Case against girlfriend unfolds

The case against Kylene Hargrave-Thomas, charged with stabbing her boyfriend to death and setting fire to his Westland home to hide the crime, began to unfold during a preliminary examination in 21st District Court Friday.

By DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

In a nearly packed courtroom, a hearing began Friday to determine if a Westland woman should stand trial on charges of murdering her 42-year-old boyfriend and setting his house afire to cover up the crime.

Testimony continued throughout the day as Kylene Hargrave-Thomas, 40, appeared in 18th District Court for a preliminary examination that will decide whether she should stand trial for the stabbing death of Manuel "Joe" Bernal Jr., 42, of Westland.

Westland police arrested Hargrave-Thomas on June 29 and charged her with first-degree murder and arson, culminating a nine-month investigation into the killing of Bernal, a railroad track maintenance worker for Ford Motor Co.

The defendant remains jailed. McKnight has denied bond.

Westland firefighters found Bernal, stabbed in the chest in his second-story bedroom at 625 Lansdowne, when they responded the morning of Oct. 11 to a reported fire. A neighbor saw flames in the upstairs of Bernal's home, north of Cherry Hill Road between Newburgh and Wayne.

"I looked out my kitchen window, and I saw that the bedroom was ablaze, afire," neighbor Elizabeth Kelly testified Friday.

Kelly went to Bernal's house, banged on a door wall with her fists and called his name, but got no response, she said.

Kelly's husband telephoned firefighters, who found Bernal's body after they forced their way into his three-bedroom home in a quiet, upscale neighborhood near John Glenn High School.

3 already show interest in board vacancy

Andrew Spisak's sudden resignation from the Wayne-Westland school board has prompted at least three candidates to declare their interest in filling the vacancy.

The six remaining board members are expected to appoint Spisak's successor during a special session on

SCHOOLS

Wednesday, July 22. Former board member Mathew McCusker and board hopefuls John Albrecht and Kenneth Raupp plan to seek the post that Spisak quit Monday, amid lingering bitterness over the forced retirement of former Superin-tenant Dennis O'Neill.

Spisak resigned during the first board meeting held since new Superintendent Larry Thomas started his job July 1. The same board majority that pressured O'Neill to step down chose Thomas for the district's top post.

In resigning, Spisak suggested that the board appoint former board member Mathew McCusker as his successor.

Voters ousted McCusker last year, but he nearly returned in a June 8 election that saw him place third in an eight-way race for two seats.

McCusker was out of town and could not be reached for comment last week, but Spisak said he's certain McCusker plans to seek the vacancy. One year remains on Spisak's four-year term.

Educator stands firm on moral principle

By TAYLOR LINCOLN

As the new principal at Lutheran Westland High School, Steven Schwecke takes a fundamental approach towards social issues, advocating that students abstain from potentially dangerous activities rather than exercising caution while participating in them.

"Premarital sex is wrong and that's that. That takes care of some of the AIDS problem. Obviously the use of illegal drugs is another way of spreading that, and that, too, is wrong," said Schwecke, who places himself at the stricter, or more conservative, end of the continuum of Lutheran philosophies.

"I think the two major ways of getting AIDS can be avoided if your lifestyle reflects what I consider the proper way of living," he said.

Schwecke became the principal of Lutheran Westland in mid-June, after spending 12 years as a science teacher, guidance counselor and principal at De-

New college board member

Philip Kraus of Westland has been elected to a three year term on the Adrian College Alumni Association board of directors effective July 1. A 1982 graduate of the college, he is a financial aid adviser at Eastern Michigan University. Kraus had previously served as secretary of the alumni board of directors.

Art contest winners

Four Wayne-Westland elementary students recently were awarded top honors for artwork in the International Childrens' Art Festival in Chongqing, China. Contest winners were Kim Quinn, 10, of Taft-Galloway, Adam Salt, 10, Monroe, Jennifer Sanderson, 11, and Rachael Simpson, 9, both of Lincoln.

PLACES & FACES

Students from all over the world entered the contest. Agnes Wen of Northville translated the students' messages from English to Chinese and wrote explanations in Chinese characters on the original art work. The contest winners were recognized last month by the board of education.

Honor roll

Michael Pennanen was recently named to the honor roll at Lawrence Technological University for maintaining a 3.6 grade point average. He is a business administration major.

Chevy scholarship

Suzanne Hill, who recently graduated from John Glenn High School, received a $10,000 scholarship from the Greater Detroit Chevrolet Co Dealers. She plans to attend the University of Michigan-Deaiborn in the fall. The scholarship is awarded to high school seniors whose parent(s) is employed by a metro area Chevrolet Co dealership.

The scholarship, awarded in four annual $2,500 payments, is based on a personal interview, essay contest and evaluation of grade point averages and ACT scores. trol's Lutheran West, one of Lutheran Westland's four sister schools.

He takes a hands-on approach to high school administration: He taught science classes during his 2 1/4 year tenure as principal at Lutheran West, and also acted as head football coach during part of that time.

"That was interesting," he said of attempting to juggle duties as a principal and football coach. He does not intend to take a coaching position at Lutheran Westland, but says his involvement "will be a natural."

He cited a need for a change and the fact that Lutheran Westland is a sister school of Lutheran West as the two main factors in his decision to accept his new post.

A Dearborn resident, Schwecke said he is a strong believer in the role of Christian schools in influencing students' lifestyles.

"Public schools work primarily on preparing students intellectually and physically for the future," he said. "We certainly work with the intellectual and physical development, but we emphasize spiritual development as well. It goes a step further than the public school."

An unambiguous interpretation of the Bible in such issues as abortion, and a strong adherence to discipline are among Schwecke's leadership philosophies.

Regarding a hypothetical in-class abortion discussion, he says: "I think the direction that would be taken would be a Christian perspective. For some people, if it feels right, do it. It's more of a me-me attitude."

"A Christian perspective is, 'What does the bible say about abortion?' Obviously, the bible says abortion is not a woman's choice. There is more involved at the conception — a human being is being formed, and abortion would be considered murder," he said.

Regarding discipline, Schwecke advocates forgiveness, but not without punishment.

"Discipline, I think, is very important. Rules, which very few people like, especially high school students, are set to enhance the learning environment," he commented.

"Sometimes students get the idea that because this is a Christian school, if they make a mistake you are supposed to forgive the person, which is true. . . But students who break the rules have to bear the consequences," he added.

Firefighter Martin Reddy testified that smoke had filled Bernal's bedroom and that visibility was impossible when he entered the room about 7:30 a.m. Friday, Oct. 11.

After a window was opened and the smoke had cleared somewhat, Reddy found Bernal's body lying face down on his bed. Reddy pulled him from the room into a hallway, where authorities first noticed the stab wound to Bernal's chest.

Westland police have said they believe Hargrave-Thomas killed Bernal and then set his house ablaze in an attempt to cover up the murder. But her attorney, Rene Albert Cooper, has said that the defendant "maintains very strongly her innocence in this case."

Westland fire marshal Robert Perry testified Friday that when authorities examined Bernal's body on the scene, "There was a considerable amount of blackness, charring and body damage done by the fire."

The fire was limited to the bedroom — and more specifically to the bed and the area immediately surrounding it, Perry said.

Perry said the knife that was apparently used to kill Bernal was found on the floor, near the bed.

On Friday, Hargrave-Thomas, wearing a white dress with black polka-dots, showed little emotion as she came into the courtroom. Family members and friends of both Hargrave-Thomas and Bernal watched the hearing.

Bernal's father, Manuel, took the stand briefly Friday, but only to testify that he had identified his son's body.

Westland police arrested Hargrave-Thomas on the morning of June 29, a Monday, as she was driving from her Westland residence to work in Livonia. During an arraignment that afternoon, she stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered on her behalf.

If tried and convicted, she could face life in prison without parole for first-degree murder and a maximum of 20 years for arson.

Police said she and Bernal had been romantically involved about six months prior to his death.

Albrecht, who placed fifth in the June 8 election, told the Observer on Thursday that he will submit his name to the school board for consideration. Albrecht also lost an election bid last year.

Regardless of who's appointed, Albrecht said he hopes the process goes smoothly.

"I'm not going to get caught up in a circus," he said. "I want this to be a nice, professional appointment."

Raupp, who placed seventh in the June 8 election, had not heard of Spisak's resignation when contacted last week by the Observer. But he decided immediately that he will seek the post.

"I would like to get on the board. I think I could be a good representative for people out there who don't have a voice right now," Raupp said.

However, he had little hope that he would win the seat, saying he learned even prior to the June election that current board members don't support him.

Two other candidates in last month's election said they will not apply for the board post. Ousted incumbent Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek and candidate Steven Lind said they're not interested.

"Now that the voters have spoken and I lost the election, I feel like the whole world has been lifted from my shoulders," Kozorosky-Wiacek said.

Lind, when asked if he would seek the seat, said, "Absolutely not. I think I'm through. I'm enjoying being back with my family again."

Lind appeared frustrated by Wayne-Westland politics, and he questioned why voters would oust McCusker one year and nearly vote him back into office the next. Lind has strongly opposed McCusker and other now-departed board members who supported the O'Neill administration.

"I'm so disgusted with the way things are in this district," he said, referring to McCusker's near-comeback.

The board is expected to choose Spisak's successor during a special session scheduled for 7 p.m. July 22.

Skating offers thrills, chills

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Brrrr! It's an icy summer in Westland.

But the summer chill can't be blamed on a volcanic eruption, a bizarre Arctic blast or any other environmental quirk or crisis.

And no, don't build a fire or pull a winter coat out of the closet.

Chill out. The wintry air can simply be blamed on a skating program at the Westland Sports Arena that has attracted participants not only from Westland, but from such cities as Livonia, Northville, Novi, Belleville, Canton Township, Redford Township and even as far away as Toledo.

Hundreds of figure skaters are taking to the ice for the summer program that has drawn participants ranging in age from 3 years old to 71.

"We've got people of all ages who come here to skate," said Tammy Hombirg, arena manager and figure skating director. "They come from all over."

The skaters come to the Westland Sports Arena, 6210 N. Wildwood near Ford Road, to practice their skating techniques or to learn from instructors that teach one-on-one and also in group sessions.

Apparently many people like to feel a little touch of the cold during the summer months. And jumping into a swimming pool isn't the only alternative.

The skating program has shown tremendous promise since it was started last year, climbing in enrollment from 421 participants to 525 — a 104-person increase, Hombirg said.

"We've got people of all ages who come here to skate," said Tammy Hombirg, arena manager and figure skating director.

"Most of the skaters take private lessons from private instructors," she said.

Participants signed up for figure skating in March, though anyone who's still interested should call the arena at 729-4560.

The figure skating occurs from 7:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Monday through Thursday, and from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Friday.

And if you're not necessarily trying to improve your figure-skating technique, but merely want to go for a few spins — and perhaps a few falls — on the ice, there's another program.

Skating for the general public is available from 4 to 5:45 p.m. Fridays and from 1 to 2:45 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Rates are $2.25 for students and $2.50 for adults. Skate rentals are $1.50.

Hombirg said that anyone wanting more information about the skating programs should telephone the arena.

Bundled up: Shannon Boren, dressed more for winter than summer, performs figure eights as she skates in the Westland Sports Arena.

Students will pay to play under new plan for schools

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

A huge financial jolt awaits all middle and high school students this fall who wish to participate in extracurricular activities and sports in the Livonia Public Schools.

No longer will participation in these activities be free to students. The Livonia Board of Education Wednesday approved charging students up to $100 per activity.

And the cost could go higher if board members choose to dig deeper into the athletic-activities budget to make up an additional $2 million shortfall the district will suffer next year.

The charge applies to all activities — from cheerleading to football to hockey — in which academic credit is not earned.

The charge could be lower than the tentative $100 per activity approved Wednesday if the cost to operate a program is less.

"Where activities cost less than $100 per person, the district may only charge the lesser amount and cannot subsidize the remaining program by charging the larger amount," board president Richard McKnight said.

In budget cuts made earlier, the district chopped $380,000 from the high school activity-sports budget and $120,000 from the same middle school budget, said Robert Laundroche, assistant superintendent for business.

Charging a fee allows the district to restore all programs cut earlier from the 1992-93 budget.

"The activity fee also applies to students playing sports not cut in the new budget."

"We thought there would be an outpouring of people objecting to this," Laundroche said. "But most people know the situation the district is in."

During budget deliberations, many Livonia parents lobbied the district to charge a fee rather than chop off such programs as tennis and golf.

The new fee in no way pays the full cost of the secondary school athletic-activity program, Laundroche said.

"It is just a subsidy," he said. "It will supplement the portion cut. It restores portions cut by letting everybody pay a small amount. If additional cuts have to be made here, the fee could run $20, $25 or $50 higher."

At 6 p.m. today and Tuesday in the district's Farmington Road office, the trustees will begin the task of deciding where to chop another $2 million out of the district's new $101 million budget.

They expect to reach a decision quickly, maybe by July 21.

After much debate this spring, school officials chopped $7.2 million from the 1992-93 budget. Now, due to revenue sharing, Social Security and other changes contained in the state's 1992-93 school aid bill, school officials must go back for a second round of budget cutting.

New computer helps take a megabyte out of crime

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Westland police will have another weapon to fight crime — and city firefighters another tool for emergencies — with a new $517,000 computer system.

Police and fire officials have long awaited the new system that they say will bring their departments into the modern age. The Westland city council approved buying the computers last week.

"We feel good that it's all finally coming together," police Inspector Emery Price said.

All police and fire emergency calls will be dispatched from a central location at the police department. The system will be phased in over the next six to 18 months.

Public safety officials say the system could improve response time to emergency calls, possibly saving lives and property.

"I'm really glad to see this finally coming to a close," Fire Chief Larry Lane said.

The computers will allow police and firefighters to easily store and retrieve a wide array of information.

Examples:

- Firefighters responding to industrial fires can immediately obtain vital records about potentially explosive materials kept at local plants — and where they're kept. That could mean the difference between a small blaze and a massive fire.

• Rescue personnel called to a life-threatening health emergency could quickly obtain information from citizens' medical records, which could be stored in the computer system.

• The police department could easily develop statistical reports about dangerous street intersections, ordinance violations and other issues that could be addressed sooner than before.

Bare branches: Mayor Robert Thomas, standing on a sidewalk, points to the bare branches of a tree that Detroit Edison "butchered" near Roselawn and Lonnie streets in Westland's north end. The loss of greenery has the mayor seeing red.

Mayor tells Edison to leave trees alone

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

An angry Mayor Robert Thomas summoned Westland police to a north-end neighborhood Friday to stop Detroit Edison from trimming trees away from power lines.

Thomas blasted the Edison crews and said, "They're just butchering the trees. They're not using any discretion at all."

The mayor became highly upset when he saw that Edison crews had drastically trimmed 50 to 100 trees on several streets, including Lonnie and Roselawn, in a neighborhood near the intersection of Merriman Road and Ann Arbor Trail.

Thomas, accompanied by police and officials of the building and the public services departments, went to the neighborhood after the mayor's office received a flurry of telephone calls from residents upset about the trees being cut.

"We're stopping them from working," he said.

Thomas conceded that Edison crews have the authority to trim trees away from power lines, but he labeled their actions Friday as excessive.

"They've just gone way overboard," he said. "There's hardly any green left at all on some of these trees. There are some maple trees that are just V-shaped now. Some of these residents are really upset."

Thomas said his administration plans to seek legal advice on what the city could potentially do to prevent Edison from "butchering" any more trees in the city.

Although the calls Friday came mostly from residents of Lonnie and Roselawn, Thomas said trees on several other streets also had been trimmed excessively.

Edison crews had virtually completed their work Friday by the time the mayor's office received the citizen complaints and police arrived on the scene, said Westland police Sgt. Larry Cole.

Work crews were about to begin their clean-up about the time police arrived, Cole said.

Sammy wasn't picked up on the streets. He wasn't beaten or abused. But he is a victim. A victim of the biggest problem facing the Michigan Humane Society today—animal over-population. As a result, there are more animals without homes than there are homes to give. It's a problem that only threatens to grow larger.

And it will continue to grow without your help. If you have a pet, have him spayed or neutered. If you don't have a pet, please find room in your heart and your home for Sammy or any one of the hundreds of animals at the Michigan Humane Society.

Or you can do the next best thing. You can make a donation, big or small, to the MHS. Your donations enable us to operate low cost spay and neuter clinics. Clinics that last year alone sterilized over 8,000 animals. They help us educate the public and bring us closer to finding a solution to the over-population problem. And most importantly, your contribution helps shelter and care for these animals until that solution can be found.

Sheriff's battle lines drawn

Charges fly as Ficano takes on Kelley, department unions

By WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

Down and dirty, with charges and countercharges flying, the Wayne County Sheriff's primary is a throw-back to the county's bare knuckles political past.

But it's also about the future. The central figure is incumbent Robert Ficano. The central issue: whether the 39-year-old Livonia resident is the last link to the Wayne County's crony-driven past — as foes charge — or whether he's the forward-looking leader he claims to be.

Ficano faces two candidates, most notably county commissioner Kevin Kelley, in an Aug. 4 Democratic primary considered tantamount to election.

The race, though, is less against Kelley than against his own department.

Though he's shed his image as Wayne County's "boy sheriff," Ficano has never been able to convince police professionals he's one of their own.

Chiefs of police have scoffed at Ficano's previous post — deputy county clerk — and the strong hand of county clerk James Killeen in his appointment. Citing Ficano's 1986 run for county executive, they also question his long term commitment to law enforcement.

But Ficano, a licensed attorney, said the dispute really centers on his broader view of police protection.

"If you ask officers what it means, it's arresting people and locking them up," Ficano said. "But there's more to it than that."

No one is calling Ficano camera-shy. The sheriff has promoted highly-publicized efforts to fight drugs, reduce county car jackings and tackle drunken driving.

Frequent appearances on local television news programs have made smooth, telegenic Ficano a familiar face to metro residents.

But it has also left Ficano vulnerable to the charge he's more concerned about public relations than police policy.

Breaking from precedent, both major department unions have backed Kelley.

"In this job, you have to balance politics with police work, we know this," said Don Cox, president of Deputies Local 502. "But with Bob Ficano, every year you get an increasing emphasis on politics."

Kelley's campaign has picked up that message. In hard-hitting radio spot, an actor performing an unflattering Ficano impersonation raves that he's just crazy about attending a parade. The implication is clear.

It's not the only example of mud-slinging.

Racial, sexual and union politics are also at issue. And it isn't pretty.

Ficano, for instance, is promoting the department's relatively new 50/50 black-and-white mix as a major accomplishment.

"This is about the old boy network reasserting itself," Ficano said.

Bunk, says Cox, who argues that oral testing and training fees — deemed as key elements in keeping women and minorities out of the department — were waived at the union's urging not Ficano's.

Kelley's literature, meanwhile, charges Ficano with continuing to hand out key assignments to white, male officers.

Ficano counters, however, that choice Metro Airport posts — almost entirely filled by whites — are the result of collective bargaining, not sheriff's assignment.

As far as female appointments, Ficano charges the union's opposition the newly appointed chief of staff Nancy Mouradian is based on her sex, not qualifications.

"When we had a similarly qualified man there a few years ago, there was no protest," Ficano said.

Cox, however, says he told former chief of staff Dale Jurcisin as long as two years ago "we would be coming after his job."

Mouradian, like Ficano, has never been a police officer, a major issue for the deputies union.

"We have women in our own department well qualified for that job," Cox said. "Why appoint his former press secretary?"

A jail deputy's death in a struggle with an armed inmate has also been a sore point between the sheriff and union.

Union officials have said the

'If you ask officers what it (police protection) means, it's arresting people and locking them up. But there's more to it than that.'

Robert Ficano
Wayne County sheriff

death could be avoided if deputies had been equipped with proper walkie-talkies, blaming Ficano for holding up the equipment's order.

Ficano's though has produced paperwork indicating he had already authorized the new radios.

Lately, Ficano has taken the offensive.

The real reason department unions are after him, he charges, is that he's disciplined three union activists — one for drug use, two for driving accidents, including one in which a woman was killed by a drunken department member, another in which a woman was paralyzed after being struck by an AWOL department member.

Challenger says he's making campaign his own

By WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

If police officers were the only ones who voted, Kevin Kelley would likely be Wayne County's next sheriff.

The Redford resident has not only locked up endorsements from both sheriff's department unions, as well as the Police Officers Association of Michigan, Tri-County Sheriffs Association, Detroit Police Officers Association and Wayne Police Command Officers, among other groups.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is also boosting Kelley and it's more than a rumor that McNamara's experienced campaign staff is behind Kelley's attractive, aggressive campaign brochures.

There's another Democrat, Charles Nemeth of Dearborn, in the Aug. 4 party primary, the winner will meet Republican Dennis Malin of Dearborn and Tisch party candidate Daniel Tackett of Taylor in the fall. None are considered likely winners.

But what of the 33-year-old Kelley? Did he step into a pre-formed campaign or is campaign strategy against incumbent Robert Ficano truly his own?

The Redford resident said the campaign's tone is his choice.

"We put it together and I stand by it," Kelley said of campaign claims. "Negative campaigning is difficult, but I am trying to beat an incumbent. You can't do that without pointing out flaws in his record."

Though chairman of the county commission's public safety and judiciary committee, Kelley's background — like Ficano's — is in public administration, not law enforcement.

"Ideally, we would like to see the job go to someone from the ranks," deputy's union president Don Cox said. "But this is a political job. You need someone who's sensitive to police issues, but who can get the votes."

Kelley, they believe can do just that.

For his part, Kelley said he wants a department that "works efficiently as a team."

He's criticized Ficano's high-profile management style as well as past department deficits.

"I don't believe he's been an effective head of the department," Kelley said.

Like the union, Kelley also criticizes Ficano for filling staff vacancies with people from outside the department.

"Why not take someone with 16

BACK ARTHRITIS
Pain in the wrist, shoulder and knee is treated with anti-inflammatory drugs, injections, and when applicable, with splints. Why not treat arthritis of the back the same way?
There are two reasons why the same treatment does not apply. First, the back is different. The shoulder, wrist, and knee are meant to move you, but the joints of the back are designed to hold you up. Thus the back joints have more bone, different cartilage, and less joint space than the joints in front. The chemical and structural nature of the back often renders joint medications ineffective.
Second, much of back pain designated "arthritis" really presents the x-ray findings of aging. No medicine can reverse such change. Furthermore, pain labeled as the result of arthritis often comes from muscle and ligament strain, conditions the anti-inflammatory drugs do not handle well.
Specific arthritis of the back exists and includes ankylosing spondylitis, osteoporosis, and infectious arthritis. However, these entities have characteristics that allow physicians to differentiate them from "back arthritis."
Treatment for most back pain consists of heat, judicious use of rest and activity, and reassurance that you are not having a cancer or developing a crippling condition. Resolution of such pain depends more on time and nature than medication.

Funeral director: Grief natural

By Sue Buck
STAFF WRITER

Funeral director Kevin McCabe believes death should be as openly discussed as any other family rite of passage.

A lecturer at Macomb Community College, McCabe has been a guest on the radio programs of Kevin Joyce, J.P. McCarthy, Denny McLain and Metrovision cable television.

"Death and grieving is a natural process," said McCabe, chief executive officer of McCabe Funeral Home, Inc., Farmington Hills. "What a sad person this must be if nobody sheds a tear."

Just as we expect children to come to terms with other family events, they need to be part of the grief process when a family member dies, he said. Children must look beyond themselves and know how badly their parents and friends would feel if anything happened to them. "Explaining death to children is what people need to know about," McCabe said.

But death and suicide are often considered touchy subjects.

McCabe would like to talk to Farmington students annually about suicide and death but says he's been denied. His talk would deal with grieving process, which is a similar process for the loss of a beloved pet or family member, he said.

Kevin McCabe

Judy White, Farmington Public Schools assistant superintendent, said the district chose to leave the death and dying discussion out of the curriculum because it's tied to family religious beliefs.

"We also believe it is the family's responsibility," White said, adding that individual needs, however, are handled by counselors.

Yet families often don't know how to explain death or how to have children participate in family sorrow. They delay talking about death or speak beyond a child's level of comprehension, McCabe said.

McCabe has already spoken at the district's Career Day, guest-lectured for a psychology course, and has been interviewed by a journalism class at North Farmington High school. The funeral home printed the Harrison High School's Students Against Driving Drunk contracts.

He's an advisor to a metropolitan-wide response team called Kids in Crisis, which goes into schools — at school administration's invitation — after a student has died.

Each age group has different ideas about death. In kindergarten for example, children want to know how to avoid "catching" death almost as if it were contagious. "Sixth graders want to know what to say (to the survivor)," McCabe said. "Kids are so genuine. They ask, 'How can we help them (the survivor) out.' And I tell them, there's no quick fix."

Children should not be told that the deceased is sleeping, for example, because they will fear going to sleep, McCabe advises.

Even though government, school and religion say that life should be fair and equal, reality is more stark. "Death is very unfair," McCabe said. "That's not the way death works."

McCabe handles 300 funerals a year. "What I know, I have learned through watching people. I want to make people think. Fear comes from what we don't know."

McCabe frequently speaks to college sociology and psychology classes: "Did you know that in family and marriage classes, people don't die?" McCabe asked. They (class textbooks) deal with multiple marriages, step-parents and in-laws, but nobody dies. This highlights our problem. We deny death."

Survivors can't forget, but they can cope, McCabe said.

The Farmington Hills McCabe Funeral home opened in 1971 under the direction of Kevin's father, L. David McCabe. Kevin McCabe is a fourth generation funeral director — family business started in 1893 in Detroit on Cass at Grand River.

McCabe is a 1981 graduate of Wayne State University's School of Mortuary Science. The following year, he received his license to practice. Kevin McCabe is president of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association's District 6. The district represents 90 funeral homes in Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair Counties.

McCabe is a past president of the Kiwanis Club in Farmington Hills North and a member of the building and grounds committee of the Community Center Farmington/Farmington Hills. He also founded the St. Fabian Bereavement Group. He and his wife, Sandy, live in Farmington Hills.

Husband does job on landscape company

By Tedd Schneider
STAFF WRITER

The fertilizer hit the fan last week at a Livonia landscape company when a jilted husband went on a two-day rampage seeking vengeance for his wife's alleged indiscretions.

Nobody was injured in the incidents and the man, a 42-year-old Redford Township resident, was arrested Wednesday.

Witnesses told police the man came to his wife's office at Lakewood Landscaping, 33306 Glendale, three times during a 32-hour period and did more than $8,000 in property damage.

No charges had been filed as of Friday, a court official said.

Witnesses told police the man first appeared around noon Tuesday, demanding to see the company owner.

When told the owner wasn't in, he picked up a computer printer and threw it against the wall, witnesses reported.

He then ran into the owner's office, broke the arms and legs off a chair and tipped over a cabinet housing a television, VCR and cassette deck before leaving.

Employees told police they believe the man came back to the business late Tuesday or early Wednesday, when the office was closed.

A window screen was cut, but nobody apparently entered the building, police said.

The man returned to the office about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, again demanding to see the again absent owner.

Yelling "he stood me up," the enraged man again charged into the owner's office and tipped over the cabinet, witnesses told police.

On his way out, he picked up several walkie-talkies off a desk and tossed them through office windows, leaving a trail of shattered glass.

Minutes later, patrol officers alerted to the incident spotted the man's 1986 Chevrolet pick-up near Farmington and Schoolcraft and placed him under arrest.

CITY OF GARDEN CITY NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED ORDINANCE

The following Ordinance (known as the Home Occupation in residential districts) amending the Code of the City of Garden City has been proposed. A Public Hearing has been scheduled for August 3, 1992, at 2:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers of the City Hall, 6000 Middlebelt Road, to provide Public comments on the proposed ordinance.

Definitions - 161 003 Home Occupation: A lawful occupation or profession involving use of the premises for a home office, the provision of services and/or the fabrication of articles, including handicrafts and art work, when such use is conducted entirely within a dwelling by the inhabitant thereof, and is clearly incidental to the principle use of the dwelling as a residence.

General Provisions Section 161 015 - Home Occupations: A lawful occupation or profession involving use of the premises for a home office, the provision of services and/or the fabrication of articles, including handicrafts and art work, when such use is conducted entirely and/or the fabrication of articles, including handicrafts and art work, when such use is conducted entirely and/or the fabrication of articles, including handicrafts and art work, when such use is conducted entirely within a dwelling by the inhabitant thereof, and is clearly incidental to the principle use of the dwelling as a residence, shall be permitted in accordance with the regulations prescribed by this chapter.

A. Intent: The home occupation regulations are intended to permit certain types of restricted occupational uses in residences where such use is compatible with residential uses and does not infringe upon the right of the neighboring residents to enjoy a peaceful and quiet environment free from excessive noise, traffic, fire hazard, nuisance and other possible effects of commercial uses being conducted in residential areas. It is further the intent of these regulations to prohibit uses which would substantially interfere with the maintenance and preservation of the character of residential neighborhoods within the city.

B. Required Conditions: Home occupations shall be subject to the requirements of the zoning district in which they are located as well as the following standards:

1. The use of the dwelling unit for home occupation shall be clearly incidental and subordinate to the use of a dwelling unit for residential purposes by its occupants. No more than twenty-five (25) percent of the floor area of the dwelling unit may be used in the connection with a home occupation.
2. Only the residents of the dwelling unit may be engaged in the home occupation.
3. No article or service shall be sold or offered for sale on the premises except such as is produced by the occupants on the premises.
4. No outdoor display or storage of materials, goods, supplies or equipment used in the home occupation shall be permitted on the premises, nor shall the display of products be visible in any manner from the outside of the dwelling.
5. A home occupation shall be carried on wholly within the residence. No home occupation nor any storage of goods, materials, or products connected with a home occupation shall be allowed in accessory buildings or garages, attached or detached.
6. The home occupation may increase vehicular traffic flow and parking by no more than two (2) additional vehicles at a time. The parking need generated by a home occupation must be accommodated on the existing driveway and/or not exceeding one (1) parking space at curb side on the street.
7. Signs advertising products or services are prohibited. One (1) non-illuminated sign may be placed on the building wall, and shall display only the name and occupation of the resident on the premises.
8. No advertisement shall contain the residential address of the home occupation.
9. The home occupation shall not involve the use of commercial vehicles for services or delivery of materials to or from the premises, other than one (1) vehicle not to exceed three-quarters (3/4) ton capacity, which if parked on the premises shall be in accordance with Section 161 016(E).
10. No home occupation shall require external or external alterations or involve construction features which would cause the premises to differ from its residential character either by the use of colors, materials, construction, lighting, or signs. Entrance or exit ways specifically provided in the dwelling or premises for the conduct of the home occupation shall be prohibited.
11. The residential character or appearance of the principal structure shall not be altered, nor shall the home occupation be of a nature which creates any external increase in noise, dust, vibration, smell, smoke, glare, electrical interference, fire hazard, or any other hazard or nuisance beyond that which would be generated in the absence of the home occupation.
12. The home occupation shall not utilize or store machinery, equipment, or chemicals except as is customary or ordinarily used for purely household or leisure purposes.
13. No activities shall be undertaken in connection with a home occupation which involve construction features or the use of electrical or mechanical equipment that would change the fire rating of the structure.
14. If the home occupation is the type in which the residence is used as a home office where services, trade or sales is conducted off site, the residence may be used for phone consultation, emergency treatment, record keeping, and other business matters that can be completed by the resident alone but not for the general practice of his profession or for the storage of equipment used in a business.
15. If the home occupation is the type in which customers or clients visit the premises there shall be no more than two (2) clients or customers on the premises at a time.
16. If the home occupation is the type in which instruction is given there shall be no more than four students on the premises at a time, provided, however, that no additional motor vehicle traffic will be generated than otherwise permitted.
17. Home occupations shall comply with all local, state, or federal regulations pertinent to the activity performed and the requirements of this chapter shall not be construed as an exemption from such regulations.

C. Administration: Prior to the establishment of a home occupation, each operator shall register their agreement to operate in accordance with the provisions of this Section with the Zoning Administrator on forms provided for this purpose. In addition, information required to identify persons and property involved, such forms shall indicate the required conditions of operation and provide space for the operator to state the nature of the home occupation. This registration shall only serve to certify that the operator has full knowledge of the operating restrictions placed on their home occupational use. If the use is such that requires licensing by another local, state, or federal agency, a copy of such permit shall be submitted with registration.

D. Enforcement: Any aggrieved person believing that a violation or violations of this section is occurring and who desires action to be taken by the City shall notify the Ordinance Officer and/or the Zoning Administrator in writing of the alleged violation(s). Upon receipt of such written allegations, an investigation to determine the merits of the allegations shall be initiated. If it is determined that no violation as alleged or otherwise has or is occurring, then notification of that decision shall be given to the complaining person by certified mail. If it is determined that violation is present, the Ordinance Officer and/or Zoning Administrator shall send notification of that decision and time for compliance to both the violator and complaining person. The notice shall also state what action, if any, will be taken if compliance is not timely effected. Any person aggrieved by a decision of the Ordinance Officer or Zoning Administrator may appeal that decision to the Board of Appeals pursuant to the provisions of Section 161 015.

E. Waiver: In such cases where the occupation is performed by persons with a demonstrated disability and where such person is confined to the residence because of the disability, the Zoning Board of Appeals may grant a waiver to a portion or all of one or more of the provisions of this section. Such request shall be considered by the Board at a public hearing, after notice to property owners within 300 feet of the subject property.

The Board may only grant waivers on the basis of the petitioner's inability to function within said requirements. With an affirmative decision, the Board may impose conditions pursuant to Section 207 of Michigan Public Act 207 of 1931, as amended, in determining the necessity of a waiver, the Zoning Board of Appeals shall consider:

1. That the petitioner's impairment significantly restricts their ability to perform the occupational activities within the specific requirement.
2. That the petitioner's occupational use could be operated in a manner that would comply with the provisions of this section if operated by persons without disability, and
3. That the occupational use operation will not alter the essential character of the neighborhood.

can't deny," Ficano said.

Cox acknowledges the department, fought each suspension brought by the sheriff, but says that was common union practice.

"We want to see our people receive due process, but we don't stand for any dirty officers," he said.

Ficano has also taken the union and Kelley to task for criticizing his record on drug seizures and felony warrant enforcement.

Though Kelley's literature claims drug seizures have fallen in each of the past three years, Ficano said that isn't the case.

"Seizures haven't fallen, forfeitures have," he said. "That's because drug dealers are getting smarter, they're not putting everything in their own names anymore."

As for the charge he's letting 5,900 felons roam free, Ficano said more than 5,000 of Wayne County's outstanding felons stem from Detroit cases, not those assigned to the sheriff's department.

By Ficano's figuring, there were 4,000 outstanding warrants when he took office, compared with 900 today.

Ficano is pointing far less attention to the fact that he's perhaps the only sheriff in the U.S. to lose authority over his own jail.

In a 1989 ruling, chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman ordered jail control over to a newly created director of jail operations — who reports to both the sheriff and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, temporarily ending a long-running dispute between Ficano and McNamara over the jail budget.

Recently, however, jail monitor Vincent Nathan took control over jail food service away from the executive's office. Nathan is monitoring jail operations under a 1971 inmate lawsuit.

Though he has detractors, including Kaufman who was less-than-complimentary in the jail operations ruling, Ficano is not without supporters.

While not publically endorsing any candidate, Canton Public Safety director John Santomauro gave Ficano high marks for helping settle a dispute about sheriff's road patrol operations.

In addition to his UAW support, Ficano also has the backing of leaders of five county Democratic party organizations, including Westland/Livonia area chairman Richard McKnight and Dearborn Heights/Redford-area chairman Daniel Paletko.

or 17 years' experience," he said.

On the county commission, Kelley generally supported McNamara, though his low-key style earned respect from urban as well as suburban peers.

The son of Detroit councilman "Black Jack" Kelley, the Redford resident was hailed as one of the commission's new generation when he took office.

That group, including David Cavanagh, son of former Detroit mayor Jerome Cavanagh, and Susan Hubbard, granddaughter of former Detroit mayor Orville Hubbard, was expected to turn around the often fractious county commission.

Cavanagh, though, is leaving to run for clerk, while Hubbard faces a tough re-election battle.

Though Kelley's name has surfaced in connection with other offices, most notably the state Legislature, he said the sheriff's department is where he wants to be.

And deputies union leaders would like to put him there.

Metro Airport cuts parking rate

Summer travel from Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport will be a little easier on the pocketbook, thanks to a special discount offer announced by Wayne County.

Now through Labor Day, Sept. 7, daily parking rates will be reduced in parking decks and yellow lot, just past the traffic light on Rogell Drive.

"Because of the strong response to the many special fares offered by the major airlines recently, we are enjoying a busy summer at the airport," said deputy airport director Lester Robinson.

"This special discount program is just our way of saying thank you to our customers who have made plans to travel out of Metropolitan Airport."

The airport's summer parking special reduces close-in deck parking from the normal $9 per day rate to $6 per day — just one dollar more than the airport's green long-term parking lot rate. In addition, the daily parking rate for the airport's yellow lot has been reduced from $6 to $5. Rates in all other airport lots remain the same. As always, free shuttle service to and from the terminals is provided from all on-site airport lots.

Travelers with parking questions can call the airport's recently installed airport parking hotline at 1-800-642-1978. This new number serves all of Michigan, northern Ohio and the Windsor, Ontario area.

We're thinking fall.

We know. We know. You're not ready to begin thinking about carving pumpkins and raking leaves, and trips to the cider mill. It's still summer for heaven's sake.

Actually, we're only thinking about fall for one reason—fashion.

As you read this, we've begun plans for our annual fall fashion section, the one that arrives with your hometown newspaper every August (on the 27th this year) and is filled with exciting features and photos of the latest designs, fabrics and colors.

Our fall fashion section will show up just about the time your summer togs are beginning to look a little wilted and you're ready to really examine what you have in your closet for the fall season.

We'll give you some idea of what's out there and where you can find it. We'll feature shoes, accessories, ensembles, everything you'll need to refurbish or replace what you have.

And, if you are in the fashion business or one closely related to it, don't miss this great opportunity to place an advertisement in Fall Fashion.

Chances are you'll hear from us soon—or give us a call us when you have a moment. Monday, August 3, to is the last day to reserve your space and that'll be here before you know it. Like fall. (Drat!)

Outlawing panhandlers must be made indelible

Heading for the suburbs from the Freedom Festival fireworks, a man offered to wipe off our windshield for a tip.

We were standing in traffic between Fort and Lafayette, waiting for our turn to get onto the Lodge, when he and a companion approached us.

Over my husband's objections, I handed him a $1 bill out the window and told him it wasn't necessary to wash the window.

"I want to do the work," the man protested, as the traffic opened up and we inched away. As I looked back through the rear window, I saw him pick up a bottle. I fervently hoped it was filled with water for his window washing, or with something for his thirst — something that wasn't alcoholic.

My husband reminded me of the signs we saw posted in certain areas of downtown Seattle on a recent visit requesting that people not give money to panhandlers because it most often was used to buy alcohol and drugs.

As if they had overheard us, last week the city of Detroit began a campaign with the same theme.

The Central Business District Association, with the support of police and the mayor's office, is distributing fliers that discourage gifts to beggars.

Business owners say panhandlers create a nuisance and make their customers feel uncomfortable and/or scared.

The fliers say beggars can meet their basic needs through soup kitchens, homeless shelters and social service programs. They explain that the money most often goes to buy alcohol and illegal drugs, which in the long run hurts rather than helps them.

Those who run the shelters say that's not completely true. There are other needs — cigarettes, a can of pop, a candy bar.

But statistically, the majority of panhandlers have a substance abuse problem.

This new campaign gives us written permission to say no to panhandlers. Somehow that makes us more comfortable. The panhandlers know we know the rules. So we have less guilt. That's important on several counts:

• Detroit's business community stands on the brink. A new office tower, One Detroit Center, and a new hotel, The Athenium, risen from a former warehouse on the edge of Greektown, are important steps toward sparking a Detroit comeback.

So is the possibility of the pizza king, Mike Ilitch, who gives to Detroit, buying the Tigers from the pizza king, Tom Monaghan, who takes from Detroit.

• Panhandlers who use the money to feed alcohol and/or drug dependencies may slide closer to their personal bottoms without it and seek help at substance abuse treatment centers.

• As more people seek treatment, more shelter services can be freed up for those who are homeless and jobless for reasons other than their chemical dependencies.

But the written permission to say no must be more indelible than a flier.

The Central Business District should have permanent signs installed in various locations throughout the city, such as we saw in Seattle.

Although area residents — including the panhandlers — are now aware, anyone who comes to the city for business or pleasure needs to know that information.

It's important for Detroit and for our suburbs, which are dependent on Detroit's viability, that this campaign isn't fly-by-night.

Huck Finn, a symbol for boys, can humor adults

So now Huckleberry Finn is black. That's what the so-called scholars say. Mark Twain met some 10-year-old black kid for about 15 minutes and modeled old Huck after him.

This isn't a joke. Honest. It was in the New York Times. And they're no folks to trifle with.

The upshot here is that Mark Twain wasn't a racist as new age fat heads had previously thought. Now that we've discovered that Huck was really black, according to his speech patterns, it's somehow OK for kids to read the book in school.

Unfortunately, the New York Times story didn't mention Jim, a character in the book who was black. The trouble here was that he wasn't called black or Afro-American. He was called what people in the South called black people in the 19th century. And we all know the word.

That word made "Huckleberry Finn" a racist book. But now that old Huck was black, it's all OK.

It's beyond sense. And all it really goes to show is that some English professor can prove anything for any reason given enough of a doctoral thesis with which to make an idiot of him or herself.

The point of "Huckleberry Finn" was that 10- to 15-year-old boys are funny creatures. They're full of childhood superstitions, willing to try anything and pretty much oblivious to

JEFF COUNTS

■ The upshot here is that Mark Twain wasn't a racist as new age fat heads had previously thought.

most social conventions. They would rather fish, kill frogs or get wet in any body of water that comes their way than do any kind of work.

And that is probably at the core of any controversy over Huck Finn. The book is basically a boy's communist manifesto. It's a blueprint for avoiding social responsibility. And that bugs parents.

High MEAP scores and a trip to the Harvard School of Business envisioned by most parents is a dreaded vision for a kid infected by Huck Finn and who is dreaming of drifting down the Rouge River with some socially unacceptable companion.

And any book that preaches such nonsense is certainly subversive, and by the way it uses "that word" for black people.

The thing here is that boys are pretty magical, no matter what race. They help us see the world fresh as a place of new wonders and adventure unencumbered by old attitudes either racial or scientific. They bring humor to our dour adult ways.

Wouldn't most of us adults like to see the world that way every day? I sure would.

A link: O'Connell Bridge in Dublin is the historic main thoroughfare in the charming city.

Occasionally in recent years, stately Dublin, in trying to retain its Georgian-Victorian respectability while attracting new summer visitors, has risked acquiring the reputation of a James Joyce theme park.

The life-sized 1990 bronze statue of Joyce on North Earl Street where it intersects with O'Connell Street looks toward the General Post Office, the focus of the 1916 Easter Rising.

Higher up O'Connell Street, out in the center mall, is the 1988 statue of Anna Livia Plurabelle, a slender woman sitting in a running stream of water. Joyce honored her in "Finnegan's Wake" as the spirit of life, the spirit of the River Liffey.

Of course Joyce is integral now to the soul of the city, and Joyce adepts who finished observing Bloom's Day on June 16 will be back next year retracing the events in "Ulysses."

But this year in Dublin it is possible to sample both Dublins, Joyce's and Trinity College's, as they intersect everywhere and cross other literary and historical lines.

Events

The quatercentenary events at Trinity, which Joyce called "dull stone set in the ring of the city's ignorance," are anything but dull. In the Old Library's stunning, high, arched Long Room, the Book of Kells' adorned New Testament texts are better lighted and explicated than they were until a few months ago.

In the same building is the Treasures of the Mind exhibit, running to Dec. 31, with the times and life and works of the people Trinity is most proud of, including Wolfe Tone, the revolutionary; Edmund Burke, the great talker; and such literati as Oscar Wilde, rooted in culture

On display: The Dublin Writers Museum displays manuscripts, portraits, first editions and mementos of the careers of such famous Irish authors as James Joyce.

John Millington Synge and Samuel Beckett.

There is no Joyce, as he didn't attend; but, perhaps curiously, scant mention of Oliver St. John Gogarty, who did graduate, and who was a poet, essayist, bicycle racer, champion swimmer, surgeon and model for Buck Mulligan in "Ulysses."

There is in the nearby Arts building a film, "The Dublin Experience," a colorful 40-minute story of how Dublin started as a Viking settlement 1,000 years ago. The film and the Old Library exhibits cost $8.40, the library alone $4.20.

The Abbey Theater, on Lower Abbey Street, will have "Drama At Inish," an Irish classic by Lennox Robinson, until July 25. "Conversations on a Homecoming," by Tom Murphy, about disillusionment of an immigrant returning from America, opens Aug. 3. Tickets range between $13.40 and $21.80.

The Abbey's more experimental adjunct, The Peacock, will have "Bold Girls," by Rona Munro, until July 18; a selection of amateur plays between July 20 to July 24; "Away Alone," by Janet Noble, from July 30 to Aug. 4; and the annual Yeats festival, from Aug. 17. Tickets are $13.40. For more information call 787222.

"Dancing at Lughnasa," acclaimed on Broadway, is to open at the Abbey Aug. 20, and another Brian Friel work at the Gate Theater, at 1 Cavendish Row, an adaptation of Turgenev's "A Month in the Country," will be performed from July 30 to Sept. 26. Tickets are about $20. Until July 25 the Gate will have Noel Coward's "Private Lives." For more information on performances at the Gate Theater call 744045.

At the annual Kerrygold Horse Show, July 14 to 18 at the Royal Dublin Society, in the Ballsbridge section, 2,000 horses deemed to be Ireland's best will compete. For more information call 680645.

Making the most of going solo

By EVERETT POTTER
SPECIAL WRITER

Going solo is often the most difficult — and expensive way to travel. For the privilege of having a single cabin, most solo travelers are charged anywhere from 150 percent to 300 percent of a cruise line's per-person double-occupancy rate.

And hotels aren't much better when it comes to the high rates they charge singles.

"The travel industry is Neanderthal when it comes to solo travelers," said Jane Doerfer, publisher of "Going Solo," a newsletter devoted to solo travel.

Doerfer scours the globe looking for hotels and vacations that are hospitable to adventurers going it alone.

"I call it 'solo' travel rather than 'single' because many of my readers are married," she said. "If you say 'single,' people automatically assume you're looking for romance and, frankly, that couldn't be further from the truth."

Recent articles in "Going Solo" have dealt with affordable alternatives in London and Paris, life at a Club Med village, group bicycling trips or a new trend — taking a volunteer vacation to help clean up the environment or work with inner-city youths.

Each issue features a report written by a reader on a topic such as seeing Prague in winter, traveling by train through Australia or visiting the Hawaiian island of Kauai.

"When you travel solo without the buffer of a companion or a group, things happen to you," said Doerfer. "In fact, I've had my finest experiences as a solo traveler. But it's important to set up situations where you're likely to meet people."

Doerfer notes that dinnertime is when most people enjoy companionship.

For that she prefers English country-house hotels where guests can dine together at a communal table. Or in the States, considering the ongoing rage for grilled food, Doerfer encourages people to seek out restaurants with communal seating around the grill.

"But when those options aren't available and I'm dining alone, my technique is to call up the restaurant and say, 'I understand you have good food. I'll be eating dinner alone tonight. What's the best time to come?'"

"You'd be amazed at how flattered they are and how good the service can be. And I always tip for two, 20 percent in most cases."

Doerfer has several important tips for would-be solo travelers.

"You should condition yourself to a point where you realize you're going to feel lonely at some point on the trip. It's baloney to pretend otherwise. It's also important to travel with some sort of agenda because it helps to focus the day."

When it comes to dealing with hotels, she encourages solo travelers to negotiate for their hotel room.

S'craft aims at new students with weekend college classes

Schoolcraft College Radcliff-Garden City will begin weekend college in September to give more students an opportunity to complete an education.

Courses in business, liberal arts, computer science, allied health and math will be among the 35 courses offered between Friday after 4:30 p.m. through late Sunday afternoon.

"At Radcliff we have many working students. We're hoping to attract people who are too busy for school during the week," said Mary Armstrong, coordinator of college centers services.

"Students can get anything they need for resident programs."

Associate degrees are offered in allied health, corrections, criminal justice, medical records technician, medical transcription, occupational therapy assistant and quality management.

The Radcliff campus has one third the total enrollment of Schoolcraft College, which is headquartered in Livonia and serves approximately 10,000 students.

"We're growing by leaps and bounds," Armstrong said. "I think we are moving in response to needs identified in the area. We decided to pilot (weekend college) here. It's been in the works for awhile."

Saturday classes have been successful, she noted.

Weekend college will begin Sept.

4, one week after the traditional fall schedule begins. Classes will run 16 weeks - not 16 - but courses will run 55 minutes instead of 60 to make up the difference.

"We've advertised for additional part-time staff," Armstrong said. "It's not for everyone but some professionals might prefer to teach on the weekend."

"We're piloting this to see how successful it will be. It will take time to evolve into a full blown program. We'll expand as necessary."

The Radcliff campus is between Radcliffe and Wildwood south of Ford Road. For more information on the weekend college, call 462-4770.

Madonna outlines plans to expand 2nd elderhostel

Building on last year's successful Elderhostel program, Madonna University will host learning sessions for seniors this October, with an added twist.

"Since Madonna has the communication resources necessary, we have added a second week of classes for deaf and hearing impaired persons which is original to Elderhostel," said Anita Herman, Elderhostel program coordinator at Madonna.

Elderhostel is a nonprofit, educational program for adults 60 and over who want to develop new interests.

Sessions are short term academic courses hosted by educational institutions around the world. No credit is granted and no homework or testing is involved.

This year's sessions at Madonna will be held from Oct. 3-9 for hearing adults and from Oct. 11-17 for deaf or hearing impaired adults who use American Sign Language to communicate.

Each session will offer three college level liberal arts courses centered around the history and culture of Detroit.

• "Work, Wages and Wheels: Detroit's Impact on the American Dream" Discover through lectures and field trips how the labor movement in Detroit's automotive industry changed the American workplace and study the lasting impact of assembly lines and labor unions on our economy.

• "The Detroit Connection: Underground Route to Freedom" Study life in hiding and visit important stops in Detroit and Amherstburg, Ontario while retracing the movement of slaves from the South to freedom.

For more information on this limited enrollment program, call 591-5096, TTY 591-1203, or fax 591-0156.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Any way you spell it tomatoes are versatile

You say tomato and I say tomato. Vice President Dan Quayle says tomato, but would probably spell tomato. However you say it or spell it, the tomato is coming into season in many household gardens. There are about as many ways to cook this versatile fruit as there are fruits on the vine.

The tomato, also dubbed as a "love apple" has long been known to have aphrodisiac properties. That's probably one of the reasons it is a garden favorite.

Those of us accustomed to having the highest court in the land pronounce upon paramount issues of our national life will not be surprised to learn that as long ago as 1893 the justices resoundingly declared the tomato a vegetable, not a fruit. Either way, it ranks with lemons as a perennial favorite for a true culinary uplift.

When using fresh tomatoes in cooking, their juiciness is seldom an asset. To avoid watery results when cooking with tomatoes, professionals rely on removing as much of the juice and seeds as possible before cooking. This is easily accomplished by removing the stem, then holding your palm upside down over a bowl, squeeze the tomato to eject excess juice and seeds.

Hothouse tomatoes

In many sections of the country, fresh field grown tomatoes are not available during colder months, being supplanted by hydroponic or hothouse grown varieties.

Momma likened hothouse tomatoes to rubbery tennis balls and instead, opted for a trip to an Italian market in search for a more meaty, pear shaped tomato dubbed an Italian tomato, which she claims is sweeter and more tender than the typical American tomatoes. I'm sure you'll agree, however, that a fresh picked tomato right from the garden rivals anything for versatility and tastiness.

Tomatoes used to be reserved as a garnish for salads. Occasionally they might end up sliced on a layer of cold cuts and sandwiched between mustard slathered bread. The old standby was to spend a rainy day "putting up" or home canning everything from tomato sauce to tomato relish.

Good cooks know that a fresh picked garden tomato has the ability to end up on everything from a platter sprinkled with fresh basil and drizzled with a vinaigrette or cored and popped under a broiler after being sprinkled with dill and a little Parmesan cheese. Trendy cooks appreciate the virtues of the tomato in chunky salsas, fajitas and in delicate hot or chilled soups dolloped with sour cream and sprinkled with chives.

Green tomatoes

Adventurous cooks can appreciate even the green tomato, realizing that even in its immature state, the green tomato can be coated with seasoned breadcrumbs and panfried or even chopped and made into a green tomato salsa with flavors all their own.

There are a few suggestions on handling and storing tomatoes that are little known but helpful. Ripe tomatoes last only 5 to 7 days. For optimum results, they should be stored in the crisper section of the refrigerator, uncovered. Contrary to popular belief, green tomatoes ripened on a sunny windowsill tend to lack the flavor and definitely the nutritive value of a tomato picked right from the vine.

Immature and smaller green tomatoes, by the way, have a harder time ripening than their full-figured relatives. Tomatoes as a whole do not lend well to freezing but I have successfully frozen skinned and seeded chunks for wintertime use in sauces and salads.

Skinning tomatoes

Garden fresh tomatoes should have a tender skin unlike their hothouse counterparts. Cooks who use tomatoes as a whole in cooking will appreciate a skinned tomato lest they find chunks of skin floating among their chili or soup. Skinning a tomato is relatively easy. The core can be removed and the tomato skewered onto a long handled fork and then immersed for about a minute in rapidly boiling water. Another quick favorite method for skinning calls for charring the tomato skin with a propane torch (doesn't every kitchen have one?) and peeling lightly to remove the skin. Either method is acceptable.

Remember, it's not how you spell it, it's how you make it. And in case Dan Quayle is reading, the "e" is added only when pluralized.

Cheap but classy cuisine

Little touches add elegance

Prepare elegant, wholesome meals without spending a fortune. Caterer Nancy Steinbrecher offers tips for stretching the gourmet food dollar.

BY GERRI RINSCHLER
SPECIAL WRITER

Cooking gourmet food doesn't have to be expensive. Stretching the "gourmet" food dollar has been overlooked until recently in Jacques Pepin's "Cuisine Economique."

Pepin's 11th published cookbook, (William Morrow and Company, June 1992, $22) is a collection of recipes organized into seasonal menus that employ affordable ingredients.

When asked why he decided to concentrate on cooking economically, Pepin pointed out that cooking well, in fact, means cooking economically.

"As I travel around the country and work with young chefs, I am always most impressed with those who produce well-cooked food with speed, organization and economy than those who created complicated 'food art' at the expense of thrift."

Caterers like Nancy Steinbrecher of Troy, and chefs who prepare wholesome, elegant meals with style are constantly stretching the gourmet dollar.

"A dinner designed around a whole roasted chicken seasoned with herbs and served with roasted potatoes and vegetables can be served elegantly and only cost you about $6," said Steinbrecher who has been catering for over five years. Cooking for a large family with seven children who now range in age from 15 to 32 gave her the expertise to go on and prepare dinner parties which serve up to 600 people.

"After you've cooked for 50 people on a regular basis as I have done for family get-togethers, it's easy to serve dinner to 100, 200 or more. The key is organization. The number of people you cook for certainly affects the cost, the savings come when you shop in quantity."

Steinbrecher uses a set of 5- by 8-inch cards to organize and plan every catering event. She recommends establishing a budget, and then deciding whether the party is to be a formal, sit-down dinner, or casual buffet.

No matter the style of the event, Steinbrecher usually offers chicken or beef entrees and avoids the higher priced items such as seafood. "When serving beef, you can stretch your dollar even further by providing many side dish options, then balance the menu with color and texture to add elegance," she said.

For instance, serve an unusual salad of mixed greens, water chestnuts, mandarin oranges and walnuts. When the budget permits, toss in a few mini corn on the cobs to add yet another dimension. Instead of buying expensive feta cheese, toss one to two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese into a salad.

"Your party will surely be a success if you add an elegant dessert at the end of the meal," said Steinbrecher because dessert is usually important to most guests. One of her favorite desserts is a chocolate raspberry torte. "It's rich, can be made ahead, and is affordable."

To make the torte she splits a nine-inch chocolate layer cake into six layers, fills the layers with raspberries which have been thickened with jam and covers it with whipped cream. When sliced, the torte will serve 15 people.

Just before serving, she dresses the torte with extra raspberry sauce and chocolate shavings or chocolate sprinkles. "Presentation of each dish is just as important in serving the meal as the organization is in planning the event," she said.

Chef Peter Kotsogiannis has been serving customers gourmet food on shoestring budget for the past nine years at Peter's K, a small unadorned coffee shop at 25920 Greenfield in Oak Park. His menu tells it all, dinner selections range in price from $8.95 to $11.95. The restaurant is open 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday. He strives to serve fresh, classic cuisine such as Veal Picante, Steak au Poivre and grilled whitefish with garlic-lemon sauce.

WINNER DINNER

BETSY BRETHEN

Recently, a copy of the Southfield Senior Arts League cookbook appeared in the Winner Dinner mailbag. Edited and illustrated by Bill Mandt, and compiled as a fund-raiser for the organization, many of the recipes were submitted by Southfield senior citizens.

Leafing through, the temptation of putting together a super summer supper couldn't be resisted. Mixing and matching recipes, I came up with this week's Winner Dinner menu which is an easy, make-ahead meal, perfect for casual, al fresco dining. Featuring Southfield city councilman Peter Cristiano's recipe for pesto sauce, Cynde Friday's tomato and red onion salad, and Jack Cole's lemon squares, this light supper promises to help you keep your cool in the kitchen.

The Senior Arts League was formed for the promotion of, and involvement in, the performing and visual arts. Each year it sponsors two juried art shows for seniors, and along with the city of Southfield, co-sponsors SRO (Standing Room Only) Productions, a civic theater group whose plays are about seniors or are of special interest to them. The Senior Arts League has also sponsored the restoration of a building constructed in 1854, in Southfield's historic park the Burgh.

If you are interested in learning more about the senior arts league, call 354-9362. Cookbooks are available for $5 in the Southfield Senior Adult Center in the Southfield Civic Center, 24350 Civic Center Drive, Southfield, 48034, or $6 by mail. All proceeds go toward continuing support and sponsorship of this non-profit organization.

Until July 27, all the best, and in the interest of trimmer waistlines, please keep those slimmer Winner Dinners coming!

Submit your recipes to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham, MI 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's Winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

STRAWBERRY SUMMER PUDDING

- 1 1/2 pints fresh, ripe strawberries

- 1/4 cup strawberry jam
- 1 cup sour cream

Clean and hull the berries. Cut 12 of the berries into thin slices, about 1/4 cups and mix with 2 tablespoons of the sugar. Set aside.

Place the bread in the bowl of a food processor and process a few seconds to make coarse bread crumbs to make 2 cups. Set aside.

Place the whole berries, the jam and remaining sugar in processor bowl and process until smooth. Transfer to a bowl and lightly fold in bread crumbs. Divide the pudding into six, 1 cup containers. Refrigerate for 2-3 hours.

To serve, spoon the reserved berry slices onto 6 dessert dishes. Unmold the puddings on top of the berries and serve with the sour cream. Serves 6.

MACARONI BEAUCAIRE

- 1 pound elbow macaroni
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1/4 cup minced chives
- 1/2 cup canola oil
- 2 eggplants about 1 1/2 pounds, cut lengthwise into 12 slices 1/2 inch thick
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

3 ripe tomatoes cut into 1/2 inch slices

1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
Bring 3 quarts water to a boil. Cook macaroni until just tender 15-20 minutes. Remove 1/4 cup of the cooking liquid, and place in a serving bowl large enough to hold macaroni. Drain elbows. Add olive oil, grated cheese, salt and pepper to the reserved cooking liquid in the bowl. Mix well and add the drained elbows and chives. Mix well. Set aside.

For vegetable garnish: Heat the canola oil in a large skillet. When hot, add the eggplant slices in one layer, sprinkle them with the salt and saute them for 2 1/2 to 3 minutes on each side until nicely browned. Remove and drain on paper towels.

Reserve the 6 nicest slices of eggplant and half of the tomato slices and arrange the remainder of these vegetables in a 14 inch by 10 inch gratin dish to completely cover the bottom of the dish. Distribute elbows evenly on top and arrange the reserved eggplant and tomato slices alternating over the elbows. Sprinkle with shredded cheese.

Place the gratin in a preheated 400 degree oven for 20 minutes until cheese has melted and is heated through. Serves 6.

- 1 large clove garlic
- 2 tablespoons chopped white onion
- 1/2 teaspoon (or to taste) sea salt

Place the tomatoes in a pan and barely cover with water and bring to a simmer. Continue to cook until tomatoes turn a lighter, faded green and are just soft but not falling apart (about 5 minutes). Set aside to cool. Place 1/2 cup of the cooking water into a blender or processor and add the cilantro, garlic, onion and salt, and blend until almost smooth. Drain the tomatoes and place in the blender and chop being sure not to overblend. The sauce should have a rough texture. Makes 2 1/4 cups.

Chef's secret: I added a few strips of Jalapeno for a kick!

To make a cooked sauce, add 1 1/2 tablespoons of oil to a saucepan and heat. Add sauce and cook, uncovered over high heat until thickened and reduced, about 8 minutes. Add more salt to taste, if needed.

Tomatoes stuffed with pasta quick dinner

AP — Tomatoes Stuffed with Shells and Corn is a quick-fix dinner.

TOMATOES STUFFED WITH SHELLS AND CORN

- 1/2 pound small shells, such as ditalini, rotini, or orzo
- 4 large ripe tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups frozen corn or 3 ears fresh corn
- 1 cup tomato sauce
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

- 1 teaspoon fresh thyme, or 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh basil, or 1/4 teaspoon dried basil
- 1 teaspoon chopped fresh mint, or 1/4 teaspoon dried mint
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. Cook pasta according to package directions; drain. While the pasta cooks, cut off tops of tomatoes and scoop out seeds. Trim away the pulp and reserve. Be careful not to cut through the tomatoes. Salt the inside of the tomatoes, turn upside down, and drain on paper towels.

In a large skillet over medium heat, melt butter. Add onion and frozen corn. If using fresh corn, scrape corn off cob into the pan with a sharp paring knife. Sauté until tender, about 5 minutes. Add reserved tomato pulp and tomato sauce; season with salt, pepper and remaining herbs. Simmer for 5 minutes. Remove from heat, toss in pasta and Parmesan cheese. Stuff tomatoes with pasta mixture. Place gently in a greased baking dish. Place excess pasta in separate baking dish; cover with foil to keep warm. Bake tomatoes in a 425-degree F oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until softened. Place remaining pasta in oven; heat during last 5 minutes of cooking time. Make a bed of the extra pasta; center tomatoes in pasta. Makes 4 servings.

Edible flowers make salads, desserts special

AP — Edible flowers add a summery flourish to company-special salads and desserts. While your garden is in full bloom, bring a bouquet of edible blossoms into your kitchen to experiment.

Choose from the flowers listed here or make sure the flowers you're using are not poisonous (you can call your local extension office to check). Your best option is to use garden-grown flowers or those com-mercially raised especially for eating. Store them in a little cold water for one to two days. When you're ready to use the flowers, just dry them with paper towels.

Bachelor's Buttons: Bland-tasting blue blossoms with fuzzy silver-gray leaves.

Carnations: Pink, yellow, white, or red flowers with a bland and somewhat bitter flavor.

Make a habit of eating breakfast

For those on a diet or simply watching their weight, the temptation to skip breakfast is great. But take heed. Studies confirm that breakfast is an important meal for everyone, especially those counting calories.

Choosing a breakfast that's filling, not fattening and, at the same time, offers a lot of variety can start the day right.

Eating breakfast has clear health benefits ranging from improved productivity, a more positive attitude and better overall nutrition. It also plays a role in controlling hunger all day long.

Dr. C. Wayne Callaway, an endocrinologist at George Washington University in Washington, D.C., confirms that breakfast helps regulate hunger and facilitates a steady burning of calories throughout the day. His research reveals that people who by-pass breakfast have metabolic rates that are 4 percent to 5 percent below normal. Calories burn at a higher rate when spread out over the day.

Skip a meal, or eat just one large meal, and you'll burn fewer calories than if you eat sensibly throughout the day, beginning with breakfast.

A breakfast built around a bowl of cereal is a quick, easy and nutritious way to get back into the habit of eating a morning meal. And cereals are a good source of complex carbohydrates that can boost your energy level and sustain it until lunch.

All cereals, however, are not created equal. Many contain added sugar, salt and even fat. So label reading is important. Quarter Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice, for example, are sugar-free, sodium-free, fat-free and preservative-free. A one-cup serving contains only 60 calories.

Using fresh summer fruits and on-hand ingredients like non-fat yogurt, the Quaker Kitchens have created a number of quick and easy cereal combos. Peach Melba, for example, features cool and creamy raspberry yogurt, sliced peaches and raspberries spooned over Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice. Strawberry Fascination starts with the cereal and is topped with plain nonfat yogurt, sliced strawberries and a sprinkling of brown sugar.

Puffed cereal breakfast toppers: Pour 1 cup Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice into bowl. Top with one of the following toppings. If desired, stir just before serving.

Peach melba: Top with 1/4 cup nonfat raspberry yogurt and 1/4 cup sliced fresh, frozen or canned peaches. If desired, garnish with fresh raspberries. Calories 190; Fat 0g, Sodium 55 mg.

Cereal toppers: Peach Melba and Strawberry Fascination are delicious cereal toppers that make breakfast nutritious and calorie-wise.

Strawberry Fascination: Top with 1/2 cup sliced fresh or frozen strawberries, 1/2 cup plain nonfat yogurt and 2 teaspoons firmly packed brown sugar. Calories 155, Fat 1g, Sodium 60mg.

Tropical Fruit: Top with 1/2 cup nonfat vanilla yogurt, 1/4 cup orange sections (about 1/4 medium orange) and 1/4 cup peeled, sliced kiwi fruit. Calories 200, Fat 0g, Sodium 80mg.

Mocha Almond: Top with 1/2 cup low-fat coffee yogurt and 1 tablespoon toasted, slivered almonds. To toast almonds, heat in microwave at HIGH about 1 minute. Calories 165, Fat 5g, Sodium 50mg.

Area u-pick farms offering raspberries

KEELY WYGONIK

Strawberry picking season is nearly over, and raspberry is about to start. They started picking this week at Driver's Berry Farm in South Lyon and Langdon's in Fowlerville. The picking started

Saturday at Middleton Berry Farm in Lake Orion. At Blakes Orchard and Cider Mill in Armada they expect to start picking sometime around July 15.

The farmers say the berries are late this year, but the recent rain storms helped. If the weather stays cool, the berries should last two to three weeks. Middleton Berry Farm still has u-pick strawberries, peas, pea pods and broccoli.

Here are some places to pick raspberries, remember to call ahead before you go.

Driver's U-Pick Berry Farm, open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., take I-96 west to New Hudson exit (exit 155). Go south on Milford Road to 10 Mile Road. Turn right, go through South Lyon to end of 10 Mile Road. Follow the signs, (313) 437-1606 or 437-8461.

Langdon's Kern Road Farms, open 9 a.m. to dark. Take I-96 to Fowlerville exit. South on Fowlerville Road, five miles, left on Mason Road, one mile, right on Kern Road, one mile, (517) 223-8457.

Middleton Berry Farm, 2120 Stoney Creek, open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. weekends 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Lake Orion, 2 1/2 miles east of Lake Orion; from Rochester, six miles north on Rochester road to Stoney Creek, 2 1/2 miles west. (313) 693-6018 or (313) 693-6124.

Blake's Orchard & Cider Mill, 17985 Center Road, Armada, three miles north and four miles east of Romeo. Open 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., (313) 784-5343.

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service is offering a refresher course on canning. The two-day, hands-on canning workshop "Lite and Easy Food Preservation," will be offered 9 a.m. to noon, Thursday, July 16 and Friday, July 17 in the Kitchen Classroom of the North Building, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac. The cost is $7.50 for one session, or $15 for both. For information, and registration form, call 858-0904.

Chef Darren Thompson of Lafayette's John's Steaks On-The-Hearth in Detroit called to clarify Larry Jones' article about oysters. At one point Blue Pointes were not harvested because of ecological factors, that has since changed, and Blue Pointes are now available.

Microwave saves time in the kitchen

AP — Once you get used to a microwave oven that cooks, reheats, crisps, defrosts and melts ingredients, it is easy to clean and releases little heat into the kitchen, it's hard to imagine living without one.

Here are some hints and tips to help you get the most out of this useful appliance:

- For best results, use the directions that come with your microwave as a guide for cooking times. The times in most cookbooks and magazines are for an average 600- to 700-watt microwave. To produce the desired result, a compact 400-watt microwave will take more time, and a large 1,000-watt one will take less. Also, the various power levels such as high or medium are not standardized.

- To find the hot and cold spots in your microwave, spread a layer of trimmed white bread slices edge-to-edge over the microwave floor. Set the oven on high and watch the browning process through the glass door.

- To get full cooking power, wipe out the oven regularly — especially around the door seal — with a mild detergent or a baking soda solution.

- Soften stubborn soil with steam by boiling a cup of water in the oven. Then clean with a plastic (not steel wool) scrubbing pad. Or, cover a spill with a damp paper towel and turn the oven on high for 10 seconds. When the oven is cool, wipe it clean.

- To get rid of lingering food odors or stale smell, place a thick slice of lemon on a paper towel and microwave it on high for 1 to 1 1/2 minutes; let it stand overnight.

- Avoid using brown paper bags and overcooking popcorn. And keep an eye on dishes with lots of sugar. All are common causes of flareups.

- Sparks or flashes in a microwave indicate a dish containing metal, which shouldn't be used for microwave cooking. Remove the dish and transfer the food to a microwave-safe container.

- If a fire develops in a microwave, keep the door closed and unplug the unit. Let the fire extinguish itself before opening the door.

- Don't rush out to buy special microwave cookware. Most ceramic and glass casserole and baking dishes are microwave-safe.

- If you do buy special microwave cookware, select plastic cookware that can also be used for freezer storage. Then precooked portions can go directly from the freezer to the microwave.

- Save the sturdy microwave-safe plastic containers in which some frozen foods come. They're great for heating individual portions of any food in the microwave, and you can put them in the dishwasher.

- Some surprising things can be used as microwave cookware. Try warming leftovers on a paper plate, cooking bacon on paper towels and heating rolls wrapped in a napkin in a straw basket.

- Be sure any cookware is tall enough to accommodate boiling foods.
- Not sure if a dish is suitable for a microwave? Put the empty dish and a glass measuring cup half-filled with water in the oven and set it on full power for 1 minute. Then gingerly touch the dish and the water. If the water is hot and the dish cool, the dish is OK to use.
- Center food in the oven and have the thicker, denser parts facing outward toward the oven walls.

Joe Henry: The singer/songwriter, who is a 1978 graduate of Rochester Adams, mixes country/folk musings in his new album, "Short Man's Room." He'll perform with the Jayhawks Sunday, July 19, at The Ark, 637½ S. Main, Ann Arbor.

Mystery behind his music

Joe Henry goes exploring without compass

Joe Henry, a 1978 graduate of Rochester Adams High School, returns to Michigan to perform his hearty blend of country/folk character sketches at The Ark in Ann Arbor.

By LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

Joe Henry admits living in self-imposed obscurity. His musical fortunes have always been sought on the periphery.

All of which would serve to contribute to the mysteriousness of the singer/songwriter, who is a 1978 graduate of Rochester Adams. His music would seem to be as remote.

It's not. Henry's new album, "Short Man's Room," is a forthright hearty blend of country/folk musings, singular and vivid in their detail. Most are character sketches, the result of their writer lost in his own insular exploration without a compass.

"The more detached I get from myself, the easier it is to write," said Henry, who performs Sunday, July 19, at The Ark in Ann Arbor.

"Flannery O'Connor once said the more she wrote, the more mysterious writing became to her. I find myself feeling the same way. You can get so lost in it. Sometimes you feel you're at the wheel of a runaway car."

Sometimes in this internal search, Henry will turn up a number such as the title track, "Short Man's Room." The languid, somewhat sad folk narrative is a portrayal of an old man living out his final years alone.

Amid a lamenting violin in the background, Henry sings: "This is a short man's room, better you watch your head/I still got my one good eye. I keep it next to my bed/I keep my money down here, I dress it to look like a shoe/I'm saving up for a pair. Then I'll have more money than you."

Ironically, Henry says surreptitiously he found the sketch in his mind while trying to write another number. "It was like finding someone else's song," he said.

Though anchored in rich detail, "Short Man's Room" mirrors the stateless being many of Henry's numbers find themselves in. They are, perhaps, synonymous with an artist who has never felt grounded to any particular place or scene.

Henry's life has been transient, listing addresses in North Carolina, Georgia, Ohio, Michigan and New York. His family moved to Rochester while he was in high school. He later moved to Ann Arbor, graduating with a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Michigan.

Henry then went onto Brooklyn, N.Y., and currently calls Los Angeles home though he's been staying in Minneapolis to rehearse this upcoming tour with the Jayhawks.

In those areas, Henry established a recording career that has included four LP's starting in 1986 with "Talk of Heaven" on Profile Records. His next two, "Murder of Crows" (1989) and "Shuffletown" (1990) were released on A&M.

"As far as the disadvantages of being in obscurity, you feel like you're beating your head against the wall if you're trying to take a song outside of your living room," he said. "The advantages are you're not beholden to anyone."

While living in Rochester, Henry perhaps established the closest thing to be called his roots. He met and later married Melanie Ciccone, sister of pop icon Madonna. Musically, those times were formative as well.

"In high school, looking back, I was going through my purest period," Henry said. "I wasn't listening to anything but Woody Guthrie and country and blues artists such as John Hurt, Leadbelly and Lightnin' Hopkins. It was so stripped bare. It was like a burning light."

I think everyone else was listening to Boz Scaggs."

Joe Henry will perform with the Jayhawks Sunday, July 19, at The Ark, 637½ S. Main, Ann Arbor. For information, call 761-1451.

Therapists differ on homosexuality

BARBARA SCHIFF

Dear Barbara:
I read with great interest the article in the April 20th issue. There is a member of my family who has recently disclosed to us that he thinks he may be homosexual. His feelings regarding this problem are identical to those expressed by the young man in your article. He desperately wants to be helped and — as he terms it — be part of the "main stream society." He wants to have a family and children and be a family man just like all his friends.

He is a brilliant young man and a professional. He, too, feels that the gay community is too quick to accept their sexual preference without trying to tackle this problem with a therapist. He is scared and unhappy and is willing to give it "his all" in order to be helped.

I would greatly appreciate your giving us some names and address. Also we would like the address of the psychotherapist, Charles Soccadies, which you mentioned in your article. Thank you

Dear Readers:

The column on April 20 that today's writer is referring to was from a young man who fears he is gay and wants psychotherapy to help him live a heterosexual life. He asked about the causes of homosexuality and about the chances of finding the kind of help he desires.

In my reply to him and in a follow-up column, I discussed the various outlooks taken by the mental health field. The answer to today's letter is designed to amplify those replies.

The doctors' names and addresses this writer requests were mailed to her home

Dear "Thank You,"

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to discuss this topic again. Homosexuality has always been hotly debated by mental health professionals. At present, the argument focuses on the desirability and feasibility of giving gay men any hope that they can change.

There are those who believe sexual orientation is unchangeable. With this as their philosophical position, they then believe that trying to re-orient to a heterosexual position is a sickness in itself. They feel it is cruel and inhumane to give any credence to the possibility of being straight if you are gay, and insist that gay men must accept this as their destiny if they are to be healthy.

There are other mental health professionals who strongly disagree with this. They understand the enormous complexity of the issue and that there are often many factors which contribute to its determination. At the 1990 fall meeting of the American Psychoanalytic Association, there was a well-attended discussion group titled "The Sexual Deviations — Theory and Therapy: A Successful Treatment of an Overt Homosexual Patient." It was "well-attended" because many therapists understand the pain homosexuality can cause and are eager to find ways to help decrease the suffering. They do not want to take any moral position on homosexuality and they also don't want to deny the possibility of help to those in pain who deeply want to change.

Readers eager to tell their favorite things

JILL HAMILTON

The other day, after waking up at the usual none-too-bright and early hour of 11 a.m., I was sitting in the kitchen reading the newspaper when the sound of a loud lawn mower roared past the open door.

As I got up to shut the door, I glanced at the gruff-looking, burly dude mowing the lawn. He was wearing ear plugs and whistling a tune. It was that "These Are a Few of My Favorite Things" song from "Sound of Music."

It made my day.

A column ago, I asked readers to send in a list of their favorite things, or if they were feeling grouchy, a list of bothersome things. Here are the results:

Matt Rogers of Westland sent a letter handsomely decorated by his young son with a blue highlighter pen. For this creativity (mistaken, I believe) as well as promptness and fine penmanship, Rogers should get a copy of a Stevie Ray Vaughn video, "Live at the El Mocambo," as a prize. Unfortunately, he won't.

Writes Rogers: "I agree with a lot of your choices, especially singing loudly in the car or old couples holding hands. Great!"

"What about... steamy windows at the drive-in, birthday cakes, nature walks, Stevie Ray Vaughn, holding a cold beer on a real hot day, the smell of freshly cut wood, the forum section of Penthouse, new shoes and the Red Wings at Joe Louis Arena.

"Comedians George Carlin, George Wallace and the late Sam Kinison, Rhythm Corps, banging on my drum kit, homemade pizza, three-wheeling up north, J.R.R. Tolkien, carnivals, the Star Wars trilogy, missed camcorder moments that will never be duplicated, seeing kids having fun and bubble baths.

"Flashlights that work, Rolling Stone magazine, well upholstered furniture, PBJ sandwiches, a good haircut, actors James Olmos and Cheech Marin, actresses Michelle Pfeiffer and Anne Archer, freshly picked apples and action movies ('007,' 'Die Hard,' 'Robin Hood'), people who make you laugh, that first cup of coffee in the morning, and people who believe and believe in themselves."

Lynda Harris of Southfield responded to both questions. As for her favorite things, a good "Dear Abby," Henry Hook, knowing that my checking and savings accounts are as full as they can be, having something new to wear, Damon Wayans doing "Men On..." Tom Cruise in the casino scenes in "Rainman," garage sales with a lot of stuff, winning at Euchre, "Northern Exposure" and "Rescue 911."

Not to forget: Axl Rose on the cover of "Rolling Stone," laughing hard, being right, being lost in profoundly deep thought, good dreams, tuna fish sandwiches that are all mayonnaise, diet caffeine-free Coke, getting everything done, a little plant that

'Cool World' sounds good but leaves audiences cold

JOHN MONAGHAN

"Cool World" probably looked great on paper: a real-life comic book artist trips into the whacked-out world he created. Even from the previews, it had all the markings of an alternate and way-hip "Roger Rabbit."

Instead, "Cool World," playing on area screens, only proves how spectacularly uninspired its creator Ralph Bakshi has become. The animator hasn't matured much as an artist or as an adult since he made cartoon history with "Fritz the Cat" and "Heavy Traffic" 20 years ago.

The movie takes to extremes the idea that the world's sexiest woman exists in cartoon form. The theme originated in the 1940s with Tex Avery, whose "Red Hot Riding Hood" cartoons led servicemen to paint Red's image on their fighter planes.

Jessica, Roger Rabbit's main squeeze in the 1988 Disney hit, revamped the character with the inspiration and voice of Kathleen Turner. Here it's Kim Basinger's turn to be "tooned as "Cool World's" resident femme fatale Holli Wood. Drawn with thick lips and impossibly round breasts, the scantily clad Holli gyrates through every scene in her quest to have everything she wants, just like idol Marilyn Monroe.

She finds her ticket into the real world through cartoonist Jack Deebis (Gabriel Byrne), who discovers that he can physically travel into the world he created on paper.

As in Bakshi's other films, the Cool World is not a happy place, but one that blends real-life perversity with the cartoon violence served up by Bugs and Daffy. Cartoon characters wield huge axes and flatten each other with anvils, which seem to fall like rain from a multi-colored sky.

Look closely and you'll recognize familiar faces from cartoons past. Ignatz Mouse skitters through a scene, nameless barnyard animals from early Warner Brothers cartoons pop up, while the street-smart wolves from "Red Hot Riding Hood" leer with eyeballs and tongues protruding just like they did 50 years ago.

Despite all the color and mayhem, "Cool World" remains a snoozer partly because it doesn't play straight with the audience. Bakshi seems to make up the story (and the rules) for the Cool World as he goes along while his animation is only a step above standard Saturday morning fare.

You could sit through the film several times before catching all the hyperactive detail, but you wouldn't really want to.

The real-life actors, all who have done much better work, only make matters worse. Brad Pitt (he played a young stud in "Thelma and Louise") exists in the Cool World as a James Dean-style police detective. Only he knows the devastating consequences that a real-life Holli can have on the delicate balance between fantasy and reality.

Indeed, Holli's sexual encounter with the cartoonist makes her human in the film's second half, introducing Kim Basinger in the flesh and leading to a potentially entertaining premise as she joins Jack in the real world.

You only feel embarrassed for her, dressed in that horrible see-through number that would look out-of-place even at the Academy Awards. This wasn't the only opportunity to feel uncomfortable during "Cool World," which much of the time gives you the impression that you're peeping into an adolescent boy's over-sexed fantasy.

grows into a giant, a sunny day after weeks of winter clouds and a video recommendation that is good.

And the bothersome things: Having to make a decision on something when either way is going to be bad, clothes that used to fit and don't anymore, people that scream through my quiet neighborhood expressway, having to go somewhere I don't want to go to, losing things, computer problems, stupid commercials, stupid people and stupid anything.

Brenda Good of West Bloomfield was succinct with preferences. Favorites: A sunny day at the beach and getting a tan, singing as loud as I can in my car, when a good song comes on the radio, parties, frozen yogurt, a good workout and shopping.

Bothersome stuff: Violence, humanness, people who don't take care of the environment and crooked politicians. Paul Lloyd of West Bloomfield copied his list from a scene in "Wings of Desire" where a man is dying after an auto accident and an angel listens to his final thoughts.

Writes Lloyd: "For best effect, read it slowly, allowing time for an image to appear for each thought — Albert Camus, the morning light, the child's eyes, the swim in the waterfall, the stains from the first raindrops, the son, the bread and wine, hopping, Easter, the veins of the leaves, the blowing grass, the color of stones, the pebbles on the stream's bed, the white tablecloth outdoors, the dream of the house inside the house, the loved one asleep in the next room, the peaceful Sunday, the horizon, the light from the room shining in the garden, the night flight, riding a bicycle with no hands, the beautiful stranger, my father, my mother, my wife, my child."

Band revives SKA sound

BY KRISTEN KNUDSEN
STAFF WRITER

In the 1960s, there was a small-scale musical explosion in Jamaica resulting in a new sound called SKA. After a brief stint in England in the early 1980s, SKA moved to America — and died.

In 1988, SKA was born again. According to Ryan Reeves, 21, guitarist of the nine-piece SKA band, The Exceptions, this rebirth has been largely centered in Detroit.

"In the past two years, especially in Detroit, it (the SKA scene) has really grown a lot," said Reeves, who frequently used to encounter the question "Who's Scott?" when he tried to describe his music.

Now that we have the name straight, confusion is still understandable. What, exactly, is SKA?

"Most people can swallow it as fast Reggae," said 19-year-old Joel Peterson, the band's bass player.

To be more specific, SKA is "reggae, jazz, American R&B, and Motown stuff with a fast tempo," said Reeves, who lives in Warren and formed The Exceptions in 1990 with friends scattered throughout Detroit, Hamtramck, Monroe, Harper Woods, and Northville.

Despite the excitement of SKA, nine young men aged 19-22, who go to school and work along with promoting their band, it's difficult to look at music as a full-time career.

Reeves, who is studying pre-med at Wayne State University, remains realistic about his future, and claims that even if a major record label offered his band a contract with all the trimmings, he would only postpone his medical career for five years because, as he sees it, "It would take about that long for everyone to get sick of us."

At Wayne State, Reeves is joined by bandmates Peterson, who is studying music composition; singer Rich Reuther, who is studying social work; Vox organ player John Steed, who is undecided; and trumpet player Todd Bolton, a jazz major.

Trombone player Jim Hofer is studying architecture at the University of Detroit, tenor sax player Geno Corwin is in environmental science at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, and Alto Fugitive, the band's alto saxophone player is studying engineering at Lawrence Technological University.

With such variation of interests within the band, its members admit that their lyrics are sometimes whimsical, to borrow a term from bassist Peterson.

Mike LaTulippe, the 21-year-old drummer and communications major at Oakland Community College, agrees: "I think that our lyrics are like, half of them are silly, foolishness; the other half of our songs are serious, with a message."

Serious topics like racism have their place within The Exceptions' music, but a more typical song for them would be something like "Coney Dog City," which explores one of Detroit's most profound mysteries: "Everywhere you go," said Reeves of The Motor City, "It's like this abyss. Everything is dead, run-down, boarded up; but there's these thriving Coney Islands everywhere."

"They also have a song called 'Ridges,' expounding on the well-known fact that guys prefer potato chips over peanuts."

The Exceptions have recorded 11 songs and have a single coming out this month on Royal Oak's Icon Records that will be available throughout the U.S., Canada, and England. The song is "Flowering Scrunch," about girls with big hair — with the flip side "Exceptionally Horny," an all-instrumental pun referring to the band's brass section.

The Exceptions have maintained their sense of humor — and their day jobs, but with exceptional music like this, they may not need them for long.

The Exceptions will perform a free show with Black Planet Saturday, July 18, on the roof of Trapper's Alley as part of the Alley Series at 7:30 p.m.

FAMILY READING CHALLENGE 1992

Calling All Reading Challengers!

YOU'RE THE CHEF!

Pretend you're in charge of your family's dinner for one night this week, but you are only allowed to prepare foods that you find in grocery advertisements. Use as many ads as you need to plan your family meal.

Write your menu on a piece of paper, then make a shopping list of all the foods you will need to buy, along with the price of each item. Now add all the prices so that you'll know how much money you'll need for your trip to the grocery store.

Show your parent or guardian the meal that you've planned.
 (Note to adults: This is the fifth in a series of activities in the Family Reading Challenge 1992 Contest. Use this page to share some educational summer fun with your child.)

Icer to Cornell

Jason Weber, a 1991 Livonia Stevenson High graduate, has signed a national letter-of-intent to play hockey at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

Weber selected Cornell because of its academic reputation along with its longstanding tradition in hockey (since 1909), which also includes membership in the East Coast Athletic Conference (includes Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Brown, St. Lawrence, Clarkson, R.P.I., Union, Colgate and Vermont).

"I had an opportunity to play closer to home in the CCHA (Central Collegiate Hockey Association), but when choosing a college, you have to look at the long-term picture," Weber said.

He played the past season for the Lakeland Jets of the North American Junior Hockey League, gaining All-Star honors after scoring 25 goals and adding 40 assists in 40 games (second overall in league scoring).

The previous year he finished seventh overall with 71 points in 39 games. As an underage player for the Jets during his first year in the NAJHL, Weber collected 18 goals and 25 assists.

Weber started his career in the Livonia Hockey Association before moving up to the AAA and midjet ranks (Little Caesars).

Olympic Development

Several area girls made the cut recently at the U.S. Olympic Development regional's four-day soccer camp, held in Kenosha, Wis.

In the under-18 division, Stevenson graduate Ragen Coyne was selected along with Kara Nance of Rochester and Natalie Neaton of Brighton. (Plymouth's Kris Goff made the regional pool.)

Coyne will also play for the national team which will meet Norway later this month.

In the under-16 age bracket, Aimee Cousino of Livonia and Kathryn Sombro of Bloomfield Hills were chosen as regional alternates, while Plymouth's Kelly Lukasik and Troy's Jessica Limauro made the regional pool.

In the under-14 girls, regional selections included Laura Fedrigo of Livonia; Jennifer Bazzarelli and Mari Hoff, both of Canton; Tara Bilovus, Troy; Tamara Strong, Rochester Hills; and Jessica Glazer, Birmingham. Alternates included Elizabeth Szkybalo of Livonia and Laura Montecillo of Troy. Birmingham's Amanda Vogler made the regional pool.

Schoolcraft College women's coach Nick O'Shea also participated in the camp.

Tryouts for the Olympic Development Program for girls (under-14, -16 and -18), conducted by the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association, will be 5:30-8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21, at Livonia's Bicentennial Park.

For more information, call Pat Sobrero at 855-0954.

Lamberg in sync

The Michigan Synchro Masters took first place in synchronized swimming last month at the IV World Masters Championships in Indianapolis.

Members of the gold medal eight-woman team included Livonia's Marie Lamberg, along with Peggy Brady, Debby Hoepner, Kathy Kaminski, Rhonda Madej, Scotti Nichols, Patti Poirier and Ruth Thompson.

The four-woman Michigan Synchro team, which finished sixth, included Barb Hayes, Joan Jasin, Marie Stratton and Agnes Szeromski.

In the duet event, Lamberg and Nichols took the gold, while Madej and Poirier added the silver. Hoepner and Mary Beth Windrath placed fifth.

Thompson took the silver medal in solo competition, while Hayes added a ninth.

Over 3,000 athletes representing 45 countries competed in five different events at the World Masters (speed swimming, long distance, water polo, synchronized and diving).

YMCA junior tennis

The Livonia Family YMCA will hold two sessions (I and II) of junior tennis camps beginning July 20 and Aug. 3 (excellence to beginner) under the direction of Jack Kingsbury at the Grand Slam Tennis Club.

Each session — $100 for Y members and $120 for non-members — will include individualized attention; 15 hours of on-court lessons, drills and play; four students per court, and ball machine usage.

For more information, call 261-2161.

Father-son basketball

Tim McCormick of the New York Knicks and veteran coach Glen Donahue will hold their Father-Son Basketball Camp, July 24-26 and Aug. 21-23, at Orchard Lake St. Mary's College (Dombrowski Fieldhouse). The camp is open to sons (16-and-under) and their fathers.

The cost is $295 (includes meals and overnight accommodations).

OLSM's Dare to Be Great Camp for boys ages 7-18 will be Sunday through Thursday, Aug. 9-13. Tuition is $295 (includes room and board, instruction, camp T-shirt, notebook and basketball).

Strong finish: With a good stretch run, Classic Seven (No. 4), with Fabio Arguello Jr. aboard, earned a victory in the 44th Michigan Mile and a trip to the winner's circle (above).

Classic Seven beats odds in Mile

The Michigan Mile is rarely favorable to those favored to win it, and Saturday's race at Ladbroke DRC proved no different. Chief Honcho was nearly even money to win it, but instead a 35-to-1 shot, Classic Seven, collected the victory.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Everything considered, it was a typical Michigan Mile — the favorites flopped, and a longshot prevailed.

The 44th running of the Mile — the grandest thoroughbred race in the state, with a $250,000 total purse — was like so many others in the series: Only nine favorites have finished first. So no one in the crowd of 10,921 should have been too surprised by Saturday's race at Ladbroke DRC in Livonia.

The heavy favorite, Chief Honcho — ridden by Hall of Fame jockey Pat Day, this year's Kentucky Derby winner aboard Lil E. Tee — was never a factor. He fell to 11th at the start of the 1 1/4-mile race and ended up finishing there.

Those expected to be Honcho's chief

'I knew I had plenty of horse. Before the race, I really liked this horse . . . you can bet I want to stay aboard him.'

Fabio Arguello Jr.
winning jockey

competitors fared no better. Cozzene's Prince was sixth, Discover took seventh, Alyten ended up ninth and Michelle Can Pass was 10th.

Which left the way open for 35-to-1 shot Classic Seven, with a young phenom of a jockey in the saddle, Fabio Arguello Jr. In a race that truly was "Classic," Seven did not follow form; usually a front-runner, instead he bided his time on the rail until the final half-mile, then outraced Sunny Prince down the stretch to win by 3/4 of a length in 1:43.3.

"This is our greatest day, by far," said part-owner Tom Cairns. "He just outgamed (Sunny Prince). The other horse is bigger, but (Seven) is a tough little son-of-a-gun."

So, too, is Arguello. Just half the age of Day, the 19-year-old Arguello tied him for most wins this spring at the Churchill Downs meet and has quickly developed into a rider of national stature.

Arguello piloted Seven into the lead after surviving an early bumping, keeping him on the rail a length behind Perfectly Proud in a race that was closely bunched until the final stretch. At the 3/4-mile mark, Arguello pushed Seven past Perfectly Proud into first.

But he didn't stay there. Sunny Prince, with Carlos Silva aboard, came after him and entering the final one-eighth of a mile Prince was ahead. Seven en fought back, however, and at the finish was pulling away.

Even though the book on Seven was that he liked to take the lead early and keep it, and this race didn't follow that scenario, Arguello wasn't concerned — even after Prince passed him briefly. "I knew I had plenty of horse," Arguello said. "Before the race, I really liked this horse . . . you can bet I want to stay aboard him."

As for Chief Honcho, Day could give no reasons. His horse had finished in the money in six of his previous seven races, and he won his last start, June 18 at Belmont Park in New York.

"There's not much to say," said Day. "He was never in the race. He broke OK, and I tried to encourage him to maintain his position early on, but that's the best he could do. Chief Honcho just was never in it."

Seven was, and he never faltered. The longshot — only two others in Mile history were longer — made a few bettors happy, paying $79 on a $2 to win ticket.

Search on for ex-Tiger farmhands

BY RAY SETLOCK
STAFF WRITER

Lots of kids grow up wanting to play big league baseball, but few get the chance and even fewer play for more than two seasons.

A recent study done at Eastern Michigan University shows that only five percent of minor league players ever play in a big league game. Of those who make the majors, only three percent have careers lasting more than two full seasons.

A pair of local players, Doug Martin and Steve Waite, found these alarming statistics out the hard way.

Martin, who led Redford Catholic Central to a state championship in 1987 and pitched for Eastern Michigan, was released by the Detroit Tigers last week after a one-year stint with the ballclub.

Selected in the 44th round of the 1991 draft, Martin posted a 3-1 record in 19 appearances last season with Niagara Falls of the Class A New York-Penn League.

This season, Martin struggled at Niagara Falls, allowing nine runs in just five innings. He had a pair of saves and no decisions.

Waite, a hard throwing righthander

BASEBALL

er) started using Martin in different roles.

"I did well in my first couple of short-relief opportunities," Martin said. "But before I knew it, I was pitching in long relief situations."

"I guess my getting released was a mutual thing. It just wasn't working out and that's not to take anything away from the Tigers. After all, they gave me the chance."

Parrish could not be reached regarding Martin's release, but sources in the Tiger farm system said player personnel moves are made by a number of people, not just the manager.

Martin said he will await an opportunity to try out with one of the expansion teams, either the Florida Marlins or Colorado Rockies.

Waite was just as frustrated as Martin, but isn't ready to say that things weren't working out.

"I thought I was doing well," Waite said. "I was pitching well in Fayetteville, but my coaches called me into the office and told me I was going down to Niagara Falls to get some additional innings."

"When I got to Niagara Falls, I had a rough outing in an exhibition game and they released me."

Martin says that things were working out, but Niagara Falls manager Larry Parrish (former Texas Ranger outfielder) started using Martin in different roles.

"I did well in my first couple of short-relief opportunities," Martin said. "But before I knew it, I was pitching in long relief situations."

"I guess my getting released was a mutual thing. It just wasn't working out and that's not to take anything away from the Tigers. After all, they gave me the chance."

"When I got to Niagara Falls, I had a rough outing in an exhibition game and they released me."

Although Waite was let go by Niagara Falls, he said his release papers came from Fayetteville. Front office personnel at Fayetteville say they know nothing about Waite's release.

Both players agree that minor league baseball consists of hungry players chasing mouth-watering dreams that in most cases never come true.

"Every guy in the minor leagues thinks that he is going to make the big club," Martin said. "But we hear it every day on the corner. People tell us constantly that the odds are stacked against us."

"We know that the odds are not in our favor, but we have to go and try our best everyday. We have to believe we are good enough and you cannot think otherwise."

Waite said minor league baseball was fun, but he wasn't there to just play in the minors.

"I wanted to get to the majors," Waite said. "There would be 50 or so of us players stretching and the coaches would say, 'You know only about two or three of you guys are going to make the big leagues.'"

"We knew that, but that didn't stop any of us from believing we were going to be one of those to make it."

Roman's bat spurts Caesars to league win

Little Caesars and Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury stayed atop the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League standings by winning games Wednesday night at Ford Field.

Caesars and Hines Park were tied with 14-7 records heading into Friday night's action.

Caesars collected 14 hits to beat the Tecumseh Green Giants 7-3 in Wednesday's nightcap. Andrew Margoullick had a pair of RBI with a double and single.

Dave Roman (Livonia Franklin and Henry Ford Community College) was 3-for-3 and Andy Gagne was 2-for-4 with an RBI.

John Spoyler was the winning pitcher in five innings of work. Spoyler struck out five before being replaced. Brandon Endicott pitched the sixth inning and Roman pitched the seventh to assure victory.

The Green Giants fell to 3-16.

Hines Park beat Walter's 3-2 in a pitcher's duel played early Wednesday. Ed Gundry (Plymouth Salem), who was 2-for-3 at the plate, stroked an RBI triple in the fifth inning to drive in the winning run off losing pitcher Bryan Pfeifer.

Pfeifer, who went the distance, allowed five hits, five walks and one strikeout.

Chris Newton was the winning pitcher, scattering four hits, three strikeouts and one walk over seven innings.

Dave Wood went 3-for-3 for Walter's, which fell to 11-8-1 and dropped out of a second-place tie with Delwal.

Delwal keeps pace

Bill McKaig gained his first pitching win of the season on Wednesday as Delwal beat Wendy's of Ann Arbor 4-1 at Eastern Michigan University.

Delwal improved to 12-7-1 overall. Wendy's fell to 6-15.

McKaig, who left after five innings in favor of Mark Temple (North Farmington), allowed five hits, struck out two and walked four. Temple allowed one hit, struck out two and walked none.

Mike Schwartzberger had a two-out double in the first inning to score Chris Munson and Billy Hardy.

Temple scored on a passed ball in the fourth inning and Hardy singled home Jason Valente in the seventh inning for the fourth run.

A local bowler gave a national television audience quite a thrill Thursday on ESPN.

Mike Samardzija won the Pro Bowlers Senior Open Championship at Escondido, Calif.

Samardzija defeated John Handegard, 193-

188. Both players had trouble converting on the right lane.

To reach the final, Samardzija of Farmington Hills had to defeat Hobo Boothe.

When Samardzija won the championship, he didn't know it. The score was so close, that Samardzija thought he lost the match. His wife, Jennifer, had to inform him of the victory.

Mike had a solid shot in the left lane. But the key to the match came in the seventh frame when he hit a big strike on the difficult right side.

The expression on Mike's face when he found out he won called for an instant replay.

This was Samardzija's first national television appearance in 15 years. He was on the Pro Bowlers Tour in the 1970's.

Mike owns K & S Bowling and Trophies in Livonia. It's one of the leading pro shops in the area.

Having already won three PBA regional titles, this is the first national championship for Mike.

Along with a beautiful trophy, Mike collected a check for $8,000.

which fit nicely in Jennifer's hand. It was a well-deserved victory and a cliff-hanger at the finish.

It's a tribute to one of our areas finer bowlers, who hung in there tough to the finish.

Approximately 100 wheelchair bowlers from across the country will meet in Canton for the first annual Michigan Wheelchair Bowling Tournament.

The event will take place on August 7-9 at Super Bowl Lanes. It's sanctioned by the American Wheelchair Bowling Association and the Michigan chapter of the Paralyzed Veterans of America.

The total purse for the event is close to $10,000.

Professional bowler and hall-of-famer Johnny Petraglia, also a veteran, will act as Master of Ceremonies. He will also be available to sign autographs.

Bob Calderon, the tournament director, has participated in numerous wheelchair bowling events throughout the country. He is a Livonia native and used a wheelchair because a land mine explosion in Vietnam severed both his legs.

Competition will take place all three days will conclude with an awards dinner Sunday at Ladbroke DRC in Livonia.

Spectators are encouraged to attend and enjoy watching what is expected to be some very exciting competition.

Sweep keeps Livonia Lasers 1st in fastpitch lane

The Farmington Hills Majestics and the Livonia Lasers improved to 4-0 in the Incredible Girls Fast-Pitch Softball League by winning doubleheaders Thursday.

Krista Miller pitched a four-hitter in the first game and Dana Dziekan a two-hitter in the nightcap as the Majestics defeated the Farmington Hills Diamonds 11-5 and 5-3.

The Majestics had just three hits in the opener but benefitted from 14 walks. Jennifer Lis hit a two-run single to break a 3-3 tie, and Ariana Poniatowski walked four times and scored twice.

Kate Mackie had two hits, including a two-run single, and three RBI for the Diamonds (1-3). Melanie Cheney was the losing pitcher.

In the second game, Miller led a two-run single and drove in another run with a groundout. Poniatowski, who ripped a two-RBI triple, and Miller had two hits each.

Cheney drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and scored another on Mackie's triple. Becky Thyraam was the losing pitcher.

Michelle Averill pitched a one-hitter and Misty Valley hit a three-run double as the Lasers won the first game 5-2 over the Canton Commanders. Averill walked five but didn't allow an earned run.

The nightcap featured more offense, but the Lasers prevailed again 12-7. Becca Bloch had two singles and three RBI for Livonia. Sarah Wojtowicz also had two hits and scored three runs. Lisa Craven scored three runs, too.

Julie Simpson made three fine defensive plays at first base, according to coach Craig Averill, and Craven made a game-saving catch in the outfield to begin a double play after Canton (1-3) had loaded the bases with no outs.

The Farmington Hills Hornets also swept a doubleheader, winning 7-6 and 7-3 over the Northville Niners and improving their record to 3-1.

The Hornets were down 4-0 in the first game but rallied to tie 6-6 and scored the winning run in the sixth. Kathy Schneider hit a lead-off double and pinch-runner Jenny Myslinski scored on Jodie Barringer's double.

Barringer was 3-for-3 with three RBI. Kelley West and Kelly LaCosse (one RBI) had two hits apiece.

Laura Williams pitched the last 5 1/2 innings in relief to get the win, allowing three hits and striking out five. Schneider, the catcher, also threw out two runners on the bases.

The Hornets had just five hits in the second game, scoring many of their runs on passed balls. Kristin Koziara was the winning pitcher.

LaCosse and West had one hit each and combined for nine stolen bases and three runs. Katie Hesano, Myslinski and Christine Clervi (RBI) accounted for the other hits.

In a July 2 doubleheader, Rachel Allor and Jen Holtzman had two hits apiece as the Diamonds won the first game 8-5 from the Hornets, who rebounded with an 11-5 victory in the second.

Winning pitcher Cheney, Mackie and Thyraam knocked in one run each for the Diamonds. Barringer was 2-for-2 with one RBI for the Hornets.

Williams and Amy Geary combined on a four-hitter in the nightcap. Amanda Ault had a two-run double, West two hits and one RBI. Mackie had another RBI for the Diamonds.

Mid-America Mustangs eliminated in Cincinnati

After winning its first game, the Mid-America Mustangs 16-Under softball team lost two straight last weekend and was eliminated from the All-American National Invitational Tournament in Cincinnati.

The Mustangs beat the Louisville Swingers 8-7 in the first game behind the nine-hit pitching of Stacey Sinke (Canton) and some excellent defense by second baseman Amy Yocum (Belleville).

With the Mustangs ahead 8-5 in the sixth inning, Yocum fielded a ground ball, tagged a Louisville runner between first and second base and threw to first baseman Sue Huber (Canton) for a double play. The play stranded a Louisville runner at third base and kept the Mustangs ahead 8-5.

Sinke helped her own cause with two hits in three at-bats and two RBI. Huber was 1-for-2 with a run scored, an RBI and a sacrifice. Leslee Dickerson (Belleville) was 1-for-2 with an RBI and a run scored, while Tricia Kesner (Garden City) had one hit and one run scored.

The Mustangs met Wilson Plasters (Hutchinson, Kan.) in the second round and the outcome was a 13-3 loss. Wilston Plasters, the No. 1 team in the nation last year according to the Mustangs' statistician Ron Movinski, pounded out 16 hits against Sinke, the losing pitcher.

The Mustangs collected nine hits and were led by Julie Jones (Belleville) with three hits in three at-bats. Huber and Colleen Wutke (Garden City) each were 2-for-3 with an RBI. Heidi Wahl (Southfield) and Nikki Wiesniewski (Canton) had one hit and one run apiece.

Endless Summer (Middletown, Ohio) ended the Mustangs' stay in Cincinnati in the third round. The Mustangs surrendered 22 hits in a 16-6 loss.
