No settlement in teacher talks

Negotiations continued Tuesday on proposed raises for Wayne-Westland teachers union members. Parents voiced their concerns at Monday's school board

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland teacher union leaders continued negotiations with school officials Tuesday in hopes of reaching an agreement on a new contract.

The talks came after union leaders last week refused to accept the school board's offer for a 3-percent salary increase this year and a 5-percent raise next year.

"That offer is still on the table as far as I know right now, but it could change this week," board president Leonard Posey said Tuesday.

Union leaders were negotiating Tuesday and could not be reached for comment. Their latest request made public was an 8-percent pay raise for this year.

The board met in closed session Monday night to discuss the ongoing negotiations, and Posey said the board had given more direction to its chief negotiator, Bill Taylor, the school district's associate superintendent for employee services.

We have given him additional direction, but I can't really talk about it." Posey said Tuesday.

Bob Kowalczyk, executive director of the 999-member Wayne-Westland Education Association, has said the union hasn't set a strike deadline, but is continuing to monitor negotiations on a daily basis.

The two sides remained at odds on salary issues.

"The bottom line is they want more money, and we haven't budged," Posey

During Monday's school board meeting, one Westland resident warned the board against granting a substantial pay raise to teachers.

A local veterinarian sent blood and liver samples to Michigan State University, where test results revealed that Cleo had been poisoned.

Man acquitted of molesting 3-year-old

BY DARRELL CLEM

A former Westland man has been acquitted of charges he molested a 3-year old girl for whom he was babysitting.

Robert Kenneth Cheek, 64, was found not guilty of second-degree criminal sexual conduct during a jury trial that ended Monday in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Check, a former Fairchild Street resident now living in Hillsdale County, could not be reached for comment on Tuesday, one day after the jury cleared him by rejecting the charges that had

His Westland attorney, George Dovas, issued a statement about the outcome of Cheek's trial, held in front of Recorder's Court Judge Isidore Torres.

"Based on the evidence that was presented to the jury, they found a reasonable doubt. As a result, they acquitted him," Dovas said.

A relative of Cheek's had telephoned the Observer on Tuesday to ask that his acquittal be reported, in the wake of several news reports about the charges against him.

Cheek had apparently been well-liked in his former Westland neighborhood and was known by some as "the neighborhood grandfather," Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore has said.

In court proceedings, Cheek had maintained his innocence and pleaded not guilty to the charges.

On Monday, the Recorder's Court jury indicated it believed his claim of innocence by finding him not guilty of molesting the 3-year-old girl that he babysat at a residence near his former Fairchild Street home.

In a March II warrant, authorities had charged Cheek with two counts of second-degree criminal sexual conduct. which carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison upon conviction.

Cheek had been initially arrested in Hillsdale County, where police accused him of fleeing after the accusations emerged against him.

. However, a relative stressed that he didn't even know the charge had been filed when he went to Hillsdale County -- and that he hadn't intentionally tried to evade authorities.

Man misses court bond hearing

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A Westland man charged with masturbating in front of two 11year-old girls while showing pornographic movies failed to appear at a court hearing Monday to answer allegations of a bond violation.

Richard Charles Quimby, 34, had been ordered to appear in 18th District Court for a bond hearing, amid police claims he ignored a judge's order by returning to the apartment where the alleged incident occurred.

Judge C. Charles Bokos had been prepared to consider increasing Quimby's bond or revoking it, but Quimby "didn't show up," court administrator David Wiacek said Monday.

An attorney telephoned the court for Quimby, and Bokos sent a strong warning that Quimby should stay away from his Woodcrest Villa apartment on Wayne Road, between Cowan and Joy, Wiacek said.

Bokos also has ordered a new court date today (Thursday) for Quimby to appear for the bond hearing.

Quimby, arraigned Aug. 21 on a charge of indecent exposure, has remained out of jail after posting $1,000, or 10 percent of a $10,000 bond. But he had been told to stay away from his apartment.

Last week, Westland police Sgt. Laura Moore said police had received reports that Quimby had returned to his residence - an alleged violation that prompted police to notify 18th District Court.

Bokos could consider changing the bond today, one week before Quimby is scheduled to appear in court for a pretrial hearing on the charge of indecent exposure. During his Aug. 21 arraignment, a plea of not guilty was entered on his behalf.

If convicted of the charge, which is a high misdemeanor, he could be imprisoned for a maximum of one, year and fined as much as $500.

The charge emerged last month; after a parent of one of the 11-yearold girls notified Westland police: and accused Quimby of luring the. youngsters to his apartment, showing X-rated movies to them and! masturbating in front of them," Moore has said.

The incident allegedly occurred in June, but the parent didn't learn. about it immediately, Moore said.

Police had already received telephone calls from the neighborhood, indicating that a man had tried to. lure young girls to his apartment, Moore has said.

However, police couldn't seek charges until the parent came forward with a specific complaint, she

"I'm concerned for the safety of my child," said Mike Butler: "It looks like a Chinese fire drill out there. I was there today (Monday) and some kids were going to the wrong bus."

Kathy Blaharski, mother of two St. Michael Catholic School students, said the new system, which places some 1,000-plus youngsters together in one spot, treats students "like baggage."

"Where's the dignity of being herded like sheep?" she asked.

Last week, the parents called Livonia police to Frost because they were upset that bus drivers got off their buses and left the engines

The parents said it was unsafe to leave children unattended in an Idling bus:

Charles Ritter, director of operations, assured school board members Monday that such a situation would not happen again.

"Since Thursday, it has not happened," Ritter said. "The police said we couldn't do it." Ritter initially assured parents that the 25 bus drivers would stand outside their buses with a sign giving the bus route number and the. school to which the bus is going.

Butler said no bus drivers got off their bus Monday morning.

"I will tell them to turn off the buses and be outside," Ritter told trustees Monday night. "They must aid and assist in the transfer."

The fact that parents - not school officials - brought up the idling bus issue shows they are not simply trying to hassle school officials about imaginary issues, Blaharski said.

"Has any one of you ever left your kid in a running car and got outside? This is just common sense. And it wouldn't have changed if we hadn't pushed."

However, Blaharski said putting the responsibility for the safety of 1,000 plus children on 25 bus drivers is not a good solution, either.

School district attendance boundaries raise concerns

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland school officials are moving closer to a districtwide study of school attendance boundaries, amid fears the neighborhood school concept has eroded.

School board members have raised concerns that many students aren't attending the schools closest to their homes, but are being bused to further-out schools.

Moreover, board members have noted that boundary lines need to be changed because some children living in the same neighborhood are bused to different schools.

Specifically, board member Vicki Welty has singled out the Legacy Estates subdivision in Wayne, where some residents have complained about the schools their children are attending.

Most students in the subdivision on Hix, between Michigan Avenue and Glenwood, attend Schweitzer Elementary School, Stevenson Junior High and John Glenn High School.

But about 35 Legacy Estates children are bused to Roosevelt-McGrath Elementary, Franklin Junior High and Wayne Memorial High School.

Board member Laurel Raisanen noted during Monday's board meeting that, "These children are not going to school with their neighborhood (friends)."

Mounting concerns have prompted school officials to push for changes in attendance boundaries. "I believe that Legacy Estates needs to be taken care of - and taken care of as soon as possible,"

Referring to boundary problems, Superintendent Larry Thomas said Legacy Estates "sticks out like a sore thumb," and he said he could support immediate measures to address the situation.

But it remained unclear Monday when the board might act to change boundaries. Although some board members indicated they want to address Legacy Estates now, others want a district-wide approach.

"I would hope that we would do it in totality and not one street at a time," board president Leonard Posey said.

Eventually, school officials plan to appoint a citizens panel to help study the problem. Moreover, they plan to bring attendance boundary experts into the district,

A Westland police officer was injured Friday during a clash with an Inkster man who resisted being arrested, even after he was sprayed in the face with Mace and hit in the legs with a baton.

In a dramatic arrest, Officer Steve Jaworski suffered a deep cut on his left arm and required stitches after he was pulled into a glass door by a 27-year-old Inkster man who didn't want to be arrested.

The 6 p.m. incident began when officers stopped the inkster motorist near Grand Traverse and Caspian, in the Norwayne neighborhood, to investigate a loud muffler and an improper license plate.

The man initially obeyed police and sat in the rear seat of the patrol car, but he became unruly and began resisting officers when he was told he would be arrested, police reports said.

Officers Jaworski and Grant Allen had to use Mace to try to bring the man under control, but he continued to walk away from them, even as they grabbed onto his back to try to get him back into the police car, reports said.

The struggle continued to a nearby front lawn and onto a front porch where the man said his girlfriend lived. Jaworski's arm was cut when the man pulled him into the front door window, police reports said.

The man then stood up and entered the house, with officers still trying to bring him under control. Police hit the man three times on the leg with a baton in an effort to subdue him.

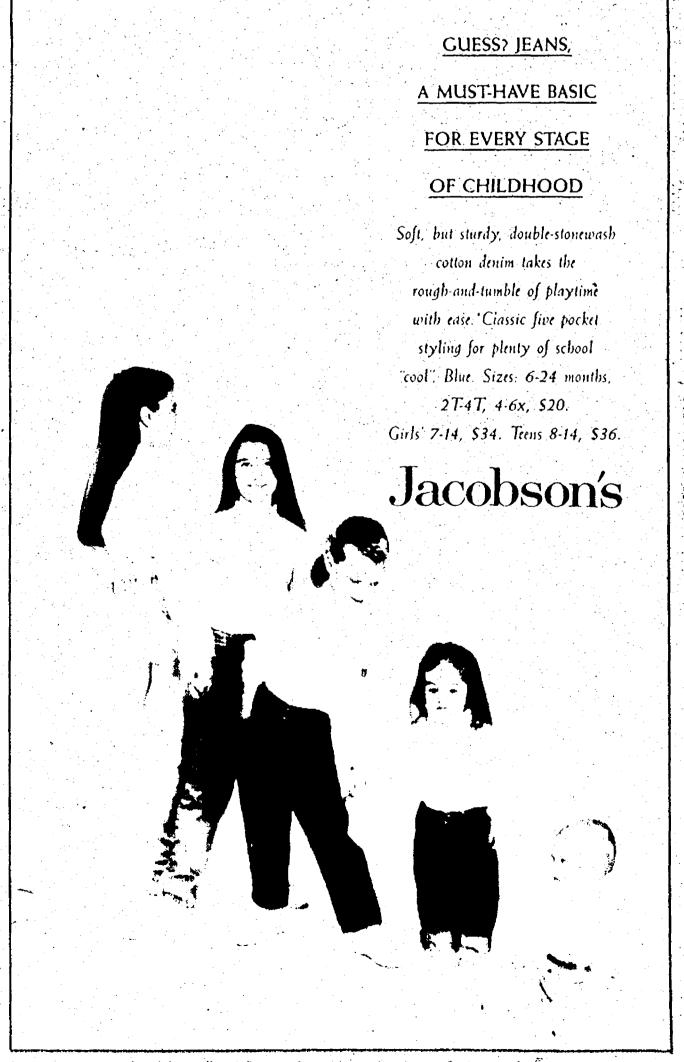

The man finally relaxed, but then fell to the ground, forcing the police officers to drag him to the patrol car. He was arrested for resisting arrest and cited for a loud muffler and an improper license plate.

Parents seek bus route change

The parents are concerned because their children have to cross, Cowan to catch a bus that stops at Cowan and Cochise, near Farmington Road. The kindergartners attend the afternoon session at Edison Elementary School.

Parent's Judy Conn and Sharon Ferguson asked during Monday's he didn't promise any changes.

Wayne-Westland school board changed, saying there are no stop signs or crosswalks at the Cowan-Cochise intersection.

"A couple of 5-year-old children cannot be lest unattended there," Conn said

The parents also said they would like to have their children picked up closer to home.

Superintendent Larry Thomas told the parents he would have his administration study the possibinty of revising the bus route, though

"I have never been able to set up meeting to have the bus route, bus stops to make-parents of all kindergartners happy," he said.

> But Ferguson stressed that only two kindergartners catch the bus at Cowan and Cochise in the afternoon and that a minor revision in the bus route would alleviate the problem.

Conn said she called district transportation officials about three weeks ago and asked about possible route changes. On Monday, she told Thomas that she was disappointed she hadn't received a response.

"This is the thifd week of school, and we're still waiting," she said.

In another busing matter, Debra O'Leary of Wayne voiced concerns that her four children have been consistently late for school because of the arrival time of a public school bus that takes her children to a private school.

Her children have missed from 15 minutes to an hour a day, depending on weather conditions, she said.

"It just kills me to have my children miss that much school," O'Leary said.

Thomas said his administration would look into the problem.

Clerk's mom, sister unharmed in hurricane

Diane Fritz's mother prepared for the worst as Hurricane Iniki stormed toward Hawaii.

Fritz, Westland's city clerk, said her mother stocked up on flashlights, batteries, candles, canned goods and jugs of drinking water. And she put tape over her windows, in hopes that high winds wouldn't send shards of glass flying through her house.

But when Fritz talked with hermother, Loretta Korzon, on Satur-

Fritz's sister, Carol, who lives inland on the same island of Oahu, also escaped unharmed from the hurricane that devastated the island of Kauai.

"As far as my family goes, everything is OK," Fritz said Monday. "They prepared for the worst, but they didn't have any damage. They didn't really have any high winds, but they had a lot of rain."

Fritz's mother and sister weren't telephone on Friday - and again evacuated as winds reaching 160 on Saturday, after the storm had mph slammed Hawaii, damaging 10,000 homes and leaving 8,000 people on Kauai homeless. But the storm came close enough.

ESS. KIDNEY FAILURE. GANGRENE. DISEASE.

Just a few of the side effects a diabetic has to live with. Or die with.

Most of us know that diabetics must take daily insulin shots to control their disease. But what many people don't know is that even with the shots, a host of complications can arise. Like blindness. Kidney failure. Gangrene. Heart disease. And nerve damage.

If fact, it's these side effects of diabetes that are so brutal and often life-threatening. So please give to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. Because there's only one way to eliminate the complications. Eliminate the disease,

Tax plan biased against seniors, opponents say

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Opponents say older and middleclass homeowners would get little benefit from Gov. John Engler's "Cut & Cap" property tax plan. Proposal C on the ballot.

Proposal C would cap annual property assessment increases at 3 percent and reduce school operating property taxes 30 percent if voters say yes Nov. 3. The state would reimburse local school districts.

"The cut would be offset, dollar. for dollar, by a reduction in the homestead credit," objected Jim Hudson of the American Association of Retired Persons. AARP is one of 20 groups in Advance Michigan, which is fighting both Proposals A and C.

The homestead credit is a state income tax rebate to families whose property taxes exceed 3.5 percent of household income. Senior citizens get 100 percent of the excess property tax refunded; others get back 60 percent of the excess from Lansing.

"Among elderly households with incomes below $75,000 a year, 70 percent would have the same property tax bill as before the cut," Hudson said Monday in a Southfield news conference.

Tax cut dwindles

Economist Ruth Beier, of Michigan State University's Institute for Public Policy and Social Research and a former Treasury official in Gov. Blanchard's administration, gave this example of how "Cut & Cap" would affect a suburban fami-

If its total property taxes are $3,000, two thirds going to schools, its tax bill would be cut by $600 (30 percent of $2,000), but its state income tax rebate would be cut $360, paring its savings to $240.

Advance Michigan's advertising campaign calls Proposal C "a shell game" that falls to benefit the middle and lower economic class-

The family also would lose on the federal income tax, said Beier, bringing the benefit to only $80.

In contrast, businesses and wealthier homeowners would get the full 30 percent cut.

Advance Michigan's advertising calls Proposal C "a shell game" which fails to benefit middle and lower economic classes.

'No free lunch'

Detroit Councilman David Eberhard said Proposal C would obligate the state to reimburse school districts $1.3 billion a year by 1997.

"Folks, there sin't no free lunch. Right now the money's not in the budget," Eberhard said.

Beier added, "The state has no choice but to raise taxes" to pay for Cut & Cap.

"Funding reimbursements with an increase in the state income tax would require an income tax rate of 6.3 percent by the year 2002. The current rate is 4.6 percent," she

If the Legislature decided against raising the income tax, she added, it would have to increase the single business tax to 4.55 percent from the current 2.35 percent. Or it would have to seek voter approval to increase the 4 percent sales tax to 8.77 percent.

The group also opposes Proposal A, which would cap assessment increases at 5 percent a year.

Civic groups supporting Advance Michigan are: League of Women Voters, AARP, Michigan PTA and Michigan Association of University .ment.

Union groups include the Michigan Education Association, AFL CIO, United Auto Workers and Michigan Federation of Teachers.

Government-related groups include the Michigan Municipal League, Michigan Association of School Boards, various groups of school districts and administrators, and such program beneficiaries as Healthy Mothers Healthy Babies.

Engler's reply

Gov. Engler's chief economic spokesman, state Treasurer Douglas Roberts, made this case for Proposal C:

• No one said taxes won't be raised. But he is confident the program's cost can be paid by dedicating half the annual 5 percent growth of state revenues.

• There will be little budget growth for state employees, already well paid. State colleges will have to become more efficient or raise tui-

 Property tax rates on business and wealthy homeowners went up exactly the same amount of millage. as for middle- and low-income homeowners, and their taxes all should be cut at the same rate.

· Proposal C should be viewed as an economic growth measure in a state that for 25 years as had unemployment rates higher than the national average. Reducing the tax on capital will encourage business investment - and jobs - in the reverse way that raising taxes has dampened investment and employ-

State chamber fires back at ad attacking Proposal C

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce says that a television commercial attacking Proposal C is "false and misleading."

Proposal C is a proposed amendment to the state Constitution that would cut school operating taxes 30 percent over five years, require that the state reimburse school districts for revenue lost due to the cut, and cap annual property tax assessment increases at 3 percent or inflation, whichever is less.

Proposal C will be on the Nov. 3 general election ballot.

"Apparently the campaign" against meaningful property tax relief for homeowners and job provid. that have kept almost 200,000 chilers will be based on the theory that: if you are going to tell a lie, tell a big er unions are behind the campaign one," said Rich Studley, the Michigan Chamber's vice president of government relations.

"Contrary to the misinformation contained in the commercial, Proposal C will cut and cap property taxes for all property owners. Read Proposal C and you will see that there is no tax shift and no tax increase. Proposal C also has nothing to do with the lottery because it is not a school finance proposal, Studley said.

"Michigan's teacher unions are currently engaged in illegal strikes dren out of school, The same teachagainst property tax relief. We are confident, that voters' will see through this smokescreen and vote yes on Proposal C, especially when they learn that the opposition has no alternative but the status quo," Studley concluded.

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce is a statewide, business organization representing approximately 6,000 employers. The Michigan Chamber was established in 1959 and is actively involved in the legislative and political process.

Students not learning the right things, study says

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Business must help educators and union leaders set skill standands for students headed for the work force, says a study prepared for Michigan legislators.

Reason: "There is a growing gap between what students learn and what is expected of them, in the workplace," accoring to the key finding of House Speaker Lewis Dodak's Blue Ribbon Commission on Career-Technical Education.

Although the name of Dodak, D. Birch Run, tops the report, the commission was chaired by Rep. William Keith, D.Garden City, Its. recommendation is embodied in Keith's House Bill 4165, which would establish a state Cabinet on Professional and Technical Stand-

The bill also requires a 200-day school year beginning in Sentember 1993. Those that continue to offerthe 180 day year, standard since the 1950s, would lose a proportionate amount of state aid.

The panel noted Japanese students are in class 242 days a year and 41.6 hours a week, and high school graduates have six years of English, Some 250 million Chinese speak fluent English --- "more than the U.S. population," the commission said.

The work of Philip H. Power, board chairman of Suburban Communications. Com., is evident in this recommendation: "The focus of ellucation must be on the achievement of 'competencies' and 'mastery of skills' that students will need in the 21st century. We can no longer afford to graduate students. or adults based on seat time. The emphasis must be on outcomes achieved rather than on courses taken. . ."

Another influence was New York state educator Willard Daggett, who There is a growing gap between what students learn and what is expected of them in the workplace.'

House commission report argues that reading and math teaching must be revised to suit the workplace rather than academia. A key section summarizes Daggett's speech in Lansing:

"In the service sector, ATM (automatic teller machies) have reduced the number of bank tellers and cashiers by 40 percent in the last five years and may replace another 40 percent in the next five

"Auto mechanics have evolved into auto technicians, with diagnostic equipment and computerized technical manuals being the new. tools of the trade. In 1965 the average automobile service manual was 300 pages ... (T)he manual for a 1991 car exceeds 475,000 pages.

"Similarly, advanced automation is being tested in some fast food restaurants, which could reduce or. even eliminate the need for grill and counter personnel."

Business members of the panel

Klohs, Grand Rapids Chamber of .Commerce; Jest Hearn, a VP of Champion International Inc.; Refor Ford Motor Co.; and Sharon-Roy, S.R. Accounting, Inc.

The state AFL-CIO was represented by Bruce Stine, Educatora included Clyde LeTarte, president of Jackson Community College; Betty Ong, Royal Oak vocational education teacher; and Lola. Jackson, the state's director of vocational education.

The job of pulling together employers' shopping lists of skills would fall to a 15-member cabinetlevel body.

The governor would appoint three members representing business, ed-include, besides Power: Bergit ucation and organized labor. So would the House speaker and the Senate majority leader.

The other six are specified in nee Lerche, manager of education Keith's bill: the heads of the state Education, Labor and Commerce departments, a vocational education delegate, a representative of the State Board of Education andone from the Governor's Office on Job Training.

> "As the major consumer of the educational product," the panel said,"business must invest in the educational system by helping todevelop new models which expandthe concept of youth apprenticeship (and) intern programs, assisting in teacher training and furnishing ongoing information on the transformation of the workplace."

Local emergency rooms

Everything from scrapes to stabbings

BY BRIAN LYSAGHT STAFF WRITER.

Every day, all kinds of problems walk through the doors of local omergency rooms.

Most people are suffering from relatively minor injuries like cuts, scrapes, fractures or sprains. A recent statewide study, however, found that violence victims are more common in emergency rooms than people injured in car accidents. Two local hospital officials said gunshot wounds and other violent injuries are relatively rare, but a third said they are on the rise.

At St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. the emergency room is far more likely to see an auto accident victim than a shooting or stabbing injury.

At Garden City Hospital, during winter snows; injuries from snowblowers are more common than gunshot injuries, said spokesman Mitch Nimmoor.

may vary from those shown.

At Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills, though, the emergency room is seeing more victims of violence, said spokeswoman Margot Gorchow.

"The last year to year-and-a-half we've seen a dramatic increase in the number of emergency room visits as a result of violence," said Gorchow. She estimated such visits have risen from one a month to one or two per week, in part because of the closing of nearby Redford Community and Grace hospitals.

The statewide study, conducted by the Michigan Hospital Association, recorded 3,600 emergency room visits during a 24-hour period last October in 46 Michigan hospi-

Topping the list of ailments were cuts, scrapes and other wounds, which brought 11 percent of all patients to emergency rooms. Respiratory ailments brought another 11 percent; sprains, and strains 7 percent; ear, cold and flu problems 6.5

Nearly 5 percent of patients were shot, stabbed or assaulted. That compares to 4.5 percent who were accident victims.

Ninety percent of the violence victims were treated at urban hospitals, according to the MHA study. Cathy Dixon, manager of St.

Mary Hospital's emergency unit, said St. Mary participated in the statewide study.

She said minor ailments like sore throats, aches and pains are most common at St. Mary, followed by cardiac arrest and strokes,

. "We do get some assaults and violence here but not like the urban areas. That's not the population wo have," sald Dixon.

"When we do have injuries it's generally from the industrial area around here, the freeways, or, in the summer, sports injuries."

Patients suffering from heart attacks are fairly common, as are stress-related allments like anxiety attacks or heart attacks, she said. St. Mary's emergency room aver-

The Southeast Michigan Hospital Council studied emergency room admissions at 11 hospitals over two days in August and found cuts, abdominal pains and cold and flu symptoms among the most common ailments, said vice president for public relations Mary Tenniswood.

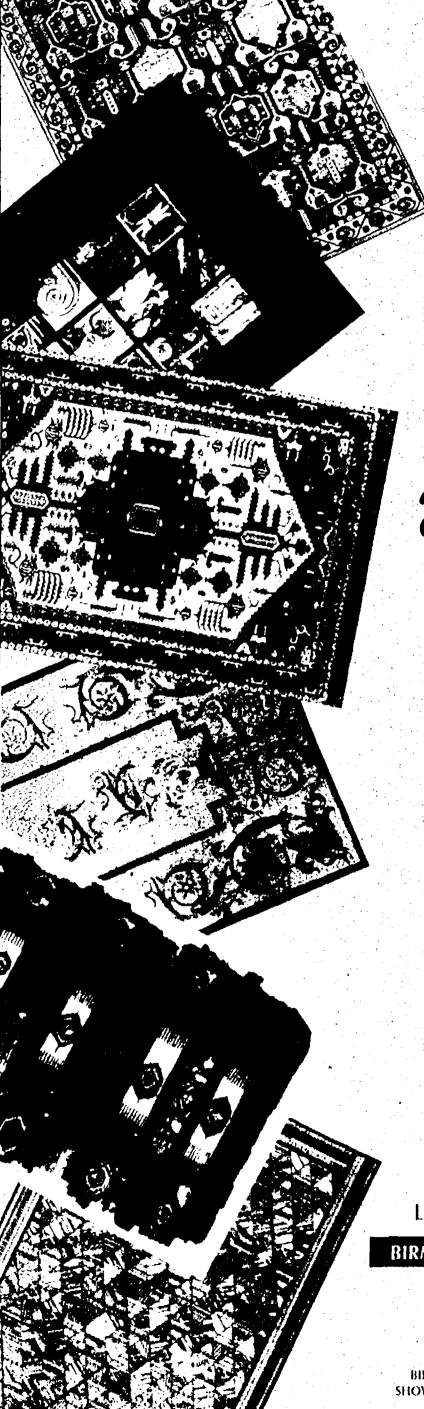

But the SMHC study, also showed gun shot, stab and drug overdose admissions combined to outnumber heart attacks patients.

Hospital room activity "is getting to be a real window on societal problems." Tenniswood said.

More people are coming to emergency rooms for ailments that are. more easily and cheaply treated by family doctors, she said. This is be !! tal said snowblower accidents are cause people are either uninsured. surprisingly common on winter underinsured or their doctors are too busy, she said.

The Crate and Barrel shopping bag.

In the next few months, you should be seeing quite a few of these as more and more people discover our newest store at The Somerset Collection.

And what we think they'll be finding is not so much a store, as an attitude about shopping itself in the 1990's. You see, after 29 years of creating design specialty stores from coast to coast, we think we've learned a few things about you, and about your home.

We think you're looking for value above all. And at no other store in the country will you find such superb merchandise at such affordable prices. Prices made possible by our great volume, our years of experience, and our global network of buying agents.

We think you're looking for selection. And whether that means a soup tureen for fall, a patio table for spring, or an extensive choice of dinnerware patterns for June brides, no other design specialty store can give you the depth of fresh new merchandise, season after season, that you'll find at Crate and Barrel.

We think you're looking for uniqueness. And from handblown luster vases to hand painted ceramic bowls, from professional quality cookware for yourself to a myriad of gift possibilities for others, over half of the merchandise that we sell at Crate and Barrel has been developed exclusively for us.

We think you're looking for a shopping experience, not just a shopping trip. That's why our stores are designed with the kind of visual and architectural flair that not only wins awards, but brings shoppers back again and again.

And we think you're looking for service. At a time when most retail staffs are being cut drastically, we still believe in the customer's right to attention, courtesy, information, and even a genuine smile.

So the next time you spot one of these bags on the street, just remember—it's probably coming from where you've been headed for quite some time.

The newest Crate and Barrel is now open at The Somerset Collection.

Open Mon., Thurs., Fri. 10-9, Tiles., Wed., Sat. 10-6, and Sun. 12-5:00. For more information or a catalogue, phone 313-643-6610.

Consumer coalition endorses Ford

Consumer Federation of America has endorsed U.S. Rep. William D. Ford's bid for re-election in the 13th District which Includes Garden City, Westland, Canton Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and part of Livonia.

"Rep. Ford's 80 percent lifetime voting record on behalf of consumers demonstrates consistent attention to the needs of key consumer interests before Congress, said counsel.

"In a year when votes were taken and safety issues, as well as consumer risks from industry restructuring, Rep. Ford was on the floor of Congress fighting for consumer rights."

In endorsing Ford, CFA also noted that Ford voted in favor of legislation to reform the banking industry and give regulators the pow-

Pay-to-play flops in middle schools

Middle school extracurricular programs are in jeopardy of being dropped because of a low demand under the Livonia school district's new pay-to-play policy. The administration is debating whether to drop the middle school programs now or wait.

By MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER

The Livonia school district's new "pay-to-play" program has been a flop in the middle schools and may not survive another week.

School officials, whose district includes the northern section of Westland, are debating whether to let the program limp along to see whether participation will pick up throughout the school year, or whether to drop it and fund a limited number of middle school

All four middle school sports that students join in the fall - touch football, girls' softball and boys' and girls' cross country - have failed to attract players since the district earlier this year slapped on a $100 participation

"Enrollment is down all across the board, in all four middle schools, by 75 percent," said Ken Watson, Jr., director of secondary education.

To salvage the program, the board of education is now considering these op-

- Let the program continue this school year, keeping those sports that attract enough players and dropping all others. Participation might jump when such winter sports as basketball, girls' volleyball and boys' wrestling kick in.
- Allow seventh-graders to partici- pate in the middle school program. • Cut some sports and allow others to continue with no charge to the players. The district initially favored this plan before finally opting for "pay-toparticipate."

This fall, Watson said, the district would drop touch football and keep girls' softball and boys' and girls' cross country at no cost to students.

School officials have about one week to pick one of the options, Watson said. Middle school students who have signed up for sports have not yet paid the fee, he said.

"I'm doubtful we can field teams for the four sports unless there's a change in the program," Watson said.

Middle school teachers, he said, favor the third option, with the district paying for a reduced sports program. School trustees Monday speculated why the middle school program has failed so dismally while a similar one for high schoolers so far has been successful. The only high school sport that didn't get enough participants is ninthgrade cheerleading, Watson said.

In these financially troubled times, parents with students in both high and middle school can only afford to pay for one sport, said trustee Pat Sari.

This process could change in the winter, she added, with parents paying the $100 fee for their middle school student.

Trustee Ken Timmons suggested high school students have "a tremendous edge" in earning their $140 sports fee, while middle schoolers are limited in their ability to earn money.

1993 vote

Mayoral campaign starts early

he campaign is already heating up for Westland's next mayoral election. The election is scheduled for November 1993 — 14 months away. If a primary is needed, it will be held next September.

But don't assume that all the political activity - visible or otherwise - will be limited to next summer and fall.

In many subtle and other actions recently taken - more than a full year before the primary - potential candidates are giving the appearance that the election is just a few days

The fight at this point is for visibility and who can take the most credit for specific proj-

For example, the city council announced late this summer that it will offer prizes in its annual beautification program for homes and businesses. A few weeks later, Mayor Robert Thomas announced that he was holding a similar competition.

A little later, some council members raised eyebrows when the mayor formally installed new police officers and firefighters at his monthly Town Hall meeting. Those meetings are held to give homeowners a chance to ask questions directly to the mayor and his depart-

The council was upset because, in past years, the swearing-in was held at city council meetings with the city clerk handling the ceremony.

A third dispute recently surfaced when Thomas indicated on cable TV that the city council members take short cuts in their meetings because they just want to "get in and get out." The comment came during a promo for his Town Hall meeting.

Insulting the council publicly is no way to win friends and influence council members whose votes he will certainly need on future projects.

The best way to get around these silly disputes is to have the council president and the mayor meet regularly on these types of issues before any announcements are made. That could eliminate some of the feuds that have surfaced in the past few months.

When voters go to the polls, they should be aware that the relationships between the mayor and council are important. We hope the two sides will try to avoid petty disputes and address the more important issues in the 1993 campaign: expanding the property tax base to generate revenues for city services; addressing policies for important city programs and services; and setting priorities for trimming services if a budget crunch emerges next year.

In the meantime, let's consider the recent council mayor feuds nothing more than minor specks on the political landscape. The mayor and council members should better use their time and energy. It's too early to fight next fall's campaign.

Time to pass animal abuse bill busing and torturing small, defenseless animals is such a mean-spirited act that merely hearing or reading about it is enough to make the average person's skin crawl. While the public reaction is strong, the current penalties are dismally weak.

Michigan legislators have a bill before them that could change that, making stiffer penalties and mandatory psychiatric help requirements for people convicted of animal abuse.

Torturing animals currently carries only a misdemeanor charge, meaning that after a conviction the worst a person can expect is 90 days in jail and/or a $500 fine. That hardly reflects the way society feels toward people who hurt small creatures.

Senate Bill 1092 is a comprehensive package that not only makes the crime a felony rather than the current misdemeanor, but also recognizes animal abuse as a stepping stone to people abuse. Convicts must receive mental health treatment to end violent, anti-social behavior. Penalties also include meaningful community service and up to two years in jail.

Animal abusers also lose the right to animal ownership and can be returned to jail if found to have pets in their possession.

Sponsored by state Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, and state Sen. Phillip Arthurhultz, R-Whitetail, the measure is endorsed by the Michigan Humane Society.

Humane Society executive director Gary Tiscornia hails the latest proposal as a step in the right direction for animal protection. The current Michigan act shows cats, dogs and other pets as property, rather than living creatures that feel pain. The current penalties are for hurting others' properties, rather than for hurting the animals themselves.

The Michigan Humane Society also stressed to legislators that people who abuse animals often graduate their torturing techniques to intimidate and maim men and women. During interviews, mass murderer Leslie Williams admitted that he had tortured his girlfriend's cats. Mass murderer Jeffrey Dahlmer made similar "Laws that protect animals reflect well on society," said Tiscornia. "We're frankly tired of dealing with cases where we investigate and then the person is convicted of a misdemeanor. The animals don't know if they're property or not - the animals only know that they're suffering."

The current Senate legislation will help not only animals but the individuals who have tortured souls and wish to harm those that are smaller than they are, working up the courage to pick on people their own size. A law with felony penalties puts teeth into animal protection and sends a strong signal that torture of any kind will not be tolerated in Michigan,

With the legislative session soon to open, local legislators should be encouraged to act quickly on Senate Bill 1092 and provide stiffer penalties for animal abuse in an attempt to make Michigan a safe place for all living crea-

Driver knocked

n open letter to the man who hit my grandfather on Sept. 4.

I want you to know that my grandfather is 93 and now has a broken wrist, bruises. and several lacerations. You backed into him while he was walking along Joy Road and we understand accidents can happen. You helped him up and gave him his hearing aid and hat. You neglected to hand him his glasses and I had to take him for new ones. ($144).

I spent over three hours in emergency with him and now he has to see an orthopedic doctor.

We moved him out of his home in Detroit because of the high crime area. He has been walking ever since he had to give up driving. We feel the least you could have done was drive him home. I hope you can sleep at night and live with yourself. We are thankful the injuries weren't worse. He will heal, but slowly. He's healthy for his age and such a sweet man.

He has to pay his own medical costs not covered by Medicare and has to cope with an arm handicap.

I pray you will ask God for forgiveness, and bare your heart to Him. We will too, if you decide to call us.

Suburbs alter political strategy

Raises rapped

hat is influencing our (Wayne-Westland) schools staff? Do you remember the impassioned pleas to pass the recent millage increase - "for our kids?"

Now teachers are demanding an 8 percent raise and give a deadline of Sept. 25.

Who really cares about our kids? Management was aware of the soil contamination months ago, but the story was not released until (former Superintendent) Dennis O'Neill left the district. A request for data on the crime situation was issued months ago, but not responded to till just prior to Mr. (Tom) Svitkovich (former deputy superintendent) departed.

Property taxes are frozen; student count is expected to drop, yet the employees will not consider a "give-back" or even a freeze.

land Park to suburban Auburn Hills: That's a good marker indicating a fundamental and his-

Chrysler announced last week it intends to move its world headquarters from urban Hightoric shift to the suburbs going on in the country today,

The third century of America's history is going to be a suburban century.

Until 1920 most Americans lived in the countryside. By the 1960 census, the country was evenly divided between rural, urban and suburban. But by 1990, the urban population had declined to just over 30 percent and rural to less than a quarter.

We are now a suburban nation with an inner fringe of city dwellers and an outer fringe of people living in the countryside. The 1990 census, for example, showed Michigan with a majority living in suburbs, which in turn were growing more rapidly than either rural or urban populations.

As William Schneider, a distinguished American historian, points out, our myths mark our demography.

The first century of our history was dominated by the rural myth; the sturdy, self-reliant Jessersonian sarmer.

To escape the hardship of rural life, people began moving to the cities, joining countless immigrants escaping their own hardships in the old country. So arose the urban myth: the city as melting pot, as the great engine of the nation's prosperity and culture.

And now we see the push to the suburbs -- to escape the danger and crowding and deteriorating conditions of the city -- augmented by suburban pull -- cheap land, green yards, singlefamily "dream houses." The Gallup Poll asked Americans in 1989 where they would like to live; only 19 percent said a city.

And so the suburban myth arose, beginning in the 1950s with TV shows like "Ozzie and

PHILIP POWER

The components of the myth — property ownership (defined as single-family housing), nuclear family social structures (idealized as two-parent families with children) and concernfor safety and security (symbolized by chain link fences and security guards at subdivision entrances) - are highly individualistic and profoundly anti-collectivist. The reality is even more striking; with home ownership (and the property taxes that accompany it) their main trait, suburbanites are the first dominant demographic group in American history to define themselves as taxpayers.

That's why Democrats have been in so much trouble for so many years of the suburbanization of America.

With their traditional demographic base in the declining cities, their customary philosophy of redistributing wealth is out of synch with the new realities of the suburbs. And with their emphasis on government activism, they have earned the Republican label of "taxers and spenders."

All this is beginning to change. (Next week: The suburban political strategy.) Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper.

This 'choice' has destructive consequence exism is a terribly destructive weapon, particularly when it's used as a banner for the Deity. It is just one example of the consequences of the evangelical right's crusade for schools of choice, a cause rapidly being adopted by political candidates desperate to remain in office.

The biggest sham since the Know-Nothings ran a candidate for president schools of choice is an ill-conceived, fundamentalist Christian crusade to economically gut our public school sys tem, forcing future generations to live by the rules of a militant few.

To believe it couldn't happen would be nice, but dangerously naive.

Susan Stanley, an ambitious, wellgroomed, athletic young woman, knows better.

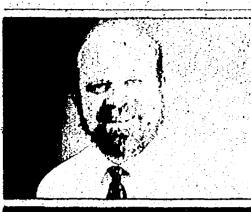

A student at Rochester Hills-based Lutheran High School Northwest, Stanley tried out as a kicker for the football team. And she made it, at least according to the school's coach, athletic director and principal. But Lutheran High School Association superintendent John Herzog thought otherwise.

As Herzog points out, it's a private. school's prerogative to do what it pleases. True enough, And that's why schools of choice implementation would be a danger to our freedoms.

Many of us feel that women are equal and should be allowed the same opportunities, whether it be on the gridiron or in the boardroom. Herzog obviously feels otherwise, at least when it comes to the gridiron. Under the present system, his beliefs are protected by the doctrine of separation of church and state. If Stanley and her family don't like it, they can leave, no matter how harsh that may seem.

Under a fully developed schools of choice system, persons of Herzog's mind could very well be making such "choices" for those who believe other-force, as was recently demonstrated during the Republican National Convention. Its goals are no less focused than those of fundamentalist movements in other parts of the world where to survive is to live by the beliefs of the few.

Seemingly harmless, the squeakyclean fundamentalists scoot around the country, smiling nicely, looking all pounding the belief that, if only we all shared the same "Christian principles," everything would just be fine. This assumption alone is enough to give any lover of democracy the shivers.

'Christian principles" for many of the fundamentalist right is prayer in schools; men dominating women who must, in turn, fulfill their role as obedient servants; worship of a Christian deity; a ban on women controlling their own bodies; capital punishment; and a government which is impotent in aiding those who are unable to help themselves.

These are values which fundamentalists certainly have a right to foster among themselves. But they are values that many others of us, including many Christians, feel are inappropriate in maintaining Constitutional freedoms if applied to society in general.

Sports have always been a lightning rod for those who wish to deny equality to other groups. For years women were forced to play half-court basketball in the belief they were physically inferior to men; blacks were banned from professional sports and then forbidden to play certain positions such as quarterback because some people believed that being born black made a person less intelligent.

At the turn of the century, women were forbidden from participating in the Olympic marathon in the mistaken belief they were unable to physically stand the rigors of the long run.

Each of these miguided notions has set back women and blacks in their battle for equality by reinforcing stereotypes.

Let's all of us who so wish pray that, by the turn of century, nice young women like Susan Stanley will be able to strive for any position in life they so desire, unfettered by the "choices" enforced by others.

He shares characteristic tactics with draft dodgers was a Vietnam draft dodger. Damn. I didn't want that to come out. But now that I've said it. I feel better. Sort of cleansed.

Maybe that's what Bill Clinton and Dan Quayle should do. Just come out and admit that they were draft dodgers and that, as such, they are not fit to be president or vice president of this great

It's still a little unclear to me why. the war that nobody liked, the war whose soldiers were spat upon and ostracized when they returned home, the war that should never have been has suddenly become the war to have served in if you expect to get elected to high office. But this is America and this is the '90s and Quayle and Clinton were draft dodgers. Like me.

Of course, I didn't know I was a draft dodger until I started reading about the sneaky tricks used by Quayle and Clinton to stay out of body bags in Vietnam. Some of those tricks sounded a little too familiar: college deferments; joining the National Guard, inquiring about ROTC programs, but never actually joining up; using political connections to choose law school over rice paddies.

And then Clinton comes up with that "I don't remember every detail that happened 23 years ago." Hah! Actions, obviously, of gutless wonders.

In my case it was over 30 years ago (that extra seven years explains why my memory isn't clear on the events): There I was, happily studying journalism at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth in 1960 or '61, when I opened the official envelope. This I do remember; It said "GREETING:" (not "GREETINGS" as it's usually misquoted) and you can figure out the

I'd been drafted! At that time male college students through the military physical at the local induction center. And, despite being blind as a bat without eyeglasses, I was classified 1-A!

What could I do? Graduate school came to mind. Stupidly (in retrospect) I wrote my draft board and asked if I should happen to request additional deferment for graduate studies in a year or two, what were the chances of getting it. I specifically stated in the letter that this was not a request for additional deferment, but merely an inquiry as to what my chances might be if I submitted such a request.

Within days or weeks (faulty memory again), I got a letter telling me that my request for additional deferment had been submitted to the board and rejected. Panic time again.

Navy OCS came to mind: Officers Candidate School. Better to be a Navy officer, I figured, than an Army grunt. I k the physical, waited for weeks to hear something - and was rejected. No reason given.

Try the National Guard, somebody said. Uh. uh. That's still the Army. The Air Force. With my eyes? Get real.

The Navy Reserve? Better than the alternatives. I applied, was accepted and joined up.

Two years active duty took me to The Philippines — 800 miles from Vietnam. Close enough for me. The four years reserve time turned into 12 or 15 years (I can't remember exactly) because I kept re-enlisting. I actually liked it.

But if I could have gotten those additional deferments for graduate school and had my name stricken from the draft list, would I have done it? You bet I would.

So, according to the standards being applied to Bill Clinton and Dan Quayle, that makes me a draft dodger. But at least I'm here to tell about it.

Chips' upset family affair

eorge Allen was famous for his locker room speeches during his days with the Washington Redskins.

'Forty-seven players together can't lose." was the cry from Allen, always the motivator and teacher of team unity.

Central Michigan took 50 players to East Lansing Saturday and proved that teamwork is still an integral part of the game of football. It's also means for success, so maybe this shocking 24-20 victory over Michigan State isn't so shocking the second time

Old-fashioned values can still work, even though we're inundated with a new set of values from the socalled "Me Generation."

But the redundant post-script theme following CMU's second straight upset of heavily favored MSU was straight out of Allen's textbook. I get the feeling this CMU team is a tight-knit group interwoven with the pledge of family values.

Dan Quayle would love these guys.

Wojcik knows role

Redford Thurston product Tim Wojcik, CMU's starting fullback, best exemplifies what the Chippewas spirit.

He knows his role and does it well. Wojcik probably will never get any individual glory, but he doesn't care. He carried the ball only once (for two yards) and caught only one pass (for six yards and a first down), but his value is measured in other ways, most notably as a crushing blocker, springing tailbacks Leo Griffin and Brian Pruitt for big gains.

"This team does everything together," says Wojcik, who was wearing his good luck charm from his junior. year in high school, a gray torn and tattered; sleeveless T-shirt screened with the words Thurston Football. "We came together Sunday morning after the Kentucky game (a 21-14 loss) and everybody decided right then we were going to play our hearts out."

As expected, Wojcik deflected all the praise to his coaches and teammates.

"This quarterback (Joe Youngblood) can do everything," said the 6-foot-1, 215-pound junior. "He can scramble, he's a great pressure quarterback and he makes my job easier because he's always in command. Joe Conley (CMU's former fullback) also taught me a lot ..

"And then there's Mike Nettie, he's my driving

Nettie leads defense

Nettie, a 6-3, 275 pound senior defensive tackle from Livonia Stevenson, is CMU's most recognized defensive stalwart, an all-Mid-American Conference pick last season.

Despite being double-teamed much of the afternoon, Nettie continually got off the deck, creating havoc for MSU's offensive attack.

Quick strikes propel Ocelots

Save made: Macomb Community College keeper Craig David manages to grab this loose ball before Schoolcraft's Andy Cosenza (11) can reach it. Cosenza got to another one, however, scoring once in the Ocelots' 2-0 victory.

In the first of a two - or maybe three - game series that decides the Region 12 champion, Schoolcraft College struck the first blow, defeating Macomb CC 2-0. The Ocelots had enough talent to stay unbeaten after

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

In a historical context, this match would not make the top 10 most memorable list.

Both coaches agreed on that point, which seemed surprising, considering how few things they agree upon. Still, no one associated with Schoolcraft College's men's soccer program would argue with the outcome - a 2.0 Ocelot triumph over arch-regional-rival Macomb Community College Wednesday at SC.

The result means that the Ocelots, winners of the last three Region 12 titles, have a leg up on Macomb, the only region team other than SC to travel to the NJCAA Inter-regional Tournament in the past 12 years.

Games between these two teams are always pivotal. Twice in the past three years, the home and home series has decided nothing the two teams split and did not lose again in the region, forcing a playoff.

And yet, while the drama seems never-yielding, the play Wednesday was not quite what one would hope for in a big game. It was kind of like the Super Bowl, which boasts the two best teams but rarely breeds a good game.

"Both teams looked young," said Macomb coach Mick Lakatos - a point well-taken, since both teams are pretty much rebuilt. "I've seen Schoolcraft and Macomb both play better games than this."

Obviously, Lakatos had more to grieve about. SC fumbled about through the first 20 minutes of the game, giving up nothing but not taking anything, either. "Our directive to our kids was, 'Don't fool around on defense. Don't meet again at Macomb Oct. 14:

take chances back there," said Ocelot coach Van Dimitriou.

Dimitriou figured SC was both better and far deeper in talent, particularly at midfield. Problem was, early in the game the Ocelots weren't showing it. 'We moved people around until we found the right combination," said Dimitriou.

That meant summoning Nate Stovall - who scored the region-clinching goal against Macomb in last year's playoff — and Sean Ryan from the bench. Both made their presence felt.

With about 15 minutes left in the first half, Stovall sent a pass into Tim Lampi on the right side. Lampi eluded one defender and rifled a shot at goal, which Monarch keeper Craig David just deflected over his head. No matter, the free ball bounced behind him, and Matt Lividini pounced on it and put it in to give SC a 1.0 lead.

It stayed that way less than two minutes. Again, it was Stovall starting the play, springing Andy Cosenza on a breakaway at midfield. Cosenza did the rest, outrunning one defender and faking David to the ground before burying his shot.

"The last 15, 20 minutes of the first half was about as good as we can play," said Dimitriou, then added, "Today was not one of our better days. I thought we should have played better than we did against them.'

The second half was one missed opportunity after another, by both teams. Fortunately for SC, scoring was not ur-

■ CHURCHILL 2, FARMINGTON 1:On Monday, host Livonia Churchill jumped out to a 2.0 halftime lead and went on to beat the visiting Falcons in a WLAA match.

Churchill is 3-1-2 overall, while Farmington dropped to 4-3.

Justin Monson, a junior center-back, scored at the 27-minute mark of the opening half from Vince Troiani.

Nine minutes later, Troiani scored from Jimmy DeMassa to give Churchill a two-goal bulge.

Farmington's Michael Giese cut the margin to one with a goal eight minutes into the second half. He scored when shadow Brian Peters, a senior, was carded for a yellow.

"He (Peters) did a great job marking him (Giese) all game lone and Monson was solid through the whole game as well," Churchill coach Mark Mason

Madonna 4th at challenging tourney

A challenge was expected. When heading to a tournament in which eight of 15 teams are ranked among the top 30 in the NAIA - four in the top 10 - it can be assumed a team will be tested.

Madonna University was, And the Fighting Crusaders handled it

They didn't win the Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis Volleyball Invitational, but they were in the running. Madonna finished with four wins in six matches to place fourth overall.

Host IUPUI, ranked second nationally, won with a perfect 6-0 record. Northwood Institute. Madonna's chief rival in NAIA District 23 and ranked fourth nationally, was second with a 5.1 mark.

"The competition was great at this tournament," said Crusader coach Jerry Abraham. "At times, I thought we played our best volleyball of the year. But we have a lot of . areas we need to improve. We need to block better, serve harder : , : Our serving needs to be more offen. sively oriented."

Madonna placed second in pool. play to IUPUL. The Crusaders, ranked 25th in the NAIA prior to the tournament, opened by beating No. 28 Harding University (of Searcy, Ark.) 15-9, 15-13. They followed with a 15-9, 15-10 triumph over Saint Xavier College (Chicago).

In their third pool play match, they lost to IUPUI 15-11, 15-11, but bounced back for a 15-12, 15-5 victory over Milligan College (Milligan, Tenn.). Madonna lost to Huntingdon College (Montgomery, Ala.) 15-13, 11-15, 15-10 in a battle of second place finishers in pool play, but turned in an inspired performance against sixth-ranked University of Montevallo (Montevallo, Ala.), winning 15-11, 15-13.

Elena Oparka sparked Madonna with a stellar hitting performance. Oparka delivered 68 kills in the tournament, averaging 5.2 a game while hitting .336. She added one solo block, 11 block assists and 34

Dana Finley finished with 56 kills (.274, 4.2 per game), five solos and 15 block assists, and a teambest 50 digs, while Tonia Smith had 41 kills (.184, 3.2) and 43 digs. Maureen Paulin contributed 46 digs, and setter Mazie Pilut had 134 assists to kills (11.1 per game).

On Tuesday, Madonna went up against another ranked team -Wayne State, rated 20th in the NCAA's Division II. And again, the Crusaders came away winners, beating the Tartags 15-11, 15-9, 15. 12 at Madonna.

The victory did not come easily. Madonna trailed 11-0 in the first game before staging a rally. Finley started it with three consecutive serving aces, and Smith followed with a pair of kills to put the comeback in motion.

Oparka and Finley finished with 13 kills apiece in the match, with Smith adding 10. Smith also had 18 digs; Paulin and Finley had 12 digs Pilut, though, sparked the win, according to Abraham. "I thought she set her best match of the season," he said. "We needed someone to lead the team out there, offensively and defensively, and she did." Pilut finished with 34 assists (11.3 per game).

Madonna improved its record to 10-3. The loss was WSU's first after six-straight wins.

Schoolcraft men win Region XII opener

There were problems with the field and with the officiating, but that's to be expected when you're the defending champion playing a conference rival on the road.

So Schoolcrast College's men's soccer team did what it had to do it won, beating Lakeland (Ohio) CC 4-0 Saturday in the Region 12 opener for both teams at Lakeland. The loss left Lakeland at 1-1 overall.

"I've got to give my kids credit," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. "They kept their cool through the whole game."

That was important, considering the Ocelots played Macomb CC their toughest foe in the region -Wednesday. A red-card by any of his players against Lakeland would have sidelined them for the Macomb match.

That never happened, although Dimitriou feared the officiating one Ocelot goal was disallowed because of a high kick by Andy Cosenza — might prompt it.

SC scored once in the first half, getting a goal by Dave Matovski, who intercepted a defender's pass intended for his own keeper and netted it. The Ocelots made it 2-0 16 minutes into the second half on a goal by Matt Lividini, who beat the Lakeland keeper to a ball, then put it in.

Dominic Vella made it 3.0, converting a pass from Matovski. Wayne Worosz capped the scoring, punching in a shot following a cross from Tim Lampi.

Matt Stabile was in goal for SC, but he didn't face a shot as Lake. land played defensively.

SC WOMEN'S SOCCER Former stars came back to haunt the Lady Ocelots Saturday. SC faced Eastern Michigan's club team, in Ypsilanti, and two Eagles in particular played key roles in SC's 3-2 loss.

Cindy Bowman, who led the Lady Ocelots in scoring in 1990, got two goals against them Saturday - including the game-winner with five minutes left. Bev DeJohn, a defender on the same 1990 SC team (which finished third in the NJCAA Tournament), prevented a goal by grabbing a ball that was about to go into the net.

De John was red-carded for her offense, forcing EMU to go the rest of the match with 10 players.

SC opened the scoring, getting a goal from Kelly Greaves in the first two minutes of the game. Kara Kramer assisted.

The Eagles scored twice to take a 2-1 lead at the half, SC tied it, with Greaves netting a goal following a throw-in from Amy Krajewski. That came with 30 minutes left to play, but the Lady Ocelots could not convert again - despite lots of chanc-

"We dominated the game," said SC coach Nick O'Shea, whose team is now 1-3. "Again, nobody on the offensive end stepped forward. We're still looking for fomeone to take charge out there."

Ocelot volleyball team places 2nd at tournament

Season openers for rebuilt teams are supposed to end up with the team showing promise, with areas needing work prominently exposed.

It seems Schoolcrast College's volleyball team does not subscribe to that theory.

SC opened the tournament by beating Illinois Central 15-11, 16-14 Friday. The Ocelots followed that with a 15-11, 15-12 victory over Delta, then split with Southwestern CC 14-16, 15-12, and Lake Michigan, 11-15, 15-9.

In Saturday's semifinals, SC met Mott CC and won, 15-10, 15-12.

Ray paces Western to SC title

BY BRAD EMONS

Jenniser Ray continued her reign as queen of the cross country trails, leading Walled Lake Western to the girls team title Saturday at the 15th annual Schoolcraft College Invitational.

Ray, a senior, won her third consecutive individual title, covering the primarily flat, but sometimes hilly 5,000-meter course in 19.03.9.

The Warriors scored 46 points to rival Walled Lake Central's 73 and defending champion Livonia Stevenson's 74 to win the crown. (See statistical summary.)

We have 11 girls who could run on the varsity at any given time, but it's good, friendly competition," Western coach Mary Bellinger said. "It's a hard-working bunch of girls who think and train, and do what the coaches tell them to do."

Ray was pushed during the first mile by eventual second place fin-Isher AJ. Koritnik of Stevenson before turning on the jets, winning by a 43-second margin.

"My goal was to break 19 today," Ray said. "I had a lot left. I'll just have to get it next week. Today I felt fine. I felt good. It. was the first time I was pushed to the mile, but I took off when I got to some of the hills. We work hard on the hills."

Ray is determined to make up for last year's 10th place showing at the state Class A team race after finishing third as a sopho-

"I've been training with the guys," she said. "But I still have to watch out for my knee. Right now it feels fine.'

Western's victory, however, wasn't complete without the efforts of sophomore Bridget Byrne, who took third overall in 20:07.8: junior Stacy Duff, 12th (21:22.1);

Brenda Halibozek, 13th, 21:22.5; and Shahnon Sturgean, 17th, 21:47.2. Freshman Kristen Heiob did not figure in the scoring, but added an 18th (21:50.4).

Bellinger graduated No. 2 runner Wendy Proos (Grand Valley State) and No. 4 runner Colleen Ortwine, but says "our number three and five runners are, stronger this year."

· Central was paced by fourthplace finisher Tabitha Belcher, a senfor, who was clocked in 20:59. Teammate Rachel Callcut, also a senior, took eighth in 21:03.7. Rounding out Central's contingent was Angie Acree, 16th; Laura Willem, 23rd; and Megan Donovan, 24th.

Stevenson had two runners in top 10. Koritnik and Bridget MacKinnon (fifth).

Kelly Prais, a sophomore, added a 15th, while Aimee Dwojak, another sophomore, finished 22nd. Freshman Sarah Rieder took 30th, while Stacy Prais, seeing her first action in two weeks (foot injury), finished 31st.

"Stacy is normally in our top three, but I didn't think we'd be able to beat Western if they were healthy," Holmberg said. "Rieder, our fifth girl, has had leg problems, but today she ran on guts." Holmberg is also encouraged by Koritnik's showing.

"She's trained real hard and has a good attitude," said the Stevenson coach. "She knows who Ray is, but she (Ray) opened up a gap at about the 11/2-mile mark. She went out and A.J. couldn't respond, but other than that, they ran about the same pace. Both should be in the top five in the state."

Livonia Churchill senior Kris Brazin, who was eighth, and Westland John Glenn junior Tina Moore, who was 10th, also made the All-Invitational squad.

Runnerup: Stevenson's A.J. Koritnik took second in the girls race.

Novi boys break through with 1-point victory

BY BRAD EMONS

Walled Lake Western's Dennis Keeney and Novi's Bob Smith compared notes immediately following Saturday's 27th running of the Schoolcraft College Invitational boys cross country meet.

And after a quick check of the scoring, Keeney was more than willing to concede victory after his Warriors fell short by one point, 47-48, in their bid to win a third consecutive title. (See statistical summary.)

'We knew they (Novi) were the team because they had been on our backs the last three years." the Western coach said. "It's nice for him (Smith) to take home the trophy because they've been here so

Novi, best man to the Warriors in 1991 and '91, won it by placing three in the top 10 individually and six overall in the top 20.

Novi senior John Crawford was also the overall winner with a time of 16:29.9 in the 5,000-meter race. Western's Art Schuetzler finished second (16:41.9), while Novi's Vince Meehan was third (16:52.8).

Rounding out the Novi contingent was Shawn Kelly (seventh), Shady Sardy (17th), Brian Grems (19th), and Erick Kelly (20th).

Schuetzler, meanwhile, was followed by Western teammates junior Trevor Keeney (ninth), junior Frank Stevens (11th), senior Tom Menzies (12th) and junior Brian Clark (14th).

"Less than a mile to go they (Novi) had us by three places,' Keeney said. "We made up one spot, but couldn't make up the last spot we needed.

"We came on strong at the end and our fourth and fifth man (Menzies and Clark) ran their best races of the year . . . that's who I was warried about. We wanted to win, but I've got to be happy about our performance. We're on schedule."

The Warriors, who opened the season with dual meet wins over Milford, Walled Lake Central and Farmington Harrison, appear to be making up for four key graduation losses - Bill Crosby, Jim Sweetman, Chris Crosby and Matt

Western was also missing Brandon Keeney, who has been out the past two weeks with an arch injury.

Spartan girls gain dual meet triumph vs. Patriots

Despite the rain and the mud, Livonia Stevenson easily ran past Livonia Franklin, 18-43, in girls cross country dual meet Tuesday at Cass Benton Park.

Sophomore Kelly Prais was the top runner, finishing the course in 22:06. Fellow Spartans Aimee Dwojak (23:08) and Bridget MacKinnon (23:12) followed in second and third place, respectively.

John Glenn foul shots sink Wayne

Free throw shooting was the difference Tuesday as Westland John Glenn earned its first girls basket: ball win of the season with a 41-34 triumph over rival Wayne Memori-

Glenn is now 1-3 overall, while Wayne drops to 2-3.

The host Rockets outscored Wayne 16-10 in the decisive fourth. quarter, hitting eight of 12 free throws. Wayne, eight for 27 overall from the line (29.6 percent), hit just two of seven in the final period.

"We were able to maintain our poise and we didn't let their defensive pressure get to us in the fourth quarter," Glenn coach Pat Bennett. said. "It's a morale booster for our team because we started out with a couple of tough opponents. This should help us going into our league schedule.'

Senior guard Jennifer Gorecki and senior center Nichole Johnson each tallied eight points for the winners. Kelly Klene added seven rebounds.

Lateefa Moore paced Wayne with a game-high 16 points. Zenobia Davis contributed eight.

On Saturday, host Wayne won the consolation game of the Taylor Center Tournament, beating the Rams, 64-13, as Moore scored 19 and Davis added 17.

Churchill whips C'ville

Livonia Churchill hit the Daly double Tuesday in a lopsided 53-18 win Tuesday over visiting Livonia Clarenceville.

Churchill is now 3.0 overall, already topping last year's season victory total of two. Clarenceville falls

Senior guard Chrissy Daly led the winners with a game-high 25 points, while sister Mary Daly, a sophomore guard, added 13. The two combined for four three pointers.

Annapolis tops Franklin

Cold free throw shooting (eight: for 20) was part of Livonia Franklin's undoing Tuesday as the Patriots (1-2) fell at Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 43-32.

out, but everyone right$now is working together. It's the same feeling we had in '90 when we went to the (California) Raisin Bowl,

"The younger players have been sitting back, but they're getting their chance. There's something about this team.'

Nose guard contributes

Westland John Glenn product Chris Scheffer is another one of CMU's role players, a nose guard on short-yardage situations. He was seeing his first action of the young season after missing the Kentucky game. (He was recovering from a cracked fibula after accidentally stepping into ditch while playing horseshoes this summer.)

The senior was on the field when MSU tailback Craig Thomas, trying to hurdle into the CMU end zone, coughed up the ball on a crucial second quarter play.

"We were confident coming down here because we knew what to expect," said Scheffer, a 6-foot, 270 pounder. "Offensively and defensively it all starts up front. A lot of seniors are close like the year we went to the Raisin Bowl. It will definitely help us, in the MAC (conference schedule)." Scheffer was also lined up nose-to-nose against his best friend and former high school teammate, Jeff Graham, MSU's center, who scored a personal victory amid MSU's gloomy defeat; coming back to start after a battle with Hodgkins Disease during the winter and spring.

Graham, however, left the game. late in the first quarter and never returned, injuring an ankle.

"It was hard lining up against him because we've been best friends for a long time," Scheffer said. "We talked on the phone Thursday night, nothing in particular about the game. I just wished him good luck. I just told him, 'If you beat us, you beat us, but we're coming after you guys.

"I just hope he's OK and it's nothing serious (the injury)."

Satterlee comes through

Another high school teammate of the two at John Glenn, starting linebacker Bryant Satterlee of CMU, also played a key role in the victory. The 6-2, 230 pound junior made four solo tackles and assisted on another. (He also recovered a fumble in Central's 20-3 win last season over State.)

"There are always bigger people, but we know these guys (MSU) and besides that, we're in the same state and that's enough incentive right there," Satterlee soid. "But the key thing is that we're a close team; a family. We'relike brothers. And hopefully the same feeling will contin-

As the gun went off and the CMU fans celebrated wildly, MSU's players walked off the field to a chorus of catcalls and insults from their own fans,

Yes, MSU is from the mighty Big 10 and is supposed to win against MAC schools. Maybe the loss of this nature will band the team together, or it could split it apart.

Amid last year's disappointing 3.8 season, I got the feeling that some Spartan players were more concerned about pro contracts and individual accomplishments.

The mood at MSU, at least during the preseason, was upbeat and positive with everyone working toward a common goal. I did notice, however, that Central played with more emotion and more heart.

Too had George Allen's still not around. I bet he could tackle a few of MSU's problems.

Big field ready for O&E golf tourney

BY STEVE KOWALSKI

The field is greater and the grass is greener for this weekend's O&E Men's Golf Tournament, held at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia.

There are 160 golfers signed up for the O&E, which is 30 more than registered for last year's four flights, according to Ken Johnson, assistant golf professional at Whispering Willows. New greens superintendent Al Otto has kept the course in great shape compared to last year when there was no greens superintendent, Johnson said.

The registration deadline was Saturday, Sept. 12.

Junior Mandi Falk figured in fourth first-place finishes Tuesday, leading state-ranked Livonia Stevenson to a 61-30 girls swimming victory at Northville:

The golf course is in such great condition that we've got interest back into it (the O&E)," Johnson said. "The last couple years Whispering Willows wasn't in as good condition, not up to par. Al is great. He's worked at Indianwood Country Club, Grosse Ile, a Florida resort course. He has so much talent, it's not even funny."

Now if the weather can cooperate. "It's always raining during the O&E, but it's supposed to be nice this weekend. That's what they say," Johnson said. Johnson said the championship champs who have signed up are Doug Cummings, Bob Urbats and Gary Cauzillo.

Another intriguing name who has signed up is Dean Kobane, a Livonia Churchill graduate who was second at this summer's Michigan Amateur Open held at Oakland Hills. Kobane never won the O&E championship flight, but "he'lli probably be the favorite after the year he's had," Johnson said.

Another contender could be Pat Stayer, an alternate for this weekend's Mid-Amateur Tournament at the Detroit Golf Club. Johnson said; Stayer will play the O&E if not see! lected at the last minute for the Mid-Amateur.

CC, Aggies romp to victory

A 24-play drive by Redford Catholic Central ended at the Windsor Brennan 1 yard line in the third quarter Saturday at Livonia Clarenceville.

But it didn't matter since the Shamrocks already were enjoying . a 42-14 lead.

CC added a two-point safety by Joe Pongracz and went on to win.

the non-league game, 44-14. The win gave CC a 2.0 overall

CC led 42.7 at halftime. The Shamrocks gained 362 yards in total offense and limited Brennan to 64: CC gained 325 yards on the ground, led by Tom Mondry's 84. yards on 18 carries and one TD.

Fullback Jason Krueger scored three times and finished with 59 yards on seven carries, while tailback Freddie Taylor had 79 yards on four carries, including a 64yard TD run on the third play of the game.

After Taylor's long run and the first of six straight extra points by placekicker Adam Borcherdt, Krueger scored from five yards out for a 13-0 lead. Dave Morelli's 45-yard interception return set up the Shamrocks' second score.

CC's Scott Cingolani recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff at the Brennan 23 and Krueger scored his second TD from the one with 2:01 lest in the first quarter. Borcherdt's PAT made the score 21.0.

The Shamrocks scored with 8:06 left in the half on Krueger's one-yard run. Krueger's 38-yard scamper and a 30-yard pass from quarterback Chris Barbara to Joe Lopez helped set up the score. Mondry's 2-yard run for a TD and Mark Buchanan's 43-yard run for the end zone ended the first half scoring for CC.

A 66 yard kickoff return set up Brennan's only score of the first half - which came on a 24-yard sweep, Brennan didn't complete a pass in 13 attempts in the first

Because of CC's ball possession, Brennan ran only four plays from scrimmage in the second half. Brennan's only second half score came after it recovered a CC fumble at the Shamrocks' 20yard line.

Aggies roll 20-0

Redford St. Agatha's bus ride home from Central Lake, located 40 miles north of Traverse City, didn't seem so long after Saturday's 20-0 victory.

"It was a good bus ride home," St. Agatha coach John Goddard said.

St. Agatha senior tailback Mike Tymczak gained 133 yards on 21 carries and acored on a 5yard run. The Aggies also scored on an 18-yard pass from quarterback Paul Parsell to Chris Wall and on Parsell's 1-yard run.

Parsell completed 6-of-9 passes for 72 yards and also ran 40 yards on a bootleg to set up his own score. He threw two interceptions.

The Aggies outgained Central Lake, a 1991 Class C playoff team, 221-91, in total yardage. Defensive lineman Liam Shivers and end Jason Stoll had two sacks each. Linebacker Willie Martell had one sack.

Thurston derailed

Redford Thurston sumbled twice inside its 30-yard line Saturday and host Allen Park capitalized for a 12-0 win in Tri-River League play.

The loss gave Thurston an 0-1 Tri-River League record and a 1-1 record overall.

Thurston lost a fumble in the first quarter at its own 25 and seven plays later, Allen Park halfback Jeff Koniarz ran in from the five for a 6-0 lead. The Eagles fumbled on their next possession and Allen Park recovered at the 18. The Jaguars took advantage, scoring on a 7-yard TD pass from Aaron Sikora to Koniarz for a 12-

The Eagles didn't take advantage of their breaks, coach Bob Snell said. Linebacker Vaughn Orluski intercepted an Allen Park pass on the third play of the game and returned the ball to the Jaguars' nine,

But a quarterback sack brought the Eagles out of field goal position. The Eagles also drove to Allen Park's nine in the fourth quarter but two sacks and a clipping penalty took them

"The kids gave a great effort, it was about as even a game as you'd want to see," Snell said. "You can't beat a team like Allen Park with that many mistakes."

Thurston finished with 96 total yards compared to Allen Park's 121. Thurston quarterback John Adams completed 12-of-20 yards for 123 yards but was sacked nine times for negative-55 yards. Jeff Lance and Kevin Parsell each caught five passes. The Eagles were held to 28 rushing yards on 18 carries.

The Eagles' defense was led by linebackers Brian Siriani and Orluski with 15 and 12 tackles, respectively. Adams had 13 tackles and nose tackle Oliver Rue had five tackles behind the line of acrimmage.

Chris Wolschon had a sack for the Eagles.

Lutheran Westland loses

Lutheran Westland wasted a couple of scoring chances Saturday afternoon and fell to Metro Conference foe Harper Woods, 12-6, at home.

Trailing 12-0 near the end of the first half, the Warriors had a fourth and goal at Harper Woods' 2-yard line and failed to score. Then, with Harper Woods leading 12.6 in the fourth quarter, Lutheran Westland reached the enemy's 12 before being penalized for holding and losing a fumble on the next play.

The loss dropped Lutheran Westland to I-1 overall. Harper Woods is undefeated in two games.

Harper Woods scored first after recovering a Lutheran Westland fumble at the Warriors' 19.

Harper Woods also had a 70yard, eight play scoring drive to take a 12-0 halftime lead.

A fumble recovery by Lutheran Westland's Keith Nash at Harper Woods' 30 set up the Warriors' only score in the third quarter. Steve Faith caught a 30-yard TD pass from Andy Manthei on the next play. The extra point missed, however, leaving Luther an Westland behind 12-6.

Can Franklin stop Harrison?

BY BRAD EMONS and DAN O'MEARA STAPP WRITERS

What is this, soccer? Your friendly prognosticators are all tied up after two weeks,

The smiling Irishman (Dan O'Meara) lost ground, going 11-3. Meanwhile, the frowning Welsh. man (Bred Emons) is cracking a grin these days after going 12-2.

So it's all deadlocked at 21-9 (cumulative total) going into the third week where league action in the Western Lakes Activities Association begins, along with the Northwest Suburban League.

There are some critical matchups this week, so let's go to it ...

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all 7:30 p.m.)

Liv. Churchill at Northville: The Mustangs (1-1) were lucky last week, edging Walled Lake Central, 35-34, after the Vikings fumbled away the game-deciding two-pointer. Churchill, on the other hand, is off to an 0-2 start and trying to snap a 20 game losing streak. PICKS - The volters run strong as Northville downs the Chargers.

N. Farmington at Liv. Stevenson: After a disappointing loss in their opener to Pontiac Northern, the Raiders bounced back last week by crushing Plymouth Canton as Todd Anderson piled up 132 yards and scored twice. Stevenson's young team, meanwhile, is still searching for its first win, but played Franklin tough last week after a slow start. PICKS - The Raiders fill their ark with another win.

Ypsi-Lincoln at Garden City: The Cougars (1-1) haven't fared well in the past against Ypsilantl Lincoln, but it appears times have changed. GC is much improved after losing a tough one last week to Romulus, 25-24, in overtime. The Railsplitters are struggling after losses to Tecumseh (45-12) and Dearborn Heights Robichaud (37-0). Halfback Kevin Cofield rushed for 98 yards in 14 carries and returned a kickoff 80 yards in the loss to Tecumseh: PICKS - The Cougars are back on the provi.

Dearborn at Redford Union: RU (1-1) is coming off a tough double overtime loss to Waterford Kettering, a team picked fourth out of five in the Greater Oakland League, Dearborn (2-0), led by wide recenier Ali Abdrabboh, has not been tested thus far after lopsided wins over Livonia Churchiil (28-6) and Allen Park Cabrini (39.0). PICKS - The Pioneers sound like the logical choice in this NSL

Red. Thurston at Dbn. Hts. Crestwood: Crestwood (1-1) opened In River League action with a 35 0 victory over rival Annapolis as Mark Lemarand scored four TDs. Thurston (1-1), meanwhile, is sound defensively, but offense. PICKS - A Crestwood victory makes sense to Emons, but O'Meara files with the Eagles.

Trenton at Wayne Memorial: Would the real Wayne (0-2) team please stand up? The Zebras gave No. 1 ranked Adnan fits in their opener, but last week got outplayed by the home of the Lazy Boys chairs (Monroe). Trenton, 0-9 for last year, is now 0.2 in 1992. PICKS ---Wayne shows true grit in this Wolverine A League tussle.

W.L. Central at Ply. Salem: The Rocks (1-1) were rocked last week by Farming. ton Harrison, 22-0, committing seven turnovers as the wishbone was snapped in half like a chicken bone. Central (1-1) could be unbeaten, but lost a heartbreak er last week to Northylle, 35-34. PICKS - Salem pulls some witchcraft to beat the Vikings.

Ply. Canton at W.L. Western: Wart a minute, is that Walled Lake Western (2-0) ranked No. 5 in the state Class A rankings by the Detroit News? The Warnors are not quite ultimate yet, but have scored 65 points in two victories. They also have a fine kicker in soccer player Travis Ilacqua. Canton (0-2), meanwhile, is searching for the right stuff. PICKS - Western makes it three straight.

Lutheran Westland at Clarenceville: The first-ever meeting between the two schools in a Metro Conference encounter. Clarenceville, despite an 0-2 start, has played the tougher schedule, losing to Detroit Lutheran West and Center Line St. Clement, two playoff teams from a year ago. The Warrors, meanwhile, have only two touchdowns in two games, but the defense has been stubborn, allowing just 12 points. PICKS - Clarenceville breaks through for its first win.

Bishop Borgess at Millington: A strange matchup, but a matchup nonetheless. The Spartans (0-2) have gotten off to a shaky start, whacked last week by Ionia, 47-12. Millington (1-1), nicknamed the Cardinals, is one of the top teams in the thumb, rated No. 4 in Class B (preseason) by the Detroit Free Press. Millington went 9-0 last year before losing to eventual state champion Monroe St. Mary's in the first round of the playoffs. Quarterback Matt Hoard, a 6 foot-5, 205pound senior, is a Division I prospect. while running back Pete Schwab gained over 1,000 yards last year. Millington beat Essexville Garber last week, 21-0, after losing its opener to Corunna, 29-19. PICKS - Millington puts Borgess under its thumb.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all 1 p.m. unless noted)

Farm, Harrison at Liv. Franklin; This is the key matchup of the week in the Western Lakes (Western Division). Franklin (24 O) has the horses, but will they run an even race for four quarters, avoiding silly penalties and mental mistakes? Hamson (2-0) is still Harrison after victories over Dearborn Divine Child and Plymouth Salem. The Hawks prey on other teams' miscues. Could be a duel of quarterbacks, too - Jeff Cisio fis his shoulder OK?) for Harrison, vs. David Little for The Patriols: PICKS - Harrison spoils Franklin's up-Westland Glenn at Farmington: Could be the mismatch of the day in the WLAA. The Rockets (2-0) haven't been tested for lift-off despite lopsided wins over Detroit Murray-Wright (35-7) and Churchill (43-14) Farmington (0-2) is reeling again after getting thumped by West Bloomfield and Walled Lake Western. PICKS -Glenn gets it cranked up.

Redford CC at Toledo St. Francis (7 p.m. at Glass Bowl): Wasn't Toledo St: John's supposed to be the best team in northern Ohio and also ranked nationally? Two weeks ago, CC (2-0) pounded St. John's at the Silverdome, 36-0. St. Francis (the word is) is really the best Toledo has to offer after victories over Uma Senior (22-0) and highly-regarded Toledo Whitmer (24-19), Tailback Charlie Harshman had 158 yards in 27 carries in the win over Whitmer. The All-Boys Division ! school also played Ohio's most difficult schedule last year, going 6-4. CC's opponent loves power football, running the ball up the gut. PICKS - The Shamrocks couldn't ask for a better set of circumstances, rising to the occasion once

St. Agatha vs. Barrie (Ont.) Collegiate (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field): Two years ago, Barrie beat the Aggies, 6-0. The Vikings, a school with an enrollment of 1,100 students (through grade 13), is located north of Toronto off Lake Simboe (ski resort). The Vikings have not suited up yet for a game. Canadian rules are not in effect, it's four downs and 11 per side. Barrie coach Gary Inness is a former goaltender for the Washington Capitols. The Aggies (1-1) don't know what to expect. PICKS - The Aggies win in overtime, says Emons, but O'Meara sings "O' Can-

Plymouth Guild stages 'Veronica's Room'

Plymouth Theatre Guild opens. its season on Friday with "Veronica's Room," a thriller by Ira Levin. The play showcases local talent.

By Julie Brown STAFF WRITER

The upcoming Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Veronica's Room" isn't the most typical community theater offering. The thriller by Ira Levin will be presented 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Sept. 18-19, 25-26 and Oct. 2-3, and 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27. Performances will be in the Water Tower Theatre, on the campus of Northville-Regional Psychiatric Hospital, 41001 W. Seven Mile, between Haggerty and Northville roads in Northville Township. For ticket information, call 349-7110.

"I think it's a rare opportunity for people in the community to see something that's not produced a lot," said Sally Dubats, director of "Veronica's Room," the season opener for the 46th PTG season.

There was stiff competition at the auditions, and the four cast members -Kathleen Lietz, Francine Hachem, Dave Price and David McKnight have been great to work with, said Dubats, a Madison Heights resident.

"I think everyone knew how much talent was in the auditions." The play gives actors an opportunity to explore humanity's darker side, going from sweetness to evil.

"This play gives them an opportunity to do both." Other PTG productions for the 1992-93 season will be Thornton Wilder's "Matchmaker," the musical "Fiddler on the Roof" and the British farce "Noises Off." "I think they were looking for something a little different for this season," said Dubats, artistic director for West End Productions of Livonia. "It has for PTG productions are larger. more tension than, say, an Agatha Christie."

The thriller involves an apparently :

forts to force a young woman to assume the identity of the long-dead Veronica-"They coerce her to dress up in her clothes and impersonate her."

Ira Levin's also known for 'Rosemary's Baby" and "Death Trap." The production of "Veronica's Room" isn't intended for children: Dubats gives it a PG-13 rating.

"Act II is just incredibly tense." Rehearsals began about two and a half months ago, so cast members and others working on the production are all set for opening night. Typically, casts

"We try and help our membership by having as many roles as possible," said play's a special one, so PTG members decided to stage it.

"We really wanted to go with it," said Anderson, an educational aide at Field Elementary School in Canton and codirector of the East Middle School drama club.

Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild and other area groups have done similar productions, and community the ter isn't necessarily all sweetness and light. "I think theaters have come a long way in their willingness to risk. Younger memberships that weren't brought up on the '50s Broadway style" are a factor, Duhats said.

The set's designed to convey the tone -Janice Anderson of Canton, assistant - of the production, right down to the li-- free. Season tickets are also available, charming elderly couple and their ef- director of "Veronica's Room." The lac and gray wallpaper, "I really wanted as are group rates.

to go with a dissonant flavor on the set. It lends itself to an cerie tone," the director said.

Admission is $8 at the door for adults ($7 in advance), $7 for seniors/youth at the door ($6 in advance). Advance sale tickets are available at the Penniman Deli, 820 Penniman in Plymouth, and at Sir Speedy Printing Center, 485 S. Main in Plymouth. (For tickets by mail, send to PTG-Tickets, P.O. There will be an opening night special for theater-goers buying one $8 ticket who will receive a second ticket

Van Johnson to star at Birmingham Theatre

Van Johnson, star of stage, films and Johnson portrays Gramps, a loving cur- reer began on stage in a show with longtelevision, will play the role of a lifetime in Birmingham Theatre's season-opening production of "On Borrowed Time," by Paul Osborn. The play opens for a five week engagement, 8 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 22 through Oct. 25. Tickets available at the Birmingham box office, 211 S. Woodward, 644-3533, and all Ticketmaster outlets.

Although remembered as the frecklefaced all-American romantic comedy actor he played in over 125 movie musicals, contedies and dramas, this time mudgeon of a grandfather to his young grandson, Pud.

Recently orphaned Pud turns to his salty-tongued, devoted grandfather for solace and life lessons. Gramps is determined to protect Pud from a conniving do-gooder aunt who wants to get her hands on Pud and his inheritance. Although his health is failing, Gramps does some pretty fancy maneuvering to hold the Grim Reaper at bay.

Johnson's appearance, may remind his fans that his long and illustrious catime friend Lucille Ball. In recent years he's appeared on stage in "The Music Man," "La Cage aux Folles," "There's a Girl in My Soup," "On a Clear Day," and "Showboat."

In his many movies he co-started with Spencer Tracy, Clark Gable, Elizaboth Taylor, Judy Garland, Humphrey Bogart, Gene Kelly and many others.

He, and they, can be seen almost any night on late night television in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," "Command Decision," "Brigadoon," "A Guy Named Joe," and oth-

Poll shows support for ban on tobacco sales to children of tobacco products through vending machines and 66 percent support prohibiting tobacco companies from giving away free samples, according to an American Lung Association/American Cancer Societysponsored survey released earlier this week.

Larry A. McAllister, chief executive officer of the American Lung Association of Michigan, at a news conference called on legislators to "take a stand now to stop the flow of tobacco products to the hands of our children."

Citing the strong public support. for measures which would help to protect the health of minors, McAllister called for support of bills to ban free distribution of tobacco samples and also to restrict access to vending machines.

"The state of Michigan must now enforce the laws it has on the books. We must also pass stricter laws prohibiting access - or we will pay for our indifference with lives, and also with the loss of federal dollars," he said.

In explaining the loss of federal dollars if enforcement is not stepped up, Ron Davis, M.D., chief medical officer of Michigan's Public Health Department, noted, "With new federal regulations, we now risk losing between 10 and 40 percent of gan voters support banning the sale. federal drug education money if we do not have laws in place that effectively prohibit the sale and distribution of tobacco products to those under the age of 18. We must confront the fact that current tobaccocontrol laws are simply not work-

> Federal drug education funding is threatened as a result of the "Synar", Amendment," a recent amendment to the Federal Alcohol Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration (ADAMHA) block grant which requires states to pass laws that prevent minors from purchasing tobacco products.

Further results of the Lung Association/Cancer Society survey indicate that 63 percent of Michigan voters would favor licensing tobacco retailers just as is currently required of those who sell alcohol.

"Each day, more than 3,000 American teenagers start smoking, and we know that the addictive qualities of tobacco, not unlike those of heroin and cocaine, will keep many of these youngsters 'hooked' for decades," noted Kathy Johnson, spokesperson for the American Cancer Society's Michigan Division, Inc.

"Ninety percent of today's smokers began their addiction as children and adolescents and three bills awaiting Senate action are de-Seventy-three percent of Michle Michlgan's nearly $54 million of signed to help stop the flow of tobacco products to minors," Johnson added.

> Rep. Mary Brown, D. Kalamazoo, is sponsoring a bill that will limit tohacco vending machines to places. where children cannot gain access, Rep. Jessie Dalman, R-Holland, is sponsoring a bill that will prohibit the free distribution of tobacco products through the mail and Rep. Michael Bennane, D. Detroit, has put forward a bill that will prohibit the sale of single cigarettes.

Sen. John Pridnia, R-Oscoda, chair of the Senate Health Policy Committee, is spearheading the passage of these bills through the Senate.

Other survey results today showed overwhelming public support for establishing smoke-free environments. According to Albert Sparrow, M.D., a pediatric cardiologist and chair of the Michigan Coalition on Smoking OR Health, "Ninety percent of the public supports a ban on smoking in all K-12 schools, which really shows that the public has come a long way in understanding the health hazards related to being exposed to secondhand smoke."

Eighty-one percent of those surveyed felt that private businesses should be required, at a minimum, to separate smokers from nonsmokers at the worksite.

Work starts on new senior apartments

The site where automotive plo-: neer Henry Ford was born will soon become home to one of America's most comprehensive life care retire. ment communities.

Ground breaking for Henry Ford Village, which will be built over the next five years on a 35-acre parcel of farm land at the southeast corner of. Ford Road and Greenfield Avenue in Dearborn, was held Wednesday. .

It is here that Henry Ford was born in 1863 and where he spent his boyhood years. Henry Ford Village's one- and two-bedroom apartments will accommodate more than 1,000 independent residents taking advantage of the community's 24-hoursecurity, on-site health care, daily dining and activities.

The new community is a joint venture of Ford Motor Land Development Corp. and Retirement & Health Services Corp., a development firm that built and manages a 1,500-resident community near Baltimore, that is often cited as the most progressive life care community in America.

An information center has: opened on the site and more than 200 people already have made deposits, according to John Erickson, president of Retirement & Health Services Corp.

"We're very pleased with the strong inferest that has been shown in this development and are confident it will be a great success," Erickson said.

"Construction on the first phase will begin this fall and the first units will be open by Sptember 1993," Erickson added.

"We wanted the ultimate use of the original Ford family farm to be a fitting tribute to Henry Ford's lifetime of contributions," said Wayne Doran, Ford Land chair-

The community will have three dining areas for independent residents, a chapel, medical center, its own in-house television channel for televising community information and events, on-site college courses, on-site banking, shopping, hair salons and a myrlad of activities reflecting the varied interests of the community's residents.

Like many life care communities popular throughout America, Henry Ford Village plans to offer several levels of personal and medical services so that residents will not have to move if their health needs change.

Although the community's daily emphasis will be on its active, independent lifestyle, on-site nursing care will be provided to meet the short or long term needs of resi-

Home health care will be available to residents should they need temporary care in their apartments following a hospitalization. The Village's on-site medical center will be staffed by physicians who specialize in geriatrics medicine.

Visiting specialists such as cardiologists, ophthalmologists and orthopedic surgeons will also hold regular office hours in the medical

Refundable entrance deposits will range from $63,000 for studio apartments to $79,000 for one-bedroom apartments and $135,000 for two- bedroom, two-bath apart-

Henry Ford Village will become an integral part of the 2,360 acre Fairlane community being developed in Dearborn and adjacent Allen Park by Ford Motor Land Development Corp.

Troupe finds space beyond final frontier

BY PATRICK KEATING SPECIAL WRITER

Twenty-six years have passed since the television series "Star Trek" first aired on NBC. Today that series has spawned six movies and an immensely successful second series, "Star Trek: The Next Generation," which recently finished its fifth season.

But what is it that has made a television show which ran for only three seasons and never made the top 10 in the Nielson ratings become a cultural phenomenon? What's so great about "Star Trek?"

When "Star Trek" premiered in September 1966, it was the first adult-oriented science fiction series with continuing characters. Unlike previous serious science fiction programs like "Twilight Zone" and "The Outer Limits," "Star Trek" was not an anthology series. It offered the same characters week after week along with stories involving more than just robots; ray guns and the monster of the week.

Unlike most previous science fiction TV series and movies, "Star Trek" themes were not centered on intergalactic wars or alien invasions. They presented a. positive view of the future and taught us that diversity, not conformity, should be celebrated.

The mission of the Enterprise was to explore the galaxy and contact other life forms, not conquer other worlds. In the turbulent '60s, when the country was divided, "Star Trek" aired with a hopeful look at the future. Not only were men and women of different nationalities working together, but the citizens of earth were working side by side with people from other planets.

There is more to its appeal than a positive theme. The series also offered strong characters who were believable because they were fallable.

Believable characters

Captain Kirk was modeled after C.S. Forester's captain Horatio Hornblower. He often sought the advice of his friends Spock, the logical Vulcan science officer, and Dr. Leonard "Bones" McCoy, the emotion-charged chief medical officer.

Each provided Kirk a different viewpoint. Similarly, the half human Spock could view humanity both in general and on his own by observing the different emotional attitudes of Kirk and McCoy.

Other characters were just as complex. Ask Chief. Engineer Montgomery Scott to do the impossible in two weeks and he'd do it in one. Apart from spending shore leaves catching up on technical manuals, Scotty is a collector of antique weapons.

Helmsman Hikaru Sulu is not only a capable bridge officer, but also a botanist and fencer. He fancied himself a swashbuckler not unlike D'Artagnan.

Communications officer Uhura was a strong willed, effective officer who spent her spare time entertaining the crew with her music. Navigator Pavel Chekhov, the youngest of the group, displayed the rashness and impatience of youth, along with a strong sense of ethnic pride, claiming everything was "invented in Russia."

These characters worked so well because they were created by a talented group of actors. Unfortunately, with the exception of William Shatner and Leonard Nimoy, the cast of "Star Trek" has by and large been overlooked by the general public - a pity considering their accomplishments.

Distinguished careers

DeForest Kelley (McCoy), now all but retired from acting, has appeared in more than 20 movies and 50 television programs. Especially in the many westerns he appeared in, Kelley had a distinguished career as a screen villain.

James Doohan (Scott), also all but retired, began his career on radio, appearing on more than 3,500 programs. He has taught acting at New York's Neighborhood Playhouse and has appeared in numerous television shows.

George Takei (Sulu) recently made the movies "Prisoners of the Sun" and "Return to the River Kwai." During the past 40 years, he has appeared in more than a dozen films and more than 40 TV shows.

See TREKKERS, 211

Staying power: More than 25 years after it aired, "Star Trek" is still going strong and its stars like Nichelle Nichols (Uhura), James Doohan (Scotty) and William Shatner (Captain Kirk) are finding new adventures.

Ear me: Brenda Lee Janey may not have grown those ears herself, but she's proud to sport the recognizable Vulcan trademark.

Twenty-six years ago, "Star Trek" made waves on the TV screen as the crew of the USS Enterprise explored the final frontier. The spirit of the show lives on in reruns and serves as a guide for the USS Intrepid, one of the country's largest "Star Trek" clubs.

By Sue Mason Staff Writer

When Gene Roden. berry launched "Star Trek" in 1966, he boldly went where no other television show had gone before.

What he didn't anticipate was his fictional five-year mission that 26 years later shows no sign of ending.

More than two decades after "Star Trek" went off the air, faded prints are still playing the rerun circuit, its aging stars are still saving the universe on the movie screen, and fans are flocking to conventions and clubs to keep the spirit alive.

Why? Ask Cynde Boroff of Livonia. This trekkie recalls "Star Trek" as a "novel, innovative TV show" that addressed some pretty controversial is-

The "Star Trek?" A show where Romulans hide their evil doings with their cloaking device, where superhuman Kahn and cohorts roamed the lot of other people. Need proof? Just galaxy, and the crew of the USS En-

What Leonard Nimoy was to the Enterprise, Boroff is to the Infrepid club - the first officer, serving under "captain" Anthony Lesnick, a Dearborn attorney. Line and staff officer positions made popular by the TV show have been adopted as club offices.

Like the TV show, there's a chief medical officer, Doreen Ganos who, unlike her Hollywood counterpart Deforest Kelly, is really a surgeon at Henry Ford Hospital. Diana Brown of Dearborn is the club's version of chief engineering officer Commander Scott. And Wendy Nelson of Westland is to the club what Lt. Uhura was to the USS Enterprise, the communications officer.

A lot in common

"You take people from a widely divergent background, put them together and it's amazing how much they have in common," Boroff said. "We have white collar people as members; we have blue collar people as members. We're all here because a love of the TV show, the movies, the novels and the models.'

But before you begin thinking these people run around in plastic Vulcan ears and homemade Federation uniforms, think again. Yes, the members are "trekkies," but they devote much of their time to the club's goal - "making the 23rd century a reality today."

"Our goal is more than cursory," said Professionals, skilled tradesmen, Lesnick, We're more than a 'golly, gec whiz, we like 'Star Trek.' The people involved in 'Star Trek' are very forward thinking. When we say we want the 23rd century today it means we want to make this time better now.

"It sounds corny, but it's a way of bringing out the best in people."

Yes, the club has it's share of "Star Trek" related activities. Members were at a "Star Tek" convention in Dearborn in July, and social functions range from an all-galaxy bowling tournament to video marathons.

But matching the list of social functions is a list of charitable activities. They've collected thousands of Campbell Soup labels for Detroit's Headstart program, worked at the annual Channel 56 auction, delivered clothing and household items to the Detroit Rescue Mission and provided the beverages forpicnics at the Penrickton Center for the

"In essence, we try to be a microcosm of what things would be in the future," Lesnick said. "We're interested in secing a society where Jim, our black member, Susan, our Jewish member, and Bill, our handicap member, are just Jim, Bill and Susan.

"We don't take any political position. We don't force a non-belief on anyone. Everyone can be who they are in this club."

The club has only been around for five years and in that time has grown to one of the largest such clubs in the country. It started out with a core group of people met at a "Star Trek" conven-

The creator

"Star Trek" was the brainchild of the late Gene Roddenberry, a former police officer, who had a vision he wanted to share. Despite pressure from network and studio executives, Roddenberry stuck to that vision. The result changed the face of American culture.

· The ideals and themes embodied in "Star Trek" continue to be present in "Star Trek: the Next Generation." Perennially among the top five syndicated shows, it is able to address issues the first series did not. And with Nimoy's appearance last fall, the ties that bind the two series grow stronger.

"Star Trek" is about the future. but it is also about the present. It allows us to reflect on where we are now and what we are capable of achieving. To paraphrase the late Robert F. Kennedy, "Star Trek" looked at the way things could be and asked "why not?"

Good reading: Intrepid Club member Barron Featherston fills up a slow moment during a recent "Star Trek" convention with another of his interests, sci-fi comic books.

ANNIVERSARIES

Wesley and Dorsey Perkins

Family and friends gathered at the First Baptist Church Aug. 15 to honor golden jubilarians Wesley Ray (Bob) and Dorsey Morgan Perkins of Greenbush, Mich., formerly of Garden City.

The couple renewed their wedding vows prior to the reception. They were married on Aug. 17, 1942, in Richardsville, Ky.

Joining in the celebration were their children - Patricia Ann Kibe and husband Neel of Westland, Jearline Dee Duffer of Phoenix, Ariz., Bobbie Ray Perkins of Sulphur, Okla., Brenda Kay Kilmartin and husband Howard of Garden City and Shelby Ross Perkins and wife Kelly, also of Garden City.

The Perkins also have 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchil-tion. That meeting led to more meetings and the club's start.

Positive outlook

"From the first meeting, we were a positive forward looking group," said Boroff said. "We knew we could go where no club had gone before.'

A lot of the members are second and third generation fans and the club's setup reflects that.

The children of adult members are enrolled in the Intrepid's academy. As cadets, they have meetings and outings designed to enrich their minds and lives through education, experience and adventure. They graduate at age 16, receiving the rank of ensign and their first year free as an adult crewmember.

Boroff got hooked on "Star Trek" through her mother, "an original fan." She remembers playing "Star Trek" with her cousins, but didn't get into fandom until she ran out a supply of "Star Trek" books. She heard there were books at a convention and that's where she ran into her fellow club members.

She has passed her avocation on to her daughter who is trying to start a "Star Trek" club at school. "My husband teases me about it," she said. "He's into sports and I'm into 'Star Trek.' The club is trying to get sponsors for a talk show that it hopes to air over WCAR-AM radio. "Talk Trek" would be patterned after a similar call in radio show on KIEV-AM in Los Angeles, Calif. Member Cheryl Fitzmaurice of Livonia has had the job of lining up sponsors to buy the air time. It has been slow going and a tentative July start-up has been shelved indefinitely. Fitzmaurice would have co-hosted the show with Lesnick and had lined up Diane Carey of Flint, author of five "Star Trek" novels.

But that isn't slowing down the club. It's busy planning and anniversary dinner and organizing its monthly meetings. The club meets at the Dearborn Civic Center, alternating between first Saturday and first Sunday of the month September through May. During June, July and August, meetings are held on the first Saturday of the month.

For those interested in the club, it has it's own 800 number - 1.800. NCC-1730. And true to its goals, "everyone is welcome; the only requirement is a love of 'Star Trek,' " Boroff said.

"When people think of a 'Star Trek' association they have a preconceived notion," said Lesnick. "But if they take the time to find out about us, they'll be pleasantly surprised.

"A lot people, because of our idealism, view us as naive. We're not naive; we have a different view, a positive view of things. We believe that each of us can do something to better the world. All we have to do is get up and do it."

Yes, this is indeed very good, legible handwriting and carries a positive connotation. The size of one's handwriting is often equated with shines in his own light. The miniscule size of this handwriting also tells us his concentration is highly developed. He can focus in on one thing at a time and give total attention to whatever he is doing, be it work, play, studies, etc. When involved in a task he does not like interruptions or distractions.

Since our writer has asked about his relationship with other people this might be a good time to turn in that direction.

He appears to be a reserved young man. He needs time and space for himself. Friends are usually selected with care and possibly a certain amount of caution. Those with similar interests would have the most appeal for him, I believe. Like many young people he doesn't want to appear different than his peers. I do not know what has happened to our writer in the past, but I think it has had considerable effect on him. Seemingly, he wants to separate himself from it, but at the same time there is some reluctance to move out to the future and other people. He will be happier when this is resolved.

His handwriting suggests a mature 17-year-old. His main area of interest is in the mental realm. Precision, order and neatness characterize his activities. Challenges that stimulate his mind are most mean. ingful to him. Logic, curiosity and

But the Bible clearly, leaches that He only came to die for those whom He refers to as "His people" (Matt. 1:21) and "His sheep" (John 10:14-15). Each one that Jesus died for will be tertainly and eternally saired, even as Jesus himself said (John 17:24). If you're hungry to learn about the true Christ of the Bible, come study with us

Churches reach out to make the disabled feel welcome

BY ARLENE FUNKE STAFF WRITER

Mike often grumbles, that the pastor of his suburban Detroitchurch "mumbles" during the ser-

"Why doesn't he talk louder?" wonders Mike, a retirce in his early 70s.

Mike's pastor uses a microphone. But maybe Mike is becoming hard of hearing.

There is some stigma - usually self-imposed - to being hearing impaired," said Patrick Haggerty, 42, a hearing-impaired accountant from Canton. "The individual (who is) hearing impaired doesn't want to appear conspicuous or isn't aware there is a problem."

Haggerty is a member of Geneva Presbyterian Church of Canton. Several years ago, during a remodeling, the church installed special audio equipment to help hearing impaired worshipers.

"I think it was a recognition that some people in the congregation needed assistance." Haggorty said. "I was asked for my input."

In recent years, religious institutions have stepped up efforts to meet the needs of people with physical limitations.

"We want to include all people in meaningful participation," said Howard Hoeflein, director of the office of life and dignity for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The archdiocese, with more than 300 churches in Detroit and surrounding areas, is embarking on a five-year plan to bring its churches to barrier free status.

Under Michigan law, all public places must be accessible to dis-

Often, improvementa come as churches are remodeled. Changes include widening doorways, installing ramps and curb cuts and making other adjustments so wheelchairs can enter buildings.

Some churches have installed audio equipment for use by the hearing impaired. A few provide sign-language interpretation during services.

Large-print prayer books or service outlines, where available, make it easier for visually handicapped people to take part.

Equal opportunity

"You're not giving (handicapped) special treatment, you're giving them equal opportunity," said Haggerty, who teaches math and accounting at local community colleges and considers himself van advocate for hearing impaired.

Haggerty, whose deafness was diagnosed in early childhood, uses two hearing aids. Handicapped people often feel isolated, but they must make their needs known, he said.

"Most churches are very willing," according to Haggerty, "One of the things we have to overcome is people's reluctance to appear different by using them.'

Geneva has three pocket-sized receivers which the hearing impaired can use. The receivers pick up signals fed from a microphone through FM transmission.

An earphone, earplugs or an audio loop — a coil of wire worn around the neck — is used by the person:

"It's more relaxing because I don't have to strain (to hear),"

Haggerty said. "I'm the only one who uses it regularly. Others use it occasionally."

The Rev. Richard Yost, fluent in sign language, ministers to the Catholic deaf of west-side Detroit and suburbs.

Yost, 45, is based at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Redford Township. Yost has normal hearing, but has worked with and-counseled deaf people for several

The church's regular 9:30 a.m. Sunday Mass has signing. Many hearing-impaired people travel long distances to attend. A social hour follows.

Help for children

Around 10 hearing-impaired children attend twice-monthly religious education classes at Loretto. Another location for this ministry is the St. John Deaf Center in Warren.

"Such services offer what we hearing people take for granted." Yost said. "Families with children have to make tremendous sacrifices to find programs for their children to 'fit in.'"

Yost also teaches sign language and sensitivity training for hearing people to communicate with deaf friends, family and co-work-

His parishioners aren't interested in an audio loop, Yost said.

Ward Evangelical Presbyterian Church of Livonia has some 5,000 members, many with special physical needs.

The church, built 36 years ago, has made improvements to increase accessibility, said Kelly

Sharkey, communications coordinator for the church.

The building has an elevator and, around 11/2 years ago, the restrooms were remodeled for greater access to wheelchairs.

According to Sharkey, Ward has had an usher who used a wheelchair. And there is a Sunday school class for developmentally handicapped adults.

The Archdiocese of Detroit in November will publish an updated manual with information about parking, entrances, interior access, elevators and restrooms at its churches.

Some parishes have the audio loop. Some are stocked with largeprint missalettes.

"Our goal is to have one church in each vicariate (geographical cluster) with these services," said Hoeslein.

The archdiocese, which began addressing the needs of the disabled during the 1960s, has formulated a new plan. During the next few years, churches that can afford to will be required to bring their buildings to current access guidelines.

In some cases, this will be a formidable challenge, Hoeslein said. Many churches were built decades ago with steps and narrow entrances. Some parishes simply cannot afford costly repairs.

Churches with financial hardship may receive assistance, including help and advice from churches which have already undergone renovation.

"Our goal is to get each parish to do as much as it can by the target date of January 1998," Hoeflein said.

The Cohns' play is challenging

The hope of fun-loving ordinary people when they begin at this game is that with practice and resolution they will develop and possibly experience extraordinary possibilitles.

Two who did are Nancy and Jerry Cohn from Novi, who are also one of the nicest and most precise. partnerships we have in our suburban game. Because of their many other preoccupations, their play is limited, but what a challenge and pleasure when they let themselves get involved.

I first met them at Dave and Judy's Saturday evening duplicate some two years ago, and since that first confrontation I have mounted a major respect for their initiative and intuition. In their playing presence, one perceives an uncommon regard each ion, of striking significance. The immortal Howard Schenken once said, "The most important person at the table is your partner." The Cohns have been active duplicate stayers for a couple of decades, attaining their life master rating some 14 years ago. Since then, they have compiled something in excess of 2,000 points, which is well above most of our local performers. I was pleasantly surprised to learn of their recent transformation from standard American to Edgar Kaplan and Al Sheinwold's exacting bidding methods, but this system is has for the other's ability and judgment and this is, in this one's opinactually best suited to pairs who spend most of their play together. I asked Jerry what was the occasion for their most memorable celebration. His reply was singular. "The London, Ontario, regional of '83. We got lucky and won the mixed pair event with 240 tables in session. Nancy played superbly!" Today's hand comes from that game and you will enjoy their exceptional defensive performance.

Jerry's diamond queen was allowed to hold, and that caused him much concern. What was declarer up to? Nancy had played her seven and declarer his deuce. Had East started an echo to show attitude or was it only for count? Jerry concluded to continue the suit which declarer won with his ace.

At trick (3) a trump to dummy's king and back to his spade king.

Nancy thought that was odd and decided to part with her spade ladyl She was giving up nothing and still had secondary control of the suit.

Some genius had once told her to be generous (give up your high cards) when it looks like you are being set up for an end play. She wasn't sure, but obviously declarer must have had that in mind. Otherwise, he would have been forced at some stage to guess the club suit.

At (5) and (6), declarer drew Jerry's last two trumps. And Nancy echoed in clubs. At trick (7), a diamond to dummy's king and the spade ace. Nancy made another marvelous play, her spade jack! At trick (8), declarer played a small spade from dummy, and again the very perceptive Nancy played an amazing card: her spade three! Oh, rotten socks, she thought to herself, if Jerry doesn't have the nine. He did, and he won it and dutifully led a small club, beating the contract for a tie for a top. The gracious declarer complimented Nancy on her preserving the spade three, otherwise she was end played.

Contract talks challenge Chrysler exec

■ A Plymouth Township man who has risen through the managerial ranks will lead Chrysler's bargaining team in negotiations with the UAW. He previews some of the issues in looking at the industry.

By Doug FUNKE STAFF WRITER

It's no different in the auto industry than any other business nowadays. Health care costs and flexibility in the workforce are major concerns of management.

Thomas Gallagher, a Plymouth Township resident, knows all about it.

Gallagher, recently promoted to vice president for employee relations at Chrysler Corp., will head the automaker's bargaining team next year in contract negotiations with the UAW.

"Health care, no question about it, is one of the major competitive disadvantages we have in the auto industry," he said. "We use a figure that it costs $1,000 per car. You have to find ways to address that.'

And about jobs in the plant?

"We have to find ways to be leaner, take out waste, do a better job, change the process," Gallagher said. "If we don't . . . we won't be able to sell products and be competitive in the market

Gallagher, 50, joined Chrysler in 1976 after working as a lawyer with the National Labor Relations Board. He has served as director of employees benefits, director of human resources operations and director of union relations at Chrysler.

"Labor is the arena which I enjoy the most," he said. "It's an arena where you get action. Maybe interaction is a better word. You have give and take. You work hard to solve complicated issues."

Chief negotiator: Thomas Gallagher, who's stepped up to many management responsibilities since joining Chrysler in 1976, will lead the company's bargaining team in national contract talks next year with the UAW.

Gallagher has worked both sides of the street. He was a union building representative while teaching in Detroit.

He also brings academic credentials - B.A. and law degrees from Wayne State University, an M.B.A. from Michigan State and advanced management School and MSU - to the job.

Fallout on health care from the political arena this year will have an impact on negotiations next, Gallagher said.

He expects that co-payment of premiums, deductibles before third party payments, and use of directed health maintenance organizations will come up in bargaining.

"To be sure, no one likes to pay if certificates from Harvard Business they can get it free," Gallagher said. "You're hopefully able to demonstrate, ways to produce quality," he said. But through experience: . . that's not really a horror story."

Chrysler, the smallest of the domestic auto manufacturers and one that's spent considerable time on the financial roller coaster, has taken the lead in negotiating flexible work rules, Gallagher said.

"I see the need to be even more flexible, working together to develop more Progress begins with getting a clear view of the obstacles."

Our financial profile this month focuses on Luann Petrus, who needs to focus on the last few hurdles to attain financial security for

At age 28, Petrus has made good progress in establishing her financial base. She recently bought a house in Livonia and works as an administrative assistant at a local engineering firm. She has no dependents.

Her salary is $22,500 per year, and her employer provides her with the following Insurance benefits: medical (IIMO), dental, short-term disability (13 weeks), and group term life insurance ($15,000). In addition, she has a personally owned $100,000 universal life insurance policy. Goals include the purchase of a car within the next two years and beginning some retirement savings within the next three years.

Petrus has done a good job managing her income. She lives within her means and has no debt beyond the house mortgage. She drives a 1986 Chevy, and she has good auto coverage on this car.

In fact, she may be over-insured; because her car's value is relativley low, she should review whether it makes financial sense to keep her collision and comprehensive coverage. She pays a significant annual premium for these coverages, and

Disability insurance

Petrus realizes that her shortterm disability plan at work is inad-

"I am a single woman living on my own," she said. "If my income should stop or decrease, I'll be in big trouble."

A single period on disability lasting 12 months or longer would undo everything she has accomplished to date. She would likely lose her savings, her home, and most of her possessions. A recent report indicated that most home foreclosures were due to disability - not loss of job

Her biggest asset now is her ability to bring in an income and the time to build a nest egg. She has insured her possessions adequately, but not the income that allows her to buy and maintain these possessions. We refer to this as insuring the golden eggs, but not the goose that lays the golden eggs. She needs to buy a personally-owned, longterm disability policy that pays benefits until she reaches 65.

As she has 13 weeks coverage at work, she can purchase a policy with a 90-day waiting period (the period before her personal disabilty policy pays benefits). She should purchase a policy that pays her at least $1,000 per month of income (which is automatically free of federal income tax), and the coverage should include cost-of-living increases built into the benefit. Although most disability policies do not cover any time off due to pregnancy, most good policies will pay benefits for any complications resulting from the pregnancy. Such a policy will cost Petrus $450 $650 per year.

Estate planning

"It is because I have no dependents" that Petrus has no will or other estate plan in place.

*As an adult with some savings and a house, Petrus still needs to do some basic estate planning. It needn't be claborate. A simple will allows her to name the administrator of her estate, rather than having the court appoint someone. It would also give her the opportunity to dis rect some of her personal possessions to the most appropriate family member.

It could also be helpful to have a

'Yeah, and what if somebody else notices all that space? I mean I've got all our executives stuck in traffic on I-75 running up these incredible cellular phone bills, just because I thought we didn't have room out here. I told those guys in Highland Park that we didn't have room for our executives and engineers in Auburn Hills, and we were going to keep the headquarters down there. Now I figure we are going to have to move our headquarters, or else we will have to unscrew all those executive nameplates and leave the place half-emp-

'I guess,' Lutz says, still worried about the helicopter banger. 'At least you got Highland Park to sign off on the tax deal before you found out. So what are we going to do?'

'Hey, I've got an idea. How about planting corn on the lawn down there? Then we could sell the whole place off to Toyota or something. You know how those Japanese like to build their places in cornfields. Do you think they'd buy that?'

You've got an honest face. I've never known you to go back on your durable power of attorney," that allows a designated individual to handle her financial affairs if she is incapacitated and a "patient advocate designation (medical durable power or attorney)" that indicates conditions. Without basic estate planning documents, the state of Michigan laws dictate the distribution of her estate.

So far, so good

Petrus' primary financial efforts to date have been directed toward the purchase of her house and then on re-establishing her cash reserves. She is also now saving to buy a car. All of this is good and appropriate for someone in their late 20s. But we believe it is time for her to start looking at goals beyond the next one to two years.

As she begins building her assets, she will want to move beyond the money market account at the bank. Though everyone should have an adequate emergency reserve in sayings or money market, over the long term these "cash equivalent" assets her wishes regarding the use of life will produce the lowest return support systems in terminal health : among the major asset alternativess. It is time for Petrus to begin, looking at other liquid assets, such as stocks and bonds for money that will be held for more than two to three years.

> We recommend that she begin by purchasing shares of a mutual fund. These are large pools of money that are invested by professional managers into a diversified mixture of stocks or bonds. Mutual funds offer instant diversification, liquidity, professional management, the ability to add modest amounts at any time, and the ability to reinvest interest and dividends to compound growth.

A single period on disability lasting 12 months or longer would undo everything she has accomplished to date. She would likely lose her savings, her home, and most of her possessions. A recent report indicated that most home foreclosures were due to disability — not loss of lob or death.

Retirement options

Petrus's employer has no qualified retirement plan. As a result, she expects to be completely responsible for her own long-term financial security. As a result we suggest that she get started as soon as possible to put the power of compounding to work as long as possible.

An ideal way to save for retirement is through an Individual Retirement Account. With no retirement plan from her employer, she is eligible for a $2,000 deductible IRA regardless of her income. Over the next several years, the IRA can be-.come the core of her retifement sav-

Her longer-term goal should be to save at least 10 percent of her income for retirement, r. goal that has: been mentioned repeatedly in this column. With no company pension it would be desirable to save an even higher percentage, but this may not be possible until later in her career.

An ideal asset to use for the IRA mended above. A stock fund consisting of large, dividend paying stocks would be a good choice, Because the money will be held until retirement, she can accept some short-term price volatility with the later. expectation of the higher returnsthat stocks have historically provided. For example, the average rate of return in the stock market over the last 65 years is 10 percent.

Consider two hypothetical investor profiles. Both have IRAs that yield a 10-percent annual return, compounded monthly. The first investor contributes $2,000 the first day of the year for eight years, then never contributes again. After 30, years, the original contribution of $16,000 has grown to $213,864,

The second investor waits eight years before opening an IRA and then contributes $2,000 every year for the next 22 years. After 30 years, the $14,000 original contribution would be the mutual funds recom- has grown to $123,599 or $90,265 less than the first investor's.

The investor examples demonstrate the important point that a little saved now will make as much difference as a lot of money saved

Despite the obstacles of being a single woman living on a modest income, Petrus has made a promising start. After closing the gaps in the disability coverage and estate planning, she can move ahead toward creating a secure future for herself.

ROLL CALL REPORT

House approves family leave bill, Bush vows veto

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in . the week ending Sept. 11

HOUSE

Yes for family leave: By a vote of 241 for and 161 against, the House sent to the White House a bill (S5) requiring employers of at least 50 workers to provide up to 12 weeks of annual unpaid leave for childbirth or other medical circumstances involving an employee or close family member. Workers taking leave would retain health benefits and get their job back when they re-

President Bush has yowed a veto. The bill is backed by the AARP and many unions, and opposed by business groups including the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Supporter Marge Roukema, R-N.J., said the issue "is not about mandates or benefit packages. It is fundamentally about values, family values, and a standard of decency.

Opponent Tom DeLay, R-

Tex., sald "this bill will push" American businesses and our economy even deeper into the quagnifie of inefficiency" by placing mandates on employ-

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Dennis Hertel, D.Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, Voting no: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, Not voting: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

More for maritime administration; The House passed, 331 for and 48 against, a bill (HR 4484) authorizing $765 million for the U.S. Maritime Administration in fiscal 1993. The figure is at least 30 percent above both the president's 1993 request and the comparable 1992 budget. Most of the increase is for expanding the governmentowned "ready reserve" merchant fleet.

The bill contains $225 miltion for subsidizing private olyners of passenger liners and freighters, a program whose rationale is to keep the merchant. marine internationally competitive and prepared for any wartime role.

Supporter Jack Fields, R-

Tex., said that although more costly than requested by President Bush, the measure will ensure "a strong, viable merchant manne,"

SENATE

Yes on appeals judge: By a vote of 62 for and 36 against, the Senate confirmed the nomination of Edward E. Carnes, assistant attorney general of Alabama, as an 11th Circuit Court of Appeals judge.

Civil rights groups said that as Alabama's top prosecutor. Carnes has advocated the death penalty with a fervor that shows racial bias. But his supporters, including both Alabama senators, said that in fighting to uphold death penalty convictions he has performed a mandatory prosecutorial tole.

A yes vote was to support the nomination. Michigan Senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle, both Democrate. voted no.

Shelves product liability bill: The Senate set aside a product liability bill limiting consumer suits against manufacturers over defective products. The vote on a cloture motion was not directly on the ments of the legislation (S 640). The tally of 58-38 fell

The bill has campaign overtones because President Bush says it will help to hold down the high cost that litigation inflicts on the economy. It Is. backed by business organizations and opposed by consumer groups and trial lawvers. Congress has wrestled with product-liability legislation for a decade.

A yes vote was to move to final passage of product-liability legislation. Carl Levin voted no. Riegie voted yes.

Space station stands: By a vote of 34 for and 62 against, the Senate refused to kill NASA's planned space station by diverting its fiscal 1993 funding to deficit reduction and veterans' health programs. The vote kept $2.1 billion for "Freedom" In an appropriations bill (HR 5697) later sent to conference with the House.

NASA hope's to orbit the manned facility by the turn of the century. About $30 billion of the $40 billion projected development cost remains to be appropriated.

Amendment supporter John Warner, R.Va., sald "we need to focus on reducing the deficit now if we are going to avoid a horrendous economic crisis for our children and grandchildren."

Calling Freedom Important to economic recovery, John Seymour, R-Calif., said "in the state of California alone, it supports 4,000 lobs and $4 billion worth of contracts."

A yes vote was to kill the space station. Carl Levin voted yes. Riegle voted no.

Her contemporary oils on paper in spotlight

he loves oils. But she also loves how watercolors are framed.

So Plymouth artist Andrea DeZell taps the best of both worlds by creating contemporary oils on Her artwork ranges in price from $200 to $500. Five examples of this unusual art form, including two very contemporary pieces, are on exhibit through October at Atrium Gallery, 109 N. Center, Northville.

"Her work is extraordinary," says gallery co-owner Pat Jania of Northville. "So many people who come to the gallery stop by her work and just stare. Her colors have such definition, such crispness. And there's nothing flat about her work; it has a great deal of depth, more so than most painters achieve."

A watercolor - matted and framed under glass is "very pretty, very contemporary," said DeZell, a professional artist for 15 years. "Oil on canvas has an older appearance that's not updated enough. What I do is use oil to get the color I want but frame my art like a watercolor. I'm updating my oil to a more contemporary appearance but still getting the rich col-

A member of the 3 Cities and Farmington artists clubs. DeZell calls her work "a combination of abstract and realism. I've found it very exciting."

Oils let her achieve "a very rich watercolor ranging from a soft pastel to a deep hue. It's really quite different from what you typically see.

"I'm really successful with this," she said. "It's taking off to the point where I'm looking into lithograph prints so I can go national."

A 3-D look

With an abstract background on watercolor or canvas paper, DeZell brings realism to the forefront in her work, creating an almost three-dimensional effect. "Some people say it looks almost like it's embossed," DeZell said.

Her abstract realism leans toward florals and fruits. "But I'll paint virtually anything," she said. "I do a lot of commission pieces; portraits, landscapes, home settings, still life."

An example of abstract realism is her "Blackberry Harvest." It took best of show in the 3 Cities Art Club's spring juried exhibition. "The light hitting against the configuration of berries makes it so threedimensional," Jania said. "You feel as if you can pick up the little berries in the basket."

Original vs. prints

DeZell hopes her exhibit at the Atrium "gives people more awareness of art today and points up the differences between original art and prints.

"People tend to buy prints to match their furnishings or furniture," she said. "Original art has true value, something not found in a print. Good art always increases in value; there's no depreciation."

That's not to say DeZell doesn't recognize the role prints play. To expand her visibility and marketability, she's checking into having her work lithographed. "Right now, I'm limited to a small group of people.

Not all see what I do. I want to really branch out so everyone would be aware. I truly love what I'm doing and want to share it with everybody. Prints would let me do just that."

It takes weeks to complete one painting. "I can't produce them fast enough to supply all of the areas I'd like to supply," DeZell said. "My only alternative - to reach more people and to spend the great amount of time I'd like to spend on each painting is to make lithographs."

DeZell has staged one-person shows in Detroit and Cleveland. Her commissioned artwork hangs in private art collections in five states and Canada. She has taken part in Plymouth's Art in the Park and Fall Pestival.

She twice was asked to show at the American Publishing Co.'s national art design exhibit in the Dairy

Barn Cultural Arts Center in Athens, Ohio. Still, she hasn't lost her sense of priorities, donating auction pieces to both the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the Special Olympics. A Plymouth resident since 1969, DeZell offers private instruction for adults (oil painting) and children

(mixed media drawing and painting). For two years in the '70s, she volunteer taught drawing and clay sculpture to Plymouth elementary school students. Today, she occasionally visits Plymouth clementary and middle schools to talk up art. "It's something I really love to do," DeZell said. "It's a lot of fun and the kids get really excited.' Delell shows examples of her artwork, tells about getting started in art and answers a lot of questions. "Children are really interested in how I got as far as I have," she said. "They also want to know how much I charge."

Artist Carol McCreedy depicts the colorful beauty and lyrical line of flowers and vegetables in watercolor. In her paintings, she takes spirit from the living miracles grown in her father's Westland greenhouses.

By Linda Ann Chomin

Watercolorist Carol McCreedy rew up on the Westland farm her family has worked since 1834. The vibrant colors of

Red impatiens, geraniums, beets and cabbage, orange pumpkins and yellow chrysanthemums vie for the viewer's attention in her still life on exhibit at D & M Art Studio and Gal lery in Plymouth.

"I always wanted to paint since I was 7 or 8, and my cousin and I planted a field of snapdragons to sell to our customers," McCreedy said.

"My mom china-painted and my great-grandmother was an oil painter. My great-grandmother would paint on whatever she had on hand - paper, a slate chalkboard.'

"I'm comfortable with flowers. I'm around vegetables and flowers all day, so I'm always getting ideas for paintings. Being at the greenhouse, I'll see a flower I like or a vase, mostly I get my ideas at work."

After earning a bachelor of fine arts degree from Center for Creative Studies in 1980, McCreedy worked at an advertising agency, Studio Associates in Dearborn, airbrushing and retouching photos in gouache for 21/2 years.

"Watercolor was actually what I liked the most at Center for Creative Studies. I spent my first year studying fine art but realized there are very few artists making a living from their painting. I switched to advertising design in my second year," McCreedy

"I admire Norman Rockwell, people who made a living at what they love, Maxfield Parrish. I don't paint like them but I admire them. You don't have to try to figure their paintings out. They're just pleasing to the eye." After a family crisis, McCreedy returned to the farm where she works a 40-hour week as a manager for the family business, Clyde Smith & Sons Greenhouses and Garden Center. The

Smith family works five acres of greenhouses, growing and selling bedding plants and fresh produce from their farm market on Newburgh

"I went back to the farm. I enjoy plant season. In March and April, the houses are full and there's lots of color," McCreedy said.

"Ninety percent of the time I paint from life. Most of the time, I set up still life. If I'm not working from life, I use five or six references. I keep files. I collect seed catalogs. I tell my students you have to keep files."

Zaccheo offers three types of work in this exhibit: oil on canvas, limited-edition serigraphs on 100-percent-cotton rag paper and limited edition serigraphs on canvas embellished with oil and remarques.

"I feel very strongly I want as many people as possible to have my work. That's why I've created different types of art for people at different levels of affordability. Maybe they can't afford an original. They can afford to have an embellished print," Zaccheo said.

"For the embellished serigraph, I take a silkscreen print on canvas. I cover most of the print with oil paint and a palette knife. It takes a tremendous amount of work, a tremendous amount of discipline."

Zaccheo's love of light-filled canvases, highly textured with brilliant color, take their cue from French Impressionism. "I admire most of the impressionists because of their freedom Monet, Renoir, Gauguin and Vincent Van Gogh," Znecheo said.

new and old Oriental rugs, in wool and silk, handselected from India, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Turkey, Kashmir, Nepal and China. Each rug comes with a certificate of authenticity, including a history, description and appraised value. Representatives of the Patusan Trading Co. will visit the store each day during regular hours.

III HOME TOUR

The Ann Arbor Old West Side Association is sponsoring its 20th annual homes tour noon to 6: p.m. Sunday, Sept. 27.

Placed on the National Register of Historic Places, the neighborhood provides a setting typical of the turn-of-the-century Midwest.

This year's tour includes six homes and a neighborhood church.

Tour headquarters is the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 520 W. Jefferson, Ann Arbor. Tickets are $3 seniors, $4 in advance and $5 the day of the tour.

Bus transportation between tour houses will be provided. The Diversion Street Bluegrass Band will serve up music. For tickets, call Pat Hackley, 665.

Contemporary oils on paper by artist Andrea DeZell of Plymouth will be shown through October at Atrium Gallery, 109 N. Center, Northville.

Autumn: "Squash with Yellow Mums," a McCreedy watercolor, was painted from a stil life she set up for a class she was teaching. "I picked up the squash and a bouquet of yellow flowers as I was running out the door.

McCreedy became a watercolor instructor three years ago. She currently teaches watercolor at Frame Works of Livonia, and charcoal and pastel drawing through Plymouth Canton Community Education at Plymouth Salem High-School

"I think for watercolors you have to have a drawing background but anybody can paint. It just takes practice. I encourage my students to work at it," McCreedy said.

White snapdragons contrast a midnight blue background_ in "Indian Corn," a watercolor still life.

"I like using a dark background because it brings out the colors of the flowers. I block in the flowers, the colors first. Usually, I have several paintings going at the same time," McCreedy said. "I work my color on a butcher block tray and I never throw anything out."

McCreedy opened a tin container filled to the brim with paint tubes in various stages of squeezing. She dotted the tray with color and began working it with a wet brush.

"I like to work big so the watercolor can move. I always work on full sheets, 300-pound watercolor paper," McCreedy said. "I use good brushes, usually a big brush. It holds a lot of water."

McCreedy uses a spray bottle of water and blotter paper to move the paint around the paper, creating a lyrical back-

"I try to repeat the colors. I try to make a triangle of color to keep your eye moving on the paper when I set up a still life," she said. "I like to use crystal or glass vases. I like to play with the reflections."

McCreedy doesn't have as much time to paint as she would like with two sons, 8 and 5, who participate in extracurricular hockey, a husband, and teaching art along with working full-time at the farm,

"I do a lot of advertising for the farm. Painting's relaxing. It's the love of my life. It's what I want to do even in the middle of the night," McCreedy said. "I would like to paint more. I'd like to illustrate children's books."

Her palette serves up colorful retrospective

By Linda Ann Chomin , Special Writer

Livonia Arts Commission presents "Retrospective in Color," an exhibition spanning 15 years of naintings by watercolorist Shirley Bishop of Livonia, through Sept. 30 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

An artist's reception for Bishop runs 7-9 p.m. Thorsday, Sept. 17 at city hall.

The retrospective, featuring 34 florals, still life and architectural landscapes, is Bishop's first onewoman show.

"Watercolor takes a lot of preplanning. With oil, you tend to rework it and rework it," Bishop said. "Watercolor's very spontane. ous. It's very fresh."

Bishop began a long, continuing road of visual art studies with Livonia artist Marie Tuthill, with whom she studied oil painting for more. than five years.

oils, Bishop sought an exciting, new medium: watercolor. Bishop took classes in the hard to handle medium with Visual Arts Association of Livonia (VAAL) instructor Anne Dase Loveland and Farmington Hills artist Edee Joppich.

"I take classes all the time to keep me painting. I try to paint a little bit everyday," Bishop said.

"I'm very intrigued by shape and forms and negative spaces. Once you start painting, you start looking at things differently. You notice things you've never seen before like how the light plays on a leave, on a

After growing disillusioned with Joppich's "Creative, Approach to Watercolor" class, which resulted in the exhibition "Creativity-21 Artists Paint an Amaryllis" in the Farmington Community Library, Bishon has exhibited watercolors at Joppich's Bay Street Gallery in Northport.

"When I look at a painting, I'm looking at composition. I look at the design of it first," Bishop said.

Bishop strongly believes her was tercolors are influenced by the natural beauty surrounding her home in Northern Michigan on Crystal Lake.

She refers to her style of painting as abstract realism, "where a concrete image is transformed into an abstract interpretation of the synergy between design, shape and light.

"I use hot pressed paper. I use a lot of salt, a lot of alcohol, a lot of Bishop has exhibited watercolors resist. The secret is in making it look like I don't," Bishop said.

LIVONIA CIVIC CENTER LIBRARY

Continuing - The Livonia Arts Commission and Friends of the Library present an exhibit by the Michigan Friends of Photography to Sept. 26 in the art gallery on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road at Five Mile. Livonia photographer Carlos Diaz displays a powerful montage of nine images: "Artifacts of the Working Class." Exhibit hours: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday.

LIVONIA CIVIC CENTER LIBRARY

Continuing - Plymouth artist Sharon Bida will exhibit works in clay and silver through Sept. 28 in the Livonia Arts Commission's showcases on the second floor of the library, Farmington Road and Five Mile. After many years as a sculpture of welded an cast works, Bida began sculpting jewelry out of clay four years ago. Out of her most-recent work evolved what Bida refers to as her "neckties." The pieces are made from a lightweight clay and can be worn as a pin or necklace. She incorporates antique stones and gems into several of the fashionable pieces. Also exhibited are large sculpture like silver rings. Bida creates the rings using the lost wax method. Hours: 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday.

御 LIVONIA CITY HALL

Continuing — Livonia Arts Commission hosts watercolors by Shirley Bishop of Livonia through Sept. 30 in the lobby of city hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile. "Retrospective in Color," features 34 florals, still life, and architectural landscapes spanning a period of 15 years. Bishop studjed with Edge Joppich, Marie Tuthill and Anne Dase Loveland. She has exhibited work with Visual Arts Association of Livonia, Farmington Artists Club, the Farminton Community Library and Joppich's Bay Street Gallery in Northport. Bishop refers to her style of painting as abstract realism. She says it's influenced by the natural beauty surrounding her p.m. Monday-Fri-

M CASA DE UNIDAD

Continuing - "Through Their Eyes," the first works from Casa de Unidad's Barrio Youth Photography Workhops, continues through Oct. 9 at the Hispanic organization's Cultural Arts and Media Center, 1920 Scotten, Detroit. The 28 piece exhibition is the culmination of photographs taken in Southwest Detroit by 20 multicultural students during a 10-week workshop led hy Livonia photographer Carlos Diaz, an associate professor at Center for Creative Studies in Detroit. In the show's program, Diaz states, "they are images no one but. these children could make of this community - their home. Each photograph possesses directness with the subject and unlike images made by visitors (pedestrians or professional), these are attached to the life of the place." The project was a success, thanks to support from Arts Midwest in partnership with National Endowment for the Arts, Casa de Unidad Cultural Arts and Media Center, Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs, Detroit Council of the Arts, Sister Martinez of Madonna University-Livonia, Michigan Education Opportunity Fund, Sister Elizabeth and Till O'Brien of Holy Redeemer-Detroit, Dr. Rosa Williams and Stephen Black of: Earhart Middle School-Detroit, Neighborhood Opportunity Fund, Canon, Fuji, Ilford and Diaz.

Mortgage plan helps buyers with lower down payment

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

One of the biggest stumbling blocks for would be homeowners is the down payment.

Mortgage lenders generally renuire a 20 percent commitment in cash from borrowers, which amounts to $10,000 on a starter home with a purchase price of $50,000. Some young families just don't have the dough when adding application fees and closing costs.

Debt can be another hurdle. Lenders on conventional mort-

Mortgage delinquency rising

(AP) - The percentage of homeowners behind on their mortgages climbed in the April-June quarter and would have risen even more if not for declining interest

The Mortgage Bankers Association of America said a seasonally adjusted 4.77 percent of homeowners nationally were 30 days or more late on their mortgage payments, up from 4.52 percent during the first three months of the

That broke a string of three quarterly declines. Still, the new rate was well below the five year high of 5.28 percent, hit during the second quarter of 1991.

Warren Lasko, executive vice president of the association, said the reversal was not unexpected because of the slow growth of American's income and the stagnant job market.

Adjusted for inflation, per capita personal income fell 1.9 percent last year, the worst performance in at least 12 years. The unemployment rate at the end of the second quarter was at an eight-year high of 7.8 percent, although it edged down to 7.7 percent in July.

Lasko said the sluggish economy probably would have produced an even higher delinquency rate if not for the sharp decline in mortgage rates.

Residential builders who work in the $130,000 to $200,000 price range say that they appeal to a broad spectrum of buyers. They could be interested in a "new" move-up or a first new buy from an existing home.

"They kind of overlap," said Norm Finkelstein, partner in the Irvine Group of Farmington Hills. "Buyers at $130,000 tend to be young families, first move-up, first-time buyers, some from apartments, others who had been living with their parents.

"When you're talking $190,000, $200,000, very often those are people. who are empty nesters in their late 40s and 50s, some with a child living at home for another year or two, moving down from larger houses," Finkelstein added.

Defying description

"A typical buyer is really hard to define," said Deen Hyde, marketing director for Pulte Homes of Michigan. "We probably have two main types.

"A transferee represents about 40 percent of our business. They stay three to five years on average. They look for value, a good investment. They know they will turn it over in three to five years. They want the most square footage for the money.

"The other type is the local move-up," Hyde said. "The motivation is a larger family or change in status. They're looking for the most home for the money in terms of amenities."

Dave Gerish, vice president of Gerish Building in Plymouth, had similar observations.

down because they don't want the maintenance," he said. "Another customer who is a move-up will come in three or four years later and say, Build me a new home."

Spacious master bedroom suites and basements - some used for additional living space; others for storage - are high on the list of buyers' priorities, builders said.

"I've got some customers who have a house costing $300,000-plus moving

"They all want an impressive master suite as a retreat, more or less," Finkelstein said.

"We are finding a big trend away from contemporary to traditional, especially a country-look with big porches, large windows. Yet for interiors, they like to have contemporary openness with traditional moldings," he said.

First-floor laundries are still preferred, Finkelstein said, even though some builders have designed utility rooms on upper levels where the bed-

Master suite a must

"Older people want a first-floor master bedroom," Gerish said. "Younger people are looking for the most rooms they can get for the kids."

Hyde also notices that many buyers today want the master suite on the main floor - older owners to avoid stairs, younger to get some space away from the kids.

About half of his buyers request a whirlpool tub in the master suite as an extra, Gerish said.

Kitchens are getting more attention. "The kitchen is the place where people are congregating," Hyde said. "We have two-way fireplaces between the kitchen and great room and kitchen and family room. We've started doing a lot of eating bars in the kitchen. They're

Plywood price rise expected to be temporary

By Doug Funke STAFF WRITER

Builders and suppliers here expect that the price of plywood, which soared nationally in the wake of Hurricane Andrew, will return to normal levels in November when construction activity tapers and demand slackens.

At least that was their thinking before Hurricana -Iniki alammed into Hawaii last weekend.

"There is so much panic going on in the marketplace now. That usually follows natural disasters. It's short term and short lived," said Sheila Weidman, spokeswoman for Georgia-Pacific.

That company is the largest single volume supplier of plywood nationally and the second largest of fram-Ing materials, she added.

Plywood - used for roofs, floors and exterior sheathing -- has increased in price by about a third since late August, said Tom Polk, a buyer for National Lumber in Warren, a major supplier to builders

Plywood accounts for about 20 percent of all wood used in residential construction, he said.

Price increase: Framing materials used for trusses, study and joists have increased on the order of 7 percent directly as the result of the Hurricane Andrew. Plywood used for roofs, floors and exterior sheathing — has increased in price by about a third since late August.

State housing ranked for affordability

Framing materials used for trusses, stude and joists have increased on the order of 7 percent directly as the result of the hurricane, said Fred Capaidi Jr., a Rochester Hills builder.

"This storm couldn't have come at worse time as far as the availability of plywood is concerned," said A.D. "Pete" Correll, president and chief operating officer of Georgia-Pacific.

"Supply shortages have been the major influence on prices," Correll said, "Product delivery dates already were extended due to increased demand. There is no additional capacity available in the industry to meet the tremendous need that has been created by the hurricane.

"In contrast, when Hurricane Hugo hit the East Coast (1989), even though prices escalated, there was excess capacity in the industry to meet the extraordinary demand," he said.

Curtailments of lumbering operations in recent years due to environmental concerns also influenced supply and prices, Georgia-Pacific reported.

The company froze prices on Aug. 31 after Andrew but not before they had risen 15 percent, Weidman said. Prices had soared 15-20 percent prior to the storm due to supply and demand, she said.

A couple of builders and suppliers contacted here last week thought the price rise was merely a blip on the constantly changing lumber price roller coaster.

"I think this will pass," Capaldi said. "It happened before. It will happen again. I wonder, too, if some increase in price isn't deliberate, human, nature being what Robert Jones, a West Bloomfield builder, said that the lumber market - affected by actual supply and demand as well as perceptions of supply - changes as much as other commodities.

"The market in years past when winter came prices started to drop," Jones said. "California (building) is literally dead in the water. There seems to be enough spots where there's lack of demand that I personally don't see a problem with getting materials."

And then came Iniki.

The lumber market tends to fluctuate like the stock market, Polk said. He forecast a price dip, but not to pre-Andrew levels, by the end of the month based on a falloff in demand.

'We have a 45- to 60-day inventory file," said Dave Corna, divisional construction sales manager for Erb Lumber headquartered in Birmingham. "The problem is replacing that. We project by the first weekend in November, things will soften dramatically due to seasonality."

Builders who contract for a specific price have to eat any increases.

Making a house a home

streaks, he suggests.

Moving vans criss cross the country in late Charbonneau says. "Paint doesn't adhere properly summer, planting families in now places. Once the 'to greasy, soapy or mildewed walls." urgency, of settling kids in new schools has passed, attention turns to another domestic demand; and wash the walls from the bottom up to avoid making the new home distinctively yours.

A first line of attack is as close as the paint

"Since stark white is the color of choice of many eye level. A low-cost idea for the dining room is to builders, adding color in a few strategic spots adds make a "stencil" of a china or curtain pattern by warmth," says Ken Charbonneau, color and mer-rudning it through a copying machine. Cut out the chandise manager for Benjamin Moore & Co.

Neutrals such as gray, peach, rose, and taupe paint it intake the edge off of a room and generally work well with the carpeting that often comes with new construction. Changing a bedroom from white to peach or coral is almost always a decorative improvement, he says.

Old houses often need a new paint job to clean up as well as spruce up the decor. If the walls are in decent shape - with all nails countersunk and spackled - the existing paint can be used as a base coat unless you plan to cover a dark wall in a light color.

"Especially in the kitchen and bath, wash surfaces that haven't been painted in a long time,'
