REMEMBER THE mechanical bull made popular by actor John Travolta in the movie. "Urban Cowboy," In the late '708? The bull created a short-lived fad when a Westland bar, the Urban Cowboy, opened on Ford near Hix in Westland.

The bar has long been closed. A church considered buying it several years ago but the deal never materialized.

Now, the mechanical bull, named "El Toto," has moved a mile west, to the former Center Stage facility in Canton Township. It will be part of a new country music business which will open this weekend. There will be free admission for those who arrive before 8:30 p.m. for the grand-opening weekend this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Father sentenced in kicking

By Darrell Clem staff writer

A 41-year-old man accused of kicking his 2year-old daughter as she rolled across a street in south Westland has been sentenced to 20 days in jail and fined $200.

Norwayne neighborhood residents testified in court last month that Goodwin Wymond repeatedly kicked the toddler in the head and ribs. When the girl fell, Wymond yelled at her and said "Get up, you little bitch," witness Argelia Firth sald.

Westland police have said Wymond became angry because his daughter wasn't walking fast enough.

Authorities had initially charged Wymond with fourth-degree child abuse. But 18th District Judge Thomas G. Smith rejected that charge during Wymond's Feb. 6 trial and found him guilty on a reduced charge of assault and battery.

Smith imposed the 20-day fail term and $200 fine on Tuesday, when Wymond appeared before him for sentencing. The defendant could have received a 90-day sentence.

If Wymond had been convicted of the initial child abuse charge, he could have been jailed for a year.

"We felt that we had more than enough evidence to show child abuse, but the court didn't see it that way," said Sgt. Michael Terry of the Westland Police Department.

Considering the reduced charge, Terry said, 'We are satisfied with the verdict.'

Wymond had already served eight days in jail, leaving him with 12 days behind bars, an 18th District Court clerk said. Wymond won't have to receive counseling, the clerk said.

NORWAYNE RESIDENTS last month testified that they were appalled and horrified when they saw Wymond, walking with his two children, begin to kick the 2-year-old girl who fell while crossing Delton Street at the Darwin intersection. The incident occurred about 3:30 p.m. Dec. 19.

The child lived with her mother, Joanne Beljan, and 3-year-old brother. Wymond, a Detroit resident, had been visiting them in Norwayne.

In court, Beljan testified that Wymond did not cause bruises and abrasions that authorities saw on the child's body. The mother blamed some of the injuries on a fall and said others were caused when the child was hit by a toy that her brother threw at her.

Following Wymond's arrest, authorities seized custody of the children. A hearing to determine the children's long-term custody is expected to be held in April in Wayne County Probate Court, Terry said.

Witnesses last month testified that Wymond kicked the 2-year-old and then picked her up by the hood of her coat and slammed her on the ground. Witness Kitty Carr said Wymond called the girl "a f----g idiot."

WYMOND ADMITTED in court that he "nudged her in the ass and told her to get on down the street." But he denied kicking her and said "If I did, she'd have broken ribs, wouldn't she?"

Moreover, Wymond conceded that he told authorities "It's my child, and I'll do whatever I want." But he denied abusing her and said "I got nothing to hide."

Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor Charles Grant disputed Wymond's testimony and called him "an outright liar."

Party officials: Clinton leading, Brown gaining, Tsongas waning

By Wayne Peal staff writer.

Bill Clinton has the early lead. Jerry Brown is gaining and Paul Tsongas seems to be falling behind - at least in the race for key Wayne County supporters.

While Arkansas Gov. Clinton appears the clear Democratic front runner, observers aren't ruling out the possibility of a Brown upset in Tuesday's primary.

"I think Clinton is going to do very well. But with Brown, you get the sense that he has more support than we've been able to gauge," said Dan Paletko, chairman of the Redford/Southfield/Dearborn Heights area party organization.

Richard McKnight, head of the Livonia/Westland/ Garden City party organization, was more skeptical. "Brown may do well, but a victory probably isn't like-

No upsets are expected on the Republican side where Presdent Bush is expected to handly defeat conservative columnist Patrick Buchanan.

"I think this area is pretty solidly behind the president," said Harry Greenleaf, chairman of the GOP organization representing Livonia/Plymouth area voters. Just in case it isn't, however, Buchanan supporters have scheduled what they're calling an election night victory party for the Mayflower Meeting room in Plym-

Despite Clinton's strong early support, there are signs the Democratic race could be up for grabs.

Many local officials decided on a candidate only late last week, often at hastily called press conferences. Voters, too, could be waiting.

DESPITE THE state's importance, Livonia and Westland officials reported absentee ballots were barely keeping pace with those for the low interest 1990 gubernatorial primaries - a sign voters could wait until election day to decide or shun the primaries altogether.

Accused had score to settle with boss, witnesses testify

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Frederick Morris, accused of murder, blamed his troubles on his former boss, Charles W. Piper of Westland, and vowed to settle the score. witnesses testified in court.

Morris, a Canton Township residens, "blamed all his troubles on ck, and he said Chuck would be paid back," David Drown, a friend of Morris, said Thursday in 29th District Court in Wayne.

Drown's remarks emerged as Morris appeared in court for a third day of testimony that will determine whether he will be bound over for trial in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Attorneys expect to complete the unusually long preliminary examination today. Afterward, Judge

Carolyn Archbold will decide whether Morris must stand trial on charges offfirst-degree murder, felony murder, armed robbery and a felony firearms violation.

Morris, 33, could face life in prison if convicted of killing 53-year-old Piper at Chuck's Cycle Service on Michigan Avenue, east of Hannan, in Wayne. Police found Piper dead about 5:30 p.m. Jan. 5, a Sunday. He had been shot in the head and at the base of his skull.

Schools want thaw on tax rate freeze

Money for public schools vs. political credibility — those were the con-flicting issues voiced by suburban school officials and state legislators Friday morning.

What the school board members and administrators want is a lifting of the state-imposed freeze on operating millage rates which also affect schools, cities, townships, counties and community colleges.

They feel that the freeze, along with the newly-imposed property assessment freeze, creates a "double burden" which costs the districts an expected increase in local property taxes.

But state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton Township, told the group of about 60 officials that he sees little success of a proposed lifting of the tax rate freeze. The proposed thawing was initiated by a lobbying group representing 10 western Wayne

Following are some of the numbers relating to the problem from the homeowners' view and the school boards' view. The first number next to the name of the district represents the maximum millage rate allowed under the Headlee Amendment: the second is what could be levied if school districts are successful in getting the rate freeze lifted, and the third is the financial impact for each district

"Fred thought he'd get money out of it," witness Russell Beck testified Thursday.

Morris told Beck that Piper 'would pay one way or another" on the lawsuit, Beck said in court.

County school districts.

Kosteya sald approval of the bill before July would "be extremely difficult." But approval is possible after the November election when two property tax amendments will be on the ballot, he said.

Kosteva noted that all state representatives will be in the middle of an election year this year.

A MAJOR problem, he said, is the legislator's credibility among homeowners who expect their property taxes to be frozen this year after the assessment and tax rate freeze were approved last year.

If the millage rate freeze is lifted, the legislature would be subject to criticism by people who are still up-set at it for the "notorious Lottery flim-flam," he added.

But Gerald Dunn, executive director for the suburban schools' lobbying organization, said that "we, too, have a credibility gap" in that local school and city officials must deal with local programs and services.

Echoing his position was Kathy Chorbagian, Wayne-Westland school board trustee.

In her district, the loss of funds would mean eliminating the general fund surplus and eliminating programs that were previously dropped and later restored.

The lobbying group, the Michigan Association for Improved School Legislation, represents 10 western' Wayne, County districts, including Livonia, Wayne-Westland, Garden City, Redford Union, and Plymouth Canton.

STATE REP. William Keith, D-Garden City, sald he will introduce a bill lifting the tax rate freeze to enable local school boards to receive the property tax revenues expected through the proposed action.

soon and be the subject of a public . hearing. But he distributed a letter from

He said his bill will be introduced

Rep. H. Lynn Jondahl, House Taxation Committee chairman, which said that from a political view, the legislature shouldn't undo a tax freeze by allowing the tax rate to be lifted.

For the legislature to substantially undo the assessment freeze now by allowing automatic increases in tax rates would be almost impossible to defend," he said in a letter to Keith, chairman of the House Education Committee.

But Jondahl agreed to hold hearings on the upcoming bill, Keith told his audience Friday.

Keith said that the problem must be brought to the surface so "we can all understand it."

The legislator added that he has a responsibility to introduce the bill lifting the rate freeze and have a public hearing.

But Keith, like Kosteva, admitted that it won't be easy to get approval.

OTHER SCHOOL officials said while the tax rate freeze costs up to $2.7 million for some districts (see related story below), the impact to homeowners would be small, ranging from a tax bill increase of $20 to $40 a year, based on their valuation.

In some districts, the tax rate increase, if approved by the legislature, would be about a half-mill, or 50 cents per $1,000 of state equalized " valuation. The largest increase would be $1.28 per $1,000 in the Wayne-Westland district, or $38.40 for home valued at $60,000. Michael Wilmot, Garden City school superintendent, explained the problem for the group of school, city and township officials. He stressed that the school group only wants the right, as provided in the Headlee Amendment to the state Constitution, to raise millage rates up to the rate of inflation, which was 2.9 percent for 1991:

Dunn said the association's attorney feels that the legislative freeze on millage rates "abrogates" the constitution which allows for a tax rate increase.

Another problem, the school leaders told the legislators, is that the problem of a loss of property tax revenues would worsen the following year - unless the rate freeze is lift-

Board to resolve varsity jacket issue

By Marie Chestney staff writer

High school students in the Livonia district should learn tonight if they can wear non-athletic school awards on their school's varsity jacket.

Superintendent Joseph Marinelli, whose district includes the northern section of Westland, is expected to recommend to the board of education tonight how the varsity jacket-school letter controversy should be resolved.

Before reaching his decision, Marinelli polled students, parents and the district's three high school principals on the issue. Includes in the poll were those from Churchill, which serves the northwestern corner of Westland, and Franklin, which covers the northwestern section of the city.

OFFICIALS ALSO polled nearby districts to see how they handle school awards and letters.

They also got a legal opinion on whether the district might be violating any law for refusing to let non-athletes wear awards on the varsity jack-

"It's not an issue worth getting into a long legal battle for," said Ken Watson, director of secondary education. "We're not anxious to go to court over the issue."

Shella Butler of Westland served on this year's Maid of Erin Court in Sunday's St. Patrick's Day Parade.

The controversy surfaced in January when members of the Churchill High Band Boosters charged the district with discrimination for only letting athletes wear awards and letters on the official school jacket.

Band Boosters president Michael Weldon and Churchill student Kristy Benz urged the board of education to change the rules so that all awards and letters can be worn on the school jacket.

We went well beyond the issue of the marching band," Watson said. "We dealt with other things, too, things we wouldn't have done if this issue hadn't come up."

Marinelli does not have to abide by the recommendations made by Walson and the high school principals in a March 5 letter to Marinelli.

THEIR RECOMMENDATIONS include:

• Students who earn a band letter can put it on a school letter jacket.

 Make marching band an extracurricular activity instead of allowing only students taking a band class to participate.

"If a student wants to play sax in the band he shouldn't have to take a marching band class,' Watson sald.

Conversely, under the recommendations, students who take the band class wouldn't have to participate in marching band.

• No letter should be awarded for a school activity that is not totally extracurricular in na-

Pom-pom participants should be able to earn a letter and display it on a school jacket. • School letters should not be given for participation in the all-city orchestra. Orchestra participants should get awards similar to those given to students in other programs which are co-curricular in nature or short term.

However, if letters are given for those programs, students earning one should be allowed to wear it on a school jacket.

"Our policy has never been that students should not be recognized, only that the recognition should come in a variety of ways," Watson said.

Watson said the controversy was "not necessarily a bad thing." "Here we had a group of young people who followed appropriate channels to bring about change. That's not unhealthy. These kids are not apathetic. It would be hypocritical if we urged kids not to be apathetic and then acted with alarm if they did seek change."

Angry remarks that Wayne-Steven Lind, a Wayne resident who wants to recall her and two other board members, could prompt a lawsuit, Lind said Friday.

In announcing she wouldn't seek re-election to the school board in June, Chorbagian lashed out at Lind and David Moranty, another couple of '90s KKK types,"

Klux Klan members, he and Moranty have never tried to hide their identities in voicing criticism of Chorbagian and other board members. Moranty is chairman of Wayne-Westland Citizens for Eduagainst the district's administration and some board members.

"We have never hidden behind anything," Lind said. His group wants to recall Chorbagian and board members Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak for voting to give teachers an 11.9-percent raise over two years, despite threatened school program cuts for students.

Lind also took offense to Chorbagian's accusations that he "has told she's prepared to back them up." (recall) volunteers to tell the public that I have participated in immoral behavior."

Delegates to be chosen after Tuesday's primary

By Tim Richard staff writer

Pat Buchanan must win 33 percent of the Republican vote in Tuesday's presidential primary. That's what he'll need, under state party rules, to get any of Michigan's 72 delegates to the Aug. 17 national convention in Houston.

For Michigan labor leaders - recommending an "uncommitted" vote — the goal is 15 percent. They want a brokered convention July 13 national convention in New York City, where the state will have 147 delegates.

Those are the parties' rules Republican voters must ask for a Republican ballot at the polls, and. the request will be recorded, but they won't have to sign anything.

Democrats will have to sign an affidavit that they're Democrats.

GOV JOHN Engler, state campaign chair for President Bush, won the 33 percent threshhold rule from the Republican State Commmittee in February, when the party decided on a more or less "open" primary.

Buchanan has been drawing 30 percent of the vote in many states, and party leaders fear polls that show the conservative columnist drawing 33 percent here. If he's short, Bush will take the entire dele-

Helping the cause, state Rep. Jan. Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, and a dozen other GOP women last week called on Buchanan to "publicly retract his blased and prejudiced view on women."

Dolan said Buchanan "attacked the competence and abilities of women by claiming that women are psychologically less equipped to succeed in busines and government." A news release was written by Engler's staff.

Among signers was Rep. Georgina
Goss, R-Northville, whose district includes Plymouth and parts of Livonia and Canton Township. David Duke, a Louislana legislator and former Ku Klux Klan leader, will be on the ballot but hasn't campaigned in Michigan.

HERE'S HOW the GOP will pick March 25 its national delegates:

About one-fourth of the delegation will be elected at-large at a May 30 state convention in Detroit.

Delegates from the congressional districts will be picked in district caucuses the night before. The exact procedure is up in the air because Michigan's congressional redistricting is still before a panel of three federal judges. The state is scheduled to be pared from 18 U.S. repre- nate-

Delegates to the state convention will be elected May 19 at county conventions attended by precinct delegates elected in 1990.

Engler likely will chair the Michigan delegation to Houston.

DEMOCRATIC voters may choose between Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown -of California, Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts, Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa, Sen. Bob Kerrey of Nebraska; the imprisoned Lyndon LaRouche, and "uncommitted."

The real battle will be between James Blanchard and the Michigan Education Association; Tsongas; and Brown, preferred by labor chlettains after Harkin quit the race, and uncommitted.

The state has no provisions for removing Kerrey's and Harkin's names, and the LaRouche turnout is expected to be minimal.

THE POLITICAL director of the state Democratic Party, Jerry Moffitt, explained how Michigan's 147 delegates will be chosen:

• 86 will be allocated to the congressional districts. • 14 will be state members of the Democratic National Committee. • 28 at-large delegates will be chosen by the Democratic State Central Committee May 16 in Kalama-

• 17 will be party leaders and elected officials pledged to candi-

• Two will be "add-on" unpledged delegates.

THE 86 FROM congressional districts will be allocated on the basis of the primary vote. To be awarded any delegates, a

On May 9, congressional district conventions will be held across the state. To attend, one must be either: • A precinct delegate elected in

• A 1991 party member.

• A 1992 party member by

The district conventions will break into candidate caucuses to pick national convention delegates. Those who attend must sign pledges of support for that candidate.

In practice, the candidates' campaigns will approve applicants for national delegate posts:

Helpusmake steps in the fight against SIDS

If you knew a healthy, happy baby had died suddenly without reason, you'd want to help. There are over 7,000 bables who die from a cruel, mysterious killer. It's called SIDS: Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Perhaps you've heard SIDS referred to as "Crib Death." But maybe you didn't hear that SIDS is the number one cause of death in infants from one week to one year.

SMART's future still depends upon suburban money

By Wayne Peal staff writer.

SMART buses will keep running through June, 1993, but the transit service's long-term future rests with suburban taxpayers.

A short-term operating plan announced Thursday is expected to overcome $7.7 million in current debt, and keep the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation from incurring more debt next year.

Major SMART bus routes were to have shut down March 27.

SMART's plan also temporarily preserves Nankin Transit, a local bus service - financed through SMART — that serves people in a five-community area including Canton, Garden City and Westland.

"THIS GIVES Nankin Transit 15 salvation," said Bryan Amann, the Wayne County delegate to the SMART board.

The plan includes:

• Budget cuts of $4.3 million for 1992-93, including a wage freeze for SMART union workers. Next year's SMART operating budget will be cut 10 percent across-the-

• Additional savings of $1.7 million, to be determined in 90 days among items ranging from health care to a first-ever early retirement plan.

Budget cuts range from large scale - $326,524 from leaving currently vacant position unfilled to small scale - $6,000, in eliminating seminar travel and fees.

Even more fat could eventually be trimmed, said SMART operations director Paul Majka.

"Everything we've presented is'a safe estimate," sald Majka, a former Garden City councilman. "I'm confident there's even more that can be saved."

Despite that, SMART officials soon expect to begin campaigning for a transit tax.

"This only keeps us going to June 1993, after that we need a source of dedicated revenue," SMART board president Matt Wilgau sald. "It could be a sales tax, it could be a property tax, but we need something."

Other moves, already approved by SMART officials, include postponing buying new buses, and selling SMART property in Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Detroit.

Both moves are expected to bring a combined $1.45 million in savings and new revenue.

In addition, SMART will eliminate nearly $4.5 million in what Duggan called "unnecessary reserves".

The move frees $1 million held for self-insurance, as well as a $3.45 million workers compensation reserve.

The $1 million reserve fund isn't needed because of other assets already held by SMART, Duggan said. The $3.45 compensation fund isn't needed, he added, because the state will already cover worker claims should SMART cease opera-

At $47.8 million, SMART's projected 1992-93 is more than $5.3 million less than this year's budget SMART officials still hope to merge with the Detroit Department of Transportation, though there have been no recent talks.

"We've been putting all our energy into this," Duggan said. Duggan, deputy Wayne County executive, has been SMART's chief officer for the past two weeks.

Not included was a proposed plan to tap an estimated $10 million pension fund surplus.

Such a move would have required approval from the state Legislature. Former general manager James Aho, who advocated using pension fund money, resigned in a dispute with other officials.

Previously, SMART had been financed through state and federal grants, as well as bus fares.

Declining grant money and ridership prompted SMART's debt.

Right to Life presses for tougher informed consent law

By Tim Richard staff writer

A six-member House-Senate conference committee will have to give Right to Life of Michigan more of what it wants if an "informed consent" abortion bill is to become law.

Key issues will be whether a doctor (1) must show a patient enlarged pictures of fetuses and (2) read the patient a long list of bad effects of

"It won't be a long conference. You'll see the bill modified a bit," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, RTL supporter and member of the joint panel.

The Senate, which passed RTL's hard-line version in mid-1991, last week rejected House amendments, which RTL considered too soft.

Here's how area senators voted: YES - Democrat George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

NO - Republican Robert Geake of Northville.

GEAKE SAID, "The bill has been very controverisal and highly debated - evidence that it needs conference committee work.

"Those in favor said we should not have to show pictures of fetuses and asked why abortion is different from other procedures.

"Abortion is unlike any other procedure in its emotional involvement by the mother and the taking of the life of the fetus. To compare abortion to other medical procedures trivializes abortion," Geake said.

Senate conferees include Republicans Dillingham and Jack Welborn of Kalamazoo, two of the upper chamber's strongest abortion foes; and Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, the Senate's strongest pro-choice vote.

In a key decision, Senate majority leader Dick Posthumus, R-Alto, bypassed pro-life Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, who crossed over and opposed RTL's bill as "Big Brother" interference in the doctorpatient relationship. The House compromise was based largely on Schwarz's work.

most

It's possible Bonnie once had the things any dog should have - a nice home, a yard to run in, and plenty of food. She may even have been considered one of the family." But when a Michigan Humane Society investigator found her, she was at home all alone, about to face a brutal winter, scared, cold, and hungry.

You see, when Bonnie's family moved, she was left behind. And whatever she once had is now gone.

It's shocking, but that's how we find many of the neglected and abused animals we take in. In fact, last year we received an average of 135 animals every day. And although we give them temporary shelter, the task of providing ongoing care for so many animals is a never-ending challenge.

Which is why we need your help. With your contribution, it's possible for us to shelter these animals when they're homeless, feed them when they're hungry, and even prosecute abusive owners.

But most importantly, your donations. can ultimately give Bonnie and others like her what they so desperately need.

Worker retraining is key issue facing state, says Clinton

By Tim Richard staff writer

Goy. Bill Clinton sald he's the only presidential contender to support a plan requiring employers to spend 1 percent of payroll on training their existing workforces:

And the Arkansas Democrat, leading the polls prior to Tuesday's primary, said, "I would like to have (former Michigan Gov.) Jim Blanchard in some capacity in my administration."

The interview, during a drive between campaign stops Friday, concentrated on retraining the existing workforce, a key issue in Michigan as General Motors prepares to close plants with 9,000 workers.

"No matter what government policies we have, within the workforce we must mobilize for change," Clinton said.

"In America, companies spend a little more than 1 percent, on average, for training and education on average. But it's skewed. We spend 70 percent of our money on the top 10 percent in each corporation.

Our European and Japanese competitors, who have higher rates of growth than we do now, spend more down and down the line, and try to put more decision-making in frontline workers.

"I think we ought to give adequate incentives to business to spend it, and if they don't I would ask them to put into a National Skills Development Center."

THE IDEA comes from "America's Choice: High Skills or Low Wages," by the National Center on Education and the Economy. That bipartisan panel was headed by former Labor Secretaries William Brock (Republican) and Ray Marshall (Democratic). One member was Arkansas first lady Hillary Clin-

Companies that didn't do their own workforce training would be charged for it by the government.

Clinton called it "the best thing ever done in this country for education, and he "absolutely" supports the same group's idea of national education performance standards for all students.

"When we drafted the national education goals, we asked for standards in five subjects with the option of adding more on, with reliable national examinations at fourth, eighth and 12th grades."

ON BLANCHARD, a key Michigan supporter, Clinton said, "I would very much like to have him involved. He's a very gifted man.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara greets U.S. Rep. John Dingell, D-Trenton, when he stopped in at McNamara's annual St. Patrick's Day fund-raiser Friday in Livonia's Burton Manor. The party, which organizers called "a Democratic gathering of the faithful" was a virtual who's who of politicians

Baltimore's Fell's Point is one of the few remaining downtown waterfront ' residential ; communities.

aseball scores in Baltimore

Babe Ruth's hometown sports new stadium

By Christopher Corbett New York Times Syndicate

Baltimore will revel in the sporting life this spring, from the traditional running of the Maryland steeplechases to the Orioles' first season in their new ballpark at Camden Yards.

Oriole Park may not be the house that Ruth built, but its center field is the site of the house where the Babe lived. In sports-crazed Baltimore (Ruth's hometown), that's nearly as good.

The new $105.4 million ballpark is just a few blocks west of the Inner Harbor on the south side of the city. The opening of the ballpark will be marked by a parade down Pratt Street through the heart of downtown at noon, April 5, and the inauguration, on April 6, of the first leg of metropolitan Baltimore's $446.3 million Central Light Rail Line — a 13-mile section linking suburban Timonium on the city's north side with the downtown

The old-fashioned design of the 48,000-seat stadium predominantly brick with a distinct turn-of-the-century style incorporates a landmark Baltimore & Ohio Railroad warehouse that will provide office space for the ballclub and the Maryland Stadium Authority.

Architects nationwide have praised the new ballpark for its attempt to mesh with the "urban 'fabric' of downtown Baltimore.

Oriole Park is only a short walk from Federal Hill and Otterbein, two of the city's oldest and most historic neighborhoods. The districts are warrens of renovated late 18th- and early 19th-century brick row houses, narrow streets paved with Belgian blocks and lined with brick sidewalks.

Federal Hill, much of which is on the National Register of Historic Places, is built around teeming. . Cross Street Market, one of the city's most active public markets, dating from 1846.

The hill from which the neighborhood takes its name, a Colonial-era observation point, offers a stunning view of the Inner Harbor, where an array of Tall Ships - sailing vessels from around the world — will be arriving throughout the spring and summer months.

SPORTING EVENTS

Tickets have long been sold out for the opening day at Oriole Park on. April 6, when the Orioles play host to the Cleveland Indians.

However, baseball fans still have a chance to witness the first ball game in the new park when the Orioles meet the New York Mets at 3:05 p.m. on April 3 in an exhibition game. Tickets have yet to be sold. For more information call (410) 685.

If you just want to see Oriole Park it will be open on April 2 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bring your own lunch.

On April 5, at 8:30 a.m., an 8kilometer road race, limited to the first 2,000 runners who sign up, will follow the nearly 5-mile route from Memorial Stadium to Oriole Park. For more information call (410) 882-5454 or write, with self-addressed stamped envelope, to 8K Home Run, P.O. Box 11394, Baltimore, Md.

On April 5, at 2 p.m. fans will be allowed to watch an Orioles workout in the new ballpark. Tickets will be $3. On April 8, the Orioles will play their first night game, against the Indians, at 7:35 p.m. The Babe Ruth Birthplace and Baltimore Orioles Museum (home of the Maryland Baseball Hall of Fame), a few blocks west of Oriole Park at 216 Emory St., is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. from April to October, but hours will be extended on game days until 7 p.m.

Admission to the museum is $4: children, $1.50; senior citizens, $2.50. For more information call (410) 727-

Though baseball may be the focus of this year's sporting season, no event harkens back to the cultural and social roots of the Chesapeake Bay region more than the annual spring running of the steeplechases in the hunt country north of the city.

The three major steeplechases of the season are held each year on the final three Saturdays in April culminating with the running of the Maryland Hunt Cup, which horsemen regard as one of the most grueling events of its kind on either side of the Atlantic.

The My Lady's Manor race will be run April 11 on the grounds of the Elkridge-Harford Hunt Club in Jacksonville, Md. For more information call (410) 557-9570.

The Grand National follows on April 18 in Butler and the Maryland Hunt Club - now in its 96th year completes the circuit on April 25. For more information on the Grand National: (410) 666-7777; on the Maryland Hunt: (410) 833-5355.

CULTURAL EVENTS

The violinist Pamela Frank will perform with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, David Zinman conducting, April 3, 4, 5, with a program including works by Jaromir Weinberger, Dvorak and Tchaikovsky. The flutist James Galway follows April 15, 16 and 18 with works by Haydn, Dvorak, Nielsen and Robert Beaser, also with the symphony.

Both events will be at the Joseph Meyerhoff Symphony Hall, at 1212 Cathedral St. For more information call (410) 783-8000.

Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment" will be performed by the Baltimore Opera Co. at the Lyric Opera House on March 21, 25, 27 and 29. For more information call the box office at (410) 685-0692.

The local theater company Impossible Industrial Accident presents David Mamet's "Water Engine" at Theater Project, at 45 West Preston St., from April 1-12. For more information call the box office at (410) 752-8558.

Center Stage, at 700 North Calvert, St., presents two premieres by-American writers - "Police Boys" by Marion Isaac McClinton and 'The Baltimore Waltz" by Paula Vogel in repertory from March 26 to April 26. For more information call the box office at (410) 332-0033.

"Marking the Decades: Prints 1960-1990" at the Baltimore museum of Art, at Art Museum Drive, runs through April 26; the exhibition includes works by Jasper Johns, Willem de Kooning, Roy Lichtenstein, Robert Rauschenberg and Andy Warhol. Admission'is 🚅 $4.50; students and senior citizens, $3.50; children 4-18, $1.50. For more! information call (410) 396-7100.

Quebec's cuisine has new flavor

By Nancy Lyon

New York Times Syndicate

Beans and lard. Pea soup. Meat ples and maple syrup. The traditional cooking of Quebec was hearty lumberjack fare - and a cholesterol

Since Expo '67 attracted French chefs and Escoffier cuisine to Montreal, Quebec's cuisine has been the butt of endless jokes.

A film starring the slapstick dou Ding et Dong (the Quebecois Laurel and Hardy) has the comedians ordering a pickle pizza. The joke was no doubt inspired by the Quebecois love of chunky homemade ketchups and relishes to lather the tourtiere - the ground-pork-and-beef ple that is the staple of any traditional meal.

In truth Quebec's gastronomy has... two extremes. At one end are the fatty, sugary excesses served up in the cabanes a sucre or sucreries (maple-sugar shacks) in the spring. Specialties are fritters dribbled with maple syrup, fried eggs in maple syrup, maple-sweetened pork and beans, fried maple-smoked ham glazed with syrup, and oreilles de crisse (ear-shaped slivers of salted pork rind crisp-fried in oil - sometimes mispronounced as oreilles de Christ, or Christ's ears).

For dessert it's more maplemania: maple sugar pie, maple pudding, molded maple sugar candy, miniature wafer cones filled with maple butter and maple taffy bolling syrup poured over a long trough of fresh snow.

At the other end of the cullnary. spectrum is Quebec's contemporary culsine, which uses fresh local producis rather than the post-Expo imports from France.

As high-tech transportation and communications blur regional differences the world over, Quebec's new generation of young chefs has banded together to assure the evolution of a distinctly Quebecois cuisine (independent from France and California) celebrating the differences of the province's 12 regions.

To be sure, Quebec's culsine was and is still based on wild and domestic meat and game, fish and seafood.

The first settlers from Normandy and Brittany flavored their dishes with cinnamon and cloves, or herbes salees (parsley, onlons, parsnips, savory and celery leaves preserved in coarse salt), and left them to simmer or bake for the day.

Today's cuisine features leaner meat and a variety of vegetables that leaves the bean and potato in

The two culinary extremes are embodied in two restaurants: La Binerie Mont-Royal, or The Beanery, the cultural landmark celebrated in the Quebecols film based on Yves Beauchemin's novel of Montreal street life, "Le Matou" ("The Alleycat"), and the uberge Clementine in the picturesque and now infamous (post-Mohawk rebellion) village of Oka, on the Lac de Deux Montagnes at the confluence of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers.

La Binerie's 50-year history proves there's abiding comfort in a bowl of beans. This family-owned, 18-seat restaurant serves up 27 tons of feves au lard ("les petites delicleuses") a year. The beans are simmered with pork for 18 hours. over a low fire in a brick oven.

The nostalgic menu is hefty enough in calories to deforest the Laurentians, although owner Fernand Groulx stresses that all meats are defatted before use.

Some dishes are old Quebec favorites: ragout de pattes et de boulottes (meatball and pig's feet stew); coeur de yeau (sliced yeal heart with potatoes and carrots); sandwich au lard and lard sale froid (salted pork boiled in pea soup); baked beans with sausage; homemade pickles; and sticky-sweet puddings and fruit pies.

The prices at La Binerie are reasonable: about $5, including dessert, before tip and federal and provincial tax of over 15 percent. All prices have been converted to United States dollars calculating the dollar at $1.06 Canadian.

The new cuisine is well-represented at Auberge Clementine, a cozy 125-year-old waterfront cottage with gaslights and lace curtains an hour's drive from Montreal. The chef, Michel Beaulnecq, and his wife and pastry chef, Louise, marry tradition with invention in the manner of "la Cuisine renouvele du Quebec" ("the renovated cuisine of Quebec").

A-la-carte prices at Clementine add up steeply: from $4.75 to $16 for appetizers, $17 to $26.50 for entrees and $5.70 for desserts. But the sevencourse menu gastronomique is a sumptuous bargain at $50 a person, and two people ordering different selections can sample a variety of tastes and textures.

It's back to ethnic roots for Dems in primary ethnic things. My wife's going to vote for the Greek, and I'm going for the upscale redneck on Tuesday.

But nevertheless, we'll be voting. in the same party for the first time in 20 years. For me, It'll be the first time voting in a presidential race in more than a decade.

The reason is the lack of choice. Like many folks, I dozed through the Reagan years, with a high disinterest in national politics. The Democrats were the only folks who captured any interest, and that was because they kept shooting themselves in the foot.

That came to a head four years ago when Jesse Jackson was nominated and gave his speech. His rainbow party was there in full force gays, feminists, lesbians, blacks and member of a minority group, don't bother to apply to be a Democrat. Most folks didn't and Dukakis ended up holding the hotdog without the chili. And what's a Greek without a Coney Island?

Well, my wife, who is of Greek decent, went for Bush. She regrets it now and this time she's saying opa to Tsongas. Not really opa. The only Greeks I've ever really heard say. that are the waiters in Greektown and they're getting paid to perform.

Anyway, she's getting back to her ethnic roots. So am I. For me it's Clinton. The reason is that anybody who's from Arkansas knows hard times and the mire of racism. They also know Bubba. He's the white guy in a pickup truck who works in a blue collar job and who, when he goes to vote, has the political knowledge of a political science major from Harvard."

Bubba knew during the 1980s that *the Democracts were in a minority frenzy and there was no room for him in the party.

Clinton's the one to lure Bubba back into the Democratic fold. He showed that during the Democratic debates on TV. When asked about restoring land to Indians, Clinton said that Native Americans need the same government services as any other group; health care, education

YEAH, HE dodged the question a bit, but his point was well-taken. He wasn't part of the minority feeding frenzy. He was there with Bubba. There are plenty of poor white people who need the same things.

My only worry is that Democrats won't get a chance to pick their presidential candidate in the primary elections. It seems like every time anybody talks about Tsongas or Clinton there's an echo "Cuomo" in the background.

To me, Cuomo has the stench of old, dead politics about him. But for some reason, folks in the media seem to whisper Cuomo as though it were some type of prayer every time either Tsongas or Clinton does something wrong.

Bubba doesn't like Cuomo. He represents the East Coast liberal elitists. And that's what made Bubba turn to Reagan and Bush in the first

Of course, it would be just like the Democrats to walk off a cliff again with Cuomo.

Personally, I'm bracing myself for four more years with Bush!

Tickets' should be a lesson

The following is a response to Jeff Counts' column "Where's Robin Hood," in the Monday, March 2, edition of the Observer.

You stated that you saw four Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy cars within two miles, lights flashing and some poor slob receiving tickets. You mention King Arthur and that the Sheriff of Nottingham had nothing on these guys. You state that we issue tickets to tax the people.

I beg to differ. The Wayne County Sheriff's Department receives a $5 surcharge on civil infractions only. (This just started this year). This money pays for a 13-person traffic enforcement unit - the four cars you saw on the same section of Hines and where two young women had been involved in a fatal accident.

You stated: "The district court system had run of the mill traffic stuff and misdemeanors." Also drunk drivers.

You further said, "The next time you see a cop with some poor sucker pulled over on the side of the road, see it as somebody being taxed."

MR. COUNTS, maybe you could i jasning lights on — the car that was phlled over had just caused an accident that sent three young women to

You mention misdemeanors. When was the last time your car was broken into, or stolen? If you did, did you feel violated? I know I did.

The run of the mill traffic stuff speed kills. Come with me to the impound yard, I'll show you the two imprints in the windshield because of run of the mili traffic stuff. My belief of the district court system is, yes, you have to pay a fine but it should be a lesson to slow down — don't drink and drive.

Speed limits are posted for a reason. If you don't think so, come to the emergency room and tell the parents a drunk just killed their child — so I don't have to.

Mr. Counts: You tell me how to stop a 4,000 pound projectile from maining and killing?

Cpl. Thomas Lyon Deputy Sheriff Wayne County Sheriff's Department Hines Drive Station

Ticket money goes to district_ court system

This rebuttal is in response to the, have been with one of the cars with so called, editorial that was written (by Jett Counts) in last week's Observer titled - "They're after bucks, not justice." The journalistic wizards that your paper employ never cease to amaze me or the rest of your paying customers. After reading the editorial, it was apparent to me that the "poor slob" Mr. Counts referred to, when describing a traffic violator in his article, was undoubtedly none other than himself. It was obvious by reading his gibberish that Mr. Counts was attempting to blame someone else for a traffic violation that he received and probably deserved. The way Mr. Counts whined about how the police issue tickets for the sole purpose of "taxing the public" was not only incorrect, but also absurd. If the Wayne County Sheriff patrols had "four cars stopped withn two miles," that only leads me to believe one thing - that the traffic laws on that particular stretch of roadway are being broken or violated on a large scale and there is not only a need for increased enforcement in that area, but also a demand by the general public.

Can you imagine what the streets would be like if the police discontinued issuing traffic tickets to violators and only concerned themselves with "more serious crimes," as Mr. Counts put it?

Why did this editor single out "General Motors Workers" as being the group of people who would suffer the most from being ticketed? Are you insinuating, Mr. Counts, that General Motors employees are the most frequent traffic violators, or is it they should be held less accoutable than the rest of the driving pub-

Also, the fact that you regarded drunk drivers as "folks who need counseling - and not a judge," really must of earned you some brownie points with MADD and the surviving families of those killed by violators who chose to drink and drive.

After doing some research (which you should have done before writing) discovered the revenue generated by those traffic fines, does not all go back into the court system nor in the pockets of "rich lawyers and civil servants." The majority of the money goes to the district courts (not local city funds), with a small percentage going to the state for various programs.

Traffic laws help save lives of folks

To the editor:

I was disappointed as a reader, and as a law enforcement officer, in the editorial, "They're after bucks, not justice" by Jeff Counts. Mr. Counts finds it necessary to criticize the Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies that he observed writing tickets within a two-mile span. What would he prefer to see them doing when they are not responding to runs, sit idle behind a building?

His assertion that traffic tickets are written only to raise money is a very narrow minded view. Studies have shown that enforcement of traffic laws, especially in high accident locations, reduces the accident rate. It is not difficult to understand that punishment must be unpleasant as a means of deterrence. When a violator is paying a fine and having points added to their driving record for running a red light or failing to stop for a school bus, they will most likely not repeat their action. This may also contribute to saving the life of your son or daughter, wife or husband, the next time that violator comes upon a red light or school bus.

Campaign heats up, Niki Tsongas fills in at area fund-raiser

By Shirles Rose Iden staff writer

Approaching the Presidential Primary in Michigan, candidates of every stripe made their pitches to ministers, auto workers, and the faithfulat $1,000 a plate hotel banquets.

Democrats Jerry Brown, Bill Clinton and Paul Tsongas and Republicans Pat Buchanan and George Bush. Some sent surrogates, with vice president Dan Quayle visiting, too.

Brown's campaign got a boost last week when he picked up support from Michigan Teamsters and the International Union of Electrical Workers. Other labor leaders say they are attracted to Brown because of his record as governor of California but they stopped short of endorsing him.

In a brief press conference last Thursday at Detroit City Airport, Brown criticized Clinton's worker safety record and called for economic justice.

Although he stopped short of making any predictions in Tuesday's race, Brown said he was hoping to hear "a roar from Michigan voters."

Tsongas was the only candidate who planned to visit the Republican stronghold of Birmingham-Bloomfield this week but his plans hit a snag on Wednesday, when his plane got stuck in the mud at a Chicago

Potatoes stretch paychecks

The closest I can come to being Irish is the fact that while living Downriver, I was a "regular" at Patty's Pub.

The Janes Gang nevry really seemed to get into the Irish spirit while I was growing up. We never taped cardboard cutout shamrocks to our front door two weeks before March 17.

As a matter of fact, we kids would stand in awe while the folks at Cahallan's Drug Store went wild painting all their windows green, and on St. Patrick's Day, throwing an instore party that would have rivaled a Janes Gang New Year's.

I CAN remember one St. Patrick's Day, however, that wasn't ended in the traditional corned beef and cabbage cooked to death in the Nesco roaster. I must have been around 14 or so and remember dad not going to work for a few weeks because of something called a "layoff."

Being a staunch union man, dad rarely complained, but I can remember a few months where dinner consisted simply of vegetables and potatoes.

I can remember a tummy warming potato soup and bread dinner, another with simply scalloped potatoes and stewed tomatoes put up from the year priors' garden, and on Friday's when meat was never allowed in Catholic homes, potato pancakes.

Potatoes were first grown on a large scale in Ireland hence the name - Irish Potato. It was during a famine that the spuds were found to be plentiful and easy to grow, especially in the moist, sandy soil.

Many Europeans viewed potatoes negatively because of their familiarity with the "nightshade family" (grown underground) which during the 16th century was known as "poison."

It really didn't help that there was no mention of potatoes in the Bible either.

POTATOES WERE first brought to North America in 1719 by Irish immigrants. As in Europe, North Americans were slow to adapt and potatoes were not grown on a large scale until the depression era of the 19th century.

Since 1950, the consumption of fresh potatoes has declined steadily while the use of processed potatoes has risen. Now more than half the total crop is processed.

Potatoes are used in starches and flour, canned soups, stews and hash, frozen food entrees, frozen French fires, dehydrated boxes, and made into chips and shoe strings.

Sometimes when cutting into a delectable, steamy spud, you will notice a slightly green tinge to the skin or a "hollow heart" or "blackheart" somewhere throughout the spud.

"Greening" occurs when the spuds are exposed to natural or artificial light for long periods of time. You will usually notice this for potatoes "held over" after the growing season is long over.

"HOLLOWHEART" IS the formation of a hollow cavity or hole inside the spud and usually requires only minor trimming. "Blackheart" is a rotten spot that is easily trimmed and should be discarded.

High quality control by wholesalers, shippers and retailers make these problems few and far between.

Don't buy or use potatoes that are very green, wrinkled or spolled because they can contain harmful amounts of a toxic alkalold called Solanine.

Never eat the potato "greens" from the plant, and make sure to trim off all sprouts as they also contain this toxic alkaloid.

Potatoes are great family meal alternatives, and in the event of a budget crunch, great paycheck extenders.

Anne Curley-Poppe (left), Kitty Heinzman and Rosaline Brennan talk about their favorite Irish foods over a cup of tea, freshly baked Irish soda bread and scones. All three were born in Ireland.

'The Fry'

Friends reminisce about their favorite homeland foods

By Joan Boram special writer

All that's lacking is the soft glow of a peat fire: Three Irish ladies chatting amiably over tea and scones, brown bread and thickcut Irish marmalade, occasionally bursting into hearty laughter.

They're American citizens now. Kitty Moran Heinzman, formerly of Westport County Mayo, now of Livonia, pours black Irish tea into translucent Belleek cups for guests Rosaline O'Sullivan Brennan, a West Bloomfield resident born in County Kerry, and Anne Curley Poppe.

Poppe came from Tipperary to the states seven years ago to work as a nanny, and met and married Jeff Poppe. The couple lives in Redford.

AS SO often happens when friends get together, the conversation turns to food. Someone mentions "The Fry."

"Every Irish person knows what 'The Fry' means," said Heinzman, slathering a raisiny scone with marmalade. "The classic Irish breakfast is eggs, brown bread, rashers (bacon) and sausages. The sausages are of two kinds: black pudding (what you call blood sausage), and white sausage, very fat and mealy. These sausages are what we call 'The Fry.' "

This slightly sweeter version of traditional Irish soda bread, commonly called "brown bread" is made with white flour and raisins.

jor issue in Ireland.

"As far as I know, the only store in the States that imports these sausages is Irish Imports, in Dearborn. The owner, Jack Derrick, is from Westport, my hometown."

Anne Poppe speaks lovingly of "The Fry," also. "I go back home Obviously, cholesterol is not a ma- _once a year, and I bring enough sau- __On the black days, we had black _served at 12:30 p.m. in Ireland).

ROSALINE BRENNAN recalls that Ash Wednesday and Good Friday were "Black Days," gastronomically speaking, in Ireland.

tea or coffee, no cream or sugar, no butter on our bread, and no meat. We had colcannon for dinner: Boiled new potatoes, mashed with chives, salt and pepper, lots of butter, baked until the top was light brown. That was our dinner on Black Days. (Dinner the main meal, is traditionally

In Westport, recalls Heinzman, another potato dish, boxty was a stable during the six weeks of Lent.

"We only had meat once a day, if at all, and for the evening meal we often had boxty."

Heinzman's daughter, Elizabeth, is eager to learn Irish cooking, but traditional cookery is likely to rely on "dabs" and "pinches," and is difficult to write down in exact terms.

"I do love American potatoes," said Heinzman. "Especially the Idahoes. We don't have them in Ireland."

In the American mind, two items are generally associated with Irish cooking - corned beef and cabbage, and Irish soda bread.

All three of the ladies are quick to point out that there's no such thing as corned beef in Ireland - the authentic Irish dish is Irish ham and cabbage.

"In Kerry, ham and cabbage is a traditional meal," said Brennan. "Corned beef is the closest you can come to meaty, salty, Irish ham here in the States.'

"THE DISH I most associate with home is ham and cabbage," said Poppe. "My mother made it twice a week, and you could smell it as soon as you walked in the door. I hated

Irish spirits are not blarney

By Eleanor and Ray Heald special writers

Who invented the green beer served on St. Patrick's Day? Not the Irish. There are only two Irish beers (and they are not green) readily available across the United States. They are Harp Lager and Guiness Stout.

Harp Lager is amber-golden in color with intensebarley aromas. It's a medium-weight brew that's fully flavored with a solid finish. Guiness Stout is a very dark, very malty tasting ale. Both the flavor and color come from the addition of roasted barley to the brew. Its appeal is the refreshing, slightly bitter finish.

The term whiskey is Gaelic in origin and there's no doubt that the Irish make some of the most distinctive. There is a common misconception that Irish whiskey is a potato whiskey. The Irish do refer to moonshine as poteen, but this word refers to the small, easily dismantled pot still, not potatoes.

Similar to Scotch whisky, Irish whiskey is distilled from a fermented mash of grains such as malted and unmalted barley, corn, rye, wheat and cats. By Irish law, it must be aged for a minimum of five years in previously used cooperage (such as sherry casks).

HOWEVER, IT is usually aged for seven or eight years and up to 12 years or 15 years for the heavier distillates requiring extended time to achieve roundness, and the essential smoothness.

Prestige Irish whiskeys are pot still single malts with a small amount of single grain whiskey added to enhance the malt character. They are distilled three times as compared to the double distillation used to make Scotch whisky.

Since 1608, in the small village of Bushmills, Ireland. the art of whiskey distilling has flourished in the Old

Bushmills Distillery, home of both Black Bush and Bushmills Irish whiskeys. While they have the same home, they are different and appeal to different

If you unfamiliar with either, our recommendation is to start with Bushmills. Drink it neat in a snifter. It's lighter and gentler with an elegant, finesseful finish. Once you've gained some experience, try Black Bush served the same way.

You'll notice the bigger, bolder aromas and flavors, many of which originate in the hand-picked sherry casks used during the aging year. If you like cognac, armagnac or single malt scotches, you'll take to Black Bush immediately.

ENHANCE THE aroma appreciation of both of these whiskeys with a few drops of water added to the snifter after the whiskey has been poured. Irish whiskeys may also be served on the rocks.

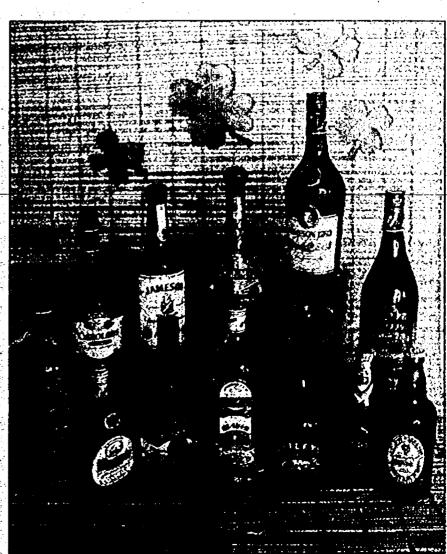

The big difference in taste between Scotch whisky and Irish whiskey stems from the fact that in Scotland the barley is dried over peat. The smoky or peaty character of Scotch whisky is absent in Irish whiskey.

Irish Mist is a blend of spicy-flavored Irish whiskey and heather honey liqueur from Tulloch Mhor. In 1692, the tale goes, the original recipe was lost during an exodus of warriors. Some time later, it was discovered in Austria and returned to Ireland.

Today, Irish Creams originating in Ireland, are very popular as after-dinner pours. Fresh cream is blended with whiskey and stabilized so that it does not need refrigeration on the shelf.

Balley's is the original Irish Cream. After it was first released, it was so popular that new cream liqueurs were developed. They were made with imported spirits, mixed with American cream and bottled in the United States.

Besides Bailey's, athere's Saint Brendan's, Emmets, Carolans and O'Darby. Our favorite for its excellent chocolate malt, white chocolate, and toasted coconut character is Saint Brendan's, easily recognized in the flagon-shaped bottle.

The big difference in taste between Scotch whisky and Irish whiskey stems from the fact that in Scotland the barley is dried over peat.

"Ireland sober is Ireland free!" James Joyce wrote. While this column speaks only of the Irish in terms of their famous alcoholic products, we maintain that the best celebration of St. Patrick's Day is one that enjoys the spirits of the Irish in moderation.

with white flour and raisins are often added to it.

"For myself, I prefer the plain brown bread," sald Heinzman, "But my mother gets up every morning of her life, builds a fire in the stove and bakes white soda bread for breakfast. She has an electric stoye, but she says it tastes better baked in a wood stove. It must agree with her

- she's 83 years old and still working full time in the Westport Court

Everybody agrees that there's no salmon in the world like Irish salmon. Brennan's son, Kevin, executive chef at the Orchard Lake Country Club, explains why: "It's partly because of the fresh, clean, cold water, and partly because the salmon get a real workout when they go upstream. They're firm and lean there's no fat left on them." (A cousin, Michael Connery, is executive chef at the Bloomfield Hills Country

"It's the way its cooked," said Rosaline Brennan. "We poach salmon in milk first, and then broil it for a few minutes. The milk removes the fish taste, and it doesn't dry out under the broiler because it's already

"To anyone coming from another country, the food available here is like a miracle," said Heinzman, as the others nod in agreement. "I'll never forget the first item I saw — a half gallon of Stroh's ice cream - I just couldn't believe it was ice cream, there was so much. I've been here 30 years, and I never have gotten over just walking into a fruit market. I never take it for granted."

Make your own turkey sausage

AP — When you buy breakfast sausage, you may find that up to 80 percent of its calories come from fat. Fortunately, you can skip much of that fat, without missing out on sizzling sausage texture and flavor, by making your own turkey sausage patties. This sausage recipe uses the leanest turkey meat of all, skinless breast, so only 12 percent of the calories are fat calories. To make sure you're starting with really lowfat ground turkey, ask your butcher to grind the turkey breast meat for

TURKEY-APPLE SAUSAGE

- 1 egg white
- 14 cup soft bread crumbs
- 14 cup finely chopped peeled apple 14 teaspoon salt
- 14 teaspoon ground sage
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 pound ground raw turkey breast or lean ground raw turkey

In a medium mixing bowl beat the egg white slightly with a fork. Stir in bread crumbs, apple, salt, sage and pepper. Add ground turkey, mix well. Shape into eight small pattles, about 21/2 inches in diameter.

Place sausage patties on the unheated rack of a broiler pan. Broil 4 to 5 inches from the heat for 4 minutes. Turn and broil for 4 to 5 minutes more or until no longer pink. Pat sausage patties with paper towels. Makes 4 servings.

Thicken soups with pureed vegetables for less fat

AP - Creamy soups taste velvety rich and thick, but they can also score high on the fat chart. The good news is that you can still create smooth, thick and flavorful soups that are also low in fat. The secret is to thicken them with pureed vegetables instead of the traditional butter sauce and-or cream. Squash and Appie Soup is good served as an appetizer or as a sandwich go-along. It blends the flavors of carrot, onion, squash or pumpkin with apple juice and ginger. Low-fat milk substitutes or one 16-ounce can pumpkin for the cream.

The JudyBats, the six-member collection of mostly University of Tennessee students, have come out with their second release, "Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes Grow."

JudyBats muddle their music on 'Shacks'

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

On their 1991 debut "Native Son," The Judy-Bats displayed an enormous amount of musical adroitness, forming a delectable synthesis of pop, jazz, folk and dance rhythms.

group with a clear, cohesive vision in genre too often beset by banality.

What happened?

"Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes Grow," the follow-up from Knoxville, Tenn., seems muddled by comparison. On this release, The JudyBats sound like a band torn asunder rather than the brazen eclectic outfit showcased on "Native Son." The nine-word album title only mirrors the confusion.

The usual cliches could apply here. The sixmember collection of mostly University of Tenalbum, less than a year to prepare its second.

hunkered down in his basement for two weeks, who performs on keyboards, violins and vocals; churning out a wide array of brooding, melancholic themes.

When done, he realized the words spoke volumes about himself far more than he intended or would've liked.

Vulnerability echoes through several numbers and pop upon somewhat puzzled thrash-saturated on "Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes audiences in Knoxville. Grow," which herein will be referred to as the second release.

More so, the Sire Records release revealed a saving grace and may lend further credence to The JudyBats' commitment to their craft.

Heiskell said the album documents "a lot of things," but adds the death of a friend sparked a tumult of emotions within himself for more than a year. In retrospect, those feelings of mourning found their way into his songwriting.

"Saturday," the band's first single off the second release, is an example of Heiskell's detached commentaries on the human condition compiled in folders he keeps around. He wrote the song a few weeks after visiting an old friend in Florida.

"HERE HE was working the same job at some nessee students had its whole life to make the first supermarket for six or seven years, living in a small cinderblock house with his wife. He was happy," Heiskell said. "Doing this kind of work,

"We had enough time, I think," said Heiskell, off — even initially from the Knoxville scene that would later embrace them.

The band, whose name is derived from a batformed in 1986, a coalition of guitarist Ed Winters Heiskell writes a majority of the lyrics. He and Heiskell with neighbors Peggy Hambright, Timothy Stutz, a bassist; and Johnny Sughrue, acoustic guitarist.

"It made me feel a little bit exposed," Helskell a dynamic was created that would sustain a creative thrust, unleashing a meld of rock, folk, jazz

"I was really paranoid when we started out," said Heiskell, noting the Knoxville area's thriving This disarming approach may be the LP's lone hard core scene at the time. "I was the only guy around who sang on key . . . We didn't have any cutting edge axes to grind. We took a lot of flack in the beginning."

> SOON, KNOXVILLE took to the band as well as Sire Records, which promptly released a maxisingle "When Southern Bells Sing" after signing The JudyBats, "Native Son" drew immediate praise from critics and ended up on Billboard's Top-10 list.

> With the same producer, Richard Gottehrer (Ramones, Marshall Crenshaw, Blondie), the band returned to Bearsville Studios in order to try and recreate the magic.

"I wasn't aware we were going for something different when we went into the studio." Heiskell said. "The production was sparse this time. That The JudyBats in a sense have always been cut—was our doing. We all agreed the first record was overproduced."

> Production aside, Heiskell maintains knowledge of what makes a good pop song.

Fanzines: U2, 'Star Trek' and more

This column has mentioned topics like environmental degradation, Rush Limbaugh and the proliferation of strip malls, but the thing that got readers most riled up was a comment on the lack of fanzines around: these days.

None too surprisingly, everyone who was irate about the subject happened to produce a fanzine of hisown. So, in the interest of keeping the peace, here's a look at some of the 'zines produced in our neighborhood. For those who don't know what the heck we're talking about here, a little review is in order. Fanzines are tiny magazines, usually printed with a Ditto machine, that are written by folks with a yen for publishing and a little extra time on their hands. If you'd like a full list of fanzines from around the world, write to Factsheet Five, 6 Arizona St., Rensselaer, N.Y. 12144-4502.

U2 And Then Some ($1 to Amy Johnson, 14154 Hubbell, Livonia 48154): As you may have guessed, this small booklet is dedicated to extolling the virtues of U2. But, since U2 wasn't doing anything for the past several years, Johnson fills her pages with other tidbits of info like a reader survey. The style is perky stream-of-consciousness. In Johnson's letter to "Left of Center," she complimented this column, saying 'I sort of really enjoyed it.' Gee, thanks, I guess. Protect Yourself - A Woman's Survival Guide on Campus: ($1 to Allen Salyer, P.O. Box 1551, Royal Oak 48068): Kudos to any man who can put out such a serious anti-rape 'zine. This earnest booklet advises women how to avoid rape with a slew of tips and article clippings. The motto is "Read this. Copy it. Pass it along to a friend. Protect yourself. If it offends you - too bad.'

Infantazine ($1 to 501 Avis Drive, Suite 1, Box 130, Ann Arbor 48104): Every part of this 'zine is sure to offend someone. It treads the line between funny and disgusting. The style is the rantings and ravings of a madman. The troublesome thing is, the author seems to be serious.

Hailing Frequency: (U.S.S. Intrepld, P.O. Box 1094, Dearborn 48121); This isn't really a fanzine, but it's the newsletter for a local Star Trek club. Lorraine Heiner describes the club as an "alternative life style that we hope will lead to peace, caring for humanity, scientific discovery, advances in education and wholesome social interactions." Sentient beings who believe that Star Trek is not just a TV show but rather a set of guidelines to living one's life should contact the address above.

Several months ago, State Rep. Perry Bullard introduced legislation to establish a Michigan Registry of Bothersome Practices. The tonguein-cheek resolutions would allow folks who are bothered by things like iunk mail and those little subscription cards that fall out of magazines to get them officially registered with the state.

(3) The cost of food at the movies.

It works like this: The "wee junior is $2.50. So, you opt for the good value and end up with the obscenely huge bucket o' pop or the hungry man, family-size barrel o' popcorn. What a bargain. (4) Infotainment TV, shows. I'm hoping that these shows peter out from lack of material. After all, there are presumably a limited number of brutal crimes involving strippers. (5) Local TV News. The hair-do's, the egoes, and the lack of any actual news are bothersome enough, but the worst part of these shows is their preoccupation with violent crimes. If on a given day, they don't meet their quota of local violent crime, they will show footage of violent crimes that happened in other cities.

THE OTHER thing is their copycat mentality. A few months ago, there was a plane that almost crashed at Metro Airport. It didn't crash or anything, but since the all news crews were already down there, they kept covering the non-

Every 15 minutes or so, they'd break into regular programming to say something like: "We're at the scene of the place where that plane almost crashed. The plane is still fine, and everyone is still uninjured."

To beef up this kind of thorough news coverage, they interviewed bystanders who had wilnessed that, indeed, the plane did not crash.

Armand Assante (left) portrays Cesar Castillo and Antonio Banderas is Nestor Castillo in "The Mambo Kings," the story of two brothers who bring their music and dreams of love and fame from Havana to New York.

Latin rhythms fuel 'Mambo Kings'

Fresh off the boat and bus from. Havana in 1952, brothers Cesar and Nestor Castillo head for the swankiest Mambo palace in New York, The Palladium. Soon Cesar is on stage with Latin master Tito Puente, performing a hot drum solo.

Like your favorite stupid musical. "The Mambo Kings" is wildly entertaining, if not especially plausible, fueled by the belief that anything can happen with talent and guts.

It's a mess of a movie fueled by hairy-chested heros and hot Latin rhythms.

Armand Assante has his flashlest role to date as Cesar, the more outgoing of the two brothers. He's disgustingly macho but loyal to family and friends. He remains wary of flashy managers who want to control his career.

Antonio Banderas, a regular in the films of Spanish director Pedro Almodovar, makes his American debut as Nestor. He can't seem to get Cuba or an old flame named Maria out of his head, even though he tries to share his brother's love of America and its opportunity.

IT BECOMES painfully obvious early on that guys dominate "The Mambo Kings." Marusheka Detmers, a powerful international actress, is relegated to the role of Nestor's long-suffering wife who watches him reach the top on a love song written for Maria, the woman whose name he mumbles in his implied that Cesar remains faithful to her, despite his opportunities to sleep with any woman that catches the flash of his stiletto smile.

What first-time director Arne Glimcher lacks in basic storytelling he makes up in visuals and music. These keep "The Mambo Kings" plodding along through the soap opera elements of the plot, which was based on Oscar Hijuelos' Pulitzer Prize-winning novel.

Expect for a couple of graphic sex scenes, "The Mambo Kings" could have easily been made in the 1950s. The set design and clothes evoke the era, while the garish Technicolor compositions recall "Written on the Wind" and other campy melodramas by Douglas Sirk.

make a living as meat factory workers. On weekends, they play bar mitzvah, birthday and bachelor parties until they get offered a big

That break comes from none other than Desi Arnaz (grotesquely played by Desi Arnaz, Jr.), who gets the brothers a spot on the "I Love Lucy" show. In a brilliant bit of technical wizardry, the film will have you believing that Lucy is really performing a skit with them.

"The Mambo Kings" has simple goals and achieves them for the most part with style and flair. See it soon before you grow sick of Armand Assante, who is destined with this single film to become a household name and major American heartthrob.

'Month in Country' lacks strong plot

A terrified solider fallen to the muddy ground on a battlefield in France during World War I. That's a brief scene, a nightmare of a British veteran, that resonates through the film "A Month in the Country."

With a pronounced stammer, Colin Firth plays the veteran, one of those walking wounded survivors of the war. Taking a commission to uncover a Medieval mural hidden by lavers of paint on a church wall, he heads for Yorkshire, his hands trembling so badly he has a difficult time lighting his cigarette on the train.

Things don't get any less stressful for the man when he arrives at the church, met by a surly cleric who makes it clear he doesn't want the painting uncovered.

The sour-faced minister doesn't fondness for trenches. have much choice since its a requirement of a larger bequest from a wealthy congregation member. Revealing the religious painting willonly distract the congregation from worship says the reverend. But while he's at it, Firth might as well add a bit of color to some of the more faded sections of the ancient work.

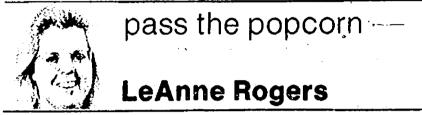

A SECOND project, funded by the same benefactor, is under way on the grounds surrounding the small country church. A second veteran, played by Kenneth Branagh, has

Rather reluctantly, Firth is sort of adopted by the local stationmaster's family and even roped into subsituting for the father to preach to a small church service. He doesn't provide the usual fire and brimstone sermon the congregation gets from the stationmaster. -

"A Month in the Country" is one of those films that really doesn't have a strong plot, it's really a character study. Firth and Branagh are young men who are weighted with grief at

Even the cleric, who lives with his wife in a large house with few furnished rooms, isn't the usual rural pastor disappointed in seeking a larger parish: His sourness stems from his disappointment that his congregation members don't share his religious devoutness.

He ministers to people who view him as useful insurance in getting divine intervention for good weather and crops.

89-49 verdict

Wayne romps into regional

By Brad Emons staff writer

Coach Chuck Henry has now won five Class A district boys basketball titles at Wayne Memorial, but Friday's final tally had to be the most convincing.

The Zebras romped to an 89-49 victory at Garden City High, running their overall season record to 19-3.

The reward for winning the GC district is a date with perennial state power Detroit Cooley, which squeaked by city rival Cody on Friday, 68-66. Wayne and the Cardinals will square off at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at Southfield High in the regional semifinals.

"Cooley is number one in the state and undefeated, but what impresses me more than anything about them is that several times (this season) they've been down by large margins and have come back," Henry said. "That means they have a group of kids who will really scratch and claw to win. They're mentally tough and that's what I respect more than anything about them."

It was 18-10 after one quarter and 36-19 at intermission.

THE ROCKETS, a 72-53 loser to Wayne earlier this year, couldn't find the basket with a base fiddle, shooting a meager 24.2 percent from the field (8 of 33) on the night.

"In the first half we wanted to go inside and get penetration to the basket," Glenn coach Pat Bennett explained. "We got the ball in there, but didn't put it down. And we also wanted to get to the free throw line, and we didn't." (Glenn was seven of 12 from the line).

Wayne senior forward Rick Barnes pumped in 17 of his gamehigh 21 in the opening half.

The Zebras continued their assault in the third quarter, outscoring Glenn 30-16 to put it way out of reach. During that stretch Wayne ble against Glenn (12-10), a team shot 70 percent (12 of 17) from the "Obviously we're very happy with the way things went," Henry said. "We were a little jittery early and missed some shots. And I was concerned about their big lineup.

defensively." Twelve different Wayne players scored with junior guard Dontez Prewitt coming off the bench to con-

Shamrocks win 'A' district title

Holowicki's 14th at CC

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Marc Gondek cut Detroit Henry Ford star Marco Hammond off at the pass Friday night, then made the pass that helped send Redford Catholic Central to its second straight Class A district champion-

The Shamrocks held off Ford, 57-49, in a defensive battle sparked by Gondek, a nearly-forgotten junior reserve guard. Gondek, who entered the game when senior teammate Tom Laco fouled out with 7:27 remaining in the third quarter, was later assigned to guard Hammond in the fourth quarter.

Hammond finished with a gamehigh 23 points, but missed five of his last six shots. Two of the misses were air balls and a third missed badly as Ford (5-11 overall) tried to rally late in the game.

"When we put Marc on No. 32, he never got another shot," said CC coach Bernie Holowicki, who won his 14th district title as Shamrocks' coach. "Marc can jump out of the gym."

GONDEK ALSO made an alleyoop back-door pass on an in-bounds play to senior center Chad Varga, who banked in a two-foot shot for a 54-49 lead with 1:15 remaining in the game. Varga made a pair of free throws with 37 seconds left and split another pair with :26 left for a 57-49 lead, but both coaches agreed the back-door pass was the key play of the game.

"That was the one play we worked on in practice, we've seen them do it at least six times in the tournament and knew it was coming," Ford coach William Carter said. "We didn't allow them to execute it the entire ballgame but our kids were tired and broke down mentally. It was the play that broke our backs."

The play, as usual, came after a CC timeout.

"It's a safe play and it's been good to us," Holowicki said. "Even the kids on the bench wanted to

THE WIN WAS the fifth straight for CC, which improved to 18-4 overall. The Shamrocks in all probability will meet Detroit Southwestern in Tuesday's 8 p.m. regional semifinal at Southfield High School.

The Trojans wanted to hold CC's powerful tandem of Varga and senior forward Bob Kummer to less than 35 points and they almost did. The pair combined for 37, with Varga scoring 12 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter and Kummer finishing with 16 points.

The Shamrocks received an early boost from Laco, who scored nine first-half points. Junior Brian Paluk (seven points and nine rebounds) and reserves Damien Baskerville, Will Marcoux and Andy Slankster played strong in the second half.

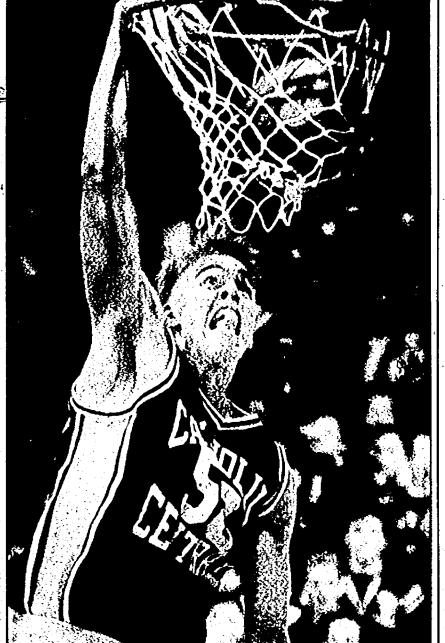

But no one could stop Hammond in the last four minutes of the third quarter, when he made three shots from three-point range and a threepoint play to erase a 34-29 deficit and put Ford up 41-38.

A steal and two-handed dunk by Kummer pulled CC within one, 41-40, with 25 seconds left in the third quarter and the Shamrocks scored the first eight points of the fourth quarter to open up a 48-41 lead.

A THREE-POINTER by Paluk and tip-in by Varga highlighted the

Canton bounces Spartans, 60-47

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Plymouth Canton won a Class A boys basketball district championship Saturday night at Novi High, out now the Uniels lace an ever taller order.

Literally.

Canton whipped Livonia Stevenson 60-47 in the district final to earn a right to play towering Adrian in Wednesday's 7 p.m. regional semifinal at Ypsilanti High School. Adrian is 21-2 overall and has a 7-foot center and 6-foot-4 player, each of whom has signed with Division I schools.

"They're very good," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said.

The Chiefs (18-4) looked like giants against Stevenson, outrebounding the smaller Spartans 53-25. Hal Heard, a 6-5 senior forward, led a balanced attack with 16 points and 16 rebounds. Senior guard Derrick McDonald also scored 16 points, while 6-7 senior center Tony Coshatt added 11 points and 11 rebounds.

The Chiefs led 32-30 at halftime before outscoring Stevenson 14-9 in the third quarter to open up a 46-39 lead. Stevenson (12-10 overall) missed its first seven shots of the quarter and for the game was 18 for 56 from the field (32 percent).

THE CHIEFS also struggled from the field (making 17 of 48 shots), but made 21 of 24 free throws, including 10 of 13 in the fourth quarter.

This was the second straight district championship for the Chiefs and the third victory over the Spartans this season.

"We felt going in that defense and rebounding would be the key," Van Wagoner said. "In the second half we started doing both extremely well. Both titles were very sweet. That (two straight championships) is a real accomplishment."

Seven seniors played for the final time in a Stevenson uniform, including guard Matt Grodzicki, who,, scored a team-high 19 points. Senior Colin Stockton added 14 points, but the Spartans tallest player, 6-4 senfor Tony Stojov, had a less memorable final outing.
Stojov failed to score in double figures and fouled out with 6:17 remaining. Coach Jim McIntyre knew

'Every year you lose seniors, kids that have been around three. years. You just have to re-establish a family. The senior kids are class young men and do an excellent job everywhere.'

> — Jim McIntyre Stevenson coach

the Spartans had match-up problems and their 19 fouls to only 11 by Canton proved that.

"When your biggest kid is 6-4 and their point guard (Mike Brennan) is 6-6, you don't need to be a rocket scientist to figure that out," McIntyre said. "It was a nice effort tonight, I had no complaints about that. But I don't remember 20 of those rebounds being above the rim, and we didn't get the opportunity to get to loose rebounds that we should have swiped off the floor."

McINTYRE SAID he'll miss the seven seniors but life goes on.

"Every year you lose seniors, kids that have been around three years," he said. "You just have to re-establish a family. The senior kids are class young men and do an excellent job everywhere."

Canton also has seven seniors, including Brennan, who came up big in the second balf. After an uninspired first half, B ennan finished with 14 rebounds and penetrated the key to set up his teammates on the wings.

Brennan scored only two secondhalf points, but had another two called off for offensive goaltending early in the third quarter on an impressive tip dunk. Even though the dunk didn't count, Brennan and the Canton crowd got fired up over it.

"I've done that in practice and I've wanted one all year in a game and finally got it done," Brennan said. "I felt the second half I played a little better. Coach was saying at halftime that the win (Wednesday) over Salem wouldn't mean a thing if we didn't during the districts. Now all of our hard work has paid off for the kids."

Huron Valley, which improved to 8-13 overall, advanced to the regional semifinal and will play Auburn Hills Oakland Christian (21-2) at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Junior forward Melton Stoudemire, a 8-footer, led Huron Valley. with 32 points, 15 rebounds and four steals. Senior center Aaron Thompson added 13 points and 10 rebounds.

SENIOR FORWARD Tom Wake-

ished the season 9-13, with 19 points. Junior forward Andy Cook chipped in 18 points.

"I guess the difference was they handled us on the boards," Baptist Park coach Jamle Thompson said, "Stoudemire played a real good ballgame and he was the biggest difference in the game.

"I wasn't disappointed with how we played. I'd say in the first half we forced our shots too much and our shot selection could have been better. I was pleased with the second half. I told the kids to keep their heads up because no one expected us

Huron Valley, which never trailed in the game, used a 12-6 second quarter advantage, including an 8-2 late quarter run, to open a 10-point halftime advantage.

With 2:05 left in the second quarter, Stoudemire hit a short jumper to put Huron Valley ahead 18-12. Baptist Park's Wakefield answered with a basket with 1:46 remaining.

Huron Valley then scored six straight points on baskets by Thompson, Gregory Hannewald and Stoudemire to take a 24-14 lead.

The Hawks went ahead by 13, its largest lead of the game, on a basket by junior guard Doug Hartley with 1:12 left in the third quarter.

BAPTIST PARK then outscored the Hawks 7-1 within a 50-second span of cut the lead to 40-33 at the end of the third quarter.

Wakefield started the run connecting on the front end of a pair of free throws. Junior guard Jim Labo scored two straight baskets, including a steal and a layup with 30 seconds left to cut the deficit to 39-31. Wakefield hit a bucket, before Stoudemire made one of two free throws on a foul at the buzzer.

An 8-3 Baptist Park run to start the fourth quarter cut the Huron Valley margin to 43-41 with 5:10. After each team traded baskets. Stoudemire scored six straight points to break open the lead for good at 53-45 with 1:07 left.

"I was worried a whole lot," Stoudemire said. "But we kept our composure. I knew we would pull it out. It's been a long season."

Added Kolander: "I knew exactly what they were doing. We were tentative on the trap and we didn't attack the basket. We led the whole game and kept our cool."

Elvis in Kalamazoo? That's only a silly rumor, but it's a good bet Ma-chine Gunn Kelly will be in town by Friday and ready for the kill:

Well, they're not exactly 1930s gangsters from Memphis, but Livonia Ladywood's volleyball team has come on like gangbusters in the 1992state volleyball tourney, led by the juniors Liz Gunn and Mary Jo Kelly.

The dynamic duo led the Blazers to the Class A regional title, coach Tom Teeters' fourth, with victories over Farmington Hills Mercy (16-18, 16-14, 15-11) and Livonia Stevenson (15-11, 15-5) Saturday at Ferndale

The prize is a trip to Nazareth College in Kalamazoo for the state quarterfinals, where the Blazers will meet South Lyon regional champlon Temperance-Bedford. (Game time is 4 p.m. Friday.)

"Kelly is 'Miss Consistency' and Gunn is 'The Boomer,'" said Teeters, whose team is now 42-9 overall. "They've been 95 percent of our offense this year with Andrea Putti in some of the rotations. But we really live and die offensively with those two players."

Gunn, a lefty with power, and Kelly, a right-hander with penetrating and well-placed shots, were certainly a hit. They could not be stopped by Stevenson (39-15-6) in the champion-

THE TWO combined for 15 kills, offsetting Stevenson's tall block consisting of 6-foot-1 junior Julie Martin (12 kills), 5-11 junior Patty Diamond and 5-11 senior Teresa Sarno.

"Ladywood is an efficient team and they play their roles extremely well," Stevenson coach Lee Cagle said. "They force all the mistakes to happen on your side of the net. "Serve reception has been our weak spot all year and it showed up again. The only bright spot for us at the net was Martin's hitting." Stevenson was never really in it against the Blazers, falling behind

11-1 in the first game and 10-3 in the second. The Spartans had six bad serves to Ladywood's one. We passed soft balls that were not on target and not high enough, Cagle said. "And we were not able to mix it up at the net. It always, seemed we hit the ball right into their defense." By no means was Ladywood's championship run a two-girl attack. Gunn and Kelly had plenty of accomplices.

'Ladywood is an efficient team and they play their roles very well. They force all the mistakes to happen on your side of the net.'

Valerie Adzima, a 5-foot-4 junior, had five ace serves and 12 digs in the tense battle over Mercy in what turned out to be the match of the day. (Stevenson won the other semifinal against host Ferndale, 15-10, 15-5.)

"She (Adzima) had some real good broken play sets in at least 10 different situations," Teeters sald.
Senior Jannel Hemme also made a major contribution in serve and serve reception, while patrolling the middle.

"IT WAS TWO evenly matched also in sync." teams," said Teeters, whose team won the season series against the Marlins, 3-1 (all three wins were determined by two points each). "I thought we were dominating in serve blocking, but we may have had the edge in setting.' Ladywood couldn't hold a 14-9 first-game lead as Mercy stormed back behind the serving of Karin Kivela to win 18-16. The Marlins also received some big hits from Karen Pinkerton, Shannon Goff, Wendy Wolski and Angela Assad.

Late in the second game, Mercy was within a point of serving for the match, but missed a sitter at the net, giving Ladywood new life.

The Blazers then pulled out the second game, 16-14, and held on to win the third, 15-11.

"You never have any match when you play against Ladywood," said-Mercy coach Ann Kolnitys, whose. team bowed out at 34-10 overall; "We lacked consistency, we just hitballs out of bounds."

But when it came down to the crucial points, Gunn and Kelly came up big along with Ladywood's defense.

'Our defense and serve reception' have stepped up," said Teeters, who led Ladywood to the 1988 and '89. state crowns. "But the offense requires setters and passers who are

Arthritis Today Joseph J. Weiss, M.D. Rheumatology

ARTHRITIS IN THE ELDERLY

Undoubtably, someone over age 65 has told you that growing old does not bring you into "golden" years. Arthritis contributes: over 50% of people over age 65 suffer from joint pain that at the least is painful and at the worse is crippling.

The spectacular advances in medicine have reached heart disease and cancer; to date; arthritis therapy is excluded from such headline advances. However you should not conclude that now, as in decades past, 'Arthritis is something you have to live with.' The arthritis that dogs old age · osteoarthritis, gout, polymyalgla and frozen shoulder · are amenable to treatment. Available therapy includes salycilates in forms that do not upset the stomach or interfere with medications for other ailments. Joint aspiration often gives prolonged return of function and orthopedic surgery is available for nearly any badly deformed joint with age no barrier to this Intervention. With the care possible if you have arthritis, there is no need for narcotic painkillers, or reason to become wheelchair bound, nor requirement to enter a nursing home because of arthritis

The modern treatment of arthritis is not spectacular, but it is steady. If your limbs are in pain or your mobility is in jeopardy, look for help not sympathy.

Spartans oust Mustangs

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

At halftime of Thursday's district basketball game, coach Jim McIntyre removed all restraints from his players and told them to do what Livonia Stevenson teams do best shoot the ball.

The result was a more relaxed, free-wheeling group of Spartans, who erased a four-point deficit and shot down Northville 66-54 in the Novi tournament. The win sent Stevenson (12-9) into the final Saturday night against Plymouth Canton.

The Spartans were too mechanical in the first half, which is not typical of Stevenson teams, and trailed 35-31 at halftime.

"We were trying to do a couple" things early to see if we could establish an inside threat," McIntyre said. "We tried to control the tempo with our inside game in the first half, and I wasn't real pleased with our deci-

GIVEN THE green light, guard Ryan Furkas scored all 13 of his points in the second half, nailing three three-point shots early in the third quarter to give the Spartans a 40-39 lead. Colin Stockton followed with another trey to put Stevenson up by four,

The Spartans did things in reverse, using the outside shot to open up the post, which they couldn't do in the first half by concentrating foremost on the inside shot.

"All of a sudden it did both." McIntyre said.

Junior center Adam Roy scored 10 of his game-high 17 points in the second half, taking advantage of a more fluid situation in the paint. Stockton tallied 14 points and Matt Grodzicki, who kept Stevenson close with 11 in the first half, also had 13.

> MIKE MASCHEK led the Mustangs with 13 points, Chris Lehr and Matt Schramm scored 11 aplece and Ryan Huzjak added nine. Lehr and Huzjak hit three triples aplece in the first half and then went scoreless in the second.

> Northville (10-11) got within a point at 43-42, but the Spartans scored the last 12 points of the third quarter as everything went Stevenson's way in the final minutes.

> 'We went back to playing basketball," McIntyre said. "We went back to shooting the three. It helped us get 'back in rhythm."

> The third quarter has been Northville's downfall all season in games it has lost. While Stevenson hit 10 of 23 shots in the third quarter, the Mustangs shot 121/2 percent (2-of-16). "It happened again," Northville coach Omar Harrison said in disbelief. "I don't know what the answer is. Maybe our shooting caused us to lose

'We knew they were going to shoot the three and if they made some threes we'd be in trouble. We just didn't get out on them in the second half and consequently what happened was exactly what we didn't want to happen."

Tillery guns down Trojans in district

All-State candidate John Tillery scored a game-high 25 points, leading Royal Oak Shrine to a 79-53 Class C basketball win Thursday over Livonia Clarenceville in a game played at Redford Bishop Borgess.

Tillery, a 6-foot-4 senior guard, connected on four 3-pointers for the Knights, who increased their overall season record to 15-4.

Eric Ellis and Robert Mingus contributed 15 and 11, respectively. Sophomore Mark Kaljevic paced the Trojans (9-12) with 21. Dan Nunnery and Dedrick Harrington added 11 and nine, respectively. Clarenceville trailed 37-26 at halftime and 60-41 after three quarters.

HURON VALLEY 58, MT. CARMEL 46: A 19-11 fourth-quarter spurt carried Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (7-14) to the Class D district semifinal victory Thursday over Wyandotte Mount Carmel (1-16) at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

Doug Hartley and Aaron Thompson each chipped in with 13 points.

Guard John Borowicz scored 15 for Mount Carmel, while teammates Eric Schmith girls basketball Don Albertson, Livonia Churchill's first-year athletic director, is step-years at Flint Hamady, along with will take over the reins at Churchill one-year stints at Lake Fenton and Bloomfield Hills Roeper.

"This is going to be a good situation for me for a lot of years," said Fulks, a special education teacher at RU. "Churchill has a lot to offer academically and they have tremendous facilities. Having a big gym is going to be a big plus.

"And there are a lot of good people over there, that's why I was interested in the position. I feel comfortable with Don. And the principal (Rod Hosman) is honest, down-toearth and committed. Both guys want the same thing, and we'll try to do the best we can for them."

FULKS HOPES to turn Churchill's fortunes around with a year-round

"We'll start at the elementary level, through the junior high and into the high school," said the new coach. "We'll be there Saturday mornings with the young kids and run an extensive summer program that will include weight training for grades 9-12.

'Livonia is obviously a larger school district (than RU) and there's an opportunity to do something with the program. They have an extensive community education program and we'll try and work through them. We'll try to out-hustle people and do some of the same things that made us successful at RU.

"It's a pride thing and obviously you have to work hard."

The new coach added that Fulks is ready to turn the losses into victo-

"There's a challenge and in every program," he said, "and I'm excit-

Observer & Eccentric Classified advertising

644-1070 Oakland County 591-0900 Wayne County 852-3222 Rochester/Rochester Hills DEADLINES: 5 P.M. TUESDAY FOR THURSDAY EDITION /5 P.M. FRIDAY FOR MONDAY EDITION

W. Bloomfield condo, 2 bedroom,

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent.
In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.*

And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

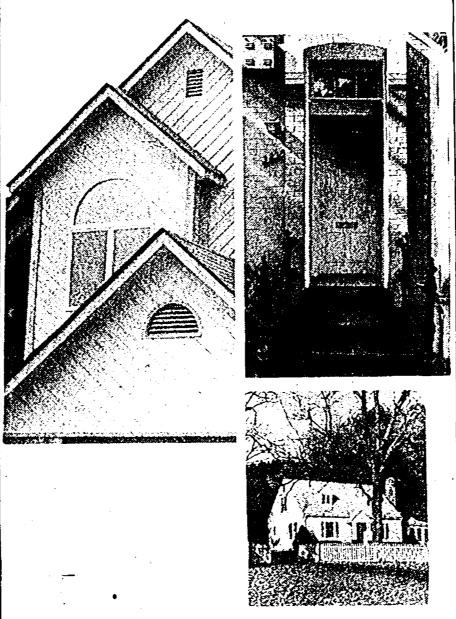

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

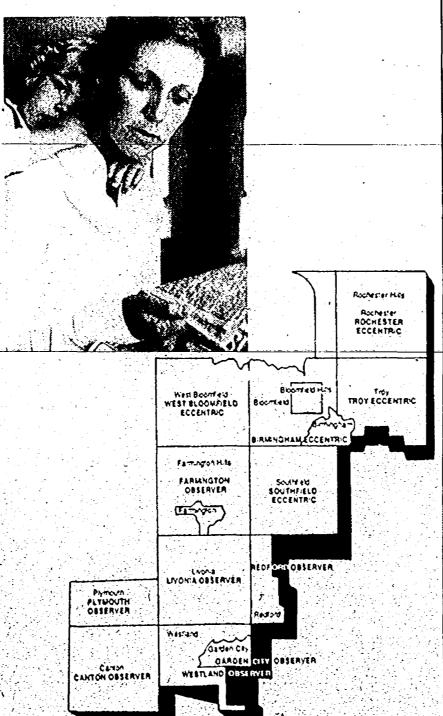

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

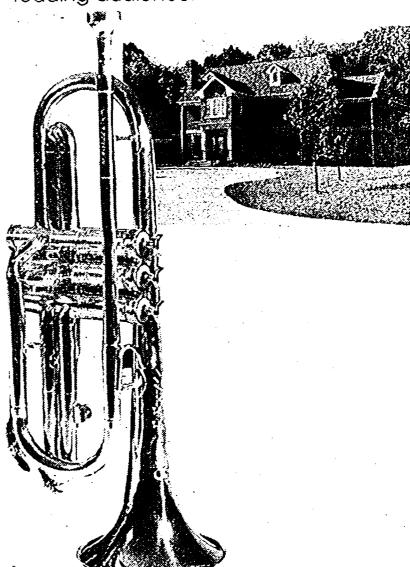

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers?

Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE,
a great new way to find out about open houses simply by-using your touchtone telephone.

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

The Monthly Album is published the third Monday of each month for the announcement of engagements and weddings. All announcements are published on a first-come, first-served basis

Information sent must be legible and include a daytime telephone number so if there is a question the staff can call.

Photos submitted should, preferably, be black-and-white glossies, 5-by-7 inches in size. Color photos can be submitted and will be accepted, but they do not reproduce as well.

Due to the volume of photographs handled, the newspaper will not be responsible for any that may get lost or damaged. Photos can be picked up after publication in the Farmington Observer office, or if a self-addressed sufficiently stamped envelope is received with the photo, every effort will be made to return it. However, photos do get lost because so many are handled every month. There is just no guarantee the photo will be returned.

Engagement and wedding announcements pertinent to Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Farmington and Farmington Hills should be addressed to Suburban Life Editor, The Farmington Observer, 21898 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336.
