School board recall leader: Drive still on

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Recall leaders denied widespread rumors last week that they had dropped their campaigns to oust Wayne-Westland school board mem-

A committee seeking to recall board members Kathleen Chorbagian, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak blamed the rumors on the school district's administration.

"It's just another ploy by the administration to try to discredit our effort and to try to cloud the issues and cloud the voters' minds," said Steven Lind, chairman of New Beginnings for our Children (NBC).

NBC wants to recall the board members for approving teacher pay raises of 11.9-percent over two years, amid threatened program cuts for students.

Despite being blamed for the rumors, administration officials. appeared dumbfounded by the ru-

"I haven't been able to get it straight. I've heard the rumor, but I cannot substantiate it," Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svitkovich said, though he added that "it (dropping the recalls) would be a positive move for the school district."

A-second recall group that has targeted board president Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek for favoring the teacher salaries has stopped its petition drive, but the chairman indicated that the campaign hasn't faltered altogether. FREDRIC HAGELTHORN, leader of Citizens for Honest School Government (CHSG), said his petition drive could be revived if Lind's group succeeds in getting a special recall election scheduled prior to the regular school board election June 8. Hagelthorn launched his campaign last year in direct response to Lind's

If a recall election isn't held prior to June 8. Hagelthorn said, Kozorosky-Wlacek's fate would be decided if she decides to seek re-election, because her term is set to expire.

Rumors that the recall campaigns had been dropped spread rapidly through the school district last week. Lind called the rumors "complete garbage."

The rumors raised questions about whether the recall groups would have enough time, prior to the June 8 election, to petition the Wayne County Elections Commisssion for a special recall election.

For each school board member, the groups need 4,420 signatures of registered district voters to petition the elections commission for a recall election. It could take the commission as many as 95 days to have the signatures checked and schedule an election.

COUNTY OFFICIALS confirmed that a recall election still could be held prior to June 8, depending on how soon the recall committees submit their petitions. Recall leaders have indicated their campaigns have slowed down.

Unless the petitions are submitted soon, it's possible the elections commission wouldn't have enough time to schedule a recall election within 30 days prior to the June 8 regular election. The elections commission could hesitate to approve a special election in the 30 days prior to the June 8 election, because voting machines can be tied up for such reasons as recounts and might not be available for the regular election, said Marya Siemenski, a commission member.

However, the commission still would set a recall election after the June 2 election, Siemenski said. But only Posey and Spisak could be recalled at that point, because both Chorbagian's and Kozorosky-Wiacek's terms would have expired. Board members can only be recalled for actions taken in their current

New schools chief to get at least $100,000

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Wayne-Westland's new school superintendent will be paid at least $100,000 a year - and probably more, school board members agreed Thursday .-

The base salary marks a $2,000 increase over the current $98,000 that's paid to Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, who plans to retire after an eight-year stint on Aug. 31 under pressure from a board majority. The board's decision to advertise the post for a negotiable salary of at least $100,000 emerged Thursday during talks with Chicago-based consultants that the board hired to lead its search for O'Nelll's successor.

Consultants Roderick Bickert and William Hazard warned the board that it will have to top the $100,000. mark - possibly by several thousand dollars - to draw top-notch trict. Some districts with only onethird of the Wayne-Westland enrollment are offering higher salaries, they said.

The consultants came to Wayne-Westland last week for talks about the superintendent search with school officials, district workers and community representatives. They met with groups as diverse as Save Our Schools, which had supported O'Neill's policies, and the Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education Committee, which wanted him fired.

"This is the most important decision that you're going to make for your school district," Bickert told the board in a two-hour session Thursday evening at the district office on Marquette. The board is expected to hire a superintendent by mid-May.

Board feuds over O'Neill pact By Darrell Clem staff writer

A heated dispute erupted last week among Wayne-Westland school board members over a proposal to review the contract, including pay issues, of embattled Superintendent Dennis O'Neill.

Prior to the Jan. 27 session, three board members had telephoned the board president to indicate they wanted a specific law firm to issue an opinion on the contract that expires Aug. 31, when O'Neill plans to retire amid pressure from a board majority. O'Neill has been on medical leave for three months.

The telephone calls again raised concerns of whether board members are arranging majority votes behind the scenes, though the Jan. 27 proposal failed after the dispute arose.

Board members Laurel Raisanen, Vicki-Welty and Fred Warmbier had telephoned board President Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and indicated they wanted the law firm of Keller, Toma, Schwarze, Schwarze, Dubay and Katz to review O'Neill's contract.

The same board members came under fire in October, when they were accused of behind-the-scenes talks that resulted in a warning to O'Neill that he would be ousted unless he stepped down as superintendent. When the Jan. 27 proposal arose, board member Andrew Spisak became angry and reminded the board that it already has an attorney, Stewart Slatkin, who handles labor issues.

"Why didn't you ask the board?" Spisak asked, when Kozorosky-Wiacek mentioned hiring the alternate firm for a second opinion on O'Nelli's contract.

THE BOARD president explained that she raised the issue because she had received telephone calls from Welty, Ralsanen and Warmbier.

"I don't pull these things out of thin air," she told

Residents hot over 'snow' job, say crews keeping roads on ice

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Some Westland residents, warned of potential fines if they don't clear ice from their sidewalks, have criticized city officials for failing to remove lingering ice from neighborhood streets.

But city officials made strides in clearing ice-packed streets after last week's warmer weather replaced a severe cold snap that had kept streets frozen solid.

"We are getting more and more of the roads cleared every day," said

Carl Clark, Westland's public services director. "We will continue to scrape every street in the city until all the ice is gone."

Overall, he said, "I think the people who work in this department have done a bang-up job."

City road crews had received praise for snow-removal efforts that stemmed from a record snowfall that blanketed the city in mid-January. But then rain and ice fell, followed by severely cold temperatures that kept some streets slick last week despite warmer weather.

Some residents telephoned the Observer to complain, Others contacted the city, though Clark said inquiries from critics were outnumbered by calls commending work crews.

The lingering problem: "We can't remove ice," Clark sald.

Stubborn ice has failed to budge as city trucks continued efforts to scrape streets clean, he said. The city has tried to keep six trucks working to remove ice, but some trucks have broken down, leaving as few as three on the roads at times.

CITY OFFICIALS finally lifted a

Feds seek hiring agreement extension

By LeAnne Rogers staff writer

The U.S. Justice Department is seeking an extension on its soon-toexpire consent decree with Garden City governing the city's hiring prac-

"We don't know if they see a problem to tell you the truth," said personnel and special projects director, . Ben Myers, "Some consent agreements are being extended. We need to examine whether it's a specificproblem or a blanket extension."

The Justice Department has asked Garden City to agree to a 60-day extension to the consent agreement, due to expire Feb. 8, for document cluding Livonia and Redford Township, sued by the Justice Department. All of the communities, with GARDEN CITY was among 18 the exception of the city of Warren, entered consent agreements.

Garden City entered the consent agreement with the Justice Department in February 1987, to settle a lawsuit charging the city with using hiring practices that discriminated against black applicants.

The Detroit office of the U.S. Attorney referred questions to Washington. Justice Department spokesperson Amy Casner did not return telephone cails.

"The council hasn't discussed this. We are asking them to go into closed session tonight to discuss it with the city attorney," sald Myers.

Under the consent decree, in which the city denies having discriminatory hiring practices, the city follows federal mandates in its employee recruitment.

"The consent decree provides an overview for the selection process," said Myers. "It establishes markets we have to reach in the selection process and reporting standards to meet in hiring full-time employees."

The consent decree didn't set any hiring quotas for the local communitles, but targeted residency requirements for job applicants and local government employees.

Aimed primarily at entry level positions, the consent decree requires the city to advertise job openings in the Michigan Chronicle and one of the Detroit daily newspapers.

"The consent decree was to make sure that our hiring practices didn't have an adverse effect on black applicants," Myers said. "The city has to follow certain procedures and meet the reporting requirements."

During the five years of the consent agreement, the city has reported every six months on hiring and termination activity, he said. Currently the city has no full-time black employees among its approximately. 160 member workforce.

New schools superintendent to get at least $100,000 a year

Bickert warned the board that increasing the $100,000 offer by several thousand dollars "should not stand in the way" of hiring a superintendent. Otherwise, top-notch candidates could shy away from the embattled district, in part because of its political turmoil, he indicated.

BOARD MEMBERS have clashed on numerous issues, including O'Neill's forced retirement, teacher salary increases and a tax increase that voters approved last June after rejecting three earlier tax proposals. Moreover, some taxpayers became angry after last fall when a $4.4-million budget surplus emerged, despite earlier predictions the district would be virtually broke.

Board member Kathleen Chorbagian raised concerns Thursday about the $100,000-plus salary.

"We've got a community that's not going to support those kinds of salaries. They didn't before," she said.

Chorbagian, noting that many district residents work for automotive companies and face an uncertain future, said, "The perception in this community is that (school officials) are paid too much."

Board member Laurel Raisanen, critical of what she feels are excessive administrative salaries, conceded Thursday that the board will have to "bite the bullet" and pay $100,000 or more for a new superintendent.

Board President Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek said she believed taxpayers wouldn't resist the salary, if they know they're getting a superintendent who can improve the district's performance.

"We need some strong leadership, and I believe that people are willing to pay for it if they know it's there,'

Aside from the salary, the board also will be faced with paying additional money to provide the superintendent with a car, expenses for outof-town conferences and memberships in professional organizations, the consultants said.

IN HIS talks with local citizens, Bickert said he learned that they want a new superintendent who can bring financial stability and longterm planning to the troubled district.

Bickert and Hazard plan to begin advertising the job nationally in ear-

But Spisak called it improper for the new firm to take over Slatkin's duties of examining O'Neill's contract for such issues as a payout on his retirement.

Although Raisanen conceded at the meeting that she may have "acted improperly" in her handling of the issue, she added that she wanted to have "new eyes", looking at the contract.

Spisak responded: "Mr. Slatkin would lie for Dr.

O'Neill. Is that what you're saying?"
"No," Raisanen replied. "That's not what I'm saying."
Warmbler defended Raisanen. "We need another opinion on this contract so we can draft a new contract," he said.

AT ONE point, Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svitkovich reminded the board that discussing O'Neill's contract at length in public session could "constitute a violation."

Posey suggested the board should first talk with Slatkin before considering whether to have the second firm issue an opinion - a suggestion that resolved the dis-

"I want to make sure that Dr. O'Neill gets what's coming to him," Posey said.

The board is expected to meet with Slatkin this week.

NEA president raps Bush education plan

The president's proposed federal budget for fiscal year '93 is an inadequate response to the pressing domestic needs facing the nation, said Keith Gieger, former teacher in Livonia who now is president of the National Education Association:

The budget includes the same old rhetoric and programs for which the Bush and Reagan administrations are famous, said Gieger who served as president of the Livonia Education Association while a faculty member in Livonia Public Schools.

"In fact, the most significant change from last year's proposed budget to this year's proposed budget is the date. President Bush gives no recognition to the dramatic changes that have occurred in the world.

"Yet poll after poll shows that the American public recognizes that the nation is on the wrong track. Americans want to invest in education, in health care, in programs that meet the needs of people - especially children. It is time to reinvest in America - to reinvest the defense savings afforded by the 'new world order' into meeting our pressing domestic needs.

"But this budget does not reinvest - it redistributes. And any changes come at the expense of other domestic programs."

As an example, Gieger pointed to the "new" money that the President is touting for his America 2000 proposal (which seeks to move public taxpayer dollars into private and parochial schools) comes by eliminating 34 existing federal education programs.

"It is truly a matter of taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another - without adding # issue won't raise taxes By Marie Chestney staff writer the technology. Livoria schools: Bond

staff writer

Some Livonia school disict residents have trouble believig that if they approve a $62.1 millig bond issue for the Livonia Public \hools in the Feb. 10 special electin, their property taxes won't go up.

'The biggest problem whave is that the news is almost todgood to be true," said Jack Kirkey, the school administrator who been spearheading the bond isse cam-. paign in the district, which neludes the northern section of Westind.

"They don't understand low we can float a $62-million boli-issue and not change the tax rate."

THAT QUESTION is one of two questions sure to emerge a every gathering the district holdsto tell residents what the bond issulmoney

The money will be used to uy the latest in computer hardwie and software and to make hysical changes in school buildings house

The money also will be used to renovate school buildings, primarily to make them accessible to the handicapped, and to improve classroom lighting, renovate science labs and bring school buildings up to code. All work will be done over the next three years.

Residents also ask, Kirksey said, if money from the bond issue will somehow leave the district under the state's "Robin Hood" approach to school-aid financing and wind up in another district.

"There's skepticism that somehow the state will get it," Kirksey said. "They fear the money may leave the district and go elsewhere. But the funds derived from the bonds are not subject to the Robin Hood approach. Our operational funds may be, but the bond money is exempt from the Robin Hood concept."

EXCEPT FOR residents in a small area of Westland southeast of the Joy-Farmington Road intersection, the miliage rate would remain unchanged if voters approve the older bond issues that are being paid

A tax increase could be realized by Westland residents who live in an area bounded by Farmington Road, Joy, Merriman and Hines Drive.

That area was placed in the Livonia district more than 20 years ago after the division of the former Nankin Mills district. That portion of the district has a lower bond debt rate than the 1.05 mills now being levied. The current debt tax rate is .40 or 40 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. Kirksey estimated taxes for these residents will increase about $18 a year if the bond issue passes.

Kirksey likens the 30-year bond issue to taking out a 30-year mortage, with families up to the year 2022 paying for work done in the 1990s.

The bonds will be retired over the next 30 years, so in effect the people using the buildings over the years will be paying for them, rather than asking just the people currently using the buildings to pay for this increase," Kirksey said.

Band wants to wear varsity jackets

By Marie Chestney staff writer

While they march and play at school athletic events; Churchill. High's marching band believes school rules about the wearing of varsity jackets leave band students playing second fiddle to the school's athletes.

Band members and their parents, upset that band members can't wear their band award letter on Churchill's official school jacket, plan to voice their grievance Monday before the Livonia school board.

The district includes the northern section of Westland with local students in the northwest section attending Churchill.

In Wednesday's edition of the Charger, the school newspaper, musicians outlined their concerns that when it comes to wearing the school jacket and earned school letters, band members are second-class students.

"We're told that the school board has the power to tell us how to display the awards, and that that policy can be changed," senior Kristy Benz told members of Churchill's Band Boosters, a parent-student group, Monday.

In the school paper, Benz and fellow student Rose Hamel polled nearby districts to see if they banned students who earn a non-athletic award from wearing it on the school jacket.

Most had a less-restrictive school policy, Benz said. "Some said they never heard of such a policy," said Benz, who said she polled the Walled Lake, Northville, Wayne-Westland, South Redford, Clarenceville and Plymouth-Canton districts.

Band Boosters members voted unanimously Tuesday to take the issue to the school board next Monday

THE OUTCRY over the wearing of the school jacket had reached the point where Principal Rodney Hosman issued a memo Jan. 20 to band students and their parents spelling out rules on the wearing of a band award on a varsity jacket. "We feel that the decision made last spring to support our practice of allowing only varsity athletic award winners to wear varsity jackets with awards displayed on them to school should still be supported," Hosman

"What this means is that students may indeed purchase a varsity jacket and wear it to school and school events without the display of any award that they have earned at Churchill."

Hosman said the district will sk merchants to sell school jackets only. to students who have, written virification from the school's athleto director that they have earned as athletic award. We will, however, not ask a student who has a jacket simila to a varsity jacket displaying no syards on it, not to wear that jacket to school," Hesman wrote.

Hosman outlined three options for students who already have bught a school jacket.

They can keep the jackt and leave the band award on it, lut they can't wear it to school or school activities. They can remove he band award from the jacket and rear the jacket to school or school ctivities. Or students can sell the jadet to the school and get their moneyback.

BENZ WORE her own lack varsity jacket with its red lefer "C" on the front to Monday's meting. Numerous medals earned ir band activities were pinned of the letter

Several band membes, including junior Jackie Newman sophomore Talitha Dutton, freshmh Glen Hipple and freshman Aminda Bloomfield, said they planne to stand be-side the adults when they take the fight to the school boad Monday.

One parent, Jacquline Lee, gave a written opinion fron her own personal attorney, Terrifforency, to the president of the Bad Boosters, Michael Weldon. Lee said she had sked Morency to research the legality of the school's ban against the wering of non-ath-letic letters on the shool jacket.

"Without in-dept research into this particular situation, it seems to be a violation of the students' consti-tutional right to reedom of expression for the prin pal, athletic director or the schol board to prevent one group from isplaying their letter award why allowing another group or group the same freedom,' Morency wrote

Students mint have the grounds for a class adon lawsuit, Morency wrote

Before buing her own child's jacket, one mither said she had read Churchill's hadbook to see if the school place any limitations against buying them

She said he found nothing in the handbook Usay she couldn't buy a

Another arent said she called a Churchill cunselor and was told her child coulduy and wear the jacket.

On Moray, students and parents will ask bard members to change the rules that all students can display anyletter they earn on the school's icket.

Townships say new sewer line will help clean Rouge

By Wayne Peal staff writer

A sewer line extension, announced Friday, is billed as the end for a major source of Rouge River pollution.

Three western Wayne townships said they will extend a new sewer line to the Ypsilanti Communities Utility Authority treatment plant, expanding their wastewater capacity, but also eliminating waste currently dumped into the Rouge.

The Western Townships Utility Authority, representing Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships, announced an $81 million construction project to extend its major sewer line, already under construction, to the Ypsilanti treatment plant.

"This makes us the first three communities in Wayne County to be in full compliance with the Rouge River Remedial Action Plan," said Canton Supervisor Thomas Yack, chairman of the three-community authority.

The communities are under Michigan Department of Natural Resources orders to address sewer discharges.

The line is an alternative to the North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley "son of super sewer" project, involving other western Wayne communities. Townships declined to join that project, predicting they could meet state guidelines better, and more cheaply, on their own.

UNDER THE new plan, water treated at the Ypsilanti plant would be pumped back into the Rouge - eventually at the rate of 29 inillion gallons per day - increasing the river's flow and its ability to riditself of pollution.

"I don't think we'd be able to water ski, but we can all look forward to the day when we can once again fish in the Rouge," Yack said.

Water currently discharged in Belleville Lake would be diverted to the Rouge via the new line, DNR officials said, cutting down on the nutrients that are choking the Van Buren Township lake with vegeta-Phase one of the sewer line is scheduled for completion this year. It extends the line to the Michigan Avenue/Haggerty intersection in eastern Canton.

The second phase, unveiled Friday, will extend southwest to the treatment plant. It is expected to be completed in 1993. Bids have already been submitted, township officials said.

All three townships are expected to begin sending a portion of their wastewater to Ypsilanti as soon as the line is completed, and to fully join the Ypsilanti system in 19 years when their current, 50-year contract with Detroit expires.

FOR PLYMOUTH Township,

the new line means an end to com bined sewer overflows. Overflow: are caused by old, outmoded com bined sewers that dump both storn water and human waste into the Rouge during heavy rains.

Water from Plymouth Town ship's six combined sewer droi points will soon be carried to Ypslanti, easing Rouge pollution.

For Northville Township, tie new line means increased capacity potentially spurring development.

For Canton, the county's fastesdeveloped community in the pat decade, the new line greatly epands capacity, eliminating sewe backups and flooding.

Northville Township expects major housing, recreation and office development on 930 acres of laid formerly owned by Wayne Couny. Plymouth and Canton township #ficials, however, downplayed he effect the sewer would have on levelopment in their communities

"This isn't going to spur growh," Law said. "We have about 25,00 people now and I doubt we'd eer grow much beyond 30,000."

YACK SAID he believed the lies would more likely be used bydevelopments already under tay than spur additional developmet.

New sewer rates are hard to predict, Yack said. "As it is.Detroit is already talking about increases."

County proposal to be fine tuned

· A proposed ordinance requiring members realize that American-Wayne County to buy Americanmade goods whenever possible is moving forward, albeit with some adjustments.

County Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, said she's fine-tuning the "Buy American" proposal after last week's public hearing on the or-

"We're going to be reviewing the ordinance and talking to county legal counsel about several items," said Beard, chairwoman of the county commission audit committee.

Domestic content is chief among the items to be discussed. Committee made products might not exclusively contain American-made parts, Beard said.

Committee members are also considering a proposal that would alter the county bid process, offering greater preference to American suppliers.

"WE DID hear from a woman who said she lost a county salt contract to a Canadian firm," Beard said.

The proposal is based on a federal law that regulates goods the county buys with federal grant money.

Though numbers could be modified, the ordinance would cover purchases of $10,000 or more from the county's general operating budget.

County contractors would also be required to use Ameircan-made goods for all contracts of $50,000 er

Beard said the audit committee will review the document at least one more time before passing it on to the full commission.

"We're trying to be careful, we want to help American businesses, but we don't want to be punitive, either," she said.

Barns proposal sweetens state's early retirement plan

AP - State workers who are too young or too leery of the early retirement plan they're being offered might get a crack at a sweetened proposal offered by a local state rep-

Proposed by state Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, the early retirement plan would have no age restrictions like the current one. It would still require a state employee's age and years of service to add up to 70. It would make another 2,000 people eligible to retire early.

To attract more participants, the plan would add another five years of service when calculating workers' pension amounts said Barns, chairwoman of the House Senior Citizens and Retirement Committee.

"THIS IS a way of humanely cutting down staff and downsizing state government," Barns said. "There are people who are 45 years old who have been here 25 years. If they want to move up north and be a fishing guide they can do that."

She said such a program would cut down on the number of people the state would have to lay off due to hudget shortages, and save unemployment costs.

But some officials worry that her bill is quashing the success of the current plan, which is in the midst of its six-month enrollment period. They say, workers might hold out for a chance to boost their pensions.

Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, said the cost of the five-year grant would be astronomical.

"It's simply out of the question. It's too expensive to do," Fitzgerald said. "The state's fiscal situation hasn't improved. All it's doing is holding out false hope for people. There may be something (else) we could work out as an inducement."

Gov. John Engler hasn't taken a position on the bill yet but will by the time Barns' committee meets to review it, said William Whitbeck, director of the Office of State Employer and Engler's counsel for executive reorganization.

Engler has opposed early retirement incentives in the past.

William Kerans, a spokesman for budget director Patricia Woodworth, said the current program should be evaluated when it is over before a new one is considered.

Whitbeck said he also was worried the bill would hurt the current early retirément plan in place.

BUT BARNS said the participation rate should be higher than the current 25 percent. Officials were hoping for 40 percent.

An estimated 6,000 of the state's 64,000 workers are eligible to retire early. That is being at least age 50 by April 1 and with age and years of service that add up to at least 70.

But so far, only about 980 have committed to retiring and another 170 have applications out. About 1,400 are expected to retire. That would save the state about $11 mil-

The six-month application period would begin in September, and the workers would have to retire by

The state would save money because only half the workers who left would be replaced, and because new hires would come in with lower salaries and less vacation.

State workers have been offeredearly retirement twice in the past 10

For four months in 1984, they were offered an 80-and-out plan with a $240 to $360 monthly bonus until their Social Security benefits began: About 52 percent of those eligible, 1,975 of 3,801, took advantage of the

A yearlong 80-and-out plan was offered in 1989, but it offered no monthly bonus. About 40 percent, 864 of 2,179, opted out then.

Whitbeck said additional layoffs would be required this year, in part due to the 4 percent pay raise that went into effect for state workers but wasn't funded in the budget. He couldn't say how many layoffs might be necessary.

The Department of Mental Health expects about 1,300 layoffs due to the closure of several facilities over the coming months:

Area chambers join study to link metro businesses

Leaders from local chambers of commerce from Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties will meet in March to continue discussions on forming a Tri-County Chamber Coalition to unify the metropolitan Detroit business community.

The group met earlier this month and "the response to the concept was very positive," said Phil Meagher. president of the Southfield Chamber

"The majority of those in attendance at the meeting held in Royal Oak supported the idea for a stronger metropolitan linkage and will seek support of the concept from their respective chamber boards of directors."

Representatives from 23 chambers, including those in Plymouth, Livonia, Canton, Farmington/Farmington Hills, Birmingham/Bloomfield and West Bloomfield, attended the Jan. 16 meeting.

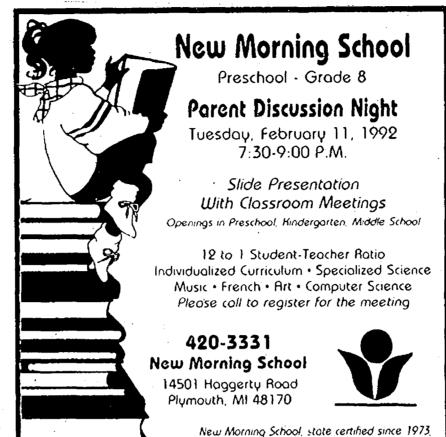

John White, president of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, said the #### new voluntary network would provide an important business link, not an overlapping organization. "The need and role of local chambers of commerce has never been greater," White said. "But if southeast Michigan is to prosper, we must work together in areas that will improve businesses in all communities.

"Those areas could include tricounty legislative and political affairs, increased communications between chambers and communities; meaningful tri-county programming. and business development; and much-needed leadership development," said White.

"The challenges facing the 21st century in metropolitan Detroit demand it's no longer business as usual," said Steve Morris of the Warren, Center Line, Sterling Heights Chamber of Commerce.

Do buy American or it's bye America

BY ALL APPEARANCES, the sport coat sitting on the chair next to my desk was made in America. The designer's name is on it, Perry Ellis, and above it in large lettering it says 'America." But in small letters below the words 35 percent polyester. the tag says it was made in India.

Chances are I wouldn't have even looked at the label if it hadn't been for a book that came my way. It's title is "Made in the USA," and it was published by the Made in the USA Foundation.

Leonard best seller, but it does help solve the mystery of where products come from. I'm a ninth-generation American and have prided myself in never having had a Toyota in my driveway or Perrier in the refrigera-

Dodge mini-van. But as it turns out, it's about as American made as Labatts. It was made in Canada with plenty of Japanese parts.

Figuring out what's American and what isn't is a tough task. The guide.

Here's a list of the good and bad, based on the book:

• Men's clothing. L.L. Bean, Wal-Mart and Brooks Brothers don't sound like they have much in common. But they do. They all carry a wide selection of American made

• Women's clothing. Liz Claiborne is on the hit list here. Although she calls her line "Great American Collectibles," much of the stuff is made in the sweat shops of Hong Kong and Taiwan. The good guys here are Ralph Lauren, Jones N.Y. and Evan Picone who have their stuff made here.

• TV SETS. Zenith Electronics

still makes one in the U.S., although the firm does have a plant in Tijuana, Mexico, a community known for another type of entertainment indus-

• Cars and trucks. You can buy an American made Toyota. Just check the serial number. Those made in the USA start with J. Also, check under the hood, American made Toyotas have Delco batteries.

• Fax machines. This baby was nade in America in the 1920s by AT&T, but somehow ignored until the Japanese jump started the business. It's nice to know that 60 percent of the computer modern circuits found in fax machines are made by Rockwell International.

• Furniture. We're all accustomed to seeing some weepy Hollywood star going on and on about saving the Brazilian rain forest. It's the thing to do. But I wonder if inside the star's home there isn't a teak dinning room set or a chair made from ebony. Both are imported woods from rain forests. There are American woods, of similar beauty such as bird's eye maple or walnut. And they're not being cut in environmentally sensitive areas.

• Bottled water. Perrier is perhaps the most ridiculous imported product of all. It's nothing more than French tap water, and recently some, was recalled when it was found to be contaminated with benzene. Faygo carbonated water is about the same thing and is a heck of a lot cheaper.

* Watches. You can still buy one made here. Hamilton Watch Co. of Lancaster, Pa., hand assembles

• Sports equipment: Nothing is more American than baseball, however, there are no balls made here. According to the book, "Wilson, Rawlings and especially Spalding, which claims to be America's first baseball company, produce their baseballs in Haiti.

NOW THAT the 1980s buying binge is over, it's time to wake up and smell the coffee, Kona Coffee from Hawaii or Cafe Rico, from Puerto Rico.

· We've sent enough of our money to the sweat shops of Asia. We need to keep it here. If not, our childen will be working in the sweat shops of the future.

Falcons win tourney title

Glenn places 3rd, Luth. Westland 4th at event

staff writer

Other teams had more individual champions, but nobody could match the overall depth of the Farmington wrestling team Saturday in the first Observerland Invitational.

The Falcons overwhelmed their area opponents as 11 of 12 wrestlers earned medals (finishing fifth or better) and enabled Farmington to amass 1941/2 points at Garden City High School.

"Maybe we can get ranked on top now," Farmington coach Al Beyar said, referring to the fact that Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Salem had been rated ahead of the Falcons in Observerland.

"Everybody won it for us. That's the way it's been all year. We placed everyone but one kid, and he won two matches for us. So it was a total team effort.'

CC and Salem finished lower than expected, in fifth and sixth place, respectively, and the meet offered a few other surprises, with Plymouth Canton, Westland John Glenn and Lutheran Westland taking the Nos. 2-4 positions.

SALEM'S DAN Bonnett and CC's Dan Kelly were named the most outstanding wrestlers.

Both were the top seeds in their weight classes and defeated the No. 2 seeds in the final. Bonnett pinned two opponents in 30 seconds or less before winning 13-0 over Jon Duff of Farmington at 125 pounds. Kelly also had two pins at 171 and defeated Canton's George Young 13-7 in one of the best matches.

"You get warmed up and get your confidence in the first match," Bonnett (26-1) said. "In the second, you find out what you're doing wrong and correct those things. By the final match, you've got what's working for you that day.'

Farmington, which won its third tournament title, had one champlon in Rob Cavagnol at 189:

In addition to Duff, the Falcons got third-place finishes from Matt Siskosky, Ryan Adams, Mike Pallo, Dave Monge and Jason Holliday. Steve Lemieux, John Economy and Mike Prough were fourth, Matt Smith and Rob Sutton fifth. Chris Darnell got sixth place.

"Cavagnol did a tremendous job," Beyar said. "He wrestled a very smart match (in the final) and technique-wise was about as perfect as you can get.

"WE'RE JUST a real strong, wellbalanced, dual-meet team, and we can place just about everyone in a tournament. That's been our strong point all year."

The tournament not only provided a venue for area wrestlers to demonstrate their talents, but also for the Observer to showcase one of its employees. Salem's Scott Martin, who won the 119 championship, delivers the Observer newspaper.

"I was Carrier Of The Month, too," he said. "It's a good job. The Observer is a good paper. I'm glad to deliver the paper, wrestle in the tournament and be associated with the pa-

Canton also made an impressive showing. The Chiefs placed nine wrestlers, including Joe Hunter, who won the 152 title on an injury default over Lutheran Westland's Mike Kaitner. In addition to Young, Andy Strahan was second, with Nick Spano and Jerry Flynn getting Glenn had a pair of champions in Tom Pace (103) and Mike Mancini (112), and Matt Graca (130) and Shane Hall (145) captured secondplaces spots.

"Mike probably wrestled the best I've seen him wrestle," Glenn coach Dave Hill said. "The Plymouth Salem coach (Ron Krueger) said we looked like an entirely different team, and it's a good time of year to start wrestling that way."

In an unfortunate situation, Glenn's Mike Reeves, who was undefeated and seeded No. 1 at 152 pounds, was disqualified for using an illegal move in his semifinal match with Kaitner and was subsequently withdrawn from the tournament by Hill, who said he did so to protect who finished sixth, from any further problems.

"IF YOU continue in that same vein there are other things that can happen, so I chose to pull him," Hill said, adding the Rockets lost more than 30 points by the move. "He's such a good boy. It leaves a bad taste. I know the parents are not happy but it bothered me, too."

Lutheran Westland capitalized on its opportunity to go head-to-head with the Class A powers in the area. Tony Horvath won the 130 championship, and six others also placed, including Kaitner, Mace Mattieson, Doug Johnson, Craig Shafer and Jamle Hardy.

Dan Kelly of Redford Catholic Central won the 171-pound class with a 13-7 win over Plymouth Canton's George Young in the

"It's about time they start getting Reeves, an emotional competitor respect in the area," Garden City coach Phil Freeman said. "People say they have a weak schedule, they're a Class C school and they don't wrestle in tough tournaments. They showed a lot today."

"Lutheran Westland sure woke up a lot of people," Beyar said. "A lot of people have been taking them lightly for years but not any more."

Salem had the most champions with Jeff Shumate capturing the 145 crown. CC and Garden City also had two winners. Jason Krueger, who won a decision over Jared Lawrence of North Farmington in the 160 final, upheld the CC reputation by winning the title as expected.

"Coach (Mike) Rod(riguez) tells us everyone is shooting for us, so it's there no matter where you go, Krueger said. "I was a little tense. I had never seen the guy before and I heard he was a good wrestler. I started off slow and got my shots at the end."

Garden City's Chris Gorak and Jason Peterson took first-place medals at 135 and heavyweight, respectively. Peterson beat Siskosky in the semis and got an escape in the final seconds to edge Hardy 5-4. North Farmington's Marcus Brown won the 145 title and boosted his record to 23-5.

"We got our fair share of champions," Freeman said. "Peterson wrestled great all day, and Gorak was Gorak. He always wrestles tough at tournament time. He's a real spark plug for our team."

Todd Siedlaczek had the other Churchill goal and he also picked up a pair of assists. Churchill outshot the Patriots, 41-19.

Joe Huber was Franklin's goalie. The Chargers enjoyed a 5-2 win Thursday over Bloomfield Hills

Andover at the Detroit Skating Club. Allen scored two goals and had a pair of assists for the Chargers, who led 2-0 after one period and 4-1 after two. Steve Grom, Sledlaczek and Mike Johnson scored single goals for the Chargers. Defenseman Corey Swider had two assists, as did Siedlaczek, for Churchill. Flo Jentzimer, Johnson and Larry Allen also assisted on FRANKLIN ALSO battled Andover on Wednesday, winning a 2-1 tussle at Eddie Edgar Arena. Franklin was outshot 41-25 so the Patriots needed a valiant performance from Huber.

"Franklin's defensemen played their best games of the year," Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt said. "They kept the majority of Andover's shots outside of the circles and never allowed a rebound. Our team continues to play very well and above everybody's expecta-

Strong setters lead Charge(rs)

Livonia Churchill stayed undefeated in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls volleyball race with a four-game victory Wednesday over visiting Walled Lake Western.

The Chargers, now 4-0 in the WLAA and 12-3 overall, won by scores of 15-6, 15-3, and 15-4. The Chargers' only loss came in the fourth game, 10-15. Kristi Szymanski and Aimee Cousino led as setters with only one error between the two.

Krista Laidlaw and Julie Campau were usually the recipients of the setting, recording seven and nine kills, respectively. Chrissy Daly had six kilis.

Szymanski helped Churchill in Game 1 with six serving points, and Daly had eight serving points in the second game. Nancy Granzow finished with five blocks.

FARMINGTON HILLS MERCY didn't have to wait long for a rematch with Livonia Ladywood, and the Marlins made the most of the opportunity Thursday.

Mercy, which lost a three-game match to the Blazers a week earlier, evened the score with a 15-12, 15-6 victory at Mercy.

"They were very good games but we didn't breeze through, even the second game." Mercy coach Ann Kolnitys said. "We had to play tough to beat them."

The Marlins, who dropped from the coaches statewide poll after the loss to Ladywood, improved to 5-1 in the Central Division of the Catholic League and 23-5 overall. The ninthranked Blazers also are 5-1 in the division 14-3 overall.

A pair of senior outside hitters led the Mercy attack. Karen Pinkerton had 12 kills and Shannon Goff seven. Golf also did a great job serving, Kolnitys said, with 13 errorless serves and three aces.

Junior Angela Assad thwarted the Ladywood offense with five solo blocks and five assist blocks, and senior teammate Wendy Wolski had four and five, respectively. Junior setter Jill Jarosz controlled the match and "played with a lot of confidence," Kolnitys said. "She is a big reason why we performed so

Opponent no match for Madonna

By C.J. Risak staff writer

If only all the games could be like

Madonna University's women's basketball team looked unbeatable Thursday against Grand Rapids Baptist. Problem is, almost everybody looks that way against the Lady Comets. Maybe the Lady Crusaders will be that good against everyone in the near future. Who can tell? After all, they are still in the hunt for the fourth (and last) NAIA District 23 playoff berth. Their 64-43 rout of Baptist left Madonna at 3-4 and in fifth place in the district: the Crusaders are 5-13 overall.

Two of Madonna's five victories have come against the Comets, it's true. But remember: A year ago, the school didn't even have a basketball team. So the record isn't so bad; certainly it's better than Baptist's winless card in the district and 1-17 mark overall

IT WAS apparent from the start the Comets had just two reliable offensive weapons: guard Jandi Hil-lacker and center Laurie Crawford. This inside-outside threat wasn't enough against Madonna.

"Defensively, we played pretty well," said Crusader coach Bill Potter. "We gave up a few more points in the second half than I wanted to, but we played pretty well.

"We wanted to make them shoot as far outside as possible. We didn't think they had the shooters."

Potter was right about that. Crawford and Hillacker accounted for 24 of their team's 43 points. It might have been more, except Crawford got into foul trouble in the first half and ended up fouling out with 5:49 left in the game.

Madonna had controlled the paint with Crawford in the game for Baptist. With her eliminated, the Crusaders dominated.

"That was our main thing," explained Potter. "We wanted to go down low all night and get them into foul trouble."

CRAWFORD'S BASKET with 15:40 left in the first half gave Baptist a 6-5 lead. It was the last time the Comets were ahead. Madonna scored six-straight points, four by Jill Burt, and slowly pulled away. In the last 13 minutes of the first half, Crawford and Hillacker scored all but two of Baptist's 16 points.

By the intermission, the Crusaders were ahead 31-20. Burt had 10 firsthalf points and Cheri Sangregorio netted seven. Crawford was beginning to cause trouble for Madonna inside - she had eight points at the break - but she drew her third foul with 4:57 left, and her effectiveness was lessened.

Sangregorio's wasn't, though. The 6-foot junior from Birmingham (Groves HS) followed her strong first half with a better second; she finished with a game-high 19 points, 12 rebounds and four steals. Burt ended up with 15 points and seven boards, and Lori Creten collected eight points and eight boards.

After trading baskets for the first 215 minutes of the second half, Madonna took complete control with a 12-0 run. Baptist never got closer than 16 after that.

Despite fouling out, Crawford led the Comets with 14 points. Hillacker totalled 10 points, eight rebounds and four assists.

Churchill tankers even record with 4th victory

Livonia Churchill evened its boys swimming dual meet record Thursday with a 101-82 win over visiting Walled Lake Western.

The Chargers, 4-4 overall, were led by Jeff Danner, who won two events and swam on two winning relay teams.

Danner won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1 minute, 8.1 seconds and the 200 Individual Medley in 2:15.7. Dan Mooradian, Danner, Zach Kasprzak and Ty Terhune won the 200 medley relay in 54.9. Jeff Shamberger, Danner, Jeff Raines and Greg Kasprzak won the 200 freestyle relay in 1:48.2.

Other individual winners for Churchill included Terhune, 200 freestyle (2:12.77), Rob Moore, diving (253.2 points), Zach Kasprzak, 100 freestyle (59.9) and Shamberger, 100 freestyle (58.27).

Moore, Mooradian, Matt Baranowski and Greg Kasprzak won the 400 freestyle relay (4:00.7).

REDFORD CC 106, NOTRE DAME 77: Redford Catholic Central rested some of its top swimmers Wednesday and still came away with the easy win over host Harper Woods Notre Dame.

swimming

The Shamrocks are 5-1 overall and 2-0 in the Catholic League's Central Division. CC won only three individual events and two relays, so its depth was the difference in the lopsided meet.

"A lot of guys got a chance to swim who normally don't get a chance," CC coach Pete Leonhardt said. "We haven't swam anyone real good yet, so we haven't really gotten fired up or swam with any emotion."

Randy Teeters, Devon Fekete, John Brogan and Kevin Markell swam to a victory in 200-yard medley relay in 1 minute, 47.93 seconds. Fekete, Jason Sosnowski, Steve Reinke and Chris Meck won the 200 freestyle relay in 1:37.89.

The Shamrocks individual winners included: Paul Magoulik, 50 freestyle, 24.52; Meck, 100 butterfly, 58.95; and Jason Macyda, 100 backstroke, 1:05.19.

SC women lose 5th consecutive cage encounter

Superb balance and a transition game that was in high gear kept Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team stumbling.

The Lady Ocelots suffered their fifth-straight loss in Eastern Conference play Wednesday, losing 75-62 to Oakland Community College at SC. The defeat almost certainly ends any hopes SC may still have had regarding first place in the conference: the Lady Ocelots fell to 2-7, and dropped to 12-10 overall.

All five Lady Raider starters reached double-figures in scoring, thanks in part to a running game that converted easy opportunities after most SC misses. OCC led 38-32 at the half, and its lead just kept ex-

Wayne wastes no time, 73-41

The delaying tactics employed by Wyandotte Roosevelt Friday only delayed the inevitable.

The Bears should have gone back into hibernation after the first quarter of their Wolverine A League basketball game against visiting Wayne Memorial. The Zebras increased their two-point lead after one quarter (16-14) to 11 by halftime (34-23); and Wyandotte never threatened after that in absorbing a .73-41

The win upped Wayne's record to 11-1 overall and kept the Zebras perfect in league play after nine games. Wyandotte slipped to 1-10 overall, 1-8 in the Wolverine A

"They held the ball the whole game and played a cat-and-mouse offense until they could break somebody free," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry. "It was interesting - we hadn't faced anything like that this year."

Maybe for him it was interesting. No doubt the Bears lost interest after Wayne's lead jumped to 53-29 entering the last quarter.

DeMarco Robinson's 19 points and eight rebounds paced the Zebra rout. Dontez Prewitt and Rick Barnes each contributed 12 points, with Barnes grabbing five boards.

Wyandotte was led by Jason Tarrence's 13 points. Scott Nagy added 12.

Afflerbaugh scored to points to lead Farmington, including baskets late in regulation and the first overtime to keep the game going. Jensen tollowed with 14 points, Tucker 11, Gallagher 10 and Fitzpatrick seven.

Stevenson led 25-22 at halftime and extended its lead to 13 points in the third quarter. The Falcons trimmed the margin to 40-29 entering the final period and outscored Stevenson 18-7

 Afflerbaugh scored with three seconds left in the fourth quarter to tie it at 47:47 and again with :05 remaining in the first OT to knot the score at $1.

With the Falcons up two and 11 seconds left in the second-OT, Fitzpatrick made both ends of a one-and-one free-throw opportunity to give Farmington a 58-54 lead. Matt Grodzicki hit a three-point shot at the buzzer for the Spartans. Grodzicki had a game-high 19 points for Stevenson. Ryan Furkas scored 12 and Colin Stockton 10. The Falcons outrebounded the Spartans 42-29.

victory at North Farmington Friday. The Rockets improved to 6-4 overall, 4-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. North is 3.7 overall, 1.4 in the WLAA.

We made mental mistakes at the end," said Franklin coach Rod Hanna.

The biggest came with :40 left and the Patriots down by two. Keith Roberts, who had performed well throughout the game, drew his fifth foul and went to the bench. "That was the ball game," said Hanna.

Without their big offensive gun, Franklin's hopes for victory diminished. Jeremy Teachman hit a pair of free throws, and the Patriots had to foul to get the ball back Roberts finished with 15 points for the Franklin, which slipped to 6-4 overall and 2-3 in the WLAA. Jeff Witkowski had 14 and Jeff Hunt scored nine. Mike Pesci sparked the Hawks with 23 points: Paul Gilvydis was limited to eight by Franklin's tough delease. Harrison improved to 7-2 overall, 4-1 in the WLAA. The Chargers (2-8 overall, 1-4 in the WLAA) put up a fight until the final quarter. Northville (6-5 overall, 3-3 in the WLAA) trailed by three In the second quarter, but behind Schramm's 11 points managed to go up 31-27 at the half.

Churchill was still within striking distance (51-43) entering the final period, but the Mustangs sank 13 free throws in the final eight minutes to pull away.

Ryan Huzjak collected 19 points and 12 assists for the winners. Schrarnm and Chris Lehr each had 17 points, and Mike Maschek totaled 10 points and 12 rebounds.

Shamrocks' Varga scores 44 in fight-marred win

By Darren A. Nichols staff writer

On a night when punches became the first half's main attraction, Chad Varga provided the main artillery.

Varga, the Richmond-bound senior forward, had 44 points, nine rebounds and three assists in Redford Catholic Central's wild 85-69 win over visiting Redford Bishop Borgess.

Varga shot an incredible 17-for-20 from the field and 10-for-10 at the freethrow line in a game that was upstaged late in the first half by a fight between the two teams.

'I noticed in the warmups that my shot was falling, and I knew I could take them down low." Varga said. "I was able to post-up easy, and my guards made good entry passes.

Senior guard/forward Bob Kummer added 24 points, seven rebounds and four assists for CC, which improved to 11-1 overall and 6-0 in the Catholic League Central Division.

SENIOR GUARD Lamar Westbrook

"Chad's offense was outstanding," CC coach Bernle Holowicki said. "I thought he played a big-time game. They were shooting to get us, but I thought that he was the key. He moves strong to the basket. Bobby (Kummer) gave us some help, and Eric (Justice) beat the press in the big moments."

A bench-clearing fight caused the officials to stop play with 11 seconds left in the first half and CC ahead 51-38. While going for a loose ball, an unidentified CC player, objecting to aggressive play by three Borgess players, shoved one Spartan while trying to get off the floor.

Both benches cleared, a couple punches were exchanged, and several fans ran

Order was restored, however, and the referees called no technical fouls and chose to end the first half at that point and add 11 seconds to the third quarter.

Both teams came out in the second half and shook hands in a show of good sportsmanship. There were no other skirmishes the rest of the game.

"IT WAS JUST a couple of tempers scored 19 points for Borgess, now 3-6 flared," Varga said. "There is no need for overall and 1.5 in the division. Darwin that kind of thing to happen on the high Cegers added 14 points and Perry Robin-school level or any level of the game.

"It basically happened in the heat of the game. Coach told us to keep our heads, and this is not what CC is all about.

Said Borgess coach Mike Fusco: "It was an aggressive first half. One player got overly aggressive, both benches cleared and one thing led to another. Kids play with emotion, too.'

CC, which never trailed, broke the game open with a 14-6 run midway through the first quarter. Mark Gondek started the spurt with a basket with 2:14 left in the quarter. After a basket by Borgess' Randy Whitefield, CC scored on two straight possessions to go ahead 21-15 with 1:18 left in the first quarter. After both teams traded baskets, consecutive three-pointers by Tom Laco and Kummer ended the quarter with CC leading 29-19.

The Shamrocks led 51-38 going into the half, after a reverse double-clutch dunk by Varga with 42 seconds left.

"We need to play smarter defense," Fusco said. "We're a young group of newcomers. We're on a down period now. We hoped to be getting on the upswing, and we hoped it would happen today."

Wordsy Wally is ode so tuneful

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

In Wally's world, there's plenty to poke fun about.

Easy targets such as farmers, geeks, politically correct hippies. wacko roommates, old girlfriends with acne and cities with less than sterling reputations get lampooned with Wally Pleasant's jagged acoustic strumming and piercing voice.

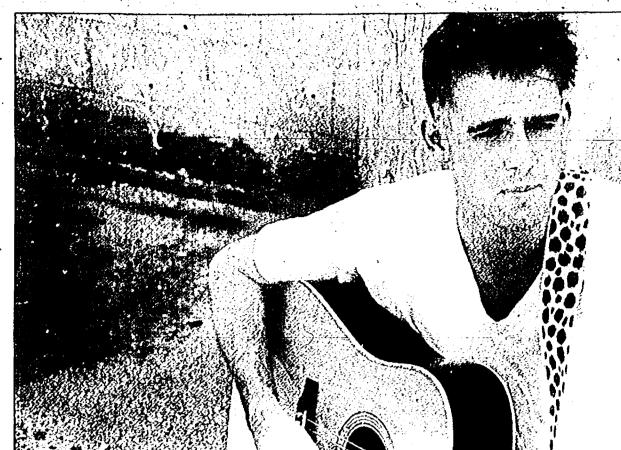

The 1985 graduate of Birmingham Groves High School doesn't mean to be mean. In fact, he wonders out loud if his "Ode to Detroit" cut on his debut release, "Songs About Stuff," might have gone too far.

"I think in that song about Detroit I was a little mean," said Pleasant, 24, who compares the Motor City to Beirut in one reference. "But I was bummed out about that woman (Joanne Was of Farmington Hills) getting beat up in Detroit and when I hear rumors about how the city government doesn't run efficiently, like school board members riding in limousines . . . '

Pleasant shrugs his shoulders. Too late now as "Songs About Stuff" is already in record stores. And college radio in East Lansing has chosen to play the Michigan State grad's "Ode to Detroit" with particular glee.

Such is the muse of a singer/ songwriter whose biting commentarics on the (mundane) human condition might rankle a few along the way. Truly Pleasant's songs are his own, humorous ditties carved from

A LARGE PART of his material is strewn bits and morsels from carefree college existence. He yodels about a house mate who skipped out, owing a $400 phone bill, in "Psycho Roommate" and yearns for those simpler days when a 2.9 GPA was the loftiest goal to be reached in "Restless College Years."

His finer moments are achieved when he turns a tad sentimental, recounting the innocence and anxiety of a first date in "First Love."

Thanks to some solid radio support by WDBM-FM, Pleasant found an immediate following in the East Lansing area. A record store there immediately sold out of 25 copies of "Songs About Stuff."

So far, Pleasant has found a niche, opening up for fellow East Lansing power pop outfit the Hannibals.

In the meantime, Pleasant continues to write. He's amassed 40 originals already and is continually evolving as a songwriter, inspired by the story telling capabilities of seminal '60s folk artists Phil Ochs and Arlo Guthrie.

"I think I'm getting more into deeper themes and I like to keep the humor aspect going," Pleasant said. "I'm apt to write a song with humor not as a central theme but to fill in the cracks to make sure people are paying attention."

Base your decision what is true at that time

Dear Barbara,

My husband just finished three marijuana addiction at a local hospital. He has used the drug for more than 20 years (off and on with periods of abstinence), and it has been a problem which has slowly eroded the foundation of our marriage (honesty and trust) for the last 10 years. Finally,—at—the-end-of-June,—I caught him using again (he supposedly had been clean for 18 months) and gave him an ultimatum - treatment or divorce. Treatment was the lesser of two evils, apparently. The issue was brought out by his counselor in the program that Bill's treatment was mostly a "head trip" (intellectual) rather than a "heart trip." His counselor talked about the emotional repression Bill has, which is probably a lifelong thing. (Bill is 42.)

The program did not get through to him emotionally to any great degree, although he found it "interesting, informative, neat" etc. Now he is beginning a six-month commitment for aftercare, which will involve one group meeting per week plus two NA (Narcotics Anonymous)

moves in a career.

His attitude about all of this is weeks of intensive day treatment for fairly cooperative although I sense a lot of resentment and a belief on his part that this is something to just be "gotten through." "I'm willing to go along with whatever they said," is what he said.

I think a lot of his resentment stems from the fact that the main thing he wanted to do is to STOP SMOKING POT, and this, in his opinlon, has been done. Now, he says. EVERYONE wants him to make big changes in who he is as a person, i.e., become less artificial and agreeing with everyone, more genuine, more feeling and emotionally available,

I might, mention we are both ACOAs (Adult Children of Alcoholics) and his role was (is) definitely Lost Child. He had no interest in addressing his ACOA issues - feels quite comfortable that the "past is Anyhow, with this background, my question for you is, are there any 'guidelines' on what you would hope to see in a "recovering person," both positive and negative?

After his three weeks, he seems so now, the mention of words like "addiction, recovery," etc., cause him to react with instant frustration. Yesterday, he sobbingly explained to me that he is happy with who he is as a person and that he isn't going to be 'tortured" to become someone he isn't to fit some mold. He is open to the idea of emotional growth, but stresses that he is who he is and has had the exact same personality since he was a small child, i.e., loner, not very social outside his own family, etc.

Is it possible for a person to really recover and essentially be the same person? I've talked to other recovering people who laugh and say things like "Oh, you wouldn't have liked me before . . . I wouldn't have liked me before . . . I'm a totally different person now, more outgoing and honest, able to connect with people,"

This was said by an alcoholic with five years' recovery who really hit rock bottom before he got help. My husband never reached "rock bottom." He has been in a class all his own as an addict; even his counselor agrees. Perfect attendance at work, burned out on the subject that, right all house jobs taken care of, fairly good father, fairly good husband, etc. Do big changes go hand-in-hand with a successful recovery? Can he

be recovering but not changing? Somehow, I think not. It just seems like change would have to accompany growth. I know a lot of this will be answered as the coming six months unfold. In the meantime, I am entering a co-

dependent program at Henry Ford

Hospital. Because of Nar-Anon, I have realized that I am sick, too, and need help. I have so much fear about his recovery. I am giving myself 12 months to make a decision about my future with him. I might mention we have two pre-teen daughters, which complicates any decision I might make, I know this lefter is lengthy, but I would appreciate your insight into the question of what to expect with recovery. I have come to know you and respect you through your column in the paper for a few weeks recently. I was concerned that it "went away," so I was glad to see you back this week!

Your sense of caring, wanting to help, along with your willingness to say you're not always perfect either has really given me the sense of a "real person" behind the column, and I hope you can share a little of yourself with me. Cheryl

Dear Cheryl,

I read your letter and felt how deeply troubled your situation would be for any wife. In your letter you present a treatment program for yourself and your husband for the next six months. My immediate response to you would be to take this time to see what happens. Then, base any further declsions on what is true at that time. Many individuals who have attended AA meetings have started with attitudes like your husband. Some of them have changed dramatically, like the man you refer to in your letter. Some, as you fear with your husband, have failed.

Make this a trial of labor, and put 110 percent effort into it. If you do that, perhaps you will change in six months and then you will see things clearly and know what to do. As you are now, you are naturally indeclsive. If you change, you may be decl-

British 'Have It' depicts a miscarriage of justice

Would-be gangsters Derek Bentley and Chris Craig perch on a warehouse rooftop, searching for a way inside, When the police arrive, Chris pulls out a gun.

"Let him have it, Chris," Derek begs before the young psycho wings a policeman and shoots another straight between the eyes.

Derek's damning statement helped send him to death row in 1952. "Let" Him Have It", is also the name of the powerful new film playing at the Detroit Film Theatre that examines this dark moment in legal history. It is one of two films screening this week that depicts a miscarriage of justice.

The other, "Paths of Glory," is an early Stanley Kubrick anti-war statement set during World War I. It continues a Wednesday night retrospective of works by the acclaimed director at the Magic Bag Theatre in Ferndale.

Here, a vain French general (George Macready), intent on winning a battle at all costs, sends wave upon wave of soldiers out of the trenches to certain death. When the mission fails, three soldiers are picked to be court-martlaled and sentenced to execution by firing visual style, which includes deep focus photography. During long tracking shots through the battlefield, a few feet seem like miles as soldiers fall back dead into the trenches.

KIRK DOUGLAS has one of his best roles as the men's sensitive leader. He's also their only defense at the military tribunal which is determined to make an example of cowards.

Swift justice is also the key to "Let Him Have It." The much-publicized trial took only two days. Never was it mentioned that Derek suffered epileptic attacks and had a mental age of 11. The jury still recommends mercy for the obviously troubled Derek, but the court insists on carrying out the execution.

The story focuses on Derek and his family, led by Tom Courtenay as the father, who try to protect the boy from the mean streets of post-war London and later struggle to save his Air raid sirens in World War II open the film. Bricks are removed from a pile of rubble to reveal, a wide-eyed young boy beneath, shaking uncontrollably and bleeding from the ear.

After a stint in a reform school for ... vandalism, Derek locks himself in his room where he listens to records and reads comic books. His sister urges him to venture outside, help her with errands, and visit the local record shop. He unfortunately gravitates again to the wrong crowd.

To Derek, Chris Craig is the living embodiment of gangsters in movies like "White Heat," which the friends see together. He's got a whole arsenal of guns which he trades at school like baseball cards. When it comes time for the shoot-out on the roof, Chris wants to check out Cagneystyle, guns ablazing.

PETER MEDAK, who directed "The Krays" in 1990, shot outside the studio as much as possible, giving the film a gritty realistic quality. He paints another vivid picture of postwar London, where rationing is still in force and large families cram into

Christopher Eccleston, in his feature film debut, elicits sympathy because his Derek is so trusting and vulnerable. You can tell, for instance, that the boy has been roughed up plenty by vengeful policeman when you see him at the trial. His actual capture didn't involve a struggle that would result in bruises.,

Not all of the film works. Derek's sister Iris (played by Eileen Atkins) was consulted in the making of the film and thus appears overly sweet and two-dimensional. A scene in a schoolroom where a teacher confiscates students' firearms is surreal and out of place.

This is, however, one of those rare films that has the power to influence the legal system and the public conscience. Like Errol Morris' "The Thin Blue Line," it has reopened the controversial capital punishment question and may someday clear Derek Bentley's name of the sense-when those careers get a little dull, he's the enemy of evil. He's Buckaroo Banzai, and he's just too good to be true.

Peter Weller has the title role in The Adventures of Buckaroo Banzai," a very intelligent and witty sort of sci-fi adventure that's been a cult favorite since its release in 1984.

After completing some rather tricky surgery without working up a sweat, our hero heads out into the desert for a matter experiment. Driving a souped-up Ford truck, equipped with an oscillator overthruster, Buckaroo penetrates a mountain, passing through the eighth dimension.

The success of this little gizmo triggers an intergalactic crisis that could result in the whole planet being fried, if Buckaroo doesn't straighten things out.

It seems a vicious dictator from Planet Ten was overthrown and imprisoned on earth in the eighth dimension. The dictator's minions want to get their hands on the oscillator overthruster, which would enable them to release their leader and get back in power.

IF THE dictator isn't kept where he is, the aliens who ousted him will destroy the earth to get rid of him once and for all. Buckaroo is going to be a busy guy.

Leading the bad guy allens (there are good guy aliens as well) is a demented mental hospital escapee, Dr. Lizardo. Hilariously played by John Lithgow, with an accent as thick as pea soup, the wild-eyed scientist sneeringly dismisses earthlings as "monkey boys." He had a been a brilliant scientist himself before a little laboratory mishap.

This is a fast-paced and literate movie. You can enjoy watching it on a television sitcom surface level, but there's a lot more to it, if you pay attention and participate in some active viewing.

How could you not like a movie that involves aliens landing in Grovers Mills, N.J., on Nov. 1, 1938, a Rastafarian alien, a rock band that doubles as a SWAT team and Jeff Goldblum as a surgeon who likes to wear cowboy clothes, including wooly chaps, and likes be called New Jersey since he's from Fort Lee?

You'll even notice the president, who is undergoing back treatments throughout the movie, bears a strong resemblance to Orson Welles in "Citizen Kane." (See the above reference to Grovers Mills.)

> THERE IS a subplot involving Buckaroo's budding romance with a woman he picks out of a crowd while performing at a rock concert.

It's a very funny scene when, as the truly sensitive guy he is, Buckaroo singles out that one person in the audience who just isn't having a good time and tries a little crisis intervention. Naturally the woman, played by Ellen Barkin, ends up mortified and things start going downhill from there.

The cast is all very good at handling what is essentially a silly and fun story with a light touch. Christo-pher Lloyd and Dan Hedaya are familiar faces among the allens. Weller is very good in what is probably the toughest part, playing an essentially perfect guy with style.

A whale of a race

San Diego hosts America's Cup Challenge

By Martha Stevenson Olson New York Times Syndicate

Although the changeable winds of financial fortune may have brought a chill to preparations for the 28th America's Cup Challenge, which began its trial matches here on Jan. 14, the weather in San Diego is expected to remain sunny and warm, as usual.

And the veneration the competition inspires, along with the revenues it is expected to bring, may yet redeem the embattled America's Cup Organizing Committee and the cup's defender, the San Diego Yacht Cup.

Dennis Conner, who in 1987 won back the America's Cup he had lost to Australia in 1983, and then successfully defended it against a New Zealand challenge in 1988, says tepid funding means he has had to stick with his one and only boat, the Stars & Stripes.

Most of the other teams — at last count there were 10 challengers registered from nine countries as well as another American team competing to defend the cup - will have built at least two boats in the process of selecting one to represent them in the races; several syndicates have built four, at a total cost of up to $40 million.

Many of the yachts are already installed at various berths around San Diego, and last-minute secrecy - or uncertainty, in the case of the Russian and Yugoslav entries - surrounds the arrival of the remaining boats.

This year's yachts must be constructed to be lighter and faster than the previous racers.

designed for excitement as well. One S-shaped leg of the course ends with boats tacking almost 200 degrees around the home buoy, and the downwind last leg of the race gives a possible advantage to the second-place boat.

Races began Jan. 14 with a series of round-robin elimination heats to determine which foreign boat will challenge which. American one during the America's Cup Match, a best-ofseven series of races scheduled to begin May 9.

For those wishing to attend the races a variety of packages has been organized by America's Cup Services, Travel Desk, at 600 West Broadway, San Diego, Calif. 92101. For more information call (800)

San Diego's modern skyline is nestled between the mountains on the east and the Pacific on the west.

922-8792 or (619) 233-0010.

These packages include airport transfers and a choice of hotels as well as tickets on race observation boats, admission to the America's Cup Museum and to Sea World or the San Diego Zoo, and access to a hospitality area called the America's Cup Club.

Rates range from $221 a person in double occupancy for a threeday stay in budget_ accommodations during the beginning matches, which end March 25, to $987 for a six-night stay in a luxury hotel during the America's Cup Match in May.

Observation-boat tickets only, with daily rates ranging from $30 to $150, can be reserved from the same address or by calling (800) 862-6652.

Providing a little extra excitement, at least in the race's early stages. should be the annual migration of gray whales, whose route to their birthing grounds in Baja, Calif., takes them near the race course site off Point Loma at San Diego Harbor's north end. One of the best land vantage points for viewing whales, yachts and the city skyline is Cabrillo National Monument at the tip of Point Loma. Crowning the point is a restored lighthouse dating from 1854.

There is a glassed-in whale-watching station on the bluff and free movies about whales at the visitors center. Admission is $3 a vehicle; those containing a United States resident over 62 years old get in free. For more information call (619) 557-5450.

The San Diego International Visitor Information Center, at 11 Horton Plaza, San Diego, Calif. 92101, offers a list of organizations that offer whalewatching trips through March, along with much other information. Call

"Small Wonders," a self-guided tour of the park's breeding successes, will open March 1. The park is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. during the winter. Tickets, which are sold only until 3 p.m., are $22.95; $16.95 for children 3 to 11. For

In one exhibit, "Gorilla Tropics," great apes interact in a rain-forest habitat, within arm's length of the separating plexiglass. The zoo's endangered-species breeding program ensures that on most days there will be some unusual babies on view.

The 200 is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $12; children 3 to 15, $4. For more information call (619) 234-

Adjacent to downtown is Balboa Park, its 1,074 acres redolent of eucalyptus. The Balboa Park Visitors Center, open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the centrally situated House of Hospitality, offers maps and information about special events as well as a $9 museum passbook, "Whales, Giants of the Deep," five moving, singing, life-size robotic cetaceans, opened Feb. 1 at the San Diego Natural History Museum, at 1788 El Prado. The museum also holds a seismograph, a display of minerals and exhibits devoted to the ecology of the desert, intertidal areas and the sea.

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5. For more information call (619) 232-3821.

Aromatic paella worth the work

I'll never forget the first time I sampled paella, pronounced (pieeh-yah).

It was a cold, rainy, thunderous night and of course I had to park six blocks away from the restaurant I was reviewing. The name of the place is not important; it closed long ago, another victim to Ann Arbor's ever-changing culinary whims.

MY SOURCES warned me about the size of the portion. Cooked in an authentic Spanish paellero, there would have been more than enough to share with my friend and possibly one other hungry person.

For the uniniated, a paellero is a cooking vessel similar to a slope-edged frypan, about 24 inches in diameter with two small grabbing handles rather than one long one, and a tight fitting lid.

WHEN OUR waitperson presented the pan with lid intact, it proved to be a sensory overload when the lid was lifted, giving forth a burst of steam while walts of saffron, spicy sausage, garlic and shrimps filled the air.

If memory serves me correctly, I knew I would be a fan of paella forever just for the enchanting aroma. It tasted even better than it smelled.

It was only fitting that the Wednesday after the blizzard of '92 fell upon us, I was rummaging through the fruit cellar looking for my whetstone when I found my paella pan, hidden in the back under placemats, breadpans and numerous springforms. I knew then and there I would venture to the market in search of ingredients for the perfect winter feast of the senses - a pot of paella.

ONE DOES not venture to the corner grocery for paella "fixins". My usual 20 minute drive to Alcamos on Schaefer in Dearborn for chorizo proved to be a little over two hours with the snowfall.

A stop at Anna's Seafood Market just west of Telegraph on Joy Road landed me prawns that had the checkbook gasping for

The cupboard was well stocked with an assortment of rice, the freezer replete with chicken parts. Even the spice drawer had an ample supply of spun gold saffron. By the time dinner rolled around, I was in full swing, anticipating a meal that was sure to titillate anyone's tastebuds, and it did.

Does one really need to have a paellero to make an authentic paella? No. Any large covered casserole will suffice, even those Corning things with lids you received for a wedding present 20 years ago.

WHEREAS AN authentic Spanish chorizo bursting with hints of pepper and garlic would prove outstanding, chunks of a good solid pepperoni would work_ and probably offer a more international appeal.

Chicken parts are nothing but chicken parts and most grocery store varieties will do. What you cannot compromise, however, are the three main staples that add texture and aroma like no other. First, do not skimp on the rice. Forget the instant, boil-in-bags and converted rice here, opt for the real stuff. Settle for nothing less than fresh garlic, if just for this once.

LASTLY, IF you have never purchased saffron before, beprepared for a surprise, one that you will not soon forget. Is the price worth it? You do not make paella without real saffron. Period.

There are two versions of paella that I have tried, both garnering rave reviews. The authentic, made with chicken. shrimps and chorizo, and another like the one at the Ann Arbor restaurant with seafood. You decide, you'll love them both. Trust me.

ENTION "PRESSURE cooker" to a dozen people, and 11 of them will respond - "My mother had one: they explode."

Toula Patsalis is doing her best to dispel the old fears about pressure cookers. "High tech has entered the kitchen," said Patsalis, cooking school director of the Kitchen Glamor stores based in Redford. "The same technology that brought us compact disk players and microwave ovens has been applied to the pressure cooker which ranges in price from $100 to $200. Please put it in caps: THERE IS NO WAY A NEW PRESSURE COOKER CAN EXPLODE - EVER, EVER, EVER!"

ABOUT FOUR years ago, Kitchen Glamor was approached by eight manufacturers of pressure cookers, Tips for cooking under pressure

For perfect pressure cooking, follow these tips from the woman who wrote the book on pressure cooking - Toula Patsalis.

· Make sure the manual has been read and is understood. · Examine ring and seal on unit as directed in manual.

 Read selected recipe thoroughly. · Organize ingredients before starting to cook. Prepare them by washing them and cutting into specific size.

Use proper measuring utensils.

· Check liquid measurements at eye level. Loosely pack dry ingredients and level off straight across top.

 Invest in an accurate timer. · Use heat diffuser on the range burner when cooking pasta, beans or rice.

proposing that their products be used in the cooking classes conducted in the four Kitchen Glamor stores in Rochester, West Bloomfield, Redford and Novi.

'We try to be open to anything new, so we agreed to test them and consider classes in pressure cooking. Well, they're a great toy: I played with them at home for a whole summer, and while I loved the cookers themselves, I also saw how ineffective were the manuals that accompanied them. They were either so simplified that the user was limited, or so technical that the user was put off entirely." Patsalis began collecting recipes, sometimes modifying them to taste, and developing recipes of her own. The results, 235 recipes ranging from soups to chutneys to cheesecake, were complied into a cookbook, "Joys of Pressure Cooking."

"I WAS really a convert to pressure cooking," said Patsalis. "It's the ideal cooking method for today's lifestyle. We're all concerned withnutrients. Pressure cooking offers one of the best ways to cook vegetables: the colors remain vibrant, the nutrients are retained, and most vegetables cook within a few minutes.

"And we all work. It's hard to get a meal on the table, synchronized with everything else we do. A pressure cooker can reduce the cooking time by as much as 70 percent."

Patsalis has offered the pressure cooking class in each store twice a year for three years. Average class size is 70 people, ranging in age from 25 to 70. Some of the older women are still using their 50-year-old Pres-

"The new generation of pressure cookers are stainless steel with an aluminum core," said Patsalis. "Aluminum conducts heat, but if there is acid in a recipe, cooking in aluminum alone will impart a metallic taste to the finished dish.

"IF I have a class of 80 people, and ask how many are afraid of pressure cookers, 40 people will put up their hands. If I ask how many of them have never cooked with a pressure cooker, the same 40 will show their hands," said Patsalis.

An enthusiastic alumna of Patsalis' class is Shirley Nachman of Southfield.

Chef fast cooker at home

By Keely Wygonik staff writer

When it comes to cooking under pressure, chefs are the experts. Day in and day out, they prepare meals for people at a moment's notice. Starting today, we will introduce some of the chefs who live and work in the communities the Observer & Eccentric covers.

Look for Chef's Secrets on the first Monday of the month in Taste.

JEFFREY BALDWIN, 32,

corporate chef for Normans Restaurants which operates Norm's Diner in Farmington Hills, Salvatore Scallopini in West Bloomfield and Southfield, Norm's Oyster Bar & Grill in Southfield, Norman's Eton Street Station in Birmingham and Nifty Normans in Walled Lake, has been cooking since he was 14. Baldwin is also a partner in Norman's Diner and lives in Farmington.

He designs menus, decides what the restaurants will feature, trains staff, and looks after the day-to-day operations of Normans' restaurants.

In his junior year at Walled Lake Central High School, he enrolled in the culinary arts program at Southwest Oakland Vocational Education Center in Wixon. After completing the two year program, he studied at the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, New York. At the time, he was the youngest student ever to be accepted into the program. As part of his training, he worked in a restaurant in Charlevolx, and later moved to Lake Tahoe. He opened two popular Detroit restaurants, Van Dyke Place in 1981, and the Whitney, in 1982.

Who does the cooking at your house? "My wife." Rosemarie and I both cook. We use our gas grill year round," said Baidwin, who has a 2-year-old son, also named Jeffrey.

Dinner at their house might include grilled salmon, pasta with a light cream sauce, and blob lettuce salad with mandarin oranges and blue cheese. "Everything I cook at home is fast," said Baldwin.

Favorite food: "The reason I'm in this business is I like everything. Seafood, especially crab legs are real high on my list. I don't put anything on the menu if I don't like Worst experience as a chef. "I was working in a fourstar restaurant in Nevada and one of the cooks pinched me with a lobster.

"I put an egg in his top pocket and smashed it. He threw something at me and missed. The whole staff got involved. Then the executive chef walked in. The next day we almost all got fired. We didn't because there would have been no one to work in the restaurant. It taught me to be strictly professional at work."

Best experience as a chef. "I cooked for Ronald Reagan's second inauguration. The theme was Taste of the Nation I prepared Michigan game sausages, venison, buffalo, pheasant and Traverse City cherry sausage."

Favorite herb or spice. "Basil, it has a fresh taste. I buy fresh basil and use it at home and in the restaurants. In the summer I grow it in my garden. It adds flavor." Favorite piece of cookware at home and at work. Baldwin likes good wire whisks for whipping up sauces. ..

Name five things in your refrigerator at home: "Dijon mustard, chopped garlic, freshly grated Romano cheese, fruit - apples, grapefruit, oranges, basil chopped up and stored in a small jar with oil."

Last cookbook read: "The New Basics Cookbook" by Julee Rosso and Shelia Lukins, $19.95, Workman Publishing, New York.

If you could cook dinner for anyone, who would it be and what would you serve them? "I would do a party for the Pros Master's Tournament at the Augusta, Ga. National Golf Course. I would create a Southern menu starting with a really good gumbo, crayfish appetizer, good chicken liver pate, crusted French bread, shrimp jambalaya and mud ple for dessert," said Baldwin who likes to play golf and ski in his spare time.

Kitchen tip: "Have fun with cooking. Don't be afraid of It. Trust your taste buds. Put your ingredients out before you begin cooking. When you're disorganized that's when you'll burn things.

"I never put my pressure cooker away. I even bought, one for my daughter who lives in Florida so I can cook with it when I visit her, said Nachman, She's a working mother, and she's converted to pressure cooking also."

Nachman, who's working to establish a local chapter of the American Institute of Wine & Food, owns upward of 1,000 cookbooks. She gives the highest praise to Patsalis' book.

"It's a wonderful book to read as well as cook out of. Everything I've tried has been a success; the recipes are foolproof, and the flavors are intense because the cooking time is minimal. The cheesecake is the creamlest ever."
PATSALIS INSISTS that it's all a matter of confidence. "Most problems come from overcooking, that means you don't have the timing down pat. It's essential that you acquire a good_timer along with the cooker. You can't put it on the stove and go to church.

"Everyone looks for different textures in foods. If you love veggies crisp, shave a few seconds off the time. Experiment - you'll be forev-

Book helps you give your sweet tooth its just desserts

By Betn Sundria stalf writer

The adage that a picture is worth a thousand words is especially true when it's illustrating a complicated

The Good Housekeeping Illustrated Book of Desserts, edited by Mildred Ying, and published in fall 1991 by Hearst Books of William Morrow and Co. Inc. ($25), uses pictures to make elaborate dessert-making

Also accompanying the recipes, are little tricks to make the desserts look good as well as taste good.

If pretty and imaginative desserts are your goal, this book has plenty of ideas. The recipe for Dreamy Chocolate Cake includes directions on how to make the grated chocolate curls to go along the edges of the completed cake. Cannoli Cake features instructions for making a feather design on the top.

The Creamy Rice Pudding recipe is topped off with a cinnamon lattice design. I tried this one out on guests at a party, and although I didn't get the lattice design as perfect as the picture, it was still impressive.

Double-Chocolate Mousse Cake. I was hesitant to try out new recipes on guests, but the picture was too pretty to resist. I had some trouble keeping the mousse in one piece when transferring it to the cake plate, but once it was glazed, it looked great. The trick is to put waxed paper between the cake and the serving plate to catch the glaze drippings. Once the glaze is set, trim cream border along the edge makes it look like a professional made it. Chocolate lovers will find many confections to their liking such as the Marbled Mousse, Individual Chocolate Souffles with coffee cream and the Chocolate Box with berries and cream that features directions on how to make a chocolate And the section on decorative pie edges shows how to spice up an ordinary pie recipe by making fancy fluted edges, leaf edges, ruffled or braided edges. Some of the directions rely on basic cake-decorating skills such as how to pipe the borders on the Valentine Cake. Beginners could have

For the same party, I made the problems completing the shell and ruffle designs.

Other recipes make use of fresh fruits for their appeal, such as the Flag Cake which uses raspberries and blueberries to make a "Stars and Stripes" design on the top.

Also included in this 320-page books are information and instructions for icings, fillings, sweet sauces and meringues and pastry piping.

Included in the cookie section are 28 recipes with such tempters as Brandy Snaps, Two-Tone Hearts. Apricot Rugelach and Crispy Snowflakes.

More than 200 recipes are included, with chapters on cakes, pies, tarts and pastries, cookies and frozen desserts as well as special descustards and creams, crepes. blintzes and meringues.

CREAMY RICE PUDDING (Begin about 2 hours before serving or early in day.)

2 quarts milk 15 teaspoon salt

1 cup regular long-grain rice 1/2 cup dark seedless raisins % cup sugar l tablespoon vanilla extract

2 12-ounce cans evaporated milk 4 large eggs

Ground clanamon Fresh or Maraschino cherries for

In 4-quart saucepan over medium serts such as mousses and souffles, . heat, heat milk and salt to simmering; stir in rice. Reduce heat to low: cover and simmer 45 to 50 minutes until rice is very tender and mixture is thick, stirring occasionally. Stir in > Preheat oven to 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Grease 13-inch by 9-inch baking dish, set in large roasting

> In large bowl, with wire whisk or fork, beat sugar, vanilla extract, evaporated milk and eggs until blended; gradually stir in hot rice

Place baking dish in pan on oven rack; carefully pour rice mixture into baking dish (mixture will almost fill dish). Fill roasting pan with boiling water to come halfway up sides of baking dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes until knife inserted in center of pudding comes out clean.

Make cinnamon lattice on top of pudding. Hold ruler diagonally across 1 corner of baking dish, about 1 inch from edge of pudding. Holding cinnamon jar in other hand, evenly shake spice through sprinkler hold along ruler edge. Shake excess spice off ruler. Repeat at 1-inch intervals. Repeat in opposite direction to form lattice pattern.

To serve garnish pudding with cherries Serve warm or refrigerate to serve cold later. Serves 16.
