Split board OKs teacher retirements

By Darrell Clom
staff writer

Wayne-Westland teachers who retire early would receive a $24,000 bonus under a controversial proposal that a split school board approved Monday.

Supporters hailed the plan, saying it will bring in newer teachers at lower salaries, save the district millions of dollars and boost efforts to hire minority educators.

But critics opposing the plan urged the board to delay a decision until it hires a new superintendent in May. Some said the board has placed its credibility on the line.

The proposal, approved in a 4-2 vote, would allow teachers to retire this year and receive a $24,000 payout if they've worked in Wayne-Westland for 15 years or more. They would be paid the money in a lump sum or in 24 payments of $1,000.

The plan would be dumped unless at least 40 teachers sign up by May 7. Fifteen teachers already have signed, said Bill Taylor, associate superintendent for employee services.

The plan would allow only 125 teachers to retire early. If more sign up, seniority would decide which ones receive the payouts.

About 769 teachers in the 1,000-member Wayne-Westland Education Association have worked in the district for at least 15 years. They can already retire after 15 years of teaching in Michigan schools — but only if they are 55 or older. Otherwise, they can retire after 30 years.

THE BOARD approved the new proposal in a 4-2 vote. Board members Laurel Raisanen and Fred Warmbier opposed it, while president Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and members Kathleen Chorbaghan, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak favored it. Vicki Welty was absent.

Amid discussion at Monday's board session, Taylor offered an example in which the district would

Recaller claims '100% victory'

By Darrell Clom
staff writer

Recall leader Steven Lind has claimed success despite his failed campaign to oust three Wayne-Westland school board members.

"I don't have to apologize to anyone," Lind said Monday.

Lind had stated last year that his committee wanted to see Superintendent Dennis O'Neill ousted. O'Neill has since stepped down, amid pressure from a board majority.

"The main objective was to get Dr. O'Neill removed," Lind said.

Lind's comments came as Wayne County elections officials confirmed that efforts to recall board members Kathleen Chorbaghan, Leonard Posey and Andrew Spisak had failed. The three board members were strong O'Neill supporters.

Lind needed 4,420 signatures from registered school district voters to petition the county for a special recall election. Statistics released by the county Tuesday showed that:

- Only 3,472 valid signatures were collected to recall Chorbaghan after county officials and local city clerks checked them. More than a thousand were tossed out because people who signed petitions weren't registered voters or didn't live in the school district, among other reasons.
- Only 3,524 signatures against Spisak were substantiated under scrutiny by county and local officials. Again, more than 1,000 were discarded.
- Posey fared even better. County elections officials halted his recall even before signatures were sent to local city clerks to be checked. County officials counted only 4,376 signatures against Posey — below the necessary 4,420 mark.

STILL, LIND declared Monday, "I'm claiming 100 percent victory." O'Neill has stepped down, he said, and Chorbaghan has announced she won't seek re-election when her term expires in June.

However, the failed recall attempt means Spisak will fulfill his four-year term that expires next year, and Posey will serve the remainder of a term that expires in 1994.

During a board session Monday, Posey declared that he could survive other recall attempts if opponents challenge him.

Lind, however, has strongly indicated he won't renew his efforts to oust the board members. Lind himself has announced his candidacy for one of two board seats at stake in the June 8 election.

Lind blamed the recall's failure on state recall laws that made it difficult for his committee, known as New Beginnings for our Children. The petition drive had to be completed in a 90-day period.

Board members have said they're relieved that the recall has ended. The effort had prompted Chorbaghan, Posey and Spisak to hire an attorney, and their costs had reached $4,300. A fund-raiser last November raised enough to help offset the expenses.

2 men charged in sexual abuse cases

By Darrell Clom
staff writer

In separate incidents, two Westland men have been arrested on charges of sexually abusing young girls they were baby-sitting.

Robert West, 25, has been charged with seven counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct. The charge involves oral sex, attempted intercourse and attempted sodomy of an 8-year-old girl he was baby-sitting Feb. 15, Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore said.

"He was a friend of the family," she said.

Robert Kenneth Cheek, 64, has been charged with two counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct on a March 11 warrant. He is charged with molesting a 3-year-old girl he was baby-sitting, Moore said.

Cheek, a Fairchild Street resident, had been known as the "neighborhood grandfather," she said.

West, who has pleaded not guilty, is scheduled to appear today before 18th District Judge Thomas G. Smith for a preliminary examination to determine if he should be bound over for trial in Detroit Recorder's Court.

West was arrested March 10 and released 15 days later from the county jail on a $10,000 cash surety bond. If convicted, he could receive a maximum sentence of life in prison.

THE 8-YEAR-OLD girl told her parents about the alleged incidents after she became fearful that West would babysit her again, Moore said.

Cheek, who also has pleaded not guilty, is expected to appear next Thursday before 18th District Judge Gail McKnight for a preliminary examination to determine if he should face trial, Moore said.

Cheek remained in the county jail Tuesday on a $20,000 cash surety bond on each of the two counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct. He would have to post $40,000 to be released.

Cheek could face 15 years in prison on each count if convicted.

Westland police arrested Cheek Friday in Hillsdale County, where Moore said he had fled after he had been accused of sexually abusing the 3-year-old in early March.

Warrants charging West and Cheek were issued by the child abuse unit of the Wayne County prosecutor's office, Moore said.

Suspect denies cutting man's throat in brawl

By Darrell Clom
staff writer

In tears, a 31-year-old Westland man denied slashing a Wayne man's throat with a piece of broken glass after they crashed through a window during a fight at a Westland convenience store.

His voice cracking, Karl James Pardee testified in court Wednesday that he told police he cut 32-year-old Paul Sherer's throat because a detective indicated the fight had been captured on a video camera. The incident occurred at 11:45 p.m. last July 16.

"I was scared at the time. I was told I was being charged with attempted murder," Pardee said. Testimony in Pardee's trial on a charge of assault with intent to murder ended Wednesday in Detroit Recorder's Court. A jury is expected to decide the case today. If convicted, he could face up to 20 years in prison.

Pardee testified that he had walked from his home to the nearby 7-11 at Merriman and Palmer in Westland when he got into an argument with Sherer and Sherer's friend, 35-year-old Alan Jeroh, whom Pardee said had a knife.

THE DISPUTE erupted after Sherer opened a car door that struck Pardee, who told Sherer to "watch what the hell you're doing," Pardee testified. The argument escalated when Sherer and Jeroh got out of their car, he said.

Pardee said he went inside the 7-11 and told a cashier to call Westland police, believing there would be a fight. He added later that he told the two men that he "didn't want any trouble."

A shouting and shoving match followed, and Pardee said Jeroh threatened to cut him with a knife — an accusation that Jeroh denied Wednesday. Pardee said he was pushed through the store's front window, which shattered.

"When I started falling, I grabbed Paul Sherer," he said. Sherer landed on top of Pardee when they crashed through the window and landed on the store floor, Pardee said.

Jeroh testified Wednesday that Pardee picked up a piece of broken

59 seek school chief's job; deadline nears

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Fifty-nine candidates are seeking the job of Wayne-Westland school superintendent, but others could join the ranks by Saturday's application deadline.

In a special session Monday, the board learned that 50 men and nine women from 18 states have applied for the post that Superintendent Dennis O'Neill quit, amid pressure from a board majority.

The board is expected to choose his successor in early May.

Most candidates come from high-ranking positions in school districts that stretch from New Jersey to Colorado, said William Hazard, a consultant from Hazard, Young, Bickert & Associates. The school board hired the Chicago-based firm to lead the nationwide search.

The field of candidates will be screened by the consulting firm and narrowed to 15 to 20 top applicants by April 8, Hazard said Monday. The board may choose to eliminate some candidates for such reasons as their geographic location.

In mid-April, the search firm will interview the top candidates and further narrow the field to five to eight finalists, Hazard said. The firm also will conduct background checks.

"Before we bring anyone to the board, we want to have seen them face to face," Hazard said.

In late April, the school board will conduct its own interviews of the top several candidates. Their names will be made public during the locally conducted interviews.

"DON'T BE surprised if the (candidates) play to the audience," Hazard warned. "That's been known to happen."

Afterward, board members are expected to narrow the field to two or three candidates, who will be visited in their home districts. Either the entire board or a board team will make the visit to see the candidates in action.

The board has indicated it wants to choose O'Neill's successor by May 8 and have the new schools chief on the job by July 1. His duties are being performed by Deputy Superintendent Thomas Sytkovich.

On Monday, some citizens attending the special session raised concerns about the board's plans to negotiate a superintendent contract for at least $100,000, compared to O'Neill's base salary of $103,518.

KENNETH RAUPP, a candidate in the June 8 board election, said district residents don't want to pay that much, despite warnings from Hazard that the board will "be lucky" to hire a top-notch superintendent for that amount.

Most top candidates wouldn't come to Wayne-Westland earning less than some officials — below the rank of superintendent — whose salaries surpass the $90,000 mark, board president Sylvia Kozorosky-Wlacek said.

"Two wrongs don't make a right," Raupp responded.

Although board members acknowledged that O'Neill's salary stirred a bitter community debate, they appeared hopeful that his successor will provide the leadership to earn his pay.

"I believe that this community will pay for quality as long as they see that good things are happening and that we are being guided into the 21st Century," Kozorosky-Wlacek said.

Despite concerns board OKs 'schools of choice'

By Darrell Clem
staff writer

Despite a state budget crunch that threatens money for "schools of choice," the Wayne-Westland school board has completed with new legislation forcing districts to develop a plan for letting students choose which school they want to attend.

Students entering the seventh and eighth grades next school year will be allowed to choose among the district's four junior highs under a plan that the board approved 5-0 Monday night.

Board member Fred Warmbler abstained, citing concerns about schools of choice guidelines that the state has repeatedly revised.

"It makes it very difficult to play the game when you don't know if you're playing with a baseball bat or a football," Warmbler said.

The board faced an April 1 deadline for submitting a schools of choice plan to the state. Otherwise, state aid could have been lost.

Even so, school officials remain worried that a severe budget crunch won't allow the state to provide the money that local districts need for added costs, such as transportation, brought on by schools of choice.

The state has required districts to plan to bus students who choose a school that's not in their home attendance area. Wayne-Westland officials have predicted that several new bus routes may be necessary, costing as much as $50,000.

"I'm not even sure the state knows what kind of chicken it's got by the tail," Warmbler said Monday, voicing frustrations about the schools of choice mandates.

UNDER THE plan, the current 2,269 sixth- and seventh-graders would decide among Adams, Franklin, Marshall and Stevenson junior highs for next school year. They would have to live with their choices for a year.

The plan emerged from a 24-member schools of choice committee that included 16 parents and eight school officials. The committee had submitted its plan to the board last week.

The first phase would be among several in implementing schools of choice. Students in the ninth grade would choose their schools in 1993-94. In subsequent years, the next-highest grade level would be added until all junior high and high school students would have choices in 1996-97.

Elementary pupils in the district already may attend a school outside their home attendance area, based on the receiving school having space. That would continue, but the district must begin providing transportation, instead of relying on parents to transport those children.

Board member Kathleen Chorbagan is among those who said the schools of choice plan has sparked enthusiasm among parents and gotten them more involved in education.

Split board approves teacher retirement plan lose $11,981 next year, if 50 teachers retire early and are replaced by employees lower on the salary schedule. The initial loss would stem from the payouts.

However, the district would save $1.1 million in the second year because less money would be paid for teacher salaries, he said, and more savings would come in subsequent years.

Many teachers earn more than $50,000, Taylor said. "If you can turn around and hire someone for $24,000 or $25,000, then you're saving some money," he said.

But some critics doubted that enough new teachers could be found at lower salaries.

"Overall I see this district giving money away with no guarantees," Raisanen said.

SOME APPEARED hopeful that the early retirement could boost efforts to lure minority educators to a district that has a 12-percent black student population, but a teacher workforce with fewer than 1 percent blacks.

"We're not talking about quotas, but we are, I believe, in need of hiring minority staff," Taylor said.

Posey, the district's first-ever black board member, agreed, saying he has long been concerned about the district's commitment to a diverse workforce.

District resident Kathy Darfler urged the board to delay a decision until it hires Superintendent Dennis O'Neill's successor. She raised concerns about Chorbagan, Posey and Spisak voting on the plan, only four months after they received money from teachers to fight a recall effort that proved unsuccessful. Much of the $4,398 raised during a Nov. 19 fund-raiser came from teachers.

"You have created another credibility gap if you vote for this tonight," Darfler said Monday.

Posey called it "ludicrous" that Darfler would indicate the board was paid off by teachers and said, "I'm offended by your comments."

Warmbler accused school officials of supporting the plan in an effort to reduce the district's surplus, which is expected to be about $8.1 million on June 30.

fight happened so quickly that he wasn't sure what had occurred.

"The last thing I remember is going through the glass and then seeing Paul Sherer out in the parking lot with a hole in his throat," Pardee testified.

But he denied cutting Sherer. "I've been cut before. It ain't fun," Pardee said.

WITNESS Sarah Richards, who had driven into the 7-11 parking lot, testified that she saw two men shouting threats at Pardee. Other witnesses said both sides in the dispute shouted obscenities and indicated they wanted to fight.

Although Pardee admitted cutting Sherer when questioned by Westland police Sgt. Russell Nowaczek, he testified Wednesday that he did so because police indicated the fight had been captured on the 7-11 video camera. The store has since erased the tape.

When he was told about the video, Pardee said, "It scared the sh-- out of me, and I started crying." At one point Wednesday, he indicated the Edison School students Brenda Brown and Aaron Schwartz get a close look at a new Apple computer system, the second bought by the school through the collection of receipts from Farmer Jack/A&P supermarkets. For the latest system, the school collected $237,000 in receipts for the computer, printer and a second disk drive. The school took six weeks to collect the receipts. The newest system was formally accepted at a PTA meeting Tuesday night. Also part of the program was students reading selections as part of the school's observance of March as reading month.

Easter Bunny Brunch at VFW Hall Saturday

A story in Monday's Places and Faces column should have said that the annual brunch with the Easter Bunny will be held at the VFW Post 3323 Hall on Wayne Road at Avondale Saturday morning. It will start at 9:30 a.m. and continue to 12:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Westland recreation department and Westland Civitans. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and younger. Proceeds will benefit the Civitans' community service projects. Polaroid photos will be taken with youngsters and the Easter bunny. Additional prints will be $1 each. Tickets are available at Bailey Recreation Center, on Ford east of Newburgh between 9 a.m. and 10 p.m. Each youngster is encouraged to make and wear an Easter bonnet or hat for their picture with the bunny. The city and Civitans will also sponsor the annual Easter "Cotton-tail" hunt at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, April 18, at Central City Park, directly behind Bailey Center. It is open to children 9 and younger.

Talent show is this week

John Glenn High School's music students will produce its annual "Rocket Extravaganza" talent show at 7 p.m. today and Friday in the school auditorium, on Marquette, west of Wayne Road. To perform will be a rock band, jazz combo, barbershop quartet, color guard, cheerleaders and a song and dance group. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1 for students.

Giant garage sale planned

Franklin High School, which serves northeast Westland, is having a "New and Used Giant Garage Sale" Saturday to benefit its vocal music program. The garage sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the school on Joy east of Merriman. Vocal music keeps many Franklin students busy with performances and competitions. The singers donate their time by singing for senior citizens in various local senior complexes and nursing homes. They have sung across the country representing the school district and sang a welcome home to local soldiers returning from Operation Desert Storm in the Persian Gulf. Choir director Robert Ballard has been at Franklin High for 26 years.

muscle. But two months later it was still there. Further examination revealed it was the beginning of a cancerous tumor.

"I work at Michigan Bell in downtown Detroit," Rybka continued. "There were a lot of women around to discuss my concerns with. I was amazed at how many others also dealt with breast cancer. I drew strength from them."

Rybka shares her support with other cancer patients as a volunteer for "Reached Recovery." She urges anyone with questions or concerns to call, toll-free, 1-800-4-CANCER for help.

The "Race for the Cure" will be conducted by the Motor City Striders. Local celebrities include Kristi Krueger, WDIV medical reporter; Barbara Levin, wife of Sen. Carl Levin; Kym Sellers, wife of Detroit Piston Brad Sellers; Ginger Sullivan, wife of Dr. Louis Sullivan, U.S.

Secretary of Health and Human Services; and Lisa Walker, wife of Detroit Piston Darrell Walker.

Jane Hoey of the Michigan Cancer Foundation said the race is expected to net $10,000 for the fight against breast cancer.

"Our goal was to have 1,000 runners this first time out," she said. "Well, we've already received over 900 registrations, so I guess we'll surpass that goal. It's a real tribute to the compassion of metro-Detroit area women."

The race will be held, rain or shine. On-site registrations will be taken 7:30-8:30 a.m. the morning of the race. The 5K shot-gun start is set for 9 a.m. The one-mile fun run/walk will begin at 9:10 a.m.

Entry fees are $12 pre-registration or $15 on site, tax-deductible.

Entry forms are available at all Pier One Imports or by calling the Michigan Cancer Foundation 833-0710, Ext. 245, or by phoning the Motor City Striders Hotline, 544-9099.

Self-exams, early detection saves lives

By Susan DeMaggio
staff writer

One out of every nine women in America will develop breast cancer in their lifetime, according to the American Cancer Society.

As with all cancers, their early detection can save lives.

The following guidelines for breast cancer examination were set up to offer women a first line of defense against the disease:

- Get a mammogram (breast X-ray) and physical exam at age 40. Repeat both procedures every year or two until age 50.

- At age 50 and after, get a yearly mammogram and physical exam.

- Once a month, give yourself a thorough self-examination to detect any breast lumps.

- Monthly self-examinations should be performed after the menstrual period.

- To help you remember your self-examination, pick a date. Perform your self-exam on that date of the month, every month.

- First, look in the mirror at your torso, elbows forward, then elbows back. Look for any visible lumps.

- Next, examine your breasts while standing and laying down.

- The best way to perform a breast exam while standing is during a shower. Soapy hands aid detection because they slide easily over the skin.

- The best way to perform a breast exam while laying down is to place a folded towel under the shoulder of the breast you are examining.

- If you discover a lump, call your physician for an examination as soon as possible.

- Don't panic. Remember, 80 percent of the tumors or lumps detected are benign.

- For more information, pamphlets, or to talk to a cancer foundation spokesperson call toll-free, 1-800-4-CANCER.

S'craft honors UM-D chancellor

Blenda Wilson is honored

Chancellor Blenda Wilson of the University of Michigan-Dearborn will be commencement speaker during Schoolcraft College graduation ceremonies Saturday, May 9.

The first woman to preside over a four-year public university in Michigan, Wilson is also a professor of public administration at UM-D.

Wilson has a doctorate in higher education from Boston College. She also has a master's from Seton Hall University, South Orange, N.J., and a bachelor's from Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa.

She had been executive director of the Colorado Commission on Higher Education, an associate dean at Harvard University and asstant provost at Rutgers University, before coming to UM-D.

In addition to her university duties, Wilson is also a director of AAA Michigan, chairwoman-elect of the American Association for Higher Education and a director of the University of Detroit Jesuit School.

She will receive an honorary degree from Schoolcraft during the commencement ceremonies.

Honorary degrees will also be awarded to Livonia Mall general manager Jeanne Hildebrandt and college volunteer Chester Simpson.

Hildebrandt, a Livonia resident, is a member of the Livonia Planning Commission and the city's Industrial Development Commission. She is also active in the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Livonia Prayer Breakfast Committee and Michigan Cancer Foundation, among other organizations.

She is a 1990 recipient of the Lansing Regional Chamber of Commerce Athena Award.

Simpson, of Northville, has managed office records and data in the Schoolcraft Learning Assistance Center, where he volunteers his services for an average 50 hours a week.

A retiree, Simpson owned a construction company that completed masonry projects at Hart Plaza, Cobo Hall, the Detroit Institute of Arts and other area sites.

UM-D sets transfer day

The University of Michigan-Dearborn Admissions Office will hold its second annual "Michigan Advantage Day" 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, April 11, in the campus University Mall.

The program is designed for college and university students interested in transferring to UM-D.

UM-D staff will discuss transfer credits, academic advising, cooperative education, financial aid, career planning and placement services in an open house format.

Staff will offer preliminary evaluations of student transcripts to determine how many credits will be transferred. They will also discuss cooperative programs of particular benefit to transfer students.

To register, or for additional information, call the university admissions office, 993-5100.

The University Mall is centrally located on the UM-D campus, Evergreen, between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue.

Schoolcraft scholarships seek students

Applications are being accepted for nine scholarships available next fall to Schoolcraft College students through the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Scholarships include:

IN BRIEF

Rockin' Rabbits

Peter and the Rockin' Rabbits will put on four shows at Westland Center Saturday, April 11.

The show in the east court will include flashing lights and garden vegetable musical instruments. The musical fantasy will tell the story of a young rabbit, Peter, who leaves the briar patch in search of popularity and rock and roll stardom.

The first 50 people at each show to donate $10 to the Westland DARE (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program will receive a free Peter and the Rockin' Rabbits T-shirt.

Shows are scheduled for 10:30 a.m., 2:30, 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Flower sales

Rotary Clubs from Garden City and Westland will be on local street corners the weekend of April 17-19 to sell Easter floral plants. Proceeds will be used to support the community service programs of each club.

The sales will be most of the day on Friday and Saturday and a half day on Easter Sunday.

Dog wash

Have your pooch mark your calendar for the Michigan Humane Society's spring bath and blow-dry fund-raiser, scheduled for Sunday, May 17, at the Westland animal shelter on Marquette, east of Newburgh.

The cost for the dog bath and blow-dry will range from $10 to $25, depending on the weight of the animal. A flea dip is available for an additional $7 with a nail trim for only $5 more.

Appointments are required, said MHS spokeswoman Sue Gates, who may be contacted at 721-7300.

Cats and rabbits are also invited to take part in the annual fund-raiser. Proceeds will be used to support the shelter, used by local residents.

PWP activities

The Parents without Partners Chapter 340 will meet Friday nights, April 10 and April 24 in the Wayne AmVets Hall, on Merriman near Avondale.

Local persons are welcomed to attend the sessions and learn more about the chapter, which has members from Westland and Garden City.

New members are welcome. Admission for the Friday social is $4 before 9 p.m. and $5 after 9 p.m. Call Sue at 525-6937.

GC Hospital wants blood

By LeAnne Rogers
staff writer

While the demand for blood is increasing, supplies are critically low.

Garden City Hospital, on Inkster Road at Maplewood and the American Red Cross to boost blood supplies.

A blood drive will be held at the hospital from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday. People interested in donating blood can drop in at their convenience, but calling 458-4277 to make an appointment is preferred.

"Besides the good feeling you get from donating blood, people should consider that if they go into the hospital and need blood, they expect it to be there," said Mark Cornille, American Red Cross public relations director. "But how many of us consider it our responsibility to make sure the blood is there?"

Red Cross figures show that only about 5 percent of the population donates the blood supply used by everyone else.

The bulk of blood donations received by the Red Cross, about two-thirds of its daily collection, come from mobile blood drives at businesses and universities or those sponsored by civic or church groups.

"The blood usage is pretty high. It is hard to meet all the needs," said Serina Cheung, who heads the hospital blood bank. "Last year there was a flu epidemic and over the holidays people were busier. That cut down on the number of donations."

Despite no evidence to support their concern, Cornille said there are still a number of people who won't donate blood for fear of being exposed to a disease, in particular the HIV virus.

"ABOUT 20 percent of people believe they will get HIV or another disease from donating," he said. "It's a persistent problem. But it's an emotional issue."

As new medical procedures are developed, the demand for blood increases, according to Cornille.

"It used to be that you would collect whole blood and give it back," he said. "That virtually never happens now. People are given what they need. The blood is broken down into red blood or platelets."

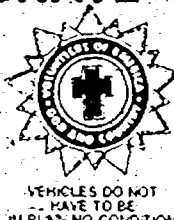

With the various derivatives from whole blood, he said four or more people can benefit from a single donation of blood.

The criteria used for screening would be blood donors' diets with their physical health and a series of questions relating to their lifestyle, in particular sexual relations with people with HIV or hepatitis or intravenous drug users.

Franchising raises odds for new business survival

By Doug Funke
staff writer

So you think that you have job security working for someone else?

Just ask the men and women at the GM Willow Run Assembly Plant how much security they have toiling for one of the largest employers in the world.

Ask mid-career executives at other companies who face early-retirement buyouts how much control they have over their destinies. And what about those workers whose employers are pulling up stakes and moving out of town?

Even the military is cutting back. One option is to start your own business. And if you do, said Geoffrey Stebbins, president of World Franchise Consultants in Southfield, franchising may be the best way to go.

"Statistics show about a 90 percent failure rate for people who go into business for themselves within five years," Stebbins said. "Franchising has about an 85-90 percent success rate. I've been doing this for 19 years. Would I be doing it if I had a 90 percent failure rate?"

Franchising is a business arrangement where an individual pays an up-front fee and a percentage of sales to use a company's name and sell a product or service. A franchisee, a business unto itself, also generally receives training, advertising support and consultation services from the parent.

McDONALD'S PROBABLY is the most recognizable franchise arrangement in the world.

Start-up franchise fees vary by business activity, Stebbins said.

The printing business requires a cash outlay of up to $60,000; auto diagnostic/service shop, $50,000; sign store, $30,000; and power wash or fire cleanup operations, $10,000.

But franchising isn't for everyone, said Stebbins, who gets referrals from personnel agencies, outplacement consultants, insurance companies, advertisements and individuals.

He poses a series of questions to prospects to determine suitability.

Do you really want to go into business? Do you really understand what it means? Which industry? Which company? What is your net worth and liquidity? How are you going to live until you start making money? What does your spouse say?

"You're going to pay a franchise fee and a royalty fee," Stebbins said. "We have to cost justify that or it doesn't make sense. We're not going to sell your house to put you in business."

STEBBINS COUNSELS three or four clients a day and matched some 55 with franchisers during his best year.

Self-confidence is the most important characteristic of the successful franchisee, he said.

"If you have it, all you have to do is find the right source to express it. If you're the type of person who likes challenges, it may be good for you. If every challenge is going to be like a hurdle and you're going to be pulling your hair out, better look for a job."

Franchising activity totaled some $750 billion last year — more than a third of all retail sales nationally, the U.S. Department of Commerce reported.

Francorp, a Chicago-based consulting firm, took more than 10,000 telephone inquiries last year from executives of large corporations seeking information on franchising their businesses.

"The biggest mistakes people make: lack of planning, buying a franchise on emotion, lack of proper due diligence," Stebbins said. "You have to plan what you want to do, check them out and don't take any personal feelings into consideration."

ABOUT HALF of the people he sees currently have jobs but are unhappy and want to make a change. About one-third are unemployed and the rest are facing a job buyout option. He will put on a couple of seminars for salaried workers at the Willow Run plant this month.

Opportunities for dramatic financial rewards in franchising have changed over the years, Stebbins said.

"I'm very strongly promoting the sign industry," Stebbins said. "I think it's where the printing industry was 20 years ago."

"There are health-related issues and environmental concerns now. I don't look at greasy hamburgers now. The trend now is skinless chicken, fish, health foods."

Stebbins also is high on interior cleaning franchises that use mist instead of water. And because more people hold onto their cars longer, he sees great potential for auto service/maintenance franchisees.

Stebbins said he's owned printing and fast food franchises while tending to his consulting business. He said he's the only person in the Detroit area and one of about only 60 nationally who works to link franchisees with franchisers.

"I get freedom," Stebbins said. "I can schedule myself as I wish, work as hard as I want. I have developed connections throughout the world. I get a lot of satisfaction out of success. And I take a client's lack of success very personally."

Successful franchisees pursue proposals carefully, work hard.

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Uncertainty with life in corporate America brought Guy and Joan Swain and Jim Sprague into the world of franchising. But it's been a gradual process.

The Swains bought a janitorial franchise, Jani-King, five years ago and opened an American Sign Shops franchise in Royal Oak two months ago.

Sprague has run a power-cleaning franchise, Wash on Wheels, as a sideline in Manchester for six months.

Guy Swain got tired of being shuffled around to different subsidiaries within ATT/Michigan Bell and wanted more control over his comings and goings, wife Joan said.

So she continued to work as a therapist at Beaumont Hospital while Guy concentrated on the janitorial business. Now, she's ready to wrap up her career at Beaumont and devote most of her time to the sign business.

Sprague, a supervisor at Ford for more than 25 years, hasn't felt secure since the automaker sold the steel plant where he worked to a smaller, independent company. He's still putting in time there until retirement, hoping for a buyout.

Both Sprague and Joan Swain professed satisfaction with their franchising experiences so far.

"I kind of like the freedom to set up my schedule to a certain point, the variety of the job," Sprague said. "That's why I bought this particular franchise. I hate getting into a routine or rut. You run into a lot of interesting people and a lot of interesting things."

"I enjoy working with customers, satisfying their needs," Swain said. "Every day something new comes along."

THE SWAINS AND Sprague share a couple of other things in common. Both checked out franchise proposals thoroughly before taking the plunge. Both figure they work just as hard if not harder for themselves than as an employee.

"People in charge are crucial. The type of backup they supply is very crucial," Swain said. "Those are things you can discuss with people (franchisees) already in the business."

"There's more responsibility on you," she said of life as a franchisee. "You've got to get there, get the job out."

"We went to Florida and looked at headquarters and equipment and called every franchisee we could," Sprague said. "You've got to work hard, put in the time. 'Business doesn't come to you. You have to go out and get it.'"

Deductibility can baffle

Whether you're driving all over the state seeking new customers, closing an important business deal over lunch or looking for a new job, it's not unusual to find yourself digging into your pockets to cover your expenses.

But Uncle Sam allows you to keep some of that money by making various business and job-related deductions available to qualified taxpayers.

Just what business expenses are deductible and how do you deduct them? The Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants provides these answers.

Deducting expenses. For employed workers, most unreimbursed business-related expenses are considered miscellaneous itemized deductions and are deductible only to the extent that together with other miscellaneous expenses they exceed 2 percent of adjusted gross income.

Employment-related expenses. To deduct employment-related education expenses, you need to meet one of two requirements. The course you take must help you to maintain or improve your present work skills, or your education must be required by your employer or by law to keep your present job.

Transportation. Whether you own your own business or you are an employee whose job requires a car, you may deduct the business-related costs of owning and operating your car. In most cases, you have a choice of two methods for computing the deduction for the business use of your car — you can claim actual expenses or a standard mileage rate of 27.5 cents per mile. Whichever method you choose, be sure to keep a log of all your business miles and detailed records of your expenditures.

Meals and entertainment expenses. Business people who meet IRS qualifications can deduct 80 percent of the cost of business meals and entertainment. Your meal and entertainment must be directly related to your business.

Travel. If your job or business takes you away from home for at least one night, many of your travel-related expenses, such as your lodging, commuting to the location, and laundry bills are deductible. But you may deduct only 80 percent of the cost of your meals during a business trip. Keep in mind that the 80-percent rule applies whether you are dining alone or with business associates.

Work clothes and uniforms. For some workers, the cost and upkeep of work clothes and uniforms are deductible expenses. To qualify, your employer must require you to wear special clothes on the job, and the clothing must not be suitable for ordinary or everyday wear.

Books and publications. Subscriptions to professional magazines and trade journals are deductible, as are research and reference books, as long as the publications clearly relate to your work.

Business gifts. You may deduct the costs of gifts you give to others in connection with your business up to $25 per year per recipient.

Job-hunting expenses. These are deductible as miscellaneous itemized deductions as long as you limit your search to a job in the same line of work. If you qualify for the deduction, you may deduct travel, food, and lodging expenses associated with looking for a job, telephone calls and postage, as well as the cost of having your resume prepared and printed.

Deductions for meals are limited to 80 percent of the cost just as they are for employees.

Import vs. domestic? Ask a woman from New Jersey

LAST YEAR, a communications researcher at Michigan State did a study that showed that the American press was about three times as likely to make a big deal out of an American car company recalling its products than if an import car company did the same thing.

It was a clear indication that bias indeed exists in the media, favoring imports vs. American cars. Needless to say, the study got little press.

This is a touchy subject. Leslie Stahl, for instance, was indignant after Ford President Red. Poling accused her of bias after she went to the trouble of running down the aisle at the Detroit Auto Show in her best 60 Minutes confrontational style and poked a microphone in his face. She was both indignant and out of breath, since it was far easier to interview the import guy, who was allowed to sit down, put on makeup and answer questions on a set, which was lots easier on both him and the reporter.

Just last week a story ran in the Wall Street Journal about how many more American cars are recalled because of safety defects than are Japanese cars. The statistics were compiled in an annual report by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

PERSONALLY, WHEN I see a report like that, I tend to wonder if more American cars are recalled than Japanese because the American cars have more defects, or because the Japanese aren't talking about them as much. It's been my experience that both of these are true. I noticed that the Wall Street Journal settled this important question by interviewing a lady in New Jersey, who assured the newspaper that the Japanese make better cars.

auto talk

The WSJ then made a neat graph out of the numbers of recalls that had big long streaks to indicate how many American cars were recalled, and little tiny bars to show how few Japanese cars were recalled. The graph was published alongside the story so that a reader who didn't read it would get the point.

There was, however, a mention in the story of an anticipated recall by Honda of about a million Accord models for faulty fuel systems. The million Accords were left off the graph, which is fortunate, since if they had been added to Honda's bar the graph would have gone off the top and likely run over onto the text, since recalling a million Hondas means that Honda was recalling more cars than they sold in a single year.

Of course, the graph only reflected last year's recalls, not today's news, which was fortunate, since today's news would have destroyed the whole point of the piece. The million-car recall, however, did not deter the WSJ from its conclusion that the domestic car industry was behind the Japanese in quality. They obviously had supreme confidence in the opinion of the lady from New Jersey.

IS ALL THIS an indication of anti-domestic car bias, or pro-import car bias, on the part of certain media? Only if you think a paper like the Wall Street Journal would have run a half-page article on how there were more American cars recalled than Japanese, and then not follow it up with another story about how Honda had to recall a million cars, which puts it at the top of the most-recalled list for 1992 (granted, this is pretty early in the year).

I have been looking through subsequent issues of the WSJ for the last couple of days, trying to find that second story. So far, I haven't come across a mention.

I guess I must have missed it.

Ford stays U.S. House change coming

TO PARAPHRASE an advertising phrase, "There will continue to be a Ford in your future."

That's the good political news for local residents following the new U.S. congressional redistricting boundaries approved by a federal court last week.

The bottom line politically is that U.S. Rep. William Ford, who has represented the community since 1965, will probably continue to be your person in Congress.

With the redistricting putting Ford, a Democrat, and Rep. Carl Pursell, a Republican in the House since early 1977, in the same district, there was a fear by supporters of both that they would be forced to go to political war in the fall elections for the right to represent the newly created 13th district.

But Pursell, who has lived in Plymouth most of his adult life, decided to call it quits at the end of his term this year instead of moving west into a safer Republican district.

That means Ford, now listing Taylor as his home address, is probably safe in the new district, which takes in more of Washtenaw County, including Ann Arbor.

Ford is likely to move from Taylor into his new district to avoid being in the same political turf as Rep. John Dingell, one of the most powerful congressmen in Washington.

THE NEW demographics facing Ford are that he will have more Republicans in his district than the current 15th district, which takes in a chunk of western Wayne County and the Ypsilanti portion of eastern Washtenaw County.

He will continue to represent a sliver of the southern portion of Livonia, all of Garden City, Westland and Canton Township.

The new portion of his district, starting with the upcoming summer primary election, will be the traditionally Republican city and township of Plymouth.

That would probably be offset by the liberal/Democratic voters in Ann Arbor, mainly University of Michigan students.

Generally, the district will be well-served by Ford because of his 28 years of seniority and his chairmanship of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Always a supporter of federal aid for public education, Ford was a key author of the 1965 K-12 financial support legislation and funds for technical/vocational training.

IN THE Wayne-Westland school district, he was instrumental in channeling large chunks of federal dollars for a voc/tech center, eventually named after Ford, and for a new school district administrative center, complete with a wing for senior citizens.

He has also been a key in getting federal bucks for four-year universities, which should please the parents of students at Eastern Michigan and the University of Michigan.

In another dimension, Ford has continually supported federal legislation which provides more help for college-bound students and their parents to borrow money for college expenses.

On another level, Ford has consistently initiated and supported union-backed legislation, which may upset conservative voters in his new district which would back the business point of view.

For example, Ford authored a law, approved two years ago, which requires companies to give employees a minimum of 60 days notice if they intend to close a plant. The business community nationally opposed the bill, and it took Ford and others more than 15 years of work to get it approved.

IN RECENT public appearances, Ford has also been backing a national health insurance plan to help the estimated 36 million people who don't have access to adequate health services.

The bottom line is that Ford will continue to do what he's been doing for 28 years — fighting the battles of the "little guy" and seeing that those people — men, women and children — are protected in the economic battlefield.

Supply, demand sides now coming together

By Buddy Moorehouse
guest columnist

IT'S AMAZING how many school districts and business communities in the state have failed to realize their destinies are intertwined.

The supply side of the equation (schools) keeps turning out a product that isn't prepared for the work world. This happens because the supply side gets no input from the demand side (business). All it gets are complaints.

So it's refreshing to see that in at least one area communally, the supply side and the demand side are coming together in an unprecedented fashion.

Located in Livingston County, Brighton is one of the fastest growing communities in the state.

When Dennis McMahon became superintendent of Brighton Area Schools in 1984, he came with the firm belief that the school district must work closely with the local business community. He wanted business people to become involved in the school district at all levels, to tell the schools what they need to do better to turn out employable kids.

EIGHT YEARS later, Brighton has a school-business partnership which should be — and is — a model for other communities around the state. Through a number of innovative and sensible programs, the school district is working hand-in-hand with the business community.

Result: Brighton's kids are getting every chance to hit the real world with a running start. Look at some of the programs already in place:

Brighton has a school-business partnership which should be — and is — a model for other communities around the state. Through a number of innovative and sensible programs, the school district is working hand-in-hand with the business community.

• One of McMahon's first projects was to start a Partners in Education program, which he did with the full support of the Brighton Area Chamber of Commerce. The program involves pairing individual school buildings in the district with businesses in the community. The goal: to share ideas and information.

The partnership's advisory board, a half-and-half mix of school people and business people, meets about five times a year. The board tackles a couple projects each year — all with the aim of improving the curriculum.

• Brighton High School has a mentorship program in which students are paired up with a professional or other business person in the community. A kid who might be interested in a career in law enforcement, for instance, will be paired with a police officer. A student spends one day a month on the job with the person, getting a first-hand look at the career.

• Another job-shadowing program is called CDI (for Career Decisions and Internship). Through this program, high school students spend time during each semester getting an intensive look at a single business, going from department to department to learn the ropes. Many students actually get to perform much of the work themselves.

• The Livingston Educational Service Agency (the county's intermediate school board) administers a vocational education consortium. Through it, each school district concentrates on a couple of vocational areas.

Brighton does auto repair, for instance. Students from throughout the county then come to Brighton to take auto-repair classes. The consortium is supervised by a board of professionals from the business community representing the various vocations taught. These people are charged with looking over the equipment and curriculum to make sure that what the kids are learning will help them in the real world.

School people in Brighton put out the challenge to the business community: Come and look at what we're doing, and tell us how we can do it better. The Business community has responded. The result is a school-business partnership which should be emulated.

Editor's note: Phil Power spoke last week to a group of school and business people in Brighton. He was so impressed with how they are working together that he asked Brighton Argus editor Buddy Moorehouse to write this guest column.

AIDS New teachers feel the loss

AIDS NO LONGER lives solely in newspaper headlines and lists its victims among celebrities. AIDS is a part of our suburbs.

Some may see it as a sad, fact of life. Others use its prevalence as a way to educate and enhance awareness about the disease and about homosexuals. When Rock Hudson died of AIDS or Magic Johnson announced he was HIV positive, people talked. But when a young person in the neighborhood dies, people do more than talk — they feel the loss. They know the victim or they know the family.

Shirley and Philip Gach of Bloomfield Township lost their 27-year-old son, David, to AIDS on March 14. David Gach was not a celebrity. Instead, he was known to those in his neighborhood, at the family church and Brother Rice, his alma mater. He was a real person.

And the Gaches are typically suburban — nice, house, good jobs, two surviving children and active in their church. But their son David has changed their lives. Since he first announced his sexual preference eight years ago, and then announced he was HIV positive three years ago, the Gaches decided to be very open and also to help others. Rather than keeping their son's sexuality and illness a secret, they prefer to talk honestly.

TO COPE WITH their son's illness, the Gaches joined a support group. The couple still belongs to the group, though the roles changed — they're now offering support and understanding, rather than seeking it. "That's where I see we can help," Philip Gach said. "We can add our personal experiences."

Magic Johnson may get the world's attention, but the Gaches and others can put more reality into the story. People will listen and learn from their neighbors, who are the most believable educators. Hopefully others will follow the Gaches lead. Their stories won't be about people who live in different parts of the country and have lifestyles most can only imagine. Instead, it will be about the young man or young woman who went to local schools, attended the local church and had friends and relatives in the area. The impact is one more greatly felt.

The families of AIDS victims are becoming the new educators, not only about homosexuality but about showing compassion to those who are HIV positive or those dying of AIDS. The staggering number of 400,000 AIDS cases currently diagnosed shows the gravity of the disease and its impact. As the numbers grow, more people will know a friend or family member who has the disease.

It will be the parents, siblings and partners who live through the struggle and death who will be the best spokespeople to tell the real story of this deadly disease, of encouraging compassion toward those afflicted and urging our nation to focus its attention to find a way to alleviate the devastating effects of AIDS.

Now open A welcome change in process

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY'S Board of Trustees deserves high marks for the open process by which they selected their new president — Sandra Packard.

The choice of Packard as OU's first female president ended an eight-month search during which the public was kept informed of each step in the process and asked for input when it came to choosing among the four finalists.

Not only were the names of the four finalists and their credentials widely publicized, but the Oakland University community as well as others were invited to attend four receptions — one featuring each finalist — and asked for evaluations.

THE BOARD conducted formal interviews on a single day, with candidates scheduled one after another — all open to public scrutiny.

It is a tribute to the process that through the opportunities made available, both the student congress and the faculty felt knowledgeable enough to present their own recommendations to the board.

This search for a president was in striking contrast to the last search, 12 years ago. Then, the state Attorney General's Office found that that OU board had violated the state's Open Meetings Act, dividing into groups of less than a quorum to interview final candidates.

Oakland University obviously has learned from its mistakes and has shown Michigan's other public universities how a presidential search should be accomplished.

Column hits a sour note

To the editor:

I am writing about the column by Jeff Counts in the March 23 Observer. As a former member of the John Glenn High School Marching Band (in the Wayne-Westland school district) and a lifetime supporter, I took great offense to his implications that marching band students don't work equally as hard to achieve their goals as does a football player.

Marching band participants don't just "learn notes, tunes and march in step." They learn the value of hard work and dedication. The marching band kids spend countless hours on the marching field, practicing complex drills over and over.

They don't do this to be "nice for a half-time activity at a football game," they do this to achieve their goals at marching band competitions, which, incidentally, are quite popular and draw a crowd comparable to that of the Homecoming football games. The judges and spectators at these competitions do in fact notice when the horn player misses a high C. They also notice when lines are not perfectly straight and when just one member of the marching team is out of step.

The marching band members are the leaders in their respective schools. Not only are they members of the band; they are also members of the National Honor Society, student council and numerous other extracurricular activities. They deserve to wear a varsity jacket just as much as the star quarterback of the football team. In fact, for as much as they do behind the scenes at their schools, they may deserve them more.

Recall leader is criticized

To the editor:

In a masterful play of political understatement, Steven Lind, leader of a continuing effort to recall certain members of the Wayne-Westland School Board (I've concluded that it really doesn't matter which ones), admitted that his recent announcement to seek a seat on the board in the June election "looks bad." Examine the behavior of just about everybody who's been involved in this dreadful burlesque over the last several months, and things might look bad indeed — especially for the people who should, ultimately, be the beneficiaries of a responsible and responsive education system: our children.

The ugly mood which has fallen over our community and has infected the debate surrounding the school board may be merely a reflection of the "anti-incumbency" phenomenon sweeping the nation.

But the high pitch and low altitude of the current campaign suggest something else: The dubious practice of recalling our elected officials remains for some a revered and convenient method for launching a political career. It comes from the same dark, damp place that produces political "attack ads" and peeping. Tom reporters bent on documenting the mating practices of this or that candidate. And, regrettably, it confirms the recent observations of a number of political analysts that reactionary, power politics is on the ascendancy, while sound public policy-making is in free fall.

Judging from the recently reported performance of our students at John Glenn High School (some 600 students landed firmly on the honor roll in the last card marking period, notwithstanding the MEAP debacle), our children, fortunately, have been largely immune to the silly political preoccupations of some adults in our community.

I suspect that our children, in the end, will do well. Probably better than we did. And they will do so not by way of anything which might emerge from the low comedy of the current recall campaign. Rather, they will succeed in spite of the embarrassing conduct of their elders.

points of view

Don't worry, be happy — with less

IT'S BECOMING widely recognized that the depression we are in is not merely a downturn in the business cycle but part of a permanent contraction of our economy.

Thus the advice a job placement expert gave in a recent report on the Observer & Eccentric's business page: Be happy with less.

The bulk of the report concerned the nooks and crannies in our economy where displaced workers can find refuge. Retail, health care and the service sector were offered as low-wage survival options, while vocational training was strongly recommended for unskilled workers who formerly earned good wages in manufacturing jobs.

But the real advice, disguised as an aside, was that both white-collar and blue-collar workers must lower their expectations. Michael Whitty, an associate professor of management at the University of Detroit-Mercy, warned "(not to define yourself by a job or measure self-esteem by a paycheck."

Uh-oh. When the experts start worrying about our self-esteem, we should probably worry about our livelihoods.

All is not lost, however. If we demand significant changes from our political leaders and employers, we can make sure that the less spectacular American economy of the future is a fairer one that provides a better quality of life for all of us.

James Radebaugh

TO BEGIN, we need to recognize that our interests and those of the large corporations are not the same. General Motors was good enough in February to illustrate the point. The stumbling industrial giant showed, and not for the first time, that when the going gets tough it will treat its employees as something more expendable than serfs.

The layoffs at GM were explained away partly as being necessary to make the corporation efficient and thus competitive. We can expect more and more calls for efficiency, and we should be wary. After all, efficiency hardly benefits the laid-off worker, or for that matter the retained worker.

Instead of worrying about GM's profit margin and market share, we should worry about the quality of life, enjoyed, or suffered, by current and former GM employees.

Next, you who consider yourselves middle-class, whether of the blue-collar or the white-collar sort, are going to have to give up the conceit that your interests are aligned with those of the rich and opposed to those of the poor and, getting down to brass tacks, the black, who may or may not precisely be poor.

After all, the children of the poor need good schools and so do yours, you need health care and so do they, everyone needs a healthy environment and dignified employment. The quality of all our lives can be improved by demanding that more of the economic pie, however large or small it is, be devoted to these areas.

In other words, those of you who are raising families on less than $70,000 a year and yet would vote for any Republican or most Democrats should have your heads checked for cobwebs.

SO, WHAT priorities should we set for the new economic order?

I say start with the schools. We all know that a good education is important for living a full, rewarding life, yet most kids in this country are cheated out of one. Lack of fair and sufficient funding is a big part of the problem.

In Michigan school funding is a particularly sticky issue, and we all seem to overlook the necessary solution. The federal government must either spend more on education or free up tax money so the states can. For decades, children were short-changed while Washington spent trillions on weapons we don't need now and never really did.

Similarly, we should be as firm as ever in demanding that industry bear the costs of providing pleasant work environments and preventing pollution of the natural environment. They'll tell us it isn't efficient, but, again, efficiency isn't any good if it condemns us to crummy jobs, ugly landscapes and poisonous air.

A serious public transportation system would help the people who get stuck with those "survival option" jobs avoid the "drive to work, work to drive" rut. And how about a shorter work week? There would more jobs to go around and more time for living.

Of course, these sorts of changes entail a shift in the distribution of wealth. A corporation that spends $100 more on creating a better work environment has $100 less to put in the pockets of its shareholders. That means the rich won't be as rich, but there are more of us than there are of them.

Professor Whitty is right: We can be happy with less, especially if less is more than we have now.

Joke's on us and it's green

I HAVEN'T been told a good joke in a long time, but I have read some and I've seen a couple good jokes on television: One that gave me a chuckle last week was the newspaper story about the ministers and the councilman.

It seems that one of the esteemed Detroit city councilmen appeared on a popular radio talk show last St. Patrick's Day. The show's host, a former wonder boy athlete, turned gambler, turned felon and now a media darling, had asked the councilman the one question guaranteed to generate intense audience interest: What about Coleman Young?

The councilman, in responding to the Coleman question and seemingly unaware that his comments would be heard in the Big Bad City, said that the FBI wouldn't investigate the mayor for wrong doing because it would "start a riot." The councilman then told the FBI to "Do it in January or February; they're not going to come out in their bare feet."

All of a sudden in Detroit the phone lines started buzzing. People called their friends, friends called their pastors, ministers called each other. All talked about the ugly remarks, some saying it was another put-down of the city by someone supposed to lead. Others asked if this was the "R" word... another racist incident.

JUST ABOUT then, one of the Baptist ministers stepped into the breach. He got a group of his minister buddies together and went to the media to demand a public apology. The comment by the councilman had obvious racial undertones, he said. "Who are these people without shoes in February? The inference is they are City of Detroit residents and they're predominantly black."

The uproar grew. At first the councilman refused to apologize. The preachers stepped up the pressure. The flap made the evening news and a lot of print was given to the supposed issue. The councilman wished the whole thing would fade away. The ministers felt they had earned their pay, and those who would fan the flames of racism had a field day.

If you don't understand the joke or can't find the punchline, how about this: While the Baptist ministers were screaming racism, six kids under 10 were shot or burned to death in the city. Only the parents screamed.

While the councilman was making his joke on the radio, crack cocaine was continuing to tighten its grip on the city's residents. As the ministers demanded an apology, hundreds of young, inner-city males — most of them high school drop-outs — gave up the search for meaningful work.

As the councilman dug in his heels, refusing to give in, scores of young, inner-city girls continued to have unprotected sex, uncaring of the fact that soon they might have to raise a child alone.

WHILE THE TV stations gave details of the battle between the ministers and the councilman, the city grappled with the problem of how to cut $100 million from the budget. Raising revenue was no longer an option in balancing the budget since "racial fights" continued to contribute to suburban flight and inner city blight.

"I still don't get it, what's funny about that?" you ask. "Where's the joke?"

The joke is on us, that's where. The issues which effect all of our lives are not black and white. They are green. Economic opportunity, the ability to generate dollars and the true chance of earning a good living for all are where our priorities should be placed.

Efforts in education, efforts to eliminate drugs, efforts to reduce teen pregnancy should command the airwaves and headlines. Instead we get racial animosity, race baiting and demands for apologies while the gulf grows wider. Isn't that funny?

April means it's daylight savings time, by Jupiter

"April is the cruellest month," wrote T.S. Elliot. Isn't that the truth? After making it through a long, cold winter, we expect great things from April. Yet some of our worst ice storms have been known to hit during this month, knocking down power lines, breaking tree branches and making life in general somewhat vexing.

On the positive side, this is the month that ushers in Daylight Saving Time and, in 1992, Easter, both of which are definitely springtime events in spite of the weather! There will also be an occultation (covering) of a third magnitude star by the moon.

Daylight time notwithstanding, there will be a big increase in the amount of sunlight we receive this month. On April 1 the sun rose at 6:15 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and set at 7:03 p.m. This permitted a possible 12 hours and 48 minutes of sun.

On April 30 the sun rises at 6:29 a.m. (Eastern Daylight Time), sets at 8:36 p.m. and allows a possible 14 hours and seven minutes of sun, an increase of one hour and 19 minutes.

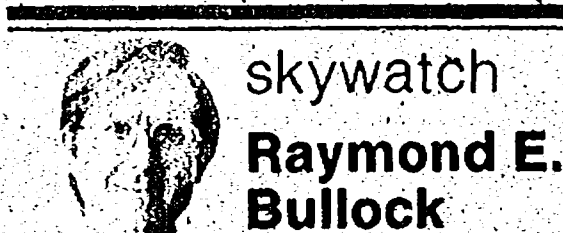

The only planet visible after sunset is Jupiter this month. The other four naked-eye planets are morning objects, although Mercury will not be well-placed for observing.

GO OUTSIDE 30 minutes before sunrise in the early days of the month and face east.

Three planets and the waning (fading) crescent moon will be visible. Venus is four degrees below the moon, but it's close to the horizon and difficult to see in spite of its brightness.

Twenty degrees to the right of the moon is the red planet, Mars. Eighteen degrees to the right of Mars, in the southeast, is Saturn. (One degree is about two full moon diameters.)

At night, you can't fail to notice another very bright object above the southwest horizon. This is Sirius (SER ee us), and it is the brightest star in the night sky. (Bet you know what the brightest star in the day sky is!) Sirius is located in the constellation of Canis Major, the big dog. It is one of the nearest stars to us. The distance is estimated at 8.7 light-years, making it the 5th closest

star, and that distance is closing! Sirius is approaching us at a velocity of 7 kilometers (4.5 miles) per second. (Don't lose any sleep worrying about a collision occurring.)

Sirius has a companion star, which is only visible through a fairly good sized telescope, in orbit around it. The star, called the 'Pup,' is a white dwarf star; it has about the same mass as our sun, but is 40 times smaller in diameter.

NEW MOON is at 12:01 a.m. on April 3. The moon is located between the earth and the sun and is not visible. By the next night, the waxing (growing) crescent moon is very easy to spot in the west. It will look like the 'smile' of a Cheshire cat above the horizon.

Daylight Saving Time begins at 2:00 a.m. on April 5.

Daylight time, when we set our clocks forward one hour, always begins on the first Sunday in April. We do not alter the speed of Earth's rotation or the length of the day; we merely alter the clock. We gain a later sunset and an extra hour of daylight in the evening at the expense of a later sunrise and an extra hour of darkness in the morning.

Follow the moon as it moves through Taurus and Gemini from the 6th through 10th. On the 6th the moon is above and to the left of the Pleiades star cluster. The red star to the left of the moon is Aldebaran (al DEB a ran), the 'eye' of Taurus. On the 7th the moon is above Aldebaran, and on the 8th it's near the star Eta Geminorum, the 'toe' of Castor, one of the Gemini twins.

Eta Geminorum is also called Propus (PRO pus) which translates to the "front foot." The moon will occult (cover) Propus at 1:00 a.m. on the morning of the 9th. An occultation of a bright star by the moon is fairly unusual and can be easily observed with binoculars.

Play ball!

Kapla leads formidable CC contingent

By Brad Emons
staff writer

If you're going to handicap the 1992 prep baseball season in Observerland, the best bet appears to be Redford Catholic Central.

The Shamrocks, runner-up to 1991 state Class A champion Plymouth Salem at the Wyandotte regional, are loaded this season.

They feature one of the premier players in the state, 6-foot-3 right-handed pitcher Scott Kapla, who struck out 80 batters in 78 innings last year. The Eastern Michigan University signee went 9-3 and posted a 1.61 earned run average, not to mention a .340 average at the plate.

CC, 21-14 a year ago, hopes to challenge Birmingham Brother Rice, the defending Catholic League Central Division champion, along with Warren DeLaSalle.

Second-team All-Area outfielder Dan Gusoff, who is moving to third base, was second last year on the club with 27 RBI.

Bob Kummer, another senior, came on strong at the end of '91 with the bat, hitting .293. The 6-foot-6, right-hander hopes to improve on last year's 6-3 overall record on the mound.

Transfers Brian Hicks and Eric Justice, both via Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian, will give the Shamrocks added pop and defense in their lineup.

"OFFENSIVELY we may compare to '87 (state championship season), but I don't know if we have enough pitching," CC coach John Salter said.

Westland John Glenn, 23-3 last season and Western Lakes Activities Association champs, must replace hard-hitting outfielder Lawrence Scheffer (University of Detroit), an All-State and first-team All-Area pick who clubbed 10 homers to go along with 40 RBI. Also gone is first-team All-Observer infielder Gary Pierce.

Brother Aaron Scheffer, a junior, went 7-1 a year ago for coach Norm Hoenes, now entering his 26th varsity season with the Rockets.

Always tough Salem lost several key performers off last year's state championship team, including pitcher Scott Rodgers (Kent State) and catcher Scott Niemiec (Michigan).

But All-Area shortstop Ed Gundry returns for the Rocks. Neighbor Canton figures to be tough in the Western Division of the WLAA with the return of junior left-hander Mike Stafford, but the Chiefs lost a pair of first-team All-Area picks in pitcher Scott Kennedy and outfielder Jason Riggs.

Scott Kapla
Shamrock ace

Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin (15-9 last year) and Livonia Stevenson will try to make some waves in the WLAA.

CHURCHILL features second-team All-Area pitcher/infielder, Mark Rutherford, while the Franklin is led by second-team All-Area catcher Jeff Shaffer.

Wayne Memorial, 8-13 a year ago, is a question mark in the Wolverine A League despite the return of pitcher Jason Wetmore, who hurled a perfect game against CC in last year's Redford Union Invitational; and second baseman Jeff Tapp, who was all of last season with an injury.

Lutheran Westland, meanwhile, hopes to repeat as champions of the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference, but a major loss to graduation was pitcher Makoto Iwata, a Japanese exchange student who hit .422 and went 7-2 with 90 strikeouts in 62 innings.

Livonia Clarenceville, second a year ago in the Metro Conference behind co-champs Harper Woods Lutheran East and Mount Clemens Lutheran North, lost second-team All-Area pitcher Ken Bazy.

But the Trojans return a strong nucleus, led by pitcher Jeff Moncman, along with senior shortstop/pitcher Tony Malinowski and junior middle infielder Carl Holston.

Clarenceville, East and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook appear to be the early preseason favorites in the Metro.

See capsule summaries.

Jeff Moncman is one of the reasons why Livonia Clarenceville could contend for the Metro Conference baseball crown.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

- Head coach: Herb Osterland, 13th season.
- Last year's overall record: 8-11.
- League affiliation: Western Lakes (Western Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Mike Thomas (pitcher), Mike Brooks (infielder), Bob Coppola (outfielder/DH) and John Foley (outfielder).
- Leading returnees: Dennis Creedon, senior outfielder (.297 batting average); Marcus Sarnovsky, senior shortstop/pitcher (.286, 2-11 won-lost record and 3.71 ERA); Todd Siedlaczek, junior catcher (.250); second-team All-Area Mark Rutherford, junior infielder/pitcher (.337, 2-4 W-L, 1.64 ERA).
- Promising newcomers: Mike Marchetti, junior infielder/pitcher; Jason Carter, junior pitcher/infielder; Jason Renciewicz, junior pitcher/infielder; Sean Scheuler, junior outfielder/pitcher.
- Osterland's '92 outlook: "One of our team strengths is pitching depth led by junior Mark Rutherford (38th innings last year) and the leadership performance of seniors Dennis Creedon and Marcus Sarnovsky. Overall we have team balance.
- "A team weakness will be finding offensive punch to fill the loss of Mike Brooks (.356), Bob Coppola (.367) and John Foley (.393)."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

- Head coach: Jim Karoub, second season.
- Last year's overall record: 15-9.
- League affiliation: Western Lakes (Western Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Dave Roman, first-team All-Area shortstop/pitcher; Mike Geiger, center fielder; Steve McCool, pitcher; Kirk Evans, utility; Dan West, third base; Mike Barry, pitcher.
- Leading returnees: Jessie Gerwatowski, senior pitcher/first baseman (.317, two wins, 1.90 ERA); Jeff Shaffer, second-team All-Area senior catcher (.365); Ron Sferny, senior pitcher, Brian White, senior outfielder.
- Karoub's '91 outlook: "We should be able to move the ball and our catching looks solid.
- "We lack depth in pitching. I think we're more scrappy and have more athletes, but not the pitching we had last year. If we have good pitching, we're optimistic, and we're looking for a successful season."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

- Head coach: Richard DeVries, fourth season.
- Last year's overall record: 6-13.
- League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Rob Sudz (pitcher), John Klabatis (pitcher), Todd Bacie (outfielder), Phil Woods (outfielder); Anthony Batios (shortstop) and Tim Sudz (designated hitter).
- DeVries' '92 outlook: "Our pitching should be improved. Our hitting was adequate last year, but our defense should catch up this year.
- "This team has a lot to learn. If they commit to learning the game, Stevenson High School could have a successful season.
- "I'm optimistic and hoping we can surprise some people."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

- Head coach: Norm Hoenes, 26th season.
- Last year's overall record: 23-3.
- Titles won last year: Western Lakes Conference champs, Lakes Division champs and Willow Run Invitational champs.
- Notable losses to graduation: Lawrence Scheffer, first-team All-Area outfielder/pitcher; Mike White, catcher; Gary Pierce, first-team All-Area infielder.
- Leading returnees: Aaron Wetmore, junior pitcher/utility (.4-2 record); Scott Golinski, senior pitcher/shortstop; Eric Bates, senior first baseman; Greg Carrico, senior outfielder; Mike Martin, senior outfielder; Rich Sydniewski, senior outfielder; Doug Levensen, senior outfielder/third baseman/DH.
- Promising newcomers: Jeremy Treppa, junior catcher; Jeff Tapp, junior second baseman; Marty Colyer, senior outfielder; Jason Overton, sophomore first baseman/third baseman; Chris Moore, junior shortstop; Dave Henry, junior pitcher; Tadd Kempston, junior pitcher.
- Hoenes' '92 outlook: "We will be a question mark until I see us against competition. We have some fine athletes, but can they play?"

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL

- Head coach: John Salter, 12th season.

- Last year's overall record: 21-14.
- Titles won last year: Class A district champs.
- League affiliation: Catholic League (Central Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Joe Vondracek, second-team All-Area infielder (.301); Dennis Pirronello, outfielder/DH (.321).
- Leading returnees: Scott Kapla, first-team All-Area senior pitcher/infielder (.340, 9-3 record, 1.61 ERA); Dan Gusoff, second-team All-Area senior outfielder/third baseman (.294 and 27 RBI); Bob Kummer, senior pitcher/first baseman (.293, 6-3 record); Paul Kuhn, senior shortstop; Aaron Rumberger, senior catcher; Brett Walker, senior outfielder; Matt Roney, senior outfielder; Pat Casey, senior second baseman; George Charney, senior first baseman/DH.
- Promising newcomers: John Raasch, junior catcher; Brian Hicks, junior outfielder/catcher (transfer from Dearborn Heights Fairlane Christian); Eric Justice, junior infielder (transfer from Fairlane); Dave Susasa, junior outfielder/pitcher; Aaron Babicz, junior pitcher/first baseman; Brian Patuk, junior pitcher.
- Salter's '92 outlook: "We have experience from last year with 10 to 11 seniors. Kapla gives us pitching depth, but he can play anywhere. Our guys can play different positions. I think our bench strength is good, along with left-side hitting. We hit .266 as a team last year and scored a lot of runs.
- "Our weakness is that our second pitching spot is undecided. We hope to fill in that second and third spot."

WAYNE MEMORIAL

- Head coach: Jim Chronowski, 22nd season.
- Last year's overall record: 8-13.
- League affiliation: Wolverine A.
- Notable losses to graduation: Brian Burgess (catcher), Joe Limotte (second baseman), Bob Fies (third baseman), Ron Hopkirk (pitcher) and Steve Craig (pitcher).
- Leading returnees: Jason Wetmore, senior pitcher/utility (.4-2 record); Scott Golinski, senior pitcher/shortstop; Eric Bates, senior first baseman; Greg Carrico, senior outfielder; Mike Martin, senior outfielder; Rich Sydniewski, senior outfielder; Doug Levensen, senior outfielder/third baseman/DH.
- Chronowski's '92 outlook: "I expect Wayne more to bounce back with the bat. Pessimism run rampant. We have no bonafide heavy hitter in our lineup. Our team is rife with question marks.

"We have a decent infield defensively with BATES (first base), Tapp (second), Wetmore (third) and Golinski (short)."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

- Head coach: Mark McDonald, third season.
- Last year's overall record: 12-8.
- League affiliation: Metro Conference.
- Notable losses to graduation: second-team All-Area Ken Bazy (pitcher) and Kendrick Harrington (center fielder).
- Leading returnees: Captain Tony Malinowski, senior pitcher/shortstop (.390); captain Carl Holston, junior second baseman/shortstop (hit over .300); Jeff Moncman, junior pitcher; Jeff Grandsak, senior catcher.
- Promising newcomers: Todd Soop, sophomore catcher; Mark Juncal, sophomore infielder/pitcher.
- McDonald's '92 outlook: "Two of our team's strengths are the infield and pitching.
- "We lack arms in the outfield and we don't have a lot of hitting in the bottom of the order."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND

- Head coach: Marty Moro, sixth season.
- Last year's overall record: 12-10.
- Titles won last year: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.
- League affiliation: MIAC (National Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Makoto Iwata, second-team All-Area pitcher (17-2 record, .422 average); Dan Hoot, right fielder (first-team All-MIAC); Pat O'inger, center fielder.
- League returnees: Jason Ziefinski, senior catcher (.397); Eric Schibe, junior third baseman (.383 and 17 RBI); Jim Brasgata, senior pitcher; Casey Cooley, senior pitcher; Steve Lingortol, senior pitcher; Paul Setz, senior center fielder; Tim Cicero, senior second baseman/shortstop; Kevin Nelson, junior first baseman; Kevin Roberts, junior shortstop; Matt Russian, junior infielder.
- Promising newcomers: Jason Raltz, junior outfielder; Ryan Slezak, junior infielder; Steve Faith, sophomore pitcher; Marty Hodge, sophomore catcher.
- Moro's '92 outlook: "Overall depth and experience (10 11/12 winners) is a team strength. We have a lot to work with there.

"The big question is pitching. If that's strong, we'll have a great season. I don't want to put pressure on Brasgata, Cooley and Lingortol, but they have some big shoes to fill (replacing Iwata)."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

- Head coach: Tim Sirischo, ninth season.
- Last year's overall record: 7-17.
- League affiliation: MIAC (American Division).
- Notable losses to graduation: Bill Orlson, first baseman.
- Leading returnees: Doug Hartley, middle infielder/pitcher; Jeff Mitchell, middle infielder/pitcher; Andy Barthel, pitcher/first baseman; Greg Hannevad, senior catcher.
- Promising newcomers: Jason Batios, freshman pitcher/infielder; Dave Hartley, freshman catcher/center fielder.
- Sirischo's '92 outlook: "We have some young talent and we're coming along with our hitting. Right now I think we have all kinds of things working for us. Our main concern is defense, but offensively we're good. It's a very coachable team."

Crusaders eye northern exposure

By C.J. Rieck
staff writer

A mid-season slump has engulfed Madonna University's baseball team, and the Fighting Crusaders are helpless against it.

After all, how can they beat Mother Nature? Madonna returned from its spring trip to Cocoa Beach, Fla., with 12 wins and a tie in 14 games. That made the expected start of the northern season worth relishing.

The Crusaders are still awaiting that start. They were supposed to resume playing with a double-header at Ohio Northern March 20. That game, and every one since — 13 all together — has been washed out, including last Saturday's scheduled home opener against NAIA District 23 foe Aquinas College. The latest casualty was Tuesday at Oakland University.

Madonna coach Mike George is feeling the frustration. He's hoping the new home opener, a double-header at 1 p.m. today against district rival Siena Heights, will get things rolling. The games will be played at Capitol Park in Redford, one of three home sites for Madonna. The others are Plymouth Canton IIS and Concordia College.

"IT'S RIDICULOUS," said George. "It's been three weeks (since we've played). Next year, we'll go to Florida twice."

George has Mike Hocking (a 1-0 record) and Dennis Hamilton (2-0) slated to start against Siena Heights, which is 4-14 overall.

The time spent since the Crusaders' Florida trip has basically been unproductive. Although their games against Aquinas College were canceled Saturday, they did get to practice outside — for the first (and only) time since Florida.

"We had BP (batting practice) in the puddles out back," said George. "We had to do it, just to get outside the gym."

"It's nothing we're not used to. Until we get our own field, we'll have to put up with it."

WHAT GEORGE referred to were decisions opponents make on playing. Madonna has had to schedule many of its early-season games on the road because certain locations — like Livonia's Ford Field — don't allow games until late in the collegiate campaign.

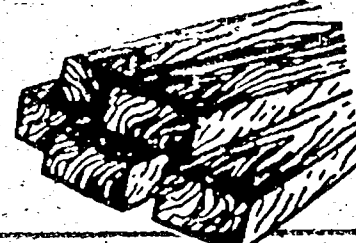

The conflict with the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department on Ford Field's unavailability until May led George to scatter his home games this year, which leaves the Crusaders at the mercy of those who operate the field.

Supron sheds light on Florida swing

Two games were lost to weather and five more to superior teams, but Madonna University softball coach Dave Racer was pleased with the way his team turned around a potentially disastrous spring trip to Fort Myers, Fla., by winning four of its last five.

The Lady Crusaders returned early Monday morning with a 5-5 record and a full-slate of games in the week ahead of them.

A pair of freshmen were most impressive on the trip. Tracy Vachon returned with just a 2-3 mound record, but she performed extremely well in a 2-0 loss to Ivy League champion Brown University and in wins over Union College (N.Y.) and Elmhurst College (Ill.).

Catcher Kim Supron, from Livonia Ladywood HS, was devastating at the plate. She collected 11 hits in 34 at-bats for a .323 average, slugging three doubles and three triples and driving in 10 runs.

Madonna's top hitters on the trip were Jenny Marquette (9-of-21, .428), who played just three innings in the last five games due to a pulled calf muscle, and Megan Armstrong (11-of-31, .354).

ALTHOUGH THE results weren't as good as last season's 7-3 start, Racer knows this team is much better. "I asked the girls what they thought last year's team would have done down here, and they said they would have won one game," he said.

Still, after suffering back-to-back shut-out losses to Brown and Buffalo State — a 10-0, five-inning mercy — on Wednesday (March 25), Racer was concerned. "They were down after that Buffalo State loss," he admitted. "Their confidence level was really low."

But a team meeting that evening and easier competition the next day helped turn things around. "The girls rebounded well," said Racer. "They didn't give up. They came back the next day and regained about 95 percent of their confidence."

Madonna started its comeback with an 8-2 defeat of Union on Vachon's four-hitter last Thursday. Jill Burt socked a two-run homer and had two hits and three runs batted in; Supron added three hits, including two doubles, and Emily Skura (from Livonia Franklin) had two hits.

NEXT CAME Williams College (Mass.) and a 10-2 triumph: Kristen Wasil (Garden City) was the winning pitcher, giving up just two hits but walking six. She struck out seven. Supron knocked in three runs, one on a single in the second and two more on a double in the sixth.

Mandy Armstrong added a two-run double in the second, one of her two hits, and Megan Armstrong and Burt each had two hits.

The final game of the day was against Elmhurst, and Vachon got her second win of the day, 9-4. She allowed six hits and a walk. "She's throwing the ball real well for us," said Racer. Burt had two hits, including a three-run double in the sixth, and Supron blasted a two-run triple in the third.

The Crusaders ran their winning streak to four with an 8-0 shutout of Southern Connecticut last Friday. Wasil evened her record at 2-2 with a strong two-hit, two walk performance. Supron was again electrifying, clubbing two-run triples in the first and second innings.

The streak ended in Madonna's last game of the trip, an 8-3 loss to Buffalo State Friday. Vachon was tagged for seven runs in the first two innings and the team never recovered.

THE CRUSADERS opened their trip on Monday (March 23) with a 5-4 loss to Brown in a game ended by the time limit after six innings. Wasil took the loss, giving up five runs (one earned) on four hits and five walks in five innings.

Madonna faltered for three runs in the fourth to go up 3-1, but Brown scored four times in the fifth to win Marquette. Kay Lee Davis and Mandy Armstrong each had two hits, with Marquette collecting two RBIs.

Later that day, the Crusaders fell 8-5 to Hillsdale. They scored three in the first — two on Davis' double — and tied it at 4-4 with a run in the third, but Hillsdale pulled away with a four-run fifth. Davis had two hits and three RBIs.

On Tuesday (March 24), Madonna won its first game, 13-9 over Dickinson College (Pa.). Holly Jondro was the winning pitcher, with relief help from Wasil. The Crusaders put together an eight-run sixth, with Marquette knocking in three with a double. She finished with four hits and three RBIs. Wasil had three hits and Megan Armstrong two, with three runs scored and three steals.

In the 2-0 loss to Brown, Vachon gave up two runs in the seventh; she allowed five hits and did not walk a batter, striking out five.

Madonna takes pair from Olivet

There was little mercy shown by Madonna University's softball team in Tuesday's home-opening doubleheader against Olivet College at Ford Field.

The Lady Crusaders swept both games, 12-0 and 8-0. The first was stopped after five innings by the 10-run mercy rule; the second ended after five due to rain and darkness.

The sweep lifted Madonna's record to 7-5. For Olivet, it was a dismal start to the season; the Lady Comets are 0-2.

Both Crusader pitchers, Tracy Vachon in game No. 1 and Kristen Wasil in game No. 2, fired one-hitters. Vachon surrendered a single with none out in the second inning in the opener; she finished with four walks and nine strikeouts. Wasil allowed a two-out single in the fifth; she gave up two walks, fanning three.

Kim Supron continued to swing a potent bat, driving in four runs with two hits in the first game. Supron slugged a two-run double in the second inning and a two-run single in the fourth. She added two hits and two runs scored in the second game.

Megan and Mandy Armstrong, who played despite grieving the loss of their grandfather Monday, also performed well in the opener. Megan had two hits, two walks and two stolen bases, and scored four runs; Mandy was 3-of-4, scoring three times and knocking in one. Kay Lee Davis added two hits, one a two-run single in the second.

In the nightcap, Madonna struck for five runs in the first and coasted. Jill Burt had two hits and a pair of runs batted in.

Veteran Glenn squad optimistic

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

It's been four years since Westland John Glenn has won a Western Lakes Activities Association girls softball title.

On that 1988 squad were names like Brenda Coots, Lolita Burgess and Denise Gunke.

But in 1992, veteran coach Linda Jimenez will count a different group of players. Names like Karen Olack, a two-time All-Area selection; Cathy Mruk, a 10 game winner; and Carrie Rachal, a second-team All-Area shortstop.

It's no secret that the Rockets will have one of the area's most talented teams, but Jimenez refuses to get too excited facing the likes of Plymouth Canton and ace pitcher Kelly Holmes, not to mention Lakes Division foe Walled Lake Central.

"I'm looking forward to the season because we have a veteran group of players," Jimenez said. "But Central is going to give us a fight. They have good pitching and a good coach."

Glenn was just 14-10 last season, but Jimenez has a proven track record, posting a 106-46 lifetime mark.

THE ROCKETS return 10 seniors, five of which have played together for the past two seasons.

Dawn Warner
Franklin infielder

Karen Olack
Glenn catcher

"We have five girls that made varsity as sophomores," Jimenez said. "Over the past couple of years they've grown close and do a lot of things together. I think that helps the team because they can rely on one another. They know that when a throw is made, the other person will be there to catch it."

Olack, a catcher, is perhaps the biggest asset for the Rockets because of her strong arm.

"We have designed a lot of pick off plays to utilize her arm strength," Jimenez said. "She's coming off knee surgery, but will be ready to go. Not a lot of people run on her."

Livonia Franklin, which won the WLAA last season, will be hard pressed to find a replacement for graduated pitcher Jenny Mayle, who's now at Henry Ford Community College.

"She's probably the fastest pitcher that I've ever coached," Franklin coach Joe Epstein said. "Jenny is winning games right now for Henry Ford. She'll be a tough one to replace."

Michelle Averill, who saw spot duty last season, will try and fill the void for Franklin.

LOOK FOR Livonia Churchill to make some improvement and noise in the WLAA under first-year coach Dana Hardwidge, who formerly coached at Bentley High.

The Chargers feature sophomore All-Western Division pitcher Karen Jose, who will be joined by sister Kim, an infielder.

Livonia Clarenceville should contend for the Metro Conference championship, despite losing pitcher Rhonda Saunders.

The Trojans were 19-3 last season and finished in second place. They also reached the Class C regional finals.

Coach Wendy Kellehan said anything can happen.

"I thought Lutheran East would be tough and they aren't even going to field a team," Kellehan said. "I have a lot of confidence in these girls and I think we'll do well."

Capsule summaries of area schools

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

• Head coach: Dana Hardwidge, first season.
• Last year's overall record: 7-10.
• League affiliation: Western Lakes (Western Division).

• Notable losses to graduation: Jackie Hebert, catcher; Janine Sproul, first baseman; Mandy Kneising, pitcher.

• Hardwidge's '92 outlook: "Vicki Lucas will give us much needed experience. She also gives us hitting strength. Chrissy Daly gives us speed and defensive leadership. We have some strong players in key positions."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

• Head coach: Joe Epstein, eighth season.
• Last year's overall record: 20-4.
• League affiliation: Western Lakes (Western Division).

• Titles won last year: WLAA and Western Division champions.
• Notable losses to graduation: Jenny Mayle, first-team All-Area pitcher; Tracy Parenti, catcher; Jenny Mascarelo, first base; Jenny Murray, second-team All-Area outfielder.
• Leading returnees: Dawn Warner, All-State and All-Area senior second baseman (.350); Wendy Rynkiewicz, senior center fielder (.301).

• Promising newcomers: Michelle Averill, pitcher; Tammy Schaffer, third baseman; Erin Kelly, catcher; Kety Swindel, outfielder; Jackie Warner, outfielder; Lisa Craven, infielder; Amanda Hosko, second baseman.
• Epstein's '92 outlook: "Our strength is our speed and defense, but we are young and inexperienced. We want to gain enough experience to compete with the power teams in the area."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

• Head coach: Chuck Hebestreit, fourth season.
• Last year's overall record: 7-12.
• League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).

• Promising newcomers: Yen Tran, second baseman; Chelsea Brinton, shortstop; April Switala, second baseman; Michelle Oregon, first baseman; Kim Oszeski, third baseman.
• Hebestreit's '92 outlook: "The team has overall good speed and experienced players at each position. We will only be as good as the pitching we get from Richardson, Phillips and Italia."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

• Head coach: Linda Jimenez, sixth season.
• Last year's overall record: 14-10.
• League affiliation: Western Lakes (Lakes Division).

• Notable losses to graduation: Jennifer Massey, infielder; Bridgette Mussin, outfielder.

• Jimenez's '92 outlook: "With 10 players returning, we have a lot of game experience. We have learned from our mistakes and have matured mentally. We are working hard and having fun."

LIVONIA LADYWOOD

• Head coach: Kim Lininger, sixth season.
• Last year's overall record: 18-15.
• League affiliation: Catholic League (Central Division).

• Notable losses to graduation: Kim Supron, first-team All-Area catcher; Staci Kowalczyk, pitcher; Andrea Crichton, second baseman.

team All-Area outfielder; Jenny Smith, third baseman; Rachelie Campeau, second baseman.
• Leading returnees: All-Starter Allison Brynny, senior first baseman (.430); Michelle Wilson, senior outfielder (.350); Mary Jo Kelly, junior pitcher.

• Lininger's '92 outlook: "Because of Mary Jo Kelly, I'd have to say our pitching is a strength. We can contend for the Central Division title. I have high expectations for our seniors and when tournament time rolls around I think we can play with anyone."

WAYNE MEMORIAL

• Head coach: Vicki England, first season.
• Last year's overall record: 2-11.
• League affiliation: Wolverine A.

• Promising newcomers: Andrea Lewis, senior third baseman; Jodie Garough, junior outfielder.

• England's '92 outlook: "We definitely have a better team than we did last season. It really helps not losing any seniors last year. All the players I have now are experienced and that's good."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

• Head coach: Wendy Kellehan, fourth season.
• Last year's overall record: 19-3.
• League affiliation: Metro Conference.

• Titles won last year: Class A district champions.
• Notable losses to graduation: Rhonda Saunders, first-team All-Area pitcher; Daniela Rose, second baseman; Michelle Torres, catcher.

• Leading returnees: Leardia Hoffman, senior shortstop; Monica Kaprio, senior catcher; Beth Maguire, senior third baseman; Jodi Graham, junior pitcher/first baseman; Melissa Uford, sophomore center fielder.
• Promising newcomers: Anna Morrill, senior catcher.
• Kellehan's '92 outlook: "I think we match last year's record and take the conference title if our pitching hold up. This is the most coachable group of girls I've ever had. They're really working hard."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND

• Head coach: Ron Gentz, fourth season.
• Last year's overall record: 15-6.
• League affiliation: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference (National Division).

• Titles won last year: MIAC (National Division) champs.
• Notable losses to graduation: Christy Pydyn, pitcher (MIAC Most Valuable Player); Sarah Love, infielder; Stephanie Otto, catcher.

• Gentz's '92 outlook: "We should be better this year. It will be hard to replace Pydyn. We don't repeat as division champs, I'll be disappointed."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

• Head coach: Dave Kolander, sixth season.
• Last year's overall record: 14-2.
• League affiliation: MIAC (American Division).

• Titles won last year: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference champs (American Division).

• Notable losses to graduation: Suzy Reddeman, second baseman (MVP, American Division); Jenny Prieskorn, first baseman (All-MIAC American Division); Beth Gowdalski, third baseman (All-MIAC American Division); Dawn Hartley, center fielder; Kathy Hafbauer, catcher.
• Leading returnees: Nancy List, senior shortstop, two-time All-MIAC American Division; Sandy Denzel, senior pitcher (two-time All-MIAC American Division); Nikki List, senior catcher.

• Kolander's '92 outlook: "We have a good pitcher (Denzel) and our defense is not too bad. We're strong up the middle and our catcher (Nikki List) can throw out runners."
• "We lost our offense and we have questions at the other positions, but if our young players come around, we can compete for the conference title."

Stepping down

Hanna resigns at Livonia Franklin

By Brad Emons
Staff writer

Rod Hanna is stepping down after five seasons as boys basketball coach at Livonia Franklin High.

The 44-year-old Hanna informed his players last week at the team's banquet and also submitted his resignation to outgoing Franklin athletic director George Lovich.

"As soon as we know when the (school budget) cuts are coming down, we'll post the job," Lovich said. "I will take care of it (hiring a replacement) before the school year is over."

Hanna was 47-58 in five years with the Patriots, coming off a 11-10 season in 1991-92.

"I told the team that I really enjoyed myself the last five years," Hanna said. "At Franklin I had the opportunity to meet a lot of good people, but it's time to do something else."

Hanna was previously the head coach at Romulus High (where he teaches) and Wayne State University (assistant coach). He accepted the Franklin job in 1987, replacing Joe Franges. (After leaving WSU in 1982, Hanna was out of coaching five years.)

"I'm very proud of what we accomplished," Hanna said. "We brought Franklin back to being a competitive program, even though we were probably the shortest basketball team in the conference (Western Lakes). We were in the (conference) playoffs all five years."

HANNA, who resides in Belleville, has not ruled out getting back into coaching.

"I like to go at the job hard, 110 percent," he said. "But when your battery runs out, you need to take time off."

"I want to enjoy my family, and watch my sons play baseball and basketball. Right now I want to give my family full attention."

"But if I miss coaching, I'll go back. But if I find out I don't miss it, I won't come back."

Hanna said he will not only miss the players, but his fellow coaches and the Franklin support staff.

"Mr. Lovich has been a great athletic director to work for, and I can't thank enough the job (assistants) John Wilson, Rick Lee and Mark Donahue (a former player) did for me," Hanna said. "Those people have been with me all five years and I appreciated their help. I couldn't have done it without them."

Churchill deadlocks

Livonia Churchill opened its 1992 girls soccer season Monday battling to a 1-1 draw with host Northville.

It was also the Western Lakes Activities Association opener for both teams.

Shelly Hamby scored for Churchill with Becky Smedley getting the assist as the two teams were tied at intermission.

Melina Garrett went all the way in goal for the Chargers.

"Normally I don't like ties, but I was happy with this one," Churchill coach Nick O'Shea said. "Being the first game with a new team, I didn't know what to expect. I was happy to see we didn't make major mistakes."

"We had opportunities and so did they."

Northville is 0-1-1.

FRANKLIN 3, N. FARMINGTON 2: Lenay Truchan tallied a pair of goals, including the game-winner on a penalty shot with 16 minutes left, lifting host Livonia Franklin to a season-opening WLA win over North Farmington.

Franklin trailed 2-1 in the second half before tying it on Erin Craig's goal from Keri Mackay.

OFF TO BARCELONA

Erika Benjamin of Westland and Christopher Pyrkosz of Livonia, both members of the Tri-City Seals Disabled Sports Team, will compete in the Paralympic Games, Sept. 1-14 in Barcelona, Spain.

Benjamin, 25, has competed in several sports for almost 10 years.

Overcoming injury, which ended a promising track career, Benjamin has specialized in cycling where she has competed at the regional, national and international level. She was named Cyclist of the Year by the U.S. Cerebral Palsy Athletic Association.

Pyrkosz, 21, is another cyclist who won a gold and two silver medals at the 1991 National Championships. The Paralympic Games will be the first international competition for Pyrkosz, who has been competing for eight years at national and regional meets in cycling, track and field, and swimming.

4TH IN AIR RIFLE

Livonian Katherin Keleman finished fourth in the Women's Air Rifle competition at the 1992 National Junior Olympic Shooting Championships held recently at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Keleman scored 478.1 out of a possible 500 points en route to All-Star team honors.

Jennifer O'Neal of Everett, Pa. won the Air Rifle crown with a total of 480.5.

RTJAA TYROUTS

The Redford Township Junior Athletic Association will be holding baseball tryouts for a Little Caesars travel team (11-12 years).

For more information, call David (535-8996), Greg (565-0816) or Joe (537-2229).

SOCCER CHAMPS

Goalie Kai Kalszewski, a junior at Livonia Churchill High, stopped three penalty kicks, leading the Redford Marauders to the Michigan Indoor Soccer Championship with a 6-5 triumph Sunday over the Carpattia Kickers in a match prior to the Detroit Rockers-Harrisburg Heat game at Detroit's Cobo Arena.

Chris Speen, Kerry Zavagnin and Gary Mexicotte scored in the shootout to clinch the victory.

Rounding out coach Nick O'Shea's Marauders' squad: goalie Olin Jex, Brady Ericson, Mike Presley, Bobby Hayes, Jim Rhoad and Wil Booth. The team's general manager is John Petterson.

The Livonia Youth Soccer Club United, an under-12 girls team in the Little Caesars Premier League, recently finished undefeated during the second session (A Division) at Total Soccer in Southfield.

United, coached by Marly Galindo, outscored its opponents 47-14.

The under-12 team also went unbeaten in the under-14 B Division with a 38-24 scoring margin, tied for first with the Kensington Spirit. United was then beaten in a shootout during the playoffs.

Members of United include: Melissa Backus, Meryl Denton, Andrea Galindo, Mary Gignac, Stacey Nastase, Terri Owens, Becky Peterson, Jenny Schmidt and Sarah Wittrock, all of Livonia; Bethany Bryant and Jackie Rempel, both of Northville; Lydia Raburn, Novi; Felicia Formosa, Sara McDonald and Lynsey Williams, all of Brighton; Tracy Hamann, Milford; and Sarah Pezzat, West Bloomfield.

Phyllis Wittrock is the assistant. Chuck Backus and Kathy Nastase are the team managers.

WESTSIDE GRID CAMP

The annual Westside Instruction Football Camp — grades 5-8 and incoming ninth graders — will be from June 28 through July 2 at Redford Catholic Central High School, 14200 Breakfast Drive, Redford, MI, 48239.

The cost is $85. (Team discounts available.)

Swim triumvirate reigns in Observerland

By C.J. Risak and Dan O'Meara staff writers

THERE CAN BE no argument where the power rests in Observerland swimming circles.

Livonia Stevenson, North Farmington and Redford Catholic Central all had strong finishes at the Class A state finals and — while not yet ready to challenge perennial state powers like Bloomfield Hills Andover and Ann Arbor Pioneer — all three closed the gap.

Stevenson finished sixth at state, with North seventh and CC eighth. Observerland's top swimmer? That honor would have to go to CC's Randy Teeters, whose strong swim in the 100-yard breaststroke earned him a state title. He also placed fourth in the 200 individual medley.

Of the 24 berths (18 individuals, six relays) on the 1992 all-Observerland team, 19 went to swimmers from Stevenson, North and CC.

Here are the selections, made by area coaches.

FIRST TEAM INDIVIDUALS

Jonathan Kershaw, N. Farmington, 200 freestyle: Kershaw, a sophomore, was 11th in the state in the 200 freestyle and had the area's second-best time at 1:44.31 behind Bryan Morrison of Stevenson.

He was the top backstroke and got sixth place in the state. His 53.56 time in the state preliminaries ranked as the area's best.

"Jonathan is very serious about the sport," North coach Susie Gendron said. "Jon is a real gifted athlete and works real hard at it. He will be a dominating force on our team for a couple more years."

Gordy Gatewood, Stevenson, 200 individual medley: A junior who was described by his coach, Doug Buckler, as a hard worker, Gatewood swam four events at state meet. He scored in all four.

Gatewood's best was the 200 IM, he was fifth in 1:56.80. He finished fifth in the 100 butterfly (53.19) and was part of two relay teams that placed in the top six.

"Gordy is the best IMer that I have coached," said Buckler. "I can't wait until next year. I think Gordy can win the IM at state."

Alex Goecke, Stevenson, 50 freestyle: Another junior who, with Gatewood, makes Stevenson's future look bright. Goecke not only showed considerable talent in the 50 free but was also adept at the 100 breast and 200 IM.

But the most surprising thing regarding Goecke, a two-time, all-area swimmer, is that he trains for swimming only during the school season — 3 1/2 months a year.

His best showing at state meet was a sixth in the 100 breast (59.18). He just missed the cut in the 50 free, placing 13th in 22.29. Goecke holds the Western Lakes Activities Association record for the 100 breast (1:00.03).

"Alex is one good reason Stevenson swimming has done so well," said Buckler.

Mike Drelles, N. Farmington, 100 butterfly: Drelles, a senior earning another first-team, all-area berth, had the area's best butterfly time of 51.78, which he swam in the Class A prelims. He tied for second in the finals at 52.37.

Drelles also excelled in the backstroke and was 10th in the state. He swam 54.12 in the state prelims to place third on the list of Observerland bests.

"He's a good leader and hard trainer," Gendron said. "He improved all year long. He's been a dominant part of our team for four years. He had a superb year and will be missed a lot."

Chris Knoche, N. Farmington, 100 freestyle: Knoche, a senior and repeat member of the all-area first team swim an Observerland best of 46.89 in the 100 freestyle during the state prelims. He went 47.44 in the finals and finished fifth.

He also was one of the area's best in the 200 freestyle, with a 1:44.31 time, which he swam in the Class A prelims. He was 12th in the finals at 1:46.09.

"Chris was the most valuable swimmer on our team for three years," Gendron said. "He's a very gifted swimmer and one of the finest athletes I've ever worked with" because he puts his nose to the grindstone and always gets good results. Every time Chris got in the water he swam faster."

Brandon Richardson, Farmington, diving: Richardson, a senior, might be considered a surprise after his strong performance in state competition. He was fifth at the WLLA meet with 376.25 points, but he did much better at state, placing ninth with 362.55 points for 11 dives.

Bryan Morrison, Stevenson, 500 freestyle: Like teammates Goecke and Gatewood, Morrison — a senior — showed that he was a winner.

At state meet, he finished in the top seven in all four of his events. He was fifth in the 500 free in 4:37.95, a six-second drop off his seed time, and was seventh in the 200 free in 1:42.66. His two relays both placed in the top six. Morrison also collected WLLA titles in the 200 and 500 free, setting a league record in the latter (4:43.96).

He is the hardest worker we had this year," said Buckler. "I think a lot of Bryan."

James Leslie, Catholic Central, 100 backstroke: Leslie showed at the state meet that, even though he's just a sophomore, he knew how to race. In the consolation final in the 100 back, he had the worst start of the six swimmers, yet he recovered to win the heat and finish seventh (54.03).

Leslie also placed 10th at state in the 200 IM (1:58.3) and was part of CC's 200 medley relay, which tied for fifth, and the 400 free relay, which placed 10th.

"He has a big career ahead of him," predicted Shamrock coach Pete Leonhardt. "He's a very well-rounded, versatile swimmer."

Randy Teeters, Catholic Central, 100 breaststroke: Teeters came into the state meet with the best seed time in the 100 breast, but Andover's Mark D'Errico posted the best qualifying time — 58.03 to Teeters' 58.35.

Both bettered those marks in the final, but Teeters overtook D'Errico over the last 50 yards and won in 57.63. D'Errico was second in 57.75.

According to his coach, Teeters, a senior, began his state meet quest a year before. "As a junior, he didn't even score (at state)," Leonhardt said. "It's a goal he's had for a year. He trained real hard for 12 months."

Teeters was fourth in the 200 IM at state in 1:54.38 and was part of CC's 200 medley and 200 freestyle (eighth) relays. At the Catholic League meet, he won the 100 back (54.9).

"He's got a long way to go," added Leonhardt. "He hasn't yet reached his potential."

FIRST TEAM RELAYS

North Farmington, 200 medley: Adam Kammer, Drelles, Kershaw, and Knoche achieved an automatic All-American time of 4:36.28 with that second-place swim in the Class A finals. The time also is a school record and the best in the area.

"It was one of the most exciting races at the state meet," Gendron said. "They just swam out of their minds. I was a little disappointed we didn't win it, but Andover changed its personnel and beat us. It will be a hard one to touch time-wise."

Stevenson, 200 freestyle: Jeff Buckler (freshman), Gordy Gatewood, Greg Priede (senior) and Bryan Morrison combined to finish sixth at state in 1:28.08, knocking a second off their previous best.

Stevenson's Gatewood, Priede, Morrison and Alex Goecke also won the 200 free relay at the WLLA meet, setting a new league standard of 1:29.09.

Stevenson, 400 freestyle: Aaron Rieder (senior), Gatewood, Alex Goecke and Morrison proved awfully fast at the state final. They finished fourth in 3:41.26 — 5.65 seconds faster than the Spartans' seed time. The Spartan team of Rieder, Gatewood, Morrison and Buckler also busted the WLLA league record, winning in 3:17.04.

AT-LARGE INDIVIDUALS

Mike Orris, Plymouth Canton, 200 freestyle: It might be difficult for Orris to swim in his brother's shadow, former Salem standout Ron Orris, now a freshman at Michigan State. But Mike hasn't struggled much.

Just a sophomore, he qualified for the state meet in seven events but didn't score in his individual events. Orris was 14th in the 500 free (4:54.39) and 19th in the 200 free (1:46.59). He was second at the WLLA meet in the 200 free and fourth in the 500 free, and during the season established six varsity records.

Aaron Rieder, Stevenson, 200 individual medley: A senior and team captain, Rieder finished 10th in the state in the 200 IM (1:58.50) and was part of two scoring relays for the Spartans.

An integral part of Stevenson's team, Rieder finished third in the 200 IM at the WLLA meet (2:02.67) and set four pool records in various events throughout the area.

John Brogan, Catholic Central, 50 freestyle: Although he didn't score in either the 50 or 100 free at state, Brogan — a senior co-captain — did record season-best times of 22.52 and 49.84. And, according to Leonhardt, CC "would not have had the year we had without him."

Steve Sahnahy, Plymouth Salem, diving: A senior tri-captain, Sahnahy proved to be an example in competitiveness for his teammates. He finished second at the WLLA Relays, then won the league championship with 435.35 points, his best 11-dive total.

A regional and MISCA qualifier, Sahnahy posted a season-best score of 271.50 points for six dives.

Steve Reinke, Catholic Central, 100 butterfly: Reinke's future appears bright. He was one of two sophomores to reach the championship heat in the 100 butterfly at state.

Reinke finished fifth in 52.79. He swam his personal best in the preliminaries, going 52.68. "I think he has the potential to be a state champ," said Leonhardt.

Pat Lancaster, Canton, 100 freestyle: Although limited in his swimming background, Lancaster still displayed strong racing ability in placing second in the 100 free at the WLLA meet (50.16) and fifth in the 200 free (1:50.26).

A senior Lancaster posted a season best of 45.65 in the 100 free at state meet. He swam 22.74 at state in the 50 free.

Karl Kozicki, N. Farmington, 500 freestyle: Kozicki, a sophomore, had the second-best 500 freestyle time in the area at 4:41.93 which he swam at the state meet. That is a school record as well as his time in the IM (1:57.42), which ranks him third in Observerland.

"He was a welcome addition to our team," said Gendron of the Catholic Central transfer. "Karl is very dedicated. He puts in more yards than anyone on the team. He's only a sophomore, so I think he's going to have two more phenomenal years at North."

Ryan Freeborn, Stevenson, 100 backstroke: A junior, Freeborn is enjoying his second year on the all-Observerland swim team in the 100 back. He failed to score at state but went a season-best 55.33. At the WLLA meet, Freeborn was second in the 100 back (56.11) and fourth in the 200 IM (2:03.26).

He also swam the 200 IM at state in 2:03.82.

Randy Cobb, Livonia Franklin, 100 breaststroke: Cobb, a freshman, did a lot of scoring for Franklin at the WLLA meet, placing third in the 100 breast (1:03.27) and fifth in the 200 IM (2:06.49). He had the area's third-best time in the breaststroke behind Teeters and Goecke at 1:01.91.

AT-LARGE RELAYS

Catholic Central, 200 medley: James Leslie, Randy Teeters, Steve Reinke and John Brogan teamed to finish tied for fifth at state in 1:37.35, a new varsity record. The Shamrocks also finished first in the medley relay at the MISCA meet.

Catholic Central, 200 freestyle: Teeters, Brogan, Paul Magoullick (freshman) and Devon Fekete (senior) combined to place eighth at state in a season-best 1:28.19. They also were first at the MISCA meet.

North Farmington, 400 freestyle: Kershaw, Drelles, Kozicki and Knoche set a school record with a time of 3:13.74 in the preliminaries of the state meet. The Raiders were sixth in the finals.

"Their timing and taper were perfect," Gendron said. "They came together at the right time. All swam lifetime bests to swim that well. Each one dropped 2-3 seconds in his split time and got us into the top six."

U-M prof's figures spell trouble for Bush

If George Bush wins the popular vote in this fall's presidential election, it will only be by a nose, according to a University of Michigan professor of political science.

Based on projected economic conditions for 1992, prevailing partisan identifications in the electorate and other relatively "long-term" factors, a statistical model of presidential election outcomes developed by Gregory B. Markus forecasts a 50.07 percent share of the major party presidential vote for Bush in November — a result that makes the outcome "too close to call" for Markus.

Past research demonstrates that it is possible to forecast presidential elections with a high degree of accuracy without any specific knowledge about the candidates themselves, using information about the election-year state of the economy and partisan alignments among voters, according to Markus, who is also a research scientist in the U-M's Center of Political Studies.

"A PREDICTION of 'too close to call' like this one has to be disturbing to a party that until a few months ago thought its incumbent president would win in a walk," Markus said.

"The poor prospects for growth in real disposable income are principally responsible for the 1992 election forecast, but a small rebound in Democratic identifications in the post-Reagan years also matters."

Bush's re-election would be narrowly favored if the annual rate of growth in real per capita disposable income were one percent for 1992, while an annual growth rate of two percent would yield a more comfortable predicted vote share of 54 percent for the incumbent president.

However, the latest economic forecast, provided to Markus by U-M economist Saul Hymans, and based on the U-M-based Michigan Quarterly Econometric Model of the U.S. Economy, is for an increase of only 0.5 percent to 0.6 percent in real per capita disposable income in 1992. Moreover, approximately half of that increase is attributable to president Bush's recent change in federal tax withholding procedures, and it is arguable whether the resulting increase in take-home pay should be regarded as "disposable income," since a worker's ultimate tax burden for 1992 remains unchanged.

To test the accuracy of his model, Markus applied it retroactively to every presidential election since 1956. He found it to be accurate in predicting the popular vote with an average error of less than three percentage points. The model's errors ranged from a low of 0.7 percent in 1960, when Richard Nixon ran against John Kennedy, to a high of 5.2 percent in 1972, when George

Markus points out the model's error margin compares favorably with that of a typical election-eve poll of a national sample of voters.

"DOMESTIC ISSUES other than the economy, the personal qualities of the candidates, campaign ads and day-to-day campaign-related events are all important factors in determining how individuals vote. But those factors tend to balance each other out in the aggregate, leaving election outcomes to be largely determined by longer term trends in the economy and in the partisan composition of the electorate," Markus notes.

It would be a mistake to conclude from this that campaigns are irrelevant, Markus said. Rather, he notes, campaigns construct the linkages between economics and politics for voters and help citizens structure their personal political agendas, even if the campaigns typically don't convert many voters.

MHS shop holds sale

The Michigan Humane Society Paw Pourri Gift Shop, Royal Oak, seeks material for its "white elephant" sale April 8-11 with collectibles, books, antiques, furniture and appliances among the used items for sale.

Sale proceeds are set aside to buy a van for the MHS Animal Rescue Division.

Those interested in donating can bring clean, unbroken items to the gift shop, 817 N. Main, or any of the three metro area MHS shelters. Shelters include MHS Westland, 37255 Marquette, MHS North, 3600 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills and MHS Central, 7401 Chrysler Drive, Detroit.

The MHS rescue division responds to more than 6,000 calls annually and operates 365 days a year. Rescued animals are brought to MHS shelters.

'Man of La Mancha' Show draws standing ovations

Performances of the Birmingham Theatre production of "Man of La Mancha" continue through April 26. For ticket information, call the box office at 644-3533.

From the opening notes of "I, Don Quixote" to the finale reprise of "The Impossible Dream," the current production of "Man of La Mancha" may well be the most exciting, flawlessly-executed show ever to play at the Birmingham Theatre.

Throughout the previews, audiences were leaping to their feet to award standing ovations. The Birmingham Theatre has had many excellent individual performers, and overall fine productions, but neither I nor the theater staff can remember any other show there eliciting full-scale standing ovations.

This "Man of La Mancha" is Broadway-caliber right down to the slightest detail; there is not the least tell-tale touch of road company or regional production in the excellent cast, orchestra, set, costumes, or lighting.

IN THE title role, Ron Holgate is dazzling, his operatic-trained baritone giving the lush songs the rich fullness they were surely meant to have, but seldom did in the hands of more prominent stars who have played the part.

Holgate seems the consummate actor for the role as well. Tall and lanky next to his short and stocky sidekick Sancho Panza (Stan Rubin), for a start, Holgate looks like the popular conception of the would-be knight-errant.

More importantly, he masterfully captures the warmth, the pathos, and, with very expressive eyes, the increasing madness of the old man.

The framework of the musical is set in a Seville dungeon in the late 1500s where the author Miguel De Cervantes (Holgate) awaits a summons from the Inquisition. As his fellow prisoners seize at his meager possessions, Cervantes must convince them not to destroy the manuscript of his work-in-progress.

He elicits their help in acting out his story of Don Quixote, a foolish old man-deemed mad for retaining his idealism despite all odds, for his unquenchable belief in virtue and goodness, for thinking one man can make a difference in a chaotic world.

DON QUIXOTE journeys about the countryside, tilting at windmills he perceives as monstrous enemies and consistently, losing the battles. At an inn, he defends the honor of his "fair lady." Calling her "Dulcinea," he alone can see a purity of spirit in the dirty, slutty serving girl Aldonza (Beth McVey).

McVey is wonderfully earthy, and her rich powerful voice soars in "It's all the Same," "What Does He Want of Me," "Knight of the Woeful Countenance," and the reprise of "Dulcinea."

Livonia Symphony presents cabaret

By Linda Ann Chomlin special writer

If you're in the mood for the music of Duke Ellington, George Gershwin and Cole Porter come to the cabaret for an evening of pizza, popcorn, and fun with the Livonia Symphony Orchestra.

Conductor Francesco DiBlasi and the orchestra present their 19th annual cabaret concert, "Music from the Fabulous Forties and Fifties," a fundraiser on behalf of the LSO at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 11 in the Madonna University Activities Center, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Tickets are $12, tables of eight, $96, tables of 10, $120. Tickets available by sending a check and self-addressed stamped envelope to the Livonia Symphony Society, Ida Krandle, 28672 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills 48334. Tickets also available when doors open at 7 p.m.

"IT'S GOING to be a real knockout program with all the Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey arrangements made up for symphony orchestra," DiBlasi said.

Featured soloists for the fun-filled evening are soprano, Rachel Inselman who placed second in the LSO's 1991 Young Artists Competition, and baritone, "Fat" Bob Taylor who serves as master of ceremonies again this year.

Guest conductors are Madonna University president Sister Mary Francilene and Ernie Jones.

Selections on the evening's program include "Strike Up the Band," "Moonlight Serenade," "In the Mood," "Some Enchanted Evening," "George Gershwin in Concert," "On Stage with Cole Porter," a Duke Ellington medley, and selections from "My Fair Lady," by Frederic Loewe.

"Ernie will conduct 'Procession of the Sardar,' and Sister Francilene, 'El Relicario.' 'In the Mood' will feature dancers from the Michigan Ballet Theatre," DiBlasi said.

The name of a guest conductor will be chosen during one of several drawings. An oil painting by Livonia artist, Jean Poulet along with an assortment of other prizes including wine baskets will also be given away.

"The winner as always will conduct 'Stars and Stripes,'" DiBlasi said.

THE FUND-RAISING evening is meant for friends and fun. Taylor, aka the "singing plumber" is a former disc jockey for radio station WJR in Detroit.

This is Bob's ninth year with us, and his 24th season, singing the national anthem at the opening game of the Detroit Tigers's baseball season," DiBlasi said.

Bob and Rachel Inselman will sing selection from "My Fair Lady," together.

Inselman is featured soloist for the "Una voce poco Fa" from the "Barber of Seville," and "Adeles Song" from "Dei Fleidermaus."

"It's one of our biggest fund raisers," publicity and promotion chairperson, Lee Alankas said. Alankas serves on the Livonia Symphony Society board of directors.

Pizza, snacks, desserts, beverages and cash bar will be available during the spring cabaret. For more information, call 851-4524.

Rachel Inselman is a featured soloist in the Livonia Symphony's cabaret concert.

"Fat" Bob Taylor is a featured soloist and master of ceremonies at the LSO's upcoming concert.

Andree Chippi of Westland, portrays Macon Hill in Attic Theatre's presentation of "Abundance" playing for an extended run through April 4 at the historic Strand Theatre in Pontiac.

Chippi appeared in the Attic's "The Misanthrope" as Cellmene. In Abundance, she plays a mail-order bride who takes a rollercoaster ride through life in the Wyoming territory. Tom Suda of Lathrup Village portrays Professor Elmore Cromer.

The production features an unusual set design with a rolling thrust stage of rustic wood.

Strand Theatre is at 12 N. Saginaw, Pontiac. For tickets, call 875-8284 or TicketMaster, 645-6666.

Lori Grynielwicz of Detroit and Jim Roberts of Livonia will perform with the Wisla Polish Song and Dance Ensemble at the International Dance Festival April 5 in Southfield.

Festival showcases ethnic dance groups

Experience the sights, sounds and taste of many cultures at the International Dance Festival, 4-7:30 p.m. Sunday, April 5, at the Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Eyergreen Road.

Sponsored by the City of Southfield Community Relations Department to benefit the International Institute of Metropolitan Detroit, the festival will showcase the area's best ethnic performing groups.

Tickets are $13.50 in advance ($15 at the door) and available at the Southfield City Hall main reception desk, and parks and recreation main desk. For information, call 354-4654 or 871-8600.

This year's program highlight is "Echoes of Ukraine." The group combines Ukrainian dances with music and song. They are considered one of the nation's best Ukrainian folk dance groups and have performed throughout the United States and Canada.

Also appearing are the Wisla Polish Folk Ensemble, Tim O'Hare's School of Irish Step Dancing, Hora-Aviv Israeli Folk Dance Troupe, Sarisan Slovak Folk Ensemble, The Glendi Dancers (Greek), Troupe Ta'amullat Near East Folkloric Dancers, Audinus Lithuanian Dance Group, Art of Motion Dance (African) and the Vidyajali East Indian Dancers.

Wisla Polish Folk Ensemble highlights Polish culture through song and dance. Named for the prominent river in the Polish countryside, the group was founded in 1972. Its director, Martin Peck, is the first Michiganian to receive a degree in Polish ethnology from the Marie Sklodowska-Curie University in Poland.

The Hora-Aviv ("Dance of Spring") has performed throughout the region since 1972 and features the diversity of Israeli's multi-ethnic tradition, including Eastern European "Chassidic" dance forms, and the Yemenite, dance of the Jews who immigrated to Israel.

The ethnic buffet served 4-6 p.m. will feature Polish, Italian, Greek, Japanese, Middle Eastern, Israeli and French entrees and desserts by area restaurants with gourmet coffees and fine wines.

Spring break can attract more than fun

Exercising common sense can keep date rape at bay

By Julie Brown
staff writer

High school students traveling south to sunnier climes during spring break aren't necessarily giving much thought to their personal safety. Fun's first and foremost in their minds.

Date rape can occur among students on vacation. Staffers and volunteers at Common Ground received three calls last spring from Oakland County high school students who were raped during spring break.

"It happens," said Tony Rothschild, executive director of the Royal Oak-based crisis agency. "It becomes a real meat market down there."

Often, such trips are the first time away from home for students, he said. Teens tend to become more vulnerable in certain situations and in some cases lack the maturity needed to deal with those situations.

"Date rape is extremely common," said Carol Klun, sexual assault program supervisor for First Step, a Wayne County agency offering assistance to survivors of sexual assault and domestic violence. One in three women and one in seven men will be sexually assaulted at some time in life, she said.

"THIS IS something that can happen anywhere to anyone at any time," Klun said. Most sexual assaults occur in the 14-21 age range, although others, including infants and the elderly, are also at risk.

Spring break isn't necessarily the time when most date rapes occur, she said. Instead, acquaintance rape is an ongoing, year-round problem. Assaults can occur at a homecoming party or at another activity close to home.

One key is education, not only in terms of self-protection, but also Problems aren't on itinerary

Jeremy Courval, Jacqueline Fonti and Carolyn Nagel are excited about Easter vacation. In their senior year at Thurston High School in Redford, their sights are set on warm weather and sunny beaches.

Like thousands of other high school students, they're headed south for a week of fun, their last fling before high school comes to an end in June. And like thousands of others students, this will be their first trip without parents or chaperones.

Florida isn't the destination of choice for the threesome. By word of mouth, they have heard about problems and police crackdowns in such spring break Meccas as Daytona Beach. Jeremy and Carolyn are headed for South Padre Island, Texas. Jacqueline has opted for Myrtle Beach, S.C., because "I've heard Florida is violent."

Their concerns are simple - having a good time and keeping out of trouble. Their parents, they admit, aren't eager to see their children go.

"I've waited for this since ninth grade," Jacqueline said. "I've been bringing this up for three years and my parents would say, 'Well talk about it.' My mom is worried because I'm going with two girls, but now we have a guy going."

"MY PARENTS were prepared learning what the crime is and the continuum of sexual assault. "Without consent, it is rape," Klun said.

In some cases, young people are taught to protect themselves from assaults by strangers, but don't learn how to deal with assault by an acquaintance, "which is the most likely rape to happen," she said.

Common Ground's Rothschild knows how important such educational efforts are. He and his wife have an 18-year-old daughter who went to Mexico on a trip last year.

"Somehow, professional experience doesn't work at home," said Rothschild, who earned a master's degree in social work from the University of Michigan. "We expressed our concern about this issue. We talked it over with her."

The couple's daughter had a great time on her trip, and understood the need to avoid certain situations to reduce the risk of assault.

ing such trips, said Rothschild, 44, of Lake Orion. That's true for parents of daughters and sons.

Establishing housing arrangements in advance is important, he said, as is being aware of resources available to assault survivors in the vacation community. Staying with the group reduces the risk of sexual assault. "Stick with your friends," he said. "Don't go off with somebody you don't know."

Young women need to trust their instincts, and watch their drug and alcohol consumption, said Klun, who is in her 30s. Substance abuse doesn't provide an excuse for a sexual assault to occur, but it's best to avoid drinking or abusing drugs.

Talking to other students through the grapevine is helpful, as is avoiding isolated situations, she said. Going dutch, rather than expecting a young man to pick up the tab, is a good idea.

PARENTS DO need to talk to teens about the risks involved in tak-

Know your rights

This information on rape was compiled by Katy Wood, victim assistance coordinator at Common Ground in Royal Oak.

Only rapists can put an end to rape. However, there are some practical steps you can take to help protect yourself from date rape:

- Know your rights in any social situation. You have the right to be concerned about yourself and not worry about taking care of others.

- You have the right to say "no."

- Make it clear, before you get into a sexual situation, what your limits are.

- Stay away from isolated areas such as parks or deserted beaches. Suggest meeting in a public place.

- Beware of alcohol or other drugs. It is much harder for you to be in control of the situation if you're under the influence of these substances.

- Have your own transportation.

If you are raped, the decision to go to the hospital, the police or a rape crisis center is your choice. Remember, however, that the longer you wait for medical care and police investigation the harder it will be to prove your assault.

- If you choose to go to the hospital, do not shower, douche, or change your clothes. At the hospital, doctors will treat you for any injuries that you may have. They will also treat you for and inform you about the possibilities of pregnancy, AIDS and STDs (sexually transmitted diseases). Most hospitals have rape kits designed to collect information for prosecution. You are not obligated to prosecute, but this information is invaluable if you decide to do so.

- Filing a report with the police is not a contract to prosecute. By doing this, the police can begin their investigation.

- At both at the hospital and with the police, you will be asked to give a full report of what happened. It is vital that you try to remember as much as possible about the incident. Tell the truth. Don't analyze how your responses will "help" or "hurt" you in court.

- If you are raped while on spring break, criminal proceedings will take place in the state in which the crime was committed. This is often a deterrent to prosecute

Plymouth and Mina O'Laughlin of Livonia after his appearance at the final 1991-92 Livonia Town Hall program.

Appraiser has good news, bad news about heirlooms

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Some days, Ernest DuMouchelle has to be the bearer of bad news.

DuMouchelle, an owner of DuMouchelle Art Galleries in Detroit, on occasion has to tell someone that a family heirloom isn't really worth all that much beyond its sentimental value.

"I have told many people some sad news about the items they have. Sometimes, you go into a place and you know there can't be much there," DuMouchelle told a Livonia Town Hall audience Wednesday, March 18. A modest home can sometimes hold hidden treasure.

DuMouchelle visited a small home in a rather rough East Lansing neighborhood to do an appraisal. The home had several Frederic Remington paintings and many other extremely valuable items.

"Tables were three deep, paintings were three and four deep." A Tiffany clock in the home was probably worth more than the house itself, DuMouchelle said.

THE GALLERY was opened in Detroit in the late 1920s by DuMouchelle's father. It started as a small auction house and has grown through the years.

"Over the years, we've had some thrilling moments, some not so thrilling moments," DuMouchelle told an audience of more than 200 at Burton Manor in Livonia. Going into homes, businesses and other establishments has often been enjoyable.

DuMouchelle remembers getting a call from Henry Ford II's secretary regarding appraisal of two mantel clocks. DuMouchelle took the clocks apart to look for maker's marks and other identifying signs. He had pieces strewn across the floor.

"I finally got both of them back together." Soon after that, DuMouchelle saw those clocks under guard on exhibit at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Ford had donated them to the DIA.

"Over the years, we've handled many different estates." The David Whitney estate was among the largest, DuMouchelle said.

That Grosse Pointe home included paintings, statuary and other items from around the world. A bronze incense burner was so tall that the DuMouchelles had difficulty fitting it in their building.

MANY OF THE things they've sold have been sold by DuMouchelle representatives more than once through the years. Some things are so rare that they don't come on the market often.

"There are buys around. Prices are a real strange thing."

Artists come into and go out of vogue, he said. Portrait artists popular in the 1920s became less so as time passed.

Writer is cultured and intelligent

Dear Lorene Green,
Your articles in the newspaper look really interesting. I'm writing to you today to have you analyze my handwriting.
I'm left-handed and 20 years old.

really interesting. I'm writing to you today to have you analyze my handwriting. I'm left-handed and Studying the handwriting for today, I see a young woman who has a strong visual sense, manual dexterity and possibly art aptitude. Other signs point to culture and intelligence.

The good line spacing here reflects one who is organized in her daily routine. She likes a structured lifestyle and functions best with systems and order.

Outwardly, our writer presents a picture of poise and control. She is cautious and objective, especially where others are concerned. Inwardly, the picture may not be as calm.

Emotions are often controlled. Before making a decision she will stand back and consider if it is prudent for her. Decision making may not always come easy for her, however.

In interpersonal relationships, there is a tendency to be a tad cautious. Her kind heart empathizes with others. She wants friends and fun. At times, however, she may feel divided between reaching out to others and holding back.

A vivid imagination can be seen in her wide upper loops. She is receptive to new ideas and concepts and probably entertains many of her own.

Ambivalent feelings often reside within our writer's makeup. One of the strongest conflicts in her is need for independence. She wants to break away from her past yet remains tied emotionally to the mother figure for nurturing.

It seems quite possible she wanted to be independent early in life and was a tad rebellious in her quest for freedom. She dislikes authority. And while she may still be rebelling against it, she longs for reassurance and emotional support from those who mean most to her.

Her willpower is motivated toward achievement. However, sometimes, it is difficult for her to stay the course. Seemingly, she does not always stick with a goal, task or job.

Personal criticism can be devastating to our writer. She tends to personalize much of what she hears, often expecting it when none is intended. A fear of disapproval runs deep. This often results when one perceives she was the recipient of too much criticism in the formative years.

Our writer's feelings of good self-esteem also seem to fluctuate. She is not always the confident young woman she outwardly projects. Others may be surprised by this.

I think it is important for writer to know that ambivalent feelings are not uncommon, especially in one so young. We all have them to some degree. What really matters is that we try to resolve them.

It is counterproductive to let past experiences intrude on present and future happiness. So it might be helpful if she could sit down with a trusted advisor and try to work through them and allow the beautiful person inside to burst out like a spring blossom.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are helpful. And objective feedback is always welcome.

Itineraries don't include problems for it because I have an older brother," Carolyn said. "The places we're going are clean places, if it were like Daytona, I think my folks would worry about it." Like Jacqueline, her group includes a male acquaintance.

"It's getting worse and worse there (Florida)," Jeremy added. "When I was a sophomore, I had a friend who went and said not to go." Jeremy's group is all guys - eight from Thurston and four or so friends from Northville.

None of them have given deep thought to the possibility of unwanted sexual advances although Jacqueline said her group plans to use the buddy system.

"Everybody is going to stay in groups," she said, "and when we go, no one can bring guys back to the room. And we won't go for long walks on the beach with a guy alone."

Jeremy likes the idea of buddy system. He's been working on going south for Easter vacation for a year. He said his parents really had no choice about his going. After all, "they let my sister go two years ago, so they lose. I'm going."

While Jacqueline and Carolyn ponder the possibilities of mirth and merriment that might get out of control, Jeremy is confident that he will be neither a victim or a victimizer.

"I CAN keep control of myself, I can control my urges," he said.

Jeremy is more concerned that too hearty of partying may land him in jail. Since he's 17, someone else would have to get him out of the pokie.

"I had a friend who went to Daytona as a senior and got locked up," he said. "Luckily, his sister lived there, so she could get him out. But he had to stay with her for the rest of the time."

Each said their parents have helped finance their trips, support that will be acknowledged and will be paid back.

"We'll drop them a few postcards and say thanks for the money," Carolyn said.

Common sense helps in avoiding date rape

The word "respect" comes to mind in assessing such situations, said Klun, who earned a bachelor's degree in human ecology and business from the University of Minnesota. That includes self-respect and respect for what others say.

In some cases, the best clue to how a young man will behave is the way in which he listens to and respects a young woman's opinions in non-dating situations, she said.

sault and abuse occur in affluent communities, and across all lines of race, age and socioeconomic status.

Men too are victims of sexual assault.

"Rape is really a societal issue and not a women's problem," Klun said. Men are less likely than women to be sexually assaulted, although it's likely a significant other of theirs will be assaulted at some time.

DuMouchelle tells priceless tales

"On Monday, all hell broke loose. That's when silver started to tumble." Such situations can force wonderful pieces out into the market, providing opportunities for collectors and museums, DuMouchelle said.

"Sometimes, collectors collect some strange items. I never knew that we could get a crowd by having a button auction, but we did."

Collectors sometimes change direction due to financial constraints. One former collector of paperweights switched to buttons as prices of paperweights rose, DuMouchelle said.

ONE OF THE Fishers had a paperweight collection that brought prices ranging from $50 to some $10,000 at an auction. DuMouchelle also handled the sale of the gun collection of the University of Michigan.

"They didn't think it was befitting of the university to keep all these guns in their collection."

He recommends that collectors have appraisals done every so often. During his Town Hall presentation, DuMouchelle appraised a number of items, donating his services.

Toys, including some that are relatively new, are hot in the collectible market, DuMouchelle said. Many collectors are interested in metal toys, such as soldiers, and will pay top dollar.

Even costume jewelry can bring good prices, he said. Watches, however, don't generally do all that well, due to the rapid advances in technology that make modern watches more valuable.

DuMouchelle's audience, enjoyed his presentation.

"We had a very attentive audience," said Lois Gibbons, Livonia Town Hall president. Many Town Hall participants are interested in antiques, so DuMouchelle's presentation was a perfect way to end the season.

Gibbons is interested in antiques, and her children are beginning to get interested as well. Holding on to a piece of the past is what motivates many antique collectors, said Gibbons, a Livonia resident.

"I think that's what we're trying to do, hang on to our history a little bit."

Gibbons knows that homes can sometimes hold hidden treasure. An item that's been around for many years can turn out to be valuable. She had an appraisal done last summer by appraisers from Plymouth and got such good news.

"So I was very thrilled."

THE WAYS IN which young people are socialized can contribute to the problem, she has found.

In some cases, women are raised to be passive and to be taken care of, Klun said. Some young men are raised to be sexually aggressive and to believe that "no" means "yes."

Often, young people of both genders aren't taught communication skills or creative problem-solving. In some cases, students believe that physical force or emotional coercion should be used.

"It is a societal attitude change that needs to take place." Such educational efforts should start at an early age, she said, and include information on sexuality and self-protection.

"We don't want to think these things can happen to us or someone close to us," Klun said. Sexual as-

Work 'covers' Ethiopian orphanage

By Sue Mason
staff writer

Bob Baker of Canton may have missed his calling in life — a stand-up comedian. After all, it's his one-liners that keep the work crew in "good spirits."

That was a must when you consider that the crew was made up of members of the First Baptist Church in Wayne and people from Grand Rapids and Ft. Myers, Fla., and the work site was in Kuriftu, Ethiopia.

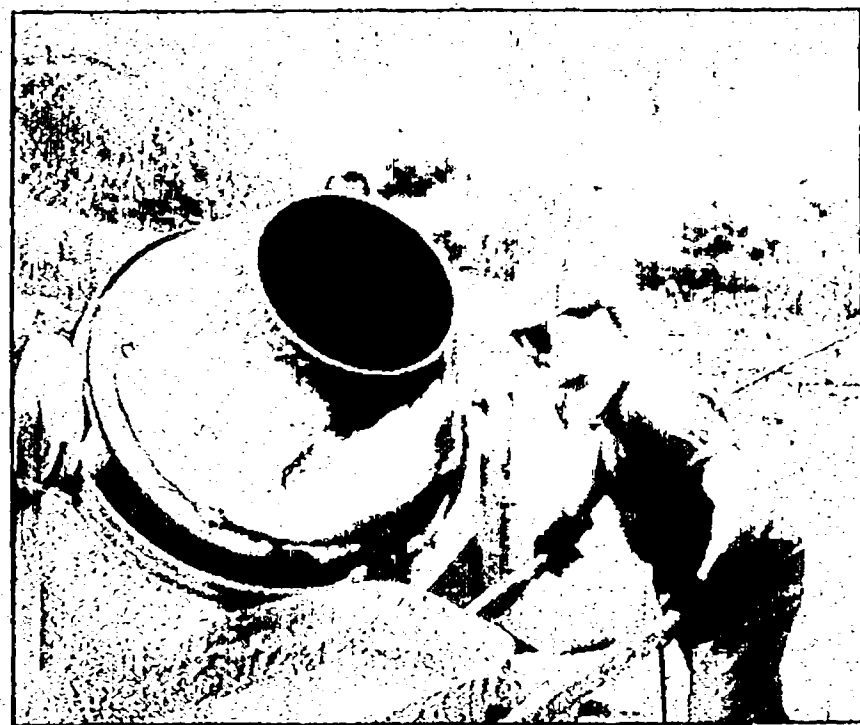

The 16-member team were in the east African country in January to construct a clinic and orphanage for the Kuriftu Church. What they saw was enough to convince them they were needed.

"Most of the capitol of Addis Ababa is slums," said Linda Baxter, a nurse and the only woman on the team. "Everytime the car stopped, lepers and blind people would come begging for food. They see a white person and think they're rich."

"Fifty percent of the people are unemployed," said Tom Baxter, her husband and team member. "And of the remaining 50 percent, 40 percent are underemployed. In one town, 90 percent of the people worked for the air force and lost their jobs when the new front (government) took over."

The two-week adventure (the Baxters stayed on an additional two weeks) had been planned for the spring of 1991. The church sponsors several mission organizations, one being the Society of International Ministries. In December 1990, the former approached Kevin Ruark of Plymouth who had worked for SIM for three months in Niger in 1979, about doing something. Ruark agreed and quickly put a plan together.

BUT AS quickly as it took shape, it was put on hold because of government unrest. Construction supplies could not be shipped to the country and by mid-summer, foreigners were being evacuated from the country because of the violent unrest.

Bob Baker of Canton found himself on the heavy end of a wheelbarrow of cement during the construction work.

By last December, the situation had stabilized enough so that the supplies, donations from Australia, New Zealand and Holland, could be shipped to Ethiopia.

And Ruark, who served as team leader, gathered up his crew — in addition to the Baxters and Baker, Howard Burkeen of Canton, team pastor, carpenter Ron Amann of Westland, electricians/general contractors George Anger of Westland and Gary DeGraaf of Grand Rapids, general contractors Maurice Dunphy of Westland, Mark Kline of Wayne and Scott Peterson of Westland, plumber Scott Monroe of Wayne, photojournalist/general contractor Andy Pugh of Westland, cabinetmaker/general contractor Keith Welty of Wayne and brick masons Jim Albreck and John Outlaw of Ft. Myers.

Culture shock may be a mild term for what the team experienced. Guns were commonplace in the country. The new government disbanded the military. Left with nothing to do, the former soldiers literally packed up their weapons and went home.

SANITARY conditions were almost unheard of. Linda, who saw to the team's medical needs and acted as cook, soaked all vegetables and fruit in bleach water because they had been washed in contaminated river water to keep bouts of diarrhea at bay.

"In Ethiopia, they only wash their right hand because that's the one they eat with," she said. "They laughed when they saw Tom wash both hands."

With the construction of the orphanage building came such western conveniences like a flush toilet, a "magic show" for the youngsters who had to be taught to sit on the seat rather than stand on it to use it.

Linda provided the team with Americanized Ethiopian food. But the team did eat its share of the native cuisine. That's where Baker's humor comes in.

He found the Ethiopian sour dough bread as tasty as "a thick

'They don't have anything, but they're happy with what they have.'

chamois" and the goat cheese "the consistency of a wet diaper." Linda's version of roast beef was "roast beef" because of the difficulty chewing it even after five hours in a pressure cooker.

The team admits that it was Amann's slash of Oreos and Snickers bars that helped out.

"They told me there wasn't a lot of food so I packed accordingly," he said.

AND WHAT food there was was expensive. Linda recalls paying $30 for the ingredients for pizza — two pounds of mozzarella cheese, an ounce of salami, 12 ounces of tomato paste — and six ounces of mayonnaise.

She recalls the day Anger stopped at a roadside stand to buy two kilos of grapes. To get the grapes, he also had to buy a like amount of oranges.

But those inconveniences aside, it was the people who made the biggest impression on the team. The orphanage was using a small cement block building meant to be a wash house to house the children, with as many as 14 to a bedroom.

Many of the children had lost their parents during the recent coup, killed when a munitions dump in a residential area was destroyed. Others lost their parents to an outbreak of yellow fever.

While the team was able to do the construction work at a quicker pace than the Ethiopians, they found the people were eager to lend a hand.

"We were lead to believe we wouldn't get a lot of help because the old Marxist government didn't reward the people who worked," Baker said. "But they would constantly take the tools away from us and do the work."

"THEY DON'T have anything, but you're happy with with they have," Ann added. "One man told me that he had a shirt, a pair of pants and Jesus, what else did he need."

The effort didn't come off all that neatly. One container of materials never made it to the work site, leaving them without sinks or counter tops. The team estimates that they were within two days of finishing the project had that container arrived.

But they realize the buildings they constructed were far better than the mud huts with thatched roofs and the ones built from dried cow dung that many of the natives lived in.

"We put our faith in action," Ruark said. "We could give half our income to the church here and not do what we did in two weeks there."

To the man and woman, the team says that they would be disappointed if they didn't go back to Ethiopia. Although there are no formal plans as yet, Ruark has already talked to SIM about taking a similar group back to Ethiopia the same time next year.

And in looking back, the team admits that it was tough leaving the children.

"Children are children wherever you go," Anger said.

BABY SHOWER

Ward Presbyterian Church will hold a baby shower for Bethany Christian Services infants 2:30-4:30 p.m. Sunday, April 5, at the church, Six Mile and Farmington roads in Livonia. Bethany is a pregnancy counseling center and agency for foster care and adoption. Those attending the shower are asked to bring new and used items in good condition for newborns.

FRIENDSHIP

Friendship Connection, a personal growth and support group, will meet 7:30 p.m. Thursdays at 13439 Marion, Redford, for discussion, questions and answers, fellowship and Bible study. For information, call 534-2065.

SENIOR FELLOWSHIP

Bethel Baptist Temple, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, sponsors meetings for senior citizens and retirees the first and third Tuesday of the month. For information, call 453-4785.

Plumber Scott Monroe of Wayne works with under one of two buildings the team built in Ethiopian natives in installing drainage pipes in Kuriftu.

The Swordbearers of Cedarville College will present a concert at 11 a.m. Sunday, April 5, at Antloch Baptist Church, 6539 Rawsonville Road, Belloville. The 12-student ensemble will share testimonies and perform a variety of music.

Recycling: Awareness can't begin too soon

One of the programs offered to schools this winter by the Independence Oaks Nature Center deals with recycling.

As an introduction, I ask the students in the elementary schools, whether they bring their lunch to school in a brown paper bag. Approximately 75 percent of the students raise their hand. My next question is: How many of you take that brown paper bag home with you? Only about five or six hands go up.

Motorcycle classes set

A pair of one-day motorcycle riding classes are being offered this month at Schoolcraft College.

Performance Based Better Biking, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, April 11, includes a riding skills test and exercises from the Secretary of State Alternate Motorcycle Operation Skills Test.

It provides licensed cyclists an opportunity to improve their skills in braking, turning and obstacle avoidance.

The class will be offered at the college Liberal Arts Building. Fee is $18.

Experienced Rider Course, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, April 12, is designed for riders of large touring and sports motorcycles.

Participants must furnish their own motorcycle, helmet, gloves, arm protection, heavy duty pants, weather gear and over-the-ankle boots. They must also provide proof of motorcycle endorsement and insurance. Fee is $18.

To register, or for additional information, call the college continuing education services office, 462-4448.

I use this as an illustration of how people, at any age, can begin to help the environment through recycling and by developing an attitude of environmental consciousness. Reusing brown bags saves trees, saves space in landfills, saves petroleum and begins to instill an attitude of proper use of materials and resources.

One of the reasons the natural world has been around for so long is because everything is recycled, right down to tiny molecules. A sobering thought is that a molecule of water you drank today could have been swallowed by a dinosaur thousands of years ago.

nature
Timothy Nowicki

EVERYTHING IS recycled and everything is interconnected. Ecologists talk of food chains that start with the sun and plants, and follow with insects, frogs, snakes, hawks and decomposers that recycle the molecules of any organism that dies.

Using the term chain in this model is very appropriate because removing one of the "links," or organisms in the chain, has consequences on all the others.

We have been able to include renting and returning videos in our modern literary, recycling and educated use of products can also be included. Rick Lober, a concerned citizen, approached me with his concerns about uses of pesticides by homeowners.

I don't claim to be an expert on weed and pest control, but I do know that many people do not know how to use chemicals correctly. Though they read the recommended concentrations, many feel that an extra amount will do an even better job. That is not true.

EXCESSIVE AMOUNTS of chemicals only get added to the food chain unnecessarily. It is encouraging, however, to note that on the shelves of large lawn and garden retailers, alternative products to the traditional petroleum based pesticides and herbicides are available. Consumers now have options in the products they can use in their gardens and on their lawns. Choices are something that most consumers like so they can make their own decisions.

Homeowners dispense a lot of chemicals yet, with some choices, and some knowledge of their consequences, people can control their homestead problems and not adversely affect the environment and the wildlife they enjoy watching.

Paris comes to Plymouth. Direct from the art salons of Paris, Cannes and Milan, paintings by internationally renowned artists will be auctioned at the Plymouth Newcomers Art Auction Saturday, April 11 at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer.

The event will feature the works of LeRoy Neiman, Salvador Dali, Norman Rockwell, Picasso, Marc Chagall, Wooster Scott and others, presented for auction by Marlin Art Inc. of New York.

Festivities kick off at 6:30 p.m. with a silent auction, entertainment, hors d'oeuvres, champagne punch and a chance to preview auction items.

The live auction will start at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $7.50. Proceeds will benefit the Plymouth YMCA Building Fund. Call 454-1328.

In miniature

A spring miniature show and sale will take place 6:30-9:30 p.m. Friday, April 3, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 4, at the Holiday Inn of Livonia-West, 17123 Laurel Park Drive North.

Thirteen of the 38 exhibitors will be from Michigan. Other states represented include California, Florida and New York.

Miniatures include such crafted wares as dollhouses, landscaping and furniture.

Admission is $4.

Historical gardeners

Historic property owners and gardening buffs will host Scott Kunst speaking on "Antique Gardens: American Home Landscapes 1840-1940" at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 26 in the Historic Spicer House, Heritage Park, Farmington Road, north of 10 Mile, Farmington Hills.

Kunst, an Eastern Michigan University landscape history professor, has designed historic landscape restoration plans for Greenfield Village, Historic Fort Wayne and the Spicer House.

This how-to lecture will focus on Victorian, Greek Revival, Colonial Revival and other periods of architecture along with perennial borders and foundation plantings.

Admission to the Farmington Hills Historic District Commission-sponsored event is $5 per family.

Livonia artist June Hillman painted this acrylic on canvas, "Shepherds in Blue," in the tradition of realism. The scene focuses on Hillman's daughter and her Border Collies.

Colorful Livonia artists to showcase works

LIVONIA ARTISTS Club will present its 31st annual art exhibit and sale 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 4 and 5, in the Livonia Civic Center Library Atrium, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Thirty artists will display more than 100 artworks, including oil, acrylic, watercolor, pastel and mixed media.

Chris Unwin, a former Visual Art Association of Livonia instructor, will judge the artwork, choosing Best of Show, first through third-place winners and honorable mentions.

If you're redecorating your home or office this spring on a tighter than usual budget, buying bin art could provide a colorful solution to your problems by framing the works yourself.

"Painting is a compulsion. I lose all track of time. It's like an oasis."

— artist Audrey Harkins

"We'll have bin paintings, which are unframed paintings, beginning at $25," said Livonia artist Mary Mull, show coordinator.

Mull, who started painting in 1977, will exhibit watercolors in the spring show. She began her art studies in oil with Arlene Knecht and continues to take classes at VAAL and Schoolcraft College in Livonia. Over the years, she has won 13 ribbons plus purchase and money awards.

NIGHT SCENES and inclement weather are often neglected by modern painters. A watercolor titled "Refuge" by Mull is an exception. It features a white

Livonia dancers to stage a treat — family ballet

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Enjoy an entertaining dance extravaganza when the Livonia Civic Ballet Company presents "An Evening of Ballet Divertissements" Saturday-Sunday, April 11-12, in the Stevenson High School Auditorium, 33500 Six Mile, Livonia.

Featured artist/choreographer for the springtime treat is Peter Pawlyshyn of the Nevada Dance Theatre in Las Vegas. He'll premiere his newest ballet, "Les Grand Orion Ballet."

Program selections range from classical ballet to character, and the flash and spice of Broadway dancing.

Livonia Civic Ballet's senior company will perform three parts of "The Comedians," "Ten Cents a Dance," "Themes-Music from the Movies" and "Les Grand Orion Ballet."

The junior company will dance a character number from "Coppelia" and "Lithuanian Heel Toe Polka."

"With 'The Comedians,' you have a fun, light dance. The number from 'Coppelia' is serious — a classic ballet," said Lin Eagle-Trudell, dance company board member.

"Ten Cents a Dance," choreographed by assistant artistic director Arnell Janet Newell, promises to be one of the evening's crowd pleasers. Inspired by the Gene Kelly movie, "On the Town," the dance is choreographed to "It Had to Be You," "My Funny Valentine" and "Ten Cents a Dance."

"I LIKED the music. Growing up, I was influenced by the music of the '40s," Newell said. "The music is most important to keep the audience's interest. Based in a dance hall, the number features two sailors and a taxi dancer."

"Our sailor is a calm, quiet young man. The other is rambunctious. They're both vying for the girl's affections."

Newell also choreographed "Themes-Music from the Movies."

"It's a unique art form. I'm excited about being a part of it. It's my way of showing my two daughters the world of the arts, learning the self-discipline, camaraderie and working with others it takes."

— Sharon Pommerville

It includes music from the movies "The Godfather," "Edward Scissorhands" and "Avalon."

"It's beautiful music. I didn't put a storyline to it. I wanted to show the talent of the dancers in the senior company. It's a difficult dance," Newell said. "The number features all of the dancers costumed in black leotards and chiffon skirts except for four, who are in red, yellow, blue and green."

Guest dancer for "Themes" and "Les Grand Orion Ballet" is Michael Finegan, a board member and dancer with the Plymouth Canton Ballet Company. Finegan in the last 12 years has been a featured dancer and vocalist in metro Detroit commercials, musical comedies and stage productions.

"THEMES" IS a nice collage of music. It's fun because if you've seen the movies, the music is familiar but the dance is new and exciting," Finegan said. "Peter's ballet is an interesting collage, an excellent piece, a beautiful ballet with no real storyline."

Finegan hopes to attend a Cecchetti seminar this summer on full scholarship with Dennis Nahat's Cleveland-San Jose Ballet. "I think it's important to support the arts in Livonia and the youth," Newell said.

Art exhibition gallery — It's fitting to have in a library

SHE NEVER tires of talking art while organizing fine art exhibits for the Livonia Arts Commission. And she bubbles with excitement about the new exhibit gallery in the Livonia Civic Center Library.

"Oh, gosh. I'm thrilled," says arts commissioner Dorothy Wilshaw. "We've worked over two years to get panels for that gallery."

I'm excited too. What better place to showcase the visual wonders of fine art than a library, one of our richest cultural jewels?

The smaller shows planned for the gallery will complement the larger exhibitions that adorn the Livonia City Hall lobby. The second-floor, glass-enclosed gallery will open Saturday, April 11 with a major spring show.

"The gallery is just one more example of the way the library and the arts commission have been working to strengthen the cultural fabric of our community," says Michael Deller, library director.

Adds Mayor Robert Bennett: "Livonia historically has had greater than casual interest in promoting culture. Music Under the Stars, the Arts and Crafts Festival, art exhibits at city hall, cultural events at the library, the Livonia Symphony. We're continually looking for opportunities to expand our cultural endeavor."

THE ARTS commission and the Friends of the Library will share the $16,000 cost to equip the gallery with the slatwall, freestanding display panels.

A 40-piece exhibit, featuring works by eight artists from whom the city has acquired artwork, will fill the gallery April 11 to May 3. In the mid-1980s, the Livonia Cultural League donated many of the 53 pieces of art now in the city's art collection.

Gallery hours will match the library's: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

THE GALLERY will be dedicated at a by-invitation, meet-the-artists reception Friday, April 10.

That night, the spotlight will turn to artists Carl Sams II of White Lake, Gwen Tomkow, Edee Joppich and V. Janus Benda of Farmington Hills, Theresa Poltowicz of Northville, Eileen Bibby of Livonia, Cindy Fields McMahan of West Bloomfield and Mary Tomas of Troy.

Sams is a wildlife photographer. The others work in watercolor, oil, acrylic or paper. Their artwork is displayed throughout the library and city offices.

For the gallery's kickoff exhibit, these artists will bring up to four pieces each to display alongside their work now in the city collection.

"Besides a nice exhibition area, the gallery is going to be educational," Wilshaw said. "We hope to bring in national touring exhibits and exceptional individual artists like Tom Hiale."

Hiale is a nationally renowned artist from Farmington Hills whose abstract paintings boast a classic automobile theme.

WILSHAW ALSO hopes to attract Dearborn artist Electra Stamelos. "One of her watercolors, a real gem, hangs in the library outside the director's office."

The gallery panels, made by Design Fabrication in Troy, are versatile enough for a typical 45-piece individual exhibit as well as three-dimensional pieces like sculpture and jewelry.

"They're easily reconfigured so we have great flexibility with them," Wilshaw said.

Wilshaw, who oversees the city hall art exhibits, will team with arts commission chairman Jack Olds to coordinate gallery exhibits. Olds doubles as city liaison to the Friends.

Wilshaw envisions seven shows a year at the gallery compared to the 11 monthly shows at the city hall. Gallery shows won't be limited to a month.

The arts commission will keep 30-percent commission from any sale made during a library exhibit. Proceeds will go into its trust fund for other art projects and purchases.

No commission is charged at city hall shows because there's little cost involved with those exhibitions; Wilshaw said.

The Livonia Fine Arts Festival, featuring the best in Livonia Public Schools student work, will move into the gallery, atrium, auditorium and other parts of the library May 11-22.

SOME PIECES of art stimulate us visually. Many are instructive. Others are just plain fun. So artwork is a natural for the library.

As Deller put it: "The library does much to civilize the community. It enlightens and enriches us, providing access to things we want in our lives."

"One of those things, art, helps us look at the world in a different way. Art is one more way the community comes in contact with ideas. And ideas that artists present can be very startling and cause us to re-think the way we look at things."

In short, library patrons can find in art what they find in books — new ideas that prick our consciousness or old ideas, under a new cover, that spur us to ponder what we've long taken for granted.

Bob Sklar is assistant managing editor for special projects.

Watercolorist Audrey Harkins of Livonia showcases a still life, "Flowers and Fruit No. 1." She says she has had a lifelong love affair with watercolor.

clapboard church with stained glass windows caught in an evening thunderstorm.

"I did it from imagination when I took a class at VAAL with Marge Chellestorp," Mull said. "She told us to do something dark."

Mull said she enjoyed doing the piece and plans to paint another using night effects in the future.

Livonia watercolorist Audrey Harkins will exhibit florals and still life in the show.

"I've had a lifelong love affair with watercolor," Harkins said. "Watercolor allows me to work fast. I like it for just that reason, because it's fast."

Harkins believes a watercolor painted in 1912 by a friend of her mother instilled a longing to create similar works.

"Painting is a compulsion," Harkins said. "I lose all track of time. It's like an oasis."

FLOWERS ARE Harkins' favorite subject matter. Much of the inspiration for these paintings comes from her garden.

"I keep digging up more of my yard every year to plant more flowers to paint. I am reaching my limit though. If I have to spend more time gardening than painting, I'll know I've gone too far."

Harkins has three one-person shows to her credit. Her watercolors have been juried into exhibitions by the Michigan Watercolor Society, Farmington Artists Club, Visual Art Association of Livonia and Scarab Club in Detroit.

Last spring, she judged the Livonia Public Schools Fine Arts Festival. Harkins, a Livonia Artists Club past president, has served on the VAAL board for five years.

During the last 20 years, Harkins said, watercolors have blossomed. "Perhaps the development of acrylics influenced watercolors, but even pure watercolors have become bigger, brighter, bolder and more popular."

Harkins' "Flowers and Fruit No. 1" is that kind of watercolor. A deep red, colors the apples and provides contrast to the delicate lilies in the vase and checkerboard tablecloth.

LIVONIA PAINTER June Hillman works in oil and acrylic. She began painting more than 10 years ago and showing with the Livonia Artists Club and VAAL three years ago.

"I love painting because it takes me away from everything I do. It's exciting. I've enjoyed it and finally wanted to show my work," she said.

The 40-year Livonia resident began taking art classes at Schoolcraft College after her children grew up. She has studied with Vicki Brett, Claudia Shepherd and Lin Baum.

"The Red Boat," an oil painting on canvas, features Hillman's grandchildren.

"I like the primary colors," Hillman said. "I like oils because they stay wet and you can mix them on the canvas. Your acrylics are great to take on vacation because they're easier to pack than oils."

"Shepherds in Blue," an acrylic on canvas, focuses on Hillman's daughter and the Border Collies she raises. Predominantly in the tradition of realism, Hillman uses Impressionistic brush strokes to paint grass in the foreground.

Livonia Artists Club meets at 7:30 p.m. the third Monday of the month, September through May, in the Livonia Civic Center Library.

Inclement weather and night scenes receive little attention from modern painters. Mary Mull of Livonia is an exception with "Refuge," a watercolor of a white clapboard church caught in an evening thunderstorm complete with lightning.

Staying in step

Artistic director and founder of the company more than 25 years ago, Jean Gloria Newell agrees with her daughter. "Livonia needs the artistic end. It needs more of the arts."

Newell opened the second dance school in Livonia 30 years ago, Miss Jean's Dance School. She is one of the foremost authorities in teaching the Cecchetti method of ballet and is well-versed in the Russian method as well. A past president of the Cecchetti Council of America, she travels throughout the country as a permanent examiner.

Besides teaching ballet and tap, Jean Newell choreographs musicals for Stevenson High School, Players Guild of Dearborn and Wyandotte Community Players.

JEAN NEWELL studied ballet in New York, where she became a member of the Joey Harris Ballet Company. She danced on Broadway for two years in productions such as "Oklahoma" and "High Button Shoes."

She also danced with national touring companies and on the straw hat circuit.

"This is the first time we've used the Juniors," she said of the upcoming production. "It's important these young dancers be given the opportunity to perform professionally."

There are 24 members in the non-profit dance company. They hail not only from Livonia but also Farmington Hills, Novi, Detroit, Dearborn, Sterling Heights, Madison Heights and Redford. Dancers range in age from 8 to 27.

Senior company member Lisa Holland of Ann Arbor works as a systems analyst for the University of Michigan. She has danced with the company since before college. "I like to perform with the Livonia Civic Ballet," she said. "It gives you a chance to dance with a professional company."

DANCERS DISPLAY the traditional Slovak costume for the Lithuanian folk number, white billowy skirts and peasant blouses rimmed with colorful satin ribbons.

"We wouldn't be able to do this without the support of the parents," Arnel Newell said.

One of the parents working hard alongside Trudell to make the performance a success is board member Sharon Pommerville of Livonia.

"It's a unique art form. I'm excited about being a part of it. It's my way of showing my two daughters the world of the arts, learning the self-discipline, camaraderie and working with others it takes. If someone misses a step, it throws everyone else off," Pommerville said.

As a fund-raiser, the company will sell T-shirts, with the Livonia Civic Ballet logo emblazoned on the front, during intermission of the performances. The shirts are $10.50.

Tickets are $10 ($7 for seniors and children). For information, call Trudell: 421-8264.

Send calendar items about Oakland County art gallery exhibitions to The Eclectic, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009. Send items about Wayne County exhibitions to The Observer, 38251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Attention: Creative Living editor.

● REDFORD PUBLIC LIBRARY
Artwork by Wayne County Community College students of Carl Angevine. Through April 19. Students range in age from 60-82 years. Judging by Livonia artist Barbara Demgen will be at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, April 5. The public is invited to a tea following the judging, set for 2-4 p.m. 15050 Norborne.

● NELSON'S GALLERY
"Kapper Elephants and Other Characters" by Livonia artist Jeanne Poulet continues. A reception and demonstration will be noon to 5 p.m. Saturday, April 11. For $10, your child can take part with Poulet in creating a character, then name it and take it home. 16376 Middlebelt, Terrence Corners, Livonia.

● MADONNA UNIVERSITY
Second part of annual senior art exhibition continues. Exhibit Gallery, second floor of the library. Through April 5. Hours: noon to 5 p.m. Schoolcraft and Levan, Livonia.

● ATRIUM GALLERY
The whimsical sculptures of Robert Black are on display through mid-May. Black, an art professor at Schoolcraft College, has worked in clay since 1958. His 35-piece "People Pots" will delight the kid in you. 113 N. Center at Main, Northville.

● NATIVE WEST
Sandpaintings by award-winning Navajo artists Chester Begay and Alberta Tsosie are featured through April. The husband and wife duo from Farmington, N.M., recreates traditional ceremonial sandpaintings and Navajo legends in their work. 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

● WETSMAN COLLECTION
"Quilts as a New Art Form 2," an exhibit by 21 contemporary quilt artists. The exhibit features a stunning collection of quilts by nationally known artists. Exhibit times 1-5 p.m. Thursday-Saturday, April 2-4 and 9-11, in Artpack Services, 31505 Grand River, Door 10, just west of Orchard Lake Road in Farmington, 645-8212 or 478-8946.

● LEMBERG GALLERY
Thursday, April 2 — An exhibition of sculpture and wall reliefs by the internationally known artist Beverly Pepper will continue through May 2. Preview 6-8:30 p.m. Thursday. Pepper's works have a geologic feel to them, a look that evokes the inner movement of the earth and sea; their density and their persistent rhythm and renewal. Hours: 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 538 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 842-6623.

● KOCHIPILLI GALLERY
Thursday, April 2 — The first Detroit exhibition of watercolor paintings by nationally recognized artist Gladys Nilsson will run through May 2. Densely composed of overlapping, bulbous cartoon figures, Nilsson's paintings virtually teem with activity. Hours: 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 568 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 645-1905.

● LIVONIA CIVIC CENTER LIBRARY
April 4-5 — Livonia Artists Club's 31st annual art exhibit and sale, 1-5 p.m. in the Atrium. More than 100 artworks by 30 artists will be for sale ranging from $25 for unframed bin art to $600 for a sofa-sized painting. Watercolor, acrylic, oil and mixed media. 32777 Five Mile.

● HABATAT/SHAW GALLERY
Saturday, April 4 — A one-person exhibition, "Lee Stolar-Recent Work," will continue to April 25. Opening reception 8 p.m. Saturday. Stolar produces exaggerated bas-reliefs. Her terra cotta wall sculptures are contained within lacquered black boxes, the figures stretching, pushing and squirming beyond the outer confines. Also running through April 25: "Mid-century Italian Ceramics: Gambone, Fantoni and Other Master Modernists." Opening reception 8 p.m. Saturday. Hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 32255 Northwestern Highway, Farmington Hills, 851-8767.

● BIRMINGHAM BLOOMFIELD ART ASSOCIATION
Saturday, April 4 — Works in the 11th annual Michigan Fine Arts Competition will be shown through May 2. This high-caliber exhibition in a variety of media showcases recent works of artists living and working in Michigan. Celebrated artist Gladys Nilsson served as juror for the competition. Opening reception 2-5 p.m., awards ceremony 3:30 p.m., Saturday. Hours: 9:30 to 4:30 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 1516 S. Cranbrook Road, Birmingham, 644-0866.

● O.K. HARRIS WORKS OF ART
Saturday, April 4 — Paintings by Nicholas Maravell and works on paper by Janine Stern will be on display through May 2. Opening reception 2-5 p.m. Saturday. Maravell and Stern will be present to talk informally about their work on display. Maravell explores the suburban life theme in large oil paintings that transcend their two-dimensional planes and visually "pop" off their canvases. Stern, working with roofing paper and colored pencils, beautifully illuminates roadside America and industry through blending a range of up to 300 different colors. Hours: 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 430 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 433-3700.

● SUSANNE HILBERRY GALLERY
To April 4 — New paintings by Alex Katz are featured. Hours: 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 555 S. Woodward, Birmingham, 642-8250.

● SUSANNE HILBERRY GALLERY
To April 4 — New paintings by Alex Katz featured at 555 South Woodward, Birmingham. Hours: 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

● HALSTED GALLERY
To April 4 — An exhibition of photographs by Ralph Steiner. Hours: 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 560 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 644-8284.

● ATRIUM GALLERY
Sunday, April 5 — Award-winning Farmington artist Lena Massara shows watercolors, collages and acrylics to May 16. Twelve additional paintings will be shown only at reception 1-5 p.m. Sunday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday, to 7 p.m. Thursday, 113 N. Center, Northville, 349-4131.

● JANICE CHARACH EPSTEIN MUSEUM GALLERY
To April 5 — Three area artists, Harold Linton, Renee McPhail and Lois Telcher, show their painting and sculpture dealing with the formal aspects of art making, shape, form color and composition. Jewish Community Center of Metropolitan Detroit, 6600 W. Maple, West Bloomfield. Call 661-1000, ext. 470.

● CRANBROOK ACADEMY OF ART MUSEUM
To April 5 — "Vantage Point: Photographs from the Warren J. Coville Collection" and "Floor to Ceiling Surface to Edge Vista (An Installation by Winifred Lutz)." Hours: 4-5 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills, 645-3312.

● SISSON GALLERY
Wednesday, April 8 — The 35th annual Student Art Exhibition, featuring studio work by art and design students at Henry Ford Community College, will continue to April 24. Artist reception 6-8 p.m. Wednesday. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday, to 8 p.m. Tuesday-Wednesday, MacKenzie Fine Arts Building, HFCC, 5101 Evergreen, Dearborn, 845-9634.

● GALLERY IV
To April 9 — Display of South American art. The gallery offers the collector, the decorator and the museum a potpourri of antiques and art, including vintage posters, oil paintings, watercolors, etchings, ceramics, glass, bronzes, estate jewelry, rugs, vintage watches, lamps, sterling silver flatware and rare coins. Hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, 6447 Inkster Road, one block north of Maple in Bloomfield Hills, 932-1888.

● CENTER GALLERIES
To April 17 — A survey of works by Lorna Simpson. This showing, her first in Detroit, includes 10 photo/text works dating from 1989 to Simpson's most recent works. Hours: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, in the Park Shelton Building at Woodward and Kirby, Detroit, 874-1955.

● DETROIT ARTISTS MARKET
To April 17 — "Message and Medium," with works by Barbara Moon Boertzel, Margot Delidow, David Gach, Lynn Galbreath, Claudia St. Peter and Jon Shelton, continues. The exhibition asks, "How do we define art?" It challenges the distinction traditionally made in Western art between "craft" and "art" by taking the little things, the ordinary things, of everyday life and confronting the viewer. Hours: 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 1452 Randolph, Detroit, 962-0337.

● DETROIT FOCUS
To April 18 — "On and Off the Computer" continues: The exhibit samples the work of 16 southeastern Michigan artists who use computers as part of their art process. As described by curator Duane Palyka, who teaches computers to artists at the University of Michigan School of Art, the artist may use the computer as a controlling part of a sculpture, an interactive device to control a laser beam or a controlling device to make an unusual videotape of emerging images. The works are primarily wall pieces and sculptures. Hours: noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday, 743 Beaubien, third floor, Detroit, 982-9025.

● URBAN PARK
To April 20 — Various exhibitions by local artists within the collection of 11 boutique-style galleries. Solo exhibits include "Power Pop," a showing of paintings by pop music star Niagara, through April 15; and flat work by Ron Warunek and "Flying Boy and Other Dichotomies" by Jim Slack, through April 20. Hours: 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday-Saturday, noon to 7 p.m. Sunday, 508 Monroe, the third floor of Trappers Alley, Detroit, 983-5445.

● PEWABIC POTTERY
To April 22 — "Progressions: Work in Clay from Adrian College, Center for Creative Studies, Cranbrook Academy of Art, Henry Ford Community College, Mott Community College and the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor." Gallery hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 10125 E. Jefferson, across from Waterworks Park, Detroit, 822-9954.

● PARK WEST GALLERY
To April 23 — The gallery's winter exhibition and sale of new acquisitions. The newly acquired collection features more than 150 paintings, watercolors, lithographs, etchings and serigraphs; creations by Alvar, Boulanger, Cambler, Chagall, Dali, Fanch, Goya, He Neng, Jiang, Lebadang, Markos, Miro, Mouly, Picasso, Picot, Rembrandt, Robbe, Wolfson, Tarkay and Vasarely. Hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday-Friday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, 29469 Northwestern Highway, Southfield, 354-2343.

Send creative arts-related calendar items to: Creative Impressions, Creative Living, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 38251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Allow at least three weeks for publication.

HABITAT MOSAIC

There's a mosaic of habitats at Matthaei Botanical Gardens in Ann Arbor, each containing plants adapted to the area's conditions.

At 2 p.m. Sunday, April 5, docents will explore these habitats on a trail walk. "Special Homes: Special Places Also Known As Habitats."

Meet on the gardens' front steps for this free 90-minute walk. Dress warm and wear weather-appropriate boots or shoes.

PHOTO FORUM

Thousands of photographers — beginners and professionals — and camera collectors from all over the Midwest will meet Saturday-Sunday, April 4-5, at the Dearborn Civic Center, 15802 Michigan Avenue at Greenfield, for Photorama USA, one of the largest used camera shows in the country.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $5. Children younger than 12 are admitted free with a paying adult. For more information, call Photorama USA at 884-2242.

This year will mark the 10th anniversary of Photorama USA at the Dearborn Civic Center. More than 140 stores and camera dealers from all over the country will fill the 16,000-square foot exhibition space. Live models in a studio setting, with studio lighting and backdrops, and free shutter check will be featured.

CRAFTY ENCOUNTER

Six Observerland residents will take part in Craft Gallery's Easter Show will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 5 at Roma's of Garden City, 32550 Cherry Hill.

Alita Marlowe of Livonia will show Victorian dried and silk arrangements. Val Davis of Plymouth will offer country and southwest painted wood and soft sculpture.

Four Garden City residents also will take part: Cindy Burski (hand-painted country wood and furniture), Linda Burton (hot house grown cactus arranged in handmade pottery dishes), Debra Garrity (clay miniatures) and Barbara Owens (country fabric soft sculpture).

Sixty displays from Michigan talent will feature country folk art, Victorian crafts, early Americana, French Country and Southwest.

Admission is $2, children younger than 12 free. No strollers or cameras.

ART THEMES

Cranbrook P.M. sponsors an art history lecture series, "On Your Own in the Unknown," beginning at 8 p.m. Monday, April 6, at the Cranbrook House Library, 380 Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills.

The fee is $33 for the series, $12.50 for a single lecture. For information and registration, call Cranbrook P.M. at 645-3635.

Michael Farrell, associate professor of art history at the University of Windsor and director of Art House in Detroit, will present three Monday night lectures April 6, 13 and 27 on art appreciation of paintings in unfamiliar collections.

Discover how to look and learn by limiting yourself to three basic themes in art: landscape, still life and portraiture. These slide-illustrated lectures will include works of art from museums around the world, including Boston's Museum of Fine Art, the Louvre and the National Gallery.

Cranbrook P.M. is a program of continuing education and outreach of Cranbrook Schools. Cranbrook Schools are a division of the Cranbrook Educational Community, which also includes the Cranbrook Academy of Art and Museum and Cranbrook Institute of Science.

ART AND FLOWERS

The Friends of Art and Flowers of the Detroit Institute of Arts will present flower arranger extraordinaire J. Barry Ferguson at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 8, at the DIA Lecture Hall.

Ferguson will create the large, lavish, layered arrangements for which he is famous. He plans to convince his audience that they can do likewise. A book signing of "Living With Flowers" will take place at 1:30 p.m. in the Farnsworth Lobby.

Tickets are $10 per person. Call 833-0247.

HISTORY TREAT

Oakland County Historical Commission presents "If This Is Hastings Where Is It? The Hollow?" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 8 in the Founders' Room at the Botsford Inn, Grand River and Eight Mile, Farmington Hills.

Patrick McKay, curator of the Van Hoosen Museum in Rochester Hills, will narrate the slide presentation on lost villages in Oakland and Macomb counties.

The Farmington Hills Historical Commission will co-sponsor the program. Refreshments will be served.

REPERTORY DANCE

The Center for Creative Studies will present its repertory dance ensembles 2-3 p.m. Sunday, April 12, at Rackham Auditorium, 80 Farnsworth, Detroit. There's no admission charge.

Under the direction of Judith Sheldon, who chairs the School of Dance at CCS, an array of dance styles and cultural traditions will be celebrated.

The Art of Motion Dance Theatre, directed by Karen Prall, will perform authentic African dance. Students of Huiyang Mao will present excerpts from "Swan Lake." Lloyd Storey will debut his new tap performing ensemble. Rhythmic gymnasts studying ballet with Christina Kammueler will perform, after recently returning from the Pan Am Games.

The CCS School of Dance, known for its National Tap Dance Day celebrations, has been recognized by the state of Michigan in a special tribute signed by state Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, as "an outstanding organization (which) provides a complete dance training program, a center-for-community dance activities, and a curriculum for the pre-professional student."

Center for Creative Studies is at 201 East Kirby in Detroit, with suburban branches in Grosse Pointe, Plymouth, Southfield and Novi. A faculty of 300 artist/instructors provide quality visual and performing arts training to more than 2,000 students annually.

'Perceptive vision' lights new horror novel

"Bad Brains," by Kathe Koja (367 pp., Dell, $4.99).

I'm lying down now, after having read Kathe Koja's second horror novel, "The Oak Park author's first, "The Cipher," was published last year.

No, horror tales don't usually send me crawling off to bed. But in the case of "Bad Brains," it seemed only the right and proper thing to do.

If somebody had drilled a raggy hole through my skull with a jackhammer, my first inclination would be to lie down, I think. Imagines the literary equivalent of such an encounter and you begin to get a close bead on "Bad Brains."

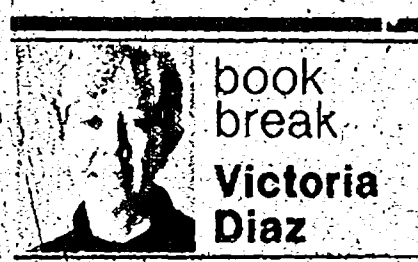

As this tale of terror begins, things don't look good for Austen, a young, small-time artist with a couple of major league problems. His creativity has apparently dried up and his wife, Emily, has divorced him.

Soon, though, he's faced with yet another problem. After a bad fall outside a 7-Eleven store one day, he awakens in a hospital room, and there "vaguely visible to the sharp-est-cut of his eye," he spies the beginning of his nightmare: "a dust devil of fluid... silver... scale like." Definitely not human.

Watching him.

RACKED WITH seizures that are apparently a result of the fall, his "visions" become progressively more vivid and unsettling. The "silver thing" appears, disappears, draws close enough for Austen to reach out and touch, withdraws.

In the meantime, his doctors are no help at all, and seeking some respite from the infestation of horrors his life has become, the artist sets off on a desperate, cross-country journey.

He's not sure where he's going, where he's been, where he is much of the time. He doesn't even really know what he's looking for. But in the end, he'll make an important discovery.

As in "The Cipher," Koja brings to life a haunting, contemporary milieu inhabited mostly by a cast of characters that seems to represent not so much the underside of society as its fringes.

In addition to the beleaguered Austen, featured players include his mother, Cyndee, a woman he hardly knows and hasn't seen in years, who lives alone in an ugly little Wichita Falls tract house, her world enlivened by her favorite TV characters. "Inhabiting as they did that blessed arena far more full and precious than life itself."

THEN THERE'S Russell, a pony-tailed, hard-drinking buddy who befriends Austen in a Texas bar and who believes that the artist is a seer, like his own father, who also suffered seizures.

And Stan, "part of a man... legless, tubed... one eye permanently open... dying all the time and never dead." And Emily, trying so hard to extricate herself from Austen and all his pain.

A teacher of art once told me that it was not so much what a painter can do with his hands that makes him an artist, but what he can see with his eyes.

This book is mostly about that special artistic vision.

What Austen sees does not make for a pretty picture (in fact, it is so unreliably horrific that the book sometimes takes on a feel of absurdity). But Koja's vivid style and her own perceptive vision make this a noteworthy tale.

Just remember to read it with all the lights on.

Koja will make a special appearance at 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 8, at Borders Novi, to meet readers and sign copies of "Bad Brains." She'll also autograph books 2-4 p.m. Saturday, April 11, at B. Dalton, Oakland Mall, Troy.

LAST WORDS: The Elizabeth Stone Gallery in Birmingham is showing a new collection of paintings by Caldecott Medal winners through April 30. Featured artists include Gerald McDermott, Marcia Brown, Leo and Diane Dillon, Beverly Brodsky and others. The Caldecott Medal is awarded annually to the illustrator of the most distinguished American picture book for children published during the year. Gallery hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., or by appointment. Call 647-7040 for further information.

Classes focusing on creative arts

Cranbrook P.M. is now accepting registration for spring 1992 creative art classes.

Enrollment for some classes is limited. For more information, call 645-3635.

An eight-week sculpture class, 6:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, begins April 7. Fee is $85. The class is an introduction to basic and advanced principles of clay modeling and stone carving. The clay cost is not to exceed $5.

CREATIVE JEWELRY will be taught 7-10 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning April 8 and continuing for six weeks. The course is designed to develop jewelry concepts, using the plastic qualities of non-ferrous metals, primarily sterling silver and gold. Non-commercial attitudes toward inventive, original designs are stressed. Fee is $130.

Saturday classes starting April 25 and running for six weeks teach drawing with color and charcoal, cartooning for teens and adults and landscape watercolor.

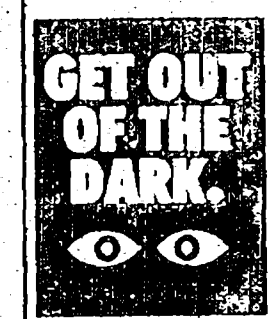

The drawing class is a high school/adult course that develops perspective, both one-point and two-point, using different composition styles of colored pencil and charcoal. It meets at 10 a.m. and is taught by James Gilbert. There will be no class May 23. Fee is $70.

The cartooning class, meeting 10 a.m. to noon, offers the guidance of a professional cartoonist. All that is needed is a drawing pad, a soft pencil and a sense of humor to learn to create a comic strip, spot or gag cartoons or the cartoon in advertising. Fee is $70.

GILBERT WILL teach the landscape watercolor class at 12:15 p.m. High school/adult aspiring artists will learn to capture in watercolor the spring beauty of Cranbrook grounds. There will be no class May 23. Fee is $70.

An eight-week class, life drawing from the model, meets 7:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, beginning April 28. For adults and high school students, 10th to 12th grade with parental permission, it is a chance to study and draw the human figure, both male and female, and work on a college portfolio. Fee is $78.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Still wise to refinance? Proof is in the numbers

(AP) — More than a million homeowners with mortgages more than three years old have already seized the day, according to Kiplinger Magazine. They've refinanced and boosted their combined disposable income by millions of dollars. An owner who traded a $100,000 fixed-rate 30-year mortgage at 10 percent for the same loan at 8 percent is happily saving $144 a month before taxes.

mortgage or from an ARM to a fixed-rate loan. You can calculate whether your savings exceed the cost. First, add up the cost of the points and other fees, which can average 2 percent to 5 percent of the mortgage amount. To figure how long it will take to pay this back, calculate what your new monthly payment would be. Find your new principal and interest payment, then subtract that amount from your current principal and interest payment to get your monthly pre-tax savings.

Should you keep your ARM, trade to a fixed rate or take advantage of low teaser rates on new ARMs? If you plan to stay in your house, it makes sense to lock in a fixed rate. You won't necessarily save a lot of money compared with the ARM you're trading in, but you get the peace of mind of knowing you won't lose if rates rise.

three years, keep the ARM. Here's why: Assume you took out a one-year ARM for $100,000 on Jan. 1, 1986, at 9.25 percent. Your rounded rate last year would have been 10.125 percent (assuming a margin of 2.75 percentage points over the index value of 7.35). This year, with the index down to 5, your rate would be 8.125 percent — you don't get the actual adjusted rate of 7.75 percent because there's a 2-point annual cap.

consider switching an old ARM for a new one. In the example above, if you had traded your $95,000 ARM for a one-year ARM with a 5.5 percent teaser, your first-year payments would drop from $755 to $539. After that, the interest rate would settle in at about what it would have been on your old ARM, assuming the index and the margin are the same. You come out ahead only if your first-year savings exceed the cost of refinancing.

The longer you'll be in the home, the better off you'll be paying more points to get the lower rate. A three-step calculation can help you choose the best combination of rates and points: 1. Estimate the number of years you think you'll keep the loan. 2. Divide the years into the number of points. 3. Add that to the interest rate.

Alert board members to liability issues regarding spending

Are condominium boards comprised of almost all retired people who have no loyalty to any of their contractors or professionals because they constantly seek to find the cheapest way of doing things, no matter at what cost? Their actions border on senility. What can we do?

cost the association money, let alone aggravation. Try to enlighten the present directors by alerting them to the potential liability that they will run if they abuse their prerogatives as directors. If that fails, try to get a slate of people to challenge the board either at the next annual meeting or at a special meeting called for their removal.

weekly basis. It seems to me I have read about a change in the law. Can you update us? On Jan. 1, 1992, Michigan's garnishment law was changed substantially. Up until then when a business received a notice of garnishment, it was responsible to report only what was then due to the judgment debtor — in your case your employer.

condo queries Robert M. Melsner next 91 days and to either pay the withheld amount to the court or to the creditor serving the business with a writ of garnishment. Failure to do so will impose on the business liability for the amount that should have been disclosed and withheld. Under the statute, periodic payments include all monies paid to employees, subcontractors, commission sales agents, landlords or others. It includes wages, commissions, rental payments, land contract and other periodic payments.

WMU building a campus jewel

By Dale Northup
special writer

The array of blank, banal modernist buildings on our college campuses are often the product of limited budgets and the lack of a uniform master plan.

This problem can sometimes be partially remedied with the construction of a uniquely designed building. Then the Promethean flame of learning is renewed by an architectural spark.

The Haworth College of Business, on the campus of Western Michigan University, is a case in point.

Designed by Carl Luckenbach of Luckenbach, Ziegelman & Partners in Birmingham, the Haworth building is a three-story, 170,000-square-foot facility that graces the northern perimeter of the campus.

The building is named after the Haworth Corp. of Holland, manufacturers of office systems furniture, which donated a combined corporate and family gift of $5 million.

Constructed of red brick and limestone under a shallow hip roof, it is a U-shaped building that surrounds a central quadrangle, adding a sense of collegiality to the campus and yet establishing its own identity.

The building is located on a sloping site with two stories on one side, punctuated by an arcade that faces the campus. On the opposite side, three stories overlook a valley.

The building contains 33 classrooms, 200 office work stations for administration, faculty and office personnel, a computer laboratory and a 400-seat auditorium, all of which surround a central courtyard.

Three sides of the courtyard are defined by large windows on the middle and upper levels, allowing the interior space to open upon the exterior space enclosed by the building. And, in like manner, the third level has floor openings that visually link it with the middle classroom level below. Both the interior and exterior of the building have a spatial integration that plays a paramount role in the design.

On the upper level, continuous bands of windows, under the large projecting eaves of the roof, line the exterior walls of the building.

These windows project out in the middle to become bay windows, adding to the spatial projection of the conference rooms located behind them.

The middle level also has a band of windows that are framed by brick mullions and capped with horizontal limestone lintels. Windows and doors on the lower level, facing the valley, are framed by limestone walls and abutted by a terraced patio, both of which serve to anchor the building to its site.

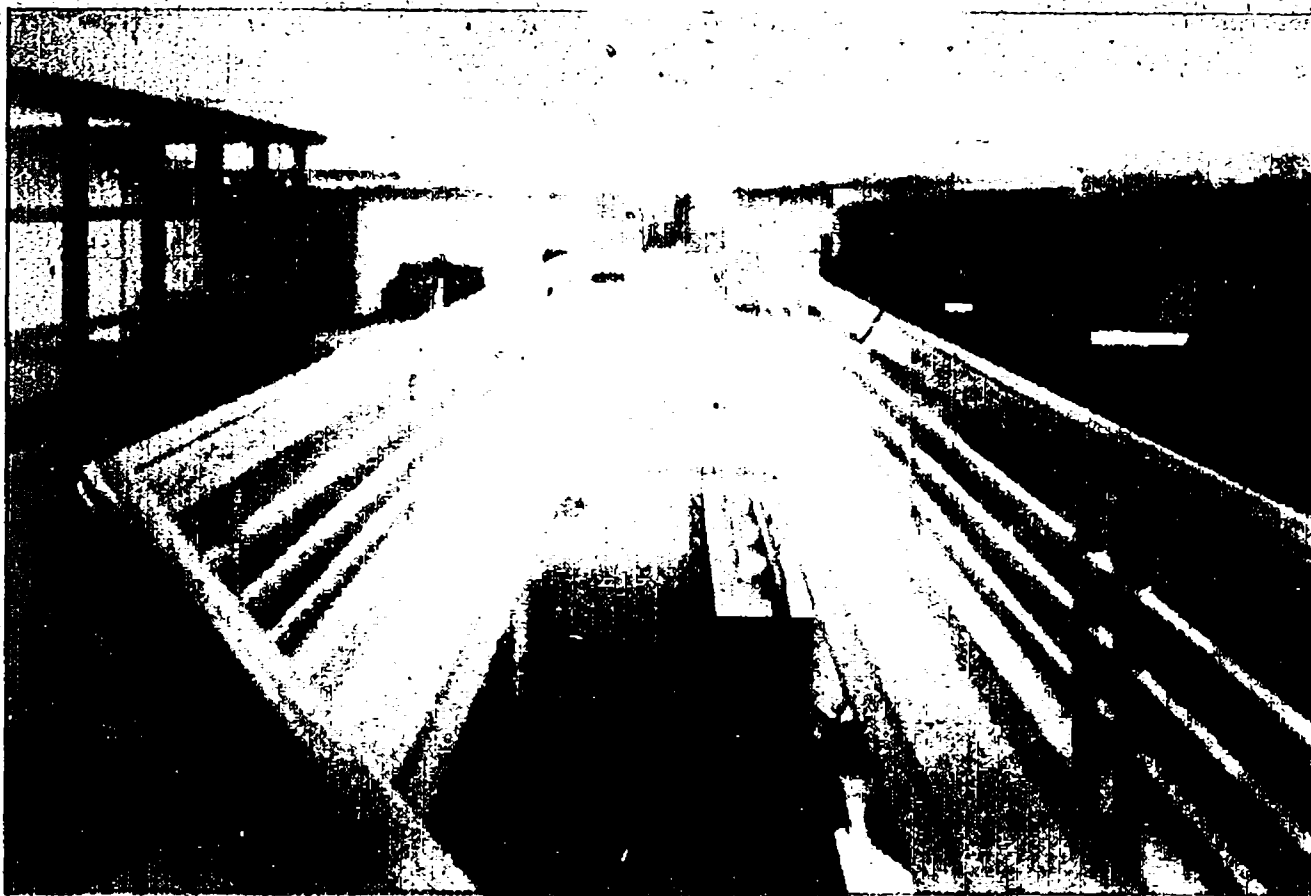

The overall style of the Haworth Building could be called Neo-Prairie School, a sort of current architectural revival in the Midwest.

According to Lake Forest, Ill., architect Tom Heinz, "The Neo-Prairie School movement is not all that different from the way it was done in Frank Lloyd Wright's time."

Its characteristics include simplicity, use of 'earth tones,' ornamentation that is integral to the overall architecture, a focus on the spaces rather than on decoration.

Whether Carl Luckenbach had the Prairie style in mind is not the question. What is important is the fact that the Haworth College of Business is a welcome addition to what could be politely termed Western Michigan University architecture. Perhaps with Haworth, and the design acumen of Luckenbach, the university is pointed in a meaningful direction involving a building that is integral with its site, the campus and its educational mission.

Dale Northup is a professor of architecture.

Subcontractors band together

By R.J. King
special writer

Eying their work orders, shop floors and cash registers, several area subcontractors are giving a new spin to an old idea in hopes of sparking new sales in the ever-competitive construction industry.

Knowing that opening lines of communication is the fastest way to generate new business, a core group of 25 subcontractors has formed the trades council, a committee designed to appeal more effectively with fellow members of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM).

"The subcontractors were looking for a united voice within the association to get the word out about their particular talents," said Mary Ann Dalgleish, committee administrator of BASM, which has its headquarters in Farmington Hills.

"Before we just had builder members and associate members. But because our associate members are so diverse (from bankers to Realtors to carpenters), it's difficult to tell who does what from just a company name. The trades council will help highlight subcontractors and address concerns unique to their field."

Whether overlooked or undervalued, the trades council will, for the first time, pair carpenters with cleaners, not only as a way of drumming up new business, but also to sponsor seminars designed to help subcontractors, most of whom are small-business owners.

"We wanted to become a cohesive unit to better market our skills and services before the builders and our suppliers," said Jeff Houslander, co-chairman of the trades council and owner of The Houseway Co. in Livonia, which specializes in residential roofing and siding.

"We hope the council will increase business for all those who join, and certainly more opportunities will open up for everyone involved. If a builder is looking for a plumber or electrician, we want the trades council to be their first option."

APART FROM expanding networking opportunities, in the past, many subcontractors expressed regret over missing many BASM-sponsored meetings, seminars and guest speakers, events that were scheduled during weekday working hours. To get around such time conflicts, the trades council will hold monthly administrative meetings and related events in the early evening.

"The evening hours will help a great deal because it's tough to leave the business during a workday," said Annette Lockard, one of the council's founding members and co-owner of Auburn Hills-based Compulsive Cleaners, which cleans construction sites.

"Right now we're looking to sponsor seminars in bookkeeping, how to hire new employees, how to approach builders and address insurance and worker's comp matters. We also plan on setting up a network for obtaining used equipment and other networking opportunities."

There is no cost to join the trades council, but membership in BASM is a prerequisite. At the end of May, the council will sponsor its first guest speaker, Steve Thomas, who is host of the public television show, "This Old House."

FOR FOUNDING members, the introduction of the trades council couldn't have come at a better time as the U.S. Commerce Department reported housing starts in February were at a two-year high—1.3 million units. Because housing starts often signal the start of actual construction, the February increase foretells better days for a host of related industries, including plumbing, electrical and insulation.

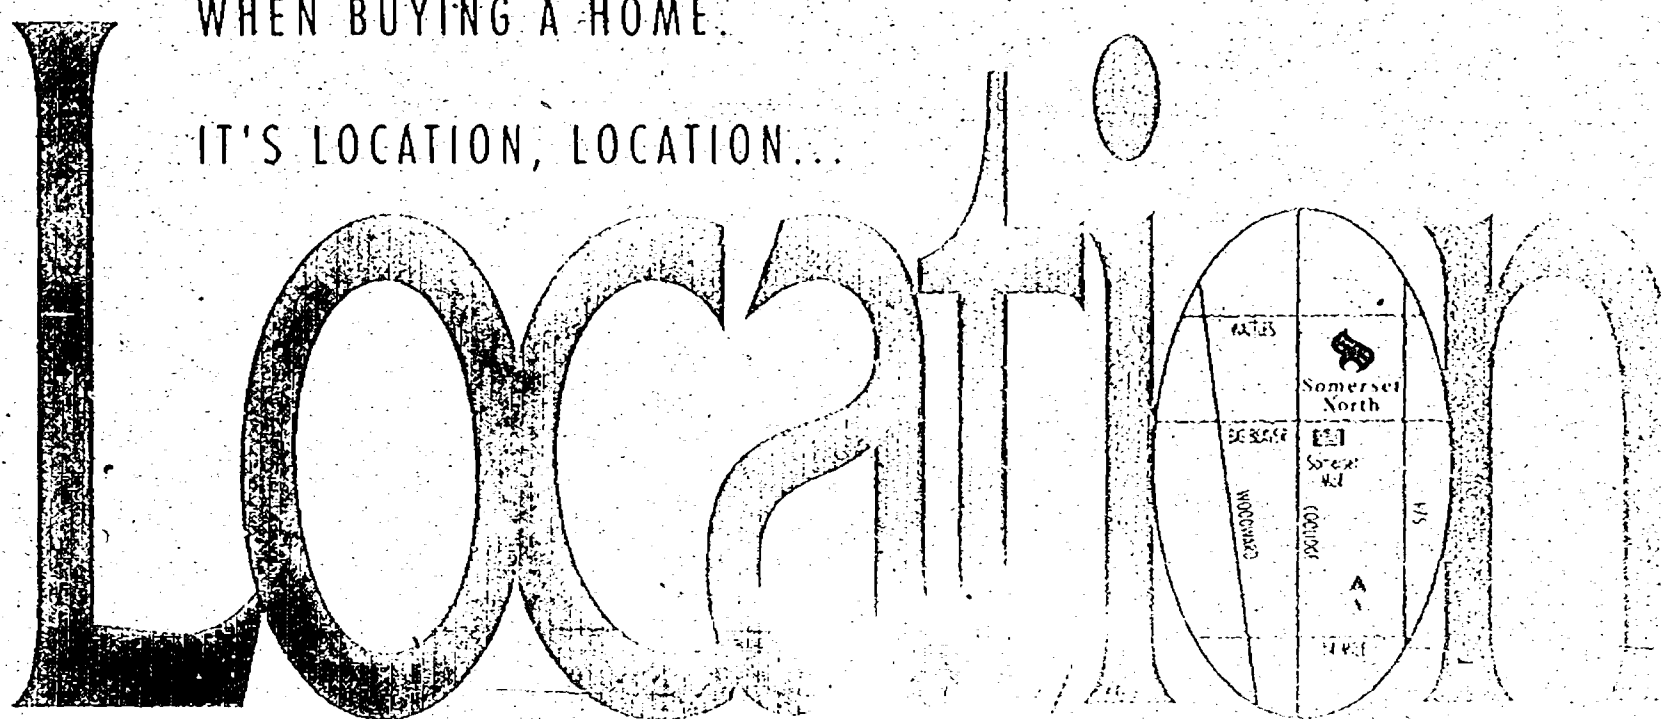

Vic Johnson, co-chairman of the Council and president of Johnson Insulation in Shelby Township, said he wanted to see the council address what builders require of subcontractors before they sign off on a work order.

"We're competing with companies which don't have liability insurance, so we want to address what exactly the builders look for in hiring a plumber or carpenter. We also want to know how we can reduce our insurance costs."

For more information about the Trades Council, call BASM at (313) 737-4477.

They almost hit the nail on the head. Two entrants in the 1992 Builders Show House of Nails Contest came within two nails of the correct number. Actual count was 22,130. Jennifer Tomaszewski of Ypsilant Township guessed 22,132, and Gerald Heldisch of Allen Park guessed 22,128. They will split the $20,000 prize.

Vacation home tax treatment varies

If you're thinking about buying a vacation home, be sure to consider the tax consequences. The tax treatment of your vacation home depends on how and when you use it, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

If you've bought a second home and elect not to rent it, the tax rules are quite simple. You can deduct mortgage interest and property taxes but not other expenses such as utilities and repairs. If you change your mind and rent the house, Uncle Sam allows you to rent your home for up to 14 days a year and collect that rental income tax-free.

Different rules apply if you rent for more than 14 days and still spend considerable time there yourself. If your personal use exceeds the greater of 14 days or 10 percent of the time that it is actually rented at fair market value, your vacation home is still considered a second residence for tax purposes. This means that you can deduct mortgage interest, property taxes and casualty losses (within certain limits), and a portion of your rental expenses.

The IRS requires that expenses be allocated to rental use based on the ratio of rental days to total use days. Be aware that the tax court has recognized a different method for allocating personal and rental expenses. Its position is that mortgage interest and real estate taxes should have a separate allocation based on the number of rental days by the total days in the year.

In addition, rental expenses must be deducted in a prescribed order: first, interest, taxes and casualty losses; then insurance, utilities, repairs, and other operating expenses; and finally, depreciation.

IT'S ALSO important to note that the deductible expenses on a second home cannot be more than the income received from the property.

For your vacation home to qualify as rental property, the personal use of the home must be limited to 14 days a year, or 10 percent of the number of days the home is rented at fair market value, whichever is greater. This restriction also applies to members of your family and others who are interested in renting your home for less than the fair market value. Keep in mind that days spent repairing or fixing up the vacation home are not counted as days of personal use.

Owners of rental properties, as opposed to owners of second residences, may be eligible for even bigger tax breaks. Generally, they may deduct operating expenses, costs for liability insurance and advertising costs incurred to rent the property, as well as depreciation. These are also subject to the IRS method of allocating expenses based on the ratio of rental days to total use days. Be aware that the amount of mortgage interest attributed to personal use is considered consumer interest, which is no longer deductible.

If you were unable to rent your property or rented it for only a limited time, Congress still provides you with a tax break. As long as you are actively attempting to rent your property, you may deduct expenses incurred during a period in which it is not being rented.

Unlike a second home, all expenses allocable to the rental period are deductible, even if they exceed the rental income and produce a loss. But your losses may be subject to limitations under the passive-loss rules.

ARCHITECTS BUILDERS DESIGNERS ARTISANS

Today's bathrooms provide safer kids' environment

(AP) — Hot water on demand, positions for primping and pampering, flattering lights, slick surfaces, appealing decor all make the bathroom a pleasurable enough place. But those very features can be hazardous to kids.

"For children, the bathroom is actually one of the two most dangerous rooms in the house. The other is the kitchen," said Herta Feely, executive director of the National Safe Kids Campaign, a Washington-based group that promotes a safe environment for children.

A complete set of statistics on the number of serious accidents in bathrooms isn't collected, according to Feely. But there is evidence that a significant number of injuries to children occur in the bath. These include at least 5,000 serious scalds from hot tap water and a significant share of the one million poisonings recorded each year, as well as slips and falls, drowning and choking.

"Fatalities are rare," Feely said. "Injuries, however, are not." She cited a 1984 study in the American Journal of Public Health. For every death, 45 children require hospitalization, another 1,300 are treated and released and 2,600 children are treated at home.

The message of safety appears to be getting through to the bath industry. Safety issues were a focus at its annual trade fair in Atlanta in March, where Feely was invited to speak on safety at a seminar for installers and designers.

A CHILDREN'S bathroom designed with safety in mind was on display.

"This is the first specifically safety-related prototype bathroom on display in the design ideas section of the show," said Donna Luzzo, communications director of the National Kitchen and Bath Association, which sponsors the event.

Among safety-promoting features designed into the room are temperature-limiting faucets for sink, tub and shower and pressure-balanced shower valves that maintain an even temperature even if cold water is turned on elsewhere in the house.

There are also magnetic locks on the medicine cabinet and drawers, low voltage lighting that reduces the chance of electrical shock and a "soft" fiberglass bathtub with a surface layer of urethane foam. The surface is said to pose less risk of serious injury in a fall.

In addition to ample floor area for towel and dressing, the counters and cabinets have rounded corners. There are heavy-duty grab bars in the tub and separate stall shower and seats in both the shower and changing area.

Special bathrooms aside, the developing trend generally is to build safety features into new bathrooms rather than adding them later, said Leslie Hart, editor of Kitchen & Bath Business magazine. There's also more interest in making these features attractive and homelike.

GRAB BARS, for example, come in bright colors and no longer look like hospital equipment. Magnetic locks on medicine cabinets are unobtrusive, and prefabricated stall showers are being designed with built-in seats. In the past, locks and other safety features usually had to be added, giving the room an institutional look, according to Hart.

The most reliable route to a safe bath for consumers who are adding a bath or remodeling one is self-education, Feely said.

"Whether you prefer a freestanding pedestal sink or a built-in sink, rounded edges will minimize the problem of cuts and abrasions," she said.

She recommends using materials that are not unusually slippery when wet and installing grab bars and a tub with a slip-resistant bottom.

But what about the vast majority of people who aren't planning to add or remodel a bath?

Anti-scaud devices can be added to existing faucets, and a rubber mat can be placed in a bathtub with a slippery bottom. If you have children, keep cosmetics and other potentially hazardous substances out of reach. You can also make your bathroom safer simply by changing your habits, Feely said.

"Remember that hot water is liquid fire to children at certain ages. At 1½, kids turn knobs out of curiosity," she said. "Don't leave a young child unattended in bathroom."

When running a bath, don't fill the tub with the hot water first and then the cold, as some people do, she said. Instead, mix them. She also advises against leaving a hair dryer plugged in.

Flooring care pays dividends

Consumers who take care of their resilient flooring will see it last a long time. If problems should arise, Do It Yourself magazine offers these tips:

- Occasionally, the edge of a resilient floor tile curls or lifts as a result of moisture seepage or a weak adhesive. If moisture is the culprit, first dry the damaged tile and surrounding tiles, using a hand-held hair dryer or heat gun. Applying heat also softens the flooring so that it becomes pliable enough to work with. Once it's softened, pry up the tile with a putty knife and dry the underlying damp area. Scrape off old adhesive or dirt that may prevent the tile from lying smoothly. When the area is clean, spread a thin layer of adhesive under the tile, then press flat. Weigh it down overnight while the adhesive sets.

- Sometimes, tiles bubble in the center, usually as a result of worn-out adhesive or moisture. Soften the area with heat; slice through the blister with a utility knife. Scrape or dry the underlying area, add new adhesive and press flat. Weigh down until dry.

- To replace damaged tile, soften it with heat, cut around the edges of the tile using a straight edge and a sharp knife. Scrape the area smooth and vacuum thoroughly. Spread adhesive. Butt one side of the new tile against the edge of a neighboring tile, gently curling the tile as it is lowered into place. Press firmly, and apply weight overnight. This technique also works for sheet flooring with a unified pattern.

Twin master suites featured

With two identical master suites located at opposite ends of the house, the Moore is well-adapted for dual ownership or shared occupancy.

Both suites have a 14-by-15 foot sleeping area with sliding glass doors that open into a 6-foot-wide solarium that stretches across most of the back of the house. The master suites include a walk-in closet, private bath with oversized tub and separate shower, and a dressing area with an additional lavatory.

Overall dimensions of the house are 86 by 54 feet, with 2,608 square feet of living space.

A den/guest room juts out at the front of the house, and the room's sleeping area, almost as large as the master bedrooms, has private access to a bathroom shared by the rest of the household.

The great room is centrally located, and walls provide full separation at the back of the kitchen, allowing the preparation of food to remain out of sight. A curved eating bar faces out into the great room. Cabinets and a long counter with a built-in desk stretch along one wall.

The utility room features built-in counters, sink, ironing board, and space for a freezer.

A 16-by-36 carport is designed to accommodate a recreational vehicle.

P R E S E N T I N G
HOME & GARDEN I

GREEN THUMBS sprout in spring — a sure sign it's home and garden season.

In this first home and garden section of the season, our intent is to offer an easy-to-read, informative package of stories written especially for suburbanites hooked on working in the garden or sprucing up the house.

For garden buffs, here's a helpful hint from Copley News Service:

Gardening seems like such a gentle pursuit — until you end up with a sunburn and a sore back after an afternoon of working in the yard.

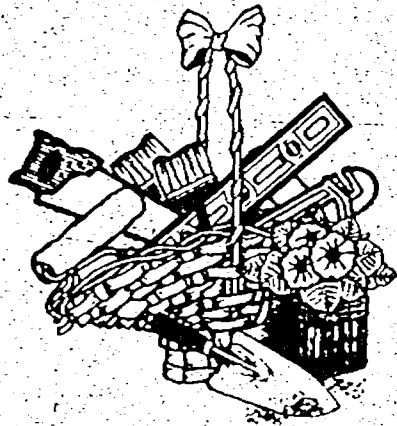

Whenever you're out tilling the soil, protect your hands with gloves and your skin with sunscreen. Avoid sitting or kneeling in an awkward position for long periods. Also wear a hat to prevent sunstroke.

For homeowners, Copley News Service serves up this point to ponder: Remodeling can pay off at resale.

An interior face-lift, a new furnace, a fireplace addition, exterior paint, adding central air, a bathroom overhaul and kitchen remodeling all bring more than 70 percent recovery at resale, based on professional installation costs.

This special section appears today, Thursday, April 2, in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. We always welcome feedback!

— Bob Sklar
Assistant Managing Editor

Direct queries to Bob Sklar: 953-2113.

On the cover: Nothing tastes better than vegetables you grow yourself. Easy-to-grow beets, carrots, leaf lettuce and radishes can be planted as soon as the ground is workable, about May 15. These hardy cool weather vegetables can withstand frost so there's no need to cover them up when temperatures drop. Plant a second crop of salad vegetables in August for early fall harvest.

Ablaze

Spring into color with perennials

By Cathleen Collins Lee
special writer

RIGHT ABOUT now, Carroll Cato's garden is starting to come to life. Tulips and daffodils and narcissus are blooming and, with any luck, the poppies are out.

But if you look closely, you can also see slender shafts in every shade of green poking up all around the yard: The wisteria vine growing alongside the house is budding and so is the ivy that winds around a large maple tree.

From now through November, there will always be something blooming in the perennial garden around all three sides of Cato's Garden City back yard.

She will plant a few annuals, but most of the more than 200 kinds of plants and flowers will simply push their way out of the ground and bloom: baby's breath, dianthus, lavender, columbine, hostas and lupines.

That is the beauty of a perennial garden. Once you plant it, you can sit back and enjoy seeing it recreate itself every year.

All right, so it isn't quite that easy. Perennial gardens do require good soil preparation and some maintenance. It can also take some trial and error before you find just the right combinations of color, height, texture and blooming season.

BUT NANCY Kleckner of Bloomfield Hills, who has been avidly growing perennials for about five years, says that's part of the fun.

"I make mistakes every year, but I learn from them," she said. "If something doesn't do well in one spot, you take it out and put it someplace else. You're not committed. You just keep adding and subtracting and changing. I like the fact that it's never finished."

Although the flowers are a delight to look at, Kleckner and Cato both say the most important thing in a perennial garden is the soil. Because perennials have shallow roots, the top six inches of soil are very important. And because the plants remain in the ground, it's hard to

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

This rubrum lily, a type of perennial daylily, adds intense color and dark green foliage to Nancy Kleckner's Bloomfield Hills garden.

— Nancy Kleckner

till the soil thoroughly later on.

Jeff Jones, president and owner of Plymouth Nurseries, recommends you start with a mixture of sandy loam topsoil, sphagnum peat moss and cow manure. He also recommends that while you're at it, you raise the flower bed a good six or eight inches above the ground to provide drainage.

Cato has had good results using just cow manure and the usual Canadian peat moss, which you should work into the garden every year.

In May, yellow irises reign over this part of Carroll Cato's Garden City garden. Pink columbine and purple bachelor's buttons are growing in front of them, with a few purple lupines blooming behind.

Defining perennials:

- Bleeding Heart — Heart-shaped pink and white flowers on graceful stems. Partial shade to full sun.
- Columbine — Bright-colored flowers in yellow, blue, purple, pink, red and white grow on stems from a cluster of leaves. Full sun to partial shade, 15 inches to three feet.
- Coral bell — Red, pink and white bell-shaped flowers, attractive foliage.

Sun to partial shade. Grows 15-18 inches; good for rock gardens.

- Coneflower — Purple variety looks like a pink daisy, with petals sloping away from center. Full sun; tolerates some shade.
- Day lily — Hardy plant with large, star-shaped flowers in a range of colors. Sun or partial shade; tolerates heat and drought. Range of colors.

- Hosta — Attractive clusters of leaves, valued mostly for foliage. Hardy. Useful for borders or accent plants.
- Lavender — Fragrant bushy plant with spikes of mauve flowers. Can grow to three feet. Full sun.
- Lythrum — Pink and purple spikes, often seen growing along the highway. Hardy, but can be too prolific. Full sun, moist soil.

- Maiden Grass — Dramatic ornamental grass that can grow to seven feet. Has lovely seedpods in fall. Full sun.

- Meidiland Rose — Shrub rose of varying heights with pink, red and white flowers. Needs much less care than most roses. Full sun. Low variety can be used as groundcover.

Marianne Roby, perennial supervisor at Bordine's Better Blooms in Rochester Hills, points out that there are other practical considerations as well: before you buy flowers, you should take into account the Ph balance of your soil, how well it drains and how windy your yard is.

CATO LIKES nothing better than to spend the summer working in the garden.

"I take my frustrations out on the soil," she said. "I will never have an ulcer. It's difficult to get me to come in and cook supper. I will garden from early morning until late night if allowed."

Cato has created many different areas within her yard, grouping together bulbs, perennials and annuals so that something is always blooming. In the bed along the right side of the yard, a row of yellow crocuses blooms early in the spring, followed by the tulips and daisies behind them.

When those are finished, the irises are blooming and the chrysanthemums are filling in. Later, annuals will replace the tulips and daffodils.

Another section of the yard is full of rose bushes, interspersed with columbine of all heights and colors. The columbine bloom early, in May; when they're about finished, the roses are in bloom.

Although Cato appreciates the new hybrid plants, she is also fond of the old-fashioned varieties: "I like to keep the old things you'd find along the roadside.

I often collect seeds from irises and lillies that I see along the road."

KLECKNER ACTUALLY has four different gardens on her 2 1/2-acre lot: a shady perennial garden, two curving perennial borders and a wildflower meadow at the back of the property that she and her husband, Keith, simply scattered with wildflower seeds.

The shady garden is an abundance of ferns, bleeding heart, hosta and Solomon's seal growing along the edge of a woods and going down a path. Wildflowers such as trillium and jack-in-the-pulpit bloom in the woods.

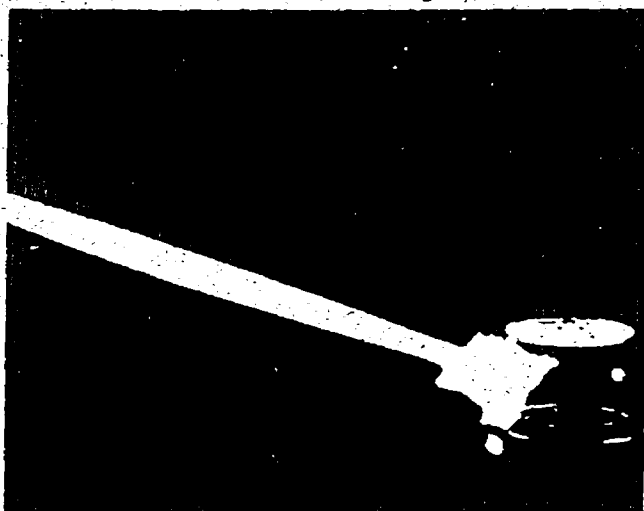

The large sunny gardens are a profusion of pink, purple, blue and white perennials of all heights and textures, interspersed here and there with clumps of hot-pink zinnias, which are annuals.

LIKE MOST perennial gardeners, Kleckner plants her flowers from the shorter in the front to the tallest at the back. She doesn't plant them in rigid rows, however, but in large, informal clumps that have a lot of impact.

She has planned her gardens to take account of the color, texture, height, foliage and blooming time of the plants. She's particularly pleased with the combination of plants in one part of her garden.

In the front is a border of late blooming perennials. Behind it and off to one side, adding height and drama, is a large topiary lilac with some meidiland roses around it. Behind that is a row of peony bushes with some bulbs in front of it.

New products spotlighted

HERE'S A sampling of new products to try out in the home and garden:

• DADO'S BACK

Decorative moldings reappeared in the last two years and now the dado — the decorative part of the lower wall just above the base board — makes a comeback.

From the English company Crown Berger Ltd. come two embossed wallcoverings similar to the papers the company made in 1887, in the height of the Victorian era.

A roll includes 10 panels ready to cut apart and apply separately to the wall. After applying a clay base adhesive, the paper is brushed (not rolled) on the wall to keep the raised pattern from flattening. The paper can be painted to match the wall or covered in a contrasting color. It's not stripable, but it can be repainted to change the look.

Each roll (21 1/2 inches wide, 35 1/2 inches high) covers about 17 running feet and costs $50. Available at Windows & Walls & More, West Bloomfield, 661-3840; Garden City Painter's Supply, Garden City, 425-0530; Lincoln Park Painter's Supply, Plymouth, 455-4100; and C.R. Design, Troy, 649-0111.

• HOME CLEAN-UP

If you're looking for a non-toxic drain cleaner, try Plumb Clean ($9.99) or DrainCare ($7.99), two biodegradable products guaranteed to work through just about any kind of sledge your household drains have to offer. Just mix one tablespoon of either product in eight ounces of water and pour down the clogged drain. The products even get rid of foul smells in the garbage disposal.

To show their products are safe to use, the manufacturers package the instructions inside the container, so you'll have to fish out directions with your fingers.

Want clean air without installing an electronic air cleaner on the furnace? 3M sells the Clean Air Filter ($15) with a static charge that attracts 92 percent of the dust and pollen inside the home.

All products available at Jean's Hardware, Farmington Hills.

• RECYCLED FENCING

Hard to believe, but even fences are recyclable today. Better Built Fences, Inc. in Canton sells sturdy, attractive fencing made of recycled plastic milk bottles. After recycling, the liquid plastic is poured into a mold that forms eight-foot sections of picket or privacy fence, four or six feet high.

The result is a maintenance-free product with a 20-year prorated guarantee against peeling, chipping, fading or rusting. What's more, the fence comes in white, beige or gray and never needs painting. The company even sells picnic tables to match.

For all this technology, you'll pay $95 for each eight-foot section, but you can save on the installation. The company sells a training video for do-it-yourself installations.

For more information, call Better Built Fences, Inc. 397-9790.

HERE'S A sampling of the gardening seminars and nature tours scheduled in the local area this spring:

● APRIL 4, 11, 18

Master gardener Janet Maconovich offers a series of landscape workshops at Dinosaur Hill Nature Preserve, 333 North Hill Circle, Rochester. In three hands-on sessions, participants do site evaluation, develop a landscape plan, learn to select plants for specific purposes and prepare the site for planting. 9 a.m. to noon. Fee $54/$45 members. To register, call 656-0999.

● APRIL 4 AND MAY 9

Learn to plant and maintain water gardens in a two-part seminar sponsored by Grass Roots Nursery and the Cranbrook Institute of Science Continuing Education and Outreach Program. Learn how and what to plant in back-yard ponds, 7:30-9 p.m. April 4 at Cranbrook's Gordon Hall, 550 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. Put your skills to work during a hands-on session at the Cranbrook ponds, 10 a.m. to noon May 9, 500 Lone Pine. Fee $20. Reservations: 645-3635.

● APRIL 20 AND MAY 18

Join the Community House Garden Club, 380 S. Bates, downtown

Birmingham. The newly formed group meets the third Monday of each month to talk gardening. Plans for April 20 aren't complete. On May 18, botanist Jim Wells from the Cranbrook Institute of Science will talk on "Summer Wildflowers." Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. Dues $20 annually or $5 per meeting. For reservations, call 644-5832.

● APRIL 22-28

Tour Smoky Mountain National Park in Tennessee with a group from Dinosaur Hill Nature Preserve in Rochester. The annual trip to view spring wildflowers includes guided tours by park naturalists. Cost includes hotel for four nights, based on four per room. Drivers needed for carpooling. Cost $115 per person/members $90. For reservations, call 656-0999.

● MAY 2

Master Gardeners of Wayne County present a full- or half-day gardening seminar at First Baptist Church of Plymouth, 45000 N. Territorial, Plymouth. Separate sessions are planned for adults and children ages 6-12. Subjects include roses, herbs, flowers and landscaping. The children's program, "Plants in the Americas," includes projects and outside activities. Adult registration is required for child's enrollment.
