Students' nerves were rattled Thursday when a Wayne-Westland school bus window was pierced by what some feared could be a bullet.

About 30 Wayne Memorial High School students were on the bus but none was injured - when the object pierced a lower window, rapidly crossed through the bus and burst through an upper window on the opposite side of the bus, Wayne police and school officials said.

The incident occurred at 2:40 p.m. Thursday as bus No. 23 was taking students home from school. The bus was southbound on Venoy, just south of Michigan Avenue, in Wayne.

'They were shocked. Boom! They were sitting on a bus and it happened," Wayne Memorial Principal Ronald Stratton said. "Some students reacted by ducking."

School officials and police talked with students Friday, and the incident remained under investigation.

"We'd like to find out what it (the projectile) was and who did it," Stratton said.

Wayne police released few details of the incident. "We're still investigating it so we're not really saying much," Sgt. Chris Johnson said.

He indicated that police may have learned what the projectile was, but he wouldn't divulge the information. School officials said they hadn't been told.

U.S. Rep. William Ford says his prescription for curing the nation's health care problem will cost no more - and maybe less - than the current system of providing health care through insurance companies.

America spends more per capita . on health care than another industrial nation but "36 million persons, in-cluding one million in Michigan, still fall between the cracks" and don't have access to the health care system, said Ford, whose district in-cludes Westland, Garden City, Canton Township and the southern portion of Livonia.

Ford, a Democrat, is chairman of the House Labor and Education Committee.

Wayne-Westland Schools Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, whose threemonth medical leave ends in eight days, still hasn't told the school board whether he expects to return to work.

"We have not heard a word from him," board President Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek sald Thursday, "I'm very disappointed. I felt that he should have been in touch with a school official to let the board know what his intentions are, so that the board could plan."

Sean Patrick Mattice hopes the driver who hit him as he walked with his girlfriend along Henry Ruff Road has a guilty conscience.

"I don't think it's right that he ran me over and put me in the hospital like that," the 33-year-old Inkster man said Friday during a telephone conversation from Annapolis Hospital in Wayne. "He might do it again, and the next time somebody could . get killed."

Mattice and his flancee were walking north on Henry Ruff near Palmer to a convenience store on the Westland-Inkster border when a car suddenly veered toward them. Mattice pulled his girlfriend from the path of the car but was struck himself.

The incident occurred at 12:30 a.m. on Friday, Jan. 17.

Mattice left the hospital Friday to recover from broken bones in both legs, Doctors who performed surgery on him have told him that he won't be able to walk on his right leg for seven months, he said.

The unemployed Mattice, a former steel worker, has no health insurance. He's worrled about his hospital bills, though it's possible he'll receive help through Medicald. He said he believes the driver who hit him should come forward and pick up the tab.

"I'm going to owe beaucoup bucks," Mattice said. "I don't think somebody should get away with something like that. I just want this guy to come forward and turn himself in."

Mattice hopes the hit-and-run driver lives in Westland, Inkster or a nearby community and that he will read news accounts of the incident and feel guilty.

Inkster police have been handling the incident, and no arrest had been made as of Friday. Mattice couldn't provide police with much information to help them in their search.

"It all happened so fast, and L didn't get a good look at the car," he said. "The drivet didn't even have his headlights turned on.

"I just hope he gets a guilty con-science and turns himself in," Mattice added. "This is just not right."

Bill Taylor, the district's associate superintendent for employee services, said he had talked with Wayne police officials Friday and had been told that "there's not been a final determination made" about the projectile.

Police and school officials plan to meet sometime this week to further discuss the incident, though a meeting place and time hadn't been arranged Friday afternoon.

It didn't appear that the district could take steps to reduce the chances of such unpredictable incidents happening. Changing bus routes wouldn't lessen the chances, Taylor said.

Stratton said he had received only two telephone calls from parents on Friday. Police had completed their investigation inside bus No. 23, which had been returned to the road Friday afternoon after its windows were repaired, Stratton said.

Rep. Ford says his U.S. health plan is better

Speaking Thursday morning be-fore 80 people at the Garden City Osteopathic Hospital's seniors' club, . Ford said that "people now fall between the cracks because we have a lousy system of (health services) distribution."

In an interview before his talk to : the group, Ford said that he expects Congress to adopt some form of national health insurance plan by the end of this year, possibly by midyear.

Before the seniors' group, he said:

"THE QUESTION isn't whether we should have a national insurance plan, but what kind we should have," he said in describing the lengthy debates in Congress and the nation before Medicare for elderly people was adopted in 1965. That concept was first proposed in 1939, Later, it was pushed by then President Harry Truman in 1948 and bitterly opposed by the medical profession who feared it would turn become socialized medicine.

"The current debate (over national health insurance) is similar in many ways to the debate which gave us the Medicare program in 1965. The final product was a combination of the best and most doable," said Ford, expected to run for a 15th two-year term this year.

On his and other proposals now being discussed in Congress, Ford predicted that the final version will probably be a combination of various plans. He noted that U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has a similar plan to his now before the Senate.

Even President George Bush, who earlier opposed national health insurance, said he will propose his own version in his State of the Union address this week.

The congressman said his proposal will address the problem of persons and dependants losing health coverage when they lose their jobs or switch jobs.

"My proposal will ensure that all workers and their dependents are covered by health insurance," he said. "For the better part of this century, this responsibility has come at 'The question isn't whether we should have a national 🖓 insurance plan, but what kind we should have.'

the workplace. Reform should build upon this employee/employer relationship.'

BUT FORD said his proposal stresses that young people, from birth through 21, would have access to "adequate preventive and acute health care. Healthy bodies and healthy minds are critical in enabling America's children to be ready to learn in school.

"Proper health care for our children and grandchildren must not be an economic choice among the necessities of life," he continued.

Ford claimed that "for every dollar the commercial insurance industry spends on claims, it spends between 5 and 40 percent on administration, marketing and overhead" with the Medicare figure being 2.3 percent and the Canadian national health insurance program just 1.9 percent.

The overhead costs for small businesses may exceed 40 percent of ; health insurance premiums with the figure soaring to 75 percent of claims paid.

GARY LEY, Garden City Hospital's president and chief executive officer, said after Ford's talk that : the current health insurance system ; must be changed, but he believed that it should still utilize private insurance companies to provide competition.

Ley added that his hospital lost $1 million last year through non-reimbursed services to patients.

O'Neill had about 250 sick days accumulated when he began his 90-day leave. Therefore he still has about 160 days he could use.

O'NEILL ANGRILY announced plans to retire after Kozorosky-Wiacek and board members Vicki Welty, Laurel Raisanen and Fred Warmbier formed a majority and told him in October to step down or be ousted. They have called for new leadership, though board members Kathy Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak supported Q'Neill.

O'Neill's administration has suffered repeated controversies in the last two years. Proposals for a school tax increase failed three times before voters finally approved a 7.75-mill plan last June, but the community remains deeply divided over the issue.

O'Neill's administration also drew criticism for a board-approved contract last February that gave teachers an 11.9-percent raise over two years. The raises came amid the threat of massive program cuts for students, but the cuts were averted when the tax increase was approved.

Encore Wayne Memorial hosts a 2nd visit by black troupe

A three-member troupe of black actors from Wayne State University visited Wayne Memorial High School's \auditorium on Friday, making its second visit to the Wayne-Westland school in as many vears.

The Black Theater Touring Co. performed for 200 students a production of "Zora Neale Hurston: The Story of the Queen of the Har-lem Renaissance," a play written by New Yorker Laurence Holder.

"This is a very popular play at the moment," Jerry Cleveland, the company's director, said.

The Wayne State group received special rights to perform the play, which also is being performed in a nationwide tour by the National Black Touring Co. That group recently made a stop in Ann Arbor.

The Wayne State company's visit to Wayne Memorial helped kick off Black History Month, which will be celebrated in February. It also came on the heels of last week's observance of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

Cleveland said he had wanted to put on a production of "Zola Neale Hurston" after seeing it performed in 1989 in New York. The company will be performing the one-hour play through April at various locations throughout the metropolitan Detroit area.

Accused gunman was incompetent, lawyer suggests

By Darrell Clem staff writer

A Westland man accused of trying. to kill his wife during a domestic dispute may have been mentally incompetent when he shot her with a sawed-off shotgun, his attorney said Thursday.

Attorney Victor Farneti raised the issue Thursday as Harry Ransom, 37, appeared before 18th District Judge Gail McKnight for a preliminary examination to determine if he should stand trial for shooting and wounding his 35-year-old wife, Janice.

At Farneti's request, McKnight delayed the exam until March 26 so that Ransom can receive a psychiatric evaluation at a state forensic center near Ypsilanti.

In another development, Farneti raised concerns about Ransom's health in the county jail, where he remains under a $250,000 cash bond. Ransom has diabetes, is awaiting a kidney transplant and has received a quadruple heart bypass, Farneti said. He administers dialysis treatment to himself.

Ransom's friends and family are worried that his condition could deteriorate in jail and possibly become life-threatening. On Thursday, Farneti asked McKnight to let Ransom leave jail and seek treatment at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbör.

FARNETI TOLD McKnight that Ransom's limbs had swollen, "and I'm afraid the defendant is going to suffer:"

But McKnight rejected Farneti's request and said the county provides medical help for jailed defendants.

Ransom has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder, amid accusations he fired a single shot from a .12-gauge shotgun and wounded his wife in the thigh and stomach. She remains in stable condition at a nearby hospital that authorities have declined to name.

Janice Ransom told Westland police that her husband shot her during a 5:40 p.m. Jan. 15 argument, at their Bakewell Street home, southwest of the Wayne-Warren intersection near Westland Center. The Ransoms, who have two sons ages 14 and 17, are involved in divorce proceedings.

Police found Janice Ransom shot and bleeding - but conscious - when they responded to a 911 telephone call from the residence. Her husband had left the scene but surrendered to Michigan State Police about five hours later in Jackson, Westland police Sgt. Don Haigh has said.

Ransom could face life in prison if convicted of trying to murder his wife. He also could face a mandatory two-year term for a felony firearms charge.

ON THURSDAY, Farneti requested that Ransom receive a psychiatric evaluation because "I'm not sure if he understands what's really going on. I don't know if he can assist in his defense."

Ransom stood mute during an earlier arraignment and a plea of not guilty was entered in court on his behalf.

"We're really questioning whether he was mentally competent at the time (of the shooting)," Farneti said.

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Charles Grant said that, even if Farneti succeeds in proving Ransom mentally incompetent, prosecutors would petition to have him placed in a state institution until he becomes capable of standing trial.

After the shooting, Ransom apparently fled to Jackson because he had a friend there, Sgt. Haigh has said. En route to Jackson, Ransom telephoned Westland police several times to check on his wife's condition, Haigh said.

Haigh told Judge McKnight that Ransom had wanted to kill someone other than his wife, though police haven't identified the person. Before Ransom turned himself in, he had warned police that he would kill : himself or force police to shoot him, trather than be arrested, Haigh told McKnight.

City council takes a dim view of mayor's proposed 'mixer'

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, hoping to ease his bruised relations with the city council, has invited council members to mingle with his department heads during an informal social gathering next week.

Some council members applauded the effort, but others criticized it and appeared doubtful of a breakthrough in relations that have worsened in recent weeks.

"I don't need hors d'oeuvres and drinks to know what cooperation is," Councilman Thomas Brown said, though he didn't rule out attending the social.

The mayor has scheduled the twohour get-together for Feb. 6 in the Bailey Recreation Center. It will come exactly one month after relations reached a new low during a stormy council session.

The mayor came under intense fire Jan. 6, two days after his administration boycotted a special session in which the council held talks with developers planning a large senior citizens complex on Marquette Road, between Carlson and Wayne.

THOMAS, SAYING his directors already work some evenings and weekends without extra pay, didn't order them to attend the meeting.

Thomas angered even his most ardent supporters. His critics had already become increasingly upset, accusing the mayor of a clampdown on communications for requiring council members to go through his office to seek reports from his directors.

Now, Thomas appears hopeful that next week's social will at least begin to mend relations.

"It's just a get-together between the staff and the council so they can get a little more familiar with each other," he said, adding later, "I hope to get everybody to feel more like a team. It's an attempt to make things work a little more smoothly."

Thomas wouldn't say whether he plans to lift his order requiring council-requested reports to be channeled through his office. But he indicated he will make some announcements at the social.

"His announcements don't mean a damn thing," Councilman Brown said, adding that the mayor must learn to back up any announcements with action.

COUNCILMAN KENNETH Mehl, one of the mayor's fiercest critics, assumed a softer stance and indicated that the social could be a first step toward improved-relations.

"I would think there's probably potential for doing that," he said. Mehl plans to attend the meeting if he's in town, but he appeared unsure of what to expect.

"I don't even know what this thing is about," Mehl said.

Council members Sharon Scott and Terri Reighard-Johnson were among those who agreed that the mayor's latest action deserved mer-

"I think it's a step in the right direction, but I don't know how much good it's going to do," Scott said. There are some fences that will never be mended. But I think it's an -excellent-idea."

Reighard-Johnson agreed that Thomas shouldn't expect dramatic results from the social gathering.

"I don't think it's going to change a whole lot," she sald. "But, in my opinion. I think it's at least showing some good faith on the part of the mayor. At least it's a step in the right direction."

Westland Center evicting India Gifts

By Darrell Clem staff writer.

Amid allegations of discrimination, Westland Center officials have ended a decade-long dispute with a business tenant who has been ordered to move out by Tuesday.

Prantosh Nag, a native of India, accused mall officials of discrimination for refusing him a lease and forcing him to close India Gifts International, which has sold imported gifts for 17 years at Westland's largest retail center.

Mall officials denied the charges and said they need to close Nag's business and seek a new tenant one that will draw more customers and benefit the center's long-term market strategy.

"They are forcing me out," Nag said Thursday. "I've been blacklisted. I feel that it's not what I sell, but it's me. They have come to dislike me, and I think my rights have been violated.'

at Schoolcraft College, had paid his rent through January and collected 3,000 signatures from customers whom he said want him to remain at Westland Center.

Nag and mall officials have clashed over each lease renewal since 1982. One dispute resulted in a discrimination suit in 1990 that Nag lost in Wayne County Circuit Court.

ALTHOUGH NAG has remained in the mail on a month-to-month lease, paying $2,300 a month, mall officials have now obtained an eviction order from 18th District Court ordering India Gifts closed by Tuesday. Nag indicated he will give up his fight.

'There's nothing else to do," he said.

Mall spokeswoman Cathy O'Malley denied any personal vendetta against Nag and said the mall hasn't discriminated against him.

"The center is remerchandising its marketplace and tenant needs," she the mail. "That store has become an Nag, who also leaches economics said, adding later that Nag's store institution in that mall," he said

"was not one that we saw as a continuing need for the property at this time.'

In another dispute, Nag criticized mall officials for forcing him last week to remove storefront signs noting that merchandise was on sale because he was being forced out of business.

O'Malley, the director of communily relations for General Growth Center Cos., confirmed that the signs were ordered removed because they failed to comply with requirements spelled out in Nag's lease.

"He was in non-compliance," she said.

But Nag responded that he needed the signs to reduce his stock, and he said he believes his rights were violated.

He will run in District 1, which includes Wayne and five other southeastern Michigan counties. Appeals judges are elected from three multicounty districts. A nonpartisan primary will be held Aug.

Ward had been in private practice until 1986 when Prosecutor John O'Hair tapped him as chief assistant. Ward has concentrated on:

Primary setup 'an absolute mess'

By Tim Richard staff writer

If you want to vote in the Republican presidential primary March 17, you'd best declare your party affiliation by Feb. 18.

To vote in the Democratic primary, you can declare yourself a Democrat March 17.

"It's an absolute mess," said Republican state Rep. Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills. But it's the bestadvice the Grand Old Party can give its followers at this point.

Meanwhile, Michigan voters, accustomed to open primaries, continue to gripe about the party declaration rule.

Why the difference between parties?

DEMOCRATIC Party national rules say delegates to the national convention must come from a Democrats-only system - either caucuses or a closed primary.

The party says its rules take precedence over state law, and the U.S. Supreme Court says the Democrats are right. "The National Democratic . Party and its adherents enjoy a constitutionally protected right of political association," said the higest court.

Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley ruled, "Where a political party rule of general application contradicts a state statute, the rule prevails.

After the Michigan Legislature passed a '30-day party declaration law to accommodate the Democrats, the state Democratic Party adopted a same-day declaration rule. Said Kelley. "The rule also prohibits individuals who have previously filed a different party preference from declaring their Democratic party preference.

As usual, people must be registered to vote 30 days before the primary, but Democrats can declare their affiliation at the polls.

REPUBLICAN national rules say. state law takes precedence. Michi-. gan law says they must declare party preference by Feb 18.

Dolan said House Republicans last week tried to force a bill out of committee to allow an open primary. The discharge effort failed on party lines

"A number of Democrats chose not to vote so they're not on record as voting for an open primary," she said

It's possible that the Republican State Committee could adopt a rule allowing same-day declaration, she said. But that would put the state party rule in conflict with the national rule.

So for now the official Republican advice is: "If you plan on voting, you'd better declare."

THE DEMOCRATIC bailot will have the names of Sen. Tom Harkinof Iowa, Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, former Goy, Jerry Brown of California, former Sen. Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts and Sen. Bob Kerrey of Nebraska.

The Republican ballot will have the names of President George Bush, columnist Patrick Buchanan and state Rep. David Duke of Louisiana.

A Republican strategy may be to stick with the 30-day declaration rule, however unpopular, because it might hold down the turnout for former Ku Klux Klansman Duke.

Livonia teachers jump at early retirment, bonus

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Sixly-five elementary and secondary teachers, taking advantage of a one-time-only retirement bonus offered by the Livonia school district, will quit teaching at the end of this school year.

The bonus, almed at accelerating. retirement to minimize teacher layoffs as a result of tightened school budgets, promises $20,000 to each teacher who declared retirement intentions by Jan. 15 for the the end of this school year.

. Teachers had until 4:30 p.m. Wednesday to change their minds. Only two did so, according to John Rennels, assistant superintendent for personnel for the district which includes the northern section of Westland.

"We are very pleased with the outcome," Rennels said, adding the innovative program increased the number of anticipated retirements this school year from 20 to 65. "We expected 20 or so to retire over each of the next three years."

WHILE THE exact savings from the program will not be known for some time, Rennels said the increased number of retirements is certain to limit the number of anticipated teacher layoffs next school year and may even result in new hires.

Of the total number who are retiring, seven will leave at mid-year which is Friday.

"We are hopeful this does what .

was intended," said union representative Steve Naumcheff of the Livonia Education Association.

"We are hoping accelerated retirement limits the unsettling circumstance of teacher layoffs. In tight times like now the district will probably continue to tighten the budget.

"We are hopeful the teacher contribution to the budget process will minimize the number of layoffs from our ranks. That's good for the teachers, It's good for the kids."

Naumcheff characterized the bonus as a "genuine incentive that did what it was supposed to do, entice those considering retirement to make a reasonable choice and help them into the first year of retirement."

AFTER DAYS of indecision, veteran teacher Denzel Short ultimately decided to take advantage of the bonus.

Short has taught science to Livonia students since 1966, first at Riley Junior High (now a middle school) and since 1979 at Livonia Churchill High.

"I always said I'd retire this year or within the next two years. This probably put me a year or two ahead," Short said, "It was pretty tough deciding. I must have changed my mind 15 times."

Another teacher, a woman in her 29th year of teaching math, said the bonus was the primary reason she decided to retire one year short of 30 years experience.

"It is absolutely the reason," said nomic uncertainty.

the woman; who wishes to remain anonymous until announcing the decision to her high school students.

"This is a very beneficial thing. The whole district benefits. In my department, we're desperate for new blood. It's really important to have a balance between experienced people and new, young people.

"The longer you keep new people out there without a job, the more likely they are to go into something else. This is particularly true in math," she said.

THE DECISION to retire was extremely difficult for Allen Herrmann, because "it changes what occurs in life. I've had a very positive working experience in Livonia for 29 years and I'll miss that."

Herrmann will complete the school year teaching drafting and computer-aided design at the Livonia Career Center. Although he has made the decision to retire, he continues to promote the career center and its benefits.

"People in Livonia should get more information on the career center and the programs that are available. We have some outstanding programs . . . mine, law enforcement, tourism. I'm sold on it, 100 percent." Over the next two years, Livonia's teachers will get a pay increase 0.01 percent larger than 5.75 percent for every teacher who retires this year. And, with early knowledge of the exact number of retirees, the district will be better able to budget in this era of declining state aid and eco-

Ward announces appeals court bid

George Ward, chief assistant Wayne County prosecutor, will seek a place on the Court of Appeals succeeding the retiring Judge Joseph, B. Sullivan

Ward, 50, of Plymouth, chaired the elected Wayne County Charter Commission in 1980-83 and was executive director of the 1971 commission that rewrote Detroit's city charter. He will rundin District 1, which includes Wayne and five other southeastern Michigan counties: Appeals judges are elected from three multicounty districts. A nonpartisan primary will be held Aug.

Dearborn Heights District Judge Edward Plawecki Jr. also is considering the Court of Appeals race.

Since 1988, Ward has served on the board of Saginaw Valley State University by appointment of then-Gov. James Blanchard, who is on Ward's campaign committee.

Ward had been in private practice until 1986 when Prosecutor John O'Hair tapped him as chief assistant. Ward has concentrated on:

• Sentencing - winning a Court of Appeals decision that sentencing judges may not deviate below minlmum standards in drug cases without substantial and compelling reasons.

His campaign committee also includes County Executive Edward McNamara, state Reps. Justine Barns, D-Westland, and Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, County Commissioners Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Kevin Kelly, D-Redford, and Bryan Amann, D-Wayne; Tom Watkins, former charter commissioner and state mental health director; and former state Democratic chairs Rick Wiener and Tom Lewand.

Primary setup 'an absolute mess'

By Tim Richard staff writer

If you want to vote in the Republican presidential primary March 17, you'd best declare your party affiliation by Feb. 18.

To vote in the Democratic primary, you can declare yourself a Democrat March 17,

"It's an absolute mess," said Republican state Rep. Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills. But it's the best advice the Grand Old Party can give its followers at this point.

Meanwhile, Michigan voters, accustomed to open primaries, continue to gripe about the party declaration rule.

Why the difference between partles?

DEMOCRATIC Party national rules say delegates to the national convention must come from a Democrats-only system - either caucuses or a closed primary.

The party says its rules take preeedence over state law, and the U.S. Supreme Court says the Democrats are right. "The National Democratic Party and its adherents enjoy a constitutionally protected right of political association," said the higest 'court.

Michigan-Attorney General Frank Kelley ruled, "Where a political party rule of general application contradicts a state statute, the rule prevails.

After the Michigan Legislature passed a 30-day party declaration. law to accommodate the Democrats, the state Democratic Party adopted a same-day declaration rule. Said Kelley "The rule also prohibits individuals who have previously filed a claring their Democratic party preference.'

As usual, people must be registered to vote 30 days before the primary, but Democrats can declare their affiliation at the polls.

REPUBLICAN national rules say state law takes precedence. Michigan law says they must declare party preference by Feb. 18.

Dolan said House Republicans last week tried to force a bill out of committee to allow an open primary. The discharge effort failed on party lines different party preference from de- said. But that would put the state party rule in conflict with the national rule.

'A number of Democrats chose not to vote so they're not on record as voting for an open primary," she said

· It's possible that the Republican State Committee could adopt a rule allowing same-day declaration, she

So for now the official Republican advice is: "If you plan on voting, you'd better declare."

-THE DEMOCRATIC ballot will have the names of Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa, Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, former Gov. Jerry Brown at California, former Sen. Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts and Sen. Bob Kerrey of Nebraska

The Republican ballot will have the names of President George Bush, columnist. Patrick Buchanan and state Rep. David Duke of Louisiana. A Republican strategy may be to * stick with the 30-day declaration rule, however unpopular, because it might hold down the turnout for former Ku Klux Klansman Duke.

Problem iş with us, not Japan

THE TROUBLE WITH the auto > industry isn't Japan. They're just doing what comes natural to us all: trying to make money. The problem is us. Not all of us, just those of us who are baby boomers with liberal arts degrees,

In the 1970s it became cool to buy foreign cars because somehow they weren't associated with the militaryindustrial complex that brought us the war in Vietnam.

And Japanese cars were even betnuked in World War II? They always looked so peaceful in their traditional garb sitting around drinking tea. And, oh yeah, they didn't even have an army or navy. They also made a big deal about nuclear bombs.

We leveled a couple of their cities, but the Japanese won the public relations war, especially when it came to liberal arts graduates who read all those books on Zen in the '70s.

THE JAPANESE had the secret to life, they ate rice and fish, not red ter. Weren't they the folks we had meat, and weren't involved in a war in southeast Asia. God, how peaceful. Some of the biggest suckers to buy the Japanese line in the '70s were newspaper reporters. Most showed up at their first jobs wearing John Lennon style wire frame glasses and driving a Toyota with a copy of the communist manifesto in the back seat.

I remember when one such reporter was sent to a UAW hall in the late '70s to interview the president who, like most people with the nickname "Tiny," weighted at least 270. pounds. It was a time of layoffs. The cause was the energy shortage and the fact that Detroit was still designing gas hog cars.

Ting was less than pleased that the reporter was driving a Toyota and refused to be interviewed. The reporter was indignant.

To me it summed up relations between the UAW and the media. The reporter left with a resolve to always drive a Toyota and thinking all auto workers were boneheads like Tiny. And Tiny walked away from the fray thinking that newspaper people were elitists who would rather send their money to Japan.

WE ALL KEPT doing that in the 1980s and look at the state it has gotten us in: We are going to be subcontractors for Japan, as a Japanese legislator said recently.

The problem is us, not the Japanese. We're the ones to blame. It's no wonder they seemed so bewildered by Bush's visit. They didn't see themselves as the culprits, it was Americans who were buying all those Hondaş.

And it's a specific group of Americans who are buying Japanese cars. It's the folks who don't remember a Dec. 7, 1941 and don't remember . that the Japanese were mucking around in Vietnam long before we were.

We baby boomers are the problem. The communist manifesto turned out to be a lemon and it's about time we realize the Toyota was also.

The meetings dragged on for s hours: The kids ran loose and noisy around the gymnasium, while some father stood at the front of the room demonstrating how to tie bowlines and bosun's knots or how to trap furry liftle animals, kill them, skin them and mount the skins for display at Cub Scout meetings. -

"All you have to do," we were told, "is make a race car out of a block of wood, some nails and some tires. Bring it to the meeting on Tuesday night and join the competition. It's fun?"

RIGHT. WHEN I took my first Pinewood Derby kit back to our apartment and opened it up, that's what it was: a block of wood, four plastic tires and a couple of nails.

"What am I supposed to do with this?" I howled. The only tools we owned were a hammer, a pair of pliers and a couple of screwdrivers. The instructions said that kids could get "some assistance" from their fathers.

So the two of us started whittling and sandpapering, painting and decorating, shoving plastic wheels onto nail "axles" and - eventually and with a little imagination — ending up with something that looked like a surrealist's interpretation of a race car. It even rolled down an inclined board, although not very fast and not very far. And it wobbled a lot.

I was frustrated, but he said it didn't matter. "After all, it's just a kid's project for fun."

The night of the derby we arrived at the meeting ready to race and have fun. After the mandatory weigh-in - to make sure no one had cheated and added too much lead weight to the car - our Woodmobile dom and guides good behavior - but_ was placed on the display table with the other cars.

I asked him if we could leave right then, but he said no.

When our number was called, the Woodmobile was placed on the track beside a metallic red machine that, except for its size, looked ready for Indy. It crossed the finish line and sounded the buzzer while a sympathetic race official gave the Woodmobile a nudge with his finger to get it to the bottom of the track.'

I was humiliated, but he was understanding.

"It's all right, dad," he said. "The other kids' fathers probably have regular workshops in the basement. And they've done this before."

I hated Cub Scouts.

I REMEMBERED all this the other day when the third grader brought home an assignment for a class project: build a diorama to illustrate the biography she had read. Children could get "some assisiance" from parents.

"Mine's about Hawaii," she said. "So I thought maybe we could build a volcano and . .

"Oh, no!" I said. "Unh-uh. No way. No how.'

"Oh, well, I suppose maybe we could build one out of papier-mache or something."

"Great," she said. "How do you do papier-mache?"

'I haven't the slightest idea, but we'll figure it out. Go get the hammer and the screwdrivers."

Improvements needed in malpractice

To the editor:

I would like to offer an addendum to Jeff Stewart's article/editorial that appeared in the Jan. 9 edition of the O & E newspapers:

Myth 5: Attorney Stewart is fairly representing all the facts when he claims, "Medical liability costs add (only) about 1 percent to the cost of medical care."

The facts: Any analysis of the impact of medical liability on the overall cost of health care must include not only the costs of malpractice insprance and litigation but also the costs incurred in an attempt to defend against possible future malpractice claims (i.e., the cost of performing tests and procedures that would otherwise not be necessary).

To the editor:

At this time I would like to express my appreciation to our founding fathers for instilling us with the Constitutional Right to Freedom of the Press. It has become increasingly evident that, without these documented guarantees, public opinion would virtually be at the mercy of hidden agenda toting demagogues, whose ultimate goal is to hurl us into an Orwellian Socialist state, where people of differing views are censored and suppressed.

It is truly a gift of divine proportions that we should live in the United States of America at this point in time.

I can only hope and pray that the views that were so blatantly spewn across the page in the aforementioned column do not reflect the editorial policies of the entire Observer & Eccentric staff. As your readers and advertisers are well aware, there is no monopoly on local papers in the Plymouth Canton community. There is very little tolerance for bigotry of any form in this day and age.

Once again, we should thank the drafters of our Constitution for the most generous legacy of rights that we all have. Let us not forget the price that was paid to gain and retain these inalienable rights. It would be a shame if a few fascists, under the semblance of political correctness, were to destroy this foundation of freedoms for our children.

Residents seek better lighting, crossings

Given their preference, area residents would like to see more street. lights and safer intersections along Eight Mile Road - and maybe light rail lines and underground parking, too.

Those were among, suggestions ' made Wednesday, during a public hearing on the future of the Eight Mile corridor.

Elected officials, municipal de-partment heads and urban planners are already considering ways to revitalize the 13-community traffic belt. Wednesday night's meeting gave area residents a chance to do some planning of their own.

"THERE'S NOTHING that says you have to use the road as it is," said John Rajovich of Farmington Hills, a member of his city's planning commission. ----

While light rails and underground parking were among the more farreaching proposals, residents also suggested improving traffic entrances, exits and turnarounds, adding street lights, improving drainage and reducing speeds along some sections of the road.

: Suggestions will be included in an Eight Mile revitalization plan to be presented at suture hearings this spring.

Long a barrier between communities, Eight Mile Road should instead . be considered a "linear city" of its own, according to the revitalization plan's proponents.

Eight Mile connects houses, shopping malls, factories and offices from western suburbs to Lake St. Clair, said urban planner Albert Bogdan, who conducted Wednesday's meeting at the Farmington Hills city hall.

The corridor includes Northland Center, the State Fair Grounds and the Chrysler complex at Mound and Van Dyke roads.

But it also contains topless bars, abandoned buildings and aging neighborhoods.

Instead of being a multi-community showplace, Bogdan said Eight Mile is often shunned.

"IT'S THE front door for 13 communities, but some communities are least peripherally involved in the re-. treating it like it's the back door," sald Bogdan, a member of Farmington Hills-based McKenna Associates. Eight Mile use patterns are changing in the wake of the 1989 expanston of I-696. Daily traffic is down as much as 50 percent along some stretches and businesses are concerned, Bogdan said.

Longtime Farmington, Hills resident George Roberts said he wished planners well, but remained skeptical about bringing all communities together.

"You're not going to get anything until the mayor of Livonia marries the daughter of the mayor of Farmington Hills," Roberts said. "Plain and simple, it's a turf battle, Farmington Hills goes its way, Livonlagoes its way.'

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy and representatives of all 13 communities - including Farmington, Farmington Hills, Redford and Southfield - have been at vitalization plan.

The plan's success, Bogdan added, involves bringing Wayne, Oakland and Macomb communities together in a single coalition. The coalition would not only seek newly available federal road grants, but also conduct regional planning.

Most communities have done planning, but almost no community has done any planning with any other community," he said. "If we put out a report and it goes on a shelf, then we've obviously failed."

Communities aren't the only ones involved. Jurisdiction varies among the state and counties over the road. Eight Mile is a state road through Macomb County, an Oakland County road to Halsted and a Wayne County Road from western Livonia to the county line, Bogdan said.

Spartans crash land

By Brad Emons staff writer

With his Walled Lake Central basketball team struggling and down nine points near the end of the first half, coach Steve Emert made a bold move.

Out came the starting five in favor of the "Gold" group.

Central subs Justin Cherfoll, Dave Johnston, Gary Coe, Mike Dutcher and Nick Pagogna proved to have the "Midas Touch," sparking the Vikings to an 80-71 victory over host Livonia Stevenson in a battle of contenders in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

The reserves, led by Cherfoli's five first-half points and two by Dutcher, helped Central close the gap to four at intermission (28-24). The same quintet opened the second half, pulling their team to within one, 28-27, on Cherfoli's second triple.

. Midway through the third quarter, Emert reinserted his starters and they responded in a big way

Central outscored the Spartans 28-19 in the third quarter to gain a three-point advantage, and then busted loose for 30 fourth quarter points (on 12-of-18 shooting) en route to their eighth win in nine games.

"THAT GROUP, (Gold) works extremely hard in practice and they're nice players, they deserve a chance to play," Emert said. "They came in and fired us up. They played with great intensity. I told the Gold group to push it up the floor and move it up quick."

Emert spent halftime talking to his Gold troops, while assistant coach Aimee Frye concentrated on the starters.

"The first half we were so sluggish and so tentative," Emert said. "We were not moving the ball quick enough and we were shooting too early. We were walking the ball up the floor."

basketball

The wake-up call certainly proved beneficial for the starters.

Junior guard Christian Emert, who was 1-of-7 from the floor in the first half, riddled Stevenson's defense by hitting 6-of-11 in the second half, including four 3-pointers. He finished with a team-high 18.

Also coming alive was junior forward Eric Leaf, who tossed in 17 points - all in the second half. Chris McFarlane and Steve Rabaut added 10 and nine.

Central connected on 11 three-pointers night and hit 33 of 65 shots from the field for 50.7 percent.

"We had some kids step up in the second half," Emert said. "Christian hit some shots and Rabaut was so tenacious."

STEVENSON, which slipped 5-3 overall, committed a season-high 28 turnovers.

"Most of the turnovers were unforced, without a great deal of pressure," Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre said. "And defensively we didn't play smart. We allowed ourselves to get picked and we didn't make adjustments when it happened.

"They (Central) got hot, and they didn't miss any 'threes.' Give their team credit. They stroked the ball in our gym."

Central gained its first lead of the second half, 38-37, on Leaf's drive to the basket with 2:27 left

The Vikings took the lead for good, 46-45, on Leaf's basket with 54 seconds remaining in the period.

It was all Central in the fourth quarter with the Vikings building a 14-point cushion with 3:57 to play on a steal by Emert.

Stevenson closed the gap to 69-64 with 2:19 left on Matt Grodzicki's three-pointer, but the Spartans couldn't get any closer.

Grodzicki, a senior guard, led all scorers with 19 points.

Stevenson's four other starters also scored in double figures: Adam Roy (17), Colin Stockton (14), Ryan Furkas (11) and Tony Stojov (10).

Another irony was that the Spartans lost despite hitting 20 of 21 free throws.

BUT THE TURNING point, according to McIntyre, was the end of the first half when Emert went deep into his bench.

"We had too many turnovers against their 'other group," McIntyre said. "We needed to build upon what lead we already had, but those -(Central) kids came in and pulled them right off the ground and right to the top.

"We decided it was time to lay back and take a rest."

Emert, meanwhile, called it a "great win for us" with games coming up this week against Plymouth Canton and Salem.

"Any win on the road in this league is a plus," he said.

"They proved they're a contender and team to be reckoned with," McIntyre added.

Also to be reckoned with is the Gold group.

"During summer camp we felt everybody on our team was reliable," Emert said. "We average at least 10 players a game and tonight we had 11 score."

You could say Livonia Ladywood's volleyball team went out with a bang.

Behind the powerful hitting of juniors MaryJo Kelly and Liz Gunn, the Blazers made their final match in their tiny gym a memorable one, rallying for a 6-15, 16-14, 15-8 win Thursday over Farmington Hills Mercy.

"WE'VE HAD six, but never eight," Teeters said. "I contribute our comeback a lot to offense, but I was as much, if not more impressed, with our defense. We had key blocking by Andrea Putti. We were too excited at first and coming out like that early hurt us a little bit.

"Ann (Kolnitys) does a great job with them. In some ways Mercy outplayed us, but they made mistakes at the end." Ladywood fell behind, 7-3, in the third game, but the Blazers scored five straight to lead 8-7. After Mercy tied the score, 8-8, Ladywood scored the last seven points to go home victorious. Gunn, who finished with a season-high 25 kills, closed out the win with a pair of kills. Gunn finished with a .440 hitting percentage to go with 10 digs, while Kelly had a .310 hitting percentage, 10 kills, 20 assists and six digs. Senior middle blocker Jannel Hemme, playing with a knee brace, also helped at the net with three blocks. "Liz's 25 kills could be a school record," Teeters said. "I don't think she's had half that many in a match this year. Anytime we're hitting over a .250 percentage that's very good and when we get in the .300's there's a good chance we'll win.'

"I'm not at all happy with the way we-played," said Clarenceville coach Alisha Love, whose team is 7-5 overall and 2-1 in the Metro. "Our serve reception was very poor."

Despite the loss, senior Leandra Hoffman recorded six kills in 28 attempts, while junior Michelle Loukojarvi added three kills in 13 attempts.

Senior Monica Kaipio had three ace serves.

On Wednesday, Hoffman collected eight kills in 11 attempts, leading Clarenceville to a 15-2, 15-8 non-league win over host Lutheran High Westland.

Loukojarvi contributed three kills and Kalpio served two aces.

LIVONIA STEVENSON junior setter Patty Diamond sparked the Spartans to a 15-12, 15-6, 16-18, 15-2 Western Lakes Activities Association victory Wednesday at Northville.

Stevenson is 14-7-3 overall and 1-1 in the WLAA.

tent was our ability to play defense bet-ter than we did (Monday) against Walled Lake Central," Cagle said.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL, the defending state Class A champions, posted a pair of WLAA triumphs last week.

The Chargers ran their overall record to 10-3-2 with a 15-6, 15-5, 15-13 victory Wednesday over host Farming-

Earlier in the week, Churchill downed Westland John Glenn, 15-5, 15-10, 15-10, behind Julie Campau and Nancy Granzow, who recorded eight and seven kills, respectively.

Rachel Hackman added five kills in the victory.

The Chargers were also sparked defensively by Vicki Lucas and Aimee Cousino, who combined for 11 digs.

LIVONIA FRANKLIN fell to 0-4-2 overall and 0-2 in the WLAA after losing Wednesday to visiting Plymouth Canton, 10-15, 15-12, 15-12, 15-7.

The victorious Chiefs, now 1-1 in league play, were led by senior outside hitter Danielle Meyka and junior back-

The next match Ladywood hosts will be held inside the Blazers' recently completed new gym on Thursday, Feb. 6, against Birmingham Marian. Ladywood coach Tom Teeters has many memories of the old Ladywood gym, most of them forgettable.

"I have a lot of memories, including shin splints, slipping and sliding, balls hit into the low ceiling," Teeters said. "Of course, the low ceiling always helped our team because we're a low passing team. The ceiling is about 20-feet higher in the new gym."

Ladywood, 14-2 overall, is in first place in the Catholic League's Central Division at 5-0 and the Blazers hope to still be there when they make their debut in the new gym. Mercy, which brought a No. 4 state Class A ranking into the game, fell to 18-4 overall and 4-1 in the Central Division.

Ladywood was ranked 10th in Class A prior to Thursday but Teeters doesn't put much stock in the victory with the season so young.

"THE RANKINGS are nice for exposure, but they're too early to be accurate," he said. After winning the first game in relative ease, lins blew a chance to take the match when they couldn't close out a 14-11 advantage in the second game.

"If I can go three games with any team in the Catholic League, that's fine," Mercy coach Ann Kolnitys said. "Ladywood was probably more consistent and we made more mistakes. It was good competition. I've never seen them play and didn't know anything about them, but Gunn is a good hitter, probably the best we'll come up against in the Catholic League."

Gunn and Kelly controlled the net most of the evening, but Teeters credited the Blazers' comeback in the second game to strong defense. After a net violation gave Mercy a point and a 14-11 lead, Ladywood held the Marlins scoreless in eight serve rotations while scoring five unanswered points to force a third game.

Gunn and Kelly each had kills during the rally, while Mercy was doomed by a double fit, an attempted kill that went out of bounds and a hit into the net.

Nancy Burr, a senior outside hitter, excelled as a server for the Blazers in the second game. Teeters couldn't remember a time when one of his teams, college or high school, held a team scoreless on game or match point on eight serve rotations.

Burr finished with only one error and one ace in 19 serves. Senior defender Michelle Wilson led the Blazers with 16 digs and junior setter Valerie Adzima had 10 digs.

Mercy was led by senior Karin Kivela, who had seven kills, three service aces, 11 digs and 16 serve receptions. Senior Shannon Goff led with 20 serve receptions, while junior Angela Assad had seven solo blocks, and Katle Heffernan and Kathy Misteravich were strong off the bench, Kolnitys said.

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Mike Brown graduated in 1975 from Redford Catholic Central, but he didn't mind playing the traitor's role Saturday night before a sellout crowd at Redford Arena.

Brown, who coaches the Birmingham Brother Rice hockey team, couldn't have been more proud of his team's come-from-behind 5-3 win over Metro League rival CC. Not only did Brown graduate from CC, but so did assistant coaches Jell Wall, Tom Nugent and Brian Macdonald.

"We still bleed blue (CC's main color) in certain sports, but when we're playing them in hockey our allegiance turns," Brown said. "A lot of our classmates from CC come to these games and tease us, call us traitors, but they understand." The win improves Rice's record to a 11-1 overall and 5-1 in the Metro League's Western Division. CC fell to 8-3-1 overall and 2-2 in the division.

The Warriors, who trailed 3-2 early in the third period on an unassisted goal by CC junior, forward Joe Blaznek, scored three goals in the next 6:54 to assure the win. Sophomore forward Dale Rominski started the rally with a goal, assisted by kick save on a shot 25 feet in front of third period to tie the game at 3-3.

Junior forward Matt Kozlarz gave the Warriors a 4-3 lead with a goal at 4:48, assisted by junior center Larry Leo. Rice ended the flurry at the 7:47 mark when senior forward Mitch Murlick's slap shot found the net behind CC goalie Mike Brusseau. Teammates Jason Emery and Brian Hartwell picked up assists on the fifth goal.

Really, it only seemed a matter of time before Rice broke loose against CC, considering the Warriors' 29-13 shots-on-goal advantage. Josh Fryer and Matt Allen had the earlier Rice goals.

"We made three mistakes and they got three goals," Brown said. "But we didn't get down. We have some veterans and a couple of our captains (Matt Fleury and Hartwell) stood up in the locker room between the second and third periods and said 'We've got to win some big games.' We used our speed in the third period. We practiced all week jamming the (opposing) net, because Brusseau is too tough to beat straight on."

Rice goalie Derek Billis came up with two big plays in the third period to help the Warriors' chances. With the score tied at 3-3, Billis made a freshman Mike Jalaba, at 2:54 of the the net by CC junior forward Bill Baaki. Then, with Rice ahead 4-3, Billis came out of the net to poke the puck away from CC's Jeff Helner, who skated in untouched.

"Our goalle sometimes lacks concentration because we don't give up many shots, but as soon as one gets behind hinr he gets mad and is determined to not let another go in," Brown said.

CC coach Jack Gumbleton believes his team suffered a letdown after taking the 3-2 lead only 53 seconds into the third period. Of course, to the Shamrocks' credit they played again without key defensemen Steve Sienklewicz and Bob Abbate.

CC took a 1-0 lead at 7:57 of the first period when Mike Seiler scored the first of his two goals, putting a backhand past Billis. Vic Stesiak, a junior forward, drew the assist. Fryer tied the score at 1-1 with aslap shot in the last minute of the first period, but Seiler responded. with an unassisted goal at 9:60 of the second period for a 2-1 lead.

CC's Brian Ronayne went into thepenalty box for high-sticking at 14:20 of the second period and Allen tled the score at 2 with a goal assisted by Fryer and Emery with 24 seconds remaining in the period,

Chiefs step out to elude Churchill bid

Livonia Churchill's slowdown tactics worked for three quarters Friday, but the Chargers came unglued in the final period as Plymouth Canton roared back for a 53-35 Western Lakes Activities Association cage triumph.

28(L,W)

Canton outscored Churchill 24-4 in the fourth quarter after trailing 31-29 after 24 minutes of action.

"We figured they (Churchill) would play zone and be patient on offense," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner, whose team is 5-3 overall and 3-0 in the WLAA. 'It was definitely a slowdown, but the kids hung in there until the fourth quarter.

"I thought we stepped up the pressure by putting fresh legs in there every couple of minutes and it paid. off. We just had a great fourth quarter."

Mike Stafford, a junior guard, tallied a team-high 13 to lead Canton. Hal Heard, a 6-foot-4 senior forward, added 10 points, while 6-8 senior center Tony Coshatt contributed 10 points and 13 rebounds.

Brian Johnson and Marcus Sarnovsky, a pair of senior guards, scored 10 and nine, respectively, for the Chargers.

Canton outrebounded Churchill 23-4 in the second half.

Under normal circumstances, when a goalle makes 51 saves, his team wins the hockey game: "

But that's under pormal circumstances.

On Friday, Livonia Stevenson state's top'ranked Class A team, met crosstown rival Livonia Franklin at Edgar Arena in a game was anything but normal.

Stevenson, behind a hat trick from senior Matt Corriveau, defeated the Patriots, 10-2, in a Suburban High School League game.

The first-place Spartans improve to 11-1-1 overall and 7-0 in the league.

Stevenson fired 61 shots at Patriot goalie Joe Huber, including 24 in the opening period. Franklin mustered just 14 shots for the entire game against Spartan goalies Mike Williams (two periods) and Bob LaFontaine.

The game took almost three hours because of 96 penalty minutes, 76 of which came in the third period.

"We probably could have done without all the penalties," Stevenson # coach Paul Ferguson said. "We have to stay more focused as a team and. not get into the penalty situations. We need to keep our head in the game.

'We really did a good job of executing our game plan for most of the game, but things got a little ragged in the third period."

THE SPARTANS scored the game's first four goals. Corriveau tallied two, including a power-play effort. Kevin Bush and Kit Mastroberto each had one.

"It was a real team effort," Corriveau said. "My linemates, Ryan Fawkes and Chris Rennie, did a good job of getting me the puck.

"I didn't play the first time we played Franklin and they were a much smaller team than I thought."

Franklin cut the lead to 4-1 with 1:50 remaining in the first period when senior Matt Leirstein scored.

Junior Shane Hastings and senior Rick Bernard drew assists.

Stevenson roared back in the second period, as Mastroberto-tallied. his second goal and Mike Lindberg his first, glving Stevenson a commanding 6-1 lead.

"We did a good job of passing the puck and finding the open man," Ferguson said. "The boys were real unselfish out there. A lot of our goals were just tap-ins."

Corriveau, Mike Schmidt, Anthony Flevaris and Scott Johnson scored goals in the third period for the Spartans.

BERNARD ANSWERED with a goal for Franklin, but it was too little, too late.

"Stevenson played damn good and they are an excellent hockey team," Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt said. "Hey they're the No. 1 team in the state.

"I'm proud of the effort my team gave. I told the guys in the lockerroom to keep their heads up."

Senior Frank Eupizi contributed four assists for Stevenson and Johnson . chipped in with three. Fawkes and Rennie each had two.

Schoolcraft cagers pull out victory

With less than three minutes left, Dave Bogataj had to do something. His Schoolcraft College men's basketball team had fallen eight points behind Adrian College's' junior varsity, 69-61. So the Ocelot coach went to his bench - and inserted his starting five back into the game.

In just over 90 seconds, the desired turnaround had been affected. Jarvis Murray punctuated his steal with a dunk that put SC back in front with :57 remaining, and the Ocelots went on to gain a 78-73 homecourt victory Thursday.

In the final 2:30, SC outscored Adrian 17-4. The win ended the Ocelots' losing streak at three and raised their record to 9-12 overall. "Hey, a win's a win," summarized Bogataj.

Once again, Murray and Scott Meredith led the SC attack. Murray finished with 17 points, nine rebounds, four blocked shots and three boards, six assists and three blocks.

Tony Rumple contributed 15 points and Jeff Wagner had 10, including four free throws in the final minute. Adrian was led by Eric Zernikow's 29 points; Don Lipinski had 15. .

SC WOMEN: Free throws spelled the difference Wednesday in SC's make-up (snowed out Jan. 15) of its game at Henry Ford CC. The Lady Hawks converted 21-of-30 at the line, SC managed just 6-of-11.

Henry Ford ended up with an 88steals; Meredith got 21 points, seven 77 victory, which boosted its record to 2-5 in the Eastern Conference, same as SC. The Lady Ocelots are 12-7 overall.

"With our style of play — going inside - if we don't get the calls, we're going to have problems," said SC coach Jack Grenan. "Plus, the kids on Henry Ford did a real nice job. We had a lot of trouble stopping their guards."

Particularly their interior passing to Clarissa Jones, who shredded three different SC defenders while scoring 37 points.

The Lady Ocelots were hurt by the ejection of center Sis Guth with about six minutes left. Guth retaliated after a Henry Ford guard threw a punch at her; both were thrown out. Donna Galli led SC with 20 points. Guth scored 18, Dana Hudson netted 13, Jen Audet scored nine and Nicole Dapprich chipped in with eight. SC trailed 43-38 at the half and was still within six when Guth was ejected.

UM-Dearborn tops Madonna by 6

Bill Potter and Bill St. John go back a long way - "Back to the seventh grade," said Potter, the Madonna University women's basketball coach, of his friend who coaches University of Michigan-Dearborn's women's team

Potter found his Madonna team in a similar position Thursday when the Lady Crusaders traveled to UM-D to battle the Lady Wolves. Madonnal trailed 42-27 at the half

But the Crusaders railled, trimming the deficit to three on three occasions. But they couldn't erase it, and ended up absorbing a 79-73 loss.

Poor free-throw shooting and turnovers at key times proved costly for Madonna, which fell to 4-12 overall and 2-4 In the NAIA District 23. Down by four with a minute left, the Crusaders rebounded a UM-D miss -- then threw the ball back to the Wolves, who scored on a layup.

Three turnovers down the stretch wrecked the Crusaders' comeback. They also missed the front end of three 1-and-1 free throws in the last three minutes; for the game, they converted just 7-of-18 from the line. The Wolves were 11-of-21

"THAT REALLY killed us," said Potter. "We haven't been shooting

(free throws) that bad, either - about 65, 70 percent as a team. It was just last night.

Madonna did get balanced scoring, with Jill Burt pouring in 23 points and Kim Kibbey adding 18 (including four three-pointers). Karen Sangregorio got 11 and Cheri Sangregorio finished with 10 and 11 rebounds. UM-D was led by Schoolcraft College graduate Tricia Lucas, with 18 points, Dana Filzek had 15, Teri King 13 and Janet Smith 11.

The Wolves improved to 8-11 overall and evened their district record at 2-2. They are tied for third in the district with Concordia. Through Thursday, Madonna was fifth. Aquinas and Spring Arbor were tied for first at 2-0; Siena Heights trailed Madonna at 1-4, with Grand Rapids Baptist in seventh at 0-5.

The top four teams qualify for the district playoffs, so - with the district schedule now half over - Madonna is in the hunt. The Crusaders lost to Concordia by eight and UM-D by six. They'll be bolstered in the second half of the season by the return of Lori Creten, who's been out since Dec. 19 with back problems. She played sparingly against UM-D, scoring slx points.

Go bowling in state lottery game

HE ANNUAL Bowling Charities Tournament is underway in bowling centers all over Observerland, and all league bowlers are eligible to enter.

The $1 entry fee is donated to one of several worthy charitles within Michigan. Entrants who qualify for the area roll-offs may advance to the finals and win some cash prizes.

EVEN THE Michigan state lottery has gone bowling. It is now possible to buy the "bowling scratch-off" tickets at lottery agents everywhere.

I am not suggesting anyone buy these tickets - the chance of losing money is greater than your chance of winning but it is an intersting play on the game, with three chances to beat your imaginary opponent's score.

NICK WITKOWSKI, president of the tion, has been an avid bowler for 35 years. Wednesday, Witkowski rolled his first 300 game while bowling in the Tri-City Men's Invitational League at Westland Bowl

Imagine how Aaron Staples must have felt with a 299 in the same league and not winning the jackpot.

YOU MAY have heard or read of a report last week that said Americans spend more of their leisure time knitting than any other activity. The survey was taken by Leisure Trends Inc., a Connecticutbased research firm that works with the Gallup organization to find out what Americans like to do in their free time. Americans spend $600 billion on leisure-related activities every year. Michigan folks lead the nation when it comes to knitting, sewing and bowling.

"While others around the nation are golfing, shopping or walking, Michigan is bowling," the survey said.

Idle thoughts: Do the knitters know their knitting average? Is there a knitting league?

ior All-Star Classic league at Bowl One Lanes in Troy.

His three games, 278-287-299, added up to an incredible 862. This is probably the highest three-game total ever recorded in the metropolitan Detroit area in youth competition.

If compared to the local adult scores, it would be the fifth best adult total since records have been kept. Remember the name Kurt Pilon. This young man will be a standout wherever he bowls in the years to come.

CANTON'S JOHN SINKE rolled a 300 game at Town & Country Lanes in Westland, but it was during open bowling practice. Sinke would have like to save it for his Sunday Mixers league, but remember, practice makes perfect.

The Observer & Eccentric® Newspapers

By Larry O'Gonnor staff writer.

In the dust of fractured dreams," disintegrated love and the dissolution of a band, John Campbell Whitelaw has made a rather buoyant album.

Which in itself is remarkable feat, considering the Birmingham resident completed "Out of the Ash Can," in a time when most couldn't lift their heads from the pillows in despair.

Not only did his group, Ash Can VanGogh, break up last year, the three-year engagement to his fiance also dissolved. When conducting his personal inventory, Whitelaw even marvels at it all.

"Here I'd lost my best friends, I'd lost my band and I lost my fiance," said Whitelaw, 25, who was one of the leaders of Ash Can VanGogh. "It was a real emotional time for me. It was like going into the studio without these (his two hands).

"But I realized not only did I still have my two hands, they were two very big hands."

The composure of "Out of the Ash Can" certainly belies the personal turmoil Whitelaw endured during its recording. Most of the vibrant folkrock numbers possess an upbeat tingle, relying on a mantel of catchy riffs and indelible hooks.

Upon closer inspection beneath the veneer of Whitelaw's pop sensibilities, though, the hurt is revealed. He carries no torches, nor does he wallow in his misery.

BUT THROUGH lyrical references to abandonment ("Don't Wake Me Up"), broken hearts ("Without It") and stolen souls ("Autumn Has My Heart"), the shards of unfulfillment cut against the rosy soundscape.

Whitelaw said "Out of the Ash Can" is not so much a testament of his pain, but a cathartic exercise. Though so emotional were some of the numbers, he found himself WHITELAW SAID band members» still communicate after the breakup, which occurred Jan. 11, 1991.

'There's a weirdness," he said. "but no bitterness."

In the realization he could do it alone, Whitelaw found a new support cast. He credits the production work of Dennis Forbes and mixing done by Gerard Smerek for turning the eighttrack production into a viable, seemingly effortless release.

Whitelaw admits there was a bit of trepidation entering the studio a few weeks after the band's demise. Once he cut "Without It" with Jill Jack on back-up vocals, the worries quickly disappeared

He's always had unshakable faith in his songwriting, which is inspired largely by emotion and somewhat by the peculiar.

On what was behind the soft acoustic instrumental "Rosolo." Whitelaw describes a red, cooperlike sunset he saw once looking out a window in Scotland. Thinking that was the sole inspiration for the number, he adds that it was the same shade as friend's pasta sauce. The jaunty, hopeful "Rainbows (The Telegram Song)" came about while sitting in LaGuardia Airport in New York.

THESE LIGHTHEARTED numbers are designed to provide balance to "Out of the Ash Can," which is available at some area record outlets including Sam's Jams.

Whitelaw intends to market the independent release to major labels for wider distribution.

"I went through a ton of realization, not only on a personal level, but a musical level and a spiritual level," Whitelaw said. "It was very enlightening. It's like I put a lid on it, put a bow on the package."

ANS OF the "EVIL DEAD" films anxiously awaiting the sequel to the two previous thrillers, rest assured that director Sam Raimi is hard at work. Raimi has been shooting "Army of Darkness" ("Evil Dead III") on Warner Bros.' special effects lot. But a warning for those with less than iron nerves: this realistic confrontation with the dark side may cause nerves to melt as it transforms nightmares into reality.

Part three continues where part He was instructing one of his two left off. After reciting a phrase friends in the art of properly hangfrom the ancient book, bound in human flesh and inked in blood, Ash (Bruce Campbell), the hero and sole survivor of the "Evil Dead" saga, has been transported back through time,

He passes into another dimension - medieval England - when this Great Evil Force last stalked the earth in its search for human souls on which to prey.

King Arthur has his Excalibur. Ash has his chain saw, double-barrelled shotgun and a 1973 Olds Delta 88. A blacksmith later assists Ash in replacing his severed hand with a gauntlet. Working together, they make modifications to the Olds, creating the "death coaster." Move over, Batmobile!

The movie doesn't depend on gruesome special effects; Ralmi gives us more. He deals with themes that relate to Good versus Evil - power, succession, revenge and deception. To this, Raimi adds a personal touch, his speciality. He takes us over the edge. He creeps into a part of our nightmares we try to avoid - its darkest corner, the Terror Zone,

FORMER MICHIGAN writer/ director Raimi has come a long way. His earliest film production days began at age 12, making Super-8 movies to entertain friends in his home, Recently, Raimi reached success with last summer's box office smash, "Dark-man." Raimi's lugubrious wit and unique cinematic style is having an increasing influence on Hollywood's new movies.

Having seen Raimi at work, both in the past and the present, I recall a time, when he filmed a scene in my father's West Bloomfield store. ing from a meat hook.

Even back then, Raimi - like Dracula prototype Vlad the Impaler - knew there was an art to inflicting terror. Vlad inflicted terror physically, Raimi psychologically.

Raimi wanted to slither into the darkest corners of the mind, that sacred, unthinkable spot where, under lock and key, we try to forget our scarlest nightmares. This technique can't be learned in school. It must be experienced in the mind, by searching our deepest fears and opening those doors of darkness.

WHEN "EVIL Dead" was released in 1983, its innovative camera angles, gushing blood and exploding limbs helped Raimi gain recognition at film festivals in Chicago, New York and Ann Arbor. Acclaimed at the Cannes Film Festival, the movie won awards for both special effects and horror.

Stephen King called it "the most ferociously original horror film of the year.'

A FIST FULL OF CHAOS berate off the red brick walls of Finney's Pub -ahaven for some of the Midwest's more-motivated, creative outfits. Sue Summers of Chaos Network deserves a heap of overdue credit for making it one of the most vibrant scenes in the area.

Where to begin? How about the sensually languid offering from Vavoom, "Detroit"? Angle Hanna's voice oozes with indifference.

"It's a cool place/but it's not as cool as Detroit. It's a scary place/but it's not as scary as Detroit," sings Hanna, a model of apathy. This feeling of corresponds with some scraping guitar and hypnotic bass lines that drip closely to the luring realm of Iggy and the Stoogies' "I Wanna Be Your Dog.'

While Vavoom exercise some restraint, others here plonder away with laudable amounts of passion. The Culture Bandits, a formidable trio, tear through their track "You're Someone Else" with enough unbridled energy to construct a railroad.

Another threesome by way of Alma, Mich., In-, stant Zoo checks in with another example of pure rawness succeeding with the alluring "Mile Marker 92."

Those taking a shine to immaculate pop sensibilities will find Trust Fund's contribution, "Try Again," an indelible, compact piece of songwriting while the immediacy of Bigger Than Mass' "White Rice on Demand" wants to burst through the speakers - a definite highlight in the package.

Of the techno outfits who contribute cuts here, Skinhorse's "Souls At Zero (Water into Wine Mix)" manages to find a happy median between modern gadgetry and emotional rendering. By contrast, Wrath of Christian delves more towards the darker, ominous realm with "Thrill Me."

If a particular number doesn't impress you, at least the way the band tackle its craft will.

Julian Sands plays Yves Cloquet, part of the dissolute expatriate community in Interzone, the nightmarish world into which Peter Weller as writer William Lee is plunged in "Naked Lunch."

Cronenberg's 'Lunch': It's not for every taste

- Chances are William Burroughs never dreamed of cutting a movie deal when he dredged up his novel "Naked Lunch" in the middle 1950s. His crazy quilt of sometimes incoherent tales relies heavily on detailed descriptions of everything from flatulation to homosexual practices to drug use.

Over the years, however, several directors have toyed with the idea of bringing the book to the screen. David Cronenberg has taken the challenge by using the text as a jumping board for his own fantastic account in which a Burroughs-type writer serves as the main character.

In 1952, Bill Lee works as a New York exterminator and as "Naked Lunch" opens, we watch him spray yellow powder into crácks and floorboards, sending roaches scurrying.

When he runs out of insecticide on the job, his friends (based on Burroughs' "Beat" buddles Ginsberg and Kerouac) suggest it may be a "domestic problem."

Arriving home, Bill discovers what they mean. His wife, Joan, is pumping the yellow powder into her veins. Bill's subsequent addiction to the stuff sends him and his typewriter on a one-way trip to Interzone, a mythical Turkish city where he composes what will become "Naked Lunch.

and "The Fly," trusts his material implicitly. The movie is among the most bizarre ever made, yet Cronenberg keeps his camera focused on the action instead of showing off with tricky camera angles and lenses.

The movie is partially about writing and communication. In one of the more unusual ideas, Bill's typewriter sprouts legs and wings, transforming into a cockroach which speaks through a suggestively-shaped opening on its back.

Later, a rival writer will communicate with Bill telepathically. In the style of Japanese monster movies, his lips don't move in sync with the words coming from his mouth.

"Robocop's" Peter Weller is perfectly cast as Bill. With his long, sunken cheekbones and monotone he's the perfect embodiMonday, January 27, 1992 O&E

Four years later, with a budget of $3.5 million, "Evil Dead II" was released. Horror fans thrilled to scenes in which Campbell as the hero Ash severs his right hand with a chain saw after it becomes possessed by the Evil Dark Force and another in which a screaming woman swallows the exploding eyeball of a beast.

With delight in his eyes and a smirk on his face, Raimi once said, "The ratings board wasn't too happy about the flying eyeball-Especially after a woman swallowed it.

"They were also not very pleased with the scene where Bruce's hand becomes possessed by dark powers, forcing him to chain saw it off at the wrist. I suspect they have some sort of pet peeve about self-mutilation."

The movie was released without a rating.

RAIMI DESCRIBED how his earlier directing and filming techniques were based on his experience doing films with small budgets. For example, a chase scène was set up like this: "OK, Bruce, when I say go, you run and I'll chase you with the camera."

Asked how he created the illusion of attacking trees in "Evil Dead II," he explained: "That special effect was created by wrapping vines around someone and then pulling them away. We would take the film and run the sequence in re-verse. By doing this, it appears that the vines are moving towards the victim."

Raimi was drawn into the motion picture industry because of its ability to capture, then alter it and replay it. It was desire and determination that made him strive for success.

Now, he's in Hollywood, the city of bright lights and big stars. The sets have changed. The budgets are larger. Many things have changed, but not everything.

Raimi is easily recognized. He's the guy in the starched white shirt, Skeletons make up the "army" in Raimi's "The Army of Darkness" set to be released within the next few months.

tle, ironed jeans and white leather sneakers. Of course, his ability to choose ties has improved.

As in the past, he seeks top-notch production people and equipment. Film companies now give Raimi $9-14 million to work with. His earlier films were financed by soliciting money from family and friends.

MANY OF his friends and coworkers remain the same. Bob Tapert, Bruce Campbell and Ruth Jessup are a few of the cast and crew members who have been with Raimi since Renaissance Pictures was established in Ferndale in 1979.

Raimi is a serious, charismatic professional. He enjoys his work, averaging a 16-18-hour work day. He does whatever is necessary to finish the job. Yet, he never misses an opportunity to smile, to laugh, to relieve the tension that develops naturally on a movie set.

He has a special talent for making the production an enjoyable experlence for both cast and crew. It's rare to find that quality in a man so focused on his work. For instance, on the set of "Army of Darkness," they were ready to shoot an action scene:

"Ready. Quiet on the set!" "Wait, I'm picking up machine noise from the back.'

"Shut off the smoke machine," Raimi yelled. "How's it now?" "All clear."

"Wait," said Raimi, "I still hear noise . . . some sort of thumping sound."

The crew began searching for the source of the noise.

A MOMENT later, "Just kidding ... it's me," shouled Raimi with a smile. He was bumping his chair against mine.

The slight delay was perfect. Now everyone was smiling. Prior to Raimi's little stunt, cast and crew were slightly tense and irritated over the fact that shooting had been delayed.

This may be the greatest trilogy ever created in horror film history, But vlewers, should heed these words from the wise: "Don't worry, try to remind yourself it's only a movie."

Tracing roots by happy accident

Serendipity: an aptitude for making desirable discoveries by accident. If you are one of the thousands who travel to trace your family roots, you depend on happy accidents.

I thought of that this week when I got mailings about "homecoming" events in both Ireland and Finland. I've been trying for 10 years without success to trace the roots of the McNamee family to some specificplace in Northern Ireland, and my best clue so far came by happy accident.

Ireland is a large island off the coast of England. Singapore is a tiny island half a world away at the southern tip of southeast Asia. It had not occurred to me to do any genealogy there.

My serendipity occurred among the food stalls of Newton Circus. Until recent years, the food vendors of Singapore sold their goodies on the street, but they are now officially gathered in food courts around this beautiful modern city.

I had stayed in hotels and ridden subways that put our hotels and transportation systems to shame, but on that particular evening I was eating my way through fresh prawns. and other delicacies at the Newton Circus food stalls.

When I was barely able to waddle, I wandered around the court waiting for the bus that would take me "home" and found myself talking to a couple of traveling Americans. I don't remember where they were from, but I remember the moment that they waved toward an adjoining table and introduced me to a couple from Northern Ireland.

"I've been there several times, trying to trace my ancestors," I said. "Do you happen to know any McNamees?

"I know two of them," the man replied.

O&E Monday, January 27, 1992

Serendipity is not just a happy accident, it's an aptitude for happy accidents, which is a very useful mindset in both genealogy and travel.

my new-found Irish friend and ran. A year later, after a business trip to England, I had a chance to spend a few days in Belfast. The business card led me to a McNamee who may very well be one of my family.

Nothing is as interesting as one's own family tree or as boring as somebody else's family tree, but there is a moral to that story. Serendipity is not just a happy accident, it's an aptitude for happy accidents, which is a very useful mindset in both genealogy and travel.

If you'd like a little serendipity of your own, explore these events:

Games turn off-season on in this Swiss city

By Paul Hofmann New York Times Syndicate

Ordinarily, half of Geneva's hotel rooms are empty in February, the off-off-season for this cosmopolitan city's thriving tourist business.

Not so this year.

The Winter Olympic Games in Albertville and 12 other venues in France, Feb. 8 to Feb. 23, will cast the Swiss city in the role of a major gateway to the International snow circus and as a center for logistical support and after-ski recreation.

Geneva's efficient Cointrin Airport is indeed only 52 miles by road, a 90-minute drive, from Albertville; the nearest French airport, Lyon Satolas, is 83 miles away.

Two-thirds of Geneva's 13,000 hotel beds are in deluxe or firstclass houses, awarded five or four stars respectively by the Swiss hotel association.

Visitors wanting to stay in lessexpensive places ought to reserve fast. Count on $90 to $130 for a double room with private bath and breakfast in a three-star (good second-class) establishment. The conversion rate is 1.40 Swiss francs to $1.

International and Swiss travel organizations offer package deals including transportation from Geneva to Albertville or other Olympic sites, along with tickets to events.

Travel agencies in Geneva also operate bus services to Albertville; the one-way fare is around $55.

You can board the regular bus to Albertville, leaving from the Coach Terminal (Gare Routiere) in the Place Dorciere near the Qual du Mont-Blanc on Lake Geneva's north shore, at 9:45 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 5:10 p.m. daily. The fare is $36 one way, $64 round trip. During the Winter Olympics the bus also will pick up passengers at the Colntrin Airport and extra runs may be added. For more Information call 7320230.

The Mont Blanc Bridge connects Geneva's Old Town with its more modern section. To the side, Rousseau Island, named after philosopher Jean Jacques Rousseau, is surrounded by Lake Geneva.

ENTERTAINMENT:

 If you have watched enough winter sports live or on television, Geneva's attractions will while away the long, chilly nights.

The Grand Theatre, at Place Neuve, presents a new production of Berlloz's opera "Benvenuto" Cellini," conducted by John Nelson, with Thomas Moser in the title part. It may be hard to get tickets to the subscription performances on Feb. 10. 13. 16. 22 and 25 but easier for the nonsubscription evening, Feb. 19.

On Feb. 11, Margaret Price will be heard in a recital at the Grand Theatre, with Graham Johnson at the plano. The theater's production of Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte," conducted by Friedemann Layer. with Renee Fleming and Jennifer Lermore in the female leads, will be reprised on March 13, 16, 18, 21, 23, 26 and 29. Ticket prices at the Grand Theatre range from $13.60 in the top gallery to $146 in the dress circle on some nights. For more information call 212318.

The Grand Casino, at 19 Qual du Mont-Blanc, is the setting for frequent lazz, pop-music and dance shows as well as theatrical sketches. Highlights: Ballet de Mexico of Amalia Hernandez with its marlachi orchestra, Feb. 1; National Ballet of South Korea, Feb. 20. For more information call 7320600.

MUSEUMS:

Visits to several important public collections are free as of early January, but this is bound to change soon. The city government plans to begin charging admission to its museums and may offer a ticket valid for three different institutions. Details are still to be announced.

Not to be missed: Museum of Art and History, at 2 Rue Charles-Galland, a five-minute walk from the cathedral, near the 125-yearold Russian Church with its six golden domes. The huge collection contains half a million objects from prehistoric artifacts to French Impressionist and early-20th-century paintings. It is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Sunday. For more information call 290011.

Maison Travel, at 6 Rue de Pults-St.-Pierre, near the cathedral, is a restored medieval dwelling of wealthy families, said to be the city's oldest residential building. It contains period furniture, a completely equipped ancient kitchen, painted business signs and an 1850 scale model of Geneva, house by house, in an attic hall. It is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday to Sunday. For more Information call 282900.

OLD CITY TOUR:

A stroll around the sloping, sheltered streets of the Vieille Ville (Old Town) is rewarding despite la bise, Geneva's redoubtable cold north wind there are enough cafes and taverns. for rest stops.

The main artery of the historic quarter is the narrow Grand-Rue, which is lined with art galleries and old-book shops, and leads up to the massive 15th-century city hall.

The Cathedral of St. Peter (St. Pierre), is a Gothic edifice that goes back to the 12th century and was built over early Christian sanctuaries. Impressive remains of the ancient structures can be seen in the archaeological site below the cathedral.

The entrance is at the right of the portico that became the main entrance to the church in the 18th century. Access to the excavations is permitted from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2-6 p.m. Tuesday to Sunday. Admission is $3.60; children $2.15.

Admission is free to the cathedral from 9 a.m. to noon and 2-5 p.m. (6 p.m. from March 1), but no sightseeing is allowed during services, beginning 10 a.m. on Sundays.

The French Protestant reformer Calvin preached in the cathedral. 1536 to 1564, and virtually ruled Geneva as a theocracy. The Gothic interior of the church is sober, the large organ in its rear modern.

A side chapel on the right, in flamboyant Gothic style and with stained-glass windows, is a graceful contrast to the austerity of the main nave. In clear weather an ascent of the north tower permits a panoramic view of the city, the lake and the snowcovered Alps.

Tower visits are permitted from 9-11 a.m. and 2-4:30 p.m. Monday to Saturday. Admission is $1.80; children 70 cents.

The colossal Reformation Monument, with the 20-foot-high statues of Calvin, the Scottish divine John Knox and other Protestant leaders, erected 1909 to 1917 by an international committee, occupies 320 feet of a rampart at the foot of the Old City's southern slope (Parc des Bastions).

GETTING AROUND:. Trains from Cointrin Airport to the Cornavin Terminal near the city center run at intervals of 10 minutes to 15 minutes, the trip taking just six minutes. The fare is $2.60.

Fares on Geneva's mass-transit network of trams, trolley cars and buses are about to go up, probably to $1.10 for short trips (up to three stops); $1.45 for longer trips. Tickets must be bought at the vending machines at the stops.

All-day network passes, $4.30 at the time of writing, are also expected to become more expensive; they are bought at the Transports Publics Genevols window in the underground mail close to the rail terminal.

(Paul Hofmann, former Rome bureau chief of The Times, visits Switzerland frequently.).

McNamees are not exactly a multitude, like many Irish clans. There were only 12 of them in the entire Northern Ireland telephone book, and most of them are Catholic. Any genealogist will tell you to follow your religious line first in Ireland and my McNamees were Presbyterians.

"Are they Protestant?" I said. "Yes."

Two Protestant McNamees constituted a windfall. At that very moment, of course, Micky came running across the court to say the bus was leaving without me. I grabbed a business card from versary of independence in 1992 as Homecoming Year and has developed a program to invite Finnish descendants from around the world to a year-long celebration. Michigan boasts the largest concentration of people of Finnish ancestry in the U.S. - 100,000 of the 600,000 Finnish Americans - so many of you may go.

Other nationalities are also warming up to homecoming ideas. Contact the U.S. travel office of the country in question for more information about tracing your roots. An aptitude for discovering desirable accidents will further your cause.

Oriental cuisine -Um Goi!

. Um Goi! (That's Good!) That's what a group of Oriental cuisine afficiandos will be proclaiming Feb. 4 as the Year of the Monkey is rung in in typically grand New Year's style.

• The metro Detroit Oriental dining scene is blessed with an abundant number of restaurants featuring the food from the Far East. Cantonese, Hunan, Szechuan, Thai, Vietnamese, you name it and there's a place certainly within driving distance.

MANY OF these "mom and pop" type establishments where the entire family gets involved in the day-to-day operations will be featuring a special menu for the Chinese New Year. Pot stickers, Princess shrimps, Peking duck, sesame beef and crispy fish will share the spotlight with dragon and lion dances, fireworks and toasts of good cheer for the new year.

ONE ESTABLISHMENT that's betting on a booming Chinese New Year is the Hunan Palace in Farmington Hills. Linda Parker and newfound associate, executive Chef Jack Dal are planning three straight days of partying beginning Feb. 2 and continuing through Feb. 4.

No stranger to gourmet Szechuan and other northern regional Chinese dishes, Parker has been in the restaurant business going on five years while Chef Dai has been wielding razor sharp cleavers for more than 20 years. Parker supplies the bubbles and hospitality for the front of the house while Chef Dai, a four-star rated chef for his famed General Tso's Chicken fires up the woks with grace, aplomb and of course, excellent taste. When it comes to making great Oriental food at home, Chef Dai claims that unfortunately, homemade wok set-ups just can't cut the heat like 50,000 BTU's of fire at local eateries. Chef Dai claims that electric woks are about as useful as electric donut makers. The secret to good stir frying is in the heat and the quality of ingredients, both of which can be found in abundance at the Hunan Palace. With the international appeal of Oriental food constantly gaining momentum with new tastes, many large scale grocery stores are expanding their shelf space for more far eastern goodles.

Follow monkey's lead to make money in '92

By Eleanor and Ray Heald special writers

ODAY, CHINESE food is more popular than ever. General Tso's Chicken is trendy and regarded as healthy good. It's flavorful spicy sauce delights the palate and is easy on the waistline.

Moo Shu chicken, duck or vegetables with Mandarin crepes is labeled gourmet. Szechuan spicy anything is stylish.

Additionally, celebration of the Chinese New Year has become the "in" way to cure mid-winter blahs.

FEB. 4 ushers in the year of the monkey. Chinese astrology describes people born under this sign as achievers, clever, intelligent and even genius. According to Shen Yu, proprietor of New Peking restaurant in Garden City, "Chinese people regard the monkey as smart. In this year, people should follow the monkey's lead and develop ingenious ideas to make money.'

Sounds like good advice in a recessionary economy! Chinese New Year holiday customs go back thousands of years when people celebrated for five days or more. Traditionally, Chinese families prepare for the New Year by cleaning house, settling quarrels and paying debts. Parents and children shop together for special foods.

Above, these costumed characters help create a festive Chinese New Year atmosphere at Mon Jin Lau In Troy. Left, a new year's feast of spring rolls, seafood taro's nest, fried ravioll with cheese pesto rice noodles and rack of lamb.

WITH ALL due respects to the grocery stores, Linda Parker says that for a truly unique far eastern shopping experience, readers should check out the Evergreen Supply Company located at Lahser and 8 Mile road in Southfield. Parker calls it "The K mart of Oriental stores that features everything for the kitchen." I remember shopping there when I was a kid, especially when we needed some exotic mushrooms with magical names like "cloud ears."

Momma was never proficient and to this day wouldn't know what to do with a wok, but has turned up many a satisfying beefchop suey dinner in her Farberware skillet.

A random survey of friends found that most folks who dine at Oriental establishments stick with pretty much the basic Moo-Shu's and stir frys.

Restaurants like the Hunan Palace are proud of their effort to subtly bring around a change offering a scale of heat and splciness to match the diner's preference. Many establishments offer on-premises catering and private party rooms that can handle an intimate dinner for two, or dinner for 200.

If there's an Oriental restaurant in your neighborhood or you wish to try the New Year's 10 course dinner at the Hunan Palace, call for reservations. Trust me. You won't be disappointed.

See recipes inside.

THE CHINESE lunar year has a month of 29 or 30 days. The 15th of the month was always a full moon. Twelve months totaled 357 days, less exact than the solar calendar. Accordingly, leap years were given an extra month to compensate. The western calendar has been used in China only since 1910.

According to the Chinese Zodiac, each successive year is named after one of 12 animals, in this order: rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, sheep (or goat), monkey, rooster, dog, boar (or pig). The Chinese believe that the year a person is born influences personality.

STORE ROOMS of Chinese pastry shops are bursting with ingredients for special holiday delights that will carry the "fu" or happiness stamp. Children practice an ancient custom of decorating the house with red paper, a symbol of good luck. Parents give red-wrapped "lucky money" to their children.

Guests come bearing gifts of sweet lotus seed, preserved ginger or the holiday's special red "luck candy."

Celebrate 1992 Chinese style

In case you didn't make any New Year's resolutions family earlier this month tested or, if you have alwinner ready broken those you did dinner make, you have a Betsy second chance. The Chinese New Brethen Year falls on Feb. 5 this year, beginning the year of the Monkey. It is traditionally a time for family reunlons, honoring ancestors and thanking the gods for their blessings.

This-week's-Winner-Dinner-Winner, Rosa Lau of Beverly Hills, is looking forward to entertaining friends and their children at her home on New Year's Eve. Married, and the mother of two children, Lau will prepare a 10-course meal with the help of her mother, Wen Hwei Peng who lives with them.

Originally from Taipei, Taiwan, Lau has lived in this country since 1971 and received a degree in accounting from Wayne State University. Although she has worked for three years as a Realtor for Snyder, Kinney, Bennett and Keating, she continues to practice her accounting skills on an as-needed basis for: Fischer Bulck in Troy.

One of Lau's favorite hobbies is flower arranging. She has organized a group of people who meet regularly at a friend's house with a Chinese teacher who has taught them how to arrange flowers, combining the best of eastern and western styles. She is also a member of the Cathay Melodies, a Chinese choir that rehearses every other week at the Troy Community House. This choir is the oldest and largest of any kind in Michigan. Every other year they perform for the public. They are busy rehearsing for a concert in May at Oakland University in Rochester Hills.

Lau and her family also participate in lectures and activities sponsored by the Chinese Cultural Center on Big Beaver Road in Troy. They are planning an exhibition of Chinese watercolor paintings at the center 25 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 1. If you are interested in learning more about the many classes and activities offered by this wonderful organization, call 689-5667.

Lau also enjoys cooking, and her recipes for shrimp stir-fry, Chinese salad and almond gelatin Chinese style are easy to make and offer a refreshing change of pace. Favorites of her family, they are sure to appeal to your family's palate as well.

Some places to celebrate Chinese celebrate year of the monkey

With all this celebrating, isn't wine in order? "Champagne and sparkling wine works wonders with Chinese good," said Marshall Chin, proprietor and culinary director at his family's Mon Jin Lau restaurant in Troy. This suggestion hits the mark.

We've also been confident recommending an Alsace gewurztraminer or dry California gewurztraminer to accompany Chinese cuisine. "Currently, there's no better California Dry Gewurztraminer than the 1989 2-Moore," said Chin. "With appetizers, I recommend the 1990 Coldridge Semillon-Chardonnay from Australia. It's sturdy and refreshing - just what's needed as a first wine with spring rolls, Chinese ravioli or sushi.

"FOR A highly stylized fish or chicken entree such as Cantonese Roasted Cornish Game Hen that's honey-roasted with Chinese herbs and spices topped with shredded scallions and cilantro, a bigger, fuller Chardonnay is needed. My current favorite is 1989 Newton. This wine also pairs handsomely with shrimp, sea scallops and pickerel fillet in taro's nest."

To complement dishes such as Mongolian Rack of Lamb with spicy peanut sauce or Mandarin Steak (a marinated filet mignon topped with spicy ginger garlic sauce), Chin re-commends the 1989 Rosemount Show Reserve Syrah and the 1990 Bogle Merlot.

With such upscale, but valuepriced wine suggestions, it's easy to understand that Chin has departed from a "traditional Chinese' cuisine at Mon Jin Lau. He has studied and worked in family Chinese restaurants since 1955. He's worked with chefs from China, Taiwan, Singapore, Malaysia, France and America. His food is an ecletic blending of local and imported ingredients plus techniques adapted mainly from Chi-Da.

TO COMPLEMENT his contemporary Chinese offerings, and educate his palate, Chin samples wines frequently. He is among Michigan's most accomplished wine tasters.

Chin also recommends several beers as flavorful and refreshing matches to spicer dishes. These include: the Chinese Tsing Tau and Asahi Dry, Kirin Ichiban and Sopporo from Japan. In the year of the monkey, we wish you prosperity. "Kung Hsi Fa-Tsai" (in Mandarin) or "Kung Hay Fat Choy" (in Cantonese).

Wine Selections of the Week

The best value new releases from California come from The Monterey Vineyard. You're sure to find a wine you like from among these bottlings. The 1989 Classic White and Classic Red ($6) are pleasantly aromatic and well-flavored. The 1990 Classic Sauvignon Blanc and Classic Chardonnay are characteristically varietal and tasty pours. From the 1989 Clasic Cabernet Savuvignon and Classic Merlot, the merlot hits the mark as a best buy red wine with generous aromatics and soft, silky drinkability. All four Classic varietal wines retail for $7.50.

Celebrate the Chinese New Year at Mon Jin Lau, 1515 E. Maple at Stephenson Highway in Troy, 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 2, and Monday, Feb. 3. It is a special occasion replete with hors d'oeuvres, a main course, and choice of entree followed by dessert.

Entertainment including a Lion Dance, (a shorter version of the dragon used in Hong Kong for the New Year). Because the papier-mache lion head weighs 30 to 40 pounds, several costumed performers take turns as the lion. Chinese music, firecrackers, magicians and fortune tellers keep the restaurant patrons in a holiday mood for hours.

Cost for dinner is $49 per person. A special wine package to accompaay dinner is an additional $14.50. For reservations, call 689-2332.

To celebrate Chinese New Year and the 10th anniversary of his New Peking restaurant, 29105 Ford Road, Garden City, Shen Yu is offering a banquef-style, 12-course traditional Chinese meal 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 3, through Thursday, Feb. 6. Cost is $26 per person.

Entertainment includes lion and fan dancing, performed at the Feb. 3 dinner only. For reservations, call 425-2230.

The Association of Chinese Americans, Inc. is hosting a Chinese New Year Celebration Banquet, 6 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 2, at Oceania Restaurant in Meadowbrook Village Mall, Walton and Adams Road, Rochester. Twelve-course traditional Chinese banquet catering by Oceania- Inn Restaurant, traditional Lion Dance and Kung Fu demonstration. Donation $25 per person.

Oceania Inn Restaurant will offer a New Year's Celebration feast with traditional Lion Dance 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 5, Friday, Feb. 7, Saturday, Feb. 8 and Sunday, Feb. 9. Call 375-9200 for reservations
