Mall's expansion/sale stalled

The proposed sale and major expansion of Westland Center has been put "on hold." Delaying the plan, disclosed more than a year ago, are several factors. One is the reluctance of Hudson's to sign a long-term lease for the expansion.

BY VALERIE OLANDER
STAFF WRITER

Westland Center's J.L. Hudson's appears to have cold feet when it comes to signing on the dotted line. And the lack of a commitment to stay at the shopping center is holding up the potential sale and major expansion of the mall.

Negotiations between the current owners and Chicago-based Homart Development Co., an affiliation of Sears Roebuck, are at a standstill until the matter is settled, according to Ron Winfrey, Homart's assistant vice president of capital markets.

Carol Rutz, Westland Center general manager, said "all expansions are on hold" because "different factors come into play."

Homart approached owners Equitable Real Estate Investment and Management Company more than a year ago with an interest in purchasing the shopping center on Warren Road west of Wayne Road for an undisclosed amount of money.

The purchase would include adding Sears as a fourth anchor store and building a parking deck to handle increased traffic. Currently Hudson's, Kohl's and J.C. Penney are the mall's largest retailers.

However, the sale hinges on Hudson's officials signing an operating covenant with Equitable that would require the department store to stay at the center for an extended period of time. The contract expired last year.

"(Hudson's) wasn't willing to sit down and say they'd stay (in Westland)," said Winfrey.

"Hudson's is a key department store

Animated bunch carries a spirited birthday 'toon

Jobie Patrick had a "Mickey Mouse" birthday party recently with lots of special guests: like Homer and Marge Simpson, Yosemite Sam, Superman, Dick Tracy and Betty Boop.

The "guests" were actually Jobie's relatives and friends who dressed as TV and comic strip characters to mark his 32nd birthday.

The party, held in the Patrick backyard on Treadwell north of Glenwood, was planned by Jobie's wife, Sherry, who started the birthday tradition two years ago.

The first party had a Roman toga theme, followed last year by a Hawaiian luau.

There were 64 guests at the party, said Jenny Westover, Jobie's mother-in-law, who was dressed as the "B.C." comic strip character.

Other guests were dressed as Felix the Cat, Little Red Riding Hood and the wolf, Daphne from the "Scoobie Doo" children's TV program, Minnie Mouse, Brutus, the Flintstones, Catwoman, Daisy Mae and Hagar.

Sherry said she has a theme in mind for next year's birthday party for her husband, who owns a carpet cleaning business, but admitted it wasn't finalized.

Court backs schools in refusing religious video

BY MARIE CHESTNEY

A federal judge called a song sung by a Livonia school district student on a video "proselytizing" and rejected the girl's claim that she should be allowed to show the video to her second-grade classmates during school hours.

David Melton, attorney for 8-year-old Kelly DeNooyer, has filed an appeal of U.S. District Judge Nancy Edmunds' decision in Cincinnati's 6th Circuit Court of Appeals.

"I think the precedent is too damaging to leave it on the books," said Melton, of the Rutherford Institute of Michigan, a non-profit group specializing in the defense of religious liberty and free speech. "It will strip kids across the state of the right to free speech."

DeNooyer's lawsuit charges four officials of the school system which includes the northern section of Westland, of violating her right to free speech when they refused to let her show a video last year to her classmates at McKinley Elementary.

The video shows Kelly singing "I Came To Love You Early" in Redford's Temple Baptist Church.

The song is about Kelly discovering Jesus Christ as a young child. Four times in her 22-page legal opinion, Edmunds called the song "proselytizing." Proselytizing is trying to convert someone from one opinion or religious belief

Party postponed

The Westland Chamber of Commerce postponed its 30th anniversary dinner. The new date will be announced later, said a chamber spokesman. The business group had scheduled the anniversary dinner for Friday night, Sept. 11, at the Joy Manor.

Hamilton happenings

Hamilton Elementary School is planning varied activities for the first month of the new school year. A newsletter sent to parents this week includes announcements of a PTA open house at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 16; the annual fall book fair during school hours Sept. 14-16 and 9-10 a.m. Sept. 17 as well as the night of the open house. New PTA officers are president Ed Spontack, vice president Adrienne Spontack, secretary Sandy Strzalkowski, and treasurer Maria Thauvette. The PTA meets the first Wednesday night of each month at the school on Schuman south of Cherry Hill.

Diabetes education

The Wayne County public health department will hold a six-week diabetes education program, starting Wednesday, Sept. 23, in the county health center on Merriman, south of Palmer. The classes are free, but pre-registration is required. The classes will be 7-9 p.m. on consecutive Wednesdays, ending Oct. 28. The topics include "what is diabetes?" "regulating and monitoring diabetes," "using and adapting diet exchange lists," "personal health care," and "physical activity and exercise." Interested people may call 467-3300 between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. The health center is next to the Annapolis Hospital/Westland Center facility.

Makes dean's list

Jeffrey Horne, a graduate of Franklin High School, made the Kalamazoo College dean's list for the last academic quarter. He had a grade point average between 3.5 and 4.0. Horne, a junior, is the son of Christine Horne of Westland and Richard Horne of Plymouth. Kalamazoo, a private university, was founded in 1833.

Car crash: Two people, including a 3-year-old girl from Carlton, were taken to St. Mary Hospital and released after a two-car accident at the Ford-Hix corner about 8:30 a.m. Thursday. A Westland man driving east on Ford Road failed to stop at a red light and struck a 1987 Ford, in which the girl was a passenger. The driver of the other car, a 1986 Plymouth, also was injured.

to any regional mall in Michigan. Without Hudson's the value of the mall drops tremendously and since they're not putting anything in writing, everything is on hold," he said.

Winfrey said he talks to officials at Hudson's about every six months to find out when a decision is expected.

"Unfortunately we ran into the middle of a corporate reorganization," he said.

A Hudson's spokeswoman denied that the firm is being reorganized. Sue Sorenson added that she would have to check with other Hudson's officials on the lease agreements.

The city of Westland also has been patiently waiting for a decision. The expansion would mean added revenue for the city, in addition to added traffic concerns.

Westland Center is the city's largest taxpayer and employer.

"I haven't heard anything at all. We're waiting for the folks at Equitable to make some type of decision," said Joe Benyo, city council liaison. "I think it was put on hold temporarily, something to do with marketing."

City economic development director Scott Veldhuis, also said doesn't know when the sale will be completed.

"We're still optimistic it will go through," he said. "Right now we have no new information."

The city amended its Tax Increment Finance Authority financing and development plan in the spring of 1991 to allow it to use public financing for commercial developments. According to the amended plan, the city will recapture city, county and school taxes through 1999 to improve $11.4 million of roads and utilities surrounding Westland Center to make room for the expansions.

At the time, residents near the center opposed the expansion because of the expected increase in traffic. City council candidates seeking election last fall were split on whether city TIFA funds should be used for financing private developments.

Homart Development is a commercial, development and management arm of the Coldwell Banker Real Estate Group, which is a member of the Sears Financial Network. The company has developed 75 million square feet of retail and office space since it was founded by Sears in 1959.

commented that his job is to research the legal aspects of it and wouldn't give his personal opinion.

"I will say I enjoy all kinds of music. Most of these groups I've never heard of before, of course, that's not to say they're not popular groups," he said.

City cable contractor Diane Abbott, said of the video: "Personally it's not my kind of music. Professionally we have First Amendment rights and we have to show it (on Channel 18)."

Anyone in the city can fill out a card requesting certain programs are shown on the public access station, Abbott said. The music video in question was produced by a Dearborn Heights man through Continental Cablevision. A Westland man who saw the program asked for it to be shown on Channel 18, she said.

Abbott said the cable station does have a list of guidelines "conducive to what others in the area have" to regulate cable programming. The rules follow FCC guidelines.

"It's going to be a very difficult task trying to set community standards," Plakas said. "It will be difficult because the law provides no concrete guideline."

McKnight said she previously had another resident call her concerned about the quality of community access programming and "people putting stuff on with the minimum standards.

to another. "The school district's concern that it might violate the establishment clause by playing Kelly's videotape of a proselytizing song is a rational basis for refusing to show the tape," Edmunds wrote.

After the ruling was handed down, school officials offered to let Kelly show her video to her classmates after school hours, but the DeNooyers rejected the offer, Melton said.

The lawsuit charged that four school officials — Carol Samples, former assistant superintendent for instruction; Kent Gage, director of elementary education; Jane Van Poperin, McKinley Elementary principal; and Joseph Marinelli, superintendent — censored the video and violated Kelly's right to free speech when they refused to let her show it.

As part of a program to build self-esteem, Kelly's teacher, Sandra Solomon, had asked her students to bring to school items that had special significance to them. When it was Kelly's turn to be "V.I.P.," she brought the video of her singing a Christian song in church.

Solomon previewed the video and then asked Van Poperin if it should be shown. Van Poperin said no, and her ruling was upheld by Gage and Samples.

In her ruling, Edmunds said the school district gave the following reasons why they wouldn't let the video be shown in the classroom:

- The "V.I.P." program was aimed at helping students develop good oral communications and showing a video didn't further that goal.

- Letting one student show a video would encourage other students to do likewise, thus taking the teacher away from her primary job of teaching to preview videos.

Cafeteria fare takes on international flair

BY VALERIE OLANDER
STAFF WRITER

The first week of school is always confusing, especially on the first full day when the lunch bell rings and the crowd herds to the cafeteria. Hmmm, should he have the Beef-A-Roni surprise or play it safe and get the cheeseburger and fries?

Most John Glenn High School students decided on the pizza.

"It's pretty good but it's too expensive," said senior Rob Capeling. "Little Caesars is cheaper than this."

Unfortunately for Capeling's sake, Mike Hitch decided to bid on the Detroit Tigers instead of the food service contract in the Wayne-Westland School District.

Most students didn't have complaints about the new food service contractors, rather they were impressed by the larger selection of sandwiches and salads in the "Grand Marketplace" by Marriott.

Adding an international flavor to the high school cafeteria, two lines extended from each end of the cafeteria where food sections entitled Cafe Ole, Wild Pizza or Bun Appetite. Students also lined up by a gazebo erected in the center of the cafeteria with a large colorful umbrella for those wanting a bag of chips or Hawaiian Punch.

Marriott is overseeing the entire food program in the Wayne-Westland district. In previous years the cafeteria was managed in-house by food service director Margorie Harrington. Harrington retired June 30 resulting in the change by school officials. Randy Liepa, supervisor of accounting for the district's business office, said the district is predicting the bottom line will be lower this year.

"The hamburger tastes better, I guess it has a different flavor to it," said Melissa Th...

John Glenn 10th grader.

Assistant principal Larry Wood said it was a typical first day in the lunchroom with some confusion among students. The administration held the lunch bell five to 10 minutes longer so everyone could get through the long lines.

"It's like this every year, though. They come in, don't know where their friends are sitting or don't know what line to get into," he said. "By Tuesday the lines will move twice as fast."

The kitchen area also was busy with district employees hurrying to get extra cups of french fries out to the hungry mob.

"I have to fill the fry cups for both sides this year," said cook Marge Grigg. "Last year we only put fries in cups in the middle (line)."

Kitchen manager Helen Gladwell said: "Marriott seems to be working well with us I think we're going to make a good team."

Woman's self image: reality vs. perception

By SUSAN STEINMUELLER
STAFF WRITER

Three years ago, an Oakland University sociology instructor noticed that men and women given an assignment on body image answered questions differently depending on their gender. "They were worlds apart. I was really surprised," said Susan Haworth-Hoepfner, a Rochester Hills resident.

"The female would describe body image in terms of transformation, lack, or need for improvement. Even when by cultural standards they were classically beautiful they still described their feet as too big, or their pores as too large.

"This was in contrast to male responses. A response I have which was typical of males was, 'tall, dark, medium build, chest larger than most, and I don't lift weights, it's a natural body build.'"

From that point, Haworth-Hoepfner decided to pursue the topic for her dissertation. The result is an ongoing research project on body image and eating disorders. She hopes to receive her Ph.D. from Wayne State University based on her research.

Haworth-Hoepfner's study examines the relationship between the "construction of femininity and the predisposition towards eating disorders."

It's significant for instance that in anorexia nervosa, in which a person pursues thinness through self-starvation, 90 to 95 percent of sufferers are women, she said. The age range of victims is generally 14 to 18.

"My question was, what is it that makes it seem to be predominantly a female phenomenon," she said.

There are no easy answers, she said.

Her findings did seem to indicate, however, that it's normal for females to distort their body image - but not for men.

In medical literature she found when those women with distorted body images were compared with normal women, even the "normal" women overestimated their sizes. The fact that normal women did so was not recognized.

"It's a fact that is absolutely glossed over," she said.

"I think one of the assumptions that seems to be emerging is that women's body image is located within pathology." It is assumed that they will do so, and so is not pursued, she explained.

As regards how women distort their body image, that could be cultural, she found.

"Our ideas in this society can be very constraining," she said.

"What we seem to memorize in our bodies is this notion of lack, of never being good enough. It has to do with the way Western culture constrains feminine identity."

Teens try to do the right thing

Do today's teens know right from wrong? According to an exclusive USA Weekend survey of an estimated 126,000 kids, ages 13-18, the answer is: maybe not.

For the fifth consecutive year, the national magazine has surveyed student attitudes for its annual back-to-school issue.

This year's survey on teen values, featured in a special Aug. 21-23 issue of USA Weekend, drew the largest response ever.

The teen survey reveals that 29 percent would cheat on a test, 27 percent would give free food to friends on the job and 39 percent would keep extra change.

Even more startling, 92 percent say they are satisfied with their answers.

Still, in most cases, teens seem to do the right thing.

"Overall, responses indicate most teens are good, honest and hardworking, but the line between right and wrong seems murky for a significant minority of teens," said USA Weekend editor Marcia Bullard. "A large majority say they want to learn more about values."

In fact, 80 percent of the respondents say teens should learn values at home, but only 68 percent learned their values there.

When asked if public schools should teach basic values such as honesty, fairness and responsibility, 80 percent say yes. Of those, 65 percent say their parents fail to do so, and 15 percent say it's schools' responsibility.

Nearly half of all respondents (45 percent) say these lessons need to start in kindergarten because values of teenagers are already set.

Retired golfer marvels at the mega-bucks

By RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The first thing you notice about Canton resident Ronald McDonald is a firm handshake that absolutely belies his 85 years.

But then McDonald has been firmly gripping golf clubs for most of his life, 13 years of it professionally.

These days McDonald watches about 100 percent more golf on TV than he plays, which is to say he doesn't play any more. "There's not too much fun in the game when it takes you two (shots) to get up to where you used to get in one," he said.

Asked about today's pro golfers, the first thing that pops into McDonald's mind is the unbelievable amount of money they make.

But the unbelievable is understandable when you consider that in McDonald's salad days "$100 was a fortune," and the top money winner in 1946 was Ben Hogan with $42,000.

Nowadays the usual first-place prize is $180,000, and last Sunday's PGA Championship winner, Nick Price, took home $280,000. That's more money for one tournament than any pro golfer made in a whole year until Jack Nicklaus earned $320,000 in 1972.

McDonald, who never won a tournament during a career that spanned from 1940 to 1953, was happy if he got enough dough to get him to the next tournament.

Much of the time he traveled with fellow golfers Art Palmy and Jimmy Johnson. The three of them pooled their winnings, and if one didn't finish in the money, he'd make it to the next tournament on the strength of the others' winnings.

"One of us would always get the money," McDonald said, "enough to get to the next tournament."

McDonald, who lives in the Canton Place Senior Highrise, was born in 1907 in Inverness, Scotland. Considering that golf is nearly a religion in the high country, it almost goes without saying that McDonald has been "swinging a golf club since

I was 6 years old," and began playing at the age of 15.

By the time McDonald and his father moved to Detroit in 1926, the laddy was a scratch golfer. In 1940 he went to work at Hillcrest Country Club near Mt. Clemens (now Moravian Hills Country Club) as the club pro. A short time later he added Gowanie Country Club to his repertoire, acting as the pro there as well.

McDonald joined the pro tour in 1940, but put golf on hold during World War II to work at a tank plant in Warren.

The prime of McDonald's links career came after the war when he lived in Texas and traveled around the country matching putts with nondescript fellows like Sam Snead, Gene Sarazen and Byron Nelson.

Not that McDonald ever walked down the 18th fairway with a tournament in his grasp, but then again, "finishing in the money is the main thing," he said.

McDonald left the pro tour in 1953 at age 46 and returned to Hillcrest and Gowanie as the club pro. He finished his working life as an executive for the Western & Southern life insurance company and retired in 1972.

Last year McDonald played three times a week with daughter Ginger and son-in-law Ron Springer, but he's probably blasted out of his last sand trap. "It's a little rough now," he said. "You get tired faster."

However, it's probably safe to say that McDonald has probably played more golf than 99 percent of men his age. "Compared to some people, I've had a very exciting life," he said. "God has been good to me."

Just don't tease him about his name. When McDonald's, the fast-food giant, began passing off a clown named Ronald as its spokesman, McDonald the golfer "got calls at five or six o'clock in the morning. 'What time do you open? How much is a Big Mac?' I had an unlisted number from then on."

Making it "Big" in Small Business... with better marketing.

September 10, 1992—Increasing Sales & Profits with Better Marketing Planning (Part I)

September 17—Better Market Planning (Part II)

September 24 Attracting the "Right" Customers with Better Marketing Promotions

October 1—Cultivating the "Right" Customers with Better Networking

SEMINARS BEGIN THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 10, 1992 — 6:00 - 8:00 p.m. FOR FOUR CONSECUTIVE WEEKS

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE of LIVONIA — LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING — ROOM LA200

$25 PER SEMINAR—$84 FOR ALL FOUR (includes materials fee)

Did you know that the successful "marketing" of your business involves much more than periodic direct mail, paid advertising, and telemarketing campaigns?

Did you also know that millions of dollars are wasted each year by owners and managers who direct their "marketing" activities to the "wrong" customer markets?

By attending this series, you will not only learn about the meaningful characteristics of several key business and consumer customer markets (such as "Corporate Souls," "Rip-Off Road Warriors," "Dobys," "Skippies," and "Woofs!") but you will find out how to create winning marketing plans to best satisfy your chosen markets—while increasing sales and profits for your business!

You will also learn how to promote your business using innovative, practical, and cost-effective strategies that will set you apart from even the largest competitor!

At our networking session, you will have the chance to put into practice networking strategies learned in the classroom... while meeting with other success-oriented entrepreneurs from the business and professional services industries, retailing, and residential/commercial construction.

Don't miss this chance to get your business where you want it in 1993... with better marketing!

Instructor Mary DiPaolo is the owner of MarkeTrends, a marketing information management and research firm in Northville. She is also a syndicated newspaper columnist and popularly-demanded speaker on marketing topics of interest to professional groups and associations.

SC offers test prep workshop

Schoolcraft College is offering a two-week SAT preparation workshop on Wednesdays, Sept. 23 and 30.

The workshop is set from 5-8 p.m. and will emphasize specific test-taking strategies designed to improve a student's performance on the test.

Fee is $45.

The SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) will be given on Oct. 10.

To register or obtain more information, contact continuing education services at 462-4448.

SC brunch features gourmet menu

Schoolcraft College will present a jazz brunch, especially for the jazz gourmet, from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13, in the College's Waterman Campus Center.

Enjoy vintage and improvisational jazz by The Magnificents, with Johnny Griffin on piano, Will Austin, bass; Sherman Mitchell, trombone; Richard Allen, drums; Louis Smith, Flugelhorn, and Suzanne Lane, vocals. Schoolcraft's award-winning Culinary Salon Team will prepare a feast of champagne, fresh juices, quiche lorraine, seafood jambalaya with tasso ham, southwest chicken breast with red bell peppers, julienne of chayotte squash, orzo pasta, and baked Alaska flambe. Additional desserts will be prepared by the team at stations around the dining area.

Individual seating as well as tables of eight are available. Tickets are $25 per person. Visa, MasterCard, Discover, and personal checks are accepted. All proceeds will fund members of the Culinary Salon Team in future worldwide competitions.

To order tickets, contact the office of Institutional Advancement between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 462-4417.

TAKING CARE WHILE YOU ARE GIVING IT

You may be caring for someone with crippling arthritis. If so, include in your list of responsibilities, the duties you owe to yourself.

The first personal need is to possess knowledge of the arthritis that afflicts the person. Read up on the type of arthritis involved. When possible, accompany that person to doctor appointments. The physician is obligated to inform you on the patient's status; you will carry out the therapy that follows from the medical examination. You should also give your opinion of the person's changing health and response to the present regimen as no one has a better understanding of this matter.

You should seek out others rendering similar care. You can learn from their experience and likely realize that frustrations for you are similar to what others giving care have felt.

Schedule time off. If you are a spouse and otherwise living day and night with the person to whom you are rendering help, you should have such personal time on a daily basis. Only by getting away can you see the humor in bowel accidents and hopelessly tangled schedules.

Rendering personal assistance brings you unique gain. You become thankful for your own ability to move. You develop profound appreciation for this fragile, fleeting and god-given freedom.

"Clean is clean is clean"

We never charge extra for heavily soiled areas.

Some carpet cleaners see high traffic or extra dirty areas and immediately charge you more. Sears calls it "Deluxe Double Clean." Steve Hagopian & Co. calls it their "Premier Plus" process. Hudson's calls it a "Deluxe 2-step method." All three charge at least $9 extra per room. But when you call The Original Hagopian, you only pay one low price. We don't make judgements on how dirty is dirty. We just make sure clean is clean.

TRAVEL

MONTREAL LOVES A PARTY

City has 350th
birthday celebration and everyone's invited

BY KATHERINE ASHENBURG
NEW YORK TIMES SYNDICATE

The logo for Montreal's 350th birthday celebrations shows a man, wedged between symbols of Mount Royal and the St. Lawrence River, welcoming the four corners of the world.

Well, so far it hasn't happened that way, to the disappointment of Montreal's hoteliers and taxi drivers.

The recession and probably some (groundless) anxiety about political discontent in Quebec have made for festivities that are more familial and subdued than those great local touchstones, Expo '67 and the '76 Olympics.

Because Montreal loves to party and has an unquenchable Gallic penchant for street life and crowd scenes, the inhabitants seem underwhelmed by the festivities.

But the tourist industry's loss may be the traveler's gain. The city has been spruced up and there's more to do and see than ever; the streets are cheerfully but not uncomfortably busy; and there's plenty of room in hotels and restaurants.

If this suggests that the city threw a party and no one came, that's definitely not the case. It's just that visitors have the agreeable sensation of being included in a family birthday party rather than a bash for outsiders.

The list of spectacles, public events and exhibitions planned from now until mid-October fills a plump 47-page booklet (available at Marché Bonsecours, Old Montreal's refurbished 19th-century market, which is the anniversary information center, 350 St. Paul St. (514-872-7292 or 800-463-6350). They range from intimate fetes for neighborhoods and ethnic groups to special editions of the city's biggest late-summer and early-fall attractions.

Of course most of these celebrations — film festivals, comedy festivals, walking tours of Jewish Montreal, bicycle tours — would have been inconceivable to the city's founders, Paul de Chomedey, who was Sieur de Maisonneuve, and Jeanne Mance. They marked their arrival on the island of Montreal on May 17, 1642, by offering a Mass and decorated the altar with jars of fireflies. But, when it comes to celebrating in Montreal, each to his own taste.

Events

The city has created a new downtown square, Place du 350e, in honor of its birthday.

"Rome: 1,000 years of Civilization" is a one-time collection of more than 200 objects selected from Italian museums on show daily, 10 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., at the Palais de la Civilisation, on the Ile de Notre Dame (514-872-4560), until Sept. 27; $10.50.

Dancers from the Bolshoi, L'Opera de Paris, les Grands Ballet Canadiens and the New York City Ballet perform in the 350th birthday edition of the Gala des Etoiles at Place des Arts. Tickets range from $12.60 to $84; call (514) 934-3620.

Sightseeing

Birthday parties come and go, but thankfully not all Montreal's presents to itself are transitory; 1992 may well be remembered as the year the city commemorated its 350th with a quartet of new or significantly augmented museums.

The most prominent is the Desmarais Pavilion of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, 1380 Sherbrooke St. West (514-285-1600), which opened last fall. Designed by Moshe Safdie, it is across the street from the museum's original building and connected to it by underground galleries.

The pavilion is a not always digestible mix of heritage facade and modern elements, and Safdie's would-be "processional" staircase forces visitors into a mincing gait.

But inside the galleries are thoughtfully planned to accommodate a rich cross section from the permanent collection as well as special exhibitions. Open Tuesday to Sunday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., on Wednesday and Saturday until 9 p.m. The admission is $4.20.

This summer's special exhibit at the Desmarais Pavilion, more than 150 drawings, sculptures, paintings and engravings, arranged to shed light on Michelangelo the sculptor, is on display until Sept. 13. Tickets for "The Genius of the Sculptor in Michelangelo's Work," which include general admission, cost $8.40.

A few blocks down the street the McCord Museum of Canadian History, 690 Sherbrooke St. West (514-398-7100), has just taken the wraps off an impressive renovation and a new wing by the architects LeMoyné Lapointe Magne in association with Jodoin, Lamarre, Pratte & Associates that doubles its space.

The McCord always knew how to use its motherlode of objects, from Indian costumes to 18th-century armories to milk-bottle caps, bringing Canadian social history vividly to life. Happily, its sleek new surface just means there's more of a good thing. Open Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Thursday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday 10 to 5. Admission is $4.20 (free Thursdays 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.).

Established almost 30 years ago, the Montreal Museum of Contemporary Art, 185 St. Catherine St. West (514-847-6226), had a permanent collection of 3,300 objects but no home of its own until last spring.

The most original and diverting of the new museums is the one that goes furthest back to the city's origins. Visitors to Pointe-a-Calliere, the deconstructionist museum by the architect Dan Hanguant 350

Place Royale, Old Montreal (514-872-9150), will find a dazzling museum of archeology and history that makes canny use of an archaeological site (including a 17th-century cemetery and a 19th-century sewer), a witty multiscreen film about Montreal's history and interactive videos about the first inhabitants. This eerie walk through the city's foundations is highly recommended. The museum is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $5, free Wednesdays after 5.

Getting a line on fly-fishing

BY EVERETT POTTER
STAFF WRITER

"In our family there was no clear line between religion and fly-fishing," writes Norman Maclean in "A River Runs Through It" (University of Chicago Press, 1976).

By now, the book has sold more than 350,000 copies. Maclean, 73, is a university of Chicago professor emeritus of English.

And soon "A River Runs Through It," a film starring Robert Redford, will add to the fly-fishing mystique. It is set to open this autumn.

No doubt, after the movie hits theaters new fly-fishing devotees will appear like freshly hatched mayflies on the water.

"There's a real romance to fly-fishing. And it appeals to people who may never have done any other outdoor sports," says Doug Truax, a spokesman for Orvis, a Manchester, Vt.-based company that has sold fishing and outdoor goods since 1850.

But while fly-fishing has a meditative, cultlike appeal, few sports are as intimidating to the novice.

First, it smacks of a kind of gentility, even elitism, that makes many people uncomfortable.

Second, a fly rod and line is often not a thing of beauty in the hands of a beginner. More commonly, it's a nightmare of tangles and frustration.

Orvis sells dozens of different graphite and bamboo fly rods, precision-made fly reels, floating lines, sinking lines and enough nymphs, streamers and dry flies to fill any fly box to the brim.

In schools around the country, they also teach people to use the equipment.

"If you've ever tried to learn it on your own and found yourself flailing in the bushes, with your fly stuck up in a tree, the school can be very helpful," says Truax.

"We try and correct these casting faults before you ever get a hook on the end of the line."

Students learn the forward cast, roll cast, side cast and roll-cast pickup. They study how to false cast and shoot line. They also learn the essential knots for tying flies.

Students find out which flies to choose for trout, salmon, bass, steelhead and saltwater fish. They're taught to read a stream to identify where the fish live and to wade without disturbing the fish or tripping and falling in.

Students begin by casting on two-

Orvis-property ponds. Then they graduate to the banks of the Battemkill River, one of Vermont's best-known trout streams.

"I look out at those ponds when a new class is there, and I see people barely able to get their line out," Truax says. "After a couple of days there's 20 lines laying out there the way they were meant to."

Classes are no larger than 30 students. The ratio of students to instructors is four to one.

"About 25 percent of our students are women," Truax says. "And we recently ran two classes just for kids age 11 and up. They were both filled."

The tuition is $390 per person. This includes two and a half days of instruction, a three-day Vermont fishing license, daily lunch at the famed Equinox Hotel in Manchester and use of Orvis equipment. Transportation and lodging are extra.

Students can stay at the Equinox for approximately $100 per night (double occupancy) or can be accommodated at local inns or motels for about $50 a night and up.

And now for the big question:

"When you're finished you should be able to fish a stream on your own — tie knots, make a decision about which fly to use and cast your line with a certain amount of skill."

Doug Truax
spokesman for Orvis

Can this sport really be taught? "When you're finished you should be able to fish a stream on your own — tie knots, make a decision about which fly to use and cast your line with a certain amount of skill," says Truax.

"But it will take you a lifetime to refine that skill. That's the nature of the sport."

The Orvis Fly Fishing School is also offered by selected dealers in the following states, with variations on the basic program to suit each locale: California, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia.

For more information on specific programs contact Orvis, Manchester, Vt. 05254 or call (800) 235-9763. For a free copy of Orvis' latest fishing catalog call (800) 518-9548.

L.L. Bean, also a major New England purveyor of outdoor gear, offers fly-fishing instruction near its home base of Freeport, Maine.

Bean's Introductory Fly Fishing Skills is a full three-day course held on selected weekends.

A $385 per-person fee includes instruction, use of equipment and daily lunches. Accommodations can be arranged at nearby inns or motels.

POINTS OF VIEW

Don't wait to plan for your child's college, career

QUESTION: At our 20th class reunion last month, we all got around to talking about our kids. My former high school classmates now have children in high school, middle school and some going to college this year. What general advice would you give to parents as school starts this week?

ANSWER:

College

• You will be paying for a fifth year of college ($7,000 to $15,000) unless you know exactly when required classes are offered and then make out a four-year schedule with your child's college advisor.

Some required or cognate courses are only offered in odd years. About 40 percent of college students now go a fifth year for a four year degree — and these are not the campus social butterflies. Failure to do so will cost you big bucks.

• Check out your kid's roommates for compatibility immediately. In case you haven't heard, some exploring college youths get heavily into booze and drugs. Peer group loyalty may keep your kid from telling you.

A key to you is when you ask your kid about the roommate(s) and you get back a half-hearted, "He/she is all right." That is a warning flag. Get the facts: If compatibility is bad, get your child into a new environment as soon as possible.

• Always pre-register to get into required classes and to get the best professors before these classes fill. Talk to upper classmates to find out which professors are "great," have high expectations, clearly state course expectations, can teach, are fair in grading and avoid any "turkey."

• Set up a study group especially for large lecture classes. Students sharing what they thought they heard with others is a great way to learn and to reinforce learning.

• And finally, find the library. Some kids never find it over a four-year college career.

High school

Many of the above suggestions, i.e. study groups, selecting peers, obvious ly apply to high school students, but in addition:

• For those with non-college-bound children, meet with a counselor and learn which technical skills will be most in demand. Take your child to a local community college or quality private technology school to bring an awareness to him/her of vocational and technical opportunities for the year 2000. That's because a high school diploma does not cut it or grant any job opportunities any longer in our society. It is equivalent to an eighth grade education back in the '40s and early '50s.

• For college-bound kids, take as many college entrance tests (SAT, ACT) as early in high school as possible. If your child brings something (good study habits) to the testing environment, practice will grant familiarity with question structure and reduce some test anxiety through sheer experience. But this is no substitute for study.

• Don't wait until senior year to visit campuses. If your child has no preference, introduce small, conservative campuses (Albion, Hillsdale, Alma, etc.) along with the big universities.

Keep in mind some students are lost and "bomb out" at large depersonalized universities because they need a small, less complicated, down-home setting. Of course, grades, point average and money are the determining factors for college selection.

• Most high schools and colleges have a career planning program for undecided students. If your son and daughter don't know what career to follow, start planning early on. Don't wait until the senior year of college and then find out he/she has to go back to school two more years because a decision was finally reached.

• For those with middle school/junior high kids, there is a major change in leaving fifth grade with one teacher and then suddenly having to deal with six or seven in a middle school setting. Discuss their teachers and explain how different teachers have varying teaching styles, personalities and the way the world is.

• Six or seven teachers can mean six or seven assignments. Learn what is expected by each teacher. Call the teacher if you have questions and find out, or you may have heard the famous early adolescent one-liner, "I don't have any homework." Come now, a "C" student with no homework?

And parents should get to teacher-parent conference meetings. If you don't show, your kids internalize this to mean education is not important.

Finally, teachers promise to believe only half of what kids tell them about you, the parents, if you agree to believe only half of what they tell you about them.

Have a good year!

Suburbs are hiding from the brutality of corridor

The women all were black and believed to be crack cocaine addicts." The stark brutality of that newspaper line assaulted my senses one morning and caused my eyes to blur.

Benjamin Atkins, charged with murder in the deaths of three of the 11 women slain in the so-called Woodward corridor of Highland Park/Detroit, gave as the reason for the killing his pathological hatred of prostitutes.

My eyes, leaking moisture for reasons I could not readily identify, blinked tears onto the page as I read the account of the alleged killer's tortured childhood. They included accounts of his mother performing sex acts for pay in the front seat of a stranger's car while her young children watched from the back. Details of his mother's heroin/alcohol addiction apparently caused her to reject and repeatedly abandon young Atkins and his brother.

Where were you, on Christmas 1972? If you were Benjamin Atkins, you had just been dumped with your mother's friend. Ninety days later, the police tracked your mother down and she denied you. If you were Benjamin Atkins, you then were made a ward of the state.

You bounced from care home, to foster home, to court, to the home of a drug-infested mother intent on forgetting, ultimately to the streets known as the Woodward Corridor.

Social activists would argue that the mother should have been brought up on charges. I would argue that due to our indifference, maybe we all should.

Snug and secure in West Bloomfield, Southfield or Livonia, you drive south along Woodward Avenue. Starting your trek at Long Lake Road, notice the sprawling mansions, the cultured lawns, the thriving businesses. Continuing south through Birmingham, observe the upscale boutiques. Catch a glimpse of well-coiffed ladies who lunch, well-heeled men of power, well-dressed children of privilege.

Drive on through the well-mannered burbs of Berkley, Royal Oak and Huntington Woods. You'll see people on errands, people who laugh, families with children in tow, active commerce. Bright shining police cars protect the peace of the folks who walk with a purpose to their step.

Reach Nine Mile and fabulous Ferndale. See tie-dyed hippies. Experience the area's vibrancy, it's music emporiums, restaurants and quaint shops.

JEFFREY MILLER

If you were Benjamin Atkins, you were made a ward of the state. You bounced from care home, to foster home, to court, to the home of a drug-infested mother intent on forgetting, ultimately to the streets known as the Woodward Corridor.

Then cross Eight Mile and cruise past the cemetery, past the State Fair grounds, through Highland Park and on into Detroit.

Avert your eyes from the lost and the lonely people aimlessly drifting. Take no notice that along this stretch of Woodward there are: no smiles, no laughter, no children, no business, no police cars, no ladies who lunch, no well-heeled men and nothing to do.

Reports on Atkins, a 24-year-old man whose life was consumed along this seamy side of Woodward, describe a 10th grade drop out with limited job skills. A loner, he had no close friends, a scattered family, an existence literally hand-to-mouth. A hustler. And though the police described his vocabulary as "sizeable," Atkins had no realistic prospects of ever escaping the hellhole known as the Woodward Corridor.

Atkins, soon to be locked away in a cage for the rest of his natural life, is off Woodward right now. Right-thinking people will contend that this is exactly as it should be. Wild, animal-like killers should be locked away so as to inflict no further harm on humanity. Though I would agree that Atkins must pay in the harshest possible way for his heinous crimes against us all, I cannot agree that punishing Atkins will shield us from the terrible harm, taking its massive toll on our collective soul.

The harm is apathy, the spawn of Benjamin Atkins and others like him. Our apathy produces the fear of "what's beyond the door." Our apathy contributed to the victimization of our women and fostered the dehumanization of 11 female Americans because we perceive them to be unworthy of our concern.

Atkins and his unmourned victims are out of it now. We remain, separated by our indifference, barricaded in our homes, waiting for the next outrage to assault our senses.

Take a drive south on Woodward, tour the corridor and open your mind. A 20-minute ride from heaven into hell will show you all you care to see of the disparity our apathy breeds. Ask yourself how this can be allowed to continue, then ask yourself this: How many more Atkins are growing out there and how far can you run to escape them?

The answer I discovered explains the moisture leaking from my eyes.

Did you know that the successful "marketing" of your business involves much more than periodic direct mail, paid advertising, and telemarketing campaigns?

Did you also know that millions of dollars are wasted each year by owners and managers who direct their "marketing" activities to the "wrong" customer markets?

By attending this series, you will not only learn about the meaningful characteristics of several key business and consumer markets (such as "Corporate Souls," "Rip-Off Road Warriors," "Dobys," "Skippties," and "Woofs!") but you will find out how to create winning marketing plans to best satisfy your chosen markets—while increasing sales and profits for your business!

You will also learn how to promote your business using innovative, practical, and cost-effective strategies that will set you apart from even the largest competitor!

At our networking session, you will have the chance to put into practice networking strategies learned in the classroom... while meeting with other success-oriented entrepreneurs from the business and professional services industries, retailing, and residential/commercial construction.

Don't miss this chance to get your business where you want it in 1993... with better marketing!

Wayne County has received a national award for excellence in road salt storage. County public services director Russ Gronewelt of Livonia accepted the award from the Salt Institute, an international organization that promotes safe storage of road salt.

Women's health forum planned at EMU

A women's health and life forum is planned from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 13, in the McKenny Union on the Eastern Michigan University campus in Ypsilanti.

The free program is sponsored by U.S. Reps. William D. Ford and John Dingell. Medical experts and national leaders in the field of women's healthcare will discuss the special health risks women face, the issues surrounding women's health and ways to reduce the risks.

U.S. Rep. Patricia Schroeder, a Democrat from Colorado, will be the featured speaker from 4:15-5 p.m.

In addition to the opening sessions, those attending the forum may attend two of 10 workshops offered. Workshop offerings include: "Breast, Cervical and Ovarian Cancer," "Heart Disease and High Blood Pressure," "Women and AIDS," "Sexual Assault/Campus Safety," "Minority Women's Health Issues," "Health Insurance - Access to Health Care," "Nutrition, Weight Control and Eating Disorders," "Stress and Depression," "Reproductive and Maternal Health and Menopause," and "Women and the Aging Process."

Registration and refreshments are set from 11:30 a.m. to noon. Ford, a Democrat whose district includes Plymouth, Canton, Garden City, Westland and part of Livonia and Dingell, a Democrat representing downriver areas will be joined by state Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, in opening remarks from noon to 1 p.m.

To get to McKenny Union from I-

94 take the Huron Street Exit (Exit 183) and head north on Huron. Turn left onto West Cross and go approximately 1/4 mile (there will be a large water tower on the left). McKenny is on the right across from the water tower.

From U.S. 23, take the Washtenaw Avenue East Exit. Go east on Washtenaw for approximately 2.5 miles. Take a left onto Oakwood. McKenny Union is on the right.

For more information on the forum, call 722-1411.

Forum seeks feedback from county residents

Wayne County residents interested in sharing their opinions on health care, families, neighborhoods, basic human needs and poverty-related issues are invited to a community forum at 6 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 17, in the Wayne County Regional Educational Services Agency, Annex Building, 33500 Van Born Road, Wayne.

The forum is the first of five sessions scheduled throughout metro Detroit by the Community Needs Assessment Partnership, a newly formed coalition of 19 area organizations, said Ed Scribner, chairman of the partnership and president of the Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO Council. A forum for policymakers also is planned.

More than 12,000 people and organizations are being invited to attend the forums, according to Partnership Communications Committee Co-Chair Genéva J. Williams, president and chief executive officer, United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

The forums will be convened by UCS.

Those interested should call 226-9395 by Sept. 14 to confirm attendance and get more information.

The forums are part of a massive effort to determine the most pressing needs of the metro Detroit area.

"Because community input is vital to the success of this process, local residents are strongly encouraged to come out and make their ideas, concerns and opinions count," said Scribner.

Information received will be used by service providers, funding sources and the community at large to establish programs, to work toward solving problems and to develop collaborative efforts and funding requests.

In addition to UCS, the partnership includes: Citizen Research

Council of Michigan, city of Detroit mayor's office, Community Foundation for Southeastern Michigan, Detroit Economic Growth Council, Detroit Renaissance Inc., Greater Detroit Area Health Council, Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, Hudson-Webber Foundation, Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Detroit, W.K. Kellogg Foundation and the McGregor Fund, Metropolitan AFL-CIO Council, Michigan Department of Social Services-Wayne County, New Detroit Inc., United Way for Southeastern Michigan and Wayne State University Center for Urban Studies.

UM-D outlines plan to raise $24 million

"Best in Class," a five-year $24 million fund raising campaign has begun at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The goal is to raise money in a variety of areas, from boosting scholarships to building the university's art collection and preserving Henry Ford Estate-Fairlane.

"We have everything broken down into three major categories," university spokeswoman Josie Kearns said. "Educating our students, enriching the community and insuring the future."

Key gifts from a variety of private and corporate contributors are expected to be announced during a campaign kick-off Wednesday, Sept. 9 at the university.

"We don't want to raise tuition and it's a more competitive atmosphere out there for grants," Kearns said, describing how the 12-point fund raising campaign was created. "I think you're going to see a lot of college and universities moving in this direction."

Campaign chairman Norman Bodine is president of United Technologies Automotive, Inc. vice chairman Stephen Economy is executive assistant to the president of Michigan Bell and a UM-D graduate.

Under the education heading, the university seeks to boost its engineering center, management program and technological support operations, as well as providing scholarships.

In enriching the community, the university seeks support for its art gallery, research center and environmental education programs, as well as the Henry Ford Estate, on the grounds of UM-D.

In building for the future, the university seeks support for scholarships, establishment of new visiting lecturer and distinguished professorship programs and acquisitions for the university library.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Nothing's finer than reaping what you sow

May 15th comes and I just can't wait to "get the garden in" so I can be the first on the block to show off my red ripe tomatoes.

By the 15th of July, I have picked bushels of lettuce, barrels of radishes, baskets of zucchini (they must be related to rabbits!) and spent countless hours weeding, cultivating, hoeing and more weeding.

Naturalists say this makes for a contented soul. My soul is content, but my palms are calloused. All this and I have yet to begin reaping my fall harvest, which includes cases of tomatoes, carts of eggplant, some prize-winning pumpkins and yes, even more zucchini.

Bumper crop

The cool, wet weather has made for big leafy plants. My garden looks like a jungle. For the first time in years, my tomatoes are as tall as me, and I never once added a drop of those so-called "wonder grow" additives.

However, in all honesty, this has been a bumper crop for the annual Janes Gang garden. And for that, I give thanks.

The freezer salesman at the appliance store thanks you. My Cuisinart shredder and Daisy seal-a-meal thanks you. And I have a small garden. Not bigger than 10 by 20 feet.

So if you were one of the lucky ones who planted this year, and made an attempt to keep it up for the first few months, you are probably just beginning to realize the true bounty of your efforts.

I wonder if there's some sort of law against having a "garden sale." Kind of like a garage sale.

One of the good things to come out of this over-abundant crop are the many uses I am finding for garden vegetables.

Appetizing vegetables

After planting just a single row of green onions, I have used green onions in everything from quiche to Tempura (dipping the white ends in batter, then frying in hot oil until golden) which makes an outstanding summer appetizer.

The secret is to make a light enough batter to just lightly coat the ends. Even dipping in egg and rolling in cracker crumbs can produce a positive effect.

Ditto with zucchini (but watch out, the coating crumbles easily. Now I have a little grease stain on my flowered Hawaiian shirt).

One thing the garden harvester really thanks are those burpable plastic containers. Great for keeping green beans and pea pods snap-crackling fresh.

I have used mine for marinating sliced tomatoes with olive oil, fresh basil and cracked black pepper.

On a recent buying binge, the smallest ones have found their way into my tackle box, the medium sized are great for storing fresh herbs and sauces while the largest ones hold everything from cereal and flour to tabouli and tossed salads.

Savoring herbs

This crazy weather has proved to be very beneficial for the family herb garden. Hidden off in a remote section by the bird feeder and fake snake to keep critters at bay, my cilantro bolted early while I was on vacation, but the basil, parsley and chives have all been fighting for space under the pumpkin leaves and shade from tomato plants.

I've already harvested the rosemary, mint and thyme which were tied into small bundles and hung from the kitchen ceiling to dry.

This not only makes for an interesting splash of color, but the aroma generated from the drying makes you want to just stand there and smell. Kinda like a summertime potpourri.

Probably the biggest thrill of the summer garden is the sharing that takes place among friends, neighbors and relatives.

I know of people who sneak around with grocery bags of fresh garden delights, only to leave them at the doors of strangers, hoping that they, too, will share in their bounty.

If you find yourself with more than what you can use, contact your local soup kitchen or senior citizens cooperative and drop off a bushel of mixed vegetables that are sure to bring nourishment to the less fortunate.

If you didn't plant a garden this year, but are hungry for some garden-fresh vegetables, visit one of the many area farmer's markets. There's one in Plymouth on Penniman, off Main Street in downtown Plymouth, open 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturdays, and in Royal Oak at 11 Mile and Market St., open 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Top chilis fired up

Paul Huyck is warmed up and ready to defend his title at the Michigan Chili Cookoff. He and other chilis offer tips for stirring up a tasty pot.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Paul Huyck of Farmington Hills has learned a thing or two about chili since he won the 13th annual Michigan Championship Chili Cookoff at the Lark Restaurant in West Bloomfield last year.

"I've been practicing. Believe it or not, I never heard of adding chicken broth to chili, but it does add flavor," said Huyck, who will return to the Lark on Sunday, Sept. 13, to defend his title at the sold-out event.

"In good chili, it's the flavor not the heat that counts. It has to have a little bite, but the flavor is very important. It has to have a great taste and be consistent so it's good everytime," said Huyck who competed in the World Championship Cookoff at Rawhide, Nevada after winning the Michigan competition.

In Nevada he competed against 88 cooks who were divided into four tables for judging. He placed seventh at his table. In February, he competed against 43 cooks in Jackson, Mich. and won.

Chili cookoffs, although festive and fun, turn serious when it's time to judge the winning pot. A panel of celebrity judges including yours truly, must follow the International Chili Society rules. There are no absolute guidelines to indicate how judges should make their winning decisions, but they consider flavoring, texture of the meat, consistency, the blend of spices, aroma and color.

One of the questions asked to help the judges make up their minds is — "If I am to have one type of chili for the

Immigrant's dream of 'Old Mexico' comes true

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Vickie Castaneda will never forget the Thanksgiving when she and her husband, Ramon, went to Chicago to visit her sister. "We went to this tiny restaurant called Mr. Taco later in the day after we had our turkey dinner. It was just a tiny place. The business was unbelievable. My husband started talking to the owner and he said 'we've got to go home and get a restaurant.' That weekend we went home, looked at the classified ads and found a restaurant to buy."

More than 20 years later, Vickie is still happily married to Ramon, the mother of two children, Tim and Alicia, and grandma to Alexander. "I got dragged into this business," she said with a smile.

Vickie is of Lithuanian and Irish descent. She was born in Virginia, grew up in Detroit, and graduated from the High School of Commerce. She and Ramon met on the Boblo Boat. "Everyone laughs and thinks we made it up," she said.

Ramon grew up in Mexico, moved to Detroit when he was 16 and worked in many area restaurants, dreaming of some day owning his own.

Their first restaurant was in the old Redford section of Detroit. They sold it and have since opened restaurants in Livonia and West Bloomfield. Vickie manages the Livonia restaurant, and Ramon spends most of his time at the West Bloomfield restaurant.

Their son, Tim, is in the catering business. Alicia, helps out at the West Bloomfield restaurant cooking and waitressing.

Who does the cooking at your house?

"Ramon does the cooking," said Vickie. "I like to cook, it relaxes me," said Ramon. "When I come home from the restaurant I'll cook something to eat."

Where did you learn to cook?

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

They're cooking: Ramon stirs the beans and his wife, Vickie, checks some hot peppers cooking on the stove in the kitchen at the Old Mexico restaurant in Livonia.

"My mom was a good cook," said Ramon. "She used to get up at 5 a.m. and cook all her tortillas fresh. I found I enjoyed cooking. I love to eat, and I love the restaurant business. I'm proud of my nationality, and I enjoy sharing my culture by serving people this food."

What's a normal dinner at your house?

"Steak and potatoes with cilantro, peppers and tomatoes," said Ramon.

Favorite piece of cookware?

"A charcoal grill, it adds flavor," said Ramon who has a grill at his West Bloomfield restaurant. His grilled Steak Fajitas are a popular dish.

Favorite herb or spice?

Ramon likes oregano and hot peppers. "I carry some hot peppers with me in my pocket when I go out to eat or visiting. Your system gets used to it, and you've got to have something hot."

Name five things in your refrigerator at home?

"Three kinds of mustard, watermelon, black beans, tortilla shells and leftover pork."

Cooking tip?

"Don't over spice or over salt your food. You can always add, but it's hard to take away," said Ramon.

What to do if you eat a pepper that's too hot?

"Drink milk or something hot like coffee, not water to take away the heat," said Ramon. Putting salt on your fist, and licking it like people do when they drink shots of tequila helps too, he said.

PARK'S TEXAS DEMOCRAT CHILI

- 3 large heavy sweet peppers, red, orange or yellow or a combination
- 5 strips bacon, preferably mesquite-smoked, chopped
- 1 Tablespoon olive oil
- 2 cups coarsely chopped onion
- 2 garlic cloves, peeled and minced
- 2 fresh jalapeno chilis, stemmed and minced
- 2 pounds beef stewing meat (such as chuck), in well-trimmed 1/2-inch cubes
- 1/2 cup mild chili powder blend
- 4 cups beef broth, homemade or canned
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 1 cup canned crushed tomatoes with added puree
- 2 16-ounce cans pinto or kidney beans or a combination of both, drained and rinsed

1 14-ounce jar nopalitos, rinsed, drained and chopped

In the open flame of a gas burner, or under a preheated electric broiler, roast the sweet peppers, turning them, until the peels are evenly charred. In a bowl covered with a plate or in a closed paper bag, steam the peppers until they are cool. Rub away the burned peel, stem and core the peppers, and coarsely chop the flesh.

In a heavy 5-quart nonreactive pot over low heat, combine the bacon and olive oil. Cook, stirring once or twice, until the bacon is crisp, 10 to 12 minutes. With a slotted spoon, transfer the bacon to absorbent paper to drain.

Add the onions, garlic and jalapenos to the oil in the pot and cook over low heat, stirring once or twice, for 10 minutes. Add the beef and cook, stirring often, until it is no longer pink, about 10 minutes. Stir in the chili powder, blend and cook five minutes. Stir in the beef broth, red wine and crushed tomatoes. Raise the heat and bring the chili to a boil. Partially cover, lower the heat and simmer, stirring occasionally, for 1 1/2 hours. Uncover the chili and cook, stirring often, until the meat is very tender, 30 to 40 minutes. Stir in the roasted sweet red peppers, beans, nopalitos, and bacon and cook another five minutes, or until heated through and steaming. Adjust the seasoning.

The chili can be prepared at least a day ahead. Cool it to room temperature and refrigerate it. Warm it up slowly over low heat before serving. Makes 2 1/2 quarts, serving 8.

Recipe from "The El Paso Chili Company's Texas Border Cookbook," by W. Park Kerr and Norma Kerr, (1992, William Morrow and Company, Inc., New York, N.Y., $15).

Note: nopalitos are the paddle-shaped leaves of the nopal cactus. They are available at specialty stores like Honey Bee La Colmena, 2443 Bagley, Detroit, 237-0295.

CHILI WITH PINTO BEANS

- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 medium celery ribs, chopped
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 pound ground sirloin (90 percent lean)
- 1 1/2 Tablespoons chili powder
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon dried oregano
- 1/2 teaspoon crushed hot red pepper, or to taste
- 1 can (28 ounces) Italian plum tomatoes, with their juices
- 1 Tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 2 teaspoons cider vinegar
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon salt

- 1/2 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
- 1 can (16 ounces) pinto beans, drained and rinsed
- Optional garnishes: Diced white onion — 4 calories per Tablespoon
- low-fat yogurt or nonfat sour cream — 9 and 10 calories per Tablespoon respectively
- Sliced pickled jalapeno peppers — 2 calories per Tablespoon
- Sliced black olives — 10 calories per Tablespoon

Heat the oil in a large nonstick skillet or Dutch oven. Add the onion and celery and cook over medium heat until the vegetables are softened and the onion is just beginning to color, 5 to 7 minutes. Add the garlic and cook, stirring often, until the garlic is soft and fragrant and the onion is golden, 2 to 3 minutes longer. Crumble the beef into the skillet and cook, stirring to break up any lumps of meat until the beef is no longer pink, 5 to 7 minutes. Add the chili powder, cumin, oregano and hot pepper. Cook, stirring 1 to 2 minutes to toast the spices. Add the tomatoes with their juices, the Worcestershire, cider vinegar, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, stirring and breaking up the tomatoes with the side of a large spoon. Reduce the heat to medium-low and simmer, partially covered, until the chili is thickened, 20 to 25 minutes.

Add the beans and simmer 10 minutes longer. Remove and discard the bay leaf. To serve, set out the garnishes separately on the table so guests can help themselves. Ladle chili into bowls.

Six servings, 233 calories per serving.

Recipe from: "Mexican Light Cooking," by Kathi Long, (1992, The Putnam Publishing Group, New York, N.Y., $15.95).

Reap the harvest with a bounty of vegetable dishes

See Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

CURRIED CARROT SOUP

- 1 Tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 bell pepper, chopped
- 12 carrots, thinly sliced
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 Tablespoon sugar, (optional)
- 3 Tablespoons butter
- 2 Tablespoons flour
- 2 cups chicken stock
- 2 cups milk
- salt and pepper to taste
- dash curry (optional)
- 1/2 cup whipping cream

Melt one tablespoon butter in a large skillet. Add pepper and carrots and cook, stirring occasionally for 5 minutes. Add water and sugar, cover and cook for 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, melt 3 tablespoons butter in a large saucepan over low heat. Add flour and cook for 3 minutes. Whisk in the warm chicken stock, then the milk. Add the carrot mixture and salt and pepper. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly.

Reduce to a simmer and simmer for 30 minutes. Puree in a blender or food processor until smooth. Stir in just enough cream to richen. Can be served hot or cold.

TABOULLI

- 3 tomatoes, chopped
- 2 cups parsley, chopped
- 1 cup bulghur wheat
- 5 green onions, chopped
- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- salt and pepper to taste

Place tomatoes in a large bowl. Set aside. In another large bowl, place bulghur wheat and cover with just enough hot water to cover. Let stand 15 minutes. Stir into tomatoes and parsley, add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill for several hours or overnight to improve flavors.

LOW CALORIE CREAMED CUCUMBERS

- 3 cucumbers, peeled and sliced thin
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 cup plain yogurt
- 1 packet dry "ranch" type salad dressing mix

Place cucumbers in a non-metallic bowl and set aside. Combine buttermilk with yogurt and dressing mix. Mix well. Pour over the cucumbers and allow to chill for at least 1 hour before serving.

STUFFED ZUCCHINI

- 2 whole zucchini split (the smaller the better)
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 1 cup Parmesan cheese
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 1 egg

Split zucchini lengthwise and using a small spoon, scoop out a "trough" to hold filling. Combine remaining ingredients and stuff the zucchini with the mixture. Place in an ovenproof baking pan on a cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees, covered for 30 minutes. Remove the pan and pop under the broiler until golden.

GREEN BEANS WITH MUSTARD SAUCE

- 1 pound green beans, fresh steamed
- 2 Tablespoons parsley, chopped
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon Dijon styled mustard
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 Tablespoon red wine vinegar
- 3 Tablespoons olive oil

Combine all ingredients except green beans in a bowl and mix well. Add warm green beans, toss to coat. Excellent hot or cold.

Preserve herbs for wintertime

"If your garden has left you overwhelmed with a bumper crop of dill, basil, parsley or other fresh herbs — you may wish to preserve the wonderful aroma and flavor for the winter ahead," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Here are some hints to get you started:

Gather fresh herbs in the morning. Snip with scissors. Harvest leaves before plant flowers. Rinse well. Dry on paper towels.

Dry herbs by tying stems together in small bunches and hang upside down in a warm dry room. A clean brown paper bag with holes is a good dust cover while drying.

Herbs can be frozen without blanching. Wash, drain and spread on a flat tray to freeze. When firm, pack into freezer containers or freezer bags.

For more information, call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, at 858-0904. In Wayne County you can call, 494-3013.

The Food and Nutrition Hotline is a free public service. It is staffed by a trained home economist who is knowledgeable in all areas of food and nutrition. Great tasting, fruity merlot gaining popularity

The biggest name in California red wine is cabernet sauvignon. With that in mind, why has merlot (another outstanding red varietal with Bordeaux origins) shown the largest increase in popularity among American wine drinkers for the past several years?

That answer is easy. Americans buy wine to drink not to collect. They age it in their car on the way home from the store. They treat wine as a beverage and do not build shrines to it. Therefore, they buy wines that are flavorful and delicious when purchased. This is why merlot has gained in popularity — it tastes great.

Although merlot is considered in the same class as cabernet sauvignon, merlot always has exuberant fruit elements and wonderfully supple textures.

You may have heard the myth that wine, especially red wine, should be aged some mystical length of time before one would dare pull the cork. Rubbish. If a wine doesn't taste good when it's young, it won't taste any better when it's old. It might even taste worse because with aging, fruit levels drop, and tannins become more evident.

Merlot is fruity, delicious and does not assault your palate with tongue-raking tannins. Winemakers realize that people want something to drink and don't want to have to

Wine Selections

Here is a list of some of our favorite merlots with current retail prices. Matanzas Creek Winery, $30; Leonetti Cellars, $23; Robert Sinskey Vineyards, $21; Shafer Vineyards, $20; Ravenswood Winery, $19; Pine Ridge Vineyards, $19; Murphy-Goode, $19; Clos du Bois, $18; Havens Cellars, $17; Ferrari-Carano, $17; Markham, $17; Lakespring, $17; Dry Creek Vineyard, $16; Hogue Cellars, $15; Stevenot, $13; Chateau Souverain, $12; Bogle, $8; and Bel Arbors, $7.50.

Ray and Eleanor Heald will offer their fall wine class 7:30-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, Sept. 16 to Oct. 14, at the Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge Campus at 1-696 and Orchard Lake Road.

The class will focus on California wines and their regions of origin. California winemakers will make guest appearances on two evenings. The cost is $100. For information and to register, call 471-7561.

learn to like it. Merlot is already likable.

Typically, merlot has aromas and flavors of cherries and plums with velvety textures that welcome you back for another sip. You may appreciate a big, chewy cabernet sauvignon, but one glass will suffice.

Merlot tastes so good that you just can't leave it alone.

Both merlot and cabernet sauvignon are widely planted in France's Bordeaux region. Cabernet is the grape of choice in the Bordeaux region known as Medoc. There, the gravelly soils tend to temper the wine's natural aggressiveness. Merlot finds a good home in the Bordeaux regions of St. Emilion and Pomerol where the clay soils add depth and backbone to a wine that is inherently soft.

In California, where the weather is frequently better than Bordeaux, and the soils vary widely from place to place, merlot has found a very large and appreciative home. Washington State is also a key player, and several very good examples of merlot have made their way to Michigan from the northwest.

Now that we have whet your appetite, here is a summary of producers making excellent merlot. Keep in mind that style may vary some from one winery to another. You may also discover, by reading the bottle's back label that some producers add small percentages of cabernet franc or cabernet sauvignon to add depth, complexity and interest.

Matanzas Creek Winery, Havens Cellars, Shafer Vineyards, Leonetti Cellars, Robert Sinskey Vineyards, and Ravenswood Winery make generous, depthful wines to enjoy with beef, grilled lamb and hearty foods.

Pine Ridge Vineyards, Chateau Souverain, Hogue Cellars, Ferrari-Carano, Clos du Bois, Murphy-Goode and Stevenot are winery names to look for if you prefer a softer, more supple mouthfeel. These wines are great with grilled sausage, pasta, hamburgers and even grilled salmon.

Best-buy merlots that are value-priced and flavorful include Bel Arbors and Bogle.

Local chefs accept the apple challenge in contest

KEELY WYGONIK

Local chefs, including Debby Rowe of Weight Watchers, Marty Singer of Machus Sly Fox, Laverne Hatchett of Buddy's and Silvana Caporuscio of Pure and Simple Vegetarian Restaurant will be competing in an "Apple Challenge Cookoff" at Hudson's Sept. 14-17.

The chefs will be creating apple desserts and drinks 1-3 p.m. Monday, Sept. 14 at Hudson's in Oakland Mall, Troy. From 1-3 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 15 they'll be making salads and main dishes.

The cookoff moves to Hudson's in Twelve Oaks Mall, Novi 1-3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 16 when the chefs create apple desserts and drinks. They'll be making salads and main dishes 1-3 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 17.

I'll be one of the judges on Thursday, Sept. 17. I look forward to meeting some of you there.

Their products are available at more than 100 hotels, restaurants and country clubs including — Alban's Bottle and Basket, Buddy's Pizza, E.G. Nick's, Oliverio's and Matt Brady's Tavern.

Here's the recipe for their peach raspberry pie.

PEACH RASPBERRY PIE

pastry crust: 1/2 cup plus 1 Tablespoon shortening
1 cup all purpose flour (not self-rising)
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 Tablespoons ice cold water pie filling: 4 cups peeled fresh peaches, sliced thin
1/2 cups raspberries (fresh or frozen, unthawed)
1 cup brown sugar, packed firm
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon brown sugar

French crumb topping: 1 cup all purpose flour (not self-rising)
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup cold butter

Prepare pastry crust. Sift flour and salt together. Using a pastry blender cut shortening into flour and salt mixture until mixture resembles coarse meal.

Roll dough into a 11-12 inch circle on a floured cloth covered board. Invert dough onto a 9-inch pie plate. Press firmly onto the sides and bottom of pie plate. Trim edges of dough to 1-inch, fold under and flute.
Prepare pie filling. Mix peaches and raspberries together in a large bowl. Add dry ingredients and toss to coat. Place filling in unbaked pastry crust.

Prepare French crumb topping. Mix together flour and brown sugar. Cut butter into flour and sugar mixture, using the same method as for the pie dough.

Cover pie filling with topping and bake in a 350 degree preheated oven for 50 to 60 minutes. Yield one 9-inch pie, serving six to seven people.

Pack a lunch your children will eat

BY ROBERT BRIGGS
AP NEWSFEATURES

AP — As a chef — and a parent — I understand how challenging it is to prepare a school lunch.

I send my 8-year-old daughter Ashley off to school with a lunch box full of food, then eagerly anticipate her arrival home to see how well I've done that day.

I've learned that packing the lunch box isn't easy.

First, I'm not there to tell her what she should eat; she makes that decision herself. To complicate matters, my daughter's friends love to trade and share their lunches. So it's a challenge to prepare a nutritious lunch that is SO delicious my daughter will want to eat it herself!

garnished with Parmesan cheese and bacon. Makes 6 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE DIP

2 cups low-fat cottage cheese, or softened low-fat cream cheese thinned slightly with skim milk
2 Tablespoons minced onion or chives
2 teaspoons paprika
2 teaspoons lemon juice
4 drops hot pepper sauce, or to taste
1 clove garlic, minced
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

2 sweet gherkins, minced
Combine all ingredients. If a smoother consistency is desired, puree dip in a food processor. Serve with crackers or with raw or blanched vegetables. Makes 2 cups.

LOW-FAT APPLE SALAD DRESSING

1 cup apple juice
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon cold water
1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
1/2 cup salad oil
1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 teaspoon salt (optional)
1 teaspoon sugar

Bring apple juice to a boil. Combine cornstarch and cold water; mix until smooth. Whisk into apple juice. When juice returns to a boil, remove from heat and cool. Add remaining ingredients. Pack in a small container and send along with a salad of assorted greens, cucumbers and cherry tomatoes, or with sliced vegetables for dipping. Makes 2 cups.

Robert Briggs is a chef-instructor at the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y.

ASHLEY'S WHITE BEAN SOUP

1/2 pound dried white beans
4 cups chicken stock or broth
3 slices bacon, chopped
1 cup minced onion
2 stalks celery, minced
4 cloves garlic, minced
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Pepper, to taste
Salt, to taste (optional)
2 Tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Rinse and pick over the beans, removing any stones or twigs. Soak beans overnight in cold water to cover or quick soak. To quick soak: combine the beans and the 4 cups stock in a large saucepan, bring to a boil, remove from heat, and let stand for 1 hour.

Cook bacon in a sautépot over low heat. Remove and reserve to use as a garnish, if desired. Increase heat to medium. Add onion, celery and garlic to the bacon fat. Sauté until translucent. Add beans, stock and bay leaf. Simmer until beans are tender, about 2 hours, adding additional stock or water as needed.

When beans are cooked, remove bay leaf and discard. Puree 1/2 cup of the soup in a food processor or blender and return to pot. Adjust consistency with stock or water if necessary. Season with lemon juice, pepper and salt, if desired. Serve 'School Ties' seeks to entertain, educate

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

It took her six years to get "Fatal Attraction" onto the screen. "The Accused" took seven. And now, producer Sherry Lansing contemplates the 10-year journey between the idea for "School Ties" and its opening next week.

Several studios gave the thumbs down to the story of a teenager forced to hide his Jewish background while attending a posh boarding school in the 1950s. The rejection only made Lansing fight harder for the project.

"It makes your passion clearer to you," said Lansing, who co-produced the film with Stanley Jaffe at Paramount. "It makes you define your beliefs more."

Lansing, along with director Robert Mandel and three "School Ties" cast members, visited Chicago last month to promote the film. Lansing, who worked as a high school teacher, model, and actress before becoming one of Hollywood's hottest producers, pointed out that all of her projects start with solid ideas which, under her supervision, develop into scripts.

"I wanted to do a movie about the price that you'll pay to become a member of the club," she noted. "In this case it's his very soul because he denies who he is. For me, the movie's theme is much broader than anti-Semitism. I always wanted to do a movie about how we're all outsiders, how we're all, as the poster shows, with our nose pressed up against the window..."

The filmmakers admit that it's hard to avoid preachiness when making movies with messages, but Lansing believes that this message needs to be delivered again.

"As sad as it is, nothing has gotten much better," she said. "We have better manners about our prejudice. In a funny way, we know that it's not acceptable, not politically correct, so we keep it more in the closet."

So why set the movie in the 1950s? "All of us remember this as the perfect, idyllic time," Lansing noted. "Donna Reed and everything was lovely when in fact it wasn't. There was this ugliness beneath the surface."

"School Ties" was cast with relative unknowns. Brendan Fraser, who plays the James Dean-style hero David Greene, is best known for his title role as "Encino Man". He co-stars here with Matt Damon, Chris O'Donnell, and Amy Locane.

The strategy worked with another Lansing/Jaffe production, "Taps," which launched the careers of Tom Cruise and Sean Penn, among others.

"It's nice working with a low-budget picture because it's a very pure moviemaking," said Lansing. "no one has a trailer, no one has hairdressers, no one has makeup. You just concentrate on making the movie."

"The American Animated Film: The Cheerful '30s." 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11-12. A collection of classic Hollywood animation, linked here by their dreamlike qualities and surrealism. Different animated programs will be shown each night, with appearances by Mickey Mouse, Popeye, Betty Boop, and the Lucky Rabbit.

Glen or Glenda: I Changed My Sex" (USA - 1953). 9:15 p.m. Sept. 11. Edward Wood, the cult director of "Plan Nine From Outer Space," put much of his own life into this wild documentary about transvestism. Bela Lugosi rants "beavere, beavere" at seemingly random moments while Glen (played by the director) has trouble staying away from his girlfriend's angora sweater. A true must-see.

"What's Up, Tiger Lily?" (USA - 1966). 9:15 p.m. Sept. 12. For his first feature film, Woody Allen took a well-shot but stupid Japanese spy movie and added his own crazy dialogue. Unrelated musical interludes by The Lovin' Spoonful add to the fun. Shown in CinemaScope.

DETROIT FILM SOCIETY, Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-4048 for information. ($25 membership)

"Leave Her to Heaven" (USA - 1945) and "Showboat" (USA - 1951), two very different but popular Hollywood films, share a double bill starting at 7 p.m. Sept. 11-12. In "Heaven," based on the Ben Ames Williams novel, Gene Tierney brings nothing but grief to writer husband Cornel Wilde. Color enhances the well-used Southwestern locales. The Technicolor version of "Showboat" features Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel, and Ava Gardner.

DETROIT FILM THEATRE, Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, Detroit. Call 832-2730 for information. ($5)

"Lovers" (Spain - 1991). 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11-12; 4, 7 p.m. Sept. 13. Based on a true story, "Lovers" focuses on a young man whose life is destroyed by the conniving, sexually obsessed woman who rents him an apartment in Madrid. Starring Victoria Abril from "Tie Me Up, Tie Me Down."

"Enchanted April" (Britain - 1992). In this beautiful but overly schmaltzy romantic comedy, four women embark on a vacation in Italy only to have it change their lives. Miranda Richardson and Joan Plowright star.

REDFORD THEATRE, 13671 Lahser, Redford. Call 537-2560 for information. ($2.50)

"An Affair to Remember" (USA - 1957). 2 p.m. Sept. 11-12 (organ overture begins at 1:30 p.m.). Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr do their best in this weepy blend of romantic comedy and soap opera.

STATE WAYNE THEATRE, 35310 Michigan Avenue, Wayne. All films play nightly from Wednesday through Sunday. Call 326-4600 for showtimes. ($2; $1 student/seniors)

"Peggy Sue Got Married" (USA 1986). Kathleen Turner travels back in time to high school and sees it through the eyes of a 43-year-old woman. Nicolas Cage's irritating and ultra-nasally performance almost sinks this oddball Francis Coppola comedy.

"Belle Star" (USA-1941). A miscast Gene Tierney has fun as a notorious outlaw in this entertaining western. John Monaghan

The single-minded side of U2

While much of the attention is focused on U2's hit albums and tours such as the "Zoo TV" that pulls into the Pontiac Silverdome this week, little recognition has been given to their bountiful collection of B-side singles.

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

U2's musical path has been overshadowed by many things. Not the least of which is their latest exaggerated multimedia blitz, "Zoo TV Tour," that rolls into the Pontiac Silverdome Wednesday.

Somewhat lost in mega-tours, flag waving and ill-conceived cinematic bombs such as "Rattle & Hum" has been one aspect of the band's prolific recording career that has spanned 14 years and seven full-length albums. Several of the group's B-side gems on singles have gone unnoticed by the general public.

Starting with the live version of the joyful naive of "Boy/Girl" on the 1979 CBS release "U2-3" and right up to the dissonant sounding "Salome" off of the recently issued CD single "Even Better Than the Real Thing," such tracks have become as precious as the albums themselves to U2 fans.

Earlier releases — especially the difficult-to-find "A Celebration" — have become collector's items.

"B-sides — whenever you can get that stuff, it sells like crazy," said Warren Westfall, owner of the Record Collector in Livonia.

A limited edition of U2 singles in a CD box set is on the market, featuring the vast collection of releases dating back to 1981 and retailing for $120. "A Celebration," though, is one glaring omission in the collection.

Potential monetary value is only part of the lure of U2 B-sides. Aside from the usual live tracks and remixes, some numbers often reveal much more about the band's musical direction and aspirations (and, thus, their limitations) than their albums.

For example many have cited the more personal nature of the lyrics on "Achtung Baby," the band's latest techno-tempered album on Island, as a radical departure.

Go back to some of the B-side singles issued in the wake of the group's 1987 breakthrough album "Joshua Tree" and there's more than a hint of introspectiveness. Tracks such as "Deep in the Heart," which wistfully reminisces about a teenage sexual encounter, and the affection expressed in "Sweetest Thing" were perhaps the most intimate lyrics lead singer Bono had written to date.

Also, B-sides have provided U2 critics ammunition. Covers of the Righteous Brother's "Unchained Melody" (off "All I Want is You" single-1989) and Lou Reed's "Satellite of Love" (off "One" single 1992) may have been interpreted by some as part of the band's self-propagated attempt to be put on the pantheon with the musical greats.

Some stand on their own as simply great numbers.

"Spanish Eyes," which perhaps didn't fit in the with spiritual wholeness of the "Joshua Tree," is howling rock'n'roll number on the single issue of "I Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For." "The Three Sunrises," featured on the "Unforgettable Fire" EP in 1985, is a soul stirring songfest.

Undoubtedly, there's enough B-sides to compile an album. We've decided to pick our favorites.

1. "Boy/Girl" (1979)
2. "Touch" (1980)
3. "Fire (live)" (1981)
4. "Treasure (What Ever Happened to Pete the Chop)" (1982)
5. "Boomerang I" (1984)
6. "A Sort of Homecoming (live)" (1985)
7. "Spanish Eyes" (1987)
8. "Deep in the Heart" (1987)
9. "Silver and Gold" (1987)
10. "Salome" (1992)

Celebrate Mexican Independence Day

South of the Rio Grandé and in Mexican-American communities throughout the United States, Sept. 16 — Diez y Seis — is a joyous holiday celebrated with parades, speeches, fun and feasting.

The date marks Mexico's first attempt, in 1810, to free itself from Spanish rule. Even though the uprising was quashed and it was another 11 years before independence was won, the initial step toward freedom is celebrated for the greater part of the week.

This year, why not join in the spirit of the holiday with a mid-week fiesta for friends. Streamline the way to a dinner rich in south-of-the-border flavors with these new recipes from the Pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchens.

ENCHILADAS DE PUERCO Y FRIJOLES

- 3/4 pound lean ground pork or beef
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 1/2 cups Pace Picante Sauce
- 1 can (8 ounces) tomatoes,

- drained and chopped
- 1 can (16 ounces) black beans or pinto beans, rinsed and drained
- 1 can (8 ounces) whole kernel corn, drained
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced green onions with tops
- 12 flour tortillas (6 to 7-inch)
- 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
- Optional toppings: Sour cream, chopped cilantro

Brown pork with garlic in a 10-inch skillet; drain. Add 1/4 cup of the picante sauce, tomatoes, beans, corn and seasonings; mix well. Cook uncovered, stirring frequently, 5 minutes or until most of the liquid has evaporated. Stir in green onions.

Spoon about 1/4 cup pork mixture down center of each tortilla; roll up. Place seam side down in a 13 by 9-inch baking dish. (At this point dish may be covered and refrigerated up to 24 hours. Bring to room temperature before proceeding.) Spoon remaining picante sauce evenly over enchiladas. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until hot. Top with cheese; return to oven 3 minutes or until cheese is melted. Top as desired with additional picante sauce. makes 6 servings.

PICANTE POLLO CON PIMIENTOS

- 6 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 2 teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 large onion, cut into 1/2-inch wedges
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 Tablespoon olive oil or vegetable oil
- 2 cans (about 14 ounces each) stewed tomatoes
- 3/4 cup Pace Picante Sauce
- 1/2 cup of finely diced ham
- 1/2 teaspoon dry oregano, crushed
- 1 small red bell pepper, cut into thin strips

- 1 small green pepper, cut into thin strips
- 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
- 3 to 4 cups hot cooked rice as desired
- 2 Tablespoons chopped cilantro, (optional)

Rub 1 teaspoon of the cumin evenly onto both sides of chicken; set aside. In large skillet, cook onion and garlic in oil until onion is tender but not brown.

Add tomatoes, picante sauce, ham, oregano and remaining cumin; mix well. Bring to boil, stirring occasionally. Add chicken; spoon sauce over chicken.

Reduce heat, cover and simmer until chicken is cooked through, about 15 minutes. Remove chicken from skillet; keep warm. Add peppers and olives to skillet. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 10 to 15 minutes or until peppers are tender and sauce is thickened.

Mexican holiday: Celebrate Mexican Independence Day Sept. 16 with great-tasting and surprisingly easy-to-prepare Enchiladas de Puerco y Frijoles.

WESTLAND SPORTS SCENE

Glenn outruns Wayne

Westland John Glenn opened its cross country season Thursday by sweeping rival Wayne Memorial in a boys (18-37) and girls (15-40) dual meet at Central City Park.

Senior Jeff Tapper of Glenn was the boys 5,000-meter winner in 18:07. Teammate Henry Honeycutt, a sophomore, took second in 18:22.

Other Glenn hurriers in the top 10: Ryan Zantow, fourth (19:23); Mark Lawrence, fifth (19:40); Bob Lulek, sixth (19:56); Chris Vanderburgh, ninth (21:16); and Rob Spadacini, 10th (21:48).

Chris Hedger was Wayne's top finisher in third with a time of 18:33; Teammates John Ericson and Jimmy Howard took eighth and ninth, respectively, with clockings of 20:03 and 21:11.

In the girls race, Glenn swept the first six spots led by junior Tina Moore, who was clocked in 22:53. She was followed by Mandy Michno (25:39), Pam Kolongowski (26:40), Corey Miller (28:25), Gretchen Schroeder (28:45), and Toni Dechert. The Rockets' Yasemin Ahmed added an eighth, while Danielle Robinson took ninth.

Shaelyn York was seventh for Wayne. Bernie Prevo contributed a 10th for the Zebras.

In other cross country action, Livonia Ladywood defeated Dearborn, 20-37.

Ever-Seven champs

The Livonia Ever-Seven Sports Club recently captured the Livonia 65-plus Cad-Am Senior Slow-pitch softball league championship for the second straight season.

Led by manager/pitcher Jack Mueller, Ever-Seven has won 46 of 50 games over the past two years in the league comprised of teams from Livonia, Redford, Canton, Northville, Dearborn and Taylor.

Six players finished this season with batting averages better than .600: Pete Ivan, Bill Brown, Gene Schrock, Ed Wayne, Tom Cotter and Mueller.

Rounding the squad is Ray Gomez, Huston Harris, Ed Barczuk, Bob Glaszire, Larry Ratchford, Tim Brennan, Bob Armstrong, Max Garber, Chuck Iakenderian, Bill Jacobson and Scotty Goodman.

Several Ever-Seven players will compete Sept. 22-27 in the 1992 Senior World Series at the Canton Softball Center.

Those interested in playing next season (1993) should call Mueller at 464-4195.

Cunningham tops Rinaldi

Livonian Carrie Cunningham, 20, advanced into the third round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships in Flushing Meadow, N.Y. with a rain-delayed 7-6, 6-2 victory Thursday over Kathy Rinaldi of Amelia Island, Fla.

Cunningham's third-round opponent was Andrea Strnadova of Czechoslovakia, who entered action ranked No. 38 in the world.

Coyne wins scholarship

Livonia Stevenson High product Ragen Coyne was one of five Michigan recipients of the Ford Motor Company's $1,000 soccer college scholarship for youngsters who excel in academics and athletics.

The scholarships are awarded in conjunction with the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association.

Coyne, an all-state pick at Stevenson, is now a freshman at Notre Dame. She is joined by award winners Jason Champlin of Troy High (Adrian College); Scott Merritt of Okemos (Indiana University); Matt Stokes of Saline (Michigan State); and Laura Whiteley of Northville (Kalamazoo College).

Ford also supports several other youth activities, including sponsorship with the MSYSA's annual Wolverine Soccer Tournament, each Fourth of July weekend at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

OU kickers No. 8

The Oakland University men's soccer team, featuring several area players, is ranked eighth in NCAA Division II by a preseason coaches poll.

Florida Tech is rated the top team in the country. Senior sweeper Derek Williford (Livonia Stevenson) returns for the 13-5-3 Pioneers along with junior midfielders John Gentile (Livonia Churchill) and Dominic Scicluna (Redford Catholic Central).

The goalie is third-year performer Mike Sheehy of Farmington High.

OU qualified for last year's NCAA Division II tournament.

Soccer correction

The lone goal scorer in Livonia Churchill's 3-1 loss on Aug. 31 against host Troy was incorrectly identified.

Goran Rauker should have been credited with the goal for the Chargers in their season opener.

Adrian fends off Zebras, 21-13

The high school football season started out with a bang as host Wayne Memorial took on the state's top-ranked team Adrian, giving the Maples all they could handle before losing, 21-13.

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Being No. 1 isn't easy. Just ask the Adrian Maples, who escaped with a season-opening 21-13 football victory Friday against host Wayne Memorial.

Picked by the Detroit Free Press as the state's top team, Adrian got more than it bargained for against the upset-minded Zebras, who dominated the final statistical summary, but fell short on the scoreboard.

"I guess they (Free Press) saw that we had a good football team last year and saw that we had a lot of people back," Adrian coach Al Romano said. "But we're not No. 1 in the state, even though we're still a good team."

Adrian looked anything like last year's 9-3 club which reached the semifinals of the Class AA playoffs. The Maples, in fact, were lucky to trail by only a 7-0 deficit at halftime. They needed scored three second-half touchdowns to overtake the Zebras.

"They (Wayne) controlled the line of scrimmage in the first half, but I thought we came back and did a better job in the second," Romano said.

The Zebras totally dominated the first 24 minutes, racking-up 179 total yards to the Maples' 52.

Wayne took the opening kickoff and marched 70 yards in 12 plays, overcoming a 15-yard holding penalty when quarterback Tim Mate connected with Jeff Tapp on a 36-yard touchdown pass. The play came with 5:17 left in the first.

Adrian, meanwhile, ran only 11 first-half plays and turned the ball over twice.

Mate, playing in the secondary, picked off a second-quarter Dave Ritz pass. The Maples also coughed up their longest gainer of the half when Tapp recovered a fumble after Ritz connected with Brad Frank on a 41-yard strike.

"We played some ball in the first half," Wayne coach Chuck Howton said. "We were right there with them.

All in all we had opportunities, but didn't cash in. But I'm proud we played because they're an exceptional team."

The Zebras, ironically, muffed a chance to go ahead by two touchdowns just before intermission.

Mate directed a 49-yard drive down to Adrian 3, but a costly personal foul on third down pushed the ball back to the 18, and the Zebras could not get into the end zone on fourth down.

"Naturally you get down at that point," Howton said. "We have a lot of young, inexperienced kids. The (penalized) kid got hit hard on the play and kind of flicked the ball back at their kid. It was in the heat of battle and kids do strange things like that, but hopefully we'll learn from that."

Wayne, however, never expected to start the second half, kicking off from their own 25-yard line after officials penalized the Zebras for not coming out in time for the required three-minute warmup, a call that rankled Howton.

"We were waiting right there (just off the field) for Adrian's players to go out first and we were only 30 seconds behind," Howton said. "We went on the field right after they went. That (call) really irritated me. I guess it's my 'fault.' The Maples' Jeremy Padilla then returned the short second-half kickoff 50 yards, and two plays later, Michael Harris bolted in from 4 yards out to make it 7-7.

Adrian then scored on its next possession on only two plays, capped by Padilla's 54-yard TD run with 5:11 left in the third.

Senior tailback Bruce Calhoun answered with a 4-yard TD run for Wayne with 1:17 left in the same period, capping an eight-play, 57-yard drive. But the Zebras couldn't convert the extra point, and trailed 14-13.

Calhoun, a dangerous breakaway threat, was bottled up most of the night by Adrian's defense, gaining 88 tough yards in 29 carries.

But his presence alone opened things up for tight end Jason Overton (four catches for 60 yards), quarterback Mate (33 net yards rushing and 96 passing), fullback Murdank Forrest (27 yards rushing) and flanker Johnny Ballard (33 yards rushing).

"We respected Calhoun, but we were not keying on anybody," Romano said.

Late RU field goal does in Stevenson

BY STEVE KOWALSKI

Kurt Coulter gave up soccer and now he's getting his kicks as a football player.

Coulter, who missed last season because of torn tendons in his ankle, kicked a 23-yard field goal with 1:46 left Friday night to give Redford Union a 17-14 non-league football win over host Livonia Stevenson. Coulter's name didn't show up on RU's opening day roster but coach Shawn McGowan is more than happy to have the converted soccer player on his side.

"What was good for us was (the ankle injury) ended his soccer career and now he's devoting full time to kicking," McGowan said. "Kurt doesn't have the best leg but he's extremely accurate."

Minutes earlier it didn't look like RU would get a chance for a winning field-goal attempt. Midway through the fourth quarter, the Panthers failed to complete a pass off a fake punt from their own 27-yard line — "I did not call that," McGowan said — and the Spartans took over on downs.

But Stevenson failed to make a first down and turned the ball over to the Panthers at the 26, where the winning drive began. Stevenson coach Jack Reardon has a capable placekicker, Rami Khoury, but the Spartans didn't get close enough to bring him on.

"If we got the ball on the 20 I'd have given him a shot at it," Reardon said. "We just didn't do anything with it (the series)."

RU junior quarterback Mike Bjerke was impressive all night and especially on the winning drive, completing a 29-yard pass to wide receiver Jesse Sund and a 19-yard pass to tailback Matt Davis.

On Coulter's kick, the snap from center bounced to holder Tim Hopson who was able to get the ball on the tee in time.

"I don't really concentrate on the snap," Coulter said. "I just look at the block (tee)."

RU outgained Stevenson 321-203 in total offense. RU used seven runners and was led by Davis, a tailback who gained 48 yards on 10 carries.

"I think I have five of the best backs in the area," McGowan said.

Bjerke completed nine-of-16 passes for 153 yards and no interceptions.

Sund, who caught eight TDs last year on the junior varsity, caught a 35-yard pass in the second quarter that led to Bjerke's one-yard quarterback sneak which tied the score 7-7. The Panthers took a 14-7 halftime lead when Sund caught a 25-yard TD pass from Bjerke with 41 seconds left in the half.

Sund, who insists he can run a 4.4, 40-yard dash time, was open all night.

"You can get a stop watch out right now, and I'll run it for you (a 4.4, 40 time)," he said.

Stevenson quarterback J.J. Rarog completed only four-of-12 attempts for 85 yards but two of the passes went for scores. The Spartans opened the scoring with an 18-yard TD pass to Cliff Mickelson in the first quarter.

Rarog brought the Stevenson crowd to its feet in the third quarter with a 61-yard TD pass to Brad Morgan to tie the score 14-14. The Spartans have nine freshmen on their varsity roster, four who start. Senior running back Micah Lietzau led Stevenson with 66 yards on 12 carries.

"I saw some good things, bad things, we had some trouble in the secondary, they kind of picked on us a bit," Reardon said. "We have a very good group of sophomores."

Shamrocks bury St. John's in opener

Redford Catholic Central's defense outscored Toledo St. John's offense Saturday night at the Pontiac Silverdome.

St. John's didn't get a first down until the last minute of the third quarter and had only 109 yards total offense in a 36-0 season-opening loss to the Shamrocks.

But CC's best defensive highlight came from defensive end Joe Lopez, who intercepted a St. John's pass and returned it 75 yards for a touchdown with 9:49 remaining in the game. Lopez picked off the pass after lineman Aaron Babicz deflected the ball in the air.

"That's something you don't like to see in high school football because you don't want to put too many points on the board, but it happened and it was a great effort," CC coach Tom Mach said. "The defense really set the tone by denying a lot of opportunities and giving us good field position."

'The defense really set the tone by denying opportunities and giving us good field position.'

Tom Mach
CC coach

CC gained 371 total yards, including 304 on the ground against St. John's, a big-school playoff team in Ohio in '91 and a favorite to win the Toledo city championship.

"We have a lot of seniors but we're very green because we didn't play a lot of our backups last year due to our tough schedule," St. John's coach Fred Belet said. "We lack game experience but the game was won up front. When you control the trenches you're going to win the game."

CC junior tailback Freddy Taylor gained 140 yards on 16 carries and scored two TDs, including a 66-yard run on the Shamrocks' first play in the second half for a 22-0 lead. Taylor was making his first varsity start after playing junior varsity in 1991.

"That was great downfield blocking," Taylor said of his long run. "The pressure is all on the line because without a line, what is a back?"

Senior fullback Jason Krueger was the perfect complement with 107 yards on 20 carries and two TDs.

Senior quarterback Chris Barbara suffered a charley horse late in the first half but still completed four-of-six passes for 67 yards and directed scoring drives of 38, 46, 52 and 71 yards.

"I thought we moved the ball well, our line did a good job opening holes," Mach said.

CC's first points came in the first quarter after a 13-yard punt by St. John's gave the Shamrocks the ball at the Titans' 38-yard line. Six plays later, Taylor galloped 15 yards for a 6-0 lead with 7:23 remaining.

The Shamrocks took a 12-0 lead with 1:00 left in the first quarter on a 1-yard drive by Krueger, set up by Lopez's 43-yard reception.

CC marched 52 yards on its last possession of the half and the drive ended with a 22-yard field goal by junior Adam Borcherdt for a 15-0 lead.

Barbara completed three straight passes on the drive, including one to Ken Rysus for 13 yards and a pair to Brady Pankow for 11 yards.

"The drive at the end of the first half was real class, terrific for the first game," Mach said. "It was a big momentum change because it made it 15 instead of 12."

St. John's went past midfield twice in the second half but the first drive ended in Lopez's interception return and the second ended when the Titans failed to convert a fourth down at CC's 16.

Linebacker Joe Herman led CC with 10 tackles and lineman Joe Suhajda had eight. Pankow had an interception and linebacker Tate Dobbs and middle guard Paul Nemzec had seven tackles each.

Lutheran Westland grabs tourney crown

Lutheran Westland won its second consecutive Whitmore Lake girls basketball tournament Thursday with a 43-33 triumph over the host Trojans.

"The key was our defensive intensity even though we didn't help ourselves on the offensive end," said Lutheran Westland coach Ron Gentz, who employed a variety of defenses.

"Senior Lori Mackay led the victorious Warriors (2-0) with 12 points and 10 rebounds. Sophomore Amy Gentz chipped in with 11 points and four assists. Senior Sarah Pfeiffer also grabbed 10 rebounds.

But the Trojans made only 17 of 40 free throws, including a 3-for-20 effort in the second half. (Lutheran Westland hit eight of 19.)

"They (Whitmore Lake) played seven players and we played nine and I think they had tired legs at the end," said Gentz, whose team outscored the Trojans 20-13 in the second half.

Stevenson cages Tigers

Livonia Stevenson, scheduled to open its season Tuesday (Sept. 9), got an early jump Thursday after the game was moved up, pounding host Belleville, 89-36.

"I was concerned whether we were ready to play," said Stevenson coach Wayne Henry, whose team jumped out to a 34-6 first-quarter advantage.

Junior guard Mo Drabicki had a big night, scoring a game-high 25 points to go along with eight steals and nine assists in just over two quarters of action.

"Great job by Mo," Henry said. "She has worked on her shooting and her perimeter game. She's always been good at going to the basket."

Senior guard Lori Shingledecker contributed 15 points, while senior forward Karen Groulx added 11 as everybody scored for the Spartans.

Churchill tops Wayne

Senior guard Chrissy Daly scored a game-high 20 points Thursday, leading host Livonia Churchill to a season-opening 39-36 victory over Wayne Memorial.

pointers and six of eight free throws, also enabled Gary Fulks to make a winning debut as the Chargers' coach.

Senior forward Dana Landry grabbed a team-high 14 rebounds. Wayne, which never recovered from a 12-0 first-quarter deficit, got 16 points from Lateefa Moore and 10 from Cindy Potter.

Wayne made 14 of 27 free throws to Churchill's 12 of 26.

"We started out well," Fulks said. "But their press hurt us because we're a little inexperienced. We held on."

Patriots beat Lahser

First-year coach Mary Jarvis also made successful debut Thursday as host Livonia Franklin trimmed 0-2 Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 38-30.

Franklin overcame a 23-18 halftime deficit by outscoring the Knights 20-7 over the final three quarters.

Sophomore forward Mary Bagazinski paced Franklin with 10 points and nine rebounds. Junior forward Lisa Craven and senior center Rebecca Bloch added nine and eight points, respectively.

Franklin, despite an 11-for-23 effort from the free throw line, held Lahser off as senior guard Tammy Schaffer hit three down the stretch.

Mandy French scored eight in a losing cause for Lahser.

Ladywood rips Tractors

Livonia Ladywood made it four straight victories this season without a loss Thursday, bouncing visiting Dearborn Fordson, 63-24.

Sophomore Melissa Campeau paced a balanced Ladywood attack with 13 points. Senior Mary Jo Kelly added nine as all 14 Blazers scored.

Trenton stops Glenn

It was bombs away for Trenton senior guard guard Becky Holton, who scored a game-high 25 points, including five three-pointers Thursday, leading the visiting Trojans to a 53-29 season-opening win over Westland John Glenn.

Sophomore forward Kelly Klene had eight points and nine rebounds for the Rockets, who trailed 25-10 at intermission. Junior guard Michele Molitor chipped in with seven.

Rockets, Patriots capture season opener

Westland John Glenn coach Chuck Gordon may have been worried about Detroit Murray-Wright's team speed, but the fastest thing at Friday's football game was the pace at which the visiting Rockets were putting points on the scoreboard.

Glenn jumped out to a 28-0 lead and never looked back. The Pilots, who finished 2-7 last season, were no match for the Rockets, who returned only three starters from their 7-2 season of a year ago.

"It's always good to start the season off on the right foot," Gordon said. "We played hard today and played fairly well. Obviously, we still have a lot of work to do."

A 1-yard touchdown run by senior tailback Joe Paddock opened the scoring in the first quarter. Senior Doug Hammond booted the extra point — his first of five for the game.

Junior Matt Howton increased the score to 14-0 with a 80-yard punt return.

Junior Bryan Morrison, making his first varsity start, completed all five of his pass attempts for 112 yards and threw two touchdown passes. His first touchdown pass was a 16-yarder to junior wide receiver Bryan Besco.

Morrison then connected on an 11-yard pass to junior Derek Besco. The Rockets' final touchdown came on a 1-yard run by junior fullback Jeremy Cosby.

"The defense, for the most part, played steady," Gordon said. "Murray-Wright does have great team speed, but we were able to contain them."

Senior John Miller and Derek Besco both picked off Pilot passes.

Franklin wins by a Little

Quarterback David Little sneaked in from 2 yards out in the final quarter to boost Livonia Franklin to a season-opening 16-10 win over Lake Orion Friday at Lake Orion.

The Patriots had a 10-0 lead in the second quarter, courtesy of a 27-yard field goal by Little and a 4-yard run by John Glenn. The Dragons battled back, however, getting a second-quarter field goal after a

Patriot goal-line stand and tying it on a 50-yard, third-quarter run.

Little was the difference, however. He completed 15 of 20 passes for 213 yards. Franklin's running game added another 100 yards, with Eric Holmes the leader with 47 on 12 carries. He also had an interception. Jamie Sewruk hauled in eight passes.

Lake Orion had 174 yards in total offense — 83 rushing, 91 passing.

Dearborn ruins debut

Livonia Churchill opened the season with a new coach and a new attitude, but the results were the same as the Chargers lost 28-6 at Dearborn Friday.

"The game was laced with frustration," said new Churchill coach Steve Naumcheff. "The kids gave the effort but were not able to answer the challenge of Dearborn."

The Pioneers scored seven points in every quarter. Churchill's lone points came in the fourth, when junior Eric Kelly came off the bench and connected with junior end Paul Martus on a 15-yard touchdown pass.

Junior quarterback Ryan Henderson, making his first varsity start for the Chargers, was intercepted three times. The first pick-off set up a 20-yard drive and resulted in Dearborn's first score.

Henderson's second interception was returned 40 yards for Dearborn's second touchdown. The Pioneers increased their lead to 21-0 in the third quarter on a 75-yard punt return.

Dearborn's third interception set up their last touchdown, too, scored on a fourth-down-and-goal play at the 1-yard line.

Senior Darryl Cook paced the Charger offensive attack, rushing for 41 yards.

Senior defensive back Rick Sloan recorded a team-high 15 tackles for Churchill, while senior linebacker Clint Shepley added 14 tackles.

Churchill ties Rochester; CC deadlocks Canton, 1-1

The best offense proved not good enough Friday, thwarted by an even better defense as host Livonia Churchill and Rochester battled to a 0-0 deadlock in boys soccer action.

Neither team had many shots on goal in the defensive game. With the tie, the Chargers evened their record at 1-1-1.

"We controlled the game at midfield but we're still trying to sort things out up front," Churchill coach Mark Mason said. "We ended up passing the ball a lot but didn't do much attacking."

Kal Kaliszewski, who made three saves, recorded his second shutout of the season in goal for Churchill.

On Wednesday, the visiting Chargers wasted no time in defeating Walled Lake Central 3-0.

Less than a minute into the game, Pete Owens got Churchill on the board with a goal. The Chargers increased their lead to 2-0 on Mark Stackpole's penalty kick with 11 minutes left to play. The kick was awarded after Stackpole was hauled down in the penalty area.

Vince Troiani accounted for the final goal, scoring off a pass from Charlie Roberts.

"We moved the ball well in the first half and then let up," Mason said.

REDFORD CC 1, CANTON 1: Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Canton played to a draw Thursday at Centennial Educational Park.

The tie kept CC undefeated at 2-0-1. Canton is 2-1-1.

The Shamrocks trailed 1-0 at halftime before salvaging the tie with a goal by Rich Walos on a penalty kick in the second half. Walos had a breakaway but was tackled from behind, forcing the penalty kick.

The Chiefs took the lead 25 minutes into the game on a goal by senior Mike Wdowiak, assisted by sophomore teammate Chad Dale.

"It was a good ballgame," Canton coach Don Smith said. "We definitely rose to the occasion and played tough. We're coming."

Canton's defense, led by sweeper Owen Crosby and teammates Eric Stocklein and Matt Dalvisio, helped shut down CC's highly potent offense.

FRANKLIN 4, HERITAGE 3: Richard Burnette collected two goals, including the decisive score, to lift Livonia Franklin to victory over visiting Saginaw Heritage Friday.

Burnette, a senior left forward, scored the first and last goals for the Patriots, who improved to 3-1-1. The Hawks, the runner-up to Livonia Stevenson in the Class A championship game last year, fell to 0-1.

Burnette opened the scoring on a goal assisted by junior midfielder Jason Buelaw. Junior Mike Schmidt's goal increased the lead to 2-0, also assisted by Buelaw.

Franklin took a 3-1 lead into halftime after Buelaw scored. Guillermo Cazares drew an assist.

The summer of '92. One for the books.

John Notarianni read "about 20 books" over the summer months of '92 and won a $50 shopping spree at Borders Book Shop for his achievement.

Some of the books were long and some were short, but the important thing here is that John got involved in our 1992 reading challenge.

In third grade at Hillside Elementary in Farmington Hills, John says he likes Mrs. Weh, his new teacher.

He also cares enough about his sister, Molly, who also completed the reading challenge, to share part of his prize with her.

In addition to books, John has been known to pick up a magazine or two... or three... or four. Nintendo Power, Boys' Life, Kid's City and National Geographic are all on his reading list.

The "what do you want to be when you grow up" question was answered honestly—nine year old John doesn't know. He does, however, know that he likes to play with GameBoy, GI Joe, and Legos.

And we know that he likes to read.

To read. A basic skill that too many Americans have not adequately mastered. It's estimated that as many as one in five Americans has a reading problem at a time when 90 per cent of all occupations require some reading and writing, and at least 45 million Americans lack the skills necessary to compete.

Sad isn't it? Is anything being done to bring lower this depressing statistic? Happily, the answer is "yes." In schools and libraries in your community, volunteers and professionals are tackling the problems of adult illiteracy.

And, if an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, it would seem worthwhile to encourage young people like John to discover the magic of books and magazines.

More than 200 youngsters from first to eighth grade participated in the 1992 Reading Challenge which was sponsored by Borders Book Shop and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. These children read at least three newspaper articles and three books during the summer. Several read many more than that. John was the big winner in our final drawing and 25 of the children listed below (★) won $10 gift certificates.

Of course, we think they're all winners. It's been proven that when children read during the summer months they maintain or improve their reading skills. If they fail to open a book or pick up a magazine or make reading a regular part of their lives, their reading skills drop off by the time school opens.

Congratulations Reading Challengers!

Redford's Duff relieves tension with big victory

Tension was in the air last Sunday as seven bowlers went for the grand prize of "one year of mortgage payments" in the finals of the Summer League Recession Relief Tournament at Livonia's Merri-Bowl Lanes.

10-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Each one was already a winner since they bowled in a summer league and won their semi-final match at their own participating bowling center the week prior. Each of these finalists had already won one month's house payment or rent.

The competitors had their own cheering section and everybody bowled well. The end result was quite exciting, however, for Jim Duff of Redford Township, who bowled 112 pins over averaged to win the match. Duff, who had just returned to bowling this year after a knee injury in '86 had him sidelined, was in the groove with wife Sandy cheering him on.

He rolled his way to the championship and one full year's house payments. It was certainly a thrill for the Duffs as tears of joy were quite visible. Duff bowls at Beech Lanes in Redford Township.

Other winners in the finals were Gary Rollins, Satellite Bowl; Debra Flappy, Plum Hollow in Southfield; Dick Natone, Bonanza Lanes; Frank Smith, Ark Sterling; Ernestine Norris, Bronco Lanes; and Kim Broadwater.

Confusion reigns in the youth bowling action and I am not talking about the weather. There are two sanctioning bodies for the youth bowlers in this area and where they bowl will determine pretty much which association they will be bowling under.

The Young American Bowling Alliance is the incumbent group and they are part of a nationwide organization for sanctioning the youth leagues. Now along comes the Bowling Congress of America of Southeast Michigan with an altogether new sanctioning body called the Michigan Bowling Awards Program.

The purpose of the new group is to institute a new system of awards which will be quicker and simplify the administration of it. Most of the bowling centers will be MBAP, some will continue with the YABA and some houses will actually work through both of them. The YABA will still be the governing body for the very popular youth traveling leagues which have been so very successful in bringing up the better young bowlers throughout the years.

It will not make much difference to the bowlers, but they will become familiar with whichever system they are competing under. According to Scott Bennett, executive director of the BCA, the MBAP was formed by the bowling centers association in response to the growing need for a youth bowling program that would be responsive to youth bowlers and the bowling centers which they patronize.

The program is staffed and operated by the BCA of Michigan and builds on the strong tradition of rewarding bowling participants for their achievements.

Junior Achievements 7th Annual Bowling Classic is coming up soon and now is the time to register for it. The JA of southeastern Michigan is asking local businesses and organizations to put together one or more teams to bowl at any one of seven locations during the event which will take place on select Saturdays and Sundays in October and November.

You don't have to be a great bowler to win prizes and have a good time. The intent is to help generate funds that allow Junior Achievement to provide after-school and in-school programs to nearly 40,000 students in southeastern Michigan. To sign up or for information, call Junior Achievement at 255-3900.

Livonians hit Vegas Night jackpot in card

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

If a boxer had no luck in the ring Wednesday at the Vegas Night Boxing Show, he could still try his hand at the blackjack table.

BOXING

That's what made this amateur boxing show at Livonia's Laurel Manor different than any other ever held in Michigan, according to Livonia Boxing Club Director Paul Soucy. Proceeds from the show went to the LBC's new gym on Plymouth Road, east of Middlebelt, scheduled to open in a couple weeks, Soucy said.

About 600 fans attended, Soucy said.

"A non-profit organization is entitled to a Vegas Night," Soucy said. "It was encouraging for the first time but we'll be a lot more successful on our next (Vegas Night) venture."

Those fans who were able to get their attention away from the blackjack tables saw some competitive fights on the eight-bout card. The LBC was well represented with six fighters, including Steve Bond and Scott Mattson, cousins from Garden City.

Bond improved his record to 5-1 as a 165-pounder with a second-round Technical Knockout of John Hart, a Livonia native fighting out of the Coleman Young Club in Detroit. The referee called the fight when Hart was having trouble keeping his balance after taking a standing eight count against the ropes.

"I started controlling the fight when I was just boxing him," Bond said. "I caught him with some good punches, scared him and he just started brawling. The second round he came out and still wanted to brawl so I brawled with him."

Hart graduated in 1982 from Livonia Franklin where he was an all-league basketball player. He took up boxing eight months ago and is 1-1 as an amateur.

"This keeps me in shape," said Hart, who works Manheim Auto Action in Flat Rock. "(Basketball) is behind me now, I try different things all the time."

Hart's lack of experience showed. "If I had to do it again I would have boxed more and stayed outside and jabbed," said Hart, who played blackjack afterwards. "I stood right in front of him and I was an easy target."

Split decision for cousins

Mattson didn't have as much success as his cousin, losing at 165 pounds on a Referee Stopped Contest to Pete Pestowka of Windsor, Ontario. Mattson, who lost on points the last time he met Pestowka, is 6-5 overall.

"He's beaten a couple other fighters from the LBC and I was just trying to win it back for us," Mattson said. "Before I stayed away more and this time I jabbed and lost my head. I walked in with my hands down. I'm happy for my cousin. This sucks for me."

The most impressive showing from an LBC member came from Southfield's Denoid Lewis, who recorded a first-round KO of opponent Lafonzo Smith. It was Lewis' first-ever ring appearance but he looked like an established fighter.

"I just relaxed and picked my shots," Lewis said. "I saw an opening and used my right hand — my power hand. This is just like floating on a cloud."

Three other LBC boxers, Don Ryan, Brad Martin and Kelvin Jones lost their bouts on decisions. Ryan, a 180-pounder, lost to Kronk Gym's Tyrone Bailey; Martin, a 175-pounder from Garden City, lost to Donald Drake of Cannon Club; and Jones, a Ypsilanti heavyweight, lost to Roness Troutman of Coleman Young Club.

Jones, who is deaf, fights with grit. "He has great determination and a lot of heart and that's what makes a fighter," Soucy said.

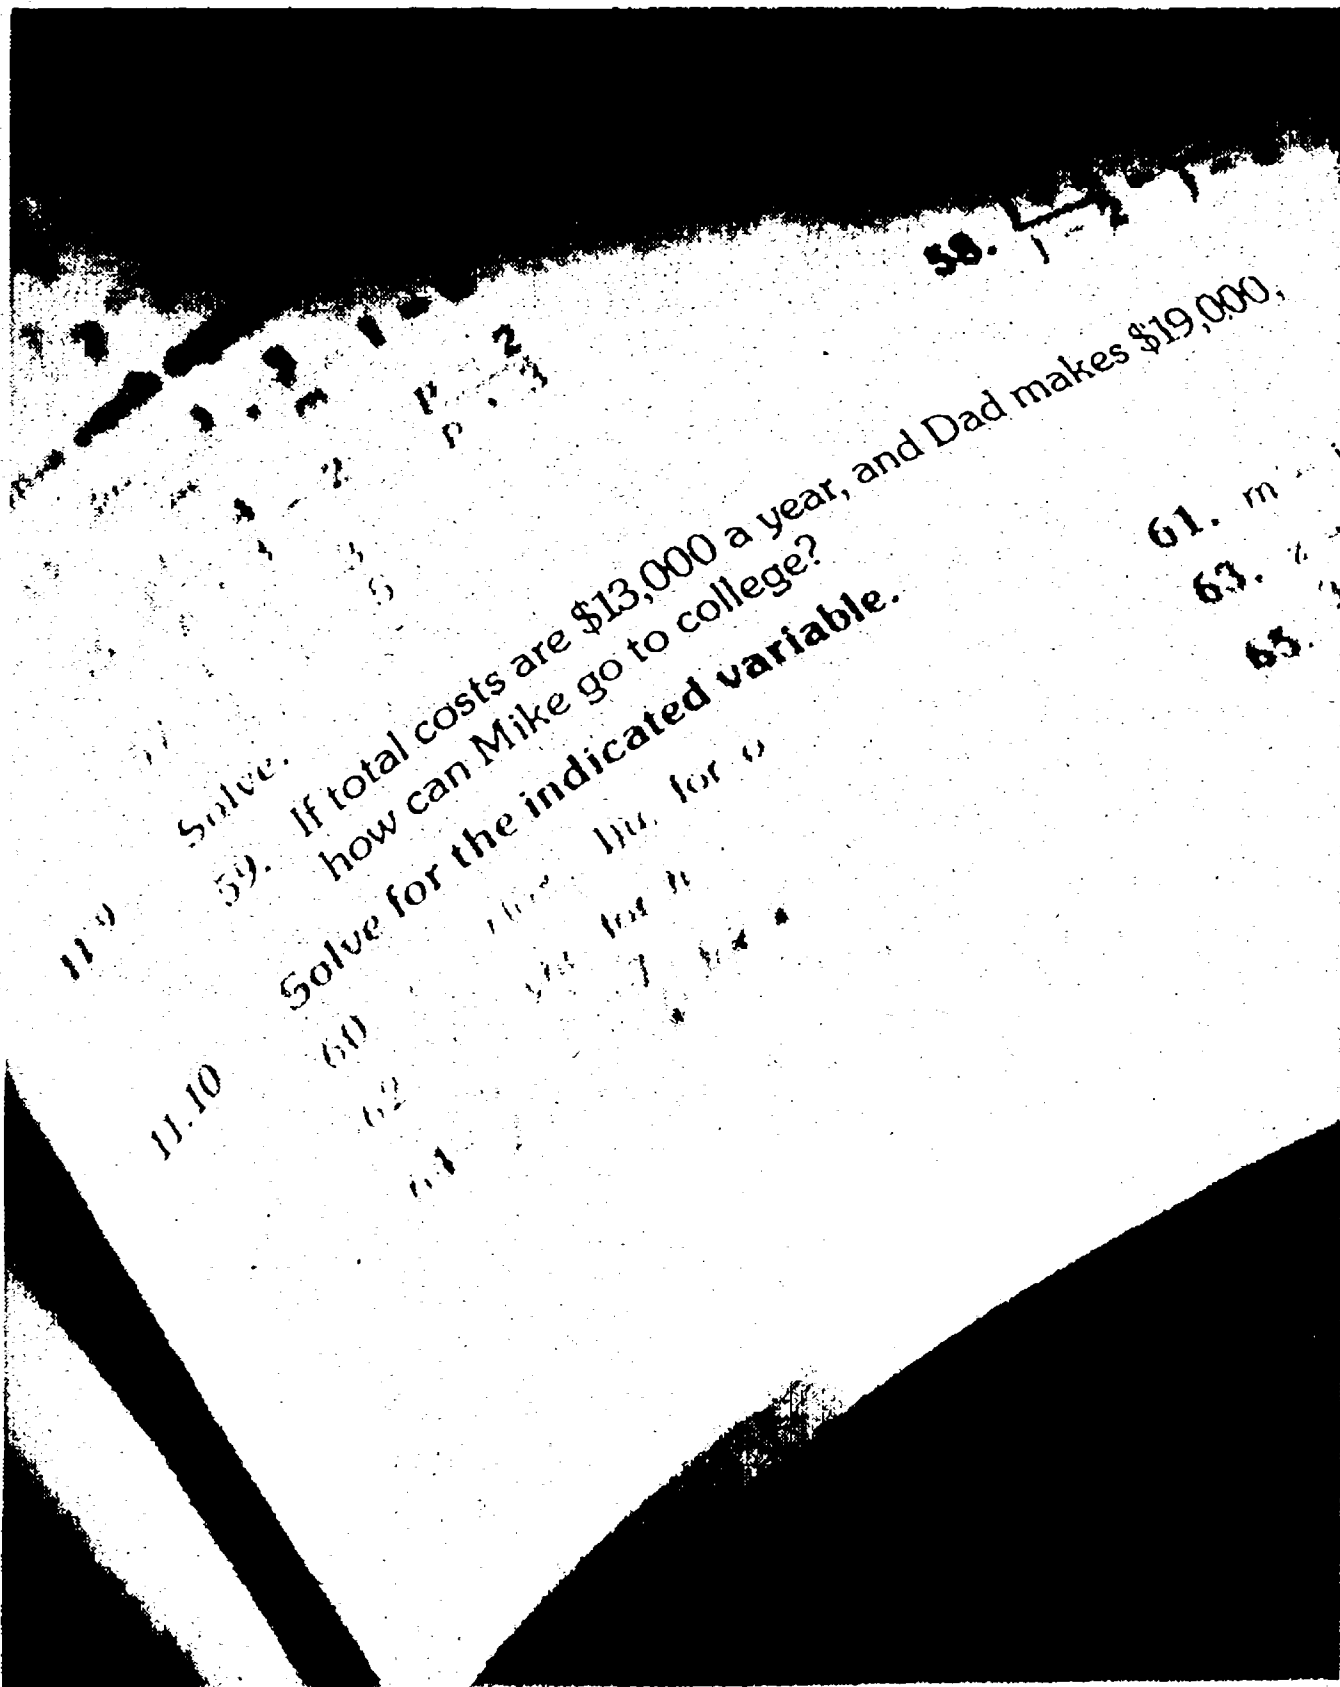

Soucy said he plans to talk to Laurel Manor owner John DeSignor about booking a professional show. A Vegas Night would not be allowed during a pro show, according to Soucy.

Payne update

Livonia professional heavyweight Craig Payne was in attendance and said he has a fight scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 22 against Tyrell Biggs at The Palace of Auburn Hills. Payne has revenge on his mind against Biggs, who scored a controversial 3-2 win over the Livonia boxer in the 1984 Olympic Trials finals for super heavyweight.

Payne said the schedule for the Pay Per View Tournament he signed up for is still to be decided.

Soucy wants to get former Redford Catholic Central football star Ron Wandzel in the ring but Wandzel was content watching Wednesday's show and playing the blackjack tables. Soucy thinks Wandzel would be a great heavyweight but Wandzel is probably worried boxing would ruin his All-American boy looks.

This is a tough problem even for bright kids.

It's not math or science that's keeping bright kids out of college. It's home economics. That's why giving to the United Negro College Fund is so important.
