Thomas gets more time to

A Thomas supporter pointed out that the superintendent lives only a few blocks north of the Wayne-Westland school district boundary. But others felt that Thomas should live in the district and pay the same property taxes as others.

By Darrell Clem Staff Whiten

A sharply divided Wayne-Westland school board has waived a residency requirement that would have forced Superintendent Larry Thomas to move into the district by Jan. 1.

The 4-3 decision sparked criticism from some board trustees and district employees who said Thomas should live in — and pay taxes in — the district that is paying him $111,136 in first-year salary and benefits.

"When a contract is broken, then there's no more marriage — the person goes," trustee Francis "Bud"

Winter said during Monday's meeting, obviously angered by the potentially explosive issue.

Prior to the board's razor-thin vote. district custodian Carol Gillentine warned that "the community will be outraged" by the contract amend-

Thomas is a Westland resident, but he and his family live in a Livonia school district neighborhood in the Wayne Road-Joy area. His house is several blocks north of the Wayne-Westland schools border.

When Thomas signed a three-year contract and started his new job last July 1, he agreed to move into the Wavne-Westland district by Jan. 1, 1994. But the board's controversial decision has given Thomas a one-year reprieve.

Thomas initially asked for 18 months to find a new home because he wanted to let his son finish high school in the adjacent Livonia district. In seeking another year, he cited an enormous workload that has cut into his personal life.

Westland swimmers and recre ation department officials are hoping for a warm, sunny Memorial Day weekend.

The reason is that the outdoor swimming pool next to Bailey Recreation Center is scheduled to open at noon Saturday to start the annual swimming season.

The pool's water must be 70 degrees or warmer for the facility to be open. Swimmers can call the recreation department at 722-7620 if they aren't sure about the temperature.

Weather permitting, the pool will be open from noon to 4.0 m. this Saturday and Sunday and 5-8 p.m. Monday.

Some new things have been added to increase pool patronage, said Debbie Lindquist, pool supervisor. One is the pool will be available for birthday swimming parties.

Another is that athletic teams, such as baseball, softball, karate, tennis or soccer groups, can get a 50-cents discount if they show up in

Swimming lessons will start June 21 and continue on a weekly basis through Aug. 27 for youngsters from 6 months to 10 years. Lessons are $15 for infants and preschoolers and $25 for older residents.

Open swimming this summer is scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. and 5-8 p.m. Season passes are available for $50 each with another $35 for additional people in the family.

135 school employees first to see pink slips

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Pink slips went out this week to 135 Wayne-Westland school district employees who face layoffs because of a $14 million budget deficit.

In the first round of layoffs, the school board Monday approved pink slips for 108 teachers, 23 bus drivers and four transportation aides.

Layoffs for other employee groups, such as custodians, administrators and cafeteria workers, are still to come. School officials haven't yet totaled the number of additional layoffs still pending, said district spokesman Gary Dell.

Despite Monday's action, school officials remain hopeful that most of the employees could be called back to work if voters approve Proposal A in the special June 2 election.

The state plan would cut property taxes and increase the sales tax by 2 cents, in a move that would ease the Wayne-Westland budget crisis and allow officials to restore many programs and services that have been

In another development, school board trustee Francis "Bud" Winter suggested a hiring freeze Monday, in a move that would prevent Superintendent Larry Thomas from filling two administrative positions.

Thomas said his administration is close to hiring two new officials in the instruction and planning department, including an assistant superintendent and an executive director.

Good Samaritan killed after aiding motorist

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

When Craig Sieczkowski of Westland saw a disabled motorist having trouble, he didn't ignore the problem and drive on by.

Unlike others who wouldn't take the time to help, he stopped and volunteered to push the stalled car. But he paid a tragic price — his life — for hls good deed.

Sieczkowski, 32, was killed as he was crossing Seven Mile Road near Haggerty in Northville Township. He was returning to his car after helping the stranded motorist, said Capt. Philip Presnell of the Northville Township Police Department.

Sieczkowski was hit by a passing motorist at 8:38 a.m. Monday on Seven Mile, one mile west of Haggerty. He was pronounced dead a short time later at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, Presnell said.

"It's real sad. He was just being a good Samaritan," the police captain Sieczkowski had assisted the motorist on the south side of Seven Mile and was crossing the four-lane road to return to his own car when he was hit. Presnell said.

Sieczkowski's wife was apparently with him, Presnell said. "She witnessed it.

months in a hospital. He said he and Shaffer has been buddies with the 279th regimental combat team of the 45th Infantry Division. Walker and three other members of the Wayne AmVets Post 171 placed flowers at Shaffer's headstone. Besides Walker, other veterans making the trip were Roy Walker, Leroy Brennan and Paul Beck. Board gives schools chief high, low marks

Winter suggested a hiring freeze "until we know where we're going financially." But his recommendation wasn't approved.

Several district employees also have suggested a hiring freeze. Custodian Carol Gillentine said many district residents already consider the district to be "topheavy" with administrators.

But Thomas said his six-member cabinet is still four jobs short of what the cabinet used to be. Moreover, Wayne-Westland ranks 33rd out of 34 districts in Wayne County, based on the size of the district and its cabinet.

'We're second from the bottom" in cabinet staffing, he said.

In other developments Monday: ■ Arthur Wood, the union leader representing hourly Wayne-Westland workers, pleaded with school officials to treat employees "humanely" when notifying them of layoffs.

"Understand the devastation of these employees, and treat them with the humanity that you would expect a family member to be treated with," he said.

■ Thomas has met with presidents of all district unions to talk about possible wage concessions to combat a budget deficit, but he has declined to discuss the results of those talks until the June 7 board meeting.

Winter raised concerns that the district has spent $80,000 for a consultant's report suggesting ways to reorganize the various employee departments to stream-

"Overall, we all agreed that this was a very difficult year," Thomas said Monday, summing up the written comments made by board members who rated him individu-

Thomas received high marks from some board members for improving community relations and striving to be open about the district's finances. His supporters had accused his immediate predecessor, Dennis O'Neill, of falling. short in those areas.

Thomas also noted that he was described as "visionary" for his efforts to improve the district's curriculum and instruction.

He drew criticism, however, for his sour relations with some employee groups, amid a whirlwind of allegations that he wanted to fire some principals and implement a controversial teacher-evaluation system.

On Monday, Thomas indicated that some employees may have felt alienated by the change in ad-

"I am part of this community. I live in Westland by choice, and I have lived in Westland for 23 years," Thomas said, adding lat-"My commitment can't be more than it is now."

His request won support from trustees Laurel Raisanen, Fred Warmbier, Sharon Felan and Richard LeBlanc, though some appeared lukewarm to the contract amendment. In opposing the change, Winter was joined by board members Vicki Welty and Leonard Posey.

"Historically our superintendents have always lived in this school district," Winter said. Thomas' immediate predecessor, Dennis O'Neill, lived in West-

"I believe having 18 months to move into this district is ample time," Winter said.

Although Welty said she supports Thomas, she said she couldn't have voted for a contract that lacked a residency clause. She had initially agreed to give Thomas 18 months to move because she didn't want to "uproot" his son from school.

With Thomas' son graduating this year, Welty refused to support the one-year extension.

'I think it's very important that our superintendent live in our district," she said. "However, don't get me wrong. I am still in support of the man.

Posey, siding with Winter and Welty, noted that the residency issue becomes an issue when school officials ask district voters to approve a tax increase. Some residents have previously told Thomas he should pay the same taxes they do. District bus driver Denise

Thomas, who isn't related to the superintendent, told the board Monday that many hourly workers live in Wayne-Westland. "It's their neighbors, it's their families, that support this district."

Despite criticism, however, the superintendent's request won approval from a four-member board majority, meaning he will have until Jan. 1, 1995, to find a new

But one reluctant supporter, trustee LeBlanc, warned, "I will not support an extension of this date again.'

Trustee Felan said she contacted nearby districts on Monday and learned that most do not have a residency requirement. She suggested the board develop a policy one way or the other - on the issue, adding that residency should not be subject to contract negotiations.

Trustee Warmbier came to Thomas defense and said a move now by the superintendent would have "detracted from the district" and forced Thomas to focus more on personal matters.

"We've put a lot of pressure on this man in the last year to make some changes," Warmbier said. He's not that far away" from the Wayne-Westland boundary.

Warmbier also noted that the board hadn't discussed who would pay for the superintendent's move - Thomas or the dis-

Presnell wouldn't release the identity of the driver who hit Sieczkowski because an investigation has not been completed.

He's only 17, but Leon Carpenter has made history.

With a free ticket to college and the promise of a good job, Carpenter has become the first student ever to receive an apprenticeship through the William Ford Vocational-Technical Center.

He wants to work as a journeyman in computer-aided machinery — a potentially lucrative field in which he will operate a computer that guides machine tools during production.

His teacher, Barry Swan, predicted an annual salary of $40,000 to $60,000 in a matter of years.

Carpenter will be an apprentice for four years, receiving 8,000 hours of hands-on training. He also will be working toward an associate's degree at Henry Ford College, with his employer paying the tab.

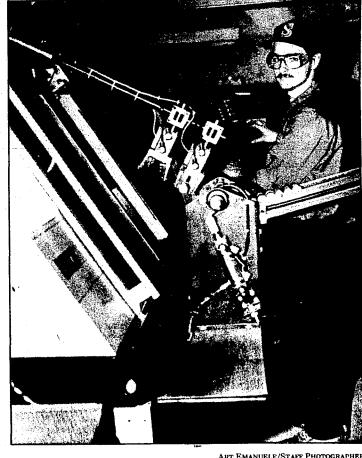

Carpenter said he feels fortunate that he was chosen for the apprenticeship, but teachers and school officials said his skills stood out.

"He's a good student. He's serious about learning," teacher Swan said. "He's the type of student that you don't have to tell to get busy.

Many apprenticeships come later in life - often after employees have been on the job for years, Baracy said.

TODAY, TREATMENTS FOR ALCOHOLISM ARE MANY

Dr. Pitts is chief of Psychiatry at

by Kenneth Pitts, M.D.

Alcoholism is a complicated problem involving a wide variety of cultures and stemming from many different causes. Recognizing this, mental health professionals today are discovering several different methods for treating the disease.

Detoxification may be the initial treatment for people who need hospitalization to stop their alcohol abuse. After their hospital stay, outpatient programs are available such as Day Treatment Programs or Intensive Outpatient Programs (IOP).

Support groups, such as Alcoholics Anonymous, have long been successful in treating the addicted individual. Individual and group therapy is helpful in treating alcoholism, most often when combined with another treatment. Family therapy helps the patient and family members understand how the family may have influenced the addictive behaviors. It also teaches the family how to be a supportive network for their loved one. Taking Antabuse, a chemical that makes people sick if they consume alcohol, is another treatment method.

Acupuncture produces endorphins which boost the body's capa-city to cope with stress and alter cravings for addictive substances.

Relaxation techniques/stress reduction therapies, such as yoga, exercise, meditation, and massage, have proven successful in revitalizing the body and mind, reducing tension, ridding the body of toxins, improving circulation, and giving an individual greater control over his/her addiction.

Nutrition restoration accelerates the healing process by helping the body detoxify and rebuild. Through a proper diet, symptoms such as cravings, depression, anxiety, fatigue, and mental confusion are eliminated.

The most important thing to keep in mind when considering treatment options is that not any one program will work for everyone.

The addicted individual needs to be carefully and thoroughly assessed before an appropriate treatment program can be designed.

Volunteers can aid river cleanup at these sites

Friends of the Rouge are looking for area residents to help revitalize the Rouge River at the annual cleanup event on Saturday, June 5.

There are 25 are sites at which volunteers can help build and place nesting boxes for small birds, wood ducks and other creatures such as bats, plant trees, shrubs and grasses, stencil storm drains with warnings against dumping toxic stuff into drains that flow into the

They will also remove graffiti from bridges and paved river banks and build steps and repair foot bridges.

Jim Graham, executive director of Friends of the Rouge, says that while the Rouge is far from pristine today and a great deal of work remains to be done in future years, ther are real sign that progress is being made toward making the river clean, accessible and usable.

One example is the 4.500 fingerling brown trout that were planted in the spring of 1992 by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in Johnson Drain near Northville.

Small-mouth bass are doing well in a fish habitat established in Southfield, near the intersection of Telegraph and Civic Center Drive.

better indexed to local costs of doing business, according to the man in charge of the Proposal A campaign.

"There's a higher cost of doing business in some areas," said Philip Runkel, former state school superintendent.

"Some indexing is needed. It will be done (in the Legislature) next year. That will help the met-ropolitan area," Runkel told the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments Friday.

Runkel, a Democrat recruited for the campaign by Republican Gov. John Engler, was asked by Oakland County Commissioner David Moffitt, R-Farmington Hills, if Proposal A could have been better. Runkel said yes.

Proposal A on the June 2 ballot would amend the state constitution to guarantee every school district at least $4,800 per pupil. For some rural districts, the increase would amount to $2,000 over several vears.

Suburbs critical

Suburban critics have hit this portion of Proposal A because school costs are higher in the metropolitan Detroit suburbs. Suburban districts pay more for teachers salaries, home construction, medical care and insurances than the outstate area.

Proposal A would cut property taxes from their statewide average of 34-plus mills to 18 to 27 mills. Low millage rates would prevail outstate. Higher rates would be levied in the metropolitan Detroit suburbs.

Public Sector Consultants, a Lansing-based think tank, had much the same criticism of Proposal A, though Robert Kleine, a PSC economist, endorsed it.

"Proposal A is not perfect," Kleine said in a written analysis given to SEMCOG delegates. "We are unhappy with the failure to adjust for regional cost differences. We would have liked to see provisions included that would encourage school reform, particularly consolidation and performance evaluation."

'Last, best hope'

Both Runkel and Kleine agreed Proposal A was the only method of achieving school finance reform in Michigan. In 20 years, Michigan voters have rejected 11 property tax cut plans or state tax increases to raise school revenue and flatten the disparity between rich and poor districts.

"In my view, we will not get another ballot proposal in this decade," said Runkel. "This is our last chance. This is the best I've seen in my years in Michigan." said Runkel, who had been super-intendent of Utica schools before taking the state post during Gov. James Blanchard's administra-

"Proposal A may be the last, best hope for fixing school finance and the state tax imbalance, agreed PSC's Kleine.

If Proposal A fails, Runkel predicted, state lawmakers will reduce categorical aid to well-off suburban districts and shift the cost of Social Security and pensions from Lansing to local schools — the so-called "Robin Hood" approach.

"They're going after (suburban districts) like Gang Busters," said Runkel, quoting state Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, a major figure in writing the school aid bill.

Runkel also predicted "more internal warfare" for shares of the state budget between schools and competing interests if Proposal A

And he predicted the Legislature will spread the sales tax to more items (though not food and prescription drugs) if Proposal A

No income tax hike

Runkel, now a vice president of Kemper Securities in Lansing, said he would have preferred the state shift to an income tax increase to support schools, rather than a 2-cents hike in the sales tax. But bowing to political reali-tv. Runkel said, "An income tax won't be passed or signed in the next two years."

Although Proposal A is barely ahead in the polls, Runkel said it "the broadest support any ballot proposal has ever received." He cited business, education and governmental endorsements. The two teachers unions, Michigan Education Association and the Michigan Federation of Teachers, have endorsed it, but the AFL-CIO labor federation is keeping hands off.

Runkel got a polite reception, but many SEMCOG delegates from the seven counties clearly disliked Proposal A. It would cap assessments for property taxes at the rate of inflation, limiting their revenue growth.

'We've been cut in so many areas — public health, mental health, social services," said Washtenaw County Commissioner Meri Lou Murray, D-Ann Arbor. "They would gain only 1 percent with this (school) proposal. It's time for an income tax (in-

Oakland Community College board chairman David Hackett of Rochester Hills asked about the impact of Proposal A on the state's 29 two-year colleges.

"They're not going to jump up and down over the cap (on assessments)," Runkel replied. "They'll have a chance down the road to gain millages (with the reduction in school district millages)."

ROLL CALL REPORT

Ford, Knollenberg split on'middle-class' loan program

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending

HOUSE

No to "Middle-Class" Amendment: By a vote of 181 for and 231 against, the House relected language requining that companies owned by the "middleclass" benefit most from new Department of Commerce loan programs for technological development. The defeated amendment called for a set-aside for firms controlled by persons with incomes of $15,000 to $85,000. The underlying bill (HR 820) recommends 10 and women-controlled companies. The amendment was offered to a bill, still in debate, that provides $1.5 billion in grants and loans to advance U.S. industrial competitiveness.

percent set-asides for minority-

Sponsor Robert Walker, R-Pa., said, "let's not just have designations for all of the groups . . . that have special interest concerns.

Let's for once say that the middle class deserves some considera-tion."

Opponent Tim Valentine, D-N.C. said, "there is absolutely no reason to create a set-aside goal for the middle class since they have not been victims and since (this) legislation was created for the middle class.'

A yes vote favored a middleclass set-aside in legislation to increase U.S. technological competitiveness. Area representatives voting yes were: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Bob Carr, D-Pontlac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, and William Ford, D-Ypsi-

No on Public Lands Issue: The House rejected a bill (HR 873) authorizing the U.S. Forest Service to buy 80,000 wildemess acres in Montana's Gallatin Range from a private timber company, paving between $12 million and $20 million. The tally of 262 for and 140 against fell short of the two-thirds majority needed to pass tary procedure. The land lies immediately north of Yellowstone National Park and would be added to Gallatin National Forest.

Sponsor Pat Williams, D-Mont., said Congress must soon protect the land from logging and other encroachment and ayert: "a real pub lic lands disaster.

Opponent Dan Burton, R-Ind... said the government should acquire the acreage by land ex-change, "They do not need to do it by spending taxpayers' money,' he said.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Kildee, Levin, Ford. Voting no: Knollenberg. Not voting: Bob

SENATE

Yes to Final Phase of S&L Bailout: The Senate passed, 61 for and 35 against, a bill (S 174) authorizing up to $34.3 billion for the final phase of the savings-and-loan bailout. This would raise to about $140 billion congressional spending since positors and other costs of the most expensive financial debacle in American history.

Counting Treasury borrowing costs over decades, the ballout's final tab to taxpayers is projected by the General Accounting Office at $500 billion-plus. The government is offsetting some of the cost with asset sales and lawsuits.

In addition to funding the Resolution Trust Corp. and the new Sav ings Association Insurance Fund, the bill requires faster sale of seized assets, creates an RTC vice presidency to look after minority and women's interests and limits the cash bonuses available to RTC executives.

Supporter Pete Domenici. R-N.M., said, "no one likes this bill and yet, it is a must-do piece of legislation.

Opponent Richard Shelby, D-Ala., said the government has collected only an "abysmally low" $38 million in court-ordered restitution from those who looted ballout bill to the House. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegie D, both voted yes.

Yes to Extend Period For S&L Lawsuits: The Senate adopted, 63 for and 32 against, an amendment to S.714 (above) extending from three to five years the statutory period in which the government can sue thrift executives, directors, accountants, lawyers and others associated with a savings-and-loan failure.

Sponsor Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said taxpayers "have a nght to expect that individuals who enriched themselves be made to pay back their ill-gotten gains .

Opponent Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., said the amendment was 'too broad'' and could "unintentionally encumber thousands of good, decent people" including S&L directors who were far removed from illegality.

A yes vote was to extend the statute-of-limitations for S&L suits to five years. Levin did not vote. Riegie voted yes.

Yes to Expand Voting Registration: By a vote of 62 for and 36 against, the Senate sent President Clinton a bill (HR 2) making voter registration available at military recruitment, welfare and disability offices, by mail, and at agencies that dispense driving and marriage licenses and certain other public certificates. The "motor voter" bill is expected to add tens of millions of registrants to the 125 million Americans now signed up to Supporter Mark Hatfield, R-Ore... said, "this bill stands for the premise that we are all Americans first, not Democrats or Republicans.

Opponent Charles Grassley, Dlowa, said the bill continues "the waste of taxpayer dollars through unfunded mandates on the Senior pros to tee off at S'craft golf fund-raiser

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

With the help of Plymouth resident Tom Bohlander, Schoolcraft College has landed some distinguished company indeed for its 10th annual golf outing fund-ra-owner of Sunshine Honda of Plymouth and Sunshine Acura of Farmington Hills, used his autoworld connections to enlist the aid of six Senior Professional Golf Association members — Tommy Aaron, Jim Albus, Terry Dill, Dick Hendrickson, Dave Hill, Orville Moody and Charles Coody — for the college's links extravagan-

The pros, each sponsored by an automobile manufacturer, are required by contract to play in a certain number of events such as Schoolcraft's fund-raiser. Bohlander convinced auto company officials to include Schoolcraft on that list.

"This is going to be absolutely the most wonderful golf outing that ever existed," said Schoolcraft spokeswoman Saundra "Sam" Florek, noting that the 144 afternoon tee-off times ($200 each) are almost entirely spoken for a month before the event is scheduled to occur — June 21 at the Golden Fox Course at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth. Morning tee times are $160 and still available.

Ordinarily, Bohlander said, participants pay more than $1,000 for events like this. Schoolcraft's outing "is one of the few times you get to play with these guys at a relatively inexpensive price."

The format is as follows: Participants play a four-person scramble for 18 holes with a golf cart. The professional golfers split into two groups of three. One group plays in the morning, the other in the afternoon. Each proplays one hole over and over. So participants will play with all three of the pros present on their round.

At the outdoor luncheon, morning and afternoon golfers may take part in a golf clinic, also put on by the pros.

Dinner with the pros follows the golf-playing, and Bohlander hopes to snare additional famous golfers for that, because most of the senior tour players will be in town for the Ford Senior Players Championship at TPC-Dearborn.

Could be that Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino or Ray Floyd might be present at the dinner, Bohlander said.

Participants may also vie for door prizes that include lodging at Mission Point Resort on Mackinac Island, a golf weekend at Shanty Creek/Schuss Mountain or Bay Valley Resort, 18 holes of golf for two at Sugar Loaf Resort, a spring/fall golf package at the Waterfront Inn Hotel in Petoskey and a television set.

And there's more. Participants will receive a photo with one of the pros and a tournament bag tag.

Florek said Schoolcraft raised $28,000 at ite 1992 golf fund-raiser and will net at least $36,000 if all 288 slots are filled this year. The money will be used to create new scholarships.

To sign up, call 462-4417.

Champ: Pro golfer Tammy Aaron, winner of the 1973 Master's tournament, will be among six senior tour golfers at Schoolcraft College's annual fund-raiser golf outing June 21.

Athletes come in many shapes and sizes, yet constant visions of physically superior "super-beings" pushing themselves to the limits seem to plague the minds of most Americans. This fallacy has led to the exclusion of many deserving- athletic groups, one being race car drivers.

The rationale becomes clear when you examine the word "athlete." An athlete is someone who takes part in competitive sports. No one can deny that racing cars is a competitive sport. Woman courts jail, gets work detail, $25 fine

Ursula Kube of Livonia is a woman of substance.

Just ask anyone in Plymouth's 35th District Court who dealt with her there last week.

Kube appeared in court, Wednesday morning to take care of a minor traffic violation. Dissatisfied with the initial result, she returned that afternoon with every intention of going to jail.

Attractively dressed in a skirt, and sweater, the German-born Kube was carrying a purse but no overnight bag. "They give you stuff to put on. They'll probably fingerprint me," she said, waiting for her case to be called.

On April 28, Kube was working in the bindery department at Unisys. Shortly after midnight, she left on her lunch break and climbed into her Eagle Summit van. En route to Burger King, she was pulled over on Plymouth Road by police officer Ken Chumney, who ticketed her for not wearing her glasses.

Kube was assigned a court date of May 20. She appeared and pleaded guilty. Judge John Mac-Donald dismissed the case, assessed court costs and fines and considered the case closed. To his amazement, he returned from lunch to find a woman waiting for him to send her to jail.

The judge dismissed the case this morning, but I had to pay court costs of $75," said Kube, the mother of two college-age sons. "I thought that was quite a bit unfair. I asked the court personnel if I could be put on some type of work detail, but they said no; you have to pay court costs.

"I asked what happens if I don't pay, and they said, 'You get one day in jail.' I said, 'Fine.' Ifeel like the middle-income person pays enough to the government. I believe in my rights. These girls (court employees) are laughing and talking, and I'm not about to go ahead and pay their salary. They throw out these $200 and $300 court costs like money grows on trees.

"I feel it's injustice. Instead of supporting the government some more, I will be willing to do my sentence. I'm here because I thought I'd save the city the expense of coming to Rosedale Gardens to pick me up. Let him treat me like a criminal. I don't care.

"Today is my birthday," added

Kube, who turned 48. Robed and ready, Judge Mac-Donald took the bench and Kube the stand. While the judge and defendant waited in the empty courtroom for the court reporter, they had a chance to chat. "I work hard for my money.

Why should I hand it over?" Kube asked the judge. "It's just so unfair. The night I got ticketed, I had an Ohio State shirt on. Maybe that had something to do

School superintendents back Proposal A

The Wayne County Association of School Administrators has endorsed Proposal A, the statewide ballot question that if approved on June 2 will roll back property taxes and increase the sales tax by two cents.

"Educators in Michigan have been asking for school finance reform for at least the last 15 years. Proposal A initiates reform as it provides property tax relief," said Livonia Schools Superintendent Joe Marinelli, WCASA president.

Proposal A will amend the state Constitutuion to roll back school operating property taxes at 18 mills and cap total school millage at 27 mills. It will also limit an-nual assessment increases by 5 percent or inflation, whichever is less, increase the state's sale tax and establish a state guarantee of $4,800 per pupil for school spending. It will also dedicate the additional sales tax and state lottery proceeds to the school aid fund.

WCASA said Proposal A protects the taxpayer by capping the rate of tax increase and protects education by preventing policy makers from diverting state funds away from public schools.

"Marinelli said that superintendents of districts which currently do not receive general aid from the state, known as out-offormula districts, are particularly pleased that Proposal A eliminates 'Robin Hood' efforts and state recapture of funds promised to schools.

While the superintendents realize that Proposal A is not a perfect solution, it is the best hope at this time and an admirable start for improving school finance and the state tax imbalance," said Marinelli.

Blood drive: An international challenge

Different flags. Differnt anthems

Different countries.

But despite the differences southeastern Michigan and southwest Ontario have one thing in common: a universal need for blood.

To help meet that need in June, the Southeastern Michigan Blood Services Region of the American Red Cross and the Canadian Red Cross Society will go head to head as part of a special Blood Border Cup Challenge. The theme of the challenge, sponsored by CKLW-AM 800, is "Bridging Borders for Life."

The American Red Cross goal is to collect 20,160 pints of blood in June to provide blood to the 59 hospitals it serves in southeastern Michigan. The Canadian Red Cross Society goal is to collect 4,865 pints of blood to serve 17 hospitals in southwest Ontario.

Donors in southeast Michigan can participate in the challenge by donating at one of the American Red Cross' 10 donor centers including those in Livonia, Dearborn, Canton, Bloomfield, Ann Arbor and the Renaissance Center.

Mayor's plan to combine jobs nixed

The mayor wants to save $100,000 a year by eliminating an administrative position. The city council, which has the last word, disagreed, saying that the planning director's job is too important to be dropped.

BY DARRELL CLEM

Westland Mayor Robert Thomas said he wanted to save the city $100,000 a year by streamlining his administration.

But the mayor's proposal to combine the jobs of planning director and economic development director has been snubbed by the Westland City Council, which says both posts are needed.

In a study session last week, the council reached a consensus rejecting Thomas' proposal to appoint Scott Veldhuis, the city's $48,043-a-year economic development director, as the next planning director.

Veldhuis' dual role would have come on the heels of the April 30 retirement of planning director George Wilhelmi.

Thomas cited several reasons for his proposal:

■ The duties of both jobs have been reduced because less land is now available in Westland for develop-

■ Consultants could be hired — at a lower cost than a director - to occasionally handle special projects.

Finances will be tighter in coming

But the council bas responded with its own reasons will both jobs are needed, according to council president Charles Pickering:

Some members believe that Veldhuis isn't qualified to be a planner and would be overloaded with work.

Both posts are needed in a city that still has some vacant land available for development

■ The city is faced with trying to fill vacant storefronts, particularly in some strip malls.

Man hurt in hit-run

An Inkster man narrowly survived a hit-and-run accident that occurred Saturday night as he was walking across Inkster Road, near Annapolis, in Westland's southeast corner.

Gregory Mitchell, 42, received life threatening head and leg injuries and was flown by helicopter to the University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he underwent 20 hours of surgery, police said.

He has emerged from an initial coma but remained only semi-conscious Tuesday in the hospital's intensive care unit, a hospital spokeswoman said

How much did you lose last year on nondeductible interest

Maybe you've noticed it while getting your taxes ready. All the interest you've paid on consumer loans that's not deductible.

Well, now's the time to think of a strategy for next year's taxes. And consider borrowing against the equity in your home.

At First of America, we can lock you into a low fixed 8.50 percent APR loan with terms of up to 7 years. To make the offer even more attractive, all fees will be waived, so there will be no annual fee, appraisal fees, closing costs or points. And you'll have a fixed monthly payment that will never change.

The sooner you take advantage of it, the more you can save on financing home improvements, education, a car or anything else worthwhile. You can even refinance a loan that you have somewhere else.

Be sure to consult your tax advisor to make sure the interest is deductible.

We can give qualified applicants fast approval—usually within 24 hours. So stop by any First of America office or

Plan to save plant praised

The glass if half-full as far as one public official is concerned. But some local employees who face losing their jobs at the General Motors Delco Chassis plant in Livonia may see it differently.

The optimistic view was taken by Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett, commenting a recently disclosed agreement by company and UAW officials to keep the plant open with fewer employees.

The plant which employs many local residents is on Eckles between Plymouth Road and Schoolcraft.

"It's much better to have a going concern than a vacant plant," Bennett said Monday.

"It's still a rather substantial picked up by other GM plants.

operation.' The plant, scheduled to close this fall, will instead run a scaledback operation in an "unprecedented" agreement with the company, a union official said. Charles Lewis, shop chairman for UAW Local 262, said about half the current hourly workforce of 1.550 will remain at the plant turning out springs, struts and other suspension parts for GM cars and trucks.

Chrome bumpers formerly built by Delco Chassis workers will be outsourced to an independent supplier in Canada, he said.

Current pay and benefits remain in tact in the new, three-year deal. Laid-off employees may

'We're sorry to see (the workload) cut but we couldn't compete with outside vendors." Lewis

The deal got more than 80 percent support in a ratification vote Friday, Lewis said.

Lewis said the local offered to renegotiate last December, immediately after GM included Delco Chassis on a list of 21 plants slated for shut down as part of its downsizing plan.

Such proposals are standard practice at parts plants targeted for closure, but this month's decision marks the first time the company has agreed, he said.

IONDER

Childhood is a time of wonder. Parenthood is a time of wonder, too. Wondering if baby will look like mom or dad. Wondering when baby will say those first words. Wondering when baby will take that first step.

Let's take the wonder out of making it the first birthday.

Residents win in compromise

estland residents in the Ford-Central City Parkway area were the big winners last week when the city council gave preliminary approval to a compromise plan which will allow a Kroger supermarket to be developed across from city

The council action clearly signaled that it is sensitive to homeowners' complaints that there is an overbuilding of commercial centers in the

A proposal for a more extensive commercial development was defeated five months ago when the developer wanted to build a Wal-mart Sam's Warehouse, the larger Kroger store and several smaller buildings as part of a new strip center on the northwest corner of Ford and Cen-

Part of the council's argument against the rezoning then was a fear that the city was overbuilding strip centers when there were too many vacant commercial buildings. At the same time, council members were confident that residential or small offices could be developed on the property across the street from city hall.

The compromise which pleased area residents would allow the Kroger store of 60,000 square feet, double the size of its two nearby supermarkets, to be developed with several smaller businesses. The big difference from the plan rejected last winter is the elimination of the Sam's Warehouse building.

The council won a major concession from the developer in allowing 23 acres near the valuable

The council's preliminary position, which must still be formalized later, signals that it is listening to area residents. The action also reflects the political climate in Westland.

It was just four years ago this fall that Mayor Charles (Trav) Griffin was upset by challenger Robert Thomas who was critical of Griffin for overbuilding the city's commercial property at a time of too many vacancies.

Ironically, Thomas supported the more expansive development for Ford-Central City Parkway and opposed the downsized proposal.

In the upcoming mayoral campaign, there will be many issues to be debated by Thomas and his opponents. Certainly, the candidates' views on the pace of commercial development will be a major issue during the campaign.

But the council's preliminary decision Monday on the Kroger plan will show voters that someone in city hall is listening to homeowners' estland Chapter 387 of the Vietnam Veterans of America recently concluded a disappointing scholarship essay competition. Graduating seniors of John Glenn and Wayne Memorial High Schools were eligible to write up to 500 words on one of three topics. The three best essays were to be awarded $500, $300, and $200 cash towards college

Apparently there are no students of financial need this year at John Glenn as not one student wrote a word. Two students from Wayne Memorial wrote essays and are commended for their efforts. Jamie Jovanelly and Toby Kmet will receive first and second place awards, respectively. It's atrocious that this year's graduating classes left $200 unclaimed!

Somewhere there is a lack of communication among advisers, faculty and students. Possibly the problem is lack of student motivation.

Perhaps parents should be advised of scholarship opportunities through school newsletters so they may encourage or prod their teenagers to leave no stone unturned when college dollars

First he refers to concerned parents and others with reservations about the Michigan Model squelching criticism by referring to critics of the Michigan Model as religious fanatics wanting to impose their beliefs on everyone else's children. While it is true that the Christian fundamentalists are usually the first to spot the dangers in these types of programs, they are by no means the only people to be concerned. It might interest Mr. Richard to know that even some members of the educational establishment were not completely enthralled with the problemsolving with people component of the Michigan Model Health Program. As an early opponent of the Michigan Model, I contacted several superintendents and directors of instruction from the surrounding school districts.

Interestingly enough, a number of these individuals admitted to me that they too were concerned about the problem-solving with people component of the Michigan Model, but because so many valuable science and health aids came with the complete Michigan Model package, they felt compelled to accept the program. No. Mr. Richard, it is not the Evangelical movement we need to worry about. Rather it is those in official positions who seek ever greater control over our lives that we must guard against.

High tech phones prove pricey n the good old days of telephoning, back when high-tech meant a phone without a crank, a friendly voice would come over the line. You'd hear "number please" as soon as the receiver would be lifted off the hook.

Well, now it's the '90s, and the telephone companies are talking real high-tech stuff, especially in their slick advertising. But despite all the fiber optics, microchips, satellites and computers, people are still saying "number please' into a telephone receiver.

These days it's the customer asking the phone company for a telephone number through something called directory assistance — that old faithful 1-555-1212. You call the number and hear, "Information. What city please?"

And Ma Bell will even connect you immediately — for a fee, of course. Considering the immensity of the Detroit area and the complexity of the Michigan Bell setup, directory assistance is the only way to go for a lot of the people a lot of the time. It seems like Ma is getting older, not wiser for those of us looking for low cost, user-friendly service. Say you're in Plymouth and you need to call someone in Rochester, and you don't know the number. Unless you're a phone book freak, you don't have the local Rochester directory. Never fear, though, your number is just eight finger strokes away.

So, as important as directory assistance has become to phone users, we were disappointed to learn through recent published reports that Michigan Bell soon will double the cost of calling directory assistance. Michigan Bell got approval for the rate increase from the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Customers now get 20 free directory assistance calls each month. After that, additional calls cost 22 cents each. Under the new deal approved by the PSC, Michigan Bell can cut the free calls to eight, with a 35-cent charge for every call over that.

Six months after the initial increase, the number of free calls can be cut again to five and the cost of additional calls raised to 45 cents.

Of course, the phone company defends the hike, saying it'll cover the cost of providing directory assistance, not boosting company revenues. "Eighty percent of our customers won't see any increase," said Bell spokesman Jon Peterson.

Still, we're unhappy with any increase. In this era of high-tech everything, we think there's a better way. Maybe Bell could make the directories available to personal computer owners through some sort of "on-line" setup. You'd simply call up the phone books on your PC.

According to Bell's Peterson, France has such a computer-based telephone directory. It serves

s been five years since The Community House in Birmingham presented an educational meeting

'Welcome to AIDS 101," Susan McCreedy of the state office on AIDS education said to the dozen people who showed up in February 1988.

Most refused to be interviewed on their impressions. "I don't want my name in the paper showing I was here, one woman said.

Two people at the meeting later complained that a newspaper photographer made them feel uncomfortable. They apparently felt the stigma of being seen at the meeting linked them too closely with the disease.

Monday, Observer & Eccentric photographer Steve Cantrell recalled that session, as he spent a couple of hours capturing a workshop on "AIDS: The Copic of the 90s" again hosted by The Community House, this time joined by the Michigan AIDS Fund.

This time, it was Cantrell who felt inhibited from taking some photographs he felt might be intrusive, as AIDS victims and some audience members dissolved in tears. Clearly, no one among the approximately 130 people who attended or the featured speakers was ashamed of being there.

'We're saying we're not going to take it anymore," said Tammy Boccomino, a panelist who contracted the HIV virus from her former husband, and who has a child with AIDS. "If other people are afraid, that's their problem."

Despite the change in attitude among The Community House audience, for Bocoomino and others it's not getting better. Whereas victims of almost any other illness elicit the sympathy and compassion of their family, friends and community, those with AIDS must still contend with the original myths and misconceptions.

So when Troy High School senior Michelle Thompson asked "If I find out if somebody I know has AIDS, how can I help?" the answers came hur-

"Touch them, hug them, show them you're not afraid," said Bocoomino. "Drive them to the doctor. Make them a meal.

"We feel enough like lepers," said Kathy Gerus, who received the virus from her husband, a hemophiliac who recently died of AIDS. "Get educated. Because every day is a chore. You need

That's why the rest of our Observer & Eccentric communities and those across the state must follow the lead of The Community House in Birmingham and enlightened school districts like the Birmingham Public Schools and present forums where people can get both factual information and learn compassion.

And schools cannot continue to present programs featuring HIV/AIDS patients only to high school seniors. Because by then it may be too late.

But when the Birmingham schools invited parents of 1,000 middle school students to attend a similar workshop one evening last week, just 30 parents showed up.

AIDS is not going away. Whereas in February 1988, there were 554 confirmed cases statewide, as of May 1 there were 4,402. Of these, more than 2,400 are dead, according to Randall Pope, chief of HIV/AIDS prevention and intervention for the Michigan Department of Health.

"They are men and women just like you or I," Pope told the audience. "It is a human disease based on human preventable behavior.'

Abstinence and monogamy may work for some, Pope said. "But for those for whom this is not a choice, how do we provide all the education in the schools, churches, homes, so people practice behavior that won't endanger their lives?"

With a portion of the Michigan AIDS quilt as his backdrop, he looked over the audience and said: "It is this type of effort that needs to be repeated: in every community throughout Michi-

Nine factors could trigger a state tax increase

A little more than two years ago, I predicted a major state tax increase for Michigan in two to 10 years.

I found myself invited to speak to Rotary, Lions and political clubs. In 20-minute talks, I gave an expanded version of that column.

Looking at Proposal A on the June 2 ballot, a conservative Oakland County Republican leader wrote me a congratulatory note saying I had been right. I had forgotten our conversation but was pleased he had remembered it.

The Oakland Young Republicans, in April 1992, were a tough audience. Some just plain didn't want to hear any talk about a tax increase. Just cut, cut, cut spending, some said.

A lady at the Chelsea Rotary was unhappy at my message. "Can't you give us any hope?" she pleaded. I think she was in real estate. Realtors live on their emotions in a tough, demanding business. They want to be cheered up, not told the truth.

My prediction of a major state tax increase was based on observing a lot of possible events — up to nine — that any two occurred, there would be no way out except a state tax increase.

The first to happen was settlement of the Oakland County mental health case. Oakland had won in the Court of Appeals, contending the state was shorting the county $400 million or so.

The state Supreme Court had heard oral arguments when, early in 1991, Gov. John Engler wisely called a halt and settled with Oakland. The state wouldn't pay for past claims, just future costs, but it hit the $8-billion general fund pretty hard.

Second on my list was a major property tax cut.

Engler tried Proposal C, for "cut & cap," in November 1992 — a $1-billion property tax cut for which the state would reimburse local units. Voters said no. A chief reason was that school interests feared — correctly, in my opinion — that Lansing wouldn't have the revenue growth to pay for it.

So now we have Proposal A on the June 2 ballot. It would cut school operating taxes and replace them with a two-cent increase in the sales tax - a $2-billion item. That's the significant increase in state taxation I had predicted two years ago.

I told you so.

Of course, Proposal A hasn't been approved yet. At this writing, no one can be sure if it will pass.

The point is this: You can't put demand after demand, either by lawsuit or political action, on the state budget without generating the need for more

No amount of "cutting fat" or "efficiency through privatization" will raise $400 million here, or $2 billion there, to meet the court judgments or the political needs.

You ask, what if Proposal A fails? Will the need for a state tax increase go

No. There are other invaders lurking in the woods.

There's a lawsuit started by 50 or 60 outstate counties and cities over court funding. They are unhappy that Lansing pays for Detroit's and Wayne County's courts but not the other 82

They won in the Court of Claims last year. They surely will win in the appellate courts, in another three years. State budget makers will be staring another bill for $300 million in the face.

Then there are lawsuits over school funding — so many I lose track. The state has to lose only one of those megabucks suits before it must raise tax-

Technology evolves beyond morality in medical issues

uestion: Why does Michigan's longest running major news story - Dr. Jack n and assisted sui bringing out the worst in everybody? Because it brings into the sharpest possible focus the yawning gulf between our established legal, political and moral institutions and the onrush of medical technology.

Consider: The evolution of our legal and political systems has taken around 200 years, and it has taken millennia to develop our moral and religious institutions. But modern medical technology — the kind that literally snatches a patient back from the jaws of death - is a product of the last 50 years.

Most of those who have asked Dr. Kevorkian to assist their suicides would have been dead 50 years ago. Their suffering and our dilemma are both unintended consequences of medical prog-

The historic conditions which gave rise over a long period of time to our social institutions simply did not include doctors having the power to prolong life. The inertia present in all our social structures has forced them to address entirely new problems like Dr. Kevorkian in conventional ways. So they all have seemed silly, off the point or merely weird.

Item: The core instincts of the political system, for example, persist in turning discussion about this exquisitely complex issue into campaign diatribes and sound bites for the media.

Where Gov. John Engler hypes signing of the bill banning assisting suicide with waving American flags, supporters of Dr. Kevorkian cannot resist calling opponents "right-wing religious nuts." I know of no patriotic position on this issue, nor do I sense that the only people deeply concerned about the morality of assisted suicide are right wingers.

Item: The deeply rooted habit of governments is to regulate, regardless of whether the activity in question can or should be regulated. As far as the Michigan Legislature is concerned, state policy on assisting suicide is to ban the practice, a regulatory act.

PHILIP POWER

My basic objection to government's poking into this area is that I resent some judge or (worse) state legislator instructing me how I am to cope with a profoundly sensitive issue that should be dealt with in the respectful intimacy of the family

Item: Religious leaders, for whom the lag between historic principles of morality and current realities of medical technology is perhaps the most painful, have had trouble being of assistance. Catholic Archbishop Adam Maida is on record sounding as though he advocates suffering as good for the soul, while others have had trouble reconciling their moral ambiguity with the reality of the needs of their flock.

When my late mother-in-law lay suspended after a massive stroke but before death, she asked me to find a doctor who would "give me a pill to end all this." I did not because I could not, and what help my pastor could give me was aimed at relieving my own anguish, not my mother-in-law's.

Dr. Kevorkian may be a loose cannon rampaging about in virgin moral territory. But in his egocentricity and stubbornness, he is doing us a service by forcing us to confront the contradiction between medical reality and our social and moral institutions.

Canton denies Rockets in final

■ Plymouth Canton, 9-12 a year ago, captured the Western Lakes Activities Association baseball title by upsetting Westland John Glenn, 5-3.

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Pitcher Craig Benedict proved to be a bulldog Wednesday, as well as the rest of his Plymouth Canton teammates, as they captured the Western Lakes Activities Association baseball title.

The Chiefs, Western Division champions, scored a 5-3 triumph over Lakes Division winner Westland John Glenn, avenging a doubleheader sweep administered by the Rockets earlier in the year (including a 2-0 victory against Benedict).

Host Canton emerged victorious despite being outhit 9-3.

The Chiefs' five-run uprising in the pottom of the third inning proved to be the difference in the ballgame.

Benedict, a senior right-hander, once again was cool and composed, winning his fifth straight decision to run his season record to 7-5. He had nine strikeouts and walked five.

"Craig was in trouble, but he really hung in there even though he was a little tired and frustrated at the end," said first-year Canton coach Mark LaPointe, whose team is now 20-11 overall.

Canton pulled off the victory against the 19-4 Rockets with solid defense, sound pitching and clutch defense

"We knew we were up against a final-four team in Glenn, a team that can win its district and regional," La-Pointe said. "These kids have believed in themselves all year long. They remained focused and steadfast in their goal from the beginning of the runners on base. They couldn't get a run home in the opening inning off Benedict with the bases loaded.

For Glenn, it was a frustrating afternoon. The Rockets left a total of 10

"We weren't selective enough with our swings," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "We could have scored

In the third, Glenn got on the board on Jeromey Cosby's RBI double.

But the Glenn starter got into trouble in the third.

With one out, Mark Schankowski singled and Adam Gilles walked. Both runners moved up on Eric Marcotte's sacrifice bunt.

Hoenes then called for an intentional walk against switch-hitting Canton first baseman Mike Stafford, who recently signed with Ohio State.

"I thought that was the move to Hoenes said, "especially against the top hitter in their lineup. Scheffer, however, walked Matt Horn to force home a run, making the Left fielder Ryan Fordham then sent a shot to right field past the glove of Greg Nesbitt, who couldn't track the ball down. The three-run triple put Canton ahead 4-1.

"Before he went to the plate we talked about going with the pitch and going the other way," LaPointe said. 'Ryan just keeps getting the job done. He's just a battler."

Hoenes then brought on junior lefty Bryan Besco out of the bullpen to replace Scheffer.

"We just don't give Aaron enough support," Hoenes said. "The three losses were not his fault. Unless he strikes out eight or nine, our guys struggle when he's on the mound for some reason."

Besco struck out Brad Paskievitch to end the inning, but not before ordham raced home on a wild pitch, ting the Chiefs up 5-1. Besco then slammed the door on Canton, retiring the final 10 batters he faced in order without allowing a hit.

Meanwhile, Glenn tried to mount a comeback, scoring twice in the sixth on an RBI infield single by Scheffer followed by an RBI sacrifice fly by

With Scheffer on first, Glenn shortstop Derek Besco then made a bid to tie it, ripping a shot to the left field fence, but Fordham caught it on the warning track.

"He (Fordham) made a tough play, I thought it was out," LaPointe said. And we brought in Sam Brannock to play right field and he made a key catch in the same inning (on Nesbitt's RBI sacrifice fly).

Glenn's Brian Tack doubled off Benedict with two out in the top of the seventh, but the right-hander, who appeared to get stronger in the later going, finished the game off with a strikeout.

"He's legitimate," Hoenes said. "Benedict is a good pitcher. You've got to give him some credit.'

Mittman carries CC

Shamrocks capture track title

By Steve Kowalski Staff Writer

The Redford Catholic Central boys track team didn't need Mike Mittman at last year's Catholic League Meet.

On Tuesday, the Shamrocks ouldn't do without him. Mittman, sidelined mononucleosis during the 1992 track season, turned in a heroic performance as CC won its second-straight Catholic League meet at Farmington Hills Mercy.

CC, which won last year by 17 points over the second-place team, used a healthy Mittman to rally for a 140-136 victory over the University of Detroit-Jesuit. Birmingham Brother Rice took third (100), followed by Warren DeLaSalle (50) and Dearborn Divine Child (39). The Shamrocks trailed U-D

Jesuit by 11 points with two events remaining when coach Tony Magni asked Mittman if he had enough strength to run the 3,200 meters. Mittman, who earned 14 points earlier in the meet by winning the 1,600 run (4 minutes, 29.6 seconds) and finishing fourth in the 800 run (2:00.3), took off his sweats and gave it a go.

'Coach said he needed more points and wanted me to get a fifth or sixth," said Mittman, who was the Class A cross country champion last fall. "I was just hoping to hang on, but I felt 'What the hell, I might as well go for it.'

Mittman barely made it to the blocks in time to start the race, then responded by finishing first (9:44.6), almost four seconds ahead of second-place Phil Sobeck (9:48) of DeLaSalle. Mittman collapsed in exhaustion after crossing the tape before getting back to his feet.

"From the yellow line on, I was walking in, I was so dead," Mittman said of his last five meters of

CC also won fourth- through aixth-place in the 1,600 run to earn 17 points and go ahead of U-D Jesuit, 132-126, with just the 1,600 relay left. Joe Leo was fourth (9:50.8), followed by Mark Leo (10:05.6) and Damon Harris

Mittman took the place of senior Jeff Wollschlager, who wasn't feeling well. Wollschlager is one of 24 seniors who have led the Shamrocks to three Catholic League titles in their four years.

"Jeff wasn't feeling all that well and said 'if it's going to be for the good of the team, have Mittman run," Magni said. "We have seniors on the team who knew they wouldn't be in the top five or six runners but wanted to be with the other guys. This is special because the seniors stuck around.

Senior Joe Suhaida successfully defended his Catholic League championship in the discus with a school-record toss of 152-feet, 4 inches. Suhajda also won the shot put (52-71/1), ahead of teammates Nick Kallas (51-81/1) and Doug Brzezinski (51-¼), who took second and third, respectively. Suhajda is putting the shot 10 feet farther than he did a year ago. '(Coach) Gene Grew gave me a lot more experience to learn from in the shot put, he's very well disciplined and that pays off." Suhajda said.

"When you're throwing, the idea is to move throughout the circle without a pause and get a

Another CC senior, Eric McKeon, took second place in two events and third in another to earn 22 points. McKeon was secand in the 200 run (22.2) and 400 run (48.8) and third in the 100 dash (11.2). U-D Jesuit's Charles Polk was first in the 100 dash (11.0), 200 run (21.9) and 400 run

McKeon thought he should have challenged Polk more in the

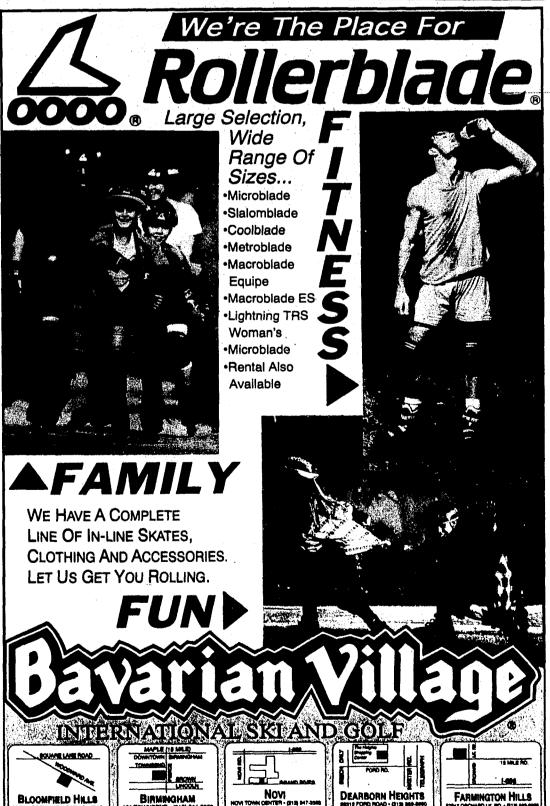

"I was hoping to win the 400, but he just got out there and took off," McKeon said. "I should have run with him more on the back

McKeon anchored the 1,600 relay team, which included Marc Eden, Chris O'Keefe and Brandon Dalziel, and finished second (3:28.4) to clinch the victory. The 3,200 relay team of O'Keefe, Jamie Fitzgerald, Brian Smith and Dalziel also took second (8:20.5).

CC's Marc Eden also played second fiddle to a U-D Jesuit runner, William Brooks, in both hurdles events. Brooks won the 110-meter hurdles (14.5), followed by Eden (14.9). Brooks won the 300 hurdles (38.9), also ahead of Eden (39.7).

Brother Rice, which led last year's Catholic League meet after the field events, gained 18 points in the high jump and 18 in the long jump. Jack Manning won the high jump (6-0) and was second in the long jump (21-6) for the Warriors.

Rice's other victory came from Tim Crawford, who edged U-D-Jesuit's Edward Gardner in the 800 meters. Crawford finished in compared to Gardner's 1:59.1. 1:59.5.

tral boys track team didn't get any pointers Saturday from coach Tony Magni but the Shamrocks got enough points to win their first Class A regional in more than 30 years.

With Magni, normally a great motivator on the sidelines at meets, away at a family wedding, CC ran away with first place in the Class A regional at Novi High School with 101 points. The Shamrocks qualified eight athletes for the Class A state meet on June 5, their most ever.

Dearborn Fordson took second place with 69, followed by Detroit Cody (67); Belleville (52); Wayne Memorial (50); and Livônia Stevenson (30).

Magni said he showed up early Saturday morning to help get the Shamrocks lineup in order, then left for the wedding and put assistant coach Gene Grewe in charge.

"I was very pleased," Magni said. "From what Gene said, they ran super. Basically (to win a regional) you need a combination of distance runners and sprinters."

Leading the state qualifiers was senior Eric McKeon, who

LEADERSHIP DEALER'

Stevenson puts on 3-on-3 tournament

When it comes to staging 3-on-3 basketball tournaments. John Perry says he hits nothing but "We're . the prime rib of 3. on-3, while Gus Macker is only spare ribs," said Perry, who brings his Streetball Hoopfest to the Livonia Stevenson High parking lot, Saturday and Sunday, June 5-6.

With the help of major sponsors Pepsi-Cola and radio station WLLZ-FM (98.1 Rock/ Sports), Perry, a 6-foot-3, 265pound refugee of the World Football League's Portland Storm ("the checks are still bouncing," he jokes), offers an alternative to the Gus Mackerrun format.

And in view of the violence which shut down the Gus Macker last weekend in Ypsilanti. Perry yows his tournaments are family oriented, run by a professional staff instead of local volunteers.

"I have a lot of respect for the Gus Macker people," Perry said. "They still run the biggest single-day tournament (in Belding) in the country, but we knew they were a walking timebomb waiting to happen. You can't do something like that with mostly volunteers. I have a paid year-round staff of 40. The events are very family oriented.'

Perry, a native of Arvada. Colo., who now resides in Holland. Mich., with his wife and two children, runs 43 Streetball Hoopfests during the course of a year.

His tournaments have been broadcast on ESPN and NBC. Venues range from the suburbs, to the world's largest indoor one-day tourney (the Indiana Hoosier Dome), to the downtown streets of Washington, D.C.

We feel that Livonia is one of the better suburbs and it's also easily accessible," said the promoter.

Perry, who hypes himself as part Hulk Hogan, part Dick Vitale and part Robin Williams, relies on staff members who are built like bouncers, but also have the "IQ of a

Jeopardy Show contestant.'

'Our first goal is that the players enjoy the event," said. Perry, who spent time officiating in the CBA and California Pro Summer Basketball League. "There's no foul language, no trash talking. I'm the only one who can trash talk. We don't use microphones or whistles because my voice car-

"There's no crying either. If you want to cry, I'll give you a coupon to Blockbuster Video so you can rent 'Steel Magnolias.'"

The ex-University of Colorado gridder also says "Desert Storm Basketball" is taboo.

"This is not the NBA finals," he said. "We want it to be like a party, the 3-on-3 backyard basketball type of thing. On Monday, everybody is back on their job and nobody cares who won or lost, just that everybody had a good time."

Perry and has staff will jump in and override calls, while settling disputes.

"I'll do it myself in a heartbeat," says the brawny promoter.

Like any 3-on-3 tourney, Perry has the usual slam dunk, three-point and free throw shooting contests. Trophies, prizes, prize money and gift certificates will also be award-

Three or four-man teams (male or female) can be entered in the following age divisions: 10 and under, 11-12 years, 12-13, 14-15, 15-17, 18-20, 21-30. 30 and over, Top Gun (open) and 6-foot and under. The entry fee is $65 (must be postmarked by May 29).

Perry said 30 courts will be set up for the estimated 300-500 teams that will be participating in the event.

All proceeds go to the Stevenson Education and Athletic Entry forms are available at Pizza Hut, Blockbuster, Bally's Vic Tanny, Taco Bell, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Hampton Inn, Comtemporary Awards, Don Massey Cadillac. Outback Steakhouse, Children's World Learning Center, Danny's Foods, The Ground Round, Mette's Printery and General Cinema Theaters.

On a recent outing, Feingold found the crappie to be a bit finicky, but he didn't go home empty-handed. Feingold was working a feathered jig across the bottom when all of a sudden his line straightened out.

"He was reeling in his line and he thought he caught bottom when all of a sudden his reel started buzzing,"explained Lenny's father, Nathan.

'I was trying to catch crappie and I felt something really hard start pulling. I didn't expect a said Lenny. But that's exactly what the young angler hooked. "It took about 10 minutes to get him in. He kept pulling the line out."

When the battle had ended, Feingold landed the biggest fish he's ever caught - a 271/2-inch *3½-pound northern pike.

Livonia turkey hunters find success is sudden

For turkey hunter Ron Clifton the adage "There's no place like home" holds a special sig-

"I've been hunting (turkey) ever since the state started of-fering permits," explained the 50-year-old Livonia hunter. "I've hunted them in Cadillac, Mio, Fariview, all over the state. I've hunted them in the spring and the fall, but I've never got one. And I've never hunted them on private land."

Until this spring that is.

Clifton and his relatives purchased 40 acres of hunting land near Sand Lake last year and Clifton was at the cabin on Sunday, April 25, the day before opening day of the 1993 spring turkey season setting up a blind and a couple decoys.

"The only problem was that I overslept Monday morning and didn't get into the woods until a quarter after seven," admitted Clifton. "As soon as I got out there I heard one gobbling so I gave a few yelps and he started to come right in.

The two-year-old tom made his way in to about 40-yards then hung up on Clifton. Finally, after some soft, but persistent yelps from his box call Clifton enticed the bird to continue in his direction.

"He went into full strut in front of my decoys," Clifton said. "When he turned his back and his head was hidden behind his fan I raised my gun and when he turned back around toward me I dropped him right in his tracks.

The bird dressed-out at 171/2 pounds and sported an eightinch beard and 1/2-inch spure

Jack Ward took his first tom last Saturday morning on private property near Clare.

Ward and his hunting partner John Parker heard a tom gobbling and set up about 100 yards away. Ward was the shooter and as Parker clucked and purred on a box call, the tom came strutting down an old railrioad grade within 35-yards of Ward.

The 35-year-old Royal Oak resident used one shot to roll a 15-pounder with an eight-inch

COLLEGE SPORTS

E K'ZOO NETTER EXCELS

Their collective goal was realized.

And it provided retiring coach George Acker with the most fitting epitaph to his remarkable coaching career. The Kalamazoo College men's tennis team gained its third-straight NCAA Division III championship last week at Kalamazoo's Stowe Stadium by defeating University of California-Santa Cruz 5-2.

No other NCAA III team has won three-straight titles. No other NCAA III team has won seven tennis championships, as Acker's Kalamazoo teams have done. He's retiring after 35

Paul Bozyk, a Redford Catholic Central grad from Westland, proved instrumental in the Hornets' success. The sophomore, playing No. 6 singles, got a big point for Kalamazoo in ita semifinal match against Claremont (Calif.) College, beating Ivan Zinn 7-6 (7-5 in the tiebreaker), 6-1. The Hornets ousted Claremont

In his other tournament matches, Bozyk defeated Leo Oei of Trinity (Texas) University 6-0, 7-5 in the quarterfinals (Kalamazoo won, 5-1), and lost to Brian Overfelt of Santa Cruz, 6-3, 6-1 in the final. Bozyk finishes the season with a 20-3 singles' record.

And with his second NCAA team title in as many tries.

Memorable moments in 'The Liar'

Livonia's Trinity House Theatre is to be commended for its adventuresome spirit, no doubt. In staging Carlo Goldoni's "The Liar," an example of 18th century commedia dell'arte, they take a chance on a production that may have limited appeal to audiences.

The original commedia dell'arte was a kind of improvisational (though sketched-out) comedy, featuring stock characters and situations. Starting in the 16th century, it pretty much died out in the 18th. In fact, Goldoni tried to revive it with his own written-out plays, which contained many highly popular stock characters and situations, but relatively little improvisation. To say the least, the Trinity House production turns out

Some parts of it are highly successful, while others don't work well.

The play — about a young Italian ristocrat who weaves himself into a tangled web as he tries to deceive those around him — certainly looks good. In fact, the set, with its upper levels, lower levels, balconies, steps, archways, and whatnot is one of the very best things about this production. (Director David Reilly doubles as set designer.)

Everybody seems to be trying hard which, of course, may be an essential part of the problem. After awhile, you just wish things could appear more effortless. That way, they'd be a Complicating this farther, the play runs longer than 21/2 hours. And, while some of those 150-plus minutes are briskly paced here, many are not. At times, the production feels arduously slow. Too often, timing is off, lines are stumbled over, actors don't always appear to be relating to one another.

Still, the production has its moments, and some of them just sparkle. The most memorable occurs when the comic servants, Arlecchino (Timothy Campos) and Columbina (Donna East) "discover" each other from opposite ends of the stage.

Winking, blinking, nodding, wig-gling, giggling, sprawling, crawling, falling and grinning idiotically all the while, these two are as delightful as they are bawdy.

In the title role, Dan Zelazny should be applauded simply for keeping up with all his lines in this extremely talky play. He's fun to watch when he inflates Lelio with just the right amount of pomposity and a kind of appealing thick headedness. He's

If you can stomach the stereotype, Connie Cragel does a good job as the empty-headed beauty, Rosaura. And, as her goofy sister, Beatrice, Susan Stirling has a great deal of fun, milking each laugh she gets for all it's worth (and then some). Asti Romero, in multiple minor roles, seems to be

This particular brand of paranoia, especially involving a woman, has served Ira Levin well. The popular mystery writer, who penned "Rosemary's Baby" and "The Stepford Wives" 20 years ago, also wrote the novel on which "Sliver" is based.

While those earlier books made entertaining movies, "Sliver" is almost a total washout. The trashiness of this mucho-hyped sex thriller overshadows any credibility the story might have had.

Sharon Stone plays Carly, a book editor, recently divorced and looking for a new relationship. She has a couple of prospects right in her apartment building an egotistical novelist, Jack (Tom Berenger), and the young computer wiz Zeke (William Baldwin).

To get an edge, Jack fills Carly's head full of rumors about his rival, saying he's a playboy and a pervert. Someone, meanwhile, has rigged all the rooms of the apart-cameras. But who is it?

In its better moments, "Sliver" does keep you guessing, expertly Ping-Ponging back and forth while trying to figure out who the psycho really is. Stone, a red-hot Hollywood property after "Basic Instinct," has a love affair with the camera, here through the lens of cinematographer Vilmos Zsigmond. Not since the days of Garbo and Diétrich has the camera lingered so long and lovingly on a face.

You would expect better from Phillip Noyce, whose classy direction of "Patriot Games" made it one of last summer's best. He seems totally ill-at-ease with a movie whose prime goal is getting. the most out of Stone's astronom-

Noyce reportedly trimmed some of the steamier scenes so the movie could get an R instead of an NC-17 rating. A lot of sex still remains, including an embarrassing hit with Stone alone in her bathtub, watched by the all-seeing eye of the totally hidden video.

The movie's message tells us that high-tech voyeurism is sick and immoral, pretty hypocritical since this movie's sole purpose is to titillate. There's nothing of substance here that wasn't handled a hundred times better in "Rear Window" or "Peeping Tom," both of which "Sliver"

Stallone fights emotion, shame and bad guys in a 'Cliffhanger'

An exhilarating adventure full of action and suspense "Cliffhanger," starring Sylvester Stallone, is a story about an ordinary man called upon to do something above and beyond the call of duty.

She was an experienced climber, she trusted him to rescue her, but something went wrong high above the valley floor . . . and Gabe Walker (Sylvester Stallone) has been blaming himself for her death ever since.

Unable to deal with the tragedy. Gabe quit his job with the Rocky Mountain Rescue Team and fled from his once-cherished mountains, leaving behind his self-esteem, his friends and the woman he loves.

It's been nearly a year since the accident and Gabe (Stallone) has returned to the Rockies to persuade his girlfriend, Jessie Deighan (Janine Turner), to leave the mountains with him. She turns him down. He is running from his problems and she wants no part of it. Besides, her place is in the Rockies, where she has a home and a job as helicopter pilot for the Rescue Team.

Discouraged. Gabe is about to leave when Jessie asks him to help a group of stranded hikers. A blizzard has grounded her helicopter, so rescuers will have to reach them by foot. Gabe refuses, until shame makes him reconsid-

For the first time since the accident, Gabe starts scaling the mountains for a rendezvous with his former partner, Hal Tucker (Michael Rooker). Their meeting is bitter, the woman who fell to her death was Tucker's girlfriend, and Hal blames Gabe for failing to save her life.

Their own lives, however, are suddenly jeopardized when they reach the stranded "hikers" and are trapped in a desperate battle against ruthless criminals and unforgiving nature.

The gang has lost the money somewhere in the peaks, and they need Gabe's and Hal's knowledge of the mountains to find it.

Directed by Renny Harlin and a team of distinguished filmmakers, "Cliffhanger" is produced by Alan Marshall and Harlin, with a screenplay by Michael France and Stallone and a screen story by France based on a premise by John Long.

Also starring are John Lithgow, Michael Rooker, Janine Turner, Rex Linn, Caroline Goodall, Leon, Paul Winfield and Ralph Waite. Mario Kassar is the executive producer of the film from Carolco, a TriStar Pictures re-

When asked what makes "Cliffhanger" a special kind of film, producer Alan Marshall reflects: "This is a story about a man who has spent his career saving other people's lives. Now, he must spend the next two days risking his own to save his love and his best friend from deadly villains who have a hundred million reasons to want him dead."

"This film is totally unique it's an original — what I call a vertical film. You've seen all kinds of action pictures, but you've never seen anything like this before," said Stallone.

Even though the action thriller is set in the mountains of Colorado, "Cliffhanger" was shot in the spectacular Dolomite mountain range of the Italian Alps and at the Cinecitta Stuios in Rome.

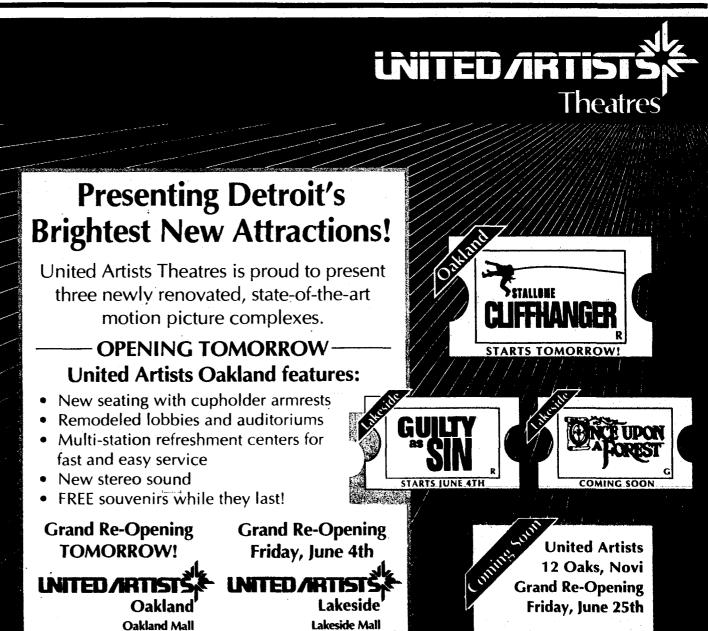

The movie is rated R (Restricted: no one under 18 admitted without accompanying parent or guardian).

Opens Friday at these suburban theaters: AMC Americana West, AMC Laurel Park, AMC Southfield City, GCC Canton Cinema, Showcase Auburn Hills, Showcase Westland, Star Rochester, United Artists Oakland.

Youngest Ziegfeld girl enjoying national tour

By KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

In costume, with makeup, Sutton Foster looks like the other 15 Ziegfeld girls she joins onstage in the national tour of "The Will Rogers Follies - A Life In Revue," opening Tuesday, June 1, at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit.

They were looking for tall, leggirls who could sing and dance. It didn't matter that she was only said Foster's mother Helen who encouraged her daughter, a senior at Troy High School, to audition for the part.

"It's been going really great," said Sutton in a phone interview from Baltimore where she was doing the show. "It's a lot of fun. We dance and parade around in beautiful costumes. It's one of those shows where you can sit back and relax and enjoy. It's amazing, you'll never see any-thing like it again."

In 1991 Sutton and Hunter were in the Actor's Company production of "Evita," directed by Michael Gravame. The group performed the show at the Birmingham Village Players as a benefit.

It was a lucky coincidence that made Sutton decide to try out for 'The Will Rogers Follies.'

"I saw it on the Tony's, and said I can do that, all the girls are said Sutton. Shortly after watching the Tony Award show on TV, Sutton's mom saw an article about auditions for "The Will Rogers Follies" at the Fisher The-

"I just thought it would be good experience for her," said Helen Foster. "We went downtown to the Fisher. I sneaked in back and tried to hide so she wouldn't see me. It came down to her and another girl. When they asked her how old she was, she answered just like I told her to '18 on my next birthday.'

Six weeks later, Sutton was flown to New York for call backs. "We worried and waited and sat outside the stage door on the curb for two hours," said Helen Foster. "I had mixed thoughts about it. She would be missing her senior year. I also didn't want it to be a

"I almost didn't audition," said Sutton. "I was going to go see a show at our rival, Troy Athens High School."

She celebrated her 18th birthday on March 18, and has been on the road with "The Will Rogers Follies," visiting 22 cities, since August. 'It was hard at first," said Suteet John. He will graduate this June. He's on his way to pick up his tux for his senior party. John's an average student and will graduate somewhere in the middle of his class. He's the kind of young man that, if anything happened to him, people would say, "he was such a nice boy, loved sports and was always so willing to help you—not like some of these kids today." However, nothing is going to happen to John on prom night because he doesn't drink or use drugs. It's not that he's what the kids call a "dork," it's just that he thinks substance abuse is stupid. And, in this, he's smart. Very smart. He knows that the number one cause of death in teens is drinking or drug related automobile crashes and that drinking and driving claims the lives of thousands of teens and adults each year.* All right! John!

*Drunk or drugged driving crashes is the number one cause of death for 16-to-24-year-olds.

The hospital's child passenger safety program began in 1981 when Michigan's Child Passenger Restraint Law was enacted.

Michigan requires all children under the age of 16 to be restrained. Studies show that children who ride restrained in car seats are less likely to die or sustain major injuries, which can lead to long term disabilities caused by trauma to ttie head or spinal cord.

that appeared recently in Automotive News, authored by Mary Connelly, a former editor of this paper, that credits the big turnaround in Chrysler's image to the work of Steve Harris and Tom Kowaleski - two PR experts who moved to Chrysler from American Motors Corp. and Renault, which gives them an unusual expertise in handling the public image of ailing auto companies.

According to the story, Chrysler was "bloated, outdated," and 'building boxy cars," before the last big turnaround.

I, of course, am old enough to remember these are about the same words used to describe Chrysler way back at Turnaround I — the Lee Iacocca era.

By implication, I guess the problem was that Chrysler had turned around too far, was going backward, and needed to turn around once again.

During Turnaround I, Iacocca decided to release five-year forward product plans, including the now-famous minivan program, to convince the public that Chrysler wasn't going out of business. During Turnaround II, Chrysler began talking about cars three years before they were ready to debut to convince the public that Chrysler wasn't going out of business.

Luckily for the image-makers, most of the reporters who worked on Turnaround I had retired, or even better, gone into PR, which helped shorten critical memories.

Anyway, the gist of "new image turnaround" is that a couple of auto show presentations and newcar hype created a vast tidal change in the sea of public opin-

Having spent more time than I care to admit following the ebb and flow at Chrysler, I find that concept a little frightening. All along, I assumed that Chrysler's new image came from the launch of, first, the Viper, which brought some glamour and pride back, and, now, the LH cars - which I had thought were the evidence the product development program was finally released from a decade of stingy capital investment and that the styling and engineering potential was finally being successfully channeled.

In short, I had assumed that it was the company had changed, not its image.

It's way too early to tell if these changes have created any real momentum, or even any real profitability. I have to admire the candor of both Chrysler chairman Bob Eaton and president Bob Lutz when they say Chrysler is only about halfway there.

Maybe the best line comes from Harris himself, survivor of rolledover Jeeps, defunct corporations, and international acquisition wars, who looks back at his success at Chrysler, and says, "We realize how fragile an image is; if you can turn it around that quickly, you can lose it that quickly,'

Area brokers which offer nonconforming mortgages generate revenues by charging application and origination fees, including discount points.

Meanwhile, Investaid makes money by offering higher than market rates to reflect the risk involved. For a 30-year, fixed-rate mortgage, Investaid starts out at 9.5 percent with about one point. That's just over two points from metro Detroit's prime mortgage market average of 7.35 percent.

Most often, though, non-conforming mortgages come with double-digit rates.

"As a result, employers today are less likely to hold such 'firings' against job candidates," Messmer said.

The survey respondents apparently agreed with the assessment. Seventy-nine percent answered in the negative when asked: In your opinion, does getting fired hold as much stigma now as it did five years ago? "There's been a lot of pressure on the bottom line the last couple of years," said Vern Mathiesen president of the Michigan Region for Accountemps in Southfield.

"It's not that people are insubordinate. It's enhancing the bottom line or maintaining it as the case may be," he said.

So what is a terminated employee to do?

"I think the very first thing they have to do is know there isn't the stigma attached to it there was five, 10, 15 years ago," Mathiesen said. "The next thing they should do is sit down and assess their strengths and weaknesses and formulate a very positive resume.

They should try to determine who they know in other companies, who they can network off of.
"There are more positions filled through the networking process than any other method. The faster they get the word out to family, friends and relatives, the quicker they are going to find a new opportunity," Mathiesen said.

"Good employees get caught in the shuffle," conceded Fred Bawulski, owner of Management Recruiters in Birmingham.

"Number one, don't take any vacations. Hold on to all the money you have. It might take three months, six months, 12 months to find a job so stop spending money.

"I would contact a good recruiting firm, someone who doesn't charge anything or doesn't send your resume out to 10,000 people," he added.

But if you do answer a blind ad, try to stick out from the crowd, Bawulski said.

"Don't send a resume, write a letter," he said. "Slant it to what they're looking for and if they should call you, hand carry a resume down there.

Some 100,000 jobs were filled through MESC during the year ending June 1992, he added.

"As many people say, looking for work is a full-time job," Isotalo said. "Let people know you're out there looking. Networking is important. From what I recall, most job openings people fill are word of mouth.

Pamphlets on writing resumes, filling out applications and general job hunting tips are available at MESC offices. Isotalo said.

Job terminations have different consequences, Bawulski said.

"If there's a personality conflict, that's not a sin," he said. "If you're fired because you can't cut the mustard, it depends on what the job is. If you're fired because you fool around with the boss's wife . . . just try to get a referral.'

Risk taker: Robert Rubin's mortgage firm does debts.

Robert Rubin's Investaid Corp. mortgage firm offers a life raft to people who are sinking under the heavy weight of credit card and other high-interest debt obligations.

By R.J. KING STAFF WRITER

Even though Robert M. Rubin runs his own mortgage firm in Birmingham, he would never like to be a company client.

Why? Rubin, president of Investaid Corp., provides home mortgage loans to people who traditional banks consider a credit risk.

Since opening in late 1989, Investaid has served hundreds of clients who saddled themselves with heavy credit card or other high debt obligations during the boom years of the '80s. Others, meanwhile, have struggled to make ends meet during the latest recession.

'Let's face it, times are tough and vou can decorate a wall with a collage of all the credit cards financial firms have sent in the last three years said Rubin, whose firm employs 20 people. "Some tore the cards up. Others went nuts and are now paying interest rates of 18 to 20 percent. We deal with those people who are employed, have a credit problem and have the ability to pay off their debts.'

Given today's low interest rates, 85 percent of Investaid's clients refinance their mortgages by consolidating all of their debts through Investaid into one monthly payment.

Rubin said clients find combining everything from house payments to electric bills is cheaper through refinancing than paying such costs separately. The reason? Clients can take advantage of lower interest rates and income tax savings.

"If you make the revised payments through us and don't load up on debt again, in two or four years you can apply for a new loan from a traditional mortgage lender," said Rubin, a founding member of the Michigan

Mortgage Broker Association in Lansing. "What we typically do is take all your debts and combine them into one payment. Since the new payments are combined into one they become tax-deductible, so you're saving there as well.'

To reach potential clients, Investaid relies on area mortgage brokers, the majority of whom work for independent firms. Once a potential borrower fills out a mortgage application, it is faxed to Investaid where a decision to lend is completed within 48

'Investaid enables us to offer more varied products to our clients, and those are products which are not available through traditional sources," said Audrey Newman, president of Ark Financial Group Inc., a mort gage brokerage firm in Bloomfield Hills. "Right now 15 percent of our business is with Investaid and our business has been going up for all ypes of loans. Sometimes a loan is a little more difficult to do and that's where Investaid helps us out.

Investaid and others specialize in loans that can be resold in the secondary mortgage market. The prime mortgage market which an institution like Standard Federal Bank in Troy works through is represented by public/private lenders like Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.

More workers getting fired, more surviving it

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

Employees are more likely to get canned today than five years ago, but the stigma of losing a job has de-

That's what 150 executives from around the country indicated in a survey for Accountemps, which promotes itself as the world's largest temporary staffing service for accounting, bookkeeping and information systems.

Executives were asked: What percent of all U.S. employees do you estimate will be fired at some point in their career? The response was 33 percent compared to 25 percent in a similar poll conducted five years ago.

Economics rather than performance seems to be the reason.

In the face of eroding profitability during the recession, many firms were forced into large-scale layoffs and cutbacks," said Max Messmer, Accountempts chairman.

'In many cases, the employee terminations had little or nothing to do with a person's competence, but reflected the need to reduce personnel

Take The Next Step At Wayne State University.

If you are ready to take that next step toward earning your four-year degree, we are ready for you.

Last year approximately 5,000 students transferred to WSU from some 500 community colleges and four-year schools across the country. They are taking classes at our main campus in the University Cultural Center in Detroit or on one of our satellite campuses while others go to our University Center at Macomb Community College.

Some of the reasons students come to Wayne State:

- Strength of our academic programs — international reputation
- Cost the only Michigan public university with a negative increase in tuition costs over the past decade based on inflation
- Financial aid During 1991-92 WSU awarded $50 million in aid to students

SUBURBAN LIFE

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1993

By Tim Richard Staff Writer

any suburban residents will see little or no property tax relief from Proposal A, the state school finance reform plan on the June 2 ballot.

They live in districts that form a lopsided "Y" on a map of southeastern Michigan (see color map). They tend to have good business tax bases. One arm of the "Y" starts in the War-

One arm of the "Y" starts in the Warren Woods district of Macomb County, then meanders west across the Rochester, Troy, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham, Southfield, Farmington and Novi districts.

The second arm starts in western Wayne County at Dearborn and extends northwest through the Crestwood, Livonia and Northville districts.

The two arms join at Ann Arbor, the base of the "Y."

According to a state Senate Fiscal Agency analysis, those districts get zero to 8 mills of property tax relief.

Meanwhile, districts in northern Macomb, northern and western Oakland, southwestern Wayne and much of Washtenaw County get cuts of 14 to 21 mills.

A lure to industry

"It will help us attract industry," said

Proposal A supporter Michael Duggan, deputy Wayne County executive.

Under current tax rates, Duggan sees Troy, for example, as luring the industry that he wants to recruit for Detroit, Taylor, Romulus and southwestern Wayne County

Most public officials won't talk about it, but Proposal A raises the specter of "urban sprawl" — a stable population that paves over more farmland, meadows and wetlands for development.

Proposal A's pattern of property tax cuts appears, from this newspaper's maps, to contain an incentive for industry and commerce to move to the suburban fringe greenbelt if they need large tracts of land

Detroit and the inner belt of suburbs also would see attractive property tax cuts, but they have other built-in disadvantages: high city taxes, little available land, abandoned industrial sites that may need to be cleaned up and; in some cases, high crime.

'Sprawl' blasted

"Urban sprawl" has been studied for three years and condemned by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, a seven-county planning agency.

SEMCOG spokesman Don Shelton said leaders would decline to comment on this newspaper's study of Proposal A's potential impact on rural greenfields.

SEMCOG's pre-1993 Regional Development Initiative study said: "Continuing the pattern of 'urban sprawl' is unacceptable. It will continue to diminish the quality of life in southeast Michigan—both its expensive suburban fringe development and its parallel disinvestment and abandonment of older communities."

In 1990 SEMCOG projected that by 2010 the region's population would grow only 6 percent, but sprawling development will eat up 40 percent more iand. It would be due not to growth but to "an intra-regional shuffling of population, households and commercial/industrial development."

After six public workshops, SEMCOG produced a Regional Development Initiative (RDI) study that called urban sprawl "a nightmare of vanishing open space — zooming infrastructure costs — duplicative services, both public and private — a profligate waste of resources, both natural and fiscal . . . older communities with boarded up houses, abandoned factories and stores . . . "

SEMCOG saw sprawl devastating the countryside: "consumption of agricultural land, loss of wildlife habitat...elimination of some wetlands and stress on others, and loss of open space."

SEMCOG saw the federal government as subsidizing growth through aid to local governments for sewers, water lines, highways and schools. The feds aided veterans with housing while "walking away" from older areas' social problems.

"Public subsidies have fueled sprawl at the suburban fringe, but have generally not been as available to older communities for fighting the ravages of disinvestment and abandonment," the RDI report said

By "suburban fringe" it meant "such areas are generally found in the northern and western portions of Oakland and Macomb counties, the western part of Wayne County and in the urbanizing areas of the four perimeter counties: Livingston, Monroe, St. Clair and Washtenaw."

The "fringe" areas are precisely the ones that would benefit most from Proposal A.

SEMCOG's writers scoffed at the idea that sprawl is just "pure market forces at work" because "Those market forces have been solidly underwritten by a variety of local, state and federal subsidy programs."

Opposite view

State Sen. David Honigman, R-West

Bloomfield, a staunch supporter of Proposal A, argued it will hinder, not aid, urban sprawl. By holding down fringe area property taxes, Proposal A will decrease the pressure on owners of region property to sell to a developer, Hamilton and

In the State Capitol, Proposal A was born as a plan to cut school operating property taxes from a state write average of 34-plus mills to 18 mills and assure every school district at least $4.500 per pupil in revenue, either from local taxes or state aid.

But there was a hitch ar 18-mill levy would have hurt many achieves in the tricounty area that were appending far more than $4,800. Proposal & allows them to continue levying millage fates up to 27 mills that will raise $7,000, $6,000, $8,000 or whatever they had been appending.

That's why the subtriban districts in the lopsided "Y" get and low property tax cuts.

Lawmakers designed Proposal A during the last weekend in March and pushed it through both chambers in two days. Lawmakers never raised the "urban sprawl" issue. Two Untileptity of Michigan economists who appendize in state tax policy said last week they had not analyzed the impact of Proposal A on urban sprawl.

It is important to realize that so much of what we do and are in life is conditioned by our past experiences. The marginal spacing on the pages of this legible handwriting suggest she has moved away from some of her past experiences. At the same time, however, she seems hesitant about moving forward into the future. So we can assume she has not been completely successful in freeing up

Many signs in her handwriting suggest the formative years were not exactly a bowl of cherries for this unique young woman. Difficulty with family values and/or problems in parental relationships did not make the early years run smoothly. Perhaps she felt no one was listening to her or her

Her experiences impact deeply. Seemingly, she continues to feel some emotional deprivation. It is not easy for her to just forgive and forget past hurts. At times she may feel like a martyr.

Currently, she appears to be seeking the love and recognition she missed earlier. Positive feedback from those who are most meaningful to her could be rewarding.

Money and what it represents is very important. She may be experiencing money challenges. There are ever so many things she desires. Possibly, her material imagination can provide the needed resourcefulness.

Mood swings often cause her to become depressed. Hostile feelings toward the opposite sex will sometimes surface

When not deterred by moods, she works toward challenging goals. She is competitive and does not give up easily. She finds it difficult, however, to discipline herself. Success will be more easily realized when she learns the importance of self-discipline.

Although she is caring and can show empathy, she tends to maintain a little distance between herself and others. She often makes conscious choices regarding how much of herself, her time and her resources she is willing to share. She also knows how to do a little social climbing, I believe.

The diary of a child-care provider

By Eartha Deyampert Special Writer

I would like to share some information about the program management and professional practices of a home-based childcare provider/professional. This information is shared, too, with the parents of children enrolled in such programs to give them better insight and understanding of the provider's practices and philoso-

If you have children enrolled in a child-care facility, home or center, you should expect to preview this type of written communication or something similar. Let's call it a program procedure planned and practiced behavior diary or portfolio of the caregiver or caregivers, when working with children and their families.

Here's an example of how it would look:

Program management

In order that a provider/professional may ensure a well-run purposeful program, responsive to the participants' needs, he or she offers parenting skills seminars. These seminars are designed to teach and enlighten parents on positive methods of guidance, responding to various needs and concerns of young children. The seminars also put into focus a better look at why the provider/ professional chooses to use certain techniques and methods in the program.

The provider/professional schedules the parenting seminars on Saturday mornings, at least every four-six months, and invites a professional in the area of child development and families, to participate as guest speaker.

The atmosphere is a relaxed one, and parents are given the opportunity to discuss problems and concerns as well as defend their sometimes strong methods and beliefs in how to better reach the needs of their children.

Questionnaires are also distributed to the parents. Staff people are included in the seminars and actively participate.

The provider/professional recognizes that seminars that include parent participation are a valuable tool when used to collaborate on ideas and expertise and build a strong parent-provider alliance. They find that these seminars provide opportunities for level" and witness their interest in improving and facilitating a program that is constructive, progressive and age appropriate one that is responsive to the parents as well as the children.

Professionalism

The provider/professional practices conveying a professional image to families and to the community by presenting an organized program that is progressive in a home environment. They are time-conscious and goal-oriented and seek additional training to sharpen their skills

They are a responsible neighbor, thus recognizing the rights of neighbors, conducting a cooperative operation. Being progressive, dependable time-conscious, and having active program in place, helps dissolve the stereotyped 'baby-sitter" image that in the past has been placed on professional in-home providers.

When the provider/professional works in a home business, he or she indeed works - at administering, teaching, planning, creating and building versus involving themselves in personal household chores during working hours. (In personal activities while putting in honest, quality child development hours.) They work hard at maintaining an environment that says "I am 'professional" by providing spe-cially crafted wood blocks and toys used in the larger child-care facilities.

The office equipment is placed in view, conveying to visitors and parents that regardless of the physical structure of the building, such as a home, professional activity is in progress.

They understand that whether they continue to operate a licensed group home or expand into a larger building, it is the quality of service they provide, the professional attitude they display, coupled with confidence and satisfaction they possess in their role as a child educator, that will keep them progressive and profession-

Have you ever spoken in tongues? Today's Charismatic movement emphasizes speaking in tongues. What most Christians don't realize is that the gift of tongues in the days of the apostles was a sign to unbelievers (I Cor 14:22). The modern emphasis on speaking in tongues among believers is contrary to God's stated purpose. In addition, the Bible tells us that longues-would cease (I Cor 13:8-11). Douglas Mason

Moore and Mason elected Christian Science readers

Plymouth's First Church of Christ Scientist has two newly elected readers. Beginning threevear terms Sunday, June 6, will be Douglas Mason and Patricia Moore, replacing retiring readers Richard Arlen and Brenda Kra-

Mason, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Schweitzer, and Moore, Central Middle School principal, have previously served in the Christian Science Sunday School and on the church's executive board.

The elected readers carry the main responsibility for the Sunday services and the Wednesday evening meetings, both of which include readings from the King James version of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by church founder Mary Baker Eddy.

The Wednesday evening meeting also includes time for members of the congregation to share informally gratitude for healings and spiritual insights gained through the study of Christian Science. Each service includes hymns, a time of silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer.

The Sunday lesson-sermon is studied by Christian Scientists throughout the world the previous week. The lesson-sermon for June 6 will be "God the Only Cause and Creator."

The Christian Science congregation consists entirely of laypersons. Local members are democratically elected to fill all administrative posts and to conduct the services.

The church members also elected Helen Hopkins, Karen Matthew and David Bowers to the executive board, succeeding Virginia Evans, William West and Roger Residorf.

The Plymouth First Church of Christ, Science is at 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Services are at 10:30 a.m. Sundays and 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays. The Sunday School for those up to age 20 is held at the same time as the Sunday ser-

Pastors' spouses form own group

BY MARY LOU SONG STAFF WRITER

Being the spouse of a minister has its ups

Mary Morton, the wife of a Lutheran minister, wanted to talk about it. So in January, she got together with a friend, Lisa Konick. also the wife of a minister. And they got together with a few other wives of pastors and started a group — half support group, half

We just want to be there for people and for them to have someone to talk to that would understand where other people might not," Morton said. "No one understands like another pastor's spouse."

So far the fledgling group does not have a name. It has six members — all women. But Morton says they want men, more women and members of other religious groups to

That would be wonderful," said member Jennifer Smith. "It's always nice to have different perspectives. I would love to have any denomination or religion represented."

Morton said she modeled the group after one she belonged to while her husband, Drex, was a seminary student in Gettysburg, Pa., in 1986. He is the pastor at St. Michael Lutheran Church in Canton.

"As a group of pastors' spouses, you feel you can really relate to each other, even though we all have different backgrounds,' Morton said.

Mary Morton

Every month the group meets, either in someone's home of at a restaurant. The discussions aren't always serious. Morton said the conversations usually disgress which generates a lot of laughter.

But they try to start the discussions with issues pertinent to life as the spouse of a pastor or a minister or a rabbi or whatever. Like never seeing a spouse because he or she works 10-12 hours a day and trying to understand the demands on their time. Or relationships with people in the congregation. Or having to move every few years. Or the expectations of being the wife or husband of a minister.

When Smith married the Rev. Bryan Smith, she vowed she would never be a "minister's wife." The stereotype carries certain obligations, she said, like playing the organ, singing in the choir and teaching Sunday school.

'I would be the wife of a minister, but I would never be a minister's wife," she said. "A lot of churches think that you get two people for the price of one. Some minister's wives are really busy and then they go to church and they're expected to do things there, too.

She said she supports her husband but rebels against the stereotype. She can't play the organ. She doesn't sing. She taught Sunday school once, but only because she wanted to do it. But Smith, who calls herself a "stay-at-home mom," is also earning a master's degree in speech pathology. She hopes to eventually earn a doctorate degree.

'I'm working," she said. "I don't mind doing the little extra things that helps Bryan. But it's not my job to be a minister's wife. I can be as involved as any member of the church.'

Morton said the group also discusses feelings which may apply to several members of the group — like living in a fish bowl, low self-esteem or insecurity. The group does not get together to complain about the issues but to get a different perspective to help understand the issues, Morton said.

Morton said the members of the group bonded so quickly because "we can relate and understand that we're all in the same situation. We can open up. Even though we're from different denominations, we had an immediate kinship."

For more information about the group, call 459-4490 or 455-7053.

Lest we break faith with our dead strong. In recalling their valor, we do more than confer honor upon them. We bear witness to our continuing dedication to the ideas for which they laid down their lives.

Every thoughtful American should be aware on this Memorial Day of a debt and the responsibility to these honored dead. That they have our reverence and gratitude is without question. No eulogy is needed, nor could any be adequate to describe our solemn pride in the heroes who rest in all the battlefields and seas where our freedom was earned and test-

Only by keeping faith with our heroes can we perpetuate their deeds. Only by fulfilling the purposes for which they made a supreme sacrifice can we redeem that sacrifice from futility.

Tributes alone cannot exhaust the measure of our obligations to these dead. Elaborate rhetoric is an insufficient payment of the nation's dead to its heroes.

"If ye break faith with us who

We shall not sleep - though poppies grow in Flanders Field."

That was how John MacRae conceived the duty of the living to the dead - not to break faith with them, to make real the ideals for which they died. They speak to us and say "We have died so that the ideals of freedom and brotherhood may live. Can you so live that these ideals shall not die?"

Their memory, therefore, is a vigorous challenge to us, for we are engaged in a battle, as momentous as that great conflict in which they gave up their lives. We must build for our hallowed dead, monuments more lasting than brass and stone - monuments within our hearts.

They died for one of the supreme ideals mankind has envisioned - democracy. Democracy consists of a sacred texture of ideals — freedom and brotherhood and justice and responsibility.

They saw the war in which they engaged and in which they invested youth and life itself, not as a conflict of conquest or for territorial expansion. And they saw it as a crusade on behalf of mankind and for freedom.

They believed that the priceless heritage of human liberties was threatened, and they went forth on a sacrificial mission to stave off the defeat of those values which they had been taught to

Only by keeping faith with our heroes can we perpetuate their deeds. Only by fulfilling the purposes for which they made a supreme sacrifice can we redeem that sacrifice from futility. Thus; the example of their devotion to their country, move us to equal loyalty, to an exalted patriotism. May it impel us to make our country great, its laws just and wise, its culture deep and true, its economy productive and equita-

Abraham Lincoln spoke for all the generations in his immortal words: "It is for us, the living, highly to resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain.

Scarlet tanger is spring beauty

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

Beauty, as they say, is in the eye of the beholder. But when its recognized, it sure generates a good feeling. If something is truly beautiful, no matter how many times it is seen, or heard, it elicits the same reaction. I think this can be said of the scarlet tanager.

Though I've seen male scarlet tanagers in breeding plumage a number of times, I enjoy each bird I see as though it were, my very first. Every time the sun lights up the red velvet of this bird it makes me glad I can see color.

As a teacher, the other joy that comes, is when I get to introduce someone to this bird for the very first time. It's breathtaking to see one through binoculars.

During spring migration. when small leaves allow sunlight to penetrate into the forest habitat. male tanagers light up like red lights on a Christmas tree. There have been times in the past when six or eight scarlet tanagers were in my view at one time. Even along the creek that runs through Burton Hollow in Livonia, tanagers have been seen decorating the branches overhanging the wa-

Though these birds are bright nd easy to see, one of the most common ways to become aware of this bird is by its song. It sounds like a robin with a sore throat. They are not as long winded as a robin, but the song has the same general features as that of the ro-

Fortunate for residents of southeastern Michigan, and the entire state of Michigan, scarlet tanagers nest here all summer long. They like deep wooded areas in which to nest, but become less vocal during nesting. Mosquitoes, however, keep many people from the forests in summer when the last glimpses of the bright male tanager can be seen. As the breeding season progresses, males lose their red feathers. They are replaced by yellow-olive colored feathers similiar to that of the female. Maintaining conspicuously colored feathers after territories have been established and nesting completed, only draws unnecessary attention to the male.

There are four species of tanagers in North America and all of them have declined in numbers. A major effort, initiated by the Cornell Laboratory of Ornithology, will elicit the help of volunteers to make a census of tanagers in different sized woodlots throughout the United States.

This census will help to determine if smaller woodlot size has affected the breeding of tanagers in the U.S. Deforestation in their South American wintering grounds has also taken place and may be a factor in their declining numbers.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia. You can leave him a message using a touch-tone phone at 953-2047, mailbox 1874.

Breathtaking: The red plummage of the male scarlet tanager is a sight to behold in spring and early summer. But the bright red plummage fades as summer progresses and is replaced by yellow-olive colored feathers similiar to that of the female.

Canton gains spotlight as place to view fine art

ast year's first-ever Liberty Fest Fine Arts Show put Canton on the fine arts map. The caliber of the Observerland artists taking part this year should keep it there.

The list includes Sue Argiroff, Laurel Raisanen, Hugh Burley, Cynthia Harrison, Peter Mason, Heidi Reichenbach, Paula Johnson, Norma McQueen, Carol McCreedy, Pam Grossman, Arthur Gauger, Ed Allen, Sherrie Moore, Angela Marie Matthews, Marla Schram, Janet Brandt, John Davison, Carrol Coffey, Bladen McClelland, Kathy Sandberg and Ken Barnes.

Back as co-jurors and exhibiters are Sharon Dillenbeck of Plymouth and Julie Giordano of Northville. Dillenbeck teaches art at Our Lady of Victory in Northville and owns D&M Art Studios in Plymouth. Giordano is an art teacher at Northville Christian School and owner of J. Giordano Studios in Northville.

The fine arts show will run 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, June 26, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 27, as part of Liberty Fest '93, a community fair in Heritage Park, 1150 S. Canton Center.

Up to 72 artists in two lighted tents will exhibit original Michigan fine art in oil, watercolor, acrylic, marbling, jewelry, drawing, pottery, pen and ink, pastel, batik, photography, sculpture and clay. Prices will range from $1.50 for illustrated cards to $1,150 for a framed painting.

With twice as many artists as last year and creative activities planned especially for kids, Dillenbeck promises a bigger and better show.

"This year we're a little smarter. If the weather is nice, it should be great fun," said Dillenbeck, a professional artist for 16 years.

Artistry up close

In a tent by the gazebo, artists will take turns demonstrating their skills in watercolor, oil, clay, marbling and drawing. Dillenbeck will explore experimental watercolor. Giordano will explain drawing based on the right-side-of-the-brain concent.

Shirley Curran of Plymouth — a costumed storyteller, song leader, game leader and artist — will introduce kids to making things from clay.

"The demonstrations will be geared to grabbing the attention of kids, but adults should like them, too," Dillenbeck said. "I got the idea at the Spoleto Festival U.S.A. last spring in Charleston, S.C. It was fun to see kids learn from artists firsthand."

Dillenbeck's intent: to hook kids on art early. "When parents see that clay or painting aren't so complicated, they say, 'Let's bring it home and try it.' It's a follow-the-leader type thing."

The Sand Lady and Mr. Sandman, also known as Debbie and Ronald McKibban from Tampa, also will visit the demonstration tent. They'll teach kids the art of sand painting in a designer bottle using multicolored sand. The cost is $2.50 to $4 per bottle.

In a separate area near the fine art tents, Canton parks and rec will host kids art workshops.

Special exhibiters in the fine art tents will include senior artists and woodcarvers sponsored by Canton parks and rec and 3 Cities Art Club. Teenage art students of Dillenbeck and Giordano, meanwhile, will do face painting for a $1. "They'll keep a percentage of the proceeds. It's a way for them to make back the money they spent taking lessons during the year," Dillenbeck said.

$Heartfelt\ motivation$

The $60 booth fee for exhibiters includes a hospitality area and hostesses who will fill in during breaks. The dramatic rise in booth rentals is attributable to good overall sales last year among participants and a listing for the first time in the Michigan Fine Arts Directory.

Dillenbeck and Giordano plan to recoup their promotion costs but aren't profit-driven. "We're motivated by offering another way to get fine art into the community and by supporting artists who want a low-fee, fine-art-only show," Giordano said.

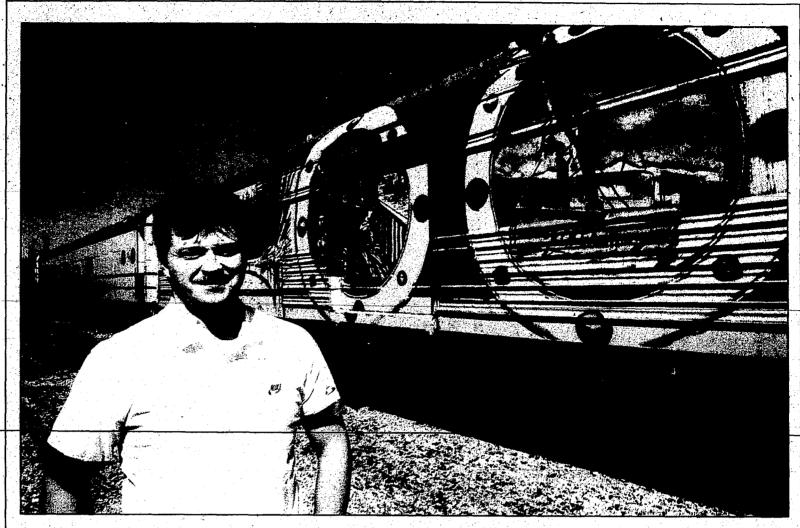

"I've got a stake in the future here in Canton," Dillenbeck said. "I live here. I do what I do for the love of art. If I put a price tag on everything, I'd probably not do all I do."

Dillenbeck offers fun-oriented fine art classes for budding artists of all ages through her Old Village studios, the local parks and rec departments and the local adult ed program. Signup continues for her summer art camps for kids.

The Canton Project Arts Committee member does portraiture and creates realistic impressionism in pencil, watercolor and oil. A 28-piece "The Child in Her Environment" series is her showstopper. It's patterned after life experiences of her daughters, Kristen, 10, and Erin, 8.

Giordano, a professional artist for nine years, works in the same media as Dillenbeck. In her booth, she'll display portraiture as well as realistic drawings of cars, homes and pets. She'll also showcase her eight-piece watercolor series of antique and modern fire trucks.

The Livonia show is "something the kids as well as the adults will love. The characters really make you smile," Athey said.

Plans call for restoring it to 1850s vintage and using it for meetings. Small weddings and concerts also are envisioned.

Also featured is the original architectural plan for Sleeping Beauty's castle at Walt Disney World's Magic Kingdom in Orlando.

"You'll be able to see animation art from start to finish,' Elaine Athey said. "It takes a team to produce one of these. It's something everyone can appreciate. They'll look at cartoons in a whole different way.'

The cel (short for celluloid) is a clear sheet of plastic containing the image. Each cel is placed over a background to be photographed in succession to form the action of the film.

The outline of a character, whether hand-inked or photocopied, is applied to the front of the cel. Color is handpainted (usually with acrylic watercolor) onto the cel's back.

Several rare vintage pieces also appear in the show, including a 1937 Snow White cel and a 1941 production drawing for a cel of Goofy from the film "Clock Cleaners." A production drawing is the original drawing made by the artist from which a cel is hand-inked or photocopied.

"Animation art only goes back to about 1917," Robert Athey

"After 1961, they weren't really hand-inked anymore because in the late 1950s, Walt Disney developed a Xeroxing process to transfer the outline directly onto the

The Atheys became interested in animation art seven years ago, after seeing a cel in a New York City gallery. Today, they own a nearly 200-piece collection.

Animato, prices average around $500 for a production cel with pencil drawings and silk screen prints starting at about $100.

As cels like the 1937 Snow White cost $9,500, it's important to learn about animation art as well as the collector's market before making a purchase. "It's important to start out buying something you enjoy because you have a direct connection or memory of the character," Robert Athey said.

Condition is also very important," he said. "You want a piece that is in very good condition.'

Athey cautions not to buy cels as an investment even though cels from the 1930s originally costing $10 have risen in value to $10,000. A Mickey Mouse production cel recently sold at Sotheby's auction house for $285,000.

Most importantly, he said, "Don't rush in. Education is very important. We will have literature available in the library gallery to take home and study.

So grab the kids, jump in the car and head over to see Scooby Doo and all his pals.

"It's a fun show. We're going to have old-time as well as new cels, from the Flintstones to the Simp sons," Athey said. "We'll even have a purple Barney."

The library show runs through June 26. Library hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Vintage art: This 1941 production drawing was used to create a cel of Goofy. To create one-second of film, it takes 24 images. A seven-minute cartoon starts with 7,000 handpainted cels. A feature film like "Snow White" takes 140,000 cels and up to four years to complete.

Watercolorists to meet

Michigan Watercolor Society will host its annual meeting 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, June 12, in Bloomfield Township Public Library, 1099 Lone Pine at Telegraph.

A non-member donation of $5 is requested. Admission is free for members. To inquire about membership. call Fran Waring at 643-8038.

In the morning session, Mark Mehaffey of Williamston will give a demonstration and Hope Palmer will lecture.

Mehaffey is a signature member of the American Watercolor Society, the National Watercolor Society and Watercolor West.

Hope Palmer of the Detroit area will lecture on contemporary subjects with a lively presentation and discussion. She currently teaches contemporary art history at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Henry Ford Community College and Oakland Community

Garden City directs spotlight on fine art

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Westland artist Laurel Raisanen took Best of Show and Canton artist Donna Enders was the People's Choice in the Garden City Fine Arts Association's 11th annual spring exhibit and sale in the Garden City Public Library.

West Bloomfield artist Nora Mendoza judged the 54-piece show, which ran May 10-15, in two categories - wet and dry media. Twenty-two members took 12 awards for works in oil, acrylic, watercolor, pen and ink, pencil and pastel.

Raisanen won for an oil featuring an American Indian mother and child posed on a riverbank.

I wanted 'Arms Around America' to reflect not only a mother and child, but the first mother and child, the product of Mother Earth," Raisanen said. "I wanted to show that this is what's important in America — our chil-

Raisanen began to draw in 1968 while working as an understudy to a portrait artist in Hawaii. Since then, she has worked in the portrait field but is trying to move in a more creative vein. This was the first time she had entered a judged show where awards were

The People's Choice Award, a tally of votes by visitors to the show, went to Enders for "High Country Cat." The pastel also won first place in dry media. White highlights a bobcat of beige, black and white fur set ledo University School of Design. Denis Scott of Westland took first place in the wet category for "Boatyard I," an oil painting. Black, red and gray dominate the scene focusing on the ship Christine Ann in dry dock.

A self-taught painter, Scott retired nine years ago after working for Eton & Gar Wood Industries as an engineer. His work reveals a love for the sea, and the English coast where he was born.

Locke won his second honorable mention in eight years of fine art painting for an acrylic, "Imperial Dragon No. 2-Cortex Vortex. A checkerboard ground and swirling celestial bodies add rhythm and motion to this piece.

Club members donated 13 paintings for the drawing at the end of the show. Tickets were $1 and earned the club treasury

The drawing is "a way of earning money for the club to pay for judges and other expenses," said Garden City artist Norma McQueen, club president.

Second place in the wet category went to McQueen for the oil, Easter Lilies." Third went to Carol Tindall of Dearborn Heights for "Poppies," also an oil.

Second place in the dry category went to Henrietta Orzechowski of Dearborn Heights for the pastel, "Two Year Old." Third went to Art Fallert of Westland for "Lt. Worf," a pastel.

In addition to Locke, honorable mentions went to Enders for "Apple Tree Chickadee," an oil; Oragainst a black background.

Endangered wildlife is an uppermost priority in Enders' paintings. She began to paint in the Street Inn," watercolor.

tle sprucing up, so he proached Artrain president David Griffith with a proposal based on the theme "The Romance of Transportation."

"I approached them and said. 'Can I paint your train?' '
Dorshimer said in an interview at Elizabeth Street and the Conrail Railroad line in Wayne on May

His confident attitude and high energy level were key to accomplishing this major task. His thought processes kicked in and the challenge was on. He sketched and researched and sketched.

"I have to have a strong design before I can approach a cliente with a project. You have to be able to draw very well to knock 'em out to get a job. The whole train is a time line back to the 1960s on this side. On the other side, it covers a time span from the 1930s back to 1800s,' Dorshimer said.

"The first thing I said was that the train doesn't have a locomotive so I'm going to paint it onto the train. I wanted it to be real colorful. I wanted the purples for it to be futuristic.

Purple, blue and hot pink color the cars. Starting at the back of the train, a lyrical green line leads the eye to a classic car. A green 1958 Corvette jumps out at the viewer, lights shining toward the front of the train. An offshore racer looks harried as he races his oat toward a train of the future.

"The race driver image is the romance of racing. The futuristic train was influenced by Raymond Lowery, the father of industrial design in America, and the Broadway Limited S-1 locomotive of the Chicago-New York line of 1934," Dorshimer said. "I used the rivets as part of the design."

Time constraints forced Dorshimer to allot two weeks for each side to execute the murals. which are 330 feet by 8 feet. General Motors provided the use of the Pontiac Fiero plant for the painting part of the project. Dorshimer air-brushed, brushed on and literally threw on the paint, donated by Mercury Paints of Detroit, to meet the deadline.

As viewers move closer to the train, they notice other images incorporated into the overall design. Dorshimer involved several artists and designers, coaxing them to paint the window panels and portholes that he removed from heir different styles," he said. Dorshimer earned a bachelor's 313-747-8300.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

Open house not the answer

BY R.J. KING STAFF WRITER

Most every home-seller has gone through the motions of cleaning and scrubbing kitchen floors in preparation for an open house, but is all that elbow grease worth it?

According to a recentesurvey by the National Association of Realtors, just 3 percent of people who bought existing homes said they first found them through an open house.

"That number is a little low for us because we have a lot of first-time home-buyers who attend open houses," said John Cole, broker/owner of Century 21 John Cole Realty Inc. in Redford. "But open houses are just one piece of the overall marketing strategy.
"Open houses offer potential buyers the opportunity to examine a home with a Realtor to see how its fits their needs. But we also market homes through advertising, signs, networking throughout the real estate office and the multiple listing ser-

Not a total waste

Some real estate agents report that while open houses may be not pan out for their customers, they do bring in new business. A couple may not like a particular house, but a real estate agent can find one that suits their

According to the NAR report "The Homebuying and Selling Process," real estate agents continue to be the most important information source for homebuyers, though such contact is declining:

"It should be noted that strong reliance on personally contacting real estate professionals is slipping, according to information previously reported in NAR's home buying and selling studies," said the recent re-

In the 1989 study, 78 percent (of buyers) reported relying on real estate professionals for information, while in the recent study (1991), that number dropped to 63 percent. At the same time, the percentage of home-buyers who rely on newspapers has significantly increased, from 41 to 58 percent.

Still, in a steady market, or one that is predicated on weather, open houses may be more effective, but with a fairly quick sale the seller may not notice. In leaner times, especially in the winter, open houses may be a drawback.

"That survey may not be an exact science, because you may have seen an open house while driving around but waited until later to call the listing agency," said Mary Ann Grawi, manager of the Real Estate One office in Farmington Hills.

'I would say between 7 and 8 percent of our home sales start out due to open houses. People like to see what they're buying and we've been much more accommodating in recent years in holding open houses on Saturdays and during the week.'

Exposure is key

Grawi added that marketing a home is no different from a business that pushes a product through advertising, charity sponsorships or telemarketing. The trick is to expose a product or house to as many potential buyers as possible in the shortest period of time.

Still, repetition is not always the answer. A house held open Sunday after Sunday may begin to look like a loser and draw under-priced bids. Neighbors, who often answer questions from potential buyers, may begin to wonder as well. What's more, for people who live in outlying areas, an open house may not draw many prospects.

To boost interest, such sellers may consider invitation-only showings or networking with other open houses in the area. The latter option can be even more effective if sellers exchange information, leaving a write-up of their home with surrounding neighbors in return for a stack of similar leads to hand out if potential buyers do breeze through:

In searching for a real estate agent, the NAR recommends people ask relatives, friends and neighbors for referrals or visit open houses and judge for themselves. An agent who butters people up instead of showing off the home may only be interested in closing a sale. But an agent who shows off the home, researches the neighborhood, the school system, public services and financing options, is the best candidate for the job, writes Carolyn Janik, author of 'How To Sell Your Home in the '90s" (Penguin Books, $9.95).

"You always have to be innovative and accommodating," said Grawi. "Anything we can do to help sell a home is crucial. We will go the extra step and that's what we train our agents

Association controls what goes in yard

I have purchased a home in my subdivision and installed a back yard and MEISNER one is on the side. The subdivision has not taken any action against the people who have put dishes in their back yards. What are their chances of prevailing in an action against me?

In a recent Florida decision on facts similar to yours, the court held that the association could pursue its "absolute and exclusive" right to refuse to approve plans that it deems unsuitable or undesirable for any reason, including purely aesthetic reasons.

That the association did not pursue the back-vard dishes was not substantial evidence of selective or arbitrary enforcement. Depending on your restrictions, it would appear that it is at least a close question whether or not the association will be able to prevail in this matter.

You should have sought the approval of the association before you installed the dish.

Devise a plan to see all of Homearama

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

To get the most out of viewing a Homearama, it's best to develop a plan of action and a critical eye before stepping into the models.

Homearama, a showcase of new homes sponored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, runs today through June 13 at the Silver Bell Village Subdivision in Orion Township.

Builders and architects with connections to the Observer & Eccentric coverage area are involved in 10 of the 11 houses in the Homearama.

They want buyers, but they're also flattered that people not planning an immediate move look to their models for remodeling and decorative ideas.

"We have found that people who get the most out of it are those who pick up a plan book (free with admission ticket) and use that as their guide for model row," said Rosalie Lamb, show coordi-

Armando Ybarra, co-owner of Matteo Homes of Rochester, has two models in the Homearama.

"If you're coming to look, look at the overall construction . . . quality of workmanship in trim, drywall, brickwork on a particular home, maybe window treatments, layout of the house as far as ergonomics are concerned," he said.

'If you're looking to buy, those same things basically apply," Ybarra added. "Maybe pay a little more attention to detail - fixtures used, tiles in the bath . . . what's included in the price.

"I guess most people when they look at a house, look it over in general. They don't look at details. If they take the time, they will see little things some builders do that others don't.

"Look at knobs on cabinets, whether they're upgraded or standard cabinets, detail on hand rails, some fireplace treatments," Ybarra said.

Robert R. Bryce, a West Bloomfield architect, suggests that showgoers take their time and try to determine exactly why they like or don't like a par-

Dream on

You want it big and affordable

■ Here are the results of the annual Observer & Eccentric and Landmark Design "Dream Home Survey."

By Chris McCosky Staff Writer

It has to be big, over 2,000 square feet, and brick. It can be one or two stories, but it has to be heavily insulated and have a basement. Make sure it has pantries, lots of storage space, a formal entry and formal dining room, an isolated master bedroom suite, a fireplace, a patio and an attached two- or three-car garage.

And set it on acreage. Oh, and one more thing: Make it affordable. No wonder it is called a "Dream Home. 'When I first started this survey, I was impressed with the reality of what people were asking for," said James McAlexander, president of sponsor of the annual Observer & Eccentric Dream Home Survey. "But all of a sudden, the gap between what people are asking for and what they can pay for has widened. People seem to want more and pay less for it.'

A Bloomfield Township woman, for example, wants her dream house built of stone on 25 acres with a surrounding forest, with a party room, a green house, a terrace, an animal level, a fireplace, atrium, computer center, patio, recycling center and security system — all for $175,000.

A Warren woman wants a 2,500square-foot ranch (five bedrooms, four and a half baths) on acreage that would include a separate wing (complete with bath, bedroom and kitchen) for her mother — for $200,000.

A Livonia man dreams of a 6,000 square-foot home on heavily-wooded acreage with a private lake, a horse barn, and maids' quarters — for $1 million, which he could afford only if, 'I happened to win the lottery.'

In-home fire sprinkler systems are practical but not very popular

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

Home buyers and builders today are more likely to install irrigation lines to water the lawn than fire suppression sprinkler systems to protect the structure and contents.

Sprinklers are fairly rare, even in houses valued at $1 million or more. There's no legal requirement for the product and, builders and architects say, no demand by customers. Sprinkler systems also raise construction costs by thousands of dol-"Unless you have a house burn down or something happen to you, it's not something people think about, said Dominick Tringali, a Bloomfield Hills architect. "We do 350 houses a year. In the past three years, maybe two people have brought it up. Fred Capaldi, a Rochester Hills builder and president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, said he's never been asked by a customer to include a fire suppression sprinkler system in a house he's constructed.

"Most people want to live in a house that when their friends come over they say, 'This is really something.' They don't say, 'Wow, you have a fire suppression system.

"It's not a perceived value," Capal-

Joe Gurna, a Bloomfield Hills builder who specializes in high-end Tudor chateaus and European reproductions, said he'd try to talk buyers out of a sprinkler system if they were thinking along those lines.

"They have a tremendous investment in Interior decorations," Gurna said of his typical customer. "Whether there's damage by fire or water, it doesn't make much differ-

"I don't think a sprinkler system is going to stop a fire, save property," he

But Gurna conceded that he doesn't have to do much convincing.

"The biggest problem is the look, aesthetics," he said. "I have on the ceiling medallions, decorations, crown moldings and here are two pieces (sprinkler heads) oddly sticking from the ceiling.

"That's the only reason, trust me, why people hate it," Gurna said.

Dan MacLeish, a Troy custom builder, said he figures a sprinkler suppression would add $7,000-$12,000 on a house costing $300,000-$400,000.

He prefers to wire smoke/heat detectors into a home's total security system so that people inside will leave when they hear the alarm and the company monitoring the system can summon help.

"What we feel people should do is put a better alarm system in," MacLeish said.

Capaldi favors alarm systems, too. "The biggest thing is let's get people out of the house," he said. "Homeowners insurance can take care of damage by water and fire.' Cost is a factor, too, in the decision not to install sprinklers, even at the upper end of the spectrum, MacLeish, Capaldi and Tringali agree. "Every time you raise the cost $5,000, you put 1,000 people out of the market," MacLeish said. "No matter if you're buying $150,000 or $600,000, they all have a budget," Capaldi said. "All reach a saturation point where they say, 'Enough is enough. I'm not going to spend any more money.

'They say, 'I don't need that (sprinkler system). I'd rather put in marble or fancy cabinets.'

'We're having a really tough time getting houses in at cost today," Tringali said. "The big thing now is the price of lumber. Firefighters take a slightly different view of the situation.

"The largest benefit is it extinguishes fires in the beginning stage. It keeps the fire small," said Michael Burke, past president of the Michigan State Fireman's Association and current president of the Firefighters Training Council.

Most firefighters support the concept of home sprinkling systems, he added.

Some insurance companies offer discounts on homeowners policies for houses with sprinkler suppressant

Kenneth P. Wesa, a Farmers Insurance agent in Plymouth, said his company offers a 10 percent discount on full suppressant systems, 5 percent on partial systems.

But Wesa has never come across one while writing 600 policies over 15

Sprinkler systems do have a place, Tringali said.

"I think adding them is a good thing to do if they live on a 5-acre piece, quite far out with limited access and no fire hydrant."

Dennis Kewin, an inspector in the bureau of construction codes, state department of labor, said that no one appears to be pushing for mandatory sprinkler fire repression systems in

Foundation settling can be stopped

BY CHRIS MCCOSKY STAFF WRITER

Here is the worst-case scenario: You are continually patching cracks in the walls and ceilings of your home. You've shaved doors to stop them from sticking. You've redone your windows so often, they look like they've been installed crooked.

Obviously, the foundation of your house is settling. Problem is, you thought you stopped the settling a few years back when you paid some $7,000 to install cement underpinnings beneath the foundation.

'There are many different techniques for foundation repair, said Michael A. Pinkleton, president of Calculus Construction in Farmington Hills, a structural restoration and consultant firm. "But most of them don't work because you never know if you've gone deep enough (under the foundation) to find stable soil."

Calculus offers a patented system that can take most of the guess work out of foundation repair. In fact, Pinkleton guarantees that the foundations Calculus repairs won't settle again.

'We have the ability to go as deep as we need beneath the foundation to find stable soil," Pinkleton said. "We typically go down 15 to 20 feet in this area, but we have gone as far as 200 feet.

The system, patented by the A.B. Chance Co. of Centralia, Mo., uses helical piers and a hydraulic jacking device to lift and stabilize settling foundation

"Before this innovation, home and building owners did not have access to a system that would actually lift a foundation that had sunk," said Pinkleton, whose firm is the only one in Southeastern Michigan offering the Chance sys-'Nor was there a system available that could be truly guaranteed to stabilize a foundation and prevent any further move-

A brief explanation of how the system works:

A heavy steel foundation support bracket permits the raising of a structure by high-torque hydraulic jacking and transfers loads to helical piers installed down to stable ground. The piers are installed down to soils that will support the building. An engineer can calculate the pier's load-bearing capability based on the amount of torque it takes to drive the pier.

"This is not a new system," said Rich Anderson, the senior vice president of Soil and Materials Engineers, Inc., of Plymouth. It's been around a long time and is mainly used to hold back retaining walls and to support bridges. It has tremendous holding capacity. It can hold a whole lot more weight than what a house can put on it."

But Anderson cautions that the system may not be necessary for some home settling problems.

"If you have just a lousy construction problem, like some mud underneath the footings, then it might be too costly to use the Chance system," he said. "But if you have a serious settling problem, with multiple feet of unstable material underneath, then this is a reliable system and Calculus is a reliable company.'

Pinkleton put the price range between $5,000 and $10,000, competitive, he said, with other foundation repair techniques. Consultations are free.

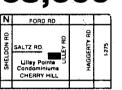

"Most people don't quibble with the expense," he said. "This will take care of the problem once and for all. Again, Anderson throws up a caution flag.

"It is not an infallible technique," he said. "What they do is dig down until they get resistance when they screw into the ground. In this area you don't often get two layers of good soil with a layer of peat in between. But it could happen, especially in areas by the Rouge and Clinton rivers."

Pros outnumber cons with above-ground pools

 If you long for a pool but your budget doesn't allow for an in-ground type, "Building Ideas" magazine says to consider a more affordable above-ground pool.

You may have the impression that an above-ground pool has all the charm of a storage tank, but with clever decking and landscaping, it can be as attractive and luxurious as an in-ground pool.

Following are the pros and cons of both types of pools:

The Basics Above-ground pools are usually supported by structures of steel. aluminum or other strong materials and lined with vinyl. They are most often round or oval and typically 31/2- to 4-feet deep.

An above-ground pool requires the same care — weekly testing of pH levels and addition of chemicals as needed — as an in-ground

The Pros

Above-ground pools are usually less expensive to buy and install. Prices start at about $400 for the simplest styles. Nicer models with elaborate decks can cost almost as much as in-ground pools. Expect to pay at least $1,400 for a professionally installed aboveground pool.

Above-ground pools are less permanent and can be assembled dismantled by do-it-yourselfers. It isn't easy to move an above-ground pool or to get rid of one altogether, but it isn't impossible or expensive.

There is less danger of children accidentally falling into aboveground pools, and by the time children have the motor skills to climb over the elevated side of the pool, they are usually old enough to know how to swim and obey the Above-ground pools, because they are smaller, usually take fewer materials for the surrounding fencing, decking and plantings. These materials will account for 40 percent to 50 percent of the total installation cost of either type of pool.

An above-ground pool can adapt more readily to sloping lots. Creative decking can solve the problem of different grades.

It is usually more difficult for animals to drink from aboveground pools. In areas near woods, animals have been known to come to unfenced in-ground pools to drink, then fall into the pool and drown.

Above-ground pools are too shallow for a slide, for jumping and for diving. However, they are deep enough for water games and aquatic aerobics.

In-ground pools can be larger than above-ground pools.

Above-ground pools are limited in possible shapes, unlike inground pools.

Forget the cost

The responses from the Observer & Eccentric survey and from similar surveys he's conducted across the country have reinforced a fact McAlexander has long be-

'Builders and others are always waving the flag of affordability in housing," he said. "But people just don't want what's affordable. And, hey, I am the last person who would reduce somebody's dream into numbers.'

Instead, he has put the dreams into a design. The Pinion, the specially-designed Observer & Eccentric-area dream home, is a 2,583-square-foot, single-level, four-bedroom, two-bath design, with an isolated master suite and an 886-square-foot garage, all within the respondents budget average of $203,793 (excluding land costs).

"Ninety percent of your readers wanted extra insulation and 89 percent wanted pantries in the kitchen," McAlexander said. "About 70 percent wanted a basement, a brick exterior, a fireplace, a dining room and a deck.

"Few regions in the country expressed such a high level of enthusiasm for brick, basements and fireplaces. But only five percent wanted a wood stove. In some other areas, the numbers tallied up much more evenly, like 40-40 between wood stove and a fireplace.

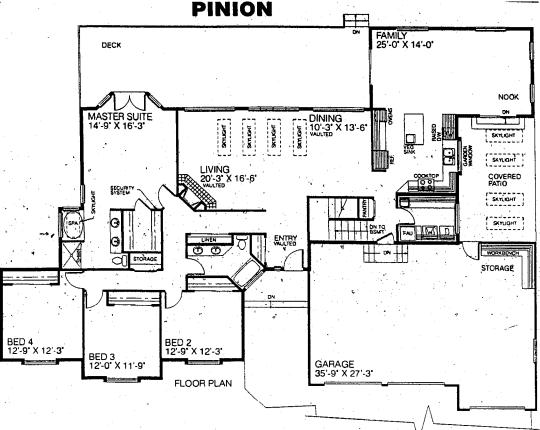

Bigger the better

McAlexander said that the O&E survey reflected national trends in several areas.

"Everybody wants bigger homes," he said. "Of the 32 new plans I'm working on, only two are less than 1,500-square-foot."

The other trends reflect a return to some design concepts popular in the 1950s and early 1960s.

"People want utility rooms inside the house now for their washers and dryers," he said. "They are tired of going up and down stairs all the time. Also pantries are becoming popular again. People realize that these

The Pinion also features an isolated master bedroom suite, another recent design rage.

I don't know what it is, but people want their master bedroom off by itself," McAlexander said. 'Maybe the population is older and they want their teenagers or guests at the other end of the

In the Pinion design, McAlexander tried to isolate the master room from the other three bedrooms with a luxurious bathroom and a spacious walk-in closet. new houses and apartments by 6.7 percent, the government said last week.

The biggest increase in housing starts in seven months was shared by every region in the country except the Midwest, where they declined slightly.

Nationally, starts totaled 1.21 million at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, up from 1.14 million in March, the Commerce Department reported. It was the first increase since a 4.5 percent advance last December.

"Naturally, some of it was a rebound from the weather-related depression," said Martin Regalia, economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. "But more fundamentally, the improvement in mortgage rates and prices com bined to create increased affordability.

'Now if we can just sustain these improvements during May and June - the primary building periods — we can lay the foundation for the second half of the year," he added.

Thirty-year, fixed-rate mortgages averaged 7.46 percent in April, according to the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp. They had dipped to 7.42 percent during the week ended last Thursday.

However, analysts were watching closely for any sign of change in the Federal Reserve's interest rate policy following recent indications that inflation might be speeding up.

The Fed's policy-making Federal Open Market Committee was meeting behind closed doors Tuesday. In advance of the meeting, analysts said the committee likely would vote to keep policy unchanged.

Wet weather continued to plague housing starts in some parts of the country in April and helped keep the pace of housing construction below December's 1.29 million rate.

"There was really pretty soggy conditions in the Northeast and the Northwest," economist David F. Seiders of the National Association of Home Builders said. "Builders need solid ground to put in foundations.'

Still, it was the largest increase since an 11.1 percent gain last August. Analysts had expected starts to advance about 6 percent.

But Seiders said "We will need better numbers than this" to meet the forecasts of many analysts, who are predicting construction of about 1.3 million houses and apartments this year. Builders produced 1.20 million units last

In addition to the improvement in actual starts, economist David Lereah of the Mortgage Bankers Association noted that applications for building permits - a harbinger of activity to come — also rose in April.

Permits were up 5.8 percent, to a 1.09 million rate, the largest increase since a 7.8 percent advance in December 1991.

'There's a lot of architecture being built in this state I think is horrendous," Bryce said. "People are buying because of the work of interior designers — wall coverings, furnishings, accessorizing."

Bryce's partner, Carl Palazzolo, designed two models built by Arbor Development for this year's show.

Homearama is a great way for lookers to get a handle on what's in the market at what price, said Robert Pollack, a West Bloomfield resident and chairman of Arbor Development.

"I think you have to stand back, look at the plan book and concentrate on what you're interested in," he said. "When you walk through, you should study plans, jot down notes, ask questions. "We typically find that people want to

"We find through exit polls that 25 percent who go through Homearama do plan to buy another house in the next 12 months.

Mike Peters talks about his family's new home in Canton, the park next door, Plymouth-Canton schools and other neat things: On Location: Living at Meadowbrook is great! Mom's got lots of shopping places to go and Dad's so close to work, we have more time to play catch, On Features: Meadowbrook homes have lots of big bedrooms and bathrooms, which is important when you've got 3 sisters like mine. And none of the garages face the street which looks really neat, plus there's plenty of space for my bike. My Mom really loves the island kitchen with its built-in desk, and big breakfast nook - she says it "gives us quality time together." Homearama 1993 shows trends and innovations in new homes he eleven new "idea homes" of HOMEARAMA 1993, May 27 - June 13, will open doors of imagination for current and potential home owners in the realms of decorating, additions, furnishings and landscaping.

Working in an idyllic area of Orion Township in Silver Bell Village Subdivision, members of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan have assembled some provocative concepts in HOMEARAMA 1993:

- Natural oak floors are the rage in new homes from the foyer to the kitchen, and Arbor Development, Inc. of Sylvan Lake shows what can be done with them in their three homes: "The Silverglen," "The Silverbrook" and "The Silverwood."
- Nine-foot ceilings on the first floor are "in", and many HOMEARAMA homes feature them.
- Front porches are just great, as grandma knew, and they're back in a big way. "The Silverbrook" has one which spans almost its entire width with traditional colonialarched design. Don't miss the two-story porch with a barrel vault ceiling on "The Silverton" by Bridge Lake Properties, Inc.
- Huge family rooms have not been forgotten in the swing to porches and other nostalgia. "The Silverwood" shows what can be done with a fireplace and cathedral ceiling in its exciting family room.
- A different vision of fireplaces and staircases can be found in "The Alexandria" and "The Englander" by Matteo Homes, Inc. of Rochester. "The Alexandria's" three-sided fireplace, faced with ceramic tile, has views from the kitchen, dining room and breakfast nook.
- The staircase to the second floor in "The Englander" is T-shaped, allowing access from the kitchen as well as the foyer.
- Bathtubs are all in a whirl these days, especially off the master bedrooms in "The Hemingway" and "The McGregor" by StellaHomes, Inc. of Rochester. The whirlpool tub and separate shower share star billing with a double vanity and pan ceiling in the bathroom of "The Hemingway."
