Schools to pay O'Neill until contract ends

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Dennis O'Neill won't be returning to his job as Wayne-Westland school superintendent.

O'Neill and the school board have signed an agreement allowing him to remain off the job for medical reasons until his contract expires in August. He'll continue to use sick days and be paid until then.

O'Neill, in his eighth year as superintendent of Wayne County's second-largest district, had already announced plans to retire Aug. 31, amid pressure from a majority of board members.

But widespread speculation had emerged over whether O'Neill would return to work temporarily from a medical leave that he began Nov. 4. He has suffered high blood pressure and is recuperating from knee surgery prompted by ligament damage.

Amid lingering health problems, O'Neill confirmed Tuesday that he and the school board have reached an agreement that erases questions about the district's leadership.

"I think it's in the best interest of the district," O'Neill said during a brief telephone interview.

The board met in closed session at 5 p.m. Monday to discuss O'Neill's contract. The board voted 7-0 during a meeting two hours later to approve the agreement, prepared by board attorney Stewart Slatkin. O'Neill already had signed it.

"WE JUST honored his contract as we would any other employee's contract," board President Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek said. "I feel very comfortable about it. I believe it was something that was necessary and had to be done. Now we know what plans we have to make."

Through Aug. 3f, O'Neill will continue to be paid every other week an amount that's coming to him from his base salary of $103,513, according to Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svitkovich. He'll also receive his normal benefits. Moreover, O'Neill will receive severance pay, which amounts to 20 percent of his salary, and he'll be compensated for any unused vacation days and sick days when he leaves.

"This agreement didn't add to anything that wasn't already in his current contract," Svitkovich said.

The board, assisted by a Chicagobased consulting firm, has launched a nationwide search for O'Neill's successor. The board hopes to choose a new superintendent by May 8. Svitkovich will continue to assume O'Neill's duties until then.

THE BOARD Monday approved the agreement without issuing any public statement during the meeting. The move ended speculation that emerged almost immediately after O'Neill began his medical leave on Nov. 4

O'Neill, a 32-year district employee, had blamed his medical leave on high blood pressure that he said had worsened because of the district's political turmoil. In early October, at age 56, he had been given an ultimatum to step down as superintendent or be fired.

Judge Smith to retire, cites health problems

By Leonard Poger editor

District Judge Thomas Smith, who has administered Westland justice for more than 24 years, will retire this spring.

He talked about his upcoming retirement at a Westland City Council study session Monday and in a telephone interview Tuesday morning.,

"I've had a number of health problems," said Smith, citing several major operations.

In addition to Bokos, a partner in a Westland law firm which represents the City of Westland as a client, the other major candidate is Sandra Cicirelli, in the middle of a four-year term as a city councilwoman. She is a member of a local law firm and a 21-year Westland resident.

She is on the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA board of directors, Jaycees, Childwatch Committee of the Juvenile Law Section, Youth Advisory Council, Garden City District Court mediator, and formerly a vice chair of the Westland Zoning Board of Appeals and member of the alumni board of governors for the University of Michigan-Dearborn's school of education. Both said they are definitely interested in the appointment and running as a candidate for the post, which pays about $96,000 a year. Bokos, 53, told the Observer Tuesday that he has practiced law for 26 years, with 1º years in Westland and has the experience and working knowledge of the city as a prosecuting attorney to be an effective judge. He added that he is in the process of looking to build a home in Westland.

High-tech Livonia school bonds OK'd by 3-1 margin

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Livonia school district voters set aside their own personal economic woes Monday to make a $62.1-million investment in their children's education.

Beyond the expectations of most school officials, voters by more than a 3-1 margin endorsed spending $62.1 million over the next 30 years to fix up the district's aging buildings and to bring the latest technology into the classrooms.

Voters approved the bond issue 6,275 to 1,874, with 8,244 votes cast in Livonia and Westland. Passage of the bond issue will nottrict taxpayers. The bond issue will allow the district to borrow $62.1 million and pay the debt off through a debt retirement levy of 1.05 mills over 30 years.

As an old bond expires, the new one would kick in, keeping the millage at 1.05 mills, which represents $1.05 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. Westland residents who live in an area bounded by Farmington, Joy and Merriman roads and Edward Hines Drive will see an estimated $18 a year tax increase.

Defeat of the bond issue would eventually have put more money into the pockets of taxpayers as old-increase the tax rate for most dis- er school bond issues are paid off in the next few years.

> IN THESE economically troubled times, voting against the bond issue was a siren call that many Livonia taxpayers resisted.

"Even if their own personal finances were deteriorating, they realized that if they want to have real hope for their kid's future, then the schools would have to update what they're doing," said Jack Kirskey, who led the district's campaign to get the bond issue passed and who "couldn't have been happier" as the votes were counted Monday at a district gathering at Schoolcraft Col-

Man charged with slashing teen girl's throat

staff writer

A 42-year-old man accused of slashing a teenage girl's throat during a party early Saturday morning in northeast Westland has been arrested by city police.

The wound apparently wasn't deep enough to be life-threatening. The girl was treated and released at Garden City Hospital following the 2:46 a.m. Saturday incident, which oc-curred in the 8700 block of Oxbow near Joy and Middlebelt, Westland police Sgt, Russell Nowaczck said.

A man accused of slashing the girl's throat with a knife fled the scene and was captured about 80 minutes later, hiding in a back yard Mark Edward Aird, 42, has been charged with assault with intent to murder, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

of a residence on a nearby street, Nowaczck said.

Police arrested Mark Edward Aird, 42, who had been living in an Inkster motel. He has been charged with assault with intent to murder, which carries a maximum penalty of life in prison. He also faces a fouryear term if convicted of a felonious assault charge.

AIRD WAS arraigned Sunday in the out-county circuit court building in Westland. He has been scheduled for a preliminary examination Feb. 20 in Westland's 18th District Court. He remained in the county fail Tuesday on a $100,000 cash bond.

The incident occurred as about 10 people were attending a party on Oxbow Street, Nowaczck sald. Three teenage girls had taken an intoxicated 18-year-old girl upstairs to rest on a bed, he said.

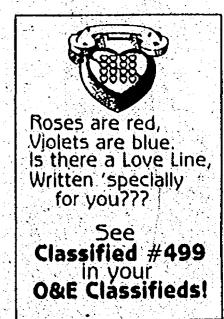

A man followed the girls upstairs. and told them he would watch the 18-year-old, but the three friends were suspicious of his behavior and refused to leave the room, Nowaczck said.

A dispute erupted, and the man pulled a knife and slashed one of the teenagers on the left side of her throat, he said. The man also held the knife to a second teenager but didn't cut her, witnesses told police.

The man also has been accused of hitting one of the girls and forcing her from the room. After the man slashed one girl's throat, he fled the house but was captured 30 minutes later, Nowaczck said.

The first votes counted, the ab-sentee votes, gave the bond issue a 1,185-316 lead that just grew bigger as the counting progressed. The issue triumphed in all Livonia and Westland voting precincts, even in the Nankin Mills area in Westland where taxpayers will see a tax increase.

Through letters, telephone calls, a citizens' advisory committee and a special display showing the technology the bond money will buy, district officials left no stone unturned in campaigning for passage of the bond issue.

But most school officials still were astonished by the final margin of victory.

'No one expected it to be quite that high," said Superintendent Joseph Marinelli. "People know that technology is in our future and must be a key ingredient in the education of students."

KIRKSEY WENT into the election expecting to attract 60 percent of the votes. He got 77 percent.

A barrage of phone calls from volunteers Monday, urging restdents to vote, also brought calls into Kirksey's office on election

"People told me they always supported schools and will do it again, but that it is difficult to do it this time," Kirksey said. "They said they did a lot of soul searching before deciding to vote for it."

The drive began last year with the launching of the district's strategic plan, meant to chart the school system's course in the coming years.

Two components of the plan are to:

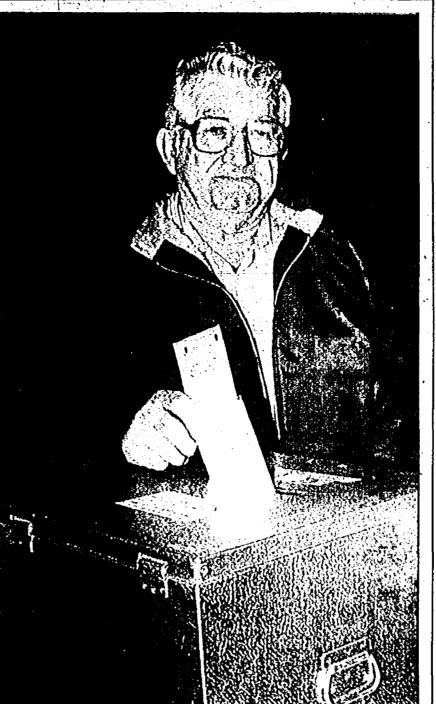

• Update school buildings so that students are using the latest technological tools.

• Prepare a long-term plan on how the school buildings will be maintained over the next three decades:

PASSAGE OF the bond issue now gives the district the money to forge ahead with these two goals.

The next step for the district, Marinelli said, is to decide how to integrate the new technologies into schools.

"We need to talk to people, experts, who understand how all the pieces have to work together,' Marinelli said. "We'll also be looking at how other districts have done this and learn from them."

District to pay O'Neill until contract ends

"I would not be looking for another superintendency in the state of Michigan," O'Neill said.

IN THE past year, O'Neill's administration had come under fire amid several controversies, such as a 7.75-mill tax increase that voters approved in June after defeating three earlier proposals.

Critics also blasted school officials in February 1991 for supporting teacher salary increases of 11.9 percent over two years, amid threatened program cuts for students. O'Neill had defended the pay increases as among the county's lowest and stressed that teachers had planned to strike.

Judge to leave bench this year

Based on the timing of Smith's formal resignation, the person appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy would serve until the election is held to fill the balance of the term, either this year or 1994. The term expires Dec. 31, 1096.

Smith said he has his Westland house for sale and plans to move to a second home he owns near Gaylord. He and his wife also plan to spend winters in Florida.

Over the years, Smith has initiated the volunteer probation department to help offenders convicted in his court. He has also been a leader among Michigan district judges and a former chairman of the city's Police-Fire Civil Service

SMITH'S RETIREMENT plans were disclosed when he wrote the city council about the city failing to contribute to the state's Municipal Employees' Retirement System from 1969 to 1975.

Smith said he would agree to pay his contribution of just over $3,000. He also wanted the council to pay the interest of just over $4,000 for that contribution, a request the council Monday night resisted.

The council will pay its share of nearly $37,300 to fill in the gap created by the six years of non-payments.

The council is expected to approve the payments at its next business meeting Tuesday night. The payment won't have any impact on the city's operating budget because the monies will be taken from the court's budget.

Smith told the council at its study session Monday that when the state revamped the court system in 1968, the city apparently didn't feel that Smith was part of the retirement system.

One of two Westland district judges, Smith was re-elected w another six-year term in November 1990.

"I found out in 1975 that I should be in the (state) system," the judge said.

While he isn't blaming the city for the non-payment problem, Smith said he felt it was the city's responsibility to find out if he was in the retirement system or not.

Chorbagian wants to mend fences

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Wayne-Westland school board member Kathleen Chorbagian, targeted by a recall campaign, has offered to meet with her harshest critics to try to settle their differences.

Chorbagian, in her 10th year on the board, made her offer directly to recall leader Steven Lind during a school board meeting Monday. She also said she wants to meet with another outspoken critic, David Moranty, chairman of Wayne-Westland Citizens for Education.

Chorbagian blamed their differences on personality conflicts that have repeatedly erupted into a highly public feud.

"It's not helping the district," she said Monday, adding later, "It is only eroding the (school) system that should be functioning at a higher level."

grandstanding and said they would reject her invitation.

"I want to applaud her theatrics. She is a tremendous actress," Lind said Tuesday. "If she were truly interested in putting aside our differences, she'd step down."

Chorbagian's term ends June 30. Despite earlier ruling out seeking another four-year term, she indicated Tuesday that she's reconsidering and that she expects to decide by March 30.

"I really don't know," she said, when asked if she has changed her mind.

LIND HAS launched a recall effort seeking to oust Chorbagian and board members Andrew Spisak and Leonard Posey for voting last February to approve a teacher contract that gave pay raises of 11.9-percent over two years. The salary increases came amid threatened student program cuts that were averted when voters 7.75-mill tax increase. Lind hinted that Chorbagian's offer to meet with him may have stemmed from an effort to "this point," he said Tuesday.

Moranty, meanwhile, denied a personality clash between himself and Chorbagian.

"The problem is her voting record," he said. 'Tell her to look in the mirror and ask who did the voting - Moranty or Chorbagian.

"My question to Mrs. Chorbagian is: Besides myself and Mr. Lind, is she going to talk to all the people whose taxes have gone up over $100 a month and who have to put their houses up for sale because they can't afford to live here due to her vote on the millage increase?"

CHORBAGIAN SAID she wants to discuss with her critics their different agendas for improving the 16,000-student school district.

"My only goal now is to heal a weakened district," she said.

Lind said if he met with Chorbagian and still ucceeded in recalling her, "She'd be angry with Thursday, February 13, 1992 O&E

Cable TV rate to go up $1.80 on March 15 Raise affects most subscribers

By Leonard Poger staff writer *

Most of Westland's cable-TV subscribers will pay an additional $1.80 a month for their services, starting March 15.

The raise affects the Spectrum subscribers, who represent most of Continental Cablevision's subscribers. When the new charge is implemented next month, the basic subscription will be $18.75, up from $16.95.

For those with the limited cable services, the monthly fee will increase $2.45 to $5.95, the first increase since 1984.

Contintental said there will no other increases for other cable services.

But several city officials are unhappy about the planned increase, which doesn't require city council approval.

Mayor Robert Thomas said he is opposed to the increase in the basic cable service, suggesting instead that the fees for the premium channels be increased.

"Many of our residents have kept track of the number of rate increases over the years and, understandably, are not happy with the situation," Thomas wrote Kay'elen Perry, Continental's general manager for the Westland and Dearborn Heights cable-TV franchises.

The company, which won the city's cable franchise in 1984, has increased basic cable rates annually. The first boost was $3 a month. The others have been $2 a month until this year's $1.80.

THOMAS ADMITTED that the cost of living has increased but "the percentage in the increases that have been instituted have outweighed these."

The rate increase planned for March 15 is 10.6 percent over last year and will be 151 percent more than the original rate enacted in 1984.

treme increases, in many instances causing a hardship for those living on a fixed income.'

City councilwoman Terri Reighard Johnson said at a council study session Monday night that she received seven phone calls from seniors concerned about the rate increase.

The councilwoman said that "$1.80 a month doesn't sound like much, but it's a lot for someone on a fixed income."

Johnson also suggested that Continental's discount for seniors, who now pay $4.46 for limited cable services, be improved.

Perry and two other Continental representatives stressed that the rate increases are a bargain compared to the substantial improvements in cable programming.

SHE SAID the Westland system, began with 31 channels in 1984 and has grown to 48. At the same time, the company has extended hours for its office and service employees to make it easier for subscibers.

Perry also noted that the increase results in additional revenues for the city which collects a 5 percent franchise fee.

'We must be price sensitive and deliver the best customer services and be competitive with other available options," she said, referring to the growth of video rentals and the use of VCRs.

One major problem facing Continental and other cable companies, she said, is the revenue drop caused by subscribers reducing the number of premium channels.

The average of premium channels per home dropped to 1.3 from 2.8 eight years ago.

Premium channels accounted for 63 percent of the Westland system's revenues in 1985, the company said, with the basic services representing 35 percent of revenues.

Legislator's proposal would carve up county circuit court

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County's court system would be massively restructured under a bill pending in the Michigan Legislature.

Armed with census data and a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling, state Rep. Joe Young Jr., P-Detroit, seeks to divide the Waynd County Circuit Court into 35 single-judge districts. The plan is designed to increase the number of minority judges.

"THERE ARE seven minority judges on the Wayne County Circuit Court, yet Wayne County's minority population is 40 percent plus," Young said. Wayne Circuit judges are currently elected countywide.

Young's bill is pending before the state House Judiciary Committee.

"It was introduced last week, we haven't had time to review it yet," said Brad Geller, spokesman for House Judiciary Committee chairman Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor.

Despite that, Young said commit-tee debate is likely within the next two weeks.

--Supporters say single-judge districts are mandated under Chisom V. Roemer, a 1991 U.S. Supreme Court decision extending the Federal Voting Rights Act to state judicial elections. The same federal law protects minority-dominated districts for federal, state and county offices.

"If you look at the ruling, it ap-pears pretty clear," said Robert La-Brandt, a Michigan Chamber of Commerce vice president who has also called for circuit court redistricting.

There should 14 judges of minority background on the circuit court based on county population figures, said former state constitutional convention vice chairman Tom Downs.

"It appears that at-large elections have effectively diluted the votes of Afro-Americans in Wayne County," said Downs, a Lansing attorney, who defended Wayne County Commission Districts in state appeals court.

It is unclear how local districts would look, though a bill provision appears to prevent Redford, Canton and other townships from being placed into districts with such neighboring cities as Detroit, Livonia and Westland.

It is likely judicial districts would also be created in Genesse County should the bill become law, though other counties wouldn't be affected.

Change is coming even if Young's legislation fails, LaBrandt said.

"REALLY, IT'S just a lawsuit away."

While Young said the plan would make the court more responsive to all citizens, others call it a judicial nightmare.

"In my personal opinion, it's a hor-rible idea," Chief Wayne Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman said .- "Youcould have districts as small as 8,000 people. With districts that small, any concept of judicial independence would be lost."

Other surveys indicate districts could be as large as 60,000 people though lower court districts vary widely.

In Livonia, there are two 16th District Court judges for roughly 100,000 people. There are two judges. for roughly 55,000 people in 17th District Court, Redford.

District size aside, Kaufman said minority representation remains an important issue. But he added there are better solutions.

One involves merging the circuit court with the 29-judge Detroit Recorders Court.

"WAYNE COUNTY is unique in that you have two courts essentially doing the same job," Kaufman said. "If it were one court, it would be in rough compliance for minority representation."

While Recorders Court was once considered Wayne County's criminal court, with Circuit Court primarily resolved for civil cases, Kaufman said that is no longer the case.

A 1987 merger of the county's criminal docket has seen greater number of criminal cases assigned to circuit judges, he said.

If a full Circuit Court/Recorder's Court merger were unattainable, Kaufman said a 1991 judicial apportionment plan could be revived. That plan would have required one-third of circuit court judges to be elected in Detroit, one-third in the outlying communities and one-third countywide.

The federal Voting Rights Act doesn't mandate the election of mi--nority-candidates as such-The Gin--gles ruling, however, strikes down multi-member districts — like the at-large Wayne Circuit Court based upon three provisions.

Minorities must demonstrate they could constitute a majority in a single-member district, like those proposed by Young; must show political cohesiveness — heavy traditional support for the same candidates and must show the majority also votes in a bloc, traditionally defeating minority-backed candidates.

School board supports drive for opportunities amendment

By Darrell Clem staff writer

4A(W)

A proposed state constitutional amendment demanding equal opportunities for all Michigan students drew strong support Monday night from the Wayne-Westland school board.

Most board members embraced an offer from Westland resident Larry Letke to join a statewide campaign to collect 350,000 signatures by July 1 to petition for the amendment. Supporters hope to place the proposal on the November ballot.

Letke's appeal came as he announced plans to meet with local parent-teacher groups to draw support for KIDS (Knowledge Is Democracy's Saleguard) — a broad-based committee of citizens, educators and legislators demanding school finance reforms.

The group also wants to ensure that all state lottery net revenues are put into the state aid formula for schools - not into the general fund.

Petition drives have begun in 85 school districts, and the effort appears certain to win support in the 16,000-student Wayne-Westland district, which school officials say doesn't receive its fair share of state money.

Richard Wilson, a KIDS organizer, warned board members Monday to support the constitutional amendment if they want to move away from repeatedly asking school district taxpayers for more local mon-

"The state has not been an equal partner, and you've had to bear the burden," said Wilson, a former Livonia district employee who's now director of an in-formula school district caucus, which supports the KIDS plan.

Letke and Wilson stressed that both in-formula and out-of-formula school districts support the amendment.

"It will get the job done," Wilson said.

ON MONDAY, Wayne-Westland

board members Kathleen Chorbagian and Vicki Welty had already collected their first 10 signatures, which they gave to Letke. Four other board members joined them in voting to endorse the plan, though board member Fred Warmbier abstained.

Warmbier, 72, said there are other tax proposals that might provide more relief for senior citizens. He also questioned whether the KIDS plan would merely rob from richer districts to help poorer ones.

But Letke said the committee hasn't focused as much on equal funding as it has on "equal opportunity" for students.

Board member Andrew Spisak, in an apparent dig at Warmbler, said any board member would be "remiss in his duties" to oppose KIDS. At one point he asked Warmbier, "Fred, where are you at -1922?"

Letke brought petitions that he gave to some parents attending Monday's meeting. Moreover, he said a local meeting will be scheduled in April to inform the public how to help with the KIDS campaign.

Franklin High School hosts music festival

For the 14th consecutive year, Franklin High School's instrumental music department hosted the District 12 Solo and Ensemble Music Festival.

More than 3,000 students came to Franklin, which serves the northeast section of Westland, to perform before professional judges on two consecutive Saturdays, the largest festival to date.

All available rooms were used at Franklin plus an additional 20 rooms at nearby McKinley Elementary.

When the Morrow family moved, they took all of the furniture but left one of the fixtures.

It's possible Bonnie once had the things any dog should have - a nice home, a yard to run in, and plenty of food. She may even have been considered one of the family.*

But when a Michigan Humane Society investigator found her, she was at home all alone. about to face a brutal winter, scared, cold, and hungry.

You see, when Bonnie's family moved, she was left behind. And whatever she once had is now gone.

It's shocking, but that's how we find many of the neglected and abused animals we take in. In fact, last year we received an average of 135 animals every day. And although we give them temporary shelter, the task of providing ongoing care for so many animals is a never-ending challenge.

Which is why we need your help. With your contribution, it's possible for us to shelter these animals when they're homeless, feed them when they're hungry, and even prosecute abusive owners. But most importantly, your donations can ultimately give Bonnie and others like her what they so desperately need.

A permanent position in a loving home.

Recapturing the romance

Parents can get in Valentine's spirit while center watches kids

With the Nectic pace of today's working parents, how does one get in the spirit of celebrating Valentine's Day with their significant other?

The Learning Tree Child Care Conter in Livohia came up with the perfect plan to help the parents of children in their care recapture the romance. They are offering free child care 6-9 p.m. Friday.

"The most valuable gift_we can offer our parents on Valentine's Day just might be a few carefree hours with their special someone - while we watch the kids free-ofcharge," said executive director Carol Tresik.

"While the parents have a chacne to wile away the hours over dinner, dancing and romancing, the children will be celebrating with our staff members over dinner, movies, and games at their 'home away from home."

"At The Learning Tree we emphasize family support and offer what services we can to make life more enjoyable for our working parents," said Tresik. "Another example of how we put our philosophy to work is our monthly family breakfast. On that special morning we invite parents to join their children for breakfast (7:30 to 8:15 a.m.) before beginning their normal day's routine.

"It is one of our most popular events, promoting quality time and also a chacne for our Learning Tree families to get to know each other at the same time. Everyone looks forward to it."

The Learning Tree at 9501 Henry Ruff is the only nationally accredited child care center in Livonia and the largest such center in the state. A professional staff of 75 provides care to infants through pre-school children.

The Learning Tree also offers a school-age program which provides before- and after-school care for more than 20 area schools.

Honigman paves way for 'Big Brother' abortion bill

By Tim Richard stall writer

A parliamentary ruling by Sen. David Honigman has set the stage for a state law requiring a one-day waiting period for an abortion. The bill also requires doctors to give patients photos of fetuses and a long list of possible side-effects of abortions.

Senators passed the bill, which one opponent denounced as "Big Brother" legislation.

HERE'S HOW Honigman; a freshman senator from West Bloomfield, played a key role:

The Senate last May passed a oneday waiting period bill 22-12 and sent it to the House. But pro-choice committee chair Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, refused to take it up.

Meanwhile, the House passed HB 4280, amendments to the health care licensing code. In a Senate committee, Right to Life supporters, headed. by Sen. Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, tacked on the abortion-delay language as an amendment.

Honigman was presiding officer in the Senate Committee-of-the-Whole session Thursday when Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, challenged the amendment as being "not germane.'

Countered Welborn: "It regulated doctors when it came to the Senate, and it still:regulates doctors."

Honigman, dipping into Mason's Rules of Order, ruled against Faxon, called the amendment germane, and was upheld by the full Senate, 23-11, in an unrecorded vote.

THE SENATE gave HB 4280 final approval and sent it back to the House for concurrence in the abortion-delay amendment. This week, the bill will go directly to the House floor, instead of Bennane's committee.

Chances are strong the House will pass it, although neither chamber could muster the two-thirds majority to give the bill immediate effect. Gov, John Engler is expected to sign

Senators rejected an amendment to strip out the requirement that the doctor show the patient photos of fetuses at various stages of development. "The photos try to traumatize the patient," Smith said.

SEN. JOHN Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, fired a heavy salvo against the bill.

"I'm as pro-life as any member of this body," said Schwarz, a physician and surgeon, "but the state is impinging on the doctor-patient relationship.

"There are three forms that must be filled out before this procedure which is still legal, unfortunately can be performed. No other proce-

"It's the worst type of Big Brother legislation we can advocate. It's morally wrong. It's ethically wrong. It's opposed by every physician in this state."

Welborn read letters from several women, including a Karen from Canton, who said she was told "lies" at an abortion clinic and led to believe her baby was nothing but "fetal cells or a clump of tissue."

SEN. DOUG Carl, R-Utica, defended the use of fetal photos: "What can be more objective than a photo?" he asked. "Abortion - let's face it, ladies and gentlemen - is a big business. They fear it (photos) will reduce their sales."

denounced the bill as "political intrusion" based on the notion that women are too stupid to make decisions about their own bodies.

Pointing to Republican Reps. Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of West Bloomfield and Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills who had entered the Senate chamber, Pollack said, . 'We don't need you to tell us and our physicians how to have intelligent discourse. I want only one politician in the room with me and my doctor - myself:"

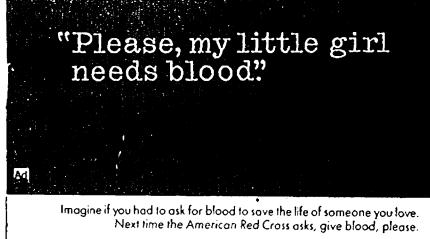

"This bill is not about smart or dumb," countered Sen. Joanne Errimons, R-Big Rapids. "Women have been exploited by abortion. They were not given information. It's inconceivable that we would not want them to have information."

Your Guide To High Fiber Diet

Dietary fiber is undigested or digested plant residue that passes almost intact through the digestive system. It promotes bulk and moisture of the stool to help move the stool through the intestines. If you modify your diet you may be able to help reduce the risk of certain diseases. such as constipation, hemorrhoids, diverticulosis, and irritable bowel syndrome. Fiber also helps to maintain normal bowel function. Some food items are rich in fiber such as vegetables, beans, peas, fresh fruits, cereal, whole grain breads and crackers. Fiber is recommended as a part of a healthy diet. In general, high fiber foods are low in calories, and can

Court debates 'U' interview practices

Governing boards of state colleges and universities are a year away from a final court ruling on how tightly they may shut the doors while ping, intercommunicating, subinterviewing presidential candidates.

"This matter concerns more than the University of Michigan. It concerns all universities and colleges in this state, particularly where there is an impending or existing vacancy in the office of president," said Court of Appeals Judge Glenn S. Allen Jr. last week.

Allen concurred when the state's second highest court enjoined the U-M Board of Regents from further use of the closed-door procedures it employed in 1988 when it picked James Duderstadt as president.

Few reductions expected under assessment freeze

By Tim Richard staff writer

That property tax assessment freeze works both ways:

Your local assessor can't increase your property's value in 1992 but must keep it at 1991's level. Your assessment won't be lowered, either. "You can appeal to the board of review this year for consideration of a reduction next year," said state Sen. Nick Smith, R-Addison, author of PA 19 of 1991, the "freeze" law.

UNDER SOME limited circumstance, your '91 assessment can be changed this year, but they're very limited.

Roland C. (Andy) Andersen, acting administrator of the state Treasury's property tax division, lists the exceptions in bulletins sent to boards of review:

• "Additions" — Value can rise for new construction, physical additions, valuables not included on the 1991 assessment roll, or buildings that were incomplete as of 1991's tax day.

• "Losses" - Value can be decreased by removal or destruction of property.

• "Splits" - Land that has been platted, particularly when the new lots have been enhanced by access roads or utilities, can be raised. • "Combinations" - Value can be adjusted where parcels have been combined.

• Errors - The assessor made a clerical mistake last year.

• Poverty exemptions - These must be considered by the board of review each year. If the 1991 board of review granted a poverty exemption, your assessment will rise this year unless you apply again.

• New owner - If you acquired the property after Jan. 1, 1991, you may appeal your 1992 assessment if you didn't appeal in 1991.

PERSONAL property isn't covered by the 'freeze" law.

Some attorneys think this section is unconstitutional. They note the Michigan Constitution requires that all property be uniformly assessed at 50 percent of its true cash market value. So far, this section hasn't been challenged in court.

The local board of review may not reduce your value for depreciation. Nor may it raise the value of a commercial property where the rent has gone up in 1991 and the market value is higher.

Unless your property fits one of the exceptions, there's little the local board of review can do in 1992 when it meets in March.

But it might be worthwhile to appeal anyway. Andersen's instructions to boards of review are to "document and forward to the assessor information. . . for consideration by the assessor in 1993."

A followup law, PA 135 of 1991 (sponsored by Sen, David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield), says, "The assessor shall consider this information in preparing the 1993 assessment."

DESPITE THE board of review's hands' being tied, one other avenue is open to you, according to a pamphlet of the now defunct Michigan Consumers Council:

"You may appeal further to the Michigan Tax Tribunal . . . in your own behalf or be represented by an attorney or other person of your choice.

"You cannot take your appeal before the tax tribunal unless you have first protested through the board of review appeal process."

Deadline is June 30 to appeal to the tax tribunal. The addres is: Tax Tribunal, PO Box 30232, Lansing 48909. Telephone is 5173346521.

Mayor Robert Thomas talks to Westland Chamber of Commerce members and guests about the city's finances and the proposed Westland Center expansion.

Thomas backs using taxes to spark sale

By Darrell Clem stall writer

Mayor pushes for mall expansion

Mayor Robert Thomas on Tuesday strongly defended using city taxes to spark the sale of Westland Center, saying he feared the city's biggest retailer would otherwise deteriorate.

The city has pledged $8.5 million for a parking structure to go along with a proposed Sears store that's expected to be built if the mall is bought by Homart Development Corp., a Chicago-based development arm of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

"It's not an investment in private enterprise. It's an investment in Westland's future," Thomas said Tuesday during his State of the City address at Leright's restaurant on Wayne Road, south of Cherry Hill. About 200 people attended.

Thomas raised concerns that if the long-delayed deal fails, Sears could decide to build in a neighboring community, such as Canton Township. That could lead to the demise of the 27-year-old Westland Center — the city's biggest taxpayer, he said.

If Sears pulls away from Westland Center, Thomas said, "It would be devastating to our mall and very damaging to our city and its revenues."

Negotiations for the sale have been under way for nearly a year, and Thomas told Tuesday's audience that "we don't have any final answers yet."

AMONG OTHER highlights in the mayor's speech:

• Despite the recession, he described Westland's financial outlook as "one of the best in the state" and predicted the city will end the fiscal year on June 30 with much of its $2million surplus intact.

• Thomas noted that $1 million has been set aside to buy computers to improve the fire and police departments and to help pay for a possible new library. He pledged that such projects won't cause him to go back on his promise to keep a cap on property taxes.

• The mayor said the city has beefed up its police department to fight crime and drugs. "We either pay up front to prevent (crime) or we pay it in the end to correct it," he said.

• Thomas promised to continue working to prevent periodic fire station closings, saying the station at Merriman and Ann Arbor Trail "will no longer suffer any closings (and) will be open every day."

• He predicted Westland will emerge from the lingering recession without having to slash jobs.

• He hopes to expand the widening of Newburgh from Ford south to Michigan Avenue in Wayne. Thomas said he wants the two-lane road widened to five lanes.

Responding to an audience question about potential city employee layoffs, the mayor said:

"I doubt very seriously that that will ever happen. We still anticipate getting through this recession — and getting through it in good condition."

Ad agency breathes life into recycling ventures

By R.J. King special writer

10A + (P.C-12A)

In addition to recycling office, copy and fax paper, the advertising agency of Robert Michael Ellen & Co. in Bingham Farms also recycles coffee filters and uses soy-based ink, an easier imprint to break down than conventional ink. Why?

One obvious answer is recycling spares the environment additional harm. The other is vested in the agency's growing list of clients who call on the firm for advice on starting and complementing in-house recycling efforts.

"Most companies want to do what they can to cause less harm to the environment, but might not know how to go about it in an effective manner," said Robert Stec, president and creative director for the agency, who started the firm four years ago with his wife, Ruth.

"We use our own agency as a proving ground for recycling and then offer that expertise to our clients. We also specialize in environmental advertising. For instance, one of our clients, a heating and cooling company, is in the process of starting a freon-reclaiming system."

Listed by the Environmental Protection Agency as a gas harmful to the ozone layer, freon has come under increased scrutiny in recent years, especially as it is widely used homes and automobiles.

Art Belbot, president of A&S Unlimited Heating & Cooling in Rochester Hills, which has been a client of Robert Michael Ellen since 1988, said it was a natural evolution to assign the agency with spreading the word to A&S's residential and commercial clients about freon recovery.

"Federal laws state that we now (since Jan. 1) have to use reclaimers to recover freen from air conditioners, and refrigeration units," said Belbot...Since this will require extra work and costs, we wanted to let our clients know where we are coming from.

"The agency researched several options and determined a monthly newsletter to our clients outlining the program was the most effective means of communication. The newsletter outlines the program and explains where we're at today and what's coming down the line."

WITH REVENUES of $1 million in 1991, Stec said 25 percent of Robert Michael Ellen's work is connected to environmental issues, whether it be consulting firms on developing in-house recycling programs or getting the word about a green issue important to a client's core business.

For instance, at Warzyn Inc., an environmental engineering and consulting firm in Novi, communicain air-conditioning systems for tions coordinator Phyllis DeGiola said it was crucial that the firm develop a new marketing and advertising program that centered on its ability to help preserve the environment.

> "As an environmental firm, it was very important to us to create a new image with recycled paper," said DeGloia. "Robert Michael Ellen redesigned our newsletter, brochures, direct-mail pieces and some of our internal communication material.

> "They also provided a source for future printings on recycled paper as well as developing a new booth for our trade show activity. We've had very good response to the campaign so far, but I must say we only hired them on a project basis. But if something else came up, we would certainly turn to them.

> MEANWHILE, Robert Michael Ellen, which is taken from a mix of the Stec's first and middle names, recently published a free guide to help consumers cut through the forest of green claims that may or may not be helpful in sparing landfill space and preserving the environment.

For instance, the one-page guide points out that while manufacturers now sell biodegradable diapers, the decaying process relies on sunlight. Since many disposables wind up in landfills, it may be decades before

"Thère are so many misleading claims out there today, and no one, it seems, policing the claims, that we felt a general guide was in order," said Ruth, environmental and associate creative director for the firm.

"We just wanted to give people a way to cut through questionable claims."

In addition, two years ago Ruth es-

Filers face few changes in tax code, forms this year

By Doug Funke. staff writer

By now, you should have received all of the statements you'll need from employers, mortgage companies, banks, credit unlons, savings and loans, mutual funds and brokers to get going on those federal income. tax returns.

Hopefully, other records such as charitable contributions and expenses like mileage, supplies and professional dues if you're in business for yourself are complete and well-organized so you can just zip. through the forms.

So what are you waiting for? The sooner you file, the sooner you get your refund, said Elcy Maccani, a spokeswoman in the Detroit office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Filing electronically at a cost that can range from $15 to $45 through an accepted IRS participant will get your refund check to your mailbox in three weeks or deposited directly to your bank account in two weeks, Maccani said.

The wait with the traditional mailing transaction now is four to five weeks and will get longer as the April 15 filing deadline nears, she added.

Regardless of when you file we're not assuming if here - the battle should go easier on the preparation front.

this year, we think that if people use last year's return as a guide, they'll be able to do the return themselves," Maccanl said.

But there are a couple of minor things to be aware of.

• Guidelines for claiming the other than mortgage interest or to mail the check, she said.

earned income credit and the benefits received by the working poor have been broadened.

If your adjusted gross income including wages from a job is less than $21,250 and a child lived with you at least six months during the year, you may qualify for the credit - a dollar-for-dollar reduction of tax owed.

If you don't owe income tax, the credit still applies and Uncle Sam will send you a cash refund. The catch is you have to file a tax return and claim the credit, which can amount to $2,020.

The earned income credit is one of the most overlooked "breaks" for people in the lower tax brackets. Marrieds qualify as well as singles. "We estimate in the past that 12 million have been eligible for the "THERE ARE SO few changes credit. This year, 14 million, possibly more," Maccani sald. "We feel there is a segment out there not aware of the credit and we're trying to reach them."

> • There is absolutely no deduction for consumer interest this year home equity loan. "No credit cards, no auto loans, no nothing," Maccani said.

• Social Security numbers are needed for every dependent claimed who is at least 1 year old. Last year, it was 2 years and older.

ITEMIZERS IN the middle and upper income brackets can also overlook morsels that can reduce their tax burden.

Annual license tab fees generally are deductible because the fee in Michigan now is based on value instead of weight. This can be a sizableamount considering the cost of vehicles today and the number of multivehicle owners.

Points or mortgage discount fees incurred during the purchase of a house are totally deductible. The deduction for points on refinancings where there is no move must be prorated annually over the life of the new mortgage.

Don't forget to sign the return — both must sign a joint filing — and check for errors in arithmetic, Maccanl advised. "Math errors continue to be the most common problem on returns," she sald.

Using the pre-printed sticker with personal information on your return. won't increase your chance for audit, Maccani said. The computer bar code actually expedites processing In Cincinnati and speeds refunds,

"There's a common misconception that if you file early it increases your chances for an audit," Maccani added. "That's not true. If you file early, you'll get your refund early."

And you can still file electronically now even if you owe the govern-, ment money but walt until April 15

Variable life insurance usually is the better choice

Q. Our employer is offering us a retirement program through a wellknown insurance company. It is referred to as a variable life insurance policy. What would be the smartest way for us to select our investments from among the various portfolio funds offered by the life insurance company?

A. The plan offered by your employer sounds like a 401(k) retirement program. Contributions you and your employer make are deductible when calculating income taxes. Taxes are deferred until the money is withdrawn, usually during retirement.

Most life insurance policies guarantee to pay a fixed amount of dollars upon death. There is no protection against inflation. The insurance company invests the policy holder's premiums in bonds. With a variable life insurance policy, the policy holder elects what type of investment his or her premiums will be invested in.

Over time you would get the greatest return if the insurance reserves were in common stocks. Bonds would give the second highest return, and money market funds or other types of fixed-income securities would be third.

Thus, the potential pay-off for retirement is greater from commonstocks than fixed income securities, providing the time span is at least five years. The policy holder has to realize that since the policy is variable, the cash value of the contract. will reflect the type of investment. option selected by the owner. An investment in common stocks, over a long period of time, is quite likely to outpace inflation but will fluctuate in market value from period to period more than bonds.

If the insurance company requires participating employees to buy life insurance, the amount of coverage would have to be fitted into each person's financial game plan.

How much total life insurance do you need? How much can you afford? What is the sltuation if the income brought home by the employee is no longer available to help support the family?

Life insurance, like many otherproducts and services, is available from many competitive sources Shop around for the best deal from a financially strong company.

City Hall relations important

AYOR ROBERT Thomas is optimistic that strained relations between his administration and the Westland City Council members were improved with a social get together held last week.

12A(W)

The mayor, halfway through a four-year term, initiated the social gathering, inviting council members and his administrative appointees.
Hopefully, it represents dnly a first step toward improving the relations between the mayor and the council.

While there will always be some political tensions between the two power bases, there are many ways to minimize the problems.

One overall rule for both sides to remember is that the mayor and the council members were elected (or re-elected in some cases) by the same voters.

Tradition shows that local voters want a political balance in their city government — with one side to keep an eye on the other.

On a daily basis, the best way for both sides to gain respect is to handle the business issues on a professional basis. Officials should deal with problems on the issue at hand - not on how many votes may be lost or gained by supporting or opposing proposals.

WHILE SOME political followers like a good fight now and then, most residents want the $25million-plus city government operated on a business-like basis.

Equipment purchases should be decided on the issues of available dollars and the long-range goal for the department asking for the equipment

Salary raises for administrators should be reviewed in relation to the rate of inflation, available dollars, the level of raises given to union employees, what persons in the same positions in other cities are paid and other factors.

Cooperation doesn't mean agreeing on everything, but it does mean that elected officials are, at least, moving in the same direction.

While such social gatherings have a purpose, they shouldn't be used as a primary technique for without the pressure of facing a specific problem or dispute.

While the informal gatherings serve a purpose, it should be just one of several techniques used to build a base of trust and information.

The mayor indicated that he and Council President Charles Pickering are expected to plan another get-together next year - and possibly even a second one later this year.

FOR SEVERAL reasons, this is a good time to make improved relations a high priority in City Hall.

One reason is that there is a new council president who wants to also improve communications and trust between his colleagues. Another reason is that there has been a major turnover of council members with two new persons elected in 1989 and another two last November.

With newer council members with little political baggage to carry, the mayor's social gatherings offer an excellent opportunity to forget about long-past political hurts and go on with the future.

In the future, such get togethers could be more formal with a specific focus - such as an overview of city finances, public safety, equipment

Population loss to hurt Dems in redistricting

IT DIDN'T TAKE long for the fur to fly after both parties submitted their competing congressional redistricting plans.

• "You may pick the word to describe the Republican plan. The word could be outrageous, egregious, ruthless, overreaching, self-serving or myopic. All are correct," said John Dingell, the Democratic dean of the Michigan delegation.

• "It's obviously not intended to be of assistance to the Democrats," said an unnamed Michigan GOP source.

• "The Republicans act as if they believe they have the federal court in their pocket . . . Their plan would destroy one of the most powerful congressional delegations among the states," according to Gary Corbin, Michigan Democratic chair.

• Bill Ballinger, former Republican state senator and now editor of that the GOP plan will at a mini- tion over the Great Lakes). mum force Democrats to absorb the appointees and one is Democratic. Although the judges aren't talking, guess which plan looks like it will be approved?

In part, Republicans claim, it's just payback for nearly 20 years of Democratic domination of the Michigan delegation. And, Republicans add, in part it's merely a reflection of the fact that Republican-leaning areas of Michigan have grown in the last 10 years while Democratic-tending areas have not.

BUT THERE is more to it than that.

It is hardly sheer coincidence, if the GOP plan is accepted, that:

• Democratic Rep. Sander Levin (who holds a powerful seat on the powerful Ways and Means Committee) would have to run in a primary against Democratic Rep. Dennis Hertel (who is chair of the Merchant "Inside Michigan Politics," believes Marine subcommittee with jurisdic-

 Flint's Democratic Rep. loss of both seats in Congress that Kildee (who is Michigan's only member of the House Budget Committee, where he chairs a subcommittee) would face in a primary Saginaw's Bob Traxler (who chairs the Appropriations subcommittee on Housing and Urban Development, Veterans Administration and independent agencies). • Chances for re-election for Democratic representatives Howard Wolpe and Robert Carr would be jeopardized. Wolpe chairs a subcommittee of the Science, Space and Technology Committee and Carr sits on the Appropriations Committee.

MOST OBSERVERS agree that while redistricting plans are inherently political, the Democratic proposal was relatively moderate while the GOP plan went for a partisan home run.

"Roll Call," the widely respected and independent newspaper circulated on Capitol Hill, last week ran a big story on the Michigan redistricting fight. The headline read: " 'Outrageous' GOP Remap Targets Michigan Powers."

The benefit of such a function is that it shows Mayor Robert Thomas took the first step toward improving the political atmosphere.

It also gives the council members a chance to chat with the mayor and his department heads purchases or the structure of the municipal governmental organization.

That would give elected and appointed officials a chance to deal with their philosophies and what direction they want the city to take. In the end, taxpayers would be better served.

Michigan's relative population loss requires.

WHAT'S REALLY going on?

In part, it's just politics as usual. Michigan's quota of seats in Congress slips from 18 to 16, a result of population losses in the 1990 census. And both parties have submitted competing plans to redistrict the state to a a panel of three federal judges. Two of them are Republican from our readers

The article remarks that the Michigan delegation has "truly extraordinary power" on Capitol Hill and concludes that if the Republican plan is accepted, "it will be a long time before Michigan's Democrats ever again wield the clout on the Hill they currently possess."

But I'm afraid that's just politics. Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His award-winning column will appear periodically.

Here's a taste test of region

OMORROW'S VALENTINE'S Day. So it's only fitting we take the time to send an editorial bouquet to those whose actions are helping make our communities, our region — heck, even our world — a better place. Thought we'd stop there? Of course not, we're newspaper people. We're paid to be objective. Besides, all that sentiment raises our blood sugar to potentially dangerous levels.

So, to balance things out, we've included more than a few darts in with our Valentine hearts. Cupid, draw back your bow:

• A heart to all those like Livonia Churchill high school student Jennifer Swartout who are urging people - especially young people - to wake up to the reality of AIDS.

• A heart to all those at least willing to give American-made cars a chance and to all those struggling to make the Made in the U.S.A. label mean something once again.

• A heart to those governmental bodies that cable cast their meetings. Farmington Schools, better-late-than-never, is among the latest to join the list. Sometimes they are as enlightening as the Discovery Channel; others as low down as professional wrestling, but always worth a look.

• A HEART to plans to ban smoking at Tiger Stadium (and to Tigers management for preventing home run king Cecil Fielder from skipping town.)

• While we're still on the sporting page, a heart to the Detroit, Lions and coach Wayne Fontes for their spirit, fire and determination in the emotional, heart-tugging 1991 season.

• A heart to the Michigan GOP for opening its presidential preference primary. All these people who want to vote, but can't bring themselves to be called a Democrat or Republican in public should give party leaders pause. (Maybe the answer lies in our darts column.)

• A heart to Michigan Gov. John Engler for . . for , . . give us a minute here. Oh yeah, for making Michelle Engler our state's first lady. We know a winner when we see one.

• A heart to native son Tim Allen for setting his hit television show "Home Improvement" in a Detroit suburb. (Free plug: It's on ABC, 8:30 p.m.

Tuesdays.) OK, so you all think it's Birmingham. We still say it's Canton.

Now, for the other side. • A dart to those who still consider AIDS a disease that only affects "those people." Wake up, when it comes to AIDS awareness, we're all in this together.

• A dart to those who are using pro-U.S. sentiment for cheap politicizing (A fine judge like Hilda Gage sentencing someone to drive an American car, what gives?) or, worse, as an excuse for racist actions.

A dart to government officials who hold secret meetings, still avoiding the Open Meetings Act after all this time and still trying to conduct their business in the dark. How about a dart for cable companies, too. Their price increases have been outrunning inflation the way the Road Runner outruns Wyle E. Coyote.

 A dart goes to almost everything coming out of the Tigers camp in the past 12 months. Bo's Tiger Stadium strategy, Ernie's firing nuff said.

• PLANS TO raise next year's ticket prices earn Lions management a blg, fat dart, though. Hey, there were years when you couldn't have paid us to watch the Llons play.

• A dart to Dems for keeping their presidential primary closed. A big, fat dart goes to both parties for bringing us a passel of candidates so mediocre it makes it difficult to vote for anybody.

• A dart to the gov for - among other things - failing to seize a golden opportunity to raise the state gas tax. Squeezing out fraud only gets you so far. Besides, our roads badly need repair. If we weren't nice people, we'd suggest chaining him to the back of his Oldsmobile and running him up and down Plymouth Road a couple of times. But we are nice people. So we won't.

• A dart to all those other shows that get cheap laughs at Detroit's expense. Enough, we say. Come to Detroit and we'll show you how nice we are. We'll show you how much our region has to offer. We'll show you just how nice a time you can have here. And if you still make fun of us, we'll chain you to the back of our Oldsmobile

'Snow job'

To the editor:

I am writing this because I am totally disgusted with the Mayor and department of public service of Westland. It's been more than twoweeks since the snow storm and our subdivision is still a bumpy, horrible, iced-over mess, with the exception of Regene, of which someone must have really jumped on the right person in order to get it plowed properly, but left the rest of the subdivision untouched.

I have spoke with department of public service and filed complaints, which didn't do any good. I spoke with the mayor, who of course had all the answers. The mistake I made was by stating just Leslie Street when I should have said the whole subdivision is a mess, which included Ackley, Stelber, Regene and Melton. Last night I spoke with the mayor on the local cable "Live Call In Show."

I was told he would not debate the snow plowing matter over the phone, and then I was disconnected. He had said ALL the streets in Westland had been plowed at least three times!-The plow had been down our street, but they need to have the blade down in order to plow the snow. I was ap-palled at the fact that Mayor (Robert) Thomas and Carl Clark (public services department director) think we are slupid and can't tell if a street has been plowed, not following up on Mr. Clark, or Mr. strom of Westland for speaking up Clark for not following up on his workers.

As a rule, I don't complain, but after numerous cars have been stuck in snow and ice, two weeks after the first 11 inches, after shoveling the corner of Palmer and Leslie with a hand shovel because of having so much trouble getting into Palmer -Road, then having a car slide up almost hitting a tree on my lawn because a car was coming from the other way, I've had enough!

I have talked to other neighbors who have also called the city, to no avail. I guess the old saying "You Can't Fight City Hall" must be true because the response our subdivision had sure shows it!

I have decided to send this to the Observer, mainly because I'm sure, unlike Westland DPS, someone will at least read it!

As I was putting this letter in the mail, truck No. 203 plowed the street (blade down this time!) and finally did do a very good lob. Since this is Michigan, chances are we will have snow again, and I sincerely hope the city of Westland doesn't repeat its poor performance.

Bell seeks a new rate hike

THE FOLLOWING letter to the Michigan Public Service Commission was not written by an effete, pinko liberal, Toyota driving, consumer activist.

The author is state Sen. William Van Regenmorter, a Republican from the west side of the state and chair of the Judiciary Committee. Said he:

Bell Telephone Co., in which Bell announces its intention to increase rates to residential telephone subscribers, is very troubling to me.

"While I believe Senate bill 124 (the Telecommunications Act of 1991) passed without some final necessary protections, Bell is seeking to circumvent the intent of the Legislature that rates not be increased under this legislation for two years (Sec. 304).

"While I was concerned that this bill posed the risk of significant rate increases for Michigan citizens, I am most surprised that the attempt to raise rates would occur this soon.

"The filing for a rate increase under this new act, one day before the act took effect, unfortunately appears to confirm some of the deep

"The recent notice by Michigan concerns some of us have held. I am not challenging Bell's ability to UL-. TIMATELY implement this new rate design, but this flies in the face of the public protections this act should impose . . ."

> And Bell's notice was indeed dated Dec. 30, 1991.

THAT'S WHY Michigan Bell's name has become synonymous with bad faith as well as high pressure propaganda.

That's also why so many people are fighting to keep telephone companies out of the cable TV industry. The fear is that Bell would charge costs of cable work against the telephone business, enabling it to use phone bills to subsidize artifically lower rates against the cable companies. You have to be wary of a giant.

you would have to be awfully naive to trust them.

WELL, ONE newcomer to Lansing apparently does indeed trust Bell. Here is his news release:

"Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, today (Feb. 4) introduced legislation that would allow Michigan telecommunications companies (i.e., Bell) to enter into the cable television industry, providing competition, lower prices and better service to an industry that has been plagued with consumer dissatisfaction.

"Cable TV is clearly one of the largest unregulated monopolies arbitrarily preying on our consumers without regard to marketplace competition or government regulation,' said Bouchard. 'Without these forces in place, a consumer victimization has occurred.'

"The bill would allow Michigan telecommunications companies to provide cable television to consumers who previously had no choice over which cable company they patronized. Cable TV is available to 90 percent of American homes, and Bell's PR types will deny it, but nearly 60 percent of those homes have cable."

"Some "competition!" The cable company piranhas that have raised fees at more than double the rate of inflation, versus the Bell shark that sneaks in a rate hike request one daybefore a new law takes effect.

. YOU CAN call Lansing to protest Bell's rate request. But Bell would make more money off you.

Better to write. Mail is always more effective than the phone when you deal with government. Address: Michigan Public Service Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, PO Box 30221 Lansing 48910.

To give the Bell sharks a piece of your mind, don't look in the customer guide in the first 21 pages of your directory. Bell, hides its address nearly 500 pages back, in tiny type in the business whitepages.

Write, don't call: Michigan Bell Telephone Co., 444 Michigan, Detroit. Sorry, Bell doesn't list its own ZIP code

Male exploiters must try harder

MY DEC. 5 COLUMN described how I was accused of sexual chauvinism in a university course I was teaching. I invited you to judge my guilt or innocence and promised to excerpt your best analyses and also 'reveal how the class judged me-

My classroom "offense" was to choose three consecutive men to lead initial discussions of case studies, causing a female student to complain to a classmate. After another student overheard and reported her remark to me, I wrote a case study on the incident itself and had another female student lead its analysis.

The study defensively featured a long list of my pro-female initiatives such as hiring or promoting women to principalships. I had been unaware of the complainant's identity until she vehemently scolded me in class for embarrassing her by writing and using this case. Her discomfort made me-regret doing it, but a majority of the male and female students exonerated me during the discussion.

YOU DID THE same. Your most incisive analysis came from National Organization for Women activist Geraldine Barclay of Birmingham, who admonished me for a "cavalier approach to the issues," but dismissed the incident itself as trivial. Troy's Helen Weiske chided my student for stirring the proverbial "tempest in a teapot."

Alas, I cannot let myself off the hook so easily. As I confessed to my class in recapping its discussion, my act - albeit subconscious - was indeed chauvinistic! If one single hypersensitive soul is disturbed by an act so seemingly inconsequential, then the act is wrong - and that it was committed by a male in a "position of power" within a male-dominated society makes it doubly so.

This sequence has taught me two things: 1. Even an old human rights advocate like me can still become more sensitized to others' rights; and 2. it's going to take a long time to undo the psychic damage males in power have done to women. In fact, it will be understandable if many women never become able to com-gang rape. U.S. senators who didn't believe the extremely credible Anita Hill argued that no other woman testified to having been harrassed by Clarence Thomas, and sworn statements of women who said they'd been assaulted by William Kennedy Smith were disregarded during his rape trial.

MEN GENERALLY continue to pay a lower social and economic price for any kind of sexual mishap, whether or not it originated consensually. In fact, in the pre-AIDS/Magic Johnson era, men were frequently admired for multiple sexual exploits, while women who similarly indulged were disdained. The pervasive pornography industry also dehumanizes women and incites aggression toward them.

Meanwhile, a national magazine picks Smith as an "intriguing personality" of the year along with Johnson, Axl Rose, Pee-wee Herman and serial killer Jeffrey Dahmer!

Further, women continue to predominately labor as waitresses in the benzadrine light of waffle houses and all-night diners, as well as traditionally serving as secretaries, child care workers, cooks and cashiers.

Considering all this, my one student's concern about the gender chosen first to lead case analyses does appear comparatively puerile, yet it remains a symptom of how women are regarded - sometimes even by themselves. Thus it illustrates a man-to-woman, woman-to-woman and man-to-man communication gap which both sexes should try hard to close in order to stop sexual chauvinism and exploitation. And men. as the major exploiters, must try harder

Local reps say yes to some use of force

By Tim Richard staff writer

All Observer & Eccentric area state representatives voted yes when a bill allowing teachers to use force to maintain order was passed, 98-5. by the House of Representatives.

The bill goes back to the Senate for concurrence in amendments. The Senate last year gave the measure 33-1 support.

Senate Bill 338 amends a 1988 law prohibiting corporal punishment by spelling out conditions under which school personnel can use physical force.

TEACHERS in the Michigan Edu-" cation Association prompted Sen.

John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, to introduce the bill in attempt to restore their power to quell disturbances.

The House rejected a long series of amendments, approving only a clarifying one by Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell.

It says school personnel "may use such reasonable physical force as may be necessary to maintain order and control within a school or at a school-related activity when a pupil's conduct is causing a disruption, if that pupil has refused to comply with a request to refrain from further disruptive acts."

Physical force also may be used: • "For self-defense or the defense of another."

• "To prevent a pupil from inflicting harm on himself or herself." • "To quell a disturbance that threatens physical injury to any person."

• To confiscate a weapon or dangerous object.

• "To protect property."

It protects school personnel from civil liability when they have used force properly.

THE HOUSE rejected a humorous amendment by Rep. Nelson Saunders, D-Detroit, which said sergeants-at-arms in the Legislature may "use physical force upon a legislator as necessary to maintain vid Hollister of Lansing and Saunorder and control in a legislatively-

Bill would ban out- county courts here

By Tim Richard staff writer

Every Michigan county but Wayne would be able to set up circuit courtrooms outside the county seat under a House-passed bill that has cleared a Senate committee.

Reason: Wayne County is the only one of Michigan's 83 whose courts are fully paid for by state government. The other 82 operate with some local funds.

"I've no intention of approving any money for the third circuit (Wayne)," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron. "That amendment (removing Wayne) should be on there, or I won't support it."

DeGROW IS a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which re-approval. The House would have to concur in the Senate amendment.

The bill allows the chief judge of any circuit to designate other locations besides the county seat where court may be held. The county board and the administrator of the State Supreme Court also would have to approve.

It could revive long-standing arguments in many counties - including Oakland and Wayne - about the availability of county services outside the county seat.

For years, western Wayne Republicans and south end Oakland Democrats have argued for county service centers in their areas so residents wouldn't have to make long treks to the courthouse for minor business.

THE BILL was introduced by freshman Rep. Robert Brackenridge, R-St. Joseph, to help Berrien

With a special federal and state grant, Berrien's chief circuit Judge Ron Taylor wants to set up courts to deal with drug cases on an accelerated basis - in days rather than ters in Benton Harbor and Benton months where there are guilty pleas. A single judge would perform both the roles of district and circuit courts under the Berrien plan. Under law, Berrien's circuit court can sit only in St. Joseph (county seat) and Niles at the south end of the 30-mile-long county.

The drug problem, however, cen-

Gritty Churchill 2nd in rematch

By Brad Emons staff writer

It was a rerun of last year's Class A state championship, but with a slightly different ending. Temperance-Bedford won its hoolcraft Invitational levball title since 1983 with a 15-11, 15-11 win late Saturday night over defending Class A champion Livonia Churchill. Thirty-two teams, including four rated in the top 10 in the state, be-11. gan play at 8:15 a.m. And when it finally ended around midnight, the Kicking Mules triumphantly hoisted the first-place trophy. "Churchill had to be as tired as we were, and I tried to convince my girls that they (Churchill) were tired, too, and that we've got to get over it," said Bedford coach Jodi Manore, whose team lost to Churchill back on March 17, 1991 for the coveted state crown, 15-12, 15, 15-9. 15-8. "Churchill is always scrappy. They got up and blocked well, even though they're not tall team." Tournament MVP Jennie Bringman, a Wright State (Ohio) signee, and Stacey Scarbrough, an all-tour-City, 0-8. ney pick bound for Miami of Ohio, carried Bedford (40-8-7 overall) to the title.

The Spartans pulled within 14-12 thanks to some big hits from senior Lori Bailey, but Churchill held on when Campau's block (on Bailey) clinched the match.

Wayne rolls

Zebras stop Glenn in 2nd half

By Brad Emons staff writer

Statistics can be deceiving coaches often say. The only thing that matters is the final score.

That was the case Tuesday night as host Wayne Memorial continued its dominance over city rival Westland John Glenn, pulling away in the second half for a 72-53 boys basketball win.

It's been 10 years since the Rockets have beaten Wayne.

The victorious Žebras shot only 39.7 percent from the floor (27 of 68) and committed 17 turnovers, but had many intangibles going for them.

Wayne, which raised its overall record to 13-2, was stronger on the defensive end and dominated the boards, collecting 22 of their total of 47 rebounds on the offensive glass.

"Our theme was the take care of business and not get caught up in the emotion of the game," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "We wanted to execute both offensively and defensively, and continue our running game into the second half and try to wear them down. It was a typical game for us."

GLENN COMMITTED only six first-half turnovers and trailed by only five at intermission, 34-29.

But it was a completely different story in the second half as the Rockets were forced into 13 turnovers, while hitting on only seven of 19 shots (36 percent) from the field.

Wayne outscored Glenn 24-12 in both the third and fourth quarters to win going away.

Lee Williams, a 5-foot-10 senior forward, hit a pair of three pointers to spark the third-period surge.

Wayne's Greg Hartman (right) makes the bounce pass under

BUT THE MULES, who received strong play off the bench from 5foot-10 freshman Liz Renlus, demonstrated great depth in winning the 19th annual tournament.

"We play every Saturday in tournaments because we're not in a league," Manore said. "We've been using a lot of players, so we want to give as many kids an opportunity.

"Today we had a starter out with an ankle injury, but had somebody step into the front row and do the job."

Churchill, meanwhile, continues to amaze despite losing five of six starters from last year's state championship team.

The Chargers are a surprising 29-5 overall.

"I thought we played our best game at midnight, even though we were tired and had been there all day long," Churchill coach Mike Hughes said. "All I ask of our kids is to play to the level of their talent, and our kids played as close to that as they can play.

"We came to this tournament because we need the experience of playing against good ballclubs. I'm proud of all these kids on the way they played."

CHURCHILL SENIORS Julie Campau, outside hitter, and Ellen Lessig, a middle hitter, were both named to the all-tournament team. The Chargers also got steady play throughout the day from senfor setter Kristi Szymanski, junior outside hitter Chrissy Daley and senior outside hitter Vicki Lucas.

"We had too many service errors (in the finals) and we're not quite as good this year offensively," Hughes sald.

which lost a heartbreaking and emotional quarterfinal match to their city rivals, 17-15, 12-15, 15-12. The Spartans, who went an impressive 8-0 in Pool E, received a bye into the quarterfinals while Churchill, 6-2 in Pool F behind unbeaten Flint Atherton, drew an extra elimination-round match, overcoming talented junior Stephanle Storen and Birmingham Martan for a 15-10, 15-5 win.

Stevenson, determined to avenge a three-game loss earlier in the week to Churchill, heid a 14-6 firstgame advantage before the Chargers roared back for a 17-15 victory behind some late clutch hitting by Lessig, along with effective serving from Daly.

STEVENSON, bolstered by the hitting of Julie Martin, the blocking of Teresa Sarno (an all-tournament pick) and the setting of Patty Diamond, bounced back from a 5-0 second-game deficit to win, 15-12, forcing a third game.

In the third and decisive game, Stevenson jumped out to a 5-0 lead, but could not hold the advantage as Churchill reeled off 11 unanswered points. said Stevenson coach Lee Cagle. "I thought Julie Martin played well (in pool play) all morning, but the emotion caught up with her in the Churchill match.

"We have a glaring weakness with our blocking. It has to do with position. The ball hits below the tops of our hands and we end up getting hard richochets off the arms.

"Overall I thought our serving was good, but we have to eliminate the fear of mistake in serve reception."

With Stevenson out of the way, Churchill faced Dearborn, winning in three games, 15-9, 11-15, 15-0.

"THE BEST defense we played all year was against Dearborn," Hughes said. "We play blue collar defensively. When the ball is on the floor, we normally get the ball."

On the other half of the bracket, Livonia Ladywood made a strong run before losing to Flint Atherton in the quarterfinals, 15-11, 14-16, 15-8.

The Blazers reached the elimination round by tying Dearborn for first place in Pool A (7-1 records each).

Ladywood then ousted Grand Rapids Forest Hills Central, 15-3, 4-15, 15-9.

"I thought we played really well," Ladywood coach Tom Teeeters said. "We made some switches in our lineup and I thought Jannel Hemme's play, particularly serve reception, was strong.

"And a freshman, Tara Overaitis, came through off the bench. She gave some others breaks and did a good job hitting."

Other Ladywood contributions came from all-tournament pick Liz Gunny and Mary Jo Kelly, theteam's top two hitters; along with Valerie Adzima (serving and serve reception) and Kristy Walker (back row play).

THE AREA'S hard luck team was Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks finished 6-2 in Pool C, tied with Birmingham Marian, but one game behind Bedford, which ironically lost its only game of the tournament to North Farmington.

Salem, however, did not reach the elimination round, losing a tlebreaker. Marian won both games against the Rocks, 15-9, 15-8.

And (because it was a six-team pool (C); Salem had a bye and never faced Bedford, the eventual tournament champ.

Others named to the all-tourney team included Suzy O'Donnell, Dearborn; Lori Wolff, Forest Hills Central; Sarah Smith, East Kentwood; Bridgette Norris, Walled Lake Central; Meg Paris and Katle Baumbach, Flint Atherton. SC men accomplish unexpected on road

If nothing else, Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Dave Bogataj now knows to expect the unexpected.

That's what the Ocelots have been doing all season. They did it again Saturday at Alpena CC, which at the time was in possession of second place in the Eastern Conference.

The Lumberjacks should have buzzed through SC like a saw through paper. But it didn't happen; the Ocelots have this thing about second-place teams. For the third time this season, SC upset the conference's second-place resident, this time scoring six points in the final 15 seconds for a 94-91 victory.

"It was a good one, a big win," said Bogataj after his team improved to 4-8 in the conference, 11-15 overall. "The kids played really well."

AND BOGATAJ thinks he may have found the key to his team. "We just have to keep playing second place teams," he said. SC de-feated Oakland CC and Macomb CC, both in the battle for second, prior to its win Saturday at Alpena.

The outcome had to be unexpected. The game was billed as a winter homecoming for the 'Jacks, with an extended between-games segment and a longer halftime. A visiting team shouldn't have much chance in that kind of atmosphere.

But the Ocelots trimmed their furnovers, controlled the boards and the paint, and worked the ball inside extremely well. Bogataj brought Scott Meredith outside and that helped open things up for Jarvis Murray inside; Murray responded with 12 first-half points. Meredith scored seven and had four assists in the opening 20 min-utes, but Alpena led at the half 37-34: -

Eight minutes into the second half, SC had used its strong inside game to build a 13-point lead, but it didn't last. In seven minutes, the 'Jacks eliminated it with free throws and had passed SC, taking a four-point lead."

IT WAS tight the rest of the way.

The craziness followed. In games earlier this season, it was SC which had trouble inbounding the ball; not this time. A mental mistake caused a 'Jack turnover as they tried to pass the ball in, and SC took possession. Tony Rumple was fouled after getting the ball inbounds for SC with :05 left; he sank both, giving the Ocelots a 93-91 lead.

SC caused another Alpena turnover on the ensuing inbounds play, and the Ocelots' Jermaine Burden was fouled. He made 1-of-2 with :03 left to finish the scoring.

Murray totaled 32 points (13-of-17 shooting) and 13 rebounds, while Meredith had 21 points (9-of-16), 10 boards, five assists and two steals. Rumple finished with 18 points, six rebounds, four assists and two steals, while Sean Horrell came off the bench to add eight points and seven boards.

SC blocked 13 shots in the game: Murray and Horrell had four aplece, with Meredith swatting three.

For Alpena (now 7-6 in the conference), Prentice Phillips scored 14, Tim Neumann had 12, and Ryan Marlatt and Jermaine King each netted 11.

SC WOMEN'S HOOP: Any hopes of ending the losing streak that accompanied SC's women's team to Alpena CC Saturday were quickly dashed. Alpena hit 70 percent of its first-half floor shots and never let the Lady Ocelots recover, handing them their seventhstraight Eastern Conference loss, 95-76.

The defeat left SC at 12-13 overall, 2-9 in the conference. The Lady 'Jacks are 7-4 in the conference.

The Lady Ocelots got a strong performance from Donna Galli, the conference's leading scorer (21.2 a game), with 26 points. Nicole Dapprich added 12 and Jen Audet scored 10 and made eight steals.

SC committed 34 turnovers in the game, but forced 44. Still, poor rebounding — no SC player had more than five — and Alpena's strong shooting (62 percent for the game) proved decisive. SC made 40 percent of its shots.

CC grad wins national event

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Winning the Rolex National Indoor Intercollegiate Tennis Championship last weekend in Bloomington, Minn., never occurred to Steve Campbell.

How could it? The Redford Catholic Central graduate, now a senior and the No. 1 singles player at Rice University in Houston, Texas, had strained a stomach muscle six weeks earlier. His workouts had been severely hampered. "I really hadn't been able to prepare for this," said Campbell.

. When it was over, Campbell thought about adopting the lack of preparation as his normal mode of operation. After all, with little training and coming off an injury, he managed to battle his way into the finals of the Rolex - which is part of the collegiate tennis circuit's Grand Slam.

Campbell made it into the final by defeating previously unbeaten Michael Zimmerman of Harvard 6-3, 6-4 on Saturday. On Sunday, he went against fourth-seeded Jose Luis Norlega from the University of San Diego, and nearly pulled off another upset. But Noriega won, 6-4, 6-7 (5-7), 7-5.

STILL, GETTING that far surprised even Campbell, considering it was just his second Grand Slam event. "It was a tremendous

Madonna victorious

Another first.

For the second-straight game, Madonna University's women's basketball team found itself in a must-win position. And the Lady Crusaders came through, once again getting the game-winning points in the closing seconds for a 57-56 triumph over visiting Siena Heights Saturday.

Two nights earlier, Madonna had visited Spring Arbor. At that point, the Crusaders had just two NAIA District 23 wins, but Jill Burt made a clutch steal and hit a layup to pull off a 70-69 upset victory.

This game ended on the last shot, too. After Siena Heights took the lead, Madonna worked the ball in-. side to Cheri Sangregorio. Sangregorio beat the defender to the basket and laid it in for the game-winner.

The victory improved Madonna's record to 5-6 in the district, 7-14 overall. The Crusaders have one remaining district game: 7:30 p.m. Saturday against University of Michigan-Dearborn, at Madonna. Other teams have as many as three district games left, so the Crusaders' fate in regards to the playoffs is still in doubt.

BUT A WIN Saturday over UM-Dearborn would help them immensely.

"I'll be doing a lot of traveling next week, to see what everybody's doing," said Madonna coach Bill

Potter. "But we've got to take care surprise," he said. "I wasn't happy at all with the way I was playing going into the tournament."

So how did he manage it? Less pressure, a more relaxed attitude - both factors contributed.

"I wasn't afraid of losing because all the play-ers I played were seeded ahead of me," said Campbell.

That was no real tribute; after all, Campbell was unseeded. He won't be at any future major collegiate tournaments.

His status is certain to get a boost from his Rolex performance. He-beat several seeded players en route to the final, including the fifth-ranked player in the country, David Decret of University of California-Santa Barbara, in the first round.

At Rice, tennis is a year-round sport. The constant training may have played a role in Camp-bell's stomach injury. "It happened gradually, probably from overwork," he said.

BUT JUST when it seemed nothing was favoring Campbell, he put together an astounding tournament at he Rolex. It could serve as the catapult to a higher level.

At CC, Campbell was a steady climber. He won the Class A No. 3 singles title as a sophomore, collected the No. 2 singles crown as a junior, then captured the No. 1 singles championship as a senior.

At Rice, it's been a somewhat more difficult trek. Campbell played No. 1 last season and was 30-8, but he finished third in the Southwest Con-, ference and did not make it into the NCAA Tournament.

Those remain as current goals. "I want to win the conference, that's my first goal," he said after his Rolex run upped his singles' record to 25-5. "Then the NCAAs."

He admits it won't be easy. "The conference title is not easy to win," Campbell said. But: "I feel good about my game right now."

He should. Campbell's game "is pretty much to attack." At the Rolex, he said, "My net game came together. I was volleying well."

Now he must continue to play at that level, through the spring. Campbell graduates in May. with a degree in political science. After that, he's planning to take a shot at the pros.

Ten days ago, such plans might have been viewed as unlikely dreams. They aren't any longer.

Thursday, February 13, 1992 O&E (L,W)3B All-State keeper goes International

By Darren A. Nichols staff writer

Livonia Churchill's Jeff Cassar has decided to play soccer on an international level.

At Florida International, that is. "I decided to sign with Florida International because I wanted to go out of the state," he said. "They finished 17th in the nation last year and the coach (Karl Kremser) said I could come in and play. He said he wouldn't give me a full-ride if I couldn't come in and play.

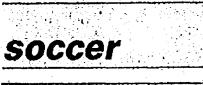

"I loved it - it was the best. They have a lot going on there. I liked the weather because I don't like playing indoor specer and I can play all-year round outside."

Cassar, who will major in physical education or sports administration, said he also chose Florida International because of the family atmosphere among the players. The Golden Panthers started eight freshman last year and return its entire lineup.

'Because most of them came in at the same time, the players are real close," he said. "I really don't know much about the head coach, but they have a real good goalkeeping coach and the guys are really close to the assistant coaches. They will get you in good shape. I guess they'll be hard-nosed."

CASSAR CHOSE Florida International over South Carolina, Akron, Michigan State, Wisconsin and Northern Illinois.

On Wednesday, Cassar and Churchill teammate Mike Gentile are leaving for a week to train in Portland with the Under-20 U.S. National team. The U.S. National team, which will compete for a spot in the 1993 World Cup in May, is comprised of the top 18 players in the country. They were choosen through an Olympic Development tryout recently in Dallas.

Jeff Cassar picks Florida International

Cassar said traveling with the Under-20 team influenced his decision to choose Florida International.

"With me being on the national team, I'll miss a lot of college because of the training we do," the 6foot-2, 175-pounder said. "I have a full-ride for five years. I don't know much about the school academically, but they do have a study hall (for the players)."

Cassar, who carries a 2.9 grade point average, will graduate from Churchill this spring. Considered one of the best goalies in the state, Cassar earned All-Observer and All-State honors, allowing six goals in 802 minutes with eight shutouts and 53 saves.

Local pros headline Laurel Manor card

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

4B(L,W)

Vince Hopper started a family, now it's time to resume his professional boxing career.

The 30-year-old Westland light heavyweight, who last fought professionally in 1988, returns to the ring on Tuesday, March 3, during a seven-fight card at Livonia's Laurel Manor.

· Ringside tickets for the event, promoted by Bradd Lally along with Golden Boy and West Coast Productions; cost $30, with general admission tickets going for $20. The first fight on the card begins at 8 p.m. and the doors open at 6 p.m.

Hopper, who carries a 14-4-2 professional record, will meet Jeff McDonald (8-8-1), of Chattanooga, Tenn., in a bout scheduled to go six rounds. Another featured fight involves Jeff "Sweet Ice" Styers, a 1984 Wayne Memorial graduate, who will battle an undetermined opponent in a welterweight match.

Hopper first turned pro in 1984 under trainer Johnny "Ace" Smith. But after Smith was shot to death in 1988 and after the birth of a son, John Vincent, Hopper decided to take a three-year absence from the sport.

HOPPER, ONCE ranked among the top 30 light heavyweights in the world, is determined to make it back.

"I know I can beat anyone, I just need the chance," he said. "Thomas Hearns has got something I want, and that's a (World Boxing Association light heavyweight) belt."

Hopper attended Monday's press conference to promote the fight with his wife, Dana, and 21/2 year-old son. He has full support at home, including that from his tiniest fan, John, who already loves the sport.

"He runs around and does shadow boxing, says hels going to do his road work - then runs around the house," Hopper said of his son.

Hopper, nicknamed "Blue Thunder," was scheduled to return to the ring last June in Laurel Manor's first-ever fight card but a broken nose postponed the bout.

"NOW MY nose is all healed and it's ready to go — and so am I," said Hopper, a 1979 graduate of Livonia Franklin.

Styers, who had planned a move up to middleweight, will fight a weling trouble keeping up his weight.

Styers, 9.0 after winning his first professional bout in nearly three years last June at Laurel Manor, reluctantly accepts his status as a welterweight.

"I don't like being a little wimp," Styers said, "I want to be with the big boys. But you don't want to be in a division you don't belong in."

In the main event on March 3, featherweight Boyd Gardner (8-3), formerly of Detroit's Kronk Gym, will meet nine-time Golden Glove champ Roger Bonine (14-1).

Another fight of note pits Taylor's Wael Aboud, making his pro debut, against an undetermined opponent.

LAST JUNE'S CARD at Laurel Manor drew about 1,200 fans and was boosted by the main event, which showed Westland's junior middleweight Brett Lally score a unanimous decision over Anthony "Hard Puncher" Ivory. Livonia heavyweight Craig Payne and Lally will not be on the card this time, but there promises to be some exciting bouts.

"A lot of Palace shows, you know what's going to happen, and who is going to win before the fight because most of the fights are mismatches," Bradd Lally said. "I'm not saying my fights are going to be 'barn burners,' but like Gardner and Bonine, both guys have very good records and know if they can win they can really build themselves."

PAYNE WINS: Livonia heavyweight Craig Payne moved his professional record to 5-0-1 Saturday with a four-round decision over Battle Creek's K.P. Porter at the Lansing Civic Arena. Payne, suffering from a bronchial infection, will take two weeks off, then head to Fort Meyers, Fla., where he will spar against Alex Stewart, according to trainer Paul Soucy.

Stewart is a formidable opponent who is expected to fight world heavyweight champion contender George Foreman in April

With every fight, the 273-pound Payne said he builds confidence.

"I'd like to thank my parents (Marvin and Judith Fouts) and God because without their support I couldn't return to the ring," Payne said. "And I'd also like to thank the people who say I couldn't do it

LSO features romantic music of Brahms

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

6B*(P,C-8B)

Livonia Symphony Orchestra, under conductor Francesco DiBlasi, presents Beethoven, Haydn and the romantic music of Johannes Brahms at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15, in the Churchill High School Auditorium, 8900 Newburgh, Livonia.

"BRAHMS' CONCERTO is one of the beloved classics," said Victoria Haltom, featured violinist, who will perform "Concerto for Violin and Violoncello in A minor" by Brahms with guest cellist Nadine Deleury.

"Brahms is always intense," Haltom said. "His whole musical statement is very romantic."

The 80-piece orchestra begins the evening performance with Ludwig van Beethoven's "Overture to Leonore No. 3, op. 72b." Viennese composer Joseph Haydn's "Symphony No. 88 in G major" follows. After intermission, the 19th-century romanticism of Brahms' concerto, featuring Haltom and Deleury, concludes the program.

DURING A recent LSO rehearsal of the concerto, Haltom's lyrical, romantic violin lead was answered by Deleury's hauntingly beautiful cello. The two, uniting to perform dramatic passages perfectly synchronized, were then joined by the orchestra for powerfully moving moments.

"IT'S A very expansive work that takes a lot of endurance to play." said Haltom, in her third season as LSO concertmaster.

"It's a piece that's not done very often, recorded a lot but not played live because it required two soloists.".

Unlike most concerti where attention is focused on the technical virtuosity of the soloists, Brahms' concerto features not only Haltom and De-

'Brahms is always intense. His whole musical statement is very romantic.'

--- Victoria Haltom

Academy, Haltom studied music at the Unviersity of Michigan.

At 19, she turned professional, spending 13 years with the New Orleans Philharmonic symphony as first violinist.

While performing in New Orleans, she earned a bnachelor of music degree at Loyola University, then pursued a master's degree at the University of New Orleans.

In 1973, Haltom became a violinist with The A Strings, which at that time was one of only two string groups in Nashville's recording studios.

As a member of The A Strings, she recorded and toured with the music group "Alabama."

ALONG WITH concertmaster duties for the LSO, Haltom is principal second violinist with the Michigan Opera Company and a member of the baroque quartet Chamber Works, the La Corda String Ensemble and the Windsor Symphony.

She teaches Suzuki method violin and is working on teacher certification in elementary education at Madonna University in Livonia.

"It's been a real pleasure to work with Nadine," said Haltom, a Grosse Pointe resident.

"Brahms' concerto takes a great deal of coordination between the cello and violin."

Deleury, who was born in France, studied at the Paris Conservatory under Andre Navarra. After coming to America, she attended Yale University studying under Aldo Parisot.

Martha Reeves sings 'sweet music' Valentine's Day las will perform two shows 8 and 10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 14, at Radisson Plaza Hotel, 1500 Town Center in Southfield. Tickets $50 per couple. For reservations/information, call 827-4000.

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Hits seemed to rain so easily from Martha and the Vandellas in halcyon days of Motown in the early 1960s. As the years past, "Heat Wave," "Dancing in the Streets," "No Where to Run," and "Jimmy Mack" became more than just bullets on the charts. Their flawless harmonies, soulful yearnings and celebratory dance themes embodied a sense of purpose, an urgency in what became Berry Gordy's musical fieldom on West Grand Boulevard.

"IT WAS an enterprising spirit," said Martha Reeves, 50, whose distinctive, brassy vocals have always Martha Reeves and the Vandel- been the focal point of the group. "It was one of newness. It was one where a whole lot of energies were channeled into the art of making good music. There was a family atmosphere. Everyone there seemed to belong or would do anything beyond the call of duty than what was actually required to make sure everyone had a hit record."

wouldn't find things as idealistic lat- er on. Gordy would concentrate his efforts on the Supremes and Motown eventually moved from Reeves' . home in Detroit to Los Angeles.

MEMBERS OF Martha and the Vandellas split up, each pursuing their own careers. In Reeves' case, there were a series of lacklustre produced solo albums on Fantasy, MCA and Arista in the late '70s and early '80s.

By then, Martha and the Vandellas joyous music had already taken a life of its own. "Dancing in the Streets," released in 1964, became the unofficial theme of the Detroit Tigers' 1984 World Series championship drive while the timelessness of "Jimmy Mack" and "Heat Wave" certainly make the group as current as any act on Top-40 radio.

IN AN ATTEMPT to recapture the sense of wonderment. Martha Reeves and the Vandellas reunited five years ago. Annette Sterling Reeves and the Vandellas, Beard and Rosalind Ashford along with Reeves' younger sisters Lois and Delphine have toured Europe as well as the U.S. while maintaining full-time careers.

"It's a good reunion," said Reeves, who had returned to Detroit after 12 years in L.A. to care for parents. "

... It's always good to get back with people who love the business and have the enthusiasm to please an audience."

Their Valentine's Day show Friday, Feb. 14, at the Radisson Plaza Hotel will be the group's first performance in the area in three years. The fact they have yet to be booked at the refurbished Fox Theatre is a sore point with Reeves, who performed there in many Motown Revues.

But that is the only scintilla of bitterness from Reeves, who is a grandmother and maintains a full-time schedule in show business. She's busy collecting material for her next re-

"I've had a history of maybe some slow years," she said. "But I've fared them well, I think."

Like many great vocalists such as Sam Cooke, Reeves roots were firmly entrenched in the church. Her father, the late Elijah Reeves, was the minister of Metropolitan African-Methodist Episcopal Church in Detroit where Martha and the rest of her 10 siblings sang in the gospel choir.

While gospel performers such as Mahalia Jackson and the Soul Stirrers were initial influences, Reeves became enamored with the smoky nightclub vocalists such as Billie Holliday and Dinah Washington.

SHE PERFORMED under the name of Martha LaVaille in nightclubs. William "Mickey" Stevenson of the Motown Artist and Repertory Department caught her act during a happy hour at one club and gave her his card.

"I was supposed to wait a few days and then call," she said. "Instead I went in there the next day anticipating of getting on the label because I heard Smokey Robinson and the Miracles . . . I knew that Motown was going to be big."

Initially, Reeves worked as a secretary in the A&R department. Among her many duties, she coordinated session singers for artists and sang on Producers Demonstration tapings, which caught Gordy's interest and led him to form the Vandel-

Surprisingly, Reeves sald rivalries between artists were few in the early days of Motown.

"The competition came after the company grew and Berry took the Supremes as his personal project," she said. "The other groups were left to expound on their already prosperous careers.

"All of us did, (feel, slighted) and we were envious of the Supremes. However all of us understood because we all had product and were. still working."

But the hard realities of the record industry set in after Motown. A bit disillusioned at first, looking back Reeves believes artists were somewhat spoiled by the attention Gordy's label gave to its performers. She likens Hitsville, USA. to a school where artists were constantly given vocal, chorcography and modeling lessons.

"We even had people come in from United Airlines and show us how to pack," she said. "We had a lot of help at Motown. You don't find that help at other labels."

Behind the magic of Motown were people like Reeves who believed in the vision and foster no regrets.

"I've had a wonderful life," she said. "My music has been accepted. As long as I'm Martha, I'm in."

Still knockin' 'em down at 95

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

HE SIGHT OF A 95-year-old man holding an eightpound bowling ball may not immediately strike fear.

But when John Cencer, 95, gingerly approaches the lane, it's only the pins that seem to shiver and the wooden floor that moans. He's a model of concentration.

The Livonia resident carefully wheels back and lets loose with a lob. The ball hits the floor with a thunderous thud and seems to accelerate in its straight trajectory. The blue whir explodes into the 10 pins, scattering them in the wake.

"Oh John, you're just showing off for these people," says Vi McDaniel, 65, of Livonia as Cencer ambles back to his seat.

Cencer shrugs his shoulders. Three consecutive strikes - "a turkey" in bowling terminology — is something of an aberration, he says modestly. Undoubtedly, he figures his 125 average will catch up with him in the course of the day bowling in the Woodland seniors league.

Age certainly hasn't caught up with Cencer.

The nonagenarian still drives his Buick, cooks for himself and manages to make it to St. Michael's Catholic Church every day. Even the snowstorm in January didn't stop Cencer from making his daily rounds.

HE'S TWICE widowed and has been retired from Rockwell International for several years now. He has a son, 61, and a daughter, 55. He also has 12 grandchildren and four greatgrandchildren.

"Don't ask me their ages," he says. Without much prompting, Cencer gladly shares the secrets of longevity. He attributes spryness to doing what he wants to do and eating what he wants to eat. His diet? Usually, red meat and potatoes. "And a lot of dessert," he adds, "pie especially." The ultimate slice of life for Cencer is usually found at the bowling center. He bowls twice a week in senior leagues at both Woodland Bowl and Merri-Bowl. There. Cencer said he finds a good way to exercise and to meet people. He doesn't recall when he started to bowl, though he remembers he quit for 30 years after he married his first wife, Wanda, in 1929. She died in 1975. "I met my second wife bowling," said Cencer about his second wife, Ruth, whom he married in 1978 at age 81. "But she died on me (Dec. 26, 1989), too.

John Cencer has a smooth delivery, a clean release and nice wrist action when it comes to bowling. For that matter, he has a nice average — 125 — considering he's age 95.

Snyder, 77, Kay Snyder, 76, John Vitale, 67 and McDaniel for four years. Ed Snyder says he used to bowl with Cencer and his wife, Ruth, 15 years

Many in the senior league - many + 20 to 30 years younger — see Cencer as a source of inspiration. One woman marvels at his upright posture, others simply at his bowling. prowess. "He's beating the hell out of us," says Jeanne Chisholm of Livonia, who is playing against Team No. 5. When one roll produces less than a strike, Cencer turns in mock dejection from the pins that remain standing. One woman tells him, "We're just glad you're here, John." "I got a kiss from her last week for my birthday," says Cencer coyly as she walks away. "I got a lot of them last week."

(L,W,G)1C

"I was lucky, though. I had two good ones."

Wives and friends have come and gone, but the church and bowling are two of the things Cencer has been able to count on in 95 years. His teammates on Team No. 5 in the Woodland Swinging Seniors circuit count on him as well.

HE'S BEEN bowling with Ed

Both bowling centers, Woodland and Merri-Bowl, had birthday celebrations for Cencer's 95th birthday Jan. 24 complete with cake.

Channel 4 also turned up at Merri-Bowl to interview him. Cencer had to leave early from church where Detroit Archbishop Adam Maida was conducting a special morning service. He doesn't mind the fuss, though.

And, apparently, the attention hasn't detracted from his bowling game. After starting out with three strikes, Cencer knocks away a 1-3-6-10 spare, a "wash line" in bowling lingo. He also handles a 3-9 spare Staff photos and page layout by Jim Jagdfeld

Keeping memories

Healthy mind reflects healthy body

By Sue Mason staff writer

Sandy Bauman may joke about forgetting why she was at Schoolcraft College's Waterman Campus Center, but she was dead serious when she said she was "convinced the mind is a muscle that can get better when used."

Baumah was at the college Jan. 31- to kick off the Women's Resource Center's soldout winter luncheon series, entertaining her audience with funny quips, jokes and stories, all aimed at helping them remember the things they want to remember.

"The secret to remembering is organizing your life," she said. "Get into a habit so that you can be on autopilot and still find everything. Structuring your environment is one way of helping your memory ... and don't live with someone then it might work."

Affillated with the ElderMed program at Botsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills, Bauman puts a lot of credence in the "healthy mind, healthy body" philosophy. Good nutrition and phys-Ical and mental activity can go a long way in preserving the mind and making the older years happler.

"The memory is a good indication of body health; if something is interfering with that health, the memory is the first thing to go,' she said.

The mind receives information from the senses - hearing and seeing. The brain picks out the important information and then dumps the rest, storing the former as long- or short-term memorles.

SOME MEMORIES, according to Bauman, can only be recalled with a queue. A case in point, she said is chlorofluorocarbon. People may not know what it is, but the sound of an aerosal can is enough to recall that the chemical compound is making a hole in the earth's ozone layer.

Likewise, the mention of a roundtop radio of the 1930-40s elicited recollections of radio shows like "The Shadow" and "Amos and_ Andy" from the audience.

"What is happening now is that we're bothered more by distractions, so you have to pay more attention," Bauman said. "It can take longer to learn things. I once heard a man say, 'I have a photographic memory, but I no longer get first day service.""

Medical problems like hardening of the arteries, hypoglycemia and anemia can affect the function of the brain by not providing enough energy. And dehydration can also have an impact. Water, Bauman said, carries messages to the brain.

The human body excretes more water than it takes in, one reason why people need to drink eight eight-ounce glasses of water a day. But, Bauman noted, drinking coffee should not be confused with drinking water.

"If you call coffee water, than fill up your bathtub and take a bath in it," she said.

NOT GETTING enough of the right food can also affect the memory. If Bauman had her druthers, she would toss out white bread and replace it with whole grains and fruit, "the keys that open the cell's doors to let glucose in."

And even inactivity can cause memory loss because not enough blood is moving through the body. $\frac{1}{2} = \left\{ \mathbf{1}_{i_1} \in \mathbf{1}_{i_2} : i_1 \in \mathbf{1}_{i_2} \right\}$

Sandy Bauman kept her audience laughing guest 88 speaker at the winter luncheon series opener, staged by Schoolcraft College's Women's Resource Center.

Writer is emotionally dependent on someone else

Dear Lorene,

I've been following your column for the past few weeks. It amazes me that you can reveal so much about a person by looking at their. handwriting. It is interesting to learn how a person's upbringing is shown in their writing style as well as how they perceive their present and future life. I look forward to learning more about myself through this type of analysis. I'm a right-handed, 29year-old female.

I also wonder if a person's writing style changes throughout their life. Does writing reflect a person's emotional state of mind at the specific. time it is written? Or does the style usually stay constant? I'm curlous and anxious to learn more.

"Bill Cosby says that the reason we forget is because our memory is stored in our fanny," Bauman told the audience. "You decided to get something from the refrigerator. You get up and walk to il, but by the time you get there, you've forgotten why you're there, so you go back and sit down. Then your fanny squishes and shoots the memory up to your brain.

"So you need to swat yourself on the fanny to remember."

Self-inflicted pain aside, Bauman said people can improve their memories by associating new information with previous knowledge. A case in point, the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles.

While anyone under the age of 10, knows their names - Leonardo, Raphael, Donatelio and Michaelangelo - for non-TMNTers the way to remember that they are all named after famous Renaissance artists.

The non-profit organization offers summer homestays for teenagers with families in France, Germany, Spain and the Ivory Coast. Michigancoordinators are Julian and Evelyn Prince of West Bloomfield.

"When you become part of a family abroad, you have the rare opportunity to experience the culture and lifestyle from the inside rather than viewing from the outside as a tourist," Julian said. "The language you have been learning will come alive as you use it."

Host families provide room and board for the teens for three or four weeks during July or August (or during June in the Ivory Coast). And Nacel, with careful planning and large program sizes, has been able to keep the costs reasonable.

Except for pocket money, the complete cost of homestays from Detroit, including all airfares, insurance and transportation to the host family, are $1,465 to France or Germany, $1,515 to Spain and $1,965 to African Ivory Coast.

As part of the homestay, travelers to France or Spain can include an optional three-day tour of Paris or Madrid for an additional $250 or an optional seven-day trip exploring the country for $450.

AND A seven-day windsurfing camp ($420) or an 11-day sailing camp ($770) in Britanny are new options for homestay participants in France.

The German homestay in July is in the Munich area, while the August homestay in the Hamburg area includes a three-day visit to Berlin for an additional $200.

Common ground Service emphasizes unity of all Christians

By Julie Brown staff writer

The Rev. George Charnley does most of his preaching at St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton, where he serves as pastor. He recently traveled a few miles to Cherry Hill United Methodist Church to preach.

Having a Catholic priest preach at a Protestant church might seem a bit unusual, but it isn't a first-time occurrence in Canton. In recent years, area congregations have held an ecumenical worship service to celebrate the Week of Prayer for Christlan Unity.

The Rev. Randy Whitcomb, pastor of Cherry Hill United Methodist Church in Canton, hosted this year's service, held Sunday, Feb. 2. His wife, the Rev. Michelle Gentile, who is also a Methodist minister, participated, as did pastors and lay people from other Canton area churches. About 125 people attended the evening service.

"It was great to have the church filled to overflowing," Whitcomb said. This is the fourth year he's been involved in the ecumenical service, which began in the mid-1980s.

WHITCOMB AGREED it's important for Christians to acknowledge what they have in common.

"I think that's the strength of this whole thing, to recognize our commonness. We have more that unites us than actually divides us."

Charnley focused on those ties in his message. He told the story of a young frog and snake who spent the day playing together, and had a great time teaching each other how to hop and slither.

When the day ended, however, each one's mother said that frogs and snakes shouldn't play together. The frog and snake obeyed those parental commands, but missed each other and regretted their decision. "Neither ever again had as much fun with anyone else," Charnley said.

Christians from different traditions and backgrounds also need to recognize what they have in common, "that we can really take seriously this idea of being one. He calls us to be with one another," Charnley said.

 Those who walk with God must be faithful to the evangelization message, spreading the word of God's love, he said. Without that, Christians will be ineffective in the realms of politics and community life.

"Unless we believe that, the world will continue to go as it is," Charnley said.

THE HOMELESS and hungry are also people of God, he said, and deserve the love and compassion of Christians, who are called by Jesus to be one. "Let us pray that Christ may bring the church together in common witness to the world," Charnley said.

Churches represented at the service included Cherry Hill United Methodist, Faith Community Moravian, Christ Community Church, St. John Neumann, St. Michael Lutheran, Trinity Presbyterian in Superior Township, Geneva Presbyterian, Canton Community Church and Resurrection Catholic Church.

The service focused on renewal of baptismal promises. Each worshiper used a seashell to dip water from a bowl; he or she then said "I remember my baptism and I am thankful" while touching that shell to the forehead in the sign of the cross.

The service featured a performance by a choir whose members represented different churches. A collection was taken to support the work of the Salvation Army in the Canton-Plymouth community.

The evening ended with a social time, during which friends and neighbors from different congregations had a chance'to get acquainted or renew their friendships. Whitcomb and Gentile were pleased to have so many visitors at their church.

THE WEEK of Prayer for Christian Unity has roots going back to the early 20th Century. It was as a result of the Second Vatican Council that many Catholics began to participate in such ecumenical services in the 1960s.

The Roman Catholic and United Methodist churches have had an ongoing dialogue for some 30 years, said Whitcomb, 36. He remembers attending such joint worship services during Lent when he was growing up in Minnesota and is pleased to see the tradition continue and grow.

"Not only does it unite us as Christians, it also unites us within the community." Christians can come together to address needs within the community, Whitcomb said.

"Personally, I even see it more

broadly than just Christianity." He likes to see such ecumenical efforts extended to others, such as Hindus and Jewish people. Whitcomb attends an annual program for Christian clergy at Temple Beth El, a synagogue in Oakland County, and finds that enjoyable and enlightening.

Whitcomb's wife heard positive comments following the service from worshipers who were pleased to see a woman pastor participate. She also drew some laughs during the service when she explained how her own rather distinctive laugh makes her noticeable at comedy clubs.

In fact, Gentile was given a number of free passes for Chaplin's Comedy Club in Canton, because the comedians like to incorporate her laughter into their onstage performances.

When Charnley's time to preach during the service came, he didn't have a comparable story to share. "I wish I had a lot of jokes to tell," he said, drawing an appreciative response from the worshipers, who know that Protestants, or Christians for that matter, don't have a monopoly when it comes to joy and goodwill.

One of the most rewarding parts of the service "was our chance just to laugh together," Whitcomb said, "I think we need to do that more often because we get so caught up in. the seriousness of life. God made us to laugh."

Singles find fellowship in all the right places

REA SINGLES know that they don't have to be lonely this Valentine's Day, or any other time of the year.

Churches such as Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia offer a variety of activities designed with singles in mind.

"They're looking for some fellowship," said the Rev. Paul Clough. minister to single adults at Ward Church. "We're helping to provide that.'

Some singles do meet spouses through Single Point, although the emphasis is on fellowship rather than romance.

"Part of our ministry is letting

Single Point Ministries activities are for adults age 30 and up. Ward Church also offers ministries for younger singles.

THERE AREN'T any Single Point activities planned specifically to celebrate Valentine's Day. The Talk It Over group for single adults will meet 7:45 p.m. Friday, Feb. 14, in Knox Hall at the church, Farmington and Six Mile roads in Livonia.

A skiing weekend sponsored by Single Point is usually planned each year close to Valentine's Day, and that's being done again this year.

Single Point staffers and volunteers don't make a theme out of Valentine's Day, said Clough, a Plymouth resident. Many singles, particularly those who are recently widowed or divorced, don't feel comfortable at events where there's pressure to be part of a couple.

He and others involved in ministries for singles have seen increased interest in activities offered by churches. Single Point has about 4,000 people on its mailing list, including 1,500 to 2,000 singles who attend at least one function in a given month.

Many single people are more comfortable participating in a churchsponsored activity than they are going to a bar.

"I think singles in general are coming to that realization," Clough said. Many are looking for a place that offers fellowship. Fear of AIDS and other diseases also is a factor that motivates some to seek an alternative to bars. "One, it's a place of safety," he ... Point activities, and those who at-said of Single Point. "They come for fellowship. It is a chance to meet other single adults."

SOME HAVE a certain sense of morality which makes them reluctant to go to bars.

"They're looking for an alternative," said Clough, who met his wife through Single Point. Ministries for singles sponsored by area churches are becoming an accepted alternative.

Those who attend Single Point functions aren't required to have a date, and that's comforting to many. The ministry sponsors a New Start group for widows and widowers.

"They do a lot of neat things to-tend meetings of the Talk It Over group or others aren't expected to pay a cover charge or adhere to a two-drink minimum requirement.

"Absolutely cheaper," Clough said. "We don't charge any admission."

The Friday, Feb. 14, Talk It Over meeting will include a speaker, small group activities and fellowship time. For information on that group or other Single Point activities, call 422-1854.

Name-calling contests: immature, ineffective

and our collective ego did not receive enough of a kick-start last winter. Saddam Hussein was the front page culprit. War was the game of the hour and agreement with policy was the politically correct measure of one's patriotism.

Flag waving was in. It provided an effective distraction from the savings and loan scandal for which it was decided we should all pay. It pushed a diving economy to the back pages or out of the news altogether. Kicking the bad guy made us feel great. America had put the Vietnam embarrassment behind. We were back! We were somebody because Hussein was nobody.

Unfortunately, though, the fix did not seem to last. By December, we were ready to engage in another distraction that was thrown our way. It was time to remember Pearl Harbor - in itself a noble thing to do.

But the remembrances became the occasion to open old wounds and once again focus our attention on someone else's wrongs in hopes of raising our national self-concept.

IT WAS AN easy and predictable walk from the resurrected outrage over a day of infamy from 50 years past to throwing rocks at Japanese cars parked in American parking lots. (One local plant will not allow them to be parked on the property.) So this year in the name of patriotism and pride we point the finger at Japan. Rather than admit that they are beating us at our own game, we cry foul and blame our troubles on them. They call us names; we call them names. The game goes on.

So there are really no new games In town. As children, we blamed siblings for our troubles in hopes of taking the heat off of ourselves. But the games of childhood have a way of making it into the adult arena, So it is that William Kennedy Smith can blame a pickup for his troubles and she can blame him for Apparently our national pride hers. Midway can blame Northwest. Anyone who wishes to enterthe game can get caught in a namecalling contest with the Japanese.

No, it isn't a new game. It is as old as a fifth grade schoolyard, and not any more appealing to thinking human beings.

FIFTH GRADE children have not grown up yet, so we excuse their childish behavior. But the "buy American or be damned" outcry is coming from the mouths of so-called adults. These are folks who are supposed to know more than the typical 10-year-old.

They have to know, for instance, that every Japanese corporation that has bought a piece of America bought it from an American willing to sell. They must know that every American auto company builds its products with Japanese parts.

In fact, of eight automobiles recently listed in The Wall Street Journal, only one was made in America - the Honda Accord. All the others with American name plates were built in other countries. But we chant, and we shout, and those among us who are responsible for the problems cheer us

We attempt to teach children that their greatness comes from who they are and what they accomplish. We tell them that putting the other person down is not a very adult way to feel good about oneself. But children usually learn most from what they see.

In this case, they may well be learning that the fifth grade schoolyard name-calling contests are the grown up way to cover our own mistakes and soothe our very fraglle egos. Certainly it is easier than facing ourselves in the mirror and making a few changes at home.

The Rev. Robert Schaden is with the Newman House campus ministry at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Westland artist Dennis Jones' abstract paintings will be on display Feb. 15 to March 14 at Swidler Gallery, in the Washington Square Plaza Building, 308 W. Fourth, in downtown Royal Oak.

The opening reception will be 6-8:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15, with a slide talk by Jones at 5 p.m.

Jones layers acrylic, paint, shellac, metallic powders, dust and earth on his 4- by 4-foot panels and 18- by 18-inch mylar paintings.

"It is in the exploration of materiality that a poetry emerges. It is about alienation, emergence and disintegration; rebirth, decay, deliberation and chance; a search for identity and pain and joy," Jones said.

Jones teaches at Wayne State, where he earned his master's in fine arts degree in 1990. He's also an architect.

Although he has exhibited locally, this marks the first exhibition where he's featured. Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

The purpose behind the Scholastic Art Awards competition, now in its 65th year, is to encourage students in the creative arts and to give them the recognition they deserve.

"Scholastics is a great opportunity. The colleges look at Scholastics. It gives you a good opportunity to get a scholarship for college," Herrick said.

Did you know that Redford Township used to be 36 square miles?

That's before the city of Detroit annexed the villages of Old Redford and Brightmoor in 1928. Before then, the township's eastern boundary was Greenfield Road.

Annexation came at a time when public services desperately had to be expanded in these areas,

The boundary change, approved by township residents although opposed by Old Redford President-George Burt and village residents, left the township with 11.2 square miles.

Peek at past: Consider taking a trip back to earlier times in Westland

By Jeff Hooten special writer

HEN WALTER Felton decided to build a farmhouse in Nankin. Township in the late 1850s, little did he know it would one day serve as a reminder of Westland's past. In fact, it was more than 100 years before the city of Westland was finally carved out of-Nankin Township. While Westland may not be old compared to its neighboring communities, a visit to Walter Felton's farmhouse nowadays is like a trip back in time to the 1860s. The building now serves as the Westland Historical Museum.

"This house came on the market in 1979," said Jo Johnson, who serves as a Westland Historical Museum commissioner. "It was a good location and it was a typical Michigan farmhouse. That was important to us because it was representative of the type of community that Nankin Township was back then - mostly farms."

"We purchased the property with a grant from the state of Michigan," said Westland city councilman Tom Brown, who also chairs the Westland Historical Commission.

"I was a state representative at the time and we convinced the state that they should give us a grant for a historical museum. Since that time, the smaller house to the north of the museum --- which we call the Collins ---House - was donated to the commission. In 1987, we purchased the adjacent five-acre parcel of land, bringing our total property to over six acres.

"We have also organized the Friends of the Museum, a non-profit organization that includes both individual citizens and members of the historical commission. Actually, the Friends of the Museum is really the working unit that keeps it going."

But informality doesn't mean it's strictly a social club. There's plenty of mutual support and mutual criticism.

-"You learn from associating with other artists. Seeing each other's work and watching how guest demonstrators work really improves your skills," said Whitacre, a Farm-Ington Hills resident.

'The camaraderie with other artsaid Livonia resident Ed Ferguson, Farmington Road at Five Mile.

The 35-member club is open to anyone, beginner to professional. Members come from around Observerland. Dues are $15 a year.

Many members come from the ranks of the Visual Art Association of Livonia. They work in a variety of media: acrylic, oil, watercolor, collage, monoprints, mixed.

"I wasn't comfortable with them so I got viewpoints from a number of peeple in the group," he said. "That helped me resolve my confusion. Now I can proceed with reasonable assurance what I'm doing is constructive.

Some of the less-experienced painters feel insecure and aren't sure what's valuable in their work. We can offer reinforcement - urging them to enhance things they're doing well and offering general support in areas they can improve."

Because of Presidents' Day next Monday, the club has moved its February meeting to Wednesday, Feb. series.

THE CLUB is busy preparing for its 31st annual spring show and sale April 4-5 in the library. Christine Unwin, director of the Creative Arts Workshop in West Bloomfield, will juror the show.

The mixed-media show, featuring the best of the club membership, averages 125 pleces, some unframed. Chosen works sell for $100 to $600. Show themes span the spectrum:

landscapes, abstracts, floral. Ferguson will offer one of the more unusual themes with examples from his starkly painted Habitat Series, designed to prick social awareness. A dash of surrealism spices more-recent works in the nine-piece Series topics include rainforest destruction, killing of harp seals, homelessness, domestic abuse, envlronmental pollution and world peace.

"My wife and I have a strong belief in our environment, not only for us but for our daughters and, in the future, for their children," said Ferguson, who has shown at the Detroit Artists Club.

With a rising membership and the kind of talent represented, the Livonia Artists Club is no rinky-dink group.

As Ferguson put it; "It fulfills a real need and offers a sense of community by serving as a common ground for artists at all skill levels."

LIVONIA PUBLIC Schools encourage students in pursuit of the arts. CAPA, now in its seventh year, provides visual and performing arts students with a one-on-one classroom situation.

"CAPA has been the biggest influ-ence on my art," Herrick said: "Art is hands-on and in CAPA basically our lives revolve around it. Everything revolves around art. Art is really an expression."

Five of Demgen's senior art stu-dents enrolled in the CAPA program submitted eight pieces of work each to the competition.

"We had such a great variety of CAPA students winning awards in the ninth, 10th, 11th and 12th grades," Demgen said. "There were 27 awards given in all."

At the regional level, Portfolio winners included Herrick, Christina Carravallah, Jennifer Cross and Kimberly Shaw.

Blue ribbons went to Herrick, Catherine Humphrey, Darren Schlack, Tracey Vitkay, Brian Wilson and Angela Zarek.

Gold Key winners include Herrick with two, Ari Bauer and Marty Smith.

"People know what we need · through word of mouth or from the newsletter put out by the chamber of commerce," said Dale... People have been very cooperative. Sometimes they will visit the museum and realize they have something at nome that we don't have or that we could use.'

In addition to the museum itself the extra property acquired by the historical commission offers several possibilities for future added attractions.

"We hope to open up the Collins House for display this year." said Johnson. "It will be different than the museum in that while we try and furnish the museum like a house, the Collins House will have specialized rooms. For example, one room will be filled with 'home chores' such as an old washing machine, trons, cur tain stretchers and things used for canning.

"We plan on filling the other rooms with collectibles, sports-related items and we hope to have one room set up as a general store.

OTHER FUTURE goals include a farm pavilion in between the Collins. House and the museum, featuring old farm equipment such as a horsedrawn plow a cultivator and ar seed planter.

At the museum, plans are under way for a new showcase display on genealogies that demonstrates how people can trace their family s roots

Outside the farmhouse are several new additions that include the 1931 Marie Wilde air-motor windmill the E.J. Norris well and a dual-occupancy log outhouse.

Survey identifies 'typical' executive housing costs

A transferring executive earning $150,000 per year can expect to pay $325,000 on average for a house in the Detroit area market, according to a Century 21 survey.

The survey is based on real estate listings and compares average listing prices, square footage and style of homes typically purchased or rented by a transferring executive. The survey studied 59 markets worldwide.

For that price in this area, the executive would move into a 2,900-3,500-square-foot house with 10 rooms (four bedrooms, 3-31/2 baths), a 100-by-150 lot, executive-style colonial with brick and aluminum or wood exterior, ceramic tile foyer, sunken tub in master bath, library, crown moldings, deck on patio, sprinkler system, fireplace, whirlpool and three-car garage. The tion to 2 percent depreciation.

The survey identified the popular suburbs as Rochester Hills and Troy. and the popular neighborhoods as Hawthorn Hills, Oak River, Somerset North. Oak River East, Quail Ridge, and Meadowbrook Valley.

· Five percent of this executive market consists of condominiums, which average $180,000 in a range of. $120,000 $240,000. The condos have 2,000 square feet and have seven rooms (three bedrooms, 21/2 baths) and would rent for $900-$1,100 per month.

SINGLE-FAMILY rental homes in this category are "rare." But if one were to be found, rental would range from $2,000 to $2,500 monthly.

Unfinished basement may indicate developer's financial woes

We-are interested in buying a condo that is being offered at a reduced price. It is not completed, and the basement has been standing unfinished for approximately nine months. The developer assures us that there is no problem. Do you have any suggestions before we make a decision?

The fact that the basement has stood exposed to the elements should create some concerns that can only be alleviated by your having the foundation inspected by a qualified expert. Assuming you can gain adequate assurances from an outside consultant, as well as an express warranty, I would go ahead with consideration of the purchase. But you may also wish to consider why the basement remained unfinished. It may indicate economic problems on the part of the developer that may cause you concern with respect to other aspects of your purchase.

I am a contractor who is fed up with a management company who believes that it has an economic hold on the market and treats me with total disrespect. How can I convince that management firm that by ignoring me that is is doing its association a disservice?

If you are not being treated properly by the management firm in terms of giving you a fair opportunity to bid on a project, you may feel not giving you a fair shake.

Management companies have preferences with respect to contractors based on experience and working relationships. On the other hand, some management companies favor certain contractors for self-serving purposes. Keep in mind that if you go over the management company's head, you will be alienating it. But if you are not getting the business, you compelled to contact the association may not have anything to lose bedirectly to present to it your con- sides gaining a new customer who cerns regarding the fact that the will be appreciative of your candor management company it has hired is in connection with the recruitment techniques of the management firm.

Office market still soft, but conditions ease

By Doug Funke staff writer '

The office market in suburban Detroit continues to remain soft with a vacancy rate hovering near 20 percent.

Cushman & Wakefield of Michigan, a commercial real estate firm headquartered in Southfield, and the Society of Industrial Office Realtors reached that same conclusion in separate surveys.

Improvements are on the horizon, brokers in the industry maintain, although it may take several years for demand to catch up with supply.

"Good news for the market is that new construction has dropped off. That should help the vacancy rate," said Keith D. Sant, vice president and branch manager for Cushman & Wakefield. "We're still talking a few years before we see a resumption of spec building."

"I'm starting to see in the last six months resistance from some landlords to give concessions," said David N. McNabnay, a Bloomfield Hills commercial Realtor.

The surveys identified only a couple of office buildings currently under construction in Observer & Eccentric communities - Oakland Towne Square, 485,000 square feet in Southfield, and the Webster Building, 74,110 square feet in Birmingham.

The Cushman & Wakefield survey included only leased space. The SIOR survey also included owner-occupied offices.

AS BAD AS things seem here, they're worse elsewhere, according to SIOR. Suburban Dallas, Chicago, Minneapolis, Long Island, Boston, Phoenix and sections of Los Angeles had slightly higher vacancles. Cushman & Wakefield identified a suburban office inventory of some 43.5 million square feet primarily north and west of Detroit's central business district. The vacancy rate of 20.3 percent last year was exactly the same as 1990.

The weighted average asking rent for the suburban market slipped slightly to $16.88 from $17.14 per square foot, according to Cushman & Wakefield.

Quoted rents for the suburban market ranged from $8.50 to $25.05 per square foot. There were fairly wide variations within each submarket.

Many of the new leases here represented a move up for tenants into fancier buildings with more__ amenities in better locations, the SIOR report indicated.

"While we say there's a 10-year supply in the metro area, when you. get down to specific needs of a tenant - maybe 50,000 feet on one floor - you're limited," said Jerome L. Reiss, a Realtor with the Southfield firm of Burland, Reiss, Murphy and Remblesa.

Reiss compiled local suburban figures for SIOR.

"LARGE BLOCKS of available space in quality buildings isn't scarce yet, but it's getting limited," McNabnay added.

Sant disputed the word mediocre to describe the local market.

"It continues to be soft," he said. "I think we've hit a bottom of the cycle. It's a matter of recessionary times plus an overbuilt marketplace. We'll come out of it slowly, but I think we'll come out. There's still a lot of activity out there."

Sant's predictions for 1992 include more absorption of existing space, a decline in vacancy rate and a firming of rents.

It remains difficult to get financing for office projects here with 8.3 million square feet of vacant existing space and another half million under construction, SIOR reported.

"No matter how solid you are, you still can't get money from lenders," said Richard E. Danckaert, a Realtor with Burger, Easton, Mercier, Rideout & Co. of Southfield and president of the Michigan SIOR chapter. "The only money available is for user-occupied buildings," said John R. Boyd, a Realtor with Signature Associates of Southfield.

Vacancy rates

by community

Following is a brief summary of office markets as prepared by Cushman & Wakefield of Michigan. The commercial real estate firm is based in Southfield.

SOUTHFIELD

With the largest inventory of office space among O&E communities, 15.3 million square feet, Southfield had a vacancy rate last year of 21 percent, down from nearly 28 percent in 1990.

An additional 160,000 square feet became available with the completion of Raleigh Office Centre II. Oakland Towne Square, 485,000 square feet, is under construction now.

Southfield ranked highest among all area markets last year in leasing activity - new leases signed including moves and renegotiations with 1.2 million square feet.

The Southfield market also led the way in absorption with 569,000 more square feet occupied last year than in 1990.

Asking rents ranged from $8.50-$25.05 per square foot compared to $8-$25.70 during 1990. Weighted average quoted rental rate slipped slightly to $15.87 from $16.28.

The Troy market, 11.3 million square feet, had the largest drop in absorption last year among markets. Some 252,500 square feet of space occupied at the beginning of year was vacant at the end.

The big reason - Volkswagen of America moving out of 280,000. square feet in the City Center Building to Auburn Hills.

The loss also boosted the vacancy rate in Troy to 22 percent from 20. percent. Leasing activity dropped to 605,000 square feet from 766,000 and the weighted average quoted rent slipped to $17,36 from $17.62 per square foot.

Quoted rents ranged from $11.55 to $21.80, down substantially at the high end from 1990.

BIRMINGHAM BLOOMFIELD HILLS

A 35-percent increase in leasing activity to 486,000 square feet almost totally offset the effect of the Benjamin K. Pierce Building coming on line during the year.

The net absortion loss during the year was only 14,000 square feet following a loss of 108,000 square feet in 1990. The vacancy rate of 19.2 percent remained virtually unchanged.

But a continued decline in absorption and competition drove the weighted average asking rent down 6 percent - to $18.28 from $19.46. Rents for the inventory of 5.5 mlllion square feet ranged from $11.66 to $24.50. That compares to $13-$23.50 last year.

FARMINGTON HILLS

This market of 4.1 million square feet had a vacancy rate last year of 20 percent up from 17 percent in 199Ŏ.

But weighted average rental increased to $16.53 from $16.20 and the rental range jumped to $12-$19.50 from $10-$18.50.

Leasing activity, nearly 283,000 square feet, increased 31 percent. Some 50,000 square feet became vacant with the move out of town of Vlasic Foods.

Downsizing and consolidation by other tenants also contributed to a rather small net absorption of 6,700 square feet.

LIVONIA/NOVI

Net absortion of 117,842 square feet and leasing activity of 298,000 square feet both were down from 1990 figures. The vacancy rate dipped one-half percentage point to 19%.

Total inventory at the end of the year was 2.8 million square feet. Rental range of $10 to $19.30 remained flat but the weighted average rental rated moved up to $16.86 from $16.45.

Westbrook Place II in Novi was half pre-leased at the end of the year as construction continued.

ROCHESTER HILLS

AUBURN HILLS Most of the activity in this market of 1.1 million square feet, took place in Auburn Hills.

The opening of a single building. 346,000 square feet leased by Volkswagen, severely impacted the figures.

Vacancy rate plummeted to 17.7 from nearly 33 percent and net absorption, which had been minus 35.800 square feet in 1990 soared to nearly 391,000 square feet last year. Weighted average quoted rents, following a trend in several neighboring suburban markets, slipped to $16.46 from $17.32. The rental range of $12.60-$18.25 was down slightly at the low end, up slightly at the high.

WEST BLOOMFIELD

The smallest individual market surveyed with an inventory of 523,700 square feet consists mostlyof law firms, accounting firms and other service industries that tend to lease space in small increments. West Bloomfield had the highest vacancy rate in the metro area last year, 23 percent, compared to 20 percent in 1990.

Home, sweet home also sweetens tax situation

If you're still grappling with the question of whether to buy a new house, perhaps the tax benefits can help you with the decision.

The advantages start as soon as you secure a mortgage. Lenders generally charge points for a mortgage loan, and points, which constitute a loan origination fee; may be deducted as an interest expense on your tax return.

If you had to relocate because of a change in your job, you may be eligible for additional tax breaks. Generally, you can deduct unreimbursed relocation costs if the distance between your new job location and your former home is 35 miles more than the distance between your old job site and your former home.

The biggest tax savings available to most homeowners comes from mortgage interest. Homeowners inay deduct interest on loans to buy first or second homes.

Real estate taxes can add substantially to your monthly payments. But these are also fully deductible. Even owners of cooperatives may deduct a proportionate share of real estate axes assessed on the building itself

IF YOU TAKE out a home equity loan to finance house renovations or make some big-ticket purchases, you a loan of up to $100,000, providing to sell your house.

The biggest tax savings available to most homeowners comes from ŕ. mortgage interest.

the loan doesn't exceed the difference between your house's fair market value and the amount already owed on it.

Within certain limits, costs associated with using part of your house as your office are also deductible. For example, you may be able to depreciate the portion of your house used as a home office and deduct part of your homeowner's insurance and utility bills. To qualify for these deductions, you must use your home office exclusively and regularly for business purposes.

Decorating and repair costs paid to sell your house are deductible if the work was done within 90 days prior to your signing a contract to sell and if the bills for these costs were paid within 30 days after the sale.

Costs incurred to make home improvements, such as adding a new bathroom or finishing a basement are generally not tax-deductible. But they may add to the tax basis of your house and can help reduce or elimican generally deduct the interest on nate capital gains tax when it comes

You can defer the income tax on the gain from the sale if within two years before or two years after you sell your home, you buy another one that costs at least as much as the sale price of your old home. But, be aware that there is a special rule on purchasing and selling more than one house within a two-year period. If you find yourself in this situation, consult your tax adviser. -

If you are age 55 or older, you are eligible for a significant tax break that enables you to exclude from taxable income as much as $125,000 of the profit from the sale of your home. To qualify, you must have owned and occupied the residnece for three out of the last five years. A married couple who owns the house jointly can claim this tax break even if only one spouse meets both the age and residency requirements. This is a once-in-a-lifetime tax break.

There's little question that the cost of owning a home can take a big chunk of your salary, but understanding the tax benefits may make your financial burden a little fighter.

Conservation never goes out of style

AP - Concern for the environment and controlling energy costs are two reasons homeowners are showing considerable interest in energy conservation lately. Mature Outlook magazine offers these tips in figuring out which changes will save the most in a home

Desiring to see an immediate reduction in energy bills, some people stop using a few appliances or replace their heating systems. But drastic changes or large investments are not always necessary. The little things a person does to save energy can add up to big savings, says Robert Corbett, senior technical specialist with the National Appropriate Technology Assistance Service.

And the changes necessary to conserve energy don't mean an austere lifestyle. "Conservation does not mean deprivation," says Peter Dreyfuss, executive director of the Metropolitan Energy Center in Kansas City, Mo.

The trick to smart conservation is making the changes and improvements with the highest payback, says Corbett. For example, will homeowners save more energy by adding an extra layer of insulation to the attic or by adding storm windows or other energy savers?

An energy audit is a good way to set conservation priorities. During an energy audit, a technician evaluates the efficiency of the home by looking for air leaks, measuring insulation and inspecting the heating and cooling systems. Homeowners get a complete overview of their home's energy use and a list of recommendations for improving efficiency.

To find someone to do an energy audit, call the local electric or natural gas company.

ENERGY CONSERVATION and utility companies may seem strange bedfellows, Dreyfuss says, but utility companies have a vested interest in conservation. A good business sense puts the power companies in the conservation business, Dreyfuss says. When, for example, the population in an area booms and lots of new customers need power, officials at the local electric company have two options. Build an expensive new power plant or encourage customers to use electricity more wisely Making sure that each power plant provides electricity to the maximum number of customers is the most cost effective option

Reducing the number of nonpay ing customers is another reason utility companies pheourage conservation. When homeowners can't afford to pay their utility bills, the power companies raise rates to cover the bad debts. But if those folks can make their nome energy efficient and learn to conserve, they may be able to pay the lower bills, says Dreyfuss

Spectacular surroundings and luxury homes make Oxford Estates a unique find in Farmington Hills

Some of the biggest news in the suburban development secue is the recent introduction of Oxford Estates, an exclusive new 73-home community nestled among 40 wooded acres in-Farmington Hills.

Oxford Estates features lovely custom-designed homes in a variety of thoot plans including ranches 1/1/2 s and colonials from three of Michigan's most prominent builders: Encore Custom Homes, Kimron Construction and The Selective Group - all of whom are well known for their quality construction and dedication to detail.

When we began looking for a home. we were immediately drawn to Oxford Estates, " said Sam Pinkerton a pharmacist and drugstore owner. The + homes here are extremely well built and that was our primary concern in buying a home. Everything at Oxford Estates is first-rate. And, of course, we were very impressed with the natural beauty of the property.

from other communities is indeed the beauty of its property. Its lush wooded areas, ponds, hills, and ravines are among the last of its kind and are protected by the City of Familington Hills Woodlands Committee.

"What really caught our eye was the landscape at Oxford Estates," said Joanne Tolstedt, a resident of Oxford Estates whose husband is a Ford Motor Company executive. "We've relocated many times and this is by far the most beautiful place we've fived. Here you can take a walk in the woods right in your own backyard. We also like the fact that Oxford Estates isn't too large of a continunity: there's a special feeling of intimacy here. We've enjoyed getting to know our neighbors -- many of whom are transferees like us," added Tolstedt.

While offering a secluded feel. Oxford Estates is centrally located nearshopping centers, restaurants and excellent Farmington Hills schools-including new Hillside Elementary. There is also a variety of recreational spots - from clubs to theatres -- located conveniently nearby,

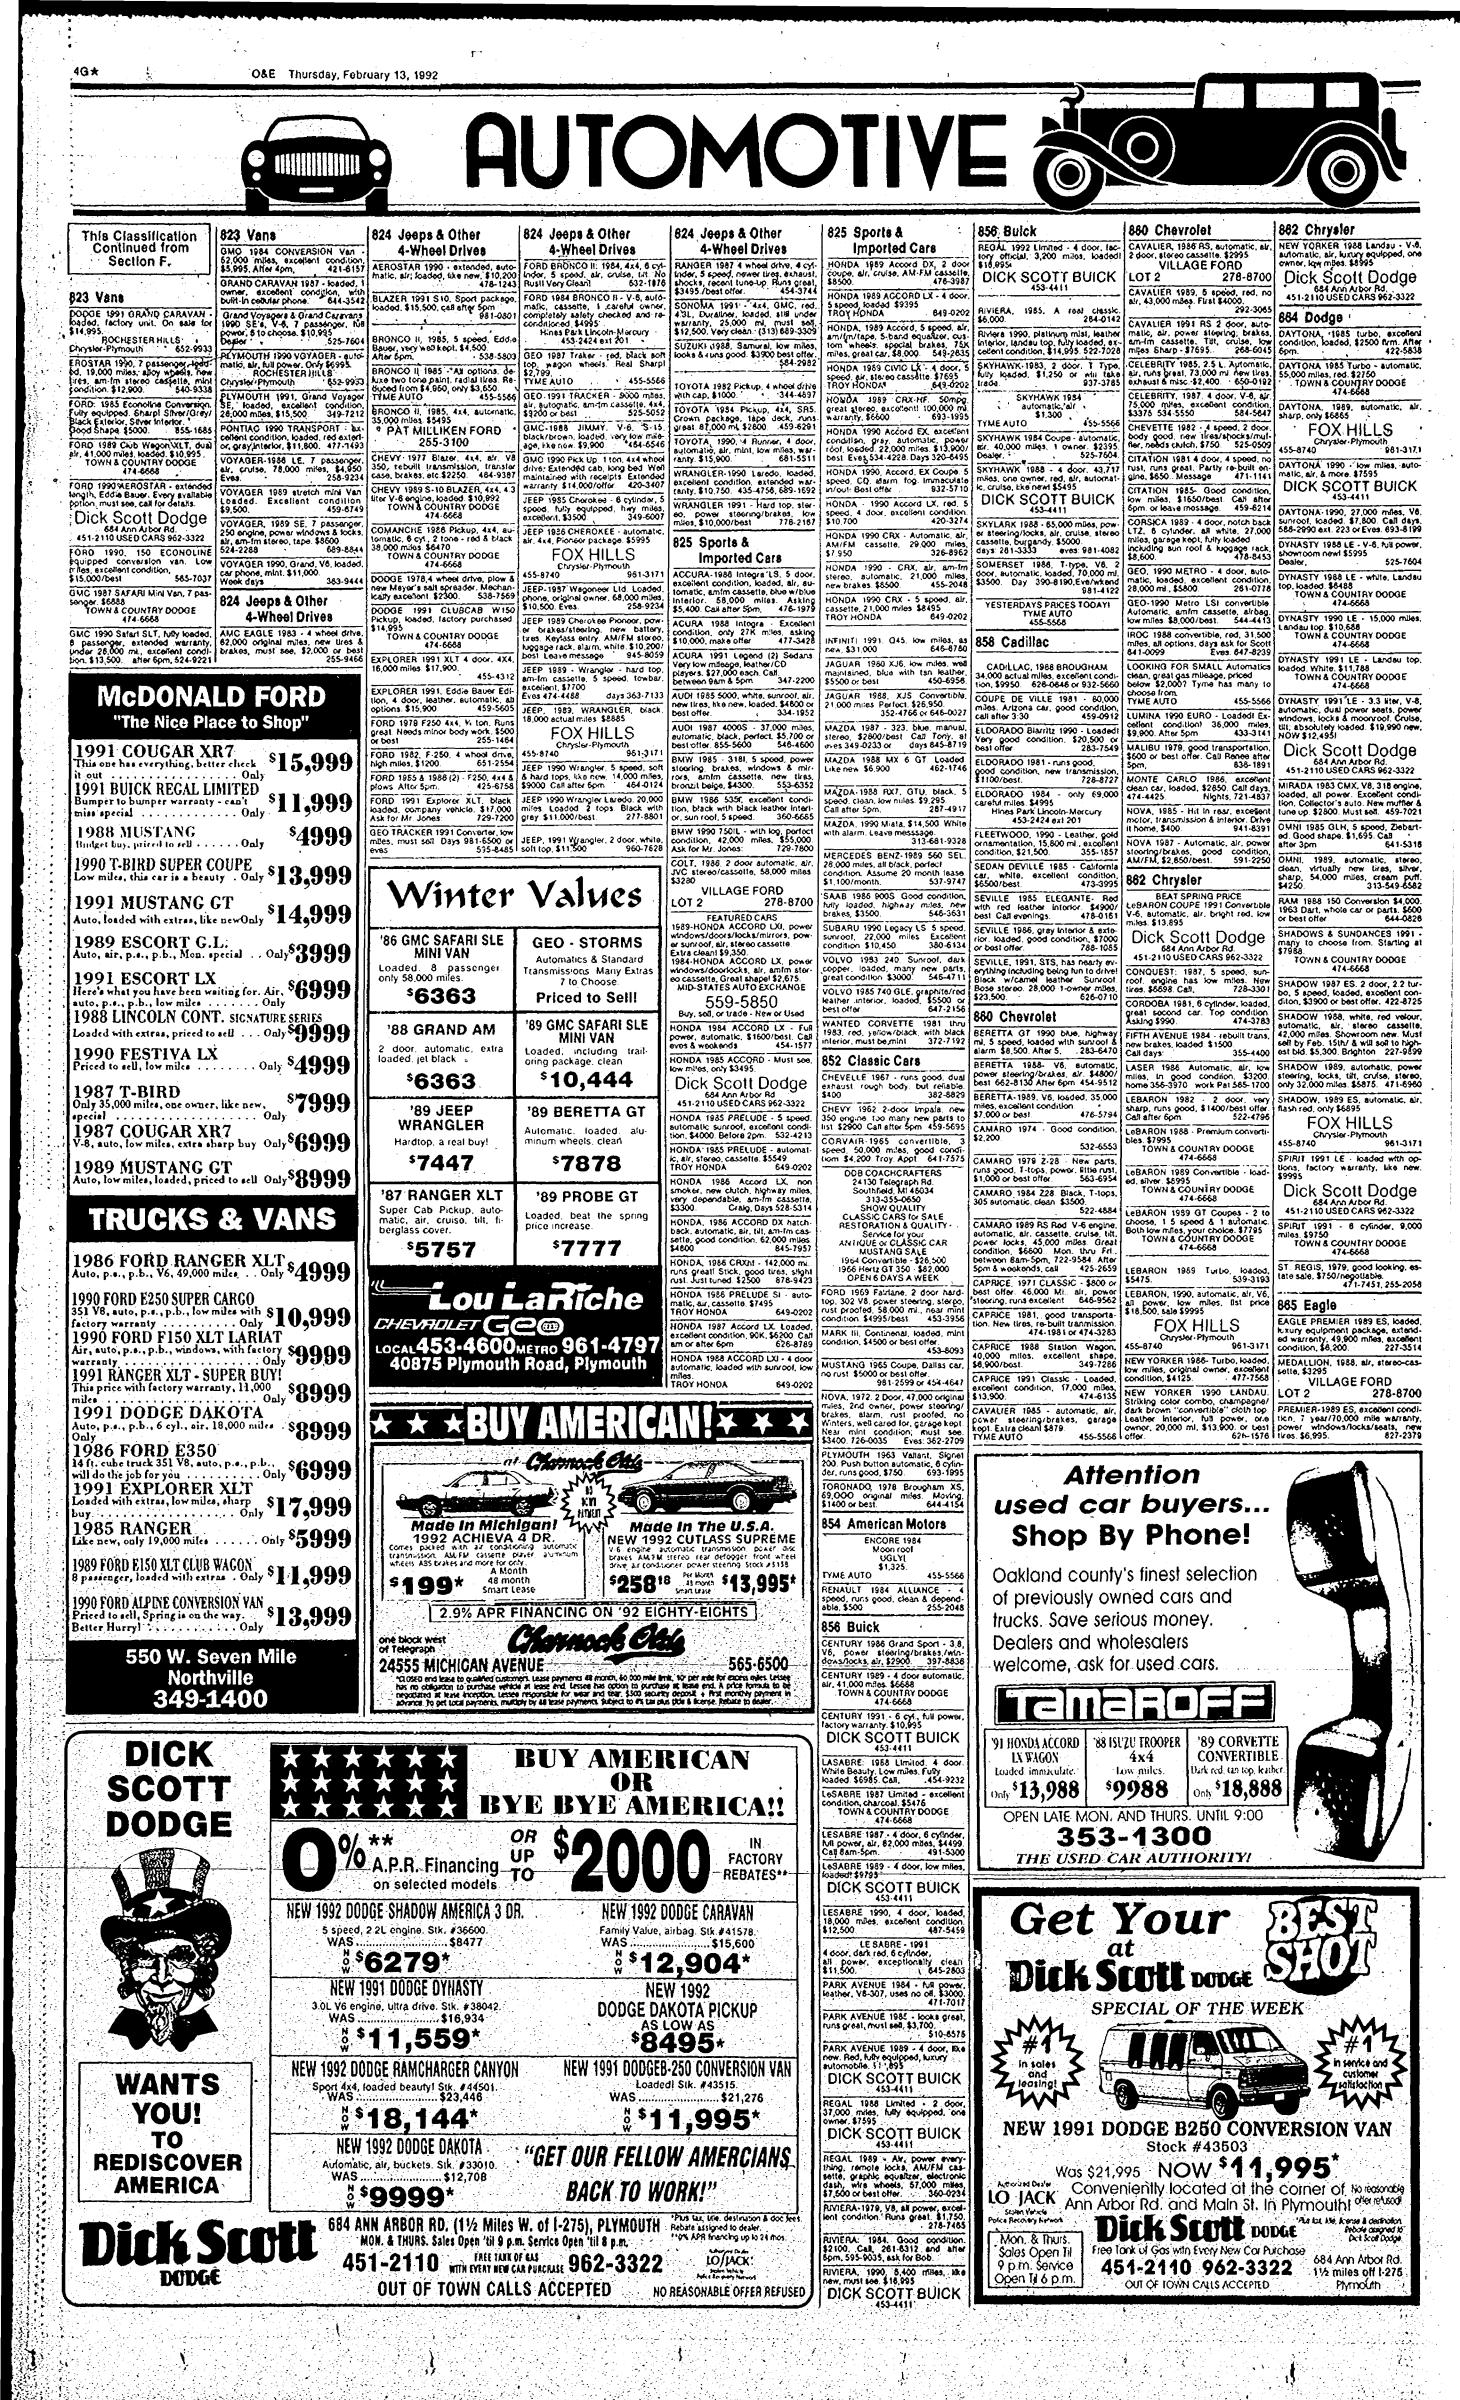

"Living here really is having the best of both worlds," said Wendy Bratt, sales coordinator of Oxford Estates. "You're able to take advantage of living in a lovely, new home in an old, heavily treed, private setting. In fact, many ofour homes are built on cul-de-sac lots. which help add to the feeling of privacy here."-

Homes in Oxford Estates range in price from $300,000 to $500,000 in an area of homes that are priced inexcess of $1,000,000. Two model homes have been decorated by Harriet Brandt of Candle Lite II Interiors and are currently on display.
