Old landfill poses risk, DNR warns

By Darrell Clem staff writer

A contaminated landfill at the former Westland airport site has fueled worries about possible health threats and potentially staggering cleanup

The Michigan Department of Natral Resources informed the city of estland that it has ordered the reoval of toxic soils and demanded a udy to determine if ground water is been contaminated.

"The MDNR considers the soil and ootential ground water contaminaon to be a threat to the public ealth and environment," the DNR told the city in a Feb. 21 letter.

However, DNR officials last week told the Observer there's no proven. health threat on the site, roughly bounded by Ford Road to the north, Hix Road to the east, Florence Street to the south and Lotz Road in Canton Township to the west.

DNR officials indicated that health threats could be minimal because residences and businesses near the former landfill receive municipal water and don't depend on under-

A copy of the DNR letter, obtained by the Observer, said the state performed an "emergency removal" of the contaminated drums in January 1991, though the DNR knew of the barrels in 1987.

"The drums that were removed contained lead and other heavy metals," the letter said. The release or threatened release of hazardous substances may violate state and federal laws, it said.

The national airport site was used from 1959 to 1965 as an unlicensed landfill, the DNR letter said. Evidence and affidavits indicated that Nankin Township - now Westland - "was a generator and operator of waste burned and disposed at this location," the DNR wrote.

The DNR also has identified 13 other "potentially responsible parties" to the contamination. In addition, surrounding communities may have dumped at the landfill, said Edward Novak, environmental quality analyst at the DNR's southeast Michigan office in Livonia.

The DNR has requested that the city plan an initial investigation and follow up with a plan for removal, treatment or disposal of contaminated soils. The DNR also has told the city to determine if ground water contamination exists.

Despite warnings that political feuding could hamper the Wayne-Westland school board's superintendent search; board members appeared optimistic last week after meeting with four finalists.

The board posed tough questions in lengthy interviews with candidates Robert Watson, Dennis McMahon, Ted Culver and Larry

The board continued to study those four candidates as it prepared Tuesday night to meet with two more finalists. (See related story.) A seventh candidate, Wayne-Westland Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svitkovich, is scheduled for an interview Saturday morning.

in managing a district. In Traverse City, site-based management lets each school assist in preparing its own budget, receiving input from a citizens advisory group and staff.

"I expect people to work hard. I expect them to be creative, and I expect them to get things done," Watson said.

On state-mandated schools of choice, Watson agreed that parents and students need more options for choosing schools, but "reform comes from within" districts.

On minority issues, Watson, as a former South Carolina administrator, helped in a court-ordered desegregation plan. He also established an alternative school to lower the dropout rate and hired a recruiter to seek minority educators.

In Wayne-Westland, Watson called for a long-range plan that he sald must be effectively communicated to the public.

An Indiana school administrator and a longtime Westland resident have become the latest finalists in the Wayne-Westland school board's search for a new superintendent.

The board has now met with six of seven finalists. It plans to interview the last candidate, Wayne-Westland

Deputy Superintendent Thomas Svit-kovich, on Saturday before narrowing the field of hopefuls. The latest candidates, interviewed during a special session Tuesday, are Larry Thomas, 45, assistant superintendent for instruction in the West Bloomfield school district, and Janet Schollenberger, assistant superintendent for education in the Valparaiso, Ind., district.

Thomas, a 21-year Westland resident, has been employed in the 5,000student West Bloomfield district for 10 years. Previously, he had taught and coordinated staff development in the Taylor district for 12 years and served as coordinator in 1981-82 of an Eastern Michigan University staff development program. Svitkovich had not signed the Carmen-Ainsworth contract at press time Wednesday. He was not in his office Wednesday and could not be reached at home for comment.

Svitkovich's chances of winning the Wayne-Westland position appear slim. A majority of board members have indicated they want to hire a

George and Rosemary Woodrow. both blind, cashed a tax refund check on a Friday and stuffed the $700 in a cash box they kept in a bedroom closet. Two days later the money was gone.

The couple has accused a neighbor, Penny Kaye Torres, of stealing the money they received as a homestead tax credit. Other than the Woodrows, no one else entered the bedroom, they said.

Torres has denied taking the monoy. But she has been ordered to stand trial in Detroit Recorder's Court on a charge of larceny from the Woodrows' Westland residence. She could face up to four years in prison if convicted.

George Woodrow, 47, testified during a recent hearing in Westland 18th District Court that he and his 54-year-old wife had met Torres, a friend of their daughter's, in November. They had become acquain-

During one visit, Torres told Woodrow that she was going upstairs to check on his wife, who was sleeping. She was upstairs no more than two minutes, Woodrow sald.

ON THE next day, a Sunday, the Woodrows discovered their money was missing from a cash box they had placed on a closet shelf. Other than themselves and Torres, no one had gone into the room, George Woodraw testified.

Court testimony emerged indicating that Torres believed someone else had taken the money - possibly someone who had a key to the Woodrow residence. But the Woodrows said no one else had entered the bedroom. The only others to have a key were their daughter and son-in-law, George Woodrow said.

Westland police Sgt. Timothy Speir, who investigated the allegations, testified that Torres changed her story when police spoke with her on two occasions.

In an initial conversation, Torres denied she had visited the Woodrows and talked about marital problems that she and her husband were working out, Speir said. But Torres later admitted she and the Woodrows had the conversation, Speir said.

Although Torres admitted she knocked on Rosemary Woodrow's bedroom door, she said she merely peeked inside and didn't steal the money, Speir said.

Torres' has not yet been scheduled for trial. She remains free on a $5,000 personal bond. District Judge Gall McKnight has ordered Torres to stay away from the Woodrows' rest-

Much of the land near the former airport remains vacant. The threat wouldn't appear to be as serious as an earlier contamination scare at Westland's Cooper Elementary School, on Ann Arbor Trail between Middlebelt and Inkster roads, in the Livonia school district. Students were moved to a school across the street. Officials are still assessing the problem, which sparked an organized public outery.

Livonia schools to seek concession talks

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Teachers should know Monday just how deeply the Livonia school district's money crisis will cut into their ranks next September.

The number of pink slips to be handed out to teachers will be determined this week and approved by the Livonia Board of Education Monday, said John Rennels, assistant superintendent for personnel.

With the exact number of teacher layoffs known, the district which serves the northern section of Westland will then ask the teachers union, the Livonia Education Association (LEA), to reopen its three-year-contract to discuss wage concessions, Rennels said.

CONCESSION TALKS have been under way with three school unions that have wage reopener clauses in their contracts. Rennels said. They are the Livonia Secretarial Association, the Livonia Paraprofessionals Association and the Supervisory Employees' Association.

The three school unions without wage reopener clauses - LEA, Livonia Educational Administrators and Supervisors, and American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees - will be asked to voluntarily come back to the table to help ease the financial crisis soon to hit the district, Rennels said.

"We'll be talking to them about whether they're willing to adjust or reduce a portion of their pay increase, or maybe delay its implementation." Rennels sald.

'Any adjustments we can make in salary will have an impact on the actual number of layoffs." Between now and May 27, the district must chop up to $7 million from its 1992-93 budget. The exact cut facing the district won't be known until the Michigan Legislature adopts its 1992-93 state aid package sometime this summer. To ease the crisis, the district has two main choices - come up with more money or cut pro-

In asking the district to seek pay concessions from workers, the board hopes to add a third option to its moneysaving list.

The LEA and the district has always chatted about mutual concerns," said LEA spokesman Steve Naumcheff. "If the district wants to talk, we will talk. But that's about all we're obliged to do. Never would we say, 'we're not talking, leave

Right now, Naumcheff said, the overall mood of Livonia's teachers is cautious self-protection.

"The idea is 'protect yourself' because another shoe might drop. How many more millions of dollars will the district have to find? Where does it stop? We already did something to help, but it's not good enough. We now have a new set of rules imposed on us."

EARLIER THIS year, Livonia's teachers agreed to a new three-year-contract that based pay raises in part on the number of teachers who retire in June.

With 66 retirees, the teachers got a 6.5 percent raise over the next three years.

District officials sold the contract as a way to reduce teacher layoffs.

Since the signing of the contract, however, the district's finances as well as most other Michigan districts have been muddled by actions taken by lawmakers in Lansing.

School officials have estimated various legislative financing plans could cost the district somewhere between $6 million and $7 million next year.

The exact number of layoffs expected elsewhere in the district - among secretaries, bus drivers, custodians, etc. - won't be known until the end of May, Rennels said.

The district has asked the LPA, LSA and SEALS to accept a wage concession equal to the percentage amount the district cuts from its new budget. In other words, if the district cuts at the 7 percent level, the pay cut would also be 7 per-

In early April, negotiators for three unions unanimously rejected the wage concessions.

At the same time, they left the concession door slightly ajar by asking the district to make a "serious, realistic wage proposal."

We believe that it is in the best interest of the entire school district community to settle these negotiations as soon as possible in order to avoid further divisiveness at a time when it is critical for us to be working together," the negotiators

Parents blast budget cuts

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Hurt and angry parents railed at the piecemeal dismantling of the Livonia educational dream Wednesday before school officials who now have 27 days to play Solomon and decide which programs' and workers will go and which will be saved.

As they've done repeatedly throughout deliberations on next year's estimated $108 millionschool budget, parents at Tuesday's public hearing before the Livonia Board of Education told of moving to the district because of its top educational system.

Now, with the school board faced with cutting up to $7 million from its 1992-93 budget, and with some of the system's most treasured programs on the chopping block, parents feel betrayed. The district includes most of Livonia and the northern section of Westland.

"These numbers are frightening," said Guy Truplano, referring to district figures which show the district's losses could escalate over the next five years to close to $50 million because of the way lawmakers keep changing the way they fund K-12 education in Michi-

"What will education be like here in three to four years?" Trupiano asked.

STAN ROBERTS told how he "sold off everything" to move into the district.

"From the graphs I've seen here tonight, I don't see my investment to be a wise one at this stage," Roberts said. "I think I would be better off somewhere else.

"You have a hell of a good school system, but it doesn't look like its going to stay that way."

Every person who spoke at the packed hearing in Bentley Center told of the piece or pieces of the educational dream their family will lose next year under the proposed budget cuts,

Speakers implored the trustees to save these programs: math-science-computer, career internship, elementary physical education, hockey, culinary arts, ALPHA, Patriot Inn, cheerleading, learning disability specialists, CAPA, elementary instrumental music and high school athletics,

Throughout the budget deliberations, and once again Tuesday, a number of parents questioned how the district can save a costly, newprogram such as Student Assistance and Family Educational Specialist and let go old programs which have proved their worth over time.

At an earlier budget session, parents gave the trustees petitions asking that the SAFE program be shelved.

"Programs of longstanding and proven quality have been cut while SAFE has been left unscathed," said Pamela Scott.

IF CUTS must be made, other parents asked they be across-theboard, affecting all programs. In that way, they said, all reduced programs could be beefed up once better financial times return.

"Forty-four program eliminations is not acceptable," said Bill

Sapalek Joe Shepus questioned why the district gave teachers and workers hefty raises during financially troubled times.

Some parents accused the district of selectively cutting high school athletics.

"I don't understand why some are yes, some no," said Debbie Schmidt. "The kids in golf, tennis, were cut over money-makers like football and basketball. If things. are being cut, you might as well cut them all."

In today's sedentary world, youngsters cannot afford to grow up without a sound physical education program, said Diane Daye.

"Physical education is not fun and games anymore. It's a matter of life and death."

Parents told how the physical education program, launched last year to the tune of $1 million, has ignited enthusiasm among their children.

"Physical education ought to be the stabilizing factor in each school building," said Edward Schultz.

SOME PARENTS said the high school instrumental music program will be weakened if the district cuts out the elementary pro-

McMahon each year has school principals set three major goals that are later evaluated because. "If you don't have good principals, you can't have good schools and good staff."

McMahon visits classrooms often to see the curriculum firsthand. "I expect our (state achievement) test scores to be way up there."

McMahon prefers a district fund balance of 10 percent, hoping to avoid mid-year cuts if the state. slashes funding. He would prefer shifting the tax burden from property taxes. McMahon has developed a school-business partnership that has served as a state model. And he strongly emphasizes seeking grant monies to improve school programs. The state cited several Brighton schools as "exemplary."

McMahon suffered "personally and politically" in Brighton for passage of a $60-million bond issue, he said, and some residents remain angry.

To improve curriculum, he supports collaboration among teachers, principals, parents and the

and a $15 million budget. His bottom line: "I will always be student-oriented."

In Pinckney, he launched a fiveyear technology plan; Computers are in every elementary class-

Like many districts, Pinckney has suffered millage defeats, but Culver tries to get the community to direct its anger toward Lansing, where he said changes in school funding are needed.

Four years ago, Pinckney developed a five-year curriculum-improvement plan. Most decisions were made by the district's staff. The district's test scores already are above average, its dropout rate is less than 3 percent.

In contract negotiations, Culver prefers "issue bargaining instead of position bargaining." He opposes merit pay and sets high expectations for all employees.

On school board elections. Culver said, "I don't sign (candidate) petitions, and I stay out of it. I just think it's bad business."

On millage elections, he opposes having students aggressively campaign. "As far as using children to advocate a 'yes' or 'no' vote, I don't believe in it," he said. Teachers shouldn't campaign for millages on class time, either, he said.

• Larry Spencer, 51, superintendent of Grand Ledge schools which has 5,500 students and a $27 million budget.

On minority issues, Spencer seeks involvement in the minority community and supports minority role models in teaching and administrative positions. In Grand Ledge, he said, "I think we run the gamut of the socio-economic structure. Despite the diversity, nine in 10 seniors have signed up for posthigh school studies.

The district was two years ahead of the state's Public Act 25. It already had community teams ineach school to seek improvements.

THOMAS, IN his interview, explained his "team approach" and 'uncompromising commitment" to students.

He's familiar with Wayne-Westland's problems and said the district needs some public relations efforts "to prove to the community" that it's a good district. In West Bloomfield, the public is made aware that every school has been cited as exemplary by the state.

Thomas said he established "town meetings" in West Bloomfield to meet monthly with parent representatives from each school. He also meets once a semester with a random group of high school seniors to hear their opinions on the district.

To make schools successful. Thomas stressed that principals must be held accountable. He urges. them to let their top teachers assume leadership roles and to find

On millage elections, Thomas said students and teachers shouldn't be involved in campaigns during school hours. In fact, West Bloomfield has approved a policy against it. In school board elections, he said superintendents should remain neutral.

On minority issues, Thomas explained his involvement in a West Bloomfield multicultural program that includes a high school ethnic festival highlighting the district's various ethnic groups and their customs. Special speakers also are brought into elementary schools.

On teacher contract negotiations, he said, "You try to make it a winwin situation" for teachers and the board. On merit pay raises, he said, "I personally think they are very successful if they're done right."

Kelley lines up key support

Wayne County Commissioner Kevin Kelley said he believes the overwhelming support of the law enforcement community is a boost in his bid for Wayne County sher-

The POAM (Police Officers As: sociation of Michigan) has now joined in support of Kelley, along with the Juvenile Officers Association of Michigan, the Tri-County Deputy Sheriffs Association, the Wayne County Sheriffs Command Officers' Union (AFSCME Local 3317) and the Wayne County Sher-

Kelley also has been endorsed by the Wayne County Professional Nurses Association, the Firemen and Ollers (Local 32) and the Wayne County Firefighters (IAFF Local 741, AFL-CIO). Kelley is seeking the Democratic nomination in the August primary. His opponent is incumbent Sheriff Robert Ficano who announed his bid for re-election on Monday. Daniel Tackett, a security management consultant/trainer. from Taylor, will appear on the dependent candidate.

When I announced my candidacy on March, 17, I knew that I faced a tough campaign. Today, I am truly encouraged by the support I am receiving from frontline police officers throughout Wayne County. This effort is on their behalf and with their support, I intend to continue to campaign vigorously for the office of Wayne County_sheriff," said-Kelley who currently represents the residents of northwest Detroit and Redford.

Bill would toughen seat belt law

By Wayne Peal staff wilter

Michigan's seat belt law would get tougher under a bill pending before the state House.

The bill would allow police to directly stop and ticket drivers and passengers for not wearing a seat belt - a major break from current

But while police, auto companies and insurance agencies say the bill would save lives, the bill faces an uncertain future.

Seat belt scofflaws already face fines but police don't check for seat belt use without first stopping them for other violations.

"Right now, it's a secondary action," said a spokeswoman for state Rep. Thomas Hickner, D-Bay City, the bill's chief sponsor.

Policé support the bill. "I'd like to see it pass," sald Sgt. Kevin Dawley, head of Livonia's traffic bureau. "It's probably the only way you're going to get the vast majority of people to use them."

Even if no more drivers were stopped, seat belt boosters believe mere threat of tickets would force more folks to buckle up.

"THERE'S PEOPLE who won't use seat belts under any circumstance, but we see this boosting use to 70 percent," said Kurt Weiss of the Michigan Coalition for Safety Belt Use. The non-profit coalition is sponsored by the Big 3 automakers. AAA of Michigan also backs the

"We're big seat belt backers anyway," said Jerry Basch, manager of community programs for the Dearborn-based insurer, "It's hard to putyour finger on exact figures but the feeling is this will save lives and saving lives will save money."

Thus far, the bill has generated only mild interest in the state Legis-

"I know there was an informal poll done a while back that showed only about 35 or 40 supporters," said Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, a member of the House Transportation Committee. "But that was before people and insurace groups got

In other states, similar proposals have generated controversy. "I know there's the feeling it could be used to harass minorities, but in New York - where they have a law like this - that hasn't been the case," he said.

Still, no western Wayne or Oakland County legislators have signed on as a co-sponsor.

State records for 1990 show that more than 800 of the state's 1,185 auto fatalities weren't wearing seat

At present, an estimated 51 per-cent of state residents buckle up. That-figure-contrasts with the 18 percent who routinely used seat belts before the 1985 state law.

Of the 49 percent who don't buckle up, only a handful get tickets under the current law.

Even without the bill, Livonia is trying to increase seat belt use.

The "Buckle Up Livonia" is using contests, banners and cable television announcements to spread the Police are also involved. "We're telling our officers to at least mention seat belt use during traffic stops," Dawley said. "Even to the point to congratulating people for

Local seat belt fines vary by courthouse

If you aren't wearing a seat belt, don't get pulled over in Bloomfield Township.

Though state law specifies a $25 fine for non-use - and a $10 fine if children under 4 aren't using safety seats - local district courts can add their own fees.

Thus, fines in 48th District Court, Bloomfield Township, add up to $100 for seat belt scofflaws and another $100 for those who don't provide child restraint seats. Drivers can escape the second fine, however, if they show police they have bought an approved child seat.

Fines in other area courts:

Kristina Austin, who made a major career move in early 1991, will appear on the national Nashville Network country western cable TV channel.

Born in Garden City and now living in Westland, Austin studied flute for many years before switching to singing. She was informed that she will tape a segment for the cable program May 19. No date has been set on when it will be seen.

A $50,000 winner is picked every 13 weeks. It will be aired on the "Be a Star" segment of the Nashville Network, which is Channel 46 locally. "My life has been very unplanned, but I always had high goals and accomplished a lot," said Austin in an in-What she likes most about her current success is that a pageant official in Ohio told her several years ago "you don't have the talent as a singer." Others said there are "too many singers" and that "you should stick to the "Now I'm making a living professionally as a singer,"

she said, after switching a year ago to vocals after playing the flute since junior high school. Her career change didn't come easily.

AFTER HIGH school, she attended the University of Toledo, majoring in communications.

"I was always told to have something safe," said Auslin, who will be 29 in July. "I tried it and it didn't work out," she said, referring to several Toledo TV and radio

Her love of music began as a child when her parents frequently took her to concerts. "There was always music around the house," she recalled. Austin added taht she also "always dreamed of being a star.'

Madonna to graduate 700 on Saturday

Madonna University will award degrees to 700 graduates (see accompanying story on outstanding graduates) in commencement ceremonies Saturday at the University of Detroit Mercy in Calihan Hail.

Honorary degrees will be awarded to Edward O. Blews Jr., president of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan, Thomas G. Bosco, a real estate broker and former food distributorship owner, Marilyn Lundy, president of the League of Catholic Women of Detroit; and Arthur W. Meek, former faculty member at Madonna.

BLEWS WILL receive an honorary doctor of laws. He is being honored for his dedication to higher education. He is chief lobbyist and spokesman for Michigan independent, nonprofit colleges. He received his law degree from Thomas M. Cooley Law School where he graduated magna cum laude.

Bosco will receive an honorary doctor of business administration. Madonna officials say Bosco has been been a friend to the university for more than 25 years.

"Joining hands and hearts with the Felician Sisters the same year his daughter, Diana, was a freshman at Madonna, he has played a significant role in the growth of the university," said Andrea Nodge, director of public relations at the university.

He was involved in the university's fund-raising drives, organized the Parents' Club, served as director of development from 1964 to 1968 and was a member of the advisory board through 1972.

He is a graduate of Wayne State University.

LUNDY WILL receive an honorary doctor of education.

She is serving an eight-year term. on the Michigan State Board of Edu-

The mother of eight, she is a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Detroit. She has been honored with the Detroit Association of Black Organizations' Jesse P. Slaton Award, the Magis Award from De-troit Jesuit High-School-and the Wansboro Award from the Academy of the Sacred Heart.

Meek, who will receive an honorary doctor of humanities, is a former assistant superintendent and coordinator of state and federal programs with the Inkster School District.

A ploneer in promoting multi-cultural education as part of the curricular, he served as the first director of Madonna's Academic Performance Program and continues to serve on Madonna's Trustee Committee.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree with majors in math and physics from Illinois College and a master of arts from the University of Illinois. He also holds a master's degree in music and a doctorate from the University of Michigan.

As part of Madonna's graduation tradition, a baccalaureate mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Moses B. Anderson, auxiliary bishop of the Archdlocese of Detroit. Monsignor Bernard Harrington, brother of graduate Irene Harrington, will deliver the homily.

College president Sister Mary Francilene will host a reception for the graduates and their families af-

May sky features 2 new moons, meteor shower

Weather conditions aside, there

Weather conditions aside, there will be two new moons, a meteor shower, and eclipses involving a moon; not the earth's, one of Jupi-

The sun will rise at 6:28 a.m. on May 1 and set at 8:37 p.m. That makes for 14 hours and nine minutes of sunshine. By the end of the month we will have gained nearly one hour more; sunrise on the 31st will be at 5:59 a.m. with sunset at 9:07 p.m., giving us 15 hours and eight minutes of sun.

The first new moon of the month is at 9.48 p.m. on the 2nd. The moon is located between the earth and the sun and is not visible. The moon takes 29 days, 12 hours and 44 minutes (on average) to repeat a given phase, whether it be new or full.

THE EARTH, of course, is not the only planet to have a moon. In fact, only two planets in our solar system, Mercury and Venus, do not have moons. Jupiter has 16 of them; two of which are the size of Mercury! There will be an eclipse of one of these moons and it is easily observable with a small telescope or binoculars.

Jupiter is easy to identify. Go outside in May and look nearly straight up. Jupiter, in Leo, is shining like a beacon.

If you observe Jupiter with binoculars or a telescope, from night to night, you can spot the four largest moons in various configurations. Their names are Io (EYE oh), Europa; Ganymede (GAN nee meed) and Callisto (cal LIS to). They were first discovered by Galileo in 1610.

The moon that is involved in the eclipse is Ganymede. This is the second largest moon in the solar system; only Saturn's Titan is larger. On the evening of May 3, Ganymede is hidden in Jupiter's shadow. At 9.48 p.m. it will emerge, less than two Jupiter diameters, from the shadow on the east side of the planet. (Start watching about five minutes before the reappearance; the moon will slowly increase in brightness during this time.)

In 1616, Galileo thought it might be possible to use observations of eclipses of Jupiter's moons as a timing method to determine longitude at sea. (This was before the "time" of reliable clocks, and ships were always going off course.) There were two problems with the concept, predictions couldn't be made accurately enough, and an unsteady ship did not make for the best observing platform.

Danish astronomer Olaus Roemer (1646-1716) was very involved in observing eclipses of Jupifer's moons. He discovered that the times that had been predicted for the eclipses did not agree with his observations. Roemer assumed the difference was caused by the amount of time it took light to travel from Jupiter to the earth. He made calculations and

skywatch

determined that light traveled

(300,000 km per sec), it was very close for an era when the speed of light was a difficult concept to understand.

THE ETA AQUARID meteor shower is at its peak on the morning of the 5th. You'll need to be a patient observer if you go meteor spotting:

expect an average of only 20

meteors each hour. You won't need

227,000 kilometers (about 141,000 miles) in a single second. Although binoculars for this; just look up.

First quarter moon is at 11:43 a.m. on the 9th. The moon has completed the first quarter of its orbit around the earth.

Another eclipse of Ganymede occurs on the evening of the 10th. This time Ganymede enters Jupiter's shadow to the east of that planet. It will disappear at 10.21 p.m., but will be slowly fading beginning five minutes before that time.

The moon has gone from Leo into Virgo and is approaching the bright star Spica (8py ka) on the evening of the 12th. On the following evening the moon is three degrees to the right of Spica.

Apply brakes

City must drop seniors' bus

ET'S FORGET about the senior citizens' recreational tour bus.

If a local group of any age wants to take a trip, contact a charter bus company which would supply the vehicle (some now come with a TV and VCR), driver, gasoline, maintenance and a replacement bus if the first one breaks down during the trip.

That's easy to administer and much cheaper. for everyone concerned.

In recent months, the Westland City Council and hundreds of retirees have become embroiled in a dispute over the issue of whether a proposed $150,000 bus should have a lift to accommodate handicapped people in wheelchairs.

While the council split 4-3 in favor of the lift, only belatedly was a basic question raised: Should the city's Senior Resources Department have a new bus of its own at all?

The Observer says No.

The reasons are financial. The proposed $150,000 would have been half paid by private donations with the city matching the contributions.

With a tight operating fund budget, the city council and administration have better things to spend public tax dollars on instead of a low-priority recreational bus, intended first for the senfors' travel group.

Currently, the seniors have an aging bus which needs replacement.

Westland could just sell it to a church or another seniors' department in another community and use only chartered buses for occasional trips.

THAT WOULD not only save the council $75,000 in its matching contribution toward the bus purchase, but also a few dollars for the extra-Insurance coverage.

An added benefit would be that the Friendship Center employee who now serves as the driver and maintenance person could be better utilized working on other city vehicles.

A school employee recently told the Observer that a high school group earlier this year took a three-day trip to Traverse City in a bus equipped with a TV set, VCR and other extras. The cost of

The city's sharing in the proposed bus purchase is a bad use of public funds.

Congress runs from its woes

HOSE U.S. REPRESENTATIVES checking out of Congress aren't leaving the mire behind, as they'd like us to believe. In fact, they may be taking it with them. Not many gave congressional redistricting much thought when it became a national agenda item a few months ago. Everyone pretty much figured things would progress as they always do, meaning the same politicians, with a few scattered exceptions here and there, would hold the same jobs in December as they do today.

Then the new redistricting maps arrived. Some representatives found themselves pitted against old friends in election runoffs to retain control of their districts.

Others found themselves with little left of their old districts, but lots of constituents in areas where they had never before campaigned. Still others viewed their newfound competition in these redrawn districts as a bit recalcitrant and unwilling to bow to their will as incumbents.

Ultimately, they all found comfort under the solution: Quit Congress and say they're doing so hecause the it is too bogged down to be effective.

WELL, THEY OUGHT to ask who bogged it

Some congressmen are running from themselves and trying to make it look as though it was the other guy - certainly not them - who; wallowed in the mire of ineffectiveness that ultimately chased them out of office. Come on, now. . best of the opportunity.

• When redistricting came down in western Wayne County, U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, faced with either running in a new district that starts somewiftre west of Little Annie Arbor or squaring off against veteran Democrat William Ford, opted to retire.

Since his decision was made, State Rep. Robert Geake has decided to enter the Republican race.

• In southeast Oakland county, redistricting threw together longtime Democratic incumbents and good pals Sander Levin and Dennis Hertel in a district where neither had a solid political base.

It didn't take long for Hertel to announce in an emotional interview that he just couldn't bring himself to campaign against such a good friend and comrade, and his added distaste for the establishment left him no choice but to quit.

It wasn't until after his announcement that his constituents learned that Hertel was one of the largest players in the House bank scandal, having written more than 500 bad checks.

• Let's not forget William Broomfield and David Honigman. Broomfield quit, saying scandal has taken over the Congress and paralyzed its effectiveness. However, this also is the last year he could leave office with his office holder fund, estimated at $900,000.

To be fair, Broomfield has said the money will be used for some sort of charitable endeavor or foundation grant.

This also is the year Broomfield was faced with challenger Honigman, currently a state senator and not too long ago a state representative. More than one person in West Bloomfield has used "job-hopping" in the same sentence with Honigman.

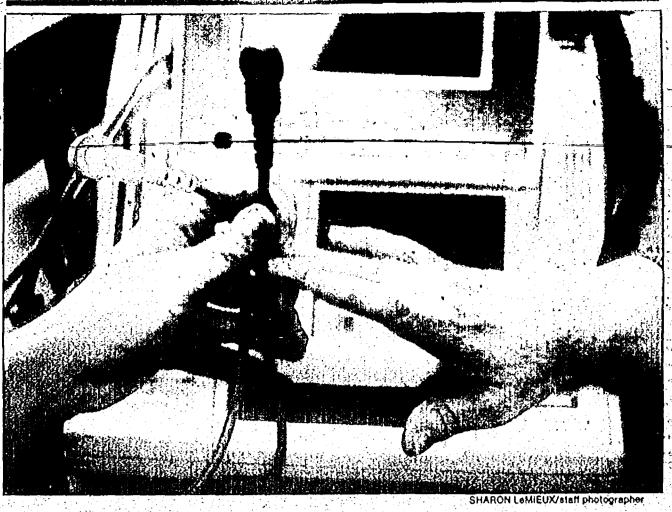

.The word around the county is that Honigman always has aspired to be a congressman, and this is his chance. There is speculation he was banking on Broomfield to quit so he could make the

WHAT WE'RE left with is a Congress that, for the first time in a long time, is going to have a high percentage of turnover. Prior to this, it accurately could be stated that Parliament turned over faster than Congress:

There is one multi-part point to remember, among all the reasons we as a public are likely to hear until the August primary is over:

Congress has always been mired in something, so saying nothing could be accomplished is an excuse. It's at a time like this that effective leadership needs to redouble its efforts and break through logiams - that's part of the reason the public sends these people to Washington.

The other reason is one we haven't heard yet from a candidate. They'll all tell you about their personal ambitions and dreams to be U.S. representatives. That's fine, but the first reason a candidate should run is to serve the constituents. If in the course of doing so one finds personal satisfaction, then we can truly say all our needs will have been met.

State sidesteps role in business growth

HAVE YOU heard about the latest dance craze? It's called the Politician's Polka. You take one step forward, two steps back - and sidestep

We have Novi Rotarian Gary Kelber to thank for that.

And we have Gov. John Engler to thank for the most current demonstration of the truth to the story.

WE ARE facing hard times in Michigan. The auto industry is downsizing, idling factories, blue collar workers and previously sacrosanct managers.

So what is the governor doing about it?

His one step forward is to focus tightly on our state's limited resources on education, as the stock of human skill and talent of our citizens is our greatest long-term competi-

Facing nearly a billion-dollar deficit for the coming fiscal year, the governor has imposed drastic spending cuts on all state government. But under great pressure and very much to his credit, Engler has exempted Michigan's K-12 schools and universities from his cuts.

THE TWO steps back stem from Engler's stubborn philosophy of governmental non-intervention. He really believes that government has no business getting involved in the economic life of the state.

First step back: The governor's budget for fiscal 1993 slashes economic development to the bone. Whereas former Gov. James Blanc-

"I'm not aware what his economic development strategy is," said GOP Rep. Mickey Knight. "All I know is what I see in the budget. And in terms of his budget containing initiatives, I don't see any."

. Second step back: One of Blanchard's most effective innovations was the Michigan Strategic Fund, a small pile of seed capital to be loaned to promising new business initiatives. Engler's state Senate allies are trying to kill off this remnant of the prior administration, proposing to move MSF funds to sewer construction.

Some of the least noticed consequences of auto industry downsizing are the terrific entrepreneurial opportunities it opens up.

Idled plants can be leased out cheaply to new companies in need of manufacturing space. Blue-collar workers, anxious for jobs and willing to be retrained, make up a pool of experienced, highly-motivated labor. Laid-off managers with talent, brains and roots in Michigan will feel no need to move out if they can get new businesses going right here.

Here is an enormous opportunity for new and diversified business development in Michigan.

Seniors 'right' on bus stand

To the editor:

I moved here as a stranger and found a lot of friends. There are many "clubs" under one roof at the Westland Friendship Center headed by a super director who has a way of making things happen for the good of all concerned members.

One club is the travel group and they worked long hours raising money through fund-raisers, raffles, personal donations and by soliciting the businesses, friends and relatives. They raised well over $60,000 to purchase a senior tour coach because they needed a larger more comfortable means of transportation for trips sponsored by the Friendship Center. Each senior trip has a walting list due to lack of seating.

The project became a teality when the City Council (last year) approved the purchase of a bus without a wheelchair lift on a 5-1 vote with one absent. The bus was ordered then Westland lost two seats on the Council and replaced them with two others. For whatever reason the issue of a new bus found its way onto the agenda a second time and this time the vote was 4-3 against a new bus without a wheelchair lift.

Do they keep voting on an issue until it "goes our way"? The purpose of a new bus was to add more passenger seats. A wheelchair lift would take away those extra seats.

Senior citizens aren't against handicapped seniors. They feel they would be more comfortable on a new passenger van donated to the Senior Friendship Center by the Holman dealership. The handrapped are always considered first.

Some groups voiced an opinion that half the fun is on the bus during travel time - only if you have a sixpack under each arm. The passengers are seniors that have passed the "six-pack" stage in their lives. They must have been enjoying the trips or they would not have participated.

The Friendship Center seniors are in their legal and moral right in their stand on a bus without a wheelchair lift, according to the federal secretary of transportation. . Agnes Zidzik,

Don't meddle in insurance

My compliments to Tim Richard for being able and taking the time to see to the heart of a serious issue facing every driver and every voter in Michigan.

As drivers we expect 360 degrees force field insurance coverage that protects us with unlimited benefits. Even from the catastrophe of our own stupidity, and then hold our; elected officials responsible when the cost gets out of line.

The idea that our legislators have the ability to legislate cost is ridiculous. They no more have the ability to pre-determine insurance cost than they do the cost of a new car. In fact, I would wager, the majority have very little conception of what protection is offerded under their own automobile policy.

It is unfair to expect results front our representatives when we as consumers are willing to sacrifice nothing, and it is unwise to place such a complicated issue at the hands of those who don't understand it.

Real insurance reform will occur only when the politics are removed from the issue. Until then, our lawmakers will continue with the 11th hour rush, every election year, to make us think they really are doing something, and you and I will. continue to pay the bill.

Beware how government is run

I SHUDDER, in this political season, as candidates and plain citizens declare, "Government should be run like a business."

The Perot types assert there is much waste in government, all the way from the U.S. Capitol to the school administration - as if there weren't in business, too.

Think first of Domino's Pizza's gaudy display of conspicuous electrical consumption in honor of the Baby Jesus in December. No governmental agency, not even the Weinberger Desense Department, blew money so uselessly.

THINK ALSO of the $10 million golden parachute Kmart directors have stitched together for five top execs if ever there's "a change in control."

I quote from page 13 of the proxy statement dated April 15 and ask if you've ever heard of anything like this in government:

"The Company estimates that if Messers J.E. Antonini (chairman, CEO and president), R.S. Miller (EVP of U.S. Kmart stores), G.R. Mrkonic (EVP of specialty retailing), J.R. Thomas (EVP of international and administration) and G.R. Mielke (president and CEO of the Builders Square subsidiary) were terminated in 1992 following a change in control of the Company, the total severance payments to those persons under the agreements, as described in (i) above, would be approximately $10,091,538 net of income tax."

That's $2 million per man - after

Moreover, their severance benefits include (i) cash payment of two years salary (three years for Joe Antonini), including the most recent bonus, (ii) two years life and health benefits (three years for Joe), (iii) a cash payment equal to the value inherent in their stock options and (iv)

some pension benefits (also on page

Under item (iii), Antonini holds stock options exercisable for 431,600 shares; Miller for 182,000 shares; and Thomas for 256,200 shares (see pages 3-1).

The benefits received by Jimmy Carter and Jim Blanchard, the last president and governor we bounced from office, are plddling compared to what they get at Kmart, which is probably typical of large companies. "Run government like a busiñess"

"THE SKY is falling," cried Chicken Little as she franticallydashed to alert her barnyard neighbors of impending disaster. "The sky is falling." she shricked in their faces as they walked right past ber unheedingly, absorbed in their own frustration. "The sky is falling," Chicken Liftle howled to the wind as it swept on by her on its way to important doings.

As a columnist fairly new to the trade, I find myself identifying strongly with the children's fable Chicken Little Always on the lookout for material, I watch television - pen in hand, scan several newscasts simultaneously with the remote changer ever ready, read countless papers and periodicals and fill numerous scraps of paper with EUREKA-type thoughts and zinging phrases. But like the scraps of paper that hit the trash upon closer inspection, I remember Chicken Little and how ridiculous her attempts looked and how all the other animals were too busy living their lives, rather than trying to save their lives.

KNOWING THAT, Imagine my chagrin when I picked up my pen and the first word which came out was infrastructure. Adult ed can help non-readers QUESTION: How good is that phonics program designed to improve reading? If it is so great, why don't school districts use it? I have a non-reader adult who is thinking of buying the program.

ANSWER: The phonics program could be called "Hooked Period," as in a fish being pulled in a net at a cost of $179.

The program is a series of eight audio tapes with phonic drills set to music. Consumers hopefully memorize letter combinations for 44 basic sounds in our language. There are five soft cover workbooks.

There are thousands of other such products on the market, many of much higher quality, but without the benefit of the highly intensified, mega buck media brain-wash.

Jeanne Chall, a professor emeritus of education at Harvard (an advocate of phonics instruction) and Jean Osborn, director of the Center for the Study of Reading at the University of Illinois, were asked to form a team by the International Reading Association to critique the program.

THE MOST common problem: found by the experts was the program's failure to provide any simple. stories or sentences in proper context. They asked, "Why would anyone want to subject people to go through all the audio tapes and read pages of word lists and then totally unrelated sentences?"

Dr. Chall, the phonics advocate who works with illiterate adults, said, "Non-reading adults will buy it

The phonics company proclaims children can become super readers and illiterate adults in the privacy of their house "can finally learn how to read." The company offers some heart-rending testimonials of satisfied customers.

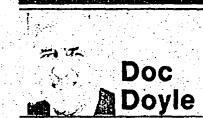

and not send it back because to order it was a great step for them and to not learn is a greater shame. They feel stupid, and they are not stupid."

One New York school teacher contends that the product produced results in "just a few weeks." But company officials did not respond to repeated requests for the telephone numbers or addresses of any of those customers as requested by the International Reading Association team of experts.

TO ME IT'S the same old story. Some educators, public or private, look for the simple answer. In this case, it's a total phonetic approach. Turn the coin over and some educators say let's all get on the Whole Language approach. That is, children are bored with fundamental instruction and will pick up the fundamentals through readings they enjoy by osmosis. So forget about basics, kids, just enjoy and have fun. You will learn the fundamentals some time but not on my time.

In between we have the majority of experienced teachers and reading consultants of sound mind and body who know that it is a combination of approaches that leads a child or adult to proficiency in reading. And the phonics program being an audio at the very outset negates opening the door for those who are primarily visual learners.

John Shanahan, Gateway phonics program president, says the program works and those who disagree are just expressing "sour grapes" because it threatens the publishing and tutoring business.

Tell your non-reading friend to get into an adult education program for non-readers. There he will receive a pre-assessment, balanced instruction and hopefully the most important ingredient - the skills and emotional support of a caring teacher.

Observerland gets new blood

By Steve Kowalski stall writer

It could rain from now until Saturday and Redford Union athletic director Jim Gibbons still won't be too concerned about completing the 22nd Annual Observerland Boys Track Relays.

That's because the outdated cinder track at RU's Howard Kraft Field has been replaced by a modern allweather surface and it's ready (rain, sleet or snow) for Saturday's 3:30 p.m. start.

RU hosted the Observerland, Relays from 1971 through '82 but it's been held at Livonia Churchill the last nine years after a rain storm turned the final meet at RU into a quagmire.

Gibbons recalls the last Observerland Relays run at Kraft Field and all the confusion (not too mention mud) the rain caused:

"The track looked like a swimming pool," Gibbons said. "We accidentally started the 100-yard dash 10 yards ahead of where it should have been because we couldn't see the starting lines. Everyone had faster times despite running in the rain and mud - and it didn't take long to figure out why."

ABOUT ALL there is to figure this year is who will win.

Defending champion Plymouth Salem brings another strong team into Saturday's meet but several teams believe they can challenge or dethrone the Rocks.

Among those capable are Northville, Plymouth Canton, Redford Catholic Central, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn and Farmington Hills Harrison.

"There is no dominant team," said vonia Churchill coach Fred Price, whose team won the sleet-shortened '89 Observerland Relays. "This is the this month, took third at Saturday's along with our sprint relay."

CC is especially strong in distance relays, but coach Tony Magni knows he needs some field event points to stand a chance.

"WE'RE NOT as strong in the field events as some of the others going in," Magni said. "I think there's going to be some darkhorses, like Farmington Harrison and Northville. They have some very good athletes and it should make for an interesting night."

Harrison, a well-balanced team from the Western Lakes Activities Association, has won two invitationals (Novi and Milan Relays) and is undefeated in three dual meets.

"We're looking forward to it, knowing we'll get the best competion around," Harrison coach John Schumacher said. "Our athletes respect the heck out of that meet and look forward to going there, seeing what we have."

Wayne Memorial, the Observerland Relays champion in 1988, placed third last year. The Zebras have more numbers with the "pay to play" policy being dropped in the school district and coach Floyd Carter is anxious to see what that "I think we could still finish pretty strong," Carter said. "Our four by CC won the Elks Relays earlier 800 relay will be very competitive

Crusaders' softball team confident heading into playoffs

staff writer

There will be no easy path to the NAIA District 23 softball championship. Siena Heights has dominated the sport in recent years, but Madonna University coach Dave Racer isn't so sure the Saints will regain the title this weekend.

"I think it will be real wide open!" predicted Racer, whose Lady Crusaders gained the No. 3 seed in the four-team tournament.

Madonna will meet host Aquinas at noon today. Win or lose, the Crusaders will play their second game in the double-elimination tournament at Grand Rapids Baptist. Siena Heights will meet Northwood Institute in the other first-round game at noon today at Baptist.

By the end of today's play, one learn should be 2-0, two teams should be 1-1 and one team should be on its way home. The two 1-1 teams play at 1 p.m. Friday at Aquinas; the winner advances to the championship round against the unbeaten team; at 3 p.m. at Aquinas. If another game is necessary, it will follow at 4:30 p.m.

RACER IS uncertain how his young team - in only its second varsity season - will fare. But he doesn't think they'll be overmatched. Madonna split with both Siena Heights (losing 3-0, winning 3-2) and Aquinas (losing 7-3, winning 3-2) during the season. The Crusaders lost twice to Northwood, 5-1 and 8-3.

"It's going to be tough," he said.
"But I think we can hit with any team here. "We can win it. But we're going to have to play ball like we did Saturday (in beating Siena Heights in 10 innings) and eliminate the errors. We have gotten good pitching lately,"

Push him a bit more and Racer admits, "If you want me to be honest, I still think we're a year away." But the Crusaders are still capable, they were 22-16 through Monday and finished 8-4 in the district. Siena Heights was first at 10-2, followed by Aquinas at 9-3. Northwood ended up 7-5.

SIX MADONNA starters hit over 300, led by first baseman Kay Lee Dayls at .391; Shortstop Jenny Marquette batted 386, followed by third baseman Jill Burt at 368, catcherdesignated hitter Kim Supron at 347, second baseman Mandy Armstrong at .324 and catcher-center fielder Megan Armstrong at 323.

Supron, the freshman from Livonia Ladywood, provided the power-- 10 doubles and five triples, with 30 runs batted in, tying Burt for the team lead. Burt had nine doubles, three triples and a homer, and she walked 18 times.

Others worth noting were Marquette (four doubles, four triples, one homer and 23 RBI) and lead-off batter Megan Armstrong (18 walks, 20 RBI, and team highs of 32 runs scored and 12 stolen bases in 13 attempts).

Megan Armstrong's ability to fill in for Supron at catcher has proven valuable. Supron hurt her shoulder midway through the season; she is scheduled to have it examined today before the Aquinas game. Chances are Armstrong will continue to catch, which could hurt the Crusaders defensively.

IF MADONNA'S offense seems impressive, take a look at Siena Heights' numbers: Nancy Hamlin, .423; Tanya Dickerson, .476; Debbie Chavez, .430; Dee Koppelman, .381; Kim Rector, 371. The team batting average is .372.

Then there's pitcher Shelly Lizyness, who has a 28-4 record and an earned run average under ohe run a

Aquinas has its share of weapons, too, led by pitcher Jodi Borowicz. who is 20-4. The Saints-top hitters are Stacey Mull (.365), Liz Hoffman

(.347) and Christy Jakunski (.340). Still, Racer isn't overly awed. Of Lizyness, he said, "Her ball is flat' right now. And our girls have always! hit her." Borowicz draws a similar critique: "She throws with speed, but she doesn't move the ball real well." We hit her pretty well, too."

Madonna will counter with freshman Tracy Vachon (10-8) and junior Kristen Wasii (11-8). Neither may be quite as good as Lizyness or Borowicz, but they've kept their team in its games.

Madonna ends regular season on 'tired' note

Dave Racer's one-word description seemed quite adequate. When asked how both he and his Madonna University softball team felt Monday after playing six games in three cities in four days, and watching and waiting while another three were rained out, he replied, "Tired."

It's been that kind of regular-season finale for the Lady Crusaders. Prior to last Thursday's doubleheader with Grand Rapids Baptist, they had completed just half of their NAIA District 23 schedule - which was supposed to be finished no later than Sunday.

When the second game of the Baptist doubleheader was interrupted by rain, Madonna got a bit of a break. Their religious affiliation prevents the Comets from competing on Sunday, so the district allowed Baptist to finish the second game Monday.

The Crusaders still had a lot of juggling to do, but they managed to pull it off. A scheduled home double-where both Madonna and the Saints were supposed to play in the Adrian College Tournament last weekend. The tournament was rained out, but the district foes got their games in, one on Friday and another Saturday.

ON SUNDAY, Madonna made a trip to Midland for a rescheduled twinbill against Northwood Institute, then on Monday it was back home for a game-and-a-half against Bap-

The final tally: A sweep of Baptist, two losses to Northwood, and an impressive split with Siena Heights. It left the Crusaders with a 22-16 overall record and an 8.4 ledger in the district, good for third place and a berth in the playoffs.

They will go against second-place Aquinas College, the tournament's host team, at noon today. Win or lose, Madonna will play its second game at 2 p.m. at Grand Rapids Baptist, which will host half the pretty much summed up Madonna's entire season, during which 13 games were washed out — the Siena Heights split was most important. The Crusaders were blanked 3-0 Friday on a four-hitter by Shelly Lizyness, putting runners in scoring position in the fifth and seventh but failing to get them to the plate.

TRACY VACION took the loss, although she allowed just five hits and two walks. One of those hits was a two-run double by the Saints' Nancy Hamlin in the fifth.

The second game took 10 innings Saturday, but Madonna came out on top with a 3.2 victory, beating Lizyness in the process. Vachon played a major role in the win, although she wasn't on the mound; after Holly Jondro singled and moved to second on a passed ball, Vachon singled her the struggle against the weather in with the game-winning run in the 10th.

> Kristen Wasil was the winning pitcher, working all 10 innings and giving up just four hits and three walks. The Crusaders got 11 hits and three walks off Lizyness this time, tagging her with the loss. Jill Burt, Kay Lee Davis, Jondro and Vachon: each had two hits, with Davis and Vachon adding RBI.

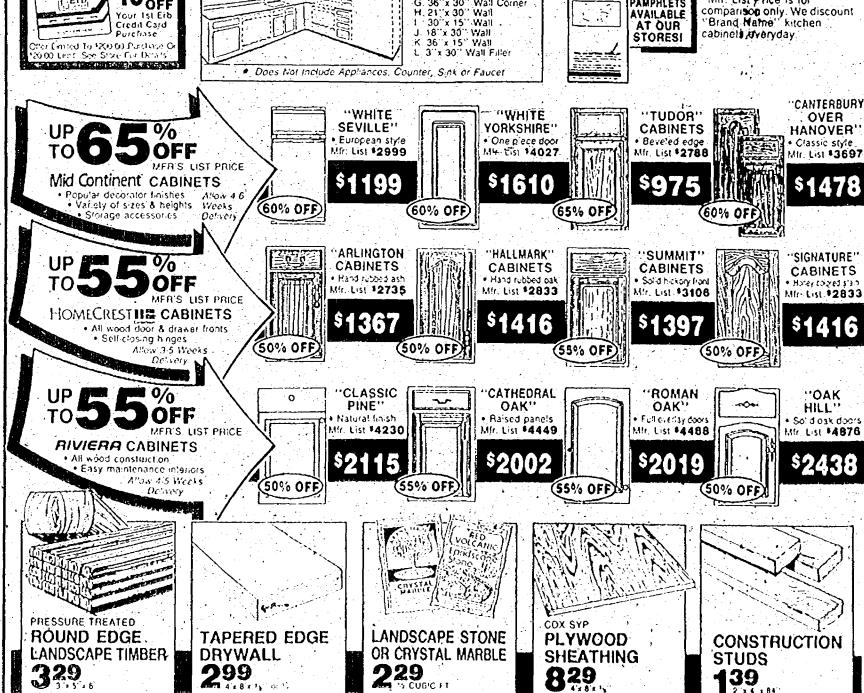

> Madonna took two games from Baptist Monday at Ford Field, but only the first — a continuation of last Thursday's second game counted in the distfict standings. Resumed in the third inning with the Crusaders on top 5-2, it ended after five with Madonna a 17-2 mercy

Shamrocks' Rice, Alviar excel in win

The Redford Catholic Central lacrosse team on Tuesday beat visiting Mount Clemens L'anse Creuse North, 10-3, thanks to five goals from junior attacker Brian Rice.

Sophomore goalkeeper Alex Alviar earned the win in net for the Shamrocks, who are 10-2 overall and 8-2 in the Division I lacrosse

At 4:30 today, CC hosts No. 1ranked Birmingham Brother Rice.

The Shamrocks, who take a No. 4 ranking into today's game, won two of three games in a tournament played last weekend in Chicago. The Shamrocks' leading scorer, senior Dave McNeil, scored five goals in a 15-3 win over Lake For-

. CC also beat Glendale 8-3 on the trip and lost to Loyala Academy

McNeil, who plays on CC's No. 1 line along with Rice and Brian Ronayne, has 26 goals.

"I haven't seen three better than them yet," CC. coach Jim Ryan said. "Most of the goals we get are from feeds from Brian (Ronayne). McNeil has the potential to be an all-state player. He controls the ball real well and has good moves."

junior varsity was undefeated in 1991 so Ryan wasn't worried about replacement players. The '92 team has nine seniors, 20 juniors and one sophomore on the roster.

Alviar has been especially impressive despite being the only sophomore on the roster. Alviar has played every minute of every game.

"He's done a great job for us," Ryan said. "A lacrosse ball is hard as a rock. It's a crazy position but he's a real tough kid. He's quiet, intense and tough.'

The Shamrocks won a tournament earlier this year at South Bend. The players finance the trip themselves, Ryan said.

"The hotel costs about $35 each and the whole trip about $60, depending on how hungry they are," Ryan said.

CC lost earlier in the year to then No. 1 ranked Detroit Country Day 10-7 and Ryan anticipates another meeting in the state playoffs.

"We're going to see them again and we should show a lot of improvement by then," he said.

dler in 1969 when RU won the Class A boys track championship. The pair will be honored in a short ceremony prior to the Observerland Relays finals, which began at 7 p.m. on the all-weather track at Redford Union's newly-renovated Howard Kraft

RU ATHLETIC director Jim Gibbons will present each with a brass plate taken from the cement curb off. the cinder track which was replaced. last fall. MacKenzie will receive a "100-yard dash" brass plate, while Morrison will be given a brass plate for "hurdles."

MacKenzle retires in June after spending 34 years as a coach, leacher and counselor at RU.

"I think it's important for Jim to get this kind of recognition from his peers," Gibbons said. "In the early years he brought RU to state class level. And when you say '110 or 120 hurdles,' the first person who comes to my mind is John Morrison."

Relayshonoreesexcited

MacKenzle not only took RU to the elite class of track programs in the state, it also was his idea in 1970 to start the Observerland Relays.

"I called up Eddie Edgar (the late Observer sports writer) and told him I thought this would be a neat meet to have in our area," recalled Mackenzie. "Eddle didn't ask me to the office, he asked me to his home, and said I like the idea. I think the Observer will go for it.' Three days later he said, 'We're in business.'

THE OBSERVERLAND Relays were held from 1971 through 1982 on Field. A bad rain storm in '82 turned the weathered track into a quagmire and coaches decided to move the site to Livonia Churchill every year

The installation of the new $49,000 all-weather track at Kraft has brought the meet back for this year, anyway.

"It's a dandy, as good as any in the area," MacKenzle said, "If we had a cinder track, with all the rain we've had, we'd still not be able to get on it. If it rained, my God, we'd have a mud pile." •

Morrison, who also was a star hurdler in the early 70s at Michigan State University, is looking forward to seeing the new track.

"We called (the old surface) a cinder track, but it was basically a dirt track with a bunch of rocks," the cinder track at Howard Kralt said Morrison, who has won about 90 percent of his dual meets in 15 years as Brighton's coach. "There was a big old cement curb near the first lane and you'd always worry you'd step on it and break an ankle.

LIVONIA BOXERS

• The Livonia Boxing Club went two-for-four Saturday in the Metro Detroit Golden Gloves Finals before 1,200 fans at the Cobo Convention

The LBC's Keyin Tripodi will be headed for Chicago, III. for the National Golden Gloves after opponent Pharoah Turner of Detroit Adams/ Butzel Center defaulted in the Open-<156-pound class.

"Kevin is glad to be headed for the Nationals, but he was disappointed because he was ready and up for the fight," LBC director Paul Soucy said. "The guy (Turner) was apparently out sick.' The LBC's other win was recorded by Plymouth's Andrew McDermott in the Senior Novice A 178-pound division. McDermott stopped Shane Hanke of Trenton (referee's decision) in the second round. In the Open over 201-pound class, Livonia's John Bahoura lost on a decision to Mark Rayner; an experienced fighter from Detroit Kronk.

LBC's Kelvin Jones gave a good account of himself in the Senior Novice B over 201 division, losing on a close split decision to David Newberry of Detroit's Coleman A. Young • Livonian Craig Payne suffered his first professional loss against Chicagoan Ty Evans in a heavyweight bout April 21 at the Palace of Auburn Hills.

Payne, now 5-1-1, lost a fourround decision. He is a former U.S. Olympic Trials finalist (1984) and National Golden Gloves champion (1983).

Lentini, 25 of Harper Woods, and Van Hoy, 19 of Detroit competed against 36 promising young artists from Michigan for $3000 in prizes, taking home $1000 each.

"Both of them can get on a concert stage tomorrow. They sound finished like they've been playing or singing professionally for years," said Di-

Along with the cash prizes, Lentini and Van Hoy were awarded the opportunity to perform with the Livonia Symphony.

Everytime you perform you gain more control in your own performance. With each performance, the more polished you become," DiBlasi

ONE OF the most favorite overtures in all of music literature from Mozart's tragicomedy opera, Don Giovanni opens the program. Shostakovich's "Symphony No. 5 in d minor," follows.

'The orchestration is marvelous,' DiBlasi said. "Shostakovich to get through school, played in the old movie houses. There's some connection between his early symphonies and the movie houses.

Following the dramatic music of the Fifth, "Batti, Batti" from Mozart's Don Giovanni, and "Musettas Waltz" from Pucinni's opera, La Boheme spotlight Lentini's vocal tal-

"It's a great opportunity. I would have been elated even if I hadn't won the cash prize because of the opportunity to perform with the Livonia Symphony and Maestro DiBlasi," Lentini said.

"It's one of the greatest feelings I've ever had going up against flute and trumpet and piano, and winning," Van Hoy said.

"I'm looking forward to playing with the orchestra. It's pretty rare for a euphonium to solo. It's a special chance for me."

A trombonist with the Jackson Symphony, Van Hoy also plays euphonium with the symphony at the University of Michigan.

'Van Hoy is fantastic. The euphonium is a classy baritone. It's the Cadillac of the brass family," DiBlasi up from a six-man swing band in the musical revue written by Murray Horwitz and Richard Maltby, Jr.

The show brings together more than 30 songs written or made popular by Fats Waller in the 1920s, '80s and eary '40s. Memorable songs like "It's a Sin to Tell a Lie," and "Ain't Misbehavin' " share the lineup with the frivolous fun of "Your Feet's Too Big" and "Fat and Greasy" and with dated ditties like "When the Nylons Bloom Again," a World War II lament about the shortage of nylon stockings.

The opening night audience gave the show a deserved standing ovation. Director and choreographer, Arthur Faria rates a generous share of the accolades for his humorously innovative staging.

Chamber ensemble to showcase Mozart Youth Competition winners

The Lyric Chamber Ensemble will showcase the seven winners of the 1991 Mozart Youth Competition in a concert, 3:30 p.m. Sunday, May 3, at the Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward.

The competition took place May-11, 1991, as part of the LCE's commemoration of the 200 year annivesary since Mozart's death. Hammell Music of Livonia offered, its recital room for the auditions.

Eighteen area young musicians, ages 14 to 18 competed for three prizes by peforming required Mozart repertoire. Instruments included in the competition were piano, violin, flute, clarinet, bassoon, French horn and string quartet.

The May 3 program will include the Mozart Piano Concerto in B Flat Major, K.238, Mozart's Andante in C for Flute and Strings. K.238, and the Mozart Quartet, K. 168.

David Daniels, director of the Oakland University Music Department, Peter Schoenbach, Chairman Wayne Stae University Music Deparment, and Observer & Eccentric music critic Avigdor Zaromp were the judges. •

They chose two contestants to share first prize - planist Anthony Bonamici, of Livohia, and flutist Nina Perlove of Ann Arbor.

Second place was won by the Andover String Quartet, an all-female quartet from Bloomfield Hills: violinists Claire Charboneau and Karen Li, violinist Ann Chao, and cellist Andrea Yun: Pianist Yuko Kashima of Canton took third prize,

The May 3 program will include the Mozart Piano Concerto in B Flat Major, K.238, Mozart's Andante in C for Flute and Strings, K.238, and the Mozart Quartet, K.168. The winners tool to guide people, not constrain them. I'm not trying to crimp their style, but I can invariably find budget leaks - incidentals, entertainment, little miscellaneous items that come up every day.

"It's OK if It's planned, but if you're on a tight budget and have to watch everything, at least you should be aware of it," Knaus said.

Les Patterson, a CPA and lawyer with the firm of Parker. Wittus and Co. in Southfield, echoed those sentiments. "You don't want to get to the point where you're taking all the fun out of life, (but) it's a good idea to know where your money is going. Charles J. Taunt, a Birmingham lawyer, speculated that fewer thanhalf of adults have wills and half of those who do haven't looked at them

You don't have to be old to have a will, either. Young singles may want to designate siblings rather than parents as beneficiaries. Marrieds with children can designate guardians and how assets will be paid to children over time if parents die young.

There (are) really two reasons most people don't deal with it," Taunt said. "They think it's too much. money and people don't want to deal with it. You wouldn't drive a car, own a boat or own a house without insurance, but people don't want to spend a couple hundred bucks to get their affairs in order."

"MOST PEOPLE underestimate what their worth is in the event of death," he said. "Scratch out what the assets are, where they are, contact people. Jot down phone numbers. Make sure your spouse is familiar with it."

Insurance needs change with time, too. You'll probably want to reduce your collision and comprehensive auto coverage as the car ages but increase your homeowners coverage as the value of your house and contents increase.

You can buy more term life insurance for the dollar than whole life or variable life, but term coverage doesn't accrue cash value.

"People should look at their insurance coverage. Is it appropriate in amount and type for their circumstances?" Taunt said.

"Understand that it takes a discipline to be financially secure," Kanter said.

Tired of waiting in line at the grocery store? Especially when all lanes are jammed, all carts are crammed and there's no shortage of customers waving checkbooks and coupons.

Well, wait no more. Six CheckRobots, the state's first automated checkout stands, were recently installed at the Farmer Jack store at Maple and Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield Township, and customers couldn't be happier.

"It's fantastic," said Harold Kohen, a West Bloomfield resident. "There's no waiting in line. You just run the bar code over the machine and you're done. It's a lot of fun, but I hope no one loses their job."

Rick McArdle, manager of the Farmer Jack store, said he hired two cashiers to ring up receipts for customers using the six CheckRobots, adding no one will lose their jobs due to the automation invasion, though few jobs will be gained.

"In the three weeks since we've had the machines, we found 35 to 40 percent of our customers use them," said McArdle. "There's a lot of questions at first, but we've gotten a lot of compliments. They're a winner," The machines are operated by a of, for instance, apples or oranges. "This is the first time I've used the machine, and I like it," said Lois Howell, a resident of West Bloomfield. "Once you get over the fear of dealing with a machine, it goes very smoothly." While shoppers are ringing up their purchases, a bagger packs the groceries. The machine types out a bill, which is paid at a special cashier stand. The cashiers will also deduct coupon offers.

To discourage theft, each machine has a photo log of every item in the 53,000-square-foot store. If a customer scans a can of peas but sets a New York Strip steak on the belt, an alarm will sound.

The CheckRobots are part of a six-month, $4-million expansion and renovation of the Farmer Jack store, which first opened 20 years ago. In addition to the automated checkout stands, there are five do-it-yourself can and bottle return machines.

Scott Lamb, quality assurance manager for NERCO Inc., a New Haven, Conn. recycling firm that manufactures the automated bottle return machines, said they were the first of their kind in Michigan.

"The machines read the UPC labels on a bottle or can and prints a voucher which you present to the cashier," said Lamb. "After a can or plastic bottle is read, it's crushed to

With the consolidation within the grocery industry in metro Detroit over the last 20 years - as Chatham's, Great Scott and Wrigley's have all disappeared - how is it an independent grocer like Jim Hiller is expanding?

A resident of Franklin, Hiller owns six area grocery stores, the most recent a Shopping Center Market at the corner of Haggerty and 14 Mile Road in Novi, which opened last November. In the next year, Hiller plans to open another store in western Wayne County or in the Ann Arbor area. Already he owns the Food Emporium in Livonia and Snopping Center Markets in Berkley, Northville, Southfield and West Bloomfield.

"Our philosophy is to try and meet the need of anyone who comes into our stores," said Hiller, who holds a law degree from the University of Michigan as well as an undergraduate degree in astronomy. "If someone asks for anchovy sauce or a specific olive oil, we'll order it.

'We have twice the diversity of the chain (grocery) stores and our prices are competitive. All our meat is cut to order and we offer 600 different varieties of ice cream, 200 kinds of olive oil and, well, I could go on for Hiller's father, Sidney, first opened a grocery store 50 years ago in Detroit with a partner, Weldon Lutey. Since. that time, the parent company, Hiller & Lutey Inc. in Southfield, has seen its revenues jump to more than. $100 million.

"If you offer people quality goods at competitive prices along with friendly service, they'll return again and again," said Hiller, who practices law on a limited basis at the firm of Hiller & Langnas in Southfield. "People appreciate service most of all."

JOE SARAFA, executive director of the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan in Southfield, said independent grocers like Hiller are unique to the metro Detroit market given most metropolitan areas across the country are controlled by chain operations.

The Detroit market has several retailers who control from three to 12 stores which are family owned and operated," Sarafa said. "I expect in the future the independents will branch out in greater numbers than the

"Because of the '68 riots, many of the chains abandoned the Detroit market. And some of the chains which remained were hit by lengthy strikes which provided opportunities for independents to expand, and they certainly took advantage of it."

At Hiller's 60,000-square-foot store in Novi, shoppers could find miniature vegetables organically grown in California, red peppers from Holland and tomatoes

The store also has sections of certain aisles devoted to specific nationalities. A Japanese section, for instance, offered rice sticks, jasmine tea, dried mushrooms and more than 20 varieties of soy sauce.

Barbara Smalls, a Farmington Hills resident, said she started shopping at the Novi store the first week after it

'The meat here is much better than what you can get at the chain stores, and they cut everything to order, which makes you feel kind of special.

They also weigh just the meat, and not the packaging. And I don't know if they hire more help or it's just because this store is new, but the lines never seem to be that long. That saves me a lot of time."

IN ADDITION to a Comerica branch office, the Novi store also boasts a French bakery where breads and pastry items are baked daily, a photo shop with a do-ityourself developing machine and the Elizabeth Green

While Hiller said an astronomy degree doesn't offer much use to a grocer, he said he does enjoy traveling.

"I was just at the Exotic and Fancy Food Show in San Francisco where I brought back over 200 new products," he said. "The next thing to make it big will be grape-seed oil. It has no cholesterol, no saturated fats, and it has a very benign flavor so it won't mar the taste of other foods. I think it will be a winner." Getting your financial affairs in order requires direct action Sometimes, if you you postpone you itemize all the assets and who owns them and the liabilities and Simple advice, but not often translated into action, personal finance professionals say.

"Most people still procrastinate,"... said Austin A. Kanter, an insurance, agent and financial planner in Southfield who this year served as general chairman of Financial Affairs Month in April. "I think there's more sophistication now, more knowledge, but ironically they haven't done that much more about it."

Financial Affairs Month is an annual public awareness effort promoted by such organizations as the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, the Detroit Bar Association, American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters and Chartered Financial Consultants, It's timed for April, when tax returns are due, but any time is good to get your financial affairs in order, advisors say.

"I find most people spend more than they make. I'm amazed," said Judy Trepeck, a CPA with Rehmann, Robson & Co. of Farmington Hills. "I'm a real big one on budgeting. Get control of how much it takes to live.

Motorized mayhem is big with big 'kids'

By Sue Mason staff writer.

HE RULES ARE SIMPLE: finding it is the hard part. In an area where manufacturing is the norm, Scoop and Shoot is definitely the oddball. Spotting the homemade wooden dodgem car-style sign at the corner of Marie and the eastbound Ford Road Service Drive in Westland is a good indication you're getting close.

"It's off the beaten path, but word of mouth is selling it," said manager Carlton Lewis. "People who know where we are are going to come."

A cross between basketball, jal alai and hockey, the motorized mayhem takes place in a 90-foot-long rink. Two teams of five people each, armed with jai alai style scoops, dash around the rink in car, trying to lob a whiffle ball into the opponent's basket 10 feet above the floor.

The cars resemble dodgem cars with stick steering so one hand is free to catch and toss the ball. The ball can be bounced off the floor, the net and wall to get goals worth two points, unless scored at the threepoint line. The shot can be made. from in front or in back of the basket or any angle.

And the only time the ball can be handled is when it falls into a car or gets smashed during a game, Lewis

The referee - usually Lewis or his brother Jasper, sits in an elevated booth at the side of the rink, providing the play-by-play and leveling two-point penalties for such things as slashing or unnecessary bumping.

"THE REFEREE pretty much keeps the game under control," Lewis said. "He has access to the power for the floor and calls the penalties."

That's where the rules come in. First off, you have to be at least four feet tall to play. And once you get in the car, you have to wear your seatbelt and keep you hands and feet

Of course, you can't do such things as swat at an opponent, engineer head on collisions or bump unneces-

And, last but not least, no hor-

Break the rules and you can count on a warning from the referee. Ignore the ref and you could be ejected from the game.

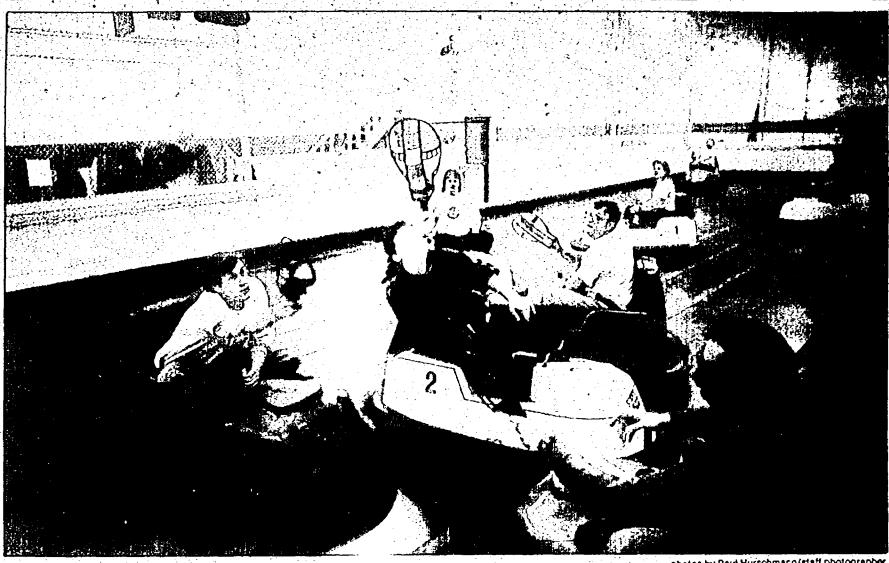

"Bumping and banging isn't what the game is all about," said Lewis "The idea is to score points. We understand there's going to be some bumping, but the point is to have some nice, clean fun.

"If we have someone who is bumping, we talk to the person who booked the rink about it. If that person can't control it, we'll ask that person to leave.'

Games can be played in 10-, 15- or 20-minute increments, the choice is up to the person or group that rents the rink. Rentals are $110 for one hour of play. That may seem steep, but the number of players per hour isn't limited to 10, so the more people who play the less the per person cost is. Lewis said.

Cathy Clough was only 33 when her husband died of cancer in 1983. At the time, Clough had children ages 5 and 9 and a 16-year-old step-

"Most people think that a widow is 60, .70 years old," said Clough, a Plymouth resident. She couldn't really relate to the experiences of older widows whose children were

"I knew that I needed to meet other people like myself."

Clough began to work for Arbor Hospice, based in Ann Arbor, a couple of years after her husband died. In August of 1987, she invited 10 other young widows to her home and the Starting Over support group be-

"We were in my house for the first year," said Clough, director of bereavement services for Arbor Hospice/Personalized Nursing Service. As the group grew, a larger site was needed, so members began to meet at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. Within the first six months, men were added to the Starting Over group.

Starting Over draws from a wide geographical range, including Royal Oak, downriver communities, the Ann Arbor area and even as far away as Jackson, Many of those people find there's no comparable group' closer to home.

"It absolutely is" needed, Clough said. "That's what I hear from everybody who comes. I would have struggled a lot less if I'd had people to go through it with,"

Pat Whalen of Canton has found Starting Over to be a great source of support: Her husband Hank, who was, a Canton Township trustee, died in September 1989 following a battle with cancer. She has two daughters ages 11 and 13.

"I didn't even know there was a group such as this," said Whaten, a homemaker who previously worked as a Ford Motor Co. secretary. She began going to meetings in October 1989 "right after my husband had died. I was looking for something for my children."

It comes as no great surprise that today's writer is a skeptic regarding graphology. She is a very intelligent woman whose thinking is both analytical and critical. So after she reads this analysis, I would like to learn if it has made a believer of her.

This is a sophisticated young woman, independent and unafraid to stand alone if necessary. In addition, she is self-reliant and able to work well on her won. If her work does not meet her high standards, she might become discouraged.

Our writer is also a progressive thinker. I doubt if she would ever be heard saying, "But this is the way we always did it in the past."

Her modus operandi is direct and straight from the shoulder. There is a noticeable lack of pretense here. She has the ability to initiate and act on her own ideas without encouragement from others. She is individualistic and artistic with a strong perception to form and structure.

She strives for implicity in her life and can eliminate all that she feels is superfluous. There is a little room in her mind for non-essentials. Although she is detailed oriented, they sometimes strain her patience a little. She can be rather intense at

PRING HAS taken its own sweet time arriving in Michigan this year, but the signs are easy to spot at Miller

The site, on Powell, between Beck and Ridge in Plymouth Township, is home to a variety of wildflowers, trees, birds and other animals. Visitors will have an opportunity to see all that and more during the annual Earth Day/Week tours 1-4 p.m. Saturday, May 2, and Sunday, May 10.

"We do it mostly to let people realize what is in the woods," said Evelyn Edgar, a Friends of the Miller Woods board member. "It you come out and look at the flowers, you'll never forget it."

Guides who conduct the tours have information on different varieties of flowers and other plants, said Edgar, a retired Plymouth-Canton schoolteacher. Many tour particlpants enjoy learning about what's growing in the woods.

The site is owned by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools; Friends members help to protect and preserve the hardwood forest. The group has conducted such tours each spring for many years.

FRIENDS MEMBERS Emily Remnitz and Joyce Holmes have been conducting monthly nature walks for some time now, and continued that effort throughout this past winter, Edgar said. Attendance dropped a bit during the colder months, although the May walks have been well-received and well-attended in the past.

"The weather, of course, makes a difference. There are people who come every year." Some newcomers also participate. Walks attract visitors of all ages, Edgar said, including a number of families. Some people decide to join the Friends group after going on one of the nature

Meadow Brook goes to Moms

A very special Mother's Day has been planned for Oakland University's Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Sunday, May 10.

The event will be Hudson's "Mother Nature Day," which will offer fun for the entire family 10 a.m.

Throughout the day, guests will have an opportunity to participate in family games, stop at the face painting station, enjoy musical entertainment, meet a number of clowns and much more. And box lunches will be served under tents.

At 12:30 p.m., young talent from St. Michael's Choir School in Toronto will perform on the OU Meadow Brook Music Festival Grounds. The diverse group of children, under the direction of Brian Rae, will perform everything from classical, religious and concert music to multi-choir, folk songs and Broadway show Meadow Brook Hall also will be open to guests to walk through during the day. Formerly the home of Oakland University's benefactors, Alfred and Matilda Dodge-Wilson, the 100-room mansion currently serves as a conference and cultural center. Hudson's will donate a portion of the "Mother Nature Day" proceeds for restoration and preservation projects benefitting the hall.

To top off the day, each mother will receive a gift package, including an exclusive, limited editon T-shirt designed by Laurel Burch.

Tickets for "Mother Nature Day" will be available, beginning Sunday, April 26, by calling (800) 282-2450. They're priced at $10 for Mom and $7.50 for each of her friends. Comfortable shoes and attire are recommended and parking will be available on the music festival grounds.

Mother Nature Day" is co-sponsored by SWATCH and Laurel Burch. It is handicap accessible and will be held rain or shine.

The career change planned by the Rev. Kerry Heltinger, pastor of Canton Free Methodist Church, isn't exactly what you'd call typi-

Hellinger has served as the congregation's pastor for nearly six years. He'll be leaving at the end of July to begin classes as a first-year law student at Harvard University

"This will be without question the most difficult year of my life." Hettinger's married and the father of three children, a 15-year-old son and twin daughters who are almost 4. He knows that moving to Cambridge, Mass., and becoming a fulltime student for the next three years will be a challenge.

About a year ago, Hettinger was faced with a transition. The average tenure for a pastor at a first church in his denomination is three to four years, so he knew he'd need to make a transition.

"It's gone quite well and I've enjoyed it." He began to question his calling to the ministry and considered other options, such as teaching philosophy, a subject he'd studied as an undergraduate and in the semi-

He realized he'd lost some interest in that field, and didn't necessarily want to teach it. "Social philosophy would be more of a concern at this point." He's not as interested in more arcane areas.

He thought about studying psychology and becoming a counselor, Hettinger considered pursuing a doctorate in philosophy or a master's degree in business administra-

HE HADN'T thought about law school until last summer. "As I looked at the various opportunities, law is the one I eventually went with." The discipline opens a lot of doors, he said, and provides an opportunity to have some influence.

He applied to a number of law schools, and didn't anticipate being accepted by Harvard.

Hettinger, 34, earned a bachelor of arts degree from Spring Arbor College in Spring Arbor, Mich., majoring in philosophy and psychology. In 1986, he earned a master of inity degree from Asbury Theo logical Seminary near Lexington, Ky, specializing in philosophy.

He's had some interesting comments related to his decision. Some feel attorneys are morally more apt to compromise than is true of the clergy, although Hettinger doesn't believe that's the case. "Our society just has enormous freedoms that we sometimes neglect to appreciate,"

The number of attorneys in the U.S. is related to those freedoms, he said, and the fact that the average. person can obtain legal representation is a marvel of the American dream. Attorneys exist in proportion to market needs, he added.

Hettinger isn't sure what specialty he'll pursue as an attorney. He hopes to take at least one course in international law and in labor law, Spring sounds surround us as , frogs and birds prepare for the rifes of the season. Each species has its own unique sound that identifies it from others and thus attracts only the same species.

In birds, sounds also help individuals to partition their habitat so each pair will have adequate resources with which to raise their

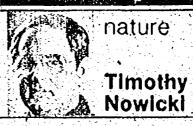

Most of the sounds we hear are made as a vocalization. In the throat of many animals is a "voice" box" that is the sound production structure. Birds have a syrinx, while mammals have a larynx.

But important sounds produced my many animals do not come from the throat. Insect sounds are made by mechanical means. Legs are rubbed together like a fingernail over the teeth of a comb. Or a tympanum is vibrated to produce

BIRDS ALSO produce mechanical sounds. Drumming of woodpeckers is done on a hollow tree to create a resonant tap that serves the same function as a sound produced in the throat. Finding a suit, able downspout can create an ampliffed sound no tree could make.

The very feature that makes a bird a bird - feathers - can also make mechanical sounds. Rulled grouse use a suitable log lying on the ground for their courtship drumming. A male beats his wings toward his body and compresses the air between. He does not hit his body, Rapidly increasing compressions produce a low thumping sound that travels through the forest to attract a mate.

In open marsh areas, the sky dance of the common snipe produces an eerie sound. High overhead the male snipe flys in a deep undulating pattern. On the downslope of the pattern, he spreads his tail feathers. Wind passing between the open feathers creates a low-pitched vibration often described as a winnowing.

Some courtship activities include both vocal and mechanical aspects. American woodcock have a peent-like call they produce while on the ground. They include sounds produced by their narrow wing feathers when flying. While Each species has its own unique sound that identifies it from others and thus attracts only the same species.

Hunger. Homelessness. A month in the bitter Michigan winter with a steel trap clamped on a leg. Excruciating pain. Infection. Loss of a limb.

Most of us never would have made it.

Little Lady wouldn't have either, if it hadn't been for the Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society. When the MACS rescue team found her near Belle Isle, she was starved and traumatized, her back leg a darkened stump with a single joint protruding. Unfortunately, during surgery, the remaining portion of her gangrenous rear leg had to be removed. But after a period of convalescence, Little Lady was adopted by a loving woman who, ironically, shares her same physical challenge.

The fact is. Little Lady's happy ending is a rareoccurrence. Her case got television coverage, but for too many animals who are unloved, described or even fortured. their stories end quietly and unhappily.

This is why The Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society (MACS) needs your assistance. For over 57 years, they have been providing animal rescues; adoption services, cruelty-investigations, as well as shelter for neglected animals. Your help is needed, happily not for

Roll Call Report

Here's how Michigan's two senators were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending April 10.

SENATE

AGAINST DEFENSE CUT: By a vote of 45 for 50 against, the Senate defeated an amendment to cut defense spending in the fiscal 1993 congressional budget resolution by about $8 billion below the $280 billion level set by the Budget Committee for the year beginning Oct. 1.

Sponsor James Exon, D-Neb., accused the Administration and many in Congress of Intentionally overstating the impact of deeper defense cuts on civilian and military employment.

Opponent Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said efforts to reduce the deficit should not be focused on defense spending but on the rapid growth of entitlements and interest on the national debt.

A yes vote was for further defense cuts in fiscal 1993.

Sen. Carl Levin, D, and Sen. Donald Riegle, D, both voted yes.

ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUE: By a vote of 87 for and 11 against, the Senate adopted a non-binding measure (H Con Res 292) urging President Bush to attend the U.S. Conference on Environment and Development in Brazil in June. Bush has not said whether he will attend. Global warming is high on the agenda.

A yes vote supported the resolu-

TO APPROVE BUDGET: By a vote of 54 for and 35 against, the Senate approved a fiscal 1993 budget blueprint (S Con Res 106) setting outlays of $1.5 trillion; receipts of $1.17 trillion and a projected deficit of $327.4 billion. About half of the budget is for domestic entitlements whose levels are protected by law."

Among the measure's top spending items are $303.1 billion for Social Security, $280.4 billion for defense,, $213.8 billion for national debt interest, $130.4 billion for Medicare and $104 billion for health. Foreign aid gets $16.6 billion and Agriculture $16.1 billion.

A yes vote was to approve the budget resolution that will guide actual spending decisions by Congress

Both Levin and Riegle voted yes.

SOCIAL SECURITY: By a vote of 94 for and three against, the Senate changed its rules to fence off Social Security trust funds within the federal budget. The change raised to 60 votes the minimum required to pass any floor amendment diverting Social Security surpluses to other purposes. The vote occurred during debate on S Con Res 106 (above).

Supporter Phil Grammn, R-Tex., said senators should vote yes "If you want to guarantee that we erect a protective barrier between the budget and the Social Security trust fund

No opponent spoke against the parliamentary change. A yes vote supported the parlia-

The 34th annual show will feature 19 artists exhibiting 100 paintings in oil, watercolor and mixed media. Frame Works, 833 Penniman, Plymouth, will host the show and an artists' reception at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 2.

"There's nothing like having original art created by an artist," said Yolanda Menchaca, publicity chairwoman.

"There's a special kind of energy that radiates from an original artwork, the energy that emanates from creativity. I think that paintings are such magical places.

"Painting for me is a childhood love. I was always fascinated how they could squeeze out of a tube a wolf or a cabin."

FARMINGTON ARTIST Alice Nichols will jury the show. First, second and third place will be awarded in two categories; oil and mixed media.

The Grumbacher Silver Medallion will honor best use of color. A Best of Show and honorable mentions also will be chosen. After the show, a Popular Vote Award will salute the painting winning the most votes from viewers.

Menchaca has painted for 20 years. Six years ago, she moved to Michigan. She joined the 3 Citles Art Club five years ago.

Don't dismiss buying fine art in tough times

Editor's note: Even the art world isn't immune from the fallout of a depressed economy and the planned closing of a major auto assembly plant like Willow Run in Ypsilanti. In a series of reports continuing today, we're examining the extent of the recession's tug on art galleries and artists around Oberverland.

If you love art and would like to enjoy a piece or two in your home, hints from local art experts could help make your art dreams reality.

Consider buying artwork without the frame. Deal directly with the artist and be honest about your financial situation. These are some of the tips to help you afford art for your home when on a shoestring budget.

"First off, open up a dialogue with an artist. Lots of times people are intimidated. They should be more open with their budget constraints," said Livonia artist Barbara Demgen, who has been painting and selling her artwork for more than 30 years.

"Many artists will be willing to compromise. I know I'm open to a reasonable offer when people really love a piece but money is tight."

Ask the artist if they're willing to sell it unframed, right off the drawing board or easel.

"If they can put a frame together, you can get a nicely cut production mat at Meljer's or Kmart," Demgen said. "Some of the brass frames are really nice as well as inexpensive."

TO MAKE artwork more afford able, Demgen suggests buying it in steps, a painting at a time.

Instead of a big sofa piece, buy a series of three scenes. This way, buying the artwork can be adjusted to fit your budget," Demgen said. "Look at young artists or artists who are not necessarily showing in galleries, Look around. Keep checking sourc-

"If a piece is framed and the frame is scratched or nicked, ask for a discount on the frame. It doesn't de-value the artwork if the frame is damaged because of constant exhibiting," said Westland artist Saundra Weed, a continuing education art instructor at Schoolcraft College, Livonia.

Instead of buying framed art, learn framing by taking a class at a local high school or college. "Re-do some of the artwork you have and preserve it better. Maybe it's time to look in the closet and find things they've bought before," Weed said.

"As a buyer, they can suggest putting it in layaway and make payments till it's paid for. This is a good time for investment buying. When the economy goes up, the prices will

"Buy more utilitarian pieces -buy them, use them, enjoy them," Weed said. "This is a wonderful time to buy artwork for gifts, to give something very unique, for a housewarming something in pottery, for newlyweds, a tea set."

An avid art collecting husband and wife team who have been buying art for 24 years concur with Weed's advice to would-be art buyers on a budget - buy art as gifts.

"We couldn't really afford to buy it (an artwork) but couldn't resist," she said, "so I bought it for him for Father's Day and he bought me one for Mother's Day."

The collector couple from Livonia said they have decided to buy a lot of art that will increase in value, investment art such as prints by wildlife artist Robert Bateman. They intend to hang on to it for a while, then sell, take the money and buy another Bateman they could not afford at this time but would like to hang on their walls one day.

But they caution art bought for investment needs to be kept in excellent condition. It's best to store art under the proper conditions. "We

Timothy and Rachael Sheldon moved here from New York State in the early 1820s, after the Chicago Road (US-12) was surveyed. The first people to purchase land in the area, they built an inn near here in 1825. In 1831, Timothy became, postmaster of the area's post office. Eventually, the settlement of Sheldon's Corners supported a log schoolhouse, two general stores, two churches, a cobbler and a blacksmith. In 1834, this area became a part of the Township of Canton.

Improvise to make art affordable

Continued from Page 1 bought a piece in January and it doubled in price by the first of this month. Also, when you buy a new release they're a lot less."

One last tip from this art-buying couple: "We go to lots of shows with the intention of not purchasing. My husband will say to me why don't you measure this piece and write down the price, then let's go home and think about it."

WHETHER IT'S an art show or, gallery hopping, take time before buying to study the art available and the market. Look for art in unusual places, like hair styling salons, boutiques, bakeries, doctor's offices, pet stores, anywhere you shop.

Attend student art shows and local artists club exhibitions. Stop in and browse through the art at non-profit or cooperative galleries and studios. To educate yourself about art and buying it, whenever viewing a piece of artwork, learn to ask questions.

One good way to be certain if you are making the right choice before buying a piece of artwork is to take it home and live with it for awhile. Rent a piece or two from the Plymouth Community Arts Council's Art Rental Gallery on the second floor of the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street in downtown Plymouth.

For $5 a month, find out if a red, green and orange abstract is your cup of tea or if a springtime land. scape with cheerful yellow daffodils would suit you better.

"It's a great service, a good way to find out if the piece is the right color, size and definition for your home or business," said Therese

DIA seeks volunteer docents for galleries

The Detroit Institute of Arts needs your help. Struggling to operate and maintain a first-class museum under state budget cuts totaling $7 million, the DIA needs-volunteers to keep as many galleries open as possible during the severely curtailed hours of 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

During a behind the scenes took at museum operations hosted by the Founders Junfor Council in March, staff member Diane Abel asked visitors to consider giving a few hours in a last-ditch effort to keep as much of the museum's art collection available as possible for public viewing.

How many galleries are open on a given day depends on the number of people who volunteer for the DIA's volunteer gallery service program, started in December as part of a reorganization the color. What I like is the richness of oil. It's all in the values. There's no reason you can't put oils under glass."

"Blackberry Harvest," an oil painting under glass by Dezell, features a bucket full of blackberries, the sun glinting off the luscious fruits as you stare inside it. Painted in the tradition of realism, the work uses an abstract pattern in the background. The painting is priced at $350.

"Painting's my great form of relaxation, to get away from life," Dezell said.

BETTY MATHE, 3 Cities past president, has spent the last 40 years painting. As a child, her grandmother tried to discourage her interest in art.

"You don't want to be an artist," Mathe said. "Artists are poor and live in attics.'

Nichols, show juror, has a master of arts degree from the University of Michigan. The former Farmington Area Arts Commission artist-in-residence teaches classes in watercolor.

Al Larson, Frame Works owner, has been in business 20 years.

A percentage of all show sales will go to support Plymouth community projects.

Displaying art in this year's show along with Menchaca, Dezell and Mathe will be Jim DeArmond. Hugh Burley, Sharon Dillenbeck, Kay Fill, Janice Sparks, Okema Lee, Florence Constable, Susan Argiroff, Sherrie Moore, Jean Turins. Jackie Daniel, Howard Dombrowski, Nancy Walls Smith, Joan Ther, Florence Hirschmann and John Davidson.

Show hours are 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. May 2-7 and 9 and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, May 8.

Know how to help feathered friends

By Debble Walls Landau special writer

Providing food and shelter for the feathered friends who frequent your property has an appeal for people of

Whether you're an avid naturalist or simply enjoy the prospect of making birds more comfortable, many local resources can get you started.

Raspberry and blackberry bushes provide excellent cover, nesting sites and food sources for 146 different kinds of birds. Hackberry and mulberry bushes offer fruits appealing to many members of the thrush family, including robins and eastern bluebirds as well as other species.

Through early spring, birds need high calorie foods to keep their body temperatures at 106 degrees. Oiltype sunflower, suct and thistle seed are the highest calorie foods, said Mari Ferguson, owner of Wild Birds Unlimited in Farmington Hills.

Her store not only carries books on attracting birds, but also provides food storage through different seasons, birdhouses, a newsletter, wildlife calendars and gift items.

A nationwide artistic explosion marks the craft of birdhouse design. Lovely and whimsical though many are, many houses make great collectors' items or home decor, but aren't suitable (or outside birds.

PAMELA BIGLEY, owner of Bird's Eye View and Nature Center in Rochester, advises people considering buying or building birdhouses to evaluate your habitat,

"You need to consider your property and learn about the birds common to the area. Birds most likely to use manmade houses include wrens, chickadees, bluebirds and purple martins. While wrens and chickadees are more plentiful around wooded areas, bluebirds prefer open. fields and purple martins like open areas near water.'

Bigley, a wildlife biologist by education, opened Birds Eye View and Nature Center in 1983 with her mother, Barbara, a former science

"I enjoy helping teachers use the outdoors as a classroom. When I got out of school in the 1970s, there: wasn't a great demand for naturalists," said Bigley, outreach liaison to Dinosaur Hill Nature Preserve in Rochester.

"When people are serious about erecting a birdhouse, they need to make sure it's species correct," Bigley said. "Those features include the correct size opening, the diameter of the cavity of the house and the dislance from the opening to the floor.

The opening of a house for a wren or chickadee is only 148 to 144inches. They're tiny birds. The eastern bluebird needs a slightly larger opening, but the purple martin needs a hole 21/2 inches wide."

THE PURPLE martin is the only bird in North America reliant on manmade housing.

Purple martins live in large communities, are the largest member of the swallow family and eat insects caught in flight. Nesting near open space close to water, their homes are often called "condominiums" because of the compartments and openings.

Houses built from aluminum are most practical because they're easier to clean and better ventilated. Their homes, being so large, are almost always situated on telescopic poles, which permit lowering for cleaning.

Bigley observes that only 15 percent of the birds who live in North America use the cavity of a bird-

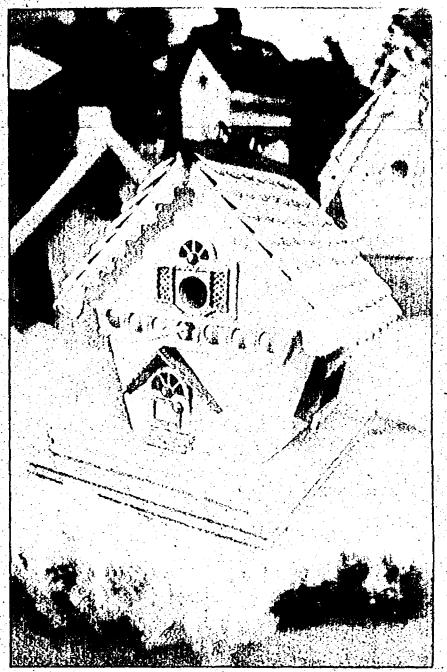

"Many more set up their own nests in natural habitats." she said. "If you're serious about creating housing, make sure you're committed to keeping it cleaned out after. each brood has left so parasites don't remain in the cavity of the house."

Make sure the birdhouse roof protects the entrance from water and mount the house at the proper height, the merchants add.

BIGLEY IS excited about the return of many eastern bluebirds to Michigan, a project jointly encouraged by the Department of Natural Resources and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

"In the 1870s," she said, "the bluebird population was at its peak. They were as plentiful as robins. Then they gradually almost disappeared. They're migratory birds who are members of the thrush family and they return early and will nest in boxes if they're available.'

Small shrubs and trees near open fields attract them. The biggest challenge is keeping out starlings and sparrows. Cleaning nesting material helps cut down on their invasions. Bluebird boxes should be mounted in open areas, along fence rows, golf courses, Bigley said.

Mary Teets, owner with husband, Donald, of Backyard Birds in Farmington, mentions the Bluebird Trail in Farmington Hills' Heritage Park as a project many of her customers have participated in.

Her store, in addition to a sampling of species correct houses and a variety of food and feeders, displays a library of books and kits for sale as well as tapes and other materials to

Among newer designs of handcrafted houses the Teets carry are works by Jack Burns, who lives in Kawkawlin. His signature pieces often resemble a cross between a chalet and a gingerbread house.

The Country Originals line employs woods and metals in birdhouse construction. The designs, according to Teets, are artsy, but utilitarian. Many are shaped like apples, watermelons or pumpkins.

But the study revealed they only ate at feeders 25 percent of the time."

English gardens

'There are as many variations as there are people'

By Cathleen Collins Lee special writer

OR MANY of us, having a garden in the back yard means creating some tidy borders around the outside edges; the center is simply a large expanse of lawn. But, influenced by her English father, Barb Wright of Troy has taken a different and attractive approach.

While there are indeed shrubs and plants growing around the perimeter, Wright also has developed several curved, irregularly shaped islands of flowers and shrubs throughout her yard. These flower beds are raised mounds, often lined by rocks and connected by brick pathways. In the center of one is even a small pond inhabited by a few fish.

The beds are dominated by a few deciduous or evergreen shrubs, including hydrangea, which gets deep rose blossoms, rhododendrons, azaleas, euonymus and yews. The shrubs are accompanied by a procession of perennials throughout the summer: day lilies, sedum (a flowering groundcover), ferns, hostas, violas and white, pink and lilac astilbe.

WRIGHT HAS created her yard to resemble the English garden her father grew when she was growing up in Ferndale. But there are few hard and fast rules about what an English garden

"There are as many variations as there are people," says Steven Shy, owner of Lakeland Landscape in Plymouth, "Some are very manicured, with uniform shapes, while some are more natural, like a garden at a country home." English gardens do have á few common .

'I can spend eight hours in the yard and hate to come in. I love it because I can do it the way I want to. And it's characteristics, however. Generally they are enclosed in some way, often by a stone or brick wall or by a hedge. Islands of flowers and shrubs are scattered throughout the yard, sometimes in geometric shapes, and sometimes in more informal, irregular ones like Wright's.

And English gardens make good use of perennials so that something is blooming all season long. Often flowers are grouped by color and the color combinations can be lovely.

DAVID MICHENER, assistant curator at Matthael Botanical Gardens in Ann Arbor, says it would be impossible to duplicate an English garden because England's climate is so different from ours.

"They don't have the long hot summers and cold winters we do," he said. "It shifts the blooming periods and they can get plant combinations we don't get. A paint-by-numbers equivalent doesn't work. But what people can do is make gardens that are in the spirit of an English garden."

That's exactly what Wright, a plano teacher, with two grown sons, has tried to do. She loves to garden because it offers her the freedom to create something that is beautiful to her.

"I can spend eight hours in the yard and hate to come in," she said. "I love it because I can do it the way I want to. And it's mine, My husband, Jack, helps me, but it really is mine.

The hedges that often enclose English gardens can be time-consuming to maintain. In Wright's yard, dogwood bushes, vines, lilacs, forsythia, wild rose bushes and shrubs planted along the fence fill in and enclose the yard in the summer

THERE ARE many small gardens scattered throughout Wright's yard, each with its own character. An area near the side of the house that gets a lot of sun is planted with lilies, daisies, Japanese irises and ivy.

A tree behind the house is surrounded by a blanket of groundcover, interspersed with cotoneasters, low spreading yews and junipers, primroses and astilbe. And in the back corner, Wright's husband built a wooden archway called a pergola, which blooms in mid-summer with a clematis vine.

Loren Blum, a horticulturalist at English Gardens in West Bloomfield, points out that the perennials so important to an English garden are much more available in this country than they

"There's been a tremendous increase in the use of perennials in the past 10 to 15 years, due to the influence of the Europeans," he said. "Perennials give you color for a period of time - three to six weeks - and give you a changing

"Most need to be replanted every two to four years, depending on the type of plant, but it's probably less work than planting all those

Day lilies are among the easy-to-grow perennials Barb Wright uses in her English-style garden.

Soil nutrient balance — a key to healthy growth

By Keely Wygonik, ...

Put your soil to the test to see if it has the necessary nutrients to make your lawn and

'Soil testing is a diagnostic lab test that determines the nutrients in the soil," said Greg Patchan, horticultural agent for the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, Oakland County office. "You can't tell how you should fertilize soil by looking at it. The tests will tell you."

One way to judge your soil's chemical composition is to test its pll. The pli describes its alkalinity (sweetness) or acidity (sourness) as measured on a scale of one to 14 with seven representing neutral.

Some plants thrive only in intensely acid soil. Others can survive in alkaline soils. Lime is generally used to raise pli and sullead to problems. If your soil is well balanced, fertilizers will work correctly and plants will thrive. A balance of the three major plant nutrients nitrogen, phosphorous and potassium or potash - is necessary for good soll.

When you shop for fertilizer, you'll see that the bags are labled with three-number formulas, such as 5-10-10 or 10-10-01. This is how the percentage of the three major elements within a given fertilizer mix is indi-

Nitrogen makes leaves grow. Abundant nltrogen results in dark green follage. Too much can cause rapid growth and weak plants. A plant in this kind of soil is less resistant to disease, infection and injury. Stunted plant growth, a slow-down in development and yellowing leaves signal a nitrogen deliciency.

phur to lower it, too much or not enough can . To boost the nitrogen content, condition your soil with a mixture of organic material which includes aged manure.

Some vegetables like asparagus, cabbagé, leek, chard and Brussel sprouts benefit from extra nitrogen. For a lush, healthy lawn, nitrogen is important.

Phosphorus makes fruits and flowers grow. To add phosphorous, rake bone meal

Potassium makes roots grow and alds plants in forming starches and sugars. It also helps them resist disease and drought. It is the third major element in the fertilizer formula. Wood ashes are a good source of potassium for your soil.

But how much is enough? You won't know until you test the soil. There are two ways you can send a soil sample to Michigan State University for testing, or buy a kit from a home and garden store.

Kits are available at Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service offices for $7.50 or $8.50 by mall. Kits consist of instructions and a small cardboard box for the soil sample. The soil is sent to Michigan State University and analyzed in the soiling testing lab. An interpretation of soil test results and the fertilizer recommendations will accompany your soil test report.

You can also test soll at home with kits sold at garden centers like the "Acu-Test" by Sudbury which tests pll and nitrogen, cost $1.99, Sudbury also makes a Lawn and Garden Soil Test Kit, cost $14.99 that tests lime, nitrogen phosphorous and potash levels.

After learning the proper mix of fertilizer, it's time to get ready for gardening. To prepare the soil, clear the garden of cans, sticks, rocks and any other trash. Pick up a handful of soil. Squeeze it. If the soil falls out in pieces it is dry enough to dig. If it stays in a mud ball it is too wet.

When the soil is dry enough, spread half the fertilizer and organic matter like leaves, straw, grass ellppings, over the garden surface then, dig in and turn over the soil to a depth of eight inches.

Apply the other half of the fertilizer and organic matter. Work these into the soil and rake until smooth and free of large clumps. Continue raking into the soil until it is smooth and ready for plahting.

Compost, or decomposed organic material, is a good all-around soil booster. It helps dry, sandy soils to hold water longer and loosens hard, wet clay soil. You can make compost by collecting leaves, straw, grass clippings, vegetable peelings into a pile. Alternate layers of compost with layers of fertlizer, about three cups for each bushel of

Less mortgage interest variation exists today

- As refinancers by the thousands have seen in recent months, home mortgages have become a much more versatile moneymanagement tool than they used to

Interest rates on these loans have sunk to around their lowest levels in more than a decade. The mortgage business, meanwhile, has undergone a sweeping redesign.

So all parties to these deals can find themselves cast in roles they might not have recognized even a few years ago.

"In the current market, virtually everyone who has received a mortgage since 1978 is a refinance candireal estate and mortgage planning...... Mortgage Corp.

"Clients refinance to obtain investment capital, educate children, repay consumer debt, raise business expansion capital and a host of other reasons," Storms writes in the current issue of the Journal of Financial Planning.

And they pursue these missions, he adds, in "a new lending environment that few customers understand."

The biggest change arises from the development of a national pool of mortgage money, fed by investors in mortgage securities that are created and sold by agencies such as the tually all mortgage money comes

> THANKS TO THIS marketplace, the availability of mortgages at any given time and place is much less subject now to the vagaries of local financial conditions than it was when individual sayings institutions called the tune.

In the "credit crunch" of the past couple of years, few stories emerged of credit worthy home buyers being shut out of the market simply because mortgage money was "tight." Also, Storms observes, "Since vir-

In the modern marketplace, borrowers have a broad range of choices among fixed and adjustable loans: that can accommodate their situation, preferences and goals.

For instance, home buyers or refinancers in the current market might choose an adjustable mortgage with a low initial rate if they expect to be moving on within two or three years.

Alternatively, they might look for a 30-year fixed loan to "lock in" today's rates for the foreseeable future. Or, anticipating a future need such as college for their children or retirement, they might opt for a 15year fixed loan.

The decision can come down to nothing more elaborate than personal tastes - for instance, a preference for the security of a fixed rate, even if it means paying more per month at the outset.

Weekend lawn mowing interferes with owner's quiet time

I bought a house in a subdivision with the expectation of being able to sit out on my patio on the weekends and enjoy nature. But I have found, to my disappointment, that the weekends are the time when my neighbors cut the grass. Therefore I can not enjoy the tranquility that I had expected. What can I do about this situation? The most obvious response I would recommend is to contact your neighbors and ask their consideration as to the times when they choose to cut their grass. Point out to them that you are only able to enjoy your patio area on the weekends and if their is any way that they can accommodate your needs, it would be greatly appreciated. You might also check your deed restrictions regarding cutting of grass or the making of unreasonable noise at unreasonable hours or days. You may also wish to consider proposing an amendment to the bylaws and restrictions for consideration by the homeowners' board of directors. You may also wish to consult with the municipality to trary.

determine whether there are any ordinances involved that may protect your rights as a homeowner under these circumstances, but only after you have made reasonable efforts to resolve the matter amicably withyour neighbors or through the homeowners association.

Can you tell me what the law is in Michigna regarding whether a hotel guest is liable for fire damage to the hotel promises caused by his negligence?

The law is that a tenant is not normally liable to its lessor or the lessor's insurer for negligently causing fire damage absent an express and unequivocal agreement to the con-

The courts have reasoned that a tenant could reasonably expect that his or her rental payments will be used to cover the lessor's ordinary and necessary expenses, including fire insurance premiums. Whether the persons, causing the fire is a tenant or a guest, the courts seem to indicate that it is reasonable to expect that the payment would be used to cover the innkeeper's expenses of maintaining the facilities, including fire insurance; Such insurance would cover the losses sustained through negligence even though the negligent act causing the fire might be subject to criminal penalties. MAKE THE MOVE NOW!

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

- The selection is excellent.
- · Low interest rates are available.
- There are many financing options available.

Go ahead, make the move. Now is the right time to buy a home.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- · 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- · First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- · Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment.
- Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

Pick up your free Garage Sale tolder in our office when you place your ad! (Contains two signs, two arrows, 8

shandy ledger, 14 light for a successful sale and hine tips

for a successful ad)

HOW TO

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning. Like you'll want to decide what to self and how much to charge for each item and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers ... so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins. Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . , so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Supermarkets, laundromats, singles bars - you can look for love in a lot of places. But finding love takes more than a patented pick-up line and a disarming smile. It takes patience, communication and trust - things you won't find in the peanut bowl or the pet food aisle.

The Observer & Eccentric introduces Personal Scene, the new talking personals system. Starting May 4th, you'll find it every Monday in Street Scene and in every Thursday's Classified Section.

Personal Scene is an affordable way to meet hundreds of singles from all over the suburban Detroit area.

ne and ed

Here's how it works. First, place your 5-line listing FREE For 8 Times, and record your original voice message free. So if you are 18 years or older, call 591-0900 Today!

Once your ad and voice message are entered, interested parties can hear your message and leave a reply for just $1.49 a minute. Then, also for $1.49 a minute, you can retrieve replies and see what you think. If you like what you hear, you can call them back and arrange to meet. No one will ever call you at home, unless you ask them to.

Builders snarpen focus on customer choice in houses

staff writer

Even the most experienced of businessman can't know everything about his customers' wants and needs.

Or to put it in another way: Give the people what they want and they'll beat a path to your door, try to give them what they don't want and they won't even know your

Builders have learned this lesson the hard way. In the past, they might have built homes they thought were good examples of everything a tar-get audience could possibly want, but once the home was built he found few takers.

Builders commonly say their customers are more sophisticated today than in the past — the problem for them is finding out what these more sophisticated customers want.

Some work by trial and error and gut feelings. Some use projects that were successful in the past and modify them slightly using sale follow-up questionnaires and surveys.

Some builders use focus groups.

DEBN HYDE, marketing director with Pulte Home Corp. In Birmingham, said the building company has been using focus groups for years and they have gone a long way toward helping them design their homes.

Focus groups have been helpful to Pulte - one of the nation's largest home builders - in a number of ways, from evaluating advertising, gauging customer perception and evaluating products, Hyde said.

For the home builder, the most valuable use of focus groups is in helping them evaluate products.

"The problem with homes is peo-ple buy them before ever using

Because of that, problems that may be inherent in the design are not immediately evident to either the builder, the architect or the potential

For example, one of the houses Pulte selis in several of its developments, started out with a much smaller kitchen. "But what people told us is they needed more room. People gravitate to the kitchen."

Builders have long been told that kitchens are gathering points and that has become increasingly evident through the focus group.

"The breakfast nook is no longer sufficient."

KITCHENS TODAY are larger, have fireplaces, space for couches, island bars that people can eat around, television nooks, and built-in desks.

Focus groups also have been telling Pulte to return to the formal living room and dining room.

They may never use them, but they want them."

Some younger families are still interested in the great room concept, she said, but many more want that room that is used infrequently and kept clean: "Someplace to take the insurance man or a salesman away from the mess."

Placement of master bed and bathroom suites, upstairs versus downstairs laundry, two-story entry foyers, built-in shelves, art and plant areas - these and many other features are put into production because people demand them, she said.

"When people are home buying, they go to a lot of different sources," Hyde said. "A good builder respects these sources.

"We try to take those features in the expensive homes, the mansions, and — where possible — incorporate them into the less expensive homes," she said. 'That gives the homes value to people.".

Hyde also said that one of the more popular features these days is the back stairway - a feature that is driven by the plethora of televi-sion sitcom familles.

"On television sets, it's a practical matter - it's a way to get the actors on and off the set, but people really like idea. Everyone uses the back staircase, and that leaves the front staircase nice for visitors."

STILL, MANY ideas will still be builder-driven; she said. Non-builders can't always see how a concept will look in real life, or how an art rendering translates into a real room.

An example might be the patlo

the way down the wall. "That can really make a difference when it comes to how people use the basement."

But focus groups are helpful in pointing out where builders' ideas are impractical,

"Sometimes things happen by accident," Hyde said. For example, when building a house for a recent Homearama, a decision was made to cut a hole in the wall between the master bedroom and a second smaller bedroom.

"The people loved it," she said, They wanted to use it as a sitting area or a computer room - so now we include that as an option."

JOHN BRAND, executive vice president of The Brand Consulting Group, said just about any type of business can use the information culled from focus groups to improve their business.

focus group is to understand 'why.' Brand said. "Why they like something, why they hate something, why they buy here, why they buy there." Each type of company will have a

"The key, the objective of any different "why" they need answered, Brand said. The type of people in the focus group will change depending on what the company is trying to determine.

"There's a saying: if the client wants to market something to people exclusively with square belly buttons, well, we'll find them," he said.

In the case of the builder, that why could be one of two things: why a house isn't (or is) selling; or why a sales program doesn't work (or works).

"Sometimes you can see these things without the focus groups," he said. "It's not unusual to see a manager say, 'We know that" when he looks at the report. But if you know that, why weren't you doing something about it?"

The focus group does exactly what it says — It helps company mana-gers focus on what is important. Sometimes, managers get caught up in things that are important to the company, but they lose sight of things that are important to the cus-

"People don't always know why they do the things they do," he said. Focus groups are helpful tools in problem solving for several reasons, that they produce ideas that might not come to light otherwise. ELLEN WHITEFIELD, marketing director for the Selective Group in Farmington Hills, sald focus almost since the company began. "We use them typically in two ways," she said. "In pre-marketing, we want to know if the plan we intend to provide is appropriate for that community. 'After the sale, we want to know did we do what we planned to do," she said. "We might do a focus group after (a project is completed) if a community isn't taking off." Because communities are different, a home in one community may not sell well in another, she said.

"A builder may also use focus groups to help determine why a particular sales program worked or didn't work," she sald. "Why is it they came to visit a particular model? Did they like the ad? Was it informative? Was It not informative enough and they needed more infor-

Although the process can change depending on what results the builder is seeking, focus groups involve : getting a group of people together who evaluate house plans the builder is proposing for production, Pulte Home Corp. marketing director Deen Hyde said.

"After the architect designs the house, we walk them through each room (on the drawings)," she sald.

an expensive proposition, she said, but that's not necessarily the case. "We actually save money in the long run," Hyde sald. - Building a home based on the perceptions, wants and needs of actual home buyers will result in a home that sells. "Otherwise, we'd get a house that a committee of builders like, but maybe no one else.

"There's nothing worse than investing a lot of time and money into something that no one likes," Hyde said. "If we build four or five of them and no one buys them, then we'd have a problem.

also work as a project manager for a construction project.

THOMAS KURMAS, president of Thomas W. Kurmas & Associates in Bloomfield Hills, said he's been using Construction Cost Consultants for more than a year to do preliminary budgets.

"One of the most critical areas forany project is the budget," Kurmas said. The big advantage of going to a service like Construction Cost Consultants is that someone in the building industry can give better estimates based on current prices.

Prior to using the service, Kurmas said his company relied on publications that helped estimate costs by

Builder's earliest hurdle: getting a handle on cost

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Sometimes constructing a building costs more than anticipated: When that happens, people lose big time. Cost overruns can mean either financial hardships, or in a worstcase scenario, a project goes uncompleted.

Paul Holt; chairman of Construction Cost Consoltants Inc. in Southfield, said after 40 years in the construction business he has witnessed numerous projects where a construction project was severely underes-

"There are 30 or so steps to building something - the first is find an architect, the second is get a cost estimate - that's before starting construction or preparation."

Holt said he has seen numerous occasions where an owner spends thousands of dollars for drawings and specifications for projects that were never built because bids came in higher than the owner could afford or wanted to pay.

It occurred to Holt and his partner, James R. Holt, that a construction cost estimating service that takes an extremely complex task and does it quickly and accurately could be a potentially lucrative busi-

"We know through years of doing this what (construction) costs were," he said. "I guess the reason I can do it is after all those years in construction (is) you learn to read between the lines.'

NOT EVERYONE needs a construction cost estimator. Contractors and subcontractors generally do their own estimates when they bid Holt's customers, he said, are the architects who need a price to give their clients, people who are building their own houses, business owners who are considering an addition and sometimes subcontractors.

"What it all boils down to, though, is you do it so the owner knows what he's getting into."

Construction estimates also prove useful as a management tool, so the building owner knows how close he is to budget - to control overruns

he should expect from subcontractor As a management tool, the construction estimate can be helpfyl-in. preventing tremendous expense or

and for hiring contractors - so the building owner can gauge how much even lawsuits. If a bid comes in far ... below estimates, it may be because the bid was given on the wrong equipment - a non-commercial heater was suggested instead of the proper unit.

"That will cost you 10 times as much later on,'the said.

CONSTRUCTION COST Consultants develops both comprehensive and simple budgets, depending on what is needed. "I had an architect call me at 8 in the morning once telling me he needed (a construction estimate) for a meeting with his client by 9 o'clock.

"I didn't make it by 9, but I did have it done by 9:20," he said.

Something like this is not meant to replace a comprehensive cost budget, Holt said. Instead, it provides a starting point for planning a project before any money is sunk into it.

Holt said in cases like this the trick is to provide an accurate cost estimate with very little information. Oftentimes, his firm provides cost estimates with merely a phone call or a fax, he said, but of course the more information he has the bet-

"A building doesn't have to be drawn - it can be drawn with words," he said. Some time spent on the phone can turn in a surprisingly building type and size.
