while I sat in the back room drinking Jim Beam and listening to my favorite country song.

I plead guilty to being a husband who not only doesn't do his share of housework, but doesn't even notice that things need to be done.

A wet towel on the bathroom floor only means I've got one more thing to step around when going to shave. Laundry on the bed means I've got one more obstacle on my way to bed. It just never occurred to me to put it

This wasn't an overnight process. It was a long journey to the blissful state of doing no housework. The irony is that my wife was the travel agent for the trip.

I found shortly after getting mar-It's also one of those songs that ried that she and I had different standards of cleanliness. Her kitchen makes an operating room seem dirty, meanwhile, my idea of tidy is being able to walk through a room.

> So, being a sensitive guy, Lallowed her to retain her standards. Since then it's been a free ride.

The basic theory to operate under to avoid housework is to screw it up. That way you won't be asked to do it

But there are some ticklish situations that can arise when the basic theory doesn't work.

Here's a list of ways to handle

• Dishes. Put them away in the wrong cupboards. The woman in your life will never find them and never let you do the dishes again. It also helps to break a couple. • Laundry. Make sure to mix the dark colors with the white stuff, Once you turn her best table cloth blue, you'll never be asked to do that job again.

• Kitchen floors. Sweep the Cheerios under the stove. You'll end up with mice, but then you'll never have to do the floors again.

If those techniques fail, lie, It works. And the bigger the better. My lie is that my wife doesn't really. clean the house, she just moves the stuff into the basement or the garage. When it lands in either of those two places, it's then my responsibili-

So, I just tell her that I'm really the one who cleans the house.

Those work for me, but there are some poor guys who are married to feminist types who have the 50-50 view of housework. A friend of mine with a wife like that had his own technique. He used tire rotation as

He told her that if she wanted him to do half the housework, then she would be responsible for rotating the tires on her car. And this came from a guy who didn't know a dip stick from a fiddle stick.

It worked, however, he did end up having to rotate the tires on his and her car, a task he had never done

It was worth it. It gave him and me time to spend our Saturday afternoons drinking beer and watching football at a bar.

There are priorities in life.

A look at life in a 'healthocracy'

NEWS ITEM: WASHINGTON The Food and Drug Administration is proposing strict-food labeling regulations that would allow consumers to tell at a glance the level of fat, sodium, calories, cholesterol and fiber in a product.

The proposals are the FDA's answer to the requirement that it find a way to enforce the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act passed by Congress last year.

The labels, which will be required on about 90 percent of all food sold in grocery stores, could revolutionize the way Americans eat by making them more aware.

The regulations are expected to fill more than 300 pages of tiny print in the Federal Register, the government's daily publication of new and proposed rules for enforcing federal statutes.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms has even gotten into the act, announcing that it will consider a petition to require nutrition labels on all alcoholic beverages.

Patricia McGrath Morris of the consumer advocacy group Public Voice for Food and Health Policy called it a "good first step to transforming the way people eat."

Good reasons now to vote

It seems like we are getting less for our money than we were 25.

To start, President Johnson decided to dump the Social Security fund into the general coffer. This made you feel like the jackals were coming at you and that the glowing future was starting to dim. Their excuse: it's better to do this than raise the taxes. Better for whom?

The tax committee decided we shouldn't get our car license as a deduction. Then they said we shouldn't get to deduct the tax on gasoline. They said no to interest, other than on houses, paid to banks. Next came no deduction for state sales tax. What happened to "there shall be no tax on a tax?" The only answer is to throw the baggage out in the next election. Limit terms of office and make sure politicians cannot return to start over again. If ever there was a good reason to vote, it's staring you right in the face.

Presently, if you are injured in an automobile accident in Michigan you. are entitled to all medical and rehabilitation services deemed reasonable and necessary for the remainder of your life. Rehabilitation can turn tax burdens into tax payers.

Hospital bills alone after a serious accident can be as much as $250,000 or more. Under proposed changes, cellings on medical expenses would be instituted in order to reduce your premium. If you select a ceiling of $250,000, minimal, or no, funds would remain to provide for your rehabilitation and care that may be needed for the rest of your life. Can you count on the public welfare system to take care of you? Would your family be able to bear the burden?

THE FACT IS the savings to you on your automobile policy would only be approximately $42 per year if you select the above limit rather than lifetime medical coverage. # Piano teachers help win Lansing skirmish

By Tim Richard staff writer

Piano teachers and child care providers applauded each others' testimony before a state Senate panel last Tuesday as they sought to remain in business.

And the Senate Local Governe ment Committee advanced bills to keep cities from shutting them down in residential neighborhoods.

"Music teachers don't have lobbylsts," said Jerome Stasson, husband of West Bloomfield Township piano teacher Betty Stasson, who once was told by an ordinance officer not to give lessons at home.

"The last place you want government is sticking its nose in your home," agreed committee chair David Honlgman, R-West Bloomfield, sponsor of two of the bills to clip local governments' wings. Protesting the bills were lobbyists for the Michigan Municipal League and Michigan Townships Association.

THE COMMITTEE sent to the Senate floor:

• Three bills preventing municipalitles, townships and counties from prohibiting music lessons and other tutoring in a private residence. Honigman said local units still may restrict noise, signs and traffic.

• A bill preventing cities from zoning out licensed "family day care" (up to six children) and licensed "group day care" (7-12 children) from residential areas. Sponsor is Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. Faxon's 1990 bills covering townships and counties became law, but his cities bill lost when a couple of senators weren't on the floor on the closing day of session. The music teachers and childcare providers applauded each others' speeches on behalf of home occupations. The mood was broken by mirth when a gray mouse, barely 11/2 inches long, scurried from behind the senators' table, under audience chairs and out a door in the ornate fourth floor meeting room in the State Capitol.

BEN MARKS, Farmington Hills councilman representing the Municipal League, drew fire from Honigman and Sen. Jim Berryman, D Adrian; for his and MML's opposition.

The existence of community is sacred. Numbers are what count in local government," said Marks. When people buy in a residential neighborhood, they don't expect a

"What's next?" demanded Berryman, a former mayor of Adrian. 'My grandmother can't sew dresses for money?"

"As it's written, the Michigan State University band could play in a senior citizens' apartment complex."

Honigman said he would offer floor amendments clarifying local units' right to restrict traffic, employment and signs.

THE ISSUE was raised by Betty Stasson, a 40-year veteran of teaching and the concert stage, who got national attention when her township shut her down several years ago.

'Frosty' moon signals winter

By Raymond E. Bullock special writer

Mercury is officially at its maximum elongation (greatest apparent distance) from the sun on the evening of Nov. 18th. Unlike Venus, which was 47 degrees west of the sun on Nov. 2, Mercury never gets far from the sun; it is only 22 degrees east (left) of the sun for this elongation. This is a very poor separation and very difficult to see. A better shot at Mercury comes in the morning sky late in December.

Full Moon is at 5.56 p.m. on Nov. 21. The moon is fully lighted by the sun and rises in the northeast as the sun sets in the southwest. It will be visible all night and set at sunrise.

The Iuli moon of September is known as the Harvest Moon, that of October is the Hunter's Moon. November's full moon is known as the Frosty Moon and the Beaver Moon, perhaps because Indians noticed great activity on the part of beavers .as they prepared for winter.

Located directly above the full moon on the 21st is the Pleiades (PLEE a dees) star cluster in Taurus. The Pleiades will be difficult to see with the bright moon so Betelgeuse is a red supergiant star. Red stars are old; they are nearing the end of their life cycle. Red stars are also fairly cool, as far as stellar temperatures go. Red supergiants are big, if placed where the sun is, Betelgeuse would extend out to the orbit of Jupiter.

Betelgeuse is about 520 light years away, which means the light we see _tonight left the star 520 years ago. It is the 11th brightest star in the sky. # Redford CC runs over Henry Ford

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

None of Redford Catholic Central's linemen made the All-Catholic League first team, but they all made an impression Saturday on Detroit Henry Ford coach Mike Marshall.

After a sluggish first half, CC dominated the line of scrimmage in the second half and rolled to a 38-8 win over Ford in a Class AA quarter-final game. The Shamrocks led 10-8 at halftime and capped all four of its second-half possessions with touch-downs in a devastating performance at Livonia Clarenceville.

CC scored on drives of 70, 61, 30 and 34 yards in the second half and ran 31 offensive plays after halftime compared to Ford's 15. Marshall was leery about CC's All-Catholic wide receiver Frank Yoakam prior to the game but came away just as impressed with the Shamrocks' line and the senior backfield of Jeff Tibaldi and Dan Gusoff.

"They wore us down and were stronger in the trenches," Marshall said. "When you know what's going to happen and you can't stop it, you know that's what it is.

"(YOAKAM) WASN'T the problem. The problem was their offensive line and they have big backs who run strong. We need to regroup, get in the weight room and get stronger."

CC, which had 348 yards and 21 first downs, limited Ford to 95 total yards and seven first downs — six of which came before halftime. Ford's dangerous quarterback, Orlando Fortunato, didn't complete a pass

football

until 10:25 remaining in the game, and several of his passes were knocked down at the line by CC's linemen.

Jason Krueger sacked Fortunato once, while Dan Kelly, Paul Nemzek and David Bruhowzki combined for another CC sack. Yoakam had a fumble recovery and John Ivezic had an interception.

Tibaldi, also left off the Detroit Free Press' All-Catholic League first team despite gaining 1,005 yards prior to Saturday, finished with 119 yards on 21 carries and a second-half TD.

"I think I proved that I was an All-Catholic back," Tibaldi said. "I don't want to sound cocky but, yeah, I think I deserved it."

CC, 9-1 overall, will meet Detroit Martin Luther King in a Class AA semifinal game to be played Saturday at Chippewa Valley High School. CC beat King in last year's Class AA championship game and earlier this season routed the Crusaders, 24-6.

KING BEAT Utica Ford, 27-12, in the other Region III game played Saturday.

Henry Ford took an 8-3 first half lead after a 1-yard run by Leon Merritt and a two-point conversion pass, but the Shamrocks gained momentum for the second half with an 80-yard TD drive just before halftime.

Quarterback Chris Barbara, who completed five of 12 passes for 64 yards, kept the drive alive with an 8-yard pass to Yoakam on third down and goal from the Ford nine. Gusoff, who finished with 62 yards on 16 carries, scored on the next play and Kerry Zavagnin kicked the extra point for a 10-8 halftime lead.

Zavagnin earlier in the half got CC on the board with a 42-yard field goal, his longest of the year.

"I think the drive right before halftime was great to set the momentum for the second half," CC coach Tom Mach said. "It was a two-minute drill and we worked it very well to get us a TD and give us the spark we needed. Tibaldi and Gusoff ran real hard."

CC took the opening kickoff of the second half and drove 70 yards for a score and a 17-8 lead. Gusoff, following a block by Gary Stegall, scored from a yard out on third down to cap the drive.

AFTER CC'S defense held on Ford's next possession, the Shamrocks drove another 61 yards for a TD, finishing the drive with a 6-yard run by Tibaldi. Zavagnin's extra point made the score 24-8 with 11:24 remaining in the game.

Yoakam made the score 31-8 with a 16-yard counter run with 6:21 left, and the Shamrocks finished the scoring with 1:42 left on an 8-yard run by Nemzek.

"We weren't really sure what they were doing in the first half and had problems blocking their middle line-backers," CC senior lineman Dan Cretu said. "But we made adjustments and went back to straight-on-helmet-to-helmet blocking instead of doubling at the point of attack."

Jeff Tibaldi rushed for 119 yards and a touchdown on 21 attempts as the Shamrocks pulled away from Henry Ford in the second half to win

Northwood kills Madonna's quest

By Mike Stewart staff writer

The eternal optimist would say the Madonna volleyball squad once again showed great improvement and should be proud of what it accomplished in the 1991 campaign.

• The realist would probably agree, but might question why improvement must be so painful.

Sure, Madonna rolled to an impressive, 46-14 record — the best in the school history. Sure, the Crusaders earned their first regular-season title with a 7-0 slate, becoming the first NAIA District 23 team in five years to beat the bully of the block, Northwood Institute.

A very impressive season, indeed.

Those accomplishments, however, were hardly consoling following Madonna's agonizing five-game loss to Northwood in the district championship Saturday night at Madonna

MADONNA LOST the opening contest 15-11 but rallied to win the next two games in convincing fashion, 15-4 and 15-6. The Crusaders held an 11-9 lead in Game 4.

It appeared the Northwomen were teetering on the edge of elimination, but they regrouped and showed that nine straight district championships don't happen by accident

The Northwomen rallied for six straight points and pulled out the fourth game, 15-11.

Use any adjective you'd like for the final

Use any adjective you'd like for the final game: incredible, hair-raising, electrifying. They all work. The end result was a 15-13 Northwood victory.

The Northwomen (33-13) now travel to Cincinnati Mount Saint Joseph, where they'll compete in a Saturday, Nov. 23, bi-district match. If they win, they advance to the NAIA national tournament and try to improve on their best-ever fifth-place finish in

"It's a shame," Madonna head coach Jerry Abraham said afterward, echoing the sentiments of many disappointed Madonna fans.

THE FACT that Madonna had beaten Northwood in three straight games less than one month ago made it even more upsetting for the Crusaders.

"They raised the level of their game a few steps since then," Abraham said. "Give them credit. They kept us off balance a little. They really played great." In the finale, Northwood took a quick 7-4 lead. Madonna scrambled back, gaining an 8-7 advantage on the strength of three Dana Finley (NAIA player of the year) kills. The Crusaders upped their lead to 11-8 on a Finley block, a Tonia Smith kill and another Finley block.

But Northwood again jumped ahead 13-12, mostly because the Crusaders couldn't find a way to stop outside hitter Sara Slater, who had three kills during the run.

The Crusaders managed to knot the score — and a lot of stomachs — when a Finley kill made it 13 each.

Then, nearly a half hour after the game had started, a pair of consecutive Northwood kills finished the Crusaders' season.

NORTHWOOD HAD a similar confrontation with Aquinas College in the semifinals, squeaking out a 15-11 win in Game 5. Madonna advanced to the finals with a relatively easy four-game win over the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The Crusaders might have been feeling the effects of illness. Elena Oparka, suffering from the chicken pox, didn't practice with the team all week but played Saturday. Several others were fighting the flu. But Abraham refused to use illness as an excuse. "We played over that. It had nothing to do with our losing," he said.

In the final match against Northwood,
Oparka led the team with 25 kills. Finley

Oparka led the team with 25 kills. Finley added 24 and Tonia Smith had 15. Smith and setter Penny Baker were named to the all-tourney team.

Northwood was paced by Slater (26 kills), Monica Brown (18 kills) and Cindy Choban (17 kills).

"We're making progress," Abraham said.
"I'm exhausted right now."

This kind of improvement can wear a team out.

Warner's 42 gives Franklin OT win

staff writer

Dawn Warner added another chapter to her storied basketball career Saturday, scoring a career-high 42 points as Livonia Franklin edged city rival Stevenson for third place in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

The Patriots staged a come-frombehind 64-62 overtime victory thanks to Patty Shea's running layup with only four seconds lett.

The game was one of four played on the day at Plymouth Salem.

In the championship final, the host Rocks beat rival Canton for their second straight WLAA crown, 48-41. Warner, who set the Franklin scoring mark last year with 40 against Walled Lake Central, eclipsed her own record by hitting 14 of 26 shots from the floor, including six from three-point range. (She also made eight of 10 free throws.)

The performance capped a sterling week for the 5-foot-7 senior guard, who is bound next year to Western Kentucky University. On Tuesday, Warner had 37 in a 61-58 semifinal loss to Salem.

Her explosive outing did nothing but enhance her chances for Michigan's Miss Basketball.

"This one ranks right up there," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman of Warner's performance. "She certainly put on a show against Salem when she began posting up. Maybe she showed more in that game, I don't know."

IT WAS FRANKLIN'S 14th straight victory over Stevenson, and the third this season over the Spartans.

The Patriots trailed most of the way, behind as many as nine with 5:17 left in the game.

Warner's three-point shot with 2:07 left put Franklin ahead 60-58, but Stevenson's Julie Martin sent it into overtime with a basket with 1:52 remaining.

Warner hit the first basket in Warner hit the first basket in overtime, but Stevenson's Lori Shingledecker countered with a pair of free throws.

The Spartans played for the last shot and missed with 12 seconds left. Warner grabbed the rebound and threw the ball to Shea at mid-court, who took it in the rest of the way.

"Dawn got the rebound and I knew there was still a lot of time left when I got the ball, I wasn't worried about the clock," said Shea, a senior who finished with six points.

Wendy Rynklewicz added eight for the winners, who enter state tournament play at 15-5 overall.

Stevenson, which finished the regular season at 14-6, had four players score in double figures including Shingledecker (12), Mo Drabicki (12), Teresa Sarno (11) and Karen Groulx (11).

SALEM WON THE title game behind senior center Darcie Miller's game-high 19 points.

Cyndi Platter and Emily Giuliani contributed 11 and 10, respectively, for the victorious Rocks, now 16-4 overall.

Stephanie Gray, a junior center, had 17 for the Chiefs, who finished the regular season at 16-4.

In the first game of the day, Westland John Glenn evened its overall record at 10-10 with a 46-44 triumph over Walled Lake Western.

Senior center Cathy Mruk paced the Rockets, who claimed seventh place in the WLAA playoffs, with 16 points. Western's Jennifer Gross scored a game-high 19.

Northville garnered fifth place with 62-47 victory over Walled Lake Central as Kara McNell led the victorious Mustangs with 24. Karen Pump added 13. Bridgette Norris tallied 18 for the Vikings.

Was Livonia Stevenson confident of victory going into the Western Lakes Activities Association girls swim meet finals, Friday at Plymouth Salem?

The Spartans' coach, Greg Phill, answered that when he said, "Once we won the medley relay, I wasn't too worried."

The medley relay was the meet's first event. So I guess you could say they were pretty sure of themselves. So was everyone else, for that matter. The only team that challenged Stevenson's supremacy at all was Plymouth Canton. The Chiefs hung tough until the 11th event (outof 12), the 100-yard breaststroke, trailing the favorites by just eight points.

Unfortunately for Canton, the 100 breast happens to be one of Stevenson's strongest events. The Spartans finished first, second and fifth, with Jill Knapp winning in 1:10.50, sister Jennifer placing second (1:10.87) and Lisa Morrison taking fifth (1:13.70).

Stevenson outscored Canton 72-30 in the breast, after which Phill could smile and say, "It's over."

INDEED IT was. Stevenson won with 542 points; Canton stayed second (496), followed by Plymouth Salem (356), Northville (341), Livonia Churchill (315), North Farmington (291), Farmington Harrison (204), Farmington (201), Westland John Glenn (84), Livonia Franklin (79). Walled Lake Western (65) and Walled Lake Central (58).

The Spartans benefitted from two wins by Mandi Falk, in the 200 individual medley (2:14.75) and 100 butterfly (1:01.25). They also got the first Phill said was necessary - in the 200 medley relay (1:54.30).

"I wanted us to win the medley relay so we would start off right," he said. "If we lose that, it's a 12-point turnaround."

-The breast, of course, made a difference, too. But Phill refused to single any Spartan out. "My whole team swam well," he said. "I can't pick a person."

In reality, the only way Stevenson could have lost — especially after a strong performance at Wednesday's preliminaries — was if its bus had a flat tire on the way to the finals.

CANTON HARDLY came out flat in the finals. "We had no business being that close to (Stevenson)," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "We just had great depth."

Indeed, the Chiefs won just one event: Amy Kodrik in the one-meter. diving (402.70 points). But others "made some incredible drops," said Wellman - like Jeni Cooper and April Billins in the 50 and 100 free, Katie McWhirter and Susan Pritchard in the 200 and 500 free, and Jill Mellis in the 100 fly and 200 IM.

The outstanding swimmer of the meet was, without doubt, Churchill's Ellen Lessig. The senior missed last year's WLAA meet with the flu; she_ made up for it this year.

"If I was going to get sick, I'm glad it happened last year, and I was able to have a successful senior year," said Lessig, who won the 50 and 100 free in meet and pool record times of 24.3 and 53.36. "Having concentrate more for this meet, and it also worried me.

"I thought I might wake up the same way, and be sick, but everything was fine. Coming into this meet, my main goal was to drop the records I set Wednesday in the prelims. It was a big surprise the pool records happened to come with them,"

CHURCHILL'S TARA Ditchkoff also turned in a stunning performance, coming away with wins in the 200 (1:59.58) and 500 (5:22.82) free. The Chargers finished first in six events - Lessig, Ditchkoff, Liz Sorokac and Jaime Strauch also captured the 200 free relay (1:41.66) and 400 missed last year's meet helped me free relay (3:43.31) - but could do no better than fifth in the team standings.

Salem coach Chuck Olson was nearly as happy with his team's third as Canton's Wellman was with second. "I was real pleased," he said. "We got beat by Northville in the dual meet . . . I thought we could have finished anywhere from third to sixth."

Still, the happiest guy had to be Phill. It was Stevenson's first WLAA championship in girls swimming since 1986, back when the Spartans were deep in talent, like Sheila Taormina and Mary Schoenle. Like their predecessors, the current crop of Spartans dominated.

Redford Catholic Central pulled off the expected and Farmington Hills Harrison pulled off the surprise of the 1991 boys cross country sea-

CC. a three-time state champion, made a return trip this fall and finished seventh at the Class A meet. Harrison, meanwhile, made its firstever appearance in the Class B state meet worthwhile, finishing 13th overall.

For guiding Harrison to a 9-1 dual meet record, Class B regional champlonship and a second place Western Lakes Activities Association finish, John Reed has been named the Observer Coach of the Year. "Three years ago we were 0-9, lost" every meet and were last at the Schoolcraft (College Invitational)," Reed said earlier this season. "It's only been three years and already we moved up to 13th in the state."

Because of increasing enrollment, Harrison will compete in Class A next year.

As for the runners of the Observer first team, five of the 10 members are seniors. Three area runners finished among the Top-20 in the Class A individual race and there were several other sterling times from runners on the first and second

all-area boys cross country

FIRST TEAM

Dave Clinard, junior, Farmington: Clinard was fifth in the WLAA meet, fourth at the Haslett Invitational, ninth at West Bloomfield and 12th in the Oakland County Meet.

"Dave was consistent all year," coach Jerry Young said. "He's a good student and leader."

Mike Deans, senior, Fermington Harrison: Deans was 12th in the Class A regional and 37th at the state meet. He was ninth at the Redford Union Invitational, 10th at Walled Lake Western and 11th at Schoolcraft and West Bloomfield. Deans took 13th at the WLAA meet.

"Mike ran consistent all year, he never ran a bad race," coach John Reed said. "He's a solid runner all-around. He's a hard worker, team leader and dedicat-

Jason Zdyrski, senior, Farmington Harrison: Zdyrski was a runner-up at the Walled Lake Western Invitational and took third at the regional and WLAA meet. Zdyrski also placed 65th at the state meet and during the season had a pair of fifth place finishes at the West Bloomfield and Schoolcraft races.

'Jason's the best runner I've ever had," Reed said. "He ran fantastic all year. Other than the state meet he had a tremendous season."

Jeff. Martus, senior, Livonia Churchill: Martus' best time was 16:40, coming at Cass Benton. He won six dual meets and falled to win only one. Martus was sixth at Schoolcraft College and 16th at both the regional and WLAA meet. "Jell's a hard worker who shows by example," coach Dave Westover said.

Casey Moothart, freshman, Plymouth Canton: Moothart recorded his best time of 17:14 at Cass Benton on two occasions - in a dual meet against Walled Lake Western and in the WLAA meet. His 17:14 time is the sixth best time ever for a Canter cover - and he has three more seasons to work up on that presiligious list. He was eighth in the league meet, 15th at regional (17:22) and 28th (17:50) at the state moct.

"Casey's development as a runner this year has been smill and without any real plateaus, coach Jim Hayes said. "Knowing the kind of young mer he is, I am sure that he will continue in improve and will attain any goal he sets for himself."

Derck Cudini, junior, Plymouth Salem: Cudini's best time of 1649 earned him 23rd place at the Jackson Invitational, but he had a pair of Top 10 finishes: sixth in the Ann Arbor Pioneer Invitational and seventh at the RLAA meet (17:10). He was 14th at the state meet (17:30) and 17th at both the registal

(17:26) and West Bloomfield Invitational "Derek led the team consistently all year and was a very valuable asset to our

Mike Mittman, junior, Redford Catholic Central: Mittman took third in the Catholic League (17:08) and seventh in the Operation Friendship meet (17:18). He was 13th at Sturgis, 14th at the Class A regional and 33rd in the state final (17:41) after recovering from an illness.

"Steve is a confident runner who thrives on competition," Magni said. "He has a great deal of determination and ambition, but he's always looking out for his teammates. He's consistent, works hard and is determined -- a well-rounded individual.

Catholic Central: Fitzgerald saved his best for last, recovering from a mid-season demotion to the junior varsity to linish 41st at the state meet (17:45). Fitzgerald was ninth at the regional (17:09), fifth in the Operation Friendship (17:15) and 11th at the Catholic League (17:26) race.

Janue focuses on the big meets at the end and paced his season just as he paced his races," Magni said. "He is very well liked by everyone and a good runner who often sacrificed his personal gain for team gain.

lies together for the traditional turkey dinner, but it is also a day the local bowling centers stay open for people who wish to engage in their favorite pastime.

Many of these centers have scheduled some special activities for Thanksgiving weekend. Most of the events will take place in the morning, but there are also several houses with no-tap bowling partits in the evening.

The action varies from one place to another and I will explain just a few of the events here. You can find out more specifies on Thanksgiving activities by calling your local bowling center.

Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington Hills will host an adult-child tournament at noon Nov. 29. The cost is $15 per adultyouth team. For more information call Livonia's Merri Bowl Lanes will be the site of a tournament on Nov. 28 with a $100 first-place prize. The entry fee is $10 and the tournament begins at 7 p.m. Check-in time is 6:30 p.m.

Westland Bowl will have an adultyouth tournament in the morning and a no-tap doubles tournament in the evening on Thanksgiving Day. Call 722-7570 for starting times.

Westland's Oak Lanes will also have an adult-youth fournament. For more details, call the center at 422-7420. Bel Aire Lanes in Farmington will host a Turkey Shoot" for adult-youth teams on Thanksgiving Day at 11 a.m. The entry fee is $12; however, one bowler must be a league bowler from either Bel Aire, Mayflower Lanes or Woodland Lanes.

• Check your scores! Is the arithmetic correct? It's wise to take a moment to review the league scoresheet for errors before you turn it in and sign the score

This would have been good advice for Chris Campbell of the Sundowners League at Merri Bowl in Livonia. She bowled a line 254 game and 698 series. With that being her first 600 series, she brought the scoreshect home:

At home, Campbell discovered a twopin error by the scorekeeper. She should have been given a 256 which means a 700 series. Unfortunately, once the cards are. signed and the scoresheet has been removed, the scores are official. Nice bowl-

Phone: 478-7860

When you come to a rheumatologist for a scheduled appointment, you may be faced at times, with an inordinate wait. The doctor is not trying to assert his importance, rather, the delay is a result of a scheduling problem faced by every rheumatologist in daily practice.

of First is the unpredictable nature of joint pain and immobility. Second is that the schedule must make room for elderly persons who live alone, and who cannot drive. The office, almost daily, receives a call from a harried elderly person, living alone, who suddenly cannot walk, but must do so to continue self care and independent living. Furthermore, the person must see the doctor immediately, as now is the only time a friend

The alternative of going to angency room is expensive, and likely will take up a volunteer helper's complete day. A crisis exists for the caller, the office must see that person now. Scheduled people will have to wait. Most individuals with arthritis, can imagine themselves as needing such attention at a future date, and accept the delay in their appointment with cheme

CD to benefit Native Americans

By Larry O'Connor

Chris Staels went on a camping trip and ended up pitching a compact disc.

"Dream Catchers, Volume One" is a 14-song compilation CD featuring a brimming array of this area's musical talent. More so, the release is the culmination of several phone calls and tireless fund raising in what has become a unilateral effort from this area's music community - all to help the Tribal Bay Mills Community College of Michigan. Staels initiated things. He made a Fourth of in the Upper Peninsula en route to a camp site. What he found was a rather depressing atmosphere in the Chippewa community. "I was a bit disappointed in what I saw," said Staels, a 1979 graduate of Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School. "The kind of living conditions . . .

They just seemed to need some help.' Instead of just sending a check, the chief engineer of Paradise Post studio in Farmington Hills asked bands to contribute a song to a CD to sell. The numbers vary from folk to an anti-drug heavy metal song. Most of them center on Native Americans or the environment.

The goal is to raise $12,000 for the state's only Tribally Chartered Community College, which provides career oriented programs for Native Americans and residents of their neighboring communities. The money is matched by the federal government $2 for every dollar contributed.

PART OF the money will come from the sale of . 1,000 CDs at $10 each — all proceeds go to the reservation. "Dream Catcher's, Volume One" is available at area record outlets.

Other funds will come by way of live shows, such as the one Saturday, Nov. 23, at'Alvin's.

Native American artist Richard Cyr will perform along with other bands who contributed songs to the compact disc - Dropping Names, send a bunch of clothes to sell at a garage sale Billy Brandt, John D. Lamb & the Wild Blue, Cafe Zero, Red C, Deep Blue Lake, The Hope Orchestra, Barb Barton, The Pedestrians, The Waykools, Spiral Dance, The Lovekings and Four Winds.

Each act will perform 15-minute sets. The show starts at 8:30 p.m. with admission $5 at the door.

To get that many bands on one stage is a remarkable feat in itself. Part of the reason organizers say the effort has been largely devoid of egos, mainly everyone is more than happy to help

"I think people are more open to this because the other (benefits) were so political," said Asta Jurgutis of Farmington Hills and lead vocalist for The Hope Orchestra. "This one is different . . . A lot of us are getting more into the problem than just, 'Ya, we'll play.'

Jurgutis typifies the depth in which many people have become involved.

She's made a couple of pilgrimages to the Bay Mills Reservation to meet officials in order to convey the group's sincerity in the project. She's also helped organize publicity for the CD and the upcoming benefit show at Alvin's.

Then there is Mary McGuire of Dropping Names, who went around to businesses asking for donations and raised $2,300, not to mention awareness to the plight of Native Americans.

Not all contributions have been monetary. Security personnel and stage technicians at The Palace of Auburn Hills are providing their services at Saturday's show. Other acts are lending drum kits, amplifiers and even helping arrange limousine transportation to Saturday's show for officials of the Bay Mills Reservation. All of which hasn't gone unnoticed by people like John Lufkins, who is tribal administrator for the Bay Mills community college.

"You get a bunch of people calling. What can we do to help out?" Lufkins said. "T

. or they send a check. "THEIR EAGERNESS and dedication to do something was most impressive. You hear from people who will say, 'Yes, we'll do this,' but it never comes to fruit. These young people got together and worked hard at it and brought it to Lufkins said the money will go toward a trust during a 10-year period. The money would then be invested, with the interest used to pay for school Initially, there was wariness when Lurkins fund, part of an overall plan to raise $1 million received the first call from Staels when he proposed the idea of a compact disc. y

Then two weeks later, Jurgutis went to the reservation to meet with Lufkins. Periodically, Staels called to keep Lufkins updated on the progress of the project. First, Lufkins said Staels told him "Dream Catchers, Volume One" could raise $8,000. Then . a month later, Staels upgraded the figure to $10,000 and then recently to $12,000. "I said, 'Wow, I'm getting so I like to hear from you more and more, said Lufkins with a laugh.

Though the project has been the dream of Staels, he's rather low key by the early success of the effort. This is only the first part of what he sees as an ongoing quest to help Native Ameri-

"The '90s especially, I think, is going to generate some awareness and provide some justice," Staels said. "I think they deserve it. I think they're

Accidental tourists on pop front?

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Amid the buzz from the frontal guitar attack, Happy Accidents' lead singer Paul Einhaus realizes he's not being heard.

He doesn't stomp his feet or throw a fit. Instead, he calmly removes the hair from his eyes and cordially asks the sound man to give his microphone a boost.

And Einhaus says thank you, not once but twice. But don't confuse politeness for pop passivity. Happy Accidents will floss your teeth with their steel guitar strings, tearing through a gauntlet of ripe songs with unequivocal zeal on this night at Lill's 21.

"I think when you're playing live you play things faster because your adrenalin is pumping," said Einhaus, who lives in Farmington. Happy Accidents curry contradiction. On the one hand, there is this pop band with a lead singer whose voice cracks with vulnerability as he tackles the universal postpubescent

pop themes about teachers hated and mythical girls fancied. Then there is this band - guitarist Mike Crimmins, bassist Steve Prestl, drummer Jim Faulkner and Einhaus

Undoubtedly, Einhaus does that as the front man for the Happy Accidents willing to drape his soul over the microphone while stabbing away at his guitar on stage. Einhaus doesn't immediately strike you as someone who had a career history of playground pugilism. Rather, he comes across as someone who felt alienated during the whole process of growing up and is just feeling the need to strike back. Or, at least that's what songs such as "All My Teachers Were Failures" would suggest. "I'm in my mid-20s and I think I would've gotten over that by now," said Einhaus, 1982 graduate of Farmington High School. "I did hate

Scorsese goes off deep end in 'Cape Fear'

By John Monaghan staff writer:

The camera never stands still. It careens wildly around rooms, zooms in dramatically on characters' faces during key scenes, even tips upside down on occasion. Psychedelic-colored yellow, orange, and purple storm clouds gather over the homes of potential victims.

It's no surprise that "Cape Fear"; looks more like a Ken Russell movie than the work of Martin Scorsese. The director of "Taxi Driver" and "Goodfellas" wasn't originally taken with the idea of remaking the 1962 thriller but decided to have some fun and not treat too seriously the revenge tale he inherited.

The result is a visually inspired but still nasty little nail-biter that' adds an even greater psycho-sexual slant to an already sicko story.

The credits lead off with bizarre widescreen images, shot in black and white negative, of wild staring eyes, storm clouds, and birds of prey sweeping down for the kill. "The only thing to fear on those enchanted nights," remembers the young girl whose narration opens and closes the film, "is that reality would come crashing in."

That reality arrives in the clgarpuffing form of parolee Max Cady (Robert DeNiro), recently released from a 14-year stretch for rape. He has a score to settle with attorney Jack Bowden (Nick Nolte), who defended his case but withheld evidence that may have resulted in a lighter sentence.

Cady, illiterate upon entering prison, not only learned to read but devoured countless law books and the Bible. Craving emotional compensation from Bowden, he threatens to rape and torture both the lawyer's. wife (Jessica Lange) and his 15-year: old daughter (Juliette Lewis).

THIS PSYCHO is smart. He knows how to manipulate the law, staying just this side of breaking any rules.

Among other things, "Cape Fear" is about the injustice of the legal system and how past sins, even for the sanest of reasons, can return to haunt you.

DeNiro is brilliant, as usual. Here he's covered from head to toe with tattoos, primitively executed symbols of Truth and Justice and a broken heart bearing the name Loretta. He tries desperately to manipulate the frazzled emotions of the Bowden

By posing as a drama teacher in an Izod sweater, Cady lures the high schooler to a secluded auditorium, where the set recalls a cottage scene from Little Red Riding Hood, Cady wins her confidences by "connecting with" her like an adult, offering her marijuana and coaxing a nervous

He also employs veteran cinematugrapher Freddle Francis, a master of unnatural colors and moving cameras.

While at the hospital, Schneider tells the doctor that he feels there is a deep dark vold, which he fears falling in. It's an expansion of that feeling of foreboding which recurs throughout the film as Hanussen's accurate predictions — this is based Defending himself on in court on charges of being a charlatan, Hanus sen says he reads the question on everyone's mind, "What will happen to us?" In the political turmoil and severe economic depression the shattered countries of the former empire, everyone is at loose ends. "A vold is created. People fill it with the only thing left, hatred," he says.

Hanussen himself is startled as even his off-handed remarks prove to be accurate predictions. Political parties seek to use him for propaganda purposes although he remains Independent until his abilities are publicly challenged.

Time for teens to think spring

By Iris Sanderson Jones special writer

Spring may seem a long way away to you, but seniors from Novi, Livonia, Farmington, Groves and other high schools in the area are thinking about Easter week and spring break.

They have started gathering travel brochures about Daytona Beach and South Padre Island, about cruise ships and Caribbean destinations.

Charlotte Boedigheimer of Around the World Travel in Farmington spends a lot of her time as a travel agent thinking about the young. Every year she is involved in trips for the Global Education Department at Stevenson High School in Livonia. At this time of year, she thinks spring break.

A lot of cruise lines and resorts will not accept high school students traveling in groups during spring break, because they have learned the hard way about damaged rooms and injured guests. Those that will accept groups of students often ask for a very high deposit, just in case.

"Some travel agents accept a booking and don't tell the destination that it is a spring-break booking. Sometimes the kids get to their destination and they won't let them in.

"We always tell the destination that young people are coming, so we can ensure the spring breaker that he will get what he wants."

Around the World Travel has scheduled three Easter week packages for high school students and others.

A seven-night package to Cancun, Mexico, April 18-25 costs $704 a person for three people and $774 a person for two people. The price includes roundtrip air, transfers, the Calinda Viva Hotel, plus taxes and gratu-

A seven-night package for the same dates to the Radisson Hotel and Resort in South Padre Island costs $569 per person for four people in a room, $661 per person for three people in a room.

Charlotte thinks her cruise package aboard Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines' Song of America is of special interest, because both parents and cruise line know that the students are chaperoned by high school teach-

"Cruise ships will book one cabin at a time but they won't normally book groups. Our group tour is sanctioned because of the way we handle it," she said. "We hold a meeting ahead of time with the students, the teachers and the parents. We ask the students to sign a letter of agreed behavior."

The price for the seven-night cruise April 19-26 is $1,095 per person for four people in a cabin, $1,193 per person for three people in a cabin. The cruise goes to

Grand Cayman, Jamaica, Cozumel and Labadee. For information, call Charlotte at 476-3433. Or con-

A merry old English inn in Michigan

By Iris Sanderson Jones special writer

Dusty's English Inn is about treed lawns and English gardens wrapped around a tudor mansion on a grassy knoll near Eaton Rapids, Mich., but most of all it's. about people.

It's about the auto magnate whose family frolicked down the sweep of lawn to the Grand River. It's about the local diners who were once groundskeepers and ladies maids on the property. It's about Dusty Rhodes, who was in the radio and newspaper business in Michigan for many years before he moved to Britain and fell in love with English country life.

Ask Dusty to show you the old photographs taken when the house was being built by Irving J. Reuter, president of Oldsmobile, especially the photo dated August 1927. Dusty was born Clarence Rhodes on Aug. 8, 1927, son of a Flint assembly worker. He was destined to be called Dusty Rhodes and he was destined to own

When I turned off M-99 13 miles south of Lansing I saw at once why this 23-room Tudor mansion, that looks like a little sister of Meadowbrook Hall in Rochester, is called an "English inn." The two-story brick mansion, with the sloping slate roofs, is straight from the midlands of England.

In England, boaters might punt along the Grand River and enter the inn from the river side, climbing uphill past the colonnaded swimming pool and the gazebo, through the stepped gardens to the house. I entered along the slate path from the parking lot.

Inn worker Jane Kuderko, born and raised in Howell, welcomed me into the large open hall, which has full views left to the Devonshire Room, right to the Midford Room and up the staircase with its hunter green carpet to the second floor.

Jane led me upstairs, past rooms with names like Windsor and Avon to the end of the hall. "You're in the bathroom." At least that is what I thought she said. I had asked for their least expensive room, but I didn't expect to have to sleep in the bathtub.

It was, of course, the Bath Room, a huge green-tiled bathroom that led into a smaller 10-by-12-foot bedroom, with a four-poster bed and leaded windows that opened front and side. A bit of Dusty Rhodes whimsy. Dusty has a second home in Bath, England, so you will find small references to Bath all over the inn. Dusty was still a television news executive when he moved to London with his wife and five children in the 1970s. He fell in love with English country life and spent his weekends exploring inns, pubs and bed-and-breakfast places. He came home to Michigan, quit the news business, opened a bakery and later a wine bar and pub in Okemos.

Dusty knows how to answer when opportunity knocks. In 1989 he heard about this mansion from the author of a bed-and-breakfast guide book. He saw the initial "R" carved for auto magnate Irving Reuter on the fireplace mantle and knew he was home.

Reuter had sold the place to the Catholic Diocese of Lansing in 1940, the bishop's chapel is now the Charles Dickens Pub. The diocese sold the house to Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Sumner in 1962. The Sumners sold it to Dusty on condition that their granddaughter could be married there the next summer.

The inn has been open for nearly two years and has become a popular dining place for Lansing people and those who know enough to turn south off I-96 near Lansing. The inn opened a full-service dining room that spreads through all its downstairs rooms this year.

The least-expensive guest room in the house is the Bath Room, $75 for two, the most expensive is the Windsor Suite, $155 for two. Dinner entrees, which include salad, vegetables, potatoes and bread, range from $13.50 to $18 during Monday through Saturday seatings or at the special English Sunday lunch. Weekday lunches feature soup, salad and sandwiches.

For information, contact your travel agency or Dusty's English Inn, 728 S. Michigan Ave., Eaton Rapids, Mich. 48827 or call (517) 663-2500.

ABC's of turkey cookery

Anyone in the food business has heard all there is to hear about the tragedles involved with preparing the traditional holiday turkey. The stories of cooking the bird with the bag of giblets and neck intact abound.

Today, this space will be devoted to the simple basics of turkey cookery. If you need recipes for "caper-basted turkey with lingonberry stuffing" look elsewhere.

During this time of year, turkeys are available two ways: frozen and fresh. If you're just starting out, you'll probably be buying a frozen bird because they are the least expensive. Be prepared to pay from 69 cents to upwards of $1.39 per pound for a basic frozen turkey. Prices start at $1.59 per pound for a fresh turkey, and the more organic and naturally fed, the higher in price they are.

BEFORE COOKING, you will have to defrost a frozen turkey. The safest way to defrost a frozen bird is to remove it from the freezer 3 days before cooking and allow it to defrost slowly in the bottom of the refrigerator. Countertop or sink defrosting is not recommended because bacteria loves room-temperature food. Contrary to popular belief, microwave defrosting is not defrosting but actually "cooking" at a lower power, so last-minute nuking is not advised.

After the turkey has been defrosted, remove it from the package. This is a feat in itself, especially when trying to wrestle with a 30 pound dead-weight bird. Using your best ingenuity, remove that metal bracket that holds the leg tips close to the body cavity. It's very difficult but should be done. Now reach inside the cavity and search the crevice as far as you can reach, looking for a plastic or paper baggle filled with the giblets and neck. Remove this bag and rinse the bird under cold running water.

Now check the entire skin on the outside of the bird, looking for misplucked pinfeathers. Remove them with a knife or tweezers if necessary. If the bird is to be stuffed, it does not need to be seasoned before roasting. If you wish to cook an unstuffed bird, lightly salt and pepper the inside of the cavity. Do not stuff the bird until ready to roast.

If the bird is to be stuffed, pack the stuffing loosely into the bird, as the stuffing will expand during roasting.

When it comes to roasting the bird, momma always recommends placing the bird on a rack in a roasting pan. You can purchase poultry racks, but I have found that a cheap stainless steel cake rack works just as well.

PLACE THE bird breast side up on the rack and brush with butter, margarine, vegetable oil or shortening or a combination of any and all. Do not add water and most of all, do not cover. This is a highly debatable point, as momma covers and I don't. I think the bird tastes "steamy" rather than "roasty" when covered. Roast the bird in a 325degree oven. You can, if desired, place a tent of foil over the bird when it begins to turn golden to keep from over-browning it.

After about one hour of cooking, baste the bird with the pan drippings or continue to brush with fat mixture or a very rich chicken broth. Continue basting bird every 30 minutes until cooked. The most accurate method for doneness is checking with a meat thermometer inserted in the most meaty part of the bird, away from a bone. When it reaches 185 degrees, the turkey is done. Cooking times are: 6-8 pounds, 3-31/2 hours; 8-12 pounds, 31/2-41/2 hours: 12-16 pounds, 414-514 hours: 16-20 pounds, 534-634 hours; 20-24 pounds, 614-7 hours; 24-28 pounds, 714-8 hours. Subtract 30-45 minutes for unstulled birds. See recipes inside.

Maltese relish home-cooked, varied cuisine

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

HE CUISINE of Malta is as varied, adventurous and colorful as the history of the Mediterranean nation itself.

Like the people of Malta, Maltese food is straightforward and inviting. Since the sixth century, the archi-pelago 58 miles south of Sicily has been occupied by the Phoenicians,

Romans; Arabs; a military order of the Roman Catholic Church; the French, and from 1814 to 1964, the British.

MALTESE COOKS have capitalized on the best of each culture, excelling with the most plentiful foodstuffs - dishes such as rabbit, octopus and fish.

Mainstays include homemade soups; vegetables like stuffed artichoke and eggplant; pastas; meat pies; pastry; and desserts made with cheeses, custard, dates and macaroons.

An accomplished cook, Livonia's Michelle Pisani lived in Malta from the age of 5 until she moved back to the United States with her family a few years ago at the age of 20.

In a recent interview, she didn't disagree with a reporter who opined that Maltese food is delicious.

"That's why everyone in Malta is overweight," said Pisani with a laugh. "The Maltese love to eat. I've been on a diet most of my life."

It's no accident that the Maltese relish their cuisine, and spend a large amount of time preparing three home-cooked meals a day. Food wasn't always as bountiful as it

"During the war (World War II), people had to eat dogs and cats, or they would have starved," said Pisani, adding that Malta was one of the most heavily bombed targets in the war. "Our sugar, flour and eggs were rationed until 1975 when the English finally left."

Years ago the Maltese weren't as _ents met in Detroit.

Upcoming events, dinners

One of the largest Maltese communities in the country took root in Detroit's Corktown near Trumbull and 12th Street, eventually branching out to surrounding suburbs.

The Maltese-American Benevolent Society still thrives in Corktown, the city's oldest neighborhood, at 1832 Michigan Ave.

The club is a favorite gathering place for pool, card and bingoplaying retirees, and on the first Friday of every month, the society serves a dinner preceded by a

Members of the American Maltese Community Club of Dearborn at 5221 Oakman Blvd. in Dearborn also gather the first Friday of every month for a 7 p.m. Mass and a meal.

Upcoming events at the club include the Miss Malta Contest Nov. 30, a Children's Christmas Party Dec. 22 and a New Year's Eve Party Dec. 31.

concerned about their sugar or cholesterol intake.

"A lot of people my dad's age are experiencing heart trouble. There were years they didn't eat balanced meals. People now are getting to be more conscientious about healthful eating," said Pisani, who in Malta worked as a secretary for the man who is currently prime minister.

Pisani now buys her octopus and rabbit at Kroger or Meijer. In Malta, it was much simpler.

"My brother would fish for octopus, knock it against a stone, clean it and barbecue it. We would add tomato sauce, bay leaf, and red wine. You can't get any fresher than that," said Pisani, whose Maltese-born par-

Mary Ann Alcala learned how to make baked macaroni, a family favorite, at her mother's Pisani learned not to name or play with the rabbits and chickens her dad raised in the backyard. "My brother-in-law would come over, kill them and skin them, and we wouldn't talk to him for a week," she said, admitting that rabbit is more tender and flavorful than chicken.

At John Hancock in Farmington Hills where she works, Pisani's Maltese "timpana" is a hit on ethnic food days.

"They always want that, and pastizzis." Pisani said of her co-workers

While dealing on a daily basis with the tastes, schedules and temperaments of my husband and our three sons, I recently came up with an idea that might bring about sweeping changes in the American kitchen - vending machines. Just think of the possibilities, no fuss, and best of all, no complaints as each family member would be able to simply press a button and get exactly what he or she wanted to eat. Now before you start ripping out your kitchen cupboards to accommodate a bank of machines, read on, as this week's Winner Dinner is an easy to make, delicious meal that is sure to be enjoyed by

SUBMITTED BY Nanine Savoie Flechsig of Birmingham, this week's menu includes recipes for Spinach Lasagna served with a tossed salad and garlic bread and Swedish Creme with raspberries.

The mother of two young children, Flechsig and her husband, Peer, have lived in Birmingham all of their lives. Flechsig assists her husband at home with some of the paper work generated from his company, Peerless Painting and Improvements, a building and contracting company that he started more than five years ago.

He recently added a second story to their bungalow which took over seven months to complete. Flechsig laughingly commented that while he built a house, she built a baby and they were thrilled to be able to complete both projects about the same time.

Flechsig enjoys gardening in her spare time, but mostly loves being with her children. Although she enjoys baking cookies and cakes, her husband does most of the cooking on a daily basis — lucky girl!

Maltese relish home-cooked food

Mary Ann Alcala, baked macaroni is a treat her Maltese-Mexican family look forward to on Sundays and holi-

'Alcala's husband, sons, daughtersin-law and grandchildren "love Maltese food, especially baked macaroni. It's a favorite," said Alcala of Farmington Hills.

Alcala's baked macaroni recipe (see recipe this page) was difficult to put on paper, because she learned it not from a cookbook, but at her mother's side. It was a recipe Josephine Cassar knew by heart from the time she was a girl growing up in Malta.

Alcala has changed the recipe a little. "It's derived from my mom's recipe, but everyone when they cook puts a little bit of themselves into it. I don't put pork in, and I add tomato sauce. But it's basically my mother's recipe," she said.

In the Cassar household in Corktown where Alcala spent her childhood, home-cooked family meals were a high priority. Homemade red wine and bread baked by her father were served, and Alcala was in heaven when her mom made her favorite - baked rice. That dish is made with long grain rice, milk, pork, beef, bacon, ricotta cheese, eggs, tomato sauce and seasoning. 'We always ate at home. We rarely went out to eat," said Alcala, adding that it was the same in most Maltese households in Corktown.

"On Sundays, my mom went to early Mass, then got dinner ready. We had dinner at 1 p.m. In the afternoon, we'd go for a ride, to Belle Isle or Elizabeth Park. In the evening, my mother would warm up whatever she had if we were hungry. Then I'd do my homework, or listen to the Lux Radio Theater with my Turkey Tale essay contest a success. We received many entries and our sides are still sore from laughing. Look for the winners, and their essays in next week's Taste.

Turkey trivia - Domesticated turkeys cannot fly. Wild turkeys can fly for short distances up to 55 miles an hour and can run 24 miles an-

According to the National Turkey Federation, in 1991, about 300 million turkeys were raised. They "guesstimate" that 45 million of those turkeys were eaten at Thanksgivings, 23 million at Christmas and 19 million at Easter.

FOR THOSE of you headed to the

Thank you readers for making our store to buy the big bird, allow at least a pound of uncooked turkey per person when buying a whole turkey.

> As far as feasts go, Thanksgiving is one of the most economical. The American Farm Bureau Federation reported that the traditional Thanksgiving meal cost $28.85 to serve-10 people in 1990. The menu included turkey, stuffing, sweet potatoes, peas, rolls, cranberries, a relish dish, beverages and pumpkin ple with whipped cream.

If you have a small family, hate dark meat, or are counting calories, bere's a wonderful recipe Lynne, Loren of West Bloomfield sent in Made with apple cider, and two kinds of apples, this turkey breast recipe is sure to please. The recipe is from Elwin's Tu-Go in Royal Oak.

CIDER-GLAZED ESCALLOPES OF TURKEY BREAST

Yield: 6 to 8 servings

I small or one half of large fresh turkey breast, skin removed 1/2 cup smooth Dijon mustard 14 cup canola oil coarse ground black pepper 1 bay leaf vup apple cider

% cup de-falled chicken stock

8 delicious apples (4 red & 4 yellow), cored & cut into rings or wedges

Preheat oven to 475 degrees. Combine the mustard and canola oil and smear all over the turkey breast half. Shake the pepper evenly all over (amount of pepper, your choice). Place the turkey on a roasting rack on a baking sheet or shallow baking par. On the bottom of the baking sheet, place the bay leaf, cider and chicken stock.

about 20 minutes. Reduce head to 325 degrees and cook for approximately 45 minutes (check for doneness), basting periodically with pan liquids. Ten minutes before it is completely cooked, add the apple pieces to the bottom of the pan to-cook. When done, remove turkey and cut into an equal number of scallops with a serrated knife. Place them on. a warmed platter. Remove the cooked apples and garnish turkey with them. Remove bay leaf from pan juices, place juices in gravy boat and serve with turkey.

the focus of the meal. Tip of the week, compliments of Betty Crocker. Thanksgiving turkey will taste best if roasted on Thanksgiving Day. If you're trying to save time, mix all dry ingredients - bread crumbs and spices for stuffing and have them ready to mix with remaining ingredients just before stuffing the turkey on Thanksgiving Day.

What it means when the label says reserve wine

Value-laden descriptors adorn the modern-day, domestic wine label. The consumer is faced with Reserve, Proprietor's Reserve, Private Reserve, Private Selection, Cellar Selection, and Special Selection to name a few. If vineyard designations and proprietary names are added, the array of descriptive words borders on bewildering.

Do the host of wines bearing such designations merit the mark of distinction they confer? Are these toaded terms persuasive marketing devices for the uninitiated wine drink-

Italy has particular laws governing the use of the descriptors riserva and riserva speciale on the label. Riserva wines are aged in wood one year longer than a non-reserve wife. Riserva speciale, wines receive two to three years' additional aging in wood before bottling.

DOMESTIC WINE laws do not regulate the use of reserve label designations and only a few wineries employing them make an effort to inform consumers of their meaning. Are these phrases a guarantee of high quality or merely a sales gim-

Sonoma County's Simi Winery looked to Webster's to define their focus. "Reserve means to set apart or to hold for the future," says president Zelina Long. This clearly expresses our Intention - to create wines of exceptional quality that will age well.

"The concept of a reserve wine is always relative to the producer's regular line of wines," says Jim Clendenen, winemaker at Au Bon Climat Winery, Los Olivos, Calif. "It means nothing in relation to products produced by other wineries. The only thing a well-intentioned winery can guarantee is that their reserve wine will be closer to an optimal expression of their stylistic intentions than will any of their regular bot-

Eleanor and Ray Heald

"Private Reserve has traditionally designated our best wine," comments Beringer Vineyard's winemaker Ed Sbragia. We want to be able to put our best tots of wine into a blend in order to make the best wine possible in a particular style.'

"Developing reserve wines gives us a chance to take small quantities of the very best wines we produce and craft them into special wines with no compromises." savs winemaker Paul Dolan of Fetzer Vineyards. "Instead of just disappearing into our regular wine prograin, they provide us with a challenge and enhance our image as a winery producing a super-premium product."

IF THE reserve designation does not correspond to a special quality in the wine, then it is just a marketing 1987 Beringer Private Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon, Napa Valley ($35). Speaking of reserve wines, here is one of the very best in California. Elevated aromas emphasize spice and blackberry with elements of cranberry and leather glove. Everything promised on the nose is delivered on the palate.

1987 Creston Vineyards Cabernet Sauviguon, Paso Robles ($12) respresents a delicious example of what is being produced on California's Central Coast. Blackberry and black cherry characters are enhanced by attractive oak in a complex mouthful for the nioney.

BASIC BREAD STUFFING 1 1/2 cups chopped celery, with leaves

34 cup finely chopped onion 34 cup butter or margarine

9 cups soft bread cubes or dry stuffing mix

1 teaspoon salt 35 teaspoon ground sage

32 teaspoon dried thyme 1/4 teaspoon pepper

Saute onion and celery in 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine until tender, about 4 minutes. Melt remaining butter or margarine. Combine all ingredients in a large bowl and mix well. Makes 5 cups stuffing, enough for an 8-10 pound bird.

For a different stuffing: a) Try cornbread chunks instead of bread for a cornbread stuffing. b) Add 3 cups chopped apples and % cup raisins that were soaked in water, wine or liquor for 1 hour for an apple-raisin stuffing. c) Stuffing can be cooked in a lightly greased casserole. (Cover and bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour.) d) Giblet stuffing is very tasty.

Simmer the heart, gizzard and the neck from turkey in water or white wine for 2 hours at a slow simmer. Drain. Remove neck. Chop giblets and add to any stuffing mixture. e) For a sausage stuffing, crumble and brown 1 pound sausage and drain before mixing with any bread

Just for brides

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcement of engagements and weddings. All announcements are published on a first-come-first-served basis

Information sent must be legible and include a daytime telephone number so if there is a question the staff can call.

Photos submitted should, preferably, be black-and-while glossies, 5 x 7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted, but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office, or if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo, every effort will be made to return it. However, photos do get lost because so many are handled every month. There is just no guarantee the photo will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Farmington and Farmington Hills should be addressed to Suburban Life Editor, The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336.

Inquiries are taken by Rose Butler in the Farmington Observer office, 477-5450.
