Judge: murder charges stand

A Recorder's Court judge refused to drop murder charges against two defendants charged last fall in the death of a young man behind Adams Junior High School. The jury began deliberating Friday in the trial of Ian Bruce Cowan.

acy to murder, and first-degree murder

However, she added that she's more oncerned about Cowen's case than Hister's, saying she blames Cowen more for her son's death.

Police have accused Cowen, Hister and two other teens. Jermaine Stevenson and Jerome Omar Ingram, of arranging to meet Bowen at Adams school for a supposed drug deal. Bowen had been a known crack cocaine dealer.

But prosecutors have said the teens merely tricked Bowen into meeting them so they could kill him. The teens wanted revenge for an earlier fight in which Bowen stabbed Cowen's legs several times with a screwdriver, prosecutors have said.

No jail time in sex case

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

A 64-year-old Westland businessman convicted of sexually abusing his 10year-old step-granddaughter won't be sentenced to prison.

Instead, Willis E. Young, owner of Bill's Print Shop, has been placed on probation for five years and told he can't have unsupervised contact with minors.

Young also has been ordered to receive psychiatric counseling and to pay for any therapy that his step-granddaughter may need.

Young's sentencing Friday before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge M. John Shamo came six weeks after he was convicted of two counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct.

Shamo, who found Young guilty dur ing a bench trial, could have sentenced Young to a maximum of 15 years in prison.

Friday, "I'm happy with the sentence." "We would like to put this whole thing behind us and make the best of

Mother testifies at son's murder trial

By Darrell Clem Staff Writer

The mother of a Westland teenager accessed in a murder conspiracy testified Friday that her son never indicated he wanted to kill 19-yearold Everett Earl Bowen Jr. of Westland.

Robin Cowen testified in the murder trial of her son, Ian Bruce Cowen, that he only wanted to fight. Bowen to even the score for an earlier dispute.

Robin Cowen said her son told her that "he wanted to feel his fist in (Bowen's) face.'

death.

The mother also said her initial reaction to the stabbing was that she, too, wanted "to hurt this young man (Bowen)" for harming her son. But after she calmed down, she knew that, police in Dearborn where the stabbing occurred should handle it, she said.

Police never arrested Bowen. Butgry because Bowen had stabbed on the night of Nov. 15, behind him several times in the leg with a Adams Junior High School, Bowen was shot to death by two bullets that struck his head and back. A friend, 20-year-old David Wayne Adkins of Westland, also was shot in the head, but surviyed.

Prosecutors have blamed Cowen and three other Westland teens -Jermaine Stevenson and Jerome Omar Ingram, both 18, and Gregory Hister, 16 — for plotting Bowen's death in revenge for the stabbing incident. Police have accused the teens of arranging a purported drug* deal with Bowen, a known crack cocaine dealer, to kill him.

Cowen's mother has said that her son never knew a handgun was being brought to Adama school. In court, defense attorney James Howarth has said Stevenson and Ingram, had a "private agenda" to rob Bowen and brought the gun on their own, without Cowen and Histor knowing it.

Other testimony, however, has indicated that Cowen was seen with a gun even before the Adams school meeting took place.

Testimony suggested that Stevenson fired the bullets that killed Bowen and wounded Adkins.

Even so, Bowen's mother, Patricia Bowen, said in an interview during a recess in the trial, that she's not as angry with Stevenson as she is with Cowen. She blames Cowen for pursuing the Adams school meeting.

"I am more angry with him than I

Trials for Stevenson and Ingram — both 18 when charged - haven't yet been scheduled. However, court testimony has already emerged that suggested Stevenson fired the fatal shots that hit Bowen's face and back, Stevenson also has been accused of firing a shot that wounded 20-year-old David Wayne Adkins, a self-described bodyguard of Bowen who had accompanied him to Adams school on Nov. 15. Adkins survived, but a bullet remains lodged in his head.

Though Judge Hood refused to drop murder charges against Cowen and Histor, she did rule Friday to dismiss a charge of assault with intent to murder - a charge that stemmed from Adkins' shooting.

Judge Hood pointed out that the alleged plan merely accompanied him.

Adkins' mother, Nancy Adkins, didn't appear upset that assault charges, against Cowen and Hister were dropped.

"They didn't pull the trigger. They didn't even know David was going to be at that school," she said. "I know they didn't intend to shoot David."

But she said she'd be furious if Stevenson escaped a charge of assault with intent to murder when his trial begins.

"I'd like to see him hanged," she said.

Hister's attorney, Otis Culpepper, said Friday that he didn't blame Judge Hood for refusing to drop the murder charges against Hister and Cowen, because the judge was bound by legal rules favoring the prosecution.

But Culpepper appeared to have doubts that to kill Bowen didn't involve Adkins, who had the jury would convict Hister and Cowen of mur-

"No one can say either of those two did anything to cause the death of this young Everett Bowen." Culpepper said.

Court testimony has indicated that, on the night of Bowen's death, all four defendants had talked about wanting to "get someone."

However, defense attorneys have argued that Cowen, angry that he had been earlier stabbed by Bowen, only wanted to fight him - not kill him -- as revenge.

All four defendants remain in custody. They could be sentenced up to life in prison if convict-Cowen, Hister and Stevenson had attended John Glenn High School.

Westland City Councilman Kenneth Mehl is questioning whether proper procedures were followed in the recent promotion of two city police department employees.

Mehl accused the city administration last week of possibly violating procedures by promoting two patrol officers to sergeant without the council's approval. The city has a manpower budget that calls for 19 sergeants, but 21 are now employed in the police department, Mehl said during a recent council session. The change should have received council ap-

Chief Michael Frayer had indicated to council President Charles Pickering and the Mayor Robert Thomas administration that he wanted the promotions.

That's because the department currently has five vacant positions for patrol officers - positions that aren't requiring the city to spend money, Herbert said.

AAA: Insurance rates to fall if voters set cap for damages

By Tim Richard Staff Writer

Voters should start studying five pages of fine print about auto insurance - the "Lower Rates Now" plan of AAA Michigan.

The state's largest auto insurer Tuesday will file its ballot proposal to "cut auto insurance premiums an average of 20 percent by controlling medical and legal expenses," in the words of president Rongld L. Steffens.

AAA will file more than 200,000 petition signatures for a spot on the Nov. 3 ballot in the wake of the House of Representatives' failure Thursday to enact a new essential insurance law.

There were many sticking points, but the simplest had to do with maximum benefits for such "catastrophic claims" as closed-head and spinal injuries. Current law caps them at $5 million; AAA's plan would cap them at $250,000; House Democratic leaders want $3 million; Republicans and dissident Democrats seemed to have a majority for $1 million.

All sides want insurance rates cut by 15 to 20 percent.

Vote cut off

As minority Republicans and 10 dissident Democrats shouted protests. House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D.Birch Run, twice cut off roll call votes on a compromise plan that seemed sure to pass, then adjourned the House until Tuesday.

"A total obstruction of the process. An abusive display of power," said Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake.

"We need a new speaker," said Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills. "It's wrong what he did - tie everybody up because it wasn't

"We had great bipartisan support," said Rep. John Jamiam, R-Bloomfield Township. "They were fearful that with a few amendments we'd get something done today.".

But Democrats portrayed AAA as holding the House hostage.

"AAA will be voted down (by the public)," predicted Rep. James their problems." O'Neill dr., D.Saginaw.

"I'm sick and tired of a major PAC telling us we have to vote. This House still belongs to the people - not AAA, the lawyers or the doctors," said Rep. Maxine Berman, B Southfield.

"Berman was wrong about AAA holding us hostage," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia. "In order for us to get good bills, we have to have some clout over the speaker's head. We were ready to work 'til midnight. I'm embarrassed for government."

AAA to file plan

AAA's proposal, due to be filed with the Secretary of State Tuesday morning, has a couple of barriers to leap - the Board of Canvassers and the voters.

"Anyone with any influence with two members of the Board of Canvassers can block the petitions," said Rep. Lyn Jondahl, D-Okemos. The four-member board, which checks petition signatures, has two Democratic members who could block the process, as Republicans have blocked a Democratic property tax plan.

Then voters would have to approve. Although AAA's' insured members circulated petitions, most Democrats will oppose the plan: and many Republicans are cool.

"Dodak may be banking that the people won't back an insurerbacked proposal," said Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R Grand Ledge. But Fitzgerald thinks voters might like voting on Gov. John Engler's 30

Dems cap rejected

After more than 11/2 hours of caucuses, the House rejected a Democratic bill with a $3 million cap on catastrophic claims.

In the day's only roll call, members were 48 in favor and 56 against with five absent. Here's how area members voted:

Yes - Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, Maxine Berman of Southfield, and William Keith of Garden City.

No - Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake. Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Georgina Goss of Northville, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Gordon Sparks of Troy:

Not voting (equivalent of voting no) - Democrats John Bennett of Redford, James Kosteva of Canton and Wilfred Webb of Hazel Park.

Kosteva turned out to be a key behind the scenes player, emerging as one of the 10 dissident Demacrats supporting the $1 million compromise plan on which Dodak blocked the roll calls.

That compromise also contained another feature that Republicans and insurers like but Democrats and trial lawyers oppose: a limitation on lawsuits. A person more than 50 percent at fault would be unable to sue for damages.

The 10 dissident Democrats represented a major shift from party thinking which has favored stateordered rate cuts without limits on international retail and advertising consultant, he's more. Much more. Charlie gives you the straight scoop. This isn't one of those seminars where you sit there and pretend you know what concepts are being discussed. You'll know because this man puts his ideas and advice in language that is fresh and-dynamic with a chuckle thrown in for people who like to laugh.

What could this man possibly tell you about running a retail business that you don't already know? A lot.

Why is Charlie about to do four seminars in our hometowns?

Because we've asked him to come. Local chambers of commerce are also showing their support as co-sponsors. We're interested in the economic health of the communities we serve. We figure if a business person uses just one of Charlie's ideas and that idea leads to one more customer or one more sale, it was worth it.

And while we're on the subject of worth, you will be able to hear Charlie for little or nothing.

All you need to invest is a few hours of your time. Some people are suspicious of "free" things.

How often have you heard, "If it doesn't cost anything, it can't be very good?"

That's not the case here.
Charlie's good.
Darn good.
Come and find out how good.

WHAI FWERYMAN IMPOTENCE.

IT'S TREATABLE.

The real tragedy of impotence is letting it go untreated even one more day. Stop denying yourself and yoursexual partner an important part of your life. Impotence can be treated in almost every case.

The STAR's program developed by Grace Hospital provides complete diagnosis and treatment of male impotence. This confidential program is directed first at determining the cause of the problem. Diseases such as diabetes, cancer, multiple sclerosis and problems with prostate. heart and high blood pressure are common causes. There are many others. Injuries to the spinal cord, and low hormone levels can also cause erection failure. So, too, can fatigue, alcohol, drugs, smoking, stress and depression. Medicines used to treat such things as depression, high blood pressure and ulcers can be part of the problem. Age alone is not a cause of impotence. And, ves, some impotence problems are psychologically based; even organic impotence has an important psychological component that . requires identification and treatment. An accurate diagnosis is the key to effective treatment. Sometimes, only a change in medication is needed. More serious problems may require surgery. But help is available. Complete, confidential and supportive. Call today and talk to one of our professionals.

HOW TO JUDGE A CLAIM

Your joints ache, you are not sleeping because of the pain, and the discomfort dogs you throughout the day without letup. The therapy your doctor tries either does not work or makes you work. Then a friend tells you about a new pill that made a neighbor "feel great."

Short of trying the medication, there are ways that you can judge if a claim or ad has sufficient merit to warrant your pursuit. First you have your common sense. It something sounds too good to be true, it likely isn't true. Furthermore, you realize from experience the distortion that occurs when someone tells you what happened to yet another person. You know that at intervals, your joints feel line for no reason you, can identify. Something just out hasn't passed the test of time to allow anyone to separate chance from change. Second you can evaluate the medicine itself. Be skeptical if the new cure is said to contain rare earth metal previously overlooked by science or uses mega-amounts of ordinary minerals

Finally, ask your doctor what he thinks. If he says he never heard of the medication, do not take his honesty as ignorance. Likely the medical community has not assessed the purported cure because persons who would profit from the drug have deliberately kept the medication from scrutiny

Even fish know that kids need a father at home

rom the boat launch, I looked into the shallows and spotted him — Jess than seven inches long, hovering over a saucer-shaped depression. Earlier in spring, the bull blue. I had scooped out the nest, herded it a temale then fertilized the eggs she said.

The bull bruegill, with his iridescent gill covers and yellow bowtie, will guard the eggs until they hatch. Let a minute beetle or another fish venture to hear, and the bull 'gill attacks, his sharp forsal fin flashing. When a slovenix carp or idiot speedboater stirs up the bottom, the bull 'gill fans away the silt with his pectoral fins. The 'gill is vulnerable to anglers when he's on guard because, hungry or not, he will take a whack at anything that comes near the nest.

Other fish, like muskie and salmon, scatter their eggs and spawn, then depart. Not the bluegill, who has an excellent reproduction rate and is one of Michigan's most widespread and successful species. The bull bluegill, though cold-blooded and pea-brained, is a better father than many human males. The importance of Father's Day isn't told in syrupy verses of Hallmark cards. It's found in the sociological statistics. Bad things happen to kids born into a household with no father.

teen mothers within four years, it being understood that 70 percent of births to teens are out of wedlock. Says the National Urban League: "That act alone is a passport to poverty."

• There are no hard statistics, but DSS says kids in single-parent families do poorly in school.

Three years ago, I wrote about monitoring child disaster stories—small children who get shot, drowned, left in dumpsters and so on, Only about one story a year involves children with two parents. Watch them on TV yourself. You'll see grieving mothers, aunts, sisters, grandmothers—rarely an adult male.

The worst result of a kid not having a father, however, is prison. Some years ago, the Michigan Department of Corrections released some horrifying figures to the effect that a disproportionate number of prison inmates were from fatherless families. As I recall, a kid from a fatherless home had three or four times as much chance of going to prison as a kid from a two-family home. This is not to say that all kids from two-parent homes will do well. Witness Leslie-Williams, the confessed serial killer and rapist.

Nor is it to say that every kid from a single parent home is doomed to hell. Witness statesman Willy Brandt, Leonardo da Vinci, Lawrence of Arabia and conquistador Francisco Pizarro. It's a matter of odds. It's possible for a colt carrying 145 pounds to win the Derby against a field carry 120, but that isn't the way you want to bet. Dads won't eliminate rioters, but they will better the odds their kids won't grow up to riot. Good fathers are important in raising kids and keeping them out of prison. Even a fish knows

Meanwhile, the few inner-city track clubs are ill financed. High school track budgets have been cut, and college scholarships and programs are disappearing as a partial result

A Public Service of This Publication Just look at Detroit. During my day our Detroit Track Club's sprint relay teams medalled nationally and broke a world record—but the club no longer exists. The Wayne State University program that made me an All-Ameri can and turned generations of street kids into top sprinters is gone, too.

Thus, the records I set at WSU 35 years ago will stand forever. The University of Detroit track program which physically developed Cleveland Browns defensive back Jim Shorter and other good dashmen is also defunct. The U-D track is now a parking lot.

When I dashed in Detroit in the 1950s and coached there in the 1960s, dual meets between powerful schools drew-more than a thousand spectators. Clockings like Cliff Hatcher's incredible 48.8-second 440-yard dash for the city title in 1951 and the "Gray Ghost"

Henry Carr's world-record 20.0-220 a decade later consistently bettered state and often national records. (And we dashed on dusty dirt rather than expensive Astroturf).

Detroit launched international sprinters Lorenzo Wright out of old Miller High, Carr from Northwestern, John Lewis from old Northeastern, Eddie Tolan from Cass Tech, Stan Vinson from Chadsey, Marshall Dill from Northern, Elliot "The Train" Tabron from Murrary Wright and me from Denby. All but me were black, and Tabron 10 years ago was the last of the breed.

Beyond the Motor City, the drought has been even longer. Except for Reggie Jones of Saginaw in the 1970s, there hasn't been a Michigan-bred international speed-burner from outside Detroit since Hayes Jones of Pontiac and Rex Cawley of Farmington in 1964—and they hurdled more often than they

The NCAA's escalated admission standards will further handicap ghetto students. Community college track programs like the excellent one at Macomb Community College with its liberal admissions have eased that problem a little, but football money is luring more sprinters — and older stars like Carl Lewis are fading.

Don't be surprised if several Olympic gold medals go to non-Americans at Barcelona this summer and at Atlanta in 1996. Sadly, there will be no more Michigan gold medalists like Heyes Jones and Cawley and Wright and Tolan and the great Gray Ghost.

Back in the days when environmentalists called themselves naturalists and traveled by steamship, Rio de Janeiro's green forests, gray granite hills and south Atlantic beaches exerted a legend ary allure.

So it is appropriate, 30,000 envi ronmentalists have descended by jet on Rio, a tropical city where na ture is never far from view.

Formally called the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the meeting wil last until June 14.

Preparing for what may be modern history's largest environmental gathering, Rio's city leaders have invested heavily, hoping to reverse in one stroke a negative image of crime and decay.

From Rio's newly refurbished international airport visitors will speed down a specially constructed five mile superhighway that feeds into tunnels leading to the South-

Along 20 miles of open ocean beaches, from Copacabana to Barra da Tijuca, new sidewalks, new hicycle paths, new food kiosks, tightened water pollution control and improved police protection have restored Rio's special lure: the urban beach.

Despite its surface sensuality, however, Rio is not a Caribbean resort but a city of 6 million people, largely poor, and street crime is a serious problem.

· Avoid pickpockets by walking in the same alert way you would in the downtown streets of a large American city. Leave your hotel with the minimum - a cheap watch, a photocopy of your passport, enough cash for the day and, if necessary, a camera hidden in an old shopping bag.

At the Museum of Modern Art, at 85 Avenida Infante Dom Henrique, six expositions will take place. There is a $2 charge for entrance to all of them.

Until July 26, noon to 9 p.m., the Eco Art 92 gathering of 120 artists from the Americas will exhibit their paintings on ecology. Concurrently, there will be an exhibit by Franz Krajcherg, a renowned Brazilian artist. For more information call 210-2188.

There are two English-language, event-oriented programs on Rio radio: "That Man in Rio" every day from 6 p.m. to 6:05 p. m. on Tropical FM 104.5 and Eco Radio on Imprensa FM (102.1) from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. until June 20.

What to do

In a city filled with fresh-air excursions a newly popular outing is to rent bicycles and pedal down ... the new paths alongside beaches of around Rio's internal lagoon.

Bicycles can be rented for $2 an hour from a tattoed young surfer named Robson who operates the southernmost food stand on Leblon's oceanfront avenue, Delfim Moreira, near Rua Rita Ludolf. (Prices may briefly ballon during the Earth Summit.)

One of the most charming, evocative places in Ireland is the Dingle Peninsula.

On the map it juts out like a finger from the southwestern corner of Ireland. Dingle is the northernmost of five such peninsulas, the most famous being the Ring of Kerry.

It is mountainous with gentle, sweeping valleys. In some areas the cliffs dip into a raging Atlantic Ocean, Sun, wind and rain often occur at once; the colors of the sea and sky are always changing.

The land is sparsely populated and Irish is the first language. Many visitors come to see the stea's array of Iron Age fortifications and early Christian monuments.

The Dingle peninsula is also home to Louis Mulcahy, one of Ireland's best-known potters. A former : tional network, Mulcahy is a selftaught ceramacist who left Dublin and moved to the remote village of Clogher in 1975 with his wife Lisbeth, who is Danish.

Indeed, the Dingle peninsula is not an easy place to make a living. While the region is dotted with picturesque cottages, many of them are holiday homes, inhabited only a few weeks a year.

But the Mulcahys have braved a sparse resident population and the vicisaltudes of the climate.

In fact, they use elements of the landscape in their crafts. The forms and glazes of Mulcahy's pottery, which is popular throughout ireland and abroad, display the colors of the landscape.

The designs are simple, sensuous and strong. The glazes are as full of contradiction as the Irish sky. For example, a blue glaze is never solid TV cameramen for RTE, the na- blue, but mottled with green and

Vary colors, textures to make perfect salads

Salad season has come; warm days that call for nocook meals with great flavor!

Salads are delicious and nutritious. They're one of the oldest of culinary traditions. Regarded as a food of the Gods by citizens of ancient Rome, the salad has been popular dining fare for many centuries. In Shakespeare's England, the salad was thought to be a fountain of youth. Salads went on to gain popularity as an addition to the meal in the early 1900s and a meal in themselves by the 1950s.

There are a few set rules, more guidelines than anything to follow when a culinary attempt is made to create the perfect salad. One of the foremost suggestions is that you use several types of greens which will provide a variety of colors, tastes and texturés.

Head lettuce is OK, and especially plentiful and cheap during the summer months, but an addition of watercress, endive, celery leaves, beet tops, raddichio and romaine will make the blandest salad simply jump with flavor! Always pick or buy greens that are fresh looking. Lettuce should be bright green.

Storing greens

To keep the greens as fresh as just picked, wash greens immediately and wrap in layers of paper towel. Store in a plastic bag and place in the crisper. The dry paper towels will absorb any additional wetness and the coolness will keep the greens fresh and crisp for at least two, possibly three days.

If you were one of those who bought the so-called great salad spinner of yesteryear (some are still around today) now is the time to get your money's worth. I put mine in the garage sale, not because I was disappointed in it's performance, but because my kitchen is already cramped and the space needed to store the thing was just not there. I even tried hanging it in the corner, filled with dusty plastic flo-

There are some very trendy additions that can be added to many salads. With the influx of haute cuisine, a few of the more upscale markets now stock interesting varieties of greens virtually unheard of three years ago.

Trendy greens

Greens like arugula, which was grown and used first in Italy has emerged as the "in" green. Tasting very tender with a mustard flavored bitterness, it resembles radish leaves in flavor and appearance. Not being ready to be upstaged by the Italians, the French have their own trendy green called Mache, also called lambs lettuce or corn salad. The leaves have a tendency to taste somewhat nutty, closely resembling he richness of Bibb or butter lettuce. Unfortunately, trendiness does come with a price and these greens are expensive.

A suggestion would be to buy small amounts of various greens and combine them, adding both texture and varying flavors to an otherwise plain salad. Lest you forget, these greens are prized for their interesting flavors and should never be saturated in a heavy, creamy based dressing. A simple dousing of a vinaigrette, made with olive oil and flavored vinegar allows the flavors and the pricey taste to really em-

Salad dressing

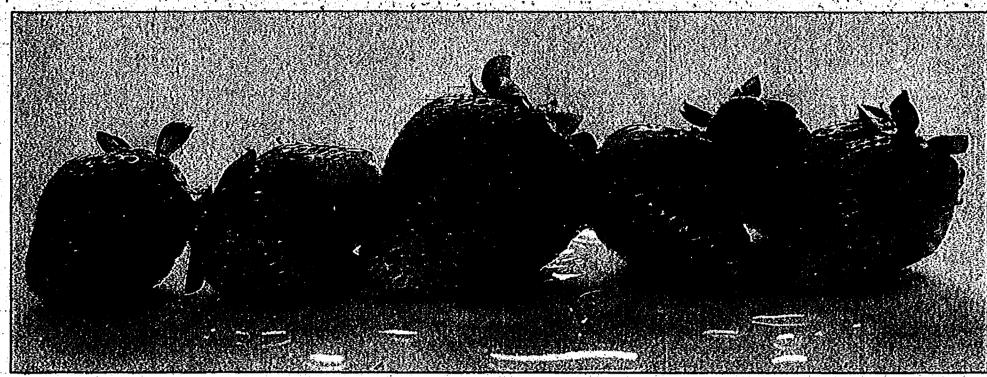

Last but not-least, one of the big mistakes most salad makers make when preparing the salad is the timing of the dressing. Pour the salad dressing on at the very last minute because the vinegar or lemon juice in the dressing causes the greens to become limp in an amazingly short period of time. And, whatever you do, DON'T drown the poor salad. Each leaf should be only lightly coasted with the dressing. Contrary to popular belief, the dressing should not puddle in the bottom of the salad bowl.

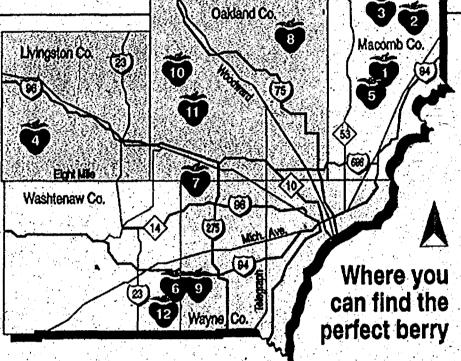

Speaking of salad bowls, if you own a wooden bowl, you shoud be aware that under no circumstances, should the bowl be washed. EVER! (I can see my mama just cringing knowing that I never wash my wooden salad bowl) Wooden bowls, when washed, dry out and crack, ever so easily.

The best possible way to clean a wooden salad bowl is to pour in 14 cup of ordinary table salt and to wipe vigorously with a dry towel or paper towel. The salt, being aseptic, not only absorbs the grease from the dressing but acts as an abrasive to cut through dressing build up. If your wooden bowls are excessively oily, it might take 2 or 3 trys with this method, but trust me, it works.

Strawberry patches roll out welcome mats

Red, sweet, juicy, Michigan strawberries will be ready to pick this week. Some farms open June 11, others won't open until June 16, call ahead before you go. The strawberries are about two weeks later this year than last year. See the map for U-pick farms.

By Keely Wygonik Staff Writer

Mother Nature's spring cold snap didn't hurt the strawberries, but it will make them a little later this year. "I've found that strawberries have a way of recovering, if it's cooler, it takes longer for them to ripen," said John Sherman of the Strawberry Patch in Milford.

Sherman who offers fresh picked berries at his farm, said he's opened on June 10 eight of the last nine years. Other farmers predicted the berries would be ready sometime between June 11 and June 17.

"There should be a really good crop," said Barbara Middleton of Middelton Berry Farm near Lake Orion. "The berries like cooler weahter. We have some enormous blossoms, and that means big berries."

Most farmers don't price the berries until the crop comes in. This year's prices are expected to range from 60 to 99 cents a pound. There are about 11/4. pounds in a quart.

Don't wear your Sunday clothes when you go berry picking, they'll get dirty. There are only two ways to pick strawberries — on your knees, or stooped over.

Call before you trek out to the farm, and leave the pails at home. Farmers will provide baskets to put your berries

Michigan berries don't ripen after they're picked. What you see is what you get. When you find the perfect berry, snap it off at the stem.

Besides tasting good, strawberries are low in calories, about 55 calories a cup, and high in vitamin C and potassium. If anyone tells you a strawberry isn't a fruit, don't argue. Botanically they are a member of the rose family.

Good one: Dillon Fence \rightarrow Scott Carle, Chris Goode, Kent Alphin and Greg Humphreys have come out with a sterling debut release in "Rosemary."

Dillon Fence puts pop in music

All Dillon Fence wanted to do was come out with a guitar pop album. They succeeded in doing that with their latest release, "Rosemary." But even so, the North Carolina band is faced with the fact that their music isn't getting played on the radio.

By Larry O'Connor Staff Writer

As Squeeze, XTC and, of late, Matthew Sweet joyful form triumphs over the arcane debate whether its AOR or alternative. Dillon Fence band in the studio. makes such labeling insignificant.

shimmering brand of guitar pop, using the pop bands like Style Council and Aztec Camera broadest strokes and the simplest melodies that "need no classification.

"It's alternative in the sense it's not getting played on the radio," Said vocalist and guitarist Greg Humphreys with a laugh.

Dillon Fence achieves this accessible, all-encompassing platform by not sounding the least generic. And they certainly don't sound like a iangly guitar R.E.M. derivative despite being from the Southeast region.

An intensity bores through on the outfit's 11song debut "Rosemary" on Mammoth Records that solders each number to their armor of impenetrable pop convictions.

Ron St. Germain produced "Rosemary," helping cultivate a collaboration of Scott Carle, Chris Goode, Kent Alphin and Humphreys into a sterling debut release. Humphreys credits the procontinue to prove, pop in its purest and most ducer of such renowned outfits as U2, The Cure and Mick Jagger for getting the best out of the

The good songs were already there, eliciting a The Chapel Hill, N.C., foursome perform a wide variety of comparisons from '80s British to the flourishing soul of Marvin Gaye. For Humphreys, songwriting is an arduous process. He sits down with an acoustic guitar and bangs out a core of a number on a four track. From there, it's dissected and rebuilt to perfection in the studio. But what makes a good number?

"I think it's when the melody meets the lyric," Humphreys said. "When the lyrics are honest and hit the listener and they can feel what the song is about . . . it sounds so simple but it's really difficult."

Many of Dillon Fence songs are about perhaps the non-simplest emotion of all - love. Theirs is not bitter recants of relationships gone sour. Rather, Dillon Fence focuses on the often vulnerable state in which love leaves us.

Revealed in the hook-ridden "I'll Wait": "Sometimes I get a little impatient/Sometimes I get a little frustrated/Go away and use that phone/'cause I'll be sitting right here alone."

Or as further explored in the guitar driven melancholy "I Will Break": "My side hurts every step, but I just can't accept/You don't love me you don't love me."

Against furor of the guitar and bass interplay, though, such pain is almost betrayed in a cathartic, triumphant way.

Dillon Fence was formed by the most natural inspirations. The success of bands such as the dB's and Mitch Easter's group Let's Active led Humphreys met Alphin to put Dillon Fence together while students at the University of North

Crowds in the Southwest immediately took to Dillon Fence, reflected in the 8,000 sales of their self-produced EP and the subsequent 20,000 copies of "Rosemary" being gobbled up. "We just wanted to make a guitar pop album," Humphreys said. And, quite simply, they did.

Dillon Fence will perform open for Flat Duo Jeis Friday, June 12, at Blind Pig, 208 S. First. Ann Arbor. For information, call 996-8555.

Parents take heed; Kids get obnoxious in really sweet way under are in a bit High. of a quandary they want to assert their independence but aren't quite sure

They know that one good way is to annoy their parents. From the first time they discover the many wonderful uses of the word "No!" at. age two, kids grasp the awesome powers of refusing to do what their parents want.

The no tactic works well for a few years. It's very effective in forcing parents to realize that their cute little baby is developing a personality - quite possibly a trait they're not yet sure they're going to like.

But saying no gets old after awhile. The independence-minded kids need to develop more and better tactics to get under mommy and daddy's skin.

For the 10 and under crowd, two very effective tactics - getting a rad haircut and wearing tough-looking clothing - are out. Between allowances and tooth fairy earnings, the single-digit age group simply doesn't have the cash to get these symbols of independence.

So, it has to be something they can afford. In a word, candy.

"Tear Jerkers" will be well on his or her way to living in a moving box, Dabbling incoherently to invisible

Is this a real problem or do some parents just need to get a hobby?

In the interest of investigative reporting, we had to find out. We scoured local mom and pop stores, searching for the best examples of parentally incorrect candy. Here's what we found:

"Cry Baby"/"Extra Sour Tear Jerkers" / Sour FX": These little candies are the Holy Trinity of the obnoxious candy world. Eating them in front of peers is sort of a rite of passage in the elementary school set. The test is whether or not a child can actually eat the can-

A taste test revealed that, indeed. eating this candy is a true test or courage. The outside has a taste akin to bathroom scouring powder. The fact that kids eat this stuff anyway is a tribute to their fortitude in the quest to annoy Mom and Dad.

Parental annoyance factors

Typical parental comment: "Is that stuff safe?'

"The Real Ghostbusters Slimer Bubble Gum": It comes in a toothpaste tube and is the the color of bright green fluorescent toxic waste. For some kids, it's the only green thing they'll volunteer to eat. The slime has the consistency of ultrasugary, watered-down cookie dough.

A taste test revealed that grownups don't have the right jaw power to compact the slime into actual gum.

Parental annoyance factor: High due to an extremely elevated gross-out quotient.

Typical parental comment: 'Don't get that stuff on the couch!" Garbage candy. This product is made in China, is simply labeled "candy" and comes in a tiny blue garbage can. The little tangy can dies are shaped like garbage can delicacies like meat bones, fish scales and empty soup cans. Yum.

A taste test revealed that, shape aside, these aren't too bad and the garbage can can be used as a handy storage container.

Parental annovance factor: Medium due to easily concealed size.

Typical parental comment: "Now, why would you want to put something like that in your mouth?"

A taste test revealed that the candy has a mild cherry flavor although the concept of eating a body part was difficult to get over.

Parental annoyance factor: High due to fears about infantile behavior.

Typical parental comment: overheard) "Hon, do you think we should talk to the doctor about Junior's oral fixation?'

Nose candy: This tiny, pellet-like candy is dispensed from the nostrils of a 3-inch tall plastic nose. The idea is that they're boogers. When eating these, it is proper to call over a friend and say, "Hey look, I'm eating boogers!" Supposedly, hilarity

A taste test revealed that these aren't so bad tasting and not at all like real boogers (or so we assume).

Parental annoyance factor: Medium to high. Parents are usually relieved that Junior has switched to fake boogers.

Bleeding's pit stop is 'Penetration' LP

By Larry O'Connor. Staff Writer

Paul Lemos of the underground industrial outfit Controlled Bleeding says the band's latest LP is not a sign on the road of things to come but merely a pit stop. "Penetration," the outfit's latest on Third Mind, came about as a result of several fragmented ideas Lemos collected and recorded informally in his home. When Lemos took them into a 24-track studio with creative collaborator Chris Moriarity, he found the numbers suddenly took on a life of their own.

particular direction the outfit is headed in the future.

"It really depends on the general feeling at the time," said Lemos about the process of making records. "All of our records are very personal. It depends on how angry we are . . . or happy we are will depend on what mood the records will

While it does offer an appropriately sicko villain, "Patriot Games": is more than just your simple revenge tale. For one thing, it takes you behind the closed doors of the CIA, where computer screens wage the war against terrorism.

In one memorable scene, Ryan joins his colleagues to watch the heat-sensitive blips (taken from a spy satellite) invade a terrorist installation in the North African desert. Ryan can barely hide his disgust as the event is treated like a football game.

This obvious humanity makes Ryan a memorable hero. No sadistic glee or smart remarks play across his lips the way they do when James Bond, Steven Segal, or Clint Eastwood dispatch their adversaries.

Ryan, despite his military training, is like Cary Grant in "North By Northwest," caught in a web of intrigue purely by circumstance. And "Patriot Games" strings together a series of gripping suspense scenes en route to an edge-of-your-seat clie was a father figure, a coach, and an athletic director, but more important, he'll be remembered as a man of steel.

BRAD EMONS

George Lovich is retiring as Livonia Franklin High's athletic director and I'd be remiss to say that part of the school's heritage will be lost.

In fact, two of Lovich's closest associates, Armand Vigna and Gerry Cullin, the men who guided the Patriots to the 1975 state Class A football title, will be retiring soon as well.

"I'll miss the people, but not all the late hours at school, the 12- to 14-hour days," said Lovich, who served 18 years as A.D. "I have some hobbies. I like to fish and golf. I haven't gone the last couple of years, but I like duck hunting, and when Lgo it's usually with Joe Jandasek (a fellow teacher in Franklin's industrial arts program.) I'd probably still like to coach if I can, too."

Lovich grew up in Monessen, Pa., 20 miles south of Pittsburgh, where he worked in the steel mills for four years and competed in a variety of sports including volleyball, gymnastics, track and football (playing against former Minnesota Viking kicker Fred Cox)

· Perhaps Monessen is where the foundation was laid, but ultimately teaching, coaching and his wife Mary Ann brought him to Detroit.

He joined the Franklin staff in 1964, first serving as a JV coach and then as varsity assistant.

Once again. Lovich laid the cornerstone for one of the most feared high school football programs in the state, ringing up an impressive 49-9-1 record as varsity coach from 1968 through 1974. (During his final season the Patriots went 9-0.)

In 1974 he took over as A.D. when Walt Cosens one of his dearest friends, passed away unexpectedly.

That meant Lovich had to step down as head coach, leaving the reins to Vigna. The transition went smoothly as Lovich stayed on as an assistant, running the vaunted 4-3 defense as the Patriots went 10-1, capturing the first-ever state football championship sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

"We had a real run from '68 to '77," said Vigna, who remains the varsity coach to this day. "It was marked by a lot of good fellowship. It was very exciting during the playoffs. During those two weeks it was sure fun to practice and the kids even thought it was fun."

Cullin, who spent 27 years at Franklin, fondly recalls that championship season.

"The weekly meetings would get hot and heavy, but we respected each other and we always resolved things," said the former varsity baseball coach. "The three of us worked well together and just felt comfortable."

Lovich continued to coach into the '82 season when the Patriots went 8-1, narrowly missing the

He also took on added responsibilities as A.D., coordinating all the scheduling for the newly created 12-school Western Lakes Activities Association.

But even though he was faced with numerous changes and new challenges of an ever-evolving job, Lovich continued to reach out to his fellow coaches and students.

"He can be real tough, and then tough, but turn around and be as soft and vulnerable, and cry as a 2year-old," Vigna said. "We're as close as brothers. We've been through a lot together, on and off the field. He was a man of principle."

Rick Lee, a Franklin staff member who coaches football, track and basketball, was a former player under Lovich. He caught a touchdown pass in the '75

"George demanded everything because he wanted you to be the best you could be," Lee said. "He was a hard-working man and tough, but very, very fair. He could yell at you at practice, but then put an armaround you and explain things as you were walking off the field."

Lovich has three daughters, but calls Lee, John Wilson (another Franklin coach) and Joe Fry his adopted sons.

"I always look after them, they were the sons I never had," Lovich said. "They've really helped me and I could always count on them." ..

Fry and Wilson knew Lovich more than just as a coach or A.D.

"George did a lot for me," Fry said. "He kept me straight. He took care of me." Added Wilson: "George taught me the way to treat people . . . that there's a right way and a wrong way with kids, parents and officials. If not for George and Armand, I'd never gotten an education." After 28 years at Franklin, Lovich will no longer have to deal with the pressures of being an A.D. He can now "catch up on all the projects."... Cullin summed up best what this outgoing A.D.

meant to us all.

"George had a set of values and he dealt fairly with the kids and adults," he said. "He was dedicated to what he believed in. He was a good man."

Rockets' red glare stuns CC

Westland Glenn knocked off the state's top-ranked Class A baseball team, Redford Catholic Central, 5-4.

By Brad Emons Staff Writer

Talk about reversal of fortunes. It was only late April when Westland John Glenn's baseball team was mired in a slump and off to an uncharacteristic 2.6 start.

But on Saturday the Rockets came full orbit, knocking off No. 1-ranked Redford Catholic Central, 5-4, and Lincoln Park, 2-1, to win the Class A regional title at Temperance-Bedford.

Glenn, now 17-7 overall, returns to the state semifinals Friday at Battle Creek's Bailey Park. The Rockets, who have won 13 of their last 14 games, will take on Port Huron regional champ Lapeer West. (Game time is 1 p.m.) .

It's Glenn's second trip to the state semifinals. The Rockets were beaten in 1986 semis by Birmingham Brother Rice, 1-0.

"I always thought we had a shot getting here," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "But early in the season we could not pick up a ground ball. Now, when somebody makes an error, it's OK because we're not making five or six."

Hoenes, with the help of sophomore defensive whiz Derek Besco at shortstop, a late-season call-up from the JV. squad, appears to have all the pieces of the puzzle in place.

The Rockets made only one error on the day in 14 innings.

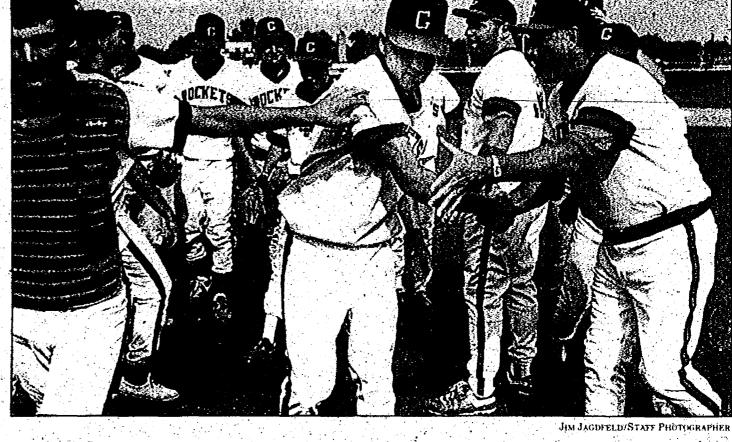

Defensive turnaround

"It's been fielding and defense, and now we have confidence in each other," said junior right-hander Aaron Scheffer, who beat CC on a four-hitter and ran his personal record to 6-4 after an 0-3

"We're a lot better defensively now, everyone seems to be hitting the ball, and we're closer as a team," said senior center fielder John Ward, whose tworun homer off CC ace Scott Kapla in the fifth inning provided the final margin of victory.

Now in his 27th season as Glenn's varsity coach, Hoenes may well savor the semifinal victory over CC for quite some time.

No. 1 in the state back in '87 and CC

came in and knocked us off in the district at Garden City Park," Hoenes said of the 9-8 defeat. "I remember the reverse feeling, so we said to ourselves, 'Why can't we do the same to them this time?' It meant a lot to us because CC is an excellent ballclub and if you beat them it means you're doing OK.'

The Shamrocks found themselves down 3.0 after the top of the first when the Eastern Michigan Universitybound Kapla, who was drafted Wednesday by the Detroit Tigers (in the 42nd round), got into a jam after walking three of Glenn's first five hitters.

With two out, Glenn's Jamie Murphy beat out a routine grounder, scoring Scheffer, and sophomore Mike Bint made CC pay for its mental mistake when he delivered a two-run single.

"It hurts when you're down 3-0, plus I think it gave them (Glenn) some confidence," Catholic Central coach John Salter said. "Kapla was a little wild, but we had the groundout.

"He threw 82 pitches in the first four innings and that's more than normal."

Ward delivers

"I remember when we were ranked . Kapla did not survive the fifth after Ward's two-run homer. Reliever Dan Gusoff came on and blanked Glenn over the final three innings, but the damage had been done.

Scheffer, meanwhile, cruised through the first four innings before suffering a wild spell of his own in the bottom of the fifth.

He walked three batters and hit two more. CC pushed across four runs with the benefit of only one hit, an infield single by Brian Justice. (Kapla collected CC's other three hits:).

But somehow, some way, Scheffer regrouped and kept CC off the board the rest of the way. He got DH Aaron Rumberger to line out to Besco at short, stranding Kapla on second base, to end tied it up," said Salter, whose team is 23-4 overall. "The kid (Scheffer) pitched a good game. He hung in there."

Glenn's one-run win over Lincoln Park (20-5) was somewhat anticlimactic, but just as important.

Kirkey wins nightcap

Senior right-hander Chris Kirkey ran his record to 6.0 by holding the Railsplitters to just two hits and three walks in going the distance.

"Kirkey's pitched well all year," Hoenes said. "He's not as flashy as Aaron, but he's always around the plate. And if they hit the ball off him, it's usually not too hard. And he doesn't lose his composure."

Glenn got a run off Lincoln Park lefty Jeff Muntean in the first when Besco's infield single scored Tamas.

Lincoln Bark responded with a run in the third, but Kirkey helped his own cause when he picked off Jason Maher at second base.

"We've practiced that play all year, but this is the first time it's worked," Hoenes said.

The Rockets taillied what proved to "We hit two balls hard (in the fifth) be the game-winner in the fourth on with the bases loaded and could have Tamas RBI sacrifice fly. Ward, Besco and catcher Martin Potter each contributed two hits as the Rockets outhit Lincoln Park 8-2.

Kirkey, bolstered by the solid infield play of Tamas (third base), Besco (shortstop), Scheffer (second base) and Tayo Farley (first), retired the final 10 Lincoln Park hitters in order.

"Once we brought the 10th-grader (Besco) up, everything fell into place," Hoenes said. "It's solidified our infield and we've been on a roll ever since.'

Charger run ends, 7-1

As it turned out, Plymouth Canton coach Jim Arnold had nothing to worry about Saturday in the first game of the Class A regional softball tournament at Temperance Bedford.

With junior Kelly Holmes pitching and her teammates providing timely hits, the Chiefs defeated Livonia Churchill for a third time this season, Canton (31-3) later claimed the championship with a 9-3 victory over Trenton and will play Flint Kearsley in a state semifinal game at 10:30 a.m. Friday in Battle Creek.

"To be honest, they scared me," said Arnold of the Chargers (17-6). "We had beaten them twice and the kids might say 'It's a piece of cake' and be overconfident.

the bat on the ball better than the last two times we faced Kelly," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "We just didn't find the holes. "I was impressed with their hitting Dani Mortiere and Sara Rowe had two hits apiece for Canton. Stacey Fields had the lone hit for the Chargers, a run-scoring single. In three appearances, Churchill slugger Vicki Lucas had a flyout, strikeout and groundout.

The Chiefs got started early, scoring twice in the first inning on Sarah Schimmelpfenneg's RBI single and Nicole Sequin's RBI groundout.

Freeman chosen as Patriot athletic chief

By Brad Emons Staff Writer

Dan Freeman begins a new chapter in his life after being named athletic director at Livonia Frapklin

He replaces the retiring George Lovich, who stepped down after 18 years (see related story). Freeman, who coached the Franklin girls basketball team to an 89.47 overall record in alk seasons, along with four consecutive Class A district championships, was announced as the new A.D. last week by principal Mike Fenchel.

"He has good organizational skills and understands a variety of sports, but Dan's greatest strength is that he has tremendous people skills," Fenchel said. "And the way the job is now, you have to be a public rela. tions person more than any other aspect of the job. His knowledge of the Franklin staff, kids and community certainly helped as well."

Freeman, a math teacher, was one of five Livohia Public School employees interviewed for the position. "From my standpoint, it was one of the most difficult decisions I've had to make as an administrator,' Fenchel said. "We had some outstanding candidates.

The selection committee agonized long and hard." Freeman, 45, is a native of Allen Park.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Spring Arbor College and obtained his Masters from Eastern Michigan University.

"I've always had inclinations toward it (being an athletic director)," Freeman said. "I've always had it in the back of my mind.

"I know there's going to be a lot of on the job training. There are some big shoes to fill because George (Lovich) ran a classy program.

"Nobody can be George Lovich. I'll just be myself and try to run as classy a program as George ran.' Freeman has gained notoriety not only as a coach, but as a teacher. He was selected Livonia Middle School Teacher of the Year (1988-89) and was twice named "Who's Who in American Teaching." Freeman also has been nominated 12 times for the "Teacher Who Makes A Difference" award by the National Merit Scholar Candi-"We're going to lose an excellent girls basketball coach and a master teacher in the classroom," Fenchel

As a varsity girls cage coach, Freeman was twice named Class A Regional Coach of the Year along with Observerland Coach of the Year (1988). Freeman resides in Westland with his wife Joleno and two children, - Karen and Todd, the latter whom is a member of the Franklin varsity soccer and tennis teams.

The beer frame" has become a staple part of the game, and there is always a pretty waitress to take the drink orders. After the game, the cocktail lounge becomes the natural setting for the rest of the evening and the bowling talk is punctuated by the pouring of more

But there's a change in the wind. With the tougher laws on drinking and driving, with more activity by MADD and a general reluctance to take a chance driving home, there is less alcohol consumption in the bowling centers. Now, along comes Thunderbird Lanes in Troy with something different.

It's called the "dry bar." In fact, the only thing about T-Bird Dry, that sets it apart from other bars is. the coffee and pop that are served in place of liquor.

T-Bird Dry; which opened in November, is the newest innovation on the bowling scene. Joe Stahl, the building manager, was instrumental in the project.

He recently quit drinking, and asked himself, "Where do you go from here?'

After consulting with Alcoholics Anonymous, he realized there were no AA clubs in the vicinity. Here was a seldom-used room, and the idea came to reality in a very short

Once the dry bar opened, its popularity increased steadily. It is now getting recognition from people outside Thunderbird Lanes.

Just recently, T-Bird Dry was awarded a $2,500 grant from the Troy community coalition for the prevention of drug and alcohol abuse. T-Bird Dry is not an exclusive club, anyone can come in, as long as they are at least 16 or accompanied by an adult and are not under the influence of alcohol, and do not bring drinks in from the other areas of the bowling center.

The funds from the grant will allow them to spiffy up the room and replace the donated tables and chairs. Stahl is not sure as to what extent the traffic through the bowling center will increase due to the exposure, but since the dry bar opened, two sober T-Bird Dry teams have been added to the bowling center. Maybe this is a sign of things to come.

captain and was a very consistent jump-

Jason Tucker, high jump, Farmington: Tucker's best clearance of 6-feet, 6 inches set a new record for juniors at Farmington. He was a WLAA, regional, Observerland and city champion in the high jump. The senior also placed second in the Oakland County Meet and third in the long jump.

Jason performed well in the pressure meets and worked hard at his event," Farmington coach Dave Catherman said.

Chris Marting, pole vault, Farmington: Marting, a senior, was a Class A regional (12-feet, 10 inches) and Observerland (12-6) champion. He also placed third in the Oakland County meet (12-3) and had a best leap of 12-11. He missed 31/2 weeks because of injuries suffered in practice. Marting also was a key relay

When he was hurt this year it really affected our relays," Catherman said. He was a very good sprinter and his versatility in a lot of these events would have been real helpful. He was able to collect good composure toward the end of the year and make outstanding heights."

RUNNING EVENTS

Marc Eden, 110-meter hurdles, Redford CC: Eden finished eighth in the Class A tournament (15.1) and supplied coach Tony Magni with several points each time the Sharnrocks competed. He won the Catholic League 110 meter hurdles championship (14.7) and also had the same time in winning the Observerland and regional crowns. The junior was first at Oxford (14.8) and second at Jackson (15.0). Eden also was a member of the 1.600-meter relay team that set a new chool record (3:25.4).

"Marc was the heart and soul of our team and I am very happy that his hard work has paid off," coach Tony Magni said. "Marc is extremely versatile, competing in the high hurdles, 300 intermediates, long jump and three relays."

Nathan Loosle, 300 hurdles, Church-III: The three-year letterwinner was a team MVP as a junior and one of four captains in '92. His best_110 high hurdles' time was 15.2. Loosle placed fourth in the regional, fourth in the WLAA meet and third at Observerland. His best 300 intermediate time was 40.7 at the WLAA meet where he finished second. He ran a leg of the 1,600 meter relay team that took second at the WLAA (51.7).

'Nathan's success is a result of his dedication and hard work in the hurdles," Price said. "He has been a great example to our young hurdlers this year.

Duante Anderson, 100 dash, Harrison: Anderson, headed to Bowling Green on a football scholarship, was a WLAA (10.8) and regional champion and anchored the Hawks' record breaking 400 relay team.

The senior also finished third in the Oakland County meet and sixth at the state Class A meet Eric McKeon, 200, Redford CC: With a year remaining in his high scool career. McKeon owns or has fied four school records. He tied the 200-meter dash school record (22.0) and has the new school record for the 400 meter dash (49.3). He also was a member of the 1,600 and 3,200 relay teams that set school records. The 3,200 relay team won the state meet.

The junior was second in the Catholic League meet, third at Oxford and second at Jackson.

"Eric is a very aggressive runner, was willing to run just about any race that I asked him to," Magni said, "Enc is not only being a fine sprinter/middle distance runner, he was one of the top five cross country runner this last fall.

Warren Provencel, 400, Lutheran Westland: Provencal, who placed second in the Class C state meet in the 400 meters, leaves Lutheran Westland with school records in the 200 (23.0) and 400 (49.5) events. He was a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference champion in the 200 and 400 races as well as the 800 and 1,600 relays. The senior was undefeated in all dual meets. The 1,600 relay-team he ran with placed tourth in the state meet.

'After placing sixth in last year's state meet, Warren dedicated himself to be state champion this season and came up just short," Lutheran Westland coach Mike Unger said, "Warren had the confidence to believe he was going to win any race in which he entered."

Brandon Dalzlel, 800, Redford CC: Dalziel didn't win any major invitationals but was a model of consistency for the Shamrocks. He placed second in the CC Invitational (2:00.4) and Oxford Invitational (2:00.9). The junior also placed third in the Jackson Invitational (2:01.9) and fourth in the Operation Friendship meet (2.02.1). He was a member of the state champion 3,200 relay team.

Brandon is an excellent example of how hard work and dedication helps you reach your goals in life," Magni said. Brandon is talented on the track as well as in the classroom where he maintains a 4.0 grade point average."

Steve Witek, 1,600 meter run, Redford CC: A member of the state champion 3,200 meter relay team, Witek's best finish came in the Catholic League meet where he was second (4:29.1). He placed third at regional (4:27.1) and Operation Friendship (4:31.3) and ninth in the Class A final (4:26.2). He also ran the 800 meters in a personal best time of 1:57.8.

Steve provided steady senior leadership." Magni said. "He dedicated himself to the sport this year. Steve is a confident runner who strives on competition. He has great ambition and determination."

Jason Zdyrski, 3,200 meter run, Harrison: Zdyrski, headed for the University of Michigan in the fall; was a WLAA champion and placed ninth in the state meet. His best time in the 3,200 was 9:46.3 and he had a personal best of 4:26.4 in the 1,600.

400-meter (Duante Anderson, Roy Granger, Scott Gurke and Jason Dreyer), Harrison: The Hawks' 400 relay team won the WLAA crown in record time (43.7) and also won the regional and placed 10th in the Class A meet, Coach Rich Esker called the foursome the best he's ever coached.

800-meter (Roy Granger, Jason Dreyer, Gli Chavez and Duante Anderson), Harrison: Esker used this foursome in selected meets and they didn't disappoint. Their best time was 1:32.7. Three of the four will graduate this month and the lone underclassman. Chavez, is a freshman:

"We didn't use this team in too many meets, but every time we did, they won," Esker said.

1,600 meter (Aaron Sheposh, T.J. Kitchen, Marc Eden, Eric McKeon), Redford CC: The quartet won the Catholic League, Elks and Observerland events and holds a new school record (3:25.4). They were third in the state meet and regional and third in the Operation Friend-

"Aaron's performance in the leadoff spot, to put us in the lead came through hard work and dedication," Magni said. "T.J. did an excellent job running his best time at the regional. Marc runs the relays as he does the hurdles --- all out. Fric would go after the leaders in a conservative, but aggressive manner.

3,200 relay (Aaron Sheposh, Brandon Dalziel, Eric McKeon and Steve Witek), Redford CC: These four were perfect in '92, winning the state championship with a school record time (7:58.0) to go with six other major titles. They also won the Catholic League, regional, Oxford, Elks, Observerland and Jackson invi-

Aaron, as he did last year, got us into position for a competitive race," Magnisaid. "Brandon, concentrating on our position, would run with the leaders. Eric, a very competitive runner, would either put us into the lead or not lose contact with the leaders. Steve is a very intelligent runner who would hold off any opponent or go after the leaders to win."

Fishing trip becomes an adventure

ittle Yellow Stone flys, Blue Wing Olives, March Browns No. 12, fly leaders and tippetts sounds like terminology one might hear on a tour of the Cranbrook Nature Center, not a weekend fishing trip with high school buddies. To the accomplished fly fishing person these are as common terms as night crawlers and Labatts to the bait caster.

Ol' Rochester Adams buddies Jon Moyer and Tim Grant took ine along with them to North Central Pennsylvania for an introduction to surface hatches and hip waders, in a fly fishing crash course. Tim being the same guy who tried to teach me to windsurf on Lake Michigan in two foot waves, I should have known I was in for an adventure. The trophy trout streams named Cedar Run and State Run would be my training

For the avid fly fishing person part of the art of catching trout is identifying the surface hatches of insects as they ascend from the stream bottom as nymphs and hatch on the surface into flying bugs ... aka trout food. This is where choosing the correct fly to fish becomes important.

So once. Tim or Jon did the first process for me, I figured all I had to slo was cast the fly out onto the stream and reel in the fish.

"Presenting" the fly to the natural, unstocked, brook trout I could see swimming not more than 10 feet away made the first step seem simple. The trees and weeds that lined the small stream, however, became the first thing I caught. After losing the first two flys before they ever touched water Tim and Jon made sure I knew how to attach a fly to the near invisible line called the

After two days of fishing for trophy trout unsuccessfully, we finally convinced Tim that we should take one last stab on the much larger Pine Creek where the dreaded bait casters were reeling in fish all week: end. "Cheaters" Tim would grumble, along with other things I can't

But it didn't take long for Tim'to catch his first fish. Not long after I actually got a hite and finally caught my first fish on a fly.

In my excitement to catch more of these suckers, I ventured further and further across the river with the batts.

water reaching up near the top of my hip waders. Soon I found I didn't need trees or weeds to snap off flys and as dusk approached I lost the last one in mid-cast. The fish were laughing at me now, so the time was right to call it quits.

Just to make sure the fish got their money's worth from this outof towner I slipped on the bottom crossing back. As my waders filled with the rushing waters of the Pine Creek I frantically moved to the shore and arrived back at the car so Tim and Jon could share in the laughter as I grumbled something unprintable about fly fishing.

On the bright side, the scenery was beautiful, and yes, I will probably go again, if only for that reason. However when I attend Tim's wedding this Saturday in Grand Rapids and he wants to go fly fishing I will definitely take along a dozen crawlers and an icy cold frosty La-
