Charges sought against teens accused in gun sale

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Criminal charges are being sought against three Marshall Junior High students accused in a handgun sale at school, Westland police said.

Charges are recommended in a petition that police have filed with the juvenile division of Wayne County Probate Court, Westland police Officer Scott Hall confirmed Monday.

Juvenile authorities will decide whether to charge the three 15-yearold boys accused in the gun sale, he said.

"It's up to the court now," Hall said-

All three boys were expelled from school after a .22-caliber semiautomatic handgun and 24 rounds of ammunition were found March 25 in a locker at the junior high school on Bayview, east of Wayne Road.

The boys apparently didn't threaten anyone with the gun, which principal Larry Galbraith said was sold because the boys "just wanted to be cool.'

In the petition filed with juvenile court, police have recommended that one boy be charged with selling the gun, one with buying it, and one with possessing it.

Juvenile authorities could choose either to prosecute the boys on those charges, to alter the charges, or to drop them completely, police said.

School officials have said a ninthgrader brought the gun to school to sell it to an eighth-grader, and that another eighth-grader acted as a gobetween.

Three students appeared before the Wayne-Westland school board on April 6 for separate expulsion hearings. The board chose to expel ninthgrader Dennis O'Callaghan and eighth-graders Patrick Bullock and Keon Jackson, said school district spokesman Gary Dell.

The gun was found after another student told about the weapon being hidden in a locker, Galbraith has said. School officials are protecting that student's identity.

After receiving the report, Galbraith summoned Westland police, who searched a locker and found the weapon and ammunition.

The gun incident has renewed concerns about weapons and violence on school grounds. Numerous weapons incidents - including at least three shootings --- have been reported in recent years in Wayne-Westland.

The more violent incidents - including a fatal shooting behind Adams Junior High School in November 1991 - have occurred during after-school hours.

Apartment fire blamed on child playing with lighter

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A huge fire that destroyed a 16-unit, two-story apartment building in Westland has been blamed on a child playing with a cigarette lighter.

Westland fire battalion chief George Riley confirmed the cause of the massive blaze in a six-page report released Tuesday afternoon to the press.

The report has been eagerly awaited by residents who were burned out of their apartments during the March 27 fire. Residents have sharply criticized the Westland Fire Department's response. The report notes that the fire started in a chair in

9 vie for 2 seats on Livonia board Grieving from page 1A

BY MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER

Once again, a large group of candidates, for two seats on the Livonia Board of Education will face voters in the June 14 school election.

This year's race is nearly a reruñ of last year, with one trustee stepping down, a second trustee' seeking re-election, and a huge field vying for the two open seats. Last year's race drew eight candidates; this year's, nine.

Pat Sari's decision to step down as trustee in June means that, for the third time in three years, there will be at least one new face on the school board come July.

Trustee Diane "Pat" Tancill is seeking a second full term.

The other eight school board candidates are: James McNeilly of Westland, Suzanne Clulow of Livonia, Ralph Walko of Livonia, Clifford Thompson of Livonia, Leo Weber of Livonia, Frank Kokenakes of Livonia, David Underwood of Livonia, and Pamella Guarneri of Livonia.

Walko and Guarneri ran unsuccessfully in the 1992 school board election.

All nine candidates have until 4 p.m. today to withdraw from the race.

There will be no other question on the June 14 ballot for voters in the Livonia School District, which includes most of Livonia and the northern section of Westland.

Because of a lack of concrete information over the reform package passed recently in Lansing, the Livonia Board of Education recently chose not to put a tax increase on the ballot.

Pat Sari's decision to step down as trustee in June means that, for the third time in three years, there will be at least one new face on the school board come July.

The reform plan, if passed by voters in a June 2 statewide election, will revamp school funding, cut property taxes, and increase the sales tax 50 percent.

If elected, Clulow, a homemaker, said she will search for creative, cost effective methods to deliver both quality educational and co-curricular programs to Livonia's students.

"I believe that aside from family circumstance, the K-12 educational experience is the dominant factor which influences the students' future life," Clulow said.

"This is the compelling reason why we must continue to give our students the widest range of quality academic and co-curricular experiences possible. My comprehensive understanding of Livonia school programs and finances will help me become an active participant in this endeavor."

Kokenakes, an attorney, said numerous issues have forced him to focus on the district which his son soon will enter. Among the issues he cited are school financing, poor MEAP scores, and the need to give students a good basic education.

"There are major issues facing the board and there are big deci-sions that have to be made," Kok-enakes said. "Will we be able to keep extracurricular activities? Or should we just focus on the basics, such as reading and math?"

Cuts a concern

Livonia school officials recently unveiled $12 million in cuts that could take place in the 1993-94 budget. The cuts ranged from the elimination of the science center, to the elimination of the sixthhour for middle and high school students, to the total elimination of high school athletics.

How deep the cuts eventually will be depends to some extent on whether voters pass the reform package on the June 2 ballot. Livonia's approximate $103-million budget for 1993-94 will be approved May 27, six days before the election.

Underwood, a disabled U.S. Army paratrooper, said reading about the district's projected $12million shortfall prompted him to enter the race.

This scared me, and I want to have a voice in what's going on. I moved to Livonia because of its school district. I graduated from Churchill and I want the same quality education for my son that I got. We have a good school district and I don't want to lose it. The board should manage its money better."

McNeilly, a bricklayer close to retirement, said the board would benefit from having on it a tradesman familiar with the building industry, especially at a time a massive building and renovation project is under way in the district. "We need all kinds of people on the board. I'm knowledgeable about the building trade. If the district buys something cheap, that's not always the best way." Walko, a corporate production planner, said the board has to do better managing the money it does have. "There must be more analysis put into how the money is spent. I'm concerned about the way financing is being handled."

If elected, Weber, a 1977 graduate of Churchill High and a creative writer, said he would only serve one term. Weber believes the U.S. should return to the days when residents performed a public service for just one term and then went back home.

"Citizen politicians are no longer around," Weber said. "People should^a do their duty and then move on. Because they don't is why we're having so much trouble today."

In last year's race, two challengers, Kenneth G. Timmons and Susan Thompson, unseated the one incumbent who was running, Marjorie Roach. As the sole incumbent, Tancill faces the same eventuality this year. Tancill ~sees a "rocky road ahead" for the district financially and wants to help solve the crisis. 'I see some not-so-good times and I want to continue to help." Guarneri, a registered nurse at Children's Hospital making her second run for a board seat, fears Livonia is getting close to the point where it won't be providing a quality education for its students. "We don't have sound fiscal integrity; we just have crisis management. I'm particularly concerned about the cuts being proposed for the high schools.

We're doing our teens a big injus-bleeding, gasping his last few breaths.

William MacMain called 911, but Robert was dead when rescue personnel arrived. His friend could face criminal charges, Nowaczck said. No drugs or alcohol were involved. At the MacMain residence Tuesday, Robert's dog, Lady, sat by the door, whining.

"She keeps waiting for Bobby to come back," said the boy's aunt, Barbara Riley. "She runs to the door whenever there is a knock, hoping it's Bobby. She's always going into his room and getting his socks and things. She just doesn't understand."

Bill MacMain described his son as an "average, every day or-dinary kid with a level head." Robert earned A's and B's at school. He had lots of friends.

"If a friend was in trouble, he would spend hours with them walking up and down the street, talking with his arm around their shoulders," the father said. An ROTC honor guard and classmates other attended the memorial service Wednesday afternoon in Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth.

Robert also tinkered with cars, his aunt said.

'He was at my house on Good Friday, and he was so proud because he had just gotten his learner's permit," she said. "He was showing it off and talking about the day he would be al-lowed to drive."

Robert and his brother were not strangers to guns. Their father was a former police officer in Minnesota, and father and sons hunted together. Safety was always stressed, and they took gun safety classes together, the father said. The black-powder rifle that MacMain made with Robert wasn't usually loaded. MacMara was shocked that the rifle was used to kill his son.

Robert was reportedly frightened by a former neighbor who, according to Bill MacMain, had threatened to kill him. After Robert's death, the father also found a large knife under his pillow, one under his bed and a set of tire irons nearby.

"It makes me angry that he was so scared and that he thought no one, not even me, could protect him," Bill MacMain said. "I just wish I had known that things had gone this far."

🖬 'She (Robert MacMain's dog, Lady) keeps waiting for Bobby to come back . . . She runs to the door whenever there is a knock, hoping it's Bobby. She's always going into his room and getting his socks and things. She just doesn't understand.'

Montessori stresses child's freedom

BY JILL HALPIN STAFF WRITER

Some 20 years ago, Kay Neff of Dearborn Heights, was looking for a preschool for her oldest child when she stumbled upon a small non-profit school with seven students.

Impressed with the program's hands-on approach to learning, she enrolled her child and 'watched him thrive.'

The school was Dearborn Heights Montessori school, one of the only Montessori schools in the area at that time.

"I wanted a school that encouraged curiosity and a desire for knowledge," Neff said.

As her other children reached preschool age, she also enrolled them, only to learn that the school was closing. After talking with other Montessori parents who were as pleased with school as she was, Neff purchased the school. She now owns and operates three of the six Montessori centers in western Wayne County.

Physician's theory

Based on the philosophy of Italian physician and educator Maria Montessori (1870-1952), the schools focus on the development of the whole child -- emo tionally, socially and academical

Montessori, who was the first woman in Italy to receive a medical degree, became interested in education as assistant physician at a university psychiatric clinic. She spent time working with disadvantaged youths and formed very distinct opinions on how children learn, said Navaz Bhavnagri of the school of education at Wayne State University.

'One of Montessori's hallmarks is the profound respect it holds for children," said Linda Meyers, an administrator at the Plymouth-Canton Montessori.

"Montessori believed that children are unique individuals who are able to operate in the environment we give them . . . they grow through learning on their own,' Meyers said.

Montessori students are taught to respect themselves as well as one another. One of the first lessons a Montessori student learns is to step carefully around a fellow student's work.

Orderly atmosphere

Respecting one another helps create an orderly atmosphere that is conducive to learning, said Sis-ter Mary Paulita of Our Lady Montessori Center in Livonia. A member of the Felician Order, Sister Paulita has been involved with Montessori for the past 13 years.

Montessori programs emphasize the "completion of cycles," she said.

At Our Lady of Montessori Center, children learn to finish projects and put them away before heading to another activity area. She believes this helps children acquire patience and independence

Police seek clues in stabbing death

BY DARRELL CLEME STAFF WRITER

Police remain baffled by the March 22 murder of a Westland man who was found stabbed to death in his apartment.

Westland Police are seeking help by offering a reward though an amount wasn't disclosed - for information leading to an arrest in the death of 41year-old Jeff Dansby.

Anyone with information is asked to contact the Westland Police Department's detective bureau at 721-6311, said Sgt. Marc Stobbe.

Dansby was found dead with multiple stab wounds when police went to his residence in the Blue Garden Apartments on the south side of Cherry Hill, between Merriman and Venoy. The complex is near the Westland-Garden City boundary.

Dansby, the former head cook at the Speakeasy Lounge in Garden City, was found after police were notified that he hadn't been seen. He had been dead for about 48 hours when his body was found about 2 p.m. March 22, said Robbery has been cited as a possible motive, and Dansby's car has been missing since police found his body. Dansby lived alone and had been last seen at work. His body was found in the bedroom of his apartment.

A manager at the Speakeasy Lounge refused to talk about Dansby when contacted by the Observer, saying he would discuss the case only with Westland police detectives.

Police are asking to be contacted by anyone who may have information about Dansby's death or the disappearance of his car, a 1979 Chevy Caprice. Police agencies nationwide have been placed on alert for the car, but it hasn't vet been found.

Police have described the car as gold or tan in color. It has the license plate number of FAC-216, Haigh said.

The car is a four-door and has rust on the trunk lid and the doors. The trunk lock also is missing, Haigh said.

City will sue to get state grant back

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

By reneging on a $1.3-million rant, state officials may have believed they had closed the book on plans for a new Westland library.

The Observer/ THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1993

But city officials who didn't like the final chapter are writing a sequel. It's called "Lawsuit.'

Following a study session Monday, the Westland City Council is prepared to authorize city attorney Angelo Plakas to draft a lawsuit suing the state for the $1.3-million grant, council President Charles Pickering said.

State Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, attended the study session and encouraged the lawsuit, which is being seen as the last hope of receiving a grant that was promised — and then denied. Faust has long supported more state money for libraries.

II 'They're looking for a way to get money back, and they're picking on Westland.'

> Michael Gorman finance director

City officials recently learned that the state had withdrawn the money, amid allegations that Westland missed a deadline for spending it.

The grant had been promised two years ago, but state budget officials only recently notified the city that it had lost the money for failing to use it by Sept. 15, 1991.

City finance director Michael Gorman has accused state officials of reneging on the grant because of a state budget shortfall.

"They're looking for a way to get money back, and they're picking on Westland," Gorman said.

But the council indicated Monday that it plans to fight back by filing a lawsuit against the state. The city contends it had until September of 1994 to use the money, Pickering said.

The issue is expected to be placed on the council agenda on Monday for official action. Plakas then could proceed with the lawsuit.

Library supporters believed they had reached the halfway fund-raising mark for a new library, estimated to cost $4 million. The $1.3-million grant had been boosted by a $500,000 pledge from the city council Pickering indicated again during a telephone conversation Tuesday that the city still would have to seek some type of special tax to construct and op-erate a new library.

The city now shares a library with the city of Wayne. But that facility is in Wayne, just south of the Westland boundary.

Library supporters have called it appalling that Westland, with 85,000 residents, doesn't have its own library. Some city residents use libraries in_Canton_Township, Garden City, Livonia and other cities.

Before city officials learned that the grant had been withdrawn, they had already hired a consultant to prepare a feasibility study on a library. That report, expected soon, will recommend building a library on county land just west of the Westland police station on Ford Road, between Newburgh and Wayne, Pickering said.

Students learn expression from master poet

BY MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER

On May 19, students at Livonia's Webster Elementary will stand before their parents and recite poems they composed under the tutelage of a master poet.

The intensive immersion in the art of writing poetry begins Monday and lasts until April 30 for students in both the academically talented and emotionally impaired programs at Webster.

The daily lessons will be taught by Northville poet Kathleen Ripley-Leo through a poet-in-residence grant from the Creative Writers in Schools Program through the Michigan Council for the Arts.

'Kathleen Ripley-Leo's visit to us is the happy result of our receiving a state grant," said Pamela Scott of Webster School.

When her 10 days at Webster are over, Ripley-Leo hopes to have taught her students that writing poetry is not as mysterious as it sounds.

"Some youngsters think that writing poetry is something mys-terious, unobtainable," Ripleyterious, unobtainable," Ripley-Leo said. "I show them that writing poetry is not such a mysterious process, but that it does create mystery and magic.

She does this by teaching the voungsters to think metaphorically, that is, to compare one thing with another in a colorful, creative way. "Her presence was like a breath of fresh air," is a common metaphor. When they put their minds to it, Ripley-Leo believes youngsters come up with comparisons much more original and colorful.

In previous workshops Ripley-Leo has held, youngsters have compared green apples to crunchy green balls, pizza sauce to red fire. and olives to the sound of the world turning. "Even when they're so young, I teach them that they have lived long enough to have enough inspiration for poems and stories the rest of their life," Ripley-Leo said. To welcome the poet, Webster School Monday evening is hosting a school art fair and ice cream social Monday evening.

Ripley-Leo has been teaching students poetry for about seven years in such school districts as Northville, Dearborn, Utica and Ann Arbor. She also teaches creative writing workshops at local colleges.

Her visit to Webster will not be the first time she has taught poetry techniques to two different sets of students, both the academically talented and the mentally impaired

At the end of the 10 days, Ripley-Leo hopes to have taught the students to be good observers, to be more descriptive, to write about things they know and to remember that others will read what they write.

"They need to be aware that some words carry emotional baggage," Ripley-Leo said.

Ripley-Leo's most current published books are "The Old Ways, poems about a child first learning the world's secrets, and "Town One South," poems about early Northville commissioned by the Northville Arts Commission and funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

She's also written "Waiting for the Apples,"--"Inner Timbres" and "Out Banks."

Her next book, "Familiar Ground," will be published in late 1993 or early 1994. This book explores the landscape around us, and our ties to the earth.

The report states that "no criminal charges are being sought" due to the child's age. Among other highlights of the report: Flames coming from a window of apartment 152 caused an outside tree to catch fire, helping to spread the blaze to the second floor.

A "critical mechanical failure" occurred when aerial equipment malfunctioned, forcing firefighters to deploy hand lines.

■ A fire crew entered the second floor to battle the blaze, but was "forced from the building by intense heat and smoke," the report said.

Some firefighters failed to follow standard operating procedures, the report said. But, because of the other complications, the report noted, "It is not apparent that the department's standard operating procedures would have altered the outcome.

"Children need to learn order. They need structure in their lives," she said, adding that her program is "quite structured." Although all of the area centers are based on the same philosophy, there are differences, said Neff.

"A school will reflect the ad-ministrators," she said, adding that a parent should observe the schools before enrolling their child.

Montessori classroom

A typical Montessori classroom will include six areas: language, mathematics, science and geography, sensorial, practical life and art. Most centers also offer foreign languages such as French or Spanish.

Maria Montessori firmly believed that children learn though their hands. This sensory motor stimulation is called active learning and classroom materials are specifically created for the handson approach, explained Meyers.

The materials are designed to minimize frustration and are aimed at a child's particular level of ability, said Neff, a former public school teacher who holds a master's degree in educational leadership from Wayne State University.

Children are introduced gradually to the materials by the instructor and are encouraged to master the concepts before progressing to the next step.

By making sure that the child is working with materials at his/her own level, the potential for failure is eliminated. This is called a "prepared environment" and helps a child develop a "quiet self-confidence," Neff explained.

Not without critics-

Montessori has its critics. Some educators dispute the value of the "prepared environment" that a Montessori school provides and say that children need to. learn through their errors.

"Children need to explore and come up with their own answers. Errors are informative. Based on these errors, children's cognitive thinking is resolved," said WSU's Bhavnagri.

Samuel Meisels, professor and assistant dean of education at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, agrees.

"Montessori schools provide some excellent materials, but I would differ in how they are used," said Meisels, a former science teacher in a Montessori school

Although only two area Mon-tessori schools offer elementary programs, all have preschool and kindergarten programs featuring mixed-aged grouping.

In mixed-aged grouping, children ages 21/2-years-old attend the same class as the 5- and 6-yearolds.

Freedom stressed

Montessori proponents believe this method fosters independence and allows a child to advance at his/her own pace.

"Mixed-aged grouping gives a child the ability to progress at their own level. . the older children help the younger ones and the younger children learn from example," said Kathy Saur of the Livonia Montessori school.

Even Montessori's critics agree that cooperative learning can be found in mixed-age grouping and that "it's a desirable attribute of a classroom."

Most area Montessori schools accept children as young as 21/2, except for Our Lady of Montessori Center in Livonia.

We used to accept students at that age . . . we found it takes a long time for them to adjust,' said Sister Paulita.

Meisels noted that 21/2 year olds may have trouble adjusting to a Montessori environment.

"It is hard to generalize, but it's a very intensive program for a 21/2year-old," he said.

The adaptation process "de pends on the individual child" and parents are the best judge of a child's readiness, said Linda Meyers of Plymouth-Canton Montessori.

Montessori theory also maintains that children educate themselves, rather than be educated by others, including teachers, said Neff.

For instance, a Montessori-teacher is called a directress, and his/her main purpose is to observe the children and introduce them to new materials.

Montessori recognized the importance of skillful observation as opposed to standardized testing a method of assessment, 88 WSU's Bhavnagri explained. Contemporary educators agree that skilled observation is the best method of assessment in the classroom and "we encourage all schools to move to this," added Bhavnagri. As a result, Montessori študents are not graded on their performance, said Lynn Gall of Northville Montessori Center. Instead, teachers observe their work with classroom materials and hold conferences with parents.

"This gives parents a better idea of what concepts their children have mastered," Gall said.

No grades

The absence of a grading system also encourages children to learn for the sake of learning, said Neff.

A former public school teacher. Neff said she recognized that children learn quickly what they have to do to achieve a passing grade. We want children to learn from their own intellectual curiosity," said Neff. Other Montessori methods are currently being included into many early education programs, said WSU's Bhavnagri. "Much of what is practiced today (in early childhood education) has its roots in Montessori."

For example, Montessori believed that a child's physical environment should promote autonomy and independence in children. Most preschools and kindergartens now regularly provide childsized furniture.

Although Montessori has helped many children thrive and learn some educator say that it's not for all children.

"Children who have a problem with a delay of gratification may not do well, said Meisels.

Popular schools

Yet, Montessori schools are very popular with some parents. Most schools report full enrollment in past school years.

The Plymouth-Canton and Livonia Montessori schools, both non-profit organizations were opened at the request of parents said Neff.

"At the time I opened the Plymouth-Canton school there was an exodus from the Dearborn area to Plymouth. There is a very low turnover in our schools, once a parent is involved - they tend to stay," she said.

Some, like Lynne Homes, stay even after their own children have finished the program. Homes had two children go through the Montessori program, she now works in the Plymouth-Canton school as a classroom aide.

"I was impressed with the independence the program fostered," said Homes, a Plymouth Township resident.

'My children are now in high school and college. I've never had to say, 'Do your homework.' They are very self-motivated. They set themselves a schedule and get things done," said Homes.

Despite their popularity however, Montessori schools have typically suffered from an elitist image, said Bhavnagri.

"It is an emotionally charged issue. Montessorians feel they are not understood. I see the strengths and weaknesses," she såid.

Gall agrees that the schools have developed an elitist reputa-

"I'm afraid they brought it on themselves," she said, noting that as more people become aware of what Montessori is, the elitist reputation is "breaking down."

'We will just continue to work to, help the students appreciate and respect the work of ourselves, others and the environment," she said.

Encore helps survivor cope with breast cancer

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Virginia Bryant is a survivor, despite years of grief.

Few women better understand the devastation of breast cancer than the 70-year-old Westland woman.

Her daughter, Cathy, had just turned 40 when the cancer that started in her breast spread through her body and took her life. She died in 1984, leaving behind an 8-year-old daughter and a 10-year-old son.

Bryant, still grieving, suffered a stroke after her daughter's death. She recovered only to learn in 1988 that she, too, had breast cancer.

A month before she had surgery in 1989, Bryant's husband suffered a heart attack and died in his sleep. Bryant went ahead with her surgery, a right modified mastectomy, and then received chemotherapy for six months.

June will mark the fifth anniversary of her surgery. "When you get beyond that, you feel pretty safe," she said.

Despite the seemingly cruel hand that fate dealt her, Bryant has rebounded. She made a deci sion to get the most out of life. She went on a Caribbean cruise. She visited California and Hawaii don't stay at home," she said, "Staying home is no good for me.

When she is home, though, Bryant receives support from Encore, a 160-member breast cancer support group that meets weekly at The Forum in Westland. Women from Westland, Garden City, Livonia, Canton Township and communities as far 'away as Flat Rock and Waterford belong to the group.

"I used to cry a lot when I first started going to the meetings," Bryant said. "This group has really helped me.'

At a recent meeting, the women talked openly with the Ob+ server and among themselves about how breast cancer has affected their lives. Some are lucker than others

Some appear to have beaten the disease. They have had no signs of recurrence since their treatment. Others, however, are still fighting cancer. Their stories are different.

Most have had strong support from family and friends. But some feel that the only people who really understand them are their peers in Encore.

The Observer/ THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1993

They all share a common goal, however, to fight the disease that the Michigan Cancer Foundation says will affect one in eight women. In the process, the women have become much more politically active.

Some are going to Washington, D.C., for a May 2 march that is expected to draw women from all 50 states.

"What we're trying to do is get breast cancer declared a national epidemic," said Rosalyn Grace-Hughes, president and founder of the Detroit-based group That's What Friends Are For Inc

The various breast cancer support groups are joining forces to attention to the disease.

"We're interested in a cure, but we're also interested in finding the cause of breast cancer and preventing it," said Encore member Lorene Lewallen of Garden City

ROLL CALL REPORT

Area reps split on family planning bill

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending March 26.

HOUSE

Yes on Family Planning Funds: By a vote of 273 for and 149 against, the House sent the Senate a bill (HR 670) to fund the approximately 4,000 clinics nationwide that use federal money to provide family planning services to the poor. Critics noted that the bill's $238 million cost in fiscal 1994 is 37 percent above the 1993 level. The bill also was challenged for permitting clinics to provide abortion counseling, which was prohibited during the Bush administration.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Bob Carr, D-Pontiac, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, William Ford, D-Ypsilanti. Voting no: Dale Kildee, D-Fiint and Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham.

No on parental notification: By a vote of 179 for 243 against, the House rejected a bid by antiabortion lawmakers to require clinics to alert parents at least two days before a scheduled abortion on a minor, excêpt when delay would cause the girl's death or the pregnancy was caused by her father. It went beyond language in HR 670 (above) requiring federally funded

A yes vote was for stricter parental notification requirements. Area representatives voting yes were: Kildee and Knollenberg. Voting no: Carr, Levin and Ford.

clinics to comply with state laws on parental notification.

SENATE

Budget Resolution Approved: By a vote of 54 for and 45 against, the Senate approved the fiscal 1994 congressional budget resolution (S Con Res 18)_ that projects spending of $1.5 trillion, revenue of $1.5 trillion, revenue of $1.25 trillion and a deficit of neariy $250 billion for the year beginning next October.

Even with its $502 billion in deficit reduction by fiscal 1998, the measure allows the overall U.S. debt to expand from $4.1 trillion at present to about $5 trillion over the five years.

A yes vote supported President Clinton's fiscal plan. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted yes.

Preserved Taxing Social Security: By a vote of 52 for and 47 against, the Senate preserved President Clinton's plan (o raise taxes on Social Security payments to the well-off as part of S Con Res 18 (above). This killed a GOP amendment to eliminate his plan to increase from 50 to 85. percent the portion of Social Security benefits subject to taxation for singles earning more than $25,000 and couples with salaries above $32,000.

A yes vote supported the Social Security tax hike." Levin and Riegle voted yes.

Killed Entitlement Issue Amendment: By a vote of 51 for and 47 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment capping the growth of non-Social Security entitlement spending in the Clinton economic plan. A yes vote was to kill the amendment. Levin and Riegle voted yes

Each center serves more than 200 seniors daily, and Derderian says the program is going well, but the Office of Nutrition wants to reach more seniors in the community.

"So many people don't know about us," Derderian said. "Seniors are invited to come in and as part of their activities, lunch is served. Lunch is part of their socialization. It's an opportunity to get together and socialize with their peers.

Carol Scott, home delivered meals coordinator, said, "Eating proper meals keeps them active so they can get out and meet people. We're not reaching people who could really benefit from the program — the ones who shut themselves in the house:

At the centers, seniors can also play table tennis, billiards or the piano, paint or make crafts, or talk with friends. Each center has a personality and the seniors attend the center where they feel most comfortable.

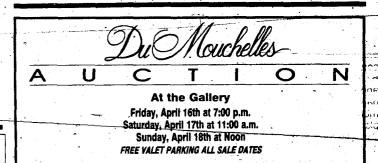

Derderian said seniors find new friendships at the center. The Cochranes met Hart and his wife, Dorothy, through the nutrition program. Later the couples learned that they had lived two blocks away from each other in Detroit. Bob Cochrane and Bernie Hart play table tennis together and recently won the Senior State Olympics. The friends are now inseparable.

Occassionally, seniors find love Since the early 1970s when the nutrition program began, several couples have fallen in love and tied the knot.

"We're emphasizing companionship and socialization and that's a part of it, although we're not into matchmaking," Derderian said.

Good writers can win a trip

The American Library Association is offering three free trips to New Orleans June 26.

All you have to do is write a moving essay of 100 words or less regarding the great affect libraries have had on your life.

The three contestants with the most original and inspiring stories will win a trip for two and be honored at the association's annual conference.

The trips will be paid for by Microsoft Corp., which will also give a personal computer to the top winner.

Turn your essay in to participating libraries by May 18, or mail it to: American Libraries, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron, Chicago IL 60611.

Have a heart, give a heart

The Michigan state department is encouraging everyone to get stickers on the back of their driver's licenses saying they will donate their internal organs for transplants if they die.

On Tuesday, April 20, transplant recipients will visit 35 secretary of state offices between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. to answer questions and pass out material on organ and tissue donation.

Organs and tissues may be recovered from any dead person 75 or younger at no charge to the donor or family. Organ and tissue donation is supported by all major religions and doesn't affect customary funeral arrangements or alter body appearance. Among the organs and tissues they might want to take from you and install in someone else are heart, lungs, kidney, liver, pancreas, bone, eyes and skin.

It's estimated that 1,400 people in Michigan are waiting for transplants right now.

this year as a new law takes effect.

A first conviction of "impaired boating" is a misdemeanor punishable by up to 45 days community service, up to 90 days in jail and/or a fine up to $300.

A first conviction of "operating a watercraft under the influence of alcohol" is punishable by up to 45 days community service, up to 90 days in jail and/or a $100 to $500 fine and suspended boating privileges of six months to one year.

Drunken boaters involved in a crash causing a serious injury face five years in prison, 15 years if they kill someone.

The new law also creates an "implied consent provision," meaning that all boaters have agreed by virtue of operating a boat to submit to a Breathalyzer or chemical test for alcohol or illegal drugs if a cop wants them to.

To refuse the test will cost you a suspension of boating privileges for six months to a year and a $100 fine.

Deer crossing

That's what the Joy-Wayne intersection inadvertently became last Friday afternoon, according to Pat Pattison.

Pattison, who lives on the Westland side of Joy, said three of the four-legged creatures loped across his front yard during a 15-minute span. All made it safely across the street and disappeared somewhere in Livonia, he said.

"We back up to Holliday Park and we get an occassional fox but we haven't had anything like that in a long, long time," Pattison said.

Any more and the public works department will have to put up one of those caution-type road signs to warn approaching drivers.

Report: New school chief costs less

A report by Plante & Moran says the Wayne-Westland Community Schools actually saved money by hiring a new superintendent. The accounting firm compared the compensation package of Superintendent Larry Thomas to that of former school chief Dennis O'Neill.

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Taxpayers are shelling out $26,000 less for the new Wayne-Westland school superintendent than would have been paid to his predecessor, a new report has indicated.

Superintendent Larry Thomas will be paid $111,136 during his first year, which began last July 1, according to a report prepared by the consulting firm of Plante & Moran.

That amounts to $20,413 less than would have been paid this year if former Superintendent Dennis O'Neill had been employed and if he had continued to receive pay increases similar to those he had grown accustomed to receiving, the report said.

O'Neill would have received $131,549 this year, the report said. In addition to the $20,413 savings, the district this year has saved another $5,685 because Thomas "has elected not to be covered by the district's hospitalization plan," according to the report signed by Plante & Moran consultant Jeffrey C. Rahmberg.

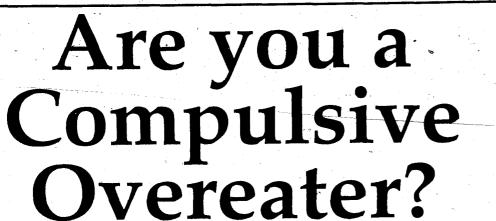

That brings the total savings this year to about $26,000, Rahmberg wrote.

"On a comparative basis, Dr. Thomas' current annual compensation level, including the health insurance coverage savings, is approximately $26,000 less than what would have been paid to Dr. O'Neill had he been employed by the district during the same time period," Rahmberg wrote.

The report notes that it was based on a study of "the employment agreements for each of the superintendents, payroll records, reports filed with the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System, and other pertinent documents supplied by the district for the purpose of confirming the compensation levels.

Other than savings attributed to money and health insurance, the report also noted that Thomas' contract offers 10 fewer vacation days this year and no contract severance provision 'as provided for in Dr. O'Neill's employment agreement.

7. Have you tried to diet for a week (or longer), only to fall short of your goal?

If you answer "yes" to three or more of these questions, you may be a compulsive overeater. You are not alone. Millions of Americans suffer from this disease Compulsive overeating is a painful, relentless illness that interferes with every aspect of life. It is a disease that gets progressively worse if left untreated.

Weight gain often accompanies this illness. But not always. Many compulsive overeaters maintain normal body weight by strict diets, fasting, strenuous exercise, vomiting, or excessive laxative use. These methods are ineffective and medically dangerous.

Weight is not the problem, and dieting is not the solution. The problem is the disease of compulsive overeating, and the solution is a program of treatment and recovery.

The Eating Disorders Recovery Center (EDRC) of St. Mary Hospital offers an outpatient treatment program that leads to lasting recovery. Our approach is comprehensive. We help our patients make lifestyle changes that give them renewed confidence in themselves and more control over their lives. Gradually, the chronic binge/diet cycle is replaced by a healthy, more satisfying, and more productive way of life. With food in its proper place, weight normalizes

At ÉDRC, we work as a team -- psychologist, psychiatrist, physician, nutritionist, and specially trained therapists -- to diagnose and treat eating disorders. This experienced staff provides treatment with understanding and sensitivity.

If compulsive overeating is a problem for you, or someone you love, take the first step toward recovery. Call us today at 591-2936, WE CAN HELP.

A real beauty: "Beauty and the Beast" was the theme of this decorated egg entry by Justin Roberts.

Wildwood kids win ribbons in egg-decorating contest

Wildwood Elementary School's PTA awarded ribbons to the eight winners in its annual Easter egg decorating contest.

The winners, picked from more than 200 entries, are Shawna Byndas, Matt Shillerstrom, Jessica Biglow, Stephanie Biglow, Matt Smitherman, Julie Santo, Tom Tackett, and Jessica Caincross. The eight received ribbons with all contestants having their names entered in a drawing for several prizes.

Judging the entries were Mayor Robert Thomas; Norine

Blake, Wayne-Westland school district associate superintendent for curriculum; Wildwood principal Larry Waynick, and Westland police officer Terry Donahue, who leads the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program at the school on Wildwood at Cherry Hill.

Many district residents have been critical of high salaries paid to school administrators.

In a memo to the school board, Thomas wrote that he has received many questions about his contract. The Observer obtained a copy of the memo.

'It (the contract) is not a topic I enjoy talking about, not because of my contract, but because I do not want to compare my contract to Dr. O'Neill's," Thomas wrote. "I have told the board many times that it is not healthy for our district to look at the past. We must look forward."

Thomas noted that the third-

'Cedargate'

Wood feud raises ethics issue

14A(W)

estland City Hall has a political ethics scandal. The question is who is responsible and what should be done to prevent recurrences in the future.

We call it "Cedargate," but the caper of the missing cedar wood isn't important.

What must be kept in mind is that 7,461 feet of wood, bought for a 1988 renovation of City Hall, is missing. At the same time, city officials took advantage of the city's discount purchasing power at a local wholesale umber yard to buy wood for their own personal or business purposes.

Some of the wood was delivered to a local bar (in which City Councilman Kenneth Mehl is a partner) by two city employees on city time and with a city vehicle — all at the direction of Robert Fritz, the city's building director.

Others involved in benefiting from the city's wholesale price were Charles "Trav" Griffin, who was mayor at the time of the remodeling, and Thomas Smith, who retired last spring as Westland district judge.

The police report said that in Griffin's case, the wood was delivered by a city employee on city time, but with the employee's own truck. In Smith's case, it wasn't clear whether city time or equipment was used to deliver the wood to his home.

Although the improper use of the wood happened nearly five years ago, Mayor Robert Thomas got word of it last October and ordered a police investigation. Police concluded their investigation last month and released a 103page report, consisting mostly of interviews with those involved and copies of canceled checks and related documents.

The use of city employees and equipment is clearly a city charter violation, classified a misdemeanor. But the two DPS employees are no longer working for the city. One retired while the other was fired a year later for other unrelated reasons. But Fritz is still part of the administration.

Theft of the wood, with a value of more than $100, is a felony, although police don't know what happened to it.

Other than the criminal aspects of the case, there is an ethical problem with city officials, past and present, taking advantage of the city's purchasing power and buying material at wholesale prices.

Certainly, private citizens aren't able to get the same benefits as Mehl, Griffin and Smith did — and they shouldn't. The city buys a lot of material and equipment over a typical year, including big-ticket items such as cars and trucks.

If a city official taking advantage of the situation isn't illegal, it should be. Aside from the legal aspects, the actions were clearly unethical and should be discouraged by a political ethics code.

If officials can't see the problem on their own, then something has to be put in writing. Such conduct by a few elected officials only serves to reinforce the stigma that all people who enter into public service do so to benefit themselves. The officials involved here owe taxpayers and other ethical public servants an explanation and an apology.

Stop attack on abortion rights again is making an attempt to limit reproductive freedoms for women, an issue that has been argued, legislated, overruled and reconstituted to the point where all are tired of the ongoing machinations.

One court ruling isn't yet cold when the Senate tries another tack. Don't they get it? Not only does the U.S. Supreme Court see the issue as one of privacy — something so personal that it refuses any attempts to ban abortion. Last year the high court said that any law to limit abortions could not place an undue hardship on the patient.

"Undue hardship" all depends on whose point of view is being considered.

The Michigan Senate now is trying to pass an informed consent law, which would require physicians to provide detailed information to a woman prior to her abortion. The bill also includes a 24-hour waiting requirement. It's another attempt to manipulate women. How many many men c dures, look a doctor's office thought.

The Michigan Senate should look for better things to do than to make taking away reproductive rights for women a perennial quest.

Under this bill, a physician or another qualified medical person, not less than 24 hours before an abortion is performed, must tell the woman how old her embryo or fetus is, show a picture of an embryo/fetus near the same gestation period, specific health risks and possible complications, possible psychological effects and, of course, talk about options such as adoption or keeping the baby.

How many men would opt for vasectomies if they had to follow the same procedure? How many men could listen to details of the procedures, look at pictures and then return to the doctor's office 24 hours later? It's an interesting n light of the outcome of the April 5 millage defeat, I'm amazed at the residents and the politicians of our community. It is quite obvious that they do not care about the children (our leaders of tomorrow) and the value of their homes.

Tax loss knocked

The millage was not asking for more money, it was asking to renew a millage we were paying already, but at a less percentage! The Headlee Override would have assured our district would have received the maximum amount of monies from the State. But NO, because everyone was up in arms due to our homes being assessed higher, they used this opportunity to get even with our children, not the system!

Are residents aware that the higher assessments do not affect the monies received for education? I think not! Why don't our fellow residents find out the facts before committing the children to a lesser education?

Did the mayor support this millage renewal? I don't remember seeing anything telling the community that this millage is necessary to assure the children continue to receive a quality education. Additionally, quality education affects the value of our homes and community. Try to sell your house now and see how the value has dropped drastically.

I commend our new superintendent of schools, Larry Thomas, for spending almost every night over the past several months, selling our school system and the need for the support of the community. Yet, this is the way the community responds by defeating both proposals.

What's next? I'm sure the school board and Dr. Thomas are once again looking at a way to schools within the community to relocate Cooper children. These sites, once operating as elementary schools in the district, were either idle, leased to various businesses, or used by the district for purposes other than elementary education.

Acting on a skewed parental survey presented by the district in May, 1991, which desired to keep the children together in a proximate site (Whittier), our committee concluded that the best long term alternative was to house the children at Jefferson School.

We felt that it was best to keep the children together not just for their physical and emotional well being, but for the long term needs of the district. We realized that the transfer of children piecemeal throughout the district could lead to overcrowding, generate an enormous amount of red tape and and eat up valuable time and taxpayer money in order to process these transfers.

In August 1991, when the idea was first proposed, the lease covering the current day care company at Jefferson was to expire in September. Overwhelming parental support of at least 200 Cooper community members supported the idea of transferring the children to Jefferson. These parents offerred their services to help facilitate the move. The only problem was convincing the school district. Unfortunately, then as now, trustees opted to take short term losses over long term gains.

Currently, board trustee Joe Laura believes the plan to redraw district boundaries and increase class sizes will alleviate the problem of overcrowding. It is obvious that board member Joseph Laura hasn't the knowledge or the experience of teaching to an oversized class where the quality of educational product is lowered.

Informed consent is an idea that has been voted on before by the Legislature. A year ago — before the last Supreme Court ruling — the more conservative faction of the Legislature went after an all-out ban, chipping away at the rights, especially the rights of poor women to Medicaid-funded abortions. And those under 18 must submit to parental or court consent.

Now that a more drastic ban won't fly, the Michigan Senate wants to pass a bill that would make pregnant women who already have decided to terminate their pregnancies listen to a laundry-list of medical and social rhetoric and then wait 24 hours, which is especially a hardship for women in rural parts of the state who don't have easy access to abortion.

Again, the Michigan Senate should look for better things to do than to make taking away reproductive rights for women a perennial quest. It's obvious that the majority of people in the state don't want the Legislature to interfere with parts of their lives that are unquestionably private.

If the Legislature wants to do something about abortion, it instead should require sex education and counseling for teenagers. It seems that informed consent should be a part of a sexual encounter — when knowledge can stop an unwanted pregnancy — and not a punishment for women who become pregnant because they were ignorant of or unable to obtain birth control. prevent a disaster in our community. How would the residents feel if all of a sudden we don't have our schools open, like another Michigan school system?

How are the residents going to feel if the children don't have transportation, reading assistance, athletics, student co-curricular activities, library support, maintenance and school improvement programs? Who are the residents going to blame when the children can't get into a college of their choice due to less than a quality education?

Maybe the community should have thought about all of these questions before pushing down the "no" button on the millage!

Board criticized

t comes as no surprise that the Livonia school district is facing an overcrowding problem in its southeast section. We forsaw this problem nearly two years ago our group, Concerned with the Health and Environment of our Community's Kids (CHECK), presented findings to the board based on electing a safe, proximate site for children affected by the Cooper landfill fiasco.

A CHECK Alternate Site Search Committee investigated the possibility of using one of six Perhaps Mr. Laura, who works at Ford Motor Co., has forgotten the creed of his employer: "Quality is Job One"? Mr. Laura also banks on the idea that parents in the Hayes community will passively allow their children to be sent to an area unproven to be safe (Cooper at Whittier) if the boundaries are redrawn. One can only imagine the political storm that this decision will bring down upon the board.

Board member Richard McKnight and administrator Kent Gage should be lauded for their sudden realization that the long-term needs of the children and the district precipitates reopening Jefferson school. Unfortunately, this conclusion, along with saving many taxpayer dollars, could have been enacted two years ago.

POINTS OF VIEW

Drug, alcohol problem must be kept in public eye

he impact of a Farmington Hills firm's new kit for home drug testing is not that there is such a kit.

Unless it is utilized under the supervision of a professional substance abuse counselor, it could actually do more harm than good. Because, according to police and substance abuse professionals, dealing with suspected drug use by our kids may be more than we as parents are equipped to handle.

Rather, the impact of such a kit is that it gets people talking about drugand alcohol abuse in our local communities again.

It hasn't gone away. It has decreased. But the new, hot-off-thepresses results of the annual national survey of secondary school students are less optimistic than past reports by the University of Michigan researchers.

In particular, the report keys in on increases in the use of drugs and alcohol by eighth graders, who are mostly 13 and 14 years old. And the researchers found that these eighth graders, and to a lesser degree 12th graders, don't perceive drugs as cocaine, crack and marijuana as being quite as dangerous as students did the year before.

"The drug abuse issue has pretty much 'fallen off the screen' in this country, both figuratively and literally," said U-M's Lloyd Johnston. ". . Political leaders and the press talk about it less, television networks have backed off on their prime time placement of anti-drug ads, and in general, national attention has moved away from the issue."

He's right.

Thinking that drug and alcohol abuse was well on the downward trail, our communities and our newspapers turned to other areas: particularly diversity, abortion rights, sexual and physical abuse, educational equity, AIDS. Somehow neither the local press nor our local communities are able to keep all of our concerns in proper focus.

And I know it is frustrating to those agencies, such as the local chapters of Families in Action, because they know the problem, and especially in our area the alcohol problem, is still alive and well.

That's why it was neat to see Southfield-Lathrup High School force us back to the drug and alcohol arena with their "Grim Reaper Day." It was deliberately held last week just prior to spring break.

Sponsored by the school's Students Against Driving Drunk chapter, it was designed to remind that someone dies every 24 minutes in an alcohol-related accident. So every 24 minutes, junior Joanne Sitto rang the school bell, and the Grim Reaper, Jennifer Gruber, dressed in hooded black, selected a student from a S-L classroom to represent an alcohol-related fatality.

By the end of the day, 14 students were dressed in black representing the 14 people who had died somewhere in the country at the hands of a drunk driver.

The SADD chapter at Southfield-Lathrup got the idea from other schools that have done it. And it certainly seems to be a project that should be modeled at all of our local high schools.

Then each of our papers could do a story.

And that is, according to Johnston, some of what we need. Keeping the problem in the public eye.

He had a good analogy:

"Just as we think of drug dependence for the individual as a chronic, sometimes relapsing disease, we need to think of drug problems in society as chronic, relapsing problems." "Like it or not, we are in this for the long term," Johnston said.

A hopeful sign is the thrust to put warnings on televised beer and wine ads that the products could be hazardous to your health. And the recent publicity that many of our local health and educational institutions hold stock in alcohol or cigarette companies is causing them discomfort — and already some have said they will sell their shares.

I remember that one of my daughters was out ill for the two weeks of middle school in which grammar was taught. We can't afford to have that happen on the subject of drugs and alcohol. We owe each generation a thorough education on a subject so potentially hazardous. And the press isn't excused from this endeavor.

Freedom of Information Act applies to 'all persons' he customer was very dissatisfied.

He had ordered a videotape. The vendor gave him a long story about why it was unavailable. Finally the vendor said it was available — for $78.

The customer paid but never saw the videotape and never got back his $78.

Sounds like a nightmarish version of an ordinary consumer problem. Well, the vendor was the law enforcement system in Detroit. The videotape was of an interrogation. The very dissatisfied customer was an inhabitant of the Charles Egeler Facility, Jackson — in other words, a guest of the Michigan Department of Corrections.

He was in my audience Saturday when I spoke about the state Freedom of Information Act.

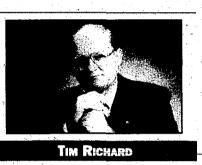

FOIA is a law that applies to "all persons." You don't have to be a white male adult, an adult, or even a citizen to make an FOIA request. A 12-yearold Mexican wetback has the same rights under FOIA as the Wayne County prosecutor, who once had to use the act to pry evidence from a certain mayor. I'm not an attorney and don't file FOIA lawsuits. The Michigan FOI Committee does stock copies of the law and major court decisions. We encourage people to exercise their rights under Michigan's twin "sunshine laws," FOIA and the Open Meetings Act.

The inmates were upset over a ruling against David DeSorcy, who sued the Department of Corrections and its library. DeSorcy wanted to inspect final orders in prison discipline cases and their supporting records.

But the state Court of Appeals held that the Legislature had removed disciplinary hearings from the Administrative Procedures Act, thus removing those hearings from the definition of "contested cases" for purposes of FOIA.

Inmates can't learn the underlying reasoning, just the final order. They want to know why, when four men have done the same thing, one gets off, one gets five days discipline, and so on. Does personal favoritism have anything to do with it? Or maybe race? It's quests. At the State Law Library, one floor below the Michigan Supreme Court in Lansing, I pay 10 cents a page for copying. Most libraries charge 10 cents. Some commercial copiers are even cheaper.

At that, prison inmates are better off than people requesting information from the Livonia Police Department, which charges $5 for the first page and $2 for the second page. Police in Farmington Hills charges $4 and in Redford Township $3 for the first page.

A black inmate wanted to know how juries were selected in an outstate county. The county seat city has a large black neighborhood, but somehow his jurors came from the white population of the surrounding townships.

The prosecutor wrote him that the jury selection process was "exempt" under FOIA. The inmate smelled a rat. The inmate smelled right, too. I had discussed jury selection with the clerk of that county. Yes, indeed, he did put older white township residents on the jury panel because they were looking for something to do and needed a bit of extra cash.

We chuckled over the obtuse Pontiac police sergeant who denied an inmate's FOIA request because "the case was still under investigation." Not even a Bloomfield Hills lawyer could get Pontiac cops off the hook in the Court of Appeals for that booboo.

Some friends think I'm nuts for being nice to inmates.

It's not Liberalism. I learned my lesson. When authoritarian government intends to shaft people, it starts with minorities like inmates, high school editors, Gypsies and Jews. To protect the suburban white middle class, we have to protect other groups first.

Schools, teachers must focus on children, not power plays

UESTION: At a social outing, I heard a group of parents talking about the 1993-94 teacher contract negotiations that are going on in our community. Some were saying the Michigan Education Association will target our district for a strike next fall because we have some money. Some of these parents have already been laid off from General Motors and other parents are in fear being laid off. I didn't hear much sympathy for teacher strikes this year. Do you think there will be many teacher strikes this fall?

Answer: The Michigan Education Association is at a crossroad. The days of the militant teacher strike to gain community support that hopefully raises the anger of local citizens toward school administration and boards of education are over. The MEA, over the years, has performed superbly for teachers. Salaries are decent, benefits excellent, working conditions improved far beyond what I experienced as a young teacher in the '60s. An era when my former Trenton High School classmate, driving a dump truck, made much more money than I and didn't hesitate to rub it in. An era when I paid my own retirement, Blue Cross, dental and other benefits.

Auto unions in the metropolitan Detroit area were the role models in the '60s when the right for teachers to negotiate was made law — when I was president of the Plymouth Education Association. Indeed, I can remember Ken Bannon, Reuther's right hand man, telling me, "Jim, you have to get this in your mind — it is no longer professional begging, it's professional bargaining. Take your hat out of your hand and quit shuffling your feet in front of the superintendent."

Good advice at that time and appropriate for those of us who got into education, not for money, but to teach kids. Which is still true for most educators today.

Ø

However, this is a new era! The MEA and local teacher organizations need to consider G.M., Chrysler and Ford automotive unions' change of philosophy since their plants started relocating in Tennessee and with Mexico breathing down their back.

Automotive management and union leadership is now moving into a more collegial relationship — a sharing of the decision making power for survival as opposed to the old adversary position of striking until it hurts them in the pocket. Auto union's focus now is on survival — how to save the company and keep employment in the good ole USA.

Similarly, teacher and administrative representatives, in this era of diminishing resources, need a very clear focus on the needs of the children as opposed to power plays.

The truth is that teacher wages in Southeastern Michigan, along with New York and California are the highest in the country. And the California union will need a trip to Fantasy Island if they think the upward wage trend over the past 20 years is going to continue. California is flat broke!

And in Michigan, increased millage votes are in for troubled times. However, it will be a tragedy for education if citizens vote down any and all renewals to keep present programs going or bond issues for roofs that keep the rain off children's heads. A "destroy the system" position is not the answer for the '90s.

No more an answer is a teachers' strike led by verbally abusive malcontents who hate any and all administrators — for whatever reason.

You ask, "Do you think there will be many teacher strikes this fall?" Very few, if any. The uncertainty of Engler's plan, the economy, Sears turning into a WalMart, G.M. possibly going under leads me to believe the MEA will not promote strikes as the answer. The MEA would be committing professional suicide in these trying times.

So let's hope Boards of Education, Central Office Administration, the MEA and local teacher organizations finally figure out how to work in a collegial atmosphere, an authorityand power-sharing model, as opposed to more of the same — the strikes, the angry citizens, the kids deprived — an antiquated system that has no support of the citizens — an anachronism for these times.

SCC welcomes 2 to management team

Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, has named Richard "Rick" J. Norton of Troy as senior manager-systems and technology.

Suburban Communications Corp. is a Livonia-based publisher of community newspapers, specialty publications and information services.

Also named to a new post in the corporation is Chris Butland, who will work as systems technician/ networking and telecommunications.

The two appointments were announced recently by Richard D. Aginian, SCC president. Norton was previously project manager for Arbor Drugs, Inc. 'We are delighted to have a professional of Mr. Norton's caliber join our technical team as we proceed with comprehensive systems innovation across our company," said Aginian.

Norton will report to C.S. Wood, vice president of manufacturing at SCC.

Norton's previous experience includes work with Gannett Co.

Inc., where he participated in development systems support to launch USA Today and with that company's outdoor advertising, radio and TV operations.

He was senior marketing support specialist for Digital Equipment Corp. and a field engineer for IBM. He also worked as operations group director for Micro Magic Rating Services.

Norton holds a bachelor's degree from the University of North Carolina, where he enrolled after serving three years in the U.S. Army.

Butland's responsibilities will include installation, mainte-nance, repair and end-user support for new and existing systems.

He previously worked at Ina-comp Computer Centers, where he specialized in desktop publishing and was responsible for assisting the sales staff on pre-sale calls for Macintosh computers and network solutions.

He also worked with Computer Depot and the J.L. Hudson Co., where he was an electronic sales consultant.

Long-range goal

Cassar draws worldly rave reviews

By BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

It's happening all so fast for 19year-old Jeff Cassar.

In fact, it's a long way from tending goal for Livonia Churchill

High School, or playing the nets for his youth club soccer team, Vardar III.

After starring last month for Team coach Bobby Howe said. "He's participated in all our tours

"I've seen him grow as a soccer player, but also into a mature and very sensible person.

Listed at 6-feet-2, 182 pounds, Howe calls Cassar "the ideal size for a goalkeeper."

"It's not so much his athleti-

Cassar will immediately fly to New Orleans to try out for the World University Games (July 6-19 in Buffalo, N.Y.). He'll return to Miami for another stint with the U.S. World Cup team before heading June 19 to San Antonio, Tex. for the Olympic Sports Festival tryouts.

Loading up: Andy Kummer of Redford Catholic Central fired a three-hitter, but was on the short end of a 1-0 defeat Monday against Dearborn Divine Child,

the U.S. Under-20 squad in Australia, Cassar received the ultimate compliment. He was invited to train a week with the USA's World Cup team in Mission Viejo, Calif., right alongside a host of veterans, including goalies Tony Meola and Brad Friedel.

"I really couldn't believe it, I'd call my mom (Linda) and she couldn't believe it either." Cassar said. "It's crazy. I guess it's hit me all at one time.

The freshman from Florida International University caught the eye of U.S. assistant coach Timo Liekoski during Team USA's four-game swing in Australia, the seventh World Youth Championship for the FIFA/Coca-Cola Cup.

Cassar makes name

The Livonian sparkled in goal, particularly in losses to England (1-0) and Brazil (3-0). Team USA also beat Turkey (6-0) and tied South Korea (2-2) with Cassar in net.

"His performance was incredible," said U.S.S.F Press Officer Jim Froslid. "He was still the story even after the U.S. team had left. He was their most consistent player in the four games.

Cassar had started 15 games since joining the U.S. Soccer Federation's Under-20 squad in 1992, but recently played second fiddle behind the team's other goalkeeper, Rick Koczak of Wallingford, Conn., at the CONCACAF Qualifying Tournament (held last May in British Columbia, Canada).

Cassar dldn't even know he was going to play until the day before Team USA's opening-round match (March 7) against Turkey.

Coach not surprised

"I've worked with Jeff the last two years," Under-20 National cism, but more his determination, desire and attitude," Howe said. "Jeff's work ethic has been superb. His attitude has gotten him where he is today.

"He played very well for us. made some outstanding saves and made some good decisions. But he also made some errors. He's the type, though, who will learn from his mistakes.

'There's no question he's one of the top goalkeepers in this country, it not one of the top in the world for his age.'

That's heavy stuff, indeed coming from the former first division player from West Ham United in the English Football League.

Back to school

Cassar, meanwhile, is trying to catch up on his classwork in between daily collegiate practices at Florida International, located in Miami.

He missed nearly six weeks of school (with the NCAA's blessing) and admits having difficulty catching up.

"I'll probably end up taking some incompletes," he said.

When classes end April 28,

Jeff Cassar goaile stars

Cassar then is expected to be given a two-week tryout in London with Arsensal, one of the English League's premier teams. Details are still being worked out.

The young lad apparently caught the eye of English pro scouts in Australia.

In the 1-0 loss against England, Cassar was beaten only by Chris Bart-Williams, one of 10 Premier League players on their Under-20 squad. Cassar twice stone-walled Nick Barmby, who makes $3 million per year with Tottenham Hotspur.

Cassar's training habits

"My goalie coach (Tony DiCic co) has been with me at every turn," Cassar said. "I've really haven't changed my style. It's more mental practice and better positioning. We work a lot on crosses.'

The college game has also sharpened Cassar's reflexes.

"I got scored on (in the fall) more than I like, but it was a learning experience," said the Churchill grad. "The game is faster and more physical. We also played a tough schedule, which helped.'

Cassar, ironically, was lightly recruited by NCAA Division schools.

His roommate and Region tournament teammate, Trent Tokas, a native of St. Louis, Mo. is a sophomore at Florida International. He steered Cassar toward the Miami campus.

Arriving last fall, Hurricane Andrew first hit, then Cassar. "We had to leave campus," the Livonian recalls of the storm. "We had no power, no water for two weeks. The school got trashed quite a bit."

Both could be mottoes for this year's Madonna University softball team. The Lady Crusaders have thus far been extremely efficient at finding ways to lose.-

They did it Monday in an important double-header against NAIA District 23 foe Aquinas College at Massey Field in Plymouth. Facing the top pitcher in the district, Jodi Borowicz, didn't bother them - they rocked her for six hits and three runs in the first four innings of the opener.

In the second game, they scored five times in the first inning. But they couldn't manage to gain a win in either, losing 5-3 and 7-6.

"It seems like we're playing to said a frustrated Dave lose," Racer, Madonna's coach. "Our two pitchers pitched well enough to win. It's very hard to take. You jump out to a lead like that (in the second game) and you figure you're going to win one. But it just didn't happen.

What doomed Madonna was its fielding. The Crusaders committed 14 errors in the twinbill eight in the first game, six in the second. Julie Terrasi was the losing pitcher in the opener, but she allowed just two earned runs.

Lynda Weichel was the second game loser; just three of the seven runs she allowed were earned. Borowicz, the district's MVP last year, pitched three innings of shutout ball in relief in the second game to earn the victory.

In the first game, Madonna got a two-run single from Weichel in the second inning and a triple from Kim Supron followed by a run-producing base hit from Jill Burt in the third. But Aquinas, now 4-0 in the district, regained the lead with a run in the fifth, then added an insurance run (unearned) in the seventh.

Supron and Burt each had two hits in the game, with Supron scoring twice.

The Crusaders started out the second game by pushing across five runs in the first. Supron singled in a run, Michelle Birchmeier brought in a run on a fielder's choice, Kristen Wasil singled in two more and Hughana Wilkie delivered one with a sacrifice fly.

Aquinas answered with two runs in the bottom half of the first, but Madonna pushed its lead to 6-2 on Holly Jondro's runscoring base hit in the second. That was as much as the offense could muster. Aquinas closed the gap with a run in the second, then tied it with a three-run rally in the fourth.

Borowicz slashed an RBI single in the fifth to bring home the game-winning run.

Jondro and Supron each had two hits for Madonna, now 7-17 overall and 2-4 in the district.

'As bad as we were playing, we still should have split," said Racer. "But if you can't pick up the ball, it doesn't matter how many runs you score. The way we're playing, you can't take any-thing for granted."

Still, Racer refused to give in. "I have a good feeling that we're going to make the playoffs," he projected. "There's such a thing as peaking."

ANN HEALEY/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

With the toughest part of the schedule behind them, Racer believes the Crusaders can turn it around and reach the four-team district tournament. The tournament winner gets a berth in the NAIA Regionals.

Aquinas, Northwood and Siena Heights are the top district teams, and Madonna has already played Northwood and Aquinas. Still, the team can't afford another defensive performance like Monday's, and it must improve its hitting (the team batting average is .264; last season, it was .320).

The next week could go a long way towards determining the Crusaders' season. They play at the Indiana University-Purdue University-Indianapolis Tournament this weekend, then host Spring Arbor Tuesday and Concordia Wednesday in district double-headers before traveling to Siena Heights for a twinbill next Thursday.

Ex-Observerland stars make mark nationally

When the U.S. Under-20 National Soccer Team competed last month in the seventh annual World Youth Championships for the FIFA/Coca-Cola in Australia,. Michigan was represented more than any state on the 17-member squad.

Specifically, all three Michigan players were former All-Observer players including goalie Jeff Cassar and Mike Gentile, both of Livonia Churchill High; along with Plymouth's Kerry Zavagnin, a product of Redford Catholic Central.

While Cassar's stellar play (see related story) was the most talked about as far as the U.S. team was concerned, Under-20 National Coach Bobby Howe also appreciates the efforts of Zavagnin and Géntile, a pair of midfielders.

The Shamrocks scored three runs in the seventh to break a 2-2 tie. Four straight walks produced one run with one out and Sanchež and Gutt drove in the other two runs with singles.

Sanchez is sharing time behind the plate and in the outfield with Hicks, who has signed with Eastern Michigan University. Gutt, meanwhile, is just happy to be on the team after being cut in '92.

Gutt also got cut from the CC basketball team as a junior before being a key member of the 92-93 squad.

"Gutt looks like he hits the ball better than a year ago," Salter said. "He moves pretty good, puts the ball in play. Sanchez is an excellent catcher, runs the bases well and is a good bunter. It's a toss up right now (behind the plate) with Hicks and Sanchez. I'm comfortable with all three DC scored a pair of runs off CC Kapla. Pratt tripled in the third and scored on a sacrifice fly by Hansen. Ryan doubled in the fifth to drive in a run.

Cougars divide twin bill

Adams won the first game, 4-3, before the Cougars came back to win the nightcap, 9-5.

Garden City is 3-1 overall.

The Cougars chased Adams starting pitcher Andy Mychek from the mound after scoring five runs with two outs in the second inning of Game 2. Brent McCarrick and Alan Trudell stroked consecutive doubles followed by singles from Jason Workman, Bill Bell and Jason Holton and a walk to Chad Perkey.

Perkey earned the victory on the mound to move his record to 2-0. Perkey, who lasted 61/3 innings, allowed 10 hits, one walk and struck out two. Tony Zwicka pitched 3/3 innings of hitless relief. Workman, Bell and Trudell finished with two hits each. Workman drove in three runs, Bell had an RBI and Trudell contributed two RBI.

Garden City fell behind 3-0 in Game 1 and lost 4-3.

Damon Villereal was the winning pitcher for Adams, scattering five Garden City hits and striking out eight. Doug Oliver, who went the distance, suffered the loss for the Cougars. Oliver, 1-1 overall, helped his own cause with two doubles and an RBI.

The Cougars scored two runs in the seventh to cut the deficit to 4-. 3. Ken Young and Trudell, who both reached base on errors, scored for the Cougars. Bell's ground-out scored Young, and Perkey's single sent Trudell home

Adams was led by Ryan Ward's two hits and one RBI.

TRENTON 5-4, RU 2-6: Redford Union and Trenton split a doubleheader Monday at Trenton.

varsity to throw relief, and he had quite a day," RU coach Rick Berryman said.

Sophomore Brian Berryman, senior Jesse Sund and Steve Smith led RU's nine-hit attack in Game 2. Berryman was 2-for-4 with two RBI, Sund was 2-3 with two stolen bases and a run scored and Smith was 2-5 with one run scored. Larry Narkiewicz added two RBI on sacrifices. RU had a 7-6 advantage in hits in the first game but Trenton freshman pitcher Nick Roussey was able to pick up the complete-game win.

Trenton scored three runs in the sixth off RU losing pitcher David Karrick to break a 2-2 tie. Karrick was pitching in relief of Mike Bierke, who allowed three hits and struck out three over five innings

Smith had two hits, scored a run and stole a base for RU. Narkiewicz tripled and had an RBI. Glenn Dendell was 2-3 with two runs scored for Trenton.

Beaufait finds way to San Jose

HOCKEY

BY NEAL ZIPSER STAFF WRITER

Minor league hockey player Mark Beaufait was resigned to the fact that he'd finish this season with Kansas City of the International Hockey League. Then Beaufait's life suddenly changed. The Livonia native received an unexpected phone call from the parent club, the San Jose Sharks of the National Hockey League.

Out of the blue, the Sharks dialed 911.

They needed Beaufait to join the club on an emergency recall after the suspension of Dave Maley for three games.

"I was very surprised and nervous," Beaufait said. "I feel ready, but then at times I think I may need more time in the minors.

Beaufait was placed at left wing on the Sharks' third and fourth lines. After two games, Beaufait's big moment came Thursday at the Great Western Forum against the Los Angeles Kings

With a couple of Beaufait's brothers and friends watching on satellite television back home, the Kings and Sharks

With just over a minute left in net while Beaufait prepared himself for a pass on the wing. Morris faked a shot and fed Beaufait standing alone about 15 feet out. Beaufait one-timed the puck past the Los Angeles goaltender Kelly Hrudey for his first-ever NHL goal and point.

Celebration ensued as Beuafait was mobbed with his arms raised. The puck was taken out of play and will be delivered to him on a plaque.

Gretzky's goof didn't diminish Beaufait's thoughts on the superstar or the league itself.

"He's better than I thought." Beaufait said. "It was weird playing out there after growing up and watching those guys. The players are so big and so strong.

Beaufait's goal was the lone San Jose highlight as the Sharks went on to lose 2-1, dropping their record to a dismal 11-70-2. San Jose has one more game remaining (tonight against Calgary), and while the Sharks will stay home as the NHL playoffs begin next week. Beaufait will rejoin Kansas City as it prepares for the first round of the IHL playoffs against Milwaukee.

Beaufait has played in 66 games for Kansas City this season and is third on the team in scoring with 19 goals and 40 assists for 59 points.

"I feel good about our chanc-," Beaufait said. "We were last in the league on Dec. 12, but were able to finish fifth."

After attending Stevenson High, Beaufait went on to help Northern Michigan University win the 1991 NCAA hockey championship.

Beaufait said he believes he will be given a good shot of making the Sharks' club next fall in training camp.

He is one of several Livonia-Westland area natives to play this season in the NHL.

Al Iafrate (Bentley High), who boasts the league's hardest shot, continues to star with the Washington Capitals. Westland's Mike Modano is near the top in scoring with the Minnesota North Stars.

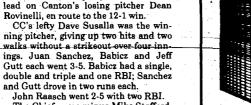

Other players who have appeared in the NHL this season are Livonia Franklin's Mike Donnelly, a regular with the LA Kings, Livonia summer resident Rich Kromm (New York Islanders) and Stevenson's Chris Tancill (Red Wings).

Local author to sign book at area libraries

Five public libraries in Wayne and Oakland counties will celebrate National Library Week April 18-24 by hosting autographing parties for Redford Township suspense author Robert C. Wilson.

Wilson will autograph his latest book "Second Fire," published March 1.

Libraries hosting book-signing parties are:

■ Wayne Oakland Library Federation, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, April 15, 33030 Van Born, Wayne. ■ Auburn Hills Public Library, 6:30-8:30 p.m. Monday, April 19, 3400 E. Seyburn. ■ Taylor Community Library, 5:30-7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April

Copies of "Second Fire" ($5.50) will be available for sale at each library. The allure of fire to man is both its compelling and fearful nature. And in the tradition of Native American Indians, fire also is all-powerful. "Second Fire" draws from the myths and modern problems of Native American Indians to pen this terror-suspense story.

The Ojibwa Indians protest a planned excavation of an ancient burial site led by anthropologist Christopher Fielding. Attemptinga compromise, Fielding recuits Native American Indian anthropologist Jean Shawshequay to supervise the dig, hoping to assuage any accusations of sacrilege.

But a radical Indian rights group, headed by an intense Ojibwa named Blackbear, is insulted by this compromise. His group first responds with petty terrorism against the dig workers. But Blackbear takes it one step further by summoning the spirits of The Ancient Ones. And the death and destruction, by fire, begins.

The police and Fielding cannot stop' the force of the Ancients. Only Jean may be the answer. But can she convince Chris of the true source of these deadly fires. And, more importantly, will she be able to stop it?

Other Wilson suspense thrillers include "Crooked Tree" and "Ice-fire."

Gov. John Engler will use an Earth Day observance April 20 to sign Sen. Robert Geake's trailways act.

"Citizens of Michigan and all outdoor enthusiasts are big winners today," said Geake, R-Northville, after the Senate unanimously concurred in House amendments.

The plan is to turn idle rail corridors into recreational facilities. Under a package of bills, the Department of Natural Resources will work with local units to develop multi-use trailways for bicycling, hiking and equestrian uses. Geake's bill would:

Ficano's request to block airport force fails

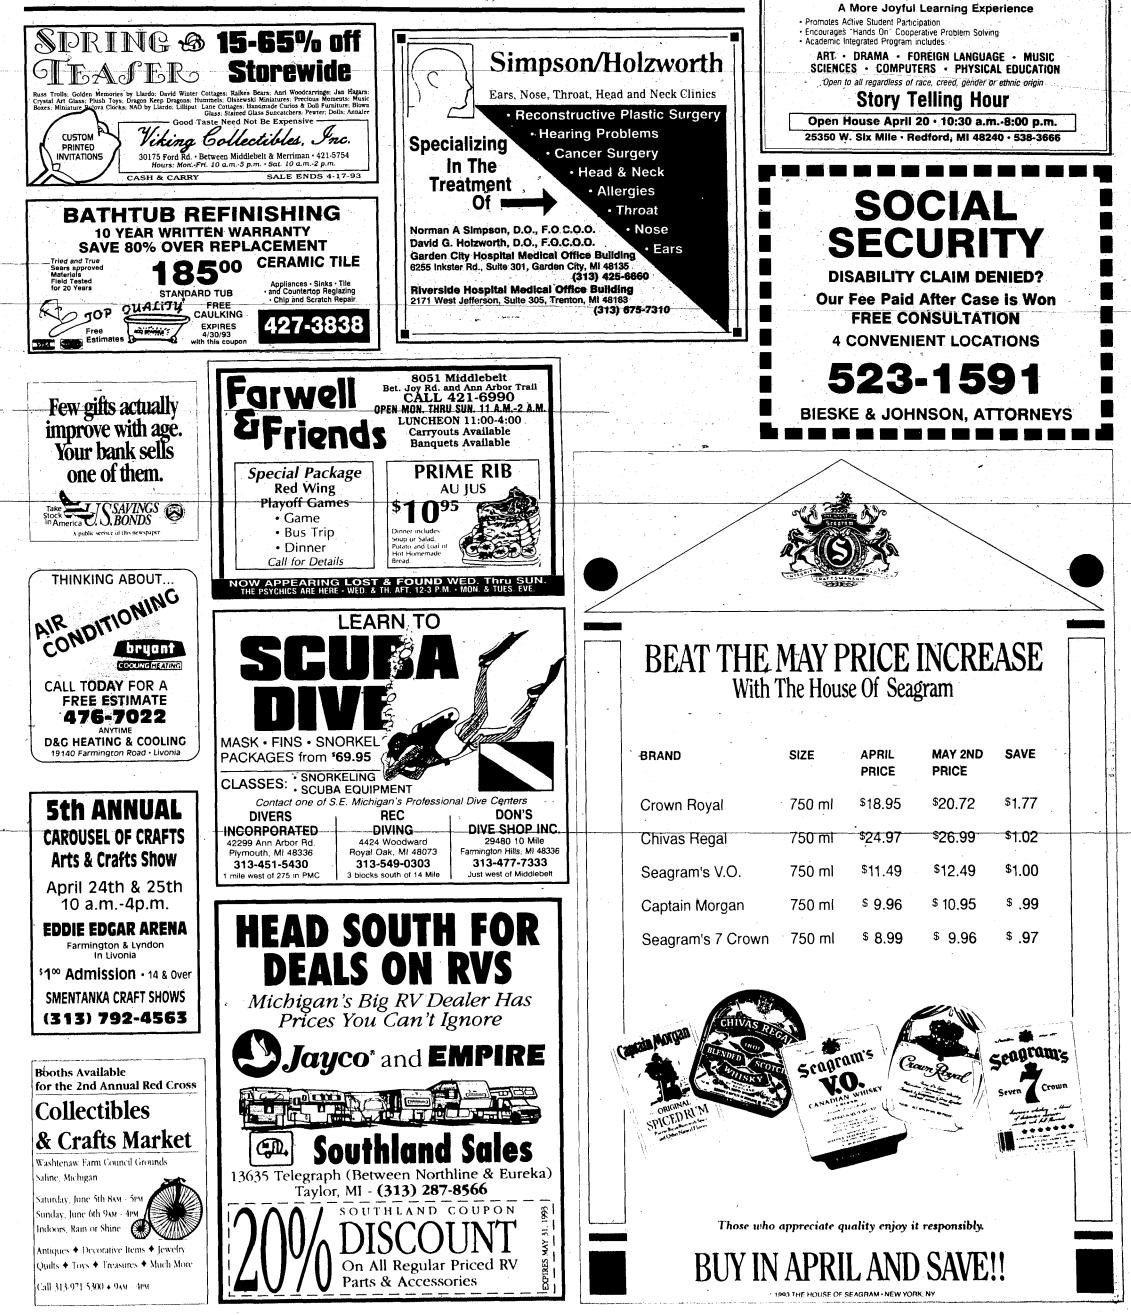

An attempt by Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano to block a controversial plan to establish a separate airport police force was exiled Tuesday to committee by the Wayne Board of Commissioners.

Some county staffers suggested that the plan will die there.

Ficano was on hand to fight off the "attack on his turf" Tuesday, but was left waiting in the wings when the amendment, introduced by Commissioner Bernard Parker, was not even considered by commissioners.

Airport director Robert Braun has studied the value of having a separate airport police force and recommended creation to County Executive Edward McNamara. Braun said Wednesday that he is waiting for the "go-ahead" from McNamara before setting the plan in motion.

The executive's staffers said last week that McNamara was "not involved" in the issue.

Concert features Trinidad Steel Band

Southfield's Concert in the Garden Series will present Hugh Borde's Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band 11 a.m. Sunday, April 18, at the Marriott Hotel, 27033 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Concert and continental break fast served at 10:30 a.m., $7.50, concert and coffee only, $4. For information, reservations, call 354-4717.

The band performs a repertoire of music that ranges from calypso and reggae to classical and rock'n'roll on oil drums.

During the days after World War II, when it was impossible to get instruments to play their calypso music on, the natives of Trinidad discovered that they could play tunes on abandoned steel oil drums. Thus began the original steel band, from which this group evolved.

The Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band has performed at Rockefel-ler Plaza, Central Park and Lincoln Center Plaza in New York. the Pan American Union in Washington D.C. and the Montreal Museum of Fine Art. The band also toured two years with Liberace.

The Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band is composed of family members led by Hugh Borde. who has been the recipient of numerous awards in his native Trinidad. He is-also-one of the founders of the steel band movement.

era. "This story is about the camaraderie among the bohemians and the extent friends will go to support each other," said Canadian Patterson, a graduate of Lahser High School and the University of Michigan Music School.

In the opera's final touching moments, Patterson will sing the aria, "Vecchia zimarra," as the philosopher Colline sets out, in the dead of winter, to pawn his overcoat to pay for a doctor for his sick friend Mimi.

This story is about the camaraderie among the bohemians and the extent friends will go to support each other.'

- James Patterson

"Often we see Colline portrayed as self-centered because in this aria he bemoans the loss of his valued coat, but Colline is really socially awkward. He backs off when dealing with people, preferring to crawl inside himself instead," Patterson said.

This is the third time Patterson has sung in this opera, the opera he debuted in at the San Francisco Opera 10 years ago. Since then the 34year-old singer, whose 6-foot-6-inch appearance is more like a basketball player, has been singing Fafner in numerous "Der Ring des Nibelungen" (Richard Wagner's four series opera masterpieces) and appeared in the video of Peter Sellers' avante-garde "Don Giovanni."

"Colline is the first role I have sung where the character is younger than I am," said Patterson.

Age is vital to the visual success in any "La Boheme" production which is one reason Mitchell Krieger, director of artistic resources, is thrilled with Patterson and other cast members in this production. They are all look like the young bohemians.

"La Boheme" is one of the ABC operas, one of the three most often produced operas in the world's major houses. ("Carmen" and "Aida" are the other two.) Loved, because it centers on the artist's need for freedom of expression and their libertine life style, the parallels with America's Greenwich Village, the Beat Generation, and Hippiedom are obvious.

"Éven today, artists are still struggling to pursue their art," said Peggy O'Shaughnessey of Troy, a chorus member and veteran of 14 MOT productions. This will be her second "La Boheme" with MOT.

The young, struggling bohemians, talented and free, living in a garret has the romantic stuff that make Puccini the composer of passion while Patterson's interpretation of the meaning of the opera seems closer to the truth. The opera is about friendship.

Colline returns in the final act with bread and a herring, more like a red herring when the fun loving youths engage in playful antics turning away from the inevitable doom that follows. guish. Musette goes off to pawn her earrings for a hand-muff for Mimi.

As Colline, Patterson will sing Colline's aria bidding farewell to his youthful utopia as Mimi bids farewell to life. The opera ends with the final bars from that aria.

"It is not often a bass has the opportunity to be the focus of the audience," said Patterson.

Performances of the Birming-ham Theatre production of "Oklahoma!" continue through May 2. For ticket information, call the box office at 644-3533.

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

Until her "big break" comes, Jennifer Laura Thompson of Birmingham says she'll continue doing regional theater.

She's back home, on the Birmingham Theatre stage for the first time, in the chorus of "Oklahoma!"

"Everyone in the chorus has a name," said Thompson, a grad-uate of Birmingham Groves High School and the University of Michigan's Musical Theatre program.

'It's one of the few productions where the chorus isn't nameless. I play Vivian, one of Laurey's many friends. I'm one of four women in the chorus. People tease me because I look like a schoolmarm."

Look for Thompson in the first and second acts. We talked shortly after the show opened. 'It was great. The audience was overwhelming. Everyone is having a great time," she said.

Thompson recently returned from a six-month European tour of Andrew Lloyd Webber's "Jesus Christ Superstar" that took her to Italy, Germany, Switzerland and Austria.

She portrayed Mary Magdalene. Her other credits include the role of Polly Peachum in "The Threepenny Opera," Ra-chel in "Reckless," and Florinda in "Into the Woods.

Since graduating from the University of Michigan in 1991,... Thompson, 23, said she's been able to "mostly support, myself performing.

"I'm always doing other jobs," she added. "I hope to be on Broadway, someday.

After she finishes her stint at the Birmingham Theatre, Thompson will travel to Shawnee, Pa. to perform the role of Louisa in "The Fantasticks" at the Shawnee Playhouse. Rehearsals start June 6.

"Louisa is 16 years old. She's special, but she has a lot to learn," said Thompson. "I seem to be playing younger and younger women as I get older.'

It's not likely she'll forget her role as Vivian in "Oklahoma." This is the musical's 50th anniversary.

The U.S. Post Office has even issued a stamp in honor of "Oklahoma!" which opened in New York on March 31, 1943 at the St. James Theatre. This Rodgers and Hammerstein musical has since become a Broadway legend. It ran for five years, 2,212 performances.

After the phenomenal impact of the show, the national tour criss-crossed the country for over 10 years; there were five Broadway revivals and a hugely successful film in 1955.

aftermarket system if Zezel is able to find a partner.

"We wouldn't want to do it ourselves – - we're not set up that way, but if we can find someone who can do the distribution --that's the way we would go."

How it works

After the car is started, the computer locates itself by signing into the Global Positioning System a network of U.S. Air Force satellites that transmit navigation data. The computer locates several satellites, triangulates its current position, cross references with the computer database and pops up a map of where the car is. This takes about two seconds.

The database also includes points of interest ranging from hotels and businesses to golf course and amusement parks.

'Could we do it with just the satellites? No. Could we do it with just the database? Again, no," O'Connor said.

Satellite triangulation works by line of sight and needs several satellites to get an accurate fix on a car's location — impossible in an urban area with buildings.

The extensive database needs the satellites to fix its starting point," O'Connor said. "We needed both for this to be accurate enough to be useful."

Simply identifying a car's location isn't enough, if the driver can't figure out where he or she is or where he or she is going, O'Connor said.

Zexel originally designed the overhead map to always display with the map in one position, but preliminary testing showed a preference for a heads-up display with a constant north-so drivers could more easily follow their progress.

Another addition is the use of arrows to signal turns, rather than a map. "We felt the map would be too distracting — the arrows communicate a direction more succinctly than an overhead map.

This "turn-by-turn mode" has been so well accepted the overhead map has become secondary and may be offered as an option rather than a part of the system.

The system also warns people if they've deviated from their selected route and will recalculate another route - sometimes by sending the driver back to the previous route.

Powerful future tool

While the thrust of the system is currently a means of navigation, it will one day be part of more complex system that warns drivers of traffic snarls and directs them around the problem.

The system itself is already capable of such feats, O'Connor said, but the infrastructure is not yet in place.

In such a system, a central computer receives data on traffic from sensors installed along road ways, collate and tabulates that data and then transmits the information to receivers in cars.

The computer, once alerted to a traffic snarl, warns the driver and computes the best way around it.

O'Connor said it's inevitable that - as communities search for a way to alleviate traffic congestion --- an intelligent highway vehicle navigation system will arise.

An experimental program is al-ready in place in Oakland County, he added.

Whether these systems are government or privately run is uncertain, O'Connor said. He speculated a privately run group would be a more likely option if for no other reason than the cost.

A private group could possibly offset the cost of equipment through advertising.

One of the reasons NAVMATE was developed was to improve safety on the roads - is there anything more dangerous than a person trying to read a map on a congested freeway?

The trick, O'Connor said, was to make certain the NAVMATE was a safety improvement and didn't just replace a map.

The first thing we did was design the system so it can only be activated while the car is not in motion," he said. Destinations are input after the car is started, but before it is put into gear. No system is foolproof, O'Connor said. Databases will have to be updated to account for road changes and new construction.

The computer also warns the driver when the system is first turned on that the NAVMATE is a tool and should not replace the driver's own common sense. "If the NAVMATE tells you to turn the wrong way onto a one way street, obviously you shouldn't turn." he said:

The data base is accurate, but it is also complex, he said.

Digitizing every road is daunting task, O'Connor said, so it will take a while before the entire road network is complete.

This month's couple, Walter and Jody Hepfer, hope to help give their children wings by the attainment of their primary goal for them, a college education.

Walter and Jody's other major goal is to provide for retirement.

In analyzing their need for additional education funding, it appears that the Hepfers are in very good shape. They expect their children to go to in-state public universities at a total cost of $9,000 per year in 1993 dollars.

Currently the accounts for the 13-year-old are worth $31,000. If we project a reasonable rate of return for these assets, while also assuming the cost of education continues to rise faster than the Consumer Price Index, we project that they are only about $1,000 short of fully funding their son's educational costs.

Celebrating our children during April

In 1971, the National Association for the Education of Young Children proposed that a week in the month of April be designated as the Week of the Young Child. In 1985, Jan Nieuwenhuis, a board member of the Michigan Association for the Education of Young Children, felt that the concept was important enough to extend the celebration for the entire month of April.

So today children are celebrated nationally by parents, early childhood educators, child care providers and professionals and those individuals working on behalf of youth throughout the month of April.

Although the key focus is children, the celebra-tion would not be complete without saluting those individuals who care for America's children.

We hear and read so much about children being our hope for tomorrow, our most precious resource. Somewhere I either heard or read these words: "And a child will lead," "Out of the mouths of babes," "We must become as little children," "Children are our future," and "Children live what they learn.'

All of these phrases are symbolic of the real asset, value and importance of children. "Children live what they learn" is a real thought-provoking statement. The very thought of children today living what they learn somehow isn't very comforting, considering the chaos in our society and our world. (I could spend hours on this.)

On the bright side, children should be celebrat ed for their unique ways and abilities to learn what they live, yet somehow successfully fitting into difficult situations and sometime difficult people without losing their innocent childlike appeal. Truly, children are special, so let's celebrate!

Here are some ways to celebrate Michigan's Month of the Young Child. Offered by the Michigan Association for the Education of Young Children, it focuses on parents and families.

Plan at least three sit-together meals during the week. Use the time to take a break from the stress you all are feeling. Talk to each other about your day.

Plant a "family tree" in your yard, on the streetside, in a park — anywhere you will be able to visit it. If you can, plant a tree for each family member. You can also take advantage of Earth Day being just around the corner th

SUBURBAN LIFE

Amish way: 'Plain and Simple'

It started with some quilts and has turned into a 20year obsession for Sue Bender, a former New Yorker who recounts the simple nature of the Amish way of life in her book "Plain and Simple" and has captured the beauty of their quilts in a companion diary.

> covered that they value work. No one's job is unimportant.

"They have a high standard, but they're not competitive," she told the 'own Hall crowd: "For them, it's do the best you can, don't do it to be the best. I had one woman tell me, 'Sue, if you make vegetable soup, it's not right to say the carrots are better than the peas or the peas are better than the cabbage. It takes all of the vegetables to make a good soup.'

Bender rejoined the Amish the next year, staying with two sisters, both midwives. One was single and the other had 12 children. They have now become the Amish family she goes back to every year.

Pitching in

She left at home her husband Richard and two sons, who "pitched in" while she was gone. Bender likewise pitched in and did what the Amish 'Mv husb was an au pair for the Amish; I did what the women did." Bender found Amish society patriarchal in nature. Men have the power and women have a complementary role although "their work is appreciated." She also found an absence of sibling rivalry, much of it because of 'the emphasis on we and not I.'

of me. They have no insurance on their house; their insurance is brotherly love.

Amish children don't have a lot of career choices. They are not allowed to go beyond the eighth grade. They are very smart about their natural world and when they have time to read, it is the Bible and The Budget, the Amish newspaper, that they peruse.

"I was brought up with the idea that more choices you have in life the better," Bender said. "But in looking back, I realize I was drowning in choices. With the Amish, I learned the difference between having a lot of choices and making a choice. When you make a choice you eliminate something on your plate.

'The Amish don't spend their time wishing for something else or wishing they were someone else. Whatever is on their plate is enough.

Conscious choice

But while their choices are limitted, there is one choice each and every member of the community must make. The Amish are Anabaptist and members wait until they are adults to decide on baptism. They make a concious choice and those who decline membership generally join the more wordly Mennonite sect, Bender said. 'When the children become teenagers, they're given a lot of space, especially the boys," she said. "It's not in keeping with their beliefs, so they have to trust that the values imbued in them as children will lead them to choose the Amish way of life. Every family has a few who leave, but overall the community is allye and well and many of the children choose to

As serene and ordinary as Amish life appeared to Bender, she admitted she "smelled a rat" — the dark side of Amish life. There is no room in Amish society for deviation, for people who may be an artist, poet, gay or lesbian. And if that person isn't brave enough to leave the community, life can be hard. As a result there is a lot of depression and suicide in the Amish community, Bender said.

JIM JAGDEELD/STAFE PHOTOGI

The Amish also practice shunning. If you break the rules, they cut you off and among the sins deserving of shunning is "extramarital anything," Bender said.

"It seems like such a terrible thing, but if they didn't shun, how would they hold the community together,' she said. "If you're willing to confess your faults, the community is willing to welcome you back. Otherwise, you can't defend yourself.'

No more questions

It was during a fourth or fifth visit to the Amish community that Bender realized she had no more questions and that all the answers were within herself. About six months later "a voice deep inside" told her it was "time to tell the story."

Finally get around to sorting out, labeling and displaying family pictures. This can provide wonderful opportunities for reminiscence, stories, family facts and history and sharing the growth of your family.

Bring out the tape or video recorder and create a family history tape. Use this as an opportunity to chronicle the "days of your lives" for this and future generations. Take a tour of your neighborhood, visit the aunts, uncles, grandparents, godparents, cousins, etc., to capture their impressions and stories for the future.

Plan a family reunion of any sort. Why not include your child's caregiver(s) and teachers(s), as they truly become part of our extended families. Spend an evening writing letters to out-of-town family — people your children know and haven't seen in a long while. Strengthen those family ties. If it is feasible, visit the family cemetery. Again, this is a wonderful manner in which you can share personal memories with your children, stories of your childhood and how those now departed helped you to grow and shaped your life - and therefore your children's!

Take the week to write a family history. Interview each other about life facts, hopes, dreams, funny memories, favorite vacations, etc.

Be sure to do something for families less fortunate than yours. Rejoice in your sharing some time with the homeless or orphaned. You can arrange for this by calling various human service organizations in your area. Do give them enough time to set up the arrangements.

Create a time capsule with each member of the family donating certain items, each with a note identifying the importance of that item.

If you haven't done it already, designate a door jamb, basement wall, or some other inconspicuous place to serve as the "Growing Zone." Use this space to mark and date each person's height. Include the babies, too, marking their length along with everyone else's height.

Take the time to finally get a family portrait done. Either by a studio, a friend or self-timer -just get it done!

Visit your child's daytime place of activity. Schedule a visit to each classroom or center that your schedule will allow. And, if possible, have

The quilts attracted Bender to the Amish and it was the faceless Amish dolls that told her to "risk your heart's desire." With the help of two quilt dealers and an "Englishman" who worked with the Amish, she eventually found a minister's family who took her in for seven weeks.

careerists vie for district honor

Young careerist: Laura Letobar represents the Garden City BPW.

When members of District 9 of the Business and Professional Women organization gather in Southfield Saturday, April 17, all eyes will be on some very special guests. Those "guests" are young career women who have excelled in their careers, education and community work. Selected by local chapters, they are vying for the district honor and the right to compete for the state title in competition at the state BPW convention on Mackinac Island next month.

Among the candidates for district honors are Laura Letobar, representing the Garden City Chapter; Sherry Zylka, representing Livonia's Suburban West Chapter; Diane Young, representing the Plymouth-Canton chapter, and Theresa Margerm, representing the Southfield chapter.

Laura Letobar

As the Garden City YCW candidate, Letobar also believes in the benefits of education. In her case, education comes in the form of providing quality information about low-fat eating in "a very easy to read format."

While Letobar works with cancer patients as a clinical therapist in radiation therapy at Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, it was questions posed by the patients that have steered her in a new direction - speaking to cancer support groups and now stroke groups about good eating.

"My goal . . . is to educate as many people as possible on this topic," said the Livonia resident.

"To do this, I plan on focusing on ways to make this information available on a national level."

She's already started. With the help of a home computer, she is publishing "Laura's Fat-Free Kitchen," a monthly eight-page newsletter, filled with fat-free and low-fat recipes. Sponsored by the American Heart Association and the American Cancer Society, Letobar, 30, encourages her readers. to send in their favorite recipes which she converts to low-fat versions, thereby showing readers products that can be used in a recipe to reduce fat in everyday cooking.

A graduate of Dearborn Fordson High School and Wayne State University where she earned her bachelor of science degree in radiation therapy, Letobar also is doing a cooking show for cable television that like the newsletter "provides helpful tips and kitchen hints to reduce dietary fat.'

In fact, at age 30, she considers that -- "educating people and providing quality information" as her most significant career accomplishment.

Sherry Zylka

As the Livonia YCW, Zylka also believes in education and what it offers people at every facet of their lives. Part of that belief stems from her work as the coordinator of Continuing Education Services at Schoolcraft College. As program coordinator, Zylka is responsible for the detailed planning of approximately 800 classes per year. But Zylka

This is a lover, not a fighter! She is adaptable and promotes peace and harmony in her interpersonal relationships. Occasionally, she may look at certain people in a critical manner.

Our writer wants to experience as much of life as she can. She reaches out to embrace people and the future. Still she remains grounded in the past. When feeling down as she sometimes does. she looks for emotional support from the mother figure.

I realize my next statement may sound like a contradiction, but it really isn't. Both attitudes exist within her and may cause indecision at times.

Her security needs are strong. She is not a big risk-taker and may feel safer with the tried and true. When attempting something new she can be cautious and hesitant. By nature she is idealistic and seeks culture, refinement and self-improvement in her life. Mental attitudes are often conforming, possibly for fear of stepping out of line. Has she been un-

It is not easy for her to conceal the way she is feeling. Whether sad, happy, upbeat, tired, etc., her body language gives her away.

Our writer enjoys variety and change in her life. If things become too routinized she may become bored. At times she is nervously on the go, moving from one thing to another.

When this letter was written I think she was a little overly involved. This could be either emotionally or physically. There are some pent up emotions here that are not finding release. In spite of her need to be busy and active, she does not appear to be com-pletely satisfied with present accomplishments.

Seemingly there are many things she wants, probably small things. Is she a collector?

This young woman tends to rationalize when things do not turn out as she hoped they would. Is she refusing to face facts because the situation is beyond her control? Or is she simply disinclined to obtain all the facts? Whatever the answer, she can easily come up with a plausible sounding excuse for what she did, or did not.

A bit of humor found here tells us she makes time for fun in her life. Although she may not be the humorist herself, she can appreciate another's funny side.

BY DIANE HANSON SPECIAL WRITER

This priest worked a job to earn money just so he could give it all away to the poor. He would bring sick people into his home so that he could personally care for them. Poor children clung to him and he would give them food, toys, clothes and a heartful of love. What a saint!

And, indeed, he was. Saint Vincent de Paul was canonized by the Roman Catholic Church and is the patron of charitable societies. Today, more than 300 years since his death in 1660, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul is alive and very active right here in the Detroit area.

While the society has a Catholic foundation, one only need consult a dictionary or watch the organization in action to appreciate the "all-inclusive" application of the word catholic.

What makes us catholic is that we take and we give to everybody," said James Carron, executive director of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. "As Catholics, we say the word catholic is universal. We help everybody and we don't ask questions. That's what makes us catholic.'

The word help requires a bit more clarification.

"We provide help for people to begin to reconstruct their lives,' Carron said. "It's important to know that we are an emergency organization. My recommendation is that we empower individuals rather than just helping individuals. If someone comes to us and they are three months behind in their rent, to help with one month is OK, but we need to go further.

"The society reaches beyond the rent, beyond what is the problem.

To reach beyond that problem, the society has its own employment agency. De Paul Employment was opened at the central office on East Grand Boulevard in Detroit in 1985 and expanded to St. Alfred's Parish in Taylor and St. Timothy's Parish in Trenton last year.

There is absolutely no cost for those seeking jobs or the potential employer. In 1992 alone, more then one-third of the 1,400 applicants were employed by the end of the year.

Volunteers' 'servants'

Carron, formerly self-employed in public relations/marketing, has served as the highest classified individual in the society for nearly two years. Even so, he views himself as "the lowest of the servants. Referring to the paid staff, he said, "We're employed by volunteers to administer their programs which they own. The volunteers own the stores. The volunteers own everything. They own my office, they own my desk. They can come in and see them any time they want. We're the servants of the volunteers."

There are some paid workers and administrators, but Marcy Moynahan of Garden City is one of those who generously donates her time and talent.

Moynahan is the manager of the St. Vincent de Paul store on Michigan Avenue in Dearborn, one of 16 in the Detroit Archdiocese. That store services much of western Wayne County and was specifically requested by Movnahan and her husband 12 years ago because they believed there was a real need in that area.

Movnahan has worked there all 12 years and volunteers 30 to 40 hours each week as the store's manager.

"I enjoy meeting the people," she said. She treats everyone with respect and warmth and appears to embody St. Vincent de Paul's philosophy that the poor must be allowed the dignity to be poor before they can be helped.

She asks that donors send in items in good repair.

We don't want to give junk to the poor just because they are down on their luck at the time. You don't want to make them feel any worse."

Items in great demand are stoves, particularly gas since they are less expensive to operate than electric, beds and children's furniture and clothing.

"Bed frames are next to impos-sible to get," Moynahan said. "A lot of times, we don't have the frames but will give them box springs and a mattress. We figure that's better than sleeping on the floor.'

The demand for infant items far exceeds the incoming supply, according to Moynahan: "We get calls for cribs, sometimes three or four a day.'

*5C

All the items received in the stores, food for the society's 14 food depots, and money for operating costs and other society programs are received through donations.

All with donations

"We are a non-funded organization," Carron said. "All the funds we receive are donated funds." Most of the donations come from Catholic parishes supporting St. Vincent de Paul activities. One hundred ninety-five of the 310 parishes in the Detroit Archdiocese support such activity and are known as conferences. They have special drives for funds. There are food drives and poor boxes and they also have Bundle Sundays.

On such Sundays, a St. Vincent de Paul truck is parked in a church's lot all weekend to collect goods on Bundle Sundays. The goods are then delivered to the

Trialogue offers a blend of 3 faiths

The melodious sounds coming Temple Israel in West from Bloomfield Sunday, April 18, will be an unusual mix of voices those of Jews, Christians and Muslims — for an unusual program, a Musical Trialogue.

'Never before have Muslims, Jews and Christians raised their voices in song together at one time under one root," said Cantor Harold Orbach, the originator of the historic Musical Trialogue. "Not only is the program an exciting one, but it also represents an important bridge in getting to understand each other better in a world marked with altogether too much friction between us. Society needs grandparents' stability noticed between STRONG my sons and their grandparents is an appreciation of history, a respect, an interest in how the older family members lived through the years of their lives. Grandmother and grandfather have been reference points for my sons' identities.

Grandparents are different from parents or from peers. They are not a parental kind of authority. They are dependable, wise and experienced in the world. Even when my boys were young, there was a conservative, stable, connected quality in their relationship with their grandparents.

l believe that children suffer when loving grandparents are not available either because of distance or because of death. They are needed to serve as a stability in society. Grandparents become a reference point in identity as a child grows.

Children can face change and tension if there are relationships that matter which remain the same. In the words of Ross Snyder, "A person who trusts us and we trust, continues us." Nurtured by this relationship of a second generation past, we are enabled to envision the future.

The social fabric of life is strengthened by those who have already lived through most of their years. What are the key elements in this intergenerational weaving of life?

The first key element is that a person from the past recognizes a grandchild as special, important. What is of most value in this kind of relationship is both the recognition of specialness and emotional space. The grandchild is both engaged with the older adult. and is free to test himself or herself against that reality. The stories about how it used to be years ago are important. My sons love to hear these stories told by their grandparents.

Second, a key element is that the older adult wants the young person to thrive. Snyder suggests, 'Like a freshman football coach, he is solely concerned to help us make the team." Grandparents do not worry if their grandchildren will win, but they hope they will make the team.

Third, the older adult offers the new generation wisdom. What this means is that the older person helps the young person to understand life. This happens through stories, convictions and values that are offered but not forced upon the younger person. Such a person can become a door to meanings and even to religious faith.

Perhaps the most important element in the positive impact of older adults upon young persons is a transmission of a vital hope for the future. If an older adult is living a vital, future-oriented life, their impact upon young people can be tremendous. Older adults who live on the edge of a new time rather than falling back into the past attract young people.

Older adults who have a growing edge approach to life are powerful mentors. The Hasidic saying, "Every day we shall go forth out of Egypt, out of distress," suggests how such older adults may impact the new generation. Every day they continue to live out the dream of freedom.

We witness in our society today the breakdown of generations. This is a painful dilemma for our time. We who value religious meaning must pay attention to this tearing of the fabric of society. We and the world will pay the costs if young people only belong to an anonymous youth culture.

The costs will be counted in the agony of the Vietnam War, or race riots, or in psychic and spiritual destruction. No generation has the final truth. We need to be woven into a fabric of compassion and of discernment if we as a human race would avoid the darkness.

The Rev. David Strong is pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Detroit. If you have a question or comment, call him at 953-2047, mailbox number 1878, on a Touch-Tone phone.

main warehouse in Detroit where some minor repairs can be done on appliances. The goods are then distributed to the stores according to needs.

"A lot_of people_get_upset_be cause we sell things," said Moy-nahan, adding that those who can't afford to pay may obtain vouchers to receive needed goods at no cost.

A Vincentian (a volunteer from one of the parish conferences) will come to the home to determine need and will write a voucher for those items that can be taken to the store or food depot. Vouchers may also be written by others, most notably the Department of Social Services.

Carron estimates that the 16 stores combined donate $1 million worth of goods each year. The money acquired from sold goods is first used to pay the bills.

After the bills are paid, we send money to our council," Moynahan said.

"The council has a poor and eedy fund that's set up so we can help with utilities, medical bills, even if you need gas for your car,' Carron said.

Rising demand

And help is exactly what the society does in a big way. In western Wayne County alone, the 25 parish-level conferences spent more than $59,000 last year to help with housing emergencies. Those emergencies included back mortgage payments, back taxes and emergency home repairs. That amount was up more than 50 percent over the 1991 figures.

Assistance with utilities was up 29 percent over last year at more than $35,000. Transportation assistance rose a whopping 146 percent and medical assistance soared 179 percent above the 1991 expenditures.

The society assisted a total of 37,407 families last year in the six counties covered by the Archdiocese of Detroit and spentore than $1.5 million in direct emergency assistance. Many of those families were within the parish conferences in Plymouth. Canton, Redford, Westland, Livo nia and Garden City.

Moynahan's husband, Jerry, volunteers as a Vincentian involved with the home visits and is also the society's Metro West District Council president.

"Our society and other charitable organizations are rapidly reaching the limit of their ability to respond to even the most basic emergency needs of the poor and disadvantaged in our communihe said. "Since we rely, for the most part, on donations given by parish members, our resources are necessarily limited. We've done our best in the year just past, but frankly, we just cannot keep up with the needs of people in our communities." Carron voiced similar concerns.

"How long can we keep it up? We're reaching the limit of our ability," he said. "I think it's rather noble to have state cuts, but can the charitable organizations and non-profit organizations and volunteer organizations pick up the slack with all the cuts?

Carron anticipates that both needs and costs will continue to rise. In fact, business is booming and the society needs donations. High on the list of needed donations is money. In addition to all the other charitable activities, the society also supports two Christian summer camps for needy children. Camp Ozanam for boys and Camp Stapleton for girls, both on Lake Huron, were attended by 1,360 needy children last year.

Cash donations are greatly appreciated for running the camp. The cost per camper per day to the society is $36 or $360 for the entire 10-day period. There are many areas to put cash donations to work at the camps from the cost of buses to camp counselors to a gallon of milk. Private and corporate donations are gratefully accepted. And money donated can be specifically earmarked for a particular area or it can be put in the general fund.

Carron also expressed the need for more volunteers.

The society acts as an apostolic vehicle for 1,900 Vincentians," he said. "If you want to help people — through the De Paul employment, through the camps, through the food depot, through the stores, as an individual - you are being given the opportunity to help people through the society. If you really want to do something for someone, become a Vincentian.

Canton book to trace 1-room schoolhouses oan Palmer's reason for writing a book about the history of Canton's 10 one-room schoolhouses during the years they doubled as school districts is simple enough:

'Our past is part of us. I want to save that his-" tory. Children of today should know something about what these country schools were like," says the Canton Historical Society trustee and Canton Historical Museum volunteer.

Canton Historical Society will publish "Canton Country Schools" this fall. All proceeds will go to the society.

Three years in the making, the book will help researchers of Canton's pioneer families and schools. Each chapter will chronicle a different schoolhouse via factual accounts verified by the author and personal memories elicited from former students and teachers.

Palmer is tracing the 10 schools from their primitive log beginnings between 1830 and 1850 to their brick or frame successors to when they were consolidated into larger school districts in Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Westland or Van Buren Township. School district consolidation was complete by the mid-1950s.

Spotlighted schools are Hough, Cherry Hill, Sheldon, Canton Center, Hanford, Walker, Truesdell, Palmer, Bartlett and Kinyon.

Memories solicited

Palmer will help former teachers and students record remembrances from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesdays and Saturdays in May at the Canton Historical Museum, Canton Center Road at Proctor. Or call her at 453-5231.

She's also looking for class pictures, building snapshots, report cards, play programs, souvenir holiday cards and other school artifacts. "On report cards, I'm interested in the year and the teacher's name, not the grades.

Responses so far have topped 75. "But I don't. want anybody to say after the book is published, " went to a one-room school in Canton but I'm not included,' " Palmer said.

'Canton Country Schools'' will include a township map pinpointing each school's location, a partial list of teachers at each school and the years they taught, student newspaper excerpts, land acquisition records and selected records like annual school district meeting minutes.

Schools often went up on a corner, within two or three miles of the farms they served. Families in each district teamed up to build and support the school, paying a tax for each child attending and donating a cord of firewood for the school stove

Three of the 10 one-room schools are gone: Bartlett (Canton Center Road, south of Warren), Palmer (at Geddes and Beck) and Kinyon (at Joy and Ridge just inside Plymouth Township).

The other seven are still standing.

Facets of glass: Jack and Marie Linden create glass magic in their shop, Linden Art Glass. Here, they work on one of rom stained-glass church windows to decorative suncatchers, kaleidoscopes, plates, Tiffany-style lamps and jewelry, Jack and Marie Linden produce these sparkling wonders and more at Linden Art Glass, 580 Forest. Plymouth.

Throughout the shop, stainedglass panels, one of which is after a design by architect Frank Lloyd Wright, abound.

"I love glass. Everything new in glass, I want to try it," Marie Linden said. "I love the colors, and the combination of colors, all clear and textured glass, and everything you can do with glass."

The husband and wife glass working team employs slumping, fusing, lamp working and other hot-glass

Hough, at Warren and Old Haggerty, is vacant. Canton Center houses the Canton Historical Museum. Cherry Hill, at Ridge and Cherry Hill, is a restored public facility.

Sheldon, on Michigan Avenue west of Sheldon, is being restored for use as leased space by a nonprofit group. Hanford, at Ridge and Hanford, has been converted to a single-family residence.

Where Walker stood on Michigan Avenue east of I-275 is now a modern Wayne-Westland elementary school. Where Truesdell stood on Haggerty south of Cherry Hill is now a modern Plymouth-Canton elementary school annex.

In 1850, Aaron Palmer, great-great-grandfather of Joan Palmer's husband Richard, leased an acre to the Palmer school district for as long as a school existed there. A frame school came about 1851 and a brick school about 1935. Palmer School was consolidated into the Van Buren school district in 1953. It later reverted to Aaron Palmer's heirs. It housed a church and businesses before burning in the late '60s. Palmer family members have lived in Canton since 1833, a year before townshiphood.

"We live three and a quarter miles from where Aaron first settled - and we've lived here 40 years," said Joan, a Northville native who grew up in Plymouth.

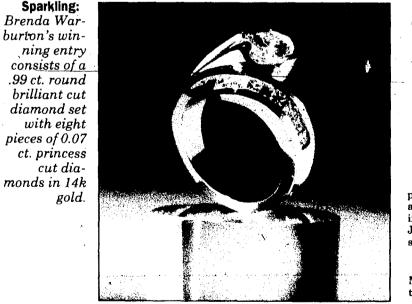

Last year, Canton resident Duane Rodenberg donated to the township the Palmer School treasurer's record books from 1866 to 1925. From these yellowed pages, Joan Palmer learned that, in 1866, Louise Corwin earned $48 for teaching 16 weeks of summer school, just $28 more than William Artley was paid for five cords of winter firewood!

"Country schoolhouses were such a pervasive way of life in our country throughout its history, said Canton historic district commissioner Melissa McLaughlin. "It's only been since the mid part of this century that we've moved away from them.

'Folks who went to these one-room schoolhouses are moving into their later years," she added. "And a lot of stories and memories and pictures and documentation they have will be gone once they're gone. We've got to capture these memories now or they'll be lost - forever.

As you may recall, Dixieland, as it was known during Wolfe's childhood (he was born in 1900), not an ordinary, gardon varie ty home. It was a rambling, twostory boarding house, a kind of hodgepodge of rooms, niches, nooks, and crannies — all overseen by Wolfe's efficient, extremely thrifty mother, the "Eliza" of his early, strongly autobiographical novels.

In the pages of "Look Home-ward, Angel," Wolfe wrote of the actual/fictional boarding house and the "braided clamor" of conversations around the dining tables. Today's visitors may imagine echoes of those long-ago nate the lace-curtained, antimaconversations as they pass through the large, high-ceiling dining room. clamorous boarders. A massive sideboard and the dark, spindlebacked chairs pulled up to the tables are typical of pieces found in many middle-class homes during the era, and most were in the house when the Wolfes lived there, according to tour guides.

Back in the no-nonsense, unpretentious kitchen, a gaspowered Oriole cookstove, plus a coal-driven range and oven stand opposite a sturdy worktable and unadorned cupboards, where Wolfe's mother oversaw and helped prepare the hearty Southern fare she served boarders.

Upstairs. the spartan bedooms, with their iron bedsteads, flimsy coverlets and slightly sagging mattresses, look vaguely sad. (Wolfe sometimes likened the house to a tomb, using words like "dank" and "chill" to describe its feel.) His mother's tiny bedroom, with newspapers and magazines strewn about, resembles Eliza's 'small dark room with a window opening on the uncertain light of . the back porch" in "Look Homeward, Angel." The bedrooms are connected by a narrow, almost tunnel-like hallway, leading to the little cave of a bathroom that was shared by Dixieland's residents.

Before you leave, you may sit for a spell on the front veranda in one of the many cane-bottomed rocking chairs provided for visitors and look out on the wide, sloping lawn where Wolfe played as a young boy beneath enormous Carolina maple trees. The neighborhood has changed considerably since Wolfe left one day in 1916, on his way to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill to study theater and playwriting before eventually making his indelible mark on the literary world as a novelist. Across the street now, you'll see a bustling office complex and hotel. The home itself, however, according to guides, remains much the same.

The Thomas Wolfe home is at 48 Spruce St. It is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. (From November 1 to March 31, the home is closed on Mondays.) Admission is $10 for adults and 50 cents for children. For information, write to the above address or call the Thomas Wolfe Memorial, 1-704-253-8304.

Livonia artist fashions exterior murals for Artrain

Livonia industrial designer conceived and rendered the newly completed exterior murals on Artrain, the nation's only traveling museum in a train.

Glenn Dorshimer's murals feature depictions of Raymond Loewy's classic Broadway Limited locomotive, a late 1950s sports car, a futuristic bullet-nosed train and a luxurious ocean liner. Smaller images in portholes and windows along the side of the train reveal artists' personal intepretations of the "romance of transportation.

Walter Gierschick of West Bloomfield was among the artists who participated in the mural project, under Dorshimer's art direction.

Artrain will mark the start of its 1993 season in its Ann Arbor home with the debut of a new ex-have a chance to view this exploration of artists' fascination with the technology of travel and the lure of the open road before the Artrain's new Ann Arbor headquarters are at NEW Center, 1100 N. Main. Hours are 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday-Sunday, April 17-18. There is no admission charge, but donations are suggested. Ar-techniques here in their six-yearold husiness.

A beyeled glass window with broken panes leans up against the wall awaiting repair. Custom orders and stained-glass restoration are their specialty. The Lindens spend long hours lavishing loving care on heirloom windows, doors and panels.

"It's a workshop, not a showcase. We try to learn as much as we can about stained glass so we can teach," Jack said as he and Marie wrapped copper foil around the glass pieces for one of eight traditonal Victorian stained-glass windows commissioned by the Seventh Day Adventists for their church in Plymouth Township.

"This is one of the most important parts of stained-glass work because when these are foiled, they'll be ready for soldering.'

Marie added, "Putting the foil on the glass, this makes the channel that makes it all work.'

The Lindens use both methods of framing the glass pieces in their work: leading and copperfoil.

"The oldest method of glass working is 3,000 years old. Louis Comfort Tiffany came along at the end of the 19th century with copper foils," Marie said. Tiffany's copperfoil method allowed very small pieces of glass to be framed and joined. It enabled him to create his magnificent wisteria lamp shade.

As one of the earliest crafts, stained-glass making was a major art form before painting in Europe. The earliest surviving example in an architectural environment is the 11th-century Augsburg Cathedral in Germany, which used techniques thought to be after sixth- and seventh-century Byzantine mosaics in Italy. Records of stained-glass windows exist for a 12th-century synagogue in Cologne.

Artists through the ages have used the faceted jewel-like colors of these dazzling stained-glass windows as canvas. Russian artist. Marc Chagall, in his well known work for the synagogue in Hadassah-Hebrew University Medical Center in Jerusalem, created 12 magnificent windows. Each represented one of the 12 tribes of Israel.

Although today's stained-glass artists could never hope to produce the likes of such master works, the art form offers opportunities to create architectural and other pieces on a smaller scale.

Classes, instructional videos, books and supplies offered at the shop provide young and old alike with fun projects crafting cabinet door panets, sidelights, windows, kaleidoscopes, clocks, candleholders and lamps.

Beginner and intermediate classes run four weeks at a cost of $30 with a 10 percent discount on supplies and tools while attending classes:

"It's a contagious type of a class. The very first night they make a suncatcher. It gives them glass cutting skills, how to use the tools," Linden said. "This isn't the kind of craft you can go out and buy a kit so we keep our beginner's patterns simple. They'll have a nice 10- by 14-inch panel when it's done.'

Advance classes in Tiffany lamps and lead cane, by appointment only, last three to six weeks at a cost of $30-$45. In late spring, the Lindens will offer glass beadworking classes.

Count on spending_about an additional $60 for an initial investment in tools. "People say isn't this a little bit expensive, but you end up making a $400-$500 lamp," Jack said.

The Lindens first became interested in stained glass 14 years ago when they decided to take a class together. For many years, they sold their wares at arts and crafts shows.

Six years ago, when Jack retired after 33 years at American Airlines, they opened their Plymouth shop. Every five weeks, they travel to Chicago to hand pick and buy the glass from Germany, France, Italy and America stocked in the shop.

"Glass is really interesting. If you hold it up to a bright light, you've one color, hold it up to_a different light and it's opaque. Stained glass combines artistic endeavors and enjoyment. It's a wonderful way to escape from reality," Jack said. "I tell my students this is not a hobby or a craft. This is a fine art."

Hours are noon to 8 p.m. Monday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Northville artist chairs state watercolor society

National awardwinning artist Linda Banks Ord of Northville is new chairwoman of the Michi-gan Watercolor Society, the foremost water-media group in the state.

The 500-member group includes some of the top university-affiliated professors as well as nationally recognized practitioners of water media.

often deals with the figure. Ord serves on the University of Michigan Alumni Board of Directors as representative of the School of Art. Last fall, the School of Art honored her as an "Alumni Success Story" and invited her to speak to students, faculty and alumni at the annual reunion.

A Northville resident for 15 years and a Michiganian for 20, Ord was born and raised in Pleasant Grove, Utah, a small town just south of Salt Lake City. Some of her paintings relate directly to her western heritage, combining portions of her mother's journal with old family images that survive from pioneer times.

Michigan Watercolor Society's annual exhibition is showing at the Dennos Museum in Traverse City through May 3. The exhibition was juried by William Weege, art professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He's recognized as one of the top printmakers in the United States involved in water media as an associated medium.

ans, fire also is all-powerful. "Second Fire" draws from the myths and modern problems of Native American Indians to pen this terror-suspense story.

The Ojibwa Indians protest a planned excavation of an ancient burial site led by anthropologist Christopher Fielding. Attempting a compromise, Fielding recruits Native American Indian anthropologist Jean Shawshequay to supervise the dig, hoping to assuage any accusations of sacri-

But a radical Indian rights group, headed by an intense Ojibwa named Blackbear, is insulted by this compromise. His group first responds with petty terrorism against the dig workers. But Blackbear takes it one step further by summoning the spirits of The Ancient Ones. And the death and destruction, by fire, begins.

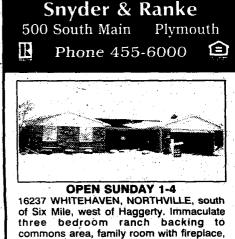

The police and Fielding cannot stop the force of the An-cients. Only Jean may be the answer. But can she convince Chris of the true source of these deadly fires? And, more importantly, will she be able to stop them?

Other Wilson suspense thrillers include "Crooked Tree' and "Icefire."

Loving touch: Evelyn Henry of Redford Township won second place in the Palette Guild spring show for this acrylic portrait of her grandson, Donny.

Palette Guild showcases art at Livonia City Hall

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Artworks featuring cats, horses. dancers, apple blossoms, barn scenes and a historic white clapboard house offer plenty of one-ofa-kind gift ideas for occasions such as graduations, weddings, house warmings or Mother's Day.

You can find this artistic variety at the Palette Guild's spring art show and sale continuing through April 29 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Watercolor, acrylic, oil, pastel, pen and ink, colored pencil, graphite, collage and mixed media art works shine for prices ranging on average from $30 to $300.

A reception to meet the artists and learn more about their work takes place 7-9 p.m. Friday, April 16.

"It's very colorful, striking, electric and just so alive. It's a tremendous show," said chairwoman Pat Quiery of Farmington Hills.

Florals, landscapes, portraits and still life in this 110-piece annual show were judged by Christine Unwin of West Bloomfield. Unwin, a watercolorist featured in American Artist magazine, will teach workshops in May as part of a Royal Odyssey cruise to Italy, France, Greece and Mexico.

Betty Shaw of Redford Township won first place for the pastel, The Guard." Shaw gives life to this lone sentinel rendering the lights and shadows impeccably. Metals of silver and gold in his outfit dazzle the eye.

"I want to thank the judge. I was quite surprised she chose-topick one (that was) more realistic," Shaw said. "The guard was kind of a challenge because of the small features. It was difficult to do in pastel.'

Shaw took a honorable mention for a graphite drawing, "Saturday Matinee.

A consistent award winner, she began drawing in charcoal 12 years ago. For a long time, she favored working in black and white.

Seeking instruction in pastel and colored pencil at Art Store & More in Livonia opened a world of hot white sun on the horizon. Lyr-color to Shaw. Before long, she ical stick trees add rhythm, the fine hair of childhood in "Donny." As light and shadow play on his face, a lifelike expression of curiosity reveals nothing escapes these big brown eyes. Although "The Way" did not receive a prize, this inspirational work captures a mood as Henry portrays somewhat of a yellow brick road to a rainbow sky and was teaching others the art of motion and a sense of peacefulness to the scene.

"It's one of the first things I've lyn Henry took second place for tried from my mind," Henry said. "It's sort of a religious piece. It as well as honorable came as an inspiration to me.'

Henry worked 21 years in the art department of Campbell-Ewald in Detroit. Design skills and color sense carry over into her art today.

She started painting with oils in the 1950s. Her work has been exhibited in one-woman shows at Livonia City Hall, Farmington Community Library and the Scarab Club in Detroit.

Third-place honors went to Marlene Zazoulinsky of Farmington for an untitled acrylic painting. Impressionistic brush strokes color this garden scene primarily in tints of green and blue.

Honorable mentions went to: Shirley Ceasar for a watercolor, 'Fish Town''; Jackie Daniel, oil, "The Ballerinas"; Sofia Taj, watercolor, "Deusenberg 1931"; Callie Thomson, collage, "Waiting for Tea"; Marie Tuthill, watercolor, "The Old House"; Joan Welsh, watercolor, "Tea Time," and mixed media, "Emergence."

Founded in 1954, the Palette Guild numbers around 60 members. Members meet at noon the fourth Monday of the month in the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

City hall lobby hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday and 7-9 p.m. April 20-21, 26-27.

Open houses a sign of spring marketing efforts

BY GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

For sale signs are springing up like daisies — it must be spring.

No one has to tell that to William McCullen, regional director for Century 21 Great Lakes. Century 21 is planning what is being billed as the country's largest open house.

Open houses are a vital part of the real estate business because Valuable tool they get people who were previously only thinking of buying a home into action, he said. 'It welcomes people into homes and makes it convenient."

At least 500 homes in the seven-county metropolitan region are scheduled for open houses on April 24 and 25. More than 10,000 homes will be part of Century 21's nationwide open house.

Michael Bartlett, vice president sales management at Real Estate One, said his company is planning its first spring open house promotional April 25.

"We have open houses every weekend — and this isn't our first open house promotional of the year," he said, "but this is are first spring effort."

Open houses are a particularly tools are a tremendous aid, but it valuable tool in the spring because that is when people are out and about, Bartlett said. The real estate industry has become increasingly more sophisticated with the use of computers, marketing studies and sales techniques, but in some ways selling a home is the same as it's always been.

"What we find is that these all starts with people selecting an area and driving around," he said. They want to see what an area is like, who lives there, what's near- if they don't get an initial by good impression, all the tools in the world won't help sell a house there.

That's why open houses are so valuable — it is the best way to get a person's attention when they're looking over an area, Bartlett said.

Realtors have many reasons for throwing open houses, McCullen of Century 21 said. "They don't necessarily think every person who walks in intends to buy that house.

Some people do buy the house they visit on an open house, but many are interested in an area and stop in at several open houses to get a feel for the area, he said. 'A typical open house will generate as few as three and as many as 25 callers.

People who don't buy a home they visit are still important to the real estate agents because it gives the agent an opportunity to meet with potential buyers and perhaps discern what they may be looking for.

"Open houses are an easy noobligation way for buyers to look around — it's very low pressure,' Bartlett said of Real Estate One said. It's also an easy, low pressure way for an owner to market a home.

Perhaps some people feel uncomfortable allowing strangers to roam though their home during an open house, but if Bartlett wanted to sell a home, he'd take advantage of the marketing tool.

*7D

"It really depends on your motivation," he said. "If I were in the market and wanted to sell a home in 60 to 90 days, I would have it open as often as possible.

Open houses are one of simpler ways to increase the pool of potential buyers, he said.

Brokers and sales associates are are trained in everything from scheduling and what to look for in a preopen house walkthrough to greeting guests to working with the homeowner to prepare the house.

Homeowners are expected to do. all the things that make a house inviting. A house that is clean both inside and out - and well maintained is more likely to make an impression.

Once the house is presentable, there is another more important task for the homeowner- leave. "We ask them to gracefully bow out.'

When people are looking at houses, many tend to look criti-cally at them. The last thing the real estate associate needs at an open house is a homeowner who is angry at a potential buyers because he or she inadvertently insulted a decorating scheme, he said.

"We know it's your home, but it's also a product and people are going to look at it that way," he 'If someone doesn't like a said. home, they should be able to express that honestly," he said.

In answer to the question, it would apear that you have recourse against the co-owner upstairs for negligence as well as the co-owner's contractor. The fact that the contractor has no insurance is unfortunate but does not relieve the contractor from liability to the extent that it caused injury to your unit through negligence.

Moreover, the association may have recourse against the coowner or the contractor to the extent that any common elements were damaged for which the asso ciation has a responsibility. Property management

Axiom Real Estate Management is the newly formed joint venture of Grubb & Ellis and IBM in which Axiom is providing property and facilities management for IBM.

Axiom has inherited the former Grubb & Ellis national property management division and its network of offices in 26 markets across the country. IBM turned over 17 million square feet of its space to the new venture. The resulting 90 million square feet Axiom now manages makes it one of the largest property managers in the country.

Grubb & Ellis is the parent company with 70 percent of Axiom. IBM owns 25 percent, and 5 percent is owned by Axiom's senior officers. Southfield is home to the Michigan headquarters and two satellite offices. Other Michigan offices are in Jackson, Birmingham and Troy. The main focus of the local business is office, industrial, retail and facilities management.

'People want a separate shower, a stall shower, and a whirlpool tub, said Ellen Whitefield, marketing director for the Selective Group of Farmington Hills.

"When we do that, we try for a dramatic window around the tub." she said. "Sometimes, we'll do a window that's half round on top. Sometimes it will be decorative.

"If it (bath) is upstairs, we're in good shape. If it's downstairs, we'll do something with glass blocks where you can't see in or out but you can get light," Whitefield said.

'Whether people use them (whirlpools) or not, they want them in the house," said Joyce MacLeish, a decorating specialist and vice president of a custom building company in Troy.

"Deck tubs are absolutely a must, a flat surface surrounding on at least two sides where you can set plants or towels," she said.

Electronic zoning available for homes

Some people aren't as cool as others. The opposite is true, too: One person might be hot, while another reaches for a sweater.

Building Ideas magazine says it's rare when everyone in a household agrees on the optimal air temperature. Many people even like to vary temperatures from room to room. Unfortunately, most homes have a single thermostat to control the heating and cooling for the entire house.

What to do? Install electronic zoning, an advanced heating and cooling system allowing independent control of temperatures in each room or group of rooms. Though the concept has been used in commercial buildings for many years, affordable equipment (usually about $2,000 more than standard equipment) for homeowners has only recently reached the market.

The idea is simple. A thermostat or temperature sensor is installed in each zone, along with motorized dampers in the air ducts serving these zones. Activated by the thermostat, a duct's dampers open to allow heated or cooled air into a zone. When the temperature reaches a preset level, the dampers close. Each zone can be temperature tailored to fit you.

These systems are a practical solution in homes of more than 3,500 square feet, where maximum comfort has often required installation of two heaters and two air conditioners.

have four zones: the living room and dining room; kitchen and family room; upstairs master bedroom suite and additional upstairs bedrooms.

Though electronic zoning is usually installed in new construction, it can be fitted to an existing house. Cost will be determined by how difficult it is for installers to gain access to a home's duct system.

Electronic zoning made such economic sense to Tom Gabrilson, owner of Gabrilson Heating and Air Conditioning Co. in Davenport, Iowa, he installed it in his own home. "You wouldn't buy a house with one light switch, so why buy a house with one thermostat?" he says.

Effective zoning can save as much as 30 percent in fuel costs by heating or cooling only those zones that need it.

Some utility companies offer rebates for installing a zoning system

More efficient use means longer life for heating, ventilating and air conditioning equipment.

Larger homes may not require expensive tandem furnaces and air conditioners.

so many choices.

Other popular bath amenities people are asking for include electric towel warmers starting at about $300 and towel racking systems that can be customized to an individual's tastes

"Another thing we have done which people have suggested is mirrors to the ceiling,' MacLeish said. "It gives a volume look and people are willing to pay extra for that."

Buyers look for large mirrors and counter space in bathrooms, Bollan concurred.

Two separate vanities are very important for most people," said Janet Compo, a Farmington Hills builder. Other popular amenities include "walk-in closets for him and her and a dressing area intricately connected with the bath," she added.

"I don't think people are saying, 'I want to spend a lot of money,' "Vigna said. "They want value, something that's going to last."

Practical considerations "Whatever space people are getting at whatever price, they're looking at how func-tional a room can be," Whitefield said. "They want to build in a linen closet, tuck in a medicine cabinet wherever they can. They like two sinks.

"People are looking for some perk," she said. "We have a wall-hung vanity with a light underneath for some drama. It may be some special treatment for a countertop, marble or granite.'

"Budget definitely dictates a lot of this," Compo said. "Bathrooms are the most expen-sive rooms. There's a lot of plumbing and electrical connections."

A typical two-story house might

Some systems are so sophisticated, they will draw solar-heated air from one side of the house to the other without turning on the home's furnace.

Refinancing makes up bulk of mortgages

AP — The lowest interest rates in 20 years are spurring the highest volume of mortgage refinancings ever, a banking trade group said Thursday.

The Mortgage Bankers Association of America said its weekly surveys showed that refinancing activity, which has been on the rise for three months, reached a record during the week ended March 12.

At that time, the association's refinancing index stood at 1523.1, surpassing the previous high of 1428.4 set during the week of Jan. 17.1992.

Refinancing means trading in existing mortgages with high interest rates for new loans with lower rates. That usually translates into lower monthly payments for homeowners.

Warren Lasko, association executive vice president, said refinancings saved homeowners $16 billion last year.

We are projecting similar savings this year and this increase in spendable income should give a significant boost to our recovering economy," he said.

Refinancing activity has not been limited to homeowners. Businessmen and corporate leaders have been taking advantage of the low rates to cut interest costs. The Mortgage Bankers survey found that refinancing activity represented 62.1 percent of all mortgage applications during the latest reporting week. That was 3.4 percentage point higher than the previous week.

The remaining 37.9 percent of applications were for new mortgages to purchase homes.

Overall, applications totaled $4.1 billion during the week ended March 12, a 10.5 percent increase over the previous week and 112.9 percent above the comparable week a year ago.

In addition to making more money available to homeowners, the lower interest rates also have cut the mortgage delinquency rate, according to the Mortgage Bankers.

They reported last week that the delinquency rate had fallen to 4.24 percent during the final three months of 1992, down from 4.60 percent during the July-September quarter and the lowest in 18 years

"The outlook for continuing improvement in delinquency rates is excellent," association President Herbert B. Tasker told a news conference.

Best in American Living: The Cranbrook Chase development, Bloomfield Hills, has earned a merit award for design excellence for Holtzman & Silverman, Farmington Hills, in a competition sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders, Professional Builder magazine and Better Homes and Gardens. The development has entered its final phase with a selection of four styles. Prices start at $298,990.

Country flavor in a contemporary ranch

A farmhouse porch adds a dash of country flavor to the Toucan, a 11/2 story contemporary ranch style house designed for a family with older or grown children. The owners' suite is downstairs, leaving the upper rooms for children or guests.

Both upstairs bedrooms have skylights, vaulted ceilings and walk-in closets. A walkin linen closet is tucked into an alcove in the hallway and the skylit compartmentalized bathroom has twin vanities.

Descending the stairs into the high-ceilinged vaulted entry you can enjoy the view through a dormer window above the front door: A plant shelf on top of a closet next to the woodbox provides a space to display art objects or hanging plants. Basement access is directly under the main stairs.

On the main level, vaulted ceilings give an open, spacious feeling to the large family living and entertainment areas. The tiled hearth. see-through fireplace provides a cheerful focal point in both the dining and living room. Sliding glass doors brighten the dining room and allow easy access to a small deck.

Windows cover most of the bayed back wall of the kitchen, creating a bright, welcoming work area for informal gathering. Counter space is augmented by a central work island, and a walk-in pantry adds to the ample storage capacity. A small bathroom is between the kitchen and family room.

For a study plan of the Toucan (332-300). send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, Or: 97402, specifying plan name and number.
